EVENING EDITION

VOL. XXVII., NO. 196. SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1890. WHOLE NO., 8643

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

Mr. W. A. Weir, of Montreal, son-in-law of Mr. William Stewart, Hamilton, Ont., is the Liberal candidate for the Quebec Legislature in Argenteuil county. Mr. Weir is an able young man and a thorough Liberal.

A new and popular development of electrical science is the electrical hair curler. It is said to be equal to the most exacting demands of the feminine coiffure, and the beard or mustache can be curled in any style in two minutes.

Berlin News (Tory): "Just what action will be taken by Mr. Meredith when he has made a full survey of the field of battle remains to be seen. We should not be surprised if he should resign his seat and position as leader and let the idols to which the Province seems to be joined run it to their heart's content.

Here are some interesting opinions from Mr. Gladstone: The three handsomest men of their time were the late Duke of Hamilton, Sidney Herbert and Cardinal Manning; the three most naturally eloquent speakers of their day, the Duke of Argyll, the late Lord Elgin and Bishop Wilberforce. Lord Beaconsfield was the most interesting political character of this century, not excepting Mr. Pitt.

Captain Wise, formerly A. D. C. to Sir Fred Middleton, and an Ottawa boy, was recently offered by the Viceroy of India, Lord Lansdowne, a position as A. D. C. on his personal staff. The Captain accepted conditionally on the usual leave being granted him from his regiment, now stationed at Lucknow. The leave has been granted, and Captain Wise is now at Simla, the summer residence of Lord Lansdowne.

Toronto Globe: No small share of the credit of Thursday's victory is due to the Hon. S. H. Blake. He spoke to many thousands of people, and many thousands read the report of his speech in the pavilion, which was widely circulated through the Reform press of Ontario. His addresses worked great enthusiasm among Reformers, and the dismay they carried into the opposite camp was shown by the fierceness with which Mr. Blake was attacked by the Tory journals. The Blakes have done great service for good government in Ontario. The Hon. Edward Blake was the founder of Reform government in this Province; he captured the citadel which the valor and strength of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues have held against all attacks for eighteen years, and in its defense no men outside the Cabinet have done such valuable service as these two eminent brothers.

"Do you expect electric engines entirely to displace steam locomotives on all railroads?" This question has just been discussed by O. T. Crosby in a paper on "The Limitations of Steam and Electricity." Mr. Crosby enters very fully into the relative cost of power and operating expenses, under various conditions, and puts forward some very interesting and instructive data. The conclusions arrived at are reassuring to those who have hitherto had feeble faith as to the ultimate supersession of steam by electricity for long-distance traction. Mr Crosby points out the difficulties which lie in the way, and indicates just as clearly the remedies for those difficulties. The efficiency of the street car motor is unquestionably not yet high enough for the motor to compete with the locomotive in railroad service. The cumbersome gearing now in use is a serious obstacle. There seems little doubt, however, that it will presently be dispensed with, and an economical motor will be applied directly to the axle. When this is done the commercial efficiency of the electric locomotive will be equal to that of the steam locomotive, and electricity will be adopted for ordinary railroad service.

CURRENT CONDENSATIONS.

AMERICAN.

The condition of wheat in Missouri is 78 per cent.

Potatoes are selling for $2 a bushel at Battleford.

The Irish saloon-keepers in Chicago are refusing to buy English syndicate beer.

New potatoes were selling in Winnipeg last week at three pounds for 25 cents.

At Ashland, Wis., rain has been falling every day since May 4. All the rivers and creeks are out of their banks and doing much damage.

EVERYBODY LAUGH.

Canadian Election Dispatches as Chronicled by a Detroit Newspaper.

[Detroit Evening Sun, June 5.]

KINGSTON, Ont., June 5.—Up to 2 o'clock about two-thirds of the vote was polled. Vote will be close. Home rule claims the lead.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5—1 p.m.—There is no telling how election is drifting. Dispatches conflicting. The Government party are sure of large gains.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5—2 p.m.—Election progressing quietly. Large vote. Home Government in the lead.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 5—1 p.m.—Election exciting. Close vote. McDonald element making a big fight. Several arrests for illegal voting. Reformers claim they will gain several members in the Province.

LONDON, Ont., June 5—2:30 p.m.—Election exciting. Both parties confident. Some disorder. Vote will be close. Dispatches from different places indicate that the tariff reformers are out in full force.

Confessed to Two Murders.

SEDALIA, Mo., June 7.—Thomas Williamson, who was arrested recently for murdering Jefferson and Charles Moore, father and son, confessed the crime yesterday.

Stunned But Not Killed.

ST. PAUL, June 7.—A special from Sioux Falls says that no one was killed in the Bliss school house Thursday. Fifteen children were rendered unconscious by a stroke of lightning, but all have since recovered.

Two Girls Put Ties on the Tracks.

COLDWATER, Mich., June 7.—Kittie M. Frederick, a good-looking girl, 20 years old, was locked up here charged with trying to wreck a train on the Michigan Central Railroad by placing ties on the track. She admits that she and another girl placed two ties on the track and saw the engine of a freight train push them off, but says they did it for fun, and not through malice.

REVISED RETURNS.

Slight Changes in the Situation.

North Bruce and Prince Edward Among the Doubtfuls—Liberal Gains and Losses Evened up.

Revised returns indicate little change in the general result of Thursday's elections. There seems to be doubt of the result in North Bruce. The constituency is claimed for Mr. Porter (Liberal) by three majority, and for Mr. George (Conservative), by six majority. In Prince Edward county Mr. Johnson (Conservative) claims the seat by one majority, while the Liberals claim the election of Mr. Sprague by six majority.

In Cardwell Mr. Hammell seems to have defeated Mr. Lennox, the nominee of the Conservative Convention, but fuller returns from Carleton indicate the election of Mr. Monk by a small majority.

The following appears to be the situation:

WEST LAMBTON.

A Magnificent Majority for Mr. Charles Mackenzie.

A special dispatch from a Sarnia correspondent this (Saturday) afternoon says that Mr. Charles Mackenzie has a majority of 703 over his opponent, Mr. W. W. Fitzgerald, lawyer, London. West Lambton seems to be all right.

WORK AND WAGES.

AT TORONTO.

TORONTO, June 7.—The labor difficulty in the city is practically at an end. The bricklayers, who went on strike on the first Wednesday of April, have come to an amicable agreement with the masters, and the agreement arrived at covers five years. The men were getting 33½ cents an hour, and demanded 36. By the agreement the masters pay 35 cents an hour for the first year and 36 cents an hour for the other four years over which the agreement extends. The builders' laborers on strike have received a proposition which will probably be accepted by the strikers.

PROSECUTING STRIKERS.

CHICAGO, June 7.—A series of legal prosecutions by the old Boss Carpenters' Association against the members of the Journeymen Carpenters' Association accused of intimidating and assaulting non-union men has begun. The first case resulted in the discharge of the accused. Four other cases were partly heard, and continued to June 12.

Mistook His Brother for a Burglar.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 7.—Harry Bright, aged 18 years, Thursday night shot and mortally wounded his brother Edmund, aged 14 years. Harry thought he was alone in the house and when he saw his brother he shot him, thinking it was a burglar.

Maryland's Strawberry Crop.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 7.—The Northern Central Railway is shipping daily from Calboun Station fifteen or twenty carloads of strawberries to Northern cities, and the express companies take five or six carloads. The berries go to Buffalo Syracuse, Elmira, Rochester, Utica and as far north as Toronto. The fruit reaches even the farthest points of shipment in a fresh and wholesome condition. The berry crop of Anne, Arundel, is unusually large this year.

The British Parliament.

LONDON, June 7.—The Government has resolved to adjourn Parliament at the end of July until the middle of October.

The Slavonic Congress Abandoned.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7.—The Slavonic Congress has been postponed indefinitely, owing to the opposition of the Russian court.

Milan as Co-Respondent.

PARIS, June 7.—M. Ristics, formerly Prime Minister of Servia, is about to bring an action against his wife for divorce. Milan, the ex-King of Servia, is named as co-respondent.

Fighting in Macedonia.

LONDON, June 7.—Another conflict has taken place at Pristina, Macedonia, between Servians and Arnauts. Forty Servians were killed and 200 were made prisoners by the Arnauts.

Ten Persons Burned to Death.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7.—Four hundred houses were destroyed by fire in the town of Doksyce, near Warsaw, yesterday. Ten persons were burned to death. The damage to property is immense.

The Duke of Orleans in England.

LONDON, June 7.—The Duke of Orleans arrived at Dover yesterday from Belgium. His father, the Count of Paris, and 40 of his friends awaited him upon the pier, and he was given a hearty reception.

Going to Let Bismarck Alone.

BERLIN, June 7.—The North German Gazette confirms the statement that the Emperor has decided not to interfere with Prince Bismarck, because his utterances are those of a private person, and that Chancellor Von Caprivi has sent out a circular to this effect.

The Accident to the City of Paris.

LONDON, June 7.—The Admiralty Court to-day awarded £7,500 to the British steamer Aldersgate and £600 to the American steamer Ohio for services they rendered to the Inman Line steamer City of Paris in towing her to Queenstown after the breaking down of her machinery in mid-ocean last March.

Gloomy Crop Reports.

LONDON, June 7.—The agricultural districts of Hungary are threatened with complete destruction of the crop of cereals through the prevalence of mildew. Already the crop of young wheat has been blighted beyond recovery, and the mold has attacked the less delicate grains with more or less severity.

Boom in Copper.

LONDON, June 7.—The Birmingham copper market became excited to-day on receipt of a telegram from Chili. The price of copper has risen nearly £2 since yesterday. Chili is quoted at £56 cash; at ports £56 7s 6d. On the London Metal Exchange to-day copper rose 17s 6d. The failure of a large operator in Rio Tinto's shares reported from Paris, together with the rise in the price of the metal, forced up the prices of all copper mine shares.

Troubled About Tithes.

LONDON, June 7.—The English agriculturists, who bear the burden of supporting the established clergy in the way of tithes on their products, are very restless under the burden and not at all satisfied with the Government bill transferring the payment of rent charge from the tenant to the landlord. What they want is a revaluation of the tithe, the circumstances under which tithes were valued in 1836 and the high basis which prices then established being very unsatisfactory. the farmers seem inclined to join in the clamor for disestablishment, but so far they content themselves with declining to approve the Government bill and calling for readjustment. The action of the House of Commons in committee, however, in rejecting a proposal to revise the tithe system to meet the altered agricultural condition, will doubtless induce them to join the ranks of those who favor disestablishment.

Put Out as a Feeler.

LONDON, June 7.—The Times' leading article on the rights of England and Germany in Africa is exciting widespread comment, inasmuch as the writer thereof is believed to have been officially inspired, if, indeed, the article was not penned in the Foreign Office. The other newspapers, without regard to politic leanings, vigorously protest against the proposals contained in the article that a measure of concession should be made to Germany's claims in Africa and many of the journals unqualifiedly contend that Germany is the one to make concessions, which England should make no delay in insisting upon. It is quite evident from the drift of popular opinion that the Government would be badly worsted in a division in Parliament on any question of confidence in its African policy, and there is a suspicion that the presumably inspired article was put out as a feeler.

Demands of the German Minister of War.

BERLIN, June 7.—The German Minister of War announced to the Military Committee of the Reichstag yesterday that bills would be introduced by the Government providing for the construction of strategical railroads, and for training the reserves in use of the new rifle. In addition to these bills the War Minister said an appropriation would be asked for the further equipment of the army. He declared no one capable of bearing arms should cease training when he had completed his term of service. The Government had only decided upon the main principles of the measure contained the reserves. The demands containing in the Military Bill were small as compared with those of the French Government. He said he was not empowered to make a statement regarding the fixing of the strength of the army every seven years. The War Minister said the Government meditated a still larger increase of the peace footing by 49,000 men more than the present bill provides for. Speaking of all parties, especially the Centerist, Freissinge and National Liberals, he testified to a growing agitation in the country against military burdens and declared it was imperative to reduce the term of service.

Old World Wirelets.

A petard was discovered in the letter box of the Military Club at Paris yesterday. It was sent to a laboratory for examination.

DISASTROUS DOWNPOUR.

Serious Results of Recent Thunder Storms in Various Sections of Ontario.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., June 7.—One of the most disastrous floods this town has ever experienced was the result of Thursday's thunder storm. The storm began about 1:30 p.m. and lasted until 5 p.m., during which time a seething torrent swept through the low-lying land in the south and east wards. A portion of the C. P. R. track, a number of bridges, several frame structures, trees, etc., were swept away. The heaviest losses were sustained by the breaking of two mill dams and the almost total wreck of the shingle mills owned by a resident of Mount Forest.

DAMS SWEPT AWAY.

GREENWOOD, Ont., June 7.—The worst freshet ever known here occurred Thursday evening. For two nights terrific thunder storms raged. Four small dams north of here gave way and the flow of water carried away T. L. Green's large dam. The new dam and the race broke away and the dam of the Oatmeal Milling Company. Roads were submerged and gutted, cellars flooded, bridges carried away and telegraph wires broken. Several have lost cattle and horses. The roads in the vicinity are in a terrible state. M. Gleeson loses heavily from his store cellar being of wood. The loss to W. L. Green will be from $1,500 to $2,000.

A VILLAGE FLOODED.

SCHOMBERG, Ont., June 7.—In consequence of the heavy rain falls here and the sweeping away of two large mill dams, this village was flooded. Many business and private dwellings were swept away by the flood, leaving the occupants homeless and in destitute circumstances. The total loss is estimated at $15,000 or more.

A GRAND TRUNK DEPOT UNROOFED.

ELORA, Ont., June 7.—During the storm which passed over this vicinity part of the roof of the C. T. R. station was lifted by the wind and thrown on the track, pulling down all the telegraph wires with it.

A CLOUDBURST.

BROOKLIN, Ont., June 6.—Thursday's cloudburst a few miles north of here caused the little creek that runs through the village to assume the proportions of a mighty river, and a great amount of property was destroyed. Between two concession lines there are six bridges down and roads are washed out in all directions. There is hardly a bridge or mill dam left in the township. Mr. B. Battin's barn and other outbuildings went in the flood. Mills were overturned, and Mr. C. Redman's furniture shop had a narrow escape.

Nothing approaching this disaster has ever before happened in the neighborhood. Reeve Mathewson estimates the damage to roads and bridges in this township (West Whitby) at $25,000, and the same state of affairs exists all over South Ontario. Fortunately no lives were lost; but Mr. W. J. Murray and three assistants had a narrow escape while endeavoring to rescue a number of horses. They were carried down the stream a considerable distance and saved by the aid of ropes.

OSHAWA'S EXPERIENCE.

OSHAWA, June 7.—Thursday's storm was one of the most violent that has been experienced for years. By 7:30 o'clock the flood had worn a break in the bank of the dam just north of Oshawa. The pond at that point was some 30 acres in extent and eight feet deep. It was only a very short time till everything in the shape of trees, fences and outbuildings within reach of the flood was on the move. All the houses and factories in the vicinity of the flats were soon filled with water up to the level of the first story windows. No lives were lost, but there were several narrow escapes from drowning.

PORT HOPE'S FLOOD.

PORT HOPE, June 7.—The most disastrous flood that ever visited Port Hope came upon us yesterday morning. Smith's Creek rose so that all the dams upon it north of the town were swept away. Kinsman's, at Canton, with a new storehouse, was completely cleaned out. Part of the bridge on Walton street was carried away, and the water ran over the road and down Mill street, five or six feet deep, for a couple of hours, carrying destruction with it on all sides. The electric light dam broke, and the whole body of water came rushing down the valley. Over 100 feet of the Midland Railway track was washed out at the Globe File Works to the depth of fifteen or twenty feet, and about 60 feet of the track was also taken out at a point four or five miles north of the town. Six or seven bridges were carried away in the township of Hope. The large bridge on Walton street, with one of its massive stone abutments, was completely demolished. The damage to property will foot up to perhaps $25,000.

THE BARRIE DISASTER.

BARRIE, June 7.—The report of the great calamity Thursday was not at all exaggerated—it is said to be rather underestimated by those who are competent to judge. It is now thought that the extent of the damage will reach $50,000. The destruction yesterday was not confined to the one street, but spread in various directions. Nearly every cellar on Dunlop street, from the corner of Clapperton street to the corner leading to the railway station, was filled with water, and the damage in some cases was exceedingly heavy. R. A. Dutton, grocer, loses heavily. He had a large stock, and several hundred dollars will not cover his loss. J. P. Kidd, druggist, estimates his loss of stock in the cellar at about $20,000. W. A. Pae, drygoods merchant, loses about $500 in winter clothing, cottons, etc., stored in the cellar. Fred Marr had a heavy stock of leather considerably damaged. The Grand Trunk had a large staff of men working all night, and about noon trains were able to pass over the track laid on trestle work, which extended over 50 yards, and have been washed about eight feet below the level of the track. It is stated that the road has about thirteen washouts to repair on the North Simcoe branch.

Yesterday afternoon another storm raged north of here. A farmer named Edward Dixon, of Minesing, was instantly killed by lightning. He leaves a widow, but no children. Considerable damage is reported from the surrounding country.

KILLED AT PLAY.

John Morris Falls from a G. T. R. Car and Breaks His Neck.

The Tragic Ending of a Little Boy's Frolic—An Inquest Will Be Held—Was Anyone to Blame in the Matter?

Another fatal accident occurred in the city this morning, the dread visitant Death again calling at a home in the southern part of the city. About 8 o'clock little Johnnie Morris, son of Mr. John Morris, fireman on the G. T. R., was playing around a flat car standing on a G. T. R. switch on Bathurst street, between Clarence and Wellington streets. The car was partially loaded with scantlings, and it is supposed that the unfortunate little fellow was running along the top of the lumber when he slipped and fell to the ground, bringing four of the heavy timbers down on his head and

BREAKING HIS NECK.

No person saw the accident, and the exact time the poor boy met with his death is uncertain.

A small boy playing around the same locality came across the body shortly after 8 o'clock, and made all haste to the M. C. R. freight sheds and told of his terrible discovery to the workmen, who went with him to the scene. Kind hands removed the timbers and raised the little form fast

STIFFENING IN DEATH,

but nothing could bring back the spark of life. Coroner Smith was notified and proceeded to the spot. He deemed an inquest necessary, but allowed the sorrowing friends to convey the body to the home of the parents at No. 273 South street. The deceased was a bright, light-hearted little boy, and earlier in the morning he had been in the different parts of the yard. He was about 8 years old. The news of his death almost prostrated his relatives, who could not bring themselves to realize that the bright face that left the house in the early morning was the same as the one cold in death. Mr. Morris, father of the boy, was out of the city with his train on the Wingham branch, but is expected home this evening.

A Mother and Two Boys Drowned.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 7.—Edward, aged 13, and George, aged 19, sons of John Smith, were drowned Thursday. Their mother was drowned in attempting to save them.

A Husband's Terrible Revenge.

DALLAS, Texas, June 7.—Thursday night Frank Quinn caught Ben Nelson and Mrs. Quinn in the same room and attacked them with an axe. Nelson was chopped to pieces and the woman was terribly gashed and beaten. Quinn is in jail.

Poisoned by Impure Milk.

UNION CITY, Mich., June 7.—The town is greatly excited over the report that 60 people had been poisoned from drinking milk from improperly cleaned cans. At a large picnic on Tuesday the cans containing the milk had not been properly cleaned, and no sooner was the repast over than the people began to get sick, and soon over 60 of them were rolling about in agony. Fortunately there were some doctors in the party and they were able to relieve the sufferers somewhat. For a time it was feared that seven of the party would die.

Bogus Brickwork.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.—Mayor Pond on Thursday examined the walls of the northwest wing of the new City Hall. In a number of places where the walls were supposed to be of solid brick four feet thick they were found on an average depth of eighteen inches to be filled with sand, mortar, broken brick and rubbish. In the cross wall, in which there was a heavy triangular mass of iron intended to support a thirteen ten girder and other lighter girders, the condition was the same, the filling taking the place of solid masonry. Further investigation has been ordered.

THE METHODISTS.

Second Day's Proceedings of the London Conference.

Interesting Matters Before the Hamilton Body—Rev. G. Kennedy's Case.

LONDON.

CHATHAM, June 6.—A resolution expressing sincere sympathy with Rev. Dr. Sanderson in his recent bereavement in the death of his daughter away from her home was adopted.

Rev. Dr. Aylsworth read the report from Albert College, which showed that institution to be in a flourishing condition.

A resolution expressing great satisfaction with the growth and prosperity of this institution was adopted.

The Secretary of the Conference read the report of the Whitby Ladies' College, as forwarded by Rev. Dr. Hare.

Invitations were presented from the quarterly boards of St. Thomas and Windsor churches for the Conference to meet there next year. As the Conference had never met in Windsor it was decided to go there next year.

Considerable time was taken up in considering the case of Rev. A. Milligan, of Sarnia, a superannuated minister, who, with his wife, are in an afflicted and impoverished condition. His case was represented by Mrs. Joshua Adams, of Sarnia, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid of that town. It was decided to solicit subscriptions from the members of the Conference to meet the necessaries of this case.

The afternoon session opened with the examination of the two young men—R. Whiting and S. Anderson—who are recommended for ordination. The examination was conducted by the President and proved very satisfactory.

It was decided to have the election of representatives to the General Conference take place on Monday afternoon.

Rev. A. G. Harris reported on behalf of the Committee on Conference Relations. Rev. Geo. Brown was recommended to be superannuated, also Rev. E. Holmes for one year.

The treasurer of the union relief fund gave his report, showing the receipts for this fund for the Conference to be $56,979.

Fraternal greetings were received from the Manitoba and Montreal conferences, which are in session at Brandon and Ottawa.

Rev. H. D. Ware, Baptist minister of Chatham, was introduced and briefly addressed the Conference.

Judge Hughes was introduced and read the report of Alma Ladies' College, and addressed the Conference in the interests of this institution.

Principal Austin also represented the college in a forcible address, showing the institution to be in a very prosperous and growing condition, having had an increase of 30 in attendance this year over the last.

A resolution expressing satisfaction with the report was adopted.

Some difference of opinion was expressed as to when the ministers should be on their new fields of labor. It was decided that the ministers be in their new charges on the third Sunday after the close of Conference.

An enthusiastic temperance meeting was held in Victoria Avenue Church on Thursday evening, Rev. J. R. Gundy presiding, when addresses were delivered by Rev. T. R. McNair and Rev. Geo. Jackson.

NIAGARA.

HAMILTON, June 6.—The third day's session of the Niagara Conference was convened at 9 o'clock this morning in Centenary Church. The supernumary relation of the following ministers was continued: T. S. Linscott, Brantford district; W. C. Jolley, Norwich district. Rev. George Kennedy, Woodstock district, was deposed from the ministry.

Dr. Burns rose to remark that he had not been the candidate of the laymen during the presidential fight. He had not been spoken to in regard to the matter, and knew nothing of it until it was referred to yesterday.

A voice—Your hour has come.

Dr. Burns—All right; I am but a servant of servants. He wanted it to be understood that Mr. Danly did not run him for the laymen. A number of ministers began to repudiate being canvassed for votes, when President Kay declared the matter out of order and went on to the next business.

The Secretary read the following telegraphic congratulation from the London Conference, now in session at Chatham:

London Conference sends greeting to the Niagara Conference. See II. Thessalonians, iii. 16. J. R. GUNDY, President.

The Secretary was instructed to forward suitable Scriptural reply.

Rev. James Gray, treasurer of the General Conference, was listened to with great patience, as he told about that "unpleasant and unsatisfactory fund." The amount that should have been gathered in was $30,160, but only $16,303 had been received.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland moved a resolution thanking Rev. Mr. Gray for his services, and asking the General Conference to relieve the fund in some way.

In reference to the case of Rev. George Kennedy, of Ingersoll, it is stated that, as a matter of fact, Mrs. Oliver was never Mr. Kennedy's housekeeper, and, before his marriage with her, he produced a marriage license in which he made affidavit that he was a widower and that his wife had been dead five years.

The Conference sent back a congratulatory telegram to the London Conference, quoting I. Corinthians, xv., 58.

MONTREAL.

OTTAWA, June 7.—The Montreal Methodist Conference in session here has passed a resolution recommending to the General Conference, which meets in September, the abolition of the position of Second General Superintendent owing to the low state of the church funds; that the Conference protest against the precedents given on state occasion to dignitaries in the Roman Catholic Church, and that an order for deaconesses be established to assist in the charitable work of the church.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs and allaying irritation; thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

A standing invitation—Get up.

A child not behaving well at table is liable to receive a setback.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are cutting.

Customer—Why do you call that suit of furniture "Courtship?" Furniture Dealer—Because it is a parlor set.

Interesting Experiments at the Ontario Agricultural College.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

As the time is at hand again for sowing rape, a letter to the farmers of this Province regarding our experience with its cultivation and fattening lambs upon it, may not be inopportune. A bulletin on the subject is now in the hands of the printer, which will give more complete details.

We grew several acres of rape upon this farm last season, and fattened lambs upon it for about two months by pasturing them. From the experiment we feel safe in concluding that an acre of good rape will feed ten or twelve lambs for two months, and that with a small supplement of oats they may easily be made to gain nine pounds a month.

The lambs were purchased and put upon the rape Oct. 10, and remained upon it until Dec. 3. They were then fed in sheds until near the end of March, when they were sold for slaughter and subsequent shipment to Halifax.

When purchased they weighed on an average 90 pounds, and when sold 137 pounds. They cost $3 85 4-5 per head, and were sold for $7 71 4-5, or more than twice the amount paid for them. The average Ontario lamb is sold for about $3 50 per head. Why should it not be the aim of the farmer to produce them in such a way that he will realize twice that amount before they leave his hands.

As one acre of rape will fatten about ten lambs, two acres would suffice for the average farmer, or indeed a much less amount. If properly raised and sold at Christmas time, soon after taking them off the rape they would bring 5 cents per pound live weight on an average, which would mean to the farmer about $5 50 to $6 per lamb.

The change in the American tariff, if ratified by the Senate, will probably somewhat affect these prices. Instead of 20 per cent. duty as now, the exporter will then have to pay $1 50 per head, which will be on an average about 70 cents more per head than is paid at present.

Farmers who raise lambs of the first order can however realize more for them than the price already named. Lambs that come early and that are liberally dealt with may be easily made to average 130 to 140 pounds by Christmas. So that in the face of this increased tariff the Ontario farmer can get as much per head for his lambs as now.

There is, however, another grand opening for our lambs. Why do we fail to take advantage of it? I refer to the British market. This is a field, as yet, almost unoccupied by us in the sense of which I am more particularly speaking. We do send over a considerable number of sheep to Britain every year, but a large proportion of them are not lambs. This arises, I suppose, from the fact that lambs are seldom found sufficiently heavy for shipment when about 1 year old. But this need not be so of necessity. Lambs can easily enough be raised that will weigh from 150 to 170 pounds when 1 year old, for which in all probability from 5 to 6 cents per pound might be obtained. These would be paying prices for shearlings. Why should not Ontario export 100,000 head of this class of lambs every year?

The average paid now for two shear sheep is perhaps not more than the sum named as obtainable for those 1 year old, and for the reason that they are much be low the standard in weight and quality of what is easily possible. If a sheep two shears brings no more than one but 1 year old, the profit on the two shears, if there be any, is less than on the shearling by the cost of the maintenance of the former for a whole year.

Rape will grow on any soil suitable for the cultivation of roots. It will also flourish on soils abounding in humus. It should be sown and cultivated much after the manner of turnips, but does not of necessity require thinning. The best time to sow is the last week in June. Yours, etc.,

THOMAS SHAW.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

The Outrages on Fishermen—The British Government Not Averse to Arbitration.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 7.—Among the passengers of the steamer Caspian, from St. Johns, Nfld., was Rev. Father Guillo. On being interviewed regarding the French shore trouble, he said that the fishermen at Sandy Point, St. George's Bay, are very much excited over the manner in which they have been treated by the French. A day before the steamer sailed the schooner Rover (Capt. Graham), while fishing off St. George's was hailed by a boat from a French man-of-war, and ordered to take in her nets. The captain of the Rover refused, and the French deliberately pulled the fishing gear from the water. The Rev. Father Howly interviewed the commander of the French vessel and got him to refrain from further action until the arrival of the St. Johns delegates, who are now on the other side, trying to effect a settlement. A number of fishermen held a meeting at St. George Friday night, at which resolutions were passed to the effect that if the French came inside the shore lines and floated their nets they would be fired on.

ARBITRATION.

LONDON, June 7.—In the House of Commons last night Sir James Ferguson, in reply to questions regarding the Newfoundland dispute, said the Government would readily assent to arbitration, but there were many preliminaries to be settled.

Three Persons Burned to Death.

WINSTON, N. C., June 6.—A colored girl and two children were burned with a house which was set in fire by lightning near this place Thursday.

Milestown Notes.

[From the ADVERTISER'S Corresponden t.]

MILESTOWN, June 5.—The general store and postoffice of Wm. Duncan was broken into last night. Three or four dollars in coppers was taken. The main entrance to the store was first tried by the thieves. This being doubly fastened, they got through the outer door by prying off the lock, but unable to accomplish their work upon the inner door and leaving the block of wood made use of as a wedge to force the lock fastening sticking part way through the door, they went round to a side door and effected their purpose by forcing from their places a lock and two bolts. The tools they used were secured from Williams' shop, and were left upon the counter. A more than usual quantity of the tramp species was noticed in the village yesterday, which may furnish a clue to the authors of the theft.

WEST INDIES TRADE.

A Scheme to Open Up Trade with the Tropics.

The Board of Trade Still on the Move for Reforms—New Members Coming in—Better Railway Connection with St. Thomas—The "Dead Beat" Question.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Board rooms last evening. Several matters of importance were discussed and progress made with matters in hand. The following members were present: Vice-President Masuret (chairman), Col. Lewis, L. H. Ingram, C. F. Colwell, S. F. Glass, W. C. L. Gill, Jas. Cowan, D. Ferguson, P. M. Lawrason, John Tanton, W. A. Gunn, Samuel Stevely, John Campbell, T. H. Smallman, Harry Kingsmill and T. S. Hobbs.

A letter was read from President Marsh expressing thanks for the sympathy shown by the Board in his recent affliction.

Communications were read from the secretaries of the Chambers of Commerce in London, Dundee, and Birmingham, respecting the increased postal facilities between Great Britain and this city, and promising to give what assistance they could towards achieving the desired result.

A communication was read from Mr. L. K. Cameron, Queen's printer, Toronto, asking that his name be dropped from the membership roll. The Secretary was instructed to comply with the request and notify Mr. Cameron of the same.

A communication was read from Hon. J. Carling stating that he had called the attention of the Minister of Public Works to the Port Stanley harbor improvements, and had instructed that official therein.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

In the matter of the railway connections at St. Thomas, Mr. John G. Laven, Canadian passenger agent of the M. C. R., communicated to the effect that the M. C. R. would endeavor to give the best possible connection with the trains going west. The desired point was to have the M. C. R. hold their west-bound train about ten minutes in order to make connection with the early morning train from this city, and thus save commercial men a half day.

A communication was read from Passenger Agent Edgar, of the G. T. R., in connection with the increased train service between Stratford and this city. The communication stated that the company saw no way of complying with the wishes of the Board, except by putting on a new train, which would call for a guarantee of $100 per day by the Board.

The communication occasioned much merriment, and was referred to the Railway Committee.

ELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS.

The election of new members was proceeded with, and resulted in the following names being added to the roll: Messrs. W. J. Craig, James Burns, Thos. Stephens, John Forrestal, F. T. Trebilcock, Edward Parnell, jun., and William Duffield, sen.

The following gentlemen were proposed as candidates to be balloted for at the next meeting: Messrs. Harry Lenox, H. Fysh and J. M. Dillon.

MERCHANTS' GRIEVANCES.

Mr. C. F. Colwell called the attention of the Board to the inconvenience caused by the shifting of holidays, which interfered with men doing a banking business. The banks closed on the statute day and were open on the day set aside by the municipality and made paper payable on that day.

Mr. Cowan held that as the holidays did not happen too often it was not a very important matter.

Mr. Tanton called the attention of the Board to the practice of the banks closing on Saturday at 1 o'clock. He held that it was very inconvenient for merchants and manufacturers.

Mr. Cowan thought that banks should keep open for a longer time on Saturday. He moved that the Board of Trade submit a memorial to the banks and ask that they be continued open for business until 3 o'clock on Saturdays.

Col. Lewis and Mr. Campbell thought that the matter was not easy of solution, and that the grievance was not sufficient to secure the influence of the Board. The motion was then withdrawn.

DEAD BEAT REPORT.

Mr. L. H. Ingram reported that the committee appointed to deal with this question had carefully considered the matter, and he thought that it would be a good scheme to keep a register and have a committee to scrutinize the names of all persons seeking credit to see that they were honest and persons likely to pay.

Mr. Cowan was also a member of the committee. He was convinced that the matter was worthy of attention. He thought that there were many tradesmen who were in the habit of making purchases without any intention of paying for them. He thought that if some action was taken as proposed it would be an inducement to the retail merchants to affiliate themselves with the Board.

Mr. S. F. Glass supported the suggestion and thought that if the method was adopted the membership of the Board would soon run up from 60 to 100.

Mr. Campbell and Col. Lewis were not in favor of it and did not believe in making the Board a collective association.

On motion the report was received and left over to be considered at next meeting.

WEST INDIES TRADE.

Mr. John Law was granted the floor to set before the members of the Board a scheme for opening up trade relations between the city and the West Indies. Mr. Law was convinced that it would be a good thing for the city if a direct line could be established between the two places. He was prepared to show that it was already settled as far as Cleveland, O., and all that was necessary was the cleaning out of the Port Stanley harbor. The Louisville and Nashville Railroad could be used as far as Cincinnati, and over another road as far as Cleveland. The trip could be made in five days, and perishable goods laid down at the termination five days after shipment in as good condition as when received.

The matter was referred to a special committee, composed of Messrs. Campbell, Gunn, Hobbs, Masuret, S. F. Glass and Mr. Law.

On motion of Mr. Glass the Secretary was instructed to purchase a $10 clock for the Board rooms. The Board then adjourned.

To Nervous, Debilated Men.

If you will send us your address we will mail you our illustrated pamphlet explaining all about Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electric-Voltaic Belt and Appliances, and their charming effects upon the nervous, debilitated system, and how they will quickly restore you to vigor and manhood. Pamphlet free. If you are thus afflicted, we will send you a Belt and Appliances on a trial.

CHURCH-GOING BIRDS.

Sparrows Enter the Chimney as if They Were Being Poured from a Funnel.

RED BANK, N. J., June 6.—During the past month a great number of chimney swallows have been making their headquarters in the spacious chimney of the First Methodist Church, of this place. Every evening at dusk the swallows begin to come in from every direction, and without doubt there are 1,000 of them when all are on hand. On Sunday evening, while the congregation were entering the church, the swallows were returning home. From a half dozen they rapidly grew until the air was black with them. Not one went into the chimney. All flew about over the church in a circle. Every few minutes the leader, or leaders, would swing out over the street, and the whole number of twittering birds would follow. Then they would circle over the church again, but in the opposite direction.

Finally the people were all in the church and the organ started. Just as the choir began to sing, the swallows, as if on a signal, began to go down the big chimney. It was not fifteen seconds before they were all in. From the time the leaders made a stop over the chimney and fluttered down it looked as if something were being poured from a funnel—a black mass of birds. A minute afterwards there was not a bird to be seen.

CHURCHES AND CLERGY.

A novelty at the Dissenters' breakfast, in Edinburgh, this year was the appearance of Mrs. Carlaw Martin, the first lady who has been invited to speak at it.

The Rev. A. Douglas, Arbroath, Scotland, has caused a sensation by declaring that there are ministers eating the bread of the Established Church who should be punished by the civil magistrate as common swindlers doing nothing for God or man.

Dr. J. H. Wilson, who many years ago founded a "ragged kirk" at Aberdeen, on completing his 80th year was presented lately with an ormolu timepiece by the members of the new Kent Road Church, London. The Doctor has recently recovered the eyesight of his youth and holds himself ready to climb Ben Nevis. He hopes to attend and record the Evangelical Alliance meeting at Florence in the autumn.

The methods of securing the services of an acceptable pastor are becoming less rigid in the Presbyterian body than they were. For instance, it is stated that Principal Caird, of Glasgow, and Mr. W. Dunn, of Kensington, have been asked to select a minister for a vacant pulpit at Port Elizabeth. There were 100 applicants for the appointment, the stipend of which is $3,000 a year. An Edinburgh Established minister, selected by Principal Caird as suitable for the post, preached on Sunday morning in Hammersmith Church to enable Mr. Dunn, who was present, to form an opinion of the gentleman's qualifications.

London Saturday, June, 7.

THE Toronto World claims Mr. W. R. Meredith as one of the Toronto men elected to the new Legislature.

THE Canada Presbyterian draws attention to the fact that the Duke and Duchess of Connaught have spent the two Sabbaths they have been in this country in traveling. It looks as if the royal visitors desired to obtain a character for being fast.

THE vote of yesterday conveys a warning which he cannot well afford to pass unheeded. —[London Free Press.

Yes, it conveys a warning and a rebuke as well. It shows that though ill-founded and unfair appeals to race and religious prejudice may have gained votes for Mr. Meredith in the recent campaign, the people of the Province refuse to turn out a Ministry that has honestly striven to do its duty by every class in the community. Even the most serious administrative mistakes alleged against Mr. Mowat were at the time of commission indorsed by his opponents.

THE Chatham Planet treated its readers to this piece of remarkable, if decidedly incorrect, piece of information on the day prior to the election:

The nominations have given most satisfactory indications of a state of feeling throughout the Province that will insure the defeat of the Ministry who have so long abused their power Both leaders have been elected by acclamation, and the failure to oppose Mr. Meredith in a constituency gerrymandered to injure him is an indication of conscious weakness in the part of his opponent.

London gerrymandered! There was no contest in London simply because the leaders of the two parties entered into a written agreement to "saw off." Keep your eye on London when next the constituency is opened, either by Mr. Meredith's retirement or from any other cause.

MONTAGUE, the usurper in the Liberal constituency of Haldimand, has now to be settled with. When the protest against his election was recently lodged, the Tory papers pooh-poohed it as something undertaken to influence the voting in the local elections; but these carpers are proved to be very much mistaken. Counsel for the Liberals has just applied to the High Court of Justice to fix a day for the trial, which has been delayed through no fault of the appellants, and the rascalities by means of which the notorious Montague carried the county will be revealed at an early day—possibly during the coming legal vacation.

THEY CAN'T AGREE.

The Tory editors are all at sixes and sevens these days. Yesterday, the London Free Press endeavored to keep alive the anti-Catholic cry by falsely asserting that Mr. Mowat owed his majority to the "solid Catholic vote." The Toronto Empire, the organ of Mr. Meredith and edited by his lieutenant, Mr. Creighton, on the other hand, asserts that no solid Catholic vote was polled in the election, but that "many Conservative Roman Catholics remain Conservative and voted with their old friends." That says a good deal for the strength of their adhesion to party, when we consider how they have been misrepresented and traduced by the Tory papers and special pleaders within the past year or two. But the assertion, made on such authority, plays the mischief with the contention of the London Tory organ. The remains of the Tory party bosses should get together and resolve upon something like a consistent line of argument. At present, the explanations of their organs but make a laughing stock of the party. As a number of the gains made by Mr. Mowat were scored in stalwart Protestant constituencies, we have reached the conclusion that the Empire is right, and that Mr. Meredith failed because the people were intelligent enough to discover that he had no good grounds for asking them to turn out the Liberal Premier and put the lieutenant of Sir John Macdonald in control of the affairs of this Province.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE VICTORY.

A Tory journal in Nova Scotia partly accounts for the success of the Liberal Government in the late Provincial elections there by admitting that the recent changes in the tariff had aroused a feeling among the people which proved very unfavorable to the Opposition. The Halifax Recorder accepts this view and admits that the tariff was an auxiliary, though the merits of the Fielding Government and its prudent administration of affairs were sufficient to have carried a verdict in their favor. As the contest in Nova Scotia was conducted on federal party lines, the St. John Telegraph says it is easy to see that the new and needless taxes which our Tory rulers have laid on the food and clothing of the people would be taken into account at such a time. The Government at Ottawa was always bitterly hostile to the Administration led by Hon. Mr. Fielding. All the forces of federal Toryism in the Province were arrayed together to overthrow the Provincial Government, but they were weighted with the unpopularity of the tax tariff, and were themselves overthrown.

In Ontario the secret aid of the Dominion Government was given to the party led by Mr. Meredith. The chief organizer of the Tory party at Ottawa was deputed to manage the campaign. The Empire, the personal organ of Sir John Macdonald, left no stone unturned to secure Mr. Mowat's defeat. As far as was deemed politic, the Tory M. P.s for the Province went on the stump against the Ministry, and where they did not do so, as in East Middlesex, they engaged in the not less effective "still hunt." The fact is, that Sir John Macdonald earnestly desired Meredith's success, and he cheerfully consented to be repudiated pro tem., that the wool might the more easily be drawn over the eyes of the Ontario electorate. It was a crafty scheme; it was well worked; and if we are to believe the stories of the men who engineered it, they hoped by its agency to secure the defeat of Oliver Mowat, and put the Tories in the Legislature in a position to gerrymander the Province for the purposes of the Provincial elections, as they have gerrymandered it for the purposes of Dominion contests. That opportunity the arch plotters hoped to embrace immediately after the census enumeration next spring. They are much chagrined at their failure, which is not to be wondered at. As the Ontario and Dominion Tory managers choose to go hand in hand in the attack on the Government of Ontario, we may fairly contend that the signal rout of the Tory forces is a rebuke to Sir John Macdonald, John Carling and their associates, as well as to their lieutenant, W. R. Meredith. Thus Premier Mowat's victory is doubly significant. We believe it but foreshadows a greater victory in the Dominion contest that must come within the next eighteen months, for which our friends must now hold themselves in readiness.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Forum (New York) for June is a first class number, as indeed is every issue of this first-class magazine. It contains the following articles: "New England and the New Tariff Bill," by Roger Q. Mills; "Culture and Current Orthodoxy," by Dr. A. J. Behrends; "Formative Influences," by W. E. H. Lecky; "The Limits of Realism in Fiction," by Edmund Gosse; "Genius and Woman's Intuition," by Prof. Lester F. Ward; "American Interests in Africa," by Henry S. Sanford; "Fetichism in Politics," by Henry Charles Lea; "Encroachments of the Sea," by Prof. W. J. McGee; "Public Control of the Telegraph," by Bronson C. Keeler; "The Exhaustion of the Arable Lands," by C. Wood Davis; "Defenses Against Epidemic Diseases," by Dr. Cyrus Edson. Dr. Behrends' article is able and timely.

The Methodist Magazine for June, 1890. Price $2 a year; Toronto, William Briggs. The popular monthly closes its 31st volume with an excellent number. It has four illustrated articles—"The Canadian Tourist Party in Italy," "Lady Brassey's Remarkable Adventures in Borneo," "Rev. Geo. Bond's Vignettes of Travel in Northern Palestine" and a graphic account of the "Forward Movement" in London. "A Diamond in the Rough" is a clever Newfoundland character sketch by a minister's daughter. "The First Methodist Society" takes us back to the beginning of that remarkable church. "Sam Hobart" is a graphic sketch of railway life. A touching east end story and Mrs. Barr's Yorkshire tale are very racy reading. The editor gives "A Calm View of Federation," arguing strongly in its favor. The article on "Minister's Institutes" will be of much interest to ministers and laity.

MINOR JOTTINGS.

A GERMAN scientist has discovered that trees, the trunks of which are covered with moss or lichen, are more liable to lightning strokes than others, and imputes to this the comparative immunity of the oak.

A NEW color for dresses is "anemone," which is old rose idealized into delicate beauty, and is particularly effective in velvet, which material is now so much used for petticoats of gowns designed for important dress occasions.

WHITE alpaca, plain or sprigged with rosebuds, is one of the antique novelties of the season. For a tea gown or garden dress it is luxuriously cool and light and gracefully classical in outline. There is Indian embroidery on white silk, intended to drape the front and form the high collar and deep cuffs of the toilet which, with a cream-white alpaca, is very lovely.

A DEFECT is said to have declared itself in the mechanical construction of the phonographic doll, and Mr. Edison says that several weeks of hard work will be required to set it right. The manufacture of the speaking dolls has been giving employment to 300 young women, who are laid off until the required modifications in the anatomy of the dolls are affected.

THE opinion that the cancer germ is derived (like those of consumption, scarlet fever, etc.) from food animals, through indiscriminate flesh-eating, vaccination, etc., derives support by the extensive observations of M. M. Verneuil and Reclus, respecting the prevalence of cancer, who find that persons who subsist upon a vegetable diet are much less subject to the diseases than those who use flesh largely.

"THE beautiful women of the world" are requested, in a circular, to send their photographs to the Baroness Kiara von der Deckler at Tiflis. These will all be examined by a committee of artists, and those selected will be put in an album, with the title "Types of Female Beauty of the Last Years of the Nineteenth Century." Then the album will be sent to the Moscow Museum. Beautiful women of all countries are requested to forward their pictures, but don't all send at once.

THOUSANDS of fashionable people went to Hyde Park, London, the other day to see whether the women under the lead of Lady Florence Dixie, who had undertaken to abolish the side saddle and the modern riding habit for women, would supplant it with the ordinary saddle, frock coat and knickerbockers and dare to face the music. For weeks London swelldom has discussed this subject. Up to the night before it was said that the women would surely appear, but they were not there. London is still waiting to be astounded by the appearance of women riding en cavalier. The French tailor who made the costumes for those ladies told a cable correspondent a month ago that London society women would never have courage enough to wear them.

FAST FLYING MACHINES.

THE LATEST AND MOST WONDERFUL EFFORTS OF INVENTORS.

Remarkable Contrivances Which Won't Go —New and Strange Devices For Water Navigation—The "Kentucky Senator"— Curiosities of the Patent Office.

All that has been written about that wonderful museum of original ideas, the collection of models in the Patent Office has scarce begun to give a notion of the extraordinary freaks of human ingenuity therein displayed. It might be appropriately regarded as a chamber of horrors if one could know what tragedies of disappointed hopes, productive of lunacy and suicide, are represented by these multitudinous contrivances. Flying machines and devices for securing perpetual motion are turned out on new plans as plentifully as ever, as is likewise the case with every imaginable sort of product of more or less disordered inventive faculties. So far as the navigation of the air is concerned, it must be owned that the problem has not yet been proved insoluble; but, unfortunately the inventors do not seem to advance a particle with it. The patent most recently granted in this line, only a few weeks old, is for an equipment as nearly like a bird's as possible, with folding wings and tail made of enormous feathers of tin and silk. But the gentleman who suggested this apparatus for aerial exercise equips himself at the same time with a balloon big enough to support his weight while he flops along and steers with his tail feathers. And those would-be-flyers who do not expect to avail themselves of balloons are in no case able to devise any other method of elevating themselves in the atmosphere than by inclined fans or sails revolving. These ought to raise them, of course, but in practice they don't, somehow. One man, after he has once got up in the air by means of his revolving fans, expects to make his way in any desired direction with propellers at each end of the little boat he sits in. Another thinks to utilize a kite of vast area, within which sails revolve, while a basket is suspended beneath. The kite has a fish-tail for steering with. Still another has two cylindrical balloons, between which and beneath hangs a boat; the latter has two large paddle-wheels like those of a steam boat, and a propeller in the rear besides. A curiosity in this way is an air-tricycle, with paddles worked by the feet and a balloon to neutralize gravity.

There are contrivances for utilizing the motion of the waves not less interesting. One is a vessel with its back broken in the middle, so that waves hump it up and down and thus produce power to work the propeller. It is not explained how the people on board are to keep their feet under these peculiar circumstances; one would think that they would be afflicted with a variety of seasickness unusually intense. A seeming improvement on this is in the form of two separate boats, across which a frame-work is stretched endwise. Wave-motion is supposed to propel this, also, though, as a matter of fact, it doesn't. Perhaps the entire box-end of which comprising about one-sixth of the vessel's length, is made to revolve by the mere progress of the craft through the water, and its revolution operates the propeller at the stern. The inventor does not state how the ship is supposed to get started. Small boats to put on the feet for the purpose of walking upon the water, water-tricycles and water-bicycles have already become publicly known. A surprising sort of lifeboat is made of two cylindrical shells, one inside of the other, and no matter how often the outer shell may roll over, the passenger in the inner shell, which is hung like a pendulum, must always remain right side up. The great trouble about lifeboats at sea is that they are very apt to turn bottom upwards or get swamped in being launched, but this trouble is gotten over by a craft of the sort that has two air-tight cylinders for sides and is right side up no matter how it falls into the water, which automatically sets the boat into shape to receive its passengers and crew, the oars being ready fastened in their places for rowing. This wonderful contrivance is rapidly coming into universal use.

But these are only a few of the queer and surprising ideas expressed by the 156,000 models in the Patent Office. There is an entire sewing machine made out of a single strip of copper two-thirds of an inch wide and 9 inches long. One end of the strip is sharpened in a long fine point, to make the needle, and the affair is worked very much on the same principle as an ordinary sewing-machine, with one thumb and forefinger. It will sew, too, but not conveniently enough to make it worth while. The beam of a plow patented many years ago is a gun as well, which was very convenient when Indians were about, because the farmer could so readily turn his horses one side and shoot with his agricultural instrument. Many other curiosities in the shape of guns are there, such as canes and umbrellas that one can shoot with if there is occasion. Also a rifle, the entire skeleton stock of which is a tube filled with hundreds of cartridges. Unluckily, it will not work fast enough to make it serviceable. Then there is a revolver that will fire big bullets or little ones, just as may happen to be requisite.

Speaking of killing people reminds one of coffins. One sort of patent casket for preventing burial alive is big enough to permit the late lamented, upon reviving below ground, to climb out of his grave by means of a ladder left handy for that purpose, and communicating by a ventilator hole with the upper world. In case he should not be strong enough to climb, a bell is provided and attached to his wrist, to summon assistance. Another coffin is so arranged that, if the corpse moves its forehead, the lid springs open.

The very newest patient in the electrical line is one that has just been introduced in Washington, and will shortly be brought out in the Western cities. It is the blacking of boots on the streets by dynamo. The contrivance consists, to begin with, of an ordinary boot-black stand and chair. In the box on which the customer puts his foot is an electric motor, to which is attached a long revolving arm inclosed in leather. All that is visible to the casual customer is about 6 feet of what looks like hose coming out of the box, with a rapidly revolving brush on the end of it. After the operator has daubed on the blacking in the ordinary way, he applies the quickly circling bristles, which put on an artistic shine in the twinkling of an eyebrow—and all for a nickel. The American public might be willing to pay more than that, one would think, to have its boots blacked by electricity. Of course, the performer turns the current on and off as he wants it or not. This novelty is to be offered as an attraction at all the seaside resorts the coming summer.

Among other models at the Patent Office is one of a chair, the rocking of which plays an organ inside of it; also, another rocking-chair that works an automatic fan, and a cradle that rocks the baby to sleep by clock-work while its mamma goes out to her club. There is a remarkable rat-trap in the shape of a peculiar circular sheet of tin that is set upon an open barrel. To an attachment is hung a bait, and the minute an impudent rodent touches it, a spring causes the tin surface to revolve once, letting drop into the barrel and resetting itself immediately ready for the next victim. In this way the whole barrel can be filled with rats without a change of bait. Another curious trap is an imitation rat that has a piece of toasted cheese stuck on the end of a little spear that projects from its nose a short distance. When a real rat comes up to nibble at the cheese, the spear jumps out about 6 inches and impales the unfortunate.

Another device of domestic economy is applied to the common barnyard fowl, and is called the "hen persuader." It is simply a piece of strong wire shaped like a long fork without a handle and fastened about the hen's ankle with the prongs extending rearward. In this way the fowl is rendered unable to scratch, and, not being able to move backwards, because the prongs of the persuader stick into the ground when she tries to do so, she must needs keep on going ahead all the time, which conduces to the finding of the greatest possible number of bugs and to the cheap nutrition of the bird. There is a patent bogus cat that is made by the pulling of a string to jump and startle pigeons for sportsmen, so that they may fly quickly and be difficult to hit; also, there is a trap to be nailed on the top of any tall pole, which closes up instantaneously upon any pigeon that lights there. Rubber earth-worms for fish bait are curious things, and so is a contrivance which dumps the servant out of bed by clock work at the proper time in the morning. Specimens of cloth, woven out of glass, spun inconceivably fine, are likewise interesting. The stuff is most beautiful for curtains, filtering the light through its substance in vari-colored rays. Cylindrical trunks, designed to defeat the efforts of the baggage-smasher, would appear so well adapted to that purpose that it seems a wonder they have never been adopted. But of all models in the Patent Office, the one that attracts the most attention when it is shown off is called indifferently the "mechanical jackass" or the "Kentucky Senator." It is a device best described as a combination of two whistles, a tin horn with a reed pipe inside of it, and a double flat circular tin diaphragm. It is worked by a sort of piston-pump, the handle of which is jerked with one hand while the instrument is held in the other, and the mixture of shriek and bellow that it sends forth is too horrible for words to give a notion of. It was intended originally for a fog alarm, but it appears to be chiefly in actual use for assisting at "shivaree" concerts, such as are given in rural districts in celebration of weddings that chance to be unpopular.—Globe Democrat.

Not a Pimple on Baby

Baby one year old. Bad with Eczema. Hair all gone. Scalp covered with eruptions. Cured by Cuticura. Hair splendid and not a pimple on him.

Cured by Cuticura

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scall head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

MRS. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

Fever Sore Eight Years.

I must extend to you the thanks of one of my customers, who has been cured by using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, of an old sore, caused by a long spell of sickness or fever 8 years ago He was so bad that he was fearful he would have to have his leg amputated, but is happy to say he is now entirely well—sound as a dollar. He requests me to use his name, which is H. H. CASON, merchant.

JOHN V. MINOR, druggist, Gainsboro, Tenn.

We have been selling your CUTICURA REMEDIES for years, and have the first complaint yet to receive from a purchaser. One of the worst cases of Scrofula I ever saw was cured by them.

A TROTTER KILLED BY A LIVE WIRE.

PLAINFIELD, June 5.—During a thunder shower here Wednesday a tree was blown across the roadway on Crescent avenue, knocking down a live electric light wire. Rambo, a trotter belonging to John Chandler, was being driven back from the track of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association by his trainer, Geo. Saddler, when the animal shied at the fallen tree and ran against the wire. The horse was killed instantly and the trainer was stunned. Rambo, it is said, had a record of 2:20.

THE plague of rats continues unchecked, and is indeed increasing in Lincolnshire, England, although hundreds of thousands have already been killed. The rodents are killing poultry and eating the corn and mangolds in spite of the efforts of professional catchers, who say the worst is still to come. Some of the rats are said to be as large as rabbits (the size of the rabbits is left to the imagination) and very vicious, attacking people when they (the rats) are brought to bay.

IGNORANCE was not bliss in the case of China's late representative in Thibet, who made no end of trouble because he is shaky in his geographical attainments. He labored under the mistake that Sikkim is merely a part of Thibet, and that the Thibetans therefore properly resisted the British when the latter invaded Sikkim. The blunder proved costly to China's representative, for after he had delayed a settlement of the trouble for weeks, he was recalled to Peking, and publicly degraded and denounced as an ignorant and stupid person. He knows more about political geography now than he did before.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

"AULD LANG SYNE."

Farewell Banquet to Mr. Allan D. Scatcherd.

A Royal Send-off—Those Who were Present—Sentiments of Esteem and Regard.

The farewell banquet tendered at the Grigg House last night to Mr. Allan D. Scatcherd, late of Gibbons, McNab & Mulkern's law office, who is about to depart for London, Eng., was a magnificent tribute to the esteem in which that gentleman is held by his legions of friends in this city. Mr. Scatcherd has made himself deservedly popular by his gentlemanly conduct, his genial disposition and his strict integrity, and no more ample testimony of the fact could be shown than by the splendid reception thus accorded him. The following gentlemen composed the Banquet Committee: Geo. H. Gillespie, jun., Geo. D. Cameron, Geo. C. Gunn, L. F. Lawrence, R. O. Wood, P. Mulkern, Fred. F. Harper, J. B. Kilgour, W. S. Chisholm, H. J. Sheriff, P. Macdonnell, F. Widder, H. Cronyn, Geo. D. Grand, Geo. T. Brown, Wilfred Davis, W. Thomas, J. H. Beattie, N. P. Graydon, W. A. Duffield, W. McDonald, R. M. C. Toothe, A. Beck, A. B. Cox, J. H. Brown, H. E. Gates, A. O. Graydon, W. C. Noble, W. R. Smyth, C. Grooms, C. D. Bazan, E. McMartin, C. B. Armstrong, Jas. Rogers, E. J. Harper, Geo. McNab, T. H. Weldon.

About 9 o'clock the guests began to arrive and were ushered into the banquetting room where a band of string instruments had been placed, making a very enjoyable feature of the occasion. The tables were tastily dressed with flowers and mine host, Thos. K. Grigg, had provided a varied menu served out in first-class style.

After the repast had been done ample justice to the toasting began. The speeches were witty and appropriate. While all present could not conceal their regret at Mr. Scatcherd's departure, yet they determined that no effort should be wanting to give him a right royal send-off, and to make the evening a pleasant remembrance to the guest in the days to come.

Mr. A. B. Cox occupied the chair, and in opening the toast-list said that Mr. Scatcherd needed no words of praise from him. He was known to all present, and to know him was to appreciate his character. After making a reference to Mr. Scatcherd's departure he announced his pleasure in proposing

"The Guest of the Evening."

The toast was drunk amid the greatest enthusiasm, the assembly rising and singing, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

When the cheering had subsided Mr. Scatcherd rose to respond. He said he found himself in a similar position to that of an old colored man in Strathroy whose friends were giving him a farewell dinner. When he rose to reply to the toast he said: "Well, citizens and brother Christians, I was thinking about moving myself from you but you love me so much that I will stay."

Mr. Scatcherd, continuing, said they had no idea how sincerely he appreciated their kindness to him. He could not express his thanks; words failed him. The parting was mingled with so much sorrow and pleasure that he knew not how to feel. He could only reiterate his thanks and assure them that the associations of the evening would ever be a bright spot in the past with him. When the speaker resumed his seat he was cheered again and again, the assembly once more singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. W. McDonald next recited a highly original "Address to a Jury," which was rendered in capital style.

Mr. Geo. C. Gunn in a few neat and appropriate remarks proposed the toast of "The Ladies."

It was responded to by Mr. W. R. Smyth, Mr. Fred Harper and Mr. J. H. Brown.

Mr. Macdonnell proposed the toast of the "Members of the Bar."

Messrs. R. M. C. Toothe, N. P. Graydon and J. H. Beattie made suitable replies.

Mr. G. T. Brown proposed the toast of "The Bankers."

Speeches were made by Messrs. Weldon, Macdonnell, R. Scatcherd and Chisholm. The latter also rendered an instrumental selection, "Will Ye Nae Come Back Again?" in a pleasing manner.

"The Commercial Interests"

were proposed by Mr. Hume Cronyn and responded to by Messrs. Duffield, Gillespie and G. T. Brown.

Mr. A. B. Cox sang "His Heart was True to Poll" in his own inimitable style.

"The Law Students."

This toast brought to their feet Messrs. Fred Harper, E. McMartin, W. Davis and Jas. Rogers.

"The Press"

was proposed by Mr. W. R. Smyth in a neat speech, in which he referred in a complimentary way to the local papers and the powers of the press in general. He was replied to by the representatives present.

Mr. W. McDonald then rendered several selections from Shakespeare in excellent style, and received a double encore.

The company then joined hands, singing "Auld Lang Syne" in honor of Mr. Scatcherd, for whom three hearty cheers and a tiger as a send-off were given.

After singing "God Save the Queen" the assemblage broke up at an early hour.

Mr. Scatcherd has been appointed manager of the Buffalo Cyclorama Company, of London, Eng., and goes immediately to that city. The ADVERTISER joins in the tribute paid to him and wishes him that success in future life which he has in the past so well merited.

RELICS OF BURNS

To Be Auctioned Off—Chance for a Scottish Club.

Every summer thousands of visitors make pilgrimages to the cottage in which Robert Burns was born, near Alloway Kirk and the Banks o' Doon, says London Truth. They are shown the room in which the poet first saw the light, as well as the "original" furniture used by Burns' parents. Will it be believed that all the genuinely original furniture of the cottage was sold off by public roup in September, 1843, most of it being now in the possession of a gentleman in Manchester, who wants a thousand pounds for the following articles: The father's chair, the mother's chair, the poet's chair, Pembroke table with flap, another without flap, the mother's work table, chest of drawers, eight day clock, corner cupboard, drinking cup of wood, ale horn, tea bell, tea-caddy, toddy ladle, twelve chairs supplied by "the Miller Goudie," the sword worn by Burns as an exciseman and the probe he used on his preventive excursions. All these are authenticated by letters from men who had seen them before 1843. The seller throws in five visitors' books—from 1829 to 1843—containing 7,000 autographs, as well as a letter of the poet. Here is a chance for some Scotch museum or Burns club. They were offered for sale to the Secretary for Scotland, but his secretary, wrote that while they were of "no value," they might be given to the nation. The seller replied that, as the nation had never given him anything, he hid not see his way to carry out his proposal. A sixpence from every member of a Burns Club would secure the collection.

Queen's Avenue Methodist Church.—Rev. C. P. Wells, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Morning anthem, "I Will Sing of Thy Power" (Sullivan); quartet, "God of Mercy" (Costa.) Evening anthem, "Zion" (Rodney); duet, "Faint Not, Fear Not, God is Near" (Smart), Mrs. Keltie and Miss Griffith.

R. J. YOUNG & CO.

To-morrow (Saturday) you will find us again well prepared to serve you with cheap goods all through the store, and bear in mind although we do not advertise such clap-trap bargains and bogus discounts as a few of our neighbors, still our well-bought goods are being sold cheaper right along the line than others sell.

Another case of Boys' Sailor Hats at 15c.; well worth 25c.

A great job line of Plain and Striped Chambray, worth 12½c., selling at 8½c.

Special line Ladies' Machine Knitted Cotton Hose at 15c., worth 25c.; both black and colored.

Men's Summer Coats and Vests, both for $1 75. Nothing in London to touch them at $2 50.

Boys' All-wool Suits, $2; worth $2 50.

Parasols that don't have to be reduced in price to sell them, as our regular price is lower than the reduced price of some stores. Our great $1 line beats them all. Our wonderful $1 25 Parasol is extra cheap. Our special $1 50 guaranteed line of Parasols knocks competition silly.

Saturday will be a great day in our Millinery rooms. New styles and new ideas in trimming up. People say Young's Millinery is nicest and most stylish in the city, and prices very moderate. Come and see and judge for yourself.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's indicate only a fairly active general trade movement. At Chicago, however, there appears to be an active and very general demand for staples.

Stocks of wheat increased about 2,000,000 bushels as compared with May 1.

Exports of wheat (and of flour as wheat), both coasts, equal 2,324,610 bushels this week against 1,778,924 bushels in the like week a year ago, and 1,621,986 bushels last week. Total shipments from July 1, 1888, to date equal 100,-562,344 bushels, against 81,861,433 bushels in a like portion of 1888-89.

Business failures reported to Bradstreet's number 175 in the United States this week, against 140 last week, and 201 this week last year. Canada had 27 this week, against 12 last week. The total number of failures in the United States Jan. 1 to date, is 4,942, against 6,215 in a like portion of 1888.

Finance Notes.

The annual statement of the Bank of Toronto shows net profits of the year $231,845, against $ 51,748 the previous year, or a fraction over 14 per cent. of the paid-up capital. After paying two dividends of 5 per cent. each, $100,000 was added to "rest," making that fund now $1,500,-000, or 75 per cent. of capital. The balance at credit of profit and loss is $23,808.

LONDON AND PRECINCTS.

Mr. James Priddis is about to leave for the South in hopes of regaining health.

The market was well attended to-day. Prices did not show any noticeable change.

The wife of Thomas Jacques, of Green county, Iowa, formerly of Mount Brydges, is dead.

The families of W. L. Graham and H. A. Nelles have removed to Port Stanley for the summer.

The members of Gilmore's band spent the early part of the day in seeing the sights of the city.

Quite a number of farmers and others came to the city to make purchases to-day, and then went to hear Gilmore's great band at the Queen's Avenue Rink.

The fire brigade had a run to Dr. Brown's, 526 Talbot street, at noon to-day. It was caused by a defective chimney, and required no great effort to extinguish it.

Sarah Loughton, charged with vagrancy, was committed to jail for six months by the Police Magistrate this morning. Sarah White, on a similar charge, was remanded until Tuesday.

There is considerable excitement in North Dorchester owing to a number of animals being bitten by dogs supposed to be mad. Mr. Barnard has killed one cow that showed symptoms of hydrophobia. The council has issued orders to destroy all dogs going at large without being muzzled.

Now that the insurance companies have been twice defeated in the case against the Ontario Government regarding the destruction of the kitchen and laundry at the London Asylum, there are two courses open to the underwriters. They must pay the loss or ask leave of the British Privy Council to make another appeal.

The Late William Glover.

Another of the old settlers has passed away in the person of William Glover, near Port Stanley, Southwold township, at the ripe age of 91 years, 4 months and 20 days. Mr. Glover was born in the Parish of Ailsworthy, Devonshire, England, in 1839, and emigrated to this country in 1842. He settled in the township of Southwold and was a contractor in building the London and Port Stanley gravel road. He had lived at his residence, "Thomas Farm" for the last 25 years, the last eight of which he has been an acute sufferer from rheumatism. Mr. Glover was a man of genial disposition and a consistent member of the Methodist body, to which he has liberally contributed, one of his gifts being the new organ of the church at Port Stanley. The funeral there yesterday was largely attended.

The G. T. R. Washout.

The gang working at the scene of the wash-out on the G. T. R. near Hyde Park is erecting trestle work underneath the track as a temporary support. Communication will be opened this evening, and all trains running as usual.

Alleged Grievances at Barracks.

A letter has been received at this office purporting to be from some of the members of "D" Company and complaining of the food served to them at the infantry barracks and of the general treatment which the men receive. An ADVERTISER reporter called on Col. Smith at the barracks this morning and was courteously received by that gentleman. On being informed of the complaint, he denied that any cause whatever existed with which the men could express dissatisfaction. The rations served were the same as had always been dispensed since the first opening of the barracks. If any complaint had been openly made it would have come before him and been attended to but he had heard nothing. As far as he knew the general comfort of the inmates was looked after in the best manner, and if there had been any dissatisfaction expressed it was done in private and where no real grievance existed.

The Hospital Trustees.

The Hospital Trust met in the City Hall yesterday afternoon, those present being Col. Lewis (chairman), Trustees Complin, Purdom and Gilmour, Dr. Balfour (medical superintendent) and Secretary Graydon. Tenders for the erection of fire escapes at the hospital were read, and the contract awarded to R. Dennis at the sum of $375. The sum of $4 75 was reported in arrears due from A. C. Smith through inability to pay. Filed. Mayor Taylor said that Mrs. May, living in London township, had been admitted as a city patient, and contended that she should be on the county list. This was agreed to. The following accounts passed: Mrs. Edward Adams, eggs, $34; W. E. Saunders & Co., drugs, $93 87; Reid Bros., contingencies, $3; James Cowan & Co., $11 37; John Green & Co., house furnishings, $3 96; Reid Bros., $2; ADVERTISER Printing Company, $6 60; Wilson Bros., $46 54; Joseph McLeod, milk, $74 40; London Soup Company, $14 99; John Ranahan, bread, $36 16; Ed. Adams & Co., $8 80; James Perkin, meat, $115 73; J. Stephens & Son, medical appliances, $16; Wilson Bros., $75 44; Merritt Bros., plastering and kalsomining hospital, $85 97. Moved by Mr. Gilmour, seconded by Mayor Taylor that tenders be called for the erection of the addition to the hospital and that Engineer Moore be asked to superintend the work if found necessary; carried. The meeting then adjourned.

'Hoisting the Flag."

The Demonstration Committee of the Board of Education appointed to inaugurate the Dominion Day celebration to be called "The Hoisting of the Flag," met yesterday, there being present Messrs. W. Yates, J. Stephenson, J. Cook and E. H. Johnston. Mr. Cook was made chairman and Mr. Johnston secretary of the committee. The committee decided to have a procession of the school children from the Union School through the business portion of the city to the Collegiate Institute. It is that fully expected 4,000 children will take part and a cordial invitation will be extended to the separate schools to join in the demonstration. On arriving at the Institute, the flag will be hoisted by a number of the school girls, one to be chosen from each school. Patriotic speeches on national themes will then be delivered by several prominent men and the proceedings will be interspersed by the singing of national airs by the school children under the direction of the music master, Mr. Barron. The various civic officials, bodies and all the clergymen of the various denominations will be invited to be present on the occasion. The committee expect the hearty co-operation of all the teachers in carrying out the celebration and from the energetic manner, in which the committee have set to work and the deep interest manifested in it from various quarters, it is certain that the citizens will have a demonstration on Dominion Day, of which they will be proud.

SOUTH LONDON.

Mr. James R. Dewar, of Omaha, Neb., who has been on a short visit to his parents in London South, spent Wednesday afternoon with relatives in town, and left by the evening express for his Western home.—[Sarnia Observer.

Something will have to be done on the Queen street south approach to Victoria bridge to prevent the washing away of the western sidewalk. Already a mass of earth has been washed into Police Magistrate Parke's property.

Miss Ida Moore, daughter of Mr. Wm. Moore, has returned after obtaining a gold medal and first-class diploma at nurse-training in the General Hospital. She had been there two years.

Mr. W. R. Davis, the Conservative candidate for South Perth and brother of Rev. Canon Davis, South London, has met with a severe accident. He had obtained two bottles of medicine, one to be used externally and the other internally. The bitters were incorrectly labeled, and Mr. Davis took a mixture containing iodine or carbolic acid by mistake, with the result that he is seriously ill.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

—A little girl named Hattie Wood fell from the roof of a shed at Chatham Friday morning, and broke her right arm below the elbow.

—Mr. C. W. M. Simpson has severed his connection with the Traders' Bank, Ingersoll, of which he has been the manager ever since it opened a branch here.

—A son of Washington Mills, of Richmond, near Aylmer, was drowned on Thursday in Otter Creek. The lad, who was 14 years of age, was wading with his brother in the flats, which were flooded. Getting beyond his depth he was drowned before help could be obtained.

—Some 2,230 feet of the St. Clair tunnel have been completed on the American side and 1,935 on the Canadian side. During Tuesday night's rain the pumping gear on this side broke, and great difficulty was experienced in keeping the tunnel from being flooded before the necessary repairs could be done.

—The Petrolea Shakespearean Club held a meeting the other evening, at which the following officers were elected: J. J. Bell, B.A., president; John Fraser, vice-president; Miss McMillan, second vice-president; F. Wolfe (formerly of London), treasurer; J. E. Armstrong, secretary; Executive Committee, Misses, Fairbank and Murray, and Messrs. Clyde, Copland and Mackenzie.

A SEALING SCHEME

By Which the Yankee Cruisers Are Circumvented.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.—A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., says: "The seal pirates in Behring Sea have adopted a new device for circumventing the revenue officers which is even now being put in successful operation and which can be carried on throughout the summer unless the United States Government sends to the Arctic swifter revenue cutters than the Bear and Rush.

The Pirates have established a rendezvous at Sandpoint, midway of the Aleutian group of islands. The scooners when they have collected 100 sealskins put in there, leave their cargo and then resume hunting, thus if they are overhauled by the American cutters they will have so few skins that they can be thrown overboard or concealed and all evidence of seal poaching removed.

A swift steamer has been chartered to cruise about Sandpoint and take the skins as the schooners come in. This vessel is so fast that it can easily outrun any Government steamer now in commission. This steamer will make trips to Victoria and unload skins when she gets a cargo and then return.

The work, it is said, has already been in operation a week. The pirates expect to make a larger clean up than last season.

Things one would rather have expressed differently.—Photographer—Please look a little pleasant, miss. I know it's hard, but it's only for a moment.

TRACED TO TORONTO.

Mrs. Cowles Will Take Legal Steps to Recover Her Child.

BUFFALO, June 7.—The details of the sensational abduction by Eugene H. Cowles, of Cleveland, of his daughter Florence have already been published. Sheriff Sawyer, of Cleveland, came here Wednesday and asked for assistance from the Buffalo police in locating Mr. Cowles. A detective was detailed on the case, and they succeeded in tracing Mr. Cowles to Niagara Falls, and from there to the Welland Hotel, St. Catharines, where he was found. He afterward left for Toronto with the child. Yesterday morning Mrs. Cowles, her attorney and others interested in the case arrived here from Cleveland and took the first train for Toronto, intending to take legal steps to recover the girl in case her father refused to give her up.

THE RING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.—The California Athletic Club have completed arrangements for a contest to a finish between the feather-weights Billy Murphy of Australia, and Jimmy Larkin, of New Jersey, for $1,600. The contest will take place in July or August.

A Brakeman's Peculations.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 7.—Alonzo Hutchinson, a switchman, was arrested in the Wabash yards here Thursday night on a charge of being the leader of a gang of six railroad men who have been systematically robbing the freight cars of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad at Salida, Col., for months past. The goods stolen were valued at over $50,000.

Vancouver to San Francisco via C. P. R. Steamers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.—Charles F. Crocker, general manager of the Occidental and Oriental Steamship Company, says word has come from the steamship agency at Hong Kong that the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company has announced an intention of resuming steamer service between Vancouver and San Francisco. The result of such an invasion by the Canada Pacific would be a general slaughter of rates.

A Stratford Boy Fatally Burned.

STRATFORD, June 7.—A young boy of about 15 years, named Neff, a son of a workman in the Smith Purifier Works, was burned so badly Thursday night that he has since died. It seems that he was one of those who were engaged in building a bonfire in front of the Reform headquarters—at all events his clothing having received a portion of the coal oil, which was being used, caught fire, and he only was saved from immediate destruction by a bystander wrapping his coat about him.

The Political Situation

Has not materially changed within the last year, but Wilson's Wild Cherry is becoming better known every week as a cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Loss of Voice and other affections of the Throat, Chest and Lungs. For twenty years this reliable medicine has been used in scores of families with the greatest success. Sold by all druggists. Get the genuine in white wrappers only.

No language can express the feelings of a deaf mute who steps on a tack in a dark room.

"George," exclaimed Mrs. Fangle. "Don't bother me," replied Fangle; "I'm reading an absorbing article." "What is it about?" "Sponges."

A child may be suffocated by a bad attack of Croup. Wilson's Wild Cherry gives immediate relief and quickly cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Cold in the Head, Bronchitis and similar diseases. Get a bottle and keep it in the house; it may save your child's life, as it has done in many cases. It is so pleasant that children take it like syrup. For Coughs and Colds in adults it has no equal. Get the genuine in white wrappers.

COLONEL QUARITCH, V.C.

By H. RIDER HAGGARD.

Copyrighted by Rose Publishing Co., Toronto, Ont., and printed by special arrangement, through the American Press Association.]

Edward Cossey turned his face to the wall and indulged in such meditations as the occasion gave rise to, and they were bitter enough. He was bent upon this marriage as he had ever been, more so in fact, that his father was out of the way. He knew that Ida hated him—he had known that all along—but he had trusted to time and marriage to overcome that dislike. And now that accursed Quest had brought about the ruin of his hopes. Ida had seen her chance of escape, and had, like a bold woman, seized upon it. There was one ray of hope, and one only. He knew that the money would not be forthcoming to pay off the mortgages. He could see, too, from the tone of the Squire's letter, that he did not altogether approve of his daughter's decision. And his father was dead. Like Cæsar, he was the master of many legions, or rather of much money, which is as good as legions. Money can make most paths smooth to the feet of the traveler, and why not this? After much thought, he came to a conclusion. He would not trust his chance to paper, he would plead his cause in person. So he wrote a short note to the Squire, acknowledging Ida's and his letter, and saying that he hoped to come and see him as soon as ever the doctor would allow him out of doors.

Meanwhile George, having delivered his letter, had gone upon another errand. Pulling up the fat pony in front of Mr. Quest's office, he alighted and entered. Mr. Quest was disengaged, and he was shown straight into the inner office, where the lawyer sat, looking more refined and gentleman-like than ever.

"How do you do, George?" he said, cheerily; "sit down; what is it?"

"Well, sir," answered that lugubrious worthy, as he awkwardly took a seat, "the question is, what isn't it. These be rum times, they be; they tare to puzzle a man, they do."

"Yes," said Mr. Quest, balancing a quill pen on his finger, "the times are bad enough."

Then came a pause.

"Dash it all, sir," went on George presently, "I may as well get it out; I have come to speak to you about the Squire's business."

"Yes," said Mr. Quest.

"Well, sir," went on George, "I am told that these dratted mortgages have passed into your hands and that you have called in the money."

"Yes, that is correct," said Mr. Quest again.

"Well, sir, the fact is the Squire can't get the money. It can't be had, nohow, Nobody won't take the land as security. It might be so much water for all people will look at it."

"Quite so. Land is in very bad odor as security now."

"And that being so, sir, what is to be done?"

Mr. Quest shrugged his shoulders. "I do not know. If the money is not forthcoming, of course, I shall however unwillingly, be forced to take my legal remedy."

"Meaning, sir——"

"Meaning that I shall bring an action for foreclosure, and do what I can with the lands."

George's face darkened.

"And that reads, sir, that the Squire and Miss Ida will be turned out of Honham, where they have been for centuries, and that you will turn in."

"Well, that is what it comes to George. I am sincerely sorry to press the Squire, but it's a matter of £30,000, and I am not in a position to throw away £30,000."

"Sir," said George, rising in indignation, "I don't know how you came by them there mortgages. There's some things that lawyers know and honest men don't know, and that is one of them. But it seems you've got 'em and you're going to use 'em—and that being so, Mr. Quest, I have summut to say to you—and that is that no good will come out to you from this here move."

"What do you mean by that, George?" said the lawyer, sharply.

"Never you mind what I mean, sir. I means what I says. I means that sometimes people has things in their lives snugged away where nobody can't see them, things as quiet as though they were dead and buried, and that ain't dead and buried, things so much alive that they fare as though they were fit to kick the lid off their coffin. That's what I means, sir, and I means that when folk set to work to do a hard and wicked thing those dead things sometimes gets up and walks where they is least wanted; and mayhap if you goes on for to turn the old Squire and Miss Ida out of the castle, mayhap, sir, something of that sort will happen to you, for mark my word, sir, there's justice in the world, sir, as mayhap you will find out. And now, sir, I wish you good morning, and leave you to think on what I have said," and he was gone.

"George," called Mr. Quest after him, rising from his chair, "George," but George was out of hearing.

"Now what did he mean by that—what the devil did he mean?" said Mr. Quest with a gasp as he sat down again. "Surely," he thought, "that man cannot have got hold of anything about Edith. Impossible, impossible, if he had he would have said more, he would not have confined himself to hinting—that would take a cleverer man; he would have shown his hand. He must have been speaking at ransom to frighten me, I suppose. By Heavens, what a thing it would be if he had got hold of something. Ruin, absolute ruin! I'll settle up this business as soon as I can, and leave the country; I can't stand the strain, it's like having a sword over one's head. I've half a mind to leave it in some one else's hands and go at once. No, for that would look like running away. It must be all rubbish; how could he know anything about it?"

No further letter came to Edward Cossey from the castle, but, impatient as he was to do so, another fortnight elapsed before he was able to go up and see Ida and her father. At last, one fine December morning, he was for the first time since his accident allowed to take carriage exercise, and his drive was to Honham Castle.

When the Squire, who was sitting in the vestibule writing letters, saw a poor pallid man, rolled up in fur, with a white face scarred with shot marks and black rings round his large dark eyes, being helped from a closed carriage, he did not know who it was, and called to Ida, who was passing along the passage, to tell him.

Of course she recognized her admirer instantly, and wished to leave the room, but her father prevented her.

"You got into this mess," he said forgetting how and for whom she got into it, and now you must get out of it in your own way."

When Edward, having been assisted into the room, saw Ida standing there, all the blood in his wasted body seemed to rush for a few second into his pallid face.

"How do you do, Mr. Cossey," she said. "I am glad to see you out, and hope that you are better."

"I beg your pardon, I cannot hear you," he said, turning round; "I am stone deaf in my right ear."

INDEPENDENT ORDER FORESTERS.

The standing committee of the High Court of Michigan, Order of Foresters, held a meeting at Saginaw on Thursday and located the next High Court session at Port Huron on Aug. 14. Members of the Committee from West Bay City, Lansing, Port Huron and Flint were present, as was Dr. Oronhyatekha, of Toronto, chief ranger of the order.—[Port Huron Times.

A Blyth correspondent writes: "The new court of the Independent Order of Foresters is now well under way. They hold their meetings in the Temperance Hall, on Monday of every other week."

ROYAL TEMPLARS OF TEMPERANCE.

The Royal Templars of Temperance of Hamilton are completing arrangements for the erection of a public hall which will have a seating capacity of about 1,000. The building will cost $50,000. It will be in central locality, somewhere in the district bounded by Cannon, Main, Macnab and John streets. It will be built this summer.

ODDFELLOWSHIP.

The Grand Lodge of Oddfellows of Missouri has issued an edict that any member engaged in the liquor traffic in any manner must leave the order. The Freemasons of Arkansas, South Carolina and Alabama have issued a like edict.

The Oddfellows of this city are making arrangements for the opening excursion on the Canadian Pacific Railway to Windsor and Detroit about the middle of June, when the road is expected to be opened for passenger traffic. It is anticipated that it will be the largest excursion of the season, as everyone will want to try the route.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

Delegates have been pouring in by the thousand to attend the annual meeting of the Supreme National Council of the Royal Arcanum, which has been in session in Milwaukee during the past week. A special train carrying 1,000 from Chicago arrived on Wednesday afternoon, and a boat load came over from Michigan. A brief session of the council was held Wednesday morning. On Wednesday afternoon a grand street parade was in progress, and at its conclusion there was a municipal reception in Shultz Park, Mayor Peck delivering the address of welcome. Hon. Leigh R. Watts, of Virginia, responded; Hon. Elihu Coleman spoke a welcome for the State lodge, and Hon. Charles F. Loring, Boston, Hon. Daniel Spry, Barrie, G. A. Skinner, New York, and representatives of half a dozen other States were among the speakers. The city was handsomely decorated.

Warren Totten, Q.C., of Woodstock, left last week for Milwaukee. He was accompanied by Miss Totten, who will remain at Chicago. Mr. Totten goes on business in connection with the Royal Arcanum.

MASONIC.

H. R. H., the Duke of Connaught, who is a past grand warden of the Grand Lodge of England, of which the Prince of Wales is grand master, was present at a very large gathering of the brethren in the Masonic Temple, in Toronto, when he visited that place last week. he had a magnificent reception, and was presented with an address. His Royal Highness, in replying, referred to the magnificence of the assemblage, which he took to be a compliment to the Queen, his mother, and to the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England, his brother, and to himself as representing the Masons of Great Britain, Ireland and Bombay. He spoke of the loyalty of the craft of Canada and the feeling of affection evinced towards his mother and the kind expression of brotherly regard towards his brother, the Prince of Wales. He would long cherish this visit with its many happy and pleasing associations, and when he reached home he would take the first opportunity of conveying these expressions of esteem and good will given by the craft in Canada to his mother, the Queen, and his brother, the grand master. He said he had been nineteen years a Mason. He referred to his rank and position with the accompanying remarks that, notwithstanding those, he stood on the common plane of brotherhood with those around him. He was pleased to see that they still cherished in Canada the old traditions and landmarks of the craft. He referred at length to the foundations of the order being brotherly love, relief and truth, and referred to the charitable institutions that might be pointed to with pride. He concluded by thanking them for the kind reception. His remarks were couched in the most beautiful language, and his speech was without doubt one of the most finished ever listened to by a Toronto gathering of any kind. Bro. Ryerson now announced that his High ness had consented to become an honorary member of Ionic Lodge, which was received with loud applause. He signed the bylaws and was presented with a copy. He then retired to the chapter room, where he received the masters and past masters of the crafts. The proceedings were closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," his Highness joining hands and singing with the other brethren.

The Grand Lodge of Masons of New York met in the Masonic Temple, that city, on Wednesday. Edward B. Harper, who is secretary of the trustees of the Hall Asylum Fund, reported that $67,500 had been received during the year, and that the $20,000 necessary to complete the purchase of the Masonic Home property at Utica had been paid. There was still, he said, on deposit and drawing interest $185,197 10 to the credit of the fund. Grand Master Vrooman announced that by an act of the Legislature the number of trustees of the Hall and Asylum Fund had been increased to seven. The new trustees appointed are: Horace L. Green, of Fort Plain, Alexander T. Goodwin and George H. Wylie of Utica, and Jerome E. Morse, of Brooklyn. The other three are John Stewart, E. B. Harper and Geo. Hayes, of New York. Amendments were made to the constitution by which hereafter all lodges will be required to adhere strictly to the standard work, by which no unaffiliated Mason will be permitted to visit any lodge. It was also resolved that any person who attempts to gain admission to a lodge by fraudulent means shall be punished by expulsion from the order. The business of the day closed with the re-election by acclamation of these officers: John W. Vrooman, of Herkimer, grand master; William Sheerer, Brooklyn, deputy grand master; James Ten Eyck, Albany, senior grand warden; John Hodge, Lockport, junior grand warden; John J. Gorman, New York, grand treasurer; Edward M. L. Ehlers, New York, grand secretary.

Among the many creditable deeds of Richmond's public-spirited citizens, the latest and the one worthy of special commendation is Capt. A. G. Babcock's gift to the Masonic fraternity. This consists of a handsome country residence, 44½ acres of land and $5,000 in money. This philanthropy represents in money value about $30,000. The house is located in a beautiful grove on the Seven Pines road, just about two and one-half miles from the city, and is in the midst of a fertile farm. It is to be fitted up as a home for the orphans of deceased Masons, and will eventually be a home for widows and orphans of Masons. Capt. Babcock is about 55 years of age and is a native of Brooklyn. The fact that he is not a millionaire makes his donation especially a public-spirited deed. Capt. Babcock came South during the war and cast his fortunes with the Confederacy. He is a self-made man. After the war he engaged in the ice trade, at which he made a fortune estimated at $100,000. He organized the first baseball team in Richmond. He retired from business about ten years ago.

A party of prominent officers of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, 33rd degree, will visit this city next month. Among them will be John V. Ellis, M.P., of St. John, N.B., sovereign grand commander; J. W. Murton, of Hamilton, lieutenant-grand commander; H. A. MacKay, Berlin, treasurer; Fred Menet, of Toronto. While here there will be a reunion of Winnipeg Lodge of Perfection, 4 to 14; Bethesda Chapter of Rose Croix, 15 to 18; Manitoba Consistory, 19 to 32. The reunion will last two or three days.—[Winnipeg Free Press.

CANADIAN ORDER FORESTERS.

Bro. W. McEwing, D. W.C.R., organized Court Lancaster, No. 251, Canadian Order of Foresters, at Lancaster on June 2 with the following officers: J. P. Snider, C.R.; George A. Meadows, V.C.R.; O. W. Froom, R.S.; D. M. McCrimmon, F.S.; J. A. Ruddick, Treas.; R. Bethune, Chap.; W. H. Carr, S.W.; N. M. Corbun, J.W.; J. D. Wightman, S.B.; B. O. Smiter, J. B. This will be a first-class court.

The High Court, Canadian order of Foresters, will be held at Kingston, commencing June 10. Bro. Edward Towe, high chief ranger of the order, will preside. The following delegates from London will attend: James Mortimer, James McCormick, R. M. McElheran, Charles Doe, R. K. Cowan and Robert Elliott. It is expected that there will be about 200 delegates present from the several Provinces. Over 50 courts have been organized during the year. The receipts to the endowment fund for the month of May were $748,168.

ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Tuesday evening the regular meeting of Court Brighton was held, the rain preventa large number being in attendance, but the meeting was a lively one. The communication from the United States was filed after a discussion that at times became warm, but all were satisfied the course taken was the most advisable. The Picnic Committee reported everything in good order for the eleventh anniversary celebration at Springbank on the 23rd. The members are practicing hard for the tug of war and baseball contest. Next meeting the election of officers takes place and an interesting time may be looked for.

COMPANIONS OF THE FOREST.

The London South Circle propose going to Springbank to Court Brighton's picnic. As next Friday is quarterly night, when the election of officers will take place, there should be a large turn-out of members.

JUVENILE BRANCH.

At the last meeting of Court Pride of Brighton the election of officers resulted as follows: Right supporter of president, Bro. Alexander Maule; left supporter of president, Bro. Dunn; right supporter of vice-president, Bro. Waterman; left supporter of vice-president, Bro. Rudd; outer guard, Bro. Scott; inner guard, Bro. Pritchett; assistant secretary, Bro. T. Janes. The contest was keen for the several positions. A number of visitors were present.

LODGE NOTES.

The Grand Lodge of the Prentice Boys' meets in Brockville on Thursday next.

A brass band is being organized among the members of Milne Lodge, A. O. U. W., of Windsor.

The Sons of England and the Order of True Blues, of Woodstock, attended divine service at Old St. Paul's on Sunday last. They marched down Dundas street to the number of about 50, headed by the 22nd Battalion band. Rev. Mr. Wade preached a practical discourse to a large congregation.

Our Summer School at Courtright on the St. Clair River.

This is a novel and commendable project which has been undertaken by the principal of the Canada Business College of Chatham, and one which should meet with great favor among the teachers and pupils of other colleges who may have a desire to improve their time during the vacation term, and acquire a knowledge of book-keeping, improve their penmanship, take up the study of shorthand, learn to operate a typewriter or take a course of elocution. The classes will open on Monday, July 7 and close the latter part of August. The above subjects will be taught by able and experienced teachers, and as all classes are to be held between 8 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., with the exception of elocution, those who wish to spend the afternoon in any kind of healthful recreation either on the river or inland, will be at liberty to do so without missing any class work.

The college rooms are to be kept open in the afternoon with a teacher in charge, so that any who are anxious to spend the whole day in study will have every opportunity of doing so, and will receive from the teachers all necessary assistance in their work.

The St. Clair is unquestionably one of the grandest streams of pure fresh water in the world, and the village of Courtright is located at one of the choicest places on its banks. It has all the advantages of connection with the upper lake and river boats, the E. and H. Railway and M. C. Railway on the Canadian side, and Michigan railways which strike St. Clair City, which is just across the river on the Michigan side.

We know of no more lovely spot in America for such a purpose, and Mr. McLachlan, the principal of the above-mentioned institution, is to be congratulated on being the first to inaugurate such a project, and we wish him the success which his enterprise deserves, in carrying it to a successful issue.

We see by the particulars which he has sent us of the scheme, that the different railways have promised his students the benefit of the round trip for a fare and a third.

The conditions are that those who purchase tickets for the purpose of attending the school, will state where they are going, and ask the ticket agent where they purchase their tickets for a certificate, stating that they have purchased a first-class single fare ticket from ——— to Courtright to attend the summer school. On their return trip, they will receive another certificate from Mr. McLachlan, which will enable them to purchase their return ticket for one-third of a regular single fare, thus making one fare and a third for the round trip.

This will be a most delightful and profitable way for teachers to spend their vacation, and as they will have for their associates in the school room and in their hours in the afternoons those whose calling and interests are identical with their own, it will be to them like an extended teachers' convention, and should be productive of excellent results.

The advertisement of the school will be found in another column, but as it contains little or no information not given here, we would advise those interested to write to D. McLACHLAN, C. B. College, Chatham, for fuller particulars. b-d & w

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION

A Judicious Compound of Wit and Wisdom

Young man, her's a pointer: Last week a beautiful young girl in New Orleans went into a restaurant to eat a dish of ice cream with her best fellow. As soon as she had finished her dish she fell to the floor and died.

"Hair Magic"

Is a good name of Dr. Dorenwend's German preparation for the hair. It really works like magic. All who have used it pronounce it to be unequaled for remedying the lost vitality of the hair roots, restoring gray hair, removing dandruff, etc. Just try it. It is first-class. All druggists sell it.

Interested in Science—Miss Millie—Oh, mother, Professor Science is to lecture tonight. Can't I go? Mother—Dear me! What's got into you? Miss Millie—Why, he's to lecture on "Sun Spots," and I'm just wild to get a good cure for freckles.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

His first night in N. J.—Parker, cried his Lordship to his valet, "listen, there is a man approaching to serenade us. Can you catch the tune?" "You are wrong, me Lud," returned Parker. "That is not a band. It is a mosquito."

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority

A heart that has been often tendered is tough.

Ferguson—Why did Richard III. offer to give his kingdom for a horse? McCusick—I don't know, unless he had once paid cab hire in Hamilton and thought it would be cheaper.

WHY WILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief. Price, 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1. W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street London.

Order of the day—Down with the strawberry!

Weather report—A thunder clap.

ARE YOU MADEmiserable by Indigestion Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street, London.

The man who has secured a patent on a buggy bed should hasten to explain that he has improved a vehicle, or every housewife in the land will be gunning for him with deadshot.

SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY—A positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria and Canker-Mouth. W. T. STRONG, 184 Dundas street, London.

Stanley is doing a good deal of talking nowadays. Coming events cast their shadows, etc. Mrs. Stanley will have the floor a few weeks hence.

"Did you ever read 'The Man Who Laughs?' asked Miss Belle Pepperton of Willie Wishington. "No, but I've heahd him, you know. He's the feller that tells you the same stohwy everwy day and makes it longah and moh tiahsome each time, you know."

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and cause a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

A gentleman called the other night upon a London lady who has a sweet voice and urged her to sing at some entertainment. "I do not feel well enough to go and sing a solo," she said. "Oh, never mind singing a solo," said her caller magnanimously, "sing anything."

Mothers

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation; its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 25 doses, 35 cents.

Professor—Mr. Chumpy, I am anxious, for your father's sake, to break the long list of demerit marks you have won here. Do you think you will ever learn anything? "No, sir." Mark Mr. Chumpy as having correctly answered all the questions put to him this lesson."

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

Mr. Thomas Dillon, business manager of the Sanilac County Republican, is the guest of Mr. A. A. Campbell.

Mr. Alfred Ellis, of Madover street, South London, leaves for Chicago to-day for the benefit of his health.

Rev. Dr. Booth, of Erie, Pa., will again occupy the pulpit of St. James' Presbyterian Church at both services to-morrow.

Mrs. G. T. Kent, a respected member of Mount Zion Tabernacle, has left Hamilton for this city, where she intends to reside in future with her son.

The Seventh Battalion, which is now putting in its annual drill, had a route march through the city last night, headed by its brass and bugle bands.

It looks like bringing coal to Newcastle to buy veal in London and bring it here, yet that is what is being done by local butchers, who say they cannot buy calves here.—[Clinton New Era.

A Belmont correspondent writes: "A peculiar mishap took place last Saturday on the farm of J. G. Campbell, Yarmouth, whereby a valuable horse was killed. It appears that the animal when turned out to pasture went to the woods, and began rubbing itself against a tree that was decayed at the top, when a portion of it fell on the horse, breaking its neck. The horse was valued at $150."

The ADVERTISER acknowledges the receipt from Mr. Wm. Edgar, general passenger agent of the Grand Trunk Railway, of a neat little volume entitled "Fishing and Hunting Resorts of the Grand Trunk Railway." It gives a large amount of valuable information for those who wish to spend their holidays away from home. It will be furnished to anyone sending his address to Mr. Edgar, G. T. R. Montreal.

What came near being a serious accident on Oxford street the other night took place. A sister of Mr. Shae, grocer, corner of Oxford and Waterloo streets, was driving to the city, when the buggy came in contact with a post, snapping the whiffletree and almost throwing the lady to the ground. Had the horse been a spirited one the accident might have proved fatal. Mr. Shae had the rig fixed, and the lady drove on none the worse of the mishap.

Dwellers on Wellington street north who take pride in cultivating flowers to beautify their gardens are sorely afflicted by juvenile thieves, who not only steal the flowers but break and destroy the plants as well, causing much vexation of spirit to the owners thereof. "Cannot an 'arm of the law' wander around the neighborhood occasionally, or must we put up our fences again?" asks a northender. "If I can catch the pilferers it will not be a very flowery meeting," he continued, with fire in his eye.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held at the Home, 335 King street, on Thursday. Members present: Mesdames Carfrae, Perrin, Reid, Murray, Hopkins, Fysh, Kent, Ward, Whitehead, Gibson, Burns, Complin, and Misses Mason and Kennedy. The Treasurer's report showed receipts $879 27; disbursements, $745 60; balance, $133 67. Reports from the different homes were all satisfactory. It was decided to hold a garden party and sale of work at the Aged Women's Home on June 26. Contributions of useful and fancy articles to the sale will be thankfully received. Donations to Aged Men's Home for May: Bedclothing, Mrs. Dewey; reading matter, Mrs. Kent and a friend; cake, Mrs. O'Neil; rhubarb, Mrs. Tucker; clothing, J. W. Armstrong; table, a friend; hats, a friend. Donations to Aged Women's Home: Papers and magazines, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Whitehead; prunes, cake and preserves, Mrs. Fysh; cake and coffee, social at Mrs. Evans', Grey street; clothing, Mrs. Carfrae; eggs, Mrs. Mitchell; rhubarb, Mrs. Hutchinson; baking powder, Mrs. Glass, vegetables, a friend.

A Remonstrance.

Why, howdy, June! You here again?
Well, well! It seems to me
Your days are hardly quite as rare
As they're cracked up to be.

Rev. Fred. R. Ghent.

The ordination of Rev. Fred. R. Ghent, son of Mr. Ghent, clerk of the county court, took place at Goderich June 1, under Bishop Baldwin, of Huron Diocese. Mr. Ghent had been stationed at Rodney and Bismarck for the past year. His new appointment is Paisley and Pinkerton. Mr. Ghent has been killing two birds with one stone. He is here on his wedding trip and was in time for the election. Even if he did lose his vote he does not feel bad over it, seeing that the country is safe.—[Hamilton Times.

Mr. Bryton in "Forgiven."

On Tuesday evening Bryton and his superb company will be at the Grand Opera House in "Forgiven," the plan for which is now open. The New York World says: "'Forgiven' is one of the best combinations of humor and pathos in melodrama that we have. It holds an audience spellbound, and it does it with the simplest and most natural means. * * * Mr. Bryton, who is a remarkably handsome man, carried the female portion of the audience with him, not alone by his manly bearing and picturesque costumes, but by his naturalness and his intense fervor. He wins the sympathy of his spectators at once, and in the third act rouses them to unwonted excitement by his meeting with his enemy and his simple bravery and determination."

A Happy Band.

A happy band of children—92 in number—met yesterday afternoon in Queen's Park to enjoy their annual picnic—a pleasure which even the deluge of rain could not dampen. They were sheltered during the storm in the W. C. T. U. dining hall, and the flower and fruit hall. A pleasant feature of the afternoon was awarding prizes to those who memorized the greatest number of texts during the term. The following were the happy recipients: Annie McLoud, Eva Reeves, Jennie McLoud, Jean McLeod, Anrie Moss, Minnie Baker, Libbie Patton, Maggie Deely, Maggie Davis, Lizzie McLoud. Mrs. McDermid, the indefatigable superintendent, has a very earnest staff of eight teachers to co-operate with her in the good work "for God and home and native land." They meet every Saturday afternoon from the 1st of October to the end of May, in the W. C. T. U. rooms, and are taught to sew, and given Gospel temperance instruction. Every month the classes take their turn in entertaining the rest of the school, the happy faces testify to the interest they take in these monthly treats. For three months they conducted a children's prayer-meeting on Wednesday which was fairly well attended. This has been their most successful year in this branch of the work since they first organized some years ago.

For hot weather the "Montserrat" Lime-Fruit Juice, diluted and sweetened to the taste, is a delightful and healthful drink.

New Drygoods Store.

The excitement at the new Bargain Drygoods Store continues unabated. They are selling the finest quality of dress goods at fully one-third less than regular value. Parasols one-half the regular prices. Ask to see the 25c sateens. They are selling at 15c. Prints and ginghams at one-fourth the regular market prices. Hosiery, gloves, corsets and all kinds of staple goods away down. In fact it's a regular bonanza for the ladies of London and surrounding country. We feel assured that the London ladies are too wise to let such an opportunity go by unheeded. Their place of business is 136 Dundas street, opposite the Market lane. 47-u

An Enviable Reputation.

Gentlemen desirous of obtaining the best possible value for their money in cigars should smoke the "Highland Lassie" 5-cent cigar, manufactured by H. McKay & Co., of London. This cigar has been subjected to the most complete tests by the great majority of the smokers of the Dominion, and all of them pronounce it one of the best articles in the Canadian market. Messrs. H. McKay & Co. take a special pride in its manufacture and are particular that none but the choicest specimens of fillers and wrappers enter into its composition. The "Highland Lassie's" reputation is of sufficient repute to satisfy the most skeptical of its worth.

FOR SUNDAY READING.

THE MASTER'S QUESTION.

Have ye looked for sheep in the desert?
For those who have missed their way,
Have ye been in the wild waste places,
Where the lost and wandering stray?
Have ye trodden the lonely highway,
The foul and the darksome street?
It may be ye'd see in the gloaming
The print of my wounded feet.

Have ye folded home to your bosom
The trembling, neglected lamb,
And taught to the little lost one
The sound of the shepherd's name?
Have ye searched for the poor and needy,
With no clothing, no home, no bread?
The Son of Man was among them—
He had nowhere to lay his head.

Have ye carried the living water
To the parched and thirsty soul?
Have ye said to the sick and wounded,
"Christ Jesus makes thee whole?"
Have ye told my fainting children
Of the strength of the Father's hand?
Have ye guided the tottering footsteps
To the shore of the "golden land?"

Have ye stood by the sad and weary,
To smooth the pillow of death,
To comfort the sorrow-stricken,
And strengthen the feeble faith?
And have ye felt, when the glory
Has streamed through the open door,
And flitted across the shadows,
That there I had been before?

Have ye wept with the broken-hearted
In their agony of woe?
Ye might hear me whispering beside you,
"'Tis the pathway I often go!"
My brethren, my friends, my disciples,
Can ye dare to follow me?
Then, wherever the Master dwelleth,
There shall the servant be!

KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

Right is right, and wrong is wrong. Popular opinion cannot make the right wrong, or the wrong right. Yet many a man or boy, on coming into a new community finds that popular opinion just there approves that which he knows ought not to have tolerance. Then comes the question whether he is to accept popular opinion as his guide, or is to conform his course to a standard that he knows to be correct. On his answer to that question there may pivot his character and his destiny.

PLEASANT MEMORIES.

Pleasant memories are a result of the past. If we have such memories now, it is because of something we did before now. If we would have such memories by and by, now is the time to prepare for them. That which is to be remembered pleasantly never presents itself at the first as a memory or a basis for a memory, but as a pleasant duty to be attended to or neglected; and our instant decision on that point settles the question of its subsequent value as a memory. Doing our duty hour by hour, even though the duty be an unpleasant one, is what we must set ourselves to. Having pleasant memories or unpleasant duty-doing will follow as a matter of course, when the time for memory-shaping has gone by.

BE TRUE TO YOUR OWN CHURCH.

Don't run down either its pastor or its members; either its doctrine or its policy; either its ordinance or its usages. Give it a hearty and loyal support by word and deed. Remember that it belongs to you; that it is a part of your religious life; that in and by it you are being trained for usefulness here and immortality hereafter; that its honor is much in your keeping; that its growth and purity are affected to the extent of your influence by what you say and do; that people who have faith in your word will look upon it largely according to your representation; that you have promised to advance its interests; and that with its good name and prosperity are bound up the glory of the blessed Jesus. Then do nothing to injure its reputation, or to weaken its power for good, or to mar its peace and fellowship.—[Presbyterian.

RIPENESS AND GRACE.

I wish to correct the notion that ripeness in grace is the necessary result of age. It is not so at all. Little children have been ripe for glory; ay, there have been authentic cases of their ripeness for heaven even at three years of age. Strange things dying babies have said of Christ, and deeply experimetal things, too. "Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings" the Lord not only brings child-like praise, but he has "perfect praise," or as David has it, "Thou hast ordained strength because of thine enemies." Many an aged Christian is not an experienced Christian; for his experience, though it may be the experience of a Christian, may not have been the experience of an advanced kind. An old soldier who never saw a battle is no veteran.

Remember, it is in the kingdom of God very much as with God himself, one day may be as a thousand years. We do not ripen necessarily because our years fulfill their tale; gray hairs and great grace are not inseparable companions. Time may be wasted, as well as improved; we may be petrified rather than perfected by the flow of years. Here it may be well to note that there is no reason why a young Christian should not make great advance toward this maturity, even while young.—'Spurgeon.

LET YOUR LIGHT SHINE.

One night, as a gentleman was sitting in his cabin at the stern of a vessel, he heard a rush of feet over his head and the cry of "man overboard!" At first he was about to hasten up on deck, and then he thought that he could do no good there and would only be in the way. Yet he did want to save the poor fellow who had fallen into the sea.

A bright thought came to him, and taking his lamp he held it close to the bull's-eye, or little round window, of his cabin. Soon he heard the cry, "safe, safe!" and the man was hauled up on deck.

But the next morning he was told that it was by the light of his lamp shining through the window that the sailor had been able to see the rope which had been thrown to him. The night was pitchy dark, and the sailor was about to sink, when that friendly beam showed him that the rope was close by.

So the gentleman had helped to save a life though he had not put out a hand or rope or boat or oar; he had simply let his light shine.

We can all do that. We have no light in ourselves, it is true, but, "looking unto Jesus," we can reflect his light. Every right action, every duty faithfully done, every kindness shown to another for the love of Christ, may be a light to show someone else the way in which he ought to walk.

GLAD TO GO.

—"I'm glad my end is nigh," the miser cried,
As on his cot he felt death's icy clutch.
"This mortal life I never could abide,
Because, i' faith, this living costs so much."

AN INTERRUPTION.

—"I had a fearful dream last night. I dreamed I was riding along a lonely road—"
"What on—a nightmare?"

—Doctor—If you put yourself under my treatment I'll restore your sight.

Blind Beggar—That would ruin my business.

—"That's a queer thing about a baby."
"?"
"He cries himself asleep and everybody else awake."

—"By-the-way, Effie, I heard Mr. Tenori last night. I think he is so handsome!"
"Do you really? Why, he has a mouth large enough to sing a duet."

—Picnic Joys—Col. Yerger—Well, how did you like the picnic?

Gilhooly—I was so glad to get home again that I was glad I went.

—"Now, Johnny, you know what a noun is, do you?
"Yeth, um."
"What is Jerusalem?"
"An ejaculation, mum."

—Husband (to wife, who has just returned from church)—Well, you have not yet said that Mrs. Soanso's new bonnet is a horrid-looking thing.

Wife—Her bonnet is just like mine.

"—He talks so interestingly about science."
"He does? Why, he knows nothing about it."
"That's just what makes it so interesting."

Slimpsy—I give it up, Fegg.

Fegg—That's the right answer, Slimpsy.

—Mrs. De Firm—I tremble to think of our daughter marrying that young man. Why, he orders his mother and sister around as if they were slaves.

Mr. De Firm—Don't worry, my dear. He won't order our daughter around more than once. She takes after you.

THE CONDITION.

—"Oh, children! You are so noisy today. Can't you be a little stiller and better?"

"Now, grandma, you must be a little considerate and not scold us. You see, if it wasn't for us, you wouldn't be a grandma at all."—[Fliegende Blatter.

—Tramp—Madam, I'm weary and discouraged, can I go out in the barn and die?"

Lady of the House—Poor man! I'm sorry for you. But you'll have to come some other time. We're going to have a dance out there to night."

TWO SHEMERS.

—"How does your husband spend his time evenings?"

"He stays at home and thinks up schemes to make money."

"And what do you do with yourself when he is thus occupied?"

"Oh, I think up schemes to spend it."

We will enjoy that now." The lesson was never forgotten, and in the varied losses that come to me, I have learned to look for something beautiful and bright.—[Miss Alcott.

DOMESTIC RECIPES.

To Clean Black Lace.—One-half cup rain water, 1 teaspoon borax, 1 tablespoon spirits of wine, squeeze the old lace in this and then rinse in a cup of hot water, pull out the edges till almost dry, and then press for two days between two heavy books.

Ginger Snaps.—Half a pound flour, 2 ounces lard, 1 ounce sugar, ¼ pound treacle, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon ginger. Put the flour, sugar, soda and ginger in a bowl. Melt the treacle and lard together, stir all in among the flour. Knead it well, and roll out thinly. Cut with a small cutter and put in the oven till ready.

To Wash Black Silk.—Two cups cold water, 1 tablespoon honey, 1 do. soft soap, 1 wine glass alcohol, mix all and shake up well, sponge the silk over with this on both sides, rubbing in well, then shake it up and down in a tub of cold water, but do not squeeze it, flap it up and down to dry it, but don't wring, hang up by the edges, and when fit to iron do it on the wrong side and very damp.

Hard Soap.—Three pounds washing soda, 1½ pounds unslacked lime, put the soda and lime in a tub and pour over it 2 gallons of boiling water; let it stand till quite clear, then drain off; then add 3 pounds clean fat; put on to boil for two hours, stirring often, and add about 1 gallon more water during the boiling. This water should have first been poured on the remains of the lime and soda, and when clear poured off. Try some on a plate, if it hardens, then pour in a wetted tub, and cut in bars when cold.

Ice Cream.—(Very fine.)—Ingredients: One quart of milk, eight eggs, four cups of sugar, one quart of rich, sweet cream, three tablespoonfuls of vanilla, orange or lemon, or flavor to taste. Heat the milk almost to boiling, being careful not to allow it to reach the boiling point, beat the yolks of the eggs very light, add the sugar and stir well. Pour the hot milk in this, little by little, beating vigorously all the while. Put in the frothed white of the eggs and return to the fire, boiling in pail or vessel set within one of hot water. Stir the mixture steadily until it thickens like boiled custard. Pour into a bowl and set aside to cool. When cold beat to a cream and add the flavoring; place in the freezer and keep constantly in motion while freezing.

For Bee Stings.—The following is a cure for bee stings: Take a pinch in the fingers of common salt, put on the place stung and dissolve with water, and rub with the finger. If not relieved in one minute, wet the place with liquid ammonia. For bites and stings, apply instantly with a soft rag most freely spirits of hartshorn. A lump of wet saleratus applied to the spot stung by a wasp will afford instant relief. The alkaline properties neutralize the poison. A bruised leaf of common poppy applied to stings will give immediate relief.

Washing Blankets.—Blankets are washed in exactly the same way as flannels as regards soap, washing powder and the temperature of the water. They should be first washed in tepid water with plenty of melted soap and a little washing powder; quickly washed and tightly wrung out with a wringing machine, if possible, then in a second tub of water, with much less soap and no washing powder, and wrung out once more. They are improved, if much soiled, by a third washing through tepid water, which may be slightly tinged with blue, then wrung out tightly, well shaken, and folded for ten minutes before being hung out to dry. They ought to be dried very quickly, and frequently shaken to raise the pile of the blankets and draw them into shape.

Rhubarb Jelly.—The rhubarb for this jelly should be a fine quality, and very fresh and in good season. Wash and cut the rhubarb up in half inch pieces. Wash again, and put into the preserving pan with one breakfast cupful of water. Put it over a slow fire, and let it remain till it is quite cooked and the juice extracted. Pour it all into a jelly bag, and let it drip all night; then measure the juice, and to each large breakfast cupful add one pound of sugar, and to the whole quantity add two teaspoonfuls of powdered alum; stir till it boils, and let it boil for ten minutes; put in pots for use; this jelly is delicious, and always turns out well. If the rhubarb is very young, and consequently very watery, let the juice run out with little or no water added. A good plan is to put some in a jar in the oven, and when the juice runs out of that use it instead of water to boil the remainder. The jelly always does well, but when soft use less water or none.

THE whole secret of the Keely motor has been explained by the inventor himself. What can be more lucid than the following: "There is a triple sympathetic order of vibration diverting the positive and negative currents to one general polarized center; this rotary action is continuous when sympathetically associated with the polar stream."

ACCORDING to a London fashion expert, the Princess of Wales has just had half a dozen day dresses made for summer. There are two woolens, three foulards, and one thick black Ottoman silk. The latter has a plain bodice—rather a novelty for her, as she usually likes them of a complicated dressy fashion. There is a deep border of black ostrich feathers round the skirt. The woolen gowns are trimmed with dull passementeries.

MARVELOUS CREATIONS.

COSTUMES IN WHICH THE FAIR SEX WILL BE IRRESISTABLE.

What the Swagger Young Woman Will Wear this Summer—Models for Yachting and Ocean Travel—A Jaunty Eton Coat—The Prettiest and Latest Styles.

A PICTURE is given below of a very swell young woman, who has donned the tartan plaid. She looks as if she knew that it was the plaid of the clan that she had affected and that she could give you the history thereof. This costume of blue, green and a line of yellow, has a waist-coat of yellow figured pique, fastened with ivory buttons.

The [illegible] is of black Neapolitan, faced with velvet, with rosettes of ribbon of the same plaid as those in the costume.

Light and airy! These two words well express the character of our summer millinery. The chief materials used thereby are horse-hair, rice straw, chip, gold gauze, etc. The horse-hair plait is now produced in most fashionable colors and frequently figured with straw dots or rings, in straw, thick and openwork plaits alternate in pretty contrast, or the hat is made entirely of the latter in the daintiest and most charming patterns.

As regards height, both narrow, and broad brimmed hats, as well as bonnets and toques, all tend to medium and moderate dimensions. The crowns of the toque are mostly open, and some bonnets seem little more than a brim. Of course it is no easy matter for the milliner to fulfil the delicate task of trimming these "airy nothings," and now that Scotch plaids have found their way among mantles, dresses, parasols and stockings, we can hardly be surprised that even straw plait is intermixed with bright, Highland colors, though we doubt whether their supremacy will be of long duration.

Now draweth near the days when the maiden who inclines to yachting, lawn tennis and other outdoor sports will be in her glory.

Let us take first the damsel who pines for life on the ocean wave, or at least as much of the ocean as the trim pleasure yacht may safely venture into. What she needs to become a joy to herself and to all beholders is one of the new yachting gowns, of which a couple of illustrations are here given, that were made by Redfern. The first is for a rather youthful demoiselle. It is of cream white Isle of Wight serge, with a wide border band above the hem of the skirt of pale blue, with a row of anchors done in silver braid. A narrower border encircles the bottom of the full blouse, which is worn with a blue belt and has a wide sailor collar rolling open in front to show a bit of the sailor's jersey with its blue neckband. The sleeves are gnaded into the cuffs, which, together with the collar, are decorated with lines of narrow row silver braid. The regulation soft crown cap with visor, accompanies) this costume, and the shoes are of white canvas, tipped with black, and have rubber soles.

The next illustration shows a gown which is in some respects even more stylish than the others, and which will prove very becoming to a slender figure. In this case the skirt of white serge is short all round, and is somewhat raised on the right side to show a plain petticoat of dark blue. Two rows of very narrow silver braid are set above the wide hem on the draped skirt. The blouse waist is made very full to droop over a wide corset girdle of dark blue, which is closed up the front with small silver buttons. The wide sailor collar and deep cuffs are also of dark blue; and the head is covered with a jersey woven fisher's cap of blue and white, whose tassel keeps guard above the fluffy dark locks on the forehead.

Among the other handsome yachting gowns recently prepared for some well known society maidens is a charming costume of dull red serge, whose full, straight skirt has a very wide border of cream white, headed by a loop design in narrow white braid. Above this is a narrow band of the same. The full waist is laid in plaits over the bust, and trimmed above to match the skirt. The sailed collar and loose tie are also white, the sleeves are gathered into deep white cuffs and a folded girdle of white defines the slender waist.

More picturesque and showy than either of the above is the fair weather gown, whose back breadths are of navy blue serge, while the front is of white, with the British ensigns painted across the foot, with crossed staffs and arabesques of gold braid between. Small pennants with the points meeting in front girdle the blue jacket fronts that frame the shirred white waist, which has a decoration of gold braid like a yoke on its upper part and also upon the collar. The sleeves, very full at the top have wide blue cuffs painted to match the skirt, and the red cap has a blue band round its soft crown. Another yachting gown has a skirt of indigo blue laid in box pleats across the front, with a stripe of gold braid running the length of each pleat and twisted into an anchor at the bottom. A reefing jacket, trimmed to correspond, is worn over a skirt of white linen or wash silk, with a tucked bosom and a collar with rolled points. A blue sailor tie, polka dotted with red, and a hatband of the three contrasting colors give nobby finishing touches to a very pretty gown.

There is another summer novelty which is just now in high repute with the girl of the period. It is apparently the upper part of a swallow tail coat, but bereft of its skirt and narrow tails, and with the very mannish labels, showing a narrow facing of soft, ribbed silk. With it is worn a regular "weskit," and beneath this a linen shirt and a little white cambric tie. The coat pictured in the cut is of light brown cloth, while the vest is tea-colored silk, embroidered with small discs of scarlet and pale blue.

The Ocean Toilet.

All the fashionable world is either on the ocean or in the midst of an ocean toilet. What a woman wears on board a steamer depends a little on her fancy and a great deal on her experience it is something like a railroad costume—diversified, apologetic haphazard. While it is necessary for creature comfort that the garments have the luxury of ease about them. It is neither essential nor elegant to reduce the outfit to a makeshift.

The main thing is to make a picturesque, if not dashing appearance, for a tourist is all the time on parade, the natives at the various stopping-places regarding her in the light of a

CLINTON.—A died without a will leaving a farm and chattels. What share does the widow get. There were no children, but there are father, mother, and four brothers and two sisters of A. Do the father and mother, brothers and sisters come for a share alike? ANS.—The widow takes a half and the other half is divided amongst the father, mother, brothers and sisters, share and share alike.

ROAD ALLOWANCE.—A township council passed a bylaw in 1884 giving only 25 days' notice to close up and sell an original road allowance. Would the insufficient notice invalidate the bylaw now if the Council proceeded to sell the said road allowance and litigation followed? ANS.—Yes. 2. Should a bylaw foreclosing and selling a road allowance be registered? ANS.—It is better to do so, but not essential as the deed must be registered.

EMSDALE.—How many working days make a month? I hire for one month and commence work on May 12, when will my month end? Is it law in Ontario that a man has to work from date to date? ANS.—If you hire by the month you must work from date to date. The number of working days in a month, therefore, depends upon the number of days in the month. If you commenced on the Monday of May 12, your month is up in the evening of June 11.

HIGHGATE.—The board of commissioners and inspector violated the subsections of section 11 of the Liquor License Act by not publishing the names of applicants and by adjourning their meeting and not giving notice of the time of meeting again, to representatives of a petition against license. Can they be fined under section 67 for such violation? ANS.—No. The subsections to which you refer are declaratory only and non-compliance does not invalidate the action of the board or inspector.

NEWBURY.—My father rented a farm adjoining his and said to me and my brother: "If you work that place and pay the rent you can have all you can make off it"; we paid part of the first year's rent by working out; the rent is payable in advance; my brother left and went to learn a trade; can I claim the crop I have in this year, for which I have paid the rent? I paid for the past two years before, and had the balance of the crop over the rent. ANS.—Yes, upon the facts stated, and he cannot keep enough to pay next year's rent although he is now living in the house on it.

SOUTH WOODSLEE.—The trustees of the school section raised money on debentures issued by the township on their behalf to build a schoolhouse. The secretary-treasurer received the full amount of the levy from the township collector in 1888, and then went and paid the debenture and coupons ($178 03), afterwards casually meeting the township collector. He alleges that he handed the debenture and coupons to the collector to give to the township treasurer, who credited himself with paying the debenture and avers that he received it as cash. The collector denies having handled the debenture at all; but both the secretary-treasurer and the township treasurer say that he did. The auditors discovered that the township treasurer had paid out of the school moneys levied by the trustees of the township more by $178 03 than the levy, being the amount of the debenture. Consequently the township treasurer made the statement that he paid the collector. The three each deny having the money, and contradict any statement that involves him. What would be the best course for the Council to pursue? If the Council would not act, what would be the best course for the reeve to pursue? How could the electors proceed? Could one elector proceed? What would be the cost if the Council could be induced to ask the county judge to investigate? ANS.—The duty of the Council is to call upon the treasurer and his sureties to repay the moneys which he has, or claims to have paid out without legal authority, if the Council are satisfied that the report of the auditors discloses that $178 is missing from the township funds, and it is their duty to investigate the report of the auditors. The reeve's course is to bring the matter before the Council and throw the responsibility upon them. It is not for him as reeve to do anything in case the council should refuse to act. Any ratepayer who feels disposed to risk the expense may bring this matter into court and compel the treasurer to refund, if the Council refuse to do so, as to which consult a lawyer. The expense of an investigation by the county judge depends upon its length and character, as to which it is impossible to form a definite idea beforehand. The cost might be anything from $50 to $500. It is quite possible, from your statement, that there has been an error in bookkeeping by the treasurer which the auditors have not discovered, and that there has been actually no misappropriation. The secretary-treasurer had no right to pay the debenture and coupon, which should have been paid by the township treasurer out of the moneys collected by the section, and he had therefore no right to pay the whole levy to the secretary-treasurer.

Coughs, Colds, Croup.

Allen's Lung Balsam was introduced to the public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases had been fully tested. It excites expectoration and causes the Lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It contains no opium in any form and is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by consumption when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it if only taken in time. For Consumption, and all diseases that lead to it, such as Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and all diseases of the Lungs, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the Great Modern Remedy. For Croup and Whooping Cough it is almost a specific. It is an old standard remedy, and sold universally at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. The 25-cent bottles are put out to answer the constant call for a Good and Low-Priced COUGH CURE. If you have not tried the Balsam, call for a 25-cent bottle to test it.

KISSING AS A FINE ART.

MRS. FRANK LESLIE'S HAPPY IDEAS ON OSCULATION.

The Pleasurable Sensation of a Kiss Due to Odic Force—Sensitive Experiments in aid of Science—Kisses Snatched, Stolen or Coaxed and Other Varieties of the Art.

Kissing is one of the matters so familiar to our thought, that we seldom think of it.

Before we can remember, we were the daily, even hourly, victims of kisses we neither asked for nor enjoyed, for although I am quite sure my own mother's kisses must always have been soft and tender as her sweet self, there was the boisterous old "Mammy" who nursed me, and all the train of nursery officials and visitors whose ample lips no doubt often produced startling reports close to my baby ears; and then, older grown, I can even now remember the wounds to my baby dignity as one and another jovial guest at my Southern home would snatch me from the floor and kiss me, in spite of all my struggles, while his moustache put out my eyes, and his beard rasped my tender cheek.

As with me, so with you, of course; we all have been in our helpless infancy, crushed beneath the weight of unwelcome kisses, and have most of us, especially the boys, passed from this condition of passive endurance into one of active opposition, wherein, if the jovial gentleman tried to seize upon us, we escaped from the room, or if the angular old maid asked, in dulcet tones, "Won't you come and kiss me, my pet?" we boldly replied, "No, I won't; I hate to be kissed," or some such courteous phrase.

Then comes a time, let us say with boys from 7 to 17, and with girls from 5 to 15, when kisses are considered as damaging to the dignity and manhood oppressing the boy and sentimentality to the girl.

But time, unresisting time, leads both girl and boy through this little belt of cool verdure, out upon torrid plain, and the smiling rose gardens that lie at the foot of those weary and devious paths that ascend the heights. The young man and the young woman change their convictions upon many essential points, and at the same time grow more chary of expressing them.

Ask a girl of 20 what she thinks of kissing, and she will probably blush like a carnation, laugh, look sharply into your face to see if you mean anything, and then say, more or less demurely:

"I like to kiss mamma;" or,

"Dear me, how should I know anything about it? I never was engaged."

As for the young man asked such a question—well, he would be a very correct young man, indeed, if he did not at once offer to demonstrate his opinions and his methods.

I did, however, in the interests of science, ask a friend of mine to ask her brother, a young fellow of 23, and she reports that he looked at her with a slowly gathering smile, half closed his left eye, and emitted that peculiar sound introduced into English by "The Midado" and absurdly spelt.

Perhaps the most popular bit of science in this connection that I could offer the public is a grave theory of the Baron von Reichenbach's, whom all of us who have dabbled a little in hypnotism will remember as the exponent of a new school of ghosts. He says there is something flying about in the world which he calls odic force, and when it is used by a disembodied spirit as a means of making itself visible, we call ghosts. But the baron also says that the odic force is visible to experts, playing as a light flame upon the ends of magnets and upon the sensitive portions of the human frame, especially the lips, and he gravely asserts that the pleasurable sensation of a kiss is owing to the polarization of odic force "upon the fifth pair of nerves."

The baron states that his occult experiments were carried on by aid of four delicate and sensitive young ladies, and that they found the contact with this flame of odic force, even when emanating from magnets and crystals, very agreeable. He omits to state whether he and they ever tested it as seen playing upon each other's or his lips, but we know that your true scientist will make almost any painful exertion in the interest of knowledge.

Descending from these abstruse regions to everyday life, let us consider what are the proper limitations of kissing, and what latitude a good girl may allow her friends, relations and lovers, for, of course, it is they who proffer and she who accepts the salute. We all know the French proverb, but my idea is that the one who holds up the cheek is generally the girl.

Parents and children, sisters and brothers kiss as a matter of habit, and mean more or less by these osculations. Cousins kiss as a matter of privilege, and in many cases the girl sadly sings in after years:

"O, had I wist ere I was kist
That a young man's love was so till to win,
I had locked my lips wi' an iron key,
Or thrust them through with a silver pin."

For it is a mournful truth that familiarity breeds indifference, especially in the male heart, for a lover likes to long for what he cannot have; and another painful fact is, that the heart of man is never satisfied.

The deceased wife's sister, as well as the cousin, is apt to learn this truth, and we hereby advise both to be very chary of those cousinly and brotherly privileges which the best of men are fond of claiming.

Outside of this privilege may a girl ever allow herself to be kissed by a man until she belongs to him?

Just to-day and now, and in our present development of civilization, we of course say no, not if she can help it; but the question cannot be answered as should she commit murder? or some kindred subjects should be, for not even a milliner's fashions are so mutable as the standard of right and wrong in this matter.

A hundred years ago or so, the gravest young gentleman "saluted" the most prudish young lady when he was first presented to her, and it was no more a matter of offence than 20 years ago it was to shake hands.

Nowadays we don't shake hands under such circumstances, and perhaps a century hence it will be as extraordinary for a man to offer his hand as it now would be should he offer his lips.

In the rural regions of our own country as well as of England, the favorite amusement at a social gathering of young persons is, or until recently has been, a succession of "kissing games" wherein the most modest girl of the company was saluted by every swain who chose, with as little embarrassment as if he had been her mother. But even in the rural districts this sort of thing is passing away, and the permitted realm of the kiss is narrowing day by day.

It would be mere prudery, however, to deny that kisses are still snatched, or half stolen, or coaxed from many a pair of sweet lips which would most assuredly affirm that they never, never, never could consent to such a thing.

A painful state of things, no doubt, but not of easy remedy quite yet. Only dear, sweet, rosebud girls, let me give you one bit of worldly wisdom: It is the fruit that hangs just out of reach that is most tempting: it is the bright, delicate blossom at the top of the impassable cliff that is the fairest flower of all. Men have risked their lives to find and gather edelweiss in its frozen hiding places; but edelweiss gathered and handled, and made common, is to my thinking a very poor sort to thing.

But where one is engaged? Ah, yes, of course, that alters matters a good deal, but it does not alter the nature of man, which is grasping, encroaching, loving pursuit and conquest and dreading satiety. An old lady once told me that when she was a girl she visited a bride friend, and when the husband came home at night, tired, hungry, cold and cross, his young wife rushed into the hall, seizing him as he struggled out of his overcoat, devoured him with kisses, to which he presently responded:

"There, there, my dear; perhaps if you didn't kiss me quite so much I should want to kiss you more."

Of course the man was a brute, but his brutality was founded upon a sound truth.

The great trouble with women under conditions of permitted love is that she lavishes out of the vast treasure house of her affections a great deal more than the object can receive or assimilate. Her own powers of loving and being loved are so tremendously in excess of his that they weary, terrify and satiate him long before she has adequately expressed her own tenderness.

But there are so many kinds of kisses, that again the subject of what is permissible becomes involved in doubt. There is the kiss of loving friendship between women, the kiss of reconciliation, the kiss of simple greeting, the respectful kiss offered to age, the kiss of mere custom, happily going out of fashion, for it has been at some periods a most wearisome and nauseous obligation as often as one met the most casual acquaintance.

And then there are the Judas kisses, when man or woman dares to offer the token of love to conceal inconstancy, treachery, and meditated treason, the worst kind of lie the lips can frame.

And last of all comes that chill, sad kiss, that passionless caress upon lips never cold to us before, that mute farewell that every one of us has been called to make soon or later, and which some one yet shall make to us; and then? Ah then?

Just why this contact of the lips, instead of the cheeks, the chins, the brows, should be so instinctive and so universal, who shall say? Perhaps, after all, Baron Reichnbach has hit the truth, and we seek odic force, polarized, upon other lips to complete the growth of our own. Odd if it is so, isn't it?

"CAN'T YOU TRUST ME?"

The Old Question Lovers Have Asked Since the Time of Eve.

There is in the Easter number number of Harper's Bazar an illustration—a little, shadowy picture—that must shake some women to the very soul; that, surely some women cannot look at for burning tears!

It is only a young man and a young woman with their hands on each other's shoulders, their eyes looking deep into each other's souls. But beneath the picture are these words:

"Can't you trust me, Rose?"

There is in the whole of some woman's life story in that picture—all the love—the doubt, the trusting again and again, the dumb sorrow, the awful shrinking from that heart-breaking question, "Can't you trust me?"

Saddest of all hearts is that pure, true one that loves deeply and unselfishly, yet feels that the objects of its affection can not rise to its own level. Too strong and unselfish to cast the unworthy one adrift for her own peace of mind, she keeps what gentle hold she may upon him by her tender influence, her pure love, her quiet self-denial.

For him this means a gay life apart from hers, and the proud happiness of knowing that the woman whom he really, in his selfish way loves belongs to him and is true to him. For her it means sleepless nights and lonely tears and endless prayers; it means a gradual wearing away of life in hurts and carelessness and forgotten attentions; it means sad lips and aching heart and wistful eyes—eyes that are ever looking for, and ever shrinking from, some new hurt, some greater sorrow, or a repetition of that awful question.

"Can't you trust me?"

To which she must answer always, with pale lips and fainting heart,

"Yes, dear; yes."

SOUTH AFRICAN BOERS.

Their Peculiar Notions in Regard to Money.

A gentleman some time ago was desirous of purchasing a certain farm in South Africa. The Boer proprietor however doggedly refused to accept bills, checks, or notes. He would have his price, £25,000, in sovereigns, or he would not sell. So the golden bullion was with much trouble brought to the house. "Will you not stop to dinner?" asked the farmer, and at its conclusion Mr. F., when bidding adieu, observed: "Well, I suppose we may at last consider our transactions quite complete." "Not quite," said the Boer; "you still owe me 3s 6d for the dinner." The next episode was that the farmer, worried with the custody of so much coin in his house, resolves with many misgivings to pay the purchase money into the Standard bank, but the following week he demands to withdraw his deposit, and the hard cash is again produced. He counts it over carefully, and, once more reassured, shoves it back into the cashier's hands. The Boers do not, in fact, seem to have the slightest comprehension of the first principles of finance. Another of this class asked a bank what would be the terms for his proposed deposit of £25,000. "We will give you 6per cent," replied the clerk, not understanding the drift of the question. "You pay me for taking care of my property" said the Boer. "No, no, I am not such a fool as to believe that. You are up to some trick!" and he instantly broke off the negotiation.—Blackwood's Magazine.

AMUSING THE CHILDREN.

Simple and Successful Plan of a Travelling Mother.

A lady starting on a long journey with two children, placed in her satchel some pieces of cardboard, scissors and lead pencils. After the novelty of car riding had worn off, this wise woman produced her treasures. One child cut the cardboard into pieces three-quarters of an inch square, the other printed on each square a letter. The alphabet was repeated many times. Then each formed words from the letters and gave to the other to make out. In this way they amused themselves for hours.

The mother might have taken the game from home with less trouble to herself, but well she knew there would be more satisfaction in making it for themselves. Paper dolls were cut and extensive wardrobes fashioned from bright-colored paper that had been thoughtfully provided. At the end of the journey the passengers declared the children wonderfully well behaved, and wished they might always travel with such happy little people. The fact was the children were ordinary children, but their hours had been so pleasantly occupied there had been no opportunity for becoming weary and then disagreeable.

TEACHING HOW TO PRAY.

LESSON X, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 8.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xi, 1-13—Commit Verses 9-13—Golden Text, Luke xi, 9. Commentary by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Compiled from Lesson Helper Quarterly by permission of H. S. Hoffman, publisher, Philadelphia.]

All that is recorded between the last lesson and this one is the most interesting and instructive incident of Jesus in the house of Martha (chap. x, 38-42). I have no doubt but that both women were true disciples of Jesus (see John xi, 5, 27) and that Mary was as willing to do housework as Martha: but the attitude of soul which Jesus commends in Mary, and which was lacking in Martha, was the greater interest in the things unseen than in the things of this life. Mary was increasing in riches which she would never lose; while Martha, though just as safe as Mary, was more careful about the many things of this life which sooner or later must all be left behind.

1. "And it came to pass, that as He was praying in a certain place." Luke records more instances of the Saviour's praying than either of the others. In Luke alone do we find that He prayed at His baptism, at His transfiguration, after He cleansed the leper, and before He chose the twelve (iii, 21; ix, 29; v, 16; vi, 12, 13). The incident of our lesson also is found only in Luke. If we were more intimate with our Father in Heaven, we would more often be found in communion with Him; the earth would be a more lonely place to us, and we would have more heart craving for Christ himself.

"Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples." In the sermon on the mount Jesus had already taught how to pray (Matt. vi, 9-13), but as it was after that the twelve were chosen, it is probable that the disciple who asked this question was not present at that time.

2. "And He said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in Heaven." In His Sermon on the Mount Jesus said, "Your Father which is in Heaven," or "your Heavenly Father," eight times, "Thy or your Father" seven times, "My Father which is in Heaven" once, and "Our Father which art in Heaven" once.

"Hallowed be Thy Name." In His last prayer with His disciples Jesus said to His Father, "I have manifested Thy Name;" "I have declared unto them Thy Name." At another time he prayed, "Father, glorify Thy Name" (John xvii, 6, 26; xii, 28).

"Thy kingdom come." The God of Heaven shall set up a kingdom which shall break in pieces and consume all the kingdoms of this world and it shall stand forever.

"Thy will be done, as in Heaven, so in earth." When this petition shall have been manifestly answered, then the kingdom shall have come. But until God's will is done on earth as it is in Heaven let no one say that the kingdom has come. In proportion as we now delight to do His will we shall individually have a foretaste of the kingdom in our hearts and lives.

3. "Give us day by day our daily bread." Sustenance for body and soul as each day shall require; but one day at a time. "A daily rate for every day all the days of his life" was what a certain king gave to one who was his captive (II Ki. xxv, 30).

4. "And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us." When He taught them this prayer in the sermon on the mount, He added: "If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses."

"And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." God did tempt, or try, or prove Abraham; and James says, "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation;" but he also adds, "God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth He any man" (Gen. xxii, 1; Jas. i, 12-15). Temptations, in the sense of trials, are our greatest blessings (Jas. i, 2; I Pet. iv, 12, 13); and God is faithful who will not suffer us to be tempted above that we are able (I Cor. x, 13). Perhaps the best explanation of this petition will be found in the light of Matt. iv, 1, "Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wilderness, to be tempted of the devil," and in the fact that He, knowing what it means, would as far as possible spare us.

5-7. "Friend, lend me three loaves; for a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him." Jesus now uses the illustration of a friend coming to a friend, on behalf of another friend, and at a very unseasonable hour, but with a very urgent request; and the request is denied, for the man of whom the request is made thinks more of the comfort of his children, who are in bed with him, than of the need.

8. "Because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth." The word for importunity is used only this once in the Bible, and signifies literally "shamelessness" or "impudence" or "rough earnestness." Here is an earnestness, not very seemly, but which accomplishes its end, even at the expense of the children's comfort. He seems to teach us that there is a taking hold of God in prayer as Jacob did when in his helplessness he clung to the angel, saying, "I will not let thee go, except thou bless me."

9. "And I say unto you, Ask and it shall be given you." "All things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive." "Whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you" (Matt. xxi, 22; John xiv, 13, 14; xv, 7). These are a few of the many plain, emphatic words of our Lord upon asking and receiving, but who believes them? Who thus asks and receives?

"Seek and ye shall find." "Ye shall seek me and find me when ye shall search for me with all your heart." "Those that seek me diligently shall find me" (Jer. xxix, 13; Prov. viii, 17, R. V.) When we seek according to the mind of God and with the whole heart; when we seek spiritual good as men seek silver or hidden treasures (Pr. ii, 4), then we may expect to find.

"Knock, and it shall be opened unto you." "In Christ is redemption" in all its fullness, and "in Him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge." No one knocking at His door can knock in vain, for his own promise is, "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out" (Eph. i, 7; Col. ii, 3; John vi, 37). How sad the contrast in Rev. iii, 20, where Jesus is seen standing at the door of the church that bears His name, but He is shut out; and He asks so pitifully if there is any individual that will let him in, that He may sup with them.

10. "For every one that asketh receiveth," etc. And these promises and statements about asking, seeking, knocking, are prefixed by His emphatic "I say unto you." How comforting are the words of I John v, 14, 15: "And this is the confidence that we have in Him, that if we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us; and if we know that he hears us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of Him."

11, 12. "If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone?" In the previous illustration He encourages to ask, and now He encourages to expect what we ask for.

13. "How much more shall your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?" If a father will give to a friend, how much more will a father give to his son?

Catarrh

IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

to any person suffering from stomach troubles, especially if taken at the first symptom of Indigestion, which is usually weight at the stomach, sometimes attended by slight pain, and may follow either a wholesome or a heavy meal. At first, this feeling soon passes away, and is only remembered as a little unpleasant, which, when repeated, gradually becomes more pronounced. To the average person is now suggested the cathartic pill, bitters, or other liquid purgatives, that will clear out the bowels. Such treatment is worse than useless; it is positively harmful. The trouble is in the Stomach, the Bowels are not responsible, and relief will only come through an intelligent treatment of the disorder within the stomach. MALTOPEPSYN is the remedy for all stomach troubles. Endorsed by the best physicians of England and Canada. Send 2 cts. in postage for valuable pamphlet to HAZEN MORSE, INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE, ONTARIO.

THE BEAUTY AND THE PANSIES.

A Flower Hunting Match for an Intoxicating Prize.

At 10 o'clock one morning a girl that can safely be called the most beautiful of all the beauties in the 400 was walking down Fifth avenue between two young fellows who were both very much captivated by her lovable charms, and to them this fair maid said that she had been searching in vain for some pansies to wear to Mrs. So-and-So's dance that evening.

"I am to wear a gown that pansies would go beautifully with," said she; "and they are my favorite flower, too. How stupid it is of all the florists to miss having them to-day."

The young men deliberated for an instant, and then offered simultaneously to secure a bunch of pansies and send to the beauty before evening.

"That is kind of both of you, I'm sure," said she, "but I have been to every one on Broadway and fifth avenue, and there, isn't a pansy to be had. If you should get me some you would deserve a prize."

"Then offer a prize," exclaimed the young men together.

The girl laughed and asked for a suggestion. "How would a drive in my phaeton for to-morrow do?" asked she.

"That would be bliss," said one of the young men, "but I think the prize ought to be given at the dance to-night."

"Well, what do say to an extra waltz?"

"If you cannot be more generous I suppose that would be as much earthly happiness as we could well ask for," was the reply.

"Oh, I tell you what I'll do," cried the girl, suddenly struck with a brilliant idea, "the one who brings the flowers to me first shall kiss my hand."

"Oh!" exclaimed the young men. "You don't mean it?"

"Yes, I do," she replied.

"Your bare hand?" ventured one of the suitors.

"Yes, with my glove off."

This arrangement was agreed to, and, bidding the girl good morning, the young men started off upon their mission. They separated a few blocks further on, and each took a hansom cab.

At half past 7 o'clock that night a disconsolate-looking figure ascended the steps of the pansy-loving beauty's residence, and asked to see the young lady. In a few sad words he acquainted her that he had traversed Manhattan Island from one end to the other, and that he had failed to find a pansy. While relating his story the other young man was ushered in. His face was aglow with joyous anticipation as he advanced enthusiastically to the trembling maiden, and, with a quick movement, threw aside the paper covering from a huge bunch of the most perfect velvety pansies.

"Where—where did you get those?" gasped the unfortunate loser of the race.

"I went to Philadelphia for them, my boy," cried the other.

"Oh, how absurd!" said the girl, pleased beyond expression at the compliment this exertion implied.

"Why, I would have gone," rejoined the victorious youth as he extended his hand to receive hers, "to New Orleans if you had only made the time limit a little longer," and bending over the snowy little hand, he pressed his mouth long and warmly upon it.

"I have been compelled to go without food or drink since leaving you," suggested the glowing youth, raising his eyes to the girl's

"Oh, then you must take dinner with us."

"I was not thinking of that. I thought the fast might be worth an extra prize."

The look that he received from the proud beauty reassured him to such an extent that he bent again and took at least half a dozen kisses from the beauteous maiden's hand.

"Now, what do I get?" asked the disconsolate one.

"Oh, I'll give you a boutonniere out of these pansies," laughed the girl.

According to all romantic laws the engagement of the lovely and the brave man who so richly deserved the fair ought to be announced in good season. It must, however, be said that the fair coquette will in all likelihood wed the other.—N. Y. Correspondent Chicago Herald.

THE VISION OF MIRZA.

A Beautiful Allegory of Human Life—The Pitfalls of the Bridge.

"The bridge thou seest," said he, "is human life. Consider it attentively." Upon a more leisurely survey of it, I found that it consisted of three-score and ten entire arches, with several broken arches, which, added to those that were entire, made up the number about 100. As I was counting the arches the genius told me that this bridge consisted at first of 1,000 arches, but that a great flood swept away the rest and left the bridge in the ruinous condition I now beheld it. "But tell me further," said he, "what thou discovereth on it?" "I see multitudes of people passing over it," said he, "what thou discovereth on it?" "I see multitudes of people passing over it," said I, "and a black cloud hanging on each end of it." As I looked more attentively I saw several of the passengers dropping through the bridge into the great tide that flowed underneath it; and, upon further examination, perceived that there were innumerable trapdoors that lay concealed in the bridge, which the passengers no sooner trod upon but they fell through them into the tide, and immediately disappeared. These hidden pitfalls were set very thick at the entrance of the bridge, so that the throngs of people no sooner broke through the cloud than many of them fell into them. They grew thinner towards the middle, but multiplied and laid closer towards the end of the arches that were entire. There were, indeed, some persons, but their number was very small, who continued a kind of hobbling march over the broken arches, but fell through, one after another, being quite tired and spent with so long a walk.—[Addison.

CANADIAN ARTISTS.

PAINTINGS BY CANADIANS WHICH FIGURED IN THE PARIS SALON.

The Paris correspondent of the Chicago Herald in an account of the marvellous pictures and paintings now on exhibition at the Salon says: I find also the names of several Canadians in the catalogue. Perhaps the best of the lot is Paul Peel, of London, Ont., who shows two canvasses, "After the Bath" and a portrait. In the first he depicts the delicate and nicely modeled backs of two naked little boys who are warming themselves before the stove after their bath. The reflection of the fire lightens up their little outstretched hands with a golden tint and shows their tender flesh superbly. The other Canadians are: Charles Alexander, pupil of Boulanger, Lefebvre and Moreau, "Boys at Play", William Edward Atkinson, of Toronto, pupil of Schmitt, "Farm of Lesdomini, Finisterre, in Winter"; Mrs. Harriet Ford, pupil of Merson and Blanc, portrait; John Forster, pupil of Bouguereau and Fleury, portrait; Miss Margaret Houghton, of Montreal, pupil of Bouguereau and Fleury, "The Eve of Life," and J. A. Reid, of Toronto, pupil of Eakins and Constant, who calls his picture "A Story," although it does not suggest anything of the sort to your correspondent.

CHARMING WOMEN BARBERS.

The Tender Touch of a Woman's Hand is Fetching All the Men.

The Chicago Herald chivalrously pays a tribute to the charms of the "woman barber," worthy in its picturesque eloquence the singing of some olden carolling troubadour or mimic singer. It appears that there are three flourishing establishments where every tonsorial artist engaged is some mother's daughter, but the shop where the responsive strings of the masculine heart are touched most tenderly is down in the centre of the great busines world, near the Board of Trade. A woman is its proprietor, and three fair maidens compose its Executive Committee. The fame of the establishment is known to the city limits, and many customers come in from Evanston and Pullman to experience the delicious and "tender touch of a woman's hand" against the stubble of their beards and never leave the chair so long as a hair remains on face or head, or a drop of "tonic" or "sea foam" or perfume is left in the establishment.

These women barbers dress in neat black dresses with shining white aprons, and have a peculiar dignity of demeanor which forbid any smart nonsense on the part of their customers. They fill one's eyes, ears, and nostrils, and mouth with a lather that remind you of the old soft-soap kettle of your country days, only that it is delicately flavored with carbolic acid, and takes hold of your face like croton oil, and all with the same dexterity and energy displayed by men in the profession. But she doesn't spend her evenings drinking barrel-house whiskey; she doesn't smoke cigarettes and you miss a familiar fragrance in her breath as she bends over you, caressing cheek and chin with her shiny razors. Her nerve is steady, her aim true her hands delightfully soft and velvety. She doesn't expectorate tobacco juice at intervals of two seconds, and though she does keep up the tradition of the profession so far as talking is concerned, she doesn't suspend operations and let the lather drip into your eyes from the uplifted razor while she discusses the result of the ball game with some one at the end of the room. So she looks softly into your face, with her sweet breath floating against your nostrils, and chats in a low musical voice as she works. You don't know what she is talking about, and you don't care particularly, if only she doesn't stop. You answer in the affirmitive all her queries, and it is only when she whips off the apron and sings out "next" that you realize you have had every scrap of your beard, moustache and eyebrows, and hair shaved off, and have a big bill to pay for tonics and lotions that you never heard of, and that the girl is smiling down into the other fellow's face just as she smiled into yours, as you turn your pockets wrong side out and write a check for the rest of the amount due.

The most amusing part of the ceremony is the sheepish look on men's faces who are newcomers, and the awkward bashfulness with which they receive the nonchalant attention of the pretty women barbers fluttering around them. Funnier still it is to see the smile gleaming up seductively through the lather which every man seems obligated to wear during the operation. He doesn't seem to receive much encouragement in return; but smiling is one of the customs of the place, and is indulged in by every one from the stern faced old dominie who comes down three times a week to be shaved to the downy-faced Board of Trade scribling clerks who settle themselves luxuriantly into the chairs. There are no pink papers, no profanity in the woman's barber shop, and woman receive the same wages as men in the business, and seem to succeed in making a great deal of money wherever they open the first clean, tidy parlors.

St. Louis has a pretty, dark-haired, soft eyed woman barber, too, who came as gently as a vision in the night, and is stealing the affections of the dudes and stirring the hearts of the graybeards. She is that most fascinating of all womanly types—a young and pretty widow—and she learned the knack of getting round a man's chin in a very fetching way in her husband's shaving parlors. Now that she is thrown on her own resources she finds it a very profitable way to make a livelihood, and not at all incompatible with her dignity, of which she is said to possess a sufficient amount to demand and receive nothing but courtesy from the worst fops and loafers who enter her establishment. The only people she finds it distasteful to serve are women, who are more querulous and troublesome over having a bang clipped than men dare to be over a shave and a hair clipping together.

Silk Underwear.

Refined women in private life, says the New York Tribune, have never adopted the stage fashion of wearing a complete outfit of underwear made of white or colored surah or India "wash" silk. These materials, though washable, are unfit for such use, because they can not be sun-dried in the fresh open air without losing color. Even white surah turns an unpleasant muddy yellow. The superiority of even a cambric handkerchief to a silk one need not be dwelt upon where anyone has made practical use of both.

The silk undergarment worn by most refined city women is an undervest of silk webbing. This garment must be made of the purest thread of silk in order to be a wholesome substitute for wool. There has been no method ever discovered which will prevent the spiral fibers of wool from drawing up in laundering. With the most scrupulous care such garments are shrunk up unfit for wear long before they are worn out. Silk undervests of the best quality are an expensive item at first, but will outlast several sets of wool underwear, and in the end pay for themselves.

Late Things in Jewelry.

Circlet rings are still fashionable in all combinations.

In full dress, watch guards for gentlemen, with white silk gold mountings and shades, are new and stylish.

Brooches in the form of painted miniatures of the celebrated French beauties, set with precious stones, &c., are still in vogue.

Pearl necklaces in one, two and three strands are still very popular, some having lately been sold reaching thousands of dollars in value.

The heart designs appear in many forms of jewelry, single, double, entwined, hearts in outline, &c., in gold and enamel, crushed hearts, and in carved moonstone, &c.

The rage for silver belt buckles has not abated, and novelties are constantly appearing. A very taking design is a wreath of wild roses alternated with violets in enamel.

Beautiful designs are shown in ladies' enamelled and jewelled watches, blue enamel and gold, with diamonds and pearls. These are worn with empress fob chains hooked into the buttonhole of the gown.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

IT'S JUST THE THING!

A Scientific Discovery that Builds Up the System, Strengthens the Nerves, Imparts Vigor and Strength—Everybody Is Using It.

Nearly everyone now feels the need of more energy, strength and vitality. The indoor life of winter has filled the blood with impurities, weakened the nerves and disordered the general health. The shattered nerves and weary brain, the weak stomach, the pimpled and sallow complexion, tired and lifeless feelings, and the general weak and debilitated condition, show most plainly that Paine's Celery Compound should and must be used. This medicine is a scientific discovery. It is not a sarsaparilla or a bitters. It is entirely vegetable, and yet it is the most powerful spring regulator ever known. Pure blood, strong nerves, clear heads and the glorious feeling of life and strength follows its use.

Paine's Celery Compound is a medicine that especially meets the needs of this age. People nowadays live too fast and work too hard for their own good; they exhaust too quickly, grow old too fast, die too soon. The strain on the nerves, the pressure on the brain of winter's life has exhausted nerve force and vitality. There is only one medicine that can build up the nerve tissue and renew the brain force, and that medicine is Paine's Celery Compound. When you feel tired and weak, with a lack of ambition or relish for work, you do yourself an injustice if you do not commence the use of Paine's Celery Compound at once. While it fills a place filled by no other medicine especially valuable at this season, and occupies in the treatment of spring sickness and debility, it is also the most wonderful modern discovery for the relief of all nervous disorders, weaknesses and complications. Neuralgia, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, paralysis, headaches and other forms of nerve and brain disorder yield readily to its unequaled curative power. Almost everybody is using it, and it well merits its great popularity.

ABOUT HAIR

Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Sir,—I have, as you know, for some time advertised in Canada and the States a preparation for the hair called "Dr. Dorenwend's Hair Magic." I have received some thousands of flattering testimonials from those who have used it as to its merits as a restorative of gray or faded hair; also as a promoter of the growth and a certain cure for dandruff.

A great many of my correspondents ask the questions: "Why is my hair turning gray so early? Why is my hair falling out?" As it is impossible for me to answer every one, I take the liberty of encroaching on your valuable space to make a general reply. A great many persons do not seem to be aware that excessive washing and rubbing is injurious to the growth of the hair; such is the case, however. Constant washing and rubbing the scalp and hair causes over irritation and removes the oily substance which gives strength to the hair; undue heat caused by the wearing of heavy headgear is also injurious. Anything that will tend to dry up the sap or life of the hair will cause dandruff, falling out of the hair, gray or faded hair and finally baldness. Of course there are other causes as diseases, hereditary tendencies, etc., but the first mentioned are the main and most common.

Dr. Dorenwend, an eminent German physician, has given to the world after years of toil and experiment his now famous "Hair Magic." The object of this preparation is to assist nature in the production of this oily substance absolutely necessary to the growth of the hair. It is now sold by all reliable druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or will be sent on receipt of price to any address. See that each wrapper bears the seal and signature of the manufacturer.
