Dickinson, the New York banker, who had come here to witness the operation, and who, before he died, according to Dr. Lange, pledged all of the financial aid necessary. It was Dick-inson's death which attracted attention to the Scranton laboratory

"My discovery is one which upsets all scientific theories," says Dr. Lange in the statement which was made public today. "I have developed a process sought for ages which will revolutionize the world. In short, I have discovered a means of increasing an atom of silver by the introduction of base metals to 100 times its size and weight-the result being still pure silver of equal, if not greater fineness. A Wonderful Secret.

"For four years I carried the secret. It was so great and so wonderful that did not dare to believe it myself. Night and day for years I demonstrated over and over in my laboratory the wonderful process. I spent thousands of dollars in equipment. I have taken base metals of four different kinds and transmuted them into silver of the utmost purity-and the product passed successfully the sharpest scrutiny of the best assayers and analysts in the country. I even sent specimens of the transmuted metals to got the first payment for it and had the United States mint, and the report came back that the substance

Ottawa, May 25. - A courteous reopening up of tariff negotiations between Canada and the United States barriers between the two countries While expressing willingness to enter ditions, which should prove mutually advantageous to both countries, the owing to the engagements of the Prime Minister, Hon. Mr. Fielding and other members of the cabinet, who are absent from Ottawa during the will be little opportunity for the Government here to take up the question It is, therefore, September next. sugested that the matter be left in abeyance until then. Meanwhile it is believed that the present gathering movement in the United States, looking to a lowering entering into the cost of living to the general public, will operate to the advantage of Canada in any future tariff bargaining. Meanwhile also it is probable that reciprocal trade arrangements will be made by Canada with Belgium and Italy. Negotiations to this end are now under way, in accordance with Salt Lake Valley at 12:08 this morning. These two countries are in practically the same class as France with regard to Canadian trade. By the onclusion of the treaty with France last session the way is clear to negotiate similar favored-nation terms of Belgium and Italy on the Canadian favored-nation list in return for the granting by them of the lowest tariff rates on Canadian products are now in progress through the medium of eral at Montreal. Any tariff reduc-

THE FUTURE OF SANDRINGHAM HOUSE

London, May 24.-Now that King Edward is no more it is highly probtions that may ensue as a result of able that Sandringham House will fade out of the public notice as a royal residence almost as completely as did Osborne House, in the Isle of Wight, sumer on goods not now competing Sandringham House and estate, it may be recalled, were the personal property of the late King. The place s not a state residence. In court circles it is an open secret that the new Queen is not very fond of Sandringham, and since Marlborough House became available for her as a residence she has not spent a great deal of time in Norfolk. For one thing York Cottage, which is the present King's residence on the state, is not a really commodious nouse, and it is hinted that Queen Mary's dislike of Sandringham had its origin in this lack of accommodation as their family grew, and was accentuated by the fact that York Cottage has no separate grounds. Sandingham will, in future, be associated most closely, it is thought, with the Queen-Mother, who will probably go nto retirement there.

The lands to be colonized in the Nechaco Valley lie in the vicinity of the projected line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad, and extend from the vicinity of Fort George to a point sixty miles west. It is the intention of the colonization company to commence operations on three demonstration farms this year in order to be able to show prospective farmers what the valley will be able to do by the time the metals of the G. THE CHURCH AND SOCIETY.

The Labor leaders of Great Britain are making what they call a "religious appeal" to South London workers. Said Mr. Keir Hardie in a speech at Walworth the other evening:

"Most of us who have come to the front in the Labor movement evolv- some other town. ed into that movement through the temperance and religious world. It is a frequent charge against the Labor movement, especially against the Socialist side of it, that the acceptance of Socialism leads to antagonism towards Christianity. My experience of the Labor movement is second to that of no man alive in England today, and it justifies me in saying that for every Labor man who has left the church because of antagonism to its forms of belief ten have been driven out of it by the unsympathetic attitude of the church itself. There is not and canbe any antagonism between Christianity and the Labor movement. The impetus which drove me first of all into the Labor movement and the inspiration which has carried me on in it have been derived The best he had to give he gave. more from the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth than from all other sources combined. The old antagonism of the church to the Labor movement is now, happily, giving way to a more sympathetic attitude. Some of us who have practically deserted the religious platform have not done so because our faith and religion have grown less but because the church thought fit to specialize on what it most unfairly called the spiritual side of Christianity, and it became necessary for some of us to concentrate upon the human side, if only to keep the balance even.'

Mr. Hardie's distinction between the human and the spiritual side of Christianity is one that many theologians will not concede. They contend that it is not the office of the church or the preacher to sanction any particular social propaganda or theory of government. Religion, they say, stands apart from all such things. It is related only to the spiritual nature of man. It seeks only his salvation. It is addressed to the individual conscience, to the isolated human soul, and has And bid the German Kaiser "pros't"? nothing to do with mankind in his social and political aspects. It teaches and inculcates certain principles. It Among the great by helping hand is the duty of each person to govern his life by them. If he accepts them. and acts upon them, he may be clothed in rags, but he has something The path is plain if he pursue it; richer than all the world. If all men acted upon them, the problems that now vex society would dissolve. This life is merely a preparation for the life to come; therefore a religion that concerns itself with making this life more comfortable is a religion for this world opinions.

and not the next. This is the view of many sincere men in all churches; and they are not to redress social wrongs; to declare its sympathy with every cause for the otion of the material well-being of the poor and needy; to consider man as a social being, and touch his life and the life of the community at every point. Nothing, they maintain, is outside the interest of the church. It must adapt itself to the spirit and tendencies of the age, and to the new problems created by the play of new ideas and new forces. Christianity must identify itself with movements for the bettering of the lot of mankind in this world, as well as having regard to the next.

These two positions are very far apart. It can scarcely be doubted, however, that the churches, or rather some churches, are placing a growing emphasis on the social side of their work, and that religious endeavor is flowing more and more in philanthropic channels.

TREATY-MAKING POWER MEANS INDEPENDENCE

Lord Ripon in 1895 Said All Over Seas Dominions Must Negotiate Through Home Office.

London, May 26.-A parliamentary white paper has been issued on the question of colonial and treaty-making powers, containing correspondence between the British Government and those of the oversea states. Lord Ripon, in 1895, in connection with native city, Chicago. His identificaspeeches made at a conference on the tion in England, where he was arresttrade relations of the Empire at Ottawa, sent a circular dispatch to the Governments of the different dominions, laying down the principles that a foreign power can only be approached through the British representative at court of that power, that to give the colonies the power of negotiating the treaties for themselves without reference to his majesy's Government would be to give them international status as separate, sov reign states, and would be equivalent to breaking up the empire, but it would be desirable generally that the British ambassador who was conducting negotiations should have the assistance of a delegate of the colonial Government to act as second plenipotentiary or in a subordinate capacity.

The French Treaty. On July 4, 1907, Sir Edward Grey, nforming the British ambassador at Paris of the desire of the Canadian Fovernment to open negotiations with he French Government for new commercial conventions, recalled the dispatch of Lord Ripon, and said: "I do not, however, think it necessary to adere in the present case to the strict letter of this regulation, the object whereof was to secure that negotiations should not be entered into or carried through by a colony unknown to and independently of his majesty's Government. The selection of the negotiator is principally a matter of convenience. In the present circumstances it would obviously be more practical that negotiations should be left to Premier Laurier and the Canadian Minister of Finance, who will doubtless keep you informed of their Power to Alter Text. "If the negotiations are brought to conclusion in Paris you should sign the agreement jointly with the Canadian negotiator who will be given full powers for the purpose." Destroyed by Flames. [G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Preston, Ont., May 26.-The lisastrous fire Preston has witnessed for years occurred this morning at 3:30 when the large machine shop of John Ballantine & Co. was discovered in flames. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it originated near the poiler room, and had made considerable headway before the fire reels arrived. Four streams of water were played upon it, and after a hard fight the front half of the shop was sayed. The back part, however, was burned to the ground, and the pattern rooms, with all the company's patterns, were totally destroyed, which will put the firm to great inconvenience.

For a time there was great fear for the Metal Shingle and Siding Company's buildings, but on account of being covered with galvanized iron worth. As they made their way The faith. This statement made by Eugene Ballantine loss will be heavy, but is the home of the great educational in-

> > Saw Comet Before,

Among the spectators was Mr. B. A the comet, having observed it in 1836, and he reports that it has changed but little in the three-quarters of a century since it last paid a visit to the earth. At that time he was a lad of 10 years of age, living in England, The advent of the comet created much excitement, as it does today, and he remembers distinctly being taken by his parents to view the unusual sight. Few men in the city have this honor, and there will be few now alive who will see it when Mr. Halley's visitor again comes round this way. As a spectacle the comet has been and quite pretty sight, but the press agents have overdone the attraction. See It Tonight! It will be visible again this evening, if the sky is clear in practically the same position, A joke was played by a policeman the other evening. A lighted balloon was sent up in the northern part of the city, and soon drifted far away to the southeast. He stood looking at it through the narrow winding streets to and when a young lady inquired what it was, he declared that Halley's comet had arrived. MINER'S TRAGIC DEATH

treme is the story of the death of Patrick McCarthy, a miner, which occurred in a pit shaft at Woodlesford. near Normanton.

McCarthy was one of six men who were constructing a new shaft, which is one of four being sunk by Messrs. Briggs, Son & Co., Limited, for the opening out of new collieries. The shaft had been sunk to a depth of mit to the cross-examination which 110 feet, when one side collapsed, and the men, who were working on some scaffolding, 80 feet from the surface, were hurled to the pit bottom. All the men, except McCarthy, were killed immediately. McCarthy, who was pinned above the knees by fallen timber from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, bore his excruciating agony bravely, although piteously appealing for help. Several doctors descended the shaft at great risk, with the idea of amou-tating one of his legs and pulling him out. This was found impossible, however, and they had to leave him. Water began to rise in the shaft, and though the rescue party worked with furious energy, it became clear that McCarthy must be drowned, he did not die of his injuries. He was supplied with water and stimulants, but finally lapsed into delirium. Father Wright, of Hunslet, a Roman Catholic priest, who had been on the scene some hours, implored permission to descend and administer the last rites of his church to the imprisoned man. and Richmond Streets Meets With Favor.

The cost of repairing the asphalt pavement on Richmond and Dundas streets has always been large, and the money expended has been wasted. For the past five years approximately $2,500 a year has been spent on these streets, and no value for money has been apparent. In 1907 the city expended $2,667 25 on repairs. In 1909 the city paid out $2,293 45. The other years were quite as expensive as these, showing quite plainly that the city has paid out a great deal of money for little value. proposal to resurface the streets is meeting with much favor, especially among the businessmen.

There is a great need for repairs this spring. If the city had not decided to resurface, the bill would be little less than $3,000 this year. Next spring that sum and more would be required to make the streets passable.

WIELDERS OF POWER

Herr Rudolph Martin's Recently Published Volume Is Disappointing.

London, May 25. - Herr Rudolf Martin, a former German Government councillor, has just published in Berlin an elaborate volume entitled "Deutsche Machthaber" (German Wielders of Power), which has not created the sensation the author expected. His attempt to reopen the acrimonious discussion as to who really was to blame for the crisis which followed the Daily Telegraph interview in 1908, the Emperor or Prince Von Buelow, has failed. The newspapers of all factions agree that the affair is a dead issue and that no good end can be served by opening i up afresh. Under the guise of a series of intimate character sketches of the men behind the throne, Herr Martin's work it is asserted, is little else than a re hash of gossip intended to pillory Buelow for the "perfidious manner" in which the former chancellor "betrayed" his imperial master in the Kaiser paratively scarce as yet. Eighteen cents was the figure asked for the few boxes sold. The growers are rather dubious as to the prospects of a good crop. This year's crop is three week's late, and many of the early berries have been frostbitten. A frost is looked for tonight, and if it should materialize still more serious damage will be done. The berries offered this morning were of fairly good quality, but covered with sand from the recent rains. The late varieties are in much better shape but are not very plentiful. CERTIFIED MILK SUPPLY FOR LONDONERS

Physicians Will Meet Board of Health in Regard to Matter,

A special meeting of the board of health will be held on Friday evening to meet a deputation from the physicians of the city to discuss the milk problem.

Some time ago a deputation from the Medical Association and the board of health went to Toronto to inspect several dairies in that city. The purpose was to obtain information regarding a certified milk supply any supply meeting with known as certified milk, and will demand a high price.

The Milk Question.

"The milk question has become a live question of late," said Mr. John Graham, chairman of the board of for the past three weeks for repairs, "There are a large number of pay a good price for milk that is absolutely pure. In other cities, regulations have been set out regarding the entire edifice has been beautifully carcare of the dairy, the stables, dis- peted. tribution of milk, etc., and any dairy or herd conforming to that standard has been given the right to have their milk classed as certified. A milk commission, generally formed from among the physicians on Friday evening and something will come out of it. looks like a good thing, and has work- for. ed well in other cities. We want to Aeal intelligently with the question. and a report on the recent visit of Dr. Williams, Dr. Tamblin and Dr. Hutchinson to Toronto will be made."

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

All Arrangements Have Been Com pleted for the Big Event.

A school entertainment given by the pupils of the public schools of the city will be held in the Princess Rink on Saturday afternoon and Monday evening.

A chorus of 400 voices, under the direction of Mr. E. Goethe Quantz, musical director of the public schools, will furnish the music, and those who have been privileged to hear the rehearsals declare that the choruses are of an exceptionally high order. There will also be drill exercises by the boys, and the Maypole dances by the kindergarten. "This is the first entertainment of the kind we have had in many years," said Inspector Edwards. "It is going to be a great success, and I expect a very large attendance."

Oueries Answered.

FOR QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

"Mary Is a Grand Old Name" and Is the King Pin of Society Now.

The flag on the city hall and the lags on all the Government buildings are today flying in honor of the pirthday of Queen Mary. She was born on May 26, 1867, at Kensington Palace, and is as a result now 43 years of age. Orders came from the Government to fly all flags in her honor, and the orders have been carried out well. Mayor Beattie, before he left for To-ronto to spend the holiday, gave or-ders that the flag was to fly on the city hall on Queen Mary's birthday, and it was hoisted early this morning.

King George's birthday is June 3, a trifle over a week away. There will be agreement to carry out the sale of a no demonstration on that day, but all the flags will fly at the masthead.

REIMS AMBITIOUS Will Attempt To Duplicate Last Year's Aviation Meet.

London, May 26.—Reims, whose aviation meeting last year marked an epoch in the progress of flying, could do. Now they have to be tempt-ed by large prizes. Reims has accordingly drawn up a programme which it hopes will attract the best of the airmen to its hospitable city.

One new attraction will be that the grand prix, awarded last year to the grand prix, awarded last year to the aviator who covered the greatest distance in the air, will this year be awarded to the aeroplane constructor whose machine or machines to the number of three fly the longest distance during the meeting. The prize will be $10,000 and a silver challenge

HINDPAUGH'S CIRCUS WAS A BIG SUCCESS

findpaugh's circus has come. The big burlesque was put on in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night, ushered in by brass bands and usual big street parade. It was a first-class imitation of the "real thing," and reflects great credit upon the man responsible for its success, Mr. Sovereign, the physical director. The street parade was not by any means the most important feature of the circus and attracted immense crowds along the line of march Both sides of Dundas street were crowded to see the long line of automobiles, brass bands, caged animals, chariots, cowboys, equestriennes and all the features which go to make up a real

MOVEMENT GROWS General Baden-Powell Will Extend

Organization to Canada. London, May 24. - Major-General Baden Powell has retired from the army on half-pay to devote himself to the boy scout movement, which has outgrown all expectations and is now becoming one of the most extensive and popular organizations in the country. General Baden Powell says: "For the present I intend to devote myself to putting the boy scouts' organization upon a surer foundation by decentralizing it and by giving powers to county organizations. We now have 300,000 members, and I intend to perfect a scheme by which boy scouts will find work in London and scoutmasters may be able to improve their positions. In fact, it will be plain that boys will have everything to gain and nothing to lose by

"On July 1 I a going to Canada to promote the movement there, and afterwards to South Africa. I am convinced the boy scouts can be made a valuable asset to the empire in case

It is recognized throughout the country that the movement is a most salutary one for boys, giving them exercise in the fresh air under discipline and an intelligent occupation which produces marked improvement in their morals.

TEST OF CIVILIZATION.

A man of figures once declared that three statistical facts reveal the civilized status of a nation. First, the quantity of sugar consumed per capita by its people; next, the amount of soap
