Washington, March 15-Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, sent his resignation to Secretary Wilson today.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., MARCH 15, 1912.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Cassebury street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN? Is it the intention of the Borden government to spend millions to provide St. John with terminals to handle traffic and then spend other millions to carry that traffic to another port? The Standard has an Ottawa despatch stating that "plans for the development of the Intercolonial system are in the making."

Improvements to existing facilities in the east. Joyful intelligence this for the job-hunters. There is to be another commission of "experts." Also there is to be further sparring for wind. Tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow. But, after all, will there be enough commission jobs to feed the hungry?

The interest shown by Montreal men in Quebec county coal areas may result in important developments within the next year or two. The value of exports by the winter steamships is now over $5,000,000 in excess of that for the like period last year. If the coal strike does not affect business this will be a record season.

The Fleming government does not want the people to know how it spent their money. Therefore the auditor general's report gives lump sums, paid to "various persons" for labor, instead of giving the particulars. The news that the new bridge at the falls is likely to be constructed soon, with provision for street car traffic, is good news, for such a bridge would aid greatly in building up the west side.

Like all other close observers, Mr. John A. Cooper of the Canadian Courier, after looking over the situation, is convinced that St. John has the promise of a great future, and has just entered upon a period of rapid expansion. In Carroll county, Virginia, yesterday, after a judge had sentenced a prisoner to one year in jail, the prisoner's relatives shot the judge, the sheriff and the state attorney, and got away, taking with them the man who had just been sentenced. They are now being hunted down in the mountains. Does Virginia send missionaries to China?

Commodore Stewart of the Chatham World is one Conservative who has his doubts. He says in the World this week: "The rosate estimates of coal production and freight revenue which Premier Fleming hands out with his Minto railway bill sound very like the seductive utterances of Premier Pugsley on the Central Railway project."

That stout British Tory, J. L. Garvin, who was one of the leaders of the attack upon Mr. Balfour, writes in the Pall Mall Gazette:—"If imperial unity stands for more than a mere phrase, the time has come for the daughter states to range themselves firmly by her side. A hint from them," etc., etc. Premier Borden of Canada has given his hint. He has announced that he will repeal the navy act, and range himself firmly by the side of Mr. Balfour.

It is evident that certain St. John bills before the legislature are to meet with opposition from a small section of the people here, who are never satisfied with anything. The members of the legislature will understand, however, that the great mass of the people of St. John want the new charter and the new assessment law. It is quite proper that those who have objections to make should be given the fullest opportunity to state their case, but the wishes of the great majority should prevail.

LOCAL LECTURE PLATFORM Mrs. J. R. McIntosh delivered a very instructive lecture on her trip to Scotland to the members of the Natural History Society yesterday afternoon. The lecture was illustrated and was greatly enjoyed. Art in the United States was the subject of a lecture delivered by Joshua Clavon in the art club rooms last night. The attendance was large, and the lecture was greatly appreciated. A vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer at the close.

Wendell Simpson of Springhill Mines, who was arrested here for the Sackville case, was allowed his liberty yesterday afternoon, Deputy Jenkins receiving a telegram from the police there to release him. He proceeded to Boston. Nellie Riley, the five year old child of John Riley of the Westmorland Road, strayed from her home yesterday afternoon and was not located until after ten o'clock last night. She was in a house in Waterloo street.

NEW BOARD OF TRADE A meeting of business men of Lancaster was held last evening at the Orange Hall, Fairville, for the purpose of forming a board of trade for the parish of Lancaster. Mr. J. Linton was elected chairman and J. A. Donaldson, secretary. A resolution was adopted against certain features of the new charter for the city of St. John, the management of the Lancaster land, and also the water supply for the parish. The meeting directed W. J. Linton and Donaldson Allen to proceed to Fredericton to state the objections. An adjourned meeting will be held this evening at the court house, Fairville, to discuss more fully some of last night's business.

FEEDING THE HUNGRY "The Borden government will deal with the transportation problem," solemnly announces the Ottawa correspondent of the Standard, and then he adds:—"The Standard understands that, what ever immediate steps may be taken to meet the more pressing needs of transportation, it will be followed by a general enquiry to be undertaken by experts selected by the government, and including men of undoubted standing in the Canadian transportation world. The enquiry will cover the needs of the wheat growers in the west, and the proposed im-

MORNING LOCALS William Sullivan, formerly of the St. John police force but now the chief of the Sackville police, was in the city yesterday, reuniting acquaintances and was heartily welcomed. A pretty and original entertainment was given last evening by the Six Sisters Band of Monmouth street church. The programme included Dreams of Mother Goose, in which the characters of the nursery rhymes were represented by members of the band and the second part was a Japanese entertainment in costume. Among those taking part were Misses Mabel Shaw, Helen Magee, Emma Rand, Mary Alward, Gladys Tait, Sun Duhon, Mildred Wilson, Edith Bustin, Gladys Radcliffe and Hazel James.

RECENT DEATHS The death of Mrs. Sarah Gough occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. A. McAndrew, Douglas avenue yesterday. She is survived by four daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Noble, of Boston; Mrs. F. A. McAndrew, of this city; Mrs. Bladine, of Fredericton, and Miss Emma, of Boston. Martin Gough, of New York, is the son.

The death of Mrs. Annie Weldon, widow of Charles W. Weldon, formerly a member of the well known law firm of Weldon & McLean and a member of parliament, died at her home, 1 Prince William street, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She had been ill for about six weeks and death was not unexpected. She was one of the oldest residents of this city and was of a family very prominent in years gone, being the daughter of the late John Duhon, who was Lloyd's agent at this port, and a sister of Col. J. J. Tucker, ex-M.P., who resided here. The old Tucker homestead was in Mount Pleasant on the site of the present residence of Dr. Silas Aldred.

Of a kindly disposition, her gentle nature endeared her to all who were fortunate in knowing her, and her death marks the passing of one more largely identified with the social life of this city. Mrs. Weldon's husband, the late Charles Wesley Weldon, A.M., Q.C., was one of the ablest lawyers in this province. He was a Liberal in politics and was returned to parliament as a member from this city in the general elections of 1878 and was re-elected at the general elections the following term.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

Canadian Record for February Shows an Improvement Over Previous Month

According to the record of industrial accidents kept by the department of labor, sixty-one persons were killed and 178 injured in Canada during February, 1912. This record compares very favorably with that of January, when eighty-six workmen were killed and 214 injured. Compared with February, 1911, the record is still more favorable, as ninety-three were killed and 197 injured in that month. The worst disaster of the month was the premature explosion of dynamite on the line of the Canadian Northern Railway, by which thirteen construction hands were killed and six others seriously injured.

KAISER HELD TO BE MAINLY RESPONSIBLE

Germany's State Theatres Mismanaged; Millions Spent To no Good End

GLORIFY HIS ANCESTORS

That's The Kind of Plays He Wanted—Government Drama in Russia and Austria Also Failure, But Duke George's Theatre a Shining Exception

(Times' Special Correspondent) Berlin, Feb. 27.—Kaiser Wilhelm has decreed that no more Hohenzollern princes shall be represented on the stage of Prussia's royal theatres. Herbert's House of Brandenburg has appeared on the stage always in heroic measure, out-towering base humanity in spirit as in physique, but of late the form of such apotheosizing plays has run dry and the Kaiser swears that sooner than tolerate stage Hohenzollerns with inches and wisdom, like those of ordinary mortals, he will tolerate none at all. Thereby he has set Germans asking whether the system of state, court or royal theatres, run at enormous cost to the taxpayer, is really worth the money. Here is it, they say, that Englishmen sigh for the splendors of a state-supported stage, while Germans who have it damn it as a nuisance, and yearn for the free theatrical competition of America and England. The explanation is that, during the present reign Prussia's state theatres have fallen into grievous decay; have mostly ceased to serve true art, and have kept only to serve the Kaiser, only to whom he celebrated his tenth accession anniversary in 1896, made a speech to the royal theatre staff in which he said: "The stage is one of my weapons." He meant that he was trying to use the theatre for political aims. "Weapons" is the right word, exclaimed Germany's angry playwrights, whose works had been rejected because their politics or scenery displeased the Kaiser. "His Majesty uses the weapon over our unhappy heads!"

The rule-holders have been that play dealing with Hohenzollerns up to and including Frederick the Great, could be produced by the theatre independent on its own judgment; but that all plays dealing with later Hohenzollerns must first be approved of by the sovereign himself. Twenty years this policy has been pursued, plays being accepted or rejected according as they painted the Brandenburg dynasty as a succession of heroes and saints, or not. When Ernst Wichert's drama, "Aus Ewigem Reich," was rejected, the author revenged himself by writing in his reminiscences that "The Hohenzollerns are allowed to appear on the stage only in a heroic infallibility," and that was the truth.

Of late Kaiser Wilhelm has insisted on seeing all Hohenzollern plays irrespective of epoch; and he has been displeased by the thinness of the acting in a number of the newer plays. Hence (the absolute forbidding of Hohenzollern pieces in future) a prohibition which has caused among several modern authors who have lately been cranking up history with the intention of writing leading plays about the House of Brandenburg. The decline of the Prussian royal theatres is mainly due to Kaiser Wilhelm himself. That apart from that, the management is attacked. The Berlin opera, the Berlin royal theatre and the two royal theatres at Hanover and Wiesbaden swallow about $500,000 a year, more than they take in receipts. When two years ago Kaiser Wilhelm asked the Landtag to raise his civil list from $3,750,000 to $4,500,000, one of his pleas was that his theatres cost him annually more and more. The theatres are always full, and their prices are higher than those of Munich and Dresden, where the production is infinitely better, yet there is a heavy loss. The management is further attacked for its attitude to native talent. Although the royal theatres insist on producing worthless "patriotic" pieces, the royal opera is thronged with foreigners, and leaving Wagner aside, two-thirds of the operas produced are by foreign composers. Russia has five imperial theatres; in St. Petersburg are the Maria, for the ballet and opera, the Alexander for the drama; and the French Theatre Michel. The Theatre Michel exists mainly for the benefit of the embassies and legations. It is

WEST SIDE HAS ITS SHARE IN THE BOOM

The announcement that the provincial government and the street railway company had reached an agreement for the construction of a new bridge across the river, although rather premature, had the effect yesterday of stimulating property values on the west side of the harbor and in Lancaster. The new industries and the harbor works which are being undertaken on that side have increased the value of property there and the assurance that direct street car communication would be available was all that was needed to create a boom.

QUEENS COUNTY COAL

T. P. Birchell of Montreal, who has been in Queens county accompanied by a couple of engineers inspecting the coal areas there, passed through St. John last evening on his return to Montreal. He said there is plenty of coal there even if there are no lower seams but he suggested that the government should undertake borings to a depth of 1,000 feet to demonstrate this. The greatest obstacle in the way of development he found, was the system of long term leases under which the areas were tied up and the prices which were being asked by the owners were prohibitive. He advocated transportation of the coal to St. John by barges as the cheapest mode of conveyance. Mr. Birchell also displayed interest in the development of this city and said that he did not think the prices asked were at all above the value.

PAID THE STANDARD TO PRINT NEWS

The item stood over for further consideration when Mr. Hubbard, who is absent from the city, could be present. School Books. Chairman Pinder is inclined to cross swords with opposition members of the committee and to remind them of what the old government has done. Mr. Robinson retorted this morning that he did not care what the old government had done. What was wrong now should be investigated.

THE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS PRESENT DURING THE SESSION WERE AUDITOR GENERAL LOUDON, AND MR. THOMAS, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS. THERE WAS NOTHING OF PARTICULAR INTEREST IN MR. THOMAS'S STATEMENT EXCEPT THAT EVERYTHING WAS ROY IF THE MAIN, ALTHOUGH THE REPORTS FROM VENDORS WERE NOT SATISFACTORY IN MANY CASES, THAT HE HAD MADE BEFORE OCTOBER 31. CHAIRMAN PINDER INTERJECTED AT THIS POINT THAT A LARGE sum of money.

MR. ROBINSON LAUGHED AS HE RETORTED, "NOT, HOWEVER, $50,000 A YEAR AS CLAIMED IN A PAMPHLET PUBLISHED BY MR. HAZEN."

Mr. Pinder—"Well, it must have been very close to that."

Mr. Robinson—"That is on a par with most of the statements made by the government members. The total sales of school books by the vendors throughout the province each year is shown by the auditor-general's report to be less than $50,000 and you state that the saving is one-third, and according to your own figures it would be only $5,000 or one-tenth of what was claimed by that last pamphlet."

Mr. Thomas said that the department had handled the more expensive books used in the higher grades in high school and that there was no saving to the people at all on account of this.

AUDITOR GENERAL

The auditor-general was asked how he came to make some changes in the compilation of his reports, particularly with regard to the detailing of expenditures on bridges. His explanation was that it was impossible to have the report printed in time for the opening of the house with a mass of figures and that it was necessary to summarize it. Mr. Loudon may be considered as very valuable. There is no printing office worthy of the name in the maritime provinces that would not guarantee to print the report in two weeks easily, with all the copy prepared and at hand.

Mr. Loudon even went so far as to volunteer the information that it was because of the backwardness of the report that the session of the house was delayed until March 7.

HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN WHO HAVE TUBERCULOSIS

Generous Donor Makes Worthy Institution in Ontario Possible—Accommodate 50 at Outset

Toronto, March 15—Through the generosity of W. J. Gagn and the National Sanitarium Association, a new hospital for tuberculous children is to be erected on the grounds of the Western Sanitarium. Arrangements have been completed for breaking the sod and commencing building operations without delay. The cost of the new building will be approximately $60,000, and will provide accommodation for fifty children, with provisions for enlargement from time to time.

The announcement of the magnificent donation has been received with joy by the people who are especially interested in the excellent work being done at the Western Sanitarium for suffering humanity.

Scores of little children are already being cared for in the free hospital for consumptives, but the accommodation is entirely inadequate. The new building will be up to date in every particular.

CARRIED OFF BY GYPSY; WEDDING IS INTERRUPTED

Budapest, March 15—A dramatic interruption of a Gypsy wedding ceremony at Pestka is reported. A tradesman named Hejli, of Batorya, reported to the police the disappearance of his seventeen-year-old daughter Rosa, and suggested that she might have been abducted by a Gypsy of fifteen, Michael Borse.

Inquiries led to the discovery that there was a Gypsy camp in a wood near Pestka. Gendarmes went to the spot and arrived at the moment when the elders of the tribe were marrying the youth, and the tradesman's daughter according to Gypsy rites.

The wedding was stopped, and all the Gypsies were arrested. A magistrate who accompanied the gendarmes was questioning the Gypsies concerning the abduction when a man on horseback appeared armed with a hunting knife. He was the girl's father, and his intention was to kill her. The gendarmes intervened and removed him.

The magistrate put an end to the dramatic situation by making the tradesman take an oath that he would not harm his daughter, and by inducing the daughter to promise that she would not again allow herself to be carried off by a Gypsy.

NO DREXEL DIVORCE

New York, March 15—It is learned in New York that the suit for divorce said to have been contemplated by Mrs. A. J. Drexel, has been dropped. There has been much talk in Philadelphia and London of a suit by Mrs. Drexel, but she and her lawyer would never admit that a suit had actually been started. When Mr. Drexel was here in December he said he was much annoyed by the reports that he and Mrs. Drexel were at odds and were to separate. There were reports after a son was born to Lady Maidstone, who was Margaretta Drexel, that Mr. and Mrs. Drexel had become reconciled. Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr. was Marjorie Gould.

Liverpool, March 15—When the magistrates at Woolton Police Court near here, made orders for the abatement of a nuisance on Miss Annie Gough and Miss Margaret Gough, tenants of Viney House, Vale-road, Allerton, and Charles Gough, their brother, who managed the place, it was stated that when the inspector visited the place about twenty pigs were being kept in the drawing-room and dining-room.

Dr. Pethick, the medical officer of health, said that when he visited the place a pig scoured him during the examination. There were pigs in the drawing-room, dining-room, vinery, and dog kennel, and rabbits and pigeons in the bedrooms.

Many a sufferer from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and kindred ailments of the digestive organs carries around an absolutely useless stomach—a dead load, and a cesspool for ever-increasing disorders. The muscles are seemingly worn out, the mucous lining has lost its secretory power, and food taken into the stomach lies there and ferments, causing sour eructations, belchings, heartburn, dizziness and other distressing conditions. The sufferer has given up in despair until they have been induced by some interested friend to try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the dyspeptic's hope. They are a natural restorative of healthy action to the stomach and small intestines, because they supply the elements that the weak stomach lacks, pepsin, golden seal and other digestives.

If you are afflicted with any of the symptoms above described, be assured that your digestive organs are losing power—they need help and there is no more sensible help to be given them than to supply elements which will do the work of digestion for them.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been found by test to have digestive powers, one grain of the active principle of these tablets being sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of ordinary food. It is plain that no matter what the condition of your stomach, or how far your disease has progressed, one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken at meal time will do the work—give your stomach an opportunity to regain its lost power, the muscles will be strengthened, the glands invigorated, and you will be a new man.

LONDON IS TO HAVE A SILK EXHIBITION

RIVAL OF THE X RAYS

German Doctor Makes Whole Body Except Nerves Transparent

Names Go—Old Country News in London Letter

(Times' Special Correspondence)
 London, March 2.—Every woman of taste loves silk attire. Whether she can afford no more than a Japanese silk blouse or can vest herself from neck to ankle in the clinging folds of the delicate fabric, the rustic of silk pleases her innate refinement, and fills her with an exultant sense of luxury. The world of women will, therefore, be especially interested to learn that the project for holding a big silk exhibition this year is now definitely assuming shape. It is to be held in London at the Prince's Skating Club, and will be opened on June 5. This will be, it is said, the first public exhibition in connection with the silk industries of the kingdom ever held in the country.

A public rival to X-rays has been discovered by a German doctor. Though not applicable to living bodies, it will probably lead to a great extension of knowledge in connection with the nervous system. By use of the invention the whole body can be rendered transparent, with the exception of the nerves, which thus become visible. How the body is made invisible is explained by the fact that if it be impregnated with liquids which refract light to the same extent as the body itself, rays of light striking the body will pass through it instead of being reflected. Two complicated organic chemicals are used, and the mixture has to be varied with the age of the body.

NOT ONE WOMAN IN TWENTY HAS A STRONG BACK.

THE KIDNEYS ARE TO BLAME NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN.

Women are coming to understand that weak, lame and aching backs from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys.

The poisons that ought to be carried off are sent back into the blood, taking with them a multitude of aches and pains. There is no use of expecting relief until the kidneys are restored to healthy action.

Doan's Kidney Pills are the quickest and most reliable remedy. Mrs. Ed. Jester, Upland, N.B., writes:—"I take a good deal of pleasure in telling you that Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. I was troubled with my kidneys for a number of years, and my back was so lame I could not sweep the floor. A friend of mine advised me to try a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and after using three boxes I am as well as ever. I highly recommend them to anyone suffering from lame back or kidney trouble."

WAS ALL RUN DOWN

Doctors and Medicine Failed To Cure Him.

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what the trouble is. As a rule it is improper circulation of the blood, owing to neglect, taking proper care of themselves. All they want is a good tonic to build up the system and put their blood in proper shape, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters. It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system. Mr. Murdoch A. Morrison, Tarbot, N.S., writes:—"I am now writing to tell you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Last Summer I was all run down, and doctors and medicine failed to cure me. At last I decided to try a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking one bottle I began feeling better, and after I had taken the remedy for two months I was completely cured. I can safely recommend your remedy to anyone."

WHAT PUNY CHILDREN NEED

More Food—How to Make Them Eat Heartily

More food, better food, these are the two things that pale, delicate children need most.

"But they won't eat," says the anxious mother. Yes, they will if you give them our delicious tonic, Vinol.

It's the greatest thing we ever saw to create an appetite. It makes the blood rich, too-builds up weak children (and grown folks as well) and makes them strong and rosy.

Mrs. W. O. Strother of Raleigh, N. C., says: "My little girl, Hazel, has been taking Vinol to build her up after a severe spell of sickness. It has done so much good by restoring her appetite and building up her strength that I think Vinol is the finest tonic ever prepared and I am telling everyone about it."

Children like to take Vinol, the taste is so pleasant. It is not a strong medicine and there is not one harmful thing in it. We will give back your money if Vinol disappoints you. Wasson's—100 King Street.

SMUGGLERS OUTDONE BY BAND OF SAME SEX

Geneva, March 15.—An amusing incident on the Swiss-Italian frontier shows that there is no honor among smugglers. Eight young smugglers of Varese, carrying sacks filled with tobacco and saccharine, cut through the wire fence on the frontier during an exchange of guards, and passed over with their valuable booty. They were placing the sacks in a convenient cave when eight men dressed in the uniforms of Italian customs officers arrived on the scene and commanded the smugglers to surrender themselves.

The men fed into the woods, but thinking it strange that they were not fired upon, remained in ambush, and were greatly surprised to see the newcomers throw off their official uniforms and, each carrying a sack disappear in the opposite direction with the booty. The second band of smugglers wanted to take no risks.

BILIOUS HEADACHE, BAD BREATH AND SOUR STOMACH MEAN LAZY LIVER AND BOWELS

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

HIGH COST OF LIVING IS DISCUSSED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Ottawa, March 14.—In resuming the debate on the budget last night Mr. Verville, labor member from Montreal, urged that the surplus shown by the government should be used to lower taxation and reduce the cost of living.

Mr. Verville said there were thirty-nine combines and trusts in Canada, having behind them a capital of nearly $200,000,000 and whose operations, bolstered up by the tariff tended to unduly increase the cost of living.

Going at length into the items entering into the cost of living to the ordinary working man, he showed that on practically every commodity of consumption from shoes to hats and from soap to blankets, the consumer had to pay toll to the manufacturer. Carefully prepared and reliable statistics as to conditions in Montreal, as exemplifying the industrial centres generally, showed that the cost of living, on a very moderate basis, for a workman's family of five was $746.13 per year, of which $322.58 went for food. This was an average $8.35 less than the average cost in Boston, although wages in 100 American centres were considerably higher.

The average annual earnings of the working man in Canada, under normal conditions, varied from $400 per year for painters and bricklayers. The difference between earnings and the rising cost of living, coupled with the growing power of the trusts and combines and their effect on the masses of the people, was the great tariff problem with which every member of the House must deal.

Hon. J. D. Hazen introduced a bill to amend the fisheries act by allowing the governments of the maritime provinces to grant exclusive leases of oyster fishing beds areas to individuals subject to the federal fishing regulations.

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Fredericton, N. B., March 14.—The house met at 3 o'clock. Mr. Baxter presented a petition in favor of the bill to amend the incorporation of the St. John Law Society.

authorizes the town of St. Andrews to borrow money for sewerage purposes and to issue debentures therefor. Mr. Copp gave notice of inquiry as to payments for work on roads and bridges in the province.

ST. JOHN AT BEGINNING OF GREAT EXPANSION

The History of St. John

St. John has an unfortunate history. The property around it was granted to three families who have never parted with it any considerable quantity. The central portion, a little peninsula, was not in these grants, and it became a town. Two suburbs grew up and these were united in name but not in reality. The town is divided from itself because a street railway bridge has not yet been built across the River St. John.

tioners and a mayor. The mayor is to hold office for two years and the commissioners for four years. Each of the five is to be paid a salary and to have charge of a particular department. They also adopted the initiative, referendum and recall—initiative by which the people may compel measures to be taken; referendum by which the people may be asked to pass or reject a measure; and recall by which the mayor or any commissioner may be obliged to stand for reelection at any time by petition of the people.

The first elections under the new system will be held next month, and the citizens responsible for the innovation will bring out four men for commissioners who are not now serving in the city council. They will thus try to establish an entirely new era with entirely new men.

The Real Estate Boom

Any person reading the St. John of Montreal papers will see evidence of a real estate boom in St. John. One of the objects of my visit was to see if that boom was justified, or whether it was merely another attempt to reach a level above its own level.

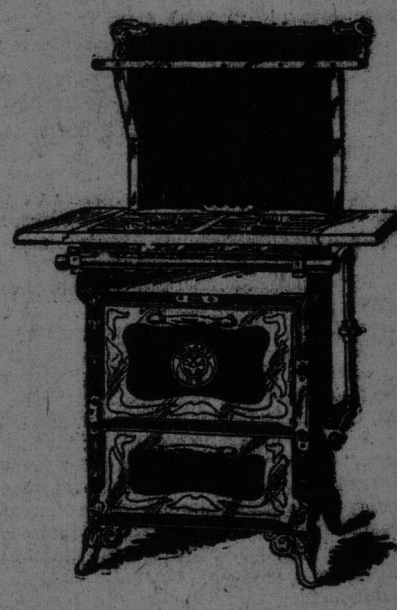

Further, when the Grand Trunk Pacific reaches St. John, the monthly shipments from that port will reach nearly as large totals in the winter months as they do at Montreal during the summer months. Indeed, there will be more dockage room at St. John than there is at present at Montreal, and it will be possible to accommodate thirty or more coast-going vessels of the largest type at one time. This in itself is sufficient to double the population of St. John in the next ten years.

THE TELL-ALL GLOVE

An Adventure of Peter Crewe—"The Man with the Camera Eye"

By Harold Carter

Copyright, 1911, by W. G. Chapman in the United States and Great Britain.

The arrival in New York of Sir Moresby Blount was widely chronicled in the newspapers. Sir Moresby was a self-made Englishman, who, starting in life in the humble capacity of an itinerant vegetable vendor, had become, first a merchant prince, then a company promoter, finally a millionaire, having a mansion in Park Lane and interests in a dozen ventures all over the globe. Thousands of poor investors blessed him when his companies declared their annual dividends of twelve and fifteen per cent. In his coronation year the late king had knighted him. And now, immensely prosperous, pompous and self-sufficient, Sir Moresby had come to America "to hither," as he phrased it to the reporters who met him when the ship docked in New York harbor.

His little, rat-like English secretary, who had accompanied him, afterward conducted the reporters to the magnificent offices in a Fifth avenue building, which had just been opened to accommodate the American branch of Sir Moresby's business, and where two dozen recently employed clerks were busily opening letters and filing applications for shares along the sides of the new mahogany table.

It was with astonishment, therefore, that, on opening my morning paper on the day after the millionaire's arrival, I saw, in great, black headlines, the announcement of his death.

He had gone out alone, "rediscovering America" on the preceding evening, and, when he did not return shortly before midnight, his secretary became alarmed and telephoned the police. Within two hours his body was brought into the morgue, dripping wet from the cold waters of the East river. The skull was fractured and the face beaten almost out of all recognition; but the clothes identified the man beyond all doubt. Sir Moresby had evidently been struck down from behind while prowling in the unsavory precincts of the East side, robbed of money, watch and chain and jewelry, and hung into the stream, which washed him ashore opportunely in the vicinity of the police station.

Hardly had I laid down the paper when there came a ring at my telephone. I took the receiver off the hook and heard the agitated voice of the general manager of the Salamander Life Insurance company, for which I acted as lawyer.

"Langton," he called, "have you seen the account of the murder of Sir Moresby Blount?"

"Yes," I called back. "What of it?"

"What of it? My God, Langton, he insured last month with our English branch for two hundred and fifty thousand dollars."

"I was therefore considerably surprised when Crewe telephoned me that afternoon to come over at once, but first to telephone the Salamander people to postpone payment for a couple of weeks. As this was to be done in any event, it did not seem necessary to take up the subject with the general manager again, but went straight to Crewe's apartments, which were situated in a modest block upon Twenty-second street. I found him at the door, his hands dripping with purple dye.

"What on earth have you been doing?" I asked.

"Then I perceived that a great bowl of the dye stood in the center of his table, in which floated Sir Moresby's glove, turned inside out and of an intense purple hue.

"Langton," he said, "we must have Randall watched incessantly until the moment of his departure for Arizona."

"How do you know he is going to Arizona?" I asked.

"Because Sir Moresby cannot go now," said Crewe—"the fact appears a little out of place to me. Can you have your company make out a check to him for the full amount and immediately telephone to the bank suspending payment?"

"I had hardly slipped into the boots when I saw the door of the Salamander Life Insurance company open and a man in a dark suit and top hat came in. He looked at his watch and then at the door. He was waiting for me at the foot of the elevator. It was a large building, containing some dozen floors, all packed with offices; beneath, three telephone girls were busy at their boards, and a number of small telephone booths accommodated those who wished to communicate with other parts of the town.

"In place of Crewe I found awaiting me an inspector of the telephone company, wearing the distinctive hat of his office. I gazed at him, something about his appearance seemed familiar, suddenly I perceived that this was Crewe, but he had shaved off his mustache and his whole facial appearance seemed to be changed. He saw my recognition of him and gave me the slightest look of warning.

"Crewe advanced toward the telephone boards and planted himself between two of the girls.

"You have a call from 327 Sixth avenue," he said. This was Randall's office number.

"For 324 Harlem," one of the girls responded to me.

"Get me the street and number immediately," said Crewe. "Get into the booth," he continued to me in a whisper.

Eavesdropping Woman on the Party Telephone Line Got a "Hot Shot" From Her Neighbor.

The telephone, he affirmed unanimously, is a great institution. It becomes a great institution when the wires are crossed and a man's wife hears him talking to "that blondie old cat." The possibilities of the telephone become more complicated when a party line is used.

INCIDENT OF EASTER MORN

Little Happening, the Moral of Which is Fine Feathers Don't Make Fine Birds.

It was Easter morning, and although the air was crisp and cold, Fifth avenue was filled with its usual Easter crowd—women strutting along like peacocks, anxious that all might see their hats, their gowns; and men—martyrs to woman's pride and vanity. Each was conscious that their tailor and tallow had done their duty well, that money—their money—is a power, and so was a power for good or evil.

Very Taking Platform

Governor Dix, at a dinner in the Hotel Manhattan in New York, said of politics:

"Sneering at politics, the Goncourts once said that no party could ever lose office if it gave the people free fireworks every night and free vaudeville every day."

New Ideas in Motors

Magpie a Thief's Accomplice. Six thieves and a magpie have been run in by the Paris police. The bird, true to its instinct, was an active member of the gang. It did not purloin on its own account but its help was invaluable. The six thieves, all under sixteen, chose a sufficiently simple-minded tradesman and entered his shop. The bird was perched on the wrist of one of the boys, and did tricks, bowed, danced, and chattered. The ingenious shopkeeper was amused. Suddenly the magpie flew up and perched near the ceiling, out of reach. The boys and the shopkeeper started hunting for the bird—not all the boys, however, for one of them stopped behind, near the till, and emptied it. A whistle called the bird down, and bird and boys were off with their booty. The game seems to have succeeded upon only one trusting tradesman before the gang, including the magpie was captured.

But He Meant Well

Drawing room manners do not necessarily imply a knowledge of elevator etiquette as laid down by the operator.

There goes a man whose breeding came out in the wash even if it did look to be fast colors. He said, "Because there were ladies in the car he took off his hat, but he didn't know what to do with it after he got it off. He held it bottom side up as if about to take up a collection. If a man does not know that it is not the way to hold the hat he might just about as well keep it on his head."

Next week: "The Champion of the Fleet"

The purple was a simple coat dye, used extensively for hardening and bringing out the salient features of microscopic subjects," Crewe answered. "I knew the moment I had it in my hands that the body at the morgue could not be Sir Moresby's. The ridges on the thumbs and fingers were what are technically known as 'whorls.' The ridges on Sir Moresby's fingers, on the other hand, were elliptical. They had been well imprinted into the soft kid and it was necessary only to turn the glove inside out and dye it in order to bring them out unmarked detail."

Of course Mr. J. was in the wrong and of course he got just what was coming to him. When through to this day Mrs. J. began to know how to take care of her money.

By that time they had ascended the stairs and entered the room. "Good evening, sir," said Mommer. "Why—why—why, how do you do?" stammered Homer dear, with varied alacrity.

And right then and there she stopped off—just like that—just like that—just like that. Homer dear squirmed. Mommer was regarding him anxiously, and Mommer's countenance was wreathed in just the sweetest of sweet smiles.

She made him stretch out on the bed and get the hot water bottle. She—yes, without a moment's hesitation—she hurriedly walked over to the drug store, two blocks away, for some medicine for the sufferer.

Then she bound his head in a cloth saturated with witch-hazel. Ten minutes later when Mrs. J. and Mommer came upstairs from the kitchen where they'd been bustling—no, not hot broth—more water for the hot-water bag, they found Mr. J. seated by the open window looking mournfully out.

PARENTS IN JAIL, CHILDREN LIKELY TO MUNICIPAL HOME

Sheffield Street Case in Police Court—A Warning to Owners of Troublesome Dogs

In the police court this morning William McKeegan, reported for having a ferocious dog, promised to have the canine destroyed and was allowed to go. His Honor issued a warning to all owners of dogs that were of any annoyance to pedestrians or to any neighborhood, that they were liable to be summoned to court and fined.

Two prisoners charged with drunkenness were fined $8 or two months in jail. The case against Mrs. Singer, charged with keeping a bawdy house in Sheffield street and also charged with selling liquor without a license, was taken up again. Frederick Bowden said that he was walking along Sheffield street on Wednesday last and that Mrs. Singer asked him into her house. While there he had several drinks of pilsener beer. He had sent the woman's husband out for the beer and after taking a drink of it went out to the street and was arrested. While in the house the two little children complained of being hungry and he gave them twenty-five cents to get some food. He had also taken Singer to a barber shop and paid for a haircut and shave for him.

John Lyons gave evidence in the bawdy house case. He said that he had been in Singer's house on several occasions. He had not purchased liquor there. Eva Morrell said that on Saturday night she bought three drinks of gin in Singer's house and after taking the last one she lost her mind and knew nothing until she woke up in the central police station. Singer's house had always borne a bad reputation and she had seen him on occasions selling men in the street. Sergt. Campbell gave evidence as to the character and reputation of the premises. Lottie McAdam also gave evidence as to the reputation of the house kept by the Singer. She had never purchased any liquor there. The prisoners were further remanded to jail. Secretary Wetmore is looking after their three small children and they will in all probability be sent to the Municipal Home.
