U. S. OFFICIAL ON CRUISER CURLEW CAPTURES A BUNCH OF DYNAMITERS

Yankee Fisherman in Passamaquoddy Bay Were Greatly Surprised by Joint Action of Canadians and Americans—Heavy Fines Imposed

EASTPORT, July 26.—A bomb was exploded Wednesday in the camp of the pollock dynamiters of Quoddy by Sea and Shore Fisheries Commissioner James Donahue, of Rockland, who accompanied by Attorney S. T. Kimball, also of Rockland, made a quiet visit to Eastport harbor and, unsuspected by the violators of the law, sat quietly in the little fishery cruiser maintained at Campobello by the Dominion government and looted known as the "Pup" and watched the operators in the best of American boats in the bay throw the dynamite into the schools of pollock, fork the fish into the boats and send them ashore for the purpose of taking the fish ashore. For some time the "Pup" has patrolled the waters of Priests Roads, but the American fisherman had little to fear from the little Canadian cruiser so long as they remained out of Canadian waters, and when the fact became known that the commissioner himself was on board the diminutive representative of Canada's might and majesty watching their every movement consternation reigned supreme. As reported from the evidence of Attorney S. T. Kimball who was present in the dual role of prosecuting officer and chief witness for the state, that acting on complaints made of the wholesale slaughter of fish in the waters of Eastport harbor by the use of dynamite, Commissioner Donahue had made arrangements to co-operate with the Canadian fisheries department in putting a stop to the practice. Accompanied by Attorney Kimball, Commissioner Donahue proceeded quietly to the Canadian side of the line, where they boarded the Canadian cruiser Curlew and cruised about the island of Campobello on the Eastport side. After being on board the Curlew for some time on Wednesday, July 24, the commissioner and his attorney boarded the diminutive "Pup" and cruised about along the dividing waters between Eastport and Campobello. At times they were within fifty feet of the dynamiters, whose every movement they could easily observe. They made notes of the peculiarities of the various craft engaged in hanging about, and the names of the offenders were ready known to the party the task in hand was greatly simplified and they were easily identified with the Curlew, to which the party had returned for a conference, by means of a powerful marine glass used by officers of the cruiser. About 4 o'clock or thereabouts, the commissioner and Attorney Kimball again prospected the dividing line between United States and Canadian jurisdiction, and saw the American boat also approaching the imaginary line. By this time small schools of pollock were seen playing near the line, having worked considerably inside the American territory. He saw John Denbow and his mate whom he designated as the "admiral" of the dynamiting fleet, in a white boat inside the line. The American side of the line. Saw Denbow smoking a cigar and noted particularly the clothing worn by him. The cruiser was by this time within 40 feet of Denbow who, when the fish same within his reach lighted the dynamite fuse by means of the cigar which he held and threw it into the water, the explosion landing within ten feet from the end of the school, killing many fish which Denbow and his mate proceeded at once to pitch into the boat with forks. He heard Denbow warning the others that the fish were his, Denbow's, and also heard parties which came from the shore in boats receive the answer, when asked who owned the fish, that they were Denbow's. The first violation occurred at five o'clock, others following. Other fishermen besides Denbow and his mate were implicated in the violations of Wednesday and, after returning from the scene of operations, Commissioner Donahue came to Eastport and warrants issued for a number of the offenders. On Thursday morning John A. Denbow, Henry Harris and Edwin Link, were arraigned before Judge Newcomb in the municipal court charged with the offense of dynamiting fish, the penalty for which is a fine of $100 and 60 days in jail. Each respondent pleaded not guilty and was remanded for trial at 2 p. m. in order to give opportunity of securing counsel. When court convened each islander who could possibly gain admittance crowded into the court room, the case against the accused having attracted considerable attention. Mr. Kimball stated the case for the prosecution in substantially the foregoing terms, describing the location of the dividing line. He testified that Denbow threw the dynamite, gather in the fish and of their being transferred to the boats in waiting. He was positive of the location of the boats, the

DEFENDED THE NEGROES.

Major Lemaire then gives an account of his career. He was 28 years old, he says, when he first arrived in the Congo, and he at once followed the lead of all his consequent superiors. He took four years for his eyes to be open to realities. "I never have given up defending the negroes, and when I returned to Africa, I did not kill any longer, but I was merciless in regard to soldiers who had been corrupted by the rubber trade. I refused to obey them the respect of the native, and I succeeded by the infliction of punishment which today are characterized as being outside the regulations. I had to choose my punishments, either using the whip or setting the men to fire and sword on the excuse of military conquests."

THE CONGOLESE TROOPS.

Major Lemaire sketches a significant picture of the moral condition of the Congolese troops which he commanded. He recalls his mission to the Behr, Ghazal, and declares that no native ever had occasion to complain of his conduct. He understands what joy it must have given the soldiers he commanded to be able to revenge themselves upon him by their depositions before the public prosecutor who was sent from Boma. Major Lemaire's account was given on January 16 to the secretaries of the interior and of foreign affairs of the Congo State, who instructed him, says the major, to tell his story at the Hague. "I pointed out," says Major Lemaire, "that I was unpopular at Boma, the secretary of the interior and of foreign affairs of the Congo State, who instructed him, says the major, to tell his story at the Hague. "I pointed out," says Major Lemaire, "that I was unpopular at Boma, the secretary of the interior and of foreign affairs of the Congo State, who instructed him, says the major, to tell his story at the Hague."

LETTER TO THE KING.

Major Lemaire also publishes the text of a letter he addressed to King Leopold upon being informed that the command of the mission to determine the 20th meridian had been withdrawn from him. He also publishes the text of a note in which he tells how much he disliked taking measures against women in connection with the reconnaissance carried out from the Lambert Rapids to M'Volo, between December 14 and December 25, 1903. "The secretary general of the interior for the Congo, in replying to the letter addressed to the King, said: 'The government has decided not to let you go on the mission to determine the 20th meridian, for, as you have already been informed, the bench has notified its intention, should you ever be found instituting proceedings against you. This makes your mission to the Congo for the purpose of running counter to the intention of justice.' 'If the government,' adds the major, 'does not recognize my heart revolts, it ought to deprive me of my rank. The government has, however, sent me not criticisms, but congratulations.'"

Theodore Rand McNally of the New York "World" sent a special message through the city yesterday on the way to his home at Fredrickton.

A SERIES OF INHUMAN ASSAULTS EXCITE NEW YORK

LIVES WERE LOST IN LAST NIGHT'S STORM

One Man, Crazed by Fear, Took Carbolic Acid—Heavy Lightning in the Eastern States.

LOWELL, Mass., July 26.—The severest thunderstorm in years accompanied with torrents of rain, hail and wind swept over Lowell today, causing damage in and around the city. Six places were struck by lightning, in one case, knocking a woman unconscious. Wm. H. Murray became dazed by fright during the storm and drank carbolic acid. He was taken to St. John hospital, and will recover. The street car and telephone services were paralyzed during the storm.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 26.—A small cyclone which accompanied a thunderstorm here late this afternoon, did damage to the extent of about $5,000. The chimneys and portions of roofs of half a dozen houses in the vicinity of Minerva and Danvers streets were carried away, several monuments in Swampscott cemetery were blown over, bill-boards levelled to the ground and trees uprooted.

A portion of the wooden bridges at the Danvers street railroad crossing were blown into the house of James C. Lyons at 34 Essex street.

LYNNFIELD, Mass., July 26.—The electrical storm which raged in this vicinity late today was responsible for the death of Arthur W. Smith, aged thirty-five years. He was driving a grocery wagon when struck by lightning and instantly killed. His leaves a widow.

WILHELMINA BARS PLAN OF THE KAISER

Wilhelm Intended Sending Torpedo Boats up the Rhine, But Young Queen Prevents.

PARIS, July 27.—A curious story of the frustration of a novel naval display contemplated by the Kaiser is told by the Echo de Paris. In an eloquent speech delivered at Cologne the Kaiser is reported to have announced that the inhabitants of the fore the public prosecutor who was sent from Boma. Major Lemaire's account was given on January 16 to the secretaries of the interior and of foreign affairs of the Congo State, who instructed him, says the major, to tell his story at the Hague. "I pointed out," says Major Lemaire, "that I was unpopular at Boma, the secretary of the interior and of foreign affairs of the Congo State, who instructed him, says the major, to tell his story at the Hague."

Soon afterwards the German minister at The Hague called on the Dutch minister of foreign affairs and said to him: "You know about the splendid words of my august master who is going to send five or six torpedo boats up to Cologne?" "Send up! How?" asked the Dutch minister in apparent bewilderment. "Why, up the Rhine, of course."

"Oh, no, not up the Rhine," said the Dutch minister. "The mouth of the Rhine belongs to Holland, and her majesty the Queen does not intend them to be disposed of without her leave."

There was no further talk about torpedo boats, adds the Echo de Paris, which gives the story on the authority of a "distinguished Dutchman at The Hague."

ELMER LIBBY LOGATED

Hero of the Charleston Assault and Robbery Fiasco Now in McAdam Junction, N. B.

(Bangor Commercial). At last Elmer E. Libby, the would-be victim and hero of the Charleston assault and robbery fiasco has been located. John Libby, the brother, who advanced him the $700 of which he claimed to have been robbed, has received a letter from him saying that he is now at McAdam Junction in New Brunswick. He did not say that he was ever to return to Bangor and didn't mention the money.

John Libby was in Bangor Thursday and spoke of the affair to a Commercial reporter. He says there is little doubt that his brother was insane at the time of the affair. There is insanity in the family and this seems to be the logical solution of a problem that has been bothering the people of Charleston. According to his brother, Elmer owed money to different parties

Children Waylaid and Brutally Treated—One Criminal Beaten Into Insensibility by Father of Assaulted Child

NEW YORK, July 26.—The series of assaults amounting in two recent instances to murder, that Police Commissioner Bingham has been driven to explain that his army of policemen is insufficient to cope with this particular species of degeneracy. He has warned fathers and mothers not to allow their little ones to loiter in the streets. The police records show that during the past 30 days, 17 specific complaints of assaults upon girls and women have been reported in this city.

The Barish girl has been driven insane by inhuman treatment, an inkling of which was given to the police today. She became separated from a party of friends at North Beach Wednesday and that night was rescued by chance from the surt in which she was about to drown herself. She had been beaten black and blue and robbed of her clothing. Driven insane through suffering, she sought her rescuers and only with difficulty was placed in restraint. The girl was taken to the Kings County hospital. There she told a pitiful story of assault. Attacked by a gang of nine roughs she was left in a state that to her frenzied mind suggested only suicide. It is a question whether she can recover.

Little Annie Falkowenko, of Staten Island, went to meet her father and fell in with another man. She suffered a brutal attack and is under the care of a physician, Joseph Novitski, a steamship fireman, 34 years of age, and whom the child accused, is said to be arrested.

A third case today cannot be said to be wholly unpunished. When Dennis O'Shea, of Harlem, heard the screams of his infant daughter, he did not wait to notify the police, but promptly beat Jack Neuman, aged 32 years into unconsciousness.

When he came to, Neuman was held with a fit and was removed to Bellevue Hospital critically ill.

MINER MURDERED IN EXPRESS TRAIN

Passenger Awakened by Dead Body of Victim Falling Against Him.

PARIS, July 27.—A Spanish miner, named Jose Nadam was murdered in the Toulouse-Bascones express train last night under mysterious circumstances. The train was travelling at between forty and fifty miles an hour, when one of the passengers in the next compartment to that in which Nadam had been travelling was awakened out of sleep by the body of Nadam falling against him. There was a great wound in the throat, in which a knife was still sticking. It was evident that Nadam had been attacked, and had just strength enough left to drag himself into the next compartment.

The passenger rushed out into the corridor and shouted for help, but it was too late. As he entered the corridor, he was just in time to see a man take a flying leap out of the train. The train was quickly pulled up, but although the line was thoroughly searched, the mysterious assailant had vanished.

SANDY'S NARROW ESCAPE.

"An' hoo's the guld wife, Sandy?" said one farmer to another as they met in the market place and exchanged snuff-boxes. "Did ye no hear that she's dead an' buried?" said Sandy solemnly. "Dear me!" exclaimed his friend sympathetically. "Surely it must have been very sudden?" "Aye, it was sudden," returned Sandy. "Ye see, when she turned ill we had no time to send for the doctor, so I gied her a bit pouther I had lying in my drawer for a year or two an' that I had got frae the doctor's hand, but she didn't recover. What the pouther was I dinna vera veel ken, but she died soon after. It's a sair loss to me, I can assure ye, but I've something to be thankful for I didn't tak' the pouther myself."

and was involved to the extent of about $4,000. He had been buying western horses and had invested extensively in land and other property in Charleston and it is thought that this unbalanced his mind. When he wrote to his brother John from McAdam Junction he said that he had lost all account of the date and did not know what day it was.

REVOLUTION IN PORTUGAL IS ONLY A MATTER OF TIME

Military Dictatorship Now Prevails and the Unrest Among the People is Steadily Increasing.

LISBON, July 27.—Everywhere the question is being asked as to when the Portuguese revolution is going to break out in full earnest. But that question can only be answered by turning to the general principles. Portugal today is being governed by a Military Dictatorship led by King Carlos, and his trusted Prime Minister and friend, Senor Franco. In the capital of Lisbon, at Coimbra, the seat of the University, at Coimbra, the beauty summer resort of the wealthy, and in fact through all the chief centres of population, a state of siege has been declared as the most effective means of enforcing the rule of the Dictatorship. On paper this looks more serious than it really is—more serious than actual practice. It means that the law which in Portugal corresponds to the Habeas Corpus Act in English speaking countries has been suspended, and that persons are charged on political grounds may be dealt with by summary procedure of a military court, or shut up out of harm's way without the pretense of a trial at all. The surface indications of this state of affairs are not however very apparent even to the casual on-looker. Certainly there are no military uniforms to be seen just now in the streets of Lisbon than during ordinary times, the public buildings, the markets, the fire brigade stations are undisturbed, and one meets detachments of armed soldiers and military marching and countermarching through the streets in odd intervals throughout the entire twenty-four hours of the day. But on the other hand, business is going on as usual; the social life in all of the cities is just as gay, as free and as carefree as it always has been, in the lower quarters also the people go about their usual avocations and carry their wondrously patched clothes and their extreme poverty in the manner in which they have no apprehensions that they are living over a political earthquake—just as though the word revolution had never been mentioned from one end of the land to the other.

It may be taken for granted that the well dressed habits of the Cafe Suisso are the real fermenters of the trouble and they are divided into so many parties and factions and fractions of parties that it would be extremely difficult to gather together twenty-five of them who could agree upon any particular line of policy. Under these circumstances it is of course inevitable that the pressure must find relief somewhere. And the pressure in the main has found a vent in mobs, sacking and looting the various cafes and restaurants, the Suisso, the headquarters of the conspirators, in the list of restaurants which included suffered severely. Certain dark hints are being thrown out as to what may take place in December next, but no justification may be found for saying that period as the date for the settlement of all things Portuguese. Meanwhile the King, who is openly pronounced a traitor and a gutton, appears to be enjoying life and one might also say appears to be enjoying the revolution. It gives him something new to think about and detracts from the monotony of things.

GOVERNMENT MEETING.

Premier Robinson passed through the city last evening on his return from the government meeting at Fredericton. He discussed at some length the colonization branch now being organized by the government. The premier states that the branch has been formed with a view of keeping the young men of the province from emigrating to the west, and of encouraging settlers who come to the large areas of land in the northern section of the province. The colonization branch will be under the control of the department of agriculture.

A resolution was passed at the meeting ordering that flags be hoisted on the government buildings here on five days. The resolution was passed at the suggestion of St. George's Society. An order in council was passed apportioning the usual grants to the provincial hospitals.

ST. JOHN'S, N.B., July 26.—It was learned today that the sudden return of Sir Wm. MacGregor, governor of Newfoundland, from his outing on the west coast of the island, was due not only to the cabinet crisis precipitated by the resignation of Attorney General Morris, but also developments in the herring fishery dispute. Important dispatches have passed between the British colonial office and the governor. It is understood here that the American state department insist that American fishermen must be protected by the Newfoundland authorities within the treaty waters.

FREE TRADE LAUDED BY GERMAN EDITOR

BERLIN, July 26.—The Berliner Tageblatt, the organ of the Berlin radicals, contains a remarkable article dealing with the returns of British trade for the first six months of this year. At no time, says the article, have the trade returns of any people shown such remarkable figures, never have the defenders of free trade had such a splendid justification, never have the gloomy valuations of protectionist pessimists been so completely proved to be false. The result can only strengthen the government, which has elected to maintain free trade against protectionist tariffs. Protection has received a severe blow. The article goes on to show that not only is an extraordinary growth noticeable in imports, but in exports as well. Here the growth is simply without parallel. With regard to imports, no protectionist can extract comfort from an examination of the figures, for the increase in the imports is most marked in those items which England receives raw for further manufacture and export, such as cotton and wool, oil, skins, wood, ore, etc. These figures, says the article, in conclusion, testify to the success of free trade as the basis of the economic policy of Great Britain. The figures are a clear refutation of protectionist nostrums.

"HE WHO KEEPETH HIS TONGUE"

An old fashioned minister was visiting his son in New York recently and was taken to a fashionable church for the Sunday morning service. The pastor is a young man of great culture, but evidently his oratorical efforts did not greatly impress the visitor, for when they were walking homeward the son remarked approvingly: "That was a good sermon, an excellent sermon. The congregation like Dr. Blank very much."

THE CHAIRMAN'S BREAK.

Senator Moses E. Clapp, of Minnesota, made a speech at Erin Corners, in his state, says the Saturday Evening Post. His audience was very unfriendly. They howled at the gigantic Clapp, laughed at him, threw things at him and made it most uncomfortable. Finally Clapp stopped and looked at the chairman. "Don't mind them Mose," said the chairman. "Go right ahead. They're nothing but loafers and rowdies. None of the decent people would come.

NEW DENATURED ALCOHOL RULES

To Take the Place Sept. 1 of the Regulations in Force at Present.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Amended denatured alcohol regulations have been issued by the commissioner of internal revenue to take the place on Sept. 1 of the regulations heretofore issued and are made necessary by the act passed by the last Congress.

Under the new regulations, in addition to denaturing warehouses on distillery premises, central denaturing warehouses may be constructed at such points as business interests may require and alcohol may be transferred from distilleries to such warehouses by means of tanks or tank cars to consumers.

Manufacturers being completely denatured alcohol are not required to swear to application for permit, and a permit when secured continues in force until revoked, and retail dealers in denatured alcohol are not required to keep a record of any kind.

Industrial or farm distilleries may produce alcohol from anything that contains fermentable matter. At these distilleries one room may be used as a combined cistern, distillery warehouse and denaturing warehouse.

Industrial distilleries are divided into two classes. In the first class are placed distilleries of a surveyed capacity of 60 proof gallons or less of spirits in 24 hours.

At such distilleries store keeper gauges are not regularly assigned unless the collector certifies that in his opinion the presence of an office at a particular distillery is necessary.

Distilleries of the second class are those that produce more than 50 gallons in less than 30 gallons of distilled spirits daily. At distilleries of this class an officer will be regularly assigned unless the collector shall certify that the distillery can safely operate without one.

Manufacturers using specially denatured alcohol, under the new regulations are relieved from keeping a record of the goods in the manufacture of which.

FAKIR HAD MUCH SUCCESS WITH NORTH OF ENGLAND FOLK

Amazing Credulity Displayed by His Victims — He Finally Landed in Jail — A Single Tax Campaign in Progress.

GLASGOW, July 27.—From the north of England comes a story of the amazing credulity of the masses as well as the fairer sex—a story which has actually caused amazement here in Scotland. It was not regarded as possible that the North of England people could be so ignorant in regard to Scottish affairs.

According to the accounts received here George Mosely, a young man of pleasing appearance was placed under arrest on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. And even the preliminary examination was of such a character that his own solicitor described him "a liar of great ferocity and picturesqueness."

Robert Groves, a bird dealer of Ancoats said Mosely told him that he could "make" him "a fair" member of a Scottish club and high lieutenant of Scotland. Mosely described himself as the hero of many prize-fights and even went so far as to appoint Groves as his trainer. Acting on these representations Groves handed his business over to Mosely and also gave him considerable money.

The ceremony of election to the club was gone through in secret and all of the supposed rites were observed except that of burning or branding the body, this being waived as a special consideration of Groves having a scar on his face which could be counted as a burn.

Groves provided Mosely with the best of foods while he was training for a forthcoming prize fight and also boxed with him daily to keep him in training. The fact that he persisted in eating so much in the way of spring lamb and new potatoes and drinking the finest of wines and the oldest of ales while it did not arouse the suspicion of the poor dupes did arouse the suspicion of one of the neighbors who knew enough about the training of prize-fighters to know that this was hardly the best way to go about it.

SUBJECTS WILL NO LONGER PROSTRATE THEMSELVES WHEN APPROACHING KING

LONDON, July 27.—King Chulalongkorn of Siam, who was recently made a Doctor at the College at Oxford because of his excellence as an educator and liberator of his people, has abolished in his Kingdom the custom of prostrating one's self in the presence of His Majesty. The photo shows how his subjects had to approach him when he was a boy, 44 years ago.

SKETCH OF CONDITIONS WHICH HAVE LED TO THE GREAT STRIKE IN AFRICA

Difficulties on the Rand Which May Become of Imperial Importance --- An Appeal for Financial Aid for the Miners.

JOHANNESBURG, July 27.—Since it appears that an appeal for financial aid on behalf of the Rand strikers is now being prepared, an explanation of the existing situation possesses unusual interest. Beyond this the effect of the strike on the politics not only of the Transvaal, but the largest politics of the United Kingdom, is likely to make this strike prove a matter of Imperial moment. The strike came probably as a greater surprise to South African opinion than to that of the United Kingdom which has probably commenced to regard these periodic disputes as necessary evils of industrialism. Yet in the twenty odd years which have passed since the Witwatersrand Reef first began to be exploited, it is only fair to say that there has been an almost complete absence of the special kind of trouble. Not only has there been no lock-out on anything like the present scale, but the one or two disputes which have taken place in the individual mines have been too diminutive and short-lived to attract more than a passing and local attention. To the older inhabitants in particular, who have often looked askance at the new Johannesburg which came out of the war the rapid development of what looked like a general strike came with the peculiar force of a bolt from the blue, and they ascribed the whole trouble to poison "introduced by the Australian agitator," or to obscure political intrigues. The long immunity from disturbance which the Reef had enjoyed was in itself the result of perfectly natural conditions. A combination of high wages, a limited amount of skilled labor, and an industry which is in nearly all cases a sound paying concern, and in many cases an extremely profitable one, is usually not likely to lead to strikes.

Johannesburg has been a very expensive place for the miners to reach, and in this way a small body of Cornish men soon secured a practical monopoly of the labor market. The sums made out of the mines by the capitalist investors were at least sufficient to make them unwilling to scruple too closely the "two-fold" aspect of their industry or to commit themselves to a struggle which would be highly inconvenient with men, whom it might be almost impossible to replace, even when the cost of living went down as it did with a rush after the war, wages were still calculated on the same old basis. The conditions which resulted were peculiar. The work of the white man underground is by courtesy called skilled; it consisted mainly in directing the placing of the blasting holes and supervising the natives, who, whether as hammer boys or helpers with the machine, actually drilled the holes. Any man can obtain a blasting certificate and so qualify as a skilled miner within six months; an intelligent man could get his certificate in a matter of days, and so qualify almost entirely in the placing of the holes and since nearly all of the work done on the contract system, one may be earning $100 a month and another less than $25.

It is no exceptional thing for these mine workers to receive from $200 to $300 a year each. Yet the average wage is only about $180 a year. Such a difference in wages throws a lurid light on the relative efficiency of a great number of the white workers. Yet even the lower wage of $125 to $150 a year is really extremely high for what is a low form of skilled trade. Many educated men in Johannesburg do not receive as much, and are forced to expend vast sums more. The common necessities of life are not the dear items in the Transvaal. A miner not given to going "sprees" could live pretty comfortably in his quarters or boarding house, and buy all else that he needed for $60 a month. He would thus be able to save on an average over $100 a year if he were really expert in his work. He could of course save a good deal more. The work is of course unhealthily but perhaps not more so than the average mining ventures over the world. However, a miner cannot continue at it for more than five or six or seven years without considerable risk.

READY FOR FEAST, GIRL KILLS HERSELF

Miss Kaufman Dies Shortly After Taking Poison at Elberon.

It is Declared She Took Disinfectant in Mistake for Medicine—Father Rushes Back From Pittsburg in Special Train.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 26.—Prepared for a luncheon in her honor, Miss Irene Kaufman, nineteen years old, one of this season's debutantes, killed herself today at the country residence of her parents, in Ocean Grove, N. J., by taking poison. There is nothing to indicate that the poison was taken with suicidal intent. Miss Kaufman was the only child of Dr. Henry Kaufman, a wealthy dry goods merchant, who is a member of the firm of Kaufman Brothers, of Pittsburg. She came to South Elberon early in the season with her mother. A reception given by Mrs. Kaufman on July 5 for the purpose of introducing her daughter into society was one of the most important of the social events the cottage colony has had this season. After that event she received many invitations to social affairs.

On the way back Mrs. Kaufman and all of the others, with the exception of Miss Kaufman, stopped at the Deal Casino. Miss Kaufman complained during the morning of being indisposed and said she would go home in the automobile. When she arrived at the cottage she told her maid that she was feeling ill, and said she would take medicine. Leaving the maid, Miss Kaufman went to a room on the second floor for the medicine. A few minutes later the maid heard the young woman scream and running upstairs found her mistress lying on a bed.

A physician found the young woman still breathing, and while he was applying antidotes, Dr. C. C. Seiler, of the Hollywood Hotel, and Dr. Edwin Sternberg arrived. Shortly afterward the young woman died without having regained consciousness. The physicians found she had taken several ounces of a dog disinfectant that contained a large proportion of carbolic acid. Coroner McDonald, of Ashbury Park, after an investigation, recorded the case as accidental poisoning.

When Mrs. Kaufman returned from the Deal Casino she learned of her daughter's death and was prostrated and her condition tonight is serious. Mrs. Kaufman had gone to Pittsburg early this morning, and he was notified by telegram. He, with other relatives, engaged a special train on the Pennsylvania Railroad and will reach here early tomorrow morning.

WAKING UP TO THE NEED OF A TRAIN FERRY SERVICE

English and Irish Capitalists Realize What Has Been Done in America — A Plan to Cross the Irish Channel.

DUBLIN, July 27.—There is being organized a scheme for the institution of a train ferry system between Stranraer and Larne which ought to prove of especial interest to American railway men. The central idea of the train ferry service between the two points is to obviate the necessity at present experienced of passengers leaving the train for the short cross-channel passage. Sir William White, K. C. B., and the late director of naval construction and one of the foremost authorities on all questions associated with ship building problems, has reported upon its practicability from the standpoint of the project being included among the private bill schemes for the next session of parliament. That there is no obstacle from the point of view of design or construction is easily demonstrated and experts declare that there is little doubt but that the project would be speedily favored by the public. Harbor protection works for the ferry, it is stated, could easily be provided. Indeed, the geographical conditions are believed to be more favorable than elsewhere at other points, and it is believed that the success of the scheme in application would result in its adoption at other points of the coast for the Channel and the Irish Sea traffic.

Experts say that it is surprising that the train ferry system has not long since been adopted in view of applications on the continent and in America. The idea was suggested many years ago by Messrs. Inglis's firm to Mr. afterwards Sir John Fowler, and declared by the reports to be to have a counterweight bridge hinged on the shore end supported at the other end by a pontoon. The length of the bridge is to be about 1,000 feet, and the tide so as to minimize the gradient at the maximum high and low waters. There are three common methods of fastening the cars in the ferries, but usually two are adopted. Brakes are set up on each car to check the wheels and the cars are secured by chains fixed to eyebolts on the deck and passed round the axle truck or coupler. In tidal waters the boats are of considerable size and power like that recently completed at Pointhouse. Thus one of the Southern Pacific boats is reported as being 425 feet long and 115 feet, 8 inches beam, with a gross tonnage of 2,549 tons.

The specialists who are looking into the subject report that the ferry from Ladington to Mantowick on Lake Michigan is about the same distance as the Stranraer and Larne crossing—fifty-six miles—and there the recently built twin-screw ferry in 350 feet long, 56 feet beam with triple expansion engines of 2,500 h. p. to give fifteen knots. In the Irish service twelve to thirteen knots is considered inadequate, and as Sir William White points out, any higher speed would involve a fuel expenditure as the vessel was to be of bluff form. Indeed the report shows that the great majority of American ferries do not exceed ten knots speed. The average cost of ferrying one car per mile is about 2 s., the highest being 5s. 8d., and the lowest 61-2d. This variation is of course due to the volume of traffic. Thus the lowest rate is returned by a company which has sixty-seven vessels and carries 2,000 cars per day. The next -31-2 per car per mile—is by another busy ferry system. Quick handling at the terminus is also an important element in the cost. The prices given are for large capacity wagons so that the cost per ton per mile is very small—much less than it would be were it necessary to "break bulk" at both ports.

A $100,000,000 BABY.

If Law Suits are Successful Boy Will Get This Sum.

DENVER, Col., July 26.—Frenzsen, Jr., born on July 4, although he has not yet been given a first name by his goting father and mother, Charles G. F. Frenzsen and Mrs. Lulu Frenzsen, will be worth, if litigation now pending is successful $100,000,000. As this is the first $100,000,000 baby the mother and father ever had and the first one ever to be born in Denver, the parents are very proud of their offspring.

Denver, have much documentary evidence dating back to the beginning of the last century by which they hope to prove their claim to the Girard millions and break the Girard will.

All this evidence is in the hands of Attorneys Valle and Waterman, in the Equitable building, who have the case of the Denver heirs in charge. If Attorneys Valle and Waterman are successful in breaking the Girard will they will ask an accounting of all the earnings of the estate for nearly 100 years from the city of Philadelphia and the share of the Frenzsen baby, with accruing interest up to the time he reaches his majority can be conservatively estimated at $100,000,000.

TWO RUSSIAN LIBEL SUITS.

Black Hundred Paper Attacked by Catholics — Finland's Governor Angry.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 26.—Two libel actions of peculiar interest will come before the St. Petersburg courts shortly. One is brought by M. Sventitsky against the editor of the Russkoe Smerka a Black Hundred (Reactionist) newspaper, for publishing a statement that the Catholic Benevolent Society, which is connected with the chief Catholic Church in St. Petersburg, and of which Sventitsky is president, is engaged in assisting the Poles to prepare for an armed rising in an attempt to overthrow the existing regime and to take the life of the Emperor.

RUSSIAN REGIMENT IN OPEN REVOLT

ST. PETERSBURG, July 26.—While Emperor Nicholas was reviewing the troops encamped at Krasnoye-Selo on Wednesday, the Semenovskiy regiment refused to participate in the manoeuvres and broke up the order of parade. They demanded the retirement, and their command of General Rieder, who with General Min, whom Rieder succeeded as commander of the regiment, when Min was assassinated at Peterhof in August of last year, ruthlessly put down the Moscow uprising in December, 1905. The regiment was immediately dismissed from parade, and its barracks searched. Much illegal literature was found and four soldiers of the regiment were placed under arrest.

EMIGRATION FROM VICTORIA

Farmers Give up Holdings and Seek New Australian Homes.

SYDNEY, July 26.—For some months there has been a steady outflow of the agricultural population of Victoria. Farmers are giving up their holdings and are seeking new lands and new homes in New South Wales and Queensland. It is no uncommon thing to read in the newspapers of fifty and sixty departures daily or even more.

LAKE CHAMPLAIN DISCOVERY.

Quebec to Join With Vermont and New York States in the Event. ALBANY, July 25.—The New York State Commission and a commission from the State of Vermont, appointed to meet a commission to be appointed from the Province of Quebec, to arrange plans for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain next year, conferred with Governor Hughes today. Walter H. Crockett, of St. Albans, the secretary of the Vermont commission, was present. It was decided that a meeting of the two commissions which have already been appointed shall be held about the middle of next month at Bluff Point, Lake Champlain, when tentative plans will be made. Quebec has not appointed a commission as yet, but the province is expected to appoint representatives shortly. It is proposed to have the celebration open on July 4, next year, and extend to July 14.

A Few of the Graceful Warm Weather Negliges

EVER the most bitter de-tester of lounging garments could be expected to relax from her rigid adherence to boned waists and stiffly starched collars, it is during the hot hours when the dogdays are upon us. The woman who all through August keeps "dressed up," as the children say, even on brooding afternoons, has a courage of her convictions that may be praiseworthy, but must be unprofitable.

Fortunately the majority of women are not stoups as regards negliges, but luxuriate in them at every opportunity, appreciating the soft fall of their beauty and convenience alike.

This is a particularly good time of the year to make up one or more lounging gowns, since beautiful fabrics are much reduced in price. As a rule, soft materials are preferred, such as handkerchief linen, dotted swiss, mull, dimities and fine lawns.

Many women like the silk neglige, or, at least, a lining of colored silk under lingerie materials. China silk is the best kind for this purpose, as it washes almost as well as cotton or linen fabrics. Certain very elaborate negliges are made up in liberty silk, but they require professional cleaning. The fine possibilities in delicate color, also make very attractive lounging gowns.
Nothing, however, quite takes the place of the cotton materials for real service.

Negliges are lovelier this season than for some summers past. They are also built on simpler lines, as a rule, with more thought given to the cut and general usefulness than to elaborate decoration of lace, embroidery and ribbon. Most of them show the Japanese influence as to the sleeves and long shoulder line.

One dainty short sacque of white dotted swiss, with a shallow yoke of allover valenciennes coming down over the shoulders, has the bottom cut in deep oval tabs, edged with narrow lace and insertion, slashed almost to the bust line and a slightly less distance in the back.
The lower bell sleeves are formed of similar overlapping tabs.

Another graceful little house sacque, of the semi-fitting form that many women like to wear for breakfast, is made of secondpleated figured dimity or organdie, edged down the front and around the bottom and sleeves with valenciennes lace and insertion. The rounding sailor collar is of shaped strips of valenciennes insertion with a border of Cluny medallions edged with valenciennes lace. Instead of the ribbon around the waist, the fulness is sewed into a drooping belt of the medallions.

A pretty long neglige, of white figured lawn, with a pale yellow rose spray running through it in semi-empire style. The deep schu-shaped collar, edged with valenciennes lace, with an inner row of insertion about two inches away across at the bust line, is brought under the arms and hooks just below the shoulder blades at the back.

The negliges drawn today by Jeannette Hope are even more simple yet have a French air that is very distinctive.
Very quickly and easily could the first short dressing sacque at the left be made by any woman who can sew even moderately well. It is made of white dotted swiss with a yoke of handkerchief linen, edged with a hand-embroidered motif, and with a two-inch wide valenciennes insertion, that also borders the entire garment. The sleeves are merely two lace-edged ruffles.
The slope of this little neglige is particularly graceful. The yoke may also be of the swiss, or of fine allover embroidery. A lining of pale blue or pink China silk would be found both useful and effective for cooler days.
Very new and Frenchy is the next model of pale blue batiste or lawn, edged with cream-colored Cluny insertion or a fine batiste embroidery. The material is cut almost a dolman shape, tucked on the shoulders, with long pointed fronts, a quite short back coming little below the waist line, and the season's favorite big armholes. The graceful sleeves are of three circular ruffles, edged with the insertion.

With this neglige is worn a plain, full skirt of the lawn, which makes a very dainty and cool costume for house wear on a hot day. The girdle is of soft pink ribbon.

Very new and practical is the next model of sheer handkerchief linen, embroidered by hand around the edges in a simple scallop and dot. The sleeves and sacque are cut in one piece. They hand-run tucks on the front and shoulders give a slight added fulness. If one does not embroider, or does not care to take the time for such work, a small tulle or pleating of lace might be substituted for the scalloped edge.

Extremely graceful is the long neglige of pale green lawn, with its high Empire ribbon girde drawn through bodice. The pointed collar is hand-embroidered and edged with lace insertion, while the sleeve, shaped to the elbow, has a padded ruffle of the kind formerly called "angel wings."

This model would be equally good for winter in the soft wash flannel in pale pink, blue or lavender. Ribbon should be substituted for the lace when flannel is used.

With their short negliges the French women wear specially made petticoats of lawn with ruffles of lace, and underneath an adjustable flounce of tulle.

A long neglige can usually be made from ten or twelve yards of material, while the short ones require three and a half to four yards, according to the fulness.

Paris Notes

WASHABLE tulle is now being much used for dresses, which are just about as serviceable as the lingerie gown, while much more novel. This airy fabric is also seen in guimpes, undersleeves and the new draped fichus.

Another summer novelty is muslin painted with large garlands of blossoms or large single flowers, the favorite being roses of every size and shade.

How about a long coat in Wat-teau style of very fine black muslin, elaborately embroidered? Worn over a white gown, the Parisienne has discovered, these transparent coats are very charming.

The economical woman who is hard on her gloves will be glad to hear of a novelty that will lessen the expense of the long ones, which are constantly growing longer. This is an adjustable top of fine lace, which may be easily transferred to new short gloves as the old pair grow too soiled to be used.

Vails with large spots embroidered in relief in the tulle itself are much in vogue. The favorite colors are brown and holland, two shades particularly good for the complexion.

Though from America comes word that more colors are being used this season than for several summers past, over there white seems in greater favor than ever, especially in white voile or plumetis.

Colored valenciennes allover is quite a novelty in blouses. Dyed naturally, but none the less lovely for that.

The fabrics most in favor at present are marquisette, foulard, linen, supple tulle and especially tulle dyed or in the natural shade.

A novel trimming for all kinds of summer dresses consists of bands of white or narrow printed chints in every shade.

Long, loose, enveloping cloaks have become very popular, and are frequently made of the same material as the gown they protect. For instance, one of the most noted elegants was recently seen wearing a wrap of the shawl persuasion (which is the latest of fashion's fancies), made of light-weight cloth, of a vivid pink shade, falling in one long point at the back and two equally long in front. It lay perfectly flat on the shoulders and the arms. The princess dress beneath it was of the same material, the skirt long and clinging. The hat worn with it was of fine dark green straw, the rather high crown simply draped with emerald green ribbon and two large black ostrich feathers, separated in front by a buckle, the tips brought forward so as to fall slightly over their above the face.

NECKWEAR FOR UP-TO-DATE WOMEN

THERE is no doubt about it, the season's neckwear requires Rooseveltian intervention if every woman of us all is not to be financially ruined.

She who can resist the temptation of the stocks and strips, the turnovers and ties, the frills and fan-pleatings with which my lady may adorn herself, as a will power un-femininely abnormal.

Firstly, be it said, the tailored collar of heavy embroidered linen, while as much, if not more worn than ever, no longer is without rivals in the field. Foremost among them is the top of soft embroidery on a stiff starched band. This is good news to the woman who finds the others warm and uncomfortable.

Very dainty are these soft turnover collars, too. One beauty, seen recently, had an upper part worked in a hand-embroidered floral design, and was finished with a deep edge of hand crochet. Another had a buttonholed edge, and a vine motif in broderie Anglaise, combined with inserts of Eyal embroidery in the center and at each corner.

If you want a specially striking heavy linen turn-down collar that will give an air to the plainest shirtwaist, choose one of these embroidered in three rows of fine buttonholed scallops, one above the other at graduated distances apart. In the center of each scallop is an embroidered white dot outlined in the new Delft blue.
Both scallops and dots decrease in size with the succeeding rows, the lowest one being a coin dot.

Fortunately for the woman who realizes that true comfort in summer lies in a cool neck, the soft sheer lingerie collars are regaining the prestige so recently threatened.

One effective set of collar, cuffs and strip is of fine Swiss insertion, with rounded points and edged with narrow Cluny lace. Another similar set is of narrow bands of blind embroidery, studded with large pearl buttons and edged with knife pleatings of batiste, outlined with valenciennes lace.

Fagoting is much in evidence in all the newest neckwear, and is applied in many different ways. The simplest is to have a plain or tucked collar of sheer batiste, with a quarter of an inch fold fagoted all around it. Through the center of the collar run several shallow appliques of heavy lace. One of the pleated frills or ruchings outline the top, while a tiny bow of insertion gives a dainty finish.

These fagoted bands are much used to outline shaped collars of heavy Irish or Cluny lace. One specially attractive collar in the former lace was fastened with tiny linen buttons and loops, and had an inch long strip on the right side through which was slipped dainty jabot ties.

Another shaped collar of fine Irish crochet had drawn work motifs in the upper part, mixed with fagoting, while at the bottom ran an inch-wide heading of German valenciennes, through which light blue moire ribbon was drawn, tied in a tiny bow in front.

Even more fetching was a stock, on which Cluny lace was drawn three-quarter inch wide was arranged in a Walls-of-Troy pattern, the upper part connected by four rows of fagoting, a band of which ran around the entire collar. Blue moire ribbon ran through the insertion.

Other attractive stocks with short pointed or rounded tabs are made of fine handkerchief linen, with more or less elaborate designs in hand embroidery and deep inserts of Irish hand crochet in the center of the upper half. One such stock had a tiny buttonholed edge and heavily padded coin dots as a border.

The separate jabots worn with the lingerie stocks are varied and fascinating. Most of them are of handkerchief linen or batiste, usually trimmed with a narrow Cluny or crochet edging. One fascinating fin-pleated model had an edge of exquisitely fine eyelet-embroidery, outlined with half-inch Irish lace with two strips of the insertion running down the middle and across the bottom in points.

Equally effective was a fan-pleated jabot of batiste with turned back shaped pieces of the material finished in a fine buttonholed stitch and hand embroidery. The bottom had a two-inch border in fine hand crochet.

Other ties for the linen collar or stock are made of a doubled straight tucked strip with pointed ends and cluny medallions in the four corners, the whole tie edged with narrow lace to match.

Another simple and easily made jabot, had two knife-pleated tails of handkerchief linen, outlined with a very simple hand crochet that even a novice could make. The ends of these tails were cut with a slope of about three inches from the inner to the outer panel. Both slanted in the same direction.

A specially dainty tie for a woman whose face is too round to stand a rufflet is cut like a double wedge, narrow at the middle, where it folded over. The ends were shaped like a keystone, while through the center ran a delicate spray of hand embroidery in several tones of lavender.
The lines had crocheted around it a rather intricate border in a very fine linen thread. Any woman who crochets at all can originate simple stitches for these crocheted stock borders, or many knitting books give explicit directions.

A novel little butterfly was of knife-pleated batiste, doubled back or itself on each side, with a quarter inch hem of light blue batiste fagoted to it.

With the plainer collars are worn tiny silk butterfly bows or the narrow silk tie. A very new little tie that can be bought in most shades is made of two strips of liberty satin or faille three and a half inches wide and three inches long and nine inches long when finished.
These bands are knotted around two tiny loops and are then drawn down three and a half inches, and knotted a second time with one loop an inch and a half deep and two pointed ends, finished with three rows of stitching. This tie is provided with a double safety pin, by which it may be pinned through the collar.

FASHION HINTS

THE short, stout woman must remember that the ultrashort skirt is not for her, unless she is willing to look very much stunted. If she prefers style and comfort to a graceful appearance, at least she must avoid the band trimming, which still further reduces the apparent height.

While long skirts, that must be lifted, are again in vogue, the petticoat is receiving more consideration than for some time past. Never have they been lovelier or more fluffy. Those for evening wear are two yards long and fine handwork. They are costly, but many of them may be picked up as late in the season as this for less than half their original price.

The feature of this summer will be the real lace blouse. Every Parisienne of taste will wear these exquisite filmy chemisettes with their tailor costume, together with a white waist-belt, fastened with a broad square or oval gold buckle.
Blouses made of entredeux of alternate strips of Craponne lace, Cluny or ordinary gimpure, are very charming. Of course, Irish point and Venetian point are ultra-fashionable, and will continue to be so all the year.

A favorite model for foulards or soft-figured lawns has the bodice built on the simplest lines in V-shaped or surplice drapery, with no trimming, but a chemisette and undersleeves, either of embroidered muslin or sheer tucked lawn or linen.

With the sheer summer frock two outlines are generally worn.

It is a good idea to wear the under one wrong side out. Thus, when the dress and skirts are lifted the lace or embroidery ruffles will show in a pretty fluffy effect, instead of the plain muslin underdruffe, as happens when both petticoats are worn in the usual way.

When one does not have a skirt with a paneled front, a plain gored front is often trimmed with buttons and loops. This adornment sometimes goes to the bottom of the skirt, on both sides; at other times it extends a little below the hips.

Many of the new silks show an undertone of one color with a distinctly different shade on top. They are not the changeable silks we once knew, but appear a solid tint until some change in light and shade will suddenly transform them to quite a different color. This effect is also noticeable in the new woolen and cotton fabrics, many of which are blended in one.

A lingerie parasol, handsome from its absolute simplicity, is of fine linen, with a broad hemstitched border and a large, heavily padded monogram on one side.

Hats quite as much as gowns show two tones, and many of the net crowns are draped over a foundation of quite a different shade.
Even the feathers show the same influence, and one of the decided novelties of the year are the long ostrich plumes shot with two widely different colorings, so that as the light falls on them it is impossible to say definitely what their colors really are.

FORMER ST. JOHN MEN DROWNED LAKE ONTARIO

Leonard and Frank Daley, Well Known Here Go Down to Death With Several Companions--Motor Boat Capsized Within a Few Feet of the Shore--Only One Man Saved.

St. John, Ont., July 26.—The launch Dalvine, containing ten young men from Toronto Junction, was capsized about 2 o'clock this morning. Only one of the occupants, Geo. Shields, aged 20, of Vanhorne street, is alive.

How did the accident occur? he was asked. "Well, we had all been at the island and started to return home in the yacht Dalvine after midnight. About 1:30 o'clock we started Sunnyside, our place of landing, when the storm came on. I think something then went wrong with the engine. Anyhow we were about 300 yards opposite the west gate of High Park when, without any warning, the yacht capsized. We were all thrown into the water and I grabbed the boat. I clung to it, although at times I thought my strength would give out and I would have to go. I think I was in the water for about nine hours.

How many were in the boat? "Ten," he replied, and then gave the names as above. "Did you not see any of them after the boat capsized?" "No, I thought they had all gone home. I saw no human being. How many were in the boat?"

Did you see any of them struggling in the water? "No, I did not see any of them." Shields appears to have been badly shaken up. He trembles violently, and at times awakens from his sleep and cries out incoherently. Large patches of skin have been torn from his body, his arms and legs. It is expected he will be well in a couple of weeks, but in the meantime he must remain perfectly quiet. His mother was in great excitement. "He was never in a boat before," she said, "and to think that he, above all others should be saved." He is 20 years of age and is employed in the C. P. R. shops.

Joseph Irwin son of Councillor William Irwin was one of the Junction's most popular lacrosse players. He was 20 years of age and was engaged in the contracting business with his father. Early this morning his coat was found on the beach at this leads his friends to believe that he must have made desperate efforts to save himself and perhaps some of his friends. In the pockets of his coat were found lacrosse players cards by means of which the coat was identified. On learning this information, Councillor Irwin, who was on duty at the scene of the accident and upon being told that one of the boys' bodies had been brought to the morgue he went there and identified the body as that of Walter Dunlop.

Gordon Laroche, of 143 Vine street, was a piano maker, who formerly worked for the Heintzman Co. at the Junction factory. He was the trainer of the junior H. Shamrocks. Frank Kyle lived on Vine street and was a C. P. R. machinist. Len and Reginald Mullin, aged 23, was a painter and lived on Glendennan avenue. He has two little sisters. John Irvine was not 20 years of age, and worked at the Fairbanks shops. "Most of those in the party were C. P. R. boys," his mother added. My son was on strike just now, but he and the other boys worked together."

Dawson Nelhrang was a foreigner, residence unknown, who worked as switchman on the C. P. R. Shortly before 2 a. m. Policeman Lewis was walking along the Lake Shore, when he heard a party in the lake singing. He listened for about five minutes and then heard the noise which sounded like cries of distress. It was quite dark and when the noise ceased he paid no attention to the affair, thinking the launch had headed for Humber River. When he reached the police station at 4 o'clock he reported the matter to Sergeant Robinson, who immediately detailed Policeman Robinson to patrol the shore. When the latter reached the lake shore John J. Dickson, who works at the rolling mills, and Alfred Presley, night watchman at Toronto hotel and forging works, were on the scene. Beached on the shore was the launch Dalvine, an 18 footer, which contained the body of Dunlop. The policeman had the remains removed to the morgue. Patrolling the beach a searching party found a coat floating near the entrance to Humber River, in the pockets of which were two picture post cards containing pictures of two young men in miniature style and two clipped 2 cent pieces. This was only a short distance from the willow tree where the boat and body were found. The boat was half full of water and the brass railings and cushions were missing.

Leonard and Frank Daley, who are two of the men who lost their lives in the accident, are natives of this city and formerly lived in the North End. They were very well known in sporting circles, as they were two of the best local skaters a number of years ago. Patrons of Victoria Rink, in those days will remember them well, as in that rink some of their races were skated. The Daley boys left here about three years ago. Yesterday afternoon Hasen Daley of 58 Winter street, who is the only near relative now living in the city, received word of his brothers' death. Few details were given of the disaster.

HAMILTON BOY FELL FROM FOURTH STORY, DIED FROM INJURIES. HAMILTON, July 26.—Wilfred Lamond son of Alex. Lamond, street railway conductor at Hamilton, was so badly injured by a fall from the fourth story of the Bank of Hamilton building this morning that he died a short time afterwards at the city hospital. The boy, with a companion was holding on to a bolt in the rear of the building which is used to take small articles up to the top flat and hold together second. Young Lamond hung on till it reached the fourth story when he fell to the pavement.

SENTENCES GIVEN TO COUNTERFEITERS. TORONTO, July 26.—At Lindsay today the men found with counterfeit Traders Bank bills in their possession were sentenced as follows: Charles Burke, three years hard labor in Kingston Penitentiary, Robert Logie, two years the county jail at Lindsay, Eveline and Richard Wynne, one month in the county jail at Kingston, Archie Blyvau was let go on suspended sentence. George Miller was honorably acquitted.

ENGLISH CAPITALISTS LOOKING OVER OIL WELLS. MONTREAL, July 26.—M. Lodge of the New Brunswick Petroleum Company arrived home today from England and was accompanied by two Londoners, who are here in the interests of English capitalists to look over the oil properties. In company with F. W. Sumner, president of the company, and O. B. Boggs of Pittsburgh, the Englishmen visited the Memramcook oil field today and looked over the property. The officials of the oil company will say nothing as to the company's intentions, but they stated the Pittsburgh man has been brought here to manage the work at the wells. It is expected the work of development will shortly be resumed.

BOURASSA AND LAVERGNE TO HOLD POLITICAL MEETING. QUEBEC, July 26.—Messrs. Bourassa and Lavergne intend holding a political meeting in St. Roch of St. Lawrence, St. Michel, Laurier's constituency on the 28th of August. Quebec politics will be the subject of discussion.

CHARLOTTE TOWN LAWYER FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Arrested for Forging Certificates of Registration of Mortgages for Which He Received Large Sums of Money--Also Procured Money From Banks by Forging Notes.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I. July 26.—The arrest of Edwin O. Brown, aged 23, barrister of this city, has caused a tremendous sensation, which is increasing with fresh developments. He appeared before the police court yesterday on the charge of forging a certificate of registration of mortgage for which he received twelve hundred dollars, which it is alleged he deposited to his own account. The lady who gave him the money to invest on a mortgage a year ago became suspicious, and went to the registry office on Wednesday last, only to find that the mortgage had never been registered. When the news of the arrest became known, he had business with Brown began to investigate. Up to the present a number of other forged mortgage certificates have turned up, aggregating in all several thousand dollars. A prominent hardware merchant endorsed a joint note of two hundred dollars as an accommodation for Brown. When the latter presented it at the bank it was raised to twenty-two hundred dollars, and the payment of a hundred dollars later on account a new note for one hundred dollars was endorsed by the hardware merchant only to be raised to twenty-one hundred.

"JACK THE RIPPER" MURDERER STARTLES BERLIN WITH CRIMES OF UNPARALLELED BRUTALITY

BERLIN, July 26.—A series of cold-blooded crimes, singularly resembling those of "Jack the Ripper" murders, but for the fact that instead of women the victims were little girls, followed on yesterday with remarkable celerity this afternoon almost in the centre of the city and aroused intense excitement and indignation. Within a short time the assassin successfully enticed three girl babies, the oldest five years old, into dovecotes, and had them strangled several times in the abdomen with a sharp instrument. As a result one of the children is dead, another dying, and the third dangerously wounded. The first knowledge of the crimes came when an occupant of the house at the corner of Ryke and Belfort streets found the body of Margaritha Pravit, aged 4, lying in the doorway bathed in blood, the bowels protruding and the lower part of the body horribly gashed. This was immediately reported to the police, who were about to investigate the case, when reports came that Hertha Lent, aged three, and Eily Kniesel, five years of age, had been found similarly outrage, but still alive, in Prenzlauerallee and Hensersdorfer street, respectively. The inhabitants of the neighborhood became intensely excited. Crowds gathered about the police station shouting vengeance against the murderer. In the meantime the two victims who still lived were transported to a hospital. Their condition is extremely precarious and they are not expected to survive the night. The officials acted quickly in an endeavor to ruin the reputation of Deputy Sheriff Foster should result in a warm time for his accusers. In addition to the affidavit of Juror Frank Burpee, already published, the remaining jurors, William Hayden, Charles H. Carman, James Watson, John N. Emery, Howard P. Clark, J. W. Palmer, Allison W. Shaw, F. W. Britton, Elizabeth Palmer, George W. Melville and David Alexander, have made the following statement over their signatures, which document is in the possession of the deputy: "We, the undersigned members of the petit jury in the case of the King v. B. Frank Smith, tried at the July term of the county court, hereby individually certify that Alphon T. Foster did not, either before or during the progress of the said trial, influence or seek to influence us as to the verdict we should render therein." Each man of the jury expressed himself as willing to make affidavit in the same terms. The death took place last night of John Keech at his home here after an illness of only a week from pneumonia. Deceased was about thirty years of age, and he was a young man of good standing. He for some time had been head miller for J. M. Fripp and was also a member of the 5th Regt. band and of the Canadian Order of Foresters. He is survived by a wife and two children. The funeral will take place tomorrow, services in charge of Rev. Dr. Kestrad. For the grand celebration in connection with the circuit races next week great preparations are being made by the townsmen. At the request of the Board of Trade, Friday afternoon is to be observed as a half holiday.

JURORS DENY ABSOLUTELY CHARGES AGAINST DEPUTY SHERIFF FOSTER

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 26.—There is still a great deal of excitement over the Smith case and the incidents in connection therewith, and it would not be surprising if the attempt to ruin the reputation of Deputy Sheriff Foster should result in a warm time for his accusers. In addition to the affidavit of Juror Frank Burpee, already published, the remaining jurors, William Hayden, Charles H. Carman, James Watson, John N. Emery, Howard P. Clark, J. W. Palmer, Allison W. ENGINEER KILLED; OTHERS INJURED SIMCOE, Ont., July 26.—The Wabash freight train eastbound engine 1894, in charge of Conductor Duck and Engineer Peterson, which left Simcoe this evening, was wrecked about a mile and a half east. The wreck was caused by the engine blowing up and the accident happened as the train was passing under Schuzyer's overhead bridge, which was utterly demolished. Engineer Peterson was blown out of his cab to a considerable distance and was instantly killed. Fireman Calvert was also blown a distance and very seriously injured. Brakeman L. Norton, who was riding in the engine, was also fatally injured.

Much Interest is Taken in Third Salmon Boat Race—The Motor Boat Contest of the R.K.Y.C.

The Manchester liner Manchester Trader arrived in port this morning.

There will be no game of ball on the Shermock grounds this afternoon or evening.

Jack Armour, who was booked to shoot the chutes on a bike this afternoon, will not perform, owing to the fact that his wheel has not arrived.

Miss Crombie, returned missionary from Japan, will deliver an address in the Methodist Church at Woolastock tomorrow at 10.30 a. m.

Tonight's tennis match at Woolastock promises to be the banner sporting event of the season. The losers will be awarded tin cups and surattings will be given to the winners.

Eleven deaths occurred in the city during the past week, resulting from the following causes: Heart disease, 1; old age, 2; meningitis, 1; convulsions, 1; pyrexia, 1; premature birth, 1; cerebral softening, 1; cholecystitis, 1.

The concert at St. Philip's church on Friday, July 26th, was well attended in spite of the inclement weather. Miss Demby, mezzo-soprano, of New England, sang her way into the hearts of her audience. In spite of a heavy cold, the concert will be repeated on July 28th, with a different programme and different assisting talent. Miss Demby will sing at the services in St. Philip's tomorrow.

Gilmour's summer clean-up sale of ready-to-wear clothing is an annual event of which hundreds of men take advantage. The price reductions are always decided and noteworthy and the goods the best of their kind. Monday is the opening day and three weeks the limit. See it.

The tug Nevada is towing the straggler, Victoria, to this city. The boat is expected to arrive here this evening and will be at once got ready for repairs. Manager Orchard hopes to have the Victoria ready to go on the route again next Saturday morning.

On Saturday last the trestle work which had been built for working on the Madawaska approach to the new railway bridge, fell while the cars were backed on it for unloading. Fortunately, no one was killed, but one of a crew of Italians was badly hurt and the cars were destroyed. The injured man was brought to town and placed under the care of Mrs. J. J. Gallagher and on Monday was removed to the St. Basil Hospital. On Monday two accidents occurred at the same place Charles Corey, of Woodstock, had his leg broken, and Dennis Mulhern, of this town, sprained his ankle.—Victoria County News.

JUMPED OVERBOARD
TO GET HIS OAR

One of the men employed with Mr. Taylor had a narrow escape from drowning last evening. He was rowing a punt near Millard and lost one of the oars. He was a fine swimmer so jumped overboard after the oar. When he caught it the boat had drifted considerably. He was unable to catch it, and was drifting further into Indian-town harbor.

The crew of the tugboat James Holly saw him in the water. They pulled him out tired, but otherwise none the worse for his ducking.

MRS. O. N. MOTT DEAD.

Saak, Mr. Carpenter, who was formerly in the employ of Manchester, Robertson and Allison, left here three years ago and since then has been very successful in business life, having attained the management of a branch store for his former employer in Arcola but has lately accepted a position with a firm in Gainsboro.

Miss Alce Kerr and Miss Florence Halpin left today for St. Martin's to spend the holidays.

RECORD SENTENCE FOR ERRORS.

A grammarian was talking about grammatical slips that, through their magnitude, merited immortality.

"There is one sentence," he said, "that has lived for a hundred years on account of its tremendous incorrectness. In this sentence every single word is ungrammatical. It's hard to beat that, isn't it?"

"The sentence was spoken by a little girl in a sheep pasture. Looking at the flock, she said to the shepherd: 'Is them sheeps yours?'"

"This sentence, with every word incorrect holds the record in its class."

HOUSE IN CARLETON

STRUCK BY LIGHTING

Tree at Ononette Was Struck, Several Persons Rendered Unconscious—Heavy Rain.

A terrific rain and electrical storm swept over the city last night, and together 1 1/2 inches of rain fell. In the afternoon the rain commenced shortly after two o'clock, and at 5.30 it stopped. Shortly before 7 o'clock rain came on again and continued through the night. At midnight the thunder storm commenced, and it continued until 1.30. A very loud clap of thunder came at 12.30 o'clock. The storm was violent in the country districts. Several persons were struck by lightning. One person was rendered unconscious by a bolt of lightning. A tree was struck on O. H. Warwick's property at Ononette.

At 3 o'clock this morning the wind shifted to the west and the weather cleared.

During last night's heavy thunder storm, the house of Conductor John E. Costley, on St. James street, West End, was struck by lightning. The bolt sliced the top of the chimney, twisted the chimney round and tore a large hole in the roof. Things in the room below were upset but no very serious damage was done and no one in the house was injured.

POLICE COURT.

There were six prisoners on the police court bench this morning.

Harry Lovett and Michael Barry, two old offenders, were fined $8 or two months jail.

Mary Ann Anderson drunk on Westmorland road is without a home. She had to be carried to jail. She is an old woman and was fined $8 or two months in jail.

George Thomas, a boy in short trousers, said he came from Moncton about five months ago and lived with his parents on Brussels street. He met a drunken man last night and got four drinks of whisky from him. The boy was also charged with fighting. He was remanded.

Wm. R. Dickson pleaded not guilty to being drunk, but he was proven drunk and fined $8. There is also a fine of $20 standing against him.

Kate Hamilton was charged with being drunk, profane, and wilfully breaking windows in Grace Becham's house on Sheffield street. She pleaded guilty to the three charges and was remanded for sentence.

The case against Antonio de Matto, DeAngelis and Harrington for committing a breach of the peace on King St. was taken up. Oscar Day gave evidence that he saw Harrington place his money in Rockwood Park and placed it in a hip pocket to jail. He is an old woman and was fined $8 or two months in jail.

The case was adjourned until Tuesday morning at 10.30 o'clock.
