

AT LAST.
 Sanderson was dying. In Summer, on Mendip side, a cottage where his father, a father's father, died.
 d'ing has grown so common, old men are so cheap; it was only the parish doctor see him off to sleep.
 thought he would last till morning, left him in his chair's care; he was terribly handy; said came when none was there.
 he welcomed the awful stranger; the smile of wrinkled joy; only patiently sighing.
 it like for to say boy:
 had as rushed from the village; sent to Bristol and listed; let me know the name;
 olden night and trembling; said 'un white and young; made a could snarl and 'riggle; a lack a could hold and fling;
 set scent of the sad sweetest; name in from the garden bed; he heard the wicket rattle;
 he heard the sound of a tread; it ran on the stony threshold; and woke the sleeping cat;
 the gleam of a lamp; a transie-dying eyes saw that.
 saw a form in the doorway; against the sunset, black; he was to be the father;
 he said, "My boy's come back";
 it groping with feeble fingers; my eye are cruel dim;
 and to see thy veins, lad; come here to thy father, Jim;
 a ribbon in button hole, Jimmy; 't a star as shines so bright;
 I'm glad to see you, For Valor; 't all they whiniese thine;
 strong arm lifted his shoulders; brown shoulders, brown; 't we've got now for sartin';
 it, lithering weakly, said;
 do so on the breast of scarle; between the chest and the star; old man lay, as he waited; to pass the stinnest bar.
 while his face soul fluttered; it strove to die and live; he saw behind him whispered; the hoarse words, "Father, forgive."
 it of the throbbing shadows; he never faltered; now, 't's dead; 't done it; a more 't's ago."

The cottage will be covered by a garden, and is expected to cost not less than $800,000.

Sensational Confession.
 WILKESBARE, April 29.—A sensation was caused here to-day by the confession of Samuel Shiner, of Sugar Loaf, of complicity in the murder of the two Keeler brothers, for $2,000, at Sylvanville, Pa., in 1883.

The murderer was most mysterious one, and it was not until last October that a clue was found. This led to the arrest of Henry Higgins, of York, Pa., and James Gallagher. A few days ago Shiner was taken very sick, and believing he was dying, he confessed that he was one of the Keeler murderers, and that he had been with Joseph Evaland, and he had also two men named Kettle and Christen. I stood outside while they went in. Evaland shot Joseph Evaland, and he was the man who shot John Keeler to death. Then we divided the spoils."

A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws, and apply for a charter.

They chatted in a business and expatriate club in the billiard room of the Metropolitan Hotel, and both appeared anxious to come to some agreement in the matter. Davies was willing to accept the terms which Hill's manager specified that the fight should take place not after December 1st. "We are also willing to fight at that time," said Carroll, "and September and September and Fitzsimmons will fight them."

REDESS WANTED.
 Indians of Southern Dakota Ask If Justice is Only to be Had at the Muzzle of the Muzzle.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., April 28.—Several thousand dollars were sent to Crow Creek agency a day or two ago, by the Government, for distribution among the Indian. Chief White Ghost and other leaders at the agency refused to receive the money, and White Ghost sent the following threatening letter to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Washington: "The Indian agent at Crow Creek agency is making a cash payment of about $3 per capita. Myself, seven other chiefs and the majority of the Indians have hesitated to receive this money, and if we refuse to accept it we are threatened by the agent that we will be deprived of seeds for this season's planting. Can you not satisfaction from the agent as to where the money now being distributed comes from, do I know what rights we may be surrendering when we give our receipt for the money, so I write for information and ask you for an immediate reply to me in person and not through the agent, as the Sioux Indians are alarmed at the treaty by which they ceded a large part of their reservation to the Government, there was an unwritten contract, but in honor of it, as binding, to the effect that the Indians of the Crow Creek agency were to receive about $187,000, in consideration of their ceding their diminished reservation to the Government. If they are to be left less per capita than the Indians of the other Sioux reservations. What has become of this money, and has an appropriation been made by congress? Again, we Sioux, when the treaty referred to above was signed, were promised in addition to cattle, horses, etc., $50 per capita to assist in building houses. That promise has also been forgotten, and many of my people are living in decayed log houses and shacks, exposed to the inclemency of the weather. This is bringing on disease and sickness. Why will it not give us what is due and is promised in the treaty? Does it want more bloodshed, and will it refuse us justice unless demanded at the muzzle of the gun? Is not the blood shed by the nation's soldiers a sufficient reminder of the wrongs practiced upon us and the desperate attitude into which we have been driven? I beg you, Mr. Commissioner, to lay these facts before the nation's legislators, and demand justice for us at their hands."

THE HETHERINGTON CASE.
 Further Particulars of the Trial of Lieut. Hetherington at Yokohama.

Judgment of U. S. Consul Tiltonson, Before Whom the Case Was Heard.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Steamer Belgio, this afternoon, brought full accounts of the trial of Lieut. Hetherington of the murder of George Gordon Robinson. The verdict has already been made known, but the full details of the trial, which showed that the late letters of illicit relations were introduced in the trial, which showed what passed between the wife and her lover. Those of the latter declared his passion in burning words, and begged the woman not to throw him over. That Mrs. Hetherington was completely won is shown by the reckless abandon with which she wrote of her domestic relations. The American officials in Yokohama clubbed together to defray the expenses of Hetherington's trial. The English Consul called on him, and while expressing regret for his trouble, told him to be a man, that he had done the right thing. The Lieutenant and his wife will travel for two months in the Orient before returning to America. United States Consul-General W. D. Tiltonson who tried the case after reviewing the testimony, in his charge wound up as follows: "Early in December the defendant learned positively that his former vague and misty suspicions of Robinson being the cause of his wife's conduct were well founded. From that time on till the 13th of February, his troubles continually grew thicker and darker. In December the defendant did not know how bad matters actually were, but he knew they were bad enough. Robinson had appointed a lawyer, and the defendant could not believe that there was anything to be done. He began then that desperate struggle to save his honor, his child's sake, little thinking, probably, after what had passed, that Robinson would make nearly as desperate an effort to destroy it. We have seen how, one after another, events were continually coming to his notice to make his life grow darker, and even, early in January, we find him so desperate that he did not care what he did to himself, and yet he does not know the worst, but more than many men would stand. So it goes on. Robinson goes away to Kobe, a long distance, but far enough to relieve the wife of the defendant from his influence. She makes a confession to the defendant, on February 13th, and she gives up her mind's ride to Robinson's house, on October 23rd, 1891. She tells him everything of his threats and promises; whether all or more than that, actually, she does not say. She goes to the court to decide. The deceased having broken his word of honor, so solemnly given, so many times, the defendant was not to be anything of Mr. Robinson. We have the testimony of his fellow officers that from that time on the defendant was evidently being made a great mental sufferer. From the wrongs inflicted on him by Robinson, as detailed in court, I can readily believe that he would not probably be able to continue his duties as a soldier, and he undoubtedly intended to inflict some chastisement; but when he found Robinson was going away he lost his self-control, and I believe he did not mean to do it, but he was trying to do or wanted to do, or how to do it. His one object seems to have been to protect his home and wife and mother of his child from ruin. In view of the facts as set forth in the evidence presented to the court I cannot conceive how any man could have been so weak as to have maintained his self control on meeting the cause of his sorrows that day. Therefore, I think he should not be convicted of murder or any other crime, as there is no evidence in this case of premeditation, at least satisfactory to the court, but I do find the defendant had such premeditation that under the pressure of his grievance, his mind had been strained to such an extent that he was not prepared for his actions at the moment the fatal shot was fired, and, therefore, I find him not guilty."

U. S. Mail Robbers Convicted.
 ST. PAUL, April 28.—In the Federal Court to-day Thomas Fields and Jack Ellington, charged with robbing the U. S. mails, were found guilty and will be sentenced to-morrow by Judge Maxey. The jury, after remaining out forty-eight hours, found the defendants guilty of robbing the carrier of the U. S. mail, but not guilty of putting the life of the carrier in jeopardy, as in the charge. The robbery took place in September, when the defendants, accompanied by John Flint and James Langford, held up the Galveston, Harbors & Ansonia train, at Samuels. The robbers were pursued by Texas rangers, and captured; John Flint took his own life when escape was impossible. James Langford turned states evidence, and will escape trial before the United States Court. He is to be sent to jail to answer the indictment found by the grand jury of the District Court for robbery.

The men have been bitter enemies since Fellows was elected. One of Barrett's reporters recently told the Mayor that he was going to quit his position as editor of the Times, and would accept the position of reporter on the Telegram. The Mayor accepted the offer, and the fight may come off at any time.

Va., April 28.—Two sleeping children, Bertie Ellison, aged 13, and Jackson McFarland, aged 15, who fled across the Ohio, yesterday, in a desperate attempt to evade their pursuers, but who were chased and caught, to-day, forced their parents to surrender. Bertie's father kept her in close confinement for twenty-four hours, but when she was released, she became so unmanageable that her parents consented to their marriage, this afternoon, when the two romantic and determined young people were made man and wife.

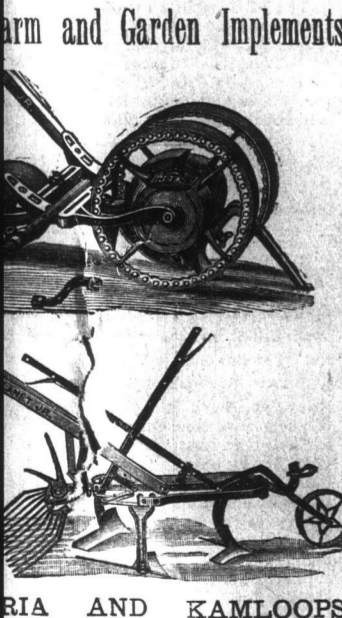

Death of Col. E. B. Irwin.
 NEW YORK, April 27.—Colonel Richard Biddle Irwin, of the Tribune editorial staff, is dead. He had been sick about a month, and since Thursday had been confined to his bed. He knew that recovery was not possible and he looked forward to the end with resignation. For the last few days his illness was attended with great pain, but he bore his sufferings with patience and presented his cheerful manner to the end. Toward the end of 1884 employment was given to Colonel Irwin in the office of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company by President Allen McLane, and later he accepted a permanent berth with the Pacific Mail Co. as secretary for its new line to China. When the China steamers were built Colonel Irwin was sent to San Francisco in June, 1869, as assistant-agent, with a three-year contract. From about December, 1869, he was joint agent with Capt. Oliver Eldridge under the firm name of Eldridge & Irwin. They carried on the business, including the general management from Panama to Hongkong, until December 31, 1872, when they resigned because they would not be answerable for the results of reforms and economies introduced by the President. In the meantime Irwin had been called to New York by telegraph four times, and sent to Washington to get a job of $5,000,000 for ten years for a semi-monthly line to China. In order to accept this repulsive service Colonel Irwin twice resigned from the Company's service, but he was induced to accept it, and was foolishly persuaded by personal appeals to go on to the end. In August, 1878, Colonel Irwin went to London to manage a business for his brother, Robert W. Irwin, dealer in rice, etc., on account of the Japanese Government, from Japan to Europe. When the Japanese thought they had learned enough of his conduct, they refused to employ him, and he returned to New York. For three years he lived in Philadelphia, the home of his mother and sisters. In January, 1889, he joined the editorial staff of the Tribune.

The Colonist.

FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1892.

NEITHER MANLY NOR COURAGEOUS.

The Times says that "the publishers of the Columbian deserve all credit for the manly and courageous stand they took in the defence of the freedom of the press."

some of his conversations with his guards; it is described as the gospel of anarchy.

The man who will not work, and who steals and assassinates on principle, is not what is usually regarded as a martyr in the cause of humanity.

The timidity of the French people is, on this side of the Atlantic, incomprehensible. If the anarchists had committed the outrages in New York or Chicago, or, indeed, in any of the great American cities, which they have perpetrated in Paris, the United States would be in a flame from one end to the other.

TRIED AND TEMPTED.

The following letter, written by the late Alexander Mackenzie when he was Minister of Public Works, shows that, when he occupied that influential position, his life was very far, indeed, from being a pleasant one.

OTTAWA, April 27, 1875.

MY DEAR H—: I have your note regarding C— I will endeavor to employ him within a few days at Thunder Bay on the commissariat staff, though I fear he is rather old, especially as his chief (his father) is older. I have sent Mr. Kingston's letter to Mr. Laird to consider.

COME TO A STANDSTILL.

The construction of the Chignecto ship-railway has come to a standstill. The work is about three-quarters done and the funds of the company have run out. It apparently has neither money nor credit.

OUTSPOKEN.

Ravachol is a bold miscreant. He is perfectly open and frank. No one can accuse him of being a hypocrite. He does not know what shame is, and it is very evident that in his moral make-up conscience is altogether wanting.

FAIR AND FRANK.

The News-Advertiser has, when speaking of the Hon. John Robson in connection with the government of the province, paid a handsome compliment to that gentleman. Such frankness and candor become our contemporary, and, in our estimation as any ratio, covers a multitude of sins.

We have no sympathy with the partisanship that either cannot or will not see any good in a political opponent. The politicians who habitually speak of those who oppose them as knaves or fools, and who attribute to them the worst of possible motives, proclaim themselves to be either very small-minded, or very ill-natured and dishonest.

The cause of woman suffrage had first to pass through the stage of general ridicule. The advocates of women's rights were regarded it as a victory. The British people are very slow in making radical changes of this kind. Their advocates must possess their souls in patience and be content when an advance is perceptible no matter how small it may be.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

The attempt to extend the suffrage to the women of Great Britain has again failed. But the failure was such that we have no doubt the advocates of women's suffrage will regard it as a victory.

This is the position at which the movement has arrived in Great Britain, the United States and Canada. Women who own property possess the franchise in the municipalities of all these countries, and in some of the States of the Union they are eligible to hold civic offices.

We cannot refrain from again reproducing the paragraph from the News-Advertiser's article, which we specially admire. It is really as creditable to the editor of that paper as a leading opponent of the Hon. John Robson.

HANDLES TO NAMES.

The mania for small titles is disgusting men of sense and achievement on both sides of the Atlantic. The "Professors" of the day are as thick as blackberries, and there is no end to the "Doctors." There are, particularly in the United States, whole legions of "Generals," "Colonels," and "Captains," and "Esquire" is so common that it has ceased to be a distinction.

A MOMENTOUS QUESTION.

"How long can the Earth sustain life?" is a question asked by Sir Robert Ball, F.R.S., in the April number of the Fortnightly Review. The question is a momentous one, as it is one which concerns every living thing, animal and vegetable, on the face of the earth.

how little it may be deserved. A reform in this direction. The best one that we can think of, is for men who have a right to these distinctions, to repudiate them, and not to suffer themselves to be addressed by them.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

The attempt to extend the suffrage to the women of Great Britain has again failed. But the failure was such that we have no doubt the advocates of women's suffrage will regard it as a victory.

He deals very much in conjectures. Where he has not facts to reason from, he must necessarily guess, and how near his guesses, and the guesses of other learned men, come to the truth no one living can tell.

The reviewer reminds his readers that the continuance of man upon the earth depends upon a good many things. Reasoning from what has been, he argues that man must in course of time necessarily disappear from the face of the earth.

VIRTUOUS INDIGNATION.

The New York World says: "The avowed intention of France to enforce its rights against Dahomey, and the claim of Great Britain to a free right of way through the territory of the Zebu, may serve to attract attention to the most colossal and shameless land-grab in history."

The strong and civilized nations of the earth in this century have quite as good a right to take possession of Africa as the strong and civilized nations of a previous century had to appropriate America North and South and divide it between them.

It is there any one in America who will say that the human race has not been benefited by this colossal land-grab? Who is bold enough to say that the world would be as good a place to live in as it is if Columbus had never discovered America, or if, having discovered it, the nations of Europe left the Indians in quiet possession of the whole continent?

It is there any one in America who will say that the human race has not been benefited by this colossal land-grab? Who is bold enough to say that the world would be as good a place to live in as it is if Columbus had never discovered America, or if, having discovered it, the nations of Europe left the Indians in quiet possession of the whole continent?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Many are under the impression that Robert McGreevy has been sentenced to one year's imprisonment for the part he took in the booting transactions connected with the Public Works Department.

THAT LITTLE SPOT.

Does it not seem singular that part of a little island off the west coast of Europe, that looks almost insignificant on the map, has given a language to more than a hundred millions of people, and a language, too, which is now cultivated by all the civilized nations of the world?

U. S. MINISTER TO FRANCE.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the nomination of T. J. Coolidge, of Massachusetts, to be Minister to France.

NEGRO LYCHING.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 28.—A telephone message from Goddetsville says four negroes were lynched and two others shot. The cause of the lynching was that the negroes brutally outraged two respectable white girls, aged 18 and 14. The negroes entered the house with drawn revolvers. Great excitement prevailed, and it is thought the mob is not yet through with its work.

ONE HUNDRED SEAL POACHERS.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 28.—The Treasury Department has received the first tidings from Alaska and Behring Sea, this season. The advices, bearing date March 29th, at that time were to the effect that there were 100 vessels known to seal poachers, flying either the American or British flag, in waters where the seal is abundant.

full growth. It is safe to say that English will then be the language of business men of all nations and that it will be as important for a man who does not belong to an English-speaking community to learn English as it will be to study his mother tongue.

There must be some great quality in the people who give not only a language but free governmental institutions to the whole world. What is it?

VIRTUOUS INDIGNATION.

The New York World says: "The avowed intention of France to enforce its rights against Dahomey, and the claim of Great Britain to a free right of way through the territory of the Zebu, may serve to attract attention to the most colossal and shameless land-grab in history."

The strong and civilized nations of the earth in this century have quite as good a right to take possession of Africa as the strong and civilized nations of a previous century had to appropriate America North and South and divide it between them.

It is there any one in America who will say that the human race has not been benefited by this colossal land-grab? Who is bold enough to say that the world would be as good a place to live in as it is if Columbus had never discovered America, or if, having discovered it, the nations of Europe left the Indians in quiet possession of the whole continent?

The Colonist.

FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1892.

A LITTLE BIT SURE.

The San Francisco Chronicle has been quick to take alarm at the action of the Dominion Parliament in passing a resolution favoring mutually preferential duties between Great Britain and Canada.

There can be no doubt about the sincerity of Canadians in making the advance to Great Britain. If the Mother Country would adopt the policy of giving a preference to colonial products over those of foreign countries the United States would soon find out how foolish it had been to listen to the advice of McKinley and other economists.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

The election of President is already occupying much of the attention of politicians of both parties. Who are to be the nominees is the question which they are asking each other.

been heard of the silver bill, and it appears as if the Democrats intend to take the silver plank out of their platform.

WAS IT MURDER?

Americans generally, it appears, seem to think the killing of Mr. George Gower Robinson by Lieutenant Hetherington no murder.

We are not surprised to hear that the English-speaking colony in Japan is divided on this matter between those who regard Hetherington as a hero and those who look upon him as a cold-blooded murderer.

ST. ANANIAS.

The Columbian, with characteristic courtesy, says of the Colonist: "If our contemporary wasn't a wretched scold, it would have followed its better inclinations and supported the publishers of the Columbian for the 'manly and courageous stand they took in defence of the freedom of the press.'"

It appeared at one time as if Mr. Cleveland was the only possible Democratic candidate for the presidency, but his prospects have of late become considerably chequered.

insulting or impertinent, is not in private life considered wise.

PESSIMISTIC.

There have always been men in the world, and good men too, who looked on the dark side of things, and who took a kind of gloomy pleasure in dwelling on the crimes, the faults, and the weaknesses of the men of their day and generation.

The Presbyterian Synod of Hamilton and London fell, the other day, into a pessimistic mood.

"Society is broken into fragments, one part bristling against another because of the intense selfishness with which some are actuated.

This is a dismal picture, indeed, yet the good men who drew up, and the good men who approved this report live with tolerable comfort in this society which is broken into fragments, and in which intense selfishness appears to be the prevailing principle.

There, it is true, class antagonisms in this country and in every other, but at the same time, men are getting nearer, but at the same time, men are getting nearer, but at the same time, men are getting nearer.

There is certainly too much political corruption in the country and it is not confined to one province or to one class; but it should be remembered that there are very many who are not tainted with it, and who are determined to punish those who practise it.

The admission felt and expressed for Alexander Mackenzie, the honest politician, is another good sign.

A new line of Elton Suits, and pants all sizes to hand. GILMORE & McCANDLESS.

OUR SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

Mr. Edward Mohun, C. E., who is in charge of the sewerage works has written what will be to many an interesting and instructive paper on The Sewerage System of Victoria, B. C.

There is no guess work about this matter of the capacity of pipes. Let the diameter of the pipe be given, and the fall or grade, and the engineer will be able to tell almost to a gallon how much sewage can pass through it in a given time.

We think it safe to say that the intelligent man who reads Mr. Mohun's paper at all carefully, will have no longer any misgivings as to the size of the pipes that are being laid in this city.

Some Canadian journalists appear to wish to create the impression that Great Britain has, in a commercial sense, seen her best days, that she has arrived at the summit of her prosperity, and that her decline has commenced.

Last year, he had a surplus of five millions of dollars, and he calculates that after making allowances for deficiencies in the revenue, here and there, and for increased expenditure in some directions, he will in the current year have a surplus of over a million of dollars.

The Golden Era could have had no grounds for saying that Col. Baker has been offered and has accepted the portfolio of Minister of Mines, Education, Immigration and Railways.

THE AMERICAN VIEW.

The following extract from a leading article in the New York World, of a late date, shows how the Anarchists are regarded by intelligent and law-abiding people in the United States:

Manifestly the Anarchist wishes to do something more than kill a representative of the law. He wishes to overthrow society. His method is to terrorize it into surrender by doing his mischief in the most startling and sensational ways.

It is not difficult to guess how the Anarchists would be treated by a people who regard them in this way, if they gave them the slightest provocation. It is fortunate for Ravechol that he did not try to revolutionize society in the United States.

MR. MANELL'S MOTION.

In discussing the motion made by Mr. McNeill in the House of Commons a few days ago the advocates of what has been called "inter-imperial trade" must take care not to fall into the same mistake as the Liberals did when they were decanting on the beauties and the advantages of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States.

"That if and when the Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland admits Canadian products to the markets of the United Kingdom upon more favorable terms than it accords to the products of foreign countries the Parliament of Canada will be prepared to accord corresponding advantages by a reduction in the duties imposed upon British manufactured goods."

Just now there does not seem to be much prospect of Great Britain agreeing to the arrangement outlined in this resolution, but no one can tell what changes may take place in British public opinion with respect to trade matters.

It often happens that when a traveller finds himself in a country and is ascending a slope, he fancies that the point he sees above it is the highest point of the hill, until when he reaches the top, he finds he has further slope to climb.

Coal Shipments. The shipments from the Union Colliery, Nanaimo, for the month of April were 15,073 tons. These respectable totals show the activity at those well-known mines.

Jack Not Yet Rewarded. A decidedly dilapidated pocket book, filled with receipts and duplicates of money orders payable in Sweden, found its way to the Collector's office yesterday, where it was found to be the property of a man who owned a dog, named Jack, who carried the treasure home without opening it, and who should certainly receive the reward if any is offered.

Lost Lucretia. No definite information has yet come to hand as to the whereabouts of the missing Lucretia Vincent. One story going the rounds is to the effect that she was the mysterious female taken to Fort Angeles in a stolen sleep last week. Another report is that she was seen in a Yates street restaurant on Sunday evening, and is occupying rooms on Douglas street.

Victoria's Free Library. During the month of April 19 new books were placed on the shelves of the Victoria Free Library through the generosity of Mr. H. C. Beaton. In the same period 2,716 books were issued, 1,310 to ladies and 1,406 to gentlemen. The total number of books reached high water mark in 1921, the average daily issue being 113 volumes. During the month 36 cards were taken out by ladies and 20 by gentlemen.

A Greer Petition. Mr. Alex. Gilmore Sr., is circulating a petition similar to that got up in Vancouver and Westminster, which sets forth that in consideration of the circumstances of the crime of which Greer was found guilty, and the present destitute condition of his wife and children, His Excellency the Governor-General may be pleased to remit the sentence of two years passed by the Supreme Court. The Victoria petition has now 240 signatures.

A Nice Point of Law. An Indian died recently at Saanich, leaving his goods and chattels to his wife. She lately took to herself another husband, and the relatives of the deceased considered that by so doing, she forfeited her right of dower in his landed estate, and to her succession as legatee, in the implements and farming tools. Several of the relatives consulted a local solicitor yesterday, seeming to think that her widow had lost her title to the personal property.

A Bold Attempt. A French lady, the proprietress of a fruit store on Yates street, was somewhat disturbed on Saturday by the advent of an Italian, who proceeded to turn out the lights, with the evident intention of taking everything on which he could lay his hands. The lady blew her police whistle, and a large crowd collecting, the offending pirate disappeared. A curious Chinaman, who joined them was mistaken by two men for the culprit and was rather roughly handled before the mistake was discovered.

In the Provincial Court. Yesterday afternoon the case of Ding Tin, the Chinaman charged with an indecent assault on a little girl, came up for hearing before Messrs. Ward and Pearson, J's P. The court room was cleared preparatory to the taking of evidence, which proved that the prisoner had met the child with her little brother on the Carey street, and three attempts to get away from her. The magistrates imposed a fine of $50, or in default three months imprisonment. The fine was promptly paid.

A Nasty Accident. Yesterday afternoon James McNaughton, an employe of Messrs. M. R. Smith & Sons, at their cracker factory in James Bay, met with a very serious accident which will probably result in his being laid up for some time. He was fixing some machinery, when a revolving cog wheel caught his hand, crushing it and causing McNaughton to fall to the ground. He was removed to the Jubilee Hospital, where his wound was attended to. At last advice he was resting quietly, and the doctors were hopeful of saving the injured member.

Lost a Finger. Dr. A. H. Baker, dentist, of this city, wears his right hand in a sling just now and is unable to do his work. The accident, which befell him at Goldstream, on Sunday. He was attempting to put a halter on a restive young horse, when the latter reared and plunged. The doctor's hand was caught in the right hand caught in an accidentally formed slip-knot, which, tightening, pinched off the finger close to the first joint. Doctors at the Jubilee Hospital, but nothing could save the finger. Dr. Baker's office will not be closed during his enforced retirement from service.

Little Swans in Prospect. Out at Beacon Hill Park the pet swans are preparing to make a valuable donation to the now depleted "Zoo." Several days ago the park keeper noticed her ladyship fastidiously about, deeply interested, apparently, in some business all her own. He grasped the situation, and loosing the little punt with sticks and straw, he right away for a nest, piled over the little punt over which the swans preside. No sooner had the little boat touched shore than the two swans were at the spot, ready to do without assistance, and the construction of the nest began just as soon as the park-keeper was on the matter. The swans are well lighted. Electric lights will be placed throughout the building. On the first floor will be the restaurant and kitchen, and entirely separate from them, a handsome fitted up bakery. The basement will be used as a bakery. Tenders for the erection of this building will be received at Mr. Teague's office up to the 14th May. Mr. Teague will also receive tenders, up to the 12th May, for the erection of a two-story building for the property owned by Mr. Teague, on Wharf street. It will be composed of stone and brick, and will be used as a saloon and restaurant, and wholesale warehouse. The building will have a frontage of 60 feet and a depth of about 70 feet. Mr. Ed. Mallandaine will receive tenders up to noon of the 12th May, next, for the erection of a two-story building, after designs prepared by him for Mr. J. Keith Wilson. The building will be on two stories, having a frontage on Broad street of 125 feet, and on Johnson of 90 ft. It is to be fitted up with every modern improvement. The basement will be used as a saloon and the upper story for offices. The design is somewhat like that of the Doane block, but will be more ornamental in style, and reflects great credit on the architect.

Beautiful Cadboro Bay. The attractions of Cadboro Bay, in its spring dress, are undoubted, and every day since the fine weather set in crowds of pleasure seekers have invaded the quiet shady beaches and wooded shores of this lovely locality. Small pleasure boats continually sail through the calm water, and in every morning numbers of race horses are seen along the beach, for the racing season has opened. Cadboro Bay will, this season, make a strong bid for public favor.

Work on the Sewerage System. On Saturday afternoon the first length of steel pipe was laid at the sewage outlet at Clover Point. On account of the tides no more could be completed at once, and the men will have to do the job in two days between tides. There are 240 feet of 20-inch pipe and 100 feet of 16-inch to be laid there, and it is expected that everything in that section of the system will be completed during the present month. The concrete sewer through St. Ann's Convent grounds is now under construction, and three hundred feet have already been laid. The sixty finishing siphons required for that part of the work already contemplated will be here on the back of the sewer, and as soon as they arrive will be placed in at the various points where they are required. The construction of man-holes, which was delayed on account of the wet weather during the winter, is now being pushed on as fast as possible.

Farmer-Hone. A very quiet but interesting wedding took place in St. James church, yesterday morning. Mr. John Farmer, of Victoria, being united in marriage to Miss Annie Hone, of the Bungalow, South Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. H. G. F. Clinton. The bride was attended by her father, her sister, Miss Annie Hone, acting as bridesmaid, while Mr. John Tovey supported the groom. After the ceremony, the party repaired to the residence of Mr. Farmer, where a sumptuous breakfast was served. The bride was made the recipient of costly and pretty presents by her numerous friends.

Interesting to Owners of Dogs. From a very high authority it is learned that the juvenile dog catcher having done his utmost in the matter, there will be a field day in the Police Court very soon, when all dog owners untagged canines will be compelled to appear and either pay their licenses or give up the dogs. It appears that the young man whose name is mentioned in the lay-out of the dog catching $30 out of the realm every calendar month is useful up to a certain point only. He can catch and take into the pound dogs of all breeds, colors and sizes, but there are certain class of people, but there are some animals whose owners protect them from molestation. So with these a new form of section has been decided on, and it is expected that the dog catching will be strange if, with the majesty of the law and the adroitness of the dog catcher combined, every dog of high or low degree that parades the streets does not possess a little gilt emblem announcing the fact that it is "solid" with the tax collector. At present only about 50 enjoy that distinction.

New Blocks to be Built. The Young Brothers block, to be erected on the site of the New England Bakery, Government street, according to plans designed by Mr. John Teague, will be one of the more ornate buildings in the city. It will have a frontage of 41 feet, with a depth of 70 feet, and will be four stories high. A four-foot alleyway will be left open alongside the block so that every part of it will be well lighted. Electric lights will be placed throughout the building. On the first floor will be the restaurant and kitchen, and entirely separate from them, a handsome fitted up bakery. The basement will be used as a bakery. Tenders for the erection of this building will be received at Mr. Teague's office up to the 14th May. Mr. Teague will also receive tenders, up to the 12th May, for the erection of a two-story building for the property owned by Mr. Teague, on Wharf street. It will be composed of stone and brick, and will be used as a saloon and restaurant, and wholesale warehouse. The building will have a frontage of 60 feet and a depth of about 70 feet. Mr. Ed. Mallandaine will receive tenders up to noon of the 12th May, next, for the erection of a two-story building, after designs prepared by him for Mr. J. Keith Wilson. The building will be on two stories, having a frontage on Broad street of 125 feet, and on Johnson of 90 ft. It is to be fitted up with every modern improvement. The basement will be used as a saloon and the upper story for offices. The design is somewhat like that of the Doane block, but will be more ornamental in style, and reflects great credit on the architect.

WITH BITUMINOUS ROCK.

A Proposition Laid Before the City Council for Paving Government Street.

There were present the Mayor, and Aldermen McKillop, Mann, Humber, Baker, Styles, Hall, Lovell and Bragg. Mr. Wilmut, City Engineer, was also present. Messrs. the Pacific Asphalt Company, appeared to present their proposition for the paving of Government street with bituminous rock.

Mr. Conaghan, who acted as spokesman, asked if the city would be willing to accept the proposition for the paving of Government street with bituminous rock. He stated that the material would be a very superior one, and would last for a long time. The proposition of the company was a very simple one, and would require a very large amount of material. THE CITY

For Monday Week. The ladies of St. Luke's Cedar Hill, are arranging for a grand bazaar and concert to be given in the school house in about two weeks. Local talent will provide the entertainment and a merry time is anticipated.

District Real Estate. Mr. Joshua Davis, yesterday morning, conducted a very successful sale of district real estate, upon all of which satisfactory prices were obtained. The farming land of the late Joseph Douglas, of Shawanigan district, found a purchaser in his son James.

The Bayward Mill Deal. It is expected that all arrangements for the acquisition of the W. P. Bayward mills and timber lands by the Victoria Bazaar Committee will be completed in about ten days, and Mr. Bayward will then be given 60 days in which to wind up his extensive business.

A Home Changes Hands. Capt. Clarke, yesterday, became the possessor of one of the prettiest and most comfortable residences in the district, generally designated as "over James Bay." The seller was Mr. Wm. O'Reilly and the amount of money moving upwards of $7,500.

Dead on May Day. A cablegram announces the death, at Fellees Road, London, N.W., on Sunday last, of Mrs. Anne Asplund, in her 77th year. The deceased was a native of Sweden, and the funeral will be held on Monday next at the Middle Temple, London, and was well-known to many Victorians.

A Novel Arrangement. Mr. Elford yesterday matched his horse Polly to run against Ribbe's (Gertie), a race which was held at the Victoria Bazaar. The race was won by Polly, and the amount of money moving upwards of $500.

"St. Mark's" Boleskine Road. At the last regular meeting of the executive of the diocesan synod, held yesterday, the dispute over the use of the Church of St. Mark's was discussed and decided. The name given at the opening—St. Mark's, Boleskine Road, Burnside Ecclesiastical District—was confirmed. Rev. M. C. Brown is satisfied with the decision and will abandon the injunction proceedings instituted to prevent the use of the word "Cloverdale" in connection with St. Mark's.

In St. John's School. In St. John's school yesterday, the ladies of the parish, in an informal and successful sale of fancy work, a special feature of which was the stall devoted to Indian curios, presided over by Miss Wood, and provided for the purpose of increasing the funds for Indian mission work. At 5 o'clock tea was served at four long and neatly spread tables, whose appearance was appetizing, and which were presided over by Mesdames, Jennie Murray, Saunders and Norris. Fewer gentlemen attended than were, perhaps, expected, but to excuse them it must be remembered that 5 o'clock tea is, as yet, a novelty in Victoria. A month, no doubt, a larger attendance will grace the tables at St. John's.

Protection of Fugit Sound. Capt. R. D. Evans, who commanded the warship Yorktown at Valparaiso, last winter, during the time when with Chile was considered inevitable, thinks that the American navy is not sufficiently represented in the Sound. Speaking at Port Townsend to-day, he is reported to have said: "To make every American abroad respected and feared, it is necessary to have a strong navy upon which admiration, it is imperatively necessary to have several new cruisers of the Charleston type constructed. What is there to prevent a fourth-rate cruiser being sent to the Sound, and destroying every city on Puget Sound, or else leaving an immense tribute? Across the Straits the British Government has excellent fortifications, and the whole of the coast will be half a dozen modern war vessels at the station. The surest way to avoid war is to be prepared at all times with a large and staunch naval fleet."

Green Goods. Some short time ago circulars were sent to several parties in Victoria from a New York dealer in "green goods" in the hope of establishing an agency in this city. The particulars of the case were duly published in the Colonist at the time, and the exposure of the fraud so completely prevented any Victorian from engaging in the business. One of the counterfeiter has just been caught in New York through a clever piece of detective work on the part of Sam Wall, formerly city editor of the Tacoma Ledger. Wall is now on the editorial staff of the Boston Post. One of the printers on that paper received a circular from the "green goods dealer" in New York, and he was told to Wall. The latter commenced correspondence with the swindlers under the printer's name, went to New York, arranged all the preliminaries by presenting to be very green himself, bought $3,000 of the supposed counterfeit greenbacks for $800, paid for them in good money which was marked beforehand, and after the swindler had the money in his pocket he was at a given signal handed over to the detectives.

Chinese Crossing. During the debate on the Geary Chinese exclusion bill, Senator Squire, chairman of the sub-committee appointed by Congress to investigate the Chinese question, said: "The evidence of the deputy collectors is that about 50 Chinese go into the United States by way of British Columbia each week in violation of the restriction act. The number of Chinese in British Columbia seems not to have increased. It has been stated to me by a person high in official position in Victoria that there are about 6,000 Chinese now in the province of British Columbia, of which about 3,000 reside in the city of Victoria. They have some means of knowing the number of Chinese by reason of imposition of the school tax of $3 per head annually, and the Chinese who do not pay a tax of $5 annually to the government. Thus, it seems that the government of British Columbia is making a nice little revenue out of this business, and that the Chinese are in the market. Of course, the steamship lines from China to British Columbia get the benefit of the passage money. There seems to be established a regular business in transporting the Chinese from Victoria to the United States."

For Over Fifty Years. Mrs. Wrenslow's SOUTHERN SYRUP has been made for over fifty years by millions of mothers and is the best for some distance. It is the only one that is so pure and so good. It is the only one that is so pure and so good. It is the only one that is so pure and so good.

A BIG SUCCESS.

The Ladies of St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West, Score a Decided Hit.

How the Bazaar Went Off—The Concert and Many Other Prominent Features.

Yesterday afternoon, the room known as Victoria West Hall presented a very pretty appearance, filled as it was with beautiful things, hung attractively by the members of the Ladies' Sewing Society of St. Saviour's church, who, during the day and far into the night, were untiring in their efforts to get rid of the many pretty and useful articles exhibited.

Ever since the birth of the society, its members have been continually gaining in numbers, and many times their efforts have brought material aid to their church and helped along many innovations, which, but for their assistance, would have fallen to the ground. The success of the bazaar was a fitting tribute to their untiring efforts.

During the afternoon, the many pleased visitors were not close-fisted, and a large trade was done by the amateur storekeepers, many of whom had their stalls in the manner in which they persisted in forcing their goods on the buyers at a price that would make even a Fort street tradesman draw to the door. The success of the bazaar was a fitting tribute to their untiring efforts.

At the last regular meeting of the executive of the diocesan synod, held yesterday, the dispute over the use of the Church of St. Mark's was discussed and decided. Captain Jack's Adventure in the China Sea - The Woman on the Back Seat.

[Copyright, 1892, by Charles E. Lewis.] Among the relics I have gathered together during the last quarter of a century...

The two particular adventures I am to give you are pretty fully recorded, but so far as I know have never been published...

The Hopewell was an English brig, which had been chartered on the occasion for a voyage up the Gulf of Siam with two objects in view...

The log says that she had a fair run up the east coast for five days, though the winds were light...

At about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, just after what looked like a cloud of dust had darkened the sky...

When morning came Captain Jack looked for the island of Alango, which he had sunk out of sight with all its thousands of trees...

There was flour, sugar, coffee, tea, clothing, hardware, dry goods, shoes, cutlery, wines and almost everything else ever carried in a cargo...

It was during this same voyage, and four days later, when the brig had worked up against head winds to the group of islands called the Sang-Wau group...

the native craft was within a quarter of a mile of the brig, which was being slowly set in shore by a current...

Just out of market about the pirate craft rested on her oars, and Captain Jack counted 30 of the rascals...

No one can be prepared for action under such circumstances. Every one in the car was looking at the woman...

All of us moved at once. She was lifted to a seat and a woman took charge of her. We turned to the man for explanation...

The brig continued to drift in toward the island with the current, and at length the anchor was let go...
