The Union Services of the Congregational and Methodist churches of Watford, for the vacation period of six weeks, got away with a good start last Sunday. Good attendance, fine congregational singing and plain earnest practicing make it worth while. Won't you try to be present at both services next Sunday. Just head your auto towards the church, and bring someone with you.

A very successful tea was held under the auspices of the Women's Institute on Friday July 18th at the home of Mrs. George Stephenson. An attractive arrangement of roses, snap-drapon, etc together with ferns decorated the rooms while pink sweet peas centred the dining tables, which were also laid in pink and white. Miss Mamie Moir presided at the piano throughout the afternoon and her sweet music added greatly to the pleasure of those present. The proceeds which amounted to over eighteen dollars are to be given to the cemetery gate fund. The ladies take this opportunity to thank all those who in any way helped to make this a success, and help along in this worthy cause.

GOING BACK TO CHINA

Rev. and Mrs. Wilbert Williamson visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Williamson, Simcoe street, for a few days this week, prior to leaving for Vancouver where they will sail next month for China, to re-enter the missionary field in South China. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson have been in charge of a church in Chicago since they were forced to return to America two years ago, due to ill-health from the climatic conditions in the far East.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are returning to a field of Southern China where white people have not yet entered. On their previous residence they were the only "white foreigners" within hundreds of miles. Their many friends will pray them God-speed and unbounded grace to perform the Master's work in this far-off land.

The storage house containing North Bay's supply of ice was destroyed by fire the other night. The contents leaked out.

Over in Washington they are experimenting with escalators to help salmon over the dams. The fish take kindly to the sliding scale.

When a watermelon train was wrecked in Georgia the other day the girth of all the pickanninies in the vicinity increased by inches.

A political picnic at which no speeches were made was recently held in an Ontario district. It was unanimously voted the most enjoyable event of the season.

The visiting British fleet was given a rousing reception in San Francisco. While in that port the warships were under sealed orders—the liquor stores were under seal.

Lawmakers at Ottawa, like many athletes, do not get into their best form until the hot weather arrives. It is then time to adjourn.

Finnish athletes are making a fine showing at the Olympic games. The Finns ought to be right at home in the swimming events.

Laziness is defined by a Chicago professor as "controlled power." Many remarkable instances are known where the will to work was restrained by perfect control.

Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, candidate for vice-president on the Democratic ticket, was formerly a cigar salesman. His opponent is now asked to watch his smoke.

A Niagara Falls merchant found a stick of dynamite in the letter box of his front door when he opened his shop the other morning. It was marked "handle with care" and it was.

Knowing where to draw the party lines is an important qualification for the redistribution committee engaged in preparing a political map of the Dominion.

By saving the pennies when he was young, John D. Rockefeller is able to give away dimes on his 84th birthday. A well-oiled stone gathers the moss.

By judicious timing of his visit to Canada the Prince of Wales escapes being conscripted for harvest duty on the E. P. ranch. As on the occasion of his last visit, H. R. H. may help fill the silo.

Ambitious to have "the biggest show on earth" viewed by his own countrymen, an enthusiastic American visitor advocates having the British Empire Exhibition transferred to the United States after its close at Wembley.

A novelty in campaign publicity has been introduced across the border. Motor cars carry plates, similar to license tags, bearing the name of their owner's favorite candidate—"Coolidge 1924" or "Davis 1924."

A Philadelphia man has invented a vacuum cleaner to be attached to any automobile. It should prove useful in gathering up the fragments of dogs, chickens and occasional pedestrians encountered on the highways.

For a wholesome, refreshing and invigorating summer drink the Ohio state health commissioner says there is nothing better than the old-fashioned raw oatmeal in a pitcher of cold water. "A handful of oatmeal in cool water distributes certain ingredients throughout the liquid that are both nourishing and thirst-quenching. The main one of these is starch."

During the recent visit of the Spanish royal party of Italy Queen Victoria sang for the sailors on one of the battleships in Naples harbor. Just to show that there was harmony in the family King Alfonso joined in the chorus.

According to a recent order, bobbed hair is made compulsory in China. The regulation applies to both sexes and natives appearing with braided tresses hanging down their backs meet Samson's fate with the police doing the Delilah operation.

When Jefferson Davis was president of the Confederate States during the Civil War. "We'll hang Jeff Davis on a sour apple tree" was a popular campaign song in the North. Republicans would probably be satisfied with keeping his distinguished namesake out of the White House.

Neighbors of citizens who abandoned their household pets when leaving for their vacations do not have to depend on radio concerts for their evening entertainment. The homeless cats and dogs provide a programme that makes a jazz orchestra sound like a lullaby.

Note and Comment

The following advertisement is from the Moncton Times: "Notice to the Public. This is to notify all persons that I intend getting married, and I hereby request that anyone having any objection to offer will file such objection within thirty-five days with the undersigned.—Joseph Gallant, Moncton, N. B. Born in P. E. Island."

Edward W. Bok, whose first job was washing windows at 50 cents a week and whose last job was editing the largest woman's magazine in the world at goodness knows what salary, owes his success to using rung in the ladder as a step to the next higher. He is in a position to give pages and pages of advice to young men, but instead he sends them the same message given him by his grandmother when he started on his career. "Make you the world a bit better or more beautiful because you have lived in it."

While driving along 18 sideroad last night, the writer saw a horse drawn buggy ahead. It was visible only because its shadows were shown up by the headlights of a motor car coming from the south. The motor crossed to its right side of the road and the buggy completely disappeared, nor did any amount of eye straining render it visible. If we were driving a buggy at night, we would certainly carry a light for our own protection.

One of the weekly newspaper men on the Overseas trip writes from Southampton:—"Two things especially impress the visitor—the vast numbers of able-bodied men out of work, tramping the streets, and the multiplied number of drinking places everywhere. While driving from the 'New Forest' to the C. P. R. docks I took the opportunity of counting the number of tap rooms and liquor stores on the direct drive between these two points, and I was amazed to find that we passed 67 of these places. England's drinking habit and the out-of-work problem are evidently very closely related."

There has been some talk at Toronto to the effect that there is a "farmers' strike" in Ontario. It is suggested that the farmers are curtailing production with the idea of forcing up prices. It may be that farm production in Ontario is decreasing; but this is not the result of any concerted movement; it is the result of conditions which farmers have not been able to control. With the low prices at which farm products are selling, as compared with the prices of other goods, farmers simply cannot afford to hire help to cultivate their farms as thoroughly as they did in former years, and as a rule they are putting in just enough crop for the farmer and his family to handle without hired help. Even at this they could not get through their work, especially in the busy fall season, without the neighborhood co-operation which is so general a feature of farm life in Ontario. The city folks need not be afraid the farmers are not doing their share. There is no eight-hour day in the rural districts. There is no "strike fund" available for farmers. The farmer gets no pension. When the city chap is off in the evening to the movies, or joyriding, or sitting on his front steps grumbling at the high cost of living, the farmer is still working away at his chores and figuring on an early start in the morning for another hard day's work. There is no "farmers' strike."

We would like to know if the story of the fellow finding a pearl in a sardine, is really true, or merely an advertising stunt to boost the sale of sardines.

After a young couple from Arkona were married in Forest church they requested the local newspapers to make no mention of the event. It would be interesting to know which was 'shamed of 'other.

A scarlet fever epidemic has broken out in Kincardine and all schools, picture shows, dance halls and other gatherings will be closed indefinitely. They have over 70 cases in the town. This shows to what an alarming extent this disease will go if not checked and the utmost precautions are not observed.

The big printing firms of Toronto which have the name of their publishing house prominently advertised on every school book they publish do not print text books at the price advertised on the books. They get direct grants from the Legislature to pay the cost of the plates and any loss they may have at the low price of printing the school books. This extra comes under the heading of what is known as subventions to publishers as supplementing retail prices of text books. Here's the haul six firms got from the Provincial Treasury:—Copp Clark Co., $13,578-18; T. Eaton Co., $106,692.94; W. J. Gage & Co., $13,212.76; Hunter Rose Co., $174.59; McMillan Co. $1,475.16; Ryerson Press, $22,921.15. The T. Eaton Co. isn't printing those public school books so cheaply after all.

This, from the Ridgetown Dominion, is equally applicable to Watford. The advent of warm weather has brought the usual Saturday night throngs to town. Everyone is glad to see them come. Like all other good things, however, the situation is not perfect. Many of the merchants feel that some of their customers are not quite fair in putting off their shopping until the last thing before leaving for home. It seems not unreasonable to ask that shopping be done early and the social activities relegated to the time after business is transacted. We believe that customers would see the point if they would place themselves in the place of the clerks in the various stores. These clerks, under existing conditions, work on Saturdays from fourteen to sixteen hours—an unfair strain at any time and particularly in the hot weather. Shop early and make the other fellow think well of you.

He Should Worry.
An old Scotchman was threatened with blindness if he did not give up drinking.
"Now, McTavish," said the doctor, "it's like this: You've either to stop the whisky or lose your eyesight, and you must choose."
"Aye, weel, doctor," said McTavish, "I'm an auld man noo, an' I was thinkin' I ha'e seen aboot everythin' worth seein."

Where Everybody Knows Everybody

(London Advertiser)
The automatic telephone is in operation in one of the Toronto exchanges. A little dial on each phone enables the user of the phone to call any number. The girl central has disappeared.

This is the price we are paying for a mechanical triumph, and it is the price people pay for huddling together in a great city like Toronto. It may be very efficient, but the girl at central is missing. No more of those romances where the tired businessman was soothed by the creamy voice that said "Line's busy."

But in the smaller centers, out in the towns and villages, the girl at central remains, and she's a wonder.

When a call goes in for the town's leading merchant, there is no curt reply, "He doesn't answer." Not a bit of it. The explanation is given that "He passed here just a few minutes ago, and he'll be at the store shortly."

When the town lawyer is wanted, she states that he went out to the lake on Saturday afternoon and won't be back until Tuesday morning.

That's service. It saves time, worry and delay. That girl is sort of pivot on which the town turns. No dials, no clicking machinery, no triumph of invention—just plain, wholesome service that not only tells you that you can't get the party but explains why.

And the best of it is that the girl at central in these smaller centers is not going to be swept off her pedestal. She's as important as the town constable and pay day for the school teachers.

HOW MANY DO YOU MAKE IT?

A question for solution has been going the rounds of the papers that is about as difficult of determination as the old question, "How old is Ann?" Here it is:
How many apples did Adam and Eve eat?
Some say Eve 8 and Adam 2—a total of 10 only.
Now, we figure the thing out far differently: Eve 8 and Adam 8, also—total 16.
On second thought we think the above figures are entirely wrong.
If Eve 8 and Adam 82, certainly the total would be 90.
Scientific men, however, on the strength of the theory that the antediluvians were a race of giants, reason something like this. Eve 81 and Adam 82—total 163.
Wrong again. What could be clearer than if Eve 81 and Adam 812 the total was 893.
We believe the following to be the true solution. Eve 814 Adam and Adam 8124 Eve—total 8,938.
Still another calculation is as follows: If Eve 814 Adam, Adam 81242 oblige Eve—total 82, 056.

The Cause Of Sickness

Almost Always Due to Weak and Impoverished Blood.

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two reasons. The mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root, namely poor blood. Either bloodlessness or some other trouble of the nerves will be found to be the reason for almost every ailment. If you are pale, suffering from headaches, or breathlessness, with palpitation of the heart, poor appetite and weak digestion, the cause is almost always poor blood. If you have nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is exhausted nerves. But run down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same.

If your health is poor; if you are pale, nervous or dyspeptic, you should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These pills act directly on the blood, and by enriching it give new strength to worn out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit through the use of this medicine. If you are weak or ailing, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and you will be pleased with the beneficial results that will speedily follow.

If your dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Asthma Cannot Last when the greatest of all asthma specifics is used. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy assuredly deserves this exalted title. It has to its credit thousands of cases which other preparations had failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the patient to a condition of blessed relief. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

AN eye-headache some times accompanied by an earache and burning sensations of the eyes is caused by an over effort of the brain to understand a blurred image that has been thrown on the retina of the eye. In the eye-camera the foci are changed by the eye muscles that swell and reduce the shape of the crystalline lens. When these muscles become weakened an optometrist must prescribe the outer-man-made lenses to bring about this focus accommodation.

School Board Fight

May Explain Fire

(London Free Press) Fire Marshall Heaton Probes Conflagrations at Bracebridge High School.

Bracebridge, Ont., July 22.—Sensational stories following two serious fires at the high school were hinted at during the official inquiry held here to-day by Fire Marshall Heaton.

Following up rumors of lack of discipline among the pupils, differences between the principal and the school board, and the futile efforts to arrive at satisfactory explanations, the provincial fire marshal was unable to arrive at any definite conclusions. The investigation will be continued in Toronto on Friday, when officials of the insurance companies concerned will be faced with to-day's evidence, and when public school Principal Minnes will be asked to give testimony.

Although over 30 witnesses were heard here to-day, and while the majority of the evidence indicated that the fires were of incendiary origin, nothing of value in determining the actual cause of the $13,000 conflagrations was brought to light.

The demand for canned whale meat has become so pronounced that the prospective pack of the Victorian whalers is already disposed of. England will be the distributing market for canned whale meat this year.

A replica of an old time Hudson's Bay fort, such as once was the nucleus of the western posts of the great company, and which still exist in the far north, will be erected at the Calgary Exhibition grounds, July 9 to 14, as a part of the big Stampede feature. Special arrangements are also being made to provide a commodious camping ground for the Old Timers who will attend with the old-fashioned chuck wagons and cowboy equipment.

Running on schedule the Canadian Pacific Steamship's liner "Empress of Canada," Captain A. J. Hailey, again demonstrated her right to the claim of "Queen of the Pacific." The Canadian vessel left Vancouver twenty-four hours behind the American liner "President McKinley" bound for Yokohama recently. The "Empress of Canada" docked about 3 A.M., and the "President McKinley" arrived at 8 A.M.

HENS AND EGG LAYING

A Melange About the Handling of Barnyard Poultry

How to Tell the Layers—Conditions Necessary for Production—High Egg-Yielding—Distribution of Eggs—More Poultry Points.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Can you tell which hens are laying without the use of trap nests? This is easy to determine if one will go to the trouble of handling each bird suspected of being a loafer. When a hen commences to lay, conditions in the organs concerned in reproduction are quite different from conditions observed during the period of idleness. When the ovary is dormant and no eggs are being produced the distance between the pelvic bones is small. The vent is dry, small, puckered, and, in yellow fleshed chickens, has a band of yellow pigment around the inside. When laying commences the pelvic bones become pliant and spread apart to permit the passage of the egg. The vent becomes large and moist and the ring of yellow pigment disappears. A visit to the poultry house on an early winter evening and a half hour spent in going over the hens will be profitable.

Conditions Necessary for Production. The experience of the Ontario Agricultural College Poultry department has been that a hen will not lay if not in good condition. She should be healthy, free from any disease, and show plenty of vigor and activity. The first pullets to lay in the fall have been the early maturing ones. The pullets that have developed slowly in body and feather have been just as slow in starting to lay. The results of liberal feeding and general good care have always been reflected in the pullet flock and a full egg basket during the period of early winter high prices.

High Egg Production. The requirements for high egg production are clean, dry, comfortable houses, that are free from direct draughts over the birds, and that are well lighted. The feeding consists of a variety of grains, green feed, animal feed, grit and shell, which is clean, sweet and wholesome, and is given to the birds regularly, and in such quantities that they have all they want to eat before going to roost at night; that the supply of drinking material is clean and abundant; that the attendant is regular in his or her work, and is interested in the same; that the birds are bred from good laying ancestors, and that they are hatched at the proper season and well reared, and are free from disease.

Distribution of Eggs. A study of the distribution of the egg production is interesting and important from the point of the annual returns from the birds. Egg prices rise and fall with the seasons, and usually the greatest profit is made where producing eggs at a season or seasons of the year when prices are high. Pullets are the chief source of egg supply. As stated previously, they require usually from six to seven months in which to mature. It is, therefore, possible to regulate their production in the fall months at least to some extent by regulating the time they will hatch in the spring.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

More Poultry Pointers. Crows are likely to steal the eggs from the late turkey nests if the nests are made at some distance from the buildings. Be sure that the young growing chicks are well fed to promote growth and that they are given liberal range where there is abundance of green feed and also animal feed in the form of insects, worms, etc.

It is poor economy to keep more cockerels than will be needed for next year's breeding operations. If they are sold as soon as they are of broiler or fryer size a loss will be stopped and the pullets will do better without them.

Cold, damp, poorly lighted and ventilated poultry quarters favor the spread of such diseases as roup. Such contagious diseases as these are difficult and sometimes impossible to control unless given attention in the early stages. Wherever preventive measures fail, separate sick birds from the flock as soon as there is evidence of disease and then obtain expert advice to effect a cure.

If the chickens must be confined on account of bad weather, provide a good straw litter to which their grain feed may be scattered. This will give them exercise and keep them interested and healthy. When chickens that have been accustomed to free range are closely confined this frequently checks their development for the time being unless they are made contented in their new quarters. Provide green feed for them also.

Indian Runner ducks seem to have gone out of fashion, which is a pity as they are excellent layers, and stand at the head as table fowls. They are easily raised, do not make the disagreeable noises that other ducks do, and eat less than any other breed bred ducks. They thrive on coarse feed, and can be raised cheaply and safely, as a duck hatched usually means one raised to maturity.

LOOK FOR LUNGWORMS

An Annoying Disease Too Common Among Pigs

Nature and Development of the Ailment—Treatment—Preventive Measures—Autumn Cutting of Alfalfa—Harness and Bolting.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Nature and Development of the Disease. It is commonly known as lung-worm disease, due to the presence of small thread-like worms in the air tubes of the lungs setting up pneumonia. The worm causing this disease is named the "Metastrongylus apri," and is also known as the "Strongylus paradoxus." These worms locate in the air tubes of the lungs, where they deposit their ova or eggs in great numbers. The ova as well as the embryos or young worms are then expelled from the air passages with the secretions and discharges from the nostrils, while some are coughed up and expelled from the mouth during spells of coughing, or else swallowed and expelled with the feces. This accounts for a wide-spread contamination of the floors of the pens and the ground in the lots and yards containing affected pigs. Small pools of water are also liable to become contaminated. In these different places the larvae develop, and from time to time become more or less a menace. Infection usually takes place with feed and water in hog pastures, lots and pens which have become contaminated by affected pigs. In turn the parasites invade the air passages of the infected pigs, and there reach sexual maturity setting up the disease in the lungs. Once a place becomes contaminated with these parasites, the infection remains dangerous for a long time, because the affected animals keep on furnishing fresh infectious material. As a result the disease gradually becomes more or less permanently established on certain premises. Stagnant pools of water, moist poorly drained yards, and dirty pens, favor the development of the infection. Young sucking pigs may also become infected from the udder of the sow through contamination of its surface. Young pigs, a few months old, are the most easily infected, and suffer the worst until after they are four months old.

Treatment. Badly infected and well developed cases do not respond to treatment, owing to the fact that the worms are located in the small air tubes of the lungs and difficult to get at. Slightly infected cases, if removed to clean quarters and kept from becoming more heavily infested, seem to gradually recover. Treatment of the affected animals with drugs is not satisfactory unless the drugs are injected into the trachea or windpipe through a hypodermic syringe. The intra-tracheal injections require to be done carefully by a veterinary surgeon. The drugs recommended as being most useful are Lugol's solution, combined with turpentine and olive oil. As a rule preventive measures are successful in overcoming the disease and preventing its recurrence.

Preventive Measures. The first thing is to remove all of the healthy looking pigs from among the affected ones, and place them in new clean quarters, some distance from those previously occupied. The hog yards and pens should be placed on clean high ground, with good drainage. They should be cleaned out regularly, and bedded with good clean straw. The hog wallows should be constructed of concrete and kept clean. The hog pens previously occupied by infected pigs should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected by washing with hot water and lye and then whitewashed. The hog lots and pastures previously occupied by infected pigs should be ploughed up and seeded down. Low lying places collecting stagnant water should be drained. As soon as the young pigs are weaned they should be removed from the sows and kept separate from all mature pigs in order to prevent them from becoming infected from these adult pigs which harbor the parasites. These suggestions, while comparatively simple, are nevertheless effective in overcoming this troublesome parasitic condition of pigs.—Dr. C. L. McQuiray, Ont. Vet. College, Guelph.

Autumn Cutting of Alfalfa. In the Field Husbandry department of the Ontario Agricultural College alfalfa has been under test for twenty-six consecutive years. In each of twenty-four years the alfalfa gave three cuttings per annum. In 1907 two cuttings, and in 1896 four cuttings were produced in the one season. The spring of 1896 opened up very early and that of 1907 very late. The third cuttings were made on September 17th in the average of the twenty-four years. It is important to cut alfalfa before the 20th of September so as to enable the crop to make a good growth before the approach of winter. So says Dr. C. A. Zavitz of the Ontario Agricultural

A COLUMN ABOUT MILK

What Chemical Experiments at the Agricultural College Show

Detecting Milk Adulations—Powdered Skim Milk—Milk in Breadmaking—Feeding Silage Before Milking—Milk Matters.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Detecting Milk Adulations. The Chemistry department of the Ontario Agricultural College during the past year made a study of the freezing point of milk by means of the Hortvet Cryoscope, proving the apparatus to be absolutely reliable in detecting adulation of milk by adding water. The Hortvet Cryoscope having a scientifically accurate construction, now fills that much needed requirement of an official test for detecting added water in milk regarding the breed of cows from which the milk may be obtained.

Powdered Skim Milk. The comparative values of powdered skim milk and powdered buttermilk were found to be about equal in experiments carried on at the College. The average total gains per pig were 121.6 pounds for those fed on the skim milk powder and 122.8 pounds for those fed on buttermilk powder. Although the feeding value of these products is good, the market price for hogs and the high cost of the skim milk and buttermilk powder makes its use prohibitive as live stock feed.

Milk in Breadmaking. The Chemistry department has also studied experimentally the effect of whole milk, skimmed milk, condensed milk and milk powder in making bread. The whole milk naturally had some of the effects of fat, and the sweetened, condensed milk some of the effects of sugar, but, otherwise, milk will not replace sugar, malt or shortening in making bread. It has an influence all its own which none of these other constituents will produce. In conjunction with these other ingredients it does, however, influence the flavor of the bread, and improve the color of the crust. In fact it makes a richer loaf of bread, with greater moisture-retaining and higher food value properties.—Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Feeding Silage Before Milking. There is always a tendency that when green feed is given to cows shortly before milking that it will impart to the milk some odor, and possibly taste. This does not always follow, but it is not considered advisable to feed green fodder, silage, or other strong smelling feeds just before milking. When cows are turned into pasture in the spring there will be developed in their milk a particular odor that to some people is quite disagreeable. Also cows turned on sweet clover, and particularly those pastured on rape or green rye, will impart to their milk a very strong odor, and possibly a flavor, unless they are taken from such pasture several hours before milking. Not only does the cow seem to pass on this undesirable odor through her blood to her milk, but where strong smelling silage is fed in the barn the odor is likely to be absorbed by the milk at the time of milking. For these reasons silage and other similar feeds are best fed after milking.

Who Is Kept? We frequently hear dairymen say, "I keep ten cows," or "I keep six cows." All too often they are much nearer the exact truth than they imagine. The statement should be reversed. Dairymen should ask themselves two questions, "How many cows are keeping me at a profit?" and "How many cows am I keeping at a loss?" There is not enough fun, amusement or excitement in caring for dairy cattle to pay too high for the privilege. The reason so many "boarder" cows are in the tie-ups of the barn is because few farmers know which cows are profitable and which are not. Milk scales, white paper, Babcock test reports and the gumption necessary to keep tabs on production over a year's period are just as essential to profitable dairying as pitchforks and milk pails.

Milk Matters. Nine and one-half pounds of milk are required to make one pound of hamburger cheese. Milk will take up impurities with more rapidity and hold on to them with greater tenacity than almost any other food product.

It is easier to keep milk clean by keeping the dirt out of it than it is to clean it after the dirt has contaminated it. A clean udder will go far toward clean milk, and a few seconds spent in wiping the udder with a clean, damp cloth will prevent much future trouble. Encouraging a cow to give milk with a milking stool is expensive to her owner. Exactly why a cow puts four or five per cent. of fat in her milk is still an unsolved problem, but the ease with which she will take the fat out of her milk with but slight provocation has been solved many times.

EXHIBITION BUTTER

Preparing Butter for Showing at Fall Fairs

Clean Cows, Stables and Utensils—The Score Card—Keep Cream Cool—About Coloring—Have Neat Packages—Cause of Lump Jaw.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

During the next few weeks the fall fairs will be on all over the Province. This means that many of the people on our farms will be very busy preparing their exhibits.

Butter is one of the many things that will require attention, because every buttermaker wants to make a creditable showing.

Clean Cows, Stables and Utensils. Have the stables, cows and all utensils clean, and do not feed the cows anything that might give an undesirable flavor to the butter. The judge will pay particular attention to the flavor, and it is given 45 out of the 100 points on the score card. Churn the cream sweet, or with low acidity, as that is what is wanted by most judges.

Keep the cream cool and churn at a temperature low enough to bring the butter in nice, firm granules in from twenty to twenty-five minutes. A lot of butter shown at our rural fairs is made from cream insufficiently cooled, and is churned at too high a temperature. Because of this the body is weak and the color pale, or, if the salt is unevenly distributed, the butter will be streaky.

Points on the Score Card. All of these things are considered by the judge, as is shown by the score card, which reads as follows:

Flavor	40
Texture	15
Incorporation of moisture	10
Color	10
Salt	10
Packing	10
Total	100

Keep the Cream Cool. If the weather is warm, the ice supply exhausted, and the water not cold enough to lower the cream to the required temperature, it would be well to get a piece of ice to cool the "exhibition" cream and the water used for washing the butter. This butter will be firm enough to stand sufficient working, and it will have better body and texture, improved color and more even distribution of the salt.

About Coloring. If it should be necessary to add a few drops of coloring to the cream be careful not to add too much. Better have the butter pale than to have it highly colored. Do not wait until the morning of the fair to churn the cream. The butter will be in better condition and will score higher if it is made two or three days before. This will give it time to become "set," and the flavor of the butter and salt will be blended.

Have Neat Packages. The packages must be as neat and tidy as it is possible to make them. Use a box or crock that looks new. A chipped or cracked crock will reduce the score under the heading of "packing."

When a person has made an effort to make a good product he has a feeling of satisfaction even though he does not win a prize. There is always this fact to bear in mind—the prizes are few in number but the competitors are often many.—Belle Millar, O. A. College, Guelph.

Cause of Lump Jaw. Lump jaw is not a hereditary disease, nor is it directly contagious or "catching." It is caused by the invasion of a puncture wound, laceration or abrasion of the skin or mucous membrane lining the mouth by the "ray fungus" (actinomyces). The disease technically is termed actinomycosis, from the fungus mentioned. In probably a majority of cases the disease is caused by the beards or awns of barley, rye, wheat or wild grasses, or the hulls of straw of grains, and possibly the stalks of fodders carrying the infective spores of the fungus into the tissues. When pus flows from an affected tumor or abscess, caused by the fungus, it contains canary-yellow, gritty particles which contain spores, and these getting onto grass, grain, etc., in time infect animals when wounds occur. For that reason an animal that has a discharging actinomycotic sore or abscess should not graze with sound cattle, and had better be kept isolated. As some of the pus may also get into milk and contaminate it, a cow affected with a discharging disease centre should not be used for milk production. It may be added that the meat of an affected animal is fit for use if slaughtering is done before emaciation is caused or pus forms and while the animal is otherwise in good health and eating well. The same is true of milk. But if the lump has become an open sore, neither flesh nor milk of the affected animal is fit for human food.

Saskatchewan Seer Can See Into Future

Scottish-Canadian Farmer has Strange Gift of Foretelling Big Events

Regina, Sask., July 22.—Every day radio stations in all parts of the world broadcast a daily synopsis of news sensations. Every day radio "bugs" of all ages and walks of life "tune in" to get the details of the interesting budget. But there is one man at least who requires no receiving set or delicate apparatus known to the radio world. He is A. B. MacNaughton, a Saskatchewan farmer of the Valeport district.

There are some strange tales that come from Valeport. Those who dabble in matters mystic might call him clairvoyant. His critics—and he frankly admits it—say he is abnormal. He has been dubbed the "human wireless" and the cognomen appears to fit.

Strange if true! Though one may believe or doubt there is a chain of corroborative evidence which indicates that the sturdy little Valeport Scotch-Canadian is a real mystery man; an individual of endowments.

Has Premonitions.

"Mac" as he is familiarly known in the neighborhood, was no great genius as a youngster, but his inexplicable talent was manifest at an early age. Premonitions of calamities, such as beset the paths of youngsters would occur to him days and sometimes even weeks before they actually occurred. Dreams they were called by his parents, but strangely enough these visions generally came true. As a result of being ridiculed because of his peculiar talent, MacNaughton for years maintained a strict reticence respecting his visions. As the years passed, however, his strange "dreams" became more pronounced. They grew stronger, more vivid, the messages seeming to come out of space; were more detailed, and easier understood. Like mirages in the desert they came both in waking and sleeping hours.

It was not until three or four years ago that he mustered sufficient courage to speak of them to others than his wife. He confided in a few friends who he thought would understand after making several exacting tests that were unphased by the results attained.

"Mac" foresaw that President Harding's western trip would be his last. He had premonition that the tour would end in a tragedy. It was a depressing sensation as he recalls it. The face and figure of the president were discernible but seemed formed from a block of marble. "I felt as if I were attending or about to attend a funeral," is the way he described his feeling.

Foresaw Plane Crash.

Concerning this marvel's latest confirmed vision; He distinctly saw the crash of the round-the-world United States plane piloted by Major F. L. Martin. At the time he wrote to a Regina newspaper giving details of the crash. Several days later, when Martin and his mechanic Harvey, had made their way back to civilization, the vision was confirmed in practically every detail.

MacNaughton's own explanation of the strange qualities which he possesses is this: "In all parts of the world fellowmen and women, are constantly thinking, scheming, contriving, suggesting, experiencing manifold emotions and sensations. Thought-transference has been proven possible by other than the spoken or written word. Who knows but that I am just a 'receiving set' for these thoughts and sensations that are unconsciously broadcast by fellowmen?"

One of the Valeport seer's favorite controls, according to his own statement, is the Prince of Wales. His Highness, Mr. MacNaughton says, will suffer another very serious hunting or riding accident, probably before next year, which will incapacitate him for some time. And "Mac" predicts that the long-discussed matter of a bride for the Prince will soon be settled. The queen-to-be will be of the Prince's own race.

A Weather Profit

In and around the neighborhood of Valeport, the infallibility of MacNaughton's weather prognostications is well known. Giving his views on this subject he said: "It will be only a moderate crop year, I believe about two-thirds crop. In the latter part of July or early August when the grain is filling out, there will be some extremely hot weather which will cut yields. "As to the price, perhaps I should not say so, but wheat will sell above the $1.33 mark this fall.

That may offset the decrease in threshing turnout."

MacNaughton's most startling prediction, however, was to come. "Six cyclonic storms", one or two of which will be most severe, will sweep Saskatchewan during the present season.

"The year will be a very serious one from hail damage, particularly in the old hail areas where loss to crops from this agency will be severe," he said.

MacNaughton is a man of about middle height, strong in build, and active as many a boy of twenty.

The most striking feature of his face is a pair of very bright, very deep-set green-blue eyes that sparkle and shine when he converses about this strange talent. He is a likeable sort, a good conversationalist, obviously well read and keenly intelligent.

"Mac" unquestionably is an enigma.

Saskatchewan Renounces Prohibition

Saskatchewan has declared against the prohibition legislation which has been in force in that province for some years. The pronouncement of the voters there seems sufficiently emphatic to demonstrate that they are thoroughly dissatisfied with existing conditions.

Decisions by the people of the various provinces of Canada where plebiscites have been recently suggested that prohibitory legislation has not been a success. This is due mainly to the element of hypocrisy that has characterized these attempts by the provinces to control the liquor traffic. For example here in Ontario we have restrictions of a very drastic nature applying to the private individual, intended to prevent him having access to a supply of liquor, while at the same time distillers and brewers are permitted to manufacture millions of gallons of intoxicants right in the midst of the so-called prohibition area.

It is a situation of this kind that disgusts reasonable people and justly cause them to regard the prohibition legislation, so far enacted as political camouflage of the most despicable type.

Those people who are opposed to liquor legislation that is absolutely prohibitory will point to the result of the plebiscite in Saskatchewan as one more striking illustration of the fact that the severe extremes to which such legislation has been carried in this country have forced a reaction of public opinion. All the western provinces will now have a measure of government control of liquor supplies and all will be on the same footing.

There may be some foundation in a belief that the very keen competition existing between the western provinces with regard to settlement and to the attraction of visitors from the United States may have had some effect on the desire of these provinces to discard prohibition.

When the province of British Columbia first adopted the system of government control there was a disposition to impute an advantage to the province not only financially but also from settlement of view. There were many at that time who believed that other western provinces would follow the example at the first opportunity. They have done this in turn.

Ontario is greatly interested in the situation as it has developed in the west, though it would be hardly justifiable to place too much importance on the result of the various plebiscites in the west in an attempt to prognosticate the trend of the vote in this province.

In Saskatchewan both pro and anti-prohibition forces put up a lively campaign of propaganda, though it is doubtful if either side could claim much in the extent to which public opinion was influenced.

People nowadays do their own thinking and it is the vote of the great silent mass which really determines the direction of the majority.

Ontario will hear a great deal on the respective virtues of prohibition and government control between now and October 23, but it will be no easier to anticipate the swing of public opinion on October 23, than it is today though, it may be said that the example offered is influencing a popular vote.

If governments would put their coercive powers to the task of ensuring that the liquor manufactured is as pure as it is possible to make that commodity and then set a price that would eliminate profit from the stuff, the liquor problem would soon be solved. It is the fantastic profits in the trade that have encouraged those who make a living from it to engage in all sorts of illegal trans-

Railways now Preparing for Harvest Rush

Interior view of Colonist car used on harvesters' trains.

Cutting of all wheat is expected to begin within about a week, says a report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and as a rule fall wheat is looking very promising. Western reports are also very encouraging, but just what the harvest is expected to be will not be generally known until representatives of the three prairie Provincial Governments and the two railroads meet in Winnipeg to discuss the labor situation and the best means of securing help to harvest whatever crop there is. However, the crop reports issued to date by the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway have been very optimistic and this company is already gathering and distributing equipment to various points in anticipation of a heavy movement of harvest workers.

The movement of harvesters has developed into quite a department in railroad transportation offices. As once the movement starts it must be rushed through to completion as speedily and effectively as possible, the attention of a large staff of men is concentrated for nearly a month before, during and for some time after the rush on assembling equipment, distributing it to the various parts of the country from whence the harvesters are drawn, making up the special trains, securing supplies for the lunch cars, and the hundred and one things which have to be looked after in order to ensure smooth running and of which the traveler usually knows nothing and probably cares less.

During the last four years the Canadian Pacific Railway has handled some 85,000 west-bound harvesters. Last year this Company inaugurated the Lunch Counter car which afforded facilities hitherto unknown to excursionists and, although perhaps not as a direct result of this innovation, over 26,000 men travelled in special trains over Canadian Pacific lines.

This year the Company is making practically the same preparation as last. As soon as it is known just how many are required to work in the harvest the excursions will be arranged and trains made up. The excursions originate from as far east as the Maritimes and as far west as the border of Ontario, but all are of the same type as far as rail equipment is concerned.

Colonist cars are used which afford comfortable seating during the day, facilities are afforded those who wish to prepare their own meals in a small kitchen at the end of each car, and at night bunks may be pulled down as an upper berth or the seats extended to afford comfortable sleeping quarters. The lunch counter car in which as many as fifty men can take a meal at the same time is an important section of the train. The traveling harvester is sure of being able to secure a meal to suit his purse and of the food supplied him being of good quality and served in a sanitary manner. Last year this department on Canadian Pacific lines served over two hundred thousand meals, and the experiment was so much appreciated, and proved such a success that it has now become a regular institution.

Old timers travelling west now-a-days regard the trip as a holiday and the number of women and children who have been seen travelling with the harvesters since the standard of service rendered has been what it now is, has increased to a remarkable degree.

actions. In this they are encouraged Miller's Worm Powders destroy ed. They thoroughly cleanse the stomach and bowels and leave them in a condition not favorable to worms, and there will be no revival of the pests.

Taking Care of the Honey Crop

(Experimental Farms Note.) Honey is a perishable article no matter whether it is left in the comb or extracted. With care it can be kept in good condition for long periods, especially in the extracted form. Nectar, as stored by the bees, contains a high percentage of water, which must be evaporated before the cells can be filled and the right amount of evaporation has taken place, the honey is sealed over and is then considered to be "ripe." It is not advisable to extract honey until at least three-fourths of the cells are capped, especially in regions where the honey is inclined to be rather thin. Comb honey should be left on the hives until all cells containing honey are sealed but should not be left on any longer than this or the sections are likely to become travel stained.

The honey should be extracted as soon as possible after the supers are removed from the hives and if done while still warm, more honey will be taken from the combs. After the honey is extracted it must be strained to remove all foreign matter. Straining may be done through fine cheesecloth or by letting the honey stand in tanks for two or three days, when all foreign matter will have risen to the surface. If the honey is well ripened, it should be placed in the final containers at once before it starts to granulate, but if it is too thin it should be left in the tanks a short time for further ripening. Honey should be stored in a dry place, as it readily absorbs moisture from a damp atmosphere. Honey ripening in tanks should stand in a warm, dry room. Ripened honey in containers ready for market will keep better in a cold, dry place. Section honey should be stored in a well-ventilated room where the temperature is high and constant or moisture will condense on the cappings and be absorbed.

Phonograph Records for Posterity

Phonograph records as a means of perpetuating the story of present day civilization have suggested themselves to persons who have worried over how those to come after will know how we lived.

Looking far ahead of his time, a German professor is collecting phonograph records, which he is said to guarantee for 10,000 years to appear the intelligent curiosity of posterity about the present age. Imagination conjures up a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Posterity selecting a record from their collection of numerous speeches and sayings gathered from the natives of many countries, and listening with delight while the selected native mechanically addresses the family. Times will have changed, even beyond the reminiscent memory of Grandfather and Grandmother Posterity, and one is justified in wondering upon what kind of chairs, to consider a single detail, they will be sitting and with what kind of toy Baby Posterity will beguile the tedious hour while the curious elders are thus being 'enlightened.'

Of course they will observe the fact that human utterance has materially changed, and the Posterity family may marvel at the oddities and quaintness of the selected native's pronunciation. The younger Posterity's perchance man even giggle, for, unless human nature shall have greatly changed, they will consider their own pronunciation much better than anyone else's. But whether they will be edified by what they will be listening to is altogether different matter. Indeed while such records might fascinate students and present problems for their erudite consideration, it is extremely doubtful if they would be of the slightest real interest or use to our friends, the Posterities.

And then, too, supposing the German professor's records should eventually be discovered by excavation in an age that, having long forgotten the phonograph, would wonder what they were and try to decipher them as presenting an unknown writing. Then, instead of enriching posterity with immediately recognizable knowledge, he would have provided a puzzle for archaeologists comparable to those records of the ancient Minoan civilization which are undoubtedly records, but which nobody can read. Or, again, they might be regarded as symbols of some forgotten religion, the Cult of the Disk, perhaps a form of sun worship.

One would not, however, wish necessarily to discourage the professor. His motive, doubtless, is worthy and disinterested, and if his records (and a phonograph) survive they will surely give posterity food for thought, and material on which to exercise its intellectual ingenuity. Students of literature may even argue that similar things were what suggested the phrase, 'Sonorous metal blowing material sounds,' to the poet Milton when he was writing 'Paradise Lost.'

Cholera Infantum

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

SATURDAY EVENING SHOPPING

This, from the Ridgetown Dominion, is equally applicable to Watford. The advent of warm weather has brought the usual Saturday night throngs to town. Everyone is glad to see them come. Like all other good things, however, the situation is not perfect. Many of the merchants feel that some of their customers are not quite fair in putting off their shopping until the last thing before leaving for home. It seems not unreasonable to ask that shopping be done early and the social activities re-gated to the time after business is transacted. We believe that customers would see the point if they would place themselves in the place of the clerks in the various stores. These clerks, under existing conditions, work on Saturdays from fourteen to sixteen hours—an unfair strain at any time and particularly in the hot weather. Shop early and make the other fellow think well of you.

Those in the office above heard him fall and rushed to his rescue. On being removed to fresh air he shortly revived, but it was a close call.

While on his egg route one day last week, Mr. N. Leitch of Alvinston, had the misfortune to be thrown off the wagon and severely shaken up when his horse ran away near Whitton's store. However he is now able to be about again. A couple of cases of eggs and cans of cream also suffered.

Amherstburg Echo:—"The grading of eggs, which was allowed to languish for a few weeks, has again been taken up seriously by local merchants, since the visit to this district of departmental officials, who are instructing them on the regulations and serving notice that infractions of the law will be followed by prosecution and fine."

A New Experiment

J. M. Wass of Granton, has long been one of the progressive farmers of that district and in the matter of improved feed for his stock he seldom is found in the van. This year owing to the failure of his sweet clover crop he has decided to substitute Alfalfa for ensilage purposes. Accordingly last Friday he was busy filling his silo with freshly cut alfalfa and a mixture of timothy and alsike clover. He expects this kind of feed to turn out just as satisfactory as did his sweet clover ensilage last year. Granton and district farmers will watch Mr. Wass' results with interest.
