The Largest Afloat.

The largest steamers in commission are the four following: Leviathan—(Set by U. S. ex-Vaterland, German)—Net tonnage, 23,548; gross tonnage, 64,282; length over all, 297 feet; beam, 100 feet three inches; depth of hold, 58 feet 2 inches; steel quadruple steamer; four steam turbines; built at Hamburg, 1914, by Blohm and Voss.

American Presidents.

President Wilson is the twenty-seventh person who has occupied the presidential chair of the United States of America, and the tenth to be elected twice. The others who have served two terms are Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe—the author of the famous Monroe Doctrine—Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland—the "reign" of an intervening president—and Roosevelt, the last-named, however, having first been elected vice president, and stepping into the presidential chair by the assassination of McKinley. Only one has died a natural death during his period of office—namely, the first, President Harrison, in the year 1841. But three Presidents have been assassinated—Lincoln, April 14th, 1865; Garfield, September 19th, 1882; and McKinley, September 14th, 1901, in each case it is probable their assassins were of unsound mind.

Considering the fact that the United States has kept practically an open door for a century and more to all comers, and that people of almost every nation on earth have settled there, many of them—such as Scandinavians, Germans, Italians—counted by millions, it is a surprising fact that only two Presidents have borne other than British surnames. These are both Dutch, Van Buren and Roosevelt. It goes to show how essentially Anglo-Saxon the American stock continues, in spite of the great intermixture of peoples. In fact, most of the names have been very common ones, most of the presidents men of the people.

Things Worth Knowing.

FROISSART'S TOWN—In Valenciennes, allied war correspondents have found themselves in the town which proudly owns Jean Froissart, the chronicler, as its son. Battles, tournaments, feuds and all the motley scenes of medieval life were subjects for Froissart's pen. The Prince of Chronicles was, in more modern parlance, the Prince of War Correspondents. He certainly possessed qualities which produce good journalism. "I had," he says himself, "sense, memory, good remembrance of everything, and an intellect clear and keen to seize upon the facts which I could learn."

THREE ADMIRALS—Admiral Keyes

of the Dover Patrol, who landed at Oat the other day, was present at the siege of Peking in 1900. He was then a Lieutenant and Naval A.D.C. to General Sir Alfred Gaselee, commandant of the British force, and in that capacity took part in the famous march to the relief of the Legations. The British were the first to effect an entrance to the Chinese capital, which they did by the watergate under the city wall. Besides Admiral Keyes, there were present two naval officers whose names have become famous during the war just ended: Admirals Jellicoe and Beatty.

AN ARCTIC FLOWER GARDEN—A flower garden in Spitzbergen sounds like an anomaly, Spitzbergen being within the Arctic Circle. A party of British travelers, struck with the beauty of a plateau, called it the Flower Garden ever after. It was in the thirties of last century, and the name of Sir Martin Conway. Landing in midsummer, on one of the islands by Dickson Bay, they were impressed with the deep water, clear crystal, the marvelous wealth of seaweed, the splendor of a great glacier and the sharp blue peaks of the mountains separating glacier from glacier while in another direction, over the vent Point, coiled wreaths of vapour clouds. Added to it all was a carpet of flowers: anemones, saxifrage, and such as the Flower Garden was called after.

For Xmas, a Sterling Gramophone Cabinet Phonograph. Regular $65.00 value for $35.00, and 10-inch Records free. RYAN SUPPLY CO.—nov30,18

Two Sets of Children

By RUTH CAMERON. It is possible to treat children with a grown-up consideration, to try to get their viewpoint, to respect their individuality, — a man still not make a fuss in his own home, and overbearing? I once had very decided notions on that subject. I am not quite so sure now. I am thinking of two sets of children.

One set are the best behaved I ever saw, never intrude, absolutely obedient, yet full of life and individuality, perfectly normal, wholesome, happy boys and girls.

Believe Like That of a Trained Dog. I have seen something of their parents' methods with these children. They demand not only obedience but instant obedience that is almost that of a trained dog. When they are not an errand of any sort done they say "please" or "thank you" to the children. They do not "berate" them. They often give emphatic but apparently unnecessary negative admonitions the youngsters have set their hearts upon.

All of which is entirely contrary to my theories. The other set of children are treated with courtesy by their father (I do not meet their mother). He says "excuse me" if he interrupts them, never says "please" and "thank you" to the children mind. That is exactly my theory of the way a child should be treated. And yet his children, though bright and amusing, are very fresh, very intrusive children.

What Would Have Happened? It is merely a matter of the child's temperament? If the two sets of children had been swapped about, would the two kinds of discipline still have had the same results? I started to write because that is the way I believe in and because I like to hear other parents talk to their children, whereas I feel a distaste when I hear the other parents issue their royal commands in their "do this and do that" way. (A fine way for a centurion to speak to those under him, no doubt.

minities of last century, and the portrait of Sir Martin Conway. Land in midsummer, on one of the islands by Dickson Bay, they were pressed with the deep water, clear crystal, the marvelous wealth of seaweed, the splendor of a great glacier and the sharp blue peaks of the mountains separating glacier from glacier while in another direction, over Advent Point, coiled wreaths of ragged clouds. Added to it all was a carpet of flowers: anemones, saxifrage, and daisies; so the Flower Garden was a beautiful sight.

Two Sets of Children.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Is it possible to treat children with a grown-up consideration, to try to get their viewpoint, to respect their individuality, and still not make them bumptious and overbearing? I once had very decided notions on that subject. I am not quite so sure now. I am thinking of sets of children.

but not the way to speak to one's own children.) Not Honest. And then I thought of the result and I knew it was not honest to praise the theory without telling the whole story. So instead I am passing it along to you. Tell me from your experience pater and mater families, must one be stern and impatient with children to keep them within bounds? Or can it be done in a more friendly, courteous way?

Milady's Boudoir To eat too heartily is to ruin the digestion, not perhaps in youth, but as the years pass and every organ grows a little less able to do its appointed duty. Perhaps this may be called the one especial fault of women generally; they eat too heartily and take too little exercise. Still, there will always exist the difference when it comes proper exercise between the busy housewife who is on her feet most of the time and she who has almost nothing to do in that way but is compelled to walk abroad for the proper amount.

What Would Have Happened? It is merely a matter of the child's temperament. If the two sets of children had been swapped about the two kinds of discipline still they had the same results? I am inclined to write praising the second set's way because that is the way I like to hear of and because I like to hear of a child's parents who are not too distant when I hear the parents issue their royal commands in their "do this and do that" way. (A fine way for a century or so under those under him, no doubt,

THE DEAD RETURN. Hear us, oh, glorious dead! Come from the valleys of pain! Rise from the fields of the slain! Come, share in the feast that we spread. For you died not in vain. The doubt of your last hours is past. The tyrant is vanquished at last! We have broken and shattered his line. We have silenced each cannon and mine. And now the war's thundering dies. Our anthems of victory rise. Join us, oh, glorious dead. In all our exciting to-day. Come share in our laughter and play. 'Twas for this that you suffered and died. 'Twas for this that you gave life away. By your lance and your sword as you fell. In those mad days of shrapnel and shell. We pledged to be true to the end. We swore that your cause we'd defend. Now come from your fields of the slain. And know that you died not in vain. Send us our glorious dead. Oh, God, for an hour, for a day! Let them come that were taken away. The paths of the living to tread— To hear what the living would say. Open their eyes; let them see This world from the tyrant set free. Let them know, as in silence they slept. That our pledges to them have been kept. Lord, send them to us once again. Just to know that they did not in vain. Young turnips are delicious in cream dressing. Cook and dress just as new potatoes. Keep a magnet somewhere near your sewing basket; it is handy for picking up needles. Yellow is the only color that should ever be considered for an entirely sunless room. To remove dust from velvet or plush sprinkle salt over it and remove with a stiff brush.

The Yellow Peril

Thinking that possibly the Chinese residing in the city might know something about the recent rumors to the effect that many Chinamen were to be imported here to be used as cheap labor, the Telegram reporter conducted some investigations Tuesday night, and in the course of these, elicited a very interesting and strange story. The proprietor of a laundry on one of the back streets, declared that he had certain knowledge that "the plan was formulated before the 500,000 Chinamen left their homes to labor in France for the duration of the war."—namely, that when the war ended, they were to be distributed around the British Dominions and Colonies to be used as cheap labor in those countries. When the laborers were required for France, secret agents of the British War Office were posted throughout China, for the purpose of spreading this news, and every Chinaman that left that country to labor in France, did so knowing that when the war was concluded, they were to be posted in the Dominions, and that no head tax or other dues were to be levied on them. German agents and spies were also at work in China, endeavoring to persuade the Chinese not to go to France, but rather to leave for Germany, and to become pro-German in sentiment and action. In fact, a great many did go to Germany, and no less than six ships, taking Chinamen to France, were sunk by bombs placed in them before sailing. Our informant received Chinese papers regularly, and so is well posted up in the news of his native country. Also, a couple of his countrymen who arrived here not long ago, gave him the latest facts. From one of these we gleaned interesting information which we withhold until the signing of peace. According to these Chinamen, the number to come to this country is ten thousand, and the first batch will arrive next Spring. The work they will engage in is general labor, while many of them are skilled tradesmen who can take responsible jobs. It was also declared that several thousand are to participate in the fishery, merchants here to supply them. They will work for very little remuneration, with the consequence that the local fishermen will be out-competed and eventually ruined. Our informant stated that but a few of them would engage in the laundry business, the present number of these being sufficient for the city's requirements. Many of them will work as sailors, and in fact they will take all kinds of jobs. The plans of the promoters and organizers of the gigantic scheme provide for the complete disruption of all labor unions in the country. This will be accomplished by various means, a few of which we learned. Several other Chinamen in the city gave us further information, the substance of which is that local labor in Newfoundland had just as well leave the country once and for all, for having received an insight into the ghastly scheme, we cannot see how anybody can stand against it or its designs. We will continue our investigations, and will publish the result of them later.

POOR ME.

Soon I shall hear the soldiers' deeds they've done; how they have dared the shot and shell, and how before them Prussians fell—and I have bagged not one! I soon shall see the hero here, with port and front of Mars, the man who knew no craven fear when prodded with a lance or spear—and I can show no scars! The man who, sated the vasty deep will tell strange tales to me; and I shall feel so dad-blamed cheap I'm likely to break down and weep—I have not crossed the sea! The airman soon will with us tread, their voices will resound; they'll tell of triumphs overhead, and I'll be filled with grief and dread—I've never left the ground! Oh, weary days are coming soon, for men too fat to fight; a melancholy lay they'll moon as they sit out beneath the moon and weep through half the night. What if I bought a green thirt stamp and did without cigars? The man from battle-field and camp will on me urra a scornful lamp, and show his honored scars. What if I lived on Graham bread and cut out pie and cake? The man who piled up ricks of deal, and lost an arm, a leg or head, will say my boasts a fake. I've done my best; alas, alack, that it should be so small! for when the boys have journeyed back I know I'll want to hunt a crack, in which a gent may crawl.

A Hold Up.

As Mr. John Barnes was on his way home Tuesday night, he was confronted by a man of foreign appearance who pointed a revolver at him, and said, "We wanta kale. Hand out quick!" The tone was at once so menacing and commanding that Mr. Barnes was quick to comply with the blow that nearly knocked the gunman into the middle of next week. He was at a loss as to what he would do with him next, but was saved the trouble of deciding, as the foreigner suddenly jumped to his feet, and the speed he set as he lifted for Topsail broke all former records. Mr. Barnes holds the automatic not only as an indemnity, but also as a souvenir.

Wedding Bells.

DICKSON—BROWN.
A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. James Church, King's Cove, Friday, Nov. 29th, when Miss Elizabeth Charlotte Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dickson, of Clyde Bank, Scotland, and Mr. William Wilson Brown, ex-Private of the Royal Nfld. Regiment, of King's Cove, were united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony. Rev. S. A. Dawson performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by Mr. Samuel Brown, while the room was supported by Mr. Alpheus Brown, the bridesmaid being Miss Blanche Brown. The bride looked charming in a dress of white silk, bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. After the ceremony the party partook of a wedding breakfast at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brown, and toasts were given to bride and groom. The happy couple received many nice presents, and their many friends join in wishing them many years of happiness. King's Cove, Dec. 2, 1918.

Dangerous Walking.

It walking was dangerous yesterday and before, it is doubly so now, as with the snow covering the ice, one cannot see which portion of the street to avoid. There were numerous accidents this morning, and it was a rarer sight to see young ladies and gentlemen walking than to see them sliding, so slippery was the snow-covered ice. Citizens would do a really Samaritan act would they sprinkle ashes or cinders on the sidewalk in front of their houses, and the Water Street, business men could also do likewise.

Our Wonderful Army.

How All The World Wars in France. Never before in their lives have the French peasants had so marvellous an object lesson in "living geography" as now meets their eyes in their war-torn villages. There are black men and yellow men, red men and brown men, and white men. Strange are the scenes around the camp fires at night, when the Scottish lads match their national dances with those of Moorish and Tunisian tribesmen and when the Cockney mouth organ vies with wild reeds and pipes of Pathan and Sikh, Garhwali and Gurkha. Before the Front is reached, the Labour Battalions are to be seen. Here are Kafirs, Basutos and Chinese—the stalwart fellows who, in the critical hour, threw down their picks and shovels and took up rifles under General Carey to help stem a dangerous onrush of the Hunnish hordes. Among the dock labourers and roadmakers are Red Indians from Ontario, Saskatchewan, and the Far West of the United States. The French Colonial Army alone represents all the Moslem and Pagan races of Africa; there are Spahis and Zouaves from Algeria and Tunis, Moors and Berbers of the Great Atlas—men of magnificent physique and dash. There are tribesmen of the Niger and far Timbuctoo; coal-black giants from Senegal and the Congo, as well as very little slant-eyed fellows from Annam, Cambodia, and Indo-China. Our own Army includes aboriginal Maoris of New Zealand; there are Dutch-speaking Boers in the South African contingent; and in the Canadian forces you will find Poles and Swedes, Russians and Red Indians. Well may the German Emperor bewail the "world of enemies" arrayed against him.

Imaginary Lines.

In President Wilson's "fourteen points" there is more than one reference to the restoration of frontiers. We who know no other "frontier" than the sea scarcely realise what vague things the frontiers of other countries can be. It is possible in Europe to stand with the right foot in one country and the left foot in another. We are all waiting the moment when the Allies step over the boundary into Germany. A few miles west of Metz, on the slopes that saw the hard fighting of the battle of Gravelotte in August, 1870, the frontier between France and Germany wiggles in a broken line across unenclosed fields. It is only marked here and there by posts. A little beyond the frontier, on the German side, the Allies will find huge green mounds—the soldiers' graves of 1870. One of the most remarkable boundaries in the world by the way, is that between Alaska and Canada. The line follows the meridian without the slightest deviation, regardless of mountains, swamps, and forests, and monuments, some of which are 5ft. shafts of aluminium-bronze, weighing 300lb., set in 2,000lb. of concrete, have been set up at points visible from each other over the whole 600 miles length of the boundary. Overheard by the Way.

"Say, Bill, what do you think of the Election rumors?"

"What rumors do you mean, Jim?"

"Why, ain't you heard that Lord Morris is coming back to lead a party?"

"You don't say! Who would have thought it? He with a barony and all to come back here again?"

"That's what they say," said Jim.

"Well, well. Bill do you think he will stand any chance?"

"Not he," retorted Jim. "As for me, I wish they could let Sir Robert Bond come out as premier. He's the man for us, boy."

"What about our present Premier, then?" asked his cronies.

"Oh, he's away all the time, and sure he ain't no good to us if he's away."

"True for you," muttered the other; "but then there are some others. What you got to say about them?"

"I got no faith in them either, they are all time servers, so some of the

The Boy's Revenge.

About a week ago, a gentleman had occasion to give a young boy who had been impertinent to him a "cuff" in the ear. Subsequently the youngster informed his chums, with the result that as the man was on his way to tea last night, he was ambushed by a squad of boys, every one of whom was armed with sticks and goodly sized stones. By the time they had finished with him, the man was a complete wreck, being minus a hat and collar, and plus numerous bruises about the body. We understand he intends reporting the happening to the police, as he knew the ringleader of the gang.

The Orkney Islands.

Just over a thousand years ago, there was much stir in the waters round the Orkney Islands; much going and coming of strange high-prowed ships; sudden setting forth, in the first dawn of many boats filled with armed men, and then, after many weeks or maybe months, equally sudden returnings with the spoils of victory. For the Orkneys of those days were noted, far and wide, throughout the northern seas, as the stronghold of the Norse pirates, the Vikings, or "creek dwellers." The Orkneys provided them with all the creeks they needed; a hundred narrow channels, too through which pursuit, by those who did not know every inch of the way was almost impossible; landlock ed waters, like Scapa Flow, in which ships could ride at anchor in complete security, even when "sou-wester" was churning up the Pentland firth; and islands, islets, and rocks aplenty round which a boat could elude pursuit.

Now, the lie of the land and sea is always much the same in the offer. It makes for this purpose or that. The site for the city, the port, or the stronghold has always remained obvious through the centuries. So the Orkneys, which the Vikings found so well adapted, in the Ninth Century, as the headquarters for their raids over the North Sea, from Iceland to the northern coasts of France, and from Norway to Ireland, the British Government found well adapted, in the Twentieth, for the greatest patrol work which the world has ever seen, over practically the same waters. Moreover, when the question arose as to inland water large enough and secure enough to intern a great fleet of warships, the British Government naturally bethought itself of Scapa Flow, in the Orkneys, around which, although little has been told about it, there has been built up, during the last four years a world of activity of which the Viking never dreamed.

It is a question, however, whether the Orkneys are more talked about even to-day, than they were in the Viking days, especially in those days, toward the end of the Ninth Century, when the depredations of the Norse pirates, from their stronghold in the northern isles, were fast becoming intolerable and Harald Haarfager, King of Norway, determined to put an end to them once and for all.

The story of it is as thus. Previous to Harald's day, Norway had been split up into various little kingdoms. Sometimes one king would be more powerful than others and would annex some smaller neighbors, but these annexations was never permanent, and the tendency always was toward a splitting up again into component parts. Harald, however, ascended the throne of his kingdom in southern Norway with the initial advantage of not having any brothers to provide for. He inherited the whole of his kingdom, and when he had firmly established himself, commenced enlarging his borders. This he did with such success that, ultimately, the whole of southern Norway came under his rule. Nowhere did he meet with any serious resistance, until he attempted to attack the famous Vikings, whose strongholds were in the islands off the western coast. Here, however he was confronted by a strong confederation. The western Vikings had, during many years, grown rich and powerful from their piratical raids on Britain, and knowing Harald's determination to put down piracy, they opposed him with all their might. Harald, however, was determined to make an end. It was impossible to attack them by land, and three years elapsed before he was able to gather together sufficient ships to carry through his great enterprise. But, at length, everything was ready, and in the great sea battle of Hafsford, in 872 A.D., he completely overcame the western Vikings, and with this victory all opposition in Norway was at an end.

From the western islands his ships then sailed across the North Sea to the Orkneys, and victory once again was his. The Viking hordes were driven out, forced to take refuge in Iceland and the Orkneys and their neighboring group, the Shetlands, became an appanage of the Norwegian crown. They remained under the rule of Norse earls until 1231. In that year the earldom of Caithness was granted to Magnus, second son of the Earl of Angus, whom the King of Norway apparently confirmed in the title. Then, in 1468, came the last notable change in the history of the islands, when the Orkneys and the Shetlands were pledged by Christian II of Denmark for the payment of the dowry of his daughter Margaret, betrothed to James III. of Scotland. The money was never paid, and the connection of the islands with the crown of Scotland became perpetual.

In the days before the war, the Orkneys and the Shetlands seldom obtruded themselves on public notice, save on the one occasion of a general election. Then everybody was sure to hear of the difficulties of electing in this strange constituency; and of how the two candidates went from island to island under all sorts of untoward conditions, to lay their views before the electors. "Orkney and Shetland," moreover, always lags behind in the matter of making its views public, for, in a general election, the returns from this constituency are never known until fully two weeks after the result in every other constituency in the United Kingdom has been recorded.—Christian Science Monitor.

Porto Rico has completed the shipment of 120,000 glasses—about 31 tons—of guava jelly to the Red Cross in France to be distributed among the hospitals. The jelly was made by the Porto Rico Chapter of the American Red Cross and sent to France as a contribution from Porto Rico. Last year the Island Red Cross made and sent to France about twelve tons of guava jelly, and it was so greatly appreciated that Charles Hartzell, Chairman of the Porto Rico Chapter, recently received a cable from the National Red Cross Headquarters at Washington saying that the supply in France was all gone and asking if any more was available. Ten thousand cases of jelly which the Red Cross had ready for shipment to France recently were sunk at the pier in New York.

According to an Army doctor, writing in the London Lancet, a British sailor in the Canadian Army, now in the Military Hospital at Aldershot, cannot feel pain, cold or heat, has no sense of taste or smell, does not know what fatigue means and is apparently without any emotions, affections or dislikes. More than once the doctor has seen him hold a burning match against the skin of his arm for 10 or 15 seconds and then unconcernedly pick off the charred epidermis. Blows on the head with a poker, the plunging of the fingers in hot water, the placing of highly seasoned substances in the mouth do not trouble him in the least. He has been without physical feeling since he had the yellow fever at the age of 17.

Fourteen million dollars worth of opium purchased by the Chinese Government from foreign opium merchants at Shanghai, is to be destroyed by the Chinese legation. The opium, which is packed in 1,200 chests, will be burned at Shanghai under a mandate soon to be issued by the President of China, the despatch said: "Because of the strict prohibition by China against shipping any opium into the interior provinces, the merchants had not been able to dispose of it. In view of the possible menace from this large stock remaining in the hands of unscrupulous foreign dealers, to the welfare of the Chinese people, who had heroically got rid of the opium habit in less than a decade, the Chinese Government some time ago bought it with a view to keeping control over it and using it gradually for medicinal purposes, but public opinion in China unanimously demanded its destruction so as to do away with the evil once for all."

French Army Enters Germany.

Amalgamation of Cable Companies -- How the Czar of Russia Was Killed--Germans Leave Aeroplanes as They Retreat.

9.00 A. M.

GOVERNMENT WILL HOLD RAILWAYS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. President Wilson has no immediate intention of returning the railroads under Government control to private ownership, but intends to wait a reasonable time for Congress to formulate and present some future policy.

WITHOUT INCIDENT.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN GERMANY, Dec. 4.—The Tenth French Army, on its way to the Rhine and Mayence, has crossed the German frontier of 1870, occupying the Valley of the Sarre. The advance into German territory has been without incident, and appears likely to be carried out in perfect order and quiet. The population of the districts, thus far reached, appears to be more astonished than downcast, and those that come into direct contact with them, French officers and men, show more politeness than displeasure. The Imperial functionaries, still in charge, receive the French military authorities with coolness, but without rudeness. Town and country life are proceeding, to all appearances, undisturbed by the momentous historical incident.

CABLE COMPANIES AMALGAMATED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. Amalgamation of the Marine Cable System of the Western Union Telegraph Company and Commercial Cable Company, under the direction of George G. Ward, Vice-President of the Commercial Cable Company, was authorized to-day by Postmaster General Burleson. The amalgamation was announced in the following letter from Mr. Burleson to Clarence H. MacKay, President of the Commercial Cable Co. at New York: "The interests of the public service during the present emergency, necessitate the unification in operation, to the fullest extent possible, the cable systems leading from this country to Europe, so that the fullest capacity of all the cables may be made available to the public and press. It is manifest that this can only be accomplished through the operation of the two systems under one management. I have made a survey of the situation, and am satisfied that the object sought can best be accomplished by placing the cables with the operating head of the Commercial Cable Co. I therefore direct, as far as I am authorized by the joint resolution of Congress, under which the cable systems are now controlled by the Government of the United States, that Mr. George G. Ward, Vice-President of the Commercial Cable Company and who, I understand, has direct charge of your cable system, assume the management and operation of both the Commercial Cable system and the cable system operated by the Western Union Telegraph Company. I trust that I will have the hearty co-operation of the officials of both Companies in carrying out these directions. I am sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Ward, also to Mr. Newcomb Carlton, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company."

FLEET FOR TRANSPORT.

PARIS, Dec. 4. The ten American dreadnoughts which will escort President Wilson to French waters, will turn about immediately after their arrival to carry homeward a large party of American soldiers and sailors. The trip will be so timed that the men will arrive at a home port by Christmas. The operation will constitute one of the most extensive movements of battleships, for transport purposes, ever undertaken. The fleet will reach Brest about Dec. 11, and it will probably be possible to complete the work of coaling and provisioning the ships, and embarking the troops, within three or four days. Vice Admiral Wilson, at Brest, is now making arrangements for the movement, and determining the transport capacity of each battleship, which at this time is less than usual, because of the regular crews having been increased, so that recruits might be trained. A large number of folding steel beds will be mounted between decks, however, thus making the extra transport capacity of the battleship fleet many thousands of men. Brest is already crowded with soldiers and sailors, awaiting the homeward trip and the accommodations of the city are being sorely taxed.

EARTHQUAKE CAUSES DAMAGE.

SANTIAGO, Dec. 4. An earthquake has occurred in Northern Chile, in the towns of Copiapo and Valparaiso, important damages were caused. In other localities damage of minor importance was done.

FRATERNAL AFFECTION.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4. Prince Henry of Prussia has addressed an announcement to all the members of the Prussian Royal House, according to the Kreuz Zeitung of Berlin, in which he says: "I am forced to recognize the King's abdication, and will assist in the policy for order and the constitutional government. But on the other hand, I consider myself personally attached to my King to the end of my life, and shall do everything to preserve him from harm, and shall recognize him absolutely as the sole family head."

SUNKEN SHIPS CAUSE TROUBLE.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4. As an instance of difficulties under which the fishermen of Nova Scotia are working this winter, says a Canada Food Board statement: "The loss of gear on the codfish banks by trawlers, catching their trawl nets on vessels sunk by German submarines last fall, may be cited. Many cases have occurred since fishing was resumed on the codfish banks of the Nova Scotia coast, and fishermen are very bitter, as while the sunken wrecks remain these banks will be impossible to fish. When trawls are lost in this way it means an amount of about $3,000. Despite this discouragement, however, Nova Scotia fishermen are endeavouring to increase production of codfish this winter. The Canada Food Board urges a greater consumption of this staple Canadian fish."

WILLIE'S GUSH.

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 4. The German Crown Prince's last proclamation announcing that his resignation from his command was necessitated by the Emperor's resignation, and thanking the troops for their heroism and self-sacrifice, is published to-day by the Taschliche Rundschau of Berlin. In this proclamation Frederick William who is now interned on the Island of Wieringen, having fled to Holland, says: "My army group is unvanquished by arms; hunger and bitter need conquered us. We can quit the soil of France proud, and with heads erect. Your shield, your honour as soldiers are unspotted. Deeply moved I separate from you, bending my head for your mighty exploits, exploits which history will relate to the coming generations with indelible characters. Be true to your leaders as before. God be with you and our Fatherland."

IT IS TO LAUGH.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4. Field Marshal Hindenburg has addressed a proclamation to his troops in which he says that the returning warriors will receive the thanks of the country for their more than four years work in a thousand battles in which they were unbeaten.

1.00 P. M.

BOLSHEVIK REGICIDES.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam, says the Kiev newspapers publish a story, given by the valet of the former Emperor of Russia, of the murder of the entire Romanoff dynasty by the Bolsheviks. According to this story, the once royal family was compelled to live in a single room of a convent at Ekaterinburg, for weeks before the murder, under guard of Bolshevik soldiers, who insulted them shamefully. The valet said in July, 1917, all the members of the family were taken to the cellar of the convent, and placed against the wall and shot one after the other. According to the story, the murderers granted the last request of the former Emperor Nicholas, that his wife, who was ill, should die in his arms.

REALISES HIS POSITION.

AMERONGEN, Holland, Dec. 3. (By the A.P.)—"I am a private citizen, and while in Holland will not make any statement whatever for publication." This was the former Emperor's message to the Associated Press correspondent, when he called at Count Von Bentinck's Castle again, to-day. The German General, acting as orderly, formerly Governor of Metz, brought the message direct from William Hohenzollern, who last evening was inclined to make a public declaration, but to-day changed his mind. The message continued: "You must fully realize my position. I am threatened on all sides with criminal charges, which if brought, I must face. Therefore, I must reserve any statement until charges are actually brought. Also I owe a certain loyalty to the present German Government, and cannot make a declaration which might compromise others." The correspondent required the General to ask the former Emperor, whether he would confirm the Crown Prince's assertion regarding the Kruger telegram, and the General brought back the answer, "The Crown Prince is absolutely correct in his facts. The telegram already written was laid before me for signature. I refused to sign it for three days, but finally did so under pressure of the German diplomats, and my political advisers, who advanced many reasons for sending the despatch. Of course having signed it, I take full responsibility." The former Emperor and Empress are leading a very quiet life.

THE LABRADOR BOUNDARY.

MONTREAL, Que., To-day. A despatch to the Gazette from Ottawa, says the task of determining the boundary line between Ungava, now a portion of the Province of Quebec, and that part of the Labrador Coast belonging to Newfoundland will be referred to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council, early next year.

RESTRICTED ARRANGEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. Conclusion of a trade arrangement between Holland and Associated Governments, whereby Holland will be allowed to import commodities under license, was announced to-day by the War Trade Board.

GRANDMA ENROUTE.

TOKIO, Dec. 4. (By the A.P.)—Madame Breshkovskaya, "Grandmother of the Russian revolution," arrived here to-day from Vladivostok, on her way to the United States. Madame Breshkovskaya said that on her visit to Washington she desired to meet President Wilson, to whom she will narrate the conditions in European Russia and Siberia.

PIECEMEAL SURRENDER.

LONDON, Dec. 4. There will be no formal surrender of German airplanes, as was at one time expected, because it has been found impracticable to assemble two thousand airplanes at one place, and it is doubtful whether Germany has a sufficient number of reliable pilots for that purpose. Hence, the first surrender, in history, of an air fleet, is being effected piecemeal. The Germans are shedding their wings in the course of retreat, on the advancing Allies are picking them up.

LATEST!

WILL GUARANTEE FUTURE PEACE

PARIS, To-day. (Havas)—Representatives of the Polish, Jugoslav, Rumanian and Czech-Slovak National Councils are in session here, to study the reorganization of Central Europe. Statements issued declare that only through these four nations can future peace be maintained.

CHINESE ENVOY ON WAY.

PEKIN, Dec. 2. Lu Chang Hsiang, former minister, who will head China's delegation at the Peace Conference at Versailles, left last night. He was accompanied by a party of fifteen.

WASHINGTON BONE DRY.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 3. Washington formally became a "bone dry" State at midnight, last night, with the issuance of a proclamation, by Governor Lister, announcing the passage at the November election of the prohibition referendum.

DON'T WANT HELIGOLAND.

LONDON, To-day. The British Naval authorities have decided that it will be unnecessary to demand the return of Heligoland to Great Britain from Germany. Winston Churchill, the Minister of Munitions, announced in a speech at Dundee last night. Mr. Churchill also said the Government has decided upon the Nationalization of the railways. "We enter the Peace Conference," said Mr. Churchill, during the course of his address, "with the determination that no limitation shall be imposed on our right to maintain our naval defence."

We do not intend, no matter what arguments and appeals are addressed to us, to lend ourselves in any way to any fettering restrictions, which will prevent the British navy maintaining its well tried and well deserved supremacy."

NOT SETTLED YET.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 4. The Chilean Consul General left to-day for Santiago, stating that his Government had advised him to take the archives with him. The boycott against Chilean vessels continues, forcing these which have brought cargoes to Peruvian ports to return home in ballast.

NEWFOUNDLAND REPATRIATED.

OTTAWA, Dec. 5. Infantry prisoner repatriated: W. A. Scott, Twillingate, Nfld.

TO RECEIVE WILSON

PARIS, To-day. It is stated in Vatican circles that Monsignor Gerotti, the Papal Under Secretary of State, will await the arrival of President Wilson in London, to arrange with him for his visit to the Pope, according to the Rome correspondent of the Echo de Paris.

GERMANY MUST HAVE KNOW.

NEW YORK, To-day. Berlin was to have been bombed by a squadron of eight to twelve super Handley Page and De Havilland airplanes, on the night of November 11th, the date of the signing of the armistice, according to a number of American aviators, who returned yesterday on the transport Lapland. According to the story of three aviators all plans had been made for dropping tons of T. N. T. on Berlin.

HIS DECLARATION.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4. Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian Premier, is reported to have privately declared himself ready to resign when the National Assembly has regulated the country's affairs according to a Munich despatch. Addressing the soldiers' and workmen's council, Premier Eisner declared the Bavarian Government was opposed to any idea of separation from Germany as a whole, the security of which he regarded as obtainable only by the creation of Federal State.

How To Avoid Being Run Down

While there has been much blame placed on the drivers of motor vehicles of all kinds during the dark nights for the number of accidents they cause, surely there is something to be said on the other side. What motorist or driver hasn't come across the pedestrian who starts to cross the road without troubling to see if it is clear? This class of people also start dodging wildly in front of the way, instead of getting quietly out of the way. Pedestrians should bear in mind that drivers of horses or motor vehicles are no more anxious to run over them than they are to be run over.

Two Holidays.

Many people are saying that, as the war has come to a successful conclusion, we should have greater facilities of celebration this Xmas; in other words, instead of having one holiday there should be two. We consider this request right and proper, and if the right way to apply for it is adopted, we have no doubt but that the Importers' Association will grant the extra holiday.

Prophetic Insolence.

(From the Westminster Gazette). Nothing, meanwhile, is lacking in the dramatic climax of this hour. One by one the arch-criminals of 1914 are swept from the scene and today the Kaiser and his son are fugitives in Holland. The downfall of William II. is one of those events which speak with a voice of thunder and make the spinning of words about them a mere futility. So ends the great pagan and mediæval adventure in the heart of mod-ern Europe, and it is now for all the nations to see that it is last of its kind. There is at this moment no one so poor as to do reverence to this fallen monarch; his claims, his trappings, his shining armour, and his mailed feet are like faded tinsel from a discarded theatrical wardrobe.

Eight Wonder Of The World.

To fully realize the wondrous beauty of the Zambesi Falls, Rhodesia, one must have time to linger and watch the ever-changing scene. The depths of the chasm below are veiled from sight by the rising columns of opalescent mist, and above the yawning abyss the sun glints and sparkles, weaving the drops into a magnificent rainbow. Three hundred feet below roars and boils the swirling flood as it surges from the gorge into the Pool, rushing on down the zig-zag between towering cliffs of rock, narrow fierce, and of unfathomable depth.

W. F. Lloyd vs. Commercial Cable Co. In this case the Government claim $112,000 taxes from the Company. Mr. Morine, K.C., is heard for the Crown. Mr. Howley, K.C., for the defendant.

Concert in Kilbride Hall.

A most enjoyable entertainment was held last evening in Kilbride Hall by a number of city friends in aid of the New Church Fund, the performers being Misses Forsy, Flander, Walsh and Green, and Messrs. Wiseman, Hodder, Power, O'Brien, Morrissey and Doyle. A programme of songs, choruses and dances was rendered, ending with the comic sketch "The Tables Turned". Mr. Gus Hodder acted as accompanist during the evening. An enjoyable social was held till midnight, refreshments being served and vocal selections rendered. The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most enjoyable evenings spent in the parish for a long time.

A Good Joke.

A good joke comes from a resident of one of our back streets. It appears that he and his family had retired for the night, when suddenly they heard an awful ruck at the door. It's putting it mild to say that they were scared. As the noise continued, the man got up and armed with the poker made his way to the porch door. Opening it a little he beheld a sight that almost knocked him down, for there outside was his own dog, of the crackle breed, and round its neck was a tin pall with a couple links of chain fastened to it. Presumably some mischievous boys had so dressed the dog, and it was the dog's request for admission and relief that had aroused such fear in its master's household.

Changes at G. P. O.

Big changes have been made in the General Post Office, and henceforth, instead of being tied down to one specific position, every clerk will have an opportunity of getting an insight into every department of the system. It is expected that this change will work well and that better results will accrue.

Dog Attacks Girl.

Last night as a young lady was walking home by way of Cabot Street a large dog sprang at her and seized her dress. Her screams attracted some of the passers-by who immediately came to her assistance and beat off the animal by a blow on its head. The girl was very much frightened but otherwise uninjured. It is plain to us that we have too many of these dogs in our city and the authorities should take a hand in the matter and get rid of them.

Soldiers Fight

Last night while two soldiers of the 1918 class were walking up New Street in company with a sergeant, another soldier, a constable, accosted them and called them conscripts. At first they took no notice, but as he repeated it the young lady walk on and the sergeant rushed in and gave the sulter a swinging cut on the side of the head. This was but the prelude to a soon both pairs of fists came into play. It was evident that the fight would have ended badly had it not for the military police who arrived and separated the opposi-

The Epidemic.

There was an increase in the patients admitted to Grenfell Hospital yesterday. Two Russian seamen were admitted and likewise three sailors of the schr. Rambler. One patient Miss Elizabeth Martin, died yesterday afternoon. All the patients are doing well. Several were discharged today. The following messages were received by Dr. Fraser yesterday:
From W. A. Oke, Hr. Grace—Five more houses placarded for smallpox at Island Cove since Saturday, and one in Bryant's Cove.
From Dr. Fisher, Curling—Rev. Fr. Callan reports several cases of influenza at Middle Arm. One family at Penguin Arm wholly destitute and all down with the disease. The mother yesterday was lying in the house, dead, and Rev. Fr. Callan says food and medical help are needed at once.

NOTE OF THANKS—Mrs. Thomas Mayson wishes on behalf of her family to offer sincere thanks to all those kind friends, whose sympathy and help went far to relieve the sorrow that is felt at the loss of a kind husband and father. To the Rev. Frs. Sheehan and St. John, for their unremitting assistance to him under many difficulties; to Mrs. M. White and other neighbors, who helped in every possible way. To the employees of the Newfoundland Clothing Factory and Miss Sadie Barrett, who very thoughtfully sent beautiful wreaths to adorn the casket, and many other kind friends who did everything possible to alleviate the great sorrow of the family. Such acts of kindness shall never be forgotten.—adv

Forger Sentenced

John J. O'Brien, an ex-soldier, was before court yesterday afternoon. The accused had found a blank cheque and immediately thought of getting a little money, accordingly he filled the form for $200.00 in the name of a prominent business man. This done he went to a Water Street store, paid a debt of $16.00 owing there, bought a watch and chain valued at $37.50 and likewise 2 pairs of child's boots and some other articles. The cheque was passed into the bank yesterday morning when the forgery was discovered. The police were acquainted and Detective Sergeant Byrne later arrested the man. At the time of arrest the accused had about $75.00 on his person. He was sentenced to a year's imprisonment by Judge Morris.

Klark-Urban Co.

The Klark-Urban Co. presented the four-act comedy-drama "The Little Girl that God Forgot," last evening. The heroine of the story has a most difficult task to keep her sister in the right way, and only by the generosity of the owner is she freed from suspected implication in a necklace robbery. The actors in their different parts sustained their roles well, and that the production was pleasing was evidenced by the amount of laughter and applause. The house was filled to its seating capacity and those who did not attend may see the same play to-night. The C.C.C. band rendered excellent music. Friday and Saturday the farce comedy entitled "Seven Days" will be presented.

In Pitiable Condition.

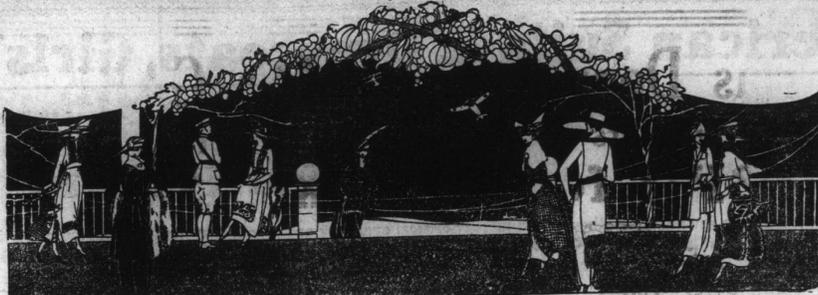

The attention of the authorities is called to the destitute condition of an aged woman, Mrs. Mary Rogers, No. 1 Feehan's Range, off Sheehan's Shute. This old woman lives by herself, and being confined to her bed by sickness, has neither food nor fire. For more than a week she has been in this condition, and unless aid is rendered very quickly, it will come too late, and another tragedy be added to the altogether too long list.

Elevator Accident.

Yesterday the cable which works the elevator at Baird's store broke. At the time the elevator was going up and on it were two casks of fish and also two men. Fortunately the elevator was only about two feet from the floor at the time of the accident, and so the men escaped injury beyond a little shaking up.

Getting Married.

A Complicated Business for Canadians.

When a Canadian soldier wishes to marry a girl in England, he does a bit of asking first, of course, he asks the girl if she will have him; then her father or mother, or someone else in authority, if he can have her; and finally his commanding officer, if they can have one another. All else being favourable to the proposed union, the decision rests with the soldier's commanding officer. Without his permission the marriage cannot take place, and before the permission can be granted the C.O. requires to be fully informed. To be quite candid, he becomes very "nosey" indeed.

And Quite Right, Too.

"Jennie, you and I understand one another, and I'm perfectly well aware that you're a born angel; but that blithering C.O. of mine, who is a fit candidate for Bedlam, he wants—Jennie—er—well, could you let me have a certificate, signed by a clergyman, as to your—er—morals, my dear girl."

Ghastly! But it has to be done. The C.O. must be in the possession

Bishop White Lectures

Last night a very interesting lecture was given by His Lordship Bishop White, to the boxholders of Field Hall, Cavendish Square. The subject of his discourse was "I am among you one that serveth," and in a very interesting manner presented his views for three-quarters of an hour. After home to his listeners the former truth that serving other people is the happiest life one can live. His lectures are to be given, during the winter, by Rev. Dr. Jones, Canon and Rev. Mr. Moulton. The lectures of Field Hall (the Hotel of the Field College), are well attended, and with interest to the lectures of gentlemen mentioned.

Greatly Needed Rescue Home

The report from the Police states that there have been 123 passed over to the Salvation Army Rescue Home in the last three months. Added to this the number of children from other sources, makes the total 123.

We have received the following letter from one who knows the most thoroughly:—

Commandant Ogilvie, Salvation Army, Dear Madam—I am in receipt of your note of this morning in relation to your rescue work in St. John's, and am extremely pleased to hear that your Army Headquarters, Toronto, who, I understand, have charge of initiating the campaign to raise funds for a new building, which, in my opinion, is imperative necessity.

I have had the pleasure of Mr. F. C. Alward, Manager of Continental Life Insurance Company, Toronto, who, I understand, has charge of initiating the campaign.

In my official position during the past four years I have been close touch with some phases of work accomplished by your Rescue Home, and I am gratified to have the opportunity to be in any way contributing, even to a limited extent, a temporary home for the homeless, but unfortunate creature, otherwise would, in nearly every case, have been without shelter and the tendency necessary to the most a most critical period in their lives.

Last year I had to deal with more or more of such cases, and during the year some seventeen girls were similarly circumstanced.

A few of these cases have come under the personal notice of His Excellency, Governor Harris, who, in his last, communicated with me on the subject, expressing great sympathy with these unfortunate creatures in the condition in which they were placed and offering me monetary aid to procure shelter and attendance for them, as they were coming to their rescue.

You have my full sympathy and support in your present campaign to raise the necessary funds for the enlargement of your Rescue Home. I sincerely hope your efforts will be crowned with success.

I have the honour to be, Madam, Your obedient servant, F. J. MORSE, Judge Central District Court.

In addition to the subscription reported, W. B. Grieve, Esq., of the office of Baine Johnson & Co., and Geo. Knowling, Ltd., have each given $1,000.00.

Recovering From Injuries

Mr. Michael Nolan, moulder, who so severely burned by the overturning of a ladle of molten metal at the solidated Foundry, that he was confined to his home for nearly two weeks, is now almost quite recovered, and will resume work shortly. Nolan's accident was a painful one, the metal overturning in a deep boiler and splattered in all directions. The clothes were completely burned off one side of Mr. Nolan's body, and that he escaped serious injuries was fortunate.

Sneak Thief.

We have been informed that a sneak thief has started his work again. This time the thief, of Circular Road are the victims of rubber shoes and other small articles of apparel being stolen from the porches to their great inconvenience. When caught, the thief should be severely dealt with that others may dread to take up similar work.

Recovering From Injury

Mr. Michael Nolan, moulder, who was severely burned by the overturning of a ladle of molten metal at the solidated Foundry, that he has confined to his home for several weeks, is now almost quite recovered and will resume work shortly. Nolan's accident was a painful one, the metal splattering in all directions and it was lucky that other workers were not injured. The clothes were completely burned off one side of Mr. Nolan's body, and that he escaped serious injuries was fortunate.

Sneak Thief

We have been informed that a sneak thief has started his work again. This time the thief was seen at Circular Road and other small rubber shoes and other small articles of apparel being great in number. When caught, the thief should be severely dealt with that others be deterred to take up similar work.

Change Islands Notes.

Spanish influenza has been raging here during the past three weeks, but only one death has occurred, although about two hundred cases have been treated by Dr. Smith. Too much praise cannot be given our genial doctor, who has been untiring in his efforts to check the disease in his extensive practice.

A message was received last week stating the death of Cadet Walter Scammell, of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Scammell, Walter, who had intended studying for Holy Orders at Durham, England, laid aside his plans, considering his duty lay in the struggle for Right and Liberty, and enlisted in August, 1916. He saw service in France where he was wounded. Later, he was recommended for a commission and went to Cambridge University, where he contracted influenza followed by pneumonia. His death which occurred on the day when Peace was declared, is a heavy blow to his family to whom we offer our deepest sympathy.

We are glad to welcome Rev. Heber Gosse who was elevated to the Priesthood last month, and who arrived by the Clyde to resume his duties at St. Margaret's. Rev. Gosse left on Sunday for Gander Bay.

The Churches and Schools are all closed owing to the epidemic, and if we are permitted a suggestion, we think the Health Authorities might also close the stores at night.

Mrs. F. C. Kimberley (nee Miss Mina Earle), whose husband is Overseas with the Canadian Field Artillery, is spending the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Earle.

Mr. T. H. Scammell who has been visiting his parents returned to St. John's by Dundee.

Miss Perry, the Methodist Assistant Teacher, went home to Indian Islands by Clyde to await the opening of her school.

Mr. W. T. Torrance and family migrated to Gander Bay on Sunday, where they will spend the winter in their cosy bungalow.

Messrs. F. C. and W. H. Earle who have been suffering from "Flu" are now recovering and will soon be out again.

Our Postmistress and Telegraph Operator, Miss Mina Coker, has been seriously ill of influenza, but is now we are glad to hear, on the mend. During her illness, Mrs. Kimberley obligingly filled her place.

Mr. Harry Roberts who has been in the employ of the Reid Nfld. Co., arrived by Clyde to take a position in his father's business.

We are glad to see our old friend, Capt. Forsey, again. We understand he is about ready to leave for Spain.

We were sorry to learn of the death from influenza of Miss Janet Waterman, of this place, telegraph operator at Horwood. We deeply sympathize with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waterman, whose whole family has been stricken with the disease.

Business is more than usually brisk in this flourishing little town, which, owing to the high prices paid for fish, we understand St. John's merchants term, "the fish market of the world."

We extend our sympathy to Mr. Joseph Peckford, whose wife died at St. John's recently.

Many influenza sufferers are grateful to Rev. A. T. and Mrs. Wilkinson for their helpfulness. Mrs. Wilkinson, who is a trained nurse, has acted the good Samaritan to many.

With all the world, we rejoice that Peace, for which our boys have so bravely fought, has come at last, and we hope that before many weeks have elapsed we may welcome the lads who were willing to sacrifice themselves that the weak might be protected.

GOD SAVE THE KING.
Change Islands, Nov. 25, 1918. P.M.

Took Time.

People would do well to be on their guard when a certain smooth-tongued book-agent, canvassing the town at present, presents himself to do business. A day or two ago, he was shown into the reception room of a certain house to wait until the mistress of the house put in her appearance. When she did at last arrive in the room, the agent had disappeared, and so had a very valuable silver-mounted clock which had rested on the mantelpiece. The lady has heard nothing since of either agent or clock, and it looks as if she will never regain her lost time.

Camp Upton in the United States is still under influenza quarantine; but, although warnings were given at city ticket windows and on the trains that no one without a special pass would be admitted to the camp, 1,000 persons went there recently. They were quarantined in an open field, where they had to stay all the afternoon.
