He began his address, but was interrupted by C. R. Hawkins, who stated that he had three questions which had been prepared at a public meeting just held previous to Mr. Crawford's meeting, to which answer either "yes" or "no" was requested from him. The first question was to the effect whether the separation of Ireland from the British Empire and establishment of an Irish republic was one of the objects of the Self-Determination for Ireland League.

Mr. Crawford's answer was "emphatically no."

men were led by those not returned men. Hon, Mr. Veniot stated that his meaning was not that the returned men were led in their opinions by those who were not returned men, but that they had give the names if they were required. He would ask the privilege that Mr. Crawford be heard. The singing of "Rule Britannia" interrupted him. "If this is British freedom," said Mr. Crawford, who was on his feet, "there is no wonder that there is an Irish problem. It is a matter of indifference to me whether you give me the right.

Opposition to Constantine's Return.

Athens, Dec. 4.—Formal presentation of the note to the Greek Government from Great Britain, France and Italy was made here last night by the minister of those countries. Earl Granville, M. Debilly and Signor Montagna, the ministers, went to the office of Premier Rhallis, who notified M. Gounaris, minister of war, who hurriedly left his office to call a council of the cabinet.

The note disapproving the return of King Constantine caused surprise, if not consternation in this city. It will be printed in this afternoon's papers, although it will be given to the public in such a manner as to prevent trouble which the Government is desirous of avoiding.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that he regretted that in the capital city of New Brunswick it was impossible to find sufficient courtesy to enable Mr. Crawford to be heard. He then closed the meeting and requested the audience to voiding.

000 Christmas trees this year will cost more than ever before, and the price ARGENTINA'S STAND of holly and mistletoe also will be greatly advanced, the dealers claimed today They explained the advance by saying that the duty on a carload of trees ing that the duty on a carload of trees from Canada, which was formerly $8, is now $20 to $27; that holly from North Carolina, besides being strangely bereft of red berries, is very scarce, and that most of the white-peried mistletoe comes from France at great expense. Also, they solemnly declare, thousands of trees cut in Canada in October for the present Christmas market "now lie buried beneath fifteen feet of snow." Retail dealers said a small tree that sold last year for 25 cents will be double that price this year. Prices for larger trees will be proportionately higher.

APPOINTED REGISTRAR

On December 27 the eight blue lodges of London, A., F. and A. M. will hold an installation banquet, when the officers for 1921 will be elected. District Deputy L. S. Boss will be in charge of the ceremonies.

A feature of the banquet will be the burning of the mortgage, which will have been paid off entirely by that date, completely clearing the Masonic Temple on Queen's avenue of any debt. Rumors to the effect that the Masonic Temple will be enlarged shortly are incorrect, but the directors hope that within the course of a few years additions will be made to the building.

The Masonic Temple was built in 1912 at a cost of $75,000. This included the price of the lot. date stated today that the validation of the election of Parnell would be challenged.

Election of civic officials will be under proportional representation. For the mayoralty, with but two candidates, the special features of "Pr" did not apply. Reports are published that large numbers of mayoralty ballots were rejected because they were marked with an "X" instead of by the number "1," and that from 20 to 40 ballots were spoiled in most polling subdivisions in Ward I. Present figures give Parnell 15,305 votes and Farmer 14,360. Farmer headed the polls in Wards 2 and 3, but Parnell's majority in the first ward was sufficient to overcome the labor man's lead. Farmer who ran for the mayoralty a year ago, increased his vote by 1,846. Parnell polled 373 votes fewer than secured a year ago by Mayor Gray. The total votes, even allowing for large numbers of spoiled ballots, was small, with close to 90,000 names on the lists. In the city council of eighteen members, exclusive of the mayor, labor will have from six to eight, according to deductions to be drawn from the totals of first preference for the candidates. Aid. A. The Argentine foreign minister declared he would 'probably go to the assembly meeting later, but up until noon he had not appeared. The fact that Senor Pueyrredon did not attend today's meeting caused suppressed excitement in the assembly, especially among South Americans. London ministers heartily approve of the proposed new law.

"Some such law is heartily desirable," said Rev. H. B. Ashby, rector of St. Matthew's Anglican. Church. "If it were passed there would be fewer unhappy marriages A hasty marriage is a mistake, except under special circumstances. In the Church of England, strictly speaking, the publication of banns is required, but this requirement is more often honored in the breach. I have had 26 marriages this year, and only published six banns. Most people have no great objection to the publication of their banns. Occasionally, some will say, But it isn't customary nowadays.' I tell them the Church of England favors it and besides it saves the license fee. No license fee is needed if the banns are published."

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, pastor of King Street Presbyterian Church, believes that some safeguard is needed against too hasty marriages. He admits, however, that he has seen quite a few elopments turn out very happily, a great deal better than he expected. Natural selection matrimonial mates should not interfere with too much, he holds, but sometimes public notice would prevent the taking place of undesirable marriages. Often a minister is reluctant to marry a couple, but has, no real reason for refusal. It would make things easier for the minister. There would be time for investigation.

The proposed law would be "a step in the right direction," according to Mr. McIntosh.

FACTS FOR FARMERS

THE TOBACCO SITUATION IN ONTARIO.

Experimental Farms Note.
Ontario has just harvested the largest tobacco crop on record. This large crop has caused uneasiness amongst many of the growers, as regards the market for this year, and in some districts there is almost a panic as to the situation. This is certainly most unfortunate, and the writer helieves, unwarranted. The leading tobacco growers are considering the situation most carefully and are organizing along correct lines toward the caring for and saving of this year's crop for future markets. Recently there has sprung into existence the Canadian sprung into existence the Canadian Tobacco Growers, Co-Operative, Limited, a company which shows every evidence of a thorough grasp of the situation and with initiative to take care of the immediate problem. The Government at Ottawa, lem. The Government at Ottawa, too, is fully cognizant of the situation and is prepared to assist in every possible way toward the savely possible way to ward the savely possible way to ward the savely possible way to ing, grading and marketing of this large crop. A recent meeting at Kingsville of the tobacco growers and the representatives of the tobacco division was held to discuss the present situation and discuss means of handling the present situation.

Ation.

Quantity and Type of Crop.

The tobacco division of the department of agriculture, Ottawa, has just completed its survey of the crop for this year, and detailed figures are being published elsewhere. From these figures we note that the 1920 crop amounts to nineteen and one-half million (19,500,000) pounds of White Burley, and two and one-half million (2,500,000) of Flue-cured tobacco, a total of twenty-two million (22,000,000) and one-half million (2.500,000) of Flue-cured tobacco, a total of twenty-two million (22,000,000) pounds for Ontario. These figures are as accurate as possible, considering the limited assistance for statistical work, but it is felt that they are conservatively correct. It is hoped that more correct figures may be possible when men are available for future crops. It is most unfortunate that the Ontario crop contains such a predominant quantity of tobacco of the White Burley type. The demand within Canada is insufficient to absorb the total crop. Moreover, the demand in England and France for a leaf of the White Burley type as grown in Canada appears to be very limited at the present time, and it might take years to establish a trade for that type of leaf. This was brought out clearly as a warning to tobacco growers in Ontario in the form of a cabled report during the month of May from the chief of the tobacco division, Ottawa, who was sent to Europe to look into this matter. The warning was most specific regarding the Burley type and most encouraging regarding the Flue-cured type of tobacco, providing it was of sufficiently good quality. It is most untobacco, providing it was of suffi-ciently good quality. It is most un-fortunate that tobacco growers did not heed this warning, but this in itself does not indicate disaster for the present growers or for the present crop. It simply indicates that these domestic channels for the ab-sorption of this type of tobacco as grown in Canada must take more time than usual to use up all of time than usual to use up all of this crop.

Quality of Tobacco.

On the whole, the quality of this year's crop is good. It is to be expected that the most experienced and efficient tobacco growers have produced a crop from good to excellent quality, depending on their soil and climatic conditions. It also stands to reason that the large number of speculators in tobacco who were attracted by the excellent prices in 1919, when five million (5,000,000) pounds less was produced, and who were speculating not only on the markets, but on tobacco land, and the markets, but on tobacco land, and the majority of whom were producing tobacco on shares, giving little or no thought to type or quality—have produced a lower grade of tobacco, and will undoubtedly be discouraged in the marketing of these lower grades. This, however, is the lesson which speculation in any agriteach. Those farmers who most intelligently produced their own to bacco of as high quality as possible, even under these conditions, are sure to receive the first opportuntive for sole and a reasonably sure sure to receive the first opportunity for sale and a reasonably sure market for their crob.

Very little tobacco has as yet been sold, due undoubtedly to many circumstances, foremost of which are: That there is a larger stock of tobacco in warehouses than usual both in Canada and in England; and that the companies are able to, and desirous of holding off for a short time until the world's crop begins to move more freely and the season's prices become established. season's prices become established. However, the small quantity of to-bacco which has been purchased, although selling at a lower price this year than last, has brought a fair price, and indicates that the quality crop is picked by the buyers first, and that those having good applies to become year as an able ex-

Allaying Uneasiness.

The work of the Co-Operative Company is doing much toward allaying unnecessary uneasiness and will go far towards standardizing will go far towards standardizing the market and saving the surplus crop. It is evident that if there is not a fairly large immediate export demand, which does not at present appear to be in sight, more leaf than ever before must be carried over for a year before it will be used by the manufacturers. Those who are experienced growers appreciate that this surplus, which Those who are experienced growers appreciate that this surplus, which will not be purchased immediately, must be processed in order to maintain the quality and usefulness. This redrying process, grading and packing is commonly done in Canada by those manufacturing companies who purchase Canadian leaf for manufacture in Canada. The four redrying plants in Western Ontario already in existence, namely, the Imperial Tobacco Company, the Rock City Tobacco Company, and the Macdonald Tobacco Company, have now a total capacity of 140,000 pounds of tobacco per day. The Co-Operative Company is now establishing an excellent plant in The Co-Operative Company is now establishing an excellent plant in Kingsville with a capacity of 30,-000 pounds of tobacco per day. The capacity of these plants could, undoubtedly, be nearly doubted by operating two shifts daily. Hence it will be seen that whether or not the companies purchase the tobacco, there is actually redrying capacity almost sufficient to meet the present emergency, and all that remains to be done is to have the proper machinery set in motion to handle this year's crop, whatever may be the immediate sale or wheever may retain ownership of the tobacco after drying and packing. the immediate sale or whoever may retain ownership of the tobacco after drying and packing.

The Co-Operative Company being desirous of grading their leaf for export before redrying and packing are taking most active steps toward discovering an export market for the surplus crop, and so grading that only the highest quality leaf of the desired type may be placed on the foreign markets. Certainly the company is to be congratulated on its initiative and progressiveness in this respect, Expert Graders.

The federal department, on the other hand, appreciating this move, are assisting to the extent of locating expert graders accustomed to grading for the European trade, and supplying the services of these graders as needed during the coming packing season. This move affects an excellent opportunity for local graders to acquire information as to methods of grading for export, and these local graders in future years should be most useful, especially if the Canadian leaf, properly graded, meets with foreign demand and a permanent trade be established.

It is hoped that the lesson of this year's crop may have the influence not of curtailing the total production in Ontario, but rather toward the production of at least as great quantity, but of a more desirable type and much superior quality, so that the Ontario leaf may be superior to the same type of leaf grown elsewhere and focund in such large quantities on the world's markets. It is hoped also that this Co-Operative Company may, through its efforts, stimulate farmers toward greater production per acre, and the production and marketing of the highest quality leaf possible at a minimum of cost.

PRIZE LIST FIRST CANADIAN EGGLAYING CONTEST.

[Experimental Farms Note.]

The cash prizes won by the competing pens in the first Canadian egg-laying contest are awarded according to the standing at the end of the contest. The monthly prizes given to the best pen and the best hen throughout the year, also the two prizes donated by Mr. H. L. Warren of St. Lambert, Que., for the pen and the bird having the largest number of eggs on the last day of February, are not included in the list.

Owing to the regulations, which did not permit pens that lost more than two birds from natural causes to continue in the contest, a number were disqualified and thirty-four pens finished, with an average, per bird, of 140.5 eggs.

Of these, 17 pens were Rocks, with an average of 145.5 eggs per bird; 15 were White Leghorns, with an average of 127 eggs per bird; one pen was a White Wyandotte, which averaged 165 eggs, and one pen of averaged 165 eggs, and one pen of Rhode Island Reds, averaging 158

WINTER FEEDING OF YOUNG CATTLE.

[Experimental Farms Note.]

There is no time that gain can be made more profitably with young stock than the period from six months to two years of age. The months to two years of age. The tendency very often, however, is to let the stock "rough" it during this time, particularly during the winter, itme, particularly during the winter, not even giving a maintenance ration, and the young stock too often passes the winter without having made any appreciable gain, the farmer depending upon the pasturage during the summer to put the animal into saleable condition. The result of such a practice is that lighter steers are obtained, or heifers are delayed in maturity with corresponding loss to the raiser.

In order to carry young stock to best advantage during the winter months, roots or succulent feeds of some kinds should be provided. Such feeds will take the place of hay and grains; thereby lessening the cost of wintering, and at the same time make it possible for the animal to make the best use of such dryfeeds because of alding in the digestion of both, the roughage and meal given.

Young stock cannot make gain without protein feeds of some kind.
This may be supplied by feeding plenty of clover hay. The importance of using good clover hay for young stock cannot be too strongly young stock cannot be too strongly urged. The practice too often is to feed the young stock the poorest hay, whereas the opposite should be the rule if best results are to be obtained.

Of the grains, wheat bran, crushed oats and oil meal are the best. These are mixed in the proportion of two parts each of the bran and oats to one part of the oil meal. It is risky to feed cottonseed to young stock, particularly to those under one year of age.

With roots or ensulage, together with clover hay, a good growing ra-tion is possible without grain feeds. If roots or ensilage are available, a poor quality of hay or good straw may be fed, along with some grain to furnish the protein requirements, and good growing conditons there-and good growing conditions thereby maintained.

Good Feeding Important.

Good feeding is more important following the housing of the stock in the fall than at any other time. During the early winter is when particular attention should be given to the feeding of young stock, as at this time they respond more readily to good treatment, and if any skimping in feed is to be practiced let it be during the latter part of the winter when the days are shorter and the temperature lower. winter when the days are shorter and the temperature lower.

The placing of young stock upon a dry ration after coming from the pasture in the fall is very likely to be attended with stomach troubles, and if the supply of succulent feed is limited let these be fed in moderation at this time to avoid too great a change in feed. A gradual change to the dry feed as the winter passes will prove to be less risky.

Care should be exercised in feeding a meal mixture, particularly if care should be exercised in feeding a meal mixture, particularly if no succulent feeds are 'given, as very often a desire to bring on an unthrifty animal quickly may, if too heavy feeding is practiced, result in increasing the unthrifty condition through impaired digestion.

At the Kentville station, five yearling heifers, fed 30 pounds of roots, 8 pounds of hay and 3 pounds of meal; as stated above, per day during November and December, and no grain for the following five months, made an average gain during this period of 225 pounds and an average gain for the year of 304 pounds.

an average gain for the year of 304 pounds.

Five fed the above ration during the seven months made an average gain of 276 pounds, and a gain for the year of 350 pounds. It should be stated that the summer pastures were not what one would wish, but they were fairly average upland pastures.

The importance of well-ventilated, warm, well-lighted stables, with plenty of good water and opportunity for exercise, with dry quarters and plenty of bedding material, should not be lost sight of in planning to make most profitable gains from young stock.

MODERN PUBLIC HEALTH

BY H. W. HILL, M.B., M.D., D.P.H. Director Institute of Public Health of Western University, London, A Column Devoted to Public Health in All Phases. Questions Addressed as Above Will Be Welcomed.

HOW GERMS POISON US.

Germs are after all our cousinsforty-second cousins, perhaps, but still cousins-made of the same still cousins—made of the same materials as we are, feeding on the same things, most of them, growing, reproducing themselves, dying as we do. It does not take long to understand that they are made of the same things as we are made of, in the case of the disease germs at least—for when they feed, they feed on us. Just as we are made of beef and potatoes and bacon and outmeal, bread, milk and other things we eat, so they are made up of meal, bread, milk and other things we eat, so they are made up of what they eat—of men, women and children, in the human family; of horses, cows, turkeys and other things that they attack, including plants of various kinds, in the case of other living things.

HAVE GOOD APPETITES. When germs were first discovered as causes of disease, the "how" or as causes of disease, the 'how' of it was considered even more mysterious than the 'why.' The very simple 'why' is this; because they are hungry little things, just as we are hungry, big things—and they want their meals, just as we do. Three times in twenty-four hours we eat—but germs often pass through their whole lives in 20 minutes or an hour or so. We can afford to take a year for a thousand meals, but they have to do their whole lifetimes feeding in say half an hour. Recognizing the voracity of these little things, the earlier bacteriologists tried to explain the damaging effects of disease germs on the body by supposing that the germs ate up our food as it hastened on its way to our body-cells by way of our blood stream—thus starving our body-cells could get it. But we know now that the germs even in their rapacious myriads could not eat up enough of our food to make any serious difference to us, because after all they are so very small. We now know that they act through poisons which they produce. These are poisons of the most intense nature in the world. Bulk for bulk, morphine and strychnine might be called innocent breakfast foods compared with the poisons made by the tetanus (lockjaw) germ or the diphtheria germ. of it was considered even more mys-

SOLUBLE IN WATER.

Some of these germs (tetanus and diphtheria, as examples), make poisons which are soluble in water. When therefore these germs are growing in the body at a certain point, say in the bottom of a nailhole wound in the case of tetanus (lockjaw) or in the throat in the case of diphtheria, the poisons they make are dissolved in the blood (which is largely water, of course), and are carried all over the body. In the case of tetanus, the poison, although it goes everywhere in the SOLUBLE IN WATER. though it goes everywhere in the body, affects chiefly the nervous system and so produces the spasms which everyone knows go with this terrible disease. In diphtheria also the poison affects the nervous sys-tem, but in a different way, causing paralysis rather than spasms. GERMS STAY BEHIND.

tem, but in a different way, causing paralysis rather than spasms.

GERMS STAY BEHIND.

Now if we grow the tetanus germ or the diphtheria germ outside the body in beef-broth or something similar that consists chiefly of water, the poison is dissolved in the water of the broth just the same as it is in the water of the blood. If now we filter this beef-broth in which the germs are growing and producing their poisons, the poisons (being in solution) go through the filter and the germs (being real little particles of matter, although very small) stay behind. Of course, no ordinary filter will do this. The bacteriologist uses porcelain without any glaze on it. Flower-pot material would be too coarse. The germs would go through, as well as the poison. Porcelain has openings in it, also, but so fine that the germs will not go through, although the poisons will. By means of this porcelain filter then we separate the living germs from the inanimate, but very intense poisons which are in solution in the water of the beefbroth. One teaspoonful of this broth is sometimes poisonous enough to kill eight horses, % of a teaspoonful to each. Remember that most of the teaspoonful is just beef-broth; the poison of the germ forms a very infinitesimal part of the whole dose.

WILL DO DAMAGE.

Now here is the interesting part of it—the poison (or toxin) of the diphtheria germ, thus separated, and the poison (or toxin) of the tetanus germ prepared in a similar manner, will do all the damage to the body that the living germs themselves would do—proving conclusively that the living germs act is through their poisons and in no other way.

If this is true, why does anyone survive after the diphtheria germ no other way.

If this is true, why does anyone survive after the diphtheria germ or the tetanus germ gets established in the body and begins making its poison? In other words, how does a patient with tetanus or diphtheria recover? We know they do some-

"The Prairie Mother"—by Arthur Stringer. (McClelland and Stewart) She lived on the far-flung fenceless prairie, twenty miles from a railroad, a Doctor, or a spool of thread; with her husband, her three children and Whinstone Sandy, the hired man, for company; and her middle name was courage. It had need to be!

Into her life, with cyclonic suddenness, and almost on the same day, came her husband's financial failure; and his cousin, Lady Alicia Elizabeth Newlands; both equally disastrous. Failure, in fact, may be surmounted, but a husband's cousin—who wants to be that husband's wife!—is a more ticklish proposition for the mother of a family. But the Prairie Mother—for the sake of those same babies—armed with patience, humor, and a determination to abide by the slogan "Smile, Plod, Stick, Fight, Win"—tackled both problems.

This is the story of a woman who Stick, Fight, Win"—tackled both problems.

This is the story of a woman who never pitted herself. And it is a great and convincing treatise on that theme. If every woman in the world could take it to heart—beginning with me ——? (Next?)

It is said that the most realistic books are written by the people who have "been there." And one is almost forced to believe that Mr. Stringer has been the maternal parent of Twins himself (if one believes the above theory), because there are so many little intimate touches that it seems only a woman could know. That, however, MAY only go to prove the contention that no one can really write convincingly of their deepest experience. So I leave it to you to decide whether Arthur has ever been a mother himself.

Arthur has ever been a mother himself.

Just how a woman with hands as full as Chaddie's ever sat down and wrote a diary, I don't know. I have lived on the Prairie, and known women there just as clever—intellectually and practically—as Chaddie; as brave, as beautiful, and as gallant—God Bless Them!—But I never yet knew one that had time to write about it—consecutively. "My life was the poem I could have writ, But I could not both Live—and Utter it" might be written of many a Ploneer Mother. The last touch of realism would have been given to the book, if it had been written about—and not BY—the heroine. And yet those delightful personal humoresques that break from Chaddie—like sunlight—might in that case, have been given the go-bye. And that would have been a real loss. And then, she never pitied herself; that DID give her some spare time. One or two small "clerical errors" have crept into the

WHAT'S IN A BOOK?

Why?
Long, intricate experiments, made by many highly-skilled investigators, working for many years, each contributing something to the subject, in the way of some small discovery that helped himself and others in disentangling the process, at last gave us the solution. The fact is that the body, when exposed to any poison (or indeed to any unfavorable condition whatever) does its best to adjust itself to that poifavorable condition which the points best to adjust itself to that points on or other condition. If it succeeds all right—if it does not succeeds all right—if it does not succeed domage or even death follow.

its best to adjust itself to that poison or other condition. If it succeeds all right—if it does not succeed, damage or even death follow.

WILL CAUSE PAIN.

For instance, if you, who have always worn shoes, should go barefoot, your feet will suffer horribly until "nature," always busy with adjusting living things to their sursoundings, hardens up the feet, thickens the skin of the soles, strengthens the disused foot-muscles, limbers up the cramped toes—and behold, you have almost a new pair of feet, with abilities and usefulness greater than the old pair in certain directions. Thus by undergoing the knocks and rubbing and cold and wet, your feet have manufactured an immunity to those very things. Thus also the soft-muscled, short-winded deak man, pale and flabby, will find his body adjust itself wonderfully to hard, outdoor work—but only if he does that kind of work. In other words, the body will adjust itself to new conditions (if you give it time, and if the new conditions are not too severe, especially at first); but it won't adjust itself to any conditions unless it is exposed to them.

DOES SOME HARM.

Well, just so with the new conditions imposed on the body by a poison like strychnine, morphine, cocaine, etc. The body, at first resenting the appearance of even very minute quantities of these substances in its midst," in time will adjust itself so that quite huge doses have but little effect. It is true that in adjusting itself to some conditions, the body does itself a good deal of harm in relation to other conditions. The man who has learned to go bare foot will suffer agonies when he puts boots on again. The heavy-muscled athleta may find that, in adjusting his body to the demands of the high jump or the pole-vault, he has over-strained his heart or damaged his may find that, in adjusting his body to the demands of the high jump or the pole-vault, he has overstrained his heart or damaged his arteries. The morphine taker or the cocaine flend has secured an immunity to those particular poisons, but at the expense of much damage in other directions. Nevertheless, the general rule holds in nature that if a living thing is exposed to a given condition or poison, it will proceed condition or poison, it will proceed straightway to adapt itself to that

TRIES TO ADAPT ITSELF.

Just so does the body act when the poison from a disease germ enters; it tries to adapt itself to the enters; it tries to adapt user to the poison in various ways.

The most successful of these ways is by the manufacture of something in the body which the body does not particularly want, and can afford to throw away on the poison—letting the poison act on this relatively unimoprtant material instead of attacking important parts of the body tacking important parts of the body like the nervous system or heart or kidneys. Just so might a man in a sleigh, pursued by wolves, offer the horse to the wolves and escape himself. If he had a side of beef in the sleigh, he might drop that over, and both himself and his horse might escape. If he had something of still less value that would satisfy the wolves, he might save his side of beef also.

This antitoxic substance differs with each kind of poison which the body encounters, but the general name antitoxin is given to all variations of it. Thus we have one kind tacking important parts of the body eties of it. Thus we have one kind of antitoxin which will neutralize the diphtheria toxin, another that of antitoxin which will neutralize the diphtheria toxin, another that will neutralize the tetanus toxin and so on. If the body of a patient succeeds in making this material in sufficient quantity the patient re-covers. If the physician can get a supply ready made from another supply ready made from another patient who has recovered from the same disease or from a serum labor-atory where they produce the antiatory where they produce the anti-toxin in the bodies of horses, he can use the ready-made antitoxin, and relieve the patient from the necessity of making the antitoxin

WILL NEUTRALIZE ALL. WILL NEUTRALIZE ALL.

But remember this particularly—there is no one such "antitoxin" which will neutralize all germ poisons. We do not know of any one antitoxin that will neutralize even two different toxins. Each toxin has at best only one antitoxin—and that one antitoxin will neutralize only the one toxin. Thus it is that the patient who has had measles and recovered—that is, has made the measles antitoxin in his own body and has stocked up with it for future use—will not have measles again, use—will not have measles again, but will take scarlet fever just as readily. The vice versa of this is Dennison Grant, hating work in his father's big Brokerage Business in the East, comes West, and gets work as a Foreman on a ranch. Here he runs up against that Old Timer "Y. D." and his outfit—also his daughter! and the Tale of the Fight that Went Up in Smoke, is a thrilling story of the Foothills. Romance centres round Zen, the beautiful fearless daughter of the old Rancier. (And the best bit of the whole book, for mental picturization, is the wooing of her mother!). But tho an accident reveals her heart to Grant, he is not yet big enough to believe that a girl could have as much courage for Ideals as he has himself; or that she might really think the World Well Lost—not for Love only, but for Love that goes hand in hand with true comradeship. The reader is as vexed and impatient with Grant's blindness as was Zen herself. But he goes back to his shack, and lets his rival, Transley, carry off the girl that the Lord had delivered into his heart.

COUNCIL TO CONSIDER K. of C. Held Interesting De- AND STORM WATER SEWERAGE SYSTEM

For the Wellington and High Street Section of City At Monday Night's Meeting.

Departing from the usual practice, the city council will consider a combined sanitary and storm sewer system for the Wellington and High street section of the city. It may also erect a public comfort station at the intersection those two streets.

The engineering department in recommending this course to the council states that the paving on streets without sewers cannot be gone on with until both storm and sanitary sewers have been laid. In order to hasten the work, they advise the combined system.

The system will take care of the Wellington road, High street, and the unsewered sections of Clarence, Hill, South, Waterloo and Nelson streets, which are too low to drain into the existing interceptor on Hill street. Provision has also been made to intercept the sanitary flow from the sewers on Wellington and South streets at present emptying directly into the Thames. weinington and South streets at present emptying directly into the Thames. The estimated cost of the work is $271,377, including necessary river cross-ings, pumping station and equipment, force main and private drain connections. It includes 4.45 miles of com-bined storm and sanitary sewers eight inches to thirty-nine inches in diameter, 4.04 miles of six-inch private drain con-nections and 100 manholes.

OUR GOLDEN JUBILEE

Two Hundred Million Dollars

THIS year the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada celebrates its Golden Jubilee by reaching the two hundred million dollar mark. This point in the expansion of the Mutual Life has been reached more quickly than any of its most ardent friends would have believed possible five years ago. But the reason is not far to seek. During the great war and the fatal sickness which followed in its train the Mutual Life paid out in relief of the families bereaved no less than two million three hundred thousand dollars in addition to ordinary claims. The benefits of life insurance were thus so clearly demonstrated that an immense demand resulted and the business of the Mutual has developed as much during the last five years as during the preceding forty-five years. The people suddenly realized the absolute necessity for life insurance and naturally turned to a company well-known, well-established and financially impregnable.

1,101 Votes.

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 3.—(By Canadian Press).-The Labor forces of Winnipeg today failed by a comparatively narrow margin to elect S. J. Farmer as mayor of the city for 1921. Edward Parnell, bread manufacturer and candidate for the citizens' committee, secured a majority over Farmer, who is an accountant, of 1,101.

The candidates ran neck and neck The candidates ran neck and neck while the early returns were received, and Farmer hopes were high. Later figures, however, gave Parnell substantial majority and the labor candidate's lead was overturned. The total vote of under 30,000, was about one-third of the electorate enrolled and entitled to vote today.

Farmer, who was the unsuccessful candidate for mayoralty honors a year ago, was nominated for the contest just ended as the candidate of the Dominion Labor Party. Following a disagreement in the ranks of the party over the civic candidates, he continued in the field as an independent labor man. The campaign was waged

The total vote for Mayor was: Parnell, 15,115; Farmer, 14,014, Majority for Parnell, 1,101.

Aldermanic votes were cast on the proportional representation system, and only first choices were counted tonight. A study of these figures indicated that labor had failed to secure a majority in the 1921 city council.

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—The city of Toronto and the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission are to buy out the MacKenzie interests at $32,734,000, if the taxpayers of Toronto indorse the deal at the municipal elections on January 1. The deal was completed late tonight, the directors of the Toronto Railway Company having sanctioned the sale. The Legislature is to validate the deal at the next session, according to the understanding when the negotiations were under way today.

The appraisal value of the various companies embodied in the MacKenzie interests was $48,000,000. The offer of sale was $35,000,000, until late today, when the companies came down in their price, and the city and hydro commission went up. Their offer yesterday was said to be $30,000,000.

The properties and businesses involved in the deal are as follows: Toronto Power Company, Electrical Development Company, Toronto Electric Light Company, York Radial Railway, and Schomberg and Aurora Electric Railway.

chants' Association of Canada, with chants' Association of Canada, with head offices at Ottawa, is sending out questionnaires to the various trades connected with it in preparation for a conference with Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance which will be held, it is expected, at an early date. The conference will have special reference to the luxury tax, to which the retailers have been expressing strong objection, and which they demand should be collected from the manufacturer or importer instead of through the retail stores. The association objects to wellmeaning, but illdirected bodies advising the Government in connection with a tax, which, apart from the general purchasing pubapart from the general purchasing pub-apart from the general purchasing public, affects the retailers more than anyone else.

It has been represented that the retailers wanted the tax. The association denies this absolutely. In fact, they say they were never consulted. There is a strong impression that the luxury tax in its present form will not survive the next budget. It is doubtful whether, in the first place, its origiator, Sir Henry Drayton, favored it for more than sumptuary purposes and for the curbing of extravagance.

A Policy that Dominates all Conditions A Product that is Always Worth Par

"Reo is financially the second strongest concern in the automobil industry."

That assertion, published five years ago, created a lot of comment not only in the automobile trade, but in banking and business circles everywhere.

Incredulity was followed by approval when the proofs wer looked up.

That statement is still true, we believe.

That standing, that solidity, that prestige is due to a policy of such soundnes, such integrity, it has withstood those storms that have swayed others from time to time.

The well-known quality of the Reo product is the direct outcome of that policy.

Not to build all the motor cars—but the best.

Not how many-but how good.

Such a policy makes for a degree of excellence that knows no rival, and is always in demand.

Reo prices have been dictated always by the same high resolve.

Not "all the traffic would bear" but just a definite margin of profit over cost.

And that cost lower than others, because of the superior skill and facilities and experience of Reo.

Reo is "The Gold Standard of Values"-now as always. To determine that for yourself, compare any Reo model with others selling-not at a similar price-but 50 per cent higher.

This Sedan, for example. Compare cloth and upholstery-silver and other trimmings; the all-aluminum body. Compare designbeauty and finish.

Compare these external features with any sedan selling for $6,000 or $7,000-and say where you find any difference in quality-in value—to account for even a fraction of the difference in price.

And the price of this luxurious equipage is $4,700! You get Reo quality, too, in every detail of the chasis. And-and-that wonderful, silent, flexible, powerful, economical

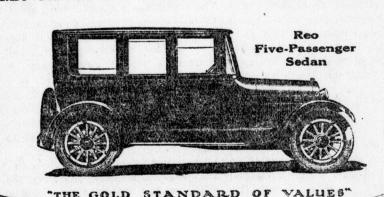

No matter how much you are willing to pay for your new automobile, you owe it to yourself to see this Reo first.

For professional or businessmen—or for milady who drives herself—the Reo Six Coupe is ideal. Same general design, same chassis, same quality—$4,600. Prices are F. O. B., London, Ont.

MUCH TO CORRECT.

[Toronto Mail.] There is much to correct in the way of life most of us at the present time are following. We are too much absorbed in material objects, in the pursuit of wealth, in dreams of luxurious living. Public opinion is too tolerant of lapses from old standards of decency. Society is getting down at the heel in a moral sense. Irreverence, rebellion against work, and disrespect for conventions that have the strongest religious sanction are among the evils of the time, to be corrected only by the keying up of Christianity as a force in society. ered that Rives had some valuable mining concessions in Mexico, it had seemed very desirable for them to become partners and try their fortunes in a country where wealth awaited a pair of up-to-date filibusters like them and where political disturbances held forth opportunities for their peculiar abilities. To carry out their plans they needed all the capital they could scrape together. Hence the present proposal to unload all the Nickleby interests as quickly as possible for as much ready cash as might be. The logical victim was the Honorable Milton Waring. Already Nickleby felt that his cultivation of the honorable gentleman had proceeded far enough to justify some boldness. He had succeeded in getting the Honorable Milt pretty well entangled in speculative investments and under his thumb by way of certain personal notes. In addition, there was the little flyer in real-estate which the Honorable Milton and his satellite, Blatchford Ferguson, had put through with Nickleby's assistance. That little transaction would cost the honorable gentleman his portfolio with the government if it became known. So that taking everything into com-So that, taking everything into consideration, Mr. Nickleby felt quite confident that he could persuade the Honorable Milton Waring and Blatchford Ferguson to fall in with the somewhat ambitious plans which President Nickleby had conceived for disposing of his stock in the Interprovincial Loan &

He preferred to call it "high Mickleby would not admit, even to himself. He preferred to call it "high finance," "ciever dealing," snarp practice" perhaps. But he had no intention of overstepping the law. If, after he was safely away trouble developed as a result of the situation which he left behind him, that would be the least of his worries. The "mismanagement" of his successors in the control of the loan company would be responsible, not J. Cuthbert Nickleby. The old Abercrombie farm, outside the city limits, had been a happy discovery. The property really was a valuable one and before many years went by it was destined to rise in value rapidly as the city grew. The place had dropped into neglect of late and the old lady who had fallen heir to the estate was a non-resident. Rives had discovered that the spinster, Miss Patience Hollinsworth, was in her dotage and for a man of Rives' ability the rest had been easy. He had secured an option on the farm at a ridiculous price. Nickleby thereupon had had it subdivided into blocks and streets and building lots, and the beautiful new residential suburb of "River Glen" had appeared in blue print.

At the moment those very blue-prints, mounted on beaver-board, were propped in convenient position about the library. On the Honorable Milton's desk reposed sundry legal documents pertaining to the transfer of the Abercrombie property and certain other papers awaiting signature.

"I've seen Fawker, of Suburban Trolleys Ltd., and it will be a simple matter for them to extend their line as soon as you're ready to put 'River Glen' on the market," remarked

"I'm sure you do," commented Ferguson. "With things moving as they are at present, it ought to go, Milt."

"It looks good to me," was the Honorable Milton Waring's ready response.

"The proposition is certainly an exceptional one," went on Nickleby.

"Very exceptional," grinned Ferguson warning his head up along the basket of eggs. Then, too, there is inspiration in nods of approval and Honorable Milton Waring and Mr. Blatchford Ferguson were prodigal of these as the recital progressed.

Certainly it was an amazing confession. With considerable gusto did J. Cuthbert Nickleby explain the various moves by which he had dethroned the Lawson interests and usurped control of the Interprovincial Loan & Savings Company. The quiet gathering together of proxies the appointment of dummy directors, the "purchase" of others, the "personal loans" which silenced others still, the failune of "Old Nat" to produce his authority for voting the Bradford block of stock—all of these factors Mr. Nickleby aset forth aimed to convince his two auditors that with a lucidity and frankness which when they and their associates assumed "control" it would be absolute, with no possibility of failure in swinging the annual meeting to suit themselves.

"By heaven, Nickleby, you're a wizand" cried Ferguson at last, unable longer to restrain his enthusiasm. "You've got the situation tied up in a pretty knot and no mistake. Hasn't he, Milt? Take it from me, J. C., if you'd been cruising the high seas in the days of Captain Kidd, you'd have given him a run for his money! "I'm sure you do," commented Ferguson. "With things moving as they are at present, it ought to go, Milt."

"It looks good to me," was the Honorable Milton Waring's ready response.
"The proposition is certainly an extraction of the model of the model of the Honorable Milton slowly. "It's clear enough that you've got things in your own hand just now, J. C., and can shove through this deal O. K. But your whole control rests upon the fact that the Bradford stock is side-tracked. Supposing Nat Lawson locates that missing power-of-attorney? What there?"

"I give you my word that he can't do it," chuckled Nickleby. "That's all very well. But suppos-ing he does? How do you know he can't?"

"Very exceptional," grinned Ferguson, running his hand up along the bald streak on top of his head. "So much so, J. C., that you've got to convince us that this 'control' of the Interprovincial you are to hand over to us is bona fide beyond question. We'd be in a fine mess if we lost out at the annual meeting, wouldn't we?" "Yes, that is important, J. C.," nodded Waring. "You might just go into that end of it a little more fully. Why not begin at the beginning and tell us exactly how you propose to cover up?"

GOOD HOPE MANUFACTURING COMPANY

Your Last Chance To Share In

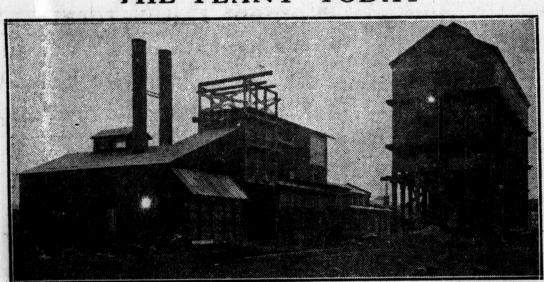

Nearly all enterprises yielding large profits had to be taken on faith at first. Ford Stock, Bell Telephone Stock, United States Steel, Standard Oil and others all required faith on the part of the shareholders in the beginning. Indeed none of them had anything like the definite advantages of the NUKOL Investment.

What Is Nukol?

Nukol is 95 per cent purest anthracite coal with 5 per cent of liquid hydro-carbon binder-that is all. The anthracite used is what is known as "screenings," and is all pure coal-no slate lumps or other adulteration. This pure coal is crushed and mixed with the oil binder by the patented Dutch process-leased under special license exclusively to the makers of Nukol in Ontario.

Nukol burns steadily for many hours longer than even the best anthracite of any size, and when burned out leaves only an ash without lumps or clinkers of any kind. People who have used Nukol for stoves and furnaces tell us they would ra ther have it than coal. Testimonials in the Nukol booklet will convince anyone of Nukol's superiority over any coal. It is real fuel-all fuel-without waste, with out soot, without cinders or clinkers, with-out smell.

THE PLANT TODAY

View shows the most recent photograph of the plant with the 250-horsepower plant, drying-room, factory and office, also the huge 500-ton bunker for the finished Nukol. This plant is all built and paid for, with the five acres of land upon which it stands, our own private half-mile of track and sidings.

Will It Sell?

Other companies now making a commercial success of the Dutch process of making Nukol are the Nukol Fuel Company, Limited, Toronto, with a 300-tons-aday plant; the Burwin White Fuel Company, Superior, Wis., with a similar sized plant, and the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, Scranton, Pa., whose plant turns out 1,000 tons a day. All of these companies are working at top capacity and cannot fill all the orders they are receiving. Latest reports from them state that they are oversold up to April, 1921.

Coal dealers in 40 small towns have already signed contracts with the Port Stanley Nukol Co., Limited, to handle Nukol only as soon as we can supply them. Our owa shareholders will take Nukol as fast as we can produce it for many months to come. Only shareholders can purchase Nukol, and every Nukol shareholder is his own coal merchant.

Who Own Shares?

The officers and directors of Port Stanley Nukol Co., Limited, are all reputable businessmen of London, St. Thomas and Port Stanley. They are men who would not associate themselves with any but a legitimate, sound business undertaking, or anything that is not likely to succeed in a big way.

The shareholders number 1,108-divided fairly evenly between the towns and cities and the farming districts. Among the shareholders are many men who were formerly coal dealers, but were forced into temporary inactivity by inability to secure adequate supplies of coal, and have turned their attention to other lines, with the intention of becoming Nukol dealers when we are ready to supply them

Many citizens of Buffalo and other U. S. points are shareholders of Port Stanley Nukol Co., Limited, and have holdings ranging all the way from $5,000 down. No amount less than 100 shares are sold to any person, and we prefer to have many shareholders of 100 shares each at $1 per share ($100 investors) than fewer holders of large amounts of stock.

How About Dividends?

run 20 hours per day, giving a yearly capacity of over 90,000 tons. The profit on each ton will probably average at least $4, but for the sake of conservative figuring, we will place it at only $2 per ton. This gives an annual net profit on a year's operations of $180,000.

The 8 per cent preferred stock is a bona-fide first lien on the entire assets of the company, as there is no bond issue. Out of the $180,000 net profits each year would be paid the 8 per cent dividends on the 200,000 shares of preferred stock. Also, because this preferred stock is participating, after the 8 per cent dividends have been paid on it, 8 per cent would then be paid on the common stock; then all the surplus profits available for dividends will be divided equally among the preferred and the common stock.

A 25 per cent bonus of common stock is being given with the first 25,000 shares of preferred stock sold after this announcement, after which the common stock bonus will not be given. Those who act promptly, therefore, will be most likely to secure the extra free shares of common stock.

Double Advantages

In addition to sharing in what must be generous profits, shareholders are given the opportunity of purchasing Nukol for fuel in their own homes-thus solving the fuel problem. Nukol positively will not be sold to non-shareholders, as the company is conducted strictly on lines of co-operation among the shareholders.

The average ton of coal today contains 10 per cent to 20 per cent of slate. Some of it contains over 35 per cent of slate, as many of the unfortunate purchasers will tell you. Stone at $22 a ton is expensive to burn-and it doesn't

In purchasing the screenings for making Nukol we will not accept coal containing more than 2 per cent of slate or other foreign matter. A ton of Nukol is as nearly as we can make it 2,000 pounds of real fuel. Nukol shareholders will solve the fuel problem in the easiest, best way by being able to obtain Nukol, no matter what the coal situation, for the supplies of raw material are secured by contract for the next ten years.

You Must Act Quickly To Get FREE BONUS SHARES!

Please note that we state above that only the purchasers of the first 25,000 preferred shares sold after today will be given a bonus of 25 per cent of common stock. In order to enjoy this extra bon us of stock, it will be necessary to purchase quickly, but, by all means, secure full information first. We have conducted the affairs of the company as soundly and economically as possible. The money received for shares thus far has been expended promptly upon buildings, plant and machinery. We now have as assets of the company the following: 5 acres of land at Port Stanley-paid for. 1/2 mile of private railroad sidings and track laid down, costing about $5,000-paid for. Powerful locomotive crane to do all our own switching, costing $16,000-paid for. 500-ton bunker for finished Nukol, costing $12,000-paid for. Up-to-date steam power plant of 250 H. P., costing $10,000paid for. Main building, costing $9,000- paid for. Giant dryer, installed and ready to operate, costing $4,000-paid for. New huge masticator (coal crusher) on ground, ready to be set up. Briquetting press on the way.

Not a dollar has been spent needlessly, and we expect to begin turning out the much-needed Nukol within four or five weeks. We are hurrying matters all we can, as we recently received a letter from H. A. Harrington, fuel administrator of Ontario, asking us to do all we can to assist the fuel problem's solution by rushing production. (Mr. Harrington evidently takes Nukol and its possibilities ser-

We would ask you to read carefully all that is said above. Then, if you feel you would like to participate in the operations of the Nukol Company, securing what we believe will be good dividends on your investment, and also settling the coal problem, which shows no signs of improvement, write for the booklet and fuller information. "THE LAW DIVINE" AT THE GRAND TWICE TODAY.

H. V. Esmond, the distinguished English actor-playwright and his charming wife, Miss Eva Moore, England's leading comedienne, will be seen for the last time today and this evening at the Grand in Mr. Esmond's delightful English comedy success, "The Law Divine."

Delighted audiences have been in evidence at both performances Thursday and Friday evenings, and it is indeed doubtful if a more entertaining, fascinating comedy has graced the footlights at the Grand this season than "The Law Divine." Replete with comedy lines and situations, it is a most enjoyable production from curtain to curtain.

An excellent supporting cast of English stars are seen in support ■ Mr. Esmond and Miss Moore, the same cast, in fact, that played the famous London theatre, Wyndham's, for one of the most successful season's in its history, Mr. Esmond and Miss Moore and company will return to London later in the season' in Mr. Esmond's delightfully funny play, "Eliza Comes to Stay." The tour of the present vehicle is from Hallfax to Victoria, B. C.

The latest conductor to add his indorsement is Nahan Franko, the famous orchestra and band leader of New York, who attended Prihoda's first recital there. What makes Franko's essay particularly pertinent is the fact that he is himself a violinist of note as well as a conductor. After declaring himself spellbound by the young Czech's technique and tone, Nahan Franko allowed himself to be quoted in the press as saying: "Let me tell you, if I can, what a genius he is. The greatest of them all is this boy, and he will become the most popular violinist in America. This doesn't express all that I feel, but it is the best I am able to do now."

The critics next morning confirmed in the New York papers the encomiums that have been showered upon Prihoda in the journals of Italy and South America.

"HEARTS OF ERIN" AT THE GRAND "Hearts of Erin," with its wealth of Hibernian fun, its merry colleens and quaint characters, will be the attraction at the Grand next Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee this coming week, when it will be given with one of the finest casts of players ever seen in an Irish drama. The portrayal of scenes of Irish life is so realistic that one can almost get the scent of the heather and the odor of the turf smoke when the curtain rises. It will also serve to introduce to this city the noted tenor, Walter Scanlan, as an Irish star. One of the advantages secured by Mr. George M. Gatts was in the bringing together of the most Irish cast ever seen in this country, outside of the Abbey Theatre players. Unlike the latter, the actors in "Hearts of Erin," are well schooled and lend to the performance a degree of artistry that is as rare as it is delightful, and from the rise of the first curtain until the close of the last act, the laughter is almost continuous.

"Hearts of Erin," may be classed as a laughing success, if nothing else. It has other qualities, however, that make for success, among them the pretty love story of Barry Boyne and his Norahone of the most delightful romances that has been told on the stage in many years. The songs of Mr. Scanlan, who is one of the best tenors on the American stage today will be a charming feature of the performance, also. Mr. Scanlan has few equals as a ballad interpreter, and his rendition of these songs will be of unusual interest to local musicians, as well as to lovers of Celtic plays. NEXT FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Mr. Gatts has surrounded his young Mr. Gatts has surrounced his years star with a cast that is unusually strong, among the players being: Greta Sherman, Olive Moore, Charles Dingle, Daniel Kelly, Lawrence O'Brien, Thomas P. Gillen, Larry McCue and BEHOLD MY WIFE" COMING TO THE GRAND.

THE GRAND.

The forthcoming presentation at the Grand Opera House of the "big applause picture of 1920," "Behold My Wife," is, according to the book stores, causing a revival of interest in the works of Sir Gilbert Parker, who wrote the story that has been made into one of the biggest photoplays of the season.

Sir Gilbert Parker, it will be remembered, is a native son of Canada, having been born in the little town of Camden East, Addington County, Ontario. This is one reason why his books have been "best sellers" in the Dominion, and why his novels that have been made over for the motion picture screen have been remarkably popular.

Having completed his academic education at Trinity College, University of Toronto, Gilbert Parker went to Sydney, Australia. At the age of twenty he was editor of a newspaper in that city. It was while employed as a newspaper man that his writings attracted the attention of readers and publishers throughout the world.

"THE GREAT REDEEMER" Scene from Maurice Tourneur's master production at Loew's, London's Amusement Centre, next Monday, Tues day and Wednesday.

Incident of Painting Based Upon Actual Occurrence in Mexican Prison.

Maurice Tourneur's great screen production, "The Great Redeemer," which is to be shown at Loew's Theatre for a run of three days, beginning next Monday tells a story that is so absorbing and thrilling that persons who behold it will inevitably conclude that it is fiction—that it never could have happened in real life.

Such is, in fact, not the case. While "The Great Redeemer" was written by H. H. Van Loan and is in the main a work of the imagination, its central

Such is, in fact, not the case. While "The Great Redeemer" was written by H. H. Van Loan and is in the main a work of the imagination, its central theme is taken direct from life. It embodies an incident that happened in a Lison at San Bernardino, Cal., two years ago. A Mexican was serving fifteen years there for manslaughter. On the wall of his cell he painted a picture of the Crucifixion. It was a painting whose beauty attracted attention all over the state.

As a direct result of the influence of this painting the Mexican was granted a pardon by the governor of the state, and is now a professional artist, making a living in Los Angeles.

The painting of the Crucifixion photographed in the production of "The Great Redeemer" is a copy of that on the wall of the Mexican's cell in San Bernardino. Priests who were interested in the Tourneur production because of its appeal to the finest qualities in its beholders, saw the painting and requested that it be given to them to be hung in their church. This request Mr. Tourneur gladly granted, and the painting is now on view in the Roman Catholic Church at Glendale, Cal.

Mr. Van Loan, the author of "The Great Redeemer," struck up an acquaintance in Los Angeles with the pardoned Mexican, and from him obtained the story which he incorporated in his screen drama.

This he embellished with a strong counterplot and some splendid love interest, and the finished production is said to possess great strength and uncommon interest. House Peters and Marjorle Daw are the chief players in the all-star cast which interprets "The Great Redeemer." Mr. Peters plays Dan Malloy, a two-gun bad man, who is regenerated. Miss Daw is the girl whose noble example first starts Dan on the right path.

The magnificent scenery of the untrammelled west serves as a background for the mighty dramatic incidents of the story. Jules Furthman and Jack Gilbert scenariolzed Mr. Van Loan's story, and the production was directed by Clarence Brown under the personal supervision of Mr. Tourneur. Metro release

RAY SOLVES MYSTERY Famous Star Has Rural Role in "A Village Sleuth."

Charles Ray, as a country boy with ambitions to become a second Sherlock Holmes in his new picture, "A Village Sleuth," evolves some novel and amusing methods for detecting crime. Charlie's first case arises from the mysterious and periodical disappearance of watermelons from his father's patch. He solves the riddle by running a string from the patch to the barn and then sprinkling lime around the melons, so that he can trace the thieves. The results are successful—too much so, for Charlie discovers that the culprits are no other than his own boy companions. Later, however, the amateur sleuth be-

HOSTEL NOT PLANNED CHILDREN'S AID WILL LOOK AFTER ORPHANS

Building Would Not Have Been Permanent, Merely Clearing House, Stated.

After conferring with Alderman F. E. Harley and Secretary Ed Lance of the Soldiers' Aid Commission on Friday afternoon, Joseph Warwick, provincial secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, said that a hostel for soldiers' children would not be established here, as there was not a sufficient number of children to warrant it. However, arrangements were made by the provincial secretary whereby all soldiers' children in need of care of any kind would be looked after by the Children's Aid Society at the Thomas Alway Home on Wharncliffe road, and the commission would pay any expenses in this connection.

Had the hostel been established in London, it would not have been a permanent home for the children, but merely a clearing house where they could stay temporarily until foster parents were found for them or the care that was necessary had been given them. Mr. Warwick was not in the city today, solely for the idea of ascertaining whether a hostel was needed, but to make a survey of the work for the children in general. Mrs. Lawson of Toronto, who is connected with the soldiers' aid commission, has been in the city for several days investigating the work. Mr. Warwick was accompanied by George A. Stevenson of Toronto, who is supervisor of children's work.

CYCLISTS GET WORST IN PAIR OF ACCIDENTS

Bicycles and autos were responsible for two accidents on Friday, in which the cyclist suffered the most damage. At noon a youth came out of a lane between Richmond and Talbot street on Queen's avenue and crashed into an auto, which fortunately for him, was not going fast. As it was, his leg was bruised and his bicycle smashed. Between Wellington and Waterlos streets on King street at 6 o'clock last evening a soldier, riding a bicycle, collided with an auto. His bicycle was badly damaged, and he was so badly shocked that he was forced to lie on the boulevard until he recovered his wind.

Like a new issue of coinage comes the new model of the McLaughlin Car.

The title "Canada's Standard Car" was not self-imposed. By many thousands the McLaughlin holds the preference in Canada over cars of the better make.

The famed McLaughlin-Buick valve-in-hand motor-the rugged sure working engine—gives to each of the seven Master Six models the staunch reputation of trustworthiness.

So when the McLaughlin appears in a new model, it but adds a distinctive character to an accepted standard of excellence.

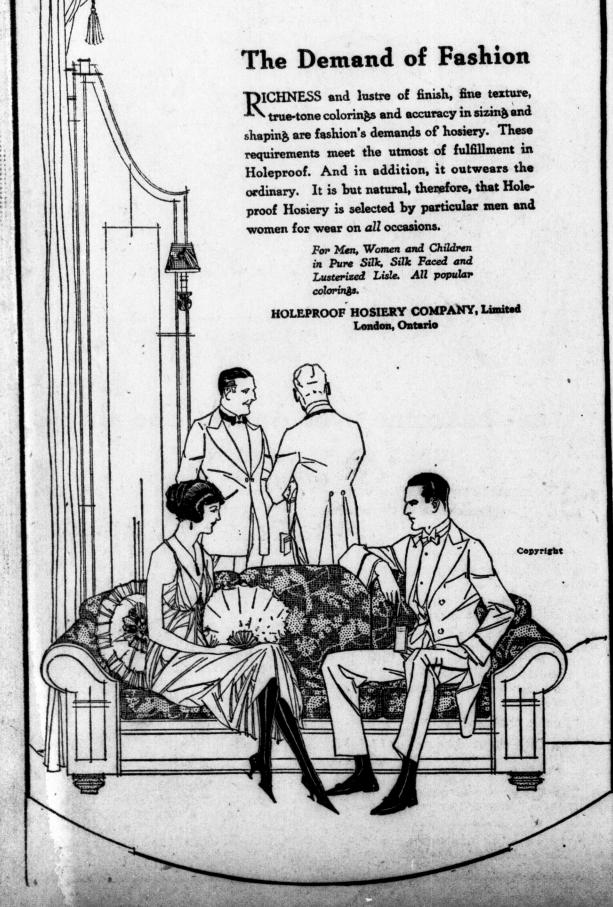

Especially attractive are the new closed bodies not only because of their added comfort, but because they are now decidedly the vogue for both winter and summer driving.

GENEVA, Dec. 3.-The Catalans have asked the League of Nations to free them from Spanish rule, the Montenegrins are repeatedly appealing to the council and assembly for the independence of their country and for relief from alleged cruelties of Serbian troops of occupation, and among the almost innumerable odds and ends in the league mail are demands for a revision of the treaty of Sevres. These and minor complications are preventing the council of the assembly from pushing ahead with the big program of the present meeting.

Meanwhile, the financial committee of twelve, appointed to continue the work of the Brussels financial conference, has been diligently working out a plan for an international credits institution. This committee took the rough sketch of the plan prepared by the Brussels conference as a starting point for its work. After twenty odd sittings here it has virtually completed the draft of the plan, which will be submitted to the council in a few days. Announcement of this progress toward a practical solution of one of the world's greatest problems is haited with the greatest satisfaction by many delegates who had acquired the impression that the council was permitting of the recommendation of the Brus conference to rest in pigeon holes. and ends in the leasue mail are de-

THE TREASURE OF GOOD HEALTH

Easily Maintained Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is not a nook or corner Canada, in the cities, the towns, the villages, on the farms and in the Williams' Pink Pills have not been used, and from one end of the country to the other they have brought back o bread-winners, their wives and families the splendid treasure of new health and strength.

You have only to ask your neighbors, and they can tell you of some nerve-shattered man, some suffering woman, ailing youth or anaemic girl who owes present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For more than a quarter of a century these pills have been known not only in Canada, but throughout ail the world, as a reliable tonic, blood-making medi-

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital in the blood, and by making the vitar fluid rich and red strengthen every or-gan and every nerve, thus driving out disease and pain, and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg County, N. S., says: "I am a provincial land surveyor, and am exposed for the greater part of the year to very hard work traveling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods, I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions, I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them, and I lose no opportunity in recommending them to weak people whom I meet." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be cept in every home, and their occasiona use will keep the blood pure and ward off illness. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer, or by at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville. Ont.

Auto Driven by Harry Fleming Runs Into Standing Freight Train.

BLENHEIM, Dec. 3.—Harry Fleming BLENHEIM, Dec. 3.—Harry Fielding, a local merchant, his wife, three small children, and Miss Brown, who resides with them, figured in a peculiar accident at 6 o'clock this evening at the Gravel road crossing of the Pere Marquette. While making for home at a fairly good rate of speed, the auto driven by Mr. Fleming crashed into a freight train which was standing at the crossing. One wheel was torn from the auto and the front of it was wrecked. The auto was wedged so tightly under and between two cars that it was with some difficulty it was removed. Mr. Fleming and those with him escaped with a shaking up. Mr. Fleming is an unusually careful driver, and was looking both ways to see that no trains were approaching. He believes that he did not see the standing train owing to the position in which the lights on his own car were.

JUDGING PROCEEDS Keen Competition Reported in Potato Classes.

GUELPH, Dec. 3.—"One of the finest exhibitions of poultry we have ever had," was the way in which "Billy" McNeill, of London, the veteran judge, summed up the chicken show at the Winter Fair. Mr. McNeill has been busy judging ever since his arrival this morning, and he still has a great amount of work to do.

Superintendent Jack Saunders of London received the last shipment of poultry, and for 24 hours prior to this there had been a perfect deluge of birds from all over the country.

Exhibitors are loud in their praise of the manner in which their entries were looked after, and did not hesitate to state that there is not another show on the continent where the work could be accomplished with so little confusion.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled.

Keen Competition. the Rural New Yorker class and 12

Martial.

TOKIO, Dec. 3.—The military commission at Chien Taa, Manchuria, has addressed a letter to the Canadian missionaries that massacres, alleged to have been committed by Japanese troops, had taken place, and that villages were burned. The letter emphasizes that the Japanese military expedition to the district was due to the fact that the Chinese authorities co-operated with the outlaws, and declares that churches and schools were burned only where there was incontestable evidence that they had been used as "breeding places of iniquity."

In such cases, the letter points out, it was impossible to hold even courtmartials, therefore the troops executed insurgents on the spot after a simple inquiry which included villagers' evidence, but trok the utmost care tavoid an indiscriminate massacre.

Warning is given in the letter than any spiritual or material assistance the British missionaries give the Korean malcontents will lead to a breach in the good understanding between the two countries.

It says there are many insurgent races in India, and that if the British Christians assist the Korean malcontents, the Japanese Buddhists are entitled to assist the anti-British elements in India.

If the missionaries grefrain from political care in the exhibits of parsnip and beet wincertified. There are eight entries in the Rural New Yorker class and 12 in the Rural New Yorker class and India and shat will say a description.

Each Town Rural New Yorker class and India and that if the British lead to he shibits entered index the new class of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association from selected fromers' Association from selected frowers' Association from selected fromers' Association from select Christians assist the Korean malcontitled to assist the anti-British elements in India.

If the missionaries refrain from politics, the communication declares, Japan will co-operate with them; if they act to the contrary they can hardly hope for the future development of their work. In conclusion it expresses the hope that the missionaries will clearly understand the facts.

SIXTY DEAD IN MUTINY.

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 3.—A message received here today from Kankaow reports that 60 persons have been killed in the mutiny of Chinese troops at I-Chang, a treaty port in Hu-Peh Province.

Gunboats are due to reach I-Chang today. The situation in the city is said to be quieter, but looting is continuing. Chinese troops have been dispatched to the scene of the mutiny.

Province is on exhibition here, and the judges have a hard task in deciding the winners.

Carefully Selected.

Two entries that are attracting much notice are exhibits of parsnip and beet seed from British Columbia. The seed has been carefully selected, but just what it will do against the Ontario grown seed is a matter of conjecture.

Although activity in the poultry department is the greatest today, the big ground floor is filling with live stock classes, where the judging commences on Monday morning. The Hereford cattle from the herds of McNeil and McNeil, Dutton; W. Bell. Staples, and J. Hooper & Sons arrived during last night, as did also the Shorthorns owned by W. A. Douglas & Son, Caledonia; A. Barber, Guelph, and E. Brien & Sons, Ridgetown. Several care of sheep and swine were unloaded this afternoon. Tomorrow the horses will arrive, and by Saturday night hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of live stock to be shown next week will be comfortably quartered in the big buildings.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—(Canadian Press.)

There is now every likelihood that Nova Scotia. Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba will become dry towards theend of January. Since the plebiscites on importation were taken, much study has oeen given to a curious legal situation which has arisen.

The point was whether the Government vendors could be properly classed as holding licenses. If so, action to prohibit importation would be taken under one clause of the temperance act; if not, under another clause; and between the two there is a difference of at least thirty days in the period within which liquor may still be imported for personal use.

Although the opinion of the Government's legal advisers has not been made public, it is said to favor the view that the reference to licenses in the Canada temperance act does not means licensed vendors for medicinal and sacramental purposes.

If this view is accepted, importation licensed vendors for medicinal and sac-ramental purposes.

If this view is accepted, importation into the four provinces can be prohibited by the Dominion Government at any time after the official returns have been received and the prohibition will take effect "after the expiration of thirty days from the day of the date of an order-in-council to that effect."

LARGEST TURNOVER IN YEARS RECORDED BY RAILWAY ISSUE

Abitibi Leads Day in Activity Interest Centres in Southern -Brompton, Breweries Show Better Trend.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3 .- The outstanding feature of the trading today on the lecal stock market was Toronto Railway, with a turnover of 1,583 shares. the largest turnover in the stock for several years.

Abitibi was the day's leader in activity, selling up to 56 and closing at ton and National Breweries both showed a better trend, and the former showed good absorption of further liquidation.

Prominently strong stocks in the list were Canada Steamships, common, up 1 point at 47; Asbestos, up 2½ points at 82, and Spanish River, preferred, up 1 point at 91.

Weak issue included Textile, which suggesting an increasing divergissue suggesting an increasing divergistation in speculative circles at least, regarding the potential benefits to be derived from the company's plan of segregation.

Further curtailment or indefinite suspension of operations in many branches of industry, especially steel, rubber and textiles, merely confirmed conditions of the past few months, as set forth by commercial and financial authorities. 55, a fractional improvement. Bromp-ost 2 points at 109; Penmans, down 3 points at 101, a new low for the year; Price Brothers, which sold down 30 points from a previous last sale last nonth, and Ames-Holden, preferred, which lost 18 points from a sale re ported in October.

In the bond department the Victory Bonds continued to show up well, all the issues actively traded in showing a net gain of from 1/2 to 1/2 point. Montreal Railway debentures added 11/2 points at 66. Trading in bonds was much less active than yesterday.

WALL STREET REVIEW New York, Dec. 4.—The market for securities displayed a steadier tone this week additional elimination of speculative accounts strengthening the technical position and inspiring a degree of confidence among investors. This latter development was evidenced by the issuance of new capital offerings approximating $50,000,000, which were readily absorbed, but other credits and loans, including several foreign negotiations, remained in abeyance. Trading in stock was again fairly extensive, and the further retrogression in trade and industry, as reported f rom virtually all sections of the country, effected additional depreciation of quoted values. Publication of the terms of the much-discussed Southern Pacific melon as represented by the reformation of a company to take over its oil properties, seemed to cause disappointment in speculative quarters, Southern Pacific shares being among the few high-grade rails to react.

The money market was relatively easy, but hopes of pronounced relaxation before the end of the year were dissipated by the announcement of the treasury department, calling attention to the Government large requirements in the immediate future.

Foreign exchange again denoted the world-wide unsettlement of economic conditions and the low record liability reserves represented by the Bank of England beepoke increased pressure in that important quarter. New York, Dec. 4.—The market for securities displayed a steadier tone this

The views of farmers on the question of protection, and the testimony submitted showed very clearly that the farmers of Onlario are far from being a unit in asking for a reduction of the tariff. The views advanced today in taking for a reduction of the protection ingoit be protection in a sking for a reduction of the tariff. The views advanced today in the views of protection, and the testimony submitted showed very clearly that the farmers of Onlario or protection might be regarded in the farmers of onlario. The United Farmers of Ontario on the Council of Agriculture; Secretary J. J. Morrison and President A. A. Powers of the United Farmers of Ontario Cooperative Society and a member of the Farmers' Sun editorial staff, spoke against protection increased the population of the cities and towns and decreased the interests of the agricultural section of the community, while it enriched the men engaged in other industries than farming.

Some Favor Increase, Representatives of the Swine Breeders' Association, the Market Gardeners' Association, the Market Gardeners' Association, the Market Gardeners' Association, the Market Gardeners' Association all being resident within a few miles of Toronto, not only expressed them set of the protection in opposing any reduction of the tariff. Lure of the West.

One cause of the decreased population in the rural sections, according to Mr. Hamilton, was the lure of the West. Another was the non-employment of hired men during a portion of the year, hired men not being given steady jobs throughout the winter.

E. F. Reeves, an official of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, wanted the tariff high enough to enable the market gardeners to cut out the profits of the middlemen, which they could not do until they expanded their business and had not to compete with the big gardener just across the border.

BURNABY CROSSES SWORDS WITH DRAYTON

TORONTO, Dec. 3.-Interest in the tariff commission's inquiry here was accentuated this afternoon, when R. W. E. Burnaby, president of the United Farmers of Ontario, and president of the Council of Agriculture, crossed swords with Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the commission, on two or three occasions. Pleading for a lower tariff, Mr. Burnaby said he did not know a farm in Canada that would rent at a figure high enough to pay 5 per cent on the investment. cent on the investment.

"Agriculture in this part of Canada, at least," Mr. Burnaby said, "cannot compare with other industries on the labor market. Apples were rotting on the trees, because of the scarcity of "What is the value of your farm up Yonge street," the chairman asked.

"That's a very personal question, sir," replied Mr. Burnaby. "It is situated favorably near the city. It is an un-replied Mr. Burnaby. "It is situated favorably near the city. It is an unusual case."

Further, Mr. Burnaby stated that he owned 100 head of as pure-bred Holstein cattle as could be found in Canada.

"If you don't belive it, ask your father," said Mr. Burnaby to Sir Henry.

Mr. Burnaby told the tariff commission that he had his money in real estate and life insurance.

Storing of Sugar.

In an argument with Sir Henry Drayton on the sugar question, Mr. Burnaby claimed that the storing of sugar for higher prices had exceeded anything in profiteering in cold storage. The chairman remarked that sugar control had saved the people $27,000,000. Mr. Burnaby replied that he had not come to get into an argument on the matter.

Mr. Burnaby asserted that the collection of $158,000,000 customs duties last year had penalized the people to the extent of $637,000,000.

"If this form of taxation is to be maintained," said Mr. Burnaby, "in all justice an excise tax should be levied on the output of Canadian manufacturers protected by the tariff on imported articles competing therewith."

Electrical Skylight

A highly creditable achievement on the part of the well-known photographer, Mr. George A. Henry, of this city, is attracting considerable attention at the present time. Mr. Henry, who is now receiving his clients in his beautiful new studio, southwest corner of Richmond and Carling streets, has succeeded in installing an electrical apparatus, by means of which the most beautiful lighting effects known to the art of photography are produced, quite independently of any weather conditions. It is an electrical skylight, and eliminates all delays due to dull days. By using the rays of the spectrum most powerful to initiate chemical action, it is never too dark to make the finest of photos in Mr. Henry's studio, truly a place of perpetual sunshine. By appointment sittings in the evenings are arranged for as well as any hour of the day.

Little Girl Is Shot by Brother

Dorothy McGregor Loses Two Fingers and Her Thumb.

SARNIA, Dec. 3.—Dorothy, the little daughter of John McGregor, Michigan avenue, Point Edward, lost two fingers and tha thumb of her left hand when a shotgun in the hands of her brother was accidentally discharged.

Gordon McGregor, her brother, was demonstrating the firearm to his companions. He had opened the breech of the gun, received from a mail order house yesterday afternoon, and slipped in a shell. When the breech stuck, the youngster forced it shut, pressing the trigger in some way, the full charge catching his sister on the hand as she stood in the doorway. Had the charge traveled six inches closer it would have killed her instantly. The charge tore through the door behind the little girl, making a large hole as the charge spread out. The child was removed to the hospital, where the injured members were amputated. This is the second shooting accident that has occurred in this house within a short time. daughter of John McGregor, Michigan

Premier Drury Sees People's Progressive Party Coming

Present Govt. Cannot Continue, He Says, Unless Policy Broadens Out and Takes In Everyone - Significant Speech Made At Big Gathering in Chatham.

CHATHAM, Dec. 3.—"I am going to say something that will not meet with the approval of all the members of the U F. O. and that is that the present Government cannot continue, unless we broaden out. Public opinion is demanding it, and I believe the time will come when the present alliance will be such that everybody will be taken in, If I were going to name the new party I would call it the People's Progressive party."

This was the significant statement of Premier E. C. Drury during the course of his address at a monster banquet tendered him in the armories tonight by the Maple City Club.

Continuing, he pointed out that the move was necessary if the province of Ontario is going to reap the full benefits of her resources. The premier, during his address, gave a brief resume of the legislation passed by the U. F. O.-Labor Government, and of some of the things he hoped to accomplish in the future.

The banquet was one of the largest C

The banquet was one of the largest affairs of its kind over held in this city, there being 700 present from the city and various parts of the county.

R. L. Brackin, M.P.P., was chairman and short addresses were delivered by Mayor Brisco and A. B. McCoig, M.P. A musical program was given by members of the M. C. C.

Premier Drury arrived in the city at noon, and following luncheon at the home of Mr. Brackin, he visited the public schools, at each of which he addressed the pupils briefly. He declared a half-holiday for the "kiddies." At 4 o'clock he addressed the Women's Canadian Club.

DATE FOR OPENING PARLIAMENT IS NOT SET, SAYS MEIGHEN

LOCAL TEMPERATURES. The highest and lowest tempe ours previous to 8 o'clock last night were: Highest, 50; lowest, 28.

Premier Drury at a meeting in Chatham last night made some decidedly interesting statements of the kind that interesting statements of the kind that it takes courage to make. Someone has said that it takes a big man to criticize himself and his policies and eliminate the mistakes, and it appears that Premier Drury is looking ahead with a view of doing this.

Forty Cents Is Figure Suggested As Fair Pending An Investigation.

CHATHAM, Dec. 3.-At a meeting of ne Municipal Gas Consumers' Associaion held here today, and attended by delegates from every city, town and ownship in the counties of Essex, Elgin, Lambton and Kent, it was decided to submit a proposition for ratification at Saturday's meeting asking that a price of 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet be effective from now until spring. The Government, in the meantime, would be asked to appoint a commission to investigate the gas situation thoroughly and fix what is regarded as a fair price. and fix what is regarded as a fair price. If the award should be higher than 40 cents, the municipalities would agree to make up the difference. If it is less than 40 cents the companies are to re-
