Write to The Advertiser Telling of Young Man's Past Life.

HAD TO LEAVE SCHOOL

He Has Always Helped Mother, Who Is Very Poor-Attorney Engaged.

A communication has reached The Advertiser from parties in Missouri, bearing on the early life of Thomas Riley, the young American charged with murdering George Blackburn. It comes from persons interested in the plight of the young man, and states that Riley is the son of very poor people at Everton, a small town of about 600 persons, in the southwest part of Missouri. His father died some years ago, and later his mother married a poor man, who for a number of years has been section foreman, working out of the little town.

Had to Leave School.

The letter says that Riley has been a hard-working young fellow from the time he was able to shoulder a pick, after leaving school of necessity, and for several years he worked on the railroad, and his mother says that he has always helped to support the family, in which there are several younger children.

Riley is, of course, well known at Everton, and the news that he had killed someone came as a distinct shock to everyone there. If he ever had an altereation or difficulty in his life, none of the businessmen, nor, in fact, anyone else, knew of it. He had always been a favorite among those with whom he associated, according to the information received. Not a Drinking Man. Referring to Riley's habits, the letter says: "He was never known here as a drinking man, and, in fact, it is not known, except to a few of his very intimate friends, that he ever drinks anything, and the possibility of his being an intentional murderer is so incompatible with every idea and impression of his make-up, as entertained by those who have always known him, that it seems utterly impossible he is guilty to all of his friends." Riley is understood to have been & member of a lodge at Everton, which has interested itself in his behalf, and an attorney to act in co-operation with the counsel in London, has been en-

to attract discussion in the city. An officer of the crown was recently heard by an Advertiser reporter to say that there was no doubt that if Riley were released he would become a good citizen, but that the law has little to say for liquor in extenuation of

Wherever there are discussions of the case, the question arises, "Was it Tom Riley or John Barleycorn that killed George Blackburn?"

Whatever the character of the man in prison, there are few who contend that he would have committed the crime alleged had it not been for the fact that he had been drinking whiskey or other kind of liquor.

Whiskey a Partner. John Barleycorn was a partner in this crime, as he has been a partner in so many others. Yet John Barleycorn may lick his fangs with delight and stand in the wings of the sanguinary stage he has set, and th recognize him as an accessory, because he has no tangibility. They can't get HIM. Riley's defence will no doubt have to do with his condition at the time of the shooting. It is understood that he will be properly represented when his trial commences.

Riley has been worrying considerably in prison since his arrest. He is not able to sleep at nights frequently, and his hair is tinged with gray.

High Constable Gumb hopes shortly to be in possession of a souvenir of the old house, which will be of great interest to him. Seventy-five years ago, his grandfather, the late John Gumb, & blacksmith, famed as much for his physe ical size and strength as for the excellence of his work, was given the contract of "Ironing" the county jail. He made most of the locks, bolts and bars which, even to the present time, insure the safe-keeping of the prisoners.

The big door leading from the court house to the jail, is to be taken down in the course of the alterations, and Sheriff Cameron has issued instructions that the big iron latch is to be preserved and presented to the High Constable as souvenir. The latch is in as good repair today as it was 75 years ago, when was first installed.

Many relics of old days are comire to light as the alterations proceed, and among them Mr. Gumb hopes to discove an ancient set of scales, also made his grandfather, and which were use

Tomorrow

The display room has been thoroughly replenished, and scores are in the workroom ready to fill up. New models are now being copied, all with new points of difference, new ideas in the arrangement of trimmings, new things in trimmings themselves. The models illustrated show novel and new ways of posing. Fashionable black hats are here in great quantities, all of softnapped surface, chiefly of velvet, plush or velour. This entire new display will be arranged for easy selection, and no trimming effect, good color or mode tendency if refined and beautiful, is absent from this great collection.

Some of the New Millinery Is Fur Trimmed

Such a becoming fashion too. Fur lends a note of richness to the hat, and in the collection are models suggested by the best Paris artists. Bandings, edges, brims, made from monkey, skunk, fox, fitch and squirrel fur is even combined with roses and other flowers, a combination of summer and winter that is more than smart. Prices......$6.50 to $15.00

Hats With the Dash and Snap That Girls Like

The kind that other girls have, but with the refinement and lack of exaggeration that the careful mother approves. Most are in soft shapes that girls delight in pulling well down over the head. Some have the newest and most coveted little stick-ups; some will stand all sorts of wear and tear, and others are as dainty and as dressy as are shown for grown folks. See special displantations stopped her.

"Listen," said Miss Estrilla; "if that is my brother, say nothing to him. He is—prejudiced."

"Why, of course not!" replied Rosalie. "Mhy, of course not!" replied Rosalie.
"And don't you! I'm more anxious than you can be to keep this thing shut up. I'm the one that's got something to lose."
It was, in fact, Molly the maid, announcing the doctor. And that visit gave Rosalie excuse to withdraw.

Rosalie held that night another of her outdoor conferences with Inspector McGee

Gee.
"Well, I'm coming out with it," she announced. "I've got to tell somebody. Everybody confesses at least once, which a cop knows better than I do. I guess I've got your case started, Martin Mc-

"Then this fellow Wade—"
"You make me," said Rosalie, "you make me want to shut my mouth and never tell you any thing at all. Wade!
A cop can't keep two ideas in his mind at one and the same time, and morn'n a horse. Martin McGee, you listen and don't you say a word until I'm through?" don't you say a word until I'm through?
With a logical consecutiveness almost surprising in Rosalie, she started her case from the beginning. Tommy's North's clue of the diamond ring which Tommy North had dropped and which had set Rosalie on the trail, the discovery that the coverlet on Captain Hanska's bed had been wet with rain from the open been wet with rain from the open

But here Inspector McGee broke his tacit pledge and spoke.
"I explained that!" he said. "I told you they opened the windows to let in air you they opened the windows to let in air after they discovered the murder—when that Mrs. Moore fainted."
"Not remembering that it had stopped raining when the body was found—it had stopped when I came in," replied Rosalie. "Had it?" inquired the inspector.

Inspector McGeo received that dramatic information with a long whistle of amaze—

"That sick woman!" he said. "Gee, and | tended to say remained unsaid that even-I'd thought of examining her. But there didn't seem to be a chance on earth. I'd thought more about that brother of hers. But of course, he'd left the house before the quarreling stopped—while Captain Hanska was alive—and didn't return until after they found the body." He pondered a moment. "But that ain't real evidence—yet."

"You give me a chance," replied Rosalie. She pursued her narrative then, set-ting forth her discovery that Estrilla was an assumed name, and the discoveries of Detective Grimaldi about the history of the Perez family in Trinidad. She pro-ceeded then to the seances, and to Miss Estrilla's attempt at frightening her out

'An' say," added Rosalie, "if you don't think that minute or so was about the tightest squeeze I ever had, you miss a guess, that's all. Near broke me in two. I was so tuckered out holding on to my-self that I feel it yet. I had to pretend that my control had weakened me.

'Is that all?' asked McGee.
'Yes. Ain't it enough?" "Yes. Ain't it enough?"
"Weil, it's suspicious. But there's no real evidence. Nothing you can convict on. Just because one of her shoe buttons on. They were in a side street. A lamppost threw a shaft of light across the stoop of a vacant house. Rosalie sat herself down on the lowest step, braced the note book which McGee produced, and, note book which McGee produced, and, with many a purse of lip and brow, com-

"Drop everything and get full information on the late Miguel Perez, cocoa grower, of Port of Spain, and his family, especially Juan, his son, and a daughter, probably half-sister of Juan, name unknown. "Oh, I don't know," replied Rosalie;

The dig told.

"Well, I never asked you to," replied inspector McGee in some confusion.

"That's right," asknowledged Rosalie, but telling you about it once in a while keeps you in the right frame of mind."

"You" said Martin McGee, returning to "Now, who's smart?" crowed Rosalie, and she proceeded with the finding of the little red button on the fire escape, the discovery that Miss Estrilla had among her possessions a pair of red strapped shoes with a button missing, and the final fact "Don't say that!" exclaimed Rosalie.
"For God's sake, don't!" She had been walking elbow to elbow, leaning a little upon him. Now she drew away. And much more that Martin McGee had in-

The Final Test. Could we have sat with Rosalie Le Grange through thirty years of her "me-clumship," we would have found in all her assaults on the secrets of the human heart a certain sameness. Ifer approach to Senorita Perez—known so far in these pages as Miss Estrilla— differed in no essential from her approach to a thousand love-lorn shop girls, trou-bled mothers, perplexed businessmen, dur-ling her thirty years in her old trade. She simply refined her methods a little for Miss Estrilla, as she had always done for her "first-class customers."

its or lifting of an eyebrow, this was the most pertinent bit of evidence she had yet discovered. For those who had most to conceal, most to lose by the revelation of their souls to a blackmailer or a spy, were the very people who put such tests to her; and the harder the test, she had always found, the deeper and blacker the ultimate secret. Could we have followed Rosalie through

Could we have followed Rosalie through sill those years, we should have discovered another most illuminating fact—this one a light on that contradictory and complex character. It was her impatience, as time were on, with certain blasphemies on human affection which she had committed lightly during the period of her beginnings. It is a dreadful thing to barter with the yearnings of parents for departed children, of bereaved wives for the husband gone before—with man's deepest and highest—and all for the paltry fee of a discredited profession. In her early period, Rosalie had committed this sin of the heart lightly, without inner blemish. Then, as always in youth, her morals were the morals of environment. The thoughts of youth are not voices, but The thoughts of youth are not voices, but

When the time came for her to think on when the time came for her to think on hor own account, when, out of her in-finitely diverse characteristics, she began to form character, Rosalie Le Grange salved her conscience with the reflection salved her conscience with the reflection that she was, after all, doing these people good; that she never hunted, as others did, for big game; that she took only a egitimate fee, and gave in return consolation and good advice. That served her into her reflective forties, the period when we have walked over the summit of life, when in lonely dawns and wakeful midnights the thought of man's ultimate end pierces all our meditations on the future. Erench Government Will Pay Off Deficit and All Outstanding Treasury Bills.

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Nov. 4.—The French cabinet formally approved the budget for 1914, which is to be submitted to the Chamber when it reassembles, this of Deputies when it reassembles this afternoon. Although the budget bill does not fix the amount of the loan which will be necessary, it is affirmed unofficialby that at the earliest favorable oppor-tunity a loan is to be issued of $260,000, 000 to meet the deficit on the 1914 budgot, and to pay off outstanding treasury bills covering previous deficits.

The items of the budget show that the expenses of restoring order in Morocco during 1914 are estimated at (40,400,000. Increased military expenses on account of the introduction of three years' service in the army amount to $34,000,000, and non-recurring military expenditures to $31,400,000. Increases in other departments of the public service in 1914 are estimated at $30,400,000. These items and the overhanging deficit from 1913 together cause a deficit in the 1914 are estimated at $30,400,000. budget of $158,800,000, and to this amount has to be added that of previous deficits. Los Angeles, Nov. 5. — The poor health of Ortic E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, was the reason given yesterday by District Attorney John D. Fredericks for ordering what is believed to be the permanent release from the county jail of the untried co-worker of the McNamara brothers and chief witness against 33 labor union leaders who were sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth for complicity in a nation-wide dynamite conspiracy.

"McManigal has been in poor health for some time," Fredericks said today, "and he has been taken out of jail on the advice of a physician. He may be back in a few days, few weeks or a few months." Mr Fredericks would give no further information.

According to jail attendants, Mc Manigal's appetite and constantly increasing girth and weight indicated that his ill-health might have been due to over-eating. They said, however, that he had actually gone to a hospital, but it was to have a surgical operation performed to remove from his forehead a great scar by which he feared former associates might, rec-

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 5. THE NEW YORK ELECTIONS.

The rout of Tammany will renew the faith of the American people in democracy. Tammany has beaten before, and will live to fight another day, but it has been taught that there are limits to its power. It is a good omen for the republic that the East Side of New York, composed flag-waving, he could easily have done mainly of people of alien blood, new to American institutions and peculiarly the prey of an organization like Tammany, can recognize the moral appeal. The defeated candidate for other social functions of a non-politmayor was personally respectable, but ical character, which forbids a speaker the electors looked through and be- discussing sectarian and partisan yound him to the plundering crew which questions unless expressly invited to used him as a cloak.

The mayor-elect, John Mitchell, himself a Democrat like his opponent, was the nominee of the fusion forces, a combination of Republicans, Progressives and anti-Tammany Democrats. While his election was conceded, it was feared that his two principal running mates. McAneny and for a clergyman to say what he may Prendergast, candidates for the presidency of the board of aldermen and as it would be for a Liberal statesman city controllership, respectively, would be defeated by the opposition of William Randolph Hearst. They have been elected, though a long way behead of the ticket, the attorney who figpolice prosecutions arising out of the Rosenthal case, was indorsed by all the parties, including Tammany, and had a walkover. Almost equally satisfactory was the sweep the fusionists made of the board of estimates, which largely directs and controls the civic expenditures. Tammany has only one survivor on this body.

Ex-Governor Sulzer's candidature for the State Assembly injected much excitoment and bitterness into the municipal campaign, and his attacks upon Tammany contributed to the fusionist victory. On his record as a Wall street gambler, using election funds to cover his losses and then lying to the public, he should have gone into penitent retirement, but as a victim of Tammany's vengeance he rode back into the assembly on a wave of public sympathy. There is a sort of perverted justice in his victory, though it reflects no credit on the Progressive party, which nominated him. The Progressives party claims to set a higher moral standard than its rivals.

On the whole, the electors of New York did a splendid day's work for the cause of good citizenship, and did much to wipe out the stain on the name of the metropolis.

THE CHINESE CRISIS.

A crisis seems to have been reached in the politics of the new China, President Yuan Shi Kai's action in expelling a whole party, over 300 members, from Parliament, the martial law in operation at Pekin, and the numerous executions going on, are serious developments.

Is Yuan Shi Kai a genuine constitutionalist, forced by chaotic conditions temporarily to use arbitrary measures is he a Cromwell or Napoleon aiming at personal rule, though along quasidemocratic lines, a Diaz turning a re-Railway Company knows what the public virtually into a corrupt despot-Grand Trunk will do in relation to the ism, or, as Sun Yat Sen thinks, an London and Port Stanley Railway. out-and-out reactionist seeking to re-Better "wait and see," in Mr. Asquith's store the oriental throne, with himself as the founder of a new dynasty? At this distance, it is hard to tell, and perhaps the keenest-sighted in Pekin itself may be unable to say. But whatever Yuan's intentions may be, if he is even clear about them himself, China certainly is in a distracted state politically, needs some degree of strong control ,and the President is acting along pretty much the same lines as Huerta in Mexico. Both dictators have turned members out wholesale from parliament, both shrink in no way from bloodshed, both are unscrupulous. If Japan had Monroe doctrine rights in China, the parallel would out farther still between the Mexican and Chinese imbroglios. Yuan Shi Kai has the advantage, however, of having crushed his domestic opponer $3 , for the time at least.

Organization of About Fifty Members Is Now Being Organized.

The local Italian colony will burst forth into melody with a real band all its own shortly. At the present time an Italian band made up solely of Italian players is being organized in London, and already the organizers are meeting with great success. Prof. Venuta, an Italian musician, is heading the organization and he is receiving assistance from Messrs. Tony Vita and Joe Cortese, leaders of the local Italian orchestras. Prof. Venuta has only been in London a couple of weeks, having been brought over from Italy for the express purpose of forming an Italian band in this city. The band will be a large one, and will be composed of from thirty to fifty members. The movement is be-

Whitney Govt. Policy of Inertia

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Nov. 5.-It is interesting to ote in connection with the Peel byelection the line of attack taken by the Liberals. That its results in Brampton, where the chief struggle occurred, were successful, is proved by the decisive change of that town from the Conservative to the Liberal col-

In the first place the Rowell program of social legislation was preached day and night. A few of the planks discussed were the following:

Rural Life-Improvements and increased privileges and attractions in country life to stop the course of rural depopulation, and to foster the movement "Back to the Land."

Education - The infusing of ner vitality into our educational system to develop the best in our children. A Fair Adjustment,

Tax Reform-A fairer adjustment of the burden of taxation not to penalize thrift and improvements. Temperance Reform - The abolition of the bar and clubs, and the curtail-losses arising from injuries sustained in the course of work from any cause whatsoever. Factory Laws-An adequate and just factory law, designed to meet modern conditions, and to protect the interests of working men and working women Child Labor-The abolition of child labor and the guarantee to every child of the opportunity for health and education. Housing Reform - The substitution of respectable and sanitary dwellings for dilapidated, over-crowded and unhealthy houses.

Differs From Inertia.

Another very effective line of argument used by the Liberals was that ing from inertia, and that it was to the interests of Conservatives, as well as of Liberals, to show by their vote for the Liberal candidate that they were opposed to this lack of initiative on the part of the Government, and demanded that they should move more energetically.

For example, a few questions were asked the electors as follows: Do you want to see the Departmen of Agriculture in Ontario efficient? If so, vote for Milner (the Liberal candidate), and thus tell the Whitney Government what you want. Do you want tax reform? Vote for

A harmless home remedy, compounded principally from the powerful juice of the Pernambuco shrub of Peru, has been found highly effective in promptly checking the falling of hair from the scalp. Men and women whose hair is growing alarmingly thin and falling out badly every day should try it without fall, as the ingredients are perfectly harmless and very inexpensive, and the whole thing can be prepared at home or by any druggist.

After three or four days use in this way you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease, and in about ten days you will find your scalp covered with a thick growth of the downy, new hairs, which will with amazing rapidity.

UPPOSE you put a piece of cardboard in window reading something like "Boarders Wanted," or "Rooms for Rent," cr "For Sale or Rent," or "Good Table Board."

II How many people see that sign?

¶ Just as many people as happen to be passing that way and who glance toward your window.

Now, put a little Want Ad. in the classified columns of this paper-under the head, say, of "Boarders Wanted," or "Rooms for Rent," or some classification that best suits the accommodation you wish to offer.

I How many people see that ad.?

Thousands!. People who are looking for it. People who want the accommodations you offer.

Classified advertising is concentrated advertising. It goes straight to the people you want to reach. The people you want to reach go straight to it.

The proof of advertising's power is in its results. The Want Ad. columns are result-producers. Try them, and you will discover for yourself the truth of this statement.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. henever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair, and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant. For sale by W. T. Strong, London,

For the first time since the Republicans came into power as a party in this state their nominee for governor was forced into the third position, Mr. Bird leading Congressman Gardner by 10,363 votes. The Progressive gains in membership in the Legislature also give them a strategic position in both House and Senate.

Another point of interest was the small vote given Governor Foss. Mr. Foss, once a Republican and three times elected chief executive as a Democrat, entered the contest very. late in the campaign as an independ-

London, Nov. 5 .- Lord Chancellor University College upon "Legal and Political Unity of the Empire," made some interesting remarks. The establishing of a judicial committee of the privy council as a movable imperial court recently had caused him to give a great deal of thought to this subject. And the other day, when in Canada, he was struck with the feeling among those best competent to give an authoritative opinion that if any change took place they did not want to appeal to some new court outside the dominions A Hard Problem.

It was easy to talk about an imperial court of appeal, but it was not easy to define it in a way which did not invade the just claim of the dominions across the seas to be selfcontained. Both parties agree that the existing Second Chamber must be reformed in a fashion that will make it impossible for it to be the supreme appellate court for England and Scotland and Ireland, and that when that comes we shall have to find a new appellate court. I have an impression that this great link of Empire will further develop, and that all appeals, whether from countries form-

WAS TROUBLED WITH CARBUNCLES.

There is no more frequent source of illness than that arising from bad blood, for when the blood becomes impure, it is only natural that boils, pimples or some other indication of bad blood should break out of the system.

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still at the same time are very painful, and the only way to get rid of them is to cleanse the blood of the impurities. Cleanse it thoroughly by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, that old and reliable blood medicine that has been on the market for nearly forty

Mr. James Wilds, Plaster Rock, N.B., writes:—"I was greatly troubled, a few years ago, with boils and carbuncles, and the doctor told me I was in a bad condition. My appetite failed me, I began to lose strength, and was pretty well run down when one of my friends recommended Burdock Blood Bitters. After using three bottles I began to feel like another man. My troubles soon left me, and to-day I can certainly give Burdock Blood Bitters a high recommendation to my friends.'

Lyons Brook, N. S. - "I suffered with eczema for three years. It started on my hands first in sores between my fingers and all over the palms of my hand and fingers were big cracks. Then it broke out on my head in scales. It itched and burned so badly I could not sleep. It was so itching and burning that I scratched and made sores and my hair came out awfully bad. I did not

The playgrounds supervision question was one that was broached by the re-commendation of Inspector C. B. Edwards. In his report was incorporated the following: "In the playgrounds where apparatus has been erected, some provision should be made for supervision by the teachers after school hours if ac-cidents are to be prevented."

SUCH A SADNESS! $250,000 DREDGE SALARY IS REDUCED

This Is Expected to Make the Hauled Up on Rocks and Ma-Office Not So Desirable For Some-

When the board of control bylaw is ubmitted to the council it is declared that the salary of controllers will be placed at $500 a year. The object of the sponsors of the board of control idea is to place the figure too low, so that it would mean a "salary" for the controller, and yet high enough to afford some compensation for the oss of time and consequent neglect of business that would be necessary to give the proper attention to the city's

The fact that the salary will be as ow as $500 may make a considerable difference in the field of aspirants who will make a try for controllership. It is expected that the control candidates will actually outnumber the aldermanic ones.

Openings For "Aldermen." London will have practically a new aldermanic board next year. The alder-men who are sure of election will likely enter the fight for controllers, leaving their seats in the council open "new blood."

While to a certain extent, "new blood" will be seen inn both aldermanic and controller fields, some of the old-time aldermen of London will be again in the field. The list of probable candidates for board of control includes a number of these, such as ex-Ald. Neil Cooper, Joshua Garrett, W. A. Wilson, W. G. Coles, J. A. Tancock, ex-Mayor J. H. A. Beattie and others This year's council representatives inn the would-be controllers' class will likely be Ald. J. P. Moore, Ald. B. W. Bennett, G. E. Rose, and possibly Ald

E. H. Johnston. May Be Commissioner. Ald. William Spittal, if nominated for the Port Stanley Railway Commission, will seek only aldermanic honors, it is said, but if he is left off the board he will be an aspirant for one of the four places on the board of control. This leaves only seven of the present council left. Of this seven, Richter, Robinson and Glass will drop out. Ald. H. Ashplant may not be a seeker after municipal office again, leaving only Ald. J. H. Saunders, J.

ARE PUPILS IGNORANT OF BIBLE QUESTIONS?

CLEVER CAPTURE | Shocking Lack of Knowledge Said To Be Revealed By

Federation Papers. According to several ministers of the city, the recent distribution of question blanks prepared by the Men's Federation of London to the scholars of several public schools has disclosed anything but satisfactory results.

Although, it is alleged, questions are such that they should be easily answered, the majority of the pupils tested have exhibited a shocking ignorance of questions of Bible interest. Upon the examination of the returned forms, question after question was found to be unanswered or to have a vague and unintelligent solution appended. It has often been contended that the average school child is indifferent to matters of this nature, and the results, as obtained in the schools already visited, apparently show that the assumption is partially correct, at least

HUSBAND IS

To Return to City, Where She Has Many Friends. Mrs. Sibyl Sammis Macdermid, the

talented dramatic soprano, who is to sing at the London Symphony Orchestra concert, at the Grand on Thursday, arrived in London at noon today. Mrs. Macdermid, whose husband, Mr. James G. Macdermid, is a former Londoner, has delighted London audiences on previous occasions, the latest being last spring, when she appeared with Mr. Macdermid at a concert in the Auditorium. She expressed quite evident pleasure at returning once more to London, where her high musical abilities have won her many friends and admirers.

To her belongs the enviable distinction of having made her debut, with Francgon-Davies, and to have sung with him in "Elijah." Francgon-Davies of the late Samuel Rosenthal, by Rab-bi Kapplin, of Rochester; Rabbi Philip, 'Elijah" of his time.

In the last several days Mrs. Macdermid has sung under the auspices uary Mrs. Macdermid with her husband will commence a tour of the Pacific coast, singing at symphony orchestral and other concerts in Seattle.

San Francisco and Los Angeles, and also shortly in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Macdermid is gifted with a remarkably pleasing personality and a delightful charm of voice and manner. She has been carefully training during the summer months, and her voice is in fine form. She should delight her many friends and acquaintances for their kind sympathy in their sad bereavement.

In the respect of the community in file entitles them to especial honor in death. For renerations, the late Mr. Rosenthal's forefathers have been distinguished as writers and translators of the Hebrew scriptures.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Loughrey and family, of 312 Hyman street, wish to thank their many friends and acquaintances for their kind sympathy in their sad bereavement.

WAS WRECKED BY GROSS BUNGLING

chinery Then Broke Its Back.

$500 IS TO BE THE FIGURE PURE MISMANAGEMENT

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Nov. 5.-It is learned that the Government dredge Port Nelson, recently reported lost in James Bay, was destroved through lack of foresignt, and the damage can be put down as another Many Changes Are Likely To Be incident in the general mismanagement which has characterized the Government's handling of the Hudson Bay route development. The Government denied a previous report of the loss, but it is believed to be now confirmed Hauled on Beach.

It seems that those in charge of the work at Port Nelson had the dredge hauled up on the beach at a high tide that the valuable piece of apparatus might be placed beyond the chance of damage by ice. The plan was to let the dredge down on the soft mud and take it off in the spring.

Broke Its Back. Unfortunately, those who had charge of the work failed to pick out a spot that was all soft. The dredge was hauled out at high tide. When the tide fell it was found that the dredge had been placed directly upon a big rock. The result was that the weight of the machinery and hull broke the back of the dredge.

A Great Setback. The result of this piece of mismanage ment is that a plece of apparatus, which cost a quarter of a million dollars, lies on the shore of Hudson Bay twisted out of shape and probably a total loss. The disaster will be a serious setback to the work of making Port Nelson a place where shipping can be handled.

HIGH CONSTABLE HAS CONFERENCE OF FORCE

Duty of Men Who Guard Country.

For the first time in the history of the county of Middlesex, the county constabulary gathered in covention at the county buildings this afternoon. The gathering was attended by all the members of the force who could be spared from duty. The idea originated with the high constable, Mr. James Gumb, who thought that the force would benefit from such a gathering, by having a chance to meet one another and talk over different phases of their duty in preserving the peace of the county. Many interesting discussions took place. Constable Gumb presided, and in his opening remarks explained his reasons for calling the convention "I hope to make this the inauguration of an annual event," said Mr. Gumb. "Men in many other professions hold annual conventions to discuss their work, and I know of no law which says that the police of the county cannot hold similar meetings. think it will be of benefit to us in bettering the organization of the force and getting acquainted with each

He then outlined to the constables his policy for governing the force in the coming year. His experience as a constable had taught him three rules, which he always adhered to, viz.: how, when and why to speak to a man whom he saw going wrong. He urged the men to go about their duties in a spirit of compassion, not to expose a man where it was not necessary, but rather to try and soften his heart by considerate dealing, "Peace, where peace will fit," was his advice.
