STATUE TO ROBERT BURNS UNVEILED AT FREDERICTON THURSDAY.

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Fredericton, Oct. 18.—In presence of a crowd of cheering spectators, including the lieutenant-governors of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and many others of prominence, the beautiful and imposing monument erected by Scottish people of New Brunswick to the memory of Robert Burns, Scotland's immortal bard, was unveiled here this afternoon with appropriate ceremony.

The programme in connection with the unveiling ceremony was carried out without a hitch. There were two bands of music in addition to the St. John Pipe Band and stirring Scottish songs were rendered by a chorus of thirty male voices.

Lieut.-Governor Fraser, of Nova Scotia, himself a sturdy Scot, was chief actor for the occasion and delivered an address of great eloquence and power, which delighted all who heard it.

At 2.30 o'clock the Scottish societies assembled at the city hall and formed in a procession with the Seventy-First Band in the lead. Next came the Fredericton society, which was followed by the Fredericton band, the members of Camp McFarlane, Stanley, the St. John pipers, members of Clan MacKenzie and St. Andrew's Society of St. John.

TAMMANY BOSS EMITS A SHRIEK

DEMANDED MONEY

Murphy's Charge Causes District Attorney Jerome to Summon Him Before the Grand Jury to Tell What He Knows About the Matter.

New York, Oct. 18.—The most startling conclusion of the trials of the British battleship Dreadnought, the latest exponent of the theory that future wars will be fought with great battleships, heavy armor and huge guns, will not fail to give intense satisfaction to the British press and public. This because there has been some anxiety and gloomy prognostications that the Dreadnought could not stand the strain of the tremendous discharge of her great broadside fire, and also because the successful armament of her trials disproved completely the rumors that there was scamp and hurried work in the construction of the battleship.

The first thing which was very noticeable was the evident desire of all the members to come to such conclusions as would be satisfactory and just to the province. It was a matter of regret that it was not possible to make a recommendation to the complete satisfaction of the premier of British Columbia, but the conference felt that they could not advise a larger amount although there were exceptional conditions attached to that proposal. They recognized the attitude of the dominion government that the provinces would have to take the responsibility of any additional aid being given to any province because they had the assurance, and they were glad to get it—that the dominion government considered that the provinces should be made to contribute to the subsidies granted and that no exceptional aid could be extended, as an annual subsidy, without the consent of all. As one member of the federal government had stated, the question of subsidies must not be looked at from the standpoint of the provinces, but from the standpoint of the dominion government.

Technical Education. One important matter, Dr. Pugsley continued, which had been brought to the attention of the conference by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was the subject of technical education. This matter came up in connection with a memorial presented to the Dominion government by the Manufacturers' Association of Canada.

The delegates met in Tremont Temple, which was crowded throughout the day. The welcome of the state and city was extended by Governor Guild and Mayor Fitzgerald.

A feature of the day was the reading of a message from the absent president, Lady Henry Somerset, of England, and the announcement that the representatives of many nations had united in presenting to Lady Henry a bell which had been placed in the London chapel, where she worships.

DR. PUGSLEY TALKS SEVERE TEST OF DREADNOUGHT

Her Whole Battery of Big Guns Discharged at Once

TERRIFIC SOUND

Heard for Great Distance—Three Tons of Metal Fired Simultaneously Didn't Jar the Great Battleship, and Experts Are Satisfied.

Portsmouth, Eng., Oct. 18.—The successful conclusion of the trials of the British battleship Dreadnought, the latest exponent of the theory that future wars will be fought with great battleships, heavy armor and huge guns, will not fail to give intense satisfaction to the British press and public. This because there has been some anxiety and gloomy prognostications that the Dreadnought could not stand the strain of the tremendous discharge of her great broadside fire, and also because the successful armament of her trials disproved completely the rumors that there was scamp and hurried work in the construction of the battleship.

Even the eight-gun salvo today, said by those present to have been terrifying, produced no serious injury. No deck plates buckled nor was the blast dangerous, although there was some injury to the vessel's lighter fittings. One reason for this is found in the great length of her guns, which brings the muzzle clear of the ship's side, and the fact that the discharge of all eight of the Dreadnought's ten and twelve-inch guns simultaneously represented three tons of metal in projectiles. The roar of this salvo was heard plainly in Portsmouth and all over the Isle of Wight.

The battleship Dreadnought carried out her gun trials in the open sea today with the most satisfactory results. Officers of the highest rank and experienced in ordnance matters, were present. After the tests of the lighter guns, the Dreadnought fired her ten and twelve-inch guns, first singly, then in pairs and finally all eight of them, composing her broadside, simultaneously.

WOMAN KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY HURT IN AUTO SMASH-UP

Mrs. Fred Dillon of Fitchburg Died Instantly, While Her Husband Escaped.

Waltham, Mass., Oct. 18.—By the overturning of an automobile at the foot of a long hill, between Wayland and Sudbury Centre, late this afternoon, Mrs. Fred N. Dillon of Fitchburg, wife of a prominent citizen, was killed instantly, and her husband, Fred N. Dillon, was severely injured. The automobile was driven by Mrs. Dillon, who was alone in the car at the time of the accident.

New Brunswick Should Be Well Pleas'd. In reply to a question as to whether he was satisfied with the result of the attorney general's report, Mr. Pugsley said: "I think so far as New Brunswick is concerned we have reason to be well pleased with the outcome of the conference. It is well known that for many years our government, jointly with those of several other provinces, has been pressing for the recognition by the dominion government of the request contained in the resolutions passed at the Quebec conference in 1887."

Auto Kills Portland Man. Portland, Me., Oct. 18.—John M. He sustained internal injuries and at his age was unable to withstand the physical shock. He leaves three daughters and one son. Mr. Stevens frequently had expressed a fear of automobiles.

TWO HUNTSMEN ARE DROWNED NEAR ST. GEORGE

John Riordan and George Goodell Lose Lives in Mill Lake

Boat Capsized as They Were Returning After Thanksgiving Day Shooting in the Woods—Both Men Tried to Swim to Shore—One Seen to Sink; No Trace of the Other is to Be Found.

A sad drowning accident occurred Thursday night at Mill Lake, near St. George, when two well known young men, John Riordan and William Goodell, of Utopia, lost their lives as a result of the boat in which they were rowing capsizing.

Owing to the lateness of the hour at which the accident happened nothing could be done last night toward recovering the bodies, but search parties will start grappling for them this morning. The sudden ending of the two bright young lives has cast a gloom over the people of that section of the country.

A special message to The Telegraph says the two young fellows left their homes in Utopia, which is about three miles from St. George about 10 o'clock Thursday morning on a hunting trip and were returning about dark. They were crossing Mill Lake in a rowboat and were near the landing when the accident that cost them their lives happened.

The sons of Robert White, a farmer living about a quarter of a mile from the shore of the lake, were at one of the windows of the house watching the boat coming across the lake and saw the fatal mishap. They say the men in the boat were quite close to the shore when a shot was heard, somewhere in the vicinity of the head of the lake about a mile away, and they apparently started back to ascertain the cause of the shooting.

Both young men were well known and very popular. They had been learning the stone cutting trade in St. George. Goodell with H. McCreath & Sons, and Riordan with O'Brien & Baldwin. It is thought that the shot which caused them to start back up the lake was fired from another hunting party.

Sudden Death of Sydney Man Leads to Murder Suspects

(Special to The Telegraph.)

Sydney, Oct. 18.—Considerable excitement prevailed here this morning when the report went around that a man had been found murdered in the basement of the Empire Hotel on Ferry street, near the entrance to the plant of the Dominion Iron & Steel Company. Much color was lent the story because the hotel had been vacant for some time with the exception of a bar, which is kept by one Timothy O'Brien. The supposed murderer was Allan McIntyre, a second cousin of O'Brien. Later on it developed that the man had probably died from natural causes but that his face had been dreadfully gnawed by rats which were in the house in fearful numbers.

EX-JUDGE JAMES G. STEVENS

St. Stephen, N. B., Oct. 16—Judge Stevens, who had been gradually sinking since Sunday, died at 10 o'clock this morning, aged eighty-four.

Nearly all the children of the deceased were at the bedside when their father passed away. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Gordon Dickie officiating.

Well done thou good and faithful servant; because thou hast been faithful over a few things I will set thee over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.

These words are applicable to the life and death of Judge Stevens. He was a man of high character and public interest. He was a member of the Provincial Board of Agriculture, and for eight years secretary of the Provincial Board of Agriculture.

He was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church. In the early days of struggle which all churches were called upon to undergo, he was the main prop of that church, working with the persistence of his Scottish ancestors.

He was a public speaker. As a public speaker he was noted as one of the most eloquent of the many orators of the province. On many occasions at an alumni gathering of the university at Fredericton and in the Mechanics Institute, St. John, his eloquence has electrified a large audience.

As a writer. As an author his name is enrolled as one of the most eminent jurists of New Brunswick. His works are: "An Analytical Digest of the Decisions of the Supreme Courts of New Brunswick from 1825 to Easter term, 1875, inclusive."

(Continued from page 1.) It is most gratifying that success has at last attended our efforts. It is impossible to say too much in praise of the government and courteous treatment which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues extended to the representatives of the provinces and the evident desire they showed to place the provinces in a position to satisfactorily perform the important and onerous duties in connection with the various services which they have assumed to carry out under the terms of the B. BETTER DAYS PROMISED NEW BRUNSWICK TEACHERS

Montreal, Oct. 17—Hon. L. J. Tweedie, who was in Montreal today, discussed the inter-provincial conference. "In my opinion," he said, "the provinces acted very generously in their treatment of British Columbia, although Premier McBride did not seem to think so. It was recognized that the western province has a great future before it if its wonderful mineral and forest resources are properly exploited. Besides, the population seems to be a rapidly growing one. For these and other reasons we were all anxious to see that British Columbia get every reasonable encouragement in the matter of federal assistance."

Not a Raid, But a Just Claim

"Far from making any raid on the federal authorities we were simply asserting our just and legal claims. Just for instance, in the year 1867, after confederation, the dominion government took over the control of the fishing of the province in non-tidal waters and kept it till 1883, when some incident brought the matter before the courts, which decided that the dominion had no right to exercise such control. The province then resumed control of the non-tidal fishing, out of which it has gained a revenue of about $15,000 a year. In view of the dominion government having taken charge of the fisheries for so many years and depriving of this sum, it is clear that there is quite a claim against the dominion government, almost a quarter of a million. In any settlement of the fish question this claim will certainly be made."

Better Days for School Teachers

The increase of subsidy would be devoted to no particular department of the administration, but would be expended in general public works such as the building of roads and hospitals, and the development of the educational system. With regard to the latter subject, Premier Tweedie stated that there had been a great renewal of interest in it of late in connection with the fact that the government's intention to foster its progress in every possible way. The salaries of teachers were to be augmented, new schools founded, and a pension fund for superannuated teachers established.

CHURCH AND PRESS

The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst preached a sermon last Sunday in which he intimated that the newspapers were not a bit better than they ought to be. Also he was disposed to regard them as attempting to usurp the functions of the pulpit. He said: "The press is as definitely and as conspicuously a money-making scheme as is brokerage or manufacture, and will register it as an eternal principle that no man ever does a great thing while computing its cash value or while standing with his finger in the till, with an eye on the ground the other ear open to the cries of stockholders screaming for dividends..."

NO ELECTION

The many gentlemen who have been willing away the time by proving to their own satisfaction that the local elections would be brought on this fall, will be interested in several remarks made Thursday by Premier Tweedie. There were at least one more session of the legislature (probably a very interesting and important one) before the government appeals to the country.

NEWFOUNDLAND AND BRITAIN

Some extremely plain words appear in many Canadian journals just now dealing with Newfoundland's complaint that her interests have been sacrificed by the British government in the process of satisfying the aggressive and hungry statesmen at Washington. It may be that some of these utterances will have their effect in London. There is, for example, this broad statement by the Toronto Globe: "The Pall Mall Gazette, speaking of the Newfoundland modus vivendi, says that possibly, even with the Dominion at her back, the island province might not have found the imperial government staunch, because Canada herself had been subordinated to higher interests before now. That is quite true, but it is not likely to occur or even to be attempted again. The Alaska boundary adjudication was the limit, and the last. Any further compromise between Canada and the United States will be those to which Canada knowingly and deliberately agreed."

BANK SUPERVISION

The more the case of the Ontario Bank is examined the more extraordinary appears the conduct of those to whom the interests of the shareholders and depositors were entrusted. The witness, in summing up the situation, makes several pointed assertions and asks several pertinent questions. It says in part: "Mr. McGill acknowledges that when he took over the bank, it was in a desperate condition, from which, though using desperate means, he has never been able to extricate it. Yet all the time he was reported to the government as having a good surplus. It is openly stated, and not denied, that losses amounting to a million and a quarter of dollars covered by securities known to be valueless were carried on the books as debts due to the bank or as other securities. If that is true, and the amount must have been concealed in some way, there should be the penitentiary availing those concerned. For making false returns to government Mr. Weir, president of the bank, was sentenced to jail for a term of nearly two years, and President Lovitt, of the Yarmouth Bank, has been convicted of the same offence. The last statement made to the government by the Ontario Bank that has been published is the one for August, in which the assets of the bank are stated as being $7,371,802, and the liabilities $14,090,479, leaving a balance to the good of $2,380,383. The 'current' loans are shown there at $13,725,227, and the overdrafts at the nominal amount of $8,237. What is the use of a method of supposed supervision under which such glaring cooking of accounts can be carried on? Of course, this cooking cannot be performed without a performer committing perjury. Anyway, it is a criminal offence, and will doubtless be punished."

OWN BRAND OF GOODNESS ON LINES SUGGESTED BY HIS OWN GOD-GIVEN CONSCIENCE

"The Eagle has a suspicion that the Neo-Parliament Goodness Trust is a Parkhurstian anachronism." Dr. Parkhurst has awakened the wrong passenger.

CLANSMEN OUT IN FORCE AT BURNS' UNVEILING

(Continued from page 1) spoken and written observance, however, was that no man ever did call the enthusiastic heart-worshiper of the world that Burns had done. He would not say that he was the equal of Milton or Shakespeare, but his works, like a silver fountain, are ever bubbling up. He has certainly done more for the world than the immortal Britons he had named. The governor next spoke of social conditions in Scotland in Burns' time and remarked that they must be understood by those who would understand Burns. He had often wondered what would have been the fate of Burns had he been privileged to live in the free land of the United States. He had often wondered what would have been the fate of Burns had he been privileged to live in the free land of the United States. BURNS AS A RELIGIOUS MAN

His honor next spoke of the poet as a religious reformer and prophet, waxing more eloquent at times. He described Burns as a greater religious reformer than many who appear in splendid vestments and profound sounding doctrines as if they were heaven's messengers. "If Burns visited a barroom," he said, "he never lied about it nor did he enter by the back door. When he knew a man was a hypocrite he scorned him and 'may God help us to scorn such men.' He was not present to say that Burns' life was perfect, yet he needed no apology for his hands. He feared God, loved his neighbors and did that which was honest and fair."

Mr. Scott went on to speak of the work on a newspaper, of the haste with which it had to be done and of his surprise at so little criticism.

French Boat Plunges With Fourteen Men and Didn't Come Up

Such is the Report of a United States Naval Official

Captain Chaytor, Sent to Investigate Conditions on the Great Lakes, Finds That His Countrymen Have Been Transgressors for Past Twenty Years, and That About All the Fish Are on the Canadian Side.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The controversy which has been waged between the American and Canadian lake fishermen for the past twenty years has been placed in an entirely new light by a report made to the state department by Captain H. C. Chaytor, commanding the United States revenue cutter Morrill on the Great Lakes.

Some time ago the state department considered favorably a plan of settling temporarily the vexed question of fishing rights on Lake Erie by placing a series of buoys in the middle of the lake to define the international boundary.

As it was apprehended that honest differences of opinion as to the location of the boundary line might arise from differences between the automatic logs of the American and Canadian patrol vessels

BOND STILL IN BITTER MOOD

Declare Newfoundland Protested in Vain Against Modus Vivendi

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 16.—Premier Bond in an interview today, declared that the statements of the American press to the effect that the colony was a party to the modus vivendi is a tissue of falsehoods.

The modus vivendi, he says, was concluded against the protest of the colony of Newfoundland, and the government did not sanction any of the concessions granted Americans, but had exhausted every resource it could command in opposing the agreement, which attitude of firm opposition it does not intend to abandon.

Washington, Oct. 16.—"A mere pin-prick," is the manner in which the officials here characterize the refusal of the Newfoundland authorities to admit their supplies for the United States naval tug Potomac, now at the Bay of Islands.

Consequently there is no disposition on the part of this government to dignify the incident by official notice. The duties will be paid on such stores as the Potomac needs during the winter sojourn in Newfoundland waters, for the re-shipment of these stores is only a matter of courtesy and not of right in the case of naval vessels, contrary to the position of French ships which have a special treaty arrangement submitting free of duty naval stores intended for the French station at Miquillon.

Meanwhile Professor Alexander, the fish commission expert on the Potomac, will continue to warn American fishermen in Newfoundland waters against infraction of the local laws and to study the fishery question practically with the purpose of aiding his government in the conclusion of a definite treaty to replace the modus vivendi.

"You hear so many people quibbling about 'the way of the transgressor.' What do you mean, anyway?"

"My dear sir, 'the way of the transgressor' is usually about 1,800 pounds of coal to the ton."
