CHAPTER XX.

"My lord," she said, with a dark, bright flash of her eye that reminded him of Jaquetta, "you have no right to ask that question!"

"Perhaps not, but I fancy there has been little love lost on your side, and that you are very glad to be rid of me."

"Ah," she said, with a half smile, "did I not say your masculine vanity would be wounded? Confess, now, it would be balm of Gilead for you to see me shedding floods of tears, and bemoaning like a tragic heroine my hard fate."

"No, I hope I am not quite so selfish. Since we must part, I am glad you mind it so little—yes, I am!" he said, trying hard to convince himself he spoke the truth.

"Thank you! And now, my lord, let me ask you a question—do you intend remaining for the present in England?"

"Yes, I rather think so. I am tired of rambling."

"That is well. I want to go abroad and travel for a year or two on the Continent; and if you were going, I should remain where I am. So, when Mrs. Tremain and Emily leave next month, I shall go with them."

"But you are sure your father will make no objections to this overthrow of all his plans?"

"No; on the contrary, I am quite sure he will object, but I think I can persuade him to let me do as I please. One thing I dread, and that is, what the world will say. I am mortified to death to think papa made this unfortunate engagement known."

"It would be better, perhaps, had he not; but the world shall know how it is—that I am a rejected lover. I shall then have the consolation of being pitied by bright eyes and rosy lips without number."

She smiled—but her smile was as faint and cold as a moonbeam on snow, and she arched, to signify that their interview was at an end.

"You will excuse me, my lord; my head aches, and I am unable to entertain you just now. As this is probably the last time we will see each other alone, I will bid you good-by."

since to-night, as betrothed lovers, we part forever.

She held out her hand. He took it in both of his, and looked sadly in her face. It was strange, now that the desire of his heart was attained, how lonely and grieved he felt.

"It is a hard word to say, Norma, and harder still to think you and I must henceforth meet as strangers."

"You may think so to-night. Tomorrow you will rejoice."

"Well, be it so. Farewell, Norma."

"Adieu, my lord."

"Oh, Norma! not that. Say 'Alfred, as you used to, Tang syc.'" "Good-by, Alfred. Heaven send you some one you can love, and who will love you."

"A wish, Norma, that will never be fulfilled; but I thank you all the same. And so—"

He shook hands, and, with a last look at the pale, fair face, and tall, graceful figure, he turned, and left her alone.

And so was broken the tie that was to bind those two through life.

It was in a strange state of mind Lord Earncliffe hurried along to rejoin his friend, Pleasure and regret, and he entered the room where Lord Austrey lay stretched on a sofa, sojourned himself with a cigar and the last Punch, he flung himself into a chair, and looked half moodily at the nonchalant young lord.

"Well, my beloved Demon, what news? What terrific mystery in fatality has been brought to light? In what state of mind did you leave her peerless highness, Princess Norma?"

"Hadn't you better go on with the catechism? Ask a few more questions before you stop. What is the chief end of man? What do the Scriptures principally teach? Go on, why don't you?"

"Pshaw! what was this mysterious interview all about? If the question is impertinent don't answer it."

"Oh, I will answer it readily enough! It is something you will be very glad to hear. Her peerless highness has rejected the slave, and you behold before you a discarded suitor."

Lord Austrey half arose, and took his cigar between his finger and thumb.

"Eh? What? Just say that again, will you?"

Disbrowe laughed.

"I am discarded, rejected, refused, jilted! Is that plain enough to suit your limited capacity, my young friend?"

Up sprang Lord Austrey to his feet, and, flinging away his cigar, he stretched out his arm, and putting on that enthusiastic expression all Othelloes wear, exultingly cried:

"Excellent wench! perdition catch my soul! But I do love thee; and when I love thee not, Chaos is come again!"

"What's the rest, Barncliffe? I haven't seen Othello played lately. Devotee take that cigar! I have burned my fingers."

"What a loss you are to the stage, Austrey! If nature had not made you a British peer, you would have been a treasure beyond price, to do the high tragedy business. Have you ever turned your thoughts to the stage as the means of earning an honest living?"

"Bah! don't talk nonsense! I want to hear all the particulars. Are you really, and truly, and seriously jilted?"

CHAPTER XXII.

Three days after, Lord Earncliffe went back to Disbrowe Park, leaving his friend in London—a constant visitor at Tremain House. Whatever Miss Macdonald felt, she had enough of the pride of Albion's stately daughter to conceal; and she rode, and walked, and drove, and went to the theatre and the opera nightly; and Lord Austrey was always of their party. His distant relationship to the Tremains stood him in good stead now, and he took care not to be too particular in his attentions, but to be quite as devoted to Emily Tremain as to Norma Macdonald. He left it to time to ripen their acquaintance to a warmer feeling. And Lord George acted wisely. A handsome face and figure, and gallant bearing, seldom fail to please ladies; and Lord George could be agreeable, not to say fascinating even, when he chose. Miss Macdonald might have the bad taste to be insensible to his manifold attractions just at present, while the wound her first love had received was still rankling; but there was a good time coming, and Lord George, being none of your fiery mad-headed lovers, was quite content to wait, and console himself with the maxim: "Mieux vaut tard que jamais."

And at the end of the month, having given himself an invitation to join their party, which Emily Tremain—who called him "Cousin George," and considered him delightful—had warmly seconded, they all set off together for France. Norma, too, was not displeased at this new acquisition to their party; for Lord George was an unfailing antidote against ennui and depression of spirits, keeping Emily Tremain especially, who had a strong natural taste for the ludicrous, in fits of laughter continually.

Just before starting, Lord George sent an epistle, rather of the short and sweet order, to his friend, to announce his success:

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba.—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and my friends always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me in other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine, and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back aches so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. J. H. King, Box 56, Crandall, Manitoba.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

When a family supply of really home-made cough remedy is prepared, and serves about 25.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help try this reliable and home-made cough remedy. Any drug-store can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 10-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

WAR AT AN END.

MUKDEN, Oct. 24. The ending of the war with the Chinese Central Government was officially announced in a communication issued at the headquarters of Chang Tsoo Lin here at 3 o'clock this evening.

WU YEI DISMISSED.

PEKING, Oct. 24. President Tsao Kuo issued a proclamation at 8 o'clock this morning ordering the immediate cessation of hostilities and dismissing Wu Pei Fu, commander of the Peking military forces from his present post.

AIMS TO RE-ESTABLISH PEACE.

PEKING, Oct. 24. Feng Yu Hsiang, the Christian General, was in control of the machinery of the Central Government of China today, after a spectacular surprise military movement yesterday, when his army returned here from the north and took possession of the administrative offices of the regime under the banner of which he was supposed to be fighting. His announcement called upon all compatriots to join with the forces of General Feng in re-establishing peace, reassembling all elements, especially foreigners, there would be no disorder anywhere.

DRY MAJORITY OF 35,000 EXPECTED.

TORONTO, Oct. 24. A campaign for nation wide prohibition will be the immediate result of the plebiscite in Ontario yesterday, when the existing prohibition legislation was upheld. This is the policy of the "Dry" as enunciated early this morning by Rev. Ben Spence, the leader of the Dominion Prohibition Union, who said "A Canada free from the blight of booze is our ideal. The tide of battle has turned. We will not only regain the Western Provinces to the dry county, but we will press forward unitedly for complete national prohibition." Officials of the Moderation League who conducted the campaign for the free sale of liquor under government control, commented on the decreased majority for prohibition. The result in 1919 was a "dry" majority of 36,000. I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., President of the Moderation League, said, "the majority is too slight. There has been a turnover and in view of the fact that the cities have turned down the Ontario Temperance Act it will be impossible to enforce it." Cyril D. Baver, Secretary of the Moderation League, said "a system of local option will be necessary, otherwise rural districts will dictate to the cities. There has been a big change in public opinion." Premier Ferguson, leader of the Provincial Government, declined to comment on the Government's policy in view of the result.

LATEST RETURNS.

TORONTO, Oct. 24. The provincial summary at one p. m. of 6218 sub divisions out of 7332 give for the Ontario Temperance Act 519,962; for Government control, 483,038; majority, 36,924.

EARTH SHOCK IN ENGLAND.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 24. Severe earth tremors lasting four minutes were felt within a radius of 30 miles off here today. Although the buildings were badly shaken no damage was done. Among other places where this was felt was Wall-sall, Wednesbury and West Brom-wich.

PRINCE'S VISIT ENDS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. To-day marks the end of the visit of the Prince of Wales to the United States and Canada. Although the Olympic, the White Star liner, which is to take the royal visitor back to England, will not sail until one o'clock to-morrow morning, officials of the Line said they expect the Prince to board the vessel about three o'clock this afternoon. The Prince's expressed wish to dine with the rest of the passengers has been met, and he has selected a table for two in a secluded corner of the main dining room. It is on the starboard side adjacent to the ship's orchestra and alongside the space reserved for dancing. Adjacent tables have been taken by other members of the party. The American Red Cross announced last night that before he sails the Prince will be made a member of the Society.

SMITH AND JARVIS GUILTY.

TORONTO, Oct. 24. Peter Smith, former treasurer of the Province of Ontario, and Aemilius Jarvis, sr. head of the former Bond Brokerage firm of that name, were late this evening found guilty of conspiracy to defraud. Peter Smith was sentenced to serve three years in the Portmouth penitentiary, and Jarvis to serve six months in the county jail. Each was also fined $5,000. The other accused men, Aemilius Jarvis, Jr., and Harry Repall, both of the bond firm, were discharged. The theft charges against all four were also dismissed. An appeal will be entered both on behalf of Peter Smith and Aemilius Jarvis, Sr., against both the conviction and the sentence of the court. They were tried before Chief Justice Meredith and jury in the criminal assize court, City Hall commencing last Monday and ending at 5.45 o'clock this afternoon. Following the passing of sentence the convicted men were taken into custody and transferred to the county jail where they will remain until the case has been argued before the appeal court or until they have been admitted to bail pending decision. Application for bail will be made to Attorney General to-morrow.

SOVIET PROPAGANDA IN BRITAIN EXPOSED.

LONDON, Oct. 24. The British government again is in conflict with the Russian Soviet government on the question of propaganda, according to correspondence issued by the Foreign Office to-night for publication in to-morrow's papers. In a letter dated to-day, signed "in the absence of the Secretary of State," by one of the permanent officials of the Foreign Office, J. T. Gregory, and addressed to Christian Rakovsky, the Russian ambassador in London, attention is drawn to an accompanying copy of a letter received by the Central Committee of the British Communist party from M. Zinovieff, President of the Committee of the Communist Internationale, dated on August 15th. The letter, says the communication of Gregory, contains instructions to British subjects to work for the violent overthrow of existing institutions in this country and for the subversion of His Majesty's armed forces as a means to that end. "It is my duty to inform you that His Majesty's Government cannot allow this propaganda, and must regard it as direct interference from the outside in British domestic affairs." Mr. Gregory then proceeds to point out the intimate connection of the Communist Internationale with the Soviet government, and declares that no British Government will tolerate an arrangement with a foreign Government by which the latter, while in correct formal diplomatic relations, at the same time allows such propaganda to be disseminated and even order plotting and revolution. Such conduct, the letter of Mr. Gregory continues, is not only a grave departure from the rules of international comity, but a violation of the specific and solemn undertaking repeatedly given His Majesty's government.

"RED OCTOBER" RETURNS.

Petrograd, Oct. 24. After a tempestuous voyage the Soviet Russian transport "Red October" arrived here to-day from Wrangel Island with Chas. Wells, of Uplinton, Pa., of the expedition which Vilhjalmur Stefansson took to the island a year ago, and with twelve Eskimo members of the expedition who are American citizens.

DE VALERA ARRESTED IN ULSTER.

Newry, County Down, Ireland, Oct. 24.—Eamon De Valera, republican leader, was arrested here to-day by Ulster authorities. Mr. De Valera was arrested in the vestibule of the Town Hall before he entered the meeting which he would address. It was announced by the Irish Republican headquarters in Dublin, Tuesday, that Eamon de Valera intended to go to Newry in the Ulster area, to-day to address a political meeting there. Mr. De Valera was elected a member of the Ulster Parliament for County Down in 1921, but did not take his seat, and the Ulster Government some time ago forbade him from entering certain of the Ulster areas; one of them being County Down. It was forecast in Dublin early in the week that if the republican leader put in an appearance in County Down he would immediately be given notice to leave, and if he ignored such notice would be arrested. In addressing a meeting in Dublin on Wednesday night Mr. De Valera answered the challenge of the Northern Government to arrest him, if he crossed the border, recalling that he had been elected a representative for County Down and declaring no man worthy of the people could ignore that challenge.

is unknown early to-day. Returns are awaited from nearly a thousand polls in the country districts, and it was the county polls which reversed the wet vote of most of the cities and towns and asked for a continuance of existing provincial prohibition legislation. Unless there are some unexpected developments during the counting of the balance of the vote, the majority for Ontario Temperance Act is expected to be from twenty to twenty-five thousand in the total vote of nearly a million. The Act has been in force eight years and restricts the sale of intoxicants to Government Dispensaries on medical prescription. The women's vote, especially in the rural districts is generally considered the deciding factor in yesterday's balloting. The split in sentiment as between city dwellers and the farmer may produce a demand for some measure of local option. This possibility is indicated by the remarks of the Moderation League leaders' proponents.

SLAYS THREE PERSONS AND TAKES HIS OWN LIFE.

FLOODWOOD, Minn., Oct. 24. Because his wife sued him for divorce, John Ollila, a Farmer, living between Floodwood and Wright, shot and killed three persons and then ended his own life at Ollila Farm, yesterday.

TABLET TO ONLY MAYFLOWER RESIDENT OF BOSTON.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 24. A bronze tablet to the memory of Mary Chilton, the only Mayflower passenger to become a resident of Boston and who died here was dedicated yesterday in Spring Lane. The tablet was bolted to one of the tall buildings which front on the narrow passage way where, three hundred years ago flowed the great springs which supplied Boston with water.

LOSES HIS LIFE IN DISASTROUS DOCK FIRE.

ESCANADA, Mich., Oct. 24. George Ingram, a fireman for a contracting concern which was engaged in the task of raising the Chicago and Northwestern Railway at number three ore dock, was killed in a fire which early this morning had completely burned No. 3 and had obtained such headway on No. 4 dock that it was impossible to save any part of the later structure. The loss will total $125,000.

BANDITS PAY THE PRICE OF THEIR CRIMES.

MONTRÉAL, Oct. 24. Louis Morel, ex Montreal detective; Arcangelo Di Vincenzo, alias Tony Frank; Giuseppe Serafini, and Frank Gambino, four of the six men who were found guilty of the murder of Henri Cloutier, the chairman of the collection car of the Bank of Hochelaga, April 1st, last, paid the penalty for their crime a few minutes before five o'clock this morning, when they were hanged at Bordeaux Jail where they had been imprisoned since July 23. The four went to their death in Paris, Morel and Gambino being executed simultaneously on one scaffold, and Serafini and Frank on the other. Thus it is the dark hours that precede dawn, the last grim act of the drama which began when the conspirators plotted eight months ago to rob the car on Ontario Street and way and to let not even murder stand in their way, was performed with the accompaniment of all solemnity that befitted such an occasion. The condemned men passed the night in prayer and when the fatal hour approached all were resigned to their fate. At four o'clock this morning Masses were said in their cells by Father Pare and Father Mullin, of the Franciscan Order. The prayers ceased about 30 minutes after which the prisoners completed their preparations for death.

representative of the Japanese Government concerning the administration by Japan of the Pacific Ocean Islands under a mandate to Japan formed one of the features of the opening session to-day of the Permanent League of Nations Mandate Commission. The Commission will spend the next ten days in Geneva examining the reports presented by various Governments which have under their mandate former German Colonies and former Turkish territories like Palestine and Syria. The Marquis Theodoli of Italy, President of the Mandate Commission in a statement to the newspapers to-night laid emphasis on the determination of the Commission to obtain equitable and fair management of mandated lands. The Marquis declined to enter into a discussion of the terms of the Treaty of Versailles when the German correspondent raised the point that unless the mandate system was extended to all the world colonies, the German's people might get the impression that the mandate system was merely a disguised form of out and out annexation. The Marquis said the mandate system gave only a limited form of sovereignty to controlling countries and the Commission earnestly hoped that the good results achieved would be copied by the countries in their administration of territories known as colonies.

WHAT IS IT, YOU ASK?

The most modern and inexpensive heating appliance on the market. Thousands being sold throughout Canada and the United States.

HOW IS IT INSTALLED AND OPERATED?

In most cases can be installed in one day, causing no interruption or inconvenience in the house. It is placed in the basement immediately under the floor of the hall. It sends a flood of heat all up through the house, into every room and corner, and at the same time draws all the cold air back again from the house, heats it and sends it back into the house again. It is thus a circulating system, which re-heats the air four to five times an hour in an average house.

Supreme Court.

THE KING VS. JAMES WHITEFORD MCNEELY.

When the Court resumed the hearing in the above matter yesterday afternoon, Mr. B. Dunfield resumed his argument on the status of the Grand Jury. Some of the quotations he used were taken from authorities he procured at Halifax, and left them for the consideration of their Lordships.

Mr. Emerson who, with Mr. H. A. Winter, is Crown Counsel in the case, was heard in reply and intimated that he would briefly confine himself to the new points raised by Mr. Dunfield, as the others had been previously disposed of.

As to the matter of Terence Cooper serving on the jury when the summons was made out in the name of Francis Cooper, he had no doubt that this was merely a clerical error, as the names are so much alike that the mistake could easily have been made. The summons was served to the correct address and the other particulars of the man were correct. The same thing he thought applied in the matter of Wilbert Chancey.

In the matter of Edward Perez, Archdale S. Lewis and Joseph Perez it was evidently discovered after the list was compiled that these names were wrongly listed and the correction made; in all particulars, these men corresponded with the Jury list.

As to Thomas Jones, who is one of the Grand Jury, being ineligible because he is a customs officer, Mr. Emerson quoted authority to show that the fact of a juror summoned, being a civil servant was sufficient grounds for such a man claiming exemption from serving on such a jury, but in itself it is not sufficient to make him ineligible to serve. Mr. Emerson then went on to quote extracts dealing with the drawing of Grand and Petty Jurors and the procedure in the case of Special Juries. He then called Sheriff Blandford, who deposed that the cards have been kept in the usual place, since the drawing of the jury and no one has access to them outside of the sub-Sheriff and himself. The Grand Jury was drawn prior to the comparison made on Friday last, but the Juries in the Campbell and O'Reilly trials were drawn on Saturday and Monday last, respectively.

Mr. Emerson then went on to quote further authority in support of his case, after which Court adjourned until this morning.

Wedding Bells

PENNEY—PENNEY.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Gower St. Church on Wednesday, 22nd, at 3.30 p.m. when Mr. Arthur Penney of Seldom led to the altar Miss Annie Hazel Penney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Penney, also of Seldom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hammond Johnson, only the relatives of the contracting parties being present. The bride looked charming as she entered the church leaning on the arm of Mr. Heber Harnett of Bowring Bros. The bride, who was neatly attired in a beautiful dress of white Canton crepe with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern, was attended by her sister, Miss Dorcas Penney and Miss Ida Penney, sister of the groom, who wore pale blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Marshall Grey of this city. Little Miss Julia Noble acted as flower girl. Following the ceremony the happy pair motor-ed to Holyday's Studio, where a group of the wedding was taken. From there they proceeded to Smithville where a reception was held. Many valuable presents were received showing the esteem in which both parties were held. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaids gold pieces, flower girl silver bangles, and best man gold cuff links. After the honeymoon they will embark for Seldom, their future home.

MacDONALD—THORBURN.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Thomas's Church, on Wednesday, Oct. 22nd, when Miss S. MacDonald, youngest daughter of Mr. George A. MacDonald, was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony to Mr. Clinton R. Thorburn, the ceremony being performed by the Rector, Rev. J. B. Elliott. The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in a fawn costume with hat to match, and carried a sheaf of gold and brown Chrysanthemums looped with gold tulle. She was attended by her sister, Miss H. MacDonald, who wore a shot taffeta frock with velour hat. The groom was ably supported by R. Macklin. The presents received by the young couple were many and costly, among them being several cheques. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaid a gold bangle, and to the groomsmen a pocket book.

ACCUMULATION IN OILS.
Better Buying Than in Some Months Responsible for Movement Contrary to Remainder of List.

N.Y.—While general list of stocks has suffered considerable irregularity and reaction in past 10 days, oil securities have displayed firmness and, as a class, are at higher levels than a week or two ago.

This contrary movement from the remainder of the list can be attributed to accumulation in oil shares by good quarters, commission houses reporting better buying of oils than for some months past.

Several of the largest houses have received and executed substantial buying orders in oils in the last few days, stocks like Standard Oil of California, New Jersey, Texas Co. Marland, Phillips and a number of others being in good demand. A special buying movement has been apparent in Simms Petroleum in the last few days, with volume on Wednesday and Thursday exceeding 31,000 shares.

Another development in oil securities is the activity in Shell Union Oil common stock, in which over 21,000 shares were dealt in in two days. Company is about 72% owned by Royal Dutch-Shell and affiliated interests, and much of the activity in recent days has originated from London, which has been the principal buyer of the stock.

Among the unlisted oils, Prairie Oil and Gas at 21 1/2 Thursday was 18 points above last Friday's closing. Prairie Pipe, Vacuum Standard of Kansas, International Petroleum and Imperial Oil Ltd., were others showing improvement in price.

Better feeling on oils reflects recent developments within the trade, particularly the lifting of the Prairie Oil & Gas prorating order in the mid-continent district, which was induced by decided decline in production there. Mid-continent field and Oklahoma particularly, has been the main cause of continued high crude oil production this year. Recently flush pools there have been declining, and the mid-continent production is 4,000 barrels a day less now than the peak about five weeks ago. Of this, Oklahoma showed a drop of 35,000 barrels a day in that period.

Another development in oil was the official statement by Texas Co. that it earned full year's dividend of about $20,000,000 in first nine months, after making necessary adjustments in inventory values, had reduced bank loans by $9,000,000 and increased cash. This was a different picture than had been generally painted in Wall Street circles as to earnings of oil companies. While it is granted that fourth quarter results will not be as good, relatively, and reduction in gasoline prices will probably necessitate further inventory depreciation by most big companies, the fact that Texas earned the year's dividend in nine months was much better than generally expected.

People familiar with oil company earnings state that Texas is not the only company that can make a good showing. It is said that Standard Oil of New Jersey had, in the first half year, one of the best six months in its career. Standard Oil of New York is another whose earnings are reported as having been very good in the same period.

Fasting for Health

GOING WITHOUT FOOD OCCASIONALLY DOES YOU GOOD.

Fasting is one of the commonest means used throughout Nature for recovery from sickness. We see it practised by the domestic animals, which, when ill, turn aside from food and rigorously refuse to touch it.

To-day, this use of fasting for what to most people will appear an exceedingly long time is being prescribed by an increasing number of consulting physicians not merely to cure their patients of certain diseases but also as a means of keeping themselves in the best possible condition.

Probably you will open your eyes in amazement to learn that a distinguished physician in Harley Street, known to the writer, makes a practice of fasting for three consecutive days every three months and has done so for several years.

To this apparently stringent remedy he attributes, in great measure, the wonderful health he enjoys.

The way this doctor came to adopt what he regards as an exceedingly beneficial and valuable means of health has in it a touch of humour which makes it particularly interesting.

He was consulted by a stout, obviously overfed gentleman, who was suffering from a certain complaint. "What you have got to do," said the doctor, "is to fast for three days." "That's all very fine," he said, "but have you ever tried it?"

Having always been an exceedingly spare eater, the doctor had not tried it. He resolved, however, that never again would he be put in the position of answering such a question in the negative. He forthwith resolved to undertake a three days' fast that very week-end.

When Monday came, instead of feeling ill and weak, as might be supposed, the doctor felt very well indeed and did his work at home and at the hospital with such best and vigour that he astonished himself and everyone else!

When he broke his fast on Tuesday morning by eating a banana and drinking a cup of tea he felt as if he had fallen from grace, as he humorously expressed it.

Nowadays, when he practises his periodical fast, his sensations are much the same as they were then. On the first day he certainly notices a craving for food. During the second day this craving diminishes and leaves him with a feeling of resignation to his lot. The third day comes a sensation as of rejoicing and "feeling younger" which more than makes up for the discomfort of the first day.

In the ordinary routine of town life, this doctor believes, we are not

League's Use of Money Scored by Paris Weekly

PARIS, Sept. 30 (A.P.)—A Parisian weekly, L'Opinion, is criticizing the League of Nations for the high salaries it pays its employees. In office the yearly stipend of the medical director of the League, 51,709 Swiss francs ($10,200), and asks why he should receive a bonus in addition. Six thousand three hundred dollars a year to the bureau secretary also is cited by this paper, as are $48,000 spent in 1923 in entertaining; $126,000 in travelling expenses; $400,000 in spreading information abroad; and $322,000 in printing translations of League proceedings.

The article makes a special point of the fact that while the United States is not a member, and so provides nothing towards the cost of running the League, there are no less than 18 Americans drawing salaries as members of the secretariat.

Finally the article says that private secretaries to presidents of commissions and members of commissions receive $16 a day if they belong to other nations.

Airship Takes Its Place ON BATTLE LINES AT SEA.

For the first time in history an airship functioned as an essential unit in a naval war fleet when the giant navy air cruiser Shenandoah took part in the recent manoeuvres of the Atlantic Fleet off the New England coast. The most thrilling moment in the manoeuvres undoubtedly came when the great dirigible hovered over Narragansett Bay, then fastened her sively nose to the mooring mast that rose from the converted tanker Patoka to float safely at anchor.

Soon the Shenandoah will cross the United States to join in manoeuvres of the Pacific Coast. There also the Patoka will be her base.

The Shenandoah has proved beyond question, in the opinion of naval experts, the capabilities of the dirigible as a weapon of war. Meanwhile, though, conclusive demonstration of the effectiveness of this type of aircraft for commercial purposes is being given by the air-liner, ZR-3, built in Germany for the United States Government solely for peacetime use. For shortly after the manoeuvres of the Atlantic Fleet this great ship, having effected her trial trip successfully, crossed the Atlantic to this country successfully and in remarkably quick time.

New Movie Camera

TAKES 250 PICTURES A SECOND.

A new high speed motion-picture camera recently perfected in France is said to be capable of taking 250 pictures a second, or of making movies of a cannon ball in flight.

It is said to be constructed on principles entirely new to motion-picture machines. One of its unusual features is a flat mirror set in a socket that is attached to the camera lens in such a way that it can be turned at any angle. This mirror reflects images of the objects to be photographed, and is turned by the operator to follow the movements of objects, such as birds in flight. It is arranged with geometrical exactness so that the focus of the lens is always at a correct angle with the mirror.

M. Labrely, the inventor, believes the machine will catch details of swift movement that never before have been revealed in the movies.

Ontario Votes Dry
BY GREATLY REDUCED MAJORITY.

According to the despatches received last night the result of the Liquor plebiscite in Ontario is expected to give a majority of about 35,000 in favour of the Prohibition Act. The count so far received from 5,863 subdivisions out of 7,392 shows 477,324 in favour of the Ontario Temperance Act, and 447,157 for Government Control. An overwhelming vote in favour of the latter was polled in the cities. In view of the striking difference between the sentiment expressed in the urban and the country districts, it is anticipated that demands will be made for some measure of local option.

The remarkable change which has taken place in public opinion regarding this question is shown by a comparison of the results of the present ballot with that which was taken in 1919, when the Province was asked to vote for or against the continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act. (Reference is not made to the vote taken in 1921, because that was practically a referendum by the Federal Government on the question of importation of liquors by private individuals, and is not therefore analogous to the present plebiscite.)

On the question in 1919—“Are you in favor of the repeal of the O.T.A.” 370,248 votes were cast in the affirmative and 777,537 against. Two other questions, dealing with the sale of light wines and beers, were answered in the negative by a majority of approximately 350,000 votes. On a fourth question, dealing with government control such as is proposed in this year's ballot, the same number of votes were cast, but the majority against government control was about 240,000, whereas the majority against the abolition of the O.T.A. was 407,289. That is, nearly 70,000 people who opposed the repeal of the O.T.A. also voted for some system of government control.

Two questions only were asked in Thursday's plebiscite, namely, for the continuance of the O.T.A., or for the sale of beverages under Government control.

A summary of the respective results in 1919 and 1924 may more plainly indicate the change of sentiment that has occurred throughout the Province, and of the turnover that has taken place in Toronto.

THE PROVINCIAL VOTE.

For O. Against Majority	T.A.	For	Against
1919	777,537	370,248	407,289
1924 (Income)	477,324	447,157	39,167

TORONTO VOTE.

For O. Against Majority	T.A.	For	Against
1919	106,014	84,849	21,165
1924	82,559	129,332	46,773

In the vote taken in 1919, four towns only with populations between 5,000 and 4,000 decided against the Ontario Temperance Act. They were Fort William, Hamilton, Kitchener, and Windsor. The reports so far indicate that the greater number of the cities have reversed their attitude on this burning question.

It was anticipated by the Prohibitionists that the women's vote would materially influence the result, but apparently they were as evenly divided as the men. To impute any other motive than a sincere desire on the part of both sides to discover a system which will remove the vicious practices existing in the days of open sales, and the evils that have followed in the trail of prohibition, is to show narrow prejudice and to do the voters an injustice, and the results clearly indicate that the trend of public opinion is towards the sale of liquor as a beverage under Government control as the best solution of the difficulty.

Possible Election Address
BY A FORMER ROAD ENTHUSIAST.

We are told that a splendid address was recently given by Mr. Hibbs at Badger's Quay, and no doubt it ran thus:—

“Fellow countrymen and comrades, although my political enemies are always referring to the fact that I live in mid pleasures and palaces in the city. I wish to tell you that I am one of you in spirit and I do drive about in a motor car, the people of St. John's have to thank me for the excellent roads that I have made in the suburbs. I would do the same in your district only, as Sir William has already said, ‘What use are roads to fishermen?’”

“It has been thrown in my teeth that I suggested raising a loan to make the roads nice and smooth for motor travel. I admit making the suggestion, but when I wrote that in my book, called the ‘Road Booster,’ I quite thought that I would be in the Government to see that it was properly spent.

“Comrades, our chieftain has told you of the years that we spent fighting for your rights in the House of Assembly against those who represent the class that would keep you down.” (Voice from the audience—“But you were in the Government all those years and didn't have to fight, but to do?”) After a pause and the clamor of the door through which the disturber was ejected, the speaker continued: “Day after day we talked of your rights; day after day we told the Opposition that you were the backbone of the country; that the price of fish was what Coaker made it, and we forced them to accept the Regulations.” Another interruption in the form of a strong expression, a movement on the part of the chucker out, and the speaker, somewhat overcome, continued: “I am here to-night to tell you of a few of the foolish things that the Government have done since they came into power. They keep the hands in the Custom House working from nine to five every day. Does that look like a six-hour day for the working man? They have been catching smugglers round the coast. Is that a square deal? Sir William, when he was Minister of Marine and Fisheries, always kept a secretary. Now Winsor does without that, which means a man out of a job. The Minister of Finance has collected during the last four months over one million dollars more than we could show in the same months when we were in office. Where is it coming from?—that's what I want to know. It isn't extra taxes, because he has taken some of them off. He can't be getting it fairly. He must be stealing it from someone.”

“They're telling you about the big prices for fish, but how did that happen? Didn't Coaker go all the way to Greece last year? Didn't he tell you all about the ancient rules he visited, and didn't he tell you the price he got for his fish?”

“Comrades, it has been a great pleasure to spend a short time with you again. Now I am going back to my home in St. John's and to my—no, my cushy jobs ended when the Monroe party got in; but I hope you will defeat him in this election in order to enable me and your former fellow workers to get back to them.”

“The meeting closed with the singing of ‘We went, because we went, we went, because we went, we went, because we went,’ and with considerably less enthusiasm than might have been expected.”

JUDGE'S SCATHING REMARKS TO FAITHLESS MINISTER.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.

In passing sentence upon Peter Smith, ex-Financial Secretary of Ontario, the Chief Justice said—“In order that you may not think there is any disproportion between the penalty passed upon you and passed upon your co-conspirator, I may say that you were chosen by the people of this Municipality in which you lived to serve them and to serve this Province faithfully. Aemilius Jarvis was not chosen. You were made a Minister of the Crown and were what is commonly called the watchdog of the Treasury. Aemilius Jarvis was not. You made an oath which you violated, a solemn oath of office. Aemilius did not. The judgment of the Court upon you, Peter Smith, is that you be imprisoned in the penitentiary for three years.” Addressing Mr. Jarvis, the Chief Justice said, “the judgment of the court upon you, Peter Smith, and upon you, Aemilius Jarvis, is that you and each of you pay a fine of $4,000, and that you remain in jail until it is paid.”

VENTUROUS VOYAGERS LONG OVERDUE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

Ice patrol boats of the Navy Department between Labrador and the Southern Coast of Greenland and trading vessels of the Hudson Bay Co. to-day America to be on the look out for Wm. Nutting, who with three companions in the forty foot sloop ‘Let Erickson’ have been missing for a number of weeks. They set sail from Bergen, Norway, in July, to follow the trail of the Vikings and left Reykjavik, Iceland, on August 9. Nutting is commander of the Cruising Club. On Oct. 9th, the Sloop was reported 25 days overdue at Baddeck, N.S.

MACDONALD WILL SUPPRESS FALSE REPORTS.

LONDON, Oct. 24.

In a reply to a questioner at a political meeting at Talbach to-day Ramsey MacDonald intimated that if necessary he will take steps to curb newspapers in the matter of false reports in the press had become very serious, especially when the great mass of newspapers were owned not by journalists but simply by business men. After the election consideration must be given to the questions of whether or not it is possible to stop personal slander which is malignantly manifested by persons sitting at their desks in London.

CLEAVAGE BETWEEN ONTARIO CITIES AND COUNTRY.

TORONTO, Oct. 24.

With prospects of a 50,000 “Dry” majority in the plebiscite held yesterday on the liquor question in Ontario and with the announcement of the Ontario Government that the Ontario Temperance Act will be strengthened and enforced, it became manifest to-night that Ontario has not followed the lead of the four western provinces of Canada in liquor legislation. Something over a million citizens of the province went to the polls yesterday, and while the Urban population was overwhelmingly against prohibition, the farming districts remained true to form and proved emphatically dry. The result is that the O.T.A. of 1916, and confirmed in 1919 by majority of 407,000 in the plebiscite held in connection with the provincial elections has been again upheld, though the majority vote is apparently cut to about eight of that figure. Returns are still very incomplete but missing polls are not sufficiently large to effect the result materially. The result of the cleavage between city and farm is that the discussion has arisen in the Urban centers on the possibility of some form of local option to give to separate communities their chosen system of liquor restrictions.

Detective Tobin of H.M. Customs arrived by freight train last night from Corner Brook in charge of a carload of confiscated liquors and other goods which had been recently smuggled into the West Coast. The following goods were seized:—440 gallons of rum, 130 cases assorted whiskeys and wines, 430 lbs. tobacco, and 29,500 cigarettes. All the goods were taken to the Government warehouse at the King's Beach this morning by Lester's teamsters. The goods were confiscated from the schooner Blanche Forsay, and the Captain was fined $50 by Magistrate Scott, Curling. Other cases occupied the attention of the Court at Curling during the past ten days, and fines were imposed as follows:—L. Krichew, for smuggling dry goods, fined $50.00; J. Feder, for smuggling dry goods, fined $100.00; Capt. Mosher, smuggling liquors, fined $500.00. An engineer of S.S. Lelcester, for smuggling liquor, fined $50.00. The dry goods and liquors were confiscated in all cases. We understand that the Minister of Finance is following up the good work of checking smuggling, and a couple of days ago had a schooner seized at Channel for engaging in the contraband trade. PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

October 24th.—Up very betimes this morning and to Water Street, where meeting—Captain Kean, he to make fun of my being abroad so early, which is, indeed, a thing I am not accustomed to do. The weather all this day mighty unpleasant, being a great fall of rain and hail. Comes a message from my manque this afternoon which I had long expected, and informs me how my account is overdrawn, so needs must I borrow from Povey to make it good. Thinking of this, do make me believe 'twould be an easy matter to live by borrowing since, with many friends, it might be possible to make an endless chain of it. Mr. Dunfield, this day, at the Sessions-House, continues his argument of the Grand Jury, but the matter not yet concluded. The first fall of snow this night and a hard frost. So freezing at home, my wife makes it plain to me how I must order our coals for the winter-to-morrow, which I fear me I must, albeit the payment for them a thing at present beyond me.

King vs. Wm. P. O'Reilly.

Mr. Howley asked that the prisoner be acquitted. He claimed that he was indicted under a charge of larceny and under the common Larceny Act a finding of obtaining money under false pretences could not be brought in. He claimed there was no provision for the finding of a disagreement, and quoted a statutory law of 1916 where it is provided that a verdict of guilty of false pretences may be brought in. The jury might say not guilty of larceny but might find a verdict of guilty of false pretences and he argued that when the jury, on the alternative of false pretences in the O'Reilly case disagreed the charge ended there. In a case quoted, the prisoner was indicted for larceny but was convicted on a charge of false pretences. The conviction, however, was quashed. The indictment against O'Reilly was for larceny and had the jury found a verdict of obtaining money under false pretences he would have moved for the quashing of the verdict. He based his argument on the case of King vs. Fisher, 86 Justice peace, page 29. On the point of larceny of money, Mr. Howley argued that the post office orders were not money. He claimed that the order is the representation of the official issuing it and it is his representation to the bank, so that the first obtaining of money, the property of the King would occur when the Post Office pays the bank to reimburse it for the cheque or cash that they gave against the Post Office order.

Mr. Emerson for the Crown argued that the court has accepted the verdict of the jury and it should not vary it without the consent of that jury, and if Mr. Howley would move for the discharge of the prisoner he would deal with it.

Mr. Howley made the motion accordingly.

Mr. Emerson then stated his instructions were not to consent.

The Chief Justice gave no decision on either motion and adjourned the matter to the consideration of the full bench.

The further hearing takes place on Monday.

MESSAGE FROM MANAGER BELL

Mr. S. P. Cullen received a message from Mr. John Bell, this morning, which reads as follows:—
"Have finished training. Have covered course in good time. O'Toole is in good condition. I have every confidence in him as a winner. MacAulay and McLellan are the favorites. There are a lot of good men competing. They have the best field of starters for years. We are going to do our best to win the race and our chances are good."

GIBBONS SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 24.
Tommy Gibbons, of St. Paul, added another to his long string of victories when he knocked out Ted Jamieson, the Milwaukee light heavyweight in the first round of a scheduled 15 round bout here to-night. It was apparent from the start that the Milwaukee man was no match for Gibbons. After about a minute and a half of fighting Gibbons caught his opponent with a left hook to the jaw that sent him to the floor for the count of nine. As he gained his feet he was scored again by a similar blow.

Geneva and the Navy

London Morning Post: The late Lord Salisbury once said that the British Fleet could not climb the Caucasus, but apparently it may be commanded from the Alps. The League of Nations is an institution upon which the British Empire is in a permanent minority. It is, in fact, a foreign body upon which we shall presently see representatives of Germany and Soviet Russia. It is perched in the Centre of Europe well outside the range of British influence, and might even be hostile in secret intention to the British Empire. This body is to secure the peace of the world by bringing painless pressure on any Power which ventures to disturb it. There is a race of natives in India called Jains who are so humane that they will not kill even a flea; and when the dogs in the villages become a pest they benevolently impound them within walls until they die of starvation. Such is the humane device of the League of Nations to preserve the peace of the world, and to this noble end the British Navy is to be dedicated.

Famous Recipes for Home Cooking

COCONUT AND CHOCOLATE POTATO CAKE.

(This precious recipe was handed down from the wife of the third Governor of Massachusetts who used it "way back in 1787.")
(All measurements level.)
1 can Baker's coconut—southern style.
1 cupful Crisco.
1 cupful sugar.
2 squares chocolate.
4 eggs.
¾ cupful milk.
2 cupfuls flour.
2 cupfuls cold mashed potatoes.
1 teaspoonful salt.
2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
1 teaspoonful cinnamon.
½ teaspoonful cloves.
Cream Crisco and sugar, add melted chocolate, egg yolks, well beaten, coconut, potatoes.
Sift together remaining dry ingredients, add alternately with milk. Last fold in egg whites, beaten stiff and dry.
Bake about forty-five minutes in moderate oven.

What Troubled Him

I recently heard Lord Lonsdale, who is devoted alike to boxing and motoring, recount with great gusto the story of how "Bill, the Bermunday Batter"—or a name to that effect—got in the way of one of those little two-seaters.
His thirteen stone caught the full impact of the tiny car, and Bill "took the count."
When he came round he looked for the cause of the trouble.
"What did that?" he asked.
"My car," said the owner.
"Your wot?" said Bill, with deep disgust. "Lumme! Fancy me—me—being knocked out wiv a roller skate!"

Harbor Grace Notes.

Mr. J. Sutherland, of the Imperial Cable Co.'s employ left here recently for Halifax, to pay a brief visit to his brother resting there. After which he will leave for Scotland to spend a holiday at his home.

Mrs. L. Noseworthy, of Spaniard's Bay was in town during the week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox.

Miss Kate Hutchings left here on Wednesday of last week for St. John's, where she will spend the winter with her sister-in-law, Mrs. G. Hutchings. Mrs. Hutchings and daughter, Mrs. D. White came over from the city and after a short stay in town, accompanied Miss Hutchings to St. John's. We wish her a pleasant stay in the city.

Mr. Arch Taylor, of the Southside, left on Tuesday last for Grand Falls, where he will spend the winter months with his son, Arch, who is residing there.

Mr. Arthur Heath, our popular Postal Telegraph Operator, who has been on a two week's holiday, has resumed duty again to-day.

Mr. S. Kennedy, who has been relieving Mr. Heath at the Postal Telegraph Office, leaves town on Monday for Corner Brook, to resume work at the office there.

Some good pictures have been screened at the "Star" movie here recently. On Friday night last "Jackie Cogan," in "Daddy," was the attraction of the evening. There was a crowded house, and all were delighted to see this youthful actor, especially the children present, who were particularly amused. This week the eight reel production, "The Affairs of Lady Hamilton," was shown, which was most interesting for its historical importance. Another big picture will be screened here shortly, viz., "The Aquittal."

Capt. A. Anonsen went to St. John's by Tuesday morning's train.

During last week and the early part of this week, a number of men have gone from this District to Corner Brook and vicinity, where they will take up work.

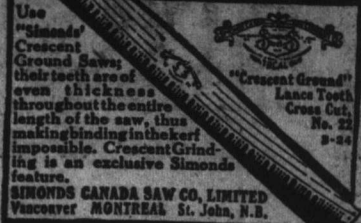

The S.S. "Finos" left port this afternoon for St. John's—COM.

Our Dumb Animals

REPORT CHIEF AGENT S. P. A.
WEEK ENDING OCT. 24.

Attended to the landing of some cattle at the Railway Station. Put to death an Alderale terrier, which had been hit by a motor on New Gower Street. The owner contributed a subscription towards the funds. A dog which had no home and was an annoyance to the people of Charlton St. was also destroyed. Another was put to death on William Street. The owner gave a donation to the Society as his annual subscription. Attended two sales of cattle at the St. John's Abattoir Co. I have received several complaints about cattle being out these stormy nights. I would like to say that after the last of October if cattle are found exposed to the weather at night the owners will be summoned. I would like to point out people to pay attention to this notice, as I will have all people summoned who leave their cattle exposed. In the past cattle have been left out, and there have been cases where some have perished. I would also like to say the cattle shipped on schooners or steamers must be kept in a wind-tight and water-tight stall or box according to the law. I am very anxious that shippers should take notice of this as the fine for shipping on deck or in an open boat after the last of October is fifty dollars per head. This also applies to all steamships. During the week several horses have been severely injured hauling loads over tarvia roads. Five horses belonging to Mr. Lester have had the skin taken off their knees and one severely injured. Surely those in authority could devise some method to make this easier on the animals. Quite a number

New Griffith Film "Big" in Simplicity

Mob and Spectacle Scenes Forsaken in "The White Rose" for Characterization.

Probably the most delightfully artistic and by far the greatest heart-appalling story yet to come from that master of the motion picture, D. W. Griffith, is his newest offering, "The White Rose," a United Artists Corporation release coming to the Star theatre next Monday.

It tells a story old in theme, simple and direct, but in such a manner as to make it possibly the one "big" outstanding picture production of the present season.

The tale has to do with an orphan girl and a young divinity student who meet when the latter is making a walking tour to learn of the world and its ways. What transpires results in a denouement of compelling power and tender beauty. Mae Marsh, after a long absence from the screen, returns with the most notable effort of her remarkable career. Her characterization of the orphan girl will long stand as one of the great things in the way of screen acting. Ivor Novello, a handsome young English actor, has won immediate recognition as the young preacher in this new story. Carol Dempster, so popular in several previous Griffith successes, essays the part of a girl of high Southern family and as only one of her distinguished refinement and intelligence might. Critical reviewers declare it the finest thing she has yet done. Neil Hamilton, a newcomer to the screen, is now heralded as a "Griffith find" as a result of his characterization of the lowly grocery boy who makes a name for himself. Others in the cast of principals are Kate Bruce, Jane Thomas, Charles Emmett Mack, Erville Alderson, Herbert Sutch, Joseph Burke and the real Southern darlings and other supernumeraries are a positive delight in their naturalness.

"Hollywood," a Big Movie Attraction

COMES TO THE NICKEL THEATRE ON MONDAY.

How many men, women and children are there who would not, so to speak, "give their eye teeth" to see behind the scenes of a motion picture studio?

Their names must be legion, judging from the number of applications for admission to the studios—which are not granted for obvious reasons. The next best thing to actually getting on the inside is to use the inside picture on the screen.

Paramount has an original idea. The James Cruze production "Hollywood" from a story by Frank Condon, adapted by Thomas J. Geraghty, which will be the big feature at the Nickel Theatre Monday, shows the inner workings and also the outer appearance of the studios. It does it in story form. The story of a middle-western family which comes to Hollywood and the efforts of the daughter to get a job in pictures.

What is a studio waiting room like? How do the actors act when they're not acting—between scenes at the studios?

What does Hollywood Hotel, Hollywood Boulevard, etc., look like? Are they different than other hotels and boulevards?

Have you ever seen a bungalow court? Is it all that real estate boosters have claimed for it? How do directors direct? What's a location why?

A lot of these things have been seen in magazines and told about in stories accompanying illustrations—but in "Hollywood" they will be seen for the first time in motion pictures.

Fine humor, love, pathos, drama—

all are combined in "Hollywood" and everybody will be in it!

HONF HORNAP
(A.P.)—This little village, situated on the fjord that penetrates the coast of Iceland for nearly 50 miles, was first sighted by the first of the American aviators who finally succeeded in their attempt to circle the globe. But Horn Hornap was covered before. It is August 3, 1874, that the golfer Arnason, the rule of the Norse race, first sighted the village, and threw from the beach pillars that had been washed ashore. He later, to a day, led the birdmen, commanded by Horn Hornap and by the descendants of the aviator who accompanied the adventurous quest. The pilot Bjorn Eymundson wears on gala occasions a blue bearing a white flag that floated at the viking ship.

American Aviators Arouse Iceland

FROM SOLITUDE OF AGES.

HONF HORNARFJORD, Iceland (A.P.)—This little fishing and farming village, situated on a point of land jutting out between two shallow gulfs that penetrate the south coast of Iceland for nearly 25 miles, awakened recently to find itself "discovered" as the first stopping place in Iceland of the American flyers who finally succeeded in their historic attempt to circle the world by air. But Hofn Hornarfjord had been discovered before. It was near here, on August 3, 874, that the old Viking Ingolfur Arnarson, fleeing from the misrule of the Norse ruler, Harold Haarfager, first sighted the Icelandic coast and threw from his galley his high pillars that he might build his home where the gods caused them to wash ashore. Just 1050 years later, to a day, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the American biplanes, taxied into the harbor of Hofn Hornarfjord and was greeted by the descendants of those seafarers who accompanied old Ingolfur on his adventurous quest. One of them, the pilot Bjorn Eymundsson, traces his ancestry from a comrad of Ingolfur, who wears on gala occasions a pin of blue bearing a white gull, the symbol that floated at the masthead of the Viking ship. Located on a narrow neck of land that separates the high mountains of the interior from the sea, the village is primarily a farming community with livestock and dairying its principal activities. On the little farms that dot the mainland and the islands of the fjords, grass is raised for winter food for the cattle and ponies. Vegetables, such as potatoes and other roots that can mature in the brief summer season of warmth, are grown to supplement the food supplies of the inhabitants. In the sheltered valleys that penetrate the glaciers of the interior, herds of reindeer graze during the summer months, moving to the milder climate of the coastline as winter approaches. Fishing is the great winter industry and in November and December, when heavy storms sweep the northern and western coasts, fleets of fishing vessels harbor in the quiet waters of the fjord and trawl the offlying banks for herring, cod, and other northern fish. These are smoked or dried and shipped to the continent of Europe, where the Icelandic products are in great demand. One of the principal costumed of the Hornarfjord fishermen is Portugal, which in return ships wine to the northern island.

In the huge rocks that mark the entrance to Hornarfjord, and along the seaward side of the long natural breakwater that guards it from the Atlantic, thousands of eider ducks make their nests, and the inhabitants gain a considerable income through collecting the down with which the ducks line their nests, a product which brings high prices all over the world. The birds themselves are protected by law, and of recent years have increased considerably in numbers.

A frock of black crepe satin has a silver embroidered collar, vest and front panel of rust silk faille.

Although the very small hat is smarter for street wear, one sees a number of wider brimmed hats.

Dear Deer

A Single Pair Of Antlers May Cost The Sportsman As Much As $2,000.

Deer-stalking is the most expensive of British sports. Even a steam yacht is ahead in comparison.

The forest tenants would be glad to believe that his trophies in a good year have not cost more than a hundred guineas apiece. In a good season the expense per head may be ten times that amount.

"There, Sandy, that stag has cost me three thousand pounds," said one sportsman who had just managed a kill on the last evening of the season.

A deer forest consumes much money in service. There are as many eyes on the watch in a deer forest as on a grouse moor in Yorkshire. When the campaign with the rifle begins the forest man must know exactly where the best stags lie.

For this purpose they spend weeks on the ridges and among the rocks, spying out the "big-antlered gentlemen" and becoming acquainted with their ways. One big chap has a habit of lying down by a certain rock. If in the season you would find him in the corrie, there is only one spot to look for, so the sportsman is brought within sight of his stag without any delay.

Days Without A Shot. Late in the season—which at best lasts less than a month—the big herds begin to travel, and one may spend days on the hills without seeing anything of a shootable size. This is the luck of the sport.

So many are the expenses of a deer forest that it has been estimated that every cartridge fired represents a total expenditure of some fifty pounds, and the cost of a season is at least three hundred pounds a day. There are wages, past, present, and future, to pay. In winter stags and hinds have to be fed on maize imported at great cost. The rent of the forest may run to several thousand pounds.

The land north of the Caledonian Canal depends on deer for its existence. Mutton and wool would not pay for themselves in the glens. The deer-stalker, however, is a lavish employer. He builds roads and bridges, giving work the year round for hundreds of persons.

For reward he is heartily cursed by pseudo-economists, who have no knowledge of sport—or of the deer country.

The cost of the deer-stalking season is that of a minor war. Thousands of pounds are used up every day.

Where deer have been evicted—during the war period and since—the districts are bankrupt. No tenant of a sheep walk or of a small holding can pay the high rate demanded by local needs. So the golden deer has much to recommend it. Take the forest expenditure from the Highlands and there will be a tremendous clearance of workers and of those traders who depend on them.

Although the very small hat is smarter for street wear, one sees a number of wider brimmed hats.

Trees as Temples

FOREST GIANTS WHICH HAVE WITNESSED THE RISE AND FALL OF NATIONS.

Which is the oldest tree in the world? If one may believe legends, there is one in Ceylon which is well into its twenty-second century. It started life as a cutting of the Bo tree under which the Buddha sat in the sixth century B.C.

Very old, too, is the Soma cypress in Lombardy, which is known to have existed forty years before the birth of Christ; while, according to the late Dean Stanley, eight of the original olives may still be seen in the Garden of Gethsemane.

Hindus are particularly fond of the stately banyan, and many of these trees are used as temples and have become famous. The great cubber burr, on the banks of the Nerbudda, is supposed to be that described by an Admiral of Alexander the Great as being capable of sheltering an army under its branches.

Robin Hood's Larder.

The venerable dragon-tree of Orotava, was revered for its antiquity by the extinct nation of the Gauchos, and the adventurous conquerors of the Canaries found it little less colossal and cavernous in 1492 than did the naturalist Humboldt in 1799. Unfortunately, it was destroyed by storm in the year 1871.

In this country the yew are the most ancient of living things. The yew at Crowhurst, in Surrey, is of enormous dimensions. It is hollow and fitted with seats inside. It was just as remarkable for size and age in the reign of Charles II. as it is to-day, and most probably goes back to Roman times. The one in Selborne churchyard is said to be older than the church, and there was a church there in Saxon times.

The Royal Oak of Boscombe which befriended Charles II. may or may not be the tree now pointed out, but in any case it is a mere straggler to other oaks here and there in Britain. Wolfe, who preached and Queen Elizabeth died, so it is said, under the Crouch Oak at Addlestone. The Cowthorpe Oak, in Yorkshire, is supposed to date from Saxon times, and it was only in 1848 there fell the tree against which, according to tradition, King Edmund was martyred.

How old the Major Oak in Sheerwood Forest is no one knows, but there are a good many trees in its neighbourhood which must approximate to a thousand years. One of them is called "Robin Hood's Larder."

U. S. Naval Affairs Under Consideration

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press)—Great national and international interest attaches to the report which the general board of the navy will make before many weeks on the question of the relative places to be held by battleships and by aircraft and submarines in the U.S. naval establishment.

The general board has begun to go into this question at the instance of President Coolidge who is interested in the possibilities of aircraft, especially since the world flight of U.S. fliers.

Although the board's report is not yet formulated, there is every reason to believe that it will not favor scrapping the battleship. It will undoubtedly favor development of aircraft, and submarines as well, as supplemental to the battleship but not as the main reliance of the navy.

The expectation here is that out of the agitation may come a new and definite naval programme. Since the Washington peace conference, the naval policy of the United States has been drifting. Leading naval officers are anxious to have a programme settled on. While there is difference among them as to just what the programme may be, the sentiment appears to be for more cruisers, more ships, more submarines, all this without sacrificing the dreadnought. Navy officials are not entirely at ease because of the fact that Japan is adding to her navy at a much more rapid rate than either the United States or Great Britain. The Japanese navy is being modernized in every way, with much attention to aircraft, sea-going submarines, and fast light cruisers. There is, of course, no expectation of trouble in the Pacific, but it has not escaped notice that the Japanese at Geneva have been aggressive and apparently are bent on opening up the immigration problem, something which the United States insists on regarding as a purely domestic question.

Focus the Light Where Needed

MANY manufacturers in the past have felt that the industrial lighting question has been solely a matter of good lamps. But the fact is, that in addition to good lamps, there must also be the use of scientific lighting devices. These will actually make better lighting pay for itself.

Good lighting means not only savings, but also increased earnings, because it produces definite and measurable increases in production. To obtain the proper efficiency for the current consumed, it is necessary to install the correct fixtures for reflecting and focusing the light.

Westinghouse industrial lighting equipment is designed to provide the greatest amount of illumination over a given area for the power consumed.

THE BIGGEST SUBTRACTION.

Someone has said that just being pleasant day in and day out is as great an addition as anyone can hope to make to the sum of happiness in the world. Which is doubtless true in the case of those of us who can't do something big enough to add to the world's happiness in some other more dramatic way; and I imagine that means something like nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine out of every million.

Just Being Cross.

And, as many a man and woman can testify, the opposite is every bit true. That is, just being cross day in and day out is as big a subtraction as anyone can make (unless he can think up some very far reaching crime like stealing the savings of some thousands of widows and orphans and old folks) from the sum of happiness in the world.

Just being irritable over the small annoyances and accidents and disappointments of daily family life. Just making it a practice to snap at the telephone operator when she gives you the wrong number. Just saying: "Well, you certainly are clumsy," when someone stumbles over a footstool.

When Someone Forgets.

Just shouting: "What's this door locked for?" when someone forgets and leaves a door locked that should have been open, instead of pleasantly asking to have the mistake remedied. Just asking: "Can't I ever get at this mirror without your wanting to come here?"

Just saying: "Pass me that book, will you," and then when the wrong one is handed over saying sharply: "No, not that one, the other one. If there's a wrong thing to do, you'll do it won't you?"

Just making the family criticisms that may perhaps be needed in a sharp, irritable way that makes them hurt unnecessarily. "If you knew how you looked with your hat on that way you'd want to jump overboard." "If you could see the way Mrs. S. smiled behind your back when you were telling that old story the other day you would try and not make yourself ridiculous by telling stories over and over again." You know the sort of dig that is so often given in the name helpfulness but in the spirit of hurtfulness.

Makes The Sun Stop Shining.

Just saying and doing sharply, impatiently, irritably, all sorts of little things that if said and done pleasantly would produce just so much result and wouldn't make the sun stop shining in the home.

We all know husbands and wives who love each other devotedly and sons and daughters who love their fathers and mothers devotedly, and who do anything in the world for those they love so much. That is, anything but this big little thing, just being pleasant.

To some of these the day will come when they will look back and realize what they have withheld. God help them then. They will need it. Unless perchance something opens their eyes and they help themselves here and now while they can.

DORCAS SOCIETY REPORT, 1923-24.

In presenting the hundredth report of the Dorcas Society we feel we must say a little more than usual. The Society was formed October 23rd, 1824; its first President being Mrs. Ward, wife of the Rev. D. S. Ward, Congregational Minister here at that time. The next Presidents were: Mrs. R. Job, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. David Sclater.

The main object of the Society was to make warm clothing for the poor women and disburse coal and groceries; and for one hundred years it has gone on in the same way.

Unfortunately the books were burned in the great fire of 1892. We all know what great assistance the Society gave at that time. Lady Thorburn was then President and continued so until her death in 1906.

Since then Mrs. Pitts took charge and we are glad to say is still holding the reins. During this long period death has made many changes in the Committee; but it will be seen that all those who are now associated with the Society will keep up the high standard that has been attained by their predecessors.

We trust that our hundredth appeal to the public will receive an even more generous response than usual. At our last meeting Mrs. Robert McNelly and Mrs. Hepburn long associated with the Society were made Honorary Members, and their places filled by Mrs. Wilfred Dove and Mrs. Ralph Wood.

The Accounts of the Society are Audited annually by Mr. W. B. Fraser to whom our most grateful thanks are due; also the Government for their annual grant.

The Society is under the most distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardyce.

BANK BANDITS GO TO THE GALLOWS.

The crime for which Tony Frank, Frank Morel and Gaisepi Serafini were hanged yesterday morning was the holding up of a collection car of the Bank of Hochelaga on Tuesday afternoon, April 1 last, and the shooting and killing of a messenger, Henri Cleroux. Harry Stone, a notorious bandit and gunman, a member of the gang, was also killed in this affair.

The hold-up was the most sensational of its kind in the history of crime in Canada, if not on this continent. The collection car had been the rounds of a number of branches of the bank in the east end of the city and was taking to the head office a sum of money in the neighborhood of $500,000. When it approached a subway under the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks on Ontario street east of the market street crossing, eight masked men surrounded it on all sides. The bank car had to stop on account of a car the bandits had placed across the narrow road. A bandit also cut the trolley wires to prevent street cars from approaching the spot.

The bandits began shooting at the occupants of the bank car at once. The messengers returned fire. Cleroux, who was driving the bank car, was soon mortally wounded and another employee was hit in the hand. The bandits ran a car alongside the collection car and one of their number boarded it and threw the money bags into the street, from which they were transferred to the robbers' automobile. The sum of $142,188 was secured before men began to come to the assistance of the bank messengers. A traffic policeman off duty came on the scene and with the aid of some C.P.R. men drove the bandits away. While they were fleeing Stone was hit.

The bandits when they found Stone had been killed abandoned their car for another, driving it to the outskirts of the city where it too was left.

The police got their first clue to the identity of the thieves when they found a telephone number written on a piece of paper in Stone's pocket. A visit to the house where the phone was that night resulted in the arrest of Gaisepi and Mrs. Serafini, Otto Negro and his mistress Emma Leblanc. Later the police found a false cupboard in the place in which was hidden $32,000.

On April 23 Emma Leblanc turned King's evidence and directly connected Serafini and Negro with the robbery.

On April 25 a man named Adam Parillo was arrested in Bridgeport, Conn., in whose possession was found $7,500 in Canadian currency.

The following day the police arrested Leo Davis, Tony Frank, Frank Gambino, Louis Morel, Milk Valentino and several other men. Only the five mentioned by name were detained. It was then announced that Negro had turned King's evidence and had described in detail to the police the whole carefully laid plot to rob the bank car. Morel, who was an ex-city detective and a fine athlete, appeared to be the ringleader. The others were all well-known in Montreal's underworld, particularly Frank.

The crown first tried Serafini, but the jury disagreed, six being in favor of a manslaughter verdict and six in favor of murder.

On June 7 the trial of all six for murder began and ended in a verdict of guilty of murder being brought in. They were sentenced to death by Mr. Justice Wilson. One of the features of the trial was the discovery that before their arrest Frank and Gambino, under assumed names, had been able to enter Bordeaux Jail and have a conference with Serafini and Negro.

On Aug. 26 Montreal was startled by the news that Serafini had nearly escaped from the jail, having, as a matter of fact, got out of the death cell into the yard, and only the warning of a prisoner, who saw him hide in a pig pen, had prevented him getting away. A number of jail guards were arrested charged with aiding Serafini to escape.

The appeals of all but Davis were dismissed on Sept. 20. Davis's case was taken to the Supreme Court because the judges were not unanimous in dismissing his appeal. Morel testified for Davis that he was not present at the hold-up and knew nothing about it till afterwards. He will therefore get a respite until the judgment of the Supreme Court is delivered. Parillo and Mrs. Serafini have not yet been tried.

An aftermath of the case was an enquiry into police affairs before Mr. Justice Coderre which is still proceeding.

The police have been unable to recover nearly $100,000 of the money stolen.

Yesterday's message states that Davis and Valentino's sentences were commuted at the last moment by the cabinet to imprisonment for life.

SUSPICIOUS.

When people, as I punch my lyre, approach a n d wish me well, and smile I mournfully inquire: "What a junk have you to sell? A folding bed, a rubber tire, a shotgun or a bell? Would you dispose of stock or bond, or sausagekraut in a bag, or homesties in the bleak beyond, oil well or ostrich egg? Men do not wear a smile so fond unless they'd pull my leg." I was not always thus, my bile did not so freely flow and when I saw a winning smile in days of long ago, I did not hook it up with guile and plans to get my dough. I saw the stranger with his grin approached my dwelling place, and thought: "He must be pure within, to have that beaming face; no trickster's art, no tawdry in his spirit could debase." And in those far-off golden days my guess was always right, and all the moralists would praise the smiling, cheerful wight; but now I dread the sunny jays with winning smiles bedight. I mark with joy the pilgrim sour who stands up as he walks, the stranger harsh and bleak and dour, whose words are always knocks; he will not jabber, hour on hour, to sell me phony stocks. He'll not invade my lowly hall to sell me tepid domes, or back me up against the wall to show me books or homes; the grouchy fellows do not crawl into our humble homes. I would I had the faith of old in men who smile and smile; such faith is better than the gold that forms the miser's pile; but smiling skates have knocked it cold—it's prostrate for a while.

November Rod and Gun

Every sportsman will be interested in the November issue of Rod and Gun in Canada. The stories and articles, based on a variety of subjects, will hold the attention of all who read. Raymond Thompson has an unusually good story entitled The Sins of the Fathers in this number. Some Wild Animal Trails and Some Adventures Along Them from the pen of Bonnycastle Dale is on a par with his previous excellent wild animal stories. Hubert J. Black has written a humorous account of an English "ten-deck" who is judged by an unscrupulous fur buyer in the West in his story called Foxes. These are only a few of the interesting contributions to this number, which also include an enlightening article on Moose Calling by Henry Braithwaite and A Fishing Trip to the Island Province, by A. E. Atkinson. The stories of F. V. Williams, Martin Henter and J. W. Winslow, who are regular contributors to the magazine, are all up to the mark and the regular departments conducted by the departmental editors are brimful of good and interesting reading.

BODY AND SOUL.
 Body and soul I fancied were talking
 As under the stars one clear night
 They went walking.
 "I," said the body, "am what men admire."
 Strength for their tasks is the thing
 They desire;
 I am their better, 'tis I who am foremost.
 I am the one that all mortals admire most."

"Body," said soul, "you are loved by all mortals.
 You sit at their tables and pass through their portals,
 You are the house and the visible being.
 You are the thing which they think they are seeing,
 But I am the spirit, I make you or break you—
 Lost is your pride if I ever forsake you."

"Body," said soul, "you merely are the dwelling,
 I am the kernel and you are the shell."
 As a house that is empty men pass by Unnoticed,
 So you would be were your eyes not kept lighted,
 I am the essence of all men call your way.
 The lamp at your window, the smile at your doorway.

"'Tis that men cherish you, true they admire you,
 True that in broadcloth and silk they attire you.
 But when are breaks you, you cannot be mended;
 Back to the dust you return when life's ended.
 Body, though a dress you are, brilliant and clever,
 Death shall destroy you, but I live forever!"

Last Night at the Casino
YOUNG-ADAMS CO. GIVE BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE.

The Young-Adams Players scored a brilliant success last night by their excellent presentation of "Mary's Ankles." It all comes about in a three-act farce in which the humor was of the sort that is usually described as "rotous." The fun was fast and furious and kept the audience in almost constant laughter. Marjorie Adams displayed her histrionic talent to excellent advantage as Mary Jane Smith, her beautiful costumes caused much comment from the fair sex. Miss Adams' stately figure and charm greatly enhances the role which she enacted. H. Wilton Young as Doctor Whimpton delighted one and all. This character is somewhat different from that usually impersonated by Mr. Young, but it shows that this popular favourite is capable of taking numerous roles.

Young Dr. Hampton and his two chums find themselves sorely pressed for money. The physician has a wealthy uncle, who hard-heartedly by mail refuses an appeal for a loan. Then Miss Fenwick appears in the guise of a Tag Day girl for the Belgian Relief Fund and relieves the trio of almost their last penny. One of the three conceives a brilliant idea, which they carry out much to the amusement of the audience. It all looks very complicated, but eventually everything turns out to the satisfaction of all concerned. Marguerite Young as a contemner, the wise one, played a remarkably fine role, whilst her winsomeness was ever present. In fact everyone in the cast had parts that seemed to have been made for them. The vaudeville and music was well up to the usual standard, and we can safely say that all went away well satisfied with the whole entertainment. We advise all play-goers to book their tickets early for "Nice People" which is the opening bill for next week. This is a play we particularly recommend.

Last Night's Dance

WITH THE C.L.B. FOLK.

The promenade dance, held in the Gymnasium last night, was largely attended and proved very enjoyable. The C. L. B. Orchestra rendered pleasing selections throughout, all of which called for encores. During the interval refreshments were served. The affair, which was voted a huge success, did not terminate until after midnight.

AT THE GAIETY HALL.

The Mount Cashel Band held another very successful promenade band concert in the Gaiety Hall last night. Upwards of 400 people were in attendance and an evening of thorough enjoyment was spent by all. The programme of twelve dances was indulged in by the entire gathering and did not conclude until midnight. The elimination dance, for special prizes, was won by Mr. T. Coady and Miss A. Flynn.

Famous London Buildings Succumb to Damp Weather

LONDON, Sept. 30 (A.P.)—London fog is responsible for the crumbling of the walls of the houses of Parliament, not the ravages of time as had been generally supposed.

The material in these buildings which has been a great disappointment from the standpoint of wear, is magnesian limestone. It was selected in the belief that it would withstand well both the action of the fogs and the passage of the years. Parliament will be asked for money to make repairs.

The Nfld. Quarterly

The Autumn Number of the Nfld. Quarterly contains some splendid pictures, taken during Earl Haig's visit, and the continuation of the article dealing with the event which began in the summer number. The attractions which the country has for the sportsmen are prominently displayed, and the industries are dealt with in a most interesting manner. The literary matter has been compiled by some of our most talented writers and the illustrations are among the best ever seen in a local magazine. The Proprietor, Mr. J. J. Evans, is to be congratulated upon the general excellence of the number.

The Ne'er Do Well

A series of exceptionally strong pictures are booked for the Majestic Theatre, to be exhibited in due course. Included in this list are two celebrated pictures, "The Ne'er Do Well" and "Human Wreckage." In all probability, the "Ne'er Do Well" will be the feature for Monday night. This story created a great deal of press comment in the world wide press. It is the first picture to be commended by admission price in New York, and has been only exhibited in up-to-date picture houses. Full particulars of this feature will be published later. "Human Wreckage," designated perhaps the greatest story of modern times, it a subject which will be dealt with extensively, as time progresses.
