A Boer Ultimatum The Health

Said to Have Been Sent to is reported the troops of the Orange Britain.

Demanding the Withdrawal of Her Troops From the Frontier in 48 Hours.

This Story Comes Through French Channels.

London Knows of No New Developments-Sensational Rumors Plentiful and Warlike Movements Con-

Paris, Oct. 4.-A number of papers say that the Boers have sent an ultimatum to England, demanding the withdrawal of the troops from the frontier within 48 hours. The papers congratulate President Kruger for coming to this decision.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS. London, Oct. 3-(midnight)-Inere are no new developments in the Transvaal situation. Arrangements for the dispatch of men and war stores continue. A supply of balloon material has been sent to South Africa, the war office considering that military ballooning will prove of the greatest value in the kind of warrare carried on in South Africa. The chartering is still going on. Five vessels of the Cunard Line are still engaged. One result of the war scare is the advance of 1s to 18d in the price asked for the wheat offered in the London market today.

TRANSVAAL MAILS STOPPED. The British steamer Lalpoora, now in the transport service, arrived last evening at Durban, Natal, with field artillery, a hospital corps and commissary stores from India. The troops were promptly disembarked and sent by train up the country.

The Natal authorities have announce ed that no more mails will be dispatched to the Transvaal until rurther notice. Friday's mail was sent back from the frontier. A Bloemfontein dispatch says that the Orange Free State Government has gazetted an accompanied by Major H. T. Allen, mil-alien expulsion law, and also a law itary attache of the United States em-forbidding the export of grain, stock bassy in Berlin, today ascended at and other necessaries without a permit.

PECULIAR.

don, told the Associated Press that he telegraphed President Kruger, urging Salisbury, dwelling upon the iniquity ment. of the war, and proposing a scheme as a basis of further negotiations. He said that he was momentarily expect-ing to hear that the Transvaal Government was sending an ultimatum to Great Britain, declaring the dispatch of troops a casus belli, in which event he would be compelled to close his offices. Mr. White added a curious statement to the effect that a representative of one of the largest capit-alists of the rand had called upon him this morning and asserted that it was known in capitalistic circles that Lord Salisbury had determined that there should not be war, and had instructed the secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, to wire to South Africa further assurances with regard to the British desire to respect the complete independence of Transvaal. No confirmation of this is obtainable in official circles. Bloemfontein, Oct. 4.-The landrost of Boshof telegraphs that the British troops have crossed the border from Kimbereley.

SATISFACTORY.

British Newspaper Comment on the Anglo-Venezuelan Award.

London, Oct. 4.-The award of the Anglo-Venezuelan boundary arbitration commission is referred to by the afternoon papers as eminently satisfactory from the English point of view. but as hardly a proof of the practicability of universal arbitration. "The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Without doubt Great Britain has done uncommonly well, as is proved by the comments of former President Harrison. If it were not already sufficiently obvious, it is now made clear that the arbitration has shown the disposition of one government to be pleasant and patient rather than risk a simful and unnatural quarrel. This must have its impression in America, and thus must have sown good seed, which has already grown into a flourishing plant.'

Report That Boers Seized $2,-500,000 of Gold in Transit,

That the Queen Has Sent a Special Cable to Kruger, and That the Boers Have Been Dereated in a Small Engagement-Relations as Strained as

London, Oct. 4 .- The most sensational news from South Africa this morning is a reiteration of yesterday's report of the acquisition by the Transvaal auchorities of $2,500,000 in gold which was on the way to Cape Town from Johannesburg. The confirma-tion of the story comes from two sources. The Cape Argus asserts that the Boers made the seizure at Veree-niging, the amount being the week's shipment of gold on the way from the shipment of gold on the way from the Rand to Cape Town, and forwarded the treasure to Pretoria. The report is also confirmed by a cablegram received today by a mining company in London from their representative, to the effect that the train upon which he was traveling from Johannesburg to Cape Town was held up and looted by Boers, who secured $1,500,000 in gold, the amount being considerably less than the original estimate. AS STRAINED AS EVER.

There is nothing very tangible in today's war news, but Ine situation remains as strained as ever, unless hope may be derived from the apparent fact that the forces on the frontier are regarded by both sides as wholly de-fensive for the present, and from the statement that Mr. J. H. Hoffmeyer, the Afrikander leader in Cape Colony, is still prepared to endeavor to secure the adhesion of the Transvaal Government to the "irreducible minimum" proposed at the Bloemfontein conference to President Kruger by Sir Alfred Milner, the British high commissioner, if the imperial government will stand by the high commissioner's original proposal. RUMORS OF INTERFERENCE BY

THE QUEEN. The Stock Exchange was influenced during the opening hours today by vague rumors that Queen Victoria had cabled President Kruger and President Steyn, holding out the olive branch, and by a report that the Boers had been defeated in a small engagement. Prices rose, but there was a speedy reaction; both stores were discredited. SIR WM. VERNON HARCOURT'S STATEMENT. Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the distinguished Liberal statesman, has another slasting attack in today's paper upon the policy of the secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain. He reiterates his original statement that Mr. Chamberlain's assertion that the Transvaal refused to redress the grievances of the outlanders is the reverse of the case, and he insists that Great Britain is responsible for "slamming the door in the face of President Kruger, just when arrangements were approaching a settlement." KRUGER'S WAR SPEECH.

A more extended report of the speech of President Kruger at the adjournment of the raad yesterday is now obtainable. According to trustworthy reports he said: "Everything points to war, because a spirit of falsehood has overtaken other countries, and because people of the Trans vaal vish to govern themselves. Although thousands may come to attack us, we have nothing to fear, for the Lord is the final arbiter, and he will decide. Bullets came by thousands at the time of the Jameson raid, but the burghers were untouched. Over a hundred were killed on the other side, showing that the Lord directed our bullets. The Lord rules the world.'

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Ottawa, Oct. 4 .- For rearly a decade there have been protests: that Thanksgiving Day, usually observed late in November, was placed at too late a date, and that it was liable to be characterized by inclement weather, which meant colds, or worse, or a day in the house, to the citizens who should have been enjoying a genuine holiday. The government has decided to away from the usage of its predecessors, and this year, as next Saturday's Canada Gazette will approunce. Thanksgiving day will be Thursday. Oct. 19. This should be an eminently satisfactory date. About midway be-tween Labor day and Christmas, it will give a welcome holiday to many toilers, whose days of respite from work are all too few. The weather of the third week in October is usually fine, in fact, Canada's glorious Indian summer is usually expected about then.

YACHT RACE

The Shamrock and Columbia Made a Gallant Struggle,

But Boreas Pailed to Furnish the Necossary Breeze - Shamrock Was pired-Another "Go" Tomorrow.

Highlands, N. J., Oct. 4.—Capt. Hogarth thought at best at 2:20 to split the tacks with his appropriate so he tacks with his antagonist, so he put the Shamrock on the port tack, thinking the Columbia would not follow, and when the latter yacht tacked at 2:21:35, she was nearly a mile dead to windward of the green boat.

During the next 30 minutes a dozen short tacks were made, the wind continuing fluky all the dime, until a few minutes before 3 o'clock, when the wind left the Columbia for fully five minutes. She had the inshore berth, while the Shamrock, off shore, held a breeze from the northeast. When the Shamat 3:11 went about on the Columbia's tee bow, she was well ahead -that is to say, if she had gone about she could have crossed the Col-umbia's bow. Between 3:15 and 3:20 the Columbia, with a rew fresh purs from the northeast, began walking up on the Shanrock, which was then nearly a quarter of a mile to windward of her, but before she could overhaul the Shararock the wind died out again. The Shamrock continued to hold a breeze, and by 3:35 she was nearly half a mile to windward of the Bristol boat. There was a strong tide setting to the southwest, which seemed to affect the Columbia more than it did the Shamrock.

In the matter of handling sails, there was little to choose between the two, and if any mistakes were made it was more the fault of the fluky breezes than of the judgment of the sailing masters. ### CONFERENCE OF LATTER DAY SAINTS Delegates Present From All Parts of London District-To Meet Next Year at St. Thomas.

The regular conference of the London District of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, which opened in the Saints' Church Ahead When the Time Limit Ex. on Maitland street, on Saturday, closed yesterday. The district is a large one, and was well represented. Delegates were present from Toronto, Humber Bay, Niagara Falls, St. Thomas, St. Marys, Stratford, Arthur, Garafraxa, Waterford, Oliphant and other places. Reports were read from the various points where the Saints' work has been stablished, and were of an encouraging character, showing the progressiveness of the church. Considerable in-crease has been made in the past quarter. Missionaries present reported success in their respective fields, and spoke hopefully of the future. Oppor-tunities for preaching the word were greater than could be met. Altogether the outlook was bright and cheerful. Saturday's sessions were chiefly business, conference being organized at 10 a.m., with Elder R. C. ### DOMESTIC SCIENCE

A College Especially Equipped for the Teaching of Domestic Duties To Be Established in Toronto.

[Toronto Globe.]

Mrs. Coleman-Stuckert has for some time past been in communication with the assessment commissioner relative to the establishment of a college of domes-tic science in Toronto, and has consulted with him as to the best location of the same. The assessment commis-sioner has handed to a representative of the Globe the following statement. which has been made to him by the lady referred to:

The preliminary steps have been taken for the establishment in Toronto of a college of domestic science interna tional in its scope, the course of which will be of a practical and comprehensive character. As the only effective means of imparting a professional training in household economy to women who in any capacity expect to be concerned in domestic affairs, the project has strongly commended itself to large numbers of people, not only Canada, but throughout Great Britain and the United States, as a much needed factor of educational and social progress. While young men are carefully instructed and prepared by a long course of training for whatever calling they expect to follow in after years, there has hitherto been no corresponding means of educating the wo-men, on whose domestic work and management the health, comfort and happiness of our homes depend. It has been usually taken for granted that no special preparation for these most important and responsible duties was needed, and as a consequence the complaint that it is almost impossible to becure efficient domestic help is well nigh uni-versal, while those households which depend upon the members of the family for domestic management are often equally ill-served, owing to the deplorable lack of systematic training in household economics.

"The scope of the institution about to be established is much wider than that of a mere training school for servants. It will aim to raise the whole system of domestic labor to a higher standard, putting it, as nursing has been put by similar means, upon a pro-fessional basis, and by securing the competency, efficiency and self-respect of its graduates, thus removing the prejudice with which domestic service is At Boyne, near Milton, the 3-year-old | now unfortunately held and inducing son of E. ### Northumbria, Topmast, Brulare and THE SHOOTING OF AGGIE DOYLE

[St. Thomas Times.]

The shooting of Miss Aggie Doyle by Philip McPhail, and the suicide of the would-be murderer, has created a de-cided sensation in the township of Aldboro. McPhail stopped a great portion of his time with Patrick Doyle, fa-Washington 3 6 2 Lucille 1 1 1 1 Well fair. Aggie and her half-sister, mained at home. About 6 o'clock Miss Time—2:10¼, 2:19¼, 2:10¼. cows. She met McPhail, and the latter tried to grab hold of her. She screamed and ran back into the house. McPhail's to be sold in the Fasig sale at New York next month. sister then said she would go for the cows, and started to do so, but Miss Jockey Danny Maher is being inves-Doyle noticed McPhail approaching the dwelling, and called for her to come back. She did so, and the women fas-tened the doors. McPhail broke open the door, however, and told his sister to clear out or he would shoot her. Miss Doyle had grabbed the child in Kramer, the American amateur the meantime, and McPhail turned to champion cyclist, wants a series of match races with Tom Cooper, the her and told her to put the little girl down. Miss Doyle replied that she professional champion.
"Spike" Sullivan, of Ireland, was up would not.

THE SHOOTING OF MISS DOYLE. McPhail then caught hold of her, and a struggle ensued. McPhail exclaimed, "I'll shoot you," but Miss Doyle paid no attention to the threat. The next moment, however, she felt a revolver placed at the side of her temple, and McPhail discharged the weapon. The pistol was held in such a position that the ball, instead of entering the head, passed through the ear and through the muscles of the neck, lodging about the center of the shoulderblade. Miss Doyle sank to the floor, and McPhail, thinking he had killed the girl, ran away.

SUICIDE OF McPHAIL. About 7 o'clock McPhail appeared at his mother's home, and as he put his hand on the handle of the door Mrs. McPhail heard a shot fired, and her son fell headlong into the house. He had bared his breast, and placing the revolver to his heart, pulled the trigger. The bullet entered just above the Aggie Doyle, and now I've shot myself." The dying man asked for a drink of water, and requested that the door be closed. Then he lost con-sciousness. Dr. Graham, of Bothwell, was hastily summoned. He pronounced the case hopeless and at midnight Mc-Phail died.

Dr. McKillop, of Wardsville, and Dr. Dorland, of Rodney, were called to attend Miss Doyle, and they came to the conclusion that she had a chance of recovery. BCRROWED THE PISTOL.

McPhail borrowed the revolver that he did the shooting with from a neighbor's boy, stating that he wanted to shoot a dog. The boy said the pistol was not in good working order, and if McPhail was not careful, he would be liable to shoot himself. On Thursday McPhail was in Rodney and purchased cartridges. He had been drinking considerably.

For some time past bad feeling existed between the two men, Doyle having had McPhail arrested and fined for threatening him. Since then McPhail not felt kindly towards Doyle, though he continued to visit the house. McPhail is described as a man about years of age, who worked long enough to get a little money, and then went to Rodney and spent it on whis-When under the influence of liquor McPhail was noisy and inclined to be quarrelsome. The night before the tragedy he was drunk, but on Friday he was perfectly sober when he partook of his dinner at home. Miss Doyle is a handsome young woman, 19 years of age.

Managing Director John Cameron

London, Wednesday, Oct. 4.

South Africa's Sore Spet. In all South Africa there is liberty and political equality among the white races save in one spot the Transvaal. The Dutch and the British have dwelt together in unity everywhere but in this so-called republic. Under the Britich flag in Cape Colony the Dutch have not only entoyed the same civil Aghts as the subjects of Great Britain, but they hold the reins of power. In the Orange Free State, which is independent of Great British, the British settlers, who are a small minhave been tolerantly treatby their Dutch neighbors, and have made no complaint. This actal amity has now been disturbed in every portion of South Africa, and the disturbing influence emanates from the Transvaal. It has been the sole breeding ground of discontent. As Mr. Chamberlain put It. the Transvael has been a festering sore, poisoning the whole atmosphere of South Africa. The future of the southern half of the contineat demands that the cause of irritation be removed. The Boers have it in their power to do this peaceably by granting to British subjects the constitutional rights which the Boers themselves enjoy under British rule. If the Dutch majority in Cape Colony were to be treated as the Uitlander majority are treated in the Transvaal-made to pay nine-tenths of the taxes, with no voice in spending them, having no political representation, denied public office and fleeced by monopolies-the Dutch, under such conditions, would be justified in rebel-Hon No other nation in the world would tolerate what Great Britain is tolerating now-a Dutch pramier and a Dutch cabinet, presiding over a British colony, yet known to be in moral sympathy with their fellow-Dutchmen who are taking up arms against the British power. Yet this example of British liberality seems to have been entirely lost on the Boers of the Transvaal and the Free State both The most eminent of the peace advocates in Great Britain, like John Morley, admit that the Uitlanders have been oppressed, but they are suspicious of Mr. Chamberlain's buccaneering methods, and accuse him of seeking the forcible annexation of the Transvaal rather than the peaceable redress of the Uitlanders' wrongs. What is in Mr. Chamberlain's mind perhaps only Mr. Chamberlain knows, but it is a sonable supposition that the Transwaal would be a poor acquisition to the empire if it carried with it a legacy citizens of New York, unhappily "conof race hatred which would embetter fined for a time," for their own and South Africa for generations. It is Great Britain's interest to remedy the strongly rooted that it has survived Uitlanders' grievances, if possible, every other virtue. They declare in without coercive measures, because the Transvaal is bound to become British by a painless process if the Uitlanders secure their due share of political For that reason it is hard to believe that the imperial authorities are deliberately forcing war. It is easier to believe that they desire a pacific settlement, even at this late

A Pleasant Occasion.

The citizens of London join heartily in congratulating Sir John and Lady Carling upon their golden wedding. which they celebrated yesterday. Sir John has been a conspicuous figure in the public life of Canada for nearly half a century. He began his parliamentary career in the same year as Sir Oliver Mowat-the year 1857. He has run that camut of public service which Sir John Macdonald once described as invaluable, namely, a preliminary training in municipal affairs leading up to parliamentary work. Sir John, as far back as 1850, was elected a member of the London school board, and four years later he became an alderman. He sat in the old parliament of Canada from 1857 to 1867, being appointed Receiver-General in 1862. At Confederation he became the member for London, both in the House of Commons and the Ontario Legislature. He filled this dual role until 1871, and in the Legislature held the position of Commissioner of Agriculture and Public Works. When dual representation was abolished, Sir John continued as a member of the Commens. In 1382 he became Postmaster-General, and in 1895, Minister of Agriculture, a post which he held un-

As a private citizen, and in his pub-He capacity as well, Sir John has always identified himself with the welfare of Lendon. He has seen it grow from a village to a city of 40,000. In the strike. evening of his long career, which has been marked by many strenuous conficts, political enmities have passed away, and Sir John retains only the kindlest sentiments of his fellow-citizens, who appreciate, without distinction of party, his public spirit and many useful services to his native city and country. They trust that he and his estimable wife may live long to enjoy the Indian Summer of their life.

The arbitration method between Great Buitain and Venezuela has turned out on the whole satisfactorily, and whatever either side may consider it has lost is a flea-bite compared with what would have been lost by war. There is no reason why full and complete arbitration might not have turned out as well in the dispute between the striking street railway employes and the public on the one band and the Street Railway Company on the other.

A British Triumph.

According to the Paris dispatches, Great Britain has emerged triumphant from the Venezuelan arbitration. To be sure the verdict has a flavor of compromise, Venezuela being awarded some 10,000 equare miles of the 60'.-600 which she claimed, but the slice which Venezuela gets is marsh land, while Great Britain retains the forest country. No doubt the concession to Venesuela was prompted, not by any legal justification, but by a generous dealre to save the face of the peppery little republic. The result, so far as we are able to infer by the ecanty details of the judgment, is a complete moral vindication of Great Britain's original attitude toward Venezuela, before the United States thrust the so-called Monroe doctrine into the dispute. It seems now almost incredible that the United States four years ago threatened to go to war with Great Britain over a matter which has since almost faded from public interest. While American interference on that eccasion has been freehly rebuked by the finding of the present tribunal in Great Britain's favor, it is more comforting to know that British claims have been established by arbitration than asserted by force. It is now known to the sworld that the British position was valid from the first, whereas, had Great Britain insisted on her rights without regard to Venezuela's protest, she would, even if the United States had not intervened, have been taunted with acting as a bully and a robber toward a weaker nation. By resorting to arbitration Great Britain assented to a noble principle, and, as the issue shows, she has increased her moral prestige by clearing her skirts of unwarranted suspicions.

The best American sentiment which condemned President Cleveland's message, will be heartily glad of the verdict. The bitterness aroused by the political folly of four years ago has long since been allayed, and in the full enjoyment of victory Great Britain can afford to quietly smile at the recollection, and forbear reproaching the United States

Patriotism of the Prison Brand. The thrill which Dewey diffused through New York penetrated even the prison walls. The inmates of the jails and prisons got out a special illustrated Dewey edition, with this touching "It may seem presumptuous on our part, dwelling as we do in penal institutions, to attempt anything of this character, but in deference to our fellows we would say that, although confined for a time for a violation of the law, we are none the less Americans, with a love of our country and an undying admiration for its heroes, and that we feel amply justified in dedicating this copy to our ideal hero, Admiral George Dewey." The Dewey celebration has producpatriotism than this. In many of these their country's good, patriotism is so effect: "We may have stolen, beaten our wives and children, committed murder, and been guilty of every crime under the calendar, but, thank God! we are still patriots. Sin and wickedness cannot drive the love of our country out of our hearts. We have broken the laws of the United States, but we are none the less good Americans." This splendid outburst of jailbird loyalty should put to shame those Americans out of jail whose souls are so dead that they stoop to criticise their country's conduct in the present war, and they refuse to vibrate with emotion at the thought of their national heroes. The attitude of this class of Americans may have led some to fear for the stability of American institutions, but they will be reassured when they see the patriotic instinct of another class rising superior to every misfortune, even prison fare.

Exit the Soup Kitchen. [Toronto Globe.]

For the first time in many years the city engineer of Toronto has found it necessary to advertise for workmen. The city has traveled a long way from the black flag and the soup kitchen.

> The Rascally Stokers. [Hamilton Herald.]

> The Ficeting Fashions. [Ohio State Journal.]

Charles Dickens was not only the cleverest novelist who ever lived, but he was a man of singular wisdom. For instance, he never tried to describe the costumes of his heroines. Therein he showed his foresight and knowledge of human nature. He knew perfeetly well that before five years had passed the fashions of the day would seem absurd and might positively ruin the entire effect of a pathetic love

A Wide Application.

[Vancouver World.] The London (Ont.) Advertiser had an editorial the other day on municipal reform. It says that results could not be worse than at present, which conclusion it comes to from London's experience, which it says is by no means exceptional. It continues: "We have had efficient municipal government only council to suit himself." Somehow or other the impression forces itself to the front that this idea applies to other dities than London.

> Domestic Science [Kingston Whig.]

Toronto is to have a new college of domestic science. It is projected by Mrs. Coleman-Stockert, and is to have an endowment of $100,000. Its curriculum is to be quite complete, and will include instruction in every feature of domestic science. Like any other cottege it is to take up and carry on the education of the girls after they have finished their schooling. It is, therefore, conducted, in the opinion of the Whig, on the proper plan. it, may be taught in the public schools, the work must necessarily be partial simply because sufficient time cannot be given to it from the ordinary school studies. Domestic science can best be mastered in an institution where it is the only feature, and where all the staff and the service are such as to guarantee success. The experiment of last year in Kingston, of giving some of the senior girls in the public school classes lessons in cooking has been variously regarded. Some think much of it; others do not think so much; the majority of the trustees do not approve of a renewal of it. But most people, including the trustees, would like to see a school of domestic ience, standing upon its merits and taking up an education which is sub sidiary to that of the other schools. The Toronto plan, we repeat, is the proper one, and it may be worth waiting for. It will come in time.

On the Attendance at the Collegiate Institute.

A Communication From Hon. George W. Ross to the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Merchant's Last Report-Salary of Principal Radeliffe Increased.

The board of education met in the council chamber last night, and a number of important matters were dealt with. Among the number was a communication from the Hon. George W. the use of certain city schools for Normal School purposes. It was stated by Principal Radcliffe that the attendance at the Collegiate Institute last month was about 100 less than in September, 1898, the decrease being chiefly in the forms where fees are not imposed.

FOR NORMAL SCHOOL PURPOSES. Following is the communication received from the minister of education: "My Dear Sirs,—I inclose herewith a draft agreement which I submit for the approval of the board of education, with respect to the use of certain schools in the city of London for Normal School purposes. The agreement is in practically the same terms as the agreement made by the city of Hamilton for the use of the Collegiate Institute for the purposes of the Normal College. The principal of the Normal with whom I have discussed the matter, can furnish you with further details, if necessary. I have also discussed the matter with the inspector of the city schools, Mr. Carson, whose views can be obtained by the board.

The amount of money is in blank, although it is intended that a sum not exceeding $1,000 should be paid for the privileges conferred upon the Normal School by the proposed agreement.
"In order to prevent misunderstanding, I may say that the department pays the Collegiate Institute at Hamilon the sum of $2,500 for the use of the Collegiate Institute by 120 students. In that agreement, however, it was arranged, when the building was erected, that we should have two large classrooms capable of seating 120 students, with separate waiting-rooms, lavatories and a private room for the principal Our students have also the use of the laboratories of the Collegiate Institute and the gymnasium, and the service, for lecturing purposes, as well as for ordinary purposes of criticism, of the full staff of the Collegiate Institute. Practically the Collegiate at Hamilton was erected to suit the purpose of the Normal College, as well as of a Collegiate Institute. In the case of the city of London we simply require the privileges mentioned in the agreement. "GEORGE W. ROSS."

MR. F. W. MERCHANT'S LAST REPORT.

In concluding Mr. Merchant thanked the board for the uniform courtesy shown him during his term of office, and bespoke the same confidence for his successor that the board had placed The success of the Collegiate had been in a great measure due to the liberal policy pursued by the different boards, and to the untiring efforts of all the members of the staff.

Ross, minister of education, asking for PRINCIPAL RADCLIFFE'S REPORT. Mr. S. J. Radcliffe, the new principal. presented his first monthly report for September as follows:

In upper school, on roll........... 283 In lower school, on roll...... 220 In commercial school, on roll...... 105

In concluding the report reads: "I have arranged to do without another teacher. Mr. McCool and Mr. Edwards are taking advanced work in English, while Mr. Cowanlock takes Mr. Merchant's classes in physics.' In answer to a question by Chairman O'Neil, Principal Radcliffe said he thought the attendance at the Collegiate Institute this year was about 100 less than last year. He could not say as to what was the true cause as yet. In the five rooms exempt from fees (entrance forms), the attendance was not as large as that of last year. Whether it was caused by the anticipation of the fees to be charged on leaving the entrance forms, or the good times, causing so many young people to get sit-uations, he could not say.

It was moved by Dr. Ziegler, and seconded by Dr. English, that Principal Radcliffe's salary be raised to $1,800. Carried unanimously. Mr. Radcliffe's salary was formerly $1,150.

RECOMMENDATIONS FROM IN-SPECTOR CARSON.

Inspector Carson recommended that Miss Jessie McDonald, who holds a Normal College certificate, be appointed transition teacher in Park street school. That Miss A. M. Lea, holds a Normal College certificate, be appointed transition teacher in Que-bte street school, and that four other transition teachers be appointed, to assume duties as schools may require them, according to the order of their appointment.

The report was not adopted, and the transition teachers at the schools will be retained.

HALF-HOLIDAY TOMORROW. On motion of Trustee Macpherson, to morrow (Thursday) afternoon was de-clared a half-holiday, in order to al-low the children to hear Godfrey's celebrated band at the Princess rink. Trustee Jones asked what action had been taken about the robbery at Park street school some weeks ago. He was informed that the police had been notified.

Dr. English said that he understood had efficient municipal government only last report for the month of Septemwhen a brainy man chanced to get ber, in which he asked:

was moved by Trustee Bayly. that the members of the board tender their hearty congratulations to Sir John and Lady Carling upon the 50th anniversary of their marriage, and hope that they may enjoy many years of health and happiness together." Trustee Gillean seconded. Carried unanimously.

Mr. Harry Bapty asked for a refund of the fee paid for his daughter at the Collegiate Institute, as she had left the city. On motion he was refunded $3 of the amount paid. Mrs. Dunn was granted a refund of fees on the same grounds. A letter of thanks was received from the board of managers of the St. James' Presbyterian Church, thanking the trustees for their kindness in allowing them the use of a room in the Collegiate Institute for divine services and stating that they would not require the room in the future, as they would worship in the north end of the city. Mr. G. A. McKee, teacher at the head of the history department in the Collegiate Institute, asked that his salary be increased to $1,100, with an annual advance of $25 until the maximum salary of $1,200 was reached. Filed. W. M. Govenlock, head of the department of physics at the Collegiate Institute, asked that his salary be increased from $1,100 to $1,200. Filed. Miss E. Waugh asked to be appointed to the public school teaching staff, and Miss Ethel Johnston and Miss Lillian Phillips to the substitute staff of kindergarten teacher. Referred to No. 1

COMMITTEE REPORTS. No. 2 committee of the board reported passing accounts amounting to $551 18, and that privileges of crossing Princess avenue school grounds with lead pipe to connect with the sewer had been granted; also that the extension of the walk at the Rectory street school made necessary by the placing of the sidewalk in front of the school grounds further out, and been completed.

No. 1 committee reported that Miss Adeline Perry and Miss B. S. Killridge had been admitted as kindergarten students, and that Miss Minnie Hills and Miss M. A. Howey had been ap pointed substitute teachers.

A CURIOUS FOUNTAIN

nstead of Water It Is Intended to Spout Forth Quicksilver.

Queensland is to be represented at the London exhibition by a fountain of quicksilver, one of the colony's chief productions. There will be two basins, one above the other. These will be of iron, enameled black, to give a greater effect to the falling quicksilver, the top one three feet larger. The mercury will run into the upper bowl from a height, and then by little channels around the edge into the lower basin. The supply will be so arranged that there is an almost continual flow. As it drops into the lower bowl the mercury will be conducted by a glass-lined fron pipe to a reservoir tank, and then lifted by a motor so that it will return by the delivery pipe to the upper bowl again.

The weight of the mercury used will be about two tons, and the piping for the delivery will be 106 feet long, and that for the return so the tank 80 feet Each tank will hold two cubic feet of quicksilver, and the elevator apparatus will be required to raise about one ton per hour. Probably the thing that will attract the most attention will be a few ordinary household flatirons, which are to be floated in the bottom basin, for the density of mercury supports iron as water does wood.

Rye, per bu50c to 60c
WEEKLY.
The only alterations in the grain markets this week was an advance in wheat. At Tuesday's and today's session $1 10 to $1 13 was paid for new. No old offered. Receipts fair; demand Oats have been offered freely and the price has been quite steady; 78c to 80c being ruling values. Only a few loads of peas came in; 90c to $1 was paid.

Barley brought 75c to 80c for feeding grades.

No rye offered. One small lot of beans sold at 70c, they were a very poor sample; good stock would likely bring 90c to $1, but this is parriy conjectural. No site alian occurred in either dressed or live hogs, $4 to $4 10 for live and

$5 to $5 75 for dressed. Hay was steady at $8 50 to $9.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.-Uncertainty as to the Transvaal situation kept grain markets in a nervous strain today, and resulted in a good deal of liquidation.

December wheat closed %c to %c lower: May, %c. December corn, %c, and May corn, %c lower. Oats un-changed to a shade lower. January pork closed 7½c lower; January lard, 2½c to 5c under, and January ribs, 5c lower. The break was due largely to the big increase in Northwest elevator stacks, 6,000,000 bushels, compared with

York reported 230 loads taken for ex-

GOLDEN SWORD GIVEN TO DEWEY

The Present From Congress Handed to the Admiral by President McKinley.

Washington, Oct. 4.-A fitting finale to all the elaborate ceremonials with which the nation's hero, Admiral George Dewey, has been welcomed home, was enacted yesterday when, amid historical surroundings, and in the presence of a multitude such as never before gathered there, even to witness the inauguration of a chief executive, he received the beautiful sword voted himby congress as an emblem only of the honor and love with which his grateful countrymen regarded him. A dozen times during Secretary Long's superb-ly eloquent tribute the admiral's eyes filled with tears, and in the utterance of the few words with which he re-ceived the nation's gift, his voice shook with uncontrollable emotion. That he is the proudest and the happiest man in all the broad land, none who saw his glowing face and glistening eyes can doubt. The tribute of a grateful people has been worthily rendered and received with an appreciation both deep and touching.
As Secretary Long concluded his eloquent address, he passed the sword to President McKinley. The latter rose, faced the admiral, and said:

"Admiral Dewey, from your entrance in the harbor of New York with your gallant crew and valiant ship, the demonstrations which everywhere have greeted you reveal the public esteem of your heroic action, and the fullness of the love in which you are held by your country. The voice of the nation is lifted in praise and gratitude for the distinguished and memorable services you have rendered the country, and all the people give you affectionate welcome home, in which I join with all my heart. Your victory excited American valor and extended American authority. There was no flaw in your victory; there will be no faltering in maintaining it. (Great applause.) It gives me extreme pleas-

Following the benediction, the arrangements for the review of the military escort of Admiral Dewey were carried out. banqueted.

· THE GOLDEN SWORD.

The sword, except in its steel blade and the body metal of its scabbard, is entirely of 22-carat gold. On the pommel is carved the name of the battleship Olympia and the zodiacal sign December, the month in which Dewey was born. Circling these is a closely woven wreath of oak leaves. Below these the pommel is embraced by a gold collar, on the front of which are the arms of the United States, with the blue field of the shield in enamel. Below them are the arms of Vermont, Dewey's native state, with the motto, "Freedom and Unity," and the colors of the shield in enamel. The plain art of the gold collar is decorated with stars, and a graceful finish is given by a narrow band of oak leaves. The sword blade is damascened with the inscription: The gift of the nation to Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N., in memory of the victory at Manila Bay, May 1, 1898.

The sword grip is covered with fine medium an eagle terminating in a claw, which grasps the top in which the blade is set; the eagle's outstretched wings

Sprays of oak leaves and choice flocks, $4 to $4 25; western accorns secure the rings and trappings of the scabbard; above these on the front of the scabbard is a raised monogram in diamonds entwining the letters "G. D." and immediately under them are the letters "U. S. N." sur-rounded by sprays of the sea plant. The lower end of the scabbard terminates in entwined gold dolphins.

The sword box is of white oak in-leid with black velvet and at the center of the cover has a gold shield surmounted by an eagle, inscribed with a single star and the words "Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N."

AMUSEMENTS

The performance at the Grand Opera House last night surprised and delighted the audience. It was brilliant, artistic, mystifying, and always pleasing. The programme was long, but the audience was unconscious of the flight of time. Servais Le Roy, Miss Fox and Frederick Eugene Powell are not only three of the most amazingly clever prestidigitateurs ever seen here, but their work is characterized by an easy grace and illuminated by a constant play of humor that is most agreeable. Their feats of legerdemain left nothing to be desired in skill and dexterity, and many of them were

A number of good specialties formed the second part of the programme, and included character songs, by Maud Beal Price, burlesque opera by Bertha Wagner and Bruno Armin, an acrobatic exhibition on a series of three horizontal bars by Zazell and Vernon, and a unique musical entertainment, consisting of Swiss bells, violins, and brass instruments by the clever musical comedians, Lelliott, Busch and Lel- promotions: liott. These last might have kept on playing till morning, if they had heeded the enthusiastic encores that greeted their every penformance.

The most spectacular part of the performance was the last, in which Le Roy, Fox and Powell produced a number of novel and beautiful illusions called Hynota, The Magic Waters and the Burning Enigma.

WEST'S MINSTRELS' SPECTACU-LAR SCENERY.

When the curtain rises on the first part of William H. West's Big Minstrel Jubilee, which will be given here on Saturday night only, there will be revealed a scene of brilliancy. The setting is an interior, resembling that of a magnificent palace. The walls are floral arches, in which sparkle innumerable electric lights, while in the center of the stage four tall but delicate pillars support massive chandeliers of electric globes. The archways on the sides screen terraces along which the minstrels are seen advancing to the rear of the stage where they meet in front of a magnificent fountain and descend to their places on the stage. It is then seen hav superbly the scenic artist has blended his surroundings with the colors of the costumes. The latter are Tuxedo coats of black and yellow.

"A RUNAWAY GIRL." Augustin Daly's Musical Company, from Daly's Theater, New York city, will present the reigning London and New York success, "A Runaway Girl," in this city next Tuesday evening at the Grand Opera House. "A Runaway Girl" was one of the prime musical offerings in the metropolis last season, and the organization presenting it is one of the largest and the most expensive on the road. The sale of reserved seats for the engageoffice on next Saturday morning.

TONIGHT'S PERFORMANCE. Of the performance that appears at the Grand tonight, the St. Thomas Times of last evening has the following to say:

"Jones' Southern Quadroon Funmakers commenced a two-nights' engagement at the new Grand last even-ing. They certainly made fun for all who were present. The company made a decided hit, and there was not a dull moment throughout the entire performance. Lina Vann Jones is one of the greatest singers of her race. She sings with the greatest ease. The acrobatic work of Norwood and Wilson has never been excelled in this city. The big quadrille cakewalk by the entire company was alone worth the price of admission. The singing, dancing and comedy is strictly highclass, and their opening is the swellest ever given by a colored company in

GODFREY'S BAND TOMORROW. Dan Godfrey and his band will appear at the Princess Rink tomorrow afternoon and evening. The afternoon performance is for school children, the scholars throughout the city re-ceiving a half-holiday. The prices are 10 cents for children in the afternoon, and adults 25 cents. There's Food and Work for All Mr. Calder on the Labor Market.

Winnipeg, Oct. 4.-Mr. Alex. Calder, employment agent of the C. P. R. here, makes an important statement which refutes representations made by Win-nipeg delegates to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress at Montreal, in which they stated that the western labor market was overstocked with the influx of foreigners. Mr. Calder has just returned from a three months' trip through most of the important cities of the United States and in Eastern Canada. His object in making the trip was to get as many men as he could lay his hands on for railway work on the C. P. R. and Rainy River road. "If all the men now on the western prairies working on farms, railroads or at any other manual labor, remain here this winter, I guarantee that they will not want for work," said Mr. Calder to a reporter. Do you not think that the publication of your assertion would draw into the west a crowd of people and flood the labor market?' "It might have done so a few years ago; not now. Why, how many men do you suppose I secured to work here in my travels? Not more than 150 men, a drop in the bucket. I tell you what," continued Mr. Calder, emphatically, "never before in the history of North America have times been as good as at present. I am in a fairly good position to know—I have been in close touch with the labor market for forty-five years—and I tell you that never have wages been so high or the work to be done so extensive as it is today.

AMERICANS IN ENGLAND

How They Were Received Twenty Five Years Ago-Col. Higginson's Reminiscences.

It may be said in general that American strangers who have decent introductions were most kindly received, twenty-five years ago, in London, says Colonel T. W. Higginson, in the October Atlantic. A little flavor of foreigness was then not only borne patiently, but accepted as a merit; and indeed Lord Houghton told me that the early Americans, as Ticknor and Summer, had been sometimes characterized as not having enough flavor of their own soil. I cannot, however, forget that Miss Kate Field, then living in London, and having a decided circle of popularity of her own, used to de-clare that the English kindliness towards her fellow countrymen was strictly limited to selfishness; that it must be a poor letter of introduction which would not bring forth an invitation to dinner. "After that," she said, "if you do not make yourself agreeable they will drop you like a hot potato." From this calamity, a very short stay is a sure preventative, and works successful results, like Sam Weller's brief love letter. At the time of which I write (1872) many cultivated Englishmen were meditating visits to America, and even lecturing so that such men as Tyndall, Froude, and others were naturally disposed to cultivate the acquaintance of familiar with the field; and authors again are always supposed to be kindly disposed to those who write literary criticisms for the press. It was also a period when two or three American writers were so enormously popular in England that I could at once command the ear of any Englishwoman by tell-Longfellow, or of any Englishman by dropping out the fact that I had once dined with Mark Twain in his own sional Second Lieut. G. S. Johnston house and that he had said grace at table.

Buchan, prohad not even the usual vague English interest in American affairs; yet he gave up his whole afternoon to drive of Infantry-Provisional Second Lieut. me to Kenflworth, which he had seen a thousand times. But that for which I liked him best, and which afforded me a wholly new experience, was that as we entered the outer dooway, he, going first, looked back over his shoulder, and said simply, "They make you pay threepence for admission here," and then added, speaking to the attendant, "here is my threepence." After all the time and trouble he had given to his stranger guest, he yet left

TWO LADIES TESTIFY

Speak in the highest terms of Laxa-Liver Pills.

Everywhere the ladies are discarding the old-fashioned harsh laxatives and cathartics for Laxa-Liver Pills.

These little fellows are so easy to take, act so gently, without any griping, weakening or sickening, and are so adapted to the constitution of the most delicate, that they have in truth become the "ladies' favorite medicine."

Miss Alina Goquin, Cape Bald, N.B. says: "I had an attack of liver trouble and indigestion last spring and decided to buy Laxa-Liver Pills. They had a more lasting effect than any remedy I ever took, and I believe them to be the best medicine for liver trouble that is to be found."

Miss Ellen Whalen, Niagara Falls, Ont., says: "I had dyspepsia for two years, and took various remedies, but none of them suited my case like Laxa-Liver Pills, They cured me promptly and effectually."

Laxa-Liver Pills always cure biliousness, sick headache, dyspepsia, constipation, heartburn, water brash, catarrh of the stomach, coated tongue, bad breath, sallow and muddy complexion, etc.

As an "after dinner" pill they are most valuable, removing that full or bleated feeling and preventing indigestion.

The total for September, 1898, was $31.-820 90, so that the increase this year is $2,210 07. Last year $1,533 was received in the month of September for inspec-tion fees, the collection of which was stopped Sept. 1, this year. SOCIAL AT CHRIST CHURCH.

The congregation of Christ Church held a social evening on Monday night in connection with their annual harvest thanksgiving services. The rector. Rev. J. H. Moorhouse, made a few remarks, stating that the contributions at Sunday's services amounted to $680. and thanked the members for this practical expression of confidence in the church's work. There was a large at-tendance and a splendid literary and musical programme was given. The feature of the evening, was an address by Mr. A. E. Welch, manager of the Scottish-Canadian Mining and Development Company, on his recent trip to British Columbia. He traced the C. P. R. route from London to Victoria, describing the habits of the Indians and miners encountered, the cities passed through, and the mode of traveling in the mountains. Light refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

AGAINST CLERICAL PROFESSION. At the Wycliffe College alumni meeting, at Toronto, the Rev. C. C. Owen, B.A., rector of Memorial Church, London, spoke of the need of such an institution as Wycliffe. One thing he liked about the college was the great part it played in the life of the Canadian people. Educational institutions which did not become part and parcel of the life of the people were almost worse than useless. He dealt with the training and life of a minister. The greatest power in the life of a minister should, he contended, be that of love. Properly used this power was all essential in the work. He uttered a warning to the young men who were thinking of entering the ministry against professionalism. There was too much of it in the pulpits of today. It was painful to hear and know of ministers making bargains to preach offender at the police court this morn- for so many dollars, stipulation for certain holidays and demanding this or that concession.

The carpet rag social held in Somerset Hall on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of London Council, No. 397, programme enjoyed by all. The ladies came each supplied with a ball of carpet rags, in the center of which was inclosed her name. These were purchased by the gentlemen, under whose care the lady was during refreshments, which were served at intremission. Much credit is due Mr. T. J. Linnell and the committee who so ably assisted him for the success of the social The programme opened with an address by Mr. D. A. McDermid, who acted as'chairman. Miss Alberta Hopkins made a charming little Highland lassie, and her recitation was well rendered. Recitations were also given by Misses Moule, A. Nixon and L. Burke; solos by Mr. J. Birmingham, Mr. Blashill, Master Adair and Miss Emma Burke; instrumental selections by Violin Club; harmonica selections, Mr. E. Moule; piano solo, Miss J. Dr. Henry A. Brown Was a Surgeon in the United States Army.

Dr. Henry A. Brown, after an absence of some years, is visiting his mother, Mrs. William Brown, of 176 Wharncliffe road, West London, Dr. Brown was an assistant surgeon in the United States army until the latter part of July, when he resigned his commission. He had been attached to the military hospital at San Francisco, until early in the spring, when he left for the Philippines, where his duty was largely on the transports. Dr. Brown spent some time in Japan on his way home. Of the war with the Filipinos, he says: "The increased forces will no doubt put an end to it before the next rainy season. The trouble has been that the United States has been carrying the warfare too humanely." Manila, he says, is the commercial center of the Orient, and affords grand possibilities for American or European enterprise. The doctor is, himself, good evidence of the salubriousness of the place. He will spend a month or so in the city.

London Furniture Company's Factory Sold to a Syndicate.

Mammoth Plant Knecked Down for $29,500-To Resume Operations at an Harly Date.

The mammoth building and plant of the London Furniture Company, including the site and several lots between York and King streets, opposite the factory, was sold this morning at auction by J. W. Jones, for $29,500. It was bought in by W. H. Ferguson, of Ferguson & Co., real estate brokers, parts of Canada. It was, however, a acting, Mr. Ferguson says, for a strong syndicate.

The Huron and Erie Savings and Loan Company held a mortgage on the property for $26,500.

There were several bidders, and the bidding started at $15,000. The property is said to have cost the London Furniture Company, about $120,000. It is a five-story brick building, 189 by 187 feet, and has a plant capable of employing 200 men. The factory has been idle for

Mr. Ferguson told an Advertiser reporter that the syndicate for which he had bought the property would have the factory in operation at the earliest date possible. If the factory is run to its full capacity, it will furnish em-

CRAW-GUNN.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock a quiet and very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Fried, 468 Queen's avenue, being the marriage of Mrs. Fried's sister, Miss Florence Kate Gunn, daughter of the late, Alexander Gunn, to Rev. Wm. Wilson Craw, M. A., Presbyterian minister, of Thorndale. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Saunders, of the Dun-das Center Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. George I. Craw, of Victoria Harbor, brother of the groom. THE PHILIPPINES Harbor, brother of the groom. The bridesmaids were Miss Craw, and Miss A. Hobbs. Mr. R. W. Craw, B.A., of Toronto, was the groomsman. The bride was beautifully attired in moire silk, with pearl and turquoise trimmings, and the bridesmaids wore white organdie over shades of lemon. The guests included relatives and intimate friends from Montreal, Toronto, Barrie, Aylmer and other outside places. After the ceremony and subsequent congratulations the wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Craw went east to spend their honeymoon.

Obituary.

Sergt. John Ward, an old pensioner, of the Fifty-third Regiment of the English Foot Guards, passed away at his late residence, 413 Bathurst street, this morning, aged 70 years. Deceased had been alling for some time with a cancer. He was born in the town of Ballymote, county Sligo, Ireland, in 1829, and enlisted in the army in 1849, when but 20 years of age. He was honorably discharged in 1881, after 32 years of service. He at different periods served in the East and West Indies, and in British North America. A widow, two sons and three daughters survive. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from St. Peter's Cathedral.

The Strange Metamorphosis.

"Why, it's just this to me," said Tipping, that I've been spoons on Unicle myself ever since I came, and she never would have a word to say to me. I never could think why, and now it turns out to be you! What do you mean by cutting me out like this? I heard her call you 'dear Dick.'" "Don't be an ass, sir!" said Paul,

"Now, none of your cheek, you said Tipping, edging up against him with a dangerous inclination to first jostle aggressively, and then maul his unconscious rival. "You just mind what I say. I'm not going to have Dulcie bothered by a young beggar in the second form; she deserves some-thing better than that, anyway, and I tell you that if I once catch you talking to her in the way you did just now, or if I hear of her favoring you more than any other of the fellows.

I'll give you the very best licking you ever had in your life. So look out!"

At this point the other boys began to straggle down and cluster round the fire, and Paul withdrew from the aggrieved Tipping, and looked drearily out of the window on the hard road and bare black trees outside.

"I must tell the doctor how I'm situated," he thought; "and yet, directly I open my mouth, he threatens to flog If I stay here that little girl will be always trying to speak to me, and I shall be thrashed by the red-haired boy. If I could only manage to speak out after breakfast!"

It was not without satisfaction that he remembered that he paid extra for 'meat for breakfast" in his son's school bills, for he was beginning to look for-ward to meal time with the natural desire of a young and healthy frame for nourishment.

At 8 o'clock the doctor came in and announced breakfast, leading the way himself to what was known in the school as the "Dining Hall." It scarcely deserved so high-sounding a name, perhaps, being a long, low room on the basement floor, with a big fire-place fitted with taps and bakingovens, which provoked the suspicion that it had begun existence as a back

The doctor took his seat alone at a cross table, forming the top of one of the two rows of tables, set with white cups and saucers, and plates well heaped up with square pieces of bread and butter, while Mrs. Grim-stone, with Dulcie and Tom, set at the foot of the same row, behind two

But when Mr. Bultitude, hungry than he had felt for found his place at one of the tables. he was disgusted to find upon his plate -not, as he had confidently expected, a couple of plump poached eggs, with their appetizing contrast of ruddy gold and silvery white, not a crisp and crackling sausage or a mottled omelette, not even the homely but luscious rasher, but a brace of chill, forbidding sardines, floating grim and headless in bilious green oil.

It was a fish he positively loathed, nor could it be reasonably expected that the confidence necessary for a declaration was to be begotten by so sepulchral a form of nutriment. He roused himself, however, to swailow them, together with some of the thin and tin-flavored coffee. But the meal, as a whole, was so different from the plentiful, well-cooked breakfasts he had sat down before for years as a matter of course, that it made him feel extremely unwell.

No talking was allowed during the meal. The doctor now and then look-ed up from his dish of kidneys on toast (at which envious glances were occasionally cast) to address a casual remark to his wife across the long row of plates and cups, but, as a rule, the dull, champing sound of boys solemnly and steadily munching was all that broke the silence.

Toward the end, when the plates had been generally cleared, and the boys sat staring with the stolidity of repletion at one another across tables, the junior house-master, Mr. Tinkler made his appearance. He had lately left a small and little known college at Cambridge, where he had contrived, contrary to expectation, to evade the uncoveted wooden spoon by just two places, which enabled the doctor to announce himself as being "assisted by a graduate of the Uni-versity of Cambridge who has taken honors in the Mathematical Tripos. For the rest, he was a small, insignificant-looking person who evidently disliked the notice his late appearance drew upon himself.
"Mr. Tinkler." said the doctor, in his

I want to talk this morning about weeds. For that is the meaning of the word "thorns"—the wild things in the field that spring up and choke the corn. Looking at the parable we see that the tion. So, hastily murmuring that he had "made an excellent breakfast"—which he had not—he followed the history of the seed lies in three little words: in—down—up. It must get in or it cannot get down. It must get down or it cannot get up. It must get up or it cannot get up. It must get up or it cannot get ripe. The failure of the first was that it did not get in: it fall by the wayside and others, who clattered upstairs to put on their boots and go out into the It was noticeable that they did so without much of the enthusiasm which might be looked for from boys soon as it fell it was done with; it did not last an hour. The second got in, but did not get down—it fell where there was no deepness of earth; it lived until the sun was up. The other fell among thorns. It got in and it got down, but it did not get up; the weeds sprang up and choked it. It lived a long time, but in the end it came to nothing. dismissed to their sports. But the fact was that this particular sport 'chevy," commonly known as prisoners' base, was by no means a popular amusement, being of a somewhat mo-notonous nature, and calling for no special skill on the part of the per-formers. Besides this, moreover, it had the additional disadvantage (which would have been fatal to a Now of these three the worst by far

Nor did I expect to find corn growing in the light sandy soil that will grow nothing at all; where perhaps in rainy seasons you may get a few blades of grass or But where the weeds luxuriate there is good, rich, deep soil There corn ought to grow, and ought to grow well. Why doesn't it? Because of the weeds. Others fell among hours a day for weeks in succession, is ant to lose its freshness and pall upon thorns, and they sprang up and choked

t, and it yielded no fruit. So then let us notice at the outset that this waste is in a cornfield. It is not on the hard highway, nor set apart and given up to growing corn. Let that be carefully noted. I am not talking this morning of the man who has no religious decision, and therefore no religious profession; I am speaking of those who are the Lord's disciples; who have decided for him, and do not only profess to be his, but sincerely and honestly mean it. That is a truth that must be clearly per-ceived. This was a cornfield set apart and given up to growing corn-there can be no doubt about that, or the illustration would have no meaning. I think I can best bring out the truth by contrast. It is dull November. The leaden sky is overhead and the west wind comes moaning in from the sea. There is the plowman turning the glossy furrows straight from end to end of the field. And after him comes the sower with the seed, and carefully he sets it within the furrow. Then comes the harrow and turns the earth over the seed and burles it. And see across the valley yonder, they plow there, too; and there they sow and harrow. In both fields the process is the same. Each field alike is given up to the purpose of the plowman and the isfaction at having something definite to do once more.

If Mr. Tinkler, who had joined one of the groups, had not particularly distinguished himself at breakfast, he sower. Each is set apart for corn. So is it that in the fruitful and unfruitful Christian the early processes are the same. In each case there has been the work of the Holy Ghost, bringing deep conviction in the soul; in each case there has been the surrender of the soul to his gracious energy. Each alike has received the truth into the heart, and each alike has kept it. The word of God has got in and got down. The failure is not in the beginning of the religious life. There been the same deep conviction of sin; the same penitence; the same acceptof the word of truth: the same faith in Jesus Christ unto salvation that others have had. Nobody is more regular at the Sunday services than this man. Nobody enjoys a happy service and a bright sermon more than he does. Ah, and it goes down into the heart and takes hold of him, and > amiss? Come and see. Now the autumn giories fill the earth. Here, level and rich, is a field of golden corn. Look riches," there is the peril—when a man at it. What a picture it is! But listenes to the promise of riches, and pies thick as they can cluster; there is and the man gives himself up body, another patch of charlock; there are tall thistles everywhere. Here and jade. there a thorn has sprung up. Ten thousand other weeds are there, and among them the cornstalks rise, mere ghosts of corn, thin, white, withered, without strength and without seed. And now the masters of the two fields meet.

"You have a splendid crop," says

'It looks well, doesn't it?" "I wish mine looked as well. I can't account for it at all. I plowed well, and I got the best seed and got it well

. How is it?
"Ah," says the other, "I think it does not want more than half an eye to see the reason. The prowing and sowing and harrowing were all right. But what more have you done?" "Ch, I did nothing eise. I left it to the cares of this life—the man has a take care of itself then. What did you struggle to get on and he is haunted

And the charlock laughs at the trembling stalk. "You golden, indeed! Here, let me show myself. It is really a pity that the sun should waste his shining upon you." And here stands the haughty thistle, thrusting the corn aside with its prickly arms, and nodding its head jauntily to the big bumble-bee. "Glad to see you,' says the thistle. "You can get some thing out of me, but I can't think for good harvest." No, there is no excuse. You may talk It is not on the hard highway, nor is it on the barren land, but in a field stances and difficulties. A man who set apart and given up to growing does so much in the world ought to be some good in the church. Dear friends there is no excuse. If you and I do belong to God and have received the good seed, nothing in the world will excuse our not bringing forth good

III. Let us try as earnestly as we can to get at the cause of failure.

And let us be the more earnest bethe causes are so subtle and difficult to detect, at any rate at their own commencement. The seeds of the weeds are mere trifles, scarcely per-ceptible. The down of the thistle goes should stay to catch it? The seeds of a hundred weeds may adhere to the feet of a bird. The tiny seeds fall from the hedge. Yet the result is as bad as if we left the gate open and the cattle got into the corn and trod it under got into the corn and trod it under foot. And these weeds in themselves are good, not bad, in their right place. What are weeds in the cornfield are flowers in the garden. The thorns that are such a plague in the cornfields are quite useful as a fence-nothing better to keep the cattle in, and nothing better to keep the cattle out. The Master gives us a list of weeds,-the cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches, the lust or desire after other things enter in and choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful. Now, note that of this list there is no harm in any one of them. They are all good. "This world" is good and altogether good. It is God's world and not the devil's, a world that God has made and redeemed and blest, and which is to be filled with his glory. But "the cares of this world," that is the mischief; that is when the world comes into the heart and takes up the sires and the love and energy of the ware of the man who whines that they are; he has his eye most likely When Abraham said to Dives. 'You had your good things in this takes hold of it. Nobody remembers ham, "So had you; you were richer it better than he does, and nobody can than I, very rich in cattle and silver quote it more readily. What then is and gold." What was the difference? Abraham's goods are not his goods; Abraham's riches were not in his across there in the valley-what is his eyes look upon the vision of riches, There is a patch of scarlet pop- and the heart falls in love with riches,

> "Other things" are none of evil. Nothing is evil in its right place and in its right use. But it is "the lust after other things," the eager desire after them, the over-eagerness about them, that make them a curse. Now, this is the whole secret. The world, the work, the pleasure, the duty put in the wrong place. Here the man comes to the house of God. He sings, he prays, he listens to the word, and enjoys it, and it does him good. quick to see its meaning, and quick to feel its power, and quick to yield himself to its gracious uplifting. Then tomorrow he is in the world. He is energetic, earnest, busy, pushing-and it absorbs him. It fills his desire and thought. It drains all his energy. Or struggle to get on and he is haunted with fears. And this prickly thistle strikes out the roots in the soul, and drains its thought and energy and strength. The lust of other thingsried my spud and dug up a thistle pleasure that comes to be the thing whenever I saw one and flung it in the that one lives for; that gets into the heade. Good soil and good sowing and good seed won't do unless you look after the weeds."

There it is—the story of unfruitful—and spent. The cornfield has no room re it is—the story of unfruitful- and spent. The cornfield has no room The thorns grew up and choked for weeds and corn. The weeds grow apace and exhaust the energy. That is the whole history-work, the world pleasure, put in the wrong place.

IV. Well, what is the remedy? Resolute daily dealing with ourselves. And all the more resolute because the busy eagerness of life makes the remedy, perhaps, more difficult. A hurried prayer in the morning and a wearied prayer at night is not a safety against this peril. The more we have to do. the more strongly and sternly must we set ourselves to secure time for the adjustment of our life to its surroundings; for that quiet waiting upon God which shall ever keep first his kingdom and its righteousness. The seed of the Word must be quickened by the contact of his Holy Spirit, and must be nourished and nurtured by direet communion with him.

Berlin, Oct. 3 .- At today's session of the International Geographical Congress, and in the presence of a distinguished audience, including many colonial and other government officials, Mr. Poultney Bigelow discussed "Colonial Administration in Different Parts of the World." The paper was receiv-ed with marked favor. Mr. Bigelow said that in colonial matters the most important condition today was a unity among the whites, whether English, Russian, French or German.

"In the far east," continued Mr. Bigelow, "the United States has now become a rival of Europe through the occupation of Manila. Americans thus become next-door neighbors to Hong Kong, and are almost equally interested in the projected railway terminat-ing at Kiao Chou. In common with Germany, however, the United States has experience yet to purchase; and from observations made during the war, I fear my country is learning her lesson at an extravagant price."

Nerve Pills should be taken. They have saved many a life and are daily proving themselves the greatest benefactors of mankind.

One after another, grateful for the blessing of life spared and health restored, is coming forward and speaking a word for this splendid remedy. Today Mr. F. W. Meyers, King street, east, Berlin, Ont., gives a history of his case in the following words:

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the best remedy for heart and nerve trouble on the market. I suffered for five years with palpitation, shortness of breath, sleeplessness and pain in the heart, but one box of these pills completely removed all these distressing symptoms. I have not suffered since taking them, and now sleep well, and feel strong and vigorous."

Not only do Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills never fail to cure the diseases with which Mr. Meyers was afflicted, but they build up and strengthen the weak, worn out, run down sys tem and impart vigor and vitality to every organ of the body. Women's Missionary Society of London Conference in Convention.

Interesting and Encouraging Reports From the Officers-Rev. Dr. Kilborn Tells of the Work in China.

The fifth annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society in the London Conference was entered upon in the First Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Burns, presiding. After introductory services, conducted by Mrs. Crews and Mrs. Dickson, an address of cordial welcome was delivered by Mrs. Chapman, of London, in which she referred feelingly to the friends who had been taken from them. Replying on behalf of the delegates, Mrs. Harrison, of Granton, said that although they could not but appreciate the hospitality of the Londoners, although they could not but admire the beautiful streets and buildings of London, still it was not for these that the delegates had come, but to accomplish some solid, practical work.

In the president's address Mrs. Burns told of the rapid strides being made in the membership, and work of the organization. There were 679 auxiliaries, with a membership of 15,609, and this number is augmented by 279 circles, with a membership of 7,223. Their work is being carried on in Japan, in China, among the French of Montreal and the Indians of the Northwest. The appropriations for the support of these works amounted to $49,831 67. total income of the society was as follows: Raised by auxiliaries, $38,031 11; bequest account, $4,105 73; sale of work, $509 05; donation, $110; returned traveling expenses, $17; interest, $874; total, $44,813 19.

Yesterday afternoon more than 80 delegates responded to the roll call, and It is expected that upwards of 125 will arrive to take part in the later meetings of the conference.

A social hour was passed in Wesley

Hall at the close of the afternoon session, when the members of the local branch made more personal the general welcome that had already been extended to the visitors.

At the evening meeting, after prayer by Rev. Dr. Saunders, the report of the branch secretary, Mrs. Acheson, of Goderich, was read. The net receipts had amounted to $5,859 99, an increase of $36 29 over last year. The report of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Cunningham, showed that although the work was being pushed vigorously, the membership of the auxiliaries in this district is not making sufficiently rapid advances.

Mrs. Ross, of Montreal, who is presiad, gave a brief but encouraging ad-

Rev. Dr. Smith then introduced Rev. Dr. Kilborn, a missionary, who has lately returned from China, where he has been laboring for the past eight years. The reverend gentleman spoke of the interest that the women of Canada should take in the improvement of the conditions which surround their II-treated sisters in China. He strongly urged upon those present the necessity for sending more China. missionaries to that province where, 2,000 miles in the interior, there is not more than one European to 3.000,000 Chinese, working to overcome the superstition and ignorance and bigotry of the people.

An Overdraft No Bogey for Chairman Douglass.

He and Ald. Rumball Lock Horns-Contractor Howie's Account-City Hall Notes

The peace and harmony of the aldermanic family is disturbed. The chairman of the board of works, Ald. Douglass, insists on the payment of Cotton & Moire's account, for $156 for work on the breakwater, and the chairman of the finance committee, Ald. Rumball, refuses to sign the certificate, because the appropriation is overdrawn. "If you fellows pass accounts for which there is no money, I'll not sign for them," said Ald. Rumball, when he met Ald. Douglass in the city engineer's office yesterday.

"We'll have to get another chairman, then," Ald. Douglass replied blandly, and added that the council had passed the account. "Yes, but they didn't provide any money for it," Ald. Rumball retorted. Ald. Douglass was tired of hearing the "no money" cry. "One would think the city was bankrupt, to hear you he said. Ald. Rumball replied talk. that if he could prevent it there would not be on overdraft. They had no right to spend next year's money.

ROBERT M. BURNS, 180 Dundas Street.

Ald. Douglass cited precedents, had the misdeeds of the board of works for the present year thrown up to him by way of an answer. "Name an unnecessary expenditure," he said, after Ald. Rumball stated there had been several. "That gravel pit purchase is one," said Ald. Rumball. "That money would fix up your breakwater." Ald. Douglass admitted that it would fix up the breakwater and Ald. Rumball spoke pertinently about the vote-hunting instinct of some aldermen. "The purchase of the gravel pit meant no votes in Oo. 2 ward," said Ald. Douglass, in defense of himself. "It was not assessed high enough for a vote. "It should have been," said Ald. Rumball, "you paid $600 for it."

Ald. Rumball is determined not to sign the certificates for Cotton & Moir, Contractor Howie has prepared & statement of his alleged loss to date owing to the council's decision not to lay plank walks this year. It came before the council Monday night, and was referred to the board of works. the items are: Time and railway expenses, $160; yard rent, teaming and piling lumber, $130; loss on lumber sold, insurance and interest, $320; loss of time, $500; total, $1,100.

In connection with Mr. Howie's account, is an interesting letter from Mr. T. G. Brown, setting forth reasons why Mr. Howie should not be paid, and winding up with the threat that "If any money is illegally appropriated for this purpose a writ will be issued against every alderman who votes for it." Mr. Brown's letter states that had Mr. Howie been called upon to fulfill his contract he would have lost money, as lumber has since then increased in value.

Regarding the statement credited to Ald. Douglass, in the report of the council meeting Monday night, that the board of works had an overdraft in 1896 and 1897, Ald. Parnell, who was then chairman, says the amount spent by the board in those years over the estimate was furnished by the council out of other appropriations. There were no overdrafts.

MUST SETTLE IT FOR THEMSELVES

Hospital Trust: Wants to Keep Out of Doctors' Dispute-Partial Revision of Bylaws.

The board of hospital trustees met in Col. Lewis' office yesterday afternoon to consider the proposed bylaws for the government of the Victoria Hospital. One request made by the members of the medical faculty of the Western University was considered. Clause 1, chapter 8, was amended to provide that the house staff shall consist of two recent graduates of the Western University, who shall be appointed by the board on nomination of the medical faculty of the university. The real bone of contention between the doctors of the faculty and those outside the school, clause 1, chapter 4, was left in abeyance in the hope that the doctors would settle the difference themselves. The outside doctors ask that time for having charge of the work at the hospital be equally divided, and school doctors say they must have eight months. mayor strongly favored equal division. Under the laws of the Ontario Medical Council, he said, students were required to take only twoc ourses in clinics, of six or eight months each. not called on to arbitrate this ques-

Mr. Purdom thought the trust was tion, and, at his suggestion, the matter was left undecided. It desirable, he said, that the medical fraternity settle this question themselves, so that they would work in harmony for the best interests of the hospital.

Some minor changes were made in the proposed bylaws. The medical board was increased by two oculists and two obstetricians, and instead of one consulting and two visiting gynecologists there shall be three visiting gynecologists.

was proposed that doctors should be in practice ten years to qualify for membership on the medical board, and the time was reduced to five years. It was decided that the active staff should visit the hospital between the hours of 9 a.m. and 11 a.m., or 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Clause 2. chapter 4, was struck out, it being thought that a paid office for a pathologist would be created under it. The revision of the bylaws was not nearly completed. The members present were: Col. Lewis (chairman), Messrs. McCormick, Gilmour and Purdom, Q.C., Mayor Wilson and Dr. Balfour.
