RUSSIANS SAY KUROKI IS DEAD.

He Was Killed Over a Month Ago

Said to Have Been Fatally Wounded
By a Shell at the Battle of Shakhe.

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—Nemirovitch Danchenko, the well known Russian war correspondent of the Associated Press, telegraphing from Mukden under today's date, says the reports of the death of General Kuroki are confirmed. According to his version the splinter of a shell struck General Kuroki, tearing out a portion of his breast and abdomen. He died Oct. 4 at Liao Yang and his body was sent to Japan. A rumor is persistently circulated that a kinsman of the Mikado Shikano, literally "little third prince," has been appointed to succeed General Kuroki, but the actual commander of the army has been entrusted to General Nodsu, who is reviewing operations. For the last five weeks, says Danchenko, "we have practically not advanced at any point in the whole southwestern front even a few versts. On the contrary, we at several places have been obliged to retire several versts, but the present lines of defence must be considered permanent in view of the strong fortifications constructed. The Japanese positions at several points are only eight hundred paces distant from ours and must be considered to be definitely occupied by the enemy. The latter's fortifications are acknowledged by all competent persons to be skillfully constructed."

MRS. J. R. JAGO DEAD.
Her Husband Was a Veteran of the Fenian Raid.
The death occurred yesterday in this city of Mrs. J. R. Jago, widow of the late Col. J. R. Jago, whose death occurred on December 18, 1880. Col. Jago cannot yet have passed out of the memory of the older citizens of St. John. He first came here from England in the sixties as a subaltern in the field division of the Royal Artillery. Subsequently he left the Royal Artillery and received an appointment in the Canadian militia as inspector of artillery. He took part in the Fenian raid in the Fenian force, holding the post of captain and assistant adjutant for New Brunswick. He was with the colony and returned to England in 1876.

His wife, whose demise occurred yesterday was a daughter of the late A. Mills. A son survives, J. R. Jago, ex-captain of the Fenian force and now residing near the capital.

EQUITY COURT.
Boston People Quarrel Over a Deed Made in Albert Co.

Among the cases which are to come up at this month's session of the Equity Court, which opens tomorrow, is that of Winosie vs. McKay and McKenzie, all the parties to which reside in Boston. The plaintiff is Mrs. Winosie, who brings suit against Catherine McKay and Angus S. McKenzie to set aside a deed from John Buchanan, father of the plaintiff, relating to property situated in Albert County, N. B. The plaintiff seeks to set aside the deed on the ground that her father was not legally capable of executing the deed and moreover that the deed was obtained by fraud. The case is set for trial at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

SHOT A WILD CAT.
Mark Leighton, head packer for Messrs. A. L. Goodwin, is a hunter of great prowess and J. P. Fenton Cooper were alive he would undoubtedly be made a hero of a novel. Mark went shooting on Saturday morning and returned with a wild cat. According to his fellow workers the encounter was a fierce one but the sportsman came out victorious in the end. This morning was proudly exhibiting the fierce forest beast to his friends. He will have the skin mounted.

ST. JOHN CUT OFF FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD.

Telegraph and Telephone Communication With All Points West
Cut Off—Most Damaging Storm
For Ten Years.

The trouble has probably been caused by the accumulation of ice on the wires added to the force of the gale.

The storm which is now raging arag up yesterday afternoon. At noon storm signal No. 3 was raised on the Custom House foretelling its approach. Rain commenced to fall about six o'clock in the evening, at first lightly, but increasing in quantity as the night came on. The heaviest fall of rain occurred between midnight and two o'clock this morning, when became a mixture of sleet and snow. The total precipitation up to noon today was 1.02 inches. The wind has been northeast and has increased in velocity since one o'clock this morning, ranging from 30 to 40 miles an hour, with short periods velocity attaining 45 miles. The barometer fell very rapidly and at eight o'clock this morning registered 28.69, a phenomenal drop. Since then it has been rising. The lowest temperature was at daylight this morning, when the thermometer registered 32 degrees above. At noon the thermometer was 35.

The storm appears to be fiercest in New Brunswick, as reports from Yarmouth and Halifax indicate a comparative light gale. The precipitation at Yarmouth was .74 of an inch, and at Halifax .90 of an inch. At the former place the barometer registered as low as 28.48 and at Halifax 28.58.

The train service also suffered severely by the storm. The early morning trains did fairly well but the Boston express, Atlantic and maritime express met with a peak of trouble. The Atlantic, that is the F. R. express from Montreal, arrived here a little over thirty minutes late. The maritime express was fully fifteen minutes late while up to the time of going to press the Boston train had not been heard from and it is not to be located on account of the break in the wires. It was generally thought that the wires were broken in the vicinity of the Atlantic express says that when he passed through McAdam they had no word of the Boston express there.

POLICE COURT.
Wife Beater Allowed to Go—Policeman Assaulted and Uniform Torn While Making Arrest.

One drunk arrested Sunday left a depot of $3.
Abraham Beamish and two friends were going down Brussels street about one o'clock Sunday morning when they got in trouble at the corner of Clarence street, and the result was that Beamish got locked up and has a serious charge against him. He is accused of being drunk, of resisting arrest, of assaulting the officer and of tearing his coat.
Beamish's friends put up a deposit of $10 yesterday and this morning a medical certificate was handed to his honor to the effect that Beamish was too ill to appear, so the case stands over till Wednesday. Officer Crawford, who made the arrest, says he gave the man all the chance possible to go home, but he was unable to do so. The officer's coat sleeve is badly torn.
It is understood the case will be contested.

Edward Webster, of No. 8 Gilbert's Lane, complains that Leonard S. Peters, who conducts a store at the corner of Gilbert's Lane and City road, kicked his little boy on Saturday night. The lad in question lost both feet by being run over by a train some few years ago. Peters claimed that there were a gang of boys who loitered around that corner and continually bothered him. He chased them Saturday night and the boys fell over the Webster lad. After some talk the case was allowed to stand for the present.

CHOICE LOT OF APPLES.
Messrs. A. L. Goodwin have landed and are landing today 500 barrels of No. 1 and No. 2 choice Nova Scotia apples, including Bishop Pippins, Blenheim, Ribston Pippins, Kings and Greenings. All are fine selected fruit and will be sold right to early purchasers.

UNDERWRITERS MAY REFUSE TO REDUCE FIRE RATES.
Even After Chemicals Come the Promised Cut of 15 Cents May be Denied.

The two chemical engines that were ordered by the city some months ago are long overdue, and so may be expected to reach here any day now. The stalls in the ladder station for the horses for the steamer that is to go there from No. 2 to make room for the double sixty engine were completed and are about in keeping with the bunks built for the driver and engine at the end of the billiard room. It is expected that matters will be arranged a little better in the North End.

While none of the insurance men will say anything for publication, there is a general feeling that if the present arrangement is adhered to the promised cut of 15 cents off the flat rate advance will not be given. At the time the underwriters informed the council that they would remove the 15 cents, they said that it was to be on condition that two chemicals of a standard make should be added to the present equipment and not placed, as the present intention is, in such a way as to take away from the value of several of the pieces of apparatus now in use. This, however, as well as insurance men agree, has been done, and it would not be surprising if the underwriters declined to make the cut, although, as a body, they have made no such intimation.
People who ought to know, when asked for an opinion simply laugh and say: "Wait, there is lots of fun ahead."

JAIL HOLDS HER TWO HUSBANDS

A Woman Makes Startling
Admission in Court.

Wife to James Boyd and John Curren Both of Whom are in Jail.

James Boyd, aged 23 years, was arrested Saturday night for being drunk on Union street, and thereby hangs a tale. James sat alone on the bench this morning and looked very forlorn. Near him were a woman and a little girl who looked sad and troubled. James started up when his name was called and pleaded guilty. He attempted an explanation by saying that he was on his way to a barber shop when some one struck him, but he was told to sit down and that if he did not pay a fine of eight dollars he would be sent to jail for thirty days.

"You husband, sir, and oh! please let him go!"
"Your husband," repeated his honor, in a somewhat dazed way, "why your husband, John Curren, is in jail!"
"No, sir," repeated the woman, "he is not my husband, this man is my truly lawful husband."
"Did you not live with Curren on Leinster street for some time and come here with a complaint about him?" asked his honor, and the woman replied that Curren boarded with her but she was never married to him.
Her attention was called to fact that she had made a sworn statement in court against Curren, saying she was his wife.
"The woman and child went out the door James Boyd went in to join John Curren, so according to Mrs. Curren-Boyd she has two husbands in jail."

An officer remarked in an undertone to another, "There are lots of women who have only one husband who wish they were in jail," and the reply was, "Yes and there are lots of husbands who would be willing to go there."

PILOTAGE COMMISSION
SUED FOR $20,000.

Cumberland Coal and Railway
Company Wants Dues for 12
Years Back Returned.

The adjourned sitting of the November Circuit Court was resumed this morning in the Admiralty Court room, Judge McLeod presiding. The trial of the case of the Cumberland Coal and Railway Company vs. the St. John Pilotage Commission, already commenced, was taken up. The Cumberland Coal and Railway Company, of Nova Scotia, brings this action for the recovery of pilotage fees, amounting in all to something like $20,000 paid the St. John Pilotage Commission during the past twelve years. The ground is taken by the plaintiff company that its barges, in respect of which the pilotage fees were paid, are not liable to pilotage charges, because the barges are not sailing vessels, but are virtually scoves.
The case raises an interesting point, the determination of which have an important bearing on maritime shipping. H. J. McLean appeared for the Cumberland Coal and Railway Company, and C. J. Coaker and C. N. Skinner for the St. John Pilotage Commission.
The funeral took place this afternoon of the late George S. Robertson, from 223 Douglas avenue. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. F. McKim and Rev. A. D. Dewdney. Interment was in Fernhill Cemetery.

ST. JOHN STAR. ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 14, 1904.

1893 AND 1904.

A convention of the Liberals of Ontario has been called for November 23rd by Premier Ross for the purpose of devising a platform which may float the party through the dangerous waters of the approaching elections.

In the best Liberal circles today it is not considered good form to mention that 1893 platform, by means of which the party reached power. The present generation of Liberals feel concerning it somewhat as a wealthy family feels toward an ancestor who laid the foundation of its fortunes by pocket picking.

The first plank in that memorable platform of Liberalism was a demand for "Freer Trade—Reduced Taxation." Three years later the men who constructed that plank were given the reins of government, which they have held ever since.

The second plank was "Enlarged Markets—Reciprocity." The latest Liberal deliverance was directly opposed to any reciprocity.

The third was "Purity of Administration—Condemn Corruption." The Yukon and the dog biscuit scandals, the fishery sell out, the Jackson and other little matters of recent history are worthy of mention in this connection.

Fourthly, the Liberals demanded "Strictest Economy—Decreased Expenditure." They have increased the annual expenditure of Canada from less than $45,000,000 to more than $80,000,000.

The fifth plank called for "Responsible Government—Independence of Parliament." The noble army of judges and governors and commissioners, who before their appointment were Liberal members of parliament, eloquently attested to the change of Liberal opinion on this point.

The sixth clause was "The Land for the Settler—Not for the Speculator." How it has been followed may be judged by the sudden wealth which has come to friends of the government and have been mixed up with the development of the West.

The seventh plank, "Oppose the Dominion Franchise Act—For the Provincial Franchise, and the eighth, "Against the Gerrymander—County Boundaries Should be Preserved," are still in the Liberal platform.

The tenth and last resolution of that notable 1893 convention approved Prohibition if the people of Canada should, by a plebiscite, declare in favor of it. The people so declared, but the liquor dealers have as yet had no cause to change their allegiance to the Liberal government.

So it is not difficult to understand why this platform of 1893 is not a very popular topic for discussion among Liberals today.

expression comes the trouble. Each new perception as it enters his mentality plunges into a bath of bile and every idea deduced from that and all other perceptions is stained the same greenish yellow.

His speech at Ottawa Saturday, a report of which is elsewhere in the Star, is characteristic. The time, he intimates, is sadly out of joint. It is the duty of every good citizen to try and make it better, but such trying is altogether hopeless.

We all know just what the poor man feels like, though, fortunately for the world, such internal conditions are temporary with most of us. All pessimism is wrong, or, at the best, it is only a warning to be heeded.

FALLS IN LOVE AT 78.

Judge Jarvis of New York Announces Coming Marriage.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Spruce and spry as a young man of 25, Judge Jarvis, 78 years of age, is announcing that he is meditating marriage.

The husband of the woman he met on the steamer died a year or so ago, and she wrote to the judge inquiring his assistance in adjusting the estate.

It was the first time he had heard from her since the meeting on the steamer, and closer friendship followed.

"Yes, it's true I'm in love," said the judge at his handsome home in Thirtieth street, near Avenue C.

"I wouldn't marry a young widow if she had a million dollars to bring to me."

The Filigree Ball

BY ANNA KATHERINE GREEN AUTHOR OF "THE LEAVENWORTH CASE."

Enough of this, then, for the present, only let the jury remember that the cover of this book is peculiar and that it was kept on a shelf at the right of the opening leading into the adjoining bedroom. And now, Mr. Jeffrey, we must ask you to look at these things, or, rather, at this one. You have seen it before; it is the one you placed on Mrs. Jeffrey's bed when you were married to her a little over a fortnight ago. You recognize it?

"Do you also recognize this small mark of blood on it as having been there when it was shown to you by the detective? You are not right in supposing a deeper cause for the disturbance between you than the slight one you offer in way of explanation?"

"An inaudible answer; then a sudden straightening of Francis Jeffrey's fine figure. And that was all. Mr. Jeffrey, in the talk you had with your wife on Tuesday morning Miss Tuttle's name introduced."

"The coroner, taken aback by this direct attack from one who had hitherto been all his inmost with apparent patience, lost countenance for a moment, but remembering that in his official capacity he was more than a match for the elegant gentleman, who under other circumstances he had ever noticed any similarity between the handwriting of his wife and that of Miss Tuttle."

"Miss Tuttle was Mrs. Jeffrey's half-sister. The bond between them was strong. Would she—would I—be apt to speak of my young wife with bitterness?"

"If you will recount to us anything which your wife said or did on that evening which, in your mind, was worthy of all this coil, it might help us to understand the situation."

"The appearance of this witness had undergone a change since she last stood before us. She was shamed, faded, but her manner was more resolute and a feverish determination to face the situation which could but awaken in the hearts of those who had Mrs. Jeffrey's honor and well-being at heart a nameless dread; as if they were ready for minute by minute shadow which minute by minute was slowly sinking upon a household which, up to a week ago, had been the envy and admiration of all Washington society."

WILL KEEP THE PATIENTS EMPLOYED AND AMUSED. Dr. Anglin, Superintendent of the Asylum, Does Not Put Much Faith in Drugs-- Some New Ideas Introduced.

The patients at the asylum had a dance the other night. They enjoyed it. In fact, it was such a merry gathering that they wanted another, and are going to have it on Thanksgiving evening, and once a month thereafter as long as they wish. No outside people are allowed to attend these affairs, for the patients enjoy being alone, and visitors, many of whom go there merely out of curiosity, have a disturbing effect on them.

changes without gradually leading up to them. So there has been no revolution in the asylum. There have been changes, many of them, and while it is true that they all lead to the general method of management which he has in mind, yet each in itself has been comparatively unimportant. Dr. Anglin believes in the use of drugs for treatment of mental disease, about as little as he believes in anything. He thinks it is ridiculous to attempt to restore sanity by medicines. Drugs are all right in certain cases and at certain times, but other means are in a fit-condition, are going in strongly for work and play. The patients, at least all of them who are in a fit-condition, are employed as much as possible. The women do housework and anything of a light nature that can be found for them. The men are put to work in the carpenter shop or around the grounds, and when there is nothing in particular to do they wander about the grounds, enjoying as much fresh air as possible.

WHEN LOST IN THE WOODS. For a man who is lost, the three great dangers, in order of importance, are fear, cold and hunger, writes Ernest Thompson Weston in Country Life in America. He may endure extreme hunger for a week, extreme cold for a day but extreme fear may unnerve him in an hour. There is no way of guarding against this greater danger except by assuring him that he is fortified against the other two. The method of the article was described the way of making a fire without matches, a method simple and sure once it is learned; the way to find food when one is lost in the north woods. They are usually to be found dormant in dead and hollow trees.

A SEVERE STORM Has Broken Off Telegraphic Communication in the Eastern States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—As the result of a snow storm which set in here shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, Washington tonight for several hours was completely cut off from telegraphic and telephonic communication with the outside world. ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY Has Been Ratified by the Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—Foreign Minister del Casse secured a notable triumph tonight when the chamber of deputies by an overwhelming majority ratified the Anglo-French colonial treaty, and at the same time gave parliamentary approval of his policy of a rapprochement between France and Great Britain. The vote closed a ten days' debate. The final hours brought out the vigorous opposition in behalf of the fishing interests of Britain and Normandy against the abandonment of the French shore of Newfoundland. M. Surcouf (republican) urged M. del Casse to reopen the negotiations for the purpose of getting the French fishermen the same rights for the free purchase of bait as enjoyed by the Americans. It was asserted that the French fishing interests in Newfoundland would be exterminated as the result of the treaty.

BEER CONSUMPTION. Germany Takes Third Place Among the Nations and the United States Fourth.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—France drinks the most wine and Belgium the most beer. The United States is a consumer of spirits, beer and wine runs far behind most countries. The monthly summary of commerce and finance, issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, says: "France shows the heaviest consumption of the most concentrated beverage, wine, 241 gallons per inhabitant. The other countries following in the order of their per capita consumption of spirits, are—Sweden, 213 gallons; Germany, 211 gallons; Belgium, 142 gallons; United Kingdom, 133 gallons; United States, 123 gallons; Russia, 124 gallons; and Italy, 24 gallons.

CANADIAN GRAIN TRADES. Favorable Comparison With Those of U. S. Roads by an American Agricultural Paper.

Half a dozen roads may constitute a monopoly, as well as one, and a monopoly is what the various lines penetrating our Northwest have ever maintained, especially those that cross. ARE CHILDREN STUPID. Jerome K. Jerome Has His Doubts.

"(Second Thoughts of an Idle Fellow.)" I was giving advice to a little lady who had just written me a letter in which she was asking me to tell her what she should do about her child. She had a child of five years of age, and she was asking me to tell her what she should do about her child. She had a child of five years of age, and she was asking me to tell her what she should do about her child.

TOO FOND OF OPERATIONS. A New Zealand surgeon has started a discussion of modern operative methods in surgery which has awakened great wrath in the bosoms of specialists.

A New Zealand surgeon has started a discussion of modern operative methods in surgery which has awakened great wrath in the bosoms of specialists. They resent, bitterly, this surgeon's suggestion, offered with true fraternal courtesy, that operations such as that for appendicitis, are often performed just to be a doing. For instance, attention is called to the removal of the appendix every time when an abdominal operation makes it easily accessible. To this a London specialist makes the reply that abdominal operations "may be reduced to the art of burglary. The artist in entering the house, the burglar is not satisfied with two spoons, but takes all the family plate." This attitude has been caught up again by the opposition and carried on into the subject of fees. It is strongly intimated that the surgical ideal is a hollow shell with all the organs removed by operation and the pockets inside out.

A POWERFUL AUTO. (London Chronicle).

"That'll be a powerful machine," said a native of the north of Scotland to a motorist the other day. "Yes, it's a splendid car," replied the owner, proudly. "For instance, the car like that will be nearly a hundred horse-power," suggested the countryman. "Oh, no," said the motorist, modestly. "It is only ten horse. A hundred horse-power car would be much larger." "I wasn't going by size," the Highlander explained. "I was going by the smell of it."
