Toronto, Nov. 18.—Three dead; two probably fatally injured; five seri-ously injured and taken to the General Hospital, and perhaps a dozer eral Hospital, and perhaps a dozen more ar less hurt.

Such iss the result of a level crossing accident at the Queen street crossing early last evening when a trolley car and trailer, running beyond the motorman's control, broke through the guard gates and was run down by a G.T.R. fast freight.

That the list of dead is not greater is miraculous, for while the trailer escaped, the trolley was demolished and scattered for a distance of 360 feet up the track.

feet up the track. The Conductor Killed.

A more total wreck could not b imagined, and yet the score of pas-sengers were all taken alive from the sengers were all taken alive from the disorganized masses of timber and metal. One of the dead was the conductor of the ill-fated car.

The motorman is in the hospital, but suffering only from bruises and shock. It is claimed he jumped and so saved his own life, for the vestibule was carried away on the engine puller.

King street car 642 was running eastward with Motorman Willis Arm-strong and Conductor William J. McKay. It was going at a good rate McKay. It was going at a good rate of speed, but not even some young men on the rear platform were given any cause for alarm. A signal was given by a passenger to stop, but there came no slackening, but this was only an occasion for some surprise among several who wished to alight at the crossing, for all cars are supposed to stop at the crossing anyway.

The gateman, Randle, says the gates were lowered at least two minutes before the trolley, running wild, broke through. Just at that moment the fast G. T. R. freight bound for Montreal came along at about a fifteen mile an hour rate, and a disaster that has been dreaded so long became a reality, and on Thanksgiving Day.

came a reality, and on Thanksgiving. Day.

The accident occurred just before 6.30, the trainmen timing it as 6.25 p.m. The streets were deserted, and there was no cry or shout or warning of impending disaster until the loud crashing of rended timber, as the trolley plunged through the lowered gates. A fraction of a second later there came a noise like a thunder clap as the giant engine ground its way into the ill-fated car. its way into the ill-fated car. After the Crash.

When the startled residents the nearby houses reached the street all was quiet. There was no moaning nor other sounds of distress, but the smashed gates, the car-trafler turned sideways on the track, the jarring of sideways on the track, the jarring of the freight train as it was being brought to a sharp stop, told the be-ginning of the tale of tragedy. Then as those who ran to the rescue turn-ed northward from Queen street up to the station platform they came upon the pile of broken wreckage that made the strongest shudder with an apprehension that was fortunately not altocether fulfilled. not altogether fulfilled.

Beneath the Wreckage

Thrown bodily across the station platform, with the rear platform Thrown bodily across the station platform, with the rear platform pointing north, was the greater portion of the body of the car. Only one side of it remained. There was not a vestige of glass and the trucks from which it had been dismantled were to one side. This portion of the wreck was some thirty feet from the street car track. A few yards beyond lay the roof of the car and other remnants of broken wood and twisted from, and it was from these two heaps of debris that nearly a score of persons were taken out alive. They were all buried and hidden from sight. One woman was picked from beneath the iron wheel car trucks a portion of her skirt attracting the attention of a rescuer. The conductor, McKay, was beneath the wreckage with his head protruding and blood streaming from his wounds. Four men were found in a heap stunned and bruised and bleeding. They had been standing on the rear platform apparently. None were very seriously hurt. But no very intelligible record of the location of those hurt was kept.

It's no particular wonder that De troit is rapidly earning for itself a reputation as one of the most law s and criminal communities on the continent.

Down in that so-called metropoli Down in that so-called metropolis it seems that its police force are required to pass an examination on the classics of Old Sheuth and Nick Carter ere they attain proficiency. The great idea of their officers is ability to strut around, brandish a gun wildly and excitedly and yell thief.

If, perchance, these numbskulls want to extend their operations, all they've got to do is to enlist co-operations.

for weeks past the antics of these would-be sleuths have been a source of amusements to the whole district, while the criminals smilingly have grown botder and holder

But at last they have run against a proposition that may enable them to realize that their silly, blundering, blood-and-thunder Deadwood Dick gymnastics may have serious results if tried on anyone outside of the innocents of Detroit. In connection with the shooting of

In connection with the shooting of one of the officers right on the open thoroughfare last night, when, as usual, the criminals completely got away, someone said the shooting might have been done by a colored man. "Aha," declared the great Foxy Quillers, and off they started. Everyone of them, according to his custom, armed himself with a couple of revolvers, a bowie knife or two and several clubs and "billies." With these he decorated his person as conspicuously as possible, and rushed excitedly to and fro on the streets, in the hotels, at the restaurants—every place, in fact, where the guilty man was most unlikely to be. A squad of these braves hied themselves over to Windsor—and the whole corps started on the rampage to corral every harmless and doule colored man they could discover.

And it was here that they bumped And it was here that they bumped into it. The Wabash train for Chatham was lying in the Windsor depot when a party of these wild and war-like maniacs, excitedly brandishing their Buffalo Bill armaments and weapons, arrived. Finally, one of the "detectives" spotted S. O. Simmons the popular and esteemed King St. business man, slumbering quietly in his chair. He hastened to his colleagues, carefully posted three of them on the outside of the car and the other three approaching manfully. Awakeing Mr. of the car and the other three approaching manfully. Awakeing Mr. Simmons, to find these three would-be bravados standing over him brandishing their gans, they informed him with great swagger and in stentorian tones that he was their man, their prisoner. They had caught the would-be murderer red-handed by their great strategy and marvellous bravery. He must accompany them forthwith through the streets, surrounded by their guns, to pany them forthwith through the streets, surrounded by their guns, to the police station.

There were many Chathamites on the train and they at once raised an empabtic and indignant protest. It was too good a chance for display and celebrity for the brainless novices, however, and they proceeded. Some twenty or thirty Maple City citizens accompanied them to see the thing through.

The result, of course, was inevitable. As soon as the Police Station was reached the release of Mr. Simmons was instantly ordered and the chests of the armored and vigilant sleuths were reduced to their nominal size again.

sleuths were reduced to their nominal sleuths were reduced to their nominal size again.

Great indignation was expressed over the whole affair, and considerable blame attached to the authorities for allowing such armed irresporsibles to ran at large. The many Chatham citizens who were witnesses to the occurrence urged Mr. Simmons to take action against them.

This morning Mr. Simmons was interviewed. He expressed his appreciation and thanks to the citizens who had stood by him in the matter. He had at once taken steps to place the matter in the hands of his solicitor, O. L. Lewis, who, fortunately, was himself present, and an action will be immediately entered against the "officers" individually as well as the authorities. Runsway Amid a Crowd. Hamilton, Nov. 18.—While the streets were crowded with people yes terday morning, a horse driven by T. Osler, 240 North Wellington street, ran away, dumped him and a lady out, and went tearing through the crowd on King street to Mac-Nab street. The crowd was so dense that people could not get out of the chance for another display and they could not resist it.

Three of them climbed on the train and commenced prancing through the cars, flourishing their guns and flasting their knives. The passengers tooked on in quiet amusement thinking some menagerie had been let loose.

Einelly one of the "detectives" that people could not get out of the way, and that no one was seriously hurt is little short of miraculous. Half a dozen people received painful but not serious injuries. Among those who were hurt are Jack Phelen; Clarence Bousfield, 10 Richmond street; Robert Caffery, Bold street, father of the runner, and Detective

Judge McKensie Dead, Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 18.—After suffering five paralytic strokes with-in two weeks, Judge John A. Moin two over twenty year judge in the Lambton County Court in Ontraio, is dead. When he left Sar-nia Hospital about a week ago Judge McKenzie was unable to walk or talk, and he came to this city to receive treatment from a local mag-netic healer. He gradually improved under his care, but two hights ago suffered another stroke, which again rendered him helpless, and death followed soon.

Mystery At Galt,

Galt, Nov. 18.—The adjourned inquest on the body of the unknown man killed last Sunday on the C. P. R. tracks, a mile and a half west of Dunfries station, was resumed and concluded yesterday afternoon, a verdict being rendered to the effect that the deceased met his death on the tracks. The C.P.R. authorities were exonerated from all blame. The dead man's appearance was of a well-to-do mechanic of superior class, a man of intelligence and splendid physical type. As it looks now the mystery of his shocking end will never be cleared up.

France Will Accept It.

Prais, Nov. 18.—A further conference between Ambassador Porter and Foreign Minister Deleasse, relative to re-assembling The Hagus Peace Conference, has shown that the Minister is cordially favorable to the proposition, thus practically assuring its acceptance by France, but the submission of the question to the Cabinet is necessarily deferred pending a settlement of the Cabinet complications.

Italy is in Favor of It.

Rome, Nov. 18.—The Foreign Office has informed United States Ambassador Meyer that Italy is quite favorable to the conclusion of an arbitration treaty with the United States, and will empower Ambassador Meyer des Plaches to sign it in Washington.

THE NOTE OF THANKSGIVING

Yesterday was set apart by the Government as the official Thanksgiving Day. To many it meant simply a holiday, permitting of a stroll in the half-strewn woods, or an opportunity to witness the anmilitary parade or the chief football event of the season. It is, without doubt, one of the great holi days of the year. In many section of our country Thanksgiving Day is looked upon as the chief home day when relatives from far and near gather at the old homestead and hold a happy reunion. Such occurrences make the day long remembered, and one whose return is joyously welcom-ed. Our forefathers viewed the day things have transpired during the not so much as a holiday as a holy year for which, as individuals, we can day. They struggled persistently with the hard soil and the severe elimate to win a livelihood, and designated one day in which to return thanks to a gracious Providence who and protected their lives. The earliest record which we have of a Thanksgiving Day on this continent is found in the New England that Governog Bradford in the autmmn of that year sent out men to provide game in order that the col- mand, in everything to give thanks enists might the more thoroughly enjoy and properly observe a day of thankegiving, in remembrance of the products of their toil during the year that had passed. On similar occasions the Indian shiefs and their councils of braves were invited to participate in the festivities. These thankegiving days, however, were not of official character, the first offieial Thanksgiving Day not occuring until the year 1631. Even this parbicular day was intended to be one of fasting rather than of feasting A famine was imminent, and the colenists in their distress had set apart the day for prayer and fasting in hope of relief; but just before the day of fasting came a vessel daden. with provisions, and, long overdue, made port, and the day was then officially changed by the authorities from a day of sorrow into one of thankegiving. Thus these earlier oceasions were sacredly kept for "the returning of thanks unto the Lord.' In spite of the fact that the day is often put to unworthy uses, the custom of both countries in setting apart one day in the year to be known as Thanksgiving Day is to be commended. It is a call for expressions of gratitude on the part of nation and individuals. Sometimes, however, the very things for which we should be

There are many causes for indiyidual thanksgiving. Each can write down his or her own list, but there are many things common to us all. It has been well said that the two great factors of the historic Thanksgiving Day were home and government, Ours is a land of homes and on the whole, partyism and partigans ship aside, we delight in the government peculiar to us; and in these

Society to-day, declares Miss Marie Corelli in The London Magazine, pro-fers cards to prayer-books and the hissing of the motor to the sound of sacred presumedy.

hissing of the motor to the sound of sacred psalmody.

"It is quite the fashion," she adds, "to play bridge all and every Sunday, when and wherever possible.

"Country-house week-end parties this year were all bridge parties. They were all carefully selected with an eye to the main chance. The "play" engerally begran and selected with an eye to the main chance. an eye to the main chance. The 'play' generally began on Saturday evening, and went on all through Sunday up to midnight. One woman, notorious for her insensate love of gambling, took lessons in 'cheating' at bridge before joining her country-house friends. She came away heavier in purse by five hundred pounds, but, of that five hundred, one hundred and filty had been won from a foolish little girl of eighteen.

"When not playing bridge, society's Sunday observance is motoring. Flashing and fizzling all over the place, it rushes here, there, and everywhere, creating infinite dust, smelling abominably, and looking agiler than the worst demons in Dante's 'Inferno.'

"Dinner parties, with a string band in attendance, and a Parisian singer of the 'cafe chantant' to entertain the company afterwards, were once unknown in England on a Sunday. But such 'Sabbath' entertainments are quite ordinary now.

But such 'Sabbath' entertainments are quite ordinary now.

'Nevertheless, though society's Sunday has degenerated into a day of gambling, guzzling and motoring in Great Britain, it is well to remember that society in itself is so limited as to be a mere bubble on the waters of life; froth and scum, as it were, that rises to the top, merely to be skimmed off and thrown aside in any scrious national crisis aside in any serious national crisis.

Rival Beviewers of Last Century. At the beginning of the nineteenth eentury, criticism received a fresh impetus from the periodical press. The reviews turned the critic into a fighter, and politics and literature both descended for a while into the pit. In the thick atmosphere of battle there was little chance of justice. Shrewd blows were dealt on either side without too sensitive a regard At the beginning of the nineteenth Shrewd blows were dealt on either side, without too sensitive a regard for merit or demerit. To many critics it was a pleasant duty, eagerly executed, to dust the jacket of any variet who happened to take an op-posite view in politics. Between The Edinburgh and The Quarterly it was war to the knife, while Blackwood held aloft the banner of Toryism with despites. with dauntless courage, and was quick to drive the lurking Cockney from his ambush. The language employed in these battle of the pen ployed in these battle of the pea was seldom polite and often inap-posite; but the skill and bravery of the combatants were undoubted, and the attack, though now and again it lacked wisdom, was never wanting in spirit. It is idle at this hour to apportion the honors, or to give the meed of victory to this host or that. meed of victory to this host or that. Mistakes, of course, were made on both sides. If Keats was shamefully treated, the Cockneys were never behindhand in abuse; and while Teanyson was woefully misjudged in The Quarterly, that austere Whig, Lord Macculay, did not scruple to announce that he was sharpening his vengeful pen for Croker, before Croker's book was published. But we have no doubt whatever that the older practice was excellent in effect. No writer worth his ink was ever yet. writer worth his ink was ever yet killed by a review, and the savagery of The Edinburgh, The Quarterly and Blackwood was an admirable incen-

Blackwood was an admirable incentive to courage. After all, the rival reviewers were but advocates, intent to put their case as strongly as possible; the other side had always the right of reply; and it should be remembered that an advocate is no more upon his oath than the writer of a lapidary inscription.—From "Critics and Criticism" in Blackwood's Magazine. Wood's Magazine. New Photographic Art Material. Some interesting demonstrations been carried out in London have been carried out in London with a new photographic art material called "photolinol." This fabric is composed of linen, which is thoroughly permeated with the photograph, producing a high translucency. One very picturesque effect obtained by this means is that the picture, when colored and viewed with a reflected light, bears a very strong resemblance to an oil painting, the lines of the weaving of the linen appearing similar to the canvas in the painting. Photolinol is water-proof and indestructible, while the photograph does not fade in the sun, as it appears to be woven into the material. appears to be woven into the ma-terial. The process is a secret one, but its commercial utility and value are already asserted, since it can be employed for curtains, screens or the-atrical scenery.

Measuring Dew. Accurate measurement of dew has always been impossible. A New German drosometre, reported to give excellent results, is a sheet of specially prepared paper soaked in a chemical solution, and the amount of dew falling in a night can be closely estimated from the degree of discoloration of this paper. Experiment has given a scale of discoloration. Paper of three degrees sensitiveness is provided, and it is advised that two kinds be exposed together in order that when the amount of dew is too great for one it may be indicated by the other.

The Rev. William Cuff relates how one hot summer afternoon while he was preaching a man in a smock frock sitting in the gallery over the clock kept leaning over to see the time. Being irritated, Mr. Cuff said, "I beg to inform that man who has just looked at the clock that it is twenty-three minutes past four, and that I shall have done my dreary sermon in a minute or two." I'll you please, Sir," said the man, "I wasn't a bit tired of your sermon, but the cows must be milked."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The Mummy and Humming Birdov. 18. Lyceum Course—Nov. 21. Local "Pinafore"—24-25. Sons of Scotland Benefit—Nov. 30.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press

With its bright, cheery comedy scenes, its clever characterirations, its novel situations and its wholesome lessons the great New York and London success, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," comes to the Grand on Friday evening, Nov. 18th. There are not many characters in the play, but each one is a distinct type and a gem of a type. The audience soon gets to love the dear old "Mummy," to sympathize with his sweet, neglected wife, to despise the brilliant but despicable "Humming Bird" and to admire the dogged persistency with which the organ grinder pursues his search for vengeance; whilst all through the play the love making of the charming widow and the eligible young bachelor keeps everybody fighly amused. "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" certainly provides a rare evening's entertainment. Mr. W. A. Whitecan will be seen as Lord Lumley.

Ocean Cannibals. Such fierce carnivorous fishes as exist in the depths of the ocean are unknown at the surface. There is a "black swallower" which devours other finny creatures ten times as hig as itself, literally climbing over its victim, first with one jaw and then with the other. Another species is nearly all mouth, and having no power of locomotion it lies buried in the soft ooze at the bottom, its head alone protruding, ready to engulf any prey that may wander into its cavernous jaws. There is a ferocious kind of shark, resembling a huge eel. All of these monsters are black as ink. Some of them are perfectly blind, while others have enorious, goggling eyes. No ray of sunlight ever pierces the dark, unfathomed caves in which the dwell. Each species is gobbled by the species next bigger, for there is no vegetable life to feed on.

The Forests of the Amsson According to some astronomers the greenish patches on the planet Mars indicate woodland regions, and a scienfist predicts that centuries after the rest of this earth has become as barren as the mountains of the moon Martian astronomers will still distinguish here bright green spots of considerable extent near the east coast of South America. The forests of the Amazon valley, he thinks, are practically extermination proof. An average of 1,000 rank trees, shrubs and creepers cover every acre of ground and a year's neglect is enough to obliterate all traces of the most thorough clearing. A film of spon-taneous vegetation soon covers the de-serted field, trees shoot up and the sylvan deities resume their ancient Hypnotic Influence.

An extraordinary story of the imposition of one will upon another was told before the psychological section of the British Medical association at Oxford Dr. Eldridge-Green said that he was talking with a patient on the subject of hypnotism. The patient, a lady of more than average force of character, said she defied any man to send her to sleep and make her do as he wished. "I to her it was not necessary to send her to sleep," said the doctor, "and added, 'You will wake at 5 o'clock tomorning and will send me a post card despite your own wishes to say no.' I got that post card. It was somewhat to this effect: 'I have been trying not to write to you, but I did wake at 5."

Nature's Lament at the Passing of the Year

—A New Point of View in Wild

Bird Lore.

As the leafy curtains are drawn aside and the little cosy nooks laid bare we see the traces of a hidden world of summer life. The nests so carefully concealed from inquisitive visitors are freely disclosed, and their deserted and dilanidated appearance visitors are freely disclosed, and their deserted and dilapidated appearance seems expressive of lament at the passing of the year. The falling leaves and naked branches seem merely to exemplify the universal law of change, but in the abandoned nests, prominent and distinct in trees and shrubbery, there is a feeble protest against the universal decree of oblivion. The little visitors may be as helpless and as evanescent as the leaves that concealed their dwellings, yet they strive to leave mementoes of their patient and active industry. Some are so typical of the handiwork of the builders that they can be seen in fancy working away with all the hope and energy of the work of the builders that they can be seen in fancy working away with all the hope and energy of the spring-time of life. The mud-lined nest of the robin, baked hard in the autumn sun, has resisted the disintegrating forces of rain and wind. In the close dogwood shrubbery a cathird has piled up an unreasonably large foundation of heavy sticks for her loosely-constructed nest. Now that the concealing leaves are gone it makes a conspicuous object where it rested concealed by its size throughout the summer. Sometimes a big, straggling concealed by its size throughout the summer. Sometimes a big, straggling nest will blend more perfectly into the surrounding branches and be more completely hidden than the smaller and more compact nest of the careful builders. The circular and carefully wound nest of the bright little redstart recalls the fiery glow of his brilliant crescents among the green leaves. The deep nest of the wild canary seems sufficiently compact to withstand the changes of many seasons. In the top of a straight, symmetrical red oak which still retains its withered leaves the big, broad nest of a crow seems a weather-beaten survivor of many winters, and the woven basket of the oriole hangs from the outstretched arm of the willow.

Close to the ground is the strange relic of a stranger real of a strange

Close to the ground is the strange relic of a stranger conflict in the perpetual struggle for existence. Some little mother has had the courage to assert herself and refuse the imposition of an unjust burden. The nest is so loose as to seem unfinished, and is hanging a few inches from the ground in some close, low hazel shrubbery. All about the withered vines of the hog peanut twine in easy confusion. The leaves that must have made an ideal nook for a little domestic establishment hang shrivelled on the slender vines, and the stems of the hazel are entirily bare. The pensile situation of the nest, its nearness to the ground, the many leaves used in its construction, and the absence of soft, downy lining suggest the indigo bunting. But in the bottom of the nest is the dry, empty shell of a cow-bird's egg. This persistent and shameless impostor has failed in one effort to impose her natural duties on the results. The guilty mothers slink away long enough to lay their eggs in the nests of other birds, and the young impostors soon starve off and crowd out the rightful heirs. The little mothers are not always imposed upon. Sometimes when the spurious egg is discovered a new floor is built in the nest above it, and the broad is Prince Kanin's force made a detour of the enemy's left flank in the rear of Bensihu and put the Russlans in great confusion, thereby helping the movement of the Japanese infantry against the Russian lines. Prince Kanin is a nephew of the Mikado and a major-general of cavalry.

When he reached the front several months ago his arrival created much enthusiasm among the troops. There are several other near relatives of the Mikado who are winning distinction by their bravery and ability in the war with the Russians.

the imposition it means the destruction of their own offspring. The young cow-bird is as importunate as his parents are dishonest and deceptive. His callow beak is forever open, and his insatiable appetite leaves nothing for the weaker nestlings. They are crowded out in the struggle that seems often to result in the survival of the unfittest. The indigo bunting is a wise bird, which helps to sustain her claim to the ownership of this abandoned nest. She is unduly sensitive about any intrusion near that sacred spot, and if followed or watched will persistently and exasperatingly keep away and ignore exasperatingly keep away and ignore its existence. When she found that the cow-bird had laid an egg during her absence she abandoned both egg and nest. It must have cost her an heroic struggle to leave that ideal spot. The hazel twigs grew round as if specially designed to support a pensile nest. The low, close foliage made the little habitation invisible. In Dr. Charles Repin's method of freeing the blood from stances, which has been applied at the Pasteur Institute in Paris, the blood is literally drawn from the body, washed and returned. The blood is taken from a punctured vein made the little habitation invisible. The hog peanuts twined around as if to complete the pattern of the leafy curtain. And the place was endeared by the associations of a vision of domestic happiness. All this was abandoned by the little mother who refused to submit to the imposition of a spurious offspring. Her little world is not without its struggles and its tragedies. by aspiration, is at once mixed with by aspiration, is at once nixed with eight or ten times its volume of a saline solution, the mixture is sent into a centrifugal separator, collecting the blood corpuscles all at one point, and the uninjured corpuscles, with the artificial serum replacing the poison laden one, are then pumped back into the system. The operation is automatic and continuous continuous c operation is automatic and continuous. At its close the system contains blood freed from the toxic matter that had been absorbed and with fresh liquid correctly adjusted in volume, the surplus having been drawn off. The apparatus guards against coagulation. Mr. Arthur G. Scott, a member of the Manchester Board of Commerce, said when in Toronto the other day,

A series of interesting firing trials recently was undertaken by the Swed-isl Government. The purpose of recently was undertaken by the Swedish Government. The purpose of these experiments was to examine the effect of shooting against pasteboard. The trials were conducted on the wharfs of the Swedish navy in Karlskrons, and the target used was a prepared one of millboard, against which fire from revolvers, rifles, carbines and machine guns was directed. The pasteboard, which was three inches thick, resisted completely the bullets from the small arms, but was perforated by the projectiles from the machine guns.

That much neglected subject, sanitation, is discussed with a full knowledge of the facts by Dr. G. A. Soper in an address, of which an adequate abstract is printed by the Medical News. My own introduction to wasabi was unique. I count among my most pleasing experiences in this sunrise land my meeting with Tumio Yano, novelist and diplomat. And not the least item in my debt of gratitude to him is that he taught me to appreciate my raw fish and wasabi. Mr. Yano has been the mikado's ambassador to China and other lands. One night at the Nippon club he led up to a delicate subject on the menu with much diplomacy. He finally got my assent to the statement that a cosmopolitan appe tite is one of the distinguishing marks of cultivated travel. Then he passed me raw fish!

I confessed that I was willing to be a stick in the mid or any other variety of silurian rather than take place with the international elect by eating such a dish. My host, however, was painfully insistent, finally adding that with raw fish they, of course, ate wasabi.

Now, I did not have even a vague notion of what this might be, but with that raw proposition before me it was comforting to know that at least it was to be diluted with something. I conjured up an experience in taking castor oil ambushed under sherry and sarsaparilla, which, while not a beverage one would grow to crave, might have been worse. I figured out also that with my gaucheries with chopsticks I might manage without exciting suspicion to drop the fish before the fatal moment, and eat only the mysterious wasabi. But whether through cowardice or courage I cannot say, fish and relish made quick and simultaneous journey to my re-luctant palate, and in the never to be forgotten instant there flashed into my consciousness the undeniable truth that in all my occidental years I had been denied one of the most savory dishes in the world. Charles Lamb's Chinaman had jubilant delight over his first taste of roast pig, but that is a degraded passion compared with an Anglo-Saxon's initial ecstasy over an oriental morsel of raw namdsu garnished with the appetizing roots of Eutrema wasabi. All honor to tri-umphant agricultural Japan, and may this far eastern member of the mus-tard family take deep root and spread and flourish in my native land!—Har-old Boice in Booklovers' Magazine.

Mrs. Greene, the matron, deserves great credit for the excellent way in which she manages the Home.

GO TO NORTHVILLE

About forty of the members of Wellington Lodge Royal Arch Masons, of this city, took a trip to Northville, Mich., on Wednesday and returned to the city last evening, having spent Thanksgiving Day with the Masons of Northville.

Arriving at Detroit Wednesday afternoon they were met at the Brush street depot by a delegation from the Northville Lodge and escorted via the electric line to Northville. That evening Wellington Lodge conferred the third degree before an audience of between four and five hundred Masons, after which a banquet was given. At the banquet Go. WARDSYSTEM NO GOOD

Those in favor of a change in the system of electing aldermen whereby they will be returned from the city generally instead of from the various wards are using the experience of the city of Chatham as an argument in favor of their case. The delegation that was here the other day looking over the market building declared explicitly that the change had been beneficial in Chatham, and that it had resulted in a better class of men being elected to the council. They averred that the people of Chatham were well satisfied with the operation of the system, and would on no account return to the old order of things when the wards returned men calculated to gerve the ward only, without regard to the fleeds of the city at large. — Woodstock Express.

Planting Home Grounds.

Prof. H. L. Hutt discoursed on the planting of home grounds at the horticultural convention in the Parliament fluidings yesterday. Nature idealized was the aim of landscape gardening, and his account of what might be done with an acre of ground around a country home made one long for the heauties he described.

Outarlo's Need of Eackers Ontario's Need of Fackers

ontario's Need of Fackers

The public meeting hast night in Association Hall in connection with the Provincial Fruit, Flower and Honey Show was well attended. Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, presided. In his address he laid particular stress upon the need of expert packing, and said that there were no men in Ontario who are expert packers and can teach packing. Putting apples into a box is an art or science, and at the risk of being charged with making a pre-election promise, he said that he would either import an expert packer from St. Louis or send men from Ontario there to learn packing.

Although Canadian fruit finds a ready market wherever shipped, he found that it was being replaced by foreign fruit. Even in Winnipeg most of the fruit sold there came from California. This, he thought, was due to the fruit growers of Ontario having no concerted action. Each packer ships his own product, and there is no uniformity. We can produce the fruit, but to find a ready sale, it must be presented in proper form. This can only be done by co-operation.

For years he had advocated cohes-tion.

For years he had advocated cohesion. The farmer should know his neighbor and their efforts should be united. He also advocated enthusiasm and thought nothing could be done without it. Much of the earler part of the Minister's speech was devoted to the commercial side of the honey and flower pursuits. and flower pursuits.

PUTTING IT STRONG

BUT DOESN'T IT LOOK REASON-

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme, or else deluging the 'already overburdned stomach with "bitters," "after-dinner pills," etc., which 'invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight, temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now, how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained.

This is a great secret and this sustained.

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merit.

The tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach.

anyway, regardless of condition of stomach.

The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food adn use the tablets before and after each meal, and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may never be so weak, yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished, and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much-abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

Scrapbook Miada.

"Some men seem born with a scrap-book instead of a mind," says the London Spectator. "All their experiences, however gained, remain disconnected however gained, remain disconnected and are merely a selection of odd-ments, a selection which gets bigger as they get older, but out of which they can make nothing. While they are very young no one perhaps notices their mental misfortune. They display their scraps with pride and receive praise for their quantity and their quality. A good memory is a sufficient equipment for a starter in the race of tife, and it is amazing how far it will tife, and it is amazing how far it will take a man even when childhood is take a man even when childhood is tong past and he has his way to make. In the world. Socially speaking, the scrapbook minded have almost always a superficial success. Perhaps the form of scrap exchange in which they excel most is of a personal nature. They torget nothing. They know what Soand-so does, and they know what he or she did and even very likely what his or her grandfather used to do, but as to what he and she actually are, though all the evidence is before them, though all the evidence is before them, they can form no estimate. Their store of knowledge does not help them to any moral conviction."

To-morrow.

The Sore Throat or Tickling Cough that, to the careless, seems but a temporary and trivial annoyance, may develop into Bronchitis.

Every hour delayed in curing a cold is dangerous. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

London, Nov. 16.—Thomas Goring Baring, Earl of Northbrooke, is dead. He was born in 1836, and was the eldest son of the first Baron Northbrooke, whom he succeeded in 1866. A Liberal in polities, he acted as Under Secretary for India, for War and for the Home Department on various occasions between 1859 and 1872, in which latter year he became Viceroy of India. From 1880 to 1885 he held office as First Lord of the Admiriatty in Mr. Gladstone's second Administration. Miss Hapgood tells how she was cured of Fallopian and Ovarian Inflammationand escaped an awful operation by using Lydia E. Pinkharn's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I suffered for four years with what the doctors called Salpingitis (inflammation of the fallopian tubes) and ovaritis, which are most distressing and painful ailments, affecting all the surrounding parts, undermining the constitution, and sapping the life forces. If you had seen me a year ago, before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and had noticed the sunker eyes, sallow complexion, and general emaciated condition, and compared that person with me as I am today, robust, hearty and well, you would not wonder that I feel thankful to you and your wonderful medicine, which restored me to new life and health in five months, and saved me from an awful operation."—Miss Irene Hargood, 1022 Sandwich St., Windsor, Ont.

Ovaritis or inflammation of the ovaries or fallopian tubes which adjoin the ovaries may result from sudden stopping of the monthly flow, from inflammation of the womb, and many other causes. The slightest indication of trouble with the ovaries, indicated by dull throbbing pain in the side, accompanied by heat and shooting pains, should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation, with all its terrors, may easily result from needect.

by heat and shooting pains, should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation, with all its terrors, may easily result from neglect.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words.

"Before I wrote to you telling how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money in medicine besides, but it all failed to do me any good. My menses did not appear in that time, and I suffered much pain. I would daily have fainting spells, headache, backache and bearing down pain, and was so weak that it was hard for me to do my work.

"I used your medicine and treatment as directed, and after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, menses appeared, my womb troubles left me, and I have been regular ever since. I used fourteen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier together, and am now restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you, I would have been in my grave.

"I will always recommend your wonderful remedies, and hope that these few lines may lead others who suffer as I did to try your remedies."—Mrs. T. C. WILLADSEN, R. R. No. 1, Manning, Iowa.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over diseases of women.

sleep. Dyspepsia, inflammation of the stomach, bronchitis and consumption are the results. The blood also becomes contaminated and carries the poisons to all parts of the system. Frequently in the more advanced stages, the bones of the head become decayed and the air passages are a putrid mass and create a stench so foul and offensive as to be unbearable. The expression, "rotten with catarrh," is not overdrawn or exaggerated.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets strike at the root of this terrible, odious disease and eradicate it from the system. They are a constitutional remedy that cleanses the system thoroughly of all poisons and purifies the blood. Under their influence the head becomes clear, the discharges at the nose and droppings into the throat cease, the lost sense of smell is restored, the eye brightens, the foul breath becomes pure and sweet and the odious, disgusting disease is thoroughly expelled from the system.

A Cincinnati man says: "I suffered the misery and humiliation of catarrh for twelve years. My case became so aggravated that it seriously interfered with all my business relations. The disease became so offensive that I would not venture into any one's presence unless it were absolutely necessary. I tried every remedy that I could get hold of. Some helped me temporarily, but as soon as I ceased tak in them, I would relapss into the old condition.

"Finally a friend told me of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and insisted that I try them. I had about despaired of ever finding help, but bought a box anyway. I began to notice the improvement within twerty-four hours after I began taking them. Before the first box was gone I felt like another man. I kept up the treatment till I had taken three boxes and was entirely cured. I have never had a, recurrence of the trouble from that day to this. My head is clear and well and none of the offensive symptoms of the disease ever troubled me. It has been two years since I stopped taking them."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are fer sale by all druggists at 50 cents here.

"The blood is the life." Science has never gone beyond that simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is pure. No one can have a wholesome and pure life unless the blood is pure, Foul blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are alike healthy and life becomes a daily happiness.

Withstand Jap Assaults For Time-The Report, However, Is Only Down to Nov. 3, and There Have Been Happenings Since-Russia Thereupon Takes Heart.

Che Foo, Nov. 18.-The Russians have blown up the torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny, which arrived here Wednesday. Commander Pelem said that the destroyer's object was simply to carry despatches. The other Russian ships remained in Port Arthur. The members of the crew of the Rastoropny have been taken on board the Chinese cruiser Haiyung and their small arms have been taken from them. They will be kept on board the Haiyung in order that Chinese authorities may completely govern them, Carried Destroyer Orders. The Rastoroppy carried concealed orders providing that, unless there came a highly favorable opportunity to escape, the vessel should be blown up. Sufficient powder for this purpose was secreted before the destroyr left Port Arthur. Small charges of ordinary powder, placed in each of the five watertight compartments, were exploded.

Crisis Not Remote, London, Nov. 18.—Insofar as the contents of the report sent by Gen. Stoessel to Emperor Nicholas by the torpedo boat destroyer Rastorophy, which craft was sunk in the harbor of Chee Foo after accomplishing the purpose of her dash out of Port Arguerates. purpose of her dash out of FOR Ar-thur, have come to public knowledge, it serves to indicate that the Rus-sian military commander at Port Arthur regards the crisis of the seige as not remote. The report as-serts that the inner line of defences is intact; that the damage to war-chine in the harbor by Jananesships in the harbor by Japanese shells is not great, and that the garrison will be able to hold out against assault for some time. Conditions south of Mukden remain unchanged, although there are said to be indications that important deve-

A fortune of two million dollars, a beautiful duchess for a wife, the certainty of a life of a multi-million-aire—all these are enough to make any man paiss. Whitecar seems, however, to be pretty cool through it all. In fact he was about the coolest man of all who knew of the offer yesterday. He has not accepted out of hand, but he yesterday cabled his uncle that he was considering the matter. A more definite answer will follow in a few days.

Here are some extracts from the letter that Whitecar yesterday received. Some personal references are omitted. The letter is dated Rome, Italy, Nov. 1st, and commences as follows:

Gen. Stoessel, in his despatches to Emperor Nicholas, reports the repulse of a Japanese attack Oct. 26 on the north front of Port Arthur. The Russian losses were 480 killed or wounded. Stoessel's Greeting to Czar.

In a telegram dated Oct. 30, Gen. Stoessel says: "Since my despatch of Oct. 28, the bombardment continued with great fierceness." Under date of Nov. 3 Gen. Stoessel telegraphed: "We greet the Emperor. This day is a solemn one for our country; we offer prayers to God and send to our Emperor felicitations in the shape of reverberating hurrahs. On bended knees we pray to God to give health to your majesty and the grand duke Czarevitch. Our joy is grand duke Czarevitch. Our joy is all the greater because all the as-saults, which lasted nine days, have been repulsed up to this day, that our Japanese enemies celebrate the anniversary of the birth of their Mikado, and whereupon they have sworn to take the fortress. As I have already intimated to you that it is not my present intention to seek re-election at the close of the first few lines had been read. The letter was from an eccentric uncle, a multi-millionaire, and it offered a fortune and a handsome wife to the actor nephew from whom he had been estranged for five years past.

The wealthy uncle is named William A. Riugi, and he is reputed to be worth at least twenty millions, the famous Italian family whose fate s so woven into the story of that once great family. Though an American born, Whiteear traces his decent back to the same proud stock. In a note accompanying the enclosure the uncle has authorized him to make a draft for ten thousand dollars conditionally upon his cabling him that he would accept the offer and start for Rome within four weeks from the date of the letter coming into his hand.

A fortune of two million dollars a draft to part from you, but my present intention to seek re-election at the close of the present Parliamentary term, I feel that it is not my present intention to seek re-election at the close of the present Parliamentary term, I feel that it would be only justice to you now to place my portfolio at your disposal, so that you may, at a time convenient to yourself, accept my resignation as Provincial Secretary of Ontario. I shall remain in charge of the department during your pleasure, but shall be pleased to be eighted of official responsibilities at the earliest possible date.

I beg to assure you that as a member of the library party I shall continue to have the same great confidence in your ability, integrity and honesty of purpose, and success in administering the affairs of this province as I have always had as one great family. Cabinet Reconstruction.

The announcement of the acceptance of Hon. J. R. Stratton's resignation indicates that Premier Ross will probably meet the Liberal convention to be held this month with his reconstructed Cabinet. Mr. Stratton's resignation follows closely on the heels of E. J. Three of the men who are to succeed the retiring Ministers have been definitely chosen. These are W. A. Charlton, South Norfolk; George J. Graham of Brockville, and A. G.

es explaining to St. Petersburg the situation at Port Arthur, the condi-tion of the Russian squadron and the shortage of food and ammunithe shortage of food and ammunition, referring the question of further resistance to the Russian Government. The nature of the Russian fire indicate a scarcity of certain kinds of ammunition. All prisoners taken by the Japanese tell a story of increasing hunger. It is claimed that the Russian commanders are divided on the question of continuing the defence. If this is true, it fits the theory that the Rastoropny carried despatches passing the question to the Emperor. to the Emperor.

London, Nov. 18.—The fact that the Russian torpedo boat destrover Rastoropny (which arrived at Che Foo Wednesday) left Port Arthur much later than the date of General Stoessel's published report which relates nothing later than Nov. 3, is regarded as significant. Apparently, however, Tokio has not yet received as late news as is contained in the report of American Consul-General Fowler at Che Foo which was transmitted to the State Department at Washington on Wednesday.

Special despatches from Tientsin.

Special despatches from Tientsin report a heavy bombardment of Port Arthur as late as Nov. 12 and nightly sorties by small parties of Russians who lost heavily by bayonet fights. These reports give no reliable details, but concur in statements that guns are wearing out and that the Russian ammunition is becoming scarce.

The Daily Telegraph's Tientsin correspondent says he has received a report that the Japanese have suddenly advanced in the direction of Mukden, from which place they are now only twelve miles distant.
