While the provincial government is planning to lay a fine permanent road from the city boundary at the One Mile House to Brookville, the city will not be able this year to lay a corresponding good pavement on the section of the road which the city limits. Commissioner Fisher said this morning that he realized the need for a permanent pavement in this section and was anxious to see it laid but did not think that it could be undertaken at present.

It is the commissioner's intention, however, to commence repair work at an early date and he expects to effect a considerable improvement. Other road repairs which will be commenced immediately will include the Sandy Point road, the Millidgeville and Boar's Head roads.

As nearly as can be estimated now, the work of excavating preparatory to laying the new permanent paving in Main street will be commenced on May 13.

IN WALL STREET

New York, May 3.—Stocks were firm to strong at the opening of today's market, except for pressure against the automobile group. General Motors lost one and three-quarters and Studebaker one point. Pools renewed their activity in a variety of issues, notably Superior and Lackawanna Steels, Sumatra Tobacco, Tobacco Products, Central Leather, American and some of the petroleum stocks. Gains of large fractions to 11-2 points. United States Steel, however, moved within narrow limits. Moderate offerings cancelled most gains before the end of the first half hour. Liberty Bonds were irregular.

The reversal carried United States Steel and other equipments, also copper, rails and shippings fractionally under yesterday's final prices, automobile issues meanwhile extending their first losses. A sharp rally followed under lead from Northern Ore and several low priced coals, notably Pittsburgh Coal, Pittsburg and West Virginia and Western Maryland at gains of 1 to 2 points. Other strong features included California Petroleum and Royal Dutch Oil.

The total enrollment of soldiers of the 228th volume of works of Pastor Russell, which are banned by the order-in-council dealing with such publications.

Although it has not yet been officially decided upon by the board, there will, in all probability, be the regular clean-up days set apart by the city for the spring for a scouring of the city back yards and streets. QUEBEC WOMEN AND SUFFRAGE

(Toronto Globe).

The bill for the federal enfranchisement of women, which has passed the committee stage and stands for a third reading, is opposed by the majority of the Quebec members on the ground that each province should determine the question for itself and that the provincial lists should remain the basis of the federal franchise. French-Canadian opinion is hostile to woman suffrage, but there will be no compulsion upon the women of Quebec to go to the polls. They will have the privilege of refusing to exercise that right. The merit of the bill is that the minority of women in the province who wish to play a part in public affairs and who claim the full powers of citizenship will not be debarred from their political rights.

The arguments in the house against the principle of woman suffrage, though courteously presented, had a curious ancient ring in these days of woman's cyclopedic interests and far-ranging activities, but undoubtedly they reflected sincerely a social and domestic economy and outlook varying from that of the rest of the country and of the continent.

The political equilibrium of the dominion would be in no way altered by the inclusion or exclusion of the women of Quebec from the franchise. The representation of each province in the House of Commons is regulated by the size of its population, not of its electorate. The number of the population of Quebec divided by sixty-five gives the number which is applied to all other provinces. If the majority of the women of Quebec will not vote in federal elections the province will lose none of its weight in the federal scale, and will have no grievance.

It would reduce friction in Quebec if the names of the women voters were enrolled on the municipal lists by municipal officials in the regular way instead of by enumerators chosen in the heat of an election contest by the federal authorities. This separate and special register of women would be available in every polling booth if any women wished to vote, and it would not interfere with the compilation of the provincial lists. Federal enumerators appointed by a government to which the majority of the people are hostile, and enrolling women in opposition to public sentiment, would not everywhere prove a comfortable task, and it might be difficult to obtain properly qualified persons. Municipal officials could perform it without incurring

Fifteen cents' Turkish cigarettes are raised to 25 cents. The imported varieties have soared beyond all ken. Tobaccoists are puzzled what to charge for them.

OFFICERS NOT OVERSEAS LIABLE FOR INCOME TAX.

Military officers who have not been on overseas service are liable for the income tax, and orders from the militia department throw some light on the subject. The order was as follows:—

"In the case of officers who have not been on active service overseas and who are liable for the income tax, the amount of their military pay, fuel, light, medicine, attendance, etc., which they receive free of charge in addition to their military pay. This value should be fixed at the amount of the substance allowance made by the militia department to officers and men of the same rank who are providing their own accommodation and living."

MacVey, in that city and left Monday morning for Halifax to join the Royal Medical Corps for service overseas. Dr. Tupper, who has been practicing his profession near Calgary, Alberta, for some years, offered his services early in the war, but was called upon until two weeks ago. He left a good practice and a large ranch in the west to go overseas.

HELP!

Might we ask the advertisers in the Times-Star to let us have their ad. copy not later than 6 o'clock the night before the day on which insertion is desired?

The crush of advertising, which the Times has been carrying the last few months, makes a call for HELP on the part of the business office an urgent necessity.

It's hardly necessary to state its value to YOU of this feature, as the earlier the paper is out, the larger the sale—hence, an increased market for you.

It also means that your advertisement will receive the best attention as regards typographic treatment; will be dressed in the way your PUBLIC SALESMAN should be dressed. Best work of course, can't be done in a rush, and neither you nor THE TIMES is satisfied with a poorly dressed ad.

The unfortunate fact that quite frequently advertisements have to be omitted from THE TIMES on account of late copy, prompts this S. O. S. call, and really your own best interests would demand that it be heeded.

CONVICTS SHOULD LEARN TRADES

(Bangor Commercial).

Thomas Mott Osborne, formerly warden at Sing Sing, and recently head of the commission on prison reform, spoke at Brunswick, Sunday, and urged the necessity of educating the convicts against the day when they return to the world.

This is a correct view but the education of the prisoners must be turned along sensible lines if proper results are to be attained. A large proportion of convicts have no trade and their labor in prison should fit them with a trade, in some mechanical line.

For years the prisoners at Thomaston turned out a very superior line of carriages and harnesses but this work has been done with the constant opposition of union labor and has not been carried to the extent that it might easily be. Other states have had similar experiences.

The convicts should certainly be taught trades. It benefits them in many ways, physically, mentally and morally, for the exercise that they get in work makes them stronger and the teaching and attention given is beneficial to their mental development.

Many states have put their prisoners at work at road building and such furnishes a good field for labor. There is another step that should be taken in connection with prison labor and that is to pay to the prisoners, or enable them to assist their families, the money that they earn should be devoted to the support of the families left destitute by the absence of the wage earner.

In the case of convicts who have no dependents the wages earned by them can be laid aside for a nest egg to give them a start in the world after the expiration of their terms.

Convicts should not be kept in idleness any more than they should be punished. They should be set to work to learn a wholesome and beneficial trade and they will benefit thereby while in durance and afterwards will be fitted to cope with the world on a new footing, for the man with a trade is not as likely to turn to crime as the loafer and incompetent.

JUVENILE CRIME

The facts set forth in an interview with Rev. George Scott, agent of the Children's Aid Society, in today's Times are not pleasant reading. No community can afford to be indifferent while juvenile crime is increasing, for that means later as well as present trouble, and increasing burdens. Chief Simpson in his annual report pointed out the startling increase in the number of offences committed by boys and girls, and this is supplemented by the figures presented today by Rev. Mr. Scott.

What is the remedy? Mr. Scott would have the Juvenile Delinquent Act proclaimed in St. John and a juvenile court established to deal especially with the cases of all boys up to fourteen and all girls up to sixteen. This would take the whole business away from the atmosphere of police court and jail, and would provide a follow up system which would take continued cognizance of the conduct of every boy or girl permitted to go on probation, and would send to the proper institutions those whose repeated offences proved the need of such restraint.

When boys are allowed to go into time after time, returning to the old environment, companionship and temptations, they soon reach the stage where laws are regarded with contempt; and this contempt is too easily conveyed to the minds of some of their companions. Thus the evil spreads and flourishes.

It is quite true that parents should take care of their boys, but the police court record shows that many of them do not; and it therefore becomes the duty of society in its own defence to provide means of dealing with them—reforming them if possible, and putting them under restraint if necessary.

The question is presented in plain terms to the citizens of St. John. Would they prefer to go on reading young criminals, or take steps to introduce a system better suited to the task of prevention and reform?

THE WAR SITUATION

There is still a hill on the western front. The Germans are doubtless preparing for another desperate attempt to break the Allied line, but the latter have time to make more effective preparation. There is still a degree of uncertainty as to whether the Allies have a large reserve army ready to strike at the proper moment. It has been said that there is no immediate necessity for counter-stroke because the British and French are killing so many Germans in these attacks that it is good business to keep them coming. Possibly there is something in this contention, although it is not easy to understand why the enemy should have been permitted to take Mont Kemel if it could have been prevented by bringing up more troops. At all events the German drive has not attained its object and the Channel ports are safe for the present.

In the meantime the evidence of a revolution of feeling against the Germans in Russia is increasing, and the eastern problem may soon give fresh cause for worry in Berlin.

Today's cables tell us that the channel at Zebruge is still blocked, and that measures to cope with the submarine are increasingly successful. The United States is pouring troops into France as rapidly as ships can be got to carry them, and has taken steps to increase the army to whatever size may be necessary—even to 8,000,000 men.

CHOOSING THE BEST MEN.

The Toronto Star points out that the United States is utilizing for the direction of its war work the ablest business men, with the greatest organizing ability, to be found in the country. It says: "After experimenting rather too long in an effort to make business men out of a large number of army colonels, Uncle Sam has hit upon the happy plan of making army colonels out of a number of those business men who are already experienced commanders of the industrial energies of the United States. John D. Ryan has been placed in full charge of aeroplane production. He will deliver the goods. Charles M. Schwab has been placed in charge of shipbuilding. There will be ships. Edward R. Stearns is in charge of all army buying. Guy E. Trapp of the Westinghouse people is in charge of the production division of the Ordnance Department; J. L. Replogle of Cambria Steel, is in charge of all steel orders. There are many other men, handlers of the great manufacturing enterprises which have given the United States its industrial reputation, all at work now on the job of equipping the country into line, doing away with blunders and delays, and seeing that Uncle Sam gets there. They are the men to deliver the goods. That is an American phrase much criticized in times past in other countries. It is a mighty good phrase right now."

TO HIM.

(By Margaret Yandess Bryan.)
He stood alone,
The cold, damp drizzle of a wintry day
Swept about him,
Yet I saw him smile,
And saw him stay there,
Close beside the window full of Christmas toys.
And other children came and stood
And looked with eager eyes.
Yet they were pulled by hurrying hands
Away.
Each hoping in his heart on Christmas Day
That gun or drum would be upon his tree.
Still the boy gazed on;
And then there came to me
A longing to perhaps fill up that little heart with joy,
Because, you see, I, too, had been a boy,
Had stood out in the dark, cold and alone,
Longing with aching heart for love and home.
So, thinking this, I gently spoke to him,
"Nice toys," I said.
He looked up with a smile,
An eager, happy smile that made his face,
Much pinched and drawn with cold,
A welcome place for tired eyes to dwell.
And then as if for love of me, he said:
"Here, Mister, move so you kin see!
I did, while he explained with winsome
boyish art
The thought which lay the nearest to his heart.
"Them other kids, they all must go
away."
But, mister, I kin stay and stay,
For mother's up in heaven, and, you see,
She sent the angels with these sights for me."
And then he smiled again and then was gone.
Vanished amid the hurrying busy crowd,
I started after, and again I seemed to see
That eager, happy face smile up at me,
And, somehow, I saw life as it should be.
Ah, little ragged boy! Where'er you go in this vast dream of ours,
Smile on and with within that heart of yours,
So fond and true,
May only mother's angels care for you.

Teaching Etiquette.
This is the way the agent got a lesson in manners. He called at a business of "What is your business?" she asked politely.

"None of yours!" he snapped. "I got

I want to talk to somebody about it."
"And you would rather talk to a gentleman?"
"Yes."
"Well," answered the lady, smiling sweetly, "so would I. But it seems that

WHITE MAN'S LAW.

What could impress the untutored savage with the inexorableness of the white man's law more than the procedure in the case of the two Eskimos recently placed on trial at Edmonton for the murder of two priests four years ago? Four years ago the two priests were killed. In that distant and almost uninhabited country it was months before it became known to civilization that the men had been killed. The facts pointed toward the two natives who had accompanied the priests on their journey into the Far North as the probable murderers. The mounted police undertook the capture of the men, and the long hunt began. Month after month, over thousands of miles of wild country, the trail was followed. It led among mountains, through forests, across plains, and over great wastes. Wherever the two natives went, the officers of the law followed, a long way behind, but slowly gaining. And after a hunt of more than two years, the chase ended. Then came the return to a place where the law could be administered without haste and without excitement, but with the same patience that had characterized the hunt. One of the men was placed on trial, the case of the other to be called later. All the forms of law were observed. Counsel was provided in order that the rights of the prisoner might be protected as fully as if he had been a white man, familiar with all the procedure, and possessed of ample wealth. Presently the confounded and ignorant story of the homicide in all its gruesome details.

But if the white man's law had shown its patience and inevitableness, it was now to show its justice. After hearing the evidence, a jury of white men, in Scotland, and to make certain that justice was done. And before this law the poor savage was as secure as the greatest white man of them all. Surely the effect on the Eskimo mind of this administration of law must be wholesome, and it must create the conviction that the law that will take so much pains to acquire the innocent will proceed with like irrevocable power to the punishment of the guilty.—Grand Forks Herald.

There is work, necessary work, for everyone to do, in the way of thrift and production and to do this work, health is the first essential. Even the most willing will find progress is slow if the health is bad.

Probably the most common complaint among those doing unaccustomed tasks is backache. Work may cause a tired feeling that will easily pass off but this backache that almost doubles one up is an indication of a condition of the system that needs treatment. The kidneys are giving evidence of their weakness and the sufferer should be thankful for the timely warning given by this pain.

Corns Stop Hurting, Then They Lift Out With Fingers

No pain or soreness! Corns and calluses just shrivel up and lift off—Try it!

A noted Cincinnati chemist discovered a new ether compound and called it frezone and it now can be had in tiny bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of frezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then up and lift off so easy. It is shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can just lift it off with the fingers. Really! No humping! No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying frezone or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! Works like a charm. Keep it on the dresser.

Will Not Tolerate the German Invader's Heel on Their Land

"The moment a German soldier puts foot over the borders of Holland there will be war," said J. H. Levert of Java, when asked by a representative of The Toronto Globe last week if the Dutch would let the Germans walk over them to the coast.

Mr. Levert is a native of Holland, and is on his way to join his family at The Hague. He is director of sugar estates in Java, one of the Dutch island colonies of India.

Mr. Levert said that Holland has from 600,000 to 650,000 highly trained soldiers on the frontiers of Germany.

"But there is not a great similarity between the Dutch and the German people," he said.

"Certainly not," exclaimed Mr. Levert, in broken, but decisive, English.

"There is a very big difference. We stick to our land, we don't know the discipline of the German. We love our freedom; we like our queen, but we have our own ministers and government. The Germans follow what he says. We are much more like the English."

"Which do you think make the best colonizers, the British or the Germans?" asked The Globe.

"The British, because they leave the colonies free. The Germans want to reign over it, when they have the might, and they always want to use it. The Germans are no colonizers at all. We follow entirely the methods of the British."

"But what of German efficiency; are they not efficient?"

"Yes, they are in business, because the first thing they do is to learn the language of the natives of a place, and the British do not. This is a mistake, I think, with the British."

Mr. Levert is accompanied by J. A. de Groot, contractor of the harbor works at Mahassar, Celebes.

RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS

A St. John merchant said to The Telegraph yesterday that the stealing of goods and disposing of them to other stores has become a very serious matter. His own firm has suffered a good deal of loss, which it was very difficult to trace. That St. John, Chatham and other towns in these provinces are not alone in this respect is shown by the following from the Montreal Star, where the merchants united to take action for their mutual protection.

"Receivers of stolen goods are by no means few in number, and are responsible in large part for such of the thievery that worries merchants and householders. The receivers generally manage to evade the fate that their assistants in crime frequently meet. Two of them, however, have been brought to book locally and sent to the penitentiary. Their punishment should set as a warning to others engaged in the business."

Edward M. Quirk is Enthusiastic Over Home Gardens

The Home Garden committee of the Bangor Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday received the application of Edward M. Quirk for a one-tenth acre plot on the hospital grounds, State street. Mr. Quirk, who had a garden on this lot for the first time last year, is enthusiastic over gardening and says he doesn't know of a better way to put in his spare time evenings, especially with the advantage of daylight saving.

"Last year, when I took that one tenth of an acre, I put out $6 for preparing the soil, plowing etc., and for seed and fertilizer. In spite of the wet season, I did fairly well and expect to do even better this year. I had fresh garden truck, including cucumbers, carrots, onions, turnips, 50 head of cabbages, a bushel of yellow eye beans and four barrels of potatoes. A conservative estimate of the value of these articles would be $50.

Mr. Quirk does not pretend to be an expert gardener, and says that anyone who is willing to look after his garden carefully can achieve the same results.

PLANNING THE GARDEN

In planning the 1918 garden the first thing to take into consideration is the fact that it is a war-time garden and that the vegetables which must receive primary attention are those which are going to be genuine substitutes for wheat. The logical substitute is the potato. Therefore, every one should grow potatoes this year. They repay themselves over and over again. Count on giving them the major part of the garden.

Small plants like beets, onions, lettuce, carrots, radishes and parsley should be put in one general group. In another general group put larger plants like corn, tomatoes and potatoes. Spreading ground-vines, like melons and cucumbers, which need wider spacing, should be in a third general group. In the arrangement of the vegetables which are to be planted first give higher priority to providing the greatest exposure to the sun for those crops which need it most. Plants which must be sown in rows, such as tomatoes and eggplant, require the greatest amount of sunshine, while lettuce, spinach and other leaf crops require relatively less.

Now that the hoarding of sugar, flour and other commodities which are valuable as food has been prohibited, a good many people are wondering how the persons who disregard the regulations are to be detected.

STOP WASTAGE OF FOOD AND PREVENT HOARDING

Dr. Hastings and C. J. Bodley, Toronto Food Officers, Discuss New Regulations

(Toronto Globe.)

Now that the hoarding of sugar, flour and other commodities which are valuable as food has been prohibited, a good many people are wondering how the persons who disregard the regulations are to be detected.

As far as Toronto is concerned the whole supervising is placed in the hands of Dr. Hastings, M. O. H. Taking yesterday to The Globe, Dr. Hastings stated that already a survey of food conditions had been made in the city. On the whole there was little hoarding being done, said Dr. Hastings.

"Every store is liable to be inspected at any time and the M. O. H. Full investigation could be made by the inspectors even to scrutinizing the books, if necessary.

Persons running stores would be checked up and summoned if they were storing too much food. The storing of too much food depended on how much they sold per day, as to whether they were holding food for higher prices and have it spoil on their hands, or whether they were storing too much food in relation to the facilities of the premises for keeping food in condition.

"If a dealer has not proper facilities for storing food, or only for storing a very little, then he must not store it," said Dr. Hastings.

"It is not so much a matter of getting hard on the dealer that has food spoil while in his possession, no matter what the reason.

The medical department was obtaining the co-operation of the street cleaning department, whereby a daily report would be submitted to the former as to the amount of food taken to the incinerator and to the various dumps.

No regular inspection of private houses is intended, but suspected cases will be investigated. For instance, going over the books of the corner grocery might show that certain individuals were buying heavily. Their houses would be visited and searched. Dr. Hastings also asks that names of households suspected of "hoarding" be sent in to his department, and these houses will be investigated immediately.

"A good deal of private hoarding is innocent and because people do not understand," said Dr. Hastings. "The thing to remember is that 'care is enough food to go round, but each person should only take his or her share. When one household buys too much, then another household goes short."

Make Plainier Pastry.

Regulations limiting the amount of sugar and shortening that may be used in pastry will receive the whole-hearted support of the cake and biscuit men of Toronto. A resolution to this effect was drawn at the meeting held by them yesterday afternoon, at which C. J. Bodley of the Food Control Board presented the order issued from Ottawa. Mr. Bodley, who is a manufacturer of cakes and bread, has been appointed as supervisor of the confectioners' order. While the plan followed in the United States was to cut off a percentage of the business of confectionery firms, the Canadian regulation will gain the end desired in reducing the consumption of sugar and shortening without disturbing the business of the trade, by enforcing the manufacture of a higher quality of pastry. Use Brown Sugar.

The confectioners are asked to substitute brown sugar for granulated as far as possible. Plans are also under way to economize in the consumption of wheat flour, and substitutes are likely to be introduced as far as possible.

Mr. Bodley stated last night that the order would result in the saving of 25 to 30 per cent. of the sugar and shortening now used in the manufacture of cakes and biscuits throughout the entire Dominion. The aim of the Food Board has been to reduce the quality to a wartime standard. The substitution of honey, corn syrup and glucose will be encouraged under the present arrangement.

High Prices!

Do They Worry You?

You see a Shoe in a store window today marked double the price of a year or two ago—and you wonder if that price includes an extra profit as well.

You know that war-time is no time for extra profit—it is a time when a Shoe merchant should meet you half way and take part of the war costs on his own shoulders.

We believe this is a fair thing to do. We know it is successful. It explains why WIEZEL'S Store today is waiting on more customers and selling more Shoes than any time in the last ten years. WIEZEL'S name has always stood for SMALL profits and MANY sales.

Every pair of our Shoes today earns its popularity by smart style, fine workmanship, honest leathers, at the right war-time price.

THREE ARRESTS ON CHARGE OF BREAKING INTO TAILOR SHOP

Premises of M. J. Driscoll Entered; A Liquor Case Heard

In the police court this morning three men were brought before Magistrate Ritchie charged with breaking and entering the tailor shop of Michael J. Driscoll at 64 Union street this morning and stealing four bottles of stain remover and a small cash box. Two of them, Robert Stafford and Laurence Pemberton, were soldiers in the third, Frank Phalen, a young civilian. Policemen Hendrickson and Saunders testified that they found the men in the shop between 4 and 5 o'clock this morning and they identified goods produced in court as those taken from them. As Mr. Driscoll was not in court, the prisoners were remanded.

George Whitbeck was charged with being drunk in Brussels street and also having a part bottle of liquor in his possession. He was arrested by Policemen Lindsay and said that two soldiers gave him a drink and that upon a first bottle being emptied one of them went away and brought back another. He was fined $8 for being drunk and his honor pointed out that he was liable to $50 for drinking in public and $200 more for having liquor in his possession. He was remanded pending investigations by the liquor inspectors.

LOCAL HARBOR NEWS

(From Board of Trade Journal.)
The exports and import trade at Canada's chief winter port has made great advances in the past five years, as the following figures show:—
1914. $ 21,339,760 $ 8,433,916 $ 30,792,980
1915. 43,872,292 9,112,216 52,984,508
1916. 120,042,590 11,163,463 131,206,053
1917. 190,586,561 15,200,639 205,787,200
200,733,647 16,787,200 217,520,847
This result is largely due to the fact that St. John offers the quickest route to the sea of any winter port on Canadian soil.
The Board of Trade has been insisting upon the authorities that a port with the strategic possibilities of St. John ought not to be idle for a single day this summer. Every port that Canada possesses should be doing its bit when war demands are so urgent as they are today. It looks as if the board's advice will bear some fruit.
A steamer with 4,000,000 lbs. of raw sugar began discharging at this port at 7 a. m. one day last week, and at 10 a. m. the next day she was completely discharged, bunkered and cleared. This was a record for quick despatch that few ports can excel.
During February, 2,000 barrels of potatoes, valued at $12,000, and 555 drums of fish, valued at $4,050, were exported from St. John to Cuba. The March figures were 4,000 barrels potatoes, valued at $28,000; 227 drums fish, valued at $2,685.

POINT TO HIGH CHARGES HERE

Ottawa Hydro Electric Commission on Electricity Rates

"Oh What a Difference" — Cites Case in Which Charges Here Are Six Times as High as Asked by Ottawa Company

St. John has earned the distinction of being chosen as a horrible example of lengths to which a public utility corporation will go when it has no competition. The Ottawa Hydro-Electric Commission is using a quarter-page newspaper space to tell their customers how badly the people of St. John are treated by the local monopoly, and to compare this treatment with the rates in effect in Ottawa.

"Oh! what a difference!" the advertisement is headed. "Look at this!" It says, as attention is directed to a well displayed statement under the caption "St. John, N. B., pays these rates!" Then follows a list of rates paid in this city for electric lighting, starting at twelve cents for small consumers and graduating to six cents for the largest users. Evidently the Ottawa commission does not expect their customers to believe that any community would pay such excessive prices for they add the solemn statement in black face type: "These prices are taken from a receipted bill in our office, dated April 17, 1918."

Having given the text, they go on with the sermon as follows: "Where there is no competition—where plants are owned by private capital—or there is no 'Hydro'—the customer pays—and pays high—for electricity."

"Take St. John, N. B., for instance—note the schedule rates. 'Don't it remind you of Ottawa in the old days?'"

"This fact—and this fact alone, should be the main argument for you to patronize Hydro-Electric, if you are not already a user."

"How would you like to pay 12c. instead of 2c. for your electricity? 'THE DIFFERENCE IS 500 PER CENT. BUT FOR HYDRO, YOU WOULD PAY THIS 500 PER CENT. MORE RIGHT NOW?'"

Of course Ottawa enjoys the benefits of hydro-electric power and a company producing current cannot be expected to compete on an even basis but it will be remembered that the present rates in St. John were fixed in anticipation of the introduction of hydro-electric power here. The old rate was fifteen cents and when the new company took over the plant they reduced the schedule with the explanation that the new rates would be made possible by the development of their water power. Hydro-electricity at twelve cents does not compare favorably with the same current at two cents.

It is hard to imagine what manage the Ottawa commission would find for expressing their amazement if they learned that St. John was being asked by the local company to pay much higher rates, than those they quote with such establishment.

ST. JOHN'S NEED
OF JUVENILE COURT

Agent of Children's Aid Society
Sets Out Startling Facts

THE BOY PROBLEM
Boys Many Times in Court But Still at Large—Marked Increase in Juvenile Crime in Last Three Years in St. John—Boys of Ten and Eleven Years Have Record

That the appointment of a regular juvenile court and juvenile court judge is the only way in which the problem of youthful crime in St. John can be effectively handled is the deliberate opinion of Rev. George Scott, agent for the Children's Aid Society. In conversation with a Times reporter today he backed his opinion with striking facts and figures taken from the reports of Chief of Police Simpson and the records of the police court.

According to Chief Simpson's figures juvenile delinquency during the last three years has grown in an alarming manner. Since 1915, indeed, it has increased three-fold. The actual arrests of juveniles for all offenses in 1915 was 85; in 1916 the figures were 105; and in 1917 no fewer than 225 faced Judge Ritchie and were dealt with in various ways.

"It must be remembered," continued Rev. Mr. Scott, "that many of these precocious criminals appear again and again and are still allowed to go. It is not only the juvenile but the adult criminal who is a menace to the community. The inevitable result of it all is that there will be for many years to come a class graduating to Dorchester, if not something worse.

"For it is to be noted," Rev. Mr. Scott went on, "that petty larcenies are by no means the only crimes these juveniles stand charged with. On the other hand they are charged with almost every crime known to law, from wounding and stealing to the person to horse stealing. The following partial list of cases disposed of in the police court is worth while to notice in the manner in which they were disposed of so that many furnish a partial clue to the reason of the increase noted.

Of forty-three cases of breaking and entering and stealing, fifteen were allowed to go clear, and twenty-eight allowed on suspended sentence. Of fifty-four cases of theft, thirty were allowed to go clear and twenty-four were allowed on suspended sentence. Seven charged with vagrancy were allowed to go, and one for the same offense was allowed on suspended sentence.

Two charged with creating a disturbance were allowed to go. One arrested on a warrant for indecent assault was allowed on suspended sentence. Another charged with wounding, was allowed to go along with a suspended sentence. Coming down to individual cases, Mr. Scott said he knew of several of which the following are fair samples:

One lad appeared three times for breaking and entering and theft, twice for vagrancy and once for lying and lurking. On one occasion he was given a sentence of four years which was suspended. He is now again under arrest. Another boy was up for theft no fewer than six times, and was allowed to go twice. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence for four years. Since that, however, he has been in the police court twice for theft and was allowed to go each time. He is now again under arrest.

A third lad answered twice to the charge of theft, once for breaking and entering and once for lying and lurking. On one occasion he was given a sentence of four years which was suspended. He is now again under arrest. Another boy was up for theft no fewer than six times, and was allowed to go twice. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence for four years. Since that, however, he has been in the police court twice for theft and was allowed to go each time. He is now again under arrest.

A fourth boy was tried for theft twice and allowed to go each time. Shortly after he appeared again, this time charged with breaking and entering and stealing, on which occasion a suspended sentence was imposed. Even after that he again faced the magistrate on the charge of vagrancy and was allowed to go.

In a fifth case a lad for his first appearance on a breaking and entering charge received a suspended sentence. On two occasions after that, however, he came up on the same charge, aggravated by theft, when he was allowed to go on his promise of better behavior. Another boy appeared charged with being a receiver of stolen property and was allowed to go, and on two subsequent occasions he was charged with theft and allowed to go.

Another boy was allowed to go home only last week on the promise of doing better. He had appeared before Judge Ritchie three times for theft. Besides these, however, he had been guilty of a number of thefts in the city for which his father compounded privately. In Frederickton also, where the family lived for a short time, the boy has a police record.

"The last two cases cited by Mr. Scott were where two lads were accused of shooting and wounding and throwing an explosive bullet and where another two lads were accused of stealing a horse. All four were allowed to go.

THE TEUTONIC IDEA

of serious import to the citizens of St. John is that there is a large section of our juvenile population growing up to manhood and womanhood who will be positive sources of danger to the community. Most of those whose cases have been cited above are still in the early teen age. Some of them are only ten and eleven years old; very few have seen more than fifteen summers. In a juvenile court properly constituted these foolish youngsters could be dealt with quietly and firmly without contact with the sights and sounds of a police court, which must always exert a baneful influence on the morbid-minded. Moreover, there should be a place where such juveniles could be detained until their cases are disposed of other than the police cell, and rather enjoy the company of men and women fit to sense of decency. Such a home for companions for lads whose minds are but too receptive of evil influences, and contact is but too common."

WHAT DID YOU?
(By Douglas Malloch.)
When the war has been done,
When our duty is done,

They will look you up, over and through,
They will come to your door,
The young winners of war,
With democracy, and a
They will ask, like as not,
"What did you do?"

To your knee there will climb
Then a boy, or a girl, or the two,
And will say, "Some were brave
On the land and the wave,
Some their everlasting gave—
What did you do?"

Or it may be at night
You will sit by the light
Of a fire in a home that is free,
You will all at all
"Neath a roof of your own
In some year of the future to be,
You will all at all
Will say, "Some of them died,
Or they suffered their fate to do,
And the ones who could not
Gave their all, gave a lot,
Gave their money—say, what,
What did you do?"

OF GERMAN HELMET.
Sum in Liberty Loan Bonds Subscribed
By Banking Syndicate for Trophy.
New York, May 3.—The sum of $250,000 in Liberty Loan bonds was subscribed by a banking syndicate here at the price of a German helmet, trophy of the battlefield of Ypres.

When the syndicate immediately turned the helmet back to the Liberty Loan committee for resale it came into the committee's possession for the fourth time and now has a bond value equivalent to $875,000.

NO PLACE FOR IDLE RICH.
(New York World.)
If the anti-looting bill which will soon be in effect is well considered, this will be a better state to live in than metropolises a more severely city. Because of its massed population New York would in any case have many more loafers, but the city is peculiarly attractive to the well-to-do loafer and to those who contrive to live by their wits. These are to go to work, however well filled their purses.

QUARTER MILLION LOSS
Louisville, Ky., May 3.—Fire originating at the plant of the Louisville Iron and Steel Company last night destroyed the main building of that plant and spread to the Louisville and Nashville shops where several buildings were burned. Damage is estimated at $250,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

IS ON GUARD AT THE STABLE IN BETHLEHEM

London, May 3.—From Bethlehem a youthful British soldier writes to a friend here:—"I am on guard at present, and it is a great honor, I can tell you, that I am guarding the birth place and manger of our Lord. It is a wonderful place, and I never thought when I used to read about it that one day I should stand and guard it. The birth place is marked by a fourteen-pointed silver star, presented by the French government. The stable is hung with lamps from all different countries, and they look beautiful; and I might add, they are always alight. The manger itself is cut in natural rock, but marble has been put in to keep it in a good state of preservation."

SCHOOL REGULATIONS RE
THE SOLDIERS OF THE SOIL

The teachers of the senior boys in the schools of this province are now busy in the new and patriotic role of educating the young men of the Dominion government, placing before the teen-age boys the absolute need of their assistance for farm work and the enrolling them in Canada's Youngest Army, the Soldiers of the Soil.

The department of education issued instructions some time ago that the school boards, all pupils in school should be given the same consideration they received last year. The part of the school regulations dealing with this year's programme reads as follows:—"That with the approval of the local school board, all pupils in school shall be allowed their standing for the present school year without further attendance at school, upon the condition of the local committee that their work on the above field has been satisfactory."

The necessary work will be done, this year, by the Dominion Food Board S. O. S. committees instead of by local committees, organized by the school boards. The present party organization has asked the teachers to cooperate with the S. O. S. committee in planning the work to be done before the boys and girls take their vacation.

Dr. H. S. Bridges, superintendent of the city schools, says that the following arrangements have been made for this year in his district. The boys in grades 11 and 12 naturally cannot leave their school until after they have taken their graduation or matriculation examinations. These being the goal they have been working towards for the last year, the boys of grades 9 and 10 are urged to enlist and will be allowed to leave as soon as they are able to do so.

C. G. R. BOOSTING
GREATER PRODUCTION

Urging Employees to Cultivate Land
Along the Right of Way
Property Owners Adjoining Will Also Be Given
Chance to Raise Greater Crops

With the idea of encouraging the greater production of food, the Canadian government railways is urging all employees who are in a position to do so, to apply for tracts of land along the right of way in various sections, and raise crops of garden vegetables, hay, oats, potatoes, buckwheat or grain.

There are not returns showing the extent of the sections cultivated on the right of way on the Prince Edward Island railway, but the holders of permits there raised good crops of oats and potatoes.

It will easily be seen that in nearly all sections there is plenty of land available for those who are in a position to make use of it to increase production. The railway is thoroughly in earnest in its desire to assist in every possible way this great production movement, and will place all desirable land at the disposal of those who will give a sufficient guarantee of their intention to properly till the soil and raise suitable crops.

NEWS NOTES ABOUT
PROMINENT BAPTISTS

Rev. Dr. Hutcheson returned home last night after attending upon the meeting of the executive of the Foreign Mission Board in Toronto. A Sunday was spent at Bradford, where he has been preaching since he was pastor before coming to the Hopewell church. KAISER'S CLAIM TO THE DUTCH THRONE

Only Two Lives Stand In His Way

OF QUEEN AND PRINCESS

People of Holland Have Right To Choose Successor if Line Falls But Look on Powerful Neighbor With Apprehension

There is one reason that might prompt a German attack on Holland that was not present in the case of Belgium, Roumania or Serbia, and would not be operative as regards any other European countries but Holland and Great Britain. That reason is provided by the Hohenzollern claim to the throne. That the Kaiser has always contended that he held a sort of shadowy title to the throne once occupied by his grandmother and now by his cousin is well known, but he realized that his title at no time would be of any more value than that of a man who claimed to own the site of London, bequeathed to his forefathers a couple of thousand years ago, or of the title of a descendant of Columbus to the Western Hemisphere. Yet the War Lord has probably speculated, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, as to the number of human beings whose lives stand between him and the English throne.

Had it not been that the Dutch parliament in 1848 made the throne hereditary in both the male and female lines, Wilhelmina would not have been allowed to succeed without trouble from Germany. The House of Orange is not, as some suppose, a Dutch, an Irish or a German house. It is French, and came to its prominence in the Low countries because about 400 years ago a Prince of the House of Nassau, the most powerful of Dutch houses, married an Orange princess. The prince admitted that one himself in line for the succession is proved not by any public claims he has put forward, but from the fact that among the long list of titles with which he bedecks himself is that of Prince of Orange. This title he wears as his by inheritance from the same ancestor by which the Dutch house inherits the title. It is true, as a writer in the New York Sun pointed out some time ago, that the Dutch parliament holds the right to choose a king should the royal house fall of an heir, but the Dutch parliament knows how little the Chief Hun cares for parliaments when they stand between him and the realization of his wishes.

A Small Family. It knows also with what apprehension the people of Holland regarded Berlin through those eight years that elapsed between the marriage of Wilhelmina and the appearance of the present heiress to the throne. Had Wilhelmina died childless they knew that the Kaiser would insist upon being consulted as to her successor, even if he did not throw down boldly his own claim. It has been the historic fate or fashion of the House of Orange to be few in number in any generation. There are never many uncles, aunts or cousins of a ruling monarch, rarely brothers or sisters, and the possibility of the house becoming extinct in the direct line has seemed imminent on many occasions. The present queen, for instance, came to the throne when she was only ten years old, her mother being regent. Her father, William III, had no children by his first wife, and married a second time when he was sixty-two. The present queen was born when he was nearly sixty-five.

House of Orange is French. Had it not been that the Dutch parliament in 1848 made the throne hereditary in both the male and female lines, Wilhelmina would not have been allowed to succeed without trouble from Germany. The House of Orange is not, as some suppose, a Dutch, an Irish or a German house. It is French, and came to its prominence in the Low countries because about 400 years ago a Prince of the House of Nassau, the most powerful of Dutch houses, married an Orange princess. The prince admitted that one of the reasons why he made the match was to please the King of France. The son of this prince inherited the principality of Orange and the title, but dying without issue, the title was conferred on his cousin, who became the Ninth Prince of Orange, and the famous William the Silent, who freed Holland from the Spanish yoke. Meanwhile the Hohenzollerns, connected by many marriages with the Dutch royal family, had become the rulers of Prussia, and ever since have had the idea that some day one of them might become King of Holland and thus unite the country to Germany.

Always Filed the Title.

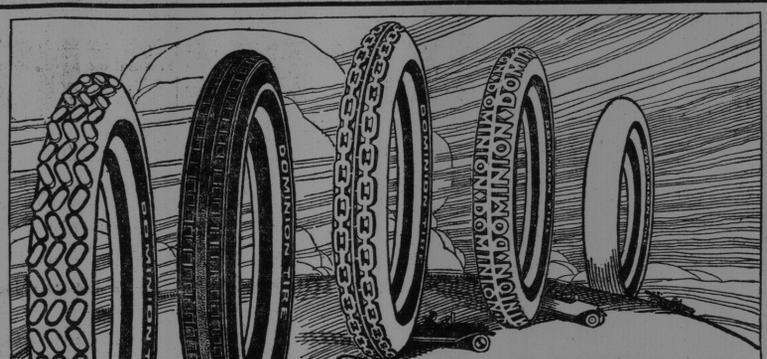

At this time and until comparatively lately, that is to say, until the establishment of the German Empire, the Hohenzollerns did not feel strong enough to put forward their claims, and when William III, of England died without an heir, he being also Prince of Orange and Stadtholder of Holland, the reigning Hohenzollern, as claimant of the title Prince of Orange, made a dicker with Louis XIV and ceded the territory of Orange, which had passed into German control long before then, to France. But he kept hold of the title Prince of Orange, as did the succeeding Kings of Holland, acting on the principle that some time it might come in useful, and anyway had a fine sound. The Kaiser's claim to the throne of Holland would hardly hold good in a court of law, but this would not deter him from laying claim to the throne if he saw any opportunity of seizing it. Nor is it inconceivable that to avoid the fate of Belgium Holland might make some acknowledgment of the right of a Hohenzollern in succession should a vacancy arise.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—Wrapped in canvas, the body of Irma Pallatinus was found today under the cement floor in the basement of the home here formerly occupied by Helmut Schmidt, whose suicide in the Highland Park jail ten days ago has resulted in an investigation to determine the fate of at least three women who lived with Schmidt as his wife. Mrs. Edward Reeder, a sister of Irma Pallatinus, identified a strand of hair, as that of her sister's and examination revealed the fact that the woman had been strangled to death with a clothes line.

SIZE AND SUCCESS

Contention That Only Big Men Are Apt to be Great

One of the recent publications is called "The Executive and His Control of Men." The interesting question raised in this book is: Can a small man succeed? The expert author believes that the chances of success in life are all against the small man.

Railroad presidents and general managers, we learn, average five feet 10 1/2 inches in height and weigh 186 pounds. Governors of states are five feet 11 1/2 inches tall and weigh 182 pounds.

Most of the small men are of the artistic or intellectual type. In point of size the ten lowest on the list are artists, authors, chief justices of state courts, publishers, manufacturers, merchants, psychologists, philosophers, lecturers and musicians.

Another professor has written a book called "The Measure of Intelligence," in which he submits a vocabulary of 100 words obtained by selecting the last word of every sixth column in an 18,000-word dictionary.

Well, we have put ourselves through this and emerged with passable definitions of ninety words, but we doubt very much that we have the working vocabulary of 10,000 words that is being tested.

Another professor has a simpler test of mentality that may seem preferable. He has a list of ten words, and he asks any one who can spell them correctly to be a "smart man."

Lost Control of the Nerves

Became Hysterical and Could Only Sleep When Doctor Gave Narcotic—Never Expected to be Well Again

Clemenport, N. S., May 2.—It is possible that your experience may be somewhat like that of Miss Burdell, whose letter we publish today. This letter is well worth reading anyway, for her's was an extreme case of nervous exhaustion and her cure is the more remarkable on that account.

Miss Gertrude M. Burdell, Clemenport, N. S., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results. For a number of years I was afflicted with nervousness, and six years ago had a complete breakdown. I had no control of my nerves, and I had terrible hysterical spells. I could not sleep, had night sweats, awful dreams, and nightmare."

My Baby is Teething
He is liable to be fretful, but frequently a good deal of this is due to skin irritation which generally accompanies teething. Keeping baby's skin in perfect condition will do a great deal toward helping him through this trying period.

As soon as the slightest rash appears it should be treated with Zam-Buk. Nothing is so suitable for baby's tender skin. The absolute purity of this herbal balm never fails to commend it to mothers of discriminating tastes.

Zam-Buk should also be used for eczema, ringworm, boils, scalp sores, blood-poisoning, cuts, bruises, burns and scalds. All dealers or Zam-Buk Distributors. On a free trial, recommendation I commenced using Zam-Buk. After the first two applications the sores began to heal and with continued treatment they entirely disappeared.

Did Consult Hindenburg
Reichstag Peace Resolution of July, 1917, It is Said, Had His Approval
In the course of the constant discussion in the German press over the value, or usefulness, of the so-called peace resolution adopted by the Reichstag on July 19, 1917, it has frequently been asserted by the Pan-Germans and the orthodox nationalists in general that Hindenburg and Ludendorff, the twin military stars, had not been consulted about this step, and, consequently, had been slighted by the Reichstag majority. In this connection the Berliner Tageblatt said recently: "The official National Liberal Correspondence declared some time ago that it did not know about the Reichstag peace resolution of July 19, 1917, its publication, and also did not approve of it. The Pan-German press naturally commented upon this report with the greatest satisfaction. But lies have short legs. The official organ of the Progressive People's Party, the Freisinnige Zeitung, now brings the statement of the National Liberal Correspondence as 'word for word untrue,' and points out that the course of the events was as follows: "On July 13, 1917, the peace resolution was discussed for the first time between representatives of the majority parties and the men of the supreme command, who had received it in Berlin the same day. In the general staff office, then, after Dr. Michaelis had become imperial chancellor in place of Beth-

D. D. McKenzie Makes Slashing Attack on Sir Joseph Flavelle—Mr. Michael Asks Extension of Time for New Brunswick Farmers Subject to Drain—Budget Debate Continued

Sir Robert Borden, in reply stated that he had no knowledge of such a situation existing and as far as he was able to say, the services were never better.

Sir Sam Hughes then asked if the government had under consideration the formation of a Canadian Flying Corps.

Sir Robert Borden answered that the matter had been discussed but there were many difficulties in the way of organization.

"That fact was never brought to my knowledge," retorted the premier. He thought it possible that a corps might be formed, but he was not in a position to say anything at present.

Continuing the debate on the budget, James MacLean, King (P. E. I.), stated that the main subject before the house was the carrying on of the war.

He expressed the opinion that all should make sacrifices and the situation would not be as serious as some members believed.

Take War Too Lightly. Mr. McLeas expressed the opinion that the people in Canada were inclined to take the war too lightly.

He then turned to a discussion of the railway situation in Prince Edward Island.

Mr. McLeas urged that the present narrow gauge lines should be standardized and emphasized the necessity for better communication with the mainland.

He said that last year two million bushels of potatoes were not dried from the island, in consequence of lack of transportation.

D. D. McKenzie (North Cape Breton) opened his speech by congratulating the acting minister of finance on the style, construction and delivery of his effort.

He caused considerable amusement by stating that a rumor was being circulated to the effect that his speech was born in the United States of Canadian parents.

LONDON COMMENT ON CANADIAN BUDGET

London, May 2.—The Times says that the budget presented in the Canadian parliament on Tuesday shows in a most remarkable way both the financial burden which the dominion is bearing and the resiliency of her trade and industry despite it.

"The effect of the budget," it says, "is to give a concise impression of the great and increasing importance of Canada's share in the war. It reaches us at the same moment as Hon. N. W. Rowell's vigorous re-affirmation that the Canadian government is determined to fulfill to the utmost its pledge that the Canadian forces in Europe shall not suffer for want of reinforcements."

STRAIGHT CONSERVATIVE IN FIELD AGAINST UNIONIST CANDIDATE. Smith's Falls, Ont., May 2.—John Alex Stewart, barrister, of Perth, was nominated as the Unionist candidate and Col. James Morrison Balderston, as a straight Conservative candidate at the Laurier division by-election nomination here today. The election takes place next Thursday.

MONCTON RECRUITS

Transcript—Yves Ward, son of Bliss Ward, train dispatcher here, has enlisted with the 9th Siege Battery at St. John.

He is not of military age, but has recognized the urgent need of men and enlisted. Cecil B. Burden left this morning for Halifax, where he will enter the Canadian Army Dental Corps.

Mr. Burden has been a student with his brother, Captain P. E. Burden, of the C. A. D. C., for the last two years. He is only nineteen years of age, and therefore enlists as a volunteer. Several Moncton young men have received notice to report at St. John in the course of the next two weeks.

Heroic Crews Save Many Lives

An Atlantic Port, May 2—Survivors of the coastwise steamer City of Athens, which was sunk in a collision with a French cruiser in a fog off the Delaware coast yesterday morning with a loss of sixty-six persons, related here today many tales of heroism on the part of the crews of the two vessels. All praised the efforts of the French sailors, especially, who launched small boats within a few minutes after the accident and aided by the cruiser's searchlights picked up many of the survivors from pieces of wreckage.

The survivors agreed that the speedy sinking of the steamer—within five minutes after being rammed by the City of Athens—was responsible for the heavy toll of life, although some claimed that the City of Athens' life saving apparatus failed to work properly. There were 135 persons, including twenty-four United States marines, on board the steamer, which was bound from New York to Savannah with a $2,000,000 cargo of cement, rope, foodstuffs and general merchandise on board.

GERMAN FORCES TAKE SEBASTOPOL

Berlin, via London, May 2—German forces have occupied Sebastopol, the great Russian fortress in the Crimea. According to the official communication from headquarters, the town was taken without fighting. The text of the statement reads:

"On the battlefronts the situation is unchanged. The artillery duel increased in the afternoon hours on the Lorraine front; minor enemy thrusts were repulsed.

"In Ukraine we have broken the enemy's resistance before Sebastopol and occupied the town Wednesday without fighting."

Base of Fleet.

The occupation of Sebastopol announced officially in Berlin, gives to Germany possession of the base of the Russian Black Sea fleet and a fortress which is rich in historical associations. The city was founded by Catherine II, in 1784 and about twenty years later Alexander I. made it the principal naval station of Russia on the Black Sea. The fortifications of the city, consisting of a chain of great redoubts, were constructed by Nicholas I.

The siege of Sebastopol in the Crimean war takes its place in the memorable military annals of modern times. During the summer of 1854 the English and French undertook an expedition to reduce the fortress and were joined by the Serbians and Turks. The investment of the place began in October that year, but it was not until Sept. 8, 1855, that the present city rose from the ashes of the town ruined during the siege. It has a few notable buildings, including two fine cathedrals. The population in 1897 was 44,018.

CANADIANS HOLD IMPORTANT LINE

Halifax, May 2—At the Commercial Club weekly luncheon today, an address was given by Lieut.-Colonel A. O. Blois, officer commanding a Nova Scotia battalion at the front, who is home on furlough. He said the Canadians are holding the most important part of the front. The coal fields of France were being protected by them and those coal fields had not yet been under small fire. All that prevented this was Hill 70 and Vimy Ridge, taken and held by Canadians.

Why are the Canadians not in the present offensive? Colonel Blois asked. Because the Germans were afraid to attack them and, therefore, it was better they should stay where they are.

Colonel Blois told the story of Corporal Patriquin, of Nova Scotia, and of Private Gardner. A German gun was boobying one of the Canadian communication trenches, which it was thought was manned only at certain times of the day. Patriquin and Gardner determined to try and silence the gun. They stole out at daybreak, crept on the position but were surprised and five Boches there. The Canadians were unarmed except that one of them had a revolver. They showed their initiative, however, by holding their ground silencing the gun and marching the five Germans as prisoners. The corporal has been recommended for the D. C. M. and Gardner for the Military Medal and he hoped both would be awarded.

ARRESTING I. W. W. MEMBERS

Detroit, May 2—Twelve hundred men and women, the majority of whom are said to be members of the Independent Workers of the World, were taken in a raid conducted by the federal authorities here late yesterday.

I. W. W. Aims Denounced

Chicago, May 2—Frank H. Nebeker, special prosecutor, today told the jury trying 112 leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World for violating the espionage act that the government will prove that the defendants and the members of the defendant organization would fight only under one flag—the red flag of treason.

"We will show further," he added, "that the organization threatened to throw down arms in the face of the enemy if forced into the army and navy and to take any other means necessary to block the war programme.

"Not only will it be shown that the defendants discouraged enlistments, urged that the selective draft be vigorously opposed by those of military age, but also that they conspired to forcibly obstruct production of labor for American ships and aeroplanes and strived to prevent production of land and iron for guns and munitions and other supplies."

"We will show that the 'swivel chair king' of this organization, William D. Haywood, directed and aided the work from his throne in the Chicago headquarters; that this potentate even had the audacity to send certain demands to our president, while our country was at war."

Women For Street Cars

Toronto, Ont., May 2—Women motor-men and conductors will make their appearance on the cars of the Toronto Railway Company within two months, General Manager R. J. Fleming said today. They are already in training.

NOT FOR CANADIAN VESSELS

Ottawa, May 2—That the dominion government regulations covering the importation of intoxicating liquors are in force on all ships' establishments of the Canadian naval service, and that on Canadian patrol vessels practically no exceptions for alcoholic beverages are allowed, was the statement issued by the department of the naval service today.

The foregoing was issued in reply to an editorial in the Toronto Globe today commenting on a "circular to the trade" inviting tenders on 3,800 fancy receptacles for alcoholic beverages, including claret, liquor and wine glasses, and decanters.

The Globe asked why the Canadian navy required such articles.

The statement added:

"Imperial and allied ships stationed on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans have been largely maintained from Canadian sources, supplies being purchased by the naval department for the use of all services in common. Therefore arrangements must be made for a supply of all articles allowed by the regulations governing these vessels. An arrangement was arrived at recently with the British admiralty whereby separate stocks of mess trays and cooking utensils for the supply of its ships in Canadian waters should be amalgamated with the stocks held for the Canadian service. The glassware in question was largely for use on imperial ships."

NEED MEN MORE NOW THAN FOOD

Exemptions Canceled Only After Most Serious Consideration

Hon. Mr. Rowell's Speech—Tells Durham Farmers He Opposes and Thinks Seeding Will be Guarded

(Staff Correspondent of The Toronto Globe.)

Bowmanville, April 29—Action by the Dominion Government in cancelling the exemptions of all men between the ages of twenty and twenty-three was taken only after most serious and careful consideration and after assurance had been received that man-power on the western front at this time was more important than food production, Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the privy council, told a large gathering in the town hall here tonight.

The meeting was held in the interests of the Dominion campaign to raise $2,500,000 for the war work of the Y. M. C. A.

Representations were made to Mr. Rowell by about forty farmers of Durham county previous to the public meeting against the carrying into effect of the Man-power Bill. They declared that its enforcement would demoralize production in the county. Mr. Rowell promised to convey the representations to Sir Robert Borden. He also took occasion to announce that the intention is to call the men in the urban centres first, and I think the hope is well founded, that the men in the rural communities of Class I between twenty and twenty-two years of age will not be ordered to report until after seeding is done," he said.

Thank His Constituents.

Mr. Rowell, after a brief reference to the kindly welcome extended to him, took occasion to thank the electors of Bowmanville for their support in returning him at the Dominion election.

Dealing with local matters, he said that he had not asked for any public buildings to be erected in this riding at this time, and he had no apology for not doing so, for the government's policy is that no public expenditure shall be made in any part of Canada for any public works that are not absolutely essential. "On behalf of the government, Mr. Rowell joined in welcoming the returned soldiers and he was glad by presence to endorse the splendid work of the Y. M. C. A. There is no organization more deserving of our commendation and hearty support for the work it is doing in providing comforts for our gallant men than the Y. M. C. A., he declared.

Only Hope—Strengthen Line.

Germany, said Mr. Rowell, has been able to accomplish what she has by concentrating large forces against certain sections of our line, breaking through by sheer force of numbers. We must recognize the fact that Germany is stronger in man power on the western front than our allies on the western front. It is strengthening that line on the western front. Up to March 1, 1918, there had been sent overseas 864,000 men. Up to the end of March, Canada's contribution had been approximately only five per cent of her population. More than 76,000 were discharged while still in Canada, for various reasons.

Comparative Figures.

He then told of the contributions made by other parts of the Empire. To equal Australia 150,000 more men would have to be raised; to equal New Zealand, 300,000 more would have to be recruited; to equal South Africa, 400,000 more men must be secured; to equal Great Britain, Canada must contribute 600,000 more men.

Their Men and Women Mobilized.

These countries have been able to do this because their man and woman power has been mobilized in a much more thorough fashion.

"What right have other mothers' sons to die for you?" he asked, pointedly. "Is there a mother who will begrudge her son to die for her and her liberty and her honor and her home and for Canada?"

Expect 190,000 From Class One.

Because there was no national registration it was impossible to secure an estimate of the number of men available under Class One of the Military Service Act. It was estimated on the 1901 census that the number coming within this class would be 897,000 men, but the number actually registered was 897,071.

The number of men made available so far without allowing for the substantial number who will be secured when appeals now pending are disposed of, is approximately 84,000. Canadian Division at the front are now up to strength, but a great attack on that section of the front is to be expected. In one month last fall at Passchendaele there were 25,000 casualties. If Canadians in the next two or three weeks are subject to similar fighting our infantry resources will not last until July 1, he declared. Knowing this, the government was faced with the necessity of modifying the Military Service Act. There was no alternative. Must Back Up Our Men.

"Place yourselves in our position," said Mr. Rowell; "accept our responsibilities and what would you do? Desert those gallant men? We will keep our pledge to those men, and secure reinforcements to back them up. (Applause.) If there is one pledge I made to the men and women of this riding and this province, it was this, that as far as I was concerned I was going to stand behind the

NEED $50,000,000

Toronto, May 2—At this morning's session of the arbitration board, which is seeking to value the stock of the Canadian Northern Railway, a statement was presented showing that $50,000,000 would be required to put the railway into a paying condition. Of this amount, equipment would take $25,000,000, terminals and shops $10,000,000, extensions $10,000,000 and miscellaneous $5,000,000.

Vice-President and General Manager Hanna took the stand and declared that if the C. N. R. had fallen into a financial hole during last winter, other railways were no better off. The growth of operating expenses, which had eaten up profits, was entirely due to weather conditions and the increased cost of labor and materials.

"Does it mean," asked Sir William Meredith, the chairman, "that unless you get freight rate increases you are going to operate at a loss all the time?"

Mr. Hanna thought so. "And we shan't be alone," he added.

Replying to a question by Sir William Meredith as to whether the company if it was granted increased rates, would apply for further increases a few months later, Mr. Hanna said: "The remedy is in the hands of the government. If they want to ruin the railway, all right."

SAVING THE KIDDIES

When the Archbishop of York was in Montreal he gave, in the course of one of his inspiring addresses, an interesting account of the war work being done by women in England. Somewhat to the surprise of some of his auditors, he said that he considered the most important branch of war work that devoted to infant welfare. Many of his audience had never included work for children in their definition of war work, but His Grace said that the war had brought England to a realization of the necessity of saving the children. He emphasized strongly the idea that women should not be carried away by what he called the "lure" of war work that on the surface looked more important and perhaps more interesting, and returned to his original theme, that social service work among children had never called for such supreme effort as now, when we are suffering such severe losses among our young men, and we must look to the rising generation to fill the vacant ranks.

THE FIRST HOSTESS HOUSE IN CANADA

The Y. W. C. A. has taken over this spacious building at Beausville, Ont., for the benefit and use of soldiers' wives and relatives as a rest while waiting for their breadwinners or husbands to come off duty. Miss Lean, secretary of the National Council Y. W. C. A., has been visiting the hostess houses of the United States to get the idea. (Top) Hostess House; below, group of assistants.

and these have to be ready to answer emergency calls ready to meet the street cars to bring crippled children to the outdoor clinic, and ready to bring the pupils to school for crippled children. Many of these plaster cases, which should be brought to the hospital once a month for examination, cannot be called for by the motor ambulance, and the parents cannot afford to hire a cab or taxicab. Instead of being irritable and impatient, and the despair of his mother's heart. The visitor tries to leave enough work to keep the child occupied from week to week, so that he will be satisfied to stay in bed and not to undo the good done by his medical treatment.

These children are still bed cases, and should be kept as quiet as possible, but drags very slowly for a restless child, and how can a busy mother with three or four children, and a husband who sews for, devote the time necessary to amuse the bed-ridden one? Here is what is called the kindergarten of cleanliness comes in. There are twenty of them, divided into two groups of ten, each group with its own chairwoman. Each worker has her own patients, whom she visits once or twice a week for a half-day, and she teaches, according to their ages, to play or to work. Any thing done, from paper dolls to knitting, as long as it keeps the child amused. One little boy of ten, whose mother simply could not keep him in bed, has been taught to knit. He started knitting wash rags for the Red Cross, and now he is knitting socks for the soldiers. He is keenly interested in perfectly happy, instead of being irritable and impatient, and the despair of his mother's heart. The visitor tries to leave enough work to keep the child occupied from week to week, so that he will be satisfied to stay in bed and not to undo the good done by his medical treatment.

One of the interesting cases under treatment in the social service department is that of an Italian family. The eldest boy, a child of eleven, had been in the hospital for some months with a tubercular hip. He went home with orders to stay in bed, to be put on special diet and to be brought to the hospital once a month for examination. The volunteer worker found that none of the doctor's orders were being obeyed, and that there were two smaller children, one of whom was so bow-legged that her limbs formed a perfect O, and the other of whom was cross-eyed. After some weeks of visiting, the mother was finally persuaded to bring the children to the hospital for examination, when it was discovered that both cases were caused by rickets, brought on by lack of care in feeding, which the mother said she did well believe, as she had found the baby sitting on the floor, eating a raw green pepper. Now there are two more babies, twins, which had to be brought to the hospital at six weeks of age for malnutrition, and they have been there now for three months. This is a case where the father earns enough to keep the family decently, but neither parent can read or write, even in their own language, much less in English, and they have no idea whatever of cleanliness, hygiene or the care and feeding of their children. In this family of five children, there is not one healthy child. All their trouble is caused by ignorance on the part of the mother. It has taken a year to overcome the prejudice of the parents to having a slight operation on the bow-legged child to straighten its legs, and it needs great patience and constant attention on the part of the worker to instill any ideas of proper living into the mind of the mother. Here, in fact, is a family that will probably need perpetual supervision—an interesting commentary on our immigration laws.

More hopeful is the case of an Irish family, in which there are two sets of twins, one pair one and a half years old, and one pair five months old. One of the baby twins was in the hospital for two or three months for malnutrition, and when it was discharged, the volunteer worker went to the home to give the mother lessons in proper feeding. Since the mother has been taught, she has telephoned to say how much better all the children are. A similar case is that of a little French girl of four years, who was in the hospital with rickets. The mother took her away before she was really cured, because the child was nervous and wanted to be at home. The volunteer worker visited and found that the diet orders were not being followed at all, so she impressed on the mother that the child should have the clean, vegetables, baked apples, plain milk puddings, etc., and in two months the child was much improved. None of these cases were objects of charity. They had enough money to live properly, they just didn't know how. The volunteer workers do not attempt to give money. In cases where charity is needed, they report to relief agencies, but money could be used in furthering the work, furniture and clothing could often be used to advantage, and subserve when the cataclysm overtook him. He refused to hear charges against two policemen who had arrested a popular member of a fraternal organization. The petition for recall was duly signed and presented, the election was ordered and resulted in recall by a vote of 2,289 to 963.

So far as accounts go, there was really no tangible reason for such a verdict, but the sunners get hot in Joplin, and a little political excitement was needed, so ousting a reform mayor seemed to be the best offering on the programme. If Mr. McIndoe is not cured of his referendum bug, we feel sorry for him. Joplin is a town in which there are two political parties, and the Democrats were ready to vote him out merely because he was a Republican and without reference to the flimsy charges that were brought against him. To the Democratic vote were added the discontents and the very few Republicans, probably, who really felt that he had abused the powers of office.

Now another election is to be held to fill the unexpired term of six months, and the Democrats, of course, hope to get in and get some Joplin pie. It is to be doubted, however, if Joplin is liable to get the best available Democrat or Republican. An office is not very apt to appeal to the most desirable men of any party after the rough treatment visited upon the head of Joplin's reform mayor. A handful can get up a petition at any time and in any city where there are two parties of approximately equal numbers it would be difficult for the best to hold its own.

There is always a remedy for officials who do wrong, but it happens frequently that a public official may do that which is his duty, but which is unpopular, and the referendum may crucify him merely for doing his duty.

The people are eminently capable of choosing their officials, but they are not always sufficiently informed to pass upon the merits of an issue that in a referendum election may involve his further tenure of office. And no doubt many voted against McIndoe without regard to the matter which resulted in the referendum—Houston Post.

WOMEN ON FARMS.

Four women helpers have been engaged on a 800-acre farm at Frontville, Ont. One of these is running a tractor plough and one will work with the dairy herd. A large apple grower on the Georgian Bay has taken on two girls for pruning his orchard and bridging, where the mice have wrought havoc. A large vegetable and dairy farm in Niagara-on-the-Lake is hiring five girls for dairy work exclusively. These girls must milk, look after the herd, clean the stables, etc. Farmers secure this help through the Director Women's Farm Work, Ontario Government Employment Bureau, Toronto.

A Bit Crazier. Edith—"How does Fred make love?" Marie—"Well, I should define it as unskilled labor."

A University at the Front

"Rah, Rah, Rah, for Vimy!" —"Khaki University" a Marvellous Development of Y.M.C.A. Service for the Morale and Future of Canadian Soldiers

NOT the least of the wonders of this war of marvels is a university for soldiers in the field. Ever on the alert to minister to soldiers and to the Great Cause, the Y.M.C.A. has, with the co-operation of chaplains and military authorities, brought into active service the "Khaki University." It started only in January and already four thousand students have enrolled! There are branch "Khaki Colleges," one at Vimy Ridge, more in London and in the English camps.

The need! Think of the slow intellectual stagnation due to the monotony of life in camp and billets; the complete surrender of personality and loss of mental exercise due to the necessary restrictions of military discipline! Does healthful study form a welcome mental change from the "sameness" of military work? And does it keep a man from going mentally soggy? Does it enhance his morale?

For answer, witness the eagerness with which soldiers of all ranks have fervently welcomed the idea! Think of the thousands who exchanged the scholar's gown for khaki, and those other thousands who need training in industry. "We are going soggy," was their spoken and unspoken thought. The ambitions of many soldiers seemed to have been nipped in the bud by the exigencies of war. Now the Future is full of Promise, and they fight more gloriously than ever!

High Standards University careers interrupted by the war are being resumed. Men are learning lucrative trades. The curriculum is comprehensive. The studies are fully up to the best Canadian University standards. The work is so thorough that students of the professions from the Khaki University can have their work credited by their alma matres.

The subjects include history and economics, applied science, languages and literature agriculture and business. There is, too, a special course in the problems of the Coming Reconstruction Period—the lessons of the war, the Canada of to-day and to-morrow.

Surprising Success The teaching staffs are Canadian soldiers, including distinguished professors. The students are soldiers. Examination results have been astonishing. Five men completed an eighteen months' wireless telegraphy course in three months, and every man of them passed the British Admiralty exams! They say these marvellously alert brains in physically fit bodies soak up knowledge like a sponge drinks in water.

Writes a soldier, "There is no doubt about it, the Y.M.C.A. is a God-sent institution for the soldiers!"
