Our Showing of Ladies' Jackets.

Is almost complete and the verdict is that never in the 51 years history of this store has there been such a magnificent collection of up-to-date garments gathered under one roof in Chatham. Berlin, Germany, is the world's great centre for Ladies' and Children's Coats. This season for the first time our buyer went direct to Berlin to make our purchases. The results of this trip are: 1st—Exclusive styles that you will see in no other store. 2nd—The very identical styles that will be worn in Detroit and New York. 3rd—Better values by long odds than could be got in the ordinary way of buying.

PROTECTIONISTS HAPPY?

LONDON CHRONICLE'S DISPATCH FROM TORONTO.

Prof. A. H. Young's Letter to The Times Regarding the Rhodes Scholarships—Imperial Defence.

London, Sept. 19.—The Daily Chronicle this morning says that the blow of some colonial professions on the preferential tariff proposals is further exemplified by the few expressions of opinion in connection with Mr. Chamberlain's resignation. The Chronicle continues: "Our Toronto correspondent tells us that Canadian protectionists are happy, because now they will be better able to continue their efforts to increase the tariff for the protection of their industries, and that the way to some extent will be cleared for reciprocity with the United States." The Chronicle adds: "There is no doubt that Canadian opinion is more strongly in favor of those two courses than of reciprocity with Great Britain, notwithstanding the much boasted-of preference given to Britain."

Lord Strathcona has cabled denying that there is any truth in the report that the Canadian crops are a failure, which is received here with the greatest satisfaction. I have had inquiries from Midland towns regarding the truth of these reports, which were cabled a day or two ago. The Financial News says it is reassuring to learn on the authority of Lord Strathcona that the reports are being grossly exaggerated.

Professor A. H. Young of Trinity College, Toronto, at present in London, writing to The Times on the University of Oxford and colonial graduates, says much has been said recently about the Americanization of Canada, but none of the articles has touched upon the most serious aspect of the question, the great migration of Canadian students to American universities. On the ground of cheapness,

DELIGHTFUL VISIT

Teachers of McKeeough School Were Entertained at St. Ursula Academy—An Enjoyable Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon, availing themselves of the Harcourt Holiday, the teaching staff of McKeeough school accepted the kind and courteous invitation of the religious of St. Ursula's Academy, visited The Pines and enjoyed the delightful entertainment provided by the accomplished sisters.

The visitors were cordially welcomed by the religious and, under the courteous guidance of Sister Claire, were shown over the beautiful building. The work of the studio was particularly admired, one exquisite miniature painting on ivory proving a triumph of artistic genius.

Having completed the pleasures of the inspection, the guests were conducted to St. Cecilia's Hall, where a charming musical program by the talented pupils of the institution was much enjoyed.

At the conclusion light refreshments were served by the Sisters, assisted by Misses Gavin and Carson. In an interview with The Planet Miss Abram, the Principal of McKeeough school, expressed the appreciation of the teachers for the enjoyable afternoon afforded them at the St. Ursula Academy. It would prove a delightful memory, not soon to be forgotten.

The musical program consisted of the following numbers:
Piano—Miss Bomer.
Vocal—Olive Mathers.
Piano—Miss Parker.
Vocal—"Supplication," Misses Gavin, Mathers, E. Miller, I. Mount, F. Miller, J. McVean, A. Carson, Sylvia Post.
Vocal—Miss Sperdman.
Vocal—Miss Gavin.
Accompanists—Misses Carson and Parker.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

Business is opening up!

The holiday weeks are past, and buyers and sellers are home again—the one class thinking of what they must purchase for the autumn season, the other class of what they can do to attract buyers and satisfy them at their stores.

As a medium between these two great classes THE PLANET stands unrivalled. Its circulation—notwithstanding that the dull season is just over—is far greater than it has ever been. And it is still building up. THE PLANET goes into the homes of all the people—it is their Great Home Journal.

The advertisers who appreciate THE PLANET the most are those who have used its columns most largely.

THE TIME to make advertising contracts in a paper of growing circulation IS NOW—before rates are increased.

ALASKA ARGUMENT

London, Sept. 19.—The Alaska Tribunal assembled at 11 a.m. Attorney-General Finlay in support of his argument that the boundary should run up Vancouver's Portland Channel, dealt with maps subsequent to the treaty of 1825, referring first to the Russian map of 1825, which affords little indication of the boundary. Arrowsmith's map of 1843 is partly for, partly against the British contention. Wales and Pearse Islands being colored Russian, but Portland Canal running down to the sea. The French map of 1833 (Brue) gives Wales Island to Russia, and Pearse to Britain. Observatory Inlet is carried down to the sea. Tanner's map (Philadelphia), 1839, shows both channels running down to the sea. Greenhow's map, 1844, likewise carries both Portland channel and Observatory Inlet to the sea and carries the boundary north of Wales and Pearse Islands. The French map in the Foreign Office, 1844, shows Portland Canal running down to the sea and gives Wales and Pearse to Great Britain. The Russian official map of 1844 shows each channel running to the sea.

Attorney-General Finlay was subjected by Mr. Root and Senators Lodge and Turner, the United States commissioners, to a fire of questions in connection with his attempt to show that the boundary should run from the head of Portland Canal directly westward to the point where the mountains, claimed by the Canadians as the boundary, intersect the 56th parallel of latitude. The contention of the United States is that the boundary continues up to Bear River valley from the head of Portland Canal to the 56th parallel. In this connection Mr. Root called the Attorney-General's attention to the fact that Vancouver referred to Mary's Pass as the head of the canal, and asked if it was not natural to suppose that the signatories of the treaty intended the line to follow this pass to the 56th degree.

The Attorney-General replied that the line under the treaty could not run farther than the water canal, and from that point must seek the mountains at the 56th parallel.

VISITS CHATHAM

Henry Herbert Mason, of the distinguished house of Mason & Risch, Piano Co., Toronto, pays a visit to his western superintendent, Frank Babcock, of this city. It has been some years since Mr. Mason has visited Chatham, and he is greatly surprised at the fine city appearance of our town and says it has greatly improved since he was last here. Mr. Mason was in town until to-day, and left for the west to continue his trip. Mr. Babcock will accompany him. They left for Detroit this afternoon.

300 WORKS CLOSED DOWN.

THIRTY-FIVE HUNDRED MEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

The Official Statement—An Army of Unemployed Expected in the Town—Patience Counselling—Hope That Better Times Will Dawn Shortly.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 19.—The following announcement was made by Mr. Coyne, assistant to the President of the Consolidated Co.: "President Shields, on account of not having funds to meet the pay roll and current accounts and no immediate prospects of securing money to meet them, is unwilling to proceed longer incurring liabilities on account of its operations, men or other creditors, and consequently 10-day has suspended all operations whatsoever except the Algoma Water and Light Company and street railway service in the Canadian Soo and the ferry service, and the street railway service in the American Soo. But one train per week shall be run on the Algoma Central Railway between the Soo and end of track or about 60 miles. This means that 3,500 men will be thrown out of employment."

"The Helen Ore mine, employing 300 men; the Grace gold mine employing 70 men; the Michipicoten branch of the railway, employing 50 men; veneer mill at the Soo, Ont., employing 75 men; the sawmill at the Soo, Ont., employing 100 men; the car shops at the Soo, Ont., employing 20 men; the Algoma Iron Works at the Soo, Ont., employing 100 men; the sulphate pulp mill at the Soo, Ont., employing 100 men; the ground wood pulp mill at the Soo, Ont., employing 100 men; the Gertrude nickel mine, at Sudbury, employing 50 men; the reduction works at the Soo, Ont., employing 40 men; the paper mill at the Soo, Mich., employing 20 men; the Michigan Lake Superior Power Company at the Soo, Mich., employing 50 men; the Pine Veneer, Log, Fuel, Log Charcoal Co., operating along the line of the Algoma Central Railway, employing 1,700 men; the retort plant at the Soo, Ont., employing 90 men, and the Algoma steel plant at the Soo, Ont., employing 150 men, will be absolutely closed down, leaving at each operation simply one caretaker in the day time and two watchmen at night to protect the property. The general office staff and the Algoma Central main line staff will be reduced proportionately, the probability being that no more than 15 of the entire staff of 900 men will be retained. It is with deep regret this announcement is made, but it is the only alternative."

"For the past 90 days everything that human intelligence could suggest in tireless energy compass has been done to raise funds to finance this immense, magnificent property, but without avail. The hardships that this will bring upon many officers and employees must be borne as patiently as possible, trusting that the future may bring about a happy solution and settlement of all difficulties. Above all else I must ask you to remember that we are all law-abiding citizens and that our misfortunes, while hard to bear, are not likely to continue forever, and are not as hard as our ancestors or even our fellow-citizens have borne and come through triumphantly. The company's loss on account of this necessary shut down will be almost irretrievable, for the reason that no pulpwood, sawlogs or veneer logs will be available to run the pulp mills, saw mills or veneer mills next year."

All of the operations of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company were closed down to-night, and the great industries are silent for the first time in six years. The various plants are in charge of watchmen, and the town is filled with the unemployed. There is a general feeling of uneasiness among the citizens, who dread the inevitable approach of an extremely hard winter, combined with the more immediate danger of what may happen when the three thousand dismissed employees of the company are assembled in town, within the next day or two, unable to get their overdue wages. The town is ill-prepared for an emergency of this kind, and it is to be hoped that money will be forthcoming very soon to pay these men off.

Question of Identity.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—If it is Anthony Stanley Rowe of 22 Hyde Park Square, London, England, that the police have, Rowe himself doesn't seem to know it. Yesterday when the case was called in the Police Court an officer called down the stairs, "Anthony E. Rowe." Nobody answered, and Prescott sat unmoved. He was called by the name of Rowe several times, and then T. C. Robinson, his counsel, suggested that the policeman call "Albert P. S. Prescott." Then the prisoner came upstairs into the prisoner's dock.

Mr. Robinson said that he took the position of not admitting anything. His Worship granted the week's adjournment, and Rowe, or Prescott, went back to jail.

A SUGGESTION

"It would be a good thing to suggest to Geo. Stephens, M. P., the advisability of placing a waste paper box at the Post Office corner," said a citizen this morning. Some time ago a box was placed on the opposite corner, but it should be placed nearer the Post Office."

PAY NIGHT

Soldiers of the 24th Kent Regiment to Assemble and Draw their Money.

It is announced that the 24th Regimental muster for pay will take place on Friday, Oct. 2nd, immediately after the inspection by Col. Peters, District Officer commanding.

All the soldiers will then receive their pay from the Government, and as soon as the pay promised by the City Council is received from that body a further distribution will be made.

A TERRIBLE MASSACRE.

The Indescribable Slaughter at Kastoria.

Sofia, Sept. 18.—Further reports from Kastoria say the city is burning and that the massacre of its population (estimated to have numbered 10,000 persons) was indescribably terrible. The Turks slaughtered indiscriminately Bulgarians and Greeks, men, women and children.

London, Sept. 18.—The Westminster Gazette says a well-known London journalist cables from Belgrade as follows: "Starting with pro-Turkish sympathies, I have found overwhelming evidence, convincingly proving that the Turkish atrocities are rather underestimated."

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 18.—The German representative here has addressed a note to the Bulgarian Government in accord with declarations of Russia and Austria, saying that Bulgaria cannot expect assistance from any power in the event of war with Turkey, and that the Austro-Russian reform plan will be applied. The Austrian representative, in insisting on the necessity for Bulgaria remaining calm, declared that if the principle was powerless to prevent the passage of insurgent bands into Macedonia, Austria and Russia would take note of her powerlessness and charge Turkey to exercise her rights and defend her territory against foreign incursions and maintain order in the interior.

MR. J. W. MUNRO'S DEATH.

Son of the Late Member for North Renfrew.

Pembroke, Sept. 19.—J. W. Munro, jun., elder son of the late J. W. Munro, M.P., died yesterday. His demise was not unexpected, as he has been ailing for some time, yet it has thrown the whole town into gloom. He was a young man of great ability, and his death has removed one who, had he lived, would have been of great benefit to this part of the country, as his father was before him. He was 25 years of age and had for several years been engaged with his father in the lumber business.

A Romantic Episode.

The King's visit to Paris has been marked by a singular and picturesque incident, says the "Spectator." It appears that in 1878 a chemist named Danval was accused of poisoning his wife, and that the King, then Prince of Wales, attended the trial, which ended in a sentence of imprisonment for life. The Prince, who had watched the evidence for five days, was certain that justice had miscarried, and visited the convict in his cell to tell him so, and enquire if any remedy were possible. None could be found, but after twenty-five years' imprisonment the sentence was revised and Danval liberated. The kindness of the Prince in his hour of despair had made a deep impression on his mind, and when the King recently visited Paris he addressed him a letter full of gratitude for the visit paid twenty-five years before. One wonders if King know the depth of the impression both of regard and of hatred which they can almost unconsciously make.

FATALITY IN PIGS.

It is said by many that the hog is more easily thrown off his feed, that he is more subject to indigestion, and that the troubles caused by indigestion are more pronounced with him than with our other stock, but the fact is that we give our other stock feed and care that more nearly resemble the conditions in which nature intended them to live. In his natural state the hog had access to a variety of roots, barks and herbs, and he was enabled to digest other food. Constipation followed by diarrhoea in young pigs and weakness of back and legs in the older ones are among the immediate results of over feeding and indigestion, and these are very often followed closely by the "Fatality of the Pig."

Herbage will overcome these troubles even when they are in an advanced stage, and if it is fed regularly every day with the usual food the whole difficulty will be avoided and at the same time a rapid growth will be secured. This last of course goes without saying, as we all know that any animal in a perfect state of health will have a more natural and rapid growth than one that has stomachic or any other ailment. A few letters along this line over the signatures of practical men will probably carry more weight than anything we can say.

Last fall a pig that I was fattening became sick, and continued so for about three weeks, and finally grew so weak in the legs it could not get to the trough. I gave instructions to try Herbage, and if it would not eat it to put it into a sack and throw it away. A few days it was able to walk around and eat well, and in a short time was in good order and fattened quickly.

JOSEPH OSTIGUY, Chamblay Basin, Que.

"I had a sow which shortly before farrowing became so weak in the hind legs that she had to drag herself around; hearing that Herbage was good I tried it, and in three days she was walking around all right. Since then I have used it for pigs, cows, calves and poultry, and find it beneficial."

JAMES BROWN, Burnstown, Ont.

"In feeding Herbage to a pig we found it kept its legs strong, while one just like it which got no Herbage failed, and Mr. Andrew Harrigan, a butcher of this place, having a hog which he said was dying, we advised him to put some Herbage into its mouth, and to repeat this several times. It began to eat, soon improved and thoroughly recovered, and was sold for $16. Mr. Valentine, a farmer in this section, had a similar case. Neither party knew what was the matter, but the Herbage cured in both cases, and they continued its regular use after the recovery."

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow—Abstinence from Evil—The Mind of Christ—I. Peter, 4, 1-11.

Golden Text—"Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess."

The teaching of the lesson is, that if the Lord Jesus suffered bearing our sins in his own body, we must expect suffering bearing His righteousness in this present evil world.
"If we know the power of His resurrection we shall know the fellowship of His sufferings."—II. Tim, 3, 12.

"Yes and all who will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution."
Verses 3, 4, 5, 6.
We have travelled the broad road
of death far enough, in laci-vity, lusts, drunkenness, revelings, banquetings and abominable idolatry; now is the narrow way of life; our boon companions desert, despise and mock us, for deserting them, but they shall answer for it at the bar of God, for to them was the same gospel preached; though now lost they might have been saved.

Rom. 14, 11-12, (mark this oath of God)—"As I live, saith the Lord, to me every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess to God." "So every one shall give account of himself to God." "The end of all things
is at hand; be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer. Christ's love and meritorious death for every man covers our whole race—I, John,
2, 2—and His loving Spirit in His period causes them not only to be loving, hospitable and helpful to each other, but to love and pray for their enemies and persecutors.

V. 11—From the inside of a hollow image a hidden man speaks at an oracle and deluded poor, blinded idolaters; but God's messengers speak as they are moved by His Spirit, and are thus oracles of God; that in all things
God may be glorified, through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and domi-
on for ever and ever. Amen.

ily when they begin to cough and
the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond dis-
proof that consumption is not

Men and women
who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of
the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured
by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

"When I commenced taking your medicines,
eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chateaufort, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pausing in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better than you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery'
and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did.
Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of Pellets. I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on expense of customs and mailing only.

THE STAGE

"All the world's a stage,
and all the men and women merely players."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At the Chatham Grand—

The Gidding Comedy Company—
Sept. 14-19.

Henrik Ibsen's drama, "Ghosts"—
Monday, Sept. 21st.

Perry O'Dell & Dee—Sept. 22, 23
and 24.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer,"—Sept. 29.

Ibsen's "Ghosts," which will be at the Grand Opera House on Monday night, had its first English production at the Royalty Theatre, London,
the play house directed by Mrs. Patrick Campbell. The first performance given in America was at Carnegie Hall, New York, the price of admission being five dollars; after which it was done at the Tremont
Theatre, Boston, at the Hollis Street
Theatre, Boston, at the Manhattan
Theatre, New York, and at Mrs. Osborn's Play House, also in New York.
Thus it will be seen that it is an attraction of unusual high order. Of course we know it is a Problem
Play; one of those extraordinary creations which of late we have seen from the pens of such authors as Ibsen, Pinero, Sudermann and Tolstoi. The subject is a daring one and tells of the unhappy marriage of Mrs.
Alving and the terrible consequences which followed. It is a story which probably has never been equalled in modern drama and can only be interpreted by the most talented players.
The role of Mrs. Alving will be played by Edith Ellis-Baker, that of Pastor Manders by Donald Robertson, and the supporting company will be equally high class.

"GHOSTS" ON MONDAY.

"Ghosts" will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Monday night with Edith Ellis-Baker in the role of Mrs.
Alving and Donald Robertson in the part of Pastor Manders. This extraordinary play may safely be rated the sensational of the season. The critics have pronounced Ibsen to be the master of the modern drama, and all agree that he is the master of stage literature.

"Ghosts" is the craze of the period
and has electrified London, Paris, Berlin and New York. The first performance in America was given at Carnegie Hall, New York, the admission being five dollars, since which it has had successful runs at two of the most fashionable play houses in the city. The cast must necessarily be made up of high-class players, actress of the quality of the play makes unusual demands upon the actors. The performances everywhere are patronized
by the elite of the city.

"GHOSTS" ITEMS.

Donald Robertson, who is co-star
with Edith Ellis-Baker in Ibsen's Ghosts, which attraction appears at the Grand on Monday night, is a brother of Mrs. Kendall, an actress of world-renowned fame. Madge
Robertson and Forrest Robertson
were seen in this country a few years ago in the "Man in the Iron Mask."

Edith Ellis-Baker was leading lady
of Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theatre,
New York City, for five years, and was the highest salaried leading lady in America.

Perry, O'Dell & Dee's Comedians
will appear here on Fair Nights. This company enjoys the reputation of a splendid evening's entertainment. Speaking of their appearance in Guelph, the Daily Herald says:—Perry, O'Dell & Dee's Comedians opened a four nights'
engagement at the Royal Opera House, and by the applause the artistically received, went to show that the audience was more than pleased with the performance. Among the interesting parts was Baby Bonnie Dee, the cleverest young actress on the stage today. W. H. Abel who is without doubt unequalled as a performer on the slack wire; and several new and excellent views on the kinetograph.
Also some beautifully illustrated songs. The Three Dees have a singing and dancing sketch which is intensely interesting and very clever.
The balance of the company goes up to a very high standard, and all the acts brought forth loud applause.
This entertainment is one of the best and cleanest of the kind that has ever visited this city, and should draw large houses. The press all over the country seem to have nothing but praise for the performance
given by the Perry, O'Dell & Dee Company, and a most satisfactory engagement is looked forward to upon their appearance here.

Leather Goods.

Since the day we opened our store of business in this city we have been careful to handle goods that wear well. Each year we sell an im-reason we have been partial to Leather goods and this year we are go-autumn importation of Leather Cases, ranging in price from $2.50 to

HONORED HIM

The congregation of St. Andrew's church last evening tendered a farewell social, at the residence of Mr.
and Mrs. J. G. Kerr, to H. B. Ket-chen, who so ably and acceptably supplied the pulpit during the absence of the esteemed pastor, Rev.
Dr. Battisby, this summer.

An exceedingly pleasant evening
was spent by all present.

After a delightful musical program
by members of the choir, Mr. Kerr in a brief and appropriate address,
expressed the congregation's appreciation of Mr. Ketchen's services and presented him, on their behalf, with a wallet containing $50 in gold.

The young minister responded, feelingly testifying to his appreciation of the uniform goodness which had characterized the conduct of the congregation towards him.

E. L. RECEPTION

About 300 young people, principally students of the city, enjoyed a most

The event of the evening was the Shakespearean Romance, in which the crowd was divided into clusters of 15 or more and 17 questions typewritten were to be answered by the names of Shakespearean plays. Cluster No. 4 won.

excellent, some specially fine singing

MANY LIVES LOST.

Floods in Vicinity of Lacrosse, Wis.
—Drowning Live Stock.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 19.—A despatch to the Maritime Exchange from Atlantic City says the yacht Red Dragon was wrecked and all on board were lost. The little vessel started from Atlantic City on Tuesday for a long fishing cruise, having on board a party consisting of Capt. J. Clark, John Swanson, his wife, son and daughter, S. Ducas and John Adams. The body of Captain Clark and another body supposed to be that of Ducas
were washed ashore to-day.

Temagami, Maine, Sept. 19.—A second storm almost equal in violence to the one of Wednesday night prevailed for several hours during last night and early to-day. The bodies of Peter Merchant, Lewis Perry and Edward Parsons, members of the crew of the schooner Geo. F. Edmunds, which was wrecked on Wednesday night, were recovered to-day. Watchers patrolling the beach have seen several other bodies washing about in the surf, but the sea is running so high that they have not been able to reach them.

Lacrosse, Wis., Sept. 19.—The worst flood experienced in this portion of the Mississippi valley for years is submerging thousands of acres of farm lands along the river, sweeping away
stacks of hay and grain, drowning live stock in fields and doing incalculable damage. Mill dams at Misha Moka and Mondovo are washed away. In Lacrosse fifty families have been forced to move out of their homes. The river had overflowed the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul tracks on the levee.
Communication with the rural districts
in this vicinity is entirely cut off owing to the bridges being carried down. The river is rising half an inch an hour.

FALL
Millinery Opening,
TUESDAY NEXT,
September 22nd,

and the following days.

We cordially invite the ladies of Chatham and all the fair visitors to visit our spacious showrooms on any of the above days, when we will be pleased to show them a complete showing of Fashion ideas, as shown
in FRENCH, AMERI-CAN and CANADIAN MARKETS.

The styles in both the hats and trimmings are entirely different to last years,
and in fact impress one as being of a much richer and more elaborate character
than for some time past.

We have made extra efforts to have more than the usual number of Trimmed Hats so as to accommodate visitors to the fair with immediate delivery. We would draw your attention to the fact that we never duplicate any hat so that every customer can be fully assured
when selecting here that no one else will have a hat exactly the same as the one she decides on. Our immense stocks all over the store will all be specially displayed.

be displayed on the second floor.

FIRST FLOOR DISPLAYS.

Imported and Canadian Dress Goods and Trimmings.
—Here you will see one of the largest and most carefully selected stocks shown in Western Ontario.

Scotch and English Suitings.—One dress to pattern only.
We want you to take time Tuesday to inspect this stock as we know the variety will please you and the values will surpass those you will find in the majority of stores.

Linens.—A visit to this section will repay the thrifty housewife.
Linens as you know have advanced in price in common with many other goods, but fortunately we placed our orders months ago for our full supply and can consequently give as fine values as we did last season.

Our Boys and Men's Clothing.—All the mothers will want to see what a fine line we have ready for the boys for fall. Our clothing staff will be pleased to show you through their special display.

Furniture.—This is the last department on the ground floor, but by no means the least. Take a walk back and see the new store and the new stock. You will find many attractive new prices and many attractive pieces as well.

Our Motto: No trouble to show goods.

Shoulder Braces

—FOR—

Round Shoulders

One doesn't have to worry much about children getting round shouldered as long as they are out doors all the while. It is when they are inside, exercising less and bending over desks that the injury is done. For this reason this is an especially timely season to put shoulder braces on the child that shows signs of stooping. We have the kind you should use, the ones universally conceded to be the best.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Only Three Counties Remain to be Disposed of.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—There are only three counties remaining undisposed of, which announcement by the Premier indicated that the redistribution bill has practically received the endorsement of the House. The assertion was made just before the adjournment, and was a welcome conclusion to a week's hard work. The principal topic of debate was the redistribution of Toronto, which occupied the whole of the morning session and a large part of the afternoon.

The reign of the petition was resumed when the House opened this morning, for no less than ten members of the Opposition presented petitions asking that the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway bill be laid over until full and accurate information shall have been obtained and laid before Parliament. The petitions were all printed, and of a uniform style. They were presented by the following members:—Messrs. Sproule, Clancy, Cargill, Henderson, Birkett, Fowler, Porter, T. I. Thomson, Wilson and Blain.

LETTER BOX

WE GET A BRUTAL JOLT.

Dear Editor The Planet:
Re-Car Shops.—Your attack on the Council last evening was entirely uncalled for, and utterly rot and non-sensical. I shall bring it before the notice of the Council Monday. It is the voice of Jacob—Anderson, but the hairy hand of Ald. Pigott—Esau is there in full bloom behind it. Don't think The Planet is doing itself any good in writing such stuff. It looks as if the main object were to give a cheap, free, slobbering advertisement to a certain number of citizens whom The Planet designated as worthy to bow their knees to the little, one-horse railway. Strange that not one of those great representative men never saw fit to advocate what you so much desire over his own name in the press. Surely if there were anything in it it would not have been left you, whose interest in the city as a fact is practically nil, to wake up all these promising citizens to do their duty towards the city they have so much stake in. I am sure the old eagle down in the office would laugh itself to death at the idea. Everybody is laughing at it.

St. Thomas is already selected as the location for these car works, and the railway is just for the moment playing Chatham against it as a foil for greater concessions. One of the Walkers stated the other day that beyond doubt St. Thomas would get the works. Then the Railway is playing with Chatham in order to delay paying us some $15,000 that we claim for damages.

Then, as to the sic 'em business; I am the man that is and will continue to do the sic 'em cry until every claim against the Railway is adjusted. I tried for a year to get matters settled without any sic 'ems, but could not, and The Planet bluff in favor of the Railway will not abate my "sic 'ems" one whit, but quite the contrary. You evidently don't know the facts. I fear, except as expressed through Ald. Pigott. I vouch for it that The Planet moves a corporal's guard of a delegation to meet the Railway on any such fool errand.

Yours,
GEO. G. MARTIN.
Chatham, 18th September, 1903.

Ald. Martin's letter scarcely does him credit—or justice. Whatever the eccentricities of the gentleman may be, we have always taken him to be a hustler. And if his energies could be weaned, for the nonce, from writing letters to the press annihilating ourselves or some other unfortunate, to the more laudable task of taking off his coat and doing something practical for the interests of his town, all would be forgiven. In the enterprise of securing

THE TIMES' TRIBUTE.

Builder of World's Empire Under the British Flag.

London, Sept. 18.—The Times' editorial article on Mr. Chamberlain's resignation says that it is the bare truth when Premier Balfour declares that Mr. Chamberlain has done more than any man living or dead to bring home to the citizens of the empire a consciousness of their Imperial obligations. Mr. Chamberlain has been filled with the idea of England's historic and moral greatness, her mission in the world, and her ability to fulfill it. He has known how to impart something of his own conception to the whole British race. The article concludes:—"Even our foreign rivals, as they have shown by the persistent virulence of their attacks upon him, have shown that in him they recognize instinctively the potential builder of a free, self-contained, democratic world-empire under the British crown and the British flag, which they dread not less for its ideals than for its material strength."

CIVIL SERVANTS' PAY.

Sir William Mulock Proposes a General Increase.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A new bill, of which Sir Wm. Mulock gave notice, means the application of the proposed increase in salaries to all branches of the civil service, instead of only to the deputy heads and the junior second-class clerks, as was proposed in the bill introduced some weeks ago and withdrawn recently to make way for the wider-reaching bill now before the House. The general effect is to apply the sliding scale to all civil servants, and to lower branches of the service, and to make an increase of $100 in the lower branches. The deputy heads will now receive a stationary salary of $3,200 will hereafter start at $3,500 and advance $100 yearly to $4,000, with $1,000 additional in the case of Deputy Ministers of Finance, Justice and Railways. Chief clerks in the new grade "A" will commence at $2,400, instead of $2,000, and advance to $2,800, instead of $2,400. For first, second and junior second-class clerks the minimum and maximum salaries are advanced $100. The old third-class clerkship is revived, ranging from $200 to $300.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Making Good Progress With the Redistribution Bill.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Fair progress was again made by the House in committee on the redistribution bill, fourteen seats being passed, involving six counties, Kent, Middlesex, Northumberland, Perth, Peterborough and York, the chief discussions being on Middlesex, Peterborough and York. Waterloo was also considered and held over. This disposed of Ontario, with the exception of Toronto, which will be taken up this morning, and a few constituencies which were held over for further consideration.

PORT ARTHUR TRAGEDY.

Accidental Death or Suicide of W. A. Leys.

Port Arthur, Sept. 18.—W. A. Leys, a lawyer of this town, was found dead in his office last evening. Deceased was last seen at 6 o'clock last evening at his room at the Northern Hotel. When his room was visited by a bullet was found on the floor and the body was found in the room. The bullet had evidently passed through the body and entered the back of the head and upwards, entering the brain. The bullet was found in the room with the body. A SPLENDID ARGUMENT.

Presentation of the Canadian Case by Sir Robert Finlay.

London, Sept. 18.—The Alaska Tribunal took their seats at 11 a.m. The Attorney-General, continuing his argument on the Portland Canal, produced a volume of Vancouver's charts obtained from the London Library, which he stated to be identical with the set used yesterday, and which came from the Parliamentary library at Ottawa. He then proceeded to discuss the argument of the United States based on the Thalgew rule, which is to the effect that where national territories are divided by a river or stream having several channels the middle of the deepest channel should be taken as the boundary, and contended that this rule applied only to rivers and streams and not to an estuary such as Portland Channel.

Mr. Sifton and others of the Canadian party are exceedingly pleased with Attorney-General Finlay's work. The St. James' Gazette says: "Attorney-General Finlay is in his element over the Alaskan Boundary Commission, whatever may be the conditions of his conferees. No man in the profession on or off the Bench knows his law better. He glories in the technicalities and subtleties of a big cause, such as this he is now engaged in. While he is never known to crack a joke in court, it is equally true he has never been known to miss a point."

George Woolson's Suicide.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—Geo. Woolson, the well-known proprietor of the White Window jewellery store at 186 Queen street west, preferred death to facing a charge of receiving stolen property at the present sitting of the Court of General Sessions. His dead body was found on one of the roads at High Park between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Kelsey Moore, of Northcote avenue. A 32-calibre revolver was clutched in the right hand and a

Home Duties

The real heroines of every day are in our homes. Frequently, however, it is a mistaken and useless heroism.

Women seem to listen to every call of duty except the supreme one that tells them to guard their health. How much harder the daily tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system unstrung? Irritability takes the place of happiness and amiability; and weakness and suffering takes the place of health and strength. As long as they can drag themselves around, women continue to work and perform their household duties. They have been led to believe that suffering is necessary because they are women. What a mistake!

The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will banish pain and restore happiness. Don't resort to strong stimulants or narcotics when this great strengthening, healing remedy for women is always within reach.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. No man will see your letter. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. You are very foolish if you do not accept her kind invitation.

For proof read the symptoms, suffering and cure recited in the following letters:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express to you the great benefit I have derived from your advice and the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My trouble was female weakness in its worst form and I was in a very bad condition. I could not perform my household duties, my back ached, I was extremely nervous, and I could not get to sleep, and the doctors prescribed medicine that did me no good; I resorted to an operation which the physician said was necessary to restore me to health, but I suffered more after it than I did before; I had hemorrhages of the womb that nothing could seem to stop.

"I noticed one of your advertisements and wrote you for advice. I received your reply and carefully followed all instructions. I immediately began to get stronger, and in two weeks was about the house. I took eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and continued following your advice, and to-day I am a well woman. Your remedies and help are a Godsend to suffering women, and I cannot find words to thank you for what you have done for me."—MRS. LOTTIE V. NAYLOR, 1328 N. J. Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was suffering with falling of the womb and could hardly drag about, but after taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was completely cured. I am now a well woman and able to do all my work.

"I think your medicine one of the best remedies in the world."—Mrs. J. M. LEE, 141 Lyndal St., Newcastle, Pa.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done a great deal for me. I suffered so much from falling of the womb and all the troubles connected with it. I doctored for years with doctors and other remedies but received only temporary relief.

"I began taking your medicine, and had not taken it long before I was feeling better. My husband said that I should keep right on taking it so long as it gave me relief from my suffering, as I could not expect to be cured by one or two bottles. I did so and am now able to be on my feet and work as hard all day and go to bed and rest at night. Thanks to your Vegetable Compound I am certainly grateful for the relief it gave me. It is the mother's great friend. I would not be without it in my house, for when I feel tired or out of sorts I take a few doses and feel all right.

"I would recommend your medicine to all tired mothers, and especially to those suffering as I was."—MRS. R. F. CHAMBERS, Bennett, Neb.

Mrs. Jas. Kinsella Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Peculiar Medical Case Ends in Another Victory for the Great Kidney Remedy.

St. Malachie, Dorchester Co., Que., Sept. 13.—(Special).—A medical case of particular interest, especially to women, is causing much talk here. Mrs. James Kinsella suffered from Kidney Disease, which so affected her that she could not sleep and she was obliged for two summers to pass her nights sitting in a chair. To-day she is practically a well woman. Interestingly regarding her cure she said:—

"I had a pain in my right hip, in the back and was swollen all down that side of the abdomen. I could not sleep at night and I was obliged to sit up in a chair for two summers.

"Reading of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills I bought one box. That gave me such relief that I continued to use them. They did me a world of good and now I can go to bed and sit up in a chair since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Female complaints are caused by bad kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure them.

Yours, Mine and Ours.

An excellent paper of anecdotes of Churchmen is contributed to the August number of Blackwood's Magazine by "Sigma." The writer tells several stories of Blomfield, Bishop of London. One of these arose out of the complex character of the Bishop's plentiful domestic circle. It appears that his Lordship married twice, and in both unions had been blessed with progeny, while his second wife, his second husband's family, had imported an independent brood of her own. In my experience, the children of ecclesiastics do not, even under normal conditions, always exemplify the Christian and the good. With such a blend as that which I have just denoted, it is not surprising that unruffled peace was not invariably present under the Bishop's roof. On one occasion a quarrel among the miscellaneous offspring, the Bishop was disturbed in his study by the impetuous entrance of his lady. "What is it, my dear?" he inquired, with ill-concealed testiness. "Oh, Bishop," she replied in a low, quick, quick, quick, there's not a moment to lose! Your children are siding with my children, and are murdering our children!"

DIABETES

Is a Fast Wasting Form of Kidney Disease.

Kidney-Wort Tablets

Quickly Arrest the Disease and Rebuild the Whole System.

Diabetes is a fast wasting form of kidney disease. In its advanced stage it is marked by the passage of an excessive amount of urine containing a large proportion of sugar. Other prominent signs are, great thirst, loss of strength, harsh, dry skin, swelling of limbs and physical weakness.

Dr. Pettigill's Kidney-Wort Tablets quickly arrest the progress of this frightful disease and rebuild the whole system. They have saved thousands of lives and have saved thousands of dollars by drugists everywhere. Price 50 cents per bottle or six bottles for $2.50.

A Curious Custom.

The native Andamanese women have a curious custom. When a man dies his wife prepares his skull and wears it hanging at her side. There it answers the purpose of a treasure box, and in it she carries her jewels, her money and as much more of her valuable property as it will contain.

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with goitre or "thick neck." Instead of regarding this as a deformity they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing through the valleys are astonished and amazed by the grotesque inhabitants, because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common that it is regarded as a natural and necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less from irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains, or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so universal that many women accept it as a condition of life. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the delicate womanly organs and regulates the womanly functions, so that woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eat up her life—between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. "Favorite prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well.

WOMEN.

The London Express prints this poem with a double reading. Read it as it stands and woman is highly flattered, but read alternate lines (one and three, two and four of each verse) and the sentiment is very much the reverse:

Happy a man may pass his life
If he's directed by a wife;
If free from matrimonial chains
He's sure to suffer for his pains.

No tongue is able to unfold
The virtues in woman you behold;
The falsehoods that in woman dwell
Are almost imperceptible.

In woman's heart you'll see appear
Truth, darling of a heart, sincere;
Hypocrisy, deceit and pride,
In woman never can abide.

A QUEEN'S FAVORITE.

Story of Roger Mortimer, Who Conspired Against Edward II.

Roger Mortimer, after being one of the most zealous adherents of Edward II., conspired against him, and was sent to the Tower. Having escaped to France, he subsequently, with Queen Isabella, the wife of Edward, made a descent upon England. Edward was taken prisoner and murdered in Berkeley castle, his son, Edward III., being placed upon the throne in his fifteenth year. For three years Mortimer exercised absolute power in the name of the young monarch. He assumed a splendor even outwitting royalty, and, like all favorites, grasped at riches and honors. At length the conduct of the Queen-Dowager and Mortimer became so openly scandalous that young Edward resolved to take action. The guilty couple resided in Nottingham castle, where every precaution was taken to secure their safety. A strong military guard was placed at the gates at night, while the keys were conveyed to the Queen. Eland, the governor, however, had been won over to the side of the young king. By him, Edward's followers were admitted through a passage under the castle still called "Mortimer's Hole." Making their way to the bedchamber the party burst open the door and killed two of Mortimer's friends who attempted to make a defence. Queen Isabella rushed in terror from her bed, imploring her "sweet son" to spare her "gentle Mortimer." Her tears and entreaties for "her worthy knight, her dearest friend, her beloved counsellor in all his counsels, the Lord of the Marches and dictator of the Kingdom was led away in custody, and on the morrow brought before Parliament on the charges of having usurped the Royal power, of having procured the death of Edward II., and for many other crimes and misdemeanors. In the informality of the times Mortimer was not allowed to make any defence. He was declared at once guilty from the notoriety of his crimes, and was hanged at the Elms, near London, on Nov. 29, 1330. Edward then took the Government in his own hands and shut his mother up in her house at Rising, her allowance being reduced to £3,000 a year.

Sketch of Lord Brassey.

Lord Brassey, President of the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, recently held in Montreal, was born Feb. 11, 1836, son of the late Thomas Brassey, one of the contractors of the Grand Trunk Railway. He was educated at Rugby and afterwards at University College, Oxford, where he obtained the degree of B.A., with honors in the history school. He is also a D.C.L. (hon.) and M.A. of Oxford, and was called to the Bar in 1866. Having entered politics, he was first elected Liberal M.P. for Devonport in 1865, and later represented Hastings from 1868 to 1886, when he was raised to the Peerage. Among the positions he has held are President of the Statistical Society, 1879-1880; Civil Lord of the Admiralty, 1880-1883; Secretary of the Admiralty, 1883-1885; served on Royal Commission on Unseaworthy Ships, Defence of Coaling Stations, Relief of Aged Poor, Chairman of Opium Commission; Lord-in-Waiting, 1894; President of the Institution of Naval Architects, 1893-1895; Governor of Victoria, 1895-1896. Lord Brassey married first in 1861 a daughter of Mr. John Allnutt, who died at sea on the Sunbeam in 1887; second in 1890, a daughter of Viscount Malden. Among his publications are: "Work and Wages," "Naval Annual," "British Navy," "British Work and Foreign Wages." Among his recreations are yachting and hunting, and it was on the famous yacht Sunbeam that he came to Canada.

Matthew Arnold's Fate.

At Dean Stanley's Mr. McCarthy used to meet many famous men and women. In which connection he recalls how on one occasion the Dean, taking the hand of a new arrival, said: "Come here, Matt, and let me bring you face to face with the man who says you are only a miniature Goethe." The new arrival was Matthew Arnold. The Dean applied this expression in his history. But it was somewhat embarrassing to have the fact recalled in this way. Matthew Arnold, however, happily relieved the situation by the observation: "If you could only convince me that I am a miniature Goethe, how proud you would make me!"—Westminster Gazette.

Six to One.

A well-known English surgeon was imparting some clinical instruction to half a dozen students who accompanied him in his rounds the other day. Pausing at the bedside of a doubtful case, he said: "Now, gentlemen, do you think this is or is not a case for operation?" One by one the students made their diagnosis and all of them answered in the negative. "Well, gentlemen, you are all wrong," said the wielder of the free and flashing scalpel, "and I shall operate to-morrow." "No, you won't," said the patient, as he rose in his bed; "six to one is a good majority; gimme my clothes."

CUTICURA OINTMENT

Purest of Emollients and Greatest of Skin Cures.

The Most Wonderful Curative of All Time

For Torturing, Disfiguring Skin Humours

And Purest and Sweetest of Toilet Emollients.

Cuticura Ointment is beyond question the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humours of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases, by a dose of Cuticura Resolvent, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning, and scaly humours, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all other remedies fail. It is especially so in the treatment of infants and children, cleansing, soothing and healing the most distressing of infantile humours, and preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp and hair.

Cuticura Ointment possesses, at the same time, the charm of satisfying the simple wants of the toilet, in caring for the skin, scalp, hair, hands and feet, from infancy to age, far more effectively, agreeably and economically than the most expensive of toilet emollients. Its "Instant relief for skin-tortured babies," or "Soothing, antiseptic cleansing," or "One-night treatment of the hands or feet," or "Single treatment of the hair," or "Use after athletics," cycling, golf, tennis, riding, sparring, or any sport, each in connection with the use of Cuticura Soap, is sufficient evidence of this.

Cuticura Resolvent is in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills. Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Sole Agents for Canada, J. B. Rankin, K. C. Barrister, No. 100, King Street, West, Toronto. Office over Turner's drug store, 26 Rutherford Block.

CANADIAN TRADE.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

George E. Drummond the New President—Removal From Circulation of United States Silver—
Views on the Tariff.

Toronto, Sept. 19. — The deliberations of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association were brought to a close yesterday after a session which was of a very harmonious nature. The various resolutions dealing with trade matters, the preference
and the fiscal policy of the country were passed with what might be considered surprisingly little debate, considering the importance of the matters that were before the members. In every case the recommendations of the various committees, with unimportant changes, were carried. One report which threatened to cause some division was not dealt with. That was a report from the woolen section of the association dealing with conditions as they exist in the woolen trade to-day.

Over a proposal to increase the membership fees there was some discussion. The present fee is $10 a year, and the proposed amendment was as follows: "The annual membership fee
in this association shall be: for members employing under one hundred employees, $10; for members employing one hundred or more employees, $25;
for each additional member, after the first, from any firm, $10. The first payment shall become due on the election of a member, and each subsequent payment twelve months thereafter."

It was finally carried by the meeting.
This question settled, the meeting
proceeded with the report of the Tariff Committee, which was read by Mr. W.
K. McNaught.

The recommendations of the committee were discussed clause by clause.
That opposing reciprocity with the United States was carried with applause
and enthusiasm.

Mr. Joseph Fortier of Montreal asked why they should mention the United States specially.
"The United States is the only country in which there is an agitation for reciprocity," replied Mr. Mc-Naught. "Besides," added Mr. Birge,
"we want to make no uncertain sound
on this matter, and I am glad it is endorsed so heartily by the association."

The recommendation advising the establishment of a permanent Tariff Committee, while approved of generally,
brought out the views of quite a number of the members.

Finally an amendment that was satisfactory to all was made, under which the objectionable clause was eliminated and the clause made to read simply that the Dominion Government should appoint such a commission.

A number of important resolutions
presented by the Resolution Committee were passed with very little discussion. One asked for the co-operation of the Canadian people, banks and Government, in securing the removal
from circulation in Canada and exportation of all foreign silver coinage, and its replacement by Canadian silver coins. This was directed at the United States silver which is in circulation
here.

Another resolution requested the Dominion Government to purchase all foreign goods through importers who pay the regular rate of duty, because goods imported by the Government are liable to find their way into the regular channels of trade.

There was urged upon the Government in another resolution the desirability of amending the present preferential regulations as applying to British goods, so as to increase the required percentage of British labor from 25 to 50 per cent. of the value of the goods,
and also to consider the appointment of a capable customs agent in London
to prevent foreign manufacturing firms
from taking advantage of the preference granted to British goods.

Once more the association in a resolution urged the necessity for enacting a general Dominion insolvency act;
and a resolution expressing regret that South Africa had not included Canada
in its preference tariff, and asking the Government to bring this serious condition before the proper bodies, was likewise carried.

It was moved by Mr. J. M. Fortier, seconded by Joseph Picard, of Quebec,
that the Parliamentary Committee of the association be instructed to urge the Dominion Government to enact without delay such legislation as shall render unlawful and effectively prevent such methods of restraining trade and destroying competition as have been employed by the American Tobacco Company of Canada as disclosed in the report of the Royal Commission recently appointed to investigate the tobacco trade of Canada.

The resolution was then referred to the Parliamentary Committee.
The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, George E. Drummond, Canada Iron Furnace Co., Mont-

was better this year than ever.
As in former years Peter W. Mc-Auley has managed the team and has done it as only he could do. The sea-

BASKET BALL

A FINE EXHIBITION.

In an exciting contest last evening
at the drill shed the team of Bruce Symes defeated John La France's team by a score of 14 to 7. The score doesn't indicate the play, as the game was close and exciting throughout. Last night's line-up was as follows:

Centre—La France.
Right guard—G. Smith.
Left guard—McGarry.
Right basket—Morrell.
Left basket—Harmer.
Centre—Symes.
Right guard—Wrigley.
Left guard—Johns.
Right basket—Clements.
Left basket—E. Smith.

A GROUNDS PROBLEM.

The members of the Football Club
are expressing some uncertainty regarding the Peninsular Fair match with Darrell next Wednesday afternoon.

The offer to play was only accepted on condition that the grounds
should be placed in first class condition.

Speaking of their present shape
Captain Sissons said, "We could not take a team on such a field. The risk of having players injured and aid up would be too great. Besides a match on such grounds would be
of little interest to the spectators,
as it would first no test of merit
or criterion of the abilities of the two teams."

The fair directors, however, have issued an assurance that the grounds
will be put in good shape on Monday
and it is to be hoped this will be done.

ON ICE

ABOUT THAT RINK.

Now then, how about that fine
skating and curlers rink?
We're going to have plenty of cold weather this winter and these fine sports should be encouraged as they never have before. All the surrounding towns and villages have good rinks and both curling and hockey
and skating clubs. Why not Chatham?
Now is the time to start the ball rolling. Where are those citizens of last year who said they would surely have a rink for next winter?

LAGER BEER

"The Beer That is Brewed in Glass"

Ours is the only plant in Western Ontario having a glass-lined, closed tank system, which is the only system affording absolute security against pollution of the beer.

Wood rots, green wood rots faster than dry, quickly seasoned wood rots quick-et of all, and when exposed to air and water in Brewers' cellars wet, rot comes on rapidly, and the beer brewed in open tanks is injuriously affected by it.

Our tanks are like a bottle inside, clean, no mould, no slime, no chance for rot.
Which is better, beer made in a closed, glass lined, steel tank, or in an old mouldy wooden one?

Color is no indication of strength as producers of thin, watery beer resort to coloring matter and other materials to conceal its weakness. A good beer gives a "full mouth" feeling when drunk.

A heavy foam is no indication of good quality, in fact in many localities they demand less foam and more solid beer. Brewers of weak beer often try to tempt the consumer by furnishing a beer charged with Krons (beer 24 hours old) and having a beautiful cream, but if used to any extent is sure to produce sickness.

Poor goods are nasty competition and the public should sustain those producing the better goods.

A pure beer is a pleasant beverage and very healthful and should always give off a delicate aroma of hops and malt only. Any other smell or taste is almost POSITIVE EVIDENCE OF AN INFECTED AND IMPURE BEER.

The Kindergarten in Chatham

Does it Pay?—Is its Work Beneficial to the Pupil in the First Years of the Public School Course?—The Views of Expert Educationists in Junior Work—Problem of Provincial Interest.

The Kindergarten—and its value to pupil on entering the junior work of the public school course—is a subject of exceptional interest to parents, and of extensive discussion among educationists in all parts of the Province at the present time.

"Does it pay to send the children to the Kindergarten?" is a question which is agitating the minds of many interested in educational work. "Do the results to the child aid and assist him in the later work of the public school? Does it do lasting benefit?"

In Hamilton, Ottawa and Toronto the discussion has been especially exhaustive, exacting—and lively.

Chatham is particularly interested because the Maple City is in the very van of the kindergarten movement. Our progressive school board have established three kindergartens in Chatham, all well attended and competently conducted—more than any other city of its size in Canada.

Will results warrant this progressive enterprise? The Planet believes that they will. This journal has profound faith in the kindergarten and its work. But there may be a Doubting Thomas here and there who is not prepared to accept and swear by The Planet's dictum—he may demand expert evidence.

To satisfy him this journal has interviewed all the local expert educationists in the junior work of the public school—and it may be said, in passing, that these teachers are unflinching, that they have a thorough and practical knowledge whereon to speak.

It will be very satisfactory to the School Board and pleasing to the people to learn that the unanimous verdict is strongly in favor of the kindergarten and its extension and development. The child who graduates from the kindergarten is better equipped for, and makes greater progress in, the public school work than his young colleague who neglected the advantages of this course.

Chatham is to be congratulated on taking the lead in kindergarten work.

MISS BARASSIN.

Miss Susie A. Barassin, who so ably conducts a large portion of the junior work in the Central school, gave the following as her reasons why she considered the kindergarten an important part of the school system:—"The child from the kindergarten gets along more rapidly in arithmetic than others who have never attended the kindergarten. The gifts and occupations of the kindergarten give him ideas of number."

"He gets along quicker in reading also. This, I think, is due to the fact that he is so used to expressing himself in the kindergarten that he knows no hesitation in giving the sounds of the letters."

"For the same reason he makes better progress in language. In the case of reproduction stories he can express himself more freely and correctly than the child who comes into the primary room straight from home."

"Children from the kindergarten have been trained to keep time to the piano. For this reason they are easily trained to assemble and disassemble in order."

"Generally speaking, a child who has attended the kindergarten passes through the primary in about half the time it takes the other child to do it."

MISS YOUNG.

Miss Nellie Young, who has charge of the juvenile work of the McKeough school—and has met with much success therein—speaks very strongly in favor of the kindergarten and its work. In an interview with The Planet she said:—"When the child, who has taken the prescribed course at the kindergarten, enters the primary room, there are three distinct respects in which he is superior to a child who has never had the opportunity of attending a kindergarten, or who has attended irregularly, or who has not taken the full course. The first point where the kindergarten-trained child has the advantage is in his ability to interpret the spoken language and its power of associating the spoken word with the object. As a result of this it is able to follow the directions of the teacher without any apparent effort on either the teacher's part or the child's. Then, in the second place, the training that the eye gets is a great saving of time to the primary teacher. This training enables the child to get a correct mental concept of a picture and then, when it has to be reproduced, the one in the child's mind, to which reference is made, is perfect. The third advantage gained from a kindergarten course is the training of the hand. Although the kindergarten child has not been required to hold a pencil and make figures, it can usually hold a pencil correctly and make a very fair copy of a figure even on the first day.

"These points are so closely connected that one concrete example will illustrate the three. Draw on the blackboard four lines corresponding to the four lines on the child's slate, used for writing. Put a straight upright line in the middle space, touching the second and third lines, and ask the children to do the same on their slates. The kindergarten child understands immediately where the middle space is, where the second and third lines are, because it has had a training in finding definite places for itself under the direction of a teacher. Then the child gets a perfect mental picture, and its hand has been so trained as to reproduce this picture. The same child will fill the middle spaces of its slate with uniform lines with very little further direction. On the other hand, ask the child, who has not attended the kindergarten, to do the same thing, and the teacher has to find the second and third lines, then the middle space and then spend at least a minute with the child. Return to this child's slate and it is the exception to find the work in the second set of lines on the slate. It not unfrequently happens that it takes the child three weeks to discover by itself the middle space in the second set of lines."

"While the child, not trained in the kindergarten, may have similar mental and physical powers, it has not the ability to direct them."

MISS McKELLAR.

Miss Annie E. McKellar, who has met with so much success in the junior work at the Central school, and whose study of the subject enables her to speak as one having authority, gave The Planet the following as her views:—"The kindergarten leads the child gradually, from a life of play with no abrupt jump or strain, and brings it to the lower rungs of the ladder of learning ready and confident to climb."

"When a child of five years misses the kindergarten and enters the primary room without any preparation, the strain is too severe and when the first blush of novelty is over he is benumbed with the exertion and in nearly every case makes a slow disheartened effort to ascend."

"The constant handling of material and the various occupations of building, folding, weaving, etc., while they naturally give delicacy of touch, quietness of movement and dexterity of hand, we observe that in addition to this the kindergarten pupils possess a much higher degree of general intelligence and have a greater power of concentration as well as a much better command of language. They do better in arithmetic, getting the first ideas more readily and they learn more easily the forms of letters and words and hence reading comes easier. The exercises make children very fond of school and the little ones being delighted with the work the interest of the parent is awakened and consequently the attendance is much better."

MISS LONGWELL.

Miss Ella Longwell, who presides over the second year junior work at McKeough school, and of whom Inspector Park paid the memorable eulogy, "Her work is perfection!"—gives The Planet the following interesting and instructive interview on the value of the kindergarten course:—"The child from the kindergarten is characterized by his receptive and responsive attitude of mind. He more readily fixes his attention upon a matter and more willingly accepts an allotted task than does the child who has been denied the advantages of the kindergarten."

"More than this, he claims and enjoys a freedom of friendly intercourse with his teachers, which springs from the homelike atmosphere of the kindergarten."

"This is particularly helpful to the pupil where he does not exactly understand what is required of him in the work of the school, as he promptly and cheerfully confides his difficulties to his teacher, where another would be withheld from doing so by the feeling of reserve which he has not yet overcome."

"Among the many fruits of attendance in the kindergarten this one of making the child regard the school as his home and the teacher as his friend, seems to be most lasting."

MISS TACKABERRY.

Miss Edith M. Tackaberry, who has evidenced marked ability in her conduct of junior work in the Central school, says regarding the benefits of the kindergarten:—"A child who enters the primary room after a full course in the kindergarten invariably passes from that room at the end of one-half year. On the other hand, a child who enters at the age of five without any kindergarten training remains in the primary room from a year and a half to two years."

"When we get our new classes at the beginning of each term we always find that the kindergarten pupils are much quieter and quicker in their movements; their manner is more natural and they are more observant than other pupils."

"They are able to begin writing at once as the muscled of their hands have been developed by the work in the kindergarten and all that they do is neater and more systematic as a result of this."

THE PRINCIPALS.

The principals of both city schools are unanimous in their approval of the kindergarten course as a preparation for school life. They are in a position to view the progress of every child from the kindergarten to the fifth school, and consequently the results of their experience and investigation will be followed with interest by parents of pupils of all ages.

It is certain that if the kindergarten enables the child to graduate earlier than he otherwise would, it is of advantage from an economic standpoint alone, because an extra year at school means an extra teacher's salary and the expenses of an extra class room.

Miss Esther Abram, principal of McKeough school, says:—"At the present time, one of the chief disadvantages which a teacher of the first grade in public school work has to contend against is the result of attendance at kindergarten being optional. Parents may or may not, as they see fit—and there always have been differences of opinion on every subject and I suppose there will continue to be—give their children the benefit of a course in the kindergarten."

Thus there enters the primary room of the public school two distinct classes of children, those from the kindergarten well-equipped to set forth on the steep, rough road to learning and those direct from the home without any preparation whatever for undertaking this important journey unless the parents have themselves consciously or unconsciously given them the training."

"This is directly opposed to classification, on which the present public school system largely rests, and the teacher finds herself in a day or two forced to make a sub-division in what she would have much preferred to keep as one undivided class, not because one set of these children knows any more about the work of her room than the other set, but simply because one set being able to follow her directions more readily than the other can make much more rapid progress. Very rarely do kindergarten pupils require more than one term in this room while many of the other children require what is to them a long, weary year and sometimes two, to advance to the same point in school work."

"This advantage which kindergarten obtains over those who have had no training in that work is felt distinctly in public school work as far as the second book, in other words as long as children study from the concrete more than from the abstract; and so far as we can judge from our present educational light, the younger a child can advance to a position where he is enabled to do more abstract reasoning, the better for him."

J. W. Flewes, Principal of the Central School, says:—"In our senior classes the ages of the pupils who have attended kindergarten average one year less than those who have not. This goes to show that children who take a course in the kindergarten will graduate earlier than others."

"The manual training given in the kindergarten develops the muscles of the hands and arms, consequently the pencil and pen-holding of the primary grades is accomplished without cramped fingers. This, of course, will lead to much better writing and drawing—a consummation devoutly to be wished."

"Pupils who commenced in the kindergarten, attend much more regularly as a rule, than others. "All that is needed to have every parent convinced of the superiority of kindergarten children over others in the primary grades is a short visit to a junior class-room."

Chronicles of Chathamites

Wherein Certain Citizens Hold Conference and Cause Commotion Throughout Community—An Epistle From the Scribe.

I. And it was known of men that John, the son of White, had said that he yearned to race on foot with George, son of Musson, who came from the city called the Queen.

II. And men laughed, saying, "Lo, ye must show us, for we are even of Chatham, yea of Kent."

III. So these men came each day to eat, unto the house of Merrill, the publican, on the William street, that crosses the King's road, and men trembled.

IV. For they said, "There shall be blood and grievous wounds, for that these men be wrath, the one at the other." Hath John not said that he will demolish George?

V. But wise men nodded, saying, "To the pines with that, even to the cedars of Lebanon; for there is naught toward, save only words."

VI. And their stomachs were filled with words.

VII. Lo, when John met George there was naught doing. And they buffeted not one the other, save in words only.

VIII. Nor slew they.

IX. But John, son of White, spoke more words of counsel in his ear.

XI. But John, the son of White, spoke not, being foxy withal and having the records to speak for him.

XII. And the Colonel gave advice unto John that he should gird his loins with green tights on the day appointed.

XIII. And further that he should live on a diet of raw eggs as became a man of foot.

XIV. Then doctor, son of Corneli, came unto the place appointed covered with fine raiment and wearing a jewel on his right hand.

XV. And George, son of Musson, spoke of Detroit, which is close by the borders of the land of Nod, commonly called Windsor, saying, "Lo, they will give two score pieces of silver. Let us hearken to them and race in their sight. For it is good."

The elections for the Legislative Council are on and Arthur Rankin and Colonel John Prince, of Chatham, and James McDougall, of Windsor, the candidates, address the electors of "The Western Electoral Division" through The Planet.

A clipping from a letter of the Paris correspondent to The Times tells of a frustrated conspiracy to assassinate Emperor Napoleon, of France. Thirty persons belonging to a secret society who instigated the plot were arrested by the prefecture of police and placed in the prisons at Mises. The prisoners were mostly artisans, young and educated.

George Jamieson, principal, announces the reopening of the Chatham Grammar School. He says:—"The attention of gentlemen residing in the County is particularly invited to the boarding department of the institution. In the handsome new building which has been erected by the liberality of the County for the use of the Grammar School, accommodation has been provided for a limited number of boarders."

"The young gentlemen who may be placed under the charges of the masters in this capacity will receive from them a kind and paternal treatment and the strictest attention will be paid to their moral and religious training."

N. B.—This new building referred to has, until this year, been used by Principal Paterson as a residence, but it is now being fitted up for commercial classes."

A despatch from London bears the heading in large type, "By electric telegraph per Montreal line. Great Disaster—Railway Accident."

The article says:—"A frightful accident which might have resulted in appalling consequences occurred one mile west of London. A train of 17 cars heavily laden with cattle was coming east when it met the night express going west. The result was a collision entirely destroying five cattle cars, while one passenger car, the baggage car and the post office were burnt."

"The mail train consisted of four baggage cars and the post office. An incident showing the force of the collision on the front part of the cattle train may be mentioned:—Four bullocks were precipitated through the roof of the truck on which they were confined and deposited in a confused mass on the tender. Fortunately no lives were lost."

lost and little personal damage was done, but taking into account the severity of the accident it is a little short of miraculous how any escaped. The railway company lost between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars."

Something About People You Ought to Know.

Herbert S. Clements—Politician and young business man. Before he became the eminent politician we view him to-day, he was popularly known as Herb; now it is Mr. Clements, president of the Kent County Liberal-Conservative Association.

Born down the river, he learned to swim and do lots of things that city boys never dream about. He also acquired a good, healthy physique, and laid the foundation for vigor and energy that has always characterized him. Then he came to the city and learned city ways. Also mixed in politics and is an active worker in the Liberal-Conservative ranks, and has a political reputation as a clever and industrious worker. Ran for school trustee and was elected. His election was a reminder of the first international yacht race, when the American yacht beat the others so badly that there was "no second." There was no second in Mr. Clements' election. It might have been called no race, as there only appeared to be one running, and he was running so fast that there was no heading him. Mr. Clements has travelled some, too. He has been all along the C. P. R., from Ottawa west, selling woollens. Mr. Clements thought he would like the west. In fact, he was going there to live and left for the "Land of the Setting Sun" last spring. He came back. He couldn't turn his back on the old town and its associations. Everybody knew he couldn't. Chatham, without the present president of the Conservative Association, would be like a Turkish domain without its Sultan. Sharp, shrewd, smart and clever, he is one of the foremost among Chatham's young business men and politicians.

S. B. Arnold—Lawyer, politician, bicyclist and yachtsman. There are few things that Doc doesn't know something about, and many things he knows a whole lot about, too. For instance, his law. S. B. belongs to the oldest family in Kent County. His ancestors came here in pre-historic ages. After burying all the mastadons and other mammoths, so that they could be dug up by succeeding generations, the original Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, whose real names are believed to have been Adam and Eve, started a mill near Kent Bridge. They gave the mill to their three sons who would do the most for the Conservative party. Doc's great-grandfather, on his paternal side, was one of these. It was at this mill that Tecumseh fed his followers before the battle of the Thames. This, of course, is all in the records and is well known. So is the subject of this sketch.

Doc's great hobby is bicycling. Strange to say, he likes to ride in wet as well as dry weather, and he can do this in Chatham mud—nit. He is at the bottom of an agitation for the use of the sidewalks by cyclists, and may he succeed. Doc is also something of a yachtsman and, as a skipper, drives his yacht, Winona, across the raging main of Lake Erie as fearless and as skilful as Captain Barr.

Doc is one of the bees among Maple City Conservatives and is one of those workers who get into harness at the start and put their heart and soul into the work. S. B. was chosen Secretary of the Kent Conservative party, and he is a good one. There is no doubt but that the duties of the office will be attended to. A good man in the right place.

THE PLANET JUNIOR

With to-day's issue a new and very interesting feature is added to The Big Saturday Planet. The Planet Junior is published for our little folks and will be conducted on lines selected especially to please, edify and entertain them. The editor of The Planet Junior will at all times appreciate any suggestions or counsel from parents or friends, whose interest in the enterprise is solicited.

THE CAR SHOPS.

Don't lose sight of the enterprise of bringing the Pere-Marquette car shops to Chatham. Everybody knows it will be a fine thing for our town. There's no question on that point. Show General Manager Carpenter and the railroad officials that we are in earnest, and mean business; that we are a wide-awake and hustling community; that we are developing our town industrially—and rapidly. That is the kind of place that these gentlemen want for their car shops that's the kind of community they like to deal with.

Why not send a citizens' committee to wait upon them?

THE MAN FOR KENT

The Ridgetown Dominion, alluding to The Planet's comments on the selection of a man of force and character as Liberal-Conservative candidate for this constituency, says:— "After extending congratulations to the newly-elected officers of the West Kent Liberal-Conservative Association, and calling on the party generally to second their efforts in all that pertains to the work of organization, The Chatham Planet speaks well and wisely on the choice of a candidate. "And let the Dominion add, such must be the man to win any riding in which the political parties are evenly balanced. No matter how good the cause, it must be championed by a man worthy of it. Such a man can surely be found in the ranks of West Kent Conservatism, ready and willing to answer the call of duty to party and country."

TO IMPROVE THE TOWN.

A few suggestions to Chathamites as to how to build up their town: Praise it. Talk about it. Trade at home. Write about it. Be public spirited. Tell of its business men. Take a home pride in it. Remember it is your home. Tell of its natural advantages. Tell of its own business resources. Try to induce others to trade here. When strangers come to town use them well. Look ahead of self when all the town is considered. Don't call your best citizens frauds and impostors. Support your local institutions that benefit your town. Help your public officers to do the most good for the most people. Don't forget that you live off the people here, and should help others as they help you. Respect every good citizen in your town, and if there are any others try and make them good. If your tax is increased a dollar by improvement, remember your property is benefitted many times this sum.

Once again, this is the 477th day of the North Renfrew vacancy.

It's about time for energetic Chathamites to start booming the Big Peninsular Exposition which opens here next week. It'll be a daisy.

The Western Ontario Conservative Association is to be congratulated on electing Mr. Philip H. Bowyer, the vigorous and clever editor of the Ridgetown Dominion, as their first vice-president. They could not have secured a better. Mr. Bowyer is a telling campaigner, a splendid speaker and a gentleman highly esteemed by all who know him.

That the Liberals of South Essex have got a bad scare in the nomination of Mr. E. C. Walker as Conservative candidate is evident from the piteous manner in which the Windsor Record and Amherstburg Echo beg him not to accept.

It is very satisfactory to see the Board of Works getting on the war-path at last. May the Property committee follow suit. The unfortunate pedestrian who attempts to patrol our thoroughfares these nights could write volumes on "Darkest Chatham" and its man-traps.

Two papers in one—The Planet and The Planet Junior. Your great home journal is growing some, isn't it?

This is the 477th day of the North Renfrew vacancy. One of the first things for Mr. Whitney to do when he comes into power in Ontario will be to enact a law introducing the British practice, whereby an election follows as a matter of routine at a fixed time after the occurrence of a vacancy. The disfranchisement of constituencies for party purpose, as practiced by the Ross Government, is bringing Ontario politics to the level of the methods of Spanish America.

SAME OLD DRUNK.

A man in Joplin, Mo., was arrested for being drunk last week, and as his trial was postponed he has thought out a novel defence. He claims that a man cannot be fined but once for the same offence, and also that he has been drunk continuously for the past thirty years, and has paid for this drunk once already. He was arrested about twelve years ago, and made this same defence, and it passed muster, so he has hopes of not having to start in all over again after a short term behind the bars, instead of in his customary position in front of them.

AFFORDING INFORMATION.

Bobsaygeon Independent. Those members at Ottawa must be taking too much water, for they do squander time asking the craziest kind of questions. Here is Mr. Talbot wanting to know the object of laying a cable between the Island of Orleans and the north shore of the St. Lawrence. As if he couldn't understand it was to keep the Island from floating away.

They Saw the Point.

A primary teacher was conducting a class in fractions. One-third was being given special attention, and many imaginary articles had been divided. Still some of the pupils did not quite understand. "Suppose," said the teacher, "Cora should find a nest with six eggs in it and while taking them to the house should break two of them, what part of her eggs would she break?" A little girl with bright eyes and brown curls wriggled her hand so vigorously that she was given permission to speak and confidently replied: "She would break the shells." A merry peal of laughter broke from the children, showing that they appreciated the point made.

SLEEPLESS BABIES

When a little one is sleepless and cross it is the surest sign in the world that it is suffering from some derangement of the stomach and bowels—the seat of nine-tenths of all baby ailments. In cases of this kind Baby's Own Tablets act like magic. They sweeten the sour little stomach, relax the distended little bowels, cool the parched, fevered mouth, and bring natural, health-giving sleep. An experienced mother, Mrs. Ed. Godin, Griffith, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for many ailments peculiar to babyhood, such as fevers, indigestion, diarrhoea, etc., and I have found them the most effective medicine I have ever tried. I can only add I would not be without them in the house, so much do I think of them." Other mothers who wish health for their little ones cannot do better than follow Mrs. Godin's example. You can get the Tablets from all medicine dealers or they will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHANGE BABY'S DIET AT ONCE.—The persistent and even regular feeding of babies with foods that lack the necessary nutritive elements of mother's milk and that tax the weak powers of digestion, will induce sickness and suffering. If your baby is not thriving, change its diet at once. Give it Lactated Food, that delicious, invigorating food that the baby relishes at the first feeding. Lactated Food has saved thousands of weak and sickly children in the past. Mrs. R. J. Kirk, Duncannon, Ont., says:—"We have a baby six months old who was greatly benefited by the use of Lactated Food. He was very thin, and scarcely grew any till we commenced giving him Lactated Food; he now weighs twenty-five pounds, and is very bright and lively." All Druggists.

When you travel in city streets you may be said to be traveling in the same old ruts, nothing new.

Have you noticed that the conversation of Chathamites just now consists chiefly of light talk. The language used is certainly very enough.

Why are the electric street lamps not lighted any more? A little light on this subject is wanted, but more light on the streets would be preferred.

It pains me to do it, but I must point out to the Board of Works the condition of the city streets. It is even more painful, if that is possible, to have to cross them—the streets, not the Board of Works.

Perhaps the Property Committee could secure the lights from a couple of hundred chickens and place them around the city in lieu of the electric lamps. The citizens would never know the difference, and the change would be cheaper.

The citizens of Chatham are engaged in compiling a work entitled "In darkest Chatham, or a thousand reasons why Thompson should get that $400." The language used is not found in the best standard dictionaries.

The only thing Cold about that fine military musical organization that visited here this week is in its name. The "Midstream Guards' Band" is the warmest and best band I have ever heard. I know that they will be highly flattered when they see this.

I have heard of uncrowned kings, but I have seen uncrowned high-jays. Anybody in Chatham can see them. The Maple City streets have not been properly scraped this year, and this, should be done after the summer rains end and before the fall rains begin.

With a view to putting everything to a good use, we suggest that a few Chatham football players be appointed a delegation to go over to Macedonia and get next to all the latest Turkish atrocities. Football is going to be more scientific than ever this year.

XVI. Then said Archimedeo, he that is foxy, "Thou art young and filled with folly, even as a five cent smoke is filled with the substance of a cabbage."

XVII. "Them guys in Detroit is to the bad. Each hath a hole in his hands which needeth silver and fine gold for to fill. It are written that this folly be forgot. Let the race be at the Tecumseh Park which lieth across the creek."

XVIII. Then did Fredbrisco smile. For he knoweth house percentages and the guile that is in men.

XIX. And Archimedeo, who was one of the wise men and held a place in the councils of the tribe, said, "How shall we know what mass of gold and silver shall be offered to see this thing?"

XX. Then spake John, son of White, saying, "I will agree to give, even unto the Home of the Friendless, all this gold and silver and five silver pieces of the size of a buck, provided George, son of Mussen do likewise."

XXI. And it was well.

XXII. Then did they take counsel that they would meet on Tecumseh Park and silver pieces would be gathered from the people there assembled.

XXIII. Then spake David, son of Russell, saying, "I can beat John, son of White or George, son of Mussen, and beat them fell sore for gold and for price."

XXIV. And one spake saying, "I am Gordon, son of Martin, and I would have speech with thee, oh runner."

XXV. But the men of speed mocked saying, "To the tall pines for thee."

XXVI. Then Gordon, he of many words, waxed exceeding wrath and said, "Even as I have said before, if say now, and I dispute the right of anyone to fight with words. I alone am thus exalted."

XXVII. Then a certain man arose by the name of Dunn, and spake the name of a man who dwelleth in Michigan.

XXVIII. And the name was as a hissing and a scorn and even Martin, the man of words, mocked, saying, "oh, fudge."

XXIX. But Archimedeo, who is a friend to all and loveth them for their votes, grieved, saying:

XXX. "For they have gathered at the house of Merrill, the publican, for to speak these things, nothing shall come of it, woe, woe."

XXXI. And they departed thence.

MAURICE BEST CURED

Dyspepsia Kept Him in Misery For Years—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Indigestion and Dyspepsia have become such common complaints that most people accept their aches and pains as a matter of course. They do not stop to realize to what terrible suffering they lead unless promptly checked and cured. The story of Maurice Best, of Southern Harbor, Nfld., should be a warning to them. "In 1892 I was attacked by Dyspepsia," says Mr. Best. "It gradually got worse, till I was in continual misery. Sometimes I would go off in a faint and for ten or fifteen minutes I would be more dead than alive."

"I took doctors' advice and prescriptions, but thought they gave me a little help, they failed to cure me. Then I started to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills. The first two boxes gave me new life and a further use of them made me a new man."

"I confess I owe my life to Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Your case may not be as bad as that of Maurice Best. But if they saved his life how sure it is they will cure your aches, pains and discomforts."

OF THE RACE OF LIFE

PREACHER POINTS OUT THE FOLLY OF MAKING FAULTS START.

THE PATHFINDER'S JOURNEY.

The Young Man's Safeguard Will Be Found in the Bible—Welcome Opportunity Comes to Those Who Attend to Their Daily Business—Reward of True Service—Duty to Employers.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1903, by William Bailey, of Toronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—In this discourse the preacher emphasizes the importance of a definite aim at the outset of a career and points out the folly of "the wrong start," which must end in ultimate disappointment or ruin. The text is II. Samuel xviii., 22, "Wherefore wilt thou run, my son?"

Every great movement inevitably finds its crystallization in the personality of one or more leaders. Soon after Oliver Cromwell died the Old Ironsides melted away. The monarchical throne was again established. The son of a forsaken ruler was crowned in Westminster Abbey as Charles II. When Harold the last of the Saxon Kings, fell at Hastings, William the Conqueror became the undisputed claimant of the English throne, and the Norman dynasty was established. When Robespierre and Marat and Danton died, the "reign of terror" ceased. "Mob anarchy" had to bend the knee at the shrine of "established law." When Prince Absalom, brilliant mentally and handsome physically, but depraved morally, the unscrupulous leader of all the insurrectionists of David's kingdom, died, at once his followers were scattered, and the national upheaval which threatened to demolish his father's throne was stifled.

No sooner was this tragedy over than General Joab, the commander of the royal forces, wished to send the news to the anxious King. He wanted to do as other generals have done before and since his time. Commodore Perry, after his great victory on Lake Erie, sent to the President this significant message: "We have met the enemy and they are ours." So General Joab turned to one of his young men, Cushai by name, and in tones of authority said: "Go tell the King what thou hast seen. And Cushai bowed himself unto Joab and ran."

Hardly was this command given and the messenger on his way when a stalwart young soldier approached the general. He was a physical athlete. His chest was broad and deep, his eye clear and quick. The muscles of his sinewy limbs were moving in perfect action under the covering of his skin. His name was Ahimaaz. He was the son of Zadok. He was a young fellow of intense energy. He first saluted the commander in military fashion, and then said, "Let me, I pray thee, run after Cushai." General Joab looked at the young man in surprise. He then asked this pertinent question: "Wherefore wilt thou run, my son, seeing thou hast no tidings to bear? Why, Cushai will tell the King all he wants to know. All that you can do is to get out of breath, and run and run and run and run, and yet accomplish nothing. But the young man would listen to no reason. He again begged the commander to let him run. Then, General Joab, impatient to get rid of the persistent suppliant, sharply replied, "Run." And Ahimaaz ran. His race was foolish, because it was without an object, unless it was to outstrip Cushai, the authorized messenger, as the bearer of evil tidings. In such a race there could be no prize worth the winning, no goal but disappointment, no recognition of energy. He ran as thousands of young men do, who, leaving their proper post of duty, come in eager haste to our large cities, neither knowing nor caring for what purpose they are entering the race of life.

Ahimaaz of the twentieth century, clear as the head chested, it is very important that you get the right start. The stronger you are mentally and physically the more important it is that you direct your energies aright. The swifter the locomotive's velocity the more essential it is that it be under the charge of a skillful engineer, for it is to have a good straight track and to be equipped with a safety brake. The longer the carrying range of a rifle the greater necessity of having the barrel aimed straight before the marksman places his forefinger upon the hair trigger. Therefore the object of this discourse is to tell young men not only how they are to start, but also how they may have an overruling providence to guide them when they start.

Life, in the first place, can be aptly compared to a pioneer's journey across the American continent, where no white man's foot ever trod before. It will be a "Pathfinder's" journey, because there will always be strange and unknown mountains to climb and freshets to cross and deserts to pass over. Thousands to explore, avoid, and "dark continents" to explore. Although millions and billions of human beings have lived, there is not one of all those multitudes who has had just the same dangers to face as have you and I. Each man as an individual must become free thinking and free acting. He must decide his own course. No other can place himself in exactly his position.

I was never more impressed with this fact than in my relationship with my father. I did not believe that a man and his son ever lived closer together than did my father and I for over twenty years. But, though I entered the same profession and was his constant companion, yet I found out that when a crisis came in my life I had to decide it by the supreme court of my own intellect, and not with him. I would always ask his advice. He would gladly give me that advice. But he would always end up his advice with these words: Now, my boy, remember that you must decide this question in your own way. Every man knows his own business best, and no man can rightly decide for another. Young men, you are going to meet temptations and dangers which only your eye can see and only your ear can hear. It is absolutely essential that you have a moral code by which you can be able to discern quickly right from wrong. You should have a spiritual compass which will tell you how to steer clear of the concealed reefs and the jagged rock of sin as the mariner protects himself against the destruction of the sea by chart and magnetic needle. It should be to you spiritually what is a compass to the explorer in the darkness of a South American jungle.

If this fact be true—and it is true—where can a better moral code be found than that written between the covers of the Holy Bible? Where is there a book which can better inspire one to tell the truth and be honest in his financial dealings? Where is there one that will better build up such a character as will make the banker trust the man's note and employers feel that his hand is honest and not that of a thief?

Granting, then, that each hearer sitting before me has accepted the Bible as his guide against temptation, the next great step forward in the right start in life is for every young man to take the first honorable position which he can get, and not wait for what he wants and cannot get. Likes and dislikes may be very important factors in a young man's decision when he has two or three different positions offered to him. But in most cases when a young man does not have a choice. When he leaves school or college a single opportunity arises generally in a very humble sphere. Then he must take that and go ahead with full faith in something to arise.

God never calls a man to what he cannot get. Bishop Potter, I think it was, once made this very wise saying: "Our best thoughts are those which seek us and not those which we seek." God's opportunities in the same way are those which seek us when we are at work. Christ called to Peter and Andrew when they were laboring at their nets. Our best opportunities are not those after which we are running around, neglecting the pressing duties at hand. They are the horny hands of toil which if necessary are just as willing to firmly grip the handle of a plow as to wield a pen or unsheath a glittering sword. God's messengers of temporal and spiritual success sometimes appear attired in the rough garments of a laborer instead of being covered with the white robes of a coronation. When Abraham sat at the door of his tent and welcomed the three dust stained travelers he thought they were common men. When the guests left they revealed themselves as angelic ambassadors.

Russell Conwell's greatest lecture is founded upon this idea. His "Acres of Diamonds" draws its inspiration from an eastern legend. An oriental farmer was one day shown a beautiful diamond by a passing traveler. In order to find such a diamond this farmer sold his farm and went forth on an endless search. He sought it through youth and middle age and far into old age. Like the Wandering Jew, he had no home. He was constantly on the move. Finally, after many years of fruitless search, he returned to the home of his childhood. There he found that the Golconda mines were upon his former property. There were literally "acres of diamonds" under his feet. So young men turn their backs upon their best opportunities in the hope of finding greater ones far off. Young men about to start in life, take what you can get. Grasp the position which is nearest at hand and fill it. Cease to dream about air castles and get down in the mud and dirt and build foundations of solid stone and mortar. Do not do as Ahimaaz did. Run no foolish race when you have no message to carry and your business is to stay at home and clean camp.

Advice the next: After you have accepted the honest position make your employer's interest your interest. "What shall I do that shall benefit myself?" is the maxim of failure. "What shall I do that shall benefit my employer?" is the maxim of success. Success does not always, as a bee, fly in a straight line for its hive. Success, like an Australian boomerang, nearly always goes in a circle. When a man serves his employer best, then he will find that the best rewards shall be placed at his own door.

True service always brings its right reward. This fact was well illustrated in a conversation I had with one of the most distinguished ministers of the world now living. One day he placed his hand upon my shoulder and said, "Frank, the best way to attract the attention of the world to your worth is to fill to the best of your ability the position to which God has called you." For some years I was very much dissatisfied with a church in which at that time I was laboring. I felt I could not do myself justice in that field. I wrote to John L. Withrow, the pastor of the Park Street church of Boston, asking him if he would help me to another pulpit. Dr. Withrow wrote back this letter, which changed the whole course of my life: "My dear brother, I am very sorry to hear that you are not happy amid your present surroundings, but, to tell the truth, I never heard of you before in all my life. Perhaps you may be a young man of inestimable genius, but the way to prove this is to charge the whole course of my life: the world is to serve your present charge so well that your light will shine forth to other localities. Then there will be no need of looking for another pulpit. Other churches will then be seeking you instead of you seeking them." Grand advice! Out, as grand as any ever given by a

SKIN DISEASES.

INVARIABLY DUE TO POOR AND WATERY BLOOD.

Pimples, Blisters, Boils and Ugly Rashes Easily Cleared From the Blood.

From the Advocate, Exeter, Ont. All diseases of the skin and complexion are caused by bad blood. Pimples, blotches, and open sores, itching eczema and burning erysipelas—all these blemishes come from bad blood. A bad skin is a sure sign of bad blood—thin blood, watery blood, blood poisoned with impurities. You can't have a healthy, clear skin till you make your blood pure and rich with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are a sure and speedy cure for all skin diseases, for agonizing eczema or bothersome little pimples—for a bad complexion or ugly open ulcers. No claim is ever made for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not backed by the most positive proof, and in this connection we offer the testimonial of Mrs. Nicholas McAvoy, a life-long and much esteemed resident of Exeter, Ont. To a reporter of the Advocate Mrs. McAvoy said:—"Some time ago I was taken with a slight itching under one of my arms. I gave it little attention at first, thinking it would pass away, but in this I was mistaken for as time went on it became worse and soon developed into a great deal of pain, irritation, and suffering.
