IMMENSE SLAUGHTER IN BAKU:
TROOPS DEFEATED AND GUNS TAKEN.

BAKU, Caucasus, Sept. 8.—Street fighting continued until late last night. The consulates, banks and government buildings are guarded by troops. Buildings were completely burned out, and the Tartars had plundered it, everything valuable. Although shot down everywhere by the artillery the Tartars were not deterred from their work of wrecking and looting. There occurred at the great slaughter, where a thousand Armenians and workers gathered. Armenian soldiers sent a detachment of artillery with three guns to the scene, and the commander of the detachment summoned the crowd to surrender. The latter replied with volleys of stones and some shots, which killed one of the guards. The commander thereupon ordered the troops to fire. The first discharge of the three guns scattered the Tartars falling into the sea, but the second sent shells crashing into the hospital, where they exploded, killing an immense number of men and wrecking the building. The Tartars then fled, carrying off the guns and captured them, after deluging the captured with burning oil. The latter then fled, carrying off the guns and captured them, after deluging the captured with burning oil. The latter then fled, carrying off the guns and captured them, after deluging the captured with burning oil.

THAT FAKE SUICIDE.

Information which the police obtained yesterday proves that the "suicide" who figured in the supposed suicide at the breakwater is really Mrs. Charles Prime, of Freeport, whose maiden name is Forbes. Her chief reason seems to have been a desire to create a sensation and make her relatives believe that she had committed suicide. Detective Killen discovered yesterday that Mrs. Prime boarded the C. P. R. train at Hoy station Tuesday morning bound for this city. The same man who saw her on the train saw her about four o'clock coming from the Carleton ferryboat, but without the parcels which she was carrying before. Her dress answered the description of that worn by the woman seen at the breakwater.

MONCTON, Sept. 8.—The postponed races here will be held tomorrow when the free-for-all and 2 1/4 mile will be contested. The track is in excellent shape.

Potatoes have also dropped to a buying price during the week, and carrots, turnips, beets and squash are cheaper by one or two cents.

Miss Gladys Sheven returned today from a trip to Montreal and Boston.

TOWNS DESTROYED;
HUNDREDS KILLED.

Earthquakes Devastate Italy---In 18 Seconds Five Towns Were Wrecked---Loss Incalculable.

CATANZARO, Calabria, Italy, Sept. 8.—A violent earthquake at 2:55 o'clock this morning caused serious loss of life and widespread destruction in Calabria. The towns of Calabria and Maritimo were almost entirely destroyed. At Monteleone di Calabria, seven persons were killed outright and many were injured by the collapse of the prison there. The Pizzo district is said to be almost entirely destroyed. Locally the shocks lasted eighteen seconds. The walls of the hospital here collapsed and some of the patients were injured. The inhabitants of this city fled panic-stricken from their homes.

The villages of Pico and Tripani have been destroyed. ROME, Sept. 8.—Light earthquakes are reported to have occurred at Castellammare, Naples and Florence. CATANZARO, Sept. 8.—Grave news continues to arrive from Pizzo, Monteleone di Calabria and Maritimo, which have been almost destroyed. There are numerous victims. It was hoped that the district of Nicastro had escaped but that also has been seriously affected. At Maritimo all the buildings collapsed including the barracks of the Genoa. Six hundred men have thus far been taken from the ruins. There are other victims. At Sta. Paoli all the houses have fallen and it is feared that a hundred people are under the ruins. The villages of Pico and Tripani are also destroyed. Troops are helping in the work of salvage.

W. E. STAVERT LEAVES
BANK OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

W. E. Stavert, general manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, has resigned and rumor has it that he is taking an important position on the staff of the Bank of Montreal, but just where or where, is not known as Mr. Stavert declines to discuss the matter. There was a meeting of the directors of the bank this morning, but when interviewed the directors declined to state whether the matter of Mr. Stavert's resignation had been discussed or not. The only information they would give was that Mr. Stavert had resigned but that he would not leave the bank till they had secured a new manager. The directors when questioned as to Mr. Stavert's reasons for resigning his present position intimated that it was every man's privilege to better himself when the opportunity offered.

MORE EVIDENCE IN MOORE ROBBERY CASE.

The trial of Edward and Percy Moore, accused of having maltreated and robbed Frederick Isaacs, a Christian halibuterman from Ameyria, was continued yesterday afternoon in circuit court. The solicitor general did not call any other witnesses than the police himself. Mr. Mullin then addressed the jury, outlining his case and asking something about the character of the accused.

Edward Moore, the elder of the two accused, was called to the stand and gave his account of the row.

Mr. Mullin then recalled Isaacs and questioned him concerning a conversation which he had with Levi Parlee, his brother-in-law, who said that he saw an old man who died in the woods and charged the Moores with having contributed to his death. Levi Parlee testified that Henry Dolan, Benjamin Stackhouse and Robert Douglas testified to the defendant's good character. Harry Cummings and Thos. Brown swore that Isaacs, after the disturbance, made no mention of losing money.

Mr. Mullin brought out some "new" witnesses this morning, William Douglas, a blacksmith, who both Isaacs and conversations with Isaacs shortly after the disturbance. Both said that Isaacs had spoken about the assault, but made no mention of robbery. Isaacs, recalled, made the same statement. Medley Kelly, of Rothery, said that he saw no lock on the grain bin on the afternoon in question. He never saw it unlocked before. Otis Kelly said that he was usually locked, but that he noticed that it was not so on that day.

Mr. Mullin then recalled Isaacs and questioned him concerning a conversation which he had with Levi Parlee, his brother-in-law, who said that he saw an old man who died in the woods and charged the Moores with having contributed to his death. Levi Parlee testified that Henry Dolan, Benjamin Stackhouse and Robert Douglas testified to the defendant's good character. Harry Cummings and Thos. Brown swore that Isaacs, after the disturbance, made no mention of losing money.

The following witnesses were examined for the defence: Joseph Stackhouse, Sterling Barker, Abraham Beamish and Walker Moore, cousin of the defendant. The case goes on this afternoon.

NORDICA'S HOUSE ROBBED.

OSSING, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The John I. Kane cottage, at the north end of the village, which is occupied by the household of Mine Nordica, the singer, was entered on Sunday evening and looted of silver and jewelry valued at about $200.

The house was probably entered by the second story, as an open window over the back porch was found. Mine Nordica is now in Europe, and the house is in charge of her sister, Mrs. George L. Walker.

A very enjoyable hour or two was spent last night at the home of Mrs. Robt. Campbell, Bay Shore. Dancing and the usual games were indulged in. Refreshments were also served. An enjoyable feature was "a corn pass around" the corn being cooked by the young men in a neighboring field.

Dr. Rutherford, veterinary director general of Canada, arrived in this city on the Atlantic express at noon today from Montreal. Dr. Rutherford's visit has no special significance. He makes regular visits to all sections of the Dominion, and his visit here is only routine one. Dr. Rutherford was met at the depot by Dr. J. H. Frink, the government veterinary official in this province.

SECOND
BODY FOUND ON SUSSEX TRAIN.

The dead body of a man drenched with blood was found about two o'clock this afternoon in the water course of one of the cars which came in on the Sussex express this morning.

Nobody was missed from the passengers when the train arrived at nine o'clock, and the first intimation of anything wrong was received this afternoon when the car cleaners discovered a stream of blood running from under the closed door. Examination through the window revealed the huddled body of a man. The coroner was at once sent for and the door and everything left untouched till his arrival. Up to the time of going to press nothing had been discovered as to the identity of the man or the cause of his death. The opinion seems to be that he committed suicide.

(LATER)—
The man has been identified as Manfred Golding, a conductor on the street railway. He was formerly a clerk in the American Express Company's office.

It has been learned that Golding committed suicide by blowing out his brains with a large army revolver. The bullet went in the right side of his forehead and tore nearly the whole top of his head. No reason for his awful act is known.

On enquiry at the American Express Co. it was learned that Golding was about twenty-eight years of age. He came from Wickham, and had been a driver for the company. He was one of the New Brunswick boys who served in South Africa, and since returned from there had found employment in St. John.

Golding is given a good character by Mr. Stone, of the Express Co., but it is said that he sometimes drank rather heavily.

The dead man was the son of Gilbert Golding, a prosperous farmer at Wickham. His mother and several brothers and sisters are also residing at the homestead.

It is hinted that disappointment in a love affair might have been the cause of the young man's suicide.

Coroner Berryman examined the body which was attired in the street railway uniform, with tan boots and a carnation in the buttonhole of the coat. The body was removed to Chamberlain's undertaking rooms and an inquest will be held.

CAN NEW WHARF BE BUILT THIS YEAR?

Many Contend That This Is Impossible.

Blister Feeling Over the Delay May Cause Split in Council—Hints of a Deal on Foot.

It still looks as if no effort would be made to build additional wharves at Sand Point this fall. Now that the government are about to award the tender for dredging many of the aldermen think that the city should at once take hold and follow the dredging, which may be started in six weeks' time, with the construction of the wharves. The specifications, however, are not yet complete, but that is only a matter of a few days' work, but according to some of the aldermen it is a work that the mayor and the officials directly concerned do not seem to wish to rush.

There is considerable feeling over this matter at present, and it may mean a big split in the council, in fact. It does occur, will cause the washing of a lot of dirty linen that has been kept in the clothes bag for some time. Nothing can be done at once unless his worship calls a special meeting of the general committee of the council, and this his worship has not as yet done. At such a meeting arrangements could be made for the calling for tenders for the crib and construction work.

Some of the aldermen point out the fact that the best time and in fact the only time to build wharves is while the dredging is being done; that is, to place the cribs in position as fast as the dredge makes room for them, otherwise there will be a gradual filling up, which would cost the city a pretty penny, as it is not likely the Dominion government would be willing to pay twice for the work.

Certain aldermen are of the opinion that there is some funny work going on somewhere, as they say there is no need of using southern pine, that it is not as good as birch, and it looks as if a deal was on to sell the city the southern pine.

There's lots of indignation, and matters promise to be warm before long.

SEVERAL KILLED IN TOKIO;
HUNDREDS ARRESTED.

Riots Continue---Municipality Recommends Repeal of Peace Treaty---Special Session of Parliament Will Be Called.

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(Wednesday, 5:50 p. m.)—(Delayed in transmission).—The city was quiet throughout the day, although there was excitement and a tenacity of feeling everywhere manifested. Nightfall brought a verification of the prediction of renewed trouble. The streets in the centre of the city began filling at dark. The first disturbance occurred in the vicinity of the residence of the minister of home affairs, Katsuma. A mob again attempted to fire the structure but were restrained by the guards. Considerable roughness and fighting followed and menacing crowds gathered in the neighborhood of the metropolitan police headquarters. They refrained from attacking on account of the presence of a strong police reserve. The passage of street cars through the crowded streets angered the people and they began attacking and destroying cars. They drove off the crews and passengers and set fire to the cars. Ten large cars were speedily destroyed. Later on an outbreak occurred in the Kanda district of the city, where a fire was started.

Up to tonight the number of arrests totals 800. They are on charges generally of rioting and inciting riot. The Harriers' Association has resolved to defend all arrested free of charge.

The number of persons known to have been killed thus far is six.

The newspapers generally assail the police authorities for their withdrawing from the streets and leaving the city unprotected. Soldiers are proving to be more effective than the police in handling the crowds. The soldiers are popular and the crowds generally obey their orders. Accompanying the ordinance declaring martial law is an urgency ordinance increasing restrictions on the press and giving authority for the suspension of papers guilty of increasing the excitement and other breaches of order. Under this ordinance the governor has suspended the publication of the Mito, the Yuroku and the Niroku.

The Tokyo municipality has passed a resolution denouncing the terms and favoring the abandonment of the peace treaty.

The municipality had planned a mass meeting at Hibaya Park today, but on account of the danger of disorder, voluntarily cancelled the meeting.

TOKIO, Sept. 7.—Strong influences are working toward calming popular excitement, and checking the rioting.

The opinion is expressed tonight that the worst has passed and that conditions will speedily mend.

General Katsuma, who assumed charge of the capital today, under the authority of emergency ordinance has in his proclamation created a good impression owing to the conciliatory tone in which it is expressed and its note of firmness in declaring that the soldiers will resort to extreme measures if forced to do so. He has refrained from making a heavy display of military force in the city, having only guards to preserve order, holding the main guards on reserve at the barracks.

Political leaders are counselling the people to remain quiet and are conferring with the government, urging the speedy calling of a special session of the diet. Many believe that the issuance of the summons for the special session of the diet will fully restore tranquility among the public.

The report that trouble has spread at Chiba, forty miles distant from Tokio, has been partly confirmed. It seems certain that the police station was destroyed, but the destruction of the prefectural office and court house is not confirmed.

REDUCING I. C. R. SERVICE.

A report from Moncton intimates that when the winter time table of the I. C. R. goes into effect a number of conductors, engineers and brakemen will be laid off as several trains now running will be cancelled. The local officials do not know anything about the changes to be made but there have been rumors afoot for some days that there is to be a considerable change before long.

When Hon. Mr. Emmerson was here a couple of weeks ago he stated boldly that the service now being given by the I. C. R. was much better than the maritime province preserved and now looks as if the minister was going to cut it down.

R. S. Squarbridge, of R. T. Holman's company, and bride (Miss Gough) passed through the city en route to Portland, Ore.

Miss J. Kiley and Miss Lawrence have returned to their homes in Roxbury, Mass., after a pleasant vacation spent with friends in P. E. Island. While there they were the guests of ex-Mayor McNeill.

IN THE RUSH OF 1905.

The owner of a great dairy was showing a visitor around the plant.
"All these thousands of cows," he said, "are milked by machinery. The milk is conveyed into an immense reservoir, from which it is carried in underground pipes at a speed of a mile a minute to all points within fifty miles of here. The system works perfectly, and yet there is one great drawback."
"What is that?" asked the visitor.
"Well, of course, there's no cream any more. It is impracticable for us to separate it here, and in this age of the world nobody has time to wait for it to rise."

TWO OF A KIND.
(Exchange.)

An Irish soldier wanted to get a furlough and trumped up a story to the effect that his wife was very sick and had written him to come home. The captain was aware of the trick, so he said to him:

"I have received a letter from your lady in which she directs me not to let you go home. She said: 'He gets drunk; he breaks the household furniture, and he mistreats me shamefully.'"

Pat saluted and started to leave the room, but on reaching the door turned and said:

"Son, can I speak to ye—not as if to an officer—but as man to man?"

"Go ahead," said the captain.

"Pat went close to the captain, and lowering his voice said:

THE G. T. P. BANDITS.
The people of Brandon, Manitoba, wanted the Grand Trunk Pacific to pass through their town. They intimated as much to the company and were informed that the line would go there if the city would give:

1. Sufficient space north of the river for terminal facilities, amounting to a piece of land two miles long and half a mile in width, location to be selected by the company.
2. Station room in the central part of the city, north of the overhead bridges.
3. Right of way on one of the principal streets and a plot of land 300 yards wide and half a mile long for freight sheds.
4. Exemption from taxation for twenty years.
5. Right of way for twenty miles.
6. Electric street railway franchise.

The people refused to be held up and the G. T. P. will not go to Brandon. Some day the G. T. P. may be compelled to seek tidewater through some maritime province port. Then we will have our chance to bid for the privilege of having it locate its terminals here. And we may be certain that the company will so arrange it that Halifax and every other town located near a harbor will be bidding against us, and the ambition of each will be worked upon to extort valuable and unjust concessions.

And the government, which has claimed to be "absolute master of the location" of the road, will look on at the robbery as it is looking on now at that same kind of hold-up all through the west and will make no more effort to stop the bandits than it is making now—more effort than any dishonest politician would make to prevent criminals who had either bribed him beforehand or promised him a share of the loot.

A DANGEROUS GAME.
France and Germany are playing a dangerous game over there in Morocco. It looked like war there for a while this week.

France alleged that one of its citizens, an Algerian resident in Morocco, had been unjustly imprisoned and demanded his release. Inspired no doubt by Germany the sultan was rather contemptuously dilatory. Then France demanded, in addition to the release, an apology and damages. All this being delayed an ultimatum was sent and preparations made for a naval demonstration and a military invasion.

Since the Kaiser's little visit to Morocco and his practical guarantee of independence to the Sultan Germany could not but resent such action on the part of France. Hence the seriousness of the situation, at least on the surface. But possibly all that Germany was doing was teasing France. At any rate, though the Sultan did not give his answer to the ultimatum in the time specified, he surrendered gracefully in time to prevent any armed action and the war scare faded out. Consequently France is crowing over another diplomatic victory and must, beneath the surface, feel that she has been "jolted" into undue excitement over a rather unimportant episode.

But this kind of badinage between armed powers is a game that is liable to end in a very mixed-up row one of these days.

PREPARING FOR COAL STRIKE.
Whether they expect another great coal strike or are striving to avert such a calamity by preparing for it, the American railroads are laying in immense quantities of coal. Already more than 4,500,000 tons are stored in the vicinity of New York, while other large orders have been placed with the mines and will be delivered in the near future. The coal in storage is sufficient to navigate the roads owing to it for more than two years.

So it is apparent that if a strike should come it will not be the railroads who will suffer. It is also apparent that in the event of a strike who have not the cash nor the facilities for storing coal in such quantities will suffer all the more, for in most instances the railroads and the mines are owned by the same people who, being able to operate their roads would let the strike run its course and make no effort to arrange a settlement.

But it is possible that there may be no strike and that all this talk has been started by the coal men to boost early sales. Such tricks have been known before.

MAY BE TIME YET.
There seems to be a difference of opinion among men who should know what they are talking about as to the possibility of having the new wharf, or at least one berth, ready in time to accommodate some of this season's traffic. There is no difference of opinion as to the need for the extra accommodation so, under the circumstances, the city should be given the benefit of the doubt on the other point.

The blame for the delay so far cannot be wholly placed on the civic administration but it must bear its share, as if proper energy had been displayed everything would have been ready to rush the work as soon as the dredging contract was let. But now that the always dilatory Ottawa government has come to time, the mayor and aldermen must bear the full blame for any further unnecessary delay.

If it is at all possible to have one berth ready for use this season it should be got ready even if it does cost a little more. And the aldermen should lose no time finding out if it is possible.

MILADY'S PURSE.
She was an heiress, and the purse she carried in her dainty hand might well be the fortune teller. Of any spendthrift in the land. At least most men imagined so. Yet they for years might rack their brains.

And after all would never know The total wealth that purse contains.

So here in full we give the list, From which no item has been missed:

A bit of string, a buttonhook, A clipping from a cooking book, A little Turkish cigarette, A bit of gum (unused as yet), Samples of gingham, organdie, Chiffon, crepon, and cantilly, Beside a shawl of mousseline De soie, a worn out safety pin, A collar button made of ivory, A picture postal card from Rome, And half a dime to take her home.

FORMER ST. JOHN MAN KILLED IN LYNN.

News has been received in St. John of the recent death of a former St. John man, David A. Cunningham, in Lynn, Mass.

Cunningham had been down town shopping and was on his way home when he was struck by the train which leaves Lynn at 10:15 p. m. Both of his legs were broken, and his skull was fractured. His death was almost instantaneous.

Mr. Cunningham was born in St. John, N. B., 61 years ago. He has resided in Lynn about five years, moving there from New York where he had lived 25 years. He was employed in the Boston department at the river works of the General Electric Co. He leaves a wife, two sons, Fred Cunningham of Merrimack and Arthur Cunningham of Lynn, three daughters, Mrs. John J. Collins, Mrs. J. A. Martin and Miss Alice Cunningham.

He leaves one sister and brother in Lynn, and one brother Samuel Cunningham of St. John street, West End. Two other sisters live in the province, Mrs. Nase of Nerepis, and Mrs. Willett of Lorneville. His mother is still living at the advanced age of 86 years. Her home is in Nerepis.

Mr. Cunningham was well known in St. John as "Alec" Cunningham.

BOAT BUILDING BOOM ON AGAIN.
Fred Miller and others of Indian town, who have done considerable experimenting in the line of boat building this summer have now in frame a steam-yacht, hull about twelve feet over all.

The craft is being put together in a large shed off Victoria street, a considerable distance from the river. It will be a sturdy as well as a very neat craft with unusual power. The intention is to top in many winter nights sailing yacht last winter, and she is now in the water. Others of the party proved able workmen, along steam-craft lines, the fruits of their labors now being in commission.

WILL MOVE OUT WEST.
Mrs. Bud Branscombe, formerly of Bathurst, is in the city visiting North End relatives. She will leave for Cremona, Assa, about the 15th inst. to join her husband, who has purchased a large tract of land there, and intends making the new country his home. Mr. Branscombe, besides being an expert accountant, holds a first class teacher's license, and will doubtless make both these qualifications do duty in the up-growing town, which is on the Arcoha branch of the C. P. R.

Mr. Branscombe's stock is now in course of construction, in preparation for Mrs. B's arrival.

A Holton man who had never been known to warble a note was heard the other day singing in a loud and remarkably clear voice, "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By, Jennie."

A surprised neighbor asked him the cause of such an outbreak. "I will tell you," he said, "I knew I could swear, but I did not know I could sing until I tried it one day. Now when I feel like swearing I take to singing, and I expect there will be music in our neighborhood most of the time."—Kansas City Journal.

Ungars can do your laundry to your satisfaction.

We deeply regret to record that the Rev. Canon Brock lies in a very critical condition, and there is very little hope of his recovery. A little over a week ago he was in full health and walking about the town as usual, and on Sunday had conducted two services, preaching in St. James' church in the morning on the beautiful words "Behold the Lamb of God." All the community deeply sympathize with him in this sudden illness, and still hope to hear a better report of his condition.—Acadian Orchardist.

The Metropolitan Life Assurance Convention, held here yesterday, was a success in every respect. The luncheon at the Dufferin was a most enjoyable one and lasted nearly all afternoon. In the evening a meeting was held at the Royal, which was addressed by J. E. Kavanagh, superintendent of agencies.

The Dominion Anthracite Company, which is largely composed of St. John men, and owns property at West Gore, Hants County, N. S., had a meeting in the Royal on Wednesday evening. St. John shareholders returned yesterday. A most gratifying report was received at this meeting. Mr. McArthur has been awarded the contract for the construction of a complete plant at the mine. This will cost in the vicinity of twenty-five thousand dollars, and work is to be commenced this fall. Mr. McArthur is now in Scotland, but will shortly return.

"OZONE" ITS BEST FORM.
The prompt and permanent removal of any internal germs is most surely effected by the use of "Solution of Ozone" if it's "the coupon kind." It means the liquefied oxygen is in the most concentrated form and that in addition is given free with either the 50 cent size, or the one dollar size of the Solution coupon, good for a twenty-five cent package of "Celery King."

This splendid tonic laxative is needed to obtain the best results in the use of the stringent "Ozone" without lessening its curative properties. The Public Drug Co., Broadway, N. Y., can supply exclusively the manufacture of both "Solution of Ozone" and "Celery King."

SAVING THE CAPSULES.
An old fellow called at an Erie drug store the other day to get some capsules. "All right," said the druggist, "and I'll put it up in capsules for you."

"You're kidding about putting it in them things," replied the purchaser. "I'm kerry it wrapped in paper."

But the druggist insisted, and the old fellow finally consented to try the capsules. A few days later he was in town again, and the druggist asked him how he liked the capsules. "Oh, the quinine keeps purty well in 'em, but it's no damned hard to get 'em out,"—Erie Record.

Jeffries Will Probably Referee the Britt-Nelson Go After All - Miss Thomson Won and Lost at Halifax

THE RING.

JEFFRIES WILL PROBABLY BE REFEREE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—With hundreds of sportsmen arriving daily to see the fight Saturday afternoon at Colma between Jimmy Britt and Battling Nelson, a referee had not been decided on up to tonight. It is thought that James Jeffries will be referee in spite of objections raised by Nelson's manager.

Jeffries telegraphed to Manager Coffroth last night asking if he was expected to referee, and Coffroth replied in the affirmative.

"Then I shall be in San Francisco Thursday night," replied Jeffries. When he is on the ground and the managers of the fighters can come together with Coffroth and Jeffries, it is the opinion of the best posted sportsmen that an agreement will be reached without much delay.

Britt and Nelson today finished their hard training. They have reached the stage where the question of weight no longer is an element in the training, and all attention is paid to keeping "on edge" until the going summons them to the fray. Both men are in excellent condition. Manager Coffroth has already taken $45,000 for seats, and asserts that when the men enter the ring Saturday afternoon the prize for which they will contest will amount to $70,000, a record amount for ring contests.

The betting today remains unchanged, 10 to 1 with Britt the favorite. There is no great activity in the betting owing to the uncertainty as to the choice of a referee.

GOLF.

MISS THOMSON WON AND LOST.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 1.—The semi-final round in the ladies' golf tournament was played today. The score was:

Miss M. Chipman v. Miss E. White—Won by Miss White, 6 up and 6 to play.

Miss Mabel Thomson v. Miss Robertson—Won by Miss Thomson, 7 up and 6 to play.

Consolation (final)—Mrs. Gregor Mitchell v. Mrs. R. Phillips—Won by Mrs. Mitchell, 3 up and 1 to play.

The approaching and putting competition was started in the morning and continued in the afternoon. It resulted in a tie between Miss Robertson and Miss Mabel Thomson, and in the play-off, Miss Robertson won.

The trophy for the championship is a cup presented by Alderman J. A. Johnson, which is held for the year and becomes the property of any one winning it three times, not necessarily in succession. There is also a gold medal for the winner, and also a silver medal for the runner. In the consolation competition there is a small cup given by the association.

Tomorrow the annual meeting and election of officers will take place in the afternoon. This contest will be between Miss White v. Miss Robertson, and following this will come the team match between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. A team of ten from each side will be chosen this morning. The trophy for this match is a cup presented by the ladies of the Halifax Golf Club.

BIG RUBB HAS A "NURSE MAN."

To win the American League pennant and to beat the Giants for the world's championship Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics knows he must have the best services of Tute Waddell.

And Mack is taking no chances. Just now Waddell has a keeper.

He is employed as a trainer. All he has to do is train Waddell to keep straight.

His name is Newhouse. He is here with the Athletics, and he is supposed to stick as close to Waddell as if he was porous plaster.

When Waddell wants a nickel he gets it from Newhouse. When he wants a shave Newhouse pays the barber.

Such is baseball. Over in New York some friends of the Athletics expect Waddell to celebrate winning the pennant

LOTS OF TROUBLE IN THE CAUCASUS.

Tartars and Armenians Killing Each Other.

BAKU, Caucasus, Sept. 7, 6 p. m.—The situation here tonight shows no signs of amelioration. It could hardly be worse. The terror stricken inhabitants are fleeing from the city, knowing that the Tartars are actively endeavoring to protect them; and, although the worst scenes of fire and massacre have not yet occurred, it is feared that they will be.

Earlier news, none dares think how far the excesses may proceed.

The entire oil and commercial quarters at Baku, Sabunt and Noman are being wiped out by fire, and the inhabitants remaining behind were massacred and thrown into the flames. The Tartars continue to burn and threaten with the same fate as Baku.

The consulates, banks and administrative buildings in Baku are guarded by troops. All of the English residents, and almost all other inhabitants of the better class have boarded ships and are on their way to escape from danger. All available steamers have been employed for this purpose.

Earlier news has been proclaimed in the city. Nobody is allowed on the streets after eight o'clock at night, and the Tartars are holding the city strictly responsible for shots fired from them. Artillery was employed against the Tartars, but they were not fired. The walls were breached, the house was stormed and all the people were killed. There is a general panic in the city.

COOL CLARENCE R. EDWARDS, who is with Secretary Taft in the Philippines, is said to be slated for another important appointment when he returns. The difficulty he may have in discharging additional duties may be guessed when it is stated that he is already chief of the bureau of administration of the isthmian canal commission, director of the Panama railroad, chief of clearing house for Porto Rico cablegrams, chief of the bureau of information on Cuban affairs, personal bodyguard for Secretary Taft on horseback rides when the latter is in Washington and on other duties.

BOYS BURN BARN—

MONCTON NEWS.

3,500 PEOPLE SAW

A NEGRO BURNED.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 7.—A Washington dispatch tells of the burning tonight of Steve Davis, a young negro, who confessed to outraging Mrs. E. D. Norris, aged 28, last Saturday night.

A mob of 3,500 persons led the negro to the barn, where he was burned. He and his wife were seen by the mob, and the negro was set on fire. The house was burned in flames and totally consumed. The barn contained 20 tons hay, 100 bushels of corn and other articles of value, and as there was no insurance the loss is heavy.

The rain, which has been falling steadily all this week has been bad for the horse races and other sports. It has proved a Godsend for some sections of the country where the drought situation was becoming really serious. At North Dairy Kent county, N. Y., nearly all the wells and springs had gone dry, and fifteen families were dependent upon one spring, which was fast running out.

The City Council has decided to ask for legislation authorizing it to sell electric light to parties outside the city limits. Quite a number of sections of the city have been taken over by the city, and the city is in operation. It is proposed at the start to charge outside consumers 50 per cent. more than the city consumers.

Three Scott Act convictions have been entered up in the police court tonight. The police court revenue last month was $274.25, mostly Scott Act fines.

The railway circles in Scotland when the winter time-tables of the I. C. R. goes into effect quite a number of conductors and ten engineers will be taken off. Work has been none too busy for some time with all the trains on.

COME BACK AGAIN WE'RE BUSY NOW.

THE TURF.

TAUNTON RACES.

TAUNTON, Mass., Sept. 7.—Although the weather was cold and raw, a large crowd saw the last races of the meet at the Bristol county fair this afternoon. In the 2:25 pace there was a big field. The race was closely contested for three heats by Gracie Burns, the winner, Henry C. and Nematsek.

The 2:14 pacing event was the most interesting of the meet. It was won by X Ray had each taken two heats and May Hathaway had won one. By agreement the purse was divided evenly among the owners of the three horses. The consolation race was easily taken by Louis Stanley.

DIVORCE QUESTION COMES UP TODAY

And Lively Discussion in Synod is Promised.

QUEBEC, Sept. 7.—The Synod reached its actual business stage today, that is as far as the lower house is concerned. The deliberations of the bishops are secret working, and nothing has been given out by them. Before the most profound work began the delegates from the church in the United States were received. There were Bishop Doane of Albany, N. Y., and Dr. Tuttle, the presiding bishop. Dr. Allison of Brooklyn, and Geo. G. Thomas, treasurer of the reserve board of the American church. The Canadian bishops arrived at this stage and took their seats.

Bishop Doane was the first speaker, and his address was most pleasing and instructive. In the course of his remarks he spoke of the benefit he had received from interviews with bishops of Canada, instancing his friendship with the late Bishop Medley, from whom counsel he had derived much of value. Referring to Quebec, he made a graceful allusion to these early missionaries who though not of our communion, did such noble work on the first discovery of the land, by speaking the truths of Christianity.

Dr. Morrison pointed out that as a Canadian he had been ordained deacon by the late Bishop Williams of Quebec and presented by the late Bishop Oskenden. He referred to the great admiration he had for and the interest he took in the marvellous development of this country.

Dr. Allison and Mr. Thomas made pithy addresses and the entire Synod knelt while Bishop Tuttle imparted his blessing.

One remark of Mr. Thomas needs attention and will have quite an effect when the Synod discusses the question of divorce. He said that this very morning he was talking to a judge of the supreme court of the United States, who asked him what the Synod meant to do on the subject of divorce. He said to know, for he was in the judicial capacity every year he was called on to divorce ten times more marriages than any clergyman performed in ten years.

Canon Richardson read the report on temperance, which was a most important document. It discussed the various systems, the legislative means, to put down intemperance. The committee found that the Gethsemane system has not fostered sobriety. The dispensary system as tried in England was not successful. As for prohibition, it was found in five states of the American union, and had been abandoned by ten states. It was found that 1,300 people were selling liquor in the State of Maine contrary to law, and the percentage of arrests for drunkenness in Portland was larger than in Chicago. Prohibition was found to work in the favor of local police forces, in the rural districts, but in cities and towns in the opinion of the committee it has been a failure.

An important report was read by Archbishop Pennefather of British Columbia on behalf of the committee appointed to draft special services for the addition to the prayer book. A number of services prepared in the original draft have been left out in the report, as it is thought they, being for the use of the clergy, and on special occasions, do not require to be presented. The services provided for in the report are one for the festival of the transfiguration, special epistle and gospel for holy communion at marriage, burial, baptism, funeral services, a baptized infant, the present office being suitable, especially for adults, and a service where the present service cannot be used, as where the person dying is unbaptized, and for some other occasions. The report will be acted on presently.

The treasurer reported that there was a balance on hand in favor of the Synod of $1,000.

Dr. Davidson gave notice of a motion that a special missionary should be appointed to minister to the foreign element who are coming to this country as immigrants.

Tomorrow will witness the first real discussion. It is likely to occur over the prayer book question, and to a certain extent the memorial from the house of bishops on the question of marriages and divorces.

The bishops have legislation forbidding any clergyman to marry any person whose wife or husband is living. The lower house at the last Synod would not quite concur in that, holding there might be very special exceptions. This tendency is all against remarriage, and this session the action of the upper house may be concurred in.

Bishop Kingston has quite recovered from his temporary illness and was in his place today.

ORONHYATEKHA CHARGED WITH MAL-ADMINISTRATION.

JOLIETTE, Que., Sept. 7.—There was considerable excitement at the convention of the Quebec branch of the Independent Order of Foresters here today when Delegate Blouin of Montreal renewed the finances of the order, claiming that they had been badly administered by Dr. Oronhyatekha, so badly in fact that the order was in a state of financial ruin.

Dr. Oronhyatekha, who was present from Montreal, N. S., for the purpose of settling the accounts, finally cut short his remarks short in order to catch a train.

We can satisfy you. Who? Why, Un-gar's.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER

On The Love Story of Charles Brandon and Mary Tudor, the King's Sister, and Happening in the Reign of His August Majesty King Henry the Eighth

By EDWIN CASKODEN [CHARLES MAJOR]

Copyright, 1903 and 1904, by the Bowen-Merrill Company

But the winning of Jane was not so easy a matter as my vanity had prompted me to think. I started with a handicap, since Jane had heard my declaration to Mary, and I had to undo all that before I could do anything else. Try the same thing yourself with a spirited girl, naturally laughter-ing and coy. If you think it a simple, easy undertaking, I began to fear I should need another antidote long before I heard her sweet soul-satisfying "yes." I do not believe, however, I could have found in the whole world an antidote to my love for Jane.

In the course of my talk with Brandon I had, as I have said, told him the story of Mary, with all its slight variations and coloring, of course, discoloring, to make it appear a little less to my discredit than the barefaced truth would have been. I told him about Jane, and I grieve and blush to say, expressed a confidence in that direction I little felt.

It had been perhaps a year since my adventure with Mary, and I had taken all that time trying to convince Jane that I did not mean a word I had said to her mistress and that I was very earnest in everything I said to her. But Jane's ears would have heard just as much had they been the pair of beautiful little stars of mine. I was a little bit of a hypocrite, and I was a little bit of a hypocrite, and I was a little bit of a hypocrite.

On the evening of the day Mary came home to Greenwich, Brandon asked: "Who and what on earth is this wonderful Mary I hear of?"

They say she is coming home today, and the court seems to have gone mad about it. I hear nothing but "Mary is coming!" Mary is coming! Mary is coming! Mary is coming!

grounds and that she must go. She then ran off with a laugh and a courtesy and was soon lost to sight behind the shrubbery at the turning of the walk.

In a short time we came to a summer house near the marble boat landing, where we found the queen and some of her ladies waiting the rest of their party for a trip down the river which had been planned the day before. Brandon was known to the queen and several of the ladies, although he had not been formally presented at an audience.

Many of the king's friends enjoyed a considerable intimacy with the whole court without ever receiving the public stamp of recognition socially which goes with a formal presentation.

The queen, seeing us, sent me off to bring the king. After I had gone she asked if any one had seen the Princess Mary, and Brandon told her Lady Jane had said she was at the other side of the grounds. Thereupon her majesty asked Brandon to find the princess and to say that she was wanted.

Brandon started off and soon found a bevy of girls sitting on some benches under a spreading oak, wearing spring dresses. He had never seen the princess, so could not positively know her.

As a matter of fact he did know her as soon as his eyes rested on her, for she could not be mistaken among a thousand. There was no one like her for anything near it. Some stubborn spirit of opposition, however, prompted him to pretend ignorance. All that he had heard of her wonderful power over men and the servile manner in which they fell before her had aroused in him a spirit of antagonism and had forgotten a kind of distaste beforehand.

He was wrong in this, because Mary was not a coquette in any sense of the word and did absolutely nothing to attract men except to be so beautiful, sweet and winning that they could not resist her. He had never seen the princess, so could not positively know her.

COLLISION IN YARMOUTH HARBOR

YARMOUTH, Sept. 7.—St. Boston, whist passing out of the harbor yesterday afternoon in a thick fog, ran into the schooner "Mayfield" of Parrsboro, at anchor in the channel. The latter received considerable damage to her upper deck and stanchions. A survey is being held, and it is thought she will be able to proceed to Parrsboro for repairs. The Boston was uninjured and proceeded.

AT SALARY OF $100,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Ex-Judge Alton B. Parker will succeed Prof. Collins as chief counsel for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company at an annual salary of $100,000, according to an announcement today.

Prof. Collins has retired, and the firm of Collins & Sheehan, which has acted for years in an advisory capacity of the company, will now be known as Sheehan & Parker.

William F. Sheehan was one of Parker's most ardent supporters in the recent presidential campaign.

It is not Master Brandon who should sue for forgery," responded the princess. "It is I who was wrong. I think for the right one should come."

"You are right, my dear," said Mary, and she turned to Brandon and offered him her hand, which he, dropping to his knees, kissed with a fervor that was almost religious.

"Your highness, you can well afford to offend."

has said, "becomes an obligation." He looked straight into the girl's eyes as he said this, and she felt that he was not strong for her, so the ladies fell. She flushed and said, with a smile that brought the dimples:

"I thank you. That is a real compliment. With this he turned to leave, and the ladies, including Jane, who was there and saw it all and told me of it, awaited the bolt they knew would come, for they saw the lightning gathering in Mary's eyes.

Mary sprang to her feet with an angry flush in her face, exclaiming: "Insolent fellow, I am the Princess Mary. If you have a message, deliver it and be gone." You may be sure this sort of treatment was such as the cool-headed, daring Brandon would repay with usury; so, turning upon his heel and almost presenting his back to Mary, he spoke to Lady Jane.

"Will your ladyship say to her highness that her majesty the queen awaits her coming at the marble landing?"

"No need to repeat the message," Jane cried. "I have ears and can hear for myself." Then, turning to Brandon, "If your insolence will permit you to receive a message from so insignificant a person as the king's sister, I beg you to say to the queen that I shall be with her presently."

He did not turn his face toward Mary, but bowed again to Jane.

"May I ask your ladyship further to say for me that if I have been guilty of any discourtesy I greatly regret it. My failure to recognize the Princess Mary grew out of my misfortune in never having been allowed to bask in the light of her countenance. I cannot believe the fault lies at my door, and I hope for her own sake that her highness on second thought will realize how ungentle and unkind some one else has been." And with a sweeping courtesy he bowed quickly down the path.

GO. BUYING EXCHANGES

The Central Telephone Company, the charter for which was granted a short time ago, is apparently destined to become an important factor in the telephone business of this province. They have already acquired the local exchanges at Richibucto, Bathurst and Campbellton.

W. C. Winslow, K. C., recently acquired the entire capital stock of the Miramichi Telephone Co. and it is well understood that the Central Telephone Co. is back of this deal, and that the stock was acquired by Mr. Winslow for them. The line of the Miramichi Telephone Co. extends from Nelson to Tracadie.

The intention of the promoters of the company is to make the Central a trunk line. The various exchanges which they have purchased will be connected, and such extensions made as may give them connection with Montreal and Gaspé.

The capital stock of the Miramichi Telephone Co., which is the most recent acquisition of the Central Company, was about $12,000, and it was a paying property. The largest shareholders in the company are Macdougall, Snowball and J. D. B. F. Mackenzie.

LOVE BEYOND THE LIFE-LINES.

MISS NEWKIRK IN AN ART POSE.

Very Unusual Romance of Miss Emma Newkirk, the $1,000 Prize Beauty, Who Won a Young Klondike Millionaire in the Ocean Surf.

BEGUN in the sunny waters of Santa Monica Bay, the romance of Miss Emma Newkirk and Mr. Edward Willis, the Klondike millionaire, was consummated in the snow wastes of Alaska.

Beginning when both were poor and unknown, their romance has culminated since Miss Newkirk became one of the most famous women in the United States and Mr. Willis one of the richest men in Alaska.

Last December, by a popular vote, Miss Newkirk was acknowledged to be the most beautiful woman in this country, stretched away, a broad, shining ribbon of gold. The surf was dotted with the heads of gold. The surf was dotted with the heads of gold. The surf was dotted with the heads of gold.

Her measurements, it was discovered, coincided with those of the Venus de Milo, and straightway the former American Venus, Miss Clara Best, was dethroned and a new American Venus sprang into fame.

Miss Best, the critics said, lacked by one thirty-second of an inch perfection, the large toe of her right foot missing just that much of the classic length. Miss Newkirk, they said, lacked nothing at all of perfection. Miss Newkirk's figure, in every particular, conformed to the canons of health and beauty, therefore Miss Newkirk won over all competitors the $1,000 prize for a perfect womanly figure at the Physical Culture Exhibition, Madison Square Garden, New York.

The romance of this latter day Venus was revealed in the announcement of her engagement in a San Francisco newspaper.

Her Santa Monica Shadow.

"Mr. Edward Willis, of Dawson City," read her friends, puzzled by the not familiar name.

One of them with active memory said: "Can it be the young man who was her shadow at Santa Monica Beach?"

"But she had so many," objected the others. "Unlike common, material bodies, Emma cast more than one shadow. Wherever she went she had at least a dozen."

"But the young man, the record swimmer, who brought her back the day she fainted? Don't you remember?"

And with this prompting all of them have, at last, remembered.

Emma Newkirk was a native of California. Her name was proudly enrolled in that large and brilliant society, the Native Daughters of the Golden West. Further than that, she had always lived at Santa Monica, the pretty little city of the surf, fifteen miles from Los Angeles. She grew up, as do most California girls, in the untrammelled life of the great outdoors—the free manner of life that is the color and the buoyant grace of the women of California; the manner of life that developed Spill Sanderson and Blanche Bates and Dorothy Tennant.

She walked and ran, and rode and drove, and played basketball and baseball and football. During part of her childhood, which she would like to forget, she was known and dreaded as the tomboy, because she beat all the boys in town at tree climbing and leapfrog.

Except when hated lessons claimed her, the sand, their teeth Emma Newkirk lived out of doors. Whether the sun was shining in the hot, radiant sky or the rain was falling steadily, must have struck an angry, with no faintest rumble of thunder underneath, or been a dimmed dash of lightning, in that season which is elsewhere called winter.

Emma Newkirk might be found out of doors, in California, in the rainy season. A ten-mile walk left her flushed and bright-eyed, but it required a fifteen-mile gallop to give her an added appetite for dinner. She strolled on the beach, or sat on the rocks for hours every day, a pretty figure of a sea nymph, with her lithe and girlish, tenderly curved figure, and her golden brown hair floating loose to her waist, as the girls of Santa Monica chose to wear their hair.

She never had an accident in the water. The golden speck had disappeared. The black one sank also. The life saver shored a red boat into the surf, and springing into it, took up his oar.

"It was Emma Newkirk," he said. "She's gone under."

The woman ran to the sand, their teeth Emma Newkirk lived out of doors. Whether the sun was shining in the hot, radiant sky or the rain was falling steadily, must have struck an angry, with no faintest rumble of thunder underneath, or been a dimmed dash of lightning, in that season which is elsewhere called winter.

Emma Newkirk might be found out of doors, in California, in the rainy season. A ten-mile walk left her flushed and bright-eyed, but it required a fifteen-mile gallop to give her an added appetite for dinner. She strolled on the beach, or sat on the rocks for hours every day, a pretty figure of a sea nymph, with her lithe and girlish, tenderly curved figure, and her golden brown hair floating loose to her waist, as the girls of Santa Monica chose to wear their hair.

She never had an accident in the water. The golden speck had disappeared. The black one sank also. The life saver shored a red boat into the surf, and springing into it, took up his oar.

"It was Emma Newkirk," he said. "She's gone under."

The woman ran to the sand, their teeth Emma Newkirk lived out of doors. Whether the sun was shining in the hot, radiant sky or the rain was falling steadily, must have struck an angry, with no faintest rumble of thunder underneath, or been a dimmed dash of lightning, in that season which is elsewhere called winter.

Miss Emma Newkirk.

Mr. Edward Willis, the Hero and Plannec.

"I was never so mortified in my life," she confided to one of the feminine conveyors. "It is a disgrace to faint. Any healthy woman should be ashamed of herself who even thinks of it."

That afternoon the stranger ventured to present himself at the door of the Newkirk cottage.

"Pardon me, I merely called to learn how Miss Newkirk is."

The maid stared. "Miss Emma! Oh, she's all right. She's gone to Los Angeles on her bicycle."

They met next day in the surf, and the next, but the young man received little encouragement. Miss Newkirk was grateful, but she was likewise humiliated, and humiliation, as every proud woman knows, is a barrier difficult of surmounting.

"Some Day She'll Forget You."

"Never mind, old chap," he said to himself by way of comfort one night. "Some day she'll forget you for being a better swimmer than she is, but it will take time."

The next morning he was summoned to San Francisco by telegram. There was not time for a farewell dip in the surf, not even a stroll on the beach. But he looked from the car window and thought he saw a bobbing cork of gold on the waves near the life line.

Emma Newkirk came to New York and posed for classic studies for some of the most eminent artists. One of them told her of the thousand-dollar prize offered for a perfect female figure.

"Compete and win," he advised.

Modestly the Pacific Coast girl entered the tourney against beauties from the East, the middle West, the lake region and the Gulf bordering States. There was only one competitor who was in any sense a rival. That competitor won the second prize.

Fortune Pursued Him.

In Dawson City a young prospector lately, by the turn of a pan of gold, became a millionaire, read of this triumph of a Santa Monica beauty. The half hour he spent in a haze of pleasant thoughts. Then he wrote a long letter, which he carried to the post office himself.

"Yes, yes, Mr. Willis. It will certainly leave on the steamer in the morning," the postmaster assured him.

The new American Venus read the letter in a cozy New York apartment. As the writer urgently requested she "replied at once." By a coincidence she, too, posted her letter. Hilly, the hall boy, seemed not quite trustworthy, under the circumstances. Other letters followed, and last month the announcement of the engagement.

Mr. Willis met Miss Newkirk in St. Louis, where they will be married in June. The handsome house in Dawson City is building for his bride.

With water dripping from his short, curly hair, stepped from the boat, carrying Miss Newkirk in his arms.

"It was the undertow," he said, quite calmly. "Is there a doctor about?"

There is little for the doctors to do in Santa Monica, and before one had arrived Miss Newkirk gasped and stirred, and finally sat up.

"I never did such a thing before in my life," she said faintly. "I did hope that I could live my allotted time without fainting."

And she fainted again.

When she recovered consciousness again she insisted upon walking to the Newkirk cottage near by. She was attended by nearly all of the female population of Santa Monica. She gave one continued, backward glance at her rescuer.

"Thank you. You were very kind," she said in stiff commonplace, but her eyes gave him the reward her stubborn, pride-tongued tongue refused.

Why Girls Can't Find Dancing Partners.

By an Indignant Young Man.

THE conduct of girls, nowadays, is enough to make all the grandmothers, who have lived and died, turn in their graves; such behavior as is now regularly and openly practiced would have scandalized them.

Without beating about the bush, I will proceed to point out a few of the very many circumstances in which dancing girls may immediately change their ways, and I will add that unless they do so, they will, at no distant date, drive away what is left of the once happy throng of dancing men.

Don't arrive at the hall, where the dance is to be held, half an hour late and follow that up by spending another half hour in the dressing-room. If you do so you can't be surprised to find, on finally arriving in the room, that the original order of the men is somewhat damped.

Don't on entering the room, walk straight up to another lady, who is a friend of yours, and begin an animated conversation relating to some domestic matter. If you do so the men will quite naturally think that you do not wish to be disturbed, and will hang about the door rather than seem to intrude.

Don't smile from ear to ear when a tall, dark and handsome man asks for the pleasure of a dance, and then frown from scalp to second chin when a short and rather plain man pays you the same attention. Remember that it is as yet to be proved that good looks go hand-in-hand with good dancing.

Don't decline to dance with a man who does not take your fancy on the ground of being "tired," and then, a moment later, say "yes" to a man whose figure and manner meet with your approval. Having once refused to dance a number on the pretext of tiredness, stick to your decision. If only for the sake of the feelings of the one to whom you have said "No."

Don't go to a hall if you are an invalid; it is a mistake of your own making, and the men are not at all to blame for it. One woman in three complains of a headache or dizziness on being escorted back to her seat; she may not intentionally wish to make the men feel uncomfortable, but the mere fact of hearing of an ailment jars him, for he gathers from the woman's grimace, stick to your decision. If only for the sake of the feelings of the one to whom you have said "No."

Don't watch the young lady who is dancing with the man to whom you are engaged to be married, as if you were a real live cat. If your jealousy is beyond and above offered to invalid women—stay away.

Don't confidentially explain to all your partners that the lady "over there," whose dress and merry manners are causing general admiration, is "tired." If it is a fact you will probably see your women friends doing this some day, when there will be couple folk will see it as readily as yourself. Recollect that to tell anybody of anything that is obvious is to underestimate their "gravy." The tricks of women's voices don't pretend to work up a flirtation with the young man whose dance is an old enemy of yours in the hope of paying off an old score; if you do you may meet with a well-deserved rebuke. In any case you will lessen the number of dancing men by one, for the offended dancer will give her intended no more opportunities of being weak.

Don't, if you are a stout girl, smile till the eyes on your temple bulge, on seeing a stout lady attempt too much. If you must be so bold, raise your fan to hide the lapse, or, better still, go behind a screen and stay there until the possibility of offending the one of generous proportions has passed.

THE TIMES WRONG AGAIN.

Will Be Sued for Libel by Hampton and St. Martins Railway for Publishing False Statement.

The Times last evening stated that a passenger car purchased by the Hampton and St. Martins Railway from the Boston and Albany Railway had been held here because of the failure of the purchasing agent to pay the necessary duty on the car coming into Canada. The Star is asked by the directors of the Hampton and St. Martins Railway to give an emphatic denial to the story which is absolutely and unqualifiedly untrue. It is further stated that instructions have been given the railway's solicitor, to bring an action of libel against the Times for the publication of the article in question.

It appears that the Hampton and St. Martins Railway purchased the car in question in Boston and deposited the purchase price and estimated duty with the Bank of British America here before the car was ever shipped, at the same time notifying the collector of customs they had purchased such a car. When the car arrived in St. John the collector of customs was notified of its arrival and one of the railway directors took a customs appraiser to the station to appraise the value of the car. The customs authorities required the customary certified invoice which had to be procured in Boston, but the car was never seized, never missed a trip nor was it ever held up by the customs officials either for non-payment of duty or any other reason.

POLICE COURT.

Large Number of Minor Cases—One Man Accused of Stealing a Bottle of Whiskey.

The session of the police court was short this morning, as the magistrate wished to hear some civil cases at eleven o'clock.

George Clark, who was given in charge by George Street for breaking and entering his house, at the corner of Ludlow and Water streets, and also for making indecent proposals to his wife, was remanded until he recovered from the effects of an overdose of alcohol.

William Daley, arrested for wandering about St. John street and not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself was let go this morning. He has throat trouble, he says, and when the policeman spoke to him he was unable to answer. He brought papers to show that he belonged to a ship in the harbor.

Charles Cain, arrested for using profane language on Union and Brussels streets, and also charged by William Cain with threatening to beat him at Weatherhead's stable, on Union street, pleaded guilty to the first offence and was fined $5.

William Earle, of the Earle Publishing Co., appeared in court this morning in connection with the report against him for allowing papers to fly about the street. He explained that the papers were in barrels at the back of their building and that a number of boys had at different times emptied out the barrels. He said that in future the waste matter would be carted away. The court accepted the excuse.

One plain drunk was let off, as this was his first offence. Two strangers, drunk at the J. C. R. depot, who had tickets to Hamilton, were also set free. Myles Carrell, arrested for fighting on Brussels street, was remanded and made a deposit of $20. It would seem that two men from Misses were fighting on the street, and that one was heading the other who was under the influence of liquor, when Carrell attempted to interfere, with the result that the antagonist turned on him and that at this point the officer appeared on the scene and arrested him.

Charles Maher, who is charged by Patrick Fitzgerald with stealing a bottle of whiskey out of his wagon on Main street, was not on trial this morning. It appears that Fitzgerald had bought this bottle of whiskey to take out to the country with him as a tonic for the laborers employed on his farm, but Maher seeing the liquor in the hay cart decided he also was in need of a tonic and took it, with the result that he was pursued and captured by the police.

In selecting a mineral water the question of the freedom from dangerous impurities must be considered, as well as the health-giving elements contained in it. In fact, the celebrated Mah-Pu Mineral Water comes from a depth of 288 feet, through an iron casing, and having been discovered (and gushed forth under great pressure, rising to a height of 18 feet above the ground) ensures its freedom from the impurities liable to occur in water of surface mineral springs.

Mah-Pu Water has won a great reputation for its remarkable curative effect for Rheumatism, Gout, Kidney and Intestinal disorders, and hundreds who have been cured by the use of this health-giving water have reason to thank its discoverer.
