MACKENZIE TO RESCUE IN POWER SITUATION WILL AID BECK POLICY

Probability of Electrifying the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway Would Assist in Distribution Plans.

NEEDS THE FRIENDSHIP OF ONTARIO GOVERNMENT

As The World exclusively stated two weeks ago the control of the Electrical Development Company, which operates the huge power works at Niagara Falls, will be dominated in future by William Mackenzie of the Canadian Northern Railway.

Details of the negotiations leading up to the transfer of authority are not available for publication, but an announcement may be anticipated as soon as the transaction has been completed. Quite recently Mr. Mackenzie stated that he intended to take a more active interest in the company than he had hitherto done.

It is an open secret that the company has not been earning as much as was necessary to meet its liabilities, and it nay readily be surmised that Mr. Mackenzie would not permit such a state of affairs to continue if any exertion of affairs to continue if any exertion of his own would provide a remedy.

Possibly during his recent visit to England the astute business men there, who easily recognize one of their own mettle, may have expressed the view that the enterprise should be in stronger hands, as it was clear that it was not in such capable hands as had been supposed.

At all events Mr. Mackenzie is a man At all events Mr. Mackenzie is a man of action, and as the dominant interest of his life is the Canadian Northern Railway, it is in this connection that a clue to the situation may be sought.

The theory suggested in an evening paper yesterday, that an electric merger hostile to the interests of the province would follow Mr. Mackenzie's control of the Electrical Development Company is an unnecessary deduction. Will Be Friends.

It is not at all clear that Mr. Mackenzie should wish to antagonize the Ontario Government. The indication at presnet are all the other way. The Whitney government has made repeated overtures to the Electrical Development.

the friendship of the Ontario Govern-ment as an asset.

The former management did not so regard it, and the result has been a deadlock, unprofitable to all parties.

to withdraw from other enterprises, it is apparent that on these lines the govvery well accommodate each other.

SAYS NAME IS A FORGERY

Caron, Liberal M.P., Makes Discoveries in Limit Scandal.

OTTAWA. Feb. 14. -(Special.) - When J. B. T. Caron, Liberal M. P. for Ottawa, saw to-day that he was down as a beneficiary to the extent of a grant of a coal area in Alberta, he at once went to the department of the interior to examine the "original documents."

Then he found that his name really figured, not as the recipient of a coal lease in the Northwest, but as an applicant therefor. His name, therefore, should not have been included in the return moved for by Mr. Ames.

More than that, he discovered that the signature was not his at all. The name originally signed to the application was that of a Mr. Ogilvy. This had been erased and the name of "J. B. T. Caron" substituted in the handwriting of some "unknown."

Washington Committee.

regard it, and the result has been a deadlock, unprofitable to all parties. Should it ever be determined to electrify the Canadian Northern Railway, there can be no question of the advantage to Mr. Mackenzie to have the resources of Niagara at his disposal for this purpose. Such a design would harmonize very well with the government design for the distribution of cheap power thru the province on the plan of the Power Commission.

Since Mr. Mackenzie is devoted to the Canadian Northern and inclined to withdraw from other enterprises, it is shoals and currents, and he has been invited by Representative Burton, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, to give his views as to the further commercial use of the Niagara River. to withdraw from other enterprises, it is apparent that on these lines the government and Mr. Mackenzie might very well accommodate each other.

It is the conviction of Dr. Winthorp that if the power companies above the cascade exercise their full franchise rights Interests Clash.

A little consideration shows that so far from the interests of the Electrical Development Company and the Hamilton Radial crowd being identical, they are positively antagonistic, unless one is to swallow the other. If the Cataract Power Plant at De Cew is to continue active as well as the Electrical Development Company's plant less one is to swallow the other. If the Cataract Power Plant at De Cew is to continue active as well as the Electrical Development Company's plant at Niagara, they must find different markets for their product.

Beyond all this is the fact that the Canadian Northern is the only Ontario and Toronto railway corporation. It must look to the Ontario Government in no unkindly temper when the hundreds of miles of road yet to be constructed in the province are considered. The Canadian Northern has to build such important links as that between Port Arthur and Sudbury, and from Key Harbor to Ottawa, as well as between Toronto and Ottawa.

Mr. Mackenzie may yet signalize himself as one of the first of the great business men of America to recognize that the interests of capital do not necessarily conflict with those of the people, nor involve a disregard of popular rights.

Had No Piano Like Hyman Had on Yacht Peony-A Ministerial Jaunt

OTTAWA, Feb. 14 .- (Special). - The ouse spent the evening in committee of supply, but progress was slow. Mr. Jackson (Elgin) described a trip of a couple of cabinet ministers, accompanied by a score of Liberal politicians, to by-election meetings. They used the government cruiser Vigilant. Mr. Bennett feared the government would want people to pay for horses and carriages for their election campaigns. Had the Vigilant a piano or board? Being answered in the negative, Mr. Bennett said the minister was behind the times, for Mr. Hyman who was a merry soul, had one on the government yacht Peony, together with a mahogany table costing $100, and other elaborate furniture. By what right did the government use the people's cruisers for their elec-tion expeditions? asked Dr. Sproule. "By right of majority," suggested Bennett.

"The majority on cruiser," added Dr. Sproule.

CITY WILL APPEAL TO RAILWAY COMMISSION

Officials in Conference With Controllers Present Statement Urging Impracticability of Viaduct Plans---Want City to Pay Half Cost of Western Improvements; Rest to Be Decided by Railway Board --- City Will Not Accept. The railways decidedly do not want a viaduct. That much was made emphatically clear at yesterday's conference with the board of control. The railway commission will now be appealed to by the city.

The companies, after citing arguments against the practicability of the viaduct, propose:

1.—Retention of tracks on the present level from the Don to Yongestreet, with steel bridges at Parliament or Berkeley-street, Sherbourne, Jarvis, Church and Yonge-streets.

2-The elimination of level crossings on the Esplanade between the foot of Yonge-street and of Parliament-street, and the extension of Harbor-street parallel with and south of the railway tracks.

3-Prevention of traffic over street extensions not occupied by

4-The new Union Station to be built from Yonge-street to Simcoestreet; a bridge at Bay-street to replace the one at York-street. 5-The retention of John-street, Spadina-avenue, Bathurst and Strachan-avenue bridges. 6-The depression of the Grand Trunk roadway from the crossing of G. T. R. and C. P. R. tracks leading to Queen's Wharf to a point about 1000 feet east of Sunnyside. 7-Bridges at Dufferin-street, Dunn-avenue, Jameson-avenue and Dowling-avenue.

8—The elevation of the tracks from a point 1000 feet east of Sunnyside to the Humber on embankments. 9—Subways at Sunnyside crossing, Indian-road, with access to High Park, High Park crossing and Windermere-avenue. 10-All other crossings to be closed.

The companies further suggest that the city pay one-half the cost of the whole undertaking between Bathurst-street and the Humber, and that the railway commission determine the city's share of the cost of the

New Grouping of Powers.

VIENNA, Feb. 14.—A new grouping of the powers in the near-eastern question is freely predicted by independent politicians here unless Baron Vou Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, succeeds speedily the irritation of Russis over the Balkan Railroad question. Institution is considered in Vienna to be compilicated by the alleged intention of the Russian government to ask the Sultan of Turkey to grant a concession for the construction of a railroad line from Radulevatz, in Servia, on the Danube to Antivari, or Duloigno, both scaporus of Menterage, on the Adriatic, a proof Montenegro, on the Adriatic, a project that would connect the Danube with the Adriatic and would be acceptable to Italy for commercial reasons. This Russian counter move is resented here. Austria desires direct railroad communication between Vienna, Salon-iki and Athens. Part of the line is al-ready built, and the Russian road would have to cross the connecting branch. Austria wants to build in Novibazan and practically make the Austrian pro-

If such a coalition is made, the reason for it un-doubtedly will be the latest develop-ments at Constantinople—the fact that Germany intends to abandon the allies. and adopt the counter proposals of the sultan, which, according to the other powers, are tantamount to no reform at all. Only by such a four-power league in the eyes of the Russian press can the necessary reforms in Macedonia be carried thru. This afternoon about 2 o'clock the police were called in to find Martin's wife and a 6-year-old son, Renard, lying dead in their bed, apparently suffocated by coal gas that had escaped from a stove in their room. Martin himself and another son, James, 7 years of age, appeared also to be suffering slightly from the ef-fects of the gas. The mother and two lads had occupied one bed, while the father slept on a couch on the other ide of the stove in the same room. When Coroner Balfe arrived at the house Martin told him that he woke at 8 o'clock this morning to find his wife and son dead. He knew that they were dead, he told the doctor, but made no effort to notify anybody of the occurrence. In fact, it was not until he called to a neighbor this afternoon about 1.30 that the tragedy was discovered by the authorities. It is on account of this strange delay in giving the alarm that the police decided to hold Martin until the affair is

nteresting Lecture by Dr. Wilson of Baltimore Given Before Toronto Audience

Dr. Henry Langford Wilson, profesor of Roman Archaeology and Epiraphy in the Johns Hopkins Universty, Baltimore, gave an illustrated lecture yesterday afternoon before a School of Classical Studies in Rome, chose as his subject, "Recent Archaeological Progress in Rome," and used as illustrations many pictures taken by himself during his stay in Rome. By way of introduction he pointed out that the soil of Italy is still full of objects that recall the historic or the prehistoric past. Ancient jewelry and armor, bronze and marble statues and objects of many other sorts are being constantly found during the digging of drains or the bulkling of houses. Notwithstanding the many complaints heard, the Italian government, carrying all the burden of maintaining and guarding the monuments now accessible, is going steadily forward in the great work of excavation. reservation for after-theatre-funch, No. 2750. As was to be expected, the game wa was something short, and that there would be an investigation. As Tom Flanagan's denial has not been received up to the hour of going to press, there can hardly be anything serious in the story.

There is also money expended in the jockey business. For instance, Thomas H. Williams jr., out at the coast, bought the contract on Gibbert, a jockey, for $10,000, from J. F. Chifford. The stewards of the New York Jockey Club will be represented by counsel at the public hearing of the Agnew-Hart anti-racing bills, which come up next Wednesday at Albany before the Judiciary and codes committees.

Is it not a sign of their superior intelligence that no less than fifty candidates for the 1908 cricket team of Haverford College, Pa., have responded to a call by Capt. Clement and Manager Edwards, and are now working daily in the cricket shed, while at other centres of learning they are even at this early date playing baseball in the cage?

Congaiton, the Guelph boy, contributes a new one upon Tim Hurst, the umpire whos has all others faded for ability to hand back a witty line of talk to any objecting player. Hurst called a strike on a wide one and Congaiton let out a roar. "Never mind, Connie," was Tim's bland retort, "you'd be a great hitter if it wasn't for the umpire."

The owner of the Boston Nationals was stunned the other day when he received a letter from Barney Joy, an attive of the Sandwich islands, who said he would agree to sign a Hub contract if he got a salary of $4000-$400 in advnce and a round trip ticket from Honolulu to Boston. Last season Joy pitched such good bal in California that the Boston magnates secured his release.

It is rumored that Dr. Jimmy Casey's experience so far in Montreal has not been a pleasant one. His first interview been so unsatisfactory that the new manager left in a huff and was only induded to retrace his steps when he reached Toronto. It is to be hopped for

C.B.A. Entries Close To-Day.

C.B.A. Entries Close To-Day.

Bowlers are reminded that entries must be in to-day for the international C.B.A. tourney, in order that the schedule may be completed in time and appear in the official souvenir program, which is now waiting only for the list of entrants.

The handicap event is making a hit with the new trundlers. There will be a five-man, doubles, and singles affair, and the entrance fees are $2 per man in all events, the same as the open event.

The tournament opens Feb. 24, a week from Monday, and it will be a record-breaker. Entries are pouring in for all events, and the week will be one long to be remembered in bowling circles. Mail entries to C. Munson, secretary, 343 Yonge street, and make all cheques payable to Treasurer Claude Armstrong, care of Dominion Bank.

dition for the fourth night of the series. The first game, North Toronto v. Centennials, was North Toronto all the way thru, the Centennials being clearly outclassed. North Toronto scored six in the first half and 7 to 2 in the second, winning out by 13 to 2.

The second game, Penetang-v. Faculty of Education, was lightning fast and both teams went at it hammer and tongs from the drop of the hat; both teams had strengthened up since their last games and were confident of victory, but the speedy bunch from the north had the Toronto boys outgeneraled in all departments by being better skaters, better stickhandlers and sure shots. In the first period the Penetangs scored 3 goals to 0, while Jumbo Copeland, weighing 217 pounds, in goal for the northern boys, had only two shots to stop. In the second, Faculty coming back in two minutes and again in six minutes and four minutes. Penetang notched the next two in eight and two minutes, winning out by 8 to 3. For Faculty, Keith put up a wenderful game and Park also scored, while nearly every man on the Penetang team was in the limelight at some stage of the game. Players:

Ottawa Vics Lose at Cornwall.

CORNWALL, Feb. 14.-The Ottawa-Viccornwall, res. is.—The Ottawa-vice torias were beaten in a Federal League game here to-night by a score of 7 to 6 by the Cornwall senior team. The Ottawas missed the O. and N.Y. express and were consequently obliged to come to Cornwall by way of Coteau. They arrived here about 9.30 p.m. and consequently the game started about 10.30. Despite the lateness of the hour over 500 enthusiasts were present and nearly all remained till the finish, about midnight. The teams were very evenly matched and it was a nip and tuck contest from start to finish. The first half ended with the score 2 to 1 in favor of Cornwall and in the second half each team scored five goals. Desse Brown of Montreal was the referee, and he kept the game clean thruout. The only man hurt was Harrison, who was hit over the eye accidentally by his team mate, Alf Young, near the close of the game. Runions was dropped to even up. The ice was rather heavy, but this didn't seem to bother the players very much. The teams and officials were:

Berryman were appointed as representative to go before the committee having in charge the Hart-Agnew bill, at Albany next wednesday, and show how the repeal of the Percy-Gray law in New York State would affect business interests in the south. The committee was appointed at a mass meeting of breeders here this after-non, presided over by George J. Clay.

Major P. P. Johnston, president of the National Trotting Association, will likely be the man selected to make the appeal. It was the sense of the meeting that property values here would be depreciated from 25 to 50 per cent. If the bills pass.

The suggestion that four tracks only, except the Union Station tracks, should be elevated along the waterfront from Bathurst-street, junction to Cherry and Vine-streets, near the River Don, and that certain service tracks should remain on the present level on both sides of the proposed elevated tracks or viaduct, is open to the objection that the operation of such service tracks will be attended with more danger than the operation of all tracks as at present constructed, owing to the impossibility of anyone passing thru the subway under the viaduct seeing an engine or cars approaching the crossing on the other side of the viaduct until danger of collision is imminent.

"Just Out of College." "Just Out of College," the latest and said to be the wittlest and most laughable comedy the famous humorist, George Ade, has yet written, will be the offering at the Grand next week. Since Mr. Ade came into public notice as a humorous writer for the American press he has attracted to himself no little notice. His humor is altogether different from any of his predecessors. His "County Chairman" and "The College Widow" have been seen here and left behind a most pleasing impression. These comedies, while bright in dialog, are wholly different in theme and text from that which he has complexed in his newest which he has employed in his newest play, "Just Out of College." It is entitled a "Plea for the Clavichord." The clavichord was one of the many precursors of the pianoforte, and it vied with the harpsichord for popular favor with the musicians of the 18th century. Handel preferred the latter, Bach, the former.

The clavichord is a keyed instrument of five octaves in compass; the wires are struck with a small blade of brass, called a tangent, which remains in contact with the string as long as the key is held down, thus enabling the performer to have a certain control over the vibrations. This feature, which is absolutely lacking in the plane, admits of the vibrate effect, and the clavichord is the most human of

PETER OTTAWA

By E. W. Thompson

(Registered according to the Copyright Act, by the Author.)

These humble lines I dare to dedicate

To all the patriotic dead, whose fate,
While living, was to front the foolish scorn,
That still crowns Reconciler's brows with thorn.

Macdonald, Cartier, Baldwin, Lefontaine, Ye did not vainly tread the way of pain! Nor vainly strive the healers of our day, Whose gentle wisdom rules the heart of GREY!

PETER OTTAWA.

He was a mighty rover in his prime, And still, tho bearded white as Father Time, Content and restless, strong and curious, he Roams over Canada from sea to sea.

To gaze on all his native love possest—
That impulse urged, for years, his wandering quest;
To achieve some truthful vision of the whole
From Welland's orchards to the circumpole;
To know all tribes and races of the land,
Such was the joy his youthful ardor planned,
And still the yearning holds him, while he smiles
To think of how the Impossible beguiles.

Oft as he turns to share his wealthy home, So oft, insatiate, hastes he forth to roam; And in the region round about Quesnel His ever-wondering farmer-neighbors tell—"He's off again! God knows by what he's led! Old Peter Ottawa'll never die in bed!"

That pseudonym he took in youth, they deem, Perchance in pride to boast his native stream, Or p'raps to signify, so some declare, Himself to nativist to wish to wear His patronymic of one Old-World race, Since he four glorious ancestries can trace.

"I roam by right of Scottish blood," he'll say,
"My father's grandsire roved till his last day,— Roderick the Red, who strode with kilted thighs,
The highland light of battle in his eyes, Where many a stream of spirting life was spilt Before, with Wolfe, a claymore's basket hilt Gript in his iron fist, he climbed with frown More dour than high Quebec could darkle down.

"Roving is in my blood from Gerald Foy Who charged the English line at Fontenoy With wild-heart memories of the home he fled; Tradition tells that while he thrust and bled My visioning Irish ancestor could see His emerald hills, his boyhood's 'fairy tree,' His native glen, with family roofs aglow, His stacks red-lit, his mother's wailing woe, His children staring vengeful on the groups of half-ashamed, half-stolid English troops, Whose ranks of dak ne'er learned a foe to rue Whose ranks of oak ne'er learned a foe to rue Till Ireland's ban'shed bayonets charged them thru.

"And yet, praise God, the English heart I share, The steadfast blood that held the steely square That broke the cuirassiers at Waterloo, Firm, for the Iron Duke, as at review; Firm, for the Iron Duke, as at raview;
The blood that bided cool that dread advance—
The veteran, Old, immortal Guard of France
Who charged, yet knowing well they charged in vain—
If vain be death-contemptuous glory's gain—
Charged to end there th' emblazoned valor scroll
That fame can never utterly uproll;—
Or my Grandsire, Pierre Deschamps, would say,
Old Pierre, who charged at Hougomont with Ney."

In filial love he boasts his Gallic part, His half-French mother gave him half his heart; But Pierre of Waterloo is less his pride
Than Pierre's Canadian grandsire, Jean, who died
In seventy-six, hard by Fort Levis,
Where Pouchot's braves renewed Thermopylae.

There he, with scarce four hundred, held at stand, For nineteen days, stout Amherst's whole command, Eleven thousand, balked on ship and shore, Till Pouchot's muster fell to thirteen score.

"Militiamen, remember," Peter says, "Militiamen, remember," Peter says,
"Just habitants, like ours of later days,
Farming their little clearings by the stream
That floated Amherst down its August dream.—
And who dare say that least among them all
Was not a very Paladin of Gaul?
Go to—our Canada from France retains
A strain as staunch as pulses British veins!"

TM

orth *

French, English, Irish, Scotch he reconciles, Boasts them alike, and with his boasting smiles;— "That's me—that's Canada—a fourfold flame Of mighty origins surrounds the name.— Lives there a man in all the land to-day Can wish one pioneering race away?
His heart's an immigrant.—I say no more;
We chide no stranger entering at our door,
But bid him welcome, bid him share the meal,—
His children yet the native sense shall feel; And what care we if twenty races blend In blood that flows Canadian at the end?"

Our painted autumn sets him roaming wide, As if his lifelong yearning could not bide To watch his own Laurentian mapled range From pomp to pomp magnificently change. But he must up and forth with every dawn, Thru aisles of glamorous color following on, Mid golden-showering leaves, a viewless trail, Thru rustling corridors a voiceless hail, Over what vista-mirroring lakes a guide Whose beckenings misty distance scarce can hide, Beyond yet one more rapid's murmurous song The enchanting call of follow, follow long, Which ever sang and ever sped before, And ever led his fathers one day more, Until at last beyond the enormous plain, And past the eternal snow-peaks' ranging chain, The imperious western surges ordered Stand. And turned them back to claim the traversed land.

And turned them back to ax, and scythe, and plow, Toil, thrift, long patience, and the thoughtful brow Inspired to rear on earth what He commands— The house that is not builded up by hands.

"Which is," says Peter, "ancient England's dream, Tho oft she be distracted from the theme By Viking children, and by threatening voice; 'Tis still the dream in which she doth rejoice, (Even as any whirling human soul Is glad when toiling toward the heaven-goal), She doth rejoice to rear for man's behoof. She doth rejoice to rear for man's behoof,
Her haspitable, many-mansioned roof,
Wherein the immemorial laborer yet
Freely shall eat the bread of his own sweat.
It's when we muse on English greathearts' aim,
And muse how true our laws pursue the same, Then, then we exult about our mother's throne. And love her ideal empire as our own.'

Dreaming a better Britain rising here Mid winter forests lovely and austere, His creaking snowshoes track what vaulted miles Where towering pines uprange converging aisles, When neither shrub nor shadow checks the gaze, But one white undulation floors the maze Of colonnades so tall they seem to lean

Inward before they branch the roof of green Whose rifts, at times asway, disclose the blue, At times let aimless snowflakes wander thru To waver down, as if they hesitate Lest merest motion be to desecrate

That subtle stillness, where the high-head grouse Treads three-toed, wondering, and the forest mouse Meandering timid, dots a tiny track Whose every swerve denotes a fear attack Were hovering in the mystery all around—So much more threatening Silence is than Sound.

The reverent rover, chancing to intrude Within the borders of such solitude, Worships in natural piety sincere
A holy spirit quiet brooding here.
Within a fane whose ministrants are none Except the chanting winds, the wheeling sun, The patient seasons' alternating train,
Their potent servitors of shine and rain,
Ordained by something, kin to time and space,
Regnant and immanent thruout the place,
Which urges apprehension on the soul
That its own being merges with the whole.
No less he worships where some western throng
Of pioneers moves sturdily along
The hurrying, half-built streets of plains he knew
When buffalo ranged round all the circling blue.

There every face declares some inward tune
Of hope and happiness at Plentlune,
The eyes shine keen, on enterprise intent,
As if that very west-Canadian meant
To realize some visionary state
Surpassing good, and glorious, and great,
So Strode, be sure, the Viking race of old,
Elate the arduous, kind and shrewd and bold,
Scanning the future as they faced the gale,
With no misgivings lest their strength should fail,
Assured the world was made for them who Do.
And God would see His active children thru.

He did, by heaven, and still our kin fare forth,
Beneath all galaxies of south and north,
Degenerate only where, by vested wrong,
The money-mongers crowd and rot the throng.
Give them but land and air, then not the best
Of all the broods that flew the ancient nest
More pleased the Allfather by their works and ways
That His adventurers of latter days.

In treble ribbons see the prairie run.
Black from their plowshares in the westering sun,
Whose shine the yearding sod-hut settler sees
Gild children's wealthy roofs thru future trees,
And, patient joyful deems the vision fair,
Which his own eyes may never witness there.

Behold rude hamlets, every one with school, With church, with council-hall for lawful rule, The wind-bronzed, hard-hand fathers giving free Their little leisure that the new land be So set for order in its early years
That Time's long talk shall bless the pioneers.

Or, clearly vision some September plain
Where one sole reaper shrills in harvest grain
Before the whirring grouse takes morning flight
Till the long gloaming deepens into night
That lets the stalwart, freed from labor's dues,
Plod shackward, blessing God that sleep renews
His power to lift the morrow's heavy gage,
And day by day the lonely battle wage,
Until at last, with all his wheat well saved,
A haggard victor from the strife he brayed A haggard victor from the strife he braved, He eyes the stacks that prove his manhood sound For her who shall emparadise his ground, And sternly knows within his secret heart, That never warrior acted higher part.

It seems to me a blasphemy immense To imagine God the foe of common-sense, And not a power of sanity complete, Who surely holds an arduous useful feat Of resolute labor something over par, Compared with deeds of war, which ever are At best but just a fate-defying stand Made since the world began in every land, For hate, or hope, or pay, or love, or lust, But mostly just because the soldier must Obey the officer, who must opey In turn the ordered orderer of the day, Himself a sort of slave to slaves whose trade Is just to get stupidity obeyed;-The cruel; dense stupidity of pride Callous to wholesale murder on each side, And loathe to arbitrate, lest judges wise Settle some trivial point by compromise Poor world, insensate bred, and deep possest By febrile fear pretending warlike zest! Could your bedevilled peoples see arise The kindly sun of west-Canadian skies Over the solitudes of perfect peace, Surely might blustering forever cease; Then all your unencited multitudes, Calmed into love of calm, might still the broods

Who rave, persuasive in the music hall, That man must arm and kill lest worse befall; Would trust the common wisdom of the heart. Which purely whispers that all combats start From that Yahoo suspicion which insists Peace cannot be, even while peace exists; Would resolutey reason—God's fair world Was given all kindly, and by hate is whirled Into those horrors which shall henceforth end— So vast the earth, with room for all to wend In labor's honest ways, their fellows' friend.

To share the western work, to smack its taste, Old Peter hies him often to the waste; One year, with thirty wagons in his train, He took the Athabasca trail again,
Adventurer, trader, settler, all in one,—
Reapers, provisions, disc-plows, cartridge gun,— Sure, as of old, his proper gain to find Tho every market-place were far behind.

It chanced he saw six hundred acres spread Golden and ripe where one sole reaper sped. Alone?" called Peter.

"Quite," the settler cried. Halting his horses in their sweating stride. "This wheat all yours?"— "Well, that I hardly know.

Altho I paid its planting months ago, The blackbird swarms may get the larger share," The youth was blue-eyed; ruddy, Saxon fair;—
My name is Brown—I'm English—green as grass—
And no one warned me what a thundering ass
I was to buy, at home, a section here
Pay cash to have it broke and sowed this year; It wasn't till I came across in May I learned my 'farm' is two long days away From railways, neighbors, markets, help from man.-But greenhorns just must do the best they can.— Go on!"—He chirruped gaily to his pair, Once more the reaper's whirring held the air.

Old Peter laughed and swore; - "Absurd young fool! English as English! Eight-year-olds at school About Quesnel would be too sharp for that! And yet, tort dieu, he smiles beneath his hat Good-humored, game!—I like the fellow fine! What's more, the lad's an ancestor of mine!"

Turning he faced his plodding wagons then;—
"Halt! Halt! Arrete! Pull up! Unhitch, my men! Unload the reaper-binders-rig 'em quick! Pitch all the tents-right here a week we'll stick. Who ever saw a prettier spread of wheat?

Dashed if my English blood shall taste defeat!"

Ten days went by-the grateful settler saw Great stacks unroofed—his acres stubble straw—His fourteen thousand bushels safely stored, And Peter's wagons winding past the ford.

"Talk me no pay," the oldster laughed him down,
"Call it a wedding gift for Mistress Brown,—
Scotch, Irish, French her strains of blood must be—

Mixed with your English, Lord the brood we'll see! Fathered and mothered on the surest plan To make 'em thru and thru Canadian!" So Brown reports Old Peter's joke to-day. Roared as he whipt his team, and raced away. Ten days of thirty men and thirty teams! Well—Peter's often shrewder than he seems.

The veteran's thirty teamsters settled down On homestead blocks about the land of Brown, While Peter bought the railway lands between.—
Two years—a branch line hastened to the scene! He saw that finish clearly from the start; He picked out settlers that he knew by heart, Furnished them all supplies till next year's fall, Horses, machinery, wagons, shacks and all; No note, no mortgage—not a scratch of pen Twixt him and them—old Peter knew his men. To-day they farm his boughten tracts on shares, And half the township's his, and half is theirs.

"It's square," he says. "But fair? I have my doubt. Yet, when Old Peter Ottawa peters out, The lads will find him at the latter end, As at the first, a pretty steady friend;—
Thank God my children are not money-mad! Meantime, I hold the landlord system bad. Oh yes, it's been my profit many a year, And owning property is a kind of cheer. It's handy, too, for if your fellow man Is needing help it's good to know you can. Of course it grits my Irish many a night To know a landlord's just a parasite; But take the world the way it's made we must. Meantime I'll hold myself a landlord-trust; Two hundred tenants get one-fourth my ground When Peter Ottawa's finished out his round. That kind of saves my Irish-fourth from shame,—The rest—my Scotch-French-English—stand the blame For landed property they can't let go, It's God Almighty makes Canadians so!"

Even in dogma, Peter holds all creeds
Sufficient unto true religion's needs;—
"Do unto others as you would they should
To you," he says, "sets out the whole of good.
The life that's guided so, its Lord is He
Who savored anguish in Gethsemane;
No matter if such Christian be a Turk,
He'll get what's justly coming for his work.
Methodist, Catholic, Shaker, Theist Jew,
Buddhist, it's all according as they DO.
No need to name the seven score creeds en olled
Equal in Canada, and each extolled
By true-believing seekers after God
To be pre-eminent as Aaron's rod; By true-believing seekers after God
To be pre-eminent as Aaron's rod;
In what they hold alike is surely found
The essential elemental truth profound,
And that's—there's something heavenly in the plan
Of dealing gently with your fellow man,
And something hellish in the heart that sates
Its cruel greed and domineering hates.'

For worship Peter's never in the lurch In any place, or any kind of church, Cathedral glorious built, or chapel rude, He finds in each his spiritual food; He nnds in each his spiritual food;
Ever he enters reverent, with one prayer;
"Oh! Father, grant thy wandering child to share
The blessing sought by them who built this shrine—
A sense of nearness to the soul divine"—
And from no congregation could he part
Without a benediction in his heart.

"Good will," he says, "is true Canadian growth, And toleration is a word I loathe,— It comes from times when every theolog Hankered to persecute, as some flerce dog Chained to a staple, winks with wicked eyes, Chained to a staple, winks with wicket eyes, Shows snarling teeth, and still quiescent lies, Angry and devilish from tail to jaws, Because he's clamped—as bigots by our laws. To hearken brag of 'toleration' here, Where all are equal, makes me kind of rear, And if I swore I'd launch my biggest curse Against such insolence. Can one be worse? Except, perhaps, that brawling arrogance Which roars opinion that our strain from France Should dumbly bear to have its mother tongue, Should dumbly bear to have its mother tongue,
Creed, laws, and customs trampled into dung,
Because one set of soldiers long ago
Climbing a hill by night surprised their foe!
Be hanged to conquerors' right! Our monarch's claim
Is broadly founded on fair Freedom's name,
And half the liberties which we entrench
Came from the patient struggle of our French."

As Scots hold Scottish customs unco sound,
As Erin is by Erin's sons renowned,
As France's children celebrate her praise,
As English folk are staunch for English ways,
So Peter guides him by his native light;
"Whatever is Canadian, that is right
And if we change it of our own free will,
It's right again because Canadian still! By this great dogma, and by this alone Can native-born Canadians hold their own Against the meddling, not ill-meaning crew Of immigrant advisers what to do; By this alone the sound Canadian stands, Like all his forbears in their native lands."

Squared to this dogma he'll philosophize Smiling contra to the imported wise, Or wiseacres, who rail at separate schools, Two tongues official, all the liberal rules Our fathers made, by compromise benign, To ease the creeds, the races, and incline All native hearts one patriot sense to share That here mankind is freer than elsewhere...

"Homo-gen-e-ity," he drawls, "Absurd To make a fetich of the long-tailed word And then proceed to allege that its command Is Christian creed from public schools be banned; A plan in Puritan Yankeeland evoked Mainly to keep one Christian creed provoked, And force its children to a double tax For schooling, lest their children's faith relax."

A sillier tyranny no country shows— It's somewhat as if every youngster's nose To be snipt off were by an edict doomed, Because some few small noses were presumed Likely to relish incense of they grey, To know its scent as parent noses do-Then every youthful nose were snipt—save those That went apart for incense when they chose! "To teach the children reverence for a creed, No matter what, which duly taketh heed Of God's perennial mirracle, the world And all the lives about its orbit whirled .-To teach them conscience, duty, love, and awe, Respect for righteous ethics and fet law. But one sure way the wise have ever found Since our first fathers spaded up the ground,-And that's to impart, in childhood's earliest schools, A sense for guidance by religious rules."

'Give me a Methodist that's Methodist, A true-blue Lutheran, true-blue Calvanist. An Anglican who is all anglican, Or catholic Catholic,—then I've got a man Who'll stand for genuine Right, thru thick and thin. And help guard Canada from rotten sin.

"Even a Chinaman who fears his Joss And burns a stick before his moral boss, Is fitter far to help us run the state That those greed-sodden empty hearts who prate That plants, and beasts and men must share one fare, Material atoms all, enlivened clod. Dust unto dust, and nothing raised to God." "A greedy public victimized by greed

Women who wed determined not to breed, Virtue defined as wishy-washy cant Where long-haired men and short-haired women rant, That's what they get, and get it more and more, Who oust all creeds from Education's door; That's what they get,, a populace dead at heart To Him who still performs His chastening part, Whose mills still grind exceeding small, if slow;-Look at the grist the Yankees have to show;-

"A nation which, like Hope's bright star, arose To flash long fear on man's oppressive foes, Now seeming destined to be saved at last, Controlled, directed contra to its past, By them whose teachers ever hold on high 'Tis Heaven's command. Increase and multiply.

'Homo-gen-e-ity! And why should we Ignore the blessings of diversity?"

"Where several tongues, and many creeds prevail, The equal all alike in Freedom's pale, No sudden general madness strikes the throng And sweeps the whole to foolishness or wrong."

"We saw the soliditary of France For war betray her to the Devil's dance: We saw the solid States rise up in rage An inconsistent, tyrant war to wage For domination over brown allies Who'd served them faithfully, for Freedom's prize; We saw the solid English slowly worked Against their nature, to a war that irked Their inward, temperate sense that, largely, right Lay with the freemen whom they wrought to fight;-And many and many a woeful slaughter more Must Truth lay at the Homogeneous door."

Count up the dead by fever, shot and shell, Count up the cripples, count all tears that fell, Count up the orphan children of the strife, Count the long-yearning heart of parent, wife, Count the vast treasure, count the labor's waste, Count all the cost of passion's headlong haste, And then you'll know what solid nations pay When common impulse sweeps good sense away, Flushing the millions madly all at once With Wisdom down and up the truculent Dunce!"

"Give me to live where public matters wait The careful issue of the long debate, Where steady champions of divergent creeds And differing races urge their various needs, Where nought of serious consequence is done Unless approved as fraught with wrong to none, Where every honest man of every kind (Tho momentary party passion blind) Shall know full well within his secret heart, The adopted course is common-sense's part, Expedient in its time, and therefore sound For all alike within the nation's bound."

"In such a land, tho many a year we go So patient-Cautious, neighbors call us slow, We shun the abyss, we move by reason's light, We march as brothers, and we climb the height Where yet our flag shall gently be unfurled Symbolic of a federated world, Whose problem do we daily solve while we Climb upward, peaceful in Diversity."

So Peter Ottawa lives, full well content To bide the lot he deems as Heaven-sent; Keeping his glorious ancestries in mind, To all traditions piously inclined: He'll plod, and laugh, and hope, and boast, and roam About the energous tracts he calls his home. And thank the Lord that things are as they are. And glad his soul with dreams, of futures far, Whereby, perchance, full many a time he stands Within The House not builded up of Hands.

Finger prints taken, 1906, 83; 1907, 106. During the year there were 548 cases of common assault and 31 cases of assaults on policemen, 308 breaches of the Gaming Act, 8750 drunks and disordelles.

There were 1150 arrests of offenders between the ages of 10 and 15 and 1249 between 15 and 20. At the other end, there were 628 between 60 and 70, 132 between 70 and 80 and 34 between 80 and 90.

In reference to the detective department the chief points out that the staff has been altogether too small. The work has grown so in the last year that he insists that at least three additional officers were necessary. These were granted at last Tuesday's meeting of the commissioners. All this growth means much more work for Inspector Duncan, and the chief was urgent in recommending an increase of salary, recommending an increase of salary, which has been partly met.

He also asks that an extra man be appointed on the morality staff. A comparison of the work of the morality department for 1906 and 1907 shows an increase of houses of ill-fame and disorderly houses prosecuted from 204 to 275. In 1906 there were 56 liquor prosecutions, against 41 in 1907. Cruelty to animals, 1906, 215; 1907, 421. Miscellaneous cases, 1906, 1259; 1907, 1470; total, 19°6, 1734; 1907, 2207.

K. Macdonald Spoke Against Limitation on the Bill to Investment-Other Objections.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.-J. K. Macdonald, of the Canadian Life Officers' Association, addressed the banking and ment insurance bill again to-day. He spoke against the limitation on the bill to investment which would be detrimental to the profits of the policy-holders.

holders.

Among the changes he suggested were the abolition of the five-year existence period of bonds, as well as the requirement of twenty-five per cent. excess value in the mortgage values over the value of the bonds secured. To change from seven to three years the period for which debentures and preferred stocks must pay interest, and to cut down the period for common stocks from ten to five years. In answer to a question from Mr. est, and to cut down the prior to common stocks from ten to five years. In answer to a question from Mr. Fielding, he admitted that industrial stocks would be a difficult choice to make. To this the finance minister made the comment that it would be more difficult in a three year than in a seven year stock. Mr. Fielding expressed a doubt of the wisdom of including common stocks on any terms. Mr. Macdonald proposed removing the ban on an insurance company that found it necessary to take over an industrial concern in which it had large investments, of holding more than twenty per cent. of the bonds of the company. He would not apply this to new dompanies. In reference to manufacturing investments, to which the chairman made reference, which the chairman made reference. Mr. Macdonald says his company would not accept them.

Mr. Fielding: "We thought it

he case of old companies."

Minister Makes a Change. Section 60 was a provision to forbid the companies employing insurance the companies employing insurance funds to underwrite the purchase or sale of securities or property of any kind. Mr. Macdonald thought this should be amended so as not to prevent different insurance companies joining hands to take up an issue of city bonds or debentures. The finance minister assented to this change.

Section 78 was amended by the insertion of a provision that no new life insurance company shall take out a with the provisions of the new law This would give all insurance companies absolutely uniform powers of investment. Mr. Macdonald thought the companies' powers should be uniform in the matter of investments. There were certain other respects, however, in which the various charters were not absolutely uniform, and Mr. Macdonald thought the companies were desirous of preserving their rights in this respect. As the government bill stands, it might wipe all insurance charter out of existence.

Section 86 provided the issue of estimated dividends or surplus on individual policies. The companies asked that his be limited to Canadian business, and that its enforcement be postponed till Jan. 1, 1909.

Personality and Destructive Work of the Devil-Man--kind's Release From the Bondage of Error and Judgment.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S SERMON

PATERSON, N.J., Feb. 14.-Pastor C. Russell of Pittsburg, Pa., preached here twice to large and attentive audiences. We report his discourse on the "Binding of Satan," from the text, "He laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years, and cast him into the abyss, and shut him up and sealed it over him that he uld deceive the nations no more until the thousand years should be fin-ished: and after that he must be loosed (Rev. xx., 2, 3.) The

The unscriptural views we once held respecting hell naturally led us into unscriptural views respecting Satan. When we held the thought that hell was a vast furnace of fire—we knew not where, "beyond the bounds of space and time"—we were deluded into believing that Satan was in that far-off place, master of ceremonies, and chief over a host of fireproof demons employed chiefly in causing indescrib-able pain and anguish to thousands of millions of the human family who pass-ed into his control by divine foreknowledge and intention; the number of new arrivals approximating ninety thousand per day. But with Satan afar off and more than busy we could not think of him as giving any particular time and attention to the compara-

But when we get the Scriptural idea of hell, that sheol and hades are the names for the state of death and ungood and bad, go at death, and from which both the just and unjust are to be resurrected at the second coming of Christ, it throws a different light the whole subject. As for the term Gehenna fire, symbolically used to represent the second death—the utter de-struction of the incorrigible — we find no more literal than those of the "fiery trials" which the Lord promised should come upon all of his faithful to con-sume their dross and, under divine su-"A Covering Cherub."

The time when his ambitious designs began to take shape uncoubtedly was when he beheld our first parents in Eden and set about to capture them as his subjects. He is reported to the second of ture them as his subjects. He is represented as saying in his heart, "I will ascend above the stars (be higher than the other angels—captain and leader). I will be like the Most High in the sense of God respecting those angels—in connection with the inauguration of connection with the inauguration of the grant enlightenment, bringing forth the invention of printing and later steam and electricity, our adversary has been kept more busy connection with the inauguration of the formerly. The disobedience of our first parents and the fulfilment upon them shalt die," has involved a race whose numbers now approximate probably twenty thousand millions, a groaning reation, suffering under the sentence of death thru its effects upon minds, their morals, their physical cial opsystems. Thus our Lord Jesus de-clares of Satan, "He was a murderer ception he brought them under the murderer of the entire race.

It is not necessary for us to determine that Satan's original lie was of full determination to misrepresent. He told our first parents that he would be their real friend and guide them to greater knowledge; that God, their Creator, was selfish and that the prohibition of the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil was a deliberate atempt on God's part to keep them from useful and profitable knowledge because He did not want

He had no authority from God to rule mankind, but by involving humanity in sin, of alienating them from their Creator, he was able more and more to gain control, be-cause no sentence of death had been of his personal powers and vitality had been experienced, while mankind, under the death sentence, rapidly lost mental, moral and physical strength and ability to cope with him. During the 1656 years from Adam's creation to the flood, a certain amount of in-tercourse was permitted between hu-manity and the angels. God's design and took them for wives, with the re-structions, that the dead were dead, that they must not be worshipped or prayed to—and the Israelites were commanded not to allow a witch or wizard or necromancer to live in their midst. They were told that their dead were really dead, and that the hope for their living again lay in the resurrection, which the promised Messiah would accomplish. They were distinctly told that the "dead know not anything," that their sons come to honor and they know it not, they come to dishonor and they perceive it not of them. (Eccl. ix., 5; Job xiv, 21.) They were told to do with their might what their hands found to do, because there is neither wisdom nor knowledge there is neither wisdom nor knowledge nor device in sheol, the grave, the state of death, hades. (Eccl. ix., 10). Jesus Cast Out Demons.

Notwithstanding the protection of the Lord's word, the fallen angels, de-mons, succeeded in gaining consider-able influence over the Israelites, so that in our Lord's time that form of insanity which results from obsession—from these evil spirits getting possession of the mind, the brain—was common and many of our Lord's miracles and those of his disciples con-sisted in the casting out of such demons, in one instance a legion possessing one poor man and making him crazy. The teachings of our Lord and the apostles in the New Testament respecting the dead is in full harmony with those of the Jewish harmony with those of the Jewish Age in the Old Testament. Our Lord tells us that at his second coming all that are in their graves shall hear his voice and shall come forth. The approved of God will come forth perfect by a life resurrection, while the disapproved will come forth imperfect that they may have a resurrection by indements chastenings and stripes. that they may have a resurrection by judgments, chastenings and stripes, and assisting them up, up, up to full perfection if they will. There is no intimation here that the dead are alive, but that they are in their graves, that they are dead. Similarly when our Lord awakened Lazarus He told his sisters first that in him was the his sisters first that in him was the resurrection and the life power, and He did not call Lazarus from heaven

It was our Lord Himself who declared that no man had ascended into heaven. (John iii., 13.) It was the Apostle Peter, who, when poin our Lord's resurrection and how it had been foretold by the prophet Da-vid, saying, "Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell (sheel, hades, the grave)" in permitting this was to teach a incidentally mentioned that "David great lesson, and to test the loyalty had not ascended to the heavens but of the angels. The lesson taught was that sin is very contaminating. So far from the intercourse between angels and men tending to uplift mankind, the course was downward; the influence of evil taking hold upon the course who have fallen asleep in the course with the course who have fallen asleep in the course of the angels. clearly that Satan and his fallen angels, his associates and servants, are not engaged in furnace stoking, it prepares us to note what the Scriptures say that they left their own their present occupation and their relationship to mankind and their future. We do well, too, to remember that we have no personal knowledge on this subject—that we are confined to the Scriptures for every whit of the information on this subject.

"A Covering Cherub."

Influence of evil taking hold upon many of the angels, of whom the Scriptures is in Scriptures say that they left their own habitation—that is to say, permitted to associate with mankind, some of them, thru lustful temptation, preferred the human plane, thus sinning and transgressing the divine arrangement of their angelic nature. The account in Genesis very briefly tells us that these angelic sons of God, beholding the fair daughters of men, were enamored of them and took them for wives, with the read of the Scriptures. Most distinctly do the Scriptures teach the personality of Satan and his malevolent character. Moreover, they show clearly that he is not another god who has existed from eternity, but a creature subject to Jehovah. Since the Scriptural declaration is that God's work is perfect" (Deut. xxxii...4), it follows that he could not have created Satan in the condition in which he now is, an adversary to God and to righteousness. In harmony with this thought, the Scriptures assure us that he was created an angel that we perceive. It has fostered sin of every kind, and of the immense numbers in insane asylums it is not unreasonable to believe that fully half are there because of obsession by evil spirits, the other half suffering from softening or decay of the brain and physical derangements which affect deception. We may well believe then that our adversary is extremely active and increasingly so in civilized lands and that even amongst the heathen he is necessarily more active, more vigilant It is our opinion, dear friends, that we are living in this particular juncwe are fiving in this present time; that the Prince of Light has already begun the work of binding the prince of darkness. We are not to expect that Satan will meekly submit. Instead we should understand that while this name, Satan, applies to our personal adversary the Devil, it covers in a general sense all the influences for evil and unrighteousness in the world, however ignorant some of his dupes. Hence, when we read of the binding of Satan, that old serpent, the devil, we should have in mind properly all the evil influences, all the sinful tendencies, all the injustices and untruths whereby mankind have been enslaved for centuries. What-ever sets free the light of truth incidentally binds in similar proportions the darkness, hence we might say that to some extent this loosing of the light and binding of the darkness has been in process for three centuries, but only in our day is the matter reaching a climax. That climax has not yet been reached by any means, but we believe will be attained in a very few years. The whole world is waking up to the evils which have oppressed it. instance, opposition to intoxication is spreading not only in this land, but abroad. A wave of opposition to all injustice is also spreading, favoring the interests of all the people as in opposition to those of the few disposed to exploit the many for their own personal advantage.

The clear declaration of the Scriptures is that at the close of the millennia age the Lord will permit a brief period of liberty to Satan for the purpose of testing those who will have received knowledge and uplift to perfection thruout the millennial age, to the intent that none of the human family or others shall go beyond that time or have eternal life except as they shall be in heart obedience to the Lord and His righteous requirements. The verses following our text tell not only of the First Resurrection of the Church and of their reign with Christ for the thousand years, but also tell us how the world during the thousand years may come up to perfection of life and live in the true sense of the word at the close of the millennium. Then will come the testing time already referred to, and such as will be found disloyal to the Lord will be counted as the mes-

I WANT TO TALK TO YOU ABOUT THIS BEL

I want to talk to men who have pains and aches, who feel run down physically, who realize that the old "fire" and energy which was so evident in youth is absent now: men who can't stand the amount of exertion they could years ago. I want you-if that means you-to see what I have done for others who were just as bad off. That's my introduction. If a friend in whom you have confidence presented some one to you and said: "Jack, here's Brown; he has made good with me and I trust him," wouldn't you trust him, too ?

Now, if you don't feel right, I can cure you with my Electric Belt. If you are full of Rheumatic Pains, I can knock them out. I can pour oil into your joints and limber them up. I have often said that pain and electricity can't live in the same house, and I prove it every day.

I don't ask any one to buy my Belt on speculation. I don't ask you to take any chances of a failure. I take all the chances of curing you. If you are suffering from RHEUMATISM, LAME BACK, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, VARIOOCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, CONSTIPATION, LOST ENERGY, resulting from exposure and excesses in young and middle-aged men, write to me. Offer me reasonable security and I will make a Man of you, and you can PAY WHEN CURED.

"Say," said one of my patients a few days ago, "I feel so good that if I feit any better I think I would hurt That's the way you ought to feel, just chockful of youthful energy. My Belt will make you feel like that. It builds up broken-down men, restores youth and vigor, and makes you look and feel strong. It will cure every case of Rheumatism, Nervous Debility, Weak Stomach, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Lame Back, Sciatica, and every evidence of weakness in men and women. It will not fail; it cannot fail, as it infuses into the weakened parts the

One thing every man ought to know is this: Your body is a machine. It is run by the steam in your blood and nerves. When you begin to break down in any way you are out of steam. That's just what I want to give you back. Tell me your trouble, and I will tell you honestly whether I can cure you or not. If I can't cure you, I don't want your money. I have been in this business 26 years, and I am the biggest man in it to-day by long odds, and I am growing yet, because I give every man all he pays for.

Now, wouldn't you rather wear my life-giving appliance while you sleep every night, and feel its glowing warmth couring into you, and feel yourself taking on a new lease of life with each application, than to clog your intestines up with a lot of nauseous drugs? Surely. Try me.

Dr. McLaughlin:

Dear Sir.—Before buying your Belt I had Sciatica so bad that I was unable to walk across the floor. Being persuaded by my family to try one, although I had no faith in it myself, I consented to get one, more to stop them from bothering me, as I had given up all hope of ever being able to walk again. After using the Belt one hour I was able to walk across the room, and in three days I could walk outdoors. Now I claim I am soundly cured, giving Dr. McLaughlin's Belt all the credit. Fours truly.

MR. THOS. JOHNSTON, Box No. 233, Deseronto, Ont., says:—"It is some five or six years since I got your Belt. I am well satisfied with it.—It cured me, and I have not been bothered since, and I have not used it since then."

FLUCTUATIONS DUE TO PROFESSIONAL OPERATIONS.

> World Office, Friday Evening, Feb. 14.

That quotations at the Toronto market for the speculative stocks are governed by professional operations was well evidenced today. The small public participation leaves room for little immediate liquidation when prices have declined. Thus, Twin City and Mackay were actually bid up to-day against the trading shorts. The reverse was witnessed in Mexicans, which were tipped off as a good thing at 55, and which were easily forced down to 48 to-day, when the buying power was missing. The present operations in the market are entirely at the dictates of the insiders, as is evidenced by to-day's business. Sentiment is bearish, and it is against this that insiders have to fight. The pessimistic feeling only pervades the speculative department, and many investors, who would ordinarily patronize this department, because of its greater fluctuations, are now confining their operations to securities which may not advance much, but which, in any event, cannot show any great loss. Dun's Trade Review.

Dun's Trade Review.

Montreal.—The heavy storms and very severe weather of the past two weeks have covered a very large territory, seriously impeding the movements of travelers on the railway lines, while with some interior points traffic has been well-nigh impracticable. As a result general business has been more or less affected, and normal conditions have hardly yet been established. Full returns with regard to February drygoods payment would indicate that 70 to 75 per cent. of retail paper was provided for. Present remittances from off-rail points are naturally somewhat slow, but district failures do not exceed an average, and there is a general anticipation that spring trade will be of a fairly favorable character. In iron products, values show some weakness. Bars are easy at $2; wire nails are reduced to $2.25 and cut-nails to $2.30; iron wire is now quoted at $2.30. Refined sugars are about steady on the basis of $4.40 for standard granulated. Owing to recent heavy buying of molasses by local refineries, jobbing quotations are advanced 2 cents. Rice is up 10 cents as cental, while rolled oats are also dearer. Canners have advanced quotations 2½ cents all round. Drygoods values are all firmly held.

Toronto.—Wholesale trade in Toronto this week was quiet, altho in some instances a slight improvement on the previous week was noted. Transportation has improved, and the outlook is more encouraging. As compared with last year, general business has been on a more restricted scale. In drygoods, buyers continue to give orders in small quantities, and in some lines there is said to be price-cutting. Payments are hardly what could be termed satisfactory. The hardware and metal trades were quiet. The market for nails is unsettled, and rope and binder twine are weaker. Pigiron dull, and copper easier. The grocery trade has been fair, with no particular change in prices. The leather trade remains inactive, with prices easier in some cases. Hides steady, with country offerings light. The dairy markets' continue very q

The decision points tics of commerce. The decision points out what many who take part in the discussion of such issues give no heed to, that there are two parties to be considered when demands that call for higher expenditure by railways are to the fore. There is no one who questions the worker's right to a living wage, and it may be added that in the end he will get it whether the men who have invested their money in constructing railways receive any return or not. But the men who invest their structing railways receive any return or not. But the men who invest their morney in constructing railways have also rights to consideration, whether the demand be on the part of employes for larger recompense from the public for improved service, or from shippers or travelers for reduced rates. If any or all of such demands are carried to the point where the operation of a road yields no profit, or only yields a smaller profit than can be obtained from other investments, then it becomes difficult or stallments. investments, then it becomes difficult or impossible to obtain money for exten-sions and improvements, and trade can-not be helped as it should be. Hays Sails for England. MONTREAL Feb. 14.—C. M. Hays sails to-morrow for England to confer with the directors in regard to the situation. The receipts have fallen off very much of late. He believes this to be temporary but will consult as to what policy is to be followed.

5 at 175, 25, the will also arrange for floating the $5,000,000 bond issue of the G.T.P., and see what is to be done regarding the 100 miles of road east of Prince Rupert, for which tenders have been received but none accepted on account of the atment.

Wonderful New York City. Amazing is the growth of America's greatest city, and while Canadians are going there in increasing numbers every year there should be double the number who would find rest, recreation, ideas, inspiration and enjoyment in an occa sional week's trip, and come back better able to transact business. The Grand Trunk provides excellent service, and for a day trip you can leave Toronto at 9.00 a.m., reaching New York the same evening, or leave at 6.10 p.m. with Pullman sleeper via Lehigh Valley, and reach there next morning. Chicago Gossip. Marshall, Spader & Co. to J. G. Beaty at the close of the market:

The aggregation of news this morning produced a demoralized wheat market produced a demoralized wheat market and a thoro house cleaning of long wheat. The result has been a market which has seen more evening up than for a long time time.

Argentine came with 7,500,000 bushels, breaking all former records by about 1,-800,000 bushels, and making an aggregate larger than the actual consumption weekly offering wheat in Europe, according to estimates.

We do not feel like pressing the short side any further, as we are inclined to believe there may be a change in the arithmetic surrounding the market, which could be productive of a fair raily.

We are not by any means confident of an advance of any consequence, and hence do not advise the long side, but prefer to take a neutral position, until the effect of the present demoralization becomes more clear.

becomes more clear.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell at the close:

Wheat—That Europe will not be a dependent upon America for food stuffs, especially wheat, during the remainder of pendent upon America for 150d stuffs, especially wheat, during the remainder of the crop year was quite clearly demonstrated when the official Argentine shipments were announced this morning, the weekly exports from that country totaling 7,500,000 bushels, exceeding by far all previous records, which, coupled with the announcement that offerings were at a decline of 12c per quarter, exerted a weakening influence on all European and continental markets. The unsettledness abroad was reflected here at the opening, early prices showing a decline of over a cent per bushel and not until the latter part of the session did the market display sufficient rallying power to recover much of the loss, but just before the close there was a partial recovery on profit taking by shorts. On any further advance we favor the short side.

Corn and Oats—Were weak early, but later recovered the loss and closed strong being influenced by continued unsettled weather, which induced considerable local buying of corn. ing and recovered but little, closing weak, with influential interests still inclined to press for lower prices. Liverpool Grain and Produce. Liverpool Grain and Produce.

Sales of Silver Leaf Influence

Sentiment in Regard to

Other Issues.

World Office,

Friday Evening, Feb. 14.

An outbreak of realizing or liquidation in Silver Leaf disturbed the local market for Cobalt securities to-day. There was no reason assigned for the sales of Leaf, but it was sufficient to turn sentiment in other shares, and prices generally were weaker on that account. The day's transactions were confined to a few stocks, and were scarcely representative of the public's estimate of the market. Excellent reports are being made regarding Trethewey, but this issue was actually heavy, despite the news. Most of today's business was confined to the exchanges, and no new trend of prices could be gathered from the transactions.

The Dr. Sanden Electric Belt Gives New Strength and Vigor to Men and I Ask No Pay Until Cured

The highest mental and moral development, the greatest possible success in life, either financially or otherwise, can best be attained when the organs of the body are in a normal state of health—when the ambitions and efforts are backed by rugged, manly vigor. The man who is weak, who lacks nerve force and energy, is certainly handicapped to a greater or less degree in every undertaking where a clear brain and an abundant reserve fund of nervous energy and vitality are essential -and these qualifications are required at the present day more than ever before, I have devoted my entire life to the minute study of the causes and effects of nervous debility and those weaknesses of men which sap the vital energy. In nearly every case the trouble can be traced to some tax on the nervous system in former years, such as overwork, hard study, dissipation, indiscretions, etc., for all these things lower the vital forces and rob the constitution, and what is still more unfortunate, they generally do so at that delicate period of life when youth is merging into manhood, when Nature should be most assisted in her work of

perfect development. DON'T USE DRUCS

It is in correcting the consequences of these unfortunate mistakes that the properly applied current of Galvanic Electricity gives the best obtainable results, science tells us that electricity and nerve force are one and the same thing. I apply it through the famous Dr. Sanden Electric Belt, with Suspensory Attachment. It is worn about the body at night only, and gives new life and energy to every weakened organ, curing while you sleep. My plan of selling my Appliances should meet with the approval of every fair-minded man. It is not necessary to pay in advance, or even to make a deposit. You can make arrangements to get a Belt suited to the requirements of your case, on trial, not to be paid for until you are cured, and I only charge the regular list price—in some cases A dividend rate of 3 per cent, for third preference is declared and £6700 is carried forward.

Second preference stocks.

A dividend rate of 3 per cent, for third preference is declared and £6700 is carried forward.

If you are weak and nervous; if you lack confidence and ambition; if you are easily discouraged and depressed; if you are not the man you ought to be, you need Electricity. Your nerves are craving for it just as the growing fields crave sunshine and warmth. In the great and sublime effort Nature is making to restore your strength, she needs some aid. Will you assist her? You can if you will.

alty. VALENTINE IN ASH BARREL. A Sweet Little Baby Named After Patron Saint.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.-This little valentine was delivered by some unappreciative person at No. 316 East Twenty-second-street-left there on an ash barrel. It has pink fingers and toes and chubby cheeks, and is dressed in silks.

Mrs. Sophie Klockmeyer, the an-itress, found it; Lieut. Flannelly of the East Twenty-second-street station accepted it, and Policeman McCarthy was told to present it to the nurses at Bellevue Hospital. McCarthy was going up First-avenue with the little valentine wrapped in shawls, and carrying it much as if it had been a piece of dynamite, when two women stepped up. "Let me show you how," said one of them. They took the valentine away from McCarthy, and he followed them meekly to Bellevue.

"Three months old and as happy as a lark," said the nurses, when they received the valentine. They capitalized the "v" and christened the foundling-a three-months-old girl baby-
