Town Council. The Council met on Monday night. All the members present; the Mayor in the chair. The minutes were read and confirmed.

The Mayor read a communication from the Secretary of the Medical Board, asking that the resolution which will meet here on the 10th of June, might have the use of the Council Chamber, and further what charge would be made for the same.

Mr. Thomson read a petition from Geo. Graftey, praying that the Council would consider a matter relative to some taxes he had paid. He had bought a lot from John McDonald on which there had been arrears of taxes from 1864, and when the latter went to the County Treasurer before the bargain was concluded he was told that the total amount was $100.

Mr. Mitchell read a petition from Mr. Thos. Holliday, asking permission to lay down pipes from a spring to his brewery.

Mr. Mitchell read a petition from Mark Towell, praying that the petition of Wm. Heather for closing up a certain road be not granted. Mr. Thomson read a petition from John Thomas Cunningham, praying that a public street might be opened in rear of lot 1016 Canada Co.'s survey, also, that as the street would interfere with some houses, the latter might be removed, as their occupants were neither useful nor ornamental members of society.

The By-law for the establishment and government of a Fire Company was read a third time, passed and numbered 168.

Mr. Thomson presented the report of the Finance Committee which was as follows: The Committee on Finance and Assessment beg leave to report, that in regard to the communication of Mr. Nicholson, Kingmill, asking that the taxes paid by Mr. J. J. Kingmill to the Sheriff for arrears be refunded him, your committee find that Mr. K. paid said taxes under protest, the receipt of which your committee now present. They find that Mr. K. stands in the same position as Dr. Clarke, and the Ven. Archdeacon Palmer's taxes. Your committee would recommend that the matter in dispute be referred to Finance Committee for settlement feeling satisfied that by allowing said case to go into Court would entail expenses on the corporation.—Adopted.

Mr. Mitchell presented the report of the Road and Bridge Committee. They recommended that the petition of Wm. Heather for leave to fill up a gully between his house and the Eramosa Road be granted, on condition of his giving Mark Towell as good a road as he has at present, the work to be subject to the approval of the committee.—Adopted.

Mr. Mitchell presented the report of the Market House Committee. They recommended that the petition of Chief Constable Kelly for the removal of the stairs at the entrance to the Police Magistrate's office be granted, as by so doing the petitioner's request would not only be complied with, but the Council would also have another room adjoining the present committee room, and the cost would be the very same. As regards the petition of Alex. Reichert and others for the setting apart of a small room for the use of the produce dealers in the Market Clerk's office, they could not recommend that it be granted, as the office is too small for the amount of business done, and the only way the Committee could comply with the prayer of the petitioners would be by adding a separate room, as the Committee feel the absolute necessity there is this year of not only the Market House, but also a room for the use of the Market Clerk's office, and the petition of R. Jackson, Esq., President of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company, asking for a renewal of his lease for a term of five years, and that a door be built up, the Committee recommend him as a yearly tenant, with a clause in the agreement that three months' notice from either party may terminate the lease. They cannot recommend that the door be stoned up, but will take into consideration the advisability of doing something to make the room more comfortable before the approach of cold weather. Adopted.

Mr. McCurry presented the report of the Railway Committee. They recommend to the Council the consideration of an early application to Parliament to be relieved of the amount of the Railway debt, on the ground that the same was incurred in furthering railway extension, not for local purposes only, but in the general railway interest. Adopted.

Mr. Chadwick presented the report of the Tree Planting Committee as follows: The Tree Planting Committee beg leave to report, that in accordance with resolution passed at last meeting, they have had Nelson Crescent surveyed. They find that the buildings of Geo. Smith and N. Tovel encroach upon the Crescent, and recommend that a rack rent be charged therefor. They also recommend that a stone monument be placed at the centre point of the Crescent. They find that the cost of fencing and planting Nelson Crescent will be $100, and recommend that the same be proceeded with as soon as $50 have been deposited with the Town Treasurer by the petitioners. They further recommend that the planting of the Waterloo Road be continued according to the plan submitted last year.

Mr. McCurry presented the report of the Special Railway Committee, which showed that they had met with all the success they anticipated in the work which had been given them to do. The report was adopted.

Part of a report of the Road and Bridge Committee which had been laid over from the 16th of March was brought up, read and adopted.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on the By-law for the remuneration of Municipal officers for the current year, Mr. Massie in the chair. The blanks were filled up as follows: Market Clerk $400, Chief Constable $500, Town Clerk and Treasurer $650, Assistant Constable and Town Officer $300, Assessors $200 each, Auditors $15 each; Returning Officers $4 per day, Geo. Smith, commission on statute labor and dog tax ten per cent, on the ordinary assessment two per cent; Selectors of jurors $12 each, salary of Inspector of Licenses and houses of entertainment $50, Caretaker of Market House and Drill Shed, and lamp lighter (one person) $450. The committee rose and the Council resumed, when the By-law was read a third time, passed, and numbered 169.

Mr. Thomson moved, seconded by Dr. Herod, that ten per cent. be added to the salaries of the following officers: Market Clerk, Chief Constable, Town Clerk, Assistant Constable and Market House Caretaker.—Carried.

The Council adjourned.

THE THEATRE.—Rev. Wm. F. Clark will lecture on "The Theatre" in the Lecture Room of the Congregational Church, on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Admission free.

LAUNCH.—A new schooner owned by Messrs. Thos. Myles and Chas. Abraham, was launched at Hamilton on Saturday, and christened the "Undine." She has a carrying capacity of 14,000 bushels.

The people of the District of Algoma petition Lieut. Governor Stisted not to allow the Mining Act of Mr. Richards to go into operation in their district until it has had further consideration.

Dean Hellmuth's plan, says the Montreal Gazette, of establishing a seminary for young ladies is not meeting with the success it deserves. The young ladies ought to take the thing in hand if their parents and guardians will not.

The Laval University have procured from Europe a reflecting telescope, the mirror of which is of silvered glass beautifully cut and polished, and 16 1/2 inches in diameter. Its magnifying power is 840, and focal length about 10 feet. It is to be placed upon a platform above the roof of the institution.

MORE EMIGRANTS.—Six hundred emigrants passed through on the Great Western Railway on Saturday. They were fine, healthy looking people, chiefly Swedes and Norwegians, and with the exception of a few families who intended to settle in Canada, were en route for the United States.—Hamilton Times.

TORONTO GREY & BRUCE RAILWAY.—The Orangeville Sun says:—A delegation from the Directors of this railway, consisting of Messrs. Laidlaw, Gordon and Manning, addressed meetings in favour of the project at Charleston, Mono Centre, and Whittington during the present week, at which resolutions pledging large municipal support to the road were unanimously carried. By-laws are to be submitted to the municipalities interested in the construction of the road, during the next month.

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday last Mr. Francis McClean met with a sad accident, which it is feared, may terminate fatally. He had been working at Mr. Maxwell's, near Alton, and was in the mow throwing down hay, and previous to his coming down he threw down the fork from him, and turned round to drop down, and came right on the fork, which was standing upright in the hay below, the shaft of which entered his body, penetrating the abdominal cavity some 7 or 8 inches. Dr. Riddell is in attendance on the unfortunate man, who still lives, and although the chances of his recovery are few, yet the Dr. is not without some hopes of him.

MATHEMATICAL.—An Eramosa correspondent sends us a "new military problem," which he thinks will exercise the ingenuity of the readers of the Mercury, who have mathematical tastes. Here it is: "It is possible to raise three battalions of men, such that the sum of every two will form an exact solid square; also the difference of every two will form an exact solid square. How many men in each battalion? The contributor says the solution of the question depends on the Diophantine Analysis. We are under the impression that the figures which accompany the problem as answers to it, do not meet the conditions, but would not like to say positively. Would our correspondent again look at the proof of his solution?"

The All-England Cricket Eleven will not visit America this year, as expected, the St. George's Club of New York having abandoned the effort to bring out the champions, in consequence of other Clubs declining to contribute toward the expense.

BY TELEGRAPH. Despatches to the Evening Mercury.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE. London, May 4.—There was a very full house at the opening of the session of the House of Commons to-night. The Prince of Wales and Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein were among the distinguished visitors present. Great interest was manifested in the proceedings, and much excitement was apparent among members. The Premier and Mr. Gladstone were loudly cheered as they entered and took their seats, after some unimportant business had been transacted.

Mr. Disraeli rose and was greeted with cheers from the Ministerial benches. He reviewed the course of the Tory administration, which at its outset was without a majority of supporters in the House, and spoke of its uniform success, so entire indeed that even its opponents acknowledged it, and on two occasions when Lord Derby expressed a wish to resign, had urged him to remain in office. Financially its record was faultless. In foreign affairs Lord Stanley had raised the prestige of the nation vastly, preserving peace not merely with the continent, but with the great Republic of the West. In Ireland the Ministry had triumphed at every point, while at the same time conciliating the people; and in Abyssinia a great deed of arms and for humanity had done credit not only to the officers and soldiers engaged, but also to the ministry who planned it. On Thursday last on a vote upon the first of a series of resolutions, the ministry encountered a new and sudden question, which threatened confusion to Ireland, and ultimately the overthrow of the English Church, the effect of which would be the absorption of all sects in the Church of Rome. To this measure he could not assent, and he had asked of the House time to advise with the Queen on the new attitude of affairs. Her Majesty had heard his statement, and had not only declined his tendered resignation, but had urged him not to dissolve Parliament in the present anomalous circumstances, until an appeal could be made to the new constituencies, and this he hoped to do with the aid of the House. He deprecated the urgency with which Mr. Gladstone had pressed the resolves, and hoped that a suspension of the orders of the day would not be pressed now, as he was ready to give some other Government the right to carry on the discussion, if debate there must be.

Mr. Gladstone said the Premier's praise of the Tories was not only in bad taste, but untrue—especially the portion respecting finance. Lord Derby, he remarked, was not asked to stay in office in 1859. Mr. Gladstone doubted whether the eulogium passed by the Premier was a challenge to the Opposition, or a sop to the Tories to persuade them to remain in office. He laughed at the cry of danger to the Established Church of England, and at that of the Church of Rome absorbing all the other sects. He said it was unprecedented that a Ministry which had been beaten by sixty-five majority should talk of dissolving Parliament. It might be right to elect a new Parliament to settle the question of the Irish Church; but its first duty, when chosen, would be to settle the Ministry itself. The Premier's course was unconstitutional. The House was hostile to the Ministry, and yet he wanted to govern the country till the fall—the fate of Ireland and other great questions to remain in the meantime in suspense. The duty of the Liberals was clearly to follow up the resolves with a suspensory Bill, thus clearing the way of the new Parliament. They must go on. (Cheers.) They had no bargain to make. The Premier had said nothing that would change the course of the Ministry. He (Mr. Gladstone) would therefore not urge the suspension of the orders to-night, if Ministers would allow the earliest possible day for the consideration of the resolves. If they passed the House, a bill should follow, suspending the appointments in the Irish Church. The next step then after would be for the Ministry to take.

Mr. Robert Lowe said after Ministers had nullified the will of the House, they had the audacity to ask for the control for months to come of the Government. Such a course was unconstitutional, and it was absurd for an executive and a legislature distrusting each other to maintain a show of harmony until next year.

Mr. John Bright said the Premier's statement would amaze the country. He asked the House to reverse the usage of the constitution that he might keep an office got by arts not the most worthy, and held by the adopting of dogmas he bitterly denounced. Mr. Bright showed the inconsistencies of the Tories, noted the variation of opinions among the members of the Cabinet, and said that an adverse vote was no disgrace to a Ministry, but to hold office after such a vote was; there was no reason why the constitutional practice should be dispensed with in favour of Mr. Disraeli, who knew well enough that no Irish or Scotch Reform Bill not of a nature to suit the Irish and Scotch Liberals could pass the House. Reform the Irish Church and Ireland will be at peace in accord with the House.

Mr. Disraeli said the Liberals had a right to pass a vote of want of confidence and asked why they had not done so? He then fixed the 7th of May for the debate on the Irish Church question.

The House then took up the budget and considered the resolution to make the income tax 6 pence in the pound sterling.

In the House of Lords a statement was made by members of the ministry of a similar tenor to that in the Commons.

Berlin, May 4.—The commercial treaty recently made with Spain has been ratified by the North German Diet.

New York, May 5.—The Herald's London special says that during a discussion in the Cabinet, Lord Stanley, Secretary of State for foreign affairs, the Right Hon. the Earl of Malmesbury, keeper of the Great Seal, and the Right Hon. Garthorne Hardy, Secretary of the Home Department, openly seceded and refused to serve longer under Mr. Disraeli's leadership.—Subsequently it was rumored that the Premier had induced Lord Stanley and Malmesbury and Mr. Hardy to withdraw their secession resolve, and agree to hold office in his Ministry. Later—The dissenting members of the Ministry still disagree as to the propriety of a further retention of office, but agree to remain in the Cabinet particularly as the Queen would not accept the resignation. Mr. Disraeli is consequently still Premier.

Parliament will be dissolved in autumn and a general election be held, perhaps when the new Reform Bill comes into operation.

American Despatches. New York, May 5th.—A new and most important phase has occurred in the impeachment matter, which apparently places the acquittal of the President beyond a doubt. Senator Fessenden, it is reported, has prepared a legal opinion expressing the belief that there are no just grounds shown in evidence for a conviction. Several other Republicans are firm against conviction, and it is conceded among Radicals that conviction is a failure and the case gone. There is in consequence serious demoralization among Republicans. It was reported that a new party headed by Chase for the next Presidency, against Grant, was immediately to be formed. Tribune and Sun specialists consider the conviction of the President certain.

Chicago, May 4.—At Shanghai, Illinois, fourteen houses were blown down by a tornado yesterday. Two churches were unroofed, four persons killed and forty wounded.

Parliament of Canada. HOUSE OF COMMONS. OTTAWA, May 4th. Mr. Blako presented the final report of the Montreal East Election Committee. The committee found that the sitting member, Sir G. E. Cartier, was duly elected.

Mr. Jones, (Greenville), moved a resolution, seconded by Mr. Scatcherd, declaring it for the interest of the Dominion that the number of His Excellency's Advisers to whose office salaries will be attached shall not, at any time, exceed nine. He regretted that some one of greater parliamentary experience had not moved in this matter; but no one having done so, he was determined he would not allow the extravagance of the present Government in this particular to pass unnoticed. The motion was lost on a division.

Mr. Oliver moved for Committee of the Whole for Friday next to consider a resolution declaring it expedient to alter the provision made under 10th sec. British North American Act 1867, and to fix the salary of His Excellency the Governor-General at $35,000 per annum.

Mr. Dufresne moved, in amendment, to strike out $35,000 and insert $32,000.

Mr. Oliver said he had put in the sum of $35,000 in order to meet the views of gentlemen on both sides of the House.

Sir John A. Macdonald regretted this motion by his hon. friend opposite, and the motion in amendment, he must say he regretted exceedingly that this question had been brought up. He thought it would have shown a wise discretion to have left it fixed in the British America Act. It would have been more for the credit of Canada to have done so. Formerly, the Sovereign paid the salaries of colonial governors out of Crown revenues of the colonies belonging to the sovereign. When these revenues were given up to Canada, it was on condition that the Colony should pay the governor's salary, and this not by an annual vote, but by permanent enactment. In 1841, Canada, which had then a much smaller population than now, fixed the salary in accordance with the Union Act at $7,777 currency. Looking at the large increase to her population which had since taken place, and the present and prospective addition of other provinces to the old Province of Canada, he did not think $50,000 was too much.

Hon. Mr. Holton inquired whether the clause in the Union Act, with reference to the Governor's salary, was the work of our own delegates, or was inserted there in compliance with the expressed desire of the British Government.

Sir J. A. Macdonald said he thought that the hon. member for Chateaugay should recommend his hon. friend from Oxford to withdraw his motion. It was true there had been no formal statement of a desire on this point on the part of the British Government, but it was equally true that this clause, as every other clause was the subject of conference and agreement between the Imperial Government and the Colonial Delegates.

Dr. Parker said that if the salary were allowed to remain at its present rate, as advocated by the Minister of Justice, hereafter it would be held that Parliament thought the present fitting remuneration. As to reducing it hereafter, that would be found next to impossible. If it were to be reduced it must be now or never.

Mr. Blake said that as they had the power to make this change, he did not see why they should be told that they should not exercise that right. The Act itself furnished a strong indication that this sum was merely a temporary and not a fixed sum.

After some further discussion the amendment was then put and carried. Yeas, 90; nays, 45. Majority against the Government, 45.

The main motion, as amended, was then put and carried. Yeas, 108; nays, 27. Majority against the Government, 81.

The House then went into Committee, Mr. Stirling in the chair, and adopted Mr. Oliver's resolution, fixing the salary of the Governor-General at $32,000 a year. The Committee rose and reported the resolution, and the report was ordered to be received to-morrow.

The House adjourned, on motion of Sir John A. Macdonald, at one o'clock.

The telegraph wires in Abyssinia have been frequently broken by the barbarians who climb up the poles and hang on to the wires by their tails.

The total number of Englishmen in British India is 150,000. Of these, 60,000 are soldiers and officers; 3,500 civil and ecclesiastical officials; and 80,000 are engaged in trade and various occupations. This small number rule 200,000,000 of people.

Three Moors arrived at New York recently among the immigrants from abroad. Two of them bore the historic names of Abel-Kader and Mahomet, and being agriculturists, the whole of them obtained immediate employment from a farmer.

The national debt of the United States was reduced the other day to the extent of $200,000, which amount was paid into the New York Sub-Treasury having been bequeathed to the late Ralph S. Fretz of Saratoga.

OMINOUS RUMORS.

Reports are flying around that there was some movement of Fenians in Toronto on Monday night, and that the Government have been making numerous arrests. Nothing definite has as yet been ascertained here, but no doubt the full particulars, as to the nature and design of the crime which prompted these measures will soon be made public. It is said that a seizure of Fenian arms has been made in Toronto.

THE BRITISH MINISTRY.

Disraeli is not likely to enjoy a long tenure of office. He reached the goal of his ambition, but he has scarcely been allowed to grasp the prize before others are ready to snatch it from him. In his progress to eminence he forgot that the British nation was progressing too, he set too high a value on his opinions and ideas, and too low an estimate on those of the public, and the public will have its revenge. Mr. Disraeli may be, in fact is, more than ordinarily clever, he may fight a fierce battle for the maintenance of his convictions before he swallows them, as he and the other members of the Derby administration, did not long ago, but there is a tide of popular sentiment has set in in England on which the Premier cannot float with consistency; it will not be stemmed, and he must sink. His existence as a politician will very probably be somewhat like that of "Columbia's aloe, proudly rare," which blossoms and then dies. Toryism has seen its best days in England, and its splendours and its dignity no longer strike the crowd with emotions of awe and reverence.

The cable brings us a comparatively lengthy report of the proceedings in the House of Commons upon its meeting on Monday night after the adjournment which the Premier requested when the Government was last defeated. Mr. Disraeli bespattered his party with praise for the good they had done, and indulged in a very absurd prediction concerning the results that would follow the disbandment of the Irish Church. This was neither more nor less, than that to lay rude hands on that establishment would shake the whole structure of the National Church, and the lapse of the people into the arms of Romanism must inevitably follow. That would not frighten, and Mr Disraeli made nothing by raising the cry.

There was somewhat of humiliation in the tone with which he deprecated Mr Gladstone's urgency in pressing his resolves, and in the hope that a suspension of the orders of the day would not be considered indispensable. But his formidable, though less successful opponent had not the remotest intention of exercising lenity; he feels that the time has arrived when those principles of which he is the able exponent must be triumphant, when the Irish Church and all similar institutions existing for the behoof of one portion of the population to the detriment of the interests of another class shall be no more. No amount of political engineering, no strategy can now keep the Disraeli ministry in power; its enemies are vigilant and not inclined to a long truce, and should the two defeats it has sustained not induce members to make way for another government representing the ideas of a larger proportion of the people, a direct vote of want of confidence may terminate their tenure of office.

HIGH TREASON OR FELONY.—Sir John A. Macdonald has introduced a bill to make provision for the safe custody of persons charged with high treason or felony. It empowers the Governor General in Council to order the removal of such prisoners from one jail to another in case of the insecurity or unfitness of that to which they were committed. The sheriff or jailor to whom the order is directed shall receive such person or persons and detain him or them until discharged in course of law, or removed for the purpose of trial to any other county or district, and if a true bill for high treason or felony "shall afterwards be returned by any grand jury of the county or district from which such person may have been removed, against any such person, it shall be lawful for the court into which such true bill shall have been returned, to make an order for the removal of any person against whom such bill shall have been found, from the jail in which he shall then be confined, to the jail of the county or district in which such court may be sitting, for the purpose of his being tried in such county or district."

From Ottawa. The circulation of Fenian newspapers published in New York has been prohibited in Ottawa. The news-dealers have been informed that they will be proceeded against if they continue the sale of such papers. This will have the effect of preventing their introduction.

Mr. Sanfield McDonald left Cornwall on Monday, for Toronto, and it is expected here that the question of issuing a Special Commission to try Whelan will be considered on Tuesday by the Ontario Cabinet. Those who are opposed to a special trial still think that it will be a very long time to wait till the October Assizes. Whelan's health is beginning to fail, and by the orders from the gaol physician, his diet has been improved. His spirit is very much broken since he was told by one of the constables about the jail, that his conversation with Doyle, admitting the murder, had been overheard. He no longer sings nor wears a defiant air. Lacroix, one of the principal witnesses against Whelan, is retained at the police station under the surveillance of the police. It is thought he would get out of the way if allowed to go at large.

It is reported that Chief Justice Draper is to be appointed to the Presidency of the Court of Appeals, and Chancellor Vankoughnet is to get the Chief Justiceship of the Queen's Bench. Instead of giving Mr. Mowat the vacancy in the Court of Chancery, Sir John A. Macdonald, it is said, intends to take a prominent legal gentleman from the bar.

The reduction of the Governor General's salary by such an overwhelming vote against the Government shows the disorganized state of matters here, and how little influence ministers have over the House. It is difficult to say what the next two weeks may determine.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.—This (Tuesday) morning the horses attached to the stage which makes Guelph from Fergus and Elora in time for the 9.45 trains, ran away on Upper Wyndham street. They had just left Ellis's hotel, when some one on the street cracked a whip. The horses sprang forward, and the driver endeavored to pull them up, but in doing so one of the bits broke, and as he had thus no control of them he thought it would be best for him to jump down, which he did accordingly. There was no one in the stage, which was very fortunate under the circumstances. The horses ran against the posts of the verandah in front of Mr. Naismith's shop, and part of that ancient structure came down with force exactly where the driver might have been, while some of the boards cut the oil cloth and made their way into the interior of the stage. The fall of the verandah had the effect of stopping the horses, and they were caught without trouble.

NELSON CRESCENT is now being fenced in and planted with ornamental shade trees, and in the course of a few years will be one of the most attractive resorts in the town. Being a central place, would it not be advisable for the authorities to erect a suitable stand, from which our bands could discourse their inspiring strains during the summer evenings? A more convenient spot could not possibly be selected.

REVENUE SEIZURES.—We learn that on Monday last Mr. District Inspector Romain seized the brewery and malt house of Lorenzo Rupp, of Baden; and the cigar factory of Chas. Boye, of the same village, for violation of the Inland Revenue Laws.

A TRAVELLING CABLE.—There is expected shortly in New York a cable, which has been some two years or more travelling about the world. It was originally manufactured in London, to connect Asia and America, by way of Behring's Straits, and was shipped to Victoria. But before it could be laid, the company broke up. The East India Telegraph Company then proposed to buy it, to be used in China. But the negotiation failing, the cable was ordered to California. Before, however, it could be appropriated, other parties came in and purchased it, to be laid in the Caribbean Sea, and connect Cuba, Jamaica and Panama. The cable is in the same vessel in which it was originally shipped from London in 1865 and 1866.

DIED.—MADDOCK—At her late residence, Mitchell street, on Monday, the 4th inst., Mrs. I. H. P. Maddock, in her 70th year, greatly regretted by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

The funeral will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Friends are respectfully requested to attend without further notice.

The Maiden's Choice

OR THE LAIRD OF BIRKENLEUCH
A Tale of the Covenanters.

"Gloriously!" exclaimed the Baronet. "Sir Thomas is a true gentleman, and canna bide that blackguard of a nephew of his. But Helen, the spy, got round him at once. He took her as a fish-tak'g water. He saw the family features in her face, and said she was like what his mither was sixty years syne. Naeist mornin' he yokes his coach and good to St. Andrews, and this paper is the upshot o' it."

"And to you, my true friend, I am again indebted for my liberty," said Walter, as he gratefully pressed Sir Gilbert's hand. "And what for no?" exclaimed the latter. "Was it no in servin' me that ye got into bondage? and dae ye think I wd leave a stane unturned to get ye free? But puddin' and painches, Watty, lad, 'while daein' my duty the trouble broocht its ain reward; for on the way tae Glenorchy we cam' upon Ritchie."

"Ah, you have found your son?"
"To be shure I hae. When Helen and me were crossin' the Ochils on the back o' 'Patie the snaw cam' on. We lost our road, nicht followed, and in the darkness I let Patie tak' us where he liked. He stopp'd afore a cave occupied by a hermit, and who was this hermit but Ritchie. The callant had 'ken up his habitation in that oot o' the world place, and meant tae live a' his days there."

"But he has changed his mind now, I suppose?" said Walter, with a smile.
"Ye may swear that," cried Sir Gilbert, with a loud laugh. "Whan the snaw brocht up and set us free, he wasna lang in whuk-in aff his hermit claes. He's here, Watty, he's here. 'Ritchie, ye rascal, where are ye?' he shoutet. 'Ritchie, lad, come here, come here.'"

This summons, issued in stentorian tones, at once brought Richard into view. He had lingered on the other side of the garden wall loth to break in upon the tender scene which he knew to be oncocting there; but the sound of his father's voice he started forward, and entering the garden, advanced to where the others stood.

Walter met him with hearty cordiality and warmest congratulations. He had often seen the young man at Brankwood, but as Sir Gilbert's forester had not bestowed much attention on him. But now that he met him as the Baronet's son, it was with the deepest interest and undivided admiration. The likeness he saw to be unmistakable, and another edition of the manly, sterling Sir Gilbert stood before him.

The latter was delighted beyond measure by Walter's appreciation of Richard's appearance, and when Elliot suddenly seized his hand and ardently congratulated him on the discovery of such a son, Sir Gilbert fairly broke down, and turned aside to brush the happy tears from his eyes.

"Time's up," said a deep gruff voice at their elbow, and the jailor was seen standing beside them with a ponderous key in his hand motioning to Walter to follow him.
"I am to return to my cell, am I?"
"Of course you are. Your two hours are out, and the next prisoner will grumble. Come on, sir. Can't wait a moment longer."

"But he is released!" cried Marion, in alarm. "He is your prisoner no longer."
The jailor turned on her with a stare.
"It is true," she hastily repeated. "Sir Gilbert has the order from the Council."

"Tae be shure I hae," exclaimed the Baronet. "I'm only waitin' to see the Governor." "Can't say anything about that," returned the jailor. "All I know is that I've got no orders about it, and Mr. Elliott must be locked up."

"The devil he will!" cried Sir Gilbert, excitedly, as he held the parchment before the jailor's eyes. "Here's the order, sir, signed by the Lord Chancellor, and sealed wi' the muckle red seal, and I daur you to pit Master Elliott intae his dargoon agen."

"Haven't nothing to do with that till I get orders. My duty is to shut him up," was the dogged rejoinder.
"Puddin' and painches! but yer an angersome fellow. Use yer 'e'n, use yer 'e'n. There's the order, I tell ye."

"It may be a dozen orders for anything I care," responded the gruff official. "I take orders only from the Governor."
"Then, confound ye, where is the Governor?"
"At the fort, most likely."

"Perhaps we may see him on the way," suggested Walter. "At all events, I must for the present be in subjection to the Governor." Forced to acquiesce in this, they left the garden in a body, and walked down the sloping edge of the cliff towards the range of buildings which stood, as we have already seen, at the lowest part of the rock. As they came down in view of the landing place, a group of men, who seemed just to have been drawn up from the water, got suddenly into conversation, and one man, dressed as a trooper, pointing with eager gestures to the group descending the slope, began to rush towards them, the others following. The rooper, however, got considerably in advance, and in his headlong haste was tripped by his sword, stumbled forward, and toppled over the cliff into the sea.

One roar of despair he uttered, as he found himself falling, and next moment was lost to view.
All rushed in horror to the edge and gazed down upon the water, where they saw the man struggling helplessly and ready to sink. "Away for the boat and bring it to the place," shouted Richard, and as he spoke, the intrepid youth took a clear leap from the rock, and struck the deep water several yards from the side of the island, and at no great distance from where the trooper lay drowning, with a look of horror and despair cast upwards.

Richard sank and was for some moments out of sight, but he rose immediately, and a few vigorous strokes of his strong arm brought him to the spot just as the soldier was sinking for the last time.
Richard grasped him by the shoulder and managed to keep his head above water. The man gasped for breath, and fixed his eyes in speechless terror on the youth's face. His own face was covered with a deadly pallor, and spasms crossed it as if he endured intense pain, in addition to the imminence of drowning.

It was some minutes before the boat could be manned and brought round, but those were looking on above shouted encouragingly, and Richard exerted his utmost strength to keep the heavy body of the trooper on the surface. At length a loud shout rent the air, as the boat shot round an angle of the rock, and in another moment the gallant youth was relieved of his charge, and had the satisfaction of seeing the trooper lifted safe out of the water.

NEW BLACKSMITH SHOP

THE subscriber begs to inform the people of Guelph and surrounding country that he has leased and fitted up a first-class horse-shoeing, being that old and well-known stand on Cardigan Street, near Goldie's, formerly known as the People's Mill, where he intends to carry on the Blacksmith business in all its branches.

HOSE SHOEING.—Particular attention paid to Horse Shoeing. As the subscriber intends to keep none but a first-class horse-shoer, the public can rely on getting all work in that line done in a satisfactory manner.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.—The subscriber begs to intimate to farmers that he is now manufacturing, and has for sale first-class Steel Mould Board Ploughs, (Gray's pattern.) Ploughs of other patterns made to order. Wagons and all kinds of Farm Implements made to order and repaired on the most responsible terms.

WOOD WORK.—A first-class wood worker kept in connection with the shop. The subscriber having had long experience in the above business, hopes by strict attention to the wants of his customers to merit a share of public patronage. Don't forget the Stand, near Goldie's Mill. CALEB CHASE, Guelph, 24th April, 1868. dw

W. B. COWAN, M.D.

DOMESTIC PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, and Lecturer. Graduate of the Medical College, and Licentiate of Canada. Over Mr. Massie's new store—Guelph.

To the Editor of the Mercury.
SIR.—In reference to an article in last week's Advertiser, headed "The Rockwood Poisoning Case," allow me to make a few remarks. Although he has not mentioned my name, I consider myself nevertheless an interested party, inasmuch as it was at my hotel the liquor was taken and from his correspondent's statement of the case it appears to me that the inference he wishes to convey is, that the poison was also given in my house. Now, sir, does not the history of the affair very plainly show that such was not the case. They remained here for nearly two hours inspecting the commercial traveller's goods, after taking the liquor, and made no complaint of being sick. This is verified by the fact that the first thing Mrs. Warner did after getting home was to prepare and partake of a hearty supper—a thing very unlikely for a sick person to do. As to the peculiar sensation which she says she experienced on the way home, if not imaginary, is there no other solution than that she must have been given arsenic in her liquor? Mrs. Warner, according to her own statements, had been fasting for some ten hours, and in the meantime transacting business and exerting herself a good deal. Is it to be wondered at that taking a glass of wine on an empty stomach—a thing which she is not accustomed to do—that it might affect her stomach and make her feel peculiar. Dr. Perkins, one of the medical attendants, says that Mr. Warner repeatedly stated that it was the tea, and remarked to his wife that there was something very strange about its taste. It was also stated that the girl partook of the lobster more than either Mr. or Mrs. Warner, and received no injury therefrom. But they do not choose to make it public that they took tea with their supplier, and that the girl did not, which I consider accounts for the poisoning of them and not of the girl. As to the commercial traveller, I can testify to his innocence, as when the bell was rung I went to the room for the order. Mr. W. chose a glass of beer, which was bought from Mr. Sleeman of Guelph; Mrs. Warner a glass of wine, which was bought from Mr. Massie of Guelph, and the traveller a glass of whiskey, which came from Mr. D. Allan, Guelph. I then took the three glasses to the room myself on a salver, and each one took their own choice. I held the salver so that the traveller could not possibly have any hand in the affair, except to pay for the liquor, and it is not at all likely that a man representing a house of good standing in Montreal would come to do business with, and at the same time, attempt to poison his customers. As for myself, I can easily stand the hints thrown out by the Advertiser, as I have been a long time in business in Rockwood and consequently pretty well known in this part of the country.
It is also worth noticing that Dr. Jones' surgery is in close proximity to Mr. Warner's dining room, and that there was, I am told, some improvements being made in it, and that the drugs were moved to the house while they were going on. But my intention in troubling you with this is not so much to solve the mystery, connected with this poisoning affair, as to vindicate myself, the reputation of my house, and that of the commercial traveller. By inserting this in your weekly issue, you will greatly oblige
Yours, &c. W. M. STOVEL.

Installation of the Prince as a Knight of the Order of St. Patrick.
The ceremony of the installation of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales as Knight Companion of the illustrious order of St. Patrick was performed with all due pomp and ceremony in St. Patrick's cathedral. The arrangement of details was in the hands of Sir Bernard Burke, Ulster King-at-Arms, and as a pageant the display was the most brilliant that has been witnessed in Ireland since the accession of the present sovereign. The Order of St. Patrick is respected by the Irish nation as of historic importance—founded in 1783, at the close of one of the troubled periods of the national career to be Ireland what the Garter is to England and the Thistle to Scotland. The procession to the Cathedral was a most imposing affair, and all being in readiness the singing of Stevenson's Te Deum was the prelude to the installation, which is thus described. "The Ulster King-at-Arms, the herald's pursuivants and the esquires of his Royal Highness delivered to the Grand Master the collar of the Order and deposited on the table his insignia. The usher, genealogist and the secretary then went to the front of the stall of his Royal Highness and conducted him to the table. The Grand Master then commanded the two senior knights to descend from their stalls and gird him with the sword and mantle, the prelate reading the prescribed admonition. His Royal Highness then proceeded to the stall of the Grand Master, where he assumed the collar of the Order, and the Ulster King-at-Arms, with flourish of trumpets, announced the new knight's titles. His Royal Highness was then robed with the mantle, and the prescribed admonition being read by the prelate as follows: Receive this robe and livery of the most illustrious Order, in argumentation of thine honour, and wear it with a firm and steady resolution that by your character, conduct and demeanor you may approve yourself a true servant of Almighty God, and a worthy brother and knight companion of the most illustrious Order. The Prince of Wales having advanced to the stall of the Grand Master, his Excellency invested him with the collar of the Order, saying: Sir, the loving company of the Order of St. Patrick hath received you their brother, lover and fellow, and in token and knowledge of this they give you and present you this badge, the which God will that you receive with pleasure, and to the exaltation and honor of the said illustrious Order and yourself. The mantle prepared for his Royal Highness is a beautiful piece of work. The material is the very richest sky-blue tawny. The robe is lined with white tawny, and has the appropriate hood with blue and white ribbon streamers from the shoulders. The cord and tassels, of rich bullion of blue and gold, were supplied to the workmen by the Order, and the star worn on the shoulder was manufactured. It is of considerable size, and is surmounted by rosettes and streamers of white satin. Every portion of the Prince's robe is of Irish manufacture. The delivery of the Prince's banner to the Registrar and performance of an anthem by the choir brought the ceremonial to a close."

One important fact which has been confirmed by the recent Abyssinian war, is the readiness of the Sikh and native troops to cross the sea and undertake any kind of foreign service. This has indeed been proved before in China and elsewhere, but many people were still in the habit of declaring that the 150,000 men composing Her Majesty's native Indian army were available except for Indian service.

PELLATITE
WHO CAN TELL
How Nature Colors the Peach?
How Nature Colors the Plum?
How Nature Colors the Green
Grape,
And Berries of various kinds?
The celebrated Portuguese Chemist and Botanist, Professor, Emmerling, has contributed one of the most useful and valuable discoveries of the age for the benefit of mankind, and known as
PELLATITE.
This Pellatite is the Concrete Juice of the Fruit of the Anthemis Pyrethra, a Brazilian Shrub that grows along the banks of the Amazon River. This fruit and its juice possess the peculiar property of imparting its color to the Human Hair only, and gives it a Pleasant, Soft, Glossy, Brown or Black Color, promoting its rapid and luxuriant growth. It will not stain the skin or clothing. Among Ladies and Gentlemen whose hair is turning or already becoming grey, the Pellatite stands as
THE VICTORIA OF ALL
GREY HAIR RESTORERS!
It differs from all others as follows:
The Joyful Side. The Melancholy Side.
Other Preparations
Are all made of preparations of Lead, Sulphur, Lime, Chemicals and Minerals. They chrysalize on the hair and makes it stiff and hard. They stain the skin & clothing. They are filthy—execrable
WHAT THEY DO.
They are carried to the brain by the absorbents—cause pain in the Head, Dizziness, Blindness, Softening
of the Brain, Lunacy and Death.
HOW THEY ARE PUT UP.
They are put in Colored or White Bottles, with the Labels closely pasted around them from the bottom, in order to hide the demon inside.
WHICH WILL YOU HAVE?
WHICH WILL YOU USE?
Compare them. Test them and decide. Away with filthy, dangerous Compounds, and use the clean and Harmless Pellatite.
At one bound it sweeps the field, and the old foggy crucibles of Minerals are dropped by the public like a red hot iron.
Go to your nearest Druggist and ask him to furnish you with the Pellatite. Don't fail to give it a trial, and don't wait until your Hair is destroyed or you are the inmate of a Lunatic Asylum. Go at once.
What the People Say:
"It does not stain the skin, but colors the Hair immediately."
"Professor—My head was sore from other Dyes. Your Pellatite healed my scalp and colored my hair beautifully."
"I am delighted with your Pellatite—I will never again use any other wash or dye."
"No more lead or sulphur dyes for me—your Pellatite is a Botanic Wonder, and no mistake."
"It operates like magic."
"Your Pellatite leaves my hair soft and smooth. Other dyes made it harsh and brittle."
"Since using your Pellatite my head is entirely free from pain and itching."
