BROTHER HELD AFTER WILSON SLAYS COX

Expect Raney To Probe Police Court In London

By JOHN J. McLELLAN, Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, April 10.—Since the question of the co-ordination of Canadian railways is becoming more and more pertinent as the time for the outlining of the government policy approaches, it is understood that the administration, under the leadership of the Liberal party at a recent caucus to what extent the fair trial, which it proposes to give to the National Railways, will be put.

It was with a considerable degree of unanimity, it is understood, that the administration, under the leadership of the Liberal party at a recent caucus to what extent the fair trial, which it proposes to give to the National Railways, will be put.

How the railway problem of freight rates affects the east, particularly Ontario, is that if the west gets a lower rate the east may have to stand for a higher.

It is said that the C. P. R. will lose ten million dollars a year in the west if the Crow's Nest agreement is not extended. And if it is extended, the members opposing it talk at random about calling into question the charter rights of the great railway company, regarding freedom from taxation, and so on.

It has been decided by a ruling of the deputy speaker that matters of basic policy can be spoken of when the estimates are being discussed.

This freedom has already been taken advantage of by the Progressive party, to call into question the tariff problems which they feel in the Hon. Jacques Bureau that were being talked of, and since he is minister of customs and excise, it was undoubtedly a golden opportunity.

THE last few days have been entirely free of the "post mortem" type of debate so common the first few days.

That there has been ample opportunity cannot be denied.

If it was part of the opposition policy, and as a result they have been left at very little on account of the fact that they have no basis for such tactics.

Now, any party can always argue on political consistency, and find in it endless matter for its remarks.

If the Conservative party would trace its own history, many of the present day members would find that if they had held the views that they now believe in they would have been admitted to the Conservative party some ten or twenty years ago, and even having been admitted, they have assiduously avoided any remarks the last few days which would involve them in a discussion of the past. Instead they carefully cultivate the Progressive party.

Each of their speakers turns to the left of their benches when talking, and at times almost the Progressive party in an attempt to get applause from that section.

THE usual test with which the new members attended the sittings of the house is beginning to fall off, and many of them find themselves either with little time on their hands to deal with the business of the day or otherwise.

Shillington Remains In Cell During Service

ALTHOUGH given an opportunity to attend the divine service in the county jail Sunday morning, Harold R. Shillington, awaiting trial on a nominal charge of stealing $8,000 in government bonds from the London and Western Trusts Company, remained in his cell, while other prisoners took part in the Salvation Army service.

Shillington, former accountant of the London Institution, left London last November, being finally apprehended in Scotland, and brought to London Wednesday night, by a provincial officer.

When he appears in police court Thursday morning, Shillington will be defended by J. M. McEwen, K. C., and E. H. Braund, M. P.

CLERK, IN ROLE OF MAGISTRATE, PROVOKES IRE

London Deputation On City Gas Bill Faces Hostility Of U. F. O. Members.

HARSH CRITICISM CAUSE

Post of Crown Attorney Still Believed To Be Awaiting J. C. Elliott.

SPECIAL TO LONDON ADVERTISER.

Toronto, April 10.—Attorney-General W. E. Raney may order an investigation into the conduct of the police court at London.

This action is contemplated, it was said in well-informed circles here today, following the action of Police Court Clerk John Moule in assuming the role of magistrate and disposing of several cases on the court roster last Tuesday morning when Magistrate A. M. Graydon and Deputy-Magistrate P. H. Bartlett were in this city.

The question has been asked in the attorney-general's department, why Magistrate J. C. Wilson, chief magistrate of the city and chairman of the police commission, did not act as magistrate under the provisions of the magistrates' act when the other magistrates were absent, and if he too were out of the city, why did not one of the numerous justices of the peace officiate.

It is also pointed out that the city of London is in a rather unimposed position as a result of the fines imposed by the clerk, inasmuch as any of the accused who were fined by the clerk-magistrate might enter action and recover their money, which has since been paid into the coffers of the city.

From time to time, reports have reached the attorney-general's department that the city of London was not being followed in the police court in London. Instances where fines, materially under, and sometimes only half of that provided by law, have been imposed, have been reported here, and it is said that these were cases which were also disposed of by the court clerk.

The whole situation is now being reviewed by Mr. Raney's staff and action may result.

The police magistrate's act makes it clear that where a magistrate or deputy police magistrate is ill or absent, justices of the peace or the mayor of a municipality shall act in his stead. This act was violated by the action last week in the London court.

It is generally whispered in the corridors of the Legislature that the city of London deputation expected on Tuesday, when the bill of the London City Gas Company comes up again, may receive a warm reception from some of the former members.

The present outlook is that if many of the former members of the private bills committee, and of the house, stick to their avowed stand, the city gas bill may go through untouched, despite possible opposition to the measure on the part of Premier Drury and the opposition of the London City Gas Company.

The reason for this is the hostility and criticism of the members of the London city council to the U. F. O. government.

One former member is known to possess quite a lengthy list of "slams" taken by various members of the council at the U. F. O. regime.

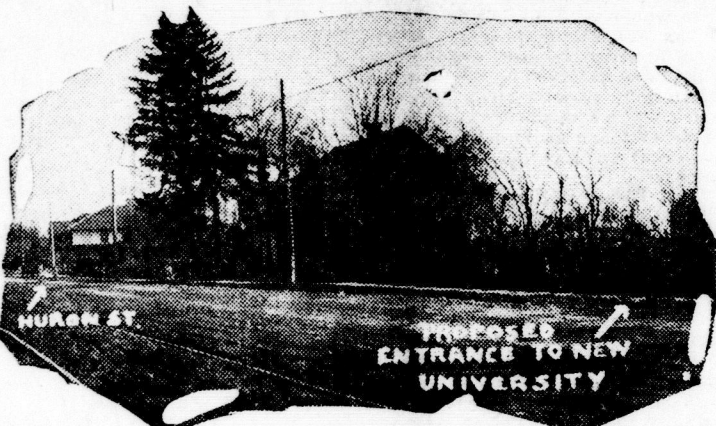

Mayor Wilson is quoted quite freely as attacking Premier Drury's hydro policy.

Mr. G. B. Drake "went off half-cock on several occasions," said this former member, to many references from remarks of this politician, the most serious and at the same time amusing to the farmer in question being, "This Drury government is rotten," and "We want to put these farmers out of business."

The post of crown attorney in London is still awaiting the pleasure of J. C. Elliott, ex-M.P.

The former West Middlesex member has not given a definite answer to the offer of the attorney-general. The condition on which the post was offered was that it would be a full-time position. This would necessitate Mr. Elliott giving up his present private practice, hence his hesitation in accepting.

Finds Happiness In His Daily Grind For a Living

By RUSSELL F. BOYD.

FRED Ling, 631 Dundas street, grinds out his living day by day. However, the grind is a pleasure to him, for it is his business. He is as keen about it as he was years ago when he entered it. Mr. Ling sharpens razors, scissors and lawn-mowers.

For years he was engaged in a London factory as an expert machinist, but he became crippled, and later took a position at the Ontario Hospital. That was when he was interested in politics. However, changes of government, which brought with them new officials, made him tire of his job, and when sickness overtook him he resigned.

As soon as he recovered, he decided to become independent of employers and go into business for himself.

An umbrella repair shop was for sale in East London, and he saw his opportunity. Soon after he bought it he moved to a new location.

Such keen edges did he put on blades that he soon obtained trade from the whole district. But Mr. Ling does not aim to do big business. His object is to be able to do a job and do it well.

Sharpening skates is his specialty. The whole situation is now being reviewed by Mr. Raney's staff and action may result.

WORLD PARLEY OPENS SESSION IN GENOA, ITALY

Conferees of 33 Nations Commence Work On Gigantic Problems.

FOCUS ON RUSSIA

Many Delegates See Central Europe As Task's Starting Points.

Genoa, April 10.—Nations of four continents today began efforts to restore the world to normal conditions. All plans had been completed today for this great economic congress, which was generally regarded by competent judges as the most important and significant assembly since the Versailles peace conference.

Representatives of 33 states were prepared to take steps that it was hoped would lead to the economic reconstruction of Europe, the conference particularly to be concerned with plans for rebuilding Central Europe and rehabilitating Russia, which was admitted by many delegates to be a subject of supreme importance by itself, perhaps the most far-reaching question which the congress will be called upon to solve.

Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain, who was the chief moving force behind the call for the conference, emphasized on the eve of the gathering the necessity there was for Europe and the world of grappling with the problems confronting the conferees. While declining to make a prediction as to what would be accomplished, he declared: "One thing is certain, we have come here to work with all energies and earnestness, and not to waste time in amusement. I am sure all the delegations are in accord on one point, and that is to reach an agreement which will prevent renewal of international conflicts, thus re-establishing general peace and reciprocal confidence between the states on a basis of economic prosperity."

As for the French delegation it was declared in its behalf it had come in an open spirit, resolved to do all possible to accomplish the task set for the conference. The French as well as the others are stressing the Russian problem, which is brought to the forefront by the presence here of the Soviet Russian delegation headed by the Soviet foreign minister, George Chicherin. Its coming, together with that of a German delegation, and delegations from the neutral states, marks the first time the allies have gathered in such a conference since the war with the nations, which were their enemies in that struggle, and others which remained outside the conflict.

Formal opening of the sessions was to take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the historic palace of St. George. This picturesque structure was built in 1250 by Frate Oliviero, and was the first official residence of the captains of the people, then the seat of the celebrated company and bank of St. George.

The oldest part of this palace is built in the style of the thirteenth century, and its most distinctive feature is the series of Orze Arches in the part of the structure projecting on the main street. An addition was made to it in the sixteenth century. On the side facing the sea is a fresco by Lazzaro Tavarone, representing St. George transfixing a dragon, but the fresco has suffered so much from the ravages of time that it cannot be recognized.

The interior has recently undergone complete restoration. Especially interesting is the Hall of the Protectors and its vestibule, where are some thirty statues of old Genoese benefactors of their country. These statues, by depositing considerable sums of money at the bank at compound interest, had as their object the reduction of tax on corn wine, etc. Some of the statues are standing, others sitting. It is remarkable to know that the latter position was only granted to the statues of those who had considerable sums which when accumulated reached 100,000 lire.

Great throngs on Palm Sunday visited this scene of today's conference and found scores of assistants engaged in carrying plants and flowers to relieve the somewhat sombre and lonely aspect of the auditorium.

WILL REPLACE GARBAGE WAGES

Mayor Is Said To Have Given Assurance Cut Will Be Halted.

PRESSURE IS ALLEGED

Staffs of Hospital, Fire and Police Departments Will Be Reduced.

Out of the maze of acts, talked-of acts, secret meetings and rumors, the salary cut fiasco at the city hall is getting down to fairly definite lines, and it can now be said, with some degree of certainty, that the whole thing will be worked out on the following basis:

Day laborers cut 5 cents an hour.

Garbage men's wages cut half a week and then replaced.

Hospital will reduce staff.

Police department may cut off six policemen.

Fire department may close one hall, perhaps two, to cut off about seven men.

City hall salaries left untouched. A saving of $6,000 will be brought about by employing less temporary help and rushing the assessors to cut down cost of assessment, etc.

The feature of the news at the city hall is the report that Mayor Wilson will have City Engineer Brazier replace the $2.21 a week which was cut off of the city hall collectors' salary.

Pressure was brought to bear on the mayor, it is reported from some source with which the name of Ald. W. J. Ashton is connected, and as a result it is said the chief executive has given assurance that this cut would be left alone.

Wilson will leave the city workers as the only employees of the entire city who will suffer a reduction, although some of the police, some firemen and some of the hospital staff may lose their positions.

The details of the cuts in the last three departments have not as yet been made public. The assurance, however, has been given that cuts will go into effect in these departments.

NABBED WHILE SEATED IN CAR NEAR JAIL GATE

MURDER CHARGE LAID

"Herb Did It," Police Claim Dying Prisoner Testified At Hospital.

SPECIAL TO LONDON ADVERTISER.

Los Angeles, April 10.—Frustrated in a spectacular dash for liberty from the Alameda county jail here late yesterday afternoon, Herbert E. Wilson, former London, Canada, evangelist, said by the police to have been the leader of a gang whose robberies on the Pacific coast during the past three years have netted more than $2,000,000, turned and shot to death one of his alleged confederates, Herbert R. Cox, formerly of Detroit, Michigan.

While police authorities announced today that a formal charge of murder will now be preferred against Wilson, the former pastor's brother, Frank, is now in custody, suspected of implication in the near jail delivery.

Frank Wilson was arrested within 200 yards of the county jail. He was seated at the wheel of an automobile with the engine operating. In the machine was found a suitcase filled with clothes, which, the authorities allege, belong to Herbert. Frank denies all knowledge of the jail-breaking plot, however.

Eddie Farrell, alias O'Brien, wanted in Toledo, Ohio, for alleged participation in a $180,000 mail robbery, accompanied Wilson and Cox in the dash for freedom.

Helen Gillespie, a friend of Herbert's and Mrs. Herbert R. Cox, widow of the slain prisoner, were both arrested shortly after the slaying. They were subsequently released, after a grueling cross-examination and when the police had satisfied themselves that neither knew of the plot to escape.

The police stated today that for several weeks Cox, Wilson and Eddie O'Brien had been plotting for a "get-away." Final arrangements were made Saturday when Wilson offered Roy Rankin, a turnkey, $1,000, if he would let the three of them out on the "bridge of sighs," a passageway leading from the county jail to the Hall of Justice.

Rankin promptly declined the offer, however, and reported the matter to Sheriff Traeger, who prepared to capture the prisoners, together with any possible accomplices who approached the prison from the outside.

Twelve deputy sheriffs had been previously placed about the jail at advantageous points.

About three o'clock Sunday the three prisoners, pleading illness, contrived to reach the jail hospital at the men's entrance to the bridge. Turnkey Rankin met them and allowed them on to the bridge.

O'Brien, the first man to start across the bridge, managed to reach the hall of justice, where he was intercepted by deputy sheriffs, who ordered him to throw up his hands.

Cox and Wilson were still on the bridge. Without warning both men started toward each other, and before the amazed officers could interfere Wilson whipped out a .38 calibre "suicide" revolver, trained it upon Cox and pulled the trigger. The latter was rushed to the hospital ward but expired within a few minutes, unable to make a complete statement. Although a court reporter was hurried to his side, he managed to rasp, "they did it," and "Who?" questioned Deputy Sheriff Traeger.

CUPID FINDS WORK A-PLENTY FOR LONDON SWAINS!

BY RUSSELL F. BOYD.

WHILE the average age of bridegrooms in many cities is higher, City Clerk S. Baker finds that the majority of London's swains who apply for a "passport" to the altar of matrimonial happiness are under 25 years old, and many of them under 20 years.

Brides in Toronto, it is said, are making sure that their prospective husbands have sufficient worldly means to support them comfortably before they marry, but mere lucre does not enter into affairs of the heart in London.

Since October 1, the city clerk has issued several licenses to persons under 18 years with the consent of their parents.

Even high school students want to settle down now-a-days. Two of them came to the clerk and asked him to issue them a license on the "sly." They were both 18 years old. He refused to comply with their request, but told them that he would issue the license and inform one of their parents. Finally they decided to tell father. Mr. Baker then telephoned the fathers of both. The wedding took place, nevertheless.

Sometimes parents will ask the clerk to refuse to grant a permit should their children ask for one. In one case the parent was too late. The wedding chimes had rung, and the record of the ceremony had been forwarded to the clerk by the clergyman.

Three young men came into the office different days. Their faces beamed when they were given the license, and they went their way rejoicing. Their joy was apparently short-lived, for later they asked for their money back. However official steps taken toward matrimony are hard to retract; in fact, the fee is never returned. It's not done anywhere.

One of the trio that tried to get the money back when he thought the bargain was not to his advantage was reported to have been married before. The parents of the bride asked to have the license cancelled. Mr. Baker has written to one of the departments of the Ontario Government in an effort to do this.

There is an old saying, "the older they are the harder they fall." Mr. Baker does not know whether the older couples fall hard, but he does know that a great many couples who are more than 55 years old have fallen.

In number, couples between the ages of 25 and 30 take second place, with those who have passed the half-century mark in life running a close third.

A widowed individual bounced into the office one morning and announced that he wanted a marriage license. However, his general appearance and manner did not impress Mr. Baker, who even had his doubts whether the man was sane. The right to wed was refused.

Whether the weather is bad or fine, whether work is scarce or plentiful, matters not to London couples. Once they have been under a heavy barrage of Cupid's arrows their mind becomes single-tracked and spells only one word for them—license.

This Year.

Hon. F. B. Carvell Will Consider Decision On Excess Baggage Rates.

A delegation representing 40,000 commercial travelers in Canada waited on Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, at Ottawa, on Friday last, to protest to the government over what the association held to be an unjust ruling in regard to the filing of income returns.

The delegation from the local travelers consisted of President E. N. Hannah, A. E. Cowley, second vice-president; J. H. Loughton, railway committee chairman; G. C. English, membership committee chairman, and Secretary George T. Hair.

The Hon. Mr. Fielding gave the delegates a hearing, but at present there is no hope of a satisfactory settlement of the difficulties, although the representatives may be summoned to Ottawa again for a further conference.

Mr. Fielding stated that it was too late this year to make any changes as instructions had already been issued from the department on the present basis.

Explain Grievances.

The travelers maintain that it is not fair to include amounts allowed them for traveling expenses under the head of general income, and also that the principle regarding the adding of a dollar a day to their incomes for every day they are out of the city is wrong.

The delegation also had a conference with the Canadian Passenger Association in the Windsor Hotel at Montreal.

Various topics of mutual interest were discussed, including matters relating to the form of commercial travelers' certificates, and both parties felt it to be a profitable meeting. A luncheon was tendered the travelers.

Excess Baggage.

The question of excess baggage was also dealt with by Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the board of railway commissioners. He will take up the matter in conference with the railways, and may ask a further meeting before making a final decision. However, a satisfactory adjustment is expected at an early date.

An opportunity was afforded the travelers of meeting the prime minister, and also hearing some of the discussion in the house before their trains left for their various destinations.

On the whole the traveling men feel that they have every reason to be gratified with the reception they received by the railway representatives, the government and the railway commissioners.

The London party returned on Saturday night and a formal report will be made to the association's directors at their next Saturday evening.

CATHOLIC WOMEN WILL GIVE PLAY FOR HOSPITALSatisfactory Reports Are Presented
By League In St. Mary's
Hall, Sunday.

Satisfactory reports were given by the conveners of the various committees at the meeting of the Catholic Women's League held Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Hall. The exceptionally large attendance showed that the women are taking a keen interest in the activities of the league.

Reports from the educational, membership and social service committees were given by the conveners from each parish.

A feature of the meeting was the Irish selections given by Miss Topley-Thomas from the songs of Leinster by Winifred Letts. The president, Mrs. Joseph Leach, urged the members to give their support to the presentation of "The Little Tycoon," which is being given by the league April 26 and 27 to raise their objective for the War Memorial Hospital. The play will be presented under the patronage of Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Major Gen. H. A. Panet and Mrs. Panet, Lieut. Col. Hill and Mrs. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pocock. The league is planning to bring Prof. Clark of Yale to address the members some time in May.

SKETCHES IRISH
HISTORY IN MAKINGGrattan O'Leary, Journalist, Addressed Western Historical and Political Science Club.

DESCRIBES LEADERS

Speaker Gives Impression Of Men and Events Of 1921, During Country's Darkest Hours.

M. Grattan O'Leary of the parliamentary press gallery at Ottawa was the chief speaker at the first annual dinner of the History and Political Science Club of Western University, held at the Tecumseh House Saturday night, and gave a most interesting account of two visits that he made to Ireland last summer with vivid pictures of the events and the main figures in the great controversy that was then at its height. Mr. O'Leary was fortunate in meeting nearly all the chief participants in the situation, De Valera, Griffiths, Collins, Greenwood, Devlin, O'Connor and others, and was also in Dublin at the time when the military occupation was being marked by the 10 o'clock curfew and the rushing through the streets of motorized lorries filled with auxiliaries. Mr. O'Leary's characterization of the various figures formed a most illuminating insight on one of the greatest of contemporary issues.

W. J. Holder, the president of the club, occupied the chair and introduced a toast list which brought responses from Professor A. J. Dorland, Miss Mary Granger, Miss Helen McIntosh, Mr. Cecil Wright, Mr. Harold Dalgleish and Mr. Gilbert Tucker. Professor Dorland pointed out that the club had brought about a fine spirit among the students engaged in the study of history and political science and had stirred interest in a most marked degree. He believed that the club would become a permanent part of the Western University life and grow greater in years ahead.

Mr. Holder, as chairman, pointed out that through the club, the members had this evening brought into intimate contact with important questions of the day, and had been impressed with the idea that history was ever in the making. The speeches of Miss Granger and Miss McIntosh were particularly pleasing.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Grange, Arthur Ford, Professor and Mrs. Dorland, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landon, Mrs. L. A. Wood, the Misses Shirley White, Rose Sanders, Ruth Davis, Jean Walker, Geraldine Webster, Catherine Campbell, Helen Carrothers, Helen McIntosh, Mary Granger, Blanche Tancock, Velma Wilkey and Lois Black, and Mr. Dalgleish, Howard L. Wallace, Ferguson, Gilbert Tucker, W. R. Parsons, W. Beamer, Cecil Wright, John Pack, Harry Cave, Delmer Lewis, F. McHardy Smith, Mr. Gladman, Fred James, W. J. Hodder and Jack Rose.

During his stay in the city, Mr. O'Leary was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landon, 76 Bruce street.

Quality of Mercy Is Not Strained In Case Before Magistrate Graydon

The cheerful atmosphere of spring penetrated even the gloomy walls of the London police court Monday morning, for although Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon stated that he had made up his mind to send a certain regular violator of the O. T. A. to the reformatory, he relented and gave the man another chance when his attention was called to the fine weather by the prisoner, who spoke with a pleasant Irish brogue. "You are going to go on till I have to send you to the reformatory," stated Patrick.

TO SUE LONDON TOWNSHIP

Mrs. Gladys Langford's Suit Sequel
To Fatality On Overhead Bridge.

J. M. McEvoy has issued a supreme court writ for his client, Mrs. Gladys Langford, for unstated damages against the municipal corporation of the county of Middlesex for the death of her husband, who was killed earlier in the year when the car which he was driving plunged through the railing of the overhead bridge crossing the Grand Trunk tracks on the River road, just west of the city limits.

The statement of claims says: "Negligence and negligence of duty, whereby the death of the husband of the said Gladys Langford, and the father of the said Phyllis Langford, was caused in the want of repair of a highway, the repair of which the defendants was under statutory duty, being that part of the highway for which the defendants were legally responsible for repair. The place is situated in the township of London, in the county of Middlesex, and being what is known as the River road, where the same crosses the G. T. R. in concession 1, about lot 20."

Burglar Breaks Jewelry Window With Stone But Gets Only Two Cheap Rings

For the third time in two years, a large plate glass window fronting on the Dundas street entrance was broken at 5:55 Monday morning.

A stone about the size of a goose egg had been thrown at the window, making a jagged opening about a foot in diameter and six inches high.

Two rings of small value are missing, according to W. J. Gray, one of the proprietors.

Apparently no one saw the robbery committed, as it was not discovered till Sergeant James Oakley of the police force was making his way up the Dundas street beat.

Detectives believe that the robbery was committed by tramps, who had been probably stealing a ride on a train. Oak street is just east of Egerton street and is close to the G. T. R. tracks.

CARMEN FAVOR STRIKE ACTION

London Street Railway Employees Vote For Cessation of Work.

PROTEST THREE CENT CUT

Will Apply To Hon. James Murdock For Conciliation Board.

London Street Railway employees voted almost unanimously in favor of a strike at a mass meeting held in the East End Hall early Sunday morning, but left the matter of calling the strike in the hands of the executive committee of the union.

This action was in protest of the three cent an hour wage cut which became effective March 1.

Meanwhile the executive committee has been instructed to apply to Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor at Ottawa, for a conciliation board. The result of the vote taken Sunday morning will be forwarded to the minister in order to add weight to the application.

Street cars were operated as usual Sunday, as the men have been ordered to stay at their posts until the executive orders otherwise.

The application for the conciliation board will be sent to the minister immediately, but the exact time when a reply will be forthcoming is not known.

Although a deadlock occurred in the Hamilton street car situation despite the efforts of a board of conciliation, and the London street carmen, it is believed, thereby lost a little of their faith in the efficacy of such a board because their decisions have not always been binding, the local union was almost a unit in favoring the dispatching of the application at the earliest possible moment.

HOLD POLICE COURT THREE DAYS A WEEK

Brantford Will Be Visited By Magistrates From Adjoining Places.

ANNIVERSARY OF VIMY

Hundreds of Veterans Celebrate Winning of Big Battle of War.

BRANTFORD, April 9.—It was officially announced that the police court would only be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. This is due to the magistrates having to come from other jurisdictions to attend court.

At a meeting on Sunday afternoon it was decided to ask all the merchants in the city to decorate their stores and windows for the coming of Baron Byng of Vimy. It is expected that the various merchants will fall in line with the idea as it was a number of them who suggested decoration scheme.

Several hundreds of veterans of the Great War celebrated the fifth anniversary of Vimy Ridge here today. Among the local units participating in the Vimy Ridge Scrap were the 19th and the 5th Battalions, the 14th Battery and the 4th C.M.R., drawn from the Brant Dragoons. Many local men served in other units during the Vimy days which cannot be specified.

At the monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society, held yesterday afternoon, many accounts and the reports of the various committees were passed. President Charles Kitchen occupied the chair. Mayor Parker was present for the first time since his being elected township officer. The report of the children's committee was a lengthy one embracing many of the various activities and problems.

Mr. Axford presented a statistical report which in part was as follows: Eighteen applications for children, five children brought to shelter (not wards of society); one child returned to the parents; 70 children involved during month; one child made ward; 23 complaints received; 27 investigations; 152 letters sent out; 107 letters received; 1 meeting addressed; 149 office interviews; 2 court attendances; 23 children in foster homes heard from; 3 wards placed out; 5 wards returned to the shelter; 17 children in the shelter at present, and 2 being boarded out. Of these 8 are wards of the society, the others being cared for on account of home conditions being unsuitable.

BALFOUR COAT-OF-ARMS ENNOBLED

LONDON, April 9.—Now that Arthur James Balfour, who was head of the British delegation to the Washington conference on the limitation of armament, has been made Sir Arthur Balfour and a Knight of the Garter, he becomes entitled to the addition of "supporters" to his coat of arms. These "supporters" generally take the form of some heraldic animals supporting the shield on each side, and may only be used by the royal family and the most exalted orders of knighthood.

In the case of peers, they go with the peerage, but for knights they are only for life. They are always granted specifically and apart from the arms.

Sir Arthur's arms, which showed three black stars and a seal's head with a crest of a palm tree, will henceforth be encircled by a blue buckled belt edged with gold, representing the Garter. The surmounting helmet, which for a plain "esquire" is in profile, now become full-faced, with the visor raised. The motto which goes with his arms is "Virtus ad aethera tendit."

REPUBLICANS MAY TRY 'COUP'

Irish Correspondent Declares Easter Week Anniversary May Give Occasion.

BRITISH ARE WATCHING

Collins Says Unless There Is Quick Change in Tactics, Civil War May Follow.

LONDON, April 10.—Will the so-called extremist republicans in Ireland observe the anniversary of the Easter Week uprising against Great Britain in 1916 by again attempting this Easter Week to oust the provisional government, and establish a republic in its place? This is a question which is being seriously discussed in well-informed circles both in England and in Ireland.

The London Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent declares that this phase of Ireland's perplexities has been rather freely debated in Dublin, and that opinions there differ widely. The correspondent is convinced that the provisional government will do nothing to prove a rebellion by immediate attempts to restore order. He is less clear about the attitude of the more radical republicans, and appears to think that the latter's action depends on how far they believe they can sway public opinion. The correspondent remarks that the extreme republicans are already in ill favor with the generally recognized thinking element in Ireland, and also with the great bulk of the general public. He recalls, however, that the people in Ireland generally were at first against the rebellious element in 1916, but later rapidly veered to the point of view of the revolutionists.

The Mail's representative in Dublin has come to the conclusion that both sides are simply waiting for the psychological moment, in the meantime carefully considering the temper of the general public in Ireland.

Churchill Watching. In certain commonly well-informed political quarters in London, a violent stroke is anticipated by extremist republicans at a very early date. According to some political reports, the British government is keenly aware of the possibility of any serious revolt this week. Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, has kept in closest touch with affairs in Ireland, and is prepared for any vigorous action that may be needed.

Lieut.-Col. Wilfrid William Ashley, representing the division in Lancashire, raised the question of another Irish rebellion in the House of Commons. He asked what instructions had been given to the British military commander in the event that a republic was proclaimed in Ireland and urged that arrangements be made for the immediate resumption of the House of Commons in such a serious contingency, before it recessed for the Easter holidays.

News has reached Limerick of an attack on the police barracks at Broadford, County Clare, occupied by official Irish Republican Army units at 2 o'clock this morning, says a press dispatch from Limerick this afternoon.

There was an exchange of fire for a considerable time, the besieged force refusing to surrender.

Capt. William O'Brien, who was in charge of the units, occupying the barracks, was fatally wounded. No other details of the fighting were available at the time this dispatch was sent.

DE VALERA IS NOT DEPOSED. Dublin, April 10.—A statement issued by the Irish Republican publicity department today contradicts the rumors, given form in an article in the London Daily Mail this morning, that Eamon de Valera has been deposed as leader of the republicans at the secret meeting of the Irish republican army in Dublin yesterday.

British military foot soldiers fully armed appeared in the streets of Dublin, Palm Sunday for the first time since the creation of a state in Ireland. Their presence caused something of a surprise amounting almost to a sensation in certain sections of the capital.

MOB GAVAN DUFFY. Tullamore, Ireland, April 10.—George Gavan Duffy, minister of foreign affairs in the Dail Eireann cabinet, was seized by a crowd of young men and women and dragged from a platform upon which he was making an address at a pro-treaty meeting before a large gathering here yesterday. The disturbers in their attack upon Duffy upset the press table, and after causing general consternation among spectators, abruptly withdrew and shouted, "Long live Eamon de Valera; long live the republic of Ireland!"

Tullamore is the capital of King's County and is located on the Grand Canal, 50 miles west, southwest, of Dublin. It has a population of approximately 5,000 people.

THREATENS CIVIL WAR. DUBLIN, April 9.—In a speech delivered at Wexford today, Michael Collins, head of the Irish provisional government, declared that unless there was an immediate change in the tone and tactics of certain of the people "it looks as if civil war can only be averted by a miracle."

Mr. Collins said that in such a contingency there was little doubt that the British would return to restore the order which the Irish would have shown themselves unable to preserve.

Train hold-ups and attempts to prevent pro-treaty meetings continued today.

Says Prohibition Acts As Deterrent To Giving Vote To Women

MONTREAL, April 10.—With the object of ascertaining definitely the views of the women of the province of Quebec in connection with total prohibition, Henry Miles, M. L. A. for St. Lawrence division, this city, who has been championing the cause of women's suffrage in the provincial legislature, has written a letter to Miss Ida St. Jean, secretary of the Federation of Women's Clubs, stating that "the beautiful ideal of prohibition never in this world can be possible," and that until the women realize this and take a broad view on the matter their chance of victory for the vote will remain small in this province."

reached Ennisecorthy, armed men who had arrived in an automobile kidnapped the engine driver so as to prevent the train from reaching Wexford.

Thousands of persons attended the meeting in Wexford. There were only feeble signs of opposition to Mr. Collins. He declared that the language of Eamon de Valera had become that of a dangerous despot; that de Valera, while posing as a lover of liberty and shouting the name of liberty, was trampling its form under foot.

Mr. Collins concluded by again appealing to de Valera to pause and consider where his language, "which is being translated into action, is hurrying the nation."

De Valera Raps Press. Speaking yesterday with reference to a cablegram from Chicago stating that the impression was spreading that the present conditions in Ireland were prompted by "reds" and irresponsible persons, de Valera said this was not the first time that Ireland and the Irish race had had to face the "misrepresentations and slanders of the British-controlled press."

"Standing on justice and on our right, we bade that press defiance," he said, "and we will do it again. Oh, ye of little faith, hold up your heads."

De Valera yesterday issued an appeal for 50,000 pounds sterling for the purpose of running candidates for the forthcoming elections.

The pro-treaty party has also issued an appeal for funds.

SARNIA TO SECURE NEW STEEL PLANT

Alderman Barr Withdraws Opposition To Original Draft of Bylaw.

PASSES THIRD READING

Agreement With Dominion Alloy Corporation To Be Voted on May 8.

SARNIA, April 9.—A special meeting of the city council was held Saturday night to consider the objections made by the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation to the amendments made to the original bylaw drafted to meet the concessions requested by the corporation for facilities in connection with the erection of a steel plant south of the city.

The city council had favored the original draft, but Ald. J. C. Barr proved an irreconcilable. At his instigation a resolution was passed at the previous meeting stipulating that the plant be erected and in operation before the city was called upon to expend any money on improvements for sewerage and waterworks.

This stipulation did not suit the officials of the corporation who wanted the improvements to grow with the plant in order that when the latter was completed the homes for the workmen would also be available.

Ald. Barr had been invited to a meeting of the chamber of commerce directors in the afternoon, where a fatherly talk was extended to him. At the evening meeting he did not press his objections any further, but refrained from voting when the original measure was passed by the council.

The bylaw was also given its third provisional reading and May 8 was set for the date of voting.

Prominent citizens filled the gallery, and if their applause was any criterion the ratemakers will pass the bylaw by a large majority.

On the same date the ratemakers will also vote on a bylaw to raise $28,000 to pay for the purchase of new equipment for the fire department, comprising a pumper and hook-and-ladder apparatus.

WORLD PARLEY OPENS SESSION

Thousands of interested Genoevese gathered along the waterfront seeking advantageous positions from which to observe foreign diplomats and distinguished statesmen upon their arrival. In the Bay of Genoa itself, screeches of small tugboats and the more impressive and deep-throated whistles of more important vessels seemed to breathe life into the modern commercial city of Genoa, whose vessels sail to markets on all seven seas.

This busy port of commerce impressed observers as a fitting background for a congress whose serious mission is the restoration of economic health to a suffering and sorely tried Europe.

A complete list of the nations and states represented, with the number of their delegates, follow:

South Africa, 4; Albania, 4; Austria, 6; Australia, 14; Belgium, 14; Bulgaria, 15; Canada, 2; Czechoslovakia, 30; Denmark, 10; Estonia, 25; Finland, 12; France, 80; Germany, 80; Great Britain, 128; Greece, 22; Ireland, 6; Italy, 60; Lithuania, 7; Luxembourg, 4; Norway, 8; New Zealand, 16; Holland, 16; Poland, 40; Portugal, 9; Rumania, 22; Russia, 12; Yugoslavia, 12; San Marino, 16; Spain, 16; Sweden, 10; Switzerland, 8, and Hungary, 7.

How It Works Out.

THE STATEMENT has been made on more than one occasion that the Liberals in the house find themselves in the position where they have to provide the money for increases in expenses over which they have no control because the civil service commission has made provision for such raises, and they simply come along and have to be met. One Progressive member has voiced the feeling that if there is such a thing as a brake on the commission no one has yet been able to discover it, or, if having made the discovery, has no knowledge of the way in which it should be worked.

An incident occurred in the house during the consideration of estimates that illustrates the point better than it could be done in any other way. The following debate, taken from the pages of Hansard, shows how it worked out:

Mr. KENNEDY (Glenora)—May I ask the minister to explain why such a large increase has been made in the salary of the director of commercial intelligence, viz., from $5,000 to $6,900? That official is now receiving a larger stipend than the deputy minister?

Mr. ROSS—That is one of the very questions I asked myself when going through the estimates—why it was that the director of commercial intelligence was paid a higher salary than the deputy minister.

Mr. McNEIGH—He never was.

Mr. ROSS—He is now.

Mr. McNEIGH—Yes, he is now.

Mr. ROSS—I understand this is under the rearrangement made by the civil service commission and the general statutory allowance made in the regulations provided under the civil service act.

Mr. McNEIGH—I really do not like to doubt the minister.

Mr. ROSS—The civil service commission fixed this salary, and it was submitted to the previous government and they approved the increase authorized by the commission.

Mr. McNEIGH—From $5,000 to $6,900? Who is the director of commercial intelligence?

Mr. ROSS—Mr. POUSETTE.

Mr. McNEIGH—And the civil service commission fixed his salary at $6,900 over a deputy minister?

Mr. ROSS—With the possibility of his going to $7,200, and the government of which my honorable friend was the prime minister approved of the regulation.

So there we have a concrete case of how the thing is working out. It may be that this is an exceptional one. Even so, the civil service commission is a young thing in years, and if any such cases as this are possible at the inception, what will have happened by the time the commission is hoary with years?

The Wheat Board.

DISCUSSION HAS been carried on at great length in Ottawa regarding the advisability of re-establishing the wheat board along very much the same lines on which it operated for a couple of years. While generally regarded as a western measure, it is more than that for several reasons. The consumers are interested greatly, as they see in the suggested operation of the board a control over a product that has a very direct bearing on a staple article of diet of the people of Canada. It is also of interest to many people in Ontario, because they have their sons or other relatives farming in Western Canada.

Briefly, the arguments advanced by the advocates of the wheat board are that as things are at present the grain grower, pressed in the fall by the banker, the grocer, the implement dealer, and others to whom he owes money, rushes his grain off to the early market in an effort to secure the top price. Some of those who are more fortunately situated than others in regard to climate and railways are able to cash in at the top figure. Then the great bulk of the grain piles in and clogs the market. When this takes place the grain speculators of the world get busy and buy at a low price, and hold the grain for a better turn. The establishment of the board, its advocates claim, will enable the outgoing of the grain to be brought under control, and the glutting will be eliminated. In other words, it is said that the man who grows the grain will get the price that the consumer of the product ultimately pays for it. There are many other arguments advanced, but in the main the above summary states the case fairly well.

It is well known that there is a difference of opinion among some of the members from the West on the question. The other members of the committee on agriculture take the attitude, and quite properly, that after getting all the information possible, they will pass on the matter. It is stated openly that the leader of the Progressives in the house, Hon. T. A. CRAWFORD, is not an enthusiast over the operation of the wheat board. He is interested in a large way in the grain business himself, and prefers open buying. In fairness to him, it must be stated that he is not advancing his private interests as opposition to the measure, neither is he showing much enthusiasm for the measure.

If substantial progress is to be made it will be necessary at the very outset to determine the legality of the step now contemplated. To do this it may be that a stated case will have to be submitted to the supreme court or the privy council.

Some of the figures submitted by JAMES ROBINSON of the executive of the council of agriculture are interesting. They are taken from the crop movement of 1921 in Western Canada. In September 33,011,520 bushels of grain were sold at Winnipeg for $53,725,000. In October the deliveries at the same point amounted to 56,165,090 bushels, and brought $61,876,000, while in November 33,836,775 bushels were sold for $27,127,000. Eliminate the month of October and compare September and November. It will be seen that in the first month some 33 million bushels were sold for about 53 million dollars, while in November 33 million bushels were sold for 27 million dollars. To bring the figures closer together we have in September 33 for $53, and in November 38 for $27. That is the condition on which the advocates of the wheat board are starting to work, and on the face of the thing they have a condition that is worthy of their best efforts.

The proposition is one that is as wide as the continent, or the world for that matter, in its scope of operations. It affects the grain growers, the grain buyers, the carrying and transporting companies by rail and water, the millers, and, most of all, the ultimate consumers of flour and grain in its various forms.

Some figures are being used that look alluring on the face of them, but they are not substantiated, nor can they be because the past operations of the wheat board were in a period when prices were continually on the upgrade, and when wheat was in great demand all over the world. It is stated by some of the advocates for instance that on the basis of the 1921 crop the farmers of the West would receive $25,000,000 more for their wheat, while the consumers would not have to pay any more for their flour. Were such a thing possible the Dominion would probably say to put the board in operation this very day, but all the figures and contentions will have to come down to facts, or something approaching facts, before it will be safe to act upon them. Ontario is ready to listen to the case, and if it proved that the western farmer—the man who grows the grain, and no one else—is going to get the extra money, and the consumers of the country are protected from being the purchasers from another monopoly, there is a fair chance of its being supported by the country at large.

Tapping the Ministers.

WHAT IS political honesty?

Where does it start, and where does it end?

Very often it will be heard that the dear general public regard the men at Ottawa as very fond of doing things that might be construed as verging on the realm of graft. Much more talk of this kind is indulged in than is ever brought to the surface and proved to be a fact.

For the present let us consider it from another standpoint. The member of Parliament, and especially a minister in the cabinet, may have a few words to tell. As a general thing these gentlemen cannot tell their troubles in the open because they do not want to offend their constituents. It is simply a matter of practical politics. They cannot afford, if they wish to remain in public life, to cut loose and tell their own people what they think of them.

Let us take a day's correspondence of a couple of members at Ottawa during the past week. These are not suppositions, cases, but absolute facts, and THE ADVERTISER knows them to be correct.

One member was notified in a very carefully worded letter that he had been elected honorary president of a baseball club. Of course, it was not stated that he was expected to contribute to the funds—at least not by the Intendant of New France, Hocquart, 1731-1748. After the exhibition in Canada he sent it to France, where it was shown.

IT'S THE OPEN SEASON FOR PLESIOSAURI.

Question—Who is the new high commissioner in London, England?

Answer—Hon. P. G. Larkin of Toronto has been appointed high commissioner for Canada in London, England.

Another member was going to lay a corner-stone at some public building, and along with the invitation to attend was a list showing the financial standing of the enterprise. Of course, it was not stated that he would not be permitted to lay the corner-stone if he did not pay the way with a contribution, but between the lines could be read the words, "come across" in letters a foot high.

Now the process of reasoning in the minds of those who are making these constant applications is as plain as mud. They know these men are elected by votes, and they reason that they will want some more of the same kind some day in the future. So why not rush in and take a levy while the member is in the mood of expecting to be returned?

The instances given above are not mere guesses. They are facts, and can be multiplied many times over a person to take the time to go around and dig up more information along the same lines. We will not go the distance of referring to it as political blackmail, but will wait for some of our readers to define it by a milder term that will as adequately state the case.

By this practice the parties that indulge in this sort of levying are doing the very thing the country is always ready to condemn in our political life at Ottawa.

Honestly—Isn't it about time the people of the country at large began to lay off in this thing?

LITTLE 'TISERS

The one drawback to this fine weather is that the weeds get out and grow just a little bit faster than the green grass.

In the civil service at Ottawa are many young girls drawing a fair wage and living at home. The payment of any further bonus to them is not in line with the effort of the government to reduce expenses.

According to the report of the auditor-general for the years 1920-21, it is shown that it is much better to be an expert witness than a carpenter. One of the former (page 301) drew $550 for 11 days as an expert witness, while the best a carpenter did in the same locality was 85 cents an hour. Moral—Be an expert witness.

Hamilton court heard a horse case, where the animal was supposed to be so docile that it would eat at the table and play croquet with the children. In reality, it kicks the side out of the stall and its food has to be lowered to it through a hole in the roof. All of which recalled DAVID HARTM's excellent horse that would "stand without hitchin'."

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 18—SPARKLING EYES.

"Her eyes sparkled with mischief," writes the novelist. He's trying to read character for you. He's describing an outward, physical sign to designate an inward mental condition. Or perhaps he says, "Her eyes sparkled with interest," or maybe it was enthusiasm with which he made them sparkle.

He has the answer to the sparkling eye. He speaks a truth from the artistic standpoint, and is but a shade off in scientific accuracy.

The point is this. Sparkling eyes do not necessarily denote any particular one of the things he mentions, but they do denote that activity, rapidity and directness of mental process which we call high intelligence, and which makes possible such things as mischief, keen interest and enthusiasm.

Think it over. You never in your life met a dull-witted person with a sparkling eye. You may have run across the uneducated persons, unlearned persons, with that peculiar brightness of eye that is so hard to describe in any other terms than "sparkling." But in every case, without exception, the normal, "bright" eye denotes a keen mind.

Of course, drugs will sometimes make the eyes shine. So will insanity. But even the drug-bright eye has a dullness to its sheen, and there is wildness in the insane eye. You can't mistake either of them for the normally bright eye for an instant.

JEST

It was during the impaneling of a jury in a New England town that the following colloquy occurred between the magistrate and a townsman:

"You are a property holder?"

"Yes, your honor."

"Married or single?"

"I have been married for five years, your honor."

"Have you formed or expressed any opinion?"

"Not for five years, your honor."

Bishop X went traveling through the western part of Cuba and stopped over night at a very small, rather uncomfortable inn. However, a very nice supper was spread for him with two roasted ducks.

Next morning, as he was ready to depart, he was surprised to see this item on his bill: "For two roasted ducks, $20."

"My son," he said to the innkeeper, "you charge high for two ducks. Are they so scarce around here?"

"No, your grace," answered the keeper. "Ducks are not scarce here, but bishops are."

"Monsieur," said a timid young man, entering the office of an industrial magnate, "I sent you yesterday a letter pertaining to Mademoiselle, your daughter."

"I see. It was a bill for 320 francs for silk stockings, wasn't it?"

"No, Monsieur."

"No?" Then it must be that little statement of 980 francs for hats?"

"Not that either, Monsieur. My communication—"

"Wait a minute, here it is. It must be this other statement of 1,240 francs for summer dresses?"

"Not exactly, Monsieur. To tell the truth, my letter referred to the hand of your daughter in marriage."

"Her hand, eh? Well, my dear fellow, I don't know who you are, but I give it to you with all my heart. Take her, but take her quick, for she just telephoned me that she had sent for the car in order to make a new raid on the shopping district."

EARLY DAYS IN WILLIAMS

From Notes and Letters of the Late ROBERT BURNS, of Sylvan and Latterly of Parkhill.

It did not require any great length of time for an early settler in West Williams to build and fit up a shanty and make it habitable for himself and family. As an instance of quick work of this sort I will mention the following: A few days after my arrival at Sylvan, I had occasion to go to Arkona, which was then called Broadway. I started early in the morning and went up the 21st concession. There was a sort of path but no brush had been cut or other improvement made. "Big Angus" McDonald of the 21st had taken up lot 8 in the 21st concession, and when I passed by no improvement had been made, not even brush cut, and when I returned in the evening, lo and behold you! there stood to my astonishment, a brand new shanty, all ready for the claphop roofing, and not a man was to be seen. Angus with six of his neighbors had arrived from East Williams after I had passed in the morning, they had built a good, large shanty and had finished their job before my return in the evening. One of the seven men who performed the shanty building feat, was no less a personage than Mr. John Waters, afterward registrar of the county of Middlesex.

It was a common practice in early settlement days for some one of the settlers to go into the woods towards evening, in search of their cattle, for it often happened that the bovines preferred staying in the woods over night to going home. Sometimes it happened that the cattle hunters became belated in the woods before they found their trusty stock, and in that case their only chance of getting home that night, was to shout as loud as possible and if they were heard by the folks at home or some of their neighbors, a rescue party with torches or lanterns would start off in pursuit of the lost hunter and rescue him from a night's lodging in the woods. A family by the name of Smith, who had settled in the 16th or 17th concession, were among the very early settlers of that part of the township, and of course neighbors were then but few and far between. One evening the two youngest boys of the family were sent off to hunt up the family cow and drive her home. When darkness came on the boys had not returned and no sound of shouting could be heard. The family at home concluded that the boys were very morning the alarm spread like wildfire and everyone who heard of it turned out to search for the lost ones. It was deemed advisable for some one to go over to Pinehill to obtain recruits from the rescue party. The writer was deputized on that errand, and it can easily be understood that I did not let grass grow beneath my feet. I soon had twenty or thirty volunteers on their way to the backwoods of West Williams, but before we reached the Smith homestead we heard the glad news that the boys had been found.

It appears that they had gone farther afield than was their wont and at dusk they found themselves at a shanty on the Centre Road, where they stayed all night being kindly treated by the inmates.

One evening at dusk, when the writer who had been but a short time at Sylvan mills, was returning from a shanty raising for Samson Loomis on the 14th concession, it became quite dark before reaching home and I unfortunately strayed from the path and notwithstanding all my efforts could not again find it, and there I was bushed sure enough. Now my only chance to escape from a night in the woods was to shout and you may bet your bottom dollar that I did a strenuous stunt at that same, and to my great relief I soon heard answering shouts, and soon Henry James and Smith Mott, with lanterns, came to my rescue. I was never more pleased to see two men in my life. They accompanied me home and I was thus saved from a night in the woods. If not, you know nothing whatever of the joy of being rescued.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE:

Don't Frighten Children—Avoid St. Vitus' Dance

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

T. VITUS' dance

usually affects children.

Twitching and other peculiar muscular movements are the common forms of the disease.

Some of the movements are influenced by the child's will, while others are involuntary and cannot be controlled.

Fright, injury, mental worry, eye strain, infectious fevers and rheumatism are the usual causes of St. Vitus' dance, or chorea, as it is technically called.

Irritability of temper, anemia, poor appetite and constipation may accompany the ailment. Heart disease may sometimes complicate it.

Real St. Vitus' dance is curable in from six weeks to two months, though it is likely to recur.

For a child suffering thus there must be rest and avoidance of over-excitation, especially of overstudy. The fitting of proper glasses may be necessary.

Digestive disturbances must be corrected. Tea, coffee, candy, cakes and sweets in general must be prohibited. Milk should be given generously.

A daily warm bath, systematic massage and electricity to the spine may in appropriate cases be needed. The doctor may find it well to prescribe chloral, the bromides or castor oil as the individual case may require.

Complications such as heart disease and rheumatism require independent treatment. Most cases need the building up of the general health and the right moral and disciplinary regime.

Toronto, Canada.

Dear Sirs:—

As we approach the end of the fifth year during which time we have continuously used the columns of the leading newspapers of Canada to advertise The Literary Digest to the Canadian public, we are pleased to say that the results of this publicity have been very satisfactory.

Of course, the "Digest" occupying as it does a unique position in the periodical world, by presenting the consensus of public opinion throughout the world on all the important subjects that interest mankind, appeals only to those men and women of intelligence who would keep abreast of current thought and action. For this reason it is necessary that we select only newspapers of high quality to carry our announcements. The papers we are using in Canada measure up fully to the required standard.

If one would reach the better class of Canadian readers one must do so through the journals constituting the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association.

Very sincerely yours,
THE LITERARY DIGEST.

G. A. Dawe
Advertising Manager.

What more striking tribute to the power of Daily Newspaper Advertising could be had than this letter from the publishers of a WEEKLY PERIODICAL, which has gained its circulation through the daily press. We repeat their comment, based upon five years' experience:

"If one would reach the better class of Canadian readers one must do so through the journals constituting the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association."

CANADIAN WEST SWEEPED BY HUGE STORM OF GOLD

April Gale in Prairie Provinces
Presages Bumper Crops.

25 KILLED IN U. S.

Grandstand Partly Demolished in Baseball Park At Dallas, Texas.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 9.—The greatest blizzard within the memory of many ancient settlers now holds the far western prairies firmly in its grip.

Since midnight Saturday snow has been falling steadily and a driving north wind has been piling it up in huge drifts in many districts. Latest reports indicate that in many places the prairie lands lie beneath a solid blanket of snow more than six inches deep; while other districts report that it is melting about as fast as it falls.

West of Banff, within the outer ring of the Rocky Mountains reports say that the fall of snow is heavier by far than that experienced in the foothills district, and it is drifting heavily before the onslaughts of a driving "Northerner." It is feared that in this district, as well as on the rim of the foothills, there will be a great loss of stock, occasioned by the filling in of pasture valleys and the general effects of the storm. At present, however, no definite reports have been received as to losses sustained by ranchers.

Range of the Storm.
The general range of the storm is over Southern Alberta, from Red Deer, in the north, to the American boundary line in the south. On the east it stretches into Saskatchewan, as far as Swift Current, while to the west its range includes the eastern section of British Columbia, where it is stated that the snowfall is by far the heaviest.

Out on the prairies, frequently, the wind veers from north to east and this has the effect of greatly increasing the drifts. Reports received from points between Medicine Hat and Swift Current say that the snow has melted almost as fast as it falls. Alberta reports that up to two o'clock Sunday afternoon, approximately seven inches of a fall is reported and that it is not melting, but is drifting badly.

While the storm may do some damage to stock, particularly so in the mountain and foothill ranching districts, it is generally looked upon by the prairie farmers as a "dorm of gold." The frost is now out of the summer fallows, and in the "dry" belt of the south moisture was badly needed.

Farmers who are well acquainted with the conditions in Southern Alberta, claim that this moisture should be worth many thousands of dollars. It augurs well, they say, for a fine crop in the south.

Early in the week a three-inch snowfall held up seeding for a few days, but the farmers generally hoped that they would be able to get out on the land by the first of the week. The advent of the great Saturday blizzard has made this impossible, but the loss of time occasioned by it is not great and any disadvantage, such as this, is more than compensated by the benefits which will result from the blizzard.

TEXAS DEATH TOLL 6.

DALLAS, Texas, April 9.—Heavy winds of cyclonic velocity and rain-storms swept north Texas and southern Oklahoma Saturday, causing the death of about 25 persons and immense property loss, according to meagre reports received here.

Tornadoes were reported at Cisco, where Mrs. R. W. Turner was probably fatally injured. A woman is in a serious condition at Ardmore. Lawton, Okla., reported 14 dead. Wichita Falls, Ranger and other north Texas towns report heavy damage.

One man was injured, three houses blown down and a portion of the Catholic Church demolished at Ranger.

Balling, Texas, reported six killed and 20th. In Eastland county, reported a cloudburst. The Milling's sanitarium at Cisco was wrecked, but no loss of life was reported.

The left field wall of the marine baseball park in Dallas was blown down and part of the roof of the grandstand ripped off.

Brownwood, reported a cyclone near Rowena, Runnels county, with 14 persons killed and heavy property damage.

TEN DEAD IN OKLAHOMA.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 9.—At least 10 persons are reported dead as a result of cyclones throughout the southwestern part of the state, according to reports filtering into the weather bureau here.

Efforts were being made to confirm a report that four or five persons had been killed near Lawton. Another report said one was killed. All lines of wire communication were down. Another report said a storm had struck between Oklahoma City and Lawton. Several were reported injured.

CHILDREN AMONG DEAD.

BALLINGER, Texas, April 9.—Six persons were killed in a cyclone which struck northwest of Rowena, in this county. The dead include two children of Frank Kavatt, one child of Joe Kohutek, an unknown white man and two negroes. The school house and many dwellings were blown down. Wire communication with the stricken district is down.

TWO DIE IN AUTO CRASH.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., April 10.—Arthur Strough and Joseph LeBeau, both of Saranac Lake, met death last night when their automobile fell ten feet into a ditch and overturned.

WORLD NEWS CUT SHORT

GENOA, April 9.—Among the rumors heard here is one that Lenin is in Genoa, disguised as a secretary, and is personally directing the work of the Russians.

ATHENS, April 9.—The chamber of deputies yesterday passed the first reading of the bill authorizing a forced loan of 1,500,000,000 drachmas about $67,500,000, with an amendment forbidding the cutting in two of banknotes, as provided in the original bill. Under this arrangement half of each note would remain in circulation, representing half of the note's value, while the other would be converted into a bond of the compulsory loan.

Another amendment permits the banks to defer for one month payment of all their obligations to residents of Greece.

MOSCOW, April 9.—Dr. Felix Klemperer, the German specialist who came to Moscow a few days ago to examine Premier Lenin, pronounced him "suffering from fatigue, but declared he had a strong constitution." M. Kalinin, president of the All-Russian Central Executive Committee, declared yesterday.

"You can judge," he added, "that a man who was able recently to deliver several three-hour speeches is not in a bad condition."

While in Moscow Dr. Klemperer apparently examined most of the Russian Soviet leaders, since M. Kalinin, remarked that the specialists' general opinion was that "all the Soviet public men possessed remarkably strong constitutions."

LONDON, April 9.—The 5 per cent war loan, the largest loan raised by the British government during the war, reached par of 100 yesterday for the first time, a premium of 5 per cent over the issue price, according to The London Times.

The advance came after the stock exchange closed and was a result of the favorable terms on which the treasury sold by tender £60,000,000 of treasury bills and 5 per cent five-year treasury bonds. The treasury bills sold at an average discount rate of 5 shillings below last week's rate, the lowest rate since the reintroduction of the tender system.

MUNICH, April 9.—In the royal chapel at Altötting, Upper Bavaria, an ancient place of pilgrimage, where the hearts of Bavarian rulers since the time of Maximilian II, Elector of Bavaria, have been deposited in silver caskets, another casket was placed yesterday.

This contains the heart of Ludwig III, who died last October in West Hungary. With solemn ceremony Ludwig's heart was laid next to that of his wife, Queen Maria Theresa, who died in 1919.

The casket was brought from Hungary to Munich, where it was venerated in the chapel of the Leuchtenberg Palace by ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht and other former royalties and leading monarchists. The ex-president of the Bavarian State, von Kahr, was also present at the service, which was conducted by Ludwig's confessor, the Benedictine Father Jud.

After the ceremony in Munich Rupprecht and others of his party accompanied the casket to Altötting, where, before it was placed in the crypt, a requiem mass was celebrated, with the casket resting on a catafalque.

COMRADESHIP LAUDED

Lord Byng and Sir Arthur
Currie Greeted With Cheers.

TORONTO, April 9.—Ten Canadian generals and hundreds of officers were among the 1,100 guests at the banquet in Toronto last night in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge, April 9, 1917.

Major-General Robert Rennie occupied the chair, and among the guests at the head table were: His excellency the governor-general, General Sir Arthur Currie, Brigadier-General J. A. Gunn, Brigadier-General C. H. Mitchell, Lieut.-General Sir H. Burdall, Major-General Sir E. W. B. Morrison, Major-General Fotheringham (surgeon-general), Major-General J. H. MacEwen (chief of staff), Surgeon-General Ryerson, Major-General H. De B. Panet, Major-General V. A. S. Williams and Hon. George P. Graham, minister of militia.

There were only two speeches. The chairman submitted the health of the governor-general, and Lord Byng, on rising to reply, was greeted with loud cheers. He said:

Lord Byng Cheered.

"Brother officers, thank you for that reception. You in the old corps know what was done on this anniversary. You know just as well as I do what you did. I want to tell you one thing that you did that I don't think you quite realize—not only did you beat the Germans, but you made yourself a corps. You forgot any little trouble there was between individuals, between battalions, between brigades, divisions, you went over that top one great whole Canadian body."

"Now, gentlemen, let's be all one great whole Canadian body in the future. Let's go in; and gentlemen, I want to help. I am here to help, because you asked me to come. Now, gentlemen, if we are going to do it, let's all be in it together."

"I know you do not want a speech; I know you do want to meet each other. Gentlemen, I wish you very best wishes that anybody can possibly frame words for. Your best of luck is my object and aim. I want, for the five years I am here, to be one of you in everything you take up. I can only say, gentlemen, one last word."

"What we are going to do I do not know, but we are going to make this Dominion the finest in the world. And gentlemen, we are going to be one in doing it."

General Currie Speaks.
General Sir Arthur Currie, who was tendered a splendid ovation, said:

"Your excellency and gentlemen: I know that I am voicing the sentiments of every man here when I say that we regard it as a great privilege to have as our guest our own corps commander. We do him every honor in the proud position which he holds as the governor-general of Canada, but to us he will always be our own old and trusted leader."

"And I give him the assurance which he asked for; that in every effort he makes for the betterment of this land he can count on a wholehearted manner on the Canadian corps. I feel that it is good to be back again among old comrades."

"That is the finest phrase that came out of the war—'comrades.' We had a good many words coined during the war—'camouflage,' 'whizzbang,' and 'prohibition'—(laughter and cheers)—but the best word of all was 'comrades.'"

Stands For Loyalty.
"It stands for loyalty, friendship, working together, unselfishness and every ideal for which we fought. And if we are going to play our part to make this land happier and more contented we must carry over before us that ideal of comradeship. And that is the message I am going to leave with you. The returned men have never yet since they returned played their part in cherishing those ideals which they fought for, and until we do that we are not going to be the force we ought to be."

TWO DROWN WHEN PARRY SOUND DAM GIVES WAY

Cecil Stalker and Donald Bruce Victims of Flood Accident.

PARRY SOUND, April 9.—Two persons lost their lives and several others had narrow escapes from drowning when the dam at the Parry Sound Lumber Mill went out this afternoon. Cecil N. Stalker, the young and popular principal of the Victor School, and Donald Bruce, a boy of nine years, were washed away in the raging flood at the moment the frail barrier on which they were standing was burst by the force of the swollen river. Kathleen Bruce, sister of the dead boy, leaped to safety as the dam went out, while a boy named Fleming clung to a portion of the broken dam and was rescued.

Mr. Stalker and a number of others had gone this afternoon to watch the raging water as it surged over the dam. Swollen by the melting snow, and fed by thousands of tributary torrents, as it made its way to the lake, the river was a magnificent sight at this point. Suddenly, without warning, the dam, which seemed massive enough, but which was unable to cope with the force of the torrent, gave way. Mr. Stalker and Donald Bruce were swept down in the mass of entangled debris, and the great flood water that surged over the ruin of the dam. Their bodies have not yet been found.

Expect St. Lawrence To Be Clear of Ice Today.

MONTREAL, April 9.—The St. Lawrence will probably be cleared of its ice by Monday afternoon. The ice is moving on all parts of the river.

Last night's wind and rain did much to start the break-up. Havoc was played with the ice until it was broken into cakes, large and small.

The ice at Sorel moved this morning, and it is expected to push again any time.

At Belmouth there was a more pronounced push of several hundred yards.

TO REPORT SALES AND PURCHASES

St. Thomas Second-Hand Dealers To Make Weekly Statements to Police.

TO REPORT SALES AND PURCHASES

Council To Take Up Regulation of Taxicab Fare in City.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 9.—Whether or not all second-hand stores of the city will be required in the future to report all purchases and sales to the police each week will be decided Monday afternoon when the police commission holds its first meeting of the year.

Believing that if such reports were made the police would be assisted greatly in tracing thefts, the city council tried one month ago to pass a bylaw forcing all dealers in second-hand goods to make such returns. It was found, however, that the city had no jurisdiction over the matter, for, according to the city solicitor, the police commission only had a right to order reports of this nature. The council was not discouraged by this setback, however, and so a committee was formed to wait on the police commission at its first meeting. Some action is sure to be taken and it is expected that the recommendation will meet with favor at the commission's hands.

At the present time all junk dealers make daily reports to the police, but the department has no control over second-hand merchants.

It was expected at one time that the commission would discuss the possibility of the purchase of a police car for the city, but no action along this line is expected. The police under present conditions carry on with some difficulty as there is no patrol to carry prisoners to the police station, and no car in which pursuit can be given to fleeing miscreants.

Taxi fares will be discussed, it is expected, and some regulation made, as it is reported that some of the drivers are charging exorbitant fares.

The commission is composed of Mayor C. E. Raven, Judge Ross and Police Magistrate Maxwell.

VON FALKENHAYN DIES IN GERMANY

BERLIN, April 9.—General Erich von Falkenhayn, former minister of war, and one-time chief of staff of the German army, died on Saturday at Wild Park, near Potsdam.

General Von Falkenhayn was appointed war minister of Germany in 1913, succeeding General Von Heeringen. Shortly after the outbreak of the world war he was appointed chief of the general staff, succeeding General Von Moltke, who at the time was declared to be ill.

In August, 1916, Von Falkenhayn was supplanted by Von Hindenburg, and shortly afterwards took the field in Transylvania against the Rumanians. Falkenhayn defeated the Rumanians in the campaign of 1916. Later he went to Asiatic Turkey where he commanded the Turks.

Von Falkenhayn was born in 1861, and was considered one of Germany's dashing commanders.

HUGHES ADVOCATES TRIBUNAL.

LONDON, April 9.—(By Canadian Press).—Premier Hughes has come to the conclusion, says a Reuters dispatch from Melbourne, that the Australian federal arbitration court is unsatisfactory, and he now advocates tribunals composed equally of employers and employees with an independent chairman to adjudicate disputes.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS

The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas therefrom; there is constant reching, and the meals are frequently vomited. There is a burning pain in the stomach, the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated, the breath bad, constipation is generally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver, as it holds back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets into the blood a badly disordered condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Keep your liver active and you will always enjoy good health. Mrs. Agnes Gallant, Reserve Mines, N. S., writes: "I had been a great sufferer for eight years, from catarrh of the stomach. I tried several, so-called, catarrh remedies without relief until a friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, which did and four vials completely relieved me. That was six years ago, and I have had no return of my old trouble."

DENIES CANADA HAS NATIONAL WORLD STATUS

Sir Clifford Sifton Declares
Dominion Needs Absolute
Self-Government.

COULD NOT DECLARE WAR

Fears Belligerent Liabilities
If Great Britain Was Involved in Strife.

OTTAWA, April 9.—Denying that Canada had complete national status because "the marks of our subordination are distinct and unquestioned," but asserting and urging that it should be recognized that Canada was capable of absolute self-government and should take steps "to have a constitutional instrument drawn which shall specifically contain provisions conferring on the Dominion complete sovereignty and national status," Sir Clifford Sifton, former minister of the interior in 1896, speaking at the luncheon of the Canadian Club here on Saturday, gave his views.

Sir Clifford was decisive in stating that Canada could not execute international treaties without the authority of Great Britain, and that in matters of peace and war "we have no distinct existence at all," adding that "we could not declare war or make peace, and we could not get rid of the liabilities of a belligerent if Great Britain becomes involved in war, no matter where it is."

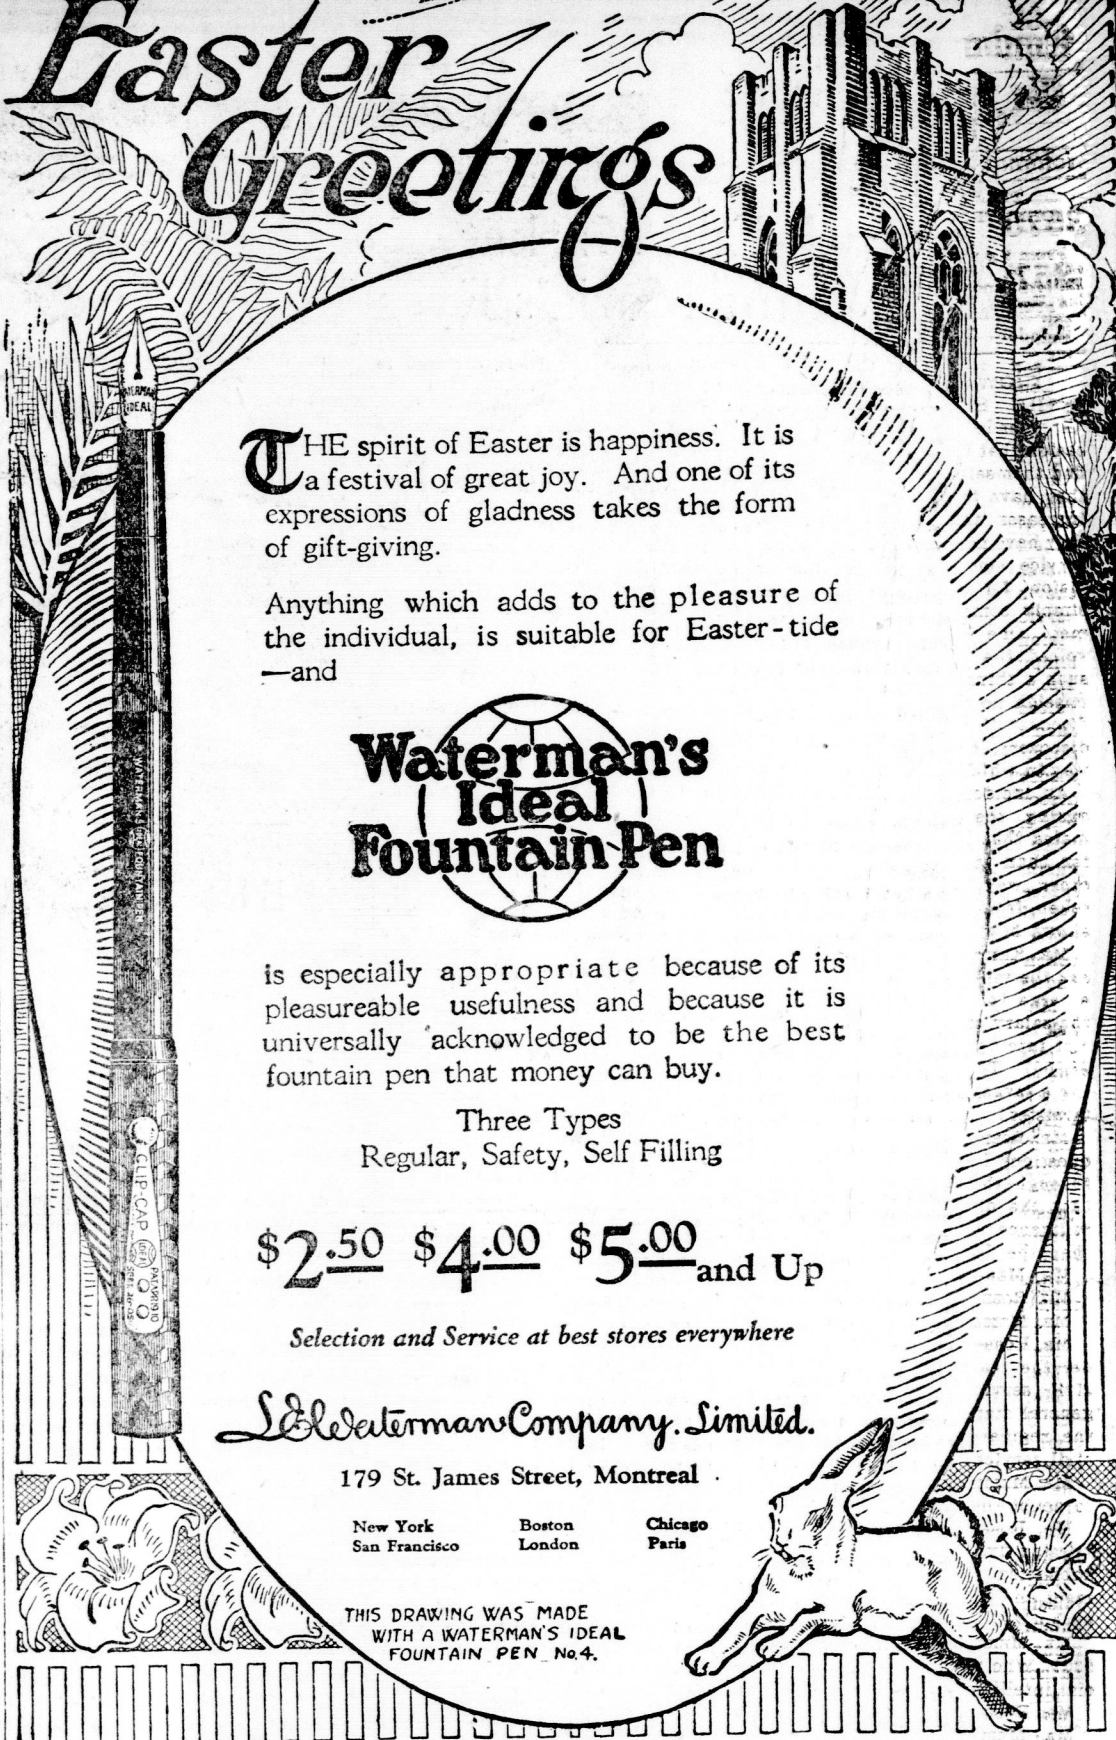

After quoting John S. Ewart, K.C., as a recognized authority "that the political status of Canada is impossible to determine," Sir Clifford gave his personal conclusion that "Canada had attained the position that in any conference to which the British empire is a party and the issue is either peace or war, this country has the right to nominate her own representative to attend such conference, and also has the right to call upon the British government to issue credentials necessary to enable Canada's delegate to appear under the aegis of the international status of the British empire."

In concluding, Sir Clifford declared that he was not sure that the British government would admit this right in all cases without objections.

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

Saturday was the time to buy maple syrup, if it was a question of quantity and price. Compared with previous days since the season opened, the old Covent Garden square was literally flooded with it. And the price, almost without exception, three dollars a gallon.

Talking to the young farmer guardian of a milk-can of syrup at $3 a gallon, one woman bemoaned the fact that she had purchased her season's supply the first day of the "Big Storm."

"And you did well," was the surprising answer of young farmer. "You mean I did well to spend a dollar and a half more than I needed to?" asked the woman, suspicion in her voice that someone was having a joke at her expense.

"I mean exactly what I said—that you did well," repeated young farmer. "You got syrup that was worth that much more when you got the first run of the season. Of course, I want to sell mine, and it looks as if I'm going to, but a fellow might as well tell the truth about these things."

In any case, superior as is the first run, there was no reason to quarrel with the flavor or thickness of much that was offered on the week-end market.

Nothing like having a perfectly good alibi. Something was said to a vendor about the appalling price of onions at 25 cents a quart.

"No wonder," he said, "considering all the distance they come." "You don't mean those seasoned onions are imported from Florida, too?" said Aunt Maria, her eye on a big measure of spinach not far away, and the tomatoes offered in boxes.

"Don't grow them there," said Mr. Gardner. "These onions come all the way from New Zealand. It costs about 16 cents to get a quart of onions here."

"Then the public pays for the freight and not for the onions?" said the market lady.

"It about comes to that," replied the vendor.

An opportunity immediately presented itself for Aunt Maria to show off her knowledge. Right nearby was another seller of onions and sundries. "How much are your onions?" she asked.

"Twenty-five cents a quart," "Oh," she commented, "you ship them from New Zealand?"

"Ship them?" exclaimed the farmer. "Nothing. Grow them myself."

One of the onions from New Zealand, 16 cents a quart was a new price, but he was equal to the task. "These are greener," he said, "mine are properly seasoned."

Insisted Aunt Maria, "you must like well on them, compared with the man in the next rig, when you don't have to pay freight amounting to 16 cents a quart to get them to London."

Not a moment's hesitation seemed necessary to think up the answer. "You see, he didn't have all the trouble of drying 'em," said Mr. Farmer.

Poultry was more plentiful than for several weeks, and there was at least one lordly turkey at 35 cents a pound that would nobly grace a festive Easter board.

On the whole, the price of "chickens" was a bit more reasonable—about 40 cents a pound, it was discovered on consulting the scales in the corner, and excellent quality poultry at that.

Sells "Drawn" Bird. Isn't there a city bylaw prohibiting the selling of drawn birds?

The first drawn bird seen there in required to keep the line in order in the forenoon hours of the sale when the choicest wares were still in stock. In any case, one policeman had his hands full, and the volunteer staff of saleswomen experienced one of the biggest rush days in their lives.

When the shop was filled to overflowing it was necessary to close the doors to give customers and those in charge a chance. The back door became an exit, and "admittance only" the order in front. Again and again it was necessary to repeat the "full house" performance.

The sale continued until 4 o'clock or later, and when returns have all been totaled up it is expected there will be a gratifying amount to be applied to the fund for much-needed renovation of the Wellington street residence.

Mrs. A. G. Calder, convener of the residence committee, was general convener, and amongst those assisting her were Mesdames E. Yeates, J. Brown, Taylor, John Macpherson, Watson, William Boyd, Lamb and the Misses Sutherland, Elliott, Moore and Vickery.

DOMINION FEDERATION IS LEADING QUESTION

Programs Out For Ontario Home-School Convention—Dr. MacGregor Speaks.

Programs have been received in London for the 3rd annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Clubs, to be held in the assembly hall of Knox College, Toronto, April 18, 19 and 20.

An important matter coming up for discussion will be the formation of a Dominion federation, and Harry Charlesworth, president of the Canadian Teachers' Association, is quoted as follows on the subject:

"With regard to the suggestion for a Dominion federation, I would personally favor such a scheme, for I am fully convinced that unless the people of Canada are awakened to the supreme need of education our country will never take the place which it should occupy amongst the peoples of the earth. Furthermore, the fact that education in Canada is controlled by the provincial authorities makes it more difficult to create a national sentiment in its favor. I do not wish to be misunderstood—I am not criticizing in any way the wisdom of provincial control of education; my object is solely to emphasize the necessity of the fullest provincial co-operation so that common policies may be adopted as far as practicable."

As far as British Columbia is concerned we are this year co-operating with the Parent-Teacher Federation in their attempt to form a provincial federation. There is no doubt that this will be accomplished at Easter, and this should make it easier for British Columbia to then affiliate with the Dominion federation."

Rev. Dr. D. C. MacGregor is the only Londoner who will speak, and by request is delivering the address on "Optical Aspects of Recreation," which he gave at the educational convention for Western Ontario held the end of February under the auspices of the London Union Mothers' Clubs. Miss Alma Binzel of Cornell University is giving a couple of lectures on child training, and among other speakers are Hon. R. H. Grant, minister of education, Sir Robert Falconer, Dr. John Waugh, president of the O. E. A., Prof. T. S. Soares, University of Chicago; Miss Metzner, supervisor of special classes; Dr. F. W. Merchant, Prof. J. L. Morrison, M.A., Queen's University; J. T. M. Anderson, director of education among the new Canadians, Regina, Sask.

Miss Turnbull of Guelph is a visitor in town, the guest of Mrs. A. G. Calder.

Mrs. Craig of Toronto will be a visitor in town in the near future, the guest of Mrs. Mara, Waterloo street.

After an absence of three years, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Benbow have returned to London, and will reside at their home on Elliott street.

Miss Gwendolyn Edmonds has returned home after a delightful visit in Detroit, where she was a guest in the home of her uncle, Rev. R. S. Hannah.

Miss Grace Blackburn who addressed the Women's Canadian Club in Chatham last week, is in Windsor, where she is speaking at the Music, Literature and Art Club of that city.

The date set for the graduation dance of Western University given by artists '23 is April 24, and will be held in the Oxford street gym, which is familiar to the graduating classes as the scene of many former parties.

Mrs. D. L. McCrae will go to Teeswater on Wednesday, where she has been asked to deliver an address under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Jabez Edmonds and Mrs. Edmonds, Witley, near South London, announce the engagement of their daughter Margaret Gwendolyn to Mr. George Tennant White of Windsor, Ontario, the marriage to take place quietly, the end of April.

Following the joint Easter thanksgiving meeting of the London Women's Missionary Auxiliaries of the Presbyterian Church, to be held in St. Andrew's Hall Tuesday afternoon next, April 11, the executive of the Presbyterian W. M. S. is entertaining the speaker of the occasion, Mrs. John MacGillivray of Toronto, president of the Dominion Council, at a down-town tea in the First Presbyterian Church, the ladies of the First Church looking after the serving.

A quiet wedding took place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the

Kippen-Croden Wedding of Saturday Smartest Society Event of Spring

An outstanding society event of the spring season was the Kippen-Croden wedding, which took place Saturday afternoon in the First Methodist Church. It was the occasion of the marriage of Gladys Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Croden, to Major William Harold Kippen, D. S. O., M. C. and bar, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kippen of Toronto, Rev. R. D. Hamilton of Burlington performing the ceremony.

Emphatically at 3:30 o'clock the bridal party entered the church, which was lovely with fragrant flowers. Tall Easter lilies intermingled with palms filled the choir loft, surrounded with clusters of ferns. Bright daffodils were caught to the guests' pews with fluffy bows of tulle.

Proceeding to the altar the bride, to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mr. A. D. Jordan, came the bride party, headed by the matron of honor, Mrs. R. S. Grindley, Chicago, and the tiny flower girl, Miss Theresa Purdon. The bride was charming in her graceful wedding gown of white molly crepe, simply made, and falling in straight lines to the uneven hemline. It was caught only at the waist with a soft girle of pearls, repeated again on the hem. A veil of rose point lace fell from a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lily of the valley and orchids, with streamers of tulle caught with clusters of pansies, completed the costume. The matron of honor's gown was likewise blue, caught at the waist with a girle of blue velvet flowers, the skirt falling in graceful drapes. Her hat was orchid mohair, with a facing of blue to match her gown, and trimmed with French flowers, and she carried a colonial bouquet of sweet peas, orchids, forget-me-nots and roses, with a shower of panicles falling from the streamers.

The flower girl was frocked in pink silk net, with tiny frills and pink ribbons, caught with rosebuds, and wore a hat of pink silk, tied with a large bow of net under the chin, her socks and slippers were pink, and she carried a colonial bouquet of many-colored blooms. Major John Gillespie, M.C., of Toronto acted as best man, and Mr. Arthur Lewis of Toronto, Col. Eric Reid, D.S.O., Col. Bartlett Rogers, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., of Toronto, and Mr. James Croden, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Central avenue. The rooms were effectively decorated with spring flowers, and the table, centered with the wedding cake, was lovely with pink roses and sweet peas, gracefully arranged.

Mrs. Croden, mother of the bride, who received with the happy couple, wore a black gown of canton crepe, embroidered in jet beads, and a black hat.

For going away the bride donned a black wrap with a carcel collar, and a smart henna hat. Mr. and Mrs. Kippen will spend their honeymoon in North Carolina.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome bag; to the matron of honor, brilliant shoe buckles, and to the flower girl, a pin, and the ushers, gold penknives.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kippen and Col. Carson McCormick of Toronto.

WOMEN'S CLUBS PLAN RALLY FOR MAY 20

Meeting Saturday afternoon, the London Girls' Cabinet made arrangements for the grand open air rally to be held on Saturday, May 20, for all the groups represented in the cabinet, this to be followed by a church parade on Sunday, May 21.

Plans were also discussed in connection with Mothers' and Daughters' week, May 8-14.

WOMEN'S U. CLUB STUDIES BARRIE.

Continuing the winter's course of studies of English novelists and their works, the University Women's Club on Saturday evening enjoyed a delightful hour with Sir James Barrie, thanks to the graceful and charming presentation of the "Scottish Dickens" by Mrs. Watson Porter.

Since, stated the speaker, Barrie's novels are inseparable from the background of his early life and environment, a sketch of these was given by way of introduction. Emphasis was laid on the point that Barrie stands out among his contemporaries as the author who has remained purely romantic, living apart from the hurly-burly world movements.

Mrs. Porter quoted an unknown writer to express her own view of the outstanding characteristics of his work. "Barrie paints his trees which grow most wonderful fruits with the pink of humor and white of pathos."

Reflexes she named the keynote of his character, responsible, she held, to a marked extent for his remarkable powers of observation. If he had fault she would consider it a tendency to idealize, thereby lowering the quality of his work. When Barrie descended to sentimentality it was when he imitated others. In some of his work, she claimed, imitation might be detected of Rousseau.

THE RIDER OF GOLDEN BAR

by WILLIAM PATTERSON WHITE

© 1922 by Little Brown and Company

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

WINGO, good-natured ranger of Golden Bar, is elected sheriff of Crocker County by the gang of politicians and cattle men who believe that Wingo is easy-going to interfere with a activities.

WALTON, niece of an honest shomer, saves Billy from being shot from ambush by MURRAY, disappointed candidate, but she is unable to make a resign from the office after the gang have threatened to kill Wingo if he fails to carry out their orders. Billy and MURRAY quarrel.

TUCKLETON, wealthy cattle man, fears that Tom Walton has been elected sheriff, and refuses to give to him the money which he has promised to give to the sheriff. Judge Driver, another politician, tells O'Gorman that Wingo appointed two honest deputies, man and Tyler.

ON WITH THE STORY. O'Gorman does appoint two deputies, asked Tip. "What to deputies going to do against orders? I can manage Billy."

"I could be sure of that," said the judge. Billy Wingo that evening came Gorman; a bluff, hearty, good-tempered man. "Tip, a tip that told you that Wingo was a good listener."

and was a good listener. Billy Wingo that evening came Gorman; a bluff, hearty, good-tempered man. "Tip, a tip that told you that Wingo was a good listener."

yet, Storm might have kept away. "I am sure of that," said the judge. Billy Wingo that evening came Gorman; a bluff, hearty, good-tempered man. "Tip, a tip that told you that Wingo was a good listener."

expect you to appoint John Kenealy. Tip said bluntly. "I don't." "You will—after you've thought it over," said the judge.

came to me. And I decided I prefer my own men." O'Gorman sighed. He thought what he would have to do. "I don't want to do it. It is one more mouth to feed, and one finger in the pie."

see, Bill, it's this way," said "Some years the party makes more than others, and—" the years it makes the most," said Bill. "Are the years I make most. Is that it?"

get the general idea." "Not the general idea of what persisted the strangely obtuse." "What is the minimum I need?"

in three to five thousand dollars said Tip, watching his vis-à-vis. Wingo paused and looked up. "I don't want to do it. It is one more mouth to feed, and one finger in the pie."

made his position plain. "Say O'Gorman made an odd noise. "What is the minimum I need?"

ever said ten thousand for a before," protested Tip. "I'm nothing like establishing a precedent. Don't be hidebound." O'Gorman raised plump hands.

level of his ears. "I didn't when I proposed you for sheriff," remarked earnestly, "that I was posing a road agent too. Oh, arg! I do admire a hawker. But what can a fellow do?"

yes, indeed I have—plenty. "I don't suppose you'll have any more of those appointments, now that you've got you want to appointing John Kenealy?"

You've got to earn that ten and."

"Bribery and corruption, Tip, is a serious crime."

"Boah! You listen to me, young fellow. We're buying you, body, soul and roll, with that ten thousand cases!"

"Tip, you're an old scoundrel!" Tip O'Gorman stared with an odd expression at Billy Wingo. "You have changed," he remarked with conviction. "I wonder—"

He got up heavily and began to pull on his overcoat. When he was gone, Billy Wingo crossed the room unhurriedly and barred the door.

"All right, boys," he said in a conversational tone. "You can come out now."

The door of an inner room opened. Two men emerged. One was a long, lean citizen with a long, lean face, and a heavy grizzled mustache. The other was shorter, of equally lean build, and considerably younger. The older man was Sheriff Shillman, the younger was Riley Tyler.

In Riley's hand was a thin block of paper. A pencil stuck up behind his ear. "Did you get it all?" queried Billy, sitting down in his chair and hunching off close to the table.

"Most of it," Riley replied. "All the important part, especially where he tried to buy you up. Gee, you've got him now. Send him over the road any time."

It was the next day that Arthur Hale, the district attorney, called on the new sheriff. He was a heavy-jawed, heavy-handed, heavy-bodied individual with black hair, close set eyes, and a wide, toothy grin.

"I hear you've appointed Shillman and Tyler deputies," Hale said accusingly. "You've got to cancel their appointments."

"Got to?" "I must be getting deaf," drawled Billy. "Seems like I heard you say got to."

"We can't have you upsetting our plans in any way, Wingo. I order you to immediately cancel the appointments of Shillman and Tyler and appoint instead Johnson and Kenealy. Do you understand?"

"Yes," said Billy in a weary voice. "I understand. I understand perfectly. You can go now."

"I'll go when I have your answer." "Your mistake. You're going now." "Even as he spoke he leaped with a foot on the door handle."

Billy swung his right foot and kicked the district attorney into a snowdrift.

cut-like agility upon the district attorney where he sat in his chair and wrenched the right arm of that surprised gentleman around behind his back.

With his left hand Billy withdrew the bar from the staple, opened the door, swung his right foot and kicked the district attorney into a snowdrift. After him Billy tossed his coat and cap. Then he closed the door and shoved the bar into place. "And that's that," said Billy Wingo.

CHAPTER VII. "YOU took your own time about coming," grunted Rafe Tuckleton.

Dan Silke crossed his knees and stared at Rafe and Skinny Shindle. "Why hurry?"

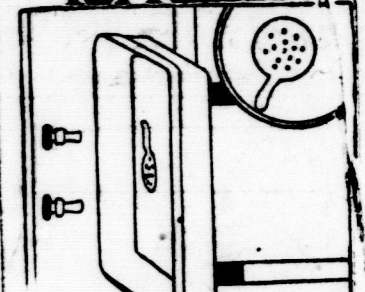

"Because you should," nagged Rafe. "This Tom Walton has gone on living all fall."

"That's tough," sympathized Mr. Silke.

"It's worse'n that. Tom ain't the only job I want you to attend to. The sheriff, Billy Wingo."

That will be extra. Rafe Tuckleton considered a moment.

Spare Time Jobs for Father

It isn't a pleasant job to clean refuse out of the sink with your hands. Make a small tin stopper that will water run through but will hold refuse. This can be made by punching holes in the tin piece. Then simply shovel out the refuse.

"Five hundred dollars apiece for Tom and the sheriff," said he. "We'll bargain for 'em separately," said Silke. "One thousand for Tom, payable in advance."

"I suppose I'll have to do as you say," Rafe grumbled. "And the same amount for the sheriff."

"Not a tall," denied Silke. "Not a tall. Killing this sheriff for you. I gotta leave the county on the jump. Do you think I'm gonna run the risk of being lynched for a measly thousand dollars? If you do, take another think. Take two of 'em! Me, I'll take two thousand for your man."

"Oh, hell, it's all right!" Rafe cried, tossing up helpless hands. "Come around here tomorrow noon and get your money."

CHAPTER VIII. "THE women make half the trouble in the world," mused young Riley Tyler, who had received the mitten from his girl of the period, the restaurant waitress, and a misanthrope in consequence.

Riley moved listlessly to the front window and drummed on the pane. "Oh, the devil," Riley groaned. "There's work for all boys. As if there wasn't enough to do in summer."

Billy Wingo joined Riley at the window. "Looks like Simon Reelfoot. I can see his long nose."

Simon Reelfoot was not well thought of by the more decent portion of the community. Men that put money out at high interest and are careless of their neighbors' property usually aren't.

Reelfoot rode up and tied his horse. "You make me sick, you fellows. Talk, talk! Talk! All right, I will see if you're able to do anything besides talk. Two of my cows have been shot and there's two or three strangers baching it in that old shack of Cayler's on Mule Creek."

"Suspicious don't count for much," said Billy. "You know that, Reelfoot. Have you any evidence against these men?"

"Sure I have," was the reply. "The bodies of my two cows and a plain track of blood and moccasins to within a mile of the cabin."

Billy nodded approvingly. "That's better. Shotgun and I will be with you in two minutes."

"I don't guess there's any tearing rush," he mumbled. "A minute ago you were in a hot sweat to have us do something right away quick. And now you ain't. What has changed you, Mr. Reelfoot? I ask to know."

"I want the job done right," was the lame explanation. "If you hustle off too sudden you might forget something."

"What do you think we're liable to forget?" queried Billy. "How do I know what? But I know it don't pay to go off half-cocked."

Simon Reelfoot's eyes strayed to the window. When the eyes swiveled back to meet those of Billy Wingo, the pucker of worry had been wiped from Reelfoot's eyebrows.

A Swiss Dot Is Sometimes Square

WHEN is a dot not a dot? When it's a tiny square. A wee circle, or even a minute embroidered rosebud.

They still call the fabric dotted Swiss, but the Swiss, unlike the leopard of Scripture, can and has changed its spots from plain dots to all sorts of adorable little designs.

Not that no round dots remain, however. As a matter of fact, most of the spring Swisses are dotted as of yore. But the newer figure is noted in the finer grades of this ever delightful summer fabric.

Lovely colors abound, almost crowding white out of the running except for confirmation and graduation frocks. Blue with red, rose pink or green dots; soft reseda green with black or white dots; lavender with dark purple dots; brown with golden yellow dots, or vice versa; gray with coral dots; these are just a few of the charming combinations to be found in this season's Swisses, which make the most practical of hot weather frocks.

The organdie family gives every indication of its intention of taking an active part in social life this coming summer.

Organdie, crisp and pert, is the flapper's own fabric. Nothing more becomes her, nothing so well brings out the slender grace of her young body, as this material. Indeed, only the slender, the young, the bright, should attempt to wear organdie. A stout woman in crisp, outstanding organdie is simply grotesque. And a flack dskin above an organdie frock is very, very sad.

For summer party frocks, the dainty, pastel shades are most loved. Orchid is as popular as rose pink, and blue is another favorite. Yellow, in the new dent de lion shade, with a wreath of black-eyed susans, for a girlie, makes one charming organdie frock.

Organdie is much used to combine with dotted Swisses or printed cotton materials for the two-tone or two-fabric frocks so much in vogue just now.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

MAGIC MONEY [By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"We'd better not stop," said Nick.

THIS time the Twins got over the Chocolate Mountain safely. No more sliding back and forth. Jack Frost and North Wind, with their cold breath, kept the mountain as hard as a rock. Eakimo pie, and Twelve Toes was furious. He put his watch crystal back in its case with a great snap and ground his awful teeth. "I thought I had them that time, sure," he raged.

He went into his cave and got out his spyglass and took a good look. When he discovered that the Twins were not only safe but that the raveling had disappeared from the record, he was completely beside himself.

"Only two more mouths to dine and the Seven Valleys left," he shrieked. "I'll have to see to it that each one is harder to cross than the last."

Well, Nancy and Nick started up the Five-and-ten-cent-store Mountain with light hearts. It did seem as though most of their troubles were over at last. They had no idea of

Duncan Tells Why Sending Power of Radio Varies

BY R. L. DUNCAN.

RADIO waves in the air behave pretty much like waves in the water.

Suppose a string is attached to a stone which is plunged in and out of the water, constantly sending out wave lengths—this is just the operation of a radio transmitter during a sending.

If the stone is large and more force or pressure is put behind it, the waves will travel outward further.

Just so with a radio transmitter. If the source of power is greater, the waves will travel further.

Wave lengths depend on the amount of inductance and capacity in the antenna circuit, of the set and the frequency with which the alternations take place in the transmitted current.

In the transmitting instrument there is an inductance consisting of a spiral coil of heavy copper wire which is variable. By means of this more inductance may be added and the wave length increased.

If the main antenna has too much inductance and the wave length is too long, a condenser of about .001 capacity is placed in series with the antenna circuit to cut down the length.

Wave lengths travel with the speed of light—186,000 miles a second. The waves may be sent out in one direction, if the antenna is constructed directionally.

Take a large, flat stone and let the largest surface strike the water first. The waves will travel in one direction.

In radio transmitting the directional aerial is used only when the transmitting station wants to throw the most of their energy in one direction.

Broadcasting stations do not use directional antennas. They want to cover the largest possible area.

RADIO PRIMER. Astatic Pair—This term means two magnetic needles of equal length and strength which are fixed parallel with unlike poles adjacent and with magnetic axis in the same vertical plane.

How Water Waves Radiate. Unseen Wireless Waves Behave the Same Way.

the electromagnetic waves will travel a longer distance. But length of the wave will remain the same. The amount of power of a sending set has nothing to do with the wave length.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

EGG DISHES

JUST because it's the Lenten season and eggs are cheaper than they have been for years why not use them lavishly?

But remember this: Egg dishes must be accompanied by coarse breads and green vegetables. Eggs are concentrated and cook in its own juice.

Surround rice and eggs with a border of cooked and chopped and seasoned spinach. Serve very hot. This dish supplies protein, starch and minerals.

It is an excellent breakfast dish for children, and will be found quite acceptable for luncheon or dinner.

Creamed Eggs With Mushrooms. Four hard-boiled eggs, 1 1/2 cups canned or fresh mushrooms, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, paprika, minced parsley, 4 squares buttered toast.

Melt butter, add mushrooms carefully prepared and dried between towels. Fry slowly for five minutes. Sift over flour and stir until well blended.

Add milk slowly and cook till thick and smooth. Pour over hot toast and add the hard-boiled eggs cut in quarters. Season with salt and paprika when about half the milk

The BOOKSHELF

THREE OF THEM. By Maxim Gorky. Translated by A. Linden. New York: Alfred A. Knopf. $2.

LIKE de Maupassant, Maxim Gorky is regarded as a great writer of short stories who also wrote novels.

This estimate is a true one despite the fact that the greatness of Gorky is to be seen in his novels as well as in his other work. For both the character of his art and his subject matter find their true expression in the brief, poignant narrative which depends on incident rather than plot, on revelation rather than development.

Gorky writes of that miserable, bewildered creature in the lower depths of Russian degradation whose life is a succession of sorrows and sufferings, whose struggle is an ignorant groping in the mire, and whose end is an ignoble submission to "our fate" or an equally ignoble death.

These creatures have neither the definite goal nor the consistency of purpose which might enable a writer to build a single action of their striving or a tragedy of their failure; they merely plod on and on like a man caught in the quicksands, exulting themselves with great effort and difficulty from one hole to sink immediately into another.

"Three of Them" is a perfect sample of Gorky's novel, its power and its weakness. It is the story of two boys and a girl who grow up in the slums of a Russian town and who, strive as they may, cannot escape the squalor, the bestiality and the injustice to which they are doomed by their place in society.

As a description of life in the growing Russia of the caars it is unsurpassed; as a narrative of the hero's battle with his problems it is inferior to all the great novels of our time.

Here is a succession of sordid incidents; here is pain long drawn out and grown tedious; here is aimlessness raised to a leit-motif. A French translator shortened this novel some 60 pages by ending it with the visit of Luneff, the chief character, to the grave of the man he had murdered, and the implied reason for that is the injustice to which they are doomed by their place in society.

Gorky's artistic integrity makes it impossible for him to falsify life for the sake of a good plot. That he has recognized the weakness or rather the limitations of his novels is evidenced by the scant number he has published. Therefore, Canadian students of the greatest living Russian author must feel all the more grateful to the publishers for bringing out in this attractive form the faithful London translation.

The London and District Junior Soccer Association is showing the way in speedy organization work, and an early season's start. Their complete schedule calls for two games a week on April 15. The junior constitution is in the hands of the printers and will be distributed to the clubs as soon as completed.

All the teams in London are working out hard. The Grand Trunks are getting a good deal of their conditioning from using the roller on their new athletic playing field, which is rapidly rounding into shape. The R. C. R's, too, are putting in strenuous workouts, and are in splendid shape.

The second round of the Gurd Challenge Cup will be played off on Sept. 9. After completion of the Gurd competitions, the Injured Players Cup will be played off.

The schedule is as follows:

The schedule arranged is as follows: April 15—United Vets. vs. R. C. R.; W. O. R. vs. St. Johns Rovers; April 17—G. T. R. vs. 12th Battery; April 22—St. Johns Rovers vs. G. T. R.; 12th Battery vs. R. A Race of Centenarians

The 1910 census of the world showed that in Great Britain, the United States, France and Germany, only one person every 10,000 lived to be a hundred years old, but that in Roumania and Bulgaria one out of every 250 lived a century or over, many living to be 125 years old, and that a large proportion of the men of Balkan countries were over 6½ feet tall. The diet of the latter races is almost entirely whole rye bread and sour milk.

ROMAN MEAL is a combination of entire grains, in proportions of a properly balanced ration. 35% of it is rye, rich in the salines which promote growth. If you would live to a grand old age, dispense with refined cereals and use Roman Meal.

RUGGER RESULTS

LONDON, April 9.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Cook scored two of Chelsea's goals in their defeat of Everton away from home on Saturday, and their success was a great blow to Everton, as the latter not long ago spent many thousands of pounds to get new players in order to save the team from relegation to the second division, a fate which they again stand in grave danger of as a result of this match.

Hotspur reached the second place in the first division table because of a slightly better goal average than Burnley. Their win was exceedingly lucky, since Birmingham was actually beaten by a goal, but a center by Dimmock through his own goal.

Nott's Forest's celebrated fullbacks, Jones and Bulling, whose extraordinary consistency has been such an all-inclusive factor in the team's success this season, gave a superb display against Clapton Orient. Another excellent exhibition was afforded by Gibson, who played right, who was playing village football a year ago, but who, on Saturday's form, will soon be in the international circle.

DEMAND FAIR PLAY FOR SHAW

St. Thomas Trades and Labor Council Ask Consideration For City Official.

HAS SERVED 30 YEARS

Oppose Chamber of Commerce Taking Part in Community Chest Organization.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 9.—Fair play for W. J. Shaw, license inspector, health inspector and relief officer of this city, who is under the fire of Ald. M. Penhale, chairman of No. 4 committee of the city council, is being demanded by the labor men of the city, who discussed the matter, along with other civic questions at the last meeting of the trades and labor council.

Almost 30 Years.

Because of Mr. Shaw's long service in the offices he holds, covering a period of almost 30 years, the labor men of the trades council believe that he should be given every opportunity to defend himself against the charges made against his department before any action is taken by the city fathers to secure his resignation. In the resolution drawn by the labor men a strong plea was made for British fair play on behalf of Mr. Shaw.

The trades council was unanimous in the belief that a majority of the citizens would not tolerate Mr. Shaw's dismissal. Mr. Shaw was eulogized at the meeting as the hardest-worked man of all the city officials, and that he had always given his best attention to all work pertaining to his position.

The council is also opposed to the chamber of commerce taking any part in the proposed community chest fund organization. As there is a committee on charity in the city council the members could not see why it should not take the initiative in the formation of such an organization. The chamber, they thought, should confine itself to the business for which they claimed it was formed, namely, the industrial development of the city.

Bylaw To People.

It was resolved that council should endorse the stand taken by the gas committee in deciding to send the bylaw regarding the installation of the vertical retort system at a cost of $120,000 to the people.

It was felt that to save cost other bylaws should go before the electors at the same time.

WILL BUILD NEW STATION AT GALT

General Manager Kirkwood Receives Appropriation For Construction of Depot.

LOCATED ON MAIN STREET

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bleiler, Preston, Celebrate Fifty Years of Married Life.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, April 9.—For the past two years the city has been promised a new depot to serve the Grand River, Lake Erie and Northern Railways, to be located on Upper Main street, where the two lines connect. It is now announced that the work of construction will be started within a few weeks' time. General Manager M. W. Kirkwood was in Montreal last week, and while the completed plans for the structure have not been forwarded the appropriation covering the cost of the building has been received, which assures construction.

The First Baptist Church today celebrated its 46th anniversary. Large congregations attended both services. The special speaker of the day was Rev. J. D. McLachlan, B.A. of Brantford, a former pastor. Special music was provided by the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bleiler of Preston have just completed 50 years of married life. They have spent most of their lives in Preston, and are at present both enjoying good health. STEALS BEDDING OF RESCUE HOME

Ratepayers of St. Thomas Swell Coffers of City Treasury.

ST. THOMAS, April 9.—Despite the general tightness of the money market, more taxes have been paid in this city so far this year than during the corresponding time of any previous year, according to City Treasurer S. O. Perry.

Although the first installment of taxes is not due until April 15, scores of citizens have settled their first accounts with the city.

The ratepayers will be glad to learn that although the tax rate this year is lower, by 3 mills than in 1921, the city will have little difficulty in keeping within the estimates, that is if the prospect of the board of education, the largest spending body in the city, can be taken as any criterion. R. L. Newton, secretary of the board, stated that only $53,000 out of the apportioned $144,000 has been spent, with the lightest spending period of the year remaining.

Must Get Permit OR QUIT BUS LINE

Driver of Vehicle Summoned Before Magistrate Weir of Kitchener.

HEARING IS ADJOURNED

Anniversary of Vimy Ridge Fittingly Observed By Sacred Concert.

Special to London Advertiser.

KITCHENER, April 9.—The Bridgeport bus, which started operations here about two weeks ago in opposition to the Waterloo-Wellington Street Railway, which was charging a 10-cent fare, will have to suspend operations unless a license can be obtained from the department of highways, as the police commission of the city council have to grant a license to a bus which runs in opposition to an established street railway service.

Since the bus began to run and charged only 5 cents between Bridgeport and Kitchener, the Waterloo-Wellington Street Railway has also cut its fare from 10 to 5 cents. The driver of the bus was before Magistrate Weir charged with driving without a proper license. He was found guilty, and the case adjourned pending his securing a license from the highways department.

William Birchill, one of the city's best-known citizens, passed away yesterday after a lingering illness. Deceased was well known for his great love of flowers and for his exhibitions at various horticultural exhibitions, where his many varieties won first prizes. He was engaged for the last eight years as clerk in charge of the sub-postoffice at the G. T. R. station here. Besides his widow, he leaves two sons, Philip and Ralph.

The anniversary of Vimy Ridge was fittingly observed at the Lyric Theatre here tonight by a sacred concert rendered by the Kitchener Regimental band. The theatre was crowded with returned men, but no speeches were made. The returned men are observing the occasion at their own hall tomorrow night, when proper tribute will be paid to the memory of the boys who fell in the great battle. Mention was made of the anniversary in practically all of the city churches today.

REMOVED TO HOSPITAL

Burglars Caught in Act of Ransacking Village Store.

Special to London Advertiser.

THAMESVILLE, April 9.—Chief of Police William Pickard of this village was shot through the left leg by burglars at 4 o'clock this morning, both bones being badly shattered, and it is expected that amputation will be necessary.

Answering a telephone call from the central operator, who had been notified by nearby residents who saw the burglars at work at Bambridge's store, Chief Pickard responded immediately, and single-handed made an attempt to capture them. When the chief came within 50 yards of the store the man on guard rapped on the door and beat a hasty retreat, Pickard firing two shots in rapid succession. Two others who were inside the store came out and fired three shots at the officer, one shot hitting his mark.

Within a few minutes several residents were on the scene, and the alarm sounded, which brought scores more to the street, a large number being heavily armed.

Several Indians from the Moravian town Reserve had been in town Saturday evening, three of whom were suspected of the crime.

A message to High County Constable George Peters of Chatham brought him to town in short order, and chase was at once given.

After the shooting Chief Pickard was removed to the home of his son here, where first aid was rendered, later being removed to his home, where physicians attended him. The injury, which consisted of both bones being fractured, was about four inches above the ankle, the foot hanging limp. He was removed to the General Hospital at Chatham this afternoon.

He pleaded guilty to the offence, through his counsel, L. W. Goetz, and a fine of $1,000 and costs or three months in default of payment was imposed. Following the magistrate's decision, Mr. Goetz announced that he would appeal the case.

FEAR WORK OF ASSASSIN WHEN AT CONFERENCE

Russian Statesmen Seek Better Facilities During Genoa Conference.

FIFTEEN WILL ATTEND

Meeting Is First Since 1917 With Representatives of Rest of Europe.

GENOA, April 9.—None of the more than 1,000 persons who will sit as delegates, advisers and experts in the Genoa Economic Conference, which opens here tomorrow, will command greater public interest than the small group of men representing Russia. While prominent statesmen, diplomats and political leaders of almost every other European country are well known to the average reader for the reason that they have participated in numerous assemblies and conferences since the Versailles deliberations, the Russians are meeting for the first time since 1917 with representatives of the rest of Europe.

The all-Russian Central executive committee, meeting late in January, elected a slate of 15 prominent Soviet statesmen headed by Premier Lenin, giving them full plenipotentiary powers in all matters affecting Russia to come before the conference. Responsibility for this delegation fell upon Vice-Chairman George Chicherin, Bolshevik foreign minister, however, when it was decided that Lenin was too ill to leave Moscow. It also was said that fear of assassination if he left Russia played an important part in keeping the Bolshevik premier within his own domains.

Concern over their personal safety also was displayed by other members of the delegation, particularly when they reached Genoa. Late in March, when the Italian government had assigned them to a villa at Rapallo, 35 miles out of Genoa, Chicherin issued a statement criticizing the Italians for thus isolating the Russians and calling attention to "the daily grunting of 35 miles" which the delegates would have to run in motorcars under conditions "especially convenient for assassination."

While the Italian government did not make formal answer to several notes of protest to the Rapallo incident, it was explained to the Russians that Italy was having trouble with her own radicals and feared the presence of

Gains Forgiveness of Sweetheart And Leniency From Magistrate

ST. THOMAS, April 8.—With suspended sentence and what was seemingly more important still, the full forgiveness of his 17-year-old sweetheart, a youth of Yarmouth Heights who pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Maxwell Saturday morning on a charge of stealing $3 from the home of his lady love, left the local police court Saturday morning determined to go straight hereafter and to make himself more worthy of the faith of the girl.

Shamefacedly the boy admitted to the court that he had stolen the money from beneath the piano cover while his friend was absent from the room for a few minutes. With the money in his possession he had hurried away from the house shortly after her return to the room, thereby bringing on his head suspicion when the loss was eventually discovered.

The prisoner claimed that he regretted bitterly that he had done wrong. He was almost broke when he had called on his girl, and the sight of the money proved too great a temptation. He made a plea for leniency, telling the magistrate that he intended to keep out of trouble in the future.

Although it was the girl who had first suspected her lover of doing wrong, she was all compassion when she appeared in court. She forgave him completely and openly, but a stern-eyed father, who did not force further than that.

The youth was ordered to reimburse the family for the loss, and to pay the witness fees.

soviet government considered too independent, and also too favorable to the United States. He formerly resided in New York under the name of Tobinson, is Labor Leader.

Alexander Shubin, soviet commissioner of labor, and an old leader of the Petrograd labor movement, is a metal worker, and one of the three trade union leaders appointed to the delegation. He is well known in Russia for his position as leader of the workers' opposition, which nearly caused a split in the communist party in 1920.

Twice he has been given minor positions in the Murmansk district and at Gornel in order to keep him away from Moscow. Following his trade of metal worker, he lived in the United States, London and Sweden, returning to Russia in 1917.

Christian Rakovsky, president of the Ukrainian Republic, a Rumanian Jew, was expelled from his country as a socialist agitator, and went to Russia in 1917 to join the Bolsheviks. He speaks several languages, including French, German, Turkish and Russian. He is regarded as intelligent, ambitious and cultured.

M. Nakhomoff, president of the Soviet Azerbaijan Republic, will represent the four Caucasus republics. He is a Tartar Mussulman, 55 years old, and popular at home. Until 40 years of age he was a country school teacher, and then studied medicine at the University of Odessa. His entrance into politics was as a leader of the Persian revolution of 1908.

He endeared himself to the people of the Azerbaijan Republic when he repeatedly refused to sign warrants for the 5,000 or 6,000 persons of death carried out by the Cheka at Baku after the Azerbaijan Republic was taken back into Soviet Russia more than a year ago.

The delegation is completed by M. Litvinoff, soviet minister for foreign affairs; M. Vorovsky, soviet representative in Rome; M. Mikhlin, representing Soviet Georgia; M. Bekkadian, representing Soviet Armenia; M. Hadjief, representing Soviet Bokhara; M. Roudzick and M. Salomonoff, trade union leaders.

DISCUSS BEST WAYS TO CURE TUBERCULOSIS

Medical Officers Meet To Deal With Treatment of Soldiers.

CONFERENCE IN OTTAWA

Study Problem of Caring For Afflicted C. E. F. Veterans.

OTTAWA, April 8.—The treatment of tuberculosis among members and ex-members of the C. E. F. has since the organization of the military hospitals commission in 1915 engaged the active attention of the government of Canada. When the problem was first confronted there was little accommodation for this class of patient and the scope of the work was limited. Thanks to the activity of the medical and administrative officers of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, together with the co-operation of the men engaged in the treatment of this disease throughout Canada, more has been accomplished during the past six years, than under pre-war conditions would have been possible in twenty.

Owing to the insidious nature of this disease the exchange of views as to methods of treatment, occupational therapy, sanatorium control and discipline, after-care, etc., between the men handling the problem and those charged with the general administration of the work has been found to be necessary. For some years past, therefore, annual conferences have been held with the superintendents of Canadian sanatoriums, and great benefit has resulted, both to the ex-soldier and civilian patients of these institutions.

Such a conference has been held in this city. The program has covered many subjects of interest, the following being the main items discussed:

Diagnosis, pulmonary tuberculosis, etiological association of service conditions and basis of recognition that tuberculosis is due to or aggravated by service in cases demonstrated as active more than twelve months post discharge.

Classification of pulmonary tuberculosis. Principles and main essentials of sanatorium treatment. Standardization of methods, duration and conditions determining patient's discharge.

Heliotherapy and artificial light therapy in the treatment of surgical tuberculosis. Use of sanatorium as diagnostic center and for the treatment of non-tuberculous pulmonary conditions.

Standardization of sanatorium accounting. Economy in the purchase of supplies. Serum tests and laboratory work generally. Conduct of patients undergoing treatment.

After-care and provision of sheltered employment through labor bureaus, special workshops and industrial settlements. Vocational training for the tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis morbidity and mortality. Classification of pulmonary tuberculosis in relation to percentage of pensionable disability.

Each subject was introduced by an officer of the department or tuberculosis specialist thoroughly conversant with the subject. The discussion which followed each paper disclosed many interesting and instructive sidelights.

Lead in Discussion. Among those who introduced discussion were: Dr. C. D. Parfitt, Grantham; Dr. J. R. Byers, St. Agathe; Dr. A. H. Baker, Calgary; Dr. D. A. Stewart, Ninette, Man.; Dr. D. A. Carmichael, River Glade Sanatorium, N.B.; Dr. H. B. Logie, Edmonton; Dr. J. H. Elliott, Toronto; Dr. J. H. Holbrook, Hamilton; Dr. W. Wilson, Vancouver; Dr. J. S. Pritchard, Battle Creek, Michigan, U.S.A.; Dr. J. H. W. Caulfield, Toronto; Dr. R. D. Hewitt, Toronto; Dr. F. H. Pratten, Byron, near London; Dr. A. T. Bond, Ottawa; Dr. H. A. Rawlings, Ottawa; Dr. J. E. Ritchie, Regina; Dr. G. C. Brink, Hamilton; Dr. A. F. Miller, Kentville, N.S.; Dr. H. A. Parris, St. John, N.B.; Dr. W. D. Kendall, Gravenhurst; Dr. B. H. Hopkins, Kingston.

In special recognition of the services of the retiring judges, Hon. Mr. Taschereau last session put through a measure providing for retirement on full salary ($5,000 in each case) if they resigned within a period of 30 days when asked to do so. The retirements are in conformity with this legislation.

SENTENCE YOUTH TO BE EXECUTED

VANCOUVER, April 8.—Allan Robinson, 19-year-old boy, last night was sentenced to death for the second time, convicted of the murder of W. F. Salisbury Jun., a Vancouver businessman, who was held up and shot here a year ago. "Guilty—with a strong recommendation to mercy" was the verdict of the jury which heard the evidence in the second trial, which was granted Robinson on a technicality after he had been convicted and sentenced last summer to hang for the murder. Mr. Justice Murphy pronounced sentence, fixing June 23 next as the date of the hanging.

Keeps Horse in Kitchen; Faces Cruelty Charge.

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—By what mental process can the humane society and the police arrive at the conclusion that keeping a horse in the kitchen of one's home with the members of the family is "cruelty to the animal?"

That is the question asked frequently by Paul Ungle, arrested after Humane Agent Ferguson found Ungle's steed contentedly munching oats by the side of the kitchen stove, while members of the Ungle family sat about the room or were engaged in their household chores.

"I want to know how I have been cruel to my horse? Do you call giving a horse the same care and attention that you give your family cruelty?" he said.

G. Davis and Dr. J. P. McQuay, members of the board of pension commissioners, Ottawa; N. F. Parkinson, deputy minister; and Major E. Flexman, D.S.O., director of administration, department of soldiers' civil re-establishment.

The proceedings were presided over by Dr. A. C. Arnold, director of medical services, department of soldiers' civil re-establishment. The Honorable Dr. H. S. Bland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment, welcomed the out-of-town men and in a few felicitous sentences emphasized the desire of the department to co-operate with the medical profession in dealing with the treatment and care of the former members of the forces suffering from tuberculosis.

LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON

Sir Auckland Geddes To Resume Duties After Month's Holiday.

WINNIPEG, April 9.—Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, left here for Washington via Chicago this afternoon, where he will resume his diplomatic duties, after a month's leave of absence. While on his holiday Sir Auckland visited many of the larger cities in the United States as well as paying a brief visit to Victoria and Vancouver.

On Saturday evening at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, both local Canadian clubs listened to the British ambassador, who said: "Canada and the United States have never before been on such good terms as they are today, and now every sane thinking man wants to see such a demonstration of that determination to work together for the good of the world as will impress all people everywhere."

"PONY" DERELICTS OBLIGED TO BEG

MEXICO CITY, April 10.—Derelicts of the race track, Americans who followed the ponies to Mexico City and then failed to win enough for car fare home, are making competition keen for their Mexican beggar brothers.

During the day they frequent the main plazas of the city and waylay their more fortunate countrymen for the price of food and drink. They will camp by night at the race track where a kind management allows them to "hit the hay" free of charge, but handicapped by a lack of knowledge of Spanish, they are finding work difficult to obtain, even if they look for it. There is no organized American charity in Mexico City to care for them.

MUST REMOVE PICTURES. DUBLIN, April 9.—Notice has been served on the Royal Academy of Arts in Dublin that all pictures or other exhibits belonging to persons in the northern area must be removed.

SOLDIERS AND POLICE CLASH

Members of Royal Twenty-Second Battalion Stage Battle in Quebec.

ATTACKS TRAFFIC OFFICER

Outbreak Caused by Arrest of Private Benoit For Striking Constable.

QUEBEC, April 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—As a result of a clash between soldiers of the Royal Twenty-Second Battalion and the city police here this afternoon, six soldiers are confined to military hospital, while several policemen are also confined to their homes, nursing injuries.

The brawl occurred about 2 o'clock this afternoon at the corner of St. John and D'Youville streets, when a number of soldiers attacked Constable N. Smith, on traffic duty. The constable was struck down and kicked. The soldiers then attacked Constable Gamache, who was also doing traffic duty. The police officer was badly used, and was chased into a private dwelling.

By that time police reinforcements arrived on the scene and there was a battle royal between the opposing elements, with considerable damage done on both sides. Eight soldiers were finally arrested and taken to central police station, where they were locked up.

The cause of the outbreak was the arrest late on Saturday night of Private Benoit of the Royal 22nd Regiment by Constable J. H. Patry. According to the police Benoit was intoxicated, and when he was told by Constable Patry to move, he alleged to have abused the officer, and to have struck him with a leaded swaggerstick. The officer closed with the soldier and used his club until he had subdued him.

Some of the soldiers evidently felt that their comrade had been badly treated by the police, and they set out this afternoon to get revenge. Late this afternoon the soldiers arrested were turned over to the military authorities, and will be arraigned in the recorder's court tomorrow morning.

RETIREES AFTER 51 YEARS OF SERVICE

Michael Dolan of Stratford Leaves Grand Trunk Employ on His 51st Birthday.

WILL RECEIVE PENSION

Recalls Many Changes in Railroad Operating Since He Began Career as Call-Boy.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, April 9.—Fifty-one years in the service of the Grand Trunk at Stratford, and only two black marks against him in all these years, both being for minor occurrences, is the record of Michael Dolan, a lifelong Stratford resident, who Friday celebrated his 51st birthday and is retiring from active service in the company on a pension.

Mr. Dolan was born in Stratford on April 7, 1871, and has lived here all his life. His father, the late Thomas Dolan, who helped place the rails for the Grand Trunk from Kitchener to Stratford in the late fifties, and upon the completion of this work took up his permanent residence here, was killed in a dynamite explosion in the Grand Trunk yards on May 5, 1879.

Mr. Dolan, or "Mike" Dolan, as he is most familiarly known to railway men, commenced work with the Grand Trunk on July 12, 1871, in the capacity of call-boy. During his years of service he served in the following capacities: Call-boy 1871-1873, switch tender 1873-1880, yard master 1880-1890, yard master and switch tender 1890-1903, signaller 1903-1913, switch tender 1913-1922.

Mr. Dolan recalls many changes which have taken place since he entered the service of the company. At that time the old wood burners (engines) were used exclusively, the coal burners making their advent on some parts of the system in 1872 and 1873. Before the coal into use the rail gauge had to be changed to conform with the width of the new type of engine.

"There were no self-couplers in those days, either," said Mr. Dolan, "only the old link and pin coupling. It was while making a coupling, this nature that Mr. Dolan suffered the loss of a finger and thumb, the only serious injury he received while working for the railway."

RUTHVEN

Special to London Advertiser.

RUTHVEN, April 9.—George Fox, who bought the Lorne Neville Farm on the third concession last fall, moved onto it on Wednesday.

Ernest Noble, who sold his property here to Bruce Fox and bought a lot in the new subdivision from P. G. Bolton, is getting material on the ground for the erection of an up-to-date residence. The new house is a two-story affair, and indications are for a record crop of both black and red currants, while the lilac bushes will, as usual, be loaded down with big bunches of blue flowers.

The maple sugar season is about closed here for the year, and the output of both sugar and syrup is away less than in 1921, the cause being so much rain, which partly filled the sap buckets, and all had to be emptied out several times.

Bruce Fox & Sons have just completed two large greenhouses, which they erected on their property west of their cement block works. Mrs. Craven Hillan, who left here last fall to visit her old home in England, has been seriously ill almost all of the time she has been away, and for the past six weeks she has been unable to leave her bed.

Elgin Corbett of Orlinda is seriously ill with a bad attack of the flu, and other complications have now set in.

Slight hopes are now held for Robert Shanks, one of the most prominent men in this district, he is 83 years of age, and for two weeks has been fighting hard against an attack of pneumonia, which has weakened him that fears are entertained for his recovery.

Woodman's Hall here on Monday night, and much business pertaining to the club was transacted. The boys will make their bow in a fine new uniform, and are out to win the pennant. Elmer Scott is the new official mascot.

Hook and line fishermen are now telling the usual fish yarns, and on Tuesday it is said two small boys landed 120 perch in less than two hours.

The bank barn of William Belmes, 7th concession, Morris Township, was destroyed by fire. It is thought that the blaze was caused by the upsetting of a lantern.

Jonathan Kirkly has been at Fergus Hospital, where one of his great toes was amputated. Hopes are expressed for his quick recovery.

Word has been received here of the death of Miss Mary McAllister, Toronto, formerly of this locality, from pneumonia.

Special holy week services will be held in the Anglican, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches.

Rev. J. P. McLeod, pastor of Melville Church, will attend the coming Presbyterian assembly which will convene at Winnipeg.

A. H. MacDonald, the new town clerk and business manager of the Brussels, Morris and Grey Telephone Company, has arrived in town and has taken over his duties.

Ask Episcopal Church to Cut Ten Commandments

Special to London Advertiser.

New York, April 10.—The joint commission on the Book of Common Prayer, in its report to the triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church, which was issued last week, among its many recommendations includes a proposed editing down or "blue pencilling" of the ten commandments in the service of holy communion.

The commission would not edit out any one of the "Thou shalt" or "Thou shalt not," but it would leave out in this particular ritual the amplification or statements of the punishment for disobedience. The shortened form is to be permitted, if the report is adopted, in order to save time. As the holy communion so often follows morning prayer, the combined rituals make rather a long service.

There is so much sentiment connected with the recitation of the ten commandments in their entirety that it will not be a surprise if there is considerable opposition when this part of the report of the special commission comes up for discussion at the convention, which will be held in Portland, Oregon, next fall. The report was issued last week, according to a resolution it is in reach of the clerical and lay delegates six months before the convention opens.

Following are changes proposed: THE COMMANDMENTS AS-GOD WOULD HAVE THEM TO BE OBSERVED BY US. THE COMMANDMENTS AS-GOD WOULD HAVE THEM TO BE OBSERVED BY US. THE COMMANDMENTS AS-GOD WOULD HAVE THEM TO BE OBSERVED BY US.

Thou shalt have none other gods but Me. Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven image, nor the likeness of anything that is in Heaven, or in the earth beneath, or in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down to them, nor worship them; for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate Me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love Me, and keep my commandments.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain. Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day. Six days hath the Lord made the heaven and the earth, and all that therein is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it.

Honour thy father and thy mother: this is the first commandment, which is the basis of all the rest. Thou shalt not murder. Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his ass, nor anything that is his.

Between each of the abbreviated commandments, just as between the entire commandments, as the Book of Common Prayer now stands, the congregation is to repeat "Lord, have mercy upon us, and incline our hearts to keep this law."

The revised form as recommended would repeat after the Ten Commandments, abbreviated, the two great commandments as given by Christ, except that the revised form would insert the clause, "and with all thy strength," so that the "Summary of the Law" should read:

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets."

The former is the rendering of St. Matthew XXII:37, and the latter of St. Mark XII:30.

NEW ASSESSMENTS PLANS APPROVED

Galt Bill To Divide Costs of Pavements Passed Legislature Committee.

CITY PAYS 25 PER CENT

Application For Measure Followed Flood of Petitions Sent To Council.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, April 9.—Galt's system of assessing permanent pavements has been settled for the future. The city's application for a private bill to change the method of assessing pavements from 100 per cent to 75 per cent to the abutting property, and 25 per cent to the city as a whole has been passed by the private bills committee of the Legislature and will now be reported to the House.

The application for this bill followed a flood of petitions to the city council, as a result of the decision of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, in fixing the assessment for the East Main street pavement at 75-25 per cent.

Residents of other paved streets claimed it was unfair that they should be forced to pay for the full cost of their pavements. All paved streets except Main and Dickson streets, which were laid at the minimum price, are the only ones which will not be affected by the change.

Alderman A. E. Willard, the largest property owner on Main street, was not for including Main street in the operation of the act, but supported the new assessment for other streets. The change in the assessment will increase the city's proportion of the cost of pavements considerably.

Mrs. Brown, who was in her 87th year, was a native of Nova Scotia, and a pioneer resident of the township of Tuckersmith, having settled on the farm on which she now resides about 40 years ago, where she and her husband resided until they retired a number of years ago to the village of Egmondville.

Her husband predeceased her about 20 years ago. She was a member of the Egmondville Presbyterian Church, and was survived by one son and seven daughters, several of whom reside in the West, survive.

WABASH, April 9.—A barn on the 12th concession of Camp, belonging to Adahon Haves of Thamesville, was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday. Several new implements and a quantity of hay were also consumed. This is the second barn belonging to Mr. Haves that has been burned during the past year.

At the last Epworth League service the topic, "The Gentle Spirit of Jesus," was taken by Miss Cora Gibson.

The young people of the Epworth League are practicing a drama entitled "The Fruit of His Policy." This will be given during the Eastern season.

ST. THOMAS.

ST. THOMAS, April 9.—Maple syrup was the feature of Saturday's market in this city. Strange to say, though the supply was plentiful, the demand was great, and the price advanced greatly. AWAIT OTTAWA EASTER RECESS

Parliamentarians Expect Remaining Two Sitting Days Will Be Quiet.

CABINET COUNCIL MEETS

Progressives Meet in Caucus
To Discuss Wheat Board Situation.

OTTAWA, April 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—With the beginning of the Easter recess only two days away, parliamentarians are looking forward to the remaining sitting days being rather quiet. Several of them who reside at distant points, left for their homes on Saturday night to take the fullest possible advantage of the holiday, and will start for Ottawa again at the end of next week.

In the House of Commons tomorrow it is expected that private members' resolutions, of which there are several standing on the order paper, will be dealt with, and Tuesday will in all probability be devoted to estimates.

Cabinet council met twice on Saturday, but no announcement was made at the meeting as to what matters had been discussed. It is believed, however, that attention is now being given to the railway statement of Hon. W. C. Kennedy, which is expected to be placed before the house shortly after the house resumes.

There has, in fact, been a suggestion that it might be made before the recess, in order that the members may have the days of their holiday to delve into the facts and figures it contains.

Members of the Progressive party met in caucus on Saturday for discussion of matters before the house, and also the wheat board situation as it now stands before the agriculture committee.

In view of the interest of the Progressives in the work of that committee it is expected that most of them who are members will wait until after the meeting of that body on Tuesday morning before leaving for their homes. The committees on pensions, railways and debates of the house have also been called for Tuesday for the last of their meetings before the Easter adjournment.

PLANS TO AID VETERANS

Financial Secretary to British Admiralty Proposed Colonization Scheme.

LONDON, England, April 9.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Lieut.-Col. L. C. Amery, financial secretary to the admiralty, speaking at Birmingham, stated that he hoped soon to introduce a bill enabling Great Britain, in co-operation with the dominions, to start a new scheme under which ex-service men and others would get a chance overseas. The Government, he said, would not encourage men to go overseas unless reasonable arrangements are made for their obtaining employment.

CATTLE EMBARGO VOTE DISCUSSED

LONDON, April 9.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—The Yorkshire Post, which circulates largely among the agricultural interests, discussing the forthcoming vote in the House of Commons on the question of the embargo against Canadian cattle, remarks that the possibility of a slightly mitigating effect on the price of beef gives an opening for a popular agitation and will certainly affect the vote in the Commons, the membership of which is predominantly urban.

The Post urges that the cabinet may legitimately press its own view, already expressed, up the members, "who are subject to being unduly influenced by the superficial agitation."

GERMANY REPLIES TO ALLIED NOTE

BERLIN, April 9.—Germany's answer to the latest note of the reparations commission is on its way to Paris, and will be delivered on Monday, when the text is to be published simultaneously in Berlin and Paris.

The note, it is understood, touches on the question of an international loan, and permits the conclusion that Germany expects the subject will be discussed at the Geneva conference.

Point Edward Hatchery Places Millions of Fish in Lake.

Special to London Advertiser.
SARNIA, April 8.—Matters are in a flourishing condition at the government fish hatchery, Point Edward, according to the report of Superintendent Laschinger. To date, the hatchery has been the home of 1559 millions whitefish and pickled since its inception in 1908, and these numbers of baby fish have been placed in Lake
Huron up to the end of 1921.
The number of pickled has exceeded that of whitefish owing to the scarcity of whitefish eggs at the time the hatchery was opened. Rapid progress is being made, however, to increase the whitefish, and at the present time there are about 45 million whitefish eggs in the hatchery. These will be cleared probably by the middle of April.

PREDICTS CHEAPER MONEY FOR LOANS IN ONTARIO

Registrar of Loan Corporation Declares Funds Have Become More Plentiful.

TORONTO, April 9.—Cheaper mortgage money is on the way for builders in Ontario, in fact, the downturn has already started, according to the report of V. Egan Grey, registrar of loan corporations, issued on Saturday.

"The supply of money for mortgage loans has considerably increased during the year," says Mr. Grey.
"The life insurance companies have now a considerably greater proportion of their funds available for mortgage loans than was the case a year ago.
Their commitments on the purchase of Victory bonds have now been absorbed, and the falling rates of interest available on municipal and government bonds have naturally been a material factor in effecting the re-entry of the life insurance companies to the mortgage field. For the same reason there is a larger supply of the funds of private investment and of estates available for mortgage purposes."

The registrar says that as a result of the holding up of extensive building operations and the increased supply of money available, interest rates on mortgages, which went up to 7½ and 8 per cent are now down to 7 and 7½ per cent.

"The continuance of these tendencies is to be expected during the present year," he adds, "and there are already signs that they are contributing to a revival of activity in building operations."

REGARDED AS ONE OF BEST PRODUCTIONS ON ROAD

"The Rose of Washington Square"
Opens Engagement at Grand Today.

"The Rose of Washington Square," which will open a three-day engagement at the Grand tonight, has been pronounced one of the best musical comedies on the road this season by many critics, and wherever it has appeared, it is said, it has been received with large patronage and satisfaction.

The original cast, headed by Arthur Blackaller, will be seen in the production in London.

The company numbers 25 people and the chorus is reported to be particularly sprightly and well trained. The character essayed by Mr. Blackaller is comparable to that of "Lightnin'" made famous on the dramatic stage by Frank Bacon.

"The Rose of Washington Square" will be the attraction at the Grand tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and at a Wednesday matinee.

Your Efficiency Depends On Your Eyes

Good work needs good eyesight, because, as a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, so no man is stronger than his weakest faculty. And now, when the quality of a man's work will play such an important part in the determination of his income, you owe it to yourself to keep your faculties alert, keen, fit for the competition of industry.

Don't wonder whether or not your eyes are efficient. Let

JAIL STOCK PROMOTER FOR FRAUD CONSPIRACY

British Court Imposes Three-Year
Sentence on Ernest Terah Hooley.

LONDON, England, April 9.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—After several weeks of trial, the well-known financier, Ernest Terah Hooley, was sentenced in the central criminal court on Saturday to three years' penal servitude for conspiracy to defraud persons who were induced to buy shares in the Jubilee Cotton Mills.

Of five other defendants, two including Fletcher, ex-mayor of Derby, were acquitted. Land Agent Demery and Solicitor Wallis were sentenced to twelve and ten months, respectively, in the second division. Wallis was struck off the rolls. Ex-Mayor Macdonald of Heston, who was recommended for mercy, collapsed in the dock. He was bound over in the sum of £5,000.

Bankruptcy proceedings are still pending against Hooley, whose liabilities, following a recent meeting of creditors, were returned as £487,- 000 with assets left £225,000.

H. F. Dickens, K.C., son of the novelist, in the course of a three-days' summing up of the evidence, said Hooley had never been a director of the company, and after this case, certainly never would be. He added that Hooley had pulled the strings throughout.

SMUTS SCORES HERTZOG

Blames Nationalist Leader For Violent Attempts Against Government.

LONDON, Eng., April 8.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Premier Smuts, at a party congress yesterday, replied to the attack of General Hertzog, Nationalist leader, a few days ago,
on the premier for the latter's handling of the recent strike troubles, according to a Reuters dispatch from Cape Town, South Africa.

Premier Smuts said General Herzog, had occasion to be pessimistic regarding the future, as all his schemes had been frustrated, and two attempts to oust the government by violence had miscarried.

The Nationalists were proceeding along Hertzog's road of hatred, the premier declared, and the old traditions were being supplanted by a Bolshevik spirit. Premier Smuts expressed confidence that such a movement bore the germ of its own destruction.

The Perfect Match is here

A Match that is different and better

The new Maple Leaf Matches are the product of the combined resources, patents and processes of the three greatest match masters of the World.

Bryant & May, Ltd.—largest makers in the British Empire.

The Diamond Match Company—the biggest in the world, the originators of the non-glowing match, and the firm which voluntarily gave to all match makers the formula for the non-poisonous match—

Maguire, Paterson & Palmer, Ltd. of Liverpool, England, second largest British manufacturer.

The combined output of these interests for a single week is greater than one year's entire consumption of matches in Canada.

The brains and skill of these organizations have been brought together in the formation of the Canadian Match Company, and the product of their store of knowledge is the new Made-in-Canada Maple Leaf Match.

Take any match in any Maple Leaf box. Examine and test it against any ordinary match that you can buy.

Ask your grocer to show you Maple Leaf Matches. You will be surprised at the difference even in appearance. They are longer, stronger and do not glow after the flame is out, the heads do not fly off, they do not break in the fingers, they are not poisonous and they withstand more wind and moisture.
