INCREASES OF PENSION RATE PUT IN FORCE

Dominion Government Raises Allowances by About Forty Per Cent.

MADE RETROACTIVE

All Recipients Will Get Extra Cheque Dating From April First.

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Sir Thomas Whites, minister of finance, today gave out the following statement: "Upon the recommendation of the minister of finance, the pension regulations applying to members of the Canadian expeditionary forces have been amended by an order-in-council approved by his excellency the governor-general. The amendments make error-general in their effect. They provide for an increase in pensions and allowances to, and in respect of, soldiers and sailors holding lower ranks up to and including the rank of sub-lieutenant in the Canadian navy and lieutenant in the Canadian expeditionary force.

The most important changes provide for increases in pensions and allowances. These changes will be considered as having come into force on the first day of April, 1917, and in this way all pensioners will be entitled to an extra cheque covering the difference between the pension paid since April 1, and the date on which the adjustment is made. The changes will affect the pensions of soldiers and sailors and their children, their orphan children, their widows and children, dependent parents, and their younger brothers and sisters. The total increase in the amount payable by Canada for pensions and allowances will be approximately 40 per cent. At the present time the annual expenditure involved is about $5,000,000, and with the increased outlay for pensions will be over $7,000,000 during the fiscal year.

A second change made is only slightly less important. It provides that disabilities shall be divided into 20 classes instead of six classes. In the future disabled men will be certified as follows:

Premier Lloyd George Declares War Will Proceed Some Time.

London, Oct. 22.—Premier Lloyd George and the chancellor of the exchequer, Andrew Bonar Law, were the principal speakers at an imposing demonstration in Albert Hall this afternoon to inaugurate the autumn campaign for national economy. The hall was crowded, while on the platform were many distinguished men, including the Archbishop of Canterbury, General Smuts, the members of the cabinet and the allied diplomats. The premier, who was accorded a tremendous reception, declared that the magnitude of the enthusiasm gathering in the fourth year of the war was the best proof of the determination of this country to prosecute the war until victory was achieved. The cost of the war was gigantic; it was heavy today and would be heavy tomorrow.

One hundred and twenty thousand workers on war savings committees—a fine army—were doing splendid work and he thanked them for their labors in connection with the last war loan, which had been most successful, and also in connection with the food economy campaign, which had resulted in a saving in food supplies of from one to seven per cent. That in itself meant a saving of hundreds of thousands of tons.

Over Half German Raiders Were Destroyed in France on Way From England, Says Semi-Official Note Issued at Paris.

Paris, Sunday, Oct. 21.—A semi-official note issued this evening dealing with the raid of airships over France last week, says: "Information obtained up to the present time permits of the belief that 11 zeppelins coming from England flew over France Saturday. The expedition, impeded from the start by fog which covered a great part of England, was transformed into a disaster thanks to the activity of our aerial anti-aircraft defence force. The other five were destroyed by our French territory at dawn. Three tried to cross our lines between Lunenburg and Baccarat. One of these was downed by the 17th section of the aviators belonging to ascadrilles N-77, N-81, and N-89 (Nioupot Chaser machines). The aviators reached one zeppelin at an altitude of 15,000 feet and fired point blank at it. The pilots were forced to cease their at-

Hon. T. A. Crerar Announces Plans of Ottawa Ministry to Regulate Profits—Election Campaign Opens at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—Five thousand people filled the convention hall of the industrial bureau tonight and cheered to the echo the exposition of the aims of the union government made by three of its western members. Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration; Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of agriculture; and Hon. A. McEighen, minister of the interior, were pledged to the cabinet as representative of the Great Western Grain-Growers' Association, spoke first, declaring that, although he felt his duty to enter a union government pledged to win the war, he sacrificed none of his principles, particularly in regard to the tariff. But he realized that these matters must be subordinated to the supreme task before them.

Next, Mr. McEighen, secretary of state, and well known to Winnipeg audiences, struck a high and impressive note. "The government," he said, amid tumultuous applause, "on whose behalf we speak tonight, is built on the rocky foundation of service and on that rock we stand or fall."

Mr. McEighen made a stirring appeal for support in the coming contest, asking a verdict of the electorate as would strengthen the hand of the union government in the heavy task that lay before it.

Mr. Calder, who spoke last, thru his long and honorable association with the government of the sister province of Saskatchewan, and had many warm friends in the audience, and he struck a responsive note at once when he spoke of the circumstances that there should be on that platform in Mr. McEighen the quintessence of Toryism, and in himself of Britism while in Mr. Crerar they had the leader of independent western thought. The war was a strang fact that brought those

British Home Secretary States Only Five Reached Objectives and But One Penetrated the Defences of London and Dropped Bombs.

London, Oct. 22.—In the house of commons today Sir George Cave, home secretary, said that Friday night's air raid appeared to have been carried out by ten or more zeppelins. Of these five failed entirely to reach their objective, leaving the country without causing material damage. Of five which came near London four failed to penetrate the defences. The remaining one drifted over London with her engines cut off, dropping three bombs, which unfortunately caused loss of life.

British air planes went up, but the atmospheric conditions were most unfavorable for attack or defence and they were unable to bring the raiders into action. As was known, four raiders were brought down in France, and information regarding the others was awaited.

American Experts Expect Allied Operations to Be Continuous in West.

WASHINGTON REVIEW

Hun Baltic Operations Designed to Bolster Up Failing German Morale.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Military experts here do not expect winter to halt the great allied drive against the Germans in Flanders. Secretary Baker's weekly review of war operations, issued tonight, discloses the belief of the war department that the potency of material and men will enable the British and French commanders to triumph over natural obstacles and continue forcing the enemy backward without waiting for spring. The review touches for the first time upon the American expeditionary forces in France, declaring the men, after three months' intensive training,

British Conduct Highly Successful Operations at Poelcapelle—Combine With French in Attack South of Houthulst, Carrying Many Strong Points—All Objectives of Attack Exceeded By the Entente Forces.

London, Oct. 22.—The British and French forces in Belgium have delivered another attack against the German front northeast of Ypres, and have captured all their objectives, including many strong points, were captured. The offensive was launched southeast of Poelcapelle and northward along the southern border of the Houthulst Forest. The fighting front covered a distance of about a mile and a half, with the French operating on the northern end. Near Poelcapelle the British drove on beyond their objectives and gained important ground. The French troops took the southern defences of the Houthulst Forest and in addition a series of fortified farms. The attack began, as has been customary, in the early hours of the morning following a heavy bombardment of the German positions, and apparently the allies met with only slight resistance. The gains of ground were quickly made, and afterwards there was only a feeble reaction by the German artillery.

Germans Land Forces on Mainland and Drive Back the Russians. TAKE 1,200 PRISONERS Larger Landing by the Huns Somewhere on the Coast Expected.

London, Oct. 22.—The Russian Gulf of Riga fleet which last week apparently was bottled up in Moon Sound, by the German naval forces, has made its way out of the sound, and is now guarding the northern entrance to the sound of Worms Island. The Russian vessels made their escape without further losses than the battleship Sliava, which was sunk in a naval engagement last Wednesday, and two other vessels, presumably transported, which went ashore. From its new position the fleet is situated so that it may make a dash for the Gulf of Finland around the western Estonian coast, or if menaced by attack from the German units, take refuge again in the waters of Moon Sound and play hide and seek with the enemy. Meanwhile the Germans have landed forces on the Estonian coast, pressed back the Russian right wing slightly and occupied the western portion of the Werder Peninsula. That a larger landing somewhere along this coast is in anticipation, is indicated by the statement in the Russian official communication that Russian patrol boats have cut off the Russian official communication in the vicinity of the Gulf of Riga, large enemy naval forces are cutting the Russian official communication. More than 1200 advancing transports were taken by the German forces in the conquest of Dagoo Island, where also large numbers of guns and quantities of war stores fell into their hands.

'Old Bleach' Are Linens of Quality

Like the "Heirloom" Linens of Bygone Days, They Are Bleached By Ye Olde Process of Grass-bleaching—Hence Their Silky Sheen and Life-long Wear.

A SIGHT TO REJOICE the housewifely soul are these table cloths and napkins bleached on the greens at the famous "Old Bleach" mills at Randalstown, in Ireland. The patterns are so distinctive, and there is such a fabulously satin-like sheen to the linen damask of which they are composed.

As for wear, they may well be compared to the old "heirloom" linens which were passed on from one generation to another. Their bleaching has been done by the sun. No injurious whitening chemical has touched their pure linen threads. They are as notable for durability as for beauty.

To quote prices and patterns. "Old Bleach" table linen with oval band of roses, of strawberries, of shamrocks, or of poppies. Cloth 2 by 2 yards, with one dozen napkins 24 x 24 inches. Price, $13.50. Or cloth 2 by 2 1/2 yards, with napkins 24 by 24. Price, $14.75 the set.

In a floral drape design, or in a combination of roses and polka dots—cloth 2 by 2 yards, with napkins 24 by 24 inches, $15.00 the set. Cloth 2 by 2 1/2 yards, with similar napkins, $16.50. Cloth 2 by 3 yards, with similar napkins, $18.00 the set.

In thistle design, with festoon of oak leaves and roses at the corners, cloth 2 1/2 by 3 yards, with napkins 24 by 24 inches—price, $24.50 the set. —Second Floor, James St.

Misses' Jersey Cloth Dresses, $22.50 to $30.00

THESE misses' gowns in the popular Jersey cloth are particularly well designed, some having pleated skirts, broad belts with the smart large buckle, and bodices of various kinds frequently adorned with embroidery and having contrastingly shaded or white satin collars; others are cut on graceful straight lines with loose sashes and touch of embroidery on front of bodice. Colors include the newest Burgundy, brown, mole, navy, green and Belgian blue. Sizes 14 to 20. Prices, $22.50, $25.00, $27.50 and $30.00.

Imported Coats of Pom-Pom Cloths, $27.50

It has two convenient set-in pockets. Sizes 14 to 20. Price, $27.50. —Third Floor, Yonge St.

Women's Imported Skirts, In Velveteen, at $9.75

SKIRTS of this fashionable material—a fine quality English velveteen—which have just arrived are made in a very smart style showing the new straight lines, slightly shirred under an all-round, broad belt which fastens with three buttons of the material. Two very smart novelty pockets, which are also button-trimmed, complete an altogether excellent skirt. Colors black, navy, brown, green, taupe and beetroot. Waistbands 24 to 30. Price, $9.75. —Third Floor, Centre.

HAVE you noticed the popularity of rust color for the embroidery of coats and frocks? On blue and black serge dresses especially it is used to charming effect.

Such delightful dinner gowns as the French dressmakers have turned out this year—evening gowns of that modified, informal type which means endless usefulness in even the quietest of social seasons. There is a bevy of them here in the little Rose and Grey Rooms. One concoction of black chiffon and ivory lace looks as though Cheruit had blown it together, such an airy, filmy thing it is. Jeanne Lanvin's genius for simplicity is expressed in an alluring gown of flame color velvet allied with crepe de Chine of the same sunset tint, and delicately wrought with gold threads. Jenny has combined black velvet and cherry red Georgette crepe in picturesque medieval fashion, picturing the crepe with ruby beads. And Lanvin is responsible for a delectable model in black charmeuse, slashed to show an underblouse of white crepe de Chine. They are such "stuff" as dream dresses are made of.

Down in New York beauty patches of black court plaster are being cut in butterfly shape when worn with the low-necked evening frock—a fad patronized chiefly by the pretty young flapper, to whom novelty is as the breath of life.

Suits with bustle coats are not confined to Fifth Avenue and the fashion journals. Have you seen those in the Suit Department here?

Those who have been begging us to republish directions for the knitting of the sleeveless sweater, Balclava helmet and trench cap, will be glad to learn that full instructions will, upon request, be supplied with the purchase of the wool.

Drawing Towards the Climax.

It is unlikely that any decisive action is possible on the western front this year. What General Haig has done is to make his position absolutely secure by taking all the high ground in Flanders, so that an attack next spring, when the campaign is renewed, can be launched against the Germans under the most favorable circumstances. If we could expect more than this it would be the capture of Ostend and Zeebrugge, and the consequent curtailment of submarine activity for the winter. This would make everything comparatively snug and safe till spring. We must not be too sanguine about what is possible even though the urgency be very great. The daily expenditure thru an idle winter is a staggering fact to face. Britain's forty millions, poured out every 24 hours, is an inconceivable treasure. France is almost exhausted, but will never give in. Italy is hungry and almost face to face with famine. The condition of Serbia, Belgium, Rumania, Poland, is beyond description. Germany is not worse, and Germany is very straitened. Russia is in a hopeless case, a bad debt, as we said some weeks ago, from which little is to be expected.

What is there to depend upon? What cheer is there in the situation? The answer to that is in the United States. The extraordinary briskness and activity with which the American Government has jumped into the war, once the decision was made, will be a matter for the comment of history. There is a degree of thoroughness about the American national character, an attention to detail, an ingenuity of foresight and provision, a determination and inflexibility of purpose, which promises certain success in all to which Uncle Sam puts his heart and hand.

There appears to be a good reason for this. President Wilson, in all good faith, negotiated with the Kaiser for nearly three years. He tried everything that promised to maintain peace and keep the Germans within the bounds of civilized decency. Not only did they flout his notes, and trifle with his negotiations, but they deceived and tricked and juggled and conspired, as Mr. Gerard's remarkable book shows; they plotted in the United States itself, they murdered American citizens, they destroyed American property, they hoped to overthrow the Washington government and raise the standard of a Teutonic rebellion. All this has been traced to Kaiserism, to the policy of the Hohenzollerns, and America has resolved that democracy and the Hohenzollerns cannot coexist.

The Kaiser has sent his crown and jewels to Amsterdam for safety. He knows the game is up. He shall not need them long. The hand-writing is on the wall. Britain, with her traditions of chivalry and mercy, has been complacent for three years and allowed many things to pass which greatly comforted the Teutonic alliances. Uncle Sam is not going to comfort the Kaiser any longer. He has declared war, and it is to be such war as the Kaiser himself has waged, minus the brutality. The courtesies of war are at an end. The day of soft things is past. The easy policy is done.

Vast treasures belonging to Germany which have been treated as the held in trust, are to be confiscated. All the nickel which the Germans have hoarded will be dragged into the light of day. Cotton, steel, copper, leather, oil, chemicals, and other war supplies, purchased by German agents in the sure and certain hope of the Kaiser that the United States was scared of him and his spies, will be taken over as the spoils of war, and used against those who intended them for other uses. There is said to be a million bales of cotton, worth $148,000,000, and the Queen of Sheba would have been more astonished at the total of this booty than at Solomon's.

Nor is Uncle Sam going to permit the little neutrals who have been holding the sponge and the towel and the leopards for the Kaiser these three years past to continue to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds. They will have to come to heel and acknowledge the master of the hunt.

Food now becomes a prime necessity of war. Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland and Spain have ceased to comfort the enemy of mankind. They sold their food to Germany, and relied on the enemies of Germany to feed them.

Uncle Sam has settled this policy. The neutrals shall have no more food until they have consumed their own. Famines must haunt the neutral board as well as that of the belligerent. A desperate world may see the necessity of uniting with those who wish to end this wretchedness by destroying its author—the Kaiser. It is to Washington that Europe looks today. Her money in billions, her men in millions, her great guns, her munitions, her navy, constantly growing; her merchant marine increasing by thousands, her submarines, her aeroplanes, all this mighty host, accumulating its forces, will be ready in the spring to strike the blow for which the British, the French, the Canadians, have been preparing. No wonder the Kaiser has sent his crown to Amsterdam. The great war approaches the last act of the drama.

Two-Fifths of a Cent.

One of the Pecksniffian characteristics of modern society is to make a horrible example of one of the glaring successes of the system to which we are all contributory, and having degraded him for his most eminent crime of having been found out, caught in the act, we accept this scapegoat expiation, while all the other goats continue as usual to flourish on the system and commit crimes equal to or greater than that of the discovered culprit.

This is why there is a social ferment in England and everywhere. This is why the system as well as its products must go. This is why the eminent exponents of the system are held so culpable by their equals, because by being too brilliant, too clever, too eminently successful, they only demonstrate the iniquity of the system and all that flourish by it. The theory is that if you take enough not to make it worth bothering about, or if you conceal your operations with reasonable business propriety, the system may last for ages; but if you run it at high speed, right over the measured mile and give the show away, by compelling everybody else to keep up the same speed, no sympathy is due from your peers any more than from your victims.

We have no wish to anticipate the report of the commission on the bacon trade, but where everybody is commenting it may not be amiss to call attention to some of the facts. It appears to have been a revelation to many people that gigantic aggregate profits were derivable from infinitesimal profits on ultimate units. This, of course, is the secret of all the big businesses. Their profit is actually not as large as used to be taken out of the smaller blocks of business carried on by a very large number of smaller concerns. It is not profit that is the real mischief and the real danger, and we are apt to lose sight of this fact in the enormity of the sums of money piled up on profits of two-fifths of a cent a pound. When you buy half a pound of ham or a cent a pound, you never worry over one-fifth of a cent, nor even over half a cent, if it cannot be split in your favor. If you bought five pounds of ham and were offered a two cent rebate on the transaction, you would probably buy an extra paper, or drop the coppers in the children's aid box. But those are the profits that roll up to $750,000 in one year in a big business.

Of course not. The high prices are created by the long train of middlemen who toll not, neither do they spin, thru whose multitudinous hands there pass (by proxy) the products of the farm, the fishery, the orchard. Each hand takes its toll and boosts the price a little higher. The last man who gathers all together is satisfied with two-fifths of a cent, and is astounded at his own moderation. But it is the last straw on the camel's back. All the previous middlemen have concealed their tracks. This one has sold his soul for two-fifths of a cent.

The defence of the profiteers is that if they did not do it somebody else would. It is the same defence in principle which the Kaiser has pleaded all along. We do not acquit the Kaiser. Shall we acquit the profiteers? Not if we do not wish to bring on a revolution which shall be as bad as the French, the Russian and the coming German one all rolled into one.

We have pointed out already how the worst middleman is he who puts unnecessary capital into watered stock, and draws wages in the shape of dividends for doing nothing at all except guarding his scrip. This is the part of the system that is most crafty and malignant, for it enlists in its behalf all kinds of innocent as well as cunning people, who continue to support the system for what they get out of it, and defend the two-fifths of a cent because of their share in it.

The working man is also appealed to, and on much the same principle. If the big business is not carried on, if the market is not raked for material by successful competition, the factory must close up, and the workman will be out of work. The same plea, be it remembered, will ask that this workman be not enlisted for the war, lest there be a scarcity of labor. The Janus system looks both ways.

When all is said and done and the system, with its sleeping partner middlemen, its competition forcing up prices, its grip on the workmen, its monopoly control of distribution, crowding out the small man; its huge turnover, and its two-fifths of a cent net profit, has been seen in all its complex malignity, ruthless as the tornado, irresistible, and heartless, transforming men into money machines; the worst feature about it is the sacrifice of talent, of business ability, of honorable intentions, of moral sensibility, so that men engaged in it can see no wrong about it, can even glory in what ought to be its shame.

There is only one thing that in the future will redeem any organization of this character; its machinery can probably not be improved upon; for the purpose intended it is a success; the post-curing practice by which brine is sold for butter, putting two ounces to the pound when three quarters of an ounce is the proper quantity, and there are other sharp practices which grow up when not service but profits are in view, all equally indefensible. The one thing that can change the character of such an institution is public spirit. To substitute this for the spirit of private gain would work many revolutions. Watered stock would disappear. Middlemen would be tolerated only for services actually rendered. There would be no less efficiency, and perhaps, as some have contended, there would be greater success, wider business, lower prices, and constantly extending patronage. Under such circumstances, it is also contended, profits would continue to accrue with increasing volume. There is no reason, however, why such profits should become private gains as long as there are public channels for their disposal. Instead of adding to the taxation of the people, $750,000, which is about two mills on the dollar in Toronto, could be turned over to the hospitals and other public charges.

When the head of such an institution becomes so morally blind that he cannot see the evil of the system, of which he may only be the tool or the victim, but of which he may also be the clever manipulator; then it is time for him to take thought, not by his own defective standards, nor by the stultifying comparisons possible with his peers, but by the great ethical standards which dominate the moral world. Verily it is harder for the rich man to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven than for the camel to go thru the eye of a needle. And what shall it profit a man if he loses his soul for the sake of two-fifths of a cent?

Other People's Opinions

A Soldiers' Home.

Editor World: The Palmer House, which was used as headquarters for the most successful campaign that was ever entered into in the interests of the British Red Cross, is now dismantled of its decorations. I think it would be a most useful place for a soldiers' home for our returned men, many of whom probably will never be able to get into civil employment again. If the public-spirited citizens will come forward in their usual patriotic spirit, raise a sum of money, form a company, with shares of $1 each, every workman could take a share if they so desired. If the government were approached in a suitable manner, I think it might be arranged with the owner to rent the same, it being conveniently situated to the new union depot, and furnish a comfortable home at a reasonable rate. H. B. Brett, 87 Simcoe street.

The value of others is fully recognized by the Chinese, who train them to fish. A scheme is on foot to take tin ore from Bolivia via the Panama Canal to Jamaica Bay, where the largest European firm of tin smelters has just purchased a tract of some nine acres of land on the northern shore.

CANADA'S NEW PARTY

Draft Coalition Marks End of Conservatives and Rise of Unionists With Many Liberal Members.

By Sir John Willison, Late Publisher of The Toronto News, in The New York Tribune.

Canada has a new government and with its advent the Conservative party will probably disappear. We have had our party names from England. In the days of crown government those who maintained the authority of British officials and recognized the ascendancy of Downing Street were called Tories. This was meliorated to Conservatives as the result of self-government, were conceded to the British North American Provinces.

When Conservative and Liberal leaders united to achieve confederation Sir John Macdonald, the first prime minister after the union of the provinces (who belonged to the Conservative party), was Robert Borden, who was described as Liberal Conservative. To this usurpation the Liberal party never assented, and generally the names of the two political parties in Canada were Conservative and Liberal leaders have coalesced for definite objectives. The more energetic prosecution of the war, as at present, has been the result of the office of prime minister, but half of the members of the new cabinet have belonged to the Liberal party.

Naturally unwilling to be described as Conservative or Liberal, the term Unionist becomes necessary. The term Unionist almost suggests itself, and as Unionist is the follower of the new cabinet, it will be known as a Unionist. The name of the old name of the party was not favorably regarded. It was said to be distasteful to the American settlers and to the elements of the population. But for the circumstances which have produced coalition the old name would have persisted. It is curious, too, that even if Unionist is adopted we still have Robert Borden, who is from Great Britain, where Unionist is the last coinage of the old British party.

For four months Sir Robert Borden struggled to effect a coalition with the parliamentary opposition. When the voluntary system of recruitment became necessary to reinforce the Canadian expeditionary army, the Conservative party was not so easily overcome. The Conservative party, particularly in the French Provinces, refused to accept the prime minister, therefore, made advances to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Liberal party. He offered to place half the seats in the cabinet at the disposal of the opposition, and to place the other half at the disposal of the Conservative party. The cabinet should apply the same principle to the necessary reinforcements for the army.

Sir Wilfrid refused to enter a coalition with the Conservative party. The result was a division in parliament on conscription only twelve English speaking members of the Conservative party adhered to the government. The Liberal party falling to effect a coalition with the official leader of the Liberal party, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in favor of the Conservative party, and the Liberal party, with representative Liberals in favor of the draft. Over and over again the Liberal party, representing the four provinces, adopted a radical social program, denounced the Borden government, and pronounced against a union or national government under Robert Borden. Later western Liberal leaders, with whom the Conservative prime minister had been in consultation, admitted the names of four men, two Liberals and two Conservatives, to the cabinet, and two of whom they would enter a union cabinet, in favor of one as a condition of their joining the cabinet. The Conservative party, however, refused to accept the coalition, and finally refused to consider other proposals. The Liberal caucus also declared unequivocally in favor of union under Sir Robert Borden, and the Conservative party, with the reorganization of the cabinet, with a single regard to national rather than party interests.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Offer. In the cabinet, the Liberal party was dissolved and the country stood on the threshold of a general election. The day after the general election, the Liberal party drafted a resolution, the result of which was that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in favor of the Conservative party, was ready to resign his office, and to turn over all that work to the medical service of the militia department.

ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FOILED. Kingston, Oct. 22.—William D. Christie, brought down from Parry Sound to serve seven years for forgery, while in the police cells awaiting his removal to the Portsmouth prison, was rescued by a party of men, who were trying off bars when caught by the police. He was afterwards shackled and later landed safely in the pen.

FEW WILLING TO SERVE. Kingston, Oct. 22.—The district registrar under the Military Service Act has received 878 certificates of registration from men in this district, and of this number 18 were willing to don the uniform.

Liberals Strongly Represented. In the new cabinet there is a strong representation of the Liberal party. Ontario sends N. Y. Rowell, M.C., Liberal leader of the provincial, or state, legislature, one of the very best platform speakers in the country, and a Liberal, and the chief figure in Canadian Liberalism. From the east come F. B. Carvell of New Brunswick and George H. Murray of Nova Scotia. Mr. Carvell was the most influential Liberal member from his province in the last parliament, while Mr. Murray was Premier of Nova Scotia, when the Liberal party held office continuously for a generation. From the west come H. C. Crerar, president of the Grain Growers' Company of Manitoba; J. H. Calder, who was a member of the provincial government of Saskatchewan; and A. L. Sifton, who was Premier of Alberta.

All these have been aggressive advocates of low tariff. They were vigorous supporters of the reciprocity agreement with the United States, which was rejected in 1911, when the Conservative leaders overthrew the Laurier administration. The grain growers, of whom Mr. Crerar is one of the most influential leaders, are in favor of a wide measure of free trade with the United States, and ultimate free trade between Great Britain and Canada. The organization of the Liberal party, however, is not a political party, but a definite political program. Indeed, the great majority of the members are embarked within the western Liberal party. It is remarkable that these western radicals should have coalesced with the Conservative party, and that the trade agreement with Washington six years ago. Still, one does not have to go far for the explanation. It is said that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier, opposing conscription, should carry it, the country, any government that he could form would depend upon Quebec and the groups opposed to the war, and that his success in the elec-

Men Making Repairs to Organs in Churches Feared to Be Importers.

Kingston, Oct. 22.—Two men who posed here as organ experts, and who were engaged in making repairs to organs in St. Mary's Cathedral, St. George's Cathedral and Queen Street Methodist Church, representing themselves to be connected with a prominent Montreal firm, were found to be importers, and left the city suddenly following an investigation. It is thought they are German spies, as they are of foreign extraction. It is recalled that German spies in England secured work as organ repairers and placed bombs in churches.

Conduct of Hun Raiders in Convoy Action Denounced in Norway.

Christiania, Oct. 22.—The Norwegian newspapers bitterly denounce the "murderous attack" of the Germans in the convoy action last week in the North Sea. The newspapers in Bergen where survivors of the attack were taken, demand the deportation from Norway of all Germans employed by the German General Purchasing Agency. These journals call the attention of the authorities to the danger to Norwegian trade from "this German gang, not only now, when many of them are common spies, but also in the future."

General Newburn May Disband Military Hospitals Commission

Kingston, Oct. 22.—In military circles there is an apparently well founded rumor that Major-Gen. S. C. Newburn, the new minister of militia, is to disband the military hospitals commission and turn over all that work to the medical service of the militia department.

"NO SUGAR" SIGNS ALL OVER NEW YORK

Purchasers Limited to Pound or Two, Official Price Being Eleven Cents.

New York, Oct. 22.—With many more stores displaying "no sugar" signs, plans to insure an equitable distribution of the remaining supply available here were made at a meeting today of sugar refiners, wholesalers and retailers. Commissioner of Markets Moskowitz fixed ten to eleven cents as the maximum retail price for sugar by agreement of those attending the meeting. Dealers charging more than this figure will be cut off from further supplies. This provision is calculated to curb profiteering. Further details of the plan, will be worked out at a meeting in the local offices of the federal food administration tomorrow. It is to be made operative as soon as completely drafted. Patrons of most retail dealers today were unable to secure more than a pound or two of sugar, purchases being limited to this amount so as to discourage hoarding.

LOOK OF DESOLATION

Assessment Department Official Denies Figures Are Too High.

At the court of revision yesterday AM. Archibald represented William Hunter when he appeared on appeal against an assessment of $27,684 on land situated on the south side of Adelaide street between Simcoe and York.

Harry Nixon of the assessment department submitted figures showing that the values had touched $64,000 on this land. Ald. Archibald said he did not know that, but knew that the original syndicate had lost money, and rather than lose all had turned it over to another syndicate who assumed the first mortgage.

W. A. Smith, a member of the court, thought $300 per foot would be a fair assessment on the land now assessed at $400, and the chairman was in favor of a reduction, but judgment was reserved on account of other appeals from the same neighborhood.

Outlook Black. "The outlook for this neighborhood is very black," said Chairman Deayton, referring to property on King street between Bay and Simcoe streets, when an appeal was heard against the assessment of $122,225 on the old Woodbine Hotel.

The land assessment of the North American Life, 112 to 118 West King street, was reduced from $1700 to $1300 per foot. A similar reduction was made on the Baldwin estate of 83 West King street, and a reduction of $400 a foot was granted J. E. Henderson on 78 King street.

The land assessment from 173 to 179 West Adelaide street was reduced from $400 to $300 per foot. Mrs. Prudence Sloan appeared against an assessment of $16,233 at 196 West King street. Mr. Nixon stated that she had sold the property at $20,000, receiving $8000 in cash, and later had to take it back, retaining the $8000.

The court reserved judgment in the appeal of the Prince George Hotel Company against the assessment of $556,250 for the property at the southeast corner of King and York streets. The property has a frontage of 208 feet on King street, assessed at $400 per foot, and a depth of 88 feet on York.

Decision was reserved in the appeal of Douglas Ponton against an assessment of $45,000 on the property which is owned by the King Street Realty Company at the northwest corner of King and Yonge streets.

Mr. Nixon pointed out that the annual rental of the stores underneath the building alone amounted to $43,250.

WILL HOLD SHOWER.

Mrs. Arthur Glazebrook will hold a shower at her home, 516 Huron street, on Wednesday afternoon, from 2 to 8 o'clock, for Christmas gifts for the men in the trenches. All contributions will be sent to a chaplain at the front, who will distribute the gifts to those who need them.

EMPLOYES DISCUSS METHODS OF BUSINESS

Murray-Kay Firm Inaugurates New Scheme of "Get Together."

Business and pleasure were combined in a very happy way last evening at the store of the Murray-Kay firm, when the employees, gathered in all about three hundred, gathered on the fourth floor where high tea was served and a delightful program given later. Mr. John O'Connor, the chairman, gave a short address, in the course of which he told that at a meeting held by the managers, the idea had occurred that it would be a good thing for all who had part in the work of the business to meet together for an hour or two of social intercourse, and that the affair of the evening had grown out of the suggestion.

The chairman then reported the results of the O'Connor campaign among the different departments for "bigger business," and roused the pride of his hearers by reminding them that Murray-Kay's had sixty-three years of good business traditions behind it, and that it depended upon each and every one to do his or her part, because the strength of anything was never stronger than its weakest link.

Short papers were given by members of the O'Connor campaign, showing how to treat the public and the business of the department so as to get best results. Those who contributed musical selections were Mrs. A. Broughton, Miss M. Jackson, Mr. Hallman, Miss N. Pettis, Mr. Featherstonhaugh. A reading entitled "A Modern Sermon" was given by Mr. Gordon. The gathering is likely to become an annual event.

NO DECIDED TREND IN MINING STOCKS

Sustained Buying Power Not Yet in Evidence—Big Dome Sells Off.

Fairly extensive transactions but no definite trend marked dealings on the Toronto exchange yesterday. The public is not yet in the market for any considerable degree, and as sustained buying movements can be counted upon, a good deal of stock seems to be hanging over the market, and small advances are usually followed by realizations.

PROFITS OF MINE LARGELY INCREASED

Mining Corporation of Canada Makes Splendid Record as Producer.

Splendid progress has been made by the Mining Corporation of Canada, Limited, during the year, and the figures supplied in the annual report bear eloquent testimony to the effectiveness of an aggressive policy which has resulted in large output and substantial net earnings. The company has been reorganized so as to make it distinctly Canadian, the English company which owned 92 1/2 per cent. of the shares having been wound up.

WAR BONDS ONLY ACTIVE FEATURE

Trading on Toronto Market Further Restricted—Steamships Common Higher.

The fact that not a single share of Dominion Steel changed hands on the Toronto exchange yesterday, and that Steel of Canada and Nova Scotia Steel continued but 40 shares between them, is indicative of the extent to which trading has languished.
