DEEPENING OF ST. LAWRENCE FROM MONTREAL TO THE SEA WOULD COST TWENTY MILLION

Announcement by Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, in Commons—Vote Two Millions for New Ice-Breaker, to Replace One Lost En Route to Russia—Franchise Bill Furnishes Theme for Long Debate.

Ottawa, April 23.—For three hours again today the franchise bill was under consideration by the house. An amendment proposed by Hon. W. S. Fielding to one of the clauses was under consideration of the whole house. Mr. Fielding's amendment proposed that the returning officer shall be chosen from among certain public officials. Opposition members pressed the amendment.

The claim was made that the question was one, not of abolishing patronage alone, but of "re-establishing public confidence in parliamentary institutions." One opposition member, J. J. Deane, of Joliette, further threatened that if the Fielding amendment were rejected, members on his side of the house would oppose the clause as long as they possibly could.

For Deeper St. Lawrence. In supply in the evening, there was not just before the committee rose. It would cost another $20,000,000. Hon. C. C. Ballantyne said, to complete the proposed 35-foot channel from the real to the sea. In view of the aerial transport possibilities, D. D. McKenna suggested a 30-foot channel up to Port Arthur would be preferable.

Mr. Ballantyne said the minister of the navy had been trying for three months to trace the whereabouts of the ice-breaker, which was sold to the Russian government after the capture of the vessel to replace this vessel that the new one was being built.

Desertions from Montreal. Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of the marine, was sharply questioned in respect to desertions from the Montreal when she was on her way to the St. Lawrence. The captain, Capt. J. J. Power, of Quebec, said that he had no idea of the whereabouts of the vessel. He said that he had no idea of the whereabouts of the vessel.

CLASHES A FEATURE OF PENSION HEARING
Col. C. G. Davis Refuses to Discuss Appointments—Later, Withdraws Statement.
Favors Present System

Ottawa, April 23.—(By Canadian Press.)—This afternoon's session of the special committee on pensions and re-establishment was featured by a clash between Col. C. G. Davis, director of medical services department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, and several members of the committee. Col. Davis, who was a witness at the morning sitting, was recalled at 4 o'clock, when the committee resumed. Before giving any evidence, he read a statement in reference to appointments to the medical staff of the D.S.C.R., in which he informed that committee that matters in office at Ottawa were solely responsible for appointments. He had no objection to discussing any matters of policy in making appointments, but he would refuse to discuss matters in connection with the appointment or (Continued on Page 17, Column 6).

HUGE MERGER WILL BECOME A REALITY WITHIN FEW WEEKS

Col. Morden Said to Have Practically Completed Tentative Arrangements.
HALF BILLION CAPITAL Deal Will Be by Far the Largest Ever Worked Out in Canada.

Montreal, April 23.—In banking circles here reports are in circulation that Col. Grant Morden and his associates have completed tentative arrangements with practically all the concerns which will be included in the new big Canadian steel merger. It is stated that the whole deal will be arranged within the next two or three weeks and that there is a possibility of an official announcement regarding the deal by May 1. Earlier estimates of a possible capitalization of $250,000,000 are now regarded as far below what it will take to swing the many big concerns to be included in the proposed deal and developments at the present time would indicate a total capitalization of an amount close to $500,000,000. This would make the deal by far the greatest that has ever been planned or worked out in Canada and would indicate that it will be along the lines of the U.S. States steel corporation. As a result the new British and Canadian concern will include in addition to the steel and coal companies, complete transportation concerns and ship-building undertakings.

RAILWAY MANAGERS WILL NOT MODIFY THEIR ULTIMATUM
Strikers Determined to Hold Out Unless Seniority Rights Are Conceded.
NO SETTLEMENT YET

New York, April 23.—Refusal of the railroad heads to modify their ultimatum to the strikers and the equal determination of the latter to hold out for seniority rights, tonight virtually destroyed all hope of an early and complete settlement of the railroad labor difficulties in the Metropolitan district.

A statement today by J. J. Mantel, spokesman for the railroad general managers' association, that "intercession by all the mayors of cities in the country" apparently did not discourage strike leaders. Tonight after a meeting in Jersey City, the strikers placed hope in the meeting of the mayors of New Jersey in Atlantic City tomorrow, at which they expect a resolution will be passed urging the roads to extend the ultimatum and grant the men seniority rights. A strikers' committee, it was announced, also would call on Mayor Hylan tomorrow to enlist his aid in their behalf.

"As far as I can determine," said Edward McHugh, chairman of the strikers' executive committee, "the men will remain out until some assurances are given that they will be taken back in regular order. The men will not accept a settlement until they are assured that the railroad men have in their possession a copy of the program and manifesto of the Third International of Moscow, which he would subscribe to. He admitted he had advocated the stoppage of work in all industries, but explained that communists "do not think in terms of force and violence," but "in terms of intelligence." He declared the only government in the world at present which conforms to the communist idea is that of Soviet Russia which he asserted, "is the ideal government of the world today."

CANADA NOT OFFERED MANDATE FOR ARMENIA
Ottawa, April 23.—(By Canadian Press.)—Reports that Canada has been offered the mandate for Armenia are authoritatively stated here to be without foundation.

COMMUNISTS IN CONTROL OF MAY-DAY ACTIVITIES
Anticipations were fulfilled last night at the Labor Temple, when the specially convened meeting of the executive of the Toronto Trades Council, representing 30,000 trade unionists in this city, decided to withdraw its delegates from the Communist party, on the ground that the committee was the control of the Communist party, and, therefore, not in consonance with the control of labor as functioning in Toronto and eastern Canada. It was pointed out that there was no objection to the Communists holding what views they might choose, but that they had no right to inject any control of views into the committee, of which they formed only a unit.

It is anticipated that the O.B.U. and one or two other bodies represented on the May Day committee will also withdraw delegation from this committee. The voting at various recent sessions of the committee has been controlled by the Leftist group, being in proportion of two to one. Jack MacDonald and Tom Mellish represented the Trades Council and Mrs. Joe Knight the O.B.U.

HASSAN'S FRIEND BRINGS MURDER INTO MURDER CASE

Selim States Nury Emin Disappears Shortly After Hassan's Death.
HAD MADE THREATS

The second session in the official inquest concerning the murder of Ramden Hassan, whose body was found in the cellar of the premises at 159 Wolsley street last Saturday afternoon, was held last night at the court of the coroner Dr. Geo. W. Graham occupying the chair. Due to the fact that nearly all the witnesses are foreigners and consequently their evidence has to be interpreted, the investigation is proceeding very slowly. The first witness called last night was Abraham Selim, a close friend of the murdered man, and to whose untiring activities his body was eventually unearthed.

Mr. Selim, who has lived at 159 Wolsley street, the scene of the crime, for upwards of four years, and who is employed by the Harris Abattoir, gave his evidence as follows: On the morning of the date of the crime, which was on or about March 4th, as nearly as can be judged, he was preparing to go to his work and secure his breakfast he called to Hassan to get up as it was getting late. This was about 10:30 a.m. Hassan answered him and told him that he was going to get up right away, and so he proceeded to the kitchen where that he had for breakfast that morning was bread and tea.

At the time of his leaving his boarding house, Hassan had all appearances to be in good health and he left him alone with Nury Emin, another roomer in the house, who had not been working for two or three weeks previous to this date. He returned to his boarding house about 4:30 in the afternoon and when he inquired after Hassan, Nury Emin, who was still in the house, stated that Hassan had had a phone call around eleven o'clock, and had left shortly after that hour with a small bundle of clothes, telling back short Nury Emin to look after the door. He and not to lock the door. He (Continued on Page 5, Column 3).

ARMENIA TOO BIG A LOAD FOR CANADA
Reports Circulated Apparently Designed to Influence Sentiment in United States.

NEW YORK FUNDS UP
Settling for Canadian Losses in Stocks Explains Advance in Premium.

New York funds were quoted yesterday at a premium of 11 per cent, against 9 1/2 per cent on Monday last. The jump of two cents on the dollar is directly attributed by those who think they know to the heavy Canadian losses in the recent slump on the New York Stock Exchange.

INDEPENDENCE OF ARMENIA DECIDED BY SUPREME COUNCIL; NO ONE WOULD TAKE MANDATE

Boundaries Will Be Contracted to Better Enable Her to Take Care of Herself—Canada Might Have Been Offered Mandate for League if Funds Forthcoming—Greece to Administer Smyrna.

San Remo, April 23.—Armenia is to be created an independent state. This decision was reached by the supreme council of the allies today, because neither the United States nor any other power was willing to accept a mandate over the country.

The boundaries of Armenia have not yet been defined, and the new republic will probably be rather contracted, as it is believed that the smaller the country the more easily can it take care of itself, because if too many Turks are left within its confines they might overthrow the government.

The comment of those in close relation with the council is that the league of nations has been rather slightly treated respecting Armenia. The council sent a somewhat vague letter to the league, asking it to take the mandate. The council's executive, at a meeting in Paris, replied favorably, but called attention to the fact that it had no funds and no staff, suggesting that the council should arrange an international loan guaranteed by the powers composing the council.

It is understood that if the league had been provided with money it might have arranged with neutral governments to exercise the mandate under supervision of the league. Among the smaller powers so mentioned are Canada, especially, and if Canada would not accept, then Sweden or Spain.

W. R. Rollo, who was present, be heard on the subject. This caused a mild protest, and a resolution was passed almost unanimously that there be no discussion on the liquor question.

MORE ALTERATIONS IN THE DRUG ACT

Druggists May Sell Preparations Containing Small Quantity of Opium.

Ottawa, April 23.—(Canadian Press)—Two amendments to the opium and drug act now before the house were introduced by Hon. N. W. Rowell just before adjournment tonight. The most important of these provides that druggists may sell preparations containing not more than two grains of opium, quarter of a grain of morphine, one-eighth grain of heroin, or one grain of codein, provided that such preparations contain other constituents other than narcotics of medicinal value, and provided also that it is printed on each label of the bottle in large type that it is unlawful to administer the preparation to a child under two years of age.

The other amendment has to do with the penalties to be imposed on persons other than druggists, physicians or dentists who are found guilty of selling these drugs. The maximum fine is fixed at $1000 and costs, and not less than $500, while the prison sentence may be one year or less. Both fine and imprisonment may be imposed on a guilty party.

Nothing in the amendments is to affect the provisions contained in the proprietary or patent medicines act.

GOLD FROM ENGLAND MAKES BIG JUMP

Total Imported Into U. S. for First Ten Days in April Was Nearly $38,000,000

Washington, April 23.—Gold imports from England jumped to nearly $38,000,000 during the first ten days in April, according to figures made public tonight by the Federal reserve board. The great increase in gold movement from England was shown by the further statement that for the first three months of the year less than $12,000,000 was sent to this country.

Imports from other countries for the ten days period were negligible, with the exception of Ecuador, which, in its first shipment to the United States, this year sent $124,874. Outside of this, imports from South America were only $500. Imports from Asia were $108,970; from North America, $242,350, and Europe $39,008,188. New Zealand delivered $104,596.

Gold exports for the ten days aggregated $6,543,402, of which $3,500,000 went to Argentina and $2,571,550 to China.

Exports of silver exceeded the imports of that metal for the ten-day period by approximately $1,000,000. The total imports from all countries were $3,439,738 against exports of $7,321,738. Mexico sent $2,778,988 in silver. Of the exports, the largest shipments, $5,067,733, went to China. The total imports of silver, by branch divisions, were: From Europe, $3,804; North American countries $2,778,988; South America, $519,878; Asia, $133,936. Exports to the same divisions were: To Europe, $135,400; North American countries $1,000,947; Asia $6,395,446.

SAY WOUNDS CAUSED DEATH.

Quebec, April 23.—The trial of Telephore Gagnon, charged with the murder of his minor daughter, Aureole, which opened this morning, was continued this afternoon. Two witnesses were heard, Dr. A. In the opinion of Dr. LaFond, death was caused by the great number of wounds and the infection.

EXPECTS GLASGOW TO BECOME DRY

Judge Stewart Doesn't Think Prohibition Will Be Unalloyed Blessing.

SHORTAGE OF HOUSES Problem in Glasgow Much Like That Existing in Toronto.

"The old country will never go dry. The Englishman and the Irishman like his beer too well, and the Scotchman his whiskey." This is the oft-repeated statement optimistically made by wet favorers, since the American continent became a Sahara, but Judge James Stewart of Glasgow, Scotland, who is visiting Toronto and staying at the King Edward Hotel, told The World that he did not agree with this view.

"Speaking in regard to Glasgow, I am almost sure that it will go dry at the next election taking place in November of this year. Of course, I believe it will be the women's vote which will decide the issue. The bill which has been drawn up, and on which the people will have to vote consists of three questions. The first is as to whether liquor will be completely abolished, the second whether the number of licenses for public houses or places where it is sold should be reduced, and the third as to whether the present system shall be continued.

"One feature of the case that will cause confusion in the average citizen's mind is the fact that the bill which the vote will become applicable. As it stands now, the vote is taken by means of a ballot box, and the ward in the city could go dry and the other wet. As there are 47 wards in Glasgow, you can readily see where the thing is going to become a farce unless the whole city goes bone dry. Another thing which will cause trouble and dispute is the amount of license. If the vote demands that the number of bars be reduced, there is going to be a trouble over the determining which ones shall go. A barkeeper who has any sense at all will realize that there will be practically as much liquor in the bars as there would be in twice that many, and that, therefore, his license will be worth twice as much.

"Here is where I think graft and corruption will begin to show itself," contended Judge Stewart. "The whole question of dealing with the liquor trade, and which stay, is to be left in the hands of a few men, who are missionaries, and their duty is to convert the people. You can readily see the inference. I am not a drinking man myself, but I do not think that prohibition will be a good thing for Scotland. Nevertheless, I am almost sure that my native city will hit the Sahara trail."

Lack of houses. Apparently the housing situation, which means the lack of sufficient houses, is becoming universal. A noted Australian statesman, The World recently took this condition prevalent in that country, and Judge Stewart stages the same condition in his housing was becoming acute. "There has virtually not been a house built in Glasgow since the war broke the committee of the city council which has gone into this matter reported that, to meet the situation, more than 100,000 houses would have to be built annually to supply the demands of the increasing population, and that we could not catch up in twenty years at this rate."

"But how do you account for the scarcity of houses?" asked The World. "Surely you do not have to meet the emigrant problem, like we do." "No, but during the war we had to meet the munition worker problem," was the response. "The war broke the Glasgow, being a manufacturing center, started to make munitions in earnest, and as a consequence there was a general influx of workers into the city. So many came that they more than doubled the number we had by the war. It is a peculiar condition of affairs which exists, as back in 1911 there were 22,000 empty houses in the city."

"I suppose the landlords took advantage of the scarcity and raised rents sky high?" was the next query. "Not one cent of a raise during the four years of strife, was the unexpected reply. "The rent was raised in 1918, the parliament passed a bill whereby landlords were forbidden to raise rents any higher than the amount they were receiving in 1914. Any landlord who had already done any raising, was forced to lower it, and refund all this extra money to the tenant, retroactive from 1914. This year the bill was amended in view of the fact that prices of everything else, so that landlords could increase rents ten per cent."

Glasgow certainly is going in strongly for medical health. Judge Stewart, who is convener of the committee of the city council, has introduced a bill, and a half dollar was being spent annually in that city for this purpose. "Of course the expenditure of this nature made necessary by the manner in which our people live. The lower or working classes live in overcrowded tenements, small houses, with very few of the sanitary accommodations, which prevail in this country. The population of the city live in single or two-room houses, and you can see what it means for big families to be cramped up like that."

Judge Stewart, who has been a member of Glasgow's city council for more than twenty years, has been on a visit thru the States and Canada.

PARK COMMISSIONER VISITS EARLSCOURT

Tells B.I.A. City's Intentions Concerning Playgrounds in Park.

Park Commissioner Chambers gave an interesting talk at the Earlscourt public school last night under the auspices of the British Imperial Association, who had invited him. In a series of interesting slides he showed the many methods adopted by the city in the matter of recreation. Public playgrounds, gardens, parks, athletic, were all shown on the screen and he contended that all this work was on the lines of moral and mental education and physical exercise. Commissioner Chambers said that the city provided 32 ball grounds and 8 cricket grounds, and he urged all those fond of the art of playing cricket to cultivate the art of playing cricket. He also advocated cultivation of children's gardens.

The city provides 212 tennis courts, 11 bowling greens with 56 rinks and 81 skating and hockey rinks. Mr. Chambers promised that Earlscourt should have more skating rinks next winter, as this section was deserving of better accommodation.

One of the most interesting points that concerned Earlscourt was the information about the new Earlscourt park. According to Mr. Chambers, who showed the plan of the park on the screen, there is to be a children's playground, two football fields, cricket field, two baseball grounds, 13 tennis courts, a bowling green, quills and lawn bowls, and a monument erected in memory of the Earlscourt soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war.

NOT NEW CONTRACT, BUT SUBSTITUTE

Inquiry Continued Into Carr-Harris' Commission Case—J. J. Ashworth on Stand.

ORDERS THRU OTTAWA

Senator Nicholls Says No Contracts Awarded Direct From England.

In the continuation of the Carr-Harris case at the inquiry committee yesterday, the witness stand was taken by J. J. Ashworth, assistant general manager of the Canadian Southern Electric Co., detained in the case brought against the company by R. K. Carr-Harris, who is suing for $200,000 an amount which he alleges the company failed to pay him as commission on munition contracts secured in England.

W. N. Tilley, K.C., for the plaintiff, endeavored to find out from the witness whether the contract secured by Mr. Carr-Harris amounted to a quarter of a million dollars as was a new contract or simply a substitution for a contract calling for one and one-quarter million cases, which had been cancelled by the imperial munitions board on Nov. 20, 1919, because the company continued to default. Mr. Tilley argued that the original contract was cancelled for default and the second contract was a substitution, and, accordingly, the commission to Mr. Carr-Harris should be paid.

Contract a Substitution? Counsel produced and read the agreement for the second contract and Ashworth admitted that this contract "was in the nature of a substitution."

Mr. Tilley then introduced another contract and asked the witness if he had not received an increased rate on a reduced order. Mr. Ashworth replied with emphasis that he could not and would not say "yes" to this.

"You got $250 more than they were paying elsewhere," said Mr. Tilley. "This was because of representations made to Fitzgibbon."

Ashworth maintained that he could give no reason why the extra amount was paid.

"Prices Pretty Much Fixed." On being asked what negotiations for contracts were made, the witness admitted that prices were "pretty much fixed."

Mr. Ashworth said that the statement showing the orders secured had been checked and found to be correct.

Colonel Nicholls, president and general manager of the Canadian Southern Electric, was called to the witness box. He stated that if he had all that he would like to say, he would show them out of court.

Senator Nicholls admitted that the company had under consideration the sending of orders to England, as the shell committee had not responded to their efforts to place their plant at the disposal of the employer.

He stated that Mr. Carr-Harris had not said and had said that he might be of use to the company. Witness admitted that Carr-Harris was not skilled in the line, but had been accepted because of his connection with Lord Buckmaster.

He said that he would not have accepted Carr-Harris but for his representation.

Witness then declared that Carr-Harris' mission to England had been a failure and no contracts had been secured by him.

"He urged you to go over to England about supplying munitions for the British government?" queried Mr. Tilley.

Senator Nicholls replied in the affirmative, and said that at the call of Mr. Milne he had gone to England to further the work begun by Carr-Harris.

He stated that in his opinion the orders were sent out with some "ear-marked" for a result, and if the orders came in bulk then the orders would not be obtained thru our efforts," explained the witness.

He said that he had no recollection of receiving any orders "ear-marked" for the Canadian General Electric Co.

Contracts Thru Ottawa. Witness pointed out that all orders were received thru Ottawa and not from England. He explained that the contract in question had been closed over the long distance telephone after Carr-Harris informed him that he would lower his commission.

A SAD, SAD SONG. Among the passengers on board a ship crossing the Atlantic recently was a man who stuttered. One day he hurried to the captain. "S-s-s-s-s," he stuttered.

"Oh, I can't be bothered," said the captain, "go to somebody else."

The man tried to speak to every one on board, but no one would wait to hear what he had to say.

At last he came to the captain again. "Look here," said the captain, "I can tell you what to do when you want to say anything; you should sing it."

Suddenly, in a tragic voice, the man began to sing.

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind? The blood's cockle's heart is twenty miles behind." —Philadelphia Star.

G.A.C. AND U.V.L. UNITE THEIR FORCES Amalgamate Into What is to Be Known as G.A.U.V.

Amid resounding cheers, the constitution of the new veterans' association, known as the Grand Army of United Veterans, representing perhaps the largest aggregation of veterans in Toronto, and technically representing the G.A.C. and the U.V.L., was ratified last night at a representative meeting held at the Labor Temple, Arthur Roebuck in the chair. It was decided that basis of membership should be attestation. Widows, orphans and mothers of the fallen in battle or on active service will be granted honorary membership for life. Fees are charged on the basis of $2 for initiation and $2 per annum, with an extra charge of 25 cents for badge.

J. Harry Flynn, president, pointed out that it cost the association $3600 to purchase the 20,000 badges necessary to supply the Toronto membership, but that to each member the charge of 25 cents was insignificant. The Hays-Spence system for elections was ruled out as too cumbersome. Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held this morning, at 9.30, when the convention reconvenes.

$100,000 FOR IRRIGATION. Vancouver, B.C., April 23.—The irrigation system to be installed for the Kamloops Indian Reserve, which the government contemplates opening up for settlement, will cost about $100,000, Chief Engineer G. W. Swan estimates. Work of mapping the district has been completed.

GOVERNMENT DID NOT HEED COMMITTEE Revoked Order-in-Council Contrary to Dominion Prohibition Society's Wishes.

Miles Vokes, one of the leading officers of the Dominion Prohibition Committee, has sent the following statement to the press for publication: "In a statement in this morning's papers, signed by Rev. Dr. Andrew S. Grant, there are some assertions which perhaps ought to be explained to avoid possible misapprehension. "The Dominion Prohibition Committee, of which I have been a member since its inception, did not ask the Dominion government to take a vote of the people upon the prohibition issue, neither did the request made contain any qualification as to the liquor that was to be effected, nor has parliament taken any action which the province further legislative power regarding the control of the distribution of liquor within the province.

"The radical difference between the statement attributed by Dr. Grant to the Dominion Prohibition Committee, of which he was not then an officer, and the action actually taken by that committee, will best be understood by simply quoting each. Dr. Grant writes: "The Dominion Prohibition Committee, which is the Dominion parliament and acted in the name of the people, preventing importation into and exportation out of the Dominion, and also interprovincial trade of all liquors for beverage purposes, the sale of which is prohibited in the provinces."

"The request of the Dominion Prohibition Committee was in the following words: "That the provisions of the order-in-council legislation prohibiting importation, manufacture, and shipment into prohibited areas, of intoxicating liquors for beverage use, should be continued in effect, and that the committee be authorized to consult the people, and in so doing direct the government to repeal it without consulting the people, and in so doing direct the government to repeal it without consulting the people."

"That the legislation should not be discontinued without a vote of the people of Canada being taken on the question of its continuance or discontinuance.

"That manufacture of intoxicating liquor for export purposes should not be permitted.

"That the definition of 'intoxicating liquor' in the Dominion legislation as 'any liquor or beverage which contains more than two and one-half per cent. of proof spirits' be continued.

"When this deliberation was made, the Dominion war-time order-ineffectment of the new veterans' association, known as the Grand Army of United Veterans, representing perhaps the largest aggregation of veterans in Toronto, and technically representing the G.A.C. and the U.V.L., was ratified last night at a representative meeting held at the Labor Temple, Arthur Roebuck in the chair. LEADING SHOE MAN AT ELECTRIC CLUB

F. S. Scott, M.P., Shows Benefits Accruing From Important Industry.

TARIFF A FACTOR

The twenty-sixth meeting of the Electric Club of Toronto was held yesterday afternoon at the Mossop Hotel, with F. S. Scott, M.P., as guest of honor. Mr. Scott, who is president of the Getty-Scott Ltd., one of our largest shoe manufacturing concerns, gave a most interesting address on "The Shoe Industry in Canada."

Mr. Scott commenced his address by giving a brief history of the shoe manufacturing industry, from the time of its initial introduction into this country by the Jesuit missionaries in the year 1667, to which time there were only twenty members belonging to the organization. From this small start the organization kept on growing until the year 1871, when there were then in operation about 4,200 manufacturing establishments with an invested capital of $3,266,832. The importance of these plants during this period can be judged by the fact that they gave employment to 18,719 people, and even at this early date they were considered the third largest industry in Canada. This rapid development of this at first small industry can be traced to about the year 1855, when time saw the first introduction of then modern machinery with the consequent increase in production. These machines had been invented in the United States, and for a number of years prior to this period their introduction into Canada was not considered feasible, due to the fact that there was danger from the numerous hands which would be thrown out of employment, but this only proved to be a potential danger, and after they were eventually introduced in 1855 conditions for the disposal of the increased production were such that all the surplus labor found employment. From this time up until 1901 the industry advanced and the census of that year revealed the interesting fact that there were at that time 175 manufacturing establishments in Canada, but these 175 modern factories were able to produce as many shoes as 5,338 factories, with their crude equipment, of the year 1850.

A Leading Industry. At the present time the shoe-manufacturing industry of Canada is the most important industry, and has an invested capital of over $35,000,000. It employs in the neighborhood of 15,000 people who receive in wages about $10,000,000 per annum. The average production amounts to about $5,000,000 per annum. Mr. Scott pointed out the popular idea that the majority of the shoes purchased in Canada were of foreign manufacture was far from the truth, over 80 per cent. of the shoes purchased in Canada were of home manufacture and at the very outside only about 5 or 6 per cent. were imported, these being those of an exceptional last or striking pattern.

At the time the shoe industry in the United States was so large that they could supply the whole of the trade of the Dominion of Canada for one year with the output from their combined factories in seventeen days. With regard to supplying their own home market for the same length of time they could handle it inside of nine months and were not for the export trade they could then shut down.

Effect of Tariff. With regard to the effects of the tariff, Mr. Scott clearly showed that a few of the large American firms, such as the legal, T. T. Wright and others, had opened factories in Canada, and after paying duty on imported machinery and certain initial products, were able to market their productions at a slight increase over the price charged by the American houses. Mr. Scott then stated that the Canadian shoe manufacturers suffered, with finally but not least a general disruption of the efficient services necessary to the business houses in the centre of the city.

"What Torontonians cannot understand," said this man, "is the fact that Toronto, while it produces for the department a revenue of $5,000,000, or as much as that of any other three cities and towns together, should receive such poor consideration from the government. Even Montreal, with its 380,000 population, only produces $3,000,000, or about $2,000,000 less than Toronto.

Cities Should Be Graded. "There is another matter which should be brought to the attention of the government, I think, and that is the need of grading cities and towns as to salaries payable. It is patent that living in the smaller towns is far cheaper than in such a metropolis as Toronto, yet wages are the same everywhere.

BUTCHER WORKERS AT STAR THEATRE. Butcher workers meet tomorrow afternoon (Sunday) at the Star Theatre, and not at Ravina Rink, as suggested in yesterday morning's issue of The World. It is expected that the men will take definite action for or against the board of conciliation at the meeting, application for which has already been made and granted.

PAST SPEAKING. "Nora," said the mistress, "are these French sardines that you have given me?" "Sure, Oi don't know, ma'am," said the new waitress; "they were paast spakin' when we opened the box."

AMSTERDAM SENDS U. S. A MANIFESTO Socialist Internationales Order a World-Wide Strike to Force Peace With Russia.

Peace with Soviet Russia and revolutionary measures to force this project upon the United States and a world-wide general strike is the substance of a manifesto sent out from Holland (Amsterdam) to the Communist Labor party in America. At least word of this manifesto was received in Canada yesterday, and it proves interesting reading. In the first place this world-wide strike is called for the first of the Utopian calendars, May 1. It reads as follows: 1. Lay down tools thruout the world on May 1. 2. Distribute propaganda and carry out organization work on behalf of peace with Soviet Russia. 3. Procure sufficient funds at once, preferably thru the sale of International Communist Labor party stamps. 4. Prevent capitalist from making war on Soviet Russia. 5. Prevent and counteract the machinations of the capitalists to kill the Soviet movement by vile and libelous reports of alleged barbarities. 6. Strive for the dictatorship of the proletariat thru the medium of soviet republics in every country in the world. We must fill our heads with revolutionary thoughts; we must dare to aspire to hope in the midst of our misery; we must be willing to destroy the weapons of our enemies; we must give the fight a general revolutionary character. 8. This means a complete break with bourgeois civilization, bourgeois morals, bourgeois supremacy."

BRICKLAYERS NOT STRIKING. Edmonton, Alta., April 23.—The threatened strike of bricklayers here, at a rate of $1.25 an hour on an eight-hour basis, appears to have been abandoned.

What Is Behind The "Outlaw" Rail Strike?

Every phase of the great strike that has extended across the country during the past two weeks is covered in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for April 24th. In the opinion of The Jersey Journal (Jersey City) "the outlaw strike is trying either to put union labor out of business or to put the country out of business," and The Evening Post (Chicago) declares that it is "a test of organized labor's ability to control its own affairs. If unionism can not control its forces and can not prove its value as a respectable co-operating factor in the great task of doing the country's work and producing the country's wealth, the verdict will go against it." While Attorney-General Palmer affirms that the strike was the result of I. W. W. leadership, and of the working out of an international Communist program, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, blames "men like Senator Cummins and Governor Allen of Kansas, with their legislation to deny a man the right to quit work to enforce a legitimate claim or redress an injury" for the "wave of uncontrollable resentment" which found expression in this strike. The Evening Public Ledger (Philadelphia) declares that "the pressure that greed and stupid opportunism have put upon all wage-earners is almost intolerable. To be promised relief, yet to see the cost of necessities rising steadily about twice as fast as your wages, to see a day approaching when shoes and shelter may be matters of doubt, is to be ready material in the hands of blind agitators."

Read THE DIGEST this week if you would get the news of this great strike as drawn from all available sources.

"The Digest's" Poll of 11,000,000 Voters The Most Impressive Indication of the People's Choice for the Presidency Ever Given Outside of a Presidential Election

When it is recalled that the total vote cast in the last presidential election was about eighteen and one-half millions and that in the present poll THE DIGEST is taking, eleven million voters are being asked to name their choices for the presidency, it will be seen that the results of this poll will give a very accurate idea of the man that the American public want for president. The second week's returns are published in THE DIGEST for April 24th.

Every section of the country is being canvassed by mail in this poll, and many thousands of votes are being received daily. Form now on up to the presidential conventions in June THE DIGEST will print a weekly tabulation of this monster vote and it is not too much to say that it will be carefully and eagerly scanned by the public, and in all likelihood will have a considerable influence upon the selection of the candidates at the conventions of the two great parties.

All the World-News of the Week in "The Digest"

Besides the two feature articles, before mentioned, this week's DIGEST is particularly interesting. There is a wide variety of news-articles covering International Politics, The War Situation in Europe, Science and Invention, Religion and Social Service, Literature, Drama, Music and Education, while the lighter side of life is reflected in the form of humorous cartoons and other illustrations.

CONSTANT DELAYS WORRY CARRIERS POSTMASTERS DEMAND SALARY INCREASES

Toronto Postoffice Has Crying Need for Hundred and Fifty More Men. Claim to Work Fourteen Hours Daily at Starvation Rates.

Delayed holidays and delay in supplying Toronto postoffice with 150 men needed to carry out its obligations to this city form the chief complaint of letter carriers today. It is expected that action of some sort will be taken shortly by the various postal associations to force the government to realize its responsibilities to Toronto. A prominent member of the Letter Carriers' Association stated yesterday that the department was short 60 carriers in Toronto, and that as a result the letter carriers themselves suffered, with finally but not least a general disruption of the efficient services necessary to the business houses in the centre of the city.

Postmasters through the Dominion are registering strong complaints over the insufficiency of current salaries. The Canadian Postmasters' Association has worked on the effect that postmasters work on the average fourteen hours a day. This does not include time for meals. Indeed, no time is allotted for meals, it being necessary for someone to be on hand at all hours. Only a hundred dollars a year is allowed for extra time pay. Some of the postmasters are unable to maintain practically all-night hours, costing from $1000 to $1500 a year.

The protest to the government points out that there are at least 4000 post-offices whose revenues are less than a hundred dollars a year. These offices naturally receive no rent at all. This is, apparently, because rentals are based upon the amount of revenues received from the sale of commodities, of which Postmasters point out that it is absurd to base rentals upon the level of revenues.

Revenue commissions were paid at confederation, and this policy has been increased pretty much since that date. The basis of commission at confederation was 40 per cent on the first $200, 35 per cent on the next $200, and 15 per cent on all revenue in excess of $400.00. A having a revenue of $100 or more, Hon. Sir William Mulock and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-generals, raised the percentage 10 degrees, and Hon. C. J. Doherty increased the rent allowance 25 per cent. However, Mr. Doherty, postmaster-general in 1916, ruled that none of the larger offices should participate in the increased revenue percentages. This brought them to the level of confederation days, this despite the fact that the cost of living had increased more than a hundred and fifty per cent. The association has filed demands for a minimum of $25 to be paid to every forward duty to be paid for both direct and indirect service at the rate of 15 per cent commission on revenue of the offices served.

AMSTERDAM SENDS U. S. A MANIFESTO

Socialist Internationales Order a World-Wide Strike to Force Peace With Russia.

Peace with Soviet Russia and revolutionary measures to force this project upon the United States and a world-wide general strike is the substance of a manifesto sent out from Holland (Amsterdam) to the Communist Labor party in America. At least word of this manifesto was received in Canada yesterday, and it proves interesting reading. In the first place this world-wide strike is called for the first of the Utopian calendars, May 1. It reads as follows: 1. Lay down tools thruout the world on May 1. 2. Distribute propaganda and carry out organization work on behalf of peace with Soviet Russia. 3. Procure sufficient funds at once, preferably thru the sale of International Communist Labor party stamps. 4. Prevent capitalist from making war on Soviet Russia. 5. Prevent and counteract the machinations of the capitalists to kill the Soviet movement by vile and libelous reports of alleged barbarities. 6. Strive for the dictatorship of the proletariat thru the medium of soviet republics in every country in the world. We must fill our heads with revolutionary thoughts; we must dare to aspire to hope in the midst of our misery; we must be willing to destroy the weapons of our enemies; we must give the fight a general revolutionary character. 8. This means a complete break with bourgeois civilization, bourgeois morals, bourgeois supremacy."

ARMENIA REPORT DENIED IN SENATE

Sir James Lougheed Says Mandate to Canada Not Even Suggested.

Ottawa, April 23.—(By Canadian Press.)—The report that Canada would be given a mandate over Armenia if Norway refused to accept such an obligation, was given very little, if any, credence when it was discussed in the senate today, following the statement by Senator Casgrain, who asked if the government had considered the matter. Sir James Lougheed said, so far as he knew, the government was not even aware that anything of the kind was to be suggested.

BRICKLAYERS NOT STRIKING.

Edmonton, Alta., April 23.—The threatened strike of bricklayers here, at a rate of $1.25 an hour on an eight-hour basis, appears to have been abandoned.

AGAINST DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Painters and decorators at a meeting held at the Labor Temple on Thursday night voted against daylight saving by 201 to 20. An evening journal has printed a weekly tabulation of this monster vote and it is not too much to say that it will be carefully and eagerly scanned by the public, and in all likelihood will have a considerable influence upon the selection of the candidates at the conventions of the two great parties.

SHRINERS FROLIC AT MASQUERADE BALL

Midnight Sees Merriment at Its Height, and Fun Supreme.

Fun and frolic reigned supreme at the masque of the Shriners in the Auditorium last night, when the setting of the big arena, its vaulted ceiling hung with greenery and blossoms, was generously lighted, flags and emblems at intervals about the galleries finishing the decorations. Shriners and their friends turned out in large numbers, and at an early hour the tiered seats were fairly well filled with spectators, while the aisles were thronged.

"Rameses Band," a feature of the organization, under the direction of Walter Murdoch, opened the program with the singing of the national anthem. Then came the alluring strains of a waltz and out on the big floor crooped a variety of colorful companies. All were masked, and as they circled in the dance they presented a picturesque scene. There were transvaalians, Indians in full regalia, a highland shepherd and his shepherd boy, Red Cross nurses and demure Quaker maidens; Welsh damers, girls from the flowery kingdom, gorgeous Indian princesses, cavaliers in feathered hat and velvet mantle and gold broad sword; a lady in Dutch costume, Night in her robe of black with golden stars, Mephisto a La Faust in fiery red, pierrots, ladies in the latest in overalls, and the "hoppers" of the screen all were present in the mazy whirl.

Rube Band to the Fore. Down the aisles boys with "ice-cold drinks," peanuts, ice cream, cigars, cigarettes and chewing gum, called out their wares, and from a stall colored balloons, confetti and other novelties could be procured. A "rube band," the members of which were wives of Shriners, did some stunts, under their leader, Mrs. Charles Soudy, and the drill of the uniformed patrol under Capt. General Dr. Her-

HASSAN'S FRIEND GIVES TESTIMONY

After a day or so, becoming alarmed upon the non-appearance of his friend Hassan, he telephoned Ahmad Adosey, proprietor of a cafe on the corner of King and Widmer, another friend of Hassan's, and they decided to call in the police to look for Hassan. Up to the time that the detectives entered the room no one else had been in it, and the investigation called their attention to the fact that there was blood on the floor, but he (Selim) did not attach very much importance to this fact at the time, as he knew that Hassan had been in the habit of bringing home raw fowl to feed his cat on, and so concluded that the stains were due to this. But a few days later, Mae Lovelace, who had just returned from the hospital, while cleaning the room noticed blood in the corner of the room, and after viewing this he then suspected that his friend had met with foul play. He was not sure how long previous he had first seen this woman around the house, but in all probability it was about three or four months previous to that date (March 4).

MONTH'S POTATO BAN BY BRANTFORD WOMEN

one that he was going to the States and the other to Hamilton. During his cross-examination it was learned that Nury Emin and Hassan had had a quarrel about a year ago over a suitcase that another friend of Hassan had left in his care, and which Nury had carried to his room and which he refused to return when ordered to do so by Hassan. As a result the witness states that he heard Nury threaten Hassan, saying, "I'll fix you some day." From that time on they had been bad friends.

Handicapped by Lumber. With a good finding of the body, Ahmad Adosey went on to state that on Saturday Selim again phoned him, and they decided to go to the cellar, where they had been handicapped during their former search by the large amount of lumber that was stored there. They then commenced to dig, and after several unsuccessful attempts struck a soft spot in the otherwise hard clay. They then commenced to dig, and after a foot or so, they were rewarded by the uncovering of a piece of body. This concluded the evidence for the sitting, and the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday, May 4.

opening the speech-making, he said that last night's dinner was the most beautiful of the society in Toronto. The dinner of 1914 was, according to the newspaper reports of that time, by no means a dry one, he declared. (Laughter.) The society the traditions of the mother land had been kept up by its agency in Canada.

Where Are They Now? Perhaps the Englishman's personality was never better described than by a story told by Professor Hutton. He said that in 1910 a Canadian friend of his had asked him to give a list of Englishmen who were coming here in such great numbers. They talk only sports, wear cloth caps and are always smoking cigars. In September, 1914, the professor met his friend again and asked him, "Where are these young Englishmen you did not like?" and the friend replied, "I take it all back." The young fellows, said the professor, had all enlisted. The Englishman did not brag, and was not outwardly emotional, declared Dr. Hutton. He just kept those two qualities in cold storage to be used in an emergency.

Mr. A. Munro Grier, K.C., gave an eloquent answer to two questions, "What did the British navy do in the war?" and "What did the British army do in the war?" Mr. Grier replied that it fought on every front in most parts of the world for nearly five years. There were quite two hundred prizes at the dinner, over which Sir Frederick Sturges, K.B.E., presided.

DORVAL WILL GIVE INCREASED PURSES

Tho the Management is Fearful Concerning Adverse Legislation.

Montreal, April 23.—Casual discussion was raised yesterday by Mr. Raymond Beaudry, an official of the Dorval Jockey Club, as to suggestions, which have appeared in the press, some legislation, having to do with the conduct of racing in Canada, was being contemplated by the authorities at Ottawa.

In this connection, Mr. Beaudry pointed out that if any disadvantageous enactments were made applicable to the races were run under the rules of the Canadian Racing Association and the dates for the race meetings to be held thereunder for the present year, as decided by the association over two months ago.

"We were given from the get-go, in June as the period open for us to hold our meetings, and we have had to prepare accordingly. This means that we have had to order our admission tickets, our part-mutuel, and other printed matter, and we have had to make arrangements in advance for the engagement of officials, with a view to maintaining the character of the management of the Dorval Jockey Club."

Mr. Beaudry intimated that the association was under a very appreciable additional burden in financing their racing preparations. He intimated that the American racing associations had very considerably augmented the size of their part-mutuel in the last few years, and he pointed out that the local association in order to secure good horses and keep their meetings up to a high standard, would have to compete with these conditions which meant that the amount to be distributed in prizes this season would come to about $15,000 more than the amount distributed for the purpose during the last meetings in 1917.

Reviewing all these conditions, Mr. Beaudry said: "It seems to me that it would not be fair to expect any drastic legislation concerning racing which would affect the races to be held in the spring of this year. The racing associations have had to carry the maintenance of their establishments during the three years of the racing in which racing was in force, without any income whatever, and as I have stated, their obligations for the meeting this spring have already been incurred."

Commenting generally on the philosophy of horse racing, Mr. Beaudry intimated that it was one of the strongest factors in the income of the racing industry in Montreal this summer would bring quite a number of American visitors, who would spend their money in the city.

SMARTEST THREE-YEAR-OLD FILLIES

Oldest Horsemen Fail to Recall Smarter Lot Than Those of This Year.

Louisville, April 23.—Two and three-year-old fillies were the subject of a substantial sum of $23,000 in stakes in Kentucky this spring, to say nothing of the amounts that will be hung up for them in overnight events in the course of the sixty days of racing at Lexington, Louisville and Letcher. Three-year-old fillies will be provided for at Louisville and Letcher, in the Kentucky and Letcher Ocala races, $2000 each at one mile and a quarter respectively.

At Lexington they will be provided for at the Belmont and the Kentucky Derby, $2000 each at one mile. At Churchill Downs there will be a $5000 event for 2-year-old fillies called the Cigaretta.

That these filly races of Kentucky will develop first rate sport is a foregone conclusion. It is too early to say what the results of the filly races will be, but it is not too early to say that the filly races of Kentucky are the most important of the Kentucky racing season.

It is in the opinion of the racing men of Kentucky that the filly races of Kentucky are the most important of the Kentucky racing season. It is in the opinion of the racing men of Kentucky that the filly races of Kentucky are the most important of the Kentucky racing season.

Ruth was hurt in a hitting practice yesterday, but played one inning before realizing the extent of the injury. An X-ray examination will be made tomorrow.

STOLE HOME WITH THE WINNING RUN

O'Rourke Again Big Factor in Victory—Onslow Tripled With Bases Full.

Special to The Toronto World. Reading, Pa., April 23.—For the second time in two days Toronto bats beat out a victory over the Reading International League Club, the final score today being, 8 to 7. Shortstop O'Rourke again was the hero. With the score tied at 7 runs each at the start of the ninth inning and two men out for the Reading club, O'Rourke broke for home from third base. Brower, pitching for Reading, was the victim of his wildness when the shortstop started. Before the pitcher could complete his motion and whip the ball to the plate, O'Rourke had the full speed and slid head-on across for a clean steal of home with the deciding run.

The game was a seesaw affair with plenty of free hitting on both sides. Brower, the huge right-hander, who played first base in yesterday's opening game, lacked the full nine innings on the mound for the Marines. On the other hand, Manager Duffy sent four hurlers to the hill in the course of the contest. Two left-handers, Heck and Burke, were batted hard, as was Peterson, who worked less than three innings. Holbrook took up the last in the last three innings, and he wild in spots, he proved more effective than his predecessors.

Things looked blue for Bobby Heck in the first inning, when Umpire Derr halted play to warn the southpaw of the degree of President Pultz leaning the spit ball. After a warm conference Heck agreed to refrain from molesting the sphere, but his curves thereafter lacked their usual deceit. Konold and Manager Hummel batted them first in the fourth frame for long home run drives, and then by clean hitting the Marines piled up five more tallies before the side was retired. Burke allowed three hits without an error, the pitcher was yanked and Peterson substituted. Holbrook, a Left recruit, who has just returned to the club after visiting his bereaved family, gave but one hit.

In the seventh inning Toronto overtook the locals' two run lead. With the bases full and none out, Gonzales was sent to bat for Peterson, and hoisted a home run sacrifice fly that started the first run. Reading's danger seemed past when O'Rourke, after driving out five long fouls, hit one into the field for a double strike. Then, on a double steal with Sanberg, Anderson came home. Spencer walked and Whitman singled, hitting the bases full and none out, Gonzales was sent to bat for Peterson, and hoisted a home run sacrifice fly that started the first run. Reading's danger seemed past when O'Rourke, after driving out five long fouls, hit one into the field for a double strike. Then, on a double steal with Sanberg, Anderson came home. Spencer walked and Whitman singled, hitting the bases full and none out, Gonzales was sent to bat for Peterson, and hoisted a home run sacrifice fly that started the first run.

The first hit of the day for O'Rourke, who led both teams with six yesterday, came in the ninth. With one run needed to win Spencer was ordered to sacrifice and obeyed perfectly. O'Rourke advanced to third on Whitman's out at first. Brower tried to put everything possible on the ball with Onslow, whose bat had tied the count, at the plate. The pitcher's concentration on the batsman, however, proved his undoing.

Reading, Pa., April 23.—Reading dropped the second International League game to Toronto here today, 8 to 7. The home team scored all its runs in the 4th inning when the umpire ruled out Heck's spit ball and the local slugger got after him dry ones. Toronto scored the winning run in the ninth when O'Rourke stole home while Brower was winding up. Score: R. H. E.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS WANT CLUB RAILROAD RATES

Cobalt, April 23.—Northern sportsmen are preparing a petition for presentation to Hon. E. C. Drury, asking the premier of Ontario to use his influence to secure a restoration of club rates to parties of ten or more traveling on the railway. Secretary Calverly of the Northern Ontario Football Association, in Port Huron, has sent copies of the petition to W. C. Ferris, G.W.V.A. secretary here, and in the document it is stated that the T. & N. O. Commission had refused a request to this effect already made. The concession is desired as a material necessity in the promotion of sports and other intercourse among the towns of the north. It is probable the baseball leagues will move in the matter.

Sweden Expected to Excel in Water Sports

While the Canadian Olympic committee and other sport organizations throughout the Dominion are arranging to have this country faithfully represented in the Olympic games at Antwerp this year, many other countries are just as keenly making their preparations with the same object in view. Sweden is exhibiting wonderful energy in her preparations, and while she does not expect to be able to win over the United States, she intends to make a hard fight, and hopes to be able to score the highest number of points next to America, despite the fact that the games will include some typical British events, such as archery, in which Sweden will not compete. These efforts are backed by ample funds, some of which have been granted by the Swedish government, while big sums have been donated by private individuals, the estimated total now available being about $20,000 kronen.

DRAW IS MADE FOR OLYMPIC HOCKEY

Canadians Play Czecho-Slovakia on Saturday Night—Final on Monday. Antwerp, April 23.—Canada's hockey representatives, the Falcons of Winnipeg, will meet the Czecho-Slovakia team in the opening round of the Olympic games hockey tournament here tomorrow night, according to the draw made for the seven contesting nations last night. The teams will be the third of the series, contests between other teams being scheduled for tonight and tomorrow afternoon. Tomorrow night's game will be watched with particular interest, for the Canadians and Czechs were named as favorites in the betting by the Belgian hockey enthusiasts when the teams displayed their speed in the first practice, and a very keen contest is anticipated. The Canadians are still favored with the majority of those who have been following the preliminary work of the teams, but the United States team appears to have replaced the Czechs as second choice with most of the experts.

LACROSSE GOSSIP

Bert Booth's worries have been somewhat reduced, as yesterday's mail brought the news that Ferguson will not be represented in the intermediate series. They do not appear to have enough players to put a sufficiently strong team in the league, and are, therefore, devoting their energies to the juveniles. Several of the boys from Ferguson will likely cast in the lot with Orangeville, as was arranged last season.

SHORT STORIES

The resolution adopted by the Ontario Jockey Club... The Ontario Jockey Club has adopted a resolution that the spring program will be carried out at Woodbine Park... It is their intention to stop the horses, but do not answer why they decided to raise the revenue they needed from that quarter by taking an over, say, ten per cent profit from the club.

There is probably no event planned for the coming meeting at Woodbine which is getting more attention from the horsemen down there than the Old Timers race, in which the riders will be jockeys of a decade ago, and the horses will be lead ponies. So many former jockeys who are now owners and trainers of horses have applied to ride in the event that it seems likely the race will be held in three sections to accommodate all the aspirants, many of whom have grown partly and are a help for any horse. Among the applicants are George Odum, the winner last year; Fred LaSalle, Willie Williams, Jake Byer, John Hastings, Matt Brady, Perry Murphy, D. R. McDaniel, Jerry Carroll, Mike Dohy, Clarence Buxton, Max Hirsch, James Fitzsimmons, Ed Title and Sam Fisher.

By Cobb related a story on Hugh Jennings and the other evening at a chamber of commerce banquet held in a minor league town in behalf of the baseball club.

It was back in the old Cornell days at the end of the baseball season, when they used to have a get-together and they'd call on the manager of the team, the captain and prominent members, and it seems Hughes was afraid he wasn't going to be called upon. So he hired a boy back in the rear of the hall to call for Jennings.

They didn't pay much attention to this boy for a while. After each speaker finished his remarks this boy would hold a card out, "We want Jennings." Finally Jennings was called on and he gave his talk. Then the boy called again, "We want Jennings!"

"That was Jennings," said a fellow nearby. "No, that wasn't Jennings. That's the fellow who gave me $2 to hold for Jennings."

Dierden, H. Woods, J. Bellis, J. Wilcox, T. Worrall, Herring, G. Warren, G. Taylor, T. Turner, E. A. Kemp, H. Hassan.

Parkdale Rangers will be home with both teams today. In the T. and D. Junior League game the Parkdale A. will line up against the Davenport Rangers, who are new to the second division and are a west-end team. Reserve W. C. Murchie will have this game, which will start sharp at 2 p.m.

Parkdale Rangers' first team will be up against Aston Rovers of North Toronto. This team was promoted to the first division, and made a great name in the junior cup ties last year. Referee Kerr will start this game sharp at 2 p.m. As this is Parkdale's first appearance in Lappin avenue grounds this year, a large turnout is expected. All players are asked to be on time sharp at 1:45 and 3:30.

Todmorden Juniors play Rhodes Avenue Juniors at Kenwood Park at 2:15 sharp. All players to be early, as there is another game to be played after this one.

Toronto Street Railway Football Club's practice for today is cancelled.

Formidable Canadian Steeplechase Stable

Baltimore, April 23.—The rather formidable steeplechase stable John Lumsden of Ottawa has arrived at Pimlico from the old Benning course, where he has one of the best four-year-olds put in a fortunate winter, and is being readied for the steeplechasing of the Maryland Jockey Club's meeting which promises to be especially attractive this spring. There will be one "chase, or more, every day at Pimlico" between the 15th and 15th of May, the banner attraction to be the $3000 Green Spring Valley, possibly the Lumsden stable does not boast of a jumper of Green Spring Valley stature, but there are some promising performers in it. The six that will start at Pimlico are Candie, Gargoye, Kingston Pier, Jim Terry, Sibola and Cloze. The form of the veteran Kingston Pier is known to followers of cross-country sport. He is something of a veteran—he won a "chase at the Belmont Terminal last June—but he is not so well shown, and more is expected of him this spring than he ever showed before. He has been fencing splendidly at Benning and galloping sound.

There are possibilities in Gargoye and Sibola, the former an import-son of Henry the First and Gorgonia, the latter a native-bred daughter of Rap Water Playground. Gargoye, a three-year-old last season, won a couple of purse races at Havre La Grace and the latter finished third in the Ticket of Leave and the Maryland State Fair's $3000 special for three-year-olds jumpers.

Last fall Gargoye was a slow and conservative fencer, he rarely made a mistake. He is as sure as ever this spring, and he seems to have acquired confidence in himself. He is taking his jumps at speed at any rate. James Healy, Jr., the developer of these fences, believes that he has one of the best four-year-olds prospects about in Gargoye. In Sibola, a mare that won four or five races on the long last season, and came to him by a selling race route. Healy is confident that he is training one of the smartest jumpers in the country. Sibola, took to fencing naturally last fall, and her schooling this spring has been well night perfect.

After passing through the Cox stable for several seasons, he was sold to Robert Burgess, a resident of Illinois, who for years has been famous as an importer of heavy-draught horses, but late has been investing in the more fascinating, if less utilitarian light harness horse breed. It was for him that Cain raced the little, white-faced pacing mare, Eva Abbe, last season, a mare which won on the Grand Circuit and in a stake race at Columbus and a heat in a 2000 race on the season's leading stake winner, Direct C. Burnett (2014). It was in a race against the last named pacer that Calgary Earl showed so well at Lexington.

Bred to Win. If Calgary Earl turns out to be anything more than a race horse to his sire, he will prove a profitable investment for his present owner. He is a son of the great Gray Warbler, Earl Jr. (2014), prominent on the Grand Circuit a decade ago, and which was still racing last season, taking the 1000-yard classes on the half-mile tracks of New England. As a season-after-season campaigner, there is but one thing that compares to Earl Jr., the Indiana state winner, Single G, which has it on the gray warbler in point of speed, but has no considerable ways to go in point of continuous service.

Earl Jr. raced as a three-year-old in 1903 in the west and the following season was purchased by Walter Cox, the Yankee pacesman started at the Buffalo meeting at the Fort Erie track where he fell down and he only started a time or two after that season. At that time he was a free legged horse, but when he appeared the following season it was found that Cox had decked him out with a new set of hobbles. His first notable victory was in a split heat race at Kalamazoo against a rather homely looking but dead game Indiana pacer named Pat. From that time on Earl Jr. was a star of the big money are not the brightest. As it is, he has a few more miles to go in the rich Grand Circuit stakes, in which any pacer which has shown as much as has the horse from the north must be given serious consideration.

While Calgary Earl was raced and trained last season at Lexington, he was the property of James Healy, Jr., who was the lanky Hoosier reiner, Sep Pado, who was behind him at Lexington when he showed a couple of miles better than 2:02 in a race in which he was a contender, but did not win. That he did not win the race may be lucky for his owner, for he would have taken a record which would have convinced him to the free-for-all class, in which the chances of earning the big money are not the brightest. As it is, he has a few more miles to go in the rich Grand Circuit stakes, in which any pacer which has shown as much as has the horse from the north must be given serious consideration.

Earl Jr. was in the stable of a half dozen different trainers, for all of whom he raced well and the old horse is still to be seen in the paddocks at Lexington, yet, in spite of his 15 years of age and 12 seasons of the turf, he was owned at one time in Calgary, where he bred Calgary Earl.

If Calgary Earl makes good he will be but one of many pacers coming from Canada and winning fame on this side of the border. The Dominion has not been noted for the production of great trotters, but in the pacing line it holds up its head nobly. Among the noted side-wheelers which have been owned or bred there may be mentioned Frank Boggs, Jr. (1914), which won the $3000 Chamber of Commerce stake at Detroit in 1913 and also took its record over the side of the border, the fastest mile ever negotiated there. Angus, Pointier (2014), a free-for-all star more than a dozen years ago, and which was still racing last season, taking the 1000-yard classes on the half-mile tracks of New England. As a season-after-season campaigner, there is but one thing that compares to Earl Jr., the Indiana state winner, Single G, which has it on the gray warbler in point of speed, but has no considerable ways to go in point of continuous service.

As it is, he has a few more miles to go in the rich Grand Circuit stakes, in which any pacer which has shown as much as has the horse from the north must be given serious consideration.

Perhaps the most interesting of these reminiscences has to do with the first great upset that occurred in the race, took in 1882. Previous to that year all of the favorites for the big race by its means scored, but up to that time there had been no great surprise in the event. During the winter of 1881-182 Runnymede was a strong choice for his important race. He went into winter quarters with the prestige of being the real star among the two-year-olds of 1881. He had been bought from his breeder, Bowen & Clay, by Dwyer, for $15,000, and was regarded by his owners as even a better prospect than his sire, who was a strong choice for his important race of 1880-181.

During the winter preceding the Derby of 1882 good reports came from the training quarters of this son of Billet, with the result that a fortune was wagered on his chances in the winter looks, causing his price to be cut to the short-end figure ever offered against a winter favorite for the race. His owners had sent Hindoo to Kentucky the year previous, and that great performer had made a show of his opposition in the place, and the prestige of the members of the great Brooklyn stable reached from coast to coast.

In later years James H. Keene, with his Castleton-bred horses and others he developed from miles secured from the Bitter Root Stud of Marcus Daly, enjoyed wonderful success in racing, but great were the triumphs of his racing during the prestige of the members of the race, and his record had little on that score by the horses raised by Dwyer Bros. in the early and middle eighties.

To tell the history of this remarkable stable is to recount the deeds of other certain by any means that Apollo should be a failure as a racer of good class. He reasoned that should he prove as good a winning chance, and so he added $500 to the price he asked Morris.

Morris in due time shipped Apollo to New Orleans, and while still a two-year-old he had him gelded and made no effort to train him to any extent until the time came to begin giving him hard work for his three-year-old campaign. The gelding proved a generous doer, and having grown and spread out during the winter, looked all over a good horse.

Still, no one was bold enough to even suggest the possibility of the rugged-looking gelding ever being able to beat Runnymede.

Pulled in Starter. Apollo's first start was in the Pickwick Stakes at New Orleans. He was beaten, but Morris did not like the appearance of the race, and ran him back in a few days in the Cotter races, against the same sort of opposition, putting up on him his exercise boy, Hurd. Apollo won that stake as a canter, and then, going to Memphis, continued his winning career.

Finally he reached Louisville to meet his Derby engagement. Hurd continued to ride him in his race and had the mount in the Derby. To the day, the track conditions were held to have caused Apollo to win the Derby being his first start as a three-year-old.

The truth, however, is that Apollo, under all conditions that day, was the better horse. He never for a moment doubted his outcome in doubt, and while few days back in the Clark Stakes, the Derby was a quarter of a mile shorter than the Derby race of a mile shorter.

Runnymede was one of the best-looking horses that ever won the Derby. He in Baden Baden and Hindoo, and as Apollo was closely related to Hahstide, a high-class racer and a Louisville Cup winner, Swigert felt that it was not

TORONTO BOXERS SCORE AT OTTAWA

Champion Chris. Newton Had to Go Extra Round to Beat Smith.

Ottawa, April 23.—The preliminary event in the annual boxing championships of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union took place tonight at the Drill Hall under the auspices of the Ottawa Boxing Commission. There were four knockouts and a technical one. Heretofore of Montreal outpointed Denis Critchlow, the Ottawa colored fighter, in the heavyweight class, while Billy McDougal of Toronto won from Lahaye of Montreal. Chris. Newton of Toronto met a surprise when he tackled George Smith of Montreal, and had to go an extra round to gain the decision, but then he outpointed Joe King, Montreal, and the bout was stopped in the third, when Bull had the Montrealer groggy. Tommy Coyne of Toronto, who was knocked out by Billy Dore of Ottawa in the second round, while Babe Moore, Ottawa, stopped Joe Lynch, Montreal, in the first round. Jenkinson, Toronto, defeated Cousens of Ottawa in the second round, and Platt of Toronto stopped Prudhomme of London in the second round. The finale took place tomorrow night.

"Dummy" Wagner, Wyllys-Overland A.C., Toronto, outpointed William Blain, National A.A., Montreal, by a wide margin.

Harry Stone, Classics, Toronto, was awarded the decision in a very evenly contested fight with Harry Turner, M.A.A.A., Montreal, an extra round being necessary to decide the winner. Both men led and blocked cleverly.

125-Pound Class. W. Moore, St. Patrick's A.C., Ottawa, knocked out M. J. Lynch, Shamrock A.C., Montreal, after fifty seconds' fast fighting with lefts and rights to the jaw, and a hard right to the ear.

W. Dore, Laurier A.C., Ottawa, knocked out T. J. Coyne, Classics, in the second round with lefts and rights to the head and face. Both boys showed a willingness to mix it up.

C. Jenkinson, Riverside A.C., Toronto, won on points from L. Cousineau, Ottawa G.W.V.A., in the first round, fought and outgassed Cousineau, who was in bad shape at the end of the third round.

Chris. Newton, Ontario champion, repulsed Riverside A.C. was given the decision over George Smith, Ottawa, Montreal. Both fought hard and cleverly, and the winner was necessary to decide the winner.

145-Pound Class. Fern Bull, of the Classics, Toronto champion, won a technical knockout over Jack Trim, University Settlement A.C., Montreal. Bull showed great generalship and cleverness.

158-pound class—P. Platt, Classics, knocked out Corporal Prudhomme, Prince Georges, London, Ont. in one minute fifty seconds of fighting, during which the outcome was never in doubt.

In the 158-pound class, from the low, St. Patrick's A.C., Ottawa, won by default from McDonald, (Glac Bay, N.S.).

Heavyweight class—Charles McDonald, Classics, was given the decision on points over Paul Lahaye, A.A., after a slow, uninteresting fight.

Light heavyweight class—M. H. Herscovitch, M.A.A., won by decision over D. R. Critchlow, St. Patricks A.C., in a slashing fight in which Herscovitch had the better of every round.

MANITOBA PACER FOR GRAND CIRCUIT

Detroit, April 23.—Canada, which has contributed to harness horse history some of the greatest of the past century, furnishes another candidate for honors among the sidewheel brigade this season in the chestnut horse, Calgary Earl.

Earl Jr., bred up in the stable of a half dozen different trainers, for all of whom he raced well and the old horse is still to be seen in the paddocks at Lexington, yet, in spite of his 15 years of age and 12 seasons of the turf, he was owned at one time in Calgary, where he bred Calgary Earl.

WHEN APOLLO, LONG SHOT, WON KENTUCKY DERBY FROM PICKWICK

With the widespread interest that is being shown in the 120th renewal of the Kentucky Derby, now only a few weeks away, veterans of the turf are bringing to light incidents in connection with the running of the historic event in bygone years. One of the most interesting of these reminiscences has to do with the first great upset that occurred in the race, took in 1882. EMPIRE PARLIAMENTARY ASSOCIATION DO HONOR TO COLONEL W. GRANT MORDEN MEMBER OF BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

Col. Morden in His Address Deals With Principal Industrial Developments in Great Britain During the Past Few Years—Strongly Urges Establishment of Closest Possible Relationship Between All Parts of the British Empire—Shows How Canada Has Natural Resources and That Capital and Experience Are Needed for Their Proper Development—New Big Consolidation Will Constitute the First and Greatest Empire Industrial Partnership in Steel, the Basic Material of the World.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, on Behalf of Government, Welcomed the New Interests to Canada and Promised Most Cordial Support of Government at All Times—Pointed Out That Proposed Combination Would Be Not Only of Great Value to Canada, But to the British Empire as a Whole, and Wished Those Associated With the Undertaking Every Success in the Great Enterprise.

(From Our Ottawa Correspondent.)

Ottawa, April 23.—One of the most important gatherings of the legislators of Canada in recent years took place this week, when the Empire Parliamentary Association tendered a banquet to Lieut.-Col. W. Grant Morden, M.P., the former Canadian who is now a member of the British House of Commons for the parliamentary division of Brentford and Chiswick.

Senator Casgrain, president of the Empire Parliamentary Association, presided, and had about him a number of the members of the Dominion Cabinet, of the senate and of the house of commons. Among the members of the cabinet were Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries; Right Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice; Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance; Hon. Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior; Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways, and Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the privy council.

Among the members of the senate present were Speaker Bolduc, Senator Hewitt, Senator Bostock, Senator G. Bradbury, Senator Richard Blain, Senator J. B. Casgrain, Senator Thos. Chapais, Senator Raoul Dandurand, Senator J. W. Daniel, Senator William Dennis, Senator W. C. Edwards, Senator George Gordon, Senator D. O. Lesperance, Senator Frederic Nicholls, Senator W. B. Ross, Senator W. H. Thorne, Senator J. I. Todd, Senator Robert Watson, Senator Lorne C. Webster, Senator Gerald White, Senator Smeaton White, Senator L. McMeans, Senator C. B. Prouse and Senator C. P. Beaubien.

The house of commons was represented by members of parliament from almost every section of the country. The members present included Speaker Rhodes, Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition in the house, and the following: Col. H. J. Mackie, Dr. R. J. Manning, F. B. McCurdy, Alex. McGregor, James McIsaac, D. B. Mackenzie, Hon. A. McLean, Major-Gen. H. H. McLean, W. S. Middleboro, Gen. B. Morphy, H. M. Mowat, E. W. Nesbitt, F. F. Pardee, B. L. Redman, Jas. Ribb, D. C. Ross, Hon. H. S. Beland, G. H. Bolvin, W. A. Bois, Edward Bristol, R. H. Butts, P. F. Casgrain, J. A. Campbell, W. A. Charlton, Col. Hugh Clark, H. S. Clements, W. F. Cockshutt, H. B. Copp, Dr. Cowan, Humie Cronyn, Hon. Thomas Crothers, Col. J. A. Currie, F. L. Davis, J. C. Douglas, J. N. Douglas, S. E. Elkin, R. F. Green, General Griesbach, F. H. Keefer, W. C. Kennedy, W. S. Loggie, H. H. Stevens, T. J. Stewart, R. M. Tweedie, Capt. Thomas Wallace, R. D. Wigmore, J. R. Wilson.

Senator Casgrain, in proposing the health of Col. Grant Morden, the guest of the evening, asked permission to say a word about the Empire Parliamentary Association, especially for those who had not been present at the time it was created in London in 1911, when a large delegation of members attended the coronation of King George.

"After the delegates had been the guest of the Committee of the House of Lords and the British House of Commons, it was felt," said Senator Casgrain, "that we could not part without forming some organization to continue the friendly and cordial relations between the overseas delegates themselves and the Members of the British Isles."

"The people at home wanted to see more of us and of our countries, whilst we from the Dominions ardently desired to return some of the hospitality that had been lavished on us during the time we were their guests for the coronation of His Majesty King George—and this is our privilege tonight in welcoming a member of the British House of Commons—Col. W. Grant Morden. Although he has been living in England for nearly twenty years, he is today as good a Canadian as any he had never been away from us—as true a Canadian as any of his forefathers, who, with other U. E. Loyalists, settled in 1780 in Prince Edward county. Since then every member of the family, including our distinguished guest, has been born in that county. He is the chairman of the Canadian Association of London, to which all our representatives, Canadians living in England, belong. It has been my privilege to know Col. Morden for many years, and more particularly when I was a director of the old Richardson & Ontario Navigation Company. He came over from England, bringing in due time, some fifteen million dollars, and bought the control of our company and all the others that now comprise the Canada Steamship Lines—thus creating not only the biggest shipping company in Canada, but one of the largest in the world—and growing all the time, with its continuous inland navigation of 1700 miles from Duluth and Port Arthur to the far-famed Saguenay River—with its platoon steamers and high freighters, the biggest on the Great Lakes, like the "W. Grant Morden," of 14,000 tons—(Just fact it takes over 450 cars to load the "W. Grant Morden," forming a train of nearly three miles in length)—with its fleets on the ocean; its steamship lines to France, to the West Indies and to South America—The Canada Steamship Lines are today a credit to our Dominion.

"There sits the man who created that great organization—if the size of a member's majority is the measure of his popularity then Col. Grant Morden must have been very well liked indeed because he was elected a member of the British House of Commons by 9000 majority over the combined votes of his two opponents.

"Last summer whilst I was in London I saw for myself the very important position Col. Morden occupied in the business world of the Metropolis of the Empire. I realized that he was surrounded by a most powerful group of financial men.

"I spent the week-end at Heatherden, his country seat outside of London. Some of us here tonight have been at Cliveden and saw the beautiful grounds of Lord Waldorf Astor. Let me tell you that Cliveden looks mighty small compared with the 500 acres of Heatherden with its artificial lakes and ornamental bridges— but in spite of all this affluence, those allurements and his great popularity in England, Col. Morden remains a Canadian anxious to help the Empire by increasing the production and wealth of his native land—he realizes that the time has come when all the potential assets of the Empire must be examined and developed.

"Our association is the best medium for that examination and development, composed as it is of members of the House of Commons and the Senate. Each section of our vast country is represented in Ottawa by men familiar with its particular potential assets.

"In social intercourse with the men from Australia, New Zealand or South Africa—forgetting those from the British Isles, members of our Association can inform them of what Canada has to sell and inquire what are the requirements of their part of the Empire. We have the raw materials of nature, wealth is but their transformation into useful commodities and their transportation from the place of production to the market."

"Relationship Within Empire." Col. Grant Morden was tendered an ovation when he arose to reply to the toast of the evening. This was the first visit to Canada of Col. Morden since his election as a Member of the British House of Commons and owing to his intimate knowledge of the developments that had occurred in the Mother Country during the past couple of years, he dealt more particularly with the developments that should be worked out to keep the various parts of the British Empire closely related, to the advantage of every single portion of it.

Col. Morden said in part: "I cannot express to you how deeply I feel honored both by the kind remarks made by Senator Casgrain, as well as by the presence of so many of the distinguished legislators of Canada here this evening. It makes me think that the old saying that 'a prophet is without honor in his own land' is a fallacy. In fact, I think that in these days there are a good many old sayings which have proven fallacies. I think the war has taught us all to think more deeply than we have ever done before. We used to jump too readily to conclusions without due consideration.

"I am sorry to hear in some quarters the opinion expressed that as Canada has become a nation within the Empire, it has become strong enough to be an independent nation, and that there is no longer any necessity for being part of the Empire. This, in my opinion, is not only a ridiculous, but a dangerous view, and I will try and give you my reasons for saying so.

"Canada is one of the richest countries in natural resources in the world. Its potentialities are enormous, but it lacks both capital and experience to develop these great resources to the extent to which they should be developed within any reasonable period of time. The resources that are in the ground are of no practical value until they are taken out, as you all know.

"When the large banks started to consolidate, seeing also the necessity of giving much larger credits than they had ever given before, and realizing that to do so they had to increase the strength of their institutions, there was an outcry in England that a money trust would be created. One of the strongest commissions ever appointed in England investigated this matter most thoroughly, with the result that the Government's action in approving of these consolidations were entirely upheld. Today we only have five great banking institutions in England, but the people of the country have never been served so well by their financial institutions as they are being served by the banks in England today. It was felt that the little man would suffer. That has been proved to be untrue and on the contrary he is being protected more today than he ever was before.

"What was essentially necessary, however, was the financing of the great industrial concerns of the country to enable them to get back their business which they had lost during the war. These consolidations put our banks in a position to save what might have been a very severe economic condition in England and made possible the almost phenomenal success by which British industry has regained its share in the world's market.

"Co-operation Necessary." "Gentlemen, this co-operation and combination in industry applies equally as well to the policies of the British Empire. If we can combine the capital and the experience of the old Mother Land with the resources of our Overseas Dominions, we are going to put ourselves in an economic position that will forever maintain us as the greatest Empire in the world. The combination of all interests today is essential.

"I once heard my old friend, Senator Edwards, say some years ago that Canada and the capital of the British Empire. I am not so sure that he is right, but I would not be surprised if Canada, provided it has the co-operation which I aim for in the British Empire, become the industrial capital of the Empire. She has all the resources—all she requires is the capital and the experience which I have referred to before."

"Good government is, naturally, an essential feature, and I have sufficient confidence in the wisdom of the Canadians to feel that they will always have a sound and progressive government in this country, a government that will not only protect the interests of their people, and will offer inducements for people to come to Canada, knowing that they will have every opportunity of making their fortunes here, and having made their fortunes, that they will be safe. The protection of capital, which is the first of all things, is of paramount importance in any land. Russia today is not attracting many emigrants; no government that wishes to prosper must have people to help develop this great country, and these people, as well as capital, are only going to be influenced to come here by the fact that they can feel that the Canadian Government will always protect their savings, which will be the result of their industry, intelligence and thrift.

"Now, gentlemen, I have tried to give some reasons why Canada can best benefit by being part of the British Empire, and I am in full accord with my friends, Senator Edwards, in believing that ultimately it may be the industrial centre of the Empire, but I am going to suggest a few practical things that can be taken to bring about a closer alliance of the three great fundamentals I have mentioned, that are necessary for us to prosper, which will benefit all of Canada more than any other part of the Empire, and in doing so, I hope you will pardon me if I have to talk somewhat personally, but I am quite actively interested in these first steps and I cannot avoid doing so.

"I have long felt that the so-called 'silk thread of sentiment' binding the Empire should be reinforced by 'golden chains of commerce.' I was 'how to do it.' I surveyed the industrial field in England. I looked back over the past years and their developments, and I was struck by the impression that the great mercantile marine of England, having the supremacy of the seas, had made possible to a large extent, the great industrial success of England, but I found this was not so. I found that every individual part of the Empire, it was only a contributing feature.

"Coal and Iron Great Essentials." "Gentlemen, it was coal and iron, and not iron, that made this such a possible for ships to go out loaded to the four corners of the earth to bring back cargoes necessary for England, but in every case, to leave a margin of credit in every place that ship went, and this margin kept on growing and growing the world over. Part of it was brought home, part of it was left invested abroad, and so the wealth of England grew, and so it was possible for her to go on building more ships. But the ships would never have been built and the great mercantile marine of Great Britain would never have been in existence, if it had not been for the fact that the Empire had material to load these ships with. Your Minister of Marine here is ambitious to have a great Canadian mercantile marine, but I have to say that it is absolutely necessary today for Canada to have a great fleet of vessels under its own flag, but it would not be an economic proposition if you did not have the resources to fill these bottoms with.

"Steel the Basic Industry." "Well, gentlemen, I found that the basic industry of England was steel, in fact, it is the basic industry of the world today, and I said to myself, this, then, is where we should start in building up a real Empire industrial partnership.

"On the Atlantic seaboard of Canada lies the greatest deposit of ore and coal known of in the world today. There are over 5000 million tons of iron ore, fifteen per cent of the total estimated commercial iron ore in the world, lying there; and side by side with it, is over 6500 million tons of coal, all lying at tide-water with some of the finest harbors in the world. Consequently steel should be manufactured there cheaper than in any other part of the world.

"The geographical location is unique. It sits up over the North Atlantic Ocean; it is closer to South America than the United States; it is closer to South Africa than England; a ferry service could be run across to the City of Cape Town. What is lacking? Two things—Capital and Experience?"

"I happen to be associated with some of the largest steel masters in England. I went to them and said, 'You have the capital; you have your great finishing mills in England; you have your established connections in the markets of the world, but we have in Canada the raw materials, and we can make you your slabs and your billets much cheaper than you can produce or secure them in any other place.' They agreed, and so have made possible the plans which are now being completed for the formation of the greatest industrial organization in the British Empire.

"Now, I would like to tell you of an interview I had with the head of one of the greatest steel companies in the United States. He came to me the other day in New York City, and he said, 'I have been well acquainted with the great ore and coal properties in Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, but he said that no Canadian concern has succeeded by itself in making steel for export trade. He pointed out that it had been necessary to get the Government at Washington to pass special legislation, changing the Sherman anti-trust law so as to enable all the great steel companies in the United States to come together to form one export company, the United States Steel Corporation. There are really two companies, one the export company of the United States Steel Corporation and the other the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. He suggested that our only salvation would be to allow the Americans to take control, and thus absorb our interests into theirs.

"Gentlemen, his argument was unanswerable from one standpoint. I do not believe it would be possible for Canadians by themselves to develop a great steel export industry, but I did not tell him that the British Empire has the great steel corporations in the United States found it necessary to combine together to compete with the world's market were the people here to have with us that we will have the advantage of their trade connections, the advantage of their capital and their active partnership.

"One of the most important elements in this project is, naturally, transportation, and this is what your Minister of Marine, with the developments we hope for, it will mean that we must have many ships, and we must have a transportation organization of the very highest order in Canada. These ships I want to see built in Canada. In England the big steel corporations are following today what was done in the United States twenty years ago. When the United States Steel Corporation was formed, they took into that consolidation not only their steel plants, their ore properties, their coal mines, but also took in their own shipping companies and shipyards. They found it absolutely necessary, and experience has proved their wisdom in controlling the fundamental elements of their industry. Therefore, the same is necessary in the development of our Canadian properties. It is necessary and advisable to include shipping and shipbuilding.

"Our present consolidation will, I anticipate, extend to other parts of the Empire, and it will form, I believe, the first and the greatest Empire industrial partnership in the history of the world. You will probably recollect Kipling's words:

Gold is for the mistress,
Silver for the maid,
Copper for the craftsman,
Whose hands are true and steady;
And for the man who makes us rich,
In our vain world of money,
"God," said the Baron,
Sitting in his hall,
"But iron, old iron,
Is master of them all."

"Gentlemen, what I have outlined to you, I believe, is simply the first of many other partnerships within the Empire. I feel confident that it will result in increasing the wealth of every individual part of the Empire, and help to perpetuate the greatest Empire the sun has ever shone upon.

"I thank you all sincerely for the honor you have done me by inviting me to be your guest tonight, and I hope and trust that I will, as a Canadian and as a member of the Mother of all Parliaments, do my share for the good of Canada and the Empire as a whole in such a manner as to enable me to justify the faith and confidence you have expressed in me tonight."

Government Co-operation. Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, spoke on behalf of the Government. Mr. Ballantyne's department has been more directly identified with the various phases of the industrial developments of the past few years in Canada, more particularly with the carrying out of the shipbuilding programme. While speaking on behalf of the Government, Mr. Ballantyne stated that he and his associates in the big plans that were being worked out would have the most cordial support of the Government at all times along reasonable financial and commercial lines.

Mr. Ballantyne said, in part: "Mr. Chairman, I very much regret that, owing to an important meeting of the Cabinet tonight, the Acting Prime Minister, the Right Honourable Sir George Foster, is unable to be here to speak in the name of the Government, and to assist other members of the Empire Parliamentary Association, who are gathered here in such large numbers tonight to do honor to our distinguished guest, Colonel Grant Morden.

"Speaking, therefore, for the Dominion Government on this occasion, it is a real pleasure to offer to our distinguished guest of this evening our warmest congratulations and a warm welcome back to Canada, not only for a brief visit. We are gathered here this evening as members of the Empire Parliamentary Association to pay our tribute of appreciation to our guest, Colonel Grant Morden, who has the great honor and privilege of being a member of the Imperial House of Commons not only by our guest of this evening but by the Right Honourable the Earl of Mar, Sir Hamar Greenwood, and Donald McMaster, and in the House of Lords by Lord Beaverbrook, all of these gentlemen being now permanent residents of the Old Land, and in this country we have such distinguished Canadians as Lord Shaughnessy and Lord Atholstan, who are also members of the House of Lords.

"Those of us who have been privileged to visit London from time to time well know and appreciate the warm welcome that always awaits us there on the part of the members of the Empire Parliamentary Association, and more particularly our guest of this evening, who always welcomes us in such a wholehearted, generous way. Therefore, we are all happy to be in the position this evening, in our small way, of showing some slight appreciation in return to a member of the Imperial House of Commons during his short visit to the Capital of Canada.

Welcomes New Interests to Canada. "You are welcome Colonel Morden to Canada, not only in your sphere as a member of the British House of Commons, but also for your great achievements in putting your own energy and capital and a large amount of British capital, of those who are associated with the Empire of all in that great Transportation Company, The Canada Steamships, and now, in a very large way, your energy and capital are being put into industry that we have at Sydney, so rich in both iron and steel.

"Canada is particularly pleased at all times to welcome and assist in every way possible foreign capital, and particularly British capital, and in this instance I understand that the interest of the Empire Parliamentary Association, and those strong British capitalists who are associated with him, are going to make the steel and coal works of Nova Scotia closely allied with the great steel industry of the United Kingdom, and, therefore, benefit it not only by this additional capital that is so much needed at this time, but also by that which is more favorable, who are engaged in such a large way in the production of steel in the United Kingdom. Such a combination, Sir, is not only of great value to Canada, but the Empire as a whole, and I wish you and those associated with you, in the name of the Government, my very sincere congratulations and my warmest wishes for your great success.

"These are times, Mr. Chairman, when for those who are desirous of looking after not only their home country but the development of the world, it is essential that organization should be on a large scale, no matter whether those who are so engaged put their capital in agriculture, mining, lumbering, industries, or any other walk of life. The times demand a large corporation, well managed and specialized. This does not mean, as some are under the impression, that large and influential consolidations mean a higher cost of production and selling prices to the public generally, but, on the contrary, such large combinations as I am now referring to mean a production on a large scale, lower cost of which always follows, and places these large consolidations in a position to sell their products at lower prices than if there were a number of smaller concerns with a smaller output and increased cost of production.

"Big Business a Necessity." "Before I entered public life I was associated with a very large company doing a world-wide business, and one of the plants of this great company is located in London, England. Therefore, I have some knowledge of English business methods and the attitude of the Government and the people generally in these light little pieces towards capital and large consolidations. The Government of Great Britain is now saying to the capitalists and those engaged in industry on a large scale, we are behind you, we desire to encourage you in every way to transfer the great industries of the United Kingdom from the production of them in developing countries, we turned out in such large quantities in pre-war days, and to get back as speedily as possible in the best conditions, and not only that. Great Britain return her large export business throughout the world, but still further increase it. These are the conditions in the Old Land, and I regret there is a tendency on the part of some in this country to point the finger of scorn at the capitalists and to use their endeavors to restrict him in using his money for the development of the great natural resources of Canada, and to put business barriers in his way. Industry in the world possesses such potential unlimited rich natural resources as Canada, and now in this reconstruction period in the world, to give encouragement to the men of this country in an endeavor to induce capital from other countries to join with them in developing these wonderful natural resources of ours, and to encourage our country's diversified interests in every way, and if we all strive to do this, we will have a united Canadian people and refrain from taking a parochial view. I can see nothing ahead of this splendid country of ours but a wonderful progress and development.

"All that the captains of industry require in this country is a free field, and no favor, and I am satisfied that this is the opinion of the majority of the people in this country, to encourage development of our agriculture, steel, coal, waterpower, fisheries, lumber, etc., and in this way we will not fall pessimistic about overcoming our large national debt. If we all work unitedly for the continued welfare and expansion of Canada, we will not only will we overcome our large public debt in a few years, but will soon have the balance on the right side.

"Great Opportunities in Canada." "To give you some idea of how favorably Canadian possibilities are looked upon at the present time, not later than this afternoon I had two important delegations wait upon me. The first was a group of Canadian capitalists who desire to build large oil tank steel ships in our yards, to the extent of thirty million dollars. If the government could grant certain concessions, these American capitalists stated that they wanted to make this large investment in our country because our shipyards are better equipped than any other shipyards in the world, and we can construct these oil tankers efficiently and at as low a cost, if not lower, than in their own country, and furthermore, the freedom of operating in Canada is when completed in the various trade routes under the British flag and under Canadian registry was far superior to that of their own country's shipping lines.

"The second delegation represented one of the old European countries, and they wanted to have constructed for their yards some number of steel ships amounting to seventy-five million dollars, provided, of course, that the Canadian Government give them certain concessions.

"To show further what this young country can do along industrial lines, might I be permitted, sir, to inform our guest of the evening, Colonel Morden, who now so deeply interested with his associates, in the Dominion Steel Corporation, of Sydney, that the large plant in Mill Bay, which was brought about by the Dominion Government placing a large contract with them, so that ship plates can be forwarded to the necessary capital and at the same time in the United Kingdom, meet the competition there and still have a nice margin of profit left.

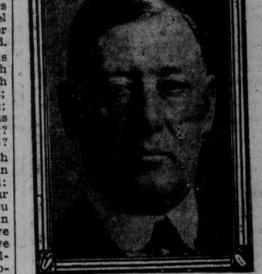

"Let me, in conclusion, say to our distinguished Canadian guest of this evening, how proud we all are to be Britishers and to form part of the great British Commonwealth, and how we will have many occasions of welcoming our guest of this evening back for his own worth and as a member of the British Empire, and how deeply we are indebted to him and to others from the commercial metropolis of the world for what they have already done in the past for the development of Canada, and we have the firm conviction that they will do more in the future, and such investments in Canada will always be safely invested, and all reasonable support that can be accorded to these large British investors in Canada will receive the cordial support of the government at all times along reasonable financial and commercial lines."

Importance of Developments. Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party in the house of commons, dwelt on the importance of having the great resources of Canada developed in a big way by interests who were in a position to supply the necessary capital and at the same time be in touch with the principal markets of the world.

The Dominion of Canada had made a great record for itself from an industrial standpoint during the war period and it was especially important that this success should be followed up in the after-war period by the development of the underdeveloped parts of the country along lines that would ensure a very large export trade being built up from the Dominion, not only to the various parts of the world, but to every part of the world. Of special importance was the announcement that most of the interests that would be identified with the development of large undertakings, as outlined by Col. Morden, had already been closely connected with various phases of the industries that would be operated under the new plan. The plan outlined by Col. Morden indicated by far the largest undertaking of its kind in the history of the Dominion and on all sides there was a feeling that the more that great success would attend the comprehensive program of the new interests planned to carry out in the development of the extensive coal and iron ore resources on the Atlantic coast of Canada.

AMUNDSEN'S PLANS MUST HAVE FAILED

Peary's Skipper Says He Ought to Have Been Further on Way to Pole.

New York, April 23.—Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who commanded the Roosevelt on Peary's successful dash to the north pole, and who has just reached Anadir, today express fear that something serious had "gone wrong" with the polar expedition of Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole.

Amundsen either has lost his ship or encountered some other serious mishap, Captain Bartlett said, adding that in the 19 months the Norwegian explorer had been traveling since he left Dixon Island, in the White Sea, in September, 1918, he should have reached a point between the north pole and Cape Chelsukin, on the northeastern Siberian coast, about 700 miles from the pole.

"Amundsen's plan was to drive his ship as far east and north as possible and get within striking distance of the pole," Captain Bartlett said, adding that he had talked with the Norwegian explorer here shortly before he left on his expedition.

"His ambition was to plant the Norwegian flag at the North Pole, as he already had placed it at the South Pole, and win for his country and himself the name of running up the flag at both extremities of the earth.

"In the 19 months since we have heard from him he should be in a very different place than Anadir. He evidently has accomplished little, and has ended up differently than I thought. Probably his vessel has drifted on the Siberian coast. If everything had gone well with him he ought to have been somewhere between the pole and Cape Chelsukin. Amundsen planned to return from the pole by way of Cape Columbia, North America, 115 miles from the top of the world.

DISAGREES WITH NANSEN.

Copenhagen, April 23.—Captain Einar Niskelsen, the Arctic explorer, in an interview here today, said he disagreed with the statement attributed to Dr. Fridtjof Nansen that it was possible for Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, to reach the North Pole from Point Barrow by drifting with the ice. Captain Niskelsen declared the current of the ice would be against Amundsen.

Niskelsen said he believed Amundsen had either given up his attempt to reach the North Pole altogether or had returned to get new supplies to enable him to make another attempt. In any case, Niskelsen declared, Amundsen would not try again by way of Point Barrow.

AIM TO AMEND HOME RULE BILL

New Organization in Dublin to Extend the Powers of Self-Government.

Dublin, April 23.—A new organization has been formed in Dublin, under the chairmanship of Stephen Gwynn, called the government of Ireland amendment group. The formation of this body is the first attempt from the public side to make use of the home rule bill. Lord Dunsany has expressed his sympathy with the movement.

The group, which is composed of widely known business, professional and university men, will issue its manifesto tomorrow. In this document it puts forward as the basic principle of amendment of the measure the contention that the powers of self-government conferred upon Ireland in the bill must be enlarged, that the essential unity of Ireland must be more clearly recognized, and that more harmonious action and mutual intercourse between the north and south must in greater measure be facilitated.

NEW FRENCH TAX TO YIELD FIVE BILLION FRANCS

Paris, April 23.—The chamber of deputies today adopted clauses of the new tax bill imposing a tax on business turnovers, which it is estimated will yield a revenue of five billion francs. There will be some exceptions, such as sales of bread and brokerage, particularly stock exchange transactions, which are otherwise covered. The entire list of exceptions, however, has not yet been determined.

A flood of amendments to except certain necessities from the new tax was ward off by Frederic Francois Marsal, the finance minister, who declared: "There is a necessity that dominates all others—it is that of enabling France to honor her signature."

SURE HIS APPOINTMENT WILL PLEASE CANADA

London, April 23.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, speaking at Sunderland, said that nobody as far as he knew questioned the prime minister's wisdom in appointing him to the high and difficult post of chief secretary to Ireland. The appointment would be gratifying to the dominions, especially Canada, which had always followed his career with great interest.

"My appointment is without qualification, reserve or limitation. I have the fullest powers any chief secretary ever enjoyed. I have no reason to think there will be any difficulty in having my views adopted by the cabinet," stated Sir Hamar. The Manchester Guardian says that the chief secretary stopped at that point. It further remarks that the audience were quite in the dark as to what Sir Hamar's views are. The Guardian, however, has already admitted that the new chief secretary will likely win his bye-election.

WINNIPEG'S MILK CONSUMPTION

Winnipeg, April 23.—Five million gallons of the 70,000,000 gallons of milk produced in Manitoba last year were consumed in Winnipeg, according to a city health department report. Sixty thousand cows are required to satisfy Winnipeg's requirements, the report continues. On a population of 200,000, the annual per capita allowance of milk would be 25 gallons and butter 23 pounds.

DOCTOR'S SLAYER APPEARS IN COURT

Has Neither Counsel Nor Funds, and Two Lawyers Assigned to Defend Him.

New York, April 23.—Faltering, shabbily dressed and with a week's growth of beard on his pale face, Thomas W. Simpson, formerly of Calgary, Alberta, was arraigned today on an indictment charging him with murder in the first degree for shooting Dr. James Wright Markoe last Sunday, as the distinguished surgeon was passing the plate in fashionable St. George's Church.

In a weak, quavering voice the defendant, who is said to have escaped from five insane asylums, acknowledged that he had neither counsel nor the funds to engage one. He hesitated a full minute when asked if he wanted the court to assign counsel to defend him, then in a tone scarcely audible, he said: "Yes, sir."

Former Assistant District Attorney Neilson Olcott and Joseph S. Rosalsky were assigned, and pleading in his case was postponed until next Monday.

Immediately afterwards Rosalsky conferred with the accused man regarding his defense. Simply at once drew out a corn cob pipe and shrouded the conference in clouds of smoke.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Larkin's Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to cleanse and neutralize sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

VALUE OF BOTTLE DEPENDS ON LABEL

(Continued from Page 1.) Whiskey—either Scotch, Irish or rye—supplies Ontario's demands for any length of time. Some wise heads in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal got together and established bottle exchanges. They employed scouts to call at houses and pick up for a cent or so individual bottles and bring them to the exchange. The only instructions given to the scout was that the label must be in good condition. Try today to sell to a Jew pedlar a bottle with a bad label and he will tell you he does not want it. But the scout turns down few bottles on this account, as the vendors quite innocently provide for the protection of the label. In addition to the paper wrapper, the vendor further wraps the bottle in strong brown paper, and very few people remove any part of the wrapper except that around the bottle neck. Therefore, when the bottle is to be either the Hamilton or Toronto exchange it is in excellent shape.

Handled by Syndicate. At the exchanges the bottles are put into sacks and shipped to members of the bottle syndicate in Montreal, and several carloads arrive every week. In Montreal these bottles are resorted, according to the brand of whiskey they represent, but by the condition of the label on its body. The sorting finished, the bottle exchange gentleman lets it be known in circles that have used for such bottles that he has so many goods for sale, and they are all quickly snapped up, at a price that would make any dead bottle manufacturer of old turn over in his grave with envy.

A large number of persons in Montreal have of late become expert "distillers" of the clever mixture of chemicals and coloring and crude spirits which resembles whiskey in appearance, makes the inside feel warm and has a kick and does not act upon the stomach. The consumer for the moment that he really has had a drink of real whiskey. But next morning he is in another story. These Montreal dope distillers are mainly located in cellars of houses where the chemist manufactures his stuff, bottles it, wraps it up in paper, packs it in a case and dispatches it to his customers.

Cork Capsules Made. A full bottle of this Scotch does really look good and it is little wonder the bootleggers can sell as much as they can obtain. Some of the "distillers" have gone the length of making capsules made to go over the cork and one man who was faking a well known brand of Scotch whiskey even went the length of having printed on the band of the kind the genuine manufacturer's place over the cork. To prevent detection he even had these tags printed in Vancouver.

Some Willy Tricks. Should labels be slightly damaged the "distiller" dabs the bad spot over with gum so that the paper in which the bottle is wrapped sticks to it and the purchaser of the dope is turned from suspicion.

Although a good trade is done in Scotch whiskey, the majority of the business is in rye whiskey, as more bottles of this are obtainable. The only difference in the "whiskey" is that more of the dark coloring is put into it than in the same.

Some of the "distillers" are more expert in "mixing" than others and that accounts for the difference in taste and dope effects of the individual bottles obtained from the bootleggers.

The profits to all concerned in this trade—the empty bottle merchant, the "distiller," the bootlegger, is immense. A bottle of Scotch in Toronto or Hamilton will cost today anything from eight to ten dollars, and a bottle of rye sells for six to seven dollars, as the bottle contains a much smaller quantity of the dope.

The bootlegger trade is growing fat at the expense of the public. It is doubtful that if in one case out of a thousand he sells genuine spirits—the majority of his wares are rank poison to the human system. It is possible to suppose that bootleggers can obtain genuine spirits from Montreal when the regular authorized vendors cannot purchase them for love or money.

Now the housewife knows to what her labelled empty bottle is put when the Jew takes it from her back yard.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

"The Bird of Paradise." Richard Tully's delightful story of the Hawaiian Islands will play its eighth week at the Royal Alexandra next week, commencing Monday night. The play is in its ninth year, which is itself a sufficient tribute to its quality. GET THEM IN, BOYS!

Public Notice: HAVE YOU MADE OUT YOUR DOMINION OF CANADA INCOME TAX?

There is much to laugh at and applaud, much to gaze at and wonder in John Cort's latest musical revue, "Just a Minute," which comes to the Princess Theatre Monday for a week's engagement. The authors of "Linton, Lester" score another musical hit in their new comedy.

Twenty songs will send you from the theatre with a melody of catchy numbers whirling thru your mind. Amongst them are "Some Other Guy," "Because You're Different," "Lonesome" and the rhythmic waltz numbers. This you have a luscious quartet who sing and dance delightfully, dainty and daring. The blue musical comedy follower will come out of his seat with a gasp and a "Howdy, Glide" when he sees the twenty cherubic members of the chorus. A riot, a runaway, and a revelation. Catch these sun-kissed kittens in their revealing, ravishing bathing suits.

Label Wilcox, Tom Dingle, Percy Pollock, Kate Pullman, June Roberts, Arthur Millar, Delano Dell, Maud Potter, Lane and Press (specialty dancers), Virginia Gray, Irving Marwick and May Vokes constitute a cast of principals that would score success anywhere.

"The World Beaters." Brimming with some fine comedy, pretty girls and stunning costumes, gorgeous scenery, electrical effects and musical numbers, comes Irons & Clamage's burlesque production, "The World Beaters," to the Star Theatre for a week's engagement, beginning Monday evening. It is entirely within our privilege to say that no better entertainment of this character will visit this popular playhouse season. Walter Brown, an eccentric comedian of exceptional talent, will bear the burden of the fun-making. Aided by Roy Loche and Harold Blodgett, Leon St. Clair, May Hamilton and other comedians, he has been plying to the feminine contingent, with the assistance of a chorus of really lovely girls, the famous "Upside-down" Dancers.

Anita Stewart at the Regent. A cast of eleven principals supports Anita Stewart in her latest production, "The Fighting Shepherdess," which comes to the Regent Theatre next week.

THE BEGINNING OF BLUE STOCKINGS

About this time it was much the fashion for several ladies to have evening assemblies, where the fair sex might participate in conversation with literary and ingenious men, animated by a desire to please. These societies were denominated Blue-Stocking Clubs, the origin of which title, being little known, it may be worth while to relate it. One of the most eminent members of those societies, when they first commenced, was Mr. Stillingfleet, whose dress was remarkably grave, and in particular it was observed that he wore blue stockings. Such was the excellence of his conversation that his absence was felt as so great a loss that it used to be said, "We can do nothing without the blue stockings," and thus by degree the title was established. Miss Hannah More has admirably described a Blue Stocking Club in her "Banishment" a poem, in which many of the persons who were most conspicuous there are mentioned. Johnson was prevailed with to come sometimes into these circles, and did not think himself too grave even for the lively Miss Monckton (now Countess of Corke), who used to have the finest "bit of blue" at the house of her mother, Lady Galway. Her vivacity enchanted the sage, and they used to talk together with all imaginable ease. —Boswell's "Life of Johnson."

The Almosts
A Fascinating Study

Nothing in sociological history, nothing in the annals of the present day can outstrip in utter pathos the records of those people whose minds "never grow up." Apart altogether from the vital public importance of this question in modern life, did you know that literature is filled with famous characters who today would be placed in this category. Barnaby Rudge, Smike, Wamba of Ivanhoe, Touchstone, Quasimodo, and a score of others. Merely to read of these celebrities provides a discursive knowledge of classical writers.

"The Almosts" ($1.75) is a book dealing with the literary history of the feeble-minded. It is written in fascinating vein by Dr. Helen MacMurchy, one of Ontario's acknowledged experts on the subject and is filled with sapient observations and references. Everyone should know the contents of "The Almosts."
