

BYRON TELEPHONE COMPANY DESIRES TO INCREASE RATES

Railway Board Hears Application Then Adjourns To Unfixed Date.

The Ontario Municipal and Railway Board, presided over by A. R. Ingram, held a brief session at the courthouse yesterday to hear the application of the Byron Telephone Company to increase its rates.

Following the evidence of J. H. Matthews, secretary-treasurer of the company, the board adjourned its session to an unfixed date, and asked to have the statement of an accountant supplied in the meantime. J. B. McKillop appeared as counsel for the company.

CONVICT PRESENT AT BIGGAR INVESTIGATION

(Special to The Advertiser.) KINGSTON, Oct. 28.—A matter which has received adverse comment was the presence of a convict last Tuesday at the investigation conducted in the penitentiary by Col. Biggar, Government counsel. It is declared that this convict was permitted to listen to all the evidence given by the guards and that he also used the telephone. The guards are said to be of the opinion that a convict is a rather strange person to take into the confidence of those in authority.

Require Stamp For Luxury Tax After Monday

New Government Regulations Demand Special Stamp On November 1.

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Application for licenses as required by the new regulations under which the luxury taxes will be collected, are being received in great numbers by the district inland revenue offices, and it is expected that there will be few merchants without their licenses when they open their stores for trading on the morning of November 1. On that date the new regulations will be in force, and merchants, on selling any article on which the luxury tax is to be collected, must attach to the wrapper sufficient stamps to cover the tax. These stamps must be perforated in a special machine, which is being supplied by the department of customs and inland revenue. Special stamps for the purpose have been forwarded to all banks and inland revenue offices, and it is expected that the collector of customs in each district will have on hand sufficient of the perforating machines to supply every merchant in his district. No charge is made for the use of the perforating machine, but all merchants must secure a license, the fee for which is $2. On and after Monday, November 1, all merchants will be required to carry a sufficient supply of stamps, and use these for the collection of luxury tax on articles sold by them. Penalties are provided for those who fail to observe the new regulations by trading without a license, and without using the luxury tax stamp on and after November 1.

LIBERALISM RESTS ITS CASE ON THE AGE OLD GOLDEN RULE

Declared W. G. Charlton in Address At Mount Salem Last Night.

MOUNT SALEM, Oct. 28.—An enthusiastic audience welcomed W. G. Charlton, Liberal candidate in the East Elgin by-election, here tonight and listened with interest to his disclosures of the trickery practiced by the Melghen Government in the operations of the Canada Food Board, especially in regard to the monopolizing of the cheese markets and the reason for the condensed milk factories closing their doors. The speaker reiterated his contention at other meetings that "Liberalism is not partyism, but a great abounding universal truth. The central idea and basis of that truth is the liberty of the individual within the possibilities of the state. This makes equal all citizens so far as duties and privileges and opportunities are concerned. It defines clearly the question of human rights. It rests its case in that regard upon the age-old golden rule, which vouchsafes the law of equal rights to all humanity."

He also flayed the Melghen Government for putting the luxury tax into force, when it did not penalize the rich, but did penalize the poor. "It does not tax the luxuries of life, but the necessities," he said.

He gave an instance of the unfairness of the tax, by stating that he purchased a hat which was priced high enough to be included in the luxury tax, and was not only forced to pay tax on the amount included in the tax, but on the full purchase price. Mr. Charlton again offered the platform to any other candidates, but his challenge went unaccepted. The audience was much enthused with his address, and he was personally congratulated by as many as could get close enough to shake hands with him.

PAID FINE INSTEAD. KINGSTON, Oct. 28.—Jas. McEwen was sentenced to jail for three months when he refused to tell who sold him liquor. A doctor testified that McEwen was in delicate health and magistrate Farrell, after he had spent a couple of days in jail, gave him the option of a fine of $10, which was paid. He served overseas and his illness has been brought on by this service.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments, your cold in head or catarrh will be gone.
Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely? No more dullness, headache, no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.
Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.
It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Adv.

VISITOR FIRED UNDER O. T. A.

Theatrical Man Never Heard
About Provincial Liquor Laws.

Ignorance of the law did not save a theatrical man from the United States, who is playing at a local theatre, from a penalty of $200 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private residence, contrary to section 41 of the O. T. A. in police court this morning. Similar charges were withdrawn against two companions when the prisoner claimed ownership of the liquor.
The three men were arrested in a room at a local hotel at 2 o'clock this morning with liquor in their possession.
The theatrical man stated that he had just come from the United States and that he did not know that such a law was in force in Ontario. He paid the fine before leaving the courtroom.

TO RAISE $175,000 FOR NEW HOSPITAL

Local Salvation Army Officer Is Directing Campaign in Windsor.

Adjutant Martin of the local command of the Salvation Army has returned from Windsor, where he has been working in connection with the concert campaign to raise $175,000 for the addition of a new wing to Grace Hospital. He stated that a committee of women and another committee of 175 men will canvass the city from November 9 to 15.
"When the hospital is completed," said Adjutant Martin, "it will be one of the best Salvation Army hospitals in Canada. It will be built on much the same plan as the Bethesda Hospital here. I don't think we are going to have any difficulty whatever in raising the desired amount. Every person in Windsor favors the addition, and we are going into the campaign practically assured that the money will be raised."

trict left for Toronto this afternoon to attend the convention at which General

Martin said that he thought he would

FINED FOR ASSAULT

David Posner's Attack On Fellow-
Worker Cost Him $10.

David Posner of this city was fined $10 and costs in police court today, when he was found guilty of assaulting Irving Arndt on October 24, while the two men were at work. Because the magistrate believed there were extensive circumstances Posner was saved from a much heavier penalty.
Arndt appeared in court with a badly bruised and cut face, and with an eye swathed in bandages, as evidence of what happened when Posner hit him.
The plaintiff could not recall what had hit him or what occurred after he had been knocked to the ground. He said the trouble resulted from a quarrel over some crooked castings which he discovered buried in the sand.

ODD FELLOWS GUESTS OF LOCAL ENCAMPMENT

Harmony Encampment, No. 3, I. O. O. F., last night was the host of the staff of Unity Encampment, No. 3, of Ingersoll, which came here under the leadership of Captain D. C. Parker. The degree was conferred in a very impressive manner.

The chief patriarch voiced the thoughts of all when he congratulated the visitors on their work. Captain Parker replied, mentioning the fact that London members had assisted the Ingersoll brethren in all branches. It was his opinion that fraternal visits did a great deal of good. Other visitors spoke along similar lines. John Lee, district deputy grand patriarch, paid an official visit, receiving a warm welcome. Refreshments were served near the close of the evening.

NATURE STUDY AND SPORTS POPULAR

School Season Has Been Most Successful, Says Inspector.

Ideal autumn weather has been responsible for one of the most successful seasons of sport ever experienced by the public schools. Inspector C. B. Edwards said today. Each school has produced fine teams in all branches of outdoor recreation and there has been an excellent opportunity for building up ideals of fair play, initiative and perseverance which will do much to aid the scholars in later life.

Nature study, too, has been taken up as never before. Practically every senior class has spent at least an hour or two in the country studying nature at first hand. Many of them have taken an entire afternoon for an outing. Riverview School had a most successful nature study trip. An appeal for automobiles brought forth a response from thirteen motorists, and pupils were taken on a 40-mile journey through the surrounding district, learning many things which could never be acquired in the schoolroom. The Mothers' Club at this school has raised $150 for the purchase of a motion picture machine, and the school has a museum, built up from contributions at various times, which is now worth nearly $1,000.

OFF THE RAILS

EMBARGO ON SUGAR BEETS.
More than transportation troubles is holding up the movement of sugar beets at the present time. It was announced today that the sugar mills at Kitchener which handle all beets grown in the London division of the G. T. R. and a large part of the country served by the C. P. R. have declared an embargo on all incoming roots, because they are filled to capacity. Scores of cars loaded with the roots have been pouring into Kitchener every day during the past few weeks until the piles have become so great that it was found impossible to accept any more roots until those on hand have been used.

The crop has not been half moved yet according to the local officials. The officials of the G. T. R. stated today that there are at least 60 cars piled at Kitchener, and 100 at Wainstead with hundreds more at other points. The road is in a position now to handle the beets as fast as the companies will take them. All beets west of Glencoe are shipped to the mills at Chatham.

RAIL-LAYING.
On Friday and Saturday a rail-laying bee will be formed by the G. T. R. according to Supt. Forrester. It is expected that more than eight miles of 100-pound steel will be laid between Dorchester and Ingersoll on the two days completing a continuous stretch of this class of steel between Hyde Park and Ingersoll. The bee will be formed by practically every section-man between Paris and Sarnia and the Wingham branch, who will be brought in on special trains.

Only 15 miles more will remain to be laid before this year's program of construction work will be completed. When the new rails are laid between Ingersoll and Eastwood, the westbound track from Hyde Park eastward will be completed. It was originally intended that both the east and westbound tracks between Paris and Sarnia would be laid this year, but the plan was abandoned through the inability to secure the rails and the shortage of labor trouble. The balance of the program will be undertaken next year, Mr. Forrester said this morning.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.
While attempting to cross the tracks between two stunted passenger cars, in front of the G. T. R. station at Wainstead, a colored cook narrowly escaped death when the sleeve of his jacket caught in the couplers as they moved. The cook was carrying an armful of bread unwrapped when he slipped and the leaves were scattered in every direction. Those who released the cook said that he was no longer colored when released from his perilous predicament.

WILL START SHORTLY.
Operations are expected to commence in the new G. T. R. reclamation yard when the steel-rail saw, which is expected some time next month, arrives in the city, according to Supt. C. F. Forrester of the local division. Although the concrete saw-building has been held up by the delay in securing the machinery, no other buildings will be erected in the yard this year it is expected.

HELPS SAVE COAL.
The long spell of fine weather has aided the railroads in the part of coal as well as the individual consumer, as a great saving has been made in coal. The G. T. R. especially is benefiting from the weather because of the labor trouble and transportation difficulties during the summer, no reserve coal was piled up for the coming winter. Supt. C. F. Forrester believes, however, that the company will be able to pile up a reserve stock of coal when navigation closes. Much steam coal is being shipped to the head of the lakes at the present time.

TRYING NEW CROSSING.
Because it has become almost impossible to secure oaken plankings, the G. T. R. is conducting an experiment in this city with a new type of roadbed for crossings. The plank crossing at Clarence street has been torn up, and it will be placed with crushed stone, stone-dust and tar. New rails and ties have also been laid. In the past all G. T. R. has been found to be the only satisfactory wood for this use, as pine and other soft woods have proven too soft for heavy traffic. If the stone and tarvin proves satisfactory it will probably be used in all other crossings, according to Superintendent C. F. Forrester of the local division.

CHATHAM YARDS ENLARGED.
The G. T. R. yards in Chatham have been materially increased in size. The west switch lying south of the tracks has been extended 1,080 feet of its old location, and has been increased in capacity by 27 car lengths. The yard limit of the whole yard has been extended 2,200 feet west of its former limits.

GRADE SEPARATION ON G. T. R. FAVORED; ASK FOR SUBWAYS

Members of Special Crossing Committee Also Want Thames Street Paved.

PLEBISCITE SUGGESTED

Ald. Cameron Wilson Wants This On Building of Subways.

That the Dominion Railway Commission should be asked to consider grade separation on the G. T. R. here immediately; that Thames street subway should be widened and the street paved; and that steps to build a subway at the Rectory street crossing should be taken at once, were decisions of the special committee on level crossings last night. They will make recommendations to this effect to No. 1 committee.

Mayor Little said it was likely the chief engineer of the public works department could come to the city in a few days to make a survey of the situation. He could examine the report made by Noulan Cauchon, suggest any revisions he might consider necessary, and be in a position to advise the railway commission on the necessity for grade separation.

The mayor pointed out that this plan would provide for eventual track elevation, the only permanent solution to the level crossing problem, while it would also provide some immediate relief at Rectory and Thames streets.

Prepare Estimates.
The cost of the Rectory street subway is expected to be about $275,000. City Engineer Brazier will have to prepare estimates on revised plans before the probable cost will be definitely known.

A subway at Ridout street, costing $185,000, was not favored, because it would increase the traffic over Ridout street bridge, which is in a weak condition. The number of trucks at Waterloo street make a subway at this point impracticable.

Ald. Cameron Wilson, chairman of the committee, thought that it would be a considerable time before complete grade separation could be obtained because of the cost. He favored measures to obtain immediate relief. He suggested submitting plebiscites on the building of Ridout street and Rectory street subways.

Mayor Little stated that he had been giving the problem careful attention since the beginning of the year. He had had a prominent railroad engineer examine the situation and had also been in communication with the Hon. F. B. Carroll. He advised obtaining track elevation instead of taking temporary measures.

Track Elevation.
"So long as the cost is equitably divided we should have track elevation no matter what the cost," he asserted. "Even if it were five million dollars it would pay the city, because you can't figure human life against a few million on the tax rate." He thought there were excellent prospects of getting the grade separation as soon as the G. T. R. was in complete control of the Government. The chairman of the Dominion Railway Board had practically intimated this early in the year.

Ald. Cameron Wilson thought that the general demand throughout the system for grade separation might delay the project, but was willing to wait for a government report if something was done at Rectory and Thames streets.

The mayor said nothing had been done at Thames street this year because there was no paving allowed on the street railway tracks. Next year materials will be cheaper, and the improvement can be undertaken.

Ald. Moorhead suggested that W. D. Robb, vice-president of the road, be asked to confer with the committee. Ald. Drake favored immediate relief by means of the Rectory street subway.

ANNUAL PANTOMIME DELIGHTS AUDIENCE AT GRAND THEATRE

Dorothy Mackay and May Strachan, Juveniles, Capture Admiration of House.

The annual pantomimes presented throughout Canada by F. Stuart-Whyte during the last five years very consistently retain their popularity. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," and this time-worn adage was proven last night at the Grand Theatre, when "The Babes in the Wood" was presented. The reason for the said popularity lies in the very capable cast in this offering, which while original, is above the average in theatricals. The entertainment provided of the best, with clever comedians capturing the premier honors and beautiful young women running close second.

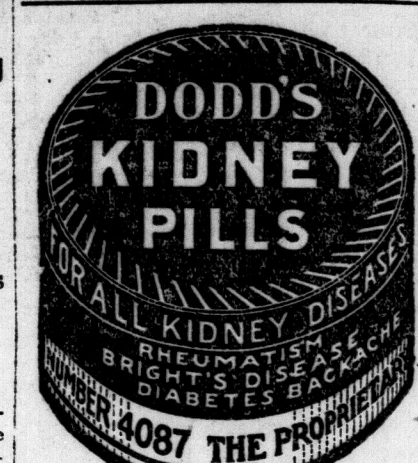

The costumes worn by female members of the cast were the object of admiration by those fortunate ones present last night, and the settings were very elaborate. "The Babes in the Wood" has proved to be a masterpiece form possesses little, if any, plot, which is sacrificed in the interests of clean comedy. George Summers and Tom Ellis, as Captain Kidd and Dick Turpin respectively, provide the bulk of the laughs, and their work in this line is creditable. Harriet Fawn and Charles Cardell kept the house in an uproar with amusing antics, their Cockney dialect proving to be a refreshing change.

Dorothy Mackay and May Strachan play the title roles, and these versatile juveniles captured the admiration of an appreciative audience. Mona Ward, who very ably imitated mechanical dolls following the terpsichorean art. An unusual number "Opportunity," where in the Dominion of Canada and provinces are typified, was well received, the fine and beautiful costumes employed being of merit. "Dear Old Saturday Night" as presented by Harriet Fawn, Charles Cardell and Tom Ellis called for repeated encores. By way of variety, the ending of "Shakespeare" up to date, and Barker Nichols with his "Jam Jar Jazz" could earn place on a high-class vaudeville circuit almost any time.

This delightful pantomime, which will be repeated tonight and twice tomorrow, is a typical Stuart-Whyte production, always welcome to lovers of good comedy and music. To those who enjoyed previous productions "The Babes in the Wood" will offer many surprises, and patrons of same will not be disappointed.

Why Foreign Countries Anxiously Watch Next Tuesday's Election

Never before has an American election been fraught with so much meaning to the rest of the world, to judge from the anxiety evident in the comment of the foreign press. In fact, this became so evident as the campaign went on that THE LITERARY DIGEST sent out an inquiry to the press abroad asking their views on our political struggle.

In this week's number of THE DIGEST—October 30—the replies to this inquiry are printed. They range from a tone of ardent hope that whether the next president be Mr. Harding or Mr. Cox, his election will clear away the after-mists of war which have risen from the peace treaty and the league of nations, through degrees of mistrust and cynicism to utter dismay that the United States, which was capable and courageous enough to help win the war, seems to lack the intelligence to realize she must also help win the peace. The replies that are printed represent seventeen countries in all, including England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Germany, Belgium, Japan, Spain, China, Sweden.

Coming, as it does, practically on the eve of our presidential election this article will be read with great interest in America, as it reveals the world-wide anxiety over the outcome.

Among other striking features in this number of THE DIGEST, you will find

THE SUGAR SCANDAL.

The Meighen Government may think that it has edged its way out of the sugar scandal as a result of the resignation of the members of the Board of Commerce, but there are two or three other circumstances arising out of that happening that will bear a good deal of light, and it will be the duty of the Liberal Opposition during next session to endeavor to throw light on these matters.

In the first place, the people of Canada ought to know what the refiners were doing with such immense stores of raw sugar in their warehouses while the country was given to understand that there was no sugar in the country. During all the early summer the people of Canada were paying an inflated price for this necessity, while at the same time the warehouses at Montreal appear to have been bursting with piled-up reserves.

Again, it would be well to know what negotiations there were between the refiners and the cabinet prior to the matter going into the hands of the Board of Commerce. Did members of the cabinet know that the refiners were in possession of stocks of sugar during the earlier months of the year? If they did know that such was the case they were countenancing an unquestioned case of profiteering on the largest scale.

Another question that arises is as to the composition of the Board of Commerce. If the Government was really desirous of maintaining fair prices in this country and doing something worth while to reduce the cost of living would they have appointed such a group of incompetents as issued the sugar order, for example? On the face of it, it would appear that the Board of Commerce was intended to be a perfectly harmless body that would make some academic investigations but harm nobody. As a matter of fact, about the only harm they have done has been to the Government that appointed them.

Premier Meighen may think that by accepting the resignation of the Board of Commerce he has disposed of public indignation against the course followed by his Government and its Board of Commerce in relation to the cost of living. He will yet find that the "sugar order" sank deep into the minds of the people of Canada, and that they have not accepted his airy explanations of vast sugar reserves at Montreal at a time when the country was being held up by the sugar gamblers. Even the staid old Montreal Gazette, organ of big business, has no excuse to make for the sugar refiners, and hints that they were caught in a big gamble. This is the impression quite general among the people of this country who were to have paid their losses, had plans not miscarried.

EXTENDING UNIVERSITY INFLUENCE.

Every citizen of Western Ontario must feel an interest in the developments that are taking place at the present time in connection with Western University. From day to day foundations are being laid for work of one type and another that in days to come will count in the lives of all the people in this part of the province. This week has seen the extension work of the university put upon a new basis and in the hands of a board representing all three faculties. Extension work in the past has been largely worked out by the separate committees of the faculties, but from now on their efforts will be co-ordinated. At the very outset a splendid field has opened up in the opportunity of providing classes or lectures similar to the work of the Workers' Educational Association in Great Britain. The university's proposal in this direction was favorably received by the London Trades and Labor Council at a recent meeting, and a joint committee is now working out the details.

The Workers' Educational Association movement in England had grown to large proportions before the war. The brightest minds in the universities were engaged in it, and scores of young scholars holding fellowships were going out from week to week in all parts of England, meeting groups of workmen and instructing them in science, history, economics and other subjects. While the war disrupted this work for several years, it is now rapidly coming back to a pre-war basis. In this country a very successful work has been carried on in Toronto, Professor MacIvor of the Provincial University taking an active part. The Toronto activities were described in an issue of the Labor Gazette a few months ago.

The Western University will be brought into touch with a large body of Western Ontario citizens through the work of its public health department under Dr. H. W. Hill. Dr. Hill foresees the day when each of these fifteen western counties will have an active organization, concerning itself with all the public health problems of its community. The first of these associations bids fair to be realized within the next few months, and will have a close connection with the Western University. It is entirely in order that work of this kind should be carried on under university auspices. The resolution of the Extension Board at its inaugural meeting was that the board would take upon itself the "consideration of, and active work in any project which tends to extend the services of the university to our constituency," and the constituency of Western is the group of fifteen counties of which London is the geographical centre. This is a big step, and it can only be realized in its details step by step. The Extension Board has set before itself the high ideal that it will concern itself with all that tends to make living conditions better, and that promotes the welfare and happiness of the people with whom its influence may come in contact.

HELP THE NAVY LEAGUE.

British Brothers, Limited. The greatest trade emporium in the world is the British Empire. Canada can make preferential trade agreements with other peoples under the British flag without arousing international complications. Canada possesses men with brains to make these preferential trade agreements. But we make good these agreements with Canadian ships.

Three million new customers for Canada's grain, produce, manufactures secured by the West India trade agreement and Canadian ships. By willingness and ability to provide ships, Canada this year has drawn the West Indies closer to herself and to the Empire. She can make preferential trade agreements with other peoples under the British flag without arousing international complications.

Canada's sea-conscious spirit must be developed. The merchant flag of Canada must fly in every part of the Empire. "The sea does not separate—the sea binds." To develop our sea heritage we must send chosen and trained emigrants—our most able businessmen—to make preferential trade agreements with the other nations in the Empire. And we must make good these trade agreements with Canadian ships.

Canada can reduce her taxes, pay her war debts, keep workers busy, make farmers prosperous, by selling her surplus grain, fruits, dairy produce, manufactures, to the nations of the British Empire. The key to the market is ships—Canadian ships. Canada can do what Britain has done—make and control her own trade routes with Canadian ships. Protected by the British Empire navy, of which the Canadian navy will be a unit. It will be an honor to this country. And that contribution to all-British sea power in keeping with Canada's premier place within the Empire.

Trade follows the merchant flag of Canada. By willingness and ability to provide ships Canada this year has drawn the West Indies closer to herself and to the Empire. The trade of 45,000,000 people in British Tropical Africa is waiting for us today. But we must have ships and a sea-conscious spirit in the people and in the Government.

The West India trade agreement would not have been worth the paper it is written on had it not been for Canadian ships, and the vision of Canadians who realize these facts. To win world-trade we must develop our sea heritage, our ports, our men, our ships. Trade must flow east and west and overseas. Shut off this Dominion from the seas, and in fifty years Canada will cease to be a nation. Canada is the eighth maritime power. Seventy years ago Canada was third. There are 8,700 ships under the Canadian flag today. The value of the merchant fleet of Canada is $250,000,000. Through lack of interest of Canadians in their maritime affairs these ships are neither officered nor manned by Canadians. Today the protection of Canadian trade routes is not given by Canada. The burden of the British navy is $17 per head of British taxpayer. The "burden" of the Canadian navy is 25 cents per head of Canadian taxpayer.

To continue its service in this great patriotic work the Navy League of Canada requires the sum of $760,000, and to secure this a Sailors' Week Campaign has been planned for November 2, 3 and 4. It is confidently expected that London and Western Ontario will contribute generously to the cause.

Letters to the Editor

THE TOWN IN WHICH WE LIVE.

To the Editor of The London Advertiser:—One was pleased indeed to read the letter in a recent issue from the pen of T. H. Yull, as there are many very excellent reasons why the dam at Springbank should be rebuilt. For five years every energy has been rightly devoted to the production of food, but with the return of our golden task is being taken up by an ever-increasing number of homes, towns and communities.

A careful stocktaking of the conditions of many Canadian towns reveals an almost absolute lack of plans for beautifying of their streets, parks and individual buildings. Anyone who desires may improve his own property, but the towns as a whole are not entering into big schemes and interesting every man, woman and child to make their town the prettiest in Canada. There is scarcely a village which does not boast of perhaps one beautiful, velvety lawn, with trees, shrubbery and flowers, but just as "one robin does not make a spring," so one beautiful home cannot cover up a whole community of neglected ones. It is the effort on the part of every citizen which will transform our ugly places into beautiful spots. No stone should be left unturned to influence public opinion in favor of a "clean-up" campaign—the schools may assist, the women's organizations, business and the churches, each should have an important share in the boosting for more beauty everywhere.

One reason which retards progress in the beautifying of our homes and communities is the constant flying of our homes and communities in the constant moving which takes place. People are here today and there tomorrow, and are prone to say: "What's the use?" Why can we not overcome this feeling, and, although more renters, plant something that is permanent—a rose bush, a flowering shrub or a tree—something that will beautify the earth, even if we may not be present to enjoy its fragrance? Someone will, and flowers are always better than rubbish. Yours very truly, WM. GILES, 780 Talbot Street, City.

WAR ON RATS.

[Quebec Telegraph.] War to a finish has been declared against the rat by the Hygiene Commission of Paris, France. The commission was aghast to learn from a report read to it by Professor Bordas that there were 8,000,000 rats in the city. The extermination of the rats is to be accomplished by all the weapons known in war, and the campaign will be both offensive and defensive. The offensive weapons are the following: Use of bacterial products or deadly poisons likely to cause epidemics among the rats; asphyxiating gases in the sewers for several hours at a time, repeated at intervals, and traps. In this connection Professor Bordas warns rat-trappers not to smoke before setting their traps, as the rat holds tobacco in abhorrence. A premium of 20 sous is to be paid for each rat killed by hunters. The defensive campaign will be conducted by rat-proofing houses, and by setting the garbage cans on the sidewalks only a few minutes previous to the arrival of the garbage automobile, so that rats cannot feed on their contents overnight. Many pessimistic voices were heard in the Hygiene Commission as to the chances of success in ridding Paris of the rat nuisance, especially after Professor Bordas had explained that the Paris rat could boast of a family tree dating back to the early centuries of the Christian Era, having migrated to France from the Near East with the early Crusaders. "Such aristocrats are bound to put up a stiff fight for their privileges," said a humorous member of the commission.

From Here and There

ACROSS THE BORDER.

[Halifax Chronicle.] Senator Lodge, speaking in Brooklyn, declared the United States war department spent $1,051,000,000 for aircraft without getting a single combat service airplane. He said that the army had 1,000,000 sets of double harness, 1,537,000 horse brushes and 2,023,000 nose feed-bags for only 301,000 horses and mules, while a contract was made for 100,000 sets of harness for one for every two horses and mules. Evidently our friends across the border did not count the cost in money at any rate.

TOO MANY SILK SHIRTS.

[Quebec Telegraph.] "Too many silk shirts and too much good time are the causes of racial unrest"—according to David T. Howard and Howard is a man who can have all the silk shirts and all the good time that any man could desire if he wished to, for he is a wealthy Southerner, and one of the richest and most respected negroes in the United States. A self-made man, having gone into business on a capital of $150, and now owning the fourth largest business of his kind in Atlanta, Georgia, Howard declares that he never in the time, never went in for wild oats, but always attended to his business. As a natural result he has grown rich, and needs neither silk shirts, social equality or what are commonly called "good times" as such as he are not the men who buy silk shirts and who are constantly on the lookout for good times. They are not strikers or social agitators. They grow rich by virtue of steady, hard work, honest labor, careful expenditure, rigid economy, and minding their own business. The world is all the better for them, and would be better still if their numbers were increased a hundredfold.

WATCH SCREWS.

[New York Herald.] The smallest screws in the world—those turned out in a watch factory—are cut from steel wire by a machine, but as the chips fall from the knife it looks as if the operator were simply cutting up the wire to amuse himself. No screw can be seen, and yet a screw is made every third operation. The fourth jewel-wheel screw is next to invisible, and to the naked eye it resembles dust. These tiny screws are four one-thousandths of an inch in diameter, and the heads are double the size. It is estimated that an ordinary timepiece would hold about 100,000 of them. About 1,000,000 are made in a month, but no attempt is ever made to count them. In determining the number, 100 of them are placed on a very delicate balance, and the number of the whole amount is calculated from the weight of the whole. All the small parts of the watch are counted in this way, probably 50 out of the 120. The screws are then hardened and put in frames, about 100 to the frame, heads up. This is done very rapidly, but entirely by the sense of touch instead of by sight, so that a blind man could do it as well as the owner of the sharpest eye. The heads are then polished in an automatic machine, 10,000 at a time.

BE AN OPTIMIST.

[Toronto Telegram.] Canada is emerging from the war-time muddle with the sun of prosperity shining bright over her broad domain. Her barns are bursting with the products for which the world is hungry. Her gold and silver mines are pouring forth their riches. Her almost inexhaustible coal deposits are daily taking on new values. Her foreign north is teeming with oil that will feed the millions of autos for five hundred years to come. The inevitable unrest that follows a world conflict is settling. The specter of red that gives you anxious thoughts is being played out. The danger of politics. Could you hear the thousands cheer the patriotic pictures at the exhibition or watch the spectators at football games stand with bared heads while the hand of the victor is raised without realizing that the country is sound at heart? Prices are coming down! Isn't that what you have been shouting for? Then why should the decline cause the country to be pessimistic? Canada is coming back to normal—coming fast—coming also to a greater period of prosperity. Hasten its coming by drowning your pessimism. Prove your patriotism by becoming an optimist.

HOW BULGARIA HAS FALLEN.

[November System.] Conditions in Bulgaria are such that the currency of the country has depreciated in value to almost nothing, and there is great dissatisfaction because of the food restrictions. Profiteering is rampant. Every man, woman and child is suffering. Bulgaria has sunk within a few years from the most powerful Balkan state to one of the most unimportant in the group. These are the observations of Max Woldenberg, a Canadian, who included Bulgaria in his seven months trip through Europe studying business conditions. In his report on this trip, Mr. Woldenberg continues: "The laboring and disorganizing effect of the constant wars for the past ten years that they have lost any desire to work which they may have had. Crops are not being sown, and industry is at a standstill. "In Rumania I found a great amount of dissatisfaction. Profiteering is rampant. The government seems entirely unable to cope with various problems at hand. Broken promises made by the administration are only limited by one's financial ability to pay for them. Speculation is the general order of the day, and large sums of money are being made by chasing various commodities for speculative reasons only, so that the poorer classes, who are very illiterate in Rumania, are suffering immensely, and are really supporting the entire country."

CUPID IN THE VICAR'S GARDEN.

[London News.] The Rev. James Dixon, the Vicar of Willesden, is a great match-maker. He organizes dances and weekly entertainments in the vicarage garden during the summer, and he is not alone in regretting that the chilly evenings now make them no longer possible. "The boys and girls meet here; they become attached to one another, and ultimately fall in love," said Mr. Dixon, who has been very strongly criticized when I started these entertainments a few years ago. "What, dancing on the vicarage lawn?" people exclaimed with shocked surprise, but I have proved that it is good for everybody. When the young couples are married they are never likely to forget the vicarage garden, where they did their early courting, and this helps to keep them in touch with the church. "I always tell the lads and lassies that if they come to my dances they will catch the measles," he added with a chuckle. "Love, you know, is very much like the measles. The more you try to stay its course the more virulent it becomes. I find that most of the 'grasshoppers,' as they are called, fall victims sooner or later." The vicar is not only a benign Cupid, if the expression may be used without disrespect. He has thousands of activities, and his garden is open for many purposes. Mothers' meetings are held under the chestnut trees, and small children are taught to play real games with dolls, perambulators and a rocking-horse.

SUGAR PRICES MUST COME DOWN.

[Vancouver Sun.] No doubt there are a thousand reasons why sugar is selling in Vancouver for 15 to 21 cents as against 11 to 13 cents in Seattle. Under government control the Canadian people enjoyed slightly lower prices than those prevailing in the United States, but that privilege, however it amounted to, was not secured at the expense of the Canadian refiner, who were the whole story told, has made a great deal more money during the past few years than he was entitled to. He has been able to do this with bonuses and increased capital, have been and are, taking place in an effort to cover up the profits that have been made. Yet he has not been able to supply and demand force conditions to a point where a small loss should be taken by the manufacturers, in order to meet the prevailing prices, the cry for further protection is being raised, and the government is being asked to make a mockery of "protection." That such prices and restrictions are allowed to exist constitutes a national disgrace which upon no account must be permitted to go on.

THE WAY TO SHADOWTOWN.

[By Eugene Field.] Sway to and fro in the twilight grey. This is the ferry to Shadowtown. It always sails at the end of day. Just as the darkness closes down. Rest, little head, on my shoulder—so: A sleepy kiss is the only fare. Drift off to sleep, my little head, go. Baby and I, in the rocking chair. See, where the firelight glows and spark. Glitter the lights of the Shadowland. The raindrops on the window—hark! Are rippling lapping upon its strand. There, where the mirror is glancing dim. A lake lies shimmering, cool and still. Blossoms are waving over its brim. Those over there on the window sill. Rock slow, more slow in the dusky night. Silently lower the anchor down. Dear little passenger, say "Good-night." We've reached the harbor of Shadowtown.

HANDS UP.

"You say you were held up by a fellow with a revolver this morning. At what time?" "Five minutes to one." "How can you fix the time so precisely?" "Because I could see the church clock and I noticed the hands were in the same position as mine."

TWILIGHT.

The shadows were languidly across the waters black. The poplars and the birches leave a white from the woodland sheltering the lone whip-poor-will cries. And as the moon came upon him, the hawk cleaves the skies. Adown the distant tree-tops the sun-light shone in golden rings. More lurid and tempting than any miser's gold. The night bird softly crooning in the swaying tops of pine. The stars and moon haunting a night in summertime.

WELL, WELL.

Applicant (for job): "What's the chance for a fellow beginning at the bottom and working up?" Foreman: "None, our job is digging wells."

A PRAYER.

[Theodore Garrison.] Let me work and be glad. O Lord, and I ask no more: For when I turn where the sunbeams burn At the sill of my workshop door. Alas! I played my prayer For the glory and gain of earth. But now grown wise and with opened eyes I see what the prayer was. Give me my work to do: And peace of the task well done: And the light of the moon and sun. Pleasure of little things That never may pass or end. And fast in my hold no lesser god Than the honest hand of a friend. Let me forget in time. Eddy of dirt and dust I had: Give me my share of a world most fair. Let me work and be glad.

ALWAYS STUNG.

Hokus—Why do you compare Hard-uppe with a busy bee? He isn't particularly industrious, is he? Pokus—Oh, no; it isn't. But nearly everyone he touches gets stung.

A FRIENDLY WORD.

[Edgar A. Guest.] Seems like as somebody here is always scatterin' joy and cheer, I've never known a rainy day. But what some friend has come my way. To sort o' laugh the clouds away. I ain't been one deservin' much O' special favor an' the touch O' generous hands in time o' need. An' yet good friends at double speed. Have given before I'd ask or plead. It seems I'm ten thousand eyes Are tryin' to take me by surprise. Just what I felt the time I see. Just what a kindly word we know. That which can come an' give to me. To almost swear these friends o' mine Possess some magic power divine. By which they learn from God above, Or from the messengers o' love. The very things I'm thinkin' of.

HONORS I DON'T DESERVE.

Lord, but I've tried an easy way. With friends to help me day by day. This all I had in pain an' woe. This is a kindly word we know. At least, I've always found it so.

PERHAPS OF THE SAME PIERD.

Diner (struggling with a piece of steak, whilst the band is playing):

"Water, I ordered rump steak, where is this piece from?"

"Water," "This, sir, is a piece from 'Chu Chin Chow.'"

/DONEGAL BAY.

[George T. Parry.] As I sit by the window high up in my room 'Mid the smoke of the city, its noise and its drifting this day I am drifting this day. To that old sunlit harbor of Donegal Bay.

The light touch of your hand and the curve of your cheek And my heart throbbing back to the soft words you speak. With the lift of the boat to the waves' lifting play And the bright sunlight dancing on Donegal Bay.

The flight of the wild gulls and wind whistling down you here too The wide, full-swinging sail and the white foam of the sea. And that stinging kiss of the fast flying spray With the sunbeams laughing down on Donegal Bay.

The wide waters around us and gleaming on high The white foam of the sea and the arch of the sky: Oh, 'twas June-time and love-time, now Donegal Bay.

Just a lad and a lass, sure the tale's nothing new. But the black sorrow's on me, I'm longing for you And the sound of a voice that is silent today. Though the sun jewels sparkle on Donegal Bay.

A COME-BACK.

[Boston Globe.] Businessman (to young lad seeking employment): "Weren't you here two weeks ago, and didn't you tell me that I wanted an older boy?" "Yes, sir! That's why I've come back!"

A FRIEND IN NEED.

[James Whitcomb Riley.] When a man ain't got a cent, and he's feeling kind of blue, And the clouds hang dark and heavy, an' he won't let the sunshine through. It's a friend that's kind, O my brethren, for a feller just to lay His hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

It makes a man feel curious, it makes the leopards start, you here too. An' you sort o' feel a flutter in the region of your heart; You can't look up and meet his eyes, you don't know what to say. When his hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

Oh, the world's a curious compound, with its honey and its gall. With its cares and bitter crosses, but a good world after all. And a good God must have made it—leavastays that is what I say. When a hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.

Every Man For Himself

BY HOPKINS MOORHOUSE.

In spite of the fact that he had been up all night, therefore, his eyes were bright with the memory of that which the gift of long hours in the open air. The black eye which had attracted unwelcome attention at first no longer contributed to the amusement of the inquisitive, the obtuseness of its remaining jaundice being overcome by the new coat of tan that encroached upon it.

His presence, at Thorlakson Phil accounted for very briefly, saying merely that he had come back there to look for a lost pocketbook, containing his railway pass. But it had not been the pass or the loose change that had troubled him so greatly; it had been well, darn it, he didn't want to lose them like that anyway—a dollar bill, wrapped carefully around a lady's "small pin." It was his own business entirely. Luckily Thorlakson had picked it up and was able to restore the pocketbook with its contents intact.

As it had turned out, Kendrick's evening hike back down the track to Thorlakson had been a lucky thing for Thorlakson too. Within a mile or so, sliding Phil had come upon him, sitting beside the track in despair of reaching human aid before he collapsed completely. He had been badly hurt in his fall from the train, and aside from these injuries his hands were swollen and covered with dirt and blood. His torn clothes encumbered with dried mud, collar and tie gone and his shirt ripped open in front, revealing neck and chest smeared with blood where the black flies had bitten him severely.

"He had spent part of the night and the whole day in the woods and was half out of his head, poor devil," said Phil. "I managed to get him down here and with the help of Mrs. Thorlakson's homeward-bound limousine, I fixed him up as well as I could. He insisted on my staying with him all night—till you arrived, in fact."

"Expected you, eh?" grunted Wade. "Oh, sure. News of the—accident, I don't travel up and down the line pretty swiftly. A track-walker passed the word to me early in the morning, and as we were starting out from the caboose for the day's work, so I had Thorlakson send a message off to you. He stuck it in a slit stick and the engineer of a passing freight caught it. O. K. and took it up the line to the station at Indian Creek."

As Kendrick finished speaking they both turned to watch Crustan's approaching slowly, supporting Podmore. The secretary's condition had improved greatly under Phil's ministrations, and the food which Mrs. Thorlakson had prepared for him. But it was apparent that suffering was still suffering from shock and beneath the bandage about his head the black and blue evidence of the contusion was visible. His sprained arm was bandaged also and he limped badly and leaned heavily on the detective. "Hello there, Hughey," greeted Wade. "Wrecked from engine to caboose, eh? What a whack on the head! Might've killed you. How'd you come to fall off?" Podmore smiled weakly. He gazed for a moment at Kendrick as if trying to collect his thoughts. "Then he explained that he had been troubled with insomnia and got up to smoke a cigarette. He had been fool enough to perch up on the brass rail at the rear of the private car, thinking the train had been hitting up a fast pace on a down grade and as they swung a curve he had lost his balance and pitched clean down a long fill among the rocks of a creek bottom. The fall had knocked him senseless. When finally he had recovered consciousness he had been too ill to move for a long time. Then the hot sun had driven him to crawl painfully into the woods where he had lain helpless until Wade had knocked him senseless. When he began to feel a little better in the morning he had gone back to the track and started for help. Just as he was ready to give up Kendrick had found him. Crustan and the president exchanged glances, but Wade merely nodded. Podmore requested to be allowed to crawl into his berth because, he was feeling 'awfully in the mood' with nothing to do. Kendrick helped him aboard and proceeded to put him to bed.

"From that little shake of the head that Crustan just passed you, Mr. Wade, I gather that he failed to find any trace of the envelope that's missing," said Kendrick quietly. He smiled at the abruptness with which the president of the C. S. took hold of his arm and walked him away from the car.

"Let's go over there and see Thorlakson a minute," he said loudly. "Now, shoot, do you know about this thing, Phil?" "I'm trying to fill me up with the smoothest line of bunk I ever listened to. According to him you're the smartest enemy of Uncle Sam and have had a finger in the theft—thief, mind you—of important secret state documents which would have been the cause of a financial panic if they had remained in your possession. Well, he's got nothing to do with undermining public confidence in the present administration."

"Great busted reputations! Did he tell you that?" "While I was bandaging him, he said he was a reporter who located the evidence that had convicted Rhodes and elected my uncle as an agent of the government to recover the confidential reports that had been stolen from the chairman of the waterways commission."

"Trying to unload the envelope on you, eh?" "Yes, he asked me to post it to him—addressed to himself to his address in Toronto."

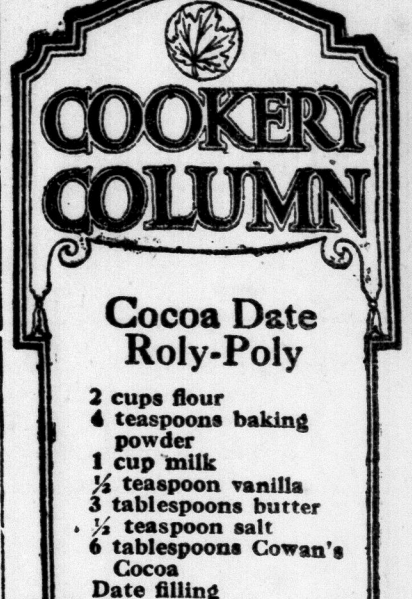

"What did you do?" "I posted it, of course—in a hollow stump over there near the tank with a slab of fungus on top for a lid!"

Ben Wade laughed aloud. "Know what's in the thing?" he demanded abruptly. "Great busted government documents!"

"Fifty thousand dollars, you mean?" "The 'small pin,'" muttered Kendrick, looking startled. "But he doesn't happen to know that the 'small pin' is a money order sandwiched between a couple of genuine bills of small denomination, checked Wade. He stopped short and stood in front of Kendrick with one hand on the younger man's shoulder. "Phil," he said seriously, "you've stumbled in on a little game that is being played with stacked cards. We'll be running up as far as Indian Creek as we can, and we'll be waiting for you. You're coming along. We can stop at Rutland's caboose long enough for you to pick up your nightie and your safety razor." "I don't think I understand, Mr. Wade," said Phil, puzzled. "Not supposed to, retorted Wade. "Fact is, you're dazed! You can't work for Rutland another minute—" "Why, what?" "Because you're hired! I've got to have a secretary, haven't I? There's interesting work ahead, boy, and I need you. Don't ask questions. Breakfast first. I can't talk without a cigar and I never smoke before breakfast. Shall I run over to the stump and get the envelope?" asked Kendrick when he had recovered from his first surprise. "Not by a jugful! Podmore thinks you're playing his game, doesn't he? Always draw to the ace, Phil. Leave the envelope where it is. Hello, Thorlakson. Hello, Wade. Good work today, huh? Kendrick here has just been telling me how well you did your duty. He wants you to have that fifty dollar reward—all of it."

NewsBan May Be An Ex-
Czar By Tonight

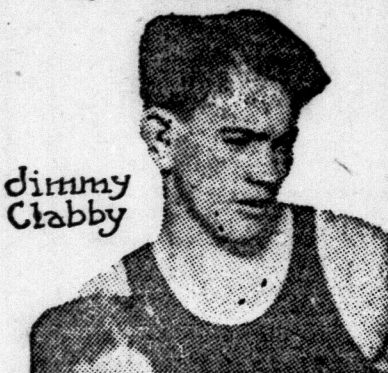

If "Five Faithful" Decide To Throw in Lot With Others, Johnson Will Have To Step Down—Friends Say, It Is Likely.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—President Bancroft B. Johnson of the American League and his five "loyal" club owners, will confer here tomorrow on the proposed reorganization of baseball control. The clubs represented will be Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis.

The meeting will consider the proposal made by the eight National League and the Chicago, New York and Boston American League Clubs that the National Commission be abolished and control of baseball be placed in the hands of a "civic tribunal" of three members financially disinterested in the game.

Two courses are open. The five may refuse to join the new organization, or they may decide to go in, which will mean the dethronement of Johnson as the "baseball czar." Friends of Johnson said tonight that the five club owners would probably take the latter course, which would mean that they will attend the conference with the other eleven clubs set for November 8.

LOCAL DOGS DO WELL
AT BIG CANINE SHOWS

A wire from Toronto announces that the board of directors of the Canadian Kennel Club have cancelled the win of the Boston terrier, Champion Count Dee Cee, at the Ottawa Central Canada Exhibition last September. This decision automatically gives to the local dog, Globe Sweet William, owned by Vincent G. Perry, the winner's points, which means that the local dog was the best to compete in the show at Ottawa.

The cancellation was based on a protest on the grounds that the Toronto champion was entered for special only and was taken into competition contrary to the rules of the C. K. C.

Vanity Fair Reserve Winner. Forest City Vanity Fair, the sensational wire-haired foxterrier owned by Mr. W. H. Short, formerly of this city and now of Braintree, Mass., has brought further honors to the city where it was born and for which it is named. At the recent Philadelphia show, where all the best wire-haired foxterriers of America competed, the little female was awarded reserve winners.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, part owner of the New York American League Baseball Club, today announced Edward G. Barrow, who signed as manager of the Boston Americans two days ago, had signed as business manager of the Yankees.

Miller Huggins will sign a contract to manage the New York team another year upon his arrival here tomorrow, Col. Ruppert added. Barrow had been with the Red Sox three years and had previously been president of the International League for seven years.

A SURPRISE.
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 28.—The announcement that Edward G. Barrow had resigned as financial manager of the Red Sox to become business manager of the New York Yankees came as a surprise to the supporters of the team. Speculation as to his successor mentions the name of Bill Carigan and Jack Barry, former managers, and Harry Hooper, at present captain of the team.

ST. GEORGE'S ELIMINATE
RYERSON IN SOCCER

St. George's eliminated Ryerson school soccer eleven from the autumn series by a 1-0 defeat yesterday afternoon. The game was fast and even, the winning team coming out of a mix in front of the lower goal.

Mr. Elliott refereed one half and Mr. Galpin the other.

COLLEGE SENIORS TRIM
WOODSTOCK COLLEGIATE

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 28.—The senior team of Woodstock College defeated the collegiate rugby outfit in an exhibition game this afternoon by 7 to 3. It was the best exhibition of the season, despite the wet grounds. The college secured its points on a try, which was neatly converted by Armstrong, and a rouge made the score seven. Two rouges and a kick to the goal accounted for the collegiate's three points.

KITCHENER CHAMPS ARE HAPPY FAMILY;
BURY ALL HATCHETS

Will Take To Ice Intact As Result of Reconciliation Managed Last Night—R. Lang Is New President of K. and W. A. A. For Year.

KITCHENER, Oct. 28.—Kitchener Seniors will take to the ice this winter practically intact, as the result of a general burial last night of the various hatchets which have been flying around the local hockey circles for the last month. The less swinging of the tomahawks nearly resulted in putting Kitchener off the senior hockey map, and arguments amongst the factions took serious turns at times. However, some of the cooler heads managed a reconciliation, which had its culmination last night in a gathering of the men down at George Hainsworth's house, with not a single absentee.

Karges and Solomon will not be on this year's senior line-up, having been dropped by the intermediates, but otherwise the former champions will look to have the same old team, probably some new blood added. K. and W. A. A. Meeting.

The reconciliation of all factions in Kitchener hockey came with the holding of the annual meeting of the Kitchener and Waterloo Amateur Athletic Association last evening, a most harmonious and enthusiastic affair. R. Lang is the new president, and H. Sturm, secretary, and well known throughout provincial hockey circles, persisted in his retirement, although pressed to take office for another year, at least. The officers elected were: President—R. Lang; Vice-President—D. C. McIntosh; Secretary—George Stewart; Treasurer—George Stewart; Executive—E. O. Ritz, A. E. Peranoff, P. Pierce, J. J. Callahan, George Lang, Kuntz and E. Schlosser, Waterloo; Bill Box, Oscar Ruppert, H. W. Brown, H. Bingham and C. Kalpin.

Events Are Filled For Western U
Field Day at Queen's Park

Thirteen Events Are Up For This Afternoon's Annual Meet—Brook Shield Goes To Individual Champion.

This afternoon Western U. Athletic Association stages the annual field day at Queen's Park, and a full up entry list makes certain that this year's effort will keep up the athletic standard set in past meets.

The meet today will be staged with a little less blare than usual, but for all that the events will produce some fine competition. The few races which have been held each year with the idea of keeping the track sport alive have been a disappointment, but the competitions have been getting better and when the university finally gets in new headquarters at the planned athletic field at the disposal of the student body, Varsity field days will create a real stir in the athletic world.

There are thirteen events down for today and every one is filled up. Six of these are point-putters for the individual championship and the Brook shield, an exceptionally fine trophy put up by Captain Mel Brock, director of athletics at Western. There are also medals for the first and second in every one of the thirteen events.

The meet commences at 3:30 and a good crowd is expected out to witness the events.

Officials of the meet are: Messrs. Taylor, Houlston, Allan Ferguson, McLaughlin, Beemer, Rev. Roy and Professors Wood and Hart.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish, and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in uric acid, so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

EASY TO DARKEN
YOUR GREY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so easily. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. A little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all grey hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Grey, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's years younger.

SEES ARMORIES BY HUNDREDS IN FARM COUNTRY

TOO MANY DRILL HALLS

Mackenzie King Says Less Than One Per Cent Spent
On Agriculture.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., October 28.—Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King addressed an audience which packed the Empress Theatre here tonight. He was assisted by O. Turgeon, M.P.

Mr. King dwelt at some length upon the necessity of encouragement to agriculture as the best basic industry of the Dominion. He pointed out that the latest revenue figures indicated that out of a total of $220,000,000 only $200,000 had been spent on agriculture or slightly under 1 per cent, whereas enormous sums of the public money were spent in ways that were wholly unproductive. No country can attain to greatness where the backbone of its prosperity received such unfair treatment.

He cited the circumstance that there were in Canada at present 194 armories and drill halls owned by the Government, which were being maintained even in time of peace at great expense and but twenty-five experimental farms. In the province of Ontario alone, he said, there were two experimental farms and 107 drill halls and armories.

The Government is spending this year over twenty-two and a half millions of dollars for military and naval defence and police, in addition to $175,000,000 on other military expenditures occasioned by the war in the nature of appropriations for soldiers' land settlement, soldiers' re-establishment, pensions and demobilization. For the latter item alone $33,000,000 had been voted.

Soldiers' Money O. K.
Mr. King took no exception to any expenditure being made on account of the returned soldier, but stated that apart from necessary outlays in this connection, the country should turn its attention primarily to the fostering of production, rather than to matters that were wholly unproductive in their nature.

At the present time only one-tenth of the available land of our country is under cultivation, he said. The duty of a government at this hour is to make the other nine-tenths of Canada's lands yield food for the population within and the peoples without, and to help lift the load from the shoulders of the workingmen, their wives and children by lowering living costs, continued Mr. King.

"We need more acres under crop, more crocks, more berries, more swine, more silos and fewer skyscrapers."

Eighteen Months in the SIMCOE, Oct. 28.—Lorne Helmer, aged 20, married, who was yesterday found guilty of manslaughter in striking down his Walsingham farm James A. Learn, was sentenced to eighteen months in the Reformatory by Mr. Justice Kelly at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Pronouncement was made after counsel for the prisoner had cited three similar cases in recent years where clemency had been shown.

His lordship commented upon the legal penalty permissible, and said, while personally inclined to let the prisoner go, his public duty and the demand of the public for protection through the punishment of serious crime prevented this course. He observed that from

LORNE HELMER.

September 20, till next Monday there were no less than 20 murder trials in that part of Ontario, west and north of Toronto, an unprecedented number. In the matter of clemency he considered the prisoner's past record and family history both favorable; his voluntary military service, his having assumed the full responsibilities of manhood, and his three months of previous confinement, and he expressed the opinion that good conduct would shorten the term.

Learn's son, who attended the preliminary hearing at Silver Hill, in August, and who lives at Napoleon, Ont., did not come over to the trial. There was not so much to look after. It developed during the trial that Learn was considerably in debt to Mrs. Helmer, and that the crop of the year was not sufficient to liquidate this.

The court, having been cleared for the rape case yesterday, when the jury in the murder trial retired, Mrs. Helmer was not in the court room when her husband received sentence, nor were any of the other relatives.

Mrs. Helmer received the finding on the street from The Advertiser's correspondent, who she informed that her first knowledge of the tragedy came with the announcement that her husband had been arrested. Their child is a daughter, not a son, as has been generally reported.

When seen by his mother shortly after the verdict was pronounced, Lorne Helmer told her that he did not feel guilty, and that he hoped the sentence would be a light one.

This Definite All-Inclusive Cut Has Won Greater Prestige and Hundreds of New Customers to the Big, Busy Dowler Stores

Three Weeks Ago Today We Launched
The Message That Won

This bold merchandising stroke crystallized into action public sentiment and the general demand for lower prices. This is the public's fight through us.

This drastic cut is in keeping with an established Dowler policy of protecting the buying public to the fullest limit of our dominant position. It anticipates and outdistances any downward price revisions that might occur within the next year. It cuts right through profits into the very heart of operating expenses.

In making this momentous decision, the only way we could hope to break anywhere near even was by doubled turnover. Upon the public's acceptance of this buying opportunity we depended.

Great as the loss is to us it is indeed gratifying to realize that from the start the great mass of right-thinking people were with us. Their response has been splendid—it strengthens our determination to force the issue. It's been our ambition to gain just such a tribute as this through nineteen years of straight and honest dealing.

BROTHERHOOD ONLY MEANS TO CREATE LABOR'S CONFIDENCE

Secret of Success Lies in Church, States R. G. Peever
At Rally.

MUST BE CRUSADERS

Should Act As Big Brothers
To Children—R. R. Smith
Chairman.

"The only thing that will bring quiet and confidence in the labor world in brotherhood," said Rev. Dr. R. G. Peever to a rally of the Brotherhood of London at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium last evening. Dr. Peever was one of the delegates from London to the Brotherhood convention in Washington about two weeks ago. In his address he interpreted the objects, conclusions and principles that were brought out at this convention.

"I went to Washington for two reasons," declared Dr. Peever. "One was to see the city, but the other, and main object, was to conceive the principal idea of the Brotherhood movement throughout the world. It was clearly shown there that the secret of success in this movement lies in the church. Washington is a city where unity reigns. It is a city that any country should be proud to have. Everything is a symbol of unity. Buidings, streets, and even monuments, show that wonderful success is coming to that country. There is a cemetery there, where every dead soldier is buried. At present there are over 30,000 of United States dead soldiers, some who fought in France, laid to rest. This is the kind of spirit that the Brotherhood movement should have."

Have Confidence.

"We mustn't lack confidence in our leaders. If we do it will mean down-fall. The theme of the movement lies in the churches, congregations, industry, citizenship and the world problem of universal peace. The best illustration that I can give you of brotherhood in industry is that of the recent settlement of the strike of the coal miners in England. When men can get together and arrive at a conclusion that those men did, I say that brotherhood is the greatest and only thing known in the present age. The spirit must not remain in the closed room of a church, but must go to the man next to you no matter who he is. It is a great necessity, a requirement, that the greatest of men see must reign in any country in order that it may achieve success."

"Now, in regard to brotherhood in citizenship. A good example of the great necessity of this in citizenship was shown right here in this fair city of ours at the last election, when only 29 per cent of the electors voted. That is not only a disgrace, but a danger to the city. It is up to the Brotherhood of London to drive into the men the idea of coming out and having an interest in the welfare of the city. Instead of only having 29 per cent of the electors we should have 79 per cent of the population of the city voting. We can do it, and the sooner we accomplish it the better it will be for London."

SAYS HOTEL BONDS A FINE INVESTMENT

First Mortgage Bonds As Sound As City Debentures.

President Geo. M. Reid of the Chamber of Commerce today made a clear statement as to the difference between the first mortgage bonds now being sold to erect London's new hotel and the usual city campaign to which the city is asked to subscribe.

"It should be borne in mind that when a man is putting money in the first mortgage of the new hotel he is simply loaning his money on as fine a mortgage as can be had in the city," said Mr. Reid.

"His money will bring 7 per cent, which is as good if not better than the usual mortgage, and he will be repaid in a comparatively short time."

"Some people seem to believe that they are being asked to subscribe to something in the way of a welfare fund, but the first mortgage bonds for the hotel are a loan that is as sound as city debentures."

"It has been remarkable the way the public spirited men of the city subscribed to the second mortgage bonds. They are the men who get behind the things that are good for the city every time. Their faith in their city is bringing industries and improvements to London."

"But we cannot let them shoulder everything, and we will have to have the co-operation of every citizen who can invest his thousands or hundreds in the first mortgage."

"The small investor seems to be doing his share, and for the welfare of the community we hope to have everyone who possibly can invest in a small bond. In the last Victory loan the small investors of London put up nearly six million dollars. We hope they will loan their money for the building of the new hotel. And once the responsibility is shared by all who should share it, there will be no doubt about the remainder of the bonds being quickly taken by outside investors."

No One Gained By Higher Wages

Interesting Debate On High Cost of Living At the Men's Club.

"Who is the Gainer by Higher Wages?" was the subject which 21 of the Men's Club of St. James' Church, South London debated at the regular meeting last evening. After a two-hour discussion, in which every man made a three-minute speech, a vote was taken to decide the point, and it was the general opinion that the wage-earner today, on spite of greatly increased wages, is very, very little, if at all, better off than formerly.

E. Hessel, who led the debate for the negative, declared emphatically that higher wages had resulted in profligacy in spending. This in many instances created a shortage of merchandise and sent up prices, with the result that a "vicious circle" was established, which eventually involved every person. The purchasing power of a dollar was so decreased that increases in wages were in no way proportionate, with the result that wage-earners were really far better off under former conditions.

H. Franks advanced the argument that when workmen got higher wages the bankers were the class of people to benefit most, because the money was deposited in banks, drawing 2 to 3 per cent, while the banks placed it out at 20 to 25 per cent.

Chris Hodgins declared that during the war the cost of labor and machinery advanced so much that higher living costs and higher production costs became inevitable. One of the worst tendencies was the lure of short hours and high wages in the city, which drew thousands of young men and women off the farms, and lessened production, and caused great areas of fine farm land to be neglected.

Other arguments centered around increased educational advantages, the balancing of merchandise stocks, and the fact that prior to the war many farm products were selling for far less than they should have sold for on the basis of the labor required to purchase them.

C. S. Manuel was in the chair. It was decided to hold a debate at least once a month.

CITIZENS COMPLAIN OF POWER WASTAGE

Line Was Being Tested, Says
General Manager
Buchanan.

Complaints today from South London residents that street lamps were burning in broad daylight while they were unable to obtain power from their homes, were met with the explanation that the men were testing for repairs in that circuit. It was necessary to have the power on to determine where the trouble existed. As soon as it was discovered the power was turned off again.

General Manager Buchanan advanced the same reason for lights burning in all parts of the city at 1 o'clock, each day. This is done to see that all the circuits are in working order. Plenty of power is available at this time, and all the factories are closed for the hour. The lights are burned for only three minutes.

If any trouble is discovered the men then have ample time to repair it before the lights are required at night. Formerly the tests were made just before dusk, but as the demand for power is now very heavy at that time it was thought better to transfer it to a time when the demand is comparatively light.

WILL SUMMONS BOYS WHO CAUSED DAMAGE

Plainclothes Men Around Taking Names of Youthful Offenders.

Complaints have been made to the police regarding depredations perpetrated by gangs of boys in South London, and prosecutions are likely to follow. Heavy damage has been done to some fine gardens and, not satisfied with this, boys have been carrying off front steps, gates, and damaging trees. All this is a prelude to Halloween, and it was stated today that special plainclothes men are around taking the names of the boys, and that several summonses will be issued.

POWER SCHEME IS NOT PRACTICABLE

No Plant Will Be Equipped On Thames At Hunt's Mill.

Development of power at the dam on the former Hunt mill site, now owned by the city, is not practicable for several reasons, E. V. Buchanan, general manager for the public utilities commission, said today. The chief reason is the difficulty of obtaining a power development plant. Ordered now it would require several months for it to be delivered. By that time it is expected the Chippawa development will be completed, and there will be no need for an auxiliary plant here. Even if completed in a short time in the river likely would prevent the development of much power.

The power developed at this point could not be synchronized with the hydro system, Mr. Buchanan said, a special use would have to be found for it, and this might prove a difficult task. The cost of the work would be much greater than the benefit derived from it, he claimed.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water, and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advt.

said: "The interior of the country—rich in resources and productivity—is to a large extent the origin of America's export shipments."

"This waterway if completed will be used—there is no alternative. There is no better argument for the fact that it will be used than the nature of the opposition now raised in certain quarters against the project."

"The project will pay directly as a commercial enterprise in the benefits which the people of both nations will receive."

"In addition it will pay as an economic project simply in the value of the hydro-electric power that will be produced."

"Finally, this improvement will represent a great economic benefit not to one section, but to all sections through improvement brought forward at this time to meet one of the greatest of our national and international problems, and issues, the problem of transportation."

Mr. Barlow said that the total exports of the port of Chicago as shown in statistics compiled by the department of commerce was $5,523,332 in 1919. The total imports for the same year are given as $45,803,716.

"The misleading nature of these figures," said Mr. Barlow, "is indicated by the fact that the grain shipments of Chicago for export in 1919 alone were $5,600,000 bushels, but as the price varied for each commodity, the value in dollars has not been computed. In the same year the packing house shipments for export were 1,169,623,643, and in tons 2,891,955.

"There is no development in foreign trade possible, consequent upon the opening of the St. Lawrence waterway which cannot be fully and completely handled by Chicago banks, M. A. Traynor, speaking in behalf of the Chicago Clearing House Association, said the commission.

Banks Will Co-operate.

"The banks of Chicago have a capital and surplus of about $250,000,000," Mr. Traynor said. "At the last comptroller's call on September 8 total deposits amounted to $1,829,292,229, and cash resources amounted to $500,000,000. It is clear from these figures that Chicago banks can take care of any financing required by foreign trade."

"Speaking more generally, it seems to me that advantage of waterways need little explanation. "If our crops and other commodities could have been moved promptly, we should not now be facing a severe credit stringency, with all its accompanying evils. This situation has affected not only our domestic trade, but is also seriously hampering the development of our export business. Goods intended for foreign markets are being left for months on New York docks owing to the inadequate facilities at that port."

"Foreign countries have made, by means of waterways, ports of even their inland cities, thus saving much in the way of expensive railway shipment and preventing congestion on the seacoast. It requires little demonstration to prove that the situation in this country is unusually favorable for developing direct trade between foreign countries and some of our inland towns."

"The development of a waterway from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic via the St. Lawrence, which could be used by seagoing vessels, will make Chicago accessible to foreign traffic as any city on the seacoast is now. Only a species of provincialism and local selfishness on the part of towns on the seacoast still begrudge such a development."

BOTH SIDES TRYING TO GET "IRISH VOTE" IN U. S. ELECTIONS

Majority of Ballots Expected To Go To Cox.

New York, Oct. 29.—(By the Canadian Press).—The "Irish vote" as a possible factor in the election was to the fore today. Attention was called to this phase of the campaign by a report that the recent battle between rival factions of the Irish Nationalist organization here—the Judge Cohan's group and the De Valera enthusiasts—had broken out anew on the eve of the election.

John Devoy, editor of the Gaelic American, in a statement issued today indicated that the entire Irish vote will not after all go to Cox. His statement was in reply to the announcement made yesterday by Harry Boland, secretary to "President" De Valera, that the Irish Republican Brotherhood had severed relations with the Chicago seaport because of Judge Cohan's attitude toward De Valera.

Mr. Devoy said that the statement of Boland, whom he termed the "lord high executioner of the brotherhood," was a gross breach of faith with Cohan, and declared that Boland's assertion that the latter had failed to co-operate with him was "a downright, deliberate falsehood, uttered in malice." Continuing, he said: "The purpose of his publication, on the eve of the presidential election, is very evident to those acquainted with the inside facts. It is to discredit any public action that Judge Cohan may take and to serve as an advance notice of a proclamation in favor of the League of Nations, which is scheduled to be issued this morning, so as to counteract the work of the Irish organizations against the league and help to elect Cox. Irish citizens will fittingly rebuke this silly move by their votes next Tuesday."

PRESIDENT WILSON STATES CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNOR COX

Washington, Oct. 29.—President Wilson today wrote Governor Cox, expressing his confidence in the Democratic presidential nominee.

The president said he had followed Governor Cox's course throughout the campaign with "admiration," and expressed the belief that the governor would receive the "unanimous endorsement of the voters of the country."

SPECTATORS APPLAUD WHEN COUNSEL ASKS EXTREME PENALTY

Exciting Scenes At Trial of Alfredo Cocchi.

Bologna, Oct. 29.—Applause and shouts of "Bravo!" from the spectators in the courtroom yesterday greeted Signor Franchini during his summing up of the case against Alfredo Cocchi, who is charged with the murder in New York City of Ruth Crueger, an 18-year-old high school student.

Signor Franchini asked for the conviction of the prisoner for murder in the first degree, attempted criminal assault, falsifying passports and false enrollment in the military service, with the maximum penalty on all the charges.

The prosecuting attorney reviewed the evidence at length in his efforts to refute the plea of insanity entered by the defence. He disposed of the claim of the defence that Cocchi was not sober at the time of the commission of the murder owing to his having drunk five glasses of California wine, saying: "California wine may be strong, but review it in the world, whether from California or elsewhere, is strong enough to drive a man to commit such a dastardly deed."

When Signor Franchini asked for the extreme penalty of the law and declared that if Cocchi had been apprehended in the United States, he would have passed through the "little green door" and been electrocuted, his auditors displayed such hostility toward the prisoner throughout the summing up that Judge Bagnoli at times had difficulty in raising his voice.

Cocchi sat apparently unmoved during the three hours' discourse, even when the spectators repeatedly rose and hurled scornful epithets at him.

CROP HOLDING MAY BE DECIDED UPON BY U. S. FARMERS

Washington, Oct. 29.—Representatives of agricultural interests, in conference here for the purpose of devising a plan for obtaining more liberal credits for the marketing of farm products, met today with the expectation of acting on the report of a committee named to recommend a method of procedure.

Members of the committee said they hoped to be ready to report to the conference during the day.

These shipments are the first of gold from Australia to any point outside of the British Empire.

CUSTOMS RETURNS INDICATE GENERAL SLUMP IN PRICES

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Unmistakable signs, according to the Toronto Star, that the general public is not buying at the local port aggregated only $3-as freely as in the past months, that American imports have fallen off and that prices are dropping to generally lower levels, are indicated in the customs duty returns for the port of Toronto for the month of October.

For the first 23 days in the 25 working days of the present month returns aggregated only $3,868,933. This is an average of approximately $40,000 a day or $3,500,000 for the full month.

The October returns thus show a decrease of approximately $255,000 as compared with October, 1919, and are the lowest since April of 1919, when the month's returns aggregated $2,868,933.

When The Sea Gives Up Its Dead

A Talk On Thanksgiving

Do you really give thanks?

What does Thanksgiving mean to you? Has it any spiritual significance, or is it merely an occasion for feasting?

It is not our purpose to preach, but it is our purpose to bring home to you some things for which, as a Canadian, you should give thanks.

Consider your welfare in contrast to the hopelessness of many Europeans, remembering that but for the spiritual and personal sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of our Soldiers and Seamen, Canada might be suffering as Europe is to-day.

Then consider those who still bear the loss of husbands and fathers and sons and who must continue to suffer this loss until the sea gives up its dead.

There are, in this country, wives and mothers and children whose husbands and sons and fathers just as surely laid down their lives for Canada's welfare and protection as did soldiers and sailors who died in battle.

Canada's Merchant Sailors—the unsung dead—the plain men of undaunted courage and spirit, who won for their grave the boundless deep. Cypress nor Yew shall weave for them their shade. Their memory is graven in the lonely hearts of waiting women and uncomprehending childhood.

During the war the people of Canada undertook to provide for such as these. They are the people's charge. The Navy League is merely their trustee—you are their hope and their refuge.

Special Note.—

After this year, the League expects to cease asking for funds for the relief of the Canadian dependents of Merchant Sailors who were killed on Active Service. With the Trust Funds now in hand, together with the sum set aside in the Budget, to be raised by public subscription this week, it should be possible to establish an endowment, the income from which will be sufficient to provide for these dependents until the need no longer exists.

But as many of these dependents are young children, the endowment must continue for a number of years, until they become self-supporting.

Their Faith is in You. Ye cannot—ye dare not Break Faith.

The Spirit of Service

A COLD, drizzling November rain—a sharp drop in temperature—a driving storm of sleet, freezing as it falls.

Bill Smith, telephone lineman, has finished his supper and is sitting comfortably warming his slippers feet before the fire. He has had a hard day, stringing wire in the rain, and is enjoying a welcome rest.

The telephone rings. Bill's boss, foreman of the repair department, is on the line. Long distance circuits around Springfield are down, he says; the gang is leaving at once for the scene of the trouble.

Then follow six hours of hard, cold, perhaps dangerous work. The broken circuits are joined up. Service is pronounced O.K.

In every kind of weather—cold, blizzards, electric storms—at all times of the day and night, the Bill Smith's of the telephone repair gang are on the job at short notice, wherever needed, working heroically until broken circuits are connected and your service is restored.

Bill doesn't say much about it, but without a doubt he would like you occasionally to give him a passing thought as you sit comfortably at home on a stormy evening and use your telephone.

A Miser Hates to Spend Money!

—consequently cheats himself by spending so little for what he buys, that he gets less than what he pays for.

The economizer willingly pays the right prices, but sees that he gets his money's worth.

Real economy means—buying right, not necessarily the lowest price—the best is cheapest. In underwear real economy is—

GUARANTEED UNSHRINKABLE

PURE WOOL

Look for the Sheep on every garment.

"CEETEE" is manufactured from only the very finest Australian Merino Wool, scoured and combed over and over again until every particle of foreign matter is taken out and every strand is as clean as it is possible to be made.

It is then carefully knitted on expensive and exclusive machinery, very different from the ordinary style of underwear machinery, fashioning each garment to fit the form. It has all selvedge edges, therefore cannot come unravelled; every joint is knitted together, not sewn as with ordinary underwear.

"CEETEE" is made in all sizes for men, women and children.

TELLS FARMERS TO REMAIN IN QUEBEC

QUEBEC, Oct. 28.—(Canadian Press.)—Under the heading: "Let Us Stay at Home," Le Soleil and L'Evenement yesterday published the article: "A campaign is now being carried on in certain parts of the Province of Quebec to attract French-Canadians to the colonization regions of New Ontario."

"We wish to warn our fellow-citizens against this campaign and those who are conducting it. We have in our good old province farms in abundance and of great fertility. There is no reason for leaving Quebec there is no school problem or language question, and that French-Canadians enjoy certain essential liberties which are refused them elsewhere."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

REDUCTION EXPECTED IN LIVE HOG PRICES

Quotations Will Probably Be Around $16 On Saturday.

The scarcity of all varieties of hogs sent prices up on the market today. The regular grade of hogs was sold at $16 per ton, but for other grades sales were made as low as $15 per ton. Timor hogs went at from $10 to $11 per ton, and clover hay jumped to $17 per ton.

The slow demand for hogs brought the price down to $12.50 and $15.00 per bushel.

New YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.
New York, Oct. 28.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—There was a general feeling of optimism registered by prominent issues at the opening of today's stock market, the advance being in the nature of a continuance of yesterday's late rally. Oils were the striking feature. Standard Oil of New Jersey rising 3 points. Mexican and Dutch Petroleum also were firm to strong, with Virginia-Carolina Chemical, United Fruit, Gulf States Steel and several of the coalers. Moderate reactions set in before the end of the first half hour, Crucible Steel and some of the equipments and cheaper rails receding heavily.

1:30 p.m.—Local utilities, also metals and oils, at extreme gains of 1 to 3 points. Beyond the only prominent feature of the dull noon session. An inquiry for American Smelting and National Refining was associated with reports of heavy sales of refined copper for European consumption.

Your Eyes Earn Your Living

But they do more. They are more than "the windows of the soul," they are the door through which nature sends her messages to the mind; they are the portals through which enter the messages of life itself. The eyes are your greatest source of comfort, of inspiration, of happiness. Without them—and their marvelous function of sight—man loses his most precious physical possession. Have your eyes tested by a competent optical specialist of fifteen years' experience.
