CIHM  Microfiche Series  (Monographs)

ICMH
Collection de microfiches (monographies)

Technical and Bibliographic Notes / Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming are checked below.

Coloured covers /

Couverture de couleur Covers damaged /
Couverture endommagée

Covers restored and/or laminated /
Couverture restaurée eVou pelliculée
Cover title missing / Le titre de couverture manque
Coloured maps / Cartes géographiques en couleur

Coloured ink (i.e. other than blue or black) / Encre de couleur (i.e. autre que bleue ou noire)

Coloured plates and/or illustrations /
Planches etou illustrations en couleur

Bound with other material /
Relié avec d'autres documents

Only edition available /
Seule édition disponible
Tight binding may cause shadows or disiortion along interior margin / La reliure serrée peut causer de l'ombre ou de la distorsion le long de la marge intérieure.

Blank leaves added during restorations may appear within the text. Whenever possible, these have been omitted from filming / II se peut que certaines pages blanches ajoutées lors d'une restauration apparalssent dans le texte, mais, lorsque cela était possible, ces pages n'ont pas été filmées.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qul sont peut-étre unlques du point de vue bibllographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exlger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

Coloured pages / Pages de couleur

Pages damaged / Pages endommagées
Pages restored and/or laminated /
Pages restaurées eVou pelliculées
Pages discoloured, stained or foxed /
Pages décolorées, tachetées ou piquées
Pages detached / Pages détachées
Showthrough / Transparence

Quality of print varies / Qualité inégale de l'impression
Incieres supplementary material /
Comprend du matériel supplémentaire
Pages wholly or partially obscured by errata slips, tissues, etc., have been refilmed to ensure the best possible image / Les pages totalement ou partiellement obsr,urcies par un feuillet d'errata, une pelure, etc., ont été filmées à nouveau de façon à obtenir la meilleure image possible.

Opposing pages with varying colouration or discolourations are filmed twice to ensure the best possible image / Les pages s'opposant ayant des colorations variables ou des décolorations sont filmées deux fois afin d'obtenir la meilleure image possible.

Additional comments /
Commentaires supplémentaires:
Pagination is as follows: $[4], 1587-2376$.

This item is filmed at the reduction ratio checked below f
Ce document est filmé au taux de réduction indiqué ci-dessous.

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thenks so the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The imeges appeering here ore the beat quelity possible conadaring the condition and legibility of the original copy end in keeping with the filming contrect specificetions.

Onginal copies in printed pepar covers ere fllmed beginning with the front cover end ending on the last page with a printed or illustreted impres. sion. or the back cover when eppropriete. All other original copies ere filmad beginning on the first pege with e printed or illuatreted impres. sion. end ending on the last pege with e printed or illustreted impreseion.

The leat recordind freme on eech microtiche shell contein the symbol $\rightarrow$ Imeening "CON. TINUED"I. or the symbol $\nabla$ (maening "END"I. whichevar epplies.

Maps. plotes. charts. atc.. moy be filmed ot difterent reduction retios. Those 800 lerge $t 0$ be entiraly included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the uppar lett hend corner. left to right end top to bottom. se meny fremes as required. The following diegrems illustrete the mothod:

L'exemplaire filmo fur reproduir grace ata gendrosird de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canade

Les imeges suiventes ont ote reproduites evec to plus grand soin, compre ranu de la condition et de le nertert de l'exempleire filme. ot en conformits evec les conditions du contret de filmege.

Les exemplaires originoux dont ie couvarture in pepier est imprimios sont filmea en commoncent par le premier plet et en terminent soir per la dernidre pege qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soir per io second plet, selon lo cas. Tous les eutres exempleires origineux sont fllmbs en commencent per la premidre pege qui comperte une emprointe d'impreasion ou d'llustrotion at en terminent par le derniere pege qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivents appersitre sur io dernitre imege de cheque microfiche. salon le ces: Io symbole signifia "A SUIVRE". is symbole $\nabla$ signifie "FIN".

Les cortes. plenches. sobleaux. atc., peuvent atre filmbs des taux de reduction difforants. Lorsque te document est irop grand pour atre reproduit en un seul clicht. il ast filmesis pertir de l'engle supdrieur geuche. de gauche adroite. ot de heut en bas. en prenent le nombre d'imeges necesseire. Les diegremmes suivente lilustrent le muthode.

HISTORY FOR READY REFERENCE

FROM THE BESTHISTORIANS, BIOGRAPHERS, AND SPECIALISTS

THEIR OWN WORDS IN $\therefore$ COMPLETE

SYSTEM OF HISTORY
FOR ALL USES, EXTENDING TO ALL COUNTRIES AND SUBJECTS, AND REPRESENTING FOR BOTH READERS AND STUDENTS THE BETTER AND NEWER LITERATURE OF HISTORY IN THE English language

Bi

J. N. LARNED

WITE NUMEROUS HISTORICAL MAPS FROM ORIGNAL STUDIES AND DRAWNGS BI ALAN C. REILEY

REVISED AND ENLARGED EDITION

IN SEVEN VOLUMES

VOLUME III-GES to NEH TORLD

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
TIE C. A. NICHOLS CO., PUBLISHERS
1913

D9
L3.7
$191 ?$

- 31.

U. 3

Copmaery, 1894, BY J. N. LARNED. Commert. 1901, BY J. N. LMRNED.

Cbe liuctaior press CAMBRIDGE . MASSACHUSKTTE U.S.A

LIST OF MAPS.
Map of India, about the close of the Slxteenth Century, and map of the growth of the Anglo-Indian Empire,

To follow page 1748
Two maps of Italy, at the beginning of the Seventh Century, and A. D. 1492, To follow page 1844 Two maps of Italy, A. D. 1815 to 1850, and 1861, . . . . . . . . . To follow page 1004 Four mape of the Empire of Alexander the Great and hls successors, . . . To follow page 2106 Map of the Mongol Empire, A. D. 1300, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . On page 2286

LOGICAL OU'TLINE, IN COLORS.
Irtah hitory, . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . To follow page $1 \% 04$

OES TRIBEN

GES TRIBES, The. Sec Aymmican Abo-

GESITHS.-GESITHCUND. The guard and private council of the early Anglo-Sazon kings Apparently the gesltin differed from the thegi, oniy by a more strictly warlike character. See Comitatue ; and Enolind: A. D. $\mathbf{0} 50$.

GESORIACUM, - The prinelpal Ilomian port and naval station on the Gillic alite of the Fing Hidh Channel - afterwards calied Ihnonia - moni. eru Ibulogne. "Gesorincum was the terninus of the great high way, "nilitury :uarchiug roand, Whitch hat heen consi leteet by akrippa acrose G:ul."-H. M. Scarth, Lomma Prihain, ch. 4.
GETA, Roman Emperor, A. D. 211-212.
GETFE, The. Seeficin; Tumaclasn; SamMitia; and Gothe, Orhin of.
GETTYSBURG, Battle of. Rece Linited Statemor Am: A. D. 1803 (Jene-Jthy: Denn. evivasia).

GETULIANS, The. Sce Inmyas.
GEWISSAS, The.-This was the earlicr naure of the West saxons. Sce Eivoland. A. II. 4T-5028 GHAZNEVIDES, OR GAZNEVIDES. See Tcuкs: A. 1). 090-1183.

GHENT: A. D. 3 337.-Revolt under Jacques Van Arteveld. Fee Flanders: A. 1) 13:3i1337.
A. D. 1345.-The end of Jacques Van Arteveld. See Flanders: A. I). 1343.
A. D. 1379-1388. - The revoit of the WhiteHoods. - The captalacy of Philip VanArteveld. Sec Flanumers: A. D. 13:0-138!.
A. D. 1382-1384.-Resistance to the Duke of Burgundy. Sec Friandens: A. D. 138.
A. D. 145 s -3 453.-Revoit against the taxes of Fhilip of Burgundy. - In 1tuo, Philip, Duke of Burguudy, having exhnusteci his usual reve. nues, rieh as they were, by the unbounied ex. tre vaganee of his court, hali a heary tas on salt iu Flanders. The sturdy men of Gient were lit ie disprosed to submit to an impowition so hate. ful as the French "galvelie"; still hess when, the woy jear, a new duty on grain was demandeel thenu. They rose in revolt, put on their hools, and prepared for war. It was an rtunate contest for them. They were de. fowed in nearly every cugagement; each eucounter was a minssacre, with no quarter given ou either side; the surrounding eountry wis hid waste and depopnlated. A tinal hattie, fonght at Gavre, or Gavereu, July 22, 1453, went nyainst them so nurderonsly that they subuitted and went ou their knces to the duke - uot metaphori. colly, hut aetunliy. " The citizens were deprived of the hanners of their guihls: nnd the duke was henceforward to have an equal voiee with then in the appointment of their magistrates, whose julicial anthority was conshierably abiritged; the inhnlitants likewise bound thenselves o iipuicate the expenses of the war, and to pay the gabelle for the future." The IIollanders and $Z$ (ialhnders leut ineir assistance to the duke at:inst Ghent, ni were rewniled hy some important concessions.-C. M. Davies, IIist. if jurisdicton, her dominion , or the surrounding country. She had no long ar any subjects, whe rohluced to a commune, and a commune, too, iu wari two gates, walled up forever, were to remind her of this grave change of state. The anvereign banaer of Ghent, and the trales' bannens, were handed over to Tolison il'Or, whe unceremouiousiy tliruat them $\ln$ on $n$ sack and carried therll off."-J. Nichelet, Nist. of Stance, bk. 12, ch. 1 (f. 2).

GIIENT.

A. D. 1482-1488.-In trouble with the Austrian ducal suardian. See Netherlands: A. D. 14 $\mathrm{K}_{2}^{2}-14 \mathrm{H}_{3}$
A. D. ${ }^{2539-1540 .-T h e ~ l a n t ~ p e a l ~ o f ~ t h e ~ g r e a t ~}$ beli Roland.- Unce more, in 1530, Gi cat lec came the serne of n memorabie rixiug of the people ngalust the oppreasive exastinus of their forelgn masters. "The origin of the present clispute hetwern the Ghenters und the court was tho suhsidy of 1,200, (hn) gnididers, demandel by tho gor-- riness [vinter of the emperor Chmrlen V.] in 1536, whili . . it wan found impossibie to levy by a Everrail tax thronghout the provinces. It was ther rifure diviticed in proportional shares to each: that of Flamiors leilug tixell at 400,000 guithlers. or ine third of the whole. . . . The cilizens of Ginut inersisted in refusing the demand, olferhge, instemi, to scrve the emperor as of old time. With their own srosps assembled under the greut staudarl of the town.

The other eities of Flauders showeal themselves unwiling to espense the conse of the Ghenters, wio, thailng they hal wo hope of support frou them, or of recircis from the cmperor. took nin arms, possessed therus. Ives of the forts in the virinity of Ghent, nui desputched an emlassy to I'aris to offer the sovereignty of their city to the king." The Frunell king, Frimels I., int only gave them no concouragenent, but jermitted the emperor, then Inspain, to puss throngh France, in order to reach the sence of disturbazice nuro prouptly. In the winter of 1540 , the latter bremenced himseif hefore Ghent, at the hatad of 11 German army, and the noiappiy city could do nothing hut yled itself to hini.-(C. M. Divies, Hiat. if Iholland, ut. $2, c h .5(r .1)$ - It the time of this unsuecessful revolt nnd the suminswin of the city to Charles V., "Ghent was, in ail respects, ono of the nost important cities in Emope. Eranulus, who. as n Ilsilander and a courtier, was not likely to be partial to the turhuic ut Flemings, asserted that there was no town iu ull Christendom to be compurel to it for size, power, political constitution, or the culture of its iuhahitants. It was, said one of its inhnhitunts at the epoch of the lnsurrection, rather a country than a city. . . . It strets and squares were spacions and ciegant. its churehes and other public bnillings numerous nud splendid. The sumptnous chu' h of Saint Jolan or Saiut Bavon, where charles $\mathcal{V}$. hand been baptized. the aneient eastle whither Baldwin $B$ Bris de Fer hal crought the daughter of Charies the laahl [see FLA JERS: A. D. 863], the city lanll "ith its graecful Moorish front, the well-known hilfyy, where fur tiree centurles had perched the drasou sent by ihe Eimperor Baldwin of Flnaders from Constantinople, and where swung the famusus Roland, whose iron tongue had ealled the citizens, generation after generation, to arms, whether to wiu battles over foreign kings at the head of thetr chivalry, or to pluuge their awords in eneh others' hreasts, were a.l conspicuous in the city and celebratedi lu tie land. Especially tice great bell was the object of the burghers' nffecetiou, and, generally, of the sovereign's hatred; while to nll it seemedi, as it were, a living his. toricul personage, intowed with the human powers anil jatilins which it had so long directed and Infamenl. . . . Chaples allowed a month of awfil mispense so Intervene between hisarrival aml his veageance. Thupalr and hrpe alternated during the Interval. On the lith of March, the spell was broken hy the execistion of 10 perions, who were beheaded as ringlealem On the 29th of April, he pronounced eentener. $\%$ ols the clty.

It annulled all the charters, privilleges, and la wa of (ilisent. It confacuted all lis puble propcrty, renta, revenuen, houses, artllery, munilions of war, and In general everything whleh the corporatlon, af the traders, each and all, ponemarl In common. In partienlar, the great bell Ifoland was condemaed and mentenced to Immediate re. moval. It was decreed that the 400,000 forins, wheh liall caused the re"olt, should forthwith be paili, tugether with an mdilitlonal fine ly Ghent of $1: 51$, , MK0, beshlesa 6,000 a year, forever after."-J. 1. Motley, The lise of the tinteh Ble. pulic., intrmel., wet. Ii.
A. D. 1576.- The Spanish Fury.-The treaty of the "Pacification of Ghent." Ske Netlikrianim: A. D. 1:3:-157\%.
A. D. 1584.-Disgraceful surrender to the Spaniards.-Decline of the city. Nee Netrich. LANDA: 1. 11. lint-15N.
A. D. $167^{8 .}$ - Siege and capture by the French. Ne Netieliande (Holland): A. D. $16 i+16 i=$.
A. D. ${ }^{\mathbf{1 6 7 8}}$,-Restored to Spain. See Nixx. oten, Peaceof.
A. D. 3706,-Occupied by Marlborough, See Nrtin: iniavins: A. II. 1i00-170?.
A. D. 1708-1709. - Taken by the French and retaken by the Allies. See Netmerlands: A. 1). 1 1:ार-1:09.
A. D. 1745-1748.-Surreadered to the French, and restored to Austrla. See Netherlandy (Alsthins I'rurinesy): A. D. 1745; aul Aix.la.

A. D. 1814.-Negotiation of the Treaty of Peace between Great Britain and the United States.-Text of the Treaty. Nee Uisitnd Statee of Ax. : A. D. 1814 (December).

GHERIAH, Battle of (1763). See Indu: A. 1) $1 . i=1$-1io.

GHibelins. Nee Geelpa and Gurbellines.

GHILD. See Grins.
GHORKAS, OR GOORKAS, Euglish war with the. Ste linia: A. I. $180.2-1816$.

GIAN GALEAZ20, Lord of Milan, A. D. 13:8-1390; Duke, 1306-i42.....Gian Galeazzo I1. Duke of Milan, tis-ito.

GIBBORIM, The. - Klng David's chosen band of six handreel, hls leroes, lis " mighty men," hls standlug army,-11. Ewald, Jlivt. of Joruel.

Gibeon, Battie of. See Bethumion, Bat. tles of.
GIBEONITE $\quad$ :--The Gllmonites were a "remnant - $\frac{1}{}$ the as antites, anil the childiren of Israel hat sworn unto them " (li Samusel xxl., ?). Saul violated the pledged faith of his natlon to these people and "sought to slay them." After Sunl's death there came a famlie whleh was attrlbuted to hls crime agninst the Giheonites; whercupon David sought to make ntonement to them. They wonld accept nothing but the exe. cution of vengeance upon seven of Saul's family. and David gave up to them two sozs of Saul's concubine, Rizpah, and five sons of Mlchel, the daughter of Saul. Whom thes hadged. - El Ewald, Hief, of Iomei, un. 8.

GIBRALTAR, Origla of the name. Bee Spati: A. I). 711-718.
A. D. 1309-1460. - Taker by the Chriatiane recovered by the Moora, and haally wrested from them, aftor several sleges. See Bpalx: A. J. 12;4-1460.
A. D. 1704- Capture by the Eaglish. See Spaim: A. D. 1708-1804.
A. D. 1713 .- Ceded by Spalu to Eaglaed. See I'thicut: A. II. 1714-1714.
A. D. 17a7.-Abortive slege by the Spaclarda. - The lines of San Roque. Hee Spain: A. 1). 1726-1:81.
A. D. 1780-1782.-Unsuccesaful aiege by the Spaniarda and French. See Eroland: A. D. 1:80-1:88.

GILERRT, Sir Humphres: Expedition to N.twfoundland. Ner A MERICA: A. D. 1 ins.

GILBERT isLANDS. Nee Microneria.
GILDO, Revolt of. Hee Ihame: A. D. sob398.

GILDS. Sec Gutuds.
GILEAD. See Jkws: JaraEl undek ter Jubrien.

GILLMORE, General Q. A.-Slege and reduction of Fort Pulaski. See CNited NTATES of Ax.: A. I). 1862 (Frineary-Appil: Gzor-oIA-Florida). .... The aloge of Chapleaton. See Unired Staten or Ax. : A. D. 1863 (JULV: C. Carolina), and (Avocer-Drcemrer: 8. Curosicio). Florida Expedition. See United States of de. : A 1). 1 sh (Jan. Fikr. : Fla.).
GILOLO, or Halmaheira. See Moluccas, and Jaiar Anchipelagu.
GIPPS LAND. sie Victomia.
GIPSIES. Mé Grpales.
GIRARD COLLEGE, Sice Entcation, Modfan: Amenica: A Dis git.
GIRONDINS.-GIRONDISTS, The. See Franek: A. D. 1 ifl (Uctoner) to 1793-1794 (Octoner-Aprif).
GIRTON COLLEGE. See Enccation, MoDehi: Hrforms, dec. : 1805-1883.
GITANOS. Sre GYrenis.
GIURGEVO, Battle of (1595). See Baletm and Dantimas : tateb, hth-iotil Centurieg (luemania. fitc.).
'GLADIATORS, Revolt of the. See Spartacte.
GLADSTONE MINISTRIES. See EngI.AND: A. D. $1868-1870$; $1873-1880$ to 1885 ; 1880,-1846: and 1892-1893.
GLATZ, Capture of. Sce (ieryant: A. D. 1760 GLENCO, Massacte of. Sice Scotland: A. 1). 1692.

GLENDALE, Battle of. Sue L'nithin States
 GLENDOWER'S REBELLION. See Walas: A. 1) 1411-1413.

GLENMALURE, Battle of ( 1580 ). See IreLAND: A. I. 1.550-1B13.

GLEVUM.-Glevum was a large colonial elty of the Romans in Britain, represented by the modern clty of Gloucester. It "was a town of great lupportance, as standlug not only on the Severn, narar the place where fit opened out into the Bristol Channel, but also as being close to the great Ruman iron diztrict of the Furest of Dean."-T. Wright, Cult, Rorian and Savon, cA. 8.

GLOGAU, The etormiat of (1642). See OERMANF: A. D. 1640-1645.
GLOSSATORS, The. See Boloona: IItw Centery. - thencol of law.

GLOUCESTER, Origin of. See Gu.evom. A. D. 1643.-Slege of. seo Enolurb: A. I). 1048 (Acout-HEPTEMAER).

GLYCERIUS, Roman Emperor (Weatera), A. D. $473-474$.

GNOSTICS—GNOSTICISM.-'•In n word Gnosticism was a jhiliosophy of reiligon: hut in what mecse was it thin? Tho nnme of Gnosticism-Gnosis - dnes not belong exelu. aively to the group of phenomenn with whose hatorical explunation we are here concerned Gnosis is a generni licea: It is only as defined in one particular manner that it signifies Chriatian Grosticiam in a apectai sense: Gnonis is higiver Knowledige, Knowledge tint has a ciear percep. tion of the foundations on which it resta, and the manner in which tis structure has been buift up: : Knowledge tha:- * completely that whith, as Knowhenge, it is raicid to be. In this menme it forma the natumi antithenis to Pistis, Fulth [whence Mmetcs, indieving Cinriatinnas]: If it is desired to denote Knowieflge in Ity specific difference from falth, no word whil mark the distinctimn more significautly than Gnowla. Ilut we And that, even in thils gememil menne, the Know. fedge termed Guosls is a rillgions Knowledige rather than any oticr: for it is not speciriatlve Kiowifedge In Krowiedge In genemi, hut oniy such an la conrerned with rellgion. ... In its form and con. unts Christlan Gnostledsm in the expanslon and develupnent of Alexamirlan reilgions phifosophy; whileh was Itself au offinoot of Greek phi. hosepily. - The fundumentni characte- of Gnosticism In nil its forms is duailstic. It is its sharply definel, ail-pervading dualism that, more than anythlug the, marks it directly fe moffapring of pagailsu.). . In Gnostlelism u. No prlacipies, spirit and matter, furm the great und gene rall nntithesis, within the buundes of whald the gystetns move with alithat they contuin.
A furtier lealling Gnostic coneeption is itr Demargus. The two ligghest princlphes being aplitit and matter, nod the true conception of a creation of the worid being thup celindinl. It follows in the Gnostle systems, a i i is inariceteristic fenture of them, that they -. ate the creatce of the wortid from the suprc.av coti, and give him a positlou sulorliuate to the latter. He is therefore rather the artificer than the creator of the world. The oillest Gnostic sects are without donht those whose nume is not derived from a spechal founter, hut only stand for the generni notlon of Gnosticlsm. Such a mame is that of the Ophltes or Naussenes. The Gnostics are called Ophilses, hrethren of the Serpent, not after the serpeut with whels the fathers compared Gnostleism, meaning to indleate the dangeroue polson of its doctrine, and to suggest that it Was the hydra, which as soon as it lost one head at once put forth another; but because the ser. peat whs the accepted symbol of their iofty Kowdelge. . . The first priests and supporters of the dogma werc, nccording to the nuthor of the Philosophoumena the scording to the nuthor of the Phifosophoumena, the se.calied Naassenes a ritme derived from the Hebrew name of the Gerpent. They afferwards calicd themelvee Gnistics, becmuse they bearmit that they alone knew the thinga that nre leepeat. From thim root the one hereay divided suto various hranches ; for thongh these heretlew all tnught a like doc: trine, their dogman were varions." - F. C. Buur, The Fhureh Jliot. the Nirot Three Centuries, e. 1. pp. 187-202. - "BRotry han deatroyed thels [tile Gnostles'] writint mo thoroughir, thnt we know iltte of them except from hoatfie sources. They cailed themaelves Christlinus, but enred Iittle for the autiority of hisiopss or npoaties, and inorrowerd frely from cabailsts, Im inseen, as! 'ingers, nad Greek phifiosophers, in bulfding up ir finntinstic arstenis. . Much na ne may ar that the $G$ nosste literature was more rear ranble for boldiness in specuintion than for tarness of reasonin. 3 or respect for for is is a reat plty that it should have beer .-. st enAirely destroged lyy eccleainationl $h^{2}$. t . F . 3. Moliand, The lime of Intedlectun ... 4 och. 3, rect. 6.

Almo in: J. 1. von Mosheim, Hion, real Com. mentaries on the State of Chriotianity, ientury I. aert. 60-i0, century :. wet. 41-65.-C. W. King, The Enowtics and their Remains.-A. Neander, General Ifiat. of the C'Irintion Religion and church, t. 2.-Ne, also, Docetism.
GOA, Acquisition by the Portuguese ( $\mathbf{2 5 1 0 \text { ). }}$ Ser 1NiIfA: A. 11. $1498-1580$.
GODERICH MINISTRY, The. See Ena. LAND: A. D. $142 \mathrm{~F}-1 \mathrm{~N}_{2}$

GODFREY DE BOUILLON: His crusade and his kingdom of Jerusaiem. See Cresades: A. D. 1090101009; and Jeblebalem: A. D. 1009 , and 1009-114.
GODIN'S SOCIAL PALACE. See SocIal Moveventy: A. II. 1N.59-188\%.

GODOY'S MINISTRY. See Srain : A. D.

[788-1814.

rODWINE, Earl: Ascendancy in England. See Engiand. A. D. 1042-1146b.

GOIDE:-, The. See Crita, Tue.

GOLD : TAET.-A metton of the African coast ou land, par
irom the. inf of Gulnca: acquired hy Eng. rom the Danes, Isto, and parily GOLD h. $1 \times$ int.

1. ") IEJY-185: nad Cabs. See Acstralia: $\therefore 419$ gold production.
is 「Ftit: A. 1). 1818-1893.
C.ULDEN BIBLE, The. Sce Honnonism :
A. D. 180.5-1883).

GOLDEN BOOK OF VENICE. See VENIct: A. 1), 1032-1:311.
GOLDEN BOUGH. The, See Arician Grove.
GOLDEN BULL, Byzantine.-A document to whleh the eniproror attached his golden seai was cailed hy the isyzantines, for that reason, a olirysobulum or gilden buif. The term was nifonted in the Western or IIoly Inmmn Empire. GOLDEN BULL OF CHAKIES IV., The.
See Grranat: A. 1) 134i-1493; 12 tII and 13 til Centumes: and ỉtu Centichy
GOLDEN BULL OF HUNGARY. See Hevgains: A. D. 1114-I30I.

GOLDEN CHERSONESE. See Carres.

GOLDEN CIRCLE, Knights of the. 'David Christy pulhilshed his 'Cotton is King' 1 the yenr [1850] In which Buchunan was elected [President of the L'nlted States], und the Knights of the Golden Circle appear to have organized about the same tlme. The Golden Cirele had lis centre at llavana, Cuba, and with a radius of elxteen degrees (inbout 1,200 mlles) its circumference took In Baltimore, St. Louis, ubout half of Mexico, all of Central America, and the best portlons of the coast aiong the Carilibean Sea. The project was, to estahlish an eniplre wilth this circle for its territory, aud hy controlliug four great staples - rice, tohacco, sigar, and cotton practically govern the conmerelai world. Just how great a part thls secret organization played In the scheme of secession, nobonly that was not In its counsels con say; but it is certaln that it hoasted, prohably wili truth, a membership of many thousands." - Rhe:siter Johnson, Nhort flist. of the liar of Accakion, p. 24.- Dhring the American Civll War, the Order of the Knights of the Gotden Cirele was extended (1862-180t) through the Northern states, as a serret treasmable orgauization, in uld of the soathern leleellon.

GOLDEN CIRCLE

GOLDEN FLEECE, Knights of the Order of the. -" It was on the occasion of hits numriage [A. D. 1430 ] that Pluillp [Plinilip the Gooml. Duke of Burgundy, Connt of Flanders, cte.] desirons of jnstituting a national order of knightifoond, elose for :ts insiguia a 'golden fleece,' with the motto, 'Pretium non vile lubornmi,'- not to be condemned is the reward of lalour. . . . For the that time labour was given heralde isonours. The pride of the conntry had become laden with Industrial recollections, its hope full of indnatrial trimmples; if fendalism wonld keep, lis loold, it must adopt or affect the mational feeling. No longer despised was the recompense of toit upon the lonour of knighthowl it should so he sworn; nay huighthood would henceforth wear appenderl aits collar of gold no other cmblem than itsenrlient imel most valned object - a golden fleere."-W. '1. NeCullagh, Imdustrial lisit. of Free Aations, r. 2, ch. 10.- "This order of fraterulty, of equality between nohles, In which the duhe was admonislied, 'claptered,' just the same as any other, this comncil, to which he pretemided to commmicate his affairs, was at lottoma trihnnal where the langhtiest fomal the duke thelr judge; be conld hononr or dishonour them hy a sentence of the order. Their senteleon answered for them; lang up lu St. Jem's, Ghent, it could either be erased or hackened. . . The great easily consoled themselves for degradation it laris by lawyers, when they were glorithed by the duke of liargundy in a court of clivalry lin which kings took their seat."-J. Michelet, Mixt. of Prance, th. 12, ch. 4.- The mmaner of the members was originally fixed at 31 , lnelnding the soverelpn, as the head and chicef of the institution. They were to be: 'Gentilnommes de nont et darmess sans reproche.' In 1:50, Pope Leo X . consented to inerease the mmber to 5? Including the lemal. After the accession of Charles $\mathbf{V}^{\text {? }}$, in 1 ,hno, the Austro-Spauish, or, rather, the Spanish-1)atel line of the house of Austrin, remalned In possession of the Orucr. In 1 iote, the Emperor Clarles VI, and King Phillp of Spain hoth laid claim to it. . . It now passes by the respectlve names of the Spmish or Anstrian 'Order of the Golden Flecee,' aecording to the country where It is lssued."-Sir B. Burke, Berk of Orders of Kinighthmon, p. 6.

Al.en IN: J. F. Kirk. Jixt. nf Cliaflag the Dute, bh. 1, ch. 2

GOOD HOPE.

GOLDEN GATE, The.-"The Bay of San Francisco is separated ly [from] the sea br low mountaiu ranges. Looking from the peaks of the Sierra Nevada, the coast mountajns present an apparently continuous line, with only a single gap, resenibiling a monntain pass. This is the entrauce to the great hay. . . . On the south, the bordering mountains cone down in a narrow ridge of hroken hills, terminating la a precipltous point, uguinst whelh the sem breaks heavily. On the northern side, the momitain presents a bold promontory, rising lu a few miles to $n$ licight of two or thire thousand feet. Betwecu these polnts is the stritit - abont one mile hroad In the marrowest part, mad five miles loug from the sea to the hay. T'o thls Gate 1 gave the unme of Chrysopyine, or Golden Gate ; for the same reasons that the harlor of Byzantium (Constantlmople nfterwarls), was called Chrysuceras, or Golden llorn. Dissing through this gate, the lay opens to the right and left, extending in cach direction alout 35 milles, making a total lengtl of more them 70, mad a coast of ahout 275 miles."-J. C. Fremont, Memoirs of my life, c. 1, p. 312.

GOLDEN HORDE, The. See Mongols: A. 1). 1238-1301.

GOLDEN HORN, The. See Brzanticm.
GOLDEN HORSESHOE, Knights of the.

GOLDEN HOUSE, The.-The imperlmp pal. uce int liome, as restored hy Nero ufter the great fire, was called the Golden llemse. It was de. stroyed ly Vespasian.-C. Merivale, lhint. of the liunimas under the Eimpire, rh, fi3 and 90.
GOLDEN, OR BORROMEAN, LEAGUE, The. See Swirzerianil: A. 1) 15i9-1630.
GOLDEN SPUR, Order of the.-An order of knighthoul instituteil lin 1500 lip Pope Paul 111 .
GOLDSBORO, General Sherman's march to. Sue Vnited Stites of A.m.: A. D. 1885 (Fembeary-Mahch: The Caholinas), and (Fenhary-Manch: N. Carohina) GOLIAD, Massacre at (1836), See Texas: A. 1). 1844 -1836.

GOLOWSTSCHIN, Battle of (1708). See Scandinailan States (Bivfden): A.D. 17071718.

GOL YMIN, Battle of (1806). See Gerbiany: A. 1). 1806-1807.

GOMER, OR OMER, The. See EILIA1.
GOMERISTS. Sue Nethemasids: A. D. 1003-1010.

GOMPH1.-Comphi, a city on the loorder of Thessaly, slmt lis gates against Casar, shortly before the hattle of Pharsalia. Ile halted one dity in his march, stormed the town and gave it up to his seldiars to lie sacked.-G. long, Declite of the lomath lippublir, r. 5, eh. 15 .

GONDS, The. See lidia: Tue abomoinal milamitants.
GONFALONIERE. See Camboccio.
GONZAGA, The House of.- " The house of Gonzaga held soverelgn power at Mautha, first as captains, then ns mmrinuesses, theu as dukes, for uearly 400 yars" (1328-1708).-E. A. Free mam, llistorical Geog. of Europe, r. 1, p. A. 8.
GOOD ESTATE OF RIENZI', The. See lRome: A. D. 1347-1354.

GOOD HOPE, Cape of: The Discovery and the Name. Nice l'untloal; A. D. 146id-1448. The Colonization. Sue South Arrica.

GOORKAS.

GOTHS.

GOORKAS, OR GURKHAS, OR GHORKAS, The. See Indu: The Aborional InHabrtants; and A. D. 1805-1816.

GOOROO, OR GURU. See Strins.

GORDIAN I. and II, Roman Emperors, A. D. 238-....Gordian III., Roman Emperor,

GORDIAN KNOT, Cutting the.-"It was about Februnry or Marcls 333 B. C., when Alexander reached Gordinm; where he nppears to bave inited for some tlme, giving to the troops Which had been with him in Pisldia n repose doubtess necdfui. While at Gordium, ho performed the memorahle exploit familiarly known as the cutting of the Gordlan knot. There was prescred in the citadel an ancient waggon of rude structure, said by the legend to have once belonged to the peasant Gordius and bis son Midas - the primitive rustic kings of Pbrygin, designated ns such by the Gouls and elosen by the people. The cord (composerl of fibres from tbe lark of the cornef tree), attaching the yoke of tbls waggon to the pole, was so twisted and entangied as to forma knot of singular comple xity, which no ous hat ever becn able to untie. An oracle hall pronouneci, that to the person who should untic it the empire of Asia was destined.
diexamder, on inspectiug the kaot, was as much jerplesed us others haif heen before him, until at leugh, in a fit of impatience, he drew his sworl and severed the cord hin two. By creryme this was uceepted as a solution of tho prolilem. "-G. Grote, Ifist of Greece, pt. 2, ch. 93.
GORDON, Generai Charles George, in China. Sec Cmisa: A. D. 1850-1864.....In the Soudan. Sec Egypt: A. D. 1870-18853, and $1854-1843$.
GORDON RIOTS, The. See England: A. 1). $170 \mathrm{~K}-17 \mathrm{sin}$.

GORDYENE, OR CORDYENE, OR COR-DUENE.-The trikes of the Carluchlil which aaciently occupied the region of uorthern Mesopotmina, east of the Tigris, have given their uame permanently to the country, but in varionsly modltied forus. In the Greek and Roman periof it was known as Gordyenc, Corlyene, Corduenc; at the present day It is Kirdistan. Under the Partblan domination in Asia, Gordyene was a tributary kingdom. In the early part of the last century 13. C. It was conquerei by Tigranes, king of Armenia, who close a within it for buildiag his vast new capital. Tigranocerta, to populate whel twelve Greek clties wero stripped of inhabitants. It was included among the conquests of Trajan for the iRomans, but reHinquishetl by Ilndrian.-G. Rawlinson, Sisth Oreat Oriental Monarehy, ch. 10, anll ajter.-Sce, also, Cambichi, Tue.
GORGES, Sir Ferdinando, and the colonization of Maine. See New Exalanib: A. D. 16211031, and 1035; aiso Maine: A. D. 1039.
GORM, King of Denmark, A. D. $888-041$.
GOROSZLO, Battie of (ifoi). See Balkan and Danctan States: 14th-18th Centchies (Rommania, &e.).
Gortyn. See Crete.
GOSHEN, Land of. Sec Jews: The Rocte of TIIE Exodts.
GOSNOLD'S VOYAGE TO NEW ENG-LAND. See AMERICA: A. D. $1603-1605$.
GOSPORT NAVY YARD, Abandoment and destruction of the. See United States of Am:A.D. 1861 (Apral).

GOTHA, Origin of the Dukedom of. See Saxony: A. D. $1180-1553$.
GOTHI MINORES, The. See Gotis: A. D. 341-381.
GOTHIA, in central Europe. See Goths (Visiooths): A. D. 376.
GOTHIA, in Gaul,-Septimania, tbe strlp of land niong the Mediterranenn between tbe Pyrenes and the Rbone, was the fist possesslon of the Goths in Ganl, nad the namo Gothia became for a tlme attached to it.-E. A. Freemnn, llist. Geog. of Eurppe ch. 5, sect. 5.-Sec Goths (Visiоотия): A. D. 410-451.
GOTHINI, The.-The Gotini or Gothini were a people of aucient Germany who "are probably to be placed $\ln$ Silesia, about Breslan." "The Gotint and Osi [wbo held n part of modern Gal. licha, under the Carpathian monntains] nre proved by their respective Gallic and Pannonian tongues, as weil ns by the fact of their enduring tribute, not to be Germans. . . The Gotini, to complete

The Gotini, to complete their degradation, actually work iron mines. "Tacltus, Minor Works, trans, by Church and Brodribh. The Germany, ucith geog. mitcs.
GOTHLAND IN SWEDEN. See Goths: Origin of ties.
GOTHONES, The.- 1 tribe iu ancient Ger maay, mentloned by Tacitus. They " prohably dwelt on either slde of the Vistula, the Baltic being their northern loumlary. Consequently, their settiements would coincile with portious of Pomerania and Prussia. Dr. Lathum thinks they were identical with the Estil."-Cburch and Bromribl, Ficm, Dates to the Germany of Tacitus. -See Gotus, Ghais of the.

GOTHS, Origin of the.-"The Scandinarian origin of the Goths has given rise to much dis cussion, and has been deaied by several eminent molern scholars. The only reasons in favor of thelr Seandinavinn origin are the testimony of Jornandes and the existence of the name of Gotlsland in Swedien: hut the testimony of Jornandes contains at the hest ouly the tradition of tbe people respecting their origin, which is never of much value; mud the mere fact of the existenee of the name of Gothland in Sweden is not snfficient to prove that this conntry was the originai abode of the people. When the Romans tiret suw the Goths, in the relgn of Caracalla, they dwelt in the land of the Getae [on the northern sitle of the lower Dambe]. Ilcuee Jornandes, Procopius, and many other writers, botb ancient and molern, supposed the Goths to be the same as the Getee of the carlier historians. But the batter writers always regarded the Gete ns Thrmcians; and if their opinion was correct, tbey equld bave had no connection with the Goths. Still, it is a startling fact that a nation coiled Gothi sbonld have emigrated from Germany, and settled nccidentally in the country of a peopie with a name so like their own ns that of Gete. This may have bappenci by necident, but certainly all the probabilities nre ngainst it. Two hypotheses bave been brought forward in modern times to mect this difficuity. One is tbat of Grimm, in his Ilistory of the Germnn Language, who supposes that there was no migration of the Goths nt all, that they were on tbe Lower Danube from the begiuning, and that they were known to the carlicr Greck and Latin writers as Gete: hut the grent oljection to this oplnion is the general bellef of the eariler writers that the Getio

Were Thracians, and the latter were certainly not Germans. The other is that of Latham, who suppones, with much ingenuity, that the name of Get, or Goth, wss the general name given by the Siavonic nations to the Lithuanians. According to thls theory, the Goth-ones, or Guth-ones, at the mouth of the Vistuia, mentloned by Tacitus and Ptolemy, are Lithuanians, and the Get-ex, on the Danube, belong to the same nation. Latham aiso believes that the Goths of a later perfod were Germans who mlgrated to the Danube, hut that they did not bear the name of Goths tlil they settlediln the country of the Getse. See Latham, The Germsnia of Tacitus, Epll., p. xxyvlii., seq."-W. Smith, Note to Gibbon's Decline and Fiall of the Roman Empire, ch. 10.-"The tirst ciear utterance of tradition among the Goths polnts to Sweden as their home. It is true that this theory of the Swedlsh origin of the Goths has of iate been strenuously comhatted, hut untll it is actuaily disproved (ff that be possibic) it seems better to accept it as a 'working hypothe. sls, and, at the very ieast, a iegend which lnfluenced the thoughts and feelings of the nation itself. Condensing the narrative of Jornandes We get some such resuits as these: 'The isiand of Sesnzia [peninsuia of Norway and Sweden] lles in the Northern Ocean, opposite the mouths of the Vistuln, in shape like a cedar-leaf. In this island, a wsrehouse of nations ("officina gentium" ${ }^{\text {g }}$, dwelt the Gotbs, with many other tribes, whose uncouth names are for the most part forgotten, though the Svedes, tbe Flns, the Heruli, are famiiiar to us. 'From thls island the Goths, under their king Perig, set forth in search of new homes. They had but three shlps, and as one of these during their passage always isgged behind, they called her "Gepuuta," "the torpid one," aud her crew, whoever after showed themselves more sluggish and clamsy than their companions when they lecane a nation, bore a name lerived from this circumstance, Gepidae. the Ioiterers':" Settling, first, near the nolith of the Vistula, these Gothie wanderers Incrensed in numbers until they were forced once more to mlgrate southward and castward, seeking a farger and more satlsfuctory home. In time, they resched the sbores of the Enxine. "The dinte of this mi. gration of the Goths is uncertain: but, as far ns weean judge from the indications allorded by contenporary Roman events, it was somewhere betwerel 100 mad 200 A . D. At any rate, by the midde of the third ceutury, we find them firmly pinntedi in the Srumh of lussia. They are now divided intu three uations, the Ustrogoths on the East, the Visigoths on the West. the lazy Grpilae alittle to the rear - that ls, to the North of hoth. is importnont for us to remember that these men are Teutons of the Teutons. . . Morrover, the crlelence of linguige shows that among the Teutonic races ther belonged to the Low Girman family of poples: more nearly allieti, that is to say, to the Dutch, the Frieshanders, and to our own saxon forcfathers, bll of whom diwelt hy the flat shores of the (Berman Ocean or the Baltic Sea, thm to the Stahisus and other Iligh German tribes who dwelt among the hiils."-T. Wodgkin, Ituly and Iler Inruldre, introul., ch. 3 (r.1).
Also in: T. Mommsen, Wist, of Rome, bk. 8, ch. 6.-T. Smith, Arminius, pt. 2, ch. 2.-See, aiso, Vanibals.
Acquisition of Bosphorus.-' Tbe little kingdom of Bosphorus, whose capital was sitnated on the straits through which the Mreotis communicates itself to the Euxine, was composed of degenerate Greeks and haif-civilized barbarians. It suhslated as an independent state from the time of the Peioponncsian war, was at last swaiiowed up by the ambition of Mithridates, and, wlth the rest of his dominions, sunk under the welght of the Roman arms. From the reign of Augustus the klngs of Bosphorus were the humhie but not useless sllies of the empire. By presents, by arms, and by a slight fortification drawn acrose the lsthmus, they effectuaily guarded, against the roving plunderers of Ssrmatia, the access of a country whlch, from lis pecuilar situation and convenicnt harbours, commanded the Euxinc Sea and Asia Minor. As iong ss the sceptre was possessed by a lineai successlon of kings, they a cqultted themseives of their lmportant charge with Flgiance and success. Domestic factions, and the fears or private intercat of obseure usurpers who seized on the vacant thrcue, admltted the Goths [already, in the thlrd eentury, in possession of the neighboring region aloult the mouth of the Dnelper] into the heart of Bosphorus. Wlth the acquisition of a superfloous waste of fertlie soll, the conquerors obtained the command of a naval force sufficient to transport their armies to the coast of Asia."-E. Gibbon, Decline and Fill of the Roman Empire, ch. 10.
A. D. 244-251.-Firat invasions of the Roman Empire. - As early as the reign of Alexander Severns A. D. (222-235) the Goths, then inhahlting the Ckralne, had trouhied Dacia with Incursions; but it was not untii the time of the Emperor Philip, culled the Arablan ( $244-249$ ), that thy invaded the Empire in force, passing through litcia nnd crossing the Danube Into Masia (Bulgaria). They had been bribed by a subsidy to refrain from pillaging IRoman territory, but complained that thcir "stipendia" had not been paid. Thes made their way without opposition to the city of Mlarcianopolis, which Trajan had founted in honor of his sister, und Which was the capital of one of the two provinces lnto which Miesia had been divided. The inhabitants ransomed themselves by the payment of a iarge sun of money, and the barbarians retired. But their expedition had been successful enough to tempt a specdy repetitlon of it, mai the yenr $2 \hat{0}$ fond then, again, in Dlœsia, mviging the country with littie hindrance. The following year thev crossed the Hemus or Balk:m monntains and lald sicge to the important city of Phllippopoils - capital of Thrace, fonnded by Philip of Macelon. Now, however, a capuhle und vigorons emperor. Decins, was brietly wearing the loman purple. Ile net the Goths and fought them so valinntly that 80. 840 are said to have been slain; Fet the victory r maned with the harbarians, and Philippopolis u - rut saved. They took it by storm, pht $100,(8)$ of lits inhathitants to the sword nod left nothing in the ruins of the city worth carrying awiy. Joantime the enterprising Ro. nan emperor hal reanimuted and reeruited hls trongs mod had seenred jositions which cut off the retreat of the Gothic host. The peril of the barbarians scemed so great, iu fuct, that they offered to surrouler their whole booty and their cnptives, if they might, on so doing, march out of the country undisturbed. Declus sterniy rejected the proposition, and so prounked his dan. ferous enomies to an clespulr whleh was futal to him. In a terrible battle that was fought before the celebrated tempie of Diana of Ephesus.
The celehrity of Athens, and the presence of the hlstorian Dexlppus, have given to this lneurslon of the barbarians a promlinent place in hlstory; but many expeditlons are casually mentloned Which must have lnfleted greater losses on the Greeks, and spread devastation more widely over the eountry. "-G. Finlay, Jreece Under the Romana, ch. 1, sect. 14.
Also N: E. Gibbon, Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, ch. 10 .
A. D. 268-270.-Defeat by Claudius.- "Claudlus II. and his successor Aurellan, notwlthstanding the shortness of thelr relgns, effectually dissipsted the mosqulto-swarms of barharlan invaders and provinclai usurpers who were rulning the unhappy dominlons of Gallienus. The two campalgns (of 268 and 209) in which the Emperor Claudlus vanqulshed the barbarians are related with great brevity, and in such a shape that it is not easy to harmonlse even the scanty details which are preserved for us. It seems elear, however, that the Goths (hoth Ostrogoths and Vlsigoths), wlth all their kiudred tribes, poured themselves upon Thrace and Macedonla in vaster numbers than ever. The previous movements of these nations had been prohably but rohber-lnroads: this was a national lumlgratlon. . . A few years enrlier, so vast an Irruption must lnevltably have ruined the Roman Empire. But now, under Claulins, the army, once more suhjected to strict disclpline, had regained, or was rapidly reguinlng. lts tone, and the Gothic multtudes, vainly precipltating themselves agalust $1 t$, by the very vastness of their unwleldy masses, hastened their own destruction. A great battle was fought at Naissins (Nisch, in, Servia), a battle which was not a complete vlotory, which according to one anthority was even. a defeat for the Romans, but since the barhariana as an immediate consequence of 1 lost 50,000 men, their doubtful victory may fairly he counted as a defeat. In the next campuign they were shut up in the lntricate passes of the Balkans by the Roman caralry. Lnder the pressure of famlue they killed and eat the caltie that drew thelr waggons, so parting with their last chance of return to their northern lomes. . . . At length the remnants of the huge host seen to have disbanded, some to have catcred the service of their conqueror as 'foed rmiti,' und many to have remained as hlred habourers to plough the fields which they had once loped to conquer.

The vast number of nnhuried corpses bred ${ }^{\text {a }}$ pestilence, to which the Emperor feil a viction. His successor Aureifan, the couqueror of Zenobia made peace wisely as weil as war bravely, and, prudently determlinigy on the final abandonment of the Roman province of Dacia, he conceded to the Gotlis the undisturhed possession of that region [A. D. 270], on condition of their not crossing the Danube to molest Moesia. Translating these terms iuto the language of modern geography, we may say, roughly, that the repose of Servia and Buigaria was guaranteed hy the final separition from the luman Empire of Hungary. Transylvania. Moldavia, and Walhchla, which became from this time forward the acknowledged home of the (lothic nation.
For about a century (from 2.11 to 36.5 ) the Goths appear to hare been is a litule eaception at peace whth Rome."-T. Hudgkin, Italy and Her Invaders, introd., ch. 3.
A. D. 341-381.-Conversion to Christianity. - The Introduction of Christianity among the Goths seems to have begun while they were jet on the northern slde of the Danube and the Black Bea. It first resuited, no douht, from the inflience of many Christian captives who were swept from their homes in Masia, Greece, and Asia Minor, and carried away to spend their lives in slavery among the harbarians. To these were probably added a considerahle number of Círis. tian refugees from Roman perseeution, before the period of Constantine. But lt was not untli the tlme of Elfias, the great apostle and hishop of the Goths (supposed to have held the offiee of bishop among them from about A. D, 311 to 381), that the derelopnient anl organizution of Chiristinnity in the Gothie nation assimed inportance. Uliflas is representel to inve been a descendant of one of the Ciristian captives ailuded to abore. Either as an ambassador or as a hostage, he secmis to hare passed some vars in his early manhomd at Constantinople. There ie aequired a familiar knowiedge of the Greck and Latln languaces, and became fitted for his grent work - tile redue. Ing of the Gothic language to a written form, with on aiphalet partly incented, partly adapted from the Greek, and the translation of the Bible into that tongue. The early labors of Cltias among his countrymen beyond the Danule were interrupted hy the onthreak of persceution, which drore him, with a considerable bouly of Christlan Goths, to seck shelier within the Roman empire. They were permitted to settle in Morsia, at the foot of the Jalkans, round about Nieopolis, ant] near the site of modern Tirnova. There they acquirel the name of the Gothil Minores, rir Lesser Gotiss. From this Gothie settiencut of Ultilas in Miessia the alpiabet and written language to which he gare form have been ealled Morso-Gothic. The Bible of EIfilas - the tirst missionary translation of the Scriptures - with the personal labors of the apostic aud his discipies, were powerfnlly inflnential, without doubt, In the Christimizing of the wiole body of the Goths, aud of their German neighbors, likevise. But Cltilas had imbibel the doetrines of Arianism, or of Simi-Arianism, at Constantinople, auld he communicated that leresy (as it was brunded by the Athamasian triumpij) to all the barbarian Torld within the rimge of Gothie intluence. It followed that, when the kingtoms of the Goths, the Vandals, and the Burgumbians were estab. lished in the west. they had to contend with the hostility of the orthoilox or Catholie western chureh, ani were umlermined by it. Thut hostility had muth to do with the breakiug diown of those states and with the better success of the orthodox Framks. - C. A. A. Seott, Vliflus, il/matle of the frithr,-See, aiso, Fnavks: A. D. 4*l-511.
(Ostrogoths) A. D. 350-375.-The empire of Ermanaric or Hermanric.-"Ermanarie, wbo secms to have heen choscen king about the year 350 , was a great warrior, like many of his predecessors; but his poliey, and the objects for which he fought, were niarkedly different from theirs. . . Ermanarie made no attempt to invade the provinces of the IRoman Emplre; hat he resolved to make his Ostrogothic kingdom the centre of a great enpire of his own. The seat of hls kingdom was, as tradition tells us, on the banks of the Dnieper [and it extended to the Baltic ,

A Koman histrarian compares Er. manaric to Alemander the Great; and many ages
afterwards his fame survived in the poetic trad tlons of Germans, Norsemen and Anglo-Saxons. Ermanaric was the first king ince Ostrogotha who belonged to the Amaling family. Inenceforward the klingshlp of the Ostrogoths became hereditary among the descendants of Er manaric. During this time the Visigoths appear to have been practlcaliy Independent, divided into separate tribes ruled hy their own 'judges" or chieftains; but ... It is prohable that in theory they acknowledged the supremacy of the Ostrogothic kihg. ...Ermanarle died in the year 375 , and the Ostrogoths were sublued hy the IInnnish king Balamber. For a whole century they remalued subjeet to the Huns." One section of the Ostrogothic nution escaped from tire Hunnish conquest and joined the Visigoths, Who found a refure on the Roman side of the Danube. The huik of the nation hore the yoke until the deatin of the great IIun king, Attila, in 453, when the strife betwee his sons gare them an opportunity to tinrow it oll.- II. Bradiley, Story of the Gotha, ch. 5.- "Tine forecast of Eu. roperan history whleh then [during the reign of Ifrmanric] secmed probable would have leen that a great Teutoric Emplre, stretchlng from the Dauube to the Don, Wonlid tuke the place which the colossal Siav Empire now holeis in the map of Enrope, and would be ready, as a elvilised aud Christlanised power, to step into the place of Eastern Rome when, in the fulness of centhries, the sceptre should drop from the nerveless hands of the Cresars of Byzantium."-T. Ilongkin, Ildy and Iler Inralers, bk. 4, ch. 1.
(Visigoths) A. D. 376.-Admission into the Roman Empire,-" Let us suppose that we have arrivel at the year (364) when the feehle and timiti Valens was placed on the Eastern throne by his brother Vaientinian. At that time, Clfilas would be in the fifty-third year of his age and the twenty-tinird of his epi,copate. Hermanric, king of the Ostrogoths, a centenarian and more, was still the most important figure in the loosely weided Gothle confederacy, IIis naeial rovaity may possibly have extended over Nohtereru Iung:iry lithuanla, and Southern Russia. The 'turpid' Gepidre, dwelt to the norti of hlm, to the south aud west the Visigoths, whose settle. ments may periaps have oceupied the modern countries of IRommania, Trinsyl rania and Sout hern Ilumgry. The two great nutions, the Ostrogoths and Visigotis, were known at this time to the Romans, perhaps annong themselves aiso. by the respectire names of the Gruthungi and Thervingi, but it will he more eonvenieut to disregard these appeilations and speak of then by the nanes which they made conspicuous in later history."-T. Inxigkin, Italy and Iler Ineaders, intreml., ch. 3.-This was the situation of Gothia, or the Gothle Empire of Central Europe, when the Huns made their appenrance on the scene. "An empire, formeriy powerful. the first monarehy of the IIuns, had been overthrown hy the Sienpl, at a distance of 500 leagues from the Roman frontior, and near to tint of China, in the first century of the Christlan er:1. The entirc nation of the IIuns, ahandoning to the Sianpl lis aneient pastures hordering on China, had traversed the Whoie north of Asia by a march of 1,300 leaguea This immense forle, swelied hy all the conquered nations whom it carried along in its passage, bore down on the plains of the Alaus, and defeated them on the banks of the Tanals in a great battle. It exttimment in the Empire.

GOTHS, A. D. 879-882.
received into its body a part of the vanquished tribe, accompanled by whlch it contlnued to advance towants the West ; whlle other Alans, too haughty to renounce thelr lndependence, had retreated, some Into Germany, whence we sliall seo them afterwards pass lnto Gaul; others into the Caucaslan monntalns, where they preserve thelr name to this day. The Goths, who bordered on the Alans, had fertillsed by their labours the rich plains whlch lle to the north of the Danube and of the Black Sea. More clvllised 'houany of the klndred Germanle tribes, they began to make rapli progress ln the soclal sciences.

This comparatively fortunate state of things was suddenly Interrupted by the appearance of the Iluns, the nnlooked-for arrival of that savage ration, whlch, from the moment lt crossed the Borysthenes, or the Dnfuper, legan to burn thelr villages and thelr crops; to massacre, wlthout plty, men, women, and chlldrou; to devastate and destroy whatever came withla the reach of a Ecythian horseman. $\qquad$ The great Ilermanric, whose kingilom extender. 'rom the Baltie to the Black Sea, would not have abandoned his sceptre to the Iluns whthout a struegle; but at this very tlme he was murilered by nt lomestic cnemy. Thi nations he liad subjugated preparet on every side for rebellion. The Ostrogoths, after a vain reslstance, hroke their alliance wlth the Vislgothe; while the later, like au aftrighted flock of sheep, tronpiug together from all parts of their vast territory to the rlglit bank of the Danube, refused to combat those superluman beings hy whom they were pursined. They stretcherl out their supplicating lamels t.) the liomans on the other bank, entrcating that they might be permitted to sek a refuge from the butihery which threat. ened them, in those wilds of Dasia and Thrace Which were amost valucless to the empire:" Their prayer wis grauted by the Emperor Valens, on the cor lition that they surrenter their arms ound that the sons of their chief men be given as hostages to the Ramans. The great Visigothic nation W. s then (A. I). ?\%6) transported across the $\mathrm{D}_{1}$ inube to the Mossian shore - 200,000 warriors in numher, hesides cliilitren and women and slaves In proportion. But the Roman ofllcers charge.] with the reception of the Goths were so husy in plundering the goods and ontraging the daugliters and wives of thelr grests that they neglected to secure the arms of the grim warriors of the migration. Whence great calamitles enaued. - J. C. L. de Sismonca. Fiell of the Roman Empire, ch. 3 and 5 (r. 1).
(Visigoths) : A. D. 378.-Defeat and destruction of Valen 3. - When the Visigothie nation was permitted to cross the Dinube, A. D. 370, to escape from the Iiuns, and was admitted it to Lower Mosia, nothing seems to have beer eft undone thit: would cxasperate and make racmles of these un:ieleome colonists. Every possihle catortion and outrage was practised upon them. To bny food, they were driven to part, first, with their slaves, then with their household goods, and finalIy with thelr children, whom they sold. In despalr, at last, they showed signs of revolt, and the fatuour IRouan commaniler precipitated it by a murdervus outrage at Marelnople (modern Shumla). In a battle which soon followed near that town, the Romans were disustrously beaten. The Vlsigothe were now joined by a large buly of Ostrogoths, who passed the Danube without resistance, and received lnto their ranks, moreover, a conslderable force of Gothle soldiers who had long been in the service of the emplre. The open country of Mcesla and Thrace was now fully exposed to them (the fortlifed citles they could not reduce), and the $y$ devastated it for a time wlthout restraint. Eut Valcns, the emperor In the cast, and Gratla'i in the west, excrted themselves lnco-operation to gather forces agalnst them, and for two years there was a doubtful struggle enrrled on. The most serious battle, that of The Willows (Ad sallces), fought lu the region now called the Dobrudscha, was a vletory to neithor side. On the whole the Romans ap pear to have had some adrantage in these campaigus, and to have narrowed the range of the Gothic deprediatlons. But the lost of the barbarlans was comimally lneriased by fresh reinforcelments from beyond the Danube. Even their own ferocious enemles, Iluns and Ilans, were permitted to join their standard. Yet, In face of thls fact, the folly and jealousy of the Emperor Valeus led lim to stake all on the ehances of a battle which le mate hasie to rush linto, when le learned that his nephew Gration was marchling to his assistame from the west. IIe ovetedi the sole lonors of a victory; but leath ond lnfamy for himself aml an overwhelming calamity to the empire wrote what he achieved. The hattle was fonght near Ilimlrian le, on the Oth day of August, A. D. 3:8. Two-thirils of the Roman army perished on the awful fiedd, and the lorly of the cmperor was neven found.-T. llolgkin, Italy aull Ifer Inrule re, bk 1. ch. 1.

Alsoiv: F. Gibhan, Dhe cline anill Fiall of the Romut Eimpire, ch. 26,-11. Bratley, Story of the Guthe. ch. - -See, aso, llone: A. D. 3niz-ifo.
A. D. 379-382.-Settlement of the Goths hy Theodosius, in Mosia and Thrace. - "The foreas of the East were nearly annililated at the terrible batite of Alriamople: more than G0, ven Roman solliers perished in the tight or in the pursuit ; and the time was long past when such a loss could have bern easily repaired by fresla levies. Nevertheless even after thls frightial massacre, the walk of darianonie still opposed an unconquerible resistance to the harbarians. Valour may supply the place of military science in the open field, hat cirilised natlons reer-er all the alvantages of the art of war in the attack or defence of fortilled towns. The Goths, leaving Adrianople is their scar, advanced, ravaging all aroimid them, to the foot 0 . the walls of Constantinople; aul, after some unimportant shirmishes, returncol westward through Jlacedonin, Epiras and Dalmatia. From the Danube to the Alriatic, their pussise was marked hy contlagration and blos.l. Whilst the European provinces ot the Greek empire suuk under these calamities, t'ie Asiatic provinces tnok a: 'rle vengeance on the authors of them. The youths who hat been required as hostag the nation crossed the Dabube, and thoo were afterwards sold by their starving parents, were now gathered tu gether in different citic:s of the Asiotie proviuces and mussacred in colel blood, at a given signal, ou the same day and hour. By this atrocious act, all possible reconeiliation with the Goths mlght well seem to be destroyed. The prospect was diseouraging enough to the new emperor who now ascended the vacant throue of Valens (A. D. 379), the sollier Theolosius, sn of Theodoslus who delivered Britaln from the Scots. Chosen by the Emperor Gratian tw hiscolleague and Emperor of the East, Theodosius undertook a most formidahle task, "The abandonment of the Danube had opened the cntrance of the empire, not only to the Goths, bitt to ail the tribes of Germany and Scythia.

The hiood of the young Gotis which had been shed in Asla was daily avenged With interest over ail that remalned of Mosian, Thrasian, Dannatian, or Gre lan race. It was more partleuhirly during these four years of 'x. terminatiou that the Goths acquired the fistai celelority attachel to their name, which is stili tbat of the destroyersof civilisation. Theodoslus began hy strungthening the fortifed cities, recruiting the garrisons, and cxerefsing his soldiers in smail engagements whenever he felt asoured on success: he then waited to take idvantage of circumstances; he sought to divide his cnemies by Intriguc, ard, above ail, strenuously dlsavowed the tapucity of the ministers of Vaiens, or the crucity of Julius; he took every occasion of dcclaring his attachment and estcem for the Gothic people, and at length succeeded in persuading them that his frlcndship) was sincere. . . . The very vietories of the Goths, their pride, their intemperance, at length impaired their encrgy. Fritigern, who, in the most dilticuit moments had led them on with so mueh ability, was deac the jemionsies of independent tribe's were rekindled. . . . It was by a series of treaties, with as many independent chicftains, that tbe nation was at lengthinduecd to lay down its arms: the last of these treaties was conciuded on the 30th of Oetoler, 382. It restored pence to the Eastern cmpire, six years after the Goths crossed the Dasube. This formidible nutlon was thus finally established withlu the bonmlary of the cmpire of the East. The vast regions they had ravaged were abamioned to them, if not in absolute sovereign. ty, at least on terms little at varianec with theis indeprendence. The Goths settled in the bosom of the emplre lind no kings; their lierrditary caicfs were consulted under the name of judges, but their powir was unchanged. . . . The Goths gave a vague sort of recognition to the sovereignty of the Roman emperor; but tbey grbmitted neither to his laws, hls magistrates, nor his taxes. They engaged to maintain 40,000 men for the serviec of Theodosius: but they were to remain a distiuet army. . . . It was, prohabiy, at tbis perionl that their apostle, bishop Clphilas, who hind translatedi tbe Gospels into their tongue, inveuted the Masob Gothic charaeter, whieh bears the name of their new aboale.". J. C. L. de sismomeli, Fitl of the Itomen Eimpire, ch. 5 (r. 1).

Ar ix: F. Gibhon, Jecline and Fill of the Rumat Ei, wire, ch. 26.
A. D. 395.-Alaric's invasion of Greece."The doath of Therulosius [A. I). 305] threw the alminisuration of the Eastern Enpire futo the hambls of liulims. the minister of Areminis; and that of the We.stern into those of Stilicho, the gumrlian of linnuriss. The discordant elements which compusiod the Roman empire began to reveal all their incongrnities nuder these two ministers. . . The two ministers hated one another with all the viokence of unpiring ambition.'-G. Finlay, lirvere umber the Jomules, ch. 2, sect. 8."The animosity existing Iketweren Stilicho and the surcessisu mininters of the Eastern Emperor (an animosity which dows not necessarily imply any fatult on the purt ot the former) was one nuest potent cause of the downfall of the Western Empire.
Alaric (the all.ruler) surnamed Baitha (the boid) was the Visigothic chieftain whoce genlus taught aim the means of turalng this eftrangement retween the two Empires to the best account. $\mathbf{F}^{\prime} 3$ was probably born about 860 . Hha birth.place sas the istand Peuce, in the Delta of the Danube, apparently south of what ts now termed the Sinima mouth of that river We have aiready met with him crom ng the Aips as a leader of auxiliaries in ". $\cdot$ army of Theodosius." $\mathbf{T}$. Hudgkin, Italy and Her Inraders, bk. 1, ch. 4."At this time [A.D. 395] Aiaric, partly from disgust at not receivlng all the preferment which he expected, and partiy in the hope of compeliling the goverament of the Eastern Emplre to agrec to his terms, quittel the imperfai service and retired towards the frontlers, where he assembled a force sufteciently large to cuable him to art independently of all authority. Availing hin wif of the disputcs between the ministers of the two emperors, and perhaps instigated by Rutinus or Stillcho to aid their intrigues, he cstablished limself in the p:orinces to the south of the Danule. In the year 29 i he advanced tu the walls of Constantinople: but the movement was cvidently a feint.

After this demonstration, Alaric narched into Thrace and Macedonia, and extended his ravages into Thessaly. . . When the Goth fouud the northern provinces exshausted, he resolvel to invade Grecee aud Peloponnesus, which hard long enjoyed profound tranquillity.
Thermopylae was lit unguarled, and Alaric entered Grecer without encountering any resistance. Thic ruvakes committed by Alaricic arnyy have been described in fearful terms; villages and towns were hurut, the mien were murdered, and the womell aud children earricd away to be soid as slaves by the Goths.

The wails of Thebes had been rebuilt, and it was in sueb a statc of defenee that Alaric cembld not venture to beslege it, but hurried forward to Athens. Ile coneluded a treaty with the elvii ami military authurities, whieh enabled him to enter that clty withont op position. Athens evidently owed its good treatunent to the condition of its population, and perhaps to the strength of its walls, which imposed some respeet on the Goths; for the rest of Attiea did not escape the usuai fate of the districts through whith the barbarians marelled. The town of Eleusis, and the great temple of Ceres, were plundered and then destrojed. . . Alaric marelled unopposed into the Pcloponnesus, and, in a short time, captured alluost ceecy city in it without meeting with any resistance. Corinth, Argos, and Sparta werc all phamlered hy the Goths." Alarie wintered in the Peloponinesus; in the following spring he was attacked, not onl: ly the forces of the Eastern Empire, whose sulijectst he had outraged, but by stilielio, the energetic ninister of the Roman West. stilicho, in a vigorous campaign, drove the Goths into thic mountuins on thic borders of Elis sud Areadia; Lut they escaped and rearched Epirus, with their plunder (see Rome: A. D. $3.96-398$ ). "The truth appears to be that Alirie availed bimself so ably of the jealousy with which the court of Constantinople vlewed the procecedings of Silicho, ns to negotiate a treaty, by whill he wis ricelved into the Roman serviee, and that he really entered Epirus as a genrmul of Areadius. - Al ohtainef the appuintment of Commander in chllef of the Imperial forces in Eastern Illyricuni, whleh he held for four years. During this time he prepared the truope to seek his fortune in the Wentern Em. pire."-G. Finiay, Grcees under the Romane, ch. 2, wect. 8.-"The hirth of Aiarie, the giory of his past expioits, and the confflence In his iuture desigas, insenalhiy united the body of tire nation under his victorious standard; and, with the unanimous consent of the barburian chieftalns, the Master-general of liiyricum was eievated, according to ancient custom, on a shield, and soiemnly prociaimed king of the Visigoths."-E. Gihbon, Decline and Fall of the Reman Empire, ch. 30.
A. D. $400,-$ Failure of Gainee at Constar..i-aopie.-His defeat and death. See PJME: A. D. 400-518.
(Viaigoths): A. D: 400-403.-Alaric's frat invasion of Italy. - i- ter Alsric had $\mathbf{b}$. come a commissioned generai of the Eastern Empire and had been piaced in command of the great prefecture of Eastern Iilyricum, he " remair ed quiet for three years, arming and driliing inis fo ilowers, and walting for the npportunity to ma! " a boid stroke for a wider and more secure duminion. in the autumu of the year 400 , knowing that Stilicho was absent on a campaign in Gaui, Aiaric entered Itaiy. For alout a year and a haif the Goths ranged aimost nuresisted over the northern part of the peninsulia. The emperor, wbose court was theu at Milan, made preparations for taking refnge in Gaui; and the walls of Rome were inurriedly repaired in exper utica of 3: attack. On the Easter Sunday of the year 402 (March 19) the canp of A iaric, near Poilentia. was surprisca by Stilicho, wbo rigitiy guessed that the Goths would be engaged in wonship, and woild not imagiue their Koman fellow Christians iens observant of the sacred day tian themseives. Though unprepared for battic, the barlarians made a desprate stand, but at iast they were benten. ... a rie was able to retreat in guod order, ann. ite soou after crossed the Po with the intention of marching against Rome. However, his troops begun to desert in iarge numbers, an'l he hat to cliange his purpose. In the first pis 'ine thougit of iuvading Gaul, hut Stilicho ove, took him aud defeated himi ieavily at Verona [A. D. 403]. Alaric himeelf narrowiy escaped capture by tise swiftness of his horse. Stiiicho, however, was not very urxious for tine destruction of Ahric, as ine thonght he might some day find him a convenient tool in his quarrels with the ministers of Arcadius [the Emperor of the East $]$. So ine offered Alaric a handsome bribe to go away from Itsiy "- [back to Illy ria].-II. Bridley, story of the Goths, ch. 10.
Aiso in: T. IIodgkin, Italy and Iler Incaders. bk. 1, eh. 5.-E. Gibbon, Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, ch. 30.
(Visigoths): A. D. 403-410.-Aiaric's three sieges and sack of Rome.-His death. See RuME: A. D. 408-410.
(Visigoths): A.D. $410-419$. - Founding of the kingdom of Touiouse.- ©n the dieatin of Alaric (A. If. 410), his brother-in-iaw, Ataniphus, or Atawulf, was chosen king by the wandering Visigothic nation, and tite new king succeeded in negotiating a treaty of peace with the court at Ravern:- As the result of it, tile Goths moved nortt ads and, at the beginning of the year 418, thay pisseri nut of Italy into Gaui. A number of usurpers had risen in the western provinces, during the tive years siuce 407, encouraged by ise disordery of the time, and Ataulphus accopted a commission from Honorius to put them down and to restore the Imperial authority in southern Gaui. The commincion was faithfuliy executed in one of Its parts; but the authority which the Gothic king estahlished was, rather, his own, than that of the imperial puppet at Ravenna. Before tile end of 418, he was is aster of most of the Gailic region on the Meditermanean (though Marseilles resisted him), and weat ward to the Atlantic. Then, at Na:bonne, he married Gaiia Piacidia, sister of Iionorius, who had been a prisoner in the camp of the Goths for four years, hut Wuo was gailantiy wooed, it wouid seem, and gently and truiy won, by her Gotilic iover. Apparentiy stiii commissloned by the Roman emperor, though h : if at war witi him, and though his marriage $r$ ith Piacidia was haughtily forhidicen and unrecognized, Atauiphus next carried his arms into Spain, aiready ravaged hy Vandais, Aians and Suevic bands. But there he was cut of in the midst of hls conquests, hy assassination, in August, 415. The Goths, however, pursued thelr career under anotier vailant king, Wailia, who conquered the wioic of spain and meditated the invasion of Africa; but was persuaded to give up both conquests and prospects to Honorius, in exchsnge for a dominion Which emhracei the fairest portions of Gaui. "His victorious Goths, forty threc years afterthey had passed the Danube, were established, according to the fsith of treatics, in the possession of the second Aquitaine, a maritiue province between the Garinne and the Loire, undier the civil and eccleviasticai jurisdiction of Bordeaux.
The Gothic limits were eniarged by the additional gift of some neighboring dioceses; and the successors of Aiaric fixed their royai residence at Tondor which incinded tive popuious quarters, or cities, within the spacions circuit of its wails. . . . The Gothic linuits contained the territorics of seven cities - nameiy, those of Bordeaux, Pérluueux, Augouleme, Agen, Saintes, Poltiers, and Toulouse. Hence the district ohtainef the name of Scptiminia."-E. Giblon, Decline and firll of the Ron an Enpire, ch. 31 (with note by Dr. Win. Smith). It was at the end of the year 418 , that the Goths :ottied themscives iu their ne k kingdon, of Ton huse. The next year. Wailia died, and was succeeded by Theodoric, a vaiorous soidier of the race of the Baithings, who piayed a considerable part in the inistory of the next thirty years.-II. Bradiey, Story of the Goths, ch. 11-12.
Also in: T. Hiodgkiu, Italy and Iler Intaders, $b k$. 1. ch. $8(v, 1)$.
(The Visigoths): A. D. 419-451.-The King. dom of Toulnuse.-" By the peace whick their king Waia conchderi with Houorius (416) after the restoration of Placidia, they [the Visigotis) had obtained leggi possession of the district called Aquitania sectuda, togetber with the territory round Touiouse, ali of whici allotment went hy the name of Septinunia or Gothia. For ten yeurs ( $410-428$ ) there had heen firm peace between Vistgoths and Rounans; tilen, for ten years more ( $429-439$ ), flerce and aimost continued war, Ticodoric, king of the Visigoths, endeavouring to take Aries and Narbonne; Aetius and his subordinaie Litorius striving to take the Gothic capital of Touiouse, and sill but succeediug. And in these wars Aetius hat avaiied himself of his loug-standing friendship with the Huns to enist them ss auxiliarics agalnst the warrion of Theolorlc. dangerons aliles who plundered friends and ene. mles.

For tho last twelve jears $(430-451)$ there had been peace, but scarcely friendshlp, between the Courts of linvenna and Toulonse." -T. Holgkin, Haly and Her Inenders, bk. 3, ch. 8 (r.2). As tho succesmor of Wrallin. who died In 410. the Visigoths chose Theoderic, "who seems in linve been a Balthing, though not related elther to Wailin or to Atnwulf. You must be carefui not to confound thls Visigoth Themlerie, or hls son of the same nime, with the great Thenderie the Amnllng, who liegan to relign over the Ostrogoths abont the yenr 4\%\%. Themperie the Vilsigoth was not sumba great man as hls name. sake, but he must have been botha brave soldler and nn nble ruler. or lie could not have kept the aifection and dedlenee of hls peopio for thlrty. two yours. Lis grat olyject was to extend hls kingilom. whilell was hemmed in on the north by the Franks.
and on the west by another people of (irminn lnvalers, the Burgunds: while the Roman Eiuplre still kept posse'ssion of onme riels elties, such as Arles mal Sinrlonne [the tirst named of whicin Theomerle heslegerl unsmecessfully in 425, the list named In 4:if), which were tempitingly close to the Gntife boindary on the south

In the year 4.50 the Visigoths nad the lomins wrere drim wn more closely together by the approneli of $n$ great common danger. The Iluns . . liad, uncker thelr famons king. Ittila, moved westward, and were threatenlag tis over-run both Ganl and Italy. "-lI. Brallev. Stury of the Gothe, fh. 12.-Sectless: A. 1). 4ill.
(Ostrogoths and Visigoths): A. D. 45I.-At the battle of Chalons. Nee lliN: $\mathbb{I}$. D. 4 inl.
(Ostrogoths): A. D. 453.-Breaking the yoke of the Huns. Soe llisin: A. 1). 4.8 .
(Visigoths): A. D. 453-484.-Extension of the kingdom of Toulouse.-"The Vlslgoths we re goverimel from $4 . i 3$ to 466 by Theorlorie the Second, son of Theorlorie the First, nnd grandson of Alaric.

The reign of Theodorle was distingulshed liy eonguests. On the one hand he drove the sueviaus as far as the extremity of Gallicia. . . On the other hand, ln 4tis, he rondered himself master of the town of Narbon, which was lelivered $11 p$ to him by its count; lie naso earried his nrms towards the Loire; bint hls brothor Frederle, whom lie bad charged with the conquest of the Armorid, nud who lind taken promession of Chinon, wis killed in 463 near Orle:nss, lu a battle whleh be gave to Count Abidins. Theorlorie tinatly extended the dominlon of the Vislgoths to the linome; he even attackold Xrles and Darseille, hut he could uot subjugate them. After a glorious relgn of thir. tren joars, he was klle in the noonth of Augist, 466, by his lirother Euric, by whon he was sne. ceeded. . . E Eurie . . . attacked, In 473 , the provinee of Auvergne. . . . Me conquered it in 475 and cunsed his possession of it to be confirmed by the empreror Nepos. He had at that periond acqulred the l.oire uod the lhone as frontiers: In Spain he suljected the whole of the provinec of Taragon. . . . lle afterwards conquered Provconee, and Was acknowledged a soverelgn in Arles and at Jlarsellle, towarls the year 480 . No prince, whether civilizedi or barbarlan, was nt that periol so much feared as Enric; and, hnd he lived onger, it would undonbtedly have been to the Fislpoths, and not to the Franks, that the honor woulil liave belonged of reconstltutlag the Gallic provinces: but he dled at Arle towards the end of the ycar 484, lesving an only son of tender age, who was crowned under the name of Alaric the Second."- T. C. I. S. de Blamondl, The French uncler the Men.ingiane; trans. by Bellingham, ch. 4.
(Ostrogoths): A. D. 473-474,-Invasions of Italy and Gaul.-"The Ostrogothle brotherkliggs, who served under A.. Ia at tho hattie in Champagne, on the overthrow of the IIunnish Emplre ohtained for themselves a goolly settlement In I'annonla, on the western hank of the Danube. For near twenty years they had been engaged In deaultory hostllitles wlth thelr barharian neighbours, with Sueves and Ruglans on the north, with Huns and Sarmatians on the south. Now, as thelr countryman, Jornandes, tells us with admlrabio frankness, 'tho spells of these nelghbouring natlons were dwindlligg, and fral and clothing lepan to fall tho Gotlis, They chastered ronnd thelr kings, and elamoured to be led forth to war-whither they cared not. but war must be. Theodemlr, the cider king, took comusel with his brother Whicmir, und they resolved to commenee $n$ campalgn agalnst the Ioman Empire. Theorlemir, as the moro po werful chleftain, was to attack the stronger Emplio of the East: Whemir, with his weaker forces, was to enter Italy. Ile dlli so, but, like mo nung of the northern eonquerors, lie soon fonind a grive In the beantlfui but deathly land. His son, the yonnger Widemir, snecerei. I to bis designs of eonquest, but (lycerins [lominn emperor, for the moment] appronehed him whith presents aud smooth words, und wis not ashamed to suggest thant he should transfer his nems to Guul, which was stlll In theory, and partlally in fact, a prove lnee of the Emplre. mle stirily banis of Whlemir's Ostrogotis deseented necordingly into the valleys of tle lhone nal the Loire; they speedily renewed the ancient nillance with the Vislgothie nembers of tbeir scattered nutlomality, and helperd on ruin yet more utterly the alrenty alespernte canse of Giallo-lionan freedom."-T. Hodgkin, Italy and Iler Invuiers, bi. 3, ch. 7 (v. 2).
(Ostrogoths): A. D. 473-488.-Rise of Theo-doric.-The greater mass of the Ostrogoth nation Who followed Thexiemir (or Theudemer) the ehler of the royal brothers, into the territories of the Enstern Empire, were mplaly snecessfil In thelr ndventures. The Conrt at Constantlnople made little attempt to oppose them with nrms, hut bribed them to pence by glfts of money and a inrge cession of terrltory In Dlacedonia. Amongst the citles which were abandoned to them wis Pelia, finmons as the birthplace of - llexander the Great. Just nfter the eoneluslon of thls treaty (in the year 4*4) Thendemer dled, and hls son Theolerie, nt the nge of twenty years, legan his long nad glorlous reign as king of the Ostrogoths." Tbeodorie had been renred in the imperial court at Constantinople, from hls cighth to his eighteenth year, his father having pledged him to the emperor as a hostnge for the fultilusent of a trenty of peace. Ile understood, therefore, the corrupt politics of the emplre and its weakness, and he made the most of hls knowlcige. Sometlmes at peace with the reignlag powers nall sometlmes at war; sometimes ravaging the country to the very gates of the impregnable enpltal, and sometlmes settled qulletly on lands ulong the southern bank of :" Danube which he had taken in exchange fo the Macedonlan

GOTHS, A. D. 473-488.

Towlomer and Njuain.
GOTIIS, A. D, 50\%-711.
tract; sometlmes in leaguo and sometimes in furicus rivalry with another Gothle chleftalit and adventurer, ealled Tlecolorie Strabo, whose erigla and whose power are gomewhat of a mystery - the serlousness tc the Eastern Emplre of the positlon and the strengeth of Theorlorle and his Ustrogotlis went on developlng untll the yenr 48. That year, the statesmen at Constantlno. We were llliminated by an ldea. They proposerl to Theoblorie to mlgme wlth Ills natlon lnto Ituly and to conquer a klagilom there. The Emperoir Zeao, to whom the loman senate had surrendered the soverelgnty of the Westiru Koman Euplre, and lnto whose hituds the burtafian who estlingulshed lt, Oloacer, or Oilopicar, hud de. liverel the purple robes - the Emperor Zeno, In the exerclse of his lmperial functlon, nuthorized the conquest to he made. Theotoric dlit not hesitute to accept a comniasgon so serupulously legil. -II. Bradley, Ntury of the Gotha, ch. It-IJ, (Ostrogoths): A, D. 488-526. -The kingdom of Theodoric in Itialy. Nee Rome: N. I. 488 $0: 36$
(Ostrogoths): A. D. 493-525.-Theodoric in German legend. Nee JEHosi: A. D. 4ikicion. (Visigoths): A. D. 507-509.--The klngitom of Toulouse overthrown by the Frarks. - If tise suceensors of Euric had becu ehmlownell with fromius und energy equal to lils, it la possible thit the Visigoths might lave nade thenuselves nasstir of the whole Western world. Jut there was In the kinglom oue fitul element of weakness, whel perhips not eveu a suceesslon of rulers like Eurlecould hare long prevented froun workIng the destructlon of the Stute. The Visl goth hings were Arlans; the great mass of thair sub. jucts In Ganl were Catholies, and the liatrul Ine tween rellglous partles wis so great that It was hanst Impossidile for ansere'gn to win the it t:eliment of suhjects who regaried him us a har "tle," After 490, when Clovis, the king of tha Frauks, renounced lis heatheulsm, professend ('hristlinglty, and was baptlzed lyy a Cutholie hishop, the Catholles of Southern Giul Inegen almost opeuly to luvite hin to the eompuest of thelr country. In the year $50 \%$ lie responded to the iavitation, and declared war arainst the Vislgoth, giviug slmply as hls gronnd of war that It griced him to see the ialrest part of Gatul In the hituds of the Arluns "The ripidity of C'Iovis's Mvance was somethlug quite uncepreted hy the Vlslgoths. Alaric still chnge to the lope of Ireing able to arold a battle watil the arrivil of Theodoric's Ostrogoths [from his grent kiusminn In Itaiy] and wished to retrent," but the opinion of lis oftheers forced him to mako a stam!. "Ile drew up hls army on 'the field of Voclide ' (the hame still survires as Voulle or Vougle), on the limks of the Clain, a few miles south of I'oitiers, dul prepared to recelve the uttinck of the Frauks. The hatile which followed dectiled the fate of Giul. The Visl goths were totally defented, ind their king was hillerl. Alaric's son, Amidaric, a child tive years of age, was carried across the l'yrenees? Clopls eonquerel, whth very little resistance, almost ull the Gaullsh dominlons of the Visigoths, and added them to his own. The 'Kinglom of Toulonse' was no more, . . I Iut Clovis was not allowed to fultl his intention of thoroughly de. stroying their [the Visigothic] power, for the grent Theorleric of Italy took up the cause of his, grandson Amalaric. The final result of wamy struggles lnetween Theodenc and the Franks was thit the VInlgoths were allowed to remmin masters of Njali, und of a strip of mea-coast lomerer. lnte on the Gulf of Lyons. Thls diminlshed klng lom , . lasted just 900 jeurs."-11. 13rad.
ley, I'he Ntory of the Gotha, ch. IN.
Also in: TM IIealgkln, Itily anil Mer Inmulers, uk. 4, ch. 0. W. (. Perry, The Hranke, ch. 2. E. Giblon, Dirline and Fíll of the Jmuan. Sinpirpi, ch. Bs.-See, also, Arbes: A. D. 50s-ijlo.
(Vlsigoths): A. D. 507-788. -The kingdom in Spain. -The conquests of Clovis, klug of the Franks, reduced the donnlalion of the Vivigothe on the nurthern sidle of the l'y renees to $u$ sinall st rip of lioman Narlonensls, along the gulf of l, vons: but unst of Spiln lind come under thelr rule at that time and remalaed so, Anmbaric, sou of Alirle 11. (anil griniJson, on the maternal sile, of the grent Ostrogothle klng. Thermboric, who ruleal lsoth Gothle kingeloms durlng the int. norlty of Amaliarle), relgned after the: death of Theenlorle untll sill, when he was analered. Ife lud made Jarlonae lils aiapital, untll lie was driven from lt , In a war with one of the sons of Clovis. It wilq recoverati; Int the sent of goverament beanue fixed ut Toledo. Durlng the redgn of lils suceessor, the Frimks In vuled Spaln (A. D. i18), but were tweten buck from the wnlls of ('buiraugusta (unolern Sitragossa), und retreuted with dithenlty ume disaster. The Visigoths were bow able to lablat thelr ground against the cous quarors of Gibul, amd the linnits of thelr kingelom underwent little subsequent clainge, until the comiug of the Moors. "The Gothic kIngs, In spite of blowity changes nal fleree opposition from thelrnohlitry, sucereded In lilentlfying themselves with the lind und the people whom they had conquered. They guided the fortuues of the country with a distinct purpose nad vigorous hind. I3y Leovlyidel (iñ-is6) the power of the rebellions nobillt was liroken, and the ladepenrlence and name of $t$ : e Sueves of Gallicha extingnlshord. The still more dingerous religlous conlliet between the Catholie pupulation nad the inherited Arimisu of the Goths was put Iown, but at the cost of the life of his son, Ilerming gild, who hand marriond a Frank and Catholic princess, ant who plated himerlf at the hend of the Cith: olies. But Leovigila was the last Arlan king. lhis enuse of alisseusion was takeu uway by his sou leccared (is8-60). Who solemuly nbundoned Aritulsm, and embriced with zeal the popular Citholice creed. Ile was followiol by the greater pirt of hls Arian subjects, but the ehange throughout the lund was uot aecomplished with. out soine tierce resistance. It led ninong other things to the disitpparance of the Gotbie lisngange, nud of all that recalled the Arimu diays, imul to the destructiou in Spaia of what 'uere was of Gothic literuture, such as the transintion of the Bible, supposed to be tithed with Arimalsm. lout it determined the complete fusion of the Gothic und Latin popahation. After Receared. two marked feutures of the liter Spanish charic. ter began to show themselves. One was the preat prominence iu the state of the ecelesiastical clement. The Spanisll kings songht in the clergy* acounterpolse to their turbulent nobilit: Thi great ehurd conncils of Toledo becime the legis. lative assemblirs of the nation: the hishons in thein took precedence of the nobles; litws were mate there us well as eumons; und seventeen of these councils are recorded hetween the end of the fourth rentury and tive end of the meventh. The other featur was that htern and symematic Inwlerance which becanue ciaracteristie of Apain. Under Slmelina ( $612-620$ ), took pince the first ex. pulsion of the Jewn.

GOTIIB, A. D. 807-711.
GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLJC.

The Gothic realm of Spain was the mout fourrishing and the most advanced of the new Tentonic kingdoma. . . . But however the Gotha in Spaln might have worked! out thedr politicui curerp, thelr course was ruiciy arresteci.

While the Goths inai been met illing their luws, while their kings had beren marabuiling thelr conrt nfter the onder of Byzanthom, the Saracens hul been drawing nearer and nearer. "IR. W. Church, The Beginning of the Viddle Agea, ch. $\delta$.
Al.eo in: Il. Bradiey, Slory of the Gotha, ch. 20-85.-8. A. Dunham, Hlist. of Symin and Jertu. gal, ok. 2.-II. Coppée, Conqueat of Apain by the Arab-Mora, bk. 2.
(Oatrogoths): A. D. 535-553.-Fali of the kingdom of Theodoric.- Recovery of Italy by (Oatrogotha): A. D, 553.-Their disappearance from Hiatory. - "Totlim andi Telu, last of the race of Ostrogoth kings, feil ns becume their herolc hioxi, sworl in hand, upon the field of battie. Then occurred a aingular phenomenon, - the annilihiation and disapprarance of a great and powerfui peopie from the worlis history.

A great people, which had orgaidzed an enlightened goveruncut. and sent $2(0)$, 140 fighting. men Into the tieded of battle, is annihilated and forgotten. A writeched remnant, transported ly Nurses to ('onstantingple, were soon absorbed in the miseralle proletarlit of a metropolitan city. The rist fell hy the sworl, or were gradually anaigamated with the mixed population of the penhinsula. Tie Visigotil kingdom in Ganl nnd spala, which hai been overshadowed by the glories of the grat Theodoric, emerges into indepcollent renown, an' takes up the traditions of the Gothle name. In the annals of Europe, the Ostrogeth is heard of no more."-J. G. Sheppari, The Fill of home. lect. 6.
(Visigoths): A. D. 7 Ix-713.-Fali of the kingdom in Spain. sec srans: A. V. F11-;i3.

GOURGUES, Dominic de, The vengeance

 of. Siee Flomani: A. i). 1.niz-15es.GOWRIE PLOT, The. Se Scotland: A. i) 1600 .

GRACCHI, The. Sce Iome: B. C. 133-121.
GRACES OF CHARLES I. TO THE IRISH. Ne IRFAAND: A. ID. 1625.
GRAF.-GRAFIO.- $\because$ The highest officinl dignitary of which the Salic law llaw of the Silian Frnuks] mukes mention is the Grafio (Graf. Count, who was appointed by the kinge, and therefore protected by a triple . . . ieodis [weregilid]. Ilis anthority and jurisdiction extended owrer district answering to the g:al (canton) of Inter times, in which he ucted as the representative of the king, anl was civil and military governor of the peple "一W. C. Merry, The Franke, ch. 10.- Lere nlin, Maikikare.
GRAFTON-CHATHAM MINISTRY, The. Nie Exolanid: A. I. $176 \%-1768$, and $17 \% 0$. GRAHAM'S DIKE. See Roman Willa in Butain.
GRAMPIANS, OR MONS GRANPIUS. - Victorionsly fought by the Romans inder Agricola with the tritese of Caledonia, A. D. 86. Mr. Skeue tixes the battle ground at the junction of the lsis with tho Tay. Bee Britain: A. D. 78-84.
GRAN CHACO, The.-"This tract of fist country, iylng bet ween the tropic and $20^{\circ}$ 8., ex. tends enstward to the Parana and Paraguay, and weatwerd to the province of Santiago del Letero. Ite area la $180,000 \mathrm{aq}$. milies. About one third heiongs to Paraguay, and a amall part to Bollvia, hut the huik is in the Argentine Republic.
The Gran Chaco is no devert, hut a Heh aliuvial iowiand, Atted for colonizstion, which is hindered hy the want of knowledge of the rivers and their shiftings."-The Am. Auturaliof, 0. 23, p. 700.- $\because$ In tite Quitchoane langugge, which is the orig. Inal language of Peru, they cail 'chacu.' thowe great tlocks of deer, goats, and such other willd animain, which the fomahitante of this part of America drive together when they hunt them; and this name was given to the country we speak of, because at the time Francls Pizarro made himself master of a grest part of the Peruvian empire, a great number of lis Inhahi.azts took refuge there. Of 'Chacu', which the spaniarde prononnce 'Chacous', custom has made 'Chaco.' It appears that, at tirst, they comprehended noth. ing under this name but the country lying between the mountains of the Coriililere, the Plico Mayo, and the Red River; and that they extended it, in process of thae, in proportion as other nations jolned the Pernvians, who had taken refuge there to defend thelr iliberties against the Span. lards. "-Father Ciarlevolx, Hint. of Paraguay, bk. 3 (r. 1).-For an account of the tribes of the Gran Chaco, mee American Aborionsio: Parpas Trineq.

GRANADA: The rise of the city.-Granada "was minli and unimportant untif the year 1012. Before that time, it was consldered a dependency of Elvira [the nelghboring ancient Ruman city of IIItberis]; hut, littic hy littie, the peopie of Elvira migrated to it, and as it grew Elvira dwindied into Insigniticance."-II. Coppée, Conquest of Spuin by the Arab-Moors, bk. 6, ch. 5 , noto ( n . 2 ).
A. D. 711.-Taken by the Arab-Moors. See Spain: A. I. 711-713.
A. D. 1238.-The founding of the Mooriah kingdom. - Its vassaiage to the King of Castile. See Spain: A. D. 1212-1238.
A. D. 1238-1273.-The kingdom nnder ita founder. - The building of the Alhambra. See Spain: A. D. 1238-1273.
A. D. 1273-1460.-Siow decay and crumbling of the Moorish kingdom. Sfe Spain: A. D. $1273-1460$.
A. D. 1476 -1492.-The fail of the Moorish kingdom. See Spain: A. D. 1476-1492.

GRANADA, Treaty of. Sev Italy: A. D. 1501-1504.
GRANADINE CONFEDERATION, The. See Colombian States: A. I). 1830-1886.
GRAND ALLIANCES against Lonis XIV. Sce France: A. D. 1689 - 1690 , to $1695-$ 1606; Spain: A. D. 1701-1702; and Enoland: A. D. 1701-1702.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.-
"The Grand Army of the Republic was organized Aprii 6, 1868, in Decatur, the county seat of Alacon County. Ilinois. Its originator was Dr. Benjamin F. Stephenson, a physicinn of Spring. fich, Iitinous, who had served during the war an surgeon of the 14th IMlion. Infantry. IIe had apent many weekn la study and plang so that the Order might be one that would meet with tho geberal apponval of the surviving comrales of the war, and thus lanure thelr hearty co-opera. thon. Ile made a draft of a ritual, and sent it by Captain John 8. Hiselps to Decatur, where two veterans, :Iemara. Coltrin and Prior, had a printing-oflee. These gentlemen, with thrif mployeen, who had beell in the mervice, were aryt obligated to secrecy, and the ritual was then placed in type in their office. Captain Pbelps returned to spring fell with proofs of the ritual, hut the comrades in Decatur were wo interested In the project, that, with tho active ansistance of Captain M. F. Kanan and Dr. J. W. Routh, a uufticlent number of names were at once necured to an application for charter, and theme gentlemen went to Springfeld to request Ir. Stephencon to return with them and organize a pout at Decatur. The formation of a pont was uniler way In Springfield, hut not being realy for muster, Dr. Stephenson, sccompanied by several commiles, proceeled to Decatur, and, as statel, on April 6, 1868, mustered post No. 1, with General Isaac C. Pugh as post commander, and Captain Kanan as adjutant. Tho later eave material ald to Dr. Stephenson In the work of orguniaing other posts, and Dr. Routh served an chairnann of a committee to revise the ritmal The title. 'The Grand Army of the Republic, U. S., was formally alopted that aight. Sxon after this, post No. & Fras organized at Springricld with General Jule: C. Webber as commander.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

Nothing was done In tho Enstein States about eatahlissining posts until tho opportunity was given for consultation on this subject at a national soldlers' and sallors' convention, held In Pittshurg in September, 1860, when prominent representatives from Eastern States were obligated and authorized to organize posts. The first poists so estahlished were posts Nos. 1 In Philladejphia, and 3 In Pittsburg, by charters direct from the acting commander-In chlef. Dr. Steplentson; and post 2. Phlladelphala, hy churter received from General J. K. Proudtit, departaient commander of Wisconsin. A departneent convention was held at Springfield, Illinols, July 12, 1866, and adopted resolutions declaring the olujects of the G.A. R. General John if. Paliner was elected the first Depurtmeut Commander.
The first national convention was held at Indlanapolis, Ind., November 20, 1866. . . . General Stephen A. IInrlhut, of Illinois, was eleeted Conmander-In-Chief. Gencral Thomas B. lieKean, of New York, Senior Vice-Commander1a.Culef: General Nathan Kimhall, of Iudiana, Itinlor Vice-Commander-in-Chlef; and Dr. Stephenson, Adjutant-General. The oljecets of the Order cannot be more brlefly stated thiau from the articles and regulations. 1. To preserve indi strengthen those kind and fraterual feelings which bind together the Soldicrs, Saifors, anil Marines who ualted to suppress the late lideltion, and to perpetuate the memory and history of the dead. 2. To assist such former con rades in arms as need help and protectlon, and to extend needful ald to the widows and orphans of those who bave fallen. 3. To malutain true allegiance to the United States of Ainerica. based upon a paransount respect for, und tidelity to, its Consti tution and laws, to discountenance whatever tends to weaken loyalty, incltes to insurrectlon.

GRANICUS.

treason, or rebellion, or in any manner impalrs the efficlency and permanency of our free Inatitutions; and to encuurage the spread of unlveral liberty. equal rights, and juntice to all men. Articio IV. defines the quallications of members in the following terms: Soldilers and Sallors of the United states Army. Nary, or Marine Corps who served between Aprli 12, 1801, and April 29, 1865, in the war for the suppremsion of the Ik:bellion, and thome having been honorably dis. charged therefrom after nuch service, and of such State regiments as were called Into sctive service and muhfeet to the orders of Unitell Statem gen. eral offlcers, between tho dates mentioned, ghall be eligilile to membership ln the Granil Army of the Iepuinlic. No person shall be ellgible who has at any time horne arms agalnst the United States. . The secoad natlonal encampmens was held in Independence IIall, Philadelphia, Ph., January 15, $186 y$. . . General John A. Logan, of Illmois, was clected Commander-In. Chtef. . That which tended most to attract puhlic attentlon to the organization was the pasuance of the order of General Logan carly in vanee of May buthas Memorial Day... At the nathonal encampment, belid May 11,1880, at WashIngton, I). C., the following artlele was adopted as a part of the rules and regulations: 'The national encampment herchy extahilishes a Memorial Day, to be observed by the nembers of the Grand Ariny of the lkepobilic, on the 30th day of Hay anuually, in commenoration of the deeds of our fallen comrales. When surli day oceurs or Sunday, the precedling day sball be abservel, except wh co by legal enact ment, the succeeding day is mate a legal hollday, when such day shall ho obsurved.' Jenorial fay has been observel as such every year since throughout the country whirever a post of tho Grand Army of the Republic has been establishect. In tnost of tho States the day has been dislgnated as a holldag. "-W. II. Ward, ed., Lecorda of Members of tho Grand Army of the Republic, pp. B-9.

Also in: G. S. Merrill, The Grand Army of the Republic (Newe Eng. Vag., dugust, 1890).
GRAND ARMY REMONSTRANCE, The. Hee Enolavd: A. D. 1648 (November -1)ескипев).
GRAND COUNCIL, The, See Venice: A. 1. $103:-1310$.

GRAND MODEL, The. - The "fundamentil constitntions" frumed by the phllosopher. John lacke, for the Carolinas, were so called in therirday. See North Cabolina: A. D. 1660 1093.

Grand pensionary, The. see Netirtha.tsins: A. D. 1651-1660.

GRAND REMONSTRANCE, The. See Emband: A. 1). (fit (Novemhen).
grand serjeanty. See Feudal Ten. cres.

GRAND SHUPANES. See Sutpankg.
GRANDELLA, Battle of ( 2260 ). Sie ITALT (Soutukrs): A. 1). 12Ẽ)-1268.
GRANDI OF FLORENCE, The, See Florknce: A. D. 1250-1243.

GRANGE.-GRANGERS, The. See
 Social Novements: A. D. $1806-1875$.

GRANICUS, Battle of the (B. C. 334), Sce Macedonia: B. C. 334-330.

Oll.s.NBON.

GRANSON, Battic of ( 1476 ), See Bexoevmp: A. I) 14it-14i:.

GRANT, General Ulyeeee S.-Firet Batic at Belmont. See Usitxd sitatran of AM.iA. I). nPry). ....Capture of Forts Henry and Donelsoa. Ne Lextran statnh ur As.: A. D. 1swe hincahy - Fhmirant: Kentreky - TexneameE)..... Battle of Shlloh, or Pi.tsburg LandIng, Mel Eniteidntiteanf Am: A. I). 1819 (Feb. at Corinth. See Cisiminisaten of Am.: A. I).

Command of the Armies of the Mississlppi and Tennessee. Sice Livitro stati:M of Am.
 ticki)....luka and Corinth. Fie Lisirfis
 Br.R: Miswaylpu.....Campalgn agalnst Vicksburg. Sel initid sitithe of AM.: A. II. Notil

 Chattanocga campalgn. Nev ('Nitei) Stitis Tennemaki: $:$. . In chlef command of the whole (Mancit - Apmi.). ... Last campaign. tre Cisited stiten of Int: I. I). 1ebt Mar: Via.

President. See sinf: : INGY (Novevisin)

GRANVELLE'S MINISTRY IN THE

GRASSHOPPER WAR, The. Se Amentcon Ahonmines: *illwankse.
GRATIAN, Roman Emperor (Western), d. [1. 36i-js\%.

GRAUBUNDEN : Achievement of independence. Nu Nwrakmans): A. II. 1346-1440.

The Valtelline revolt and war. See Finasce: A. 11. 1624-14: 18

Dismemberment by Bonaparte. See Finaxee: A. D. 1 2Vi (Mar-0 Tobem).

GRAVE : A. D. 1586.-Siege and capture by the Prince of Parma. Sie Nermendinnt: A. D). IMMi-1.556.
A. D. 1593.-Capture by Prince Maurice.

GRAVELINES : A. D. 1383.- Capture and destruction by the English. Sec Flawnens: A. 11. $1: 3 \times 3$.
A. D. $\mathbf{8 6 5 2}$. - Taken by the Spaniards. See Finince: A. 11. 16je.
A. D. 1658.- Siege and capture by the French. Tiv Fraser: A. I). 16.5-16.5.
A. D. 1659.--Ceded to France. See France: A. 11. 10.iy-1601.

GRAVELOTTE, OR ST. PRIVAT, Battle of. Sre Filancr: : 1. 11. $18: 0$ (July-It. ulvis).
GRAYBACKS, BOYS IN GRAY. Sce Bors is lhict.
GREAT BELL ROLAND, The. GuEst: A. D. 1539-I340.

oheaven.

GREAT BRIDGE, Battle at (8775). See Viminia: A. 11 I875-17\%6.

GREAT BRITAIN: Adoption of the name for the United KIngdems of England and Scotland, the demblavis: 1. 11. 180.
GREAT CAPTAIN, TI. -Thle was the title mominonly given to the epranish gencral, Gonsmivo de Condova, aftur hil comajulgnagalnsi the French In Italy, Nee Itiar: A. D). Divol[504.
GREAT COMPANY, The. see Italy: A. D). 1343-1391.

GREAT CONDE, The, Ner Condi.
GREAT DAYS OF AUVERGNE, The. Sor Finawer: A. II. 14hio.

GREAT ELECTOR, The. Sy: [3andex. nenu: d. D. 1h10-164y.
GREAT INTERREGNUM, The. Seder. Mavy: A. I). ISHi-1?:!

GRE AT KANAWHA, Battle of the. See Guto (Valarby: A. 1). liit.
GREAT KING, The.-i thle oftell appled to the klngs of the andent I'rexlan momarchy.
GREAT MEADOWS, Washington's ca-GREAT MOGULS. The Moagol miver.

GREAT NAMAQUALAND. Hec Oriman Soctiwest AFInC:

GREAT PEACE, The. Ner Ihafinsw.
GREAT POWERS, The.-The sir hirger amd strunger natlor of Einfope, - Enchaml, (ire. miny, France, $A$ ria, llnswh, und ltalv, - are often referred th as "the great powers. " $\because$ ntll the rlse of united Italy, the "great powers" of l:urope were \|ve hit nitmpro.
great privil.ege, The. Sec Nether. LAXBN: A. D. I4 $1^{\circ}$, d after. GREAT RUS: A. Nee Ilvadi. GREAT. GREAT SAL: AKE CITY, The founding of. Sire Monsmosisv: A. D. NAb-1N4N. GREAT SEAL, Lord Keeper of the. See hw, Fality: A. 1 , i:is. GRFAT SCHISM, The. Sef Pariry: A.
 GREAT TREK, The. See Suctil AFhici. A. 1). 1819-1481. great wall of china. See Chiva:
Tuk onigis or The r'bople.
GREAT WEEK, The. Sce Fut NeE: A. D. 15:011-18.10.
GREAT YAHNI, Battle of (8877). See TUHEN: A. D. 187i-1878.
GREAVES, - The greaves whlch formed part of the armour of the anclent Greeks were "loggings formed of a pewtor tike metal, which covered the lower llmhs down to the instep; nud they were fustenind by clawns. ... Ilomer des. ignittes then as - thexible : and he frequently yruks of the Greci soldiery as being wellinulpped whth this imriortaint defence - not omly, that ls, well provided with greaves, but also having thont so well formed med neljusted that they would protect the limbs of the warrior withont in my derree affecting his freedom of movement and action. These greaves, us has lien staten, appear to have beell formeal of a metal resembling the alloy that we kuow as pewter."- C. Bumtell, arma amb Aimour in Antiquily and the Midille Ayses, ch. : , ect. 3.

GREECE.

The Lasd.-Ite seographical charecteristics, and thelr laflueace upon the People."The conaldernble part played ty the jerple of Orurce durfar many agen must umbloubteily lew aserilied to the gengraphical powitton of thelr country. Other trlbes hiving the same origla. but lahabltigg romut res lems lmpplly stiunted sueh, for Instance, as the felasglane of Iliyria. who are believed to the the aarestors of the A1. hanians - inve never risu nlowe a state of bar. barisin, whifint the Hellentis phacerl thenselves at the hemi of civilimel natlous, and opened fresil pathato thelr enterprise. If Greece hand romalued for ever what it wis sloring the tertiary genfogel cat epoch - a vast plain attuched to the deserts of Lis) ana, and man wer hy llown null the rhlnocern - wonld lt have berome the hatlue conms $y$ of a Pnillins, an .Ewhylaw, or a Drmostiuenes? Gertniaiy not. It woulit have ahitrol the fate of Afrima, amb, far from taking the luithitlve in ine elvith to it from levend. Grece, a what peniusidia of tife peainsnla of the Bulkins, was even more completely froterted by transvers. numutain barfers In the burlia than was Tirruciu or Maredomia. Greek culture wan thas ahle to deverop Itseif whinut frar of leflag stifited at lis birth by miccessive lavabions of inurbarlans. Mouten Olympies, Pellom, unil Oswh, towarls the north mill enst of Thessaly, constltuterl the thrst line of formaldithe cotestarice towarts Macetonla. A secomd birrler, the stepe range of tite Otirys. runs along what is tie preseut poifitical heumblary of Grecee. To the smitio of tite Gulf of Lamilia ia fresh obstacle a waits as, for the bange of the EEtat closes the pussage, muid there ls but the barrow pass of the Thermopyite lutween It ani the sca. Having crossed the monntains of the Lacrl alt. desceuded Into the faslu of Thelon, there stili nu:main to be crossed the Parnes ur the spurs of tive Clitheron before we rencil the plalus of Attien. The 'istimus' leyond these is ngain defendent los transverse barrlers, outiying rampurts, as It weri, of the mountala claudef of ilie Peloponiresus, that acropulls of uil Grecee. Ilelins inas frequentiy been compared to a sorfes of chambers, the dexise of which were strongly baited; It was ifilitinit to get 15 hut more iitticult to set out again, owag to their stout defemers. Wichelet likeus Grecte to a trapy having three compartments. You entered, and found yourself tukentrst in Macelonin. then lu Thessuty, then between the Thermupy hie and the lsthnus. But the dithenlties increise beyoud the lstinuus, and lateda monlu remained Impreguble for a long thane At an epocin when the navigatlou eren of a luna bocked sea iike the Egean was attenied wi!h dunger, Greece fonuid berself sufticlently protected ngainst the invaslons of orleatid nations; but, at the same thate, un other country held out such ludnceunents to the pacitic reppelitlons of nerchants. Gulfs ame hafbours fuciltuted acress to her.Egean coasts, and the numerous outlying ishands were uvail: abie as stutions or as pliaces of refuge. Grecce. threfore, was fuvourahly placed for elitering into conmercial intercuurse with the more highiy clilised peoples who ilweit on the opposite coasts of Asta Minor. The colonists and voy.
"An important part of Greek history is treated moro futiy umiter the liending "Athens " (in Vol. i), to which the remader is referted. agren of Enstern Ionla not only aupplied their Achuan and felasglan klasmea with forelgn comuavilition aul merchanilue, luet ticy also limparted til theth the mytia, the poetry, the scleaces, and the arts of thwir mitive country. Imdeed, the geogrnphical contguration of Greece poluta towuris the east, wiurneenine has recelved her tirat endightenment. Her poninsuias and utlylag Ishanis cxtead In that lifection: the han murs on lur raxtern ronests are most cunmman. Hus, and alfonl the igest shelter: anil the monitalin anar.
 nines cithes.

The nome illutlactlye fenture of Ileinis, as far as conecrns the rellif of the gromin, conslats la the large number of small bumine, keparateal one from the ot ther hy rocks or thentuln ranuparta. Tibe fritures of the ground thins fivomrell the divisiun of the Girele feerple Intos tamitishenf Indepuadent republlem. Every towa ind lis river, Its ampinithentre of hills or mountalax, lis meropolis, Its fielis, pustures, and furests, and nearly nil of tiem hal, likewlm, access to the sea. All the elements repulped by a free comnanity were tims to be foumul whith tuch of these smail distriets, and tife beigithour. hand of other towns, elpuify favoural, bept alive perpethai emmiation, tixi frepuentiy legenerathg Intis strife and inatie. The lahals of the Cigeng Win, likiwle, haid constltuted themselves luto ulaiature repnblles. Loceai Instititlons tius develoyed theruselvery frecis, and even the smalleat laiail of the Arehipeliago has lis great represeantativez In history. But whilist there thus exists the preatest dlversity, owlay tio tife confignration of the ground and the mimitude of ishands, the sent acts as a binding eleureat, wislane ivery coast, erins harinors lave made the maritime Iniahitants of Greece n mation of sailiors - unapiithle, Hs Straln catied them. From the most remote tianes the pusslua for trivel lins niways been atrong umongst them. Wien the Inhubitants of a turil grew tor numerous to support thenselvea "pon the propluce of their lunil, titey swarmed rathen, wid, when they had fontul a slte which recalio. their native bome, they huit themseives unew elty: . The Greeks lielit the sume position redativery to the worhl of the anclents which to wectpion it the preselit that by the AngloSaxons with reference to the eutire earth. There vists, luileed, a reumakiblic malagy between Grece, witi lis archijedigu, nul the British Isiauds, wt the other exiremity of the conilnent. Similiar gingriphicul advamages have hroneht abmat shinibr results, as far us comanere is con-time and siate hare effected a sort of har. mons."-E. Rerins, The Eurth aml its Inhubi. tints: Europe, r. 1, pp. 36-35.-"The ladeprealence of cacia citl wis a doctrine stamped deep on the Greek politlail mind by the very natury of the Greek latid. How truly this is so is hardly fnify understend tili we see that land with oar owa eyes. Tiue map may do sumething: but mo majp ean bring fume to nis the true mattire of the Greek haul till we huve stmod ou a Greek hiiif-top. on the akropoiss of Atheus or the loftier akropalix of Corrinth, und have seen how thoroughly the land was a land of vulieys cut off by hillis, of Isiands and peninsulas cut off hy arms of sea, from their neighbours on elther side. Or we might more truly say that, while the hiifs fenced them of from thelr nelghbours, the arms of the ses iaid them open to their nelghbours. Thelr waters might bring elther friends or enemles; but they hrought both from one wholiy distlngt and lsolated plece of land to another. Every lsland, every valley, every promontory, became the seat of a separate eity; that is, according to Greek notlons, the seat of an Independent power, ownlng ladeed many ties of hrotherhood to eacb of the other eltles which heiped to make up the whole Greek nation, hut each of which claimed the right of wor and peace and separate diplomatic Intercourse, aike with every other Greek clty and wlth powers beyond the bounds of the Greek world. Corinth could treat wlth Athens and Athens with Corinth, and Corinth and Athens eould each equalty trent wilt the King of the Macedonians and with the Great KIng of Persia.

GREECE.
Migration of the Tribes.

IIow close the Greek states are to one an. other, and yet how physicaily dlatlact they are from one another, It needs, for me at least, a journey to Greece fully to take ln."-E. A. Freeman. The Iractical Bearings of Europenn Hist. (Lert's to Am. Audiences), pp. 243-944.
Ancient inhahitents.-Tribal divisions. See Pelamitans; Heltenes; Achaia; Eolians; and DomaNr asd Iosians.
The Heroes and their Age.-"The period included between the first appearance of the Ifellears ia Thessaiy and the return of the Greeks from Troy, is eommor $f$ known by the name of the heroie age, or ages. The real limits of thls pertind camot the exaetiy defie d. The date of the siege of Troy is ouly the result of a doubtful cialculation [ending 13.C. 1183, as reckoued hy Eratusthence. lint tixed at dates ranglag from 33 to 63 years later by Isocrates, Callimachus and other Grefk writers]; und . . . the reader wili sce that it must be scurecly possible to uscertuin the precive lneginning of the perlowl: lunt still, so far as its tratitions admit of nnything like 11 chronological connexion, its duration may be estlmateid at six generations, or ubout 200 years [sily from some time in the 14 th to some time in the 13th century before Clirist]. .-. The hist nry of the heroic nore ls the history of the most celebrated persons leblonging to this cass, who, in the langunge of pertry, are ealled 'heroes.' The term 'hero' is of dombtfin oricin, though it was clearly a title of homour; but, In the perms of Iomer, it is applied not ouly to the chicifs, but also to their follow ors, the freemen of lower rink, whomt. however, bing contrasted with any other, so as to de'ernine its precise neaning. la later tiacs lis t ex wits marrowed, ume In some clegree altered: It was restricted to persoms, whether of the heroic or of afteruges, whowere believed to be chlowed with a smperhmatan, thontrh not a diviae, nature, ami who were honoured with sacred rites, and wore inagincit to lave the power of dispeasing goxal or evil to their worshipsers; and it was gradnally combined with the uotion of protigious strength and ghtantic stiture: Here, however, we have oniy to do with the heroes us men. The history of their age is filled with thelr wars. experlitions, and adventures, andi this ls the great nine from whlel the materials of the Greck poetry were almost cutirely drawn."-C. Thirlwall, Minc. of liretce. ch. ; (o. 1). -The legendary heroes whose exploits andi adveutures became the favorite suhjects of Greek tragedy and song were Persous, Hercuies, Theseus, the Argonsuts, and the heroes of the siege of Troy.

The Migrations of the Helienic tribes in the Peninsuia.-"If there ls any polnt in the annals of Greece at whlch we can draw the ilne between the dnys of myth and legend and the beginnlngs of authentlc history, it is at the moment of the gr 'at migratlons. Just as the Irruption of the Teutonlc tribes Into the Roman emplre ln the 5th century after Christ marks the commencement of an entirely new era in molern Europe, so does the Invasion of Southern and Central Gieece hy the Dorians, and the other tribes whom they set in motlon, form the first landmark in a new period of IIeilenlc hlstory. Before these mlgratirns we are stlil $\ln$ an atmosphere winch we eannot recognlze as that of the hlstorlcal Greece that we know. The states have different boundaries, some of the most famous clties have not yet been founded, tribes who are destlned to vanlsh occupy promlnent places ln the land, royal houses of a forelgn stock ure established everywhere, the distlnction between Ifellene and Barbarian is yet unknown. We canot realize a Greece where Athens is not yet counted as a great eity, while Mycenae ls a seat of cinpire; where the Aclmian element is everywhere predominant, and the Dorian element Is as yet unknown. When, however, the migratlons are ended, we at once find ourselves in a land whlch we recognlze as the Greece of history. The tribes have settled into the distriets whieli are to be their permanent aboies, and have assumed their distlactive characters.

The orlglnal impetus whieh set the Greek tribes in motlon chate from the north, and the whole movement rolled southward and eastward. It started with the Invaslon of the valley of the Peneus hy the Thessallans, a warlike but hitherto obscure trive, who had dwelt abont Dotlona In the uplandis of Epirus. They crossed the passes of Plndius, and flooded down into the great plaln to wheh they were to give their name. The trlles which hat previonsly held it were either crushed and enslaved, or pushed forward into Central Greece hy the wave of lnvaslon. Two of the displaced races fonme uew homes for theinselves by conquest. The Arnaeans, wholind awelt ln the southern low. lands aloag the courses of Apldanus and Enipeus, eame throagh Thornopylace, pushed the Locrians aside to riglit and left, nad descended lnto the valley of the Cephissus, where they snbdued the Minyie of Orchomenus [see Minyi], and then, passing sonth, itterly expelled the Cadmelaas of Theles. The plain conutry whlela they had eonquereri recelved a slagle nume. Herotia became the eommon title of the buslas of the Ceplilssus and the Asopus, whleh had previonsly been in the liands of distiact races. Two gencrations later the bocotians endeavoured to eross C'illueron, and add Attica to thelr conduests; but their king Xanthus feli in single combat with Melunthus, who fought lu belalf of Ithons, and his host gave ip the enterprise. In their new country the bisotians retalned their national unity uuler the form of $n$ lengue, in which no one city hai authority over another, though in process of time Thele's grew so much gratter than her nelghbours that she exerelsed a murked preponderance over the other thisteen nembers of the eonfederatioa. Orchomenus, whose Dinyan inhubitants had been subiued int wot externiluated by the Invaders, remalued dependeut on the league withou' being at orst amalgamated with it. A sccond tribe who were expelled by the irruption of the Thessallans were the Dortans, a race whose name is hardly heard in Homer, and whose early history had been obscure and insignificant. They had till now dwelt along the western slope of Pindus. Swept on by the invaders, they crossed Mount Othrys, and ilwelt for a time in the valley of the Sperchcius and on the shonlilers of Oeta. But the land was too narrow for them, and, after a generation had passed, the bulk of the nation moved southward to seek a wider home, whlle a smaii fraction only remained in the valleys of Oeta. Legends tell us that thelr first advance was made by the Isthmus of Corinth, and was repulsed by the nllied states of Peloponnesus, Hyllus the Dorian leader having fallen in the fight by the hand of Echemus, King of Tcgea. But the grandsons of IIfllus resumed hls euterprise, and met with greater suceess. Thelr invaslon was made as we are told, in conjunctlon with their neighbours the Aetollans, and took the Actollan port of Naupactus as lts base. Pushlng across the narrow stralt at the mouth of the Corinthian Gulf. the allied hordes landed In Peloponnesus, and forced their way down the level country on lts Western coast, then the land of the Epeians, hut afterwards to be known as Elis and Pisatis. This the Actollans took as their share, while the Dorians pressed further south and east, and succes sively conquered Messenia, Laconia, and Argolis, destroying the Cauconian kingdona of Pylos and the Aclaian states of Sparta and Argos. Tbere can be little doubt that the legeads of the Doriaus pressed into a slngle generution the conquests of a long series of years. . . . It ls highly proballe that Ierssenia was the first selzed of the three regions, and Argos the latest . . . hut of the de. tuils or dates of the Dorian conquests we know absolutely nothlug. Of the tribes whom the Dorians supplanted, some remained in the land as subjects to their newly found masters, while others took ship and Hed over sea. The stoutesthearted of the Achaians of Argolis, under Tisamenus, a grandson of Agameinnon, retirel north. wand when the contest becane hopeless, aud threw themselves on the const cities of the Corlnthiam Gulf, where up to this tlme the Ionic tribe of the Aegialeans had dwelt. The Ionlans were worsted, and fled for refuge to thelr kindred in Attica, while the conquerors ereated a new Achain bet ween the Arcadian Mountains and the sea, and iweit in the tweive cities whleh thelr predecessors had huiit. The rugged mouutains of Areadia were the oniy part of Peloponnesus whaleh were to escipe a change of masters resulting from the [Dorian luvasion. A gencration after the fall of Argos. new war bands thirstlog for land pushed on to the north and west, led ly descendants of Temenus. The Ionic towns of Sicyon and Platins, Epidaurus and Troeaen, all fell before them. Even the Inaccesslble Acropolis which protected the Aeolim settlement of Corinth couid not preserve it from the hands of the enterprising Aletes, Nor was It long before the conaquerors pressed on from Corinth beyond the Isthmus, and attacked Attica. Foifed in their endeavour to sublue the land. they at least succeeded lu tearing from it its western dllstricts, where the town of Megara was made the capital of a new Dorian state, and served for many generations to curb the power of Athens. From Epidaurus a slort voyage of tifteeu mlies took the Dorians to Aeglna, where they formed a setticment which, first as a vassal to Epidaurus, and then as an Independent com. munity, enjozed a high degree of commerclal prosperity. It is not the least curious feature of the Dorian Invasion that the leaders of the vle. torious tribe, who, like most other royal houses, claimed to descend from the gols and boasted that IIeracles was their ancestor, should have asserted that they were not Dorians by race, but Achaians. Whether the rude nort hern Invaders were In truth guidied by prinees of a different hlionl and higher clviiizatlon than themselves, it is imposslhle to say.. . . In all probability the Dorian invasion was to a considerable extent a check In the bistory of the developnient of Greek civilizatlon, a supplanting of a richer and more cultured hy a poorer and wilder race. The rulns of the prehistoric cities, which were supplanted hy new Dorian foundations, polnt to a state of wealth to which the country dld not again attaln for many generations. On the other hand, the invasion lirought about an increase $\ln$ vigour and noral earnestness. The Dorians througlout their hlstory were the sturdiest and most manly of the Greeks. The got to whose worship they were esplecially devoted was Apollo, the purest, the nobiest, the most If ellenic member of the Olyinpian famlly. By their peculiar reverence for thls noble conception of divinity, the Dorians marked themselves out as the most moral of the Greeks." - C. W. C. Uman, Hist. of Grecee, ch. 5.
Anso in: M. Duncker, Hist, of Grecere, bk. $2(b$. 1).-C. O. Maiier, Hixt. "the Antiq. of the Doric Ruce, introd, and bk: 1, ch. 1-5.-G. Grote, Hixt. of Grecee. pt. 2, ch. 3-8 (r. 2).-Sce, aiso, Dohans and lonians; Achata; Eolhans; Thesbaly: and Beeotia.
The Migrations to Asia Minor and the Islands of the Fgean.- FEolian, Ionian and Dorian colonies. See Ama Mivor: THe Greek Colonies; and Tride, Anctent.

Mycena and its kings. - The unburied memorials. - "Thucyiides says that liefore the Iorimn conguest, the date of which is traditlonaily fixel at 3 . ( 1104 , Mycemat was the only clty whence ruled a wealthy race of kings. Archacoingy produces the hodies of kings ruling at Mye enae alout the twelfth century and spreads their wealth under our eyes. Thueydides says that this wealth was brought in the form of gold from i'laregia hy the fonuder of the live, Pelops. Archacology tells us that the gold fonnd at Mycenae may very probatly have come from the opposite coast of Asin Minor which abounded ln gold; and further that the patterns impressed on the gold work at Myeenae bear a very marked resemblance to the decorative patteris found on graves in Plarygia. Thucydides telis us that though Mycenae wis small, yet its rulers had the hegenony over a great part of Greece. Archeology shews us thit the kings of Mycenae were weilthy and fimportaut quite out of proportlon to the small city which thicy ruled, and that the civillsation whith cuntred at Myeenate spread over south Grecce aud the Aegcian, and lasted for some centuries at heast. It seems to me that the simplest way of neectlng the facts of the case is to silppose that we have recovered at Mycenae the gruves of the Pelophly race of monarche. It will not of course do to go tion far. . . . It would he too much to suppose that we have re covered the holy of the Agameninon who scems In the lliad to he as famillar to us as Cacsar or

Alexander, or of hls father Atreus, or of hls charioteer and the rest. We cannot of course prove the Illad to be history; and If we could, the world would be poorer than before. But we can Inslst upon it that the legends of herole Greece have more of the historie element in them than anyone supposed a few yenrs ago. Assuming then that we may fnirly clnss the I'elopldae as Achaenn, and may regard the remulns nt Dycenae as characteristic of the Achaean clvilisntion of Greece, is lt possible to trace with lmbler haud the history of Achaenn Greece? Certainly we galn nssistince ln our endeavour to reilize what the pre-borim state of Peloponnesus was like. We secure a hold now history which is thoroughly objective, while all the hlstory whlel before existed was so vague mad imaginative that the clear mind of Grote refuscel to rely upon It nt all. But the preclse dates are more than we can venture to laty down, in the present condition of our knowledge.

The Achnean clvillsation was contemporary whth the e.rhteenth Egrpthau dynisty ( 13 . (: 1700-1400). at Sasted during the lnvusions of Egypt from the north (13(M)1100). When it censcd we cannot say with certainty. There is every historical probuhility that It was brought to a viole: ex al in the Jorian invasion. The tralltional date of that invasion is B. C. 1104. But it ls olvions that this date cannot be relied upon."-P. Garluer, Deve Chapters in Grcek IIixt., ch. 2-3.

Almo in: H. Schliemnnn, Mycenf.-C. Schuchhurilt, Schliemann's Ercarations, ch. 4.

- Ancient political and geographical divisions. -"Grece was mot a single conntry.

It was broken up into little distriets, enth with its own govermment. Any little clty might be a complete State in itself, and lindependent of its neighcours. It might pussess only a few miles of land and it few hmmed lnhabitants, and yet have its own laws, its own government, and its own nrmy.

In a space sminler than min English comity there mitht be seremal independeut cities, somethmes at wnr, sometimes at peace with one another. Therefore when we soy that the west coast of Asia Ilinor was part of Greece, we do not mean that this coast-hand and Europenn Grceec were umler one law and one government, for both were bruken up into a number of little hadepenlent States: but we mean that the people who livel on the west coast of Asia Minor were just as much Grecks as the people who llvellu Etiropean Grcece. They spoke the same language, and ham much the same cinstoms, nud they called one another Mellemes, In contrast to all other nutions of the world, whom they called! barbariuns . . . , that is, 'the nulntelligible folk,' because they coulil not understand their tongue." -C. A. Fvite, IIixt. of Girete (IIivenry I'rimers), ch. 1.- 'The niture of the colintry hat powerful effect on the development of Greck polities. The whole lumd was broken up by nountains into a number of valleys more or lass lsolated; there was no central point from whilh a powerful monarch eonld control lt. Ilence Greece was, alove all othor countries, the home of independence inn freedom. Each valley, and even the virions hamlets of a vialley, felt themselves possessed of a sepurate life, which they

 Eolna; Etola; Ameabla; Ahoos; Athens; attica; Beeoth; Cohinth; Domin and Dryopis; Elrs; Epirus; Ecbea; Koretra; Locki Macedonia; Mastinea; Megalofolis; Megara; Mensene; Olyntiles; Phokians; Platea; Sicyon; Sparta; Thebeb; and Titessaly.

Political evolution of the leading States. Variety in the forms of Government.-Rise of democracy at Athens.-"The Ilcllencs followed no conmon politleal nim. . . . Independent and self-centred, they erented, in a constant st ruggle of citlzen with cltizen and state with state, the groundwork of those forms of government whleh have been estnblished In the world at large. We see monareliy, arlstocracy, demoerncy, rising sille by shle and one after haother, the changes belng regulated ln cach commmity by lts past experience und its speclal interests in the lmmedlate present. These forms of government did not appear in thelr normal simplleity or In conformity with a distinet kenl, but under the moditicntlons nccessary to glve them vitality. An example of this is Lakediemon. If one of the fmmilies of the Ilenu-lulie [the two roynl fumllies - see Sipanta: The Constitr tion] nimed at $n$ trmany, whilst nuother entered into relations with the nutlve and subject population, fatal to the prerogntles of the congterors, we can under. stand that ln the third ease, that of the Spartnn community, the aristocratie prineiple wns maintained with the greatest strictuess. Independently of this, the divisions of the Lakedemonian monarchy between two lines, neither of which was to have precedence, was intended to grard agalust the repetition in Sparta of that which had happened $\ln$ Argos. Above nll, the members of the (ierusin, in which the two kings had only cqual rights with the rest, held n position whlef wond have been anattainable to the elders of the llomeric age. But even the Geruslin was not Independeut. There cxisted in nddition to it 8 general assembly, which, whilst very aristocratie as regards the mative and subject population, assumed in denocratic nspect iu contrast with the king and the ehlers. The Internul life of the Spartan coustitution depended upon the relations between the Gerusia and the arlstoentle demos.

The Spartan aristoracy dominated the Peloponnesus. But the constitutlon contained a democrutic clement working through the Ephors, by neans of which the condnct of affairs migltt be concentrited ln a successlon of powerfal hambs. Alongside of this system, the purely nristocratic constitutions, whiel were without sucla a centre, conld nowhere bold their gromal. The Batchiadee In Corlnth, two hundred In number, with a prytanis at thelr head, and lntermarrying only anong themselves, were one of the most distingulshed of these fimilies. They were depriven of their cexeluslve suprentacy by Kypselus, $n$ man of humble birth on his father's side, but connectel whth the Bacchiade througl hls mother. . . . As the Kypselidie rose in CorInth, the metropolls of the colonies towards the west, so in the corresponding custern metropolls, Milatus. Thnasybulus raised limself from the thgaty of prytanis to that of tyrant; In Ephe sus, Pythagoras rose to power, ninl overthrew the Busilinke; In Simos, Polycrates, who was master also of the Kyklales, and of whom it is recoriled that le condscated the property of the citinene and then made them a present of it agaiu. By conceut ruting the forces of their serv. eral commanitles the tyrants obtalned the means master both of the clty and of the country [see Atuess: 13. C. $560-\mathrm{ij}$ io]. Ile thins attalned to power; it ls true, with the approbation of the people, but nevertheless by armed force.

GREECE

Democracy at Athens.
We lave almost to stretch a point in onler to call Peislst ratins a tyrant-a word whleh carries with it the invidious sense of a seltish exerelse of power. Noauthority could have been more riglitly placed than hls; It comblned Athenlan with Iunhellenist tendencies. But for him Athens would not have been what she afterwards became to the world.

Nevertheless, it must be admitted that l'eislstratus guverned Athens absolutely, and even took steps to establlsh a permanent tyranny. Ife did, in fact, suceced in leiving the power he possessed to bls sons, IIppins and IIpparchus.

Of the two brothers it was the one who bad rendered most serviee to culture, Ilipparchus, who was murdered at the festival of the Panathenea. It was an aet of nevenge for a personal Insult. . . . In his dreal lest he should be visited by a slmallir doonn, Ilippias actually beeame an odious tyrant and excited universal discontent. One effect, however, of the loss of stabllity Which the authority of the dominint family experienced was that the lenuling exiles ejected by Peisistratus eombined in the enterprise whlch was a necessary conditlon of their return, the overthrow of llippias. The Alemsonida took the prineipal part.

The revolution to whleh this opened the way eoukl, it might seem, have but one result, the estahlishment of an ollgarehlcal government.

But the natter had a rery different issue," resulting in the constitution of Cleisthenes and the establishment of temocracy at Athens, despite the hostile oppostion and in terference of Sparta. - L. von lianke, Linirermal Mistory: The oldest IIsturicul liroul "f Ditions and the Greeks, ch. 5.-See, also, Atiresis: B. C. $510-507$, and 509.506.
B. C. 752. - The Archonship at Athens thrown open to the whole body of the people. See Athens: Fibin the Dolian Migration to 1. C. 683
B. C. 624.- The Draconian legislation at Athens. Sec ATHENs: B. (. 6:4.
B. C. 6r0-600. - War of Athens and Megara for Salanis.-Spartan Arbitration. See XtuENA: is : 6t0-586.
B. C. 395-586.-The Cirrhasan or first Sacred War. See Atuens: B. C. 6t0-5N6; anl Dfilipith.
B. C. 500-493.-Rising of the Ionians of Asia Minor against the Persians. - Aid rendered to them by the Athenians.-Provocation to Darius. - The Ionic Gre ' eities, or states. of Asia Minor, first subjugitiol by Crusus, Klng of Lydia, in the sixth century B. C., were swallowed up, iu the same ecntiry, withall other parts of the dominion of Cresiss, iu the conquests of Cyrus, and formed part of the great Persian Empire, to the sovereignty of which Cambyses and Intius suecedal. la the reign of Darins there oecurrel a revolt of the louians (about 502 B . C.), led by the city of Miletus, under the intluence of its governor, Aristigoris. Aristagoras, coming over to Grecee In person, sought aid agilinst the Persians, first at Sparta, where it was denied to him, and then, with better shccess, at Athens. Presenting himself to the citizens, just after they had experleol the l'isist ratilee, Aristughras satil to them "that the Dlilesians were eolomists from Athens, and that it was just that the Atheuians,

GREECE, B. C. 500-493.

The lonian retolt

 againet Persia.being so mighty, should deliver them from slavery. And because hls need was great, there was nothing that he did not promise, tlll at the last he persuaded them. For it ls casier, it seems, to decelve a multitude than to decelve one man. Cleomenes the Spartan, belng hut one mnn, Aristagoras could not decelve; but he brought over to his purpose the people of Athens, being thirty thousand. So the Atbenians, belng persinaded, made a decree to send twenty ships to help the men of Ionia, and appointed one Melanthlus, a man of reputation among them, to be captain. These ships were the beginning of trouhle both to the Grecks and the barbarians. When the twenty shlps of the Athenlans were arrived, and whti them five ships of the Eretrians, which canse, not for any love of the Athenlans, hut because the Jileshans had helped them In the old time against the men of Chalcis, Aristagoras sent un army ngalust Sardis, but he hlinself abode In Niletns. This army, crossing Dount Tmolus, took the clty of Sardis without auy hludrance; but the cltadel they took not, for Artaphernes heill lt with a great force of sol. diers. But though they took the eity they had not the plunder of lt , and for thls reason. The houses $\ln$ sinrdis were for the most part hullt of reeds, aud such as were hilitt of hricks hat thelr roofs of reeds; and when a certain suldier set tlre to one of these houses, the fire ran quickly from house to house till the whole eity was consumed. And while the city was burniug, such Lydians aud Perslans as were in it, secing they were cut off from escape (for the fire was in all the outskirts of the elty), gathered together in haste to the market place. Through this market-place fluws the river Pnetolus, which comes down from Mount Tmolus, having gold in its sauds, and when it las passed out of the city lt flows luto the llermas, whichtiows into the sear. Ilere then the lydimes and l'ersians were gathered to. gether, being coustrained to defend themselves. And when the men of lonia sinw their enemises how many they wore, and that these were preparing to give battle, they were stricken with fear, and fled ont of the efty to Nount Tmolus. and thence, when it was night, the went back to the sea. In this $\cdots$.muer was bur the city of Sirdis, and In lt the great temple of the gorlidess Cybele, the burning of which temple was the cause, as sidil the Pershans. for whice afterwards they burnt the temples in Grieres. Xiot long after cime a last of I'ersions from heyond the river llalys: nod when they found that the men of Ionis lian cleparted from sardis, they followed hard upon their track, and came up with them at Epheros. And when the battle was joined. the men of lonia fled lefore them. Many indeed were slita, and suela as escaped were scattered, every mant to his own eity. After this the ships of the Athenims eleparted, and would not lielp the men of lonia any more, though A ristagoras hesought them to stay. Nevertheless the lonians ceased bot from making preparations of war ngingst the lious, making to themselves nllies, some ly force amd mome ly persansion, as the eitic's of the 1 In llespont aud many of the Carians not the islant of cypras. For all Cyprus, save Amathus only, revilted from the king under Onesilus, brother of ling Gorgus. When King Pariaz hoath that Saralis hat hern taken ani! burned with fire by the lonimes and the Atheniaus, with Aristagoras for leader, at the tirst lee cook no heed of the lonlans, as knowing that they would surely suffer for their deed. hut he asked, "Who are these Athenlans?' And when they told him he took a bow and shot an arrow Into the alr, saylng, 'O Zeus, grant that 1 may avcnge myself ou these Athenlans.' And hecommanded his servant that every day, when hls dinner was served, he should say three times, - Master, remember the Athenlans.' ... Meanwhlle the Perslans took not a few eities of the Ionlans and Eollans. But while they were husy about these, the Carinns revolted from the King; whereupon the captains of the Persians led their army lnto Caria, and the men of Caria came out to meet them; and they met them at a certain place whleh is called the White Pillars, near to sels amoug the Carians, whereot the hest was this, that they should eross the rlver and so conteud with the Persians, having the river lehind them, that so there being no escape for them if they fled, they might surpass themselves in courage. But this counsel did not prevall. Nerertheless, when the Persians had erossed the Mwander, the Curians fought against them, and the battle was exceeding long nod tlerce. But at the last the Carlans were vanquished, leling overborne hy uumbers, so that there fell of them ten thonsand. And when they that escmperd-for many had fied to Lahranda, where there is a great temple of Zueus and a grove of ; ' चe trees-were doubtiug whether they should it il themselves to the líng or depart altogether'rom Asia, there cime to thedr lelp the men of Dildens with their allies. Thereupon the Carians, putting nway their doubts altogether, fonght with the Persians a second time, and were vanquished yet more grievously than hefore. But on this day the encu of lillet us suffered the chicf damage. And the Carians fought with the lerslans yet agaln a third time: for hearing that these were about to nttack their cities one by one, they lain an annbush for them on the rond to Pedians. And the Persians, mar ling ly night, fell into the nimbush, and we utterly desiroyed, they nud their captaius. After these thiugs, Aristaguras, seeing the power of the I'ersians, and having no more nny hope to prevail over them-: In indeed, for nall that he lud hrought about soi much tronble, he was of a pror spirit - ealleal to. gether his friemuls and satid to them, 'We must beeds have some plate of refuge, if we be driven ont of Miletus. shatl we therefore go to siardinia, or to Myreinus on the river strymun, llecateus. the writer of clironiches, mate answer, - Let Arlstagoras build a fort in laros (this lemos is an isham thirty miles distant from Diletas) and dwell therequictly, if he be driven from Niletus. And hergafter hecancome fromlarosamd set him. self up again in Miletuts." But Aristagoras weut to Myrcinus, and not long afterwards was shatu whie he hesieged ar certaiu city of the Thracians." - llerodotus, The story of the It rasion llin (ict. ginn of I. J. ('hurch, ch. 2).-Sur, alon, 1'ER=1A. 13. C. 5 :1-493; and ATurss: B. ( $501-491$ ).
B. C. 496.-War of Sparte with Argos.Overwhelming reverse of the Argives. Sie Abios: 13. C. 496-4:31.
B. C. 492-491.-Wrath of the Persian king against Athens.- Failure of his first expedttion of invasion,-Submission of Medizing Greek states.-Coercion of AEgina,-Enforced union of Hellas.-Headshlp of Sparta recoynized. -The assintance given by Athens to the Loaiaa revolt stlired the wrath of the Persian monareh very deeply, and when he had put down the rebelllon he prepared to chastise the auda. cious aad Insolent Greeks. "A great fleet started from the Hellespont, wlth orders to sall round the peainsula of It. Athos to the Gulf of Therma. while Mardonlus advaaced by land. Hls mareh was so harassed by the Thracians that when he had effected the conquest of Macedoala ils force was too weak for aay further attempt. The lleet was overtaken by a storm of Mt. Athos, oa Whose rocks 300 shlps were dashed to pleces, and 20,000 men perished. Mardonlus returned ln disgrace to Asla wlth the remnant of his fleet and army. This fallure only added fury to the resoiutloa of Darius. While preparing all the resources of his emplre for a secoad expeditioa, he sent rouad heralds to the chief citles of Greece, to dem nd the tribute of earth aad water as sigas of his lyelag their rightful lond. Most of them snibmitted: Atheas aad Sparta aione ventured on defance. Boti treated the demand as an out. rage which nnuulied the sanetity of the herald's persoa. At Atinens the envoy was pluaged lnto the loathsome Barathrum, a plt lato which the most odious public crimiaals were cast. At Sparta the heruld was hurled lato a well, aad bidden to seek his earth and water there. The subnission of Egina, the ehlef maritlme state of Greece, and the great enemy of Atheas, entailed the most limportant results. Tie act was denouaced by Athens as treason agalnst Greece, and tie desigu was imputed to Egiaa of calilag ly the Persians to secure veageaace on her rlvsl. The Atheniaas made a formal complaint to Sparta sgaiast the 'Medism' of the Eginetans; a charge which is henceforth often repeated both against indivldnals and states. The Spartans had recently coacluded a successful war with Argos, tine only power that could dispute her supremaey la Peloponnesus; and now this appeal from Athens, the secoad city of Greece, at once reeognized aad cstablished Sparta as the leading IIellenic state. In that character, her king Cieomencs undertook to puaisin the Medizing party ia $\mathbf{E g i a a}$ 'for the common goorl of Gretee'; but he was wet hy proofs of the intrigues of his collengue Demaratus in tineir favour. . . Cleomeaes intulned his deposition on a charge of illegithmaey, and a puhlic tasult from his suecesscr Leotyehiles drove Demuratus from Sparta. Hotly purs :rel as a 'Medist,' he effected his escape to Dari. whose designs ngalust Athens and Spart:1 aow stimuinted by the connells of their rerclens. IIfpplas and Dema:atus.
hile, Clommenes and his new colleague I to Egin:a, which no longer resisted, ab, haviag seized ten of her ieading citizens, phieeal them as lostages in the hands of the Athe nians. Egima was thus effectuaily disalled from throwing the wright of her fleet iato the scale of Persla: Atheas and Sparta, suspending their poitieal je:alousies, were nuited wiea their disunion would have been fitul ; their coajunctioa drew after them most of tie lesser states: aad so the Greeks stool forti for the first time as a nation prepared to act ia unisoa, under the leadersilip of Sparta (B. C. 491). That city retained her prond pisition tili it was for ieited by the miscromelhet of Ancient, ch. 13 (o. 1).

Also ns: G. W. Cox, The Greeks and the Per. sians, ch. 6. G. Grote, Hist. of Grecee, eh. 36 (0. 4.)-See, also, Athens: B. C. 501-49).
B. C. 490. 2'he Peralan Wars: Marathon. $^{2}$ -The secoad and greater expedition lauaciled ly Darius agalast the Greeks salled from the Ciliciaa eoast in the summer of the year 400 B . C. It was under the command of two generais, - a Mede, named Datis, aad the king's nephew, Artupheraes. It made the passage safe:y, iestroylng Nazos on the way, but spariag the sacred Islaad aad temple of Delos. Its laading was oa the shores of Eubcen, where the city of Eretria Was c.aily taken, its iahahit:nts dragged into siavery, and the first act of Persisn veugennce accompllshed. Tice expedition then saited to the coast of Attica aad cante to land on tine pialn of Marathoa, which spreads along tite hay of that name. "Marathor, situated licar to a oay on the eastern coast of Attica, aad la a direction E. N. E. from Atheas, is divided by the high ridge of Mouat $\mathrm{P}^{\prime}$ et telikus from the eity, with which it conimunicated hy two roads, oae to the north, another to the south of that nouatain. Of these two roads, the northern, at once the shortest aad the most difficult, is 22 miles $\ln$ leagth.
[The plain] 'Is ia length about six miles, in breadth never less than about cae mile snd a haif. Two marshes bound the extremities of the piaia; the southern is not very large and is almost dry at the conclusioa of the great heats; hut the northern, which generaily covers considerahly more than a square mile, offers several parts which are at ail seasoas impassable. Boti, however, leare a broad, tirin sandy beach hetweca them and the sea. The uninterripted flatness of the plain is hardly relieved by a singlo tree; a ad an amphitheatic oi rocky hills and rugged mountains separates it from the rest of Attica."-G. Grote, Hist. of Greece, pt. ? ch. 36 (v. 4).-The Athenians waited for ao nearer approach of the enemy to their city, but met them at their landing place. They were few in number-only 10,000, with 1,000 more from $t$ e grateftla eity of Platuea, which Atitens hal protected agaiast Thebes. Ther inal sent to Sparta for aid, but a superstitioa delayed the mareh of the Spartaas and they came the day after the battle. of all the neirar Greeks noae came to the help of At ", s in that hour of extrencenced; and so mun the greater to ber was the glory of Mara. thon. The rea thousand Athenian hopites and the oae thousand brave Platiems confronted the great bost of Persia, of tile mumbers in which there is no account. Ten generais had the right of commsnd on successive ibiys, hut Miltiades was knowa to he the superior calptala and his colleagues gave piace to him. "Oa the morniag of the seventeent ${ }^{1}$ diy of he month of Metagithion (September 12?ti), when the supreme command aceording to the orginal orier of suceessinn fell to Diltiades be orlered the army to Inaw itself up aecu. mus to the tea trihes.
The troops had aivineed with perfeet steadiaess aeross the trenches... I palisadings of their canp, as they had doubtess already duae on precions days. But us swon as they had approathed the eneny withln a distance oi 5.OHO feet they changet their march to a donble-tuick pace, whieh graduaily rose to the rapliitr of a eharge. while at the same time ther raised the war-cry withaloud roice. When the Persians saw these meu rushiag down from the heights, they thought they beheid madmen: they quickly piaced themselves in order of battlc, but before they had tlme for an orderly discharge of arrows the Athenlans were upon them, really In thelr excitement to begin a closer contest, man agalnst man In hand-to-hand fight, whlch is decifeel by personal courage and gymnastle agility, hy the momentum of heavy-armed warriors, and hy the use of lance and sword. Thus the weli-managed and boid attack of the Athenians hai succeeded In hringing into piay the whole capahllity of vic. tory which belonged to the Athenians. Fet the result was not generaliy successfui. The enemy's centre stood firm. $\qquad$ But meanwhile both wings har? thrown themselves upon the enemy; and after they hai effected a vlctorlous advance, the one on the way to Rhamniss, the other towards the coast, Mlitiades issued orders at the right moment for the wings to return from the pursult, and to make a combined attack upon the Persian centre in its rear. Hereupon the rout direedily became gencral, and in thelr fllght the troubles of the l'erslans increased; $\qquad$ they were ulrlven into the morasses and there slain in numbers. "-E. Curtlus, Hist. of Grecee, bk. 3, ch. 1 ( $c .2$ ). -The Athenian dead, when gathered for the solemn ohsequies, numbered 192; the ioss of the Persians was estimated hy Ileromotus at 6,400.-Ilerorlotus, IIist., bk. 6.
Also iv: E. S. Creasy, Fifteen Decisice Rottles, ch. 1.-C. Thirl wall, Ifist. of Greece, ch. 14 (c. 2). -G. W. Cox, The Greeks and Persians, ch. 6.SIr E. Bulwer Lytton, Athons : Its Rise and Fill. 8k. 2, ch. 5 .
B. C. 489-480. - The AEginetan War.-Naval power of Athens created by Themistocles. See ATIIENS: I. C. 489-480
B, C. $48 \mathrm{I}-479$.-Congress at Corinth.-Hellenic union against Persia.-Headship of Sparta.-"When it was known in Grecee that Xerxcs wias ou his march into Europe, It became necessary to take measurcs for the defence of the country. At lie Instigation of the Atheulans, the Spartans, is the acknowiedged leaders of Hellas and heal of the Peloponneslan confedicracy, called on those cities which had resolved to uphold the Independence of thelr conntry to send plenlpotentlaries to a congress at the Isthmus of Corinth. When the envoys assembled. a kind of Hellenle alliance was formed under the presidency of Sparta, ard lts unity was contirmed by an oath, hindling the members to visit with severe penalties those Greeks who, without compulsion, hall given earth and water to the envors of Xerscs. This allance was the nearest approach to a llellenle unlon ever scen In Greece; but though it comprised most of the Inhabitants of the I'eloponnesus, except Argos and Achen. the Jegarims, Athenians, and two cities of Beotin, Thespie and Platea, were the only patriots north of the Isthmus. Others, who would willingly have been on that side, such as the common peoplc of Thessaly, the I'hocians and Locrians, were eompelled hy the force of cireumstances to "mellize.' From the time at which it met in the antumn or summer of 481 to the autumn of 486 B . C., the congress at the lsthmis directed the military affairs of Greece. it tixed the plan of operations. Sples were sent to Sardis to ascertain the extent of the forces of Xcrxes; envoys visited Argos, Crete. Corcyra, and Syracuse, In the hope, which proved vain, of ottalu. ing assistance in the lmpending struggle. As soon as Xerxe ${ }^{-}$as known to be in Europe, an ariny of 10,00 nen was sent to huld the pase of Tempe, but aturwaris, on the advlee of Alexan. der of Macedon, thls barrier was ahandoned; aud It was finally resolvel to a walt the approaching forces a: Thermopyln and Artemislim. The supreme anthorlty, both by land and sea, was in the handis of the Spartans; they were the natural ieaders of any army which the Greeks could put Into the fich, and the alles refused to follow unless the shlps aiso were under thelr charge. $\qquad$ When hostllitles were suspended, th' "nagress re-appears, and the Greeks once mect at the Ist braus to apportlon the spoil and. anljuilge the prizes of valour. In the ncxt jear we hear of no common plan of operatlons, the fleet and army sceming to act independently of each other; Jct we olserve that the chlefs of the medlining Thebans wire taken to the Isthmus (Corinth) to he trledi, after the buttie of I'inteea. It appears then that, umler the stress of the great Perslan invasion, the Greeks were hrought into an alliance or confederation; and for the two jears from malsminncr 481 to midsummer 479 a congress contlinued to meet, with more or less Intcrruptlon, at the Isthmus, conslsting of plenipotentlarles from the various cltles. This congress tlirccted the affalrs of the nation, so far as they were in uny way connected with the I'erslan Invasion. When the Barbarians were finally defeated, and there was nolonger any alarm from that source, the congress seems ti inve dlseonthued lts meetings. But the allance remalned; the citles continued to act in common, at any mite. so far as naval operations were concerned, and Aparta was stili the leatling power. "-E. Nhbott, Iericles and the Gohilen ilge of lthens, ch. 3.

Also in: C. O. Mailer, Ifint. and Antig. of the Diric Race, r. 1, app, 4.
B. C. $430 .-$ The Persian War: Thermopy* lae.-"Now whan tillings of the hattle that hatd been fought at Marathon [B. C. 490)] reached the ears of King Darius, the son of Ilystaspes, his anger agalnst the Athenians," snys I lermatutus, "which hat been already ronsed liy their attack on Sardis, waxed stili tlercer, and he hecame more than ever eager to lead au army against Grecce. Instuntly he sent eff messengers to make proclamation through the several states that fresh levies were to be ralsed, and these at an inereased rute; whlle ships, horses, provlslons and transports were likewise to he furnished. So the,nen puhlished his commands; and now all Asia was in commotion by the space of three years." But hefore his preparutions were completed Darins died. Jlis son Xirxes, who ascended the I'ersian throne, was eold to the Greek undertaking and requiren! long persuasion before he took it np. When he dill so, however. hls preparations were on a scale mori stupendous than those of his father, and consumed nearly Ilve vears. It was not untll ten years after Narathon that Xerxes led from Sirclis it host which Ilerodotus computes at $1,700,000$ mew, besides half a million more which manned the tleet lie hai assembled. "Wis there a nation in ali Asin," crics the Grcek historian. "which Xerses dill not hrlng with him against Greece? Or was there a river, except thase of unusual size. which sufficed for his troops to drink ?" By a hridge of boits at Alyydos the army crossed the Hellespont, amd moved siowly through Thrace, Maedonis ant Thessaly; whie the fleet, moving on the eonst circult of the same countrles, avolded the perilous promontory of Mount Athos hy eutting a canal. The Greeks had determined at first to make their staind againat the Invaders in Thesealy, at the vale of Tempe; but they found tive post untepahle and were persuaded, instead, to guard the narrower Pass of Thermopple. It was there that the Persians, arriving at Truehis, near the Malian guif, found themselves faced by a smaii loody of Greeks. The spot is thus de. seribel hy Iferolotus: "As for the entrance into Greece loy Trachis, it is, at its narrowest polnt, about fifty feet wide. This, however, is not the place where the passige is most contracted; for It is atlll narrower a little above and a llttle helow Therinoprie. At Alpeni, whleh is lower down than that place, it is only wide enough for a slngle carriage; and up above, at the river Phonix, near the town cafied Antheln, it is the same. Wist of Titermopyire rises a lofty and preclpitous hill, imposslbie to elimh, which runs up lito the chaln of EEta; while to the east the romi is shut in $i$, os the sea and by marshes. In this place are the warm springs, whleh the natlves eail 'The Cauklrons': and above them stands an altar suered to IIerenies. A wail had once been carricd aeross the opening; and In this there had of oif tlmes been a giteway King Xerxes pitehed his eamp in the region of Malis calied Traehinla, whlle on their sifie the Grocks occujuied the straits. These strits the Greeks in gencral eall Thermopyife (the IIot Gutes); but the natlves and those who dweil in the nelichbonrhool cail them Pylx (the Gates).

The Grecks who at thls spot awnited the eoning of Xerxes were the following:-From Sparta, 300 men-at-arms; from Areadia, 1,000 Tegenns and Mantlneans, 500 of eaeli people; 120 Urchomenlans, from the Areadian Orehonenus; and 1,000 from other elties; from Corinth, 400 men; from Phlius, 200; and from Mycente 80. Sueh was the number from the Peloponnese. There were aiso present, from Burotia, 700 Thespians and 400 Thebans. Beshles these troops, the Loerians of Opus and the Phocians had obeyed the eail of their eountry men, and sent, the former all the foree they lad, the latter 1,000 men.

The various nations had each captains of their own innier whom they scrved; but the one to whom all especially iooked up, and who inad the command of the entire force. was the Lacedæmonian, Leonidas. The foree with Leonidas was sent forward hy the Spartans in adrance of their main holy, that the sight of them might encourage the aliic's to tight, and hinder them from golng over to the Meles, as it was iikely they might fiave done hanl they seen Sparta buck ward. They intended presently, when they lati eeiebrated the Carneian festivill, which was what now kept them at home, to leave a garrison in Sparta, and inisten iu fuil foree to join the army. The rest of the allies also intented to act simiarly: for it inippened that the Olympic festival fell exactly at this same period. None of them iooked to see the contest at Thermopyise deeided so speedily." For two dilys Leonidas and fils little army helif the piss against the Perslans. Then, there was found a tritor, a man of Malis, who betraged to Xerxes the sereret of a patliway across the mountains, hy which lie might steai into the featr of the post heid by tile Greeks. A thousaud Phocians had heen statloned on the mountain to guard this path; but they took iright when the Persians came upon them in the early dawn, and fied without a hlow. When Leonidas learned that the way aerose the mountain was npen to the enemy he knew that his defense was hopeless, an!I he ordered his ailies to retreat whlle there was yet time. But he and his Spartans remained, thlnking it "unseemly " to quit the post they had been specially sent to guard. Tie Thesplans remalned with them, and the Thebans - known partisans at heart of the Persians - were foreed to atay. The intter deserted when the enemy approached; the Spartans and the Thesplans fouglit and perished to the last man.-IIerolotus, Jistory (trans. by Latalinmu), bk. 7.

Also is: E. Curtius, Ifiat, of (irecce, bk. 3, ch. 1.-G. Grote, Mint. of Greicr, jut. 2, ch. 40 (0. 4). -See, aiso, Atimps: B. C. 48il-470.
B. C. 480.-The Persian Wars: Artemls-ium.-On tie approseh of the great invading army and tiect of Xerxes, tite Greeks resolved to mee't the one at the jass of Thermoprlae and the other at the northern entrance of the Euboran chminel. "The northern sille of Eubra afforled a conmodious and advantageons station: it was a long berein, ealled, from a tomple at its eastern extremlty. Artemisium, eapable of receiving the galleys, if it siould be necessary to draw them upon the siore, and commanding a view of the open sea and the const of Magnesin, and consequeutly an opportmity of watching the enemy's movements as the arlvaneed towards the south; while, on the other hand, its siort dis. tance from Thermopyix enabied the fleet to keep upa quiek and easy communimatlon with the land force. "— C. Tilirlwall, JIist, of (ireece, ch. 15 ( $c .1$ ). -The Persian ficct, after 'uffering hearlly from a destruetlve atorm on the Magnesian eonst, reached Aphetae opposite Artemisium, at the moutio of the Pigasiran ghle. Ninwithstanding its iosses, it stili visisly outnumbered the armas nent of the Grecers, and feareoi nothing bitt the eseape of the littor. But. in the series of con. flicts whieh ensuci, the Gracks were generally victorious and proved their sujerior naval genlus. They could not, however, afford the heavy losses Which they sustaipel, andi, upon hearing of the di*astor at Thermopyite and the Persian possession of the alli-important pass, they deromed it neesssiry to retreat. - W. Mitfori, Ilint. of treece, ch. 8, , ert. 4 (r. 2)
B. C. 480 .-The Persian Wars : Salamis. Leonidas and lis Spirtan bani having perished vainiy at Thermopyle, in their heroic attempt to hold the pass ag:innst the lust of Xerxes, and the Greck ships at Artemisiam liaving rainiy beaten their overwhelming eucmies, the whole of Greece north of the isthums of Corinth liny eompietely at the norer of the invader. The Thebans and other faise-hecorted Greeks joined his ranks, and s:wel their own cities by lephing to destroy their noighbors. The l'latamans, the 'lhespians and the Atheuiaus ahandoned their homes in haste, conducteri their finilics, and such property as they nilght snatein away, to the nearer islands and to places of refuge in Peloponnesus. The Greeks of Puloponnesus railiedi in force to the lathmus and began there the building of a defensive wail. Thicir fleet, retiring from Artemisium, was drawn together, with some re-enforcellechis. lwhind the ishad of suinmis, whieh stretehes aeross the entrince to the bay of Eieusis, off the inner coast of Attlea, neir Athens.

GREECE, B. C. 480.

Salamio and Platan.

Meantime the Perslans had advanced through Attics, entered the deaerted city of Athens, taken the Acropolis, which a smail boly of desperate patriote remolved to hold, had siuin ite defenders and burned lts temples. Their fleet had also been aseembied in the bay of Phaterum, which wiss the more casterly of the three harbons of Athens. At Balamls the Greeks were in dispute. The Corintilans and the Peloponneslans were bent upon faillag back with the fleet to the isthmus; the Athenlans, the Eginetans and the Megarlans iooked upon ail as lost if the present comblnation of the whole naval power of IIelins in the narrow strait of Salamis was permitted to be broken up. At length Themistocies, the Athenian leader, a nian of fertile brala and overbearing resolution, determined the question by sruling a secret message to Xerxes that the Greck silps had prepared to escape from him. This brought down the Persian theet upon them at onee and left them no elanace for retreat. Of the memorable tight whith ensued (Sept, 20 B. C. 440) the following is a part of the deseription given by llarodotus: "Agalast the Athenfans, who held the western extremity of the line towards Eleusis, were placed the Phornlcians: agalnst the Lacedremonlans, whose stution was castwarl towanis the Pirceus, the lonians. Of these list, a few only foliowed the adviee of Themistodes, to fight backwardly; the greater number did far otherwise. . . . Far the greater oumber of the Perslan shlps eagaged in this bntthe were disabled, elther by the Athenhans or by the Egintans. Fur as the Greeks fought in order and kept their life, while the barbarians Were in confusior ard had no plan in anything that they did, the issin of the battle could scaree be other than it was, Yet the Persians fonght far morc brively here Lhan at Eubrea, and indeed surpinsed themselvest each did his utmost throngh fear of Xerres, for cach thought that the king's cye was upon himself. . . . During the whole time of the battle Xerxes sate at the base of the hill cailed Egaleos, over agalust Salamis; and whenever he saw any of hls own captains perform any worthy exploit he inquired concerning hin; and the man's name was taken down by his scribes, togetuer with the names of his fathire and hls city., . . When the rout oi the harbarimas begm, and they songht to make their astape to Phalerum, the Eglnetms, awaltlug them in the dhanel, pertorned exploits worthy to be recorded. Through the whole of the confuscd struggle the Athenians employed themselves in destroying such ships as elther made resistance or fled to shore; while the Eginetimbilaht with those whleh endeavoured to escape down the strilts: so that the l'ersian vessels were no sumer clear of the Athentans than straightway they fell futo the hands of the Earinetian squadroh. . . Such of the Marlarian vessels as escaped from the battle fled to Planermm, tund there sheltered themselves umber the prosection of the bami army. . . . Xerxes, when he silw the extent of his loss, began to be afruitl leat the Grevs might he counselled br the fonians, ur withuat their advice mhght determine, to sail straight to the 1l-llespont and break down the bridgen there; in whith case he would be hocked ul in diturope mal rum grat risk of perishing. He therefore mate uphis mind to Hy."-hlerme.
 w. $9.5-9:(r, 4)$

Aleo Ix: E. Curtius, Hiat, of Orecec, bk, 8, ch, 1 (v 2).-G. Grote, Ifitt, of Greece, p! 2, eh. $4(\mathrm{r}$. 4). W. W. Goodwin, The Battle of Shlemia (Aupers of the Am. Sehool at Athene, e. 1).
B. C. 479.-The Persian Wars: PlatenWhen Xerxes, after the defeat of hils fleet at Salamis, fled back to Asla with part of his dilsordered host, he left his lieutenant, Mardonlus, with a still formidahle army, to repair the disas. ter and accomplish, if possible, the conquest of the Greeks. Sardonlus retired to Thessaily for the winter, but returned to Attica in the spring nad drove the Athenlans once more from thelr shattered clty, which they were endeavoring to repair. Ile made overtures to them which they rejectel whth scorn, and thereupon he destroysd everything in clty and country whitel could be destroyed, reducing Athens to ruins and Attica to a desert. The Spartans and otifer Peloponneslans who had promised support to the Athenuns were slow in coming, but they came in strong force at last. Marionlus fell buck into Beotla, where he took up a favorable positlon in a piain on the left bink of the Asopus, near Platea. This was in septemiker, 13. C. 470. Aceording to Ilerodotns, he had 300,000 " hurbarian" troops and 50,000 Greek ailles. The opposlng Greeks, who foliowed him to the Asopus, were $110,000 \mathrm{in}$ number. The two armles watched one another for more than ten days, unwhiling to offer battle hecrase the omens were on both slifes discourag. ing. At length the Greeks undertook a change of positlon and Marionius, mlstaking thls for a movement of retreat, led his Persians on a run to attack them. It was a fatai mistake. The $\mathrm{Spar}^{\text {p }}$ tans, who bore the brunt of the Persian assault, soon eonvinced the deluded Mardonfus that they were not $\ln$ fllght, whlle the Athenians denlt roughly with hits Theban allles. " The barbarians," says Herofotus, "many times selzed hold of the Greek spears and brake them; for $\ln$ boldness and warike spirit the Persians were not a whit mifrior to the Greeks; but they were withont buckicers, untrulned, and far below the enemy in respect of skill in arms. Sometimes singly, sometimes in boalles of ten, now fewer and now more in mmber, they daslied forward upon the Spartan ranks, and so perishedl. , . . After Mardonins fell, and the troops with him, which were the main strength of the army, perished, the remahnder yielded to the Lacedirmonians and took to tlight. Their light elothing and want of bucklurs were of the greatest hurt to them: for they had to contend against men heavily armed, while they themselve's were withont iny such defence." Artahizus, who was second lin command of the Persians, and who had 40.060 im mediately under him, did not strlke in bow in the hinthe, but quitterl the tieh as soon as he saw the turn events hal takin, muld fed his men ln a retreat which had no panse until they remelned and crossed the He thespont. Of the remather of the 300.000 of Nartlonins' host, only 3,0H5), accordheg to Herodotas, outlived the battie. It was the end of the Persian invastons of Grecece. - Ilerodutus, Mistory (tr. by Rarlingen), bk: 9. G. Grote, Ilist. of Grece, pt. 2. rh. 42 (r. 5). - (: Thirlwall, Hist. of Greuce, sh. 16 (r. 1),-G. W. Cux, Mist. of Grecce, bk. 2, rh. 7 (r. 1). - In cele. bration of the victory an altar to Zens was erected and conseerated by the unted Greeks with soicmn ceremories, a quinteminal fentival, called the Fcast of Liberty, was lastituted at Platea, and the territory of the Plataeans wan declared sacred and Invlolable, so long as they should malntain the appolnted sacriftces and funeral honory to the dead. But these agree. mente did not arail to proteet the Platreans when the ubsequent Peloponnesian War broke out, aal they Itond falthfully among the allles of Athens. "The last act of the asaembled army was the expedition against Thebes, In order, aecorlling to the obllgation incumient upon them, to take revenge on the most obstinate ally of the natlonal enemy. Eleven dass after the battle Pausunias appeared before the elty and demanded the mirrender of the party-leaders, responsible for the polley of Thebes. Not untll the slege hal lasted twenty days was the surrender obtalned. $\qquad$ Tlmagendias and the other leaders of the Thebans were executed as traltors agalnst the nation, by order of Paisanias, after he had dismissed the confederate army." $-\mathbf{E}$. Curtlus, -Ilint. of Greeef, bl. 3, ch. 1 ( r .2 ).

B. C. 479. - The Perslan Wars: Mycale.The rame day, in Septemiber, B. C. 479, on whleh the Greeks at Platiea destroyed the army of Manhonlus, witnessed an alniost equal rletory won by their compatriots of the fleet, on the eonast of Asin Mluor. The Perslan fleet, to avold a battle with them, had retreated to Myeale on the harrow stralt between the lsland of Samos and the mulnand, where a land-aring of 60,000 men was statloned nt the tlme. Here they drew thelr shlps on shore and surrounded them with a rmupnrt. The Greeks, under Leotychides the Lacultemonlan, innded and attueked the whole eombined force. The Ionlans in the Perslan army tumed agalnst thelr masters and helped to deetroy them. The ront was eomplete aud only a sumall remant escaped to rearlh surulls, wlere Xerses was stlli lingering.-IIerodutus, History (tr. by Ruclinton), bk. 0.

Also IN: C. Thlriwall, Mist, of Grecee, ch. 16 (c. 1). G. Grote, IIist. of Greace, Me. 2, ch. 42 (e. 5).
B. C. $479-478$, Athens assumes the protection of Ionia.-Siege and eapture of Sestus. Rebuilding and enlargement of Athens and its walls.-Interference of Sparta foiled hy Themistoeles. Sue Atuens: B. C. $479-478$.
B, C. 478-477.-Reduction of Byzantium, Mad conduct of Pauasnias. - His recall.Alienation of the Asiatic Greeks from Sparta. -Their closer union with Athens.-Withdrawal of the Spartans from the war.-Formstion of the Delian Confederaey. -"Sestos lind fallen: but Byzantion and the Thraklan 1\%o. livios, with Eion on the Strymon and ming other plates on the northern shores of the Egean, were thill helld hy l'ersian garrisons, when, iu the year after the battle of Plataini, lunsimias, ns commamber of the confederate theet, salled with 20 I'rhimmesilan and 30 Athenlan ships to Kypros ( $\because$ y $r u s$ ) and thence, having rceoveridl the greiter pint of the lisland, to Byzantion. The resistance hire was as obstlnate perhaps as at sestos; but the plice was at length reduced, aud Sparta stom for the noment at the liead of a triumphint comfinleriey. It was uow in her power to weld the isolated units, which made up the liellenie wurl, into something like an organised society, atil to kindle In It something like national life.

But slre lad no statesman eapible, like Themistokles, of selzing on a golden opport unity. Whit. in ler own generals she found ler grent"at enemies." Pausanlas "was, it wonld seem.
dazzied by Perilan wealth and eammoured of Pernian pleasurea. He had roumed the indlgna: tion of hle own people by having his name in. acribed, as leader of all the Greek forces, on the tripod whleh was to commemorate the victory of Platalal: and now his arrogance and tyranny were to exclte at lyy zantion a discontent and lm. patlence destined to be followal by more serious consequences to hls country as well as to hlmself. On the fall of Byzantlon he sent to the Perslan king the prisoners tnken in the elty, and spread the report that they had escaped. He for. warded at the same tlme, it is sald, . . . a letter In whleh he informed Xerxes that he wished to marry hls daughter und to make hlm lord of all Ilellas." Xerxes opened negotiations with hlm, and "the head of this miserable man was now, falrly turned. Clad In Perslan garh, he aped the privacy of Aslatle despots; and when he came forth from his pnlace it was to make a royal progress through Thrace, surrounded by Medlan and Egyptlan ilfe guaris, and to show his insolenee to men who were at least hls equals. The reports of thls slgnliteant change in the be. havlour of Pausaulas led to hils recall. He was put on his trial; hut hils aceusers falled to estahilsh the personal eliarges bruaght against hlm, While hls Medism also was dismlssed as not fully proved. The suspleion, however, was so strong that he was deprived of hls eommand.

Ail these events were tending to alleuate the Aslatic Greeks and the islanders of the Egean from a state whileh showed itself neapable of malntalnling its authority over lts own servants." Even before the recall of Pansanius, "the Asiatic Greeks Intreated Aristeldes the Athenlan communder to admit them lutu direet relatlons with Athens; and the same change of feelling had passed over all the non-medising Greek states with the exceptlon of the Peloponneslan alles of Sparta. In short, it had becone clear that all Ilellas was divided Into two great sectlous, the one gravitatiug as uaturally to Sparta, the great land power, as the other grivitated to Atheus with her maritime prepmederance. When therefore a Spartan commiswion healed by Dorkls arrived with a small force to take the place of Pausanlis, they were met by passive resistance where they hatl looked for subminsion; aud thelr retirement from the fleld in which they were uunble to compel olvedience lift the ennfederaey an accomplished fact."-(G. W. Cox, Mixt. of ' Greece. bk. 2, ch. 8 (e. 3).-This confeleracy of the Asiatle Greeks with Athens, now detinitely orgaulzed. is known ns the Confederacy of blos, or the Delinn league. "To Athons, as decisledly the prepouderant power, both morally and materially, was of neressity, aud also with free goxal-will, conslgued the headship anm chicf control of the affairs and combuct of the alliance: a position that earried with it the responsibility of the collection aud admiluistratiou of a common fund, and the preshleney of the assemblies of delegates. As time weut on and circumstances altered, the terms of confederition were modifled In varions instanees; but at first the general rule was the contribution, not only of money or ships, lat of actual persomal serviee.

We have no precise emumeration of the allies of Athens at this carly time, lint the course of the history brings un the mention of many.
(rete wis uever directly affeted by these events, and Cyprns was nlso soon to be left aside ; but otherwise nll the Greek falandsof the Aegean northwards - except Mclos, Thern. Aegina, and Cythera - were contributory, Ineluilug Finlmen; an were the eltlen on the enamts of Tlifuce and the chalelille penlasila from the Macellmian mumiary to the llellon. pont: Byzantlum and various cltlen on the conats uf the Propuntls, and leaserertalnly of the Finxlne; the inipurtant serlea of clters on the weatern conat of Ash Mlnor - though apparently with conalderable exreptlons- Acoltan, Ionlan, Iorian, and Curlan, us fur us Caunus at least on the borders of Ly eln, if nut even roumi to the Chellelonian lsles. The mucrenl lasland of Iteios was shomen us the de. pository of the common treanure nad the plice of meving of the contributors. Apart from Its centrai convenlence and defenslbleness as an Island, and the sanclty of the triaple. $\qquad$ It unas a truclitional centre for solemts reunlons of Ionlans from chther shle the Aegena.

At the dlat lnet reyuest of the aliles the dihenlans appolntend Arixthles to supurintemil the ditleult pricess of naseeslug the virlous forme and amounts of contributlon. $\qquad$ The total annual amount of the nssessuncut was the large sum of 400 talents (2il12.125), and thls perhaps not lnclusive of, but only supplementary to the costly supply ot equinped shlps."-W. W. Llogl, The ilge of lerichen, ch. $14(\mathrm{c}, \mathrm{l})$.
 6 anls.
B. C. 477-462. - Advancing democracy of Athens. - Sustentation of the Commons from the Confederate Treasury. - The stripplng of power from the Areopagus. &.e AtIEsis: 13. 47-4in.
B. C. 477-461.-Athens as the head of the Delian League. - Triumph of Anti-Spartan policy at Athens and approach of war.-Ostracism of Cimon,-"Betwenn the end of the I'rr. sian war and the your 404 IB. C. Sparta had sunk from the chandion of the whole of Ilellas to the half-discridited leater of the I'eloponnese only. Athens, on the contrary, lisil risen from a sulbor. dinate meinber of the league cont rolleol by sparta to be the lealer and minost the mlatress of a league more dangerous than that over which Spurta hele] swuy, Sparta unumestionably entertained towards Athens tlec jeatous lintred of a defeated rival. 13y what steps Athens was Inoreavity ler contriit over the belinn Leatgue, and chanring ler pusition from that of a president to that of an aholute raler [see Atuena: Il. C. 4(idi-4.54], will levexplained. . . . She was at the satne time prosecuting the war ugainst I'ersla with conspicuous success. Iler lember In tials task was Cinon. In the donamin of practle Athens prowlicerl no nobler son than this man. lle was the som of Miltimles, tice victor of Darathon, amb by heredity and iuclination took his stand with the conservative party lu Jthens [see Athens: 13. ( $.47 \%-462$, to $460-440]$. He sueevented here to the humbing position of Aristides, nud he jursessed ull that statesuan's purity of character. . . . It was as a naval commaniler. mal as a supporter of a forwnral policy against Persia, that ('imon won his greatest renown. But he hanl also a keen interest in the domestie developnurit of Athers and her uttitume to the other states of Grecoe. To maintain friendship with Sparta was the root of all his policy. Ilis perfect honesty in subjurting thuls polley was neyer guestioned, and purta reeognised hly good will to them by nppointing hlm Prozenus in Athens. It was his duty In isle eapacity to protectinny Bpartan remilent In or vialilag Athens. Ills characterand personality were embently attrucilve. Unter hls gulidance the Athenlan fleet atruck Pernia blow on hlow. In 466, near the moith of the Eurymedon In Pamphylla [ace ATHENE: IB. C. 470-106], the Penlan fret was destroyed. ami after a tierce atruggle her land forces nlan wers defeated wlth very groat slanghter. It was long Infore Perslan Intluence counted for anything ugain on the waters of the Mediterranean. Clmun, with the personal quall. thes of Aristleles, hail olitalncyl the successes of Themistocles Opposition to Clinon was not wantlng. Tha Aisenlan democtacy had entered on a puth that sermed blockerl hy his permonni suprenacy. And now the party of advanelig demorracy posmesach a learler, the ableat and greatent that it was ever to possess Pericles was alout thlrty yoars of age. . . . Ile wan reInted to great famillies through imith father and mother, and to proat fabuilies thint lad ehamploned the democratle shle. Ils futher Zanthippis luad prosecuterl Milthales, the fathr of Clmon.

To lead the party of ulvan' democruy was to attnek Clmon, nyainst $w$ im he land heroditary lowitlits. . . . Wlien In the Thasos rebelled frout dihens, defent was certala unless she found allles. She applied to Nparta for asslstance. Athens und Spurta were stlll nomiunlly alles, for the cration of the Ibellan Lengue hud sot openly destroyed the alliunce thut lud subststed betweru the'in since the days of the l'erslan war. But the Thashas hopmathat Sjurta's joulousy of Athens mblat Inilice licer to dlaregard the allianee. And they reckoned righily. The sipartam tleet was so weak that no Interference upon the seit coukl be thought of, but If Aitica were athacked ly hand the Athenlans would be forced to draw utf some part of thuir armament from Thusos. Sparta gave a secret pronnise that thls attack should be madie. But before they could fultil their protulse thedr own clty was overwhelmeal by a terrible carth. quake. . . Onty tivel uses were leftstanding, and tweuty thonsind of the lnambitants lost their livis. King Archidimus saved the state from cretumore appulling ruin. Whale the inhabltants were dazed with the entastrople, he ordered the alarm-trumpet to le blown; the military lnstinets of the Spartans answored to the call, mat ail that were left nssembleal outsinle of the city safo from the falling rulns. Archiulamus's jresence of mind sived them from even grenter danger than that of earthaunke. The dlsaster seemed to the matsees of llelots that sarroumderl Sparta clear evillence of the wrath of the god Posehlon.
The lleluts selhed arms, therefore, and from nli siales rushed mpon Sparta. Thunks to Archiar. musis nction, they found the spartans collected nidl ready for battic. They foll back npon Jessenia, and eoncentrated their stringtis round Dount Ithome, the nntural Acropuils of thut district.

All the efforts of thelr opponents, never very successful in sieges, failed to dis. loxige them. At list, in 464, Aphrta had to np. penl to lier allies for help against her own siaves; antl, as Athens wis lier ally, she sppealed to Athens. Shouid the help be granted \%. . . Cimon nilvocated the granting of Sparta's demand whth nll his strength. $\qquad$ But there was much to be said on the other side, and it was antll by Ejpial. tes and Pericles. The whole of Pericles's foreign policy is founded on the acaumption that union between A thens ami sparta wai undeal rahle and inpuasibie. In everything they stond st opposite prlee of thought. . . . Cimon gailued the rote of the people. He went st once with a force of fonr thousand heavy armed sohilers to dthome. Athenlan soldlers enjojed s great reputation for thelr ability in the conduet of sleges; hut, de. splte their srrivsi, the llelota In Ithome atll heht ont. And mon the Spartans grew suspici. ous of the Atheulnn rontingent. The fallure of Sparta was en eleariy to the interest of Athens that the Bpartans eonlil not lelleve that the Athealans were in esmest in trying to prevent It; amd st iast Cinion was toll that Sparta no longer had need of the Athenlan torce. The insult wasall the more evident breanse none of the other allles were dismissed. Clmon st ouce re. turned to Athens [mee Mfasesias Wan, Tint: Turnd]. Un hls return lie still opposed thow romplete demorratle changes thut Perhcles and Ephlalter were st this the Introincing into the state. A vote of ostrueism wus ciemuaded. The requislte number of votes feil to Clmon, and he hai to retire luto exile (461). ... Ilis ontra. elam doubticss allowed the deinceratic changes, In any cace inevitabie, to be accompllshed withont much oppoaltior or obstruetion, but it also Aleprived Athens of her In'st suldiler at a thme whel she needed ull her militury thient. For Atheus could not forget ipurtu's lusult. In 461 she renounced the allance with her that hai ex. bsted aluce the Pershan wars; and that this rapture did not mean neutrality was made clear when, immediately afterwunis, Athens eont racted an allance with Argos, alwuys the cuemy and now the dangerous euemy of Sparta, and with tbe Thessullsns, who also hai grounds of hostillty to Sparta. Under such eircumstunees war coalis not be long in coining." - A. J. Grant, Grece in the Age of Pericles. ch. 5.
Also IN: Pintarch, Cimon: Ieriche, (C. Tulrlwail, Hist, of Grecec, ch. 17 (o. 3) -E. Ab. lntt, Periclss and the Godlen Ige of Athens, ch. 5-6.
B. C. 460-449.-Disastrous Athenian expedition to Egypt.-Cimon's last enterprise against the Persians. - The disputed Peace of Cimon, or Callias.-Five years truce hetween Athens and Sparta. See ATiens: IB. C. $460-449$.
B. C. 458-456. - Alliance of Corinth and Egina against Athens and Megarn,-Athenias victories.-Siege and conquest of Fgina. -The Spartans in Bceotia.-Defeat of Athens at Tanagra. - Her success at CEnophyta. -Humilistion of Thebes.-Athenian ascendancy restored.-Crippled by the great enrth. quake of 464 B. C., and harasseil by the succued. lag Messenlan War, "nothing eonid be dione, ou the part of Sparta, to oppose the establishment aul extenslon of the separate allinnce between Athens and Argos; and accordingly the states of Northern Peloponnesus connenged their armaments against Athens ou their own aceount, in onler to obtain by foree what formerly they hai uchleved by scerct intrigues and by pushing forwand Sparta. To stop the progress of the Attle power was s necessary conilition of thelr own cxistence ; and thus a new warlike group of states formed Itself among the members of the disrapt. eif coafederation. The corinthlans entered into a secret alliance with Egina and Epidaurus, and endes rored to extend their territory and ohtain strong poaltions beyonl the Isthmus st the ex. pense of Megarm. This they eonaidered of apeelsi importance to them, Inannueh as they knew the Blegareans, whoe small country iay in the milat between the two hostile ailiances, to be alles ilttle descrving of trust.

The feses of the Corinthians were realizel sooner than they had antlelpated. The Alegareana, unier the prissure of evants, renounced their treaty obllgatlons to Spsrta, and folned the Attleo-Argive nillance.

The passes of the Geranes, the inlets nnil outiets of the Ihorie pealnsula, now fell into the hands of the Atheniuns; Megara became an out. Work of Athens: Attle troups oceupled its to wus; Attle shly: erulsed in the Gulf of Corinth, where harbors stond open to the an at Pegae snif. Eigon. thena. The Atheulaus were cager to unite llegara us eiosely as ponsllbe to themadves, and fur this reason frnmerilately bultt iwo lines of Wails, whleh coumected Megara with its port Nissea, dyht stadin off, and rendered both places impresuable to the I'eloponueslans. Thls extenslon of the luathe jower to the boundaries of the Isthnus, and into the waters of the western guif, seemed to the marltime clites of Pelogonuesus to force them Into uetlon. Corinth. Epidnurns, and Egina eommenced an offensive war against Athens-a war whleh opened withont having been formally duclared; and Athens unhesltuthaty secepted the ehnllonge thrown ont Whth suftheleut distinetness in the armaments of her solversarles. Myronldes, an erverieneed gencral awl staterman. . . . Innted wath an At the squailon neiar Ihllels ( $w$ here the frontlers of the Epldunriaus mai Arglves met), and here fonni n unitel force of C'orinthlans, Ephlaurians, and Eglnetans uwailing him. Myronldes was unsuccessful hills canipuign. A few months iater the hostile flects nurt off the lsisnd of Ceery. phatera, lotween Eghm and the coast of Epidimrus. The Athenians were vlctorions, and the struggle now elosed rouni .Eyina Itself. Immedlatoly opposite the Island ensued s second great naval lattle. Seventy of the enemy's shlps feli lato the hunds of the Xthenlans, whose vletorious flect whthont delay surronnded Egha. The Peloponneshas were fully aware of the inipor. tance of Eglna to them. Three hundred hoplites came to the relice of the ishand, and the Corinthinns marched across the Geranen Into Megaris to the reiief of Egha. It scemed Impossible that. while the thect of the Athenians was tighting in the fand of the NHe, and another was lying before Eigina, thiy should haves third army in readiness for liegara. 13 tit the Ieloponnesians had no eonception of the capa. bllities of aetlou belonglag to the Athenhas. True, the whole mllitiry levy was absent from the country, and only chough men were ieft at home for the mere defonce of the walls. Tet all Were notwlthstanding ngrecd that uetther shonhd - Eghar be given up nor the new allies be left in the lureh. Myronides avaneed to meet the Corinthians with troops eomposed of those who had pussed the age of military servlce or not yet reachedit. In tbe first tight he held his gromal: Wher the hostile forces returned for the second time, they were routed with tremendous loss. Megara was savel, and the energy of the Athenians had luen mast splendidiy establisterl. In attestation of it the sepulehral pillars were ereeted in the Ceramleus, on which were inseribed the names of the Athenlan soldler: who had fallen In one and the same ycar (0). Ixxy 8 ; B. U. 440-7) of Cyprus, in Exypt, Ihapnlela, IIallels, SEglas, ani Merapa. A fragment of thla re. martable hlotorical document is preervel to thls day. While thus many yearm arcumulation of combuatible materiais liad sudienly broken out Into a dame of the terceat war In Central Greece, new complicathons aleo arose in the north. The Thebans, who hal suitered so dcep a humaliation, bellevel the thine to have arrival when the events of the past were forgotten, and when they could attain tu new importance and power. In opposition to them the Phocinns put forth thelr strength.

After the illasolution of the Hellenlc Confeleration, and the calamltien whlch had befallen the Spartans, the Phoclans thought they miglit venture an attack upon tho Dorian tetrapoila, In order to extenil their fronitiers In this directlon.

For Sparta it was a polnt of bonor not to desert the primitive com. munities of the Ihorian race. She roused lierself to a vigoriuseffort, and, motwlthataniling nil her losses and the continuanee of the wnr In Blesenin, was able to aend 11,000 men of her own troopm and those of the confederates acrose the Isthmus before the Athenians hal tlme to place any obstacles $\ln$ thelr way [13. C. 457]. The 'hocians were forced to relinquish their conquests. But when the Spartan triosps were nbout to return home across the listhmus they found the mountaln-passes occupled by Athens, and the Gulf of Corinth made equility lnseeure hy the presence of hustile shlps. Nothing remalneel for the Lacediemonians but to march lnto lhrotia, where their prosence was welcome to Thebes. They entererl the valley of the Asopus, anil encamped in the territory of Tanagra, not far from the frontlers of Atters. Wlthout ealculating the eonsegurnees, the Athenlans land brought themelves Into an exiremely dangerous sltuation.

Thelr diffleultes increased when, contemporaneously, evil signs of treasonalle piots made thelr appearance in the interior of the cliy [see Atitens: 13. (:. 400-419].

Thus, then, it whs now neceasary to eontend simultancouslo; against fows within and foes whthout, to defend the eonstliution ins well as the Independence of the state. Nor was the questlon merely as to an isolnted attack and a transltory dinnger; for the eoniturt of the Spartans lu Brotia clearly showed that lt was now their intentlon to restore to power Thebes . . . hecanse they werc anxlous to have in the rear of Athens a state able to stop the cxtension of the Attic power in Central Grecce. This iutentlon could be best finlalled by supporting Theles in the subjugation of the other lsiputian clties. For this purpose the Peloponnesians lum busily strengthened the Thetuan, l. e. the oligarchlcal party, in the whole if the eountry, and cucircled Thebes ltself whth uw fortitications. Theles was from a conntry town to tecome a great clty, an Independent fortitied position. ant a base for the Pclononneslin caisse In Ceutrnl Grueee. Hence Athens could not have found herself threatentil by a mare dingerouts complieaton. The whole civle arny accorilingly took the ficlal, amounting, together with the Argives, and other allles, to 14.000) men, besiules in buxly of Thessaltan cavalry. In the low gronnd by the Asopus below Tanagra the armies met. An arluons anul anngilinary struggle ensued, in whleh for the first time

Atheas and Bpartis mutually tented thelp powers In aregular battle. For a long time the revult was douhtful; till In the very thick of the batile the cavalry went oree to the enemy, probably at the Instlgation of the laconlan party. Thle act of treason decided the day In fivop of Hparta, although patrlotic Athenlan would mever cons. ment to count thla among the battle loet by Athens. The Epartans were far from fultiling the expectations of the party of the Ollgarchs. As min na they knew that the parses of the Isthmus were once more open, they took thelr de. parture, towamls the foll of the year, thmugh Megara, making thle little conntry sufter for fte defection by the devatation of Iis territory.
They reckoned upon Thehen being for the pres. ent stronk cnough to malntain herweif against ler nelghborm; for uitcrior offensive operations agalust Athens, Tanagra was to surve as a baec. The pian was good, and the conjuncture of sfalse favoruhle. But whatuver the Spartans did, they ellit only by lasives: they concluded a truce for four months, and quitted the ground. The Athenlans, on the other hand, limi no Intention of allowing a menaring power to catablish Itself on the frontlers of thelr country. Wlthout walting for the return of the falr beamn, they croserf Nount l'arnes two monthe after the battle, before nny thoughts of war were enter. tained in Bemth; Myrunkles, who was in com. nand, clefentel the Thebinn army which was to defend the valley of the Asopus, near (Enophyta. This battle with one blow put an end to all the plans of Theles: the walls of Tanagra were mazed. Mymnides contlnued lis march from town to town; cverywhere the cxlsting governments were overthrown, and democratic constitutions establlshed with the help of Attle par. tlasns.

Thms, after $n$ passing humlliation, Athens was son more powerful than ever, and her sway extenied as fur as the frontiens of the Phoclans. Nay, during the ame campaign she extencled her milltary dominlou as far as Locris.

Meanwhlle the Eglnetans also were gradnally losing their power of realstance. For nine thwi they had resinted the Attic squalron. - . ㅇuw their strength was exhaustevl; and the prond island of the Enctia, whieh Pindar had sung us the mother of the men who ln the glorious rivalry of tho festive games shone otit before all other Hellenes, had to how down before the lrresistlble goonl fortune of the Athenians, and was forced to pull down her walls, to dellver up her vescels of war, aud bind herself to the payment of tribute. Contempomneously wilth this event, the two arms of walls [nt Atirens] between the upper and lower town were completed. A.: 'ns was now placed theyond the fear of nny nttack. . The Peloponnesian confetleration wis shaked to its very foundations; and Sparta was still let and hlndered by the Messenlan revolt, while tho Athenians were able freely to dispose of thelr military and naval forces."-E. Curtius, Hist. of Greece, bk. 3, ch. 2 (o. 2).

Al,mo Iv: G. W. Cox, Mint, of Greece, bk. 2, ch. 9 (n. 2).-Thucydides, Peloponnesian War (tr. by Joicett), bk. 1, sect. 107-10#.
B. C. 449-445.-Quarrel nf Delphlana and Phocians.-Interference of Sparta and Athena. - Brootian revolution.-Defeat of Atheniana at Coroneia.-Revolt of Eubce and Megara. -The Thirty Yeara Truce.-In $4 \nmid 0 \mathrm{~B}, \mathrm{C}$.' ${ }^{\prime}$ on cecaaion of a diapute between the Deiphians and the Phoefans as to which should have the care of the temple and lte treasures, the Lacellemonians went an army, and gavo them to the furmer; hut ts toon is they were gone, Perlcies led thither an Athenlan army, now put the Phoclans in pos. seaslon. (If this tive Lacediemonlans took no sutice. The fight of Primanty, or int cumuit. Ing the orncie, which hot been given to sparta by the Delphians, was now asigned to Athens by the lhocians; and this honor was probably the csure of the interference of both states. As the Athenlans had glven the upier hami to tho democratle jarty in Boeotin, there wus of courso a lntge number of the opponlte party in ealle. Theme hnd made themselves masters of Orehomenus, Chreronela, and some other places, and If not checked in time, migit greatly endanger the Ithenlan influence. Tolmifas, therefore, led un army nad took and garrimoned Charouch; but, as he was returning, he wasattackeri at Coronela by the exiles from Orehomenus, Joined hy those of Eubaea and their other frienils. Tohnf. dias fell, and hin troups were nll slaln or anaio prlwners. ( (1). 83, 2.) [B. 147.) The Atheninus, fenring a general wi srecel to a trenty, by whleh, on their prlaner ing restorid, they evacunted Baotia. The exiles rethrami to thefr severni towns, and thlngs were ilnceri on thelr ohi fixting.

Cruces of ilve Alopenmion $W$ or.

OREECE, B. C. $430-432$.

Euber was nuw (0). 83, 3) [i3. C. 446] In revolt ; anil while Perieles was at the heoul of an army rediselng lt , the party in M.gara miverse to A thens ruse and nusmered ali the Athenlnn garrisonsexcept that of Nisner. Corinthlans, Sleyonlaus, and Epliaurinns cauce to thelr ahif and the Peloponneslans, lexl by one of the Spartan klngs, entured and wnsted the plaln of Eleusls. Perleles led back hls army from Fubrea, bist tue eneany wis gone; lie then re. turued and reduced that islanil, nni havlog exprillof the people of Hesthen, gave thelr lamis to Ithunlun colonlats: aml the Athenlnus, lrelng anwlling to riak the chance of war with the Dorian confederacy, glaily formed (Ol. 83, 4) [13. C. 445] a trice for thirty years, surrendering Nisea ami Pegae, anif withifawlig n farrlmon $\mu t$. 2, ch. 1. -"The Athenlaus saw themselves comprelled to glve up thelr possewsions In Pelopumuesis, especlally Achula, as well as Truzone nai i'age, an lmportant position or their comtnuniastion wlt'r the geninsula. Even Nlawn was abambunel. Ii these lusses, sens! bly ns they afferted thalr lathurnee upon the Grecinn contl. nent, were counterbalanered hy a eoncesslon still meme slgnlticant, the neknowle lgment of thic belian League, It was left opeut to states nud citiecs which were niembers of udelther confederiey fo juin elther at plensure. These events hapMoncl in O1, 83, 3 (33. (. 445) - the revolt of Megara and Eubera, the invasion of llefstomans. the re-conquest of Enbura, num the conelushon of the treity, which assumed the form of an urinistice for thilrty rears. Great inmpratanee umst b. attributerl to this settlenment, as iusolvinte an ne. knowlotgment which satistlel! both partios athe did jnstice tu the great interests binties stake on rither sille. If Athens renoutuced some of her punsessions, the sucritiee was compensutell by the fint that apartit recognized the evistence of the buthl suprumucy uf dthens, and the basis on which it rested. We may perliaps assume that the compromise bretween Perteles and Pleistoanas was the reault of the convictlon felt ly buth theme leading men that a fundamental dimaclathon of the Peloponneninn from the Deilun leagrie was a matter of necemity. The Spartans winfied to be atieolutely supreme In the one, and resigned the other to the Athenians. "-L. von Hanke, Uninerall Ifios.: The Nolrat jfint. Group of Siltions and tho (Ireeke, ch. 7, cett, 2.

Also ix: Bir F. B. Lytton, Athens: Jis Biow awl Fall, bk. 5, ci. 1.
B. C. $445-432$, Splendor of Athens and creatnest of the Athenlan Empire under the ruie of Pertcles. See ATHums: IJ. C. 445 - 48 i .
B. C. $44^{9}$ - Subjuration of revoited Samos b) the Athenlans.- Spartan interference prevented by Corlath. Beo Atriens: B, C. 440-437.
B. C. $435-432$ - Cnusea of the Peloponnealan War. - "In 5, C. 43l the war hroke oltt bet ween Athema and the Peloponneslan League, whlch, after twenty-ecven yenrs, emled in the ruin of the Athenlan emplri:. It leegan through quar. rei between Corlnth and Kerkym [or Korky ya, or Coreyra], In whlel Athen* nasisted Kerkyra. A. congress was heli at Aparta; Corinth and other States complalned of the condict of A thens, and war was dechled on. The roni eatuse of the war was that Epartn uncilts alles were jualons of the great power that Athens had gninetl. If far grenter number of (ircek Ntates were engnged in thls war than inad ever incou enguged in a slaglo undertaklig lxefore. States thint hni taken no part in the Perslan wnr were now fighting on one slde or the other. Sparta wha an oligarehy, and the friend of the nobleqe every where: Athens was a democracy, nul the frlend of the common people: 8 that the war was to mome extent a strug. glo between these classes all over Greece. "-C. d. Fiffe, Ifiat, of (irvie (IVatory Primer), eh, s. -" The lelopouneslan War was a protneted striggle, ani attenderi by calamitles suel as Ifellas lmi never kuown wlthln a iiko periol of tlme. Sever were no many cltles eaptured and depopulated-wome hy Barbarlings, othershy Ifellenes themselves figlithg agnlust one another; ani several of then. after thelr eipture were re. pouledi by stmugers. Never were exile and slaughter inore freguent, whether in the war or brought alout by elvil strife. . . . There were eartlyunkes uuparnlleledl thelrextent and fury, mul erclipse's of the sun mure numeroms than are re. corled to lure happe ued In any former nge ; there were nlso lusome places grent ilroughts causing f:mblues, nui lastly the plague which dhi fimmense harm ami destrored numbers of the people. Ill these calimulties foll 1 prou Ifellas simultaneously with the war, whleh begum when the Athenlnus and Peloponne'slans vlohited the thlrty years' truce conchnienl by them after the recapture of Enboen. Why they broke it mad what were the grounds of quarrel I will tirst set forth, that in thae to come no nau anty be at a loss to know what was the origin of thls great war. The real thatip unavowed cause I believe to have been the $2 \cdot f \cdot{ }^{\prime} h$ of the Athenlion power, whleh terrl. fiul tia lacedacenonlans and forced them into War. --Thucyidies, IListory (tr. by Jovett), bh. 1 . *. \& $\quad$ - The quarrel between Coriuth and awiky ra, out of whlch, as an inmedlate excite. ment, the Peloponnusian War grew, conecrned "the dity of Epllamusus, known afterwarlis, iu the Roman tlmes, as Dyrrachium, luard by the modern Durazzo-n colony founded hy the Korkgreans on the coast of Illyria, In the Ionie galf, considerably to the north of their own islabd." The oligarehy of Epilamnas, drlven ont by the people, had atlled themselves whth the nelghboring lltyrians and were harassing the elty, Korkyra refnsed ald to the hatter when np. pealed to, int Coriath (of which Liorkyra was itself a colony) promptly rendered letp. This luvolved Corrinth and Korkyra la hos tlities, and Athens gave support to the bater. - Cartias, Hist. of (irtece, r. 3, bk. 4.

Atwa in: C. Thirlwall, Hixt. of Greece, ch. 19-30.-(6. Grote, Ilist. of Cirecte, pt. 2, ch. 4i-43 ( 0. . $\mathrm{B}^{3}$ ).
B. C. 432.-Great Sea-fight of the Corinthians with the Korkyrians and Athenians.Revolt of Potidza.-"Although Kiorkyra 1reenne the ally of Athens, the furce sent to her aid was contlued to the small ummer of ten ships, for the express purpose of making it clear to the Coriuthims that no aggressive measures were lntended; min the generily rerelverl precise instractions to remain strictly uentral maness the Corinthlans shouht attempt to effert al ladthg either ou Korkyra or on any Korkyruian settlements. The Corinthims last ua time in bringiag the quarrel to an issue. With a theet of 150 ships, of which (6) were furnished by their allies, they saiked to the harbor of Cheimerion near the lake throngh which the river Alheron times its way into the sea about thirty mik's th, the cast of the sonthormost promontury of Kirkyrit. The conllict which eusued exhibited a sceme of comfu sion which the Athentan semuen probably re gurbed with hutiuite contempt. After ulhird struggle the Korkyraims ronted the right wing of the enemy's theet. mad chasing it to its camp on share, losit thene in phadering it and burniug the tents. For this folly they paid a terrible price. The remaimler of the Korkyridian Heet, borne down by sherer force of numbers, was put (1) tlight, and probibly saved from ntter ruin only be the oprin interference of the Athentans, who now dishacl into the tight without scruphe and came intudirect contlict with the Corintht. ans. The hatter were now resolved to press their advantage the the nowi. siaing through the enemy's ships. thery ipplied thenserves to the task uot of tahing prizes, but of indixeriminate shayhter. to whinh nut a few of their own people fell victims. After this work of destruction, they conveyed their dis:abled ships with their dead to Sybota, and, still anwearimd, advanead again to the uttack, although it was now late in the day. Thuir laian, or hattle ery, had atrealy rung throngh the air, when they snithenly bicked water. Twenty Athenian ships had come hato sligh, and the Corinthians, supposing them to be only the vimgitirn of at lirger force, hastily retreitel. The Korky raians, lemorant of the canse of this mowement, marvolled ut their departure: but the derhness was now elosing In, mud they alsis wilhirew to their own grount. So endeil the greateat sear fight in which Hellenes had thas far contend del wot with barmarians but with their own khasfolk. On the following day the Forkyrahas mille ol to sybuta with such of their ships as were sill fit for service, supported by the thiry . It hemi:m ships. But the Corinthlime, far from wishing to come to blows with the ueweomers, were anxions rather for their own safety. Complning thit the Athendats urow regimied the Thirty Years' Truec as broken, they were afraid of being forchly hindered by them In their home ward woyage. It hecame necessary therefore to leara what they meant 10 do. The answer of the Athenians was phain ame dectsive. They dild not mein to break the trine, und the Corinthinns mhyht go where they plensed, so long as they dha not go to Korkyra or ta any elty ar settlement belonglag to her. . . C Cpwards of a thonsand prisoners had fallen lata the hands of the Co rinthians. Of thes 250 were conveyad to Corinth, and treated with the greatest kindness mul cure. Like the Athenimas, the Corinthinas were methg only from a regard to their owa interests. Their object was to send these prisoners thack to Korkym, nomiaully under pledge to pay a heavy Fimsom for their freedom, bat hather really eovemantell to put dawn the bermos, anil thas to la sure the heurty alliauce of Korkyra with Corinth. These men returnell home to stir ap the most savage seditions that ever diserimed an llellenic city." G. W. Cox. Gomeral Hist. of Cirece, ok: 3, ch. 1.-" The evils of this Imprnient interference of the themians begran now to be sern. In eonsequence of the Coreyrian alliance, the Athenimen lssurd au order to Potidea, a Macedonian town acknowledging their sapremary, to de molish its waths; to send baek certaia oflters whom they had received from Corinth. mul to give hostages for their good conduct. Potidata, although an ally of Athens, had origimelly been a colony of Corinth, mad thas arose the jeithonsy Which oceasioned these harsh and peremptory oriders Symptoms of universal hostility to Athens now uppeared In the states aromed. The Corinthins unit their allies were molh irritated theoppressed lintideans were strongly instigated to) rewolt; uad lerdicens, king of Maedon, who had some time since been at open war with the Athenians, now glady seized the opportunty to elistress them, by "xcithg and ussisting the matcontents. The petidieans, however, deputed ambissadors to Athens to deprecate the harsh orders which had treen seat them; but in the mean time to prepare for ine worst, they also sent messengers to Sparta entronting support, where they met depaties from Corinth and Megatra. By these load and general complaints Spartia wiss it kngeth roused to head the conspiraty agatust Thens, and the universal thames of wir shortly afterwards broke forth thronghont (irecer." The revolt of Potidea followed Immediatcly; the corinthims pheced a strong foree in the town, under Aristens, und the Athenitms seat au army nader l'hormion to lity siege to ht -Early IIIst. of Cirerce (E'nc. IFetrumilitana), p. 2.3
B. C. 432-431. - Charges brought by Corinth against Athens. - The hearing and the Congress at Sparta.-Decision for war. - Theban attack on Plataa.-The Peloponnesian War began.-The Corinthians " invited deputies from the other states of the confederacy to meet them at Sparta, amb thore ehargel the Atheulans with having liroken the treaty, and trampled on the rights of the Peloponnesilins. The Spartaus held mansembly to recive the complitiats of their allies, und to disenss the question of parace on war. llere the Corinthians were seconded by sere erab other members of the coufederacy, who lad also wrongs to complain of ugainst Athens, und arged the spartans for redress. . . . It happened that at this time Athenlan euvoy, whe hal been sent ou other business, were stlll in Sparta. They deslred permission to attend and addreas the assembly, . . . When the strangers had all been beard, they were desired to wilhdraw, that the assenbly inght dellberate. The feellng agalnst the Athenlans was unlversal; most voices were for Instant war.

The depu, ies of the allies werc then Informed of the resolutlon whleh the asscmbly had adopted, and that a general eonyress of the confederacy would shortly be summoned to dellbirite on the same questlon. In order that war, 'f deelied on, might be decreed ly eommon $\cdots$. it. . The cougress dechled preparei for emmendu! : v:* ii les, and though the nece: ary $\mid$ :emaratins.s wror monediately begun aud ácously 1 ror ech at, nearly a year clapsed if for it was realy to ring natarmy luto the flek. In th: meanime e abasiles were sent mitnls, for the double puisose of amming the Athenlans with the prospect of pence, and of multiplying pretexts for wir. An attempt was matle, but, perhaps, so foolish as it was Insolent, tu revive the popuhar dread of the curse which harl tren supposed to hang over the Alemaonlds. The Athenimus ware called upon, In the nume of the gorks, to banish all who remmhed among them of that blowl stalned race. If they him compllenl with this demand, they must have parted whth I'relches, who, by the nother's side, was conmerted with the Alenaronlds. This, In. decel, was not exprected; lat it was hoped that the refusin might alford a pretext to his encmies at Athens for trathg him as the anthor of the war. The Athenhans retorted by reguiring the Spartans to expiate the pollation with whieh they laml profaned the sumetumry of Tienarus, by drigeting from it some Ilehots who had taken refigge there, and that of Athene, by the denth of Pinsuntias. . . Still, war han heen omly throntened, not declarenl: and priaciful futer. course, though not whelly free from distrumt, wats still kept up betwerer the subjects of the two conferleracies. IBut carly in the following spring. 13 ('. 4:31. In the fiftectath yair of the Thirty Fulss Truce, an event tow place which closed al] 1 tropurets of peace, predijitated the coman'mentont of war, imbitieral the animusity of the contcoding parties, and prepared some of the andat tragienl screlles of the ensuing history. In the dribl of night the clty of libter was surprianl hr aboly of $3(6)$ Thebans, commamberd by two of the great ollteers called IBarotarrlis. They harl bera invited by a lhatam named Ninclindes, und whers of the same party, who loperl, with the aid of the Thebans, to rid themsel ve's of their political vpponerits, and to hreak off the relation in which their city was standing to. Athens, and tranafer its alliance to Thebess The Thebans, fureacing that a general war wias fist approach. ing, fett the less scruple in strengthening thenmpers by this megnisition, while it might be made with tittle cost and risk. The gittes were unLuiralod, as in thate of perce, mind one of them W:I socretly opened to the invalers, who adsatued without interruption into the nitrketflace: The I'latadns, who were wot in the plon, imbiglned the foree by which their city had bern surprised to be much stronger thim it renlly Wia, and, as mo hostile treatment wiss offered to whin the Thebaus. In the conrse of these couferuces they gradually discovered that the conn-ber of the enemy was small, and might be easlly overpowered. . . I laving lurricauled the streets with wagons, and made such other prepurations as they thought necessury, a litle lofore daybreak they suddenly fell upon the Thelsus. The little band mulc a vigorous defeucc, aul twice or thrice repulsed the assallants; hit as these still returned to the charge, and were asolaterl by the wonmeu and slaves, who showercil stemes and tiles from the houses on the enemy; all, at the same thme, raising a tumultuous clamour, and a henvy min increased the coufusion canserl by the darkness, they at length lost their presence of mind, und took to tilght. But must were unable to find their way lu the dark through a strange tuwn, aud several were slaln as they waudered to and fro In search of an outlet.
The main body, which had kept together, en tered a large bullding adjoining the walls, havlng mistaken lis gates, which they found open, for those of the town, aud were shut In . The Plitieaus at first thought of setting fire to the buihling: but at length the men within, as well as the rest of the Thelomes, who were still wandering up and down the strects, surrembered at disercthon. Before thelr depirtire from Thebes It haml been concerted that as large a force as could be rulsed should march the wame night to support them. The distance betweren the two places was uot quite nine mites, and these troops were expected to reach the gates of Ilatime hefore the monilng: but the Asentas, whirlh (ruswed their rows, hat becn swollen by the rain, mad the state of the gronnd and the ivather ethorwise retarded them, so that the were witl on their way when they hearel of the failare of the cinterprise. Thonsh thry did not k:mw the fate of thelr countryincu, its it was possible thist some might have bean taken prisolurs, they werre at first inetined to seivan as many of the I litatians as they could find withont the watle, ninl to keep them as hostages.

The Thebans aft rwitrd alleged that they had recerved a promise, contirnald by an outh, that, on comblithon of their retiring from the I'atidn territory, the prisoners should be released; and 'l'hucydides ser mis disposed to believe this statumelit. The l'lateans ternioll that they hand plediged themselves to spare the lives of the primoters, unless they should eone to terms on the whole mattor with the The bins: but it dons nut seelu likely that, after ascernabing the state of the eace, the Thebons wonld hive bern satislifd with so whight asecurity: It is certain, however, that they retlred, rand that the llatidilis, as som as they had transported their movable property out of the conntry luto the town, pit to de:til all the prisondery amonuting to 1stl, and inclunling Surymachas, the princland anthor of the enterprise, and the unth who prosession the er rebtent inlluenoe In Theles. Ou the tirst entratere of the 'rluehans Into I'haten, a messenerer had been despateinel to Atheres with the intelligennee, ame the Athenians had hamediately litil afl the IBantians la . Itticas under arrest: inm when another meseluger brought the news of the victory gained ly the llatarans, they sent a horald to reguest that they Wonll reserve the prisoncrs for the divpemall of the Athenians. The herilil came ton liste lu prevellt the execution: aml the Atheuimos. farmere fig that I'latata woold stand in arome beed of defence, sent a borly of troops to gharrisou it. supplied it whth provisions, and renumed the

GREECE, B. C. 43?-131.

How Greece uras divided in the Wir.

GREECE, B. C. $420-127$.

Women and children and all persons unfit for service in a slege. After this event it was ap. parent that the guarrel eonld on! $y$ be decided liy arms. I'latar whs so lntimately united with Athens, that the Athenians felt the attuek whel hal leven made on it as an outrage offered to themselves, and preparcal for lmmediatc liostili. tles. Sparta, too, instantly sent notice to all her alles to get thelr contlagents ready by an ap. polnted day for the invusion of Attica, "Thirlwall, IViat, of Circice, ch. 19 ( $c, 1$ ).

Alaso in: Thucyclides, Mirtory. bh. 1-2.
B. C. 432-429.-The Peloponnesian War: How Hellas was divided. - The opposing camps.-Peloponnesian invasions of Attica.The Plague at Athens. - Death of Pericles. Surrender of Potidza to the Athenians, -" 111 Hellas wis excited by the comlng eomllict betwern her two chief citios. . . The freling of manklmil was strongly on the side of the latece. daemonians: for they professed to be the liberis. tors of Ihellis. , The gencral latignition against the Dtheninns was futense; sone wore longing to ledelirared from them, others feurful of falling under their sway.

The Latedace monian eonfederacy luchided all the I'eloponnesimns with the cseeption of the Argives and the Achincits-they were both neutril; only the Achatians of ledlene took part with the laterdiemonians at first: afterwards all the Arhacans joined them. Beyond the lurilers of the P'elopon-Anblaciots, Lemendians, nul Antctorimas ware their allies. Of these the Corinthians, Megorims, Sicyonians. Pedrenians, Eleans. Ambrneints, and lemendings provided a mave the Burotians, I'hocims. and lowrians furnished cinvalry, the other statcos only infintry. The allios of the Ithenimus crris, Zase nthus, atul citios in numy other coumtries which were their tributuries. Where was the maritime region of (:aria, the ndjacent Dori:n peoples. Itmin, the 11 dhespont, the Thamain comst, thu islands that lin to the east within the rest, liml furers and dionery. Thus much comecrmine the two confedemenes, man the charater of their rebesetive forces. Immediatily ufter the utiar at l'lation the lamerbmonimis deter-their Pelopomesian and ofler allies, hideling thementip trongs and provide all thinge neers. sary for it fureign expedition. The varions states malle their proparations as fint as they comble ant at the appointer time, with contingrents mumbering twothinds of the forces of eall, met at the lathmas," Then followed the invasion of Attim, the sieqe of Dthens, the plagute lat the ctty, the de:ath of Prericles, and tha suceeces won by the indomitable Atlacnians, at lotidinea, in the midst of their sore distress, - Thucrides.s, Jlis. tury (trans. bu dometh), bh. 2, sect. 8-60 (r l).

A1.w IN: E. Abhott, Prickes, ch. 13-15. -Sce A thens: 13. (. $431 \mathrm{nml} 430-429$.

B, C. 429-427. - The Peloponnesian War Siege, capture and destruction of Plataa, -' 1 ln the thirl spring of the war, the Pelopummesians changed their plan of atome liy the lityasion and ravage of Attion fortwo followhig smmmers, tho much injury had beell done to the Athentans, little adrantige had acerucd to themselves: the looty was far from paylng the expence of the expedition; the enemy, It. Wiss fonnd, conld not be prowoked to risk a buttle, and the great purpase of the war was little forwarded. The Peloponneshans were jet very unerjual to intempt uaval operitions of any cousequence. Of the contlncital dependencie's of Athens none was so open to their attucks, none so completely ex. cluded from naral protection, none so likely by Its danger to snperlalnce that war of the thed whieh they wislied, as Ilatera. Against that town therefore it was dermmined to direet the principatl elfort. . . . Tintur the eonnmand still of A rchlamans, the eonfederate army uecordingly entered the Platidel, unil ravage was immediately begint.

The town was small, ins may be judged from the very small force which sulticed for an elfectim! gurrison; only 400 I'latieans, with 80 Athenians. There wore lesides in the plice 110 womeli to prepare provisions, and no other person free or slise. The busjeging urmy, composed of the llower of the Peloponnesian yonth, was numerous. The first operation was to surround the town with a palisade, which nilght prevent uny ready egress; the neighorlag forest of Cithaeron supjlying maturials. Then, In a chosen spot, grounel was liroken, uecording to the modern plirise, for making appromeles. The business was to fill the town-ditelh, mnd farainst the wall to form it mound, on which a force snflicient for ussamlt might uscend.
Such was at that time the intrificial pmecess of a sicge. Thacydides appears to have been well aware that it dial no erodit to the selence of his age.

To oppose this monle of attack, the first measure of the besieged wis to raise, on that part of their wall arininst which the monam! was forming, antrong woulen fre ne. covered in front with leather and hines; :mi, within this, to build "rampart with loricks from the ucighboring homse's. The womben frime bomen the whole, allud kept it firm to a cousilerable luight: the cowering of hides protertal both work and work. mben against weapons diseharged ngianst them, copecinlly liery arrows. IBut the momal still rising as the sujuerstrneture on the wall rose, and this sulur ritracture becoming umavoinghly weaker with fuereasing height, while the momml was lishbe to no combterlimbincing defere, it wis neeessary for the luaicged to devise other ophosis. tion. A ecordingly they broke throngh the bot. tom, of their wall, where the buonnt hore aghinst it. and tromght in the earth. The Pelopomme simas, sond a ware of this, instend of ligoso carth, repitred their mound $w^{: / 1}$ chy or mal inclosed in bitskets. This reqtiaring biore libor to remove, the brejegel molermined tle momal; int thas, for al lonir time mapererivenl, preventer! It from gaining lachetht. still, however, lamine that the eilorts of their scinty numbers womle! te overhorne lyy the multitude of hames whied the bemin eners comblemploy, they had reconrse to mather device. Within thelr town-wall they built, in a semilnamr form, a second wall, cont nereted with the tirst at the extremities. These extended, on rither side, berond the momel: so thet should the enemy possess themselves of the onter wall, their work wondl be to be renewed in a far less favorable sitantion. . . . A ram, allvanced upon the Feloponusesian monmal, bat: tered the superstricture on the Platann ranpart. and shook It violently; to the great alarm of the garrison, but with Ilttle farther effect. Other machines of the same kInl were employed against different parts of the wall ltself, hut to yet less purpose.

Nomeans however were negleeted by the besiegers thit $\cdot$ ither approved practice suggested, or thedr ingenuty conld devise, to promote thelr purpose; $y$ ct, after much of the summer consimed, they found every effort of their mmerons forces so eonmpletely bafled by the vigilunec, activity, amI resolution of the little gurrison, that they bergan to despnir of succeral. ing by assanlt. ilefore however they would reenr to the tedionts methorl of blockade, they determined to try une more experlment, for which thelr numbers, nul the neighboring wookls of Cltheron, gave them more than ordinary facility. Ireparlng a very great quantity of faggots, they filled with then the townditch in the purts ad. joining to their mound, and disposed piles lin other pirts aromal the place, wherever ground or uny other circumstance gave most aurantage. On the firgots they put sulphar and piteh, mul then set all on fire. The contlagmation was such as was mever hefore known, says Thucyolides, to have bern preparest and made by the hames of men. IBut forthantely for the garrison, a heavy rain, bronsht on by a thmmlerstorm withont winl, extinguishod the fire, and reliesed them from an attack far more formidnble than any thry had before experienced. This attempt fationg, the Peloponnesians determined immenti. ately tor raluce the siege to a horkade.

To the palisale, which ulready surrommed the town. a contrisillation was added; rith andonhlediteh. one without, ant one within. I sultheient lwaly. of troops behig then appointed oo the gimard of these works, the thantians andertakint gme latf, the other was nllotted to detachmants drafted from the triops of every state of the confederiey, mul, a little nfter the midlle of september, the rest of the urmy wis dismissed for the wint:re" - W. Nitford. Ifint. of Cireece. eh. 15, aret. 1 (r. S). - When the hackide hat coularal for morn than hida , some time in the next year, whorn they aremdered mud wrene nll pint to death, the city hing lestroyed. The families of the Plateins had been sheltered at Athens before the siege began. - Thnevililes, Ifistory. li, : $2=3$, B. C. 429-427. - The Peloponnesian War: Phormio's sea-fights.-Revolt of Lesbos,Siege and capture of Mitylene.-The ferocious decree of Cleon reversed.-" It the sinne timic thit Irehidamis laid sloge to Platara, $n$ small Peloponmesian expedition, under a Spartun olleer named Cuemas, had erossed the nouth of the Ginlf of Corinth, and joined the l:nd forces of the lenculians ind Ambmelots. They were bent on conyuering thw Acarnathians anl the Messenlans of Napactus, the only contlneutal allies whom Ath. ('ns possessed in Western Gruee. . . When Curimes hat been joined by the tronps of Lemeas and the other corimithian towns, and hitl further strengthened himself by smmmonhge to his stan-of Epirus, he mevanced on titmathe, the chief city of dcernania. At the wine time a atutulron of Piloponnesian ships colleeterl at (orintit, nud set ail down the galf towards Nanpuctus. The muly Athenlan force In these waters conslsted of twenty galleys under an able offleer named Phor. mio, Who whs erulalng off the strults of Rhinm, to protect Nanpactis and blockade the Corinthian Gulf. Bothby land and by sea the operathons of the Peloponmesinns miscarried miser. nbly. Cnemus collected $n$ very eonslderible army, but as he sent his men forwanl to attate Strntns by threc sepurate ronds, he exposed thiom to defent in detail. . . . By seat the defeat of the Peloponnesimas was even inore disgrneeful the Corinthian mbmirals Machmon and Isocrates wre so seared, when they came neross the squalron of Phornio at the monith of the ginf, that, althousla they mustered tif shlps to his 2o, they took up the defunsive. Inlaling together In a elrele, thes shrink from his nttuck, and allowed themselve's to le hinstlal and worried into the Ichalan harbour of I?at rac. Iosing several shipsin their tlight. Presently reinforcementanarived: the Peloponinesian flect was raised to no less than ir versele, and three Spartan ollie'res were sent on board. to compel the Corinthian admirals, who had inc. havel so badly, tu clo their lest in futire. The whole sipualron then set out to hunt down Phormin. Thery found him with his 20 shipse coasting along the detolian shore towarils Nianpactus, anil at once set out in pursuit. The lonir chase se $p$, arated the larger Hect lito scuttered kmots, nud gave the fighting a diamonnected and irrezular charicter. White the rater ships of Phormio's spualron were compellod to rim on shore a few miles outside Nampactus, the 11 harling vessels rutehed the larhour in safete. Finding that he wis now only pursinel by atome a soore of the chemy - the rest havines staved hehind to take pussession of the strambel Ithenian wewelsLhormion came bohlly ant of purt aqain. 1 lis 11 Vessels tex, 6, und sumk she of their pursucrs; and then, pushing on wostward, netutally sueceeded in rovapturing mont of the 9 ships which had been lost in the morning. This engragement. though it hatl tho great rovilts, wats considered the most daring feat performed by the Athentan nity thring the while war. .. The winter passed umevelut fully, and the war scemed ns far as ever from show int anys sisns of producing a detinite result. But althometh the spartan invasion uf 438 B . C. hand tho more eftect than those of the precesling ye:rs, yet in the late summer there wemred an event so frinteht with evil omens for Athens, as 10 threation the whole fab. ric of her empire. For the first time since the commencoment of hostilitice, atI inportant subject state manlo nu endeanour to free itself by the ath of the Spartan thert. levithes was one of the two Angoan islands which still rematined free from tribute, and posicesied n considerable warhavy. Imong its fle towns Mitylene was the chicf, and far excerdred the others in weath and resolirces, It was governal by on ollgarehy. who hud long becn riarning to revolt, and had made caraful proparation ly accumalating warlikestores and inlisting foreign mercenaries. The whole island exrept Dethymna, where a democracy rulded, rose in arms, ind determinct to send for aid to sparta. The Ithonians at once despatched against Mitylence a sputidron of 41 ships under chelppiches, which lated just bern cqulpped for a ernise in Peloponnesian waters. This fore had an colyagement with the ladiation flect, mul drove it back into the harbour of Mitylene. To gain time for assistance from heross the Aegenn to arrive, the Lesblans now pretended to be anxions to surrender, and engaged Clerppldes in a long and frultess aegotiation, whille they were repeatiag thelr demands at Sparta. But at last the Athenlun grew susplelous, estabIlshed a elise blockale of Miylene hy sea, ant landed n samall foree of hoplites to hold a fortitied eamp on shore.

Believing tie revolt of the Lesblares to be the carnest of a general rising of al, the vassals of Athens, the Peloponnesians determined to make a vigorons effort in thelr favonr. The land eontlurents of the various states were summoned to the Isthmus - though the harvest was now rlpe, and the allies wert loath to leave thelr reaping - whll i. wns also determined to haul over the Corinthan Isthmas the theet which hul fonght against Phormlo, nud then to despatch it to relieve Mitylene.

The Athenhas were furions at the lelea that thelr vassals were now ahout to testirrel up to revolt, and strained every nerve to elifend themselves. While the blockaile of Mitylene was kept up, and 100 galleys eruised in the Aegean to intereept any succours sent to Lesbos, another squandron of 100 ships suiled ronad Pelopomestis and harricel the constland with a systemutie fermelty that surmased any of their previons doings. To emplete the crews of the 250 ships now afloat and in active scrsice proved so great a droin on the military force of Athens, that not orly the Thetes but citizens of the higher elasses were drafted on sliphoard. Serertheless the effect which they designed by this display uf power was fully probuced. To defend their own haryents thie confederates who hate met at the Isthmus went homewards, while the dismay at the strenarth of the Athenian theet wals so grect that ther phim of seming naral aid to Lesbos was put off for the present. . . All through the -inter of 4N-i 13. C. the lhachale of Mitylene was kept up, thuy hts mantemace proveln great drain on the resoureces of Dtherns. On the land side a comsiderable force of hoplites under Pielaes strongthemed the troops alrealy on the spot, amb malle it possible to wall the city in with lime of cireumallation. . . Whea the spiring of $4{ }^{2}$ B. C. arrived, the Spartans determined to make a serions ntempt to senel aill to Lesbos; but the fear of imperilling all their a:aval resonrees in u single experition krept them from desmatchim,: a tle of sublicient sizi. Oniy 42 croiters, undar un admiral named Alcida., were vilt forth from Corintle. This squadrom mannered to cross the Acgean without mereting the Dthenians, by sterriner a camtions and cirentitoms coure among the islimis. But so much time was lone on the way, that oa nrriving off Embab.
 surrembered just seven days before. . . . Leemrnlug the fall of Mitylenc, lic male off somithwe rol. and after iaterecting many merchant vessels off the lonian comst and britally slaying their crews. rituracal to corintla without having st rack a slaghe bow for the eanse of Sparta. Pacles som redued Antiosa, Eresiss, mul Pyriha, tie three Leshiaa fowne which hat joiaed In the rewolt of Mityl $c$, uml wis then ahle to sail home, taking with him the Laconial general Salaethus, who had leen canght in hiding at Mityleae, toFether with the ither lealers of the rewolt. When the prisoners urrived at Athens Salacthus was at onfe jiat to tleath without at tral. Bnt the fate of the Leshians was the suhject of un lmportant and characteristie debate lo the Ecele-
sla. Led by the demagogue Cleon, the Athenisns at first passed the monstrous resolntlou that tha Whole of the Mitylenaeans, not merely the prisusers at Athens, but every adult male ln the elty, should be pat to death, and thelr wives and faml. lles sold as slaves. It la some explanatlon but no exeuse for this horrible deeree that Lesbos had been an especlally favonred ally, and that lits revolt had for a moment put A. hens ln deadly fear of a general rislng of Ionia aad Afolis. Cleon the leather-seller, the author of this Infamous de. eree, was one of the statesmen of a eoarse and ln . ferior stamp, whose rlse had been rendered possilhle by the democratle changes which Pericles hnd loiroduced luto the state. . On the eve of the dirst day of dehate the motion of Cleon had been passed, nud a galley sent off to Puches at Nitylene, hldling lim slay all the Lesbinas: but on the next morning decree of Cleon was rescluted by a small me ; ity, and a second gallcy sent off to stay Paehes from the massacre.

By extruordiaary excrtions the bearers of the repricere eontrived to reach Leshos only a few honrs after I'hehcs had reeelved the tirst despateh, nad hefore he had time to put It lnto execution. Thus the majority of the Miltylenueans were saved; but all their leaders and prominent men, not less than $1,010 \mathrm{ln}$ number, were put to death.

The land of the Leshiuns was divided into 3,000 lots, of which a tenth was consecrated to the ginls, while the rest were grunted ont to Atheninu cleruchs, who becume the liudlorls of the old owners."-C. W. C. Oman. Mist. af Gireece, ch. 28.
Aho is: Thueydides, Ilistory, bh. s. sect. 8002, the bi, 3, sect. 1-iN.-E. Curtlus, Mist, of (irrece, bk. 4, ch. 2l (r. 3).
B. C. 425.-The Peloponnesian War: Spartan catast ropheat Sphacteria.-Peace pleaded for and refused by Athens. - In the sevemth yeur of the Peleppoavesian War (13. (. 425), the cuter. prisiag Athenian general, Bemost henes, ohtained permission to setze and fortify a lartor on the west const of Messeni:1, with a view to harassing the adjacent spartan turitory and stirring ny revolt mmoge the subjugated Mesomians. The position lie seered was the promontory of Prlus, Werlorking the basin now called the Bay of Sasurino, which latter was protected from the sca hy the small is lame of sphacteria, stretching across its front. The scizure of I'ylus createil alarm in starta at oneer and vigorous measures were tahen to (xpm the intrulers. The small forec of Dealusthency wis assilided, fromt and rear, hy n strong latal :rmy and a proverful I'elopon. assian flect: but he had fortited himsolf with skill und stoutly lidel hls gromnd, waiting for (relp from Athens. Weantume his ussiliants hand landel 400 men on the island of sphacterla, innd these were mostly looplites, or heary arment soldiers, froan the lowt eitizenship of Spirt:a. In this situation un Athonian flect made its smdult and unespecterl uppearance, elefented the Pdo. poanesiua the completely, took possession of $\mathrm{tl}_{\mathrm{it}}$. hurlor and surrounded ike spartans on sphar" t rim with a ring from which there wus no escapn. To ohtain the rclease of these citlzens the spartans were tednced to plead for peace on almont any terms, and Athens had her oppormulty to cud the war at that momeut with great ad vintag" to herself. Bat Cleon, the demngogue, Jur sumbed the peophe to refuse, seace. The h. leaguered hoplte's on sphactiria were mand. prisoners by forec, and littic came of it in tha.
end. -Thucydides, Mist., bk. 4, wet. 2-88. - Pyius remained in the possession of the Atilenians until B. C. 408, when it was retaken by the Spartans. --G. Grote, Mist. of Greece, pt. 2, ch. 52.

Also in: E. Curtius, Kitt. of Grecee, ble. 4, ch. 2 (b. 3).
B. C. 424-421, -The Peloponneaian War: Brasidas In ChaIcidice.-Athenian defeat at Delium-A jear's Truce.-Renewed hostilities. - Death of Brasidas and CIeon at Amphip-olis.-The Peace of Nikias (Niclas), -"Abont the beg'nnlng of 424 B. C. Brasidas dild for Sparta what Demosthenes had done for the Athenians. Just as Demosthenes had unier. stood that the severest hiow which he could inflict ou Sparta was to occupy the coasts of Laconin, so Brasidas understoon that the noost effective method of assaiiing tire Athenians was to arouse the ailies to revolution, aud by ail means to ald the uprising. But since, froin lack of a sufticient naval foree, he couid not work on the islamis, he tsolved to carry the war to the allied cities of the Athenians situated on the coast of Macedonia; especlaliy since Perdikias, king of Macedonia, the inhabltants of Clabikitike, and some other diatriets suhjeet to the Athenians, hai songlit the assistance of Spurta, and hai asked Brasidas to lead the undertaking. Spartu permitted his departure, but so little did she appear disposed to assist hinn, that ahe granted him only 700 Heiots. In adidition to these, however, he succeede., through the money scont from Chalkidike, in cnroliug about 1,000 men from the $\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{c}}$ loponnesus. With thls smail force of $1,70 \mathrm{t}$ hopites, Brasidas resolved to undertake this adrenturous and important expedition. Ile started in the spriug of 424 , andi reached Macedonia through eastern Ilellas and Thessily. IIe effected the march with grent daring aui wishom, and on his way ine aiso saved Megara, whleh was in extreme dianger fronn the Atheuians. Iheaching Macedonia and nuiting forcea with Perdikkas, Brasidas detached from the Athenians many cities, promising them llberty from the tyranuy they suffered. and their associating in the Peloponnesiun ailiahce on equai terms. He made gooni these promises by great military experience and perfectly honest dealings. In December he becnine master of Amphipolis, permps the most important of all the foreign possessious of Athens. The historian T'hucydides, to whom was intrusted the defense of that important town, was at Thasos when Brasidas aurprised it. He hastened to the assistance of the threatened city, but din nut arrive in time to prevent its capture. Dr. Thirlwaii safs it does not appear that h:iman prudence and activity conid have accomplished anythlug inore under the saume circumstances yet his unavoidahie failure proved the oceasion of a sentence under which he spent twenty years of his life in exile, where he composed his history. donia The revolution of the aliied eities in Macethe same thme sustained other misfortunes. Following the arlvice of Kleon, instead of drect Foltheir main efforts to the endiangered Chaikldike, Breotia lidedif, about the middie of 424 , to recover Brotia Itseif, in conjunetion as usual with some malcoutents in the Bocotian towns, who desired to hronk down ant demoeratize the oiigarchical governments. The undertaking, however, was rut mereiy unsuccessfui, but attencied with a ruinous defeat. A:orce of 7,000 hopiltes [among them, Socrstes, the philosopher-sec Diwrow]
several hundred horsemen, and 25,000 lightarmed, under command of Hippokrates, took possession of Deilum, a sjot strongiy sltuated, overhanging the sea, alout five milies from Tanagra, and very near the Attic confines. But While the Athenians were stiil oceupied In raising their fortifleations, they were suddeniy startied by the sound of the Bootian pean, and found thenseives attacked hy s: army of $\%$, joo hoplites, 1,000 horse, nndi 500 peitasts. The Athenlans sufferd a completc defeat, and were driven away with great ioss. Such was away with great ioss. Such was the clange of aflairs whleh took place in 424 B . C. During of - "eceding year they could have ended the war in a manner most advantageous to them. They dld not choose to do so, and were now constantly defeated. Wors still, the seeds of revoit apread whong the allied ${ }^{-1}$ ties. The best citizens, among Whon Nikias was a Ieader, finaliy persuaded the pcople that it wis necessary to come to termus of peace, while affairs were yet undecided. For, aithough the Athonians had suffered the terrific defert near i)clium, and had lost Amphipoiis nud other cities of Jacedonla, they were still masters of Pyios, of Kythera, of Methone, of Nisaa, and of the Spartans eaptured in Sphakteria; so that there was now au equality of advantages and of losscs. Bosides, the Lacedrmonlans were ever ready to lay aside the sword iu order to regain their men. Again, the oligarchy in Sparta envied Brasidas, and did uot look with pleasure on his splendid nchicvements. Lately they bad refuscd to send him any assistance whatever. The opportunity, therefore, was advantageous for the conciusion of peace.

- Sulch were the arguments by which Niklas and his party finaliy gaiued the ascemiency over Kleon, and in the heginning of 42313 . C. persualed the Athenians to enter into an armistice of one gear, within which they hoped to be ahle to put an end to the de tructive war lig a lasting peace. Unfortunateiy, the armistiee couid not be carried out in Chalkidike. The cities there continued In their rebellion against the Athenians. Brasidas could not be prevailed upou to ieave them unprotected iu the struggle which they had undertaken tected iu the struggle which they had undertaken, reiying on his pronises of assistance. The war. iike party at Athens, taking alvantage of this, succeetied in frustrating any definite conditlons of peace. On the other haud, the Lacedsmo. of peace. On the other hand, the Lacedæmo. nians, secing that the war wascontinued, sent an ample force to lirasidas. This army did not succeed in reaching him, because the king of Macedonia, Perdikkas, had in the meantlme beeome augercd with Brasilas, andi persuaded the Thessalians to oppose the Lacedamoniang in their passage. The year of the armistice passed, and Kleon renewed his expostulations against the ineompetency of the generais who had the controi of affairs in Chaikidike. ... The Athenians deelided to forwari a new force, and intrusted lts command to Kleon. Ife therefore, in August, 422 B . C., started from the Peireus, with 1,200 hopiites, 300 horseunen, a considerahle number of ailies, and thirty triremes. Reaching Chaikldike, he engaged in hattle agalnat Brasidas In Amphipolis, suffered a disgraceful defeat, and was kilied while flecing. Brashlus also ended his short but glorious career in this hattic, dying the death of a hero. The way in which his memory was honored was the best evidence of the deep was honored was the best evidence of the deep impression that he had made on the Hellenic

GREECE, B. C. 42t-421. Prace of Nicias. GiREECE, B. C. $421-418$.

werid. All the allies attended hls funeral $\ln$ arms, and iuterred him at the public expense, in front of the market-place of Amphipolis.
Thus disappeared the two foremost champlons of the war - its good splrit, Brasklas, and its evll, Kleon. The purty of Nikius tinally prevalled at Athens, nud that geueral soon after nrranged a conference wlilt King I'leistoanux of Sparta, who was also anxlons for pence. Itiscussions eoutinued during the whole autunnami winter after the battle of Anıphlpolis, willout any actual hostilltles on sllucr side. Finuliy, at the le. glnaing of the suring of 421 IB . C., $n$ pence of fifty gears wasagred upon. The prindpal conditions of this pence, known in history as the 'peace of Niklas,' were as follows: 1. The Laeediemonlans and their allies were to restore Amphlpolis and all the prisoners to the Athenians. They were further to relinquish to the Athenians Argilus, Stugeirus, Acanthus, Skulns, Olynthus, and Spartolus. But, with the excep. tlon of Amphijolis, these cities were to remain ladependent, paying to the Athenims only the asual trihutc of the time of Aristelides. 2. The Athenlans should restore to the Luecdrmonians Kuryphnsium, Kytheru, Nethone, Peleum, and Atalante, whil all the eaptives la their lands from sparta or her allies. 3. Ikespecting skione, Torone, sermylns, or any other town lin the possession of Athens, the Athenians shonhl have the right to adopt such measures as they pleased. 4. The Laeedientuians and their allies should restore I'anuktum to the Atheniuns. When these terms were submitted at Sparta to the consideration of the allied cities, the najority becepted them. The Beotlans, Megarians, nut Corin. thians, however, smmmarily refused their consent. The Peloponnesian war was uow con. shlered to le ut an ead, preeisely ten yeurs from lts heginalug. Both the comhatants came ont from it terrihly matned. Sparta not only alid not attalu her object - the emaucipation of the Helleaic eities from the ty ranny of the Athenlans - but eren otfleially recognlzed this tyranny, ly consenting that the Athenlans shomld adopt such mcasures as they choose to ward the allied citles. Besides, Sparta obtained an ill repute throughont Hellas, because sle hul ahnndoned the Greeks in Chaikidike, who had at her Instigation revolted, nad because she had also sacrifieed the Interests of her prinelpal allies. . . . Athens, on the other haad, preserved lntact ber supremacy, for whichs she untertook the struggle. This, however, was gained at the cost of Attica ravaged, a multitude of cirizens slaln, the exhanstion of the treasury, and the inerease of the eommon hatred. "-T. T. Timayenis, Ilist. of Girecee, $1 t$. b, ch. 4 (r. 1 ).

Alag w: C. Thlrlwall, Hiat. of Greece, ch. 23 (b. 3).
B. C. 421-418.-The Peloponnesian War: Ner7 comhinations. - The Argive League against Sparta.-Conflicting alliances of Athenswith both. - Rising influence of Alcihiades. - War in Argos, Spartan victory at Mantinea. - Revolution in Argos. -"All the Spartan allies in Propoonnesis and the Bueotiuns refused to juin in this treaty [of Nieins]. The latter concluded with the Athenians only a truee of ten days . . . , probably on condition, that, if no notice was girin to the contrary, it was to be constantly renewal after the lapse of tun days. With Corinth there existed no truce at all. Some of the terms of the peace were not complied with, thongh this was the case mucli less on the pirt of Atheas than on that of siparta.

The Spurtuns, from the tirst, wero ghilty of lafannes: deception, mad this lninedintely gave rise to hitter feelings. But hefore anatters had eome to thls, and when the Athenians were stiil ln the full helief that the Spurtuns were honest, ail Grcece was sturtled by a treaty of alliance lou enemies. Thas treaty was comelnded very sonn after the perce, ... The consercuacme was, that Epartasuldiculy fonud herself deserted bs all her allie's; the Corinthians and Benotians renouneed her, leemuse they fumbl themselves glven over to the Atheninis, umi the Bewotluns jerhipgs thonght that the spartans, if they conill hat reduec the Eleuns to the ronaition of Helorts, would rendily allow Ibeot in to lee shlolned by the At hemians. Thas Argos fonnd the memes of mgain followlng a policy whichever sine the the of Cleomenes it land mot ventured to think of and became the cent re of an alliance with Mun. tinea, 'which hatl always bern opposed to the Lacedaenonims, untisine other 'rudian towns, Aehala, Flis, umi whe places of the Aete. The Areadiaus land dissulven their union, the three people of the eountry huel separated themselves, though somethues they united again; and thus lt hirplened that only some of their towns were nllied with Argos. Corinth at thest would listen to neither party, and elose to remain neutrai; - for althongh for the moment it was highly ex. asperated against Nomata, yet it hal at all times cntertalned amortal hiatred of Argos, and its own interests drew it townrils sparta.' But when, owing to Sparta's disha:cesty, the affuirs on the coasts of Thrine lnecime more amd more compil. cated, when the towns refused to submit to Ath. ens, and when it become evident that this wus the consequence of the instigations of sparta, then the relation sabsisting between the two stutes heeame worme alwio Greece, and varions negotiations amb (arvillings ensuedi. . . . After mueli delis, the Athenians and spurtans were alrealy on the point of taking up urms agains: each ofler; lut then they eame to the singular agreement (0lymp. 89, 4), that the Athenians should retain josamssion of Pylos, lat kerep in it ouly Athenian troops, and not nllow the Helots and Dessenians to remain there. After this the loosened lmbis between the Spartins, Corinthians, $_{\text {re }}$ und Iberothans, were drawn more closely. The Bueotiuns were at length prevaled upon to surrender Panaton to the Spartans, who now restored it to the Athonlans. This was in accordance with the malombt menting of the peace; but the Beroti.us hand tirst destroyed the pheed and the spartins lelivered it to the Athenimas only a heap) of ruins. The Athenians justly complained, that this was not an honest restora tion, and that the phace unght to lave leen given back to them with its fortifications minjured. The Spartans do not appear to have had honest intentions in any wuy.

While thus the alli. ance between Athens and Sparta, In the eyes of the world, still existed, It had In reaiity cerased and become an impossihility. Another alliatere, however, wus formed letwen Alhens and Argos (Olymp. 80, 4) through the influcnce of Alcihiacies, who stend ha the rehtion of an hereditary proxemus to Argos. A more natural nlliasee than this couid not be conceiver, und hy lt the Atheainns galned the Mantlueans, Elenns, ani other Peloponneslans over to thelr slde. Alelblades now exerelsed a dectslre influence apon the fate of lils country. . . . We generally conceive Alciblales as a mau whose leunty was his ornament, and to whom the fullew of ilfe were the analn thing, nol we forget that part of bis charactor which history reveals to us.

Thucrilldes, who cannot be snspected of laving bern particularty partlal to Aleibimles, n. iot ex. pressly recognlses the fact, that the fate of Athcous depenledi upou him, nonl that, if he had not separated his own fate from that of hls native elty, at first from neressity, but afterwards of his own necord, the conrse of the Pehpronnesian war, through hls personal influener alone, wonht have taken qui: a different ilreeton, und that be alone wo.di] & ve derided It in faviour of Ath. ens. Thas is, in tuet, the genural ophuion of all antlpuity, ani thare is no unctent writer of ins. portane who does not view und estlmate him in this light. I is only the momeras that eutertaln a derugatory opinini of hhm, and speak of him as on cervitrie fool, who ought not to be namel minure the great statesmen of antlipulty.
tribiados ls quite a peculiar character; audi know mo one in the whole range of nueicut history whomenght be compared with hlm, thongh lhave sometimes thonght of Cressar. . . . Alej. biales was opposed to the peace of Xicias fron cutirely personal, perlajes even mean, motlves.

It was on his adrice that Athens conchudion the alliance with Argos aud Ells. Athens mow had two allimmes wbieh were equnlly himblug, aud yet altogether opposed to euch other: the one wlth Sjarta, and an ecpually stringent one with Argos, the ehemy of Sparta. This trenty with Argos, the Peloponnesians, etc., was extremely formhlable to the Spartans; amd they acoorlingly, for vuce, dotermined to ant pulckly, before it shonhl the tou late. The nilimuee with Argos, howerer, did not eonfer much real strengeth uphe Athens, for the Argives were lazy, and Elis dial not respect them, whence the Sjartans hand time again to unite themselvers more chasely with Corintb, Buedia, ani Megara. When, the refore, the war leetween the Spartans and Irgives broke ont, and the former resolately took the dield. Aleibinthes persuaded the Athenians to send suceonr to the Argives, and thas the peace with Sparta was violated in an unpe:incipheri manner. But still no blow was strack letween Ar. gos and Sparta. . King Agis had set out with a Spartan arms, but concludedia troce with the Argives (Olynip, 90, 2); this, however, was takin vary ill at Sparta, and the Argive commanders who late concluded it ware ecosured by the people and magistrntes of Argos. Soon afterwaris the war broke out ngaln, aud, when the A thenian auxiliaries "ppeared, dieciuled nets of hostility combencedi. The ocrasion was an attempt of the Mantmenas to sumbue Tegeat the sabl con dition of Greece bec:ame more partieuiarly maul fest in Arcadia, by the divisions whleh tore one and the samu nation to pieces. The conntry wis distracted by several parties: lad A readin beeu united, it would lave been invalnerable. A batthe was fought (0)lymp. 90, 3) in the neighbourhursl of Mantimen, between the Argives, their Athemian allices, the Mantlneans, ind part of the Arfarlinis ( tim Eleans, annoyed at the conduet the one haud, had abandoued their cause'), on the one haud, and the Spartans and ifew allies on the otber. The Spartans gained a most doelslve vletory; and, although they dild not follow it up, yet the consequence was, that Argos eoncluded peace, the Argive alinnce broko up, and at Argis a revolution took place, in wbleh an ollgarchlcal government was Instituted, and by Whleh Aroms was dirawn into the interest of Spartar ( Olymp. 90, 4). This constlitutlon, however, dill hot iast, and very somn gave way to a demorrutle form of government. Argos, even at thls time, and stlli more at a fater perion, is a sad example of the most degencrate and dicplorable democracy, or, more properiy speaklng, an-arthy."-is. G. Niebuhr, Lects. on Ancient Mist., lect. 49 (v. 2).

Alsu ix: Plutarch, Alcibiades.-W. Mitford. Hint. uf Urtice, ch. 17 (v. 3).
B. C. 416 . - Siege and conquest of Meios by the Athenians, Massaere of the inhabi-tants.-"lt was in the beglming of summer 416 13. C. that the Atheniams undertook the sicge and ennguest of the Dorian Ishand of Mêlos, one of the ' 'yclales, and the only wne, except Thera, whleh was mat alromly induded in their emplre. Mĉ̀os and Thira were both ancient eolonies of Lacedamon, with whom they had strong sym. pathles of liucage. They had never joined the confederacy of iheios, nor been in any way connecterl with Athens; but, at the same tlme, neither had they ever taken part ha the recent War against hor, hor given lier any sround of complaint, until she lnuked and nttacked them iu the sixth your of the receut war. She now renewed hor attempt, sendhg against the ishand a conslle rable furce under Kleonnedes and Tlaias." -G. Grote. Hixe of Greice, M. 2, ch. SB.-‥They desired immellate submission on the part of Melos, any attempt at resistance being regariled as an inruni uron the umnipotence of Athens by sea. For this reason they were wroth at the obstiante courage of the ishanders, who broke off all further negotintions, nud thus made lt neces. sary for the Athenians to commence a eostly circomballation of the city. The Mellans eren sirceeded on two sucersive oceasions in breaking through part of the wall bnilt romm them by the coldmy, atal obtaining fresh supplies; hat no reli-f arrivet; nod they had to undergo sufferings which made the *Melian famine' n proverbial phrame to express the height of misery: nud bofore the winter ented the Islaut was foreed to surrcuder uncombitionally. ... There was no question of quarter. All the lslanders capable of braring nrms who hal fallen into the lands of the Itbembans were sentenceel to death, nod all the women and ehildren to slavery."-E. Curtius, List. af Greece, bi. 4, ch. 4 (e. 3).

Also 19: Thueydides, IIistory, bi. 5, sect. 84116.
B. C. $415 .-$ The mutilation of the Hermes at Athens. Nee Atuens: B. C. 415.
B. C. 415-4i3. - The Peioponnesian War : Disastrous Athenian expedition against Syracuse.-Aleibiades a fugitive in Sparta -Syracuse.-Aleibiades a fugitive in Sparta. His enmity to Athens. See Syraecse: B. C. 415-413.
B. C. 413.-The Peloponnesian War: Effects and eonsequences of the Sicilian expedi-tion.-Prnettration of Athens. - Strengtheniag of Sparta. - Negotiations with the Persians Against Athens,- Peloponnesian invasion of Attica.-The Decelian War.-"The Sicilinn expeditiou ended iu a series of events which, to this day, It is Imposaible to recall without $n$ feellng of horror. Slace the lersiar ware it had never come to pans, that on the one side ail had been so compietely lost, while on the other all was won.

When the A thenians recovered from the first stupefaction of grief, they called to mind the canses of the whole calamity, and hereupon in passionate fury turned round upon ail who had aivised the expedition, or who had encouraged vain hopes of vlctory, as orators. prophets, or soothsayers. Finally, the generai excitement passed lnto the phase of despuir and terror, conjuring up dangers even greater and more imminent than exlsted In reailty. The citizens every day expected to see the Slelilan fleet with the Peloponcestans appear off the harbor, to take posscssion of the defenceless city; and they ielieved that the fast days of Athens had arrived.

Athens had risked all her mili. tary and naval resources for the purpose of overconing Syracuse. More than 200 ships of state, with their entire equlpment, hud been lost; and If we reckon up the numbers despatched on suecesslve occasions to Sieily, the sum total, incinsive of the auxiliary troops, may be caleniated at about $6 l_{2},(60)$ men. A squadron still lay in the waters of Dimpactus; but even this was ln danger and exposed to attack from the Corinthians, who had equlpued fresin forces. The docks and naval arsenals were enyty, and the treasury likewise. In the hopes of chormous booty and an abmanimee of new revenues, no expense had been suarenl; and the resourecs of the city were entircly exhansted. . . . I3ut, far ineavier than the materiallosses in money, ships, and men, was the moral how which had been received by Athens, aud which was more dangerous in lier case than in that of any other state, becanse her whole power was basid on the fear lnspired in the subjuet siates, so joug as they siow the flects of Athens ubsinitely suprente at sen. The han of this fear hati nuw been removerd: disturbanees arome in thome island-states which were most nee. ('smary to dilens, mid whose existence seemed to be most indinsulnhly biended with that of Attiea, oligarchical partios raised their head, in order to overthrow the oflous dominion of Itheus. Sparta, on the oflur hand, hal in the course of a few months, withome acmeling ont an army or in-- Wrringrany langer or losees, securad to herself the grablent allyantages, sueh as she comid not have chisalum from the must suceessfui e npaiga. Gylippos had arain jrowed the value of a single Spartan man: inashuth as in the honr of the greatest danger his premmal conduct had altered the course of the mont important and monarotons transaction of the entire wior. lle was, in : word, the more furmate sucecessur of Brasialis. The ant. thority of Eparta in the Pedoponnesus, which the peace of Xicias had weakenod, was now restored: with the exception of Areposind Elis. ali her aliies were on anticable torms with her: the hrathren of her race beyond the sea, who hind hitherto held aluef, inui, by the attack mane ly the dthenian invasion, hecin drawn into the war, and had now become the most zealous and ardent allies of the Peloponnesians. $\qquad$ Moreuver, the Athe. nians had driven the most capable of all living stutesmen and commanders into the enemy's ramp. No man was better adapted than Nhef. biadice fur rususiug the siowly moving Lacedenoaisns to energetic actlon; and lt was he who mpplied them with the best advlce, and with the munt aceurate informatlon as to Athenlan politics and localities. Lastly, the Gpartans were at the present time under a warike king, the enterprising and amhltious Agls, the son of Archlinmis.

Nothing was now required, except pecu. niary means. And even these now unexpeetedly offered themselves to the Spartans, In consequeace of the events whieh had in the meantime occurred ln the Persian empire.

Everywhere [In that empire] seditlon rained its head, particuinrly in Asin Minor. Pls thnes, the son of Ilystaspes, who had on eeve al previvis occaslons interfered in Greek affairs, rose in revolt. IIe was supported by Greek soldiers, under the command of an Atirenlan of the name of Lycon. The treachery of the latter eashied Darius to overthrow lissutines, whose na, Anorges, maintalned himseif by Athenian ald In Caria. After the fall of Pissuthines, Tissaphernes E ; Pharnabuzus appear ln Asla Minor as the first dignitarles of the Great King. Tissapiernes succeeded Plssuthnes as satrapin the maritlme provinces. lle was furious at tice nselstance offered by Athens to the party of hils adversiry; moreover, the Great King (possihiy in consequence of the Sicllian war and the destruction of the Attle flect) demanded that the trihutes long withheld by the coast-towns, whlch were still regarded as subject to the Pershan empire, should now be levied. Tissaphernes was obliged to pay the sums accordiug to the rate at which they were entered in the imperiai budget of Persia; and thus, in orler to rel iburse hinself, found himself forced to pursue a war policy. Everything now depended for the satrup upon obtaiuing assistance from a Greck quarter. $11 e$ found opportunitics for thls purpose in Ionla Itself. in nif the niore important cities of which a Persian party existed. . . The most inmortant and only lndependent power ln Ionla was Chios. Here the aristocratic fanilies had with great sagacity contrived to retala the government. . It was their geverminent whleh now became the focus of the conspiraey against Athens, ln the first instance establishing a conneetion on the opposite shore with Erythrec. Herumon Tissaphernes openeri negotiations with both eities, and in conjunction with them des. patchad an embassy to Peloporuesus charged with perstading the Spartans to jhace thembedves at the had of the Ionian movement, the sitrop at the same time promising to supply pay and provisions to the Pefoponnesian forces. The situation of Pharnabaaus was the same as that of Tissaphernes. Pharnabazus was the satrap of the northern province. . . . Pharnabazus andeavored to outbid Tissaphernes in his pronises: and two powerfui satmiss became rlval suitors for the finor of Sparta, to whom they offered money and their allinnce. . . . While thus the most dangerous eombinations were on all sides forming against Athens, the war had already broken out in Greece. This time Atheus inati been the first to commence direct hostilities.
A Peloponnesian army under $\mathbf{A}$ gis invaded ittica, with the advent of the spring of B. C. 413 (0). xci. 3); at which date it was already to be anticipated how the Sicillan war would end. For twelve years Attica latd been spared hostile invashone. and the restiges of furmer wans hat been cflaced. The present devastatlons were therefore donbly rininous; while a; the same time

Intriguea of Alcibiade.

It was now lmpossible to take vengeance upon the Peloponneslans by means of naval expecll. tlons. And the wornt polat In the case was that they were now fully resolved, lastead of recurriuy tothelr former method of earrylng on the war aul undertaklng annual campalgns, to oceupy permanently a fortlifed position on Attle soll." The lnvalers selzed a strong positlon at Decelea, only fourtern milles northward from Athens, on a rocky peak of Mount Parmes, and fortlided theli. melves so strongly that the Athenlans ventured on no attempt to dlalonge them. From thls secure statlon they monged the surromnding country at pleasure. "Thils suecess was of such Importance that even ln ancleut tines It gave the uame of the Inccelean War to the entlre list division of the leloponneslan War. The oceupation of Ibecelen forms the eonneeting llak letweerr the Slellian War nnd the Attlco-Heloponneslan, wheh now broke ont afresh. . . lis Immorilate objeet . . It falleal to effect; Inasmm It as the Athenlans did not allow it to prezent tbelr despatching a fresh armament to Siclly. But wbeu, half a year later, all whe lost, the Athenians felt more heavily than ever the burden inposed upon theni by the oceupatlon of Decelea. The city was cut off from lis most linportant source of supplles, shice the enemy hate] in hls jower the roads commmunicating with Enbara. One-thirl of Attlea no longer helonged to the ditionlans, and even la the lamediate viclaity of the elty communleation wes unsafe; large numbers of the country-people, deprlved of labor nad means of silislstence cleprlved of labor and means of sulisistence, thronged the clty; the eltlzens were forecol nlght with day to perform the onerons duty of keeping Watch."-E. Curtlus, Ilist. of Greece, bk. 4, ch.
A1su IN: G. Grote, Hist, of Grccee, ch. 61 (r. \%). B. C. 413-412. - The Peloponnesian War: Revolt of Chios, Miletus, Lesbos, and Rhodes from Athens. - Revolution at from Athens. - Revolution at Samos. - In trigues of Alcibiades for a revolution at Athens suader the Spartans to bulld a flect, and send lt over to Asla to assist the Ionluns in revolting. Ile hhnself crossed at once to Chios with a few. ships, In order to begln the revolt. The gevernment of Clilog was in the hands of the nobles: but they haul hitherto served Athens so well that! the Athendans liad not altered the goverument to a demmeracy. Now, however, they revolted (B, C. $+1:$ Itids was a heavy blow to Athens, for chis was tue most powerfnl of the Ionimin States, dad others would he sure to follow itexample. Miletus and Lesbos revolted in l3. C . 412. The nobles of Simos prepareal to revolt. but the people were ln favour of Athens, ani rose against the nobles, killing 2 on of them, atal banishing 400 more. Athens now mate sumbi its free and eqnal ally, instemel of its shbject. and simus becime the hemb-quarters of the Athenlan flect amp army.... The Athenians had now mannorl i fresh nawy. They tlefatel the Peloponucai:an and l'ersian theets together at Miketus, aul were only kept from leacging Mhetns by the arrical of a tlect from Syracuse. TThis rinforcement of the coenet from them powerkess to preverat a revolt in IRhorles, earried ont by the alivarehs thoush opposed ly the prophe I Alkibuctes had made enemin's amony the Spartams, and when he had been some time in Asia Ilinor au order came over from Sparta to put lilm to fleath. Ile escaped wo Tle suphernes, and now male up his nilmi to win buck the favour of Athens by breaklng irp the allanee between Tlasapherncs and the Spartuns. IIe contrlved to mske a quarrel letween them rbout the rate of paj; and persumel Thsapher let the Sparta's and Athenlans weur one another out, whlthit glving lulp to elther. Tlisalphernes therefore kept the Spurtans ldle for months, always pretendlug that he was on the polnt of hringling up lils fleet to leelp them. Alklblates now selit a lylng message to the generals of the Athenlanarmy at Samos that he conlif get Athens the help of Tissaphernes, If the Athenlans would allow him to return from hls exlle: but he ald that he could never return whlle there was a demorraey; so that If they wishell for the help of Persla they must change the government to an ollgareliy (B. (: 41?). In the army at Samos there were many rlch men wllling to sue an oliwith Aparta. ... Therefore, thongh the great tuass of the army at Samos was democratleal, a tuass of the army at samos was democratleal, a certaln number of powerfal men ngreed to the plun of Alkiblules fur clauglig the government. One of the conspirators, Damed Pismader, was sent to Athens to lastruct the elubs of nobles and rich men to work secerctly for this object. In these clubs the overthrow of the demosiney was planned. CItlarna known to be zculous for the constltution were sereretly murdered. Terror fell over the eity, for no one except the conspira. tors knew who dhl, and who did not, belong to the plot; and at lust, partly by force, the nssembly was brought to abolish the pepalar goverument. "-C. A. Fyffe, Ilist.of (ircece(Ilist. Primer), ch. 5, mett. 36-30.

Aiso in: G. W. Cox, The Atheninn Empire, ch. 6.-Thncydlles, Mixtiry, ek. 8, ch. 4-51.
B. C. 4 Ii $-407 .-T h e$ Peloponnesian War: Athenian victories at Cynossema and Abydos. -Exploits of Alcibiades. - His return to Athens and to supreme command.-His second deposition and exile.-While Athens was iu the throes of lts revolntlon. "the war was prosecuted with vigonr on the eoast of Asia llimor. Nindarns, Who now commanded the Ieloponne-sian fleet, Alsgusted at length by the of ten-bruken sian fleet, disgusted at length by the of ten-broken promises of Tissuphernes, and the scanty and Irregular pay which he furnished, set sail from Diletus and proceeded to the lledlespont, with The intention of assisting the satrap Pharmabazus, amil of effecting. If possible, the revolt of the Athenian depembincies iu that guarter. litiler he was pursucd by the Athenian fleet maler Thrasylus. In a few diys an engagement ensued (in dugust, $411 \mathrm{l3}$. C.), In the famous straits between sestus and Ibyilos, in whieh the Atheuians, though with a smaller foree, gained the victory, and erected a troplyy on the promontory of Cynossema [sce Crsossema), near the tomb and chapel of the Trojan queen Irecuba. The Athenians followed up thelr vletory by the reluction of Cyzicus, which had revolted from them. A month or two nfterward, nnother obstiuat; engagement took place between the l'elopounesian and Athenian fleets near Abyulos, which lasted a whole day, nod was at length derited in fivour of the donenians by the arrival of Alcibiades with his squadron of 18 ships from Samos."-W. Smlth, Smaller Ifist, of Grtece, ch. 13. - Alelblades, although recalled, had rirmes whill they lind denonneed ngainst him. Thoshlorna. lowever, the higli-prlent, evaled the last part of the dereree, ly ableyghe that lie had never cast any huprecabloin oll hifm. If lie had committed no offrnce agnlast the repulble The tahlets on whed the enrmen agahost film land herev lumerlked were takell to the whore, abll thrown Whlte engerness lito tho man. llim next burandire helghterned, if pasalble, the liriof limetre of him iflimpio. In consequence of the fortifiathon of becelon hy the lareveramonlana, umel thelr havitig cesslon to F:le 'lisis, In honour of Athelte, lum lace long nualle to take lis ustal consme, utul lulag athil ughat coremonlals. He now, tharrefore oflered to fonduct the solenanity by labl.
liks proposial lelag glauly unity bed, be pulaced subthtide on the hills; Mthl, surroumilug the con whole: to Eleisis ninl buck to Athens, wlthont the shghtast opposition, or liruach of timt order mul proformul stilhess whleh he himpexhorted the trops to malutalu. Nfter this gricefal net of lamage to the reltiphol lee was onee acronsol of thestroyligg, le was fegraried ly the consumen peas ple ns somethlug more than himan; they lowkial on hitus as destlned wererto know defent, and Ine lieved their triunphe was rertain so long us he Was thelr eommumber. Ilut, In the very ledglit of his jopularity, callses of anecoud exile wern mataring. The grant enviad lilen In propurtion (1) the prople's conthlewer, mbtl that continlemen Itself becante the momins of his ruha: for, as the people really thought the wipell of livliwillilly was tupun him, they were prepared to attrlbite the least punse in his carcer of glory to a treach erous design. He departed whth in limulred ves. m-ls, manued under his insperton, with oodeng nes of has own choice, to redice the fale of ('bles to oixolifuce. At Aalros he onfe sure gainell a vetory over lxith the matlves nad the spartans, whon nttempted to nssist them. But, ont hems rival ut the chaf scene of action, le funtel that he womld lee mable to keep the suldiars from descrting, malews le conld rabe maney to pay them stum more marly ential to those whitela the Lateditmonitus offered, than the pay he was able to bestow. He was collupellent, thirefore, t.s leave the theet [at Notinus] and go luto Carin in orler to obtain supplies. Whatle noment on thes onemaion, be left Intiochas In the combuand.
To this otlleer Aicililades gave exprens Ilirections that he slonlal refraln from coming to an cughgement, whatever proverations he might receive. Anxions, howe ver, to display his brivery, Ant]. ochus towk the trat ucension tos suil out in front of the Larcdsemonian tleet, whels lag wear Ephesus, und rer the command of lysamber, and attempa, by insilts, to incite them to attrek hinn. Lysunder aceordingly pursued him; the fleets caine to the support of their respective admirals, and a generil engagement ensued, in which Anthochus was slaiu, aul the Athenians completely defeaterl. On rece-"ing litelligence of this uhlappy re versc, Alcibimes hastemed to the tleet, and cager to repair the misfortmoe, offered battle to the Spartuns: Lysumler, however, did not choose to bisk the loss of hls allantage by necepting tha challenge, and the Atheninins were eompelled to retife: Tlis cvent, for which wo blame really attarlicd to Aleibiades, eompleted the ruln of hifs lutuence at Alheus. It was belleved that this Flopunneoss Kur.

OHEECE, ก. C. 405.
the Arst instance of his faliure, must have arimen from corruptlon, or, he least, from a want of lncllnation tonarve hia country. Ife was nlan ae. cuseld of leaving the navy under the directlon of those who had no other recommendation to the charge hut laving been alurens In hils laxarlais banjuets, and of baving wandered nlent to in. dalge in proflgate excesses.

IIn thems grounds, the peopile, In hla absenectork from him his commame, nuil contled It to other penerals. As won ns lae henaliof this new act of lagrati. thile, he frwalverl noo to rethrn homs, lut with. drew Intu Thrace, na ourtilled threce castles near to Jerinthas. Horn, having collected a formblable hand, as minlejwondent captaln, le anale lacurslons on the territorles of thase of the Thraclans whe neknowlendred no settled form of [日verument, mad ne(u) [red eunshlerable spolls."- Metropwilitumet, eh. 11.
Alus) in: (:, Thirlwult, Ifint. of Cir ith 20 iea, bl. I., ch. 1-4.
B. C. 406. - The Peloponnesian War: Baitle of Arginnse. -Trisl and execution of the generals at Athens.-Alelblales was suc-of the Athenion lieret on the const f Asla Mhar. Tlue Athenliths, won nfterwar of were driviol bos, by a superfor trapomusilin flonet, eonn. mander] by Caillerathlas, mad were thorkalend there with small ehamee of espaje. Conmen coms. trived tosend news of thelr devorente sltuation to Athens, und vigorons masures were promaptly taken to rosente the flent and to sar , Mitylene. Wilisin thirty dirys, a fleet of 110 triremes was tithend out at the [biteus, and mmoned whts a crew Which teak nearly the last able. |ealleel Atherian to make It complete. At Simmes these were Jolual by 40 arore trlremas, maklng live In all, against whlcin (allicratilis was nhle to lirlug out only 130 shaps froun litylone, when the re. lievhg uruament approached The two tleets gimand, "tif C'aje Nalea, the sumthern promontury of Lesimes. In the battle that ensined, which Was the grentest unval coablict of the liofoponme. slan War, the Athealans were comopletely vli torious; Callicratlalas was drowned and no lews than 78 of the Peloponnessan slips were flo. stroyed, while the Atheulans themselver lost 25, As the result of thls lattle Sparta aganmanle orrtures of pence, as she lian clone after the battle of Cyalcus, and Athens, lerd by lier deningogues, agaln rejected them. But the Athenian dimagogues nul populue dial worse. Ther sumnoned home the elght gemenals who had won the hittle of Arginuste, to answer to a clarge of having neglectell, after the viatory, to plek up the floating lonking of the Athenlan ilead and to rescue the drowning from the wreckel ships of their fleet. Six of the accused generais came home to meet the clarge; but iwo lamenght It prudent to go tato voluntary exlle. The six ware bron, t to trial; the fornis of legnlity wore volated huir prejuilice and all means were unscrupulously empleje 1 to work np the popular passion against them. One man, only, ninong the prytnnes - senators, shat is, nf the irlire the presiling, and who were the prosklents of the popnlar nssembly - sinal out, wlithout tlinching. against the lawless rage of his fellow eitizens, and refused, In enim seorn of all flerre threats agalnst himelf, to Join ln taking the uncranslity.

 and recelved the fatal orallat of hemlow from to tho lipm of the phllosepliser, "Thas dledithe mon of I'erlebes and Aspasia [one of the generals, whu there his fular's namel, to whon lify fitlu'r bull made a futai glft ln olitalulag for hlan the Attle cltizanslif, nul with hlm Erasinliles, Slime list-named, the umst fanerent of all, wloo labl whlered that the whole thect should Immendately the jerpile rane morn; he expressed a winh that the dorre doroming him to death ing ght le lunethelad to the state, and ealledi ujon lils fellow. eltizens to preform the thank agiviag offerings to the silving grals whlels they, the generals, find vowed onnceront of their vietory. Therex words may hare sunk derp hato the harts of many of has hemers: lut thelr onjy elfect las lx.onto cont a vet brighter hald in the eyes of sulase pucut Thelr funurence Is the memory of the se martyrs. Thalr funurence Is Inest jroved by the series of glarluge lnfrimetoms of litw ani morailty whel were nexalod to consure their dontructioni as weil as ly the shane und ropughance which selzed ujwin the cltarias, when they lam recognizad how fearfally bley laid heen led ast ray by a trilloroms factlou. "- K. ('urtus, Mixt. "f Cirtice, UR. 4, ch. 5 (r. 3), - Mr. (irote ittemuts to ujliohla a vlew more unfiswrable (o) the generals and less sovere Circree, $1^{t}$ : 2, sh. 63.
Al.wo iN: Xemoplun, Jflleniea, bk. 1, ch. 5-7. S(e), M1.s0, IT11EN世: 11. C. 424-406,
B. C. 405 . - The Peloponnesian War: Decisive battle of Aigospotamoi,-Defeat of the Athenians, - After the exceutlon of the fern. emb, " no long time pissed before the Athenims repreuted of thelr madness and thedr crlines: hut, ylelding atill to thelr old :esetting sln, they lns. sisted, is they hal done in the days of Dlittimes and ufter the catastrophe at Eyracuse, on throw. log the bame not on thesnalves lut on their ad. visurs. 'l'hls grent crime luegan at once to produre its naturid fralts. The perple were losing conthinure In their othecrs, who, in their turn, felt that no sirvlens to the state could secure them agaiast illegui prosecutions and arhitriry penal. thes. Corraption was eating lts way into the leart of the state, and treason was losing its ugli. ness in the eyes of many who thought themselves nune the worse for elnliglug with it. . . . The Athenlan fleet lam fallen hack tupon samos: and with this fisland as a base, the generals were oc. cupying themselves with movements, not for croshlig the enemy, but for obtaining anoner.

The Spartans, whether at hone or oll the Asiatle const, were how well aware that one more battle would decille the issue of the war: for with nother defent the sabsidles of the lerer slans wond le withurawn from them us from men doonsed to faifure, and perhaps lee trins. ferred to the Athemims, In the army amb thet the cry wias raisell that Lysandros wis the only man equrl to the emergency. Spartan custom could bit appoint the same man twice to the office of admiral; but when A rakis whs sent out with Lysanilros [Lysander] as his sceretary, It was understuod that the later was really the man in power." In the summer of tis IB. C. Lyamilros made a mudilen movement from the mont hern eEgcan to the llelleagnont, and laid al zu to the rle? town af Lamprimes, on the Asiatic side. The Athenlans followeif film, futt not promptly emough to anve lampl, monn, winieh th'y found in this pumemaion when they arrived. Thiry tox. 6 thefr atntion, therempen, at the nouth of the Ilttle stream called the Aigowpotanmof (the Guat's Stroum), directly орримite to Lampwicus, nod eus. deavored for four auccesalve days to provoke Lywnilros to thght. Ile refused, winteling hisapprotunlty for the surpisive whleh he effected on the fffld day, when tre davienf acrone the narrow channes nud caught the Athenlum shlps unprepared, their crews mostly seattered on slore. One only, of the six Athenian geueruls, Conon, had foreseell danger and was nlert. Conon, with twalve triremex, cacnpeui. The remainlug shlps, alout one humired aud meventy in mumber, were capturel almost without the finss of $n$ man on the Pelopmineman aide. (If the crews, some thiree or four thousiund Atheninum were puraned on shore anif taken prisoners, to le afterwuris klaughtered In eold hlinxi. Two of the meapubie generala thared thelr fate. Of the other feemerals who escaped, sone at leant were bellevedtor have lecen brhed by Lysumfan to betruy the fleer into fis bands. The blow to Athens was deully. Sine hail no puwrer of reststunce feft. nad when ferer cuemies closid armumi her, "litte later, she atarvell whlha be: walla until resistance acemend no longer lurroie, and the gave herself up to thelr merey:-18. W. Cox, The Illirnimu E'mpire, eh. \%.
Diso tw: ( Thirlwah. Jliaf. of Grcece, eh. 30 (r. ti,- Pluiarch, Lymbler. -Xenophon, Itellenict, bis: in. 1.
B. C. 404.-End nf the Pelnponnesian War. - Fall n? Athens. Sece Atuess: IB. C. 404 .
B. C. 4n4-403. - The Year of Anarchy at Athens.-Reign of the Thirty. See Atumes: B. C. $404-f 103$.
B. C. 401-400. - The expeditinn of Cyrus, and the Retreat of the Ten Thnusand Greeks. See Pebsia: 11. C. 401-400.
B. C. 390-387.-Spartan war with Persin. Greel confederacy against Sparta.-The Corinthian War. - Peace nf Antalcidas.-The suc. cessful retreat of the Ten Thousanil from Cin. naxa, through the length of the Persian dominions (13. C. 401-400), and the account which they brought of the essenthif hollowness of the power if the Great king. produced an hat. portant change umong the Greeks In their estimate of the fersian monarchy as an enemy to be feared. Sparta becamo ashaned of having abandoned the Greek rities of Asia Minur to their old oppressirs, as she did after breaking the strength of their protector, Athens, In the I'elopomesian War. When, therefore, the Persims ?wergan to lay slege to the emast cities which resiateif them, Sparta fumb spirit ennugh to Interfere (13. C: 399) and sent over a smati army, into which the surviving ('yrenns were also culisted. The only immediate reonlt was a truce with the Persian satrap. But. meantime, the Allocuian general Comon-he who escatped with a few triremes from Egospotanil mal thel to Cyprus-had there established relationg with the Persian court at Susa and had acepuired a great influenee, which he used to bring alout the creation of a power. ful I'epshan armanent ngainst Sparta, hhnself in command. The news of this armament, reach-Ing Sparta, provoked the iatter ton more vigorous jrowecution of the war in Anla Mlnor. King dgesilans tork the nefl in Ionia wlith a strong arily and conlucted two brilliant eamphigna (13. C. 306-305), polnting the way, aste wero, to tho expeilition of Alexnnier a conple of pernefntlons later. The most ingortant victury wim was on the l'actulum, not far from surita. Ibit, in the milst of his surcemses, Agentiaus wat calied hone hy trouble which arome in Grerec. Sparta, by hire arrogance not oppresslve polley. had aireaily nltented all the Oreck states whith liel peed her to break down dthens in tike I'clophmenesian War. Pervinn agente, with money, hal awsisted her enemis to organize a lengue ngaluat her. Theles nud dehens, first, then Argon and ('orinth, with several of the lewser states, berame confedernterd In an agrecment to overtifow ber doulnaton. In nnathem, it to crush Theles, the Spartana were hadly lenten at Ilabiartus (B. C. 803), where their famums Lymidier, conquepor of Athens, was hilled. Thelr power in centent nnd northern Grece was sirtually nnuihilatel, mad then followed a struggle wiht thelr leagual enemices for the e atrol of the Corinthlan lathmus, wlience came the mame of the Curinthian ivar. It was this aituation of things nt home which culled luck Klug Agesilaus from hin eampaigns in Asia. Míuor. Ife had acurecly crossed the licliexpont ou his re. turn, In July E. C. 301, before afl hls work in Asia was mulone hy an overwhelming naval vietory achicevel n. Cnydus by the Athenian Conon commanding the Presiun I'herician flect. With his veteran army, including the old Cyrenns, now returning home after seren years of increlible ailventures and harishijes. he made his way throngh all enemies into buroth and fought a hattle with the league at Coromen, In which he so far gained as le tory that he held the fiehl, although the frults of it were douthtul. The Spartans on the lsthmus had als, just gatuet a conslderable success near Corinth, on the hanks of the Nemen. On the whole, the results of the war were in their fiver, until (onon ntul the l'ershn satrap, Ihar. nabazus, came over whth the victorbuts flect from Cnyilus and leat its alif th the fergue. The most injuritant proceeding if Cumon was to mhuild (13. C. 393), with the hilp of his Pershan fricurls, the Ling Walls of Ahens, which the Pelopons. nesians had require' to be thrown down cleven sears before. By this means he restorefi to Athens her independence and secured for her a new carcer of commercinl prosperity. During six years more the war wus colionsly prolonged, without important or deelsive events, while Spurta intrigued to detarla the Persian king from his Athenian alles and the latter intriguent to retain his friendship. In the enal, all parties were exhansted - Spartu. perhaps. Renst so - and aecepted a shaneful prace wheh was practically dletated by the I'erslan and had the form of an edict or maniate from suss. In the following terins: "The king. Artnxerxes, decmis it just that the cities in Isin, with the Islandsof Ciazomenae and Cyprus, should belong to himself; the rest of the Hellente citles he thinks it Just to leave inde. peudent, both smali nod great, with the exception of Lemnos, Iniliros, and Scyros, which three are to bejong to Athens as of yore. Should any of the parties roneerned not aecept thls peace, I. Artax. erses, will war against him or them with those Who share my views. Thls will I do by land and by sea, with ships and with money." By this, called the Irace of Antaleldas (B. C. a8\%) from the Lacertaemonian who was Inatrumental In hriaging it about, the Ionlan Grecks were unce more ulinadoned to the Jennlan king and hin satraps, whlle Spartu, which amamed to le the adminlatrator and executur of the treaty, wan cons. ormed In her minuremacy over the ather Greclan utates.-Xenophon, Ifellenicis (tr, by Ihulyns), bk. 3-5(0. 2).

Alan tr: C. Mankey, The Sulrtisn and Thehen ch. 24-85 (c. 4) - (1. Ihwllamm, The Fire (ireit Monarchien, r. 3: Irralia, rh, 7.
B. C. 385 --Destruction of Mantinea by the Spartans.-The MantInelars, havlug dlaplayed unfremolliness to Nuarta during the Corinthina War, were requilred by the Jatter, after the leare of Altatelias, to demollah thelr walls.
 due them. lly dummang up the waters of the river Ophis he flomaled the elty and hronglit It til terns. "The city of Muntincla was bow liroke'n 13), and the Inhabitanta wero Illotrlbated agaln lutis the the coastluent villuges, the of four. diffar of the population each tun puilled down his houme in the city, and rehollt it In the viliage uar to which lifs property lay, The remalnhag Ifth contlmaed tis oceupy Manthelin us wo Each vilhage was placed inder ollgar. zovermurnt mu! ledt unfortiled. "-1: int, ut Ciricore, Mt. 2, ch. 76 ( $c, 0$ ).
in: Nemplion, flellonirn, bi, 5, ch. 2 $\therefore$. .. $3^{83}$. -The betrayal of Thebes to the ppartans.-When the spartaus sent thelr expue.
 in two divishons, the list of which, unter l'here. bhlas, halted int Thelnes, on the way, prohuhly having secret orters to da so. "ijn reachinis Theles the trongs rimennperd ontsille the eity Fumbly thmmasimm. Fachlon was rife within the ely. The two pelentardat In ollice. Ismentas and lametiales, wre dimumeicatly opposed, be: Int the raspertive lerads of autagonist ie polition dibic. Herree It was that, while Ivmeribis, ever but rome anywhore bent the Spartan general Lambikfes, on the ather hatme, was asshluons It compting him: unt whent is sutlelenst luthmacy was catahtishal hot wern them, be made a proper -ll as tollow a. " lou have it in your power, 'he for suptrme burtit on yunt combiry. Foblow me wihl your hoplites, and I will litrolucren your intes the citalid. - Xenophon, Jhtheriet (th. by Thesanophoris, a refigions festival celchrated be the wount upart from the men, durlug which The actopulis, or Kialmuia, was consecruted to their evelusive use. I'mehinlas, affecting to have conclulayl his hait, put himalif In march to procued is if tow:irils Thrime: merombery roubiling the wails of Thelass, but not going into It. The bolater was arlatily assembled in the portions of the atoma, und the biret of a sammer's nown himi driven every ane out ot the streets, whin Leon. tiado, sleating uway from the senute, lastened an horsedmak to wertake I'huhidas, ciutell him to) fire ilwut, und condurted the lacedieumonlans itright uj to the Kadntela; the gates of whleh. ow well as those of the tobts, werc opened tu his niter as IPolemirch. Tieere were not only no :Hinds in the streets, but none even in the Kall. milat mo make person being permitted to be

Prearnt at the feminine Thesmopherla; en that Kinlmela withust the sminllemt opprelthou.
The news of the wolatre of the Kalmels and of the revolution at Tlulises [was) recelved at Njurta whlt the greatent widporme, as well an wlth a mixal frellog of shme and natimfiction. Fivery where throughont (ireere, prolnably, It excltent a greuter motasatom thun any erant slnee nlacil puhbic linw of Greece, It whe a Hingloms lalgulty, for whlel Jparta liad mot the shadow of a pretener It stoml condemnerl liv tho huellgunit wotiment of ull ©resere, unwlllingly teatlitel "ven by the phllo. Ialeman Xempluan linself. But li was at the watie tlme an lmHu'use aceesslon to Spartan power. . . Dhekblthe inost linportant blow slace Figospuatanil, relie ving lior from ene of her two really formhlahile chumber."-(i. (iroho. Jlinp. wf lircece, pt. 2, eh, ib
It.mı is; C: Thlrlwall, llinf. of Cirecer, eh, 37 (r. 5 ).

B. C. $383-379$. Overthrow of the Olyathlan confederacy by Sparta.- Amumg the Greek elthes whidh were fommed ut un enrly day in from C'halifo, In Einhona, whide colomizeol the granter manher of therm, (Hymhas inerame the mont imjurtame. It ling maintainool Ita Imbe Lrew in power, It insk mular ita protectlont the lesser towny of the jeminsula aftl niljarent Mace.

 Which gradiatly extemind to the larger citles und nequlridy a fordaidable eharmeter. IBat two of the Chale idlan chlew watehed thla growtht of (Hynthas with jealousy adad refuscal to he cons. ferlerated with her Nore than that, they jolmed the I'ence of Antalifilas, and invoknd leer latersenton, tu arpreas thr rising Hybthian con fedirasy. The respuace of spartal isas prompt, and blifongh the olrobhians defombed them. wifles with vilur, lutlioting one severe defeat口ןwn the Laceditmombint alles, they were forced Was diswdred. "lby the juatere of Antalklidas, Sparta hind surrundired the Asiatie Grenks to Persia; by eroshing the ohymhiam confulderncy, she virnailly surrembered the Thracian Grieks to the Wnedonlan princes. . . Nher give the victory to Imyntis [king of Miv'rinain], und pre.

 Philip nfterwiards rowe to remuee dut only Olra. thus, but . . . the major part of the Grecian worlil, to ome comman level of subjectlon."Grote, Jint. of Gircere. Nif. ', ch. it (c. 9).

Amo is: E: A. Freeman, Hist. if Federul Goet., ch, 4, met. B B, C. 379-37s. - The liberation of Thebes and her rise to supremacy. - The humbling of Sparta,-For three yeirsifter the betriyat ot the the city gronned under the tyranmy of the oli supported. Several hundreds of the more prom Inent of the demoeratic and putriotic purty fouml a refuge at A thens, and the deliverinere of Thelser was effected at lust, about 1)erember, 13. (\%. si:\%, by a daring enterprise on the part of some of these exlles. Their plans were concerted with friends at Thelves, especially with one Phyllidas, Who liad retained the confldence of the party in power, being secretary to the polemarchs. The leader of the undertnking was Melon. "After a certain interval Melon, acrompanied by six of the trustiest commedes be could tind nmong his icllowe cxiles, set of for Thebes. They were armed with nothing lout inggers, and first of all crept lnto the neffilionrlioond under cover of nlght. The whole of the next diy they lay concealed in a desert place, and drew near to tlie city gates in the guise of latourers returning home with the latest comers from the flelds. Inaving got safely rithln the citr, they spent the wbole of that night at the hoise of a man named Cbaron, and again the next day in the same fashion. Phyllidas meanwhlle wis busily taken up with the concerns of the polemurehis, who were to celebrate a fenst of Aphroxite on golng out of office. Amongst other things, the secretary wns to take this opportnnity of fulthlling an olli undertaking. whicl was the lutroluction of certnin women to the polemarchs. They were to be the most majestie and the most beautiful to be found in Thebes.

Supper was over, nnd, thanks to the zeni with which the master of the ceremonies responded to their muxhi, they were specdily latoxcated. To their oft repented orders to latronluce their mistresses, he went out and feteliet Mlelon and the rest, three of thend dressed up as ladles and the rest as their attendant maidens. was priconcerted that as soman as they were sented they were to throw asile their veils and strike lomile. That is one version of the death of the pulemarehs. Aecording to nuother, Jelon atal his fricmls eame in as revellers, and so des. patched tbeir vietims."-Xenophon, Millenica (tr, hy, Dathyns), bk. 5, ch. 4.- IInving thus made way witl the polemarchs, the conspimators surprised l.eontindes ia his own house and slew him. They then literate ed and urmed the prisoners Whim they found in confincment nad sent heralds throngh the city to proclaim the freedon of Thelses. I celacral rally of the citizens followed promptly. The party of the oppression was totally erished nad its prominent memhers put to denth. The Spartum kirrison in the Cadmeat eapitulited und was sutfered to march out wit' out malestation. The gowernment of Theles wis reorsanized on al more popmar basis, and with a view to restoring the Burotling Leagre, in a perfretedi state, with Thelees for lis head (sere Tunbes: I3 (. Bis). Iu the war with Eparta which followiol, Athens was somn huvolvel, and the Spretine were driven from all their fimetholds in the barotian fowns. Then Atherss anel Theles ynarreleel afresh, and the spartans, to take nid. vantige of the lsolation of the latter, invaded her territary once more. But Theles, under the truining of her frent statesuma and soldier, Epminumdis, had becone stroug enongh to face her latrembemmita rnemy without help, and in the momentons liatle of Lentetri, fouglit duly b. 13. (C. 3it, wa a phaia not fir from Plative, the domincering power of sparta was hrokicu forcever. It was the nost importaut of all the hattles ever fomght betw cen (irrivs. On this diay Thelnes became ia independent prower $\ln$ Greece, and a return of S pirtau despotisis whe benceforth hapossible for all timess."-E. Curtus, Hist, of Grece.
bk. 6, ch. 1 ( $c .4$.

Also iv: Plutarch, Pelopidun.-G. Grote, Mise of Greece, pt. 2, ch. 77-78, -C. Sankey, The Spar. tan and Thebran Supremacies, ch. $10-1 \mathrm{i}$.
B. C. $3^{8}$-357.-The new Athenian Confederacy. The Social War, See Atuens: B. C. 378-857.
B. C. 371.-The Arcadian union.-Restoration of Mantinea. Arcadian union.-Restora-- One of the first effects of the buttle of Leuctra (B. C. 371), Whirls ended the cominatlon of Spartia In Greek afairs, was to emanclpate the Arcadlans and to work great changes annong them. Mantinen, whlch the Spartans had destroyed. wns rebullt the same year. Then "the chlefs of the partles opposed to the Spartan interest in the - Laclpal Arcullan towns concerted a plan for securiage the independence of Areadla, and fur rnlsing it to a highler rank than it had hitherto held tre the politienl system of Greece. WIth a territury m. re extensive than nny other region of Peloponnesus, perpled by a harily riec, proud of its ancient origiu and immemorial possession of the land, and of its peculiar rellgious traditions, Arcadiar-the Greck switzerland-lad never possessed nuy wefight in the nffairs of the nation; the land only served as a thoroughfare for hostile armies, and sent forth its sons to recruit the furces of foreign powers. to unite the Areadian people in The olject was as not to destroy the independence of the partienlar states; and wlth this view it was proposed to foun' a metropolis, to institute a uatlonal coumcil wheli shonld be invested with supreme anthorlty in forelgn afficirs, partienlarly with r. gard to pence ani war, and to establish a mlltary force for the protectlon of the pallic safety.
Within a few montlos after the bittle of Levera a meeting of Arcadians from ull the principal towns was hald to deliberite on the measirc: and under its deeree a lowly of colonists, collectet from sarious quarters, procecded to found a new city, which wis to be the seat of the general gov crimeut, and was called Megalepolls, or Merilupolis (the Great (ity). The site eliosen what in the binks of the llelisson, a small stream tribut. tary to the Ahblens.

- The city was deslyned on a very liarge scale, and the magaltade of the pullic buidings corresponded to fits extent; tha thentre wis the most spicions in Grece.
The population wias to le driwn . ., froia a great number of the most macient Ireadian towns. Pansanias gives a list of furty which were required to eontribute to It. The greater part of them nepent to have been cutrely damertel by tbeir inhabitimes. "-C. Thirlwall, Mive. of (ircere, ch. 39 ( $r$. 5).-"The patriotle cinthin slasm, however, out of which Degalopolis hat first arisen, gradally berime cuffebled. Thu city never uttained that precmuence or juw r which Its founders contemplated, und which had cansed the clty to le heidi out on in scale tion larce for the populution aetuilly Inlabling It." -4 ,

B. C. 371-362,-Popular fury in Argos.Arcadian union and disunion.-Restoration of Mantinea. - Expeditions of Epaminondis Into Peloponnesus.-His attempts against Sparta.-His victory and death at Mantinea. -' $\ln$ miny of the Poloponnesiau cities, when the power of Sparta scemed vislbly I the wame. had luern shed on looth sides. Bint now Argens displayed the most fearful exampie of popular fury recorded $\ln$ Greek annals, red as they are with tales of clvll hloodsised. The democratle populnce detected $n$ consplraey among the ollgarcles, and thirty of the chlef cltizens were at once put to death. The excltement of the people was inflamed by the harangues of demagogues, and the mob, arming itself with cudgels, commenced a geneml massacre. When 1,200 citizens had fallen, the popular orators Interfered to check the atrocitles, bit met with the snme fate; and, sated at length with bloolshed, the multitude stayed the dendly work. But where the pressire of Spartan Interference bad leeen henvfest and most constunt, there the reactlon was naturally most striking. The populnr lmpulses whleh were at work in Arkalia [sce alove] fonut thelr first outlet $\ln$ the rehulldlug of Mantinela." But there was far from unaulinity ln the Ar. kadian natlonal movement. "In Tegen puble opinlon was divided. The elty ham been treated hy Sparta with specinl consleleratlon, and hnd for centuries been her faithful nlly; lieuce the oligarchlcal government lowed with disfnvour upon the project of union. But the democratcal pnrty was powerful nnd unscrupmlons and, with the help of the Mantlnelans, the $y$ ef fected $n$ revolutlon, in which many were killect, and 800 exlles fled to Sparta." The spartans, under Agesllaos, arenged them by ravaging the plain $\ln$ front of Mantincia. "This lavasion of Arkadin ls chlefly lmportant for the pretext which It furnished for Thehan Interventlon. The Mantineians applled for hclp at first to Athens, and, meeting with a refusal, went on to Theles. For this request Epameluonlus must have been thoroughly prepared beforchand, and he was som on the march with a powerful ariny.
On his arrival in the 1eloponnesc [B. C. Bioj], he fonnd that Ageslinos hal ulrealy retired; and some of the Thelinn genemals, considering the scason of the ycar, wisheed at once to return." But Epamelnondas was persuatcil by the allles of Thebes to muke an attempt upon spurtn itself. "In four dlvisions the lnvading host stremmed Into the lnnd whlch, nceording to the prondest bonst of lts hahabitnnts, latid felt no hostile tread for 600 years. It Sellasia, not ten miles distant from Spartn, the army remited; and, having plunilered and burnt the town, swept down into the valley of the Eurotas, nat marched nlong the left bank tlll it rearlied the lridige oppo. slte the city. Withln Sparta itself, though a universal termor previbed, one man rose equal to the emicregeney. While the men fainted in gpirit as they thought low few they were, and hote wile the ir unwalled eity, Agesilnos acrepted, mot without mistrust, the serviees of 6. 0 (h) helots, eollected reinforcements, presserved order, suppressed consplracy, stanupel out ma. thys. postel gunris on every vantage-grommi. anil refusell to be tempted to n batile by the thants of foes or the chamonrs of overenter friunls. . . A fter one masuccessful cavalry skimish, the Theban geural, who In a canpaign undirtuken on hals sole responsihility, dared not rink the ehance of defeat, decliled to leare the 'wasps'.nest' untak'n. He eompleted his work of devastation by ravaging the whole of southern lakomba, .. and then turnetl boek Intu. Arkadla to alsunte himbelf to the more permanent olyects of his expeditlon." Messene was now' relmilt (see Memsenian War, the Tumbi), and "the descemdants of the old Mlessenlan stock were gathered to form a new natlon from Rhegion and Messene [Siclly], and from the parts of Lybla round Kyrene. . . . By thus restoring the Sesseninns to thelr anclent territory, Epameinondas deprived sparta at one blow of nearly half ber possessions. At lnst Epamelnondas had done hls work; and, leaving Pammencs with a garrison $\ln$ Tegen, he hastened to lead his soldlers home. At the Isthmus he founl a hostlle army from Athens," whleh had been persmaded to senil suecor to Sparta; hitt the Atheulans dhl noteare to glve huttle to the conquering Thebans, and the latter passed unopposed. On the arrival of Epamcinoudas at Thelkeq, " the leaders of $n$ petty faction throutened th hring him and his collengues to trinl for retaining their command for four months beyond the legnl term of offiee. But Epnmelnoniths stool up in the assembly, and told hls simple tille of vietorlous generulstip, and stlll inore triumphant statesmanshipp; and the InVldlous envils of snarling intrlguers were at onee forgoten." Spartn and Athens now formed an alllance, with the sunseless ngreement that command of the common forces "should be given alternately to cach state for tive days. . . . The first alm of the confederatus was to occupy the passes of the lsthmus," hut Eppimeinondas foreed a passnge for his army, eapturcel Sikyon, raviged the territory of Epidaurns, and made a hold but unsucecssful attempt to surprise Corinth. Then ou the arrival of reiuforecments to the Spartans fromis Sracuse, he drew luck to Theles (13. C 363). For a time the Thebans were oceupied with troubles in Thessaly, and their Arkadian protegés in Pelopunnese were rurrying on war against Sparta independently, with so inuch mor mentary success that they brome over.emullent and rishl. They paid fur their forlhardiness by $a$ fright fal de feat, whirh cost them 10.04 H men, whilst mos spartian is :itill to lave fallen; henee the flght was known in sparta nes the Tearless battle. "This defrit probably raused little grief at Theleses, for it would prove to the arrogant Irkadians that they comhl mot yot dispense with Thebanail; and it decidel Epancoinomilas to nake a thiril expelition into the l'elopmaese." The result of his thind expelition was the enrolment of a mmmer of Achaisn citios as Thelan allines, which gave to Thebes "the coutrol of the const line of the Corinthan gulf." But the broad am statesmanlike turms on which Epanicinomila rranged these alliances were set ashle hy his marmw minded felhw citizens, and a pulicy adopted by which dechaia was" "emverted from at herwarin nemtral into an enthasiastle supporter of sarta. In this mane thed state of Gratk pulitios the Themans resolved to have re. course', like the spartans before them, to the anthority of the (ireal Kinur. Exsisting treatics, for which they were but reponsible, acknowellyenl his right to interfore th the haternal ntiales of Grepee" lechpilas mat other cusoys were aecordingly selut to musis (1B. C. 366), where they procured from Irtiserses a reseript "which reengniserl the inlopralence of Messene and arlered the Athmians to dismantle their theet. But the minnliate of the Grent King prowed wohl of effect. "After this the confunlon In Greece grew Intintely worse. In aceilent thanserred the town ot Oropes. . from the hands of Ath. ens to thuse of Thelies; aull as the lploponnesian allins of the Athenima refusel to help them to region it, they hroke with them, und, fu splte of the efforts of Epameinondas, formed an alilance Wlih Arkadia. . . The Athenians made soon after a valn attempt to seize the friendiy city of Corinth, and the dlsgusted Corinthlans, together wlth the eltizens of Epldauros and Phlious, obtained the grudging eonsent of Sparta, and maie a sepurate peace with Thebes. As soon as tranyulllity was restored In one quarter, In another the llame of war would agaln burst forth." Its next outbreak (B. C. 365) was between Elis and Arkialia, the former being assisted hy Sparta, and lts princlpai event was a desperate hattle foupht for the possession of Oiympia. The Ar. kaliams held part of the eity and acquired possescion of the sucred treasures in the Olymplan temple, which they determined to apply to the exprenses of the war. "IRaising the cry of saeri. lepe, the Mantincians, who were jealous both of Tegra and Negalopolis, at once liroke loose and shitt their gates." soon afterwards. Iantinela separated herself wholly from the Arkudiau confederacy und entered the Spartun alliance. This was imong the citises whleh drew Epameinondas once more, ami for the last time, Into the Peloponnese (B. ('. 382). "The armles of Greece were now gathering frons all quarters for the grent struggle. On the one side stood Sparta, Athens, Elis, Achaia, ada a part of Arkadia, fed by Dantineia; on the other shle were ranged Liblothit [Theles]. Argos, Messenha, and the rust of Irkallis, while a few of the smaller states us I'hokis, Pllious, and Corintlt - remained neutril." It the outsot of his campaign, Epamelnondas memle a luhl attempt, by a mpin night marelh, to surprise Sparta; but a traitorous warning han luen given, the spartans were harricauled ani propared for defence, ami the undertaking faled. Then lee mareled enickly to Nautinela. :und faited In hisulesign there, likewise. A plehed battle was noressary to decide the issue, and lt wits fonyin, oll the jhin between Jiantinela and Tesea in the del day of Julf, B. C. 302. The tine uscipline "f the Thelbin troops and the skilful tartion of Emunclaondis had given the vie. tory into his hamls, when. "sundenly, the aspect of the battle elauged. Evcept among the light trongs oa the extrome right, the ulvance was everywhere stived. The Spartau hopites were in full flight, biat the compuerors did not stir a step In the pursuit. . . . The fary of the battle himi lnstantly ceased. Epameiaondas haí fallen wounded to denth, and this was the resalt.

GREECE, B. C. 871-362.  Philip of Macedon.  GREECE, B. C. 857-386.

Every leart was booken, every arm paralyseni. . . Buth sides claimed the victory ln the hathle and erceted the nsinal trophies, but the real aivantage remained with the Thehans.
 Miwani:i wasmoured, und Megalopolis and the Pill-Irkintinn constltition were preserved from destruction. Thar work of Epmmeinomias, though cut slort. Wias thus not thrown awiy: amp the powir of syartil was conthed withln the limits th" "ul Timen', supremacies. ch. 1s.

A1,N1 1N: Ne'mphon, Hellenira, bk, 5-8.-E. (urtius. Mist, if limere, bk. 6, ch. 2.- G. Grote.

B. C. 359-358. - First proceedings of Philip of Macedonia. - His acquisition of Amphipolis. -I'me fimmis l'hilip of Macerlon suceveded to the
 In liv $\operatorname{snath}$ le hat heendellvered to the Thehans to (nie il the hustages giveu upon the eouchislon of a treaty of peace $\ln 868$. " Ins resldence at Thebes gave him eome thcture of Grecian phl. iosophy and literature; hut the nost important lesson which he learned at that eity was the urt of war, with ali the Improved tactics intruduced by Epmminondas. Phllip...displayed at the beglnning of his relgn his extraordinary energy and abllitles. After defeating the Iilyrinns he established a standlng army, In whieh disclpllne was preserved by the severist punishneuts. He introdiced the far-famed Macedonlun plinianx, which was 16 men deep, armed whil fong projectlng spears. Philip's views were first turaed towards the eastern frontlers of his dominlons, where his interusts clashed with those of the Athenlans. A few years before the Atheulans had made varlons unavailing attempts to ohtaln possession of Amphlpolis, once the jewei of their empire, hut whleh they had never recovered slnce Its capture by Braslilas la the eighth year of the Peloponnesian war."-W. Smith, Smaller Miat. of Grece, ch. 10. - The importance of Amphipolls to the Athenians arose chiefly from its rlemity t1) " the rost forests which clothed the nountains that enclose the basin of the Sirymon, and afforied au inexhanstlble supply of ship.tlmber." For the sane reason that the Athenlans cleslred arulently to regalu possession of Amphlpoiis their enemies were strong in the wlsh to keep it out of their hands. Noreover, as the Macedonlan kinglom became well.knltted in the strong lands of the ambitious Phllip, the elty of "the Nine Ways" assumed importance to that rising power, and Philip resolved to possess It. It was at this polnt that hls ambitions tirst came lnto eonflict with Athens. But the Athealans were uot uware of hls aims intll too fate. He decelved them completely, In fact, by a bargaln to glve help in acquiring Amphlpolis for thein, and to receive help in gainlig Pylua for himself. But when his preparations were complete, he suddenly ladd slege to Amphlpolls and made himself master of the city (B. C. 358), besides taklig I'rina as well. At Athens, "Philip was liencefortli vlewed as an openeneny, and thls was the lreginning-though withont any formal declaration - of a state of hostllity between the two powers, whleh was called, from its origin, the Amphipolitan War." -C. Thirlwail, Hint. of Greece, ch. $42(r .5)$.
B. C. 357-336. - Advancement of Philip of Macedonia to supremacy.-The Sacred Wars and their consequences. - The fatal field of Cheronea.-Philip's preparations for the invasion of Asia.-His assassination.-A war between the Thehans nul their nilghlorss the Phonians, which loroke ont In 3.77 or 356 13. C.. assinmed gre:at lnipertance ln Grevk history and was calleql the Sitered Wir. - as two carller comtests, ha whelt Dedphi was concernoml hand treen likewise hammal. It is sometimes calledi the Ten lears sacred War. Thelnes, controlling the shindory Amplictyonle conncil, had bronglit a charge of simeriloge ngaiast the Phochans and procured a deerce imposing "on them a heavy tine. The Phoclans reslsterl the lecree with unexpected energy, and, by a lolid amb sulden movement, gained possession of leljhl, where they destroyed the records of the Amplietyoaie judprnent ugainst them. Having the vast ucca. manathon of the sucred treasinres of the Delphic iemple fin thelr hatuds, they did not scruple ti appropriate them and were ahle to malntain a pwerful army of mercenuries, gathered from every part of Greece, wlth which they ravaged the territorles of Boothand locris, and aequired eontrol of the pass of Thermopyla. In the mlint of thelr successes they were called upon for help hy the tyrant of Phera in Thessaly, then being attacked hy Philip of Maeedon (D. C. 353). The Phocians opposed $1 l_{1} l_{1}$; with such suecess, at first, that he retrented from Thessaly ; hut It was only to recrult and reanlmate his nrmy. Return. Ing presently he overthrew the Phoclan army, with great slaughter - Onomarehus, Its leader, lking slain -aud marle hiniself master of all Thrssaly. Both Atheus and Spurta were now alamed by thls rapid adrance into Central Greece of the congaering arms of the ambitious Macedonian, and hoth sent forces to the help of the Phocians. The former wis so energetic that an arny of 5,000 dtheniam foot-soldiers and 400 horse reached Thermopyla (May 37 j B B. C.) before Phitip lanl been able to push forward from Thes. saly. When he did advance, preclamlug fis pirpose to rescue the Delphian temple from sacrilegions roblers, he was repulsed at the pass and Jrew bark. It was the beginning of the struggle for Greek Indcpendence against Maeedonian energy nul nombition. A few montlas later Demosthenes delivered the first of his immortal orations, ealled a fterwards Phllppics, in which he strove to kerp the already languishing energy of the Athe. niansali ve, la unfaltering resistance to the deslges of lhilip, For six years there was a stute of war between Ihilluand the Athenians with theirallles, hit the conquests of the former lin Thrace and the Chalcidinu jenlusula were steadily pressed. At lempth (B. C. 346) Athens was treacherously persuaded into a treaty of peace whth Philip per Pare of Phllocrates) which excluded the Phocians from its terins. No smoner had he thus fuinted the latter than he morehed quiekly to Thermopylat, secured possession of the pass and dechared himself the shpporter of Thebes. The surred War was eaded, Delphi rescued. Phocis panlshed without merev, aud Greece was under the feet of a naster. This being aecomplished, the Peace of Philocrates was doubtfully inaintaned for alout six years. Then quarrels hroke out which led up to still nnother Saered War, and which gave Philip another opportunity to trample on the liberties of Grecce. Curiously, the provoking eabises of this outhreak yere an inheritauce from that more nncient Sacred War which hrought min upon the town of Cirrha and a hasting curse upon its suil. The Locrians of Aimphissa, "lwelling near to the necursed territury, had ventured in the course of rears to en. crasch upon It with hrick-kilns, and to make use of its lurbor. At a meetiag of the Amphict yonie Councll, in the spring of I3. C. 339 , this vlolation of the Nucred Law was hrought to notice, hy way of retaliation for some offence which the cleputies of Amphissa liad glven to those of Athens. Hostilities consued between the eitlzens of IDelphif, pushed on hy the Ampliletyons, on one silde, untl the Imphissians on the oificr. The Influence of lhilip) in the Amphictyonic Councll was controlling, and hls purtisains had no difficulty in wimmoning him to act for the federation lin setthag this portentous affair. He marched lnto Barotia, took possession of the strong eity of Flaten, and very som inade it mauifest that he with the lated somethlng more than mere dealiug with the rufractory trespussers of Amphlasa. Ithens watched his movements with terror, and even Thebes, his former nlly, took alarm. Through the exertlons of Demosthenes, Theben nad Athens, once more, hut too late, gave up thelr ancient enmity aad united thelr strength aud resoarces in $n$ firm league. Segara, Corinth and otherstates were jolnetl to themand common enuse was made with thr Locrians of Amphlssa. These movements consumal a winter, and war ojened In the spring. I'hitip gaiaed suecesses from the beglnulng. He tonik Amphlsas hy surprise and carried Naupaetus by storm. Bat it was not antil A ugnst - the tirst duy of August, B. C. 348 - that the two combutants enine together In force. Thls oceurred In the Bupothan valley of the Cephisus, near the town of Chasronea, whelh gave lis name to the battle. The Snered B:and of Thebes and the hopiltes of Athens, whth their nilies, fought obstlaately nnd Well; hut thry were no match for the veterins of the Maeedonian phalanx and most of them perished on the tield. It was the last struggle for Grecian indepondence. Henceforth, practieally at least, Ilcllas was swailowed up in Jace. tonia, We can see very plainly that Philip's conder towards Athens after the victory, under the mpurarance of geacroslty, was ex. tremely prudent. His olbject was, to separate the Thehans from the Itheaians, and he at once adrauced against the former. The Atheuian prlanons he seut home, free and elothed, aceompanled by Antipater; he ordered the dead borlics to le burneal, und their ashes to be conveyed to Athras, while the Thchans had to purchase thelr dead from him. Ife then entered thebes, which he seems to have taken withont any resistance, placed a Macedonian girrison hin the Cadmes, and, with the same policy which Sparta had fol. lowed at Athens aftror the Peloponnesian war, he estahlished un oligarehy of 300 of his partizans, who were for the most part retnrned exlles, and Who uow, under the protection of the garrison in the Culnea, ruied like tyrants. ad raged $\ln n$ fearful mauner. . . . Philip uccepted all the terms which were agrecahle to the Atheuians; no investigations were to he lnstluted against his enemies, aut none of them was to be sent into exile. Athens was not only to remain a perfectly sovereign clty hut retain Lemnos, Inhiros, and scyros, nay ceen Sumos and Chersonnesus, though lie might have taken the latter without any difficulty, and though the Athenians had most cleruchiae In Samos. Thus he bought over the Athenipus through this peace, agalnst whieh Deniosthenes and others, who saw fnrther, could not venture to protest, heeause Philip offered more than they could give him in return more than they could give him in return.
The only thing which the Athenlans conceded to Mhilip, was, that they concluded a symmachla with him, aud conferred upo: hlm the supreme eommand ln the Persian war. For with great cunning Phillp sammoneal an ussemhly of the Greeks whom he culled his allies, to Corinth, to deliberate upon the war against Persla. The war of re. venge agalust the Persians had alrendy become a populnr itiea in Grecee. . . Philip now eatered Peloponnesus with his whole army, and went to the diet at Corinth, wherc the Greek deputles recelved his orders. In I'eloponnesus he acted as medlator, for he was invited as sued by the Areudhus, Messenians, and Arglves, to decide thelr disputes with Laceluemon, and they demanded that he should restore to them their ancleut territories. The Arcadians had formerly possessed many piaces on the Eurotas, and the Messenians were stili very far from having recovered all their anelent tertitories. He accordingly fixed the boundaries, and greatly diminlshed the extent of Laconla. . . . The Spartans, on that oceasion, behaved in a dignified manner; they were the only ones who refused to aeknowledge Philip as generaiisimo agalast Persia. . . . Even the ancients regarled the day of Chaeronca as the death day of Greece; every princlpie of life was eut off; the Greeks, incieed, continued to exist, but in spirit, and politically, they were ciead. . . . Phillp was now at the belght of his power. Byzantlum, and the other ailied eities, had submitted to the conqueror, wich he sent his army agsinst them, and he was airendy trying to establish himseif in Asia. 'A detachment of troops, under Attalus, had been ment aeross, to kcep open the road for the great expellition, and had encamped on mount Idn.' Phliip was this enabied to commence his passage across the Ileliespont whenever he pleased. But the ciose of his career was aiready at hand." Ife was assassinated in August, B. C. 336, by a certain I'ausanias, nt the instlgation, it is sald, of Oiympias, one of Phiilp's several wives-and the mother of his famous son Alexander - whom he hnd repudiated to piease a younger bride. "Phillp was unquestiounhiy an uneommon and extraordinary man, and the opinion of several among the ancients, that by the foundntion of the Macedoninn state he did something far greater than Alexnnder by the application of the powers he inherited, is quite correet. . . . When we regard him ns the creator of his state, by uniting the nust different nntions, Macedoniaus and Grecks:. . whell we reflect what a man he must have linen, from whom proceeded the impulse fortraln suein great generais, . . . to whom Alesamifer, it must be observed, did not add one, for all Alex:nder's generais procected from the schomi of lhilip, and there is not one whom Aiexander did not inherit from Philip:-wfen we pereeve the sklll with wifich he gilued over nations ami states, . . . we cnnnot but acknowl. eflee that he was an extraoniinary man. "-B. G. Nichuhr, Lerts on Ancient Ilist., lects. 69 and 66 ( $\mathrm{r}, \mathrm{B}^{2}$ ) A1so is: (. Thirlwall, Hint. of Greece, ch. 4346 (r. 5-0)-T. I.clamd, Miat, of the Life curl Reint of l'hili, of U/eredion, bh. oz-i.

GRRECE, B. C. 857-336. Philip

B. C. 35I-348.-The Oiynthian War. - Destruction of Olynthus hy Philip of Macedonia. - Ifter tike overthruw of Spartan domination In Greece, olynthus recovered its independence und regainevl, during the socond quarter of the fourth century B. C., n considerable degree of prosperity nol power. it was ceren helne? in its rise by the cunning, dungerous hand - : ilhilip of Mace. don. Who secured miny and great nivantages in his treacherous dipionacy by playing the nustuai jealousles of Athens and Olynthis ngainst one another. The Oiyntitian Confederiey, formed anew, just served its purpose as a connterpoise to the Atherian Cunfederacy, untii Philiphai no more need of tint serviee. IIe was the friend andi aliy of the former untii he hnd seeured Ampinipoif. Diethone, and other necessary positions in Macodonia and Tirace. Then the misk the. gan to sif and Olynthus (B. C. 351) got ghmpses of the trie characicr of her subtle neighone. Too late, she male overtures to Athens, and Athens, too late, saw the vital lmportanee of a reague of friendichip bet ween the two Greek confederacles, against the haif Hellenic, half barbarie Macedonian kingdom. Three of the great speeches of Demosthenes - the "Oiynthiac ora-tions"- were made upon this theme, and the orator sueceeded for the first time in persusding his degenerated countrymen to sct upon hisciear View of the situation. Athens and Oiynthus were jolned in a defensive league and Athenlan ships and men were sent to the Chaieidian peninsuia, too late. Partiy by the foree of his arms and partiy by the power of his gold, buying traltors, Philip took Oiynthus (B. C. 848) and ali the thirtytwo lesser towns that were federated with her. He took them and he destroyed them most brutaliy. "The haughty eity of Olynthis vanished from the faec of the earth, and together with it thirty. two towns lnhabited by Greeks and flourishing as commerciai comnunitles.

- The iot of those who saved life and liberty was happy in comparison with the fate of those who, like the majority of the Oiynthians, fell into the hands of the conqueror and were sold into slavery, whlle thelr possessicns were hurnt to ashes or flung as booty to the mercemaries. . . . The mines continued to be worked for the royal treasury; with this exception the whole of Chaicldic became a descrt."-E. Curtius, IIIst. of Greece, bk. 7, ch. 3 ( $e .5$ ).

Also Iv: A. M. Curteis, Rise of the Macedonian Empire, ch. 4-5.-B. G. Vicbuhr, Lects. on Ancient Ifint., lect. 66-68(o. 2).
B. C. 340.-Siege of Byzantium by Philip of Macedonia,-The enmity between Athens and Byzantlum yielded in 340 B . C. to their common fear of Philip of Jacedon, and the exertions of Demosthenes lirought about an aliianee of the two cities, In whieh Perintinus, the near neighbor of Byzantium, was also jolned. Phlifp, in wrath, procceled with a flect and army against both eities, laying siege, first to Perinthus and nfterwaris to Byzantinm, but without suceess in elther case. He was compelled to withdraw, after wastligg several months in the fruiticss madertaking. It wns one of the few failures of the abic Macedouinn.-G. Grote, Hist. of Greece, pt. 2, ch. 90 ( $c .11$ ).
B. C. 336-335.-Northern campaign of Alexander of Macedonia.-Revolt at Thehes.Destruction of the city.—"Aiexander took up and coutinued the poiitical and military schemes which hls father had begun. We first make acqunintance with him and his army during his eampaign ngalnst the tribes on the northern frontier of Makerionin. This campaign he carried out with energy equai to that of Philip, and with more suecess (spring of 335 B . C.) The distinctive fenture of the war was that the Makedonian phalanx, the organizntion and equipment of whieh were adiapted from Greclan molels. everywhere won and maintalned the upper iand. .. Even at this epoeif I3yzantlum was rising Into lmportance. Tiat city had, owing to its hostility witi Persin, deserted the side of the Greeks for that of the Makedonians. It wros from Byzantium that Aiexander summoned triremes to help lim against the isiond in the Dannhe on which the king of the Tribaill had taken refuge. . . The great suecesses of Alexander induced ail the neighboring natinalities to arerpt tike jroposals of frlendship whieh he made to them. . . . In Greece faise reports concerning the progress of events in the nurtii had ralsed to fover heat the general ferment which naturally existed. Ale.zander relled upon the recolutlons of the League of the Publle Peace [formed by the Congrese at Curlath], whlch had recognlzed hls father and afterwards himself as lts head. But he was now opposed by all those who were unable to forget their former condliton, and who preferred the alllance with Persia whlch had left them Independent, to the league with Makedonla which robbed them of thelr autonomy.
Thebes took the lead of the malcontents, andi set about riddling herself of the garrison which Phlllp had placed in the Cadmeia. She thus became the centre of the wholc Ifellenle oppositlon. The enemles of Makedon, who had been exlled from every city, assembled in Thebes. . . . The same party was stirring $\ln$ Lakedmmon, in Arcadla, in Etolla, and, above all, at Athens. From Athens the Thebans were supplled, through the medlatlon of Demosthenes, and doubtless by means of Perslan gold, with arms, of whlch they were likely to stand in need. . . . Alexander had no sooner settled with his enemles in the north than he turned to Hellas. So rapld was hls movement that he found the pass of Thermopyle still open, and, long before he was expected, appeared wefore the walls of Thebes," The fate of the clty was declded by a battle in whlch the Makedonians were overwhelmingly vletorious. "In the market-place, in the streets, $\ln$ the very liouses, there ensued a hldeous massacre. The victors were, however, not satlisfled with the slaughter. Alexander summoned a meeting of hls League, by whlch the complete destructlon of Thebes was decreed, and thls destruction was actually carried out (October, $335 \mathrm{~B} . \mathrm{C}$.). [At the same tlme Platea, whleh Thebes had destroyed, was ordered to be rebullt.] In Greclan hlstory it was no unheard of event that the members of the defeated nation should be sold into slavery, and so it happened on thls occasion. The sale of the slaves supplled Alexander with a sum of money which was no lncorslderable addltlon to hls mllitary chest. But hls main objeet was to strike terror, and this was spread through Grece hy the ruthless destructlon of the clty of Edlpus, of Plndar, and of Epamelnondas.
Deep and unlversal horror fell upon the Greeks. . The close conneetlon that cxlsted at thls moment between Greclan and Perslan affairs forbade hlm to lose a moment $\ln$ turning his arms towards Asla.

A war between Alexander and Persla was ine -itable, not only on account of the relation of the Greeks to Makedon, whose roke they were very loth to bear, but on account of their relatlon to Persla, on whose support they leaned. . The earecr which Phlllp had begun, and in whlch Alexander was now proceedlng. led of neeessity to a struggle with the prower that held sway in Asla Mlnor. Until that power were defeated, the Makedonlan kingdon could not be regarded as firmly establlshed." - L. von Ranke, Univereal IFistory: The Ohdeat Hist. Group if Vations and the Greeks, ch. 10, pt. 2.
Also in: Arrian, Anabasia of Alexander, bl. 1, ch. 1-10.-T. A. Dodge. Alexander, ch. 14-17. B. C. $334-323$.-Aslatic conquests of Alexander the Great. See Macedonla: B. C. 334 :man: and 280232 .
B. C. 323-322. - Attempt $t 0$ break the Macedonian Yoke.-The Lamian Wreak the jugatlon of Athers.-Suppression of democ-racy.-Expulsion of poor citizens.-Deathoc-

Demosthenes.-On the death of Alezander the Great, B. C. 328, a party at Athens whlch still hoped for freedom in Greece set on foot a vigorous movement deslgned to break the Macedonlan yoke. A league was formed $\ln$ which many citles jolned - a larger assemblage of Hellenic states, says Mr. Grote, than that whlch reslsted Xerxes in 480 B. C. A powerful army of Greek citizens and mercenaries was formed and placed under the command of a capable Athenlan, Leosthenes, who led It lnto Thessaly, to meet the Macedonlan gencral Antlpater, who now ruled Greece (see Macedonia: B. C. 828-si6). The latter was defcated in a battle whlch ensued, and was driven into the fortlifed Theseallan town of Lamla, where he was besleged. Unfortunately, Leosthenes was kllled during the progreas of the slege, and a long lnterval occurred before a new commander could be agreed on. This gave Antlpater tlme to obtaln succor from Asia. A Macedonlan army, under Leonnatus, crossed the Hellespont, and the besiegers of Lamla were forced to break up thelr camp in order to meet lt. They did so with success; Lennnatus was slaln and hls army driven back. But meantlme Antlpater escaped from Lamia, jolned the defeated troops and retrentel lnto Macedonla. The war thus begun, and whlch took the name of the Lamlan War, was contlinued, not unfavorably to the confcderates, on the whole, untll the following summer - August, 322 B. C. - when it was ended by a battle fought on the plain of Krannon, in Thcasaly. Antlpater, who had been joined by Kraterus. from Asla, was the vletor, and Athens with all lier alles submitted to the terms whlch he dietated. IIe establlshed a Macedonlan garrison In Munychla, and not only suppressed the democratlc constltution of Athens, but ordered all the poorer citlzens - all who possessed less than 2,000 drachme's worth of property, belng 12,000 out of the 21,000 who then possessed the Athenlan franchlse - to be driven from the eity; thus leaving a selected cltizenship of 9,000 of the rieher and more managcable men. The banished or deported 12,000 were scattered in Thrace, Illyria. Italy and even $\ln$ northern Africa. The leadcrs of the anti-Macedonlan rising were pursued with unrelenting anlmosity. Demosthenes, the great orator, who had been consplcuous among them, was dragged from a temple at Kalauria, to which he had fled, and took polson to eseape the worse death which probably a walted hlm.-G. Grote Ilist. of Greece, pt. 2, ch. 95 (0. 12)
B. C. 323-301. -Wars of the Diadochl or Succeasors of Alexander. Sce Macedonia: B. C. 323-316; 315-310; and 310-301.
B. C. 321-312.-The conteat for Athens and Peloponneaua, between Cassander and Poly-sperchon.-Execution of Phocion.-Restoration of Thebes.-"Antlpater, after the termlnatlon of the Lamlan war, passed over to Asla and took part in the affalrs there [see Macedonia: A. D. 823-316]. Belng appolnted guarillan to the Kings, as the chlldren and relatives of Alexander were called, he returned to Maccdonia, leading them wlth him. . Antlpaterdled (Ol. $115,3)$ alortly after his meturn to Macedoula. He directed thit Polysperehon, hls anclent mats in arms, shoulu succeed him ln his office, whlle to hls son Cassander he left only the second place. But Cassander, an ambltlous youth, lookerl upon hls father's authority as his inheritance; and relying on the aid of the aristocratic party in the Grecian states, of Ptolemeus, who rulcd in Egypt, and of Antigonus, the nost powerful general in Asla, he resolved to dispute it with Polysperchon. L'nder pretext of golng a-hunting, he escaped out of Macedonia, aal passed over to Asia to concert matters with Antigonus. Polysperchon, speing war lnevitable, resolved to detach Grecee, if possible, from Cassanler. Know. ing that the oligirehies establishodin the different states by Antipater would be llkely to espouse the cause of his son, he issued a pompous edict, in the name of the Kings, restoring the democracles. . . At Athens (O1. 115, 4) [B. C. 317], Nicanor, who conmuanded in the Mnyyrhia, flnding that the people were Inelined toward Inly. sperehon, seeretly eoliected tronoss, und seized the Piravers. The people sent to him Phocion, Coann the son of Timothelas, and Clearchus, men of distinetion, and his friends; but to uo purpose. A letter also eame to him from Oiympias, Ales. ander's another, whom Polysperchon had recailedi from Epelrus, anl glven the eharge of her lufant granison, ordering hiln to surrencier loth the Aunychia and the l'inteus; but to as littlecffect. Finally, I'olysperchon's soa Alexander eatered Attica with an army, and eneamped lefore the Pireeus. Ihocion ind other chatis of the aristocraey went 10 Alexamber, nud advised him unt to give these places up to the jeople, but to hohl thein himself till the eontest with Cassander shouhl be terminated. They fearel, It is evident, for thelr own safety, and not wlthout reason; for the people, ferocions wlth the reeorery of power. soonafter helianassembly, in wblch they deposed all the former inagistrates, appointed the most furions ilemocrats in their room, and pussed senteuces of death, bauishnueat, and contscation of goorls on those who hind governed under the oigarchy. Phocioa uad hls frlends fled to Nlexnuder. who received then klndly, and sent them with letters in their favor to bls father, who was now in Phocls. The Athenians aiso desputched an embassy, and, vielding to motives of interest. Polysperchon sent his suppliants prisoners to Athens, to stand a trial for their lives before the tribunal of an anarehle mob. . . . The prisoners were condemned aud led off to prison, followed by the tears of their fricuds and the triumphant execrations of their mean-splrited cuemies. They drank the fatal bemiock-jnice, and their boelies were cast unburied begond the eonfines of Attiea. Four days nfter the death of Phocion, Cassaader arrived at the Piraeus witb $3 \overline{5}$ ships, earrying 4,000 nen, given him by Antigonus. Polysperchon immediately entered Attiea with 20.000 Maedonian finot and 4,000 of those of the allics. 1,000 borse. and 65 elephants, which he bad brought from Asia, and eneainped nour the Il. reeus. But as the siege was likely to be tedlous, and sufficient provisions forso large an army couhl not he had, lie left $n$ force such ns the eountry could suppurt whth his son Alexander, and passed with the remainder Into Peloponnesus, to foree the Megalopolitans to submalt to the Kings; for they alone sided with Cassnuder, all the rest havlng obeyed the directions to put to deatb or banish his adherents. The whole serviceable papuiation af Jigalopolis, slaves Inchulet, anounted to 15,000 mea; and under the dirce. tions of one Damis, who hat served in Asia under Alexander, they prepared fur a vigorous defenee. Polysperchon sat down before the town, and hls miners in a short thme suceeeded in throwing down three towers and a part of the wall. He attempted a storm, but was ohliged to draw oll his men, after an obstinate contlict. . . . The Athenians meantine saw theamelves exeluded from the sea, and from ail thelr sources of profit and enjoyment, while little aid was to be ex. peeted from I'olysprechon, who had been foreed to ralse the siege of Megalopolis, and whose fleet had just now been destroyed by Antigonus in the Hellespont. A citizen of some eonsideration ventured at ieagth to propose in the asscimbly an arrangeaten with Cassamier. The ordianry tumult at first wis ruiseri, but the sense of interest thally prevaikei. I'eace was procured, on the eonditions of the Mungchla remaiuing in C'ussander's hanils till the end of the present con. test; politieal priviluges being restrieted to those posscased of ten mians and upwards of property, and a person appointed ly Cassander being at the heal of the government. The person selected for this ofthee wis Demetrins of Phaleron, a distiaguished Atheninn citizen; and nnder his mald and eqnitabie rule the people were far happler that they eould have been muler a demoeraey, for whieh they hau proved themselves no longer ft. Cassander then passed over into Peloponnesus, aud laid siege to Tegea. While bere, he heram that Oiyapias had pat to death several of his friends in Mnemlonia; among the rest, Philip Aridans and his whe Euryilice, men.bers of the rogal faniiy. IIe at onee (Ol, 116, 1) [13. (C, 316] set out for Macedonit: and. as the pass of I'yle was occupied by the Etollans, be embirked his troops in Joeris, and linuici them ln Thessaly. ile besieged Olymplas in Pyina, forced her to surrender, and jut her todeath. Nacedonin subnitted to him, and he then set forth for Peloponnesus, where Polysperchon's son Alexauder was at the head of an army. Ife fored a pussage thre igh Pyia, and eoming into Burotia, nunouueed his intention of restoring Tbebes, which had now laia desolute for twenty years. The scattered Thebaus were eollected; the towns of Beeotia and other jarts of Greece (Athens in partienlar), und even of Italy and Sielly, ahied to raise the walls and to supply the wauts of the returnlng exiles, and Thebes was once more uumbered among the cities of Greece. As Alcxander guarilet the Isthmos, Cassander passed to Megara, where he cmbarked his troops aud clephants, and erossed over to Epidaurus. Ilc inade Argos "and Messeae come over to his sile, and then returned to Macedouin. In the contlict of interests whleh prevalied in this anarchice perlod. Antigonus was ere long among the cuenies of Cassaniler. He sent one of bis geuerais to La. conht, who, having obtalued peraission from the Spartans to reeruit in Pelopouacsus, rulsed 8,000 nuen. The comamad in Peloponnesus was given to I'olysperehon, whose son Alexaader wns summoncl wer to Asia to aceuse Cassander of treason lefore the assembly of the Macedonian soldiers. Cassmmher was proelalmed a public cnemy unkess be submitted to Antigonus; it the sance tlme the Greeks were deelared Imdependeut. Antigoans hoping thins to galn theth owor to his side. Ilo then sent Alexamder baek with 500 talents; nud when l'alemorus of Figypt hoand what Antlgonuts buil loae, he ulso hastened to declare the inde. pendence of the Greeks; for ail the contending genrrais were anxlous to stand well with the pcople of Gruce, from whieh country, exclusive of other alvantages, they drew the lr best soldlers.

GREECE, B. C. 821-812.

Antigonus, to show the Grecks that he was In earuest in hls promlse to restore them to lade. pendence, sent one of hls generals, named Teles. phorus, whth a tleet and army to Peloponnesus, Who expelled Cassander's garrisuns from most of the towns. The following year (01. 117, 1) [B, C. 312] he sent an oflicer, nained Ptolemmeus, wlth another fleet and army to Greece. Ptotemsens landed in Breoth, and lielng jolned by 2, 200 foot, and 1,300 horse of the bocotians, he passed over to Eubce: where having exprlled the Dacedonhn garrison from Chaleis (the only town there whlel Cassamder held), he left It whthout any forelgn garrison, as a proof that Antlgonns meant falrly. Tle then took Orôpus, and gave it to the Brothans; le entered Attica, and the people forced Demetrins Phulerens to make a truce with hlm, aml to semb to Antlgonus to treat of an alllance. Ptolemants returneni to Bhooth, expelled the garrt. son from the Calmeia, and liberated Thebes."T. Keightley, Mint. of (irever, pt. 3. ch. 5.

Also in: C. Thlriwall, Mint. of (irecee, ch. 58 (c. 7 ).
B. C. 307-197.-Demetrius and the Antigonids. - ln the spring of the year 307 lB . C. dthenswas surprised by un expedition sent from Fphenas by Intigonas, under his adventurons son I beurtrlus, surnumed Poliorcetes (sec Mace: insis: 13. ( $310-301$ ). The clty had theu leen fur to:l Years subject to Cassander, the rulligg dibef in Nacedouin for the time, and appears to have been miluly goverucd ly Cassaniler's lientenani, Wemetrius the Ihalerian. The coming "f the other Demetrins offeral nothing to the Athenians lint n clange of nasters, bit they welcomed him whth extrisingant demonstrations. Their alegeneracy was shown in proceerlings of Asiatleservility. They deifled Demetrhas and his father $1 \cdot$ i, uonis, crected altars to them and appminten] a Astering priests. After some nonths bivent ut Whotis in the enjoyment of these alalations, Dimetrins returned to A sia. to take part in the wir which Antigomas was waging whth I'tolemy of Egypt and Lysimaclms of Thmace, tu" of lis former partners In the partlion of the cimpire of Alexander. He was ntosent three years, and then returned, at the call of the dhanims, tos suve them from fatling again lnto the hatuls of Cussabder. lle now mate Athens his capital, as it were, for someding mare than a year, while he acquired control of Corinth, Arens, Nicyon, Chateis in Enbora ind other insprotant places, greatly relncing the dominion of thi Macelonian, (assinder. llis treatment at Aharis. daring this perionl. was marked hy the same impions and disgraceful servility ns before. lle wiss called the guest of the grodess Athene and lialyad in the Pinthenom, whirh he pollnted with intolerable debaucherles. But ln the summer of 30113 . ©. this clever inlventurer was summomed again to Asha, to nid his fitther ln the last great strigigle, whleh alecialoul the partition of the empire of Nexamber between his self. comstitutal heirs. At the battle of Ipsus (see Incemonit: 13. C. 310-301). Intironne perished and lemetrius was stripped of the kinglom lie experted to inherit. Ile turned to Athens for conmation, and the fickle city refused to admit fim within hor wall., lhut after sume periox of wamlerings and adventures the unconeriex of prince got together n force with whleh he connfrelled the Athenians to receive hlnm, on more definlte terms of submission on thelr part and of mustery on hls. Moreover, he establlshed hls rule In the greater pa't of Peloponnesus, and finally, on the leath of Cassander (B. C. 207), he acquired the crown of Jacerlonla. Not satlsfed wlth what fortune lual thus glven hlm, he uttempted to recover the Aslatie klngdom of hls futher, and dled, B. C. 283 , a captlve in the hands of the Syrian monnreh, seleueus. His Dacedonhn kingrlom had meantime been selzed by l'yrrlus of Eplrus; but it was ultimately recovered by the chlest legltimate sou of Demetrlus, callel Antigonus Gouatus. From that time, for a century, untll the Romans came, not only Bacedonil, but (ircece at large, Athens included, was rulidel or dominated by thls klog and hils descendinta, kuown as the Antlgonid klngs. - C.
Thirl witll. IIist, of Grecee, eh, 59-60 (r. 7-8).
B. C. 297-280. - Death of Cassander. - In. trigues and murders of Ptolemy Keraunos and his strange acquisition of the Macedonian throne. Sie Dicemonis: 13. C. $297-280$.
B. C. 280-279.-Invasion by the Gauls. Sce Gaciss: B. C. 280-2\%
B. C. 280-275.-Campaigns of Pyrrhus in Italy and Sicily. See lume: 13. ( $1.98 \%-075$.
B. C. 3d Century. - The Hellenistic world. - As the result of the conquests of Alexunder and the wars of his successors, tleere were, lu the thirl century before Christ, three grent Mellenlstlekingdums, "Macetonha, Eyypt, Syria, whieh lnsted, each inmer its own ryuasty, till Rome swallowed then 1 lp. The first of these, whleh was the poorest, and the smallest, but hlstorimally the most linportant, included the uncestrnl possessions of Philip and Alexander Macelonla, most of Tirace. Thessaly, the mountalnons centre of the perninsnla, as well as a protectorite more or less definite aml absohite over Grecee proper, the Cychales, and certain tracts of Caria.

Next came Egypt, Inclading Cy. rene and ('sprus, and a generil protectorate over the sea enast ditios of Asia Minor up to the Black Sen, toguthr with chims often asserted with success on syria. mul on the coast limels of southern Asiii Mhor. . . . Thirdly came what was now called syrla, on necount of the polley of the loonse of siolenetes, who built there lis capital, nud detorminerl to make the Greek or Herlionistic end of lts wist dominlons its politlal centre of gravity. The Kinglom of Syria owned the senth and sonth east of Asla Miuor, Syria, nnd generally lalestine, Ilesopotmmia, and the mombtaln provinees uljoining lt ou the East, with variee claims further cast when there was mo king like Sandmentas to hold India and the $l^{3}$ anjanh whath a strong limbl. Tleere wis still a large element of llellonism in these remote parts. The kingdonn of lbactria $w$ is ruled by a dyansty of kings with Greck nimmes - Enthydenms is the chlef - who coined ln Greek style, and must therefore lave regrathal themsclvis as shecessors to Alexander. There are many exceptions and limitations to this general descrlption, nad many secondary and simi-indepordlent. kingdoms, whicln make the picture of Ilellenism Intinitely virions and complicated. Therc wis, in fact, a chain of independent kingdoms remeling from Dealla to Siparta, all of whleh assertal thaldr romplete frefelom, ind generally attained It by buhneing the great powers one against the other. Here they are in their order. Atropatene was the kingdom In the northern and western parts of the province of Medla, by Atropates, the satrap of Alexander, who clalmed deacent from the seven Perslan chlefs who put Darfu: I. on the thronc. Next came Armenla. hardly conquered hy Alexsnder, and now eatablished under a dynasty of It own. Then Cappadocla, the land in the heart of Asla Jlinor, where It narrows between Cllicia and Pontus, ruled by soverelgns also clalming royal Pershan descent.

GREECE, B. C. 3D CENTURY. The Achaian $\begin{gathered}\text { Loagur. } \\ \text { GREECE, B. C. } 280-140 .\end{gathered}$

Fonrthly, Pontus, under lis equally Perslan dynast Ilithridates - a klngdom Which makes a great figure in Eastern history under the later IRoman Itepubllc. There was moreover a dynast of Bhtignia, set up and supported liy the robber state of the Cehtic Gulatlans, which had just been founded, and was a source of strength and of danger to all Its nelgh. bours. Then Pergamnm, just belng founded and strengthened by the tirst Attalld, Phlletarus, an officer of Lysimachus, and presently to become one of the leadlng exponents of IIellenlsm.

Almost all these second rate stntes (and with them the free Greek cltles of Heraclela, Cyzlcus, Byzantlum, dxc.) were fragments of the shattered Klngdom of Lisslnachus. . . . Wo have taken no account of a very pecullur feature extending all through cren the Greek kingdoms. espectally $t$ ' it of the Seluclds - the nuniber of large Hellentstle cltles founded as spechal centres of culture, or polats of defence, and organlzed as such with a certain local ladependence. These citices, most of whlch we only know by name, were the real backlone of IIellenlsm in the world. Alexander ham fonuded sevent $y$ of them, all eilled ly lis mune. Mauy were npon great trude lhes, like the Alexundria which stlll exIsts. Dany were Intended as garrisou towns In the centre of reinote provlinces, llke Caudahar - a corrnption of Iskauderleh, Iskendar belag the Oriental form for Alexander. Some were incre outposts, where Macerloulan soldlers were forced to settle, and guard the fronthers agalnst the barbarians, like the Alexandria on the Iaxartes. . . . As regards Seleucus . . . we have a remarkable statement from ippian that he foumedel citics tl:rough the length und loadth of hls Kingrom, viz., sixteen Antlochs cu:
Liss father, tive Jamblewas aficer hils mother, 12 ne $^{\circ}$ Selencias after himself, three Apmemeis and onc Siratoniceia ufter hls whes. . . All through Syrin and Cpper Asia there are mimy towns Bearing Greek nud Jacedonian mumes - Beren, ber of these, which lave been enumerated $\ln n$ spucial catalogue by Iroysen, the learned historian of Hedlenlsin, is chormons, and the first question whiclt arises In our nolnd is this: where wore Greck-speaking people fonnl to thll them? It is indeal true that Grece proper nlont this thme became depopulated, aud that it uever has recovered from this decay. . . . litt . . . the whole population of Greece would never luve sutficed for one tiblie of the clthes - the great cities - fonniled all over Asia by the Dhaterchl. We are therefore triven to the conclusion that but a small fraction, the soldiers and otlleials of the new citios, were Greeks - Macedonians, when founded by Alexander himself - generally: hroken dowu veternus. nmtinons and disen. teutel troops, aud cablp followers. To these were nssochtet leople from the surrounding country, $\mathrm{i}^{*}$. being Alexamler's tixed hea to dis. countenance sporadic country life in vlllages aud encolirage town communities. The towna accordingly recelved conslderahle privileges.
The Greek language and polltical hahits were thus the one bond of unlon among them, and the extraordinary colonlzing genlus of the Greels once more pro de liself. "-J. P. Mahaity, The story of Ala' inler' Empire, eh. 10.-Sec, also, IIEllenic ilancis and influence
B. C, 280-146.-The Achalan League.-Its rise and fall.- Destruction of Sparta.- Supremacy of Rome, - The Achalan League, whlch bore a leading part In the affalry of Greece durIng the last half of the third and first lalf of the second century before Christ, was In some sense the revival of a more anclent confederacy among the cltles of Achala in I'cloponnesus. The older League, however, was contined to twelve cltles of Achala and had Ilttle welght, apparently, in general Ilellenlc pollthes. The revived League grew beyoud the territorlal bounduries which were indicated ly lts name, and embraced the larger part of Peloponnesus. It began about 240 B . C. by the formlug of a unlon between tho two Achalan chtles of I'atral and Dyme. One by one thelr nelghbors jolued them, untll ten citles were confederated and actling as one. "The tirst years of the growth of the Achahun League are contemporary whith the lnvasion of Maredoula and Greere by the Gauls and whth the wars between Prirhos and Antlgonos Genatas [see Macedonia, de. : B. C. 27:-244]. Pyrrhos, for a moment, expelled Antgonos from the Macerlo. nlan throne, which Antlgonos recovered while Pyrrhos was warring In Peloponnesos. By the thme that Pyrrhos was dead, and Antlgonos agaln firmly fixd In Macedonla, the Leagne had grown up to maturity as far us regarded the chtles of the old Achalit. Thins far, then, circumstances had favoured the quiet and pencefnl grow th of the League." It had had the opportunlty to grow flrm euouglı and strong enough, on the small scale, to offer some lessons to lis disunlted and tyrannlzed nelghlors and to exerclse an at tractlve influcnce upon them. One of the nearest of these nelghbors was Stkyon, which groancd under a tyrinny that had been fastened upon it by Macedonlan intlucncc. Amoug the cxiles from Sikyon was a rentarknble young man named Aratos, or Aratus, to whom the successful working of the small Achaha League suggested some hroader extension of the same politlenl organism. In [3. C. 251, Aratos succceded In delivering hls nutive clty from lts tyrmet and in bringhig about the annexatlon of Sikyon to the Achainn Lengue. Eipht years later, having meantlue leen elected to the ehief olllee of the Leaguc. Aratos accomplished the expulsion of the Macedoniaus and thelr agents from Corinth, Megara, Troizen and Epldauros, nal persuaded those four citles to unite themselves with the Achaians. Huring the next ten years he made slmilar progress in Arkudia. whnlng tow after tow $u$ to the federation, until the Arkndian federal cupital, Megalopolis, was enrolled $\ln$ the list of members, and gave to the Lengne lis greatest acquisition of energy nnd braln. In 229 B. C. the skill of Aritos anci the prestige of the League, nking advantage of dlsturbances in Macedoula, effected the wlthdrawal of the Maeeronian garrisons from Athens and the liberatlon of that city, whish did not become confederated with Its likemtors, but entered Into allhate whit them. Argos was emancipated und anncyed, B. C. 228, and "the League was now the greatent power of Greece. A Feders. tion of equal cities, democratically governed, embraced the whole of old Achala, the whnle nf the Argollc penlnsuln, the greater part of Arkadia, together wlth Phllous, Sikynn, Corinth, Me. k:Ira, and the island of Alglna. The one rival of the Achainn League $\ln$ Peloponueans was sparta, whlch looked with jealousy upon its growing powcr, and would not be confederated with lt. The consequences of that jealous rivalry wre fatal to the hopes for Greece whlch the Aclaian union lad scemed to mplve. Unfor. tunately, rather than otherwise, the Lacedamonian throne came to lie occupled at thls time by the lnst of the hero-klngs of the Herakleld race - Kleomenes. When $t^{1}$ lnevltable collision of war between Spurta and the Leagne occurred (B. C. 22:-231), the personal figure of Kleomenes lowned 80 large in the eonfict that it took the nane of the Kleomenlc War. Aratos was the wurst of gencrals, Kleomenes one of the greatest, ant the Achalans were steadlly beuten ln the fiell. irriven to sore stralis at last, they aball. doused the whole origlnal purpose of thelr federatlou, by $\ln$ vitlug the klng of Macedonia to heip tben erush the Independence of Sparta. To win his ald they gave up Corinth to him, and under his leatership they achleved the shameful victory of Sellasia (B. C. 221), where all that is worthy in Lacedienonian history cnme to an end. The lomgue was now scarcely more t'an a dependen'y of the Macedonlan klngetr an, und flgured as sineh In the so-ealled Soclai War with the Etolhan League, B. C. 219-21\%. The wars of Rome whth Dneedonla which foliowed renewed its political lmportance conslderably for a tlme. Becoming the nliy of Irome, It was able to malntain a certain dignity and lnfluence untll the supremacy of the Ioman arms had been securely proved, and then it sank to the helpless lnslg. niticunce whiel all lioman alllauces led to in the end. It was in that state when, on some com. plaint from Tome (13. C. 167), a thousand of the chief eltizens of Achaia were sent as prisoners to litly and detnined there untll less than 800 survived to return to their homes. Ainong them wis the historian Polyblos. A little later (B. C. 145) there was a wild revolt from the IRoman yokr, in whleh Corlath took the leud. A few months of war ensued, ending $\ln$ a declslve battle at Leukopetra. Then Corinth was sacked atud destroyed by the lRoman army and the Achainn Iearue disappenred from hístory.-E. A. Freeman, Hint. of Federal Gort., eh. 5-0.

Also Is: C, Thirlwall, Hist. of Greece, ch. 6166 (s. 8).-1'oly blus, IIistory.
B. C. 214-146, -The Roman conquest.-The serles of wars in which tbe liomins made them. selves nusters of Greeee ware kuown lu their anmals as the Dacedoninn Wars. At the beginning, they were lnnocent of aggression. A Soung and umbitious but unprincipled king of lincedonia - Philip, who succeeded the able Antigonos Doson - had put himself ln alliance with the Carthaginians and assalled the Romans in the midst of thelr desperate confliet with llamnlbil. For the tlme they were unable to do umore than trouble Phllip so finr as to prevent his lriuging effective relnforcements to the enemy it their ioors, and thls they accomplished In part ly a treaty with the Etollans, whieh enllsted that anscrupulous league upon thelr slde. The first Macedonlan war, whlch began B. C. 214, was terminated by the Peace of Dyrrachlum, B. C. 205. The Heace was of ive yeara duration, and Philip employed It In reckless undertaking: agalnst Pergamus, egalnst Rhodes, agalnst Athens, every one of which carried comnplalnts to llome, the rislng arblter of the Medlterranean world, whose hoatility Phllip lost no opportunity to pmovoke, On the Ides of March, B. C. 200, the Romnn sennte declated war. In the spring of B. C. 107 this second Macedonlan War was ended nt the battle of Cynoscephniaso called from the name of a range of hilis known as the Dog-heads-where the Macedonlan army was annihilated by the consui T. Quinctins Flnmininus. At the nextassembly of the Grecks for the Isthmian Gaines, a cricr Iuade prociamn. tion ln the nrena that the lboman Sennte nod T. Qulnctius the General, havlng conquered King Philip and the Macedonians, declared all the Greeks who had been subject to the klng free nnd lndependent. Ifenceforth, whatever freedom nnd Independence the states of Greuce enjoyed were necording to the wili of Tome. An Interval of twenty-five rears, hroken hy the lnvasion of Antlochus and his defent by the Romnne at Thermopylae (see Selelcid.e: B. C. 284-187), was followed by a third Macedonlin War. Philip was now dead and succereded by his son Perseus, knowu to be hostlle to IRome nal accusel of Intrigues rithleretiemies. The lRoman Senate forestalled his inteutions by decharlng war. The war whieh opened 13. C. 171 was closed by the battle of Pyilna, fought Juue 2:, B. C. ! 0 , where 20,000 Alneedoniaus werd slain uad 11,000 taken prisoners, while the Romans lost scarcely 100 meu. Perseus attempteal ilight, bit was sonn driven to give himself up and was sent to Iome. The blacedoulan kinglom was then ex. tingnished and lts territory divided between four nominnl republics, tributary to lkome. Twenty years after, there was an attenipt uade by a preterder to re-estublish the Mncedonlan throne, and a fourth Macedoniau Winr cecurred: but lt was goon tinished (B. C. 140-see nbove, I3. C. 280146). The forr republies then gave way, to form n lloman province of Incedonla aud Epirus, whlle the remainder of Greece, la turn, became the Rounn provlace of Aclaia-C. Thlriwall, IIist. of Greece, ch. $64-66$ (c. 8).

Also IN: II. G. Lidilell, Wist. of Rome, ch, 39, 43 and $45 .-E$. A. Freeman, Hist. of Federal Gort., ch. 8-9.-Polybins, General IIistory.
B, C. 191.-War of Antiochus of Syria and the Romans. See Selectid.e: B. C. 224-187.
B. C. $14^{6-A . D . ~ 180 .-U n d e r ~ t h e ~ R o m a n s, ~}$ to the reign of Marcus Aurelius,-Sufferings in the Mithridatic war and revolt, and in the Roman civil wars. - Treatment hy the emperors. - Munificence of Herodes Atticus.-"It was some time [ifter the lboman conquest] before the Greeks had greut reason to regret their fortune. A combination of causes, which could harilly have entered into the calculations of any politielan, enabled then to preserve their natioual institutions, and to exerclse all their former socind Intitence, even after the anulhilation of their politicul existence. Their vanlty was thittered by their ndinitted superiority $\ln$ arts and literature, and by the respeet paid to their usages nud pre, judices by the llomans. Their politieal subjec. tiou was at tiast not rery burtencotic: ent a considerable portion of the natlon was allowed to retain the appenrance of Independence. Athens and Sparta were lonoured with the title of albien of lome. [Atheus retalaed this firdependent exlatence, partinking momething of the poaltion of Hamburg in the Cermanie lxoly, untif the time of Carnculla, when its eltizens were nbsorbed latu the Itomnn empire. - Footmote.] The natlonality of the Grevka was so interwoven wlth thele mia nleipal inathutions, that the llomans found it im. posithle to abolish the locul culuinistration; and an Imperfert nttenipt masle ut the time of the conquerat of Achaln wass suon -'.andonen.
The loman eenate was evilet uy not without great jealonsy and some fear of the Greeks: and great primence was displayed $\ln$ adopting anumber of mensures thy whith they were gradualis weakened, and cuittonsly broken to the yoke of their conturerors. It was not untll nifter the tlme of Angnstus, when the conquest of every portion of the Greck nation hat leen eompleted. that the lumans began to wlew the Greeks in the contempthle light fil wheli they nre nepremented by the writers of the cuplat. Crete what not ducel Into the form of a province untll about elght yeurs after the subjection of Achala, aud its comuthest was mot effected withous difllenty: aftern war of three grurs. by the presence of a consular nemy. The resistance it offered was an olvithate that it was almost depopulated ere the Rum:my coull complete its couquest. . . . The Roman governmens . . . soon mulopteal mensures tending to diminlsh the resources of the Grevk atates when reecivel as allles of the repulilie.

If we conthl place implich falth In the tentimony of so firm amb partial an adherent of the lomians as Polyhlus, we mast leelleve that the lounan administrution was mt first characterisel by a hwe of justlee, and that the Roman magls. trates were far less venal than the Greeks.
lass than a century of Irresponslble power effertest a woulerful change ia the conduet of the Roman maghatmites. Clecero declares that the senate made a tratle of justlee to the provhichas.

But us the government of linme grew more oppresslve, and the amonnt of the taxes levied on the provinces was more seserely exacten, the hucreased power of the repuhtic renderel any rebellhn of the Girecks uterly hopeless. . . Fur slxty Jears after the conqueat of Achaia, tha Grecks remancel toctle sulijucts of tome. The number of loman usurers lnereasell, anit the exactions of Roman publlems in collectling the taxes became mure oppresslve, wo that when the white Rome appeared plunged in anarithy hy the elvil hroils of the partlsans of Marias anil syha. the firuebs in ofllee eonceivel the viln hope of rucovering their hulepentence [see Mitumatitic Wals: and Atitess: 13. C. 8i-80]. . . Both parties. during the Mithrhatle war, Intlleted severe lajurlew on Grece. . . Many of the: losses were mever repalred. The foundations of natconal prewnerity were underminel, and it hene forw ral herame impowible to save from the andaal consumption of the inhabitasta the sums neressary to replace the acmmulatent cipi: till of arese, which this short war had numbhiated. $\rightarrow$ - Finlay, firefer ululer the Rumbna, ch. 1 "Scercely bad the storm of IRoman war pissowl In, when the cilichan pirates, findiag the eoasts Irecere prendarly favorable for their marandincursions, and tempted by the wealth acenmulated In the cities an:d te:? phes, monmencel their depredations on so glgantic a scule that

Rome telt obliged to put forth nil her milltary forces for thelr supprezeion. The explalts of l'ompey the Great, who winc chothell whth nuk. erntle power to destroy this glyautic evil, fill the brightest chapter in the history of that celehtmeri Pirites orl. $\qquad$ The sivil wara in which the great lepubile expireal 1 ail the flethls of Ureere for thelr theatre. Cinder the tramp of eontent Ing armles, her fertile plaing were deminted, and itiman htowl, In a cause nut her nwn, agaln and nginin molatenell her will [see Ilowe: is C. AH, 4t-42, and 31]. But at leugth the clvil wam have come $\mathbf{t o}$ an end, ami the Empire latroxinces. for the flrat time In the muthurholy history ef man, a nitute of unlversul monce. Crecee athl maintalus her pre- molneuce in literature and art, and lire sehowis are frepuenteyl by the sons of the foman nrlatormey. lier ehler prete serve as moxklels to the Hiterury genins of the Augnstan uge.

The hatorians form themselyes on Attle prototypes, nad the phllosophers of fame divlide themwelves namong the Grechan merts, whllo In Athens the Platonists, the Ntoles, the Perjpatotles. nud the Ephrurems sthl haunt the seones Whth whald the names of thelr masters were insparibly usarclated.

The estahilshment of the Eimpire male but litule change th the administration of Griece. Augustus, Indeed, showed no great molleltude. excrept to muintain the comatry in subjectlou by his milltary coloulas, - ess. peclally those of latree and Nleoprolla. Ile even deprived Athe of the priviloge's she had enjogerd under the lepuldic, and broke down the remalnlag power of Sparta, hy leclarlng the the dependence of her subject towis. Some of his succersors trenteyl the country with favor, end entravored, by a chemens use of nuthority, to mitigate the sulferlags of Its declime. Even Nero, the ambible flather of Rome. Was promed to display the extent of his musleal nimbithes lat thelr theatres. $\qquad$ The noble Trajan nhloweed the Greeks to retain thele former lexal privileges, and dh] anuch to lmprove their condithon by his whes ant just almhistraton. Ladrlun was a phasshanate lover of Greek urt und literature. Athens esperially pecelved the nomplest benetits from his taste nal wealth. He tinimbic: the temple of Otympian Zous: extublishoel a puble library: built a pantheon and a gyumaviun; refurth the temple of A pollo at Mogari: fimproverl the ohd roady if Grece and mate new oness . . . Antunts - d Marcus Auretims showed ginel will tof $\therefore$ The latter reloblt the temple at Ele. Gnd Improved the Athentan schools. ral 1 - the salaries of the tenchers, and in various way- contrihuting to make Atheus, ns it had been before, the most hlustrious sent of lenrning In the wortu. It was In the relgen of thils Einperor. In the seronil evitury of our era, that one "f the greatest bevefacturs of Athens utul atl Gruece livet- - llermbes Attlets, distinguishayl alike for wealth, learuhag. sad elonuence. Buru at Marathon. chacated at Athens by the best temeluers his fathor's wealth couht prixure. he berame on goinge to [Rome, In early Ilfe, thi. rhetorical temeher of Mareus Aurelius himself. Antonhas lias hestowed on him the houor of the consulship: but he preferred the career of a teacher at Athens to the highest political dignithes ... and he was followed thither by young men nf the mint emlitat liethan fatulties, from the Emperor's down.

It Athens, south of the Illsaus he hullt the stadlum .i. and the thentre of Regllan. . . At Corinth he bullt a thentre: at Olynipha, an muverluet; at Delphl, a race-course: and at Thermopyle, a hompltal. Helopmanesus, Eubran, Ikotla, nnt Epelrus ex. perfenced his bounty, nod even Italy wan not forgotten in the laviuhtlst rilution of lils wealth. Ile dleal In A. I). 180."-C. C. Felton, (8reere, Ancient and Momern, th courme, leet. $3(n, 2)$, On the Influence whleh (ircek gealus and culture exerimed upon the Itomans, see IIElianic akmits AND INFITCENCE.

Alan in: T, Momnisen, Ifint. of Ilome: The Prurinces, rh. 7 (o. 1) - - J. P. Malinlty, The Dreek llorld umier Roman viray.-Ster, nimo, Atubise: 13. ( $.197-$ A. 1). 184 .
B. C. 48.-Cesar's campalgn agalnet Pom-pelus.-Pharsalla. Spe lkome: 11. C. 4 .
A. D. 250-395.-Gothlc Invasions. Swi fotirs.
A. D. 330. - Transference of the capltal of the Roman Empire to Bysantium (Constantlnople). Sie ('onntantinily if: A. I). ;30).
A. D. 394-395.-Final dlvislon of the Roman Emplre between the sons of Theodoslus. Definlte orcanlzation of the Eastern Empire under Arcadius. tre ITomf: A. I). 304-345.
A. D. 425.-Legal separation of the Eastern and Weatern Emplres. See Ifonlu: A. I). 42:-10).
A. D. 446, - Devastating Invasion of the Huns. S41 $11 \mathrm{rxw}:$ A. [). 441-44B.
A. D. 527-567. - The reign of Justinlan at Constantinople. - His recovery of Italy and 7th Century.-Slavonic oceupatlon of the Peninsula. See Slavonic I'Eifleis: GTII AND іти Centehes.

A. D. 717-8205.-The Byzant Ine Emplre to its fall. sire Břantink Fivpike: A. I), $77^{\circ}$, tu 1:04-120.5; und Tuadfe, Meviatipal.
A. D. 1205-1261: Overthrow of the Byzantine Empire by t: Crusaders. - The Latin Empire of Rom. a; the Greek Emplre of Nicaz; the duked ins of Athens and Naxos; the principality of Aehaia. Sye liowisin:

A. D. 126i-1453.-The restored Byzantine or Greek Emplre, Lie Conntantinopi.e: $\mathbf{A}$. I).
 11\%:3.
A. D. 1453-1479. - The Turkish Conquest.

 11.i4.
A. D. 1454-1479. - War of Turks and Venetians in the Peninsula.-Siege of Corinth. Sack of Athens.-Massaeres at Negropont and Croia.-."Thie toklng of Constantlinple hy the lurks, atal the eiptivity of the Firtothens sottleil la [Pran, threnternel [the power of Venlee] in the East: nad slre frit nu repugnnmee to entre into a trenty with the enomion of her rell. gion. A fler a verar's negotiatom. terms wre enor. cliniol [14.54] betweru the Siltann nind Venice: by whith her passessions were menreal to her, and bur trale gitarinted throughout the enipire. In virtae of this trents sle eonthumet to occinps Vinhom. Coron. Snpuill il liamania, Argos, anil other citios on the inders of the I Penininlas. terether with Fabmat (Xegropmont and some of the ainaller isimnds. But this good understiniling was interrupted In 1463, when the Turks contrived an exeuse for attacklng the Venctlan territory. Under prrtence of rementing the asylumaforiled to a Turklah refuget, the Inasha of the Nuren lwembeged and eapturet Irgon; and the le'pulble felt lacelf compelien linmenlintely to rusent the aggresalun. I froinforcement was sent from Vealce to Napmil, and Argon was qulekly reenpturel. Corin'il was inext leaslegel, anil the project of fortifylng the lathoun was once nore ronewerl.

The lalwur of 50,0000 work. munacromplialiev the work $\ln _{1} 15$ dnys: a stone Wall of mure than 13 foet hlgh, defended by a ditch nond flanked by 138 towers, win driwn nerowilmelmitinis. . . Int the approncli of the Turks, w lume numlers were prohahly exugernsted by rejort, threw the Vinuetlans Intio illatrint und consternaton: and, Huwilling to eonthb: In the strengith of thelr minipurt, they abanionerl the slece of corlath, aml retrentedt to :inpmill, from Whleh the inflicils were repulsul with the loss of s, (he) morn. The IPrlapminewim wis now expmed tis the predatury retallathons of the Turks and Veniflans; in the chriathas apremed anxlons ineut of thelr lur'mrons lutherlons. . . In the Fenr 1+6.), Niglamumio Mislatesta lanleal In the Dloren with it re.liforcement of $1,0 \mathrm{MO}$ mont and, whthout effecting the rediction of the cltadel cupturiol and burued Mlaltrin [neur the rulas of nadent Sinrtit]. In the followiug yenr, Vittore Cappello, whth the Vinathat Hect, urrlverl In the strults of Eiripus; and lathling at Anlis mure. al Into. lither. Aftrambing limas.lf master of the Viomethas ritrianted with the spmil to theopposite shores of Eilluati. The vilotorions emrece of Diat. thlas Corvinus, lihir of llungary, fur it the diverted the sultan from the war in the doren;

 nunnerl by foree oll, (HM) strong. lsatirl front the harbontr 'onstintinuphe, nnil sulidel for the stralta of Enrijus. . . The army lamdel without moslestation on tha ishanl. which they unlterl io the mainlame hy hriage of beate, and lm. tureliatuly prenecoled tos lay sleye th the clis of Negropoit.

Tlier lates of the bevegerl were now contred lis the Venctinn tlevt, w? beh, under the commanal of Nionlo (eanale. live at and lar ln the Eitronite finle. Init thint almimal. whilst he awaited a re-inforecturit, lat slip the favourible opportuntty of preventinur the sebarentiont of the enemp. or of shatting up: lhe Turks In the Island ly the destration of thar half-ilesertad tlect and he sutiered the city to be atticket, which, after a viforous resistamive of nemrly a month. Was car.
 tants, who din! not esciape into the eltadel, were put to the sword. It longth that fortress wing also takell: und the birlarans eomqueror, who had promised to rewhert the lapid of the lntrepled gaseraor. "femal it no volation of his worit to Enw his virtim in hatres. Ifter this decisive blow, whictr rednemb the whoke lalatud. Nahomed lot hatk lis evncuaring army to Constiatinople.

This surows enconraged the Turks to atharek the Venetians in their Italian territury ; and the 13asia of I Bositia invaled Istria and Friali, aud
 In the following yoar [1tit], however, the Turks were bathed ln their attempt to reduee Scutariln

Abanla, which had been deffrered by the gallant Braulerbeg to the gumalian care of fenice. a $n$ u aburife negotlatlons for pesce sumpended huwillime untll 1477, when the troopm of Ma. honnu:l lall alege to Crola In Albania, which they redured to the evereat dintress, but a new ineuroun lato Friull atruck a panic lnto the Inhabl. eate of Yealce, who beheld, from the topa of the it charchesand tow ers, the ragling flames which dew,wes the nelghbouring vllages." The Turke, hos ver, withlrew lnto Albanla, where the slege of ( radn , sis termlnated by lte anrrender and tho manware, Its Infiabltante, and the Sultan, In pervill a wed the attack on Bentart. The At!' $r$. .elmin of that at ponghold, however. n•1.cal, with Parful shaghter, a cunthuous an. an to made uf, in their walls during twodays and

Pal unol was forced to convert the - in li' kule, and hla troops reappeared it a fir erepented aggremjonson her ter.

 1'& . 1111, if. , couslgand to the 't ris, "hilat 1.1 ! + o were to he recip.
 (ch in. : was lipposed upon Venlee, 501 act andi it is an] were to be permitteal to ev.""nte the .1": -itr 12. Conym, Miat, if the

At.me in: Bir E: A. Croasy, Thant. of lic entoman T'世, x. ch, 5 .
A. D. 1645-1669.-The war of Candia.-Sur* render of Crete to the Turks by the Venetians. $\therefore$ "Tuks: A. W. 1645-1600.
A. D. 1684-1606.-Conquest bs the Venetiane from the Turke. Sec Tenks: A. 1). 10wt 16! 4 !
A. D. 1699.-Ceasion of part of the Morea to Venice by the Turke. See llivanir: A. 11. $10 \cdot i$ - 1649.
A. D. 1714-1718. - The Venetians expelled again from the Morea by the Turks. - Corfu defended. S'r Truкs: A. I). 1714-1i18.
A. D. $177^{0-1772 .}$-Revolt agaiast the Turkish rulc. - Russian encouragement and deser-

A. D. 1821-1829.-Overthrow of Tarkish rule,-intervention of Russia, England and France.-Battle of Navarino.-Estiblishment of national independence. -"The Spmisli revoIntion of $1 \times 00$ [see Spas: A. 1). $181+1 \times 27]$, whinh was sperdity followed by the rewalnims citonemt thronghout firmpe, ninl paval the way for the ririek revolution of $1 \$^{2} 21$. Share the beginning of the century the Greeks had bern pres paring for the atruigle; in fact, for mute than tifty years there find becn a general mowement in the direction of lumberndence.

There lam ixen many fisurrections agilust the Turkisis nas. thority, but they were menerally suppressed with. ont dillientry, thuetrh with the shedthos of much Greek flewt. Noarly every village in Greece sutferent from pillage be the Turks, and the familiow were comparatively fin thut did mot mumern at fither. shin, or brather. killed ly the Turks or carriend finn shavery. ur a danghter on slater tranapurin in a Turtisil labem. . . Jutwhit. standiag thelr subjugaton, many of the Greeks were commercially proppernus, atwl a large part of the irafic of the Lait was in their hands. They conducted nearly all the comatlap trame of the Levant, and a few yeari before the mevoluthon they had 000 vewsels mountlag 6 , (h) guns (for definere against plrates) and nuanned hy 18,000 seamen.

In laylag their plane for ln. depentence the Greeks Frmorted th the formation of secfet macteties, sand so well was the melome com. lacted that everything was rlpe for lamerrecthon Inefore the Turkinh rulerm ham nny ansplelon of the state of afinirs. A greal mawnclatlon way fromsed whech Inchided Greeks everywhere. not only In (Hreece and its Islamla but In Conotautimople, Austra, Germany, Engluml, and other comutrice, wherever a Ureck conld be fouml. Men of other natlonalltles were occiasionally alnitted, but only when thelr loynity to the Greek caume was beyond questlou, and thelr oflcial positions gave flemi a chuns to an! In the work. Several ills. tluguished liuwhans were memlera, amone them t'onnt ('upu l)'lutria, a (ireck by bleth, who lield the where of prisate tacertary to the Emperor Alexander I. of Itursj" The society was known as the llecalra, or lietairist. aml comisteni of sevaral degrees or grules. The hlghest contained only wixteen persons, whose names were not all knowta, nul it wis Imposalble for auy member of the lower clases to ancertaln them.

All the Hetalriata looked hopefully tuwards lingaia, fintily In comserfuence of thelr communty of refiglou, nmi jurely lecanse of the fellow feellug of the two comut ries In corilally Ietestlug the Turk.

The lumediate cause of the revoluthon, ar rather the excuse for $1 t$, was the tleath of the Ilonspolar of Wallacha, January 30, 1821 , fol. lowed hy the appoiutmeut of has successor. Dirlng the luterregnum, which naturully left the goverument In a weakench coudition, the Iletulrists determined to strlke thelr blow for 16 . rety. A band of 150 Greeks and Armunts. nuter the command of Theodore Vladmlruko, formerly a lieutenunt crilonel in the Rusoluu servlece, has rehed out of Buchariat and seizel the suall town of t'zernitz, Bear Tràan's Bridge, on the Danube. There Thecmlore lasued a proclamatun, and such was the feellag of discontent among the prople, that In a few days he bad a force of 12,0100 men under his comminel. Soon afterwards then was un lusurrectinn In Jassy, the capltal of Mohinvin. lueded by I'rince Alexauder Ipsllanti, an ntticer In the Rensslan survice. lle lasued a proshmastion $\ln$ Wheich the ald of leussla wam ilistinetly promised, and as the uews of this prantamaton was carrfal to (irerce, thera was a greurnil move. ment In favor of hinsurt - : tion. The liusshan sninisterassured the l'ort that his eovernment fral nothing thin with tae insinreretion, and the mout, but laspite of this assurance anst frowtimation the lasurreethon writ an. Connt Nissel. rimbe declared othclally that Ipstlatutix name wonll be strackon from the IRusslan army llst, and that his ate was one for which le atothe was respmesible. This announcencut was the death. hluw of the insurrection in Moldavia aud Wal. lathia, as the forces of The ore and Ipsilanti ware suppressed, after somb arp tiphting, by the burdes of Boslems that we. e brought agalnst thin. . . . Nearly the whole of Grecee was In intitusurrecthos in a fert moution and whit tar better prospects that had the insurrection on the Danube. Turkn and Greeks were embltered agalant eaclu ther: the war cry of the Turt wat 'Teath to the Chriatian!' whlle that of the Chrls. tlan wam, 'Death to the Turk!' The exnmple was eet hy the Turke, nakl, to the mernal dis. grace of the Turklah government, slanghter $\ln$ coid hlood was made onflial. It wan liy the orler anil authority of the Porte that Gregory, Patrareh of Constantinople, a revered prelate, elghty years of age, was melzed on Eanter Sunday, as he wa deacendling from the sitar where he had been celebratlog divine service, abd lingged at the gateof hisarchepiscopal palace, amild the siouts and howis of a Mostem mob. After hanging three buurs, the bonly was eut down and deilvered to mine Jewa, who dragged it about the . .reetanal threw it linto the ma, wheuce it was recovered the same alght liy sone Cliristian fishernen. sume week later it was taken to Oileswa mad burfed with grent ceremony. This act of murder W.as the more ntroclons on the pars of the Turks. wince the Butriarch had denounceli tiee insurree: (ilo. in a pullie procinmation, and lifa life and flafactor were mowt biamelesa and exemplary. It is safe to waly that thin barbarity hasd mure to do with fanmug the fres of revolt timn any other tat of the Turkisli government. Ilat it was hy men neans the ouly urt of the kind of whein the Turks were gulty. The Phtriarch of Aulriannple whit elght of tis ecoledastles way belacadet, nin! of Were the ifagoman of the Porte mad several other eminetit residente of Constantinople, newemedif from freek setthers of two or three centurlas ago. ' harches me reverywhere thoken ofrin anf pinadered; Oreca citizens of sho higheest tank were mirtered, their property =ulloa, nond the fr wixes aml danghters sulei as slaves on the 1 ith of dure live archibishops aml $n$ ghe man. bur of bymen were hageel la the stree 14 , mal tin unchinics were soil and transporteil luto alacy; at saionlea the batlementy of the town "rere lined with Cliristiun hemls, from which the bonal ram diuwn und diseolored tive witer in the dinch. Iu ail the grent townof the empine there Were similitr merxflies; some were tive work of mols, whicis the athorlties dill not seck to restain. bat the greater jurt of them were ordered by the govermors of other officials, and met 1 s. 4 .

GREECE. 1881-1839.

 phimation whe maswered by tiousand= withont meani to ate or sex. and in the isianle ('ypron a maty of $\mathbf{1 1 , 0 6 0}$ (r. ns sent by the Porte ravagen the inland, executed be metropolitan, the bishop) and thiry six other eceleshastles, and converted the whult ishand intor a scene of rapine, homed slual, and roblery. Several thousand Ciristians Wrat hilled before the atricitles cemakla and han drols of their wives and isughters were carrioi lint, Turh it harem- These and stmiliar ana rages plaingy told the Grecks that no hope masimed exrept In complete ladeperalence of Turks, anl from one end of Grecce to the ot the tires of insurrection were every whe tight flaw inlanfo as weli as the malalime, w. in in of them trined fur rosting pirates. are ate inatay followed battie in differm? jat of the comary, mal the narration of - Wetns of the insurpertion would tili a hes olame harine the latrer pare of 1 ? ${ }^{2}$ ? olume promp in thelr independence, white wan tone in January, 1822. In the name month the Turks bealegel Corlath, and la the followlag Aprlt they bewleged and enptured (blos (Beto), entllag the capture whith the slaughter of $40,0 \times 1$ Inhabitumen, the mowt hurfible masancre of molern times. In July, the Ureek were victorious at Thermopyle; In the mame month Corinth fill, with greas slaughter of the clefenters. In Aprli, 1 wis, the Greek beld a nutinnal rongreas at Arges; the vietories of Marco lozzaris occurred lin the following June, and In Allgint he was killeyl in a nlybt attack ujon the Turbish camp; In August, tod, larid llyrim lanienl at Atirens to take pire in the cause of Greece, wileh was nttracting the it teution of the whole civllizenl worid. The tirat Greek foma was !wanea! in Eingland in Fetirmary, 1824: larel byron died at Mbemionghl in the folbawing deril: It Angust the Capitall Phatha was de fented nt Namon wittil heavy lows; In Grtulner, the provisional government of Grecer was wit up: and the fgiting lereame ainost coatimuars In the nomintuin dixt rets of Grectr. In Febmary, 1se.j, firr ahin Pasha arrived whit a powerful army unil Tripolitza in fane of the mame year. In duly, the provisioual government invoked the Hid of Eughand: th the fullowing dpril (isgol). Itraihin Pasin time Miswhonghif nfteratong and twroie defonee [lor twelve nowtin], wa nearly bewns the Expinulig of 1820 . the Grecks had feit serl andy lbe depirivathon of liusslan sympathy and nh for whelt they haif terol feyl to lak be fore tive whtion. The dewts of vexamler 1 ani the ar ression if Nheholas a December, 18:\%, caused in change in the situastom. The British Eovernment selt the Dake at Wellington to st. Petersharg astensilhy to cor eratniate Nechotas "oncert of medom in regar to Greeve. On tise thi of April a prolerai wa dyned by the Duke of Weilingtom, 1'rime Lide and Comant NespelPoxlr. Which may tre cransil. al the foumdition of Greck ladepandence. that of this protocol grew the treaty of July is, $x_{3}:$ Pwit ween Engiaud luasta. and France, by whin. it wis sttpuiated that it re natens shoalit the ate between tbe conter ug Grecks and Turk They proposed thwrey - the Greeks, bat 1 , we from thema theet at nal trlmite. . . . The sultim . . . refuend ti listen to the sehe me of mediation, and luna calintely le preparatlous for a fresh carnPaish, and a the defence of Tarkes $\ln$ casof ath attac thps and reinforements were sene from (' sutinople, and the Egyptian fleet, The lurly ens cansports, was despatehed from barino ot vath the end of Augast. 18:2. The altied it cers hais formeen the puasibility of the 1', rte's refusal of nediation, and tuken merasures arerolingly: min Fugliwh thet nuder Admiral sir Eilward Ciofringtan, and a French tlert under of were shortly ufterwards joined by the dus. st:11 theet nomier Miminit Ileden. . . The atlient Mimirals heciin confer"uce, and declded to notify Ihrihim Pasha tbat he must stop the barharitie's of plundering aml buralng vilitiges and shanchtring iheir inhabltanis. But Iurahim wond uot listen to thelr remonstrunces, and to show inis uttr disregard for the jwers, be commanded four of his shlps to sall to the Gulf of Patras to oceupy Missolonghi and relleve some Turklsh forts, in effect to clear those waters of every Greek matiof-war which was statloned there. This he did easlly, the allled squadrons beling temporarlly absent. Admiml Conlringtou pursuet him and, whont diliculty, drove him binck to Vavarino. . . A general muster of all the shilps was onlered by Admiral Cudrington, Com-mander-In.Chlef of the squadron. The alllel theet moninted l. 3 ist guns, whlle the connhaed Turklsh and Egyptan flect mounted 2.240 guns. To this superiority la the aumber of guns on bmarel must be allied the batteries on shore, whilh were nll $\ln$ the hands of the Turks. But the Cliristhns lami a point In thelr favor In their superiority in shijs of the line, of whith they possessed ten, while the Turks had bitt threc.

The allied thect euterel the liny of Navarino aboit two odedo'k ont the afterumon of October 20, 1527. . . . In less than fonir lomirs from the brgiming of the contest the Ottomnn tleet hand censeyl to he. Excery armed shlp was burnt, anank, or lestmyed; the only remaining vessels belong. Ing to the Turks and Egypthas were twenty tive of the smallest tronsports, which were spared hy oriler of Almiral cinlrington. It was estimated that the lass in men on the Turkish and Egyptlan vessels was fully $\mathbf{7 . O H N}$. On the side of the nliles, no) vessids were destroyal, bint the Asha, Allion, and Ganom of the Einglish heret were so murh infured that A/miral Coxlringtonsent them to Maltn for repairs which womli enible them to stand the vovige lome to Eingland. Seventerse men were killerl ant 107 whmeled on the Britsh flete, amb the lows of the Frems was 43 killed and 110 wombled. The lenssian loss was but ripmorted.

It was fenrerl that whin the news of the event $\therefore$ Navarina reaclued Constantimople, the lives of all E:archeans la that city, Incloding the forilga ambasialors, womld be if great danger, bit happily there was no violence on the part of thr 'Turks. The ampassambers pressed for an an. surer to their mote of . Sugust lith, noud at hength thur Siltian repleyl: ' My positive, absolute, dethal. thee. melaingeable, etirmal answer ls, that the Subline l'arte does not acerpt any propanitom revariling the Gryeks, and will pernist in its own will regarling them ervol to the last day of jualg. nawt." "The lourte even demanded comperasathon fir ilu diotruction of the llect, and sutisfaction for the insilt, ant that the ullines shonld abstuth from all haterference in the atairs of Grewe.
 that the tromty of duly ohliger them to defent Gremer, and that the 'lurks hand tue chain whatewer fur reparation for the atfair of Susarime. The amanassulers left Constaminople on the Nth I'sitria, whin hike Inem ellected president of declariniz that the ottoman rale over the eomatry was at an emil after three remturies of oppression. Thas wis the iml There was lithle fightig after the events of Na-llailenes. Daring the summer and nutumn las. tris, Na varimo, nmi Minlom we:e successlvely surremberel hothe Fremele, anl the Moren was crachated by the Turks. Misondonghit was surrendered to Grece early $\ln$ IN:U, and by the Treaty of Adrianople In September of the same Fenr the Porte acknowledged the Independence of Greece. which was henceforth to be one $\ln$ the family of natlons."-T. W. Knox, Decinice Battlea aince Wuterloo, ch. 8.

Aleo in: C. A. Fyffe, Ifist. of Modern Europe, r, 2, ch. 4.-s. G. Ifowe, Ilistorical sheteh of tho Greek Rer.-T. (bordon, Ifiat, of the Greek liee.Lard Byron, letters and Journals, 1843-4 (c. 2). -E. J. Trelawny, Records of shelley, Byron, etc.: ch. 10-90 (n. 2).-S. Walpole, Ilist. of Eing, ch. 9 and 11 ( c . 9 ).
A. D. 1822-1823. - The Congress of Verona. See Vfrona, Tite Conohers of.
A. D. 1830-1862.-The lndependent kingdom constituted under Otho of Bavaria.- Its unsatisfactoriness.-Dethronement of King Otho,-Election of Prince George of Den-mark.-" On February 31, 1830, a protocol was slgued whilh constltuted Grecee an Indepenilent state; noll on the lith of the sume montis lirince Levepold of Belghan necepted the crown whileh was offered to lilin loy the lowers. He, huwever, soon resigned the honour. glving for hls main reason the hopelessness of estabilishilug a Greck kingdom from which Krete, Epmiros, and Thessaly were to be excluded. The northern boundnry, as drawn in 1830, stretehet from the Guif of Zeltom to the mouth of the Aspropotnmos, thins depriving Girvece of the grenter pmrt of Akarmanla amd Altolla. After the assassimaton [ly the family of an lasurgent chloff of Connt Capolistrin (whas was the popmarly elected lereslifent of Greece from April 1th, 1827. to Oetuber 0th, 1831), nad after the Powers hat selected l'rince Otho of Bavaria for the pusition declined by Prince Leopold, nn arrangement was coneludel bet ween England. Franec, lassia, nud Tarkey, wherelly the bxamary was draw in from the Ginle of Arta to the same termination in the (inlf of Zeitoun. Bat a few montlis later the ilistrict of Zeltomn, uorth of the Spercheing, was ndded to Grecec; ant the new kingilun pallil to the Porte an fin.
 The lowers gharanteed in loan to Grecee of (60), $000,(6,1)$ franes, ont of which the payment of the inulemuity was male; and thms, at last, In the. authmo of $1 \mathbb{N}, 32$, the fatherlimul of the Greeks was redermend. tiniler Otho of Itavaria the comntry was governee int tirst by a conncil of legeney, cousisting of comnt Armansperge, I'rofessoin Manrer, and Gerneral llelaleck. Manrer was re. moverl in 18:34, :and Arminsperg In 18:37: and at the eloye of the liatter year, after the trinl of another llavarion as pressldent of the Comencli, " Grem wis for the tirst theme appointel to the princ|pal post in the Dlnastry. The griatest bendit conferred upon the comitry lifes firman rulers was the relnforeement of tire ligul system, and the clevatom of the nutilority of the law: Bat, on the other hand, mul unformate attempt was male to centralize the whole adminlstration of Grece, her ancient muielpal rights noll customs were orerlonked, taxatiou was amost as in discriminate anal burlensomens inder the Turks. whist large sums of money were spent upan tha: army, and on other ohjects of an unremunerativi or lisumidelently remuneratioe characher, so) that the young siate was Inilen whtis peeunlary I indifities Ixfore unything hal lreen thone to dr. velope her resources. . . . No natlomal assembly was convened, no anxlety was shown to con-clliate the people, Ilberty of expression was curtalled, personsl offence was given by the foreigners, and by Armansperg in partlcular; brigandage and plracy fiourished, nnd Greece legan to suffer all the evlls which might have been expected to arise from the government of unsympathetic allens. $\qquad$ In adilltion to the rapid and alarming incrense of hrigandage by land and piracy by sea, there were popular in. surrectlons ln Messenla, Mulna, Akarmanla, nad cisewhere. One of the most capabie Engilshmen who have ever espoused the cause of the Greeks, Heneral Gordon, was commlasloned In 1835 to clewr northern Greece of the marauders by whom It was overrun. Ile executed hls misslon in an minilrahle manner, sweeping the whole of I hokis, Altolia, and Akarmanla, nnd securing the coilj, eration of the Turklsh Pasha at Larissa. Ilun. drols of briguuds were put to llight,-but only to return ngain next year, nut to enjoy as great mununity nsever. . . In the nhsence of astrong nud uctlive organization of the national furees, brigandage ln Greece was nn Inerndicuble lnstitu. tion; and, as $n$ matter of fact, it was not suj, pressed untll the year 1870 . Gradually the als. content of the people, and the feebleness nud Infatuation of the Government, were lireeding a revolitition. $\qquad$ The three Guarantecing Powers urged on Otho and hils advisers the necessity of grimthg a Constit ution, which had beeu promised on the establlshment of the kiugdom; and moral sujport wis thus glven to two very strong partles, known hy the tltles of Ihliorthonox and Constlutional, whose leuders leokerl to Russin and Englame respectlvely. The ling nud the dovermment neglected symptoms whikh were consplcuous to all leskles, nid the revititlon of [843 found them practlcaliy unprepareal nud br!pless. On the 15 th of September, after a wellconirived demonstration of the troops, which was nequlessed in and virtually sanctioned by the representatives of the three Powers, King Otho gave way, nnd signed the decrees which hail been submitted to him. The Bavarian Ministers were dismissed, Mavrokoriatos was made Preniler, n Natlonal Assenibly was convoked, nud a (instl. tutlon was granted. For the first thue since the Iboman conquest, Greece resumed the dignlty of gelf-government. The Constitution of 1844 was ly no means an alequate one. It did not fully restore the privlleges of local self-rule, and lt oniy partially molified the syztem of centralizaton, from which so many evils hal sprung. But it Was nevertheieas a great aulvance towarils popular liberty.

The ditticultles whleh nrose between Hussla and Turkey in 1853, and whlch let up to the Crimean War, Inspired the Gruekn with a hope that their 'grand dea'- the Inheritance of the ciomlnton of Turkey ln Europe, so far as the Greek-speakling provlnces are concerited - might Ise on the eve of accomplishment. ... The Russlan army crossed the Pruth in July, 1853, nud preparations were nt once made hy the Greeks to Invale Turkey. .. The temper of the whole country was such that England and Frouce deencil it necessary to take urgent meas. ures for preventligg an allance between IRussia and Greece. In Nay, 1854, nn Anglo-French force was landed at the Peiralos, where it remaineyl untll Fethruary, 185\%. Pressure was thus brought to lear upon King Otho, who wis not In a position to reslat it. The humblilation of the Oreeks under the foreign occupation wenk-ened the authority of the King and his Ministers, nud the unlappy country was once more a prey to ropine nad dir $\qquad$ From the year 18.59 a new jortent began to make ltself apparent in Grruce. As the insurrection of 1821 may be sald to have derl ved some of its energy from the upheuval of France and Europe in the precedling decades, so the Greck revolution of 1882 was doubtless hastened, if not suggested, by the Itailan regeneration of $1848-1861$. $\ldots$ On February 13th, 1862, the garrison of Ninupla re. voited: other outbreaks foliowed; and at lust, iu Oetober, during an III-ndvised absence of the Mouarch from hils capltnl, the garrlson of Athens broke out luto open lusurrection. A Provislouni Ifovernmeut was uominated; the deposition of King (Itho was prochimed; and when the roynd couple hurried lack to the city they were refased an entrance. The representatlves of the Powers were nupealed to in valn; and the unfortunate Bavarian, nfter wearing the crown for thlrty yenrs, sailed from the Peiralos never to return. The loojues of the Grecks nt oncecentred In I'rince Aifrod of Englani for their future kligg. But the agrecment of the three Powers in the estahlishment of the kingilom expressly exclnded from the throne all members of the relgning famlies of Eughnd, France, and IUssla; and thus, nlthongh Prince Alfrel was clected king wlth practicai unanhnlty, the English Goverament wonld atot sanctiou his acceptance of t’ ...own. The choide eventimily and lappily fell $u_{p}$ on l'rince George of Denninrk, the present King of the Heilenes; and ueither Gireve nor Europe has had reason to regret the scluction. ... From thls time furwaril the hlstory of inodern Greece enters upon $n$ lirighter phase. "-L. Sergeant, Grece, ch. 5.
Almo is: The same, Viele Girece, pt. 2, eh. 8-10.
A. D. 1846-1850.-Rude enforcement of EngA. D, 1846-1850.-Rude enforcement of English claims. - The Don Pacifico Affair.-"Greek inlependence had tren establisheal uniler the foint guarllanship of Russha, France, and Eng. fanl. Constitutlonit goverument had been guar. nuteen. It had however been constantly delayed. Otho, the Bavarinn I'rince, who had been placed upon the throne, wns absolute in hls own teadencies, and shpportel by the absolute I'owers; nud Frunce, eager to establish her owu influence In the East, had slded with the Alisolutlsts, leaving England the sole supporter of constitu: tionai rule. The Governnent and administration were rleplornbly lad. . . Any demands ralsed hy the Eingllsli agalinst the Uovernment -and the bad adminlstration afforded ahundant opportunity for dispute - were certain to encounter the oppasithon of the King, supported by the advice of ali the diplomatle bualy. Such questhons lind arisen. Iomians, chaiming to be Brlitsh subjects, had been maitrented, the boat's crew of n Queen's ship roughly lamelleti, and lu two cases the money clalms of English sulhjects against the Government disregarded. They were trivlai enough In thenselves; a plece of land belonging to a Mr. Finlay [the hlstorian of medlavin aud modern Grece], a Scotchnun, had been lucorjorotad lnto the royal garilen, and the price - no doubt some what exorbitumt - which he set upon lt refused. The house of Dim Pacifico, $n$ Jew, a gative of Glbraitar, had been sacket by a mob, withont due laterference on the part of the jolice. Ie demaudel compensation for ill-usage, for property destroyed, and for the loss of certain papers,

GREECE, 1846-1860.

GREECE, 1862-1881.
the only proof as he declared of a somewhat doubtful claim agalnst the Portuguese Government. Guch elalms in the ordinary course of things should have been male In the Greek Law Court. But Lord Palmerston, placing no trust In the justice to be there ohtalned, made them a dlrect natlonal claim upon the Government. For several years, on various pretences, the settlement of the questlon had leen postponed, and Palmerston had even warned Russia that he should some day have to put strong pressure upon the Greak Court to obtain the discharge of thelr debts. At length, at the elose of 18.11 , hls pathence became ezhausted. Admiral l'arker, with the British fleet, was onlered to the Pireus. Nr. Wyse, the English A mhasaulor, eanbarked in It. The elalme were again formally laid before the Klag, and upon their belng decllned the Pireus was block. aded, shlps of the Greek navy captured, and merchant vessels secinred liy way of material guarantee for payment. The French and the Russians were Indignant at thls mexpected aet if vigour." The lRusslans threatened; the Freneh offered meeliation, whleh was arcepted. The Freneh negetlatlons at Athens liml no success; but at Lonion there was promise of a friendly settlement of the mutter, when Mr. Wryse, thic Engllsh Dlinkster at the Greek Crurt, being left In Ignorance of the sltuatlon, brought fresh pressure to bear apon King Otho and extorted pay. ment of hls elaims. The French were enraged and withlrew their Minlster from London. "For the time, this trumpery little affalr caused the greatest excltement, aud, belng regaried as a typieal Instance of horl Palmerston's management of the Formgn ©Hice, It formed the ground of a rery seriums attack npon the Government." -1. F. Brlyht, Ilint. of Eing. perion 4, pp. 200203.

As.so $1 \mathbb{N}:$ S. Waipole, Hist. of Eing., from 1815, ch. 23 (r. 4).-J. NleCarthy, Mitt. of Our Oren Timer, ch. 10 (r. 2),-Ste, also, Enoland: A. D. 1844-1850
A. D. 1862.-Annexation of the Ionian Islands. See lonian Jihande: A. I. 1815-1802.
A. D. 1862-1881. - The Cretan struggle and difeat. - The Greek question in the Berlin Congress.-Small cession of territory 3y Tur-key.-"The annexation of the lleptanness [the surin (Iomlan) Islinds] was a great boneft to Hellas. It wis not only a plece of goml fortitue for the present but an eirnest of the fiture. There still remameri the ledushon of the Integrity of the Turkish Emplre; but the Clirlstlans of the East really cammot leelleve in the simerity of ali the lewers who proclaim and sustain thls ex tranrlinary figment, nny inure than they are thle to fall it prey to the hathucination liself. The reunlon of the 1 leptannesess whth the rest of Helles wist therefore relurdedias marklus. the beginning of mother and Iretter era-a, rithon in the luipes of wher ro-mbus in the future. The first of the lhellemer whon antenvoumal whatn for themselvas thr simu gerel fortine which hasl fallen upon the lonitus warte agth the Cretnas. They detion Turkey for three years, $18180-\mathrm{t}-\mathrm{x}$. Whil the excreption onf certaln furtreases, the whole island was frew. dets of herolsm and sacritice suth its those which had rendered glori ous the tirst War of lmbejentence, ngaln challelged the atfestiton if the worlil. Foluntects from the Weat rexulled the lhilhellenle enthushasm of old days. The llellenes of the mainland did not lave their brethren alone In the hour of danger; they hastened to fight at thelr slde, whlle they opened in thelr own homes a place of refuge for the women and ehlldren of the Island. Nearly $\mathbf{6 0 , 0 0 0}$ fugltives found protection there. For a whlle there was room for belleving that the dellverance of Crete was at lass accompllshed. Russia and France were favourably disposed. Unhapplly the good-will] of these two Powers could not overconie the opposltion of England, strongly supported by Austria. Diplomacy fought for the enslavement of the Cretans with as much perslstence and more success than those with which it had opposed the dellverance of Greece. Freedom has not yet come fer Crete. The islanders obtalned by thelr struggic nothing but a douhtful amelloratlon of their condition by means of a sort of charter whlch was extracted from the unwllling. ness of the Porte $\ln 1888$, under the name of the 'Organle legulatlon.' Thls ediet has never been honestly put in force. However, even If it had been carried out, It would not have been a settlement of the Cretan question. The Cretans have never concealed wlat they want, or ceased to procialm thelr Intention of demanding It until they obtaln It. At the tlme of the Congress of Beriln they thouglit once more tlat they would succeel. They got nothing hut another promlse from the Porte 'to enforce scrupulously the Organie Regulation of 1888 , with such modificatlons as might be jurged' equitable.' $\qquad$ . The hlatory of the Greek Question at the Congrcss of Berlln and the conferences whleh followed it, is not to be treated in detail here. The tlme ls not come for knowling ali that took place. . . . We do not know why Heilas herelf remalned so long wlth her sworl undrawn luring the Russo-Turtlsh War - what promises or what threats held her back from moving when the armles of Russin, checked before Pievna, would liave weionmed a dlverslon in the Weat, and when the llellenie people both withln and without the Kingilom were chafing at the do-nothing attltude of the Government of Athens. Everyone In Greece felt that the moment was come. The measures taken hy homles of Bashl-13azooks were hardly sutfl. cient torupress the Insurrection which was really in all puarters, and whlelt at length broke out In the monntulns of Thessaly. It was oaly at the last moment, when the war was on the point of leing closed hy the treaty which victorlous liussin eompelled Turkey to grant at San Stefino, that the Greek Government, under the l'residency of Koumoundouros, ylelded tarelly to the pressnre of the natlon, aind allowed the army to cross the frontier. It was ton late for the divemion to be of any use to Russia, amill conli: look for no support from any other (lovernment In Europe. Thls fact was reallzel at Athens, but men felt, at the same tlme, that It whs neriful to remlal the world at any price that there is $n$ Greek Questlon conneeterl with the Eastern Queston, The step was inken, hit It wistaken with in hastintion whleh betrayed litself ha act as weli as ln woml. . . . Dlplomacy saw the langer of the fresh anflagration wheh the armed hitervention of Grepce was capable of klnulliag. The nitmost poasible amount of pris. sure was therefore hrought to lnear upon the Gorernment of Athens in onter to Induce it io retrace the step, and in the rusult an onler was ohtained to the Greek Commander-In-Chlef to recross the frontier, upon the solern assurance of the great Powers 'that the national aspirations and interests of the Greek populations should be the subject of the deliberations of the approach. ing Congress.'. . On July 5, 1878, the Con gress accepted the resolution proposed hy the French pienipotentiary, 'Inviting the Portes to come to an understanding with Greece for a rectification of the frontiers in Thessaly and Epiros, a rectifleation which may follow the valiey of the Peneus upon the Bbstern side, and that of the Thyumis (or Kalamas) upon the Western. In other words, they assign to Heilas the whole of Thesatiy and a lurge part of Eplros. Not with. standing the shandonment of the isiand of Crete, this was some satisfaction for the wrongs which she had suffered at the delimitation of the Kingdom. . . . But the scheme suggested hy the Congress and sanctioned hy the Conference of Berifn on Juiy 1. 1880, was not carried out. When Turkey fonnd that she was not confronted by an Europe determinal to be obeyed, she refused to submit. And then the Powers, whose main anxlety was peace at nay price, instceal of insisting upon her complimnce, put upon Helias ali the pressure which they were ahle to exereise, to induce her to submit the question of the frontiers to a fresh arhitration.

Ilchlas iuad to yiehl, and on Juiy 2, 1881, tiree years nfter the signing of the famous Protocol of Berlin, she signed the convention hy which Turkey ceded to her the flat part of Thessaly and a smali scrap of Epiros."-D. Eikeias, Seven Eisays on Chris. inn l recce, cemay 6.
A. D. 1864-1893.-Goverament under the later constitution. - A new constitution, framed by the National Assembly, "was ratified by the King on November 21, 1864. Alwhlishing the ohi senate, it estahilshed a lkepresentative ChumIner of 150 deputies, since increased to 190 , and ugain to 307, elected by baliot by ail males over the age of twenty-one, from equai electoral districts (they were afterwanis clecteri by unmarchies; the aystem now is hy eparciades). Mr. Sergeant gives the number of electors (in 18, 0 ) ut 811 per 1,000, but I do not know what he doem with the women and minors, who must be about 75 per cent of the population. The present [1898] number of electors is 450,000 , or 205 per 1,000. The Klog has considerahie power: he is irresponsihie; he appoints and dismfsees his ministers and ail officers and officials; and he can prorogue or suspend Parilament. Nor is his power merely nominal. In 1866 the Chamber behaved lilegaliy, and the King promptiy dilssoived it; in 1875 again the King successfully steered his country out of a whirlpool of corruption: and, iastiy, in 1892, his Najesty, finding M. Deieyannes obstinate in his financial diatoriness, dismissed him. . Before King Otho there were 4 administrations; under his ruie 24 ( 13 before the Constitution was granted and 11 after), 10 in the interregnum, and 42 under King George. This gives 70 administrations in 62 years, or about one every $10 \frac{1}{2}$ months, or, deducting the two kingless periods, 56 administratinns in 60 years - that is, with an average luration of nearly 13 mouths. This compares for stahility very weli with the duration of French Ministries, 28 of which have hasted 22 years, or about $9 \frac{1}{8}$ months each. It should also be stated that there lias been a distinct tendency to greater Ministeriai iongevity of iate years in Grecce. Under King Otho there were seven Purliaments in 18 years, which allows 2 years and 7 months for cach Parliamentary perixd. Under King Geirge there have beell 13 in as years, or with n life of 2 yeurs and 2 months cach. 1lowever, we know that $l^{2}$ arliament had not the same free piay under the first King that it ins had under the second; and, besides, the present Parliament, considering the Prine Minister's enormons majority, is iikely to continue sonte tinue, and bring up the Georgiun a veruge. $\qquad$ There have been no notable changes of the Greck Coustitution since its first promulgition, though there has been a naturaiexpansion, espectaily in the judicial section. This very fact is of itself a vindication of Ilalienic national stability:"一IR. A. II. 13ickford-smith, Greece uiuler King lieorge, ch. 18.

GREEK, Orizin of the name. see IlfiJ.tas. GREEK CHURCH, The. See Christian: 1TY: A. 1. 830-1054.

GRE: : EDUCAT1ON. See Entcation, Ancikst.

GREEK EMPIRE, called Byzantine: A.D. 700-1204. D'e IBYantine EMPIuF

GREEK EMPIRE OF CONSTANTINO PLE (A. D. 1261-1453). See Constantivorit: A. 1). $1 \geq 61-1433$.

GREEK EMPIRE OF NICEA: A. D. 1204:1261. -The compurst of Constantinopie by the Cenctians and the Crustulers, in 1204 , broke the Ibrantine Einpire into many fragments, suma of which were secured by ihe conquerors and lonvely loumi together in the fembal empire of ionmania, whie others were snatcievi from the ruin and preserved by the Greeks. themseiress. Fir the soverngignty of these latier numerous - iaimunts made haste to contend. Three fugitive (infurors were wumbering in the outer territories of the shatered reaim. One was that Alexius 1hi., whase deposition of Isaae Angeios hail af forded a pretext for the cruapling conquest, and "hu han tieri when iswar was restored. A serond Wha Alexius V. (Murtzuphlos), who pirshed Isabe Augeios and his son dicxius IV. from the chak ing throne when Constantinople resolvel to de f(om itself against the C'hrintlansof the West. but who ulnmiloned the city in the hast hours of the siege. 'The thiri was Theominre Liscaris, won-inlaw of Alexius IiI., who wus recteri to the im. perfal olllee as soon as the tight of Alexius $V$. berame known-even after the lesiegers had cnteret the ity-und who, then, couki do nothing but follow his fugitire predecensors. This iast was the oniy one of the three who found a plece of ciefensilite territory on which to set up his throne. Ile estahished Ifimseif in Bithynia, as sociating fis ciams with those of his worth] $\Rightarrow$ fatirer-in-law, and contenting himself with the titie of Despot, at first. But the ernvenient tiough ohjectionabie father-in-law was not permitued to enjoy any share of the sovereignty which he acquired. Thexiore, in fret, naniged his affairs with great rigor and skiii. The disirict in which inis atthority was rerognized willenerl rapidly und the city of Nicata became his capital. There, in 1206, be recelved the imprerial erown. more formaily and sulemniy, anew, sull millied the Greek resistance which wis destined to triumph, a littie more than haif a century hater over the insolent aggression of the Latin West. The smail empire of Nicuea had to contead, not mertly with the Latins in Constantinople and Creece, and with the Turkjah sultan of Iconium, but also with another ambitions frugment of Grevek emplre at Treblzonid, whiels showell itself persistently hostile. His succeswom, mornover, were In motilat withathirl sucli frogment in Europe, at Thessmlonias. But, ten yerms ufter the thight of Theodore from Constantinople, his empire of Niena "extemiend from lerocleva on the Black Son to the lump of the Ginlf of Nieomedia; from thence It embiruceld the const of the Opsikian theme as far as C'viziss: mai then desweuting to the south, Includeri learaman. and joined the comst of the .Figean. Thoolore had nlready extended his pewer over the valleys of the lhermis, the C'nister, and the Nambler." Theoblome Sawcaris (fienl in 12t: Jenving uo son, and John Dukins Vatatzes, or Vataces as his nume is written by somte historians, is man of cominent abilities nnid high poalities, who had married Theondore's daoghter. wis clectul to the vacunt throne. He was sulntevl as Juhn 111. - assuming a continuity from the Byzantine to the Nictean series of emperons. In it reign of thirty-thme years, thls prationtand amble comperor, an dibibon expresis's the fint. "reseiryl the proviuce's from national anm! foreign nsuriers, till be prosed on all sifes the jamerial city [Cunstantimule], in leafless and saplens trunk. Which mast foll int the thest st moke of the wie." lle did not live to apply that blow bor to witness the fall of the cove teal capital of the Fast. But the event oecorral ombs six years ofter hiv death, and owed nothing tollo curry or the cmpability of his sutecesmits. 1!iv min. Theombre 11., reignell but four roars, unal hel: at his dioith, in 1:5N, a son, John IV.. only cight years old. The nppointed rogent anil thtor of this yooth was sumb inssas. sinateal, mul Wichact labeologos, an able otherer. whon had some of the blesel of the laperial Angelas family in fic veins, was made In the dirnt instance fotor to the young emperor, and somilafterwards mival tu the throne with him as a colleagor. In 1260 the new emperor made an on the e5tlo of daly In the next year the eity was taken by a sulden surprise. While $\mathbf{6 . 0 0 0}$ solifiers of its gurriwn wort thasent on in expelition acrainst Daphomsia in the Black sian. It was mequiruld almost without resistauce: the latin -mpuror. llallewin H. taking promply to fight. The cien ruction of life was shight: hut the sur.

GREEK EMPIRE OF NIC.EA

 (1) cowrer the stualthess of its mombers, and (cous. stinutimople suffereyl unce more fremer it disantrons contlacrition. (3n the recovery of its ancieut capital, the (irnek compire eenseal to bur the name of Xienn, and its history ls erntinued under the more imponitg appellation of the Greck empire -f Comatantimple. - G3. FIniay, llint. u'the Jyzun. tine and lirek Eimpires, frum T10t, 14is, bk. 4. ch. 1 (r. I).

Alma is: F. Gihlmon. Defline amd Fill of the Roman firmire. dh t1?

GREEK EMPIRE OF TREBIZOND. Sue TH:Mzonv: A. 1). $1204-1461$.

GREEK FIRE.- $\cdots$ The linpwrtant eacret of compromining anul dirmatige this nrtiticlal flame was imparfold [in the latior part of the seventh contury tuthe Aireeks, ur Byamtines, at Constantinople] by falinicus. a hative of 11.-liopolis. in Syrin, whonsertmi from the service of the caliph to that of the emperor. The skill of a chemist and englneer was equivalent to the succour of fleets aud armies; and thls dlecovery or improvement of the millitary art was fortunituly reserved for the distressful period when the degenerato IRomans of the East were Incapable of contendlng with the warlike enthusiasm and youthful Vigour of the Saracens. The historinn who presurues to analyze thls cxtraurdinary composition shonhl suspect his own Ignorance and that of his Byzantine guldes. so prone to the marvelloos, so careless, ani, in thls instance. so jeulous of the trith. From their obscure, and jerhaps fillacious hints, it shouk seetn that the princlpal Ingrealient of the Grepk fire was the muphtm, in liqual bitumen, a light, tenaclous, and intiumia. be oil. which sprimps from the earth.

GREENLAND.

The mphitha was mingleal, I know not by wiat meth. ols or lu what proportions, whit solphur and whth the pitch that is extracted from evergreen tirs, From this mixtore, which produced a thiek smoke aml a lond explosion, procceded a ficree and obstlnate thame
: Instexd of being ex. tinguished it was nourislued nad quickened hy the delenent of water; mid sand, orine, or vincgar were the only remedies that couli dimp the fary of this powerful agent.

It was elther puored from the rumpurts [of a hesieged town] In large Incilers, or inuncheal in retl-hot balls of stone and iron, or dartod in nrows nul javelins, twisted ronnd with thax nnd tow. which had deeply imbibed the futhmmable oil; sometimes it was deposited in tire-ships and wis most coumonly blown through leng tnlees of copper. which were planted on the prow of a galley, and fanclfully shaped luto the months of savage mousters, that seremed to vonit a strem of liquid and consum. ing itre. This Important art was preserved at Constantinople, as the palladium of the state.
The secret was coutimed, above 400 years, to the Rumans of the East. . . It wasat lengit either discoveref or stolen by the Mabometans; and, in the holy wars of Syrin ami Figypt, they retorted an Invention, contrived nguiust themselves, on the lecals of the 1 'Iristians.

The use of the Gruek, or, in it might now be culled, the sirfacen tire, was continitel to the inidulle of the tour. terenth centory."-E. Gililon, Derline and Fall of the Komsth E'mpire, ch. 52.

GREEK GENIUS AND INFLUENCE. See Ilkil,FNic liENILS, de.

GREELEY, Horace, and the Peace Conference at Niagara. Sie Liviten Staten of AM. : A. D. 1864 (JtLis )..... Presidential candidacy and defeat. Se U'ilited States of Am. : A. D. 18 i2.

GREEN, Duff, in the "Kitchen Cabinet" of President Jackson. Sec Cisited States of Aм.: A. 1). 1 s:20.
GREEN MOUNTAIN BOYS. See VEHMONT: A. 1). 1it4-17i4.

GREENBACK PARTY, The. Ne UNITED State: of Am.: A. 1). 18N0.
GREENE, General Nathaniel, and the American Revolution. No C'nitell States of Ay.: A. I). 1775 (May-ACOU'st): 1784-1781; and ligl (Jantahy-May).

GREENLAND: A D. 876-984.-Discovers and settlement by the Northmen. Wee NosmaNi. - Nohtimbn: A. II. s̈̈b-&84.  A. D. $1450^{-1585 . ~-~ T h e ~ l o s t ~ I c e l a n d i c ~ c o l o n y, ~}$ absorbed by Eskimo. - Rediscovery of the ## gUAYANAS.

country. See, dumpican Aromarme : EsEImauan Familif.

GREENS, Roman Factlon of the. SeeCrecus, Factions of tire Imoman.
GREENVILLE TREATY. Bee NortL. WEAT TERRITOHT: A. D. 1700-1795.

GREGORIAN CALENDAR. - GREGOrian era. See Caliendar, Gregohian.

GREGORIAN CHANT. See MUsIC.
GREGORY I. (called The Great), Pope. Siee Papac' : A. D. $461-604$; and Jueic.
Gregory II., Pope, 715-731. . . .Gregory iII., Pope, i31-i41. ... Gregory IV., Pope, 827-844. Gregory V., Pope, 900-p90. . . . Grezory VI., Pope, 1044-1046.... Gr vory VII., Pope, 107.'-140.). See Paract: A. 1 . 1050-1122: GERManY: A. I). 878-1122; and Canossa. . . . Gregory VIII., Pope, 1187, Oetober to December.

Gregory IX., Pope, 1227-1241. . . . Gregory X., Pope, 1271-1276. ...Gregory XI. Pope, IBil-13\%8. . . Gregory XII., Pope, 1400-It15. Gregory XIII, Pope, 15\%-1583. . . . .Gregory XIV., Pope, 1590-1501. . . . Gregory XV., Pope, 16:1-1623. . . . Gregory XVI., Pope, 1*31-1846.
GRENVILLE MINISTRY, The. See
 GREVY, Jules, President of the French Republic. Hee Frasce : A. I). 1895-1899. GREY, Earl, The Ministry of. See EsoLaNn:A. 1). 1830-1N:22 : and 18:34-183\%.
GREY FRIARS. S'e MENDICANT OndERs.
GREY LEAGUES, The. See SwitzenLANIU: A. 1). 1BMR-1490.

GREYS, of Florence, The. see Brom.
GRIERSON'S RAID. Nev l'NITED STATES OF An. A. I). 18 gi (APlit,-MAY: Mins.). GRINNELL EXPEDITIONS. Hee Po. LAR ENIPIOIIATION: $\boldsymbol{A}$. I). $1850-18.51: 1853-1855$. GR1PPE, LA, Early Appearances of. See IIAnife: A. D. 14N, 1.193 : un! 18th (Finturt. GRIQUAS.-GRIQUALAND.-"The Gri!口ic, or linustarls, a mixed race sprung from the interenirse of the 'IBevers' [of Nouth Africa] with their Ilottentot slaves," migrated fromi Cape (in)ny ufter the Emanclpintlon Act of 1 siz, "and, mulur the chiefs Waterboer Mind Adam Kok, witleyl lut the country north of the conthrane of the Orange and Vial, the present Griqualrmi Wiagt. Nubsemuently, in 1Nize, dum Kuk's action of the Griguras Hgula migraterl to the turtitory then ralleal Xo Man's Jamul, beWern kifririn and sumthern Natal, now known !s (irjumalaml Fast, or New Grigualaml. In ronacipurome of the discorery of dizumend in tho eirigum conntry ln 1etif, and the rush thither of thomeimla of Eiropuratis fromil all the surrombling stutes, as well as fromb E: ropme, A mur rishts to thir I British Goverument, hum this region
 unt Guverumralip of Gripualani West in wis." -Il.llw:ill dohiston, Ifrica, ch. 23. seref. si.
GR1SONS, The. Sm Switzentiann: I. D
 GROCHOW, Battles of (183i). Sec limasp:

GROL, Capture of (1627). Nee NivtiterMriw. A. II 10? $1-103 \mathrm{k}$.
GRONENBURG:A. D. 1593 --Capture by Prince Maurice Ece Netiembands: A. I). 1.5४ -1:00:

8-5

GROS VENTRE INDIANS, The. See Amrricak Aborigines: Hidatha, and AlgonQUIAN FAMIIX.

GROSS BEEREN, Etattle of. See GrRMANY: A. D. 1818 (AMGUNT).

GROSS GORSCHEN, OR LUTZEN, Battle of. Bee Germant: A. D. 1818 (Apini.Mar).
GROSSE RATH, The, See SWITzERLAMD:
A. D. 1848-1480.

GROSSWARDEIN, Trenty of. See II'N. oARY: A. D. 1526-1507.
GROTIUS, HUGO, Imprisonment and escape of. Nev Necherlanidn: A. J. 1003 -1619. GROVETON, Battle of. Nev Ciniten NTaten OF AM. : A. I) 1882 (Av'OUTM-SEITVMHER). GRUTHUNGI, The. See Gotime (Visiantis): A. D. 876 .

GRUTLI, OR RUTLI, The Meadow of.
See Switziniand: Tife Tinfer Foreat CanTOX:.
GRYNEUM, The Oracle of. See Oracles OF THE GHFEEK.

GUADACELITO OR SALADO, Battle of (1340.) Nec SPAIN: $A$. I) 12i:3-1460.

GUADALETE, Battle of the. See Sipain :
A. 1). 711-713.

GUADALOUPE. Spe Wewt Inmes.
GUADALOUPE HIDALGO, Treaty of. See Mrimo: A. I), 184* GUADALUPES. SMe GACIIrPiNES.
GUAICARUS, The. NiU AmRutcas Ano. higives: Pami'as Thibha, GUAJIRA. The. Sce Anericas AnommiNFA: COA.IMO.

GUAM. Hee Martannen.
GUANAJUATO, Battles of Gee Mrxico: A. D. $1 \times 10-1819$.

GUANAS, The. See Anemican Aburioines: PavPAN TIIHEA.

GUANCHES. Sec IIntans.
GUAP. Anc Canomink: Ini,ands.
GUARANI, The see Imbricas Anorids. NFW: TIMI GUASTALLA, Battle of (1734). See Filiser: : A. J. 17:3:173!.

GUATEMALA: The name.-"Acoording commonly called - 'rorha maln.' fombl in the utightoriowal of Antigun finatumala. . In the Nexionn tongue. If we may leliere Vinspies, it was calleal '(Qumbhtimuli,' rollen-tree.

 'the hill which dicehareres wnter': nul Juirros Nugerests thut It inny lw from, Jutionme, the first klng of Gutcmala."-II II. 13 :lomoft, /liap. of Aboriginalinhabitants, anc ins of ancient civilization. sev In+um A Amomitnts:

A. D. ${ }^{1534}$.-Conquest by Alvarado, the lieutenant of Cortés. Siue Jixico: $A$. 1 , $1: \% 1$ -1.54 .
A. D. 1821-1894.-Separation from Spain.Brief Annexation to Mexico.-Contests over Central American Federation.-The wars of GUAYANAS, The. Sce Avrimesn Am minines. I'AMpAN Thmen.

GUCK OR COCO TRIBES.

GUELFS.

GUCK OR COCO TRIBES. See America: Aborrenve: Gucx or Coco Groct.

GUELDERLAND: A. D. 1079-1473.-Un. der the House of Nassau.-Acquilition by the Duke of Burgundy.-"The arable extent of Guelderland, its central posltion, and the number of lts anclent towas, rendered it at all times of great importnnce. The men of Zutphen and Ambelm were formost among the clalmants of clvic freedom; and at Tlel and Bonimel Industry struck early root, nod struggled limavely to maturity through countless storms of feudal vlolence snd rapine. Guelderland was constltuted a county, or carldom, by Ilenry III. [Emperor, A. D. 10i9]. nad bestowed on Otho, count of Nassau; aad thus originatel the Intluence of that celebrated familly In the affairs of the Nether. lands. Three centuries later the province was created a duchy of the cmplre. Vigour and ability contiuncel to distingulsh the luouse of Nassan, and they were destined to herome eventually the moat poputar and powerful fanlly in the nation. Apart from thelrintluence. howerer, Guelderland harily occuples as Important à place In the gencral history of the country as "irecist or IIolland." In 14i3, when the lliuse of Burgundy latil arquireal soverelgnty over most of the Xetherlamil states, (harles the Hold avalled blmsidf of a domestle quarrel between the relgning prince of Guelderland and lils heir "to pur. chase the duchy from the former for 92.000 crowns of gold. The old duke died lefore the pecuntary portion of the hargaln was actually completed; and, the rightful helr belng detalned In prison, the grasping lord of Burgundy entered into possession of his purchase, for which no part of the price was ever pail." $-1 \%$. T. Mccinllagh. Induatrial lliat, of Free Iithona, ch. 8 and 10 (r, ? 2 ).
A. D. ${ }^{1713 .-T h e ~ S p a n i s h ~ p r o v i n c e ~ c e d e d ~ t o ~}$ Prussia. See U'trecut: A. I. 171:-1i14.

GUELF PARTY, Captains of the, See Flimexte: A. I) 13 wis.

Guelfic origin of the House of Hanover, or Brunswick-Luneburg. Lete Endhand: A. D. 1714: also. Geklfy and Gimbellines; and Este, IIotse of.
GUELFS, OR GUELPHS, ANDGHIBELLINES: German origin of these Factions and their feuds.-On the death (A. D. 11:2:) of llenry Vi., the last of the Frabconlan dynasty of Germanic emperors, Lothalre. Duke of Saxony, was elected emperor, In rather a tumultuous and Irregular maner. Lathaire, and the Saxons generally, were emblttered in enmity against the house of Frunconla, and agalnst the new family -the Sulabian or IIohenstanfien - which sur. ceredell by inheritance, through the femaie line. to the Frinconlan cluims. It was the object of his relgn, moreover, to pass the Inperial crown from his uwn heal to that of his sind In law. IIenry the Proud. Ilence amse n persectition of the suabian fanilty, under Lothalre, whllh stirreal deep passions. Henry the I'romil. for whose succession Lothalre lnbored, but vainly. uulted In hims.lf several anclent streams of nolle hlowl. IIe "was fourth In descent from Weif for Gitelf], suth of Azun tmaryuis of Estr, by Cunegonda heiress of a distinguisherl fanily, the Welfs of Altor' in Suabla," Ills anecestor, Welf, had been Inveated with the duchy of Bavaria. Ile himeelf representenl, hy right of his mother, the anclent cucal house of Anximy; and, by favor of his laperial father.ln law, the two powerful duchles, lhwaria and suxony, were both confertid on him. Ile also recelved IIanover und llrunswlek as the dowry of his wife. "On the death of Lothalre In 1138 the parthsans of the housce of Nuahin made a lanat y nd frregular election of conrad fone of the Ilohenstauffen princesp, in whelh the saxan facton found it. self obliged to ucyulesce. The new emperor nvalleif himself of the jeatomsy which lIenry the ['roul's aggrandlzement hal exelted. C'nder pretence that two dnchies could not legully be held ly the same perwin. Ilenry was summoned to revign one of them. and on his refusal, the det jrimounced that he had incursed $n$ forfelture of both. Ilenry made hut lithereshance. and lefore hats denth, whith hatpenened man afterwarls, kaw himself strippent of uli hly he. redltary ns well as açulre.l jwsesemsinus. ['pun this orcasion the famolis names of ciuclf for Guch hhl aml Ghilhelln were tirst harrl. whith were desthed to keep nllve the thame of elvil dissenslon in far distant comntries, and after their menning hal luew forgother. The duclfs. or Welfs, were, as I have salld. the anerestors of Iteury, and the nome has leceme a sort of patronymile ln lits fandly. The worl (ihllobin is deriverl from Witelang. a town In Francouia. whence the emperors of that the are sald to hav. spring. The louse of Suabla were conshlurent In Germany as represeuting that of Frunconha: as the Guiffs may, whthout much iniproprict: be deemel to represent the siaxon line."- l . Hallam, The Mindlle Agea, ch. 5 ( ( 2). -sir AnJrew Ilalliday, In hls "Annals of the Ilonse of Ilanover," traces the geveulogy of the Guelfs with greai minutenessand precision - whith mure malnuteness, perhaps, in sume remote partlculars, and mure prectslon, thm seems consistent with entine remitibitty. Ile carries the the hack to Ediew, king ur prince of the Ilerull, or lughl, or Kerril,-the stoek from which came Gidoacer, who civerturned the Wi.stern Ioman Emplre umi made himscif the first king of Ituly. Eillien, Who was suliject to Attila. and the favorite adviser of the king of the Jluns, la thought to have hal usin or brother named Guelf or Welf. who fell in Imatile with the Ostruguthes. It ls to him that Sir Anlerw is dlsposed to asslgn the honor of being the historical chitef of the Ereat fanlly of the ciuelfs. If nut from thls slmilowy Guclf, it is from another of the name in the next "generation-a limether of Odencer-thatt loe sees the fandly spring. nnd the story of its Whle branching and mingy fruted prowth. in Friull, Aitulorf, Bavaria, old Saxony, Brimiwlek, llanover, - and thence, more royally that ever, in Enghand, - Is as Interestiog as n uarrathe of highiy compileated gencalugy can le.Sir A. IIAillilay. Anmila of the lliune of Ifun. oner.- From the ciuclf uncertainly Indlenteid above were descendeyl two Maryuesses of Fis.. "successlvely known In German aud Italian story as the first and sercond of that name.

Azn, the second Naryuess of Este In Italy (horn A. 1). 995, died 1007), the head of the Itatian (junlor) branch of Chelplis [see Emte], martiol Cunigunda. the scike heiress of the Germans Guctphs of Altiorf, thus uniting In his family the blood, wealth, and power of both branches of the ofl Gnelphs, and becoming the common fathre of the later German and Itallan princes of the uame of Guelpil. No wonder, then, that he was elected by the Eluperor, Ilenry III., an hils representative in Italy:

aLELFs

Cunigunda, the tirst wife of Azo II., Iwre him ono son, Guelph, who was known in German history as Guelpla il. He succeeded to his mother's titles and vast entates on lier denth, A. D. 10\%\%, and to chase of his father, A. 1). 1007. . . Ilenry IV. invested hin, with the Duchy of Mavarin, A. I). lif1-a tithe first assumed $1: 0$ years lefore (A. D. Maf) hy his almost mythologital anceator. lieary of the Gohden ('huriot." This Guelph VI. was the grandfinther of Henry the I'rond, Diske of susony and Davaria, ruferred to above.i. M. Thorntoa, The Brunariek Acefanion, eh. 1.

ALso IN: O. Browning, Ciupfa amd Ghibelliars. -suc, aiso, Saxony: A. I). 11iN-1183; and Gerbmany: A. I). $1138-1208$; nud, a iso, Este, Ilocese. or.
The outcrop of the contention in Italy.-Its beginaings, causes, course and meaning. See Itimy: -1. 1), 1215; nud Fionesce: A. I). 1248 $1: 74$

GUÉLFS, White and Biack (Bianchl and Neril. Sre Flonesce: A. I). 1202-1300; and 1:311 1:313.

GUELPHS OF HANOVER, The Order of the. - "The llanoverian trepprs having much distitionlshel themselves at the batthe of Witer. lan. tivirge IV. (then prluce regent) determined to found un onder of nererit which might, with esperine proprictr. le conferrest upen such of furim as dewervith the distinction, and the 12th of Dugust. 1815, was fixed upon as the date of its fommiation. By the serond statute, the Orier is insparabiy unnexed to the possession of the liamoveriais crown, lay vesting the grand-master ship in the suvereign of thatt conintry for the time heing."-C: 12. Inxis, Munual of Dignitien, fr. 3.
GUERANDE, Treaty of. Sece Brittany: I. 11. 1:H1-1:35.).

GUERNSEY, The Isle of. See Jehner and ilthesty
GUERRA DOS CABANOS. See Braztl: 1. II. 1 Pi, $\mathrm{i}-1 \mathrm{M} 0.5$

GUERRILLAS.- I term of Spanash origin, derived from 'guerila', signifying little or petty' warfare, and npliliet to smali, irregular hanis of tropps, carryiug on war against an coemy by hurissing. destructive raids.

GUEUX OF THE NETHERLAND

GUIANA: The aboriginal iahabltants. See A vertcan il momigiskin: ('akjus 16th Century, - The search for El Dorado. Ma. Eis Donatm.

A. D. ${ }^{1580-1814 .-D u t c h, ~ F r e n c h ~ a n d ~ E n g-~}$ lish settlements and conquests. - 'There wis oure Eiurupean mution which was not iikely to bunt for a gohlen city, when golid was to be carned hy plain and matter of fict commerce. The Duteh had as enrly as 1.54 estuhlished a srstematic if contrabuad travic with the Spanish Main: and In div) they Inegan to settle in Culana hy planting a degint on the river Pomerinht. ho whit is now the munty of Fasequllio. In 1509 they luslit two frits at the mouth of the Amazon, but were Iriven ont by the Portuguese; and about 1613

GUIANA.

they estalnished a colony on the Easequibo, huilidIng the fort of 'Kyk over al', 'Look over all.' on an Island where the Massarunl fiows into the Essequibo. The colony was founded by Zeeland merchants, was known as Nova Zeclanılia, and came undor the control of the Setherlunils West India Company, which was inenrpurated in 16:1. Shortly afterwaris eolonisation began further to the east on the Berblce river. The founder was a Flushing merclunt, Van Peere by nume; lee foundell his settlement about 1624, nnil lie held his riflits under contract with the Chamber of Zaximind. $\qquad$ Thus was the prcsent province of lititish Gilana colonised hy Dutchmen. Whike Euglish discovery was attracted to the west and Orinoco, the first attempts at Einglish mettlement were far to the east on the Wivaporo or thyapok river. IIerc, $\ln 1604$, whitie linlegh Was in prison, Captain Charles Leigh founded a rolny it the mouth of the river. . . In 1600 Rolvert Ilarcourt of Stanton Ilarcourt in (oxforislife took up the work in which Leigh had filied. . . In 1618 he oltained from King James a grant of 'all that purt of Guiana or continatht of America lying luet ween the rirer of Amazones and the river of lessequebe, whleh was not actualiy possessed or inhuhtited by any Christian power in friemiship with Engiand In 1610 a sclieme wiss startelf for an Abazon Company, the leading spirit in which wus Captnia linger North. . . The company was fortumate enough to seciure the powerfil patronage of tho Dinke of Ihekinghiam. Hareourt threw in his lot with them, and on the 10th of Jay 1tiaf a royai grint way male to the Dake of Bueking. ham and 0 oi other adventurers, including the Fiarl of Pembroke und Mont gomery, who were lueorporated under the title of 'the gorernor and compuny of noblemen and gentlenarn of Engiand for the plantation of Guinm.' The Dulse of BuckInghim was Governor, North was DeputyGovernor. and the grant included the 'royal' river of the Aumzon. For about two years the company ditid some solihl work, sending out four ships and $3(10$ evolonists: un attempt was then made In 1009 to bring the territory covered by their grant inmmellately miler royal protection. and upon its failure their ctrorts at colenisation appear to have gradually diell away. The Eng. 11sh were not the ouly Europenns who tried their land at setthoment in the east of Guliana. In 1813. 160 French fanilies sottlewl in Cavenne The first molung failed. hut in 162t and 1626 fresh attempts were mude a little to the west on the rirers Sinamari aml Cananama; and in 1643 a lonen Company, incorporated under the mane of the Cupe Sorth Company, sent out three or four huadrell men to Chyenne under the sieur de liretlgny. Ibretigny ruined the sclieme hy suvage ill.trentment of Indians and coionists allke, and the remains of the setthement were absorled lya new aud more powerfin Normandy Company." This failed ln its turn, nad gave way to a "French Eipuinuctlal Compans, organized under the anspices of Colbert, which sent out 1.200 colonists and fairly estiblished them at Cayenne. Collorrt, In 1063 , placed the colony with all the other French prossessions in the Weat Indies, under one atrang Weat Indal fom pany. Such were the leginnings of colonisution in the weat and east of Guiana. Between them lies the district now known as Dutch Guiana of Surinam." The first settlemeat in thls was made

GUIANA.

GUILD8.

In 1630 by 60 Finglish colonists, under a Captain Marshall. The coiony fuiled, and was revived in 1650 by 1 onl Whioughiy, then nepresenting the fugitive King Charle II., as Governor of Burba. does. In 1683, after the Itestoration, Iani Wiifoughby, in conjunction with Lawrence Ilyde, second inn of the Earl of Clarendon, recelved Letters Patent "constituting them lorls and proprietors of the diatrict between the Copenam and the Maronl (wiich included the Surinam river) under the name of Willoughby Land." Soon afterwarls "war broke out with the Dutch, and In Marelt 1667 the colony capltulated to tite Dutch admiral Crynsenn. The peace of 13reda between Grunt lirtain and the Netheriands, which was signed In the following Juiy, proFhied tint cither untion ahonlle retain the conquests which it had maile by the preceding 10th of May, aul under this arrangetuent Surinam was ceded to the Netheriands, while New York became a lBritish possession. . . . Thus ended for many long years all british connexlon with Guiana. . . When at leugth the Eingilsh returned (in iciob anii 1803, during the sulijecthon of the Mutch to Napoieon, anal wille they were forced to take part In his wars), they came as conuluerors ruther than as settiers, aud hy a strunge pervirsity of history, the original Dutch cuindes on the lherbice and Esedinibo lecenne a Britsh dependency, wialic the Netherianclers re: tain to this day the part of Gulana wihich Lord Willoughly marked ont for his awn." These arrungements were settial in the convention between (irvat Britain and the Netherinnis signel the liritian comonien, r. 2, mert. e. ch. ©.

Alwo ix: II. (. Dnitum, Ilint. af Britinh Guiant.

GUIENNE, OR GUYENNE.-A corruption of the name of dyuitaine, which came into use, appuremity uthent the lizth century. See AquiTane: A. 1). R×4-11.5.
GUILDS, OR GILDS, Medieval.-"The history of the thll Merchant leggins with the Sorman Conguest. The litter whidened the loorlzon of the Englisia merchant even more than that of the Emblivt anmilist. The elose union ise. twern England ami Surmandy led to an Lucrate in fureign inmmerey, which in turn must have Morevier, the greatly enlumert power of the Einelial crown tomperad findal turbulence, afforling 11 movatre of security to tralern in Eng. lam that was as yet haknown on the cominent.

With thas axpansion of trale the mervantie clement wombi luemue n mure potent fatior ha town life, and wonld sumb forit the ured of joint within the Inemugh, wouldi a folative misu tile ame fullustiad le welopurnt than that which circhustanur and the alssewe of all mention of the tiifi Mirelumt in the recoris of the Anglo rernity first apparatel in Eugiand soon after the Congueror hat restillishliel his sway unil restorend order in the humi. Whether it was mercily are-organization of oifer gills, a apontaneous adapta. tion of the glid liea to the newly-begotten trade Interesta, or a new fantifution directly trana. planted from Normandy, we have no means of determining whit certainty. The last-mentioned view is atrongly favourel by the circlumstance that, at the time of the Conginest, the GIId Merchant doubtless existed In Northern France and Flanders. From tite Frenelimen who beenne burgeases of Engilsh towns, and from the Norman merchants who thronged the marts of Eng. land affer the Conquest, the English woull smon ascertuln the adsantagen of formal traic organization. The carllest distinct references to the Qifl Jerchant occur in a charter granted by Ifohert Fitz-IIanoon to the inurgeswes of Burford (1087-1107), and tu a doruncent drawn up while Anselm was Archbishop of Canteribury (IO031100). . . . Whether wc piace the Inception of the fraternity Immediately before or after the Sorman Conquest, whether we make lia continua. tion of older Anglo-Saxon glids, or a derivalive from Normandy, or a wholly new anil spontaneous growth, it was duubticss at tirst merely a privite arlety, unconnected with the hwn gorernment, laving for Its object the protection of Its members, the trulesineri of the forturgh, and the malntemance of the newly invigorated trude filterests. During the tweifth century It gralh. aliy became a recognisell purt of the town eronstifution, thus entering upon its secomil stage of development. How this catue to juss can lac cusily realised from the luter inistory of English gifis In generai. For in the fourteentio aulf tif. ternth cruturics. . u simple surinl-rellgions gild at dimes attuined salul jwwer in a cynuma. Fiy that it came to le regurilei as an lumportath constithent element of the civic miministration. Quite similar nust inve lawen the growits of the Gill Merehaut, which from the outset was doubt. less cominosell of the mast inthemial burgeswes, and which, as the exponent of the mercantile lifterests, must aiwnys luve lean gratily concernem in the incrense of the privileges and prospurity of the borough in generai. If was very nutiaril that the town authorites shoth use such a soricty for pulilic purposes, entrusting to it the surveillance of the traie monopoly. in which its it to grodudily lecome an important part of the civie mininisiratlve marlinery.

This Ixy glaniug of this thiril nud titul stage of idevelopment rannot be definitely fixed; for in some phaces it was uf an curlier dite than in owhers. The fonetrentlo. century miy in gelucal lay ralle.l the xerioxi of grailuai iransition. In the tlfecelali century the tmanfurmation was bomplotell. It this and the following ceuturiess the trint ' (iild is Nercatoria' inceatue less null less fropurnt. In unay places it swn wholly dismpranal. Whar" it continumel tu sulsist, the dithl tue houger leal luw ilue I: i of the town; borough aud (ini. turgesm : I gilisment were now ideutionl. What has. © is trell 1 distinct Integral part if with the wh. $\because$ of it. Tlue dd Bild Merchamt Whe uow rately mentionedi in conuection with the. unuicipal traie restrictious and regulatious, the later belog eommonly applied to burgeserea criftumen, irecmen, or 'forelgnen.' The exege. de of this transformation . . . wat due mainly to three causes: (1) the expanslon of trade and the multiplication of the craft sind mercantile fraternitles, which abmorbed the anelent functions of the Glld Merehant and readeredit superthous; 2) the growth of the select governing boly, which usurped most of the privileges of the old burghers at large, snd hence tended to ohliturate the distinetion between them, or their less privIligged succemors, and the anelent.glidsmen, leaving loth only certain trade immuntiles; (3) the decay of the leet - the rullying polut of the old hurghers as distinguinhell from that of the giliss. men-the functions of whieh pasect, In part, to the emfin, hut malnly to the select body and to the justlces of the peace. But even after tho Othl Meribant and the borough had thun become Identical, the old duai fidea ihd not eompletely dlasappear, the Gllil belng often reganled as as partieular phase or funetlon of tho town, namely; the munlelpality in lis character of a trade mo: nopoly. Heace the modern survivals of the Gim Merchant help to elucidate lis setuai functions In anckent times. In a few boroughs the select governing luxig of the town-the narrow elvie corporatlon, in dilst!netlon from tho burgesses or freemen at large - succeeded to tho name and traditons of the Gild Merchant. In some of these cases the sigalifation of the latter gradually dwindied down to a periodicul civle fenst of the privileged few. $\qquad$ In the elghteenth century we meet the worl much less frepuently than in the seventeenth; and townrd the beginning of the present century it becanse very rare. The Munlelpui Corporations Commlsion, in 1*35, found It stlli used In only a few leoronghs. The remmants of the Glld Merelmat and of the craft fruternlties were rapldyy vanlshing before the new hlens of a more liforal age, - the age of lalssez falre. The onerous, self-destruetlve restrictions of gilds were now being supenseleri by the stimulating measures of Chombers of Consmerre. Nore than slx centurles elapsed before the enactunent of Magna Carts that all merchnnts - may gu thmugh England, by land and water, to buy and sell, free from all unjust linposts, he. came a realised faet throughout the realm. The Municipui Corporatlons Aet of 1835 provided that 'evers person lin any borough may keep any shop for the sale of all lawful wares and merchamizes by wholesale or retall, and nase every lawful trade, occupation, mystery, and handi. craft, for hire, gain, sale, or utherwlse. whithin any borough." In a slngle town of England the Gill Merchno still subsiats, but only as the shatow of Its furmer aelf -a spectre from the distant past. At Preston the Gild Merehant has lwen 'relebrated' regularly once every twenty years for more than three cenuries, on wheh mecasions the burgesses renew thelr freelom and thlulge ln all the festivithes of a clvie carni val. The last Gilld Merehant was heth in 1882 . There was then much feasting and danclng, there were cay processolons of townsmen, and mueh talt of the chories of the past. And yet how few even if the schulars and noblemen there assembled from various purts of Great Britaln knew what fin froportant rolle the Giil] Merchant had playeld in the nanals of Eagilsh munletpal hlstory, what strange vicissltudes it had undergone, what a remarkable transformation the centuries had

Wrought in It."-C. Grow, The Gild Merciane ch. 1 and o ( $\mathrm{n}, 1$ ) - -" The rise of the craft gild 1s, ronghly apeaking, a century inter than the rise of the merehant gidds); (solated example occur early in the twelfth century, they become more numerous as the century alvaneen, and in the thirteenth century they appoar in all branches of manufacture and in every industrial centre. C'raft gilds were associations of all the artlsuns engaged In a parteular lajuxtry in a particular tuwn, for certaln common purpmeses.

Thelr appearance marks the second stage in the history of Industry, the transitlon from the family sys. tent to the artisan (or gild) system. In the furmer there was no cluss of artisans properly so called; no claxs. that is to say, of men whose the was entiruly or chlefly devoted to a partien. lar mamufncture; and this because all the needs of a fanilly or other domestle group. whether of monastery or manor-house, were satiafied by the labsurs of the memiers of che group iteelf. The lutter, on the contrary, is marked by the presence of a boxly of men each of whom was occupled ninre or less completely in one partleular manusfneture. The very growth from the one to the other syatem, therefore, is an example of 'divirlun of inbour,' or, to use a levter plirase, of 'tlvislon of employments.'. . When the piace of the young namifactures of the twelfth century in the development of medire val aciety is thus concelverl, the dlsensbion as to a possiblo Roman -origln' of the gilds ioses much of its interest. No donbt moxlern historians have exaggerated the breach in continulty bet ween the Roinan snd the barmarian world; no doubt the artisans in the later Ilmaan Emplre had nn organizatlon someWhat bike that of the hateqglids. Moreover, It is passible that in one or two places in Gaul certaln artlsan corporations may have had a continuous existenee from the fifth the twelfth century. It la even jossilule that Ruman regulations may have servel as moxlets for the organization ef scrvile artksans on the linds of monusteries and great nothes, - from whith, on the continent, sume of the inter eraft ghlis doubtless sprang. But when we see that the growth of an arthan. class, as distinguished from isolated artisans here and there, was huposslble till the twelfth century, because soclety hand not yet reached the stuge in which It was prutitable or safe for a consliterable number of men to confine themselves to any oceupation except agriculture; and that the herns whth governed the eruft gides were not pereullar to themselves but common to the whole axility of the the; then the elements of organizathon which may eoncelvably have lieen derived from or suggested by the lhman artisan corporatons lecoune of quito secondary importance. There is, as we have sald, Itite doubt thint some of the craft gllds of France and Germany wero origtually organizatons of artisan merfs on the munors of grent lay or eccleslastieal loris. Thls may alsu have been the case in sume plares in ringtanid, but no evidienee has yet becu sulduced th show thit it was so. . . . The relathon of the craft gidds to the merehant gild is a still more ditheult queston. In many of the towns of Germany and the Netherlanits a despe. rate struggle took phare during the thrteuth and fourteenth centuries between a burgher oligarchy, who monopolized the munlelpal government, and were stll further strenythened in many cases by unlon In a merehant gifld, and the artisans organized in thetr craft gilds: the cruftsmen fighlayg first for the right of having gilde of thelr own, and then for astance in the government of the fown. Theme fact have leen emsily tited thoo a asmmetrical theory of Imhinstrial de. velopment; the marchant ghlis, It la mald, were trat formed for pantection agninat ferial lorina, but incame exclusive, and mo ronteritl nectenn ry The formation of craft gilds; and in the antue winy the cruft gilits becante exelusive afterwanls, nim the fonrncymen were compelied to form sochitles of theif own for pritertion agatant the manters. $\qquad$ The very nemturess of nurli a themry, the remilleses with whillt It haw loreth areeptent liy populer wrisen In apite of the pancly of Einglish evhlence, have perhaps leal mome historlnum to treat It with scant cunsiderthon. . . . At the end of the relgn of Eatwand 11I, there were in Limalon forty right compunles or erafts, eath with a mempate organization and oftierexs of its own, a number which bud Incronsel to at least slxty lefore the elowe of the century."-W. J. Ashley, in Intruluetion to Einglinht Eimonmic Histury nad Theory, bk. 1, eh. 2 (r. 1).-" The unious known ly the names of mysatery, faculty. trate, fellowship, or (from the fait of powserselig portlenlar cowtumes) llvery eompany, exinted in large numixers throughout the radin, and were frupueutly divilen Into two or tirece categories. Thus In London the prinelpul crafts were the twelve 'sumetanthal evmpanies' or 'llvery com-Goldemiflis, sklaners, Merelmat Tallors, Ilnberdashen Salters, Irmanongers, Vintners, Clothworkers]. . . A perfect ney finalntance with the detalls of the trale ant the lesire as well na the nhility to praluce goxal work were In ali eames preliminary reypulsites [of memikership]. In finit the umin pirovinions of the eraft, the very soul of Its constitution, wire the regulathons inter. fedi to ensan the excelletre of the protucts and the capactly of the worknun. . . . The whote char seter of the eraft gultid is explnined by these regulations"一E. R. A. Rellgmnn. Mifrlimand Guilla of E'mglanil (. 1 m . Eron, Aes'n, r. 2, w. 5), pe. 3, seet. 2.

GLILDS

Atso sx: W. Stubbs, Connf. IVite, of Eng., eh. 11.-W. Ilerbert, Mint. of Tirelre Cirent liirery and soctal. Movements: A. D. 1820-1800.
GUILDS OF FLANDERS.-'In the course of the tenth century Bruges had waxial great and wealthy through its trale with England, whlle the Ghent people conatructell a port at the junction of thelr two rivers. The Flemings. nevertinless, wire still noted for the beorishmerss of their dememinur, their udiliction to intemper. ance, and their excensliee turbulence. Their pagan ancestors hal been aceustomeed to form associations for their nouthal protection agalast accilente ly tire or water, and slimilar misailven. cures. Thisse unions were called 'Mmme, or the.' 'to whith mhesinu is so frequentig made in the deede of mulibut corpomethons.

is. . . .

After a time the name of ' Hinme' evme to be supplanted by that of 'Ghilin,' buranlog a feast at the common expense. Each ghilite wan placel uniler the tutelage of a depmetel hero, or demigoxl, ant was Hzazerl by oflicers elected by the members social equality leing the foundation of each fraternity, Sulneynent to the Intmduction of Christianty the demigod was replaced by a saint.

GU'NDEBEITTUS.

While the memivers were enfolned is practise workn of plety. . . . The Chliden were the bive of the minuleigial arimiulatration, and graisuilly ansumed the goveranient of the town, tut tomk another form ami appellatou. The worl wax thenceforwarl applicil, In lta reatricted senme of Gulld, as referring to trade corperations, white the junvilous organimation eame to be demeribal In Froncli and latla docunacnts as commune or Communin, and rmberacel all who were eutitled to gather together In the cunter, or public place. when the lxill rang out the manmons from the town belfry. In Flanders the Coumune grew out of propular lantitutlons of aucient date, nmi, though, no dombt, thelr luftuence wan melnality lucreused ly thelr comtrmathon at the hands of King of coint, they dht not owe thelr origtu to soyal or melgalorint charters."-J. IIntou, Jumee anid Philip lin - treerth. pl. 1, eh. 1.
GUILDS OF FLORENCE. Hee FLOnENRE: A. 1) $12,00-1243$.

GUILFORD COURT HOUSE, Battle of (1781). Ree Lxited statke of am A. II. lisin 1781.

GUILLOTINE, The origin of the, - $\because$ It wins luring theme wluter monthx fof the mimen of the Frineb National Asemily, 1740] that Ir. Guliloith rend his long disconise ujon the reformathon if the fenal conde: of whith the "Moniteur' lus not proserveal a alngle word. This dlacourse attracts our mitention on two accounts:- Firat, it propmedis derne that thero slyuthle lut one klad of pualshment for capltul crimes; mecundly, that the urm of the exicuthower should be replacest liy the netion of $n$ namiline, which gr. Gullotin had leventerl. "With lise nill of my machine" sald the glib dex-tor. ' I will make your heal spring of In the twinkling of nn eye, ind you will miffer nothing.' Bursts of hughter met this declaration; never. theless, the Aswembly liatewerl with nitentlen, and ailopted the prowsenl."-0. H. Lewes, Lifo of Humpinierre, ch. 10.
Alam In: G. Everilt, Ginillatine the Great and her succeasorn.-J. W. Croker, Ilist. of the Guillotine.

GUINEGATE, Battie of (2478), - A hoxily but inlectsive battle, fought between the French. on oue slite, and Flemish and Burgundian troups on the other, th the war proluced by the attempt of Louls XI. to gol) Mary of Burgundy of her herthage. It was followidi by a long truce, and n onal treaty. - E. Smetlley, Hint. of France, $\mu$. 1. ch. 17.

Battle of (1513). See France: A. D. 15131515.

GUINES, Treaty of (1547). See Fuance: A. 1). 123n-1.47.

GUISCARD, Robert, and Roger and the Norman conquest of Southern Italy and Sicily. See ITAI.Y: A. D. 1000-1030; and 1081-1104. GUISE, Dukes of Assassination. Sve Fraver: A. 1). 1isho-10001; 1544-1504. GUISES, The. Se Funce: A. D. 15: 1559 GUIzOT'S MINISTRY. See France. A. 1). $1 \times 41-1448$.

GUJERAT, Battle of (1849). See Inr
A. [1. 1843 -1849.

GUNBOATS, Jefferson's. See Cinted GUNBOATS, Jefferson's.
States or Ax. : I . $18404-1805$.

GUNPOWDER PLOT

GUNPOWDER PLOT, The. See EnoLavo: A. ก. 1005

GURKHAS, OR GOORKAS, The. He Indta: Tite ahmbintial ixhabitants. GURU NR GOOROO. Ne NIEH. GUSTA' is (I.) Vasa, Kiag of Sweden,
 A. D) 130i-132t, andi 15sti-104. ... Gustavis (11.) Adoiphas, King of Sweden, ibil-1635.Campaigns and denth in Germany. Nere (Hina. minv: A. I). 1850-16it1, to 1831-1032. ... Gbe tavus III., Klaz of Sweden 1iis-iivi.
Gustavue Adolphus, Klog of Sweden, Iiviसाल
GUTBORM, Kiag of Norway, A. D. 1:04$1: 415$
GUTENBERG, and the lavention of Printing. Nel IMestimi: A. II. 1430-14:N1.
GUTSTADT, Battle of. The GEbMaNy:

GUTHRIE, The founding of the city of.
 GUTTONES, The. ser P'memsian Las. armie. Tue ohd GUUCHIES, The. Sec Americas Amohiaj. nan: lituran Thimes.
GUY FAWKES' DAY.-November s, the anul yerary uf the day on which the embapiriters of the "Gunpowiler Plot " inteaderi to blow in Kiug and Ihrlianeut, in Einglome. See Eivis. iwn A. I). 1813.
GWENT. See Battais: btil ('enteay.
GWLEDIG.-A Welsh title, sigalfying ruler. or friuce, whith was token ly the nutive lemulire in liritain afler the Itomanas beft. Ile was the ancersmor of the Ilomnn buke of Britain.-J. thys, lillic liritain, eh. 3.-Sce, almo, Abтarit. Kive.

GWYNEDD. She Bhtain: Btit (bistiry.
GYLIPPUS, and the defense of Syracnse.

GYMNASIA, German. sp Ebecatios, Monens: Eeropeas Cocytmex. - Premana A II. INit.
GYMNASIA, Greek. - "Amongst jublic mihitings [of the ancient (irreks] we mentloned first the gymasia, which, wrighating in the re. quirwiments of siugice pirmons, som Inecame centre. puinta of tirenk ilfe. Corporral caserise was of gremt importance amongst the Groks, and the fomury ond compertitions in the varlons kinds of Ixslily nkill . . . formeti a chicf fenture of their rellefints fensts Tifts circumstance rencted on inilis waipture umbarditecture, in auppiying the furmer whith moklels of ifeni beauty. and ing set. tiug the uask to the latter of jiroviding suitable plares for these games to be celebrated. For purposess of this kind (as far as pubile exhibi. (ith) was not comeerned) the pairstrai and gyul. masin wrremi. In earier times these two must ln' distinguished. In the pairestra . . young men practiseci wrestliag ani boxing. As these arts were grodually de velopet, larger extabilshments "ith separate compartments lecame necessary. Griginally such places were, ilke the schools of the traminarims, kept by private persons ; solne. times thry counsistel oniy of open spaces, if poshale near a brow and surfounded by trees. sum. bowever neguiar bulidings - gramadia incroure neressary. At first they consisted of au nuruvercyi court surrouncied by colonnades, aut. juining which lay covered spaces, the former briag nsed for running and jumpling, the latter for wrentling. In the mame degree an theme exer. cive licmane more dievciojerl, ami as grown-up milen began to take an linterent in theme youthrul siweth, anmi spent a great part of their diny at the gymonsia, theme grew in size an! upientour. They won twatur a neremary of ilfe, and no tuwn couidl lx witiont tiem, larger clitien often "ontainiag seveni."-E. Guini and W. Komer life uf the dirrekin und lamana, wet. 8.3. - If gymunala "there were many at Athona: tiough three only. thowe of the Icaleme, Lyerum, and Cynomargem, lave acifilired celefority. The nite of the fint of these hyimania belong how and marsily was in abeient time infestell witioma.

GYMNASIA.

 phantel with trion it heenme a favinrite promemule nmi place of exerede. Itere, in waikn Abmieri hy the surreni olive, might be seed yomag ID"H with crowus of rushes in tlower ufpen their lemina enjoving the swert oxiour of the anliax ami the wifte Ibplar, white the jintanos and tioe - fan mingleyi thir burmuns in the breeze of sipring. The nominw of the Acarlemy, aceoriink to. Aristoplumes the granumarlan, were planted with the Apragmonane, it surt of finwer so enlied as thengin it suluit of ali kind if fragrance nud safety iike onr hemet seense or tinwer of the Trinfty. This phase is supposeri to inave dierived its name frum firadamos, il jublic-spirited man Whas leryuentheni his properry for the purpose of kereping it In urier.

The name of the Ly. cenm. smetimes diriveal from Lycus, son of Ibudion, probably oweci its origin to the tememus of Lycian A pollothere situatel. It fay near the manks of the liksors, aul wha miorned with stately cdificers. fountnius antl grovers. . . In this piace anclontly the Polemareli helif his comet anil the foress of the repubilic were exercisel before they went forth to war. Approtievi to the name of the Cymosarges, or thin gymmasinumentrounded with jrovers, was a legenio which related that Whou Diontes was sacrifteing to Ihestin. a white ding suatchen a way a part of the victim from the altar. and running stmigitway out of the city inepolitedi it on the spot where this gymuasinm was uft rwunls erreteri."-J. A. St. John, The Minverinns of the Athenian gymnasia, the Academy, has lwen preserved through the Iark ages. anif cxartiy in the sitnation indicateri by anclent testimony. Wea are informed that the Academy Wios aix or efght stades distant from a gate in the watl of the asty nameti Dipylum, and that the rumi from thance to the de:ulemy ini through that jurt of the outur Ceranciens, in wheli it was a custom to bury the Atheninn citizens who fumi fallen in buttio on impurtant occasions. Iipylum was the gate from whence began the Sacrial Way foni lithens to Elensis. . . . It apprark ulon that the dendemy iay between the Sarrei Way and the Coionas $11 i p p l u s$, a height near the Cephlisus, sacred to Neptume, and the serne of the (Fidipus Coloneus of Sophocles: for the Acairmy was not far from Colonus, and the latter was ten stadis distant from the city. That pnrt of the plain whicis is near the ollver.groves. on the northrastern side of Athens. and is now cailed Akallinnia, is entlrely In conformity wh these diala. It is on the lowest ievel, where some water.courses from the riliges of Lycabettus are consumed in garlens and olive piantations. "W. M. Leakr. Tupegraphy of Alhens, met. 2.Sec, miso, Edecation, Ancuevt: Greece.

GYMNABIARCIT.

oxpmies.

GTMNASIARCH. Sue Lutcwoita
GYPSIES, The.-"Ilaving in varioua and dintant countriew ilvel in habita uf intimacy with thee jpeopte, I inve conve to the following concluatune Nowpectigg them: that wherever they are foumel, their thanerest and cumoniw are virtu. ally the mane, though momewht mouilati by clecumutances, and that the innguage they apeak amongat themedves, and of which they are part cularly anxboun to keep others in ignorance, is In aft cenntries che anil the mane, liut hay freen sulijerted more or iena ur moilication: and lastly. that their countenancos exhlbilt a decidiol fundily rememblane, int are darker of Intrer accomitige to the temperature of the eflmate, but invarinily darker, at least in Earome, tian the nallyw if the countries in whleh they dwell. for exampie. Englenci and fuswlu, Iermany amil Spain. The names lig which they mee known ither with the country. thurgh, with one or twa excepathona not materiaily: for exumpie, ther sre atyled in IRaswha, 7lyant: In Turk'y and Dersia, Zingr and in thermaty. Zhamer; all wheli woml. parently kping from the same etymun, o ... there is no fithproinalltity in supposing e, ! "Zloculi," a term by which these prento. ally these of Apmitu, sunnetimes dealgn. celves, and the ureantig of which is to ln . "rlue black men of Zend or Fongland avid sumin they are onmmon!
w 1 at Gyisiom and tiitanom. from a peneral bellop that they wercorignally kigy plans, to wheh the two words are tatunionmit and in France as Sohembians, from the efremintunce that Bohenula was the fint combtry fil civilized Eumpe where ther made thele mprearance: thomith there It renmon for suppoming that they had lwen wanlering In the remote reglons of sclavenda for a con-itheralite the previons, ns their language alcumels with worls of Aefavoule arigin, which could two bive lered adophed in a lanaty passage thruish a whid and half jupulated comentry. IVt they genenoly styie themselves and the hatugage which fhey spewk. fommany. Thls wast . . Is "f Nomerrt origh. and sheulfies. The Ihatamis, "ur that when pertalneth mint them Fenm whatarur montre thls appellathon ble than any other to a sert or caste like them.
 own racr: whan are capmble of makligg grent sare. rifores for carh other, and when ghally grey upen all the reat of the human aperles, whom they delest, and hy whou they are hated and dexplead. It will prerliapes bet le out of place to aldes.re the wart fome or fammany is derived from the language of the rave fa questhon have tmage inel.

whelats ? lave assertim that the lathguage whid they spata prows them to tre of Indianstokh, and umbuhtemily a great numaker of thele worls are sinaserlt.

There is scurcely a jurt of the hatituble world where they are nit to be forme : their tents are atker pitched on the hentis of Brazil ami the ridges of the Jlmalityan hitls, and thedr lamgage to herarl at soseow and Malrid, It the streits of fomion and Stampulat."
 day. 450 yeara ago. wr thercalonits, there knorkwit at the gates of the city of Laneburg, on the Elbe, as strange a rabble rout as had ever been ween by German burgher. There were 800 of them, men and woimen, accompanied by an cz truminary number of chidiren. They were dusky of akin, whith jet-black hatr and cyes: they wore mfange garmenta; they were unwauhel and illety even beyond the Ilberill limite cofernted liy the cohl-water.fraring eitlowns of Lanehurg; they hal with them horeen duakey". and corts: they were lell by two men whom they descrilusi us Duke and Count.

All the LAneburger thrmed out to gaze open-mouthed at these pligrimm, while the lhake and the count tohi the authoritee thetr taie, which was wild and romante. . . Many yeara inefore, they expininesl, whilie the teram of penitence stionl in the eyen of all but the youngest chlifires, thry hadi been a Chriatian community, living in ortho. aloxy, and therefore happibem, in a far-oft country known as Egypt.

They were liken a happy Chriatian thok. To thefr vailey carte the snracens, an cxecrable race, worshipping Meloumel. Yiediling. in an cvil hour, to the 1t: eala anil promectitons of tivir conquemon. th $y$-hure thoy turned their fucem anis wept ald withey mbjume Christ. But thereafter they hail no rest or peare, nila a remorme mo derep felf uphe thefr monals that they were fain th arise. Have thelr hemes, and fourncy to lome ta bope of getting reconediath ti with the Chureh. They were graclondy revived by the Irope, whe promberi to nimit them hack into the foid after seven yeans of peultenthai wandering. They hail letters of credit frenn King slgismumal - would the Laneburgirn kindly look at themi - RTantIng safe cumbluet and recommending them to the protection of all humeat propple. The Inneburg foik wore touthen at the recteal of mo much outfering in a cause wigokl; the grantend the reginest of the strangers. They allowet them to encaulip

The next day the stran-
 many things were miseed, expectinlly those unconsidered triles wheh a house wife may leare searce; cergs dowbled in price: if was rowaral that jurwey hat been fort white their oumers gazad it the strangers: cherlahed cugs of sllwir were but to be fimmi . . Whathe the Lame. hurgers thak couns.t, in thelr helware was. how to mert a case so uncommon, the ju. whinis sulderoly decmoped, feavinge sathing Im himet them but the ushers of their fires and the picherd thutes of the purhined pruttry. . . This was the firat hlxturient apperanee of Gipales. It wits a cunfuns phace to appenrin. The mouth of the Fibe is a lomg way from Egypt, cuen if yout trivel hy san, whith dixes ust appent to hase would have Ixen futinttely mome fatginge, lut wombl, one worth think, have lefi to seme ben: 4 . on the rowi before renchlag Inturburg. Thete however, the cipsides certalnly are tinst hearid if and henceforth history has plenty to say almu: thelr doinges. Fram Lanebury they went liamburg. Lalueck, Iostock, Griefswall, travil ling in an casterly dirwition. They are men thoned as having appearyl in savony, wher they were driven nway, as at Lanehurg. their thevesh propmentthes. They tonver: through Switzeriami, hemiend hy their great it.in Michari, and pretenillag to have leeen exjel from Egypt liy the Turks. Their story th the carly years, thongh it varfed In partleulars,

GYPAIES.

OYRWAs.

remained the anme In petentials. In Provence were Eg ptians doxumend io everipantive water. inges for liaring refinsed is pitalliy to fhe tirgin and Jow ph: at Bitie, where they exl bited fop. tum of sele conduct fo the Pope, 1 say were ajon Figyptianm Alwiy= the Land of Nille: aiways the atme pretener. or It may renil.
 the suspleiont of prieats. fathful and submisslve son the Church. From the very Irut thelr real 1 racter wat apparent. They lle, cleat, "mul wanl nt Lonneharg; they lie an theal every. Winero; they tell fortunes and cut pormen, they buy and meil hurves, they primon plige, they rull and piander, they wander and they will not wark. They firmt ranue to lhrim in the yenr 1427, when thore prople want to mop them, we are todi, than evir crowded to the Fair of fanc. det. . They ponalieed at Nt. Thenim for a quit for the ustal rawan. In the ith ( cm ). thry tronhlie began far tho iboosan folk. IIy thi" time tiveir chararter san perfetly widi known.
 lingmoleitew, Rothimers. Tiartara, and Zjreole of i*enheratial wamitrings, tiecy were outcave buw by latant ur therrow. "-lifurgen thel the lise ensfoume of the Invextigation of their lan\%uace

Pott, In the intruliection to itis froits and guotlag from the 'Ntali, Name of Fir dousi, infurnas us thut, during the of la cemtiry of Ixili, mexes, who hy known ins laris. Now, ts lisis the onme ty winioll the sylujes of I'ervia are known eren at the jriment diy. aul as. more. usor the anthor of the l'e:nian wark. Moljomal at ta warkh' emplinticully says that the taris or lati- of modem l'afon are the dicurvilants of there same $1 ?$ ofio innsicibus, there is no hazand in the assumption that we bave here tine tirst fo. monled gypay migmtion. Confirmation of this in atforitive by the Arolian fistorimo. flimuza of Isjaian. who wrote luif a exutury inefure F'ip. lonsi, und who was weli weme in the himery af the sinesasinifere. It is reilatied by thia nuiluor lolt, to le meotit from lodiat for tive inenetit of bis stujects. And "Lati ' is the wame lyy whielo plive Eybsied were known to the Aralks, and whith lay la the Arabie dietinuary al Kanna thosentry ururs: - Zatt, amblifieil from datt, a peuple of dudian origin. The wuri might be pronomaced Latt whth cignal corru buess: For tine gatheriotni of thase Zont: or datt, we fiarie not long to wot fatakhri andi [lan-llankal, the .elejoraler]

the Indue have formed manhes, the bontern ot which are Indiabled by certaim Indian triber calied Zote; thome of them whay dwall near the river lire ins linia, ilke tise hute of the tierbers. and subsist chic ${ }^{-1}$ y on riat and water.fowl; whlie those ocerapyiniz the fevel country furtlier inland live llke the Kurls, nupporting themestyen on nilk, cheese, min nialze. In these amme reglons timere are yet two more trline placed by these Eragrapliers, namely, the Iturlhas and the Modl. The firmer ary properly. acevirilligg to fon-Ilall. kial, antrlivision of the zott. In rontree of thme the Jlain (to adopt the ppelling favimarel by wie (lenry Fill, tt) avercume the Zotts, whom they truter] with sich werverity that they lind lo lunve the country. The Zots then establialivi them. arives on the rlver Pellen, where they wan became bkllful snilum : Whilie thoes llving farther to the worth, kisewn as Klkan, becanse tamed ns Wilun the Arals, In their equrer of conquest. conte in conture witl the Zatta. The litter joinerj them, and large colonite of them were removial for some reusin, to western . iva, and wettied with thelr heris on the bower Hophratex abil Tistis, and In syris. The Zottm on the Theris iw ame wonge anif imbluswone in tlme, ami in wist the klualif Motacrom, aftermilijagating them by forve. reburiell them from the conintry, to the analanor of 3 . (KK). mending therin to ilnzarbm, on the nuthinern frontior of Syria. Ju 8.5, Ainzarba was (ilptiridi by the flyzantinos, whin carriell oft th" Zonte, Wlth ail the ir lmatan hervis. "Here, then, we havethre flrst lam of pspaine hroenght thines of the Zutle after they liadi feren irrought search-to divewrer untining. But, now that wer know the year in whith they entoreal Byzantime terrilory, ofinas may be more successfill. Whather the mame Zolt, ur ratiuer lis fuilan form Jutt (or Juct). Jas aim ixan iorming with them Into Eurvieg imn, of course, na litile abie to Eny." - M. I de Goreje. A ibutr, bution to the timellas jves lie the lisitury eof the ro. witi linvo rand will regret the naro.... on , 'iw tionth, contiry lue had deviteri a is er re ane in the stiuly of the earig nuther of the frrsener of glp. sles ín Euruge. . . It wis liv:opinlent tiat there Inve lven gipsios in Eiest oth Eurupe wince prelils. toric times, mind the It la tos thent Fureyke owe lis this oplufon may lx. it his recolliy leen aiosurved ty Mr. F. II. Airominc tinat "Batailiarl's theory Is galning fir vour with foreignarchueologlsts, nnuing whom M.I. Murtiflet, ('ibutre, and Burnoul biad arrived imlojemidently at similar conclu. sions. ${ }^{\circ "-T h e ~ I t h e m e n m, ~ M i r e h ~ S 1 . ~} 1804$.

At,un is: (: (i. Lelanil, Kinglinh Gipmien, th. 8-10.- IV. Simson. Ifiat, of the frijmiea.

GYRWAS. - "Fen ${ }^{\circ} \operatorname{ll}^{\prime \prime}$ - the name taken by $n$ lnaly of Eingle freehmoters wiow ik'cupied the futhmiy in the Fita tisirict of Fiughand for a long thme lrefore ting were able to possergs the Roy in-lbritish towns and country on lits border. -I. 1i. Green. The Mrking of Englumel. oh 2.-

HAARLEM. Siege and capture by Alva. Bee Netilphianim: A. D. 15i:-1533.
HABEAS CORPUS, Act and Writ of. See Eniland: A. I). 1uin (Mar)..... Presldent Lincoln's suspension of the Writ. Bee Unr.

HABSBURG, or HAPSBURGH, Origin of the house of. Ner AI-sthta: A. D. $1246-\mathrm{T} 2 \times 2$.

HABSBURG-LORRAINE, The Honse of.
 ne:!)
haCKINSACKS, The. Ser Ivemican Anomuntes Ahinsultas Fimile.

HADRIAN, Roman Emperor, A. D. $11 \%-$ 18N...Hadrian 1., Pope, 7i.-70.5.... Hadrian II., Pope, Nit-Ni., ... Hadrian III., Pope, NMi. 8xit. ....Hadrian IV., Pope, 1154-11:59.... Hadrian V., Pope, 18in. July to Anghst:

HADRIANOPLE. Siv ABhasimple.
hadrian's mausoleum. sucantle St. Inatin.
HADRIAN'S WALL. Ste Iloman Wal.as in Bhitals.
HADRUMETUM, OR ADRUMETUM.
Sue (abrinaik. Tie lomistos or.
HEEDUI, The. Sre fim".
HREMUS, Mount. - The auclent name of the Balk ill clusili of mommahes.
HERRED, The. Sie Il wnutn, Tur.
HAGE NAU, Treaty of (133 ) Ser Al'stma: A. 1) $1: 3310134$.

HAGUE, The: Origin and Name. - 'C'olike other butcha cities, the llaghe owal Its impor.

 of the ['ition] J'roviores, and to the constant prosence of the utthers of state and the forelgn minlaters areredited to the republife. For font crituries the alsule of the conitits of Ilollanid, it derives Its name from the 'Introg or hedge encirclige the masulticutut park whifeli formed their
 of the *interfill:. r. 1 1. 81.
haguenau: Cession to France. See Grumany: A. 11. 164s.
HAHNEMANN, and Homoopathy. See haidas, The. Su Ayehicas Amotannes: skittaibetan familis.

HAIDERABF D, OR HYDERABAD, The
 ivis.
HAINAULT. - Ilabualt, the replon of the Ni.thertathe wrupirel atulently ly the Nirvii. Incentue a county umber herevitary lorla In the ly marricese to the terrlaries of the combles of hareume jobund imuler the same family of counts haiti. Su•\|जti.

HAKO, OR HAKON 1. (called ${ }^{-}$Sood, Uarl, King of Norway, wis-wis.......Hako III., Ring of Norwsy, 1:14!-1201...... Hako IV., King of Norway, 1:01-1203...Hako V., King of Norway, 1 Hep-1:310 Hako VI., King of Norway, 1:4:1-1:3w)
HALF-BREEDS. See stanatits.

HALFWAY COVENANT, The. See Bos. Tos: A. 1). 16:5i-1600.

HALIARTUS, Battle of (B. C. 395). Sire Cuekte: B. C. 399-int.
HALICARNASSUS. Sy Cahmans: mmi Asta Mivoh: The (ibeek Colanikn: niso, Maceinnia: II. (: 3H月-3isu.
HALIDON HILL, Battle of (1333). Sice Br:nwick-crons Twerin: A. 1). 1203-1833: und Ncotlanis: A. D. 1:332-13:3.
HALIFAX: A. D. 1749.-The founding of the ri! 9 . - "In the your [1549] ufter the peare lifitaln were rellacell to little more than $1 \times, 000$ mela: thense in Ninural. (ifbruitar, unal the Amerl.
 talued in the lhyyl Xavg were under 18,003. From the large niminker lnith of moldlers and senme - muldenly dix.largedl, It wus fured that th. $\mathbf{y}$ depredatlon. Tluns, lxith fur tlelr awill coinfort null for the quilet of ther remaluing cymmmity.
 remolires. The pirowlate of Xowa trotha was plediall upan for thls experfinerit, aml the free. folld of tifty meres was offerrel th carla settler. With ten arres unire for every child hrought with him. lwishes a free passuge, num an exompthon from all taves darlag a term of ten reirs. Al.
 whth their familles, conlarkell unler ille comaani of (olonel cornwalles, nod haded at the harloour of Chelmetuw. Tle bew town whele mкй uris. from their laksurs rececorel les nanue from the Trule, and who latel the priandjal slare in tha. funntatlon of thes colong. In tle first wlutior scutla: A. 1). 1740-12:3.

HALIFAX CURRENCY. - "For many yeurs Chuada used whut was colle:l Jallfax enir. rency: In whilels the nomendature of sterling muncy was that emplayerl, but lanving a pxumid of this currency valued at fume andlurs."-(\%.

HALIFAX FISHERY AWARD. Se

HALLECK, General Henry W. Command in Missouri. Ne lisithin state:s of mand in the Valley of the Mississippi. Sire skask: - Kentucky)... Command of all the HALMAHEIRA. Ser Moricras.

HAMADAN.-The capltal city of saclent Morla.

HAMATH, Kingdom of.- $\cdot$ It Is lupmailic. lu dondet that the Bomathites are fontical with the (imaimition trils. that was settled) In tha. town of Hanailh, ufterwarla callal Ejplphania. ofl the "hrontes. Ixtweren the Illthes null tine Alourltes of Kimesho. Aftur the the of Davial they were sutatedeal lat that tuwn be the Ari llist. of the Eitat, bk. U, ch 1 (r. \#)

HAMBURG

HANOVER

HAMBURG: In the Hassentic League. See llansa Towns.
A. D. 1801-1803.-One of six Free Cities which anrvived the Peace of Lunevile. See Gervanr: A. 1). 1801-1803.
A. D. 1806 .-Occupied and oppressed by the French. See Germaxt: A. D. 1896 (Uctomen - iectemers).
A. D. 1810.-Annexation to France. Sec Fhince: A. D. 1N10 (Fightiart-Drcenben). A. D. 181001815 . - Loas and recovery of the autonomy of a Free City. Bec Citite, Inperinl and Free, of Germant.
A. D. 1813.- Expultion of the French. ire Genvint: A. 1). 1812-1813.
A. D. 1813.-Defease by Marahal Davouat. Wero Gensusy: A. D. 1813 (Uctomen - I)zeem. BF:
A. D. 1815.-Once more a Free City and a member of the Germanic Confederation. sep Virnsa, Tine Conineme of.
A. D. 1888.-Surrender of tree privileges.Absorption in the Zoiiverein and Empire.

HAMILCAR BARCA, and the Firat Punic War. Nes Pesic Wah, Tue Firgr.
HAMILTON, Alexander, and the Federai Congtitution. See limen states of Am.: Statesmanship. See U'nitkd Staten or An.: A. 1) 1isul-lite; aiso, Tarife Lehislation (1. nithd Ntates): A. D. 1784-1701. . . . The Federai Party. Sive l'vithid Ntatin or Am. A. 1) 1ise-1702; andi 17vi-1790. . . . Fatai Duel.

HAMILTON COLLEGE. &ッ EDE:A.

HAMITES. - HAMITIC LANGUAIGES. -The nathe ilamites, as now usei among eth. muningists, Is restricted moro ciosely than tonce wis to certain Arrican racres, whose inr guages are fommit to the related. The lampory is cinssed as Inmitic are those of the anclehe Eigyptiaus and the muxlern Copts, most of the Alyyswinian trilnes, the Gnilas nud the Berbers. Snme of the ohier writers, La mormant, for example, emberweel the i'urnicians and nll their Cunanite neighthirs among the liamites; hat tids is tot bow an acrpted vicw. It was undenditediy formeri undire the intiucnce of the titeury from wilhin the name ilamites eame, nameiy that the: peoplice so Alolgnated wore descemlants a 1 mm : and it minght toadjust a division of the blamine famity to four iners of deseent, indicateri by the llibileai aeronit of the fimer sons of liam,-Cinsil, Miz.
 Shif tive Conshiters with the Eahdipians (inmiern Mivssinians mud Nuhinns), tive descminnts of Mieraim with the Egyjuthas, tiose of Phut with the i.ibyans. nuif llose of Canann whit tive ('mparaifers. Incindibg tie Phonlefiths. Some hurin that Clue liamites ce'upievi origimaify a gruat girt of Werotern and willthern Asin; that tiley "rre tilu jrimitlye ininabitants of smuthern Mhemj. putamis, or C'latidea, sonthern l'ersia, and sontio. "rul Inalha. null were displiaced by the semiters: afors that tires once inhubiteri tile must of Axia Yitur, until thet the Cartans were $n$ surviving Pombint of them. Ilut the more conservative s-hur in which the term Ilamite is now useti me. striets it, as staterid alovere, to cortain races witich are grouped together by a relationshif in their languages. Whether or not the Hamitic tonguea inave an affinity to the Semitic seems still an ojen question; nad, in fact, the wiole subjeet is in an undetermined state, as may be inferredi from tike foliowing extract: "The so eailed Ilamitic or sub-Spmittic languages of Northern Africa exinibit resembianess to tie language of ancient Egypt an weil as to tiowse of tho Semitic family. In the Libyun diniects we thal the same doulije verbal form employed with tic same doulie fumetion ns In Assyrian, and tifrougiont tite 'liamitic' langunges the catisative is cienoted by $n$ jretixed silhilant ns it was in tive parint remitic speech. We cannot argue. however, from language to race. . . . and the Libynns have ctinologicnily no connection with tire Semites or the Egyptinns. Morvorer, in eccrai listanees the "plamitic" diaiects nre spohen by tribes of negro or Nuhina origin, Wiilce tite pinywiniogleal ciaracteristics of the Egyptians ane sury diferent from thome of the Nemite."-A. II. Niyce, The Rates of the Old Tistroment, ch. 4.
IIAMPDEN, John. Se Esoland: A. D. 1834-1037: 1840-164: 184: (1.NLAAR), (Octo-nen).
HAMPDEN CLUBS. Sre Esolasir: A. D. 1818-18:20.

HAMPTON COURT CONFERENCE. Hew EnMbAND: A. i). 1644.

HAMPTON ROADS CONFERENCE.

HAN, Chidrea of. Sce Cuma.
HANAU, Battie of. See Germany: A. D isis (enturya-i)kcember).
HANCOCK, John, and the American Revo (MAT-AEMEN) #nd 17:
HANDVESTS. Sec NETHERLANB: A. D. 15.50-1.502.

HANES. - An ameicnt Egyptinn eity, once mentherei in tire ibible in tiat uame (Isainio $x \times x$. 4). Its ruins in: ve been fientitied, aboni oil miles Above Cairt, on the western lank of the Nile. Tice Egyptian name of tive city was Chencosni; the (irriek nume lieracieopobiia.-R. S. Poole, (itios of Finyt. ch. 3.
HANNIBAL, The war of, with Rome. See Pisuc Wah, Tak: secosd.

HANOVER, OR BRUNSWICK-LUNEBURG: Origin of the Kingdom and House.
 IIN.I.
The Gueif connection. See Gren.ps and Gumen insen: and EnTre licorse of.
A. D. 1529.-The Dake joins in the Protest which gave origin to the name Protestants. Sey l'u1.ucr: A. 1). 15:5-1509.
A. D. 1546. - Finai separation from the Wolfenblitei branch of the House.- The two principalithes of IIrunswick and Lanpinarg. Whirh had leen dividichl, wrere reurited by Ernest, cailimi the C'onfrswir. In his demia, in isth, thery were agaln divided, the f (fir of his chider aon tahing ilranswirk Woif -nhottel, or Ilrunswiek, and the younger receiving isrunswick Lanclurg, or ijat. over From :he inter itrancia sprange fine fille. famly of Engiani, from tide former Jescendeal time Ihinal ilrunswick family. - str A. Inaliiday, Annals of the llouse of llanoter, bk. $\boldsymbol{y}$ (e. $\mathrm{s}^{\prime}$.

IIANOVER

HANSA TOWNZ.

A. D. 1648.-Losses and acquisitions in the Peace of Weat phalin. - The alternatlot Bishopric. Sec Germany: A. 11. 1048.
A. D. 1692.-Rise to Electoral raak. See Germant: A. D. 1648-1705; and 1125-1272.
A. D. 1094-1696.-The war of the Grand Aliance againat Lonis XIV. SecFrance: A.II. 1094: and 1605-1608.
A. D. 1701.-Settlement of the Succession of the Brunawick-Luneberg line th the EngIlsh Crawn. Ser Exuland: A. 1). 1201.
A. D. ${ }^{1} 74$-Successinn of the Elector to the Britigh Crown. Hee Engiann: A. I. 1714.
A. D. $\mathbf{1 7 2 0}$. Acquisltinn of the duchies of Bremen and Verden by the Elector. See Scaximaitar states (Nweden): A. D. 17101 il 1.
A. D. 1741.-The War of the Anstrian Successinn: Neutrality declared. She Atatuia: A. I). 1 if1 (Acgret-Novemnkr).
A. D. 1745.-The English-Hanoverian defeat at Fmitenoy. Nee Netifrbanibs (Tue Atribiax 1'rovinceas): A. 1). 1ith.
A. D. 1757-1762.-French attack and British defense of the electorate in the Seven Yeara War. Suc (ifrmany: A. I). 1757 (Jelit-l)f. семин:я), to 1711-1762.
A. D. 1763.-The Peace of Paris, ending the Seven Years War. See Seven leaks War: The Theatien.
A. D. 1776.-Troops hired to Great Britaln fur service in the American Waf. See Uniten Statea or AM.: A. I). 1876 (IIANTARV-JI:NE).
A. D. 1801-1803. - Annexation f Oanabruck. See (iekmany: A. D. 1801-1803.
A. D. 1803-1806.-Seizure by the French.Cession to Prussia. Fire France: A. I. 1me-

A. D. 1807.-Abanrbed in the Elingdom of Westphalia. sie tifrmany: A. D. 1 mig (Juse - Intiv)
A. D. 1810.-Northern part annexed th France. Fine France: A. D. 1810 (Febreary - मустмия:
A. D. 1883.-Deliverance from Napoleon, Reatnratinn th the King of England. Sie

A. D. 8815 .-Raised to the rank of a kingdom, with territurial enlargement. Nice V. enva. Tur: Congempen op.
A. D. 1837 -Separatina of the Crown from that of Great Britain.- From the hour that the t'rown of these himgions [tifrent Britaln ami Ireliani] Alevolverl upin Uuern Victorlia, dates a chanere whirh was a rend bessing ln the rebatoma of the Siovercign to the comtinent of Ehrope. lianwer was it that lustant wholly sepamend frill fircut liritain. By the law of that cumatry a female contid not scign except in defanle of lueirs mate in the Roym family. Ilse in addithon to the great micmatate of seprarathge the prolicy of E.ngiand whilly from the litrignes and complicutiony of a petty German sitate, If wis un ha meliate happrimese that the nowst haterl mad in some respects the must dangerons man in these.
 cal system might the workelont whth less danger to the gixal if usinty than atmongs a prople where his hitheriee was asaciated with the grossest follions of Torylsm ant the durkest du. slensuf ranareism. tin the 2t ha of Junc the dinke of ('unlw-land, now lxcome Erneat Augnstas, King of ilanover, left London. On the 28th he made a solemn entrance into the capital of his states, and nt once exhllited to his new suhjecte hls character and diaposition by refualng to re. celve a deputation of the Chambers, who came to offer him thelr hamage and thelr congratulations. By a proclamation of the Sth of July he announced hla intention to abollala the representatlve conatitutlon, whleh he had previously re. fusel to remgnize by the eustomary oath. We shall hare little further occasion to notice the course of this worst disciple of the old school of Intolerance and irresponalile government, and we may therefore at once state that he succeeded In depriving ilanover of the forms of freedom under whlleh she had begun to live; ejerted from thelr oflices and banislied some of the ableat pro. fessors of the Unlversity of Gottlagen, who had ventured to thilnk that letters would tlourish beat In a free soll: and reached the helght of his am. hition in becoming the representative of whatever $\ln$ soverelgn power was most repugnant to the spirit of the age."-C. Knlght, Popular Hist. of Eng., t. 8, ch. 23. See Gramavy: A. Is 181i-i\&40.
A. D. 1866.-Extinction of the kingdom. See Gervart: A. D. 1866.

HANOVER, The Alliance of. See Srain

 A. I. 1713-1;2.HANOVER JUNCTION, Engarement at. Sce Ciniten Staten of Ay.: A. D. 1 B62 (MayJesk: Vironsia).
HANSA TOWNS, The,-"In consequence of the lilserty anil mentity enjoyed by the lahalitants of the free towns [ $1 /$ Germany - sce Citier: Imperial, anio Fuke, of Germant], while the rest of the country was a prey to all the evils of feudal sarchy and oppresslon, they made a comparatlvely raphi progreas in wealth anll popalaton. Nureminerg. Augshurg. Worms. Spires, Frankfort, and other cistes, became at an carly periond calebrated allke for the extent of theif commeree, the ung inlficence of thelr bulid. lags, and the opulence of thelr citizens. The commerclal spirit awakenel In the north alxom the sanie the us la the muth of Germany. llamburgh wis founderl ly charlemagne in thie lopginning of the ninth century, in the intentioa of serving as a fort to brldie the siavons, wing had leven subjugated by she emperor. Its favouroble slthation on the Elle necemarily rendered it a commerelal cmporiana. Towarils the close of the twelfth eentury, the Inhahitants. who hal already leren extensively cugaged in naval. eaterprizes, legan to form the deskn of cmandpating theinselves from the anthority if thelr comants, and of leceoning a soverelgn mull lowleprendent state; and ln 1189 they obtalnell an Imperial elart.r which gave them varions priv lleges, ind liding mang others the power of chot lag councllars, of hldermetn, to whom, in con junction with the deputy of the count. the government of the town was to le entristail Not long after Hamburgh lecome entipely fres. In 1201t the dilzens jurehmsel fron Count 11 lert the remunclation of ail hils righes, whethir rual ir pretemictl, to any property in or susir clgoty fiver the town, and lis lmmediate vicinit: And the government was thus early placell in that lile emif foxitigg on which it has ever slace re malned. lulpek, sltuated on the Trave. Was fumbell nimut the maldle of the twelfth century It raplilly grew to be a place of great trade. It

HANSA TOWNS.

HANSA TOVNS.

berame tise priacipal emporlum for the commerce of the Baltic, and its merchants extended the. dealinga to Italy and the Levant. At a perixd when navigation was stiii imperfect, and when the seas were infested with plrates, it was of great importance to be able to maintain a safe Intercourse by land between Lubeck and IIam. burgii, an by that means the difficult and dan. gerous navigation of the sound was avoided. Amil it is said by some, that the first politicai unim between thrse cities had the protection of murrihand ise carried between them by iandifor its suic ohjeet. But this is contradieted by Lambec iu bls 'Origines Ilamburgenses ' (ilh. x. . pa 2f).

But whatever may have been the motlves which iell to the alliance between these two cities, it wasthe origln of the famous Hanseatic League, so cal'el from the Cierman word 'hansa,' sigal. fying a corporation. There is no very distinit evidence as to the time when the aliance in ques. thon was estabisabex; hat the more generai ophinn serms to be that it dates from the year 1:41. From the beginning of the tweifth century, the jrogress of conumerce and naviga. tion in the north was exceeiingiy rapid. The countries which stretch aloug the loothom of the isattic from ilolstein to Russia, and which inal origin, were then sulajugated hy tike Kings of Demanark, the jukes of Naxony, and other princers. Tine greater part of the humhitants Girman rolumists, wha founded the towas of straisund, Husituch, Wisular, etc. I'rissia and Prami werre afterwaris subjugated by the thrivtinn primeres, and the Khigity of the Tentomberder. So tiat in a emoparntively short i"rimi, the fountatious of civiiiantion nat the arts "arre finid in comntries whose barlmerism inad ever remainui imprevions to the lionmen power. The ritios that were establisheri ahong the feents of the Baitic: ani aven in the interior of the ermatries motroderallint Tin'y wern inmeloted to the morchantwof i.nlweck fur supplies of the commanilties:
 fiwheyl 110 the then fur protection Gulast ther barlarians by "hom they were surcomatel. "ilup prugress of the fengue wis in consequence singularty rajine. Previonsly to the eni of the thithenthe entury it embrame every comsidernbie "19 in ail thes vast commeries extending from

 1.0rs of the i.agge was at Broges filt the Xivher

 (b) " remp. that at royaze from flaly tor the Bat

 2.... whille of it - vituation "-llisthry of the llinn

-" Under citles we are to underatand forthed piaces in the enjoyment of market-jurialirtion (marktrecht), immunity and corporate self-goverument. The German as weli as the French cities are a creation of the Middie Ages. They were unknown to the Prankish as well as to the oid Gemaanic puhilic law : there was no organic conaeetion with the Roman town-system. dii clties were la the irst piace markets: oniy in market jurladiction are we to neek the starting point for civic jurisdiction. The market-crows, the sume emhient which aiready In the Frankish period signitiel the market.peace imposed unier penaity of the king's han, herame in the Middie Ages the emblem of the cities.

After the 12th century we find it to lhe the custom in nust German aul many French cities to erect a mous mental town-crons lit the market-piace or at iliferent poiats on the rity boundary. Since the 14th century the place of this was often thken In North German cities by tine so-caiied IRoiand.Imayes.

All thowe nuarket-places graduaily became cities in which, in aldition to yearly markets, weekiy markets ani finally dally markets were invil. liore there was need of coins and of scales, of permanent fortiticatious for the protectina of the market-prace and the ohjects of vaine whith were coilectell ogether : lurfe merchants settied permanentiy in growing numbers, the dews anung themespecialiy forming an inyortant clement. curporntive assocla. tions of the merciants resulteti, and especialiy were civie und market tribunaix esthluished.
From the heginning sucil in titity: as free cities, which were eutirejy their own masters, hai not existed. Eacil dity lad its furl; whe he was de. mential on to whom the land belonged on winid tike staxni. If it lefonged to tite empire or was the city was a revai ur impriai one. The vile. est of these were the I'faiz titios (iffulzatalte) which had dercioperl from the king's piaces of the 1 the evitury and in conrse of the listh ern tury nil cities evine to linver sucis na organ (i. e. a laxiy of representatives andidi the Staditath (consifium. comalies) with one ir more lmirgo unsters (mugistri civinun' ut their inemi. Ihre tion, a city luthe fegul w-lne ... If ther royai cities manty sinee the thate of Frolerich II. inad howt their dirett thepulenere all the vapite (ikeichasmmittelharkeit) haid hati lureome terrl. torint or provinital cities, throngh luving lewn moif or pleniferl ly the inperial government.
 king iami no richt to mah' whef cilspmations mui times to dispegrarif tar privilegesthat hami been royal eitios hat of diles of tise empire. These haii, wil of them. ill courne of time, evern where the cinief jutivictiou remaimui iat tive inani of Firnione Mipravimating to tac territurial sit firemacy of the priners. They had thelr :prciad comrts ins ewromathons lefore the king sine int an antomomy monitioni suly liy thic iaw, of the renim: they lum the tilquestif of their inven urmedi contingelts amitiae solie right of placing parrions in tionir furtroses. They inui acenif: fingiy nism the right of making foratues und carryiug on fruds, the right to lorilase lanis

IIANSA TOWNS.

HANSA TOWNS.

Abstract

(1heimfuilarecht) and othrer prerogativen. The clitiss of the empire often ruled it the name time orer extensive uerritories. Among the citles of the enplre were comprised after the 14th century almo varinus citles uf blahoprles whech hat breen alde wiprotert themselven from Binjection to the terrlturial power of the bishonp. ani whitch only stumal thit in a mure ur lexs Ionse ilcgree of silhirilinathou. For the ntaforlty of the elthes of blahopries whieh later beame citles, "f thr emple the Alommination 'Frec Citlex' came ill In the $1+1 /$ crutury (mat till later 'Free Cities of the Enyulre'). Among the lingures of eitles, whith examecinily contributed lo ratise thelr prextige ami favial the Way to the ir Ineoming Eastates of the Emplre or   have "th endarlog effert. The suabian elvic leacue was for purcly pulitical purposes-the maintemance of the direet dependence on the em. pire (lleichsimulttellmak eit) agulast the elaims of territorlal wrereiguty of the prlaere, and ta unf firtunite conding served mather tu diteriorate than tu improte the comditlon of the clters. It was litit rent with the Ihansa. Thls name, which  wis trat applied to the gith of the Germun mar.   varimes matlemai Ilousers of Germen merelants  Hhensu if tirmatay' or "Gllithall of the Gormans in tinclmat. 'come'tu cumprise all Girmans who Girrict - 40 irme with Einglaml. Similar nsooclatimusus :he (ie rmana mer lunats were the dierman rumb. 'The chicef pirnese. of these flansos was the and for wieres the mallutaning of peace amourg the liman frother. hrepl prutectlen, the arephisl. tion of conamereial privileges, ete. The lhanes.

 levits whorepresuted thom in external mattern

Y)
 alty. be leriught hefore extermat tribumals: they Wire tul be hromght luf fare Ho. Hansa cemmittere as a silf trilumal. This rommitee lationa mon unter cortain ciremonature they had even the giver of lif. and dentle in the ir hamls. An Itans:i lerothers.

This commanits of interMo thas- fumbiod anong thes dities leel reprat.

 After thin hat husum mure rearly apparent In whip - - that hume formarit besides the Hanma nf

 "wivel" Arm orgmiantath thromels the direife

Waldemar of Denmarki, but which were then repeatelly renewed and tbally looked upon ay a permanent league. The Ilanneatlc League came forward in external matters, even in Inter. natlonal relationships, an ant Indeproulent legal entlty. It carried on war and caterexl into trcaties witti forelgn natlons; it hand a league army it lis diaposal and a league hiret: It acpulieal whole territorial dintrlets anll saw to the hullding of fortreseres. In Itself th wan not a defcnsive aud iffensire league: It dide not cmin. cern liself with the fends of slugle elthes with outslders. The aphere of aetivity of the lengu: was essent hally eontinel to the pros Inee of collo. nerce : protection of eommerce, the elowlus of commercial treatles, etc

The heoud of the: league wis and roatiaund wo he Labieck. Its kernet, as It werre, was formen by the Wendish (l. e. Merklouhurg nul Pomeranhai) eltors whith were united under Lubeek. Originally any city of Lower Germmy which asked to be taken in was recelveal into the langue.

Itansa citiox whleh did not filtul thelt federal oldigutionis came under the prialty of the Ilansa hanin and upon it. . . The felerai power was exericisil by clvle diets. whidh were asemblles of dell-: gates from the unemisers of the eonucll [1Rath] of the Indlviduml eltiex. The summuan was ment bs lubeek. The deerved were pmeati in the foriin of 'recesses.'. Within the langue again were marrow rer hagues with thelr uwn roniminn affulen anil thif own cirle cllets. After numbir ons changes the fonr ' 'pmarters' were reengulaid as surch. the Wemilah humer lanberk as its leten). the saxete moder limiswirk, the cologne matir Cologne, the I'rissolan IJvoninn nuder Danziz"

- The completer mita of the empire lin the enare of the 1.th century necessarity chtulien at hant the ruinalub of its members Siwhere did this elemantery truth make fiself foll in it mone wo. rilthe manuer than In northemstern Grmany, in thene cellonial hatricta which in consecguence if the extrmolinary development of the llansa hat rimen in impmetsince to the extent of having :an intuence on the whole enst and northenst of Eurrope. Here the year 1asiolmal le noted for the Hans: a climax withent a parallel. Afor a glorimas war th had clowel with the thuish kime: Wallemar Atternag. a wease which wemerl athent to kerep the nothern klugdomis, for it lemig time to conse, menter the power of lis will. Biat, anti nfter, the Lulver hlamantic peller began to, tico renerate.

The Ihuna had limitel on withent Interfering at the strugghe which lwgan het wern the Trintomie Grier und Polned. Thls freod it from the thrementis maritime supremacy of the nd rantage of the lianas.

Whthen the Hative during the strugite, the divergenry of lute tels

 In It:t In Hanseatic circles the fear conlld lue is. presand ithat the noble cenforlerathon of mir Hansi will twe dissonverl athl lestruyed " tain belag the onse it swo herame "whlout that Hap atruggle will King Erich buct armally riod the Haames the "Hominium marls thatiel." Fur ohe thing the English and the Intch, more and more unopponel, begun to chrty on in the Fant a comnerce which was hostile to the liansa.

HANEA TOWNS.

While the Western enemles of the llansi thus apperand In districts on the Baltic, whirh had blherto been remerval for the llanmatif: mer. chant, the hafinence on the North $N_{1}$. of the Imitk llanan cities dimhished also more ani more. It wis pasible indeenl, for some thme tin cume, will to holl in tu Nirway. lint further tis the wnth-west the llansa whips, in the wor whirli whathg with Franer vince the gear 1415, wat thens. m-lies atmekerdon nill veles in sjite of the nentral His. It was well kuown that the enipiri: winlil und prutert the dermant fug. It was worve atill that in Eughand a more min more Flolent opporsition arome againat the Ilmasentie privile egen. for the prugresi if this mowement laid bare once nint for all the fondmurutal rontrast bretwell the cousunerinal intarests in Fugrand of the Hhenish H:than citions nuti those of the 'Oatorlinge " FFint"rat eltion). If the Finglish were proparal pars litist to further extemel the riphta of the llangin in the ir hand in return fur the sinulumeons frese can. try of their thin in the Baltie, that was a cennlitions which plenwal the liermin western cithons Lalnet int their lurul. The Finglish holl site:
 Ilfairs in Flampers were on a fonting vepunlly Jlansi as a wholr. . . Luberk, inn diet uf the not lafonging to the llansa when in the lume of the louke of liurgunly. A complete hritid! crablat but anw fatil to comp. It merorrmi, very phmbred in the 'simm,' Ht the binding. ws was rlathal, of the llumst. The rewit was thut ehan!s who happenal to be in Einciand anif for. lanlo cominerribi intereomesw with firmang. Fronn this regtriction. however, the (olognere Were alife to free themolves thrempla separate. Herediations with the kinar. It was an ineatsid. erine stop this to separate themselvias from the

 How even from the wewtern clties. lintwek nt land und opumal lip the prospurt of il mageres in liviv reluruml to the llamest llut all tho stome there was bucomptrete rextonition of the ohl naty The meronntile differomed letworn the "rest anil the rast cit jos not oniy eontinued bunt in "remand. and "dominton over the Batic, not to turntion the. North siat, was, in spite of the mo thentary sucoes In Fingland, ho longer to lie

Ifter alont 1 lib) the interreats

Thus towaris the call of the 15 th century thi:

Thanan bore the atamp of decline in all directiona, the pultileal nucrountike prejomilerance on land, us well as the 'Inhiluhum murls Baltici,' Was broken and th: iorgue liself was torn by in. ternal dlswenslons. In the yeurs from 1498 tol 104 only one common Ilanas dict was held! ; eollt. plejc ruln was now only a gurstion uf time. The l hith century and a part atill uf the lith crintury Coth century and a part still uf the lith crintury the finth German merchant-priucres de velinuyl in Sformmin worh] cummerce, the sitiatedl nuroputlic. huuses of the Nurth showed themetlves incapuble of progressing eren on purcly comimerribl puthe
This remahed in the rots of eld. fushioned coln. Thoy remaherl in the rits of edl.fnchioned coin. buerie." la Enghanl " Iews and less regiral wis paid tu the warnings monl pluints of this nutitumted pisef of retrogression, until Queen Filiza.
 an interlal erlict forliolifing Fingiish merehants to sertife in the Ilansu ritien to simply whenerate thw Ilmsentic priviloges in Finghoul. It was the kry stone of the tomfi of the Jlansentif relintlones whih Fughush, ouce wh elowe und full of impurt." -K. lannprecht. Jhutmo fienthirhie itrove. from the (itrmen), r. 4. pp. fik-ixt.- . The un. nterifful fute whirh hid ovirtaken the Tifernan to thut promal connmunatil evatom whleh when in tis prime Nhuwad butter thion nay uther institalinut the greathers of the. Liarmail power in the of the llanvi llam neit know how turestinnte the know that tlot poral was timillatant for it. mint tyak tox groat : that ut the anhur time it coulhl helomg to tedleqthally abworla and work over the jalen of humuniani, conlal ather lotimate to the kinge of the rule "f the world llus did thloges atill link four or tive homalrel wipe were rumiug in nid? ont. Whan the merefuntonf sunel. Jortmuml antil Gsmabrti-k werr "pentug their rounting honseg on thre Wramghan cis! if Nuvgor(al? It is in trath nuhhing ulw if the (irrman mation tulay asain hegins tor reakor itarlf menolig the mavil [nw ers. In theme haya it was ntan the bane. fill roligionisachlsm whlehhimherit the great com marcial crutres on tho firrman marthern coast fromb making use of the furoring ementellations whilh preseltewl thenwelves. The evangreliont burghors of l.nllork num loustong combl mot manke "pu their minds for the satio of alvantugions trmile conuertions with Spain to twornure hailifis of their brothers of the fintl in Jhillumb: . . and herere with prolually the liat apporthuity wom thisand of breathing new life into the alrealy ugiug rome

HANSE OF LONDON, The Flemish. Nee Fi. InH:N世: IBTH CFNTIMY, HANSEATIC LEAGUE, thee IlaNsA TuNs.

HAOMA. Srי Nuva.

HAPSBURG, OR HABSBURG, Origin

HAPBBURG.LORRAINE

HAPSBURG-LORRAINE, The House of. Bee Actitia: A. 1). 1745 (Ne:TEMBER-UCTOnan).
Harald IV., King of Norway, A. D. 1134-1188......Herald Blatand, King of Denmark, 91-901..... Harald Granfeld, Klne of Norway, po3-0 iti......Harald Hardrade, Kine of Norway, $1047-1008 . . .$. Harald Harfager, King of Norway, 863-934..... Harald Sweyason, Klig of Denmark 1070-10*0.
HARAN.-"From l'r, Abraham'a father had mikmited to Ilaran, in the northern part of Mess. putamila, on the high road which fiel from Batiylunla anil ingyria Into syrta and Palestine. Why he shoulh have migratel to ao distant a clty has bectn a greal puzzle, and has telupted echolara to place both U'r and llaran lu wrong locultten; but here, agaln. the cunelform luscriptlons have at lant furnisbetl iss with the key. As far buck as the Arcadian epoch, the diatret in which Blarnn was bullt lelinged to the rulers of Baliy louln: Ilama was, In fact, the frontler tuwn of the empler, conmanding at once the highway Into the west and the fords of the Euphrates: the uanae liself was an Accadhno one, slgnlfyhig 'the roul." " -A. II. Snyce, treah lighe firm the Aucirne Wonumenfe, ch. 2. Theste of Ilurin la generially Hentilend with that of the later city of carrise.
HARD-SHELL DEMOCRATS. See

HARDENBURG'S REFORM MEASURES IN PRUSSIA. See GEMMANr: A. II.

hardicanute, OR HARTHACNUT, King of Denmart, A. 1). 1151.5-1042: King of England, A. 1). 1040-1042.
HARDINGE, Lord, The Indian adminiatration of. ix.e ispra: A. I). 184:-140.
HARFLEUR.-Capture by Henry V. see Filiner: A. 11. 1415.
HARGREAVE'S SPINNING-JENNY, Invention of. Die Cottos Masiractime HARII, OR ARII, The. Ne Lrimass.
HARLAW, Battle of (1411), - A very memorable buttle hit Erettish fintory. foaglit July ot. 1411. Ix-tweeth the Illohimidera an!
 the Fars, was then proctionly ma luderombent sowerelgu of the wextern Illghinmo of seothanl. as woll as the katals ofpumathe their shore. Ih:

 d-feat hatieted ugha him, ut herasy anst to the dane of ble larid of the lale way het extint trilkes."-sir W. Sicott. Hine. of scoilatut, eh. 1\%.

HARLEM. S.थ II AHII: M.
HARMAR'S EXPEDITION AGAINST THE INDIANS. see Nuntinest Tillit. Tulur: A. 1). 1igh-17日j.

HARMONY SOCIETY. See Sulat. Munf.

HAROLD (the Dane: King of England, A. II. 1a:si-1111. . Harold the Saxon, King of England. lotith

HASTENBACK.

HAROUN A'. RASCHID, Callph, A. D. T*O-419.

HARPER FERRY: A. D. 8859.-John Brown's invasion. Nec Inithen Statyh or An. A. 1). 18.5
A. D. 1861 (April).-Arsenal destroyed and abandoned by the Federal garrison.-Occupled by the Rebeis. Nee Lnitin States of Ax.: A. D. 1881 (Arail.)
A. D. 8862.-Capture by the Confederates. the T'mityi) Ntatica of AM. : A. D. 1862 (SkP. tembeh: Mabyland).

HARRISON, General Benjamin, Preaidentlal election and administration. See CNitED Staten of Am.: A. II. 18\%N, 1118\%2.

HARRISON, General Willam Henry : Indian campaignand battle of Tlppecanoe. She Inithin staten of Am.: A. D. IN11.....In the
 A. 1). $1 \times 1:-1513$...... Presidency for one month. -Death. Nee Cnited Staten ap Am.: A. I. $1 \times 41)$

HARRISON'S LANDING, The Army of the Potomac at. Net Cisited Ntiten of Am
 -Anarm: Vimainio.

HARROW SCHOOL. SHe Eintathus.

HARTFORD, CONN.: A. D. 1634-1637. The beginninge of the city. See Consecturit A. 11. 16:31: an! 1634-1837.
A. D. 1650 - The Treaty wlth the Dutch of New Netherland. Nee New Yink: A. II. 1him. A. D. 1687. - The hiding of the Charter. Mre (onneitictt: A. II. 16m:'F10st.

HARTFORD CONVENTION, The. se 111:11).

HARTHACNUT. Ne. Habmesnt th
HARUSPICES, The.-"The haringliow, marly related to the nagares, were of Fituman origit. Vubler the [ [homand lapobille they were consatienl ubly in a few indivilual rases; umiler lighthluges and "proligios, and morewerer ex athinel the lutesthus of sureriterel ualuals.

 Life uf the liretha and limmbes, set. lus.
HARVARD ANNEX. & LHMCATION. Monfin: Iffonmu de: A. D. 184t-1N01.
harvard UNIVERSITY. fir Emua HARVEY, and the Discovery of the Circulation of the Blood. Sce Memeal. Lill:mt livir ritior.
HASMONEANS, OR ASMONEANS. ....

HASSIDIN, The. -1 sert of dewlal mysta. whech rowe eluring the $1 \hat{i}$ ths eviture $\ln$ Jimiolia. Wallachla. Molilavia, Ilungary, rall nelghlwme ragions-II. II. Misum, Hiat. of the Jitr. . 3. ur. 28.
hastati. He lfmion, luman.
HASTENBACK, Battle of. Def Grmans A. 1). 17.50 (Jun-Decemberi).

tlasting.

IIAWAIIAS ISLANDS.

HASTING, The Northman. See Nommans:
4. 1), 840-401). HASTINGS, Marquis of (Lord Molra). - The Indian admalalatratloa of. sive INmi: A. 1). 1810-1816.

HASTINGS, Warrea: His administratlon In Iadia, - His Jmpeachment and Trial. Ser

HASTINGS, OR SENLAC, Battle of. See Exutann: A. D. IOMM (CNTOHER).
HATFIELD CHASE,-A vast swamp In the W'est Kleling of Yorkshiler, Eingland, INO, OM arres in extent, whlele was molld by the crowit In the ridgn of charles 1. tua llollander who drultual and rechilmed it. It had been a forest lin eurly thesesmil wat the scene of a grat mitte le:twere $1^{2}$ nida, Klag of Mercin, und E.lwla of Sorthotin. lurlanal - J. ( $\therefore$ Brown, Firemts if Singlient, M. 1. ch. e. met. 2.
HATRA.-"Ilatra [In central Momputamia] bett of the secomal century after Chisist. It sure wails, mal comtainlog whthin it it temple of the tum, collelerated for the great value of it uhforfinges.

 resarilid as of Dratian stock. mond were ntwong the more lopmortane of the darthian tributary unorarrilis. By the yeur A. 1). :has Ilatra haid fone tor ruin, and lis then deseribell os - loug sime dewerten!. lis thourishing gerioul thins lachuges to The ralux of Hatra, now calledl lil Hadlir, were !.netle he Mr lions in tha ninth vilume of the

HATS AND CAPS, Parties of the. Si4
 :1.0
HATTERAS EXPEDITION, The. S凶

HATUNTAQUI, Battle of. Sis: Eccuma: The Itmentissi, hisitmiv.

HAVANA. ier (cina: . 1 ) $151+1 \times 01$

HAVELOCK'S CAMPAIGN IN INDIA.
 the English. - Siege and recovery by the French. Sur Finse: A1. I) 10mithat HAWAIIAN ISLANDS, The.- Ilte Il:

 Land. Mani. Molokal. Lanal. and llawati, mail the Kintumhowe umal Molokloi. with a tutal aress of mant interligent races of the Darithe, null have rether. "Amerlemisal!.". The llawainus, likie

 Want la lut one of the tandwleh [llawe lian] Namb lu 1*ㄴ2, and. following him, (Quires found Tabitl and the New lleterlders. Sea voy ages in the lacitic tuittplleml, but that wea lowe co: Hmand the exclusive theare of the enterprine of the spanlarda ntul Portuguewe.... Sative trudlitions refor to the arrival if strangers a long thase before cionjes nyprarance. In the sevea. tientili crutury spminh merchantmen were crose luy the liaclfe, und nilglt have refrosherl at these shanils. The buccaneers, too, may lave found Her strall harlanar a monvenlent place of conceal. Iment "-M. Ilopkins, Ilinmaii: The Itant. Itrent "Hell fiuthre of thr lairnd kiughlum, pp. sil, s7. "It is almint "I century slmee illim Majest y'x shipe 'Rewhutiun' and 'Alventure,' ('nutaling Cow

 Westheal tis light opmon fulrer lands than those Which they hen failiel tue that. Wll the Jeth of damary, lifes, whist sallling throngh the l'actic, "woning they unchures! un the sharress of that mumeil In honoure of the then Firse Lard of the Almiralty - Larel riandwhelander linown to the sathints of helw dey ity 'Jomomy "llekler.' onfe of the grentest of stetc-ithell aml miose ahmutun+al of tions canseypuret on the theft of $n$ buatt, Captain Couk Was killed hu Kenlaheakill or Kírakakoe 1li!y. In the I daml uf Ita wnil, or Owhylere, from "lich ther ofllcial name of the conimery - the lirowin. The rimuirion of the Niorld, e. 4, pe se.The suveral hands of the llatwitan gromp were milithally hime.perndent of quall uther und ruled ev dift-rent chlefs at the time of ('aptalat Conek: Whit: but of fow bars bitw a dollef bamed Kame. hamébia, of rimarkable qualitiow und capabilltlez. stirevaleal the the surverterty the the Inland of their haturs. The dyasty fumbley ig Kamé"thallition was prombilmed. which created a hoglative lmaly, compunal of Werathury nobles und w-wh representatives lufurmally elcertel by tiry "f sitatc. "Progaiketl the lompermbence of the Ilaw: aiban Klugelone, and derlaritl. 'as the quest or for the purpume of colonization: and tril uner ther canting gencrmanent, ir any explat.

 prochinaz fur the regnlarity of lix relathonm whth furelign mathas." imal itrrieil "never low take pens. enswion. colther lirertly or ituder the titlo of a prow ter torate, cor umider any wher form, of mas, part "f the therritory uf "hlefh thery are cont mened." Iu lature, formerly sitthog la une lowly. The legis.

haw illan telanigs.

IIAWAIIAN ISLANDS

divided Into two housen and twht enlarged. In 1804, bowever, Klog Kaméhamelia V. furrel the atoption of a new constitution which revernal thls bleameral arrangetment and mentoreal the alugle chamber. A demble qualitication of the nudfage, by property had by mlurathon, wan alown fintrolueve. With the dewth of Kaméluamélial: In 1872, hls tine centerl. Hissuccremor, Lumillu, wha electerl ing the legislature, and the clovies miltend hy a popular rote. The relgn of latmaliko instenf iurt two ycars. His succemour. Duvid Kalakann, wan minerl the thenme hy electinit. In the year after his accemaitio, Kalakiine viwiteri the L'niteil States, nall mond afterwariln, In inin. a trenty of reciprorley letween the twa comitries was negotiaterl. This was renewed and enlarged In 18N7. in ind the King mate a tuar af the worll. In the fall of 1800 he cance tu Callfornin for lime henlth: In January, 1891, he died at Nall Francimere llis sister, f.illatukilumi, willow of an Auterionn rewidelit, sitceremieni him. - Wi, it Alexuniler. Mriof llineory of the llarrutian Proyde.

-This mew constitution was nide framed liy the kling lint lig the prople thruugh their own nppointerl editions mill nemikers of the courts. The legismitive perwers of the cruwn whith hat lwete entirely remoned atal vexted la the reprementitive exiceutbe. la addition to this provislon there and ineprising the king of the righe thmaniante meinlares of the honse of molites.

The leris.
 fwelly four membera, whot are chectent for a term bers ciectiol for lwa wans. The lhoumes sle in aplobitan by the soseretign luhiligg exerentive canse ly the legindiare: Surh was the firms of rewhiniont wioch has exdfend the interent of the fempt for prombate at new constitution, ani.

 the gisw rimarit. It has laria bhateri that tite lotteres, ans the limpartution of ophan into the at:at - timaty it the forpither. Win, are the govermment act up by the revolutionisto was Im mediately recognized by the Linited Btaten Min. Inter, Mr. Stevens, and commiejoners were sent to Wachliggton to apply for the annexation of the lulands to the Unitell stares. On the 16ill inf Februnry. 8808 , the Probldent of the l'nlteil Siates, Mr. Itarrimon, went a mesmage to the senate, stimittlog an annexation treaty and recimmendlog lis mificuthon. Meantline, at Ifalin. tulu, on the 9th of Frebruary, the Cultenl sime: Minister, acting wibnut instructlona, hail estal. lithenl a protectoratenver the IIawailan islauls, In the name of the L'nitent Ntates. On the the of Marel, a clunge In the I'reshlency nf the linitevi Nintes caceurrel, Mr. Cleveland sucerelling Mr. tharrimus. The of the earllest acte of t'remident (levelund was to mend a memange to the s.uate. whitrawing the ammexatlon tremty uf his previe. cessor. A exmmalaloner, Bir. Blamit, was then ment to the Ilawailan Islands to exaniline and re port "ion the clrcumstances atteading the ehauge if gowernment. On the tyth of the follow lug: theremiser the repurt of Commisaloner Hlomit wam witt to Congress, with an accompimying thenouge fritu the d'residetit, In which latter paper the fictemet fortio ly the Cummlashomer, and the couclushoun reacherl and acthon takeol liy the Lubled Statea Government, were summarizeni partly a follows: "1h Naturilay, Janimery 14, IMo3, the Queen of Ilawnit, who lial beell cont templating the procinuation of a mew consefith. thon, lianl, in ileferrnce to the wishes and rembin.

 presult at levat. Taking this relinguisheel pur funce ny a misis of action, citizens of thomolnin, mumixerlig frant tfy to ane thanirel, mumply resident illions, met $\ln$ a private remimatal selor teri a ma calicyl cominither of mafety cullijumad of thirterin parmus, niate of wham were foreigus Finglishunan, and me Licman. This commitiow. tibngit the denlgns were and revenlend, inai in view unthlag less than annexation to the Culterl Stulcos, and Cxet weren Silturdar, ditue 1/th, and the following Sumday, the isth of Junuary- thoush exictly whitaction was taken muy arver ine revaded - they were cortulnly In communicathan with the Uniterl states Minister. On Momidav Imbraligg the Quern and her Calinet male pillic provelaniath,n, whth a butice whith was sper dilly sersall uman the represuntathen of ail hirciga gevernments, that any clanges in the monstit.
 viled hy time lustrument. Xi.werthellons, at the rail nod nuter the anspicies of the eonmmiter of siffers, a mass menting of chizens wan ineld 1 ai that diay top protest ugainst the Quevores allowit cuntane f fo digule their real purpene and con-strure the promanot maintenance of law ant oriber and the protecting of Iffe. likerty, and property in llawail. 'This merting moljobithel the sume lay, mal immerfiately after surd il.

 Purther top "ithont the co ciperation of the

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

maciuded no foliows: 'We are unable to provect ournives whethout ald, and therefore pray for the protection of the Cnited 8tates forcers.' What. ever may the thought of the other concents of tijia note, the abooiute truth of this latter ataument in lacontentable. When the note was wriltun amd delivered, the committec, so far as it appenes, batd pelther a man nor a gun at their command, ump after lit deilvery they became to paulc. stricken at their ponition that liey ment monne of thelr number to futerview the Siniter and requat him not to had the Cnited States furcere till the neat morning. but he replliod the trinilis had bren andereal and whether the cornaltive nure raily or not the laniling should take plare. Anil so It happened that on tive 1 ifth duy of Junuary, 1808 bet ween tand $\delta^{\circ}$ octicick ini the aftermxin, detachment of marines from the Cinitel states steamship Phenton, whith iwo jlecers of artllery, landed at Ionululu. The men, upwarla of one humireif andisisty in ail, were kip. jlicel with double cartridge inelts, bilied wlith ammualtlon, and with liaversarks and canterens sad were accompanlod hy a hoopital corps with stritchers amd metileai suppllem. Thls milhary demonatraton upon the anil of TIonolula whe of liself an art of war, uniess made elther whth the consent of the Government of Ifawali or for the lnita flle purpose of protertlag the !mperillevi ilves and property of the citlzens of the t'alted Nitites. But there is no pretense of any such con enat on the part of the Government of Itawnil wheh at that thae was untlisputert, and wan loth tire de facto and the de jure Government. In point of fuct the Governuent, instemid of reepuest gigahat th. There la litile linsla for the protense that suleth forees landed for the security of Amer loma iffe and proprerty

When there armeri now were hatenl the aty of Inomululu was la its cuntumary onderiy and peacefol comdithon. There Was mosymptomi of fiot or disturbance in any luarter. .. Thas it appean that hawull was take"1 unserselon of hy the Culter) Stutes foreces $w$ ithut the conseut or wish of the Chovernanent of the inimals, or anylanly else an fur an known, ex. "the the Cinteri states Mlnster. Therefore, the mititary ckeuputlou of Ifomolulu by the Linleal statha in the day menhoned was wholiy whithout sutivfaction, cilliur ay an wecupation by conselot or an an orepurtion necescibated ly danters threas. ening Smorlemu life ama property. It manat $1 \mathrm{~K}_{0}$ acomiterl for lan sime other way and on some other grmund nud lis nus motive and purpuse are meither ohmeure nur fur to serk. The thited sitates forcen leding now on the acene and fanor shy stuthancol. the committee procerded to carry aurpuins. Tuesilay. the Lith, perforterd the plan of temporary goverument amd fixed upon its prim ipul ofleres, who were drawn from 13 mem.
 avoill mothe spluais na! hy ilfferment rolles til avoin of nemer and lavelug first takem the procaution of nevertainhag whether there was anyone therp to "pumse them, they prucerded to the cranmateat buliding to prochitm the new Gow.
 and thereuphn ma I nerlian citizen hegan to reai the prax lamation frum the steps of the CowernIt lo salding ahmost eutirely without anditons yule sadid that befure the rewilng was llulsherj yulte a concource of persona, variously esthasted

HAWAIIAN IBLANDS.

at from 50 to 100 , some armed and some us armed, gathered alrost the rommattee to give them ald and condilence. Thle atatement is not Imjurtant, since the one controillag factor la the Whole affar was uayueationalily the Linlied Ntates marines, who, drawn up uniler arma wilth artllery in ruatilnese only 76 yaris ulathut, dons. innted the althation. The Provislonal Govern. ment thus jriodimed was by the tormy of the procinmation 'to exlat untji torms of the L'nlon with the L'alteri sintes hall Inern negotiaterj and agreed ujon.' Tlee U'nleri stateg Minlater, pur. suant to jirior agreunent. recognlzed thlis Govern. nurat withln an loour after the reabing of the jrivamutlon, anis Infore 5 oichock, in answer to un Inguiry on lelinif of the Quren and her ('able. uet. annoisteresl that ber bad done mo.
i'rovinjomal Governument by the Eulteil Statem Minlster, the barrarks andi the jollee atutlon, with ail the nili tary resources of the country, were deliveredi up ly the Uueen ujon the reprementatlon nade to her that her cause would therrafter be revlewed at Wanhington, and whlle jrutestlig that she surremifered to the supherior force of the ['nlted States, ulume Jingher hand conmeri Linled States triops to be inuled at ifonolinla and decinred that he wouldi support the I'movimhonai Govern nuent, and that she $y$ lefcled hor authorlty to prerent cullisfon of armol forces nul joss of life, and only witl] surlh time as the lnited Stches, ujen the fuets belng presented to it, slomld nuio the neton of les nepresentative and robustute her in the unthorlty whic claimerj os the constleutional averojicn of the Hawalian Isionis. This protest uns ledlverell tu the chlef of the Provinlonal Governinent, wholndorsed It la hls acknoweledg. nent of lew ruript.

Is I apprehenil the sltuntlon. We are bromght fare tu face whlt the fuct that the law ful kowirntur-nt of jlawali was wertlonwn withont the drawing of a swond or the flring of $n$ slont. by it pheress every step of Wiflels. It mesy mafely the masertiol, is difertly truequble to, anil ileprombent for lis surcess upen the asioney of the cinted States heting through its illplonatle and maval reproventatifes. Beli.eving. therefore, that the Cn!ted staterg could not, undir the circumatunces dilsclowerl, annex the isianis whthout justly Incurring the lmpontation of aciulring thern by mojustitable methonls. I shall hot atenla subnit the treaty of aunexation (o) the senate for lis ronalldemtlon, and ln the in. structions to Minister Wijlls. a cogpy of whleh Actompanles this message, I linve directel hlm to su infurm the ['riwlshonal Govermment. But in tid fras-at hastince our daty dines not, in my ophatiei, rimi wlth refuslng to consumnato this questlubable transaction. . . ! nalstake the Aumeroan perople. If thoy favor the odlous dacetrine that there Is mo such thlug as fintermatomai morally: thint thore ls one law for a strong aa. tion and another for at wemk one: and that even by indlecetion a strong puwer may, with in punity. dospoll a wask une of lis territory
The Queron shrmonderal. nat to the J'me isional Grevermuent. bat to the Colterl Ntatos. जlace sur rembered mot ishowintely and permitio t!... hus tompururity and comalithonaly until sul. . facta could ixe conshlerad by the L'nlted states. In Fiew of the fart that both the Queren and the I'rovishonal fowirnument hal at one there appar to the Luiterl States Goveroment, auid coaslde ring

RAWAIIAN ISLANDM

the further fuct that. In any event, the Pro. vinional Cuvernment, by ite aw in declereal limita thon, whe unly 'to exint unill ternis of unkou with the Cnltel states of America luve thea megotiated and agreet ofam.' I heprel that after the nanumner fil the tu-miwer of that liovern. ment that sueh unlos couhit tuf becmaummatel. 1 might compase a prace ful aljuntment of the ditheulty. Actuated by thewe demirem atal pur. prowe, and not umminiful of the intherens perplexithe of the whantion mor fitulathone upm my Fart, I lastructorl Mr. Whitla to mivise the Quetus and leer nupportere of my tipwler bis aill in the pesturation of the but the exloslog befare the law. lean builligg of the Culterl itaten forrem at thonoluhu en the lith of Jannary hast, If surit restura. tim amill luc efictivl upmit terme provhliag for agenerol umberoty the thase crowernet in witting of all the lenas thite nete anil cibllestheme. In there the remple that the pas shombit be harient.

 teen int rrapted. Thee comdhtons lave not Las secen lafurmel that they will whe hividel upin.

 will cease, I liave not than faf finfural that she in wlithg ti yeht fiem her nequlemenese." The refunal of the Queen tu convent tu a gratal amanaty forlmate further thought of hare restoration: whlfe the propert of annexation tu the l'ated states was extinguished for the time by the just actoon of J'reidemt (leveland, sumalned liy the Ao bute. 'Hhe proterthate awamed by Minister Nievene lavilug beed withirnwu, the $1^{1}$ rovishomai Guvernnent remalne(March, 1804) In control, sul a repulilicuit comatitution lo in ireparation.
HAWKINS' FIRST THREE VOYAGES.

Bee AxFuics: A. D. $1502-1587$

HAWKWOOD, SIr John, The Free Company of dee Itair: A. D. 1843-1343.

HAWLEY, Jesse, and the origin of the Erie Canal. Beo New Yunk: A. D. $181 \%-1823$.
HAYES, Dr., Polar exploratlons of. See Polar Exploratiox: A. 1). 1 men)-1861; 1864.
HAYES, General Rutherford B., Presiden tlal electlonand adminintration. Dee l'sited Staten of AM. A. 1). 1376-1N:T, to 1mel.
HAYNE AND WEBSTER DEBATE, The. Hee Cumed staten of IM. . I. II. ispg15:33.

HAYTI, HAITI, OR SAN DOMINGO (Originally called Hispaniola): its namen. - Its beauty. - - Coblunhas called the hamil llspanks from the city of that mamer ent fis sunthenatern coast, lust flayt or llati the mountatumas cotmery, was lis orighal Currih nanue. The Frentil Instowerd upm it the deservel name of "Ia llabine dies. Latiles." All descriphone of its maguitirewe :and kanty, even those of Wath. Ingtou Irvinge in his history of cobmahus, fall far shert of the' raility. If seemes bevonit the power of haminise thexaggerate its twantios, lis proxlintloweses, the hrethess of lis chmate, and les doospoblewes as un alxule for man. colutio bus latheren liurid to prove to fableciln that he bad found here the origlual gardett of Eden. "-

haytl

W, II. Traraon, Hisyti and the Llattions (Rut. mulm's Nonthly Mag., Jin., 1R3H).
A. D. 192-1505. - Discovery and eccupation by Columbue. Pre Amkilica: A. D. 1405; 14tis -1t10e: sull 1908-1503.
A. D. 1499-1542. The enciarement of the natives.-Syatem of Repartimentos and Encomlendas. - Introduction of negro slavery. Humane and reformiar labors of Las Cabas. the Nlavery, Joders: ty tur indans, aml Mtovehy, Nenmi: Itw matenstinom.
A. D. 1632-1t03. - Partly possessed by France and partly by Spain.-Revolt of the Slaves and rise of Touacaint L'Ouverture to power. - Extinctlon of Slavery. -Treachery of the French.-Independence of the Island acquired. - "Alwitit $10: 39$ the Frenelt torok $\mu \mathrm{mm}$ mexalon of the wemtern alures, and lacrenwel mi was rechgrizal liy the Treaty of Ryawiok, Iu 10nis, when the western purthou of llall was contioned 10 Frumes. The lutter baton was fully coneloms of the Impmitanee of the new at yulrement, mai umiler fremil ruke it lxcame of grent vulue, supplyine almont nll Euroge wh conton and mugar. litit the lurger catiern porthon un) alare in thls progrews, remalnlug muell in wioni-n mingelsic commantit shle by shle with forment. In (itw) the frplulation of the westi ra colluny consivieyl of latl a millun. of wheb free people of colomer, and the whole of the po. matmaler negros shaves. The goverument of the Indand exchallel the free prople of condur - aithugh they were In many enses well dincutat ment meth thertuelves the owners of harge cratas

(G) the Líth May, 1000, the Frenelt Natiomal of colome lym of frie parints, were embitial to all the privhleges of Frouch chizens. When thas a perfore fronzy, the mulatioes manifestag an ninlumuled joy, whilist the whites landeri ut the buiggity thilr clase limi menstulurd. The repro. senfuthons of the batter cansel the kiverme to delay the "nerathon of the der ree untif the then govermbent condil te commambated whb-a menallt: bat aronsed the gratest Imifination purty stepped futu the urema. The wlavers Fere in nasurnethon on dagust EBrd, 1701, marchane with erimhately. In the atmond consternathorio the batters, mat, bugether wha the lulp of the mati tary, the rhhug was muppressell unilhore wemel repment the dierere of the lith Nay. "Ther the

 1. rrible struggle was sustathet, the horrome: which were angmented hy vidiletive fermit! luth shles. Cammiswhoiers sent from Prom conth effect methement, for the camp of tir whites was divhled lito iwa hometle mitinde rugalist aul republican. The English and

H.AYTI.

Epanianis moth deacemierl on the feland, and the blocks, unter able chiefn, felli impregmatie gu. sltions in the mountalns. Apprihenmive of a Ifritah invadon in forere, the commanglonera, find. las they conlil nut evnupuer the blackn, Feniven on concfiating them; and In Augunt, 170a, unt rermal fremioni, was fincimioned -a mensure pall. find by the Natonal Cionvention marly In the bullowing year. Meanwhife the Englah had taken Port-all. Priacy, nat were lewteglne the Freucle governor fin liont in in Paix, when the Harkm, refying withe receut procimmation, canue to hla avalatace, undie the commani of Toum Frabcul Iominlifur Tousauint, a negro of jure liment. a anve and the offriting of wlaves, wan tworn in titil, bud om attainlug manformi way Hent mat of trixt far connexton with the wigur mannlactory of the ewtate to whle li to loloulecel. The orerwer having taken n fincy to him, lir wis ralught to rumb and write, muf evern phoked up sume sllglat knowlenfge of Latifn and mathe mat. los." Ile was alow to dida the riving of the harck: "fut at tougth, nlto.e futving wornand the wegrio army in n medidol cypreliy." butt qulekly with the spanlimis againat the F'reneli:" fut Tinmeilat mine to the concintion torat they hasl unwe tulogne from the French, anil permunted hls fillowirn to amarels to the pottef of the Frunch Touswatut haf wom the backs to this allanece, be "blainsel. ". Mats ret homaue falt inverture partont." "util from that day the: liack emmman.
 los which he Is luest known in hlatory. Acting Hith womlerfal evergy, Tonmantit effectial n |ometon whlt lavilux, drove the Einglah from ile ir pomithous, limik as Spanish tettortev in four lays, mud finally the diritish alumbund the faland.

 ing the jusithon of commamier In-rislef. lut vir Hially didator - ancreverid whth great skif in contining all the bowtle elements if the crolong

 thelr catatoa, mui ly a varlety wif promernt unid aravil. It thta atage he assumbed groibt static in of 1. ing man in brilliant unifarm, bint in prlvati lif. In was frosel mom menterate. In the mi-

 Thiv lualy drew uf a (idnstitutlon by which frove trale extathlabel. The itraft of thls enti. atituthon, togethir with an witograph letter, be firwariled tel Ibatapiarte: but the Eirat ('ansuil H1. Is a revoltal shate whoun we mont pianda;

 romithtel lumprondence. .. . Inalons to iflvast islaut, whith blinself as supreme elilef, in Juty 1801. Moat unfortunately for the Thatian gen era!, hemillithen fimi for the mottent cemaril lie twien dirut Ifituin and France, wal the Fires C'unsil wan enalifed tolventow hif clove athention on the former F'rotich evolony. Iheternimesl to re. pomesa it. Ihnapmarte sebt oist an army of so, om unen, witi the siliw of war, itnler tive crmmand of fla lirether fus liw theneral lacefers. lurlag thee nugriwa itlll working the piantationis, bite as free then, nul under the name of 'enlifvators.'

Iatlore bow enufavouriol hy joredurmutions to tirmi the cultivntora agrinat thelp chifef, and alan falxinforl to wow iftamenton lin the maka of the black nrus, by making the officers tenfitlog which grent crueftes were fultretal; but the dia. - filline of the F'rouch whs mowly tofling in thelip fivour. When lacelore imile a pullikent hiunder threw off the mank, anl lurlily declarenl the rend objert of the expallthin - the re enalavenuent of the negm peprilathon, This news felf like is round Tumsalut lat thonsinfs." Ditarmmal at the know lealigel It tul an an errur, and promimet the summonlag of an nwainhly rijiresentative of alf act of the bituckeat treachary. the twigrontatevman

 Whthont trlal, or nuy Itromplog, lar the dungeons of the ('hato:n dolst. fin the hepartment of |hanbe the was theri." "illow in to jhe nway. without Wrom cluthlig null with fusilllelent fimal.
Flomily the genvernor of the firtan went away or drluk on has rifury Thasalut was domal, nud the rats baid gmamal hata fort. It whe given Thla breath of faith on the part of the Fremedt trinasal the firy whit lnflgu:thon of the bincks.

 "fresh" it the witme thare villow fover raged

 War with mmmetallerif larfarity, lat nlwn with was iflven, In |sti:\}, tu surrember. and "the [ower of the Frcirlo wis lomt un the latand." -

 I Iutchiven.

Atms in: II. Mirtinema, The llour atid the Men. - J. IBrwwn. Iliap. N, Nhemingo. - II. Iflams. Hientorial Eixnegn. ith. 4.
A. D. 1639-1700. - The Buccaneers. See

A. D. 1804-1880. - Massacre of whites. The Empire of Dessalines. - The kingdon of Christophe. - The Republic of Petion and Boyer. - Separation of the independent $R e$. public of San Domingo. - The Empire of Soulouque. - The restored Republic of Hayti. "In the beglinning of 1 Nol the falependence of the negroes uadcr Dcssalines was sufficlently assured: but they were not satisfied untll they hal completed s: general massacre of nearly the whole of the whites, Ineluding aged men, womea aad ehlldren, who remalned in the lsland, numbering, aecording to the lowest estimate, 2,500 souls. Thus did Dessallnes, In lils owa aavage words, reader war for war, erime for crime, and outrage for outrage, to the European eanaibals who had so lomg preyed upon his unhappy race. The aegroes deelared Dessalines Emperor: and In Oetober 1804 he was erowned nt Port-uu- Prince hy the title of Jnmes I. Dessalines was at once a brave man and a ernel and araricious tyrant. Ile aequired great luthuence over the aegroes, wholong remembered him with afteetlonate regret : but he was not warmly supported by the mulatoes, who were by far the most latelligeat of the Haytians. He abolished the militin, and set up a standing army of 40,000 men, whom he found himself nuahic to pay, from the unlversil ruln which had overtaken the Island. The plantation labourers refused to work. . . . Dessa. lines authorised the landowaers to flog them. Dessaliaes was himscif a large planter: he had 32 large plantations of hls own at work, and he foreed hils huourers to work oa them at the point of the bnyonet. Both he and hls successor, Christophe, like Mahomed Ali in Egypt, grew rech ly heing the chicf merehants ln thelr own domiaions.

HAYTI.

HAYTI

Ile failed la an expedition ayainst St. Domingo, the Spanlsh part of the ishinl, whence the Frencla gencral Forrand still threatencd him: and at length some samguinary acts of tyranny roused agalust hlm an lusirreetion leaded by his old comrade C'Irist ophe. The lusurgents marched on Port-an-Prince, and the first hlack Emperor was shot by an ambuseade at the Pont louge outside tie towa. The death of Dessalines delivered up Haytl oace more to the horrors of civll war. The negroes aad mulatoes, who hat jolned cordially eamgh to exterminate thelr conmon encmics, would no longer hold together; and ever slnce the death of Dessuliars their jealonsies and differences have heen a sourec of werakness in the hlaek repulitic. In the old times, Hayti, ns the French purt of the list:and of Espanola was henceforth called, haid been divided into three provinces: South, Fans. and North. After the death of Dessalines each of these provinces became fora time a separate state. Christople wished to maintain the unlimited $\operatorname{mpuer}$ lalism wheh Dessillnes had set uf: but the Constituont Assembly, whleh he summonel at Port-am-Prince in 18iog, had a her vinws. They resolvell upon a lepublican conshiutim." Clisistophe, not contented with the atherel\} presidency, "collected an army with the view of dispersing the Coastitueat Assembly: but ther eolleeted one of their own, under Pétlon, and forced him to retire from the capital. Claristophe maintained hilmself in Cap Framels, or, as it is now ealled, cap Ilaytlen; and here he ruied far 14 rears. In 1811 , despisling the lmperial titie wheh Dessalimes had desecratel, he took the ruyal style ly the name of Ilenry 1 . Christonne, an a mau, was marly as great a monster as Des. atines. . . . Yet Chiristople at his best was a maa capable of great alms, and a sagaclous and "nergetic ruler." In 1820 , tinding himself ileserted $\ln$ the face of a mulato insurrection, he a c.amitted sulclele. "In a month or two nfter Christophe's suicide the whole isiand was united under the rule of Presldeat Boyer.; Boyer was the suceessor of Petlon, who had been elected In the North, under the republlcan constlitutioa whlch Cliristophe refused sulmission to. Pétion, "a mulato of the best type," eduented at the milltary aeademy of Paris, aad full of Europent ldeas, liad ruled the proviace which he controlled nbly and well for eleven years. Ia discouragemeat he then took his own lifc. and was succeeder, in 1818, hy hls dentenaat, Jean Pierre Boycr, a mulato. "Ou the sulche of Claristoplac, the army of the Northern Provlace, weary of the tyranay of one of their own race, declared fur Boyer. The Frenel part of the Islaad wns now onee more under a single goverument: nnd Boyer turned his attentlon to the much larger Spanish territory, with the old eapital of St. Domingo, where a Spmard named Mnticz de Caceres, with the aid of the negroes, had now followed the example lu the West, and proclalmed aa lude pendent goverameut. The Dominicans, hows. ever, were still afraid of Spaia, and were glad to put themselves nuder the wiag of Inayti: Boyer was not unwilling to take possession of the Spanish eolony, aad thus it happeaed that ia $182:$ Le mited the whole island under his Presidency. In the same year he was clected President for lifc under the constitutioa of Pétlon, whase general poliey he malntalned: but hls governmeat, especially la his later years, was almost as despotle as that of Christophe. Boycr was the first llay tinn who united the blacks nud mulatters muder his rule. It wns mainly throngh contdence In him that the goverument of llaytl won the recngnition of the European puwers. 805 its independeace was furmally recoquien ly France, on a compensation of 1511, (КН), (\%) of francs beiag graranteed to the exiled phanters and to the home govermment. This vast sim was afterwards reduech: but it still weighed heavily on the lmpoverisbed state, and the discoutents whed the necessary taxation producel led to Boyer's downfall," $\ln 1843$, when he withirew to dainalea, and afterwards to Paris, where he dimi in 1850. A singuhr state o. affairs chonsul. The eastern, or Spanish, part. of the lshand re. smmed its independence ( $18+4$ ), under a republican constitution resembling that of Vencrucla, and with Pedro Samtima for lis President, and has becon known slace that time as the lecpublic of Sill Domingo, or the Dominlean Repuhlic in the Western, or Ilaytisu Republie, large mumbers of the negroes, "unler the names of P'ipnetsn". Zinclins, aow formed themselves into armeli bands, and sought to obtain a geucral division of property under some communistic monarch of their own race. The mulatti) olle joled the proor negroses by bribing sombe wh negro, whose name was well known to the masd of the prople as one of the lecress of the war uf liberty, to allow himself to be sut np as I'resiIent. The Boyerists, as the mulato aligarchy were cullel. thins sucreeded in re-establishins therr power," and their system (far describit: which the word "gerontocracy" has heen inrented) was carried on for sonie sears, until it resulted, in 1817, in the ejection to the Presideney of General Fanstin Sonlouque. "Soulauque wit an : iterate negro whose recommendatimus to pec er were that he was old enough to have taket. part in the War of Independence, laving beyna li.ontenaut umder Pétlon, aad that lie was poppular with the negroes, beiag derotedly attachect to

HAYTI.

IIECATOMBENON:

the strange mixture of freemasonry and fetlsh worshlp by whlch the Ilaythan blacks maintaln their political organisatlon." The new Prealdent took hls elevation more seriously than was expected, and proved to be more than a match for the milattoes who thought to make blm thelr puppet. He gathered the reins luto hls own hitnds, and crished the mulatoes at Port-anl'rinee by a general massacre. IIe then "cansed himserf to le proclaimed Emperor, by the tltle of Fuustinns the First (1849)," aud establlshed a grotesque lmperlal court, with a fantastle nohility, in whicl a Duke de Lemonade figured by the side of $n$ Prince Taje-d.l'r.ll. This lasted untll December 1858, wheu Sonlouque was dethroaed and sent ont of the conntry, to take refuge In Jamaica, and the republic was restored, with Fabre Nicholas Geffrari, a innlatto general. at its hend. Getirard held the I'residency for cight ymurs, when he followed his predecessor into exile in Januica, and was succeeded by Gencral Sulnive, a negro. who trled to re-establlsh the Emplee and was sliot, 1869. Since that time revioutions have been frequent and nothing has heren constant except the disonler nnd decline of the comniry. Meantime, the Dominlcan Republle hus suffered scarcely le.ss, from its own disorders and the attacks of lts Ilaytian nelginbors. In 1401 it was surrendered by in provisional governnuent to Spaln. but recorcred independence three wars later. Soon afterwnris one of Its parties souglit anncxation to the Cnited States, and In wsig the President of the latter republle, General Grant, coneluded n treaty with the Dominlean giwernment for the cesslon of the peninsula of Simima, and for the placlng of San Domingo nuter Americin protertion. But the Sronate of the Conited States rofused to ratlfy the treaty. -I. J. Payne. Jlist. if European Colomies, rh. 1.5

In.st, is: Sir S. St. John, IIayti, or the Black lifimblic, ch. 8.

HEAD-CENTER, Fenian. See InElind: 1. 1). 1858-186\%

HEARTS OF OAK BOYS.-HEARTS OF STEEL BOYS. S'e Inflasid: A. I). lith-lign HEAVENFIELD. - Battle of the (635).Ihfeat of the Wrels, with the drath of Cindwallon, the "last ereat hero of the british race." lif the English of 13 (rniclin, A. 1). 635.). "'The at the cloce of the last rally which the Britoms ever made agalnst their conquerors." - J. IR.

IIw in: Bede, bechexitationl Mintory, bk. 3. ch. 1-2.

HEBERT AND THE HÉBERTISTS IN THE FRENCH REVOLUTION. See Funvi: A. 1). 179t) ; 1793 (Mahch-Jenk), (Nhi'temben-1)ecemnefi), to 17月3-1794 (Novem-

HEBREW, The Name. Sce Jews: Tumin Nimmati, Names.

HEBRIDES OR WESTERN ISLANDS, The. - "The Ilebrides or Western luabils comprise nil the nomerons lslands aud ivets which extend along mearly all the west comst of Scothand; und they unclently comprised alm the peninsula of Cantyre, the lshands of the CTyle, the lsle of Iachllin, and even for some tlme the isle of Man."-Mistorical Tales of the Wars of scotland, $x .3, p .60$.

9th-13th Centuries. - The dominion of the Northmen. See Nohmans. - Nofitimen: 8th9tif Centcrien, and 10ti-13tit Centeries; also, Sodon and Man.
A. D. 1266. - Cession to Scotland. See Scotland: A. I). 1206.
A. D. 1346-1504.-The Lords of the Isles. -In 1346, the dominion of nost of the Hebrides Lecame consolidated under John, son of Ronald or Angus Oig, of Islay, and he ussumed the title of "Lord of the Iskes." The Lords of the Isles became substantinlly Independent of the ticottish crown until the battle of IIarlaw, In 1411 (see IIarlaw, Battiff of). The lordship was ex. tInguished in 1504 (see Scothand: A. D. 1502. 1504). - Historical Tales of the Wars of Scotland, pp. 65-72.

HEBRON.-In the settlement of the trlbes of Isracl, after the conquest of Canaan, Caleb, one of the heroes of Judial. "touk possesslon of the territory round the fimous old city of Ikebron, and thereby galned for his tribe a scat held sacred from Patriarchal times. . . . Beginulng with IIcbron, he acquired for himseif a considerable territory, which even in Ihavid's tlme was numed simply Culeb, and was distinguished from the rest of Jndnli as a pecnlinr district.
IIcbron remaincl till after Inavid's time celebrated as the main seat and centril point of the entlre tribe, aromed which it is evident tbat all the rest of Julah grudnally clustered in good order. "-II. Ewald, Hist. of' Iarull, bk: 2, surt. 3, A.-"Ifebron was a littite city, the centre of an ancient civilization, whlch to shmeextent had been inherited by the tribe of Judiali. It was nutoubtedly the capital of Judali, a city of the higlest religions character full of recollections nud traditions. It conld boast of tine public bnildings, goon water, and it vist and well-kept pool. The unificatlon of Israd had just becn nccompllshed there. It wis only naturn that Hehrou slomlat become the capital of the new iningrom [of Divld]. . . It is not easy to say what induced David to leave a city which had subh ancient and evident chains for a hamlet like Jelms [Jernsalem], which did not ret belong to him. It is probable that he fomid llebron too exclusively Julahite."-E. lionhm, Mist, of the Imple of larael, bh. 2. rh. 14.-.Ore, nlso, Zoas; imil Jfins: The Cimlomsin uf Iehakil is E:N1'T.

HECANA, Kingdom of, - Onc of the small, slunt-lived kingrlems of the Anyles in early Eliglinai. Its territory was in nodern Herefordshire. — W. Stubbs, Cemist. Hiat. of Eug., ch. 7, sect. 70. —Sie England: A. I). 547-633.

HECATOMB. - " Large sacrifices, where a freat uumber of animals were slanghtered, [among the ancient Greoks] are callad heca-tombs."- ( F . Schomann, intiq. of Greece: The state. p. 60.

HECATOMBAEON, Battle of. - Fonght, 13. C. 224, by Clemmones of Sparta with the forces of the Achiman Leagic, over which he won a complete victors. The resith was the calling In of Antigouls Doson, king of Miacedonia, to become the ally of the Leagne, aul to be aided by it in erushing the last lurlepululent politicul life of Pehpomesian Gruece.-C. Thirl. wall, Ilist. af fircer, eh. 6?

HECATOMBPEDON.

MELLAS.

hecatompedon, The. See Partienon at Atiene.
HECATOMPYLOS.-The elief etty of Parthla Proper, founded liy Alexander the Great, and long remaining one of the caplals of the Parthlan empire.
HEDGELEY MOOR, Battle of ( $\mathbf{1 4 6 4}$ ). See Enuland: A. D. 145 年-l4i1.
HEDWIGA, Queen of Poland, A. D. 13821386.

HEELERS. Sce Bosarsm.

HEERBAN, The. - The " heerban" was a military system Instltuted by Charlenagne, which gave wny to the fundal system under his successors. "The basis of the heerban system was the duty of every tighting man to nnswer directly the call of the kligg to arms. The freeman, not ouly of the Franks, lut of all the suhnjeet peoples, owed millitary service to the king alone. This duty is lusisted upon in the lars of Charlemagne with constant repetition. The summons (heerban) was lssued at the spring meeting, and sent out by the counts or missi. The soldier was oiblired to present himself at the giren time, fully armed and equlpped with all provision for the campalgn, except tire, water, and folder for the horses "-E. Emerton, Introduction to the Stuly of the Middle Igta , ch. 14.
HEGEMONY. - " A hegemony, the politeal aseendancy of sonte oue city or coinmunity over a number of subject commonwealths "-sir II. 8. Maine, Disertationa on Early Lar and Cus. tom, $p$. 13 I . hegira, The. Sce Mahometan Conquest: A. I). मina-ri!. hegira, Era of the. See Era, Mahone. tas.

HEIDELBERG: A. D. ${ }^{1622}$.-Capture by Tilly. See Grimais: A D. 1621-1033.
A. D. 1631 .-Burning of the Castle. See Germairy: A. D. 16:31-1632?
A. D. $\mathbf{1 6 9 0}$.-Final destruction of the Castle. See Fusick: A. 1). 16x9-1690.

HEIDELBERG UNIVERSITY. See Edt. cation. Mrm.fyal.: Ghrmasy.

HEILBRONN, Union of. See Germany:

A. I) $16: 32-16: 34$

HELAM, OR HALAMAH, Battle of.- $A$ decisise victory won by King Davil over the Syrims - II Simmel, x. 15-19.
HELENA, Arkansas, The defense of. Sec UNitid States of Am: A. D. $1 \times 63$ (JCif: O.

HELEPOLIS, The. See Rhodes B. C. 30.:-3:34.

HELIEA, The.-Under Solon's constitution eitizons was every year createl by lot to form $n$ supretue court, called IIeliten, which was divilled luto several smaller ones, not limited to may prerise number of persons. The qualifeations required fir this were the same with those which gate admission into the general assembly, except that the members of the former might not le unter the age of thirty. It was, therefore, In fuet. a select portion of the latter, In which the powers of the larger lanly were eoncentritediand pxercised unler a judicial form."-C. Thlrlwall, Mist. of (Ireece, ch. 11.
helicon. See Thergaly.

HELIGOLAND: A. D. 1814.-Acquisitlon by Great Britain. See Scandinavian States: A. I). 1813-1814.
A. D. 1890.-Cession to Germany. See Africa: A. D. 1884-1891.

HELIOPOLIS. Sce ON.

Battle of. sec France: A. D. 1800 (January -JONE).

HELLAS. - HELLENES.-GRAIKOI.GREEKS. - - To the Greek of the historical ages the iiken of IIellas was not associated with any detinte geographieal limits. Wherever : Greek settlement exlisted, there for the colonint.s. was IIcellas. Of a IIclas lylng within eer. tain specitied imonds. and contalning within it only Greek inhabitants, they knew hothling." G. W. Cox, Mist. of Griece, bk. 1, ch. 1.-"Their language was. . . from the beghining, the token of recogntion among the Iellenes. Where this langage was spoken-in Asia, In Europe, or in Africa - there was Ifellas. A consilerahle man!er of the Greek tribes whichi immlgrated by land [from lsia] into the Ellropean peninsula [of Greece] followed the tracks of the lalicans. and, taklug a west ward route through Preonla and Macedonla, penetrated through Illyria into the western half of the Alpine country of Sorthern Greece, which the formation of its hill ranges and valleys renders more easily uccessible froin the north than Thessaly In lts seeluded hollow. The mumerous rivers, abounding in water, which tow close by one another throngh long gorges Into the Ioniain Se:a, here facilitated an alvance into the south: and the rich past re-lind invited lmmigration: so that Epirus Beeme the drelling phaee of :i dense crowd of pepulation, which commenced its civilized earecer in the fertile lowhimes of the conntry. Anumg them three main trines wer markeil out, of which the Chaones were regarden! as ther mast micirit.

Fiarther to the someth the Thesprutians had settlef, and more Inland, in the direction of Piallis, the Molossians. A more ancicot appedlation than those of this triple divisInn is that of the Greeks (Gratiki), which tha IIellenes thenght the earliest designation of the ir ancestors. The same name of (iripei (firerk-) the Italiems applied to the whole family of por. ples with whon they had once dwelt together in thase districts. This is the first collective naine of the llellenie trikes in Europe. . . Far away from the eonst, in the seelnsion of the hills, where lie closely together the springs of the Thyanis, Lous Aracthus, and Achelous, extends at the base of Tomarus the lake Iommina, on the thickly wooded banks of whiel, between fiehds of curn and danp, meators, hy Dodona, a chosen mat of the Pelargian Zeus, the invisible Gold. Who smounced his presence in the rustling of the miks, whene altar was surrounded by a vast circle of tripols, for a sicu that he was the first to unit." the donkstic heartles and elvic commanities int", a great assolitition eentering in himself. This Doxlona was the central seat of the Greect it was a sacred centre of the whole district before the Italicuns ammaned their westwarl jomerne: and at the same time the place where the sulsivphent nationil name of the Grecks can be tirnt proved to lave prevailet; for the chasen of the prople, who administered the worship of Zens. were called Selll or Helli, and after them the ## hellas.

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFLUENCE.

surroundlng country Hellopla or IIellas."-E Curtlus, Ilist. of Greece, bk. 1, eh. 1 and $$$ (0. 1).
A L.so in: G. Grote, Hist. of Brecece, pt. 2, ch, 2 (0. 2)-G. W, Cox, Hist. of Greece, bk. 1, ch. 4.W. E. Gladstone, Jurentus Mundi, ch. 4.

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFI.U

 ENCE-HELLENIC AND HELLENIST: IC CULTURE, -HELLENISM.-"It was the privilege of the Grecks to dlscover the sovereign efficaey of reason. They entered on the pursuit of knowledge with a sure and joyons lnstlact. Baffled and puzzled they might be, but they never grew weary of the quist. The specnlatirc facultr which reached lis helght in Plato and Aristote, was, when we make due allowance for thme and clrcumstance, scarcely less eminent la the Ionian philosophers; and it was lonia that gave birth to an ldea, which was forelgn to the Eav, but has become the starting polnt of modern science, - the iden that Ninture works by tixed litws. A fragment of Euripldes speaks of him as 'happy who hims learned to search late eanses' who 'disierns the deathless and ageless orler of mature, whence it arose, the how and the why: The earty poet-philosophers of Ionia gave the impulse which has carried the human intellect forwarl aeross the line which separates empirical from stientitic knowledge; and the Greek preracity of mind in this direction, unlike that of the Orimtals, had in it the promise of uninterrupted aisance in the future, - of great discoverles in mathenatics, geometry, experimental physies, in medle ine also and physlologyBy the mid. the of the tifth century B. C. the general comception of law in the physical world was firmly established in the mind of Greek thinkers. Even the nore obscure phenomena of disease were brought within the rule. Ifippocrates writing ubout a malaly which was common aumong the scythians and was thought to be preternatumi suys: ' Is for me I think that these maladies :!t disine like all others, but that unae is innre divine or more human than another. Faci) t is ins natural principle and aone exists without its naturnl cause.' Again, the Gr eks set themselves to discover a rational basis for conduct. Rigorously they brought their actions to the test of rason. and that not only br the mouth of philosiphers, hut through their pects, historians, and orithry Thinking and doing - clazr thought and uoble w tion-did not stand opposed to the Greek mind. The antithesis nather marks a perion when the Wellenie spirit was past its prime, and hat titken a one-sidel bent. The Athenians of the Periclean age-in whom we mat recognise the purest embilment of Iellen-ism-had in truth the peentiar power, which Tharsidites elaims for them, of thinking hefore they acted and of acting also . . . To Greece we owe the love of Science, the love of Arı. the hre of Freedom: not Science alone, Art alone, or Freedom alone, but these vitally correlated with one unother and brought into ofgamie union. And in this union we recognise the dis. tine tive fentures of the West. The Greek genius is the European genius In its first and lurightest herim. Froma vivifving eontact with the Greck spirit Europe derived that new and mighty im. pular which we call Progress. Strange it is to think that these Greeks. like the other members of the lull European family, prohahly had their fireck latenaty, Greek mythulogy, there is that

Eastern background to which the comparntive sclences seem to point. But it is uo more than a background. In spite of all resemblances, in spite of common custons, common words, com. mon syntax, comainn gods, the spirtt of the Greeks and of thelr Eastern klasmen - the splrit of thelr elvilisation, art, langunge, and methol. ogy-remalns essentially distiact. .. . From Greece came that first mighty lmpulse, whose far-off workings are felt by us to-day, and whileh has hrought it about that progress has been accepted as the law and goal of human eadeavonr. Grecce first towk up the task of equipplng man with all that fits him for civil hfe nad promotes hls secular wellbeing; of unfolding and expandlugevery inborn find ${ }^{\prime}$ ty nand energy, boulily and mental; of striving rexilessly after the perfection of the whoter and finding in this cffort after an unattainable iteal that by which nan becomes like to the gols. The life of the Hellenes, 1 k that of their Epie hero Arhilles, was brief nad brilliant. But they hive beea endowed with the gift of renewlag their youth. licaan, speaking of the nations that are litted to phyy a part in universal history, says that they must die first that the world mar live through then; that 's people amst chonse between the prolonged life. the trminil and olsweure destiny of one whin lives for hinself, and the troubled stormas carects of one who lives for humanity. The nathon which revolves within its breast sochal and relitious problems is always weak politically. Thus it was with the Jews, who in order to manke the rellglous conquest of the world must needs disappear as a nation." 'They lost a muterial city, they, openetl the reign of the spiritual Jerusalem.' So too it was with Greece. As a neople she ceased to he. When her freedom was overthrow at Charonea, the puge of her history was to all appearmace elosed. Iet from that moorent she was to cuter on a larger life and on 1:niremal empire. Aromly during the hast days of her tuderndence it had leera possible to speak of a new Ilellenism, which rested not on ties of blonk but on spiritual kinship. This presentiinent of Isocrates was maryellonaly realised. As Alexander passell concuering through Asia, he restored to the East, as garnered grahn, that Greek civilisatlon whose seeds had long ago been receivel from the East. Fich conqueror in turn, the Maredonian and the Roman, bowed before compured Grecee and learnt lessons at her feet. To the moxlern word ton Grecee has been the great eiviliser, the cercumenimal teacher, the dist urler and regenerator of shmbr-ring societles. She is the source of mont of the puickenlug ileas which re-mike natims and renovate literature and art. If we reckim up our secular pos. sessions, the weath and heritare of the past, the lirger share may be triced bick to Greece. One half of tife stie has mate her domain - all, or well-uigh all, that belones to the present orderof things aud to the visible world."-S. II. Butcher, Sme Aspects of the Greck Genius. pp. 0-43."The part assigned to [the Greeks] ln the drama of the nations was to ercate forms of beanty, to unfold thens which should remaln operntive when the short bloe, 1 of thelr own existeace was over and thas to glve in new impulse, a new dlreetion, to the whole current of humau life. The prediction which Thucydides puts into the mouth of the Athenian orator bas lmen futtilled. thouth nut in the sense literally convered: 'Assurcily

hellenic genius and INFluence.

we shall not be without witnesses,' says Pericies 'there are mlghty documents of our power, which shall make us the wonder of this nge, and of ages to come.' lle was thinking of those wide-spread settlements which attested the ensplre of Athens. But the limmortul witnesses of his race are of another klnd. Like the vietins of the war, whose epitaph he was pronouneing, the Hellenes lave their memoriai hali iands, priven, not on stone, but in the hearts of mankini. . . . Are we not warranted by what we know of Greck work, imperfect though our knowledge is, in saying that no people has yet appeared in the world whose facuity for art. in the largest sense of the term, has been so comprehensive? And there is a further polnt that may be noted It has been suid that the man of genlus sometimes is such in virtue of comblning the temperament distinctlve of hig nation with sone gift of his own which is forelgn to that temperament: as in shakespeare the hasis is English, und the individunl gift a flexibility of spirit which is not normally English. But we camot uply this remark to the greatest of anclent Greck writers. They present certainly a wide range of individual aifferences. Yet so dlsthactive and so potent is the Hellenic nature that. if any two of such writers he compared, however wide the individual differences may be, - F 'ret ween Arlstephanes and Pluto, or Pidadar anu Emosthenes, - sueh individual differcures are less slgniticunt than those common claracterithis of the ilellenic mind which sepmate both the wen compared from ull who are not licellenes. If it were possible to trace the proxess by which the Ilellenic mee was originally separated from their Arymn .insfolk, the physiological basls of their quatitios might perhaps be traced in the mingling of different trime ingredients. As it is, there is un clue to these secrets of nature's ulchemr: the Lleflenes uppar in the dawn of their listory with that malgue temperament ulromly distivet: we can point only to one cause, ami that a sulordinate canse, which must have aided its the velopment, ummely, the geographicai proitlon of Grecte. No people of the ancient worh were so fortunately placed. Nowhere are the asperts of externai nnture more beautiful. more varicid. more stimulating to the energies of buly and mind. A climate which, within three pirailleld of latitude, nomrishes the beeches of Pinturand the palms of the Cyclades; montainharricre which ht once created a framework for the arenth of hatal federations, and enconraged a sturdy apirit of frecelom; coasts abobinding in natural harturs: a sea doted with isiamds, noi nutable for the regularity of its wind currents: realy access alike to Asia and to the western Sle-thiterrane:an.- these were circumstances hatppily congeninl to the intorn faculties of the Griek race, and admirably fitted to expand them."-12. C. Jeth. The (irmeth and Iufthenes of (\%, waidell firet $\operatorname{lom}$ try, mp. 2i-31. - "The sense of twally which the (ireeks possessed to a preuterextent than ayy other people could not fail whe eanglat by the exceptionally bemutifal natural surromulings in which they lived; nul their literature, at any rate their poetry, bears abmand testimony to the faet. Small though (irecere is, it contains a preater varicty, both in hatrmuny mul contrast, of natural teanty than most cointries. however ereat. Its latitule gives of the growth of a vegetation found in more northern eilmes. Withln a short space oceur all the degrees of transition from snow-topperi hills to vine-clud fountalus. And the foy with which the benuty of their conntry tileci the Greeks nuy be traced through all thelr poetry.

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFLUENCE.

The two leading facts in the pliysical aspect of (reece are the sea nod the mountains. As Europe is the most Indented amd has reiatlvi?y the longest const-ilne of all the continents of the world, so of all the countries of Europe the lund of Greece is the biost interpenetrated with arms of the sea.
Two voices are there: one is of the sea.
One of the Nountains; each a mighty voice:
In both from age to age thou didst rejoice:
They were thy chosen mosle, laberty!
Both voiees spoke inmpressively to Greece, and her literatnre ecomes their tones. So long as Greece was free and the spirit of "roedom animated the Greeks, so long tielr lih. ature was creativa and genius marked it. When liberty perished, literature ieclined. The tield of Ches. ronea was fatal alike to the politlenl liberty and to the literature of Greece. The love of liberty was indeed pushed even to an extreme in Grece; ami thls also was due to the pliysieal contigurathon of the country. Monntalins, it has been sald, slivide; seas unite. The rise and the fong contmance in so small a country of so many citles, hiving thelr own laws, constitntion, separate history, and independent existence, can only be explained by the fact that in their early growth they were protected, each by the momntains whleli surrommed it, so effectnally, amb the love of iiberty in thes the was developed to such an extent, that no single clty was able to (stublish its dominlon over the others.
Every one of the numerous states, whose sep:irate political . istence was guaranteed by the mountains, was aet 13 lly or potentially a separate centre of civilisation and of literature. In some one of these states ench kind of literature conld fied the cunditlons appropriate or necessary to its developinent. Even a state which proinced no men of ilterary genius itself inight become the centre at which prots collected mind enconraged the literature it conhl not prownee, as wis the case with Sparta, to which Greece owerl the deselopment of cioral lyric.

The castern basin of the Mediterranean has deserved well of literatur: for it brought Grece iuto eommunionthon with hor colonies on the islands and 0 , the surrounding consts, and enabled the numerous Greck cities to eooperate in the protuction of a rich and varied iiterature, Instead of being confined each to a one-sidediand incomplete development. The process of communicallou legan in the earliest times, as ls shown by tae spreal of epic literature, Originating ln Ionla, it wis tiken up in Cyprus, where the epic called the. ( $y$ pria was composed, and at the begiming uf the sixth century: was on the coast of Afriea in the colony of Cyrene. The rapid spread of chogiac poetry is even more strikingly illustraten, for we timi Solon $\ln$ Athens quoting from his contemporary Dimnermus of Colophon. Choral lyric, which orlginated in Asia Minor, was com veycoi to Sparta by Alcman, and ley Simonldes of Ceos all over the Greek world. IBut although in carly times we find us mucli interehange and renction in the colonies amongst themselves as between the colonies and the mother-country, with the advance of time we find the centripetal

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFLUENCE

hellenic genius and influence.

tendeney becoming dominant. The mothercoantry becomes more and more the centre to whilh all llterature and art gravitates. At the beginning of the slxth century Sparta attracted poets from the eolonles In Asla IInor, hut the only form of Ilterature whleh Sparta rewarded and eneouraged was ehoral lyrie. No sueb narrowness charaeterised Athens, and when she estahll 'ed herself as the latelleetual capital of Gretce, all men of genius recelved a weleome there, and we tind all forms of literature descretlag thelr native homes, even thelr native dlaleets, to eome to Athens.

As long as Ilterature had many eentres, there wns no danger of all falling by a single stroke; but when It was centrilised in Athens, and the hlow dellvered by Millp at Charonea had fallen on Athens, elassical Greck Itterature perisheel in a generation. It Is nimewhat diffieult to distingulsh ruee qualites from the ehameterlstles impressed on as people ly the eondltlons under whleh It llves, slnce the litter by aceumulatlon aud transnilsslon from geacration to generation eventually beeome raeequalites. Thus the Spartans possessed qualltes eommon to them and the Dorians, of whom they were a branch, and also qualtiles peculiar to themselses, wheh distlagulished them from other borlans.

The ordmary life of a Spar. tan citizen was that of a sodder lin enmp or garrison, rather than that of a member of a political comnnunty, and thls systeut of Iffe was bitical community, and thls systeul of life was highly unfa vourable to literature Other Doriins, not hemmed la by sueh unfavouraole comlitions as the Spartans, did provlde some eontributhons to the literature of Greece, and in the nature of their eontributlons we may deteet the qualities of the race. The Dorians in Siclly sowed the seeds of rhetoric and earrled eomedy to eonsiderable perfection. Of Inagination the race seems destltute: it did not proluee poets. On the other hand, the race is eminently praetical as well as prosaie, and their humonr was of a lature whleh corresponded to these qualities.

The Eollans form a contrast buth to the sirtins and to the Athenlans. The development of Indlviduality is as charaeteristle of the Euliany as its nbsence is of the spartins. But the Eulias, first of all Greeks, possessedl a cav. arr: uad this means that they were wealthy and ariviseratic.

This gives us the distlnetion Int wrin the Eolians and the Athenians: nanong the furmer, individunlity was developed In the aristiveracy aloue: among the latter, in all the citizens. The E-Elians ndat to the erowu of Girck liturature one of the brightest of lis jowels-lyrie poetry, as we understand lyric in moteri times, that is, the expression of Hur pert's feclings, on any subject whatever, as his individnal ferliug. . . But it was the Grock literature Thered the greatest serviees to Greck literature. They were a guick-witted rime. full of cuterprise, full of rosources. In thin in we see refleeted the charaeter of the sea, as in the Doriaus the eharacter of the monntains. The latter partook of the narrownewsund exilusiveness of their own homes, hemmed ha by luenitains, and by them proteeterl from the lu. cursion of strangers and strange hnovatious. The louians, on the other hand, were open as the sat anll had ns many moods. They were einl. nenty iseeptible te beauty In all its forms, to li. charin of change anl to novelty. They wire ever ready to put any belief or lastlution to the test of dlscusslon, and were governed as much by ldeas as hy scntiments. Reenneas of Intelleet, taste In all matters of ilterature and art, grace in expresslon, and measure ln eveiythling dlatingulshed thom above all Greeks. The development of eple poetry, the origin of prose, the cultivatlon of phllosophy, are the proud dlstinetlon of the lonlan race. In Athens we have the qualitles of the Ionlan raeeln thelr flnest dower." -F. B. Jevons, A IVintory of Greek Literature, p. 485-400.-Hellenism and the Jews.-"The Jewlsh region. . Was, in anelent tlmes as well as In the Graceo. IRoman period, surrounded on all sides hy heathen distriets. Only at Jamna and Joppa had the Jewlsh elemeut adraueed as far as the sea. Elsewhere, even to the west, It was not the sen, but the Gentlle reglon of the Phlllstlne and Phenlelan citles, that formed the houndary of the Jewlsh. These heathen lands Were far nore deeply penetratel hy Hellenlsm, than the country of the Jews. No renetlou llke the rlsing of the Muecnbees had here put a stop to lt , beshldes whlelh heathen polythelsm wre adapted luquite a different manner from Juda., $m$ fur blending with IIellenlsm. Whille therefore the further advance of Hellenism was obstrueted by religlous barrlers In the interior of Palestine, It had attained here, as in nll other distrlets slnee Its triumphnnt entry under Ale Its triumphnnt entry under Alexander the Great, Is natural preponderanee over Oriental culture. Ileuce, long lefore the eommencenent of the Roman perfinl, the edueated wurld, esprelally in the great citles la the west and east of Palestlue, was, we may well say, completely Hellenized. It is only with the lower strata of the popula. thons and the dwellers la rural listriets, that this minst not be equally assumed. Besides however tue borler lands, the Jewish distriets In the interlor of Palestlne were ocelnpied hy Ilellenlsin, especially Seythopolis. . aud the tow of sil. maria, where Macedonlan colonlsts had aln'aly been planted by Alexander the Great . . . whille the natlonal Samaritans hind their eentral point at Siehem. The vletorious penetration of Ilellenistle eulture is most plainly and conprehensively shown by the religions worship. The native religions, espeeially ln the Philistine and Phenieiau eities, did indeerl hany respuets maintain themselves in their essential character; but still lu such wise, that they were transformed by aud blended with Greek elements. But Ineslies these the purely Greek worship also gained an entrance, and in mauy places entirely supplanted the former. Cinforthuately onr so seces of information do not furuish ns the n.e:ans of s, parating the Greck period proper rom the homan; the brst are afforded by coins, and these for the most purt belong to the Romm. On the whole however the picture, which we obtah, holds dod for the pre-liman periminko, nor are we entirely Whthont direet notices of this age. In the Jewish region proper Hellenism was in its religious aspeet triumplantly repulsed by the rlsing of the Maceabees; it was not till after the overthrow of Jewlsh uationality iu the wars of Vegthrow of Jewlsh uationality iu the wars of Vespasian and IIadrian, that an eutrance lor heathen rites was forcibly obtained by the Romans. In saying this howercr we do not disert, that the Jewlsh people of these early times remained altogether unaffected by Iellenism. For the later was a civilising power, which extenth it it. self ro every depmrtment of life. It fashiored iu a pecullar rianner the or canlzation of the state,

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFLUENCE.

legialation, the administration of Justlce, publle arrangements, art and selence, trade and industry, and the enstoms of dally $1 l$ fe down to fashlon aml ornments, and thus impressed upon every departunent of life, wherever lit inthence reached, the stamp of the Greek mind. It ls trie that Hellenastle is not hientleal with Hellenle cul. ture. The importance of the former on the contrary lay in the fact, that by lia reception of the a valable elements of all forelgn eultures within Its reach, it became a worliceulture. But this rery work- enlture becuate la lts turn a peeullar Whole, In whith the prepondemint Greek element was the rulling keynote. Into the stream of thls Hellenlstle culture the Jewlsh people was ulso drawn: slowly Indeed and with reluctance, but yet Irreslsthly, for though religlous zeal way able to banlsh heathen worship and all connected therewith from lsracl. It eould not for any length of thme restraln the thle of Hellembste cilture in other departinents of life. Its severnl stages canmot lakeed be any longer tracel. But when we retlect that the small Jewlsh comentry was enelosed on almost every sile by llellenstate reglons, with which it was compulitel, even for the sake of trade, to lold conthual intereourse, and when we remember, that even the rising of the Maccalses was in the main directed not agalust llellenism in general, but only agalnst the heathen rellglos, that the later Asmonaeans bore ln every respect a llellenlstie stamp-employend forclgn mercenarles, muted forelgn colns, took Greck names, etc., and that some of them, e. g. Aristobulus I., wise direct fivourers of IielichIsm, - when all this is consldered, It may safely he assumed, that llellenlsm had, uot wlthstanding the rising of the Marcalees, galned access in no Inconsiderathe measure Into Palest ine even before the commencement of the Roman nerion."-E. Schturer. llixt. if the Jerish $\Gamma_{t}$, ple in the Time of $1 . h$ rist, dir. $2, r, 1, p p, 20-30$. - Hellenism and the Romans.-" In the Alexandrian age. with all its rlose stuciy anil Imitation of the classical laskels, nothing ls more remarkable than the absence of any promlse that the llellente spirtt which animatert those masterpleces was destinel to have any abidiug Intlueuce in the world. And yet it is true thut the vital power of the Helleuic gembes was not fully revenled, until. after sulfarthig some temporary eclipse la the superticially Greck civilizations of Asla and Egypt. It emerged ha a new dually, as a source of illuminatou to the literature and the art of Rome. Enrly Roman literiture was indehted to Grefe for the greater part of its material; hut a more important deht was in respect th the forms and moulls of composition. The latin language of the thirl century B. C. Whs already ia full passession of the cualitios which always remained distimetive of it: it was clear, strong, weighty, precise, a languge made to be spoken in the imperative mownl. a fiting interpreter of government and haw. But it was not tlexible or grace. ful, musicul or ripill; it was not suited to express deliente shaders of thought or feeling; for literary purpuses, it was, in emmparison with Greck, a poor aud rale inliom. The development of Latin into the latumite of ('iecro aud Virgil was gradually and hamerinsly aceomplished under the constant indathe of Grerce. That finlsh of form, known as chimidel, whith Romin writers share with Greck, was a lesson wheh Greece slowly iupressed ujum Rome. . . . $\boldsymbol{A}$ close and hellexic genics and influence.
prolonged study of the Greek molels could not end in a mere disclp ion of form; the beanty of the leat Greek mole lepeurls tors much on their rital spirlt. Not in is the Roman lmaglnatlon enrlched, hut tis i...man Intellect, thromeli Ilterary $\operatorname{lnt}$ croourse with the (ireek, grahtally aegulred a tlexthlity und a plastle power whild ha! not twen anong lts origlnal glfts. Tlurmath Koman literature the Greek Influence was trults. mittell to later tlmes in a shane which olscurctl, Indeed, anuch of its charm, but whielt was alsi, fitted to extend its empire, and to whan entrunce for lt in regions which wrould lure been less accerssthle to a purer form of its. manlfestation."- R. (c. Wha, The (irmeth amit Intluence of ("lamienl fired lonetry, sh. 8.$\because$ Ithly had bren subjeet to the luthence of Gremee, ever slace it hat a history at all.
But the lleflenkin of the Romans of the present periond [second eentury B. (.)] Wis, in its canare as well as its conserfuences, somethhre essentially new. The Romans begin to fed the lack of a richer Intellectual life, and to be startled as it were at thelr own utter want of memtal cultire: ant, if evert uathons of artlstle glfts, such as the English and Germans, have tet disiahed In the pauses of the rown profuctureness to avall themselves of the pattry French culture for tilling up, the gap, It need exilte no surprise that the Italian nation now thang itself with eager zonl on the ghorious trensures as well as on the vile refusi of the iutellectualderelopment of Hellas. But it wis an impulse stlll nore profound and derer rentent which carriod the Ronmes Irresisthly into the Hellente vortex. Helleule elvillzathoni still :ce sumed that name, but ho was Hellenic no longer; It was, it fact, humanlstle und cosmopolitinn. it liad solved the problem of monding a mass of dilferent nations into one whole completely in the tield of Intelleet, mul to a certain degree in that of polities, and, now when the same task bita whider scale devolved on Ronte, she entered mo the posse:slon of Ilellenlsm nlong with the reot of the hineritance of llesamber the Great. Hell lenkun therefore was no longer a mere stimulio, or sulurdinate luthence ; It penet ratel the latian nation to the very core. Of coluse, the vinurma home life of laty strove against the fordga me. uent. It was othly ifter a most vehement strim. gle that tue taliain farmer abandoned the biellt 1 the cosmopmolite of the erpitil: nul, as In fir $r$. many the French cont called forth the national ismanased in linme a temerney, which oppumal the lathence of (ircece on principle in a sty. ${ }^{\text {l }}$. 1 . which earlier centuries were mitogether unter io tomed, and in duing so fell not unfrequently into downtight follies and ahsurdities. No depart. ment of homan action or thought remained un affeted by this struggle betwerathe new finhin and the olit. Even politieal relations were lared ly iuthencell by it. The whimsieal projett if (antmeipiting the Hellenes, . . . the kindren\}, likewine llellenic. hlea of combining repulblic in a common opposition to khige, and the desire of propargating leclenie polity at the expenor of enstern despothim-which were the two mind ciples that regulated, for instanee, the tremther: of Macethomian-were fixed idems of the new sohen, just as tread of the Conthagintans wat the fixcel intea of the ohl; and, if cato pmonew the latter to a ridiculons excess. Philhelleniont now and then indulged in extrivagances at least as foolish. . But the reai struggie between Ifedlenism and its national antagonlsts durlng the present periol was carried on in the teld of faith. of manners, und of art and literature. Itnly stlli posscssed- What had long been' n'mere anticuurian curiosity in llelias-a national reil. glan, it was aireniy visibiy leginning to le ossi. fled lato timology. The torpor ereeplng over faitl is nowisere perhaps so distinctiy nppnrent as int the alterations In the economy of divine survlee and of the priesthood. The puhile serWhe of the gois became not oniy more tedions, but above ail more and more costiy. ., An augur like Lucins Paulius, wio regarded the priestiomi as n science and not as a more title, was alremiy a rare exception; and couki not lut he so, when the sovernneent more and more oprinty and unhesitntingly cmpioyed the nus. pires for the accomplisliment of lits politiens diekigas, or, in other woris, trented the natioand reil. glon in accordance with the view of Polvinus as as superstition use fut for imposing on the pubiic at hirge. Where the way was thus paved, the idichenistic irreliglous sifit found free convere. In conuection witin the laclpient taste for art tive kacred inagea of the goxis began even in Cato's time to be empioyeri, ilke other furnlture, to ensbellish the chambers of the rich. Nore dangerous womms were lnfileted on religloa by the rising literuture. . . . Thus the ohi matonai relipion was visihly on the decline; and, astine great tries of the primeval forest were uprooted, the wil locame covered with a rank growth of thorns aind hriars and with weeis that had never been sera before. Native superstitions and forelgn impostures of the most varions hues mhgied, competed and conflicted with cach other.

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFLUENCE.

HELLENIC GENIUS AND INFLUENCE.

The lifilenism of that epoch, already denationalized and pervaded by Urientai mysticism, lntreninced not oniy uabelief hut niso sujuerstition In its most offeasive nul dangerous forms to Itialy; aad these vagaries, moreover, had a speciai charm, precisely hecanse they were forelgn. 1Rites of the most nbomianhie character canse to the kaowiedge of the lloman anthorities: usecret nocturaal festival ln homonr of the god Buccins lad inee first iatroincedinto Etruria hy a Girerk jriest, aad spreading like a cuncer, had ripidi reached lome and propagated itseif over ali Italy, everywhere corrupthy familios and givilig chastity, fulsifying of testan . dier. ing by poison. Nore thon ? tenced to pualsiment, nose . this account, and rigorouscat as to the future.

The ti came reinxed with fenrfui rap sen. evile fince. . . L lixury prevailed ineard nize a pest ilness, ormanents ary prevailed more mai more in Ireiss, ornaments and furniture, in the huidings and on the tahies. Espechally after the expedition to Asta Minor, which took place la 564 , [i3. C. 190] Aslatico-1leiienie iuxury, such as preFinded at Ephesus nad Alexandria, tranasferrent its cimpty refinemeat andi lts petty tritlag, destrictive atike of money, time, und picasure, to lhome

As a matter of conrse, this revolntion in life and mananers brougite an ecouomic revolution in its train. lesidence la the capitui becane lutre and more coveted as well as more costiy. lients rose to an uaexampled heigit. Extrovafrint prices were puid for the uew articies of lusury

The intucaces which stimulated the growth of Roman iiterature were of arter aitogetimer peeniiar and hardiy pat in any ether nation. 13y means of the 1141. lan alaves and freedmen, a very iarge pmrtlon of Wion were Greek or haif Greek by hirth, the Griek ianguage unll Greck knowiedge to a cer. tain extent reached eveu the lower ranks of the popuiathou, especiaily in the citidtai. The comedies of this perioxi indicate that even the humbier ciassen of the capital were fantiliar with n sort of Latia, which conidi no more be projuriy umier. stomi without u knowiedge of Greek than Sterne's English or Wicianil'a German whthout n knowl. edge of Freurib. Hen of semutorlai fumlies, bow-- Ver not ouly milressed a Greck audience in fircek, fut even pubiisined their specches.
limier the intluence of sucit circumatances lionian colucution dicveinjreditseif. Itisa mistuken ojinion, that antiguity was materiaily inferior to our own theses in the generui diffusion of ejementary attaimnents. Even antong the lower ciasses and sinves there wis considerabie knowienige of rentiing, writing, and comiting. Eicmentory ilustruction, ths weil as instruction in Greek, must iuve lecen loag ere this ixrioi impurtedi to a very considerabie extent in izome. But the copoch now before us initiated mednention, the aim of Which was to eommunlente mot mercly au outward expertness, lut a reol mentai eulthre. The Intermal decomposition of lablan mationality hud alremity, particubriy in the nristocracy, mivinced an fur ins to render the substlution of a bronder humnn cuiture for that nationuity laevitisbie; und the craving nfter a more uivanced elviliza. tiun was aiready juw crfulty stirring men's miads. Thestudy of the Greek laighage ns it were spontuncousiy met this cravlig. Tie ciassicai litern. ture of Greece, the liand aad still more the Olyssey, had all along formed the basis of instruction; the overthowing treasures of Hellenic art aad science wrere alreuly hy thls menas spread before the eyds of the ltuiians. Wlthout nay ontward revolution, strictiy sjeaking, ia the cinar. arter of instructiou the natural result was, that the empirical study of the huiguage became convertud iuto a higher stuly of the iternture; that the geacral eulture connected with such literary studies was communicuted in inereased measure to tibe schulars; and that these nvaiked themseives of the knowiedge thus aequired to dive into that Greck literiture whieh most powerfuity intlu. eaced the spirit of the age-the tragedies of Euriphies and tie connedies of Dienaader. In a simblur was greater intiortane came to be attuched to the study of listin, The bigher society of trome hegan to feel the need, If not of ex. cianging their mother-tonghe for Greek, at least of retiniag lt aad adupting it to the changed state of cuiture. . . . But a Latin cuit ure presupposed n literatire, anii no shel literature existedi in lome. . . The Romuns desired a theatre, but the piecers were winting, Oa these elements lonan literature wis bised: and its defective charucter was from the tirst and necessarily the resuit of such an orlgin.
lomaa poetry ia particular had its inmedate origia not in the iaward impulse of the poet, lout ia the outware demauds of the sehool, which needed Iatim manuals, and of the stage, which needed Latin dramas. Now hoth lastitutions-the sehool aud. the stage-were thoroughly nntl-Ronan and revolutlonars.

The school and the thentre luoeume the most effective levers lin the hands of the new spirit of the age, and all the more so that they used the Latin tongne. Men might perhaps speak and write Greek, and yet not cuase to be lomans: but in this case they were in the habit of spenking in the Roman langunge, while the whole Inwarl belug and life were Greck. It is one of the most pleasing, but it in one of the most remurkahle and In a historieal polnt of view most instructive, facts in this brlifiunt era of Kommen conservatism, that during lts courm Ilelenisin struck riot in the whole fielal of Inteliect not lmmerliately political, and that the wombimaster and the maitre de plaislr of tiue great pablie In ciose alllance created a Komnn literuture." -T. Mommsen, Tho Iliatory of Mome, bk. B. ch. 13 (c. 2) - Pametius wos the foumber of " that Ruman Stoiclsm whish plays so prominent a part in the history of the Enpire. He came from Rionles, und was a pupil of Dlogenes at Athens. The most Important part of his life was, iow. ever, spent at Kome, in the honse of Sclpio .timilianns, the centre of thae Aripionie clrcle, where be trainetl up a umbler of loman nobles to understand and to aiopt bis vlews. Ile serins to have taken the place of Bolybins, and to have accompanled Sclplo In bis tour to the Enat ( 143 B. C.). Ife dled as leead of the Suic school in Athens alont 110 13. (C. Tiols was tive man wion, under the influeuce of the age, realiy modified the righl tenets of his sect to make lit the prue. theal ruie of life for statesmen, politicians, mag. nates, who hide no time to sit all day and dispute, but who requirel something better than effete polytheisnn to glve them dignity in their lelsure, and steadfast ness In the day of trlal.

GELLENIC GENICS AND INFLUENCE.

HELVECONEA.

With the mapils of Panretins begins the long roll of Rowan Stoies.

- Here then, after all the dissoJute and disintegrating lnfluenecs of Ilelienisin, -Its connexilit palifati, its parasles, its panders, uts minlons, it elticanury, its menduelty-had produced tiejr terribie eflect, eame an antidote which, abovenlithe inmon Inthences we know, puritled and ennobied the word. It affected, unforta. aitely, only the higiter classes at Rome; and even amonig them, as among any of the lower classes that specuiated at all, it had us a dangerons rival that chap aui valgar Epieureanism, which puffs up common u:tures with the bellef that their trivial and course reflections have some phiosophic bisis, and con be defonded with subtic ar. giments. but among the best of the liomans Flellenism probluedatyine seidom excelied In the world's hintory, a tyice as superior to tive old Ronan moriel as the nobleman is to the lurgher In most conntries-a type we see in Rutilins Rufas, as compared with the eider Cato. $\qquad$ was In this way thitt Hellenlstic philosophy mate Itself a home in it "y, and aequireid pupils $w$ ion $n$ the noxt generation became niasters in their way, and showedi in Cicero and Lucretlus no mean risals of tive contemporary Greek. . . . Tiit the poem of Lncretias and the works of Cicero. we may suy nothing ln latin worth reatiag existed on the subject. Whoever wanted to stmily phllosophy. tharefore. down to that time ( 60 Bl $\mathrm{C}^{\circ}$ ) studied it in Groek. Nearly the same thing may be suid of the arts of architecture, palnthg, anil seniptare Thure were hudeed tiistlnetly lioman features ln architecture, but they were mere matters of billiing, and wintever was done ln the way of Jesign, in the way of adding beauty to strength, was done wholly under the culvice and direction of Grecks. The subservience to Hel.
lenlam In the way of Internal household orna ment whe even more complete. And whth the ornaments of the house, the proper serving of the hotime, esperially the more delleate dh. partments-the coming of state dinners, the nttendance upon guests, the care of the grent man's Intmate coniforta-coulil only le done fashion. ably by Greck slaves. $\qquad$ But of colirae thome lower slden of Heilenism hal no more potent effeet In elviliving lrome than the employing of French cumbe and valets and the purchase of French ormaments and farniture hud in Improv. Ing our granifaticers. Nuch more serlous was the acknowiedgenl supremacy of the Greekn In literature of all kinis, and stil! more thelr insis. tence that thls superiority depembel mainiy upon a careful system of inteilectual education.
This is tie joint where Polyblus, after bis seven. tern years experionce of Roman life, timis the eapltal thaw in the condinct of pablie affairs. In every Ileilenistic state, ie says, nothing engroswes the attentlon of legisiators mure tian the question of cincutlon, wherens at liome a most noral and serions government leaves the tralning of the young to the mlstakes and hazarils of private enteririse. That this was a grave blunder as re. garis the lower ciosses is probally true.
But wiun lkome grew from a elty eontrolhing Italy to an empire direeting the world, aucla men as Amilins Jitullus su w plalnly that they must do sonething more to tit their chlliren for the spinndid position they had themselves attained, und go they were obliged to keep forelgn tenchers of literatnreani art in their houses as private tutors. The hlghest :4sof these private tutors was that of the philosophers, whom we haveconsidered, and while the State set ltseif agalnst tiat pulvic erstablishments, great men lu the State opemly encouraged them and kept them in their houses

As regaris liturnture, however, In the chose of the seconil contury B. C. a change was visibie, whlei announcel the new and marvellons results of the first. $\qquad$ . Even In letters ímman culture le. gan to take its place beside Grech, and the wiole clvitised worlil was diviled lnto those who knew Greck letters and those who knew Roman only. There was no antagonism In spirlt between thein, for the Romans never censed to venerate Greek letiers or to prize a knowledge of that language. But of course there were great domains in the West beyond the Influence of the most western Greeks, even of Massilia, where the first higher deliisation introlucet was with the Roman legions and traders, and where culture assumed permanently a latln form. In the East, though the IRmans asserted themselves as efonquerors, they always condeseended to use Greek, and tiscre Were prictors proud to give thelr declslons at Roman assize courts in that language."-J $P$. Minisifly, The Greek IVorhl under Roman Sicay, ch. 5.

HELLENION, The, Sec Nackratis.

HELLESPONT, The.-Tie ancient Groek name of what is now called the strnits of The 1) ardanelles, the channel which unltes the Sen of Narinora with the Eigcan. The name (Seit of Helle) came from the myth of Ilelle, who wiss said to have been drowned In these waters.

HELLESPONTINE SIBYL. See Sinms. HELLULAND. Se America: 10Th-11tu Centirifa

HELOTS. See Sparta: Tife City.
HELVECONES, The. Spe lymians.

UELVETIAN REPUBLIC.

HENRY,

HELVETIAN REPUBLIC, The. -Swlz. erhmil is sometlmes calied the Ilelvetian lia. public, for no better reamon than is found in the fact that the country oceupled hy the Ileivetil of Cusar ls embraced In the modern Swise Confedericy. But the origital confederatlon, nut of which grew the federal repuhlle of Swltariant, did nut touch Ilelvetian ground. See Switrit -: land: The Timete Foncer Cantone, ani A. i).

HELVETIC REPUBLIC OF 1798, The SN. SWITZERL.AND: A. I). 1792-1708.

HELVETII, The arrested migration of the.

 - "The lielvetth, who Inhahited a greut part of muxleris switzeriand, hal grown lupatlent of the $\quad$ marouw ilmits ln which they were eroweled toycther, and harassed at the same tlme by the eurconchmurnts of the advancing German thif. The dhis and Jura formed barriers to thelr dif. fusion on the south and West, and the population thus couthued outgrew the scanty means of sup. port atfirnled by lte monatain vaileys. . . . The Ifelvetll determined to force their way through the conntry of the Allohroges, and to trust elther to arms or persuasion to obtain a pasange through the [Roman] provinee and across the Rlome futo the ceutre of inaul.Ilaving completed thelr propanitions, [they] appolater! the path vlay of Harch [13. C', $\alpha \boldsymbol{l}$ fir the meeting of thelr cons. bined forces at the western ontlet of the Lake Lemanus. The whole populaton of the assern. bled tribes amounteri to $\mathbf{3 a s}, 000$ muls, inciuding the wonlen annl chilirea; the mumber that lore arms wiw 42,000. They cut thenselves off from the meous of retreat ly glving ruthlessly to the thanes every ctit and vilinge of thelr had; twelve of one flass and four hunulred of the other were thus sucrificent, und with thein all thelr superthous stores, their furniture, arms and luplements." When the newsof thls jrorteutous moremult reached Itome, Cusar, then lately appoluted to the government of the two Ganls, Was ralsing lowies, but had no force ready for the tleki. Ife biew to the scene in person, luaking the journey from lame to Generainelght lays. At Guruvit, the fromber town of the conqueren Allobrogios. the liomans ladi a farrisom, und Ciesar (gulckly gathered to that polite the one leglonstathoned in the province Breaklige lown the bridge which han] spanned the river :und constructing with characteristic energy a ditel und rampart from the ant of the atike to the gorge of the Jn' : lir helll $1 . . \quad$ ssitice of the river with hils single leriom and lopred the migratory horle to move off be the diffent ronte down the right bauk of the Jhone. This aeconiphished, ('resur hastened bitek to Italy, got five fegionis together, led theon over the Cottian Alps, crossert the Rhone above Lyous, ind caught up with the Helvetii before the last of their cumbrous traln hatd trot leyond the abome. Attacking and cutting to pieces this rear euard (it was the tribe of the Tigurind which the Liomans had eneountered disistrously half a century before), he bridget the shone anif crossed it to pursue the nain boily of the enemy. Fur munt lays he followed theno. refosing to give battle to the great barbarian army cintil he sinw the moment opportune. LIis blow was struck at hast iu the neighlsorhoond of the cite of Bibracte, the capital of the Edui - monlern Autun. The defeat of the Ilelvetii was complete, and, although a great lunly of them escuped. they Fere set upuat by the Gains of the cutuiry aud

Were mon glad to surrender themselves uncon ditlonally to the lloman proconaul. Cavar conspeliel them - 110,000 survivors, of the 898,010 who left swltzerlami in the spring - to go lack to thelr monntalns and rebuilid and reoccupy the homes they liad destroyed.- C. Stertvale, Zlint. of the li manne, th. 6 (r. 1).

Also in: Camar, Gallic IVarn, ih. 1-99.- ( Long, Itrline of the Remun Repuslic, r. 4, ch. 1 -Napoleon III., Miat. of Julitus Cirmer, bl: 3, ch. $\checkmark$ (c. 2) IIELVII, The.-The Ilelvil were a trile of Gails whose conntry was between the lhone and the Cevenues, lin tho modern department of the Anleche.-(i, Ising, Deline of the Roman Repuhlic, г. t, eh. 17.

HENGESTE JUN, Battle of.-Defeat of the Ihancs and ielah by Eegbehrt, the Wewt

HENNERSDORF, Battle of (2745), See AIERTRIA: A. II. $174+174$.

HENOTICON OF ZENO, The. See NEs-TOMAN AND Jlonoririte Conthovensy.
HENRICIANS. See Pethouneatans
HENRY, Latin Emperor at Constantino ple (Romania), A. I). 13(M)-1316. ...Henry (of Corlathia), King of Bohemla, 130;-1310..... Henry, King of Navarre, 1:IV-12\%4. 4. .... Henry, King of Portugal, $15: s-1381$......Henry, Count of Portugal, linsi.111!..... Henry (called the Lion), The ruln of. Sre SAvonr: A. D. 11 is1183. ...Henry (called the Navigator), Prlace, The explorations of. Sie l'untiriAl: A. D). $1415-1460 . . .$. Henry (called the Proud), The fall of. Sre Greiry inn Gumblanves. Henry 1., King of Castile, 121+-121\%. . Henry Klog of France, $11: 31-10 \mathrm{f0}$. .... Henry I. (called The Fowler), King of the East Franks (Germany), 010-936. . . . Henry II., Emperor, . I. D. 101t-1024; King of the Eagt Franks (Germany, 100:-1024; King of Itals, 1004-1024.

Henry II. (of T-astamare), King of Castile and Leon, 1369-1374. ... Henry II. (first of the Plantagenets), King of England, $115 \pm$ 1180. . Henry II., King of France, 1.5415.50. . . . Henry III., Emperor, King of Germany, and King of Burgundy, 1030-1050.
H :nry III., King of Castile and Leon, $1300{ }^{-}$ 1.11\%.... Henry III., King of England, 1216272.... Henry III., King of France (the last \{ the Valois) $15 i 4-15 \times 4$ : King of Poland, jin-1.5it..... Henry IV., Emperor, 107i-1106; sing of Germany, 10.56-1106.... Henry IV., King of Castile and Leon, 14i)t-14i4... Heniy IV., King of England (first of the Lancastrian royal line), $1309-1+133 . .$. . Henry IV, (called the Great), King of France and Na: varre (the first of the Bourbon kings), 1589 -1610.-Abjuration. Sce Fuance: A. D. 1591-1593.-Assassination. Sce France: A. D. 1509-1610. . . . Henry V., Emperor, 1112-1185; King of Gerriany, 1108-11:5..... Henry V., King of England, 1+13-1422..... IVenry Vi, King of Germany, 1190-1107; Emperor, 1191$119^{\circ}$; King of Sicily, 1104-1197.....Heary VI., King of England, $1422-1461 . .$. Henry VII. (of Luxemburg), King of Germany, 1308-1313; King of It'r and Emperor, 1312-1313. Henry VII. Sing of England, 1485-1509. Henry VIII. Sing of England, 1509-1.54\%,

HENRY, Patrick, and the Pursons' cause. Sce Viralili: A. L. ' $98 . .$. . The American

HENAK

HERMA AT ATHENA.

Revolution. Fre l'sitedstates op Am: A. D.

 A. 11. 187. . . . Oppoeltion to the Federal Constleutlon. Nec Lsitsis statk of Am. : A. I). 1ini-1inu.

HENRY, Fort, Capture of. See l'vitpir Staten of Ám. : L. I). Imh (Jancaby - F'ehte-

HEPTANOMIS, The.-T'itc northert ilh trlit of C'pper Eigyit, embrucing seven prove Ituens, ur numes: whilue lts matue.

HEPTARCHY, The so-called Saxon. Nu Enul.and: ith ('estrur.
HERACLEA.-The earllest capltul of the *nrifins. Sue Visice: A. 11 mat-8ill.
HERACLEA, Battle of (B. C. 280), Nu

HERACLEA PONTICA, Siege of,-llurn clena, a thurfs. hitg town of Gretk orfyitn on the gulit from other towns of like mutue, wisle steged for sume two verurs lis the leanums fin the Thiril Mitisidathe War, fi was surremierevi thruagh truchery, 13. (: 90 , and sultered mo grontly front the ensning pillage and unsware that if never recosered. 'The fommat commandicr, Cotta, was afterwards promerited at itome inchaled a finmons statue of Iferenles, with a goldin eluhs-(i, Long, Lheline of the Itoman fiemplir. r. 3, ch. 5

HERACLEIDF, OR HERA"EEIDS, The. - Among the unclent Greaks t replted desermbats of the demi-god hero. Il.. fes, or Heremles, were very mumeroms. "Distingulabed fanblites are evers where to be traced whe hear his putrongmic anid giory for the bellef that they are bis descrodants. Among ichurans, Kal. meians, and borians, llerakles is vencrated: the latter especiuly treat him us their prinefpal hero -the bitron flero. Gend of the race: the llera. klehis form atmong all Doriatus a privilegedgens, In which at Sparta the spedid linenge of the two $\mathrm{m}_{\mathrm{H}}$. 1, th. $\&$ ( r .1 , - - The most important, and the mest fortile In consequeners, of atitiomigra. thons of Cirectian races, and whieh continned even to the fatest periofls to exert its inthence bimon the frek charneter, was the experition of the Dortans into ICelojnomesiss, : The traditions. ary wame of thiferemedition ls ' the licturn of the Whecrudants of Ilerentes' [or 'the leviarn of the Heracfinie']. Iherentes, the son of Zeris, is (even in the liiait, botit liv hirtis und distluy, the hereditary prine of Tiryas and Myerne, amd ruler of the surromming mations. liat thromeh some evil "fance Eitrysthens obtalaed the precedency and the son of heus was compelied to serve fith. Severtheless le is repremented as fuving buymathed to fits descendants life ditims to the dominton of Pelopontestas, whith thes afterwarily methe genal in émojumetion with the actions in lifhalf of this race that his dearemilimes were alwiys emitied to the possesalub of once third of the torritory: The lewoie life of Hereutes was therefore the methical thic, through whidit the Itorians were made to nppear, unt as unjustly invaling, Imt morely as reconguering. a country which hai letongeil to thrir princes in former times."- (: O. Minter, H. it ami Antirg of the Thurie litre, bk, I, eh, 3.-See, also, Doniamm and Juniann.
HERACLEIDAR OF LYDIA. - The secund dynacty uf the kinge of l.ydin - me callenl by the
 The dy unty is ropresented an eunling witit Can. dambes- - N. Himek'r, Ilist. of Infigwity. be t. ch. 1\%.

HERACLEONAS, Roman Emperor (Eastern), A. 11. BH1

HERACLIUS I., Roman *pcror (East. ern), A. 1). (1U-841.

HERAT: B. C. 330.-Founding of the city. Sce MAcEDONIA: B. C. я30-j29,

A. D. 8231.-Destruction hy the Mongols. Bee Khoramax : A. D. 1220-1221.
HERCTÉ, Mount, Hamllear on. See Puxic Wan. Tie Fibnt.
HFRCULANEUM. See Pomprin; also, Linbable, Anctent.

HERCULIANS AND JOVIANS. Bee Ph.f:THMAN (fleAHIN: A. i). 312.

HERCYNIAN FOREST, The. - "The Herevnhan Furest wad known liy riluitt to Fira. timer (Oryyulia. The shlih of this forest, us to atman whlant why fuemohifutce. It comb. menced at the terfitory of the llelvetll [Swltzerlumi]. . . and fullow inig the straight course of the Danile remeled to the country of the Daed and the Amertes. Where It turned to the left in dilfurent directhos from the river, and extembed to the territory of many uatlots. Xo man of wentern Germany condil atlirm that lie that remefied the custern to rminatlon of the forest even after a jomrmey of six ditss, nor that fine hand hearal where it dill turmbate'. 'linis is all that Conesar kuew of this grent furest. . . . The nhere days joursey, whide measures the width of the llereybina firest, is the wilth from smmtil to hortit: and if we unsulue thly withla ta bert mated at the western end of the Hercyna, whith part wonld be the best known, it wontd cor. responl to the Achwargwnlel und Odenwaht, whildextemi on the mast shle of the Rhine from Frankfort antice Main. Tíe astern parts of 1 he forest womld extemi on the borth shite of the wald and still farther cust. Cacsur mentions
 vi. [0), hut ull that he eondid sity of it is thits: it was a forest of lommiless extent, and it sebpiratiol the Suesi ami the Chernsed; from whleh we maty conchide that it is represented hy the Tharhager. wali, Frzgeliege, Riesengeldirge, and the mona tain ranges farther east, whide separate the hama of the Gamale from the lasins of the Oifur mut the Vimala."- (i. Long, Decline of the Romum licpulkic. ri 4, ch, 2

HERETOCA. Gre EAt.роивал.
HEREWRRD" :AMP IN THE FENS. Ger lintitasu

HERI: iANN. S'C Niaveur. Medlevil: Fhintr.

HERKIMER, Generai, and the Battie of Oriskany. See [ivited Stites or Am.: A. D. 17 (.111.\%-W'TuMEA!.

HERMAEATATHENS, Mutilation of the. Se ITIES: B. C. 415

HERMEAN PROMONTORY.

HERMRAN PROMONTORY.-The en clent name of the mortheastern hora of the Gut of Tuals, now calbd C'upe Bon. It was the finult fixed lay the ofl ereallen between Carthage and lime b, beyond which lRomen ohlpa muat not gi. - Il. I1. Dmith, Carthage and the Cirthagin. inha, eh. $\delta$.
HERMANDAD, The Bee IIold Bnotman. пмNi.
HERMAYRIC, OR ERMANARIC, The enplre of. tire Grrmin: A. II. 350-375; and 8i6. HERMANSTADT, Batile of ( $844^{2}$ ). Seve TIKKN: A. I). 1402-[45I .....(Or Schelleabers, Bettle of (z599). Dee Markan anj Jantrian Statha: Ittil-Intil('entirhikhiloumania, dec.).

HERMINSAULE, The. Dee SAxONe: A.D. Tr: - WM.

HERMIONES, The. See Gemmary: As ENown to Tacityn.
HERMITS. Sec Avcnonrtan.
HERMONTHIS. the ON.
HERMUNDURI, The.-Among the German trikes of the time of Tactur. "a people loyai to thome. Conserpuently thry, alone of the Germans, trule not nerely on the linakn of the rivar, but fur inland, nut In the most thonrishing colony of the provhere of lactin. Everywhere they are alluwed to puss whomit aguaril: and while to the other trilx's we display only our arms and ollor comps, to them we have thrown open out hon ce ant cunntry meats, which they do nut covert. "Tucitus, Dinor IVorks, trana. by thureh and Mrumith: The Germany. - "The acttiennents of the Hermmodari must have been fll Havarla, and sion to lave stretched from Izatialon, northwarik, as fir as Bolemia and Samony."- lice. molen formblur.

HERNICANS, The.- A Suhine trile, who ancirntly wecupled a valley in the lowner Ap. puines, betweril the Anin nud the Trerns, and Who were lengurd whth the liomans and the Lathe afohast the Volselnis nul the Equinns. II. 13, Llillell, Hint, of Romer, bk. 2., ch. 8 .

HERODEANS, The. See JEws: B. C. 40A. II. Hf. Reion uf the minnoneans.

HEROIC AGE OF GREECE. Nec Gueece: THE IItinum.

HEROOPOLIS. Sce Jews: Tue Rocte of 7IIE Fxomers.
HERRINGS, The Battle of the (1429).-III Fubruiry, 1409, whlle the Engllsh sill helit thelr ground in Frunee, and while the Ditke of liedford was ixesleging Orlena.s [see F'rasce. A. I1. 1.129-[f:11], a large cunvoy of Lenten $p_{0}$ rivious, sislted herring in the maln, was se t away from Iarls for the Engllsh ariny. It was under the escort of Sir John Fastolfe, with 1 , 510 isura, At Houvray en Ikenasse t'ue couvoy was atturked hy 5.040 Frenel: eivalry, Ineludlig the beat knights and warriors of the khighom. The Ear!inh entreurhed themselves behhad thedr wagons and repelled the uttack. with great shaghterand hmmiliation of the Frenchehivalry: hut in the metee the red-herrhigs were scatterivi thickly over the fielul. This eansed the encomater t: le nane the Ilattle of the Iterrines. - C. D.
 HERRNHUT. SCC JORAVISi OR BOLEMIAS MuETHMEN.
HERULI, The- The Hernli were a pople chnely ascentiated with the Guths in thetr history and nutoubtowly akln to thean i: hlowh. The great piratleal expedition of A. D. $96 \%$ from the

IIIDE OF LAND.

Crimee, Which struck Athenn, was male up of Ilerile en well as Gotis. The Ihronll phamed whin the Thelis $t$ nder the joke of the IIuns. After $t$ breaklag up of the empire of Attlin. they were fusud occupy ing the region of monlern Ilungury whlel is beiwien the C'arpathinna, the upper Thelas, and the Jannilwe. The Ilornle werp aumeroun amoug the barlarlan anviliaries of the Ifoninn aruyg ln the litat ilatis of the evio. plre,-II. IIralloy. Nory of the Gutha:

HERZEGOVINA: A. D. 1875-1876,-Re. volt againet Turkieh rule. -Interpoeition of the Powere. Nue Tinnw: A. II. 1861-18:\%.
A. D. $187^{\circ}$. Glven over to Auetria by the Treaty of Berlin, dev Tinks: A. I). Isis.
HESSE: A, D. s866.-Extinctlon of the electorate, - Absorptlon by Prusela, See Gent MANY: A. D. IMPA.
HESSIANS, The, In the Amerlcma War My (Litxd Ntates of Am. : A. I). IFit (IANU

HESTIASIS. - The feasting of the trlbes at Athems. Aite l.itionaria.
HESYCHASTS, The, Sec Mraticism.
HETAERIES, Anclent, - 1 olltheif dube " whlch were h ioituil ithí noturlous nt Athens: assex fations, Ir...1 together loy onth, among the wealthy cltizetis, purtly for pirpuses of numse. ment, but chlefly pledging the members to stand by ench other in objecets of pmllilabl amhlthin, in jueliedal trials, in necensation or clofenee ot athicial mell ufter the perling of otllece had expired. In currying polnts through the publle itswembly, de.

They furnisherf, when taken togrother, a futmhlahle antipopithr firce."-G. Grote, Jhint. of (ircece, pf. 2, ch. tl (r. \%)
AJmo in: U. F. Nchominn, Antiq. of Girece: The Nivtr. je. 3, ch. Il.
HETAIRA-HETAIRISTS, Modern. See GHEF:(天: I. II. 1N:1-1*20.

HETMAN. Sec I'ULANI): A. D. 1668-I006; alst, ('unsacks.

HEXHAM, Battle of ( $\mathbf{8 4 6 4 ) \text { . See Evoland: }}$ A. I). 14: in-14\%

HEYDUC S. - Servint Chriviluns w the the enrlicr pertiol of the Turkish dombination, Hen. Into the forest und beemme outhow ami rohbers, were cultrel Ifrydics.-L. IRame, /lixf. of si rriu, ch. 3.
HIAWATHA AND THE IROQUOIS EH. H .
HIBERNIA. S.e I.iviANn.
HICKS PASHA, Destructi. rs $^{\text {P }}$ the army of (1883). Sec Eurirt: I. II. 1u 1 84.
HIDALGO.-"Urlylually wro fijolulgo, sun of something. Latir apiplied to genthemen, conutry gentlemen merhaps more particolariy

In the Dic. Cilv. anthorttles are quoted showhy that the worl -hilalyo'orighmed with the Joman culomists of Epain, cailed 'Italleos," who were exempt from limposts. Hence those enjoyting similar henetits were called ' Italicos, which word In lapse of time hecame 'hidalgo." -II. II. Bumeroft. Ilist. of the Pracific states, r. 1 , pisis. fint meite.

HIDATSA INDIANS, The. Sec AиEル
AN Amontinkw: HtDATNA.
HIDE OF IAND.-CARUCATE.-VIR. GATE.-"In tho [IImitral] rulls for lluntlag.

HIDE OF LAND.

HEROGLIPHICS

doashire [England] a serles of entrles oceurs, describing, contriry to the usanal practice of the compllers, the nunber of aeres In a slrgate, mul the number of virgates la a hide, in severai manors. . . . They show elearly - (1) That the bundle of senttered strips called a virgate ild hot always contain the same number of acres. (2) That the hilde did not always contaln the salue number of virgates. Bint at the sane time it is evldent that the hide in Huntinglonshire most often contalned 120 acres or thereabonts. We may gather from the hastances given in the IInudred ifolls for Inntingdoashire, that the 'normal' hide conshtent as a rule of four cirgate's of ahout thirty acres each. The really important eonsequenee resulting from this is the rechgul. tion of the fact that as the virgate was a bumble of so many saittered strips in the open fleldis, the blue, sa far as to consisted of actual virgates in villenace, was also a lunde -a compound and fourfoti bumlle - of scuttered strips in the opren fielils. . . . . 1 trace at least of the erigimal reason of the vurving coutents and relations of the hille aad virgate is to be fonad the the Ihnulred IRolis. as, indeed, almost everywhere eise, In the use of anether word in the place of hhle, when, histead of the auciently assessed hillage of a manor, Its monlern netual tavable ralue is examined lito and expressed. Thls new word is 'carucute''the land of a plough or plough team, - 'carnea' being the mevisevil Latin term for both plough and phagh team. . . . In some cases the caricate seems to be identical with the normal hide of 120 acres. but other instances show that the carncate varied ha area. It is the find cultivated by a phomeh tema; varylag thacrage, therefore, accorting to the lightness or heaviness of the soil, and according to the strength of the team.
In pastorial districts of England and Wales the Romam tribme may possibly have been, if not a hile from each plongh team, a hide from every family holding catte. $\qquad$ The suppusition of such an origit: of the connexion of the word 'hide' with the 'land of a family; or of a plongh teim, is mere eonjecture; but the faet of the cumexion is clear. "-F. Sechohm, Euglinh liiluge Commenity, eh. 2. 4, 4mal ch. 10, sect. 0.
Al,so in: J. M. Kemble, The Nexwens in Eig. lumb, bk 1, ch. 4-See, Mlso, Mavoms.

HIERATIC WRITING. See Iheroglypir104 HIERODULI, The.-In some of the early Greck commmaities, the llieromuli, or ministers of the [cerls, "formed a class of persons homend to ecrain services, duties, or comtrimtions to the temple of some ginl, and . . . somethmes dwelt In the position of serfs on the sacred cround. They apmat in conslderable numbers, and as an Integrat pirt of the popalation only lu Asia, ns, e. g. at Comana in Cappadocia, where in Strabo's the there were more than 0,000 of them at. taehed to the ten: = of the Lexldess Ma, Who was namme by the Grecks Enyo, and by the Romans Bellinai. In Siclly tox the Eryelnian Aphrodite haid numerous ministers, whom ('icero calls Vineril. and chasses with the ministers of Mars (Martinles) at Larinum $\ln$ sumth Italy. In Grecee we may consider the Crangallitis as Hierolulit of the i) (lphian Apollo. They belonged apparently to the ruce of Dryopes, who nre said to have theen at some former time conguered by Heracles, and delicated by him to the god. The greater part of thein, we are told, were sent at the eommand of Apollo to the Peloponnese, whilst the Crangallide remaincel belhind. At Cor inth too there were mumerous Hiemalull at. tached to Aphroulte, some of whom were women, whollved as Hetere and pald a certain tax from their earnings to the godless."-G. Schomann, Antiq. of tirecce: The State, pt. 2, ch. 4.-Sce, alse, Doris and Dryopte.

HIEROGIXPHICS, EgJptian.-"The Greeks gave the name of Illeroglyphies, that is. 'saered sculpture,' to the national writing of the Egyptiant, composed entirely of pietures of natnral objects Although very Inapplicalh: this name hims been aloptid by inolern writers. nad has been so completely aceepted and nsed that it cannot now be repluced ly a more appro priate appellation.

For a loug series of aters the decipherment of the hicroglyphics, for whinh the classleai writers furmish in nsslstance, re: muined a hopeless myster:: The acute genins of a Frenchman it hast succeeded, uot fifty yours siace, iu lifting the veil. By a prodiglons cillart of induction, and almost divination, Jean Framcoss Champulhim, whe was horn at Figear (Lat) on the 23d of Dhecmber, 1200 , and died at Paris covery of the nineteenth century in the domina of historical seienee, amb suceceded in tixing in a solid basis the primefle of reading hartoglyphics. Numerous scholars have followed the path opened by hilu. . . it womhll very far from the truth to regard hleroghentios to. always, or even generally, symbolical. Sis doubt there are symbolical characters amma them, generilly easy to understand; as also there are, and in very great mumber, tigurative chatile ters directly represeating the object to he desig. nated; but the najarity of the slgus found in every hieroglyphie text are chanicters purdy phonetic: that is, representing either syllahles (and these are so varled us to offer sometimes serions dithenlties) or the letters of an ouly manl. erately eomplicated alphabet. These lethers are \& lso pictures of ohjeets, but of objects or unimials whene Exyptinu nme commenced wh the letter in qurstioa, whlle also the syllahic charaeters (true relmsses) represeuted objects deslgated by that syltable "-F. Lenormant and E. Chevallicr, Ifrmmen of the Ancient Histiry of the Ehat, bh: B, ch. 5 (x. 1) - "The system (f writhig empinved by the people called Egyptians was probathy eatircly pictorial cither it the the when hay first arrlved in Egypt, or duriug the time thit they still lived hi their origital home. We, hunever, know of no luseription $\ln$ which pie. torial clumeters alone are used, for the earlicat specemerns of their writing known to us romtin nlphanetical eharacters. The Egyptians lrad three kinds of writing-Hierogiyphic, Hterutic, and Demotic. . . Ilieroglyphies were eonmonly employed for inseriptions upon timples, tombs, comins, statues, und stelle, and many copies of the Book of the Deal were writtin in them. The rarliest hleroglyphie Inserynint at present known is fomad on the momment of Sherm, parts of wheh are preserved In the Adh. molean MIuseum at Oxford and in the Gilnth Muselum; it dutes from the Ind dynasty, Hieroglyplites were used in Egypt for writing the names of Rounan Emperors and for relitious purposes unth the third century after ('hris, at least. Illeratie was a style of enrsive writ. iag mach used by the priests ia copying literary

HIEROGLYPHICS.

Hindman.

compositions on papyrus; during the XIth or XIIth dynasty wooden coflins were inscribed in hieratic with reifgous texts. The oldest document In hleratic is the famous Prisse papyrus, which recorde the counsels of Ptal hetep to his son; the compositton itself is about a thonsand ycars older than thls papyris, which was probsbly inscribed about the XIth dynasty. Drafts of Inscriptions were written upon flakes of cal. careous stone in hicratic, and at a comparatively carly date hierutie was used in writing coples of the Book of the Dead. Illeratic was usedi until about the fourth eentury after Christ. Demotle is a purely conventional molifieation of hleratic eharaeters, whleh preserve littie of their original form, and was used for soclal and business purposes; in the carly days of Egyptian de. cipherment it was called enchoriui..... The Demotie writing appears to have come into use sbont B. C. 900 , and it survived untii about the fourth century after Christ. In the time of the Ptolenkes three kluds of writing were inscribed shde hy sife upou docimments of publie importance, hheroglyphic, Greek, and Demotie; examples are the stele of Cunopus, set up in the ainth rear of the reign of Ptolemy III. Euer. getes $1 ., 13$. C. $947-202$, at Canopus, to record the benefits which this king had eonferred upon bis country, and the fumous Roset ta Stone, set up at irosetta in the eighth rear of the reign of Ptolemy V. Eplphanes (B. C. 205-182), likewiso to commemorate the benefits conferred upon Egypt by inlnself and his family, ete. . . . A century or two after the Christinn era Greek had obtained such a hoid npon the iuhahitants of Egylt, that the native Christion popnlation, the discipies and followers of Saint Mark, were obliged to use the Greck alphabet to write down the Egyptian, that is to say Coptle, translation of the books of the Old and New Testaments, but they bormin if six signs from the demotle forms of sneieut Egyptlan charaeters to express the sounds which they found unrepresented in Greck."-E. A. Waltis Budge, The Mummy, mp. $803-354,-\mathrm{Sce}$, also, Rosetti Stone.

HIEROGLYPHICS, Mexican (so-cailed). Sce Aztec and Mafa Pictilie. writiso.
HIERONYMITES, The.-"A number of solitaries residing among the mountains of Spain, Portugal, and Italy, gradually formed into a community, and called themselves Ilieronymites, either heearse they had complied their Ruie from the writings of St. Jerome, or becunse, sdoptling the rule of St. Augustine, they had taken Nt. Jerome for thelr patron. . The community was approved hy Gregory di, in community was approved hy Gregory XI., in 13it. The famons monastery of Our Lady of Guadaloupe, iu Estremadura; tho magniticeut Escurlal, whth Its weralth of literury treasuris, and the monastery of St. Just, where Charles V. souglit an asyhm in the decline of hls life, atfent their wonderfini energy ami zeui."-J. Alzar, Manual of L'nineral Chureh Miat., v. 3, 1. 1119 . 1. 119.

HIGH CHURCH AND LOW CHURCH:
First use of the names. See England: A. D. 16vit Arull-Avorst).
HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE. See CURLA Recirs.
HIGH GERMANY, Oid League of. See SwITRERLAND: A. D. 133:-1460.
HIGH MIGHTINESSES, Nethehlands: A. D. 1651-1660.

HIGHER LAW DOCTRINE, The,-WIl. llam II. Seward, speaking in the Senate of the Cnlted States, March 11, 1850, on the question of the admission of California into the Union as a Free State, used the foilowing language: "'The Constitution,' he said, 'regulates our stewardshlp; the Constltution devotes the dio main to unlon, to justlee, to defence, to weifare, and to libirty. But there is a hlgher law than the Constlntion, which regnlates our authority over the domain, and devotes it to the samo noble purposes. The territory is a part, an Inconslderable part, of the common heritage of mankind, hestowed upon them hy the Creator of the universe. We are His stewards, and must so diseliarge our trust as to secure in the highest attuinahle depree their happiness.' This puhlie recoguition hy a Senator of the Cnited States that the laws of the Creator were 'higher' than those of himman enaetment excited much astonishment and iudignation, suld ealled forth, in Congress and (olt of it, measureless ahuse upon its anthor."-II. Wilson, Ifist. of the Rise and Fitll of the gare Porer in Am., r. 2, p. 26"-263. -In the agitations that followed upon the adopthon of the Fupitive Shave law, and the other compromise measures, this iligher Law Doctrine Fas mueh talkei aboit. See United States or An. : A. D. 18.510 .

HIGHLAND CLANS. Sre Clans.

HIGHLANDS OF SCOTLAND. See ScutcIIIIOM, AND AND I_OWLIND.

HIKENILDE - STRETE.
Roans in Burtain.
HILDEBRAND (Pope Gregory VII) the Papacy. Sue Puracy: A. D. 1056-1122; Geimani: A. D. 973-112:; and Canossa. Hiddehrand, King of the Lombards. $743-744$.

HILL, Isaac, in the "Kitchen Cahinet" of President Jackson. See Livited States of An.: A. D. 1820 .

HILL, Rowland, and the adoption of pennypostage. siee ENoland: d. D. 1840.

HILTON HEAD, The capture of. See United States of An.: A. I). 1861 (October -I)fermheis: Nouth Carolisa-Georgia).

HIMATION, The.-An article of dress in the nature of a cloak, worn hy both men and women among the anclent Greeks. It "was ar. ranged so that the one corner was thrown over the left shouldier in front, so as to be attached to the body by means of the left arin. Ou the back the dress was puiled towani the right side, sn as to eover it eompletely up to the right shonker, or, at least, to the armplt, in which latter ease the right shonleder remain wh uncoveredi. Flnally, the hlmation was again thrown over the ieft shoukler, so that the ends fell over the back. .i second way of arranging the hlmatlon, which left the right arm free, was more picturesque, uni is therefore usually found in pietures. "-E. Gnhl and W. Koner, Life of the Greeks and Romans. sect. 42.

HIMERA, Battie of. See SiciI. : B. C. 480.
Destroyed by Hannihal. See Sicily: 13. $C$. 409-405.

HIMYARITES, The. See Arabia.
HIN, The. Sce Efirall.
HINDMAN, Fort, Capture of. See United Stateg up Am.: A. D. 1868 (Jantary: Ahkan.

HiND00 K00sH.

HISTORY.

HINDOO KOOSH, The Name of the. See Cavcasde, Teie Indian.
HINDUISM. See Lndia: The momeration and conguegts of the Artas.
HINDUSTAN. Bee India: Tere Nayce.
HINKSTON'S FORK, Battle of (2782). See Kentucky: A. D. 1775-1784.
HIONG-NU, The. See TCais: 6TI Cxr. tury.
HIPPARCH. - A commander of cavalry in the military organization of the anclent Athe-nlans.-G. F. BchDmann, Antiq. of Greece: The State, pt. 3, ch. 8.

HIPPEIS.-Among the Spartans, the honorary titie of Hippeis, or Knights, was given to the members of a chosen body of three hundred young men, the flower of the Spartan youth, who had not reached thirty years of age. TTheir three leaders were cailed Hippagrete, although in war they served not as cavalry but as hop. iltces. The name may possibly have survived from times In which they actualiy served on horseback." At Athens the term Hippeis was applied to the second of the four property classes into which Solon divided the popuiation, - their property obilging them to serve as cavairy.-G. Schommnn, Antig. of Greece, Tho State, pt. 3, ch. 1 and 3 -See, aibo, Atirens: B. C. 594.

HIPPIS, Battle of the.-Fought, A. D. 550, in whnt was known as the Lazic War, between the Persians on one side and the Romans and the Lazi on the other. The latte; were the victors.

HIPPO, OR HIPPOREGIUS.-An anclent city of north Africa, on the Numldian coast. See Nemidians, and Canthaoe: Dominionof. A. D. $430 \cdot 43$ I. Siege by the Vandals. See Vandala: A. I). 429-439. hippobotas, The. Sce Elraga.
HIPPOCRATES, The Hippocratic Oath. Sec Medical Science, Gueek.

HIPPODROME. - STADION. - THEA-TER.-"The arts praetised in the gymmasia were i ublicly dilspiayed at the testivals. Tho bulidings in wilein these dispiays took piace were moditied aceording to thelr varleties. The rnces buth on horsehack and in chariots took piace in the hippodrome; for tho gymnnstic games of the pentathlon eerved the tadion; whlle for the acme of the fentivals, the muslcal and dramatic performances, thentres were rrected."-E. Guhl and W. Koner, Life of the Grecks and Romane (tr. by Hueffer), sect. 28-90.
HIPPOTOXOT E, The. See Sctrinans, on Sctrise, or Athens.

HIRA. - "The hlatorians of the age of Justln. lan represent the state of the lndependent A rahs, who were divided by interest or affectlon in the ling quarrel of the East [between the Romans and Persians - 8rd to 7th century]: the tribe of Gassan was aliowed to encamp on the Syrian territory; the princes of Hira were permitted to form a city about 40 miles to the southward of the ruins of Babylon. Their service ln the fiedd was speedy and vigorous; but their friendshlp was venal, thelr faith lnconstant, their enmity capricious: It was an easier task to excite than to disarm these roving barbarians; and, in the familiar Intercourse of war, they learned to see and to despise the splendid weakness both of Rome and of Persia."-E. Gibbon, Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, ch. 80 ( v .5 ).- 'The dynasty of Pnimyra and tho western tribes embraced Cliristianity in the time of Constantlne; to the east of the desert the reilgion was iater of gaining ground, and indeed was not adopted by the court of Hira tili near the cad of the 6th century. Eariy ln the 7th, Hira feil from its dignity as an lndependent power, and beeame a satrapy of Persln."-Sir Wililiam Mulr, Life of Mahomet, introd., en, 1.-In 633 Hira was over. wheimed by the Mahometan conquest, and the greater clty of Kufa was buit only 3 miles dls. funt from it. See Manometan Conqeest: A. D. 632-651: aiso, Bresorat and Kcra.
HISPALIS. -The name of Sevilic under the Rommns. See Seville.
HISPANIA CITERIOR AND HISPANIA ULTERIOR. See SPain: B. C. 218-25.
HISPANIOLA.-The name glven by Coinm. bus to the isiand now divided between the Repnblles of IIayti and San Domingo. See Axerica: A. D. 1492; 1493-1496, and after; and IIAYT.

HISSARLIK. -The site of necient Troy, as supposed to be identifled by the excavatlons of Dr. Schilemann. Sce Asia Minor: The Greex Colonies; also, Troja, and Hoyer.

HISTORY.

Definitions.-' WIth us the worl 'history,' ilke its equi valents in ali molern languages, slgnifies cilher a form of literary composition or the nppropriate sulijeet or matter of such composltion dither a narrathe of events, or events whele may be narrated. It is imposslble to free the trm from thls dombleness and ambiguity of meaning. Nor is it, on the whole, to be desired. The ailvuntages of having one term wheh may, with ordinary eaution, he innocuessiy applied to two -'Ings so relntel, more than connterbminuees the dangers involved in two thlngs so distinct having the same name. . . . Sinee the word history has two very different meanings, it obvionsiy cannot have merely one detintton. To define an order of facts mind $n$ form of ilterature in the same terms - to suppose that when clther of them is defined the other is defined - is so alinumi that one would probably not belleve it couid be seriousiy done were lt not so often done. But to rloso has been the rule rather than the excepious. The mnjority of so.cslled definitions of history are definitlons oniy of the reeords of history Ther reiate to hastory as nnrated and written. not to history as evolved nni aeted; in other words, although given ns the only definltlons of hilstory needed, they do not apply to hlstory lisdf, but inerciy to aceounts of hlstory. They may tell us what constitutes a book of history, but they cannot teil us what the history is with which ail books of history nre oceupied. it is. however, with hlstory in this iatter sense that s stmdent of the scienee or philosophy of histurf is mainly coneerned. . . . If hy history be meant hlstory in its widest sense, the best detinltion of listory as a form of literature ls , perhaps, cither the very nid our. 'th narration of events, or W. von Liumboidt's, 'the exhibitlon of what has happened' (dle Darstellung des Geschehenen) The excellence of these definltlons iles ln their clear and explicit indication of what hintory as eflectuated or transected is. It consists of events ; it is das Geachehene. It is the entire course of eveats in tlme. It is all that has happened preciseiy as it happened. Whatover happens is phlstory. Eternal and unchanging belng has no history. Things or phenomena considered as existent, eonnected, and comprehended $\ln$ space, compose what is called nature as distlngulshed from hlstory. . . . Probably Droysen has found a neater and terser formula for it ln German than sny which the English language could suppiy. Nature he deseribes as 'das Nebenelnander des Seieaden,' and history as 'das Nacheinander des Gewordenen.' . . The only kind of history with which we have here direetly to deal is that kiud of it to whieh the name is generally restrieted, history par exceilenee, human history, what has happened within the sphere of human ageney sad interests, the actions and creatlons of men, events which have affected the lives and destinles of men, or whileh have been produced by men. This is the orlinary sense of the word history.

HISTORY.

To attempt further to deflie it would be worse than useless. It would be unduly to limit, snd to distort and pervert, its meaning. la proof of thls a few brief remarks on certain trpical or celebrated definitious of hlstory may perhaps be of servlee. The definition given in the Dietionary of the French Acaderuy - I'histwire est le réclt des ehoses dignes de mémoire ' -is a specimen of a very numerous species. Accorliag to such definitlons history consists of ex reptionai things, of celebrated or notorlous eveats, of the lives and aetions of great and exsitud men, of conspicuous achievemeuts in war and politics, in selence and art, in religion and literature. But this is a narrow and superfleial conception of history. Ilistory is made up of what is little as weli as of what is great, of what is commou as well as of what is strange, of what is counted mean as weil as of what ls counted noble. . . . Dr. Arnold's definition - 'history is the biography of a society' - has been often praised. Nor altogether undeservediy. For it dlrects attention to the faet that all history accords with hiography ln supposing in its subject s certaiu unlty of life, work, and end. does not foliow, however, that hiography is a more generai notion than history, and history oaiy a species of hography. In faet, it is not oniy as true and intelligible to say that biography is the history of an iudividual ns to say that blstory is the biography of a soclety, but more so. It is the word inegraphy in the intter case whleh is used in a secondary and analogical sense, not the word history in the former case. . . . According to Mr. Freeman, 'history ls past poilitics and polltics are present history. This is not a mole of detluition which any logieian wlil be found to sauction. It is equivalent to saying that politics and hlstory are tile same, and may woth be divided into past and present ; but $\mathrm{l}_{\mathrm{t}}$ loes not teil us what either is. To affirm that thels was that and that is this is not a definitlon of this or that, but only an assertion that something may be esified either this or that. Besides, the identification of history with politics proceeds, as hass been aiready indlented, ou a view of history whilch is at oace narrow and arbitrary. Further, it is just as truc chat mathematical history is past mathematics and mathematics are present histo ry, as that political history is past poiltica and politics are present hlstory. . . . The whole of man's past was once present thought, feeling, and action. There 18 nothing peculiar to politle: in this respect."-R. Flint, Livtory of the Phi. losophy of Mistory : France, etc., pp. 5-10.

The subjects and objects of History.-"The position for which I have always striven is this. that hlstory is psst polltles, that politics are present history. The true subject of history, of nny lisistory that deserves the name, is man ln his political capacity, man as the member of an organized society, governed according to law. Iistory, in any other aspect, hardly rises above antiquarianism, though 1 am far from holding that eveu simple antiquarianism, even the merest serapling togetier of locnl and genealoglcal detuil, is neeessarily antlquarian ruhbish. I know not why the pursuits of the antlquary should be ealled rubhish, any more than the pursults of the ker after knowledge of any other kind. Stlll, the pursuits of the antlquary, the man of local and speeial detall, the man of buildings or colns or weapons or manuscripts, are not $\ln$ themselves listory, though they are constantly found to be most valuablo helps to history. The eolleetlons of the nntipunry are not history; hut they are materials for history, materials of which the historian makes grateful use, and without whlch he would often he sore put to in doing his own work. . It is not too much to say that no kind of knowledge, of whatever kind, wlll be useless to the historian. There is none, however seemingly distant from his subjeet, winleh may not stand him in good stead at soine pinch, sooner or later. But his immedlate subject, that to whieh all other things are secondary, is man as the member of a political communlty. Rightly w understand man lu that eharacter, he must study him in all the forms, In ail the developements, that poiliticai soclety has taken. Effects have to be traeed up to their causes, causes have to he tracel up to their effects; and we cannot go through either of those needful processes if we confine our studies either to the political soeieties of our own day or to political socleties on a great physical sesle. The ohjeet of history is to wateh the workings of one slde, and that the highest sidc, of human nature $\ln$ all lts shapes; and we do not see human nature lu all its shapes, uniess we follow it into all times nnd all eircum: stances under which we have nuy menns of stuiying lt.

In one sense it is perfeetly true that history is always repestiag itself; in another sense lt would he equaliy truc to say that history never repeats itself at all. No historical positlon ean be exaetly the same ns any euriier historical position, If oniy for the reason that the earlier position has gone hefore it. . . . Even where the reproduction is uuconscious, where the likeness is simply the result of the worklng of llke causes, still the two results ean never be exactly the same, if only hecause the earller result itself takes its place amoug the eauses of the later resuit. Differences of this klnd must alwajs be borne in mind, and they are quite enough to hinder any two historical events from being exact doubles of one another. . . . We nust carcfuliy distinguish between causes and occafings. It is unc of the oldest and une of the wisest remarks of political phllosophy that great events commonly arise from great enuses, but ciosely and deeply enough to work; whlch shows the what, how and why of events as far as reason and research can ascertaln. Iltstory always partcipates in some mensure of phtlosophy, for events are always comnected nccorling to mone real or supposed princtple elther of etticlent or tinal causation."-R. Filnt, Philumphy of IIistory, intrun?

The possibility of a Science of History. Mr. Buckle's theory. - "The bellever th the pos. sibulty of a sclenee of tulstory is uot entied upon to holl elther the doctrine of pretestlned events, or that of freedoun of the will; and the only pm. sttlons which, In this stage of the lmpulry, I shail expeet him to eoncede nre the followligy: That when we perform an action, we perform it in consequence of some motive or mothes; that those motlves are the resilts of some antece dients; and that, therefore, if we were aequaintel with the whole of the antecedents, and with uli the laws of their movements, we could with unerring certuinty prethet the whole of thelr hnmetiate results. This, unless 1 am greatly mis. taken, is the view which must le held hy eviry man whose mint is unblased hy system, and who forms his opintons necording to the evilence nctualiy before him.
lejeethag, then, the metaphysteal dogma of free will and, the theoingleal dogmu of predestined events, we are driven to the conelusion that the actons of men, being determined solely hy their antecedents, must have a character of uniformity, that is to say, must, under prectsely the same clreumstances, nlways lssue in preelsely the same resuhs. And ns ail antecedents are etther the the mind or ont of lt . we clearly see that ull the variations ia the results-In other words, ull the changes of whleh listory is full, all the viclssitudes of the t:uman race, their progress or their decay, their happiness or their misery - must le the fruit of a double action; an action of externul phenomenn upon the mind, und unother action of the mind upon the phenomem. These are the man tertals out of which a phitlosophte history can aloae be constructed. On the one haud, we bave the humm mind obeying the laws of its owa existeuce, ant, when uaentrolled by external ageuts, developing itself accorling to the coaditlons of its organization. On the other hand. we hare what is enlled Nature, obeylag likewie Its laws; hut incessantly coming into comtiet with the minds of mea, cexcitiug thelr passions, stimulating thelr tutelleet, ned therefore giving to their aetions a direction whleh they womld not have taken whont such disturbnece. Thus we have man monlffygg mature, and nature modify. lng mau; while out of thls reclpmenl moliticution all events nust necessarily spring. The probicm Immediately before nas is to ascertaln the method of discovering the laws of thls double molitica-thon."-11. T. Buckte, Mist. of Cirilization in Enghand, ch. 1.-"Buckle is not the first who has attemptell to trent the unscientlie character of llistory, the ' methotless matter,' as an uncient writer names 1 t , hy the method of exhibiting vital phenomenn uniler points of vew anniogous to those which are the startlag. point of the exact sclences. But a nothon which others have incidentally hroachel uader some formula ulnut 'natural growth," or carrled out in the very hadequate and morcly figurative idea of thi lnorgante; whint stlll others, as Comte In his attractlve 'Philosophle lositive,' have dereloped

HISTORY.

HISTORY.

speculatively, Buckle undertakes to ground in a comprehensive hlstorical exposition. mb fuw to demonst mute hlstarical fncts out of genergi laws. He paves the way for this by settlag forth that the carllest and rudest conceptlons touching the course of human desting were those Indlcated by the ldeas of chance and necessity, that 'In all probibllity' out of these grew lister the 'dog. mas: of free.will and predestinntion, that both are in a great degree 'mistakes, or that, as he mids. 'we at lenst linve wo mequate proof of their truth.' Ife finds that all the changes of which llistory is full, all the viclssitudes which have come upon the hunan raec, lts adivance and Its afecline, Its happiness mol its misery, must be the frult of $n$ doubie ayracy, the workiag of onter phenomean upon oir nature, and the worklng of aur nuture upon outer phenomena. He has contidence that he hus discovered the 'laws' of this domble lithience, and that he has therefore clevatcd the Illstory of numkind to a selcuce. . . . luackle don's not so much leave the friedom of the will, In connecthon with divlae provider ; out of view, but rather declares lt an illusion und throws it ovarlmard. Within the precincts of philosapher niso something sinntiar has recently been tanght. A thiuker whom I regarl with prommal esteem says: If we call all that nu ludivilnal man is, his and performs A. then thes $A$ arises out of $a+x$, a embracing all that comes to the mam from his outer elrenns. stances: from hls comutry, people, age, etc., while the vanishingly llttle' $x$ is his own contri. lution, the work of bis free wlll." Ilowever vaninhingly small thls $x$ may he, it is of inflaite value. Jorallr and huminly conshlered lt alone has value. The colors, the brush, the cunvas Thirh laphatel used were of materials whleh he lad not created. Ine hall learned from one and another master to apply these materlals in trawiag and palntlog. The lden of the Ifoly Virrin and of the salnts and angels, he met with in church tradition. Varions clolsters ordered pictures from him at glven prices. That thls imeitement alone, these material and technical conditions nnd such tradtions and contemplations, shouid 'rxplain' the Slstine Madonna, wollil be, in the rmula $A=a+x$, the service of the vanishling little $x$. Slmllarly every where. lat statistics go on showing that lu a certaln comntry so and so mnay liiegitimate births occur. suppose that $\ln$ the formula $\mathrm{A}=a+x$ thls $a$ includis all the clements which 'explain' the fact that among a thousand inothers twenty, thirty, or whatever the unmburls, are unmarried; ench individual case of the kind has lis history: how often as touching and nffectlits one. Of thuse twenty or thirty who have fallen is there a single one who will be consoled hy knowligg that the statistleal law 'exphins' her ease? Amld thu tortures of conscience through ligelits of Wreping, many a onc of them will be profousdiy convinerd that in the formula $\mathbf{A}=a+\boldsymbol{x}$ the vanishiug little $x$ is of immurisurahle veight, that In fuct it embraces the eutire nomel werth of the luman leing, his total and exclusive value. Sin intelllgent man will think of denylng that the statistical uethod of consldering human affair: has its great worth; but we must not forget low little. relatlvery, it ran necompish and is me:at to accompllsh. Many and perhaps ali humau relatons have a legal slde; yet no one wili in that acconnt bld us seck for the understanding of the Eroiea or of Faust among ju. rists' detinltlons concernlag Inteliectual piuper-ty."-J. G. Droysen, Outline of the Principles of Ilintury. ipp. 62-64 and 7i-79.
History as the root of all Science.-Lost History.-"MInstory, as it lles at the root of all science, is also the first distlinct provinct of nan's spiritual nature; hls earllest expression of what can be called Thought. It is a looking both be. fore and after; as, indecd, the coming Thne alreaty walts, unseen, fet detinltely shaped, predeterminerl and laevitable, in the Tlue come: nad only by the combination of buth is the meanlag of either completed. The "'yliine I looks, though ohl, are not the allest. Some mations have prophecy, some have not: but of all man$k l u d$, there is ao tribe so rude that lt has not nttempted Ilistory, though several huve not arithmetic enough to connt Five. Histary has been written whth yuipe-threalis, with fenther pictures, whth wampnm-bets; still oftener with earthmounds and monumental stone- heupla, whether as pyramid or cuirn; for the Calt und the Copt, the led mon as well ns the Whlte, lives between two etcrultles, nud warring ngalust Obilrlon, he would fain inite hins 't in clear consclons relatlon, as In dim nuconsewous relation he ls aiready minited, with the whole Future nnd the whole Past. A talent for llivfory may be said to ${ }^{\text {a }}$ born whth us, as our chite himeritmese. In a ce taln scuse all man nre hlstoriuns. Is not every memory written quite full whth Anuals, whereln joy nud monraing, conquest and loss manlfoldy niternate; and. with or without philosophy, the whole furtunes of one little lawnrd Kingdom, and nll lts julitics, foreign and domestic, stand Ineffaceably recordal? Our very speech is curiously historical. Jost men, you may observe, spatk only w narrate ; not in impurting what ther have thanght, which indeed were often a very suall matter, but in exhibiting what they have untiorgone or sten, which is a quite unlhnited one, do tulkers dilate. Cut us off from Narmilve, haw would the stream of conversstion, even nomong the whest, langulsl, lato deturhed hundfils, und among the foollsit utterly paporate! Thus, us we do nothing hut cnact llistory, we suy little but reclte it: nay rather, In that widest sconse, omr whole spiritual llfe is built thereon. For, strictly ronsidiered, what is all Knowiedge too but recorled Experience, and a prowluet of Ilistory; of which, therefore, Keasoning und Belief, no less than Action nmo Pussion, i..e essentlal materiais? . Sochai Jife ls the aggregate of ail the individual men's L. Ves who coastltute - clety; History ls the cassence of innumerable Silographles. But lf one Biography, nay our ow in Bingraply, sturly aad recapltulate It as we nay, remalnis in so many points unly. telligible to ins ; how unch more must these milliou, the very facts of whleh, to say nothlng of the purport of then, we kaow rac, and cannot know 1. . Which whs the $g$ catest Innovator, which was the more important personage in nain's history, he who tirst led arnies over the Alps, and gained the vlctories of Cauna and Thmasymene: or the nameless boor who first hamnered out for hiniseif an iron spade? When the ouk-tree is felled, the whole forest pchoes with it; but a hundred acuras are planted silently by some unuotled breeze. Battles and wartumults, whlch for the tlme din every ear, and

History.

Moral Leseona and Praptical I'alwe.
HISTORY

With joy or terror Intoxicato every heart, pase sway like tavern-k.awis; and, except comu fow Marathons and Mnrgartens, are remembere't hy sceldent, not by desert. Lawa themseives, poIltical Constitu:ions, are not our Life, hut oniy the house wherein our Life la led; nay they are hut the bare walle nf the house; all whoee essen. tial furniture, the inventlons and truiltions, and daily hahits that reguiate end support our existence, are the wnrk not of Dricos and Hampulens, but of Phcentelau mariners, of Italian masons and Saxon metu!!urgists, of philosophers, aichymita, prophets, an all the long-forgotten tmilu of artists and artisans; who from the tirst have been jointly teaching us how to thlnk and how to act, how to rile over spiritual and over physlcal Nature. Well may wo say that of our Ifls. tory the more important part is lost without re-covery."-T. Carlyle, On Mistory (Critical and Miscellaneons Einmys, 0. 2).

Interpretation of the Paat by the Present,"But bow, it may be asked. are we to interpret the Past from the Present, if there are no instltutions in the present answering to those in the past? We have r: serfs, for example, in Eng. land at tho present time, fow then are we to understania state of Suclety of which they wero a componeut ofement? The answer ls-by analogy, by lixoking at the essence of the relathon. Between a moxlern master and his lackeys and depeuilents, the same essenthal relatlou subsists as betwren the lord and serf of feudal times. If Te reallse to ourselves the fuil round of this refationshlp, deepen the shades to correspond with the more absolute power possessed hy a lord in early thes, allow for a more aristocratle state of ophilou aud belief, tho resuit will be the solution desired. This method of interpreting the Past frou the Preseut has been foliowed hy Shakespeare in his great historleni dramas, with surh success as we all know. IIe wishes, for erample, to give us a picture of old Roman tlmes. Ife gets from Plutarch and other sources the broad historlcal fucts. the form of Government and tellyion, the dilstributlon of Power and Authority: this is the skeleton to which he has to glve life and rabity. IIow does he proceed? Ile slnply takes his stand ou the thines in whleh be hinstlf IVed: notes the effects existing in. stltutions have out his own and nther minds; allows for the differences in custom, mode of life, and political and religious forms; and the result is a tirama or dramas more real and fifellke, more triet and bellevable, an Inslght into the worklug of lRomau life more suhtle and profound, than all the husks with whleh tho hlstorians have furmshed us."-J. B. Crozicr, Cicilization and Progress. 1.35.

The Moral lessons of History.-"Gibbon believed that the era of couquerors was at an end. IIad he lived out the full life of man, he wouli have seen Europe at the fect of Napoleon. But a few years ago we believed the world had grown too civiltzed for war, and the Crystal Palace in IIyde Park was to be the inauguration -f a new era. Battles blookly as "poleon's are now the faniliar tale of every day, and the arts whlch have male greatest progress are the arts of destruction. . . What, then, is the use of History, and what are its lessons? If it can tell us little of the past, and nothing of the futare. Why wasto our time over so barren a study? First, it is a voice forever sounding across the centurie the lawi of right and wroag. Opln lons alter, mannert , hange, creeds riso and fali, but the mnral law is pritten on the tablets of eternity. For every faise word or unighteou deed, for cruelty and oppresalon, for lust or vanity, the price has to be pald at lait; not al. ways by the chlef offenders, but pald hy some one. Justice and truth sione endure and live. Injuatico aud inisehood may be long.ilved, lut doomsilay comes at last to them, in French revoJutions and other terribie ways. That is one lesson of Ilistory. Annther is that we shonld draw no doroscopes; that we thould expect $1!t$ tle, for what we expect will not come to F ss. "J. A. Froude, Short Studies on Great $\mathbf{6}$ ubjects, pp. 27-28.

The Educatlonal and Practical value of Hig-tory.-" It is, I think, one of the best schools for that kind nf reasoning wifleh is most isefui Iu practical life. It teaches men to vecigh conflecting prohabliftles, to esthate degreer of evldence, to form a sound fudgment of the value of authorities. Reasoning is taught by actuai practice much more than hy an; a priori methois. Many good judges - and I own I am inclincd to agree with tbem - doubt much whether a study of formal logic ever yet malo a good reasoner. Mathematics are no doubt invaluabio in this respect, but they oniy deal with demonstrations; and It has often been observeti how many excellent mathematiclans are somewhat pecul rly destitute of the power of measuring degr of probability. But History is largely concerned with the kiud of piobahifties on which the coul. duct of life mainfy depends. There is one hint about historical reasoning which 1 thiuk aiay not be unworthy of your notice. When studying some great historlcal controversy, place your. self by an effort of the Imagination afteruately on each side of the battin; try to reailse as fully as you can the point of view of the best men on elther slde, and then draw up upon paper the arguments of each in the strongest form you ean give them. You will find that few practires do more to elucidate the past, or form a better men. tai disclpllne."-W. E. II. Lecky, The Politie,t Value of History, pp. 47-49.-"IIe whn demands certalntles alone as the splere of his action must retlre from the activitles of life, and contine hlinself to the domaln of mathematical computation. He who is uawilling to investlgate and weigh probabilitles can lave no good reason to lope for auy practical success whatever. it is strictly aecurate to say that the blghest successes In life, whether in statesmanship, in leglslation, iu war, in the civic professions, or in the fidustrial pursults, are attalned by those who possess the greatest skill In the welr ${ }^{-1}$ ling of probabilitics and the estimating of them at thelr true value. "his is the essentlif reasou why the study of hisfory : a so impurtant an clement in the work of in:prosing the judgment, aud in the work of fitting men to conduct properly the larger interests of communlties and states. It is a study of humanity, not in an ideal condition, but as humanity exists. The student of history surveys the relations of life in essentially the same manuer as the man of business surveys them. Perhaps it ought tather to be said that the historical method is the method that must be uned in the enmmon affalre of everyday life. The premises from whleh the man of buslness has to draw hls couclusions are aiways more or less

HIE CORY.

Edneationat and Prectiont Pahue.

HISTOK:

invoived and uncertaln. The gift which insures ouccess, therefore, is not no much the endowment of a powerful reasoning faculty as that other quality of intelifgence. Which we call good judg. ment. It is the ahility to grapp what may be sified the atrategic points of a situation by In. atinctive or futultive methods. It reaehes its concluatona not hy any very efearly defined or deînable process, but rather hy the method of coajecturing the value and importance of con tingent elements. It is the ahlilty to reach cor rect conclusions when the conditions of a strictly logical riocess are wantlig. To a man of alfaira this is .ue most valuahle of ail gifta; and it in acquired, so far as it comes by eflort, not hy atudying the rigld processem of vecessary reasun. ing, but hy a large observance aud contempla. tion of human affalra. And it is precisely this metiod of studylng men that tho historicil student has to use. Hits premisea are always more or less uncertain, and hls conclusions, therefore, Hike the conclusions of every diay life, are the product of his judt ent rather tham the proluct of pure reason. It is in the light of thls fact that we sre to explaln the force of Guizot's remark, that nothing tortures history more than ligic. Hercln also is found the reason why the stuily of Listory is so necessary a part of a groul prepration for the affairs of poilties and statesmanslif. Freeman has sadil that history is simply past pollties, and politics are simply pres. ent history. If this be true - and who can deny it? - the study of history and the study of poll. tics are much the same. The kind of Involved snd contlngent reasoning neecssary for the suecreefal formution of polltical judgments is unquettionably the kind of reasoning which, of all sturiks, history is best adapted to give. It may ulso be sudd that the most important eiements of success are tho same in ali practical vocations. The conditlons, whether those of statesmanshlp ir those of industry and commerec, have been essentially the same in all ages. Goclety 1s, and has been, from its first exlsteuce, a more or less complicated organism. It is a machine with a reat number of wheeis and springs. No part is ladependent. Hence it is that no man can lie completely usefui if he is out of gear with his gge, however perfeet he may be in himself."C. K . Adams. A Manual of listorical Literature. pp. 15-16. - 'To turn for a moment to the genenal question. I should not like io be thought to be aitivocating my stady on the mere grountis of utility; although I helleve thai utility, both as regards the traiuing of the study ant the information attained in it, to be the highest, finmealy speaking, of all utlitles; it heips to qualify a man to act in his character of a politiciun as a Christian man should. But this is not all: beyond the educatiomal purpose, beyoud the politieal purpose, beyond the philesophical use of history aud Its training, it hras something of the preciousness of everything that is clearly truc. In common with Niturat Phllosophy it has its value, 1 will not say as Science, for that would he to use a term which has now becone equirocal, but it hasa value nnalogons to the value if science: a value as something thent is worth knowing and retaining in the knowiedge for lis win and for the truth's sake. And in this con. sista its especial attraction for its own votaries. It is not the pleasure of knowing something that the world does not kuow, - that doubtiess is a notive that weighs with many mindm, a motive to be accepted an a fact, though it may not le worth analyais. It Is not the mere pleasure of Investigating and finding with every atep of ! vestigatlon new points of view open out, and new tields of labour, new characters of interest; - that investigating lnstinct of human nature la not one to be lignored, and the exerclee of It on such Incxhaustible materinls as are hefore us now is a most henlthy exercise, one that eannot hint strengthen anI develope the whole mind of the man who nises ft, urging him on to new stuilies, new langnages, new discoveries in geog. raphy and sclence. But oven thls is not sil. Thicre is, I speak humbly, in common with Natural Bcience, In the atudy of living History, a gradual approximation to a conaciousness that we rre growhin lato a perception of the wrkIngs of thic: Almighty Ruler of the worli.
The study of Ilistory is in this respect, is Cofe. rldge suli of Poetry, its own great r tward, a thing to be loved alu cultivated for Its ., wn sake.

If man ls not, as we belleve, tho greatest and most wonderful of Goul's works, he is at least the most wonderful that comes pliting our eontemplation; if the immun will, wh ch is the motive canse of uli historical events, $s$ not the freest agent in the nifircrse, it is at lenst the frest agency of which we have any knowledge; If les variations ato not absolately Innumeralio and Irreducible to classification, on tho generallsations of which we mny formulate laws and rules, and murxims and prophecics, they are far more diverslticd and iess reducble than any other phenontena in those reglons of the unlverse that we have power to penetrate. Fr- 3 ne great insoluble probiem of astrunomy or geology there are a thonssind Insoinble problems in the life, in the charivicer, lu the face of every man that meets $y, n$ hin the street. Thns, whether we louk at the dignity of the subject-matter, or at tho natur of thin mental exercise which it requires, or at tue lne xhanstible field over which the pur suit ranges, Ilstory. t1.m knowledge of the ad ventures, the developme * the cluageful carear, the varicd goon ths, the nublitions, aspirations, and, if you like, the approximating dostinies of munkind, clalms a place second to none in the roll of scie" ces. "-if. Stuhbs, Serenteen Letures on the st. 'y If Jfediewhl and Mindern Mistory. lect. 1 ant 4-" There is a passage in Lord Bacon so much to this purpose that I cannot forbear quoting it. 'Although (he siys) 'we are denply indebted to the fight, becanse by means of it we can tind our ray, ply our tasks, read, distlngulsh one another: and yet for ail that the vislon of the light Itself is more excellent and more beautiful than all these various uses of It ; so the contemplation and $8^{i}$ git of things as they are, whent superstitlon, without imposture, without error, and without confusion, is in itself wonth more than all the harvest and proft of inventions put together.' And so may I say of History: that usefulas it may be to the statesman, to the hawyer, to the schoolnaster, or the annalist, so far as it enables us to fook at facts as they are, and to cultwate that halit withlo us, the importance of History is far beyond all mere amnsement or even information that we may p.382.-"To know Illstory is impossible; not even Mr. Frecman, not Professor Kanke himself, ean be $\boldsymbol{q}^{\cdot}$; to know History. . . . No one, therefore,

HISTORY

Hiofurical Romine and Romantic History

HISTORY.

shouid be discmaraged from studying History. It greatest service is not mo much to increase our knawiedge ns to stimulate thnught and broaden our luteliectual horizon, ani for this prrpose no study is its equal."-W. P. Atkinson, On History amt the Stuly of Hintory, n. 107.
The Writing of History, - Macaulay's view. -"A history in which every parteniar incident may be true may on the whole be fais: The circumstances whicis have most intluence on the happlacss of nankind, the changes of mannera and morais, the transiton of conmmanities from poverty to weniti, from knowiedge to ignomace, from ferocity to hmmanity - these are, for the most part, noiseliess revohitions. Tierir progness is rarely indituted by wiat inistorisns are piensedi to cali hmmetant events. They are not neheved hy armber, or enacted hy senates, They ure manctioned ly no treaties nad recorderi in as archives. Thuey are carried on in every selionot, in every charch, lechind ten timusami counters, at ten thonsuni frestides. The upper curas of society prespints no certain criterion lig which we can jnd ${ }^{\text {se }}$ of $t$ difection in which the under curreat thows. We read of defeats and victories. But we know that nations may be niserable amidst victories ami prowerous andeist defents. We read of the fati of wise minastens nnif of the rise of protligate favomites. ibut we must remember hore smaii a proportion the powi or evil effected by a singie statesman con bear to the geori or exil of it yrent sexini s.ystem. . . . The effect of histuricai reanimg is mantugous, in numy respects, to that prodace, hy foreigntraved. The stheient, iike the tomrist, is imaspirted into a new state of smeiety. He sees new fashlons. He hemes new monin's of expression. ifis minid is cuinarged by contempliting the wide diversities of haws, of morals, unfi of mamers. But men may travel far and return witio minds as contracted as if they had neverstirred from their own market town. In the same maner, men may know the ciates of many batties mad the gencalugies of many pryat honses, and yet be not wis.r. $\qquad$ Tine perfect histurian is he in whose work the clanacter mod spirit of an age is exhibitedi in miniature. lie relates no fact, he attributes no expression to hischaracters, which is not anthenticated hy snflecient testimemy. But, by judictous selection, rejection, and arrangenulit, be gives to truth those attructions which have heen usurped by fiction. Iu his narmative a dine subortimation is observed: some trausuctions are prominent; others retire. But the scale on which he represeats them is increased or diminished, not according to the digrnity of the persons concerned in tikem. lut according to the degree in which they cluciate the condition of socicty and the nature of nim. lie shows us the court, the caup, and the senite. But he shows us also the nation. ife considers no anevinte, no peculiarity of manner, no familiar saying, as tom insignificant for fis notice which is not tes) indigniflemat to ifinstrate tive uperation of laws, of rellgiom, und of eincation, and to mark the progress of the human mind. Mren wili not merely be theseribed, but wili be mate intimately hiown to ns "-i.ord Macanlay, Ifistory (Lixs elys, r. 1).
The Writing of History. - Trnthfuiness in Styie.-"That mam reanls inistory, or anyshing else, at great joril of being thormulty mislei. who has no perception of uny trnthfulness except that whick can be fully asecraincd by reference to facts; who does not in the least percelve tive truth, of the reverse, of a writer's style, of his epithets, of his reasoning, of his moile of narmtinn. in life our faith in any narration is much intluenced by the personai appearance, voice, and gesture of the person narmating. There in some part of nd there things in his writlog; and you mast look into that weil before you can know what falti to give him. One man may muke mistakcs in names, and dutes, and riferences, nnd yet have a reai suhstance of truthfuiaess in him, a wish to eniighten himwif and tien you. Another may not be wrong in his facts, hut have n declamatory, or mplihisticai, vein in him, mach to lxe ganried agalust. is third may be iotis inaccuate ani mimernthfui, caring not so much for any thing ne tw write his lwok. And if the ronder cares oniy to read it, sad work they mnke let ween them of the menow. ries of former days."-Sir A. Heips, Friende in Conncil, r. 1. pm. 190-20
Historical Romance and Romantic Hintory. - Sir Walter Scott.-"The jrendigions aidif. tion which the hatipy fien of the historical ronamee has made to the storles of elevated ditcrature, und tirmgin it to the happiness and improvement of the luman race, wili not be properiy nipreciated, mulesw the novels most in vogne before the immortui creations of Scott appeared are considereti. . . Why is it thot works so popuiar in their diay, nui alnuuding with so many thits of real geonius, shonid so sonn have paifed ufon tire worid? simply becanse they were not fommed upon a broad and gene.al view of human mature; becouse they were drawn. not from rean iffe in the innumerahic phases whicin it presents th the olserver, but innagimary iffe as it was concelved in the mind of the contposer; he. cause they were contined to one circie andi cinss of suciety, and having exhansteri ali the unturai dieas which it condif present, its authors wre driven, in the search of varietr, to the invenitinn of artificial and often ridienions ones. Sir Waiter scott, ns nif the worici knows, was the inventor of tice historical romance. As if to demonstrate how iil founded was the opinion, that all things were worhed out, and that originaity min bunger was accesstbie for the rest of time, Prowt. dence, by the means of that great mindi, bestowed a new nrt, as it were, upon mankiad-at the very time when literature to ali appearance was effete, and invention, for nlove a ceatary, had run in the cramped and wora-ont chancis of imitation. Giblon was lamenting that the sub. jects of history were exhansted, and that moxiern story wonid niver present the moving iscidents of ancient stors, in the verge of tie French Revolution mal the Earopean war - of tie Reign of Terror and the Hoscow retrent. Such was the reply of Time to the complaint that political iacident was worn ont. Nut iess de. cisive was the answer winch the genius of the Scottish hard atforided to the opinion, that the treasures of originai thought were exhausted. and that nothing now remained for the sons of men. in the midist of that defnsion he wrote 'Wavericy'; ami the eifeet was like the sun bursting through tiue clonals. "- /istorical ho.
 "Thuse stichlers for truth, who reproach seott with having faislfed history berane he wiffuly confused dates, forget the fur greater truth which that wonderfai writer generalify presented. If, for his purposes, ho disarranged the onder of events alltle; no grave historian ever muceeeded better In palnting the charaeter of the epoch. He committed errors of detall enough to make Mrs. Markham shudder. IIe dlvined Important historicul truth which lial escaped the sagaclty of all hlotorians. A great authority, Angustln Thlerry, has pronouneed Scott the greatest of ull hlstorimi divinators. "-G. II. Lewes, Mintorimb Iomaluce ( I'ratminater Bec., Mar., 1846). -"The nowel of Ivanhoe places us four generatlons uftrr the Invaslon of the Normans, In the relgn of lifehard, in of IIenry l'lantagenet, slath king since the conqueror. It thls periokl, at wheh the historian llume ran only represent to us n king nad England, whout telling us what a king 1s, nor what he means by Eingland. Walter frott, enterlug profoundly lnto the exanhantion of events, shows us classes of men, Histhact in. trerests and conditous, two nutlous, a donble huguage, cinstoms which repel and combat eneh other; on one sitle tyrangy and Insolence, on the other misery and hatred, renl developments of the draniu of the eonquest, of which the battle of Hastings had been only the prologne.

HISTORY.

lu the mhlat of the world which no longer exlsts, Walter Noutt always phaces the workl wheld does and ulwiys will exist, that is to say, human naltule, of whinh he knows all the aecrets. Every thing pecullar to the thme arall place, the extoriar of minn, the aspect of tho conntry and of the buhititions, eostumes, and manuers, are do. sribud with the most minute truthfulness: aml yet the honmense eruditlon whleh has furnished sis muny detalls fs nawhere ta le perceived. Walter sent scems to have for the past that second sifh., which In times of laturance, cer. fain men attributed to themselves for the future. To sidy that there Is more real history in his norels an Scothal nad England than lin the phllosophically false compllations which atill pusers that great name, Is not alluneling any thing strange In the eres of those who have remb amp understond 'Old Mortulity.' Waverley;' - Rob Roy,' the 'Fortunes of Nigel,' aud the 'Heart of Mhd-Lothlan.' "-A. 'Thlerry, Narratire of the Mcroringian Era. Ifisforical Exarys. cte., cualy 9,-"We have all hearll how the ro. mances of Walter seott brought history home to people who wonlil never have lonked into the ponilerous volumes of professed nistoriuns, and many of ins confess to ourselves that there are larie hlatorical periods whleh would he ntterly unknow to us but for some story either of the great romanere or oue of his innumerahle lanitators, Writers, as well as realers, of history were awakewed hy Scott to what scemed to them the new discovery that the great personnges of history were after all men and women of tiesh and blool like ourselves. Hence in all later hils. torlcal literature there ls visthe the effort tomake history more personal, more dramatie thun lt had leen before. We ean hardly read the Interesting Llfe of lord Macaulay wlitiout perceiviug that the most popalar historical work of modern tiars owes lis origh in a great measure to the Warerley Novels. Daenulay grew up in a world of norels; hls conversation with hils slsters was so steeped in reminlscences of the novels they had rem together as to be unintelligible to those who wanted the clue. Ilis youth aud carly manhoond whenessed the appearance of the Waverley Fovels themselves. . . He became naturally possessed by the Ides whleh Is espressed over and over agaln in hls emayn, and whleh at last he reallzed Whth such wonderful success, the Idea thmt it wns quite josstblo to make history ns Interesting as riminuce. . . . Mreaulay is anly the most fanions of a large group of writors who have heen pos. sesgerl whth the same ldea. An Scott founded the hlstorieal romance, he may lee alil to have founded the roniantle history, And ti this day It ls an established popular opinlon thut thls is the true way of writhg hlatory, only that few writers have gonins cuengh forlt.
. It must be urged agninst thls kind of hlstory that very few subjects or perionds are wortly of lt . Oni'f or twlee there have nppared glorlous characters whose profection no eloquance ean cangarate: onee or twice natlonal events have arranged themselves like a dramin, or risen to the elevation of an 'plle porim. Int the averinge of hlstary Is not like this: It Is laterd numeh more ardinary aud monotonotis than ly commonly supposed, The serhaus stuthent of history lims to submilt to a dlsenchmotment Hke that w!ifel the esperlence af life brlugs to the lmagnatlve youth. As life is tuit unsilh like ronianore, wo history when It is studled hit orighnal doctumonts looks very unllke the convent lonal represintathon of It whileh hls. torlaus luve aceustomed as to. "-J. I?. Seceley, Jintury ami Julifien (.Macmillan's Magazine, Aug., 1870 ).

How to study History,-"The olsject ol the historicul student is to liring before hils nim:? $n$ pleture of the maln everuts and the spirit of the times whleh he stullics. The tirst step is to get " kenemal vew from a hrlef book; the second step is to cularge It from more elahorate broks, roading more thin ome, and to use some system of written notes keeping them eomplete. The next step ls to real mome of the contemporary writers, Ilaving done these three things care. fully, the histuriad student carries away an lmpression of his perlod whleh will wever he effuced."-Prof. A. 13. Ilurt, Hovo to Study Ilis. tory (Chumtauquin, Uct., 1893,
The Importance of a knowledge of Unlversal History, -" When I wus a schoolmaster, I never consiliered n pupll thorouglily elucated unless he lud roinl Gibion through before he left me. I read it through niyself before I was eighteen, and I have derived unspeakable ulvantage from ilils exprience. Gihlon's fanlts of style and matter have vary slight effect on the gonthful minl, whereas his merits, hls scholarship, hls leuruing, his brealth of vlew, hla inagination, ond his lusight, afforil a powerful stimulus to sudy. . . I. ., wish to urge the claims of two subjeets on your nttention which have hitherto leen unaceountalaly noglected. The first of them is universil history, the general course of the history of the world. It seems natural to think that no subject eonld be more Important for the consllerathon of uny human leing than the knowledge of the main lines Whach the race has followed slnce the dawn of blstory $\ln$ renching the postion which it his now attained. The best way of understanding any situation is to know how affairs cane lnto that position. Ilesides the satisfaction of leqitl. mate curiosity. It ls only thas that we c:an be wise reforamers, and distingulsh between whit is a mere survisal of the past aml an institutiou whleh is Inherent in the chameter of the communlty. Our German cousins are fully awure of this truth: A Oerman parlour, however meagrely furalahed, alway contains two books, a Blble and a Weltgeschlchte. I suppose that during the present century from a huadred to a hundred and afty of thene univerai hlatortes have made thelr appearance In Germany. In England I only know of two. In Germany. Italy, and Austrin, and, I beileve, In France, unl veranl hhatory forms an emential part of education for nearly ali claseses. It li taken as a subject under certaln condithous In the Abiturien-ten-Examen. I once had the privllege of read ing the notes of a vira roce examination of a atulent In thls mibject who did not pasa. It covered the whole range of anctent, mediveral, and modern history. I was astonished at what the atudent dlid know, and stlll more at what he was expected to know. I should like to see the subject an essentlal part of all secondary education in England, just as the knowledge of Blhle hletory was $\ln$ my young daye and may be still. If proper text-books were forthcoming, to whlch 1 agaln direct the attentlon of enterprialing puhllahers, there would be no ditticulty in mak. ing this subject an accompanlment of nearly every literary letson. . . . Tho advantage woulli be the enlargement of the mind by tho contemplation of the majestle march of human events and the preparation for any future course of his. torical stuidy. 'Boys come to us,' said a German professor once to me, 'knowlng thelr centurles.' 1 low few Engllsh boys or even Engllsh men havo any notion of their centuries 1 The dark ages are indeed dark to them. I once asked a boy at Eton, who had given me a date, whether It was B. C. or A. D. Delng hopelessly puzzled, he replled that it was B. D. Mauy of ins, if we were honest, would give a similar answer "-0. Browning, The Teaching of Hint. in N-hirida (lingal Hist, Ǎic., Tranactiona, neto series, c. 4 ).

HISTORY.

The importance of Local Hlatory.-" From a varlety of consideratlons, the writer is persuadel that one of the best introluctions to hlstory that can be given in American high schools, and even in those of lower gride, is through a study of tho communlty ln which the scanol la placed. Illstory, llke charity, begins at home. The best American citizens are those who mind home affalrs and local interests. 'That man's the best cosmopollte who loves hls native country best.' The best sturlents of unive rasal history are those who know some one comarry or some one subject well. The faunlly, the hamlet, the neighhorhool, the communlty, the parish, the village, town, city, county, nall state are bistorically the ways by which men hare approached national and international life. It was a pre llminary stuly of the geography of Frankfort-on-the-Main that led Carl Ritter to study the physical structure of Europe and Asla, and thus to establish the new selence of comparative ge. ograplyy. He says: 'Whoever has wandered through the valleys and woonls, and over the hills and monntains of his own state, will te the one capshle of following a lierodotus in hls wanderings over the gloke.' And we may say, as Ritter sald of the science of geography, the first step in history is to know thoroughly the distriet where we llve. American local hlstory should be sturlied is a contribution to national history. Thls comotry will yet be viewed and reviewed as an organlsm of historic growth, developlag from minute germa, from the rery pro toplanm of state iffe. And come day thls coula. try will be atudied in its international reintlons, as an organle part of a larger organiom now vaguely called the World Btate, but at surely developlng ; rough the operation of economie, legal, social, and mientlac forcen as the American Unlon, the German and Bittioh Emplren are evolving Into higher forms. American blatory in it widest relations in not to be weltten by any one man not by any one generatho of men. Our hiptory wlil grow whth the nation and with Ite developing consciounness of Internatlonallty. The prevent posellilltien for the real pirigress of hlatoric and economic aclence llo, froc and iore. most, in the development of a generaton of economlats and practical hitorlans, who reallze that hiatory is paat polltics and polltics present history; secondly, In the expanalon of the focal conaclouspess into a fuller sense of ite historic worth and dlgnity, of the cosmopolitan relations of mmatern local life, and of its wholemome conecrvative power ln these days of growlig centrallzatlon. Natlonal and international ilfe can best develop upon the conatlitutional bands of local elf-government in church and atate.
If young Àmericans are to appreciate thelr reIlgious and political inhertance, they muat fearn its intringle worth. They must be taught to appreclate the common and lowly things around them. They should grow up whth as profound respect for town and parlsh meetings as for the State leglalature, not to speak of the filouses of Cougress. They should recogulze the majesty of the law, even In the parish constable as well as the high sherif of the country. They should took on selectmen as the head men of the town, the aurvivai of the old Engllah reeve and four best men of tho parish. They should be taught to see in the town common or vlllage green a eurvival of that primitive institutlon of landcommunlty upon whlch town snd state are hasel. They should be taught tho meaning of town and family names; how tho word 'hown' meane, primarily, a pla: - heiged in for the purposes of defence; how the pleket-fences around home and house-lot are hut a survival of the primitive town idea; how home, hamlet, and town ilse on together $\ln$ a name like Hampton, or Home-town. They should investigate the most ordinary thing for these are often the most archalc. would certalnly be an excellent thlng for the de. relopment of historical science $\ln$ America if teachers in our publle schools would cultivate the hlstorical spirit $\ln$ thelr pupils whth speclal reference to the local environmeut. . . . A multitude of historical assoclations gather around every old town and Lamlet in the land. There are local legends and traditions, bouschold tales, stories told by grandfathers and grandmothers. incldents remembered hy 'the ollest inhabltants." But above ali in importance are the old documents and manuscript records of the first settlers, the early ploneers, the founders of our towns. Here are sources of information more authentic than tradition, and yet ofteu entirely neglected.

In orler to atuily hlstory it is not necessary to begin with dead men's bones, with Theban dynastles, the klngs of Assyria, the royal fanillee of Europe, or even with the prealdents of the Unlted states. These subjects have their 1 mpor tance in certaln connectlons, hut for beginners in history there are perhaps other subjects of greater interont and vilality. The moat natural entrance wa knowied ge of the history of the world is from a local environment through wideaing clrcies of interent, untili, from the ristag eround of the preseat, the broed horizon of the past comes clearly into riew. . A study of the community In whlch the atudent dwells will serve to connect that community not only with HITCHITIS, The Bee AMERICAN AsoMonke: Munghooran Famils.

日IETORY.

HITTIN, Battie of (ste7). see Jenceahem: A. D. 1148-1187.

HITTITES, The.-The Hittites mentioned In the Bible were Known as the Khits or Khatta to the Egyptians, with whom ther were often at war. Recent discoverles indicate that they formed a more civilized and powerful nation and played a more important part in the early history of Weatern Aaia than was previously aupposed. Many inscriptions and rock sculpturee in Asia Minor and Syria which were formerly inexplicable are now attributed to the Hittites. The Inscriptions have not yet been deciphered, but scholars are confident that the key to their secret will be feund. The two hise: cities of the Hittites were Karlesh on the Orontes and Carcheminh on the Euphrates; so that their seat of empire was in nerthern Syria, but their power was felt from the extremity of Asia Minor to the confines of Egypt. It is conjectured that these peopie wereortginally from the Caucasus. "Their descendants," says Prof. Sayce, "are stili to be met with in the de. Ales ef the Thurus and on the plateau of Kappadokis, though they fare utterly forgotten the language or languages their forefatiers spoke. What that langunge was is atill uncertaln, thongh the Ilittle propur names which occur on the monumeuts of Egypt and Assyria show that it wus neither Semlitc nor Iudo. Eumpean."-A. II. Sayce, Freah Light from the Ancient Monumenta, ch. 5. -" We may . rest satistled with the concluslen tinat the existence of a Ilittite empire esteuding into Asia Minor is certitied, not only by the reconls of nnclent Egypt, but also by Ifltite monuments whleh still exist. In the days ef flamses II., when the children of Israel were groanling under the tasks allotted to them, the ent mies of thelr oppressons were already exercls. lngs jower und a domination which rivalled that of Egypt. The Egyptian menarch soon iearneit to his cost that the Ifltite prince was as 'grent' a king as fimself, nod conld summon to bils ald the inhablauts ef the unknown vorth. Piaranh's chain te soverelgnty was dignuted by adversaries as pewerful as the ruler of Egypt, If indeed not nore powerful, and there was always a refuge among then for those who were oppressed by the Esyptian king. When, howevar, we spea of a ilitite empire, we must understand clearly i. at that uleans. It was not nu empire like that of lione, where the subject pros ices were consolldated together under a central a,sthority, oheying the same laws and the same supreme head. It Was not an empire like that of the Persians, or of the Assyrinu successors of Tlghth -plleser III., which represerted the organised unson of numerous states and nathons under a single ruler. Bu-fure the days of Tigiath-piloser, In fact, empire in Western Asla meant the power of a prince to f:tre at furcign peeple to submit to his rule. The conquered provinces had to be subdued again and again; but as long as thls could be the orlgln and growth of the State and Nation, but with the mother-country, with the German fathorland, wlth viliage commanitles throughout the Aryan worid, - fr ' in Germany and Rusais to old Greece and Rome $f$ rom these clacelc lands to Persis and Inilis."-11 B. Adams, Metinde of Ifio-Seconel Series, 1-2), mp. 16-91.

HOCHETADT.
done, as long ns the native struggle for freedom could be crialied hy a campaign, to long did the empire exint. It was an empire of this eort that the Hittites established in Asis Minor. How long It lasted we cannot may. But so long an the dis. tant races of the Went answered the summons to War of the liftite princes, it remained a reality. The fact that the tribee of the Troad and Lydls are found Ighting under the command of the $^{\text {IIf }}$ Ilittite kings of Kadesh, proves that they acknowledfed the supremacy of their Hittite loris, and followed them to lattle like the vasanls of some feudal chlef. If Ilittite armies had pot marched to the shores of the figuan, abd IIttite princes been able from time to thine to exact :iomage from the nations of the fru went, Egypt would not have lind to conteud sigalnst the populations of Asla Minor in its wars with the IIftites, and the figures of Hittite warriors would not linve been sculptured on the rocks of Karabel. There wese thme when the IIIttite name was feared as far as the western extrenulty of Asia Blinor, and when Hittite satraps had their seat in the future cap. Ital of Lydia. Traditions of this perfod llagered on into classical daya." - A. II. Bayce, The llitfifes, ch. 4.
Atso in: W. Wright, The Empire of the Ififfifen, - See, also, Avonites; and Italy, Ancient: Eanly Italians.

HIVITES, The. Sere Amalekites.
HLEFDIGE. Ner Lany.
HLAFORD. Sect Lonl.
HOANG-HO. Basin of the. See Ciriva.
HOARD.-HORDERE. Rer NTALEER
HOBART COLLEGE. See FDUCATION, MONEIS: A MF:nICA A. II. 1700-1 2N4.

HOBKIRK'S HILL, Battle of (1781). See United States of Am.: A. J. 1780-1781.

HOCHE, Campaigns of. See Firance: A. D. 1793 (JCtir-l IECEMDER), Prooness OF the WAR; 1794-1746: 1700-1707 (OCTOBER-APRIL).
HOCHELAGA.-The name of an Indian village found by Carter on the site of the present clty of Montreal. An extensive region of surrounding country sectis to have likewise borue the name Iluchelaga, hud Cirticre calls the river St. Lawreuce " the river of lifuchelaga." or "the grent river of Canala." See Anebica: A. D. $1534-1535$, and Canion: Names.

HOCHHEIM, The storming of. See GerMaNY: A. D. 1 SI' (Octumell-DEcemper).

HOCHKIRCH, Battie of. See Germany: A. D. 1758.

HOCHST, Battle of (1622). See GErmany: A. I). $16 \div 1-16 \geqslant 3$.

HOCHSTADT, Battie of (1704).-The great battle whicl, English hlstorians natue from the village of Blenhelm, is named liy the French irom the nelehboring town of IIochstadt. See Genmany: A. il 1 iva.

Battle of (1800). See France: A D. 1800 1801 (May-Febhearis).

hODEIBIA

foly alliance

HODEIBIA, Truce of See Mamonetas Congrent: A. D. out-erts.

HOPER, Abdrew. Hee Geryant: A. D. 19m-1NiO (Aphir-Finheant)

HOHENFRIEDBERG, Battle of (1745) Sem Auwthia: A. 1). 17.4-174.5. HOHENLINDEN, Battle of (8200). Nee Fhacte: A. I). innh inh (Mar-Finnyaht). HOHENSTAURENORSUABIAN FAMILY, The. Se Grimanr: A. D. $113 \mathrm{~m}-120 \mathrm{t}_{\mathrm{t}}$
 HOHENZOLLERN: Rise of the House of. - "Ilohenzollem Hing far mouth in Niliwaben (Simbla), on the sunwuri nope of the flallire dip Cinirity ; no gre t way norti from convance and Its lake; but. - Cll ahift, urar the springe of the Damber: lis" k leanlaz on the llack Forest ; it is priflapm dennable ns the suithern summit of thait sume huge oll Ilerryulan Wool, which is stlid called ihe Ne! iwarawull (Binck Foreat). though low compuratluely inare of trees. Finn. elful Dryashot, dione a Hitle etymoiogy, will tell you the nimbe, Zollorn' Is equivaient for foll: ery or I'lace of Tolls. Wheredie '11-4 "mathern' crimes to mean the "Illgh' or Cpp. 'Tollery': - unin glver one the notlon of antlopere pallary cicubling paluftrify, out of Itaiy ant the swles valliye thue fur; mintripplug their purkionese here and chatioring In minuown dhilect alout 'toll.' "一T. Curlyle, Fheri, rick the "Irrut, the. 2, ch. i- - The ththe, Comit of Zollern, we3 confernal by Ilenry IV. h. , he eleventh erntury.

In irmen Ileury Vl. appointed the Count of Zoiliern to the limperiai ofilce of Burgrave of Nu: pemherg. . . . Iths desecmitants . . acquired extensive estatea In Francoula, Moravia, and Burgumiy. . . . Frealeriek VI. was enriched by sigivinutid. . . . and was made his ile puty In Bradombing in 141, The narches wore In utter confusion. . . . Frederick redureal them to oriler. ant. . . . in 1417, reedreal from sights minid tic margraviate of Bramlenbirg with the dignty of Firetor."-C. T. Lewls, Jixf. of Cicm miny; ik. :1, eh. 12. Ree Brandenblim: A. D. 1168-111\%.

HOHENZOLLERN INCIDENT, The. Smpande: A. D. 1 mit idrexe-Jemi.
F.OLIDAYS - In the L'nited Siatea there are no mitlonal holidays made so by (congreswional enaremont ('hristras Day, Indepmentene Day. mel Thank ariving Day are If thays throughout ther rountry: New Y'ear's by, Washlugtom's Birthlay (fid 22), and Lator Day (llo tirat Mombay in sirptembert, as weil as the gencral ellof fini lay (the Tueshay nfter the first Mombay In forember. have berome legal holidays in muse of the Ntates; Deroration or Memorial Day ( M .ay 30) is oilserved in all the northern States, mail Lincoln's birthday (Fei). 12) In meveral : tmit the iegai character of these anniversaries depronda on stitce Iggisation.

HOLLAND: The country and Its Name. Are Nithemianio.

Commerce. Rer: Tinabe, Mridifival., and Modrins
A. D. 1430.-Absorbed in the dominions of the House of Burgundy. See Netimmianis: A. D. is: $7-1431$.
A. D. 1477. - The ' Great Pivilege." See Netmerlands: A. D. 1477.
A. D. 1488-1491.-The Bread and Cheese War. See Netierlavds: A. D. $148^{2}-1483$.
A. D. $\mathbf{8} 494$ - The Great Privilege dieputed by Philip the Hasdeome.- Priesiand detachol. the Nethemlaxdm: A. D. [194-1519.
A. D. ${ }^{8506-1609 . ~-~ T h e ~ A u e t r o-S p a a t i c h ~ t y r-~}$ anny. - Revolt and independeace or the Ualted Provinces. Nev Nethimlande: A. D. 1401 1510, to 1504-10019.
A. D. $\mathbf{8 6 5}$-8660.-Supremacy In the Republic of the Unlted Provinces. Nee NkTilil Lasim: A. D. 10:31-1010.
A. D. $8665-1$ 747.-Wars with England end France. He Neturalasiw: A. D) (Biol limi.
A. D. 1746.-The restored Stadtholdershlp. The Nithentandm: A. I. 174C-17y?.
A. D. 1793-1830. - French lavaslon and conguest. - The Batavian Republlc. - The kIngdom of Louls Bonaparte. - Annexation to France. She F'uncr: : A. 1). 1703(Fruncany-kill. : Nns: A. D. I80th 181 C .
A. D. 1813-1814.-Independence regaimedBeiglum annexed. - The kingdom of the Netherlands. Sie Nethemanim: A. I). 1N18: Fhanre: A. I). 1814 (Aphli-Jixis); and Visx. na, Tue cuncinemar.
A. D. 1830-1832.-Separatlon of Eelglom,

Colonial Possessions in the East. Ser ML. lay Amilliphago.
holland purchase, The. See Ner Ynik: 1. 1). 175R-1749.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Confederate capture. See Uniten Atates of An.: A. D. 1812 (I)ecen ber: (ON TIE MInsimalpri).
HOLOCAUST.-"The raeriflee of a whoth burnt-ulf ring, whire notiling was kept back for the enjoymeut of men," was called a holocaln: hy the unclent Greeks-G. F Schotnann, Antia if Cirecte: The Nethte, p. 00.

HOLSTEIN: A. D. 1848-8866.-The Schles-wig-Holsteln question. Hire Ncanpinavins Stites (Denmank): A. D. 1848-1859; and Gen. mavy: A. D. 1801-1806.
A. C. 1866.-Annexation to Prussla. Sue Gemmany: A. D. 1836

HOLY ALLIANCE, The.-" The document ealled the Ihwy Allianee whe originally sketchod at Paris [during the oceupation of the Frrach eapital lyy the Aliles, nfter fraterion, in 181.5 . In the Frencll langunge, hy [the Czar] Alcxandir's own hand, nfter a long and anlmatcil consuresthn with Madame de Krudener and Jergasee. It was suggested, perhaps. hy words spoken th the sing of I'rusela after the battle of Bantzm. bint was chictly the result of the influcace, upon a mind always Incilnetl to rellgious idcas, of the emenersuthon of Malame de Krudener and of the philosopher Iader. the admirer of Tauler. Jaceb Buehm, and St. Martin, the dendly foe of Kant and his successors in Germany. . . . The Cear dreami of fornding a Communion of stateq, bound together by the first prineiples of cluri4tianity. ... The king of Prussla slgned the paprer from motives of friendship for the Czar. without nttaching much importance to what he dill. . . The empernr of Austria, the least sintimental of mankind, at first declloed to sizn. "frocimse," he sain, "if the secret is a political onr. í must tell it to Metternieh; If it is a religious one, I must tell it to my confessor.' Metternich mernolingly was tolit, amI ohserved acornfully, 'Ceat dit verlinge.' Indeed no one of the priaces who allhered to the Illoly Allanee, wath the alagle exception of Alexnmeler hlmalf, ever turbit it merlounly. It wan hemmey! from ite birth. As M. de Ikerahardl olserven: 'It mank withonit learligg a trace in the stream of evente, never berame a rality; and uever had the sllglitest real importance, What hat real tmportance was tive contln , ace of the gocel undemtumillag hetkren the jowers who had pit hlown Niapor leon, and thelr common fenr of France. Thla gocul naderatanding anil thint common fear leel to the treaty of the 30th November 1815, by which It was milpulated that the I'owera should, from time to thes, holld Congresses with a rlew fir reg. niatiug the welfare of mations and the peace of fiaroper It was three congresses, nath not the Iloly Allaner, which kept up clome rehithons between the rulerm of Ihanda, Prossia, und Aluxtran, and emblid them, when the llberal nove. ment on the Conthent, wheld followed the con clushon of the war, began to lee ularming, to take nuensitres fir a comblael symtem of repression." -II. F. (G. [hulf, shulia in Finmpenn maitica, ch. 2. - The text of the Treaty ln us follows: In the nume of the Mont Incly and Indlulallice Traits: Ifuly Allance of soverelgus of Aumeria, I'riosia, amil lumsla. Thelr Majestles the Eimperur if Anstrla, the King of I'russla, noul the timpror of limesin, havligg, iu consequence of tixe steat erents which lave marked the comrse "f the thrue last yevirs in Eurepe, and experdally if the birsolnges which it his plensed Drine Providince to shower down upon thane States whith piare thele conthlence und thele hape on it and:e uriulrel the Intlmate convlethon of the che - i 9 of sitilligg the ster to be olswerveif by the lonera, in thelr rectprocal reinitums, lle in the at lime s: wheld the In liy It llgion of nur stivener teaches; They solemnfy heclare that tif esent Al thas uo other object tiann to path).

HOLY ALLIANCE.

12 the face of the whole world, thelr fixel? ris. finn, luth in the admilnistration of their rect cive states, und in thele politend relations witi every other Government, to take for thelr sind ghide the precepts of that Inly Kellglon, namuly the precepts of Juntice, Chrishlan Claur. Ity: :aid l'caer, whels, far from belug npplicable oily to private courerns, must lave ma lmundl. ate Inlucare on the comaclls of Prinees, and guide ail their steph, us lethg the oniy menns of consedilathg loman ins titutions mul remedylng their Imperfectlons. In conseduence, their Mnj. esties have ngreed on the following Artleles:Art 1. Conformably to the words of the IEDY sripitures, whlels commanil all men to conslder each other is brethren, the Three contractlog Mumarcis will remaln nolted bre the dimuls of a true and ludissoluble fraternity, ind considering cach other as fellow countryinen, they will, on ail occaslons and in all phies, lend each other nill and asslstmere; and, regnrling tuemselves to. wariv thelr snbects and armles as fathers of fanifies, they will lead then, In the same splrit of fraternity with wheh they are anlmited, to protect lieligion, Prace, and Justlee, art 11 . a consequence, the sule princlple of fores. Whether between the sald Governments or hetween their Subjects, stall te thint of doing ench other reclprocal service, and of testify: lng by unalterable goor will the mutual affer. tion with whleh they ought to be sulinated. to

HOLY ALLIANCE,

conahler themarlven all as members of one and the same Clirintan natlon; the three allied Irince: lioking on themelves an merely dele. gated ly I'reivifenw wo govern threr hranthey of the Gue funtly, namely, Austria. Irumala, nul Itameln, thas confexalne that the Cliristlan wroril. of which they and thele [wople form a part, ham In really no uther soverelgn thon II im to whom alone pewer really belongs, Ixcranse in IItin alone are fomil all the treusires of lowe selence, uml intialte wishom, that lis to suly, finl, our Divine surlour, the Wiort of the Moss IMgh, the Word of Life. Thelr Majeatles censequently recoms-timpe, as the mile means of enjoying that I'ence Whirh nrivew from th gonk consefence, and whels alobe fa larable, to xervingthen thembelves every day mone atil more in the prinelples and exer. clee of the duthes which bue Ibslace savlour haw tmught to manhini. Art. II!. All the bowirs who sharll chome sumembly to avow the sacted ani whall acknowlolse law lompormat it ls : or the hap piness of nuthons, tow iomg nglemted, that :here trithas shonial in necefurthe cerecise over the dewtinlex of mankin! ail the luthence whlels le. longa tw them, wiil be repelven! with equal ardons anit ifferion Into thls Iloly Alluace. Done in trlplicate. nul angmel at Puris, the gear of Grace 1*15. \$hth s.ppomber." "It ls stated in Bhar tens Treathes shat the sreater part of the charisthan Powers neredell to thils Trenty. France ncereded to it $\ln$ 1sis; the Xetheriands nmi Wiur mbld the Il:anal Truna in 14/t: But helther the Pepe mor the sultan were lavited to accele ."- 19.31:-314t - "The Treaty it the Iloly Allince has not gracel with the natme of the I'rhate n letper deeduring that his princlples hat the pers. sumb npproval if thls kreat mothority on rellghon num moraity: The kinge of Nuples ond Enr - limba were the next to sumacribe, and in due time the names of the wlty glutton, lomens Nilll. athl of the ahjert Ferolhand of Smiat were addel."-C: A. Fylfe, Hixi. of Mentera Wind, smilind int tifis manifestu ns ' uothing more than" phallanthrnpic nispiration clothed in a re.
 Would misinterpret and that the jokers would ridleule lt , but none hurw better than ine the Himsiness of diphomatic agrernemts, nad aecorthayiy he consented to It. Christianity has hat many crlmes commlted in lis natme ; the Holy Alilance made christimity the elomk under Which the khags of Europe consilirel to perpeta. ute she hrlotage of their subjects. Metternich found le aif the cmsier fo lifect kings whose : om. mon laterest lt was to uplacil the paternal aystem therein approved. He exerted has intiuence over each of them spmately; if the monarch were otrlurate, he whecdled his minlster: If the minlater were wary, he prejudliced the monarch agnlast him. Sow ly thattry, and now by speclous argument, be vion his advantuge.
Like o trickster at cards, he markel every caril In the pack mud could ulways play the ace.
Ife told the tuts whea he knew ft woth mot be treileved; he prevaricated when he latended his fulsehood should pass for truth. Tu.- was dipio-

IIOLY ALLIANCE

HOLY BROTHERHOOD.

one hundred and fifty mlllions of Europeans were governed. In a soclety where every one lles, falsehoods of equal cunning nuilliy each other. Metternch took care that his should ex. cel ln verislmillitude and in subtlety. It was an open battle of eraft ; but his craft was as supe. rlor to that of his compettors as a slow, undeteetable polson is more ofteu fatal than the hasty stab of a bravo. lle tished both with hooks and nets; if one broke, the other hete.

IIe was, we nay athirm, siucerely insineere; strongly attached to the Ilapsburg dynasty, and patriotic In so far as the aggraudizetered of that llouse corresponded with the interests of the Austrian State. But the central thaure $\ln$ his perspective was always himself, whom he regurded us the eavlor of a sochal ortier whose preservation held hack the world from elanos. ; . Ile spoke of his missiou as an 'ajostolate.' . . To resist all chauge, - that was his polley; to keep the surface stuonth - that was hls peace. . . . Ile lik. ened hinuself to a spider, spinning a vast web.
I begln to know the world weli,' he said, 'und I believe that the thies are eaten by the sphulers only lecause they the naturally so yonug that they have no time to gain experictice, aut to not know what lo the nature of a spliler's web,." Llow miny thes he canght during his forty years' spluniug! but his success, he almitted, was due quite as mach to their blindness as to luls eunniug. . . . lle scemed to dehight in roval coufereuces In order that he might have the ixeitement of manipulating Alexander and Frederick Wiil. limm; for lis own Emperor, Fruncts, was as phahle as puty in his hatuls. Such was Metter. nidh, the most worlht, the must dexteroms, the most furt mate of politicians,' the emborliment of this: Ohl legelme strangely interpolated the the minetenth crutury. Knowing him, we shall hon w the nature of the resistance which checked evory piatriotic lmpulse, every effort towards propresiultaly, hetwern 1815 and 1848. Few hames huse been luted as his was hated, or feared as his was feared. The Italians piechred to themselves a mons'er, u worse than llerod, who ghonted over human suffering, and spent his tilne in inventing new tortures for his vie. tims. ile regarded them, and all literals, as matum comenes to the order in whel he thour. isheet: and he hal no more mery for them than the frumish lapuisiturs luml for hereties."W. RS. Tl yer, The Mhirn of Italiun Ihtegendetire. th: 2 , ch. 1 (re. 1).

HOLY BROTHERHOOD, OR HERMANDAD, The. 13 fure the close of the 13 Hi ambry. there first arome in Spain "an unomators instimitu peculiar to Castile, whelo smelt to

 1 refer to the cedebrated llermandal, or lhoty lioutherlund, as the association was sumblimes haty tietims of he siare, thongh conveling there men very idfeghate how of the extramainary larly orgatiacel polise it then consinted of a conattairs we re cumbeted by deputies, whotasam bititat statert hituratis for this purpose trans actiue their busimesonader a common sai, enactling laws whlch they were careful to transmit to the nobles and even the soverelgn hlmself, and enforcing their measures by an armed force. One lundred eltles associated ln the Hermandal of 1315 . In that of 1295, were thirty-four. The knights and luferior nohility frequently made part of the assoclation.

In one of [the artictes of confederation] it is decisred that it any nolle shall deprive a member of the assoclation of his property, and refuse restltutlon, hls house shali be razed to the ground. In another, that 'f any one, hy command of the king shall attempt to coliect an unlawful tax, he shall be put to death on the spot." Under the goverament of Ferill. nind and Isalella, among the measures adopted for ehecking the lleense and disorder which had become prcvalent in Castlle, and restoring a more effective adminlstratlon of justice, was oae for a reorganizatlon of the Santa Hermandal.
"The project for the reorganization of this ln . stlution was introduced Into the cortes hell, the year after Isabella's accession, at Madrigal, 1476.

The uew Institutlon differed essentially from the anclent hermandades, since, lnstead of leling liartial in lts extent, it was designed to emliriee the whole kingdom; and, Instead of beiag directed, as had often been the case, against the crown ltself, it was set $\ln$ motion at the suggestiou of the latter, und limited lu its operation to the mainteuance of public order. The crines reserved for lts jurislietion were all violence or theft eommitted on the highways or In the open eountry, und in ehties by such offenders as escaped into the country; house-breaking; rape; anl resintinee of justice.

Au anuual contribution of $1 $, 000$ maravedis was assessed on every 160 vecinos or houseluhlers, for the equlpment and maintenance of a dorseuan, whose duty it was to arrest offenders nad enfore the sentence of the liws. On the flight of 1 criminal, the torsins of the villages through which he was suppurad to have passed were sounded, and the yniadril leros or othicers of the brotherloont, stationel un the different points, twok up the pursuit with such prompthess as left little clatuce of es. cape. A court of two alcaldes was establishod in every town containlng thitry famities, for the triat of all erimes within the jurlstiction of the bermandat; nol an appeal lay from then ia spretied enses to a supreme conacil. A generni junta, eouposed of deputhes from the cities Hironghout the kligelom was annually consurd for the regulation of affiais, and their instructions were trinsmitted to provinchal juntas, who shperintemed the execution of them. withetathing the popuher consthtulon of the har. manlal, infi the olwions adrantures atterning derided :th ipposition from the nobility, whan dis. ermen the check it was likely to impere +1 he ir mutherity, ' att it requised ath the querax andres

The impertant lemetits remilting from the in-tithtion of the le ratadial secured its contr mation hy shecesion cortes, for the periml of !? yatrs in spite of the reprated apmoition ot tixe ari-tor racy. It leneth, in 140s, the ablyen- for Which it was extablinhed having herompletry whilimel, it was derdmed adsivabe to reliew the bation from the heavy churges which hts mainte. name impused. The great salaried olltere wite reluined for the administation of justice, over

HOLY BROTHERHOOD.

HOMER AND THE HOMERIC POEMS.

whom the regular courts of criminai law possessed appellate jurisdictlon; and the magnlficent apporitus of the Santa IIcrmandad, stripped of all hut the terrors of its name, dwindled into an oriinary police, such as it has existed, with virious moditicatlons of form, down to the presint century. "- W. II, Prescutt, Hist, of the lieign of Ferdinand and Inalullur, introd., wect. 1, with finit-note, and pt. 1, ch. 6.
HOLY BROTHERHOOD IN MEXICO. Sי Mexico: A. D. 1535-1822.
HOLY GHOST, The military Order of the. Ner Fu, HOLY JUNTA, The. See Spais: A. D. 1.515-153.3.

HOL Y Leagues: Pope Juiius II. against Louis XII. of France. See Italy: A, D. $1510-$ 1513.

Pope Clement VII. against Charies V. See Iruiv: A. 1). 1523-1.527.
German Catholic princes against the Protestant League of Smalcald. See Gebmany: A. 1). $1.53 ; 1$ - 1.46 .

Spain, Venice and Pope Pins V. against the Tarks. Ne Truks: A. D. $156 \mathrm{~B}-15 \mathrm{~F} 1$.
Of the Catholic party in the Religious Wars of France. See Frasce: A. D. 15ibe-1585, to 1.59:3-1.58\%.

Pope Innocent XI., the Emperor, Venice, Poland and Rnssia against the Turks. See Tikhs: A. I). 1684-1694.

HOLY LION, Battie of the (8568). See NETHF,M,ANis: A. D. $1568-15 \%$.
HOLY OFFICE, The. See Inquisition: d. 1) $1203-1.205$.

HOLY ROMAN EMPIRE: Its origin. sue limin Empine, The Holy: A. D. 968. its extinction. See Germany; A. D. 180jNilli.

HOLY ROOD OF SCOILAND, Thel wertitied frigment of the true cross preserved in a shirine of goll or slluer gllt. It was brought rhyst. Margaret, and left as a sacred legaey to ha ridscendants and their kingdom. . . The mond hat leen the sunctlfylug relic ronnd whlch King Diavid I. ralsed the honsc of canons regular of the lloly Romd, devoted to the rnle of St. Augustin, it Elinhurgh. The kings of Scotland atheriarils found it so convenkent to fregnent thit religinus house that they built alongside of it a malal resldence or palace, well known to the Twrth' is Ilolyrowl IIonse."- J. II. Burton, Hist. of wothend, ch. 20 (r. 2) - The lloly Romd, or blayk lumal as it was sometimes ealled, was carrivt itway from Seotand, alone whth the "coron:atidu stone," hy Elward 1. of Engiand, after. warda got bark by treaty, mod then lost again at the Latter of Seville's Cross. from which it went as a truphy to Durham Abbey.
HOLY WAR, Mahometan. Sce DAr-cl. -111.

homage. Sce Ferdal. Tentres.

HOME RULE MOVEMENT, The Irish.

HOMER AND THE HOMERIC POEMS.

- When we nse the word Ilomer, we do not must a person historlcally known to us, fike Pope - Hitum. W: mefii fa the main the author, "iuns.r or whatever he was, of the wonderfui poems calied respectiveis, not by the author, but by the worid, the 'lliad, and the 'Odyseey.' Ils name is conventlonal, and its sense in ety. mology is not very different from that which would le eonveyed hy our phrase, ' the author.'

At the first dawn of the historic period, we find the poems estahlished in popular renown; and so jrominent that a selool of minstrels takes the uane of 'Ilomeridae' from making it thelr busimess to preserve and to recite them. Stili, the questhom whether the poems as we lave them can le tristed, whe ther they preseut substanthally the character of what may be termed original documeuts, is one of great bnt gradually dimmishing difleulty. It is nlso of importinece, lecanse of the mature of their contents. In the first place, they glve $n$ for greater amount of information than is to be fommi in any other literary proniuction of the sime composs. In the second phace, that hformation, npeaking of it generaliy, is to be hani nowhere else. In the third place, it Is information of the utmost haterest, and ceren of great moment. It introlnces to us, in the very beginnings of their experience, the most gifted people of the worli, ind enables ns to julge how they became such is iu later times we know them. . And thls pieture is exhlbited with such a fuhtess both of partlenlars and of vitai force, that perhaps, never in any country has an nge been so completely placed njen record.
of a Bard wrobnly to conerive of Homer as of a Bard who went from place to place to carn hls hread ly his professlon, to exercles his knowielge in his gift of somg, and to calirge it by an everactive observation of nature and experience of men. . It has. . been extensively be. licwed thut he was a Greck of Asia Minor. And as there were no Greeks of Asia Miuor at the time of the Trojan War, nor nntil a wide and searching revolution in the peninsula hall suhstitnted Do. rlan amamers for those of the earlier Achaian age, Wheh lomer smig, this belief involves the further propmition that the poet was severed by a considerable luterval of time from the subjects of his verse. The iast named opink depends vers much upon the first: and the first chiefly, if not wholly. upon a perfectly vague tradition, which has no pretence to am historical character.

The question hils to be deeideti by the Internal evldience of the perems. This evidenee. I renture to siv, strongly supports the bellef that Homer was an European, and if an Europeau, then certainly also an Achatan Greek: ${ }^{1}$ Greck, that is to say, of the pre-floric periox:, when the Achaian name prevaited and prinelpally distinguished the race.
lutil the 18 th cen. tury of our era was near its close, it may he sald that all generations had believed Troy was acthaily Troy, amd ilomer in the main Homer; nuither taking the one for a fuble, or (qualntest of all (dremse) for a symbol of solar phenomena, mor resolving the othier inter a maltiform assent blage of suceessive lards, whose verses were at length pieced together by a clever literary tailor.

Ifter slighter promonltory movenents, it was Wolf that made, by the publication of his 'Prolegomeua' in 1790, the se:ious attack. Wolf maintained that availahle writhge was not knownat, or till long after, the period of their comprastion; mad that works of such length, not intrusted to the custoxly of written characters, could not have berin trunsmitted through a consse of generations with nuy appronch to fideity.

HOMER AND THE HOMERIC POEMS.

honduras.

Therefore they could only be a number of separate songs, hrought together at a later date."W. E. Gladstone, IIomer (Literature Primers), ch. 1-2.-" Homeric geography is entlrely pre-Dorian. Total unconsclousness of any such event as the Dorian Invasion relgns both $\ln$ the llad and Odyssey. . . . A sllence so remarkahle enu be explained only hy the simple suppositlon that when they were composed the revolution In questhon had not yet oceurral. Other clreunstuneess confirm thls vlew."-A. M. Clerke, Fitmiliar Studies in Homer, ch. 1.-" It is . . . In the dlscoverles of Dr. Schliemann that we have the impulse whleh seems to be sendling the halance over towurds the belief $\ln$ the European Instend of In the Astatic origin of the prems. We now know that at the very polnt whleh Ilomer makes the chief roynl city of Greece there did, In fuct. exlst a elvilisation which did, In fact, offer just the conditlons for the rise of a poretry sueh as the Homeric-a great elty 'rich $\ln$ gold,' with a enltlvation of the materlal arts sueh as is wont to go hand in hand with the growth of poetry [see Greece: Micense asd its Kinos]..... It Is no longer posslble to doubt that the world which the poems ciescribe was one whleh really existed In the place where they put 1 t . Even in details the perims luve recelved striking Illustration from the remalns of Mrkenul.

It appenrs that we may date the oldest part of the lind at least to sonie time before the Dorian Invasion, whelh, according to the trulitionn chronolosy, took place abmit 1000 B. C. . . But the poems can hardly be nuch eurlier than the Invasion: for there are various signs wheh indicate that the eivillsation which they depiet lind made some adrance beyond that of which we find the material remnins in the 'slanft tomhs,' discovered by Dr. Schlicmann in the Acropolis of Mykenai. And the date of these has now been fixed by Mr. Petrle, from couparison with Egyptian remains, at about 11:0. We cem therefore hardly be fir wrong, if the poems were composed In Achulan Grecee, in dating their origin at alont 1050 B . C. There still remsins the question of the historical basis which may underlie the story of the llian. The porm may cive us atrue picture of Achaian Greece and its civilisation, und yet be an proof that the armies of Avamemon fought beneatio the walls of Troy. But liere neain the discoreries of re. cent yars, and untahly those of Schliemann ut llisarilik, have teuded on the whole to contrm the belief that there is a historic remlity hehind the tale of Troy. . . . The hypothesis that the liad and Olysiry are the work of more than one poet . . . is our which has been gainiug ground ever since it wiss serionsly taken up aud arghed at length by Wolf in his femons ' Prolegom'ma, just the erthiry ngo. But it has from the tirst encounterell stroug opposithon, and is still regardent, In Englimed at least, as the heretion verw..-W. 1.enf. 'fomphnion the the Iliud, introl.- It scems elear that the unthor or anthors of the lliad nod Olvase livel hong before the the when. Wollim, Ionlan, lorian, were the thre great tribal ummes of Grece. uni far from the coast on which these there mames were attiched to snccessive portons of territory. If we are to decide the ancient controvery ithme the hirthplace of llomer, we must tirn away from dsha, und set ourselves to consider the chalms of thrce districts of Cirecec proper: Thessaly, the home of the chief hero and the must inclent worship; Berotia, the ancient seat of the Muses, and the ifst in the very aneient (If not actually Homeric) musticr. roll of the shlps; and Argolls, the seat of Achsenn emplre." - D. B. Monro, Homer and the Eirly Mistory of Greece (English Ilistorical Rev., Jin., -1880). -" I hold that the original nueleus of the Illad was due to a slngle Achacan poet, llving ia Thessaly before the immlgration which partly displaeed the primitive llelencs there. This primary lilid may have been as olel as the eleventh eentury B. C. It was afterwarls brought lif Achaean emlgrants to Ionla, and there enlargel by successlve lonlan poets. The original nucleus of the Odyssey was also composed, probably, in Grecec proper, before the Dorian conquest of the I'cloponnesus; was earried to Ionla by cmi. grants whom the conquerois drove out; aud was there expanderl lnto au epic which blends the local traits of Its origin whth the splrit of lomian adveuture and loulin suclety."-12. C. acht. The grouch and influence of Chasicen liruk Petry, p. 14. The same, Ilomer: An Intivilur. tion w the Ilind and the Odysmy. - We wactopt the lliad as one eple by one haud. The incunsisteneies whleh are the basls of the opposite theory secm to us reconcileable in many places, In others greatly ex vgerated.

To us the hypothesis of a crowd of great harmonlous prets. working for centurles at the Mad, and sluking thelr own fame and ldentity In Ilomer's, мрриатs more diffieult of 1relief than the opinlon thit one great poet ma? make occushonal slips aud hlunders." As for the Odyssey, "we have . . th denl with critles who do not reeognise the aniry. the marshalling of Incidents towards a givid end. We have to do with erities who fiml, in place of unity, patchwork and compilation. and evident truces of diverse dates, aud diverse placts of composition. Thus argument is incticicin. demoustratleu is Impossible, and the final jukse must be the opinlon of the most trust worthy lit emary critics and of llterary tradtion. Thene int unanimous, as agalnst the 'microseope-men.' in favor of the unly of the Odysseg."-A. liat: Homer and the Ejpic, ch. 7 and 13.

HOMERITES, The. See Abybenina: 6in to 16 til Centuries.
homestead ACT, The. See lxited States of Am.: A. D. 1862 (May).

HOMILDON HILL, Battle of. - 1 vicher for the Euglish, muder " Ilotspur," over at ribl ing arme of the seots, A. D. 1402. Sice soms 1.Ant: A. 1). 14 (1ML-1433.

HOMCEOPATHY, Origin of the system of. See Mrduth. Nelener: litu-1Ntil (Hit. HOMOOUSION AND HOMOIOUSION. sed Alinaning.

HOMS, Battle of (1832). See Turis: I. P. 18:11-1440.

HONDSCHOTTEN, Battle of (1793). see Fhance: A. I). 1793 (Jels-Decemiets).

HONDURAS: Ahoriginal inhabitants.Ruins of Ancient Civilization. Siee Astration Ahonhines: Mayas, and Quines.
A. D. 1502.-Discovery hy Columhus. America: A. D. 1498-1505.
A. D. 1524.- Conquest by Olid and Cories. See Mexu(i): A. 1). 1521-1524.
A. D. 1821-1894.-Separation from Spaia and independence.-Brief annexation ta Mexico.-Attempted federations and their

HONDCRAS.

HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOHN.

railure.-See Central Aycrica : A. D. 1821 1571; 1871-1885, and 1880-1894.

HONDURAS, British: A. D. 1850.-The Clayton-Bulwer Treaty. Sce Nicaragua A. D. 18.50

HONE, William, The Trials of. See ExgLAND: A. D. 1818-1820.
hONEIN, Battle of. See Mahometax ConQCF.wT: A. D. B(19-632.
HONG-KONG.-By the Treaty of Nanking at the elose of the "Opium War" (see Cuina' A. D. 1839-144), the lsiand of Ilong Kong, near the mouth of the Canton River, was eeded by China to Great Britain. "It ls not without ap. propriateness that IIong-Kong has been styled the Gibraltar of the East. For just as Gibniltar domlnates the entrance to the MediterraLam Sea, and opens the strategieal gate from the west to our dominlons in India, so does IIong. Konf commerclally dominate the entrance to the China Seas, and strategically close the road to India from tbe far East. Like Glbraltar, it lles in immedlate contiguity to the mainland of an alien power: it has the same physlcal aspcets 1 ruck: height rising abruptly from the sea with the truwn at tbe foot of its slopes."-IIre Mivieaty's Columies (rimonial and Indian Exhistionn, 18086) P. twi. " 13y the Convention of Pekin [1860], the promontory of Kowloon, opposite the lsland of lluyg king on the northern silde the harbunr, was definitely ceded to ILer Mesaste's Gor. ernment, mining been already leased to them by the mithor ies at Canton. . IIong-Kong is a Crusu Conng of the ordinary type, the local Mininistration helng in the hands of a Governor an Exceutive Council, and a Legislatire Couniil. .. Along the northern shore the city of Vir turia strettiess for some 4 mlles, and between the town and the malnland is one of the fincst annd most picturesque harbours in the world rith is water area of about 10 miles. As the prothontory of Kowlon lies directl| opposite. Inth silles of the hartour are in Brlitish hands. ( $P$ P. Lucas, 1 Ifixturiral fiengraphy of the Britint (idamise r. 1, surf. e. rh. 4.
hong Merchants. See Chiva: A. D. 14:31-14.2
HONOURS, Escheated.-When a great larmy hy forfeiture or escheat fell Into the hand of the English crown. It was callem an ""wheatel houour."-W. Stubbs, Conkt. Hist. "f Fw, ch. 11, sect. 129 (c. 1).
HOOD, General John B. - The Atlanta campaign. Sue CNiten States of AM. A. D. 1864 Mif-Sertembel: : Geohidi), to(Sertevner(umorer: Grimetia).
HOOKER, General Joseph, Commander of the Army of the Potomac. See Cxitedstates Transfer and (Armil-MAY: Firomali). Transfer to Chattanooga. See U'siten States ivin. ... At Chattanooga. - The Battle above the Clouds. See CNITED Statesof Av.: HOOKS AND KABELJAUWS, OR hooks and cods. See Netherland hiot.1481: i $D$ 1345-13in ; also, 1482-1493. HOOVER'S GAP, Battic at. See Cvited

HOPLITES. -Fuot suldiers of the Grecks.

HORIKANS, The. See Americax AborigiNE: HORIEANB.

HORITES, The.-The aborigines of Ca naan, - dwellers incaves. Troglodytes. "At the time of the Israeiltlsh conquest . . . there still existed many remains of the Aborigines scattered through the land. They were then ordinarily designated by a name which suggests very dif ferent ideas-Rephaim, or Glants." -II. Ewald, Phist. of Isrutl, introd. neect. 4.-See, slso, Jews: The Eariy IIebien IIfstory.
HORMUZ, Battle of. The battle, fought A. D. 22a, in which the Parthlan monarchy was overthrnwn by Artaxerxes I.

HORN, Count, and the struggle in the Netherlands. See Netueminds : A. D. $1566-$ 156\%.
HORN, Cape.-Discovered by Drake (1578). See AMERICA:A. D. 1572-1580.

HORTENSIAN LAWS, The. See Rome:  B. C. 288

HOSEIN, Themartyrdom of. Sce Mahometas Conqcest : A. D. 680.

HOSPES.-HOSPITES.-HOSPITIUM. - "In the eariler stages of society, especially in Greece anil Italy . .. It became common for a person who was engaged in commerce, or any other occupatlon which might enmpei him to visit a forijgn country, to form prerinusly a connection witha citlzen of that country, whomight be ready to recelre him as a friend ind act as his protector. Suchaconnection was always strietly reciprowal. An alliance of this deseription eluded it were termed IIospit parties who coneluded it were termed IIospites in relation to each other, and thus the worl Inospes hore a donble slgnifieation, denoting. according to elrcumstances, elther an entertainer or a guest. . . In process of time, among both the Greeks and Ro mans, it bectume common for a state, when it deslred to pny a markell compliment to any indlvilual. to piss a resolution deelaring him the Ilospes of the whole conmunits."-W. Ramsay, Yan, of of $R$ minn Alntiy.ch. 3 .
HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOHN OF JERUSALEM, The Knights: A. D. III8-1310.- The origin and rise of the order. $\because$ Some citizens of Amalti. in Italy, whotraded to the East, had [some time before the first crusade], with the permissiou of the Egyptian khalecfeh, built a consent near the church of the Resurrection [at Jcrusalem]. Which was dedicated to the Virgin. and named Sunta Maria de Latlna, whose abbot and monks were to reeeive and enturtain pilgrims from the West. A nunnery was ufterwards adilet, and as the contuence of pllgrims increased, a new 'hospitium' was ereeted, dedlcated to St. John Elecminn ('compasslonate'), a former patriareh of . Nexandria, or, as is asserted with perhaps more prolnability, to St. John the Baptist. This hnopital was supported by the bounty of the abbot of Sita Maria and the alms of the faithful, and the dich and poor of the pilgrims here met with attention and kindness At tbe time of the taking of Jornsalem Gerhard, a native of Provence, presidetl orer the hospital: and the eare takin hy him and his brethren of the sick and wounded of the crusaders won them univeral farour. Golfres bestowed on then his domain of Monboire, in Brabant : his example Fay followed br whers, aml the brethren of the Ilospital soon found themselves rich enough to separate from the monastery. They adopted the

HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOHN.
HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOHN.
Tute of the Augustininn canons, and assumed for thilr hahlt a black mantle, with a white crose of elght polnts on the left breast. Many knights who had come to Asla to combat the Infldels now lald aslile thelr swords, and, as brethren of the llospltal, devoted themselves to the tendiag of the slek and relleving of the poor. Among these was a knlght of Danphine, nnmed Raymond 1) lipuy, who, on the death of Gerhard, was chosen to be hils successor in ofllee. Raymoal, In the $y$ onr 1118, gnve the order lis first regular organlziaton. "-T. Keightley, The Crnaaders, ch. 2. -To Raymond Iupuy ' the Order owed its distlnctly nitlitary clanracte; and that wonderful organlzatiou. combining th: care of the slek and poor with the profession of arms, wheh characterized the Knights o: st. wohn during nll their subsenueut history. . . . A new and revised constltation wha driws up, by which It was providerl that there should be three classes of members. First, the Kinghts, who shoubl bear arms and form a nititary tmaly for service lu the thehl against the curuaces of Cllirist In general, and of the kiugtoun of Jerusalem in partlenlar. These were to be of neeessity men of noble or gentle hirth. Secondly, the Clergy, or Chaphains.
Thirdle, the Serving 13rethren, who were not refulred to be men of rumk, and who acted as Esinires to the Kinghts, and assisted In the care of the hospitals. All persons of these threc classes were considered alike menbers of the Order, and took the nsial three monastic vows, and wore the arnorial learings of the Orler, and enjoyed its rights and privileges. As the Oriler spreal and the number of Its members and convents increased, it was fonnd desimble to divide it further into nations or 'Langes' [tongues, or linginges], of which there were ultlmately seren, viz., those of Provence, Auvergue, France, Italy, Aragon, Germany, and England. The habit was a black robe witl a cowl. having a cross of white lineu of eight points upon the left hreast. Thls was at tirst wora by ill Hospitallers, to whlehever of the three classi- they belonged; but Pope Alexander IV. uftorwaris ordered that the Kilghts should l.t stlogulshed hy a white cross upon a red gro): A... It was not long before the new Order found a feld for the exercise of lts arms. . . From this time the Ilospltallers were always found in the ranks of the Christian army in every battle that was fought with the Noslems. and the fame of their gallantry and bravery soon spread far and wide, and attracted fresh rearuits to thelr moks from the noblest familles of every country of Elurope. They be. came the riglat hand of the Khg of Jermsulem." shariug the fortunes of the nominal kiuglom for nearly two centuries, and almost sharing lts ultimate fate. The handful who escaped from dere In 1291 (see JEhc'salem: A. D. 129 ) took refuge In Cyprus and railled there the Knights scattered In other lands. Rebulldiag and fortifying the town of Limisen, they male that their cltadel and capital for a few years, finding a nubvecathen for their pions valor. They now took up war npon the hival side, and turmed their arus sprecially against the Moslem pirates of the Mediterrinein. They fited out armed ships " which began to cruise between Palestine and European ports, conveying pilgrims, resculng captives, and eagating aad capturing the eneny's gallers." But not tindlag in Cyprus the independence they desired, the Knights, ere long establlshed themselves In a more satisfactory home on the lsland of Rhodes.-F. C. Woohhouse, Military Jeligimus Orders of the Midlle Agra, pt. 1. eh. 3-6.

Also in: Able de Vortot, IVit. of the Kinights Howpitallers, bk: 1-3 (r. 1).-A. Suthrlanul. Achierements of the Kinighta of Jfaltu, eh. 1-9 (c. 1).
A. D. 1310.- Conquest and occupation of Rhodes. - $\because$ The nosit luportant coaquest of the time .. . was that of Rhorles, by the Knights ILospltallers of St. Joha of Jerusalem, both from Its dumbllity and from the renown of the rom. puerors. The kulghts had settled lin Cypus after they had beea expelled from dere, but they were soom dlacontented to renitin as vassialo of the King of cypris. They nspired to form a soverelgu state, but it was not easy to maki' :ung contulests from the Iutidels In a position which they conli lopre to milintain for aay length of thue. They therefore solleited permission from the Pope tu turn their arms against the Grevis. His llotiness apphuthed thelr Christian zeal, and Jestowed on them immmerable hlessings and indilgences, besites nine thousaal dueits th ail thedr euterprise. L'uler the pretext of a crusade for the recovery of (Christ s tomb, the kuights collected a force with which thay besideral Rhodes. So great was their contempt for the Greek emperor that they sent an embassy to (instantinople, requiring Adronlcus to withulraw lis gartisons, and cede the lsland and lis de. pendencles to thein as feulitories, offering io supply hhas with $n$ subshdiary force of thre hundred cavalry. Adronicus desmissed the ambassadors, and sent un army to raise the sines; bitt his tronps were defeated, and the knights took the eity of Khoules on the 1bil: Anenust. 1310. As sovereigns of thes beantlful islant. they were long the bulwark of Christian Europe aguinst the Turklsh power; and the memory of the chivalrous youth who for sulcessive iges found an early tombat this verge of the Christian world, whll long shed a romantic colouring on the history of Rholes. They sustaiaed the dedining giory of a state of socicty that whs hastening to become a vision of the pist ; they were the luress of a class of which the Norse sex.khigs hithl heren the denigods. The little realin they govirnad as an inkependeut state conslsted of Rlandes, with the nelghbouring Istands of Kos. Kial yumos, Syme, Leros, Nisyros, Teles, and Chalke: in the opposite c.itiaent they in asessed the clinsil city of Halicarnassus, and several strong forts, of which the pleturesque ruirs still overhang the sea."-G. Finlay, Mist. if the Byzantint and Grod Empires, bk. 4. ch. :2 (r. 2).

Also in: W. Porter, Jlint of the Kinights of Malta, ch. -10 ( $c, 1$ ).
A. D. 1482. - Treatment of the Tarkish Prince Jemshid or Zizim. See Turks: I D. 1481-1550.
A. D. 1522. - Siege and surrender of Rhodes to the Turks. - $\ln 1.12 y$, the Turkinh siltan, Solvinan the Magnidecut, "turned his victoriums armis agalust the island of Rhodes, the sat at that tlme of the Knights of St. John of Jemsalem. Thls small state he attucked with stacha anmurous army as the lords of Asia law linea wenstomed, in every nge, to hring into the th. Two hundret thousind men, and a fleot of $f$ m rison cosslstiug of 5,000 solulers aad 600 hinghts. ander the command of Villers de LiLlo Dlam HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOIIN.

IIOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOIIN.
the grand-master, whose whilom and valour readerel hlm worthy of that statloa at such a dangerous jnacture, No sooner dld he begln to suspect the destinatloa of Solyman's vast arma. meats than he clespatehed messeagers to all the Cliristlan conrts, lmploriag thelr ald agalast the commoa eaemy. But though every priace in that are acknowhedged [houles to be the great bulwark of Christendom In the East, and trusted to the gallantry of lts knlghts as the best securly agilust tho progress of the Ottoman arms. - though dilrian, with a zeal whlelh beenme the hewd and father of the Chureh, exhorted the eontending powers to forget thelr private quarrels, and. liy nnitiug their arms, to prevent the infielels frem destroviag a soclety whleh dld honour to the ( hristinu name, - yet so vholent and iumpla. (able was the aninosity of betly partles [ln the w ry of the Emperor Charles V, and Frincis I. of , "ancer]. tant, regurdless of the danger to which they exposed all Enrope, they sulffurefi solyuau to earry on lis operations agalust Rhusles without disturlhure. The grand-master, aftur iucrolible efforts of eouruge, of patlence, and of military eondact, during a siege of six aunaths-after sutstaining many assaults, aal disputing every post with mmazing obstinuer, was oblipell at last to yiell to munbers; aad, having whtaited an hononrable capitulntion from the sult:un, who aluired and respeeted his virtne, he surrenderitl the town, which was redneed to a hap of rubhish, and lestitute of every resomrer. ('boles and Francis, ashanted of having occisioned. .ie a loss to christeaions by their ambitous contests, endeavoured to throw the hame of it on each other, while all Einrope with greitter justiee, lmputed it equally to loth. Thu cmperor, by way of reparation, gronted the kuights of sit. Jolin the small lshum of Halta, in which they fixed their residence, retalning, though with less puwer and splentour, their ancieat spirit and implacable eanity to the lnfilles. "- W. Robertsoa, Hist. of the Reigh of ('herles II. bi, $2(r .1)$
A1.so is: C. Torr, Rhowes in Moulern Timex ch. 1.- J. S. [3rewer, The Reign of Ilenry IVII., ch. 19 (r. 1)
A. D. 1530-1565.-Occupation of Malta, Improvement and fortification of the island.The great siege. -The Turks repelled." Halt:1, which had lo a annexed by Charles [the Fifth's] predecessors to Sieilr, had descended to that monarch as part of the domialons of the ('rown of Aragon. In ...ceding it to the Kuithts of St. John, the politie prince consulterl his own interests quite as much as those of the order. He drew no revenue from the roeky lsle, but, on the coatrary, was charged wlth lis de: fence against the Joorinh eorsairs, who male fryment lescents on the spot, watsing the country, ind dragging off the miserable people into slavery. By this transfer of the Island to the militiry onler of St. Joha, he not oaly relleved himsid of all further expense oa lts aecount, but secural a permanent bulwark for the protection of his own dominions. . . . In Oetober, 1530, 1. We . What am? his brave assochates took possesNond of their new domain. . It was aot very lugir thefire the wilderness before them was to bl:asa:i lithe the fuse, ander their dillyent calture. larth was lorought in large quatities, and at wrat cost, from slelly. Terraces to recelve it were hown la the steep sides of the rock; aad the soll, quickeaed by the ardent sun of Maltu, was son elothed with the glowlag vegetatlon of tie south. In a short the, too, the lelaad brlstled with fortificatlo: 3 , whieh, combiaed whth lts natural defenees, enabled lits garrison to defy the attacks of the cersilr. To these works was addetl the eonstructlon of suitable dwellings for the uceonnmmation of the order. But it was loug nfter, uml not nutil the land hal been dews). later by the siege on whleli we are now to euter, that lt was erowucd with the stately editices thit eclipsed those of R1owles Itself, and ratale Malta the pride of the Mediterrancaa. . Agaln their galleys sailed forth to battle whih the corsairs, and returnell ladeu whth the spoils of vletory.
It wins not long lefore the name of the Khights of Malta became as formilable on the southera shores of the Mediterranenu as that of the Knights of Ilionles hall been in the East." At length the Turkish sultan. Solvinan the Magnificent, "resolveal to sipanaze the elose of his reign by driv. Ing the kniphts from Nalta as he lual the eomment ment of it ly ilriving them from leonles." and he minte his preparations on a formhlable scale. Fhe grand umster of Malta, Jean Parisut de la Valette, ham his spis's at Constantinople, and was not long lin irguramce of the Turkish project. IIr, tur) preparel himself for the enconnter with pronligions currgy und forethonght. Ife adiressel mppots for lull, to all the Christlan powers. "1le sumbmoud the knlghts absent ia foreign lanils to riturn to Malta, and ake part with their brethrin in the conting strugele. Ife hmportenl large supplies of provishons and military stores from sirily mud Spain. Ile drilled the militha of the inlani, und formed an effertive boly of more that 3,0th men; to whieh was aulded a still greater number of Spaakh nod lallan troops. . . . Thu fortitleations were put in repair, strengthened with outworks, and placed in the hest eondition for resisting the enemy. The whole foree which La Vaheto conh muster int defenere of the ishand amonmed to abont $\mathbf{0 , 0 0 0}$ mea. This inelukel 700 knights, of whont alout 6in hind alreadly nrrlved [when the siege brgan]. The remainiler wore on their wiry nind joined hime at a later period of the siege." The Turkish theet made its appearance on the 18tho of May, 1.86.). It comprised $1: 30$ royal gallegs, whth tifty of lesser size, and a number of tmansjorts. "The number of soldiers on losard, Independeatly of the marlners, and inelading 6.(MN) janlzaries, was about 30,000 , - the flower of the Ottoman army. tristed to two oftleers the expedition was latrusted to two oflleers. One of these 1 Ili. Was the sante admimal who defeated the sip fla at Gelves [see [Babinhy Statres: A. I Ife had the diroction of tho nival Ife land the diraction of tho nitw? The land forces wrere given to 1 vetermin nearly 0 yearn of age (1i), a 1 Turk. of the islame sud for the somithenstern quarter of the islanu, mul cast ancoun in the port of St. Thomas. The troops speedily dlsembarkea, and spreal themselves in dietached bodies over the land, devastuting the conntry. .. . It was decided, In the Turkish connell of war to lurgia operatious with the siege of the castle of sit. Elmo "-a small luit st rong fort, built at the puint of a promontore which separates Port Musist:s; on the west. from whit is aow known as Valettit harloor, then called the: Great Port. The heroie defease of St. Finto, where a mere landful of kulghts and sohliers withstool the whole army and nary of the Turks for an entire month, Is one of the grand cplsodes of war in the 16 th century. The few survivlug defenders were overwhelmed In the flnal assault, whleh trok phee on the $2 ?$ Who fell in thls slege amounted to about 1,500 . Of these 123 were members of the order, and among them sereral of lts most illustrious warriors. The Turkish loss is estlmated at 8,000 , at the lead of whom stool Drngnt," the famous pasha of Trlpoll, who lial joluel the bealegers, with ships and mon, and who lad recelved a mortal wonnd in one of the assaults. After the luss of St. Elmo, "the strength of the order wiss concentrated on the two narrow slips of land whlch run out from the eastern ahle of the Great I'ort.

HOSPITALLERA OF ST. JOHN.

The northern peninsula, occupled by the tovin of 11 Borgo, and at the extreme point liy the castle of St. Angelo, wis defended] by works stronger and in leetter conilition thun the fortlicatlons of St. Elmo.

The paraltel sllp of land wus crownet by the firt of St. Miehael." Early lu July, the Turks onemed thelr batteries on both St. Angelo and St. M chael. and on the 15 th they attelupted the sturning of the hitter, but were bloxilly repulsed, losing 3.000 or 4,000 men, nceorilng to the C'hristlain acconnt. Two wecks later they mude a general assiult and were agaln repelled. On the 25th of August, the vullunt knlghts, wasted and worn whit watehing und tighting, were relleved by long prombsel reenforcements from sleily, mid the disheartened Turks at onee ralied the sicge. "The arms of iolyman H., during his long nnd glorions reign, met with no reverse so humilhting as his failure in the siege of Malta. . . . The waste of life was prollgions, amonnting :o nore than 30.000 men.

Y't tire loss in this slege fell most gric vonsly on the Christians. Fult 200 knights, 2,500 soldiers, and more than \%,1MN Inhabithats, - men, women. and ehltdren, -- ite suid te lave perished."-W. H. I'rescott, IIist of the leign of Philip II., bk. 4, ch. 2-5.

Also in: W. Porter, Ilint, of the Knights of Milta, ch. 15-18 (c, 2) -S. Lane-Poole, sitory if the Rulutry Cormairs, eh. 13 .
A. D. 1565-1879. - Decline and practical disappearance of the order. - "The Grent sirge of 1.56.) was the last eminent exploit of the Orier of St. Inhm. From that thate their fame rested rablur on the laurels of the past than the deeds of the present. leses nui athucnce proshaced grahually their usaml e:nscepuchers - diminlshad vigour and lessemal ladepemlente. Tla * esprit te corpse of the Knights lueame weaker after long years, in which there ware noevents ta bind themtogether in united sympathies and common strugelish Stang of them hut lecome suseeptible of lorilx.ry imel petty jealousides. In 17se the Frentla levolution lourst out and aroused ull Enroprav. nistions to sume decided polieg. The Grelur af st. lulan had reccived nexial farours * om Lanis XII. anm now showed their grateful uppreciation of his hhodness liy cleerfilly constributing a large purtion of thior revenur to as. slst 1 im in his terrible emergencies. For this they sutfered the contiseation of all the property of the Order in Fromee, when the revolutionists obthined supreme power."-W. Tallack, Malta, sert. 8.-" in september. 1792. n deeree was passel. loy whir't the estiates unil property of the Orler of st. Joln la Frime were annexel to the state. Jlang of the kuights were seized, Im.

HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JUHN.

prisoned, and executed as aristocrats. The prin. clpal house of the Order In Paris, called the Temple, whe converted into a prison, and there the unfortunate Louls XVI. and hls funilly wrote heureerated. The Dlrectory also dh] Its best to Iestroy the Orler In Germany and Italy. All this thme the Directory hini agetits in Miatia, who were propagating revohithary ductrines, and stlrring $n p$ the lowest of the people to relnel. llon and violence. There were In the istand 338 knlghts (of whom miany, however, were aged and Inflrmi, and about 6,000 troops. On June 9, 1798, the Freneh fleet appearal before Malta, wlith Napoleon himmelf on luarul, and a fi'w diys after troops were landed, aml legan pllhgin. hio $_{\text {a }}$ comitry. They were at first suceessfull posen by the soldlers of the Grame Mastel. Dut theseeds of sedition, whleh had been so fruly sown, legan to bear frult, and the soliliens mutinled, and refused to obey thelr olflects, . Ill the outlylng forts were taken, and the kulphts who conmmanded them, who were all French. were drogeged before Napoleon. He nevined them of taklug up arms agalnat their conmery, and dechurel that he wonld have theni shat as traitors. Meanwhlle sedlton was rimpaut whthlu the city. The people rose and uttarkinl the pulace of the Grand Master, and murilorind several of the kilghts. They temanded that the Estand shonlth be given up to the Fronch, ant tinally opened the gates, and admitted Napilata and his troops. After some delay, articlew of capituhtion were tgreed mpon, Malta was de. clured part of Franee, and ull the knlglits wire required to guit the lslame within three lass. Napoleon saled for Egypt on June 19, tathing with him all the silver, gold, und jewels that could be collected from the elfurches atul the treasiary. . . . I , the following September. $\begin{aligned} & \text { :isy. }\end{aligned}$ Nelson hesioged, and puickly obtamed peracosion of the ishand. Whieh lias ever since rentionel in the hands of the English. In this way the ancient Order of St. John ceased to be a wiver. eign power, und prictically its history came tu an elind The last Grmal Muster. Barom Fordimand von IIompresch, ufter the loss of Malta, retired to Trieste, und shortly ufterwaris alolinatial and died at Jontpelier, in 180.5. Naty of the knights, however, had In the mean time ghle to Russis, and lefore the abdieation of Ilomitrad, they elected the Emperor Panl Grand Dister: who hath for some time lsen protirtor of the Oriler This chection was molimotalty ir regular ant roin. By the terms of the Treaty of Aminens, in 1802. It was stipulated that Malta shomhl he restored to the Onker, but that there should be welther Fremell nor English kuishtio Bhat bifore the treaty could be corried into ntict Nipoleon returued from Ellan. ant war liruhe eut ugsin. IFy the tremy uf Paris, in 1814, Matha was craled to Enghurul

In 1001, the ans-mhls of the Knights at St. Peterslurg [x+tithmed 1ºpe PiusVil. to selcet a Grand Mantur foma certain names which they sent. This be weclined to do, lont, some time afterwario, as the request of the Emperor Alexaniler, and the Klng of Naples, and withont consulting the knights, the Pope appoiuted Count Giowani d Tonmasl Granil linster. Ile dled in twais and no Graml Master lans lwen aince nppoinual ita his cleath-leel, Tommusi nombuted the hailit GnevaraSuardo, Llemtenant Master.
lleuteuants have presided over un ussuncilleu of titular knlghts at Rome, whelh la styled 'the sacred Couneil.' In 1814, the French knights assw mbled at Paris and elected a capltulary commisslon for the government of the Order. In or alout the year 1826, the English 'Lange; of the Orler of the Knlghts of Malta was revived. . A regular suecession of Priors has L.reu continued to the present thme [18\%9] and the Duke of Manchester is the present Prior. The members of the Order devote themselves to roli ving the poor. and asslstling hospltals. "-F. ( Windlhouse, Vilitary Religious Orlers of the Midlle Ages, pt. 1, ch. 20.

HOSPITALLERS OF ST. JOHN.

HOSPODAR. - "A thte of Slavonle or Rus. sian origin (lusslan, Uospmiln=lord)."-J. Sammelson. Roumania, p. 209, fout-note.
HOSTIS. Se lerrearisi. hOTTENTOTS, The. Sre Solth AFrica: Tife Abohignal inhabitanta, aud I. D. $1486-$ 1sid: also Aprica: Tile miliabitino baces. hoUse of Commons. See Pabliament, Tue Exifinif; and Knionts of tife Simbe.
hOUSE OF KEYS, The. See Manx Kinomery HOUSE OF LORDS. See Lords, llocse, of.
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. See Congimese of the Livited states.
HOUSECARLS. - No English King or Ealdurman hisl hitherto kept a permnnent military furrer in his pay. But Cuut [or Canute. (1. 1) $101 \mathrm{~F}-11035$ ] now organized a reguliar paid force, hept comstantly under arms, and rualy to march at a mournt's notice. These were the fanous Thiurmen, the Ilousecarls, of whom we hew- so much uuder Chat aud under hls suecewors. . . The llomseenrls were in fact a stanling sirmy, and in stauling nrmy was an iustitution which later Kings nuil grent Earls, Eng. lishas well as Danish, fouml it to be their literest to combunc. Liuler Cont they formed a sort of miliary guidd with the king at their hear."-E. 1. Frrimisu. Surman Conquest, ch. 6, sect. 2, and wip. mote kidh (e. 1).
H.JUSEHOLD FRANCHISE. See ENGminb: A. 1). 1884-188.5.
HOUSTON, Sam., and the independence of Texas. Fice Trexis: A. I). 18it-1850.

HOVAS, The. See Madsiancar.
HOWE, George Augustus, Lord, Death at Ticonderoga. Fie CaNADA: A. D. liss.
HOWE, Richard, Admiral Lord, and the War of the American Revolution. Siee Enitrid sinles of Am.: A. D. 1816 (Atotst).....Naval Victory (1794). See Fravice: A. D. $1 ; y_{4}$

HOWE, General Sir William, and the War of the American Revolution. Sce United stitis of AM: A. D. 1765 (Aphil-MAy), (INAH: 18:

HRINGS OF THE AVARS. See Arars, limiv or Tine. hUAMABOYA, The. See American Abo Mines: INDEMANs. huancas, The. See Pert: The Abomg. 11. Millimpidts.

HUASTECS, The. See Anmucar Abohinve: Mavat.
hUAYNA CAPAC, The Inca. See Pert: The Eyphe of the Incas

HCMAS.

HUBERTSBURG The Peace of. Se Sevev years War: The treaties.

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY. Se CANADA: A. D. 1860-1873.
HUDSON'S BAY TERRITORY, Relinqulehed by France to Great Brltain (1713). Gee L'taEMIT: A 11. 1712-1:14.
HUDSON'S VOYAGES and Discoveries. Spe Ayprifa: A. D. 1607-160w, hat 1609 ; and l'ohil Expluration: A. D. 1607, anci after.
hUECOS, The. See imerican Aboriones Pawner (Cadmons) Famis.
HUGH CAPET, King of France, A. I). 98:-946.

HUGUENOTS.-First appearance and disputed origin of the name.-- Ouick formation of the Calvinistic Protestant Party $\ln$ France. See France: A. D. 1530-1581.
A. D. 1528-1562.-Ascendancy in Navarre. See Xavaline: A. I). 152: 156is
A. D. ${ }^{1554-1565 .}$. Attempted colonization in Brazil and in Florida. - The Massacre at Fort Carollne. See Fiomid: . I. D. 1.je2-1503, (1) $1066_{i}-1.56$.
A. D. 1560-1598.-The Wars of Religion in France. See Fianice: A. I). 1560-1563, ti 15931594.
A. D. ${ }^{1598-1599 .-T h e ~ E d i c t ~ o f ~ N a n t e s . ~}$ Su: France. A. I. 1598-1:590.
A. D. ${ }^{1620-1622}$. - Their formidable organization and political pretensions.-Continued desertion of nobles. - Leadership of the clergy. - Revolt and unfavorable Treaty of Montpellier. See Fuswer: A. I). 1630-16:2.
A. D. 1625-1626.- Renewed revolt. - Second Treaty of Montpellier. See Fusnce: A. D. 1634-1636.
A. D. ${ }^{1627-1628}$. - Revolt in alliance with England. - Richelieu's siege and capture of La Rochelle.- End of political Huguenotism

A. D. $166 \mathrm{I}-1680$. - Revived persecution under Louis XIV. See Fnance: A. I). 166116 NO 0.
A. D. 168 I -1698.-The climax of persecution in France.- The Dragonnades.-The Revocation of th. Edict of Nantes. - The great exodus. See F'unare: A. D. 16N1-1695.
A. D. 1702-1710.- The Camisard uprising in the Cevennes. See Funsce: A. I. 17020 $1: 10$.

HULL, Commodore Isaac.-Naval exploits. Sep I sited Statea of IM.: A. I). $1812-1813$.

HULL, General William, and the surrender of Detroit. See Linited stites of Am.: A. D. 1N1: (JTNE-Octorem).

HULL: Siege hy the Royalists. - Inull. oc. cupiet by the Parliammary forecs under Lord Fuirfax. nfter their clefrat int Alwalton Nomr was lesieged by the Rowalists muder the Earl of Neweastle, from September 2 matil Oetoler 11, 1643, when ther were driven off.- ©. R. Warkham, Life of the Girwt Lorvt Bhingur, ch 19.see also, Wiscear Figit.
HULSEMANN LETTER, The. See Coniten Stater of Am.: A. If $18.50-18.11$.
HULST, Battle of (1642). See Germany: A. 13. $1640-164 \%$
hUMANISM. Sep Regalsmance.
HUMAS, OR OUMAS, The. See AMERI eas Abomgnes: Mrskioneas Family.

MUMAYUN, Moghul Emperor or Padiechah of India, A. D. $1530-1500$.

HUMBERT, King of Itals, A. D. 1878 - hUMBLE PETITION AND ADVICE, The. Sre Enoland: A. D. 1654-165\%. HUMBLEDON, Battie of. See Llomilimen Mille, Battie of.
HUNDRED, The.-"The union of a number of townships for the purpose of judicial aiminlatratlon, peace, anid defeuee, formed, what in known as the 'hundrei, 'or 'wapentake'; a dlstrict asweriag to the 'pagns' of Taeltus, the 'herred' of Scandilan"ln, the 'huntari or 'gau of Acrmany

The name of the inuudrini, which, ifke the vapientake, lirst appears In the lawe of Edgar, has its oricin far lonek in the remotest antlquity. but the use of it as a geographical expression is discoverable oniy $\ln$ comparatively inte evidicnees. The 'pugus' of the Germania sent its humired wirriors to the host. and appearei by its hundreid julges in the comrt of the 'prineeps.' The Lax Sailea cuntains ahuminat evilience timi in the fiftis century the administrathon of the inunired was the chilef, if not the onily, machinery of the Frank judiclai system; and the word in one form or other enters Into the coustititlon of ali the German nations. It may be reguried then as a certain vestige of primitive organisitlon. Bint the exact relation of the territoriai humirell to the humdred of the Germania is a polat whleci is capable of, and lans received, muth dischssion. It has beea regarded as denoting simply a divistom of a humilred ithes of land: as the district whieh furnished a hundred warriors to the inst: as representing the original settiement of the hundired warriors: or as composed of a hundired hiles. eaci of which furnoshed a sincle wartior. The question is nut pecuiiar to Engisisi instory, and tilu same resuit may have foliowed from very diffurent catuses as probably as from the anne chases. here and on the continent. It is very probnhic, as alremly stated, that tisc colonists of Britain arranged themseives in hunireds of Warriors: it is not probabie that the combery was carvedi into equal distriets. The only emefusion thint seems rensomabie is that, under the name of geographieni hamilrels, we have the varionsly sizeif paci or distriets in with the handred warriors settled.

The hundrei- temut, or wapentake court, was held every momeh: it was cailed six lays before the day of mecting, and conid not be held on Sunday. It was attendel by the Iorls of lands witinin the hundred. or their stewaris representing them, and by the parish priest. the reeve, aad four best ment of each township.

The eriminai juristiction of the huudreit is perpetuated in the manorini court icet. "- W. Stubbs, Conat. Hist. of Eing., ch. 5, seet 45 ( $r$. 1) - "By the 13 th century the importance of the hundred had much diminishect. The need for any such body, internediate between township and county, ceased to be felt, and the functions of the hundired were gradiaily absorberl by the connty. Almost every where in Engiaud, by the reign of Eilizabeth, tite hundreai had faiten into decay. It is conrons tiat its name and some of its peculiarities should have been brought to Aarerica, and shouid in one state have remaneef to the present day. Some of the cariy settlements in Virginta were calied huvdreds, hit they were practicaliy nothing more than parisies. and the na.ae soon became obsolete, except upon the map, wisere we stili see, fur exampie, lh. mida llundred. Bat la Maryiand the hundrad fluminined and lecame the politienal unlt. ilke the townilp in New Engiand. The lemiled was the militla district, and tire distrlet for the anm:s. ment of taxes. In the enrilient times it was alwo tie represpntative district.

The humirevi had also lis assembiy of ail the peaple, whind was in mnny respects ilke the New Englamd town-meeting. These imaireal-meetlogs enartend br-inwe, ierled taxes, appuintericommittees, and often exhlbled a virormes politieni ilfe. ibit after the Revolution they feli into dixnse, and in 1024 the handreit lecenme extinet in Marylami. its organization was swatiowedi up in tint of the eomnty. In I helawire, inowever, the huminelo romnius to thls day." - d. Fiske, Cicil Ciotern, mut in the $t$. s., ch. 4 , wet. 1.

HUNDRED DAYS, The. - The perioul if Napoleon's recovery of power in Franec, on his return from the lsie of Eilm, and untii hils nver. throw at Witerine and tinni ulxicution. Is uften referned thas The ILumired Days. See Finase:

HUNDRED YEARS WAR, The. sice Fratice: A. 1). 133i-1:36).

HUNGARIANS, The. - "t tibbon is eornct In conueting the ianguage of the Ilungarians with that of tive Fimisin or T'schudisis race. The originat ahmic of the limgarians was in the commery eailed Cgria or Jagoria, In the sombla ra part of the I railim monntains, which is now in hahited loy tite Jogris and thatiaks, whoure the eastern bramehes of the Fimisia race. while the most luphrtimt of the western branches are the Finns and Lappes. Legria is called (ireat inngary by the Frmeisean monk liano Curpini.who Iraveliedi in 1426 to the court of the Great inhan. From Cgria the lhagarians were expulhind br the Turkish tribes of Peteienceres and Chazars. and sought refuge in the plains of the baser Danule, where they first apperered In the rifien of the Greek Emperor Theopinilus, betworn *y and 84? They ealiced themsefres Mayyars hat the Russians gave them the name of Cirfi, as originuting from $\mathbf{C}$ grin: and this name ina $\mathrm{b}_{\text {ret }}$ corrupted into Cngri and liungarians. Ahthugh it is diflicuit to believe tint tive present Magyars, Wha are the foremost peopie in Eastern Eurape. are of the same race as the degraded Vozuls and Ostaks, this fact is not why uttesteri by hiveri cal anthority, uni the nacring ullinity of language; but. when they tist apmarmi in the cen trai parts of Europe. the description gion if them by an old cironicier of the ninti crnary (qmoted by Zeuss, p. Fit6) accords prectisels with that of the Voguls and Ustiaks. "-i)r. W. Smith. Wote to Githon: Decline and Fitl of the homentr Empire, ch. isu-" That a Miajiar femaly "Tte made her way from the Liral Mountains th, Hingary is more thau I can find; the presumptiono belige urainst it. Ifence lt is jnst possible that a whole-bivoxied Matjar was never born with the banks of the Dambe. Winether the other abe ments ate most Turk or most Nitwnic in mure than I venture to guess. "-ik. G. Lathath, Fith. noluygy of E'urope, ch. 11.-"Accorting tio thir own primitive traditions, the ruing casti, the main buxly of the nation, were the ehilitron if Mogor signiffes 'Terror'; and slightly varial br the Orientais into Magyar became the rallyin:

HLNGAHIANS.

ery of the once-splenilid IIungarian nationality." -iir F. Palgrave, Iliat. of Furmandy and Eng., bl. 1, ch. 3 (r. 1).

Also IN: A. J. Patterson, The Magyars, e. 1, ch. I.

Ravaces la Europe and settlement In Hun-fary-i The Nagyars (the fliomatie synonym for llungarians, and prohahly the proper namo of one of their tribes), diriven br internal dissensions from their native deserts, found a home for centuries around the Cancasus and along the harten shores of the Wolga. About the ebd of the 0th centiry they suddenig atmek their tents, and pressed irresistibly forward to the very heurt of Europe. . Inimediately after crowsing the eastern froatier (A. I), 889), the Magyars elected for thelr chief Arpal, the son of Ilnus, whocon. dueted them to the frontlers of Ilungary. The latter dill not aurvive to see the conchuest. The Whole boiy under Arpad's guidance conslated of about a milllon, numbering among them about $2(1),(h n)$ warriors, and diviled into seven tribes, earh haviug its chief. The eountry whieh they prepared to take possession of, and the centrial part of which was thea ealled Pannonia, was broken up into small parts, and inioubited by mees disulaihar in origin and ianguage: as sclia. vonians, Wulachians, a few Iluns and I vars, as well as soate Germans. . . Arpad sonn ileseadel with hls followers on those wide plains. whence Attila, four centuries lefore, swayed two parts of the glole. Sost dexterons horsemen, araced with ilght spears and alnost uuerriag twiws, these luviulers followed thelr leader from vietury in rletory, soon reudering themselves maters of the land lying between the Thelss and thu dinnle, earrying at the same tinte tholr devastations, on the one hand, to the dilriatie and, on the other, towaris the German frontiers If:vintr achieved the conquest, Arpad towk up lis revidence on the Danuhian isle, (sepef, thouith he seat of the eourt was Buda or Attethurg.

The luve of their new dominiou was far from curbing the passion of the Magyars fur dis. tunt homly alventure and piuuder. The nost daring deids were undertaken hy slngle chiefs. during the relen of Zoltan and his surcessor Tak. suny, whieh tilled up the first part of the tenth century. The enervaterl and snperstitious popuslation if Europe thought the Nagyars to be the scuurte of God, direetly dropped down from hearin; the very report of their approaeh was sufficirat to drive thousands into thr recesses of mountains aullilepths of fore is, whlle the priests iturased the eommon panic by mingling in thelr hitanies the words, 'God preserve us from the Maggars.' . The irruptlons of the Magyan Were simultaneously felt on the shores of the Baltic. among the Inhabltants of the Alpm, and at the very gates of Constantinople. The einjoroots of the East and of Germany were repeatedly obliged to purchase momentary pence by heavy tributes; but Germany, as unay be concelvii] from fier geogmpialcal position, was chiefly ex. priact to the ravages of these new nelghboirs. -E. Szalnad, Jungrary. Jtunt and Jrement. pt. I, eh. 1.-Sop (ienmant: A. D. 911-Gibs.

IICNQAKY, A. D. 9\%-1114.
A. D. 900-934--Ravages in Italy. Sec Italit: d. I) ( $\mathrm{m} 10-824$.
A. D. 934-955.-Repulse from Germany. "The thilverame of fiermany and c'hrioteniom was achlewal hy the saxon prinees. Ilenry the Fowler unil othic the Geret, who, in two mebura. be hatilus, furever liroke the juwar of the IInagarians." Twonty vears after their defeat by Henry the Fowler (i. I). 934) the Liungrians invaled the cupire of his sun (i. D. Disj). "nal their furce $\left\{\begin{array}{c}\text { dhetinell, in the fowest estininte. at }\end{array}\right.$ 101, (mk) horser. Ther were invited by domestle fact intu: the grates of $\mathbf{i}$ icrmany were trincheromsly unlicken), and they spremit, far beyond the Rhine and the. Meuse, Into the heart of Flanders. IBut tive vigonir and prinkence of otho dispelled the conspiraty: the princes wrep made sensible that unless they were trace to arh other, their relighon and country were Irrecowerably list ; and the national powen were reviewed In the phoins of Aurshurg. They marched and fought in eight legions, aceording to the division of provismesanu] tribes [Buvarians, Fraucoulans, Saxons, Swabinus. IB ihnomians].

The Ilungrarians were ex. perted in the front ; therercrotly passedt the Lech, a river of lasuria that fath futo the Dannle. turned the resar of the charlstian army. plumderedi the baggage: atil dimoricrial the legions of Bo. hemin and swatha. The hattle (nenr Alugshurg, Aug. 10, 9i.i) was restured by the Franconians. whose duke. the vallant Cinnad, was pioreed whth an arrow as he rested fromi his fatigues; the Saxums frught under the eyes of thelr king, and his victory surpaswed, iu nurit and importathe. the trinniphs of the last two humired years, The loas of the Illungariants was stll grenter iu the tifitht than in the action; they were eucompucsed by the rivers of isavaria; and their past eruelties excluded them from the hupe of mercy." -F. ( iibhon, Dhcline ant Fill ,i' the Roman Entpire, ch. ins.

At.mi ix: W. Mentel, Mist. of Germany, ch. 135 (r 1)-Sir F . I'algrave. IFist. of Normandy Herea of Iliztory and hegemt, ch. 8.

HUNGARY.

Ancient. See Dacta, and Pasmonla.
The Huns in possession. See Hrvs.
The Avars in possession. See Avars.
A. D. 972-III4.-Christianization of the Magyars,-Kingship conferred on the Duke by the Pope,-Annexation of Croatis and conquest of Daimatia. - ' King Geiza [of the house of Arpal_-see IIcnoahiaNs: Ravaoes in Exrope] (9i2-4nt) weas the firs pacific ruler of paran llungary, Hungary was enclosed within limits which she was never again alife to cross. and cren wlthin these llmits the Magyars were not the only inhabitants; in almost every part they were sirrounded by Slavs, whose language and laws wrre to exereise over them a lasting influence, aud ou the south east they touehed on that ifomance or Wallachian element whieh. from the time of the lioman colonies of Trijan. had contimued to develop there. Numernus marrlage's with these neighbours graduaily monl. ified the primitive type of the Jagrars. Geiza I. had married as hils scond wife a sister of the duke of l'oland. Nieczysiaw. She had beeu converted to C'liristianity, and. like C'Iotilde of France, thla princess knew how to une ber In. duence in farour of her rellglon. She persiaded Ler bushand to recelve the masionaries who eance to preach the Conspel In the eountry of the Magyur. and Ihigrim. archblshop of Lorelh, undertook the syatematle conversion of the nation. The mention of him la the ' Nibelungen Lled 'in connection with Etzel (Attla), Klag of the lluns, Is dombtlenn the to the metmory of thls misalon. He sent priesta from his diucese lato llungnry, widn in 974 he wat able to announce to the jupee 5.100 converslons.

EUNGARY, A. D. 072-1114 Convertion in the HUNGARY, A. D. 111t-1301 Magaro.

The great Cheklı apostle. St. Adalbert or Vofteeli, blishop of l'rugne, continned the work begin by Ihil. grim. Alsme D日月, he went to Cran (Esztergom), where the duke of Itungary then dweit, and solemaly lmptized the mon of Gelza, to whon he gave the name of Steplien. Henceforth the comrt of the dake beenme the recort of knighte fromall the uelghbouring countries, lout espechally from Germany, mat these kulghta, entering Into lintmute relations with the native moliflty, drew llungry and the emplre lato stll chomer unton. Prince stephen, helr presimptive to the throne, married the princess Gisella, daughter of the duhe of Bavaria, whle oue of the danghters of celza beeame the wife of the Pollsh duke Bolcslaw, and another marrienl Crseolist, doge of Venlee. Through these ullinnees, llingary ohtalued for ltself $n$ recognized plate among Earopenn stutes, and the work lxginn so well by Geiza was com: leted by Steplea, to whon was reserved the bonour of estmbilshing the posidion of his kingdom in Elurope net of completing its conversion. . . . Hungary bectime Catholle, says a Magyar lintoriat, 'int throngh npostolle teichling. nor through the lavilation of the looly See, but through the laws of klug Stephen ( Vrrbinc\%y). He was not always content to use pernuasion alome to lem his suljects to the new fillth: he lesistated not to use thereats also. Stephen sent mambissador to Rome, to treat directly with pope Nyivester, who ginelously recelved the lomage done by ham for lols klag. dom, and, by a litter dated the sith of March. 1160. announced that he took the people of llungary moler the protection of the clanch. By the same brief he grantet? :be roval crown to Sit, phen. . . . Besides thls, be conferred on hlm the privilege of having the sross ntways borne befure blm, as it symbiol of the apostolic power which le grantel to hias. The anthenticity of this patitical hetter has indeed been disputed: but, buwever that may be, the craperor of dus. tria. kinge of llungary, still bears the title of Apmiotic Mijesty:

L'nder this zreat kiug.
 dum heiwen the two emplers of the East and Wiat. . . The laws of Stepleta are contained In fol artledes divided lato two hooks. His hleas on all mattere of goverument are also to be found in the comasth which lie wrote, or cansed to be written. for bis sin Emerieh. . . . The soll for whom the great king had written his maxims died before his father, in 10:31, anal is honomred as a sinint by the clarelh. The last years of king Steple'n were harrosesel hy rlvalries and plots. He: died on the 15th of Anginst. 1038.

Steplen had chosin ns ! is successor hls nephew peter. the son of the doge [rseolns." But Peter was driven ont:!nel somest help in Rermany, bringing war into the comury. The Hunenrians ehose for their king, samuel Ala, a tribal chief; but coon depoed hlm and electer Andrew, mon of Ladislas the Buld (1:46). Androw was dethroged hy his brother lisela. in 1001 . Both Anirew and Bela hall bitter atruggien wlth revivel paganlam, whieh wan fally suppressed. Bela dleil in 1063. "According the the Asiatle custom, which stII prevalis in Turkey, he was succeeded hy hile nephew solouon. . Thls prince was ot ly twelve years of age, and the emperor, Itenry IV., took advautage of his youth to place him in in fumiliatlag pueltion of tutelage.

The enemiles of solomon aceured him of being the creature of the Germans, and reproachen hian for having done homuge to the emperor for a atate whleh lelonged to St. Peter Pope Gregory VII., Who was then atruggllig againat the ems. peror [see Papacy: A. 1). 1058-112:], encouruged the rebels. 'The klugdon of 11 ingary,' he mald, owes olvedlence to none but the chureh.' Prinee Gelza was proclamed king lat the place of Solomon, hut he died whthout having relgneni. He was aucceeded by Laillsias the llols (10ai), who was able to make himself equally findep-ndent of cinperor and pope. . . . The dylag Laid. tslas chose lils nephew Koloman as his successur.

The most linportant aet of this relgn [Koloman's, 1095-1114] was the annexation of Croatla. In 1000 , St. Ladislas had been eleeted to the throne of Crontla, and be, on his teath, left the govermment of it to his nephew Almos, who very mon :ande himaself ungepular. Koloman druve him out of Croatho, and had himself prochamed klag. 1le next bet about the conquest of lhal. matin from the Veaetlans, selzed the principal towns, Spulato (Spljet). Zara (Zadlr), and Trogir (Triu), and granted them full power of self. government. Then(110:) he had himelf erownel, at Beigrade, klog of Croitla and Dalmatia. From this time the pusition of Croatla, us re garled 11 nugury, was very muels the same as the posithon of "llungary in regard to Allstria la later tlines."- L. Leger, Hist. of Austro-1Iun. gary, eh. 5-6.-See balkan and Dastmis States : Oth-loth Centches (Bosnia, Senvia, ETr.).
A. D. 1096. -Hostllities with the first Crasaders. see Cn'salies: A. D. 1090i-1090.
A. D. $11144^{-1301}$ - The Golden Bull of King Bela.- Invasion and frightful devastation by the Tartars. - The end of the Arpad dyamsty. -" Colominn was suecerded on the throne by his son Stephen, who, after a short relgn, wns suc ceeded by Beha the 13ind. The most important event of these religns was the war with Veuice about the possession of Dimatla, and the ammes atlon to the llungarlau crown of Rama, a part of Servia. In 1141, Gelsa 11. asecnided the throne of St. Stephen. 11 is relgn was matrhoild by several lmportant events. Inaving entirily reflued Transylvania, he Invitell many saxali mid Flemish luto his kingrion, some of wham suttlel in the lianat, in the south of llangary antl others In Transyivanin. In this principality the German settlers recelved from the kine a sepmate district, being. beslites, exempted from many taxes and endowed with particular pribi Huges. .in. The following years of the 12th cintury, filled up by the relgns of Stephen 111., 13 lia 111., and Emerick. are markel by the comtinuance of the Venetlan war, but present tio Inchlents deserving of particular notiee. Bure loportant was the reign of Andrew 11., who isceulled the throne in 1205.

Andrew, by the advice of the Pope, aet out with a large army to the IIoly Land [1216-see Crumpres: R. D. 1f101220], nomina. Ing the Ban, called Banko, vlceroy of Ilungary. Whlle the IIungarion xlng spent his time in Conatantinople, and afterwand In operations round Mount Tabor, Hungary be. came b scene of violence and raplie. aggravated by the careless and unconatitutional administrs. thon of the queen's forelga favourites, as well as by the extortions committed by the ollgarchy on their lnferiors. Recelving no rupport from the king of Jerusalem, Andrew reaolved on return. lag home. On hls arrival In Hungary, he had the mortification of fndlog, In adiltion to a dis. affected nobllity, a rival to the throne la the permen of hils son Beln. As the complaints of the $r$ beceme dably louder, the kling resolve. ciatirm the privlleges of the country by a new charter, called The Oohien Bull. Thlstonk place In the year 1222. The chlef provislons of this charter were as follows: - 1at, That the staters were henceforth to be annually convoked elther uader the presidency of the king or the palatlae; ©4. That no nobleman was to le arrested whout belag previously tried and legally ecntenceal; 3d, That nu contribution or $t$. was to be levied on the property of the noble sh, That lf called to military service berond se fronthers of the country, they were to lee panl by the king: 5th, That high oftices should nelther be naule heredi. tary nor glven to forelgners without the consent of the Dlet. The most limportant polnt, how. ever, was arthele 81st, whleh conferred on the nobles the right of appealing to arms in case of any violatlon of the faws by the crown. Other provishons contulned In thls charter refer to the exianfinu of the lower clergy from the payment of tuxes unil tolls, and to the deterabluation of the thenes to be pall by the cultivotors of the soll. Aalrew died soon after the promulgation of the clartor, and was succeedeal by his son Bela IV. The treglanhig of thls prince's relsn was troulberd with Internal dasenslons caused by the Cumas [aa Eintern trlle which invaled If ingary In the later lialf of the lith century - sere Cusisces], who, after havlag been vanquished by st. Ladis. laus, settle' In 'lungary between the banks of thi" Theiss and Marosch. But a greater and quitr narx pected danger, which threatened IIungatry with utter destructlon, arose from the lnFusion of the Tartars. Thelr lewhler Batu, after having lalid waste Polamd and Nilesla, pourcul with his lmumerable bands Into the herart of Hlagary [sec Mongols: A. D). 1229-1204]. Iaterual dissensions faclitated the trlumph of the $f$ in' aad the battle fought on the banks of the river sajo (A. D. $12+1$ ) terminated in the total defeat of the IInigarlans. The Tartur horices sjreal with astutishing rapidity throughout the whole country, whlch ha few weeks was comiverted hito a chaos of hlowel and flames. Not contenterl with wholesale massacre, the Tirtar leader devised sharis to destroy the lives of those who succeeded lin making thi.lr ratipre iato the recesses of the monnta'ns and the inepths of the forests. Among tho.e who perinted la the battle of Sajo was the IHancarian chacellor, who carrled with him the seal uf state. Butu having got possession of the senal. "alusel a prorlamation to lue mate $\ln$ ithe name ni the lluagariwn klag [calling the people back t. their hoases], to which he affixed the royal btaniu). . . Trusting to thls appeal, the miser.
able people issued from their hiding-places, and teturned is their homen. The cuaning barbe. rian firat caused them to do the wrork of harvedt In onder to mupply hls hories with provislons, and then put them to an indlacriminate death. The king Bela, in the meantlme, sucereded la making his way thruugh the Carpathlan Mountains Into Ausiria; but insteal of recelving as. wistance from the arch-duke Frolerick, he was retaluml as a prisoner. Having pledged three countles of Ilingary to Freterick, Bela was Illowed to depart. .. In the menntlme Batu was as prompt in lcating Jlungary, In conse. guence of the cieuth of the Tartar khan.
Belir was sucreveled on the throne by hils son Wtephen, In the year 1280." The relgn of Stephen was ahort. IIe was followell by Laullslaus IV., who alllet hlmasif with Jinlolph of IIapsburg in the war whlell overtlirew and lestroyed Ottoucer or Otticar, klag of Buhemia (fee Austria: A. D. 1246-1282). "The relgn of thls prince, called the Cuman, was lesslides, troubleal by most devistathag internal dlassinshons, cansed by the Cumans, whose numbers were contlanally aug. mented by fresh arrivals . . . from thelr own trlbe as well as from the Tartars." Ladisimis, dyling in 1200, wis sulcereded by Andrew III., the linst JImegurian king of the homse of Arpad, "This prime hat to dopute his throne whith IRulolph of IIapalmis who eve veted the crown of IIungary forfily son Alle rt. The apparince, howeres, of the Iungarinn trinjus lefors the sutes of Vlennu compelled the Austrian cinperor to sue for peace, whlch was cementerl by a family allance, Andrew having espoused Agnes, daughter of Alleert. . . . Nor tide thes matrianonlal allance with Austria secure jeuce to Ihngary. Pope Nleluolas $\boldsymbol{I} V$, was lent nown galnlag the crown of St. Stephen for (harles Murtel, son of Charles d'A njou of Naples, who put forwaril hls clulms to the IImigarlan crown lin virtue of his mother, Mary, dinghter of kIng stephen V.," traasferring the at at he death to Charlow lkobert, neplew of the klige of Naples. Aadrew III., the last Arpul, dled in 1301.-E: Szabad, IIungutry, Pant and Irawent, pt. 1, ch. 2.
A. D. 1285.-Wallachian struggle for Independence. No Balean asd Danínina States;

A. D. 3308 -1442. - The House of Anjou and the House of Luxemhourg. - Conquesta of Louia the Great. - Beginning of wara with the Turka. - The House of Austrla and the disputed crown.- On the extimetloa of the ancient rice of klags, In the male line of descent, by the death of Amirew III., In 1301, the crown was "eoatested by several compettiors, and at length fell lito the hamis of the House of Anjon, the relgniag fanily of Naples [see Italy (Sot'tuers): A. D. 1343-1389]. Charles Robert. grandson of Charles II. Kiag of Naples. by Dary of IIungary, ulitstripped hls rivals [1:310], aall transuniturl the crowu to his son Louls, surnamed the Grent [134:]. This priuce, character. lzed by his eminent ifualitles, made a distia. gnished flgure amour the Kings of Ilungary. He contuereal from the Veactiaus the whole of Dalmatla, from the frontlers of Istriu, as far as Durazzo; he remeced the princes of Mohlan vas. Waliachia, Bosulit aul Bulgaria to a state ot le. peadence; and at leugth mounted the throne of Poland, on the death of his uncle, Casimlr the Great. Mary, his eldest daughter, succeeded princesa marrfel sigismumi of laxeinhwiurg (afterwarila Eimeneor, 1411-148\%-mee (ivenmaxy: A. I). (afi-1 103 ), whin thum ualted the mumarely of llungary to the Inperlal cruwn. The relgin of Slgismund in flungnry was most unfortunate.

IIUNOARY, 142-1403.

He liail to sustain ilee flrat war agalnat thio Otioman Turks: and. with the Einiperar of Con. stunthonple as hila ally. he asmenthe a formulablic. arnys. with whilh hie milertenk the slege of No. copmilis in llalgarla [we Tikkn (Tuk Otromaxa): A. 1). $1380-1+133$. In life retreat be was compelled to cunburk on the lhambe, and dilrected his tight tuwarls constuntlouple. This cllanater wan fillowiol hy new minfortunes. The malacon. tents of llungary offerel thelr crown to Lallslams, calleal the Magnominows. KIng of Naples.
 wamls surrembereal to the Winetham. Inslrous to provile for the defence amis erly of hla kIngidina, Niglsmand arpulteet, ly with the Prince of servla, the fort ress of Thes, e(1485), Whileh. ly lis altuat' $n$ at the comathes, of af the Dumber anil the Ni,.et, wermed to him a pruper bilwark tu protert llingary nigalnat the Turka. lle transuitteod the erown of Ilungary [ $\ln 1437$, when he dhet| to his san-In Inw. Allert of Aus. trin, who mpural only two yeurs. "-C. W. Koch.
 afterwarls the Emperor Alhert II., was the fimi prlace of the llouse of Ilabsinirg that enjoyed the crowns of llumgary and Bhhemha, which muni, whise ouly danghter, Ellzilheth, he limi marriod. Fillatheth was the chilh of 'Barbara vua (illy, SLgismuluil's scernul wife. whose noturl. ous whers hat prowiret for lior the intinus epr. thets of the 'Bat.' atol the ' (termnn Messallinn. Barbara lual iletermbeel to supplant harr :laughter. to clatur the two rrowns us har dayry, nat tio give tholn, whith her hand, to Whalishons, the young Klug of l'olntil. who, thomgh to years her jundur, she lion murkel nut for hire future hinslame. With thls vhew she was courtlag the Ilassite party In Bohemin: huts slgismunali, $n$ lit tle before his drath, cinnset her tic be arresteal; 3nd, nssembling the Ilumgarlun and lwoheminn nohber at Znasm. In Mornvin, (weranaled them, al. mow with his ilying breath, to eleet INlere ne his sureswir. Sigiominil expletrel the arxt day (lece.
 king he the Ilmgarian diet. and In mediately relensul his mother la haw Barlmis. upon her agreeIng to resture mome fortrewes wheli sle helil lin Ihagrary. Ifedil mot se easily ohtaln possesslona of the bothomian crown. The whort refign of Albert ha lhagnry was clisast roms both to limseff and to the combiry. I'r.. -.. to his futal expeltitinn urainst the Tur the Ilungarian dict. Thefore it the surcersing to the thrume, b a conviluminn which destroy on strength of governhernt. By the cretum shertl leman." he reduced to be the mere shatlow of a king, while by ex. alting the labatine [a magistrate next the the kity in rank, wher presitled over the legal tri-bman-..., nall disehargeal the functions of the king in the absence of the latter]. the clergy, anil the nolles, be perpetuated ail the evlls of the frudat ysten. . The thost absuril and pernlelous regulations were buw aloptell respectlag the milltary system of the klugdum, and such is renclered it almost impoalthe effectually in realat the Turke. On the ileath of Allimer. Winils. Inus [Ladhalain) I11., Klare of Prolan! (the secomi l'olith king of the dynaty of Jagellon), wha electel to the throne of Ilungary. dibest, beslidey two daughtera, had left hin wifi Fillzalueth pregnant; anil the llıngarlana, ilfeal Ing a long milunrity in came she sheulil give birth 10 a am, comuselled her to offer her hand in Whallslana, agrvelug that the crown sheulit in.
 Ing that if Eillzaleth's chlli shoulid prove a mak. they would enilvavour to procure for lilin th: kingiom of Bohemin noil the duchy of diveria; anil that he should mapover suereet to the Ilangarlan throne In came Whalsmas bail nus lasure liy Ellzalieth. senrcely lum the llongarian min hasamler set of for the court of Whallivans with these propoana, when Eiliznleth brought firth s won, who, from the clrculustances of his hirth.
 now repentel of the arraugement that hall han mate: and the new: havlige arrlvetl shat the arelicluke Frelleriek hall hern elertell Empurnion Gernaag, she was Induced to withalraw her conment to marry the Klog of l'ulath. Mossenitiers ware deapitiluel to reeall the llungnrian nmbis. sadora; but It wan tox late- Windinlous lmal ano Cepted her haml, and erepared to enter llingerry wlth an army.

The purty of the Klac of I uland, especinily ni it was hemded ly dolat of Innymi, proved the atringur. E:llzinneth was compellet to abnalon lawer Ilumgary anil take refuge at Vienan, carrying with her the crown of St. strphen, which, with her infant mon, she. in. trasted to the care of the Emberor Fremicrick III. (August Bri, 140). . . In Sovemikr 11 t! Ellzabeth and Wladlslans lind an Interview at Rault, when a pence was agreel upmot the termis of which are unknown: lint it is probinhle thit one of the chlef cundletons was a marriage las. tween the contractlig purthes. The sulilerillath of Ellzniketh. Dec. ztht, 1442, not whthont nisplelon uf pilson, preventel the rutiffention of a treaty whech hal never beer agremble to the great party: lell by dohn of Ilunyat, whose re eent vleturien over the Turk gave hlm enornems lufuence. "-T. II. Dyer. Hist, nf Mentern E'u'...* introd. (r. 1$)$
A. D. 1364.-Reverslon of the Crown guaranteed to the House of Austria. Siedirith A. D. $13330-1364$.
A. D. 1381-1386, - Expedition of Charles of Durazzo to Naples. See Italy (N(uThens): A. 1). $1343-1389$.
A. D. $144^{2-1444 .-W a r s ~ o f ~ H u n i a d e s ~ w i t h ~}$ the Turks. Se finks (Tine Ortomans): A. II 1402-1451.
A. D. 1442-1458. - The minority of Ladislaus Posthumus.-Regency of Huniades. - His defeat of the Turks and his death.-His son Matthias chosen king on the death of Ladislaus. - l'eace intween the fuctons was brmisht about by nn ngreement that "the Pollsh king should retain the government of llungary natil Ladlslans nttalactl hils majority; that he slowid be possessed of the thrune in case the young prinee dled without lssie; and the compact was sealed by alliancing the two lnughters of Elisiaheth to the King of Poland ant his ?re: !a: Casimir. The young Ladlulans whs alon :ac. knowledged as King of Bohemin; and the: as minlstratiun during his mlnority vested lin two

HUNOARY, 144-1459.
Hundaife and the rupke.

HLNGAKY, 1471-1487.

Regrats: Malnard, Count of Nonhous, chomen un the part of the Calhollew: mol Heary I'tariko, and after his denth densge l"oilrisemb, on that of the limaltes. The death of I!lallainna in the nemomble lattle of Wiarmagaln left llutgenry Without a ruler; and ma Frelerde 111 . jweminted In rutalulag the younc liailalans and the erown if No. steplien, the Ilungntans entrumed the povarament to John Corvinia IInnlumen, the pre.
 When the Eimperor Frealeric retermel from lialy lato (iarmany, " he found hlmadf lavinived la a tllapinte with the Auntrlana, the lbolebilama, sme tha Ilumgarlinas, lit rempect to the customly of the y口ung Ladlsiana. An Ladlalaina hul How of the detenthon of thelp noverdign at the life. jerlal court. Whlat Podlelifal contlnued ti.

 uffilim of Anstrla were dlrectenl lọ̆ F'rederfe; und the mapmpulariy of has governinatit cousw it a promeral maxdely for $n$ change. Hat to glve nj) the costinty of his ward was contrary to the billry of the Emperor, nul lis the liope of Allonilug the Austrman be marclond whlo a foree nunuruta; he wita hlmaself entinngerent by a whene li Siantuit: and compellerl to purrhase his do.
 Thu stutem of Austrla, Holumin, anil Ifurgary miminiatrution of Aitatrla, together wlils the rivin ly of Laullalans, wax contiled to hls hia. tornal premt onnele. Tirlo. Count of Clill. The ruwnturint of Fraderic diee bot npperar to lavie Inrol wherment; for In the followlug yenr [1tid]] he ralved Aumerla to an arclulutelise nul by is prant of ivprechal prolveges plareal the Dake of the prowlue una level with the Electors. After lnjug crowned Klos of Bolemia at Prugue, danlishas was Invited by hls Itumgarlun suljocet: ti) vist that klngdom. But the Conat of ('lill fegling of the power of Ilumbiles, so far worked sivjldons of the regent's littegrity. An nttempit w, :Hale to solze Ilunlades liy entletug him io Proachary of l'Irle, and prevallo्d on Lamishanm to visit his praple. At Hidar, an appareut reconcilindint tonk place letween the commt and the rigent: lint l'jrle stlll persisted In his deslgu of ruitulag the credlt of a man whon lie reguriled asil tamgerous rival. In the momom: of dineger, the liravie suirlt of Haladeg trhmup il over hils lisidious trmburer: the slege of Bil_role by the Turks [14id], umber Nahoned 11., threw Ilunfiry into consteranton; the roynl jujll and his crafty guardlan abandoned the flumgarlans to - יir fate amd precijitately tley to Vleuma; who. Ilunimles was left to eccountor the fury: of the storm. . . The undannted resistince of that re-mowned enptaln preserved Belgrime; the indiol in ulame a desperite struggle, were cona-

 (1) 30 ( kH ) mens: und the sinlun himself wins Se-vorily wounded [see Tinks: A. D. 1451-1481], The yrat defender dhal not long survlie hls iti. umph; lyiag, som after the ret trent of the enemy, t: it feftr uccasioned by lis extruordinary exerMitthlas Corvinus, left two sons, Ladlelhus and Mitthas Corvinus, who were as much the fdols of their cointry as they were objerte of jablouay It l'Iric amil the Kilag. The latter, imfeeml, tox) cure to treat them whith every mark of exterual Reapret ; but the Injurfous behaviour of the crount provokeil Labllulans Corvinus us opets vholeace: mmi, In a permonal retheninter, C'Irfe recolveif a inortil wommi. Enragerl at the thenth of him favourlte s titremilng the vengwance of the frople. Klng ladimans remorted to trearlery ; and the brothorm loing lurail loto hin in)wer, the yomucr Wins Inchembid us a ninflerer [148i]. Shatthate Way prowrevel from death by the nerbiern of the with bla prlanotr tol'rugle; and ielag there at-a preminture grave after molforing for ouly a few humrs. Tho dentls of Jablialuas I'milaumus Hunged the Finjeror lito new dlallenlthes. IHis Alceremblen to the Austrinn terrfiory wus opjowed hy hly bruther Albert VI., whome hostllity had loing troubleal hin ropane. The Bubembins reJereivi his chalin to thitr throne, and couferred the rrown on the morr thewring I'ollebral [1458]. The Itumgurluna testithol thelr regaril for the memory uf Ifunhies ('orvinus by electlog hata mon Matthias, who purelusell hly llberty from Lily viewne Frealerlor cons thons if with his re. fintlon of the erown of: "filuel; and bla perthanelty In rexpert to this ase red reilyue involved hlm lir a wor whls the new K'lng of Ilungury." Nir IR. ('omyn, Ilint. of the Himtern Eimpire, ch. $8 (r. ${ }^{2}$ )
A. D. 844.- Wallachia taken from the Turks Ne Tunks ('Itt Ortomass): A. D 14 (3)-1451.
A. D. 1468-1471.-King Mathias joins the crualade againtt George Podiebrad of Bohemla and claimn the Bohemlan crown. Sec BoHFItA: A. I). 14:*-14il.
A. D. 14; I-1487, -The wars of Mathian whth Bohemia, Poland, the emperor and the Turks.-Conquent and occupation of Austria. - Latlishans, elected to the throne of lbohema on the dentl of Geurge Pinlinlorme. Wis supported ly all the furees of his futher, the king of ponand, and Matthans of Ifungary was muw involved In war with both. Jentuwhile. "lals whole king. doun wis agltated ly in iextine conumblons, and n wtrong party of ninfles brexkine out into hasurrectlon, hat offered the erawn to Cuslaila, prince of Pohnind. At the sume thane, the Turks linving sulndua! Trausylvanin, aul risuged Dulmala and Crontla, built the fortress of $anlmetr on the Sure, and froms thence hirisisal Ilnogary when perpetual lus als. Fronu these lupwilling dangrers, Mathhas exiricatel hanelf by hls courage, metivity, and prualonete. While lie carrlal the wur into IhJlemhn mond Silesia, lee awed, ly hls presemoe, his relvellions sulojeets, concllinted by dogrees the disutfectiol mohles, expelted the loles. Hud, by till iujortant vichory la the vidnlty of Brenlin, ower the nuitol wrmies of Poles and Bu. Itembins, forcerl the two soverelgns, in 1 tit, to conclude nu nrmistice for three jears und a half. He nviled hlusclf of the suspenslon of arms te repel the Turks. Ife sinpported Stephen Hathuri, hosporlar of Wallachia, Who lund slaken of itn: Ottoman yoke, ly a rujnforcement of trorem. cuabled lim te delays Mahomet hlmaedf (ou the phan of Keuyer-Meso. October, 1479], Bt the head of 1 (h) 006 men, and seone ufterwards secural his frontlers on the slde of the Danube by the

HUNGAPY, 1471-1487. Foreign Finga HUNGARY, 1487-1526.

eapture of Szabatch. Ilaving in monsequence of these successes delivered his dmminions from the aggresslons of the Turks, he hastenerl to gratlify his vengeance against the eniperor, whose conduct bad afforded so many causes of complaint. After instlgating Matthias to make war on George I'oliebrad, Frederie 1 nd ahandoned him in the midst of the contest had refused to fultal his promise of investling him with the kingdom of Bohemin, hai conelnded an alhinnee with the kings of Poland and Boltemhi, and, on the loth of June, $147 \%$, formally conferred on Ladislans the investlture of the erown." Mathlas, as son as he lund freed himself from the Turks (14;9), deelared war against the emperor and invaded Austria. "Frederie, left without a single ally. Was umable to make the smallest reslstance, and In less than a month Mat thlas overran the greater part of lantor Anstria, iuvested the capital, and elther besidged or eapturem all the fortresses of the I):nulbe, as far as Krems and Stein. Frederic fled In dismay to Lintz, and, to snve his capital. was reduced to aceept the conditlons lmposed by the concpuemr," which included a promised payment of 100,000 dineats. This payment the shifty emperor evaded. when Matthins hecame Invoived anew, us he presently did, in hostllities with Bohemia and Puland. "Matthias, Irritated hy his conduct, eoncluded a peace with Ladis. lans, by which he ucknowledged him as king of Bohemin, and agreed that Moravia, silesla, and Lanstia [which had been surrenlered to himing 14\%i] shmhla revert to the crown of Bohemin, in case of his leath withont Issue. Ile then again Invaded Anstria; but his arms were not attenderi whth the samer lapid suecess as on the former invasion. . . It was 1 , four vears, which ca? perseverance of the most expricinced e. possersion of the capt

1 after a contest of all the skill und - onarel and hila .it they obtitned ? $]$ and the nelyhlumring fortrases, ann? ion of how the subjurastalt, the fivomite rosilunce of the of conperor. Frederie, Iriven from his hereditary dominions, at first tonk rofuge ut (iratz: and, on the aj]proach of dampor, wanlered from city to city, and from "ousent to convent." After many appeals, he Hershaled Allert, dake of Saxony, to take the thell in his hehaif. but Allert, with the small fore $\cdot$ at his eommand, comld only retard the progrese of the invaldr, muli he sion conelmidel an armistice with him. "In conserpunce of this arrerment, be [. Illore of Saxamy, in Novembre, 1 Nit, abmudoned Anstria. and Gathias wis 1 remitted to retain possession of the embquered torritorics, mitil Frexheric had diselarged lis formor engegement, and reimbursed the ex. penses of the war; whould Mathias tie lefore that Iucrionl, these stateas were to revert to their trin, ch. IN ir. 1 .
A. D. 1487-1 526.-Death of Mathias.-Election of Wladislaw, or Ladislaus, of the Polish house of Jagellon. - Union of the crowns of Hungary and Bohemia.-Loss of the Austrian provinces. - Treaty of Succession with Maxi-milian.-Insurrection of the Kurucs.-Loss of Belgrade.-Great Turkish invasion and ruinous battle of Mohacs. - The end of Hungarian independence. - "When once the archdichity of Anstria was conquared, Mathias, who was already master of Moravia and Silesia, had in his power a state almost as large as the Austria of the present time, if we except from It Gallela and Bohemia. But his power had no solld fonndia. tlon. Whlle the infuence of the house of Austria had been increased by marriage, Jathias Corvinus had no legitimate helr. He nume several attempts to have hats natural son. Juha Corvinus, born in Silesia, recognized as his sulecessor; hit he died suddenly ( $: 490$ ) at the a 2 c of 50 , without having arranged anything defl. altely for the future of his kingdem. . . . Itungary remehed her hlghest point in the reign of Mathlas Corvinus, and from this time we shali have to watch her hopeless decay. The dict dlvided by the ambltion of rival barons, could decide on no nathonal king, and so turned tu a forelgner. Wladyslaw II., of the [Polish] home of Jagellon, was eleeted, and thus a king of Buslemia, and an old rival of Mathhas, united the two crowus of St. Vaeslav and St. Stephena unlon which had been so ardently hoped for by Mathias, and for which he had wagel the miserable war against Ikohemla. . . . The beginning of the new relgn was not fortumate. Maximilian [son of the Einperor Fredericl re. covered the Austrian provinees, and Jolun of Poland declared war against his brother. Whalys. law, and obliged hhm to cede part of Silesia: to him. Maximilian invaled the west of Ilmgrary, whence he only conseuted to retire uftir Whadyalaw had ngreed to a treaty, which se eurcillingary to the house of Anstrin, in race of Wladyslaw dying withomt children. This treaty, in which the king disposed of the comstry without eonsulting the dict, roused universal indignation.

Meanwhile, the Tarks thronard round the sonthern fronther of the kingetim. 13ajazet II. had failed to capture Belgranto ia 1492, but he conld not be prevented from forving his way into the valley of the save, and hemting the Ilungarian mray, which was bully jaill and badly disctplined.

Whadystaw liad one कun, Lontis. Surromaded by the net of Austrian di. plomacy, he had allanced this son in his cradle to Mary of Anstria, the sister of Charles V... ind later on he matertook. In detiance of public opinion, to leave the erown to his damgliter Jume. who was leetrothed to Ferdinamd of Anstria, if Lentis should die withont heirs.

To mblo to the miseries of his reigu, a peitsint rising, it tor rible Jaçnerie, took place.
 thal Theracz came from lome, brhging with bim the papal bull for a emsale ngainst the inf. dels; wheroupon the peasants armed themsetwes. as if they were ubont to mareh against the 1 urhs. and then turned thelr arms arginst the buhles. This terrible insurreetion is eatled in II angarian history the insurrection of the Kurues (Kournut. se's, cruciati) crusaders.

The chief lealur of the insurrection, the pensint I)osza, was ollo of the Szacklers of Transylvania.

Dosza was beaten in a bititle near Temesvar, and fill into the hands of hes enemies. Their vengeance was terrible. The king of the peasints was satated on a throne of tre, and crowned hy the exerditurer with a redhot crown. Ile bure his frithtful sunfarings with a courage that ustunished his adversaries.

The fecble Wladyshaw aliol ia 1515, und the reigu of the child-king, laui- 11 . may he summed inp in two eatastrophes, the: lima of Belprude and the defeat at Mohacs. The foung king, inarried lu his crudle. was corrugt and ilisoblute, und quite incajable of govirnimg.
and his guardians could not rise to tite helght of the occasion. The finances of the kingdom were in great disorder, and the leading barons quarseifei continuaily over the shreds of sovereignty stiii icft. . . This state of thlngs was of the greatest use to the Turks, for while Hungary was slnking ever deeper into nnnrehy, Turkey was ruled by the great sovereign who was caited Soliman the Magniffecnt. It was not long before he found a pretext for war ln the nrrest of one of iis subjects as a spy, and assembled his troops at Sophia, captureti Siubats [Szahateh], lald sloge to Bejgrate and took it, making it thenceforward a Mussuiman fortress (1521). The key of the Danule was now ln the hands of the Turks.

King Loulis begged for heip on every sitie.
Tiue Austrian prinees were ready to heip him from interested motives; hut even wifen juined with Ilungary they were too feebie to conquer the armies of 'the Magnitecent.' On tilu 2.0 th of April, 1526, Soliman quitted Constantinopic, bringing with him 100,000 men and 3 (th) cannon, taking up arms not oniy against Ilungary, bit against the empire. One of the pretista for his expecition was the captivity of Framis I. ; he wisiet, he said, to save the bey of France 'from the hands of the Germans and their ailies the Hungarians. He crossel the Save near Osick (Esse-k), enptured Petervardin, and came up with tine Hungarians at Molues, on the right bank of the Dimube (August 20, 152R). The Mingur aruy wis commmaded by the king in permin, nssincid by Paui Tomory, archlisisiop of Kalocsa, oute of the warike bishops of whom llungirs gives us so many exaniples; by George Szandrai, and by Peter Perenyi, behop of Nage Varmi (Great Varadin). I'rengi wishod (1) treat with the Turks, in orifer to gnin time fur heip turaci them from Croatia nud Transylviaia. but the inmpetuosity of Tomory decifed in iuncollate battie.

At first, it seemell as if the butle was in favonr of the Blagyars; but Soliman ham commanded that the froni ranks of his aruy shomid give way hefore the Ilungarian cavalry; and tiatit tien the main body of his trinips sirould ciose around them. Wien the Maryirs were thus easily within reacit, they were overwiefmed by the Turkish nrtiliery ani fireedi to retreat. They took refige in sume narely land. in which many of them lost their livio. The king had disappeerred; Tonory was slain: sevph bishops, 22 birons, and 22.000 wren were left unon the theld. The road to budiarne winte before the invadiers, nend after fiaving iatio wate the whole country on their way, they rowhed the eapitai, whine on the treasmres, whey Mithis Corrinus hai eollertedi in his paiare and his ibrary were cither earried off or committed tu the thimes. . . Then the tide of invasiona with rulns. The hadependent existence of ilunFiry culed with Louls II."-L. I.eger, Hist. of Mi:e in: L. Fulhermann, Ihngary and ita mint. el. 3.
A. D. $1526-1567$.-Eiection of John Zapoiya to the throne.-Rival candidacy and eiection of Ferdinand of Austria.-Zapolya's appeal to the Turks.-Great invasion by Soliman.Siege of Vienua. - The sultan master of the greater part of the country. - Progress of the greater part of the country- - Progress of the smmer was the corpse of Louis II. found Iying lin a marsh. under his mangled steed, than the necessity of speedliy electing a new monareh was powerfully feit. Louis left no heir to the throne, while his wife Mary, arehdueless of Austria, far from trying to possess herseif of the heim of tite state, wias aiready on her way to Vienna. even before the results of the hatte of Mohacs hari become fuliy known. The s.cant throne found thus an aspirant $\ln$ John Zapmiyn, waivoi of Transylvnnla and count of the Zips, wiolav encunped with a mighty arniy nt Szegedin. on hls narch to the piain of Moinces. . . Tite Diet, winch met on the pinln of Rakos (1526), pro thon wis, han, the walvod receiving his royal then at W, is, he, : Steplen Batory, the 1 hatine however, actan ed by enry rather than intitil flrst ationt ell to oppose to the new, age lise interests of tl e widow of Lonis II. tine fle..: 1 strian a achuinel iss, unwiling to enter the flea. .o. over her role to her i,other Feriinand I. of Austria, who was narried to Anne, sister of the late Ilungarian king. Feriinand soon repaired to Preshurg. a towil beyond the reach of Zapoiya's nrma, where ine was clected king of Ifungary by an aristocratie party, headed by the puiatine Batory, Francis Battinny, Ban of Croatia, and Sumasiy." After a frubitess conference between representatives of the rixal kings. they procceded to war. Zapoifa was " master of the Whole country, except some parts berond the Danube," lout her remainedi inactive at liada until the Austrians surpriserd him there and foreed him to evncmate the cupital. "Wort ubie to make harad grainst the forcign meremaries of Ferdinand, Zapolya was soun obligeti to ennfine himseif to the northern frontiers, tlli he ifft the kingdoun for Poinati, there to solicit heip and concert mernsures for the remewni of the war (15:24)." Receving no eneonragement from the king of Pobind. Zapmiga nt iengtio adidressed himseif to the great enemy of Ilungary, the suitan Soliman, and there he met no rethiff. The Ottoman conqueror made instant preparations to king Thngary as the chaminion of its native king. Thercupon "Zapmlya organized a small army. nued crossed the frontiers. It is urmy was sinnuswelled to thousands, and be had possessed himseif of the greatest part of CPper. before suliman legran to pour down on Lower llungary. ... Proclaming to the peopie that inis arruy was not come to eonquer, but to assist their edected native king, soliman marched onWaris, terok Buda, Grim, and Ranb, uli of them simmeiessly given up by Ferlimmi's merce. naries, and moved on umopposed to the wadis of Vicuna [liz9]. Ferdinani, in his ciestress, iuvoked tite assistance of Germany ; but his brother [the] emjerior, as wrif ns the lijet of Npires, engrossed with lather and inis followers, . . . were not forward to render their nssistance. Vienna, however, thongh nagiected ly the German emiveror, was monentarily saved by the ndranced state of the suasin; for whiter being at itand, the Turks, according to their usage at that sraof Turks is suidi to inave numberced 850.006 ment While the river swarmedi with 400 Turkish bents. Twenty flcree assullts were maie upon the defenses of tie city. in as many disy. Tite suburhs were destroyed and the surrimnding country terriliy ravaged. Before raislng the siege

IIUNGARY, 1520-1567. Rule of the Turks. IIUNGARY, 1567-1604

the baffled Turk massuered thousands of captives, under the walls, only carrylng away Into slavery the roung and fair of both sexes. The repulse of Solimun is "au epoch in the history of the world "-Sir E. S. Creasy, Ilixt. of the Ottoman Turka, ch. 9.] . . Zupolya, having taken up his posltion In Bulin, ruled over the greatest part of Ilungary: while C'rontia snhmitted to Ferdinand. A useless war was thus for a while carried on between the two rival soverelgns, In the midst of which linda lmed to sustain a heavy siege conducted by General loggendorf; but the garrison, though rediced so fur as to be ohliged thent lorsetlesh, succerded in repelling and routlug the Austrian lextogers (1530)." Fervinand now humbled himself to the sultan, besecehing his friendshlp and sipport, but in vain. The war of the rival kings went on untll 1538, when It was suspended by what ls known as the Treaty of Grosswardein, whleh ronceded to ench purty possesslou of the parts of the conntry whileh he then oceupied: which gave the whole to Zapolyn If Ferdinnd died withont male lssae, and the whole to Ferdiande If Zapolya died before him, even thongh Zapolya should leave an leir - but the heir, In this latter ease, was to murry Ferdlnand's daugliter. Thls tronty problaced linmease Indignation In the comitry. "That the never-lespairing and ambitions Zapolyn meant that step rither as a means of nomentiry repose, nuily safely be assnmed; but the development of his schemes was urrested by the hami of denth ( 15410 ), whild removed the wemry warrior from these seches of blowi, at the very moment when luls ears were gladdened hy the news that he land berome the futher of a son." Ferdimam now clamed the ambivided sovereituty, areording to the terms of the Treaty of Grosswardiein; bat the quen-thwager Isaliella, wife of dohn Zapuly. maintained the rights of her infunt son. She was supported by a strong party, anlmated and led by one George Marthusslas, a priest of extranclinitry jowers. Both Ferdinaml and Isa. bellis appended to the sultan, as to an neknowl. edged snzernin. Ile dredared for young Zapolya, and sent an army to luala to establish hils antliority, while another Turkish ırmy ocrapheal Transylvinia. "Soliman som followed in persom, mule his entry into ] Bula [1:511], whleh he determined to hedplpermanently ew apied darimp the minorlty of Sigismund; ind nsonring lantrella of his affection to the son of John, bate leer retire with the child to Transylvinia; a piece of adviee which she followed but without some reluetane and distras. Buela wist thas hellefforward governed by al pisha: the army of Fertinmal was ruincil, and solimna, unter the title of an nlty, becime nbsolute lori of the conntry. After a few years "new romplieations anil diflicalties arose in Transy lviana, when Marthussius, who was contirmed by solimana in his eapiatity of guardian to the foung sigismund and reqe.it of that country, began to excite the suspuion of quern Isiluilli. Fermianal, nware of these cir comstanes, mareherl marmy into Trumstvanit, heanled hy C'mathlo, who wist instrueted to gain war the monk thtor." Martinussins was won by the promise of a cardimal's hat: with his helpp the yneen-fowager wats conered into alslieating lu lehalf of her som. Ilaving brought this uhont, Ferdinand busely procurcel the assussinntion of the monk Martimasslas. "P Fur from galning by an act that stamped his awn namu with eternal shame, Ferdinsnd was soon driven by the Turks from Truusyivanla, and lost evin the plares orcupied by lifs troops in Ilnugary.

Transylvauia owned the sway of slgismanal Zapolya, while Ferdluand, in spite of the crown of the Geruan empire, recently conferred ujw him. was faln to praserve in IIangary some smull distriets, contighons to his Anstrinn dominions.

In the year 1563; Ferilnamel cinvoked hls party at Iresburg," and prevailed upon them to go through the form of eiecting lis son Maximilian to the Ilangarian throns.

- Ferdinand soon after died (1564), leavine thril. sous. Of these, Maximllian succeeded his fathor in Anstria; Ferdinnmi luherlted the Tymol; and Charles, the youngest son, got possisision if Styria. Dlaxlinllian, who, in adilition to his Anstrian dominions, succected to the throue of Bohemin and to that of the German empire, proved as impotent in IInngary us his father himi beeu. The Pasha of Buia raled the groitar part of IIungury proper: Sigismathl Zapolya contimed to molatain his anthority in Transit. vania.

Ills [Maximilinn's] reigu left Ihin gary inuch the same ns it was uncer his predecessor, althongh much creifit ls the to the nentral line of conduet he observed in regard to religions uffairs. L'nlike the rise und progress of the Reformatlon in the rest of Enrope, religinus reform in Ilungary was rather an nditionai element in the politicai contlict than its origiatitor. . . . I3y the buttle of Mohacs, the leformat tlon was freed from a bigoted king and many persecuting prehtes; while Ferlinand, comiving at the I'rotestant pirty in Gormany, wis withbedd from persecating lt in limgary, the more so from the dremi theit his rivnl mighitt win the I'rotestant party to his interest. The I'rotestants thas lnerensed in humber anifl the din of arms. . . The sectariau spirit, thongh sumeWhat lnter thin else where, found also its wity into this laud of blome, and Mungary wiss sonil pus sessed of considerahle bonlies of Lutheriths amp Calvinlsts, besides a smnller number of Andatap tists and Nocinians.

Culvin's followers wire mostly lugyars, while Lutheranism found its centre point in tha Crerman population of Transylvania." In liNifo, Maximisilin, encouraged by some subsidies obtahed from his German sub jects, beran hostilities agninst the Tarks and uguinst Sigismand in Transylvanin. This pro voked muother formidable invasion by that grat sultan Soliman. The progress of the Turk was stopped, lowerer, at the fortress of Nzigeth, liy a small garrlson of 3,000 nen, commamled by Xi, h whis Zring. These devoted men resisterl the while uriny of the Joalems for Uearly an entire monh, and perished, every one, without surrembering thoir 1rist. Solinhan, furionis it the lowe of 20.010 un'n, ami the long lelay which their obstinate vatur emased hint, fled of apopiexy white the siege went onf. This bronght the expediperme at the hamds of Selim II, son of Sulimam. for at tribate of 30,000 elucats (156i). - Wharty "fter, Maximilime was niso relievel of his rival, dolıa Nigismunal Zapolya, who dled a sulden "enth."-E. Szabad, Mungary, Puat und Preacht, 7r. 2, ch. 1.
A1.su1 1s: IR. W. Fraser, Turkey, Anciont and Menlern, ch. 12-13.
A. D. i567-1604. - Successive disturbances in Transylvania.-Cession of the priacipaiity

HUNGARY, 1567-1604.

to the House of Austria, and consequent re-volt,-Religious persecutions of Rodoiph. Successfui rebeltion of Botskai. - Continued war with the Turks.-John Sigismond Zapoiya riffiseri at ilrst to be included in the peace which Maximiliun arranged with the Turks, and endiav vored to stir up an insurreetlon in Iluagary hut inis scheme faiied, and "he had no resoure but to accept the terms of peace offered by Max imilia, winich were alvantageons to both par ties. Ile engaged no to nssume the titie of kiar of IInngary, except in his correspondence whit the Turks, and to acknowledgc the emperor as kins. his superior and master; in aldition to Trinsy:Vunin, as an hereditary principuiity, he was to retatn for life the counties of Bihar and Marmarriseh, with Crasua and Zolnok, nnd whatever territories he could reeover from the Turks. la return, the emperor promised to eonfer nu hilin one of his nieces in marriage, and to cetie to hin Oppelea In Silesia, if expelled from Transylvania. On the denth of John Sigismond without lssue aale, Transyivania was to be consiciered as an elvetive principaity, dependent on tie crown of liungary. Tine intended marriage dha not take pince, for loin Sigismoud dying on the 16 th of yarch, 1551, soou after the peatee, nil his possessions ia Ilungury reverted to Jaxiniiian. The diet of Transy ivunin chose Stephen thathori, who bad actedi with greut reputation ns tile generui aul minister of John Sigismondi andi Maximilian, ulthongh ine inal recommeuied unother per. sun, pruicutly conll rmed the choice. The acw waivinle wis accordingly contirn

The aew wainule wis accordingly eontimend, both by Binsimiliun and the Turks, took the outh of tideiity to tbe erown of Ihmgary, and continume to live on termes of fricniship and coneori with the emperor.

Maximilima being of a delicata constitutiou, and cieclining in heaith, empioyed the last sears of his reign in taking precautions to serente his dignities und possessions for his deremblats. Llaviug first obtainedi he consent of the Hunpariaa states, his ellest son Riomionph Was, in 15\%, erowneti king of Illugary, in a diet at Presburgha." Subseguently, the election of Rhoulophby the Bohemian aiict was likewise provered, mad he was crowned king of Bohemia in the 2ha of september, 1535. A few werks later, 'he same son was ehosen audi erowned kiug of the Romans, which secured lis suecession to tbe imperial diguity, This latter erown feil to hin the following yeur, when his father dieri. Elucated in Spain aud by the Jesuits, the arew empueror was casiiy persuaded to reverse the toi erint pulicy of hls father, and to adopt measures of repression and perseention ngainst the l'rot. estants, in the Austrian provinces, in Ifungary and in Bohemia, which eould not long be condurei withunt "Sistance. "The tirst object of klhothiph hat, iselle to secure his domiuions in Iluntury arainst the Turks. In order to diminisit theremmens "xpmise of defending the distaut fortenses on the side of Croatin, he trunsferret that comatry, as a ficf of the enmpire, to his murie Charles, Juke of Styrla, who, from tie eontignity of him dominions, was better able to provide for it. newrity. Charies accordingir construeted tive fortress of Carlstudt, on tile Kulpa, whicia after wards lecame the eapitul of Croutia, and a nili tary station of the highest importnnce. He also dividen the ceded territory ints numerous tinveaturers of couferred on frecbooters and add veaturers of every nation, and thus formed a singuiar speeles of mllitary colony. This feudal establishment gradusiiy extended alnng the frontiers of sclavomia and Croatia, nnd not only contrimited, at the time, to cbeck the lneursions of the Turks, but aftern ards suppienl that lawless and irregular, thongh formiluthe military force who, under the nnmes of Croats, Paidours, and other barbmrons appieilations, spreadi such terror minong the cnemies of Austria on tie sidie of Europe.

Notwithstnnding the armistice eoneluded with the Snltun by Jlaximilian, and its renewal by Rhololpin in 1504 nad 1591 , a predatory warfare luni never ecosed along the frontiers." The truce of 1591 wis quickly brokenh in a more positive wuy by Sultan Amuratio, whos forees invaded ('ruatia and linid siege to Siseck. They were attacked there and driven from their lines, witil a loss of 12,000 men. "Irritated by this defent, . . Amurath publisheci a formal deciaration of wur, and pouredi his numerous hories into fiungry and croatia. The two foiiowing years were passeel in varions sleges und elgagenieuts, ittended with utt-rnate suceress and defent: but the mivantage nitimately restemion the side of the Turks, by the capture of Siseek andi Raab. In 159:, in more faveurable though temporary turn was given to the Austrim affara, by the ciefection of the prince of Trinsstrunla from the Turks. On the ctevation of Stephen Batbori to the throne of Polinal, his brotber Ciristopher succeeded inim as waivorie of Transyivania, and, dyyug in 1ixe. i.ft mn infant son, Sigismond, undier the protertion of the Porte. Sigisnomi, who possessed the high spirit and talents of inis funily, hat searchly nssumeti the $r$ rins of government inefore her itherateri himself from the galliug yoke of the Turks, naii in 1595 coneluded an offeusive alliance "ith, the honse of Anstria. $\qquad$ He was to retain Tramsyivania as nn independeat principality, the fari of IIungury whicil he stili heli, mal Moliavia and Wal. laciia. . . The compurests of Inoth parties were to the equally divided. . . By this important alliance the house of Austria was deliveredifan aul enemy who hati aiways dividied its efferts, and madie a powerfni divirsion in faltome of the Turl is vismonid vignalisell himandf ber his ine. rui. Thl military shill: muiting with the wal frat Moidivia andi Willachia, he defont nd vizir, silisin, thok Turgovitch by stc -matirove tice Turks baek in difsgrace towatus Constantinople. Ansisted ley this diver sion, the Austrians in Ilungary were likewise successful, and mot oniy checkeil the progress of the Thrks, but distiugnisheci their arins by the recovery of Gran and Vissecrad. This turu of success rouseci the sultun Jahomet surcess rouseci the sultun lahomet, the son and surcessur of Amurith. It. Ie puit hinself, in 1.996, at the leenid of his forces, iedi them finto llungary, took Erlau, and defeating the Anstrians muler the archiuke yiaximilim, the liteness of the season atome prevented illm from carrying inis arms into, Austria ahd L'piper IIungary, whicil were exposeti ty the loss of Raab and Erlan: As Mathomet combld not a seconti time tear inmself from the seraghio, the war was carried on witiout vigour, andi the season passedi rather in truces than in action. But this year, though littie distinguisheri by military events, was angenorabie for the cessiou of Transyiv:mia to 1 tho. dofpia, by the brave fet bickile Sigismond, in exeinaure for the lorisinijps of Ratihor undi Oppelen in Silesia, with an nunai pension." The éapri-

IICNGARY, 156i-1604.

Contimued Wine with the Turks.
IICNGARY, 1600-1660.
clons Sigismond, huwerver, son repenting of his bargain, reclalmed sud recovered hls Trinsylva. alan dominkon, but onfy to resign lt asaln, In lisan, to hils uncle, and again to repossess it. Not untII 1602, ufter minch tighthg and disorder, was the fickle-minded imbl troubiesome priace sent finally to retlement, in Bohemia. Trumsylvanda was then phiced umber the gorernment of the administntion driving the mutlees to despair, they fonnd a chlef in Moses Tzekell, who. with other magnates, after ineffectually opposing the estiblishment of the Anstrinn govermment, livi mombt a refuge among the Turks. Tzekell, ut the head of his fillow exiles, assisted by bualles of Thrks and Tartars, entered the emontry, was folned by numerous adherents, mil, having obtained pussession of the cupital ame the aljucent fortresses, was clected and hanturated prince of Trunsylvamia. Ilis relgn, lowever, was searcely more permanent than that of his prederesisor; for, lefore the could expel the Germans, he was, in 1603, Jefoated by the new waiforle of WinlIachia, and kllled In the confusion of the Imttle. In conserjuence of this disaster, his followers dispersed, nul Busta aguin recorered possession of the princlpality. Durinu these revolitions in cemsint warfire betworit the Dinatrians und the Turks, whied exhasted hoth partios with little advantage to eitlere.

Khexlofply lum long Iost the contidence of hla Ihmgarian subjectes.

Ife traterl the complaints and remonstrances of his subjects with contemptamil halifference: and the firrman tronps being free frem control, tilled the conntry with devastation and pllinge. While. huwever, he abontomed the civil and militare arfairs to chanee, or onthe will of his ollhers, he himemred to fetter his subjects with reIg gions rastrietlinas, mul the most lntulerint colicts were Isaned ngahst the Protentants, in vari parts of the klngilome,

The disisferte : .s creaslog in mumbers, soon fouml a Femerer In Stephen Butskai, the prineipal magnate of C lipmer Ilungrers, uncle of sigismond Batheri. . . . The discontents In Tmusylvinin, arising from the sime cunses as the rebellion in IInugary, greatly contributed to the suceess of Botskai. . Bring In 1604 assistel by a Turkisharmy, which the bew sultan, Achmet, desputeland huto Trimsylvaia, be sume cepurland the Anstrinus, nod wis furmally lnatgurated awnerign.

Bhat Hatskilw as tou) ilsinturestal or too prulent i nevept the regal ilignity [as king of Ilungary, which the grand vizier of the sultin prox laimed him].
Ile neted. lowever, with the smme vigomer nimi motivity ns If he hall a erown to açuire; hefore the elose of the ompuign he conquereal all lipur Hmagiry, ahmest to the walls of I'reshurgh; at the sillue time the Turks reduced Gran, Vissegral und Nivigram."-lW. Cone, Ilist. of the Mouxe of I Insfrim. ch. 38-42 (r. 23).

A Imp is: J. II. Horle I'Anhigne, Hist, of the Prot. Chureh ill llumgary, ch. 12-30.
A. D. 1595-1606. - The Turkish war,-Great defeat at Cerestes. - The Peace of Sitvatorok. - The disistr-rs which the Turkish urms were now experiau'ing in Wallachia and llungary male the Sultan's lu'st statesmen anxions thent the sovereign shombl, after the manner of his great ancestors, hemi his tromps In person. and endeavour to glve an ansplchons change to the fortune of the war. . . . The lmperiallsts, under the Archumke Daximillan and the Hungarian Count Pfalfy, aided by the revolted princes of the Damubian I'rincipalitles, dealt defeat and dis. conrugetnent antong the Ottonian ranks, ant wrung numerons fort resses and dist riets frin ; ihe emplre. The citles of Gran, Whssegrul, mul Bu. Inosa, hal fallen; and messeugers in speedly site. cerslon announced the loss of Ibrall, Varna. Kilic, Ismunl, Sllistria, lustchnk, Buchurest, an? Ak:rman. These ticlings at last ronsed the monarch iu his larem.

Dhbomet III. left lis, capital for the frontier in the , Inme of lith.
The display of the sucred stanharil of the Prophet, Whleh now for the thrst time was unfurlet owera Turkish army, cxcited . . the zenl uf the True the principal commamlers under the Sultun.

The Archduke Whsimilian, whe commandel the Imperinfists, retired at first hefore the stpwior numbers of the great (ottoman army; mind the Sulan bexieged and erptured Erlan. The lan perialists now having effacted a junctlon with the Transylvanian frapls muler Prince Nisis. mimm, alvinced agrilu, thongh ton hate to sive Erlan ; amlou Getuber sistl. Jing, the two armies ware In presurnce of cull other on the mar-hy phin of ('restes, through which the waters of the Chiln ouze towards the river Thejss, 'I'here were three days of b:athle ut "urosion," lie peatedly, the cifemanate sultum wished tu undira retrent, or to briake himself to flight; lut was persualed by his connsellors to rematn on the tich, thongh safely remosed from the cumblit. On the third day the bittle was decided la faver of the Turks by a charge of their eavalry nomer Cidila. "Terror and thight spread throush cwers divishom of the Imperlalists; nul In less than half an homr from the thme when Cicala leegan his churge, Maximllian aul sigismumel wore tlying for their lives, without a single (liristian in di munt keepuing their rimks, or making an undear. our to mally and cover the retreat. Sll, finm frem nuns and Transylvanians perished in the marves or lenenth the (Ottoman salire.
M. ilsonet
 tiuple, to receive felieitations ami mblation tor uis victury, and to resume his nsibil life of vobupthosis imblomee. The war in llumary Was prolomged fur several years, until the pace of Sitvitorok [Nuvember 11, 1Bitid in the reige of X homet's sucressor. . . . No clantre of in portance was matle io the torriterial panawinas of either party, cxrept that the I'rinco of tranyl. vanian was admithell as party the tra'is! am that province lecrame to some estent, thanth the entirely, independent of the ontomm Finpire: " -Kir E. S. Creasy, Hist. of the Uttomuth Fiurls. ch. 12.
A. D. 1606-1660. - The Pacification of $V_{1}$ enna, - Gabriel Bethlem of Transylvania and the Bohemian revolt, - Participation and ex-the Irchalnke Mathlas - who hum latdy turn uppointed to the powernorshly of Huncirr, atd who had leen acknowledgent, lif is ser rit com. pret among the members of the Iftushorer fimily as the $h$ a 1 of their House - armurged the terms of ${ }^{\circ}$ perace with lhotskal. This troaty, called the "Pheitlation of Viennn," restored the rehtrims tolerathon that hisf lurn prartiond ty forehinat and Daxlmillan; provhled that Mailias shabid be Heutenant-general of the kiagdom; gave to Botskni the title of Prince of Transglranda and part of llungary ; and stipulated that on the failure of hls male lasie these territories should revert to the Ilouse of Austri, "This treaty, at last, restored prace to lluggary; but at the expunse of her ualty aad Indepeadence. Some dea may be formed of the state of weakness and lasitude to whleh these long wars had redueed the eonatry . by a statemeat of the divisions into which it had been spllt up by the varlons factions. 11 brgary, wlth Croata, Sclavonla, and the frontlers, was then reekonerl to cover an area of $4.4,7$ spuare miles, and Trmasyl vanla one of $\mathbf{7} 360$, Of these 5,103 miles. Turkey possessed 1. Nj?: Butakal In IInugary 1,340. In Transylvadien in 1 firm, aml was suceeded by Sigismond Kalionzl, who, however, som ablicated in favour of Gabriel liathorl." At thls thme the plans of the Anstrian family for taklng the reins of powarnut of the feeble and cartess hands of the Emperor Ib. 'h, and glving them to bls more energetic lruther, the Archduke Mathlas, eame to it hatd (see Grmuasy: A. I). 15.56-1609). Ilathia "marched intol lohemina and Rodalph, aftor a ferlide resistance, found himself abinndonicl by all lils supporters, and compellesl to resign into the hands of Mathlas Ilungnry, Austria and Dlomivin, and to guarantco to lilin the succession to the crown of Buhemun; Dathins ln the mantime lenring the title of klag elect of that kiogdom, with the consent of the states. Rombinh at the same tlme deliverenl in, the llins. garian rucalin, which for some time past had bernl kiplt at Prigite." Bufore his eoronition, Jathias was reibired by the llangarian diat to sign a eomblact, guarantecing religious liburte; stipulating that the llungarian (hamber of Fi: nancev shoulal be independent of that of Anstria, that all oflers ame employnarnts should be flled be matives, athd that the Jesults should possess no real jroperty in the conntry. The peace of the conntry wis sion disturbed liy annther revolution in Tramsylvania. "Gabriel lathorl, who of the principality of the principality, had sutfered hls llecentiousneses to tempt lim Into Insulting the wives of sume of the wohles, who Instanty fell upon hlm and nourilered him; and lit lis plice Golurled and nimrlered him; and lit lis place Gabrid Bethlem, u brare warrior and an uble statesminn, Was unanimously elected, with the consent and aprobitlon of the sultian. Lniler his governmat his douinions cajoged a full mansure of pabend trampullity, and began to reeoverfrom the lwrible do wistations of preeeding vears. lle did solt, however assume his dirnity without diapute. Transylvanin had heen seenred to the honar of Anstri:1 on the death of l3otskal, by the Piritiestion 1, Vienm, nat Jlathias was, of conrer, How mixious to enforee his rierlits, and he consile 'res? :lee present opportunity (1617) favour. able, as the Turks were engaged in wirs on the sid" of 1 ini und I'oland. He therefure sumb. muthet a dict of the empire, to the throne of Whidh her hat sucrecded in 1612 by the denth of fur the further ponchod of peace with the sultan fur the further promion of twenty years. "No Auminn laing minke in it of Trungylvania, the risht, of Ginhrial 13,thlem were thus tachly roe.

 Thetn forlow crewn to his cousin, Ferdland II." Then followed the reaewed attempt of in im . porini higot to crush Protestiatiom ln his domin. fons, und the Bohemian revolt (see lonnemia A. J. 1611-1 (118) whlleh kindled the flames of the "Thirty Years War." Ilnngury and Tranaylvanla were la sympathy with lohhemla. "An. ball of the Protestants of thath, In unwer to the call of the Protestants of that enomitry, at the lemul of a large army - tork ('assin, Tiurman, Yewhasel, dlajersed the lmperial forces nululer Iomenil, sent $1 \mathrm{~N}, \mathrm{MO}$ men to enforeq Connt Thirn, got possession of l'reshmrg ly truchery, and serizen "pon the regulia." The canse of the Ibhembirs was lost at the battle of the White Dlountain, brfore I'rague: but "Gubriel Buthlem for u long timu supported the prestlge aequired hy his eirlicer suceessus. He whs prochamed king of llinggary, and ohitaliked conslilerable alvantages owar two gencrals of abillty and reputation." But a treaty of peace wis con. elmbed at length, aceordling to which diabried surrendered the crown and roynl tithe, receiving the duchles of Oppelen anel Ratibor In Sibsiag, and seven eountie's of llungury, together with cisssitu, Toking, and other towns. Ferdinumd promisal eomplete toleration to the Protestiments, but was unt fuithful to his promise, hand war was soon resumed. 13'thlem "eolleceted an army of felltt, the gencral of the confederirey [the l'rotes. tant [idon], after his viatory ower the mperlal. lists at lereshirig: and at the simbe tlate the bashaw of Bulat entered lawer llangary ut the heal of a large furco, vaptared variong fortresses In the districi of (iram, amd latil siege to Nowlgrad. They wrer ollowed by twouble penerals, the fartonis Wallentiojn whi swartzanlerg, but without cherking their progress. Willen. stein, huwerer, followed llaticfoldt Into IIungary, where the two urmiow rumalned for sonne time insotive ln the prosence of ome amother; but famine, alindise, and the apprastel of winter at last lormphit the controt to a close. The king of bemmark had lwat elefeatml, und Githriel bethIrm began to fosir that the whole force of the Austrians would now be dirceted ugainst hira, farmel the "iner, umb followeal his ample; and Dinasfolitt. tinding hituse'f thuts abamdoncal, dls.
 16:6].
'Th" treaty of perore was agalia renewel, the trice with thr Purks prolothged." Thatric! buethlam, or Whethlom Galur, dital in 1620 till his place, nud during nazity four jars llungary and lransylrania enjoydithe hlessings of patce" 'Then they ware amain distirlord ly aftompts of Ferdinind to riduce Transvivinin to the stite of an Ansitian proviure, aud be hostile measures against tho l’rotsatints. Thie latter contitued after the death uf Forilinand 11. (163\%), and under his son Furdinimi Ill. lRakotskl In. spired un insurrection of the llungarians which lecerme formblable, and which, joining $\ln$ alll. ance with the swedes, then warring ln Gramay, extorted from the einperor a very favorable treaty of pence (lifi\%). Ut the sume tlme Fir. dimand eallsell his sim of the same mame, nnd doler brother of Lenpolil, to be elected an 1 erowned king. During hls slort reiga, the conntry was to Lenpold. This ritn of Leopold [165i5-169i] was a perion which witnessed events more importaat to llingary than any whieh preceded it, or have followedit, anve only the revoluthonary years, 1848 and 1849 . No monarch of the house of Austria had ever male so determined attacks upon Ilungarlan llberty, and to none dld the Ifungarlans oppose a liraver and more strenuous rewlstance. Nothlag was left untrled on the one alle for overthow the croustlutlon: nothing was left untrled on the other to uphold and dnfend 14. "-E. L. (ionlkin, Ilist. of Ilungury, ch. 15-17.
A. D. 1660-1664. -Turkish attecks on Upper Hungary. - The battle of St. Gothard.-Liberation of Transylvania, - A twenty years truce. -"Ilostllities had reommened, in 1060. le. tween the Ottommen emplre anul Iustria, on ne. count of Transylvanlis. The Turk wis suzerula of Transylvania, wud drectly held Buia and the part of IIungary on the west and south of the Dambe, projectiug like a wedge between l-poer I'rluce of Trunsylvanh, having perished lu comebat against the Nultum, his suzerulu, the Turks luad pursuen the llouse of lakoral luto the domalns whlelı it possessed in C̈per llumary. The lakenzis, and the new prime elected by the Trassylvaninus, Kemenl, luvoked the uhl of the empror. The Italinu, Monterne ali, the gremtest suilitary chieftaln lin the servele of the Ifonse of Austrin, expelled the Turks from if part of Transylvaniu. but could mot malntaln himself there: Kemenl was killed in asklrmish. The Turks installed thelr protepé, Miblacl dham, la his phace, and ronewed their nttacks ariolnst Lpper lluntury ( $1061-1462$ ). The secret of these nlteruntions lay la tha state of fecling of the Hamgarlans min Trunsivinlans, who, contimu. ally divited letwere two oppressors, the Turk and the dustrian, and tow wratk to rill themselves of either, uways proferrel the absent to the pliciteql pulitial aistrust; I'rotestiontisun, rashat In Boheritia, rentaineal powerfal and irritated la Hungary. The emperor demandell the assts. t:unce of the ( $e$ ermanite liat and all the Cloristian states infitust the enemy of Christinnity. Lonis XIV., at the tirst request of Leopoli, sujpportell by the dope, replied ly offers somagniti"rut that they apponlod the Enperor. Iamis proposend not loos thim 60, 0世H muxiliaries. half to be furuished by Framee, half hy the Allianre of the khine: that is, by the confeilemtes of France in (cremany, The Elumeror wid would have gladly Iseon able to disperno with the aid of France and his contederites: lat the hore pressimg damger prevaled over the more remote. The Tarks hind made utprent rifurt cluring the sumbure of thens. The sraond of the kiouprong. lis. the Vialer Achmet, taking Anstrinuthugary in the emr, hat crossid the biantue at Buta with 100, mo tighting meu, insuled the conntry be. twern the lomabe and the Cirpathinus, mat hurlad his Tartars to the dours of leresbure unt "Mmotz. Momerciarali had with great dillemety Inett able to maintain h.meself on the isiand of Whitt, is werins of vast intrenched eamp formed by uature in frout of ireaburg aud Vieuna. The fortitital towns of ['pper IIumpary full one ufter :mother, und the (erermaic Diet, whieh Leopold hith grone to lintishon to mect, repliend with maldening dilatarioess to the orgent entraties of the heat of the Emplire. The Diet voted ins cofretlve atil intil Fetoruar . 1664: hut the Nlit amer of the lhatue in partweular, had alrempy ac corded 6,500 soldiers, ou coudition that the liet slould declde, before separating, certaln ques. tlons reatlve to the Interpretation of the Triaty of Westphalia. The Pope, Spaln, and the Itulian States furnlshed sulsitles. Louls persisted in offering mothing but soldlers, and Leousuld re. signed hlmself to accept 0,000 Fremelimen. Ile hull no reason to repertit.

Wheu the junc. thou was elfected [July, 1604], the posithon of the Imperlulsts was one of great perll. They hat resinnel the offensive on the south of the Shuabe lit the beglanlag of the year; hat thls ellverslon, contrary to the mivice of Monteremend, lual succeeded 111 . The Grand Vlaler lanil repulsed them, and, after carrying buck his prin. (ljual forees to the right bink of the banule, threntened to foree the phasage of the latish and invale Styria and Austria. The Conferlorate arme wus in u conditlou to stand the showh just at the decisive noment. An uttempt of the Turks to erose the lambat the lorhege of ker. Hent was repulsed by Coligul fcommmanling the Fremeln]. July 26, 1664. The Grmad Vizior rems. ecouled the ldath to St. Guthurd, where were the bendynurters of the Confederates, 11 ul, on Au. gost l. the uttuek was mule by all the Musald man forres. The janlanties and spahis crossel the river and oveothrew the tropis of the hiet und a part of the lupperlal regiments: the (ief tunas rallied, lat the Turks were continnatly re inforced, and the whole Mussulnum army was senou foum minted ons the other slde of the leat. Thee buttle meremed lenst, when the Frencls moved It is satil that Arhmet. Kiompromgli, on aring the youmg molleburn pour forth, with their unf forms clecked witl ribouss, nat their blond ple rukes, usked, 'Who are these amatleus ?' 'The 'matilens' broke the terrible janizaria's at the first shock; the mass of the Turkisharmy pamed and reeviled on itself; the Coufolerate iruy. re mimated loy the example of the Frollell, rialud fornard and clarged on the whole linu: the Turks fell back, it thrst slowly, their face for wards the chemy, theu lost footing mul ther] 1 点 (ipitately to the river to recross it nnder tha ime the (hristlates: they dilleal It with their corpowa The fatifue of the irosjos the night thitt supe vaned, the waters of the datibl. swille. the utsi day by a storm, mat above all the lack of har mony imong the gedmerals, prevented the funtati. ate pursnit of the Turks, who land rillioll in the ofposite bink of the riverathl ham prem rame the lest part of their cavalry. It was expatiol. Hevertheless, to sece thent expelled frous all $11: 3$ gary, when it was learucel with antonishatent that beopohl hat hastened to treat, without tar a' probation of the llangarian Diat, on foblithos such that he seemed the conctrered tather thas Aughat 10, in the cithife of the (irnma Vizie:
 itselective prianes, but the broterge of the Tarks the two chief towns which they habl conthueter in CPper llumgary, aud the Eniperor tuat. the Nultan a presint, that is, he paid litu shan Horins tribute:"-11. Martiu, Hikt. өf Frover dore of Immin N/I". r. 1, ch. 4

Ilso in: IF. Coxe, llist. of the IItu, ise I: trin, ch. 62 ( 0.2 ).
A. D. 1668-1683.- Increased religious persecution and Austrian oppression.-Tekêt's :t volt, - The Turks again called in.-Kaz Mustapha's great invasion and siege of Vienna.-Deliverance of the city by John So-bieski.- In Ilungary, "the discontent caused by the oppressive Government and the fanatlcal persercition of Protestantism hy the Austrian Cabinet hald gone on linereasing. At length, the Austrian domination had rendered itwelf thoroughly ollous to the Mhangarians. To hinder the progress of Protestantism, the Emperor Lempuld, in the excess of his Catholle zeal, seat to the galleys a great number of preachers and ministers; and to all the evils of rellgions perve. (utinal ere milded the vlolence and devastatens of the senerais and the German atministrators, whes treated Llungary as a conquered province. The Ifungarians la vain layokel the eharters whicil consercrated their nathonal libertles. To their most legitimate complaluts Leopolid replled br the inliction of punishments; he spureel not even the fumilles of the most blistrions; sevemal magnates perished by the hands of the execolthener. Sich oppresslou was certain to bring alput a revolt. In 1688 a ronspiracy had been formuld agalnst Leopold by certain Ifungarian lealers, wheld, however, wus disorovered and fruatratel: and it was not tiil 1687, when the goung Connt Eimmerlch Tekell, having escuped from priwn, placett himself at the heat of the malrontents, that these disturbances assumned any sormidiahic importane.

Tekell, who poss sosmel murli military talent, and was an nammpromisiule renemy of the thonse of Austria, havdefeate-1 the Imperial furces, cuptured severai thwus, ocempind the whele distriet of the Carpathian Momatas, and compelietl the Austrian pretraik, Counts Wurmb mal Leslie, to accept the truce he offered.". In 108t the Emperor mate whe concessions. Which weakened the rarty of ind phondence, while at the same thate. the Beare of Simergucu, with Franer, alloweat the Ilbuse of dustria to cmploy ath its forces against the releds. "In this eonjuncture Tekeli turned Mahanet $1 V$ : : and after the conclusion of the Turkivh and kussian war in 1681, Kara Mustapha [the (frath Yizior] determined to assist the in surtente openly, therir leader offering, In exParte: Toketi souglitge the suzerinuty of the Lurte Twis Xil ti soughtalso succour from Franee. Lulus NIV. gave him subsidies, solfitited the Sultal th semfun army lnto Ilungrary, and cansed aa aliance between the Ifungarians, TransylvaAlustria (t6*) andiachians to be eoncludet against Anwria ( 168 ) The truce concludet in 166.5 be. treten Anstria and Turkey haw not yet expired." Ginemor of Buas persmaded to break it. "The Teheti, who Buda received orders to cupport Tracti, whin towk the title of King. . . Early forth frum lifs capital with a Matomet marched at boterale lis capital with a large army, which Kara Mustapla, Tekelf formed a junction with the Turks at Fssek."-s. Menzies, Jurtion with of the regular furces, which Kura Mustapha led to Vienus, is known from the muster roll which Has funul in his tent after the siege. It amounted fowts canhot be reckoned; nor ean any hat an approximate.parintation be madt an to the num. juinetl the Vizier. It is protegular troops that finan haif a million of men probable that not less than haif a million of men were se: In motion ln thls last great aggreselve pffor. of the Ottomana against Chrintendion. The Emperor Letpana had neith r men nor moncy sufflelent to enable after muny abject andeluge of invasion: and, after muny abject entreaties, he obtained a promise of heip Prom King sohleskl of Poland, whith he had prevolualy treated with contumely and negiect. . The Turkish army proceeded along the western silde of the Danulve ?rom Beigrude, and reuched Vienna without experi. .ielng was mate by some of the a galant resistance was matle by some of the stroar places which it hesieged during its marlyace. The elty of Vlenna whas garrisoned ty 11,000 nern under Count Stahrembery. whon proved himself cess,r of the Cump proved himself a worthy sue. ceswir of the connt Salin, who had frifilied the same tuty when he clty was berieged by sultan Solynan. The omman. The sond sicge of Vlenna lasted om the isth. Juls to the 12th September, $16 \mathrm{s3}$, daring which the nost devoted heroism was dis:

The garr' on was gradually wasted by the numerons nssaults which it was culled on to the pulse, and in the frequeat sorties, by which the Anstrian commander sulught to impede the prog. ress of the besicepern Kura Mustapha, at the culd of August, hatd it in his power to earry the clig by storm, if he had thought tit to employ tinue it from day to day assant, und to eontinue it from diay to day as Amurath IV. had Tunck when bagdial fell. But the Vizier kept the Thrkish tromps lack out of avarice, in the hope capitulationt in which come lato his power by capitulation: in which case he would hamself be enrichedl by the wealth of Vienam, which, if the city wer te se city wers takedn by storm. wonld leceme the lonity of the soldiery nhate of the soldiery

Solieski had been unlorplit: and ine his tronps thefore the end of larraine and same of the joinel by the thake of Who wero at sump of the German commanders, Who were at the luad of a cunsidernble army, Tund the Poblish ling crosesed the Damube at The theu whe Vicelma, with about $70,(0) 9$ men. He then wheded romind behime the Kalemberg Montains to the north-west of Virmana, whth the flesign of taking the insicgers in the rear. The tion moth mo herel of him: hor was any opposithime made to the progress of the relieving army through the lithenit conatry which it was onbliged to traverse: On the 11 th if septembler the Poles were on the sumuit af the Were on the summit of the Monat Kalemberg." overionking the vast encumpment of the besiegers. Sobieski "saw instantly the Vizier's want of military skill, and the exponare of the long lines of the Ottomam camp to a sudien mul fatal at tiuck. 'This man,'s said he, is batly cneamped: him.'. . The srom wal thronth whicthalnly beat had to . The groant throngh which sobieski brok to move dhwn from the Kalemberg was broken hy ravines: and was. so difflcult for the pasageof the tropss that Kira Mnstaphan might, by an able dispoxition of part of his forces, have long kept the Pole:s ha check, especially, as sobieski, in his hasty march, hat bronghit but a small part of his artilery to the scue of acton But part of his artilery to the scene of action. But the Vizier displayed the same infatuation and imbeclity that had marked his contiuct throughout the campatgt. En. Enwilling to hesign Vienna. Mustapha left the ehief part of his Janissary furce in the trenches lefore the elty, nad led the rest of hls army towards the hills, down which sobleski and his tronps were advaucing. In some purts of the find, where the Turks hemp parthily fintroucheal the romis, thelr reshatame tu th ('hrlathans was ubathate; but Sohliski leal ou hls hest tromps In person ln a dirret ilime for the (ottomme centre, whers the Vlaiurs tunt was comsplenons; and the turrible presence of the viator of lhorzim was senon recornisul. 'By dlat!? the Klug la really umong us, 'exdithem the Kham of the ('rlmes, Selin 'Tlo mass uf the (ttomman urmy lornke and tled lis hopelesa ront, lumsing Kara Dustiplar whh then from the thelid. The dunlssarles, who hand been luft in the trenches lefore the elty, were nuw atticked luth hy the garrison mind the Pones and wrere ent to pleres. The ramp, the whole artillery, und the military stores of the Ottomans beemmi the spoll of the conguerors; unl never was there a vefory murn complete or sigmaliseld by more splemiind trophles Thu: Tırks eonthuned their pande thlght as tar uts Janol.

IIUNGAKY, 106N-108\%.  The Cronon made hereditary.  IIUNGARY, 1683-1690.

The greal lestractlon of the Tarks before Vhime wus rapharonsly hutled throughout Chrlstembam as the manomerament of the mpronehhy downfall of the Dahomomon Emplre In Europe, "-Nir IE. S.
 wis evold etomfort tu the luhallants of Viemnit, or to the Kligg of Paland. to kiow that even if St. Stephen's hai whareal the fite of st. Sophin phoris, yet that, nevernheless, the undimopimed Uthman's wond Infallibly have been seatierm] by Foranch. Gorman and Siwedish armbes oll the flelde of Bavaria or of Naxony. Vienna wonld have been sutcked; Poland wond have been at prey to litermal numehy abl to Tartar Invasion. Thie ultimate trimmbla of thelr cimse would have (omandal few for their lndivhlanal destruction.

 bir William Timple dhal luleed belleve, at the thme, that the fall of Viemm wonld have beta followed by a great and permanent incronse of Turkish power. Jutting this aside, however. there were other results likely to spring from Turkiglt suevens. The Tirks comontanty mude a jowerfal diversion la favour of France anal her mablious designs. Tirkish vietories upan the one side of Germany meunt successfu! French aggressions upan the other, and Tarkish whemes were prombtel with that objont lye the Freach.

If France would but staml neintral, the rond. troversy betwern Turks and Christhas might suon be derided. silys the Duke of larraitio. 13nt Franiv Would mot stand neutmal."-ll. E Aisw in: (i, 13. Milleson, The Butth-Fïdde of

A. D. $1683-1687$.-End of the insurrection of Tekeli.-Bloody vengeance of the Austrian. - The crown made hereditary in the House of Hapsburg. - The defuat of the Turks way likn. wiwn a thefoat for the insurgent Tukeli, or Tokibli, whom they valled the king of thr kiurné, and after it he lonul. hiniself redncell to pheribla warfare' 'lhw viotory wer the Turks was fol lowed ly the (itpture of sump of the ehisf Itself, whidh was at list recovercal ifter so long an orenpution.

Ǩara Mustapha attrihutid arrested and imprisonfed in Belermbe. His enjtivlty putan end to the party of the klog of the Kurucz.

Kurucz. . An annesty was procialmc. ami immecllately afterwarila viohatal, the Itailath erai, Carnffa, becoming the mereiless ex eent linsir of juprerial venguner. He estahlisherl a rours it Eperjes, anif the horrors of thle tribumal rewali the most utronionss diecels of the Apumiarols lat the Law Comitrles.

After lasing terrurizit Itungary, Leapold thomght he han the rlaht to expeet every gert of comeresslon. Notwlthetimil. log persecolitlon, the to thas date the monarelay luni romalned elective. Ite was deternthed it Nhould tow hecome haretitary: and the diet of 108\%. In conformity with the wishers of the mos arcling, male the crown heredltary ln the main lhe of the homase of Inthsharg. "- L. Leger, Jlis? uf A lustre. Ihungury, ch. 20.
A. D. $1683-1699$, - Expulsion of the Turks. -Battie of Zenta.- - Peace of Cerlowitz. Ifter the great dafar of the Turks luffire Vienne, thelr expulslon from IIungary was mily It question of tinke. It legan the same antuma, In Untolner, by the taking of (irm. In $16 \mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{t}}$, the Impurlalists muler the Dake of lontane captunal Vlsegral amd Waitzet, but failed ln a slege of Ofen, ulthongh they defentell a Turkiwh uriay sent to lis ritlef lit July. In 1685 there tivis Nenhansel by storm, mul drove the Turk's from Gran, which these latter hut nmdertakin to, recover. Next yeur they hids siese agaln tu Wfo. lnvesting the city on the 2lst of June und carre. hag it by a timal assuntt on the 3] of s.ptelumet " Ofen, ifter having luen helle by the lorte, and regartled as the third elty la the (ittoman Empire, for 14.1 youm, was rastorid to the sway of the Halsbirgss." lefore the year elosedi the dus towns. The great event of the emmpaigu of 168 i was a butile on the fielid of Nohares. where. In 1520, the Turks became actual misaters of Ihmogary, for the most part. while the Hhanse of Anstria nepuirul nombarly the right tin j : crown. On this orension the fortume of $15_{2} 6$ doclsive: agalant the Turks as the errlior battle out the sumte spot land proved to the dagednas." Trinsylvanla und Slavoula were orempied as the consefuenter, und Erlau surremlered befure the close of the yetir. In 1088 , whitt seemed the crowning achievement of these campaitus was ronehel in the recovery of Bulprule, after asitze of less tham a month. A Turkish army in Bunis Was destroveni ; mothor was defented be:ar Niow. and that edty ocenpied; mm th the end of $16-9$ the Turks held nothhtiv north of the Dianube es. rept Temeswar mel Grosswarde as (Great Wirs.
 advances, on the suluth of the river, intu lhandis and sidrvia. Thert occurred it groit rally of Othman energies, mmber an able Griml Víaia In 16ib0, lonth Nissa amd Bulgrate wore retathen whi the Attstrians were expelled frome stria But wixt year fortune favored the Dibatians once more aud the Titins were severely luato
 They still helal Belgrade. however, and the A... trians sutfered hemvily in another attempt for gain that stronglohl. Fur seweral prars litite progress In the wur was masle and cillar sib until l'riare Engene of Savoy revoival the rath. mand. In 1697, and wromght a sperely change is 11., had tuken the Turkish command in peren - with the tinest army the Osmanli ha! raisel

HUNGARY, 10*3-1609.

Expulthen of the  Turks.

HCNOARY, 1699-1il8.
since their defeat at Molases." Prinee Eugene attacked hlm, September 11, at Zeata, on the Tlulis, and destroyed his army almust ilterally: When the battle ceased abont 20,000 Osmanili liy on the gromme ; some 10,000 had heen drownel; scarcely lions bad reached the opposite bank. There were hut few jurisoners. Amonest the slaln were the Grand Vizler and fant uther Vizlers. . . By 10 ocloek at alght thit a simgle Ilving Osmanliremained on the rlght bank of the The ins. . . . The lootr found In the camp, surpawal all . expetations. Every. thang had lw $n$ left liy the torrorstrickin sui. tan There is the irensury-chest, costainhug 3, thni, (on) Flas are:s. . . The coont of these apolls land heen to the sleturs only 3 an killed and 2 and wonaled. . .. The hattle of Zenta, . . re. gardend as part of the warfare which hail raged fur $\boldsymbol{Z}$ (h) gears of ween the Osmanll and the Im. prrialists, ous the last, the nust telling. the decinve blow." It was followed by a furronis of ination, daring which Enheund und Holland unlertenk to mednate between the Porte and its severat christhan ene nikes. Thelr medlatom resulted in the meeting of a Congress at Carlowltz. or Karhewitz, on the Damube. which wasatenden by representathes of the. Sintan, the Emperor th. C'zar of liusian, the king of Dolami, and the repulilic of Seulee. "Ilere, ufter mueh negotia tion hatiat sereutyetwe diyse was conduded. the sth Jimasry, I690, the fanatas Pence of Carlowit/. The comdition that ealch party should preses the territuries occupied lay carch at the munarit of the meeting of the compress formet its basis. By the traty, then, the fruntier of Ifan. sary, wh. ih, when the war breke outt, extembed onle to within a short distance of the then Tark. iwh towns of Gram and Nembalusel, wis pushed furwarll to within a short diatance of Temeswar aul bratimede. Transylvamia and the country uf Barakil Intween the banube and the Thioiss, Wert yledent to the Euperor. To Poland were restared Kaminietz, Pinfulia, and the supremacy over the lands wateret hy the Ckralne, the Porte receiving from her in exchange, soceava, Femos, and suruka; to Venice, who renounced the conpurets she hand mate in the gulfs of Corinth und Etrin. part of the Mores, sudalmost all Dalmatia. inctualing the towns of Castelnuovo and Cutare: to Russia, the fortress and sea of Azof. By the Peace of Carlowitz "the Ottoman Power lont marly one li If of its European dominions. and coind to he dangerous to Christemdom. Alerer mir. whule the discontented nagnates of llunsary be able to tind a solid supporter ha the Aitruy. ch. Bithit Malleson, Prince Eugene of 1simg. che ? 11414 Tarlix, in: Mir E. St Creasy, Hiat of the Ottoman or War of the "Holy Langue " the "Holly Wart " of whin the war in Hugue "as Hiliast the Turks. part. the fiaks: A. D Hunary formed ouly a A. Whe Traks: A. D. 164t-1696
A. D. 1699-1718. - The revolt of Rakoczy and its suppression. -The Treaty of Szathy mar.-Recovery of Belgrade and final expulsion of the Turks. - Peace of Passarowitz. The pence of tarlowitz, which dispmeed of the humparian territury without the will or knowl. af ro uf the Humbirian states, in utter contempt uf ropatedy comirmed laws, was in itself a deep timalliy inrersued dy the general policy con thanally I'rrsued by the Court of Vlenas. Even after the coromuthon of Joseph I., a priace who, If left whinself, mlatht have perhaps followet a Iess prowokling line of conduct, Leupeld, the real master of Lluagary, thld aut rellagulali his tle. Mign of יntlrely demilishing hes hastlutions.
The hish clergy were remly ta mocuad any measure of the govermament. provisial they were Illowed full scope: In thetr persechthons of the Trutestants. .. Scarcely haid three years passed shate the peare of curluwliz whes signel, whet Levpula, just minarking in the war of the stian upas ane man la arms.

The hedal and sul if thls nuw struggle la Hungary was Francts Khkerey 11., the son of Hollon Zriny, lay her tirst hasband, after the ohath if whong slie became the wife of Tobkili." Haksezy entered the country from Poland. Whan a few hamired num, in 1 inj, and lsaucla a priechmation unhich hrousht large munhers to his suppert. The Aastrinn furces had beth mustly drawnaway, by the war of the spunish sumersion. latu ltidy and to the P'bine :ani' haring the tirst year of the lasurrece. than the Ilmgaribun patriot ine cane mastur of the greater part of the cometry. Then there oecurred as shapension of hastilthes, white the English subermant mathe "fruitless effort at furliation. On the rempening of warfare: the Autrians were luttor preparell mal mare ea. courabed be the ciromimstane of the laterer con test in which they were engareds " lide the Hungarians were currevmendingy disentragend They hatl promions of help from frimere, and France failel them; they had capuctations fron Russia. Dut motling c:ane of thom. ." flue for tune of war decidedly turned in favour of the ina furialists, in emsegurner of which numeresus fimilies, 10 esapu their fary. left their aloules tu sock shother in the natinal wap: 11 clrenmstame which. beviles elagzing the milltary muvelnents. contribatid to dimenarage the army mind sireal gromera consturnation." 1n $1: 10$ Rakorey weat to lobatal. where he was loug ah. selut. suticiting help which he did hut get. 130 fure his sepirture. the chief cummand of the trupsw was cintrusted to Kiarels, whe, tired of Rahicesy probmed and urides abonce la Polatel assembleyl the moldes at szathanar, und concluden, in 1811. a peare known as the Treaty of Siathmar. By this traty the cmperor engatell to redress all priestances, civil and re fighus, promising, besides, amuesty te all the mitherents of Rakerzy. ar well as the restitution of many properties illegally contincated. Rakoezy protes fro. Poland ayainst the prace concluthed hyraty : but of what "ffect could be the censure nimi reniemstrauce of a leader who, in the most critical emerpency. hand left the scone of action in quest of forefyn insistance, which. he might have furemen. would never be accorded

After the peace of sonthamer. Hungarian history assumes al guite different character." Re Sults are at an end fer more than an century, and whte, laty in a sthout prolucing a slugle man uf wote lay in a state of deep lethargy." In $1: 14$ the Eniperor Charles VI. (who, as King of Hubgary, was (harles III.) began a new war agunst the Porce. With Prince Eugche agaia commanding in Hungary. "The sultan A Achuct 111 , anticipatine the tr ign of the imprimh tere cral [to comeatrate his troops on the Danulac]. marelhed his army arouss the Save, and. as whil he seta, to his own destruction. Affer a small success gained by Paify. Eugene routed the Turke at Petervandein [Augnat 13, 1:16], nuil enptured besides nearly alitheir artiliery. Protit$\operatorname{lng}$ by the gencral consternation of the Turhs, Eugene ment Palfy and the P'rince of Wurtemberg to lay siege to the fortress of Teineswar, Which commands the wionie Banat, and witich Was surreudiered by the Turkn after a henvy slege. By these repeated disasters tire Mussil. mans fost ali conthleuce in the success of thoy arms: and in the year 1317 they opened the gates of Beiprade to the imperinl army. The present campaign paved the way for the peace of $\mathrm{P}_{1}$ anawitz, a little town in Servia, - a peace conciluided leveren the lorte and the Emperor in 1718. In virtue of the provisions of this treaty. the Porte alandioned the Bunat, tite fortresw of Beigrade, and a part of Bosula, on the hither side of tiue U'nua, promising loesides the free navi. gation of the inambe to the peopie of the Austrian empire." - E. Sznbond, Mungary, Past and Prement, pts. 2. ch. 5-6.

Alwo in: L. Fellermann, Ilunpary and ita Prople, el. 4. Sue, also, Tenks: A. WI. 1714-1:1s. A. D. 1739. - Belgrade restored to the Turke. Sce Rinnia: A. 11. Tie5-1730.
A. D. 1740. -The question of the Austrian Succesuion.-The Pragmatic Sanction. Sic Aestuis: A. D. 1ils-inion: and 1ito.
A. D. 1740-1 $7^{41}$.-Beginning of the War of the Austrian Succession: Faithieseness of Frederick the Great.-His seizure of Silesia. See Arsrin. A. A. 1). 1741-1741.
A. D. 1741. - The War of the Austrian Sur. cession: Maria Theresa's appeal and the Magyar responec. see Atwru1.: A. 1). 1:41 (Ji:Nt:-N:ITHMIIEM).
A. D. $1^{80-1} 790$.-Irritations of the relgn of Joseph II.-lliherality of the Hungarian nobles.-- The relen uf dusphth il. is deweriberi disastrons time for the two comatriss. Dis.. tue nsechiof the throne he began to carre on series of masimeres wideh of ply irrit...nes Magyare With tis phihnsphicmi idens, the crowin of ilumgary was to him nothing more than a Guthle hamble. :umb the priviluges of the nation onfy the miverahide remains of matge of harbarism; the poititeal ophinhas of the 1 tungarians were as distasteful to him axtheir customs. num he ammserid lims.if with ridienling the foug leneris mat the soft leots of the great nohes. Ile never womhi be crowneci. He anmeyed the bishops by his binw asainat cousents, whife lifs ty rambion toleratue bever sucteceded in eontenting the Protes.
 that the haly in . In should le bronght to him in Vienna and phation the fuperial trensury. T." contisate this symbui of limgarian indedendence was, in the oyeco of the Magyan, un nttempt at the supprosision of the nathini itself, unit tho affront was derply resenteri. L"p to thistime the use in the variots pirrte of litangary. Juserpit lofli.ved lue was proving his tikeral principhew in suhstituting (ierman, nuit that hagunge took the phace of 1 antin. $\qquad$ Jusephly 11. somon fearnad that It is not wise to attark the dearest prejudices of a nation. The edict which intriniuced a foreign language was the sigual for the new birth if Magyar. At the time of the death of Joseph II. Hungary was in a state of violent disturbance.

The 'comitat' of Peath pmeinimed if the ale of the Hapshurgs was st sh emi, sul otimen threatened to do the same uniem the national ili;ertien were restored by the new novereign. All uniterl in diemanding the convocation of tife ilist in onier that the long-supprensed wishes of the people might le heral. The revolutionary wial which had passed over Prance had leeen feft even by the Magyars, but there was this great dilter. ence in its effect upin Franee and Ilungary in France, lifeas of equality had guided the revoIntion: fil Ilingary. the great pobles and the sopirearchy wive formed the oniy poitical ulement ciaimel, undier the name of libertien, privi. leges which were for the most part aboblitcly oplosell to the lifens of the lievolution of liad

Anoug the inte reforms only one finil funad fuyour in the eyes of the Magyars, and thent was toieration wwaris Protewtants, and the reasum of tiils was to le found in the fiet that the shall landowners of llungary were themsives to a iarge extent Protestant; yet a democratie parts wus gradualiy eoning lito existence whicli np. pratef to the imasam.

Wiren Franee dechared war against Franels Il. the Blagyar nolbies shinwed themssives quite rendy to support their soner. eign; they askefi for nuthing leetter tifun to lisht the revoluthouary democruts of Paris. Frinels was crowned very smon after hils accession, and wns abie to oltain butio mer and money froun the diet; but beione fonge the reactionary meanures entried by Thugut his minister, lost him all the mominaty which had grected him at the brginning of tils reign. The ecnmorsilip of the jirion, the empioyment of spies, and tite persercutina of the l'rofestants-a perserention, hiwwever. In which the Ilungarian Catiofies themsedver took man uetive part-nill hefped to ertate dilscontrat." -I. Leger, Mint. of dustro-MIungiry, ch. $\sin$ and 28
A. D. ${ }^{7} 7^{8} 7^{-1791}$. War with the Turks.Treaty of Sistova. See Traks: A. i). li.is1792.
A. D. 8815-1844.-The wakening of the national spirit. - Patriotic lahors of Szecheay and Kossuth.-"The Imitile of Wintericx, inl 1N.j. put an end to the terrible struggle ly which "rery country fut Eurupe had for twenty yeurs Ineral uritatem. The sovereigns of the ceininabe wow bremticel freely. mad therir first net was toreter into a feague ugunst their deliverers, to revoke all their concessions, and brenk ali thir prounises.

The most andarions of whl thee who joined in framing the lloly Alliance was the comperor of Austria. The llumgarims re redress their grievances, while they were woting him men aud hung y to defend fris capital as anat the assiulte of Xiapoleon. He conld not dras the promises, bat ber copplaticuly derlinets lufulfif them. Thery wheref him to con voke the dirt. thit he. . A Leterminad to dispense with it for the future.

At last the popalar formemt reacherd such o piteli, that the government fount it absolutely necersary to yhifid the point in dis pute. In 182., Framis 1 . concoberif the die ta and frim that melitut the offostrugrle, whin the wars with France had suspended, was :rupme.
 urahle ly un incident. in itself of trilling impors.
 nexion with subsequent events. It will in it that Count Stepheu Szechenyl made Lis first speech in the Magyar language. The llfe of this extranollaary man is more remarkable an an lanturce of What may be achleved by well-11. rected energy, Inhourfing In obeallence to the dlo. tatis of patrlotlsm, than for any brillinat triunilis of elonpuence or dlplomacy. . . . Ite wns nu great orator: mothet is laduence over the Maryurs - an luthence nueh as no private lndl. Fillal has erer aequifel over a people, exerpt. perlanjo, Kossuth and O'Coancll - must be looked upea mother as the triumphof practleal goox sense? sinl gonal lateatons than of rhetortcal appeals to projulleces or paaton. . . The first ohject to which hla atteation wis cllrected was the restora. than of the Magrar language, whleh, unter the Chermasalage efforts of Austria, had fallen luto slmost total dlasue amongat the higher clanmes. Ile barw luw Inthately the use of the nathoan longuige is connectoyl whith the feelling of nationslity:

IICNGARY, 1815-184.
llut the Magyar was now totally neg. lected by the Magyar gentleneen. Latln was the loaguage of the dlet, and of all legal and ottcial documeata, and German aad Frunch were aloute used In goonl soclety. Szechenyt, as the fins step In his scherne of reformathon, set shout resening lt from the elegradaton and dlsuse Into whleli it had filien; and as the leses of all wiys to Indice othere to do a thing is to dolt omeself tirst, lie rose in the fllet of i8es, atil, contrary to prevolous usage, same a siverchi la Nagral llis collengurs were surprimetl; the magiates were slowekel; the natloa was electil tietl. , The allet wit for two sears, ubl durlng the while of that perlox szeclueayl contluued his use of the natlve langunge, In whald he st remer nuly "ljused the dengras of the court, aml was suna constidered the lember of the opponathon or liseral party, whleh speedly grew up nruand him. Ilis cefforts were so sucressful, that leefore the close of the sesslon, Frateris wins compellell to urkuwledge the illegality of his previous scts, formally to reeogulze the lablependente of the comitrs, and promise to conveke the dle' at Itast ohe buevery three yuars. : Ile [Szech. enyi] sema lad the sutisfactlon of seelng the llumgriun langunge growlag to general nse, lut lew was stlll vexed to see the total wait of nulty. co-operation, and communlon which prevalliol amorgst the uoblen, owing to the want of a news. paper press, or of any place of ro. nlon where pulilecill sulijects coold the disertasied amonget de o of the simue party with frembou aad contidram. This he remediled by the establishment of the ranian, at l'esth, upon the plan of the Londin cluls. Ile next turmed his attention to the estithlishoneat of steam ninglgution ou the Diath. the. . lle , rigeral out a lmat, salled down the Daaube rlght to the l3lack Sena, exphred it thoronglaty, fonad It navigable incerery part, went over to England, stulied the prif. cijus of the steam-cagine as applicol to navigil. tinu brought back Finglish engiacers, foriacta a citapeay, aml at last confounded the aubletinle of meplics, who scoterol at his pflorts, by the aight of a stemon-lont in, the river $\ln$ foll work. Luis font wits accomplished int Oetolver 18.30 ,

Ia the interval which followed the dissolution of the dirt, Sacchenyl still followed up his phat of reform with uniwerted diligence, and owing to his excrtions, a party wne now forteral if the cxisting lat merely the strict observance the the citsting laws, bit the reform of them, the abolition of the unjust privileges of the nohlea, the emascipation of the peacantry, the establinhmeat of a system of enlucatlon, the equal dlatinutlon of the taxes, the equality of all re. Ilglous merts, the improvenient of the iommerrclal cokle and of interual communleatlon, aud thungh last, nut lenst, the frectom of the presa, These projects were all strenuously delsated, hut on thes oreanion wlthout any practleal rrault. The next mecting was for a fong tline delhyed, thon one pretext or another. At last It was ronvened In 183s, and proved In many resperts one of the most luportaut thut had ever ase mblilet.
The man who Ia fiture strugeles was destlned to play so promalacot part, durligg the whole of noble orloln, of He was a gentlearat of noble origin, of course, but hls whole fortune lay In fils talents, whichat that pe fland were devoted to Jouruallsum-a profesaslon whlila the llungarl. ans luad but ret lrarucel to estlomate at los full value. Ile was stlll but thlrty yenrs ar age, and withla the diet lie was known as romising young man, nlthongh, anowagst the ti rel wilth young man, nlthough, amonagst the ti relt with. out, hls anme - the nameoflauls Kossath hlela has sinee become a houselnhlal word in two beat.
 frobl the Jembung of the gowernmuat or the apab thy of the llagyirs, mo prlited rejestsof the par. llamentary proweallugs hat ew set been publishad. © To snplyly this edert, Kossuth resolven t" devite the tlane, wnleh would other. Wise have ben wasted la lille listemhge, to care. fully reperting everythitu that luok place, and clrednted lt all wrer the country on a small priated shect. The lmpertinue of the proceed. higs whel then acenpiol the attentlon of the diet causall it to ler ruil with cext rumilinary chager. arss, and Kussuth rimulerolit stlll mome atiractlve sprerhes. The cinhat, loweror, sum tonk the alario, and although the 'romirvllp wis unkuawn und puhlieation of the rejurts. Thls was a heavg to ate as seerefition, whow rote out a great numbber of cophes of the jourmal whleh were they clrCenlated In munurefpt throuphout llungary. The Lowremmat was completely folled, and aew ardesur was Infused iato the likeral pitty. When the seswinh was at an end hee resolved to follow nh his plan lir reporting the mertlags of the conaty anvembles, which were then the secones of tiery debites. . The kerwernaceat stopped his jonrmal la tha' jeive -otlece. He thea establilshed a stafl of messempers abd carricrs, who clrculated It froun wilage to village. The enthuslasm of the perple was fast risiog tun thanc. I crisls waslm. minent. It was reswl ved to arrest Kossuth. The was selzeed, nall shat ny in the Senhanis, a howerer, net lorought to trial till $1 \times 39$, mud was thenseutenced to forr sears' imprisomanent. The charge brunglat agaiast hin was, that ho lmal cir. colated false and fatcourate reports; but the real Eround of offone was, as peryone knew, that he after hiv i... ration fromprison, had tuken up als shattered health, aad for a time wholly alostoined from taklog ung part in public affulis. On the first of Januny, 1841. Lowever, a printer In

IIXN.Nば, 1s15-1844.

 sulf, whe merepteal It, Imit only int comiliton that prexslou of himothlion.

Kinamist $\qquad$ мसH

 of the mifllle wind lowit daswes masonweralily

A. D. $8^{8} 47-1849$. - The struggle for National Independence and its failure. -'. I at riltig mirit years, prontly fovared ly hamia kimaitla, it combiry ami a ruce upart from that of the. Dus.

 Coban Ibatlayin!, IPrime Estcranay, limabla, lireak dewn the mew llumgari:n comstitulan.

 and onfy a fow forcign resibuols, whan they out, whl at the aume time the Wialincldatas fit melist viewed the? is rels-lv.

Ne:amtime a lath piritod ('romima ollder, Baran dellawhich.

dillachlels iwl.
 ment there that in Ferdinatise eyen they were the featel. and ent real the dustrian states, :ppearseland latisur, the uinditer at war, susagely propared for a si-ge, while Wimlisilygratz and Jillachich colheremil large army of Anstrians the 30th of Octoter, and made an extrance, when ull the rluglemars of the rilmellint were trintal ther rowo uf the minfatry therefore thought 1 la m alt the dherorilunt furrem of the compire: a finaly

 "lamige was unde, and the new bing wror put ablity fir

 - proll Whalimbogrile wis falrty drlvelt atomathe

 the tifo of Marrh [14-til a nuw limperlal thartip that in it llumsary whe incry whtitrated. Wh the Ifth of April the Ing"riad Herrere wis mswared ly the |herlatation if fo

 atul n mes dinisiry wus chose'a, undir the f're previons arrmgromell with lis ingpertind brothez ment which hat suremerl wh cogemt whis fente. cessur. ... In July toce Czars troops a weon ! thare entered 11 angars this thme with man lise that 1 lis majesty. Iurving alwity reserved to himself entire frecedom of actlon whemerer han own in danger, wan now convineed that the luternal wevority of hla rimplre was menared by What "an pmosing anit jervuring lu llungary.

In Angost, Gorgel, the commander-In whef fintitur in the piace of Kımatiti, wan inventeri with fudi jurwers to trent fir n wace, num int f.asce tho mationul exioture of Hungury. At de ir arms, und suramisted - nut to the Aumeri.

 rimallinu was at an ronif dian-ral Jl yrman Dral, ami the Jonge ruli uf Hasдarian patriohs homgman was limuledi by such hamas as (iom

 Fo fuce in Engiami, Imerlea, or Turkey, whither intlon-pher of timic. and stilit wore of that grem? Work of rerourciliation which u wise getwromity

 $14!!$
A. D. 1849-1850,-Contemplated recognition of the revolutionary government by the United States. - The Huisemann Letter of Daniel Webster, fie ['Nirknstith uF IM : i. ]) 14.51-14.51.
A. D. 1849-1859.-Compieted Emancipation of the peasantry.-Restoration of pure abso-

A. D. 1850 -1868.-Recovery of nationality. -Formation of the dual Austro-Hungarian "Jruedidmed an numesty ngalnst the iwhitiend there. ation of thelr costatess mini further stejes Wrre tran'h to stlity tite whase of the llum.

 and the wreve given free administrution on $\mathrm{i}_{0}$ their mheatiousi nat religinus rites in tha Yizvar tongle. In 1 abet the curin lackia.
 (Am-tituthon was restoreal to llangary and it a da.
 Thu ifungarian lorifiament, whinds faml been -hivel for so many velurs, rewpenteri its gates There ionariasonas, huivever, did not antisfy the Magrara, who wantemi perfect antomomy for thrir conatry. . . Tla I Iungiarians refasedi on bab tanes, uhicil therefore lam tule coilecteri by military ad. In I 86.5 the Ilmbarian Parlif. lurut was "iemeri ly the Fupreror in person.
 liungary, lut furtier cietails had s : ifi to lat ar. Fimgol, and the war which broke adt between Allitili, I'rusia and Itaiy in I866 provented thit-ffents being corried out. On tise strength of the Emperors promlse to accede th the wisies of his Ifungarian subjects, the Hungarians domsiot mont bavily In fermany ami in lialy for that then ex|enent Iu the dilatrint urmit wive the rather of the ir chefont, and the dilasolitiling of the tiorman comferle rithon, ever which Dimetia pure. wholl firem untiy goars. The flumi rewnil uf this Wiat that a jerfert altonomy for Ilumgery was rolnataterl in |mif, and the linal Syutem wis in thon of ita nffiniry withont ingy literfereme froms fir irur, und fur kimancer. II. It turis half of the muntardy there in a meparite Ministry of rash continta of sis: memtwre. in the Hhagarian

 Ginefis dy of sivty membera from com hatf of Hitrantely ut Virmas abil bustarest, Je.

 thand atriaty turifitirsuf common litereat, witil regarel the wifidy the. Ja-locations have the right

 ment inetwern the twolbilleallions tior questhon

 :In antherinaif transfathol in the lang wager of the

 at, the question is ghit to the vate by Pailot whit. wht further clebatu. The iblegrites. of whom in fresent fran encis IClegation, vote infibhinaliy. the Eimperar. King having the easthyg vote Vil Iby virtur of the present diffation of com than attairs. thi cost of the diphomatic service anif the urny. "xerft the Ihourions (mifitial, is ticfriveri ont of the Imperial revemare. to which Vlli With referoure tol the furmee. it is stijue latedithat all intermational treatices be arbaitter] to like tw" hatisiathery by their reapective Minintries: with referener lor the finter. that of the $w$ dula armse as aiso to that of the Ha tional forer of thase gary is in the hamis of the sureroign. the artilowiont of mattera affocting the recruiting. longth of servise, mmbilization. und pily of the lhomviai arous (the militian ro. mainh ivith the Il:!agarian I egitatufo IX. Thome ubaters which it is clesirable shoniditiou suliject to the same legisiation, such us cus. toms, indirect taxation, currebey, e'te., etc., are regulated by means of treatles, subject to the approval of the two Leglslatures. In cases where the two partles are nnable to come to an agreement, each retains the right to deride such questions $\ln$ accorlance with their nwn speclal lnterests. $X$. In eommon affalrs, the deeisions arrived at by the Id legatlons (withIn the scope of their powers), and sanetioncd by the Soverelgn, become thenceforth fuuda. mental laws; each Ministry Is bound to an. nonnce them to his respeetive Nitlonnl Legls. lature, and is responslble for their excention. It should be here inentloned that the late grent and lamented lhangarian stntesman, Ievik, und also the late Count Beust, have liy their personal efforts contributet a grent denl to these concesslons being granted. The IInngarian l'arllament was reopened $\ln$ 1867, and the late Connt Julhas Andrássy, who escaped to England from the noose of the hangmau, became lits Prime Minister. . . . In 188[7] the Emperor and Empress entered in grent state tbe town of Buda. and were crowned with the greatest pomp, with the Apostolle erown of St. Stephen."-L. Felber. mann, Hungnry and its Prople, ch. 5.

HUNGARY, 1856-1868.

IIUNS, A. D. 439-453.

Alao in: Frnneia Deak: a memoir, ch. 26-31. - Count von Beust, Memoire, v. 2, eh. 38.-Sve. also, Acetria: A. 1). 1860-1867, and Federal Governarnts: Modein Federatione.
A. D. 1866-1887. - Difficulties and promises of the Austro-Hungarian empire.-Its ambltions in southeastern Europe. See Ars. TRIA: A. I). 1860-1887.
A. D. 1894.-Death of Kossuth.-Louls Kc, suth, the leater of the revolutlonary movement of 1848 , died at Turin on the $20 t h$ of March, 1894, aged nincty two years. IIe had refused to the end of hiss life to be reconelled to the AustroIIungarian government, or to countenance the neeeptance by the IIungarians of the dual nation. ality estallished ly the constltutlon of 1867 , and reminined an cxlle in Italy. After hls death his remains were brought to Budapest, and their burial, which took plnce on Sunday, April 1st. was made the oceaslon of a great natlonal dem onstration of respeet.

HUNIADES AND THE HUNGARIAN WARS WITH THE TURKS. See IluNgary: A. I). 144-1458; and Tures (Ottomans): A. D. $1402-1451$ hU Ningen, Battle of. See France: A. D. 1796 (APRII-()CTOHER).
HUNKERS. See United States of Am. A. D. 1845-1840.

HUNS, Gothic account of the.- "We have ascertaincd that the nation of the IIuns, who surpassed all others in ntrocley, eame thurs lnto leing. When Filimer, tifth king of the (inths after their leparture from Sweden, was entering seythia, whth his people, as we have before described, he found among them certaiu sorecrerwomen, whom they eali in thelr native tongue Aliornmmas (or Al-rnnas), whom he suspeceed and drove fortia from the midst of his army Into the wilderness. The melenn spirits that wander up and down in desert plaees, secing these women, made eoncubines of them; and from this union sprang that most fieree people (of the Hans) who were int tirst little, foul, ennacinted creatures, dwedling nmong the swamps, and possersing only the shatow of humau speerb by way of liagnage. . . . Nations whom they would never have vanquisicel in fair figit tiod horrified from those frightui-faees I cint harily eall them, lint rathor-siapeless black collops of tlesh, with little points insteal of eyes. No hair on their cliceks or chins gives grace to adindsecnce or dignity to are, but deep furrowni whes insteml, down the sides of their furcs, show the impress of the lron which with eharacterintic ferocity they apply to every male child that is inorn among them.

They are little in stature, but lithe nmi aetive in their motions, and especially skilful furiding, broad. shouliered, [ocml ut the use of the fow and arrows, with sinewy nereks, and always holding their hends hijg in their pride. "-Jornamles, De liebora ficticis, trans. by T. Ilodgkin in faly ami JIer Inreuters, lik: 1. ch. 1

First appearance in Europe. See Gotirs: A. I). 176 .
A. D. 433-453.-The empire of Attila. After driving the Goths from Ihacla, the terrible Euns had haited tu their unarch westward for something more than a generatlon. They were hovering, meantime, on the eastern frontiers of the empire " taklng part like other barbariuns in its disturhances and allianees. Einjerors puid them tribute, aud IRoman generals kept uj a politic or a (guestionnble eorrespoulenee with them. Stilicho latd detachments of IIuns in the armles which fought agninst Alarie; the greatrest Romun soldier after Stilieho, - and, Ilke Stilicho, of barbarian parentage,-Aetlus, who was tio lie thelr miost formidable autagonlst, had been a hostage and a messmate in thelr camps
About 433, Attila, the son of Mundznksi, like Cliarles the Great, equally famous in history and legend, became their klog. Attila was the exact prototype and forerumer of the Turkish ellefs of the house of Othman. In hls profurind hatrod of civillzed men, In his scorn of their knowiedge, their arts, their hainits and religion, and, In splte of this, In his systematic use of them as lils secretarios and oftiecrs, In hls rajarity conloined witts personal simplieity of life, in his Insatiate aud ludiscriminate destructiveness, in the eumning whien veiled ltself nnder rudeness, In lis extravagant arrogance, null andacious pre tensions, In his sensuality, In hls unscrupuhus and far reaching designs, in his ruthiess cructy jolned with capricious displays of geanerosity, nerey, and goni faith, we see the image of he irrechimable Thrklsh barbarians who tera renturies later were to extingulsio the civilization of [eastern?] Europe. The attraction of Altila's daring ehnraeter, and hls genius for the war which nomadic tribes dellght $\ln$, gave him atholute ascendency over his nation, and owr the Teutonie and slavonie trlbes near hin. like other eonquerors of hls race, he imausined and attempted an empire of ravage and iforla. tion, a rust hunting ground andi preserse: in which men and their works slionld supply the ohjects and zest of the chase. "-16. W. Chirrh. maginning of the Middle Agea, ch. 1.-"lle [Attila] was truly the king of kings; fir his court whe formed of chiefs, who, in ofteres of command, had learned the art of otertience There were three brothers of the race of the Amales, nll of them kings of the Ostrugeths; Ardaric. king of the Gepliae, hls principal con fidant; a king of the Merovlaglan Franks kinga of the Burgundians, Thuringians, Rugians, and Heruli. who commanded that part of their natlou which had remained at home, when the other part crossed the lhine half a century before."J. C. L. de Sismondi, Fall of the Roman Empire, ch. 7 (r. i). "The amount of ahject, slavish fear which this ilttie swarthy Kaimuek succeeded in instilling into mililons of human hearts is not to be easily matched in the history of our race. Whether he had mueh mifitary talent may be doubted, since the oniy great battic in whielh he dgured was a eompiete defeat. The impresslon ief. upon us by what history records of him is that of a gigantle bully, holding in his hands powers unequailed in the world for ravage aud spoliation.

Some doubt has recently been thrown on the received neeounts of the wide cxtent of Attia's power. . . . The prince who fcit Chinn on his ieft, who threatened Persepolis, Byzantium. Ravenna in front, who ruled Denmark and its ishands in his renr, and who ultiuately nppeared in arms on the soil of Champayar on his right, was no minor mouareh, and hail his empire been as deep as it was wide. spreaui, he might worthily have taken rank with Cyrus aui Alexander. At the same time it is will to remember thut over far the larger part of this territory Attiln's can have been oniy sn over-ioriship. Teutonic, Slavonle, nnd Tartar chiiffalns of every name benring rule under him. ilis own jersonal government, if government it can be callel, may very likely have ieen confiucd nearly witinin the limits of the modern Ilumgary nud Transylranin."- T. ilodgkiu, far as we may ascertain the vngue and oiscure grography of Priscus, this [Attia's] capital apprars to lave been seated bet ween the Danule, the Theiss [Teyss] and the Curpathian hitls, in thr plains of Upper liungary, and unost probu. Whr in the ueighbourhood of Jazherin, Agrin, or Tikay. In its origin it couki be no more than aa accilental camp, which. by the long nod frequent residence of Attila, had inseusihly swelled into a huge village."一E. Qihbon, Deeline and Fall of the Roman Eimpire. ch. 34 .
A. D. 441-446.-Attiia's attack on the Eastern Empire. - Attila's first assault upon the Bumau power was directed against the Eastern Empire. The eonrt at Coustanilaople had been duly obsequlons to him, but he found a pretext fir war. "It was jretended that the Roman bidulp of Margus had surreptitiousiy int rofiue ed himself into the sepuicire of the Ilunnic kings aml stoleu from it the buried treasure. The thus immurdiately fell upon a Rounan town during the time of a fair, und piliaged every thing before them, slaying the meln and carrying off the women. To ali compialnts from Constantinople, the answer was, 'The bishop, or your fives. 'The emperor thought, nud with reason. that to give upin innocent nan to be massaered "und be dispieasing to lienven, would aliemate the clergy, sui only appense for a moment tite demands of his merciless eneny. He refused. thourh tinidily and in vague terins. The linas rplici by scouring Dunoonla, haylig sirmium, it eapital, in ruins, and extending tielr ravimes f.ur suth of the Danube to the citles of Nalssa and sardica, upon both of which they wrought th. "stremity of their vengennce. A truee of futed its why lacreased thelr fury and agee of rated its effects. The of was suddeniy recom.
menced. This time they reached Thessaly, and renewed with a somewhat slmiliar result the farfamed passage of Thermopyle hy the hordes of Xerxes. Two Roman armies were put to complete rout, nnd seventy eitles ievelledi to the ground. Theodosius purehasedi the rediemption of hls eupitai by the cession of territory extending for fitteendays' journey sontio of the Danube, by an inmmediate payment of 6,060 pounds of goidi, and the promise of 2,000 mine as an annual tribute." J. G. Sheppari, Finll of Rome, lect. 4.
A. D. 451--Attia's invasion of Gaut.- In the siring of the yenr 451 Attila moved the great host whieis he had assemhied in the Ilungarian piains west ward toward the lhine and the provinees of Gaul. He hesitatei, It wus said, between the Eastern and Western Einpires as the objects of his uttack. But the East had found an emperor, at iast, in Marcian, who put some eourage into the sinte, - who refused tribute to the insoivnt liun and showed $u$ wilingness for war. The West, muder Volentiulan 11 i. ami inls motier Pincidia, witih the Gotis, Vundals. Burgundiuns nad Franks in the heart of its provinces, seemed to offer the most inviting field of eonquest. lience Attin turned his horses and their savilge rilers to the West. "The kings and nations of Germauy and Scythia, from the Voigu periapss to the Dinule, oiryed the warlike summons of Altias. From the myni wiliage in the phains of ilungary hls standaril moved townrds the West, and after 14 march of seven or eight inndred mities he reached tite contlux of the Rhine und the Nockar, where he was joined by the Frunks who adhered to his ally, the eder of the Franks who adihered to his ally, the eider of the sons of Clerliou.

The liereyniau forcst suppiied materials for a bridge of boats, nnd the hostike myrisds were poured with resisticss vloicnce into the Beigie provinces." At Mletz, the ifuns "invoived in n promischons massacre the priests who served nt the uitar and the infants who, in the hour of danger, had lheen providentiy baptized by the blshop; the flourishling eity was delivered to the tiames, und a solitary ehapel of St. Stephem marked the place where It formeriy stoovi. From the Rhine pul the tostic stoon. From the Rhine and the Mioselic, Attila advanced into the heart of Ganl, crossed the Seine at Auxerre, and, nfter aiong and daborlous murch, tixed his eamp under the walls of or-Reans."-E. Gibbon, Decline tual Fill of the Roman Eimpire, ch. 3.5.- Meantime the energy of tise unscrupuious but abie Count Actins, who ruled Western Enndire commanderi the resmirces of the Western Emiple, had bronght about a generai comblnation of the barbarian forces in Gaui what those of the Romans. It included, firs: in importunce, the Goths of the kingion of Tonlouse, unier thelr king Themburic, and with them the lhargundians, the Aians, 1 part of the Franks, and detaehments of Siaxons. Armoricans and other tribes. There were (hoths, too, and Franks and Burgundians in the fiost of tie llun klag. The fatter iaid siege to Orienns and the walls of the brave eity were nlready crumbling under his inttering rams wheu the banners of Aetins hai Theorioric cume in sigit. Attifa retreated beyoni the seine and twok n position some where within the wide extent of winat were ancientiy eailed tite Catalannian fiefls, now known us the Champagn country surrounding Chaions. There. In the curiy days of Iniy, I II 451, was fought the great and terribic battie whicin rescued Europe from the aii-conquering Turtar. The number of the slain, aecording to one chroni cler. Was 162,000 ; accorlling to others 301,010 . Neither army conld elalm a vietory; both feared to renew the cugagement. The Goths, whose king Theolorie was slaln, wlthulrew in one direc. tion, to their own territury: the Hans retrented in the other direetlon and ybulted Ganl forever. The wlly lkoman, deths, was probubly lest eatisfien witla a resnlt which erippled both Goth ani Ilun. As for the hattle, its latest histormn suys: "lusterlty lias chosen to call it the hattle of Chalons, hut there is goori reason to thlak that it was fonght tifty miles distant from Cha. lons-sur-Marue, nud that it wonld he more eorrectly named the hattle of Troyes, or, to speak With complete accuracy, the battie of Very-sur-Selne."-T. IlalgkIn, Jlaly and Iher Incoders, bk. 2, ch. 3 ( $c$. 3).-"It whs cinring the retreat from Orleans that a Christhan lermit is reported to have apprablenel the llumnlsh king, and sald to him, 'Thou urt the scourge of Gixi for the chastisiment of Clirlatinus.' Attila instantly as. sumed this new tithe of terror, which thenceforth became the appellation by whels he was most wiflely aud most feurfully known. "-Slr F. Creasy, Fijtcen theinire Batlies of the World, ch. 6.

HCNS, A i). 451

HUNS, A. D. 458.
A. D. 452.-Attila's invasion of Italy.-In the sunnmer of 4.51 Attila, retreathig from the blomely plain of Chaions, recrosseri the Khine and returied to his yuarters in Ilungary. There, through the following autumn and winter, le nursid his chagrin and his wruth, and int the spring of 452 he set his lost iu motion aguin, direrting its marcha to the Julian Alps ani throngh their pasises Into laly. The city of Aquiledi, then prominent in commerce, and prosperous and rich, was the first to ohstract the sivage invasion. The defence of the clty proved su ohstinate that Ittilit was at the prome of ohonthonitur hes siege, when a thight of storks, which his shrewdmess comstrued favorally as an omen encouraged the lluns to one more irresintible as. sanlt mal the doonedi town was curried by storm.
in proportion to the stublornness of the defenee was the severity of the punishment meted out to Agnileia. The Roman soldilers were, no dombt, all slain. Attila was not a man to encumlere hionself with prisoners. The town was abso. lutely siven np to the rage, the fust, and the gried of the Turtar loorle wholated se long chafeci aroumd its walls.

When the harbarlinas conla] plunde: un more, they probably used fire, fur the very huihlings of A qullelit perished, so that. as lormanles tells 11 , iu his time, a contary later than the sidene, s'arcely the vestiges of it yet re. mained Ifew houses anay huve hern left stand. lug. and others imnot lave slowly gathered romal them, fur the latriarel of Ayuilela retained ull hla ohlicoliaintical juristliction, anif a large amed sourewhat atittely rathetral was rearcol there in the elowenth enninty. i3nt the City of the North Wiud wever rally rimosered from the blow.
The terribh invialers, made more wrathful und more turrible liy the resistance of Aquiledit. stremmed on thringh the irembling cities uf Venetia." Patavium (monlern Pudaa), Altuma and lulia Coneorlita, were blotted out of existence. At Vicenza, Verona, Brescia, Bergano, l'avin und Milan, the towns were sacked, bat spared destruction, umd the Inhablants who didi not escrje: wors carried away latn raptivity Many of the fugitifes from these towns escaped the Huns by hiding in the isiands and fens of the neighboring Idrlatie coast, and out of the poor fishing villages that they forment there grew in tlme, the great commorclai clty and repulaic of Venice.
" The valley of the Po was lum wasted to the heart's eontent of the luvimers. Shonld they cross the Appennines anil hot out Rome as they hai hlotted ont Aqullela frum among the cities of the worla! This was the great question that wus being dehated in the Innnolsh cump, and strange to nay, the voines Were not all for war. Alrendy Italy legha to strike that strange awe lato the hearts of lur northern conmerors wheliso often in litier ares has beell her lx'st defence. The remembrinur +if Aharle, cat off ly a mysterious death lnumeliucly ufter hils eapture of lsome, was present lat the mind of Attilin, nu! was freduentic lusisiod upи by his commellors." So, the grim ilun was pre. pared by his superstltions to liniten to the emb:ive from lume whleh met hlm at tle Tleim, prating for peuce. At the head of the embins with lhe veueruble bishop of Rome, Leo I. - thie lima if the great lopers. To has inllinence the pratic disposition into which Attila was persuaded has been commonly hascribed. At all eveuts, the king of the Lhins consented to peuce whit the lhomans, uni witluirew lxyond the Dumbin in fultlment of the treaty, lembing laly a denert tis tice Appenninos, but nut beyond. -T. Howdehin. Italy und Iler Inmaders, bis. 5, ch. 4 ( $\mathrm{a}, ~ B)$.
Al.me is: F. Glbbon, Dreline umd Fill Roman Eimpire, ch. 3is. - Nue, also, Vesiet. : I. I 452.
A. D. 453.-Death of Attila and fall of his empire.-Attla died sublenly aud ntsiterimuly in his sleep, nftre a drunken debinhed, some that in the emrly monthan of the yoar 453 , and lis doath was the end of the "reign of turror" unter which he had reduced half the world. "lmum diately after has death, the Germuns refuned submit to the divideci rale of his sums. lise thernie side were the Gepide aml Ont rogntl.s. win!
 other the liuns, the dans, the Sirmatian en Slavounins, and the few Germans what till owneri allegiance to the memory of Attila $I$ vast !!!dn liotween the Drave nud lhe Ihinime was sildetel to deride this vital strugrale. humen as the hatthe of Netad, which, thomgh heo fatund in history, may perhaps chalon equal intur rime with that of Chithons, as an :r!iter of the dev tinies of civilizathon.

Fortument lirut ate hital to fivour the lluns: but Groman stemalfoness prevailed; Goths and (ajoibe matterod the las dlsedplined bands of Astu; lutul Irdaric, the hing of the latter trile for the thme; estahlisher! himself la the royni resinlence of Attla, and asammed the leallag jostion in the harinarian with."J. G. Nineppari, Fill of Li,me, loft. I.-" Jhirls thousind of the thms mad thelr comfollerativ hy dead upon the theld, mong them Ellak, Duthis first-lurn

The rest of hls nution thed aw: acruss the locian plilis, und over the Carpathian mombtains to those wide steppes of sumth: lussia in which at the comuencoment of mat history we saw the three Gothic nations takin: up their aboale. Brnak, Attla's clarling. ralod trungully nuder lemon protection fil th. dis. trlet leetween the lower Dinule und the Blach Sa, whleh we now call the inobradotho, whit whleh was then 'the lesser Scythia.' (Hhr, if bis family maintalned a precarious footing higher up the stream. . . There is nothing in the after history of these fragments of the nation with which aay one need concern himself. Dacta, that part of II ungary whieh lies east and north of the Danube, and which hatl been the heart of Attiia's domains, fell to the lot of the Gepldae, under the wise and vletorious Ardarie. I'sannonia. that is the western portion of Ilungary. with Siciavonia, and parts of Croatia, Styria and Lowcr Austria, was ruled over by the three Amai-lescendel kings of the Ostrognths, "-T. Holykin, Italy and Mer In maders, bk. 3, ch. i (c. 2).

HLSSEIN.

Attila in Teutonic legend.-"Short as was the sway of Altiia (from 4.34 to 4.3 ), the terror It hadi inspireni ani the great commotion th had brought over the whole Teuton and leomin world, were aot . . . simn forgotten. . . The memory of the great ehleftiin hovered for a long time, like a honkiy phantum, In the Roman annals and In the Ge rman siggas. . . When we compare the historical Attiha, before whose plereing glance Rome and Constantinople trembled, with Etzel of the Nibelungen Lied, we tind that the latter bears hitt a slight resembiance to the former. It is true that Attih's powerful sway is stili re. fleeteri in the Nibehongen Lied. as Kriemhild at her arrival int the iand of the IIuns is surprised at arring sin many natious submitted in his scepitre. Yet upon the whole Etzel jplays la the German epic the part of a weak and sonetimes even contruptihle king, while glimpses of his roal might can the detected onlr at rare intervais. Dintering as it were in the far distant hackground of a by gone time. . . The Edtas and the Vol. sumpa s:ug: bear the impress of the early Teutonic cral, when the king was little nore than the chomell iemper in war; and the Northern perple for a long time hat in their politicai hastitutions nothing by which the cunception of : great mumarchy, or still less of a far-stretching realm like that of Atti!a, could be expr "ed. "ch. T. Dippohl, Great Eipice of Medireval Germany. ch. 4

HUNS, The White, - "It was during the relgu of this prince [ Vurahran V., king of I'ersia, mene letween the l'ersians and their neigh luurs uphut the north-east which continued, from the early part of the fifth till the middia of the sis th comury, to condanger the very existenec of the cupire Varions names are given to the peo. jhl with whom P'ersia waged her wars during this je rimi. Theynre eallet Turks, Iluns, sometimets esen chinese: hut these terms secm to be used in a vague way, ns 'Scethhn' whs by the unclents; und the speriai ethrie designation of the peopie uppars ble puite a different name from wisy of thrill. It is a name the Persian form of whith is 'Ilitithal,', or 'IIatherfch,' the Armenlan 'illphthagh.' und the Grevk' Ephthatites,' or sonnetinus " Yephthaites.". . All tiat we know of the i.phthalites ls, that they were estabhshed in furer, furing the fifth and sixth centuries of wireri, in the regions cust of the (caspian, especially in those bevond the oxirs river. and that they were generily regardet as leionging to the Scrthic or Finao. Turkie popuiatlon, which. at hay rate from B. C. 200, had become purerful ha thiti trein. They were calied ' White II uns hy

Were quile dlstinct from the lluns who invaded Europe undrer Attial.. .. They were a llght. cidediy swart : they were not lif lowking whe dethe linus were hideous : they wowking, whereas the IInus were hideous; they were an agricui. tural people, while the IInns were nommes: they had gonni laws, and were tolernhly well civilised. lut the Inmes were saviges. It is probubie that they lechuged to the Thibetie or Turkish stuck." -t. linwinson, \& wenth Great Urientel Mr.m archy, rh, 14-- $\cdot$ We are able to distinguish the two great diviniong of these formidabie exiles [the llmins]. which directed thelr march towurds the Oxus und twwards the Voiga. The firnt of these colunies established therir dominion in the fruis fui und extonsise phains of Sogdiana, on the Mhitern side of the Caspinn, where they preserved the name of Iuns, with the epitiset of Euthaiites [Ephthaliwe]. or Nephthaiites. Their namners were seftencil. und even their fentures ware lnensibly hajoroved. hy the midnens of the cilmate myd theirlugr residence in : fiourishing prowince; which might still relain a faime impressono of the arts of Circece. The White lluns, in name which they derivel from the change of the ir complexion, shon :thandioneld the pastural life of Seythla. courgo, which, umber the uppellation of Carizine, has since enjowed a tenpurary splendour, was the residence of the king. who exereised a legal anthority overna ohedient penpie. Thelr inxury was minimincel hy the balaur of the sogdlans." -E. Gibhwn, Decline unel Fitllog the Roman Eim. pirc, elh, Sh, -The. White Huns were subjugated y the Turks. Sec Tilles: Sisth Century.
HUNTER, General David. - Command in Kansas. Sie (inten irites of AM: A. I) Order. See Cviteostates or Am: A. D. Nfi: Nal....Command in the Shenandoah. Nix Indinib
HUNTSVILLE, Capture of. Sice Cimed bava
HUPAS, OR HOOPAHS, The. Sec AMEM. can Abomigiske: Dobmis.

HURON, Lake : Discovery. See Casada A. i). 1611-1616; un! 11:4-16:3.

A. D. 1679 .-Navigated by La Salle. See Casabi: A. 1). 1669-104

HURONS, OR WYANDOTS, The. See dmerican. Ahohlimpa: himons, ind Iroqcions Cosfrimbaty.

HURST CASTLE, King Charles at. Sce
 HUS AND THE REFORMATION IN BOHEMIA. S'e BunikEIs: A 11. 140\%-1415. HUSCARLS. Sue lintecenm.
HUSSARS. - Miathitis, son of dolin II unyadi, deface of the country chietly engaged the at tention of Miythias at the conimeturement of hats reign. Munvires of defence were aceurdingiy carriad on with the nt tuset speed. the mosi im prortant of which was the estabisishment of recular cuvairy: to ievy which one nunn was enrulleri ont of eviry $?$ f funilics. Thls was the origin of the 'Ilussar, oneuning in lluggurian the price or

HUSSEIN, Shah of Persia, A. D. $1604-1$ 102

HU8TING.

HYRCANIA

HUSTINGS.-COURT OF HUSTING.-

 "The 'hygh and auncyent' Court of Ilusting of the City of London la of Angio-Saxon, or, to speak more accurateiy, of Scandinavian origin, being a remarkabie memorial of the away once exer. cised over England by the Danes and other Northmen. The name of the Court is derived from [hus]. 'a house,' and [dhing], a thing, 'cause,' or 'council,' and signities, aecording to general acceptation, 'a court held in a house,' in contradistinction to other 'thhngs,' or courts, which in Saxon tlmes were usuahy heid In the open air.The term 'Husting or, iess correctly. 'IIust. ings is commonly appiled at the present day to open-air assemhifes or temporary courts, usuaily held in some cierated position, for tine purpose of eleeting nembers of Parilament in counties and boronghs, lis strict ctymoiogical meaning being lost sight of.
[The Court of Ihnsting] is tie oilest conrt of recorl within the City, and at one time constituted the soic court for settiing disputes between citizen and citizen."一R. R. Sharpe, Introd. to Culendier of ivills, Court of Husting, Lomdon.
HUTCHINSON, Mrs. Anne, and the Antinomian troubles. See MAssacucaetts: A. D. 1636-1638: mil Rhode Island: A. D. 1038-1040.
HUTCHINSON, Governor Thomas, and the outbreak of Revolution in Massachusetts. Sec Massacuegetts: A. 1). 1761 ; and Usited States of AM.: A. D. 1ig6, News of the Stamp Act:1702-17is3: 17it (Mar-July).
HWICCAS. - A name horne hy the West Saxous who tirst settled in Gloucestershire and Worcestershire when that reglon was conquered. They fed it revolt against the West Saxon king Ceawin, in wiich they were joined by the Brit. ons, ur Wrish. The battie of Wanhorougi, fought A. 1). 591. drove Ceawiin from the tirone. -I. IR. Green, The Mriting of Eng., pp. 120-208. -Sue Englasd: A. I: ti-683.
HYACINTHIA, yeust of the.-"The feast of the llyacinthia wa: beht nnnu:illy at Amycle [Lnceliamonla], on the iongest disy of the Spartan montb Ilecatombeus, eorresponding to our Jnue nall Juif. . . Hyacinthus, the brautfui youth siain accidentaliy hy Apolio, was the cilde object of the worshlp. He took his mame from the thower. winich was an emhlem of dicath; and the orlginai feast seems to have ireell altogether a mournfui ceremony,- a hamentation over the destructiou of the flowers of spring by the summer heat, passing on to a more general lament orer death itseif."-G. Rawlinson, Mist. of Herodotus, liote, bk: 9, sect. \%.

Also in: E. Iblwte, IIst. of Grecte, r. 1, p. 222.
HYBLA.-"Tiere was n Sikei godidess IIyhia, whom the Greeks looked on as the same with several gunidesses of their own mythology, here with ons, the re with nother. Three towns in Sicily wire calievi ufter iner, one in the southeastern part of the hiami, now Ragusa, nother on the ruast murth of syracuse, near the phare where the Grevk colony of M-gara was afterwards planted. This gave its mance to ${ }^{\circ}$ the Hyblaian hitis not far off, fanous for their honey; hut there is no inill strietly called Monnt Ihybin. The $t$ hird liybla is indund. not far from Catania, and is now cuilecil laterno.".-E. A. Freeman, story of Sicily, 1 . $3: 3$ HYDASPES, The.-Tbe ancient name of the river Jecium. or Jheinm. In the Innjab, on the banks of which tise Indian king Porus made a vain attempt to oppose the invasion of Aiexaa. der.-C. Thiriwall, Hist. of Ereece, eh. 53.
HYDER ALI AND IIPPOO SAIB, Eng. lish Wars with. See India: A. D. 1767-1768; 1780-1783; and 1785-1703.
HYDERABAD OR HAIDERABAD, The Nizam of. See India: A. I). 1662-1748; and 1517. hY-IVAR, The. See Normans.-Nortr. men: 8th-btil Centuries, and 10ta-13til Cex. turies.

HYKSOS, The. See Eaypt: Tue Ifrema
HYLLEANS, The.-"The Ilyieans are never mentloned in any historicai narrative, but always in mythient [Greek] legends; nnil they appear to have been known to the geograplurs only from enythological wrhers. Yet they are generally piaced in the isiandis of Meliti and Black Coreyra, to the south of Lihurnia."--C. O. Duher, Mist, and Antiq. of the Duric Mace, r. I. intrad HYMETTUS.- One of tie noted mountains of Altica, "celehrated for lis exceitent bunve, and the broad belt of flowers at its base, whicb scented the alr with thelr deifichous perfume. "M. and IR. P. Willson, Momaics of Grecinn Hist, p. 9.

HY-NIALS AND EUGENIANS. - "As surnames were not generatiy used, either in Ireland or any where else, tiii after the 10th ceatury, the grent famllies are distingulsiahle at first only ly their tribe or clan names. Tius. at the north we have the $11 \mathrm{y} \cdot$ Nial race; in the siuth the Eugenian race, so cailed, froni Nial aad Eoghan, thełr mutuai ancestors."-T. 1). .icGee, Popular IIist. of Irchenel, bk. 1, ch. 2(r. 1).
HYPATIA. Ser AIPEXANDIA: A.D. 413-15.
 ple, supposed by the micients to dweli brymul the nortin wind, and therrfore to enjoy a jerffect climate in the extrome north.
HYPHASIS, The. - The ancient nume of the river suthe, iu the l'unjab.
HYRCANIÅ. - HYRCANIAN SEA. "The mountain chain which skirts the Gireat Plateau [of Iran] on the uorth, distinguishet in these pages hy tice name of Eiburz, bruadicht out after it pusses tice south-eastern cormer of the Caspinn sin till it covers a sipace of noarly three degrees (more thnn 200 miles). Insteali if the singie fofty rilge which separates the Salt itesct from the low C'aspian region, we find lertween the 5 th and 59 th degrecs of east longitule thre or four distinct mages, nti neariy parailel to one another, having a general direction of east and west. . . Diere in Persian times was setteela people cntled Ilyrcnni; nud from them the trict derived the nanie of Ily reanin (Vellirkaua). while the lake [Caspian Sea] on wheh it adjuined came to he known ns 'the lyrcanian sea' The fertiiity of the region, its broati phains, shatly woseds, and tofty mountains were celebratui ly the nucient writers." Rawhinson, Fire lireait Xinarchies: Persia, ch. 1.-"In the inseriptions of the Achamentis their fand [1lyramia] is known as Varknam ; the modern name is , lurjan Here, accorving to the Grveks, the nummetains were covered with forests of caks, where swarms of widt bees had tincir hives: in tine valloys vines nnd fig.trees thourished, und the soil down to the sua was so iluxuriant tiant corn grew from the Fall 'n grains whthout nay sjecint sowing "- It ihunckur. Ilient of Antigui!y, bL 7 , ch : -she. also, l'ahthia.

IAPYGIANS.

ICONOCLASTIC CONTROVERJY.

I.

lation of Gaul as far south as Aquitanla, and swept round it into Spain, so they crossed the channel and nverran the greater portlon of Britaln, until the siiures, Identifled by Tacitus with the Iberians, were left only $\ln$ those fust. nesses which were suhsequently a refuge for the Welsh agalnst the English Invaders."- W. B. Duwhins, Early Man in Brituin, ch. 9.
Also in: I. Taylor, Origin of the Aryans, eh. Tbet. S.-Sec Celts: Liourians; Aquitaine: The ancieve Tribes; and Portuoal: Early Hirforr: and, also, APrendix A, vol. 5. IBERION. See Albion.
IBRAHIM, Caliph, A. D.
Turkish Sultan, 1 A0-1040.
ICARIA, Attica.-One of the to ticu, where icurius, in a Greek legend, Was taught winc-making by Itionysils.
ICARIA, in the Egean.-An island near Sambis ant anciently belonaring to the Samians. ICARIA, The Social Colony. See Social Movenents: A. I). 1840-18$3.

ICELAND: Supposed identity with the Ultima Thule of the ancients. Sie Tircle.
A. D. 860-1100.-Discovery and aettlement by the Northmen. - A Norge Commonwealth. -Deveiopment of the Saga Literature. See A. D. 1800-18TInves : A. 1). 8b0-1100.
A. D. $1800-1874$--Political relations with Denmark. Se Ncanminavias States (Des. MAKK-icELAND): A. D. 1849-18it.
ICENI, The. See Britain : Celtic Tribeg; and A. D. 61 .

ICILIAN LAW, See Rove: B. C. 456.
ICONIUM, Sultans of. See Trats (The Seldeks): A. D. 10 ifis-1092.
ICONOCLASTIC CONTROVERSY, The.
-"Of the controvarsies that discuieted thls age [the cighth century]. the grentest aud the most fernievons relatetl to the worship of sacred im . ages. Oripinating in Grecce, it thence spread over the Eilst, aud the West, proincing great harm both to the state and to the church. The first sparks of it appearend umier I'lallippicus Bardines. Who was emperor of the Greeks uear the lanes. Who was emperor of the Greeks uear the legiming of this century. With the consent of the patriarch John, in the year $\mathbf{7 1 2}$, he removed from the purtieo of the church of St. Sophia a pisture representiag the sisth general connecil, which coudemnei the Monothelites, whom the empror was disposed to favour; and he sent his mandate to JRome, repluiring all such pictures to be removed ont of ilie churches. But Constantine, the Roman pontif, not oniy protested against the emperor's edict, but. . having assembled a conncil at lime, he caused the emperor himself to le condenined as an apostate from the true religion. These first commotlons, huwever, terminated the next year, when the emperor was hirled from the throne. Enier Leo the finurian, a very heraic emperor, nnother contict ensuevi; which was far more territic, eevere, aud lasting. Leo, nablile to beur with the extravagant superstition of the Greeks in worshlpping religious images, which rendered them a repronch both to the Jews and the Saracens; In orier to extirpate the evil entirely, issued an edlet iu the fear 726, commanding nill images of saints, with the exception of that of Christ on the crosa, to be removed out of the churches, and the worthlp of them to be wholiy discontinued and ahrogated.

ICONOCLASTIC CON'A ROVERSY,

A civil war hroke out; first in the isiands of the Archipelago and a part of Asia, and afterwands in Italy. For the people, citiner epontancousiy, or being so instructed by the priests and monks, to whom the lmages were productive of gain, considered the emperor as an postate from true reilgion. . . . In Italy, the Roman pontlifs, Gregory II. and Gregory III., were tie princlpal authors of the revolt.
The IRomans and the other people of Italy who were suhjects of the Greek empire, violnted their aileglance, and either masascred or expelied the viceroys of Leo. Exasperated by tiese causes, the emperor contemplated naking war upon Italy, aud espceiully upon the pontlif: but circuinstances prevented him. Ilence in the year 730, firci with resentment and Indignation, be vented inis fury against lmages and ticir wor. shippers, much more violently than before. For having assembied a council of bisiops, he de. posed Germisnus, hishop of Constantinopie, who favoured images, and suhstituted Anastasins in his place: commanded that images should be committed to the flames, and Intlicted varlous punisiments upon the advocates of tisem. The consequence of tinis severity was, that the Chris. than chureil was uninapily rent into two parties; that of the Icomminil or Iconolatrae, who adored and worshipped Images, and that of the Iconomachi or Iconoclastae, who wouid not preserve hut destroyed them; nni tiese parties furionsiy contemiled with mutuml luvectives, ubuses, and assassinntions. The eonrse commenemb by Greg. ory II. was warmiy prosecuted by Gregory IIL., and although we cumnot determine at this dis time of time tine procise degree of fanlt in elther of thene prelater, times mucin is unquestionable, that the loses of their Italian possessions in this contest loy the Greks, is to be aseribed especially to the zenl of these two protifis in beitalf of innges. luo's son Coustintiuc, surnamed Co pronymus by the furious tribe of Imnge worsinipiners, after he eame to the tirvone, A. D. 741 , troil in inly father's steps; for he fubonred with equal vigome to extirpate the worshlp of limage $\times$, In ripusition to the machinations of the Remath joutiff and the monks. Fet lie pursued the business with more modicration than hls father had done: umi being aware that the Greeks were gowerned entirely by the ututhority of councils in religions matters, he collecteri in commel of enstern bishops at Constantinople in the year 70.). to examine and decide this ematro. versy. 13y the firroks thls is caliod the seventh gencral council. The blshops pronouncerl will tenur, as was customary, according to the views

Len IV., whin suceeried to the throne on the deatin of Constantine, A. D. Fins, entertained the same views as hls father and grandiather. For When he saw, that the abettors of langes were not to be mored at all be mild and gentle meas. ures. ie ereerced then with penmi stathtes. But LooiV. leing removed ty $\mathrm{i}^{\text {wison, through the }}$ wiekeriness of his ieretidious wife Irene, in the year 7 (w), humges Jecame triumphant. For that guilty wonan, who goverued the empire durlag the minority of her son Constantine, with a view to eatahlish hor anthority, after entering into a league with lladrian the lioman pontiff, assem. hied a councli at Nice in Bithynla in the year

IRRNE.

786, which is known hy the titio of the second Nicene councll. Here the laws of the emperors, together with the decrees of the councli of Con stantinopie, were ahrogated; the worship of images and of the croas was estahilshed. these contests most of the Latins, - as the Brit. ons, the Germans, and the French, took midide ground between the contending parties; for they decided, that images were to be retained inieed and to be piaced in the churches, but tiat no religious worshlp could be offered to them with. out disionoiring the Supreme Being. In partlu. lar Charlemagne, at the suggeation of the French hishops who were dinpleased with the Niceae decrees, caused four Books concerning images to be drawn up by some learned man, ami sent them in the year 790 to the Roman pontitr lis. drian, witin a view to prevent his approving the decrees of Nice. In thls work, the arguments of the Nicene hishops lu defence of lmage wor silp, are acutely and vigorousiy combateu. ilut Iladrian was not to be taught hy such a master, however iliustrious, and tinerefore lssined his formai confutation of the book. Cinarlenagne next assenhled, In the year 794, a councii of 300 bishops, at Frankfort on the Maine, in order to re-examine this controversy. This coumeil ap proved the sentiments contained in the lkenks 0 Chariemagne, and forbid the worshlp of lmages." J. I. von Mosicim, Institutes of Ecclesiuatical Hist., bk. 3, cent'y 8, pt. 2. ch. 3 (v. 2).

Also in: P. Scinafl, Jist. of the Chriatian Church, r. 4. ch. 10, mett. 101.-E. Gibbon, It cline and Fiall of the Roman Eimpire, ch. 49Q. Finlay, Hist. of the Byzantine Empire, bh. 1 -II. F. Tozer, The Church and the Biatern Em pire, ch. 6.-See, slso, Papacy: A. I. iow-it
ICONOCLASTS OF THE NETHER LANDS. Sec Netmerlande: A. D. 15h6-1he
ICTIS.-An isiand ofl the coast of Britain, to which tiu is sald to have been hrought from the main shore hy natives to he soid to Greek me chants. Whether it was the Isle of Thanet, at the mouth of the Thames, or tise Isie of Wight, or St. Nichael's Monnt. Is a disputed question.

IDA, Mount. Sec Troja.
IDAHO: The Ahoriginal inhahitants. Se Amemcan Aborioines: jhosmonean Family.
A. D. 1803.-Was it emhraced in the Louis iana Purchase?-Grounds of American pos session. Nee Locisiana: A. D. 1795-1nily.
A. D. 1863.-Organized as a Territory. The Territory of Inaho was created by auact of Congress passed Marela 3, 1863
A. D. 1890.-Admission to the Union as a State. See United States of Am. : A. D. Iseg1890.

IDES. Sce ('alfndar, Jtlian.
IDLE, Battle of the.-Fought A. D. 61i. hetwern the East English, or East Augles, and the Northumbrians; the former victorious.

IDOMENE, Battle of.- One of the battles of the l'eioponueslan Wiar, In which the Ambrakints were surprised ant aimost totally destroyed by Messenians and Akarnamians, uniter the ithe nian genemi Denusthencs, B. C. 420 - G. Grote Hiat. of Cireece, $n t$. 2. ch. 5 t ( $\mathrm{c}, \mathrm{6}$ ).

IDSTEDT, Battle of (1850). Sec Scasdi
 IDUMEANS, The. See Edomites. IERNE. See Ihehand: The Name.

IGANIE.

ILLINOIS.

IGANIE, Battie of (183i). See Poland: A. D. 1880-1882.

IGUALA, The Pian of. See Mxirco: A. D. 1820-1826.
IGUALADA, Battle of ( $\mathbf{1 8 0 9}$ ). See Spann: A. D. $1800-1800$ (Dectuber-MARCH).

IKENILD-STRETE. Sce Royar Roads me Britain.
ILA.-ILARCH.-The Spartan boys were divlded into companiea, according to thelr several sges; each company was eailed an Ila, and was commanded by a young offleer called an Ilarch. S, ch. 1 . 8, ch. 1 .
ILERDA. - Morlern Lerida, in Spain, tho acene of Cresar's famous campalgn agamat Afranlus and Petrelus, in the civll war. Sce Rome:

iliad, The. Bee Homer.

ILIUM. See Troja.
ILKHANS, The. See Persia: A. D. $1258-$ 1393.

ILLINOIA, The proposed State of. See Nontimegt Terbitory of the U.S. of Ax.
A. D. $1 ; 84$.

ILLINOIS: The aboriginal Inhabitanta. See Axehtcan Aborigines: Alleghans, Al. gonqcian Family, and Ilinesois.
A. D. 1673.-Traversed by Marquette and Joliet. Se Canada: A. D. 1634-16is.
A. D. 1679-1682.-LaSalle's fort and colony. See Canada: A. D. 1609-1687.
A. D. 1679-1735. - The French occupation, See Canada: A. D. $1700-1735$.
A. D. $1700-1750$ - The "Illinois country" under the French. - "For many gears the term 'Illinols country' embraced all the reglon east of the Cpler Mississlppi as frr as Lake Mlechlgan, aad from the Wisconsin on the north to tho Ohio on the south. The extent of the Illinols country uuder the French varied hitt little from the extent of the preseut State of Illinols. At a later clate, Its limits on the east were restrleted liy the 'Wabash country,' whleh was crected into a separate government, under the comman. daut of 'Pout 8 St . Vineent,' on the Walashi Rlver.

The early French on the Illinols were remak. hile for thelr taleut of ingrathating them. s. vis with the warlike tribes around them, and for their ceasy amalgamation $\ln$ manuers and custums, and hlowd. . Thelr settlements were usibitly in the form of small, compact, patriarchai rillitec, like one great fanily nssembler aronud their old men and patriarclis." - J. W. Monette, of the Mississigni, $i$ anul Settlement of the Valley Locriava: A. I) 1 . 19-1 $p$. 181-183.-Sce, also, Lociansa: A. D. 1710-1750.
" A. D. I751.-Settlements and popuiation.the L'pper Nisslssippl Illinols country,' cast of settleurents Misslissippl, contained slx dlstinet settleusents, with thelr respectlve villages.
These were: These were: 1 . Calowkia, near the mouth of Cabikia Crevk, and nearly gre miles befow the present site of St. Louls; 2 . St. Phillp, forty-flve miles helow the last, nid four milles above Fort Chartres, on the enst side of the Mllsslisslppl; 3 . Firt Chartres, on the cast bank of the Mlssls. sippi, twelve mlles above Kaskaskia; 4. Kaskas. dia, situated upon the Kaskaskia River, five rithln two its mouth, upon a penlnsuia, nnd Prairie du Rocher of the Mississippl Rlver; $\delta$. Prairie du Rucher, near Fort Chartres; 6. St.

Generfive, on the west alde of the Misalealppi, and about one mlie from fts bank, upon Gabarte Creek. These are among the oldeat fowns in what was long known ai the Illinols country, Kaska ikia, in its best days, under the French regime, was quite a large town, contain. Ing 2,000 or 3,000 lnhabitants. But after fi passed from the crown of Frunce, Its population for many years did not exceed I,500 sonis. Under 480 souls in dominlon the population decreased to 480 souls, in $1778 . " \mathrm{~J}$. W. Monette, Hise. of the Disconery and Settlement of the Niscissippi Valley, v. 1, pn. 167-168. -' The population of the French and Indian viliagen in the diatrict of the Ilifnois, at the period of whleh we write, is largeiy a matter of conjecture aud computation. Father louls Vivier, a Jesult misslonary, in a ietter dated Junc 8, 1:50, and written from the viciulty of Fort Chartres, says: We have here whltes, negroes, aud Iudluns, to say nothing of the crossbreeds. There are five French viliagea, and three vilinges of the natives withlu a space of twenty-five feagues, sltunte between the NIl another river calied (Kaskaskln) Inlaslssippl and another river calied (KaskaskIn). In the French rlilages are, perlups, cleven hundred whites, three hundred blacks, nad slxty red slaves or more than elght hundred souls, ail not contain more than elght hnnilred souls, afl toid.' This estimate dees not includic the scattered French Wettlers or traders north of Peoria, nor on the dweiling it is stated that the Illinols nation, then dwelling for the nenst part along the rlver of that name, occupled cleven different villages, with four or five fires at each village, and each fre warning a dozen famlles, village, and each fire wanulng a dozen familles, except at the principal These data wouldi were three landred lodges. These data would glve us something near clght all tribes."-J Wotal number of the Illinols of all tribes."-J. Wallace, Histary of Illinois and Lowisiana under the French liule, ch. 16. See Seri wiEabs War to Great Britain.A. D. $1 / 63$.- The kin cluding settlers. Niee of tie U. S. of Am. : A. D. $1 \overline{10} 63$. A. D. 1765 .-Possenaion the 1763.
lish.- "The Frencsiation taken by the Engbeen rendy forally to the English. But the Illinois, the Mlasouri, to the Englishi. But the Illinois, the Mhssouri, and the Osage tribes would not the Osage tribes would not comsent. At n council heid in the spring of 1065, at Fort Chartres, llsh oftcer, sald: 'Go hence, and tell your Eng. that the Illinoia and nll our and tell your chtef war on you if you come uron our lunda.'.. But when Frasir, who arrivel from Pittshirg, brought proofs that their clider brothers. the Senecas, the Defawnres and the Shawnees, lind made peace with the Euglish, the Kaskaskias sald: wer follow as they s'all leal.' 'I wagen this war,' sald Pomtlac, 'leceanse. for two years together, the Delawares and shawnees begged me to take up arus against the English. So I be. came their ally, and was of their mind: and, plighting his word for peace, he kept it wleh Integrity. A just curiosity thay ask how many persons of foreign llnenge had gathered ln the valley of the Illinois since its discovery by the mis. sionaries. Fraser was tull that there were of white men, phle to hear arms, 300 ; of white women, 500 ; of their children, 850 ; of negroes of both sexes, 900 . The banks of the Wahash, wo learn from another source, were occupied by about 110 French famllics, most of whlch were at Vlncennes. Fraser sought to overawe the French traders with the ulcaace of an Eingllah army that Fas to come among them; but they polnted to the Misslssippl, beyond winich they would be safe from Engllsh juristletlon [France having ceded to Spain her territory on the western slde of the river. $\qquad$ WIti Croghan, an Indlan agent, who followed from Fort Pit, the Iiilnols nations agreed that the Eugleh shonhl take possession of all the pasts whleh the Frencin fonnerly held; and Captaln Sthrlhg, whin 100 men of the 431 reglment, was detached diown the Oilb, to relleve the French garrlsom. At Fort Churtres, St. Ange, who hal served for fffty years in the wllicerness, gave thens a friendiy reception; and on the mornIng of the loth of Getoler he surreudered to them the left bink of the Misslsslppl. Some of the Frenels crossed the rlver, so that at St. Genevieve there were at least five and-tweuty familes, while St. Louls, whose orlgln dates from the 15 th of February 1704, and whose skilfuily chosen shte attracted the mimirution of the British coms. mander, already counterl about twlee that number, and ranked as the leullug settlement oa the westeru side of the Mississippi. In the English portlon of the distant territory, the government then hastltuted was the nhsoiute ruie of the Brit. ish army, whtis a lix'ul juige to decide all disputes among the Inimbitants accordling to the customs of the country, yet subject tunnappeal to the mblitary chief."-G. Bancroft, Hiat. of the C"nited States (Author's lient rifision), e. 3, pp. 151-152.

ILLINOIS.

ILLINOIS.

A. D. ${ }^{1765-1774}$.-Early jears of English ruie,-" Just lefore and fliriug the first years of the English lominatlon, there was a large exolus of the French inhubitunts from tillnois. Such, In fuct, was thelr dlsllke of British rule that fuliy onc third of tite populatlon, emhradng the weaithier aud nore Intlucinthl famblles, removerl with their slaves noil other personal effects, beyoul the Misslsslppl, or down that rlver to Natchez and New Oricans. Some of them settled at Ste. Genevieve, while others, after the ex. ampie set by St. Ange, took up their abule in the vliiage of St. Louis, wheh hud now become a depot for the fur company of Lonlslana. At the close of the year $1 / 65$, the whole number of Iniahltants of forelgn birth or llncage. in Illinois, exciuding the negro slaves, and includlag those llving at lost Vincent on the Wahash, did not inuch exceed two thonssnd persons; aud, dur. lag the entlre perlol of British possesslon, the intux of alien pojulation hardiy more than kept pace with the outtlow. Scarcely any Engiishmen, other tian the officers and troops composing the small garrisons, a few enterprisiag traders and some favored land specuiators, were then to be seen in the 1llinois, and no Anerlcans came Ihther, for the purpose of settiement, until after the conquest of the conntry by Coionel Ciark, All the settlements still remamed essenthaliy French, whth whom there was no taste for innovation or change. Hut the blunt ani sturly Anglo-Anerican hal at inst gained a firm foot iold on the banks of tite great Futher of Jivers, anil a new type of civiiizatlon, iasthet with encrgy, enterprise and progreas, was about to he introducel into the liroal and ferthic Vailey of the Mlsslssippi.

Captaln Thomas Stirilng legon the military governmeat of the conatry on Gris. ber 10, 1765, whth fair and llberal concessions, calculated to secure the good-will and loyalty of the French Canalians, aud to stay thelt further exodus; hut his administratlon was not of iourg duration. On the 4 th of the consulng Deceniter, he was succeeded hy Major Roinert Farneer, who had arrivel from Muhie with a letacimat of the $84 t h$ Britlsi Infantry. In the followhg year, after excrelsing un arbltrary authorfty uver these isolated aul freble settiemunts, Jajor Far. mer wus ilsplaced ly (iononel Edwarl (Cole, who hat eommuntied u reghmeut under Woife, at (quebec. Colonel Coie remahnel In eammanilat fort Chartres about elgiteren mouths; lut the position was not congenlal to hlm. lle was accond. lugiy reileved at his own request, euriy in the year 1768. Il sa successor was Colonel John Inme. who proved a bad exchange for the peor colonlsts. He soou lecame' so notorious for his nill. tary oppressions of the peopie that he was removed, and gave plare to Lleutenant-Colond John Whiklns, of the $18 t i n$, or royal regiment of Ireland, who had formerly commanded at Fort Niagara. Coioncl Wllklas arrlved from Hiniladelphia and assumerl the eommand Neptember 5. 1708. Ile hrongit out whit him seveu compa. nles of hils regiment for garrison duty. . Ine of tite thest noticeable features of Colone: $\boldsymbol{V}^{\prime}$ klns adminlstration was the liberaily with whath he parecietl out large tracts of the domann ostr whit the ruled to his favorites in Iilinois, I'hila. delphia, and cisewhere, whent other consiletation than requiring them to reconvey to hima certain interest in the same. Lleutenunt- (colonel W'iiklns' governatent of the Illiuols countrr eventaally became nnjopuiar, ani nureitic chargee were prefcred against him, Inclouling a misappropriation of the puhlle fuuls. Ife asked for au ofllehal huvestigatlon, ciaiming that he was ahle to justify hls pubiic conduct. But he was deposed from otlice in soptember, 17\%1, and sailed for Europe iu Jniy of the foilowln r var. Captain 1Ingh Lord, of the 18tis reglnent, humbe Wikins' suceessor at Fort Ciartres, abi con tianed in commanil untll the year $17 \%$.
cog.
.00 the $2 d$ of Jnue, 17it, Parilanicnt pussed an act cnlarging and cxtending the provlace of Quelec to the Dlississippi River so as to luclude the terrltory of tine Northwest.
"his) was the lm. mediate snceessor of Captaln 1. "umat of the Iilluols, is not positlvely deterni-tel." -J . Wailuce, IIintory of Illinuis amd Louisiamu under the frunch Rule, ch. 20.
A. D. ${ }^{1774}$.-Embraced in the Province of Quebec. see Canada: A. D. 1763-17it.
A. D. 1778-1779,-Conquest from the British by the Virginian General Clark and anneza. tion to the Kentucky District of Virgiaia. See Cnited States or An.: A. D. 17is-1:ig, C'lalk' C Conquest.
A. D, $\mathbf{1 7 8 4}^{\text {,-Included in the proposed states }}$ of Assenisipla, Illinois, and Polypotamia. ste Nontivest Territory of tine $\mathcal{C}$. S of dx. A. 1). 1784.
A. D. ${ }^{1} 7^{85-1786 .-P a r t i a l l y ~ c o v e r e d ~ b y ~ t h e ~}$ western land claims of Masazchusetts and Connecticut, ceded to the United States. Set Cinithe Statea of Am. : A. D. 1781-1786.
A. D. ${ }^{1} 7^{87}$. - The Ordinance for the govern. ment of the Northwest Territory.-Perpetuad exclusion of Slavery. see Johtimest ThbrTony or tae L. S. 日F AM. : A. D. 1787.
A. D. 1809 . Detached from Indiana and organized as a distinct Territory. Sce lndtANA: i. D. 1800-1818.

ILLINOIS.

A. D. 18:8.-Admistion isto the Union as a State. See Imprama: A. D. $1800-18 i 8$; and Wieconsis: A. D. 1805-1848.
A. D. 8832 . - The Black Havk War.-"In 1830 treaty was made with the tribes of Baes and Foxes, by which their lands in IIlinols were celled to the United states. They were neverthelens unwiliing to ieave their country. . . Black liark, a chief of the Bacs, then about 80 years of age, refuced suimiasion, and the next year returned with a smsil foree. Ile was driven back hy the troops at Rock Island, but In Mareh, 1832, he renppeared, at the head of about 1,000 Farriors, - Sacs, Foxes, and Winnehagos, - and penetrated Into the Rock River valley, leelaring that he came only to plant coru. But elther he would not or conld not restraln his followers, and the devastatlon of Indinn warfare son epreal smong the frontler settlunents. . . . The forie nt Ifuck Isiand was sent ont to stay these rsvages, and Generals Scott and AtkInson ordered from Buffalo with a reenforcement, which on the way was greatly diminished by cholera and de. wemions. The Governor of flllnois called for voluatcers, and an effectire force of about 2,400 men was soon marcied against the enemy. Black llawk's band tled before it. General Whiteside, wio was In coammand, burned the Prophet's Town, on Itoek IRIver, and pursued the Indians up that stream. . . The Indiaus wre orertakea and badiy defeated on Wisconsin River; and the survivors, still retreatlig northward, were agaln overtaken near Bul Axe River, on the ieft bank of the Mississippl. . . Many of the Indians were shot In the water while t-ying to swim the strean; others were killed on a fittie Islaan where they sought refuge. Only about 50 prisoners were taken, and most of these were squitws and chililren. The dispersion was coma. plete, aall the war was soon closed by the surrender or capture of Black Ilawk, Keoknk, and other chicfs." - W. C. Bryant and B. II. Gay, Popular llist. of tho U. S., t. 4, ch. 12.
Albo in : T. Forl, Fiat. of Illinmis, ch. 4-5.J. B. Pstterson, ed.., IIint. of Bluck Ifark, dic. tated by himself.- Wis. Mist. Suc. Coll', v. 10.
A. D. 1840-1846. - The settlement and the expuision of the Mormons. See MormonIEY: A. D. 1830-1846; and 1846-1848.

ILLUMINATI, The. Bce Romicheciavs.

ILLYRIA, Slavonic settlement of. See Balkan and Dantbian States: 7th centery (Servia. Cboatia, etc.).

IILYRIAN PROV.  ILLYRIAN PROVINCES OF NAPOLEON. See Germany: A. D. I809 (Jilyo- Septryner).

ILLYRIANS, The.-"Northward of the tribes ealled Epirotic lay those more numerous snl widely extencied tribea who bore the general name of fllyrinns, bounded on the west hy the Airiatic, on the enst by the monntain-range of Skarilus, the northern continuntlon of Pindus, sod thus covering what is now called Mididle and mper Albunia, together with the more northerly mountains of Montenegro, Ilerzegovina, and Bunia. Thelr limlts to the north and north-east canaot he assigaed. ... Appian and others consider the Lihurninas and Istrians as Iilyrian, and Errolotus even Includes untier that Danme the Gulf. . Venetiat the extremity of the Adriatie

The Illyrians generaliy were poor, rapaclous, fierce and formideble in battle. They shared with the remote Thraelan tribes the custom of tattooing thelr boriles and of offeriug human sacrifices: moreover, they were always ready to mell their milltary servlce for hlre, Ilke the modern Albanlan Schklpetars, in whom prohably thelr blood zet flows, though with considerahle aimilxture from suhsequent Imnigmtlons. Of the Illyrian kingdons on the Adrintic whast, witil Skolrn (Scutari) for Its capltal city, which became formidable by its reckless piracie's In the third century B. C., we hear nothiag in the thourishing perind of Grecoun hastory: "- G . Grote, Ilint. if Grecee, pt. 2, ch. 25 ( r .3 ).

IMPEACHAENT.

A1.80 is: ; T. Mommsen, Ifiat. of Rome, bk. 8, ch. 6.
ILLYRICUM OF - HE ROMANS.-"The provinces of the Danube soon accuired the gencral appeilation of lilyricum, or the Illyrlan fronticr, and wire eatcraled the most warlike of the empire: but they deserve to be niore partlcularly consildered innler the mames of Rhat th, Norieum, I'annoaia, Inalmatia, Dacia. Mresia, Thrace, Mncedonla, anil (Irecce. ... Dalmatia, to wilch the name of Illy rictum more properly beionged, was a long hut uarrow truct, betwecn the Save and a long hut uarrow truct, between the Save and the Adriatle. The iaianil purts ha ve assumed E the Silavouian namos of Croatla and Bosnia."E. Gibhon, Decline and Fitl of the Roman Em. pire, ch. 1.-Nee, also, Ilome: A. D. $304-395$.
IMAGE-BREAKING IN THE NETHERLANDS. See NETHERLAN : A. D. $1566-1$ - ISAS. 150
IMAMS.-THE IMAMATE.-" When an assembly of Mosiems mert together for prayer, an Imam is clusell, wino leals the prayer, and the coagregation regalute their notions by his, prostrating themselves when he does so, anid rising when he rises. In like nammor, the khalif is set up on ligh as tie Inmon, or ieader of the Faithful, in ail the lusiness of life. . . Amoner atrict Moshoms, it is a dowtriae that Islnum las been adnainistermb by oniy four veritabie Inamas, -the 'rightly guided khalifs,' - lhon lekr, Omar, Othman, und Aii. But the Muhamma. dan world, in general, was not so exacting."R. D. Osborn, Ishem under the Khalife of Bughdad, pt. 3, ch. 1.-Nee, also, Isr,AM IMMACULATECONCEPIION OF THE VIRGIN MARY, Promulgation of the Dogma of the. Sce Papacy: A. D. 1854.

IMMFE, Battle of (A. D. 217). Sce Rome: A. D. 102-284.

IMMIGRATION : Reatrictions on, in the United States.-By an act of Congress in 1882 , convicts, paupers, iunaties, and ldiots were barred from entry into the Enited States from other countries. In 18 年, a contract-labor iaw forhade the lmmigration of any alien under contract or the lmmigration of any alien under contract or agreement, made prevlousiy, excepting, how ever, professional uctors, singers, etc., as weii as domestie servants and workmen skilied In new iadustries. Immigratlon from Chlna was restrieted by an act passed ln 1892. See Unitel States of Am. : A. D. 1892.

IMMORTALS, The. - A select corps of cavairy in the army of the Persians, under the Sassanian kings, bore thls name. It numbered 10,000.-See, also, Acadeyf, French.
IMPEACHMENT: Institutlon in Eng Iand. See ENaLAND: A. D. $1413-1422$.

Revival of the right.-In the Engilsh Parlia ment of 1690-21 (reign of James I.), "on the motlon of the Ex.Chlef Justlce, Ble Edwand Coke, a committee of inqulry lnto grievances had leen early appolated. The frat alnise to which their attentlun was dlrected was that of monopolles, and this led to the revival of the anclent fight of parlanuentary imperachment - the solemn ac. curation of an lndividual by the Commons at the bar of the Lamls - Which had lain dormant slace the impearhuent of tie Duke of Suffolk in $1+49$. Cinder the Tuiors impeachments had falion Into ilsuse, partiy through the subervience of the Commona, and parily through the preference of thome mereigns for blils of attainder, or of pains and penslthes. Moreover, the poner wielded by the Crown througis the Star Chamber enabied ft to Inflet punishment for many state offences Without resorting to tive asilatance of Darlinment. Whth the revival of tife splrit of liberty In the relgn of James 1 ., the practice of Impeachment revived also, and was energetlcaily unal by the Cotamons in the Interest acoce of pulule justice and of popular power."-T. P. Taswell-Lang meal, English Conat. Ilist., ch. Is.

IMPEACHMENT.

IMPEACHMENTS: Warren Hastings. Bee Invia: $\Lambda$ I), 1785-1705. . . . President Johnmon, Nee Unjtey Ntatfa of Am.: A. I) 18ed (Marcil-May). . . . Strafford. Sec Enghanis: A. D. $1040-164$.

IMPERATOR.-"There can be no doubt that the titie lupreator properly siguifies one In. vestal with Imperium, aml it may very probmbly Lave been assumad la auclent thmes by every generai on whon Injerlum lad been leestowed ly aldex Curdata. It la, however, equaily eer. tain that lin those perloxis of tite repubiic with the history nui usages of which we are most fiuniliar, the titic Imperator was not nasumedi as a unatcr of course by those wion had revelved Imjerlum, but was, on the contrary, a mueh valued und esegeriy coveted distinction. Drop. eriy speaking. It scents to have been in the gift of the soldiacrs, who halied the Ir victorious iealer by this appeliution on the tield of bnttle; but excasionnlly, especiaily towneds the eni of the comuonweadith, it was couferred by n vote of the Senate. . . But the designatina laperntor wis comployed under the empire lit a minner and with a force aitogether disthuct I roma that which we have been conshleriug. On this point we have the distinct testlumg of Diam Cimslus (xilii. 44, (omp. liii. 17), who telis us that, In B. (C, 46, the tewaie bestowed ujoun Julius Carsar the title of Iminerator, unt In the sense fu whinh it bul hitherto leren apipiled, as a term of milltury ilistiuction, fut us tite pecuilar mal befittiag ujpeliation of suprence power, mind in tials signiff. catinn it was tmasuitted to his surcessors, witiout, luwivirr, suppressing the originai fapmort of the woni. . . . finiwrator, witen Usell to denote supreme power, compreliending la fact the force of the tilles. Difotator and liex, is usually, aithough nut ibsurlahly, placed before the nume of the inliviound in winn it is ajplien. "-W. nlso, lKome: 13. ('. 45-44.

Final Signification of the Roman title. "Whell the lianmu princes hanl lost slagh of th." scuate aud of their nacient capitai, they easi,
 The elvii ufflees of consui, of proworsul, if cen. *or, and of tribune, by the uniou of which it had ## independence hall

been formeti, betrayed to the people lit repubIlcan extruction. Those modet title were laid aside; and If they atill diatingulahed thetr high atation hy the appeliation of Emperur, or lim. permior, that worl was understood In a new and tuore dignitted sense, and no loager deaoterl the general of tho lkoman mrmies, but the mvercigs of the Ihoman world. The name of Emperine, which was at first of a military nature, was amm)elated with another of a more servile klod. The eplthet of Iominus, or I-od, In its primitive signlfication, was expremal, , not of the authority of a prince over his suljects, or of a commumery over hals soldiers, but of the despotic powiry of a master over his domeatic slaver. Vlewing it la tiat ollons light, it hal heen rejected with ab. horrence by the tint Cessars. Thelr resistunce insenaibly hecnme more feeble, and the nanue in ollous; till at length the ntyle of 'our Lord and Emperor' was not only bestowed by thittery. but was regularly admitted Into the laws and public monuments, "- E. Gibbon, Jheclise and Hhll of the Iloman Emprice, ch. 18. - Dee 10ome: II. C. $11-$ A. D. 14.

IMPERIAL CHAMBER, The. See GEM Manr: A. I) 1403-1510

IMPERIAL CITIES OF GERMANY. See Citiza, Impeitil, and Free, of Gebminy and (as affected by the Treaties of Westjamia) Gehmany: A. I). 1644.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION. See Federal Grveinment: Bhitannic Frimeration.

IMPERIAL INDICTIONS. See Ixmc TIons.

IMPERIUM, The, - "Thesuprene nuthority of the nigist mtiss [in the IRoman leembili], the 'inurerlum, erubrurei not oniy the military hut ulso the judiciai power over the citizins. By virtue of tie luperlinu a maglatrate lssuedi commanis to the nrmy, and by virtue of the insjerium he sat in judgment over his feliow atit zens." - W. Ihue, Iliaf. of Rome, bk. 6, ch. 5 ( $\mathrm{r}, 4$ ).

IMPEY, Sir Elijah, Macaulaj'a injustice to. Scelndia: A. D. $1773-178 \%$

IMPORTANTS, The. See Fhancre: I. It. 1042-1843.
IMPRESSMENT OF AMERICAN SEA. MEN BY BRITISH NAVAL OFFICERS, the United States of Am. : A. D. 180t-1 wh: kid 1812.

INCAS, OR YNCAS, The, Sce I'ex The Enirime of the Incas
INCUNABULA. See Pristiva: A D. 1430-14\%

INDEPENDENCE, MO., Confederate capture of. Sec listrid Staten of AM. : $\AA$. D.
 NAs).

INDEPENDENCE DAY.-Thenulvirury of the American Duclaratlou if Indeperademe. moptenl July 4, 17:0. See CNited Stathe of AM.: A. 1). 1776 (JeLy).

INDEPENDENCE HALL.-The Liberty Bell. - The hull in the old State Ilouse of i'min svivania, at Ihlladelpiin, wlthin whils the Declaration of Imerican Iudepeudence nas ulopted and promulgated by tie Ciatinontal Compress, on the ttil of Juig. 1770 . The venpmbie state Ilouse, whicil was crected belweca 1729 and 1734, is carrfuily preserved, ant the "Hall of Iudepeudeuce is kept closed, except

INDEPENDENCE IIALJ.

INDEPENDENTS.

When curinus vialtor seek entrance, or anme aperifi occmsion opens it doars to the pubitc. Jobling tow remalns of the old furalture of the hail except two antique mahogany chairs, cuverel with red leather, one of which was used by liaucock at prewident, and the other hy ('haries. Thomson as escretary of Congreas, when the Idevaration of Independence was miopted. I wocended to the ateeple, where hangs, in ailent granieur, the Liberty Befi. It is four feet la dlanuster at the iip, and three incies thiek at the herviest part. Ita tone is destroyed by a crack, which extendia from the ilp to the crown, passing directiy through the sumpes of the per. monn who cast it. An attempe was made to ro. store the tone by sawing the crack whler, hut whthout suecesm. . The hintory of thls lefll is Interestlng. Ia 1752, a beli for the State Ilouse was lmported from Engiand. On the frat triai. duging, after its arrival, It was crackeni. It was Fecast by I'ame and Stow, of Ihiladeiphin, in 1753, under the dlrectlon of Ianac Siorris, Emi.. the then apeaker of the Colonial Assemhiy. Ani that is the leli, 'the greateat In English imerlen," which now hangs in the oid State Ilouse aterple and clalns our reverence. Upon Gileta around its crown, cast there twenty three years lefore the Contlnental Congress nuet in the State Ifonme, are the wortes of Holy Writ: Proclalm ilberty thimghont alf the fand unto alf the infinhitants therenf. liow prophetie! Jhanath that very bell the reprementativem of the thirteen eovionle's 'proclainurl lilarty;' Ay, and whent the delmates were ended, and the resint was anomunced, on the fth of Jnly. 1783, the Iron tellgue of that very bell timt ' prochalnedl fibrery throughont all the land, unto all the inhahitnuts thereof.' by ringine wat the joyful aanmuchathon for laore thal two lubrs." - B. J. Losming, Hield-how of the Remolution, r. D, ch. $\mathbf{3}$.
Atwin: J. 'l'. sicharf and T. Westenct, IHiat. of thilath lphiu, r. 1. ch. 15 and $1 \%$.
INDEPENDENT REPUBLICANS. See U'inted Staten of Am. ; A. 1). 1844.

INDEPENDENTS,ORSEPARATISTS: Their origir. and opinions.-"The Piritans couthmeef inwikers of the churehs, only pursuhis counses of their own in adminlstering the ordinances, and it was not till nbout the nilldite of the rilga of Eilzabeth that the disposltluu was manifusted among them to break nway from the church aitogether, and to form comniuntties of thrir own. And then it was but a few of them who twok this course: the more sober part remained luthe church. The communlties of prep. sons who separated themseiven were furmed rifintly In london: there were vory few in the distarit eounties, and those had no long contlati. anire. It wis uot till the thme of the C'ivil Wurs that such Inslies of repuratists, as they were calloif, or Congregationalists, or Iudepeetudents, lneame mmmerons. At tirst they wero oftern cailed mownist churehera, frout flobert Brown, a difine of the time, whir was for a while a zealous ntalutimer of the dity of sepurathon."-J. Himter, The Hisulers of vero Plymouth pp. 12-13. "The pecular tenet of Indepandency. . con. sists in the bellef that the only orgnnization recoraine: in the frimitive Church wns that of the volmutary assoclatlon of bellevers Intul local coagregathis, cach choosing its own otllce-bearers sud managing its own affalrs, indepeudently uf aelghbouring congregations, though wiliing occaslonalif to holil freadly cnnfereacen with such nelphboiring congregatlons, and to jroht ly the collective alfice Cralually, it is asourtuet, this right or habit of occaslonal frie adiy monference inetween nelghlumping congregatous had bern misnuanged and ahumed, untll the true finirpon. dency of ench voluntary occiety of Cirrixthan Was forgotten, and authority rame bo be varail Iu Nymusis or Councils of the oftice lwarera of tho charches of a district or province. This uanrpu. llon of power by Synowis or Counclis, it is shlil was as much a eorruptlon of the priniltve Church dismpifine as was I'rulacy it melf. Prinitive I iwilleve. though with varitetion of exprexslom, Fugilsh Indeprondents argue now, But. whlle they thas serek the origiaai warmint for their cle $w n$ in the New Trstunsent aud In the pructice of the primflye Clmand. of the printtive ('linfoh. they alanit that the theory of Inthememfency hami to In workeri
 In the 16th nimilith ernturis, and they are eon tont. I inelieve. that the crode lome the erratie flolsort Brown, in Ikuthandshire man, nt Norwieh. . . . Thumgli Brown hlinulf had vanlathed from phlille vhes sime lind , the Brownists. ur Khpuratists, un they were callod, had inerslatediln thelr cuarsu, thruigh excemation and persercitlon, is a sere of outliswa Invoud the pale of orifinary Puritusiom, ubi with whom monlerate Porltans disowicel (o)und xhon or aym pathy. Ore hurs of ronsiderithe mambers of them in thr shlres of Nurfolk athl liserex, nul throughont Wales; and there was a ceatral akso. dathon of thent hi Jomblon, folhing couvontlebes In the thelds, or shlfthig frome mevting-humse to merether-house in the milhirlos. se as to ehnte 150:, the pulire lir is Hpsil one of the nicet. inges of the fandon riwnista at latingtom. There ensumila verogenien far mare ruthlows than the Governare ut diredl Mgainst Puritans In general. Six of the lionlers wore breught to the samifohl. . . Among the ohservers of these screrithes was Francis lhinoun, then rising luto out the sulojact was thas exprecisol at the thme: - Is for those whth we call brownlsts. lxing, Whon thry were at the mont, in very samall notuber of very ally and buse frophe here und there It corners dhspersed, they are tuow (thanks be to Gobl), by the gemel rentedies that have heetit useti, suppressex and worn ont. su as there is somped uny news of them.'. . . Bincon was mistaken in sopposing that Brownism was extlugulshori. Gospitable Holland reollogi atol sheltered what England east ont."-I. Massom, Life of John

 - Brownlst himi nuwer leom willingly borne by most of those who hitil arcepted the illstingulsh. Ingy dectritue of the heresinreit to whout ti rehitel. Nor was ht whthout reasom that a distlnctlon was alleged, umi atrew hinue pruferred, when, re. Inxing the offerisive severity of Irown's syatemint some who fiad mopted his tentet of the absolete indepenterse of churohos came to differ from hitu remecting the duty of avollling and de. nounciag dissentiants froum it us relpullions, apostate, blasphemons, antichristian and ac ctirsed To this ameudment of 'Brownlsm' the mature reflections and atullea of the pacellemt Rolwnen of layilen conducterl him; and with reformace tu it he ami him foilhwern were sumb.. timeacailed 'Nomber.paratinta.' such a cheferenn. to pramon and to rlantly gnve a new promithon unill attractiveruesm to the mert. and appeans to hase been conakieral an entitilng Rolifamon to the chamacter of 'father of tive Pmepectulentes" Im. mediately on the miveting of the Long Praplia. mint [1640], 'tine Browuinta, or Indeperythente. who had assembleyl in private, ani shifterl from house to hasee fur twaty ar thifty years, re. anmed their courage, nol showed themise ives in pulbile. Buring tinis perleni of the alomerity iof a wet wifich. when arrived at its fuil vigor, was to give law to the muther momery, the hifatory if the progrese if its prineipies is mainly tif 1.0 songht in Niew Enchind.

INDFPENDENTS.

Their пириненt: and their votaries allke roferfed to Maswnilles in as the sonrce of the protent ihmernt which is : made its apperarauce in the reilglons puilite . Enginmi. "-l. (i. Paffry, Jlive. if fere Ean, ok. 2, eh 2 (r. 2)

Al.me in: 1). Neml, Iline of the Puritima, n.
 Eing. Chureheat - 13. Ilanhury, Jliat. Ifemerinala the Independerita, r. 1.- 13. Junchnri, Iliat. Congrgationthism, a. AL - II M. Mextur. The fin

 tans: In matinction frov the Inuelpenlupal OR NEPRARATEATM
A. D. 1604-1687. - The church at Scrooby and its migration to Holland.- The thmsi from twoming the leadier in the Puritan cxinits: to New Einglami. That lmonor was reservisi for Wiiliam lirewater, sim of a contery wentemu: who han! for many yenes hren phistmester ot "errobly." Dfer Klag James llampton comer Conforince with the Puritan divmes, in $16,4$. ambl his threnteving worts to diem, numen formlt! began the nsulume amang the clurches nore iectifesily the form of seeressoun. "Tin" kire note of the cunflict was struck it so pomber: Stanncil Puritan ns be was, Brewstor hatl neif sepmatives. Xow he withlrew fomm the cintrels. and guthereil together a emmpany of nen aui Women whore ob "umay for iivine servtre in his uwn dirawlogerom at scriohy Manor. in was then thirty years of age, and had taken his master's cieprece at Cambridige in 180 m . He was a man of treat ifurning amil mare sweetuess of temper, and was morcoter iistiagulsited for a brout ani tokerint habit of nini teos selion fonma anmag tion Puritans of that ilay. Frienily abll unfricuily, writers alike latar witness to hifs spirit of Chritian charity and the comparatle ely sight value which he atached to ortiontory in polats of doctrine: and we can hardly be wrong In anposing that the comparatively twieram lxhavinur of the Plymouth coionists, wherehy they were contrasted with the settlers of Mnssichusetts, was in sume meanare due to the ubind mg influe.ace of the teathinge of this admirable man Anotiwr ianurrtint member of the Scrooby congregation whs Wiliiam Bradford of the nelghlanring vilinge of A insterteld, then a lad of sevcuteen years, but alrealy remarkable for

INDEPENHENTs.

maturty of intelligence and wright $0^{\prime}$ charater, nftrewarl gevemur if Piymouth for marly

 1 the ind vigarius English, we are indehtenl fing 1 out that we know of the migration that starioni irumb Nermoihy and emicil In lilymentil. It was is 100 - two yoarn after King Jamen's truwnlent hireat - that this imelementent chumbof scrimber - 3 organized. Amolleer venr hat not chapwil Is fure its membery had suffrent ws nuele he time Shatife of otheress of the law, time they lwesa 4. 'lik $k$ of fuitowing tife wimple of former bisof.and emeraing tic llofimai. After an uns.
 I surecerime a fow mumbe biater in mer there the atl tol thif a tome. But intere ther is ar Gule. Thls rieceision, which we maty Rubinson's wise cembselm. Merveri to wer, the J. stithe were not fully satisfled with that it whem Thie expiratlon of the trike with Spatin bight prone that thes reilef was anty timpurary, and at any rate, complete collerativa diti wet ith the durasire of thetr wanfo. ilat they come to llothmid as seattered muris of r ifu ifas. But they fad come as no organization. monity, and ahsorption inte a formign matua Was nomething to be diremient. Tiber widuel to ditions. kerp ap their organkathon, anm bimb sume farmored solet where thery might lay the curmernine of a great Clrisitian tith The spirit of nationality was strong in them, the silrit of self.gaverument was strong iat them. and the muly thing which emblif sitinfy thex sern infer melent timus, a migruthon tihe that of Phokniats to Masilla or Tyrlims to (arthate. It was tex late In the worid ishistory to wirry nut of territary therp was apprepriateif The naly favouratle outhook was upun the Alantic cant of America. where Englisia cruimers hatl bew sue eressfulity disputed the preternsions ot spain, ant Where after forty years of disalpowintment and disistar a flatishing coiony had at iunght then Punnienl In Virginia."-J. Fiske. The layinialy of Vier Finglonde. ch. 2

A1.so is: G. Punchard. Hist. of Cungregation wixme e. ch 12-15.-G. Sumner, Nemairs of the İllgrima at Leyten (.1frum. Ifiat. Ner. (ith), it *eriea, r. 9.-. . Stecie, Life and Time of lime serer. ch. 8-14.-D. Campbeil. The Meritin in

A. D. 8617-1620. - Preparations for the exo dus to New Eagland.
d.
'pon their talk of

INHEIPENDENTA

INfil

nmovine wally of the Dutch wowh bave them go muler them, and mate them large offrn: but un Inixum love for the Fonglah nation and for thelr nother tongue loy them to the genoronas purpue of recuvering the proteretion of Jagitand by enlurgits ber dominlonim They were reatkow' what the dealre to remove in 'the mast worthern parte of Virglahn." looptng, under the semernl goveramemt of that jrovince, 'fillve in a distiact Indy ly thenmetrese. To olitaln the conment of the Inmlont Company fulan Curver whib thonert Cushman, Ju 1617 , reparred tos Fing land Thry lowk with thrin we wen artlelea, from the memilers of the chutreth at Jeyulen, bis lee subutitted to the combell in Eingtand for Vir anis The arthelen ellsernsmed the relathons whelh, as separatlats la rellglun, they lone tolloe'r friwre anit they molopterl the theory whlloth the domutions of father and a century of protectaforl had developed an the commen mole of ple.
 expreatel thatr concirmine the the crod of the Andivas charch, and a desire of apirituml (ount. munion with lis members. Jownril tho king and ull civil muthority derival from him. Incind.
 as they monlal hare done to Serenind the Ino. man jontifex, oohedienice in all things, active if the thhug commanded the not agahnat cionl'x worl, or pasdic. If it le," They denicel nll jower to ecelesiasilend inxlles, unlesis th were giving be the temporal minglstrute. . The lomiton comi any listened vary willlagy to their propewal. wes thit thariragents 'fouml Gend golug ulimge with them":
 a rellghons gentleman then living." a jatent mbjeb ut oner lare berataken, hud nut the envoys its.

 mithed their formal regubent. syrnen by the havels of the greatiest part of tho comgregathons.
The meswireres of the pllyerins. satlathed in: thatr nopption lyy the Virginiag compmans, pation fitened undar she klages brual seal. Jout hatro

Everonitered hasamonantable ditleultie-s.

 Lancashlre th conform or leabe at kingalom: anil mothong mare could tre ohtaime for the whth, of Aureftat than an luforma! promuse of negleed. (In thiv the conamanity relied, belng arivland mot to enthugle themselves with the bishops. If there slamha afternaril be a purgose to wrugig lis, " :hus thay cummaneel with themselves, though we lumin seat as broat as the hethase rall ar neve wit. We buist rest hercing on Gext's FTidence Better hurws spemed todation when, i. 1619, the London company for Virglula chected for thele themano Sir Ealwhi Simulys, who from the firm hal luefriendel the filterima, Under his formitency, sisi writen one of their numiner, the uwimlarin of tue compuny in thele open court ' He. mante if our trais of golng; whleh belag related they atid the thing was of Goxl, and granted a large jutent. ' As It was taken In the hanne of one who fallod to acrompany the expedition [Mr. John Wincob], the patent was never of any mervice. Ambl, bestilen, the pilgriag, nfter In veathg all thelr own mirturg, fund wot suffi. clent cupltal forecute thefr sehemea. In this textremity. Itobliman limked for ald to the Duteh, If e ani his payile and thrif frlends, to the mantrer of f(n) firmilite profemed themp "ee well ladibual to ambrate to the crinatry on the lhidd. bon, and fo plant there a now sommonwenth under the rommand of the stmblobler and the atater granema. The West Indla rompany wat wifing to trapmert then whinont charge, nad to ton t" the enterpare maghat afl vorlence from contllet whin the inolleg of the Dutetr rejmblle Ind Wim reflacel. The membera of the churelio of Dacyon. ceanime 'tomealite whth the Intebs, or to alojuid for mula on the Virginla compuny " now trusted to thelr own resurces and the niti of pri vate frlends. The Vate Prlends. The tindertios baw commenile Amerloun exprlithons tu EngHish merrinants and the ugents from Jeyode were alle to firmis a lonecel to the compant: all pothes were $t$ In Peserved $1, \frac{1}{}$ the emin of aven yatars, when the whole

 Lanhon mareliant, wha risked Elow, wonld innlary prosperity of the commombly; ; Set, ns It

 Finglish int leyden, trusting la Gomband his them. wives. made reuly for thelr departine:" $-G$
 (int). 作. 1, ch. 13 ( $r$, 1)
A. D. 1620. - The exadus of the Pilgrime to New England. Ser Missacursettu(Phymot'ti (ionony) I. I). 132!
A. D. 1646-1649. - In the Englivh Clvil War.
 - Acuesr). and aftrer

INDEX &XPURGATORIUS, The. See Papacy: A. 1. $1503-1 y^{2}$

INDIA.

The name.-"To us . . . It seems natural duat the whele country which is marked nfin from Asid ly, the gre barrler of the IImataya and the sulkiman I ashulud have a sinfle namin unir thit a very vague iden of this curminty. Ti, theren fur a long tine the word India wian for prictical purposes what it was etymologitcully.
the peovines of the Indis. When they \& - it dexats ler mvadeyl Iudia. they refor in th. in jiah. At $n$ later time they obtahnt $=$ mu anfor Quation abott the valtag if the fi- be: it- ic r none alount the Detcan. Mea wи. $\ln$ It a trelf It did not seem so niturnd an it sell at to give one name to the whole resion fut re is a very marked difference betwe in the numern and southern parts of lt. The great Aryan coms. munlty whleh spoke Sansertt and Inventenl Brallminism spread itself ehlefly from the Punjah along the great valley of the Ganges: but not at first far southward. Aecorilingly the name HIndestan properly belongs to this northern regleu. In the South or peainsula we find other races and non-Aryan langiages.

INDIA.

INDIA.

It apperars then that Inilin is nut a polltleal name, but only, a gen grapilical exprestion like Eurome ur A frien." -I. R. Neeley. The Eirpunsion of Einghanl, pp. 221-22.-"The name 'Illydustan'... is not used ly the uatives as it has been emphoged by writers of lewiks and map-nakers in Europe.
The worl really means the land of the lilmilis': the northern part of the Peninsula, disthigulshed from the ' Deromn,' from which it ls parteel by the river Narbaln.

The word ' llmate' is of Zend (anclent Perghin) origin, and may lee taken to denote " Herer people, so mamed, furhates, from linving tirst appenred on the lhe of the Indus, q. 1., 'the river.' "-II. G. Kerne. Nketch of the hirt. of Ifinduntan, p. 1.-"Ninile. Indla, and Hmbe stan are various represiontatives of the sante mutly worl. 'Illudn' is the oldest known form, since it iscors in one of the most ancient portions of the Zimelavesta. The Greves umil Rumans soncetmes called the river Simess, instead of Indis."-(X. Inwilnson, Fire (ireat Monarchies: Prain, ch. 1, note.

The boriginal inhabitants.-"Our enrlest glimpses of Imila diselose twores struggilng for the soll. The obe was a falr-skiunerl people: which had lately enterod by tho morth-western literally of 'mothle' llnemge, speraking a stately hasumge. Worst:!pplag frlemdly nal powerfin gials. Theme Aryitis leceante the Brahmanas ned diajouts of lmiat. The other race wis of a lower ty $\mathrm{l}^{\circ}$. whu had lome dwelt lat the leand, and whon talns, us rednced to servitule on the platns, The eomparatively pare dessembants of there: two rucos are now neurly equal lin mumbers: the Interancillate custes, girung elinelly from the ruder stowe, make Hij the mass of the present Indian jolvilathon.

The victorions Aryans ealleal the early tritsex jhasys, or 'envombes, and Dasis, or slaves. The Xryathe entered India from the cohler north, and prided themselves on their fuir complexion. That Enuskit woml for The old Iryan peris. whon conapmend the Vimla praived their loriglat ginds. whin. shathg the jucionl the ldack-shln tu the Iryan nan.' They like furituts luhls and weattor the black-skin. Marenver. the Aryan, whe his thely farmed fentiores. hatherl the sylart Mongothen fares of Rinortheless all the mon- Iryans couhid tor have luren matage. We hear of Wealthy Dasyons or tom- Srystas: and the Vietie lymas speak of Arynus afterwards male alliance with non Aryan trilws: :and mane of thermen juwerfal khadoms of India were ruled hy mon-Iryan klages. tat us now examibe ifuw pithithe proples at they exist at the prosent di!!. Thrust buck by the Arran Invaders from the plains, they have laln hillden nway in the mountains, llke the re. malns of extloct aninusis found in lifiseaves. India thus forms a grent musenm of rurvs, in which we ean stmily man from thls lowest to his highest stuges of culture.

Among the ruilest frazments of nuankind are the lwhlathe Andaman lslanilers, or non-Arrnis of the lity of Bengal. The Arub and marly European voyugars rlescrilnel thetu as dog.fineel man-eaters. The tablish a metlement, fomin themedres ln the midst of nakedenanibals; whochuibel themelver at festlvais whis red carth, and mourned for their dend frlends hy plastering themedver with dark muil.

The Anamalal hills, in sumthern Malnas, form the refince of many nom- Iryan iribes. The lomgr-laired, whll-looking I puliars live on jumple prolucts, wied, or any sumbl undmuls they ean eatelis nul worshlp denmos. Another elan, the Munduvers, have no tivid dwellings, lot wanter over the innermost bils whth their cattle. They aleelter themedras in enves or nader little lenf alecks, nud meldonn re. main in one spot more than a year. Thue thick. lippret, small. Inallet Kaders, 'Tanis of the llitls,' ure a remmunt of a hather mice. They live by ine chuse, umd wheld sume Influence over tho riader forest-folk. These hills mbound in the grest stome thimuments (kist vaens and dolmenos) which the nucheitt non-Aryans erected over their dead. The Nulrs, or hillmen of thmeth. Weatern Imdia still kerp if the uha system of polyamery, at consiling to whald one woman ls the wifi of several hostmuds, nid a man's property dewer als mut to his own suns, but to hls sistor's ehihlen. This system also apperars monong the mult Aryan trilu's of the Illmaligas at the opposite comb of India. In the Central I'rovinces, the nom- Aryan -. ces form a large part of the juphalation. In cretain licalithes they amomit to one lanf of the Inhabitnits. Thelr must Important rabe, the thomes, have mado molvaces la civillsation: Int the whlder tritwes stll clitig to the forest, and live by the chase.

The Marls tly from their grass lullt lints on the appromelt of a stranger Farther to the nortitenst, In the Tributiers sitates of luangs or I'atuas. literally the 'lesf wearers. Intil lately thelr women wire no chothers, but only a fow strhag of beads aromad the wais. with a bunch of leaverg infore and lndhas l'racouding the the northern lemudary uf latias. we thind the slopes and spurs of the llimalays trlhes. Eitme of the Asantu hillmen liove mo word for expresslag distamere ly miles or ly any by the tuminer of phage of tohsecoon or jeto wheh they chew Henth the way. They lante work: and.
 itl ferl. . . Htary of the almetiginal trilus. thero fore. remain ln the ame enrly stiare of hanam pragress as that ascribed to them lyg the Viotic ranos, like the rular ours. are seattirel ower the lingith and liremeth of Imdin, and 1 munt contue my:rlf to a very lofif acoonnt of two of them. the siontals milthe Kan.lls. "low sientale have valley of the tianoges In Ianwer Ibrigal They dwell in viliagee of their own, apart from the penple of the plains, and number about a million. Although still cllnging to many customs of a hunting forest tribe, they have learned the une of the plough, anci settled down Into skilfui husbandmen. Each hamlet is governed by its own headmin, who is supposed to be a descendant of the originai founder of the village. Untili near the end of the last century, the Santais lived by plundering the adjucent plains. But under British rule they settled down into peaceful cultivators. . . The Kandhs, ilt crully 'The Munntalneers,' a tribe about 100,000 strong, In. halit the stecp and forest-covered ranges whleh rime from the Orissa eoast. Thelr idea of guvernmout ls purely patriarchal. The famlly is strictly rulin) by the fnther. The grown-up sons have no property during his ilfe, hut llve in lils house willi thelr wives and chllifren, and all share tho cemmon weal propared by the granimuother. The haad of the trile is usually the eldest son of the patriarchnif fanilly.

The $A$ ryas.

INDIA.

The Kandh syatem of tillage represents a stage half way hetween the migratory cultivation of the ruder nonArysn trik's ami the settled agriculture of the Misulus.

Whence came these prinitivo peoples, whom the Aryan Invaders foumd in thic land mare than il,000 yenrs ago, nad who nre atill suateryl over Indla, the fragments of a prebisturie worldy Written amanls they do not presens. Their truiltions tell us llttle. Ilut from their languages we find that they belong to three staxks. First, the Tibeto-llurman tribes. whu onterell Indla from the north-enst, and stlif clivg to the akirts of the llimulayns. Second. the Kolarims, who alsa meem to have entered Bragal hy the north castern passea. Te ay dweil chintly ainur the north-castern ranges of the thre sided tableland which covers the sonthern half of Indin. Thiri, the Dravidimas, who apfuar, outhe other hand, to lave fomme thelr way intu the loungh by the north-western passed. Thing now inhablt the southern part of the threesided taiddami ns far down as Cope Comorin, the muthernmost joint of Indla. As a rule, the fun Aryan raves. when falrly treated, nre truth. ful. leysal. and klad. Those in the hllls make gianl mildiers; while wern the thle elag trilese of the phins con be turned into ciever pullece. The mus Aryall cuates of Madms suppleit the tropss anithmuluf them sunthrm ludia for the Britsh: animme uf theme fonght at the battle of Plassey. Which won fur us lkengal. The gallnnt Gurkhas. a ume Aryan trite of the Illmnlayns, now rank allump thir bravest recemeuts In oner Indlan nomy: and lately covered themelves with homour in Melmisian."- IS. W. Ilunter, Brinf llint. of the Budian lomple ch. :3.3.

IImpis: 1h. Itrown. Risere of Mankind. r. 4.
 AIS Bures.
The immigration and conquests of the Arge Vedie hymnsand prajers of their religion.Vedism. - Brahmanism. - Hinduism, - $\because$ The frombinter west of the Aryas into, India took pince from the west. They stand ha the chosest relation futhe inhalitants of the table - lamid of Inan, esejere). alts the inhalitants of the castern hmif. These ulso nopel Aurelves Aryas though umong thene the Mord Inconues Airya, ar Ariya, abl? atuong the the chacint cuinuretheng wilhe of the diyas is in the chant cumertion will that of vire Avesta, the religlous books of Iran, and In very cioceconnection with the language of the monuments of Darius and Xerxes, in the western half of that reglon. The religions conceptions of the Iranians and Indians exhlhit striking traits of a homo geneous character. A conaiderable number of the names of goxis. of mivths, sacrifices, aul customs, occurs in both natons, though the menning it not ajways the same, and is sometimes diametri. cally opposel. Moreover, the Aryas In India are at first confined to the boriers of Iran, tho reglon of the Indas, nad the Punjab. Itere, in the west, the Aryas had thelr most extenslve set. tements, and their oldest nomuments frequently mention the Indlas, bat not the Ginges. Even the name by which the Aryas denote thr lund to the south of the Vindlyym, Dakshlna juitha (Dec(mn), l. e., path to the right, contmas the fact airemiy estabilshed. that the Aryas cume from the west. From thils it is berond 11 donbt that the Aryas, descending from the helghts of Irun.
tirst occupled the villey of the Indus nod the flrst occupled the valley of the Indus nnd the five tributary streams, whleh comblne aud tow Into the river from the north east, and they spread us faras they fonnd pastures und nrabie innd, i. e., as far cast wner as the desert which separates the valley of the Indus from the Ganges. The river and shaped the comrse of their llves they cniled sindhu (ln Pling, similus), I. c., the river. It is no dombt, the reglon of the Indins, whe the I'an jub, which is mirant in the Avesta by the land hujta bindu (hendu), i. e., the meven streams. The Inacriptions of Dirina call the dwellers on the Indus ldhus. These mames the Grevks ren der by Imios audi Indiol. . . I Irixlicts of Indla lami anoug tham surish as du not lxhong to tho lasid of the Indus, wrere exported from the hand ane at 1000 It . (.., mulder namea glven to thena by the Aryas, nud thrrefore the Aryas nust have ben settlend thre for centuries previonsly. For thas renson, and it i contimed ly facts which will uppear further on, we may ussume that the Aryas descendin) luti, the valley of the Indus nlont the Jear s(OM) II. C.. I. c., alonit the tline Whin the kithglom of Eliun was profiomlnant In the vally of the Emplimetes mai THgrls, when Assyriasilii stoxel uniler the doumhong of llabyJon. anif the klagitom of Mrmphis was rulef by the ilyksum. . The olilest evhlemere of the life of the Arviss, whose Immignathon inta the reglon of the Indus and metthement there we have been able to fix about $2(40)$ II. C. It glveu in a coilecthon uf prayers nual hymins of praise, the Ing veda, 1. "., the lnowlerike of thankshlivng." It is a selection or collection of purems matifivecatlons In the possesslon of the priestly familles, of hymns and prayers arislog in these fanilles, and sung and prescrucd hy thrim.

We cma ascer. taln with exactness thir reghon in whilch the preater number of these parms grew up. The Indus is esperefially the whyer of pralse: tho 'seven rivers' ure inemtioned as the dweillng phace of the Aryas. This aggrogute of sevin ? maile up of the Imina iteelf and the five stromm Which ualte and thaw into It from the rast - the Vitusta, Aslkul, Iruvatl, Vipaç, Gatalru. The meventh river ls the sarasuati, wheh is rxpressly named 'the seveusistered.' The land of the seven rivern is, as has alrondy heeu reanarkevi, himeni 10 the Iranlans. The "Sapta sindilave of the Ingredia ane, no doubt, the hapta hendu of the Avesta, and in the form Iluraivaitt, the Arachotus of the Greeks, we again find the Surasvatl in the east of the tahle-lund of Iran. .Is the Yamuna and the Ganges are oniy nuentioned In passing and the Vindhya momntains and Narmadas are not mentioned at all, the comclusion is certain that, at tie tilue when the songs of the Aryas were composed. the nation was confined to the land of tice Panjah, though they muy lave aiready begun to move eastward begoni the valiry of the Sarasatl. We gather from the songs of the Rigveda time the Aryas on the Indus were not one civle community. They were governed by a number of princes (raja). Some of these ruled on tive bank of the Indus, others in the nelghtworinood of the sarasvati. They sometimes comblined; they aiso fonght not against the lasyis only, hat agalnst each other." -3I. Duncker, Mint. if' Antiquity, bk. 5, ch. 1-2 (0. 4).-"When tie Indian branci of the Aryan famliy settied down in the inad of tine seven rivers . now the Pumjal, alout the 15 th century B. C., thelr religion wiss atill natureworsifp. It was stili nioration of tie forees which were every where in operution armand tl :m for production, destruction, and reprodnction. But it was piysiolutry developing ltself more distinctiy into forms of Tiwism, Polytheism, Antimponiorphisn, and P'untiecism. The phenomena of nature were thougit of as sometining more than radiant beings, and sonetining more than powerful forces.

They wert adiressed as kligg, faticrs, guardians, friends, benefactors, guests. They were luvoked in formal lymos and prayers (numtras). In set metrea (́chaudas). These inyms were composed in an early form of tife Sanskrit langnuge, at different times-perhaips durlig severai eenturies, from the 15th to the 10th 13. C. - by men of ligint and leading ( Rixinis) unong tike Intio-Aryun immigrunts, wio were afterwards heli in the hlgiest vencration as patriarchal saints. Eventually tive hymns were believed to iave leven directly revenided to. rather than composed by. these Rlisits, and were then calied divine knowiedge (Velia), or the cternal word heard (sruti), and transmbitted by them. These Mantras or ligmns were arrangexi in three prlacipai cuitectlons or continuons texts (Sumhitus). The first aul corliest was calied th : tIymurvela (Rige vedia). It wias a pollection of 1.018 hymns, urrmaref for mere reuding or recitiag. This was the first bihie of the Ilinin religion, ani the speetnl hihie of Vedism.
Tciisim was the carliest form of the religion of tha, Indian branch of the grent Aryan tanily. Brainanisun grew out of Vedism. It tangit the mergiag of alf the forces of Sature in one nuiver. smisilrituat Befine - the only reai Entity - which. whom uamanifested und hupersomal, was calini Ilrahat (uritter): when manifesteml as a personai creatur, was caitei llraimai(nusenline); and when manifrome in tive iithest orier of neen, was cailed Brähunanta ('the ilraimanus'). II rahumankm wus ratier a pinilosophy than a reifion, and in its fun. damentul doce rine was spirituu? Punticelsm. Hiaduism grew out of ilruhmanism. It was Brahmanlsm, so to speak, run to arevi and sproad ont into a confused tangle of divine per"milties and in. carnutions. . . Yict Hinduism is distinct fiom Brainnanism, ami cinetly in this - that lt takes ittic acconct of the primurdial, impersonai Feing Braluna, and wionly neriefets itt personal man!. featation Brahas sulktituting, In place of buti Brahmil and Bralima, the two popular personal deities Siva and Vishmi. Be it noted, however, that the emplogment of the term Hindulsi: is wholly arhitrary and confessediy unsathsfactury U'nhappiiy there is no other expresslon sullicinutly compreivensive.

- Ilindulsum is İrahuanioiv mundited by the ereeds anci supretitloms of Buldhists [see below: II. C. $312-$-] and Non- Iryn ances of all kinds, inchuling Draviniuns, Kibla rians, and perhapa pre-Kolariun aborigines. It inss even been nuditited by . Itlam and Chris tlantty."-M. Williams. Religiona Thought ind Life in India, pt. 1. ch. 1, and Intrent.
Also in: K. Mitra, Indis-Aryana-F Mas Mniler, Hist. of Ancient Sinskrit Literuturt.The same, rd., Nirred Thaikn of the Enat, o. 1. , thd othera.-A. Bartin, Roligima of Indin.-Rig. lerm Sanhitri, 'r. 多 II. II. W'tmon-Sre, ulso, Aurass

Early Commerce. See Tuane, Ancuss.

6th Century, B. C.-Invasion of Darius. Fip Persia: B. C. 591-603.
B, C. 327-312. -Invasion and conquests of Alexander the Great.-Expulsion of the Greeks.-Rise of the empire of Chandragapta. -"The yenr B. C. 327 marks nn impurtian eri In tie instory of Incia. Nore tian two eronturiss are supinsed to have elapsedi since the divath if Gotnmu lhudha. The greut emplire of Mataiha was apparintly faling luto unarelyy, but limhmanism nud luntiihlsm were stlil 'xpunnding their respective dingmas on the hanks of the Ganges. At this jancture Alexamior uf Mare don was leading an army of Grerks ciown the Cambl river towards the river Inins, which alt that time formed the western fromtior of the
 The design of Aiexanier was to conelucr thll the regions westward of the inius, incluting the territory of Cubul, and then to cross tine indue In the nefighlymirhons of Attock, unif march throngis the P'unjub in a somti- easterly threction. crossing ail the tributury rivers on his way: and finaily to pass down the wailey of the cianets and Juman, via Delhi and Agra, aull cenfur the grent Clangetie empire of Sugathal ur lita iipnatra between the amiant cities of Prayatand Gmir.

After crossing the lulus, there wo pe diued one ufter tine other, numely :- timat of Tasins Inetween the Indas and the diefum ; that if inems und that of Porns tive youncer betwien the ('henah and the Ravere. . . Wiarn Ihwade? Lail fuity restahlished his authority in Cahat he erossed the lutins into the l'mpint. ifurs he inalten sme time at the city of Taxila [Tasias. the king. having subnitter in aisuarel, and then mareheci to the river Jhelome. and found tiat Porns the cidier was encamiect on the opposite hank with olarge force of cavalry and infnatry, tugether with ciariots uni clephamta The decisive hattie whicit "hinweri on the Jhelum is one of the must - arkiable artions in aneient story, Porns bomght wihla valour which exclterl the admiration of direxamifr, but was at last woundel nnil comperieci to tiy. i'lif mateir he was indlu•erd to teluder itis sulimisaion.

The vectory over Porus cestubiishlyif the aseendancy of Aiexander in the Pumjab." In."But only declded the question betwien himelt and Porus, but enabied him to open up a arw communication with Persia, via the river Indua and timber for ship-hullding ln the northern forethen and to float it down the Jhelum; and be founded two ettes, Bukephaila and Nikea, one on each sille of the Jhelum. . . Whilst the fleet was being construeted, Aiexander continued his mareh to the Chenab, and erossed that river into the domialons of Porus the younger," who tled at hls approaeh, and whose kingdom was mate orer to the elder Porus, lila unele. "Alexander next crossed the IRavec, when he was called hark by" a revolt in his rear, whieh he suppressed. "But meantine the Macedonlans Lad growin weary of their campalgn in India.

They
ruskted everyattempt to lead them beyond the Sutloj: and Alexander, making a virtice of necesstry, at last consuited the orueles and found that they were unfavourahle to an onward move. nient. . . . Ile returned whth his army to the Shelum, and embarked on lmari the frett with n pertion of his tromps, whilst the rem. inder of his army nurcherl along either bonk. In this man. arr he proxerded almost dae mouth through the Punjah and Sidnde. .. At last he reachend the Indian Oexan, und beheld for the first the the pleaouema of the thies; and then landed his army ami marched through Belorehistunt towaris Susi, whind Xearchos condueted the Hert to the lirsling Gulf, and tinally joheef hlm hatie same city. ... Alexander had Invaled the Punjab luring the rainy season of B. C. 32\%, and rewhed Meantinur Phillip remained at Taxifa as his lien. temant or deputy, and commanderl a garrison of merceariass und a luklg-gnurd of Macedouians. Whea Alexander was marehing tlirnugh liklooehistna, on hls way to susa, the news renehed him that Philip hall heen nurdered hy the mer crnaries, but that nearly all the muribrers had Ineol slain by the Macedontan boly gumels. Atesamerer immediately despatehed lettors direet lag the Macelonian Eudemos to earry on the goverument in conjunetion whith Taxiles, untll ise conlid appoint annther deputy; and this provisimanl arrangement seems to have been con tinned uatil the death of Alexameler In IS. C. $3: 3$, The pulitieal anarchy which followetl this entas. truphe can scarcely be realizel. . . Jutha was forgitlen. Eudemiss took ndivants. -if the death of Alexander to murder Porus; but was ultimate! r driven out of the Pranjab with ail his Marednolans by an alventurer who wis known to the Grevks as Sandrokottos, and to the Illodus as Chandragupth. This millolitual is salle to have deliverad India from a forigu roke only to substitute his own. , By the uld of hamlitti he captured the clty of I ataii juiru, nul ohtalmel the throur: : and then drove the Greeks ont of Imla, mad estahlished hls emplre over the whole of Himiustan and the P'unjah."-,I. T. Wherter. Mint. of Indit: Ilindu, Buldhist ami Brahmenti. coll. ch 4.
Alwinin: Arrian. Amehusis of Alexander (tr. by Chinnoeli, uk. 4-6-T. A. Dolge, Alemuder, oh. $3 \times-1: 1$
B. C. 312--,-Chapdragupta and Asoka.The apread of Buddhism and its Brahmanic absorption.-"The tirst tolcrably trustworthy dhate in luellun history ts the era of Canilra-gupta (=Samlrokittus) the foundar of the Mauryu dumsty, who. after making himself master of Pataliputra (Pallbothra, Patra) and tire king. duth of Magulbu (Behar), extended hla slaming. ovir will Hindustan, and presented a determined

Nikator, the date of the commencement of whose reign was alout 312 IS. C. When the fatter contenplated invading India from his kingelon of Ihetrin, so effeetnai was the resistance offoren? ly Canilra-gupta thnt the Greek thought tt politie to form an ulliance with the Illndu king, and sint his own countrymun Megasthenes ns aulan. hassador to reside at his court. To thls clroumstunce we owe the tirst authentle arcount of Indinn munnres, customs, and religious usiges hy an Intelligent ohseryer who was not unatile, and thls narrutive of Megasthenes, preserverl by Stralo, furnlshes a hasis on whleh we may founil a fulr Infreence that Brahmanlsm and Butthism exlsteci sille by slice In Indla on anicahle terms in the faurth century B. C. There is even groual for believing that Kiag Cundra-gupan himself was in sceret a Buddhist, though in pubile he paid homase to the genls of the Bralmums; at any rute, there can he little donbt that his suc. resmor Awha did for ludidhlsm what Constan. tine did for Coristhaty - gave an fupetus to les progress hy melopting li as his own creed. Budd. hlsm, then, became the state relighon, the natonal faith of the whole klugdom of Magadha, and therefore of a great proriton of Inilh. This Asoka is by some regarierl ns likutlenl whith Camira-gnpta; at any rate, therir characters and mush of their history are shmilar. He ls probably the same as King Prisalarsi, whase edicta "it stone pillars cujoining ' Dharma,' or the practhee of virtue null uniwronl twe ne volence, nre watered aver ludia from Khtak in: the ceast and Giligurat In the wist to Allahilhat, Delha, and Afghamstan on the morth. Weat. What then is Itmilhismy It is certalnly not Brahmantsmen yet It arowe ont of Brahmanism, and from the first had marth lo commun with it. Brahumanism and Buhdhasu are clowely interwowen with eaeh other, yet they are wry dilferent from each other. Brahmanism is a rellylem whiell may be describel as nll thoology, for it makes Gorl everything, and everytining civi. Inddhlsm is wo religion at all, mad certuinly no theolngy, hut rather a systemt of duty, moratity, and henevoknce, withent real delty, pmyer or prlest. The Hume Buddha is simply an epithet nuanlig 'the perfectly enilghtemell one, or rather one who, by perfect kmowledge of the truth, is Hherated from all e." cence, aul who, before his onvatthe world the metholl of ohtaining it. The Hudthy with whom we are coterernet wis ouly the last of a series of liudhthas who had appeared In previfus eycies of the minverse. He was Inorn at Kapila vastil, a city null hingilumat toe frot of the monntalis of Nepal, his fatiser sudid howisua loing the king of that country, and hla monlur Jaya devi being the daughter of King suprabuldias. Ilemer he belonged to the Kslastriva chass, and his family name was Sakya, Whille his name of Gautama (or Gethenta) was taken from that of his tritu. Ile is sald to have urrived at supreme hrowlevige under the Bunihe tree, or 'tree of wisidon' (fambilarly calleci 'the Boy tree ), at Gaya. in Ikhur (Magndha), alont the year se8 13. © null to have commenced propuguting the uew falth ne Benares semu after. Warts... Buddhlsm was a protest against the tyranny of Brahumatsim nad easte. Accorlfug to th. Budiha, ail nen ury cupai. . . We have tive marked feutures of Buddhlsn: 1. dis. regurd of all caste distinctions: 2. aboiltion of animsi sacrifice and $n f$ vicarious sufferins; 3. great stress lald on the dectrine of transmigra. tion; 4. great lmportance assigned to self-mortl. fication, austerity, and abstract meditation, as an ald to the muppression of all action; 5 . concentration of all luman deslres on the absolute ex. tinction of all being. Tliere is stlll a sixth, whleh is perhaps the most noteworthy of all; viz., that the Buddlas reworniaci no supreme deity. The only gol, be atimmed. Is what man himself can become. A Buddlist, therefore, never reail: prars, he only merlitutes on the perfections of the liuddha anil the berre of attivining Nirmnna.

Brahmurhom und biuddhlsm [in India] appear to lave bleydeth, or, as it were, melted luto rach other after ench havi reciproeally parted with something, and cach haad lmparted something. At any rate lt may be questinned whether Buddidism was ever forclbly expelled from any part of Indla br direct persecution. except. perhaps, in a fow isolited centres of Brahmanieal fanatielsm, such as the neigh. bourhool of Benares. Even In lkenares the Chinese traveller, Iliouen Thsang, found Brah. manistn and Budihism tionrishing amlcably side by side in the Tili century of nur era. In the South of India the Budilha's doctrines seem to have met with acreptance at an early date, and Ceylon was prohably converted as early as B. C. 240, soon nfter the third Buddhlst coimell helid under Klug Asoka. In other parts of Indla there was probuhly a periox of Brahinanleal hostility, and perlups of ocemsional versecution. : but eventualiy Buddhlsin was taken by the hand, and drawn lack into the Brahmonleal system by the Brahmans themselves, who met it half way and emierl by bollly arlopting the Buddia as an lnwarnaton of Vishmm. . . Only s small sertion of the Buddlatst community resisted all conciliathon, mul these are probably represuled br the present sect of Jains [who are found in large numbers in varions parts of Indla, esproidly on the western coast]. Be the sctual state of the ense as It may. mothing cun he clearer than the fart that Buddhism has disap. peared from India the Lsland of Ceylon being excepted), and that it has not done so without haviug largely contrinted towards the mouldIng of Brallinanisin into the Ifinc. Isin of the present isy."-II. Willians. Mindluisen, ch, 6.
Almo is: The same author (now Sir Monier Monler. Williams), IBudhian.-II. Oldenbirg, Buddha,-1'. 13igander. life or legend of Giv: licnut, -I. Inllip, IBulilhn alid the Kathy Buhlehinta. - W. W. lookhill. The life of the Budrthit.
A. D. 977-1290. - Under the Ghaznavide and Mamelule empires. - "Aryan civllimation was gurminating. tut it wus in uncongenhl soil. Like the descendints of Ahrahum and dient, the Invulars minglad with the heathen and leartud their ways. The older inhablents wore barlarous, nultilingual, Indolent; worshippers lows of manty ginls tian of nuny devils. The fusion that ettsued was not happy: though the origin anll growth of the easte system prevented com. plete minfon. It ficilituted some of lis evils; the character of the Arynn setilers lecame disastrously affertul: the wint of commerdal eom municition hy laud and sen temded to perpetnute stagnation. This was the state of things upon which the rising tide from C'entral Asia began to tow with resiotiess jeretlurity after the Buan-

Oxus and the Felmand. It was not to be wondered at if the Arabs made no whle or lasting Indian conquests in the early ages of the Jusni $\operatorname{man}$ era. At a tlme when they were engaged with the Cliristlan Empires of the East and the West, when they were spreading the power of the erescent from the borders of Khorasain to the Pillars of Ifercules, the warriors of Islam had perhaps but littie temptation to undertake further adventure. ('ertain it is that beyond the cherfines of Makran and a part of 8lndls (oceupherd lews than a hundred years after the IIljra) - the Arah eonquests did not spread In India. It was Sasir-ud- Din Salniktlgln - certalnly a Murv wap. the and popularly belleved a sclon of the Sis tanlan dynasty that onee ruled Perala - bs whom the first Musilm Invashin of Ilindustain was male in duruble fashlon. IIs master, Aipthgin, having fled from the oppreswion of the Samanl Iynasty of Bukhara in 082 A. D., hasi founded it princlpality at GhaznI. Suluhiticin acquired his favour, and was ahle, soon aflur his death. to aequire the succession $\ln 9: 7 \mathbf{A}$. 1). Ile established his power in the Puujuh; und his armics are salil to have penetrated as fir as Benares. On his deuth, 807 A. I), his sum, the celebrated Sultai. Mahmud, sueceeded to the Fimplre extending frotn Bulkh to Lahore, if nut to Tansi [see Tcuks: A. D. 909-118:3]. During a relgn of over thlriy years be lnvaded Ilindiana twelve tlmes, lnflicting terrible carnage on the IIindus, desecrating thelr ldinls, and demoralivin? thelr temples. Mathura, Kannuj. Sımanth: to such distant and divergent points dul his enter. prises reach. Mahmul illed 1030 A. I)., und tras bu!id at Ghaznl, where hls monnment is still to be reen. For alout no he handreal y cars the drnasty contlumed to rule in the $l^{3}$ unjab and Afghanistan, more and more trouhlind by the uelghbonting trike of Ghor, who in ilks i. i) twok lahore and put an end to the Ghazataribe dynasty. A prince of the Ghorinns - varionstr known, hut whose natne may he tuken as Mihammad IBin Snm - was placed In a wort of al uosit Iudepuendent viceroyalty at Ghazon. In 119 i A. 1). he leal an army agshast sirhind. smith of the Suthaj river. Ral Pithatira, or 1'irthi Rai, a chlef of the (lianhans (who ham lately junursmed themsclvesof Inchil), marched agalnst the inv:aders und defeaterl them lin a battle where Binsimu hat a narrow escupe from belng slain. But the stirdy mountaineers would not le clenied. Nist year they returned" and drfented 1'ithama "The tuwns of Mrat and Dehll fell upon his defent; and thelr fall was followed a yuar latior br that of Kanauj and Ikenares. The Viceror's hrother dylng at this juncture, he repairald to his own eountry to estabilsh hla succression. He was killed $\ln$ an expedition, $12(18 \mathrm{~A} .1)$, nhi the nffairs of IIndnstan de volved ulpon his fivminte Mamelnke, Kith-ul-din Albak. . . . Wholl Mu. hammad liln Sain bad gone away. to rule and nitimately to perish by vlolence in his native highlands, his aequlsitions in Hinduat:an came under the sway of Kuth-uddln Altmk, is Mamm luke, or Turklsh slave, who hal for a linge time luern hifs falthful follower. One of the Vivernes first undertakings was to leved to the groumi the palaces and temples of the Illnins at In ohii and to buik. with the materials oltaines lir thit deatruetion, a great Mompe for the wordip "F Alluh. . . From 1182 to 120h, the var of Bin Sam's death, Kuth-uld -din Nibuk ruled as

Vleeroy. But it is recorded that the next Emperor - feeling the difflculty, perhaps, of exerclsing any sort of rule over so remote a dependeney sent Albak a patent as 'Sultan,' acconipanied hy a canopy of atate, a throne and a diadem. Berom. ung saltan of IIIndustan, the distingulshed ann fortanate Mameluke founded what io known as 'the Slave dynasty.'. . . Abbak dled at Laliore, in 1210, from an arcident at a game now known as 'polo.' He was contemporancous with tile great Mughul leader Changiz Khan, by whom. however, he was not moliested. The chicf event of his relgn is to le found in his auccessfui compaigna in Behar and Northe's Bengul. . . The Musuman power was not universally and itemly established in the Eastern Provinces thli the relgn of Baihnn (elrce. 1:2ve). At the death of Albak the Empire was diviled into four great portiuns. The Khiljis represenkell the power of Istom in Bithar and Bengul; the North-West Punjob was ander a sicuroy named lifuz, a Turkinan siave: the valier of the Inius was ruied by another of these Mamelukes, named Kahacha; while an nttempt wis made at Dehif to prociaim an incompe tent hat, son of the deceaserl, as Sultan. But the Master of the Ilorse, a thlrd Mamelake named Aitimsh. was close at hand, and, hurrying up at the invitationof intluentiad persoustherre, sifeeflity put down the movement. . A Athnsh, haviug ifynued his feehie hrother-In-law, iweane Suze rimu of the Emplre. His satraps were not disposed? tu onndianere; and blendy wars broke ont, into the details of which we need not enter. It wili he futificient to note we need not enter. It wili be sufilicient to note that liduz was defeated and shain A. I. 1215. Two yenrs later Kabacha cante up from sindh, and seemens [to] have cnhived some of the Mughn! hordes in his armies. These fornulable barimrinas, of whom more amen, were now in force In Khorasan, whier (hanciz in person, assisted hy two of his sims [see Mosion.s: A. I). 1153-120ǐ). They drove hefore them the Sultan of Khwarizum (now Khiva), and orcupied Afghanistun. The fugitive, whonse uivensures are umoug the most ronanatic episonies if Easteru history, ntteupted to settie filmaself lu the lhulab; but he was drusen out by Aitiusi and kubacha In ises. Twis vears fater Aitimeh mored on the Khlijis in the Einatern Irovinces, occurifen Ganr, their cupital: mad provereding from thence unce further conquiests south and north at the expense of the Ifimitus. In 123: hae Sirned asainst Kabacha, the mighty satmo of Nitulh, whe was routed in battie ne:ir Bakkhar, where he computited suicide or was nceidentaify droundi. In 10:32-3 the Nultun reviuced Gwali, ir (iu spite of a stomt resistance on the part of tive at the dimer of his tent. In 133t he tomik the provinte of Maiwn: where he demoliwhed tite great templies of Builiva aud C'juin. In the follbusing vair this puissint warrior of the Crescent diturai death me emmann emblucror, dying a naturai death at behli, nfter a ghorious reign of twentesix (funar) years. . . Itis chetest som, What had eonducted the werar against the lihitijs, astumtid be fore him, and the Fmpire whis [in but lambere was luken widn Firoz. pluis with territie carnage. Troubles custued.
 ruigel fir fts fefence nuainst ihe Mughols; in May Wit? the city wis taken hy atormg and the uew suitan wes slain. Liak successor, Ala-ud.
din L., was a grandson of Altimsh, Incompetent and apathetic as young men in his position have usuaify been. The land was partitioned among Turkish astraps, and overrun by the Mughols, Who penetrated as far as Gaur in Bengai. Another horle, fell hy Mangu, grandson of Changiz. and father of the eclelirated Kiblal Khan, ravagei the Western Punjuh. The sultan marefied apainst them and inct with a partial success. This turned into evif courses the littie lntellect that he had, a plot was organised for his destruction. Ala-ud-tiln was slain, and his uncic Nasir-ud-din was pinced upon the yarant throne In June 1240. In June 1240. Nusir's refign was long. und, so far as hls personal expploits we. as his personal expioits we wouid have becn uneveniful. But the risin, of the Ihadus and the incursions of the Mughuls kept the Empire in perpethal turmoli." Nasir was succeeried In 1286-7 hy his grandson, Kal Kobadi. "This unfortunate goung man was Iestinadi to prove the futiity of luman wisfom. Fiducnted hy his stern and serions grandfather, his lips ihal never thucherd thase of a giri or a golidet. His sudden elevation turned his herai. IIe gave himself up to delauchery, caused his consin Khusru to le murlered, and was himseif ultimately killeci In his palace at kilokhari, while fying siek of the faisy. With his denth (ist(H)) cuntue to an ond the Shaneinke Empire of Iindustim."-II. G. Krene, Katech of the llivt. of llindustion, bk. 1. ch. 1-2.
Also is: J. T. Wherier. Mixt, if hulia. r. 4 the Itermien of lerihhiti), t. 1 . ef Minulustin (from A. D. 1290-1 398. - From Moghuls. - "In 1990 the the Afghans to the Aphan slave dynasty was assassinated, and a suitan asceculed the thrme at Deihl unicr the nume of Jeial-uifidin. He wis an old man of seventy, and made no mark in history: fut he had ancepew, named Ala. nd din, who becrame a then of renown," allif who presenty actulred the throne by murthring his mario: "ef whed Aha-ud din was establixhold on the throne at Deihi he sent un urmy to connucr cine he semt un army to conducr cinzerit." Thisconquast was followed ? Puect was foliowed hy that of Rajputana. Mrouldewhife the Mughils [Monfols] wire very Ahand din that entiend ane refign the uncle of Ahand din hat milisted 3 , (ONO) and settied them te:ar beriti; but they were turbulent, nefractors, and maxal up with every relefiion. Mbl-uf-fin ordicet them to be disbminded, mend then they tried to murler him. Ais-ufdin then ordered in gen-put to death, and their wives ande chilifn'n were stifi intu shavery. Ala-ud-diu was the first Muhammadinn sorercign wio compuerefi Ilinin Ia-southern commtrios, ransack hafur to inpode these treasure and tribute. The story is a dreary nurrutive of raili and rapine.

Ahat-ul-dili died nevolt: Ludeed Ifintulu Intigene fowed by a Ilindu nevolt: hadeed Iliulu Intiacuees must have been at work ut Incllul fur many yeurs previousit: hail married iner dinuriter. Mutik hafur sum hail married her dampluter. Malik Kafur was a Ilindin eonverted to lalam. The lemeder of ther revoft at Delhi in 1:36 was another Hindu convert burewer, wfre of a mixid character. He was proclahneel suitau under a Muhnmmadan mame, and shughtered crery mie of the royal house. Meanwhite his lindu followers set up idols in the mosques, and sented thenselves on Korans. The rebels hein possemslon of Delh! for tive months. At the end of that tlme the clty was captured by the Turklsh governor of the Punjab. named Tughink. The conqueror then ascended the throne of Jethl, and founded the dyansty of Tughiak Suitaus. The Tughiak Snltans wouid not live at belini; they probabiy regarded it as a llindos veicuno. They held thelr court at Tughiakibibl, a strong fortress about an hour's drive from oil 1helli. The transfer of the caph. tai from Deihl to Tughlakakul ls a stand joint Iu history. It sinws that a time had come when the Turk legan to fear the Jliniu. The eon'fluror of beihl died in 1325 . He was succerded by amon who has left his mark in history. Iltlimmund Tughiak was a Snitan of grind blems, but bilnd to ali exproteuces, and deaf to ail counsels. Jle selut his armies luto the somth to restore the Muhammadan supremucy witheh had beres shnkin by the Jliniln revoit. Jeanwhlle the Bloghuls invaled the Pumjah, and Duhammad Tughlak hribed them to go away with goid and jewels. Thas the imperlait neisuiry was emptled! of ail the wraith wheh inal lecon secumulated hy Ain-md.din. Thenew siltan trled to improve lins thaneces, but only ruined the eomentry by bls exaetions.

Then followed relnelilons and rev. ointions. Bengal revolted, and lu'口ине a sepa. rate kingiom muler an lndependent Sultan. The lhajas of the Dekhan and J'eninsuia withheld their tribute. The Muhanmaina army of the Jekhan bruke out luto mutiny, and sot up a sultan of their own. Nahammad Tuginak saw that ali men turned against him. Ile died in 13:0, after a relign of twenty-five years. Tite lintory of bediti fades awny nfter the denth of Muhamamat Jughiak. A suitan relqued from have subminni th the dismemberment of the "inpire, and dum his lest to promote the welfare of the subjects left to lim; but it ls also saiui that he destroyed tempies and idols, and burnt a Jrahman alise for perverting Mhhammadan Women. In 1398-09, tra yeara ifter the death of Firuz Shah, Timur shati invaded the I'nnjub and Hindustan [se Timord]. The loorors of the Tartur invashonare Indescribabie; tbey teach nothing to the woril, and the tale of atroclties may well le aropinel Into obllvion. It wili suf. Hee to say that Timur coune and piuntered, uni then went away. Ile left olloers to rule in his name, or to collect tribute in bls name. In 1450 they were put aside by Ifghans;-turbulent Midhammadan finatio's whose prosence mast bave Inetn hate fui to the llimulos. At last, in lijes, a desendimt of Timur, named the labler, invaled India, and conymered the Punjab and Hlindu-stan."-J. T. Whecier, short Ilist. of Indiu, pt. 2, ch. 1.
Ahmo in: D. Elphinstone, Hist. of Inilia: Mimin and Mohomition, id. 6, ch. 2-3
A. D. 1398-1 399.-Timour' invasion of the Punjab. Sre Tinuin.
A. D. 1399-1605. -The Salyid and the Lodi dynasties.-The founding of the Moghnl Empire by Babar and Akbar, - "The lnvinsion of Taimur de:itt a fatal blow to un anthority alremaly crumbling. The chlef antionrity lingered inderd for twolve verars in the lamals of the then representative, Sultan Mahmod. It then passol for a time intio tha, linimls of a fanily which dad not claim the royal title. This family, known ln hlatory as the Saiyld dynaty, ruled nominally In Northern India for about 38 years, but the rule had no coherrace, and a powerful Afghan of the Ladl familly took the opportunlty to emdear. our to concentrate power lis his own hands. The Muhammadan ruie In India had ladeed leerume by thls time the rule of meveral disjolnterl chiefn over several disjointed provinces, subject $\ln$ prisat of fuct to no common hend. Tins, in If:n, Delini, with a smali territory aroumili, was held by the representative of the salyid famiay. Will. In fourteen mlies of the caplai, Ahmai khia ruled hadependentiy in Mewat. Sambina, or the province now known us Rohilklund, exterding to the very walls of leclhl, was oceupholl hy Jarya Kluan lavll. , Laiore, lhpaipur, aul Nirhind, as far south as Punlput, by Dehhi Ianli. Jnltan, Jaunpur, Bengai, Mniwa, and Gnjarat, ench hal its separate klug. Over mont of these districts, and as far enst ward as the comutry los. medlately to the north of Wistern Bihar, Ihnhad Luxil, kuowia as Sultan Behiul, surcerdiel on the disappearance of the Nulyifis In asserting his the authority, 1450-88. Llis son and snccerswor, suitan Sikindar Iaxli, sulxiumi Beinar, Invahoil bron gal. whieh, hawever, lee suhserpuently ugromi to Fleld to Ailai-u-din, Its soverelgn, mui thot to Invaie It agals; and overran a great partion of Central India. On his deuth, in 15is, lie had eonerentrated under his own rule the territuries now knowa as the Punjab; the North-wemem l'rovinces, Including Janujur; a great part of C'entrai India; and Western Bihar. But, in polnt of fact, the eoneentratlon was little more than nominmi." The denth of Slkanlar Janli was foiloweel hy a elvif war which resuitemi in calling In the Tartar or Mongel eonqueror, Bahar, a de. scendant of Tlumonr, wio, leginning $\ln 1444$ with a small dombion (whiris he presentiy lost) in Ferghima, or Kihokimi, Central Asta, had made himself master of a grent part of Afrlamistan (1504), estabilshing his eapltal at Killui. labar had erossml the Indian Inoriler In lino. , but his first surious livaslon was in $\mathbf{1 5 1 9}$, folliwell, ar. coriing tosmme historians, by a acconi huvising the sume your; the third was in 1 in ${ }^{2}$; the foumb ocenrred after an interval of two or thrive yars. Din his tifthexperlitimine made the conignait eom plete, winuing a groat lattie at I'anipit, isi miles to the norti-west of bellii, an the etth of April, 1.j26. Jhrahion laxil, sm ani snccessor of sihan dar Lodi, was kilied in the lanttie, und Jhelhi and dera ware immediately encupiod. . ileare. forth the titir of King of kithl was tol la sub jected to the higher titie of Emineror of llindu stim". lhabar wisin oue sense the foumdir of the ther dynasty of the Cirat Doguls, an hifs storess sors wre formeriy known. Il. diad fu lizion moverelgn of nortiort lidia, and of mone prov. lnces in the centor of the peninsnin. Ibut "he Isequeathed to his son, Ilmumyun, .... ton gerifes of territorles unermented by any innend of minion or of eomman literent, exeept that which had bren eonerntraterl in his life. In a wod. Whou he dierl, the Moghal dynasty, like the Mnlammalan dynasties which had precomind it, land shot dinwin lio ronts into the soil of liadustim. "- (G. R Malioson, ilhher, ch. 4-5.-llumasum succerndor lialmr in julia," but had to mate over Kabulnull the Wirstarn Punfab to bla brothep and rival, Kiturim. Jlumayun was thns ieft to govern the new coninest of India, and at the asme time was deprived of the country from which his father had drawn his "upport. The descendante of the eariy Afgha. invaders, long settled in India, hated the new Muhammadian thories of Babar even more than they hated the ilialas. After ten years of fighting, Humayun was driven out of India by these Afghans under Sher Shah, the Governor of Beagal. While fy. ing through the desert of Bind to Persia, his famous son Akbar was born in the petty fort of [uarkot (1542). Sher Shah set up as emperor, but was killed while storming the rock fortress of Kalinjar (I54.). Ilis son succeeded. But, under Sher Shali's grandson, the third of the Afrhan bouse, the Provinces revoited, including Maiwa, the Punjah, and Beagal. Humayun returned to India, and Akbar, then oniy in his thirteenth yenr, defeated the Afghan army after a diesperate battie at Panipat (ISiO). India now passed finaily from the Afghans to the Mughais. Slur Shah's line disappears; and IIumayun, baving wrovered his Kahui dominions, reigned agaia for a few months at Delhi, hut died in 15in. Mighai Enupire as it existed for two centuthe Mughai Empire as it existed for two centuries, sacceenled bis father at the age of fourteen.

LNDIA, $1408-1580$.

sacceetmi bis tather at the age of fourteen.
Iils reign lasted for almost ffty years, from 1556 to 1005 , and was theiefore contentporary with that of our own Queen Elizaleth (15.5-1603). IIfa father, IIumayun, left hut $n$ smali kinfriom in India, scarcely extending be. roud the Districts around Agra and Deihi. The rijpu of Akbar was a reign of pacitication.
ile found India spilt into petty king. doms, nul scetiling with discondant elements ; on his drath, in 1605, he bequeathed it an empire. The cariler invasions by Turks, Afghaus, and Mughals. had left a powerful Muliammaian pajuiation in Indin under their own Chiefs. Akbar noduced these Masalman States to Prov. Inces of thir Delhi Empire. Jany of the IIfniu kings and lidjut natioas had also regained their independence: Akbar bronght them into poiticai dependence ujon hifs authority. This donble task he effected partiy hy force of arms, hut in part siso by alliances. IIe enilsted the Rajput priaces ly marriage and by a sympathetic poliey in the support of his throne. IIe then employed thrin in high prosts, and played off his IIfidu generals and Ilindu ministers against the Mughai party in l'pper India, and against the Afghan faction in Isengal. . . IIs efforts to estahlish the Vughal Empire in Southern India were less sucressful. . Akhar subjugated Khaudesh, and witb this somewhat precarious annexution bis couquests in the Deccan ceased. ... Akbar Dot only sulducd ail Indla to the north of the Vindibya mountains, he also organized it luto nn capire. IIc partitionemi it organized it futo nn capire IIe partitioned it into Provinces, over cach of which he placed a governor, or vieeror, Wlth full citij and military control."-W. W: Ifuatir. Brief Iliat. of the Indian Prople, ch. 10. E"] wish lirictiy and fairiy to state what the Eniperur Llibar did for the improvement of the conniry and tike people of liindostan. Ite im. prosirf the system of land-assessment, or rather he inproved upon the improvements instituted by thir Shah. IIe adinpted an naiform and improvel system of iandi-measurement, and compufell the average vaiue of the land, ing dividing to hese thrie elasses, accorifing to tbe productive. obe third of the average produce wing made, the amount of tax to be paid to the state. But as this was ordinarif to be pald in money, It was necessary to ascertain the vaiue of the proxiuce, and this was done upon an average of the ninetern preceding years, sccording is local circumstan. ces; and if the entimate was conecived to be too high, the tax-payer was privileged to pay the assessment in kind. ... The reguiations for the coliection of the revenue enforced by Akbar were well caiculated to prevent fraud and opprassion, and, on the whole, they worked well for the bencit of the peopic; hut it has been said of them, nad with truth, that they contained no principle of progreseive improvencent, and lied out no hopers to the rurai popuiation, by opening paths by which it might spread into other occupations, or rise by individuai exertions within its own.' Tise juificial reguiatious of Akbar were liberai and humane. Justice, on the whole, was fuiriv alniluistered. Ail unneresasty severity-ali cruel personal punishments, as torture and matilation, were prohbited, ex. cept in pecniliar cases, aud capith punishmenta were considemuly restricted. The police apperars to have locel weil organised. . .. Ife prohilitedi. . trials by ordeai. barinans custom of concemppressed the barinarous custom of condemning to slavery prisoners taken in war; and he anthoritatively forbade the binming of Iliddoo widows ativeiy lorbade the birning of Indionowidows, eacept with their own free aud unfutheneed consent. which That sometiang of the historical lustre bar was derived mather fre of the Emperor Ak. bar was derived mather frum the jeersonai ellaracter of the man than from the great things that Inc accomplisheti, is, I think, not to le deuled. Ilis actual performmnees. when they come to lee computeri, fall short of his reputatiou. But his merits are to be juiged not sos mmeh by the standned of w-lat he didi, as of wint he did with the opportinitics allowed to him, and uuder the circumstances by which he whs surronnded. Akbar built up the Mognl Empire, and hamilittie leisure ailowed him to perfect its internal ecomony. "-J. W. Kaye the ectmonny."-J. W. Kaye, The Adminiatration of the Enent Inclial Ci, put.1, ch. 2.

3-11
Atsw is: W. Enkine, IFist. of Indin under Rather aml Mumityun-- D. Dow, Mixh. of Ilindoalinn, from Firmhta, t. 2.-J. T. Whecler, Mint. of Iralia. c. 4, ch. 4.
A. D. 1498-1580.-Portuguese trade and settlements.- In May, 149x. Vusco da Gmma, the Portuguese navlgator, ruched Calicut, on the mouthwest (Malsbar) coast, being tbe first Europenn to traverse the ocean route to India, around the Cape of Gool IIope (see Pontuoal: A. D. 1483-1408). Ile met with a hostile reception from the natives of Malabar; but the neat voynger from Portugai, Aivarez Cabral, "who caine out the following Jenr, was very favour. abiy meelved, leing ailowed to estabilsh a fac. tory on the mainiand and to appoint a factor. (or consnl, as we suy now) to represent Porturad there. This factor seems to have had sone dinlcuitles with the uatives, chicfly owing to his own higin-luncledi nctions, which reanlted in the murder of himsedf and the destruction of the factory Aivarez. (abmif tiarefore salimi up to Cochin, and was recedved with great friendijness bylnwed cilime of that part of the country. Who allowed lilm again to set up ageuciea at Cochin and at Cananore. But the vengeance of the ruler of Maialar pursined them; nnd the Portu.
guese, together with their native alliea, bui to Aght desperately for their matety. They were almout exhansten with tite struggie when in 1004 larg" reinforcements were mult from Portugal, lomabariled ('ulient, the capital of Nalabar, and establishied the name and fame of the Portugueme as an importatit power in Indin generally. is regular maritlme trule with India was now firmiy met on foot, but the Porturuere liad to struggie haml to maintain it. The Soliammedans of India called In the all! of Egypt against them. ulld even the repubile of Venice joined theme enculion. in hopers of erushing this new rival to tincir uus. cient irmie. In lines a powerful experlition was sent out from Eigy ft against the newromury, a trememious hattie tow place, and the Portuginse were deferateif. But by a deaperate effort Ai-un-ida, the liortuguese viceroy, colierted ali his fonces for a finai hiow, and succiveled in winning a magnifieent navui vletory wibicit anve und for all firmly establinited the Portugurse power In Imlin. Two years afterwards Aimelda's rival and successor, Alfonso de Albuyberyue, gained powsesslon of (Gm (1510), and tilis city became the exntre of their Iudian dominion, whiela now Inchuied Ceylon aud the Malilive Imiands, to. gether with the Maincea amd Maiabar coasts. In inll the elty of Malucea was captured, and the elty of Ormiz in 151\%. The uext few years were spent in consolidating their soverelgnty in these reglons, tili in INH2 the Portinguese enlonists practiondiy ripuiaterl ali the Astatie emant trute with Enrupe, from tice I'ersian Gulf . . coJapan.

Fur nearly sixty years after this date the Eing of Portugal, or lifs vicerny, was virtunity the supreme ruler - in conmeridal matters at any mate - of tite sultherm crast of Asin. The Portugurse were at the elimax of their puwer In the enst. The way in which Portugueme trade was rarrieti on is an interesting example of the spirit of thomouniy which has, invariably at fint unif rery often ufterwarls, Juspirefi the policy of aii Furipenn powers In their efforts of colonimu. tion. The rustern trale whe of conrse kept in the liands of Portinguese tmicers oniy, as fur us direct conmmerce lnetweru Purtugal and India was concerned: but even Portuguese trmiors were shat onll from iutermediate commerce between India aul other eastern countries, 1. e., China, Japun. Nainect, Mozambigue, nal Ormuk. This traltic was reserved as a monopoly to the crown: and it was oniy as a great favour, or in rewani for some partieular serviee, that the klug uifowed irivate finifiduals to enyage in it. The nuerchant tioet of Portingai generaliy set satii from limion, lound to Gom, ouce a yrar ulmitt Fehriary or March.

This vayaze gencrally took arint eighteen months, and, owing to tiw luperfact state of navigation at that time, mal the laik of uecurute ciarts of thes new nolle. was froguentiy attended by the lises of woverai ships. Inmelime protits wep., lowever, iltade by the trulers. Wh arriving lanck at Lisimen the Portuguese inerclintst as a rule, diul hot themselves engitge in any trade with other European countrin's in tite gosmls they lad bronght bask. but left thas distribution of thein in the hanisis of at Lision. . . . The colonial euple of Portugal. so raphily and brillinntly açuirel, came to a deastrunts elose. It iasted aitogether harily a century. Thu ararim anfl appressions of lts viceruys and merefiants, the spirit of monofyly whleh pervaded tieir whole polley, and the $5=0 ;$

Leet inoth of the discipline nind lefences neceseary to kerp newly-nepuired fonden pomexshons, hastened ita ruin. Ily 1.540 tire Porticuarve power in the ennt liad serionsiy checilumi, aui in tiat year tire crown of Portugai was buiteri to tiat of Spain in the perann of Piilip II. The Spaniarils negiected their eustern powewalons altugether, and engaged in wars with the Hitch which had the effect, not only of wasting a great portion of their own and the Portaguese thet. but of positlyely driving the Intia into ilime very eastern meas which the I'ortugneme intione an Jealousiy kept to themselves. Uniy Goa and IHumal a few cother smali ntations reimuheri ont of aif their magniticent dontinion." - II de B. Gihhins, IViat. of Commerce in Europe. Mi, 3, is 1 (arct. $14-87$ ).
Alsoin: F: Mc.Mundo, Hisf. of Aortngil, r. 3. b4. 2-3.- Commentariea of the Ereat Ifonus Ihalbquerque (llidiluyt Eice. Juhlicationm) - E (Hikluyt Sire. Pub.) -II. M. Steplu'tis. .ilby. querque.
A. D. $\mathbf{1 6 0 0}^{\mathbf{2} 702,- \text { Beginninge of English }}$ trade. - The chartering of the English East India Company.-Its early footholds in Hin-dostan.- The founding of Madras, Bombsy and Calcutta. - The three Presidencies.- "Fur some time it apprars to lave Inern thomght har ether Europran I'owers, timt tie disenvary of the passage round A fricu hy the lorthgures gre tivem some exclinive claim to lis navigation Ilint after the year Iis 80 the confuust of limetugad by Siasin, unil the exmmpie of the Duta h who hui airemdy formed estalifiduments not olaly in Indin hut the splee Isinuis, arousad the cum. mervind enterprime of Einglan!. In 150 nu Jos. ciation was formed for the Trule to the Fint Iudies; a sum wits raimed by subw-rijhion amounting to 68,0001 , and a petithon was preswited to the Crown for a lioyal C'iartur. (Qura Elizuleth waveral during solte time, ulye beviliug fresh cutanglements with ippion. It longtit, in Inceminer 1601), the bewn wiss erintet]. the 'Alventurers' (for so were they turnum at that time) were constititial a mois inirjmitte. under the titie of 'the Gowernor abll (omujsar of In erchants of Loudon truding into tho Favi Imiles. By thoir C'luntcer they obtaimed the rlgit of purciusing lande witionul lluitation, and tite monopoly of their trate diuring fiftorny yars, undier tile difection of a (ioweruor, mai thentrfonir other persons in Commintere, to In rleted annutaity.

Iu 1606, the (hartor of the new (iouphiny was not oniy mouswi but m-nilemp merptial, - with a saviug chatise, lıu (ber, that shoulid nuy wational dietriment be at any time funuit on ensue, these excluslve privilegem shath. nftor three years notice, cense anii ivpire. It diones nut serm, however, that tho trank of the new Company was extendie. Their tirit pir.

 gomis, such us cloth, iead, tha, cutlery, anil giaw Sany other of their voyages were of smallet amount; thus, in 1612, wheu they uultal intos dinint Stock Company, they sent out uniy one ship, with $1,2.0$. In bultion and 6.Nol. in gownds But their clear profits on their cajital were me mense; scarcely ever. It is stated, below tow pet crit. During the Civil Wars the rompauy sianed lu the tiecline of every other branch of truie and industry. But soon after the accession

INDIA, 1606-1056.

af Charies Il. they obtulsed a new Charsep, whleb mot oniy conalrmed thetr macleat privilegen hut rexted in them suthority, throughi thotr agente m India, to mate peace and war with asy priace of poople, not being Chrtetlans, and to erixe Witinn their lianits, and cead home an priswaern. any Euglithmen Cound without alleecce. It may well bo suppoend that ln the hands of any exeluaive Company thin lat privilega was not likely to He dormast. . . The perfod of the Revolution was not so farourable to the Com pany as that of the Revoration. A Hral Com. pany amoue, profenalag for its object greater freedom of trade with the East Indica, and supporteil by a majority in the Iloume of Commona It is abld that the competition of these itwo Com. pantes with the private traders and with one soother had well nigh rulved both. ... An linton between thes Companles exaen It memed, to theis expected pronts, was delayed by thelf angry feefinga till 1702. Eren then, by the Imienture whleh paseed the Great Noal, everal polnts were left unsettled between them and apparnte tranactiona wero allowed to thelr agents In India for the atockn already sent out. Thun the ensulng yearn were fraught with con. Hnued Jarrings and contentions. . . A Ater the grant of the firat Charter by Queen Ellzabeth, and the growth of the Company's trade In India theif two maln factories wero ilxed at Surat snil Bantam. Surat was then the principal sea- port of the Mogul Emple, where the Mahometan pil grims were wont $\omega$ assemble for thels voyages towarls Merca. Bantam, from lte poultion In the lisland of Java, eommanderl the beatition in the Epice trale. But at Surat the Company' pervants were haramed by the hostlilty of the Portuguere, as at Bantam, hy the hostlity of the Dutch. To such helghts did these differences rise that $\ln 1682$ the English asolisted the Periana tn the rorovery of Orauz from the Portuguene, and that $\ln 1623$ the Dutch committed the out. rage termed the 'Massacre of Ambnyna,'- putthag to death, after a trial, and confeaslon of guilt extorted hy torture, Captaln Towermon and alne other Einglishmen, on a eharge of consplracy. In the thal result, many years afterwarls, the faccurices both at Rantam and Aurat were reAlinquisheyl by the Company. Other and newer rettements of thelm hal, meanwhlle, grown Into Importance. - In 1640 the English obtalned permission from a Ilindoo Prince in the Carnatle w purrhase the ground adjolnlng the Portuguese settlement of St. Thomé, on whleh they pro-ceedel $u$ ) raise Fort St. George and the to Madras. raise Fort St. George and the town of Madras. . In a very few yearm Madras had berome a thriving town.- About twenty yearn Stterwaris, on the marrisge of Charles 1I. to Catherine of Braganza [1681], the town and Enh of Bombay were coded to the KIng of England as a part of the Infantn's dowry. For some thme the Portuguese Goveraor continued to crate the grant, alieging that the patent of His Majesty was not in accordance with the custonis of Portugal; he was compelled to glell; but the possession belng found en trial to cost more than It produced. It was given up hy King Charles to the East Indla Company, and became one of thelr prinelpal statlons. Nor was Bengal neglertent. Cnnsiderfag the beautr .. A riehnee of that province, a proverh was already current mong the Eumpeana, that there are a hundred sutes for entering and not one for leaving it

The Durch, the Porturuew, asd the Eagliah had equahlished their factortee it or near the town of Hoghiy on obe of the bramelien - aleo called finghly - of the Gangen. But during the rel gn of James. Il. Ite imprudence of come of tha Company's me nata, and the selaure of a Mogul Junk, had higlidy incensed the native Powers. The Engliah found it necomary to leave Honphly, and drop twenty-Ave miled down the river, to the village of Chuttanutte. Some petty hosthiliten enaumi, not only in lBengal hut along the cmanta of India.. . Bo mueh Irritated was Aurungzelo at the reporta of thene hoatilitiea, that he lesued ortiers for the total expulalon of the Company's servants from his dominions, but be was appeaned hy the bumble apologles of the English tradern, and the earacat Intercemion of the Illwion, to whom thls conmmerce was source of proflt. The Engliah might even have renumed their faetory at Ilooghly, but proferred thelr new ofation at Chuttanutiee, and in 1608 obtalned from the Mogul, on payment of an annual rent, a grant of the land on whleh it atood. Then, wlthout delay, they begwa to con. atruet fore lis defence a eltadel, named Fort Wilitan, amiler whnee shelter there grew hy degrees from a mean village the great town of Calcutta, the caplint of modern Indla. . $\dot{\text { nearly }}$ matam, a cown periol another atation, - Tegnaphtam, a cown on the coast of Coromandel, to the scuth of Madras, - wesohtalnel hy purchase. It was surnamed Fort St. David, was strength. enen with walls and hulwarks, and was made sulorillnate to Mairas for les government. Thus then before the acceasion of the Ifouse of Hanover these three maln stations, - Fort William Fort At. Oporge, anil Bomhay, - hal been erected Into Prealdencles, or central posts of Governinent; not, however, as at prewert, subject to one supreme suthority, hut ench Independent of the reat. Fasch was governed by a President and a Councll of nine or twelve members, ap. polnted hy the Court of Drectors in Eingland guch was surfuminded with fortificatlons, and guanled br a small force, partly European and Partly nutive, In the service of the Company. England or strollers and deserters enlisted in serrlani In Indial and and deserters from other serrices In India. Among these the il meendants of the oll settlers, expecisily the lortuguese, were called Topasses, - from the whieh they wore tostes, - from the tope or hat Which they wore insteat of turban. The natlres, as yet III-armel ant III-tralned, were known by the name of Nepors, - a corruption from the Intlsn word 'slpathi,' a soliler. But the territory of the Engllah scarcely extended out of sight of thelr towna."-Lond Mahon (Earl stan. hope), IIint. of England, 1713-1883, eh. 89 (c. 4). Also ix: J. Mili, Miff. of Britioh India, bk. 1 (e. 1). -P. Anclerson, The English in Weatern In. dia, eh. 1-10. - H. Stevens, ed.. Daven of Britioh Trade to E. Indien: (iswrt Minutes of the EDot India Co, 1509-1608- J. W. Kaye, The Adminintration of the binat Indin Co., eh. 8 - 4 .
A. D. 1602-1620. - Rise of the Dutch East India Company. - See Neturrlands: A. D.
A. D. 1605-1658. - Jahangir and Nar Mahal. of the throne hy Anrungzebe- - : Sollm, Selte of the throne hy Anrungzebe. - "Sellm, the son and succeseor of Altbar, relgaed from the year of hls father's death until 1627 , having anumed the title of Jahangir, or 'Conqueror

INDIA. 10tis-loan.

Anre ngathe ant
the Jodrufiua.
INDIA, 1804-17s. of the Wurll': thest In thany. lee prlignevl, lont be -llil tove quvera. Ih.fore be ewate tit the thame. be fell It love with pumar l'ersian pirl." whom Ifs futher gave In martlage to one of his uttioxers. "()II bla ©ivent (a) the throne, Jahangir thanagen to set the fissland killial, athl fowk the while emple.

[Slue wan tlrme inllesl Nitr
 "Light of the Wurlil.'] It wan luring tilm relgn. In Dlls. That the timi Fugilsh muhnasalor, Sir and pinxerdinu to Jinere, whore Jahangif wan maying at the theve with lile crourt, be mate him

 whth ereat disthertion, wheal hime marked at. tentlois at all publle revepthoms, ant grantef a frimin to the Engilish to cutabions in furtory at Nurat . . Thu later yeare uf duhumpirim riosu Werve disturixal tiy fanlly Intriandes, In whilit the Fompreas Xiar diban tosik a protuluent part, ent.
 In law ; lilt after the drath of tho Eimperor, his chlost living mon, slunt Jahan, peombionevt and mo that coly hincedf and hils chilitron remoined of the inmeierity uf Inaber, who contitherest Inilia, In munc rexiceta the rejon of shah Jahma was unformante. Tle lowt his Afghan dominhons. abin gaineri lant little hif lifs finvasions of the Inekian, while were enrrien on liy ble relxellonas will and succeswor, Aurnigzaf; fint in amoticer elireething lie dill more "oprowthate the glary of the Mughal dymate than any whor entpenir of Le eroeted the bust lefolifol the Worlif has ever

This was the woll-kiown Taj Mahal at Agra, n mansolemur for lis favomrte Mabul ls a corruplenn]. "the Exidtial the of the serapilo.

Whra simh Jahan hail attalimed his foth year (hriorolitg to some writers, his Tith), he was sedial u liti a muldeadiliow, the re that lie was dial, a elvil war lowke out amonget were fult in number, Jara (the whlowi), Sinja. Anrungzel), atal Dinral (the Donagent): and fit the contlict dirill(garl), the thirif min, was bitlmately sucrexsfin. 'I'Wos of the brothers, Dam and Slomi, fell litis the puwer of the last hatued and were put to louth by his erflers. Nhoja es Caperl to Arravan, and wism minniered there: and as for the Fimperir, wholuil recovirel. In inng. zelocomblat litus in the fort at $\mathbf{A g r a}$. whth all him femate relatives, und thell canserd hinisulf wo be proclaimayl lit hifs stead [16iny]. Touanls the clowe uf shab delan's life [whillichme to an eud In itasb), a partini reronciliation tonk piace lne.
 Felerase lilm frim lif conthement."-J. Samuel son, Thelios. Pise ithil Prownt. jf. I, ch. 7.
Atau is: I T. Whoreter, ifine. if india, r. 4. ch. 5-i.-Sir T. IKin., Journal of Ewhmeny (Itinker. ton' (inll. uf tivengen. r. A) - II Elpilinatame.

A. D. 1662-1748.-The struggle of Aurung sebe with the Mahrattas. - The Mabratta smpirs.-Iavasion of Nadir Shah.-Sack of Dens and grat Mascacre: - 'Aurungzelw had mproyge all him klanatio.

Alwant that tluic.

 (bolevinin. aus utaltal Into a inaty obly lig tho prefullies of caste, of whilit their rank was the lowerst, that of Suitu. In the eronfinion in chlental to the constant warm in whiclion the statem were congugerl, withe of the homi mon it piny ut convilionolls part at the time of the an Itio mill Nevaji, entllug ont friets this vanager that kovirnsurat. Intronincod a epirit of at may than ine conmalerral the follader of th ratin empire. Ia lilly lie connmenceal tory expulitions Intu the Musul territury IIt gears be fommil himwedf at the lid regitar government with the thle uf lia grini firrey in a tionl isutho. Thif wave the empire Anruagzele wis caliol away firt (x) verars live the elorome dintirghases In yinol the ness ly the andial lisurriethon of mance Ilimine tevoteres In the centre of hia domulona. levere placed the eapitation tax on Inthleis, and fulme. miterl ofthor ilorerers against that portion of bis silijotes uf surf extravigitut Intolorimer that they it lengits linkeal ngmos the progrean uf their rourdighaints, the Maliruttas, will nute linuing than sinrm. In 10i!g, the western jurtion it chathuad In $n$ ntate of howility muro of tra Hative during the whone relgn. Eiven the om uverthrowing the kiniglothan of Th-ljaponar and Goleobila, rourtihuteri whis ruln: for it remered the thatk of regular government front that dis tractual porthon of the combtry, abli . . . thet Into the arms of the Malirathes the mationturius robler klig; lut this matum tu hase inal jur fret bursting wiver the nuthrit lamriters of the innin sula, and sumpling away lts millitars defones ovirflowed Malwat null a portlon if tinamt Alrongze.lne fought gallantly and the wand eraft Ify ly turna: and thas lue strogign win find destiny even to extrome oht nge, liravily and alone. Ife expirell lot his xyth yeror, the sing of his rolgu. of the 2lst of February. 1int

During the noxt twilve gears aftor the denth of Amrangzale. no fewer than tive frimes evident liolleatsime if the gradial dectine of the ranpire. I huring that prerime thre sihho origlaaliy a sect uf llindou dissenters, whoer

Nowtir MA.4.
(W Heget

INHIA, 1005-1:83.
peculiarizy conalated In theitr reptuliution of all intu worriore by permerution, Ingath to rise liy the epiri, of unlom litis n nation; leit mi wiok wrpe they at thlm the that in ifim the dirine Hu.Ir exilrjution.

Malrountid thath ancrueded (1) the throbe in tile. The Mabratta govera athl the great furnillea of the more. alme mo erfo.

 uf the laijali: uf Iloikar, tiow fornulere of whif:h nas a aheplocrel: and of Strifles, which grang frutit a mertiml mpriant. ©. A will more re. noshathe formange of ihe thate win . I wif Juh, tary in the furally of Amif. at Ilyderifnat) of the Incivan. Whble the ellplire uan Rent laken jhace In l'arma, wabeh araterl a soldier of fratal the -itineror lis a genemb ellyazelucout.

The iwo kings then |tomeraliul to In thil after the bithtro where Nablir. In evinseyucuce, It is and. of an Inamerrethon of the prifulace, sit fine tol the city aud mumatrefl the lillijlitanis to the main Imalmes of hle Invawion, molifheg tirst dividnally. furturing or minrlening all who weri suminelial of ionureating tastr Flelues, and at lenstit rethrned to his on ai domithions, havitig ohtained a formand comsion ef the +atentry wist of the ludus, anol carrying with hin in money and plate at heavt twifive milliuns aterhatig. ixeshless fow la of sremt valae. Incleding those of the Pramen Throrie [the thronte of the Groat Moger], ant parls.- the eburselied inach of the flarome

 oh sir. Is From this periof to the ileath of the Binincer of the Eimparar Dluhamnemil siati. "In a little bure than threx years he hal tirown up In iliaghat an ottice whledi the ferlty of the yoning :humath hlablend him from disw harglag th his sutivfactinn: mind had repultrul to the tharan. Whare he formoled the Slate which still =litmivts. under the name of "The Nizanis Dumintionse. Simuitally, It was the sulanin [provhuere] ereeterd] on the rulua of the whi Mussinan kfupi-Jus: Jit retait the style of tal lmperinl Viceres os is z.ant il mulk,' which hls demenulunt st if. Exats. -1i. 6: Kiene, Mathama Rum Nomilhia, ch 1.-

The aliferent jruvlncra and cenoymir e Wezt

 itumas revirullses or captai of mercet spo lit the it- "Dinn of anthirity ly may ulle who elebse $t$ & fune thon of puvernatent in the preme reinfiesu of lifoe minl preperty In whort, the tentur; while the fultirial syatem under wheh disurganlzuthon. It was dis ring thix |xerling of tumblimery confuslom that the Frearli bati bue ion in Inchu, eh. f. mit. 1-?

 12.
A. D. 1665-1743.-Commercial undertakings of the French. -Their settiement at Pondimade [hye the fore wi.| ronther thoot the wate of their commaniler dill but remitren it Frabio for Instility of the llioeli. Aftemarla the Fiench Jongine to the P'orthentere. Theve ware aman whol impruval the tortitiations mui genaral condisfon of the turn. It the peate of Ryswlek.

 Fremedi. Fior hall a equtury l'oblicherry shareal owrof lenre to the probity ami diseretlon of its Suscromes than to the lame government. Il. Martlo, aul siblactinuotly Dumas, saveal the s.t.
 mul bumais. Ix-ing In waut of money fas jubltic:

 also procured the cesslon of Etihal. is tiserint

INDIA, 1605-1748.

Struggle of Preweh

and English
INDIA, 1743-1752.
of Tanjore. On the other hand, ceveral atatho ss and forts had to be given up."-J. Yents, Grom $h$ and lieventudes of Commerce, pl. 3, ch. 7.

Also IN: C. B. Mallewon, Hial of the French in India, eh. 1-3.-II. Narilin, Ifise. of Phance: Age of Louis IIV., v. 1. ch. &.
A. D. 1743-1752. -Struggle of the French and English for supremacy In the Deccan.Clive agalnat Duplelx. - The foundlag of British empire.-" Fangland owen the lieas uf an Indian empire to the French, as also the chief means by whlleh slie has hitherto mought to remilie lt. The war of the Austrian successlon had just hroken out [1743] between France amd Eingland [see Au'stria: A. D. 1743]. Duplelx, the governor of the settements of the Frencil Fast India Comprany, proposed to the Einglish company a neutraility in the eastern sens ; it was refected. The English prolably repented of their presumption whelt they kaw couptaln Peyton. the conumanaler of a squadron of three liners waid a frigatc, after an indecisive cugagement whith the French almiral, Labbourlounals, take flight to tiee layy of thengul, leaving Mailras, then the mont flomrisilag of the Engish sethenemts, defelireless. Buplelx and Latiourdonnals were the first of that series of remurkahle Frenchanen wio, amidst eviry diseourngement from home, ani in spite of their frequent numtual dissensions, kept the Fronch natme so prominent In Intia for meve than the wist half century, oniy to meat on l'alir retirn with obishilly, pimishinuent, even bitath. Laikourdonmuls, who whs Admirat of the Freach deyt, wis also Guvernor o! Mantims. then cuifed the Isie of Pronce. Ile had discipinela a furew of Ifricon negroes. With French trexins and theme. he "ulcered the narrow strip of coaw, tive niles longe oure mile brond, whict was then the territury of Madras, bombanded the elty, connmelledi the fort (which had lent tive men) to surrember. But his terins were homburobie: the English wore jalaeti on purrie; the town was ta (176). inplefix, however, wis jentions; he denicei latmonriomanto prowers; brike the eapilnlation: paralial the (invernor and otiner Fingionti gentlemen in trinaph throngin lomuicharry. In piacte; time was wisted, the trenches were tom siowe criphlai in turt mad stores; was recailai

 (rai shijes and 1.2 ak ) men on the Combandel Chap relle, however, proxheceia a very u-mpurury cesmation of howtilitics, Madras Ix-Ing restorail. with fortithentions math improveri. Tiare tiliz lish furthmen medued at thelr howest in hatia the Fromeh rising to their full incisht. Duphs conctival the Inid piatu of interfering in fle in termal pulticat of the ow.mery. Lathourfonamata the patice ladian. . . Lathomrdomaiv hati lwatell whemperi to tahe Madras; the event premberi an himarane mantime it was the that bithory

 Was to change the whole course of ivents in the Eiast. IWbert Clive, an atwrney's mon frou

Market Drayton, born in 1725, ment of at eign teen as a writer to Malras - a naughty boy who hat grown Into an lasuborlinate clert, who had been several tlmes In danger of lowing hla situs. tion, and had twice attempted to deatror him. self - ran away from Madras, dlaguised as : Mussulman, after Duplelx'a vlolation of the capitulation, ohtalned an ensign's conmmission at twenty one, and began distingulshing hiluwif as a zoldier under Major Lawrence, then the Lhest Britlsh omeer In India."-J. M. Ludlow, liritiaí India, lect. 7.-"Clive and others who pesiumexi [from Madras] betonk themeneives to Fort St. David's - a mnall Engiish settlement a few milles south of Pondieherry. There Clive propared himself for the military vocation for which nature had clearly deathed hlim. . . . At forn St. Wavid's the English Intrigued with the native chicfs, much as the Freuch had done, sioid not more creditably. They took siden, and changed sides, it tive disputes of rival clalmunts th the province of Tanjore, under the Inductrinat of the ponsersion of levi-cottal, a const statint at the month of the Coifromin. There was no grat honour In the resuits, any more than lu the chat eeption, of this firsit little wur. We obtaind Iheve eottonh: bat we did not lmprove onr remtution for geoxl fuith, nor lessen the disulne hetween tine Frenclh and onrseives In mitiary prestige. But Dupicix wos meantime proviling the opporthulty fir Clive to dieternine who ther the Decous shonid be under French or Fiastibh influence.

The gremtest of the simithira prinees, the Xizam al Juix. Vieveroy of the Ite chan, tient lit lits; and rivula rues inp. as unal, to ciuim loth his throne and the ricluest prowinet under his rule-tie Carmatie. Tine jrothuders ont ome wide nippled to the Fremel fur inshatance. and ohbinid reinforcements o: the extert of fins Fromeis andidens and 2,000 trainet sephys This Hid securvel virtory; the oppming prince was slain: ami his son, the weil kuown Mohammed Ail. 'the Nulab of Arcot' of the last crubury tenik refuge, whit of few remaluing tranto. it Trictinnopoiy. In a lithie whilo. the Fresth semeri to the sulpreme throughont the combery Dupieix was deferreal to as the nrbiter of the dextinies of the mative priners, whilio ha wo methilly declared Goveruner of Indilu, fratu the pupinix. It the matist of this dominis.on, the Einglivid linked iiken hamifni of displetit, ind hatphest molticra, awnitine the diepmenal if the hanshty Fremehnan. Tiucir mative ally hat

 the (armatic and his Fremelh silipmitere $b_{1}$ phating on its four sidhes inseriptlons in f-mut hamgation, prowhiming bla giory as obe time mana of the Fiost ; muit to town itaci spronts up round this cwhmm, calliti his ('its of bitwry To the fatuinathe mini of the ir rim, it of the lani. Major law reare lani kona lantix: munder. Clive was as yet only a comaniowers, whith the rank of captain, and regarded there is

INDIA, 1747-1761.
aclvilian than a acldier. He was only five-and twenty. Ils superior were in extreme alarm forwerligg tiat when Trichlnopoly was taken Diblit viah. had Irronue ohe of the trusteri nifire of his court mad army. " Alhmerl Abs.

 a hiv pay a still larger lenly of hls countrymen

He proclalmed himelf klng of the Afghauns and took the tlite of Doordowren, or pearl of the age, Which belng corrupted Into Doorance [or Durance], gave one o! thelr names to hlmself and his Abiallees. IIe marched towards Canda. har, which submitted to hla arms; and next procceded to Cabul. . . and this province also fell Into the hands of the Afghaun." Lahore was next alded to hls dominions, and he then. In 1747. Invaded Indla, Intent upon the capture of Delaj; but, met with sufficlent roslatanee to dls. courage hls unelertaklng, and fell hack to Cabul In 1748, and agnin in 1749, he passerl the In ilus, and nume himerl? master of the Pun. jab. In 1 isin-6 he marched to Dellil, which opened lts gates to him and recelved him preteadedly as a guest, but really an a master. A plague bruaking out in hla army caused blat to return to his own country. Ife "left hle won Governor of Iablore and Síuitan dleorlered by revolutlons, wusted and turhulent. A chlef. . Imelterl the Seiks [Nlkis] to joln him In molestling the llewraneres and they guincd ceveral Important $w^{\prime \prime}$ vanturea over thelr principal comrianclers. They Invitiel the Maliratta generals, ilagonant Ruow, Shumshecer Bahaulur, and Ilolkar, who haul oulranced into the uclgh: bourhomi of levilil, to foin them fin driving the Ablalerss fron Lahore. Nowerispatlon confld be Sire agrivalile to tho Minimilas. After tukligg Slrhlad. thes milrabemi to lanlorre. where the Alldalec l'rime nimle lout a ferble reslstatuce and flerl. This event put them In pensuession of Imoth Mul tan and lahore

The wholle Indinn contl nent appeareal now about tolse swallowed up hy the Vharntas. . . Ahmel shah [the Alslalere or Doraneed was not only rumsed liy the lose at has two privinces, nul the disgruce finprint al on ble arms, but he was fuvited by the chlefa ane prople of llimelistan, grounlug nimber the dep reala tlons of the Mahrattas, to mareh tio thelr surcemir and Ineconue thelr Kilig.

Firs some dajs the
 whent the Malirattas, whe wero distressed for prowlonas, eniae out and offerel buttle. Thelr urmy, consisting of N(), (KW) veteran cavairy, was ahasest whally destroyed: and llutah Slulla, their celleral, wos among the slaln. A dethelo.
 rattas, Whas were inaratillag umiter Jlelkar In the nelghtanirhimel of Necumelra, surprisull thent so cruplefely that Ifolkar therl unked wloth hand. ful of followrors, nut] the rest, whis e excrepton of afow prisonirs nul fughives, ware all put to the sworif. Diring the rulny venson, n hile the bixirane shah wis quarterivl at mecunlra, the new. of thin disinter mul dingrice exclted the Ma rattan tothe greatest ©xertious. A vast arniy Wha collectirl, ant] the Maliruttas marcherl to gratify the rosentments, nul fulll the un monimled heymen of the nation.

Tluy arriverl at the Jumba In.fure it was sumber jerenit elther the Vahrattus on thently fallen to the Ibonineres therows in the other blele, or marehad to It.lhi, uf whleh after meane fote they they terok possession: planderidl It with thele usina rapmetity, teirline puny evel it with their usimituphery, foriog lowny evell the gold amb silver ornumulutz of the julace: problalinet sul thin Alum, alowint sen of the late nominal Fins. prorat Inelh!. Ilumgerer II., who hawl reerentiy wern pilt wheath by hla ewn vizlr). Emperor: and named Sujali ad Iowinlo. Nalmib of Oude, hla Vizir. Impuilent at liteliggence of these and some other trunsuction, Ilmenl Shali swant the Jumua, still deemed lmpassable, with his whole arbig. This daring siveuture, and the rementlirance of the late dianter, sluok the courage of the Muhtattas; and they eatrenclued thelr cump out apluin near loannjpit. The bumanee, hav. Ing surroundeyl their positlout with partles of tronsp, to prevent the passasge of supplies, cons. entied himasel! for some days with shimulshing. At last le tricil min asanlt; When the Ifohilla Infantry . forrad their wity Jito the Malimatia wiorks, and Bulwant haow with other chilefs was killeal: but what put an phe to the comflict. Heanwhile scarily proviled mal illoh accouns. Intal In the Natimitit comp. The vigilamer of Alminel Interieptat thelr cobiviys. In a litile ther famine nud pestipure rugedi. A mitle Ine.
 Andalere rosimined his tringes tifi the shahratias Imil mivameral at consinterathe why from their Tupidity us left them hurily any time for using their rammon. The Hhmow was killed early In the nction; confusion sumu pervaleal the s:rity: anil it Jranffol rarouge ensuenl. The theld was thated with bleand. Tweuty-iwo thonsent turn ant worm in ware taken priwners. of thome who cestuped fromithe theld of batile, the greater part Were late inered by the grople of the country. wise hat materend from their dopirchintons. ib most celebrated geticenlsof the mation, muly three rhinfs of and rask, nind a more reslame of the unere Nhals unale lowi littlo hase of thls mighty victory Ifter robatining a fow limonths at jeed ul thwhh with the majrerintendence of uffitirs, till his umater shonild return from liengiti. Jee nurelarel barek to lis rapital of Cabui lu the cond of the veur lifio) [1783\}. With Anlumgere 11. the empire of the Mognls may lne justly considered us haviug urrived at lis dime. The unhaply Prince who how freevivil the: natue of Emperor, and who, after a lifu of mis.ry mad disuster. cudel his days a jrinsioner of Eigullsh tumster of the throne", "-l. Mill, Minf. of Britinh fиі.' 'sirumg', "ru often upplleal to preat his. torleai evonts. and ilerre Is mit event to which they heme bexin ajplied tuoper frocly thim to our "Went was not woblerfal la a sobiov that it is dithionlt to diseover mheribate ataces by whind it molld latio inén pronlacerl. If we ing pin by tr pire, that it lay therr witing to ta phokerl ny bermathaly, amithat all wior latioit in that wih other whemarors, bur yet that it shambit rajereially whets it wis betehod over amil orer agnin by the whate powiratul crodit of England and directed by Euglish statomen . . Fug. land dld not in the striet mense conquer India Int, in certain Englishmen, who haplu'luil to reshle lu India at the thme when the Mogui lime pire fell. Inal a fortune inke that if liyder $A$ ii of Runjoet Siught and rose to suprouse jower there."-1. IR. Sceley, The Erywation of tinglamel, courwe 2, Iret. 8. lami, crurne 2. lect. 8.

Alimin: J. (1. Buff. Wint. of the Muhrillice r. 2, ch, 2-5.- (1. 13. Mullemon, Wiat. of A fivherin
 ch. 2
A. D. 1755-8757.-Capture of Calcutia by Surajah Dowlah.-The tragedy of the Black Hole.-Clive's recovery of the Fort and settlement. - ('live renualumi three years in Finchand, where he sunglit an elecelon to I'ablament, is as supporter of Fox, lat wha unseatial ly the Torses. On affering this disappxintment. he reentereal the servieq of the kinst hulin (inmphiy, as governor of Fort St. Davil, with the comiulswhu of a lientenami-ablenel in tha lirital arny, recelved from the king, und roturnal to Indin in Jias. Smon after his itrlind ut Furt sic. Havih, "he recelved lutelligemee which valled forth ull tive cuergy of fis inshland actlre mial. of the provinces which has Ix.en molojoul to the loune of Tameriane, the wenthinest was lan movntages inoth for ugrioulture nod for com merce.

The gront conime rehal compinines of Europe hind long praseswid factorles in I The F'rumeh wa're selthal, as tlurg still arr, at Chambermane ou the Joogley. Jligher afo the to the ma, the Kinglivh hut buitt Fort Willam. A church umi majle warchonses rowe in the vicinity. A row of spucions horises, in longing It the chicf ficcors of the East Indin (oumaty, lined tho banks of the river: and in the wish the town, where mume llimise tnerchami of grait ophlionce hat tineal their ulxale. Itit the trant now covered by the palares of Chow ritughe comalised only a few mimerable hats thatclayl with striw. I jungle, ahanloberl to water liowl and alligatore coverral the site of the prowent ('itiali.l, aud the Conrse, whith is now dais -rowlial at nanset with the gavest cignipugres oi c'nheuthar For the ground on which thes tile holders, patil rinl to the gevernument; nul they wro. like other grast lamiloshlers, jermituel io "Arraise "t certain jurimlietiont withla their tho mala. The ereut joroviuev of lhengal, topethet hy " virerow, whon the kigelish colled Aliventy Khun. and who, like the ofher vherougs of the

 Who terre the hatare of siamjah thon lah Frume ne child Aurituh lowlah lathl bituol the Enallsh. It was his whim to do, sor, :Hel his Whims were ne wer oppromed. Ife inal uly, fortizal " vory "xileserated tovton of the wrathb when perevivhy diat the riohes of Caboutta, hut they "omperasate bint fir what be thant lime, If the Furojuan ir:wle, of which lengal wha a chlef witer quarter. l'retexts for a quarrel wero

INDIA, $1735-175 \%$.

realliy found. The Eugilish, In expectation of a war with France. hail Inegun to fortify their entlemeut without spechal perinisslon from the Xinobl). A rich native, whom be longed to phander, lond taken refuge at Culentha, and had wot beel dellyerel up. On shels grumals as theme surajah lowiah marcheel with a great army sgallast fort Willinus. The mervants of the Cons. puny nt Dardras lual been forced by bupletx th gal wore still mere truders, and were territied anil lowidelered by the apiruarting danger. Thu fort was takelt [. 1 nhe 20. 1358] afte a ferelile rolstance: nad great mamikers of the Euglinh fell luto the hands of the conqueseons. The Salmot seuted himself with regal jomp in the principald lath of the factory: and ordered Mr. llatwell, the tirst in rank among the primouers, to le lorugith In-fore itim. His Ilighness talkell at the smalluess of the treasmre which he had feund; lutt promisal ti) spure thetr Ifres, and rutired te rest. Then was committed th..t greut rrime. memoralle for lis singnlar meroche. membrable for the tremembang rutrimiton biy which it was followed. The Enulish enptives wore left tht the merey of the gusras, and the guarly determbeel to siecure them fur the maht in the pitwin of the garrison, a chanimer known her the fearful name of the Ilack Hole. Even fir a shagle Earmpean mulefactor, that dungeon would. in sucha a eilmate, have levin tow clomes ainl narriw. The spure was only t wenty feet syuare: The alr-holes were sunall and ohstriseted. If wav the sonimer a. stilce, the sasam when the tulerahbe to matives of Elugland hy lofy hatles and be the comstimt wavlug of fans. The number of the priwiner was 146. When they were onhereml to enter hae cell. they Imaginesi that the soldlers wern joking: and. betug in hlygh spirita son ae. comut of tha promise of the Saluob to spare their livere they langlead and jested at the absurdty of the mition. They mmon diswoverell halr mis.
 lan wain. The ghards threateneil to ent down , il whon hesitated. The captives wore drlven liftic the well wt the polnt of the sworl, and the disur Was manatly shiut and lox-ked upnit them. Sithing In history or thethon, not cuen the stary which C'gulluo tuld lis the sum of everhating levi. affr he hatl wiped his himely lips on the sunli of his murderer, approaches the horrors whelith wirfer rewionted by the few survivors of that Dight Thay crielf for mercy. They ntruwe to birat the divir. Ilolwell who even th that extromity, rotalnal some preashe of mind, offerell large lirituw th the gamers. Hut the answer wils that nuthing could le done withont the Ninhoths inders, that the Nalob) was andery, und that he would lue augry if anylusly wohe lime. Thath the priwners went wall whth despulr. They trampleyl eqchather down, fouglat for the phaces at lue $1 \mathbf{1}$ indous, fonght for the pittance of иater with whith the eruel merey of the emordicrers man hel haviragonalen, raved. jrayed. hasplemed. hupherid the guards to lre anionte them. The ghe of the ir vethons. At leneth the tumatt das lingy in low gasplage and muanloges. Plac day himic. The Valoh hat slept of hisa le lanach. and permitted the door to be opened. But It was nome time before the molliters could make a lane fur the survivors, by plliug up on each side the hreaps of corposes on wheh the burning cllmate had already begun to do lis loesthmme wark. When at length a pasange was made, twerty three ghastly tignres, such as thelr "wu mothen Wond not lave knowir, staggeral ane by one out of the charnel-honse. A ple was juntantly dug. The demi lualies. 120 in mmmer, were Anug lito it promatsinonsly and coveral up. One Enghishwoman had survived that night. She wian pharol in the harmof of the I'rinee at Noorshedabial. Nurajah Ihowlah. It the mean there selle letters to his nomilasal saverengen at Ihilh, deworlhing the late complest in the mont pompros latugnige. He placed a gurrison in Fort Willatm, forthate Enurlishmen to dwell in the nedehimurliment, und ilfrected that, In memory of his great achons, calentia shouth theme for. warl be called. Alinagore, that is to may, the lourt of cioxl. In Angust the news of the fall of Cal entan reacheyl Mindrus, and exedted the firrerst nul hitterest resentmunt. The cry of the whole s.thement was for rengance Whithin forty it whathers after the arrivil of the luteligence It was thetermined that an expertition shombed te ment to the llangley, and thict (live should he at the head of the lind forcos. Tlee mavintarma meut wirs nuclar the command of . Whalrol Wat sum. Nhe homatral tiadiah lifantry, Hee tromps athl full of ghth, yat $1.5(1)$ m.phys. cumposed the uruys which suiled th punlali a I'rince who had nure sulijerets than hadd mure sulporets than lewis SV: or the Empress Maria Therest. In Getoher the expu-dition sulferl: hat It hat to nake lis way ngulnat adverue wiuls, med did mit ravis lhengal till Ie crimber. Thu Nahoh was revelling In fancied sumbity it Minumbiudabal. lle was so profumblly herorant of the state of forvign comatrles that he uften Hu4d to say that there were not ten thousan! man In all Fírops: hal lt had never oreurred to him as pussible, that the Engllsh Wonld dare to Invide his domidubs. But. though matisturbal by my feur of their inilitary power, he lng gith to mise them greatly. Il revemes foll olit. . . He wiss airculy dixpmed to prruit the company tor risme lts inereantle nu-ws that all Finglish armament was la the Hemgeley. He lustanty oridered all his trongos to Calenta. Clive hat commeneed operations with the garriwn of Fort Willim, revoverad (al"inta, sturmend mand surched llinghey. The Na to the Ringlivh, was rontrimel in his puctle dis. pumplion hy theme pronfo of thir ir power and spltit. Hi- acerodinsly madre overhares to the chlefs of the lavaling armanemt, and offerm to restore the fartory. and to give conpmatitint ti was war: nhil lae felt that there was samething Bowlah. Hut hix bencre was lhated. promise of the Naluhl wore larger, the chanery "f acontest damh, int, and (tive evoseronted to treat, thongh her:- proseed his regret that thinges as ler sould have wishoy. Whth thes negotiation commenter a mew ehapter In the life of cllow 11 hiserto tre had been merely a soliller carrylum Into effect, with eminent ablity and valour, the plans of others. Henceforth he ls to be chirfy regarded as a statesman; anl his milltary movements are to be considered as suborlinate to his political dealgne." Loml Macnulay, Lomd Clive (\$neayp).

INDIA, $1758-1757$.

Clime and surajah Dowlat.

INDIA, 1757-1772.

ALemix: Bir J. Maicolm, Life of Lond Clim. ah. 8 (e. 1).-J. Mili, Jlied. of Britioh India, of. 4, eh. 8 (r. 3). - II. E. Busteed, Fehues from owd Caleutta, ch. I.
A. D. 1757.-A Treacherous conapiracy againat Surajah Dowlah.-His overthrow at the battle of Plassey. - The connterfelt Treaty with Omichund, -Elevation of Meer Jaflier to the Subahdar's throne. - The innatisfactory treaty entered lato wilh Surajuh Dowlah had been proweel upon Cllic by the Calcuta merchants, who "thonglit the alliance would enable them to get rid of the rival Frenelh station at Chanderuagore. The Sumahlar gave a doultrful answer to their propmal to attack this set. thment. which Clive literpretell as an ansent. The French were nverpowereel, and surrendered their fort. Surajah Dowlah was now hadignant agalnat his recent allies: and solight the friendship of the French oflicers. (Hire, calletl by the natives 'the darlnge In war,' whas alas the mowt adrolt, und. - fir the truth cannot be disgulsed. - the most unserupulnus in polier. The Engllasi resklent at the court of Moorshe hamad, under Clive's lastructions, earoniraged a consplracy to depense the suthentar, and to raliee hils general. Herer Jatiler, to the supreme puwer. A IIIndon of great woilth and Intluence. Omichumd, engaged in this consplracy. Afterlt had proceeded so far as to lsexime the sabjoct of a treaty be. twerna siluct Committe at Calcutta and Meer Jather. Omblelmad temimeled that a condtion shonhif be inserted la that treaty, to pay him thirty has of ruperes as a reward for his serviee. The Burellunts at Calemta destred the largest share of nay donation from Meer Jubller, as a consideration fur themselver, and were by no HIndens. (Ilve suggeated an experdient to serure Omichund's fithelly $y$, and yet not to emanply with his denanda - to hiver iwiotreaties drawn: a real ane (0n real palmer, a fictitious one un white. Thi White tronty was tol le shown to bulchund, and properly carel for. Clive and the Committere shgnetl ihis: ns well as the nal truyty whelt wes to shen the trancherous deximment. On the 19th of May, 18:3. Clive stomal up la his place la the House of Comamons, to ilefoul himself apon this charge miginst him, mangest other arrusntlons. 11e bodly arknuwlenked that the stratagem of the twor reaties was has lavention: - that aelmiral Wintwin dil moe slgult: but that he shouled have thunght hituself authorlmedl to slgn for hlin in Conserparene of a conversatlon; that the peram Who difl dien thuarht he hend suthe iont authorlty for so ilisug. 'He (cilve) furged ulmiral Wiat. son's name mave lorid Maraulay. . . The courage, the berneveraner, the unewhurable energy of (live lanse furmsised cxamples tu many lin Indin whe hase chanlated his triseglory. Thank (innl. the inmal. hatorrity of the IIritish charare. ter hins, for the numi part. preserved hax from gach rexhibtions of true fulicy and justler. The Engllsh resldent, Mr. Watts, left Minsplicidabad. Cllve wrute a letter of detiance to Surajah Dowlah, and marched towards his capltal.

The Subahdar hall come forth from his elty, a populoua as the London of a century agn, tina nilhilate the paltry army of 1.000 English, and their 2,000 sepoya discipilneel by Engllah olticers, who dareal to encounter his 60,000 . Ile reasilicd the viliage of Planey wheth all the panaply of oriental warfare. Ilis artlliery alone appurired sufflefent to aweep away those who brought eniy clght fielly pleces and two howltzers to niet his fify heavy gitam, Each gun was drawn ly firty yoke nf oxen; and a trained elephant was la hiod each gun to urge it over rough ground or up ateep ascents. Meer Jaffier had not perfurned hils promise to join the Engilsh with a dirision of the Nubahilar's army. If was an time uf terrl. ble anxlety wlth the Engllah commander. Slouid he venture to give battle wlthout the ald of a nallve force? He submitted hledoultt tia a 'oun. cll of War. Twelve officers, hlmaelf ammings the number, votel for delay. Seven vuled for instant arthn. Cilve revlewed the arguments in euch shle, and timully cast away bla dublts. Ife detcrmined to fight, withnut whirh depurture front the oplnlon of the majority, he after warls sald. the English would never have been masters of liengul. On the $2 ? \mathrm{md}$ of June [185i]. Wis llitle nrmy marched fiftern mliem, pasisud the like sird restect under the mangoe trees of Puas. sey. Is the day hrokic, the vast legions of the Shimhdar, - $15 . \mathrm{imm}$ cal culry, 45,000 Infantry, some armed with aniskets, some whe hows and arrows, ingan tosurround the mangoe. grow and the buating lowlge where cllve had warlied through the night. There was a cambonalle for several hours. The grat guns of surajahl lhwe. hin thit little exernting. The manall fieht pieres of Clive were well serveti. The of the vhit Bohammedan leaders having fallen. dlowtler en suef, and the Sultahdar was milviselt to ritraas. Ife himself flel upon a swift camel to Mimondurla hatl. When the Britlah forees begmin to punale the velory bectume complete. Neer lattlet folned the contuerors the next day. Surajab Dowlah did nat consilier himnelf safe in blyciai til) : nud he preferreyl to serve the protection of a Frimel detachment at Iatna. Ile escapuol frum his palace Alsgulserl: nscemberl the Gankes in a small lasat: andfancled himaselt secure. I peas nut whose rans he had cot off rerognimed hiterp. proawr, antl whith some soltieres bengghe him hark to Iherwherlatmal. In his prese-nce collamber now sat Mlere datiler, to wheme knees the wrett led fonth crawiod for mercy. That alght Furajah bow inh was murierell in hls primon, lis ilte orlers of Meer jather's mon, a lasy as blonel hisivety 6. तh 14.
 dian Eimpire: clire, ch. x-itt-The same. Lend Clime (hutlera of Indiat). The satme. Derisive hatHow of Intia, ch. : -E. Thornton. Hist. if Britinh Eimpire in Indif, r. I. ch. 4
A. D. 1757-2772.-Clive'a Adminiatration is Bengal.-Decialve war with the Moghul Emperor and the Nawab of Oudh.- Euglish Supremacy estahlished. - "The butule of $\mathrm{I}^{\prime}$ lisery sfterwurds rementereyl when the Mutiny of latit was ut its halight. Ilaserry has a mereed to whept thls date an the beginuing of ther British Escrpire in the Elast. But the Inmerflat.- resulto of the vletory were comparatively mimall, sul 4 veral

INDIA, 1757-1772.

years paseed in hard tighting before even the Bengalis would sdmilt the superiority of the British srms. Por the momeat, however, all oppodtios whs at an end. Cilve, again followlag in the ateps of Dupiels, placed Mir Jafar upon the Viceregal throne at Murnhidabad, belag careful to obtain a patent of la vestiture from the Mu ghal court. Enormnus aums were exscted from Mir Jafar as the price of hif celevation. the same time, the Nawah made a grant to the Compary of the zamiadarl or faodhnider's rights orer as extensive tract of couutry rouad Caicutta, now known as the Distriet of the Tweaty four Parganas. The area of this tract was 882 square miles. Ia 1757 the Compaay ohtalaed oaly the zamiadari righte-1. e., the righte to collect the cultivator's rents, with the reveaue juriadiction atarhed [see below: A.1). 1785-1798]. The su. m-rior lorisblp, or right to receive the land tas, remsined with the Nawab. But ia 1759 , this aleo Was gruated hy the Defhi Emperor, the nonifal Suzerain of the Nawab, In favour of Clive, who thus became the fandiord of hin owa masters, the Company. . . Lord Cilive's clalms to the property ms teudal Suzeraia over the Compmay Were contested in 1844; and on the 23d Juae, 176.5 Whrn he returned to Beagai, a new deed was lavinif, conflimlag the uacoaditioasi jagir to Lond Clive for tea years, with reversion after. warls to the Compuny in perpetulty. ... Is lises, (live was appolinted by the Cou

Is rectors the first Guveraor of all the Company's settrimints in Beagai. Two powers threatened hovtilities. Oit the weat, the Shabzain or Im perfal prince, ksows afterwamis as the Emperor Nhah Alam, whth a mixed army of Afghans and Harhattas, sod supported by the Niawsb Wazir if "urth, was advanciag his owa claims to the frishuce of Beagal. Is the south, the fafluenee of the Frobeh under Laily aad Bungy was over. Mhathwing the British at Madras. The amme of tire exercised a deeislve effect in both directions. Mlr Jafar was nnefous to huy oft the Shahzala, who had already invested Patna. But Clive marched in person to the reacue, with as aruy of only 450 furopeans and 2,500 sepoye, and the Mughai ariny diapersed whout striking ablow. In the wanie year, Clive despatched a force suluthwards umier Coionef Forie, which recaptimyl Hasulpatam from the Frouch, and per nunenty extablisherf British intuence tbrough. out the Nisihern Circars, and at the court of Halvintumer Ite next attacked tbe Dutch, the unly otlur Ennrynean nation who might yet prove 4 rival to the Finglish. IIe defeated them both liy land and water; and their mettiement at Chlu. sifali erlated thenceforth ouly on sufferasee Fomn lifit to 17Ri, Cllve was In England. Ile land feit 1 no sestem of government in Bengal, but surnoly the irmlition that unlimiter sums of buthey might lee extructed from the nativen by the trreor of the Einkillih name. In 1761 , it was found experliont anif jrotitalie to dethrone Mir Jafar, the Fingllsh Nawab of Murshlinatad, and lo, sulstitate lils whith-liw, Mir Kasfon, fa his place. Un this wrasion, In+blifes private donas Hptrids of harilwan. Nlinapur, ami ('hittagong. shmual to ridd a net revenue of half a mlltion witlug hint Mr Kuskm soon legan to show a will uf his own. and to cherish dreams of fuls. सhthme. . The Jawshalieged that bls efvil ablurity was everywhere wet at nought. The majority of the Council at Calcuta would not itsten to his complatnts. The Governor, Mr. Van. sitturt, and Warrea Hastings, then a junlor men. ber of Councti, attempted to effect some compromise. But the controverny had become ' m hut The Nawab's officers ired upon an Engll ilwant and forthwith alf Bengal rose in arms [178i!]
Two thousand of our mepuys were cut to piece is atan, about 200 Engliamen, who there and is other varlous part of the Pro\%ince foll into the hands of the DIuhammadans, were uasan-red But as soon as regular warfare cominenteri, Mir Kasim anet with ao more suecerseng. Ilis trather regiments were defeated is two filtehed buttle by Ms jor Adams, at Gheriah and at C'dha naif and he himaelf took refuge with the Nawab Wazir of Oudh, who refused to defliver him up. Thls led to a joolongation of the war. Shat Alam, who hail now sucriedenf his futher as Em jeror, and Shujn-ud-1) hula, the Nawab Wrazir of Oudh, unitell their forres, and threatened inataa, Whleh the Eaglish had recuvered. A inone formidable danger apprared in the Engilah comp. is the forin of the tirst sepoy mutiny. This was quelied by Major (afterwarde Nir Heetor) Munro, who ordered of of the riaglemiers to lu' blown from guns, ua old Mugbal punlsbincint. In 1884, Major Munion win the divelsive battle of Baxar [or Buxar]. whieh fall Oudh at the fert of the coapuerors, and brought the Muglad Emperor as a supplhat to the Engllsh cramp. Nounwhlle, the Councll at ('aliuta lad iwfer foumid the op. portuntty they fowerl of selling the government of Bengal to a aew Nawab. But la 1765, Clive (now lharon Cilve of illassy la the jeerage of Irehadi) arrived at ('alcutta, has (Bovernor of Ben. gai for the second tlne. Two lanfmurks staad out is lif policy. First, he sought the aub stance, although aot the usome, of territorial power, unuler the thothon of a yrint from tbe Mughal Emperor. Serembi, be desired to purify the Company'sservice, by prohtblting Illeft gains, ata guaranteefug a roasmable pay from lomeat sources. In nelther resperet were his plans car. fied out by his fimmerliate succresers. Bot the beglanlag of our ludian rule dites from thin seeromi governorship of clive, us our millitary suprenury had dated from hifs victory ut l'lasaey. Chive landeal, advanced raphlly up from Calcutta to Alhahbud, and there seltled iu perswn the fate of nearly half of India. Oudh was glven back to the Niswab Wazlr, on monllthin of his paying luif a million atarllug townrily the experises of the war. The I'ruwhees of Alahabmilanl Kura, firming the greater purt of the thab, were hambed over to Slah Ihan himwif, who la his tura granted to the ( ounpany the ilwas or fimal aiminlatration of beomal, Beharr, and Orissa, and alsu the territorfal jurisulietlon of the Northern Circars. A pupprt Nawab was still malntained at Murshifintad, who riorlved an anlual allow. ance from us of febm.inn) lialf that anouut or nbout (EBBM), (KK), Wo pald to the Empreror as tribute from ikengil. Thils was constituted tbe dual system of governmont, by whleh the bing fivit recerived all the reveutses and undertowik to malutaia tbe army; while the criminal jurimlic thon, or nizamat, was vested in the Niawab in Indian phrasoology, the Company was diwan and the Nawab wis ulzam. The actual collection of the revenurs villl rimained for minue yrens it the hatds of uatlve ofllifals. ... Inin! Clive quitted Indla for the third aad last thme lut 1 ise.

Bet weren that inter anil the govirnomidip of War.
 In [kugal beyond the terrible fambere of litil. Whidh for oftielaligy reporterl to have awept awny: one-tiler of the infubltants. The dual nymtetis of government, establishlerl hi lias by Clive lami proverla a fulince. Warrin Ifastlogs, $n$ tried mer. Fint of the Company, dlatingulsheel allke for Intellgerme, for prohity, allil fur knowleilge of mriontai manners, was nominntell Governor by the Court if Dructions, with exprems Instrnctions io carry out is proverternitureis seriem of reforms. In their nwh worla, the court had rewolved to -stanil fortly as difwan, anil to take upon them. melvos, hy the agency of thelr own mer vanta, tive
 In the exereuthon of this pinn. Flastloges removeri the exehopuer from Mirahidabul to Calentin. nal apjuinterl Eiuropean ollterer, under the mew familiar tithe of Coliextors, to superintemil the nevinili vilierthons und provide in the conrta.
 Britlsh Bimpire in Thelleal. liastlogs may in mill to huter ereatal a llritish almbitistration for thut Empire."-Nir W. W. IImater, Intin (Inr. tirle in lumertial Gazelleer of Inthis, e. 4), fy. $3415-194$.
At.en in: W. M. Torrens. Eimpire in Asiat lluer ier rame hy it. ch. $t-18$. $\rightarrow$ Sir C. Wllomon. laini uf Inth. ch :
A. D. 1758-1761. - Civerthrow of French domination in the Carnatic. - The declsive Battie of Wandiwash.-"In lisim the forthuews of tine Fronch In Itriliu maiderwent an rantro commainit if Comm de laily, wim had heen aj.

 sionve lul India.

Sio montor has lie landed at Pimulicherry that fie orgmassed an expmulition thoritios. There wins a want nllke of corilfes. dronght catite. privishons, mud remly menney.

 vid It, thoin propared to capure Malmas as a prodiminary the an mivane on bengal. Ite ro.

 Frombin lois? loy saldhut .lumg. Sizanm of tho

 The Ralal uf Vizintagrame rovideal agathes the Emerlith factorises on the coast which had luy-11

 Eure Whairus. und complote the destructon of the Engillit inthe Carmalle; and then to march nurth warl, capture Calcutta, and expel the Englisio from Bengal. Laily reached Madras on the Hith of INecember, 135 NE , anil at once torik jMm menalon of IBiark Town. Ife then hegun the slege of Fort St. George whth $n$ viguitr ind netivity which commanilerf the renpert if hls enemise Ilis diftirnities were enormons.
Eiven the gunpowiter was neariy extanstiod." It iant, on the $16 t h$ of Fiolrmary, 1859, an Finslish and Ialiy wine compedied th ralse the alege. sucti was the state of party frefing amonget the Frents in Inilia, linat the ritreat if Lally from Mariad was recelverlat lomilleherry with every devin atration of Jog. The enrreer of Lally lut laulla lanterl for twin yeara longer. namely frinn Fither ary, 1839, to February. 1iol; it is 11 s.ric. of
 In the In-khan, sulahint Jung lail beron thriwn and defent of Gintans. Ite wan expumeri to the intriguces and plots of has youngre brother. Xis zain Ali, mul lue deapalrex of obthinloge furbiur heip frum the Frumits. Aceorilogly lio , 1. mut tured farturies [tithlug Masidipa?um by vurm, the Frometh out of the Surtivern (lonts. He condel noth however interfore in the domation af of the Ik kisan. In the Cornatic the Firnilita were in ilespmir. In Inmury, limo, lailly as to prwer in Mraine; bit Ilvider Ail ns yat woth Coxte legran the wioge of Tomilliturry. Lallis was ill In lualth nod worn out with wai disenenslons. In Immary, lith, the garrion wa. starven luth a capitulation, nud the fown mal fortitiations ware le valied with the gromen a to surrumber the etrong hisif. fort reses of Alinzi, amb the parlatuent "f Paris. . . In May. Dimi he ate "Mouthon."-I. T. Wherder, shart Howe of Indi. p. 3. r\%. 2-- The batho of W: themsit the mombern on coll shde wernenn the devialve batiles of the worid, fur it dealt s fatal und docistor baw to Frouch duminathon in Imbin, ef. 12

 rh. 4
A. D. 1767-1760. - The first war with Hyder Ali.-". It this preriow, the mais juint if interas changers from the I'residiency i) |lungal t.. the I'residymy of Malras. There, the Elatlah wree Invoming insolved in another war. The pe ther
 *ilfui nol daring of ath the anomiov: :telnos Whinn they "rer fougitt In Imilla-lis lie Ali Ile was of humble origin. the grandililed ifs wancering 'faklr' or Mahomelan monk, Moat Notile in his talenta, Ifyere was no less nolven. urume In hla carier: by thras a private man deviterl to mports of the chame, a captaln of frye-booterw, a partlana-chlof, a nolvel acralnat the Majali of Mywore, and commander-In-chlef of the Mymrean army. Of thle last jrombiton he avalled blaself to dethrone atul supplunt hla master.
funalng lila amblionis chentes, Ilyder All lasame, not merele the succeman of the Hajah, bit the fonmeler of the klngglotin of Mymiri. From lils pealace ut Aheringapatam, an from - contre, $n$ new encrgy was Infused thruight the While of southern fialhe. Ify varictis wars and by the dlaposeraslon of severill smaller princes, he iestemiet hila fromilers tuthenortliwarl, nearly to the river Klatna. Ilis posts on the conat if Malabor, Nangalare expreinlly, give hlut the menas of foumdlogit murine; anil lo uppliol hlatorlf wlts asslduthis skill to traln and dlacdpllue ambition, whenolt as yot filly approchatligg hila gonins. Wio thinl them at the Jegloning of ligi engagat, whillite care or furvilitelghtit, In a con. felleracy hgalaut hlm watt thue Nlzans ambly the Mahmitas F゙ormalulalo as tlat confenloricy arts if Ilviler, At the very ourtmet, a well. ilmeel alowiol un levter fath: hir was only more tarily a laniy of Einglish commanded ly (olonel domejoh smitli. but wand begatr tos slow symplomon of defertion, and it lust drow off hle tringps to juln comater insiphemlere. $188 \%$ (inlonel Smlth hal tory, is tivail, derlared for the Fingllail caise.

olinr siftory at Trimominalew jromlucorl as Its Sizam. Iviler was left alome : but even thoms Andris ruif of llomblay. . Dle comlld not of of 'he fiernatle. "4 the torritury of one of the.

It Ierigile. In the sprine of lithe. II yler Ali
 It an fiemimabie leruss. Fime, liy a dexteroms the minhward of Naifris. Then suldilenly, at pearal at No. Tíumeses Mount, within ten malles uf that efty. Theferrition Mormberwof the ('ollth-fiventioling that at mutmat and troty was signet.

 lies whithl nerre to assist cach wher in ali flefon yife ware In the emrever of Ifyler A!i, bitis was lif mo bunens the first, nor vet the last oreasions.
 ceal the fact, that the finglesh. He dhil mot conceat the fact, that, In order to malatala hls power and secure Itimwelf, he must lean elther on them or on the Malirutias.... In thls war whith Ifyder, the fingllsis had Joat im great anoment of roputatlon, urnd of territury they had loat nome at all. Ilit as regarils thelr wealiti nml thelr remourere, they linel siffervil severvly, Suppllen, lath of nurn unt of uromey, had leven rejulreal from Bengal, to asslst the government at ladras; mand much x of maln, therc cemble not le mavle tize usian lit.
 to England. T'Imsat the very thme when the pros. prletors uf the Fanst Inilla Cimpmay liml Iegima fected ly lonal ('llve, anill lanked forwaril tin a furthor inverese of their half viourly. Dlvilemd, panile ernsurd. Whlith a few dives, In the spering

 Mhichir Ili, omi Tipui sirllim, ch. 8.

A. D. ${ }^{1770-1773 \text { - Climax of English mis- }}$ rule. - Brenk-down of the Enst India Company's government. - The Indian Act of Lord North. - "In liil Ihingal was demolutel of hay lurd Ines that has ve chark-fich Its history, and it was talits jurisiturd lot losplie of all thome celant. thex. In spite of the ruplilly nccumblating evj.

 the rapacity of tioe propirictors at home prevalled, mitited hy lite lisp . I.t. wrepe dielarerl. Thiere sult of ill this irmhit lariliy la dibuhtfinl. In July, lïe, the lliredtors were whlleal the romfors that the जllur repuired for the neromeary pay thenta of the mest lifere menties wins aleflelent is whited on the Miniwher toinform him ilat nothelgg sherit of a lasen of at hast allo mibilion from the puhlle coulal siver ties Complity from rula. Tho Whente sevirm of Imilat genvermment hatl thos for at thie Jrokeon lown. The division Inetween Hind levtwont the anthorltios of the Conipany In Finglaml and those In fulia. the private intul moltivin lufireses of lea mervatis in folia, and of Its properetors at liome, the contimond onslilation he.

 and the creat want in the whole orgatilathon of thom. In Fuglamd the romviction was raplelly Eruwing that the whule syotem of envernlug a Eratit country by a 'omimerolal crompany was mulically and incirally false. The sithjeret was dis.onsed in liorlianomt. In life. at great miflums were put forwarl by thre Drectors. lent Jer the Intharnere of loorti Sorth. nnal Is spite of A*s.rted in Hmejuiveral trates its riglat for tho t"rriturial resiolurow of the Ciempany. I siclect was atpoittial hy larlinnatat tat make a full in not, huwefer, til 1\%is that declave mensifan vere talee. The Company was at thle time abcolutely helples. Lond North commanled an overwinelming majority la both Houses, and on Indlan questions lie wis supported by a portion of the Oppodtlon. The Company was on the brink of rula, unable to par lis iribute to the Coverament, unable to mect the blls which were becuming due In Bengal. The publicution, In 1733. of the report of the Belect Committee, re. venled a scene of maladministration, opprestion, mmi fraud which amused a whle.spread lmdignation through Eagland; and the Government was able without dinieulty, In aplte of the provisions of the elharter, to exerclec a complete cuatrolling and regulating power uver the affairs of tive Company.

By caormous majoritien :wo muanneg were parsed through I'arilanent in 1733. which mark the commencemeut of a new epoch in the listory of the Fast Iniln Company. By one Net, the mininters met lis Ananelal em. barrunamerts liy a loan of $1,000,0001$ at an Inherent of $t$ per cent. and agreed to forego the claim of (N), (W)N. tiil thes loan fiad been dls. chargen. The ('ompany was restrieted from declaring any divliletid alove 6 per econt. till the new loan hul been dixcharged, and alove 7 per cent. 1 ill ita lxmul-lebt was reslumed to $1,500,0011$. It was Bhiliged tos sulimit lim accumita every laif. year to the Larts of the Trenanty: It was re. uricted from acceptiug hills drawa by its mervants in Inilia for above 300,0001 a ycar, and it wsa whiged tu export to the IBritisli settlementa within its limita Britisin goxels of a specifted valine. By atother Aet, the whole eonstitution of the Company wan changed, and the proat centre of authority and jowir was trinsferred to the Crown.

All the more lmjortatut matters of jurlsulletion in india were to ine submitted to * new rourt, cuaslatiag uf a C'lifef Justice and thrie pinisnce joliges appoiuter] ly the ('rown. A Guvermor-Genterul uf Beougal, 13, [mar, aml Oriana, wun to tee appointed at a salary of 25,000), a your. with four Coundilors, at salarion of s, (MOD. a year, anl the other prosileturies were maike sulmorll. nate to lheligal. The tirst Guvernor-General and Commillors were to loe nothinited, bot by the Eiast India Company, inut by I'arliament: they kero to be named in the Aet, Htil) to hold theír whices for tive yoars; after that profion the apjulntments reverted the the llreetors, bint were sulyject totheapprobatiou of the ('rown. Every. thing In the company's corresponcleace with Intiar relathig turivil and military affairs wis (i) le falil inefore the Guveramont. No jurman in the wrviee of the King or of the Company night receive presenta, nul] the Governor (feneral, the menaruble det the charter of the Vith India ('onfrang was conuphetely sulverterl, und the govermurbit of lada pasarel mainly into the himuls of the minlsters of the ('rosen. The clifer approhation ur sumetion, but who lia vertheless trow, hy inthorlty of an Act of Parliatuent. lifge silarien frim fis exclompur. Nithen is meqsire atold lus justithed only by mireme neresalty athel by brithant alloress, anilit was ob sides. Warp'l llanthex was the tirat Gove. erbor Geberul: Barwell, Claveriug, Monma, and Philip Franct were the four Counclllors. "W. E. II. Lecky, IIiat. of Eing. in the 18th fin. 8ury. ch. 18 (c. 8).

Aleon IN: J. Mili, Itist. of Britioh Imici, he 4, rA. ${ }^{\prime}(r, 8)$.
A. D. 1773-8785.-The Firat Enelimh Gov-ermor-Geseral. - Adminiatration of Warren Hastingt. Ezecution of Nancomar. - The Rohille War. - Amestation of Benares. Treatment of the Begums of Oudh.-"Jhr Governor. Gemeral was but at once the putentlal pernonagg he las slace become. The nurepsoty of ruling liy a Dietator (a dietator on the wiol, thangh responalhle to onperlors at home) litul not Fet lecome abvlons: and the Covernor divmral hal no superfority In comnell, except the rasting vote in cave of all symal dlvinion. Whether hir conhi govern or not ilypenied ehlety on whethre he had a party of two in the council. Twornt of the four, wlith his own cantling vote, were emongh; and without $\mathrm{lt}_{\text {, he whe not mully gor. }}$ ermor. This is not the place In whilch to fiollow the himtory of the first general coumill anilis factlons, apart from the consequences (o) Irritish interests. It numt anffice to eny that at the outmit. three ont of four of the councll (aull thome the new oflloinls frum Englaml) were ojpmand en llastings. It las Inen relinted that tire intornal admalnatration of Derugal under Clive's 'fouble system' was managed liy the Nalolis primeminlster. Tinis fimetinimary hawl a malary of 100,0001 . 3 yenr, aad cujuyerl a ligh dignity and Immense gower. One mant who Hopiritl til hold the otlice in Clive's time was the grent litiolion. Ninncutnar. coninent in Englisheyou fur his wealtionai hls abilithon, and mueh more in native extimution for him santity na a Bralmin, and hila almost unbounded mexlal power. . . . The Maharajah Nubeommr was a groat meomidel there is no donbt of that; and his intrigues, supported by forgeries, were so tiagrant ns to preveat lils appuintment to the promisralip under the Naboh. Sieh viees were lews alious In Ibengal than almost anywhere eive; bust they were Inconvenient, ns well as dixgrasthin. to the Britlsh; and this was the reason why (live wet ashle Numeommr, uni appointed lis rlat rompettor, Mohommeed Reza Khan, though be was higliyy roluctant to piace the HIgheest ofliwe in bengal itn the lhames of a Mustulumin. This Mussuiman monimistered htairs for w.vent yars before llastings lxerame Governor-GeHernl: and lie siso had the elange of the infint Jithib after surujah inwla dind. We have sela ham dis. sulistiefi the Dlrectors were with the privinta of their lbengal domindons. Nuncomar filanteal his agablis everywhere: and in lanalom espretally Hastinen for urrext the grout Mussishaman, and ebritafy who ixforigerf (os him, nind tor hat what incontar had tos may againat him: The (Goverteor (benera) olx-yed the order mol male ton puanshed. ant Siancontar lanteri liawtime an Une tioversurs at the first thrn of his fortunes That turn wns when the majority of the. conn (i) Were ajposeri to the (foveruor it neral. aad reudered hint he!pless in his offere, and

INDIA, 1783-1785.

INDIA, 17i3-1785.

Numomar then presented hlmarif, with wilfora of crolence to prove all manuer of inemomis umi hanghty; the combile were tormpenthous. Il int the apinhag of the Eiogilsh In Ihergat wna wlit blm: nnd Numeamar wan the greatent entive juthe rumitry, vaited) by the ('onsicll, amil peoneten) to him. Folled! tis the ('ouncll, Ilastlnga liat re. matre tit the suprome (ionirt lof whleh sir filijah Inipry wen the ('hief Justlier). Ile causerl Dinuermar fol Ine arrosteyl on a charge Jorought ar imanimfors. Afler a lang trial for an of frreve which apparail vary sigght to langules:
 guilt ly a jury of Engllalamen, and comdrumend Rivir in Jrulia, eh. y.-"It thay jnerlapm le sulel that ma trial has Invol mo oftels trimo over again freit wass, us thes coldorateol jorecerling. furlate the conirme of a contury It lias Jreen mumfe che theline of liloturical, jmiltical, and hiographl.

 It hati firmad the nrowed busia of a mathoin in mut have wifphad leatilly, thought Indirvediy, Whth thome who derchiod to hopench the (hower. art fir turn. It gave rime to rumourn of a diark rheliria of mime contemiporary Fughloh jwillt]. cials, Very recepaly sle Jamees Ntiphen, after anbiowthry the whole cmae to exact wrothy very dorument and every finet bearling ujom this chatler whth enxious attention. loses jrosmuneral julgment derlariug that Xinnermaris trial wiss jurfectly falr. that llastinga laul anthing on do "tho the prowecution, and that at the tlme thare wis nur wirt of comsjoltury ur understanim

 (1) It. Sublilug ran Ine more masterly ar more effertive than the bue lach rimplowed hyis str James thim tiol rathons iffert which the conemales of Ifas-duor nitarks, and whels liave arver before laxen an sigurnenty bittormi if reply. . . . It tuay athel a clarge that has frumerence of llastagis live invinhar traditlong regarilisg hime fir more for wive jublitical transurdlons, whlebls are Jitile that hare here. There la roally mathage to prowe that he hat anythone to don with the promse.

 athe iv neceractily le wring, bis demonistas whele there lo te reas comelusive.
(Int the IHt'm vlew, wine truaterl Itu acrination of a con. sjlfa's bet wien Itijney and Ilanilnge for tie uly moniow of millid juforf. Whether llamelinge, falme and maligmant ncelsutiona, lecame uware and butif lowe In self defobere of the fort that has chilon fir fursery, Is it different guestions, ujw'r forthemalos. "-SIr A. livall. Ilierron Ilfontinge hujo of his whale ultulniatrution more elerejly talued the reputation of llantinges tha's the trugerly of Xuncomar.' I whillar remark was temife ly Wililam Wiltwretarere. The ment girmai

 Sir Blijah Imany

Imper. In the jresent lay, Is kiman thi linelish jurojile In groneral aniy libenilas, In hla resesy of Warren Ihastliges. It las the Towe sine defferies drink himself to death las the Towre.' 'Injuy, sltilng as a julge, jut

 1. ujein the follout cobshaleritlon of the whole suljfert, and, in partlenlar. of mula eviderne gramalfather's frlond nlas, und there are fow lit perams. I was, tourewier listato forget mach jermans. I Was, touremwer, hisanderevor In ofller.

 ute the splemberar of the merviers whleh lie rett.

 cincut gromble the tralitional latrol which the cllort were ramogh lulirind a man's uanae wita

 Irish than Suncomar, athl that langey in partlen. fulhlerome tes was combitible with hivjaty. In intruthon to favome the primiter meverythlig that wins ronslstern wils jubtler: Wivlolug us I did] that the ficits misht tartu ont favomather far mire thit the exerontion of mat jurpane han me far that every worl bif thls ls abondutely true mond ing uttenthon tu the suhject was the giaring cona the state Trials and bls chatwier as domeriluad

INDIA, :778-1706.

Warwe Mawing.
INDIA, 1772-1785.
by Lond Macaulay. There for ant word in his cumming-up of whleh I slaculle have been couamed had I mald it myself, nod all my atuily of the cuse has not sugmentiof to mea ataghi, obcerviction In Nuncommr'n favour whe'h la suit notloed by Impey. As th the verdict, I think that there was ample evidence to suppors It. Whether It wau In fact eorrect in a point on Which it is Impuedhe for me to give an unatuall.
 juige deexiselly of the crealt due to lhe wis. nemeen, anil nit lolo not unilementl arme part if the exhlble "-J. F. Huphem. The Nory if Niva ammar, mp. 2-8, 140-3ni.-"Bir John strachey, In hin wiork on Ilinatingn and the thidilla Wir, examinen in sletall sue of the chlef clameres made againxt the comiluct of Warren Jlantingn was dropuens by burke noil the managers and was therefure nut une if the lenues triat at the: Imprachmeut: lut It was, In apite of this fact. oue of the maith aceumations trgerl ngalast tha Governur Geltural In Maenulay's famons emany Marmulny, fillowing James Bili, arcusen Warrin llastloge if having hirevt out an Einglista amyy to exterminnte what Burke culled 'the bravent. the mant bomouralder and generoun nution in earth.' Acerriting til Macunlay, the Vlaler of Oudin cuveted the lemhilla country, but was mot atrong phomgh ter take It fir himaelf. AeriniIngly, lie gehll diwn furty lakhe of mipees to lejp tumerike dowia and melize him proy. . Nir Julith Strachery mhews beycuil a nlialluw of dimlit that the whiste story In a dellowlin.

- The Fiugilah army wam not hifeel out ly lian. tings for tile dentrinethn of the shichillas; the lus. fillfas, demerilowl loy llurke as belongtug $u_{1}$ the brivest, the ntoat hummable anil generous ma then un carth. Were no mation at all, but a compinratlecty manil luxly uf cruel and rapaclaus Afginn milsernturers, whe hat impowerl thile for elgn mile ull un unwiliting Hindivo puppulation: and the stury of thelr destructlon In fiettions.

The mirth west angle uf the great atrif of plain which follows the course of the Gangurs was pexsewerl ly a clan whle hafty yoary before lised lwein a mere funul uf Afghan nerechariow. but which wis now lx.ginning to mettle down ne the fluhillins. It must never las furgotern that the Ruliflas were an nure the lultalitumts of Bohithianid than wire the Nurnuns tify ymars after the (ondurex the Inimbitants uf Einchaul.

3 Bnt the fart that the rorner of wint &wo. graphically was cur harrior Ntate was hiff hy Ihulalkhand an wedl an whith free frome the Madirattas. Il onee It Ine athe the key pote of Warran denere usalive the Malimitas. In the year lis!.

 tinge reconraged the Vialer nad the Buhilia chlefn to make an alliance. under whicla tho by atd if the Vizler, the Vizier chltatining fir anch mastatance forty lakhe, that in, he cionpievil the foluillus and the Vizier, for defence purpuses, into nae barter- Athue. otherval thite treaty, all onf the lohilixa hal Tahapplly foe them, they coulh tot iven wril tempeaplen form, they coull tue realst the Tmpration to break falith" They folnind the Mabrattion agalnet Guth, and It wun after thin to the Vizter is expeling theris from lanhilh hand "Inmend of extermianting the lididilias, be helpert nuake a warturechan, but one gellerathm felpuverl from a "free conigany." revinow the Ganges and relesue from thelr grip the hand ther
 - Wir Jobn Nirachey. Mintinge and the lowhilisa -
"The year 1 isi openet fir I lantlugn un a truationd era uf dagarra, dilileultles. and distrews thai dar Ali wain raging lin the c'urnatle, foxdilurid ami Crumac were atill Haphtlixy the Maralhas, mad Frunch fieves were crulsing In the liay of is, mail

It was no tlme fur fanaling upm trifing was tis le sarial Among other minive if sup. ply, he turueal to the lajah of Bamanam fur limp ares). ('lenit singh was the gramjus.ll if an all venturer. who had omsied hif own gastrin and protectur frum the horishlp, of the dhatrict कo nmmed. In lisis, hin hirf haul bwen tranmfermel by trinty from the Nawili of (Oitlh to the Cinm: Frund tu all them whth un "1 and moncy in tum
 - nad two thousand horee was the glunit which Hastinge lual dermandel if him lil lime io spite if the revenure of half-a-milltom. of fir grent wealtiontired up In hin private cuthore, whed of the npleuilld nhow whiteh ho always manie in pabile, the lajuh plealed poverty, aind put inf compliamere with the demands of his liese hat

Cloath Nligh had repeatedty deriayin) the innyment of hits ardinary trlouke: hialuxli guan whine was larger than the furte whith lisatimes Gome warlike furpose, and Hawilign' atents or cused ham of seerre plattings wlah ther Thuib Begums at Falzalmul. The Itajala, In fart. like n shrewil, melf seeking Illmilu, who waiting upan clrcumatances, whitch at that tims Inviend it for liss Engidsle nelgithourm. The Marathas, the Frunch, or some other power might wer roliert hinn frum the yoke of a ruler whan restraineld his "malition. mulleretunes blan in the date if pireme
 It has ofton lowell argueyl that, Ia his storn drat ings with the Jenjuh of Bhanaras, Bawhinge was lupirdiend hy madice and a deselre for riverige thit the silsw parme verrille of the llatwe if exnmple of a contumachine vansal, whiner no til thome whelo surnounders the Engslasis in Indis I havy tine would tearit the la jall to olay urilera, nad help Inctimesa to till hils own trasury witt the sinewn of war.

Chalt simgh had arts willech In Fiasterm crometriess paphe of ati classen emplay against each cther willupta a iluoh. He hal mint Ilastlogs a pesce offrofige of two remervel it for the C'onpmay's use. I'riwntrs Iuc receiverid an oflire uf twenty laklan fur tine publive mervice. But llastlogn was In mut mext fit further compromioe in evadion of hls furmes demande. He would be matiofiel wheh nothing ime than hatr atmilitoa in quittance of all dues. In Alty, 1781, to met out, whith Wheoler'a concurrewe, for the Pajah's caplial. . Trivellag. an he prefermed to do, whit a amall eccort ant ins Hitte paradis as pooible, he arrived on the leth Auruet at the propulous and stately ctiy. tha hla way thither, At Buxar, the recumat Rinjah hail come to meet him. With a lapge retlaue, In the hope of enftening the heart of the great Lini sablh. He even thit his turban on llatioge lap. .' With the haughtiness of an maelent Ruman, Hatioge deetiaed his prayer for a pri. vate interrlew. On the day after his arrival at ilhanra, the Ooreranp (benern! forwaniell to Chale singh a paper statiog the grounde of complaint arainat him. And demandifg an explana. thrse esch point. The Rajahin answer memed in liastinge 'so offenalve in atyle abd unaalisfar. Luly $1: 1$ subntance: ' it was fufl, in fact, of such tmaspanent, or, as Lavel Thurliuw afterwaris callet thein, 'Impurtent" Palselowntim, that the Gorernir deneral lawued ordero for placing the Rajsh undes arrent. Early the next morning, Chalt singh was quietly arrostexl it his nwn pal are. . . Heanwhile him armerl retalners were ficking Into the elty from his atrong rastle of Kumnagar, on the oppwaite bank. Mxing with the prpulace, they provoked a tumult, in which the twocmupanlea of Bepora guarling the pris. onir wery rut tu pirces. With unlumbed muskets anif empty fouehen-for the amnounition hmil bren forgiltell - the pmor men fell like atherp befone their hutchers. Two move compranies, th were terarly annifilatell the nartuw streets. Were tearly annilhllatell. Imurigg the limult Chalt singh quietly sllpperi out of the palace, neath and a rope of turbana into a bisat be. nenth, ant I croweryl in anfety to Riamnagar.

INDIA, 1780-1789.

It chatit Sighl's followers had not slaned betimes their master's flyght acruss the river. Ilantinge. With his lund of thriy Eingllshmen and afty Arpeys, midght have palil very deariy for the anden milscarrlage of his plans. But the rahHe if Bauaras had no lemere, and triops from the uennst gartimona were already marching to hie rawille . Aniong the first whol reacheil him whs the gallant Popham, bringing wlith him ewiuch of Neptemier forind Popham strong exwing to "prell a rampaign, which speedily avengel the slamglitery at Honaras ani Rhaniniatrom of rivhly instings lack Into the full thic of "Bliflgarih on the anccess. . The cap. the brief livi brilitant cand November, elowed amounthg to fition (000), wan at. The lonety, among the cuptors: ond wan at once drvitet chanere of nuplors; and Hastlugs bont bls ouly pense of Chate staghg his trensury at the exmainstil the Comph. Ile consollerl himmelf anit doulting the tribute winp ous hiv mephew, and more surewasful in wremplishing sure. IIC was of hiv jummey up the country Wiarern Hespingn, the country: -1. J. Trotter, the Pr gulus or Prlucemes of Falzabod wichi by ond ulher State is ing from lettern, Despatehem numt if the Govimaneut of the Foreign leppurt. Furferl liaves nu shedut of India.' ed. by G. W. 3-12 12 ves no shadow of remsonshte doubt.

In plain truth, the Begums, through their Minie then, the eunuchas hail leviel war both a gainat the Company and their own kinmmen and grineres. the new Wazlr of Oudh. 8ome Jear before, When the Pruacta faction ruled in Calcutta, there fuilea, the wilow and the mither of Shufa, hal jolned with the Britioh Areat in moblog the new Wazlr, A mof wil-fauth, of nearly all the reh treaure which his father hal stored up in Faiznbad. Ilmatings molemniy protented up in Fainati. Thamenction wheh he was piwerlow to prevent. and thin Ja zept thelr holl upmon the treasure. ani therir Jaghire, or milliary defa, which mught by rights to have lapmell to the new Wazir Seanwhlle Anaf. bul-flaula had to govern an be twent crulht. with an enipty treasury, and an ar. my mulloriny for ampera of pay. At late, with the anppremelon of the llenaremy revnlt, It eevmed to Ilatings suld the Wizalr that the time hed come for mauming the Jaghire, and making the llegume diagorge their ill. gatten wealth. If accoritance with the Treaty of Chunar, both thee wit wate carricd 1131 by the Wazir's orders. with juat emough of cumpuiblon to gite Hastinga: enemles a hande for the shander and miarepre. cratations which lent mo ernel a polat to Shert. danis fazzling orntory, and to one of the moet menthing prasages In Macanhay's most popular eat men may stlit hold carver almust whleh honon all the may atill holl difererat npiniona. But on all the welghthr lasura here mentlobed there is alut to be no romen for further mulroveray. It that Hastings minnile to contend, for lamtance help in extes agreev, fir a handsome bribe, to helpin externamating the lunowent people of Nandiklain! that lue prompleal Impey io murder blm to fasten; funt anty desire for plunder ted that he fasteng a quarric) upous (lonlt Elagh; or to mol the Whalren nw the bulth Wiazir io a plot cecural to ber undur manther of vast property mally guarantered hiver a molemon compunet. 'for-- L. J. Trobter, llitren (avernment of Bengal.'" Lera (IIratuinuter ther hirfinge and his libol.
dimo in: W. M. Turrent isol).
thome are nime by it Thrrens, Bimpire in doia: Idminiafrulion of Warrin Clamtingersest. Tha 14. ind r. 2. A. D.

Hyder All isecond Mynere wernd war with hlant aurcrasecond Mynore Warl, -.' The bril.
 Frencll hilladistan at lhe lwalnning of the war nathons in that comutry lidin inetween the two nathons in thut comutry lmpmevhle, but it was still in the jower of the fromel th Athmulate the hostilly of the native princes, aut the ablewt of all these. Hyder Mil, the great ruler of Mymore. was once mire fil the Helti. Nome his triumph over the Englinhl, In 1:689, he hal acquired nuluch addillonal territory frum the Malirat tana. Ihe hami mmenarly strengiluencil him nilltary furres, loth In numikera nat dinetpline.

Fir mome yrars he showed no wlish t" glarrel will, the Einglish, hut whin a Malimatta clitef Invailed his terrltory they refused to glve him the ansiatanee they wirre bound by the express terma of the treaty of 1769 to afront. they rejected or evaded more than one sulmeegreat proposal of allance, and they pursued a native policy in some lastances hes. tile to his interent. As a great native soverelga.

too, he had no whsh to see the balnnce of power astablished by the rivalry between the British and French destroged. Mysore was swarm. lng witi French ailventurers. The condiltion of Europe made It scureely possible that Engiand couid send any fresh forces, and Hyder Ail imi acquilred a strength which nppeared lrresistible. Ominons rimours passed over the land towaris the efose of 1779 , but they were iittle hecided, and no serions preparutions had been made, when In Jniy. 1780 , the storm suddeniy burst. At the liead of nn army of at least 00,000 men. includIng 20,000 horstmen, 100 cannon, many Eiropean oftheers and soliters, nod crowds of desperate adventurers from uii pirts of India, Ilyiur Ail deseendel upon the Carnatic and devastated a vast tract of eonntry ronnd Madras. Inny forts and towns were invested, ciptured, or surrendered The Nabob and some of his principal otheers uctod witingross treaciery or cowardicer, aud in spite of the devastations untive sympathies were strongiy with the involers. Jatras was for a time in lmminent danger. A few furts eominimuled by Britlsh otheers hedi out raliantiy, but the Euglisin had only two considerabic bomies of men, commanded respeetively by Colonel Baliie nnd by Sir Hector Munro, in the tield. They eudeavoured to effeet a junctiou, but IIyder surcecded lo attneking separateiy the small army of Colonci Balifie, consisting of rutier more than 3,700 men, and it was totnily defeated [September 10], 2,000 men being left on the fleld. Mniro oniy saved himself from a slmilar fate by a raphl retreat, abandoning hils baggage, nad minch of his ammunition. Arcot, whieh wis the capital of the Nabob, and which contained vast mifitary stores, was besieged for six weeks, and surreuidred in the beginning of November. Felore, Wandewasi, Permacoil, and Chingliput, four of the cinlef stronghoids in the Camatic, were luvested. A French fleet whth French troops was diaily expected, and it appeared ainost certain that the British power wouid be extingulsited in Dadras, if not in the whole of Hindostan. It wis saved by the energy of the Governor.Generul, Wirren Hastings, who, by extruorllnary efforts, collected a large body of Sepoys and a few Enropeans in Beugal, and sent them with great rapidity to Dadras, under the cominnnd of Sir Eyre Coote, who had proved limself twenty years before scarceiy second in mititary genina to Ciive himself. I do not propose to reinte hidetail the long nnd taugied story of the war that followed.

It is suithcient to ay that Coote soon found himself nt the head of about $7,200 \mathrm{men}$, of whom 1,400 were Europeans; that he succeeded in relleving Wandewnsi, mud obifging IIyder All to abandon for the preseut the siege of Felore; tiat the Freneh theet, which arrived off the coast In Janunry, 1781, was found to contuln no troops, nnd tiait on July 1, 1781, Coote, with an army of about $8,000 \mathrm{mr}$ n, totally defeated forces at least clght times us numerous, commanded by Ilyder himself, In the great buttle of Porto Nowo. . . . The wnr raged over the Carnatic, over Tunjore, in the Dutch settiements to the soutir of Tanjore, on tice opposite Malabar coast, and on the coast of Ceylon, while at the same tlme another anl lndependent struggle was procereding with the Mahrattas. . . The coffers at Caicutta were nenriy empty, and it was in order to replenlsh them that IIastings committed some of the acts which were afterwards the subjects of his Impeachinent.
By the sklll and dar $\ln y$ of a few nble men, of whom Ilastings, Coote Iunro. and Lord Matartney werc the most promInent, the storm was weathered. Hyurr . It died in December, 1782, uhout four months le: fore Sir Eyre Coote, The pence of 1780 withdrew France and Hollaud from the contest, and towards the close of $1783, \mathrm{Ti}_{\mathrm{i}} \mathrm{j} \mathrm{oo}$, the son of Ifyder All. consented to negotiate a pence, whids wins signed in the foliowing Diareh. Its trms were n mutual restoration of nif conquests, and In this, as $\ln 80$ many other great wars, ne the? of the contending partles gainei $n$ single ast vantage by nli the bloodshed, the experinliture, the desolation, nud the misury of $n$ sitruatile of nearly four veurs,"- W. E. II. Lecky, Mixt. of Eing. in the 18th Coutury, ch. 14 (r. S)$\therefore$ The centre and heart of the English power lay In Benca!, which the war never reneled at all, nud whild was governed by a man of rare talent mui organizing eapucity: No Angio fuifan goverument of that time couill earry on a cam. paign ly war ioans, as in Europe: the cont had to be provitied ant of revenue, or by repuiring subsidies from ailied iative rulers; and it was Ibengal that furnisined not only the money and the men. but also the cinef political direction and military fadership whied surmounted the dithculties nom repairen the calamitles of the Englisin in the western and sonthern I'residen. cies. Iull when at last the Daruthus made penee, when IIyder Ail died, and Suffren, with ult his conrage and genius, could not master the Engtish flect in the Bay of Bengal, there could be no doult that the war hud proved the strugth of the English position ln India, had tested the flrmeses of lits foundation.

Wlth the termination of this war ended the oniy perioul in the long contest between Enginnd and the native powers, during which our position in India was for a tlme seriousiy jeopardel. That the Eng. lish dominlon emerged from this prolonged struggle uninjured, thougin not unshak. n. is & resuit due to the poiticai Intrepidity of Warren Hastings. . Hastings had no aristocratic con. nexions or purliamentary intluence at a time when the great familles und the llonse of Commons hedd immense power; he was surrounded by cnemies in his own Councfl; nnd his immeliate hasters, the East India Company, gave him very filuctuating support. Fiercely oppowd by his own eoifengucs, and rery ill obeyed by the suborlinate Presldencles, he liad to minintain the Company's conmercial estabishments, and at the same tlme to find money for carrying on distant and lmpolitic wars in which he had been invoived hr biunders at Madras or lombar. These funds he had beell expected to pronde ont of current revennes. after buying nmides. patching the merchandise on w-inich the conpany's hone dividends depended: for the re source of raising public foans, so frecily uscuin Engiami, was not avaiabie to him. lle was thiss incritabiy driven to the finaucind trinsac tions, at Benures and Lacknow, that were now se bitterly stigmutized as crimes by nien who made no alhwance for a prerilous situation in a dis tant land, or for the Weigit of enorinous atational interests committed to the charge of the one nam capable of sustaining them. Wien tho storm find blown over in India, nind he ind piloted l.is vessel lato caim water, he was saldrified with little or no lesitation to purty exigeacies la England; the Mlnistry wonld have recalled hila; they eonsented to hls Impeaehment; they left him to be balted by the Upposition and to be ruiaed by the law's delay, by the lneredible procrastinution and the obsolete formalltles of $n$ seven y'ars' trinl before the IIouse of Lorls. " Sir A. Lyall, Rise of the Britiah Dominion in Intlit, ch. 11, sect. 2.

Also in: Meer IIusseln All Kban Klrmanl, Mixt. of Hylur Faik, ch, 2\%-31.-G. B. Malleson, Dheinime liatlles of frdia, ch. N.-L. B. Bowring, Muidar Ali anel Tipe Sulten, ch. 14-15.
A. D, 1785-1793.-State of India.-Extent of English rule.-Administration of Lord Cornwallis, - War with Tippoo Saib (Third Mysore War). - The "Permanent Settlement" of Land Revenue In Bengal, and its fruit. -Wien Warren IIastings left lundia, the Mogul Enpice was simply the planntom of a name. The warlike tribes of the north-west, Slkbs, Pijpoots, Jats, were henceforth Independent; but the Rohillas of the north-enst had been sub. daed and almost exterminated. Of the three greatest Loolnalis or vice royaltics of the Mognd eapire, at one tlme practleally ladepeadent, that of Bengill lasa wholly disappeared, those of Oule and the Deckan had sunk into dependenee on af foreign power, were maintained by the aid of forrign mureenaries. The only two native powers that remained wers, the labrattus, and the newly-rlsen Mussulnian dyansty of Mysore. The former were still divided between the grent chieftaincies of the I'silowa, Seindia, IIolkar, the Guicowar, and the Boslas of Berar. But the supremacy of the Peshwa was on the wane; that of Sindia, on the contrary, In the ameculant. seriudia ruled In the north: he had possession of the emprorur's person, of IVelli, the oll Mussul. maa eapitill. In the sonth, Ifyder Ali and Tip. por [sill of Ilyder All, whom he had sueceeded ia 1 is? $]$, sultin of IIrsore, had attalned to remarkable power. Tbey were dangerons to the Milarutas, dangerons to the Vizan, dangerous, lastly, to the English. But the rise of the lastaaaked power was tbe great event of the period.

They had won for themselves the thiree great proviuces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissn, besiles lumares, - formlug a harge compaet mass of teritory to the north enst. They hall, farther down the cast coast, the provlnee of the Northeril Cirears, and farther stlll, the jagheer [land grimt], of Madras; on the west, agaln, a large stretch of territory at the southern extremlty of the mainsula. The two Mussulman soverelgns of coule and Iyderabud were their dependent allies: thes admlnistered the eountry of the Sarinh of the C'arnatle, besides loving hosts of samaller linteutates under their protection. The appuinted suceessur to IInstlngs was Lord Micarthey. . . Ife lost his othec, however, ly levitatiag to accept it, and golng to Enghnd to urye conditions. . The great mllitary event of Lonl (ornwalis's government was the third My. Lorl Cornwalis's government was the thind My.
sore war. l: began with some disputes about sore war. l: began with some disputes about the petty laija of Cherika, from whonn the Englisht bad farmerl the customs of Tellleherry, and thkea, in seeurity for advances, a district ealled Randaterra, anil ly Tippon's attack upon the lines of the Raja of Travancore, an ally of the English, coasisting of a dltch, wall, and other defences, on an extent of about thirty miles. Tippoo was, bowever, repelled wlth great daghter in an attack on the town (1780), Hear.
$\operatorname{lng} t^{1}$ Is, Lord Cormwallis at once catered Into treathes with the Nlaam nud the Peshwa for a julnt war upon Mysore; nll new conquests to be equally dlvided, all Tlppoo's own conquests from the eontracting powers to le restored. After a first Ineonclusive ennipalgn, in whleli, notwlthstanding the skill of General Meadows, the advantage rither remalaed to Tippoo, who, amongst other things, gave a deelded cheek to Colonel Floyd ( $1 ; 90$ ), Lord Cornwallis took the eommaml in person, and earrled Bnogalore by tremendons caraire of the both pirtles, but a tremendons carange of the besleged. IIowever, so wretched lad leen the English preparatlons, that, the cattle leing redued to skeletons, and scarcely able to nove their own welght, Lord Cornwallis, after advancing to besiege Serlngapatam, was foreed to retreat and to destroy the whole of his batteriag train and otber equip. ments; whilst Gencral A bererombie, who was edvaneing ln the sume direction from the Misa. bur const, had to do the same (1791). A force of Mahrattas eame hu, well appointed and well proviled, hint too late to avert these dlasisters. The next eampalen was more suceessfinl. It began by the taking of severall of the bill-forts forming the western barrice of Mysore.

On the 5th Fub.
1702, however, Lord Cormwallis appeareal before Seringajatam, sitnated ln an island formed by the Canvery: the fort anal outworks were provided whith 300 pleces of eanmon; the fortified camp, ontslde the river, by six redoubts. witl more than 100 pieces of henvy artllery. Tippoo's army eonsisted of 6,000 envalry and $50,000 \mathrm{ln}$ fantry, hlmself commanling. This first siege, which ls celebrated In Indian warfure, eontinued with complete suceess on the English side till the $24 t b$. 10,000 subjects of Coorg, whom Tippoo had enlisted by force, deserted. It last, when the whole island was carried und all preparations made for the sioge, Tippos made' peace. The Eaglish allies had such eonfidence in Lord Cornwallis. that they left him eutire diseretion us to the terms. They were,-that Tippooshould give up half of his territory, pay a large sum for war expenses, mid glve up two of his sons as hostages. The eeded territory was divided between the allies, the Compimy obtaining a large strip of the lababir const, strip of the Nalabiar comst, extending eqsitward to the Carnatic. . Mcanwhile, on the break. lng out of wat between England and the Freneh Repulsic, the French settlements in India were all again annesed ( 1792 ). Lord Cornwallis now ipplied himself to questlons of Internal government. Properly speaking, there Was no Fingilsh Goveranent as yet. Mr. Kage, the brilliant apologlst of the Eust India Company, says, of Lord Cornwallis, that 'he grath. ered up the seatterd frimgents of governinent whieh he found, and reduced theni to one comproleusive system." Ife organlzed the arl. minlstration of criminul justlee, reorganlzed the pollce. Ile separated the eollectlon of the revenues from the administration of justlee, orgnaizlag civil justice ln turn. . . . He next proceeded to organize the flananal system of the 'Pompany's govermment. - IIence the famomst Permanent Settlement of Lord Cormwallis(?2nd Mareh, 1793). "-1. M1. Ludlow, Britia,h I!dia, lect. $9(c .1)$.- 'In $1 \% 43$ the so-called Pernainent Settlement of the Land Revenue was lntroliticen. We found la lengal, when we sneceeded to

INDIA, 1785-1793.

The "Permanent Settlement."

INDIA, 1785-1795.

Zemindars (or Zamindars - see, also, Talce dars], who collected the land revenue and the taxes, and we continued to employ them. As a matter of convenience and expediency, hut not of right, the oftice of zemindar was often hered ltary. The zemindars had never been in any sense the owners of the land, but it was supposed hy Lord Cornwalils and the English rulers of the timc that it would be an excellent thing for Bengal to have a class of landiords somethlng like those of England; the zemlndars were the only people that seemed avallable for the purpose, and they were declared to be the proprietors of the land. It was by no means intended that injustice should thus be done to others. Exceptligg the State, there was only one great class, that of the ryots or actual cultivators, whlch, accordlng to immemoriai custom, could be held to possess permanent rights in the land. The exlstence of those rights was recognlsed, and, as it was supposed, guarded hy the law.

There has been much disputo as to the exact nature of the rights given to the zemindars, hut every one agrecs that it was not the Intention of the authors of the Permanent Settlement to contliscate anything which, according to the customs of the country, had belonged to the cultivators. The right of property given to the zemi lars was a portion of those rights whlch had always been exerelsed hy the State, and of which the State was at llberty to dispose; it was not intended that wey should recelve anythlng else. The land revenue, representing the share of the produce or rental to whlch the State was entitled, was ixed in perpetulty. Thic ryots were to contlnue to hold their lands permanently at the 'rates estahllshed in the purgunnah;' when the amount of these rates was disputed it was to be settled by the courts: solong as rents at those rates were paill, the ryot could not be evlcted. The Intention was to secure to the ryot fixlty of tenure aud fixity of rent. Unfortunately, these rights were only secured upon paper. . . . The consequences at the present time are these - Even If it he assumed that the share of the rent which the State can wisely take is smaller than the shnre whlch any Government, Natlve or English, has ever taken or proposed to take in Indla, the amount now received hy the State from the land $\ln$ Bengai must be held to fall short of what it might be lir a sum that can hardly be icss than $5,000,0$ mil a year; this ls a mollerate computation; prolably the loss is mueh more. This is given away iu return for no service to the State or to the puhlic; the zemindars arc merely the reccivers of rent; with exceptions so rare as to deserve no consideration, they take no part in the improvement of the land, and, until a very few years ago, they thre virtually no share of the piblic burdens. The result of these procer :ings of the last century, to the matnenance of which for ever the faith of the British Government is said to have been pledged, is that the poorer classes in poorer provinces have to make good to the State the mlllions whieh have been thrown awny in Bengal. If thls were ail, it would be had enough, but worse remains to he told. . 'The orlginai lntention of the framers of the Permanent Settlement (I am quoting from Sir George Campleell) was to reeord all rights. The Canoongoes (Dlstrict lieglstrurs) and Putwarees (Village Accountants) were to regith r all holdings, all transfers, all rent-rolls, and all recelpts and psy. ments; and every flve years there was to be filed in the puhlle oflices a complete register of ali land tenures. But the task was a difficult one there was dethy in carrying it out. . . . The putwarees feil Into disuse or became the mere servants of the zemindars; the cancongoes were abollshed. No record of the rights of the ryots and inferior holders was ever made, and cven the quinquennial register of superior rights, Which was maintained for a tlme, fcll into dis: use.' The consequences of the Pcrmanent Settlement did not become immedlately prominent. ... But, as time went on, and populaton and wealth increased, as cultivators were nore readliy found, and custom began to give war to compettion, the positlon of the ryo:s seeame worse and that of the zemindars became stronger. Other clreumstanccs helped the process of eonfiscatlon of the rights of the peasantry.
The confiscation of the rights of the ryots has reached vast proportions. In 1793 the rental left to the zemindars under the Permanent set. tlement, after payment of the land revenue, is supposed not to have exceeded $400,000 \mathrm{i}$; нecord. ing to some estinates lt was less. If the intentions of the Government had been carried out, it was to the ryots that the greater portion of any future inerease in the annual value of the land would have helonged, in those parts at lenst of the province whlch were at that time well eult. vated. It is not possihle to state with condi. dence the present gross anmal rental of the landlorls of Bengal. An lmperfect valuation made some ycars ago showed it to be $13,0 \cdot 00$, , mot It ls now cailed 17,000,0001, hut there can be little douht shat it is much more. Thus, after deducting the land revenuc, which is alwut $3,800,0001$., the net rental has risen from $4(0), 0001$. in the lasic century to more than $13,0,040$, (u)H, at the present tlmc. No portion of this lncrease has heen dre to the action of the zemindars. It bas bean aus te the ladustry of the ryots, to wheor he eie ter part of it rightfuily belonged, to the peaceful pogress of the country, and to the expcaditure of the Statc, an expenditure malnly defrayed from the taxation of pworer provinces. If crer there was an 'unearnet in crement,' it is thls."-Slr J. Strachey, Indin, ket. 12.
Aleo in: J. W. Kaye, The Administration of the Eiat India Co., pt. 2, ch. 2.-J. Mill, Mixt, of Britiah India, bk. 6, cli, 4 (r. 5).-W. S. Seton. Karr, The Marquess Corneallia, ch. 2.-Sir R Temple, James thomanon, eh. 8 .
A. D. 1785-1795. The Impeachment and Trial of Warren Hastings. - Warren ilatings returned to England in the summer of $1=\boldsymbol{i}$, , and met with a distinguished reception. "l tind myself," he wrote to a friend, "every where and universally treateql with cridences, npparent even to my own olscrvation, that 1 joossess the groul opinion of my country." But underneath this superflelal " good opinion" there cxistel a moral feeling which had heen outraged hy the unscrupuions measures of the Governor-General of India, and whlch began soon to speak aluud through tho eloquent lips of Edmund Burke Joined In the movement hy Fox and Sheridan, Burke latd charges before Parllament which forced the House of Commons, in the session of $1 ; 87$ to order the impeaehment of IIastiugs he. fore the Lords. "On the 13th of Fehruary, 1iss, the aittings of the Court commenced. There hare bein spectacies more dazzling to the eye, more gorgeous with jeweilery and cloth of gold, more attractive to grown-up children, than that which was then exhihited at Weatminster; hut, perhaps, there never was a spectacieso well cal. culated to strike a highiy cuitivated, a reflecting, an imaginative mind. Ali the various kinds of interest which beiong to the near and to the distunt, to the present and to the past, were coliected on one spot and in one hour. Ali the tajents and sill the accompilahments which are developed by liberty and elvilisation were now displayed, with every advantage that couid be derived both from co-operation and from contrast. Every step in the proceedings carried the mind either hackWurl, through many trouhied centuries, to the dsys when the foundations of our constitution were laid; or far away, over boundiess seas and deserts, to dusky nations living under strange stars, worshipping strange gods, and writing strange characters fron right to left. The Kigh Court of Parliament was to sit, according to forms handed down from the days of the Piantagenets, on an Englishman accused of exercising tyranny over the iord of the hoiy eity of Bensres, and over the iadies of the princely house of Oude. The place was worthy of such a triai. It was the great hali of Wiiliam Rufus, the hail which had resounded with acelamations at the inauguration of thirty kings, the hall which had witnessed the just sentence of Bacon and the just slsoiution of Somers, the hall wheie the eioquence of Straftord had for a moment a wed and melted a victorious party inflamed with just resentment, the hali where Charics had confronted the lligh Court of Justice with the piacid coursge whieh has haif redeemed bis fame. Neither military nor civil pomp was wanting. The srenues were lined with grenadiers. The streets were kept ciear hy envairy. The peers, robed in gold and ermine, were marshailed by the heraids under Gurter xing-at-arms. The judges in their vestments of state attended to give advice on points of law. Near a hundred and seventy lords, tiree fourths of the Upper House as the lpper House then was, walked in solemn order from their usuai piace of assembiling to the tri. bunal.

The grey old walis were hung with scarlet. The iong galieries were crowded hy an audience such as has rarely exeited the fears or the emulations of an orator. There were gathered together, from ali parts of a great, free. enlightened, and prosperous empire, grace and femnle loveliness, wit and learning, the representatives of every science and of every art. The Serjeants mnde proclamation. Hastings adranced to the lur, and bent his knee. The culprit was indeed not unworthy of that great presence. lle had ruled an extensive and popu. lous country, had made iaws and treaties, liad sent forth armies, had set up and pulied down princes. And in his higit pince be had so borne himself, that ail had feared hin, that most had loved him, and that hatredi itseif couid deny him no title to glory, except virtue. He looked like a great man, and not ilke a had man. . . . His counsei nccompanied him, men ali of whom were nfterwards raised by their talents and learning to the highest posts in their profession, the boid snd strong-minded Law, nfterwards Chief Justice quent Dallas Bench; the more humane and eioquent Dallas, afterwards Chief Justice of the Common Pleas; ar.

Fears later, succeanfi high court the de? : subsequently incains l the .urd Meiville, and Rols. But orice euiprit no Master vocates attracted rumuch otice as the acels ad In the midst in the hiaze of red drapery, a space had been fitted up with green benches and tabies for the Commons. The managers, with Burke at their head, appeared in fuil dress. The collectors of gossip did not fuil to remark that even Fox, generaily so regardiess of his appearanee, had paid to the iliustrious tribunal the compli. ment of wearing a hag and sword. Pitt had refused to be one of the contiuetors of the impeachment ; and his commanding, copious, and sonorous cioquence was wanting to that great muster of various taients. . . The charges and the answers of Hastings were first read. The cere. mony oceupied two witole dnys, and was rendered less tedious than it wouid otherwise have been hy the siiver roice and just emphnsis of Cowper, the eierk of the court, a nenr relation of the amiahie puet. On the third day Rurke rose. Four sittings were oceuple by his opening speech, which was intendel to be n general introduction to ali the chnrges. Witi an exubernnce of thought and a splendiour of dletion, which more than satisfied the highly raised expectation of the audienee, he described the ciaraeter and institutions of the natives of India, reeounted the eireumstances in whieh the Asiatie empire of Britain had originated, and set forth the eonstitution of the Company and of the English presidencies. . When the Court sat ngain, Mr. Fox, assisted by Mr. Grey; ojened the charge respeeting Cheyte Sing, and severai days were spent in reading papers and honring witnesses. The next artiele was that relating to the Prineesses of Oude. The conduct of this part of the case was intrusted to Sheridan. The euriosity of the puhlic to hear him was unbounded. His sparkiling and hirbly tinished deelnmation lasted two days; hut the Ifali was erowded to suffocstion during the whole time. It was said that fifty guincas had been paid for a single tieket. Sheridan, when he coneluderl, contrived, with a knowiedge of stage effeet wilich his father might have envied, to sink haek, as If exhnusted, into the arms of Burke, who hugged iim with the energy of generous admiration. Jume was now far advanced. The session eould not iust mueh longer; and the progress which had been made In the impeachment was not very satisfactory. There were twenty eharges. On two only of these had even the case for the prosecution been hearl: and it wns now a vear since Ifastings had been admitted to hail. The interest taken hy the puhiie in the triai was great when the Court began to sit, and rose to the height when Sheridin spoke on the charge reinting to the Begums. From that time the exeitement went down fast. The speetacle hal lost the attraction of novelty. The great dispiars of rhetoric were over The trial in the Ifali went on languidiy. In the session of 1788, when the procoedings had the interest of novelty, and when the Peers had little other husiness before them, oniy thirty-tive dars were given to the imperehment. In 1789 duriug the whoie sear only seventeen days were given to the case of liastings. . . . At length, in the spring of 1705 , the decision was pronouncenl, near eight years after Hastings hnd heen brourght by the Serjeant-at-arms of the Commons tu tire biar of the Lords. . . Unly twenty-nine Peers voted. Of liese oniy six fonind Ilastiugs guilty on the clunges relating to Cheyte shig anl to the lBegums. On other cimorges, tine inajority ln his favour was still greater. On some he was unanlmonsly absoivel. Ile was then cailend to the lar, was informed from the woolsnek that the Lords had nequltted him, and was solemniy discharged. Ite bow al respeetfully and retired. We have said that the dee fon had been finily expreted. It was also geni raily npproved. It was thought, and not withont renson, that, even if he was guilty, he was stili an lif.used even if he was guilty, he was stili an lil. Insedi man. and that min impachment of elght yenrs was more thitn a suflicient puulshment. It wiss aiso felt that, though, in the ordinary eonrse of eriminal lnw, a difendant ls not ailowed to set of his gomb actions aguinst hifs crimes, a great politlcul canse shouid lee tried on different princljuics, and that onan wito had gowerned an ent. pire durlag thirten yours might have done sonte very reprobousibie things, and yet might be on the whole descrying of rewards abd honours rather than of tine and lmprlsomment. "-Lori] Maceaulay, Hiarren Ifastings (Eiswryss). -.'The triai hanl several beneticlal results. It clearel off a clond of misconceptions, calumnies, exaggera. tions, and false notions generaily on both sides: It fixed and promnigated the staudarl whleh the Enyilsh people would In future Insist upon maintalning la tlacir Iutiun adntinistration : le bound down the Eust India Company to better behaviour; it served asan example and a salntary warning, uull it relieved the mational comsejence. But the attempt to make Ilastings a sucritice und a burnt-offering for the sins of the people: the jrocess of Inuthac him with curses und driving lim away into the wilderness; of stonlng hitn whit revery epithet and metaphor that the Eng. lish h ognage eondi suppiy for heaping leng. inlny on hils head; of keepiug him seven vours under ma limpeachnent thit menaced him with ruin and lnfamy - these were hiots njoon the pros ution and wide alserations from the true course of justire which disfigured the asperet of the trini, distortcel its nim, and had humell to do with bringing it to the lime and imporent cotselnsion that Burke so bitteriy denounced.' - Sir A. Lyall, liarren Ihastings, ch. 0.

Anso is: E. Iburke. Works, r. 8-12.- Speeches of Namuigers and Counael in the Trial of lliarren Ilextiugh, rat. by E. A. Bond.
A. D. 1798-1805. - The administration and imperial policy the Marquis Wellesley.Treaty with the Nizam.- Overthrow and death of Tippoo, Sultan of Mysore.-War with the Mahrattas,-Assaye and Laswari.Territ orial acquisitions. - "The perionl of Nir John Nlore's ruie as Guvernor-Geuernl, from 1703 to ligs [after which he becnme Lord Tejgnmouth], was meventul. In 1798. Lori Slornington, beiter known as the Dargais of Welleskey, arrived in India, already juspired with linjeriai projects whicll were destined to change the map of the country, Dlornington was the friend and favourite of Pitt, from whom he is thought to have derived his far-reaching politleal vision, uad his antipathy to the Freneli name. F'rom the first he laid down as his gulding principle. that the Engiisi must be the one paramount power In the peninsula, and that Native princes could only retian the lasignla if soverelgaty by surrendering their pollthenl Independence. The Inlstory of India slnce fin time has leeen lint the gradnal developunent of thls puiley. which re. celved lts fiulsinhg touch whent Qnen'n Virturia was proclulmed Empress of Indla on the lat of January, 1877 . To frisstrate the possihility of a Freneh Invaslon of Indila, led lyy Nupnioun in persm, was the governing lden of Welieslay's persm, was policy. France at tins tlme, and for many yenrs liter, filled the place afterwurds on cupied lay Russla in the minds of Indian state. men. Nor was the danger m remote as unipht now be thought. French regluments gume lod and overawed the Niznm of IIndiambad. Tar and. diers of Slndhin, the military head of the Marhatta Confederncy, were disciplined and lomb by Frenell adventurios. Tipu suitan of Niswre Farried on a secret correspondence with the French Directorate, niowedi a tree of liburty 10 le pianted In his dominions, and caroiled limislf In a republican eiub as 'Citlan Tlpu.' The in. lands of Dauritlus and Bourlon afforled $n$ convenient half-way rendezvous for Frenel Intritue and for the ascmbling of a und for the assombling of a hostile expectitiou Above all, Napoleon Buonaparte wus then in Egypt, direaning of the congue:ts of Alexamber.
and noinan knew in what diruetion le mi and noinan knew ln what direction lie might turp his ititherto unconguered legions. Weileshey - oncelveel the schente of crushing for cever the "reneh inopes in Asia, by placing hlmself at the head of a great Indim confedirncy. In bawer Bergni, the sword of ciive ump the jovity of Wurren Ihastings had modis the Engiinl pirio mount. Before the evid of mount. Before the end of tive eentury, wur power was consuliduted from tie seuthoul power was consuidiated from the seribount th Benares. high up the Gangetie vailey. . . . in 180], the treaty of incknow malle over to the Ilritish the In iab, or fortile tract betwera the Ganges and the immm, together with lahitk. hand. In sumthern Indin, our possessions were chicliy eontined, hefore Lord Wediesley: to the coast Dist rlcts of Dladras and Bombing. Wedles. ley resolverl to nuke the Brithsh sujrema in far as Dellit in Northern Indin, antl to comply the great powers of the south to enter into anhmorimate relations to the Compauy's goverument. The intrigues of the Natlve prinicrs give him his opjortmuity for carrying out this plan without breach of falth. The time hat arriveri when the Englisin must either become suprome in intia, or lee driven out of it. The Nughat Enupire was eompletely broken up: and the sway lamj fopass rither to the ioral .Huhammainn froveraore of that empire, or to the Ilinitu confocilaralo revere sented by the Mhrhattas, or to the British. lound Wicdiesley dotermined that it sionlit pase to the Iritislı. Ilis work In Nortlrern India was at tirst casy. The treaty of Lueknow in 1wol made us territorial rulers as far as the heart of the pres. ent Vorth.Westarn Provinces, ant] sitablivied our poiticeal Influence In Oudh. Bieynil thowe limits, the northern branches of ti:e llarliattios praetically heids sway, wiltin the pujprot cuppror in their hands. Lord Weilesiey deft than in lutte war (ixue-1804) gave fism an opmortuaity for diealing effectiveiy with their mation as a wione. In Sonthern India, he siw that the Sizam at Indidarabad stiond in norel of his. protec tion, and he converted hitm into a itsefal followe throughout the s.leceeding struggle. Fhe other of Mymudan piswer of the south. Tipus sultan of Mysore, could not be so easlly handlel. Le"d

INDII, 180.51816.

Tellestey resolved to crush him, and had ample nowocation for so doing. The third power of Southern Indla-namely, the Marhatta Confederacy - was so loosely organlzed, that Loml Wellesley seems at frst to have hoped to llve on terms with lt. When several yenrs of ftful al. Hance had convinced hlan that he hat to chonse between the supremacy of the Marhatens or of the Britishi In Southern Indla, he dld not hesp. Late to dechle. Lord Wellesley first addressed hlmself to the weakest of the three southern powrre, the Nizan of Haldan' w. Here he wors. djplomatle success, whleh curned a possible rival into a subservient ally. The Freneli hattalinns at Ilaldnrabad were dlsbariled, and the Nizam lound hlmaelf by treaty not to take uny Eurypun law his. rvlee whthisut the cousent of the Findish Government, -a clanse sluce lubrted in every enragement entered Into witla Sative powrs. Wredesley next turned the whole weight of his resonrcesngainst Tipn, whom Cornwallis had lefented, but not suiflued. Tipuis Intrigues whth the Freuch were lalil hire, and he was given un opportunlty of alherlog to the bew sul, , diarysyatem. On hle refissal, wur was de. clareyl, u:nd Wellesley came down In viccregal state to Dirdnus to organlae the expedition in permin, and to whteh over the conrse of events Une English army marched Into Dlysore fron Inalras, accompauled by a contingent from the Sizam. Another advanced from the western const. Tipu, after a feel)le resistance in the thell. retired Into sermgapatam, mul, when his caplat was storned, Hhal fieliting bravely in the hreach (1G) S). Nince the battle of Plasis! no e"ent m) grestly lupressed the Native immuinatlon as the ribiture of Serlognpatam, whichatwon Sor tienral llarris a peersge, and for WVelieslisy an lrish martuiwate. In dealing with the terriminis of Tipu, Welles?es acted with motemtionThe ceutral portle ormlug the old state of Mysore, was restor, io an infant represcatative of the llinulu P.jas, whom Haidar Ali hat dethronal) the rest of Tlpu's dominion was purthinnoll letween the Nizam, the Narhattis, hoid the Eurlibh. At about the same time, the Karnatic; ur the part of South-Eastern India ruled of the Diwah of Arcot, and also the princinality of litajore, were placed nnder direct I , shai. ministration, thus constltuting the Matris Presideucy almost as It has existed to the present day.

The Marhattas had been the nominal nllies of the Eaglish In both thelr wars wlth Tipu. But they hid not rendered actlve ass.stance, nor Were they secured to the English side as the Nizann nis was. The Marlatta powers nt :his time wrere ive in miabler. The recognised leat of the confederaey was the J 'shwa of Porma, who ruled the hill country of the Westerr ithats, the craille of the Marhatta race. The loy the hursene of Guzerat was annually harried cientril Indi C'entril Indi two military leuiers, Slodhala of Gwalior and Hylkar of Indore, alternately held hajin of Narpure. Towarls the eust, the E. onsla Orisei Aagpur reigned from Berar to the coast of Orissi. W cllesley laboured to bring theme several Marhatia powers wlthln the net of his subslairy Marhatta powers withln the net of his subsldlary Who had bein couseated the nessitles of the Iesliwn, Who had ben $n$ cefeated by IIolkar, and driven as a fugitive into British terrltory, induced him to olgn the treaty of Basseln. By thls he pledged blen the treaty of Basseln. By thls he pledged hlriself to the British to Lold eomniunitations Whth mo other power, European or Native, and granted to us I, istricts for the niaintemanece of a sulshliary force. Thls greatly extended the Engllsli terrltorlul Influence In the Bumbay lresklency. Bat It led to the speund Minflatia war, as nelther slmilila nor the Ihaja of Naspur wonlil thlerate the Peshasa's hetraynl of the Jfarhath hulepronlence. The campuigns which fol. lowed are perhaps the most glorlous in the history of the llitish arms in India. The gatheral plan, and the aleg口ate provision of resumrese, were the to the Xlariguls of Welleste 9 , as also thae lulomituble sulrit whinh refused to minala of Generul (aftorwards Duke of Wellingtom, and Generul (ifterwards Lorel) Lake. Wiflesuley operater in the Decean. where In a few slort thongh it his riceived lese notlee from listarians. Ifre wous pitelard battles at Dliysarla took the cities of [Dillia nat] I Ira. He senttired the Fieneln tropps of sindhiis, and at the sime these stomel forwarid a\& the champion of the Mis. chal Emperor in his lureflatary capital. Before the culd of Isois, luth sindlila and the Bhonn la Raja of Na-jur sued fur peace. Slnulhia cerled all claims to the territory north of the Jmmon and left the blind ohe Finiperor shath Nammone more under Brlish protection. The 13honslit forfelted Orisan to the English, who hidl alremaly occupled it with a thying evhama in 1vois, ant Berar to the fizam, who guined fremh teritury lyevery aft of eompliainance to the British (iovi. crnment. . . The condiwling vars of Welles. ley's ruke ware wropied with sarles of opheritious againot llolkar. Which bronght little crealit on the Brinhsh hime. The disistrons retreat of Coloned Monsum through ('entral India (lanl) reabled memurics of the consention of Warfamm, aud of the dastruction of Colonel Bratlices forer by Inaidar Ali. The repulse of latie iu person at the siege of Bhartpur (Blaurtpori) Is Inemorible as an instance of a British army in India having to turn tuck with its ohject uinecomplished ( woin). taken bll (wart pur was not tiualily taken tll 1 N2\% $^{\circ}$. Lord Wellesler darlag his six rears of ollce carried out nlmost every part of his territorial scheme. In Northerı Inilin, Lard Lake's canplalgns bronglit the Forth-Western provinces (the andent Madhyalesa) ubler MritLs:' mile, together with the cunterly of the inppea comperor. The new Hintrions were manalgaMaten Will those pri vionsly aciphared from the Nawn) Wiazir of omh imo the ' ('reded und ConInlered Provinces. This purtition of Northern Inilia remained till the sikl! wars of i8ttand 184. Rive Is the Punjab."-W. Wi. IIunter, Brisf llist, of the Itricin Popile, ch. 13 .

ALso ix: "W. 11. Maxwell, Life of" the Dinke of H:llington, r, 1, ch. 2-12.-J. M. Wilsun. Memoir of Wellingtru, r.1. ch, Moir of Wellington, r.1, ch. - - . - (i). B. Mallisun, Decinire Buttix of India, rh. 9-10. - W. II. Intom, The Minqueas Wellealey. -J. S. Coton. Mrentatnert Elphintmif, ch. 4 .
A. D. 1805-1816,-Reversal of Lord Wellesley's policy.-Sepoy revolt at Vellore.-Influence established with R Sikjeet Singh and the Sikhs.-Conquest of $n^{2}$, Mauritius, - The Gho: $\Delta \mathrm{a}$ War.-' The retreat of Monsons was uot ooly a dienatrous binw to British prestlge, but rulned for a whlle the reputation of Lord Weliesley. Becauke a Mahratta freebooter had broken loose in Hluduatan, the Ilnme authoritles imag. ined that all the Mahratta powers had risen againat the imperial policy of the GovernorGeneral. Lord Weilesley was recalled from hite pont, and Lord Cornwallis was sent out to take his place, to reverse the policy of his illustrions predecessor, toscuttic out of Western IIIndustan, to restore all tite ceded territorles, to surrender ali the capturell fortresaes, and to abanimn large tracts of country to be plundered and devastated by the Maliratus, as they had been from the days of Sivaji to those n? Wellesley and Lake. Before Lort Cornwallis reached Bengal the poilteal outlook hat brightened.

But Lard Cornwalle was slxty seven years of age, anil hal lost the nerve whlich he had dispiayel in hls wars agalnst Tippu; and he wnuid have lignored the turn of the tide, and persisted in falling hack on the old pollcy of conclliation and non-interventlon, had not death cut short bls career before he had heen ten weeks in the country. Sir George Barlow, a Bengal civilian, ancceeted for a while to the post of Governor. General, as a provisional arrangement. Ile had been a member of Council under both Wellesiey and Carnwaills, gnd he halted between the two. Ile re. fused io restore the conquered territories to Sladia ant the Bloonsia, luit he gave hack the Indore principaity to lloikar, togetber with the captured fortresses. Worst of ail, hic annaled most of the protective treatles wilth the Rajput princes on the ground that they lad deserted the British government during Monson's retrent from Jaswant Rao Ilolkar. For some years the polley nf the Britlsh government was a half-hearted sygtem of non-interventlon. . . . The Malirata princes were ieft to plunder and collect chout (a biackmail extortlon, icvicd by the Mahrattas for a century] in Rajputana, and practlcally to makc war on each other, solong as they respected the territorles of the Britlsh government and lts ailies. . . All thls whilc an under-current of intrigue was at work between Indian courts, which served in the ent to revive wild hopes of getting rid of Britlsh supremacy, and reklncilling the old aspirations for war and rapine. In 1800 the peace of Inila was broken hy an alarm from a very different quarter. In those days India was so remote from the Britsh Isles that the ex. Istence of the British government mainly depended on the loyalty of lts sepoy armles. Suddenly it was dlscovered that the Miulras army was on the brink of matiny. The British authorities at Malras had Introduced an ohnoxlous head-dircss resembing a European hat, In the place of the old time-honoured turban, aud bad, moreover, forbldden the sepoys to appear on parade with earrlings and caste marks. Indla was astuunded ly a revolt of the Madras sepoys at the fortress of Vellore, about eight miles to the westwarl of Arcot.

The garrison at Vellore consisted of alonit 400 Eurupeans and 1,510 sepyss At milnight, without warnlng, the sepoys rose in mutiny. Onc body fred on the European barracks until haif the soldiers were killed ar wounded. Another booiy tired on the houses of the Britist officers, and shot them down as they rusined out to know the cause of the uproar. Dill thle whlie provislons were dlstrihuted amongst the sepoys by the Mysore princes, and the fing nf My are was holsted over the frrtress. Fortunately the news was carried to Arcot, where Colonel Gillesple commaniled: Brtish garrison. Gllesple at once gallopent to Vellare with a tmop of British dragoons and two fild guna. The gates of Vellore were blowa open; the soldlers rusherl $\ln ; 400$ mutinecers wers cut down, and the outloreak was nver. 1807 Lord Minto succereded Barlow as Governur. General. IIe hroke the spell nf non. Interventlen.

Lord Minto's maln work was to kep. Napoleon atd the French ont of Indin. The north-west frontler was stlll vuinerable, lut the Afghans had retred from the F'unjab, and the once famous Runjeet Slugh hat fomaded a sikh klagiom between the limlins and the sutlej. As far as the Britlsh were coneernel, the sikhs formed a barrler agnlast the Afghuns; and kuajeet Singin wha apparently frendly for he hail rufnsed to shelter Jaswant Raw Ilolkar ia lis Hlgit from Lord Lake. But there was uo huns. Ing what Runjeet Slngli might do if the Frrach fonad ticle way to Lalore. To crown the pret. plexity, the Slkh princes nn the Britlsh shle of the rlver Sutiej, who had done homage til the Britlsh goveranient during the campalgus of Lord Lake, were belag conquered hy kumjett Singh, and were appeallng to the Brltish govera. ment for protection. In 1808-9 a young Beagal clvillan, named Ciaries Metcalfe, was sent un a mulssion to Labnre. The work before hinn was difflcult and complleated, and somewhat trving to the nerves. The object was to secure funjeet Singin as a useful ally against the Frinct and Afghans, willst protecting the Slkh wates on the British slice nf the Sutief, namely, Jhind Nabha, and Pathala. IKunjeet Slogh was naturalify disgustel at belng checked by Britisis inter. ference. It was unfai.; he said, for the British tn walt until he had conquered the three states, and then to demand possesslon. Metcalfe cler. rrly dropped the question of justler, and appealed to kunject Singh's self-Interest. By giv. lug up the three states, Runjeet Sligh wiuld secure an alliance with the Britisis, a string fronticr on the Sutlej, and freedom to push his conquests on the north and west. Runjert singh took the hint. He wilthlrew his pretemions from the British side of the Sutiej, and professed a friendisinp whlch remalned unhiroken tutil his deat' ${ }^{1}$ is.,g but he knew what het was aliult IIt . .. shmere on the north. anil be f: it it hil: from the Afghans; hut he relomlnions to britishi tride, and the last of any attempt to enter Me?nwhile the wirragainst Fr .
wate. apoleor ad extendel tu eistera French on islauci ot : ee Mauritlus had leromea swent the ser ribi es and privatern, wheb the Einst Indla Comp Madagascar to Java, until the Einst Indla Company reckoned lis insses bs millions, and private traders were bronght io the brink of ruln. Lord Minto sent one expeditinn [1810], which wrested the Mnuritius from the French; nd be conducted another exprelitinn in person, which wrested the Island of Jatia from the Dutch, who at that time were the athes of Franee. The Mauritins has remuincla a British possesslon untli this day, but Java was restored to Holiand at the conciusion of the war.
Meanwhile war clouds were gathering on the southern siopes of the Himaiayas. Down to the middle nf the 18 th century, the territory of

Ghorlas Fat -mppravion of Itidaris

INDIA, 1816-1819.

Nif 'been peopled hy a peaceful and indus try ec of Buddhist known as Newars, but about iwe Fear 1767, when the Britlsh had taken orer the Bengai provinces, the Newars were conquered by a Kifjut tribe from Cathmere known a Ghorks. The Ghorka conquest of sipal was at complete as the Sorman connuest of Eagland. The Ghorkas eatahished a millitary despotlam Fith Brahmanicai instltutlons, and parcelled out the country amongat reudal nohlca kanwn as Bhanulara. . During the early years of the 19 th century the Ghorkas began to encroach on British territory, annexlng vil. lazes and revenues from Darjeelling to Slma without right or zeason. They were obviously bent on extending their dominlon southward to the Ganges, and for a inng time aggressiona were overlmoked for the ake of peace. At last two districts were appropriated to which the Ghorkas bad not a shadow of a cialm, and It was abso. lutcly aecessary to make a stand agalnst their pretenslons. Accordingiy, Lord Mlnto sent an ultimatum to Khatmandu. deciaring that uniess the districts were restored they would be recovered hy force of arms. Before the answer arfived. Loni Illnto was succeeded in the post of Goveranr General by Lord Moira, better known by hls later title of Marquis of Hastlogs. Lond Moira landed at Caicutta in 1813 . Shortig after hls arrival an answer was recelved from the Ghorba goveroment, that the disputed dlatricts belnagel to Nlpal, and would not be surrendered. Lord Muira at once ixed a day on which the districts rere to be rcstored; and when the day had pascel without any actlon belng taken by the Ghorlas, a British detachment entered the districts and set up poilce stations. .. The council of Bharalars resoired on war, but they dld aot declare It in European fashon. A Ghorka army sudienly entered the disputed districts. surruuadel the pollce statlons, aud murdered aany of the constables, and then returned to Khatmasdu to await the actlon of the British gurernment ln the way of reprisals. The war against the Ghorkas was more remote and more serious than the wars agalnat the $31 a^{2} \rightarrow$ s.

Those who have ascended the IIl to Darjeeling or Simia may realise somethin is if the diffleulties of an Invaslon of Sipal. British anny advanced in four dlvislons by four ditfernt routcs. . Generai David Ochterlony, who advanced his division aiong the valiey of the Sutlej, gained the most brillant successes. Ele was one of the half-forgotten heroes of the Euist india Company.

For five months in the worst season of the year be carried one fortress after anothcr, untill the enemy made a tinal standiat Jaloun on a sheif of the Ifirmalayas. British works made a desperate attack on the British Works, but the attempt failed; and when Ghorka garrison came to terms, and wire, the mitted to march out with the s, and were per. The fall of Jlaloun shool the honours of war. goverameat in shook the falith of the Ghorka Commissioners were sent to conciude fortresses. lipal sgread to rere sent to conciude a peace. the sinthern to cede Kumaon in the west, and the southern belt of forest and jungle known as Resident at Khatmandu to recelve a British actualls signed Khatmandu. Lord Moira had ractualtr signed the treaty, when the Ghorkas raised the quest lon of whether the Terai included the forest or only the swamp. War was rencwed.

Ocl terlong wiranced an army withln fifty mile of E batmandu, and then the Ghorkas conciuded the treaty [1816] and the British army withirew irom Nipal. The Teral, however, was a bone of contentlon for many gears a fterwaris. Jothing Was sald about a subaldlary army, and to thls day Nipal is outside the paie of subildlary alilances. but Nipal is bound over ant to take any European into her service without the consent of the Britlsh govemment."-J. T. Wheeler, India under Britioh Rule, ch. 8.
Almotw: J. D. Cunningham, Hist of the wikha ch. 5-6. - E. Thornton, IFiot. of Brifish Empirs in Inlia, ch. $91-24(c, 4)$.
A. D. $1816-1819 .-$ Suppreation of the PinThe -Overthrow of the Mahratta power. The last of the Peahwas,-"For some time past the Pindaris, a vast lirotherhood of mounted Ireebooters, who were realy to fight under any had been for the chance of unbounded piunder, had been playlng a more and more promlnent part in the wars of native princes. As Free Lances, they had fonght for the Peshwa at Panipat, had shared In the frequent atruggies of the Sladblas and Holkars in Ilindustan and Southern ladla, and made war on thelr own account wherevery native prince whose weakness at any moment scemed to lnvite attack. . . From the hills and ylens of Central Indla thousands of armed ruttlans sailied forth year after year in quest of plunder, sparing no cruelty to gain riveir ends, and whenlag the clrcle of their ravages with each new rald, untll in 181! the smoke of their camp-tires couid be seen from Gaya and Mirzapur.

To thwart Maratha the Gigues and punlsh Plniari aggressions was the Governor. General's next aim. In spite of Court of Dirpctors, he bet own councli and the Court of Dirctors, he set hinself to revive and extcan Lord Wellesley's policy of securing peace and order throughout Indla by means of treaties, which placed one natlve prince after another in a kind of vassalage to the paramouat power that ruled from Furt William. . . . By means of a little timely compulsion. the able and accom pllshed Elphlastone baffled for a whlle the plote which the Peshwa. Baji Rao, and his villaln ous accompiice, Trimbakjl Danglla, hal woven agalust their English allies. The treaty of June, 181\%, left Lord llastings master of Sagar and Bundalkhand, while it bound the Peshwa to renounce hls friend Trimbakji, his own claims to the headship of the Maratha League, to make no accaties with any other native prince, and to accept in all things the counsel and coutrol of the Complany's Government. Hard as these terins may seem, there was no cholce, averred foe and Hastings, between thus crippling a secret foe and depriving him of the crowu he lad fairiy forfelted. Jeanwhile Lond Hastings fearless energy had already saved the Rajputs of Jalpur from further suffering at the hands of their Pathan oppr ssor. Amir Khan, and forced from Sindia himself a reluctant promlse to aid in sup. pressing the Pindari hories, whose fearful rav. ages had at iength been felt by the peacefui viilagers in the Northern siskars. In the autumn of 1817 Hastings took the theld at the leari of an ariny which, counting native contingents, mus. tered neariy 120,000 strong, with some 300 guns. From east, west, north, and south, a dozen col. lians set forth to hunt down the merelless ruf lians who had so long been allowed to harry the falreat proslnees of India. In spite of the havore wrought anong our tronpa by the pront cholem outlirenk of tinut year, und of a sudiden rishir among the Maratha princen for one fant atruggle whith tiwle former conguternm, our arma were every winere auccosfoli agninat Murathas and Ilu. daris aike. The latter, hunted lito the lifils and Jungies of Centrai Imila, found mo mafety muy. whero except la small loolies and constunt thlyht nud the fanous mhler-leagite paseed Into a tale uf yore. Jot lese swift and sure was the punisinuent dealt upou the Mnmatha leaders wín folued the Peshwa lin hls stuliden uprising agalnst the isritish power. Itis inte sulnulssion had bern uothing hut a mask for renewed plotelngs. Ej. pllinstne, however, anw through the mask which had takiril lit the confilling Makoom. Before the eatil of ortoler an Fingllsh regiement, sumunoneal In lut fisate fromi Ikandag, pitcheal its emmpat Síjes irlanify ulrunfy guartered there. In the firat iliys of Sovember linj lian began to assime n twilicer tone as fils phans srew rije for instant expentlon. On the sith, it hasly of Marathas nttarkel and destroyed tixe leavilency, whlel Es. jlinstume huml fulted ln the niek of tlme. A great Marnthan nrmy then minchicd forth to over. Why hat tha little garrison at Kirkl, inefore fresh tronjos could dome up tolts aidel fom Sirur. Ei. phelnstome, however, who knew his foe, has mo ldea of awnitug the athek. Coloned luarr at onee led ont his minn, nut 3,000 ail todis. A brif. llant elarge of Anmtha forme was heavliy re. pulsed by u Sepoy reglineut, and the English stendily alvaneing drove the enemy from the flelif. A few days later General Smlth, at the heral of a larger force, advaneed on I'una, occipled the city: and jursued the frightened l'eshwa from piluere (t) phece. The herole defence of Kırigaum, a smaif vilinge on the Bhibai, by (inptaln St unton and Bin) Nepoys, with only two whole day, proved once mare low nobly natlve troops coulil fight umder Eingilsh leauling. Ihip. plly for Staunton's weary and dinilnished hand. Snilif cnme up the next morning, and the fles. ponilug Peshwa eontinued his retreat. Turn where he would, there was no rest for lils jublen] soldiars. Munro wili, a wenk force, pnotly of his own rulsing, fumded him on his why to the Ciarnatie, took several of hils strong phaces, nuli drore hine northwards wit rench of Generai Smith. On the 10th Febrith. Sla, that offlerer owirtonk nul routed the flying see at the village of Ishti. liaju Gokla, the Peshwais stnunchent and nblest follower, perished la the fied, while correring the retreat of his cowardiy master. For swnte weeks longer [3aji tho fled hithor ant thither hefore hls rewnlute pursuers. lite ut leurth nll hope forsomk him as the eircle of escape grew dially narrawer: and ln the mladle of May the great-grandson of lalaji Fisjowanatí ylelderl himself to Sle Join Malcolm at Indor, on terms far more liberal than he fiad any reason to exprets. Even for the faitiful few who still shared his fortunes due provlsion was made at hls reifuest. lice himself spent the rest of hls days a princely pensioner at IBthur, ncar C'awn. pore: hut the serejure which he and his slres fat wielied for a hunired yours passed Into Englis! 1 hands, while the lajali of Satara, the long-neg. leeted helr of the house of Nivajl. Was restored to the nomian hemship of the Maratha power,

Meanwhile Appa Sahlb, tho usurplag Rajoh of Berur, had no sooner hearil of the outbronk at Pitna, thinn lie, too, like the I'caliwa. threw un fils makk. On the evening of the etth Novemlner. INI\%, hls troops, to the number of IN, (MW) stolilenive nttackel the weak Engllah aml Noppo fore of if00 men with fiur guns, pmiril oa the Stalmili IIllls, outadis. Nagpur. A terribje flatht for elgiticen lours endend In the repuls: of the masaliants, with a loas to the vletom of more than 300 men and twelve oillerra. A few werehs hatir Nagitur lteelf was oceupled after another tishe Fiven then the Itajah might havekept hiv throme. for him eonquerorn were merclful and fu川保 the best. Jut they loperd In raln. It was nut fon: before A pla Suhih, caught out in fresh futrigus. was ment ofl n prlmoner towarels Alin! liu! fis. eaping from his cuptors, he wandere ulno. the eountry for several yeara, and cllend at lathe : pensioner on the bounty of Izanjlt singh. Tho house of Ilolkur had also palil the penaity of fis raslı resistunce to our arma.

On the tithe Jantury, 1818, the young Itoikur whe glal to sign a truity whlef pheerl him and lis heifs uniler Eugilish protectlon at the eost of his Inde. pendence and uf some part of his realus. lack ily for finmself. Sindia had remninel igniet, if not quite loris, throughont this last strugale between the Finglish and his Murnth:a kluafult Thus in one stort and derlsive eamminu, the grent Maratha power, which had surviverl the siangiter ot I'anipat, fell shattered to piones br the sime blow whieh arnsied the P?udiris anil rused an Engllsia nerehunt eompany to the paria monut forisidgi of ull India. The fiast of the l'eshwas hat censed to roign, the Ikiljuhof fhat was a discrowned fugltive, the Rajnh of sitara a king only in mone, while sibitu, liolkitr, atm the Nizam were depencient princes whor rejparl only by suffrance of un Fugilish fown mop Generul at Calenten. The Moghai Emjire lingered only in the IBalaee of Dehit its former viccroy, the Nawnb of Audl. was our olurlingt vassal; the hangity priners of Ihajputan: lowed thelr necks, more or less clueerfnify, to the gake of masters inerciful as Akhar and lalghther than Aurangaib. Thanjit Ninbat himself cultivated the gooklwill of those powerfui nelghlumes who had sheitered the Nikhs of Sirfind fromt has ambitions harmuls. With the that overthrow of the Maruthas a new a of pencre, order, nof general progress . loundired nad fif. for peoples whin, during is whiri of anare nrs, had lived la a reandeas enjture of Asircaris il nromed strife. With the In Nouthern Indiarianme April, 1810. the tighth; Ifist. of lullin, bh. 5, ch. 2-3.

Alse is: W, M. Torrens, Empire its levid: IIDe ire came by it, ch. 10-20, -J. (1. 1)uff, Hisf of the Mahruttion. r. 3, ch. IT-*0.-Major lioss-of?

A. D. 1823-1833.-The first Burmese War, - English acquiaition of Assam and Aracan.Suppression of Suttee and Thuggee-Rechartering of the East India Company.-It is deprived of its Iast trading monopoly.-" on Ihastiuge retirement, In 18i3, the choice of the minlstry fell upon Cinnning.
(maing ultimately resignlng the Governor-1 coneralship, the choice of the authorites feli upr loni imhert. The new Governor-General reacted lndia at a time when the authoritles In London had a right to expect a long perical of peace. In fiact, ith

In Mindostan and In the Deccan, the victorien of Hastlign hatl left the Company no more encmle ti) coniquer. Cinfortunately, however, for the previpects of peace, nature, whilch had given futha an Impeaetrahle boundary on the north hat left her with an undeflied ant open frontler on the east. On the whoren of the Bay of Bengal, orpualfe Calcuttn, a strugate had raged churling the elghte cutit century bet wren the Inhalitants of Arand lega. The former, known as burinana of lurmese, hat the goorl fortune to fad a capa. the leater, who rapldyy casuret thelr own vic. tory aml fountod a Burmese Emplre. The succossful competiturs wire not satifieti w... their own predominante to 1'egit - they conquereal Ariwn, they overran Assim, and they wiwsted from siam a coustlerable territory on the Tenns. s.rim crast. The coaynest of Aracan brought the biurmese to the contlies of the Compnay's ilmulmions In Chiltagong. The coaquered people, disithing the severe rule of the conquerors, rrosed the frontler and setiled lu liritiss terri: tory. Many of them used thelr new home as a wecure lasls for hostlic rulds oa the Burmese.

The river Naf ran forn portion of lts course between the possesslous of the British In Chit tagong and those of the Burmese In Arncan. With the object of pecventlag the repetition of outnges, whll hatl occurnel on the river, a suabll British guard was stathoned on a fittle Ishand, ealled shaporec, acar lts mouth. The Burnese, clatmlag the Island as their own, at tuehed the guard nit itrove it from the post. It was tupussible to lynore such a chalivage. The Islaull was reoccupletl; but the Governor-Gen. Tral. still unslous for peace, offered to treat lis enctubathon by the Burneene as an action uazuthorised by the Burmese Goverament. The Burmese Court, however, lustead of accepting this uffer, sent an army to reoccupy the Island; collishoas almost simultaneousiy occurred betweell the British and the Burmese on other parts of the frontter, nad In February 1824 the first Burmese war begaa. ... If the war of 1824 may be excusell as Inevitable, its coaduct must be condemnel as carciess. No palas were takea to ascertmin the anture of the country which It was requisite to invade, or the atreagth of the caemy whum It whs declded to encounter.

Burma is watered by two great rivers, the Irnwaddy and the salwin. . la lts upper waters the IraWathy is a rapld stream; in lta lower waters it flows through alluvial phalas, and finds its way thromgha delta with alne moutis into the lay of Bengal. Oa one of its western months is the town of Basseln, on one of Its castern mouths the gr at commercial port of langooa. The banks of the river are clothed with jungle and with forest; and mularia, the curse of all low-lying thepical laads, always fingers la the marshes. The authorities deecid on lavadiag Burna through the Ragoon br. chof the river. They gave Sir Archlbald Camplell, an oflicer who had Won distinction la the Peaiasula, the command of the expectition, and, as a pretiminary measure. they determined to selize Rangoon. Its capture Was accomplished with ease, and the Buraiese retired from the towa. But the victory was the precurvor of difficuity. The troops dared aot adrance In an unhealthy season; the suppltes Which they fiad brought with thes a proved inunficieat for their support; and the men perisised by scores during their period of forced inaction.

When more favourahle weather returned with the nutumn, Camphell was agaln able to mivance. Burma was then nttackell from three evpurate busen. A force under Colonel Wleharts. moving along the valley of the Bramaputra, con quered Asaam: an expedtion uader Ceneral lorrlmon, marchlag from c'ilttagong, oceupley Aracan; whille chanpledt hommeft, dividing hila army into two thiskons, one moving ly water. the other by lanl, puseed up the Irawnitly and enpturel limabue and Prome. The clluate in provel as the troops ascended the river, nat the Hot wenther of $18{ }^{2} 5$ provet less lajurious than the summer of 1824 . . . . The operations In 18:S-15 irne home the kesom when the cam palgut of wif-it hal nlready tuught. The Bursentel til acept the tirms whith the firitlsh were stll redy to offer them. Assam, Aracan. and the Tenasaerian ('unat were ceded to the Company; the King of Burnin eonsentelt to recevve a Resthent at his cupltul, and to paya very large sum of moncy - 1, ink), (0001. - towards thi expecuses of the war. . The Increasing credit to the reputation of the Govirued did not add to the reputation of the Governor Gencral
The Company complahed of the vast adilitoon whlch his rule had mule to expeuditure, and they dombted the "xprefleacy of nequlring new nad unnecersary territory beyoal the confines of Incla itself. The mluistry thought that these acquisltions were opposed to the polley whicit Parlhument had lahd thown and to the true In terests of the cmplre. It duellent on ints reeall.

Whlium lbenthek, whom Cannlug selected as Amherst s succeamor, was no stranger to ladian sobl. More than twenty yeas before he had servel as Goveruor of Madrus. . . . Beatlreck arrived in Calcuttin lid diteult times. Amberst's war hall sadilled the Goverament with a deht, and his successor with a deticit. . . . Retreach. meat, in the ophion of every one quallfed to judge, was absolutely hallspensable, and Bentunck, as a matt-r of fact, brought out speclic lustructloas to ri reach. . . . In two other mat. ters. Bentlnes effected a change which deserves to be recollected with gratltule. He had the courage to nloulsh flogging la the natlse Indtan aruy; be had the stlil higher courage to ubollsb suttee. $\qquad$ In Benzal the sultce, or 'the pure and virtuous wontan,' whas became a whdow, was required to show her eterothe to plle. . . Success e Governurs atral, w! attention bad bry directed the this ther un practice, had ft . Ed to inenr \& ie umper of of nbodisinag it. . . . Corawalis athd $\mathrm{W}_{\mathrm{ef}}$ Hastings and Amherst, were all biblt inurider which wes ilentite armil $t_{1}$ fom and It was uccordngly reserved to Bu whete. and it was necordngly reserved the Beats remose the repronch of lis extstence. U consent of his Couuril. sittece was illegai. The danger ibit it others lis hended from its prohibition proved a me: toni. The Bindoos complied with the without attempting to resist it, nad the 1 rite which hal disgraced the soil of lnuk centuries becaase entirely unknowu. For th humane reguiatioas Bentlack deserves to be men.bered with gratitude. Yet it should not lh forgotten that these reforms were as much the work of his age as of himself. . Onr at: great abuse was terminated under Bentlnck. be

Central Iadia life was made unaifo and travel. ling dangerous hy the eatnbilishment of a seeret band of robbera known an Thugn. The Tiaga mingled with nay travellen whom they met, dff. armed them hy their converation and courteay, and avalled themerires of the first convenient apot In their journcy to olmagle thema with a rope and to roh them of thelr money. The burial of the victim usualiy concrabled all tracea of the crinse, the wernecy of the confederntes made its revelation unlikely; and, to make treachery more Improbable, tio Things unually consecrated their murdera with rellglone cites, and claimed their god as the patron of thelr misiolnge. Benthek welceted an active offleer, Major Bleeman, whom he charged to put down Thuggee. Blee. man's exertionas were rewarded hy a gratifying succens. The Thugs, like all secret socleties, were ammaliahle in one way. The tirst discovery of crime always proluces an approver. Tho timid conspirator, consclous of his guilt, is glad to purchase lils own enfety hy waciliticing his assoclates, and when one man turns traltor every member of the band is anxious to secure the re. Warde and Immunity of treachery. Hence the frat cluc iowards the praetices of the Thugs led to the unvelling of the whole organisation; and the saine stateminat, who had the merit of for. hilding suttee, ancceeled in extirpating Thug. gee from the donilntone orer wheh he ruled. Soctal reforms of this character occupy the grenter jortion of the history of Bentlack's govcrament. In polltics he almoat al ways puraued a policy of nom-Intervention. The British during hils rule made few additions to their poanessions; they rarely interfered In the affairs of Nativo states. The privlicges which the East Indla Company enjoycd had from tinue to time been renewed hy the British Parlinment. The charter of the Compmay had becn extended for a period of twenty years in 1703 , in 1703 , and $\ln 1813$. But the conditions on whilch it was contlaned in 1813 were very different from those on whleh it had been origlnaily grunted. Instead of malntaining its exclusive right of trade, Parllament declded on throwing open the trade with Indla to ail liritish subjects. It left the Company a monopoly of the Chim trade alone. The Act of 1sti: of course exclied the strenuons oppostion of the Company. The highest authoritles were India would not be prove that the trade with India would not be lucreased lyy a termination of the monopoly. Their vlews, however, were proved false lyy the result, and the stern logie of facts consequently poluted in $18: 3 ; 3$ to the further extenslon of the paolicy of 1813 [क्de Cumsa: A. D. 1839-1842].

The inclination towards free truite was, in fact, so prevaient, that it is donbtoffice, they would in the Tories had remained in offlice, they would have consented to prese rve the mompoly. . . The full of the Wellington administration mazle its termluation a certainty [se EN(bland: A. I). 18:32-1883].

The Governnent consented to compensate the Company for the loss of Its monopoly by an annulty of 631), (k)ol. charged on the territorial revenues of India. It is a remarkable clrcumstance that the chamge of nimistry which deprived the Company of its trade possibly preserved its political puwer for neurly a quarter of a century.
Whig ininistry shirnak from proposlag an aitera. The Whig ininistry slirnak from proposing tlon for which the country was not prepared, and which might bave aroused the opposition by Which the Conlition of 1788 had been deatroyeci Though, however, it left the rule with Lemienhall street, It altered the machinery of govera. ment. The Governor Ger: rral of Bengal wu mule Governor-General India A fourb member - an Englioh jusiat - was added fourl Councll, and the Governor General ln (cmand) Was authorised to legiainte for the whole of Indle. At the mame tlime the dimatiltes whit stlll clung to the natives wero in theory swept away, and Europeaus were for the firit time allowed to hold land in Indla. Theme Impormant propowals wcre carried at the clome of the ant Weation of the frat reformed Parlianient." -8 . Walpole, Ilive. of Eingland from 1815, ch. 2s (r, 5) Aleo ix: J. W. Kaye, Allministration of the Fhat India $a_{0}$, pt. 8-1.-8ir C. Trevelyar., The Thuga (Edin. Ret., Jan., 1897) - Jllustrutions of the lifit. of she Thugo.- M1. Taylor, Convension of a Thug, introd. -ID. C. Boulger, Lord Hilliam Bentinek, eh. 4-6.

A. D. $1836-1845$. - The first Atghan war and ita catantrophe. - Conqueat and annezatlon of ScInde. Threatened trouble with the Slkhe.-" With the accesulon of Lorl Auckland, Hentinek'n succemor, began a new era lu AngloIndian history, in which the long-sown seeds of fresh political coniplications, which cven now seem as fur from aolution as over, began to put forth frult. All danger from Freachambillon had pamed away: hat Rhaspian intrigue was buay agalnst us. We had brought the "h. ;er oa our selves. Faise to an alliance wita $\hat{i}:$ rssha, which dated from the begioning of the century, whimi turned a deal car to her entreatles for help skainst Russlan aggression, and had ailowed her tu fall under the power of her tyrant, whio thenceforth used her as an Instrument of hlommbltion. The result of our melfish Indifference ap. pearel in 1837, when Persia, acting under 18 us sian Influence. lald slege to Merat, which $\mathrm{w}_{4}$ then under Afghan rule. Whllo Herat was still hoiding out, the Shah was at last threatenel with war, and ralsed the stege. Then was the time for Auekiand to destroy the Russian danger oure for all, by making a friend of the power which scemed to be the natural barrier against iavasios from the north. werst. After a long series of res: olutlons, Dost Mahomed, the represintative of the now famous tribe of Baruc. zyes, hat estair lished hlusslf upon the throne, with the warm Shproval of the mafority of the people; while Shuh Sooja, the icader of the rival suldozea was an exile. The ruling prince did not wait for Aucklanu seek his Priendsilip. He. trested the ikusslan ar vances with contempt, and desired nothing better than to be an ally of the Eurlish Auckland was urged to selize the opportunity. It was $\ln$ his power to dcal Russia a crubting blow, and to avert those trouhles which arce cvea now harassing British statcsmen. Ife di.f not let silp the opportunity. Ile flung it frum him, and elutched at a poley that was to briay mis ery to thousands of familles in Englani, io India, and in Afghanlstan, and to prove diss. trous to the polltieal interests of ali three countries. . . Those who are least Interested in in dlan history are not likely to forget thow the Afghan moh murdercd the British Envor and hls assoclates; how the British commander, put: tlog talth in the chlefs of a people whom no treatles can hind, began that retreat from which hut one man escaped to tell how $10,4 \mathrm{mon}$

INDIA, 1830, 448.

Mrot A ohnn Wiur. with Wiars.

INMIA, 1845-1849.
pertshed ; how pror Auckland, unmanaed by the dianter, lacked the energy to retrleve It ; how the herve gole held out at Jellalabad till Pollonck re. lived him; how Auckinadia shcecsoor, Lord Ellentorough, dreadling freah dimstere, healtnted o stlow his generuls to act till, ylelding to thelr inilimant zeal, he threw upon them the respon. alblity of that advance to Cabul which retrlevert the lowt preutige of our armm [mer trohasiotan: 1. I). $1888-1812$, and 1842-18601. Thus elosed the firut act of a atill unfaimbed drama. After celebrating the trluniph of the victorlous army, E!'walwough sent Charlen Napler to punloh the Amcern of Scinde [me BcLispi ], who, embolleneil by the retreat from cabul, had vlolated a treaty whlelh they had coneluided with the British Gov ernment. The result of the war was the ambexn thon of the country: but the whole serfees of tramact'. na is only rearembered now nonaving given r to the dlapute on the queation of the gullt, he Anieers between Napler and James cally elmportant, wan Elle timerought histori. cally elmportant, wan Ehenhorough's rero atit in the Britioh relatlona wlth the 81 of the diay. Politlcal disturbances had for the agitited that prince's court, while hi: hal swollen to a dangerous slze, and, hi Sllih srmy since lunject Singh's denth hal taken place a few y ears before, had passeid lifyund the control o? the elvil power. In thrue two armles Eltenborough saw a danger ahich might disturh the prace of Illodontan He forensw that the sikib soldiers, released from the strern disclphine of Runjeet Singh, would mon furce a goveranient whleh they desplsed to at them eroms the Sutlej In quest nf plunder Two yeters latet bls character as a prophet was simileated: and, If he had not now, In anticl puthin of the Invaslon which then took pluce dishmudel the greater part of Sintia's army, and overawed the remainder by a native contingent under the commund of British otlleers, the sikhs Would protnibly have folned their forees with the Mahrutas., But the Directors took a duct if affalrs. In June, 184t, all ludia was astouisthe by the news that Ellenborough was betouishcou by the news that Ellenborough hal betarcalled. Ile had helped to bring alout his ona duwnfali, fr in tbe controversies with his masters in whict bis prodectesors, hall sbown an $u$ bat, twalgh by like some of the ablest of lound himself ln olved, ine cuate want of discretion: crastle proclamations andia thestre all l. e of tisphay he bad sotnetimes ex. the himy if to ridicule, many of hls subsordinates r.t ialat $\ln$ him they had lost a vigorous and, : her. Sir Ileury Ifardinge, witho was minutitio 4 suecrage before the close of his adGexural und succeeded to the othee of Goveraor of the ral and waited anxlously for the breaking of the stumu which his predecessor had seen fathering. The Sikhs, the Puritans of Ludia set sisha, who were not strictly speakitne a pation, but a rellgious hrotherhood of warriors called the Kbalsu. were aninated by two pussions equally dangerous to the prace of those around them, a therce enthusiasta, half mithary, baif roigious. for t.,e glory of their order, anit anidsatiable desire for plunder. By giv iug them full scope for the indulgence of these passions, and by punishing all disobedlence wittb merciless selrity. Runjet Siugh had governed his turbuleat subjects fur forty years: but, when be ded.
they bonke 1 Government oi oniy save the in antore found that they could only ave their own caplal from being plun. dered by the Khalsa army by mending it to meek pluncler $\ln$ Britisb territory. Thus began the Indir, Mutiny, en. I. E. flolmen, lios. of the Al=a) IK: Nfr en.
Truiter, The Eurl of Gripl, Ranjit Singh. - L. J. A. D. 1843. - Crasuest of Scin.

Acinde. 1843. - Cramuest of Sciade. See
A. D. 1845-3.

- "has
- Wars.-Con queat and annexacion of :, i "mjat.--"There hau noways beecu an exp dou that whenever Runjeete sing derl, there would be trouble with his solilicry; at. 1 lt soon wpperied that some incurslon was In contemplation, for whlth the training uader preppared by an abla Eumpean training ualler Frinch oftleeru. Wh:lle the strife aloult the successlou was going on in the Pun. jaub the milltary element of soclety there be. eante supreme: and the government at calentta fronstered it necessary to move troops to the frontle:- to preserve peace, and reamure to the abitants of whole districts which dreaded the lu. curslons of a haughty and inwless moldiery. The trions were alarmed at the approach of Enghash troops and allopted the same course towards us that we hat tried with their werstern neighbours it. Whether the fromther to forestal our dolag chiefs, as some this move was a device of the sikh and perhaps to cayle its, to get rhl of the army isb, and thus to clear the fiefll for by the Brit thons. or whether wear the fiethl for their own fae. thons; or whether wur with ,he British was con sldered so levevitabice that the livasion of our territcry wis litended as a merasure of prudence we need nut here dectule. The fact was that the Sikh solthier"; gatherel monml the tomb uf Runject singh, prepmring themselvers for a great batto soon to happen; and that war was vir. tually declared at Labore in November, 184;, and fairly begun by the trowps crossing the Sulled on the 1 the of Deveminer, and taking np a posiltion near Fernacpore. The olld error prevaited In the Britlsh eouncils, the misticke deuounced by Charles Mrecalfe as fatal-that of undervaluling the enet The Sikhs had been constedered unwortby, be opposed to the Aff. ghans in liunject's thie; and now we expeeted to drive them into the Suticel at onee ; but we had never yet, in Indla, so nearly met witb our mateb, The battle of Moxikee wiss fought under Sir rabble 'from the Pue 1 stin of Deceniber, and 'the rabbite from tbe Punjaub astonished both Europeans and sepoys by standing trin, manceuvring well, and rendering it no easy matter to close the diay whithouour to the English arms. This III. timed contempt was truly ealamitous, as it had caused intscaleulations about ammunhtion, earriage, hospital scores, and everythlug neees sury for a campaign. All these things were lef behind at Delhit or A gra; and the desperate ne cessity of winning a battle was only enough burely to sare the day. The udrantage was witb the British in the but ie of Soodkee, but not so decisively as all partes had expected After a junetion with relaforeements, the British fought the lnvaders agaln on the 21 st and 2?nd, st Ferozeshur. On tbe first night our troops were harily masters of the ground ther sturat on, and bad non reerve. while their gathint enemy had farge reinforcem nts within reach. The nezt day might enslly have isen made fatal to the English army, at tlmes when their ammu. nition fell short; but the Slkhs were badly commanded at a critleal moment, then deserted by a traltorous leader, and tinally driven back. For a month after this nothlng was done by the British, and the slklis crossed the Sutlej at their ease. The valour of Gough and of llarllinge, who, while Governor-Geneml, had put hlmself under the orders of the Commander-In-Chlef, had saved the bonour of the English; but thelr pres. tlge was weakened anong their own Sepoys, nud even the European regincents; much more among the Slkhs; and most of all in the eges of the vlgllant surrounding states. It was a natter of llfe and death now to bring up pisas, ammmention and treasure. A considerntite portion fell into the enemy's hands on the 2lat of Jannary, on its way to the rethef of loolecana; but the battle of Aliwal on the sth was agnin a true Britlsla tight. The Sikhs were driven luto the Sutlej: and as smon us they had collected in thelr stronghold of Sobrion on the other side, they were drlven thence by a elosing struggle on the 10th of February. The Sikhs were beaten, with a slanghter of 5,000 ) (some say 8,000 ) nien, ugainst 320 killed and 2,000 wounded on onr side. The Nuharajala summitted, the rond to Lahore lay open, and the Governor-General comld make hls own turms. He flattered himself that Ine had arringed a protectorate of the Punjaub which wonld render annexatlon unnecessary; and all who conld believe in it rejoiced that nieans had been fonnd to escape the necessity of adding new conrinests to a territory already minch too large Is the I $u n j a n b$ conld uot pay its anoouat of tribute to the Company, Castimere and some other territory was accepted instead, and given, uis a kingdom, to Gholath singh on hls pay: ing a prortion of the debt, thas reimburslag the Company, and leswening the wergrown power of the Punjaub rnlers. When, at the elose of 1846, the English troops shonld be withdrawing from I ahore, the Sikh chiefs begged that ther might remain, and take eare of the lomjanb till the yonug Miaharinah should grow np to man-loool."- II. Martinean, British Rule in Iulin, ch. 20. -"Lord IIardinge entristed the govermment of the l'mujab to a Council of Regency, consistlug of Sikh nobles muler the gnidnuce of sir Ilenry Lawrence as British lesident. IIe refused to ereate a subsidiary army, but lie left a British foree to proteet the govermment until the loys Dhaleep Singla reached himmajority. Two-thirds of the Sikh army of the likilsi were disbaadel. Tbe dullnindar Inab between the Sutlej and the Beyas was adeled to the l3ritish empire.
Lorl Dahonste snceeceded Lord Minrdinge in 1sts. Shortly afterwards the l'unjub was agiain in commotion. Sikh government nnder lBritinh in commotion. Sikh government under British protection had failed to keep the peace. The army of the lihassa had dissippeared, but the old love of licemse and plunder was burning hithe hearts of the dishmuled soldiery. The sikla hearts of the dishmmed soldiery. The sikle governor of Maltun revolterl; two Englishmen were mmrilcred. A British force besinged the rebels in Minltah. It was joined by a Sikh foree In the service of the Council of Rugency commanded by shere shigh. So far the revolt at Moultan was regarded as a single outbrenk whieh would be soon suppressed by the eapinge of the fortress. In reality it was the berinning of fortress, la reality it was the beginning of a general lasurrection. Shere Slngh, who com. manded the Slkh force ln the bealeging army, suddenly deserted the British force and folad hls father Chutter Ningh, who was ulreinly in open rebelllon. The revolt was secretly jromoted by the queen noother, and spread over the Puujah ltke willite. The oll soldiers of the Khalsn rallled round shere Slugh and hals fither. The half-and-half goverument set up by hom Harilnge was unable to eope with a revolution which was restoring the old anarelay. In Sio-rember, 1848 , Lord Gongh advanced ngainst rember, 1848, Lord Gongh advanced ngainst the rebel army. Then followed the famony catapalgn between the Chenab and Jhelom rivess abont 100 miles to the thorth of Lahore. In Jaanary, 1 S 49 , Lord Gongh fought the dulions battle of Chillianwallih, near the spot whire Alexander the Great erossed the Jhelnm and defented the nrmy of Porns. Mennwhile Multan surrendered, and the besiegine furee foined surrendered, ind the besieging furce joined hard Gongh. In February the Sikh army was ntterly defeated at Gujerat."-J. T. Whecher, Intiam INistory, ch. 1I.-"Gujrat was essentinlly a forenoon battle, with the whole day before the noon battle, with the whole day before the com butants to tinish thelr work. It commeneed with a magnitlecut dnel of urtllery; the Britivl infantry ocenpying post ufter post ns thry were abmadoned by the enemy ; and the british eavalry breaking up the Slkh niasse's mud seatering them by pursuit. Of the slaty Sikh ruas cugaged, flfty-three were taken. Lord bathousie resolved to make the victory a final one. 'The war,' he declared, 'innst be proseconted now to the entire defent nnil disperslon of all who are in arms against ns, whether siklis or Afghas. General Gilbert hurried out with a juraiug foree of 12,000, horse, foot and urtillery, the dar after the battle. In the breathless chase whith followed neross the plains of the luajab to the frontler monutain-wall, the Slkh military power Was destroyed for ever. On the 12 ith of Ni:reh, 1840, General (Vilhert received the summision ot the entire Nikh aray at Iawal I indl, thether with the last forty one of the 160 Sikle cimmon captnred by the Britlsh during the war. While the sikh arny heaped up their sworls and shelels and natchlocks in submissive piles, and salimed one by one as they passed dixirned along the I British llne, thelr Afghan allirs were chased relentlessly westwarls, and reached the safety of the Klasibar lass pantlog, and barely twenty malles in front of the English lumters The horsemen of Afghanistan, it was sainl, had ridden down throuph the hills like llons and ran buck lnto them like dogs. The guestion re mainel what to do witl the I'nnjab The vic tory of Sobraon in 1846 gave to Lord Ilardinge the right of conyurst : the vietory at Gujrat in 1849 compelled ford Dilhonsio to assirt that right. Lord llardinge at the end of the firto lanjab war in 1846, tried, as we haso -ren, an IBritish ofllers for the beneft of the Infant mining the future arrangenents for the lamjal, Lord Inalhousir that as his advisers the two Las. rences. Sir II'nry Lawrence, the former Jeasi dent at Lahore, hirried baek from his silk.leave Ia Eugland on the breaklng ont of tbe war. Ile was of opinion that the annexation of the Pua jub might periaps be just, but that it woult be inexpedtent. llis brother John, afterwirds Lond Lawrence, who had also aeted as IResident, althengh as murh arerse in bedefal proselpit to anaexatlon as Henry, way convinced that, In this case, annexstion was not oniy just, but that lta expedieney was 'both undeniable and presaling.' Lord Dalhousle, after a full review of the efforta which had been made to convert the slkh natlon lato s friendly power without anneration, declided that no course now remained to the Britlsh Guvernment hut to anner. The annezatlon of the Punjab was deliberately approved of by the Court of Dlrectors, by Parllament, and by the Eaglish nation."-W. W. IIunter, The Mar. quese of Dalhousic, eh. 8.
Aleo ix: Bir II. B. Edwardes and II. Merivale, Life of Sir Henry Lawrence.-R. B. Smith, Lifo of Lord Laurrence, v. 1, ch. 7-11.-E. Arnoli, The Marquis of Duthousie's Administration of Britiah Iuthi, r. 1, ch. 1-7.-II. B. Edwardes, $A$ Year on the Punjab Frontier, 1848-49.-Sir ir Temple, Mes aud Fients of My Time in Luria, ch. 8-4.
A. D. 1848-1856.-Lord Dalhousie's minor annexations.-The Iapse of dependent Native States.-The case of Nana Sahib.-"In applying the doctrine of lapse to the Hindu ehief. doms. on default of natural successors or of an heir legally adopted with the sanetlon of the Ralling Power, Lord Dallousle merely carried oat the deelared law of the case, and the deliberately formulated polley of the Government of lodia, years lefore he arrived In the country. Ia so doing, however, Lord Dalhousie became the uaconsclous but effective Instrument hy which the old India of Lord Wellesley at the beginaing of the century was prepared for its coaversion, in 1858, Into the new Indla of the Queen. .. The fundamentai questlon was Whether we should allow the government of a depenileat State, in absence of natural heirs, to pass like mere private property to an allopted son. The Court of Directors had at one time permitted the aloption of a successor $\ln$ speeial cases to a priaclpality on fallure of natural heins. It declarel, however, in 1834, that such an 'indulgence should be the exeeption, not the rale '. . As the evils of the old system of govcrment by sham royalties further developed thenliselves, the Government of Indla determined in 1811 to enforce a noore uniform poliey. loveat a new prineiple of Inerefore, was not to loveat a new prineiple of Indlan law, but to steadily apply an old prinelple. . . . The frst case ia which this princtple came to be applied, shortly sfter Lord Dalhousle's arrival, was the Sative state of Satara. That Maratha principality had leen constituted by the British Government on the generul break up of the Maratha power $\ln 1818$, aud confirmed to the 'sons and heirs, and successors' of the reeiplent $\ln 1819$. In 1839 the reiguing prinee was deposed for misconduct by the Britlsh Goverament in the exercise of its Suzeraln rights. By the same rights the British Government then set up the hrother of the deposed prince on the throue. The Rajs, whom in 1839 we had placed on the Throne, applied for permission to adopt a son. The British Government dellberately withheld the pernission; and In the last hours of hls life the Raja, is 1848, hastlly adopted a son without se wosent of the Government." Lord Dalhou. sie, wlth the advice of the Court of Direetors, declared ia this case that the territory of Satara had lapsed, on the death of the IRaja, by fallure was snnexed, the Power whileh deposed, and it was sonexed, accordingly, to the Britlsh domin.
lons. Under kindred elrcumstances the Native States of Sambalpur, on the south.western frontler of Lower Bengal, and Jhansi, a fragment of the Maratha dominions In Northern India, were ahsorbed. "The same prinelple of lapse on fallure of helrs was applled by Lord Iaplhousie to several other dependeut States. Jaitpur in 36 squardand, Baghat a petty hill Chiefdoin of 36 square miles in the Punjab, Cidalpur on the In Khandesh In Khandesh, passedi under direet British rule Trom thls cause. The fort and millary fef of Tanjore were annexed after Lord Dallonsie's departure from India, hut practlcally on the grounds set forth by hls government. On By far the largest acresslon of territory made dur. lng Lord Dathousle's rule, to the Britlsh domin. lons on the failure of heirs, was the great central tract of India known as Nagpur. This Maratha princlpality as uow eoustituted into the Central Provinecs, and after varions reetifications of frontier, has an area of 113,279 squsre milles, with a population of $12,000,000$ souls. The territories mulexed by Lord Dalhousle in 18.54 make nearly four-fifths of the present Central Provinccs. . . It is dillie illt to tind any ground for the eharge whleh Mr. Kaye hrought in 1865 agulnst Lori Dalhousle, for 'harshness' tovards the nann afterwarls known as the infanous UsT)]. As this charge, however, is still occasionally reperated, and as it has even been suggested that Lord Dalhonsle was tosome extent respon. sible for the Mutiny of 18.5\%, in conserpuence of his action towards Siana Sahib in [sin, I must hriefly state the facts. In 181s, the Peshwa of the Slarathas, eompletely beaten in the field, threw himself on the generosity of the British Sir John Malcolm, then the Governor-General's Agent in the Deccan, assureth him of his protec. tion, and cengred that he shonld receive an allowanee of $E 00,000$ a y year for his support.
There eonll uot be the slightest pretensiou that It was ever anything uore than a personal an nuity; und from tirst to last all nention of heirs is carefully exchumet. The records slow that the ex-Peshwa, Baji Rao, was well aware of this. Baji lao livel uatil 1851, leaving to his adopted son, Nana Suhib, an immense fortune admitted to amount to $\mathrm{E} 280,000$. aud beliered by the Government of the North-westerm Irovinces to greatly exceed that sum. The Government of India at once acknowledget the adopted son's title to this splendid heritage, and out of lts own lrnetieence added to it the Jaghir, or graut of land, on whleh his futher had resided in the Dorth-western Provinees. But the peusion, palid out of the tax payers' poekets, lapsed unon the death of the annuitant.' - -sir W. W. IIunter 7he Marguess of Dulhousie, ch. 6-7.-Duke of Argyll. India under Dalhousie amd Cimning.
A. D, 1849-1803. - The iife in exiie of Dhuleep Singh, heir to the Sikh throne.Few careers has ever been more instructive to those who can see than that of the Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, who died in Parls on Sunday [October 22, 1si3] of apoplexy. Ile finlshed life a despised exile, but no man of modern days ever had such chances, or had seen them suatehed. partly hy fate, purtly hy fault, so completely from his Hps, But for an aerlifat, if there is such a thing as aceldent. he would have been the Illndoo Emperor of Indla. IIls fither,

Runjeet Sligh, that strange comblnation of Louls XI. and Charles the Bold, had formed and knew how to control an army whlch would have struck down ail the native powers of India much more easliy than did any of the Tartar conquerers. Without its master at lis head, that army de. feated the Britlsh, and but for a magnificent bribe pald to lts General (vide Cunnlngham's 'lligtory of the Slkhs') would have driven the English from India, and piaced the child, Dhu. leep Singh, upon the throne of the Penlnsula, to be supported there by Slkh and Rajpont, Mahratta, anil Beharee. Apart from the Engllsh, there was nothing to resist them; and they were gulded by a woman, the Ranee Chunda Kour who of ail modern women was most llke Mary of Scots as her enemles have palnted her, and of whom, after her fall, Lerd Dalhousle sald that her capture would be worth the sacrifice of a brigade. How Dhuleep singh wonld have relgned had Runjeet Singh's destiny compieted ltself ls another matter - probably like a Hindoo Humayoon-for even If not the son of Runjeet Slingh, who, be it remembered, acknowledged hlm, he lnherited ablilty from hls mother; he was a bold man, and he was, as his career showed, capable of wlld and daring adventure. He feil, however, from his throne under the shock of the second Bikh War, and began a new and, to all appearance, most promlsing career. Lord Dalhousle had a pity for the boy, and the English Court - we never quite understood wby-an unusually kindly feeling. A fortune of $£ 40,000$ a year was settled on him, he was sent to England, and he was granted rank hardiy less than that of a Prince of the Blood. He turned Christian - apparently from convletlon, though subsequent events throw doubt on that - a tutor, who was quite competent, devoted himself to his education, and from the time be became of age he wils regarcled as in all respects a great Englisb nuble. He knew, too, how to sustain that character, - made no soclal blunders, became a great sportsman, and succeeded $\ln$ maintaining for ycars the sustained stateliness of life whicin in Engiand is held to confer sociai dignlty. Contdence was first shaken by his marriage, which, though it did not turn out unsuccessfully, and though the lady was $\ln$ atter-life greatly: liked and respected, was a whln, his bride belng a haif Coptic, half Engiish girl whom he saw In an Egyptian school.room, and who, by all Engiish as weli as Indian ldeas of rank, was an untitting bride. Then he began over-spending, wlthout the siightest necesslty, for hls great in: come was unhurdened by a vast estate; and at last reduced hls finances to such a condition that the Indla Office, wilch had made hlm advance after adrance, closed lts treasury and left hinh, as he thought, face to face witb ruin. Then the fierce Asiatle blood ln him came out. Ie deciared hlmseif wronged, perhaps believed him self oppressed, dropped the whoie varnisil of clvilisation from him, and resolved to make an effort for the : ageance over which he had probably bromle for years. He pubiiciy repudated Christlisity, and went throngh a cereinony lntended to readmit him within the paie of the sllkh variety of the llindoo faith. Whetier it dld readmit him, greater doctors than we must decide. That an ordinary IIindoo who has eaten beef cannot lee readmlted to his own caste, even if the eating is involuatary, is certain, as witness the traditlon of the Tagore family; but the rights of the Royal are, even in Hindooism, ex. traordinarily wide, and we fancy that, had Dhuleep Singh succeeded in his enterprise, slikh doctors of theology would have declared his re. admisslon legal. He dld not, however, succeed. He set out for the Punjab intending, it caa hardly be doubted, if the sikhs acknowiedged hlm, to make a stroke for the throne, If not of India, at least of Runjeet Singh; but he was ar. rested at Aden, and after months of tieree dis. pute, let go, on condilton that he should not re. turo to Indla. He sou, ${ }^{\text {sht }}$ p protection in Rassia, Which he dld not obtain, and at last gave un the struggle, made his peace with the India Oflice, took hls pension again, and llved, chietty in Paris, the llfe of a disappointed but wealtiy ldier. There was some spirit $\ln$ his adventure, thoughlt was unwlsely carried out. The English generally thought it a blt of foolhardiness, or a dodge to extract a loan from the Indla (filie; but those who wet responslble held a different opinlon, and wout- have gone ncarly any iength to prevent his reachiag the Punjab. They were probably wise. The heir of Runjeet night have been ridleuled by the sikhs as a Christian, but he might also lave been accepted as a reconverted man; and one successful sklrmlsh $\ln$ a distric mlght have called to arms all the 'chlldren of the sugar and the sword,' and set all India on fre. The slkhs are our very good friends, and stoor by us agalnst any revival of the Empire of Delhl, their sworn heredltary foc; but they have not forgotten Runjeet Singh, and a chance of tite Empire for themselves might have turned many of thelr heads."-The Spectator, Octorer ${ }^{2} 8$, 1893.
A. D. 1852.-The second Burmese War.Annexation of Pegu.-"Whiie Lord D;ilhousie Was laying out the Punjab like a Scotch estate, on the most approved principles of planting, road-maklng, culture, and general management, the chance of another conquest at the opposite extremity of his vlce-kingdom summoned him to Calcutta. The master of a trading barque from Chittsgong. who was charged unjustly whlth cruelty to a pilot, had been fined 1100 by the authorities of Rangoon, and tise captailu of brig had in like manncr been amerced for alleged lii.treatment of his crew. To suppurt a claim for restitution, two English shlps of war had been sent to the mouth of the Irrawali Misunderstandings arose on some inexplicable point of etiquette;" the British conmorlore scize a royni yacht whlch lay ln the river; the angry Burmese opened fire on his shlps from their forts: and, '"witii an unprecedented economy of time and' troubie in the discovery or making of plau sible pretexts, a second war witil ilurnali was thus begun. A long catalogue of alfonts, wrongs. and lnjuries, now for the tirst time poured $\ln$. . . The subjects of the 'trolden Foot ${ }^{\prime}$ minst make on oflicial apology for their misheliavlour, pay ten laes compensition, and recelve a permanent lesident at langoo. If tiese demands were not met within five weeks, further reparation would be exaeted otherwise, anll as thcre was no fear that they would, preparations were made for sn expedition.

The Governor.Generai threw himseif with enthuslasm Into an undertaking whlch promised hlm another chance of gratifylige, as hls biographer says his ' passion for imperial symmetry.' He resolved 'to take in kingdoms wherever they made a gap in the red line running round his dominions or broke its internal continuity.' There was a gap ia the ring fence between Arracan and Mouimein, which Pegu would fili. The iogicai inference waa ciear, the duty of appropriation obvious. Let us have Pegu. Ten mililons of silver happealag just then to lle in the comers of Fort Willlam, how couid they be better invested than ia a juagle on the sea coast, inhahited hy quadrupeds and bipeds after tieir varlous kinds, ailke unwortby of being consuited as to their future destlay ?. . In Apri, Martaban and Rangoon were taken witb trifing ioss. Operations being were taken witb trifing ioss. Operations being suspended during the rainy season, the city of Prome was not attacked tiii Oetober, and after a few bours' struggie it feil, with the ioss of a siagle sepoy on the side of the victors. There was in fact no serious danger to encounter, save from the elimate ; hut that unfaling ally fougbt with terrible effect upon tbe slde of Ava. Oa the 20th December, 1852, a prociamation was issueti, which, after reeiting undisgulsediy the ineffably inadequate pretext for the war, in. formed the inhabitants that the Governor in Councll had resoived that the maritlme province of Pegu siould heneeforth form a portion of the Britsh territories in the East, snd warning the King of Ava, should he fail to renew his former relations of friendshlp with tbe Britisb Governmeat, and seek to dispute its quiet possession of the proviace, the Governor-Generai would again put forth the power he held, which wouid lead to the totai subversion of the Burman Stste, and to the ruin nind cxlie of the King and his race.' But no depti of humiliation couid bring the Sorerelgn or his Ministers to acknowiedge the hopelessness of defeat or the permanency of dismembermeat.

Twenty years have passed, and ao treaty recognising the ailenation of Pegu bas yet [in 1872] been signed. "-W. M. Torrens, Empire in Asia: How ree came by it, ch. 24.
Also In : E. Amold, The Marguis of Dalhousie's Administration of British Inilia, ch. 15-16 (c. 2). A. D. 1856. - The annexation of Oudh. See COH.
A. D. 1857.-Causes of the Sepoy Mutiny. -"The various motives assigned for the Muting truth seems to be that the European mind. The truth seems to be that Native opinlon througinout India was in a ferment, predisposing men to believe the wildiest stories, and to rusb into aetlon in a paroxysm of terror. Panie acts on an Oriental pppulation ilke drink upon a European mob. The annexatlon poliey of Lord Daihousle, although dictated by the most enlightened considerntions, was distastefui to the The spread of education, to the Native mind. The spread of education, the appearance at the graph momeat of the steam-engine and the tele. graph wire, seemed to reveai a dicep pian for subThe Bengai sepoys especiatiy Indlan eivilisation. could see furthers especialiy tbought tbnt they could see furt her than the rest of their country-mea. Mout of them were many of them were recruited from of high caste; reginled our reforms on Westers ilnes as attacks oa their own natlonailty, and they knew at first hand what annexation meant. They believed it was by thelr prowess that the Punjah had been conquered, and that ail India was heid. The widous, were the first to icarn or their heirs and vaatage of this spirit of disaffection to take ad-

3-13

They had heard of the Crimean war, and were toid tiat Russia was the perpetuai enemy of Engiand. Our munificent pensions had suppilied the funds with which they couid buy the ald of skilfui intriguers. They had much to gain, and littie to iose, by a revolution. In this eriticai officiai affairs, of whicb the Government had no offlcial knowiedge, a rumour ran through the cantonments tbat the cartridges of tife Bengai army had been grased with the fat of plgs, damals unclean alike to Hindu and Muiamma. dan. No assurances couid quiet the minds of the sepoys. Fires occurred nlghtiy in the Native innes; offieers were insulted by their men; confidence was gone, and only the form of diseipiine remained. In sidition, the outbreak of the storm found the Native regiments denuded of many of their best officers. The niministration of the great emplre to which Daihousie put tbc corner-stone, required a iarger staff than the civil service couid suppiy. The praetice of had iong existed, received for civil posts, which heiopment existed, received a sudden and vast deveiopment. Oudi, the Punjab, the Centrai Provinces, British Burma, were administered to pany's exegiments, picked offleers from the Company's regiments. Good and skilfui commanders remalned; but the Native army bad nevertineiess been irnined of many of its brightest intelieets W. W. Huest witis at the very crisis of lts fate."W. W. Hunter, Brief IIist. of the Indian People, ch. 15. -" The annexation of Oudh ind nothing to do witb the Mutiny in tine first place, though our measure certalnly did add to the number of our enemles after the Mutiny commeneed. The old government of Oudb was extremely obnoxlous to the mass of our native soldiers of the reguiar army, who eame from Oudh and the adjacent pmolnee of Behar, and with whom tbe Mutiny originated. Tbese men were the sons and klnsmen of the Hindu yeomen of the country, ali of winom beaefited more or iess by annex. ation; while Ondh was ruleci by a Muhammadan family whieb had never idientified itself with the people, and whose governmeut was extremeiy people, and whose governmeut was extremeiy oppresslve to ail ciasses except its immediate crestures and foiiowers. But winen the introduction of the greased cartridges bad exeited the Native Army to revolt, when the mutlneers the nothing before them short of escape on the saw hand or destruction on the other, tbey, and all who sympathised with them, were driven to the most desperate measures. Ali who could be influenced by love or fear railied round them. Aii who had littie or nothing to inse joined their ranks. Ali that daugerous elass of reiigious fanatics and devotees wbo abound in India, aii the poilticai intriguers, who iu peaceful times can do no mischief, swelled the numbers of the enemy, and gave spirit. and direetion to their measures. India is fuli of ruees of men, who, from time immemorial, have lived by service or hy piunder, and who are ready to join in any ment. Oud which may promise tben empioyment. Oudh was fuil of disbunded soldlers who had not bad time to settie down. Our gaols furnished thousands of desperate men iet loose on society. The cry throughont the country, as cantonment after caatonment became tbe scene of triumpbant mutiny was, 'Tbe Engilsh rule is The an end. Tortus plunder and cnjoy ourselves." The industrious ciasses tbroughout India were

INDIA, 1857.

The Bepoy Mutiny.
INDIA, 1857.

On the one side they saw the few Englah in the country shot down or fylng for thelr lives, or at the best tanding on the defenslve, sorely pressed; on the other alde they saw summary punimment, In the shape of tho plunder and destruetion of thelr houses, dealt out to those who alded us. But when we evlnced algns of चlgour, when we began to assume the offenslve and vindlcate our authority, many of these people came forward aud ldentlfied themselves with our cause." Lord Lawrence, spuech at Ghagno, 1860 (guoted by Sir O. T. Burne, in "Clyde and Strathnairn," ch. 1).

Aleo IN: J. W. Kaye, IFint. of the Sepoy War in India, bk. 2 (v. 1).-G. B Malleson, The Indian Mutiny of 1857, ch. 1-5.
A. D. $1857^{\circ}$ (Mar).-The outbreak at Mee-rut.-Seizure of Delhi by the Mutlneers.Massacre of Europeans.-Exploslon of the magezine, -" The station of Meerit, some 40 miles north-east of Delhil, was one of the very few in Indla where adequate means exlsted for quelling an outbreak of natlvo troops. There was a reglment of Engllsh IDragoons, a battalion of the 60th Rifles, and a strong force of Ilonse and Foot Artllery, far mus than sufficlent to deal with the three native regimenta who were also quartered in the cautonment. The courtmartial on elghtr-five men of the 3 rd N. C. Who had refused to take thelr cartrilges, had by this time eompleted its inquiry. The men were sentenced to long terms of Iniprianment. The sentence was carried out with impressive solemnity. On a mornlag [Slay 9] presently to become historieal - the heavens sombre with rolllng clouds - the brigade assembled to hear thelr comrades' doom - to see them stripped of their unlform anul secured with felons' nuanacles. The scene proxluced Intense emotlon. Reslstunce was inpossible. There were entreatles, tears, Imprecations, as the prisoners were marched away to jall. Disclpline had leen vindlcated by a terrible example. The next day was Sunday. In the evening, as the European IRiflemen were gathering for Church, a mudden movement took place In the native quarters. The Cavalry dashed off to the juil to rescue thelr iniprisoned companlons. The two Infantry regiments, after $\rho$ moment's wavering, threw in thi ${ }^{-6}$ lot with the mutineers. Then ensued a scene swch as, unlappily, became too famlllar in Cepper India within the next few weeks. Offcers were sliot, honses flred, Europeans - men, women, and chlliren, wherever fouml, were put to the sworl. A crowd of miscreants from the jall, sudelenly set free, made a long nlght of pillage. Meanwhile paralysed liy the sulden catnstrophe, the English General of the Dlvision and the Brigadier of the Statlon forebore to aet, refused to let their subordinates act, and the Sepoys who had thed, a disorganised mob, In different directions, soon fonnd themselves gathering on the march for Delhi. In the early morning at Delld, where courts and oftices had already begun the day's work, a line of horsemen were deseried galloping on the Meerut rad. They found thelr way Into the clty. Into the presence of the Klog ; cut down the European officlals, and, as they were graditally relnforced by the arrlval of freah companlons, commenced a general massacre of the Christlan population. A brave telegraph clerk, as the mutineers hurst iu upon hlm. had just tline to Sash the dreadful tidings to Lehore. Before evening, the astive regiments ired upon their oflicers and jolned the mutlneers. Aftrr wrary hours of hope for the help from Meerut wheh never came, the Britlah ofticers in commund were compelled to recognlee that the only chance of safety lay ln flglit. Ere the day closed, every Furopean who had risen that morning In Delhl, whs dead, or awalthg death, or wandering alout tho country in the desperate endeavor to reacli a pluce of enfety. A day dark with dlanster was, lowever. Illumined ly the first of those herole acts which will make the slege of Della inmortul. The insurgents hal their first taste of the guality of the race whose ascendancy they had elected to assall. Litutenant Whlloughby, the officer In charge of the Magazlne, and elght galhnt comprantous. re. solved, carly in the day, that, if they couli not defend thelr Invaluable supply of ammunition, they would destroy lt, though its destruction pould almost certalnly involve thelr own. For hours they defended thelr atronghold aguinst an overpowering crowd of assallints. The truin wus lald: the sergeant who was to fire it stiond realy: Wllloughby took a inat look out ujew the Merrut roud: the assallants were swaming on the wnils. The viord was spolen: a vust column of flume and emoke shot upward. Tw, thou. sand of the assallants were blown lato the air fand five of the defenders perished, while Wil loughliy and three of his companlons ese, iferi) The thunder of tlat explosion announced to the mutheers that one preat ohject in the selzure of Delhi had escaped thelr grasp." -11 . S. ('ouning lum, Earl Cunning, ch. 5.

Almo in: J. W. Niave, Hint. of the Njey Wip in Iulia, bk. 4, ch. 1-4 (n. 2).
A. D. 1857 (May-August). - The situation at Delhi.-Siege of the English at Cawnpur. -Their surrender and massarre.- The siege of Lucknow.-" A few clays of Inartivity al. lowed the flame to blaze up beyond posibility of inmedlate exthethon. The unelablingut w. cupatlon of the Muglal capital ly relnd semps and budmashes was followed by risings and mis sacres In aluost every $\varepsilon$ athon withlu range of the example: and from Firozpur, Bareilly, Mone. dabud, Shalijuhanpur, Cawnpur, and names. ons other places . ime harrowing tales of matsacre, suffering, and herolsm. Wian this terrible news resched army leurl-quarters, it was rectied with a perhaps natural lucredulity. Neremthe less, a force was hastily assembled at Ambais and with the troops flus mobilisal. Crivers Anson, then Commander-In-Clief, malde preps. rathons to march agalnst the renownial city d the Mughal. The liftle force had lurdly starini, lowever, when its leader dien of clateri Har 8ith). It was not untll the 1st of Jume that (ren. eral Burnard, who had succeetled teuphrarily ${ }^{3}$ the chlef command, advanced in carate: agaise the now jubilant rehels. Mcawwhio, a smat bemp of 1reops under Brigadler Archulah Wilas marches out from Meerut, ufter a disanome delay; and the comblind force, amounting wable 3.000 Europeans gid one hattalion of truplibso fought lts way onwards tlll It reached the outskirts of the clty on the 8th of June. 1 sis. ITe may now refer to the three great points - Deibi Cawnpur, and Luckuow, round which the Ms: ting was, so to speak, centred during the rarlife period of the revolt; itomely. from y 4. 1 nis till the arrival In Indla of Sir Colin Canaselt

In August of that jear. The modern city of Delhl wat founded by the Emperor Jahangir in 1631. Sltuated on the right bank of a branch of the Jumna river it was, as It atill is, surrounded by a high wall some weven millea In extent strengthened hy bastlons and by a capacious dry ditch. The British force held the elevated ground known as the Rlige, whith extends two miles along the northern and ventern faces of the city-a position taken up some centuries befure by Tlmur Shah and his Tartar hordes when draneligg to attack oid Delli. At intervals along the Ridge stood the Flagrtaff Tower, the Observatory, a large manslon calied IIindu Kao's bouse, and other defensible buildings. The space between the chty and the Rldge was thlckly pianted, for the most part with trees and shruls; In the midst of whlch might be seen numemus mosques and large houses, and the ruins of older position held hy the britione evident that the position held hy the British force on the Rudge was a falie one; and the question amse whether the city migbt not be taken hy a coup de main, seeing that it was lmpossible elther to in rest it or to attempt a reguiar siege with any chance of success. A plan of assault, to be carried out on the 12th of June, was drawn up hy a young Engiber officer and anctioned. Had thia assau. "t delirered the city would la all likeli. to a se been taken and held. Fof But owing to mirariage the moie to be regretted becrnse the early rennpture of the city retted becr יse the carly renppture of the city would in all outirraks. As matters stiond, however, the gailast iittle force before Delhi could burely hold its ntin. It was an army of observathos per. perually harassed hy an active enemy. As time sitat on, therefore, the question of raising the siege in favour of a movement towards Agra Was more than once serionsly discussed, but wos fortunately almadoned. On July 5th. 1857, Gen eral Barnarif died, worn out with fatigue and anxiety. ile was suceeted in command hy reperal Archiale Wilson, an officer who, posisessing to special force of character, did litile nore than secure the safe defence of the position until jab Aucust Brigadier Nicholson from the Punof a 5 Aug met 1 the $185 \%$, with a moveable column of 2, man men, Europeans and Sikhs. And here We may lave Delhi, for the moment, deferring till later any further details of the siege city of Cawnpur, situated on the southe. The the rism Ganges, situated on the south hank of the risur Ganges, 42 miles south. weat of Linckfow and 200 miles from Delht, lies about a molc strip of lami between the sandy plala. On the space broken by ravines river and the tomn, a Space broken by ravines, stretched the Civii tion tuholdi in an extremity cannot well be posi. ceired, occupial as : Sepoy regintents as ' Was hy four disaffected tiflerymeg to overaw in but sixty European arorer, an incompetent commandere was, inoreaiter the disasters at Meremmander. Realasing natire garrison was Meerut and Lelhl that his natire garrison was not to be trusted. Sir Hugh clase is the Senos make.gi ft entrenchment sifes, it was tepoy lines. Commanded on all But a worse mistaly unfited to stand a siege. time worse mlstake was to follow. Alarmed as Wheeler at leagth asied the notoriour Hugh Sabib [see above; A. D. 1848 the notorious Nson Sabib [see above; A. D. 1848-18.56], who lired a few mlles of at Bithur, to asslst hlm Wlth tronps to guard the Treasury, Forsome months prespreading discontraikor emissarie had been spreading discontent throughout India, but he himself had taken care to remalo on good terma with hls Eurcpean nelghbours. Ife now saw hands by the ntisplaced con, delivered into his ders, was virtually aced contivience of its defensuccour there was his keeping. Of European place was dermed. The crash cance hope. The Wefore General Barnard's force rane three days With the exception of a few devoted natives who femained faithful to their salt, the whole Sepoy the doors of of June rose in revolt, ofened and made themedred, robbed the treasury, The Nana east alde masters if the magazlae. friendship and, joiaed by the mutinc protence of laid siege to the eatrenchment siready mentloned, which with culpabia nulitary ignorance had been thrown up in one of tise worat posltions army numbered some chosen. The besieging sieger could only some $3,0(0)$ men. The bediers, more than $\% 0$ of which number were in valids. For tuenty one days the iittle were lasuffered untoll horrors from starvation garrison and the onsla ghts of the rebels; until the Gen. eral in comm nd iistened to overtures for Gen. render, und the garrison niarelied out on the surof June. to the number of about 450 souls, $\mathbf{y}$ roFided with a promise of safeguard from the Nana, who would allow them, as they tiomught, Tantia Topi, whe uftery boats for Allahahad. in Central India, superinte led became notorious No sooner, however, were the Europeans pliced. in the boats, in apparent safetr, than a placed of guns concealed on the river banks opened fire, While at the same time a dendly fusillade of musketry was poured on the lnckless refugees. IIe celelaratedigth ordered the massaere to cease. hy prochaimins wimat ealled his siurtous vletory by prociaiming himself Pesinwa or Maratha Sovereign, an't hy rewarding his troops for their sivors of hi.: 'ievements,' while the wretched surFivors of hi: 'rear bery, numbering about 5 men and 308 wn Cawnpur and cond children, were taken back to furticer vengeance and ingult small huilding for July came the last act of ing On the 15th of Nana, having sufferel a crusis tragedy. The hunds of Rrigadier liaceloch's defeat at the day's march of Cawnpur as will force within a eurded, put the whole of as will presenily be reThe med, put the whole of his prisoners to death. The men were brought out and killed in his presence, while the women and chllifen wer haeked to picees by Muhammadan butchers and others in thelr prision. Their bodies were thrown into what is now kunw as the 'Cawnpur Well."
know, at the time of the Mutiny, was in tatiou, in extent, and in tbe number and immost cities of India. . . . The Resideney stood on a hill gently sioping to Turds the river, and was an lmposing editice of three stories. Near it were the iron and stone hridges over the Seper. . At the outhreak of the Muting the tles within the city, while the 32 nd Fons locait. only European regiment on the spot, Fas quartered in a harrack alout a mile or so from the Recidency. As wis the rase eisewhere, of it happened it Lucknuw. While the popisintion and native garrison were meething with medition, the Britiah authoritics were hampered by ignorancc of popular feelling, hy the want of Europesin troops, and hy d! icied counsels. So, hy the end of May, 1857 shic rebellion in Uudh became an accompllabe $t$ fact, although matters went on with compr, ative sinoothness in Incknow itself. At leagth after a serious dianster at Chinliat. the Britsh garrison was forred $u$ withdraw to the Resldency and Its adjacent luil.'Ings; and on the 1st of July conmur 'iced the famous inverstment of thls poss'ion ly the reled furces. The poaition was 114 aispteni for defence; for this lol'ty winllows of the Residency fiself not only allowed free necesa to the enemy's missiles, but its roof was wholly exposed. On the opposite side of the street, lendlig from the balley Guard Gate, was the house of the Iasillency Surgeon, Dr. (now Slr Joseph) Fayrer. It was a large but not lofty bullelling with a tiat rixof whleh, pro. tected by sand bags, afforded a gow incover for our riflemen, and with a tyekhana, or nolergrounil stury, that afforded good slelter for the women and ehllilren. But as n whole, the tiefences of the Resilency were more formilable in name than in reallty, aud Fere greatly wenkened by the proximity of high bulldings from whleh the rebels wlthout danger to themselves poured an unceasing fire. The slege had an omlnous commencemen* On July 4th the much-beloved Sir Henry Lawrence, the Resldent, dled of a wound receivel two tlays hefore from an enemy's shell that hai fallen finto hls room. Brigadier Inglls succeeled hir iu commaud; anil for three months the her ic garrison of about 1,700 souls held thelr watk position, amld inconcelvible harilshlps anil daugers, agislast thousands of the rebels who were constantly relnforeed hy fresh ievies. It was well sadid in a gencral order by Lord Cannligg that there could not be found in the annals of war an achievement more herole than this defenee."-Gen. Slr O. T. Burne, Clyde and Etrathnairn, ch. 2.

Also IN: J. W. Kaye, Ifist. of the Sepoy War. bk. $8, c h .1-3$ (c. 3).-G. O. Trevelyan, Caunpore. $-T$. R. E. Holmes, Miat. of the Indian Muting. ch. 8-10, Lady Inglis, The Niege of Lurknono.
A. D. 1857 (June-September).-The siege, the storming and the capture of Delhi. - Murder of the Moghul princes.- "D During the four months that followed the revolt at Delhi on the 11th of Say, all polltleai interest was eentred at the anclent eapital of the sovercigns of IIn. dustan. The publle mind was occasionally distracted by tbc curtent of events at Cawnpore and Lukhnow, as well as at other statlous whieh need not be particularlsed; but so long as Delhl remained In the hands of the rebels, the natlve prinees were bewildered and alarmed; aud lts prompt recapture war deemed of vital importance to the prestige of the British government, and the re-establishment of British soverelgaty In Hladustan. The Great Moghui lad becen llttle better than a mummy for moro tban balf a century, and Buhadur Shah was a merc tool anul puppet In the hands of rebel sepoys; hut nevertheless the British government had to denl wlth the astounding faet that the rebels were fighting under hls name and stanilard, just as A fghans and Hahrattas had done iu the days of Ahmad Shah Durani and Mahadaji Sindia. To make matters wonce, the roanis to Delhi were open from the manth and east ; and nearly every out break in IIIndustan was followed by a stampede of mutlieers th the ohl cupital of the Morhals. Meanwhilc, in the abmenee of rallways, thore were unfortuate clelays in bringing up tronim and kuns to stamp ont the fres of rebellion at the head centre. The hlgloway from Caleutta to Iellal was hockedi up hy inutlny and Insurnec thon; and every Euroyean aoldler aent up fom Culcutta was stipped for the rellef of thenarea, Allulabhai, Cawnpore, or Lukhnow Buat the posseralum of the Punjab at thls crisls provel io be the salvathon of tho empire. Sir iohu Law. rence, the C'hlef ('ommbsituner, was ealled upoa to preform almost superimman work:-to maid taln order ln n newly compured provinco: w suppress mutlny and dikaftertion amonkst the vary erioy reglments from Jongul who were supposed to garriwn the country; and to sent reip. furcenents of troops and guas, and supplies of all descriptlons, to the singe of ithai. Furt nately the slklis had been only a few shori yean under Britisli mlministration; they had nut for gotten the miseries that prevalled nular the nis the government, and could appreelate the naty blesslngs they enjoyed under Brithsh rule. Ther were stannch to the Brlilsh goverumber, and eager to be led agalust the rebels. In sume citeterrible pmishment was meted out tomutinus. Bengal sepoys whthin the Punfab; but the im. perlal interests at stake were sultichent in justifr every severity, although all must rugr: the palnfui neresslty that ealled for suche extrme measures.

The defeuens of 1 hilh] corend an area of three square miles. The walls ted slated of a serpes of instlous, ainout sixtcen fiti hlgh, connectel by long curtalns, with wia slonal martello towers to ald the Hanking tio

There were seven g.ita's to the city, namels Lahore gate, Ajmir gat S. Turkoman gate, itu gate, Mori gate, Kabu' gato and Kashmir gait The principal street was de Chanlui Chow Whlch ran lin a dreet ilne from the inchi waie to the palace of the Moghuls.

For man, reths the Britlsh army on the IRidge was numble to si: tempt slege operations. It was, In fillt, the la sleged, rather than the beslegers; for, alhoud the bridges in the rear were hlown up, the cams was exposed to eontlnual ssaults from all the other shles. On the 23 ral of June, the lundretit anniversary of the hattle of Ilassy, the enery made a greater effort than ever to earry the Bri: ish lusition. The attuck hegan on the righ from the Subzi Mundl, It whject lieing to can ture the Mound battery. Finding it itupastitie to carry the buttery, the rebelo continand thet selves to a hand to hand contliet lat the swhe Mundl. The deadly struggle coutiuneti for mas: hours; and as the rebels came up in overmbcim. lag numbers, it was fortunate that the $t$ wi bridges in the rear hai been blown up the nis b : before, or the assault might have had a diatenz: terminatlon. It was not untll after suba: isu: the enemy was compellet to retire with the dow of a thousand men. Shallar actions wert in quent during the month of August; but messwhilc reinforecments were coming up, 220 the end wasilrawing nigh. In the nildihe of duyasi Brigadler Johm Niebolson, one of the nus: de tinguisherl offirers of the the, ceme $: \frac{n}{f}$ from the Punjab with a brigate and siese train. the 4 th of Septembr heavy train of arivitir

Wa brought in from Ferozepore. The British force on the Hidge now excreded 8 , MOM man Bltherto the srtllery had ixeen too weak to atinwit to hreac , the city walls: but now fifty four heary guns were brought into position and the siege liegan in exrauth. From the gth to the 13th of september four batteries pouredi in a cunatant storm of shot and sheli; number one was directed against the Kashmlr hastlon, numix: two agalnst the right Hank of the Kashmir lastion, number thifee agalnst the Water bastlon, and number four against the Kashmir and Watir gates and bastlons. On the listh of Septemivir the breaches were declared to be practicable, and the following morning was fixed iot the final assunit upon the doomedicity. fit three ordicking the moralng of the 1 th Sertember, tirce as. saulting colunus were formed in the trepches, Whist © furth was kept In reserve. The tirst column was jed by Erigatier Nicholson: the secund by firisadler J nes: the third by Colonel Camplejli; ant the four.h, or reserve, hy lirigadler Longtiell. The powder bags were lald at the Kashmir cate by Lieutronants Ifome and Salkeld. The explosion followed, and the third colunin pushed in, and pushed towards the Juma Musjid. blanwhlle the tirat coiumu under Siehol. son encalalleri the hreaches near the Kushnil gate, and jushryl along the ramparts towards the Kabul gate, earrying the stverai hastlons In the wiy. Ilire it was met by the second colamon under Brigadier dones, who had escaladr.. the brearh at the Water hastlon. The arlvancing columns were nut hy a ceaseless fre from ter. racoll houses, mosques, and other huildings; and Juhn Sicholson. the hero of the duy, whilst at. tempting to storm a narrow street near the Kahul gate, sits struck down by a shot and mortahy whadel. "-J. T. Wheeler. Short Ifist. of Indir, 1.3. ch. 25.-"The long autumn day was over, anl we were in Delhl. But Delhi was, hy no mraus, curs cixty six offleers and 1,100 menbearly a thir that la, of the whole attacking forichlad faien; whlle, as yet, not a sixth part of the town was in our power. Ifow many men, it micht weil be asked, would be left to us hy the time that we had conquered the remalnder? We held the line of ramparts which we had at. tackind and the portions of the eity mmediately adjoining, but nothing more. The Lahore Gate snd the Magazine, the Jumma Musjd and the Palara, wre still untouched, and wer. keeplng up a heavy fre ra our position. Wi rse than this, a large number of our troops fiad fallen victims ti) the temptation whlch, more formadable than themselros, our fres had left behlnd them. and were waliowing in a state of bestial intorication. The enamy, meanwhile, had been alie to maintain their pusltion outside the town; and if oulr. at this supreme hour, a heaven sent Gen. dave pitached our amongst them, they might mave attacked our camp, defended as it wag nl hy the sick, and the malmed, and the halt. thy ware we in quite so periloustory of the Mu. the wight which quite so perilous a postilon as on success which follosed our greatest millitary success. General Wilson. indeed, proposed, a eetblui conditon expected from a man in his endraw the condition of mind and body, to with. waw the guns, to fall buek on the camp and is newlless to forments there; a step which, it the dewily work to do over have given us ail force should prove abie to maintaln itself on the Rlige thi relnforcroments eame. But the urgent remonatrances of Bulrd smith and others, hy wowl if mouth; of Cham. erlain, hy lettre; and, jurhats also the echoe. Which may have reached him from the tempe t-tossed hern who lay ciafing against hls cruel destiny on his death. Iredi, and exefalmed in a willi paroxyam of pas. sion, when he hearif of the move which was In contemplation. 'Thank Goxi, I have strength encough left to slomit that man, turued tise Gen. erainonce more from his purpose. On the fol. lowing day. the lith, vast quantities of the intoxicating rlinks, which furd wrought such lavie amongst our nurn, were destroyed by Gen whth rlvers of orir. and the streets literally ran Mrunwhile of brer, and wine, and hrandy. Mronwhile, the tresps were sleepling off thelr drunken drbauch: and on the 10th acilve operathong wrre rexumed. On that day the Magazlne Was thken, and Its Fast stores of shot and sheli, and of ali the 'thaterial of war, feli once more Ints the fiamils of their projer owners. By sapfor tiree days from house to house we managed, whieh, ince and more, to a vold the street-flgiting Whieh, once and agaln, has proved so denoralls. fug to Engitshunen; and, slowly but sureiy, we rowing part of the culty ofs lito that ever-narfor themselves the chty of which, fortunately for themselves, they stlll helif the Irolt-holes. Many of thrint iadl already ingem, ilke rats, to pripulathon of the city flocked now the unarmed pripulathon of the city flocked In one continuous stream out of the open gates, hoplng to save thelr lives, if aothing else, from our arenging sworis. On the 19th, the palace of the Mloguls, which had witnessed the last expiring flieker of life in an eftete dynasty, and the cracl murder of English mran, and women, and ehlliren, fell into our handy; and by Sunday, the 2utín, the whole of the cily-in large part airenly a elty of the rlead - Was at our mircy. But what of the King hlmcelf and the I'riuces of the royai house ? They had slunk of to the tomh of llumayoun, a hege huilding, alnost a city in litseif, some miles from the modern Delin, and there, swayed this way and that, now by the boller splrits of hisarmy who pressed him to put himself at their lead anif fight it out to the death, as hecame the deseendant of Tamerlane and Baber, now hy the cutreatles of his young wife, who was anxious ehlefy for her own safety and that of her son, the hwir of the Moguls; and now, agaln, by the plausible suggestions of a double-dyed traltor of his own house who was in Ilodson's pay, and a kiss of peace whe head of his fanily with a kiss of peace, was endearoring to detain hlm where he was till he could hand him over to his -mplorer and recelre the price of hlood, the poor old monarch dozed or fooled a hours of bis sovervignty mhich remained, the hours which might sill make or mar hlm, in paroxysms of intucile vacillation and despair. Tue traitor gainel the day, and Forlson, who cuuld play the game of foree as weli as of fraud. and was an equa! ulept at either, learning from, his craven-hearted tool that the King was prepascut to surreniler on the promise of his life. went to Wilson and ohtained leave, on that condi. tion. to hering him latic. Delhi. The errand, with such a promise tacked on to it, was only half to Hodson's taste. 'If I get into the Palace, he had written in cool blood some days before, 'the house of Timour will not be worth tive minutes' purchase, I ween.' . . After two hours of bargalning for his own life and that of his queen sind favourite son, the poor oid Priam tottered forth and was taken back. In a bullock-cart, a prisoner, to hif own clty and Paiace, and wins there handed over to the civil authorfies. Hut there werc oth r member of the royal family, me Hoxson kne well from hie informants, aliso lurking in llumayoun's tomb.

Witis a hun. dred of his famous horse Ifodicon started for IIumayoun's tomh, and, after three houre of ne. gotiation, the three princes, two of them the sons, the other the grandson of the King, surrendicred unconditionaliy into his hands.
Their arms were taken from them, and, escorted by some of hls horsemen, they too were des. patcheel in buliock carts to wards Delhi. Whith the rest of his horse, Hodson atayed behind to disarm the large and nerveless crowd, who, as sheep having no shepherd, and unahle, in their paralysed condition, to see what the brute weight even of a flock of sheep might do by a midien rush, were overawed by his resolute bearing. This done, ise galloped after his prey and caught them up fust before the cavaicade reached the walls of Helhi. He orlered the prlnces mughly to get out of the cart and strip,-for, even in his thirst for their blowi, he had, as it would seem, an eye to the value of their outer clothes, - he ordercil tbein lato the cart agaln, he selzed a ear. blne from one of his troopers, and then and there, With his own isand, sbot them down deliberately one after the other. It was a stupid, colif. blonkled, there fold minder.

Ilad tbey been put upon their trial, dlsclosures of great impor. tance as to the origin of the Molay eould hardiy fail to have locen elielted. Their pumsliment would have leen propartloned to tbelr offence. and would have been meted out to them whtb ail the patient majesty of offended law."-R. B. Smith, Life of Laril Latrrence. r. 2, ch. 5.
Ai.so in: ilr R. Temple, Iord Laverence. ch 7.-The same Men andil Eirents of my Time in Inrlid, rh. J.--J. Cave-Brown, The Itunjab and Delli in 185\%.-G. B. Malteson, IFiat. of the In. divin Mutiny, bk. 10, eh. 1 (r. 2). - Major Modson. Trelee Furra uf a soldier's Life in India, pt 2 : The Delhi Cumpaign.
A. D. $1857-1858$ (July - June), - General Havelock'a campaign, - Sir Colin Campheil's. -The Relief of Lucknow, - Substantial suppression of the Muting.-' Meunwhile the greatest anxlety prevailed with regard to our countrymen and countrywomen at Lacknow and Ciwnpore. Tbe Indian government mate every effort to relieve them; but the relnforce. monts which hal been despatched from England and China came in slowly, and the demanis made for asslstance far exceeded the means at tbe disposal of the goverument. . . . The task of relieving the clty was entrusted to the hernie Generai Ihavelock, who marched out whih i mere handful of men, of whom only 1,400 were Britlsh soldiers, to encounter a large army anci a Whole country in rebellion. At Futtehpore, on tbe $12 t h$ of Jilly, he defeated a rastly superior torce, posted In a very strong position. After glving his men a day's rest, he advanced again on the 14 th, and routed the enemy in two pitched battles. Next morning he renewed hls advance, and whth a force of less than $000 \mathrm{~m} \cdot \mathrm{n}$ attarked 5,000 strongly entrenched, and commanded by Nana Bahlb. They were outmancruvred, cut flanked, beaten and dispersed. But for this oignal defeat they wreaked their vengesnce on the unfortunate women and children who stili remalned at Cawapore. On the very day na which the battle occurred, they were masacred under circumstances of cruelty over which we must throw a veil. The well of Cawnpore, in which their hacked and mutilated bodley were flung, presented a pectacle from whleh soldiers who hall regarded unmoved the carnage of nu. merous hattle-delds shrank with horror. Of all the atrocities perpetrated during this war, 10 fruitfui $\ln$ horrors, this was the moat awful; and it wss followed hy a terrihie retrihution. It stecled the hearta, and lent a furfous and fearless energy to the arms, of the British suldiery. Wherever they came, thes gave no gularter io the mutineers; few men often frantleally attacked hundreds, frantically but vainly diftind. ing themseives; and never ceased till ail hat been bayoneterl, or shot, or hewn in pleces. All those who couid be shown to have been ac. eomplices In the perpetration of the murden thst had been committed were hung, or howa from the cannon's mouth. Though the latrepld Havelock was unable to save the women and chlidren who had been imprisoned in Cawnore, he pressed forward to Lneknow. But the force under his command was too small to enalile hlm to drive of the cnemy. Mennwhile Sir J. Gutram, who was now returaing from the Persian war, whieh bad been brought to a silccessfud concluslon, was sent to Oude as cblef commis. sioner, whth fill elvil and milltary power. This appointment was fully deserved; but it had the effect, probahly not thought of by those who made lt , of supersedlng Havelock just as he $\pi$ as about to achieve the crowning suecess of his rapld and glorfous career. Outram, however, with a generosity which did him more real hon: our than a thousand vletories would have con ferred, wrote to Havelock to Inform bim that he Intended to joln him with adequate relnforce. ments: addllng: 'To you shall be left the glory of relieving Lueknow, for which you have already struggled so much. I shall aceompany you oniy In my civil eapacity as conmmisioner, placing my milltary servlee at your disposal, should you please, and serving under you as a volunterr.' Thus Ilarelock, after gaining no fewre than twelve hattles against forces farsuperior in numbers to the litile band he origlaully 1 d , was enabled at lingth, on the 2isth of Xugnt. to preserve the clvllians, the women, aad chilifren of Lucknow from the hnpendlns horrons of an. other massacre, whleb wouhl no doult hare leen as fearful as that of Cawnpore. The lligh. landers were the first to enter, and were wei romed with grateful enthusiasm by those whom they had saved from a fate worse than death However, the enemy, recovering from the panic which the arrival of Havelock and his troops had caused, renewed the slege. Sir Colin Campbell, who had assumed the coinmand of the Indian army, hail determined to march to the relief of Lncknow. Ife set out from Cawnpore on the 9 th of November, hut was obiliged to wait till the 141 h for relnforcements, which were on the way to join him, and which ralsed the force under his command to $5,000-\mathrm{a}$ force numerically far inferlor to that wbicb it was $\omega$ attack. On the 17 th of November the relief of

INDIA, 1857-1858.

ournment framuforred to the Imilion Croen

INDIA, 1858.

Lucknow was effeck f. The music of the Highhad regiments, piaying 'The Campbelim are coming, announced to their deilighted country: men inulde the city that the commander-in.chief himself was with the reilieving force. Little time, however, was aliowed for congrntuintions and rejoicinga. The iadies, the civiiianm, and the garrison were quietiy withdrawn; the gunn, whleb it wat thought not deainhie to remove, were burst; and a reireat eflected, without afford ing the enemy the niightent suspicion of what was going on untif nome hours after the town had been evacuated by its defenders. The retreating foree reached Dilhasha on the 24th, without baving sustained any eerlous moientation. There the galiant llavelock sank under the triain and bardsilitiss to which he had been exposed, and yleided up the iife which was instrumental in preserving so many othera from the most terribie of deatis. While Sir Colin Campteil was engaged in effecting the relief of Lucknow, inteiligence rached Cawnpore that a large hostle who commanded towards it. Generai Windham, Who commandel there, unacquainted with the number or the powition of the approaching force, marched forth to meet it, in the hope that he ahould be able to ront and cut up the advanced gusnd before the main boxiy of the enemy conid come to its assistance. But in this expectation be was disappointed. Instead of baving to deal with the van, he engaged with the whoie rebei siny, sud his littie foree, assulied on ail sides, was obliged to retire. Ile at onee despatched a letter to the commander-in-chlef, requesting him to hasten to bls assistance; but it was intercepted hy the enemy. Fortunately Sir Coiln Camplefi, though ignorant of the criticai position of his subnorlinate, came up just at the moment when the danger was nt its height. This was on the 2sth of Novernier. He was, however, in no baste to attack the foe, and was content for the present merely to hoid them in cieck. Illis first care was for the safety of the civilians, the Fomen, and tbe children, which was not secured till the 30th; and he continued to protect them tiii the 5 th of December, w'en tbey were ali safely lodged at Aliahabad. The enemy, un. aware of the motive of bis seeming innction, condlent and sudalous ienuth turned fiercely on On the 6th he at fength thrned flerceiy on tbem, completeiy deiested them, and seized their baggage; he then undersed and drove away another large force, watching command of Nana Sailib, which was smy eatcred engagement at a iftifie distance. The srmy entered tbe residence of Nana Saiub at Bithanr, nnditook possession of much treasure, which of the cnemy's coied in a weil. Neariy the whole of the 'cnemy's artiliery was captured; and the amy. being overtaken as thicy were in tie act of destrored. of coure, numbers of them were nor, being of course, for the moment Luckthe banis of the ger garrisoned, had falien is: the hands of the insurgents; hut tbey were not long permitted to retain it. Strong reinforce. ments srrived, and the Indian government was fieient to send a force against Lucknow suf. 15 the of Do overwheim ail resistance; and on the 15 th of December this important eity was in the undisputed possession of This final recorerysion of the British troops. cided the reconquest of tice capitai of Oude de. cided the reconquest of that country. A strug. gle was, indeed, maintained for some tinio longer; Innumerabie batties were fought; und the Anal subjugation of the country was effected in the month of June, $1848 .{ }^{\circ}$-W. N. Moien. orth, Hiot. of Eing., $1830-1874,0.8$, eh. 2. Sir O. T. Burne Forbea, Haselock, eh. B-7. Gen. shad weli, Life of cblin and Kyrathnairn.-Gen. 1, eh. 1i, and of Cbin Campbell, Lord Clyde, 1, eh. 11, and ©. 2, eh. 1-18.-T. Lowe, Ceniral India तiuring 1857-8.
A. D. 1858. The Governor-General'e Proc-Eamation.- Termination of the rule of the East Iadia Company. - The goverameat trang ferred to the Crown.- - By a singuiar circum. the Governo tbe mutiny was suppresseri in $18: 58$ had heen condennai, who in the previous year had heen condemned for leniency whici was thought lii-timed, was destinei to receive cenaure for harmhness which was deciared unnecenarry. On the eve of the fali of Latcknow, he drew up a procinmation confliseating the iand of wil the great landowners in Ondb. Exception Landowners who male to this sweeping decree. promised exemption from prove their ioyalty were unconditionalipt surrendicreni, nund whose hand Were not stained with British blowni, were oftered pardon. There is no cionbt that Canning, in drawing up this prociamation, relieci on the exceptions which it containel. Whife there is equaily locked its parent ertics wio objueted to it over ocked its parentieses. But its issue was made the basis of an attack whileh weli-nigh proved That to the Governor-Generai's adiministration. erston wances of party warfare hadi repiaced Paim erston with Derby; andi the Conservative minister had entrusted the Board of Control to the before, had astonisined Incif who, fifteen yeara prociamation. prociamation. ... Eilenborongis thougit proper despatch, ani to ailow insis censure to be made public. For a short time it seemed impossible that the Governor-Generai who bad received Burh a despatch could continve hifs government. But the lapse of a few dia showed that the minister who had framed th in the Viceroy wiod framed th iespatch, and not the Viceroy wio bad receivi it, was to suffer from the transaction. The pul ; recoliecting the ministration, aimos suie, the mercy of his adhe sioulid not bave unanimousiy considered tbat he sionidid not bave been hastify condemned for a document which, it was graduaily evide.nt, hat ough, to save infs colleaguestondi, and Elicaborther part of Jonah, and retired frontecred to play the part of Jonah, and retired from the ministry. Tis retirement cioses, in one sense, the history of Mutiny iad, aimost But the transactions of the Mintiny iad, almost for the first time, taught the puinif to consider the anomalies of Indian government. Iu the course of a hundred years a Company had been suffered to acquire an empire nearly ten times as iarge and as populous as Great Britain. It was true that the ruie of the Company was in maly respects nominai. The President of the Board of Controi was the true head of the Indian Government, and spoke and neted through tbe Secret Comimittee of the Conrt of Dir stors. But tbis very circumstance oniy acceniuated tice anomaly. If the President of the Bonrd of Contrai was in fact Indian minlster, it was far simpier to make bim Indian minister by name, and to do away witb the clumsy expedi-
authority. Heace it was renerally dectided that the rule of tha Company should cemee, and that Indla shoull thenceforwand become one of the pomemolons of the crown. . . . A great danger thus led to the removal of a great anomaly, and the vast Inclian emplre whlch Engilahmen had won was thenceforward taken lato a nation's keeplng."-8. Waipole, Ilist, of Eing, from 1815, ch. 27 (c. 5). -The act " for the better govern. ment of Inclia," which was panmed In the autumn of 1888, "provided that all the territories pre. plounly under thic government of the East Indla Company were to be veated In her Majesty, and all the Company's powers to be exercined 'n her nanie. One of her Majeaty's principal Becretarles of State was to have all the power prevlously exerelsed by the Company, of hy the Buard of Controi. The Seeretary whe to be as sistell by a Council of India, to condiat of nfteen members, of whom aeven were to be eiected by the Court of Dlrectors from their own boxly, and eight nominated hy the Crown. The vacancies among the nominated were to beflied up by the Crown; thome among the electerl by the remaining members of the Council for a certain thee, hut afterward by the Secretary of State for india. The competitive priuelple for the Cloli servico wna extended $\ln$ lis application, and made thoroughly praetical. The mlititary and naval forces of the Company were to be deemed the forces of her Majesty. A clause was introduced deelaring that, except for the purpose of preventing or repelling actual invasion of India, the Indian revenues sionid not, without the con. sent of both llouses of Parliament, he applicable to dicfray the expenses of any military operation carried on beyond the external fronticrs of her Majeaty's Indlan possenslons. Another clause enacted that whencver an order was sent to India directing the commencement of hostillties by her Majesty's forces there, the faet should be communlcated to Parliament within three months, If l'ariliament were then sitting, or, if not, within one month after its next meetling. Tiucse clauses were hearl of more than once in later days. The Vleeroy and Governor-General was to be supreme in India, but was to be assisted hy a Council. Indla now has nine provinees, each under its own eivli government, and independent of the othera, hut all subordinate to the authority of the Viecroy. In aeeordance with this Act the government of the Company, the fumcd 'John Company.' formally ceased on September 1st, 1858 ; and the Queen was prociaimed thronghout India in the following Novenber, whith Lord Canulng for her first Viceroy."-J. McCarthy, Hint. of Our Oien Times, ch. 36 (c. 8).
Also IN: Sir II. S. Cunningham, Earl Canming, ch. T-9.-Duke of Argsil, India under Dalhousie anal Canning.
A. D. 1861.-Institution of the Order of the Star of India. Sec Star of India.
A. D. 1862-1876.-Vice-regai administretions of Lords Lawrence, Mayo and North-brook.-1.0rd Canning was sueceeded as Viceroy by Lord Elgin, in 1862; but Eigin only lived un. thl November, 1883 , and hls successor was Sir John Lawrence, the savior of the Punjah. "Sir John Lawrcuce's Viceroyalty was an uneventful time. Great natural calamitles hy Pamine and cyclone feil upon thi country, which cailed forth the philanthrople energles of Government and people. Commerce passed through an unexampled crlals, taxigg akill and foresight. But the political atmosphere was calm. With the exceptlon of little Prontler wars, waiteful of re. sourres that were sorely neaded, there $#$ a nothing to divert the Ooverament from the ecutlon of achemes for the Improvement of phyaleal and moral conilltion of the propie" Bir John Lawrence hell the Viceroyalty untll Jnnuary, 1869, when he was succeeded by lond Mayo and returned to England. Ile whs raiud, In that year, to the peerage, under the title of Ba on Lawrence of Punjab and Grateley. Ile dlen ten years later.-Blr C. Itchimon, lond Laverence, eh. 7-12. - Lord Lawreace'a lmineliste succesoor, LowI Mayo, was assansinaterl, while Vleeroy, in 18i2, hy a convlet - a IIlghlanilerat the convict rettlement on the Anlaman Islands, for no reason of pernonal batrwi, but only because he reprenented the governing authority whlch had condemnel the man. Lon Mayo was sueceedel by Lord Northbrook, who held the ofitice from 1872 to 1876 .-Sir W. W. Ilunter. The Eiarl of Mayo.
A. D. 1876.-Lord Ljtton, Viceroy.- The succemor of Loril Northimmok in the Vice re al offlee wan Lord Lytton. appointed In 19:8.
A. D. 8877. - The Natlve Statea and their quasl feudatory relation to the Britlsh Crowa -Queen Victoria's asaumption of the title of Empress of India.- "In sonse mense the Indians were accuatomed to consifice the Coinpany, as tiey now consiller the Queen, to be the linitr of the Great Mughal, and therefore unlversal suzeraln by righit of succemsion. But it is easy to exaggerate the force of this elaim, which is fisel? a mere restatement of the fact of conquest Pollteaily, India is divileml into two parts, rom. monly known as British territory and the native statc. The firmt portion alone is ruled directly by English officials, and lts inhabilitants alone are subjeets of the Qucen. The nutive states are sometimes called feudiatory - a convenlent term to express their vague relation to thr Britloh crown. To define that relation preclscly wnutid be impossible. It has arisen at different tinns and by different methols; it varies from senisi. in. deper dence to complete subjection. Some chiefs are the reprecentatives of those wiom we found on our first arrival in the country; others owe their existence to our creation. Some arc partien to treaties entered into as between cqual powen: others have consented to recelve patcutis from thelr suzerain recording their limitedi rights; with others, agaln, there are no written engage. ments at ali. Some have fought with us and come out of the struggle without dishovour. Some pay tribute; others pay none. Their es. tent and power vary as greatly as thelr pulitical status. Tin Nizani of lladdarabad governa kingloun of - 000 squame miles sud $111,010,000$ inhablants. So, ne of the petty elaleftaing of Kalhiawar cxernlse authorty over only a fer ares. It is, however, neecssary to draw a line sharply circumseribing the native states, as a class, from Britesh terfitory. Every native chie? possessea a ccrtain measure of local authmitr. whieh is not derivative but inherent. Engliah controi, when and as excrcised, is not so much of an administrative as of a dipiomatle nature. In Anglo-Indian terminology this sharde of mean. ing is expressed by the word 'political.
a genexal propnition, and excepting the quite hasignificant states, it may be stated that the poverament is carried on not only in the name but also hy the indiative of the aative cblef. At ail the large capltals, and at certain rentree round which minor mitates are grouped. British ofticer is atatfoned under the sty ie of Iiesldent or Agent. Through him ail cilpiomatic altals are coniucted. Ile ls at once an ambanautor and a controiler. IIf duty is to represent tbe majeaty of the suzeraln power, to keep a watchful eye upon abues, and to encoursge reforms." -J . N. Cotton, Chlonies and Drpenileneies, pr. 1, ch. 8."The supremacy of the British Government over all the Sative States In Indla was deciared in 14i\%, in a more emphatic form than it had realvei lefore, by tie amamption by the Queen of the titie of Kalatr-I-IIInd, Emprens of India. No such gsthering of chiefs and princes has taken piace in historical times as that seen at Dellit In January, 1877, when the rulern of ail the principai states of ladia formally acknowleciged thrir depeniance on the Britiah Crown. Tive iolitical effert of the assertion of the supremacy of the paramount power, thus formaily made for the tirat time in India, has been marked ani ex. tremeiy Important."-Sir J. Strachcy, India, leet. 11.

INDIA, 1677.

Almo In: G. B. Malieson, Hist. Sketen of the Vinfire Ninter of India.
A. D. 1878-1888. -The second Atghan War. Sre Aruhanimtan: $\cdot$ D. 1809-1881.
A. D. 1880-1893. - Recent Viceroys. - On the defeat of the Conservative Beaconatiein Ministry in Engiand. In 1880, Lard Lytton resigned the Viceroyaity and was succeeded by the Maryuis of Ilipon, wbog gave piace in turn to the Marquis of Dufferin In 1884 . In 1888, the Marquis of Lansdowne succeeded Lord Dufferin. and wis himself succeeded in 1803 ly Sir Fleary Xorman.
A. D. 3893.-Suspension of the free coinage of siiver.-In June, 18m? the Indian Govern. ment. with the approvai of the Britiah Cablnet, stopped the free colnage of sllver, with a view to the introduction of a goid standari. The Goveroment, it was announced, while stopplug

INDIAN EMPIRE, The Order of the.-An Onder Instituted by Queen Victoria in 1878.

INDIAN TERRITORY: 1803.-Embraced ia the Louisiana Purchase. See Louiblana: A. D. 1708-1003.
A. D. 1824.-Set off from Arkanaan Territort. See Areansas: A. D. 1810-1836.

INDIANA.-The Aboriginal Inhabltantm. See American Abormines: Aloonquian Family, Alleahang, aud Delawabeb.
A. D. 1700-1735.-Occupation by the French. See Canada: A. i). 1700-1785.
A. D. 1763--Cession to Great Britain. See Sefen Ieahs War: Tie Treaties.
A. D. 1763.-The King'a prociamation exciuding settlers. See Northwest Termutory: A. D. $1: 63$.
A. D. 1765 -Possession taken by the Englinh. Nec illunors: A. D. 1765.
A. D. 1774.-Embraced in the Province of Quebec. Sue Canada: A. I). 1763-1774.
A. D. 1778-1779.-Conquest from the Britiah by the Virginian General Ciark, and annexation to the Kentucky diatrict of Virginla. See the colange of the decliniter metal for private pernons, would continue on le own sccount to coln rupees in exchange for gold at a rato then ised at sisteen pence sterling per rupeo.

INDIANA.

"The cloning of the vaintis of Britiah India to the coinsge of silver colns of full-deht-paylag power is the mont momentous event in the monetary bistory of the present century. It is the Anal and diantrous how to the use of siiver as a measure of value and as money of fuli-deht-pay. tag power, and the relegatlon of it to the ingi. cuim of a subsidiary, of token metal. It is the cuimination of the orolution from a siiver to a gold staniard which bas been propreming with itarting mpidity la recrnt gearm.... The re markable serien of eveuts which have claracterlzed, or made manitemt this evoiution from a sliver to a goid mtandaml are neariy bli condeased in the bric period of twenty years, and are probabiy without a pareilel in ancient or modera monetary history. t . Wi of England the slagle excep. tion of England, all Europe forty Jearn ago bad the allver miandard, not oniy legaily hut actually - silver colns constituting the great butk of the money of actuai transactions. To-day, not a mint In Europe is open to the coinage of tuil-debt-paying sliver coins, and the gateways of the Orient have been ciowed against it. Twenty years ago one ounce of gold exchanged in the markets of the worid fir fiften and one-half ounces of siliver; to-day, one ounce of goid wiil huy nearly thirty ouncen of nilver. . g. There is a general impression that siiver has been the money of Indla from remote generations. This is a tailacy. It has not been a great many years since India adopted the siiver atandard. The an. clent money of the Hiarions was goid, wh'ch in 1818 was suppiemented by allver, but goid coins remained iegai tender untii 1835. When nliver Was made the soie standard of vaive and legai tender moncy in British India, and goid was de. monetlzed. During the iast flity odd years, India has absorbed vast quantities of siiver."E. O. Leech, The Doom of Sileer (Tho Forum, Aug., 1898).
United States of Am. A. D. 1778-1779, Clark'a conqueet.
A. D. ${ }^{1} 884$,-Inciuded in the proposed states of Ansenisipia, Metropotamia, Illinola and Polypotamia. See Norteweet Territort: A. D. 1784 .
A. D. 1786.-Partlaliy covered by the weatern iand ciaims of Connecticut, ceded to the United States. See United States of Ax. : A. D. 1781-1786.
A. D. ${ }^{17} 7^{8}$.-The Ordinance for the government of thr Northwent Territory,-Perpetual exclunion of Siavery. See Northwest Terri TOAY: A. D. 1787.
A. D. 1790-8795.-Indian War.-Disastrous expeditiona of Harmar and St. Clair, and Wayne'a decinive victory. See Nontiwest TERAITORy: A. 1). 1790-1795.
A. D. 1800. - The Territory of Indiana organized. See Nonthwest Thraistory: A. D. 1788-1842.
A. D. 1800-18:8.-Successive partitions of the Territory.-Michigan and Ilinois detached. - The remaining Indiana admitted as a State. - "Indiana Tcritnry as ortginaliy op ganized [in 1800]... Included the county of Knox, upon the Wibash, from which has spring the Arate of Iodiana: the county of Ac. Clalr, on the Upper Mimatalippl, of Illinota Kiver, from Which hate aprung the Atate of IIfleots; and the county of Wayme, upoa the Detrolk Raver, from which han aprune the state of Michiran. Al thla time, the inhableanta contained in all of them did not amount to more than 5,640 soula, while the aggregate numher of the Iodian tribes within the extrune linite of the teritory was more tinan $100,(10), \ldots$ Br sucerasive triaties, the Indian title was extinguished. . ulually to ali the country lying upon the waters of the White IRiver, and upon all the lowet tributarlea of the Wabasb, upon the Little Wabach, tie Kaskankia, and eant of the Minsiminpl, below the mouth of the Illinols. Thun, inefore the clowe of the year 1MOS, wearly ati the wouthern half of the priment State of Indiana, and one thiril of the Btate of Ilii. nola, was open to the alvance of the enterpris. Ing ploneer. . . In I407, the Ferleral govern. ment, in like manner, purchasel frum the Indians extenalve regiona west of Detrolt Miver, and within the prement State of Michigan, far heyond the limite of the winte setticmentin in that quartep. Srantime, the settiements formerly compriael lu Wayne county, having increased in Inhabitanta and importance, had been erected into a acparate territuriai government, known and designated an the 'Terfitory of Michignn.' On the int of Juiy, 1805, the terrtory entered upon the fist graile of territorial goverament, under the provisions of the orilnance of 1787 ; and Williaun Iluil, formerly a lieutenant in the Ikevolutiunary army, was made the first govcrnor. . . . Detroit . . . was mate the meat of tbe territorial governmeat. ... By the close of tbe year 1qud, the Indiana Territory east of the Walnsh hai recelvel nuth an increase in num. leres that it was di'-irall. to assume the secri- 1 prale of territoriat govirnnient. Having a population of 5,000 free vihitr males. agress, with a dew to a future state government, by an act approved February : $\quad 40$, restricted its limits, and antiorized $\mathrm{a}^{2}$ t oriai Legisiature. The Indlana Territu.. from this time, was boundifi on the west lig. . liac extending up the midille of the Wahmiti, fmm its month to Vin. cennes, ani thence by a meridian due north to the southern extremily of Lake Micblgan. On ibe norti. It was lumnied by the southern line of the Michigan T'erritory. That portion west of the Winmash was crecteli into $n$ separate terr. torial government of the tirst grade, kuown and designitell as the 'Illinols Territory.' Tise inbabitunts of the Indiluna Territory soon began to augment more rapidiy. . . In 1810 tbe people bad ineremserd in manivers to 24.500 , and in the newiy urected Turritory of Illinols there was an aggregate of 12,300 perwons." In 1816 " it was ascurtuincd that the Indiana Territory possessed a population which entitied it to an indiejendent state gove rument. Congriss anthorized the election of a convention to forma a tate Constitation," and " 'the new 'State of Indians was formaliy admitted into the Cnion on the 19 th of $A_{p}$ ril, 1816." Twe yers iater, on the 3d of December, 1818, the Terrifory of lifinois was similariy trunsformed and became one of tbe states of the Unton.-J. W. Monette, The Diecooery and Setthernent of the Minnianipni Valley, bk. 5, eh. 16 (v. 2). ALso in: J. B. Dillon, Hiat. of Indiana, eh 81-47.-A. Davidson and B. Stuve, Hist, of Hllinoid, ci. 2ü-20.-T. MI. Cooley, Nichigan, eh. \&.
A. D. 1888,-General Harrieca's campeira Eynage Tgemmenh and Mis Learen,-The EAftis of Tlppecamen. Bee United Hpates of Am.: A. D. 1011 .
A. D. ses.-John Morsan's Rabei Raic. Gee Unitxn Etates or Am.: A. D. Itels (Jisy. Kentucky).

INDIANS, Amarican: The Nama.-" is Columbun suppoeet himaelf to have lunied io an inland at the extremity of India, he eviled the natives by the general appelition of Indiana, which was univernaliy adupted before the true nature of his discovery was known, aud hum nince been extended to ath the aboriginals of the Siew World."-W. Irving. Lijc and Viyages of Cimum bus, bk. 4, ci. 1 ( $n, 1$ ), -. The Epanish writern fmm the outset, beginning with Columbisu ia his lettern, call the natives of Americn, Indians, and their Engilah tranalators do the xime. No, too, 1zichard Eilen, the earilest Engliwit writes on Amerisan travel, applies the name to the natives of Peru and Mesiro. It Is umel In the mame way, both in tiansiations and orlyinal accounta, during tise reat of the century, bint it is aiways ilmitetl to thove faces with whom the Spuniarin were in coutart. In its wile-r and tater application the word does not merm to have eatabiluhed iteeff in Eug gissin till the next century. Tiue enrifest inatance I can tind, where it is ap. plied to tiee natives of North America genn milly In any orlginai work, is by llakiuyt. In limith traunlated lasudonniere's 'Ilistory of tio Frrnct Cotony in Florida, and dedicated his tramsiution to Elr Walter Raielgh. In this dedientlion be once umas the term Indian for the natises of North America. Ilerlot and the othicr writers who describe the varioun attempts at setticment in Virginia during the sixteenth century, invarlably cail the nativen 'savuges.' D' 'rhaps the earlicst instance wbere an Eingliwit writer uses the name Indian apecialiy to derarthe the occupants of the land afterwarifs colunizul by the Engliah is in the account of Archer's voywe to Virginia in 1602 . Thia accuunt, written by James Rosicr, is published in Purchas (voi Iv. b. vili.). From that time onwarl the use of the turm in the wider sense beconies more common. We may reasonably infer that the nes of it was an Indication of the growing knowiedice of the fact that tiee lands conquerel by the spmuinats and those explored by the Englisil furmalione continent."-J. A. Doylc, The EEnglinh in Amer. iest: limginia, ac. aprendix A.
The tribea and familes. See Americas iboRioleses.
INDICTIONS, The.-Tbe Indiction "was a cyele of 15 yenrs, used only by the lhomans, for i.ppolating the itines of certalin public taxes; as appears from the titie in the Corice, 'Je triturio Incicicto. 'It was establisised by Constuntine, a I' 312. In the 100 m of the heaticen Olympiatis; and was used in the acts of the Generait ('inncils, of C'hromalagy, e. 1, bk. 1.-"The Indictions cons. sisted of a revolution of is years, whath are separately reckoned as indiction 1, Indiction? &c., up to 15 ; when tbey recommence with Indiction 1. . . Doubt cxists as to the commencement nf the indictions; some writers nssigning the firt indiction to the jear 312: the greater number to the yenr 313; others to 314; whilst som phace it

In the year 814 . In 'L'Art de verifier les Daten, the yent 318 is fred upon an thet of the trit ls. diction. There are four suacriptions of intlic. thons. The Eist is that of Condantinople, which wan lustifuted hy Comstantine Io A. I. 812, and began on the Itt of Beptember. The necoad, and nure common la Eingland and Frunce, was the imperisl or Cimarean ladiction, whleli beren on the 2th of beptember. The thinl kiad of fadiction if eailed the JRoman or Pontiseal, from its being generully used In pupal hulla, at lenat from the ninth to the fourteenth century; it com. mences on the 25th of Decemarer or Int of Janis ory, wcordingly ms elther of theme disy was con. infered the dirst of the year. The fourth kind of ladiction, whlch is to be found In the regiate. of the parilamentis of Paris, began In the mont: of Ortober. . .. After the 12 th century, the indiction was rarely mentioned in pubile Instruments. . . . But in France, In private cimetem, ani in crciesiastical document, the umage continued uatil the end of the I5th century,"-Sir U. Nírolas, Chronology of Jistory, pp. 6-7.

Lemi in: F., Gibbon, Deeline and Fhll of the Rumatn Limpirr, ch. 17.
INDO-EUROPEAN, - INDO-GERMAN. 1C. See Anyan.
INIIONESIE. The Malar Archipelago.
INLULGENCE, Declirntions of. See Enntaxn: A D. 17it-16is: und 14si-1088.

INDULGENCES: The Doctrine.-Tetsel's nale. - Luther's attack. See Paract: A. D. 15ith-1517; and 1517 .

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION. See Edv. cation. Modehn: Revonms, dc.: A. D. 18651546.

INE, Lawe of (or Doome of). See Doovs or I.ve.

INEXPIABLE WAR, The. See CARThatiE: IB C. 241-239.
IN: ALLIBILITY, Promulgation of the Dogma of Pagal. See Papacy: A. D. 1809 Dog.
1s. iNGEVONES, The. See Gehmaxy: As EN: TU TACITES.
1NGAGO, Battle of (1881). See Socti AFACN: A. D. $1808-1881$.

INGE I., King of Norway, A. D. 115\%-1161. lnge I. (called the Good), Klng of Sweden, 100u-1112. . . Inge II., King of Norvay, 1120.j-120\%..... Inge 11., Klag of Sweden, 1118-

INGENU1. . -IBERTINI. - "Free men [among the 1 , mans] might be either persons curar e (lagenul) and who had never been in alavery to a Roman, or persons who had once beenslavers but had leeen emancipated (aibertini)." - IV. liwassy, Manual of Roman Antig., ch. 8.

1N1, King of West Saxona, A. D. 688-726.
IN1S-FAll,-INIS-EALGA. See Ireland:
INitiAtive, The Spiss. See ReperenDTM.
INKERMANN, Battle of. See Rersin: 1. 1). 1N. 54 (thetober-Novexnen).

INNOCENT II. Pope, A. D. 1130-1143. cent IV IV Pent III., Pope, 1188-1216..... Innocent IV., Pope, 12i8-1254......innocent $V$., Pope, 1276, Janunry to June......Innocent VI, Pope, 1352-1382. ....Innocent VII., Pope, 1404-1406.....Innocent VIII., Pope, $1484-$ 1402.....Innocent IX, Pope, 1501, Octuber to December. ....Innocent X ., Pope, 1044

INQUISITION.

1858, .... Ianecont XI., Pope, 1670-1089. Inarcent X11. Pope, 1091-17r. ...saneceni SIII. Popt I721-1724.
INNUIT8, The. Dee Amemican Amoniot. ※上円: Dokrmatar Baminy.

INQUISITION, The: A. D. I203-8s35.Oricin of the Holy Onice.-St. Dominic and

 the Domlaicane, The Eplecopal Inquisition. Sphe Apostollcal or Papal Inquinltion. - The Spanish Iaquisition and its terible rule.- Ee timate of nietima. - Expulaion of Jowi and Moors.-" In the esrlier agen of the Church, the detinition of hereny had heen comniltuel to eqfe. copni authority. But the eognisance of le erct es and the determinatlon of their punalament re. analaed In the hands of ercuiar maghatrates. At the end of the 12th century the wide diffuaion of the Albigensian heternloxy through Languedore sad Nortivern ltuly ainmmed the chiefs of Cinris. tendom, and furnlalici the Papaey with a goold pretext for extendiug its proroigntiven. Innocent Plerre de ('astelaan and two Frenels Cisterclans. therre de Castelam and ilaoul, to preach against the leretics of Provenere. In the following yeur lie ratifiod this mmminnion liy Bull, witlch ceriapreintai the ingencre and coldness of the blahopw appeinteri the Ablot of C'iteaux Papal delogate fil inntters of heresy, aml gave lio.. anthority to Juige and punisit misinilfevers. Thls was the first ferm of the lloly onlice ns a separate Tribunal. . . Ibelog a dintlact encrouchurent of the Papney upon the episeripal jurishlietion and prerogatives, the Inguisition met at inst wheh mome opposition from the hlshops. The jeeopia for whose perncution it was lesigneul, and at whose expense lt curried on its work, broke into rebellion; the first years of lis annals were rendered lilustrinus liy the muriter of one of lis founders, I'lerre de Custcinalu. Ite was canon. Ised, and bxconne the first saint of the indulasition.In spite of oppraition, the Papai Instlitition tonk root nud flourished. Philip Augustus responderl to the nppeais of linaccent; amen a cru. Rade began agalust the Abigenesa, lu which Simon de Montfurt won his sinister cejebrity. Durlug those biowly wars the lnyuialtion de. veluped itorif as a force of formidable expanaive cucray. Material assistance to the canse was remered by a Spanisit monk of the Augustine order, who settied la Provence on frls way back from Rome in 1906 . from Rome in 1908. I mumajgo de Guzinan, known to universul history as S . Doninfe, organlsed a new militin for the servlec of the orthodox Church betwecn the years 1215 and 1219. Ilis order, cailed the Oricr of the Preach. ers, was originaily deslgned to repress heresy and contrm the faiti, by diffusing Cutholic doctrlne nnd maintaining the croed iults purity. It consisted of three sertions: the Prearining Friars: auns living in conventuat retreat; and laymen entitled the Thirl triler of Penltence of the Militia of Cirist, who ia nftcr ycars were merged with the Congregation of S. Peter Martyr, nud corresponded to the familars of the Inifisision. Since the Doninicans were established In the lieat and passion of a crusade against heresy, by a rigld Spaniard who empioyed his energirs In persecuting misbelievers, they assumed at the outset a belingerent and Inquisitorial attitude. Det it is not strintiy accurate to represent g The Paple himself as the tirst Grand Inquisitor. The Papacy proceedec with caution in its design of forming a tribunal dependent on the Holy See and independent of the hishops. Pupal Legates wlth plenipotentiary suthority were cent to Languedoc, and decrees were lasued against the heretics, In whleh the Inquisition was rather implled than directly named; nor can 1 tind that 8 . Dominie, though he continued to be the soul of the new institution untll his death, in 1221, nbtalned the title of Inquisitor. Not. withastanding this vagueness, the Holy Office may be said to have been founded by 8 . Domlnle; and it soon became apparent that the order he had formed was destlned to monopolise its functions. This Apostollcal Inquisition was at one. Introduced Into Lombardy, Romagna and the Marehes of Treviso. The extreme rigour of its proceedings, the extortlons of monks, and the volent reslstance offered by the communes, led to some relaxatlon of its original constltution. More authority had to be coneeded to the blshops; and the riglit of the Inquisitors to levy taxes ou the people was moditied. Yet it retaineci, Its true form of a Papal organ, supersedling the episcopal prerogatlves, and overriding the seeular magistrates, who were bound to execute Its hiddilngs. As such it was admitted Into Tuscany, and established in Aragon. Venice received it in 1289, with certaln reservatlons that placed its proceedings under the control of Doge nnd Conncil. In Languedoc, the country of its $i$ trth, it remained rooted at Toulouse and Carcassonne; hut the Inqulsition did not extend lits authority over eentral and northern France. In Paris its funetlons were performed by the Sorbonnc. Nor dld it obtaln a footing In England, although the statute 'De Haeretico Comburendo,' passed in 1401 at the instance of the higher elergy, sanetioned the prinelples on which it exIsted.

INQUIBITION

The reviral of the Holy Office on a new and far more murderous basls, took place in 1484. We have scen that hitherto there had heen two types of Inquisition into heresy. The first, which remalned in foree up to the ycar 1203, may be calied the eplscopal. The second was the Apostolleal or Dominican: it transferred this juristiction from the hlsloops to the Papaer. who employed the order of S . Dominle for the speeial service of the tribunal Instituted by the imperial Deerees of Frederiek II. The third deserves no other name than Spanlsh, though, after It had taken slape in Spain, it was transferred to Portugal, applled in all the Spanish and Portuguese eolonles, and communlcated with some modifieations to Italy and the Netherlands. Both the second and the thind types of inquiss. tlon into heresy were Spanlsh inventlons, patenteal by the Roman Pontlfis and monopolised ly the Dominican order. But the thlrd and final form of the IIoly Office in Spaln distin. guished itself ly emanelpation from Papal and Roval control, and hy a speelfie organisation which rendered it the most formidable of lrresponsible englucs in the annals of rellglous institutions. . . Castile had hitherto been free from the pest. But the conditions of that kingdom offerel a good occasion for lits intro. duetion at the date which I have named. DurIng the Middle Ages the Jews of Castile acquired vast wealth and laftuence. Few familles but felt the hurden of their bonds and mortgages. Religlous fanatleism, social jealousy, and peeuniary distress exasperated the Christlan population: and as carly as the year 1891, more than

INQUISITION.

5,000 Jews were masacred in one popular up rising. The Jews, in fear, adopted Christianlty. It la sald that $\ln$ the 15 th century the population counted some million of converts - called Nem Christians, or, In contempt, Marranos: a wori which may prohahly be derived from the IIclerem Maranatha. These converted Jews, hy their ahility and wealth, crept Into hlgh officrs of state, obtained titles of aristocracy, and founded noble housce : . . It was a Slellian Inquisltor. Philip Barberis, who suggested to Ferdinadi the Catholle the advantage he might secure by extending the Holy Office to Castile. Ferdinad avowed hits willingness; and sixtus IV. gave the project hls approval $\ln 1478$. But lt nurt with opposition from the gentler-natured lsabelia

Then Isabella yleided; and $\ln 1+81$ the Holy oftice was founded at Seville. It legan its work by publishing a comprehensive edict agalnst all New Christlans suspeeted of Juluis. ing, whieh offence was so constructed as to cover the most innocent olservance of national customs. Resting from labour on Saturlay: performing ablutlons at stated tinics; refusing to eat pork or puddlings made of blowl; and abstaining from wine, sufticed to colour uccusitions of heresy.

Upon the puhlieation of this edlet, there was an exodus of Jews by thousands into the ficfs of independent vassals of the cruma - the Duke of Medina Sidonia, the Maryuis of Cadiz, and the Count of Areos. All emisrants were 'ipso facto' deciared hereties hy the lloir Offee. During the first year after its fmunda. tion, Seville beheld 208 persons hururd alise. and 79 condemned to perpetual Inlprisiminent A large square stage of stone, called the Que madero, was ereeted for the exceutlon of these multitudes who were destlned to suffer death br hanging or by flame. In the same ycar, 2(mi) were burned and 17,000 condemned to public penitence, whilie even a lirger number wit burned In effigy, in other parts of the kingrion.

In 1483 Thomas of Toryuemnila was nom? nated Inquisitor General for Castile and Arame Under his rule a Supreme Councll was estab lished, over which he presided for life. 1484 a Generai Counell was held, and the cunsti: tution of the Inquisition was estahishard ly artleles. . The two most formlidable fraturs of the Inquisltion as thus constitutell were the excluslon of the bishops from its tribumat and the secreey of its procedure. . . . In the aumma of 1484 the Inquisltion was Introduced into Ina. gon; and Saragossa became its headiquarters in that State.

The Spanish Inquisitien was now firmly grounded. Directel hy Torgnemada. It began to eneroach upon the erown, to insult the eplseopacy, to defy the Papacy, to grind the Commons, and to outrage by lis Insulcuce the aristocrasy.
year in pride., The lloly offlee grew every year in pride, pretensions and exactions. It arrogated to its tribunal erimes of usury, higamy. hlasphemous swearing, and unnatiral vice. Whleh a ppertalned by right to the secular cours It depopulated Spain by the extermlnation nod banlshment of at least three mililon ludustrints subjeets during the flrst 139 years of lits existence.

Torquemada was the geulus of tvil who ereated and presided over this full instru ment of human erime and folly. During lis eighteen years of administration, reckoning from 1480 to 1498, he saerifeed, according to Lloreate's calculatlow, above 114,000 victims, of rhem

INQUISITION.

10,220 were burned alive, $\mathbf{6 , 8 6 0}$ bumed in eftlgy and 07,000 condemned to perpetual imprisonment or puhlle penitence. Mc, too, it was who in 1492 compeiled Ferdinand to drive the Jewe from his dominions.

The ediet of expulsion was issued aa the last of March. Before the last of July all Jews were sentenced to depart, carrying no goid or sliver whth them. They dis. pused of their lunds, houses, and goods for next to nothing, and went forth to die by thousands on the shores of Afriea and Itaiy. Tbe exodus of the Jewn was followed ln $1,02^{\circ}$ hy a similar exolus of Moors from Castile, and in 1524 hy an exodus of Mauresques from Aragon. To eom. pute the loss of weaith and population inflicted upon Spain by these mad ediets would be lm. possible. . . After Toryuemada, Diego Deza reignel as second Inquisitor General from 1488 to 1507. In these years, according to the same calcuiation, 2,592 were hurned ative, 898 hurned in efligy. 34,852 condemned to prison or public penitence. Carlinal Ximenes de Cisneros followed betwren 1507 and 1517. The vietims of this deeade $\overline{\text { nere }} 3,564$ burned alive. . . Adrian. Bishop of Turtosa, tutor to Charies V., and sfurwarls Pope, was Iuquisitor Generai between 1516 amd 1525., Castile, Aragon, and Cataionla, at this eporh, simuitaneously demanded a reform of the Iloiy Offlce from their youthful soverelgn. But Charkes refused, and the tale of Adrian's ad. ministration was 1,620 burned alive, 560 hurned in efligy, 21,845 condemned to prison or publie penitence. The total, during 43 years, between 1431 and 1535 , amounted to 234,526 , ineluding ali drseriptions of condemned heretics. These figurrs are of neeessity vague, for tbe Hoiy Office left lout meagre records of its proceedings."-J. A. Symonds, Renaisance in Llaly: Tho Catholic heaction, ch. 3 (pt. 1).
A.so 1s: II. C. Lea, Mist. of the Inquisition it the Willtle. 4 grep- J . A. Llorente, Inist. of the Inf., ch. 1-12.-W. H. Prescott, Hist. of the Rign of Firdinand and Isabella, pt. 1, ch. of the 17.-See, aiso, Jews: 8TH-15Th Cesturies; and Moors : A. D. 1492-1609.
A. D. 1521-1568.-Introduction and work in the Netherlands. See Netmerlands: A. D. 1521-1555; 1559-1562; and 1588.
A. D, 1546.-Revoit at Naples. See Italy (Soctiern): A. D. 1528-1570.
A. D. $1550-1816$. - Establishment in Peru. See Periv: A. D. 1550-1816.
A. D. 1814-1820,-Restoration and abolition in Spain. See Spain: A. D. 1814-1827.

INSANE, Treatment of the See MEDICAL scieste: 18th-19th Craturies.

INSTITUTES OF JUSTINIAN Corpes Jomis Civilis.
The. GRUMENT OF GOVERNMENT, The. See Engiand: A. D. 1633 (Decemener), The. ThBRIANS AND CENOMANIANS. The.-These tribes of Cisalpine Gauls dwelt, one in the region of Milan, north of the Po, the other on the Mincio and the Adage. They, wero Rubjugated by the Romans, B. C. 222.-Sce Rove: B. C. 295-101.

iNSULINDE. See Malay Archipelago.

INSURANCE. - It is the opinion of Mr. Prederiek Martin, the historian of Lloyd's, that eral with mance, in some form or other, is co boun form, still known commerce itself. In the boan form, still known and largely practised under

insurance.

the name of "bottomry," $h t$ is believed to have prevaiied among the Phœniclans and Greeks, as it certainly did among the Romans. Bottomry is detiuel as the mortgage of a ship. 1 . e., her hull or botton, on such terms that. if the shli, be lost, the ifnder lowes the money advanced, hut If she makes her voyage safeiy he recovers his loan, with a certain premium in addition. That insurance in tiis form continued in practice after the fail of the Roman Empire, througbout tire Middle Ages, is not errtain: but if not, it was revived at least as eariy as the 14 th century, by the merchants of the Hanseatie League, who like. wise instituted the methods of insurance in their more nodern form. In England, tite first enact. ment for the reguiation of marine husuranee was passed in 1601, near the end of tbe reign of Queen Enizabeth. Cntil a comparativeiy recent tinte, the business was whoily curried on hy private underwriters. In $1 i 20$ the tirst Englishli companles - the Loudon Assuranee Corporntion and the Royai Exehamge Assurmure corporation were chartcred, and these companies were author ized to Insure against iosses by tire, as weil as against the risks of the sea. Enderwriting stili continued, however, to be mostiy in private hands, and was carried on at the coffee houses of tbe day, where mercinats and underwriters met and risks were offered and taken. These transactions finaiy centered at Lhoyd's Coffce House, on Lomharil street, and became so ilfen. tified with hts name tinat when, at iength, abont 1:30, the underwriters and brokers formed an association, they caiicel it "Llogd's," and the elifef organizatiou of marine insurance hears that name to this day. - F. Murtin, Hist, of Lhyyd w, eh. by - - The first office for insuranee against thas by fire is said to bave been opened in London in 1667, after the kreat fire, by N. Barbon. Th.: "Ildest existing in sianciety for fire-insurance, the "Ire-risks only untii $1 \times 34$ founded in 1696. It took fire-risks only untii 1 8iz. when ife-insurance was added The earliest known ife-poliey bears date June 15, 15 NB . It was underwrittern by thirteen private individuals, on the iife of one Wiltiam Gyhbous, for one vear, for the sum of $£ 3 \times 3.6 .8$ at a premium of $£ ४$ per ceut. About 16.50, societies for assurance of iives began to be formed, on the mutual pian, each surviving member paring a fised contrihution on rach occurrence of death. It was not untii 180 that a table of preminus was alupted graduaterl aceording to age. Tbe first real mortaitr talie, on which to found a scientiffe calcuiation of premiums, was prepared by Halley, the Astronomer Royai of Engiand, in 16833-Dict. uf Pul Economy; at. by F. II. Inglis Palgrare.- The şstem of mutuai insurance that has beru developed in recent times of Great Britalin nind "fraternal assoclatons" of of Great Britnin und "' fruterual assoclathons" of Amerlea is as old in prictice, at ieast, as tbe Middie Ages. The oripin of sonne of the eariest of the Euglish fricnifi. societics seems to traced with prohalility to the medherai to be Lraced with prohability to the medherai guilds. Leaving Free Masoury aside, as helonging lers distlnctiy in the catceror of friendiy societies, the several orders of Odd Feliow sand the Ancient Orier of Foresters date baek, in their modern form, to the first haif of the 18 th century. Tbe most extensive of the Odd Feilow organizatious. knowu as the Mancbester Litity, wa= foundel In 182. The Orier of Druids was founded in $1 \times$ ix the Loyal Onler of Shepherds in 1826 .-J. It

INSURANCE.

INTERNATIONAL ARMITRATIONS.

Baernrelther, English Asmeiations of Working. mon, pt. 2.-Besldes muny nutual henefit organizations in the United states that are affliated with the Orders mentioned above, there are numerous associations that have sprung up in America, - such as the Anclent Order of United Workmen, frst organized at Meadvilite. Pa., in 1868, hy John J. Upehurch; the Knights of Ilonor, founded in 18:3; the Knights of Pythlas, Endowment Rank, cstabllshed in 1877; the Royal Arcanum, founded In the same year; the Amer. iran Legion of Honor, datlug from 1878; the Kinights of the Maceabecs, and others, 000 many to be mentloned. A system of compuisory state insurance of workingmen was instituted by law in Germany in 1883. By the act of that year, the insurance was made compulsory against sick. ness only. Its provislons applied to many ciasses of workmen, clerks, and minor offlciais, whose daily wage does not excced $6 \frac{z}{3}$ marks ( $\mathbf{1 1 . 5 9 \text { ). }}$ "This iaw estahlished a compuision to be insured, hut it did not estahlish a compulsion to insure in a certaln assoclation. It maintalned the previously existing assoclations, and estahllshed three kinds of new associations. Every one can choose which onc he will join. If, however, he does not join any club of his own accord, he ls compelled to joln the we called communai siciz association. . . . When he comes into employment, ills employer pays the amount of his contribution and deducts it from the wages, provided the than does not tell him. 'i an a memher of a friendly society': in that case he has to show his ticket." In 1884, the compulsory system wils exteuded to insurance acainst aecidents ; in 1849 to a pensloning lnsuraure for old age and Invalidity. The German compulsory Insurance syatem lis helng mueil diseussed In other European eountrics. 1ts main femtures were adopted in Austria, lu 1838 , so far as concerns accident and slekness, while Hnngary enacted compuisory insurance against sicknesy in 1891 - $\mathrm{U} . \mathrm{s}$. Commissioner of Labor, Fourth Specinl Reprert (1893). -Accident insurance, in its present forms, ap. pears to have heen first organized in Great Brit. ain, in 1845. The first acedident company in the United States was formed at IIartford, in 1883. The principle of insurance has been extendet in recent tlmes to inost subjects of pecuniary risk, inchuding the fidelity of oflliais and enplogees and the payment of rents.
INTERCOLONIAL WARS. Sce references under America: A. D. 1689-1607, to 1748-1760.

INTERDICTS. See Ficomulnications.
INTERIM OF CHARLES V., The. See Germany: A. D. 1546-1592.
INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS, The question of. Sec Lisited States of Ay. A. I) 1817: aud 1816-1417.
"INTERNATIONAL," The.-"On September $2 \mathrm{Nth}, 1864$, a congress of many natlons wis held in St. Martin's Ifill, London, under the presideney of Professor Beessly. A committec was appointed, represurting England, France, Germauy, ltaiy. Poland, and swlizerland. for the drawing up of statutes for an luternational Workine Men's Association, whose seat should the London. . . It was not long before the Internationai Association beeame a power whlch Caused alarm to not a few European Govern. mients."-II. 11. Dawson, German Socialism and Firdinaml linwelle, rhe 13. Sre Soctal Move-

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATIONS.
-"In ancient times, when war constitutenl the normal state of peoples and the foreigner was everywhere treated as an enemy, arbltrations were necessarlly rare, and we do not find citler a general system or harmonlous rules governing the suhject. There were a few cases of arbitratlon in the East and in Greece, hut the mole of frocedure was not sulted to the temperameut of the pcople, and, after the peace of Home सa* establlshed, with the civilized world under one government, there was no place for $i t$, siluce arti. trutlon presupposes a conflict betweeu ind pond ent states. In the Mlddle Ages, owing to the peaceful infuence of the chureh, arbitration were more frequent, and yet thelr Influence was far from producing all the resilts which might have been expected, perhaps because Luropt was then divided luto a grat unmber of petty states, or because the rude manners of the period were intolerant of the idea of conciliation.
Tirc popes by degrees accepted the ldea that ther were placed above sovereigns and were the repro: sentatives of God on earth. In virtuc of their divine power the Joman pontiffs, recognized every where as the dclegates of God, from whom ali sovereignty emanates, constltuted themselies judges of all cases and eroked to their tribunal nil differences between peoples and kings. Innocent III. declared that the pope was the sorer. eign medlator on earth. The prlaciple of por fical sovereignty had so entered into the Beoners of the thmes that popes were often chosen aiso as volumtary arbitrators. It ha sometimes been said that their interrention. whether spontancous or speclally invoked, सม* more frequently employed in matters of privi; Interest and Internai poller, than of actual intir. national contlict. This may have lwen so in many instances, hut it caunot be deluied that they were aiso cailed upon to decide litigations much more important, as certain examples will readily show. Popes Alcrander III., Ilonorius III, John XXII., Gregory XI. were chosen es arhitrators in guarrels, which agitate4d Europe: and Pope Aiexander VI., by a decision of arbitratlon which is still ceiebrated, triced an imag inary line from poie to polc, dividing between the Apaniards and the Portuguese the possession of all countries discovered in the new world. And cyen after the schlsm of Engiand, when the Papaey had iost Teutonic and Gablo Tentonic Europe, and when Gallo-llomanic Furum was itself formed, the prestige of the pmpes was still so great that it forced itself on the 1 'oles and the Muscovites. But aets of opposition. which hegan to appear on the jart of kings by:fore the 1bth , whinry, were accentuated aftir that time and the cheiec of the pope as arbitrator became less frequent.

Beside the religious intlu cnce of the popes, we should place, as hating contrihuted during the Midulle Ages to the derelponent of arbitration, fendalisn, whirh while cxtending ltself over ail Eurome, naturally pre disjosed vassals to accept their lords us judges of their respectlve grievances. The most mi . nent of these ioris, the kings, were of ten chowe as arbltrators. chiefly the kings of Frase Saint Louis was constituted julge betwern Ilenry III. of Engiand and his barons. in 1263. and between the counts of Luxemburg and of Bar, in 1268 . Owhug to hls great wisdom and to the authority of hifs chatacter, Luasis IN.

ENTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION'S.

says M. Lacolnta, rivalled the Papacy In the rûle of conclllator and arbltrator. Phillp VI., Charles V., Clıaries VII., and Louis XI. were uli chosen as arbltratora. The other monarchs of Europe filied the role, though not so often, notably the kings of Eugianel. Ilrury II. and Wll. lim 111. But the commaission of arbitratlon was uct generaliy confideci to sovereigns from whom were apprehended attempts at absolute dominatlon. Occasionaliy a city assumed the diaties of arhltrator, bit suche occaslons were rare. . . The purliansents of France, renowned for their wisdom and equity, were chosen to setthe disputes between foreign sovereigns. Besides popers, kings, citles, und great constituted bodies, we may mentlon commissiong of arhitra tion instituted hy parties in proportions fixed ln mivance and in vested with fuil jower over partic. alar sabjects. The doctors of the Itailan universitics of Perugin and Pudua, and partienlariy of the celebrated Cnlversity of Bologna, were, says Wheaton, on account of their fame and their knowledge of iaw, often empioyed as dipiomatists or arhitrutors, to settic confilets be. treen the differeut states of ltaiy. .. Under the influence of reiigious and feudul ideas arbitrathons were rery frequeut in the Nidule Ages, whitb afford tle remarkibie speetacle of conteliiation and jence making their way amld the nost parlike jupuiations that have ever existed. Ther were especialiy frequent In Italy, wincre lu the 13 the century there were not less than a inms. dred between the prinees and Inhabitants of that coantry. Bat whea the Papney had renounced its rule over civll soclety, and absolite monarehles grainaily became estahlished In Europe on the ruins of feudalism, arbltrations became more rare. Tincy diminished during the eourse of the 1 th snd loth eenturies, and it is stated tirat from the end of the 16th cemtury tiil the French Rev. olution they lind almost ilisappeared from lnternational usage. . . If we siould try to dind juliciai rules tirat governed arhitration in tire different periods at which we have giancetl, we should discover that they did not present great sta. hility. ... The procedure, aiso, varied according to the case, hut it usually afforded ecrtaln guarantees and was lnvested with a certaln judiclal aspect. . The arhitral claase, or stipulation for the arhitration of ditticulties that may arisc, does not appear to have heen frequent in the Mildule Ages. or ln later tlmes, though we hare hal orcask: :-. elte some examples of lt. It seems, howe", to hare been In use hetween the commorciu! eities of Italy. Funtel relates tlint the swiss, in the aliances which they contractedi, whether anong themselves or with foreign peos. ples, had recourse to it; and he justiy praised them for it We may elte two applications of it in the case of the eities of Tigiy and the Swiss Cantons. In it trenty of ailiance conciuded in 123), betwen Genoa and Venlee, there is an arti. cle which reads thus: If a difticultr shouldi srise between the aforesaid] clties. Whicit camnot fasily be settled by themsel res, it shali be decided If the srhitratim of the Sorercign PontlfI: and that ifis the parties rioiate the treaty. We agree that ilis Iloiness sinali excommaniente the offending eity."'- M. A. Mérignhme, Traité Themique at thatique de l'Arbitrage Internationill. - The in irrof Inansiated from the French and quoted lig Prof Inhn Bassett Moore, In his '" History and line Internatlonal Arbltrations to which the U. S. has been a Party," $\nabla .5$, App. 8 (House of R. Mls. Doc. 212, 53 Coug., 2d Bess.). In a second part of the same appendix Prof. Doore glves a brief general review of "Arhltratlons of the Nineteenth Century," addltlonal to those to which the U. S. hns heen a party.

IONIAN ISLANDS

INTERREGNUM, The Great. See GERMANY: A. D. 1250-1272.
INTERREX, See Rome: B. C. 509; also, Senate, Romas

INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION. See UNITED States of Am.
A. D. 1 .
INTOLERANCE, RELIGIOUS. See INTRANSIGENTISTS. - In European politics, the extrente radicals.
INVERLOCHY, Battle of (1645). Sec
Scotianil: A. I. 1044-164:5.
INVESTITURES, The War of. See Papacy: A. D. 10.56-1122; and Germany: A. D. 973-1102.

INVISIBLE EMPIRE, The. See UNITED States of An.: A. D. 1866-1871.

IONA, Monastery and Schools of.
See Coldmilan Cincrif: and Edeciation, MediAYGL: IREIAND asd Scothand IONIA.-The Ionian elties on the eoast of Asin Minor. Sce Asia Minor: Tue Greek Colonies, and after.
IONIAN (DELIAN) CONFEDERACY,
The. See Gnerce: 13. C. 478-477; and ATHEN: 13. C. $466-4.4$, aud after.

IONIAN ISLANDS: To A. D. 1814.-Under Greek, Roman, Byzantine, Venetian, and French rule.-The group of mumerous lslands on the western coast of Grecce lins long horne the nawe of the lonian islands, though the andcient inhabitants were not sapposed to be lonic. Corfu (the Korky ra of the ancients) is the most popuious and historically the nost important (see Korkyra: also, Gheese : 13. (C. 43in-432. and 452). The islands passed ander the dominlon of Ronie; were joined In time to the Byzantine Emjine ; were oxrupied for a few years by the Normans of sicily: passed into the possesslon of the Venetians, in the 13th century, and were held by them for ncarly fire hundred years; suf. ferel titc rarages of the Turks, who were never aine to get Corfu into their hands (sec Terks (1). 1i14-1i18); were taken from Venice by Supolenu, in 1797, nnd transferred to Franee (see France: A. D. 179i-Mar-Get.): were occupied hy a Ruswo Turkish force, in 1799, and es. tabiished $\ln$ independence, as the "Repablic of the Seren Islunds:" ware recosered by the French in 1807 and tinsill lost to them $\ln 1814$. -C. II. Hanson, The Laid of Grecre, ch. 4.
A. D. 1815-1862. - The British protectorate established. - Its relinquishment. - Annexation of the isiands to the kingdom of Greece.-In 181.5, by the Treaty of Vienna, the lonian Isiauds were comstituted a sort of republic. umler tive protection of Great Britain, which had the right to garrison them, and to plaee a Lord Iigit Commissiourer at the liead of their government. They prospered under the nrranernernt. hut were not satistied. and in 185 M Mr. Gladstona Was appointed Lord High Commlssloner, with a viow to having the difenntent of the lowians weif considered. But "the population of the lsiands persisted In regarding him, not as the

IONIAN ISLANDS.

IRELAND.

commintioner of a Conservative Engilsh Govern ment, but as 'Gladstone the Philheliene.' He was received wherever he went with the honours due to a llberator. The vislt of Mr. Glad. stone, Whatever purpose it may have been in tended to fulfi, had the effeet of making them [the Ionians] agitate more strenuously than ever for annexatlon to the kingdom of Greece. Their wlsh, however, was not to be granted yet. A new Lord IIIgh Commlssloner was sent out after Mr. Gladstoue's return. . . . Stlli . . . the llea held ground that sooner or later Great Britain would give up the charge of the lslands. A few years after, an opportunlty oceurred for making the cesslon. The Greeks got rid quletly of their heavy German klng Otho [see Guexce: A. D. [830-1862], and on the advice ehlefly of Eng. land they elected as sovereign a brother of the Princess of Wales. . . . The second son of the Klog of Dennark was made King of Greece; and Lord John Russell, 7 behalf of the Engllsh Gov. ernment, then [1862] : anded over to the kingdom of Greece the islands of which Great Britain hail had so long to bear the unwilling eharge."-J McCarthy, Inist, of our Oun Times ch. 39 (c. 3)

IONIAN REVOLT, The. See PERsia: B. C. 521-493.

IONIANS, The. See Domians and Ionians IONIC (PAN-IONIC) AMPHIKTYONY.
-" There existel at the commencement of historieal Grecee, in 776 B. C., beshles the Ionlans in Attla and the Cyclades, twelve Ionimn eities of note on or near the eoast of Asla Minor, besides a few others less important. vinmernited from south to north. they stan.: - Miletus, Myâs, Priêue, Samos, Ephesis, Knhophôn, Lebedus, Teôs, Erythre, Chios, IVlazomedre, Phokiea. Bliletus, Myûs and Prićne were situnted on or near the prodnetive plain of the river Mrander; whlle Ephesins was in like manner planted near the mouth of the Kalster. . : Kolophon is only a very few miles north of the same river. Possessing the best means of communieation with the Interior, these towns seem to have thriven with greater mpidity than the rest; and they, together with the neighbouring lstand of Samos, constitut! in (‘irly times the streagth of the Pan-Ionie implikityony. The sltation of the sacred precinct of Poseidonn (where this festival was celcbrated) on the north slde of the promontory of Mykale, near Priene, and to ween Ephesus and Xilêtus, seems to show that these towns formed the primitive centre to which the uther Ionlan settlements beeane gradually aggregated For it win by no means a eeurical site with reference to all the twelve. . . Moreover, it seems that the l'an- Ionie festlval [the celebration of which constituted the Aniphlktyouly. though still formally contlnued, had lost its finportance before the time of Thueydides, num hat lecome practieally superserled by the more plendld festival of the Ephesia, near Ephesis, Where the cltles of Ionla found a more attructive place of meeting. "--G. Grote, Iint. of Gircce, pt 2, ch. 18 (v. 8).

IOWA: The Aboriginal Inhabitants. fee American Aborioines: Alliehing, alul Al. oonquian Familit.
A. D. $2803 .-$ Embraced in the Eouisian Purchase, Dee Lovisiana: A. 1). 1798-1803.
A. D. $1834-1838$. - Joined to Michigan Ter sitory; then to Wisconsin; then separately organized. See Wimconsin: A. D. 1805-1848. A. D. is,45.-Admission Into the Union. See UNited States of Ay. : A. D. 1845.

IOWA COLLEGE. See Education, Mod FRN: AMEHICA: A. D. 1769-I884.

IOWAS, The. See Ameircan Aborbines siouan Family; and l'awnee Fayily.

IPSUS, Battie of (B, C. 30工). See Mace DONIA: B. C. 310-301.
IQUIQUE, Battle of (I89I). See Cinle: A. j) 188 J-1891.

IRACA. See Corombian States: A. D. 1530-1731.
IRAK.-At the time of the Mahometan con quest, "Chaldea and Babylonia oceupled the rich region south of the river TIgris, wiltered by the Euphrates, aud were known as Irak of the Arals, as distingulshed from Irak of the Persians, which corresponded somewhat nearly to the modern kingdom of Persla. . . . Irak of Arabia was at this time under the jurisolietion of Persla, and the wandering Armbs who roamed over the broad desert were tributary to l'ersia when they pitched thelr tents on the eastern side, and to Home wien sojourning on the sile towards Syrla; thongh they were at no time trusty allies or subjects. The reglon of lrak eoutains many relics of a former clvilization: there are the mounds that mark the site of old Babylon." A. Gilman, Story of the surteen, pp. 226-227.

IRAN, Table-Land of.-"Between the ralley of the Indus and the land of the Euphrates and Tigris, bounded on the south by the ocean and the Persian Gulf, on the north liy the broad steppes which the Oxus and Jaxartes vainly attempt to fertllise, by the Caspian Sea aml the valley of the Aras [embraciug moklera l'enia, Baluchistan, Afghanistan and Russian Tur kestan], lies the table-land of Irum. Kising to un average helght of 4,000 feet abore the lise uf the sea, it forms an ohlong. the leugtla of which from cast to west is something more than 1,500 milles. . . As far baek as our information extends, we find the table land of Iran occupied by n group of nutions elosely related to each other, aud speaking dialeets of the sume lan gruage."- M. inincker, IIiat. of Autiquity, uk: : ch. 1.-See, alno. Aurass.
IRDJAR, Russian defeat at. Sec Rcea A. D. $1859-18 \%$.

IRELAND.

The name.-"Ireland was kiown by many names from very early ages. Thus, In the Celtie it was called Inls. Fail, the isle of lestlny; InlsEalga. the noble Islund: Fiodh. Inle, the wintly saland; and Eire, Fodhli. and Bunba. By the Greeks it was called Ierne, probably from the vernaeular name of Eire, by Intlection Eria: Whence, also, nodoubt, its Latln name of Juverna: Plutarch calls it Ugygia, or the ancieat land. the early Itoman writers generally called it

A Logical Outline of Irish History

Ethnological.
Skial indul fun reilgioms.
Foreign.

IRELAND.

Merly Inhabitonta
IRELAND.

Hibernia, probably from ita Therian Inhahitants, and the Ister Romans and mediaval writern scotia, and cometimes Hibernis; and inaliy ita ame of Ireland was formed by the Anglo- Jor. man from lie native name of Eire." - II. Have erty, Hied. of Irdand, p. 76, note, - See, alio, Bcot. LAND: The NAME; and Ineluvd: Thibus of barly Celtic inhabitants.
The primitive inhabitente. - "The int peo. pie. of whose existence in Ireiand we can be said to know anything are commonly meserted to have been of Turanias origin, and are known m 'Formorians.' As far as we can gather, they were dark, low.hrowed, atunted race, although, adlly rnough, the word Formorian in early Irish legeni is always used as synonymous with the word glant. They were, at any rate, a race of utteriy savage hunters and fishermen, ignorant of metal, of pottery, poosihly even of the use of fire; using the stone hammers or hatchets of which vast numbers remain in Ireland to this day, and speelmens of which may be seen in every muscum. Ilow iong they held possession no one can telf, although Irish philologists believe several local Irish names to date from this Imuat inconceivabiy remote epoch. Perhaps if we think of the Lapps of the present day, and picture them wandering about the country, t will give us a fairly good notion of what these very earlieat inhahitants of Ireland were prohably like [see Fomorians]. Next followed a Belgle colony, known as the Firbolgs, who overran the country, and appeur to have been of a somewhat higher ethnological grade, aithough, lise the Forinorians, short, dark, and swarthy. Doubtless the fatter were not entirely exterminated to make way for the Firboiga, any more than the Firlolgs to make way for the Danaans, Milesians, and other successive races; such wholesuic extermiuations being, in fact, very rare, especially in a country which ike Ireland seems specially laid out hy kindly nature for the protection of a weaker race struggling in the grip of a stronger one. After the Firbolgs, though ishould be sorry to be ohliged to say how innig after, fresh and more important tribes of in vad. ers began to appear. The first of these were the Tuatha da-Dunans, who arrived under the leadenhly of their king Niuad, and took possession of the east of the country. These Tustha-daDanaans are believed to have been furge, hlue ejed perple of Scandinavian origin, kinsmen and possibly ancestors of those Norsemen or 'Danes' who in years to come were destined to work such woe and havoc upon the island
What their end was no man can tell you, save the Jiliesians or 'Scoti' wir thrn, conquered by the Hilesians or 'scoti,' who next overran the country, giving to it their own name of Scotia, by which nume it was known down to the end of the twelfth century, and driving the earlier setthers lefore them, who thereupon fled to the hills, and took refuge in the forests, whence they emergel, douhtiess, with unpleasant effect upon their conquerors, as another defeated race did upon their conquerors in later days."-E. Law. less, The Story of Ireland, ch. 1.
Also in: T. Moore, Miet. of Ireland, t. 1, ch. 5. the northern const Celtic inhahitants. "On the northern const dweit the Veniconil, in the Londen county of Donegal, and the IRobogdif, in Londoaderry and Antrim. Adjoining to the Veniconil, westward, were the Erdini or Erped-Iteni, and next to them the Magnate, afl in Donegal. Farther south were tho Auterl, in 8figo; the Gangani, in Mayo; and the Velibori or Eliebri, in the district between Gaiway and the Blannon. The south-west part of the lalani, Wi I a great portion of the Interior, was inhahi4 hy the Iverai, who gave name not oniy to the great river but to the whote lisiand, and who may, perhips, be conaldered na the aboriginai in. hahitants. and Tippersin the modern countics of Water. ford and Tipperary, Piolemy piaces a tribe called the Usdite or Voulie, accordling to the variations of the manuscripts, In the modern county of Wexford dwelt the Brigantes; and nortliward from them were the Coriondi, in Wicklow; the Menapii, in Dublin; the Canel, on the banks of the Boyne; the Blanii, or Ehlanl, on the bay of I undalk; the Voluntii, in Down; and the Darini, bordering on the lobogdif, in Antrim. Three at least, of the tribes who held the eastern const of Ireland, the Brigantes, the Menapii, and the Voluntii, Were, no douht, colonies from the opposite shores of Britain."-T. Wright, Celt, Iho man and A'von, ch. 2.

5th-8th Centuries. The coming of St. -Itrick Schoois the Chriatianizing of the Isiand. -Ita Schoois and ita Missionaries.-"Luing on the extreme verge of Europe, the iant land then known to the adventurous Scandinavian, and beyond whlch fahle hai scarcely projected its dreams, it was fu the fifth century since the Redemption that Christianity reached them. Patricius, a Ceit of Gaui It is said, carried lnto Erin as a siave hy one of the Pngan kings, some of whom mude nilitary expeditions to North and South Britain, and even to the Alpsand tho Loire became the Apostle of Ireland. I'atrick escaped irom slavery, was educated at Rome, hut in mature manhood insisted on returning to the place of his bondage, to preach Christianity to a peopie who serm to have exercised over the imagination of tho Apostie the same spell of 8 sm . pathy which in finter times sulalued strangers of nuany nations. lie was rectived with extraordinary favour, andi lefure his death nearly the whote island lad emhraced Christianity. The coming of Patrick took pluce in the year of our Lord 432, and he laboured for sixty ycars after; planting churches and schoois, rooting out the pra rites and mouuments of Paganism, and disciplining the people in religion and humanity. It was a nohle servlce, and it impressed itself served. . In the succeeding century the served. $\dot{\text { sing }}$ In the succeeding century the Charch which he planted became possessed hy a passion which it has never entirely lost, the passion for missionary enterprise. Its fathers jrojected the conversion of the fierce natives of the Continent to the new creed of humility and selfdenial, and hy the same humane agents which Patrick had employed in Ireiand - persuasion and prayer; a task as generous as any of which history has prescrved the record. In this epoch Ireiand may, without exaggeration, be said to have been a Christian Greece, the nurse of science and civilisation. The Pagan annais of the country are overiad hy fahle and extravagance, but the foundation of Oxford or the mission of St. Augustinc does not lie more visihly within the boundaries of legitimate Listury than the Irfsb schools, which attracted students frons Britain and Gaul, and sent out missionaries through the countrles now known as Western Europe

IRELAND，J－8TII CENTURES．

Anong the forints of Cermany，on the demert shores of the Iliobriles，in the camp of Alfrel，at the court of Charlemagne，In the capltal of the Chriathan world，where Mich let dewribes thelr clontuence an charming the counsellors of the Emperor，there nilght be found the fervid promel． ens anl subtle docturs of the Weatern Iwle，It was then that the Luland won the title still fondly clarinlarl，＇Insula sanctorum＇．The venerable IBeld descrikes nohles and students at thls epoch as quitting the faland of Britala to seek enfues． thon In Irehad，nind he tells us that the homplande Celta fonm！them tenchers，books，fixal antil shel． ter ut the cust of the nutlon．The whomb at Armagh，where st．Patrick hat establinherl the primacy of the Church，is reputed to hate at－ tracted f, （Mn）stulents，and there were mohools at Lismore，ianger．Clonmacnolse，and Mayo， whieh rivalled it in Importanee．Jomasterles multijlled ln $n$ still greuter number，mul wlth reaules as henetlelal．．．．Writers who are Ittle： dlapmed tu make nay other concesslon to Ireland admalt that this was a period of extmordlnary in－ tellectual actlvity，and of memorable services to clvillatlon．The arts，as fur as they were the handmuldens of religion，attabuel a surprisling development．Tie Ilimminatedi coples $r$ the Scrljuture，the crozlera nod ehalllees whe ware come wown to us from those dass，the＂eltle croseses and Cilth lurpes，the beils and taber－ nacles，are witnersers of a distinet amb remark－ ahle uatlound culture，The people were stll！ partiy shopherds and imsbandmen，partly sol． dlers，ruidd by the Chilef，the Brejon，and the Priest． $\qquad$ Ifter this generous work had ob． tained a remarkable suceess，It was disturbed by eontests with the Ser Kings．

Tine Cathe－ Aral and elty of St．Iatrick，the schouis of Bangor， the clolsturs of Clommaunolse，and many more seats of plety and learning，fell linto thelr hamels． The ancred vessels of the altar were turied luto drinking eups，aud the milssals，blazlug with precions stones，were torn from thelr costly biud－ lags tu furnishs ornaments for thelr sword hilts， and gifts to the Seahis who sang their achieve－ ments．These pagans hurned monasteries，sacked churches，minl murdered women aud priests，for pluniter or sport．

Before the dangers and iroubles of a long Interneclne war，the schooi of the West gradially dwindled away，and It had fallen Into eomplete decay before Brian Bor－ holme，at the leiginning of the 11 th century， finally subdued the invaders．＂－Sir C．G．Duffy， A Rirlín Eye Jiem of Iriah Mist．，rer．ell．，po． －12（or ch．4，in＂＂Young Ireland＂）－＂Ireland， that virglu ísland on whileh proconsul never set font．which never knew either the orgles or the exactions of izome，was alse the only place in the worll of whleh the Go pei took posserssion with． out boorlshed．，，From the moment that this Green Eriu，sltunted at the extremity of the known worid，had sern the sun of falth rise upon her，she hal vowed herself to it witi an urdent and tender devotion whleh beeame har very life． The pourse of ares has not interrnpted this；the most hloong and inplacabie of persecutlons fins not slaken it：the defection of all northera Eu－ rope has not i．el hur astray；and she malntains still，amid the splendours and miseries of movern clvillsation amd Anglo－Saxon supremaey，an ia－ extlnguishable centre of faith，where survives， along with the completest orthodoxy，that ad． mirable purity of manners whleh no conqueror and no alrermary han evor been able to diapute， to cyual，or to illalniwh． The Irish com munflem，jolued by the omonks from Ganl mm Jonne，whom the example of［＇utrick hal drawn upea hite steps，enterel lito rivelry whithe great monastle melusile of（lanl．They explahast Owhl there；they eophet Virgll；they devotel］ themselves enpecially to Griek llecrathere：thay drew back from in lnyulry，from no dls．invang．

A charaetoristle atlll inore dlastlactlse of the Irisil moukn，an of all thalr nation，was the lm．

 afir，and of juruetrathig litas the nuwt diatant reglona to watela or combat juganlsm．Thls momistle mation，therefore，lxerume the miswlon． ary $\boldsymbol{v}$ bar exereflence＂，＂－©omut de Jan．

Al，mu is：T，Moore，Jlint．if Irchiml，ch．Vilit （r．1）， 11 mit oh， $18(n, 8),-1)$ ．DeV＇lnne，The Irah Primiliare Chureh，－Nee，also，（＇lliwtivity： ETH－日TI CENTVIIE， gth－ioth Centurles．－The Danlsh conqueats and settlements．－＂The perple jwinlarly known la our hastory na Dunes（omigrimed sharman from varonts countries in the mortl of E：ur⿻u一． from Xorkuy，Swelen，Zealand，Jnthanl，mad， In geveral，from all the shores and lshands of the Halthe．

In the Irish anno？s thay are varionsly and Laxhlami，or lihhbitants of Tarlham，or lake－land，that ls，Nurway；and tmev n：－dis－ tinguland as the Flon Galls，of Whilte Forndea ers，who ure njposed to have ineen the hahald． tants of Norway；and the Inlh Gails，or illack Forelgners，who were probably the perphe of Jutiund，and of the southern shores of the lhate Sien．A large tract of country north of lhalin stlil retalns the mame of the former． The I innes never obtalned the domblom of Irciand as they dld that of Einghand．＂－M．Haverty．Mint． of Ireland，ch．13－14．－＂Ireland was as Vret［10 the 9 th century $]$ a more temijting procy fir the pirates than even Gunl．It was at the monas． terles that these earller radels were inalnly almed： and nowhere were the monastle houses sis man and 80 rich．It was $\ln$ these retreats ladeed， sheltered as men deremed by thelr inoliness from the greed of the spouler，that the whole wealth of the comentry was stored；and the gollwork und feweiry of thilr slarine＇s，their prechons challees． the sllver－bomad born whleh king or moble dell． eated at their aitars，the curiously．wrought coverlng of thelr mass－books，the fonrd of their treasure－chests，fired the Imaglnathon of the uorthern marauders s．s the treasures of the lucas fired that of tie eolliers of Spain．N（ws sprend fast up dafe and tiord how weaith such us men never dreaned of was heaped up la homse guarded only by priests and shavedinges nha Sarcil not draw sword．The Wlkings labl hag beeu drawing closer to thls temptlug prey．From the const of Xorway a sali of tweuty fonir hours with a fair wiud irings the salior in sight of the Shetlamls；Shetlands and（Orkneys furni－hed a I see for the ulvance of the plrates along the a liad like their own in the dules and loritaof loss and Areyll，and where the names of（＇uilanss and Sutherlumd tell of thelr conquest und settle nuent un the muinland；widle the phosleal ap bearame uf thr perble still recurds their cetue zatlon of the Ilebrides，Names such os that of the Orm's lleal mark thelr entrance at last into the Irlsh Channel."-J. IR. Orven, The Ciomquiat of England, eh. 2.- "The oth century was the perhod of Danalh pluader, anil of mettlement along the conats and in convenient places for purpomes of plunder. Townils tho lntter end of this ceatury the Irish in Ireland, like tho English In Englund, succeeded In Irliving out the enemy. and there was pence for forty years. Then came the Danee agaln, hut bent more defaltely than befure on permanent settlentent ; and thelr mont notable work wan the establlshment of the Danlah kingdont of Inbilin, with lts eentre at one of their old hrauntm. Ath Cllath on the Litey, where the elty of Dublla was bullt by them. The eytalilshment of thla kingdom claters frum the year 910, and lis extent may le traced to. lay an comermilnous with the dlocese of Dub. ilu, extendlab iom IInlmpatrick and \$kerries on the aorth, to. Arklow and Wleklow on the mouth, sall inhand no farther than reven or elght milles to Lelxilp. ('atll quite recently thls was alw) the district orer which extendel tho jurialletion of the lani Mayer of Dubllon an Admiral of the Purt of Dublin. On College Green used to le helli the assembly of the freemen of the klngion of Dablh, whlle the cllefe took thels seats on the hterep hill that once ntoncl where St. Aislrew'e Church now stands, oppoble to 'the old house ou College Green,' which le so dear to the natomal axpimithins of the moxlem Irlalunen. There the bintus hell thelr parlluments, agreeing on laws, conswuthe to judgnents nail eontracte, feastlag and uakfing merry. just ns the old Irlsh held thelr pmrliane uts at Tara, Corman, Armugh, nad diswhere. Nor was Dublln the only Chinlsh city. Llumerick, Cork, Waterford, Wexfo.il, nll tectame the centres of petty Danish klageloms, attive la commerce, skilful for those thates, In domestic, archltecture, and with politeal and legindative hlens indentionl In thelr essence with thase of the people among whom they sectled. In the course of the 10 hi eentury the Danes mominally lectame, for the most part, convertsto Cirisisthatty. Bui It nppears that they derived their Christianity malnly from Eaghsh gonrees: and when they began to organize thelr chareh, they did an after the Romun manner, and In eea. arethon with the see of C'anterloury. It was not. however, 1111 after the wars of Brian Boru that Danish Chrintanlty became elther very real ur at all urgunzed."-8. Bryant. Celtic Ireland. a.

Aleg IN: C. Halllay, The Scendinarien King. dim of Duhlin.- C. F. Keary. The Dikings in Hiextern c'riristentam, ch. 6.-Sce, niso, Nos. Nis: Stu-0th Cestcries.
A. D. ${ }^{1014 .}$ - The Battle of Clontar! and the great deleat of the Danes.- By a revolis. tion which oxeurred in the year 1000. Malachy Tara the dymsty which bud relgaed long at Tari. was lepaseed from the ehief soverelgnty, and Brian Burounh or Boru, of the royal family of Munster, who hall feught his way up to master. ful wiwer Beedme the Ardrigh or over. king of Ireland. Iu 1014 liriun was eallet upon to face a yreat comblantion whelh the Danes of Dublin had effertel with their fellow Sorthmen, Jueluding those of Denmark. Norway, Scollaatland all the isites. It was the Danish iatentlon now to accomplish eompletely the conquest of Ireland anel ting thelr long struggle witb its Celte Inhabltanto to an effectual close. King Brian and his eountrymen male equal exertluns on their alde to meet the attack, anil the great battle of Clons. tarf, fought on Ginnl Friday of the year 1014. gnve thetn a declelve vetory. "Clentarf, the erciscent minaulow of bully, stretches ulong tho erescent alajuell north struand of Duthlin lurimer. from the anclent malmon welr nt [hallyinight hrlige towaris the promentory of fowth. Buth horas of the ercesent were helld by the enemy, and conmmalcuted whith hls whlps: the Inlanil polat terminnting in the rexifs of fithline nnd the senwaril markel by the lon-llke heaul of Ilowth. The mealow lmad bet ween sloped gently upwart and Inwarl from the beaclt, and fer the nyyrlad duels whieh ferned the anclent buttle, no theld could present lems powltive van. tage ground to combatanta on clther alde. The invading foree hat persesalon of lxith wings, so that Brinn's army, wheh had first encumped at Kilmaluham, must have eromakry the Liffey higher up, nod marcheol round by the present Irameonilma in uriter to reach the appointed fied. The day seems to have been dectidel on by formal chalfenge. . . The forres on looth aldes Contd not have failen slort of (3), (va) men. The utmeat fury was cllsplayeel on all milles.
IIarlly $n$ nobly leirn man escapect, or songht to exape. The te:n humirell in armor, natl 3.010 others of the eactur, "lth nlout an equal number of the nucrs of Ireland, hyy dead njwn the theld. One division of the enemy were, towards nuset, retreathe to the-ir ships, when I3rondir Ing apart, "hhoum a guard, aml the aged king him down whh a slugle biow, nall then, comthaued hits flight. The deceasell hero tonk hls phae ut once la bistory, nut lomat and forelgn.

The fame of the eveint went out throngh ali nations. The chronicles of Wales, of Scothat, and of Mun; the annals of Ademar and Marlanus; the Sagas of Dermuark und the Islis, ull reeord the event. $\qquad$ ' Brian's battle,' as It is calleel In the sagus, was, In short, sueli a defent as prevented uny generai northern eomblinution for tho suliserpueat invaslou of I reland. So subsedpueat invaslon of Ireland. Not that the country was entircly free from thetr attacks thi the crat of the 11 th eentury; but, fromacks the day of (clontarf forwurd, the lonir cherished) Northern idea of $u$ conquest of Irchand seems to have bee iden of a conquest of Irchand seems to have beea glow mily abandonel hy that indomitable people." -T. IN.Arcy Medee, Pupuler IIiat. of Ireland, Sk. 2, ch. 6 (in. 1).
Also in: T. Moore, Mive, of Irehand, ch. 21 (c. 2).-Ane, nlw, Normass.-Nouthmen: 10tir - 13 tia centeries.

12th Century.-The great tribea and kingdoms and the ruling families.- "Ireland was now [immediately hefori- Strongbow' coaquest] thvirled lato four confederitions of trlbes. The O Neits helld ['lidia, which ho now ealled Ulster; the O'Comors Conaciat, ur Connanght ; the O'Briens and the M' 'arthys Mononla, or Munster: aad the Macmurrougis Lagenla, or Lelonster - all muler the paramouat but ofien-disputed rute of a branch of the tister O'Nills. The roynl demesne of Meath, the appanage of the Cister fanily, which iuchuled Westmeath, Long. forl, and a part of King's County, was sometines counteyl a tifth kinglom. In the whld north. $O^{\prime}$ Nell, O'fonncl. "Kate. 0 Hara, O Sheel, O'Carrol, were mighty names. On the northernmost penlasula, where the Atlantic runs into Lough Foyld and Lough 8willy, O'Degherty relgred supreme. In Connaught, O'Rourke, O'Reli!y, O'Keily, O' Flaherty, O'talier O'lowd, were lorda. In Meath and Leinster, Minctienge. phan, O'Farreli, OConnor, O'Moore, O'lleman, Mucmurrough, rulet. In Munater, hy the weat: em athore, MacCorthy Mure held sway. Mac. Carthy leragh swayel the muth, by the plensant watern of Cork lasy, O'sulivan lienre was lofl of the fair promontory leetweeu Buntry liay and Keuname lifiver. O'Mahony reignel by rearing Water llay. o'thomoghue was chieftaln hy the baunted Klliarney Lakew. Mur Malunt ruied unth of the Shanaon. O'loge. Iln linkeyl oun Ginlway llay. Aif Ireland, wifls the exceptlous of a few menport towns where the Danea liud settien, was in the hands of Irlsh chicefs of old deavent and famous liuenge. They quarreifed amongat thenselven an readily und as thercely as if they had been the lieads of wo many Greek states. The Dunea had lew'u their Peralans: their lomana were now to come "J. 11. MeCarthy, Oniline of Iriwh Hintury, elh. 3.

A. D. 1160-1175.-The Anglo-Norman conqueat. - "The conquext of Iriland is among the nost important epinotes in the religu of ifenry 11.

There were feamms, bextiless the mere last of conquest, why an Elugilwh king momid desire to relluce Ireinad. It had givin harloura nind reruite to the Northmen on theif experiil. thins: Irimh soldiens had fought at liruman. laworls [or llrumanhourgh] ugalinst Athelstana: Finglish exiles, like the sons of Ilarold, repeatesiiy thed to the isiand, nela a waited the opportunity of reprimals upen thelr own government. Irlsh pirates Infestend the Eighlimh coanst, and carrien] off prisouere, whom they wold as mhves, Accordingly, Willimen the Conguerur had medtented nobjugating Ireland, if lue lived two years bonger: Whilinu lifum once decharel, yis he stoond on the eonast of Wales, that be would brlige st. (inorge"s (Chumene) with a deet of ships. But it was rexervel for John of Nalisbary to ontuin from his intimate fricnd, the English pope, Adrian IV., a grant of Irefind to the Englinh crown [by the flull ' Iandialilitur'] us a heredl. tary flef (A. I). 1154).

Nevertheless, the diticulty of livading Irndiud sermed greater lime a pronl: the:t to result from fo. The kings esancil opposed the '.nterprim' : and fier some years the project was sulfered to nle Bat the wreteled diworders of Irinh polites la vited the favader." Dhermaid Ma Morehad, kiug of Lelnster, having leen driven from his domations, "repaifen to the comert of lleney il. in Aquitaine. The offer to luld Lefnster if lenry wonld refustate bhin, as an English tirf. procoredl liarmaid free gluarters in liristol, to which he speedily returned, and hethers patent nuthorizing may English sulject to assive hime biarmand pmbin wed these, nad promined large rewaris to latud to. "e who wonld help ham to win back hils kingdom. The most puwerfai ally whom Diarmadis offers attracted was Richarid de Clare, sormamod Stromghow, earl of Peme broke, and distant consiu to the king. . . Thiree other miventurers were enllisted. Two of them, Robert Fitz Stophen and Maurice Fitz.Geralid, were sons, by different futhers, of Nest, a Welsin princess; the third was Maurice de Prenidergist. In May, 1169. Fitz-Stephan, witit a small follow lage croasul ther clanas and captured Wexford Some other successes sown enabied Diarmaid to make pence with his enemien and reenver his klagiom, even before Atronglow's experition had left Wilea. "Dimenald wat mimetatei, and Bingilib subjecte had no nuthorty to curry on war on thelr own eccount In Ireland. Atronglow arcorilingiy went $u$ Normandy, ant ankin) pex. miamon ti) puils the advantarea painel. thatn. ing only an anihiguoun answer from the klinge. lie determine th meableer it in hals favosir, nuif wot lack hato Wales to prepare an expeelithou. Ia May, A. 11. 1180, he ment over liaynon! le firm, Fitz-Stephenis half nephew, an his poriarwit" daymum defeated the Trish with great shayhter In a lmitte near Waterford, amd mavagely mar riered zeventy prisuners. "in Augumt, I. I 1180, as Strunglow was jrepariug to emhark, ly recelved an explicit orider from the klige win proweed. Quletly diaregureling it, be crimed with a little army of $1,2(0)$ men, out of whoni 2mim were knlghts. The storm of Waterfonl was hat Ilrat exploit; nad it lifhatrates the lriwh nerchl tecture of the times, that the city willow wire treuehal by cutting a way the wooden prinn of a hanse that was binfit into them. The frightifil rarmage of the storm was suceeded by the carl's marriage with Eva [dangliter of King Diamahl] who brought a kingdom as lere dower. Thut the united forces murched upon labifin." he Danish city was treacherously stormuld midist of n negotiation, and "the Inhenhitas pritenerd the wont miseries of the comptoral lasculf ':lhe lhanish or Norse governor), atul Aspall, king of the Northmeth, escrpatid in) Wanri wane smali verseis to their conntrymen ha the Grkneys." The bext yeur haseuff reatyentel with buships from the Orkneys and Nirwaty and lald siege to Dublin. Ile wias defentrol. fithed prisoner andi killeyl; but mother flert sanala arrived and Inathin was nguin muler sioke. fle: duced to a desperate strait, the small sarrime willifed und routed the Inesiegera: that nustathete strmghow had lost ground dewhere mini Dublin nuil Waterford were the omle peos serssions he retuined. The anger of Khag ilture at his disolnulienes caosed many of hiv ful. fowers to desert hifu, and he soon funtal it necessary to make puace with his offemplatw. errign. Crossing over to Eughand, lar sucterded th whang the royal pardon, and hemry neturnel (1) Irellunf with hhn, to assist in the 1 . fught lige of the comquest. They were me"rmplatid
 The appurance of the king was followe in a matele a roynd progress to Conshel, where, in 11is, yum whe beld to reffert the Charch reforms ielh were, ostenshbly, the e "ef wjeet of the tablish urder anoug the EMylish mettiers in inthr evidenee than muy symul of the real whatere of the conquest. The coontry was parthilly dis. tributed umong Norman nobiles; but as the Eng lish complost of Irelam, more rapid than the Sorman of Eaglami, had lecen effected ly fewer men, and wis mare lisecture, the chinges in the property nul laws of the nation wire prepur tionately smuiler. Death, as the umpaize of royalty, of conome neerued to the Eaglioh criwa, mil llemry assigned the whole of if ti, ilugh de Lary, whom he mude justielary of the realm und givernor of Dahin. The object of this emermous prane, no doubt, was to bintare strongbow's power. The famifies of Deswond.

Ormond, and Vermon recelved other estaten. Hut the number of thow Invented was amall.

The allghtmees $n$ it the change, mo doult, malnly contributed to the reallaces with which the supromacy of the Einglish erown was ac. ceptert, In Aprli, A. D. 1179, lienry was alsie tor return to England, leaviag noly L'Iter behimd bitn nominally unmululued. A series nf petty wara between Irish ehlef and Norman moblem san broke out. The precarions nature of the Fiuglah dominion became manifest; ant llenry was forced to publish the papal grant of lre. lami, which he lad hithertoruppremend. At lant, In A. 1) II $\%$, Ikxlerfe O'Connor [KIng of Cimi. mulight, and prevlously recognizemt over.klog of In land) wnele a trinty with the Engilali crown, mul agriod to remifr honage and sulmalsom, and a tribute of every tenth hale, In return for Fyyal rights in his own kingdom nf Comnaught. di the mame tlme, the lluits of the Englesh palo, as it was aftrerwarde called, were detined. Thla dlarict, whels was Inimedlately subject to the klag if Elugland and hla harona, contprimet Dul). Ila with lim nppurtenancea, Meath, Laduster, aud the country from Wiaterford to Diengarvon.
From the Engllah polnt of view, the klagis of Ringland Were henceforth lorils-paramunat of Irelund. with the tee of the moll vested lis them, and all Irish pitncen In future were no more that temints In chicef. From the Irish point of wlew, the fingllsh kings were nothlug more than milf:
 - ('. II. P'momon, llint. of Eing, during the Eisrly atad Mitille dgen, r. 1, rk. 30.
A1.en is : Irs, J. IR. Green, Henry the Nrond, ch. N-I (f. Itlolney, Whore Ilist. of the Irinh Iro. ple.ch. 6-7.-W. A. O'Conor, What. if the Jrixh

13th-14th Centuries. - Under the AngloNorman conquerora, -"The feudul mysteth as establinhed la Irclatul difiered In lomportant resjuits from that exlstlog In England. It las usial fir Irish writers to atithute much of the sulferlags of Ireland to the misgovernument of Eughani and the Introluctlon of fendadsm. whereas most of these cevls may be referred ratber to English nor government and to the fercullar sumanles of the Irish feudal systome. The feudn\} system as introduced into I relanil, like mont other instltutlons Imported from Englanel, was altered In such a manner as to retain all its evils, and lose all lts advantages. The Crown in Irelaull possessed no power of controlling its vaswils. . In Irchanil there were no maur or valuable estates that the Crown could appros. priate - the entire country had to be conquered. and as the Crown did not asslst ln the conduest, it recoived no pirt of the spolls. Thus we find the Crown hial absolutely yo denaesnea of lts own, and. Lwing deprired of any military force of its own. it bul to :cly upon such of the great feutal vassals as aly ght remaln loyal for the par. pose of eristhing those who might te fu rebellion. The furvitalle result of this polley was to kindle a civil $13 \%$ inl exclte personal feuds in the atto tup: ". alntain order. ... We have thus as feutin ful , tem, Iu whlch the Crown Is powertess to fulil its dutles, yet active In preventlag the grestar buhiss from exercislag that inflethee might have secured a reasonable dexree of order. The whole cnergy of the nobies was tumed away from government to war; and lest they shonli become local petentates, they were allowed ho degenerate Into lixul twmata. Ilnt What, meanwlile, hwl leconme of lis Irish na thon? As the fendal system liguored their nata. tuace, we lave promitted them to fall ont of our Vlew; but they billi extatell, aud mill were [uilit]. caily Imlepromeat. The Invalera hal ocouplat the Hat couutry, sultable for the operathon of thrit forcea, ant the originuol Inliabitabl. Iad pre.
 pamalile to cavalry, or lite diatricte protected by the buge, and diflicult of acrow; nay, evou In some purts of the lalumi, where the Nupmonas Wrow not in forev, they limi re-orcuplat large prortions of the open colantry. They thi not retlre un ellmorganimal fugltyom, but the erlbes petruated, Kexplog tholt saxilal of gonalsotion unbroken; and, alehought removerl frimin flitir orlal. nal habltathous, ntill proservet thelr madil the's they. The remarkable quint la the conyment wis, thut the Celtle pepmithon was not drivern latck ujwou nuy oue porthon of the kloghlom, lant re:

 femblal hloraridy, ami was fo the "yes of the Einglanh Goverument bomille and alleri; the unly exceptlon to this was the case of the oibriens Who, though toot actumlly temdal viasails, Inai thelr estates wecured ly a iblorter, mol the I rish shlered as the klnges nura and entilled to hila proteetlon; theme were kimwnum the tlve hlawnas, who enjoyed the law of tionhund to the extent if the privilege tosite In the hlug's comrta, viz., o'Nelli, pough. . . The Irlsh In Irelom! wate triated by the KIng's conrts fin Irrlan! as an nlle a and bonstle mation; an frishmman ont of the klug' proce eould not brlug an althon usalinst min EngIshmani.

Int, though legally lymoral the Irish triles could nut lne pultidealiy diareguriled. The English (iovermment insed their assistume to Pepress the relrellions of insurgent vasanls.
They were called on to furnishla assistanio to the Eugllah nrmies, noll on many ravisloun we thime thelr clalefs summomed ley writ of l'arla. ment, as if fential vassuls: lat flu bumle ln which they were trated depented upnom the lmmediate whects and want of the Finglish Gioverameut, und dee gencral course of conduet parsubed toWards them was sulth wa bins leren previonsly stated.

We thus thal the English mul Irish ruces lopedessly at variance, and it woulil seetn that one or other mast bave levencruslietl onst in the contest ; but such was mot the result ; they both survived, and, rontrury to remsomable ex. pertathons, the Irish exhbited the greater vital ity. The expulsion of the English colong was an effort leveront the pown of the disunited Irlsh tribes: for in the clarkest lonurs of the English settlement the power of Finglaud was rems., by some suditen effort. "1) reassert the Einglish suprotnacy. IBu why din the Inglo Nommans wholly fill in mimber the Irish? . . . 1. The: large cxtent comprisell in the grants manle to the first colonists lirl to a dispersion of the Nurman nobles over the nore fertlie portlons of the coultry. The Euglish colony never formed oue compact body eibnabie of combined aetion.
?. The millitary eqnipment of the Nopnaus, and their mode of carrying on war, reudered thelr forces whully inefllefent, when, learing the flat conatry, they attempted to penctrute the finst. nesses of the mative triles.
3. From the absence of any central government, clvif wurs continually arose between the secernl Norman lords: thus the military power of the colonists was frittered away In dlasensions. 4. The Eng. llsht Government continually called upon the Irish barons for alds and milltary servlce, to be employed ln wars elsewhere than In Irelund.
5. Hany of the estates of the Norman nollees descended to helresses who marrled Engllishuren nlready possessing estates in England: hencr arose alsentcelsm
6. Even the lords who resided constantly upon the ir Irish estates grad. ually lost their Norman hablts, and tented to assimilate themselves to the manars, anmi to adopt the lungunge of the Irish. "-1. G. Kieliey, Short llint. "f the Irixh Perple. ch. 8.
 pe.3.-Sec, almo, Palatine, Tue Ithen Coc:stien: and Geraidtien.
The Celticizing of the Anglo-Norman conquerors. -"I'rior to experienct', it would have heeu equally remsonable to expect that the monlern Englishman would adopt the hallits of the lliadon or the Mohlem, ns that the thery knights of Normandy would have stomped to mitate a race whom they despised ns slaves: that they would have flumg awny their very knightly nanes to assumen mirbirous equivalent (the le Burghis becane Bourkes or Burkes, the M'sweenies had been Veres in England, and the Munstor Geruldines marged thelr family name In that of Desmond. - Fowt-note]: nnd wonld so utterly have cast aside the commanding features of their Siorthern extractlon, that their chllidren's chiddren eonald be distinguished netther in sonl nor benly, neither in look, in dress, in langunge. nor In disposition, from the Celts whom they had subhlurd. Such, however, was the extriordi. nary fuct. The Irish who had heen contucred In the field $n$-veagel their defeat on the minds and liearts of thelr concuerors: und in yielding. yielded only to fling over their new masters the sulbte spell of the Celtic disposition. In rain the government attempted to stem the evil. Stutute was pussed after statute forbidding the Englistry' of Ireland to use the Irlsin hamgunge, or intermirry with lrish fumllese, or copy lrish laibits. Penalties were multiplied on pennities; fines, forfeitures. and at last death itself, were threatened for such offeaces. But nll in valu. The stealt hy evoll erept on Irresistibly. Fresh colonists wire sent over to restore the system, but oaly for themselver or the cir children til be swejit into the stremm; nnil from the century which succeeded the Comquest till the relga if the dighth llenry, the strmage phenomentin repeated ltself, generntion after geluration, halling the wislom of statesmen, and paralysing every effort at " remedy."-I. A. Fronile, Ifixtory of Empland, ch. 8 (r, 2).
A. D. 1314-1318. - Edward Bruce's invasion. -The crushing defeat of the Engilsh1s by the Scotch at Bannowklmirn (1314) rekinilled a spirit of rebellion in Ir land, and the discontented chlefs made haste to aolielt aid from Seotland. offering the soverelgnty of their island to Edwari Brate, brother of king liobert, If he would come to their liflp and conquer It. "By consent of king Iolort, who was pleased to make a diverslim agaftat Eughand upon a rulnerable point.
and not, perhaps, sorry to be rid of a restlens splrit, which became Impatient In the luck of employment, EAlwand Invaded Irrinimd at the head of a force of 6,000 scots. IIe fought matay battles, and gained them all. Ile becanar manter of the province of Cister, and was sullenalr crowned king of Ireland; hint found hiamelf nmid his successes olliged to lutreat the insig tunce of king IRobert with fresh supplies: fir the Impetuons Edward, who never spareil his owit person, was equally reckless of exposing his followers; and hls successes were misfortutues, In so far as they wasted the lirave nach with whose llves they were parelased. Rolveit liale led supplles to lils brother's aso anirn with aa army whel enabled him to corn ! ? ann! hat whthout galning uny pern s it nedvausace. H!. threatened Dublin. nod cactrated as fill :1s Llmerick la the west, bt wa. comprilley ho scarclty of provisions, to 1 - ire , atan lntu liast In the spring of $131 \%$. He le aty aftem rearme Edwand, thonght probably convineed that is brother was engaged in a desperate and fruitless enterprise.

After his brother's departure, Edwarl's carcer of ambition was closed at the battle of Dmudnk, where, Oetoher sith, lisis. fortane at leagth failed a warrior who had trind her patience lyy so many hazards. On that fatal day he eneountered, apainst the adivice of his oflicers, nn Anglo-Irish army ten themes mire numerous than his own. A string champlon among the Euglish, mumed doln Manpis, singling out the prem of Edward, slew him, mal received denth at his hands.
$A$ (neral ofticer of the Scots, called John Thomson, lat hack the remame of the Seottish furce to their own country. And thas canded ther somtion in vasion of Ireland, with the loss of many brare solliners. "-Sir W. Scott, Ilist. uf senthenit, th. It (r. 1).
 A. D. 1327-8367.-Oppressions of the re1ga of Edward III.- Of all the legislitive ulige ures of this piriod the most nituble was the Stutute of Kllkenny, passeel at a Purlimurat lochl in that town, i: the last year of the ilveitle. in the lent sesslont of 136i. This 'fallums, or infamons, ' enactment pathered up intor whe, and recupitulated with additional aggravations and insults, all the former oppressive, exilwprating. and maquitons ordinames by which Endish legishation for Ireland had hitherto bern dis. graced. . . Annong the earliest mansures piswerd in the relgn of Esward 11 . Was as stitute directed ngainst abseatecism, obliging all Elarlinhuren who were Irkish proprietors cither tor resile on their estates or to provide soldiners to defrem them. But thals enucthent was unjuralurtive of goond resints. The O'Nellis Irove the coldonits Ont of the 'liberty of Cister,' and hhe Englisis De Burghs, so far from helping to uphoh Ens lish ascendency, appropriated to the lins.|ve the entire Cordshij) of Counaught, nadd connum Gause with the nutise tribes, and adoptint thris dress, language, und customs, herfunc' 'Ilibernis lpsis Iliberntores, ' threw off the ir allegianere to K $\operatorname{lng}$ Edwand, nd bade deflance to the Kimisauthority. Thas it came to pass that before mans years of this relgn had elapsed more than a thirid jart of the territories of the Pale was aquain in the hands of lts origlual possessors. wand III. inberited the barbarous and iniquinous tradithons of English rule In Ireland, but he Improved upon them. He ordered all his officers in that country who had Irish estates to the removed and give place to Englishmen with no Irish ties. Ife next declared vold every grant of land in Ireland since the time of EIfward II., and made new grants of the lands thus reeovereti to the Crown. The tendency of thls monstrous measure was to create two more nntagonistle parties in Ireland, destined by their hltter dissensions to hring alout the result that ere long 'all the King's lamel in Ireland was on the polnt of passing away from the Crown of England, riz., the 'English hy hooul,' as the established settlers were called, and the 'English by birth.' or aew grantees. Some of tho chisef of the former, in despair of a career, or even of a quiet life, at home, were about to bill goonl-bre to Irehud and seek their fortunes else where, when they were arrested hy a proclumatlon making lt peal for any English subjeet eapahle of benring arms to leare the country, . The 'English by blorel' become more and more Intimately eonnectel and identified with the native Irish, and the 'English hy hirth' Wecame more nud more powerkess to maintain the English aseculeney; till at last, in 1361, the King Ietermined in seading over a viecroy of the blowd royat, ann! sppointed to the post his som Lionel, eronted shortly afterwards louke of Charmence, whom he bad married tu Elizubeth de Burgh, daughter sad representative of the last Earl of Citster. But thungh I'rince Llonel, on his arrival, took the prociution of forbilding any man horn in Irelatal to approach his camp, his position sonn Incima so critical that the king issued writs commanding all the absentee Irish lords to hasten to lrimel to the nasistance of the Prince, 'for that his very dear son and his companions in Ireland were in immanent peril.' The sext step Was the pussing of the Stutute of Kilkenny. It re enurted the prohihition of marriageand fosternursing, remelered obligatory the alloption of the English lingnage and customs, forlmale the nathunal gimes of 'hurlingsand quoitings, und the und of the andient Gaelle eorle called the: Semehns 3 lor; a corle by whiell the native brehons, or juiges, of the Irish septs had derinled cunses smong them since the time of the eonversion of tiee race to Christianity in the fifth eentury." W. Warhufun, Elirivi III, 4th decule, ch. 3.

ALM IN: W. Longman Life and Times of Ed. traril III, r. 2, ch. 1. - T. Lehnnd, IIist. of Irehinul, lik. : ch. 4-s (r. 1).
Wi. D. I494.-Poynings' Laws,- During the Wars of the lases, "if Creland had any preferEnce for either of the great eontendling purties in Engtathl, it was. . for the Ilomse of Fork; and from this enuse ehletiy sprang the ehange of llaury VIl.'s mokle of governing the thepemeney which on ascendlag the throme he hat fouml all but severed from his domintons. At first he hand thought it hest to employ the native nobillty for this purjose, and had chosen for Deputy the Enrl of Kildire-setting him, as the story ran, to rule all Irctind, becanse all Irdand could not rule him. When, however, he had time to reflect un the dangers springing from the Irish support of simnel and Warbeck, from which le and his dynasty had escaped so narrowly, he pereelved the necessity of bringing the eountry under a over to 1494 (at the time when Warbeck was pre.

Paring for hils descent England) Sir Edward Poynings as Lorl Ieputy, a statesman and eommander well experienced in the most luportant nffairs of the time."-C. E. Wolerly, The EArly Than'r, ch. 6.- After some military operations, which he found to be beset with treacherius ant difficulties, the new Iord Deputy hell a I'arliament ut Drogherla - 't perhaps the most memorable that was ever heli in Irelaui, as certainly no other Parlinment in that country mude liws whleh endured so long us two which were then enacted, and wore known for, centuries afterWaris as the 'IDoynings Acts.' By the first of these It was orthined that no Parliament shoult be held ln Ireland in future until the king's Counell In Enghal han approved not only of its being summoned, bit also of the Acts which the Lieutenant and Counteil of Ireland proposed to pass in it. liy the secombl the laws enated thefore that time iu Emphand were extemetet to Irehame alsi. Thas the lrish legislature was minle entirdy deprodent unini Eusland. The Irish larliamiont has mo power to originate any thing, but was only free to arrelpt or aif they Were viry bohl) teri jert meitsires tlrawn up by the Irish Council mal approverl alrendy by the king and his (ouncil in Enghand lopfore they were submitted to disenssim. Lintle is this looks like pratiguentury
 the stute of sulijection in whieh the lrish I'artiamint remaned by virtuce of this law for mearly three centuries liatir. Ahnost the whole time, that is to say, that lreland hal a sepurate Darlias. ment at all it rematined in this mamer res ricted In its uction by the levishation of Nir Edsurnd

 Irehand what there is corry riasin to suppuse he pratically did in Englami. Legislation was not int this tinue consilere.tl to he the ehief busianess of a Ibutiament. "- J. Gairdher, Menry the

A1.wis: IS. Digwell, Indientlular the Tulurs, ch. 8.-W. A. Wi'ulur. Hist. ot the Srish Pampie Enf.. ck. $1 \mathrm{~N}(r$. 3).
A. D. 1515 . - The English Pale and the Clans and Chiefs beyond it. - "The everots on Whelerntumbing abont to enter require for their underatmeting a sketch of the positiou of the va rions chiefs, us ther were at this time scattered over the island. The English pale, origimaly of Duhting the four shires. us they were called, of Bublin, Kililare Meath, and Crin or Lauth, hat bereu shorn tiown to half its ohl dimensions, The line exterudidifomi Innlitk to. Irilee: from Ardee by Cust letuwn to lieths: thence through Athboy amd Trim to the casthe of Maynooth; from Jaynonth it crossid to chaine upon the Liffer, and then fulloweri up the line of the river to Bullimore Enstuc', frum which place it skirtel back at the ras of the Wickhow and Dublin mountains to the forts at Intley, suven miles south of Dubin. This narrow strip alone, some fify miles long and iwenty brond, was in an sense Enplish. Beyond the hurlers the common Iaw of England was of no authority; the king's Writ was hut a strip of parchment; and the country was parcelted among a multitude of $\ln$. dependent chiefs, who teknowledged no sov ereignty hat that of strength, who levied tribute on the inhabitants of the pale as a reward for a nominal protection of their rights, and as a

compensation for abstaining from the plunder of thelr farms. . . These chlefs, wlth thelr dependent clans, were dlstributed over the four proviaces in the following order. The Geral. dlnes, the most powerful of the remalning Normans, were divided lnto two branches. The Geraldlues of the sonth, under the Earls of Des. monl. held Llmerici, Cork, and Kerry; the Geraldincs of Lelaster lay along the frontlers of the English pale; and the heails of the honse, the Farls of Kildare, were the feuilal superlors of the grcater portion of the English counties. To the Butlers, Earls of Ormond and Ossory, lelouged Kilkenny, Carlow, and Tlpperary. The be Burghs, or Bourkes, ns they called them. selves, were senttered over (in)way, loscommon, and the smith of silgo, ereupring the broad plains which lie between the Shamon and the monntains of Connenara and Mayo. This was the relative position Into which these cluns had settled at the ('onguest, and it had lreen manit. tained with little variation. The north, which had fallen to the lacles and the Ife Coureles, lind becin whinly reeovered by the Irish. Tle Lacies had becone extinct. The lhe Courcios, once Earls of Clater, had migrated to the sumth, and were reduced to the petty tief of Klnsule, which they held under the flewnonds. The Celte chieftims limi returned from the momentins to which they lad Inen driven, bringlag back with them, more intensely than ever, the Irish habits and tralitions. . . The 0'Vicils and O'Donnells hise apreind down orer Clater to the frontlers of the pale. The w ('omors and WCarrolls had recrosiod the shannon and phshed forwards into Kileare; the O'Omor Ion was established In a castlo near Portarlington, said to be one of the strongest in Ireland; mud the or'arrolls hand seized leap, au netient Danish fortress, surrommend loy bog amd forest, a few miles from Parmantown. Dhrien of Inehiquin, Prince as he styled hhurif-of Thmmond, no longer contemed with his prine pulity of Clare, hat throwu a brilgre across the Shimuou five miles nhwe limerick, and was thas emabled to enter Nun-ter at his pleisure und spreal his nuthority towards the south; while the I'C'arties and O Sullivans, in Cork and liarry, were only mot dangrons to the Earls of besmond, becanse the llamonds wre more lrislo than thenselves, ant were aropted as their ataril ehiefs. In Tlp. mery and Kilkenny muly the Cehtie renction Wis beld in check. Tbe Earls of Ormomel, al. thengh they were obliged thenselves to live as Irinh chleftitias, and to govern le the Irlsh law, brt.. remalned trate to their allegiance, and anaintamel the English authority as far as their power exbrimlecl.Wexford. Wicklow, and the mombtains of liniblin, were exerpiped by the Ilithlatml tribes of O'i ryne und ofomle, who, in their wild glens and diangerous gorges, detfed attompts to comquer them, and whon were ablec, at ull them. iswing down out uf the passers of the hills, to cul off communieation witl the pale. Thas the lBulders latd no means of reaching bals. lin werp throngh the connty of Kildare, the home of their lecreditary rivals and foes. This Is a keneral aceomut of the situation of the va. rious parties in Ireland at the lueginning of the 16 bibentury. I have spoken only of the leading fumili-s. .'There lé slaty countles, culled habled with the lime's lrimbemes. '"-J. A.

Froude, Hist. of Eing., ch. 8 (c. 2). - See, also, Pale, The. Exolish. Pale, Tif. Evolish.
A. D. $1535-1553$.-The reconquest under Henry Vill, and the fall of the Geraldines.The political paclifation and the religious alienation.-" Tollemry VIII. the pulcy which had been jursued by his father was utterly liate. ful. Ilis purpose was to rule in lroliat us thoroughly 'min effectively as he raled in Eag lame.
'the Geralellnes, who had Inoen suf. fered under the preceding relyn to govern lrelind in the nimue of the Crown, were prick to discover that the Crown would no lonerer stoop to be thelr tool. Thiy resulverl to frighten Eing. land agaln luto an conviction of its helphesstions: and the rising of Loril Thomish Fitageralal fol. lowed the usian fashlon of Irish revolts. I murler of the Archblshop of Dublin, a capture of the city, a repulse lefore its castle, a harrying of the pale, ended In a suchien disajumamere of the rebels among the bogs and forests of the Inorler on the adrance of the English foresw.
Unlackily for the Geruldines, Henry hail re solved to tuke Ircland serlously In hand, and be lad Cromwell [Slr Thomas] to execute his will. Skeftington, the new lorl llepuiy, bronght with him a triln of artillery, which worked a startling change in the politicil aspect of the island. The eastles which hat hitherto sheltered reladion were battered into ruins.

Not only was the 1w) Wer of the great Norman honse which had towered ewer Treland utterly broken, but ouly a single lny was laft to preserve its nimu. With the fall of the Cicraldlaes Ireland folt itwiff in a muster's prasp.

In seren yones, partly through the vigour of Skethingtonis muctomif. Loril hatuard (iroy, und still more thrugh the resilute will of thenry und Cromwell, the jwwer of the Crown, which had been limited to the wails of Diblin, was acknowledged ower the length and hreadth of Ireland. .. Cheftain ufter chioftain was won over to the ncreptance of the indenture whicls guarantered hian in the possession of lis lands, anel left his athority over his tribesmen untonched, on comititins of n pledge of loyalty, of mbstinence from illrad whrsual exactions on his fellow shlbiect-and of roblering a fixed + to the ('rown.
poliry must In fatal hlamler w.

- bod servicer in war time firm anal comeliatery ? wom. but for the ad Irclinul intu re ligious strife at the .... when her cinitsirift the spirit of the R:"formation meverexivtel amona the perople ut all. Ther nerepted the lexilative mensares passed ln the Englislo larliane with ont any droam of theological fonsergat neten, if of any clinge in the doxtrine or cremman of the ('harch. . The nission of Ar'hbialow lirowne for the placking-down of ithols and catinguibs. lug of lilolatry "was the first stel in the long effort of the Einglish Govermment to force is new fith on a people who to at mime chang passion ately to thelr ohl religion. Brownos attempts at 'thning the pulpits were met by a sullen and slignlficant opurasl lon.

Pritestantiom hind failet to wrest a slngle Irishman from bis ohler convetions, but it succeded in uniting all Irelind agalnst the Crown. . . The population within the lale and without it becance one, 'not as the Irish nation, ' it has lseen acutely said. - bat as Catholens. A new cimas of manal ldeatly was found in the ldentity of religion."
-J. R. Green, Short Ifisc. of tho Eing. People, ch. 7. net. 8.

Also Iv: R. Bagweii, Ireland Under the Tudors, e. 1, ch. 0-15.-M. Haverty, Ifist. of Ireliend, ch. 30 .
A. D. 1559-1603. - The wars of Shane O'Neil and Hugh O'Neil, Earls of Tyrone. The League of the Geraidines and the Ulster Confederacy.-"The Reformatlon begun under ilenry VIII. was carried out with pitliess determination under Edward V1., and was met by the C'ntholles with unflinching opposition. Ender Mary there was a period of respite, but the strife was renewed with greater fierceness in the succeedligg relgn. As authentle Irish history be gins with St. Patrick, so with Elizubeth modern Irish history may be sald to begln.

At her accession, Eilzabeth was too much occupled with foreign complications to pay much heed to Incland. Tronble first begau in a conflict be. tween the feudai laws and the old Irishlaw of Tualstry, Con O'Nch, Earl of Tyrone, had taken his title from IIenry VIII., subject to the English haw of succession; hut when Con died. the clan ONeil, disregarding the English prin. ciple of heredltary suecession, chose Shnne 0 Seil, nn lllegitimate son of Con, and the hero of his Sept, to be The O'Ncil. Shane O'Nell at ouce pat dimself forward as the ehamplon of Irish liberty, the supporter of the Irisi right to rule themselves in thelr own way and pay no beed to Englane. Eimder the pretence of gorerniug the country, Elizabeth overran it with a soldiery who, us even Mr. Fronde acknowledges. lived almost mivirsally on plunder, and were fittle better than handits. The time was mappropriate one for a champion of Irish rights. shane 0 'Nell boldly sternd ont as sovereign of C"lster, nud pitted hinself against Elizille.th

Shane fonght hravely against his fate, lint he was rlefented [A.D. 1507 ], put to flight, and murdered by his enemies, the scots of intrim, In whose stronghohds he madly sought refnge. Ihis heal w:is struck off, and sen: to ndorn the Walis of Duhlin Castle. Ilis lands were declared forfeit, and his rassils vassals of the Crown. Eugllah solliers of fortune were given grants fnun shane's escheated territury, but wheru they attempted to settle they were killed by the Neils. Others eame in their place pnder Walter Deverenx, Earl of Essex, and didi their beat to simplify the process of colonization by exterminatiug the O'Neils, men, womeu, and chilhren. Wherever thes conid be got at. After two rears of strnggle Essex was compelled to ahmun his settlement. Bnt ofter colonizers Wire nut disheartened. Sonie We-t of England gentlensen, nnder Peter Curew, selzed on Cork, Limeriek and lierry, nud souglit to hold them hy extirpating the obnoxlous uatives. Against these Eingliwh lnroads the great Geraldine Leagne Has formed. In the relgn of Mary, that boy of twelve whom Inenry VIII, had not been able to inclule in the general doons of his house had betu allowed to return to Irelind, and to resnme his ancestral honours. Onee nuore the Geralilnes were a grent and powerful fanily in Ireland." Defeated ln their first rising, "the Geraldincs and their compnnion chlefs got encouragement In Rome and pledges from Spain, and they rose Figaln under the Eari of Desmond and Sir James Fiftuarice Fitageruld. At tirst they had some successes. They had many wrongs to avenge.

Sir Francls Cosby, the Queen's representative in Leix and Offaly, had concelved and exeeuted the ideari preventing any further posslhle rising of the ralefs in those districts by summon. $\ln \mathrm{g}$ them and thelr kinsmen to a great banquet In the fort of Muliaghmast, and there massucring thicm all. Out of 400 guests, only one man, a Lalor, escaped from that feast of blomi. Whth such memories in tielr minds, the trihes rose in all directions to the Desmond call. Elizabeth sent over more troops to Ireland under the new Lord Deputy, Sir Wlliam Pelhana, who hind with hlm as ally Ormonde, the inend of the house of Bitler, heneditary foes of the Geraldines, and easily induced to act agalnst them. Pelhmm aud Ormonde cht their way over Munster, reducing the province by unexampled ferocity. Ormonde lonsted that he had put to death nearly 6,000 disaffected persons. Just at this moment some of the chicfs of the Pale rose, and rose too inte. They galned one vletory over Lord Grey d. Whlton in the pass of Glenmalure [August, Diso $)$. . Grey lmmediatedy abondoned the Pale to the insurgionts, nad turned to Smerwiek Pale to the insurgents, nad turned to Smerwiek [A. D. 1580$]$ where whe soo spunisl [A. D. 1580], where sume 800 spanisla and Italian soldiers had jonst lamded, too hate to be of any service to the lelx llion, and lind ocophed the dismantiell fort. It was at once blorkided by sea and by lathl. In ar.e. sea and hy latul. In Arey s nrmy sir Walter Indelgh and jahund Suctuser both held eommands. Sunerwick surrenelered at diserethon, and the prisaners were killed by Rnleigh and his men in cohl hoorl. Flushed by this suceess, Griy retarned to the Pale ant conried all before him. The Gerildines were disheartened, and Were defeated wherever they made a stand.
Munster wis so vigoruinly laid wiste that Mr. Fronde dechares that ' the lowing of a cow or the sound of a ploughboy's whistle was not to be Heart from Vakentia to the IRock of Cinshel. IIolinsled dechares the traveller wonld not neect any man, woman, or child, snving in towns or cities, and wnuhi not see any beast; and Spenser gives a melancholy pietnre of the misery of the inhabitants, as that uny stony beart would rne the sime.' . . The next step wns to eontisente the es. tates of the rebellious chiceftains. . . The estates of Desmond and some 140 of his followers came wo the Crown. The hand was then distributed at the cheapest rate in large tracts to English nobles and gentlemen adventurers, who were pledged to colonize it with Endinsh laLourers and tradesmen. But of these labourers and tralesmen not many come over, and those who did soon returned. tired of struggling for their foothuld with the dispossessed Irish." During all this Genuldine or Desmond rebellion llster had re. mained quiet ; but In 1594 it began to show signs of disturbance. "IIngh O'Scil, the grandson of that Con O'Veil whom IIenry VIII. had made Eari of Tyrone, hial beeu hrought up at the English court, and eontirmed in the Iordship of Tyrone by the English Government. In the brilliaut court of Eliaabeth the young Irish chlef was distingulshed for his gifts of inind and burly. When he canne of age he was allowed to return to Ircland to his earlilum. Once whithin his own comitry, he nssumed his ancestral title of The $O^{\circ}$ Neil, and revired all the cnstoms of independent Irish chicftains. For long enougli he took Crown la but ingny phets of moments agalnst the Crown; but mnny things. the ties of frienilshlp and of iove, combined to drive him into rebelifon.

IRELAND, 1607-1611.

Tyrone In the end consented to give the powerful support of hila name and hls arms to n skllfully planned confederation of the tribes. On all shles the Irish eblefa entered lnto the Insurree. tlon. O'Neil was certalnly the most formlithle Irish leader the Engilsh lind yet eneounterad.

Vletory followed vletory that of the Yellow Ford, 1598, belng the most important]. In a Ilttle while all Ireland, with the exception of Buhlin and a few garrison towns, was In the hands of the reliels. Essex, and the largest army ever sent to Ireland, crossed the Chammel to cope Whih hlm; but Essex made uo serious move, and after an intervlew wlth Tyrone, In whleh he promled more than he could perform, he returned to England to hls death. Ills place was taken by Lord Mount joy, who, for all hls love of angling and of Elizabethun 'play-books,' was a stronger man. Tyrone net him, was defeated [at Kjusule, 1601]. From that hour the revellion was over. . . . At last Tyrone was compelled to come to terms. He surri wlered hls estates, renounced all clalm to the of The $O$ Nell, ahfured alllance wilh all jorelgn powers, and promised to lutroluee English laws and customs Into Tyrone. In return he recelved a free pardon and a re-grant of his title and lands by letters patent. Ikory O'Donnell, Red Ingh'a brother, also subinitted, and was allowed to retaln the title of Earl of Tyreonnel. Elizabeth was al. ready dead, and the som of Mary Stuart [James I.] was King of England when these terms were mude; but they were not destined to do nmeh gool. "-J. II. McCarthy, Outline of Jrish Mist., ch. 4.

Also in: T. D. McGee, Populur Ihixt. of Tresiantl. bk. 8, ch. 3-11 (r. 1-2).- M. Maverty, Mist. of Ireland, ch. 32-35. - R. Bagwell, Irelanel uniter the Tudum, e. 2.-T. Leland, Ilist. of Ireland. bk. 4, ch. 1-5) (r. 2).
A. D. 1607-1611,-The fight of the Earla and the Plantation of Ulster.-." With the sul). mission of the Enrl of Tyrune terminated the struggle between the Tudur princes and the natwe celtic tribes. No chicftaln heneeforward clahmed to rule his distriet in Independeuce of the Crown of England. The Celtle land tenure. the lirehon laws, the language, eustoms, nod traditions of the defented race were doomed to gradual yet certaln extinction. . . . Before Elizubeth wis laid in the grave, the objeet for which durimes so many years she had striven was thas at length aecomplished; . . . but between the wars of the Tudors and the civil government of the Stharts, still remaln (the intermediate link. ats it were, between the two) the fall of the able man who had erated and solrag conducted ant almost national resistauce, and the eoloulsation by English sottlers of his demesnes and the adjoinin: parts of Clister." $\boldsymbol{A}$. G. Ihehey, Nhort Mist. if the Jriah Pemple, ch. 20.-"Lonl Bacon, with whom hleas grew plentifully, had a sug. gestion at the scrvice of the new king as protitible as the "princelie pollele' whleh he tanght his predecessor. He was of oplnlon that a great settlement of English lmshandmen In Ireland, able to gunrd as well as to thll the land, woulid loip to socure the interest of the C'rown. Tll] this was done Ircland was not effectually reduced, as Sir Elward Coke afterwards declared, 'for there was ever a back-door ln the north.' The anly guestlon was where to plant them.
$0^{\prime}$ Neill and Tyreounell had proved dangerous alversnies; they possessed a fertile territors and as thelr 'loose order of Inheritance' had heen duly changel Into 'an orderly succerslon, ' they were quite rlpe for confiscatlon. But they had luen ostentatlonsly recelved Into farour it the close of the late war, and some decent protence for destroylng them so soon was Indlsperensible It wa found ia a letter convenlently dropped in the preelncts of Dublln Custle, dlsclosing a new consplracy. Of a consplacy there was not then, nul has not heen sinee discovered, myy evilenere worth recorling. The letter was prolithls forged, necurilng to the praetlise of the tims: but where so noble a boty was to he distributerl by the Crown, one cal concelve how ill tinal and dislogal any doulat of their trenssul Winll have appeared at the Court of James, ur uf the Lord Depity. They were proclalmed triturs. and fled to the Contlnent to solicit aid from the Cathollc Powers. Wlthout delny, James athl his counsellors set to work. The Khig applind to the Clty of Iondon to take up the lamin of the whll Irish. They were well waterenl, he ilatitil them, plentlfully supplled with fuel, with aima store of all the necessarles for nian's sustemare and moreover ylelded tmber, hides, tallow, can vas, and cordage for the purposes of comum tre The Companies of skinners, Flshmonerrs, llat. erdishers, Vintners and the llke therempin th. came Ahsentee Proprintors, and have gnzzlel? Irish rents ln elty feasts nul holidity cexuraing, to Ireland from that day to this. Six comitio, In Clister were condseated, and not herely the ehlefs, hut the entire populatlon dinphasestrd The frultful plalus of Ar nagh, the (leep pas. toral glens that lle between the sholtoring hills of Ionegal, the undnlating meadow land? stretehing hy the noble lakes and rivers of Fer. managh, passed] from the race which hatl pus. sessed them since before the redentition if manklnd. . . The alluvial huds werto wivent English courtlers whom the seotch king fourd It necessary to plaente, and to seotch partimas whom he dared not rewarl in Enghamd. The peasants driven out of the tribal hamle tohuroms in the hills or bogs were not treateal wowrding to noy law known among clvilised men. [fuler Celtic tenure the treason of the chicf if he cominitted treason, affected them no more than the offences of a temant for life uffert a reanimiter man in our numbern practlee. Enuler the fendal system they were innoecent fendatorias who Would pass with the forfeited han! to the ('rown. whth all thelr porsomal rifhts malistartuel. The $\mathrm{m}_{1}$ therl of settlement is stated with cotamendable simplicity by the hatest histurian. The 'plantators' got all the land worth their having: What was not worth their having-the barrea mountahs and trackless morass, which after two centuries still In many eases ylehl no human ford - were left to those who lit the language of an Act of Parlianent of the perion were natises of the realm of Irlsh hlomal. Wring descended from those who did luherit and possess the land.' Lest the frogality of the Coles shomh enatle thein to peacefully regain some of their passerslons, it was strietly comblitloned that no plantstor or servltor should alienate his portion, of any part thereof, to the mere Irish. The conflated territory amounted to two millions of acres. these a milllon and a half' says Mr. Froude begg, forest, and mountain were restored to the Irish. The half milllon acres of fertile laod were settied with familien of Scottish and Eng. Ilsh Protestants.' It was in this manner that the famons Piaatation of Uister was founded. "-Sir C. G. Dufly, Bird's-Eye Vies of Irish Mist., rer. ci. pp. 74-78 (or bk. 1, ch. 4, of "Toung Ireland"'). - The City of London lind taken in hand tie settlement of Derry, which was now to be rebuitt under the name of Londonderry, and to give tis name to the connty in which it stood, and winci ind hitiserto been known ns the cousty of Colernine." -S . R, Gardiner, Wist, of Eng., 1603-104), ch. 10 (e. 1).
Also IN: T, D'Arcy McGee, Popular Mist. of Iriland, bk. 0, ch. 1 (c. 2).-J. Ilnrrison, The Eut in Ulater ch. 8.- C. P. Slechan, Fite and Fur. tunes of IIugh O' Veill, Earl of Tyrune, and Rory O' Donel, Earl of Tyreonnel.
A D. 1625, - The Graces of Charies 1. On'ae acecssion of Ciaries I., "one more etiort was made by the Irisin gentry to persuade, or rather to bifle, tie Government to aifow them th remain undistarbed in the possession of their property. They offcred to raise by voinntary assessment the iarge sum of $£ 120,000$ in three aunuai Instaiments of $\mathbf{x} 40,000$, on comition of ontaining certaic Graces from the King. These Gra'es, the Irish anaingne of the Peti tha of 1 ighits, were of the most modierate and faitubie description. The mist importar: were that nudisturbed possession of sixty years shonid secnre a fanded proprietor from ill older ciaims on the purt of the Crown, that the inhabitunts of Connangit shonid be se. cured from litigatlon by the enroiment of tiveir patents, and that Popish recusints shonid be vernitted, without taking tive Outh of Supreme acy, to sue for inery of their estates ln the court of Arehes, and to practise in the conrts of law. The terins were accepted. The pronise of the King was given. The Graces were trans. mittel by way of instraction to the hord Dep. uty and Couacli, and tise Govermment niso engagul. as a further security to aii propirietors, that their estates shonid be formaily contirmed to them and to their heire hy the next Parias. ment which siould be held in Ireland. Tive sequed forms one of the most shameful passages ia the history of Engiish government of Irehind. Ia distinct viofation of the King's soiemn prom. tse, itter the subsidies that were made on the faith of that promise had been diniy obtaimed, Without provication or pretext or excuse, Wentworth, who now presided with stern des. potisun over the govermment oif Irelimi, an nonaced the withdrawai of the two principai artheles of tite Graces, the imitation of C'rown chatas by a possession of slaty years ani the preilisation of the Conamyett tities."-II. E. il. Lreky. Hist, of Eing., $18 t h$ Century, ch. $B$ (r. 2) A. D. $1633-1639$. - Wen.worth's nystem of "Thoroagh." - In the summer of 16333 . Thomas Weutwnith, ufterwaris Eari of Strafford, was appointel iword-Lientenant of Ireland. "It was auring his tenure of oflice as viceroy that ite attirated to estahiish ubsolntism in Ireiand, in onderthat, by the thereby enhanced power of the monarchy, he might be ennbied to turn the seate Aafavour of a despotic government in Engiand. Aad, never at a loss in the choice of his cxpedieats, he contended for his scheme with nnenergy Ia the prosecntion characteristic of the man. of the jrosecntion of his ends, he treated some of the most influential English nobiemen resi. dent ia Ireiand with tise utmost indignity, simply with the chject of intimiduting them, nt the outset, from any fartier opposition. Une of them, Lord Mountnorris, was even condemned to death on a churge of sedition and mutiny, merely for having made use of a disresjectfni exjresshon witit reference to the iord-iientemant, the representatire of the sovereign.
fonging of tite Irisin Protestant Clur

Every fonging of the Irisih Protestant Chureh for inde jenilince was auppressed by Wentwortio. Ac. cording to his views supremennthority in Chnreit mattrrs theionged absolutely and pueondition aify to the king. IIe, therefore, obolished, in 16:3t, the 'Irish Articies, whieh granted sone eoneesslons to l'nritanisin, andi whicit inti been Jatroinced by Archbisiop lisher in the refin of James I., and, at the sume time he united the Irish Establishled Chnreh indissoinhe unitid withe of Engiand. Bnt above ail things ine considered it to be his dinty to incrense tite nriny, which 1 : 1 hititerto been in $n$ disorganisedi condition, nnd $t$ put it in a state of complete elficiency: in oricer to do this, however, it was of the ifrst impor. tance to nugment the revenne of the Crown, and in pursnance of tinis ohject he distinined no means Ile extorted iarse sams of money from the Catholics by reminilug them tint, in case their contribntions were too uiggardiy, there stili existed inws against the Iapists which conill easily be put into ojerntion again. The City of Londion Compung, which some yenrs before had effected the eivionization of Londonderry, wns sndideniy called to acrount for not luving fantilied tire stipuiations eontained in its churter, and condembed to pay a tine of ezo.000. In the sime spirit he concrived the idea of obtaining udditions to the royal excherfuer by a freshsettlement of commanght ; and, accordingiy, he indine dite Government, regartiess of the engagentents mate some vears previonsiy at the granting of the 'pracos, 'tor re-sesert the claims it had formeriy aivanced to the possession of this province. And now, as in the worst diny of Jimes I., there tgain prevaiked the oid system of investigation into the validity of the tithe: by which the danded gentry of Connme: held their estates. Sucil persions as were ju aised in disinterring these unregistered titles were fooked upon with favour, aud as a memns of incitiug to more vigorous efforts, a preminm of 20 jeer cent. on the receipts reaized daring the first year by the confliscation of property thes imperfectiy registered was gnarantecd to the presidents of the commission. With a eynicai frunkness, Wentwortli deciared that no money was erer so jnilieiousiy expendedi as thes, for now the Ieonie entered into the business whtin us much brifonr und assidnity as if it were their own private concern. . . . ithe collective tities of the irfovince of Connanglat ware at the nulimited disposal of the iordlientemant; and, adthough, notwithstinding this result, le, at the fast moment, recoiled from the fimal net, and shrank from ejecting the fresent owners, nad resettilng the province, it was not from any conscientious scrupies that he refrained from taking this last Clecisive step: to the mann whose motto was 'Thorough,' such scrupies were naknown. Practicai considerations aione . . Induced Wentworth to parnse in the joati upon which we had enterel. Just at that time the Crown was engaged in a coatest with Inritanism in Scotiand, while, in Engiand, the attempts of

IRELAND, 1633-1639.
Wentionth's Thorough.

IRELAND, 1641.

Charles to make his rule absolute had produced a state of pubiic feeiing which was in the high. est degree criticai. . . In view of these considerations, therefore, 'straford postponed the colonization of the western province to a mure favourabie season. Whilie we turn wlth just ahhorrence from the coutempiatlon of the rev. less and despotic acts of this remarkahie man, we must not, on the other hand, fuli to acknowiedge that hls administration las features whleh present a hrighter aspect.

In the exercise of a certain toiemtion, dictated, it is true, oniy i) policy, he deellan" 4 maddie directiy in the reigious affalrs of tle Cathoiles. Ilis greatest merit. howerer, consists in having ad ranced the materini weli-ls-ing of the country. He took a liveiy intcrest in agriculture and cattie-rearing, and by cansing the rude aud anticunted methols of hushandiry which prevailed among the Irish agricuiturnlists to be supersecied by more modiern appliancts, he eontributed very materiaily to the advanecment of this hranch of lndustry. He aiso iargely encouraged navigation, in consequence of whleh the uumber of Irish shlps ln. creased from gear to year; and although it can not be denied that he endeavoured to suppress the trade in woolien cioth, from an apprehension that it might come into dange: us competition with English manufaetures, he, nevertheiess, somght to compensate the Irish in other ways, and tite development of the Irish linen industry in the nortio was essentinily inis work. Irish revemue amnuaily incrensell, aud ${ }^{\circ}$. The toms returns ahome were trebied during the adininistratiou of Lord straford. He was, ne cordingly, iu a position to place at the di: pasai of his royai master a stauding army of 9,000 meu. . . . It was, therefore, no dile hoast, but a statement in strict accordance with the truth, which be made when writhg to Arebhishop Laul on 16ith December, 1634: I can now say that the king ls here as truip absoide as any sov. ereign in the world can be." -12 . Ilassencamp, Mist, of Irchurd, ch, 3-"Of ali the suggesters of the infamous couusels of Charles, Laud and Went worth were the most sineere:-Laud, from the intence faith with wilei he iooked forwarl to the possible supremacy of the eccieslastical power, and to whicil he was hent upon going, 'thorough', tilrough every obstacle; - Went. worth. from that strong sense, with which birth and education had perverted his genins, of the superior exreilence of despotic rale. . . . The letters which passed inetween them partook of a more intimate cinaracter, in respect of the avowal of ulterior designs, than cither of them. prob. ably. chose to arow eisewhere. . . Laud had to regret fils ponition in Engiand, contrasted with that of the lrish deputy. 'My lord.' he writes to Wentworth, speakiug of the generai affairs of chus it aud state, 'to speak freely, you may casiify promise nore iu cither kind ihan I ean perform: for, as for the church, it is so isound $u_{j}$ ) In the forms of the common iaw, that it is nut pussibie for me, or for any man, to do thint goond which he wouitl, or is bound to do.

And for the state, indeed, my ford, 1 am for Thorougi: bat l see that looth thick and thin stays somelmily, where I conceive it should not; and $1 t$ is impossilhir. for me to go thorough aione.

Everynnw act of despotism whieh struek terrur into Ireland shot compurt to the i:"an of Laud. 'As for my marginal note,' exc. hims the nrebhishop, ' i see you deciphered it well. and I see your make use of It too, - do so stilitit tivirum and thorow. Oin that 1 were where 1 mlgh . go so tooi hut I am shacklet between deliay and uncurtainties. You have a great deal of inunaur here for your proceetlings. Go on a Gedis namel' And on Wentworth went, stoppiug at no gratultons quarrel that had the sllghtest chance of pleaslug the archhlshop, even to the demolishing the famiiy tomh of the carl of Cork, -since his grace, among his seifert ercirsl. asticai researches, had discovered that the spot occupled by my lord of Cork's fanily nunu. ments, was preclsely that spot upon wininh the communiontahie, to answer the parpises if heaven, ought to stand!"- 1R. Browning, Thimas Wentiourth (Eminent British Statrmuen, r. 2,published under the name of Sohn Aimenter).
Aldo Ni: S. R. Gardlner, Thu First Tice ivearte and the Pheritan Revolution, cis seet 4.-The same, IInt, on Eng. ch. 78 ( $\mathrm{v}, 8$, and $90(r .9)$, W. A. O'Conor, lifit, of the Irish Peopte, r. W. Wh 3, ch. 1. T. Wright, Ilist. of Irelanil, ik. t. ed $22^{24}-$ T. Leland. Iist. of Treland, bk. 5 , ch. 1
A. D. 1641 . - The Catholic rising and al leged Massacres of Protestants.-. Tho givernment whicit Straford had establishuri in Ire iand fell with hln, the offlee of viceroy was entrusted to some of the judiges, and sbivirn of the powers which gave it authority over the whole country. The Irish army, whleh hall been formel witit so muci difficuity, and midintained In spite of so mudi oppositlon, was dishin:1/let witiout any attention helng vouchisafei to the King's wish that It shouil be alloweri to 'inter the Spanish service

Cnder tise intilurnee of events in England, government based on pre rogative, and ou its connexion with the English hlerarchy, as it ind existed in Irehand sluce Eliza. beth's time, feil to tite gromad. This revolution however nuight eathil important results The Irish peopie was Catholic: while the Jrotestant settiers were split into two hostile factions, and therehy the hlghest anthority in the imm, which bore a reaily protestant clinracter, was systematicaily weakcned and nimost destroydd, the thought of rilding themselves of it altugethet was sure to arise in the mation. The steed, ne eres completely broken in, feit itself sublenly fre from the tight reiu which hitherto it had unwill. Ingiy obeyed

It was the commonobject of alf Catholies, ailike of Angio-Saxum ani of Ciltic origin, to restore to the Catholic Cinurch the pos sessiou of the goomls and fouses that faiai been taken from her, aud above nil to put an end to the colonjes estabisisied sinee James 1 . in which Puritan tendencirs prevaiicd. The Catholics of the oid settiements were as cager for this as the natives. The idea originuted ha a coople of chiefs If whi lrish extraction, Roger o' Morer aut Lowd Macguire, wioo had heen involved in Tyrue's ruin, but were connected by nurriage wih sp. erai English families. The first nunn whom OMore won over was Lord May", ther nust powrerfui naynate of oid Enyiish descent in Conuaght, of the house of De isurgh. . . The best military lemier in the confedieracy; Col. I'iunkett, wis a Cathoile of oid Engish origin.

Anong the natlves the most notable proson age was Phelim O'Neli, who, after haring been long in Engiand, and iearnine Protestantism there, on hls return to Ireiand weut back to the old faith and the old customs: he was reckoned the rightful heir of Tyrone, and possessed un. bounded pipular influence. The plan for whieh the Catholies of botb Ifish and Engllsh extruetlon now untted was a very far reaeblig one. It involved moking the Catholle religlon altogether dombant in Ireland: even of the old nohility noae but the Cutholics were to be tolerated: all the lands that had been selzed for the new settlements were to he given back to the previous possessors or their lielrs. In each district a dlstingulshed fanilly was to be answerable for orter, and to mnintain an armed foree for the purpose. They would not revolt from the Klng, but stlli would lenve him no real share in the government. Two lords justiees, both Catholle, one of Irish, the other of oll Engllsh family, were to be at the head of the government.

The prepa. rations were niale in profound silence: a mnn couh travel across the country without perceis. ligg any atir or uneruslness. But on the appointerl day, (ixt. 23, the day of St. Ignnthes, the Insurrectloa ewriwhere liroke out." Duhlin wins aned, by a disclosure of the plot to the government, on the evening of the $2 \boldsymbol{d} \mathrm{l}$, hy a Protestant Irishmn who had galned knowledge of it. "Severul other places aiso held out, as Lombin. derry aul Currickfergus, and afforicel places to when the Protestants might tyy. But no one can paint the rage and eruelty wheh was vonted far aind wide over the land, upon the numaned abdilefenceless. Many thousanis perishat: their corpas tilled the liand ind served as font for the hites. . Religious abhorrence enterel Into a dreadfin league with tbe fury of nathonal hintred. The metlves of the Siellian Vespers nud of the night of sit. Bartholonew were mited. Slr Phetim, who nt onee was prochimed Loord and Jaster in Clster, with the title of the ontive prices, ns Tyrone had been, nad who in his prochuntions assumed the tone of a sovereign, was not at nll the man to eheck these eruclties.

With nli thls lettlng loose of anclent bur. barism there was still soune lohling lack. The Scotioh settlements were spared, although they were the most hated of all, for fear of lneurring the howilisy of the Scottish as well as of the English nation. Immediately there was a rising in the tive countie's of the old Fanglish Pale: the gentre of Louth, under the lenilership of the sheritt, tork the side of the rebels. The younger men of Meath nssembled on the lhoyne, abul eous. meneed hostlities ngainst the Protentints: so completely had their rellgions sympathles prerailed orer thelr patalotisus."-L. Von Rabike, Ilix. of Ahg., lith Century, bd. &, ch. - (r. 2) "s.ome re ference to the notorious story of the mas. sacr. "f $t 6 i 1$ is required, not hecause the acrount of it is true and is a part of history, nor bee:use it is false and ueceds refutation, lut lercause it is State fiction, a fillsehood with a purpose, and as such deserves mention ns much us the levying of trops or the passing of laws. The recoril of the period is not the history of a massiere, but No we whl of mate Invention of a massaere.
forst state of massicre hat lecen heard of in the first state doeunent that refersel to the so ealleyl rebellion. The Citholie lords of the Pale would aever hare united their names and fortunes with those of murderers

The royalists again and again urged in their irenties with their oplonents that an invesignation of therrafliles commitred on Wrays uhohutely refused and the proposal wis atways ulsohutely refused."- W. I. O'Conor, Miat, of the Iriah Pemple, bk. 3, th. 1, wet. 5 (r. 2). -''There were few plaecs of atrength in ['ister Wheh hal not fallen by the ead of the first week O' Wetll hanils of the fasurgents. Sir Phellm O'Nelll alrenily found himself at the hent of some 30,000 men, as yet of course undiselpilined, and but few of them effleiently armed; and it is not to he expected that such an Irregular numitinde. With wild passhons let loose, and so many wrongs oud insults to be avenged, eonlhl have been engaged in seenes of war, even so long. whthout committlag some decels of bloonl whileh the laws of regular wurfare would not sinnetion.

was taken in some few instanees where ile deserved the name of murder; but the cases of this nature, on the Irish shle, at the eommenere. ment of the relellion, were isolaterl ones; and nothing enn he more unjust aud fnlse than to deserite the outbrenk of this war as a massaere '."-D. Ilaverty, Ihist. of Ireland, ch. 37."This [Slr Wm. I'ctir's] estimate of 3',000 Prot. estants supposell to hiave leen murlered makes no allowance for those who escaped to Englaud and Scothand, nud never returned to Irelnnd. It seems to me more llacly thut almat 2\%, (MO I'rot estants were murilered by the sword, gun, rope, drowning. de., in the firit three or four yons of the relnellions. The evilenee of the depositions, after dethething nll douluful exiggerations, leaves Ittle dosit that the mombers so destroved could harlly huve bern less than 28, (кн) at all events. But the trith is thit no neeurate ristimater is possible. After the Porthaw massiacre the I'ronestants, espechally the seoteh, tank nn nwful rengemee on their enemies. Heme forward one side ved in crueltr with the wherr."-M. IIiek. son, Irelorme in the 1 with 'citury, introni., p. 163
Also IN: T. Carte, Litre of Jimm, Dhike of Ormome, bh: 3 (oh, 1-Q)- IV. F. II. Lecks, IIint. of Eng., 1Nth rimtury. ch. 6 (r. 2).-T. Lelami, Jist, of Irelimel, bh: 5, ch. 3-4 (r. 3).
A. D. 1643 .- The king makes Peace with the rebels, Ner FNuLAND: A. I). 164:3 (JUNESEITT: W13: 1 )
A. D. $1645 .-K i n g$ Charles' treaty with the Catholics, Se F.NGiAND: A. I) 1645

A, D. 1646-1649.-The Rebels become Royalists. - " The true [offred by King Charles to the relels In 164:3] appears to have been well obs arreed be earh party, and resultend in a treaty of peare which was signed in July, 1646, by which the limman Catholics obtained every ilemand whill they put forward. This pence wns nerer. theleas at once broken. and Ormoud (who had hern appointed Iorl Lielutenant in Januury, 1643) was closely breskeged in Dhblin by a foree, headed by Cordinal Rinuceini. the l'apail Nuneio, Who had assumad the command of the Irisb Catholics. Finding himself in so dangerous a pusition, Ormond. by express directiou from the king, offered his sulimission to the English Parhiament, to whom he surrendered Dublin, DroGhedia, Dundalk, and such other garrisons ns remained it his himeds. Thls transintiou wins completed on the 25th of July, 164\%, when Colonel Jones tow) eommund of IJublin for the Parliament, and was male hy them Conmanderin.Chief in Ireland; bls total foree bowever amounted to but 5.000 men. The war now ronliuued with rarying suceess, the eomnanders for the Parliament being, in addltion to Jones,

IRFLAND, 1646-1040.

IRELAND, 1640-1650,

The latter in 1648 fnined Ormonnd, who in Septeminer, upon the Invltatlon of the Cathnlles, re. tarmal to lreland, the I'apmi Nimeln baving ineen Iriven from the comntry by hls own party, who were nllanated from lim by him foliy and Inso. itnee. At the ram of 114 A there were therefore iwo partles In Irelomit the Imarlimentary, which hat heen the Engllsh, halidng Dublla and a few garrismis. nat the Catholles. who, formerly riluds, werr now hejid us Izoyinlista, nind whome new leadir Grimond, on the ilenth of Churles I., proclalmed the I'rince of Winlen, on the $10 t h$ of Fchriary, 1tit?, at ('urreck, as King of Fing. fimui, Seotlimel, Frumee, nt Irehuml. The Eng lish larliament now st avt remblved in put an imi to Ilsoricer In Irclinkl, nad with this object, In Marcia, 1049, njpolnted Cromweli to the supreme commmal." Be fore Cromwell arrived in Irelaml, inowner the Irish hoyntiste ind relucod every gary. oned place except belel Dmmalk, but lodige defeuted (Aug, ?) by Jomers when they lail shece tothe enplat. Thangh fourbit it the gatos of Dubiln, this was ealled the Puttic of Rathmines. Ormond retreated whts Walford. Parliammitary diemmen of the Great Ciril llirr. $\cdot h$.

A1msin: T. Curte, Liff of Jumen Duke of Or-Ir, linul, ch. 1-3.

A. D. 1649-1650,-Cromweil's campaign, -

 The siaughter at Drogheda and Wexford. -- IV hon (romwed arrlued in Ireland at the hearl of $12,000 \mathrm{men}$, he fundi ammst the whole roms. try amber the powero the Royalive (Aug. losth). A Parlimmontary forrison in Dublin jtself lond onife esengel aticge by surprang the rememy on the banks of the Litifey (Aus, ?ut). The general lirst marclad inginest Droghedia, then anlled Droghtagh or Tredah, amil summonerl the garrl. sunto surrebiler Sir Arthur Ashatom, the gos. ernor, refumel: lie had 3.1 mo of the chalesest trentis of the conferlerites and emoneh provelions to cmable fism to low inut till winter mandid ams. [w] the enemy to ralse the slege. But within twaty-fur hours the Englivh hattering had male a hrench in the wall, Oliver, ofter twlee followerd. - Bulug la the bent of netlon I forbanie them,' ('romwell wrute in 1 is ales-janth to the Parliament, 'tospare ally that ware ln arma la the town, mat I thank that niglat they put to the probahily fell in the strcets: the other half Crome. well demeribes ns faving hern alan at early as it juitument for their prevlonis firemeretings there: "It is remarkable, be writes, 'that these bonple at tirst art up the mass in sonale places of tha town that hat lworn monasleries: bint after. wards grew so inallent that, the last land's day Inefore lhe storm, the l'rutestants worn thrust they inal phlliar manss there: nuth in this very

 Were knwkid un the hend promisenomsly lut two, ikovalint meremats assert that many humiryla of women amt children wrea stain in Si. Peter's Church. It is, of course, possible that some of the townsjeople, fleelng thither for nafety, Inat thelr llvee in the general manancre of the garrlan. There la, however, in trasat nothy wlthess for any Il ves belng takerf except lowed mollifers unt frlars. Cromwell dill not mamethan the kllllag of uny but those with mans la thitr bamis, thongh be berms to have approvini uf the fate of the friars. The fanmiteal zeal of hin liet ter, nut the fart that lee takes the fulf irodit, up
 It lmprobmbe that lo concealed mathan, and fiseanire of one man, slace my coming intol low lame, not ln arms, mussuterei, testrogite. or hat

 Cromweil earrial ont the levermland mande of warfure whileh he ingan it I Preghoula. They ware mostly scatternel over the rountry, weth pled in gurrisun tiaty. Is fore whathior fown he come he clemmaled lmatenilate surremar of ojnemed lis gat. & to tills grlm sintumons. Wex the sword (t).t. ijth).

In wharer respects. whlle Cromwell's rigonr nal laterminationsared blowlshed In the end by the rapllity and enme pleterness of hla cobruresis, his embluct In Iridand contrusteri fowomralily on muny puints with that of the Ikoynlists there, Ilis iown athliets, for Ill-ungig the jwople contrury torgilations, wre Wing it treaty was minle, İe kegt faithfuliy to Its tormas. Ghrrixins that yiefled un manions were ailowed eithrr to marill away with arms mervlec of miy governmernt at patio uith Eng. Inme. Before the wur wam owor lae Itith rift the conntry, on the se terms, of sumbe ti, ofin millin Taklig mivantage of the divifinto of hivene sondiers to disert the cance of Chashey sthart fip the (ommonwealth. Ilis combluct of the war wis so succerseful that, dinring the nime menths of his mity in Irelond, the fories of the lenalists were shattered, mad the provinces of Leinserf :and Munster recowered for the larliamean t'romwell returned to Enwlint in lay, 16.j), lebving his sum.in-law Ireton to complise the E"hyment of the eonotry. The last harrimans in Clitiot und Blanster surromberold laring the conarse of the raving smambry and antuma Ircton (ronscal thu' Shanon und druse the lrish Comamplat, their last refuge, where tizhting stal coutimurd for two yars allier all the rist of the Cordery unt J. S. I'lillpotts, Kiuy , whel tianman realth, ch. 12.-"No almiration lar Prommell sympathy with tha catuse that he bifleled to Foughani- (ian hinul us the trinth, that the lurid light of this grent crime [1he maseacre at Irogiledal burns still nfter ecnturias acrose the hastory of Englami and of Ireland; thit it is one of thase dimning charges whith the luritan theot ogy has zet to nonswer at the bar of lounamity." - $\mathbf{F}$. Ilarrison, Ulierer (romurell, ch. 8 $\rightarrow$ "Ollver's jremetliges here lat Droghedaj hum been the theme of tumeh loul criticism, and wilyyline es. ceration: into which it is not our plas to anter st present
To those who thlnk that a land overrua with Sangulnary Quacks can be bealed by niriakllng lt whth rowe-water, these lettere must be very burrible. Terrible Nurgery thls: but is It Sirgary and Judgment, or ntmelous Murder merviy* That la questlon whleh should be askel? and answered, Ollver Cromwell dld lee iitve la God's Judgments; and did not brillevc itt the mose water gran of Surgery; - whleh, in fact. is thls Editor's case too. . Ilere is a man whose wor 1 represents a thing! Fot hins. ter thls, and fase jargon scattering itself to the winiw: winat thle man speaks ont of him comes t" pass as n fact; apeech wheth tinls man is ace rumitely propisetle of deed. This ly the first Klug's face jwor Ireland cver naw; the first Frieni's face, littie as it recognises him, - poor Irelam!

To our Irlah friends we ongint to eay ilkewles that this Garrisoa of Tredala consistel. la good part, of Englishmen. Perfectiy certala thls:- and therefore let 'the blooly humf of the Saxon,' sec., forbear to continue ltseif on that matter."-T. Carlyle, Olicer C'romumlts Let. tern and Spurches, pe. 5.-"Cromwell met witil iltile reaistance; wherever be came, the hell out the promise of llfe and liberty of conscience; liberty of consclence he expluined to mean Intray of Internal leiliof, not of external worsinip:
but the rejaction of the oller, thoughit Wire ufterwards accepterl, was punlsined whit the hhand of the ofticers; nnd, if the pluce wrere taken $\mathrm{l} y$ force, whith Indiscrlmiluate slaughter." -i. ingganl, Fixt. of Eingland, e. 10, ch. 5, witl font hute.
Mimin: D. Murphy. Cromirell in Ireland.
A. D. $165^{1}$. The Massachusetts colonists invited to lreiand by Cromweil. Sec Manes. (IIM:TTN: A. I), (044-165).
A. D. 1652.-The Kilkenny Articles.-"On 12th Diay, 16is, the Leluster army of the Irish surrendered on terms signed at Kilkenny, whirla *ere alloptedisuccessively by the other principal armies betwoen timat time nome the septemper following. when the Cister forces surruderedi. By thes Kilkenny articibs, nil excent those wio Wure guilty of the first biown were recelved into proirction, on laying down their arnis; those wiso shmild nut In satistied with tine concluslous tine l'arlimuent might conue to concerning the Irish astion, sud shouid desire to transport themselves With thir men to serve any foreign stute in anlty with the Jurliament, should have iiberty to trat with their ageats for that purpose."J. P. Prendergast. The Cromurellian A Etlement of' Irelinel, $1 t$ 1, set. 2.
A. D. 1653. - The Cromwellian Settiement. - 'bl by the term Cromweliaa Settlenunt is to be understomel the history of the deaings of the Cumnumeslth of England with the lands and lithitalions of the people of Irviand after their Thinenthe of the eonntry In the jear 1652 . The oflleers of the army were enger to take Irish apmarar that of their arrears, tioungh it dioes not apprar that the common solillers were, who had small illu-ntures and no capltal, and no chance of fonnling families nad leaving estutes to thelr posterity. l3ut the adventurers [natioaai credltors, who had ioaned money to the government for the "risi War] must be first settled with, as they hat a cialm to abont one million of arres, to siniy the sums advanced for putting down the rebellion oa the faith of the Act of 17 Charics I. (A. I. 1642), and subsequent Acts and Ordlam.
ces, commonly called 'The Acts of Sulmerfiptinn.'
By theme, Iands for the adventurem must in tirst ascertained, hefore the rest of the evnntry ermald be free for dlaposal by the Parlinment tom the army. . Towarls the clowe of the year 18.33, the Fingllsh to occupy it. (B) the 2fth of Now tane Engllsh to occupy it. On that ye afth of Nep. Aminer ln that year, the Parllament passeyl an Act for the new piantligg of Irelumd whth Eng alis the tow government reserverl for tiemselves ali the towns, ail tie churcin lands aul tlthes; for they alnolished nli arehblshops, blabops, denns, and other oftecers, belonging to tiat ficrurehy, and la those days the Churril of Christ mat ln Chlehester Ilouse on College-green. They reserved also for themselves the fonr conntios of Inblin, Klldare, Carlow, anel ('ork. Ont of the lands and tithes thus reserverl, the government were to entlsfy puille dehts, prlvate fa vourltes, eminent friends of the republlean cause In Par. liament, regleldes, and the nose artlve of tise Eaglish rebels, not inding of the nrmy. They next made mupic provislon for the at virinturers
 This they dlyhled lnto tirree lots, of which
 In lainster, and $54.5,0) 0$ ) $\ln$ linticr, and the molety of ten comathes wits chargei whit thelr pay Ment:-Wuterforl, IImerick, innl Tipperary, in Munster; Nleuth, Wextmenti, King's unul Queen's Countles, In Leinster: mod Antrha, I hown, nad Armagh, ln Ulster. But, as ali w:a4 re. Jireal hy tive Alventarers Act to le dome by lit, in lottery wns appointed to tre helll in Rrovers ilail, Lonlon, for the 3oth Juiy, 16\%:3.

A lut was then to be dirawn by tim mlventurers, atul by some ofticer appointeil hy the Iornl fieneral (rome well on Irelonlf of the solillery, to ascertain which laronies in the ten counties shanhi be for the ndventurers, and whileh for the soldiers. Tie rist of Irchand, exerpt Comannght, whes to be wet out amongst the ofllcers mmi wolitions, for thelr debts of money or provisions the for supplies alrancell to the army of the Commouwealtin, amonntiag to £1, 7iv, 0\%0, Commoght wus by the larliament reserveri nad appulated for the hibl tation of the Irish nation; mal all Engitish and Protestants huvins lanis there, whe should desire to remove out of connantint into the prove luces inhabited by the English, wore to receive estates In the Enylish parts. of equal vinte, In exchange. . . The Earl of Ormonal, Primate Bramhali, nad ali the cathoiic mobility, and many of the gentry, were cleciaredincapable of parifoa of ife or estate, noll were banisileci.
Connaugit was selected for the habitation of all the Irisin nation by reason of lis being sur. somnded by the sea and the Siammon, ail but ten miles, and the whole casily minle into one line ly a few forts. To further secure the imprisnamient uf the mation, mind cut them onf froni relief by sen, in beit four miles wide, commencing one mile to the west of Nligo, aad so winging along tibe coast ami Siunnom. Was rescrved by the ing of 2 ith Septimuser, 16.i3, from leving set out to The Irisin, and bis priven to the soldiery to pinnt. Thither nil the lrisli were to remove at latest lyy the frst day of lay, 1654 , exeept Irish women married to Enclish Irotestants before the 2d Deccmber, 1650, provlded they became Protestants; except, also, boys under fourteen and girls under twelve, In Protestant service and to be brought up Protestants: and, hatly, thowe whon hamishown durlug the ten yeara' war In Ircinuml thelr constant gexul affertion to the Pariamarit of Englanil in firceference th the king. Thers thry were to dwell without entering a wallerl cown, or coming whilln tive milis of some, on pain of leath. $1!!$ were to mmove thliber by the int of May, 16.54, at latest, under pain of ineing put to ileath lay mentence of a court of milltary offlores, if found after that date on the Engithen alue of the Nhannom." In the acturl cene forecmeut of the law-found linpractienhle In all lts rigor - there were many spectal ilspansm. thons granted, and extenslons of thase.- J. I'. Proudergast, The C'omirellian © & lllement of Ircदsmi, prifi., "mil pt. |-2.
Almo is: .1. A. Froude, The Ainglinh in Iro lond in the $18 t h$ tifut'y, ok. 1, ch. $2(r .1)$.-J. Liugard, Jlint. uf King., r. 10, ch. A.
A. D. 655 - Cromweil's depnrtation of Girle to Jamaica. Sed.analc: A. 1). Ithin.
A. D. $1660-1665$. - The reatored Stuarts and thelr Act of Settlement. - "On the fill of Ihchani (rounwell, $n$ commedl of ofilicers whe esp talllshed ha Ihblln; these summoned a conven. tion of deputles from the protestant proprictors: and the convention tendered to (harles the olvellence of hle anclent klugdinn of Ireland.

To secure the roynt proterethon, they made the khig an offer uf a consldernble sum of nowery, assured him, thatil falme that the irlah cmitholles memiltuted a ger. eral lusurnerthon, and prayed himi to numunon a protestant parilameut in Ire. land, which matht contirn the exluting proprletors in the undisturied possesslou of thelr estates. The preserit wan graclously acecputed, and the penal laws ugidinst the Irish catholles were onderal to levestictly enforced; fint Cburles wiss unwilling to call a porilament, beenuse lt would necressirliy consist of morn whose prinelples, both clvil and religions, be hud Inentanght to dlstrust. The first measure recomanended to him by ihs Fughish advlsers, with respect to Ireland. was the re. ('stablishment of episcopney. For thls no iogislathe conactment was recpulsite. Ills retura bad given to the ancient laws thelr jrist lne uthority.

In a short thme the eplscopal blerarchy was gnletly restoned to the enjoymeut of lis former rlghts, and the excrise of lis fornow jurisaliction. To thls, a work of leisy accomplishment, sncreceled a much more diticul attempt, - the settlement of iamiod propurty in Ireland. The military, whom it was dangerous to disollige, and the adventurcrs, whose protenstoms hat leero sarsthoned by c'morles I. demanded the royal contimation of the titles by which they helid thelr estates; and the dimmat was opposed by a multitule of pethtioners clabming restitn. tlon or compensation [protestant reyatists, loyal catholies, &e. $]$.

Inmanity, gratltude, and justice, culled on the klag to ilsten to naby of nese claims.

From un estimate delivired to the king, it appeared that there still romalned at his dispmal forfeited lands of the yeurly rental of from elghty to one hundred tisousumi ponnds: a fund sufileiontly ample, it was contended, ti, 'reprize' or compensate all the Irisib really deservic, of the roval favorr. Linder this lmpresslon. Cnarles pmilished his celebrated declaration for the setilemeitt of Ircland. It provided that no person dirriving his title from the adventurers unter the parliament, or the soldiers under the commonwealth, should be disturbed in the pos.
meaton of his hands. without nocelving uncipulen ient from the fum] for reprimale; that all inan ceuts, whetier juritestanter or cathother, that ls, permins who hat urver athered clither to the parilament or the conferlerntem, shoulif In romtoned to their rightul estatem." After much contemition Ixit wien deputatlons from both aldes went to the klng. an act was passed through the lrish patila. ment subatanthily necomilng to the poyal dectr. raton. "Isut to excerite thls act wan fouml to be a tuak of conmilemble dilifenty. Hy luipint dent grants of lande to the churefi, thio alakes of Jork, Ormont, and Alinemurle, the early if Orrery, Montrath, Klngnton, Massar he. aud meveril others, the fund for ricringls hat hem fathons nrose, which fanally faduced the sulficore wheraturers, nim! gruntees of the croun to aur rencler one thirel of thelr acçulilthons. fur the nugmenting of the funil for reprimals. "The klug, hy this mensure, was phaced fis it alfomition [ditg., 1685], mut indeed to do justliv. lut to sllonce the most lajortunate or mowt dowerviag nonoug the peotiluners.

Ilut when compar suthon had thas bern made to n few of the suf ferrers, what, It may be nake.el. Seronme of the ollierers who lad followed the royal fortame thele clubus of lnacorouce? Tu all theme. the promeses whleh hus beren matle by the act settlement wiore broken: the unfortanatic ob unts were deprived of thelr yights, whl delheirem from all hope of future rellef. A ne:mite uf such swecephg and uppalling opprision of pe hapis whont n parallel la the history of civil lacil untlons. Its lajumilere cotblel not $\mathrm{h}^{\prime}$ denimel.
 the stern weressity of quictleg the fears and jeralousies of the Crombedilan wotllers, amb of estabilshiug on a permanent lasis the proteatant nscemancy In Irchand. $\qquad$ The followlag Is the general result. The protestants were prevombly [l. e., before the C'manwellhns Settoractut ln !un semsio., of alnout one molery of ull the protitatho fands ln the lsland; of the second menitet, whinh had lievon forfeited umber the rombamiselth, sombething lexs than two-thirts was lig the art contimad to the protestants; and of thic remain-
 In quality, to nhe-third, was apprapriated tu the Alanis: 1. A. Froule. The Einglish in lro

 Dluke of Urmomel, bis: it (r. t)
A. D. 1685-1688. -The reign of James il.Domination of Tyrconnei and the Catholics. -"' It the acecssion of inmes II., in lisis, he found the mative Irlsh, all of whom wer Ro Rusa Catholices, opposed to the English rule. as forlat: of a contucrering milnorlty:

Of tharember the Ncoteh Presibyterhans shared the fewliagh if their brethreu In thelr mative conntry. and hated Episcopalians with the troce religiosis furs In the Irish Parliament the I'resbyterians ani Epicopaliaus were nearly balanced, whilst the Protestant Xonconforinlsts, lit mumbers ulmost erjuiling the other two parthes, had but few wats In the Parliament. The Epineopalians alone were hearty suppors. of the houve of Stuart; the Presbyterians .it Sonconformists were Whigs. Jrmes was in a uest sacourable pod. thon for tranquilising Irciand, for, is a Romas Cathollc, he was much more acceptable to the native Irish than hia proleceasom hail heen. Ilad be followed bil true intereste, he would have endearoured, fratis, to unlte lugether, am irmig as puallile, the Engilsh mettlers in Ireland, and ccuodly, by wime acta of mediation, to briggo nrer the iffferences botwer's the Engllsh and Iriwh. Thus he miglit las: "eliled them Intu me prople. dannes, fossevis, followed $n$ d!. rertly opposite pollicy, $a_{0}$ t he remulta of thils midgureminnut of Ireland are vislibe at the pres. eat day. The buke of (Jrmomel was at the thone of the ileath of Charles 11. Buhl lord lleuteonant and commanelor uf the forcem. . . . Sonn afoer ble acrewhen dames recallon! him, nul the office of lumi lloutenant was bestowerl on hils own iruther In luw, lard Clinrenion, whilist the post if doucral of the tronple was glven to litheliant Tallont. Earl uf Tyroonnel. Tallont . . . was a coarse, vilgar, truculent muflun, greedy and unprinelplesl: hut in the eyen of James he had great intines, for he was depoted to the limula (hurch anil to hls moceerelgn. 'IyInte Dick Tallmet, as he was colled, wom rulsed by Jankes to the lereage ins Karl uf Tyreoumel. Jarif Claren. ion was. frim the thise of his ajopeintariont, liamperid by hisamsorlate," who, analy, in 1687 alpidnated hisn, gathering the nilns if govern nunt Intu hls "wis lundes, "not Inderel as lord lientenint. but with the power whleh Ormont had firmurly lechl, althonigh umber a new thtle toat of lowd deponty. The rule of Tyreonnel ent tirely sulaverterl the ald order of things. Protes. turis were disqrmed mad l'rotestant mhllers ware Hishmblerl. The uilltin wens centuosed wholly of liman (inthollca. The dlapentsing power fis the nyinl propugitlve set askle the statutes of the hing don, nnd the leoneh and privy connell were aceupley 'y louman Catholios. Vacant bishpiffer of the Establlshed Church remalued unfillenl, and thir revenues were devoted to l Romlsh proses. Thithes were with impunlty wlehheld from the clergy of the Estaldishment. . . The batrol of the frish IGoman Cntholles towards the Prutestant settlirs wns excelteyl to the nimmont ing der Tyronnmel's pale. The formor now hiopend to mete all for the Intter a full mensure of retalla thon. The hreach was whlenetl owing to the fearand divirust openly showed ly the l'rotes tanta and hasy never slace been eifectually re pairol." Br-fore the occurrence of the levolu. flom whid ilruve Jumues from hls throne, In 1888 -Tyronnel hat disarmed all the Protestants, sicpt thase la the North. lle had a inrge force of 2ll, inn merl under nems, and of thls foree all the ollirers were irnstworthy und IPupists. He arents of dames cormentlous of the towns with ull arents of dimare, lle hand shown hinself to lse as ever, tyrumical and unscrupuleus. It was universally lrelicerel by the Irotestants that a general massacre, a sectud St. Burtholomew, Was intenilenl. Even a day, December D. wns, they :humbit, fixed for the cxpected outlirenk. The garrisind af Londonderry had been tainpo. ranly withilrawu. On Deceniser 8 , loril An. rim arriver in comnuand of 12.000 [1,200y] sol. ders to furn the new garrison. Without any Karning. the Protestant apprentlices ('the prentlec boys of Derry ") shut the gates of the city in hls of the hishembitants, in spite of the entreatle's of the hishop nud of the town counell, refiteed to pulled to with be ulerced. Antrim was comWhy galurd for the opponents one rallying point 3-15

Was foumi in Entilakilien, sixty mile annth of Landinilerry. Into theme two towns portred all the I'ritestanta from the surrouniling ilstricts. With these two exceptlons, the bratat of Tyrcion. nel that Iniland was true. wins well founcled. "F. IIale, The fill of the Aluarth, ch. 10 and 13. -"Ile [Jnmes II.] dellinerately ruselverd, not murely to give to the ahoriginal linhalitants of Ircland the contite dominion uf their own cont of late ofas to use them as hif lustrumenta fir motting ul nrhtrary government ln Fin. hami The event whs atreli ma might hivel. in foresorn The colonatas turneal to bny with the stublwht harillioni of thelr pace. the monher country juntly regnriled their caine an lror own. Thich came a deapurate striskgic fur a tremendous take. The contest wha terrlble hirt short. The weaker went down llls filte wos crovel nuld yet for the cruelty whith whilh he was treatel there win mot Inclecel a defonce, luet ar xrume for though he sulfered nil that tymmar oulil ln. fllet, he wiffereal mothing that he wouli, not litor. self have Inflletol. The elfort of the lnane attempt tos suhjugite Einghand by memes of lre land was that the Irlula levenne hewers of woond and Jriwera of water tu the Eingllah. . . The monentary an endency of loprory prox liced sweh 4 serles of larimromv liwn ngalnst Popery ns male the statime bonk of lrelanif a proverb of lufany thronghant Clirlotembomi Such wire the bliter frilfes of the julliy of James. "- Latel alaconlay, lliwe ut tiut, ch, 6 (r. B)
At.on IN: J. IR W'Fhmesan, lioren of the I ard Chatirellore uf Intiemet, olf. 2צ (i. W).
A.D. 1688-1689.-Enniskillen and the Battle of Newton Butler. - Eimblakillen, then il vilhage, surrombling an amolent castle, was, In 10xis-xu one of the two mallyling polites of the l'rolestant than lay whimh dinies 11 . wins dethrincol amit Willain abl Jary were crowned. The ehlef Etronghold of thelf catise was boutionderry : lant Ennlskillen lore n surprely lons lmportmit part - In Ihereminer, lase Ty rconmel's troops, lehigg two trimp:inh of of Puplah Infantry. Hivanced upon Fimulakllen. The finhalitimis, reinforced by $2(\mathrm{mi}$ fixt and 150 herse, contrilated by the nelrhlunitug rentry, inarehed out to oppese them. Tyrenmel's noen Hed to Cnvan. The Ennlskllichers, then, armhg thomelves as well as they conld, and convertlits all the country. houseg round Latis Erne Into garrisons, ap. polnted Gustavus Ilamilton thelr governor and resolved upon defence. . . Farly in Mar, 1689 the Einulskllieners ronted Tyrcinnel's troops. sint frum (connanght Into I) oingal. They next drive 1, W0 inen out of the County C'nvan-destriyed the Castle of Dalllnearrig - and then entered the Count. Meath, whence they carrled of oxen and sheep, (olonel llugh Sutherland way sent with a reghenent of dragoons and two rogl nents of fout against the Ennlskllleners who, however, defisted them, and took Beltur bet, where they found muskets, gunpoweler, and provisions: but uufortinately they wore unuble to relleve Derry, then belcagnered and sorely distressed. The Enulskilleners held out agalnst all atlacks, and refused all terms of surrender. They were now hssalled from various polnts: by Macarthy flien ly Jintes created Visconn Mountcashel) from the cast, 1 z another loody from the सcst, mul by the Duke Berwlek from the north. The Enisklileners sent to Colonel Eirke [commandlng the Figlish forcee fint sent to Irelamil by William of Orange] who hat ar. rived In loingh Foyle, and recelvel from him come arma aml ammunithon; aml Colonel Wolsc. ley and Lheutemat Collunel Berry came from him to their amalatance. Culonel Wolmeley toxok the commanul." L'mler Wolseley, the men of Einnlakllem, 3 , (000 stmak, encounterell 5,0100 of the eneliny, under Mountcabliel, near the town of Newton liutler, on the Blat of July, thrue day: after Derry hal lepn relleved. Thelr wletory was completo. "The whole Irlah forree wan cutally anid hopelenaly routend. Thelr slaughter was drendful-1.610 kllled, and 500 druwned in Lough Erne, whither they were elriven. Mount. canbel was wounded and tuken prisoner. Tlie Eitulakilleners hast only twenty killed and afty wounded. They tox) 400 pirtannera, some can nonn, fourteven larrels of gumposider, and all the coloum and drumn. Thu wletury became known at Btrabme to the Irish arny retreating from thiry, while th thereuphon hroke up in confualun and fled to Gmagh, and thence to Clurle. nuont."-W. II. Tortano, IItlism the Thint, ch. 21.

Al,mo in: Lord Macaulay, Hist. nf E:ng., rh. 12 (e. 8).
l. D. ${ }^{\text {86808-1691. }}$-The War of the Revolu-tion.- The Orange conquest,--iuppurted ly it French tleet, suppllecl inculerately with Frenell Gold, and nccompmaled by $n$ pileked loxly of Fronch otllcern, firs the orgmizing nald dlw.lpilnlug of raw Irish trixpos, Jnmes il. landell hit Ire. limul, at Kinsale, on the 12 th of Mirch, 1609 , to tike jermonal possesslou of the goverunuent st III mathatalned there in his nume. From kinsale he hastenerl to Dublla, "and sumumonerl a l'arlia-duly 18. Thas larlament of dames lais laerndescribed as a Parlinumen of Irisht ('elts, yit out of the 238 mempers of the llouse of Conimons alout one-furth wolly belonged to the natlon rater, and of doubeful origin, wot one thilal of the Howse of Commons belonged to the mo-cnlled Celts. Of The thilty two hay peers when metendel, not more than two or there lore whit Irlsh numes. Thu four aplritunl peers were ilrotestunt bisheps. "W. $k$ sullvan, $: 1$ uf Tiro Centurioa of Irinh Mistury, ch. 1.- ? 价members of the llouse of 'ommons were alrost all new men, completely the resentment if the litterest wromgs. Blany of them were sons of sume of the 3,040 propre tors whu without trial and without compronsathon haid lxeen deprived ley the Act of settlement of the estates of thelr mineestors. Tor all of them the conflseatlons of cister, the fratul of strafferil, the bug traln of culamitics that followed were recent natd whld events. . . It will lurilly ajp peur surprising to cumblid ineu that a Parliament 80) Constiluteld and called together andid the ex citement of a coll war, shond have displayed much violence, nuch disregaril for vested interests. Its mensures, huleril, were mot all eriminal. By one Act which was fur In alvance of the age. It establiahed inerfect rellglonss liberty in Irelinul.

By another Act, repeuling lownlngs' law: and assertiug lis own leglslative lndependenen It antlelpated the doctrine of Molyneux. Swift and Grattan. . A third measure abollshed the paymente to Protestant rifrgy la the erirpurate cowna, whlle a fourth ordered that the Catholics throughovt Jreland whould heneeforth pay thets Hethen and ofluer ecclealantleal duen to their uma prownaml nut to the frovenanat elergy. The loro. estunta wery nill to puy their ththen to their awn clergy.
exveral other meanary - nemp in them now only known by thels thlev- her pusmeti for slevelopling the remourcem of the contion iry or remedylur mine great abum.
 IParlinment th would have left an enturenty the ourable reputation. liut, unfortunutely, ine if the descemiluts of the ohl proprleton in thain lence the gricevas wronga und apullathas thats fathera nad thelr yrumiffathers had underestre The firat aud noot limpirtant measure with the object was the repreal of the Acts of witlliment anil Explanatlon.

The preumble newnt thut the outbrak of lati haij berebmildy dhe to the intole rable olprenston and to the dinhivalero duct of the larily Justlere nad lourltain parre that the Chatholles of Ireland before the strusede had concluderl hutd bern fully recumiled to the moverelgh. that thay lind recefved froun the wor erelgig in full ned formal parion, and that the royal worl had leren lu consequencer plimlawid in the ruatituthon of thelr properthes. Thiv pienke by the Act of settle ene int had heell to a krial ic tent liruken, ned the irishe leglshintors natuatined that the twenty bur yenre wheld lmat clatoud since that cet lim mot nunulled the richito if the ohl proph..:- Ahelr deserndemes. Ther maig thituld Clalma wore not culy valid hut were pi : others, and they herembins's coneteil ae beles of ull perinte when hai at onese hato poasession of thelr cill propn-ries

The lobe surwesclon of crationtione of Irlsh land which liad thaken place from tha dars

 the plea of hagh treasint, to npproperlate her lind legally guilty of hifg trenwon. The |ribl lecto laturs ninw proceede to follew thi a cimple of the brithal Govermucmts, and hy andme of ex nf all trats proprintors who dwelt in ams part of Klug Jumes, or who nided, whettiol it wht spombed with the relvels, tolm forfeitel and reted In the Crown, and from this somere the yor med to compensate the jurdhasem nudir the dithe Settenent.

The measure if r.jabl bun ever, Wax spertily followed ly another Act of mate maresserping und vole int infutior The Act of Attalmaler, whalele whe liurnaluend in the latter jurt of Jume, aimell nt mothing ion than a emplite overliraw of the existing land system in Ireland. A llat divileded Into siscetal groupe of hight inemom. . . Few persons will guestion the tyranny of in Act whillt In this manner made il rery large proportlon of thar Iriha land.

 they could prove thelr lnnocence, wen thrugt
the oniy erime that conll he allegerl agalast them Was thint of llving out of Ireland la a ilme of dill war. ... It la . . . n curfomalllimetratlon of the carulesneas or partlality whli wheh Irlah bistory Ia writtea, that no popular himtorion lam auticed that five days before this Act, which has been dewartherl as 'wlehout a paralled in the hiss tory of elviliwil coumeries,' way Introduced luto the Irimil Parliament, a Bii] which appearm, in lts cowential characterlstlem, to have been preciwely umiline was introlacerl Into the Parilament of Enpland, that It pankerl the E.ogllaha IIone of C'numens; tint it paseed, with allght amend. nuente, the English Iloume of Lards; ard that it *as culy iost, In ita last menge, ly a prorogation.

These facts will show how fiar the Irfind Act of Attalmier wan from baving the naligue characuer that hat bren awertbed tolt. It la not powalbie th say how that Act would have lxen excenterd, for the daya of Inmble ascondency ware now fowandevil. The l'wrliansent was prorogned on the :ath of July, one of lts hat deta belog to rent in the King the jiropersty of thone who were atili abseutees. -W. E. II. Iecky, Ifiat, of Eing. hand th the lath Century, ch. 6 ( $n$. 2). - While James' Irlwh Parilantent ant, " shllicient ment luad presented themsedves to form fifty regiments of Infantry and it propwitionate number of cavalry. But these levies were unilseiplined, and thrif whicers, whit few exceptlomis, werre without aullitary talulug aud experfence, There wore an arvelats, unif in the government stores onty
 Was Duardill ry atid no Bupjify of anumbitition.

What crin was in circulation was smail in quartity mul debased In gradity. James's (fove.
 carremy outshe the kiagdom, lide even within

 Claving atms, ummunithom, und molitary stores, when had to be importerl from without. L'ader
 The tirst campalgu conpriard the silege or ruther tillery, could not hadertate Irish, having low artillery, railid mot nadertake a regular shepe Which wav galiantly defended hy the scote. Fugg. Finaiskillowers, the check of Monnteashel hy the Finaiskilloturs, who hut followed the exnmple if Derry. the Janding of Sehomberg with min anny of llut di, French Protestants, Bull Eng. lish. Whe Went into winter quarters near Ding dalk, where he host nearly half his troups fromsiclanss: and, fastly, the millitnry parade of wimes, whe marelied out from Inblin, asti, faitwig wfore tihomberg to tight, went into winter Griat the hinsedf. The result of the campaign Wix the shlerssfil defence of Derry, and the signal 'rxhbition of fantes's lucajonelty as a gentate At the ofroning of the second campaign, and Lonis XIV.. With the vlew of glving pres. fire fo the canse' of the former. six ibousing Frach trixps, undar a driawing. roxn genami, Ire well kandin Comte de Lanazun, arrliced in lreland, and the sime shlps carried back un Pyual number of Irish tromps - the brigade of badr of trous best-tralned nad bestegulpped Tith a considersble force. The unle I4, I600, composed of the most heterogeneoulsed armies, nhe-jalf belng forelgnera nf various nationalletes, amonuted tulnetween $\left.36,0()_{0}\right)$ and 45,010 men.
To meet Wlilham, Jamen set rut Prom lishifin Wth an army uf aivut 23,000 nuen. The Fronch trajp anll the Iriwh ravalry were goovl, but the lufaitry was not well imbaed, atil the artilery conmisted only of twelve Hehl-pleren. The lattle tonk phece off Jul: : I 600 , ut the janamge of the Iflver Iboyne, it few mble alove Droghedn [the rout of Jame.es army brinis complete and Its luan alrout I, Sun) nicus. Willian lowt bat bit); but the mular hreluled Schomberg, one of the frent walliers of his age. Jounco was among the hre had the Hight, and he acurvely paused untll

 Infantry und elumit 3,500 horse concentrated at Lhmorick. The Einglish lunving falied los takling Athbue, the key of the upjeres shannon, Wailing hourhonk of IImerick. Lamaina having dechered that Ldmerlek cousil unt Ine lefended, and might we taken with roast ofl apples, withidrew whth the Whole of the Froblh trings to Gaiway, to awalt the firat opportunity of retnrniug tu France On Augunt U, (HBE) whilian retarning tu France. On Suguse $U_{1}$ Itiok, Wliliantan moved hla whole army chase th the town anal sumanobed the garpison t" surremitor, but having fulled, with a loss of 2, mat men, to carry the town by assant, he ralsed the shege nuld weut to Eughand. The third mad list compalgn becgam late in 1601. The Irish revedred many promises of asslastance from Lunds XIV. but hly ministers fintuifed few or Hone of them. With scurcedy my foss of men, thed with a simail eapernditure of stores noil mancy. the Irivh war emblied Ianis to keep Whl

 [finning of dume whin the mivance of flakel Wilianms fence of the ghace was the Klver Shamom, the Works lu-hing Werak, athl monnting only a few formbed that, fort for tbe diwity was the place defraled that, lout for tbe dicervery of $n$ ford, and sume negle the the part of D'Esimn, who come mamied, it is probable that the sirge would bare beroll ruised. As it was, Ginked hectume thaster of the he:ap of rutuw of the heap of rulus. . . . st. Juth [the French oflerer eommanding the Irish| moverl his camp to. Anghrimi [or . Dhrime, anil there was fought the tian hattie of the war on sumblay, Jaly 12, 1691.
si. Iuth was kulid at a critleal monent, nui his army defented. With $n$ loss of almat $4,0(t)$ neen, the English loss being aloust Inalf that number. Part of the defeated Irish the troups, fucludine Galway; bat the builk of the tropss, fucduding the whole of tbe cavairy, feli buck on Limurick. Whildi surremjered, after a galiant reslstance. in Oetoler, 1601."-W. K. ch. I.

Aiso is: Lord Macaulay, Ifist. of Eng., ch. I2, 16 and 17.-W. II. Torrdum, Willum the Third, ch. 5 and 21-23.-.J. A. Froude, Thur Eingliath in Ireland. ch. is (e. 1).- IV. A. OConor treland, ch, is (e. 1).-IV. A. OConor Mist. of the Prikh People, bk. 3. ch. 3 (r. 2).-Sir J. D. rymple, Mennirs of $G t$. Britnin and IrsLind, It. 2, bk. 2-5 (․ 2).
A. D. 169r, - The Trenty of Limerick and its vlolation, -Tbe surrender of Llmerick was under the terms of a treaty - or of two trentles, of Limerick

IRELAND, 1601-1782.
one military, the other clvil-formally negotlated for the terminating of the war. This Treaty of Limerick was signed, Oct. 3, 1601, by Baron De Glnkei, Wiiliam's generai, and ly the fords justlces of Ireiaud, on behalf of the Engish, and by Sarsfleld anil oliter chieftains on behaif of the Irish. "Its chief provisions were: 'Tine IRoman Catiofics of thls kingdom shaif enjoy such privileges in the cxercise of their reilgion as ure couslatecte with the faws of Ireiand; or as they dill enfoy in the reign of King Charies II.: and thelr Majesties, as scoon as their affairs wijl permit them to summon a Parilament in this klngdom, wiii cndeavour to procure the saill Roman Cathoiics such further security in tint particular as may preserve them from any dis. turbauce upou the account of their sald religion Aii the inhabitants or residents of Lamericts, or auy other garrison now in the possession of the Irish, and ail otticers and soldlers now in arms under any conumission of King Jaines, or those authorized by hlm to graut the same in the sereral coontles of Limerick, Clare, Kerry, Cork and Mayo, or any of them, and all the commls sioned officers in their Majestles' quarters that belong to the Irish regimeuts now in being that are trented with and who are not prisoners of war, or having taken protection, and who shail return and sulbmlt to their Majestles' obedience. and tieeir mud every of their heirs shali hoid, possess, and pujoy ail and every their estutes of frechold and inheritance; and all the rigits, tities, and interest, privileges and immunitios. wifich they, or every or any of them, heiti, elljo"e and were rightfully and law fuily eutiticel to in tise reign of King charies 11 . geuerai pardon was to be granted to ull persona comprised within the treaty, and the Lords Justices, and the generala commating King Whiliam's army were to use their best endenvours to get the attanders of any of them athainted repealed.

In the copy of the rongh draft engrossed for signature the following wordis, and ail such as are under their protection the the suid counties,' which Inmediately foliowed the enumeration of the several countics in the second article, were omltted. This omission, whether the resuit of design or accident, was, however. rectited by Klag Wijilam when conflroning the treaty in Februnry, 1692. The confrming instrumeut stated that the woris had been casualiy onitted; that the omission was not discovereditili the articics were signeid, but was taken notice of before the town was surrendered; and that the Lonis Justices or Genernl Glakel, or one of them had promised that the ctause shouid be made geval. slace it was within the inteution of the capitula tlon, and had been iuserted in the rongh draft. Whiliam then for hinself did' ratify and confirm the suld omitted words.' The colonists, or at ail cvents the 'new lnterests'- that ls, those who shared or expected to share in the contiscations - were molignant at the concesslons made to the natlve race." - W. K . Suillvan, pt .1 of Tmo Centuriment" Irinh llise., ch. 1.-"The advantages secured to (atiolies by the Treaty of Linerich were monderate. But when the flower of the Irisin amy had withdrawn to France, and the remnant coald be hanged witiout ceremony, tiney began to look inordinate. The parlianient of Cruniweiliau settiers nnd Governmeut offichis in Dublin having exciuded Cathotic menbers, by requiring from them an outh in direct iufriugement of one of the srticies of surrender, were free to proceed at their tilscre tion. They first pussed a stringent statute de priving Catholics of arms, and anoticer ortiering ail - Popish archbishops, bishops, vicars genieral deans, jeaults, mouks, friars, and regulara of whatever condition to depart from the kingdom on pain of trausportatlon,' and then pricereded to consider the treaty. They . . . reswledi by a decisive majority not to keep the romitions affccting the Cathoiles. Wiiliam. . struggled for a time to preserve his honour ; hut it is not con venient for a uew king to be in coulfict with his frlends, and after a time he gave way In Ireland the Treaty of Limerick can aiscer be forgoten; it is one of the titie deedsof the lrish race to their mheritance: la their natlue lanid For more than a century fta sordid and siumeles, viointion was as common a reproaci to E.oglame on the Contheut us tike partition of Poland hat been a reproach to Russia in our cuwn dar "Sir C, G. Dufty, Bird's. Eiye V'iere of Irixh Mive. rerimed ed., pi. 155-1.i6 (or bk. 1, ch t. of " loung Irehand"). - The Protestant ratuenir io parilameut was more powerfui than the gund wiil of the prince. The most vital urticles of the caphtuation were ignored, especinily in all cawe where the Catiolic refigion and the lilu-ries granted to its professors were conc. ruel; and 4,000 Irish were denounced as traitors and rethels. - hy which declaration a fresh contiocation of $1.060,000$ acres was immediately eflectedi. It has been calcuiated that in 1692 the insh Catholics, who quairupled the Protextants in number, owned only one cjeventh of the solli, and that the most wretched and ungroductive por. tion. "- A. Perraud, Irelanel under Eing. Rule. introul. sect. y
A. D. 1691-1782. - The peace of despait. A century of national death. - Oppression of the Penal Laws. - "By the militury treaty [" Limerick]. those of Sarsfieid's soliliers wher would were suffered to foliow him to Franer and 10,000 men, the whoie of his force, chin exile rather than life in a fand where ali hupe of uationas frectom was lost. When the will cry of the women who stoxk watching their de parture was hushed, the silence of death setule down upon Irehnd. For a hundred yerrs the country remaiued at peace, but the peite was a peace of despair. The most tirrible legal tyranny under wilch a uation has cwer grwimer avenged tho rising under Tyreonncll. The con quered people, lu swift s litter worls of eon tempt, became 'hewers of wowl and drawers of water 'to their conquerors: bat till the veryeve of the French Revolutiou Ireland ceacell to be sonrce of terror and anxiety to Ennylandi"-j it Green. short Hint, of E'ing., ch. y, sert, s.-" In Ireland there was peace. The domination of the colonists was absoiute. The native pmpulation was tranguli with the giastiy tmaquillit of exiaustion and of despair. There were indeed ontrages, rolberies, firernisiugs, anwssiasting But more thau a century passeci away witheus one generai Insurrection. During tait cenurr. two rebellions were raised iu Great Britain br the adherents of the House of stuar. But neitiser when the eider Pretendir was emwand at Scone, nor when the yominer heled lis courtat Iloiyroori, was abe standurd of that liouse st ui lu Counaugh or Munster. In liti, inderi. when the Ifiginauders were uarching towands

London, the Roman Catholics of Ireiand were so qulet that the Lord Lleuteuant could, without the smaliest risk, send several regiments across Baint George's Channel to relnforce the army of the Duke of Cumberland. Nor was this suhinlssion the effect of coutent, hut of mere stupefaction and hrokenness of heart. The lron had enterel into the soui. The memory of past defeats, the hithlt of daily enduring linsuit and oppresuion, ham cowed the spirits of the unhappy nathon. There were Inderd Irish Roman Catholies of great ablllty, energy and ambition; int ther were to be found every where except in Ireland, - at Versailles and at Sitint Ilidefonso, In the araies of Frederic aui in the armies of Yaria Theresa. One exile berame a Marshal of France. Another leenme Prinse Minster of Spaia. If he load staid in his native land he would have been regardom as un inferlor by all the ignorant and worthless souirecns who had slyned the Deciaration nguinst Transuhstantiathoa. . Scattered over ali Enrope were to be foupd irave Irish generais, dexterous Irish diplomatists, Irisi Counts, Irish Burons, Irish Knights . . who, if they lmi remained la the bouse of thonlage, could not finve been ensigus of marchlag regiments or freemen of petty eorporathons. These unen, the uatural chlefs of their race, laving been witholrawn, wiat remainel was utterly fielpiess and passive. A rising of the Irishry aginast the Englisliry was no more to be apprehemed than a rising of the Women and chilifren agalnst the men." - Lord Maratulay, Ihist. of Eng., eh. 17. -'An net of 169. 'Ileprived the Romnn Cathoiics of the means of educating their children, either at home or abroad, and of the privilege of being gunrilans either of their own or of any other person's ehililren.' Another Act of the same rear leprived the Runian Cntholies of the right of liaring arms, or of kecping any horse which was worth more than 55 . An Act of 1697 orilered the expulsion of every Roman Catholie priest from Ir land. The Parlianent, which had Impaswll these dlsabilities on Irish IRoman Catholirs, pruceeded to confirm the Artieles of Limerick, or 'so much of them as may eonsist with the safety und welfare of Your Majesty's sub. jects of thls kingulom,' and hy a grous act of infustice omitted the whoie of the first of these artiches, andi the important paragraph in the scoul article wbich had been accidentaily omithifi from the original copy of the Trenty, and sulswrientiy restored to it by letters patent uniter the 1 reat Seal. Rensonnble unen may differ on the piropriety or impropriety of the eonditious on which the surrender of Limerick was securel: but it is difficult to reml the story of their repulintion without a doepp sense of shane. Three other acts relating to the Roman Catholies Wrat phssedi duriug the relgn of Willium. An AI 1 uf 1697 forbade the intermarriage of Proteslants and Papists. An Act of 1698 prevented Papists from being solicitors. Another Act of the smme year stopped their enploymeut as famekrepers. William alled; and the brench of filth which le had conntemanced was forgotten amitist the pressure of the legislation which digraced the reign of his successor. Two Acts fansid in this reign, for preventligg tie further griwh of Popery, were atyled by Burke the 'ftrunus dets of Anne.' By the tirst of these Acts a l'apist haviug a Protestant son was debarred from scillng, mortgaglng, or devising any portion of his estate: however younc the an might be, he wis to be taken from his father's hnuds and contlded to the care of a Protestant relation. The estate of a Papist who had no Protestant heir was to bo dlvided equally among his sons. The Papiat was declnred Incupuble of purchasing real estnte or of taklag land on lease for more than thirty-one yenrs. A I'apist was leciarei incapabie of inheriting real estate from a Protestant. Ife was dispuaitifled front inoldiug any ollice, civll or millitary, With twenty excoitions, a Papist was forladen tweuty excrittions, a Pnpist was forblelden to reslele in Linn rlek or Galway. Adivowsous the Pryerty of Papists were vested In the Crown. Rehgions intolemure lime now apparentip dione its uttermost. . . . ibut the lawa failed. Their ec. verity insared their failure.

The flrst of the furiojons Acts of Anne wis alinost openly disregardied. A. Its failure only induced the intoleraut alvisers of Aune to supplement it with harsher iegislation. The Aet of 1704 had ie wepriveri the lapist of the guarilianship of his npostate child. An Act of 1703 cmpowered the Court of Cluncery to ohlige the Pupist to discover fis estate, nud aithorizedl the Coi'rt to make nn onder for the manutenamee of the npostate child out of tine proceeds of it. The Aet of $1 \% 04$ had numle it illegal for $n$ Pinpist to take hads on lease; the Act of 1700 dixahled inm from recelv-lng a life anmuity. An Act of 1704 had lng a life mminty. An Aet of 1704 him counpefled the regictry of priests. The Act of 1709 forbale their ofleinting in any parish except that In which they were registered. These, however, wre the lenst repreliensibe feature in however, wre the least reprehensible features in the Act of 1709 . Its worst features were the encourugement which it guve to the meaner vices of human uature. The wife of a Pajist, If she beemme a $\mathrm{i}^{\prime}$ rolestant, was to receive at jointure ont of lier husbinit's estate. A Popish priest abandouhe his religion was to receive un anmity of e:30 $n$ yelar. IBewarris were to he paid for 'dlasmoving'' l'ojish prelates, priests, and sehoolnasters Two justiees might eompei any Pipist to state on onth where and when he had licard miss, who had olliciaterl at it, and who had been present at it. Enconragenent was thus given to hiformers; hribea were thms held out to apostates; minl I'ariament trusted to tive combinedi cffects of hribery andi intimidation to stimp out the last remnaut of Popery. The penil corle, however, was not yet eomplete. The armoury of intoierance was not yet exlansted. An Act of George I. disabled Paplsts from serving in the Irish nuilitia, but compelied thenn to find I'rotestant substitutes; to pay double towardis the support of the militia, and rendered their horses ilable to seizure for militia purposes. By Acts of George II. the I'apiats were disfranchined: barrlsters or solicitors marrying Papists were decmed Paplats; all marrying Pupists were deemed I'uplsts; all marrfug's letween l'rotestants nnd I'apists were anmilled; and I'opish priests colebrating uny illegai marriages were condemned to be hangenl. By na Art of George III. Paplsts refusing to defiver In or deciare their arms were llable to be pluced In the pillory or to be whipped, as the Conrt ahould think preper. Such were the faws whicia the intolerance of a minority imposed on tite majority of their fellow-suhjects. Citterly unjust, they hall int even the bare merit of nuccess. . 'The' great loody of the people, wrote Arthur' Yonng [17N0], 'stripped of thelr uli,

IRELAND, 1091-1782.
Wood'thand Falfonce.
IRELAND, 1760-1798.
were more enraged than converted: they adhered to the persuasion of their forefathers with the steadicst and the most determined zeal; while the priests, actuated by the spirit of $n$ thousand Inducements, made proselytes among the common Protestants in defiance of every danger. Those laws have crushed all the industry and wrested most of the property from the Catholics; but the religion triumphs; it is thought to increase," -8. Walpole, Hiet. of Eng. from 1815, ch. 8 (v. 2).
Also IN: R. R. Maiden, Miotorical Notice of Penal Lates againet Roman Catholics. - A. Per. raud, Ireland under Eing. Rule: intronl. - E Burke, Letter to a Peer of Ireland on the Penal Laus (Works, e. 4). - The same, Fragments of a Thact on the Popery Laves (1Forks, e. 6). - A. J. Théhaudi, The Iriah Ruce, ch. 12.
A. D. 1720 - Colonization of Palatines in Munster. See Palatines.
A. D. 1722-1724-Wood's halfpence,-The Drapier's Letters. - " A patent hal been giren [172, hy the Walpole adminlstration] to a certain William Wood for supplying Ireland with a copper coinage. Many complaints had been made, and in Reptember, 1723, addresses were voted by the Irish Honses of Parliament, decluring that the patent had been ohtained by clandestlne and false representations; that it was mischlevous to the country; and that Wood had been guilty of fruuds in his colnage. They were pacitied hy vagne promises: but Walpole went on with the schemc on the strength of a favourable report of a committee of the Privy Councl!; and the excitement was alreudy serious when (In 1.24) Swift published the Drapier's Letters, Which give him his chief title to eminence as a putriotic ayltator. Swift cither slared or took advintage of the geticral belief that the mysteries of the curreuey are unfathomalble to the humnn iutelligence.

Therc is, however, no real mystery ahont the halfpeuce. The small colns which do wot form part of the legal tender may be consilered primarlly as comnters A penny is a penny. 80 long as tweive are change for a shilling. It is not in the least necessary for this purpose that the copper contained in the twelve penny pieces should le worth or ncarly worth a shilling.

At the present day bronze worth
Thopence is colned into twelve penny piecers. mass of copher worth about fato, wop hecante Worth floo, sou hu the shape of halfirenny hecante Worth f100, so0 hi the shapre of halfyenny nieces.
There wis, therofore, a halance of nhout $i 40,000$ to pay for the exprenses of coinnge. It wonla] lave treen waste to gret rlat of this by putting more coppur in the coins; bit If so large a protit arose from the trinsumetion, It would go to somese. buly. At the prescht hay it wonld be bronght into the natlonal treasury. This was not the why in which lmsiness was dome In Ireland. Whod was to pay $£^{\prime} 1.000$ a yentr for fourtern years to the crown. i3ut fll,ow stlll leaves a large markin for jrotit. What was to lecome of it. Acconliug to the wimiring hlogmpler of sir H. Walpele the patent lambleen oripinally given by Lord sumberland to the Inchess of Kenilul, a laly whonn the King delighted to honomr. It was right and proper that a profit should iee made on the transactlon, but shameful that it should be divliled between the King's mistress and Willlam Worml, and that the hargaln shutuld to struck without consuiting the Irish represen.

The Duchess of maintined in spite of their protesta The Duchess of Kendal was to be allowed to take a share of the wretched halfpence la the pocket of every Irioh beggar. A more disgraceful transaction could hardly be imagined, or one more calculated to justify Swift's vlew of the selfishness and corruptlon of the English ruler Swift gaw his chance and went to work la char. acteristic fashlon, with unscrupulous audacity of statement, guided by the keenest strateglcal instinct.

The patent was surrendered, and Swift might congratulate himself upoa a complete victory. jecting a real benefit at the cost of paying Wood the profit which he would have made, had be been allowed to confer tt."-L. Stephen, sirif (Eng. Men of Letters), ch. 7.

Also IN: Dean Swift, Works (Scott's ed., rr 0. -Lord Maion (Earl Stanhope), Mint. of Eing. 1713-1783, ch. 13 (v. 2).-J. AlcCarthy, Mint, of the Four Georgen, ch. 15.

A. D. I760-1798.-Whiteboys,-Oak Boys.

 -Steel Boys.-Peep of Day Boys,-Catholic Defenders.-"The peasantry continued to re. gard the land as their own; and with the general for the the we when cannot last forever, they wsited for the tlme when they wonld once nore bave posscssion of it. The lineal descendants of the old familles, ' wrote Arthur Yonng in 1ist. 'srenow to be found all over the kinglom now to be found all over the kingdom, working as cotticrs on the lands whlleh were onse their own. $\qquad$ With the growth of what was called clvilization, absentecisin, the worst disurder of the conntry, had incruased. the conntry, had increased.

The rive in prices, the demand for salt beef and silt buther for exportation and for the fleets, were revolu. tionlzing the agriculture of Munster. The great limestone pastures of Limerick and Tipperarr, the fertile mendow unicersaily, was fallimg into the hanls of capitalist graziers, in whose favour the landlords, or the landlords' agents, wire evict ing the smaller tenants. To the peasumtry these men were a curse. Common lanila, where then own cows had been fexl, were iuclosent ani taken from them. The change from tillage to grazing destroyed their employment. Their sole subsistence was from thelr potato gambens, the rents of which were heavlly ralsei, while. by a curions mockery of justice, the grass lumls wire exempt from ththe, and the burden of maintaining the rectors and vicars of the Entalintaind Chureh was cast excluslvely on the citholic pror. Among u people who ure suffering under a common wrong there is a sympathy of resut onrut whieh llaks them together withont vishle or discoverable inond. In the spring of libu Tipperary was sublealy overrun by hiads of nitinight marauders. Who they were was a mys. tery. Rannours reached England of iusurgent reginents drilling in the moonllght ; of French ofticers observeri passint and repassio officers obsorveri passing and repasslag the (lhanurel: hut no Freneh otlicer conld be detected In Jlunster. The uost rigidi search dlasooverai no Thits only was certain soldiers use or could use. This only was certain, that white figures wete sy'n in vast numbers, like noving chouls, thit. ting silently at nlght over field nud moor. leaving lehlind them the tracks of where they liad paxed in levelled fences and loughel and nouning cattle; where the owners were spechally hateful, In blazing homesteais, and the lnmates' lyalims blackeniag in the uslres. Arrests were generally uscless. The country was sworn to secrecy.

Through the entire central plains of Ireland the people were bound by the most solemn oaths never to reveal the name of a confederate, or give evidence ln a court of justice.

Thus it was long uncertain how the movement originated, who were its leaders, and whether there was one or many. Letters algned by Captain Dwyer or Joanna Meskell were left at the doors of ob. noxious persons, ordering lands to be abandoned under penalties. If the commands were uncomplled with, the penalties ware lnezorabiy indieted. . . . Torture usualiy keing preferred to murder, maie offendera against the Whiteboys were houghed like their cattle, or their tongues were torn out by the roots."-J. A. Froude, The Eng. in Ireland, bk. 5, eh. 1 (o. 2). -The Whiteboys took their name from the practice of wearing a white shirt drawn over their other clothing. when they were out upon their nocturnai expeditions. "The Oak Boy movement took place about 1761-2. ... The injustice which led to the formation of the 'Oak Boys,' one of the best knowu of the colonial societies, was duty work on roads. Every houschoider was bound to give six days' iabour in making and repairing the public rouds; and if he had a horse, six days lalour of his horse. It was compiained that this duty work was oniy levied on the poor, and that they were compeiled to work on private job roads, and even upon what were the avenues and farm ramds of the gentry. The name Onk Boys, or Ilearts of Oak Boys, was derived from the members in their raids wearing an oak branch in their hats. Tíe organization sprend rapilfy orer the greater part of Cister. Although the grieranoss were comumou to Protestant and Cath. die worknen, and there was nothing refigious in the chjercts or constitution of the Oak Bors, the suchlty was an exclusively Protestant loody, owing to the total absence at the periond of aing asswiation bet ween the Protestants and Cntholiss The Steei Boys, or llearts of Steei Bons, foliowed the Onk Boys [about 1771]. of this organization wely Protestant; the origin of this orgsnization was the extratigance anll profligary of a bad iandilori, the representative of the great innd thief, Chichester, of the Plan tation of King James I. . . . The Oak Boys and Stet Beys dhil not last long. "一W. K. Sulivan pt. 1 of Tirm Centuries of Iriah Hist., ch. 5, rith fiot note- The iandiond here referred to. as having provoketi the organization of the Steel Roys. was the Maryuis of Donegai. "Many of his Antrim leases having fallen in simultancousis, bedethanded $£ 100.000$ in fines for the renewal of them. The triants, all Protestants, offered the Interest of the money in addition to the rent. It cuild nut be. Specuiative Beffast eupitaifsts paid the fiue and took the lands over the heals of the temauts, to subiet. . . . The most suhsu ntial of the expeiled tuantry gathered their effects together and sailed to jolis their countrymen in the New Worid. . . . Betwren thouse who aere tus) parer to emigrate, and the Catholics who were la phasession of thetr homes, there grow a protracted fend, which took form at last in the conspiracy of the Peep of Day Buys: in the fierce and salvage expulslon of the intruders, who were biden the go to lefli or Comanght: and in the counter otganization of the Citholie Defembers. whicts sprad wert the whole island, and male The Eng. in Irchection in 1798."-J. A. Froude, The Enig. in Irchnd, bt. 5, eh. 2, ecect. 6 (e. 2).

A. D. 1778 -1794.-Concession of Legisia-

 tive ladependence by the so-calied Constitution of 1782.-"England's diffleulty was Irelnnd's opportunity. Over in the American colonies Mr. Washington and his rebeis were pressing hard upon the troops of King George More than one garrison had been conpelied to surrender, more than one general had given up his hright sword to a revolutionary feailer. On was scarceig less dreadtiantic the American thag Was scarcely less dreaded than at Yorktown and Saratoga.Irelandi, drained of tmops, iay open to invnsion. The terrible Paul Jones was drifting ahout the seas. descents upon Ireiand were dreaded; if such descents had been made the isind was practicaily defenceless. An alarmed Mayor of Belfast, appeailing to the Government for military aid, was informed that no more scrious and more formidabie assistance couid be rendered to the chief city of the North than might be given by fialf a troop of dis. mounted carairy and half a troop of invalids. If the French-A merican enemy woulif consent to be scared hy such a muster, weli and good; if not Beffast, and for the matter of that. ail Ire. land, must look to itself. Thereupon Irciand, very promptly and decisively, did fook to itself. A Mifitia Act was passed empowering of course, soleiy of Protestants-for consisting, of course, solely of IProtestants-for the defence of tive isiand. A fever of mititary enthusiasm swe pt over the country; north and south and enst anst west men canght up arms, nominally to resist the Frenel, realiy, though they knew it not. to effect one of the greatest constitutional revointions in history. Before a startied Government could reatise what was oceurring 60.000 men were under arins. For the first time since the surrender of Limierick there was nn armed force in Ireland nide and willing to support a national callse. Suddenly, almost in the twinkiing of an eye. Ireland fount herself for the first tince for generntions in the possession of a weilarmedi, well-diseiplined, and wril generailed miil. tary force. The armament that was organised to insure the safety of England was destined to neluieve the libertles of Ireland. . All taik of orgauisation to resist forelgn invasion organisation to resist foreign invasion was silencel! in its piace the volee of the nation was heard loudly ealling for the redress of its diomestic grievmices. Their leader was Chariemont Gratan and Flood were their principal colonels." -J. II. MeCarthy, Irelind since the Union, in 3-" When the Parliament met, Gratun moved us an amendinent to the Aditress, 'that it was why tre export and import onif that the Nation was to be savel from impenting ruin': and a eurps of Volunteers, commuuded by the Duke of Lefinster, fined Dane Sireet as the Speaker and the Commons walked in procession to the Castie. Another demonstration of Volunteers in Coliege Green excited Dublin a fittle later on, and (15th Fovember, 1770) a rintous mob climoured for Free Trade at the very doors of the IIouse.
These events resuitei in immediate success. Lord North proposeri in the British Parliament three artickes of refief to Irish trade - (1) to aliow free export of wool, wooliens, and whoiflocks; (2) to allow a free export of glass: (3) to allow, under certhia conditious, a free trade to all the British colonies. When the news reached Ireland excessive joy prevailed. : . But this was only a beginning. Poynings' Lar, But this

IRELAND, 1798.

Cth of George 1., required to be swept away too, $s 0$ that Ireiand might enjoy not only Free Trade, but aiso Self-government. Grattan moved his two famous resolutions:-1. That the King, with the consent of the Lords and Commons of Ireiand, is ajone competent to enaet isws to bind Ireland. 2. That Great Britain and Ireland are inseparably united under one Sovereign. In supporting these resolutious, Grattan cited Eng. land's dealings with America, to show what Ireland toomlifht effect hy clalming her just rights.

The Earl of Carllsle became Vleeroy in 1781, With Mr. Eden as Secretary. Viewiug Engiand 8 embroliment in war - in America, in Indla, whth France, and Spaln, and ilolland the Irish Voiuntcers, whose numbers had swelied, Grattan sald, to weli-nlgh 100.000 men, held meetligs and reviews in various parts of the country.

The 16th of April, 1782. was a memorable day for Dublln. On that date, in a city thronged with Voinnteers, with bunds playing, and banners hlazoned whth gided harps thuttering $\ln$ the wind, Grattan, $\ln$ an amendment to the Adilress whlch was always presented to the Kling at the openlng of Parliament, moved, - That Ireland ls a dlatinet Kingdom, with a separate Parhanent, and that this Parliament alone has a right to make laws for her.' On the 17 th of May, the two Secretaries of State, Lord Shelburne in the Lords, and Charles Jomes Fox in the Commons of Great Britaln - proposed the repeal of the 6th of George I., a statute which declared the right of the Enghish l'arliament to wake laws for Ireland. The Engilsh Government frankiy and fuliy acceded to the de. mands of Ircland. Four points were grantel(1) an Independent Irish Parliament: (2) the abrogation of Poynlngs' Law, empowering the Engiish Privy Conncil to alter Irish IBills; (3) the introduction of a Bicuniai Jutiny Bill: (4) tbe abolition of the right of appeal to Engiand from the Irish iaw courts. These concessions were announced to the Irish Parliament at onec: In their jog tbe Irish IIouses voted 5100,000 , und 20.000 men to the nary of Great Britain. Ireland had at last acheved political frecdom. Peace and prosperity seemed abont to hless the land. . . That there might be no mlsunderstanding as to the deliberatc intention of the English Parliament in granting lrish legislative independence, Lord Shelburne had pussed an Act of Renunciation, declaring that the Rlght claimed by the people of Ireland, to be hoind only hy liaw enacted by llis Majesty mal the Parliament of that Kingdom, is herelyy declared to be estuhlished and ascertained for cver, and shall at to time hereafter be questioned or questionable." During the same session ( $1: \mathrm{N}_{2}$ ). the two Catholie Rellef Bills proposel! by Luke Gardiner, who afterwards became limount Monntjoy, were passed. These measures gave entholics the right to luy frechoids, to tench schools, and to ellucate their chilitren as they pleased. The Ilabeas Corphs Aet was now extended to Ireland; and nurriages by prestyterlan minlsters wire made legal."-W, F. Collier, Ilikt. of Irclasd for shooln, perient 5. ch. 3. -" Had the lrish demanded a complete separation it would have been yielded without resis. tunce. It woull have been better hadit been. The two countries would have Immediately joined on trmes of equaity and of mutual confidence and respect. But the more the Engilsh Cahlnet gave Way the less were the Irish disposed to prese thelr advantage. A feeling of warm attachntent to Engiand rapidly took the place of distrust There never exlsted in Ireiand so sincere and friendly a splrit of spontaneous union with Eig land as at this moment, when the formal bonl of unlon was almost whoily dissolved From the moment when England made s fo. .atal surrubier of her clalm to govern Ireiand a series of inruads comimeneed on the various lnterests suppmend to be left to their own free development by that surrender. I 'und had not, like Enghum. a body of Cahlnet Minlsters responsible to her Parliament. The Lord Lieutenunt and the lrih Sceretary heid their offices and recelved their Instructions from the Engilsh minister. There was greater need than ever before for a bribul majority In the Irish Commons, and the ma chinery for securing and managing it remaned Intuct."-W. A. O'Conor, IVist. of the Irixh Pew pke, bk, 4, ch. 2, sect. 2 ( $c, 2$ ). -"Tlue hintury of these memorable cighteen years [1782-1 18no has never been written, and yet these years are the key to Irish political oplnion in the 19th [ccntury]. The Government which grantexi the constltution of 1782 began to conspire against it immediately. They Lad taken Poynings' In away from the beginning of its proceedings, and they clapped it on to the end of its procoviings, as effectually as if the change had wot leen made. They developed in the Irish mind that distrust of ail government which has mate it so turbutent and so docile - turhulent to its aimia. $i$ i: rators, docilc to its popular leaders."-I. E. '? 1 i, rold Rogers, in Irehand (A. Reid, ell), p. it.

Also IN: W. E. II. Lecky, Leaders of IPublic Opinion in Irelient: Iferry Gratten.-J. G. MacCarthy, Mewry Grattin.
A. D. 1784.-Peep-o'-Day Boys and De-fenders.-"Disturhanees Boys and commeriver in Boys and Defenders. They originated in Iis among some country people, who appear to itave becn ail Protestants or Preshyterians; bit Cutholics having sided with one of the parties, the quarrel quickly grew lnto a religious fend, and spread from the county of Armagh, where it commenced, to the neighbouring distri"ts of Tyrone and Down. Both partles indongetl to the humbiest elasses of the community. The I'rotestant jarty were well armeti, and ussembling $\ln$ numbers, attacked the houses of (iatholic's under pretence of searehing for armis; insult. ing their persons, and hreaking thelr furniture. These wanton ontrages were usuaily committed at an early hour in the morning, whence the uane of Peep-ti-Day Boys: but tho factina was also known as 'Protestant Boys,' and ' wrockers. and uitimately merged la the Orabere simity. - 11. Maverty, Ilivt. of Ireland, p. Tiv!
A. D. 1793 -Passage of the Catholic Relie Bill.-"On Felmunry 4 (1793) Iholart (Chie! Secretary] moved for leave to liring in his Catholie lellief 13ill, und stated the nature of its provisions. It was of a kind which ouly a yenr before woild have appenred utterly limpessible. and which was in the most glaring opposition to all the doctrines which the Government and its purtisans had of late been urging. . . This great measure was before Parliament, with sereral intermisslons, for rather more than ive weets.

The vast preponderance of speaicts were in favour of relief to Catholics, though there were grave differences as to the degree, snd speakers of the highest suthority represented the genuine Protestant feeling of the country as being in its favour. . . . Few things in Irisin pariamentary history are more remarkahie than the facility with which tinis great measure was carried, thougit it was in ailits nspects tioronginiy debated. It passed its second reading in the IIonse of Commons with oniy a siugio negative. It was committed with only tirce negatives, and in the critical divisions on its ciausers tive majorities were at icust two to one. The gualidication required to authorise a Cathoilc to bear arms was raised in committee on the motion of the Cianceior, and in addition to the oath of aild giance of 17:4, a new oath was incorporateri in the Bili, copied from one of the deciarations of the Catholics, and ahjuring certain tenets which ind been ascribed to then, among others the assertion that the infailihility of the Pope was an articie of their faitin. For the rest the Bili lecane iaw aimost exactiy in the form in which it was originaiiy designed. It swejt away the few remaining disahilitics reiating to property whici grew out of tie penai comie. It earbied Catholics to vote iike Protestanta for members of Parifanent and magistrates in cities or boroughs; to become eiected members of ali corporations except Trinity College; to keep arms subject to some specified contitions; to hohl all civil and military offices in the kingcion from which the were not speeificaily excinded; to luhil the medicai professorships on the fonnbition of Sir Patrick Dun; to take diegrees and ioki ollces in any mixed coilege connected with the L'niversity of Duhiin that might hereafter ie fonmied. It aiso threw open to them the degrees of the University, enahing the King to alter its statutes to that elfect. A long ciause enuarerated the prizes which were stili withlevili. Cuthoiics might not sit in eitiner IIonse of Parlianent; they were exeiuded from aimust nli Guvernment and judieiai mositions; they conid not be Privy Counciliors, King's Counsci. Feliows of Trinity Coilege, sheriffs or suls-sieriffs, or geatrais of the staff. Neariy every post of ambition was stiii reserved for Protestants, and the restrictions weighai most henvily on the Cutholics who were most edncated and nost sble. In the IIouse of Lords as in the IIouse of Comanons the Bili passed with iittie open opposition, but a protest, signeti anong other peers by Chariemont, was drawn up against it. The Cathoiic Reilef Biil received the royai assent Ia Aprii, 1793, and in the same mouti the Catholic Convention dissoived itseif. Before doing so it passed a resolution recommending tie Catholics 'to en-operate in aii inyai and constitutionai means to ohtain pariamentary reform. The Catholic prelates in their pastorais cxpressed their gratitnde for the Reilef Biii. The U'nited Irishmen on their side issuedi a prociamation wismiy congratuiating the Cathoifes on the nusure for their relicf, but aiso urging in pasEionate strulns that parliamentary reform was the first of nceis." -W. E. II. Iecky. Miat. of Eing. in the $18 t h$ Century, ch. 25 (r. 6).
A. D. 1793-1798.-Organization of the United irithmen, -Attempted French Invasions. - The rising of '98.-"Nothing couid be less Eininter thar: the of ginai nima and methote of the Boriety of United Irishmen, which was conceived in the ide of uning Cathoiice and l'rotestants
'in pursuit of the same object - a repcal if the penni laws, and a (parifamentary) reform inciud. Ing in itseif an extension of the right of suffrage.' This union was fonnded at Beifast, in 17y1, hy Thcobaid Woife Tone, a young barrister of English ciescent, and, iike the majority of the Cnited Iriaimen, a Irotestant. Sume noontiss later a I uibiin brancis was fondedi, the chairman leing the hon Simon Butier, a Protestant genticman of high cinaracter, and the secretary a truiesman nameri James Nipper Tandy. The society grew rapidily, ani loranches were formed throughont Ciater and I.einster. Tie reilgious strife of the Orange looys and Defenders was a great trouhie to the Linitori men, who feit that these creed animosities numong Irisimen were more ruinous to the untionni cause than nuy corruption of parilament or corrion of government could pos. sihiy be. Ireiand, united, wouid be quite capabie of tighting her own hatties, hut tiese party factions sundered inet contemptihie and weak. The society accordingiy set itseif the impossihie task of dimwing together tire Defenders and the Orangemen. Cathoiic emarcipation - onc of the great objects of the union- naturnily appeaied very differentiy to the rivai parties: it was the great wish of the Defeniers, the chief dirend of the Orangemen. Ibotin fuctions were composed of tho poorest and most ijnorant peasantry in Ireland, men whose politicai views didi not soar alrove the ifica that 'something shouid be done for odi Ireiand.' The L'nited Irishmen devoted themscives to the regeneration of both parties, hut the Orangemen wonld have none of them, and the Protestant United men fount themseives drifting into Darinership with tite Cathoile Defenders. To friin influcnce with this party, Tandy tork the befenders' oath. IIe was informed against; and, as to take an iliegai oath was then a capitai offence in Ircland, he had to fly for inis life to America. This advent ure made Tundy the hero of the Defenders, who now joined the nnion in great nusbers; hit the whoie husiness hronght the society into disrepute, and connected it with the Defenders, wito, like the Orange boys, were mereiy a party of outrage.

- One nigit in the May of "9t a government raid was male upon the premises of the union. The officers of the society were arrested, their papers seized, the type of tieir newspaper destroyed, and the liniteti Irish Society was prociaimed ns an lifegai organisation. Towards the close of this year ail need for a reform society sremed to have passed. Fitzwiliam was made viceroy, and emancipation and reform seemed assured. His sudden recail, tie reversai of his appointments, the rejectiou of Grattan's lieform Biii, and the renewai of the oid coercive system, convinced the L'nited men of the poweriessness of peacefui agitntion to check tie growtil of the system of government by corruption. They accordingiy reorganised the union, hut as a secret society, and with the avowed aim of separating Ireiand from the British empire. Tike Fitzwilliani afiair had greatiy strengtheneif the union, whicin was joined hy many men of high hirth and position, among them ford Eiward Fitzgeraid. hrother of the duke of Leinster, and Arthur $O^{\circ}$ Conuor, nephew to iord Longueviiie boti of whom had been members of tic Ifouse of Conumons. . . . But the abiest man of the party was Thomas Addis Emmet, a barrister. and the elder brother of Robert Emuet. The ooclety gradually swelled to the number of 5,000 members, hut throughout Its existence It was perfectly riduled with sples and lnformers, hy whom goverament was supplled wlth a thorough knowledge of Its dolnge. It became known to Pitt that the French government had cent an Englishman, named Jackson, as an emisary to Ireland. Jackson was convleted of treason, and hangerl, and Woife Tone was sufficlently Impiicated in hls guilt.

IRELAND, $1793-1798$.

Bnourrection of ye.
IRELAND, 1799-1798
to ind It prudent to ty to America. But ivefore leaving Ireland he arranged with the directore of the union to go from America to France, and to try to persuade the French government to asslat Ireiand In a atruggle for separation. While Tone was taklng hls circuitous route to Paris, government, to meet the military development of the society, placed Ulster and Leinster under a stringent Insurrection Aet; torture was employed to wring confes. sion from suspected persons, and the Protestant militia and yeomanry were drafted at free quarters on the wretched Catholic peasantry. The barbarity of the soidicrs lashed the people of the northern provinces Into a state of fury.

In the meantline the indomitable Tone - unknown, without cretientials, wlthout Influence, and 1 g . norant of the French Ianguage - hail persuaded the French government to lead him a fleet, 10,000 men, und 40,000 stand of arms, which armament left Ilrest for Bantry Bay on the 16th December, 1i\%0. Ireiand was now in the same positlon as Engiand had been when Wliliam of Orange ladd appeared outslde Torbay. Injustice, corruption, and oppression had in both eares goaded the people into rebellion. A caim sea and a flerce gaie unde the difference between the English patriot of 1688 and the Irish traitor of 1796 . Ihad the sea been calm in the Christmas week of "96, nothing could have stopped the French froin marchiug on to Dullin, hut just as the ships put in to Bantry Bay, so wild a wind sprang ap that they were driven out to sca, und hown and buffetted about. For a month the's tossed abent withiusight of land, hut the storn dii' not subside, and, all chsnce of landing scemling as far off asever, they put back into the Freuch port."- Wm. S. Gregg. Irish IIstory for Englinh Realera, eh. 23.- "After the faliure of Iloche's expedition, auother great armament was fitted out in the Texel, where It long lay ready to cone forth, while the English Heet. the only safeguard of our coasts, was crippled by the mutiny ut the Nore. But the wind once more fonght for Englani, mad the Ilatavian tleet came out nt last ouly to be destroyed at Camper. down. Tome was personally engagerl in both expeedtions, snd his lively Diary, the image of his charactor, gives us vivid accounts of both. The thirdi elfort of the French Government was feeble, mal emuled in the futile landing of a small force nuder llumbert. $\qquad$ In the last ex. pedtion Tone bimself was taken priwoner, and. haviug been condemned to death, committed suicide in prismu. . . It was weil for Irelund, as well as for kinghand, that Tone failed in his enterprisc. lial he succeceied, his remantry wonld for a the have leen trented as switzerland and the Batavian ibepublice were treated by thelr French regeneritors, and, in the end, It would have been sureiy reconquered and pun. ished hy the power which was mistress of the sca.

But nuw that all is uver, we can afford to say that Tone galluutly ventured his Iffe in What naturally appeared to hlm, and woukl to a high-splrited Englishman under the same clt. cumstances have appeared, a good cause. One of his race had but too much renaon then to 'hate the very name of England,' and to look forward to the burning of her citles wlth feclings In whlch pity struggled with revenge for mastery hut revenge prevalled. From the lepubileans the diaturbance spread, as $\ln 1841$, to that mass of hlind disaftection and hatreli, natlonal, social, agrarian, and religlous. Which was always smoulering among the Catholic peasantry. With these sufferers the puitical theories of the Freach Revolutlonlsts had no in. flnence; they looked to French Invasion, as well as to domentic Insurrection, merely as a deliverance from the oppression under which they groaned. The leadling Roman Catholiss, both cierical and lay, were on the slde of the government. The mans of the Catholie priest. hood were well Inclined to take the same side. Tiney could have no sympathy with an Atheist Repuhife, red with the hiool of priests, its well as with the hlood of a son of St. Loulis. If seme of the ordier were concerned in the movenuent, It was as demagognes, sympathlzing with thelr peasant hrethren, not as priests. Yet the Protestants insisted on treatling the Cathofice rlirgy as rebels hy nature. They had assurelly dine thelr best to make them so.

No scemerer did the Cathofic pensantry begin to move nut of. ganize themsel ves than the Protestant gentry and yeomanry as one man becalle Cromwellians agaln. Then commenced a Reign of Terrur scareely less savage than that of the Jacobins, agalnst whom Europe was in arms, as a hidieous and portentous hroul of evil, the seonrge and horror of the whoic haman race. The suspucted conspirators were Intimidated, and eonfisvions, or pretendel confessions, were extorted liv lings. ing upon the homes of the peasantry the license nnd harbarity of an Irregular soldiery mure cruel than a regular invader. ogging, half hamging, piteh eapping, pleketil, went on over a large district, and the most varbarous seourgings, without trial, were inflictedi in the Riding huwse at Dutlin, In the very seat of government and justice. This was styled, 'exerting a vigour beyoul the law :' and to become the ohjert of such vigour, It was cuough, ns under Rubers pierre, to be suspected of being suspert. in one has yet tairiy undertuken the revilting but salutary task of writing a fathful ant iupartial history of that period; but from the accounts we have, It appears not mulikely that the peasantry, though undoubtedly in is disturliel state, and to a great extent secretiy organizer, night have been kept quiet hy nemanures of lenity and firmness; and that ihey wore gra thitously scourged and tortured into (fra re heltion. When they did rebel, they shewed, ss they had shewn in 1641, what the walley blare is when, having long toileel under the lash. he eontrives in a storm to slip his chains and beenme master of the veseci. The atrocities of Wexfand und Vinegar-Iliil rivalied the atrocities of Port nadown. Nor when the rekelifon was vanquisted didi the vietors faif to renew the famouls fo.ts of Sir Charles Coote and of the regineent of Fole We now possess terrible and overwhelming eri dence of their sanguinary feroxty in the cor respondence of Lord Cornwallis, whor was cer tainly no friend to releels, having fouglit againast them In America, but who was inn of sence and heart, mont wisely sent over to quench the Insurrection, and pacify the country.
$\qquad$ The murders and nther atroclties committed by the Jecohins were more numerous than those committed hy the Orangemen, and as the victime were of higher rank they excited more ladigna. ton and pity; but in the use of torture the Orangemen seem to have reached a pitch of tendish crueity which was acarceiy attalned by the Jscohins.

The Jacobin party was al. most entlrely composed of men taken from the lowest of the people, whereas among the Irish terrorists were found men of high soclai posltion and good educatlon." - Goldvin Smith, Irish IFiat, and Irivh Character, pp. 166-175.
Also IN: IR. R. Madden, The United Irishmen, their Lives and Times. - Theobald Wolfe Tone, Memoira.-Marquls Cornwalils, Corresponilence, ch. 19 (\%. 2).-A. Griffithe, French Revolutionary Generals, ch. 13.-Viscount Castlereagh, Vemvirs and Corr., v. 1.-W. II. Maxwell, IFiat. of the Irith Rebellion in 1798.
A. D. 1795-1796. -Formation of the Orange Society. - Battle of the Dlamond.-Peraecution of Catholica by Protestant moba.-"The yesr 1795 ls very memorable in Irish history, as the yenr of the formatlon of the Orange thaciety, sad the beglaning of the most serious disturb: saces In the county of Armagh. . . . Tive oid popular feud ietween the iower ranks of Paplsts sad Presbyteriaus in the northern comntles is easy to understand, aud it ls not less easy to sce how the recent course of Irish politics had ln. creased It. A class whlch hal enjoyed and gloried in uncontested ascendency, found thls asceadency passing from its hands. A class which had formerly been In subjcction, was eiated hy new privlleges, and looked forward to a complete stonition of polltical dlsahlitites. Cntiolic aud Protestant tenauts came Into a new competition. and the demeanour of Catholles towaris Protestants was sensihly clianged. There were hoasts la tuverns and at fairs, that the l'rotestants wouil speedliy be swept away from the innd sad the descendants of the old propritors restorei, and It was soon known thnt Cathoiles ali orrr the country were forming themselves luto coumittes or soclcties, and were electlng represeatatlves for a great Catholic convention at Dubtin. The riots nnd outragea of the Pecp of Uar Boys and Defenders had embittered the feeilng on lotb sides. ... Members of one or other cred were attacked and insuited as they went to their places of worsinlp. There were fights on thr high robls, at fairs, wakes, markcts, and coutry sports, and there were occaslonaily crimes of a much deeper dye. ... In September 1705 rlots hroke out In this count $y$ [A rmagh], which continued for some days, hut at lengti the parish pricst on the one sille, aud a gentlemaa aatied Atkinson on the other, succeeded in so far sppeasing the quarrel that the counbatants formaliy agreed to a truce, and were nbout to retire to tbeir homes, when a new party if Defeaders, who had miarched from the all joining counties to the asslstance of their bretliren, appeared upon the scenc, and on September? 1 tiey attacked the I'rotestants at a piace calied tife lismond. The Cutholles on thls occasion were (rotainlr the aggresents, and they appcar to hare Culsiderahly outnumbered their antagonists, hut the I'rotestants were better posted, better armed, and better organised. A serions conflict ensued, and the Cathoilcs were compicteiy defeated, lear Ing a farge number - probaily twenty or thirty - dcad upon the field. It was on tie evening of the day on which the hattle ot the Diamond was fought, that the Orange Soclety was formed. It was at frst a league of mutual defence, blndIng its members to malntaln the luws and the peace of the country, and aiso the Protentant Constitution. No Cathoilic was to be arimitted Into the soclety, and the members were bound hy onth not to reveal its secrets. The doctrine of Fitzgibion, tiat the Kligg, hy assenting to Cntho lic eninnclpatlon, would lnvalidate his tlite to the tirone, was remarkabiy reflected In the oath of tife Orangemen, whicis bound them to defend the King and his helrs, 'so long us lic or they supjort the Protestant nsecnilency.' The soclety towk lis name frosn Wiiliam of Ornnge, the conqueror of the Catiolles, nud ft agreal to ceiebrate annually the hattie of the Boyne. In this respect there was nothiug In it partlcuiarly novei. Prot estunt assoclathons, for the purpose of commemorating tive evcnts and maintalning the principles of the IRevolution, had long beeu known.
A very different spirit, however, nilmated the early Orangemeu. Thic upper ciasses at tirst generaily hedel aioo from the society; for a considerable time it appears to have been almost confined to the Protestant peasantry of Ulster, and the title of Orangemen was probahly as: sumed by uumbers who had uever joiued the organisation, who were sinuply Perp of lay Boys taking a uew name, aud whose conduct was certalniy not suci ns those wbo instlited the society hal intended. A terrible persecution of the Catholics immediately foliowed. The animosities letween the lower oriers of the two religlons, which had long lo :n littic bitieel, burst out nfresh, and after the bit:lc of tibe Diamond, the I'rotestaut rahble of lite connty oi Irmagh nnd of part of the adjolning eount lis dietermined by continuous outrage: to fase the Catholics from the country. The ir cahins were piacarded, or. as It was termei, 'japered,' witin the words - To hell or Connaught, nnd if the cecupants ald not at once ahandon them, they were ntlucked at nigit by an armed mob. The webs and fooms of the poor Catholic weavers were cut and de stroyed. Every artlele of furniture was shat tered or burnt. The houses were often set on fire, and the inmates were driven homeiess into the world. The rioters met whin scarcely any resistauce or disturbance. Fwilre or fourteen lomses were sometlmes wrecked in $n$ single night. Several Cathollc chapels ware burn, and the persecution, whlci began in tice county of Armngh, soon extended ower a whe area in the counties of Tyrone, Down, Antrim, and Derry. The outrages continuel with ilthe abatement through a great part of tic foliowing year. As mulght lave been expected, there wcre widely differing estimates of the nimbler of tie victims. Accorring to some reports, which were no doult grossly exaggerated, no less than 1,400 families, or about 7,000 persons, were driven ont of the county of Armagh aionc. Another. and much more prohable account, spoke of 800 famllics, while a certain party among the gentry, did their utmost to minimise the persecutions."-W. E. II. Lecky. Lliel. of Ery. in the i8th Cent'y, ch. 27 (c. i)
A. D. 1798-1800-The Legialative Union with Great Britaia.-"No sooner had the

IRELAND. 1708-1800. Legiolatim Únion
IRELAND, 1708-1800.
rebelition been suppreseed than the Convernment proposed, to the Parliament of each country, the union of Great Britain and Ireland unter a com. mon legisiature. This was no new like. It hal frequently been in the minda of successive generathons of stateamen on buth sides of the Channci; but liad $n$ - yet been seriously thacussed whth a view to amediate action. Nothing could have hean tro safely predicted than that Ireland must, anoner or inter, follow the precedent of Scotland, and yield her pretensions to a separate legisiation. The measures of 178\%, which ap. peared to estahilish the legisistive independence of Ireland, really proved the vanity of such a pretenslon. . On the assembling of the Britfah Pariament at the commencement of the year [1709], tire queatlon of the Cnion was recommendend by a nuessage from the Crown: and the address, after sone opposition, was carried withont a division. Pitt, at tinls, the carliest atage, pronounced the declsion at which the Govern. ment had arrived to be positive and irrevocable.

Iorl Cornwailis [then Lord Lieutenant of Irelandi] also expressed his conviction that union was the only measure winch could preserve the country.

Tite day before the intendei Cnion was signified by a royal message to the English J'arliament, the Irish Houses assembled; and the Vleeroy's speech, of course, contained a paragmapin relatre to the project. The House of lainls, comipietely under the control of the C'astle, agreenl to an adilress in conformity ritit the speech, after a short and languld debate, by a large majority; but the Commons were vioientiy apitated. . An ampndment to the address pledging tice House to malntain the Union was lost ty one vote, after the llouse had sat twenty. one liours; but, on the report, the anrendment to omit the paragraph referring to the tion was carried by a najourty of four. . . . When it was understond that tife Goremment wis in earncst . . . there was little diblleulty in aiarming a people anomg wiont the machinery of potitical agitution had, for some years, been extensively organised. The har of Jublin took the lead, and it at once became cvident that the policy of the Government bad effected a union among lrishmen far more formidable than that which nit the efforts of seditlon had been able to acenmpilsh. The neecting of the bar inciuded not morcly men of different religious persia. sions, but, what wus of more importance in Ireland. men of different sides in politics.
Ilowever conclustre the argument in favour of Unlon may appear to Englishmen, it was diffcult for an lrishman to regard the Cnion in any other viuw than as a measure to doprive his country of her independent constitution, and to extinguish her national existence. Mr. Foster. the spraker, took this riew.

Slr Jolin Parneli, the C'hancellor of the Exchequer, followed the Sinakir. Mr. Fitzgerali, the I'rime Serjcant, a law offleer of the Crown, was on the same slic. Ponsonby, the leader of the Whigs, was vehement against the scheme; so was Grat. tan; so was Curran. Great efforts were male by the Government to quiet the Protestants, and to engage the Catholics to support tire Cinion. These efforts were so fur successfui that most of the Orange lodges were persuaded to refrain from expressing any opinion on the subject. The Catholic hierarchy were conciliated by the promist of a provision for the clergy, and of an ald justment of the Tithe queation. Hopes were held out, if promises were not actually maile, to the Catbolle community, that their clvil disalili. ties would be removed. If the Uniun was to be accomplished by constitutlonal momin, it could he effictinl onfy by a vote of the firish lariament, coneurring with a vote of the Eing lisis Parliament: and if tho Irlsh assembly were to pronounce an unhlussed julgment on the questlon of its extinction, it is certain that a very small minority. jossllyly not a sligle vote, wouli be fouml to shpport the meadure.

The sute on the miliress was foilowerl, in a few dinys liy an addreas to the Crown, in which the ('uninuetis pledged themselves to maintain the constitmina of 1782 . The majority in favour of nithonal in. dependence hat alroady incrensed ronm the tu twenty.

The votes of tire Irisis Comimans had disposed of tinc question for the current session; but preparatlons were imme diately made for its future passage tirrougit the Irisis liunses Tire foremost men in Ireland lind tirst lyen tempted, but had indignantiy refined every oter to lextryy the Inlependence of their coinuty. Anotiner ciass of leading jersons was then triei, and from these, for the nust purt, c'visis? answers were recelved. The nilinitr nuice. stood the meaning of these dublons uttermes. There was one momle of carrylng the linlan, and one monie only. Bribery of every kind matit be empiored without inesitation and without stht." - W, Hassey, Hiat. of Eng.: Reigh of (i, ". III., ch. 33 ( $c, 4$ ), "- Leral Cornwaiils liml'tu work $+"$ system of 'negotiating and jobling.' by pros Ing an Irisin Peerage, or a lift in that leeprase or even an Engiish Peernge, to a crowil of miger competitors for honours. The other spuritic for making converts was not wet in compietc operation. Lonl Castiereagh the Irisis Chlof Serpe tary] had the plan in his portfolio: - Iroronch proprletors to be comprensated; tifty larr risters in parliament, who aiways contsideriml a seat as the road to preferment, to ine comphen sated; the purelasers of seats to be comprusitel; ladiviluals connereted either hy roslilime nf property with Jublin to be compensitui. -iard Castlereagit considered that $£ 1,500,0 \mathrm{M})$ would be reyured to effect aif these compensations. 'The sum actuaity puid to the borough nrongers alune was $£ 1,260,000$. Fifteen thousand pounis were aliotted to erach borough; and 'was appertioned amongst the various patrons.

It hat lncome a contest of bribery on luoth sirices. There was an 'Opposition stuck.purse,' as 1 ari ('inslireagh descrines the fund agalnst which inv was to struggle with the der'jer punse st Whitthall.

During the administrution of loni (ornwallis, 29 Irish Peerages wiore crentidi; of which seven only were unconnected with the questiun of U'nion. Six Engllsia P'ecrages wert gramial on account of Irish services; and them were 19 promotions in the Irish Peerage, carneri by similar assistance." The question of Énion was virtually deckled in tise Irish llouse of Commona on the 6th of February, 1800. Loml Cust kerrach, on the previous day, hat read a message from the Lord Lieutenant, communicating resolutions alopted by the pariament of Great Britain in the previous year. "The question wits thetrated from four oiclock in the afternom of the sth to one oclock in the afternoon of the 6th. Ihring that time the streets of Dublin were the scepe of a grent riot, and the peace of the city wa malntalned only by troopm of cavaliy. the divlsion of the 6th there was a majority of 43 in favour of the Unlon," It was not, how. ever, untll the 7 th of June, that the tnal leglslative enactment - the Unlon BlII - wat phased in the Irsh House of Commons. The first artinle provlded "that the klngeloms of Great Britain and Ireland should, upon the Ist of Janhary, 1801, be unlted lato one klagdom, hy the wane of The Lnited Kingilom of Creat Brtain and Ireiand. The l'nlted Klngilom was to be representel In one and the same parlinment. In the United Parilament there were to be 28 temporal Peers, electenl for llfe by the Irish Peerage: and four splritual Peers, taklng their places in rotation. There were to be 100 members of the Lower House; ench connty returning two, as well as the eltes of Duhlin amb Cork. The University returnell one, and il boronglis each returned one. Of these boroughs 23 r re. malaed close boroughs tlll the lleform Bill of 183!. , . The Charches of Eugland and Irelnal wero to be united. The proportion of Itevenue to le levled was tixed at iffeen for Great Britain and two for Ireland. for the succeeding twenty yeurs. Countervalihig dnties upon limports to each country were fixel by a minute tarift, hut some commerclal restretions were to be renoved "-C. Knlght, Fopnlar Ilise. of Einglinnl. $r$ T. ch. EL.-"If the Irlsh Darllament had cou. slated mainiy, or to any appriciable extent, of mea who were dislogal to the connection, anal Whase sympathies were on the slate of rebetion or with the enemples of Englauil, the English Ministurs would, I think, fiave been amply justitied iu employing almost any menus to abrolish it. (in) ( But it cunnot be too clearly underntond of (in) (emphatically stated, that the logislatlve l'nion was not no net of this nature. The Parlhaneut which was aloolished was a Parllament of the most unqualitied loyallsts; It hasl shown ilseif rualy to make every sacriflec In lts power for the maintenance of the Emplre, and from the time when Arthur $0^{\circ}$ Connor and Lord Eilwarl Fitzgeraid passed beyond lts walls, it prohably did not contaln a slagle mau who was really disaffected. . . It must be added, that it Was lnecoming evident that the reiathon between the two countrics estabilished hy the Constitution of lise conlil not have continued unchanged.

Emant inmurreetion.

Evin with the best dlspositlons, the Constl. iution of lise involved many and grave prohahil. Ities of linference. ... Sooner or later the corrupt brough asremlency must have hroken down, and it was a grave question what was to succeed it.

An enormous increase of disloyalty ani religinus anlmoslty lad taken place during the last years of the century, and it added immensely to the danger of the democratic Cathollc suffrage. which the Act of 1798 had calied into exlstence. This was the strongest argument for hurrylng on the linlon; but when ail due weight is asjigned to it, it loes not appear to me to have Justitied the policy of Pitt."-W. E. II. Lecky: Hint of Eng. in the 18 ch Century, ch. 82 ( v .8 ).
Chison,-R. Thassencamp, Ingram, INist of the legislatire Chion.-R. Ilassencamp, IIist. of Ireland, ch. 14. -Maryuis Cornwallis, Correspondence, ch. 10-21 (e. 2-3). -Viscount Castlereagh. Memoirs and Corr., $\ldots .2-3$.
A. D. I&ot.- Pitt's promise of Catholic Emancipation broken by the king. See Eng.
Land: A. D. 1801-1806.

A. D. sios-1to3.-The Emmet Insurrection.

 -" Loril Iarilwleke muceeeded Lorl Corawally as vlecroy la May [1801]; and for two years, on far as the British publle knew. Ireland was undisturleed. The harveat of I801 was almmiant. The foland was occupled by a milltary firce of Ins,000 men. Dlstaut runiours of dlsturlaniees In Llmertick, Tipperary, and Winterford were falutly aullile. Importix and exporta lncreasmal. The debt inereased likewles, but, as it was inet by ioans and uncontrolled hy ony puhlle assem. hly, no oue protested, and few were aware of the fuct. famblorils and mlddalcmen tirove on blyl reuts, und prusants as yet eonld ilve,Fiarly in 1 sidis the murmurs in the sonthWest becane lomider. Vlsloms of a tixed price for potatoxes lxgan to shape themselves, and the in. rasion of 'strangers' ready to take land from Whieh tetants har in en ejected wis reslstedl. The magistratis urgis the veceroy to ohtaiu and exerelse the lenwers of the Insurrection Act hat the evll wis thot thonglit of suflecient inngnl. thale, aid thelr reatest wis refased. Ampidst the general caln, the insurrectlon of Itubert Emnett in July broke like a bolt from the hlue, A yontug repablican vislonary, whose brother hal tukeu au active part lu the rebellion, he had lnspiretl a few sore comarales whithe gulxotic hope of roklallinit Irish nationality by settlog up a fuctory of pikes in a buck stregt of Inublin. On the eve of st. James's Iniy, Quigley, whe of his asser liates, who had leen sowing rague hopes athong the " anges of Kilhare, hrought a mixed crowa into Inbllin. Whan the eveuine fell, a sky-rocket was Hreal. Eunurft nud lim litite band sillied from llarshalisea lane lato st. James's hireet, aud dixtributed pikes to all who Wonlal take them. The disoriterly unb thus armat prenereded to the delitors' prison, whlels they uttarked, killing the oflocer who defentied it. Enmett urgeri then on to the Castie. They followell, iu a cmainsed column, utterly beyond his power to control On their way they feli ln whith the earriage of whe Chitef Justhee, Lord Kilwarden, arafsed him ont, and killed him. By this tiuse a few handfuls of troops hat heon this tiuse a few handfuls of troops hat lveen col. freted. In half an hoar two suhalturns, with fifty soliliers euch, han dispersed the whole patherinis. 3 Br tenoclock all was over, whith the lons of 30 soldiers and 50 iusurgents. Emmett and Itassefl, another of the lealers who had undertakell the agitation of Down and Antrim, were shortly afterwards taken aud executed; Quigley cscaped. Such was tbe iast reverbe. ration of the rebelition of 1798 , or rather of the ruvolutionary fervour that led the why to that relellion, before it had been tainted with reIlgious nolmosity. Emmett died as Shelley would lave dled, a martyr and an enthusiast; hut le knew little of his countrymen's condition, little of their aspirations, nothing of their needs. He hal no successors. "- J. II. Bridges, pt. 3 of Tico Centuries of lrish Ihint., ch. 2.- Emmet might easily have escaped to France if he had chosen, hut he deiayerl tiil too iate. Emnet was a young man, and Emmet was ln love. The Idol of his heari,' as he cails her $\ln$ his dylng speech, was Sarah Curran, the daughter of John Phllpot Curran.

Emmet was determined to see her trefore he went. He placed his life ulow the cast and fost it. the cast and bost it. ... The White Terror which followed upou the failure of Emmet's rislng was accompanied hy ahmost ali the horrors

Which marked the bours of repreaninn after the rebellion n! '08.

The old devil's dance of sples and informers weat nerrily forwanf; the primitu were choked with pricuaers."-J. II. MeCarthy, Irelina aines the Cnion, eh. s-6.
Atao in: 1R. 1R. Maiden. The ECnitell Iriahmen, their Lines and Jime 0, 8,-J. Wllis, Ilianf, of Irviand in the lires friahmen. 6. 6, pp. 68-40.
A. D. 1811-1829.- O'Conall and the agitation for Catholic Emanclpation and the Repeal of the Union..-Catholic diabilities removed. - "There is much reason to believe that ainmont from the coramencement of his eareer" Danief 0 c'onneil, tive great Irisis agitator, "formed one vint scheme of poliey which he pursmet throngis life with littie devintion. and. ft must be aloled, with Ittie serific. This schense was to create and leal a pullic spirit among the finnan Catholies; to wrest emanelpution hy this means from the Goverument; to perpethate the agitation created for that pur. pose tiii the Irish Pariament inul been rewtorenl: to dimendow the Fstabisised Church; and thus to open iu Irciaul a uew era, with a separate and indeprodent Purliament ind perfect niligions equaity. It would is altlieutit to concelve a scheme of jolicy exhiniting more daring than this. The Romun Catiolies hat hitherto shown themselves absolitely ineompetent to take any deedsive part in pulities.
t' 'unnell. bow. ever, percoived that it was possible to bring the winde mass of the jeople luto the atrnggie, and to give them an uhast unexampled monentum suif unanimity by npplying to puilites a great jower that lay dormant in Irefand-the power of the Catholle priesthombl. To anke the priests the rufers of the conntry, and himmelf the ruier of the priests, was his tirst great oljjeet. Tiure was a party majportent by Keogh, the lealior in "93, who reconmended what was ealled 'a digulfed wicnee' - in other worls, a com. picte ulsthence from petitioning ani agitation. Witi tilis party O'Connell successfuliy grapipio(ol. lif aivice on every occusion Wus, Agitate, tagi. tate, aginate! ' mol Keogh was so irritated hy the di-fuat that tee retired fron the soclety." OConnedi's leminranip of the movement for Cationie Emanedpation became virtusaliy estabished about the beginuing of 181 f . ile nyowed himself repeatedy to be nu agitator with an uiterior ohjowe, and dectared that that object was the remall of the L'nion. 'Deslring, as I do, the ro. : of the ['niom, Lhe said th oue of his u's, in IN13, 'I rejoice to see how our sem promote tint great object. . . . They
If the librortios of the Cathoiles, but they aprensite us most amply lecause they al. bace the restoration of Ireland. By beaving one conse of agitation, they $i_{\text {an }}$ ve ereated, and they wiii ch.lxily and give shape and form to, a pubite mind and a puhile spirit. Sothing can lw more untrue than to represent the IRejneif ngitation as umere afterthought de. signedi to sustain his tiagging popularity: Nor (in it lie mitit that the jroject wist tirst started by hims. The frep iatiguathon that the C゙nion hai iorefocedi in Iredam was fermenting nmong all chasses, mad assuming the form, sometimes of a French jarty, sometimes of a socinf war, and sometimes of it constlutionai agitation.
nould be teadious to foliow Into minute detail tite dificialties and the hilatahes that obstrneted the Cathoitc moveutent, and were finully overcome by the energy or the tact of O'Connelt Meversi timem the movement wa menarcel by Governtient proclamationand prowecutions. If great diftenlty was to bring the puhlie oplaion of the whole lanly of the Joman Catholies actively and habitually finto the question.

Ail pre. celing movemente stuce the levnlution forcept the pasalng excltement ajoult W'omi's jaifpeney) had iseen ehiefty among the Protentants or mavere the higher oriler of the Cationiles. The natow of the perople hal taken no raal interent in prolticn. lum felt no real jain at their dianhilithow, and Were poilitically the wliling slavew of thoir iatal. lorcis. For the first time, under the Influrbure of t'Connell, the great awell of a reaily flemar ratic movenent was felt. The aimplent wiy of con. ecntrating the new entilusiamin wonld liave inan by a syatem of dejegatem, fint this hal lura nopdered iliegal by the Convention Aet. It the other fiand, the right of jetlifouing was ntue of the fumbamental privileges of the coustifution By avalling himadif of this fight t't'onamell mon. trived, with the dexterity of a prutim if hander. to vionate continually the spirit of the (inivas. thon Act, while leveping within the hither of the faw. Proclamation after procinamilon was launeibed agalnst his mexiety, but hy contlumally citanging fis aame and lis form he geurrally nue. ceeded io evaling the prosecutions of the Gor. ernmeut. These early mocletiks, inwevir, ali sink into insigniftennee compureal with that grat fiatholic: Ammelation wivedi was formoi in leet The avowerl objects of this sachety were to promote religious erbeation, to awrertaln the mumerieal strength of the different rilighoms. and to nnswer the chmrges againat the Roulam (atholics enibxiled in the hostile petitions. It alow ' remmmended ' pettions (unconuected with the socicty) from every purimh, und aggrogate tuct lags in every county. The reni oliject was to form a gignntic aystemof organisation, ramifying over the entire conntry, and directed in every parisis by the priests, forthe pur wof jutition. Ing and in every other way a." ing lin favour of emaneipntion. The Cathoh wout la system of smail suhscriptions - as small us n péner a montis - coliected from the puntrest contrihutions throagiout Ireinad] was instluted at Ihis thew, and it formerl at once a powerfui fustrmment of eohesion and a fuitifui intometer of the propular feering.

The sueress of the C'nthadic Asur cintion became every wrek more strihiar. The rent rose with an extraordinary ripility [from E'330 a week in October to E7(h) a wrok in lh. cember, 1824 ]. The meetings in "waty pomats grew inore and more cuthuslastic, the trinmpla of prlestly inthencec more and more ceftain. The Government made a icebice mal alomive cflort to artest tite storm by timesteniag beth O'C'onncli and Sheif [idichard Lalor] with jrime eution for certain passages in their ameders

The formation of tive Wellington Xinistry [Wrilington and Pedi, 1828] secomed cIfertualty to crusil the present hopes of the Cutholies. fir the stublorn rewofition of its fender was as me!! knowin as his Tory upinions. Yit thiw. Miniwes Was destincel to cerminate the conto:st by establishing the prineiple of religions copitity. On the aecession of the Wediagton Bintiver to power the Catholie Association pasel a resoly tion to the effect that they wonhl appose with therr whole euregy thay irisis menoter who consented to accept odice under ft.

I4 uppur
tuaity for carrying the reolution Into effect woa occurned. Mr. Fitzgerull, the member for Clare, sccepted the office of Prealilent of the Buarl of Trude, and was conaequentiy ohilgeri to go to his conatituents for re.ejection." O'Con. aell enterel the fiste agrainst him. "The excite. ment at this announcement rowe at once to fever belpht. It extended over every part of Ireland, adil penetrated every clase cof soclety. The whole mass of the foman Catholies prepared to support hlm, and the rait system of organina. tha willil he had framed acterl effectually in every direction." For the tirut time. the fanil. fonly fund that the voting of thelr tenants cullil nut be controlied. Fitzgeraill withdrew irutu the contest and O'Conneil was cicctent. "Irdami was now un the very verge of revola. tion. The whole mans of the peoplle hum been organland like a reguiar army, and taught to aret with the must perfect unanimity.

The Hinisters, ficilng firther reslstance to be hope. kess. brought lu the Fimancipation Bill, contfessedily becunse to withhold it would be to kinlle a rulelllom that woulif extend over the whith and bromith of the lani." - W. E. II. Lacky. Aenters of Indie Guinion in Irelaml:
 the sth Narch [1N:20]. The king had givent to it reluctant assent. At the last hour, the intrigues of Eldon and the liake of Cumberlam! hail mi far luthenced his wenk and divingenumas malni that he withdrew hls assent to ble minds. tevi frilley, on the pretence that he hati not ex. pected, and couid not sanction, any modificaton of the Ointh of Supremacy. He parted from his :uluinters whth kleses and courteny, and for a lew haurs thelr reslgnatlon was in his hands. But with aight hle discretlon waxed as his conr ge wancd; his ministers were recailed, and thelr measure procreded. In its maln pruvisions it wan thomogh and far. reaching. It ndmitteit the Roman Cuthollc to Parliament, and to aif lay olthes nuler $i^{2}$. Crown, except those of ley. gent. Lard Cha 'or, whether of England or of Ireland, and Lo.d Lelentemant. It repealed the outh of ahjuration, it niolificed the oath of - premary. . . It approximated the Jrish tis the Fingllis county franchlse by aboilshlug the fonf. shilling frechoider, and raising the voters qualifientions to $£ 10$. All monasterles and insti. tutluns of Jesults were ouppresed; and Koman Catholic bislops were forhliflen to assume titiea of seces already held hy hlshops of the Church of treland. Munleipai and other oliticlals were fortididn to wear the insignia of their oitice at Rumn (inthollc ceremonles. Lastly, the new Oath of supremacy was avallable only for per wns thereafter to he elected to Parliament "which uulified O'Conneil'a clection at Clnre. This petty stroke of malice is sald to have leetu Intronuces in the blil for the gratifieatlon of the king. The vote in the Commous on the IJill was 3i3 agaiunt 180, and in the Lords 217 10 112 . It Jeceivend the loyal assent on the 1314 of Ajrii. A. llamilton, Life of Daniel $O^{\circ}$ Cuhnell. ch. 5. Also IN: J McCarthy, sir IWAert Peel, eh. 2-i-W. J. Fitzpatrick, Corrapmolence of Daniel 0 Cumnell, with wotices of his Life and Times, r. 1. Ehatinct - W. J. Amherst, Dlist. if Cutholic Emuluipation.-W. C. Tayior. Life and Times uf Nir Rebrot fet, i. 1. ch. 16-1S ajat H. I. ch. 1-2. A. D. $1820-1826$. -Rlie of the Ribbon So-ciety.-"Throughout the half-century extending from I8:0 in 1909 , secret nath-hound agrartan confelerncy, lisi $\quad$ onan the ' Riblonn Boclety, we the conntant aft Jonand recurring terror of the linnicul clanese i Irelaud. The Vehargericht Itmelf was not more dremuled. . It la assuresijy atrance - imierd, aimust increribble - that al. though the exlatence of this organiation was, in a gencral way, woll and an widely known as the fu't thnt Quwen Victoria reigned, or that Danicl O'Couneil was ouce aliving man; alihough the atory of lts crimes luas thrilied juige and jury, and purliamentrry erommittees have alfed jwiferous hiue books with evidence of lts proceredinga, there is to this hour the wldest contijet of amertlou aul concluston as to what exactly were lis real nims, fis arlpla, struccure, charac. ter, anti purpose.

1 fong ago satisted biy. self that the Iflboniant of one perionl was not the Illbbonlsm of another; that the version of Ita alms and efoaracter jrevalent amongst lts own member in one cointy or dlatrict differed whely from that existing chacwhere. In ["ister it profesmed to la a defensive or retuliatory league agninst Orungelsun. In Dumeter It was at first a comhination against titive-pmetors. In Con. nanght it was an organisatlon agalust rack.reut. ing nud evicthus. In Ielaster it often was neere tu) lime lren wholis contined to smail farners, cotelers, falsurers, and. In the towns, petty shopkeejers, In whose houses the 'forlges wereheld.

Althoush from the licep on, or tirst ap. bearance, of IXbionisum the Cathoile clergy waged a ditcominetl war upon it ... the society was excluslvely Catholle, linder no circumatances world a Protestant be wlmittedif to nembrovhlp. . The nanue ' lkibinn soclety' was nut atfacheil tu it untl about 18:6. It was preVhusly known us, Liberty Mrn'; the 'Religions IAlx.ry systeme; the 'finltel' sons of Irish Freedon:; 'Sous of the Shamnek': and hy other names. . . It has heen sadd, and probably whit swine truth. that it las been tuo much the habit to attrilute ermonemsly to the Ribibon or ganlsation every atroclty commltted in the country, every deed of hliood apparently artsing out of agrarlan combinatlon or consplracy.
But valu is uil pretence that the klhton snclety dlif not beconc, whatever the originai deslgn or Inteution of ita meminers may have inecn, a hide ous organisation of outruge and murler.
There was a period when Kihbon outrages had, at uil eventa, a conceivable provocatlon; hat thire came a time when they slekenced the puhile conselence by thelr wantimuces. The vengeance of the suclety was ruthless and terribje.
From $183 i$ to 1855 the IRlbion organisation was at lis greatest strengih.

Whth the emlgration of the labouring classes it was carried aboroad, to England and to America. At one tlme the nost formindable lislyes were ln Laucashlre."-A. M. Nullivan, Ner freland. ch. 4.
A. D. 1831 .-Establishment of National Schools. See Emeation. Dodenn: Eluorean Cot:NTMEN-Imfinind
A. D. 1832.-Parliamentary Representation increased by the Reform Bill. Nee Finoland: A. 1). 1830-1532.
A. D. 1840-1841.-Discontent with the results of the Union,-Condition of the people. - O'Comnell's revival of agitation for Repeal.

1829; and now, surely, their caemien angated in they must be coatented aml grateful for ever more ? Perverve must the people be who, hav Ing erot what they anded, are not cutlinhed. Jat us ace. What they asked was to be edmitterd to their juat abure, or, at any rite to eome share, of the goverament of thelr mative cematry, from which they had been excluded for tivo genera. tions. But on the paming of the Emancipntlon Act not a mogle Catholic was admitted to an ofice of muthority, freat or amall. The dowr was opened, lndeed, but not a coul was permit. ted to pase in. There wrere murmury of dlwon. tent, and the clave who atll enjoyed all the past. ronage of the stute, the Church, the army they magiatracy, and the puhlle service, denanilet if there was any twe la attempting to conciliate a people no lutructable and unreasonahie? The Catholic Anowiation, which had won the vic cory, was rewarded for its publle aplrit by being diemoived by Act of I'arliament. Ite ledier, who had luve etected to the lloume of Commons. had hin tection declared vold by a phrame In porten late the Fimancipation Act for thia speclai purpose. The forry shlilling freeholders, whome courage und mammalmity had mado the cause irrealathe, we.e Imatedlately deprived of the franchise. By nuenas of a high qualincatlou and an ingenlously compilentel systern of regis ory. the electore in twelve conntles were fivlacerd from ouparis of 100,000 to deas than $10,(M W)$. Engllabincn cannot comprehead our dlamatimime tlon.

Emanclpation was speedlly followed] ly a lueform of the llouse of Comimons, In Englund a swouplng and Ealutary change wns made louh In the frunchlse, and fu the dintribu. tion of sents; lut Ireland did not olveain clther the number of representatlves alie was demon struhly entlterd to hy jopulation and resources. or such a reduction of the franchlee as had beetn cunceded to Enghand. The Whigm were in power, and Ireland was welldispinal to the party. . . . But the lies of treatlng Ircland on perfectly equal terms, and giving ther the full advantage of the linlon whels had imen forced on ber, cllid not exlst in the mulud of a slingle atateaman of that eporh. After Emancipation and leform oconancll hal a tieree quarrel with the Whigs, durlag whicls be raisull the questron of Ireland's riahe to be governed exelusively by ber own Parliament. The perple respunded passlouately to bls appeal. Tlue party of J'rotestant Aseendancy hud demashed this Rep al +if the lonlou lufore Emancipathon. lust that the turbing event altered thelr perlley, and they Wheblede alf ald from O'Councl:. After a brice time be uhathlomed the experiment, fo mulastinte for lt an attrupt tor 'atain what was calimi 'justhe en Irelame.' In furtherance of this project he matle a compard with the Whips that the Irish l'arty under hise load should suppert them in parliathe ot. The Whige In return mude fairer appointmears ta judictal and other public cur ployments. restrained jury parkssg, and eathts. lished an tunsectarian syste in of patile eduction: but the matimal question was thrown hach for more thary a gencration. In 1840-1 o'Come il revived the question of liepeal. on the gromat that the Inion had wholly falked to wecontplish the end for whieb it was sald to be designed Instead of bringing It in ad prosperity, it leal hrought ber ruin. Tbe colai condition of tlo seuntry sianing the haifceulury, then druwing wa clofe wis, Indeed, withuut paralied in Europe. The whole population were dependest on agriculture. There were malnenla, but nome found in that misers cail 'paying (quantities' There was no manulacture excepl liwin, sml the rembunt of a woollen irade, slawly dylug nut before the pltiles competition of Yorkable. What the lalamal chlent proxiuced way foul; whleh wan exported to necher countries to cuabie the cultlvator to pay an imorilaste rent. Fir. elgn traveliers asw wlth amazement an luland pomenalng all the naturnl condltlons of a great commerte, a bare of commerce as If It lay is come byeway of the work where enterprsich had not yet penetrated.

The Ereat priprfletum Were two or tharee hu'idred - the heirs of the Undertakerm, for the mont part, and Absprites: the mass of the country was owned liy a couple of thotimand others, who Ilver) In spletilump, and even pmonition; and for thene the pravans ploughed, moved, tended, and reaped a harvest which ho never shared. Ifent, In ofter coms tries, nicans the marplua after the farmer has been lltberaliy pald for ble Ekill and lalwatr, if Ireland it meant the while pronluce of the woll except a potato-plt. 18 a farmer strove for mure, hil master knew how to brlag him to speedy subaulsalon. Ile condl carry away blo Impleneate of trade by the law of diatriss, of rob hlm of lifa sole purvult In life ly the lan of evletion. He could, aud luahirually dinl, mize the growing crop, the stoxls and pors in lis mis. prable cabla, the himiket that ahelec pot lifa chil dren, the cow that guve them unarishment There Werc just and humane landhorla, men who performed the ditleg whleh it if pribitio infrumed, and dad not exayserate $i$ shis, but they were a mall minority. . . Fu ines were fremaent, and cvery othor gear desslit. han kilitd berowd of peasants. For a huntreil and ofy Itazes Ix-forc, whower has deacriled the coodithon of Irelund - Eingillsh oflcial, forclgn vivitur: or Irish patrlut - deescribed a famlne more or les acuse sometlines the tortired serfa row ia loct enal jacyuerie agalnst the system: and then a cry of 'rebellion' wa ralse.l, and kisyland wa assured that these Intractable bariariana wete ugain (as the indictment aiways charged levs ing war against the Klog's majesty. There were indeed causes cnough for natiunal disafice. tlon, lut of these the poor persint knew nuthfing; he was contentlog for so imuth misrathe fixel as weuld save his chlldren frum ntarrative. There were sumbetimes harbarous agmatian nur. ders-murdern of agenta an: builitis chidet. but oceasiomaily of landlards. It woud be shaneful to forget that these surage crimes nete often the result of savuge prowamition. The country was naked of timber the cabins " the peasuntry were sepuallel suml infurustsul Mr. Carlyle reprove- I:mey phat lise prople. who wobld not perfufat the -ift upration of planting trees: and Mr. Frombe frowns uphe enttages whose naked walls are uever drapel by cllmhlage romes or Howerine ercepers, But hat much more chapuent is finet them rhetoric! The ant planted a tree lt tweane 'o - his own mp erty lout his mathele and the efidhlished fric ther of f arefif: has of the Irixh liondoris, whena tenant exhibited such sigas of prawperity garden. or a white waskel cabin. was to r: 148 smatestry by increasing bis rent. will naty plant or make improsements ther marlitiona, bar, I fancy, would philooophers It was cometimes marie a boakt in throe dayn that mulk. property, atation, and profer. dional aucewe distinguiafied the minority in Iro lood who were imperialiote and Protestanta. It was not an amazing phenomenon, that thome upon whom the iaw had bestowed, moanpoiy of raok, property, and station, for a hundred and ffty geans, ahinuld have atif! maintalned tite airantuge a dosen yeare after Emancipation. It WM a subject of sermfui reproach that the dintricts ininabited by Protestantu were peacefui and prosperous, while the Cathoiic diatriete were often pour and dieonderiy. There la no doubt of the facts: the contrast certainiy exinted. But the myatery dinappears when one comes to r . Itret that in Ihown and Antrim the Bquire regarded his tenaniry with an much aymputhy and conndence as a Aquire in Devon or busex, that thelr minn were trained to bear arms, and tought from the puijit and piatform that they belonged to a superior race, that alf the locil emphiymenta, paid out of tiee plabilic pure, were diaributed among them, that thry had certain well thexpentnod righta nver their hoidloga on Whlch oo landiond could safeiy trench, and that they met thelr masters, from time to time, in the frlendly, fuality of ari Orange icriece; winile in Tlpperary, the farmer was a tennat at will Whe derer saw his iandiond except when $\frac{1}{0}$. iof. lowed the baunde acruse his corn, or frown.en at tian from ther bunch; whowe rent could le mitsed. or his tenau $\psi$ to malnated at the pleasure of his master: Who on the smailest complalat, wiss carried befure a bench of mugintraten, where bie had no exprea lun, and little chan re, of justlere: and who wanted the essential stis ulus to thrlft ani Industry, the mecure enjogutent of hls carnlogs. Is ase off to this fonge chatiogue of dis. couragrurnts, there were two furts of bappy receiviug edurn tion in the Na whal Schoois under a aystem designed to a blisit reilglenis equality, and sutminlutered Catholle and Protestant Cominissinners Ans: the Tectotai movement was at its helght. Thousands were nence frum Frither Matires age uf totai ainatl. nence frum Father Mathew, a ing priest Thom the -ifes of haturs and the weidents of Portuns on med to quatify for the misislon of a Dolitical rei There whe the inning of Likutruant also. The Whags sent a lord Iteytrmant it hinf Secretary to Ireland who, ${ }^{-}$Her tirst tim. Tnce the faif of Limacrick, eated he bulk mition ratuals :
1 tu a-ts my lom miate

ic natlon as the ocini and e minorlty. The minortty ritstomed to makc and ad. cha $r_{n}$ bit di fion that they tive places of T: a ret. and Lord Muigrave and th Hitethonis as the shrecesors of Tyrcon and Nite in ine Interval, slnce Enianch. tiun, a fa Cntholica were elected to Parlis. It two Catbollc lawgers were ralsed to the in in sind smaller appolntments distributed fromg laymen. The exclasion of Catinlics from jurfits was restrained, and the practice of apry uting pnrtisans of too shamefui antecedcats to public functions was interrupted. . . It was under these circumstances that O'Conneli for the semal time summanat the Irish peopie lo deunanci ${ }^{3}$ hepeat of the Unlon."-Sir C. G. Dunty. A Sind © Eye liete of Irioh Hist, ree. ed., pp. 242-275
2-18

Alao in: laml E. Fitzmaurice and J. $R$ et. 1-2.-1L. M. Martio, Jreland before and aftor tho Unim.
A. Di ${ }^{1848-8848-O}$ Conaell's last agita-tion.-His trial, imprisonment and release. His death, -This "Young Ireland" Party and hand und went to Imfand, and devoterd himalt there to the wark nf organization. A anccomsion of monater merting were held alin ner the conn try, the far famesl one on Tara 11:ii being. no in crulithly anserted, attended by no leas than a quarter of a milifinn of propie. Over thls vant muititucie gaticreal together around him the magie tonns of tite great orntor's voice swept tri. unphantly, awakeuing anger, grief, pamion, de. ifgit, laughter, teara, at its own pieanare. They were antonlahing triumpho, but they were deariy trongitt. The position was, in furt, an Inopossible one to maintain long. O'('ontrell had carrived the whoie mass of the peopicie with him up to the very irink of the preeiplee, but how to bring them anfely and succeasfully down again wai more than cven he coulid accomplish. Iesistance he had always stemilly dienoulted, yet every ulay inis own worita seemelt to be bringing the fnevp. table monent of collision nearer and nearer. Ther crisis cnume on Ochober the sth. A meeting haif been summoned to moet at Clontarf, near Dublin. and on the afternoon of tite fih the Gov. ernmeut suddenly rame to the resofition of lasus. ing a proclanniting foriblelfing it to assemble. The risk wha a formidahie one for reaponasilie. men in r. Many of the people were airwody and rigeronis and only O'connelf's own rapid and rigormis measures in sendlug out In ait dircethas to intercept them hiuderid the actuai prortat: bent. By a flubiln jury he wna found gullty. sentencerl th (wo yars imprisonment, atid conseyedi to prionn, stif en enestly eltrenthig the prople to rembin Ituiet, an order which they sirictify olveyent Ti ary lig whleh he had ineen consmbued wis known to lee strongiy blassed ag inst him, and an at pral himl been for Lords. So ayainst his sentence in the IIouse of Lords. So strong there, too, was the feelling aganssp O'Conneil. that llitle exprectation was enterta ned of it belng favoumbly received. Greatiy oo fos int ur, however, the gentence was reversed and he wis set free. . . . The enthuslasm abown at his releth was frantic and de10, inus. Fone the less thione momtiss In Rlecinoond It: win pruvel the death-kncll of his power. IIe Was an oid man by this time; he wos alteuly weakened in beaiti, and that hunyancy w has lht herto carried him over any and every obsiscle never again revived. Toung Ireland' party, the members of whin had in the first instance bren inls allles and lievtenants, had now formed a distinct section, and upon the vitai que stion of resintance wre in fierce hostifity to ail his most cherished princlilles. The state of the country, tho, preved vislifly upon his mind. By $1^{4} 46$ had begun that succession of dissstrous weason Which, by destroying the fecbie batricr Which stood between the peasant and a cruel death hrought about a natimet:-an the most terrible perhaps with whi? ? irnpe has been confronted This did not live to see the wb hlmself the lncarnation of the people - felt acutely. Deep despondeney took hold of him. He retired, to a great degree, from public life, leaving the conduct of his organizatlon in the hands of others. In $184^{7}$ be resolved to leave Ireland, and to end his days In Rome. IIls last publle appearnnee was $\ln$ the llouse of Commons, where au attentlve and deeply respectul audlence lung upon the fatiering ani barcly artleulate accents which fell from his llps. In a few deeply moving worls he appealed for akd and sympathy for his suffering countrymen, and left the llouse.

IRELAND, 1841-1848. Yowng Ireland. IRELAND, 1841-1848.

The camp and counell chamber of the ' Young lreland 'party was the ellitor's romm of 'The Nation ' newspajer. There It found Its Inspiration, and there its plans were matured - so far, that is, as they can be sald to have theen ever matured. For an eminently readable and all things consldered a wonderfulty lm partlal uccount of thls movement, the reader cannot do better than consult Sir Charles Gavan Dufy's 'Four Yesrs of Irlsh llthetory,' whleh has the limmense adrantage of belng blstory taken at first hand, written that is by one who himself took a prominent part ln the acenes which he descrilines. The mest Interesting Higure in the party had, however, died be fore those memonible four years began. Thomas Davis, who wins only thirty at the tlme of his death $\ln 1845$, was a man of large glfts, nay, might falrly be callet a mun of geulus. .. The whole movement in fset was, In the first lnstance, a literary quite as much as a political one. Nearly all who took part $\ln$ lt -Gavan Dufy, John Mltehell, Dleagher, Dlllon, Davis himself - were very goung men, many fresh from coliage, all filled with zess for the canse of liberty snd matlonality. The graver side of the movement only showed liself when the struggle with O'Connell began. At first $n$ lidea of deprosing, or even merlously opposing the great leader sexems to have been intended. The attempt on O'Counell's part to carry a forimal deelaratlon against the employment under any elrcumstances of physlcal force was the oriyin of that dlvision. and what the younger splrits consldered 'truckling to the Whigs ' helped to when the breach. When, too, OConnell had parthally retred lnto the background, hils phece was fillerl by his son, John OConnell, the - flead concllator, between whom and the 'Young Irelanders' there waged a tierce war, wheh $\ln$ the end leal to the ladignant withilrawal of the latter from the Repeal connell. Before matters reached this polut, the younger camp had been strength. ened by the adheslon of smlth O'Brien, who. though not a man of mueh intellectual callibre, carried aus little welght ln Ireland. . . . Early ln Janmary, 1847, OConnell left on that journey of his which was never completed, and by the mlddle of May lreland was sindernly startled by the news that her great leader was dead. The effere of his desth was to proviuce a sudken sul lmuense reaction. A vast revulsion of love and reverence sprang up all over the conntry; un Immense sense of his lncomparahle servleces, and with it a veheument anger against all who hat opposel him. L'pen the ' Young Ireland 'party, as was luevitable, the welght of that anger fell chletiy, anil from the moment of DConncll's death whatever clalm they had to eall themselves a natonal party vanished utterly. The men 'whokilled the lilserator' could never agaln hope to carry with them the sulfrages of any number of their countrymen. This contumely, to a great degree undeserved, naturally reactell upen great degree unaeserved, naturally reactenl upen
the suljects of 1 . The taunt of treselhery and Ingratitude flung at them wherever they wens stung and nettled. In the genemil racition of gratitude and affeetion for U'Comell, lis and John succeeved casily to the positlon of leader The older members of the luphol Aswniation thereupon rallied about him, and the split be tween them and the younger men grew derper and wher. A wilh, lmpractlcable visinuary uor came to play a part in the movenuent. it de. formed nilsunthrope, eathed Jumes lathr, en dowed wilth a consticrable commund of vague. passlonate rhetorle, begnn to write incritives to revolt In 'The Nathon.' These growing more and mure vholent wore hy the editor at length pruckutly suppressecl. The seed, however, had niremely sown liself in nother mind. Juhn Mitchill ls descriled by Mr. Justh Mercerthy a ' The one formidable man minongst the nillits of '4s; the one man who distlnetly kiew what be wanted, and wins prepared to run nuy risk to get lt.'. To hin It was Intuleralile that any human belug should lee willing to got further and to dare more In the emise of Irehand than him solf. and the result whe that after :cw hile he broke uway from his comuection whith 'The la thon.' und starterl a new organ nuler the nance of 'The l'uhted Irishmen,' one definitely phatyed from the first to the polley of nethon. Fromithis polnt matters gathered speenlity to a hrad Mitchell's newspaper proceeted to flink wot chal. lenge after ehallenge to the Government, caling upon the prople to gather and to "swerp thia Island clear of the Euglish mame and nation. For some months these challenges remashayd un answerel. It was now, however, "tw' and nearly sll Europe was In revohntion. The pe.
 uml a Blli waking all written lucitement of to: surrection telony was hurrlerl through the llonse of Commons, and almost Immedintely after Mhehell was arrested. Ein then he sems to have belleved that the comitry would rise to liberate hlm. The conntry, howe wer, showel bo dlapposition to do nnythligg of the sirt. Ile ws tried $\ln$ Dublin, found guilty, sentencerl io fiver teen years trampportathon, and a few dars after wards put on hourd a vessel In the harinute adod conveyed to Spike lsland, whence he was kepto Berminda, and the following April in a cwaria ressel to the Cape, amd thailly to Tasmania The other 'Young Irelanders,' situry apparndry hy their own previours Innetton, therrapan mashed frantleally into rebellion. The lead to - inith Ollien, Mcagher. Diflon, and wheren-not: abont the country holding ruvlews of ' (imfirder: ates,' as they now ented themselver, a proned. Ing whlch enneed the Government to surpend the llakeas Corpus Act, aul to issue a warant for thelr arrost. A few more gathr riggs tuek place in thfferent purts of the countrg, a fow more lueffectual atiempts were masle to ladure the preple to rlae, one very small collision with the police occurrel, and then the whole thing Was over. All the fendery ha the crume of a few days were arnested and suth C'Brien and Mengher were sentenced to diath, a senteme wheh was speedily changell Intos transportation Gavan Duffy was arrested anil severcal thees tried his prusecution was abmadoned. The 'Youag achery sid lhey wens raction of Il, lis ma of leader. Sminilatiog aplit but ew deyper minary tom tt. ide 1.ullor, en: of rague. ratisen $w$ ling noore at length - Ver, had if. Jubn Cirrthy a nimlis of flint be isk to get that say ither sad han him. While be - The Sis. - minte of Prulyed From this a lewal out chat t. calling xetp thin antion Uueri un The ne evilent int of ln he llouse Iy afte 1 rise to Ireland' movement, however, was deal, and never agnin revived."-E. Lawiess, The Story of Ineland, ch. 55-56.

Also in: SIr C. G Nuffy, Foung Irehind.The amme, Pbur Tear of Iriah IIitl., 1845-1849. -The same, Thomas Davis: Memoirs of an Irish Patriot, 1840-1846.
A. D. 1843-1848.-The Devon Commisulon. -The Encumbered Estates Act.-In 1843 , Mr. Sharman Crawford "succeeded In obtalning the appolntment of a Royal Commission to Inrestlgate the 'occupatlon of Land In Ireland.' Thls Commlasion, known from lts chalrman, Lant inevon, ns the Devon Commlsslon, marks a great equilh in the Irish land questlon. The Commasioners, In thelr Report, brought out atrongly tile facts that great misery existed In Ireiand, and that the cause of the misery was the aystem of laml temure. The following extract from the leport indleates the general nature of lis coarlinslous: A reference to the evidence of most of the witnesses will show that the agricultaral lalminer of Ireland contlmnen to suffer the greatest privations aud luardshlps; that he conthuess in depend upons casual and precurious employment for sulbisivtence: that he ls bailly housent, badly feal, landly elotlied, and badly pald for hils inlwur. Our personnl experience and observations during our enuplry have afforled us a meiaurholy contirinatlon of these statements, and we cannot forbear expressing our strong sense of the patlent endurance which the labour ing classes liave generally eablbited under sul foringa groater, we lellere, than the people of any othr comntry In Europe have to sustaln.' And the rumety for the erillis to be found, continues the lepmirt, In 'an Increased and improveel cultivnthon of the soll,' to be galnefl hy securing for tiwe temant 'fulr remuneration for the outlay of hls ctultal and labour.' No sooner was thifs Report iswued thinn great mumbers of pettions were presenterl to the 1Ionse of Larils, and supported by horil Ikevon. priying for legisintlve refurm of the land evile; anil In June, 1843, a bill win iutrolnerel linto the llouse of Larris by Lnril stanles, on belinif of the government of AIr lankert Perel, for 'the purpose of prowiting mapenasatlon to tenants in Ireland, in cortain cases, on leing dispussessed of thelr holillugs for such limprovements as they may have made during thelr tenancy.' By the aelifish opposition of the trixh lanillorils this blll was thrown out. Two dnys after Its rejection In the IIonse of Laris Mr. Sharman Craw ford brought Into the lomse of Commons a Tenant Rlght Bill, and m.t with is little auccess. In 1846 a government bill was intruluced, bearing a st rong risemblance to that of larel Stanley; hut the milnistry was orerthrown, and the blll was dropped. A Liberal ministry under Lorl John Russell came Into pumer in Jnly, 1846, andl Irish hopes agaln logan to tise. In 1847 the Indefutlgable Mr. Crawfori bruught $\ln$ a hill, whose purpmee was to extenil the lister custom to the whole of Ireland; It was uruwa nut. A well-meant but in the end unsucerssful attempt to relleve the hurlens of embsrrassed landloris whthout redresslng the grievances of rack-rented tenants, was made in $1843+\cdots$ the measure well known as the Encumbered Estates Act. Thls Act hal for Its object to ruatnre cepiltal to the innd; hat wheth capital It hrought in a clase of proprietom who lacked the virturs as well as the vices of their predeces. sors, and were even more oppressive to the ten-antry."-E. Thurstield, England and Irelank ch. 10.

Also in: II. L. Jeplison, Notes on Irioh Ques. tiona, ch. 15.-D. B. Klog, The Iriah Question, ch. 9.
A. D. 1844.-The Maynooth Grant.-To. Waris the cluse of the sesslon of Parllnment la 1844, Sir Robert Prel undertink a measure "rlealling whth hglier educatlon In Irclant. Means were to be found, In some way for the educallon of the upper classes of the Irish, aul for the more cticlent educatlon of candldates for the Iloman Catholle priest hood. Some provislon already existel for the ellucation of the lrish people. Trinlty © iollege, with lis consliderable endowments, afforiel opportualtles to wealthy Irish. The Natlonal Board, whlch Stanley ladillistltu. ted, had under lts control 3,153 schools, and 395.000 scholars. But Trinlty College retalned most of lis alvantages for the lenefit oi lts Protestant stuleura, and the 385, (0)0 scholars, Whom the Natlomal bexirl was ellucating, dld not, after all, Incluile one person in every twenty allve In Ireland. The loman Catholie. since 1798, had been allowed to gradunte at Trinlty; but he could lonled uelther scholarship nor profes. sorshlp. . . Shame steps had, Indeed, been taken for the edncation of the LRoman Catholle priesthoonl. In 1Gut, Nitawillian hal proposed, and his successor, Camden. had apprivent, the appropriatlou of an cumal smm of mone $y$ to a college formed at Maynooth fir the ellucation of Rhoman Catholle prrests. The Irish purllament had readly sanctloned the schetne; the payment of the gront had beed eontimell, after the Cinlon, by the Parliament of the Cinitell Kingilom, und, though the sums voteal limd leeen reducel to £9,000 a yenr $\ln 18, ;$, this musunt had been theuceforwari regularly allutted to Maynooth. In some respects the graut was actually dlastdvantugerns to the college; it was too small to munintain the Instltutim: it was large enongh to discourage volmanty contributhons. The surroumlings of the college were spluald; Its professors were wretchedly pald: It was even 1 m pussllile to assigu to earil of the 440 students a Reparite rman; It was dulberl by Macaulay In a tacimerithle spreech, in 'malserible Dothelwys' Ilall.' and It was I'eel's dilliberute oplnlon thint the ahsolute withirawal of the grant would he better than the continuance of the niggarily allowance." The Government "asked Farllament to vote a sum of 230,000 to lmprove the bulldings at Mayuonth; it propesed that the Braril of Works shoould in fulure be responslble for keeplag them In repalr: It suggested that tho salaries of professons slioulig lee more than doublerl; that the pooltion of the stulents alnould be lenproved; that the annuail grant should tro rulsel from almut $\mathbf{E g} 0.0 \mathrm{OH}$ to almut $£ 28,003$, ant that this sum. lusteal of loelng subject to the approval of the leglisiature once a year, shonld be placed out the Consollitated Fund. Then arose a series of dehates whlelt have no parallel In the hlstory of the British Parllament.
'The Orangeman ruiser his howl,' sald Macaulay ' and Exeter IIall sets up Its hray, and Mr. Mar Nelle is horrifiel to think that a stlll larger grant Is Intencled for the pricats of Baal at the :athe of Jezebel, and the P'rotestant operatlves of Iniblln cali for the Impeachment of Ministers in exceedlagly bad Englah.' A few yeara later a man, who was both a Christian and a gentleman, declared the Irish famine to be a diapensation of Providence in return for the Maynonth grant Night after night It rained petlitons; 298 pecitlons against the bill were premented on the Srd of April, when Peei explained hls scheme; 148 on the 8 th: 254 on the 9 th; 552 on the 10th; 2,262 on the 11 th, when the bili was put down for a second reading: 682 on the $14 \mathrm{~h} ; 581$ on the 15th; 420 on the 10th; 835 on the 17th; 371 on the 18 th . The petitions hardiy aliowed a douht to remain as to the opinion of the country. Peel, indeed, was again exposel to the fuil force of the strongeat power whlch any British Mlnister can encounter. The Mussulman, driven to his last defence. raises the standard of the Prophet, and proclaims a holy war. But the Englishman, if "roteatantism be in danger, shouts, No Poperyl' and creates equal enthuslasm.

Yet, vast as was the storm whieh the Mih. ister had provoked, the lesues which he had directly ralsed were of the smaliest proportions. IIardly anyone ventured to propose that the original vote to Maynooth should be withdrawn. A grant. Indeed. which had been sanctioned hy George III., whieh had been fixed by Perceval which had been voted ln an unneformed Parlla: ment, almost without debate, and which hal been continued for fifty years, could not be with. drawn. Pecl's opponents, therefore, were compelled to argue that there was no harm in sacritieing ty,000 a year to Bani, but that a saerifice of $£ 26,000$ was full of harm.

They debatel the second reading of the hili for six nights, the third reading for three nights, and they seized other opportunities for protractiug the discusslon. Even the larris porgot thetr custumary hahits and sat up tilt a hite hour on three succes. sive evenings to discuss an amendment for Inquiring Into the class of beooks usell at Msy. nooth. But this nnusual display of zeal proved useless. A majority in both Houses steadily supporteri the Minister, and zealous Protestants and oid fashloned Tories were unabie to defeat a scheme which was proposei by Peel and supported by lusseli."-S. Walpoie, Hist. of Eng. from 1815, ch. 10 (r. 4).
Almo IN: II. Martineau, Hist. of the Th.. ty Teara' Itace, bk. 6, ch. 8 .
A, D. $1845-1847$. The Famine.-" In 1841 the propuiation of Ircliand was 8,175,124 souls. By 1845 it had prohably reached to nearly nine milifions. . . To any one looking beneath the surface the condition of the country was painfuily preearious. Nine milllons of a population living at lest in a light-hearted and laopeful hand to mouth contentment, totally depenient on the hazarls of one erop, dextitute of manufacturing industries, and utterly withont reserve or resurce to full tmak upon in time of reverse. what dld ail this mean hot a state of things eritical and alarning in the extreme? Yet no one servened cuasclous of dianger. The potato erop liad Ineen abundant for four or five years, and resple from dearth ant distress was comparatlve hajpiuess and prusperity. Moreover, the temperuice novement [of Father Mathew] hai come to nuke the 'guod times' stili better. Everything linikell bright. No one concerned himself to dikiver how slender and treacherous Wat the foundatlon for this genern! hopafulncess and confitenee. Yet sigas of the culalug slums had been given. Partiai famine caused hy

failing harreets had indeed been Intermittent io

 Ireland, and, quite recently, warnings that ough not to have been mlataken or neglected lind given notice that the eaculent which formed the sole dependence of the peasant millions was subject to some mysterious hilght. In 1844 it wa stricken in America, hut In Ireland the yield wa healthy and plentliful as ever. The harvest of 1845 promised to be the richent gatheresi for many years. Suddenly, In one short month, is one week it might be said, the withering breath of a slmoom seemed to sweep the lard, blatilig ail In its path. I myself saw whole tracts of pots to growth changed la one ni ght from snilling luxuriance to a shrivelied and hlaekencif waste. A shout of alarm arose. But the buoysnt nature. of the Ceitic peasant did not yet give way. The crop was 80 profuse that it was expected the healchy portion would reach an average result Winter reveaied the alarming fact that the tubern had rotted ln pit and sture-house. Neverthelem the farmers, like hapless men who dowble thei stakes to recover losses, made only the unore strenuous exertions to till a larger breadith in 1846. Aithough airealy feeling the plinch of sore diatress, if not actual famine, they worked as if for dear ilfe; they begged and borrowed on any terms the means whereby to crop the iand once nore. The pawn-offices were ehokeif with the humble finery that had shone at the village dunce or the elaristeuing feast; the banks and lincal money-leniers were besleged with ajpreals for eredit Meals were stinted, backs were bsred. Anything, anything to tide over the interval to the harvest of Fo:ty-six.' 0 God, it is a dread. fui thought that all tinis effort was lint more surely ieading them to ruln! It wus this harvest of Forty-six that scaled their doom Xit par. tially but completely, utteriy, hopelesaly, is perished. As in the prevlous year, all promised brightly up to the close of July. Than, sud denls, in a night, whole areas were blighterl and this time, alas! no portion of the crip es: caped. A cry of agony and despmir wiut up ali over the land. The last desperate stake for life had been played, and ali was lost. The dowmed peopie realised hut ton well what wav lefore them. Last year's premonltory sufferings had exhausted them, and now i-they must die! My native district figurea largely In the glowimy recont of that dreadfi: 'me. I saw the lionrible phantasmagoria - wo d God it were but that - pass before my eyes. Biank stoli, dismar, sort of stmpor, fell upon the people, contrasting remarkably with the ficree energy put forth: year before. It was no uncomaion sight tusect the eottier and his little family smaticl in the garien fence gazing all day iong la moxuly silimen at the blighteri piot that had $\ln +\mathrm{a}$ thrif last hope. Nothing could arouse thetu. fou apoke; they answereil mot. You tried to cheer them; they shome their hemis. I nevir shw so sudden and so terribie a transformation. When first In the autumn of 1845 the partinl blizht ap. peared, wlse voices were raiserl in warning to the Governnient that a frightful conastruphe was at hand; yet even then began tiat fasal cir. cumbocution and inaptness whieli It madleas one to think of. It would be utter injustlee io deny that the Gorernment made exertions whick judged by ordinary emergenciea would be prompt and constdurable. But judged by the awful magnitude of the ovil then at hand orsctually befallen, they were fatallg tardy and In adequate. When at length the executive dld hurry, the blenders of precipltacy outdld the dis. astern ef excenal ve deliberatlon. . . . In October 1345 the Irtah Manslon House Rellef Committee Impiored the Government to call Parliament 10 gether and throw open the porta. The Govern. ment refused. Again and agaln the terrible urgency of the case, the magnitude of the disaster it hand, was preased on the executive. It was the olstiante refusal of Lord John Russell to listen to thise remonstrances and entreatles, and the sad seriticatlon subsequently of these spprehenslons, tinat imphanted In the Irish mind the hitter memories which atill occasionally find vent ln passlonate accusatien of 'England.' Not hut the Government harl many and welghty argumenta In bebalf of the course titey took.

The sltuatlon bristled with ilithcuitles.

At first the eatah. lishment of puhllc soup-kitchens under local relief commlttees, subsidised by Government, was relied upon to arrest the famlne. I doubt if the world ever saw so huge a demorallsation, so great a degradation, vlsited upon a once hlghspirited and sensltive people. All over the country isrge iron bollers were set up, In whleh what Fas calied 'soup' was concocted; later on In. dian-mend stirabout was bolied. Around these boilics ou the roalside there dally momed and shiriked and fougltt and scuffed erowds of gannt, calaverous ereatures that once had been men and women made in tho lmage of Gol. The feedlug of dogs In a kennel was far more derent and onleriy.

I frequently stood and Watched the scene till tears blinded me and I slmust choked with grief and passlon. . . . The conduct of the Irish landiords timpougiout tite fauine perlox] has been variously described, and has been, I belleve, generaily condemnet. I consiler the cronsure vasited on them ton sweeping.

On many of them no hlame too heavy couli pasailiy faii. A large number were permanunt absealees; their ranks were swelled by several who early fled the post of cluty at home - cow. ardy and seitish deserters of a braveand faithfui peopite. Of those who remainerl, somomay lave krown calious; it is Impossilile to contest au:thrutic instances of hrutal heartlessness inere annl there. llut. . . tine overwheiming bainnce Is the other way. The hulk of the resident lrisi lanilords manfully d/d thelr best In that dread hoar. . . . In the autumn of 1846 rellef works were set on foot, the Government having received parlimmentary autiority to grant baroulal loans for such underskings. There might have been foand nuny ways of applylng these funds In reprokartive employment, lut the modes decibled on were dralalng and road makling. . . . Tire pesult wis In every sense depiomble faliure The wretcind perple were hy this tlme too wasted and rmaeinted to work. Tlee enteavour to do so unier an Inciement winter sky oniy hawond death. They tottered at day-hreak to the ruil culi; vainiy tried to wheel the barrow or ily the pick, bit falnted away on the 'euttlng, or lay down on the wayslide to rise no more. Ai for the rombls on whith so much money was wam(a), aul on waleh so many lives were sacri. fireal, hardiy any of them were finished. Miles of grass. grown eartiaworks throughout the county for pasterity one of tire gigantle blunders of the fanime thme. The frat remarkabie slga of the havoc whlch death was making wa the decline and disappearance of funerals. Soon, alas nelther coffin nor shroud could be supplied Dally In the street and on the footway some poor creature lay dow: 3 if to sleep, and pres ently was stif and stark. In our district lt was a common occurrence to find, on opening the front door ln early morning, leaning against it, the corpse of some vletim who In the night-time Lad' rested 'In lts shelter. We raised a pubile subscriptlon, and employed two men with horse and cart to gosround each day and gather up the dead. One by one they were taken to a great pitat Ardnalirahair Ahbey and dropped tirough the hlnced bottom of a 'irap-coffin'snto a com mon grave below. In the remoter rural distriets even thls rude sepulture was lmpossiblc. In the fleld and by the dlichshle tire vletlms lay as they feil, tlll some charitahle hand was found to cover them with the adjacent soil. It was the fever which supervened on the famine that wrought the greatest slaughter and spread the greatest terror. . . To come withln the reach of thls contagion was certaln death. Whoie famllies perished unvislted and unassisted. By levelling above thelr corpses the sheeling In Whleh they died, the neighbours gave them a grave."-A. Il. Sullivan, New Irelind, ch. 6. "In July 1847 qs many as three mlifions of persons were actuaily receiving separate ratlons. $\Lambda$ loan of $£ 8,000,000$ wis contracted by the Governnuent, expressly to supply such wants, and every step was taken ky two successive administratlons, Sir Robert Pecl's and Lord John Russeli's, to ailevlate the sufferings of the peopie. Nor was private benevolence laeking. Tire suciety of Friends, always realy in arts of charity and love, was foremost in the gikmi work. A British Assochatlon was formed for the relicef of Ireland lucluding Jones IJoyd (lard Overstume), Thomas Baring, and Baron lRotischili. A Queen' letter was lssued. . . . Subscriptions were re ecived from aimost every guarter of the world. The Queen's letter aione produced elol,533. The British Assuchaton coliected $£ 203,000$; the Society of Friends $£ 41,000$; and $£ 180,000$ mure were entrustem to the Dubin Suciety of Friemes. The Suitan of Turher sent til, 000 . The Queen gave $£^{2}, 000$, and Lixh more to the $^{2}$ Iritish Ladlies' Ciothing Fund. Prince Albert gave £500. Tlie National Chib collecter $\mathrm{E} 17,930$ America sent two ships of war, the 'Jamestown' and the 'Macedonian.' fuil of provisions; and the Irisí resldente ln the U'nited States seut upwards of 5200,000 to their relatives, to aliow them to enigrate."-L. Leचl, Misf. of Britinh. Commerce, pf. 4. ch. 4.-"By the end of 1847 cheap supplle of foxl legan to be hrougint into the country by the onlinary operatlon of the laws of supply and drmand, at far cheaper rates, owing to an abundant harvest ahroal, than if the Government Ind tri 4 th constitute Itseif the sole distrinutor. The potato harvest of 184\%, If not bountlful, Was at leant comparatlvely good. ...By Mareh, 1848, the thiml and last period of the famine may be sald to have termantei. But, thougir the dlrect perion] of distress wus over, the ecouonnic problems which remained for solution were of werwhelming magnitude.

A million and a balf of the peopie hat disepprentert. The live was devastated wlith fever and thediseases with dog the staps of famluc. . . . The waters of the great deep were indeed going down, hut the Iand Fas seen to be without form and rol.j. "Lorl E. Fitzmaurice and J. IR. Thurnfleid, it. 4 of Tiro Centuries of Irinh Hist., eh. 4. - "Tlıe famine and plague of $1846-47$ was accompanieni, and succeeded, hy a wholesale clearance of cou. gested districts and by cruel evletions. The new landionds [who had acquired property under the Encumberel Fistates Act], bent on consuli. datlog their property, turned out their tenants by regiments, and in the autumn of 1847 eurrmous numbers were deported. It is absoluteiy Decesany to bear this atrictiy in mind, if we necrasary to bear the intise of the intense liatrul which pre.

would vails amongst the Irish in America to Grent Britain. The chilioren of many of those who were exlief then have raised themsciver to prof. tions of athucuce and prosperity in the CDiteri States. But they have often lieari from their fathers, and some of them may jerhnpis recali, the cirenmstances uncier which they wirte driven from their old homes in Ireiand. . . . But there Is a further and awfui memory conneeted with that time. The peopie who had inven sulfering from fever carried the plague with them on boand, and the reasels sometimes lecame foating eharnel.houses. Iuring the ycur 184\%, out of 106.000 emigrants who crused the Athatic for Canala and New Irunswick, 6, 100 perisied on the ocean, 4,100 immelliately on innuliug. 5,900 subsequentiy in the hospitals, and $1,9 \times 0$ In the towus to wilch they repairedi. ... Unioubtediy.
historicni cireumstances inve . . . hail much to do with the pollical inatredi to Great Ilritain; hnt its newiy acquired lnteusity is owing to the atili frusl remembranees of whint took piace after the famine, anif to the fact that the wholesate clearances of Irish estates were, to say the lenst. not disconrogedi in the writings nnd apeerhes of English faw rivers, monomists aud sutesmen English iaw rivers, monomists aui shatesmen." - Sir H. ihconcrhansett. Irchend ("Reign of bin), - $"$ The deaths from fuver in the year 1846 wore $1 \% .145$, in the following year if.omo. to winh $2 \begin{gathered}\text { wim } \\ \text { by dyantery must le adido. "- }\end{gathered}$ J. $\mathbf{F}^{2}$. 13right. Mint. of Eng., perioul 4, 1,164 .-
 siver the almost incredihie number of wer one milion Iriwh-man. womev, and chilirenwere convipui in cmigrant ships to America a whole poimation. In $181^{\circ}, 215,44$ cmigroteri; in 1849, $218,84 \%$, and in 1851. 240, $221 . .=-11$ I. pepmlation of Ireiand by March 30 , $1 \times 5 \mathrm{~A}$, at the sinme ratio of increase is heli ln Euglind and Wales, would have lmen 9.n18, \%90-it was 6, "مS2.bx.). It was the culculation of the C'cnsus Commissioners that the dictleit, indergundentiy of the conigration, representeri lig the mortality in the five fanine years, was 085,36n, "- T. T". O'Connor. The Pirnill Jourment, p. 12\%.

A. D. 1846.-Defeat of Peel's Coercion Bill.

 See E.vin, ant: A. I). 1846.A. D. 1848 - 1852 . - Tepant organizations, The Uister Tenant Right. - The Tenant League.-"The fanine... and the cirithons that followed it made the peopie mure disentutented than erirwith the iand system. The Democrntic Aswocintion, organized abont this time, adopted as its railying ery, the fand fir the people.: This axsociation, whose alums are said to liave bren fargely communistle and Dufty. ous Tenaint Protection Socleties were numer. ous Tenant Protection Bocieties were formed throughout the country, the Preshyterhang of Uister taking quite as active a part as the ' illic Chathollcs of the other provinces. In llay, Nico, the Preshyterian Synod of Ulater . . . resivlved, against the proteat, it is true, of tise nuore connervative men, to petition Parilament to extend to the rest of Ireland the beneftes of rights and securities slmilar to those of the Uister rustom.

The Ulater tenant right . has rromplea an important piace in the Irish land question for a long time. . . Tie right differs much on dif. a long time. . The right differs nuch on different estates. On no two dor's it serin to be precisely the anme. It ls therefore not a right capahie of being strictly definet. Nior difit it huve any legal sanetion untif the year 1 "n. The lnw didi not recognize it. One of its i, ul inci. dents was that the tranat was entitled tol live on lils farm from year to year Indetinitcly ur cundition of aeting properly, and paying his n-at, which the iandlard might ruise from time to time to a rusonahe extent, hut not so as toes. tinguish the telnat's interest. In the sucomid plice, if the triant got in deht, and could not pay the rent. or wished for any other reason to leave the holding, he conlil moil his intenst, but the fandilord had a right to be consintical, and conid object to the pirchaser. In the thiml pince, the inndloni, If he wanted to take the lanci for his own purjeres, mist pay the tenant a fair sum for his temant-right. In the fourth piace, ail arrenm of reut must be palif before the lutereat was transferrei. These are smid to be universal claracteristics of every L'luter tenantright custoni. Thrre were offern nditionml restrictions or provisions, usmally in limiation of the tevant's rifght to seil, or of thu lianilonis right to raise the rent, veto the sulle of fandi, or take it for his own use. There wire commentr establishad usages in reference to A viug a far rent. Valuators were geuerally empluyeri, and on their estimates, and not on competinion in mpen on their estimates, and not on cominetition in ppen markct, the rent was fixci.

The lrish Tenginst $10.10 j 0$, in Huhting. Among the resilutions athpleq], was one, cailing for a fair valuntion of rent butwerd one, cailing for 'a fair valuntion of rant betwrea inndiord and tenant in Irelami,' ami another. - that the tenant shoulif not be distarlnal in bis tion of arrears rextivedi a grint de:al of attention. The great majority of the temamts of freland Werce In arrears, on ing to the shecravive failures of the crons, and were of courme hiable to eric. tion.

The Trinant Iamgue was an very pop. "liar ous and sipromi throgithont the vimitr. There was mush agitation, and in the generil elcchlon in 185:, when the excitconent wats at its to Parlianient. The Tennit Leagat me:nher in oppusition to all governmeuts which do ant nakie it a part of their poilcy 'togive the terants a measure of reilef such as the langue dowiral. bitance of thaner nuli be party woulif hohi the bilance of juster and be ahle io secinre the obJects. Whel however Sadlier andi Kungh, two of the most prominent mode in the party and mea of great influence, acceptedi pasitions in the gew goveruinent, 'hrited hy office,' it has always bena charget by the Irish, to leetray the caupe to which they had been most solemniy plellead," the party was broken up without accomplishing th purpose."-D. B. Klig, The Irish Queation, en. 5 and 0 .
Also in: SIr C. G. Duffy, Leagre of tho North and South-A. M. Sullivan, Nete Ireland, ch. 13. $\rightarrow$ J. Godkin, The Land W"ar in Ireland, eh. I7.
A. D. 1858-1867.-The Fenlan Movement. -"The Feninn movement differed from nearly all previous movements of the same klad in Ire. land, In the fact that it arose and grew into strength without the patronage or the help of any of those who might be ealled the natural leaders of the people. Its leaders were not men of high posttion, or distingulshell name, or proved ablilty. They were not of aristocratle birth; they were not orators; they were not powerful writers. It was not the impulse of the Imeriean Civil War that engendered Feninnism; although that war had great influence on the manner $\ln$ which Fenianlsm shaped its course. Fenlanlsm had been in existence, In fuet, although it had not got its peeullar name, long before the American War ereated a new raee of Irishmen - the Irish-American soldlers - to turn their energles and their military lnellnation to a new purpose. . . . The suspension of the Habeas Corpus Aet, in ennsequence of the 1848 movement, led, as a matter of course, to secret associstlon. Before the trials of the Irish leaders were well over in that year, a secret assoclation was formed hy a large number of young Irisisnien in eltles and towns. After two or thiree attempts to arrange for a simultancous rising hat fallied, or hat ended only in hittle abortive and lsolated ebulltions, the young men beeame dlscouraget. Sonne of the leaders went to France. ome to the U'nited States, some aetunlly to Eing. find; and the association melted away. sme years after this, the 'Phentx' elubs began to be formed in Ireland. They were for the most part assoclatlons of the peasant elass, and were on that acconnt, perhaps, the more formldable and carnest. The Phennes cluhs led tosome of the orillary prosecutlons and convletions: and that was nll. . After the Pharix associa: thus came the Fenlans. 'Thls is a serions husi. ness now, sald a elever Engulsh llurary man When be hend of the Fenian organlsation; 'the Irish have got holl of a goonl name thls time; the Fenians will last.' The Fenians are sidl to have been the anelent Irish militia. ... There was an uirof Celtie antiqulty and of mystery nlweut the name of Fenian which merited the artistie approval glven to it by the Impartlal Engilsh writer whose oliservation lias just been quoted. The Fenlan agltation began about 18.58 , and it came to perfection about the middle of the American Clvll War. It was ingeniously arrauged un a system hy which all authority conrerperl towarils one centre [ 1 the Head( + ntrel, and those farthest a 1 fom the reat of direction knew proportionat. less and less atwut the nature of the plans. Theg had to ohey Instruetions only, sund it was hoperl that hy this means weak or douhtfinl men would not have It in thelr power prematuseiy to revenl, to betray, or to thwart the purposes of thelr leaders. A ronventlon was held in America, and the Fenian Associatlon was resolved lnto a regular organised instltution. A provisionnl govera. ment was estsbllshed in the neighbotirhwer of Culon Square, New York, with all the array and the mechanlam of an aetual worklng alministratlona. . . The Civil War had Introduced a new figure to the world's atage. Thls was the IrichAmeriean soldier. . . . Many of these menthousauds of them - were as sincerely patriotle in thelr way as they were simple and brave. It is needless to say that they were fastened on In some Instances hy adventurers, who fomented the Feulian movement out of the merest andi the meanest self-seeklng. . Some were makling n living out of the organisation - out of thnt, anc apparently nothing clac. Tice montrihutlons given by poor lrish haek-drivers und servint girls, in the slnecre belief that they were helplng to man the ranks of an Irish army of lndependrace, enabled some of these self-appolnted leaders to wear fine elothes and to order expensive dinners. But in the maln it is only falr to say that the Fenlan movement in the Cnited States was got up, organlsed and manned hy ind falthfuly devotel to thelr cansed, unselfish, a whille thinges devoted to thelr canse. After a while things went so far that the Feninn leaders $\ln$ the l'nlted states issued an address, announelug thut their ofllecrs were going to Ireland to ralse an army there for the recovery of the enuntry's Indpeudence. Of course the Gov. ernment here were soon quite prepared to receive them; and indecel the antithoritles easily managed to keep themselves Informed by menns of spies of all that wes golng on in Irelind

MeanWhile the Ilead Centre of Feninnlsm in Amerien, Janoes Stephens, who had borne a part in the movement of 1849, arrived in Ireland. Ile was arrested , [and] eommitted to Rlelimond Prison. Duhlin, eurly in November, I&65; but Infore nany diy's hitl passall the country wus startley hy the news that he hal contriverl to make his escapr. The escape mus planned with sklll and daringe for a time li helped to strengthen the impresslon on the mlaif of the Irish persantry hat in stuphens there haul ar last been found an insurpent leader of adequate conrace, eraft, and goonl fortune. Stephens disappeirell for a moment from the stage. In the meantlme illsputes and dlssensions hud arlsen among the Fenians In Anierica. Tile sehism had gone so far as to lead to the selling up of two separate asseclations. There were of course dis. tracted plans. One party was for an invaslon of Camala: another pressed for operatlons In Ire. land livelf. The Canadlan attempt actunlly was made [ore Casada: A. D. I866-18:1].

Then Stepherny came to the front again. It whs only or n monent. Ile had returned to New York, and he how sunuoncel that he was determined to stike a blow in lrclant. Before long the ImPresemon the States to return to the scene of aetunlly left the States to return to the scene of hls proposedi insurrectlon. The Anıericum-Irish kept streaning aemoss the Atlantie, even In the storny Wluter months, in the tirm belie? that before the winter had passel away. or at the farthest whlle the spring was yet yoing, stephens would appear In Irciand nt the head of an insurgent army. . . Stephens did not reappear in Irclaud. IIe maile no attempt to keep hls warilke promise. Ile may ise sald to have disappeared from the history of Feninalsis. But the preparations had gone too far to he suddenly stopped. It was hastily deckleyl that something should be done. One venture was a mbelue for the eapture of Chester ('nstle [and the arms it contalned]. The Govirnneent were fuity lnformed of the plot in advance: the police were aetually on the look-out for the artival of atrangers in Chenter, and the enterprise melted away. In March, 1867, an attempt at a generai rolog was male in Ireland. It was a total fallure; the one thlug on whlch the country had to be congratuiated was that It failed so completely and to quickiy as to cause Iltie bloodshed. Every infuence combined to minlmise the waste of life. The now fell that spring as it had ecarcely ever fallen before in the soft, mild cllmate of Ireland. . It made the gorges of the mountalme untenahle, and the gorges of the mountains were to he the encamp. ments and the retreatis of the Fenlan Insurgents. The snow feli for many daya and nights, and When It ceased faliing the Insurrectlonary movemeut was over. The insurrectlon was literally burled In that unlooked for snow. There were some attarks on pollce barracks in various pincea - la Cork, In Kerry, in LImerick, in Tipperary, in Louth; there were some conflicts with the pollce; there wree eome alots fired, many captures maile, a few lives lost; and theti for the tlme at least all wias over. The Fenlan attempt thus made hadi not from the beginning a shalow of hope to cxcuse lt." Some months afterwands a daring rescuc of Fenlan prisoners nt Manchester stirnel up a fresit excitement in Fenlan clrcles. A policeman was kllled in the affalr, and three of the rescuers were hanged for hls murder. On the 18th of I lecember, 1867, an attempt was made to liow up the Clerkenweil ilouse of Detention, where two Fenlan prisouers were confined. "Six jerwons were kililed on the apot; about slx mure dleni from the effects of the Injuries they receifed: some 120 persons were wounded.
It is not necensary to follow out the steps of the Fealan movement any further. Tiure were many ispiatel attempts; there were many arreats, trials, imprisonments, banishments. The effert of all this, it must be stated as a nu.p hlstorical fact, was only to Increase the intenaity of dissatisfuction amí discontent among the Irish peasantry.

There wete mome pubile men who saw that the time hal come when mere reprosslon must no longer be relied upon as a cure for irivh discontent."-J. McCarthy, Mist. of Our Ouen Times, ch. 53 (r. 4).

Al.so iN: T. ${ }^{12}$. O'Connor, The Purnell Movement, ch. 7.-G. P. Maedioneil, Fenuiuniom, pt. 5 of Tim centurics of Iriak lliat., ch. 4.
A. D. 1868.-Parliamentary Reform. See Evilasid: A. 11. 1865-1864.
A. D. 1808-1870.-Disentablishment of the Irish Church.-Mr. Giadatone'a Land Biil. Sie Embiand: A. D. ineb-18\%).
A. D. $1870-1894$.-The land question and the recent land lawa. -" The reason for excep. thonal irglslation in Ireiand resteri chiefiy on the esmential differcnce between the lamillord and tenant systemes In Eingiand and in Ireland. In 1445 the ibevon Joyal Comniselon reported tiont the hitroiluction of the Engllsio syatem would be extremely illithoult. If not lmpracticable. The difference, it sald, int ween the Englisil and lrish ayatems 'consistel In thls, that in Ireland the Indlorll builds ueltier alwelling house nor farm oftiers, nor puts fences, gates, cte., into geod order lefore he iets hls iandi. In monst cases, whatever is done in the way of bullding or fencing is done hy the tenant; and, In the unlinary fan. guage of the country, honses, farm bullifings. and ceen the minhing of foreves are described by the generai woril "huproveoneuts," whlch la thus employed to denote the necemary adjuncts in a farm without which in England or Ncotlanil no tenant would be found to rent it.' Thlrty years later, John Bright summarized the matter by ayying that If the land of Ireland were atripped of the improvennents made upon It by the limiont of the occupier, the face of the country toulid be 'as bare and makel as an American pralrte. This fundamental diference bet ween the finghish and Irish land systems has never been fully appreciaterl in Engiand, where the laniliont's es penilture on hulidingn, fences, drainuge. fasm roals, ecte., and on malntenance aimorhy a large part of the rentai. lieform of the Irishs aystery began In 1870. Be fore that tlme littie liad leen done to protect the Irish tenant except to forth evictlons at nlght, on Christmas Day, of Gowd Frilay, and tive pulling off the rools of housy until the lumatce had ireen removel. The idind Art of 1870 recognizerl, In principle, the temants property in his improvements hy giving lima right to clalm compensation if disturteel ir evicted. Tila was not what the tenants wanted. viz., mecurity of tenure. The reaults of connp+a. sation sults by 'disturbed' tenants were' uncy. Laln ; compensatlon for improvements was lim. Iteri In various waya, nud the anlnus of the courts adminlstering the act was ellstinctis howtle to the tenants. Many works nereseary io the existence of teuants on smail farms were not Improvements in the eyes of the lanilunt. of te law, or of the juiges; it was often lamprasilise to ndiduce legal evidence of contly works done litile i) little, and at Intervais, representing the sar. lags of labor emixolled in dralnage, revlanathon, or fenciug. Bulldings and other works of s ou pertor ciaracter might be adjudgetl 'unsuith ble' to smali farms, and therefore not the suh ject of any compensation; moneover. It was expresaly laid down that the use and cujoyinen by the tenant of works effected winolly at his expense were to le accounted compremisution to hlm ioy the landiond, and that, therefore, by lapse of time, the tenant's Improvernents became the landlond's property. Tibe act of $1 s i l l$ tenled to make capriclons and heartless evicthns es pensive and therefore leas common: but it ware no security of tenure, and left the landionl still at llierty to ralse the runt of improving tenants. It left the tenant still in a state of dipleulence and servility; li gare inlm no security for his ex. jeinditure, for the landloris riglt to keep the Evint continualiy risung was frecly exerciend Fiven if the act had been illurally aiministervi, it would have falleyl to glverontintment, satisf tite demands of justlee, "IF eucruirage the" expenditure of capital by temant farmurs. Mexsure further reforms were rejectedi by parlinuwn he: TWeen 1870 and 1880, and dlscointent cutinued to increame.

The Lamel latw. Act of $|\leqslant|$ was hasetl on the Report in 1880 of the Iksolximutb Iloyai Commisslon, but many of the mumt useful suggestions made were dlarcgarded. This att purjorted to glve the 1 rish ypurly tenants il the sight to sell their tenancles and inprove ments; (2) the right to have a 'fuir' rent fixd ing the land courts at intervals of Aftern years. (3) merurity of tenure arlsing from this right so have the rent fixed by the court lusterad of by the landiont.

No definition of what conatiuted n fair rent was embodied In the met, but what in known as the Healy clause provided that 'mo nat ahall be allowed or made payable in respect of improvements made by a tenant or his predecumors.' . When the Iriah courts came to Interpret it, they held that the term ' improvemeals menat oniy that interest ln his improvements for which the tenant might have ohbsined compenation under the Land Act of 1870 it he bed been disturbed or orlcted, and that the time during which the teanant had had the use and en. joyment of his own expenditure was atilt to be cocounted compensation made to him by ble landlord, mo that by mere iapre of time the ten. ant's improvements became the fandlord's prop. erty. . In vew of the continually falling prices of agricultural produce and diminishing farm profti, the operation of the land laws has sot hrought about peace between landlorle and tenante. . In 1887 the Cowper Commiaslon reported that the 200,000 reats which hail been ared were too high in consequence of the continued foll in prices. As a result of the report ef this comminsion the finir-rent provisions of the law were extended to leaseholdera bolding for lea than sixty yenrs; but the courts stll! ed. bering to their furmer methols of interpretation, numbers of leaseliollers who had made and maintalned all the bulldings, improvements, and equipments of thelr farms found themsel ves elther excluded on norrow and technical polnts, or expressly rented on their own expendlure. in 1491 the tair-rent provislons were further ex. ceuded to leaseholders loolding for more than sixts years hy the Redemptlon of Rent Act, under which long leaechold tenanta could compel the:. Landlords either to sell to them, or allow a fair rent to be tixed on their farms. . . Con. curreutly with these attempts to place the rela. dions of lindilord and tenant on a peaceful nnd equitable basls, $\mathbf{n}$ aystem of State loans to enable teuaata to huy thelr farms has been in operation.

It is now proposed to have nn Inquiry by a wilet committee of the IIouse of Commons Into (1) the princlples ndopted in fixing fair rents, particularly with respect to tenants' Improveofrits; ( 2 ) the system of purchase and security offerel for the louns of puhlle money; (3) the organization and adminlstrative work of the Land Commission - a department which has cost the country about 8100,000 n year slnce 1881. The popular demand for inquiry nail reform comes as much from the Protestant North as frimn the Catholie South. "-The Nation, Feb, 15, 1594.
A. D. 1873-1879.-The Home Rule Move-meat.-Organization of the Land League. "For some years after the fallure of the Fenian insurection there was no political agitation in Irelaad; hut in 1888 a new notional movement began to makke fiself felt; this was the Ilome Hulc Movement. It had been grmlually formed duce 1870 by one or two feading Irishmen, who thought the thine was ripe for $n$ new conatituthonal effort; chlef among them was Mr. Isuac Butt, & Protcelant, na eninent lawfer, and nn earnest pollticlan. The movement apread rapidly, and urok $n$ tirm hold of the popular mind. After the General Election of 1874 , some sixty Irish Hembers were returned who had stool before therr constituencies as IIome Rulers. The IIome Rule demand la clear and simple enough; lt ant for Irejanil a separate Government, still nllited Which regulate the alliance bet on the principles Which regulate the alliance between the United States of America. The proposed Irlsh Parlial ment In College Green would bear Juat the same rclation to the Parliament at Westminuter that the Legislature and Sennte of orery American State bear to the head nuthority of the Congreas In the Capltol at Washington. Alf that relatet to loral huininess it was proposed to delegate to the Irlsh Aseemhly; all questions of imperial pollcy were stlll to be left to the Imperisl Gor. erament. There was nothing very startling. very daringly Innovating. In the scheune. In most of the deppadeucles of Great Britain. Ilome most of the deppadeucies of Grent Britain, Ilome liule syatema of some kiad were already established. In Cinarda, In the Austrelasian Colonles, the principle might be seen nt work upon n large seale; upon a sunnl! scule It was to be studled seale; upon a small scule It was to be studted nearer home In the nelghbouring Ialand of Mna.

At first the IIme Ifule Party was not very active. Mr. Butt used to have a regular Ilome IRule debate once every segsion, when he and his followers atatel their vlews, nid a division was tnken nal the IImme Innlers were of course defeated. Yet, white the English Iouse of Commons was thus steadily rejecting year after year the demanil nade for Ilome Inte by the large majority of the Irish Members, It was afforling n strong argument in favour of some systern of local Government, hy consistently outvoting every proposition bronght forwari by the hulk of the Irish Menlers rulating to Irish Questions.

Mr. IButt and his followers had proved the force of the desire for sonve sort of Nathonal Government In Ireland, lut the atrength of the movement they had created now called for stronger leaders. A new man was conilng lnto Irish political life who was destlned to be the most rumarkable Irish leader slace Ocomnell. Mr. Clarles Stuart Parnell, who enteref the IIvuse of Commons In 1875 an Member for Menth, was a descendant of the English puet Parnell, and of the two Parnells, father and son, Johin nnd Ifenry, who atood by Grattan to the laat In the struggle ngainst the Cuy struggle ngalnst the tuino. IIe was a grandnephew of sir Heury Parnell, the first Lord Congleton, the ailsanced Reformer nnd frienil of Lord Grey and Lord Mellmurne. Ile was Protestant, and $n$ memner of the I'rotestant Synol. Mr. P'arnell eet himself to form a party of lrish. men ln the IIouse of Commons who shoulla be absolutely independent of any English political part! atid who would go their own way with only i he cause of Irehnit to intlucace them. Mr. Parnell hai all the qualit les that go to moke good politicul leader, and le succeeted ln his purpose. The morc advauced men ln nad out of Parlinment begar. to lools up to him as the real representative of the pmpular volce. In 1878 Mr. Butt died.

The leadership of the Irish Pariameutary Pirty wha given to Mr Whlliam Shaw, Member for Cork County, an alle, Intelligent mian. who proved himaelf in many wnys a good lemirr. In quicter tines his authority might hare remaneil unquestioned, hnt these were unqui: times The decorous and demure nttitule of tho asrly Home Rule Party was to be changed in:n a more nggresslve actlon, and Mr. Parnell was the champlon of the change. It waa soon ohvlous that he was the renl leader recognised hy the majority of the Irisis Home Rule Members, and by the country behind them. Mr. Paracli and his following have been bltterly denounced for pursulng an obotructive policy. They are often written about as If they had Invented obstruction; an if ob. atruction of the moot audaclous tind had never oeen practleed in the House of Commone before Mr. Parpell entered It. It may perhapa be admittel that the Irish Meminers made more use of obstruction than had been done before thelr time.

IRELAND, 1880.

The times undoubtedly were unqulet; the pollcy whleh was called in England olystructivo and In Ireland aetlve was obvlously popular whith the vast majority of the Irinh people. The Land Questlon, tho, was coning up agoin, anil In a stmager form than ever. Mr. Butt, not very long before has death, had warned the Ilouse of Commons that the old lanil war wha golng to breat out anew, and he was laughed at for hils vivid fancy hy the Eng lish I'ress and lyy Einglish publle opinion; hut he proved a true prophet. Mr. Parnell had carefully studied the condilion of the Irish tenant, anil he kaw that the Lamil set of 1870 was not the last wond of legialation ons his behalf. Mr. Parnell was at frat an anlent advocute of what canie to be known as the Tluree F"n finlr rent, fxity of tenure, and free sale. But the Three F's were soonto be put ardide In favour of more adyanced ideas. Outsine Parlinnient a $\quad$ res anus and earnest man wis preparing to in "r...ate the greateat land agitatlon ever sern in ireland. Mr. Michael Invilt was the min of an evieted tenant. When he grew to lie a young man he jolned the Fenians, and in 1880, on the evldence of an ln. former, he was arrusted and mentenced to fifteen years' penni servltude; seven years later he was let out on tlecket of leave. In hls long Inıprisonment he had thonght deeply upon the pollteai and soulnt mondltion of freland and the berst neenns of improving it; when he came out he land ahandoned his dreams of armen rebellon, and he went In for constitutional agitation to refirm the Irish land system. The land syatem nevied reforming; the condilton of the k-nant wis only humanly emburable in years of goxul harvest. The three years from 1876 to 1879 were years of succeselve bad harvests. . . . Mr. Da vitt bad been in America, planning nut a land organization, and hal returned to Irelamil to earry out hls plan. Lanil nieetluga were held in many [arts of 1 relnad, and In Octoher Mr. Parnell, Mr. Diavith, Mr. Puriek Egan, and Mr. Thomas ISreisnan founded the Irish, Sinthonal land League, the most powerful polltical organlzation that hal Inen formed In Irelamil since the Unlon. The objuets of the Land Le'口gue were the alolition of the calsiting lundlont systers, ani the latronluctlon of prasint phopiletionhlp."-J. II. McCarthy. Oufline of Iriah llist., eh. 11.
Also ix: T. I'. O'Commor, The Parnell Mirmment, ch V-10.-A. V. Diccy. Englandte tiam aphinat Ihme R'ule.-G. Buten-Powell, ed., The Truth uthout llome ilule.
A. D. 1880.- The hreach between the Irish Party and the English Liberals.-" The new Irish party whilch followed the lead of Mr. l'arnell his been offen represented by the humourist as a mirt of Falstuffinn 'ragged reglmi nt.'. From dint of repettelon thats ham come to Ir al. most an article of faith in some quartern. Ift It ls curlously whilhout fonndatlon. A large proportion Mr. Parnells followers were journnfits. Ifixh par: to do. expect any at irst there seemed no reason to oxpect any serious dlsunion between the Irinh memkers and the Liberal party.
. The Irisb vote in England had been given to the dilumal cause. The Liberal speakers and statermen, wlenout committling themelves to any letthite llne of pollicy, had manifested friendly mintiments towarda Ireland: and though Indeed nothing was mald whleh coulil le construed lattia a rroinnithn of the IIome Iule claim, stll the new Minlary of the llome Rule claim, stll the new Mlingry Was Enown to contaln men favouruble to this clalm. The Irish membirer hoped for nuuch from the new Government; and, on the oflhr banil the new Government expected to flul cirilli the new Government expected to flul cirillal allies in all sectlons of the Irial party. The ap polatment of Mr. Forster to the Irish ser.ritary.
 thome allled to Mr. Shaw and hle follow her, ss a marked algn of the goond iatentlona of the to a ernment towarin lreland.

The therns Aleech announced thnt the Peace I'roservation Act would not be renewed. This wins a rirs Important anmuncement. Sluce the (inlun Ire: land had hardly been gorerned by the ordinary law fur a angle rear. . Now the Ghirmmeas was going tu make the holid experiment of tryigg to rile Ireland without the askistance of corvive and exceptional law. The Quecrix S 5 peth, haw ever, eontalned only one other ruferemer in tre-franchise. This wan In liself an iminurtant pronite. . But extension of the trifinghifranthe most limportant form that legishinion fir lre. land conld take just then. The country was graatly deprased hy lta recent sulf.ring: the number of evietions was begluulng tor rix. empenously. The Irish members thenght that the Goremment shouh have mmie somic promise to ennsider the land queston, and ulswry nll shoull lave done connethung to stay the ularming in. crease of evletlona. Fivlcthuns hand Increased $\ln$ 1879; and they were still on the incretes, as wns shown at the end of 1860 , when It wasimum that 2,110 familica were evicted. An ammerib tiaent to the Aldireas was at omre bromght fir. wand by the Irkh party, and delmitesid at sumir length. The Irish party callind for mime immedinte leglslation on belaif of the land (puestion. Mr. Forster rupllet, adonlting the meressity fur sonne leglslntlon, hat declaring that thare ünif not le time fur the Introluction of any surch measure thint sesslon. Then the Irinh mirulers asked for some temporary measure to presena the pvictlons

Gmet the chatef sin ritary answeral that while the law existed it was nemes sary to corry lt out, sand he could culy apyeal to heth sldes to be moxlemere. Mnteris flowly drifed on In thls way for a sixert time. Evictions atradily incriased, and Mr. CGonnr Pinver brought In a liill for the purpuse of say. lag evletons. Then the Government, while in fusing to accept the Irlsh measurr, brought in a Compensatlon for Disturbance illi, whleb adopterl mome of the Irish suggestions.
 Frichy, June 25, the secroml rrading of the Bill Was noved hy Mr. Forste?, whe drniul that it was a concessfon to the atici-n'nt ngitation, and atrongly denounced the outragus whirh were taking place in Ireland.

Thls was the pint at which difference bet ween the 1 risis party sad the Government tirst became mark cl. The in: crease of evictions in Ireland, following as it did

Courcinn Bils

 and Land ActIRELAND, 1881-1689.

upon the widenpread misery caused by the fallure of the barventa and the partial famine, lime gener. sted - as famine and hunger have alwaya gener. sted - a certain amount of lavlemens. Evic. tions were occastonaliy realated with violence; bere and there outrages were committed upon bullifs, pricens-nervers, and agents. In different places, too, infuries had been Inficted upon the cattie and horses of landownern and Innd agents.

There is no need, there ahoulid be no at tempt, to justify these crimes. But, whlie condemning all acts of violence, whether upon man or beant, It must be remembered that these acte were com: mitted hy ignorant peasants of the lowest cluss, maddened by hunger, want, and eviction, driven to despalr by the sufferings of their wive nad childien, convinced of the utter hopelemsteras of relress, and longing for revenge.

The Com. pensation for Disturbance BIII was carried In the Commons after long debatew in which the Irish party atrove to make tis princlples stronger.

It was ment up to the Loris, where it was rejected on Tuesilay, August 3, hy a niajority of 281 . The Government answeret the nppenis of lisha members by refusing to take noy steps to make the Larrls retract their decision, or to fatroduce any simillar measure that wealon. From that point the agitation and struggle of the past fon" years [1880-1884] may be ant! to date."-J. II. DlCCarthy, Kingland under Giadstone, I880-1884, ch. 6.
Almu in: T. W. Reifi, Life of Willinm Edicard Forster, n. 2, ch. 6-7.
A. D. 1888-8882,-The Coercion Bill and the Land Act. - Arreat of the Iriah leaders. Supprension of the Land League. -The alleged Kilmainham Treaty, and release of Mr. Parneli and others.- Early In I881, the Govert. ment armed liscif with new powera for suppress. Ing the Incruased iawlessness whlch showed itself in Irrland, and for resiating the systentatic poilcy of Intinldation which the Nationalists appearei to have planned, by the passage of a measure known as the Coerclon Bill. This was followerl, In April, by the introluction of a land BIII, Intended to reiress the most conspicuous Irislt gricrance hy entahiahing an authorltative tribu. anl for the determination of rents, and by alding soul facilitatlag the purchase of small holdings liy the peasunts. The Land BHii became Inw in August ; but it falied to satisfy the demande of the Land Lesgue or to prodiuce a more onlerly state of feeling in Ireiaud. Severe proceedlings Were then dechied upon by the diovernment. "The Prime Minister, during his visit to Leenls In the first werk of October, had userl language which could lear only one meaning. The yuestion, he sald, has come to be simply this. 'whether law or ia wiessuess mist rule In Irclaud: the irlsh people must not be depriverl of the means of taking advantage of the Land Act by force or fear of force. Ife wnrued the party of disorder that 'tho resources of civilisatlon wire not yet exhansted." A few days Ister Mr. Glail. atune, speraing at the Guilihail, amid enthusias. tic cheers, was nble to announce that the fong. delayed blow had fallen. Mr. Parnell was arrested in Iublln under the Coercion Act, and his arriat was followed by those of Mr. Dexton, Mr. Dilhn, Mr. W'Kelly, and other prominent lear? fr . of the agitation. The warnlige of the Government bed been met at tirst with derision and detiance, and the earlier arreats were furiously denounced; but the energy and persiatouce of the Goverament coon began to make. an lupres. sion. A Parthian ahot was flred in the lasue of a manlfesto, purporting to be signed. not ouly by the 'muspects' In Kilmainham, hut Ifoo hy [Mlchael] Pavitt, ... In Portinnd i'rison, wlich adjured the tennitry to pay no rent whatever untif the Government had done p: ince for lta tyranay and released the victims rif British despotism. Thin open inclement to infince of legal authority and repudintion of lowal right

 Ianution was insued deciaring tho Ler gise to ino 'an fliegal and crinlinal axsoclation. intent on destroylup the obilgation of comtracts nud sub. verting law, and announclng tiat its operations would thenceforwand be forcllig suppresed, amd thowe takligg part in them held responsible. -Annurl Nummuries reprinted from The Times, P. 2, p. I5N.-" In the month of Aprli [I8s8] Mr. I'arnell was releused froms Kilmainhanion parolo - lurgeut huslnevs domnnding his promence in Paris. This parofe the Irisit Nathonai Iender Inlthfiliy kept. Whether the sweets of liberty Inad sjerChif charnas for Mr. M'arnell does not apMar: but crertaln it is that after his return to Kilmainhant, the Member for Curk wrote to Cnptain 0 Whea, one of the Irish Members, nnd Indirectly to the tiovernment, intinuilog that if the gtiestion of arrars conld the fatrofuced in Parlament hy wity of relleving the teuants of holilings nud fessening greatly the number of cvictlonts in the country for non-jny ment of rent, and jrovifing the purchase clanses of the lo lessen wer dilscussed, steps nupht be taken to leasen the number of outrages. The Govera. ment had the intimation convegerl to them, In short, which gave to thelr minds the conviction that Nessrs. I'arnell. Dillon, aud t'Kelly, once releaserl, und havine in vew the reformsindicated to them, woull! range themselves on the shie of faw and order fur Ircland. Without any contract Whth the three meniber, the releuse of Messrs. I'urnell, IHllon, sud O'Kelly whs orlered, after they had beven confincel for a prerical bordering on three months. Mhehael Daritt hail been released, Ilkewise, and had been elected for Meath; but the seat was deriareli vacant again, owing to the conditions of hls ticket-of leave not permitting his return. Much has leven suld, nuid much has been written with regarl to the rolease of the time Irish M. P.'s. Tho 'Kilmainham Treaty' has beetn . . a term of arorn adilreswal to Mir. Giadetone and his colleagues. . . As a fnet there was no Kilnuaham Truaty. . . . Mr. Furster [the Secretary for Ineland) resigned becuuse he did not think it right to share the reapon. sluility of the relouse of Mosism. I'aruell, Dilion. and tikelly. The (boverament liad detainct the Quecris subjects in prison without trial for the purpose of theventing crime, not for punlshment. Mr. Foratur salif in vindication. Mr. Forster contended that the nuw ritten law, as promul. gated by them, had worked the ruin and the Injury of the Queen's subjects by Instructions of ouse kind and another - biddiugs carrienl out to sueh a degree that no power on carth coutd have allowed it to continue without becoming a Goverument nut mercly in mame but fu blame. Mr. Forster woull have given the queation of the release of the three consideration, if they had pledged themeelve not to set their law up cralat the lave of the land, or If Ireland hed beea quilet, or If there had breu no acceseloa of freth powers on behalf of the Goveramment hut there conditions were wanthg. What Mr. F hut tep dendred was an arowal of a change of purp. prey He entreated his colienfure ' not to try wo buy obedlence, as he termed lt , and not to rely oo appearances. The Government did nely on the intimation of Mr. Purnell . Mi, it thert was no treaty."-W. M. MMmi
A. D, 1882. - The Pheenly Park mardera. Mir. Forter, Chief Secretary for Ireiand, resigned to Aprl, 1889 , and was sucreeded by Lond Frederick Cavendish, hrother of the Mar. quis of Hartington anil mon of the Duke of Devonsiire. Earl spencer at the name time became Viceroy, In place of Lord Cowe per, realgnel. "On the alsht of Frliay, Mcy Oth, EAri dpencer and Lonl Frederick Cavendioh eromed over tu Ireiand, and arrived in Dublin on the foliowing day. The officiai entry was made in the morns. lig. when the reception accordel hy the popu. lace to the bew officials was deceribed as having been very fairiy fovourahie. Event seemed to have taken an entifely promperous tura, and it was hoped that at inat the lagg winter of Irish discontent bad come to an end. On Sunday morning there aprrad thmugh the C"nited King. dom the inteliigence that the Ineave hatred of English ruie liand been the caume of a crime, even more hrutal and unprovakerd than any of the numernus outrages that hawi, during the last three years, sulfied the annais of Ireland. It appeared that Lord Frevierick Cavendish, bav. lige taken the oaths at the Caatic, took a car aburt half past revin in onder to drive to the Viceregal Ladge. On the way the met Mr. Burke, the Permanent U'nder Secrecary, who, though his ilfe had been repentediy threateved, was waiking along, accurrifing to hits usual cus. lom, without any joilice eacort. Lord Frederick dismissed his car, and waiked, with him through the Phcenix Park. There, in hroad daylightfor to was a tue suncmer evening - and in the middie of a public nerceation ground, cmwided Fith people, they were surmonnded and nure dered. Nore than one spectator witneseed whint they Imagined to be a drunken hrawl, saw six men struggilug together, and fonr of them drive of ontside acar, painteri redi, which had been Waiting for them the wiflie, the carnana diting atill and never turning his head. The boilies of the two ofticiais were tirxt discovered by two shop-Loys on hicycles who hal previousiy passed them nifive. lond Frederick Covenulish hail six Wonnis, and Mr. Burke efcren, dealt evidently With duggers maedi by men of conslderable strongth. Lard Epencer bimsalf had witnembed the atruggie from the windows of the Viceregai Lodige, and thinking that mome pickpockets haid been at work sent a servant to niake inquiries. A reward of $£ 10,000$, together with full parion to nnyone who was not one of the actunil mur. derers, wis promplty offered. but for many long montis the telegranes from Dubisin clomal with the significaot Information - No defnite citue in the hands of the police.' Ail partien in Ire. fand at once uniteti us express their horror and detestation at this dastardly crime."-Camell's Huatrated lliatory of Engharnl, crime. "- Ca
Also IN: Sir C. Ruavell. The parnell Com.

A. D. $184 .-$ Ealarvenent of the Suthaga -Represemtatlou of the Pooplo Act. Beer Eia

 LAMD: A. D. 1884-1805A. D. 1885-1 286 -Chagge of opinion is England-Mr. Gladerone's frat Hoand Rule "Al! throurt the Parlimene tholr dofeal. 1890) through tho Paritament which eat from 18 Parnell, 1865 , the Nathoaliata' party, liell by M. ultimately about haif, of the Iriah member half, in comatant and ceneraliy fitcer member, wha the Government of Mr. Oladstone. But durtor theme ive years a steady, although olient and often unconscloum, procees of change wat mod Ing In the miniso of hagitsh and Beotch membern eupecinily laberal members, due to their grow. inf seese of the mistakes which Purllament com mitted in haodiling Irich queativas, shd of the bopelesanese of the eflorts which the Exerutive was maklug to pacify the cuuntry on the old methods. Frat, they came to feel that the present system was Indefenslhle. Then, while mind disiliking the notion of an Irioh Leginiature, they began to think it demerved conaideration. Nen they admittef, though uaualiy in conatidence to one another, that althougt Ifome Ruie mikht be events pinited was proimhie one, towand which evente poincel Lert of ali, and not till is4, they asked themsel ren whether, after ali, it would be a bed solution, providerl a wortable scheme could be found. prot to no wortahie sheme hal heen propomed, they still kept their views prriaps unwlsely, to themselves, and aithrugh the ianguage held at the general eiection of liss showed a great adrance in the direction if favor. Ing Irlah seif.government, beyoull the utitude of 1880 , it was still vague and hexituting, and could tike more easily remain no because the con stituencies had not (otrange as it niny now wrem) realized the supreme importance of the irm question. Few questions were put to cundidates on the subject, for both candiliates and eiectom wished to avold it. It was dimagrecalife ; it was perpiexing; to they agreed to lenve it in ove side. But when the resitit of the Irish electiones showed, in Derember, 1885, an overwheimiag majorty in favor of the Ilome linle party, and when they showed, alun. that this prary belif the balance of power in Parliament, no one could ionger ignore the urgency of the issue. There tonk place what chemiets call a prowipitstion of substance belf in solution. Pubile affinion the Irish question had been $\ln$ a tluif state is now began to erystalize, and the advumater nod opponcris of Infah seif.government feli usunder into two masees, which swon colifiliferf. The process was hastened hy the fact that Mr. Glad. atone's view, the Indications of which, given by himseif some months before, hall been largely overiooked, now became generally underntood

In the spring of $1888^{\text {the }}$ quertion could be no longer evided or postponed. It was necer ary to choome between. . . iwo coumet; the refunal of the demand fur seff goveroment coupied with the introduction of a severe ('oer clon Biil, or the concession of it hy the introduc. tion of Home linte Bili. llow the Gorenment of Ireland Dilif was brought into tbe Ilouse of Commons on April Bih, anid circumstances of curlosity and excitement unjwnileled since 1832; how, after debates of almume unneep dented lergth, it was defeutel inn June, by majorty of thirty; how the poilcy is ecobodid was hrought before the country at the gemernl olection, and falled to win spproral; how the Liberal party has been reat in twals upon the quention; bow Mr. Olicistone malgred, and has been succoeded by a Tory Miniatry, whleh the dimeatleat Lbernis, who condemn Home Rule, are now supportive - all thin is. . . well known [we Emolard: A D. 1805-1880]. . .. But the causes of the dimater may not be equally under. stool.

Firat, and mont ohvlous, althourh not most important, was the welght of authority arnyed agalant the ucheme.

The two mont eminent henders of the morlerate Llbernl, or, as It in often called, Whig, party, Lori IIarilagton avd Mr. Gonchen, both dechared agalnat tho bill, and put forth all thefr oratory and infuence gainat If. At the oppoalte extremity of the party, Mr. Jobn Bright, the reteran and honorel keuler of the Railicala, Mr. Chamberialn, the younger and latterly more active and prominent chief of that large section, took up the same poudtion of houtility. Scarcely less important was the attiturle of the sorlal magnates of the Llixeral party all over the country.

As, at the preceding geaeral electlon, In December, 1885, the Llbernis had obtalaed a majorlty of leme than a hindred over the Tories, a defection such se this was quite enough to involve thelr defeat. Prulailily tho name of Mr. Bright alone turnefl the lasue la anne twenty consiftiencles, which might otherwise have cast a Itome Rule tute. The mentlon of thls cause, however throws us back on the further questlon. Why Was there such a weight of anthority agalnat the wheme propmed hy Mr. Gladstone? llow came on many of hle former colleagues, frlends, supportes, to differ and depart from hlm on thin occasion? Beaklew some elreumstances attenil. Ing the prouluction of the blll. . .. whleh toit beavily againat it, there were ithree feellings which worked upon men's mlnds, disprosing them to reject It. The first of these, was dislike and fear of the Irish Nationalist members. In the presions Ilouse of Cominons this party had loen uniformly and bitterly houtile wo the Liberal Gorernment. Measuren Inteaded for the gornl of Irelami, Ilte the Land Art of 1881, had been ungraciously recelved, treated as concessions ex. wrterl. for whleh no thanks were dine-Inade. yuste concessions, which must be male the start. ing point for fresh demands. Obstruction had bewn frely practised to defeat not only hills re.日rmining the liberty of the suhject in Ireland bus many other measures. Some members of the lrish party, apparently with the approval of the rest, had systematically cought to delay all Euglish and Scotch leglalatlon, and, in faet, to bring the work of Parllament to a denul stop.

There could be no doubt as to the hostllify. which they. still less as to that whleh their fel. bw coumtrymen in the Unlted States, had exprrserif Loward England, for they had openly wished sucress to Russia whille war seemed $\operatorname{lm}$ peniling with her, and the soccailed Mabdl of the Sulan was vociferously cheeral at many a Na. tionallst meeting. To many Englishmen. the proposal to ereatc an Irish Parliament seemed nothing more or less than a proprosal to hand orer to these men the governmeut of Ircland, with all the opportunities thenee arising to oppresc the uppaxite party in Ireland and to worry Eng. land hermilf. If was all rery well to urge that be tuctics whlch the Natlonalinta had pursued when thetr object wan to extort Home Rule Frouth be dropped, because ouperauous, when Ilome Rule hat been granted; of to polnt out that an Irlah Parliament would probahly cootaln different mea from those who had been sent to Weatminster ais Mz. Parnell's nominees. Nelther of these argumeritr could overcome the susplelous antlpathy which many Englishmen felt. The Interoal condlition of Ireland aupplled more subatantlai grounds for alarm. Three-fourthe of the people are Roman Catholice, one-fourth Protestants, and thls Protestant fourth sutdivided lato tnxiles not foad of one another. Who have little communlty of centlment. Benldes the Bcotisla c clony In Clinter, many Engllah famllies have wettled here and there through the country. They have been regaried as intrudern hy the aboriglnal Celte populatlon, and many of them. although hundreds of yenfa may have paseif alace they came, stll1 louk on themselves an rather Engllsh than Iriah.

Many people in England anaumed that an Iriah Parliament would be under the control of the teaante and the humhler elass geperally, and would therefore be hosthe to the laurikoris. They weat farther, and made the mueh bolder assumptlon that as sueh a Parllament would be ehosen by electora most of whom were Ramn Catholice, it would be under the control of the Catholle prlesthood, and hotille to Proteatants. Thus they supposed that the grant of aelf-governnient to Ireland would mean the abandonnent of the upper and wealthier elases. the landlords and the I'rotestants, to the tender mercles of their cuemles. $\qquad$ The fuet stond out that ln Ireland two hosule factlons had been contenilling for the last sixty yeam, and that the glft of milf-government night enable one of them to tyrannize over the other. True, that party was tie majority, and, acconiling to the prinefples of democratie government, therefore entitefi to prerall. Wut it is one thing to admitt a prinelple and another to consent to lis applica. tion. The minority had the aympathy of the upper elasses In England, because the minority cintainel the linaifiorlas. It had the symprathy of a large part of the mldile elase, because ft contalned the Protestants.

There was another antlefpation, another forecast of evils to follaw. Which told mont of all upon Engllsh opinton. This was the notlon that Home Rule Nas oniy a stage in the road to the complete separatiou of thr two islands."-J. Bryce. Pate and thiure of the Jriah Question (Neur Irincelon Aur.. Jan., 188i).
A. D. 1886. - The "Pian of Campaign." On the 11th of September Mr. I'arnell hail Intro duced In the Ilouse of Conimions a hill to make temporary provision for the rellef of suffering tenants In Ircland, and it had been defeated after a sharp delate hy a majorlty of 93 . The chlef argunient for the hill had been that '" somethlng must be done to stay evlctlons during the ap. proachlng wiuter. The rents would be due in November, and the fall in agricultural prices had been so preat, that the sale of thelr whole produce hy the tenants woull not, it was contended. bring in money enough to enable them to pay in full. . . The greatest puhlle Interest in the subject was roused hy Lord Clanricarde's evictiona at Wiralforei lit Galway.

His quarrel With lils Woodford teannts was of old standlng. When the Ilome Rule Bill was before Parlinment the National League urged them not to bring matters in a crials, but their antiertoge we re too grent $t s$ be Porme, ant they net the Satlonal League at reflance, and colabllakhel a IMan of Compatga of their own. Iavel Clanificarle would grant thent min riductien, ami they lew gheal them eives togeltart, 816 in numiner. not when the Sorember ant day came ruund In 18w.it they re. onived nut to imy any reut at ull if twenty. nis per cent. reduction was mefumel This wan ne. flused, and they withheetd thelr reat. . . . The evtetion uf finir of theme tenatits. In Augime, 1880, attructenl general at tentha by the long tight the people naile fore their homes. Earch homee Was bestrged uad defendeyl theresture nealleval clty. One mome haname, bullt by a temant at a coist of 8200 , pot the natue of Enunilemin fort. It was helit hy a garrimon of 24 , whol threw boilligy water un thelr assallinte., and lit one part er the fight threw out nombig themin hlve avallable forces of the these fumir mun the whale nvallable forces of the Cruwn tu Gintway were elmploynd from Thandiny the 10th uf August to Erfilay the gith. Auven huminal ponicenwen and collilers were prosemt to proteret the emurr. gency men when carriod ont the evtethens, and of peamants were taken tio Gaiway giani. It Whan to meet cases of thals klnd thint, after the replan of compalgn was started. In a sjeveli nt Winniford an the lith of Octulwer Mr. John Dhlon gave an votline of the wherser on whind be thought a temats campulen ngainat unjoust reltsmight tre mated and carriet on all wecr the
 'Of Chappalign' Was publishent in fill dotall in 'Ctheal Iriland.' The first quewtion to be answerch, kath the 'llan, was, llow to meet the Niveniker demand for rent ${ }^{\text {On }}$ Onery estate the tenantry were to cone together and decile Whether wo crombine or not in rewiveace, to exire hltant rent. When they ware anembled, If the priest were not with them, they we re to no ppotnt un intellg gane and stumly niteniter of thetr bexly as clatrman, and after cunsalting, derthe by pemolution on the mamut of almetroment thary will demand." A committie of alx er more anil the chalrman were then to tre eloctent, t. the ealleal a Mnaging Committee, to tahe charge of the half Year's rent of cach tenamt should the lamilemi refuse it. Every otie presmentas to plev) ge him self (t) Tonalife by the dicctulon uf the majorty (2) To hold tas conimumberthon with tor lanillomi or his agetats, exrept in prese nee of 11 . fuxly of the temantry; (3) ti, acerpt no settic inume for hlmaelf that was not glveth for every fromet on the estate. Having thus pledpetl themiselvess cacls to the others they were to go to the rent oftice in a
 In Irehand, suid th the agent refuseil tor mee thems In a lmaly thay were to depute the chairman ti act as their spokesman amil tender the mulue eal remt. If the agent refumer to accopt it, then the money was to be hated to the Mainaging Comilitee • 10 fight the landlont with. The fand thus goe cogether wan to le employet in supporting tunants who were disposessert in sale of ejoctment. The Natlonall heague was to fuarantee the contlinuance of the grasts if breelThe nfter the fumi was expended, or as bone na the majority of the tenants held out.:-" Cluyden, Bightrind under the Contitio!, ch.
-Early in 1887, ccrtain 'etters nppearnimis ase.

Thusia" newapuper, of Lantion, one of when ated as great meneatlon, ann., "aftictinus devente in Parliatient, a crembitann io their authors, but inen the what contem of ond dure puratied by biany of the Iriut Mo nifura of thon tas Imland aths their connexd, wht on en this rounts: v chasturily atteupts of lifore withewnem, includilug Mr. D'arueli nut nor of of the Othrer accusal mempers, as well ns inde no ol the Irlsh peasuntry who conthi givec avibone to to hls life by nuana of a revolo Jo mat mee the Intervat in the In vestignthon ho, Hagend wind cated ruany of the Irists motnimem - 1o tin ir nexlon whith the Fenlan Sochty frivinut to five csatrance to l'urlimanent, un their un if achemat edgement, fell ratbor tiat on the puldit ant

Timen newspaper at a filuhem experts In handwrithue whex icto.an Imp it Even manlpulated, w.. io raty tol cromrt to the genalnearss of the toth, ragle emil of thelr horkiem anth Aleo in: Mir (' lumsell, The liormell t'力n mion: Opening Nywech fur the lafiene. - I! it Iti. shech in Itferre.

A. D. 1889-1808,-Political fall and deat of Mr. Parnell.-On the $=$ th of lherentep 1N89, Coptaln 1) Nitra, one of the Irivi Nathat nlist Members of Parliamertr, filitla a protiun os divarce from lifs wife on the gromand of adulite "th Mr. Parnall. "The Iriwh lember terifly ewis fossell his gult by maklog nos aniwn atalit Cospmber, 1 Mims the divorer was grambel io Cia ialn ©'Shea. In the folluwing June in Parnell and Mrs. O'shea were marrial. The stigua which this athir pat ulem Mi farnell caised Mr. Chudstome, on twehalf of thi Finglied Likerals in demand hils retlr-nctil frum the lemerdilp of the llome litule Party. H1, prifed to give way, nod was sappurted is; the retiand by a minority of hls party. The maj juetry, burw ever, took actlon to deprom. him, ara? the' Fart was torn asunder. A sudiden Diliese confed Mr? Barnell's life on the 6th of Octulare. E9n but hls denth taiked to reatore peare, unt! the lriak Nuthombilists are atill divided.
A. D. 1893. - Pasage of the Home Rule Cefent by the Houtish Heuse of Commons. - its efent by the Houne of Lo:da. See Esolus:

IRENE, Emprese In the East (Bysantine, or Greek), A. 15. 7VT-800.  IRISH NIGHT, The Eee Inwdon A. D. 16 m  IRMINSUL, The. Reve saxows: A. D. 772504.  IRON ACE. Re BTovi Age.

1RON CROSS, Order of the. - A Pruesian arlicr of knighthond Inatituted in 1815 by Fred. erti L Willian III IRON CROWN, The Order of the. See Fucvek: A. II. (104-1m)S.
IRON CROWN OF LOMBARDY, The.

IRON MASK, The Man in the.-"It In kniwa hat a manked and noknown priwher, the oh yert of extraoriliary murvelliance, diefl. In 1:033, in the Bantlle, $u$, whith he havi been takell from the sit. Morguerite Inles / 1804; he himl re. nadfowif simoti tor years lisearcerated in these fakm, and traces if him are whth ereftinty fount In the forf of Exillew, and at Plym rol, an lar hack as about thent. This mingular fact, whelt berikn to be vapuely britteid a litite lefore the midulte of the inth century, cselted) Immense curn'. weity after Voltalie linit rvalted hlmaslf of it a hio Nipde de Loule XIV.', whereln he axhlbleel if is the mast tourbing num tragle llght. If

 "Har hererest sup prwerful had the goverometht of Lavils SiV. for moceuling thos uysterinus piake fom crury human eye glans ixplanatinna mate "er lesu plausible, in re or leses chimer. tal. have inen attempteil In regard to the" mati With the Irom mask' inn crroneolas dosk mathon tia, has prevalleil; the mavk was not of tron. :ulf f hank wilvert It was prohalily me of thon.

 cusen atl the hyinithouss. and akllfully comarenteul on all he fict: man dates, In onder to estabhish that. in 1then), Fomquet was reprosentell dealh in liell3. It is lumponslible for un to ailmitt this whlutinh of the problem; the netiltabialty of governor of the prison of Therse .. :... is selb able oll the part of Lonin Xls. when ull the offlicial dwouneuts attest that his reschusimt hum gradually $\operatorname{lne} \mathbf{n}$ appeasent, amil that and old mun who askirl mothtug more than a litile froe alr buthre dylng ball ceasell to le feared. There are nibuy, in re liswamptons in favor of Barun de themme an masque de fer': 1 Nas. $)$, - the opinhon that the 'man with a mask' was a sec. retary of the Duhe of Mantua, namell Mattobll, arriend of by orler of Lauls XIV. In 16i9, for having dewived the Frembl government, ami baving enught to forma comiltion of the Itallan caiu nuyntty, may be the resemblances between Matteri athl the 'iron mask, 'equally guarded by the gu poir St. Mars at IMguerol and at Ex.

Hea, however anive may be the testwony ar. corling to whlteh Mattioll wan tracaferreel to the M. Marguerite Iaten, the subaltera twiltion of Mattoll, whom Cathat and Lowrola, In thelr kel cern, phometeriae ha a 'knave' and Er. Minn threatens with a cutigel, III exorils, We ide not ay with the trallitons relatiog to the prof cinnt reapect ahawn lise prisoner by the keepera, thee governor, and even the mindier. - theme trindi thens may loe contented, - lwat whith the aurthentle detalls aind docununts givers by the farmed and judicloum Fathe F Giffet lo regant to the extrone mydery in which thr primoner at the llantille Was en veloperl, more than twerr r yary after the abluetlon of the obsure Matimifi, In regaril t11 the mask that he never put off. In regrand to the procumetions taken after ld ite th to annlhblase the traven of his nojourn at the Bantlite, whilis explains why nothing wan forotal converning him after the takligg of that fortreses. Mane mind will always perilst in suekling, unuler lifis minene. truble mask, a mure dangermua merret, in mysteri.

 Volthll" mider cover of his publlaher.
 (1821). Accoriling to thls opithlon, the hanar of the royal honaspold was Invelvenl In the merret, of Aune of Austrin. The ondy private arime thenor Ifowever thly may lwe. liotory as no right te pronounce dipon what whl wever comerge

 1baly Talegmph - nerovis a finet which, if it is clasing up ome of the prohlems of nimbern his. tory. A letter to laturoia by boola XIS., writ. thin in cipher, has lwell hong ha the nechites of the Mingstry of War, mad has at hength leech declpherenl. In It the King orders Lau voln to arrest Girncrol de lhathume fur hairing ralwel the slege of (comel whitent permiswlint, to sedad hime to "loup, ir black.relve mank The orider was "xereited, ani!! the ;reesumpthen is therefure violemt that the - At, in In the Irm Mask - It was a Bhenck velver oue with lron springe - wus General de Burnmale. The story" tulles with the known fart that the prisoner minder repeated attempts to communleate his name to solifiers, that he was treateel with rispect ly his millitary jallors, and that Loils XV., who knew the truth of the 1. hole affarr, declared it to 1 x a matter of no lm portance. The difticulte is to discover the Kinge motlve for sach a precauthon; but he may have feared discontent amomg his great otlicers, or the milltery." - The sivelistur, Get. 14. 1893. - The - Ipher ilespatch alwive referrevl to, and libe wlwe nubject of the Imprisomment of General de Bur. lomif, are dlacusual at length, in the light of oftclal revorls anal correwpondence. by M. Emalle Burgand nnal Commandant Bazerios (the latter of wham dimoureryl the key to the elpher). In a luxak contitiox - Le Masaue do Fer: Revéh tion de la corresponiance chiffree de louls XIV.," publlahed at Paris In 1803. It seems to lcave snall hoult that the mysteriously maskerl prisoner was no other than Gencral de Burlonde.

iRON MASK.

IROQLOIS CONFEDERACY

Alao in: A. A. Ellis. True lliat. of the Sate Priower aommonly ralled the Iron M(ank.-F. Lawrence, The Man in the from Wiset (Harperin Mag., e. 43, p. D8), - M. Tupin, The Van in the Iron Muak (Cornhill Mag., e. 21, p. 883)--Qurir. renly Ker.. e. 34, p. 14.
IRONCLAD OATH.-A: math popalariy styied the "Imnciai enth" was preseribedl by the Congress of the Cnitenl Staten, during the War of the Rebellion, in July, 1809, to le tuken by every proson eierteri or appuinteri to nny offer under the (dovernment of the linited States, the Prealilent oniy exceptel. He was reciulimil to swerar that he hai "never veluntarily iorue arms ngainst the l'nited Staten"; that he hail chunturliy given no add, countenamer, counsel. of encouragement ta peraons engageri In armedi hostillty to the Sational Government"; that ine ind " milther mougit nor arcepted, nor attemptedi to exerrise the functions of any office whatever umiler anthority or pretended mutiority in howtility to the "ultedi states": that he hal "nerer yiefieed a voluatary suppinrt to any preteaderi Guvernment withla the (nltell states, inostife or of Cougreme r.2, p. ※\%.

IRONSIDES, Cromwell's. Ser Evilanb:

"IRONSIDES, Old."-A name proulurly given th the American frigate "Constitution." IRODTVDNTATEAOFAM.: A. I) 1814 IROQUOIS CONFEDERACY, The.-Ac. ooriing to tivelr traifitons, the fommeder of the League or confelerary which uniteri thr five antions of the lropuais - the Mohawike, the ton. ondagas, the Oncilias, the Cayugas, and tibe senecas (me Anefican Abobionese: Imeqcens (onfebpinacy) vins ifiawalha, the hero of Im. quols irgenic. Die wha an Onamiagn chief. noni is supposeril to have ilverl almut the mitidile of the lith century. "IHnwatia had long beheriti Wht gridf the erlis which attlieteri not onds bis. own nation, limt all the other trilers alsumt them, througis the contlani wars in whleh they were brome which these wars proincedi. With nulh wifeme of a vast conferleration whith womli rnsure miverral peace. In the mere phan off a comiferlerntion there was nothing new. That a iave not, at one time or anether, bern mubera "f a lemgne or comferieracy. it may nlurume tre salid to le thelr normal ewinition. lint the plan which Hiawathn had eveisend dilfereal from nil athers in two partioniars. The system which ine drvicui was to ls mot a bisme and transltury leagur. lint a gertument governusent. Whitie carh matime was to retaln lis own emonsil and la mangerment of fisui atfaiss, the generoil contrif ing "ftice durlog goni Im-liavior, aml arkbuwl eigerl as ruling shefs throughont the shate conflulerary. Silif furtier, and more memark ally, the cinfali ration was nut to be a dimalteri one. It was to lx. imiefinltely expunsible. Tion nvoweal design of its proposer was tic aluillsh war altogether the wisievi the evieration to extenif untl alit the rribes of men siontil in. In. cluied in It , andi peace sinulid everywhere rolgn. Surin los the punitlore testimony of the Irepuois themseivers: and helr statement, as will be seen, is anpported by historicul evilence.

conceptiona were beyond hil time, andi ixe ours: lut thelr effect, within a imitori guphern Was very great. For more than threv cruturt. the bond which he devised heid cogether the Iroucuia nations la perfeet amity. It proveri, moreover, as he latended, ciatic. Thi limprioner of the Irmpiois, constantly extending as thut united arrength matie itself feit, Is arame the - Great Asylum' nf the Indian, trilkw

Among the laterminable stories with with the common people [at the Five Nuthoms] Iw enitit their winter nighta, the tiaditions of Atolarlin ami Ihawatha became intermingiesl with tive legends of tiveir mytionogy. An arridmental mimilarity, in tise Onondiagn diaiert, In.twiwn the name of lilawatha and that of one of therir an two, which has misied sume inventguturs. This dieity lenrs, in the sonomur Caniengs tungur. the name of Tamulinawagon, meapiug "the Iinder of the Ileavens.' The Jemilt nixasinanisy style bim 'the grvat goxl nf the lrompmis.' Aumig the Ononingas of the present duly, the namer is mbriged to Tamhiawagi, or Taihawiti. The confusion hetwect this name and that of lian. wation (whiflh, in another form, is pronumberd Tahion watiou) sectms to have is.ginn burio Hana century ngo, . Mr. J. VV. if. Clark. it hit interesting Illatory of Onondinga, maikis ibr name to bave lawn origimally Thawis sar wat ha nod descrilnes the bearicr us the simity whey in slices over fisheries and bunther gminuls.' It came down from beaven in a white conere, and after smairy aiventures, widch remimi oner in the fabors af llerroies, axsmmal thre name "t lilawatha (signifylng, we are tull, 'in very we man '). amid dwele for a time as na orilinatiy nu: ienece. Finaliy, after fommiling the cunforkersy nad lwatowiug nany jrudent commeds mum the perople, he returnal to the skies loy the sume converame in whith ire had dewouldell This legend, or, rather, congirlerg of intermimis in tr. ginim, whs comusunleated by (lark fos situ... craft, winn the iatter wan compliing his ' Wents the jretical chat of the story. mint the ruphtrinious name mate confuslou worme combinuladed bs trausforring the inero to a dilatint repint ani which ine chose to entlife 'Tlue Ilian, ithal genes. 'ins not in it a single furt or tivtion-lat ang cither to ila watha himself ur tu ilw In mivi deity Tamolhawagen. Wlid 1 jiliway turits concirulag Junalsvaloo and his cturrailos form the staple of its contents. But it ix tu this cril iection that we owe the charmang parm if bang feilow : ami than, hy an "xtrauriliary furtime, a &rave irmpuis inwgiver of the tfterim ornury wiyy dempasi, mon of the Wixe Wiml, milcom mailon of the trleksy Paupmkiw wio, the tmatial lagen, and the mitring K wasingl if a (bintere Thee history nid rellgion of the wellerm nathons hadi confoundei King Aifrevi will Kime dribur and loth witio Oilin, ine wonlif not hate made inore jorypuatcrums conluslon of mamer and chas geters than that which inas hitherto disquised the genuine personaity of tive great Momangare former."-H. Haie, ad., The Iruytuis lime of

IROQUOIS CONFEDERACY.
Riter (Brinton's Larary of Aboriginal Am. Liter. atury no. 2, pp. 21-80.
IRREDENTISTS. - "This is the name siren to a political organiontlon formed in 1878 , Whth the arowed ohject of freelng all Italians from foreign ruie, and of reuniting to the Italian kinglom all thoee portlone of the Italy of olil Which have paseed under forelgn dominlon. The operatlona of the 'Italia Irredenta' party are chicfly carried on agalinst Austria, In conse. quence of the retention by that Emplice of Trieate and the Houthern Tyrol. Until these territories have beren rellnquiahed, Italy, of at least a certaln part of it, wlll remaln unsatisfied."-J. S. Jeane laly (National Lifo and Thought, eh. 8).
ISAAC II. (Comaerna), Emperor la the East (Byzantine, of Greek), A. D. 1057-1050.
..Inac 11. (Aagelus), Emperor in the East (Byzantlie, or Greek), 1185-1105.
ISABELLA, Qneea of Castile (wife of Ferdinand II., King of Aregon), A. D. 1474 ism. ....Isabella Il., Queen of Spaia, $1883-$ INB.
ISABELLA.-The rlty foumled by Columbus on the island of Illapanjoln, or llayti. See Ayertes: A. 1). 1403-1406.
ISANDLANA, The Englioh dimaster at (t879). (ive Mer"til Aphica: A. I). 1877-1870.
ISASZEG, Battle of (1849). See Averria
A. 1). 144 - $1 \times 40$.

ISAURIAN DYNASTY, The. See Brzantine Eypith: A. D. 717-797.
ISAURIANS, The.-The lanurians were a niere aml savage rare of monntalneers, who ocrupiral anciently a cllatrict In Asla Minor, between Cilichaml I'amplyilh on the south and Phrygla on the nurth. They were persistently a nation of rolleres. Iving upon the apolls taken from their milthluma, who wete never able to punisha them Jisily fu thilr mountain fastnesses. Eiven the Iron baind of the Romans falled to revluce the lvinians to order, although $P$. Dervillun, In is B. C., dextroyevl most of thelr stronghichis, and Pompry, eleven years later, In hls great campaigungalust the plrates, put an end wo the law. haso dipirelathons on seas and land of the cllt. lasurious will become confeleraterl with the isalimians, five centurics afterwarin, In the days of the Eastern Emplre, the Isaurinns were the furat sullicres of Its army, and even gave an emperrir th the throne at Constantingole in the: peravin of Z.tan or Zenon. -E. W. Ilronks, The Empurur Zot tun and the Imurians (English Jlis. lurinal (err., ipril, 1*03).
1SCA. The naine of two towns In Roman Britala, oure of whileh la hilentified with modern Exeter umit the other with ( 'aerleon on. L'sk. The Yatter was the statlon of the al leglon. - T.
 etth. Militin of: algo, CaErleon.
ISHMAELIANS, The. See Mahomptan isidinithank.
PISIDORE, The False Decretale of. See Paracy: I. b) mepreq7.
ISINEE Vre C'armense
ISLAM.-"The rellgion founded hy Malomet render Inlam, a wort meanhig 'the eatlre surrender of the will to Goal'; lts profesones are callel Husumimans - thase who have surren.
 the 'Ihy.jtcras' of the Divine meanengerser, who me nalume 'Katrs,' or 'Dlushritin, that ls,

:SLAM.

'thnse who amaclate, are companiona of sharers with the Deity.' Inlam in tometimes diviled under the two heads of Falth and Practical HeIIgion. 1. Folth (Iman) includes a bellef in one Goul, omnlpotent, omnisclent, all-merciful, the author of all good: and In Mahomet as hla prophet, expressed in the formula 'There in no Fod but God, and Mahomet la the Prophet of Goxl. "It Includes, also, a bellef in the authority and sufficlency of the Koran, In angels, genif, and the devill, In the Immortality of the soul. the renurrectlon, the day of judgment and in Cienl's aboolute decre for good and evll. II. Practical rellgion (DIn) conslats of five olsererances: (1) Ifecital of the formula of Bellef, (2) Prayer with Ablutlon, (8) Fastling, (4) Almsgiving. (5) the Piggrimage. The atandarl of Mowlem orthedoxy ls ensentally the Kuran and to it primary reference is nmle; lint. . some more extended and discriminatling crule leenme necesary. The deficlency was supplled by the compllaton of the 'sunnah.' or Trudtlonall Law, whilich la hullt upon the saylagniat pricilices of Mahomet, anil, In the oplalion of the orthriox, is Investel with the force of law, and with some of the authority of Inspliratlon. In cosses where both the Koranand the siunah atford no exact precept, the ' Rule of Finth' in thelr dogmatle leltef, as well as the derlslons of thilr wermitar courth, is based ulun the tenchang of one of the four grent Imams, or foumers of the orthe was secte, accorlling an obe of another of these prevalis in any partlenlar country.

The great Sunnl pert is dlyblet among the orthondiox mehords men. thonel alowe, and $l_{*}$ an culled from las riception withe 'sumbl.' ny having muthorly concurrent Weth and supplementary to the Koran. In thla respect It difters essentlally from the Shlas, or partisams of the house o? All] [the mephew of who and aned hustmed of hls damghter Fathua] Whe, allhering to thelr own trallilons, reject the authority of the 'Snnnah.' These two serts. moreover, lave certaln olserpances and natters of bellef perillar the themelves, the chlef of Which ls the sha dextrlup, that the soverelgn Inamat. or temporal and splritul hordship over and lu hils descreidants, Heuph flaman and and in hise descymiants. throuph Ilanan and the propiret. And thens the l'ereslan Shlas adil to the ?c mula of lx.llef the eonfession, 'All is the (all pre of Gerul." In l'eresla the Nila Jextrinem prevall, and furmerly so lutense was sertarian hatreil that the Sunu Malwometans pald a higher capitathon tax ther than the latilels, ly Turkeg the great majurity are simme. In lulla the Shhes mumber alvout one In twenty. The Shlas, Whit reject thls name. and cail themselves vilem hitu a grat varicty of mlmor mets; hat these. ance unitell lanisertlug that the first three Callphes. Abi Ihekr, Gunf. and Othman were usurpers, whe hall finesexsery themas Ivers of -ibe righlful amil Inali-mathle Inheritance of All." 10.-"The twelve Imanas, of pontifs, of the Peralan rrectl, are . Nit I Inssin, hoseln., and the tlon. Without arms, "ir tranarem, of sulyierts, they mecersively enjowed the veneratlon of the people and proviket the jealousy of the relgning callphas. . The twifflt anal last of the Imams consplcuous by the titie of Mathadl, or the culde, ourpased the solitude and mactity of his predecemons. Ile concealed himself ta a cavern meas Bagdai: the time and place of hill death are un. known: and his votaries pretend that he still liven and will appenr before the day of judg. ment."- E. Glhbon, Dectine and Flill of the Roman Empire, eh. 50.

18LAM.

Also Ix: E. Seil, The Paith of Idam.-8. Lane-Poole, *uties in a Mopque, ef. 8 and 7.R. D. Ostorn, IChm under the Arabo, pt. 2, eh. 1. - W. C. Taylor, Mist. of Mohnmmodaniom, en. 8-13. - R. Bosworth Smith, Mohammed and Mo hammedtanism.-T. Noldeise, sketehee from Rhut-- premp. hiplory, eh. 3.-See, alioo, Mahometan CosQCEAT.
ISLAM, Car-ul-, and Dar-ul-harb. See Daretlislay.
ISLAND NUMBER TEN, The capture of. Se Unitrd Statise of Am.: A. D. 1803 (MARCE-APRLL: ON TBE Minimifpt).

ISLE OF FRANCE.-The old Freneh provInce containing l'aris. Also the Pruncli, name of Maurtius island, taken hy Englund in IEIU.
ISLE ROYALE. Bee Cape Breton: A. D. 1720-1745.
1SLES, Lords of the. See Herridin: A. D.
1346-1504, ami llanlaw, Battue ar.
ISLES OF THE BLESSED. See CA. wary lalande.
ISLY, Battle of (1843). Sce Barbary States: A. П. 1830-1846.
ISMAIL, Khedive of Egypt, The reign and the fall of, She EavrT: A.1). $1840-1880 ; 1850-$ 1883: and 1872-1848, .. lamail 1 , Shah of Peraic, A. D. $1501-1523 . . .$. Ismall il., Shah of Pernia, $15 i 6-157 \%$.
1SMAIL, Siege and capture of (1790). Seo Trake: A. D) 17:A-17er.
ISMAILEANS, OR ISHMAELIANS. See Mahometar conviceat: A. D. D00-11in!; aloo, Ansamina; and Calimathians.
ISONOMY. - ISOTIMY.- ISAGORIA. "The prinelpie underlying demorrary is the struggle for $n$ iegallised equmlity which was usualiy deacrikeri [hy the murlent Greeks) hy the expresslons lxnomy, or equality ur law fir all, - leotimy, or jropirtiouate regard palis to all, - bagona, or equal frexion of symerh, with specisl reference to courts of juntice and popular

ITALT.

acomblies "-G. F. Behomann, Antig. of Ome: The State, pr. 2, eh. 12
ISON 26, Battre of the (A. D. 489). Set RONE: A. D. 488-62b.
ISOPOL.ITY.-"Under Sp. Cassins [B C 409]. Rome concluded a treaty with the [atime. in which the right of teopolity or the "fue municipi' was conceded to them. The fleen of isopolity changed in the courme of timer, but the emential features In eariy times were theme: be. tween the Romana and Latins and loitreen tive Romanis and Caertites there existed this arrapze ment, that any citizen of the one state who wished to nettle in the other, might forth wilth ins sble to exercine there the righti of a cilizen."-B. $O$ Niebuhr. Iecto. on the Hiat. of Rome, lert, 13 ir. IL ISRAEL. See JEWG.
1SRAEL, Loat Ten Tribes of. Ste Jews: Tht Kingmome of larael and Jcibai.
ISSUS, Battle of (B. C. 333). See Hart DOMIA: B C. 894 - 89.
ISTAEVONES, The. Bee Genvast: as KNOWK TO MCITEs.
ISTAKR, OR STAKR.-The native name under the iater, or Samanian, Persian rmpire, of the anclent capltal, Pemepolls. $-G$ Itawiinsm, Serenth Great Oriental Monarehy, eh. 3. fimet mate ISTER, The.-Tie anclent Greck name of the Danube, below the junction of the Theis and the Snve.
iSthmian Games. Bee Nembax

1STRIA: Slavonic Occupation of.

Slayonic Peoplen: Sixtit and seyexti temea
A. D. 179\%-Acquisition by Austria. se

ISTRIANS, The. see Ir.Lrmins

ISURIUM.-A loman town liI liritain, wibe had previousiy been the rlalef town of the Bri: lah tribe of the Brigantes. It is hlentiflef with Aldiborough, Yorkshilre, "where there excaratur meets continually with the tessedatill thaño of the Roman houses. "-T. Wright, litt, Roman und Airon, ch. 8.

ITALI, The. Aee Enotuians.
ITALIAN WAR, The. Sie lioye: B. C $90-4$.
ITALIOTES. See Stezlioten.

ITALY.

A clent.-Eariy Italians.-"It was not till ning of the Emplre, that the name of Italy was emptoyed, as we now employ it, to designate the whule D'rininsula, from the Aijs to the stratis of Messha [we Rome: 13. C.: Zis) The tern Italin, Burrowel from the mane of a primaral trike who ocrenpied the somithern partion of the inmi, was gradimilly adoptral as a gerseric title in the sumpe otmelire manner in which mont of the cobutrles of Eury ine or (we may kay) the (buntincons of the wolld, have recelved their mpiedlathans of on the remonest thmes the name only Included lawer Calabria: from theme narrow limits it graiually ajpread upwards, tili alout the time of the l'unic Wisrs, fis northern boundary amevnded the littio rivir linbicon (between Combramal Cisaiplue Gauit, then foliowed the ridge of the Appennines west wani to the sume of the Macra, and was enrried down the mard ot that amail strean to the Gulf of Giomsa Wber we apenk of laly, therefore, in the fluman wo of the word, we must dismiss frum eur hamelis alf that fertile comentry whith was at linnterat. thet the provinglal diatrict of Gitias 'tivippias. mad LIguria."-1I G. Dddedil, Hent of Water is:
 to dintinguish three primitive Jialian stank the lapygian, the Etrusran, and that whathestasid call the Italinn. The last is dlidicei intos |wn main branches, - the latin hranofo and that to whele the dialects of the ['mbri, M) Iral, Dijut and Sanuites leloug. As to the lan atin stow we have but fittle information. It fire mulb
 Cajabrian peninsuia, luacriptlons in a mertian

ITALY.
Early Intaictante.

ITALY.

extinct language have been found in conalderable numbern; undouhtediy remalna of the dialect of the lapy tana, who are very dintinctly pronounced by imition also to have been direrent from the Latia and Bamnito atocke. . . . With the recog. aition of a genernl familiy relationablp or peculiar aftinity between the Iapyglans and Heilenes (a recognition, however, which by no menns goes so far as to warrant our taking the iapygian language to be a rudo diafiet of Greek), inventigation muat reat contens
The mididie of the peninsula was lahabitei, as far beck as reliahle tradition reaches, hy two peroples or rather two hranches of the mame peopic, whuee position in the Indo. Germanic family ad. mits of belng determined with greater prexision than that of the lapygian nation. We may wlth propriety call this people the Italian, since upon I resta the hintorical significance of the penin. suia. It is divided into the two hranch-atocks of the Latins ancl the U'mhrians; the fatter In ciuding their woutinern off-shoots, the Marnians and Samnites, and the colonies sent forth by the samnitey in historical times. . . . Thenc exam ples [philonogical examples, given in the work, but onitited from this quotation], sejected from a great abundance of analogous phenomena, suf. ace to estabilith the individuality of the Itaiian otork as distinguished from the other membern of the Indn-Germanic family, and at the same time show it to be linguinticaily the nearest reiative, as it is geographicalify the next nelghbour, of the Greek. The Greek and the Italian are brothers; the Celt, the German and the Siavowian are their couslas. . . . Among the iangunges of the italian atock, again, the latin utands in marked contraut with the U'mbro. Numaite difiects. It in true that of theme oniy two, the Limbrian and the Samnite or Oacan, are in come degree known to un. . . A conjoint view. however, of the facte of tanguage and of his. tory keavea no douht that ail theer dlaierts be. haved to the U'mbro. Samnite hranch of the great Itailinn stock. . It may... be regarded as certain that the Italians, like the Indians, mi. grateri into their peninsula from the north. The adrance of the Umbro-Sabelifin atock along the central mountain.ridge of Italy, in a direction from north to south, can stlii be clearly traced indieed its lant phaves beloag to purely histori cal timen. Leas ia known regarding the route Which tive Latin migratlon followed. Probahly it proxeriedi in a almiliar direction along the weat const. ling, In afi likelibood, before the arat Sabrilian stocks began to move."-T. Mommanen, llist. of /amue, bl. 1, ch. 83. -See, also, Etres: cass: Laticy: Sabimen; Samerties; Uwbatans: Mana Gractia ; aloo, Rome: B. C. Bhi-200), and 820.3is. - "In the February number of the '(ivitita Cathilica, Padre de Cara picada for a national effort on the part of Itailan archecologists to solve the question of the origin of their country's civilisation by the aysumatic explomthou and excavstion of Pelagice Italy. . . . Iu a stries of srifices, extending over meveral years. the irsmed father has contended for the identity of the littites and Proto. Pelagglans on archaeo. hugical, etymuiogical, and hisiorical grounds: and be here repeata that, If 'Itulle' meang Aryan then it is among the peoples apeaking Oncan C'mbirtsn. Latin, sud other dialects of the IndoEunpean farnily that the parentage of Itailan edvilimation muat be sought; but that Itaiy meant in the firnt place the country of the Fittites (Ilethel), and hence of the Pelacgians, and that name and ciriliantion are ailke Pelaggle. Thono who hold it to have been Aryan have not oniy the testimony of Greek and Roman writers againat them, hut also the facts that there wero Pelaggians In Italy whowe stone constructions are atnaling to this day, and that the Erusucan are guage and culture had no Aryan aftalties. The Friter further points out that the walls of Pe lasgic citien, whether In Italy, Greece, or Asta Minor, ali resemble each other, and that the origin of Creek civilisation was aho Pelasgian. In Greece, as In ILaiy, the Aryans foilowed cen. turies after the IItite-Pelargiana, and Aryan Grece carried the arte of Pelasicic Greece to perfection. He believen that, of two migrasory bands of Illtites, one invaded Greece and the other Itaiy, about the same time. Ile also draws attention to the colncifence that it is not very long since Greece, like ltaly at the present time, could date its clvilimation no further back than 700 or 800 B . C. Bchlifemann recoverel centuries for Greere, hut 'Itaiy atili remains imprisoned in the iron circie of the seventh century. To break it, ahe must follow schifiemann's pian. and ns he havi atealy faith in the excavation of the Pelaspic cities and cemeteries of Greece, 30 will inke faith and consiuct on the part of Itailan avehneologitata let in iight upon this once dark problem." - Arademy. Chreh 31, 1894, p. 278.

Under the dominion of Rome. Sco Rovis.
Invaslone Repeiled by Rome. See Rome: B. C. 890-847, 282-275; PIxic Waks; Cimnat and Tectones; MlemanNi; and Radaoafive
A. D. $400-4 \mathrm{ra}$. - Alaric'a Invasinas. See Gorise (Visfoothe): A. D. 400-403; and Rome: A. D. $408-410$.
A. D. 45a.-Attlia'a invasion.-The origin of Venice. See IlCws: A. D. 452; and Venice: A. D. $45 \%$.
A. D. 476-553.-The fall of the Weatery Rnmas Empire. -The Ostrogothic kingdom of Theodnric, and ite fali.-Recovery of Italy by Juatiaian. See Rown: A. D. 455-4i6, to 535-203.
A. D. 539-553- Frank lavasinns. See Franks: A. D. 0. $^{59-553}$.
A. D. 554-800.- Rule of the Exarche nf Ravenna, See Rome: A. D. $554-800$; and Papact: A. D. $728-744$.
A. D. $568-800$ - Lombard conquesta and king dom.-Rise of the Papal power at Rome. -Alliance of the Papacy with the sovereigas nf the Franks. - Revival of the Rnman Empire under Charlemague.-" Blare the fivasion of Alloin. Italy had groaned under a complication of evile. The Lombands who had entered along wleh that chief $\ln$ A. D. 688 |see Loxaarids: A. D. 568 8is, and after] had sertied in conslijerable num. bers in the valiey of the Po, and founded the duchies of Spoleto and lienevento, leaving the rest of the country to be governed by the exarch of iavenna as viceroy of the Fastern crown. Thi nubjection was, however, ilitie better than nomi nal. Aithough too few to occupy the whole peuinsula, the invidera were yet sirong enough to haraks every part of it by furomeds whicil niet w lth an rexistance from a population unused to arms, and without the apirt to use them in self. defence. ... Tornuented by therf repested at. whos forces, scarce able to repei from their walls the Arars and Barncens, could give no eupport to the distant exarch of Ravenna. The Pries wre the Emperor's nubjecte; they awalteil " rmatloa, like other blahope; they hail rann occe been the victims of hle anger. but as the cfty became more accustomed in lide. pendence, and the Pope rose to a predominance. reai if not yet legal (mee Rome: A. D. 5 pa-640, and Papact: A. D. 729-874). his tone grew bolder than that of the Eatern patriarcha. In the controversles that had raged In the Church, he had hat the wimlom or grual fortune to es. pouse (thongh not always from the ifut) the of rellog alfe: It was now by another quarrel of rellglon that hle dellveranee from an unwel. come joke wan accomplishet. The Emperor Leo, hurn among the lasurian motuntalns, where a purer falth muy yet have lingered, and stung hy the Hohammelan taunt of inflatry, deterniteeil to aboilsh the worahlp of images, which mecmed fast obscuring the more spirfual part of Chris. tanity. An attempt sufficlent to cartse thmults aming the sithmisalire Greeks, exclted in Italy a bercor comnuthon. The populace rose with one heart in defence of what hai beconie to then Pore than a symbel: the exarch whe slaln: the Pope, thontglt unwilling wo mever hlmaelf from the law fill head and grotertor of the Chureh, nutat yet excunmuntrate the prince whom he coulh not rexhinm from mo hateful a heresy he Iconcecastic ('untrovimath. Iludprand, king of the Lamimris, Improved his opportunlty: falling on the exarchate as the opportunity, fimperour, hue overran the minlster of the Greck cemplest in comperrming the one, and all but suc. capkl fur the moment the other. The Pope es. le.twern a hervile anil a robber, herll: placend whe heyond the Alps, to a Catholle chlef Christemom on the firlif of Pollters. Gregory 11. laul alrosily openal communlcathons with Charles Martel, nayor of the pulace, and virtunt ruler of the Prankish realm. As the crisha lee. comes nure prosinge. Onegory III. Amels in the sume quarter his omly hope, abil appeals to him

Charless libed before he contd nikey the calt; limt his son Plodn (surnainel the siburi)
 He wis the thital of hils famly whio hal rulavi

 almilish the fugeant of Yerovinglan moyuly : yot "depurture from the anderen llae mightit shax'k whose dangerss nu peppice A course was tuke.n sere, new fur the fist wer then formaw: the lloly She. new fir the fist theicinvokel ns an lutermifir. anti cave pronomberel the olepomition of Chlld-

The

 Whas shmmeneal to discharge its share of the Home t wioce dinh dy Alstulf the lambard aswail

 the Papal chair nll ; and the Frank bestewed on to Porth liaty, nerel ying angerl to the exarclate on Puplas death the restlese Lomband When

Wheur
agnin
cook up arms and menaced the pomerainas of the Church, Plpln's mon Charles or Charlemagno swept down llke a Whiriwind from the Nipiat the calf of Pope Eiditian, selzed klog the Nillertue in his capita, acoumed hlmseif the Lumbluard crown, and made northera Italy thenceformand an invegral part of the Prankials emplre Oenmant; A. D. E87-800]. twenty four years Italy remainei qulke. The government of Rome was earrled on lit the name of the Patriclun Charles, atthough It deres ous appear that he sent thlither any oficial nprewa. the exarchate cone same time both the clty and supremarchate coatloued to admit the mimina! aupremary of the Eantern Emperor, empluying Bryce, The llody Roman Emato documenta. "by German hande, the internal acen. f. - "Thua Cerman race in under the Goths, and then uader the finmilumb for 281 years, was Anally broken. A fiermian was atlif king over ltaly, an for agen lirmana were atlll to be. But Ifoman anil native fntua ence reconquered lts supremacy In lialy, under of thame. The Lombarila ship of the ibshops Itallanize. The Lombarila, already limeroming Tentionient, meltell into provinctal Itallans The ber of woris to lialian dialecta, hand a mum. of names to itallan famillest, amil II munlep of names to Itallan familles, The hant king of the Lomlaris bore an Italin rius. The latent of lallan natonal herive suite: the Bavarian and Lombarif name of Cintilath Hut the overthrow of the name of (infiladid gift of provinces and elten to Ni. Peter hamp the more eventful renults. The alllance $\mathrm{l}_{\mathrm{x} \cdot \mathrm{H}, \mathrm{w}+\mathrm{t} u}$ the king of the Franka and the bishope of timie liad lerome one of the clomest kind.

Thie Giry
mank king and the luthan pope found therluselhes tigether at the hema of the molern wirlt of Werst. But the fusclantion of thern wirld of the atill, in It had firscination of the tumer of thume ower the Tent done for centurics. hedt sway natural Teltonle mind. $\qquad$ It whes not uni the West, in cline connexpore of reviving in the West, In cline connex lon whath the Lamma primary, that grat name whel still blied the juigments, Irece Byzuntum had witherma stulen away-the name of (reenal wrongfully clatm togovern the worla. Therve wasa lingurg In the West fur the restorntion uf the mamennit anthurity, 'Hest,' as the comennpmory ariters "xprom it, the lirathen shanbl tury ht the Clifistan if the mance of Emaneror haill ceaver ankug them." Ami int this mament, the gramern. meut nt constantinaple wes In the lable of a Woman, the Empress irve. Charling ervich caree of mure thmen thirty yoare arownet, hy Roman enpline yad the Imperial dignit! The day, sua), when ("harlose enturs the flurismas day, eno. When Charles emane to pay lif dene hemi, white all tho prople shouters l.a 'hatien the most plous Augustum, crownes if (ixd, ide

ITALY, A. D. 84-0s1.

rrest and peace-rivios Emperor of the Romane fe and victory. . . Thus a new power arose In Europe, rew in reality and in its relations to coclety, chough old in mame. It was formally but the carrying on the line of the succemors of Augusius and Comentine. But substantially It was oumething very diferent. Ita authorin coukl ilttle foresee Its destlinles; hut it wam to hat, in mome mort the political centre of the wurid Which was to be, for 1,000 yearm. And the Romsa Church, whleh had done such great thlags, which had consecrated the new mill mighty kings of the Frunks, and had created for the mightitemt of them the linperial claing to univernal cluminion, rose whith them to a new attitule in the world. . . . The coronatlon of Charles at Rome, In the face of an imperial line st (inastant)nople, finally determined, thongh It diel mot st once accomplith, the meparation of Esst and Weat, of Greek mad Latlo Chriatianity. This mppration had long been Impending, per. hapm, becoming Inevitable. One Roman emplte was stilit the only recelved theory. But coe lhoman emplre, whth lis ment ln the Wiest, or one lhomas emplife governel In partaeralip by two emperons of East and Went, had beconse impuasible in fuct. The theory of tis ualty conthuusi for ages: jut whether the true successor of Augustus and Theolowlus ant at Constanthople, ur momewhere in the West, remuinel ln dis. pulte tilf the dispute was endel hy the extlinction uf tire Eastern empire ly the Turks on May 20. 14, Nis."-K. W. Cluurch, The Reginning of thid T00 - N 14
A. D. 685 -1014.- The founding of the duchy of Tuscany. Net Tricany: A. D. Ak5-1115.
A. D. Zat.-Erected into a separate kingdom by Charlemagne. - In the yenr 781 ('harlemagne erretell laty aud Ayultaine lnto (wo separate kiugloms, placing his lufunt sons lijiuu and Ladwig on the thrones. - $1^{1}$. Gindwin, lliat. of ${ }^{2}$ ruure: Stueirut Gitul. ch. 16 .
(Southera): A. D. 800-1016.-Conflict of Greeks, Saracens and Franks.-" The sututhern pirndares jof taly!, whith now compone the king ihmo of Naplen, were sulyject, for the mont part fin the sth and Bih centuriesp, to the lom. barl dinkers and prineres of Beneventumi - sol powerful in war that thry checkell for a moment the genius of Charlemagne - so lilx ral in peace that they ualntainell in their capital an acadeny The thiry-two philosophers aud gramenarians. Ther rival pring this flowrinhing state producral ther riad prinelpmlities of Benevento, Saleran. and iapait and the thoughteres anibition or rucrlew of the competiturs laviliai the suraceus atasionte perion of two inluritance. During insuters were not crapuble of loating by the Ratir frequent and almast amunal sy fuucironis istimi frum the port of bilermo and were enter. halker ith tis) much Indulgence hy the Chrison parcul nuphes: the more formaldable fleetes were Satathy hand hern planted at liarl, wheh commatho the cutrawe of the A/spiatie Gulf; and beturan ikail the Jlacedonian of the Byzantlae

Empire], the frat of his sace, and Lowle, the great grandson of Charlemagne; and each party supplied the deficiencles of his macoclate. The fortrem of Bart was invested by the Infantry of the Franks and by the cavalry and galleys of the Armhian emir auter a defence of four yearn, the Armhlan emir submitted [A. D. 871] to the clemency of Lewis, who commanded in perion the operailons of the alege. Thls Important conquest had been achleved by the concord of the emast and Weat ; but thelr recent amity was mon and prife.

Whoever might deserve the honour, the Greek Pomperors, Banll deserve the Leo, secured thes advariage of the reduction of Bari. The Italians of Apula and Calabris were persuaded or compeller. to acknowledge thelr anpremacy, and an ldrai llne from Mount Garganus to the Ray of Salerno lenves the far grenter part of the [moilera] kingdom of Naples under the dominlun of the Eastern emplre. Beyond Naples, who dukes or rypublica of Amala and Naples, who had never forfeltel thelr voluntary alleprance, rejolced in the nelgthourtrond of thefs law ful soverelgn; and Amala was enrlched by facturea of Aurope wlth the produce and manufactures of Asla. Buti the fombard princes of Benevento, Salcrno, and ('apun, were reluctantly torn from the communlon of the Latla world, nod too often wholatell thelr nathe of servitude and tribute. The elty of hari rose to dignity and wealth as the metropolis of the new thetne or province of Lombarily; the title of Jatriclan was afterwarls the slagular name of Catapan Was asslyned to the muprune governor.

A: long as the scapre wis illspmiev! by the princes of Italy, their efforts ware feeble and ailverse and the Greviks neslaterl or eluded the forcess of Germany which descoudel from the Alps umber the huperial standard of the Othos. The tirs and greatest of those suxon princes was comafiled to relinepuish the sidge of Barl: the second. after the lows of his stoutext bishops and barons, esceperl whit lunour from the hlowily tield of ('motoma (.L. 11. Qxs). On that day the ascile of war Was turned agalist the Franks by the valour of the Naracens. The caliph of Egypt had trnaspirterl $40,00 \mathrm{D})$ Moslems to the ald of his Christhm nlly. The surcessors of Busil ammsed thenselres with the belife? that the conquest of lombarily hul heen achifved, and was still preof of ciel. by the justice of thelr laws, the viriues of their minasters, and the gratimide of a people Whann they had reseued from anarchy and op. preselon. A series of rebolithus might dart ruy "f truth futo the palare of Constmmethople and the Hhuslons of fluttery were diapelled hy the casy nind rald anceses of the Norntun al vonturirs."-E. Gilhwin, Iteline arid Faill of the Rumman Simpire, ch. 58
A. D. 803-8io. - Charlemagne's bonadary treatien with the Byzantine Emperor, - At tempts of Pipin against the Venetlans.- The founding of Modern Venlce. Sece Vevice: A. 11. (11):-x10.
A. D. 8:0-961.-Spread of Venetlan commerce and naval prowess. See Ventic: : Com- 1 .
A. D. 843-951.-In the breakling up of Charlemagne's Empire. - The founding of the Holy Roman Empire.-In the partithon of Charle. mague's Empire among hls three grandsons, by the treaty of Verilun, A. D. 843, Italy, wgether

Whth the new klingdom callel Lotharingia, or corraine, wan anmigned to the edder, Lothar, who bore the title of Emperor. Lothar, wlo died in 85s, redivilied hite dominionsamong three mins, aid loorrilae, acparated from Italy, whe erno ilis. membered and shared between Germany azil France. The Italian klogdom fell to Louin or Ludwig II. Who was erowneel Emperor, and on his denth without have, A. I). 875, fi wras molzel, together wlth the imperial title, hy the Fremeh Carlovinglan klog. Charles the Bald. Two years afterwarida he died, and Italy, together Whith the Imperial crown, was acquilred by the last legitimate survivor of the German ('arlovin. glan Ilae, Charles the Fat, who diedi $\ln 848$. . At that menurable en (A. I). (het) the four king. domis which thls prince [Charlee the Fat) hail unitevi fell aumber: Weat France, where Olo or Eudes (lluke of Paris, mucmion of the royal line of (capret) then began to relgn, was never agaln unlten to Oermany: East France (Germany) chove Arnulf; Burgundy splli up lato two prin. clpalltese, In one of whleh (Transjumane) liudoli proclalmed himaself klag. white the other (C'lajn!rane with Phovence) submlited to Dhero; whille Italy was dlyidel between the partles of Heren. gar of Friull and Guilo of Apoleto. The former Was chomen klug by the entatera of Lombardy; the fatter, and on his opeedy death his son Lam:
 nuif s (the Ciernan klog's] deswent elaweri them awny and vindlented the clalma of the Franks, Iut on hla tlight Italy and the antl-German fae. thon at lume lnecume agalo free. Berengar wan niade king of Ittyly, and afterwaris Empenir. lealey of Burgunely, son of Ikwo, renounced his lealty to Arnuilf, and procured the lmperial dig. nity, Whose valn tlle heretalned through years of minery and exlle, tili A. I). g28. Sone of of minery and exlle, tlli A. I). 928 . Sone of theme Emperons were atrong enouglo to role well even in Italy; beyond it they were not mo munlt as recognized. . . In A. I). 92t dledi Bereugar, the inat of these phantom Emperors. After hilm llugly of Ihurgundy and Lothar lise Aon relgacel as Lings of Italy, If puppeta In the hamela of a riotons aristox.miry ean be so callend. Thane was meanwhille minell by the consul or menaur Allwerie [called varhonsly senator, consul, patrielan, and prince of the lomans], who had renewed her inever quite extimit republlean Institutions, and In the degralatlon of the papacy was almest ahsolute in the elty." Afalro in Italy were at thls stage wben otio or Otho, the vigoronn ant indivalrons cterman king of the new line, cante In uinl to re extulilish amil reconstitule the ilomana Empire of (linflemagne (eep (iknmanr: A. II. 93k-9:3) nud wo make ft a lastiug entity in E.nro. pean polities- the "Hloly lioman Fimpire" of Mulern history. - J. Ilryce. The llidy Loman Eutyre. ch. 6 .
Alats is Y. Gulzot, hise, of 'irilization. Vert.

A. D. goo-g24.-Ravaged by the Hungari ans.-․․h. wrinity of Ithly hal tempted thelr carly inpanis: but from thelf canp omptere liserita they Welowl with some terror the appmrent of his ubatiuacy mided rashuera. Among the colties of the Weot the royal Paria wa conagicuona in fame and apiendour: and the pre-emlurine of the apocife was only derired frum the relien of the apoaties. The flungarians apperand; Javia was in flames; forty. three churchen were coue aumed; and, after the mamacere of the prople sone aparid abrout 2(0) Wretelies who hal gntliweel mome huslucte of gold and sllver (a vague ringer ation) from the amoking rulne of their country neighto annual exciralons from the Alpw to the neightrourhenel of flome and Capuan, the churcher that yet emeaped resonmied whith tearfol litsan Ohi arve and dellver ua from the arruun of the onable; and the corrent mollowi were denf or ines stopped by the corrent rolled forwarl, till it ma stopped by the extreme land of Cahinimin. " -5 ch. B 5 .

A. D. 961-1039.-Subjection to Germaay."Otho I., hla mon otho II., and his krandiant Whens and kinga of Italy, frome 941 io lory came thit hranch of the boone of sinveliy he came exthet. Ilenry II. of Havaria, ntul (iumm the salle of Pranconla, filled the thrune from 1004 to 1099 ind 1004 to 1099 . During thits periond of mearly elghty yenre, the Germin emp.rors twellue timum entered Italy at the head of thelr armies, while they always drew up ln the plains of Sharacile uear Placentlan; there they helid the staterin Lombinardy, nerulved hontage from the statis of feudatorles, cerwived hontage from their Jatha feudatorfes, cansed the rents due to ho puil, and A forelgn moverelgn, however, almust wi of itsiry Aent, known only by howerer, almust ulwayn ab of ant, known only by hile Incurslons at the bead of barbaruus army, contd not cillicautoundy govern country whitch he hardly hulw, and where his yoke was detentell. . . Thie eln perors were tua happy to neknow leflge the fral anthoritles. whatever they werr, winvorier they could obtaln froms them thelr pervulary dure digultlese had were duken or marrinines whene Invalteles hat sirilved the disastern of vartura Invalons and of civll wars: ametimer the arca. bishopa and hlshopse of great eltlea, whisil Chat lemagne and hin ancreasor hal fretpuritly in the crown, reckoulng that loris clectell for life would reniain more dependent than hirrefitary loris; mometlmen, thally, they were thir nagrit tratea thensel vem, who, although electeri br the people, nevelved fromi the monand the tifle of lmind rial weara, and lexik pmit with the nothea Honeaglia. After a stay of mome intilhe, the Che wror returbat with his army intu tio ruand.
 mad makist rates to thelr clities: medither if thore lust arkmuwlerlged a supurlar authority to thrit own, wor revkunel on any other forrec ith, 4 what they comld themseivem cuploy toi o it it what they ralled thelr rights. Oppmeite fitu re nis conth nit fall to prolnce colllsfon, anni the war was Mincian Mepublica, ch. 1. - i) uring ther rign of lleary II. (A. 1) luat-102f), againat whom a Hival king of taily was set up lis the liatioas "there was harily why recognised guverometh tomed, through ncersity, to prutere themselve, nud to provile for their own lateraal police. Meanwhile the German naton bud hervine odicuas to the Italinus. The rude middery, faritut and

- Normane in
U.
addicted to molozication, were eagaged in frequent diapute with the cilizens, whereln the latter, os is usual in samilar caces, were expoend orat to the summary vengeance of the triopa, and afterwards to penal chastsement for medl. thea. In ope of these tumults, at tive exity of Ilenry II. In 1004, the elty of Pavia wan hurmed to the ground, whech inapired in Inhabitants *eth a conutant animeselty agalnat that emperor. $\mathrm{t}_{\mathrm{j} \times \mathrm{m}}$ him death, in 1002, the ftallans were ilin. pued tu hreak once more their crinneston with otrmany, which hal elected an moverelgu Cunrail duke of Francouta. They oterevl thuls crown to Rubert king of France and to William duke of Guienne." But nelther of there princes waulid accept the trubblenome diadem; andi, in the end. the archblahop of Mitan and other Lombaril linds "rrpaired to Conatance and tendered the crown to Conral, which he was already dispowedi to cialm as a mort of deperdeney upon Curmingy, It ders not appear that elther Conrul or his surceasurs were ever regularly elected to relgn over ltuly: bnt whether this ceremony took place or not, we may certalaly unate frum chat the the nulijerthon of Italy to the Cermanic bxaly. It berame an unquentionable mazlon, that the rotes of a few cierman princen conferred a right to the woverelguty of a country which had never been conqueren, and which hail never formatly nengnised thata auperiorty." - II. Ilallam, The Vidile Agos, ed. 8, pr. 1 (e. 1). - 'The liallan Klagtom of the Karlinge, the kingdom whtelh wso rumited to Germany ut ler Otta tive Great. Fian . . . a contlinuation of the old limmiari kingilom. It consisterl of that klagdom, en. largeil by the Itailan lands which fell on from the Eimatirn Emplre In the elghth century ; that Is by the Exarchate and the adjolning Dentapolls, and the Immediate territory of lome Itmelf. "E. A. Freeman, lliotoriall Oexg. of hiurrye, eh. \&, ant 3.
(Southera): A. D. 3000-1090, - Conqueat a and settlement of the Normans. - "A plysin. age tint look the Normans to Routhern Ituly, Whre thry were to found a kinglom. Ilere linte werr, if I may mo npeak, threy. wrecks, thriw pulne of nathons - lombaris in the mouns: talne. (iripks in the ports, Slclitan and Atrkan Siracins rambiligg over the crusts. Aluint the rear 1000, mome Norman pligrimin asalat the In. hahtumes of Salerno to drive ont a party of Aralim, who were holding them to ranami. ike. lag w.ll pald for the servlce, theree Normange attract others of thelr countrynu-n hither. A Gruck of Bar, named Melo or Srdera, takers them Intu pay $u$ frue his elty from the Grioks of Byzanitum. Neat they are mettled by the Grow ripmilic of Naplea at the fort of Averua, whith baris of C'apia (A. D. 1026). Finalty, the sens of a mur gentleman of the Cotentin, Taluescil of Ilatte-ifie, seek thelr fortime here. Tancreal hat iwilve chlldren; meven by the same mother. It was thriag William's [the Conqueror's] mimity, When numbers of the lmanons euteav: ounci to withdraw themasplves frum the lastand's vilk, thas these mons of Tancred's directed thelr stimy low arda Italy, where it ons sath that a simple Normase knight hat iv seme count of Avena. They met of pennileas, asil il frayedt the infinc. The Byzantine of hy the sworli (A. D. tugot ad their Byzantine goveruor, or Katapan, tugot their merrices, and led then agalast the Aralm. But their countrymen beginning to fork to them, they no moner naw theinselves strong enongh than they turned agalnat thelr pays. minatern, wized Apulan [A. D. 1042], and divlided It into twelve countalijam. Thla republife of Condevtler held lis anmembilies at Melphit. The Oruekn endeavourel to defend themoilves. The fralthensly. They collecterl an army of on,0in) laulinns: to be mouted hy the Normann, who amounted to eeveral hundreda of wedl.srned mirn. The Byzantines theu nummoned thilr eno milex, lle thrmaun, to thelr ald; and the two entplras, of the East and Weat, conferlerated againnt the minn of the gentleman of contancea. The all-powerfol emprint, Ileary the llack (llenry 11I.), chargend Lat) IX., who had heen nominaterl Impe by him, and who wan a Gcrman and kin to the Impurimi family, to exteralnate these brig. ands. The pure ledl mome Germanse and a awarin of Italinns agalnat them [1053]; but the latter took to tight nt the rery beginning of the buttle, and left the warlike jontif in the landa of the culvem. T(x) wary to ill-treat Lilm, the Nornaans plounly cont thanmelves at thelr pris. oner's fees, and coubprilewl him to grant them, at a flef of the Church, all that they hall themen or imght take prosesalon of in . I pulla, ('alabria, and on the other shle of the atralt: su that, In splte of kIngdom of the Two sicellen (A. 1). 10.92-1053)." - J. Michelet, Ilint of themce, bk. 4, eA. 2. - The two eller of the mins of Tancrind were now dead. and the thirl man, Ilumphrey. dlell not long after. A fourth hrobler. luivert, surnamed Qulveari, who had lately arriveel from sormandy With refoforryments. ihen estabilshed humwits (A. D. 105\%) with some diffendty In the leader. shlp and anecresslon. "Ile accomplished the reductlon of ahmowt all the country whlch compracs the prowith Kingdom of Naplem, and, extlaguishing the long dmatulon of the Beneventhe lomiliwnis nod of the eastern emple in Italy [ne Braneventiv, and Ama.ri], tnally recelfed thom bope whe wolns 11. the cminnation of the thtes which he had assuned, of duke of Calalria and Apulia [A. I). IUsut]. Whlie Rabert Gnlaciarl was purferting hin doninion on the the reme, his gounger brother luger engaget in the antonishing denign of conanerling ihe large wid brautiful lathond of sletly from the sarucena Whtha few Nurman volunterrs, An air of romame exiraragance briathers over all the enter. prikes of the Xormans In Italy; amd, even If we ciscarl the lacredilule tulles whilch the legends valour and corpotral st rength of these onothern warrions, enough will nomain in the authentic resulth of their expentithons to stagger the reason and warm the inaglaathen whatiractive vislons of elifvalrous arhlevemeitt. . . We are assured that 300) Chrlatha halghts werre the greateat numIner wheth linger conall for many geare hring theo the firtd: anil that lish routmi a proilggous hest of Narsiceris at the batthe of Ceramio. . . Bint the Suracens were a mirolled in internal disement. ant their lasand wies broken up lute numerous petty shatcs, we many, therefore, attribmete to Cheir dika mathes a grent part of the succems which tive ehronietere of the Normans have as. aigneyl to their ginal mounls alone. Iloger had. Lowerer, embarisel in mn naturus and laborious Undertaking, which II re:t lred the unbenting pere verance uwd patio ot: wour of thirty yearn [A. D. 1080-1000] to acromplish. Al lengith, all Nicily bwed to ble owny; Norman barione Wre Inceuded over the surface; mad iliger, with of his hrotier's duchy. " -0 . Proctor ath at flaly, eh, 2, pi, 2 duchy. "- O. Proctor, Ifia. of At.en m: E . c .

Amman Empinime ed. Be. Drling and thath of the Jlime of the Aive, inan -J. W. Rarlow. Nhort of the popes wish - Ene Einalagy of the contice and Henry IV.- The War of Inventisured Hre Paract: A. D. 1050-1192; and Uetitures. A. D. 978-1igi.

A. D. zos-135s. The rise of the repmblican

 cltes -" The war of laveatitures, whith insted fing of every of the kiagelom of teen the clliferrat memisers if the kingilom of ltaly. CivlI ware have at of the pue ple to consult the wiatere the rulers jerts, filitue them coasuit the withes of thelr sultjeents, white theire them to galn sffections whleh con. granting of new privileigen, the arrvices which they refiulm. The prelates, the netere and which Inly oneyeti, some ilie emperor, othera the ponpe; not from a blimi fear, hut from cholec. Prom aftection, frum crinarlence, anconting an the poin eacil. The mar mentiment nas predouilnant wagell with the was geberal, hut every where armell its nullitia, whletom furceen Every clty trates, starkel the nelghbururing nolles or to of a contrury party. While rach clty or towns It was agthing elither for the pope or the emperor. It wan hablitually linpwilied excluslvely by fts own wedtitnents: every towit conaldered fimelf ins a whole as on Imileperilent state, Which had its own allion and cuetules; pacls eltizen feltan arilent putrorlsur, not for the kinglome of leale, or fur the empler, hut for hils owin elty. At the prerini whell clether kinge or emperors hat granticy to towns the right of ralsing fortitien thons, that of awermbing the citizens at the mould oferr commen, to cousert tugether the means of This surecting of all tha men of the state cupable of Inaring arrus whatcailel a pmrlianuent. It atumally two consula clur splanme and elected aminilily two consuin, clourged with the ailminis. tration of justice nt home, numl the cemmanifis of powerninent. companall of $n$ few mentwrataken miturf to the parliament.

As induxtry hat mplidy ineremsel, and had precedell huxiry. as doncestic Ife was mulxer, and the prollurie of mouted There chite - Weath hat greaty ang.
 orther liwe of the fr richlas than that uf defending yrar (an) to the gear fink) that the was from the ous worhe were numertahelt the mient promitigi.

 Whath sexill awahenel the other thae afes The, repmbliran spirit whinh naw fermented in every cliy, and gave to carh of thems cruatluilous so patriotle, and so copmhic of great achievements, had found in Italy traif the modely which ha contributed to tio formation. The war uf in remilturen had given wing to this univerand anitio of tilierty sud gatriotiom in all the munlelipulifing of Lombaniy, In Medmonh. Venotia, Rilimazne and Tuecony. Ilut there exiseed alimenaly in fisily other fre citien there exiated alrualy in fisty blem, Amald, Bari, were elther never conyurna by the Immbanis, or in suhfection tow aluint time to have loat their ancleat walla, mull th hablt of guariling them. These efteles mervel at the refuge of Iliman elvilization. . . . Thise ellese whilth had accumulinted the ninut wrulth, whome walls faclowed the grvatest pepilathon, at. temptedi, from the Arst half of the twelfith rra tury, we arcure by force of arma the olmulfence of such of the nelg. Wraturing towns an ilfil lint ap pear suthchently atrong to realet them. share their mio a perpetual allisare, ${ }^{(1)}$ su to share their good or evil fortume, anil niwas place their armed furee unier the standierliof the nt elty. minwrily Two great towns in the power and power and wealth: Milan, Whels Indibnatly directerl the party of the church; and Jiarta which dlrectedil that of the empire. Buth lowas the rolons if ? in have changerl pmathes duriag the relgns uf Lotharlo III. and Connal II., who front the year 1125 to 11.52 placed in ollymittion the two houmes of Gurlphis and Ghalminiming is Turin toik the Among the tnwne of Ificulacon Turin toik the kemel, and disputenl the anthurity of the counta of shvoy, who called thermwiry Imperhal vienre In that country. . .) The favily of the Vruateme manyulmen. Who frim the trone of the Lominind klaga had to deffoll the Prontler agalnat the Girmana, were exthort, nol the great eltles of Verona, Palun, Vifirnai Trevfion, and Mnntua, nearly eylund In pumior maintained the Ir Inicprendence. Ihologhai brik the arat rank among the towns molthin of ther Pho

Tumeany. Which hai almo huil its fwiwe fiof maryulaen, gaw thelr fanilly become extinet witb the connteme Mathin, the contemporary sad Prient of Giragory Vil, Florence had shaw rivel In power, dentmyed Flegole, and . . Naw roabshlerent the hrati ur the Tusenn l "am ring. neure motlout ilsea at this periox thanight only of her maritime expeellitions. Strll was ibe stute of laty, when the Germanic dict, awermblied at Erankfort in 1152, conferrel the 'roun it on Fretlertek Barlmanmesa, duke of Nwald.... min if the: homme of Itohenstaufen."-1. (c). due sis. mountl, Iline. of the lenlion Itepmbtica, of, $1: 3$ Einmpe, eh. & *et. 3.-W. K. Wilitianis, The Agen, eh. 3. pe. 1 (r. 1)- B'iumpe during lim Yid.

A. D. ${ }^{3063}$ - Birth of Pisan architecture. Sce lima: A. D) JINK3-1203
A. D. $1077^{-1102,-C o u n t e s s, ~ M a t i d d a ' s ~ d o u s-~}$ card's invasion. of the Eastern Ent GuisUnion of Slcily with Apulistern Empire.the Kingdom of the T pulia, and creation of -"The sucerss if his houther (lies, or Naples.

ITALT: 1001-1IM

ITALY, IISA-II62.

apur in the amblition of Robert Culecard. Tak then eivenatage of a dymatic revolution at Con alamilaople, he and blo con Blohernumel enmmencer ByRastime Eypite: A. D. 1001-1000) which oaly emied with hife death. These, thoush un. surcemful to thelr ultimato moult, were laftuen. tal cauces of the ame crumade, wall derply afferted the relationas of Bent and Weat for years to rome. Bleanwhille in siefly lhiger hail lieen succrevient by the som [iloger 11.), and, In 1128 , dukerion of Apulla to that of Elefly, obtalned from I'upe Anacletuia the titio of king. and anally establishter) the Norminn IInerlom of Naplew (alm) callent the KInglom of the Two Blelliee). III character is thun devertbel by a contemporary chruateler: ' Ile was a lover of juntice and most arecte aveager of erime. Ile abhurred lylag: dul everything by rule, aund never proniland What he did mitt mean to perform. fle never perneruted bla private enemilen; andil In war en. deaveureel on all opemalons to gale hin pellot with out mberldtag of blood. Juntice and prace were unlversalty oberved throughincot hia duminlonas. During his relga the latercourme het wreen Einglatial and Niefly was clowe. The govermient was orEnizacy on prinelpleen very almithar to that of hin immieliste succemonos, the multh of Itinly and Slelly enjoyed a tranalent gleam of prompertiy and happinema. Thelrejual and tolerant gaverniment. fur surpacing anythlag at that day In Eurupr. sualicel the Siaracen, the Oreek, and the Italiank to live topetier in harmoay eline whero unknown. Tnule and hedustry Hcurisherl, the manaufacture of nilk enticherl the Inhabltantm, and the Elagiom of Naplem was at prove unill she wan crushen! undir the Irom heel of a Teutoale cunqueror."-

ALams is: F. A. Frveman, The Piormon.
 learluw, Nhart lfias. of the Surmmins in Aouth
A. D. 1096-1 103.-The Flrut Crusaden. Seo Cbisimss: A. I) in90-1190; and I liot-1102.
A. D. 8138 .- Tha accassion of tha Hohes Ataureas to the Imperial throae, and the orl gin. la Germany, of the Gualf and Ghlbellioe tac:

A. D. $1154-1862$. - The farut and necond expeditions of Fradurick Barbarosen, expeditions of Fradarick Barbarossa. - Frond. Illownataufen line cathet the comperom of the Prick lharlarisusa (lhellhearit), wan clected king at Prankfort ha March, 1152. In October, I134, hee ermend the Alpa amil emtered Italy withi a striong if Turnetle the imperial crown. form the hands Pa wha the itron crown of Lombarily or Italy. & diter repultice of ter and mubminalon the riming clty republice of lambanty anil Tuscany, whing haid hern growing raphily han Indepandence and Finersenn at Roncagita, he hell the dhet of the purlally agaluat Mllan, which hail undoutherfly "pprisurd the wernker tow ons of la nelghbourhorit thrmish the coustry stragth. Then be moved timpif iffulen, and cint making a personal luspec. hy lurning the rllages which failed to temper proviciona to his trooper with mitiaficenry promp thude. At Tortomin he orveret tho Inhablante (1) renounce thelr alliamee whit the Milameme. of ry refused, and andured to the upper portione of the elty a nlegs of two months. Forced by want of water to murnemider, at lant, they wern permitcedt to go feer, but thelr town wam ancked planery of more of Chicri, Ifumbte, and other places of more or lese Importanere, were de. atroyed. Froverick diti not veature yet to at the liniperial cruce and the lemerial cma. The poppe (Adrian IV.) and the lumiana wero allice dintruat ful of him, the elty. Atter permilted to liring his army linto munkian detalls and litie wranging over irgnlead the details, and after beling rumpellevl to at si. Celer's, in the Vatleun suhurlo The Ito mana attenpiptel to linterrugt the currination, ant aterrible tunuft ewcurnel In whe hat thoumanel of the cltizetis wire main. Hilt the cirrmana made no attemput to tuke pmomemalon of the clena On the cunirary, they whlulrew with haste, and the emperfir fiyl his armig lmek to Chermany burning spultito on the way, becminse fi falledf sulimiluml rencesn, anil marklig a whle track of rula was in the sum thimght Italy ns he weilt. This Wan in the numinure of $1185 \%$. Three yours pamerf, during which the Itullan clitemg grew ture deter-his Cermani sulijeets mure bitter in howetilty to them, and the finge and the emperor more an. ragonimtie In their ambithous. In 1158 Frederick termiaerl to nuper an filto ltaly, enprectally ile. Mthan. Ife nake an end of the contumary of trelng remilvenl the ry aroumil the offomitag city. turs, However, apponnell it hy famhate Neilatreaty of pardtention, whel hererraptecl homillitess for a few weeks. Then the MHatree frubal viotathon of the termes of the tronty nuid again tixik up arnis. The war was now to ihe eleath. Bhit, gave himatif the pheasure, Himt, of nulucterick lemser city of "rema. which cefululuald the fathollt among the allu's of the Mhanerge. Ile howstages, and he hound thems cut he towere whileh wretched aguinst the walls, eomporithing the months, Aud destroyed. Then Milan of arven salled and ledeagurrivl haraven munn win as unill. at the beginuing of Mureh, Hos. the starvel Indinhlaants gave up thitr liwe. jred erick ondered the ilmumet cliy" to be completely evaruatel. mat that therer whonds nat be left In fo n single lising ledur. On the e3th of March. he summonetl the millitian of the rival and Chblte. line "etters, and give the worders to rase to the

 In bour and Industry nitachenl to the thet pmerery, vhled latu pour ond stacherl to the sill. were in. Thed Mtu four opth viltagen, buth at a ilstance of at lenal twallos from the walls of their former clty. "thers monght howpitalty In the nejghburing town of Iaty meighbouring town of Italy. rifices Their maffer.
of thelr valour, and the example of their nobie sentlments, made proselytes to the eause of ilberty in every city into which they were recelved." Meantime Frederick Barbarossa returned to Germany, with his fame as a puissant monnreh mueh augmented. - J. C. L. de Sismondi, Iliat. of the Italian Republics, ch. 2.
Also in: U. Balzani, The Popeal and the IIohenatavien, ch. 3-5.-G. B. Testa, llist. of the War of Frederick I. against tho Communes of Lombrrely, bk. 1-6.-E. A. Frecman, Frederick the First, Fing of Italy (Ilistorical Esalys, 1at acrien). A. D. $1163-1164$. Third visitation of Frederick Barbarossa.-The rival Popes.-Frederick Barharossa entered Italy for the third time in 1163, without an army, but imposingly es. corted ly his German nobles. Ife imagined that the eountry had beer terrorized suflielently by the savage measnres of his previous visitation to need no more military repression. But he found the Lombard eities undismayed in the assertion of their rights, and drawing together in unions whieh had never been possihie among them before. The hostility of his relations with the Papney and with the greater part of the Church gave encouragement to political revolt. His quarrel with Pope Hadrian had been ended by the death of the latter, in 1159, but only to give rise to new and more disturbing contentions. It had grown so bltter before Hadrian dled that the Pope had ailied himself by treaty with Milan, Crema, and other eities resistlog Frederick, and hat pronilsed to excommunlcate the emperor within forty days. Sudden death frustrated the combinatlon. At the election of Hadrian's sue. cessor there was a struggle of faetions, eaeh de. termined to put its representative in the papal ehair, nnd each eiaining suecess. Two rival popes were proclaimed and sobseerated, one under the name of Alexander III, the other as Victor IV. Frederick recognized the latter, who made himself the enperor's ercature. The greater part of Christendom soon gave its recognition to the former, although he iad been driven to take refuge in France. Pope Alexander excommunt. eated Frederick and Frelcriek's pope, and Pope Vletor retorted like anathemas. Whether the curses of Alexanier were more effectual, or for ot ber rensons, the anthority of Vietor dwindled, and he himself presently died (A pril 1164), whlle Frederick was making his third inspeetion of affairs in Italy. The emperor found it impossibie to exeeute hls unbendling will without an amiy. Verona, Vieenza, Padua, and Treviso helil a congress and openiy, associated themselves for common defense. Frederiek attempted to make use of the milltia forces of Pavia, Cremona, and other Ghibeillne towns against them; but he found even these eftizensoldiers so mutinous Fith disaffection that he dared not pursue the unicrtaking. Ife returned to Germany for an army nore in sympathy with fils ohstinate deaigns against Itailan ilberty.-U. Baizani, Tho Popea and the Hohenstaufen, ch. 4-5.
Also in : II. II, Milman, IIist. of Latin Christianity, bk. 8, ch. 7-8,-G. B. Testa, Hist. of tho War of Prederick I. againat the Communes of Lombardy, bk. 7.
A. D. 1166-1167. - The fourth expedition of Frederick Barbarossa. - The League of Lombardy. -" When Frederiek, In the month of October, 1166, descended the mountains of the Grisons to enter Italy [for the fourth time] by the territory of Brescia, he marched his army directly to Lodi, wlthout permitting any act of hostility on the way. At Lodi, he assembletl. .towards the end of November, a diet of the kingdom of Italy, at whleh he promlsed the Lombards to redress the grievances occasionell by the abuses of power by his podestas, anl to respeet their just llberties; he was deslrous of separating their cause from that of the pope and the klng of Sielly; and to give greater weight to his negotlation, he marched his army into central Italy. . The towns of the Veronese marches, seelng the emperor and hls arny pa-s without daring to attack them, became livider: they assemhied a new diet, in the beginning of A pril, at the eonvent of Pontida, between Jilan and Bergamo. The consuis of Crcmona, of Ber. gamo, of Brescla, of Mantua and Ferrira met there and joined those of the marches. The union of the Guelphs and Ghibellines, for the eommon llherty, was hailed wlth nnlverial joy. The deputies of the Cremonese, who fad lint their aid to the destructlon of M'lan, secomiled those of the Mllanese vlliages in implorinit ail of the eonfederated towns to rehuitd the city of Mllan. This confederation was enlled the Iarigue of Lombardy. The consuls took the outh, and their constituents afterwards repeated it. that every Lombarid should unite for the recovery of the comuon liberty; that the league for this purpose should last twenty years; and, titally, that they shomld aid each other in rejuiring in common any lamage experienced in this sicrel cause, by any one member of the conferleration: extending even to the past this eontract for rio. eiprocal security. the league resolved to rithih Milan. The militias of Bergamo, Brescia, (remona, Mantha, Verona, and Treviso, arrivel the 27th of April, 1167, on the gronnm corerell by the ruins of this grent elty. They uppor. tloned among thenselves the labour of resturing the inelosing walls; all the Milauese of the four villages, as well as those who had taken rufuge in the more distant towns, came In cowels to take part in this pious work; aud in a few weeks the new.grown clty was in a state to repel the losults ol its enemies. Lorll was soon afterwards eompeiled, hy arce of arms, to take the gath to the league; while the towns of Venicr. Maren. tia, Parma, Modena, and Bologna voluntarily and gladiy joined the association."-J. C. L. ile Sismondi, Ifist. of the Italian Republies, wMeantime Frederick Barharossa lad muli him. self master of the city of Rome. The fromas. eitizens had boldly ventured out to ment is German army and its alites on the Tusculan halls and had suffered a frightful defeat. Tholl some part of the walls of the Leonine City were carried by assault and the castellated clarch of sit. Peter's was entered with ax and sworl. Two German archhishops were among the fealers of the force whleh took the altars of the temple by storm and which polluted its floors with hlowl. Frederick's new antl-pope, Paschal 111., wurces. eor to Vietor IV., was now entlironel, :anl the empress was formaily erowned in thu afontulic basilica. Pope Alexander, who had licell in pussession of the eity, withdrew, and the victorious emperor appeared to have the great oljocts of his burning ambition within his grasip. Destiny willed otherwise. It was now Augist: the sun was burning the arid Campagna and oppressing the weary German troops. I slight raln came to refresh them, but the following dsy sudden destruction fell upon the camp. Deadiy fever attacked the army with terrihle violence and reduced lt dally. The men fell in heaps, sad when struck down ln the morning were dead by night. The disease took stronger hold owing to the superstltlous fenrs of the army and the ldea of dlvine vengeance, for the soldlers rememhered in terror the profanntion of St. Peter's, and they felt the keen edge of the $\mathrm{d}_{\mathrm{L}}$.roying angel's sword. Dechnnted, dismayed, demoralised, the lmperial army was hopelessly defeuted, and Frelerick was compelled to strike his tents and fly before the luvislble destroyer.

The fiower of lils troops lny unhuried ln the furrows, and with difficulty could he mannge to carry back to thelr natlve land the loodles of his noblest snd trustlest knlghts. Never perhaps before had Frederick given proofs of such unshnken strength of mind. . . He returned to Germany nione and nlmost a fugltlve, his bmrest knights dead, hls army destroyed, and leaving behind lilm a whole nntion of proud and wstchfui cnemles. He returned alone, hut hls spirit was undaunted and dreamt of future vic. tory nnd of final revenge."- U. Balzani, The Pijes aul the IIohenstaufen, ch. 5 .
Also iv: J. Niley. Hist. of the Papal States, bk. 6. ch. 2.-H. H. Xilmmn. IIint. of Latin Christiunity, bk. 8. ch. 10.-G. B Testa, IIist. of tho Wha of Frederick I., bk, 8-9.
A. D, 1174-1183.- The last expedition of Frederick Barbarossa. - The Battle of Legnano, and the Peace of Constance,- It was not until 1174 - seven yenrs after his filght from the lioman pestilence - that Barbnrossa wns able to return to Italy and resume hils struggle with Pope Alexander and the Lomhard cities. lle hai been detained by trouhles in Germany the growing quarrel with his most powerful vassal, llenry the Llon, of Saxony, more pnrticularly. Meantinie, the League of the Lomhard cities had sprad and galned strength, and Pope Alexander I1I. was ln actlve co-operation with it. To better fortlfy the frontlers of Lombardy, the Leaguc had bulit a strong new city, at the function of the Tanaro and Bormida, had given it un immerlinte populstlon of 15,000 people and hal namel It Alessandria, after the Pope. "The Emperor, whose arrival In Italy was urgently lmplored, was retained $\ln$ Germany by hls mlstrist of IIenry the Llon, who, in order to furnish himself whth a pretext for refusing hls asslstance In the intended campalgn wlthout comlng to an opral brach, undertook a pllgrimage to Jerusalem. A. 1). 1171; whence, after performing his devotions at theholy sepulchre, wlthout unsheathing his sword ln lits defence, he returned to lis native conntry. .

At length, ln 1174 , Frederick Barbarossn persuaded the sullen duke to perform hls duty ln the fiedd, and for the fourth thne [with nn army] crossed the Alps. A terrible revenge was taken upon Susa, which was burnt to the ground. Alexnndria [Alessandrla] withstonx the siege. The mliltary science of the sge, every 'ruse de guerre,' was exhausted by both the leslegers and the besleged, and the whole of the winter was frultiessly expended whout mny slgnal success on elther slde. The Lombard league meanwhlle assemhled an 1 m mense army ln order to oppose Frederick In the open fleld, whllst treason threatened hlm on apother side. . . . Henry also at length acted wlth open disloyalty, and declared to the em. peror, who lay sick at Chlavenna, on the lake of romo, hls lntentlon of abandonlng him; and, unshaken by Frederick's exhortation in the name of duty anil honour to renounce hils perfidlous plans, offered to provide hlm with money on conditlon of recelving considerable addltlons to hls power $\ln$ Germany, and the free lmperial town of Goslar $\ln \mathrm{glft}$.

Frederick, reduced to the alternatlve of elther following his insolent vassal, or of exposing hinself and hls wenkened forces to total destruction by remalning $\ln$ hls present positlon, courageously resolved to ablde the hazard, and to awalt the nrrival of fresh relnforcements from Germnny; the Lombnrds, however. saw their advantage, and attucked hlm at Legnano, on the 29th of Sny, 1176. The Swahlngs (the sonthern Germnns stlll remalning true to their alleglance) fought with all the courage of despalr, but Berthoid ron Zairingen was taken prisoner, the emperor's horse fell in the thlckest of the fight, hls hanner wus won by the 'Legion of Deati,' a chosen Lombard troop, nod lee was glven up as dead. Ihe esenped nlmost by a mlracle, whilst his little nrmy was entirely over-whelmed."-W. Menzei, Mist. of Germany, ch. 151.-After the disastrous battle of Legnano, Frederic " wns at length persunded, through the medlation of the repullic of Venice, to consent to $n$ truce of six years, the provlslonal terms of Whlch were all fuvourabie to the league.
At the explration of the truce Frederic's anxlety to secure the crown for his son overcame his pride, and the famons Peace of Constnnce [A, D. 1183] established the Lombard repuhiics [n. real Independence. By the treaty of Constance the citles were malntnined in the enjoyment of all the regalian rights, whether within their wnlls or In their district. which they could cinim by usage. Those of devying war, of erecting fortifications, and of administering civil and criminal justicc, were speclnliy mentloned. The nomination of their consuls, or other magistrates, was left absolutely to the citizens; but they were to recelve the investiture of thelr office from an mperinl legnte. The customnry trihutes of provision during the emperor's resldence ln Itaiy were preserved: nnd he was authorized to appoint in every city a judge of appenl $\ln$ civil causes. The Lombard lengue was confirmed, and the cities were permltted to renew it at their own discretion; hut they were to take every ten yenrs an onth of filelity to the emperor. This just compact preserved, along with every security for the liberties and welfare of the cities, as much of the lmperlal prerogatives as could be exercised hy a foreign soverelign consistently with the peopie's hnppiness.

The Peace of Constnnce presented a noble opportunlty to the Lombards of establishing a permanent federal unlon of smail repuhlics. . . But dark. long-cherished hatreds, nad tint impiacable vlndlctivecherished hatreds, nnd tint impiacable vindletive-ness whlch, at lenst $\ln$ former ages, distlnguished the private mauners of Italy, deformed her nationnl character. . . . For revenge she threw away the peari of great price, and sacrlficed even the recollection of that liberty whlch had stalked like a majestic splrit nmong the rulns of Mllan."-H. Hnliam, The Midalle Ageq ch. 3, pt. 1 (r.1).

Also nv: U. Balzanl. The Pope and the Hohenstaufen, ch. 6.-G. B. Testa, Hist. of the War of ${ }^{\text {Fr}}$ rederick I.,bk. 10 . -See, also, Venice: A. D. $117 \%$.
A. D. 1183-1250.-Frederick 11. and the end of the Hohenataufen struggles. - After the setticnient of tbe Peace of Conitance, Frederick Bar barosen made no further attempt to destroy the now well estabiished libertles of the north Itallan cities. On the contrary, he devoted himself, with considerahle success, to the regaining of their confidence and good-will, as agalnst the papacy, with which hils relations were not im proved. In southern Italy, he acquired an im portant footing by the marriage of his son Henry (already crowned King of Rome, as llenry VI.), to Constance, the sole heiress of the Norman klugdom of the Two Sicilies. Soon after whicb he went crusading to the Holy Lanl, and perlshed in Asia Minor (A. D. 1190). Ills son and successor, Henry VI., who survived him but seven years, was orcupled so much in securing the Klngdom of the Two Sleilies, already falien to his wife (1184) hy the death of the last of the Norman kings, that he had llttle tlme to trouhic the peace of Lombardy or Germany. He was one of the meanest of kings, falthless and enidblooded, - brutal to the Normans of tbe Sicilies and contemptlble in hls tratment of the Engiish King Rlchard, when his vassal of Austria made a cilance captlve of the lion-hearted prince. He died in 1197, leaving as his helr a son but four yenrs old - tbe Frederick 11. of later years. T ure was war at once. Two rival kings were elected in Germany, by the two faetlons, Gueif and Ghibelline. The next year, one of them, Philip I., the Ghit lline, a younger son of Frud. eriek Burharussa, was assasslnated; the other, Otho IV., a thon of Heary the Lion, was recognized by his opponents, and went to Rome to clain the imperiai erown. He recelved it, but soon quarrelied, as ail his predecessors had done, with the pope (the great pope Innocent III. being now on the throne), and, Gueif as he was, began to put himself in aliiance with the Ghilseilines of Italy. Meantime, tie boy Frederick had become ling of the Two Sieliies hy the death of hls mother, and Pope Innocent was his cuardlan. Ile was now brought forward by the latter as a ciaimant of the Germanic crown, against Otio, and was sent into Germany to maintaln inis cla'm. The eivii war wiich followed was practialiy ended by the battie of Bouvines (Jnly 27, 1214 -sce Bouvises) in which Otho's cause was lost. Four years after, the latter dled, and Fredeick reigned in Germany, Italy and the Two Siciles, Without a rivai, holding the three separate crowns for five years before he received the Imperial crown, in 1230. Meantime Innocent III. dled, and Frederiek became involvedi, even more bitterly than hls father or hls grandfatier had been, in quarreis with the succeeding popes. Ile was a man far beyoud his age in lntelleetual indeprinlenee (sec Germavy: A. D. 1138-1268) and freedom from superstitious servility to the priesthood. Ills taster were cuitivated, his aceompilsiments were many. He welconed the refinements whlcis Europe at that tline could borrow from the Saracens, and his court was one of gulety and spiendor. His papal enemies execrated him as a heretic, a hlasphemer and an "apocaiyptic beast." His greatcst originai of fenses had grown out of two promises wblch ine made in hls youth: 1. To lead a crusade for the recovery of Jerusalem, - which he was slow In fultailing; 2. To resign his Itaitian possessions to his son, retaining only the soverelgaty of Germany for himself, - which promise he dill not fulill at all. Tbe war of the Churcb agalnst him was implacabie, and he was under its lhan when ine lied. Thie pope even pursued him wilt maledictions when lie went, at last, upou his crusade, in 1228, aml when he did, hy negothations. free Jerusalem for a time from the Moslems (see Crubades: A. D. 1216-1299). IIe was in. vulved, moreover, in conflets with the Lominni citles (see Fedenal Government: Mem.eital Leaove) which the papacy encourageal and atimulateri, anl, ln 1236, ie won a great sletory over the League, at Cortenuova, capturina the famous "Curroceio" of the Milanese anil send. lng it as a gift to the Roman Benate. But, st. tenpting to use his sletory too Intlexlhly, lee lost the frults of it, and ail inis later y giars were years of trouhie and dlasetrous war-disustrons to Itaiy and to himiself. IIe dled on the 13 lih of Deeember 1250 . "Out of the long array of the Germanic suecessors of Charles, he [Frulerick II.] is, witil Otto III., the oniy one who comes he. fore us with a genlus and a frame of chanater that are not those of a Northern or a Teuton. There dwelt in him, it is true, all the energet sad knightly valour of hls father IIenry nind his granlfather Barharossa. But along with these, and clanging their direetlon, were other gifts, inherited perhaps from hls Itailan mother nad fostered by his education among the orange. groves of Palermo - a love of haxury and beanty, an intellect reffned, subtle, philosophiral. Through the mist of calumny and fable it is but dimly that the trutio of the man can be disermed. and the outilnes that appcar serve to quilcken ratier than appease the euriosity with which we regard one of the most extraordinary prerwinges in blstory. A sensualist, yet also a wurrior and a politician; a profonnd lawgiver and an mpas sioned poet; in his youtio bred hy crusuding fer vour, in iater life persecuting herctirs while himseif accused of blasphemy and unlwlief; of winnimg manners and ardently beloved by lis foloweri, 1, at with the stain of more than one cruel df: i upon hle name, he was the marvel of his uwa generation, and succeeding ages lowked back with awe, not unmingiel with pity, upon the in serutahle figure of the last Emperor who had braved ail the terrors of the Chureli aud died be neath her ban, the last who hall ruleci from the sands of the ocean to the shores of the sicilian sea. But while they pitied they comemned The undying hatred of tbe Papaey threw ruund hls memory a iurid light; him and him alone of all the lmperlal ine, Dante, the worshipmer of the Empire, must perforce deliver to the tlames of hell.:"J. Bryce, The Ifoly Romnen Empitr, of. 13 . -"The Emperor Frelleriek was a piet who couid not only celebrate the charms of his soserelgn lady, 'the flower of all Howers, the mese of May,' hut eond aiso exhibit inis uppreriation for the beauties of nature. . . . Freficrick ulas) delighted in scuipture, painting, ani architere ture. . . Under his fostering intlumere every branch of learning was starting into life after the slumber of ages. Frederick's age call ouly be compared to that glorious era of the Renaissance, when the sun of iearning, no lemger shorn of inls beams, poured a flool of light over the dark piaces of Europe. Fropleriek wis not ouly distinguished for his love of polite literature, but also for his ardour in the pursuit of scientlic knowledge. IIe was himself an unthor on medical subjects. He was a great patron of natural history. He used his friendiy reiations with eastern kings to form a colieetion of unimals not often seen in Europe - the elephant, camei, giraff, and cameiopari. Ile aiso wrote a treatise on Ilawklng, whlch is still cited with respect. He classlfles hirds, and treats gencraily of their bahils.

But poetry and seience were very far fron oceupying nii the thoughts of this distinpuished monarch. Iis great concern was the Internal reguiation of the kingdiom committed to his eharge. Ifis code in Sicily and Naples was framed with the special view of securing equai rights to all classes of his suhjects, and of delivering them from the yoke of the feudal oppresor. Ile stripped the nobles and prelates of their jurisdietion lit criminal cases. He aiso de. creed that any eount or luron, carryhig on war on his own aecount, should tose his head and fils gools. These were amnzing strides in the rigbt direction, but the lormer was quite unprecedented in feudai kinglons. Many justiciaries were appointed thisughout the kingdom. No one might hold thic office without the authorisation of the erown. Ife strove to make his ottheiais as righteous as he was hlmself. Ile himself eame before his courts. So great was his love of justice, that he woulif rather lose his cause than win it if he were in the wrong. No adrocates were ailowed to practise without an examination by the judieial bench. They were obiged to take an oatly that they would alluge nothing against their couscience. The eourt furnished whow: orphans, and the poor with champlons free of expense. The finw, hy Fhich it was guided, endeavoured to secure an eren innded administration of justlce."-A. B. Pennington, The Emperor Frederick III. (Royal Hint. Ȧve., Trans., weno series, v. 1) -Aithough arhitrary and despotic in temper, the poitical Inteillgence of Frederick ied hlm to practical lideas of government which were extraordinarily liberol for tis age. In his Sicllinn kingdom "the towis were shorn to a great extent of thelr focai prisilages, hut were taugbt to unite their strength for the common good. Twice, at irast, in the course of hls reign, in 1232 and in 1240, Frederick summoned thelr deputies to a conference or Pariament, 'for the weai of the Kingdom and the general advantage of the State.' Forty-seven cities, all belonglng to the Imperial domaln, sent two deputies each to the Assembly convoked, which must not be eonfounded with the Soiemn Courts held by the Soverign and his Barons for the purpose of resising charters, enacting Constitutions, and reg. ulating the government. We shouid be mistaken in supposing that the Sicitlan Pariiament enjoyed much of tbe power implied by the name. There is no trace of nuy ciamour against grlevnnees, of any complaiats against officials, or of any refusai to grant supplies. The only function of the deputies summonerl seeins to have been the assessing of the public hurdens. The Emperor demanded a certain sum of money, and the deputies, meekly complying, regulated the ways and means of raising lt. 'Send your messengers,' thus runs the writ, 'to see the Serenity of our fare on your bebalf, and to bring you back our will.' Later In the century, the Assemhly aequired greater authority. It is just posslble that Slmon de Montfort, who is kuown to have visited the Imperial Court, may have borrowed his famous improv; nen* an the shd English conatitution from as of the Commons. their first nicetin: years. Didar autis lebted to Frederir. u, urce; the gathering certaiuly preceded $\because$ minster by thirty ides our own werf intion. Shortly rictr his death, many of his innovatlons wre, borrowerl by his cousin Alon zo the Wise, and were ingerted in Las Siete Paltitas. the new Code of Castile. The ideas of the Suabian Emperor were evidently the model followed by St. Louis and mis aucissons: in Frauce, as well as in Southern Italy, the Inwyer was feeling hls way towaris the enjoyment of the power wieided of old by the knlglit and the churehman; Philip the Fair was abie to carry out the projcets whleh Frederick had merely heen able to sketch. The world made rapidi strides between 1230 and 1300. The Northern half of Itaiy, distracted by endless struggies, was not lnsenslhie to the improvements introlueed into the South by her mighty son. But in the North two fatal obstacles existed, the Papai power nuif the munieipal spirlt of the varions States, which marred ali Frederiek's efforts in behalf of Italian unity." Frederick's court was e most briilinnt aud retined in Europe. Mr. Kington, hls historian, introluces us to one of the Emperor's lunquets, In the following description: "A great variety of strungers meet at the bunqueting hour. Ambassadors from the Greek Monarel arrlve with a present of faleons. Some clericai visitors from Germany are astounded to find themselves seated close to the turbaned men of the East, and shudder on hearing tbat these nre envoys from the Sultan of Cairo and the Old Man of the Mountain. The honest Germans whisper among themselves some remarks on tile iate end of the Duke of Bavaria, who was stahbed at Keiheim hy a man, suspeeted to he an assussin, employed by the niysterious Oid Man on Frederick's hehaif. Tbe Emperor hinself eats and drinks very iittle. Ife is the very model of a bost.
The Emperor, It must be aiiowed, is nuther ioose in his talk. Speaking of his iate Crusude, he remarks: If the Gof of the Jews had seen my Kingrom, the Terra di Lavoro, Caiabria, Slelly, and Apulia, lie would not have so often pralsed that hand whleh he promised to the Jews and bestowed upon them.' The Bishops treasuse up this unlucky speech, which will one day be noised abrond ali over Italy. When the meai is over, the company are nmused hy the feats of some of the Aimehs, hrought from the East. Two young Arah girls of rare beauty place thensei res ench upon two buifs in the middle of the flat pavement. On these they move hackwards and forwards, singing and beating tlme with cymbals and cnstanets, while throwing themselves into litricate postures. Games and muslcal instruments, procured for the Empress, form part of the entertainment. We hear moreover of a Saraeen dancer from Aqultalne. Such sports are relished by tine guests quite as much as the Greek wine and the viands prepared hy Berard the Court cook, who ls famous for his scapece: this dish, eonsisting of fish hoiied In sult water und sprinkied with saffrou, popular to this day in the province of Lacce, has been derived from Apicius. . . The Emperor now shows hls guests the wiid beasts, which he las brought from Africa and the East. There is the huge elephant. soon to be sent to Cremone, the nces are the three blote that can never be wiped away from the memory of Frederick the Second He has painted his lifeness with his own hand. His Registers wlth thelr varied entries thon. more light upon his nature than any panegric or dlatribes can do. One example will be enough. If he wishes to get an impregasble cnstle into hls hands, he thus writes to his gen. eral:- Pretend come business, and warily call the Castellan to you; selze on hlm if you can, and keep hlm till he cause the castle to be sur rendered to you.'. Frederick's cruelty is in. disputable. Hls leaden copes, which weighed down the victlms of his wrath untll dcath came to the rescue, were long the talk $c$ ? Italy sind are mentloned by Dante."-T. L. Klagton, Ilitt of Frederick the Second, Emperor of the Romine, i. if ch. 9. - "After the death of Frederick 1i., an interval of twenty-three years passell without the appointment of a klng of the Romans [the Great Interregnum - see Gerkusy : A. D. 1:30 1272], and an lnterval of slyty years without the recognttion of an emperor ln Italy." Freterick' son Courad, whom he had caused to le crowned, was driven out of Germany and died in 125 . Another son, Manfred, acqulred the erowa nf Siclly and relgned for a tlme; hut the unrelentlng pope persuaded Charles of Anjou to make conquest of the kingdom, and Manfred was slaig In battle (A. D. 1286). Conrad's young son, Conradin, then attempted to recover the sicilian throne, but was defeated, taken prisoner, and perished on the scaffold (1268). He wua the last of the Hohcnataufen.-O. Browning, Guefo and Ghilellines, ch. 2-3.
Also as: J. Bryce, The IFoly Roman Empire, ch. 11-13. - E. A. Freeman, The Emperer fred. erick the Scond (Historical Essays, e. 1, Examy 10). -Mrs. W. Busk, Medieral Popes, Emperor, Kings, and Crusaders, bk. 4 ( 0. . 2-4)
A. D. 1198-1216. - The establishing of Pt. pal Sovereignty in the States of the Church. See Papacy: A. D. 1198-1216.
13th Century.-Political conditions which prepared the way for the despots.-"The struggle hetween the Popes aud the linheastaufen left Italy $\ln$ a politleal condition which differed essentlaliy from that of the other coun. tries of the West. Whlle in France, spain, sad England the feudal system was so orgsaised that, at the close of its exlstence, It was asturally transformed lato s unified noouardhy, and while $\ln$ Germany it helped to maintain, at least outwarly, the unity of the enpire, faly had shaken It off almost entirely. The Emperirs of the fourteenth century, even in the most favourable case, were no tonger received and respeted as feudal lords, hut as possible leaders and :up. porters of powers already In existence. while the Papacy, with its crcatures ant allies, was strong enough to hlader national unity la the fu. ture, not strong enough itself to bring abour that unlty. Bet ween the two tay a nultitude of politi. cal units - republics and despots - in pirt of lows standing, in part of reecut origin, whose existence was founded slinply on their power to malntaln lt . In them for the first time we detect the modern political spirit of Europe, sur rendered freely to lts own instincts, often dis playing the worst features of an unbridhed egoism, outraglig every right, and killing every germ of a healthier cutiure. But, wherever this virious tendcncy ls overcome or in suy wsy compenasted, new fact appeari in history the state at the outcome of reffection and calcula. thom, the state an a work of art. This new life diaplays itself in hundred forms, both in the republican and in the despotic states, and determines their inward conotitution, no iens than their foreign poilicy. The internal condition of the deapotically governed states had a mem. orable counterpart in the Norman Empire of Lower Italy and Sicily, after its transformation by the Emperor Frederick II. Bred amid trea. von and peril in the neighbourhood of the Saracens, Frederick, the first ruier of the modern type who sat upon a $t^{*}$.rone, had early accustomed himself, both in criticism and action, to a thoroughly objective treatment of affairs. Ilis acquaintance with the internal condition and administration of the Saracenic states was close and ins'mate and the mortai struggle in which he was engaged with the Papacy compelled him, no less than hia adversaries, to bring into the ficid all the resonrces at his command. Fredcrick's measures (especialiy after the year 1291) are aimul at the complete destruction of the feudal state, at the transformation of the peopie into a multitude destitute of will and of the means of resistance, but proftable in the utmost degree to the exchequar. He centralised, in a manner hitherto unknown in the West, the whole judiciai and political administration by estah. lishing the right of appeal from the feudal courts, which he did not, however, abolish, to the im. perial judges. No office was henceforth to be filled by popular election, under penaity of the devastation of the offenuing district and of the ens'avempnt of its inhabitants. Excise duties were introduced; the taxes, based on a comprehensive assessment, and distributed in accordance with Mohammedan usages, were cohected by those emiel and vexatious methols without Which, it is true, it is impossible to obtain any money from Or'entais. Here, is short, we find, not a people it simply a disciplined muititude of subjects. The internai police, and the kervel of iue army for forcign service, was composty of Saracens who had been hronght over from Sicily to Nocera and Luceria - nen who Were deaf to the cry of misery and careiess of the bsn of the Church. At a later period the subjects, by whom the use of weapons had long been forgotten, were passive n asses of the fall of Jianfred and of the selzurt of the government by Charles of Anjou; the latter continued to use the system which he found already at work At thic side of the centralising Emperor appeared an usurper of the mngt peculiar kind: his Ficar and son-in-law, Ezzelino da Romann.

The conquasts and usurpations which hact hitherto taken $p^{\prime}$, ee in the Middle Ages rested on real or pretended inheritance and other such claims, or clse were effected agginst unbelicvers and excommunicated persons. Here for the first time the attempt was openiy made to found a throne by wholesaie murder and endiess burbarth -" by the adoption, in short, of any means With a ilew to nothing but the end pursued ${ }^{\text {d }}$ None of his sucecssors, not even $C$ ssar Borgia, rivslled the coiossal guilt of Ezzelinc; but the example once set was not forgotten. . . Im. medistely after the fail of Frederick and EzzeHac, a crowd of tyrants appeared upon the scene The struggle between Guelph and Ghibelline was their opportunity. They

Timen in general as Ghibeilino ieaders, but at times and urder conditions in verious, that it is impoesibie not to recognise in the fact a law of supreme and univermal necesaity." $-\mathbf{J}$. Burck. hardt, The Renaiseance in Italy, pt, 1, eh.
A. D. 12r5.-The begingiag, at Florence, the canses and the meaniug of the atrife of the Gueif. and Ghibellites.- "In the year 1215 it chanced that a guarrei occurred at a festival between some young nobles of Florence. It was an event of as frivoinus, and apparantiy unimportant, a character as thousands of other such broils; hut this obscure quarrel has teen treated by the whoie body of Florentine historians as tise origin and stal $\cdot \mathrm{g}$ point of that sel sof civif wars which shaped the entire futur. forthe whole fubric of soclety shook to its centre the whole fubric of soclety throughout central Italy. The story of it has become m - norable therefore in F'lorentine annals, and has been renbut by many generations of poets, painters, novelists, and suiptors" novelists, and scuiptors." Briefly sketched, the story is this: A handsome youth of the Buondel. monti family, mixing in a quarrel at the festival alluded to, struck one Oldo in-inghi des fanti with his poniard. Common friends of otwo brought about a reconcfiiation, by metand of an arrangement of marriage bet ween Buondelmon: and a niece of the injured man. But the ladj was plsin, and Buondelmonte, faliing madly in love with another, more charming, whom evil chance and a scheming mother threw temptingly in his way, did not seruple to break hls engagement, and to do it with insult. He wedded his new love, who was of the Donati family, on Easter Day, and on that same day he was slnin by the Amidei, whose house he had 20 grossiy affronted. "The assassins retired to their foraffronted. "The assassins retired to their fortress houses, and ieft tine bridal party to form itself as it might into a funerai procession. 'Great was the upronr in the city. He was piaced on a bier: and his wife took her statlon on the bicr aiso, and hehl his head in her iap, violently wesping; and in that manner they carried him tirough the whoic of the city; and on that day began the ruin of Fiorence.' The last parase of the alove citation marks the slgnif. cance which the Tuscan historians have attributed to this incident, and the important place that has always been assigned to it in Flosentine history, We are toid by ali the earifest historians, cspeciaily ky Mailspini, in whosechildhood these events must have happened, and whom Viiiani copies almost word for word, that from this quarrei began the great, fatal, and worid-famous division of Fiorence into the parties of Gneiph and Ghibeiline. Dante goes of far ss to consider the conduct of siuondeimonte in this affair 80 en tirely the cause of the eviis tint arose from the Guelph and Ghibeilinc wars, that had that cause not existed, no surh misfortunes would have arisen. .... Iet the historians admit that the pnrty names of Guelph and Ghibelline were pnrty names of Guelph and Ghibelline were known in Florence iong before; but they say that not tili then did the city divide itself lato two hostile camps under those raliying cries. It is curiousir clear, from the accounts of Msiispini and Villani, that, as usual in such matters, the Florentines had but a very hazy notion as to tbe menning and origir of the two names [see GuElfe And Gureminins? and Geruary: A.D.
and Inhibellines.

1189-1208], for the anke of which they were prepared to cut erach other's throsts. Any name or watchword is gocul enough for a party mallying cry. When once passions have leen connected with it; but the Florentines understood that Ghihellhe meant attachment to the Empire in opposilion to the Chureh, and Guelph attachment to the Church in opposition to the Empire.
But the guarrel of Guelph with Ghbelline in Florence was the expression of a still witler eprearl and nore perrennial conflict. . . . The Ghilellines were the old Imperial nohles, who, whether more anclently or more recently incorpornted into the boily of Florentine citizens, formed the aristocracy of the socinl body, and were naturally Imperialist in their sympathes. These Ghibellines were the high Tories or the Florentine community. The boly of the people were Guclphs, noming themselves after the party professiag attachment to the Chnreh only be. cause the I'apacy was in oppoxition to the Empire. The Guelphs wero the Whigs of Florence. The Itadicals appeared on the scene in due time and normal seyuence." From Florence. as its cunter, the strife of the two factions spriad throughout Italy. "Ghibellinism was nearly universal in the north of Italy, divided ninong a number of more or less well kuown grent familles, of whom the priacipal were the Visconti at Dlilnn, and the Della Scala at Verona. Naples and the States of the Church were Guelph; the former, as need hardly be suggested, from polltical circumstances, from upposition to the Empire, and from coancetion: rat'ser than from principle. Tuscany and the whole of Central Italy werculivided bet ween the two, although the real strength and stronghold of genuine Guelphism whs there. Wlthout Floreace, there would lave been no Guelph party. Had those stout sandallesi and leather-jerkined Florentine burghers of the 13 th century not undertaken and perseverd in that crusade against the feudal nobles aad the Ghibelline principle, which was the leading occupatlon and ides of the Commoawealth during all that cent ury, Ghibellinism and Imperialism would have long since possessed and ruient Italy from the Alps to the toe of the boot "-T. A. Trollope, Hint. of the Comnonvealth of Florence, bk. 1, ch. 3, and bk. 3, en. 1 (c. 1).-"One party called themselves the Emperor's liegemea, nnd their watchword was authority and law; the other side were the liegr. men of Holy Church, and their cry was libe. and the distinction as a broad one is true. a democracy wonld become Ghibelline, with scruple, if lts nelghbour town was Guelf; nmong the Guelf liegemen of the Church tiberty, the pride of blood aad love of po. were not a whit iaferior to that of their opp. aents. Yet aents. Let... it is not impossible to trsce in the two factions differeaces of temper, of moral and political inclinations, which, though visible only o:a a large scale and in the mass, were quite sufficient to give meaniag and reality to their mutual opposition.

The Ghibellines as a body reflected the worldliness, the license, the irreligion, the reckless selfishness, the dariag insolence, aad at the same time the galety and pomp, the princely magnificence and geaerosity and largeness of mind of the House of Swabin [the Hohenstaufen]; they were the men of the court and camp. . . . The Guelfs, on the other hand, were the party of the middle elasses; they mose out of and held to the people; they were atrong by their compactnesa, their organisathon In cities, their commercial relations and int reate their command of money. Further, they wire profensedly the jarty of strictness and ridigion.

The genuine Guelf spirit was aunterr, fru. gal, independent, carnest, religious, fond of th home and Church, and of thome celfomitions which bound together Church and home: in its higher form lntolerant of evil, Int hitole: nnt nlwnye of whatever displeased it. Yitt there was a grave and noble nunliness about it which long kept lt alive in Florence." - IN. W. Chureh, Florence: A. I). 1215-120).
A. D. 1236-2259.-The tyranny of Eccelino d) Romano in the Veronese or Trevisan Marches, and the crussde against him. Nre Veroxa: A. I. 1236-1230.
A. D. 1248-1278. - The vars of a generation of the Guelfs and Ghibellines In Tuscany. See Florencf: A. I). 1248-1278.
(Southern): A. D. 1250-1268.-Invasion and conguent of the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies by Charles of Anjous on the Invitation of the Pope.-"The denth of the Emperor Firuly riv II., in 1250 , had lieen followed ia less than four yeun' by that of his son and succeson ('onmul IV. from whose son Conradin, at that tine sn infant, the Crowa of the Two Slcllies was usnrped by his uncle Manfred, a natural child of the derensed Frederic. The hatral of the bee of lione, not. withstanding the frequent changes which had occurred in the Papal Chair, still pursuenl the Line of IIohenstauffen, even in this illegitimate branch, and it was transmitted as un horeditary possession from Innocent IV, throngh Alexander IV. and L'rban IV., to the IV th Clemment. Interference $\ln$ Germany itself was forblidien by the independencr of the Electorul Princes: aml when It was found impossible to obtain the nomination of an Emperor decidedly in the Guilph interest, Alexaader contented himself by endenvouring to sepnrate the Throne of the Two sicilies from that of Germany, and to establish upon the former a Feudatory, nad therefore a Clumpion, of the Chureh. Various alliances for this purpose were projected by Alexander, aad liy pis successors Win adopted a slmilar policy: snd the Crown, whleh was in truth to be conquiret from Manfred, vins offered as an investiture which Rim had a full right to bestow." After long *uns with Henry III. of Englual. who the Siclilian prize for his second son, - and who pali large sums to the papal v by way of earuest money, bint who littic ability to oust the possessor, Pope , at len. th, closed a bargain with that am. uus npe "utor in royal claims and titles. Charles of is jou, brother of St. Louis, king of France. The honesty of Louls was somewhat troubled by the uascrijuulous transaction: but his conscience submitted itself to the instructions of the Ifoly Father, aad he permitted his brother to embark in the evil enterprise. "Charles, accordingly, having first nccepted the Setator. ship of Rome, with which hlgh magistrace he Was invested by her citizens, negexilitel witit the Iloly See, most nbly and much to his alrantage, for the loftier dignity of Kingship. In linle more thaa a month after he had received bis Crown from the hancis of Clement IV., who had become Pope, he totally defeated and killed bis opponent Manired, In the battle of Crandella war fenevento, Fehruary, 1200]. Confai'ín, who had now srrived at years of discretion, way stili hin rivsl; but the capture of the young Prince st Tsgilacozzo [1208], and his speedy conmittai to the executioner, condrmed Charies of Anjoid in his Kilngdom, at the everlating expense of his good name. Few inchients In Ilistory gre more cajculated to awaken just indigna. thon than the untimely end of the brave, wronged, and galiant Conralin. Cbaries of Anjou thus founded the inst dinnasty of his House which reigned over the Sicilles. The pretensions which Aragon afterwards alvanced to the Crown of that Kingdom rested on a marriage between Perlon, the efileat son of King James, and Constance, a danghter of Manfred. "-E. Smedley, Mint. of France, pt. 1, ch. 6.
Alho in: J. Micheiet, Miut. of France, $b k .4$, ch. 8.-11. I1. Milman, Mist. of Latin Chriatianity, bk. 11, ch. 3 (0. 5), Mrs. W. Busk, Medieml Pypes, Binjerors, Kings, and Crusaders, bk. 5 (e. f).
A. D. 1250-1293.-Development of the popnlar Constitution of the Florentine Commonwealth. See Florevce: A. D. 1250-1203.
A. D. $1250-1520$ - The Age of the Despots. -The rise of Princlpailtles.-" From the death of Pretlerlek the Scconi [A. D. 1250] . . . ail prac. keal power of an imperial kingiom in Italy may le said to have passed away. Presently begins the gradual change of the commonweaitils lnto trannies, and the grouping together of nuay of them into iarger states. We also see the beginning of nore deflnite cinims of temporal dominton on beinaif of the Popes. In the course of the 300 years between Frederick the Second and Charies the Flfth, these processes gradually changed the face of the Itaifan king. don. It became in the cnul a collection of prin. cipalltles, broken only by the survival of a few oligarchle commonwenlths and by the anomalous dominion of Venice on the mainiand. Between Freterick the Second and Charles the Fiftio, we may lomk on the Empire as practicaliy in abeyance in Italy. The combing of an Emperor always culsed n great stir for the tl"e, hut it was only for the time. After the $\frac{6}{}$ of Rudiof of Hahshurg to the Popes, n disthact. was drawn between Imperiai and papal territ y in Italy. While curtain princes and commo weaitis stli acknowledged at least the nominni superiority of the Einperor, others werc now held to stand In the same relation of vassalage to the Pope."E. A. Frecman, Hintorical Geing. of Europe, ch. 8, sect. 3. -" During the 14 th andisth centuries we tind, roughly speakling, six sorts of despots in italian citles. Of these the First ciass, which is a very small one, had $n$ dignnstic or hereditary right accruing from iong seignorinl possession, of their several dlistricts. The most eminent are the houses of Montferrat and Savoy, the Marduses of Ferrara, the Princes of Urhlno.
The Necond ciass comprise those nobles who oh tained the titie of Vicars of the Empire, and built an itlegal power upon the hasis of imperiai right in iombardy. Of these, the Delin Scaia ind Virconti famfles are iliustrious instances.

The Thirt class is importnnt. Nobies charged with military or judicial power, as Capitad or Podestas, hy the free burghs, used their authority to ensiave the cities they were chosen tin udninister. It was thus that nimost 3-18
ail the numerous tyrants of Lombardy, Carrared st Padua, Gonzaghl at Mantua, Hoal and Cor reggi at Parma, Torrensl and Visconti at Milsn Scottl at Piacenza, and to torth, erected thelr deapotic dyanaties. ,. In the Fourth class we tind the principie of force still more openly at work. To it may be assigned those Condottieri who male a prey of cities at their pleasure. The ilinstrions l'guccione deila Fagginoia, who neglected to follow up his victory over the Guelfs at Monte Cutini, In onder that he might cement his power In Lucca and Pisa, is an early Instance of this kimi of tyrant. His successor, Cinstruc. clo Castracane, the hero of Machiavelil's romance, is another. But it was not until the frst baif of the $: 5$ th century that professional Condottieri became powerful cnough to found such king. dons as that, for example, of Francesco Sforza at Minn. The Flfth class Includes the nephews or sons of Popes. The Rlario principnlity of Forif, the Della Rovere of Urhino, the Borgia of Romagna, the Farnese of Purma, form a diatiact species of despotisms ; but all these nre of a coinparatively late origin. Lintil the pnpacy of Sixtus IV, and Innocent V111. the Popes had not bethought them of proviling $\ln$ this way for their relatives. . . There remuins the Stxth and iast cluss of despots to be mentioned. Thls again is jarge and of the tirst importance. Cltizens of eminence, like the Medillat Fiorence, the Bentivogli at Boiogna, the Bagloni of Perugia, the Gambacortl of t'sa, like Panilofo Pctrucel in Slenn (1502), Roméo Pepoli, the nsurer of Bologna (1323), the plebeian Alticilnio and A gnlanti of Padia (1313), acculreif more than thelr dne weight to the conduct of affairs, and grad. unily tended to tyranns. In innst of these cases grent weaith was the origimil source of despotic ascentiancy. It was not uncommon to buy cities together with their Signory.

But personal qualities and nobility of blood might also produce despots of the sixth class."-J. A. Symonds, Remainatuce in Italy: The Age of the Denpits, ch. 2 .
A. D. 126x-1264.-The supplanting of the Venetian hy the Genoese at Constantinopie and in the Black Ses.-War hetween the Republics. Sue Genoa: A. D, 1261-1200.
A. D. 1273-1291.-Indifference of Rodolph of Hapahurg to his Italian dominions.-Hia negiect to ciaim the imperial crown. See GerMaNY: A. D. 1273-1308.
A. D. 1277-1447.-Tyranny of the Viacontl at Milan.-Their dominetion in Lombardy and their fall. See Mrlas: A. D. 127i-147.
A. D. 1282-1293. - War between Genon and Pisa.-Battle of Meloria.-War of Florence and Lucca against Pisa. See Pisa: A. D. 1083-1293.
(Southera): A. D. 1282-1300.-The Sicilian Vespers.-Severance of the Two Siclliea.End of the House of Anjou in the inaular king-dom,-"Peter, King of Aragon, had married Constance, the danghter of Manfred, and laid clain to the kingdom of Siclly in her right. He se for heip to Diciael Paiaiologos, the restorer of the Eastern Entpire. The Emperor agrced to his proposais, for his Empire was tirentened by Charies of Anjou. These negotiatlons were, it is said, carried on throngh Glovanni di Procida, a Sicilian exile, who, us the story goes, had suffered cruei wrongs from the French. Ciarlis knew something of the plans of the allies, and both partiea were jreparing for war, but afiair were hrought to a crime $h_{j}$ a chance oceurrence. On March 80, 1282, a brutal inault was oflered by a Freach coldier to a hride in the presence of her frtenda and nelghbours outside the wall of Palermo, and the anothered hatrel of the people aroke out into ojen violence. The cry 'Denth to tho Frencin' was rained, sall all who belonged to that aation in Palermo were alain without merey. This masuacre, which is called 'The Siefilan Vespers,' apread through the whole island; the yoke of the oppressor was liroken and the lanil wat delivered. Charles laid slege to Mesoina, but ine was lorced to retire by Peter of Aragon, who lauded and wse recelved as King. Pope Martln in vain oxcommunicated the rebels and their allles, and, In 1284, Charles received a great hlow, for his on was defeated and taken prlsoner by Roger of Lorla, the Aumiral of the Catalan fleet. Charles of Anjou dien in 1286, and two years later his zon, also cailed Charles, rannomed himself from prison. "-W. Hunt, Hist. of Italy, ch. 4. - Charlen of Anjou "died of grte?, lesving his son, the prince of Belerno, a prisoner, and Martiu followed uin, before he could pro claim a general crusade againat the invader of the apostolic fiel. Pedro, having enjoyed his two crowne to the day of his death, left them to hia sons, Alphonso and Janses respectlvely, and inoth were excommunlcated by Ilonorlus IV. for theis accession. The prince of Saicrno, obtalnIng his release by the mediation of Edwarl of England, was absoived by Nicholas IV. from the conditions to winich he had aworn, and erowned at flome king of A pulia (i. e., Naples) anil Sicily, A. D. 1289 . Ilis hojes of regaining the island were coustantly dlsappointed. James, having succeeded to the crown of Arragon by the death of Aiphonso, was persuarled to resign Sicily to Charies on conditlon of recelving his daughter in nartiage, with an ampie duwry. Boniface VIII. aiso gracionsiy gare ilm leave to conquer tho Isia de of Corstca and Sardinia, from the republies of Pisa ami Genos. The sicilians, however deciinlng to he so bartered, bestowed thelr crown on Jumea's brother Frederic [1205]; und though James contrlbuted ills fleet to reduce him, he retalned the isiand throne [1300], while Charles and the pope were obliged to rest content wlth the eontincutal kingdom. Their only aatisfaction was to persist in ealing Napies ty the name of Sieily, and to stigmatise tipeir ryal as king of 'Trtnacria.' "-G. Trevor, Jume: from the Fill of the IVestern Emprire, $\quad 940$.

Also in: S. A. Du 1, llist. of Spain and Portugal, bk. 8, sect. 2, ci. 4.
A. D. 1394-1299.-War between Venice and Genoa. Sec Genoa: A. D. 1261-1:99.
A. D. 1297-8319.-The perfected ariatocratic Conatitution of Venice. See Venice: A. D. 1032-1319.
A. D. $1300-13$ : 3 . - New factions of Florence and Tuncany,-Bianchi and Neri. See Flor. ENCE: A. D. 1295-1300, and 1301-1313.

14th Century. -The Remaiasance in Its be-gianing.-"It was not tine revivai of antlquity awne, but its union with tine genlus of the Italias jeopic, which achieved the eonquest of the West. ern worid.

The civlllsatlon of Grecce and Rome, which, ever sinee the fourteenth century, obtained so powerful a hoid on Itailian life, as the souree and basls of euiture, as the object and ideal of existence, partiy aiso as an avowed reaction guinst precedlag tendencies - thls clvilisation had long been ezertiag partial taflueace oo medinval Europe, aven beyond the boundarles of Italy. The culture of which Charles the Grea what representative wes, in fece of the barbarlan of the eeventh and elghth centurles, eaventially a IRenalamace, and could appear under no other form. . But the remuscitation of antiquity anok s diferent form In Italy from that which ft asummed la the North. The wave of harbarimm hed scarcely, zone hy before the people, in whom the former life wai hut half offaced, showed a consciousbet, of It past and a wlah to reproduce with reflection borrowed nien dellberately and with reflectlon borrowed this or the other ele. ment of clasical clviliantion; in Italy the sym. pathies both of the learned and of the peopie were naturally engaged on the shie of antiquity as a whole, whlch atood to th a as aymbol of past greatnces. The Latin. aguare, too, was eacy to an Italian, and the numercus monuminats and documents In which the country abounded facilltated a retura to the past. Witil this ten dency other elemente-the popular character which tinie had now greatly modlted, the politIcal Institutions Imported by the Lombaris from Germany, chlvalry and other northern forms of civiliation, and the influence of religion and the Cisurch - comblined to produce the molern ltaj. lan aplrit, which was deatloed to terve as a model and ldeal for the whole western world. Ilow antiquity began to work $\ln$ : plastic art, as anon an the flood of barbartsm had aubokleyl, is cesariy shown in the Tusean hulldings of the tweifth and In the sculptures of the thirteenth eenturies. But the great and general enthasinsm of the Italiana for classlcal autíquity did not difainar Itseif before the fourteenth ceutury. For fins developmeut of civle life was required, which took place only in Itaiy, and there not thit then. It was needful that noble and hurgher should first lparn to dwell together on equai terms, and that a social world abouid artse wiblil frit the Want of culture, and had the lelsure ond the means to obtain it. But eulture, as sumn as it freed liself from the fantastic bonds of the . Didilie Ages, could not at once and without help tidd lts way to the understanding of the physiesl and Inteileetual world. It needed a guille, and found one in the anclent clvllisation, with its werith of truth and knowledge In every sjlittuai Interes. Both the form and the aubatance of thlscivilisation were ado + with admiring gratitule; it became the chi.. t of the culture of the age."-J. Burckha , Senaiseance in Italy, pt. is. ch. 1 ALso i A. Symouds, Renuinmurt itt Itdy: Agp "ff the Deapoln, ch. 1.-立e and Librames: lienalnonce.
A. D. $1305-1309 .-$ Removal of the Papal Court to Lyona and then to Avignon. - The "Bahyioniah Captivity." See PAPACr: A. D. 1294-1348.
A. D. 1310-83: 3 . Visitatlon of the Emperor Henry VII.- Hostility of Florence and aiege of the city.-Repuise from Rome.-The Emperor's death.-" No Emperor had come lato Italy since the death of Frederte 11. [1250] Neither Rudoif nor hls two auccessors [see Ger. MANY: A. D. 1278-1808] had been crowned Emperor, but on the death of Albert of Austria, the Kling of the Iromans, in 1908 , the electors chose IIenry, Count of Luxem re [Henry VII.]. In 1310 he entered Italy wiltu s sriail German army. Unlike most of these Imperial expeditions, this as approved of by the Pope. The Freach Elog Phillip IV. was really mater of Pope Clem. eat V., who did aot live in Italy, but come. tlmes withla the Freach kiagdom, of to the Eaglish territory of Bordenux, of in Arignon, a elty of the Emplre. But Clement did not like beiring the Freach yoke, and was fearful leat anme one of grenter tulents than Charies of Vilota should make an attempt on Italy, and make it imponthle for the Pope to get free from the power of the Freach. He therefore favoured the expedition of King llenry, and hoped that it would revive the Ohibelid party and counternct the inturence of the Guelfs, who were on the side of Erance. Jante tells us the eelinga which were roused hy the coming of the King. He wenief to come an God's vicegereat, to change the firfunes $0^{}$ men and bring the exiled home; hy the majesty of his presence to bring the peace for whleh the banished poet longed, and to alminister to all men juatice, judgment and equity. lleary was worthy of these high hopes; for he was wise, just, and gracluts, courageous io oght and honoimble in councl!: but the task was wo hard for him. At fint all seemed to go well with him. The Ghibelins were ready to recelve hlm as their natural lond; the Guelfn were inclined towards bim by the Pope. In Milan the chief power was in the hands of Gullo defla Torre, the descendant of Pagano della Torre, who had done good service to the cfty after the hattle of Corte Nuova. He was a strong Guelf, and was at the head of a largc number of troops; for he was wery rich. Ilfs great enemy was the Ghibe.In Matieo Visconti, who contlnunlly struggled with Guldo for the mastery. The king was willingly recelved by the Mifanese, and Guldo was not Gehiladhand in hiddlag film welcome. Whito he was at Mllan, on Christmas Day, 1310, he was crowned with the fron crown of the ltalian kingdom, whleh was made of steef in the shape of lanrel lenves, and sudded with gems. 110 mado both purtles enter into an outward reconellation, and the chicfs of both vied with one another in making bim large presents. The King's need of money soon tired out the Milanese, and an fusurection was mule in which both Jatteo and Gulito jolned: but Matico betrayed his rival, and Guido and all the Guelfa were driven out of Milian, Whlch henceforth remained in the power of the Ohbelin Visconti [see Milas: A. D. 127\%-14t?]. The King's demands for monev made him unpopular, and each citty, as be left ft, fose against him. Disa, and the other Tuscan enemies of Florence, recelved bim with joy. But the great Quelde clty shut her gates against him, and made alliance wlth Robert, the Angevin King of Saples, the grandson of Chartes of Anjou, and sterwards gave him [liobert the slgnorla. Rome recelved a garrison from Saples, and tho Imperial corouatlou had to lee performed in the Church of St. "Ohn Lateran,"- IIenry being repuisetl In an attempt to force his entrance to the quarter of the Vatican. - W. Hlunt, Hlist. of Ithy, ch. 4.--"The clty [of Rome] was divided fu fecling, and the emperor's position so precar. ous that he retired to Tivoli at the end of August, and moved towards Tuscany, ravaging the Perugian territory on his way, being determined to bring Florence and afl her alles to submis. slon." By rapld movemet ts he reached Florence tui thrested the city before his intentions were underatond. "A sudden amault would pmobly have carried the city, for the inhabitants were taken by surprise, wore to a tate of consharnstion, and could scarcely belleve that the emperor wan ther in permon: their natural energy toon returned, the Gonfalonters membled their companies, the whole population armed themelves, even to the blshop and clergy: camp was formed within the walla, the outer ditech palimaded, the gates clowed, and thus for two days they remalined hourly expecting an amault. At last their caralry [which had been cut of by the emperor's movement were meen returning by various waya and in amalidetachmenta; auccours also poured in from Lucra, Prato, Platola, Volterra, Colle, and San Olurignano; and even Bolugna, Rimlnt, Ravenna, Faenza, Cesina, Agoliblo, Cittid di Cautelio wlth several other placen rendered their anslstance: indeed to great and axtensive wan Fiorenthe influence and so rapld the communication. that wihin eight days after the investment 4,000 men at arms and innumerable infantry were asembled at Florencel An this was about double the Imperial cavairy ail four times iti infantry, the clity gates were thrown open and business priceeded as usual, except through that entrance immedlately opposlte to the enemy. For two and forty days did the emperor remain withta a mite of Florence, ravaging all the country, but making no impret. sion on the town; after which he ratsed the stege and moved to San Casciano, elght miles south." Iater, the Imperialist army was withdrawn to Poggitonzi, and in Mareh, 1313, it was moved to Pasa, to prepare for a new campalgn. "The Florentines had thus from the first, without muelh millitary skill or enterprise, provel themselves the boldest and hitterest eucmles of lleory; thelr opposition hall never ceusell; by letters, pronilsen, and money, they corrupted all Lonhharly.
Yet party quarrels did not cease. . . . The cm. puror now turned nit his energles to the conqueat of Nuptes, as the first step towarifs that of laly Itself. For this he formed a feague with slelly mid Genon; assembled troops from Germany and Lomba. Iy; filled his treasury in warious ways, and soon, iJund himself at the he: Il of 2.500 Gcr . man cavalry and 1.500 ltalian men at-arme, besldes a Genopse fleet of 70 yalleys muler Lamba Dorla and 50 more supplied by the King of Siclly, who with $1,(\mathrm{w})$ nun at-nrims had already invaded Calabria hy unturiag leggio and cther places." On the Sth of Aue ist, the emperor left Piss upon ${ }^{\text {a }}$ is expedition ageninst $X$-ples; on the 2th of $t$ ! same month ha diled at is nconvento - not mi hout suspici wo freive alhingh his Inness, zan beforehie ceparture Ploa. "The Intelligence of this ereat spreat ad conster. nation amongst his friends and sumes; the army soon separated, amy lite uwn immediate followers with the Pisan ath. arkem arried bls body back to Piss where it us mupplficently interred."-II. E. Napler, flurt 1. ch. 15 ( c .1

Also IN: T. A. Trollope, $A$ monwealth of Florence, bk. 2, eh
A. D. 13i2-1338.-The riside

17 reverses of the Scaligeri of the the Finger of $V$ masVerova: A, D, 1260-133se and is ce see erona: A. D. 1260-1338
A. D. 1313-1330.-Guelf leadershiy of King Robert of Naples.-Wars of P!=- =- Fing eace.-The riae and threatening

푼

Castruccio Castrecani--Siege of Geman.Vialt of the Emperer Lould of Bararin. Sub fection and dellverance of Pisa, -" Whilie the unexpected deatil of IIenry VII. deprivel the OLibelin party of lim leader, and long wars be trees rival candidates for the succeaton to the German throne piscest the imperial authority over Italy in atey mace [nee Genkany: A. If 1314-1347]. Robert, king of Naples the chief of the Guelf party, the ponsemor of Provence, and the f.zourte of the church, began to atpife to the generai sutvereigntry of Italy. Ile had sue ceeded to the crowns ot isapics and Provence on the death of his fathes, Charles II., In oppmil. tion to the recognized laws of inheritance (A. I). 1309). IIIs ciler hrother, Clarles Martel, hy hi marriate with the heireas of Ilungary, hul leern cailied to the throne of that kingary, haid had died before his father. Iliss son, Carobert, the reigning king of llungary, on tie deatio of his grandfuther, Charles If., asperted his jusi rights to all the dominions of that mounrch; hut Iohert, hastening to Avignon, wilithrer Clement $V$. had now removed his court, obtained from the pope, at feudal superfior of the royal fet of Caples, a sentence which set aside the claims at hes neplew in his own favour. The king of Ilungary did not m-rionsiy nttempt to oppowe this dierision, and Robert, prinee of wisiom and addum, though desoid of miiitury tulents, mon extended his ambitions views beyond the kinglom over whieh he relgned undiaturbeel." The druth of Ilenry VII. "left him every oppor. tunity botio to attempt the subjugation of the Ghilx-lin atates, and to convert his alitance with the Quelfs into the relation of sovereign anil suh. fect. . . . It was in Tuscany that the ntorm Arst hroke over the Gibibelius after the loss of thwir Imperial chicf, and that the timst my of successa unex juetediy bemmel on their cause. Fiorence and the rther Guclf eities of the province were no sooner dieilvered from the tear of Ilenry Tis, than they prepared to wreak their ven geance agaiust Pism for the succonrs witich she liud furnished to the emperor. But that repubiic. in eonsternation at iner danger, had taken luto pay 1,000 Ge: man cavalry, the only part of the imperiai arnyy which comild be prevnied upon to remain in Italy, and had chosen for her enuerai Cguecionc deila Fagginola, a eciehrated chile ilin cuptain. The ability of this comman. dier, and the confidence with which he inspired the Pisans, turned the tide of fortune.

The ligonr of his arms reduevi the Gueif peropie of iucta to sue for peace; they were compeiled to restore their Ghibredin rsilds; and then Ugue. tone, fomenting the disernsions which were thus ereated within the wails, easily suhjceted one of tile most wralthy and trourishing cities of Tuscany to his sword (i. D. 1314). The lass of so valuabie an aily as Larcm aiarmed tic Fiutenines, and the whole Guclf party.

King Robert sent two of ins hrothers into Thisenny with a buly of gens-a armerie; the Fiorentines and all the Tuscan Gueifs natitug their forces to this suceour furmed a iarge army; and the con. federater advanceif to relieve the castie of Mon. tecatiai which Uguccione was bealecing." The Ghibelln commander had a much sualier force to realist thern with; but he galecti, notwith standing. "a memorabic victc. 5 , neur Montecatini, in which loth a hrother and a ncphew of the king of Napies were numbered with the gialn (A. D. 131) , The triumph Nanterem Cgucclone more formidable than ever, but blo tymany became insupportable both to the then and Lucchese, and $=$ nowaplricy was formull in concert In both eltion, is Fxcluded frum bots places and devert i' is bis rroops, he retired to the court of the keali at Veroma' (A. D. 1316 ) so Pisa recovered her liberty, lut Lueca wa lem fortunate or wise, for ber ritizions only trasaferred the power which Vgurcionc bai unurped to the chlef of the Quibelins. ('astruiclo Castramai digi Intermincili, one of the mont celelinted names in Itallan blatory. Thine extm ondinary man. . had carly in life shatrvi the common fate of exile with the White Gurlfa er Ghibeiins of Lueca Passing ten years of hanishment in England, France, and the Guiltulin cities of Lombsidy, he had served a long apprenticeship to arms under the best generiala of the age. IIe had no sooner returneif to Liva with the Ghibeilin exilen, who were resturevi in the terms of the peace with Plas, than he lecamie the firm cltizen of the state. Ilis akili a ad counage mainly contrihutel to the subsequent virtery of Monteratinl, aud endeared him to thie Lurctive hia intuence and intrigues excited the jealonsy of C'puccione, and ratued his injirlwament and the insurrection whidid delivered Lacra frum that chicf, literated Castruccio from chains and impending death to sovercign commani. (bus annual captain of the people at tiree nurcesat! clections, he at letgth derandied and chtasanot the suffruges of the senatt : A citizens for bis cievation to the dignity ${ }^{\prime}$, mor (A. I). 18so Linder his government Lucea enjowed re pase for arme years. During theme iransar. tions in Tuscany, the Lombaril plains werestil desolated by finicasant and unsparing warfare The churts of the Neapoitan king wire mainly direfted to crush Matteo Viscouti [are Milas. A. D. 127\%-144i] and tire Ghibeilins in this part of Italy:" hut the power of the iattir was constinumily spreading. "In this prowicrents state of the Ginbedin interests the domesestic fewis of Genon attracted the tide of war to her fatea The ambinitious rivalry of her four grent familles of the Grimaidi, the Fieschi, the spinala, and the Joria, had long agitated the buse 10 of the republic; and at the perind leefore ins the two former, wion hended the Guelf jurty, had, sflet various convulsions, gitined possessic: of the government. The Spinuia amil Doria, retiring from the cily, fortificd themseives in the smallet towns of the Genoese territory, anil humedinely inviter' 'ho Ghibelin chiefs of Lommariy' to thei' aid. $\therefore$ ofords of Milan and Veroan prompt! complied with the denand, cand haid slege to the capital. The rulers of Gemon could the resort in their terror to no other protection $d^{\prime}$ that of the Neapolitan king. Robert, consc. of the importance of preserving the repub from subjection to his comies, basteruri by sto to its defence, and obtained the abonlute resslon of the Genows libertics Into his hauds for th yenrs as the price of his services. ... After the possession of the suhurbs and out works of Gence had been ohstinately contested during ten months, the Ghibelins were compelicd to raise the slege. But Robert had scarcely quitted the city to pass Into Provence, when the exiles with aid from Lombardy again approached Genos, und during four years continued a war of posts in its r . cinity. But neither tuc Lombard signors nor

ITALY, 1818-1830.
Cuphowerte.
ITALY, 148-1809.

Rolwrt engaged in thls fruitleme conteat, end Iom. hardy agnin became the great theatre of worlare," But the power whleh Jratteo Visconti was stead. Hy buihing at Mlan, for hils fainilly, could not th shaken, erea though an invaton Prom France (1530), end a second fron (iermany (18*9), wat brought ehout through papat inflococe. At the same time Cautrurrio Castricual, having consoll. dutel his despotism st Lucea, was making war uive the Florentinfs. When, in lises, he wuecerdel in gaining posesssion of the Guelf clt of Pistola, "thly acquietion, which was highly dangrmis to Floreace, produced anch alerm in that republic that ahe callend out her whole native force for the more vigonnene prosecutlon of the "ar." Castrucclo wss heavily outbumbered In the campsign, hut be ginel, neverthelens, a great vietory over the Florentines i'ear the castle if Atopascio (November ©3, 1835). " The whole Fiorentlae territory was ravegel aad plundered, and the concueror cerried his lnsulte to the gste of the capital.

In the ruln which threatreef the Guelf party In Tuscany, the Flimen. unes had recourse to King lRobert of Nin!! :3, witb entruatles for shl," which he $\quad g$ hit to them la 1326, but only on the er. "י"that bis abwollute rommand over the: ; whleh had espireel in 1381, should be 1 :... © for ten rears in firvour of ble son Charler, of Ca. labra." But now a new danger in the Chelf interest appented, in the approach of the empiror, Louts $\mathbf{1 V}$. of Bavaria. "Alter a long contest for the crown of IIenry ViI, Louls of Ravarls had triumphed over hits rival. Frederic of Austria, snd taken hin prisoner at the ennguilury battic of Muhidorf, in 1382 . Having wince pussed tive years in confrming hls author. Ity in 'rmans Louts was now tempted hy am. bitiua aud cuplidity to undertake an expedition iate ltaly (A. D, 13,if)." Ilatilng for some the at Milinn, where he recelved the irun erown of Lntulanly, and where he deposed and lapris. oned Diticazzo Visconti, he proceerled Into Tusesny "in bis march to loune, where be Intended to pectue the hmpertal crown. Ile was wel. coneff with joy by the signor of Lurea, and the superior gendus of Castruccio at once nequired the entire ase enfant over the weaker mind of Louis. Against the united forces of the empernr and of Castrue" $n$, the duke of Calabria and his Guelf army ' ' Dus'. maintalned theuselves on the defenn ut the passage of Loula throngh Tuscsny ". teaded with disastrona conser puences to the: ismous Ghibelin elty of tbat prove Inc. " I'sa, ootwltbstaudlag the long fdellty th that republle to the Ghibefln cause, was sacri. Sid ly the emperor to tbe covetoua ambition of Cutricio. Tbe forces of the two were joined astge to whici the unfortunate clty submittell after a montb. "She thus fell in reality into the haads of Castrucclo, who sbortiy establisbed his absotute autbority over ber capital and territury. Mfter cxtorting a heavy contribution friai the Planas, and rewardling the services of Cintruccio by erecting tbe state of Lucca lnto an imperlai duchy in bia favour, tbe rapacious em. peror pursued bis marcb to Rome. There he roasunied in tbe frivolous ceremony of hls coronatioa [JE usry 17,1328 ], and $\ln$ tbe valn endearour to establlsh an antipooe, the tlme which he might have employed, with the forces at hls compand, and in conjunction with Frederic, kling of Sidy. ta ceushing for erer the power of ling ert ": "piex end of all the Guelfe of Italy who depx. . "a that monarch." In Augut of the sume :".. Cnatrucelo, who "had now ettained an ele vation which seemed to threaten ... the total subjugntion of all Italy," died suddenily of a fever. "Florince breatbed agaln from fim. pending oppre. xion, Tisa recovered her freedom, and Lucca suni. irom ephemersl eplendour ino. lasting ohscuri: By we death of Castrucilo the einperor ed hingt his best coundillor enil Armeat suppe $t$ a ad lic mom ceamed to be furmi. deble to trer nu-1/4.... Hiseti'y returning lato Castrice. A Aretr ${ }^{2}$. tance to sell Lucen to a new aignor, and tr in, eo ar:orous contrihutione upen the lisaus. 1 sure hile riturn into lombarily delivered them from trpancy.

The tirat procreling of louls in Lominirdy had bren to ruln the Viscuntl, and to drala their states of money; almmat fis last act In the prov lince was to make the restornion of this fanily t, power a new eontce of proft." In 1330 the emperor rrturbed to Ger. many, recalled hy troulliph in that part of hle domin!uns, - G. Irocter, Ilint, of thely, ch, 4, pt. &.
ALen iv. X. Macliniveffl, The Morentine llis. roriee, ok. 2.-1I. E. Napler, Fherentina Jistory, bk. 1, ch. 15-18 (r. 1).
A. D. 1314-8327.-The election and coatest of rival eniperorn, Louis of Bavaria and Frederick of Auetria, See Oermany: A. D. 1314 $134 \overline{\text {. }}$
A. D. 1348-1343.-Defeat of the Fiorentince by the Pisans, before Lucea. - Brief tyraany of the Duke of Athens at Flerence. See Fion. ExCE: A. D. 13 1-1343.
(Southern): A. D. 1343-1389.- Troubled relgn of Joanna 1. In Naples,-Murder of her hueband, Andrew of Hungary.-- Poiliteal enfecta of the great Schism in the Church. The wer of Charles of Durazzo and Loule of Anjou.-Violent eourse of Prne Urban VI. "In Xaples lisclf the hurec or Anjou fell into disunion. Chartes 11. of Suples galined by marrlage the doury of Ilungary [see Iltsoary: A. D. 1301-13+2]. which passed to his eldest son Charies Martel, whifle his second won, Itobert, ruled in Napies. But Rubert survived his oniy son, anilleft as helress of the klagdom [1343] Lis granildanght Gfovama [better known as Joan, or Jonnnal. he attempt to give stablilty to the ruie of a fe.asie by marriage wlth ber consin. Andrew of Lungary, only aroused the jealousy of the Neapolitin nobles and rised up a strong partr in opposition to Hungarlan lnfuence. Charies II. of Naples, Glovanna's great grand. father, had left mary sons and daugbters, whose descendants of the great houses of Durazzo and Tarento, llke those of the sona of Edward III. in England, hoped to exercle the royal power. When, In 1345, Pope Clement VI. was on the polnt of recognising Andrew as King of Naples, a conspiracy waa formed against him, and be was munlered, with the connirance, as it was currently belfeved, of the Queen. Hereon the feuds in the kingdom blazed forth more vlolently tban before; the party of Durazzo ranged ltself agninst that of Tarento, and demanded punishmenio of the murderers. Giovanna 1, to protect herself, married Lewis of Tarento ln 1347. Klng Lewis of Hungary, alded by tbe party of Durazzo, entered Naples to avenge bis orother's death, and for a while all was cenfusion. On the death of Lewls of Tarento (1362)

Glovanna I. married James, King of Majorca, and on his death (1874), Otto, Duke of Brunswick. Giovanna I. was chlldless, and the sllght Jull which in the last years had come over the war of factions in Naples was only owing to the fact that all were preparing for the Jnevitable confliet whieh her death would bring." Neapoll$\tan$ affalrs were at this atage when the great schism occurred (see Papacy: A. D. 1377-1417), Which enthroned two rival popes, one (Urban VI.) at Rome, and one (Clement VII.) at Avignon. Queen Gioranna had inclined first to Urban, but wss repelled, and gave her adhesion to Clement. Thereupon, Urban, on the 21st of April, 1880. "declared her deposed from her throne as a heretie, schismatlc, and traitor to tho Pope. He looked for heip in carrylng ont hls decree to King Lewis of IIungary, who had for a time iaid aside his desire for vengeance against Giovanna, but was ready to resunce his pians of aggrandisenent when a favourable opportunity offered.

Lewls was not hlmself disposed to leave his kingdom; but he had at his court the son of his relative, Lewis of Durazzo, whom he had put to death in his Neapoitan campaign for eomplicity in Andrew's wurder. Yet he felt compassion for his young son Charles, brought hlm to fungary, and educated him at hls court. As Gio. vanua was childless, Charies of Durazzo, or Cario della Pace, as he was cailed in Itaiy, had a strong elaim to tile Neapolltan throne at her death." Charies of Durazzo was accordingly furnished with IIungarian troops for an expedition against Naples, and reached Rome in November, 1380. "Clement VII. on his sldie bestrred himself in behaif of his ally Giovanna, and for this purpose could count on the heip of France. Failing tho house of Durnzzo, the house of Valois could put forwari a ciaim to the Ncapoititan tbrone, as being descended from the daughter of Charies II. The heipless Glovaina I. in her need adopted as her heir aud successor Louls. Duke of Anjou, brother of the French klng. :14ic cailed him to her aid. Ciement VII. hastened to confer on Louis evergtblng that he eould; he even formed the States of the Church into a kingdom of Adria, and bestowed then on Louls; oniy IRome itself, and the adjacent lands in Tuscany, Campania Maritima, and Sabina were reserved for the Pope. The Avlgnonese pretender was resoived to show how ittle he cared for Italy or for the oild ralltions of the Itaiian greatness of his office. Charles of Durazzo was first in the field, for Louis of Anjou was detaiaed in France by the death of Charies V . in September, 1380. The accesslon of Charles VI. at the age of twelve threw the government of the klogdom upon the Council of legency, of which Louis of Anjon was the chief meminer. IIe used his position to gratify his chlef fulling, avarice, and gathered large sums of money for his Neapoitau campaign. Jiculawhile Charles of Durazzo was in Tome. where Urian VI. equipped him for his undertahing." In June, 1381, Charles marehed against Xapies, defeated Otto, the husband of Giow:anna, at San Germauo, and had the gates of Naples opened to inlm by a rlsing within the elty on the 16 h h of July. Giovanna took refuge in the Castel Nuovo, but surrendered it on the 26 tif of August. After nine noonths of captivity, the unfortunate queen was "strangled in her prison on May 12, 1882, and her corpse was exposed for six days hefore burial that the certainty of ber death might be known to all. Thenceforth the question between Charles III, and Louis was not compilcated by any eonslderations of Giovsnna's rights. It was a struggle of two dynastles for the Neapolltan crown, a struggle which was to continue for the next century. Crowned King of Naples by Clement VII., Louis of Anjou quitted Avignon at the end of May, accompanied by a brilliant array of French barons and knlghts. He hastened through North Italy, and disap. pointed the hopes of the fervent partisans of Ciement VII. by pursulng his course over Aquils, through the Abruzzi, and refusing to tura aslde to Rome, which, they said, he might have occupied, seized Urban VI., and so ended the Sehlsm. When he entered the territory of Naples he soon recelved large accessions to his forces from dis. contented barons, wille 22 galleys from Prov. enee occupied Ischia and threatened Naples." Charies, having inferior forces, could not meet his adversary in tho fleld, but showed great tactical akill, acting on the defenslve, "cutthg off suppiles, and harassing his encmy by unex. peeted saliles. The French troops perished mis. erabiy from the effects of tbe elimate; . . Louin saw hls splendid army rapidly dwindling s way." But quarrels now arose between Charles and Pope Urban ; the latter went to Napies to later fere in affairs; the King made hlm practicslly a prisoner and extorted from him agreenents whieh were not to his llking. But Urban, on the 1st of January, 1384, "proclaimed a crusade against Louis as a heretie and schismstle, snd Charies unfuried the banner of the Cross.: In May tho Pope withdrew from Naples to Nocera, and there began a series of interferences which convinced Charies "that Urban was a more scrious adversary than Louls." With the summer came attacks of the plaguo upon both armies; but that of Louis suffered most, and Louls himself dled, in September, bequeathing hls cilalms on Napies to his eidest son. "On the denth of Louls the remnant of his army dispersed, snd Charles was free from one antagonist. . . . Wsr was now declared between the I'ope and the King.

Charies found adierents amon rgs Cr. ban's Cardinals." Urban discovered the plots of the latter and threw slx of them into a duagen, where he tortured them with brutality. Charles attacked Nocers and took the town, hut the castie in which the Pope had fortifed himsel? resisted a long siege. "Three or four times a dsy the dauntiess Pope appeared at a window, snd with beli and torch eursed and excomnminicsted the besleging army." In August, 1385, Crban was rescued by somo of his partisans, who broke through the camp of the besiegers and carried film oft, still ellnging to his captive cardinals, ail but one of whom he subsequcntly putt to death. IIe made hils way to Tranl and was there met by Genoese gaileys whlch conveyel him and hls party to Genoa. IIe resiried in Genco rather mure than a year, very mueh to thie discomfort and expease of the Genoese, and then, after mach difliculty, found sheiter at Lueca untii Septembur, 1387. Meantlme Charies III. had left Nis. pies, returning to IIungary to head a revolt agninst the whowed queen and young daughter of Lewis, who died In 1382 . Thenc he was sssassinated in Fehruary, 1386. "The death of Charies III. agaln plunged the kingdon of Na. pies iuto confuslon. The Angevin party, which had heea poweriess against Charies, raused agulast his son Ladialas, boy of twelve years old, the claims of Louis II. of Anjou. The exactions of the Queen Regent Margaret awoze disentiafacthon, and led to the appointment in Naples of a new civic magiatracy, called the Otto di Buono Steto, who were at varlance with Margaret. The Angovins rallled under Tommaso of Sanseverino, and were relnforced by the arrival of Otto of Brunswick. The cause of Louts was atili identiged with that of Clement VII., who, in May 1385, had solemnly invested him with the ling. dom of Naples. Urban VI., however, refused to recognise the claims of the son of Charles, though Margaret tried to propitiate him . . . and though Florence warmly supported her prayers for heip." The Pope continued obstinate in this refusal until his death. He declared that the king. dom of Naples had lapsed to the Holy See, and be tried to gather money and troops for an expedition to secure it. As a means to that end, he ordered that the year 1890 should be a year of jubllee - a decade before the end of the century. It was his last desperate measure to ohtain money. On the 15 th of October 1389 ho died and one of the most disastrous pontificates is the history of the Papacy came to an eud. M. Creighton, Hist. of the Papacy during the Period of the Reformation, bk. 1, ch. 1 ( p .1 ).
Also DN: Historical Life of Jonnna of Sicily.Mrs. Jameson, Memoirs of Celebrated Female Soo. creigns, o. 1, ch. 4.-St. C. Baddeley, Charles III. of Naples and Urban VI.
A. D. 1343-I393.-The "Free Companies." -Their depredations and the wars employing them. - The Great Company.-The Company of Sir John Hawiswood.-:The practice of hiring troops to flght the battles of the Commonwealth [of Florence - but in other Italinn states no less] had for some time past been contlnually oa the increase. . .. The demand for these merceary troops, - a demand which . . . preferred strangers from beyond the Alps, - hind filled Italy with bands of free lances, reaily to take service with any tyrant, or any free city that was willag to pay them. They passed from one service to another, and from one side of a quarrel to the other, with the utmost indifference and 1 m . partiality. But from this manner of life to settlag up for themselves and warring for thelr owa behoof there was but one step. And no prudent man could have douhted that this step would ere long he taken. Every cireumstancc of the sge and country combined to invlte and facilltate it. . . Already, Immediately after the fall of the Duke of Athens [at Florencc, 1343], a German adventurer, one Werner, known In Italisa hlstory as the Duke Guarnieri, had induced a large number of the hlred troops, who Were then 'unattached' in Italy, malnly those dismissel at that time from the servicc of Pisa, to form themselves into an independent company and reeognize hlm as thelr leadcr. With equal effrotery and aceuracy this ruffinn styled hlmself 'Tho enemy of God, of Pity, and of Mercy.'

This gang of bandits numbered more than 2,000 horsemen. Thelr first exploit was to threaten the city of Siena. Advanclng through the Slenese territory towards the city, plunderIng, killing, and hurning indiscriminately as they weat, they insplred so sudden and universal a terror that the city was glad to buy them of with s sum of 12,000 fiorins. From the Sienese teritory they passed to that of Arezzo, and thence to the district around Perugia; and then turnlng towards the Adriatlc, overran Romagna, and the Rlmini country, then governed hy the Mnlatesat family. It is difficult adequately to describe, or even to conceive the sufferinge, the destruction, the panic, the horror, which marked the track of auch a body of miscreants." Finally, by the stilful management of the Lord cf Bologna, the company was bought up and sent aeross the Alps, out of Italy, in detachments. "The rellef was obtained in a manner which was sure to operate as an encouragement to the formation of other simillar bands. And now, after the procinmatlon of the peace between Florence and the Visconti, on the 1st of April, 1853, ... the experiment which had answered so well in the hands of the German 'Enemy to Goi and to Merey,' was repented on a larger scale hy a French Kalght Hospitnller of the name of Montrenl, known in Italian history as Fra Moriale.

Belng out of place, it occurred to him to collect all the fighting men in Italy who were slmilarly clreumstanced, nnd form an independeut company after the example of Guarnicri, With the avowed purpose of living ly plunder nnd brigandnge. Ho was so successful thnt he collected in a very short time 1,600 men-at-nrms and 2,000 foot soldiers; who were subsequently Inereased to 5,000 caraliers nnd 7,000 infantry; and this hand was known as 'the Great Company.'" There was an nttempt made, nt first, to comblne Florence, Siena and Perugia, with the Romagnn, in resistance to the marauders; hut it fniled. "The result was that the Florentines were obliged to buy off the terrible Frd Moriale with a hribe of 28.000 florins, and Pisa with one of 16,000 . .. The chief . . after Frd Moriale himself, was one Conrad, Count of Lando; and under hlm the Company mareled towards Lombardy in senreh of fresh booty, while Morlale himself, remnining temporarily behind, went to Rome to eonfer privntely, as it was believed, wlth the Colonna ehlefs, respecting a project of cmploying hls bnnd agalnst Rienzi, the trlbune. But whether sueh was the objeet of his journey to Rome or not, It wns fntal to the hrigand chlef. For Rienzi no suoner knew that the notorious Frd Moriale was within his jurisdietlon than he nrrested him, and summarily ordered hlm to cxecution as a common malefactor. The death of the chief, however, did not put an end to 'the Great Company'; for Conrad of Laudo remained, and suceeeded to the command of lt ." From 1356 to 1359 , Italy in different parts was preyed upon ly 'the Great Company,' somethmes in the service of the leaguc of the lesser Lomhard prinees ngainst the Visconti of Milan, and onee in the employ of Sicna agalast Perugia; but genernlly marauding on thelr own account, independently. Florence, alone, stood out in resistanee to their exactlons, nnd finaliy sent into the ticid against them 2,000 men-at-arms, all tried troops, 500 Hungarians, and 2.500 cross.bowmen, besides the native troops of tho city. Subsequeutly the Florentine forces were joined hy others from Milan, Padua, and else where. The bnndits marehed all around the Florentine frontler, whth much bluster, maklng great threats, but constantly evading an engagement. At length, on the 20th of July, 1359, the two nrmies were in such a position that "it was hought in the Fiorentlue camp that a decislve bsttle would be fought on the morrow.

ITALY, 134 $\mathbf{1 3 9 3}$. The White Company. ITALY, 1880-1414.

But when that Juiy morning dawned, Lando and his bandit host were already in fuli march northwards towards Genoa, with a precipitation that had ail the appearance of tlight. . . ' The Great Company never again dared to show its fnce in Tuscany." "-T. A. Troilope, Hiat. of the Commonuealth of Florence, bk. 3, ch. 6 (v. 2). " Another company, consisting principaiiy of Engiishmen [iately turned ionse in France by the Peace of Bretigny, 1380, which terminated the invasion of Edward III.], was brought into Iiaiy at a somewhat iater period by the Marquis of Montferrat. . . About the same time another, composed principaily of Germans, and commanderi by Amichino Baumgarten, was raised by (Iaieazzo Visconti, and afterwards empioyed by the Pisans. Another, entitied that of St. George, was formed hy Ambrose, the naturai son of Bernabos Visconti, and let loose by him on the territories of Perugia and Sienna. Thus, at the end of the 14th century. Itaiy was devastated at one and the same tine hy these four companies of adventurers, or, as they might more justiy be called, professionai robbers. . . . Of aii these companies, the miilitary reputation of the Engiish was undoubtediy the greatest - a circum. stance which may be risuribed, in some degree, to the physical superiority of the men, but stili more to the taients of Sir John Hawkwood, by Whom they were commanded." - W. P. Ir. quhart, Life and Time of Franceaco Syora, bk. 2, ch. 1 ( $r .1$ ). - One of the marauding companies ieft in France after the Peace of Bretigny, and Which afflicted that wretched country so soreiy (see France: A. D. 1380-1380), was calied the White Company, and Sir John Hawkwood was one of its commanders. "The White Company crossed into Lombardy, under the command of one Alharet, and took service nuler the Marquis of Montferrat, then at war with the Duke of Mi. fin. Hawkwood [calied Giovanni Aguto by the Itaians] entered the Pisan service, and next year, when the marquis, being unabie to maintain hla English troops, disbanded them, the I'sans engaged them, and gave IIawkwood the command." IIawkwood and his company served Pisa, in war with Fiorence, untii 1364, when they experienced a great defeat, which ied to peace and their discburge. I)uring the next three years they lived as independient freebooters, the territories of Siena suffering most from their depredations. Then they took service with Bernabo Visconti, Lord of Milan, making war for him on Fiorence and its allies; but very soon their arms were turned against Milan, and they were tighting in the pay of Fiorence and the Pope. "Within the next five years he changed sides twice. ILe served Gaicazzo Visconti against the Papai States; and then, brought back to fight for Holy Chirch, tefented his iate empioyer in two pitched batties." After this, when the ieague against an aggressive and ambitious pontiff extended, and Florence, Boiogna and other cities joined Milan. IIawk wood tonk money from both at the same time, and cheated both, preiiminarily to figiting rich in turn. Whife serving the Pope his ru ins wantoniy destroyed the cap. tured town tiasena, massacriug between 4,000 and 5.000 pei pie, women and children inciuded. In 1878 , when Gregory XI. died, peace foilowed, and FIawkwood's company resumed its oid free. booting. In 1381 he was engaged in the Neapoiitan civil war. In $138 \%$ he geems to have become permanentiy engaged in the service of Florence against the Duke of Niian. "in i391, FIorence concluded a generai peace with all her enemies. Her foreign auxiliaries were dismissefi, with the exception or Sir John Hawkwoml and 1,000 men. Hawkwood henceforth remaiaed is her scrvice tiii his death, whicis took place on the 6th of March, 1393 . Ife was buried at the pubiic expense, as a valiant scrvant of the State," - Sir John Harekreood (Bentley's Miscellhy, t. 54, $m$. 284-291).

Also In: O. Browning, Guelphe aml Ghibeh. lines, ch. 12.
A. D. 1347-1354.-Rienzi's Revoiution at Rome. See Rome: A. D. 1347-1854.
A. D. 1348-1355.- War of Genos against Venice, the Greeks and Aragonese. Set Cos. etantinople: A. D. 1348-1355
A. D. 1352-1378. -Subjugation and revolt of the States of the Church.-W War of the Pope with Fiorence. See Papact; A. D. 135\%-13is.
A. D. $137^{8-1427 . ~-~ T h e ~ d e m o c r a t i z i n g ~ o f ~}$ Fiorence.- Tumuit of the Ciompi.-First an pearance of the Medici. See Fıomence: A.D. 1378-1427.
A. D. 1379-13:3 r. -Final triumph of Venice over Genoa in the War of Chioggia, See Vexice: A. D. 1379-1381.
(Southern): A. D. 1386-1414.-Reaewed Civil War in Napies.-Defeat of the Angevins and triumph of Ladislas.-His ambitious ca-reer.-His capture and recapture of Rome.-
" The death of Charies III. involved the king. dom of Napies in tie most ruinous anardyr, and delivered it for many years a prey to all the dis. orders of a iong minority and a disputed throne. Charles lad ieft two chikiren, Ladislins, a bep of ten years oid, and a danghter, Jouma; and his widow Margarci acted as regent for her sin On the other hand, the Sanseverini and other baroniai families, railying the Angevia parts. prociaimed the foung son of the late duke of Anjou king, - also under the guartianship of his mother, Maria, - by the titie of innis il. Tbus Napies was disturbed by the riwal pretensions of two boys, placed beneath the guidance of ambitious and intriguing mothers, and sever. aliy protected by two popes, who exconimund cated each other, and iaboured to crush the minors whom they respectively opposed. only that they migint estabilsh their own anthority over the party which they sitiported. . . . For severai years the Ange vin party seromed to naintain the ascendancy. Louls II. was withheht in Provence from the scene of danger ly his mother: but the barons wio had ruisel his stamind, forcing Margaret of Durazzo and the atherents of her son to retire to Greta, possessed themselres of the capitai and great part of the kinerlom. When Lonis II., therefore, was at lencth suffered by his mother to appear at Nuphes, attended by a powerfui fleet and a numernis trin of the warike nobies of France (A. 1), 1390), he disembarked at the capitai amidst the acclumations of his peopie, and would probainy inaveurerpoweral the party of Durazzo with ease, if. is he advanced towards manhood, he had disjlayed any energy of character. But he proved very unequal, by his indoicnce and iove of pleasure to contend with the son of Charies III. Esfucated in the midst of aiarms and danger, and sur rounded from hia infancy by civil wara and mnapiracies, Ladisiaus had eariy been exercised la courageous enterprise, and trained to intrigue and dissimuiation. At the age of 16 , his mother Margaret committed hlm to the barons of het party to make his first essay in arms; and from this period he was ever at the head of his troops. A fortunate marriage, whleh his mother had effected for him with Constance di Clermont, the heiress of the most opulent noble of Sicily, increased his resources by an immense dowry; and whie he made an sbie use of these riehes [mesuly and heartiessiy divorcing the wlfe who brought them to him, when they had been spent], the new Italian pope, Bonifuce IX., the suecessor of Urbun VI., recognized hlm for the legltimste son and vassal of the church, because Louls was supported lay the Avlgnon pontifr. This decision gained him many partlzans; . . . his talents and valonr houriy advaneed hls success; and at last the Sansererinl and ail the harons of the Angevin party, following the tide of fortune, went over to his standards, and opened to him the gates of Naples (A. D. 1899). Louls... retired by sea to bis Provençai dominions, and fnaliy abandoued the klngdom of Napies. Ladlslaus, having tius triumphed over hls sluggish antagonist, hail lisure to eonsolidate his stern authorlty over the ficentious and turbulent feudal aristouraey of his kingdom. . . . He . . . erushed the Sanseverininnd other great famliies, whose power mlght make them dangerous; and huving rooted out the seds of all reslstance to his sway in his own dominious, he prepared to direet his vigorous smbition to schemes of foreign conquest."-G. Procter. IIial. of Italy, ch. 5, pt. 3-Untll the desth of Pope Bonlface IX., Ladislas supported that pontlif through the hard struggie in whlch he crashed the rcbelifous Colonna and made himself master of the eity of IRome. But when Boniface died, in 1404, the Neapolitan klng legan to scheme for luringlig the anelent capital and the possessions of the Church under his own control. "His plan was to set the Pope [the newly clected Innocent VII.] and the IRoman people agalnst one another, and by heiping now one and now the other to get tiem both into his power. ... He trusted that the rcbelious Romans wonld drive the Pope from the city, and would then be eompelled to submit to himself." Ihe had entered Rome, four days after the papnl election, ostensiluly as a mediator between the rivai factions, and between the Pope and the Roman prople; and he was easily able to uring sbout an arrangement whieh gave him every opportunity for interference and for turning circamstances to hls own advantage. Events soon followed us he had expeeted them, and as he helped, through his agents, to guide them. The tirbmlence of the people inereased, untii, in 1405 , the Pope was driven to flight. "No sooner had the Pope left Rome tian Giovanni Coionna, at the head of his troops, burst into the Vatican, where he took up hls quarters. . . . The Vatlean Was shcked; even the Papal archives were piiiageri, and Buhis, ietters and reglsters were scattwed about the streets. Many of these were sfterwards restored, hut the ioss of historle dacuments must have been great." Ladlsias now thought his time for seizing Rome was come; but When he sent 5,000 horse to join the Coionna, the Romans took alarm, repelied the Neapolitan troops, and cslled baek the Pope, who returned It Jisulua.F, itub, hut who died in the foliowlng November. Under the next Pope, Gregory XII., there were negotiations with Avignon for the ending of the great schlsm; and ail the eraft of Ladislas was exerted to defeat that purpose; beeause a reunlon of western Christendom would not be favorahie to his designs. At iast, a conference of the rival popes was arranged, to take place at Savona, near Genoa, and in August, 1407, Gregory XII. ieft Rome, moving siowiy northwards, but tinding reasons, equaliy with his competitor, for never presenting himself at the appointed meeting place. In his ahsence the disorders of Rome Inereased, and when Lad Islas, in Aprii. i 108 , appeared befors the city with an army of $12,0 \times 10$ horse and as many foot, it was surrendered to himi without resistance. "The eraft of Lndislas hud gained lis end, and the temporal power of the Papacy had passed lato his hands. . . So utteriy had the prestige of Rome, the memories of her glories, passed away from men's minds, that her sister repuhiie of Florence could send and eongratulate Ladlslas on the triumphai rietory whleh God und his own manhool had given him in the city of Rome." When, in $14^{\prime \prime}$, the disgusted cardinais of both papal courts joined in caifing a general Council of the Churcin, to meet at Pisa the foilowing year, Ladislas threatened to prevent it. By this time "Gregory had sunk to the lowest piteh of degradatlon: he sold to Ladislus for the smail sum of 25,000 florins the entire States of the Chureh. and even Irome ltseif. After this barguln Larlsias set out for llome, Intending to proceed into Tuscany and break up the Councii." Early in Aprii, 1409, he marcied north wards and threatened Siena. But Fiorence had now undertaken the defense of the Councli, and resisted him so effectualiy that the meetling at lisa wns undlsturhed. Tine lmmedi. ate resuit of the Council was the eiection of a third elammant of the lapaey, Alexander V. (see Paracy: A. D. 137:-1417). Around the new Pope a league was now formed whleh embraced Florence, Siena, and Louis of Anjou, whose elaim upon Nuples was revived. The icague made an attempt on IRonic in the autumn of 1409 , and failed; hut the following January the Nea: politans were expeiled nnd the city was oceupled hy the pnpai forces. In May, 1410, Alexander V. died, and wss sueceeded hy Baidassare Cossa, Who took the name of John XXIII. The new Pope hastened to identify his eause with Louis of Anjou, and succecded, by his energy, in putting into the theld an army which comprised the four ehief "condottler " in Italy, with their veteran followers. Ladisias was attacked and routed compietely at Rocea Seeca, on the 19th of May, 1411. But the worthlessness of Louis and the mercenary, charaeter of his generals made the victory of no effeet. Ladisias bougint over the best of the troops and their iealers, and before the end of summer Louls was hack in Provence, again abandoning hils Nespoitan claims. Ladislas made peace, irst, with Florence, by seiling Cortons to that elty, and then with the Pope, who recognlzed him as khig, not only of Niples, but of Sieily as well. But Ladisias was oniy gaining time by these treaties. In June, 1413, he drove the Pope from IRome, and his troops agaln oceupied the eity. Ife seemed to be now weil prepared for reaiizlng his ambition to found an extended Italian kingdom; hut his career was eut short hy a mortui dlsense, whichended his life on the 6th of Angust, 1414.-M. Crelghton, Hist. of the Papacy during the Period of the Reformation, bk. 1, ch. 8-8 (v. 1).
A. D. 1390-1402.-Rasiatance of Floreace to the spreading tyranny of the Duke of Milaa. Bee FLoresce: : A. D. $1890-1402$.
A. D. 1391-1451-Extaanion of the Itallan dominions of the House of Savoy. See 8avor; 11 thisth Centuries.
A. D. 1396-1409, - The soverelgaty of Genos yieldad to the King of France. See GrnoA: A. D. 1381-1420
A. D. 1402-1406. -The crambling of the Viscontl domlaioa.- Aggrandizement of Venlce. -Floreatine purchase and conquest of Pisa, Dechae of that city. - "The little atates of Romagna, which had for the most part been conquered by Glan-Galeazzo [Viscontl, Duke of Mllan], were at his death [1402] overrun by the Count of Barliano, who with hls famous company entered the service of Pope Boniface IX.
. The Count of Savoy, the Marquess of Montferrat, and the lords of Padua, Ferrara, and Mantua, were the only Independent Soverelgns in North Italy in 1402. Of these Francesco, lord of Padua, was soon to fall. On the death of Glan-Galeazzo be selzed on Verona. Venlce would not ailow her old enemy to galn thls advantage, and made alliance wlth Francesco di Gonzaga, loril of Mantua. and wlth hls help took Verona, and closely brsleged Padua. After a gailant reslstance Francesco da Carrara was forced to yleld, and he and hls two sons were taken prisoners to Venice, and were there strangled by order of the Councll of Ten. Thls war gave the Venetians great power on the malniand. They reconquered Tre viso, and galned Feitro, Verona [1405], Vicenza, and Padua [1405], and from thls time Venlce became an Itailan power. In Tus. eany, the deatil of her great enemy delivered Florence from her distress, and Slena, whleh now regained her liberty, placed herself under her proteetion. Plsa [which had been betrayed to Giau-Galeazzo $\ln 1389]$ had been left to Gabrielio Viseontl, a bastard son of the late Duke. He put hlmself under the protection of Jean Bouclcault, who governed Genon for Charles VI., Klng of France, and with his consent he sold Yisa to the Florentnes. The Pisans resisted thls sacrifice of their freedon, and the war lasted a year, but $\ln 1406$ the city was forced to surrender. Many of the people left their homes; for, though Florence acted fairly towards her old enemy snd new sulject, yet the Pisans - rid not bear the yoke, and the greatness of the ctiy, Its trade and Its weaith, vanlshed away."-W. Hunt, Hiat, of Italy, el. 6. -"From that day to this It [Pisa] has never reeovered, - not its former greatness, wealth, nnd energy, - mint even sutticlent vitailty to arrest it on the downward course. the two great pofitieal tendencies whileh were then disputing the world between them It made Itself the ehainplon nud the symbol of the losing one. Pisa went down ln the world together with the fendalism and Ghibellinlsm with which lt was Identifled."-T. A. Troilope, IFist. of the Commonvealth of मेlorence, bl. 4, ch. 6 (c.2).The City in the Nea, ch. 16.
Also IN: W. C. Hazlltt, Hist. of the Venetian Republic ch. 21 (c. 3).-A. M. F. Robinson, The End of the Middle Agea, pp. $340-367$.
A. D. 1409, - The Council of Pisa. Papact: A. 1). 1377-1417.
A. D. 1412-1447.-Renewed civil war in Naples.-Defeat of the Angevins by Alfonso of Aragon and Sicily. - Ricongmest of Lombardy by Filippo Maria Visoonti, and his wars with Florence, Venice and Naples.- On the death of Ladilslaus, klig of Naples (1414). "his alster, Joan II., wldow of the son of the duke of Austria, aucceeded him. She was 40 years of age; and, ilke her brother, abandonel to the most unreatralned ilbertlnism. She left the gorernment of her kingdom to her lovers, who ditputed power by arnis: they called lnto her sep. Flee, or into that of her second husband, of of the rval princes whom she $\ln$ turn adopted, the two armies of 8forza and Bracso [the two great mercenary captalns of that tinie]. The consequence was the ruln of the kingdom of Naples: whlch ceased to menace the rest of Italy. The moment Ladlalaus dlsappeared, a new enemy arose to disturb the Fiorentlnes - Fitlppo Mlaria Viscontl [duke of Milan, second son of Gian Gaieazzo Viscontl, and successor to lis eifer brother Glan Maria, on the assasslnation of the latter, $\ln$ 1412].

Fllippo married the widow of Faclno Cane, the powerful coniottiere who hai retalned Glan Maria ln hls diependence, and who dicd the aame dny that (lian Maria was assassluated. By thls stitiden mas. riage he secured the army of Faclno Cisne,which was, in fact, master of the greater pari of the Milanese: wlth lts ald he undertook, without delay, to recover the reat of hls states from the hands of those tyrants who had divlde smongat them the dominlons of his father. . . . During the first year of his relgn, which was $t^{\text {a }}$ decide his exlstence as prince or subject, he fought with determlned courage; but from that tlme, though he contlnually made war, he never showed him. self to hls armles. : In the battle of Monza, by whlch he acqulred his brother's lnheritance, and the only batle ln whlch he was ever present, he remarked the brillant courage of Fnineesco Carmagnola, a Piednontese soldier of fortune, and Immediately gave hlm a commsnd. Car. magnola soon justified the rilke's choice by the most distlngulshed tulents for war, the mest bril. Hant victories, and the most nolific character. Francesco Carmagnola was, after a few year, placed at the head of the duke's armles ; andi, fom the year 1412 to that of 1422 , suceessively attacked all the tyrails who had divider the heritage of Gian Gaicazzo, and brought thase small states again under the domlnion of the duke of Mhan. Even the repulilc of Genom snlmitted to him, la 1421, on the same conditinns as those on which $1 t$ had before pubmittell to the kiug of France, reserving all lts libertles; and granting the duke's lleutenant, who was Carmugudia himself, only those prerogatlves whieh the constitution glelded to the doge. As som as Filippo Maria had accomplished the conquest of L mahar dy, he resumed the projects of his father atainst Lomagna and Tuscary. fie . . renewel his Intrigues against the repuibie of Florence, and conhined them wlth those which he at the same tlme carried on to the kingdom ot Naples. Joman, whan had sent baek to France lier seconif husband, Jaques, count de la Marche, and who kai no chiliren, was persuaded, in 1420, by one of thes lover.3, to adopi Alphonso the Miagnanimous. king of Aragor and Siclly, to whom she intrusted some o: the fortresses of Napies. She revnined this adoption $\ln$ 14\%3; and substhuted in his place Louls III. of Anjou, son of Louic 11. The former put hlmself at the lead of the anden: party of Durazzo; the latter, of that of Anjou.

The consequence was a clvil war, in which the two great captains, Bforza and Bracclo, were opposed to each other, and scquired new titles to glory. The duke of Mllan made alliance whth Joaa II. and Louts III. of Anjou: Sforza, named great constabie of the klngdom, was thelr general. The Florentines remained constant to Bracclo, whom Alphonso had made governor of the Abruzzl; and who had seized, at the same time, the signoria of Perugis, hls natlve city.

But Sforza and Braccir both perished, as Italy awaited withanxlety th.e result of the atrug. gle about to be commenced. Sforza was drowned at the passage of the Pesca 'a, on the 4ih of January, 1424; Bracclo was $120 r t a l l y$ wounded at the battle of Aquilia, on the 2d of June of the ame year. Francesco, son of the former, suc. ceeded to Lis father'n name and the command of hic srmy, both of which he was destlned to render stll more lllustrious. The son of Bracclo, on the cuntrary, lost the soverelgnty of Perugia, whlch resumed its freedom on the 29th of July of the same year; and the remnant of the army formed by this grea: captaln elected for hia cille? his most able lieuteanant, Nieolo Piccinlno. Thls was the moment whieh Fillppo Maria chose to push on hls ariny to Romagna, and vlgorousiy atuack the Florentlnes. . . . The riorentines, hsvlag no tried general at the head of thelr tropss, expericaced, from the 3 th of September, 1423, to tife 17 th of October 1425, no lees tisn is suecrsslve defents, elther in Ligarla or Ro. agna [at Foril, 1423, Zagonara, 1424, Lamoue, dinilo, Anghiari and Faggiola, 1425]. Undls: mayed by defeat, they reassembled thelr army for the sereath time: the patriotism of . ceir rieh merchants made up for the pemary of thelr ex hausted treasinry. They, at the same tlme, sent thelr most distingulshed statesmen as nmbassa dors to Venlee, to represent to that rer ubile that, If it did not joln them whlle they stlll stood, the liberty of Italy wss lost forcver. . . . An lllus. trous fuglthe, Frascesco Carmagnola, who arrived abont thls time at Venlce, aecompilshed what Florence had nearly falled in, by discovering to the Venetlans the project of the duke of Silan to subjugate them." Carmagnoia han been disgraced and dlschnrged from enployment hy Filippo Maria, whose jealousy was aisrmed by his grest reputatlon, and he now tonk servlee ngainst his iate patron. "A ieague, formed betweea Florence and Venlce, was successively foined by the marquls of Ferrara, the lorl of Slantua, the Siennese, the duke Amadeus VIII. of Savoy, and the klng Alphonso of Napies, wla, jointiy jerlarel war against Filippo Maria Viscontl, on the 2ith of January. 1426. . . . Tise cood fortune of Carmagnoia in war still attencied bim in the eampalgn of 1426 . IIe was us suc. cessful agsinst the duke of Niian ns lie liad been for him: he took from him the city and whole povirce of Brescin. The duke ceied this cunquest to the Venctians by treaty on the 30th of December hu: he empiuyed the winter in assembliag hls orces; and in the beginnlnm if spring renewal the war." An In iecisls gaqement occurred st Casalsecco. July 12, and on the 11th of Oetober followlug, in a $n$ Dear Mucalo, Curmagnola eompletely defeas. the Milanese army corn nanded by Cnrlo Malaof A A A ock peace was signed on the 1 isih later part of 1430 . Fortune recommeneed In the magnola. He suffered a surprise and defeat at Soncino, May 17, 1431, and the susplcious senate of Venice caused him to be arrested, tortured and put to death. "During the remainder of the relgn of Flilppo Maria he was habltualiy at war Wich the two repuhlle of Venlce and Flnrence. He. almost always lost groun. 1 by hls dls. trust of hls own generais, his versatility, hls taste for contradlctory intrigues, is eageraess to slgn peace every year, and to recommence hostlitiles a few weeks afterwards." In $144 i$, on mnklng peace wlth the two repuhilcs, he granted hle daughter Blanca ln marriage to thelr general, Francesco Sforza, with two lordshlps for her dowry. But he was soon lntrigulng against his son-ln-iaw, soon at war agaln wlth Florence ind Venice, and Sforza was agaln ln the service of the latter. But ln 1447 he malc offers of reconclllatlon whleh were accepted, and Sforis was on inls wsy to Milan when news eame to hlm of the dcath of the duke, whleh ceurred August 13 connexar of lombardy io is compilcated hy lts connexlon wlin another war whith at the same tlme ravaged the klr rilom of Naples. The queen, Joun II., had Ciom tip* 2 , on the 2d of February, 1435; three months after the death of her adopted son, Louis III. of Anjou: by her will she had substlut d for that prince his hrother René, do se of Lorralne. But Aiphonse, klng of Aragol. aud Slclly, whom she liad prlmarily adupted claimed the succession, on the grourd of this first aloption, as well as of the ancle it rights of Mitnfred. to whom he bad succeede, ln the temaie llne. The kingdom of Nsples was divided between the parties of Aragon and Anjou. The Gencese, who hial volunturily rangeit themseives undier the protectlon of the duke of Milaa, offered thelr asslstance to the duke of Anjou. . An the Sth of August, 1435, their tleet met isat of Alphonso, before the isiand of Ponza. Taey defeated it $\ln$ a great battle, in which Aiphonso hal been made prisoner." Dellvered to tire diuke of Miian, Alphonso soon convlnced the iatter that his aliance with the French interest ot Naples was a mistake and a danger to him, and was set at liberty, wlth promises of ali. The Genoese werc indignant at this and drove the Mianese garrlson from thelr city, lu December, 1435 , recovering thelr free. dom "Alphonso, seconded by the duke of Milan, reconmmenced the war agalnst lRene of Anjor sitil greater advantage. On the ed of June, . 442 , he took from him the city of Naples; from that time pesee was re-establlshed in that kiagdom, and Alphonso .. established hlmself smlist a puople which he had conquered, but wiose hearts he gained; and returaed no more either to Sleily or Aragon. He died at Naples, on the 27th of Juae, 14:8."-- C. L. de Sismonili, IIint. of the Italian Republics, ch. $9-10$.
Aleo in: W. P. Urqulart, Life and Times of Francesco Syorza, bk. 3-1 (c. 1).-H. E. Fapler, Florentine Hist., bk. 1, ch. 29-30, and bk. 2, ch. 1 (v. 3).-Mrs. Jameson, Memoirs of Celebrated Female Sorercigus, c. 1, ch. 5.-M. A. Ilookham, J.ife and Times of Margaret of Anjou, $\boldsymbol{t}$. 1, introd. thel ch. 1.
A. D. 1433-1464.-The ascendancy of Conimo de' Medici at Fiorence. See Florence: A. D. 1433-1464.
A. D. 1447-1454.-End of the Visconti in the duchy of Miian,-Disputed succession.Francesco Sforza in posiession.-War of ## Venice, Naplee and other statee acginst Milan and Florence. See MnaN: A. D. 144 i1454.

A. L. 1447-1480. -The Pontificate of Nicolae

 V.-Regeneration of the Papacy.-Revival of letters and art. - Threatening advance of the Turizs.- Fresh troubles $\ln$ Naples.- Expulelon of the :rench from Genoa.- The falare of the Co anell of Basel [see Pafact: A. D. 14311418] re tored the positlon of the Papncy, and set it ree from control. The character and ability of Pope Nlcolas [V., 1447-1455] made him respected, and the part which he took in polltles made himi rank amongs? the great tempuril powers in Ital: From the time onwards to the end of ur hiveury we shall see the Popus the undlapited Primes of Rone, and the lor is of all that part of Italy which they clatmed from the glift of Klugs and Eimperors, and not least from the will of the Countess Matlda. Pope Nleolas used this power better than any nf those who cane after hlin, for he used it in the cause of peace, and to forward learnlag and artstlc taste. Ile applled himself to the generul pacto. catton of Italy, and hronght aly. the peace of Lodl in 14 tis, which was slgned by Venice and Milan and by King Alfonso. Christendom had great need of peace, for. In 1453 , ConatantInople had heen taken by the Intilels and Mahomet the Secona was spreaillng his conquest over the East of Europe. Before the fall of the ctty a great many Greeks had come to Italy, on different mlssions, nud espectuly to attend a Conncil at Florence, "here terins of unton were nade hetween the Greek and Latin Churches. Their coming revived the taste for Greek learnling, which had been su powerfully felt lay Petrarca and Borcacclo iope Nicolas made Rome the centre of this literature, and others followed his example. Theodore of Gaza, George of Trehl. zond, and many more, found enllghtened patrons In the Pope, the King of Xinples, Cosmo de' MedIcl , and Federigo, Count of Lrbluo. The Pope was a lower and patron of art as well as of litera. ture. He rehuilt the churches, palnces, and fortificatlons of Rome and the Roman States, and formed the scheme of raising a charch worthy of the mennory of St. Peter, aud left beliud bhn the Vatican Palace as a worthy restedence for the Apostle's successors. The Papai Library had been scatered daring the Captlvitr aud the Schlson, hat Pope Niectas wade a large collee. tion of manuscripts, and thus founded the Library of the Vatlcan. The introluction of printing Into Italy ahount this time gave great strugth to the revival of learning. In $14.2 e^{2}$ the Pope crowned Frederic the Third Emperor at Rome with gieat magnificence. But he was not withe out danger in hls city, for the uext year a wihl plot was nade against him. A inrge number of Romnas were displeased at the great power of the Prope. They were headed by stefano Porcaro, who declared that he wonld free the elty which had once been mistress of the world from the yuke of pricists. The rising was to he ushered $\ln$ bis the shanghter of the Papal Court and the pluniter of its treasures. The plot was discorered. and wals pmulshed whth great severity: This was the hast and loost unworthy of the varions attempts of the Romans to set up self-gov. ernment. The wlyunce of the Ottoman Turks during the latter part of the 15 th century [see TCREs: A. D. 1451-1481] caused the greatestalarth. In Italy. Venice, from her posaswions and her trade in the Levant, was most expuow to the attacks of the Infldels, and she becante the great clamplon against them. The lewroed Eneas Sylvius was chosen Pope, in 1464 , and took the title of Phus the Second. Ile cansed a crusade to be preached against the Turks, but he died in 1464, while the forces were gathering. The Venetlans were constantly defeated in the Archlpelago, and lost Eubea, Leshos, anl oflir Islands [sce Greece: A. D. 1454-1470]. In 1475 a large Turklsh army entered Italy hy Friull, de. feated the Venctlans, and crossel the Taglis. mento. They latd waste the country ns far athe Piavs, and their destroying fires could he scen from the Campanile of St. Murks. In 14w Mahomet's geat generul, Ahmed Keluk, tork the strong clty of Otranto, and massecredl its in. hahitants. Thls expeflitons was aceretly favound hy the Venetians to splte the King if Sapis. Sultan danger to all Italy wns very greut, for the Sultan cagerly longed to conquer the ohlier home, hut the death of Mahomet the Becomrl, ant disputed successlon to hils throme, fortimately checked the further advance of the Invaders When Alfonso, Kiog of Aragon, Naphes, uad Slelly, ded In 1458, he left Aragon anit sielly. whlch he had Inherited, to his legitimate son John; but the crown of Naples, which he hat won for hlmself, he left to Ferdhumel, his itle gltimate sol. Ferdinand wha a cruel anil sus plclous mun, and the harons invlted dulin of Culahrla to conve und help them agahast hlm. John of Calahrla was the son of Réné, who had heen adopted hy Queen Joanma, and who caltid himself Kiug. Ile was the French Governan of Genos, and so alrendy had a froting In Ituly He ${ }^{\text {app }}$ plied to Sforzn to hetp him, hut the Dihe of Mhan was firmly uttur hed to the Peuce of Lodh, and was ton jusily fearful of the French power to do so. Lewls the Ejeventh, Khe of Frame, was too wlse to medicie In Italhn prilitios Flot: ence, whlch was usually on the French sith, was now under the Induevere of Cosmo dic Mivth, and Cosno was unuer the lnfluence of Francesco Sforza, so that the Dake of Calalitio found no alles. The Archblsiop of Genoa, Pu i Fregose, exclted the people to drive out the 1 rench [se Gevoa: A. D. 1458-1464] and the Dage Prospero Adorno, who belonged to thelr party. He then defeated King Réné, a 1 the Duke of Calabria was forced to glve $\mathrm{a}_{\text {a }}$ his attempt on Naples [1464]. The uew government of Genoa was so oppresslve that the Genoese put thenselves andet the protection of Francesco; Lewls the Eleventh ceded all his rights to him, and the city thas be cane part of the lurhy of Mlian. Thi hopesi the French party in Italy were thus for the presus cutirely crashed." W: Ihant, Ifixt of lthly, ef. 6
Also in: M. Creighton. Hixt. of the lipary. uk. 4, ch. 3-4 (r. 2), -W. I'. U'rqulart, Life Ead Times of Frunceseo Syorza, bk. 7 (r.2)-L Pastor, Hist. of the Ropks, r. 2 .
A. D. $1460-1469$. - Florence under the fire agents of Piero de' Medici. See Flonexct: 1458-1469.
A. D. 1469-1492. - The government of Lorenzo de' Medici, the Magnificent, at Floreace. See Fıonence: A. D. 1469-1492.
A. D. 1490-1498.-Savonarola at Floreace. Sce Fiureves: A. D. $1490-1495$
A. D. 1492-1494.-Charles VIII. of France invited across the Alps to possess Napies.-

ITALY, 1404-1490.

The hostlie dinumion of the Itallan slates. Whth the death of Lorenzo de Medicl, which occarred at Florence In the spring of 1402, " the pnwer ramahed whlch had hltherto kept Naples sul Illan r:ulet, and which, with subtle diplo mitle skill, mad poatponed the breach of the peace in Italy. We tind the comparison used, that Flor. ence with Lorenzo at ler head stood IIke a rocky dam between two storny seas. Italy was at that tlme a free land and ludependent of forelgo polley. Venlec, with her well-eatabllshed nohles st her head; Naples under the Aragoneee, a hranch of the famlly rulligg In Spaln; Mllan, with Chana, under Sforza - all threc able powers by land and wis - counterhalanced each other. Lorenzo ruled central Italy; the small lords of the IRomagna were in hls pay, and the poje was on the best terms of relationshlp with him. But in Mllan the mlsc.' Ir. lay hliden. Ludorleo Sforza, the gunrian of hls nephew ralan Galeazzo, had complecly usurped ti 3 power. IIe allowed hls ward to plne away mentally and bodlly: he wns bringing the young praceslowly to death, But hls consort, a Nebolltan princess, saw through the tracherr, aud urged ber father to change by force their insulferable posltlon. Sforza could not alone have reslsted Naplers. No dependence was to be placed on the frlendshlp of Venlce; Loremzo mellatel as long as lie IVed, hut now, on his deuth, Naples was no longer to be re. stramed. The first thing that happened was [l'iero de Medicl's] alliance whth this power, and at the sume time Ludovlco's appeal for help to France, where a young and ambltions hing hnd sserndel the throne. The death of Inncent Flll, and the electlon of Alexauder Borgla to the pupary, completed the confuslon which was lmpe biding, Long diplomatle campalgos took place lufore war actunlly hroke out. The nattel in question was aot the lnterests of natlons of this threre was no thought - nor even the caprices of princes aione. The nohles of Italy toui a puaiunate concern In these disputes. The comtents ${ }^{\circ}$ correspunding Intrigues ware fought oilt at thi french court. France had been robled of Naplay by the Aragonese. The exlled Neapulitan larous, French In their Interests, whose poserssions the Aragouese land glven to thelr own adherents, ardeutly selzed the idea of returning Wctorionsly to their country ; the cardinals, hostike to lhorgia - formost among these stond the Cardinal of San I'icro In Vincela, a nephew of the old Slxtus, and the Cardlnal . Iscanlo Sforza, Ludovico's brother - urged for war agalnst Alexander VI.; the Florentlne nobies, antlelpating l'iero's vlolent measures, hoped for deliver. ance through the French, and advocated the 'at. ter at Lyons, where the court was stathond, and a whole colony of Florentlne families had In time sittleci. Sforza held out the hait of glory and his just chims to the old legitlmate posse.sion The Aragonese, on the other hand, proposed an mecommodation. Spaln, who would not forsake her belouglngs, stoml at thetr ide: the pape aud Perodel Medici adhered to Naples, and the French nohlllty were not in fiswour of an expedition to ltaly. Veuice remained neutral; stillshe might gain by the war, and she did not dissaade from lt; and thls opingon, that some. thing was to be gained, gradually touk possession of all parties, even of those who had at tirst wishel to preserve peace. Spaln was a direct gainel from the irst. France ceded to King Ferdinand a diaputed province, on the conditlon that he would afford nosupport io hls Neapolltan couslas. Sforza, as lond of Genoa, wished to have Lucca and Pisa again, with all that belonged to them; the Vircontl had possessed them of old, and he ralsed $t$ telr clalms afresh. We have sald what were $i$ 'e hopes of Plero del Medicl [that he should be ahle to make himself Duke of Florence]. Pisa hoped to become free. The pope hoped by hls alllance wlth Naples to make the first step towards the attainment of the great plans whlch he cherished for himself and bls sons; he thought one day of dividing Italy among them. The French hoped to conquer Naples, and then to drive away the Turks In a vast crusale. As if for a crusade, the king ralsed the lonn In his own conntry, whleh he required for the campaign. The Cenetlans hoped to hring the roast cltlen of the Adriatle Sea as much as posslhle under thelr authority. In the autuinn of 1494, Charles of Frince plnced IIlm. self at the head of hls knlghts and mercenary troops, and crossed the Alps; whllst hls flect and artllery, the most fearful weapon of the French, went hy sea from Marselles to Genoa."-II. Grimm, Life of Mirhael Angolo, rh. 3, reet. 2 (r. 1).

Also In: T. A. Trollope, IIist. of the Commonwealth of F'Wrenre, bk. 8, rh. $\delta$
A. D. 1492-1503.- The Papacy In the hand of the Borgias. See Papacy: A. I). 1471-1518.
A. D. 1494-1496. - The invasion by Charles VIII.-His triיmphant march, his easy conquest of Naples, and the speedy retreat, Effects of the expedition on France and Europe.-"Or the lst of Mnrch [1494] Charles VIII. nuade his state entry Into Lyons, to assume the command of the expeditlon; nn alvauced guard under the Scotchnan !'Aublyny was ulrendy pushing towarls the Neapolitin frontier, and the Duke of Orlenns was at Genon. The Neapulltans on thelr slde scnt the Prince of Altamura with 30 galleys towards Genoa, while the Duke of Calabris, un lnexperienced youth. entered the Pontitical States, under the guidance of tried gencrals. . . . The Pope semed to have lost his head, and no longer knew what course to adoplt. . Charles the Vlll, hating passed the Nonginevra, eutered Asti in the tirst days of Srptember. Ile soon recelved lutelligence that Don Federico and the Neapolitan tleet had been repulsed whith heavy losses before Porto Venere, and that the Duke of Orleans and his Swlss had entered Rapallo, sacked the place, an!l put all the Inhabitants, even the slck In the hospital, to the sword, thereby striklng terror Into the Itallans, who were unaccustomed to carry on wnr In so sanguinary a fashon. On reachlng Placenza. the king learnt that Glo. Galeazzo, whom he had recently seen at Pavla, had just died there, polsened, as all men said, by the Moor [Lodovico, the usurping uncle of Gio. Galenzzo the young Duke of Milan, was so called], who, after cel. ebratng hls obsequies at Milan, had entered St. Ambrnigla, at the hour indicated hy his astrologer, to consecrate the investiture nlrendy granted to him hy Maximilian, Klag of the llo. mans. All this tilled the miuds of the Freach Whth susplciun, almost wilth terror; they wero beglunlug to understaud the nature of thelr closest ally's good falth. In fact, whlle Ludovi. co wlth one hand collected men and money for thelr cause, with the other he wove the threads of a league Intended to drive them from Italy when the moment should arrive. . . . Neverthe leas the fortunes of the French prompered rapidly. Tho Duke of Calahria, having entered Homagma withdrew acrose the Neapolitan frontler at the fint glimpee of DAuhigny's forces; and the bulk of the French army. commanded by the King in permon, marehed through the Lunlglana without encountering obstacles of any kind After ta. 'ng Fivlzanno, aracking It, and putting to the swuid the hundred soldlers who defendel It, and part of the lnhabitants, they pushed on towands Barzana, through a barren district, be tween the mointalas and the sea, where the allghteat resistanee migait have proved fatal to them. But the small eastles. Intended for the defence of these valleys, y felded one after the other, withor't any attempt to resiat the lnvaders. and hardly liad the slege of Sarzann commenced than Ihero del Medici arrivel, frighteued out of his sensew, surrendered at discretlon, aud even promised to pay 200,000 dieats. But on Phero's return to Floreuce, on the 8 th of November, he found that the elty had riwen In revolt, and sent ambassadors to the French Klag on lte own ac conat to offer him an homonrahle reception; hut that at the same time it wiss making preparations fordefence in case of need [sיe Ftorence: : D. D. 1490-1488]. So great was the puhlte indignation that Picro took flight to Venice, where his own amhassador, Sulerini, hardiy deigned to look at him, having meanwhile dechared for time repub. llean government just proclaimed in Flurence, Where everything had been rapidly changed. The houses of the Merliel and their carlen at St. Mark hat lecen pillaged, cxiles had been recalled and acguitted: a price put on Plero's head and that of his brother, Ie Cardinal. . . The fahrie, so long mud so carefnlly huili up ing tho Mediel. was now suddenly erumhiling lnto dinst. On the 1 ith Norember Churles Vill., at the hend of his formidithe arniy, rokle into Florence with his lance in rest, believing that that fact sutuleed to make him mater of the city. But the Floren. tines were armed, they had collected 6 . (W0) soldiers withlr the walls, and they knew perfectly well that, from the vantage posts of towers and houses, they could cusily worst an army seattered through the strcets. They therefore re pulsed the Fing's insolent proposils, and when he threatened to sound his trumpets, Plero Cupponi, tearing up the offered treaty, replied that the Florentines were nore ready to ring their betis. Through this tirmness cquitahle terms wrore arranged. The IRepmblic was to pay 120,000 forins in three quotas; the fortresses, however. were to be speedily restored to her. On the 28th November the Frunch left the city, but not with ont stenting all that remained of the collection of antipuities In the Medici Palace.

Nevertheless the citizens were thankful to be finally delivered alike from ohd tyrants and wew in valers. Ilaving reached lkome, Charles VIII., in order to have done with the Pope, who now seated Inctined for resistance, pointed his guns against the Castle of St. Angelo, and thas mat ters were soon settled.

Scarcely encounter ing any obstuckes, Charles led his army on to Naples." Firelinand I, or Ferrante, had died on the 25th of Juauary, 1494, and had been sue ceeded by his ann Alfonso II a prinere moro crucl and more hated than himself. The latter now renounced the throne in favor of his son.

Ferdlamad II., and Led to Slell. "Fendinaod 11., or Perrandino, as he wat called, after valaiy seeklog ald from all, even from the Turk, mad a frulters atand at Monte San Glovannl. whled was taken, deatroyed, and sll its population put to the aword.

Naples rebelled in favour of the Freach, who marched In on the 241 of February [1496]. The following day Ferrandioo fled to Ichla, then to Measina, And shortly the amhasaadore of the Itallan Statem appuared to offer congratulations to the conqueror. Fiow at last the Venetlans were aroused, and having seat thelr envoys to Milan to know if Ludovico were dispoed to take up arms to drive out the Frumb thoy found hlm not only ready to do so, but fuli of Indignation.

Ile advised that money should be sent to Spaln and to Msxinthan, to Induce them to attack France; hut adileyithat care must be taken not to call them into Itals solnce having alrealy nne fever here, we should then have two.' A league was in fact conctuded between the Venetians, Ludovien, the Pope Spaln and Maximilian.

The Nrapolituns, soon wearied of had government, hul risen in revolt, and Charles Vill. after a stay of oaly 30 days In Naples had to make his deporture with excessive haste, before every avenue of retreat should be cat off. leaving hardiy more than 6,000 men in the kingdom, and tuking with him a numerous army, which however only numbered 10,0 neal combatants. On the 6ih of July a pltchel hattle took place at Forunoro acesr the river Taro. The allies hal assmbied about 80,000 men, three-fourths of Whon were Vege. thas, the rest composed of Ladovirois sutditers aud a few Germans sent by Kaxlmilim.
The battle was bloody, and it was a disputef question which side obtalned the victury; but although the Italians were not repuiserl, reuainlng indeed masters of the ficld, the Fronch surceeded In cutting their way throngh, which was the chicf object they had in view. . . . Lu. dovico, takling advantage of the sithation, soon made an agreement with the Frimeli on his own account, without concerniug hims.if aly int the Venctians.

The fortunes of the Frencu now declined rapidly in Italy, and ali the more speedily owing to their had goverancut in the Neapolitan kingdom, and their aboninable be. havlour towards the few friends who had remained falthful to them. . . . Ferdinend II. with the aid of the Spanianis under Consalvo di Cordova, advanced triuaphamtly through Cnlahria and entered Naples on the ith of July. 1496. In a short time all the Nendolitan for trisses capitulated, and the Fremeh who haw held then returned to their cwn eonstry, nore than decimated and in an altogether deplorable cus. dition. On the 6th of October Ferdinand II breathed his last, worn out hy the agitation and fatigues of the war, and was succeaded by his uncle Don Federico, the tifth King [couating Charles VIII. of France] who haif ascended the Neapolitan throne within the last tive ycars
Naples was now in the absofnte power of the Spaniards, who were already maturing their in iquitons designs upon the kingdom; these, how ever, were only discovered at a later period."P. Vlilari, Machiavelli and his Times, v 1, ch 4. aect. 2.--"In splte of lts transitory character the invasion of Charles VIII.

Was a grabl fatt in the history of the Rencissance. It was, to use the pregnant phrase of Michelet, no less than the revelation of Italy to the aations of the North Lite a gale sweeping scrom a forest of trees in blowom, and waring their fertilizing polien, after thas broken and deflowered thelr branches, to far dirtant trees that hitherto have bloomed in bar. reanens, the torm of Charles's army carried far and wide through Europe thought-dust, Imperceptibie, hut potent to enrich the natlons. The French, aione, ways Micheiet, underntood Italy.

Shenaton of Lowio XII.

From the Italiars the French communicated to the rest of Europe what we call the movement of the Henalssance. There is mome truth in thls panegyric of Michelet's. The pasage of the army of Charles ViII. marks a turning point la modern bistory, and from this epoch dates the diffusion of a splrit of culture over Europe."-J. A. Symonds, Renaisance in Italy: Tho Age of the Des. pote, ch. 9.
Almo is: P. Villari, Iliat. of Saronarola and his Times, bk. 2, eh. 1-8 (n, 1), -J. Dennistoun, Nemoirs if tho Dukes of Crbino, eh, $1+15$ (c. 1). P. de Commincs, Memoirs, 6k. 7-8.-L. von Ranke Hisp, if the Latin and Teutonic Siutions from 149 i to lish, bk. 1, ch. 1.-See, also, France: A. D. 1493-1515.
A. D. 149-1503. - The growing power of Venice and the jealousles excited by 11 . Bee Vexice: A. D. 1494-1503.
A. D. 1494-1509. - The French deliverance of Pien, - The long atruggle and the Florentine reconquest. See Pras: A. D. 1494-1500.
A. D. 1499-1500. - Invasion and conquest of the Miianese by Louis X1I. of France.-His claim in right of Valentine Vlscontl.-Charles Fill. died in April, 1408, and was succeeded by Louls of Orleats, who ascended the throne as Louls Xil. On his coronation, Loulis XII. "assuned, hesplices his title of King of France, the ditles of King of Naples and of Jerusalem, and Duke of Jillan. This was as much as to say that he would pursue warlike and adven. turous policy abroad. . . . By his policy at home Louls XII. deserved and obtained the nane of Father of the People ;' by hls enterprises and wsrs abroad he involved France stiil more deepiy than C'harles VIII. had in that mad course of distant, reckless, and incohereat conquests for Whlth bles successor, F-aneis I., was destined to pay by capture at Pavia and hy the iamentahle tresty of Sladrhl, in 1520, as the price of hls relense. . . Outsido of France, Milaness (the bilsaese dilstrct) was Louls XII.'s tirst thought, at his accession, and the frst ohject of his desire. Hic looked upon it as his patrimony. His grandmother, Valenthe Visconti, widow of that Duke of Orleans who had been assussinated at Paris in 1407 by order of John the Fearless, Duke of Burgundy, had been the last to inherit the duchy of Milan, whlch the Storzas, in 1450, baid seized. When Charles VIII. invaded Italy In 1404. 'Now ls the time,' saidi Louis, 'to enforce the rivhts of Yalentine Visconti, my grandmother, to Milancss.' And he, in faot, asserted them openly, and proclaimed his intention of vindicating tiwen so soon as he found th ${ }^{-}$noment proplitious. When he became king, his chance of success was great. The Duke of Milian, Ludovic, the Moor, had by his sagachy and fertlle mind, by his taste for arts and sciences and the intelligent patronage he b-stowed upon them, by his sbiitity in speaking, and hy his facile charac. te:, obtained in Itaiy a potition far beyond his reai power. . . . Ludovic was, nevertheless, a turhulent macal and a greedy tyrant had, moreover, embroifed breedy tyself with his nelghbourn, the Venetians, who were watching for an opportunity of aggranilizing themelves at bis expeace." Louis XII. promptly concluded treaty with Venice, which provided for the mak. lng of war in common upon the Duke of Mian, to recover the parimony of the klig - the Vine. tinns to receive Cremona and certain forts and territory aljacent as their share of the expected ${ }^{\text {appllis. }}$ "In the month of August, 1409 , the Freach army, with a strength of from 20, Uns) to 25,000 men, of whom 6,000 were Swlss, invadel Milaness. Duke Ludovic Sforza opposed to it a force oretty uear equal in number, but far icss full of condtence and of far less vaiour. Ia less than three weeks the duchy was conquered: in only two casea was sny assault necessury; ali the other pinees were given up by truitors or Surrentereri without a show of resiatance. The Venetians hall the same stuecess on the eastern frontier of the duchy. . . . Lounis was at Lyon when he heard of hls army's victory in MHaness and of Ludovic sforza's dight. Ile was eager to go and tako ponsession of his conquest, and, on the 6th of October, 149, he maile his tilum. phal entry into Mllan suldet cries of 'Hurrabl for France. IIe relucell the leary inposts establlshed by the Sforzas, revoked the vexatious game-lawa, instltuted at Milan a court of justice analogous to tine Freneh parilameuts, loaded with favours the schoiars and artists who were the honour of Lombariy, and reerossed the Mps at the end of some weeks, leaving as govemor of Mllaness John James Trivulzio, the railant Condottlere, who, four years lufore, hal guitted the service of Ferdinandi II., King of Naples, for that of Charies VIII. EUfortunately Trivuizlo wns hlmself a Milunese and of the faction of the Guclphs. Ile hadi the passions of a partlsan and the hahits of a man of winr; and he son became as tyrannleal ani as much detested in Mllanesa as Lutovie the Moor latl but mitcly been. A plot was formed $\ln$ fuvour of the failen tyrant, who wns in Germnny expecting it, and was re crulting, during expertancy, amongst the Ger nisns nuil swiss, in o $r$ to take advantage of it. On the $\mathbf{2 5}$ th of Jan 7,1500 , the insurrection broke out; and two n the later Ludovic Sforza had once more hecame zaster of Miianess, where the French possessed nothlag but the castle of Milan. Lomis SII., so sion as he heard of the Milanese insurrectlon, sent into Italy Louis de ha Tremoille, the best of his captains, and the Carilinai d'Amboise, his privy eouncilior and bis friencl. The campaign didid not last long. The Swise who had been recruited hy Ludovic and those Who wero in Lonis XlI.'s service had no mind to fight one another; and the former capitulated, surrcudered the strong parmer of Novara, and promsed to eracuate the country on condition of $n$ snfe-eonduct for themsclves and thelr booty." Luluvle attempted filght in dis. guise, but fell into the hands of the French and remalned in captivity, at the castlc of Loches, in Touralne, during the remainder of his lifeMight years. "And 'thus was the duchy of Milan, within seven mouths and a hali, twice conquered by the French,' says Joha d'A!iton in his 'Chrouilyue," "uni fur the nonce was ended the war in Lombardy, and the authors thereof were captives snd exiles.' "'-F. P. Guizot, Popular Hiot. of France, ch. 27 .

Also ns: A. M. F. Rohinenn, The End of ine Middle Ages: Jahneim liceonti; The Firneh

 chism to Mitan. - E. Walford, story of ith Chosalier Ahyard, en. 2-4.15-10ith Centurfes.— Readeaace.- Iatelfectual adrance sad moral decliae.- "At the end of the fifteenth century, lialy was the centre of European civilization; while the other nationa were atill plunged in a feudal barbariom which becina slmost as far removed from shl our aympathies as is the condition of come American or Pulyneslan eavages, the Jtafians appear to us at posmesalug haintis of thought, a mode of life, poItleal, mechai, and fitcrary inntitutions, not unhike thowe of to day; as men wiom we can thorougily underatand, whose fideas and ainat, whose general views, rememinie our own in that main, inde. anable characteristic of beling noulern. They had shaken of the morbid monastle ways of feeling, they had thrown asite the crooked scholantic modes of thinking, they hail trmmpled under foot the feudai institutions of the Mifidlo Ages; no symboilcal mists made them see things rague, atrange, and distorted; their Inteliectual atmonphere was an clear as our own, and, if they naw jess than we do, what they did sce appenrel to them in its true silape and propurtions. A1. mont for the first time since to . poln of antlque civilization, they conid show weil-organized, well defined States; artisticaliy disciplifed armiea ratlonaliy devised laws; scientificaliy conducted agricuiture; and whicly exteuded. Intelligently undertaken commerec, For the tirst time, alno, they showed regularly bulit. heaitily, and commoillous towns; well-dralned tields; and, more importan' than ail, hundreds of miles of country ownet not hy fendal furis, hut hy citizens: cultivatud not hy serfs, hut hy free peasants. Wifle in the rest of Einmpe inen were fioundering among the stagnant heas and crumbling institu. tlons of the effete Mlddle Ages, with but a vague haif-consclouances of their own nature, the Ital lans walked caimly through a jife as weil arranged as their great towna, bold, Inquisitirc, and sceptlcai. moxiern administrutors, modern onldiers, molern politicians, noolern financiers, sclulars, and thinkers. Towards the ead of the afteeuth century, Italy seemed to have obtained the philosophlc, itterary, and artistic inineritanee of Grece: the ailministrative, legai, and nilli tary inheritance of lhome, increased tireefold hy her own atrong, orlginal, essentlally modern setivities. Yet, at that very tlme, and aimost in proportion as ail these advantugea developed, the moral vitailty of the ltalluns was rajldiy de. creaslng, and a horribie moral gangreue begin. alng to spread: Ilberty was extinguished; public good falth seemed to be dying out; even private inorailty tlekered ominousiy, every free State becane subjeet to a despot, nlways unse rupulous and often infamoua; warfnre became a mere preturi for the rupine and extortons of mereenaries. diplonacy grew to be a mere swindle; the humanists finocuiated llterature with the fil hest refuse east ujt ly antiqnity; nay, even civic and famlly ties were foosened; assassinations aud fratricides began to abound, and aif law, human and divlne, to be set at detiance. . . . The men of the lienalssance bad to pay a heavy price for intellectual freedom and self-cognizance which they not only enjoyed themsivas, but transmitted to the rest of the world; tho price was the low of all moral standard, of alif fixed public feeltag. They had thrown alle all er cepted rules ind criterta, they had cait awny all falth in trulitional imettutions, they had do. atroyed and could not jet rohuild. In thelr to atiactive and unlverat diniefiet In shif that hat been taught them, they loat all reapet for opinloa for rule, for what had been called ry, isnd wroge, Could it be otherwine i Ilad they not discorered that what hadf been calied right had often beed unnatural, anis what had beencalied wring ntei natural? Moral Leachinge, remone'ruicts. nad jurgmente belonged to that dugmathan' from which they had broken loose: to thame schonls and churclies where the foolloh and the unnatural had been taught and worshlperi: to thow prissis and monles who themselves mont nhame fuily viulated their teacilage. To profens mo rally was to be a hypocrite; to repribute other was to be narrow. nimided. There wis mo much error mixed up with truth that truth had to sinare the discredtl of error." - Vernun Lep Eupharion, 0. 1, pp. 27-29, 47-48.- " Tle enoull tiona under wirich the lailians perfonurel thelr tank in thic henaisaance were much as swom al tirst sight unforourable to any grout addete ment. Yet it is probable that, the cmil in ofem being the atimulation of mental aetlvity, no letter efreunstances than they enjoyed conhl have been provided. Owing to a series of adverne acchleata, and owing aiso to thelr own instinetive pinfir: ence for iocai inatitutions, they failed toattala the coherence and the centralised organisation which are necessary to a nation as we undrestand hat word. Their dismemberment amone rival cem. munities proved a fatal source of jelitical and mlitary wcaknese, but it developed all thelr in: tellectual energies hy competitlon to the utmat. At the middie of the fiftecuth century thitr cmm munes had loat polticeal illerty, and were puled ly despots. Martial spirit de linet. Wars were carried on hy mercelaries; mul the people fortud itself in a state of practicyl divarnament. when the neiglimoring nations quarrelled for the prize of those rieh provinces. At the sume time welety underwent a rapld morna deterioration When Machla veifi cailed ltaly 'the corrupion of the worid, he difi not apeak rhetoricully. An impure and Foridy clergy; an Irvilpions. thongh superstlitious, falty; a self indulpeut and materiaifstic midide cluss; an hille uristuenws excluded from poiftics and unusul to arms, puhile given up to pleasure and moner getting a muithtide of schulars, devoted 4 trites, and villated hy studies whlef chasibed with the ideals of Christianty-from such eleneents in the astina proceeded a widely-spread and werlacriaslm; degeneracy. Public energy, exlamstel br the civif wars and debilitated by the arts if the tyrants, sank deep and deeper into the lassitule of acquiescent jethargy. Religion expireal in hat -hter, imony aud licence. Domestic nimplicity yifle 'to viee, wherent the recorls are precix' ind unnistakalle. The virile virthes disap. peared. What survivel of courage issumed the forms of ruftianism, feroelty nuil triawnulde dar: lag. Stilh, simultaneonsly with thls deedine la all the moral qualities which constitute a powerful prople, the Italians hrought their arts and some departments of their Ilterature to a perfection that can oniy be paralieied by ancleut Greece The anomaly fropifed in thls statment is stif ing; but it lis revealed to us hy evilence too orer wheiming to be rejected.

It was through an that the creatire inutincte of the peopic found Dhelr true and adequate channel of expreaton. Purumount over all other manlfentations of the opoch, fundamental beweath all, penetrutlve to the core of all, is the artistic fapules. The nlowly self-concolidating llif of a great klagedom, concentruthg all elements of antional exfitence by the centripetat force of organlc unlty, whe Wantlis. Commonwesl the and dieapotisms, reprewating a more lamperfect stage of politleal growth, whieved completlon and decayed. But git murvived this disintegratlon of the medleval fabric; and In art the Italians found the coheslon denied them at a nation. Whlle speaking thus of sit, It is necescary to give whle extemion to that word. It munt be understomil to laclude literature. . Wo are juntlited In regartling the Heerary masterpleces of the sixterath century at the pulleat and mont reprementative ex. preaslon of the Itallan temperament at the climax of lte frowth. The Ilterature of the colden age laplies humanlom, Implles palntlag.

It is not only poalhle but right to apeak of laly collectlvely when we revlew her work in the Reasiamanco. Yet It should not be forgotten that Italy st thls time was a federatlon, present og upona miniature scalo the same diveraltle in ber component parti as the natlons of Europe do now.

> At the beglnnling of auch revlew. we caanot fall to be giruck whith the predom: inance of "lorence. The superiority of the Tuscans was threefold. In the first place, they determined the development of art ln all lis branches In the second place, they gave a lan. guage to Italy, which, whlthout olliteratlag the local dinlects, superseded them In llterature when the right moment for Intellectual communlty arrived, Thst moment, In the thirl place, was rearlered possible hy tho humanlstle movement, Whirh begnn at Florence. . . What the Lombards snd Venetians produced In tine art and Herature ws of a later blrth. Yet the novellsts of Lomburdy, wis Latln lyrists of Garla, the school of romantic and dramatlc poets at Ferrara, the group of aculptore and pninters assemhlel in Mlan by the Sfuran dynasty, the maccaronle Jluse of Mantua the unrivalled magnificence of paintlog nt Venlce, the translent splendour of the Parmese masters, tho wit of Molena, the learning of the prlaces of Mirandola and Cnrpl, must be catalogued among the most brillunt and characteristic manifestatlons of Itallan genius. Io pure literature Venlce contributed but little.

Her place, ns the home of Aldo's Greek press, and as the refuge for adrenturers llke Aretino and Fulrngo, when the rest of Italy was rielling to reactlonary despotism, hss to be commemorated. . . The Romans who adrancel Italian culture, were singularly few. The work of Rome was done almost excluslvely by nllens, drawn for the most part from Tusenny and Lombardy. After F'rederick II.' brilliant relgn, the Stilhans shared but little In the Intellectunl activlty of the aatlon."-J. A. Symonds, Renais. ance in Italy: Italian Litemiture, ch. 17 .
A. D. $1501-1504$. - Perfidiou treaty for the partition of Naples between Louls XII. of France and Ferdinand of Aragon. -Their jolat conquest. - Their quarrel and war. - The Freach expelled. - The Spaniards in possession, - 'In the spring of 1501, the French army Was ready to pursue its march to Naples. Klng Prederick, nlarmed at the atorm which was gath.

Pring round his head, had mome monthe hefow renewed the propostion formerly made hy wh futher Ferdland to Cherlen VIII, namely, to acknowledge hamelf foudatory of Trance, to pay an annual trihute, and to pledre eeveral maritlme tc.wna asecurity for the fulalment of thewe conditions Louli, howaver, would not hear of theme llberal ofterm, although Perilinand the Catholle [of Armgon] undertook to guarantee the payment of the tribute proffered hy Frederlck, and atrongly remonatrated agalnat the contemplaterl expedition of the French Kligg. Fep. cilnand thaling that he could not divert Louls from hls project, propreed to him to divide Nis. ples between them, and a partition was arranged by a treaty cronelurled between the two monareh at Granaln, Nuvember Ilth, 1000 . Naples, the Turm di Lavoro, and the Abruzal were masigned to lonls, whth the title of King of Napl's snd Jepusalum; whlle Ferllnand was to have Cala. bria suc "pulla wlth the title of Diike." This perflllous srangenient was kept secret. of course, from Frederick. "Meanwhile the of of Perdinanil, under Gonsalvo of Cordova the 'Great Cnptain,' as he was atyled after his Ital. lan campalgn), were ar!mitted as frlende Into the Neapolltan fortremses, which they ifterwarde held as enemlea. Frederick opened to them Wecome the lngen his ports and towns, and thu becante the instrument of hla own ruin. The unhappy Frei' ?rick houl In "Fah looked around for assistance. IIe liml pald the Emperor Maxlmillan 40,000 ducnts to nuake a diversion in his favour hy attucking Mllan, but Maximilian was detached from the Neapollitan slllance hy a connter bribe, and consented to prolong the truce wilh France, Frederlck had then had recourse to Sultan lajazet II., whl! as llttle eflect: and thls applleation only serverl to throw an ollum on lus cause. 10 The French army, whleh dill nut excered 11,000 men, began fie march fownris Naples nbout the cad of May, 1501, under the comtuand of Stuart d'Auhigny, With Ciesar Burcin [won of Pope Alexander VI.] for his lieutemant. When lt arrlvel before Rome, June 25th, the French anul Spaulsh ambassadone acynininted the Pope with the treaty of Granada, and the contemplated partitlon of Naples, in whith the suzerality of this kingdom was guarsateerl to the Iloly see; a communteation which Alexnuter recelved with more surpriso than displeusurn, und he proceeded at once to lavest the lings of France and Arugon with the prorlnces Which they respectlvely clatmed. Attacked in front by the French, ln the ras by Gonsalvo, Frederick dill not renture to tilke the fleld. It cantoned hils troops in Naples, Arerao, and Capua, of whlch the last alone mate sny attempt at defence. It was surpriserl hy the French Whue in the aet of treating for a capltitatlon (Jnly 24th), and was subjected to the most revolting cruclty; 7,040 of the male lnhablante Were massacred In the atrcets: the women were outraged; and forty of the handsomest reserved for Borgla's haren at Rome; where they were in readlness to amuse the Court at the extraondinary and dlsgusting fete given at the fourth marriage of Lucretla. Ruther than expose his subjects to the horrors of a useless war, Frederick entered Intu negociacions whth d'Aubigny, with the view of surrendering himself to Louis XII. In October, 1501, be salled for France with a sman squadron, which remalned to him. In return

Iof his abamionment of the provisces acel fnet is the Freach King, be was laveeted with the county of Maine, and a life peanlon of 80,000 duesta, on comilition that he ehould not attenupt no quit Prace; a guand was eet over him to en. forie the hatcer provion, and thlo escellent prince died in capilvity in 18 ius. Meanwhile Oonnaivo of Corilave was prireediog with the relucton of Chaisifia and Apulia. Thes Apanalards er. cenal Taranto, March Iat, I509; the other towne of muliern Itaiy were somp relucel, and the Noapmitian braich of $t$.. Ilouse of Aragon feli fup ever, after relgning as years. In the autuma of 1801, Laulin hind entered into negoclations with the Emiperur. In order to oltaing Pormal Inventiture of tho Iluchy of Milan. With thls vlew. Loula's dangher Clisude, then only two yeara of age, was aflancel to Charies [nfterwarls the the liffant chlid of the Arclatuse Plilitp anil Jonnna of Aragon. A treaty was submeryuentiy algnal at Trunt, October. ISth, 1501, hy Maxl.
milian anul the Cardinal d'Amboles, to Whlefi the milian and the Cardinal d'Amboles, to which the Spanish onvercigns and the A relduke lhilip were Alco partien. Ify tila Inat fument lauin engaged, In retura for the inventiture of Milam, to reerig. nloe the pretenalona of the lloume of Austria to Hungary and lioliemia, and to mecomil Maxi. milina in an expedition which he contemplated againit the Turks. It what thin conference that thooe achemes agulnat Venice began to le og tatent, which uitimately produced the league of Camirny. The treaty betwern Louis and Ferdinand for the partition of Naples was ac loosely drawn, that it seemed purposily intended to produce the quarrels whech oceurreal." Dia. puten arose as it the ponsession of a couple of provincen, and the Npaniaris were driven out. -In the course of 1 bie the Spanlanla were cle. privel of verg eling, except larietts snil a few towns ou tae const of Barl. It was in the cums. tats mund this place:- Bayard, by his deeds of courage and generosity, won hla reputatha as the molel . chivairy, and beccame the ldol of the French t i" "ry." The crafty and unscrupu. lous king ot ragon now aniused Louls with the negotintlon of a treaty for the relinquisiment of the whole Neapolitan domaln to the lately aflanced Infants, Charies of Austria and Claude of France, whilie lie diligently reinforced the "Great Captain." Then "Gonsulvo suddenly resumed the offenalve with extrmordinary vigour and rapility, ami Fithin a wrek two decesive batties were fought"-at Seminurn, In Calabrin, Aprll 21. 150:i, and at Cerignola, buar Marietta, Aprii 28. In the last namerf butie the French army was dispersedi and alnoost destroyed. On the it th of May, Gonsulvo entered Naples, and by the end of July the Freach liad completely evacuated the Neapoiltan territory. The king of France made prompt preparations for vlgurons war, not only in Naplei but in Spain liself, send. itg two armines to the Pyrences and one seross the Alps. The cempaign of the latter was ruined by Cariinal d'Ambolse, who stopped lta merrit near Romir, to support his eandidacy for the papal chalr, just vacated by the death of Alesander VI. Masiari: nade havoc in the ranks of the Frencl, and they were hadly conmanded. They adranced to the seat of war In October. and forced the pasage of the Garigilatub, Ao. vember 9 . "Ilere thelr progress was arreated . . The neasons themselven were hostile to the Freach; heary ming eet in with a monataney quite unumual In that cilmate: aml the Freach militen pericherl by hudirels in the muil and an amp of the Gardgliano. The spanish army, enesmpup near Beese, was Intter supplied anil beller dimi. plined; anil at length, after two numtion of lasic. ilon, Uonsalvo, having recelved mume pilatorne. munts, amumel the offeluive, wul In biv tura crowed the river. The French, whow quarting were whlly disperwel, were not juw imital fir this attack, anil attempted to full liouk upvo Gaeta; hut thelr netreat mon inverame a dilwonperily fight; many threw down their srmes withoue strking a how: and hence the aftulr has wime timen been calicil the romt of tive Garlplano [Decenilner 20, 1:sha]. Preter dec Mallit, whe Was following the Frinch army, perlidiat in thats retront.

- Very few of the Prencharmy fuvad their way lack to France, Clacta surrindend turien, an it omplated the compunt of Saple The two attack on Spain ham atme mis aprrimy

A truce of I ve montin was conrludel, Xi vember tsth, while It was aulnequentiy coproftem Into a peace of tiree yenra."-T. II. VIger, llite of D/imern Eluropr, th: 1, rh. -0-8 (n. i).
ALioo ts: I. von lainke, Jlint. of the Letin and Teutumic Niltions, 1494-15t, bt. 1 , rh 4 . and bt. 2, ch. 1.-T. A. Trutlope, Jlint. if the Cum. man reath of Hinrence, ot, $\theta$, ch. \&-B (f, f) -11 j Quintans, The Great Captrin (Lirea uf firlbruted (yuminels) - C. I'. R. Joncs, Memirre of Grate Commanders, is Gonantrez de (inntionat-L Larclicy, lliet, of Ihyyurd, bu: 2.
A. D. $850-8506$.-The Treatles of Blois. Tortuous diplomacs of Loouin XII,-His double renunciation of Naples - . Thire was danger [to Lavia XII. of Franere] tint the liwa the Milaneese sioniti follow that of the klughme of Naples. Maximiliun was alrcuady propurtorg to assert his imperial rigits beyond the Apmand Gonasivo de Cordura was murching low aril the northern part of the peninania. Lomis XII. Ul! vided and disarmed his enemies lie three truatlea, signed at Blols on the same day (isint). Iy the frst Lonis and Maxinilian agreed to athark Venice, and to divhle the spoll: hy the wecond Lonis promised the king of the Itomains eno.000 france in recturn for the investiture of the Milas. ese; hy the tifrit he renonneell the kloudom of Neples in fuvor of Maximilian's gratisun ( harles, WIIN Was to marry Claude, dangitir of Lovih XII. and recelve as her dowry throv. Froach provinces, - Burgunily, Brltuny mal Bloss 1 more disastrous agreement coulil nith have beed made Chaiks wan to olath hy haleritance Prom hils father, Phillip the Ilandsiate, the Setherlanils; from lis moticr, cinstile: frum hils patirnal gruadfather, Austria; from his matemal granifather, A ragon. And now fie was nssund of Italy, aud France was to be distmenherend for him. This was virtually giving hian emple of Europe. France protested, and Louls Nill enized the first oceasion to respeoind to her wiblia. He fousd it in 1505 , when Ferdinund the CuthoIle married Germaline de Fulx. nicte of Lutis XII. Lenina by treaty made a serond cestlon of his rigits over the kingdom of Xiphles to his nlece, thus breaking one of the priminal conditions of hif treaty wilh Masimilian. Ife curvoked the Btates. General ai Tours liu urdir upenly to heak the others (1508). Thr Asembly declared that the furuiamentul law of the atate did not permit allenatlons of the dhanalns of the crowa, and bemought the kligg to give hls daugh ker la narmage to ald heir prowimptive, Firancla, Duke of Angoulfme, In order to hasure the inWagrity of the terflory and the Independence of France. Loula XII. found Ittle dificulty in arculiag to their requent. Maximilian and Fer. Inamil were at the time unatile to protent."-V. Duruy, Ilise. "f fruner, eh. 38.
A. D. $850-1509$, The League of Camaral against Venlce. - The contlaental provincet d the Repuhlle torn away. Seo Vrexice: A. I. 15N. $1 \times 1 \times$
A. D. 1510-1513. - Dienolution of the League of Cembral and formation of the Holy jescue crolat France. The French expel in from Milan and all Ifaly. - Rectoratio. os the Medicl.-Recovery of Venetian serritorlec.In the League of Cnmbral begnn to weaken and fall In plitiv, the vigurots repulile of Venlee "'rance forth again, retook l'alun, and kept it through a long and torrible slegr, at lant forelng the E'mpreror to whthiraw anil send jonck hif Fruth alles. The Venetians rimvered Vicenza. and threntened Verona; Maxlmillan, once more powirlena, npicaled to Frince tu defend hla conquysta. Thusthings stoxal [1510] when Jullus 11. mule pace whit Venlee and inegna to look round him firsalles akalnut Louls. XII. IIe negotinted with the forvelgn klngs; but that was only in ordep therehy to neutruilse thelr Intluence, sowlng disconl arnong them; it was on the Swism mer. cenaries that he really leant. Now that he had gainel all he wanted on the northern frontler of the sitater of the Church, he thought that he malit suf fly unlertake the high duty of protecting ltaly agninst the forelgner: he woull accom. plah what Cesar Borgla fiad but dreameel of dolog. he would chase the Barbarian from the sacred will of enlture. .. Ile 'thanked Goll,' when he lieard of the death of the Cardlnal of Amindse, 'that now he was Poje alone!'
Ile at onve set hlmself to aecure the Swlas, and found in remly and capable agent in Matthew Sichynuer, Binhop of ston In the Vaials. Bishop Nehynaer was rewariled for thls traftic Fith a cardinal's hnt. And now, deprived ly death of the guliling hand [of Cardinal d'Ant. boif $]$, Iouls XII. began to foliow a dlfficuit and duagroms liae of policy: he called a Natlonal cound! at Tours, and laid before It. as a cnse of cons. "י", the questlon whether he might sake war the Iope. The Councll at once de. clartu for the King, dlstlngulshing, as well they might unler Jullus II., between the temporal snid the spiritund In the Papncy, and daclaring that any papal censure that might le laurclued would be nult nnd vold. Above all, an uppent wha made to a General Councll. . . . Mean whille war writ on in Italy. A liroadly-planned attack on the Milancse, on Genon, and Ferrara, concutiol by Jollus 1i. with the Venctlans and Swiss, had come to nothing. Now the warilke pontif - one know hls grinn face from Ilaphael's pieture, aad hls nervous grasp of the arms of his chair, as though he were about to sjring forWard Into actlon - took the field In person. At Bologna he fell Ili; they thought he would dle; and Chaumont of Ambnien was marehlng up with the frrench at his beels to surround and take hlm ihere. But by skllful treating with the French geaeral Jullus gained tlme, till a strong force of Venetlans hal eatered Bologns. Then the Pope tuof from his slek.liell, In the deal of whater, and marcherl out to lex solmanlola," 1511 which rapultulatenl. "Ih, al moon after attacked $\mathrm{h} / \mathrm{m}$, anil all lut took himi prfaner. A congreas at Mantun followed: but the Popeoternly refued to make torms with the French: the war mupt go on. Theu lauls took a langerous step. Ife conrokiol an ercleslastleal cuuncli ot IMas, and struek a mellal to express hls contempt and hatred for Jullus II. in. The Pope hal gone lack to llome, blil Ihologna had oprened her gatem (1) the French; the coming counell, which shonlil alyones? Jallum, was proclalmed through Northern fruly, But, though the mon:ent seemed favoumble, suithing hit a real agreen: ont of the Eurujenn juwnes could give succems to such a atep. And how far men were from such an ugrouneht lonin was men to leara; for Jullus, finding that the Fronch did not Invile the Stated of the Churih, rimumel neguelathus with such succens that In Octoler Soli a Iholy Lengue nind of simgon, and Henry VIII, of England. Maximillinn wavered aml douhterl: the Nwhe were to be had-on payment. At first Louls showirl a lwhl front: lis splte of this atrange Whirl of the whele of potthes from the League of Cambral to the lloly Leaguc, he inrmevered. iflv. Ing the commund of Mhas to hla ur phew, Ganton of Fols, Duke of Xinnuurs, a inan of as yeara, the most promising of hils younger captalna. Ile relle well bohoga, w.laral liresch, aad pllinged It [1518] ; nnd then puablal un to attack Raveuna It la silh that the buoty of Irrescla was wo great that the French molllers, laving male thelr fortumes, deserted in crowids, unt left the army much weakened. With thls Jlminlahed force walls of Ihreuna, and a rilleving force of Spanfards, separated from hlmonly by a cumal. The Spanineds, after thelr usuai way of warfare, male an entramehel cantp round thelr pomlton. The French firnt tridl to lake the city lyy nssault; fut belng irivin hock, determinerl to attack the Npnulsh eamp." They made the assault [on Eister Day, 1.512] nud took the camp, whith great sluughtir; hut In hls reckjess pursult ef the retrentlog enemy Gaston te Folx was sinln. "The Itath of the young Prince more thun halanced the grest vletory of the duy: for whith Gastou, as Guicclardinl says, frerlshed all the vigour of the French army. . Though Ikvennm was taken, the French could no longer support themselves. Their communications with Milhn were threat encil by the Swlss: they left garrisons in the strong places and fell back. The councll of Pisa ulm hat to take refuge at Milan. When the Swlas cune down from their mountaln-passes to restore the Sforzin dynasty, the harassed councll broke up from Mian, and fled to Lyons; there it llagered a whlle, hut It haid become contemptlble; anon it vamished Into thin nir. The Pope returned to Floreme [see Flouence: i D. 1.504-1569]: Mnximhlimnsfurza was re egtnkitinal [see Nilain: A. 1). 1:11?], whlle the Grisons Leagues recdved the Valtctlme as thelr reward: the Engllsh annoyel the coast without any de clilve restat. . Fcrinand scized NTavarre Whleh henceforward became Spanlsh to the Pyrences. Before winter, not one foot of Italian soll remalned to the French. Jultue II., the formidable centre of the Alilance, dled at this moment (1518) The allies secured the electlon of a Medicean Pope, Leo X., a pontiff hostile to France, and certain not to reverse that side of his predecessor's poilicy. . . Louls, finding him. self menaced on every side, suddeniy turned about and offered his friendship to Venice.

Natural tendencics uverbore ali resentments on both sides, and a treaty between them hoth guaranteed the Milanese to Louls and gave him n strong force of Veactian soldiers. Meanwinile, Ferdinand had come to terms with Maximillan and boyish IIenry VIII., who ... had framed a scheme for the overthrow of Frauce. The French king, instead of staylng at home to defend hls fruntlers, was eager to retake Mifan, and to join hands with the Vencthas. .. . But the Swlss round Maximilian Sforza defended him Frithout fear or treachery; and catching the French troups uniler Ln Trémolile in a wretehed position not fir from Novara, attacked and itt. teriy defeated them (1513). The French withdrew beyond the Aips; the Venatians were driven of with great ioss by the Spaniards, who ravaged their nainland territories down to the Water's edige. For the short remalnder of hls fife Lonls XII. Lad un iefsure agaln to try his fortunes In Itaiy: he was too busy eisewhere. "-
G. W. Kitelin, Hist. of France, p. 2, bk. 2, ch. $\overline{3}$

Also IN: I.' Viliuri, Life and Times of Mychinvelli, bk. 1, ch. 12-14 (e. 3). - M. Crelghton, Ihist. of the Papucy, bk. 5, ch. 15-16 (e. 4).-L. yon Ranke, Ilist, of the Latin and Teutonic Xations from 1404 to 1514, bi. 2, ch. 3.- Sir R. Comyn, Ilist. Uf the Wiatern Empire, eh. 37-38 (c. 2). L. Larciey, llixt. of Rayard, bk. 2, ch. 21-44. 11. E. Napier, Florentine Hishory, on. 2, ch. 9 (e. 4).
A. D. 1515-1516.-Invasion and reconquest of Milan by Francis 1. His treaty with the Pope. Ser Fulsee: A. D. 1515; and $1515-1518$.
Milan by the Empertive attempt against Milan by the Emperor, Maximilian.-His peace with Venice and surrender of Verona. fee France: I. I. 1516-1517.
A. D. 1 520-1542. - Eariy Reformation movements and their want of popuiar support.The Council of Trent. Sce Papacy: A. D. 1537-150.3
A. D. 1521-1522. - Re-expulsion of the French from Milan.- The treason of the constable Bourbon. - His appointment to the command of the Imperial army. See Frusce A. 1). 1:20-15:3
A. D. $1523-1527$ - The double dealings of Pope Ciement VII.-Invasion of Milanese by Francis I. and his defeat and capture at Pavia.-The Holy League against Charles $\mathbf{V}$. -Theattack on Rome by Constable Bourbon. - Giullo de' Medicl, matural son of Guiliano dé Medici, and cousin of Leo X ., had sucecerdefi Adrian YI. in the Papacy in 1523, under the name of Cienent VII. "Sothing conder the been more unfortunate than the new Pope's tirst steps on the zig zung path whieh he proposed to foliow, Becoming alarmed at the preponicrating power of Cliarles [the Fifth, Emperor, King of Npain and Naples, Duke of Burgundy, and ruler of ail the Netherlands,-see Arstma: A. D. 1406-152t; and Gehmavi: A. D. 15101. in 1524 he entered lnto a ieague with Franeis fine First. Ling of Frauce]; hut scarcely had this been concluded when the memorable battie of Pavia [see France: A. D. 1523-1625], resulting In the entire defeat of the French, on the 24th of February, 1625, and the captivity of the French king, frightened him back again into seeking anew the friendahip of Charles, in Aprii of that year. Each of these succemaive treatles was of course duiy aworn to and decinred Inviolable: hut it could hardly be expected that he who er. ereised the power of annuling other men's oath would submit to be bound by hls own, wilen the oliservance of them became inconvenient. Clem. ent accordingly was not prevented hy the soliem. treaty of April, 1505, from consplring against his new ally in the July following. The oljeet of this conspiracy was to induce Ferdinando Fran. cesco d'Avalos, Maryuls of Pescara, who com manded the army of Charies V. before Milan, to revoit agninast hils soverelga, and joln the Itallans in an attempt to put an end for cver to spanish sway In Italy. But the Spanlsh genernul Lad no sooner secured clear evidence of the pians of the conspirators, by pretending to listen to their proposais, than he reported the wilhole to Charies The misearriage of this scheme, and the exposure consequent upon it , necessarily tirew the vacil. lating and terrified Pontlif onse more into the armis of Fraueis. The Most Cliristian -as the oid Itailiu historians often elifptieally - call the Kings of France - obtained his relesse from his Madrid prison hy promising on oath, ou the lisib of January, 1526, ali that Charles, driving a hand bargain. chose to demnad of hini [we Fuase: A. D. 1525-1526]. And Clenemt hastened to prove the sineerity of his renewed fricalship by n professional contrihution to the suecesss of flueir netw aliinnee, in the welcome shape of a plenary ahsolution from all observance of thr paths so sworu

On the 2and of May following fat Cognac], the Pope cotered Into a formal league with Francis [cailet 'Ilofr,' for the reason that the Pope was a party to it]. Veuicr juined her troops to thosc of the Eccleslasticenf siattrs and they marched together to the surpurt of the Nilanese, who had risen In revolt naginst the Emperor. Assistance had also leen promised hy fienry of Engiand, who had stipulated, home ever, that he shouid not be named as a party to the allianee, but ouly cousiderel as its protertor. This was the most strennous and most hinited at. tempt lialy had yet made to rid hervelf of the domination of the stranger, and patrintic heprs beat high In several Itaiian hearts. . . It may be easily lungined that the 'Mont Cutholic monareh [Charles V.] felt towards (lement at this time In a manner which led hime to tis. tinguish very niecly between the infillihh head of the uni cersil Chimelh and the sow rerign of the Ecciesiastical stakes.

Though in" ntwibet the utmost respert and reverence for the vieegerent of heaven, he thonght that: little correc tion auministeret to the sorercign of than would not le amiss, and nothing cruld be cavier than to find menns ready to his hatul for the in fliction of lt . The colonnas were of (rurre realy for a relbelion on the slightest cacourasenemi.

So when Don Ugo di Moncmiat Charlexs general at Niuples, proposed to the Cithounas to join him In a littie frolic at Clemeuty espense. die noble aud most reverend nemiturs of that The united fomily jumpeel at the proposal.
The united forces of the Viceroy and the Colon. nas accordingly one morning entered limme, al. together without appositon, bnt histived at ance to the Vatican. They completely ancked, not only the Pope's palace, and the realdences of many gentlemen and prelates, but almo, says the historian [Varchl], 'with unheard of avarice and implety,' robbed the sacriaty of $8 t$. Peter of everything it contalned. Clement had barely time to escape into the castle of St. Angelo; but as he found there nelther soldiers nor ammunltlon, aor even food for above three days, he coasented to a treaty by whlch the Pope agreed to pardon the Colonnas freely for all they had doae against him; to take no steps to revenge himself on them; to withdraw hls troops from Lombardy; and to undertake nothing in aay way, or nnder any pretext, against the Emperor." As a lostage for the fulfilment of thls treaty, Pope Clement gave his dear friend Fillppo Strozz; but no sooner was he dellvered from hils captors than he hired seven "black companies" of arlventurers and 2,000 Swlss, and began a furious wnr of exterminntion upon the Colonnas aad all their dependents. At the same time he wrote private letters to the beads of his "IIoly League," "warning them to pay no heed to any statement respecting a trenty made by him with the Emperor, and assuring them of hls Intention to carry on the war with the utmost energy.' A llttle later, however, thls remarkable Iloly Father fonnd It convenlent to make another treaty with the Vleeroy of Naples, for the relense of hls friend Strozzi, which bound him still more to friendly relatlons with the Emperor. Thits latter tresty, of March, 1527, "wonld seem in some sort to imply the reconclilation once again of the l'ope and the Emperor." But Charles had alrealy set forces in motion for the chastlsement of the fnlthless Pope nnd his allles, which either lee conld not or did not cnre to arrest. "The Constable Bourbon, whom the gross injnstlce of Francls I., and the intolerable persecution of hls Infamons mother, Louise de Savoie, had driven (1) abanion his conntry and allegiance [see Fance: A. D. 1520-1523]. wns now marching southwards, with the imperial troops, to chastise the different menbers of the League against the Einperor, which Cleuent, as has been seen, hal formed. George Frundsberg, a German leader of reputatlou, had also erossed the Alps with 15,000 men,-' all Lnthemins nud Lanzknechts,' as the Italians write with horror and lismay.- and had jolned these forces to the Spaniarls under lzonrion.

The combined force wis $\ln$ nll respeets more like a rabble ront of hrigands and handits than an army; nod was assuredle such as must, even in those days, have bern futt to te a disgrace to any sovereign permittinir them to eall themselves hls soldiers. Their liny was, as was often the case with the trixins of Charles V., hopelessly lit arrear, and discipline was of course proportionably weak ammin them. . . . The progress sonthwarl of this lindit army . . filled the cities exposed to flled the cities exposed to $r$ and dismay. They hind passed like a destroying locust swarm. They had passed like a destroying locust swarm over Bologna ane lmolit and crossing the Apennlacs, wblch separate Úmbria from Tuseany, had de. scemled into the valler of the Armon not far from Arezzo. Florenee and Rome both trembled. On which wonld the storm burst? Tlat was the all-absorbing questlon. Pope Clement, with his usual nvarice-blinded inmecility, Jad, Immedlately on coacluding the above-mentioned treaty \#ith the Jeapritan viceroy, discharged all his troope except a body-guard of sbout 600 men. Florence was ncarly ln as defenceless a positlon" but a small army of the League, under the Duke of Urblno, was at Inclas, and it was "probably the presence of this army, llttle as it had hitherto done to Impede the progress of the enemy, which decided Bourbon eventually to determine on marehing towards Rome. It seems doubtful how far they were in so dolng exeeuting the orders, or carrying out the wishes, of the Em. peror. . . Upon the whole we are warrnnted in supposing thnt Bourbon and Frundsberg would hardly have ventured on the course they took, If they had not had reason to belleve that it would not much dlsplease thelr master. .. On the 6th of M8y [1527] Bourbon arrived beneath the Walls of Kone. . . . On the evening of the 6th of May the city wns stormed and given over to the unbridied cupldity and hrutality of the soldlers. . . . Bourlon himself had fallen in the first moments of the attack. "-T. A. Trollope, Hist, of the Commontcealth of Florence, bk. 10, ch. 8 ( 0.4 ).
Also in: The same, Filippo Strozzi, eh. 7.W. Ihobertson, Hist. of the Reign of Charles V., ok. 4 (o. 2).-L. von Ranke, IIist. of the Ileforma. tion in Germany, bk. 4, ch. 1-3.
A. D. 5 527. - The Sack of Rome by the Spanish and German Imperialists.-"Bourbon fell at the first assault; bit by evening the Vatiean suburb was in the hands of the enemy. Clement, who was even hest informed of the state of things, had not anticipated such an lssue. IIe scarcely saved hiniself by flight from the Vatlean to the cnstle of St. Angelo, whilther the fugltive population hurrled, as the shipwrecked enew of an eutire flect hasteas to a single boat wbich cannot reecive then. In the nidst of the thronging stream of men, the portcullis was lowered. Whocver remained without was lost Benvenuto Cellinl was at that time in lhome, and was nmong the defenders of the walls. Ile boasted thint his lonil had destroyed Bourbon. He stole fortumately into the citadel, before it was elosed, and entered the Pope's service as bombardier. Evenat this last moment, Clement might have saved l Rome itself, which, situated ou the opposite shore of the river, had not yet been enteral by the enemy. They offered to spare it for a ruisom ; bitt finding thls too high, and awalting hourly C'rbino's army, to which, thongh nothing was fet to be scen of it, he leoked as a dillverer ln the time of need, he would hear nothling of it. And thus the undefruled city fell into the hands of the imperlalists. Alnost withont resistance they eutered Trastevere, a small quarter of the eity lying to the west of the Tiber; and then crossing the bridges, Which no one had demolished, they pressed for: warls into the beart of lRome. It was the depth of the night. Benvenuto Cellini was stationed on the tower of the castle of St. Angelo, nt the foot of the colossal angel, and saw the flames bursting forth In the darkness, and heard the sorrowfil cry all around. Forit was late before the soldiers legan to cast off all restralnt. They had enterel quiefly. The Germans stood in butallions. But when they saw the Spaniarls broken up and plundering. the desire was aroused in them also; and now a spirlt of emulation appeared, as to which nation could ontdo the other in cruelty. The Spaniards, it is assertert by impartial linlians, carrict the day. There had been no siege, no bombardnent, no lifght of any great extent; but as if the earth had opened, and had diagorged a legion of devila, so suddenly came these honta. Everythlog was in a moment abandoned to them. We must endearour to concelve what kind of men these German soldiers were. They formed an Intermediate ciass between the prime and the refuse of the peopic. Gathered together hy the hope of booty, Indifferent what end was assigned them, rendered wild hy bunger and tardy pay, left without a master after the death of their commander, they found themseives unrestralned in the most iuxurious city of the worid - a eity ahounding with goid and riches, and at the same time deeried for centuries in Germany, as tio infernai nest of the popes, who ilved there as incarnate devils, in the midst of thelr Babyionian doings. The opinion that the pope of Rome, and Clement VII. in partieuiar, was the devii, prevalied not oniy in Germany, hut in Itaiy and in Rome the people cailicd him so. In the mildst of piague and famine he had douhied the taxes and raised the price of hread. What with the Romans, bowerer, was an inveetlve arising from tnilgnation, was an article of faltin among tine Germans. They heileved they had to do with he reni antlelhrist, whose destruction would he a benefit to Christendom. We must remember, If we wuid unierstand this fury of the German soldiery, in whose minds, as in those of ali Germans. Lutheran ideas at that time prevaiied, bow Rome had been preacied and writen ur on In the north. The eity was represented to pe ple as a vast ahyss of sin; the men as viilains, trum the lowest up to the cardinais; the women as courtesans; the luslness of ail as decelt, tieft. and murder; and the robhing and deluding of men that had for centuries heen cmannting from Rone, was regarled as the universal disease frow which the worid was ianguishing. Thlther for centuries the goid of Germany had flowed there had emperors been iumbited or poisoned; from Rome every evii had sprung. And thus, wiilie satinting themseives with rapine and murder, they beiieved a good work was beiug done for the weifare of christendom, and for the avenge of Germany. Never, however - this we know - does tire nature of man exinhitit itself more benst-iike, than when it becomes funious for the sake of ifieas of the highest character. Before the castie of st. Angelo, which, earefuily fortitied with wnits and fosses, aione affonied resistanee, the German soldiers procialmed Martin Luther as pope. Lutiner's name was nt tint time a warecry against pope and priesteraft. desired wien lee atte surmised not what Lutier desired wien he attacked the papacy. In front of St. Peter's church, they represented an imit:: thon of the pupai ciection witih the sacerd gar ments and utensiis. They eonpeciled one pricst to give extrome unction to a dying nule. One protested that he would not rest until he had ensumed a plece of the popes fiesi. It is true, Ialians for the most ivart relate this, be: the German reports themseives do not deny the excessive lartarity which was permitted. Ten niliions of precious metai was carried nway. How much blocki difi this money involve, and what was were put to from whom It was taken? Fewer Were put to denth than were piandered, says one of the records, but what cioes tiat impiy? It is true, the Germans often quarreiied with the spaulards, because the horrors which they saw them practise were too terribie for them. Other wise the sparing of human life was less an ec of eiemency than of covetonsness. Prisonera of war were at that time regarded as siaves; they were carried away as personai property, or a rarsom was extorted.

This system wes cur ried to a great piteh in Rome. The posessan of palaces were obilget to purchase their rab som, the Spanish cardinals as weli as the Italian wos possibie. was made. Thus at ieast escape wras possibie. And as the peopie wera treated, so were the things. Upon the inlaid marhie floor of the Vatican, where the iPrince of Orange took up his abode - the command of the army devolving upon him after Bounthon death-the soldiers lighted their tire. The spiendid stnlned ginss windows, exerented by Wiiiiam of Marseifies, were irroken for tie sake of the jead. linpiaci's tapestries were pronounced excelient booty; in the paintings on the wais the eyes were put ont; and vainable doce. ments were given as straw to the horses which stood in the Sistine Chapei. The stntues in the streets were thr, wn down; the images of the Mother of God in the churehes were broken t picees. For six montiss the city thus remalnen in the power of the soldiery, wio iadi inst all discipiline. Pestience and famlne arpeared lome had more than 80,000 inhaibtants nacer Leo X.; when Ciement VII. returned s feer after the conquest, scareciy a third of tiat nurb. ber then existed - poor, fnmished people, who had remained beinul, becanse they knew not Willther to turn. Ali tiis iay on the conscience demned to who now for montis hat bren cundemned to iook down upon this misery fronn the eastic of St. Ang io, in witich the spaniards hell him completeiy hien kndeci, nud wiere pestilence aud want of provisions appeared just as mach as down below in Rome. At iast, after waiting day after day, he saw Urblno's army нрproaching from afar: their wateis-tires were tol we perceived; and every moment he expected that the duke would nttack nni deliver the city. But he noved not. It is thought he intendel now to avenge the mpine willeh tine Medici under Lev X. had carried on agaiust inm. . . . Afte in wing rested for some time in sigit of the cits in whicis tine Imperialists had opened their in treachments round the castie of St. Augelo fur reguiar siege, ine withdrew hack ngain to the nortin, and left the pope to his fate."- il. Grimm Life of Michuel Angelo, ch. 10, sect. $\mathbf{3}$ (., 2 ).
Alsolv: Benvenuto Ceilini, Life; tr, hy J. a sylmonds, bk. 1, sert. 34-38 (c. 1)-The amp; tr by T. Rencoe, ch. 7.-J. S. Brewer, Tho Wign if Henry VMII, ch. 25 (r. 2).
A. D. 1527-1529.-Siege and captivity of the Pope.-New ieague against the Emperor. French invasion and disastrous siege of Napies.-Genoese independence recovered.Treaties of Barceiona and Cambrai.- Francis renounces ali pretensions beyond the Alps.Charies V. supreme.-shit iff) In (astle st Angedo, the Pope, Ciement VII., "leprived of every resouree, and redneed to sumen extrmitt of famine as to feed ou nsses flesi, was owliged:0 capitaiate on suci conditlons as the cenquecton 400 (00) dued to preseribe. He agreedi to pay 400,000 dueats to the urmy; to surrmiler to the emperor nil the piaces of strength belnuging to the Church; and, besides giving hostages, to remain a prisoner himself untli the chicf articia were performed. , . . The account of this extraordinsry and unexpected event was no less surprising than agreeable to the emperor. But In order to conceal hls joy from hls subjects, who were flled with horrour at the success and erimes of their countrymen, and to lessen the inlignation of the rest of Europe, he declared that Rome had been assauited without any order from him. He wrote to all the princes whith Whom be was in aillance, disclalming hls having hall any knowiedge of Bourbon's lntentlon. He put himseif and court Into mournlng; commanded the rejolclngs which had been ordered for the blith of inls son Phllip to be stopped; and, employing an artifice no less hypocriticai than gross, he appointed prayers and processions througinout ail Spain for the recovery of the pope's iiberty, which, by an order to hls generals, be could have lmmediateiy granted ilim.
Francis nud Ifenry [of France and Engiand], alarmed at the progress of the imperial arms in itaiy, ind, even before the taking of Rome, entered into a cioser allance; and, in order to give some check to the emperor's ambition, had agreel to make a vigorous dlverslon in the Low Countries. The force of every motive which had influcnced them at that thime was now increased; and to these was added the desire of rescuing the pope out of the emperor's hanis, a neasure no iess politic than it appeared to lee pious. This, however, rendered it necessary to sbandon their hostlle lntentlons against the Low Countries, and to make Italy tho seat of war. Besides all public considerations, IIenry was influenced by onc of a more private nature: having begun, about tills time, to form his great schcme of dlvorchng Catharine of Ara. gon. towards the execution of which he knew that the sanction of papai authority would be necessary, he was desirous to acqulre as much merit as possihie with Clement, by appearing to be the chicf instrument of his deliverance.
Henry . . . entered so eagerly lnto this new alliance, that, in order to give Francis the strong. est proof of his fricndship and respect, he formaily renounced the anclent claim of the Eng. lish monarchs to the crown of France, winich had ing heen the pride and ruin of the nation; as a full compensntion for wisich he accepted a penslon of 50,000 crowns, to be pnid annuaily to himself and inls successors. The pope, being unable to faltil tite conditions of ins capituiaic. 3 , still remained a prisoner. ... The Fioren. , no sooner heard of what had happened at I. ine, than they ran to arms . . and, declaring themelves n free state, reestablished thcir ancicnt popuiar government [see Florence: A. D. $1502-$ 1509]. The Venetiaus, taking adivantage of the calamity of their aliy, the prope, seized Ilavenua, and other places belonging to the cinurch, under pretext of keep $z^{-}$them in deposite." Ou the other hani, Lnnnoy, Charies' viceroy at Najpies, "marched to Rome, together with IIoucadu and the Marquis diei Guasto, at the heal of ali the troops which they couid assemble in the kingdom of Naples. The arrival of this reinforcement brought new caiamitics on the unhappy chtizens of lome; for the soidiers, envylng the weaith of their companlons, Imltated their iicense, and wlth the utmost rapacity gathered the gleanlngs which had escaped the avarice of the Spanlards and Germans. Tinere was not now any army in Itaiy tapable of making head against the lmperiailsts.

But the troops who had enjoyed months of llcense and riotous plilage in Romocould not be brought back to discpline, and refused to quit the perishlng city. They had chosen for thelr general the Prince of Orange, who " was obllged to pay more attentlon to thelr humours than they did to his commands. .. This gave theking of France and tife Venctlans leisure to form new schemes, and to enter Into new arrangements for delivering the pope, and preserving the liherties of Italy. The newiy-restored republle of Fiorence very Imprudentiy joined with them, and Lautrec was . The appointed gencraiissimo of the league. The best troops in France marched under his command; nnd the king of Enginnd, though he lad not yet deciared war against the emperor, arivanced a considerable sum towards carrylng on the expedition. Lautrec's first operations [1527] were prudent, vigorous and successfui. By the assistance of Andrew Doria, the ablest sca-officer of that age, he rendered himself master of Genon, and resestablished in that repuhiic the faction of the Fregosl, together with the domlnion of France. Ile obllged Alexandria to surrender after a siort siege, and reduced ail the country on that side of the Tesslno. He took Pavia, which had so long resisted the arms of his sovereign, hy assauit, and piundered it with cruelty. . But Lavirec durst not complete a conquest which would hnve heen so honouruhie to himseif and of such advantage to the ieague. Francis... was afraid tiat, If Sforza were once reestablisined in Silan, they [inis confederates] wonld second but coldly the attack whicis he intended to make on tie kingdom of Nnples. . . Inppily the importunities of the pope and the soiicitations of the Florentines, the onc for reiief, and the other for protection, were so urgent as to furnish him with a decent pretext for marehing forward.

While Lautrec advanced siowis towards Rome, the emperor" came to terins with the pope, and Clement obtained inls liherty at tho cost of $\mathbf{3 . 5 0 , 0 0 0}$ crowns, a tenth of the ecclesiastical revenues of Spaln, and an agreement to take no part in the war against Chnries. The latter next made overtures to the French klng, offering sotne rciaxation of the treaty of Madrid; inut tiney were received ln a minner that lrritated even his cold temper. He, in turn, provoked his antagonlst, until a ridiculous exchange of deflancers to jersonal coubsat passed between them. Mcnntinue " Lautrec continued his operations, whicis promised to be more decisive. Ilis army, which was now lnereased to 35,000 men, alvanced by great marches towards Naples." The remains of the imperial nrimy retrented, as he adianced, from IRome, where it hud heid riot for teln months, and took shelter heinind the fortlications of the Neapolltan capitai. Lnutrec unilertook (April, 1598) the slege of Naples, with. the co-operation of the Genoese minirai, Ioria, Who blockaded its port. But he was unglected by his own frlsoious king, and recelved iittle nid from the Pope, the king of Euglabi, or other confederates of the league. Moreover, IDoria and the Genoese suffered treatnent soinsoicnt. oppressiveand threatening, frem the French court that the former opened negotiations with the cmperor for a transfer of his servlces. "Charies, fuliy senslhie of the lmpor. tance of suci an acqulsitlon, granted hlm whateror terms he required. Dorla scnt back hig conmisslon, together with the coliar of St.

Michael, to Francls, and, hoistling the imperial colours, salled wlth all his palleys towards Naples, not to block up the harbour of that unbappy elty, as he had formerly engaged, but to bring them protectlon and dellverance. His arrival opened the communlcatlon with the sea, and restored plenty in Naples, whlch was now, reduced to tile last extremity; and the French Were snon reluced to great stralts for want of provlsions." With the heat os summer came pestifence; Lautrec died, and the wasted Freneh army, uttempting to retreat, was foreed to iay down lts arms and mareh under guard to the frontiers of France. $\qquad$ "The loss of Genoa followed lmmedlately upon the ruin of the armyln Naples." Doria took possession of the town the French garrison in the eltadel capltulated (September 13, 1528), and tile citadel was destroyed. "It was now in Doria's power to have renderel himself the soverrign of hls country, which ile had so happlly defivered from oppres. slon." But he magnanlmously refused any preeminen ? among his feilow citlzens. "Twelve persons $r$ are ciected to new-model the constitution of the republic. The Influence of Doria's virtuc and exampie communicated itself to his countrymen; the factions which had long torn and ruiued the state seemed to he forgotten; prudent precautlons were taken to prevent tivelr reriving; and the same form of government Which hath subsisted with ittie variation sinee that tince $\ln$ Genoa, was estabished with unlversal applause." In Lompardy, the French army under St. Poi, was surprised, defeatel andi ruined at Landriano (Jume, 1529), as crompletely as the army ln Saples hal been a few months before. Ali parties wert - ow desirons of peace, hut feared to scem 1 ,, agger $\ln$ naking orertures. Two women tonk the negotiations in hand and cartied them to al conclusion. "These were Margaret of Austria, dutchess dowager of Savoy, the emperor's aunt, and Louise, Francis's motier. Tiey agreed on an interview at Canbray, and, being lodged in two adjoining houses, between Which a communieation was opened, met toheld (iaily conferences to or olservation, and held diaily conferences, to which no person whaterer was admitted." The resuit was a trenty signed August 5, 1580, known as the Peace of Cantr ay, or "the Landies' Peace," or "Peace of the "immes." By its terms, Frincls was to pay 2, ote 0000 erowns for the ransotin of bis sons; restore sucil towns as ile stili hell in the Miianese; resign and renounce his pret. sinns to Napies, Miimn, Genoa, and every other flaee beyond the Alps, as well as to Flanulers and Artols; and conElemmate his marriage with tie emperor's sister, Eleanora. On the other iand, tiee emperor oniy agreed not to press his chims on Burgundr, for the present, bint reserved them, in filil foree. Anoulder treaty, that of Barcema, had already, In 1529. been concluadel between the cuperor and the popre. The former gave up the pupai stites which he occupicl, and ugreed to reestablish the dominion of the Mediei iu Florence; hesides giring his naturai daushter in marringe to Alex. ander, the heal of that famlly. In return he received the investiture of Napies, absolution for all conee medi in the plundering of Rome, and the grant to himseif and his brother of a fourth dominions. - W. Robertson Charles V., $8 k$. $4-5$.

Also mi: F. P. Guizot, Popular Hut, of Timese, eh. 28.-C. Coignat, Prancis I. ani hu Times, ch. 9.- G. B. Malleson, Eludies from Gerna
(Southera): A. D. 1528-1570,-Napies unde the Spanish Viceroys.-Ravages of the Tuik along the const. - Successfyl revolt against the Inquisltlon. - Unsuccessfu! French invaion under Gulse.-"After the meniombie invasion tunate expetillon of Lautrec men 150 bie and infortunate experiltlon of Lautrec, $\ln 1528,1$ 'bilibert of Chaions, Prince of Orange, who commanded the Imperlal army, exercised the severcst veugeabes [ln Napies] on the persona and estateg of lhose nohies] on the persona and estates of ali those nohies who bad joined the Frencil, of who appeared to demonstrate any attuchmeat to wards that nation.

Theso muitiplied acts of oppresslon received no effeetilal rai during tile short admlnistration [15:9-1.5\%2] of Cariitual Coionna, who succeeded to the Prince of Orange. In the piace of Cardituai Colonna was substitrted Don Pedro do Toledo, who gor. erned Naples witio aimost unlimited jowers, dur ing the space of near 21 years. Ilis viceroralty wbiein fornis a memorable Epocba in the aunaly of tite country, demamels and fines ittention We are inpressed with horror at finding. by his own conft sion that during the progmes of hls ruluinistratlon, he put to death near lyout persons, by the inani of the excentioner. Yet a himself a more extraorlinary is tinat Ciandone, himself a Neapolitan, and one of the shlest as welt as most Impartiai hlstorians winm the lath century has produced, not oniy acquits, but ered commends Toledo's severlty, as equaily whole. some and necessary," on account of the terrible lawlessness and disorder which he fouml in the country. "The inflexible and stern character of the viceroy speedlly redressed these grivuruces and finally restored order in the cajitial the provinces experienced equal attintion, and became the ohjects of inis personall insprethen subje protected coasts of Calabria auf of A pulia, subject to the continuai devastation of the Turks who landed from their gallies, were furtifiedi rith towers and beacons to annonnce the "nemys ap. promeh.

Repeated attenpts were made br Soiyman II., Emperor of the Turks. rither aline or in conjunction with the fleets of France, to effect the conquest of Naples, during this priod: but the exertions of Toido were hirpily atterd. ed With success in repulsing the frikioh in vaders. . In no part of the midilla

In no part of the midfle azes ware the coasts of Napies nad strily so fre quently piundiced, rapaged, and deshitel, sa ar this period. Tiomsands of persons of hotla seises, and of ali conditions, were carriefi of hy Barba rossa, Dragut, Siman, and the other Bachaws. almirals of the Porte. Not content with lan ing on the shores and raraging the provim their squatirons perpetuaify appuref in si. Niples; inid waste the islauris of firthia na eida, situste la its immerifate vicintr: alto. the towns of Pouzzoli and Baiar; and imman every outrage of willton burbarity: invasion of 1552, when Dragut $1, \ldots$ is up the harbour of Napies, with 150 lirge gali: iss, during near four weeks, spread stiii gremiter ennstema thon; and if the fleet of France had arriveti, as had been concerted, it is more than probable that the eity must have failen into thoir lands. But the deiays of Henry II., Solymun's ally, prored its preservation. The Turkish its preservation. The Turkish mlairal. mor rupted by a present of Ficeroy tonad means of conveying to hlm, rethrel and made sail for Constantinopie. The siministration of Toledo was compietely subverted from the moment that he attempted [1546] to intriduce the Inquisition.

The Neapoltana, potient under every other species of oppression, instantiy revoited. They even forgot, lo the general terror, the dis. tinction of ranks; nod the Barons united with their feliow-eltizens to oppose that formidable tribuaai The Viceroy, returning to the eapital, reiaforced by $8,00 C$ veteran Spauiards, determined nevertheless to sapport the measure. llostilities thok place, and the eity, during near three mouths, was abandoned to ansrchy, whlle the inhabltants, haring ir.rested the castle, brsieged their geveraor.

The Emperor, contincel by experience rf the impracticablity of success in his attempt, at length desisted." Tolelo dlei in 1859, and "was sueceeded by the Cirdinal Pacheeo, as Viceroy; and the alxlieation of Charles V . In the following sear, devolved ou his son Philip II. the soverelgnty of Naples. Alarmed at the preparations made hy Heury II., تinine of France, in conjunetion with Panl IV., who had newly asceaded the papal throne, Phllip dispatched Feriduand, Duke of Alva, to the add of his Neapolitan subjects; nad to the vigorous measures emtraced by inim on fils nrrival wus due the ssfety of the kingiom [see Franes: A. D. 154ī-1559]. . . . The administration of the Duke of Aleala, to whom Phillip delegated the supreme power soon after the reall of Ava [ 15 jk ], lanted neur 12 years, and was murked by slmon cvery species of enlamity:"-Sir N. W. Wraxall, Ilint. of France, 15:4-1610, ch. 9 (e. 2). -"The march of the Mareschul of Lautree was the hast lmportant attempt of the French to reconquer Xaples. . Spaln remalned In possession of this beautiful eourtry for two centurles.

Their [the Spaniards'] uxcendaney was owing as weil to an iron diseipline ns to that inveterite chameter of their race. the firmness of purpuse which had grasually developed itself in the ing struggie for the country whileh they wr'ached inch by ineh from their tenneions cuemies. The Nenpolltans f: und that they hadi in the Spaniards difierent rui rs from the Frenelh." -A. de Reumont, The Carafas of Madaloni: Siplea under Spanikh Ibominion, bik. 1.
A. D. 1529. - Siege of Fiorence by the Imperiai forces. - Reinatatement of the Mediei. See Phorexce: A. D. 1502-1560.
A. D. 1530-1600.- Under the Spanish domiaation, and the Papacy of the Counter-Reformation. - The Inquisition. - The Jesuits. -The Vice-regai rule. - Depiorable state of the country. - "It wili be useful, nt this point, to rrempitulnte the net results of Charles's administrition of Italian affars in 1530 . The kine! !om of the Two Slelles, with the island of Sardiniasim the Duel y of Nilan, hecame Spanlsh provinces, and were ruled heneeforth by Ficeroys. The llous: of Eate was eontirmed in the Duchy of Ferrara, inclinding Modena and letgrio. The Nu hlles of Savoy and Mantua and the Marquivan of Montferrat, which had espoused the Spanlsil cause, were nudisturbed. Genna aad Siena, both of them avowed allies of Spsin, the forme: under Spanish protection, the latter subject to Epanish coercion, remainetl with the name and cmpty privieges of republics. Veuiee bad ulade her peace with Spain, and though she was stili atrong enough to pursne on independent poliey, sho showed as yet no inelination, and hal, indeed, no power, to stir up enemies ogainst the Spanish nutoc-:t. The Duehy of Urbinn, recognised by Rome and subservlent to Spanlsh influenee, was permitted to exlst. The Papacy once more assumed a waughty tone, refying on the firm slifance struck with Spnin. This league, as years went hy, was destined to grow stlll einser, stili more fruitfui of results. Florenee aione had been exetpted from ${ }^{*}$ her articles of peace. It was still en luring the horrors of the memorable slege when Clement left Bugognan nt the end of May. . . Flnaily, on August 12, the tuwn capltulated. Alessandro de Mediel, who had reeelved the title of $\bar{D} \cdot t$ te of Florence from Clurles nt Bologna tiok un niz residenee thre in July 1031, and fevif the State by help of Spanlsh merremaries under the eom. mand of Alessandro Vitelli. . . . Though the people endured far iess misery from foreign arnies in the period between 1550 and 1000 than they had done in the perlod from $149+$ to $1 ; 5)^{2}$ yet the state of the eonntry grew ever more und nore deplorabie. This was due in the first instance to the insane nethruls of taxatlon ndopted hy the :'panislı viceroys, who held monopoties of corn nas other necessary commotitles in thelr hands, nud who inveated imposts for the meanest articles of consumption. Their exmuple was folloved ly the lope and petty princes.

The cettlement minde by Clisrles V. iu 1530, ind the varions elanges whelt took place In the duchies letween that date mai the end of the eentury, had thell the effeet of rendering the Papacy nat spain omnipotent lin Italy.
What they only partially cofferted in Europe at large, by means of s. Bartholomew massueres, exterminations of Jews lit Toledo mul of Mussulmans in Granalia, lolocinst, of virtims in the Low Conntries, wars aguinst Freneh Iluguenots and German Lutherins paval expeditions nnd plots against the state of Eugiani, assusslnations of hr ritie princes, aud ocasional burning of inee tainkers, they achieved with plenary suecess in Italy. ... It is the tragic hirethry of the eldest and mos: beautiful, the a blest and most venerahle, the freest and most gifted of Europe's innghters, deliveresi over to the devilry that issued from the most Incompeteut and arrogautly stupid of the Europenn sisterhoond, nuad to the rrulty, insplred by panic, of an inplous theocrary. When we use these terms to designate the Pajacy of the Counter-Reformation, it is not that we forget how nany of those J'opes were men of hanieless private life and serions views fur Catholie Christendom. When we nee these terms to designate the spanish race lin the sixteenth century, it is not that we are ignorant of Spanlsh chiralry and colonising enterprise, of Spanish romimee, or of the fact that Spaiu produced great paiuters, great dramatists, anfi one great novelist in the bricf periol of her glory. We use them deliterately however, in hoth cases; beeause the lapary fit this period com. mitted itself to a policy of iumorai, retrograde. aud eowarily repression of the most generous of ituman impuises under the pressure of seltisht terror: because the Spaziurds abandoned themselves to a dnrk tiend of religlous fanaticism; because they were merciiess in their conquests and unintelligent in thelr udmlnistration of subjugated provinces; because they giutted thelr lusts of svarice and hatred on industrious folk of other creede within their borders; because they cultivated barren pride and meif-concert in cochai life; because at the great epoch of Europe' reawakening they chose the wrong side and ad. bered to it with latal obstinacy. After the yenr 1530 seven Spanish devils entered Itaily. These were the dowil of the Iuquinition, with atake and torture-room, and war deciared against he will and soul and heart and inteliect of man; the devil of Jesuitry. With fte sham learning, shameless lying, and casuistical economy of nins; the devii of vice-rojal ruie, with lte ilfc-draining monopolies and grose incapacity for government: the devil of an insolent moldiery, quartered on the peoplc, ciamorous for pay, outrageous in their iusts and vioiences; the devii of fantasticai taxation, levying toils upon tho bare nccessities of iife, and drying up the founts of national well-being at their sources; the devil of petty. princedom, wailowing in sioth and crueity upon a pinchbeck throne; the derii of effeminate hidai. goism, ruinous in cxpenditure, mean and grasping, tol rupt in private iife, in puhiic ostentatious, rain of tities, cringing to its masters, arrogant to its inferiors. In their train these hrought with them seven other devils, their perniclous of spring: Illeness, disease, hrigandage, destitution, ignorance, superstition, hypocriticaily sanctioned one. These fourteen deviis were weicomed, entertained, and voluptuously indged in ali the fairess provinces of Italy. The Popes opened wide for them the gates of outraged and depopuiated liome. After a tranquil sojourn of some years in Italy, these devils had every where spread desoltation and corruption. Broad regions, like the I'utrimony of 8 . Peter and Cuiabria, were given over to marauding iandias; Whice tracts of fertile country, like the Sienese Maremria, were ahandoned to maiaria; wolves prowird through empty viliages round Milan: in every city the pesticnce swept off its hundreds daliy; manufactures, commerce, agricuiture, the industries of town and rurai district, ceased; the Courts swarmed with petty nobies, Who raunted palry titles, and resigned their wives to cicishei and their sons to sioth; art and learning languished; there was not a man who ventured in speak ont his thought or write the trutin and orer the lhead sea of sociai putrefaction tloatud the sickening oii of Jesuitical hypocrisy "' - J. A. Symonis, Renaismance in Ytaly: The Citholic Reaction. pt. 1, ch. 1.
A. D. ${ }^{1536-1544 .-F r e n c h ~ i n v a s i o n ~ o f ~ P i e d-~}$ mont.-French and Turkish sicge of Nice. Turkish ravages on the coast.- The Treaty of Crespy. ber France: A. D. $1532-1547$.
A. D. I545-1556.-Creation of the duchy of Parma and Placentia, under the ruie of the House of Farnese. See Parma: A. D. $1545-$ 1592.
A. D. 1559-1580.- End of the French occupation of Savoy and Piedmont. - The notahle reign of Emanuel Philihert. See Savoy and I'iedmont: A. D. $1559-1580$; and France: A. I).
$154-1509$.
A. D. 1559-1600. - Peace without Pros-perity.-Foreign and domestic Despotism.Exhaustion and helplessaness of the country. Cambresis the epoch of the treaty of Chateau Cambresis [15ing] to the ciose of the 16 th century uninterrupted peace one sense, in profound and uninterrupted peace. During this long pciod of 41 yearm, her provincet were neither troubied hy a single invasion of foreign armies, nor ho any hottlities of importance between her opy feehie and nervciess powers. But tifis half ren. tury presented, nevertheicss, anytiling ratuet than the aspect of public happiness alui prus. perity. Iler wretched peopie enjoyeri anine of the real hlessinga of peace. Sulijuet elhine of to the oppressire yokc of their native disumits, op to the more gederai influence of tife arehistrant of Spain, they were ahanioned to ali the crac tions of arhitrary government, anil comprebell to not their own. IV foreign ware andi in quarnls not their own. While France, torn ly riliginus and civil dissensions, sank for a timi from her poilitical station among the powers of the continent, and was no longer capainle of ator, conf. protection or exciting leaionsy, lhilip affording protection or exciting jeaionsy, Jhilip II. Was left free to induige in the peninsulin ail the olxhle. rate tyranny of lifs nature. interesteri in supporting his career pis were $^{\circ}$ and refigious persecution. carecr of hewty and reilgious persecution; the other frowers of Itaiy cronched before him in aijert sulmis sion. To feed the religious ward, in whitis he embarked as a principal or an uccessory, in the endeavour to crush the protesthat imuse in France, in the low Countries, and in liormang in drained Italy of her resources in numey aid in men. . . . While the Italian sohilery fumbe With the courage of freemen, they coninnedithe slaves of a despot, and while the lanimn reuth were consumed in transal pine warfarc. theirsuf. fering country groaned under an irom woke, and of the infideis. a prey to the unresintril aswimh of the inflideis. Iler coasts, left without trmps. or defences in fortifications and shipioing. מere insuited and ravaged by the constant deweents of time corsairs of Turkey and Ilarhary. ller mani time riiages were hurut, her maritime population dragged off into slavery ; and her tyrants While they denied the people the power of de. fending themseives, were unable or to affort them protection unable or mardess alos to affort them protection and saferty. "-G. Proc ter, IIist. of Italy, ch. 9 .
A. D. 1569 .- Creation of the Grand Duchy A. D. 1507 . -Annexation of A. 1). 15, 2 - 1 :ity States of the Churchation of Ferrars to the A. D. 1605-1607.-Venice under the guid ance of Fra Paolo Sarpi.-Successful contest Of the Repuhlic with the Papacy. Sie Vexice A. D. $1006-1607$; aud I ${ }^{3}$ APACY: A. 11 . $1005-1: 00$ A. D. $1620-1626$. - The Valtelline War. Sie France: A. I). 1624-16:6.
A. D. 1627-1631,-Disputed succession to the Duchy of Mantua. - War of Fraace with Spain, Savoy and the Emperor.-" thout Christmas in the yenr 1627, Vincemzo 11., Duke of Mantua, of the house of Gonzaga, died without issue. Ilis next of kin, beyoul all con troversy, was Charles Gonzaga. llike of leress Whose family had setticel in Frunce sume tift years before, and acquirvi by marringre the duke doms of Nevers and Rethei. Although there was a jealousy on the part both of Austria and Spain that Frencit infucaces should be lntroduced into Upper Itaif, there seens to have been no intention, in tise first instance, of depriving Charies of his Itailan inheritance. . . . But . . When the oid Duke Vincenzo's days were evi. dently numbered, Charies's son, the young Duke of Rethel, hy coilusion with the citizang, amped!
formaldeble army of 85,000 men was entrusted Such a force, If properly employed, ought to have proved sutflelent to overwhelm the Dutchy of Minn, in it present unprotected condilton. But the confederatea were long detalned by jdie disputes among themelves, thelr licentiounew and love of plunder." When they did adrance Into Mllanese, their campaign Fas luelfectlve, and they finally "separatai with mutual dlsgust," hut "kept the field, ravaglag the open and fertlie plains of Milan. They likewiee took presession of acreral towas, partlcularly Breml, sut the Po.

On hearing of the dilstrens of Hibn $\qquad$ for tha, the King of Spain took Immediate steps ior the rellef of that hulwark of his Italian power. In 1638 he appointed to Its government bear relative of ollvares of Leganez, who was a Dear relative of Olivarez.

Ile had not long entered on the government intrusted to him when he sueceeded in expelling the cnemy from every they still reatned. Milan having Breml, which livered, retained. Milan having been thus delivered, Legunez transferred the theatre of war to the Staters of the Duke of Parma, and completely desonated those fertile regions,"" compel(IG3i). .The to renounce his French alHanee (i63i). "The Duke of Savoy, Victor Amadeus, did not long survive these events; and it was strongly suspected, hoth in Spain and laty, though probably on no just grounds, that he haid been poisoned.

The demise of the Duke of Mantua uccurred nearly alout the same period; and on the decease of these two princes, the Court of Spain used crery exertion to detach their successors from the Frenel confederacy, Its efforta succeedled, at least to a certain extent, Whit the Dutchess-dowager of Mantua. of Lou Duteless of savoy, being the sister from the Frifi, could not easily be drawn of from the Freuch interests. Olivarez [the Spanish miulster, despairing to guin this prineess, Duke [Carlinal Maurice the hrothers of the late dispute winal Maurice and Prince Thomas] to Lispute with her the ilte to the regency." Leganez, now (1038) Inid alege to Bremi, and Marshal Crequi, In attempting to relleve the placc, Was killed by a cuanos shot. "By the loss of Brenif, the Freach were deprived of the last receptacle for thicir suppliea or forces in the Dutchy of Milan; and lu consequence of the death of Crequi, they had now no lugger any chief of their own nation in Ituly. The few Freuch nobility who were still in the army returned to their own country, and the soldiery disprailing limencelf of this liedmont. Legancz, availing himself of this favourable posture of affairs, marched atraightway lito Piedmont, at the head of anarmy of 20,000 men. . . . Ie first latul sige to Virectli, which, frou He first to Millan, had always ifforled casy aeress for the luvasim of that dutchy, by the French and Savoyarls." A now. French arnay, of 13,000 men, und Cardinal La Valette, was sent to the renef of the place, but did not aive it from suricnder. "After the capture of Vercelli, the Hight tromps of Leganez ravaged the principalty of Piedmont as fur as the gates of furin. - - $J$ Duniop, Memoirs of Smin, from 1621 to 1700 , 0 1, ch. 4.-Fulert and Turenne were now sent from France to the assistance of La Valette, and soon changed the uspect of affairs. Turenne alded powerfint in driving back Leganez and Prinee Thomas from Turin. m seizing Chrass
and In organziog a declovev surcema" In No vember, 1d39, the Freach, through want of pro visions, were forced to retreat to Corignano, pe pelling an attack made upon them in the courne of the retriat. The command was now lonare over to Turenbe, "wlth Instructlons to revintual the cltadel of Turin, which was defended hy Freach troope agalast Prince Thoman, who had galned mont of the town. Turenne sultereled citadel lo conveying food and muuttons Intir the cltadel. In the following spring d'llarmurt [resuming command] undertiok to reheve (asale, Thich belonged to the Duke of Mantin. The place was besleged by Leganez." The it tempt succeedled, the bealegIng army was lwaten and the alege raised. "A ter the rellef of Chale do liarcourt remolved, on the alvice of Turenne to bexiege Turin. The lovestment was made on the 10th May, IO40. This alegc offered a curious speetacle; the citadel whieh the Frenels hellit we besleged by Prince Thomas, who held the town IIe himselt was besleged by the Frenirh armir which In its turn was bealeged in its fiuts of eircum vallatlon by the Spaulah army of Lequanez. The place capitulated on the rith september.

Prince Thomasa surrendered: Letanez re crossed the Po; Marie Christine [the lowerager Duehess] re-entered Turin; and d'llarcourt, being recalled to France hy the carilinal. left the conmaad of the army to Turenne. "-11. 11 Hozicr, Turenne, ch. 2.-"The fall of Turin did not put au ead to the clvil war, hut its main explolts were limited to the taking of Cuive hevel, whilh was reduced by 1841), and of troops whe was reduced hy the Ihedmoutise the mo fought on the French silde ponents be the kegent, no less that her opponents, began to grow weary of the lurder some protection of their respective allies. Under sneh circumstances, a reconciliation be twcen the hostile parties became practicnlle, and wa lindeed effected on the 24th of July, 1012. The Princes were admitted to a alnare of the Re. geut's power, and from that time they juisel the Freneh standard, and took from the spanlards their hands placea they bad thenselyes placed in ageir hands.

In the numuwhlle the great agitator of Europe, Michelleu, had divi ( $18 \mathrm{bt2}$ ) and bad leen followed by the K ing. Louis Sllit, five months later. the two grent rival powera Frugge istween scareely interrupted by thers, France nul Npain Westphalia, in by the celdurated pare ol Years' War in the pit an enled to the Thins -broughout the greatest part of this purind but the rapid decline of Spain, the factien furind; but in Sicily and of Massaniello in Naples. as nuch paralysed the efforts of the Court of Matrila a the disorders of the Fronde weakenyl that of Puris. The warlike operations in North lualy were languid and dull. The taking of Valenza by the French (September 3rd, 16.05) is the greatest crent on rccord, and erren Hait [was] soid of reaults. By the treaty of the 1 's rueses (Norember 1ith, 1859) Savoy was restored to ber possesslons, and Vercell mins evacuated by the Spaniards. The citadel of Turin had betn giren up by the French two years before, owing to the intluence of Mazarin, who married on that ocession his niece Olimpia Manciul to Eugene Maurice, son of Thomas, Prince of Carignamo, and first cousin to Charlea Emanuel II. Fmmm that unlon, It is well known, was horn in Paris, in 1043, Prince Eugene of Savos. The French na don were highify ilispleased at the joas of the Turis citadel, and never forgave the Cardinal this mure act of just and tarily restitution. Pioerola and Perom, however, still remained in their hands, and placed the Court of Turin entirely at their ularretion. " $-\mathbf{A}$. Guhlenga, $/ / i$ ' of Pied. munt, r. 8, rh. 2

A. D, 1644.-Flrat publication ot Gasettes of Newripapers. Dee Pintino and Paites . . i) 1612-1650.
A. D. 8646-2654.-French hostility to the Pope-Sisge of Orbitello.-Masanlelio's revolt at Naples. - French Intrigue and failures. -"The war [of France nud Spain] la ltaly had for some venrs lauguinded, but hontlity to the Pope [on the electlon of Innereat $\mathbf{x}$., whindi Cur. daai Mazarla, then supreme lu Fruace, liad op. posed) atirred it aguln lato ilfe. New vessels were flted out for the navy, aud harge pruparathons were made for the livishlom of Italy. Ga April 26. 1646, the experlition met mail, and on the 9th of May it cast anchor off the Iniportant city of Orbltedlo. The fleet consisted of 1.50 nall, and was expected to land $10,000 \mathrm{me} \cdot \mathrm{u}$, and Mazarin wrote that afl Itaiy was la terror. The ships were commanienj ly the IDuke of Brézé, ad to more akllfui or gallaut lender couhd have been found. . . . The comumanel of the lad forres wns, however, entrusted to a leader Whase dettelencies more than connterbalamed Brézés skill. Jazarin deslred an Itallan prhace to dead his experdition, aud Prisce Thomas of Saroy had been chosen for the comamad.
Fearing that dlsease wonld come whit the bot Feather, Jizarin urged Prince Thomns to press forwand with the alege. But the most slinple advances scemed beyond huls sklll.

A severe misfortune to the navy amde the sltuation worse. In a shintp and successful engugement with the Spinlsh tieet, a cauano ball stritek and kllted the Duke of Brézé. His death was more dlsastrous than would have leeu the loss of 20 sali. The French fleet retired to Provence and left the sea opea to the Spanish. Slckness was fust reducing the smiy on land, and on July 18 th Priace Thomas ralsed the siege, which was no further adrauced thnn when It was begua, and led hack the resalus of his command to Piedmont So mortifylng nn ead to this expenslve venture ouly streagthened Mazar'n'a resolutlon to make hls power felt in Itaig. The battered shlps and fever-wnsted soldlers were scurcely hack in Pro. vence, whea the mlalster began to prepare a sec. ond experlition for the same end. . . By Sep tember a fliet of 200 sall, whith an army of 8,000 auen combianded by the Marshals of La Ncllerale was conducterl was uader way. The cxperition Whas conducterl with skill nui success. Orhitello Was mut ugala nittacked, but Pirto Longoae, on the lsiand of Elba, and Jlombino, on the milnland, both places of ianch strategic lumportance, were captured after brlef sleges. With thils re. sult came at once the change in the fecliags of inacent $X$. for which Mazarin had hoped, "nad certain objects of the iatter's destre - Inciudlag caninal's hat for hls brother Mlchael-were brought within his reach. His attentlon was now turned to the more southerly portlon of the peaissula. "Duriag the expeditlon to Orhl. tiaples, whose Mazarin had closely watehed The lil-suppressed discontent whon he foresaw. The $11 /$-suppressed discontents of the city now showed themselven In disturbancen, sudden and prratie at the eruptions of Vesuvius, and they whered to France an opportunlty for celalag the richest of the remalning possemsions of spala. After the vicisaitudes of centurles, Napies and Nlelly were now subject to the Spanish crown. They werc goverued hy a vlceroy, aad were sul. jectedl to the dmh of men and money which wa the romit of Namin's necesslties and the clarac. teristie of her ritie. Burdened with taxation they complained that thelr vicuroy, the Duke of Arcos, wus sendiug to Spaia money ruisul solely for thelr owudefence, The imposition of a duty on frults, In a comintry where frult formedi' a thrup artlele of dlet for the poor, and where alnast nll were porir, kladiad the fong smonkier lug ilscontent. Under the jeadershlp of a fish eriuan [Tomman Anpllo]. nicknmed Manai -llo, the puple of Suples in 1647 tome In revolt Suringhe from utter wheurlty, thls young mas of twenty-serea, juxir nud ifliterate, lectnase powerful almost ln a day. While the Duke of A reos hid hitnseff awny from the revolt. Nass. ajeilo wna nunde Capinh- (ieneral of Siaples. bo sudiden a change turuedi his hend. At flrst he hond been bold, popular, aud juilielons. He wought ouly, he salh, to dellver the people from thelr taxess, man] when that was done, lie would retura again to selling solles mad real umilets. llat polltical deliflam selzed hha when he reached an clcrimlon whleh, for hlu, was us dizzy as the throme of the Romam inajerors, and ilke some who renched that turrlble emiance his braln wis crazed lyy the bewliferment and costasy of juwer. Ile made wild and hacuhereat "proclies. lie tore hls carments, crying out ugahast popnar lugratitude. utatelag groupa of pase rs.by, rlilug hly horse whily through the unltltule, und strkiag whth his laace to the right and loft. The populace wearied of le darllug. Exaltenl to power ou July Fih, he was nurtered on the 16 th, with the approval of those who had worbipult lim those who had worshipieth him a week before. But the revolutloa dir] not perish with him. Successlve chlefs were chosen nad deposed by a thekh people. When the hasurrectlon was actlve the representathes of Spula proaised untaxed frults and the privileges allowed hy Charles V., anl they revokeri their promises when it ap. pearid to suhslde. In the aneaathue, Mazarin watehed the movenuent, uucertaln ns to the conrse he should pursine. . . . Whlie the minls. ter hesifated, the chance was selzed hy one who was uever accused of too mreat cantion." This Was the Duke of Gulse - the fifth 1lenry of that Dukedom-a wild, madeap young nohleman, Who uecepted au lavitation from the Neapoiltan insurgents to become their chief. Gulse landed nt Naples on the $15 h_{h}$ of Norember, 1647, with laalf a dozen attemuats. and a month later he Was followed by a Frueh theet. But the Jatter dhd nothing and Gnise was helplessly wlthout meraas. "The truth wns that Mazaria, even if desfrous of crippling the Spaniards, was very averse to assistling Gulse. Ile beliered that the duke clther desired to torm a repullic, of which he shonld he chief, or a moaarchy, of which he should be klag, and aelther plan was agrceahle to the cardinal.; At the end of a fortnight the fleet sailed away. Guise held his gronnd as the whener of the reviult uutil the follr . April, when cortain of the Neapolitan p.a. April, rupted by the eacmy, betrayed the city wio the haode of the Spaniarde. "Gule endeavored, With a hadful of followers, to escape towardi Capua, hut they were captured hy a detuchment of Epanarias.

By the petition of powerful treads, and hy the avowal of Prance, duice wha ared from the puhlic execution which come of his enemiee demanded, but he wao presently talen to Spaln, and there was kept a primoner during four years." Meandire, Mazarin hai prepared another expellition, wheh sppearel before Naples in the summer of 1648, hut only to discover that the opportunity for deriving any adrantage from the popular discontent in that cety was past. "' Iteceiving no popular ald, the expedition, after some lneflective endeavors. was abandoned." Six years afterwards, in 1654 Mazarin sent third expedition to Napies and Culrusted it to the command of the Culse, who hal lately been releasel aptivity in Spain. "Guise hoped that tuo ine poltans would rise in revole when it was the Neathat thelr former feader was to it was known person in the city allowed any near, but not a novement io dhy blowed any desire to atart a Spanish met behalt of the Duke of Guise. The ome silight encounters the e pedition aniled Attet to France - 1 . Peonters the fipedition aniled back eh. 8 (nce, I) amd Berkins, Pranco under Mazarin, A1 dabni: Japles under $\&$, The Carpfos of Mrud. - F. Mdoon Rico und ${ }^{5}$ niah Dominion, bk. 8. $\overrightarrow{\mathrm{H}}$ II SI H. IR. St. John, Mitumiello of -F pes.--II. G. Smith, Romance of llistory, eh. I.
A. D. 1646. - The Peace of Weatphalla, See Gehmany: A. D. 1648 .
A. D. 1701-1713.-Savoy and Piedront. The War of the Spanish Succeation. - The Peace of Utrecht. - "Compelled to tuke part Fitb one of the contending parties [in the War of the spaulsh Succession -sce spans: A. I) 1698-1700, and 1801-1702]. Vietor [Duke of Sa voy] would have been prompted by hle interest to an alliance with Austria; but be was beset on all sides liy the combined forces of France and Spaln, and was ail the more at their mercy as Louis XIV. had (April 5tli, 1501) obtatned from Ferilinand Gonzaga of Mantua permisslon 4 . garrison his capitai, in those days already one of the atrongest places in Italy. Tbe Duke of $\mathrm{Sa}_{3}$ Adelate trcac y, in 160 i, marricd hla daughter, of Burgundy: of Burgundy; be now ghve hls younger daugbter, Mary Louise, to Burgundy s brother, the new King of Spaln (Septeniser 11th, 1801), nnil took the feld as Frunch commander-In chicf. Eugene at oposed by hils own cousín. Priace war in Lomianidy was the Imperial armies. The missness, partly owing to tive natural repugnace or irresolutlon of the tonke of saval repugnance or irresolutlon of the Inke of Savoy, partly to the suspalon with wbich, on that very accoint. he was look ad upon by Cntinat and Vaudemont, The King and spanlst commanders under him. The King, In an evil hour, resoved his able marsbal, Catinat, and substituted for him Vil. keroi, a carpet knight and court warrior, wbo committel one fault after another, allored blmself to be beaten by Engene at Cblari (Sh ptember 1st), and to be surprised and taken pr soner nt Cremona ( 1702, January 21 sit ), to the prunhte relief of hls troops. Vendome restored the fordeciaive action was foum a very hrilliant but undeciaive action was fougbt at Luzzara (Suguai 15th), after which Prace Eugene wao driven from the neigbbourhood of Mantua, and frll hoal toward the mountalins of Ty rol. Whiti the muct cees of the Freach their arrogance focreanerl, and Victor their arrogance the diaguat and ill. will of Victor Amadelus." The Dute withitrew from the camp and began to liten to overtures from the Powers in the Omid Alilance, " Iteport of the secret intercourse of the Duke with Austhas arente reached Louls XIV., who sent immieflate orders to Vendome to recure and dimarm the Pledmontere woldiers ( 3,800 to $8,000 \mathrm{Im}$ number) Hantua. Thit ing under Freach atandanls at Gantua. Thit was achioved by trearliery, is San Benedetto, on the 29th of Bepteminer, 1ins. An attempt to ceize the Duke himmelf, whilin buating near Turin, miscarried. Savay retaliated hy the arrest of the French and Epanish ambat andors, and war was declared (October bith). Tha moment was ill-chosen. Victor had harrly 4 ,6m men under his oriers. The whole of sapoy wh Inrea, Verrua an: and in IHedmont Vetrelii Ivrea, Verrua, as well at Susn, Bard, and $\mathrm{P}_{\mathrm{p}}$ emo, and even Chilrasso, fell loto the entmy: hande during the campaigas of 1804 nadlitis In the ensalng year the thde of Invasinn freached Nice and Villafranca; nothing was inft to Victor Amaileus but Cunco and Turfu, and the pletorl ous French armles appearcd at last uuder the very wails :? the capital (Marcil, 1ina). The ma had, hoviever, been waged whth diferent resolth beyond the Alps, There the allies hat crusted the French at Blenhelm :1704) and at hanailies ments. Irince Eugeree of those gratat achlere rescue of his Eugene, now hastered to the check at Cassano (August 16 tii, 170.j), nind arain at Calchuto (April 19th, 1700): but hits skifful antagonist. Vcndome, was calleel away to Flan. ders, and Prlace Eugene so out-numfursel bis succcasors as to be able to jofo Vletor at Turia. Tbe French bad begun the slege of thls plare on tho 13 th of May, 1806 . They haif betwere 50,000 and 60,000 men, and 170 pleces of arillery Witb them." When I'rince Eugewe, artly io September, reacbed the nelghemrhoxal of Turin he concerted whtia Victor Aniuleus an attack on the lovesting army which destroyed it cum pletely. "Ita relles withirew in awfoldisinder towards Pincrolo, pursued not only hy the rictorious tronps but also by the peisalatry, who besides attactment to their princes, otiryel la thls lnstance an Instlact of revente against the Frencl, who had harbarously used them. Uut Turln 50,00 or 60,000 men wifo hadi sat down befire Turln In March, harily 20,004 revrusued the Mipg In Sy lember. Three of the French peneris lay dead on the fleld marched tirrough the strcets of the literated town, and 55 Frencls banners griked the maia altar of the cathedral. In the fullowing yrus, Victor and Eugene, grentiy agnilut thuriricilina tion, were Inducel by tbe allics to unlertake as cxpedltion against Toulon, which, like all preFlous Invaslons of Provence, ledi to utter discomflure, and the loss of 10,006 combatams (106\% Juiy 1st tu September 1st). An attack upon Brlançon, equally undertakeu against the suund judgment of the Duke of Savay, in lins, ted to no better results: but Savoy wom back Exilles, Perosa, Fenestrelles, and, one by one, all the redoubts with wbirh during the redoubts with which during thase wam thr thrs were bristling. The war slackencd in Italy, and ©e futet of Europe wors declded to the Nother. hade . . . By the Pence of Utrecht (A. D. 1718) mance renounced to gavoy oll the Inveded terri. borkes, and, beddes, the ralleys of Oulx, Cemane. Budongeche, and Custel Delinno, ancient poesec: alose of Dauphing, eant of the Alpe, from the 13th century, whilat, for her own part, Bavoy are up the weatern ralley of Barcellonette ; thus the limilu between the two natlene (wlth the ex. ception of Saroy and Nice) were at last ared on the mountain. creat, at 'the parting of the waters.' By virtue of an agreement al gned with Austria, November 8th, 1703, the whole of Montferrat, as rell as Alemandria, Valenza, Lomellina, and Val Setila, dependencles of the duchy of Milan, and the lmperial deff in the Langhe (province of Alba), were celled to Saroy.P - A. Gallenga, Hist. of Thedmont. v. 8, ch. 2.

Also m: Col. G. B. Malleson, Prince Eugene of Savoy, ch. 5, and 7-0.-11. Marth, Liste of Hance: Age of Louis XIV., b. 2, ch. ©-0.-W. Coxe, Ihit. of the Howe of Avotria, eh. 68, 60, 18-83, 17 (0. 2-3).-See, Aloo, UtaEcirt: A. D. 1712-1714.
A. D. 1713-1714.-Milan, Neplee and Sardolo ceded to the House of Austria and Slclly to the Duke of Savoj. Nee UTREcut: A. D. 17121714.
A. D. ${ }^{\text {2 }} 7$ 85-1735.-Ambltlone of Ellsabeth Farnese, the Spanlah queen.-The AuatroSpaalah conflet. The Quadruple Allance.Acquialtion of Naples by the Spanlah Bourbona. - By the provisions of the rreaty of tirecht, Phillp V. of Spaln was left wlth no dominlons In Italy, the Itallan possesslons of the Spanlsh monarehy having $1 \cdot$ en transferred to Austria. Philp might lave acceptel thla arrangement wilthout demur. Not so his wife"Elizabeth Farnese, a lady of the Itallan fnamly for whum the Ducliy of I'arma had been created by the Pope. The crown of Spaln was settled on her step. mon. For her own child the amblthous queen desirel the honours of a cmown. Cardlnal Alberonl, a reckless and amhitlous eccleslastlc. Fas the mulnister of the Spanlsh court. Cnder bls advice and Instlgated by the queen, Philp dars of the possesslons in Italy, whleh ln the dars of hits grandfather had belonged to the Spanlsh crown. When hls thle to that crown Fas almilted, he denled the right of the other powers of Elirpe to allenate from it its posseswioss. This was not all: In right of hls queen he clalmed the duchles of Parma and of Tuscany. She detcrmlned to recover fer hlm all the lallaa possesslons of the Spanlsh crown, and te adil to them the duchles of Parma and Tuscany. The Duke of Parma was ohd and chlldless. The extiaction of the relgnlng llac of the Medicl was Fas old Hosmodis medtel, the relgning soverelgn. likely to leave only son, Jean Claston, was not likely to leave helrs. To Parma Elizabeth adFanced her clalms as helress of the family of Farmese; to Tuscany she asserted a more quesof Mediel. These dut a descent from the famlly or Medicl. These duchles she demanded for her tou, Don Carlos, ln whose behalf she was ready to waive her orn clalms. The success of these orchay even grenter given to the Spanlsh monenjosed. To greater power than it had before bare heen allimples, the terifit, and Mlan, would Tuscany. All Europe denounced of Parma and projects of Alberonl as entlrely the amhitlous thet balanee of power whlch it had then become a politleal supentillon to uphold. Phillp's Freacb relatlven wero determined in opposition to ble claime; ond to realat them the quadruplo Frince was formed between Holland, Eagland, Frnice and the emperof. The parties to this alliance offered to the Spaalsh Bourloons that the omperor aliould settio on Don Carlos the riverthels lapning tuchlen of Parma and Tuscany on theif laping to him by the fallure of the relgn. lng familles wlthout helro. Theme proponals Were refected, and lt whe not untll the Spanieh court found the comhlnation of four powerful monarchs too strong for them, that they relne. Allly acceded to the termis of the Qualruple Allance, and accepted fer Don Carlos the promduce revermion of Parma and Tuscany. To loduce the emperor to accede to thls arrangement the Dnke of Snvoy was compelied to arrender to him his newly-acyulred kingdom of Slelly: lagly tite It the lisiand of Sarilinla with fts Eliggly title. It ls as kluge of Sarilnia that the princes of Savoy have alnce been known ln European hilstory. The traty of the quadruple alliance was this the eecond by whilch at this pericil tho Eurnpean powers attemptel to arrange the affalra of Italy. This treaty left the bouse of Austrin in possession of slelly and Naples. It complicatlons to by Spuln $\ln$ liso. European complications unconnected with italy proluced new wars and a new treaty; and the treaty of Serllie $\ln 1754$, followed hy one entered Into In the duchy years later, contirmed Don Carloe of the dast of Parma, of whlch, on the death of the last of the Farnese In 1734, he entered Into possession. A dlapute as to the election of king of Poland gave the Spanish court an opilon of the vaco more attempting the resumpthen of the Neapolltan dominfons. Don Carlos, the second son of JhHipand Elizabeth, was new, just grown to man's estate. Ills futher placed celved from Lonls Wiych he hhmelf had recelved from Lonls XIV. Don Carlua was but seventeen jears old when he took possesslon of hls sovercignty of Parma. In the same year [1734] he wha called from It to Invale tho sicillan domintons of Austrla. He conquered In succes. slon the conthental territories, and the lsland of Siclly: and on the 15th of June, 1734, he wha proclalmed as King of the Two Slellies. The war of the Polish Succession was ended In the following year by a peace, the prellminaries of whlch were slgnel at Vlenna. In this treaty an entlerely new arrangement of Itallan aftalrs was introluced. The rights of Ion Carlos to the kingdoms of Naples and Slelly were recognised. larma was surrendered to tho emperor; and, lastly, the duchy of Tuscany was dlsposed of to a new clalmant [Franels of Lorruine] for the honours of an Italian prince."-I. Butt lliet. of Italy, r. 1, ch. 5 .
Also in: E. Armstrong. Elianbeth Farnese, ch. ${ }_{1134}-1858$. Colletta, Ilist. of the Kingdom of Naplee. 1734-1856, bk. 1, ch. 1-2-Sec, also, SPaiv: A. D. 1713-1725; and Fuance: A. D. 1733-1735.
A. D. 1719 . The Emperor and the Duke of Savoy exchange Sardinia for Sicily. See Spain: A. D. 1713-1725.
A. D. 1733-1735. - Franco-Austrisn War.Iovaslon of the Milanese hy the French.Naples and Sicily occupied hy the Spanlarda and erected Into a kingdom for Don Carlon.

A. D. $1748-1743$-The War of the Austrlas

 Eccsseion: Amblelowe undertakiage of Spaln. -"The strugifle between England and Xpain [aee Exoland: A. I). 1709-174i] hal altogether mergenl in the great Europenn war, and tho cllef enorts of the spaninals were directed agminat the Austrian domintons In Italy, The kingdom of Nipiles, which had pamed under Ausirian ruke curing the war of the [Spaniah] Sucremsion, sh ilne we bave meen, inen reatorem to the Span. ahb line In the war whleh emdet In 1 ito and Ihon Carios, whos ruied it, was altogether suber. Tient to Epuniaf polley. The Inke of Lorraine. the huabanil of Marin Therem, was moverign of Tuscany: ami the Allatrian pmeraslons conslateri of the Duchy of Milian, and the provincee of Mantun and Plarentia. They were garrimoned at the ofrening of time war by only $15, \mathrm{tH}(\mathrm{W}$ new and their mont dankerous enemy was the Kins of Sarilinia, who fand gradually exteniedi hit donilnious into lomimarly, and whome army was,Proinably, the fargent and unowt etheient In Itair
The Minuewe, 'him father la reporteyl to fince eahl. 'in like an nrilchoke, to the eaten lenf by lenf, and the akill and perseverance with whild for masy generatons the Ilouma of Nayoy pisf cued thant policy, nave in our own day hat their rewnri. Npanish trowps lud lauleol at Naples us early as Nopengler 1it1. The Kiug of Nardinin, the Prince of Moxtena, and the Ilepublle of Olena, were on the same side. Veufre was couphetely neutral. Tuscany was comprilled to dechr: ber. elf Bo, and a French nrmy was sonn to crows the Aips. The King of Sinilinin, however, nt this critical monent, was nlarmerl liy the nabittons projects ofenty awowed by the Spaniards, nul he was induced by Engllsh intluence to ebange shies. Ile ohtaincd the promise of certain terri. torial concesshons from Austria, nad of an annual sulbhiy of 8200,000 from Eugland; and on these conilitions he asibleniy marched with an army of 80.000 men to the support of the Austrians. Ali the plans of the confecierates were disconcerted ly this defectiou. The Spaniarde went into wintcr quartess nenr Bologus in October fought an unsurcessfil battle at Compo Santo in the following Februny [1743], nud then retired 6 limini, learing lombardy in complete tran. qu'lity. The British fleet in the Mediterranean hud intect largely stroligthened by Carterct, and it dill good service to the rause. It burat in Spanish squatron in the French port of St. Tropez, compelfal the King of Naples, by the threat of ionibariment, to withtiraw his troops from the Spanish nrmy, and sign an ringagoment of neutrahty, destroyeal iarge provi uns of corn collected by the Gennese for the $s_{1}$, insh army. and cut of that army from all conmunications by sea. "- W. E. II. Lecky, Hist. of Eing., 18th Century, eh. 3 (r. 1).

Almi IN: W. Coxe, Ilitt. of the Houre of Aus. A. ch. $102(c, 3)$ )
n. n. ${ }^{2} 243$. -The War of the Austrian Succesion: Treaty of Worms. - " Hy a treaty be. the King of Britain, the Queen of Hungary, nnd the King of Surijain, signed at Worms Septent ber :isril, 1i43, Charies Emanuel renounced his pretensions to Milan: the Queen of Ilungary celing to him the Vigevanesco, that part of the duchy of I'avia between the Po and the Tessine the town and part of the duchy of Piscenza, and a portion of the district of Anghlera Also whatever rigi:s slie might buve to the mar.
guisate of Maale boping that the Repulicic of cencu wruld facilleate thle ayreement, in ondep that the Klng of Bardinia might hare in commin. nication with the sea. Tise Quepen of limgary. promised to lucreage lier army in Italy to so, min men at soon the nifaim of Gertuning would permit; while the K $\operatorname{lng}$ of Great Irituin curageil long an the war luatoli, he hecping in (h), (HN). army of the war luston, he keeping in tho tithina army of 45,000 nis: 1 ."- T. II. IHy(r. llime. © Mowlern Luryje, bk. C, th. (r. D).
IFrance and Spaln) for eotablishling Sompact clalms. Wef F"bance: d. 1) 1743 ing Spaniat
A. D. 1744. - The War of the Austrian Su. cession: Indeclslve campalsme. - יIn Sucthe dimwrinnt vews and mulusi jumin lufy. Marta Thervern and the kinu of jominasite of vented the goxal eftecies wing of suritiala per nuxious to mecure film own dominkuse king wa of France, buif to contuer the wina om the wide Finulace, bille to ronguer the morquisate uf Finnle: wille Mnrin Therean was disirous tod rect her princlpal force agninat Xinjlew, and re cover porasalon of the two Slifles. Himur is atend of cooperating for one grout oblevt. thet furces wrote divified; w' ftur un anflumenad active canipaign, the $\quad 1$ hams ucre marly is the mame sthation as : Commenerment

 Prons l'esara abli Aenegallia, attuknelt them at Laretto nui lecomati, and drove them ley yod the Fronto, the lionniary of the kiugiloin of Naples. Alarmod by the advane of the dus trinus, the king of Xinples broke his neutrality. quittel his capltal at the hral of lit, uns men, and hastened to join the Spaniaris. But Prince fobcowitz turued towarif Kimie, with the hope of penctrating Into Naples on that sile: and, in the commencement of Jume. Fiacherl the neighbourlsenal of Aibuno. Ilis virum were as ticipated hy the king of Naples, whu, divaling the Bpanish and Xenpolitan troxpls finto thipe colunus, whith were led hy hisuself, the lake of Noriena, mid the count de Gageng. jumat throush Anagm, Valmonte, und Monte Tirtinf, and $r$ e united his forcea at Voletri. In tho Conipugas di priace With continuml skirmishes. It iengeth prince Lolrowlty, in imitathon of prinere Liuceme at ('remona, formeri the projoct of surprining the hemi-quarters of the k!ng o" Nitfors in the night of Ais rust 10th, $n$ corps of Lliatrians, iet by count Ith, sh, pretmed hito the twan of Veletri, killed ail whor resisteti, an! would hare surprised the king aud the dinke of Madim in their beds, land they not been alisment bs the French amhassador, nhif escapetl fothe caup The Austrinn trosps, giving way to fllikite, wert vigorously attucked by a corjes of sjumbirts and Neapolitans, despatehevl from the camp, am ariven from the town with grant slaughter, and the capture of the second in commmand, the ma quis de Novnti. In this contest. biwever, the Spanish army lost no less tion 3 , 0hn men. Thi daring cxplolt was the last offonoice attem: of the Anstrian forees. Irince loblenwitz per ceiving his troops raphlly decruase lay !he efects of the clinate, and the unwholesonie air of the Poutinc marshes, began his retreat in the begin-stag of Norember, and though followed by an anify superior la number, relumed wlithous lona to Remini, Petaro, Cecaino, and Immola; whlle the comidneal 8paniarisand Nea poiltana tone up their guarters between Vleerbo and Clvita Vecehia. la consequeace of tlie expelifion agaliagt Naples. the king of sandloia waileft wlith 80,000 men, many of them new leales, nat 0,000 Austriana to oppree the comblnell aruny of Preach and spanlarila, who adrancell on the alie of Nice. Atter nceupping that plare, the united army infeel the Intrenched canip of the Bnadloinnis, though deteaded hy the king himacif, mate thelumelven masters of Montafleno and Vilia. franca, and prepared to penetrate into I'ffollmont shang the sen const. The Gennese, Irritaicel hy the transfer of Flanie, were Inellned to faelitato thelr ofremitons; but were intimblated hy the presence of an English equadion which threatened to iwmbard their capital. The urince ut Conti, who commandeal under the infant fon Puilip, dill nut, however, relinquisit tho invanion of Plefinumt, but formal the spiriteri project of leailing his ammy over tite pasmers of the Alpa, aithurgh almout every rock wins a fortress, and the ohataclea of nature wero asasisted hy aif tife rewurces of srt. He led tita army, with a large trin of srifiery, and numetrus equadrons of curairy, over precelpleva and niong ledis of tortrata, cmartel the fort of Climtials Bauphin, forcel the celelorated Barriemdea whileh were deemerl imprygnable, dercerded the valiey of the stura, toxk Demont after a silgit resistance, and luid slege to Coni. Tho king of Nnrilinia, baving in viin attempted to stop tio prugress of thly torrent wheli burst tho harriere of bls country, Iniligpantly retired to Saluzzo, to cover hils cupitel. Belng relinforced ly 6.0nN Austrins, he attempted to relleve (emi, lut was repulsed sfer a severe engagement, though he turceryled in throwing anecours into tho town. Thls vietory, linwever, difl nut preslinee any per. manent sdvantage to the confedente forces: Conil rontming to i.olld out, the approach of Winter and the lisses they had snstuined, ainount-加g to 10,010 men, conperiferi them to mise the Nege and repass the Alpa, which they did not eliect withont extreme difficulty." - W. Coxe, Hist. of ine IIWue of Auatria, ch. 105 ( 0.8 ).

Almons: W. Iusseli, Miet. of Modern Eurs,
A. D. 1745. -The Waf of the Austrian Succenion: Succenmes of the Spaniarda, French and Ganoese.- - The Italian campalgn of 1745 , in boilness of design and raphility of exceution, scarcely tinis a parailel in millitary history, and was most uupropitioun to the Queen of IIungary and Klog of Sarlinia. The experlence of preading years had taught the Bourbon Courts tiat all sttempts to carry their arms across the Alps Foull be fruitless, uniess they could seeure a stahle footing in the dominions of somo Italian Bate on the other side, to counteraet the power of the aiversary, who had the entire command menns of wases between Germany and Ienly, hy thualiy drafted to the scements could be conlagly they aralled scene of action. Accordand slarm exalted themsel res of the Jenlousy Finale to the Kiag of Gardiny the transfer of Trfubitic on their side sardina, to engage that the two armies which had plan wan is unite tant frontlerg of Waples and Pred on the dis-$3-20$ vieinity of Oenow, where tifey were to bo Joiner If 10,000 nuxiliarles on the part of the repulifie. Charies Emanuel was eenalble of the terribic cumer fuesces to blmaelf, should the Gencese declare opwenly for the house of Ihourinn, anil eent General Puifiavielnl, s man of widifress and al,ilties, to renounce hit pretentons to FInaie, while Aiminal lowley, with a lirtish thet, hoverey on thelr conati In gite of all tifis, nevertim!ess, the treaty of Aranjuez wan mon: cludell letween Prance, Aphin, and Cenom. Alter surmuming aunazing diffculter, and making tife numt arillenas suif satonisithg marehen, the army commandied liy Don llillip, who was accompaniet liy tho Freneia General Malilelania and tint commanded by Count de Gagee, effected When their unitul the 14th of June, nemr Genom, - monnted unitrif forece, now umuer Don Pidilip of Narllula stanes, wist to make tic inier theme ciretintdefend tho whake the leert dispubltons to Innimntho Mhntime. Uhe Purmesnn, and the Pinimintine: ; int the whole disposathe foree under the King nul Count Nelanieulurg, the suceesmor of Labkow its. dili not smanit to sluave 45,000 men. Count Gagen with 30,0 on men wina to be Spposerf to Neflulenburg, and trok promession of Rerravile, on the Hortwla; therl mivnneing tio retire muler the ria he obiligel the Austrians to made hauser the caumon of Tortomn. Don IMilif made hlused! master of Acyul, so that the King of Nardilua, with the Anstrian Getherui, Cuunt schuienhurg. had tu retreat hedind the Tauaro. Oif the 24th of July the strong cltadef of Tortone whe taken ly the Spiniaris, which orvened the wiy to the oxecupation ": Parma mod Placentia The combined army a Frencli, spmish, Se apoiltaus, and Genovese ladug how thistirs of an externis" tract witio nli the prluepal towns mout of the lo, they readily coffecteci a passuge near tho contluence of the Tlelin, und with n detach ment surpiriscl Pavin. The Anstrlans, fearfui for the Mhanse, separatell accordingly from the shrdinan trongs. The Burbinin forse seeling thila, sudifeuly reniteri, gulned the Tumaro liy a rap raphif mow enarent on the nlght of the Eith of sep. emilver, forided it in three coliminas, allhugit the Winter rurlhed to the very necks of the soldiers, feli upwin the nususpeeting nud unprepared Sar. and drove the their eavalry fin the tirst charge, Valenzn. the eueny in disminy and confugion to Calenzn. Charliss Emanucl ted to Casole, where ho reassembled his broken army. In order to save it from utter ruin. The confederate armles still adrnneed, drove the Klig hnek and took Trino nnd Verun, wilich last place lay but twenty miles from his eapital: fearfili now that this might be bomharded he itnstenel thiliher, willadrew his forces under its canann, and ordered the pavement of the clty to be taken up. Malliebols, on his slde, penetrated into the Milnnese, and by the month of Oetober tife terriorles of the house of Austria in Itaiy were wholly subdued. The Whole of Lombardy leing thus open, Don Plifit made a trumphant entry into Milan on the 20th of December, fondily hoping that he had secured for Carios, had done kingiom, as his brother, Doo Carios, had done at Naples. The Austrian gnrricon, however, stili maintained the cltadel of Milan and the furlress of Ynntua."-Sir E. Cust, Annale of the Wara of the 18th Century, v. &, pp. 75-76. eh. 4 . LN : A. Gallenga, Hiet, of Piedmont, v. is,

A. D. 1746-1747.- The War of the Austrian

 Snccession: A turn of forture.- The SpanAustand French abandon North Italy.-The Austrians In Genom, and their expulaion from the city.-"Of all the Austrian possessions in Lombardy, little remained except the fortress of Mintua and the cltadel of Millan; while the eitadeis of Astl and Alessandria, the kers of Pied. mont, were expected to fafl before the commencemeut of the ensuing campalgn. On the the mastery of Itaiy was renew, the struggie for the mastery of Italy was renewed, and the queen of Spnin aiready saw in Imagination the crown of Loniardy gracing the brow of her second son. On the east, the Frenciu and Spanisti armies hul extended themselves as far as ileggio, Ptacentif, nid Guastaila; on the north they were unasters of the whole country between the Adda and Tesino; they binckaded the passages by the lake of Como and the Lago Maggiore, and were preparing to reduce the cltadel of Milan; on tie west their posts extended as far as Casate nud Astl, though of the last the cltadel was stifi held by the Sardinians. The minin lody of the French secured the communtcation With Getoo and the country south of the Po; a strong loaly at Reggio, Parma, and Placentla, covered their conquests on the cast; and the $S_{p}$ miands cotumanded the distriet between tife Po nud the nountalns of Tyroi. The Sardinians were coliteeted into the neigibourhood of Trino; whifie the Austrians with the reinforceurarrese to effect a junction With the reinforcements which were daliy ex. pected from Germany, In this situation, a sud. den rerolution took place in the fortune of the Far. The empress queen [Marh Theresa], by the conctusiou of a peace with Prussia, was at lilerty to reinforce her army ln Itair, num before the end of February 30,000 men had atready descended from tile Trentine Aps, and spreadtiicuscives as themserves as far as the Po." This change of situatlon cansed the French court to make overtures to the king of Nirdinia, whicit gave greut offense to Spilin. The wiy Sarilnlsn gained the hy his negotatious with tie French, untii he fonnd an ophertunlty, hy suddenly ending the armistlee, to capture the French garrison in Asti, to relieve the citade! of Alessandria unil to lay siege to Vatenza. "These disasters compelled Malllelowis [the French generai] to ahandion his distunt josts and conceutrate his forecs bet ween Novi and Voghera, ln order to maintalu the lammunication with Genoa. Nor were the Spanlarls beyond the Jo fun a Jess critirai situation. A column of 10,000 Anstrians muder Berencian having capured Cologno, und alvaneed to Loxii, the spanish general wis counpelledi to witi draw his tromps from the passes towards the lakes, to send hls artiliery to paria nud dnuw townris the Po. The infant had scarcely quitted the place." Mantime, the spanish general Castetar, illockaimet in Parma by the Anstrians, broke through their lines and gained Ane cuastern Riviera, with the loss of haif his force. In Junc, the Simaiaris and Frenci, concentrated at Placentia, made a powerful nttack on the Austriuns, to arrest their progress, but were repulsed With heavy hoss. The surdinians soonafterwards comped a junction wltih the Austrians, which compelled the spaniards and French to eracuate Pacentia nad retreat to Genoa, abandouing stores and artillery and losing many, men. In the mildst of these disasters, the spanish king, Philip C died, and his widowed queen, Elizabeth Furnese -whe "Spanish termagant," Cariyte cuils herfho had been the moving spirit of the struggie for Italy, lost the reins of governmeut. Ifisg (hy his frst wife, Marin Loulsa of Savor) who succeeded him, had no ambltions nad no pisslong to Interest inm in the war, and resolved toessame from lt. The marguis Las M. : $s$, whon thesent to take command of the retreating army; speedily announced hisintention to abandon ituly: . Thus deserted, the situation of tife French anil Gemose became desperate. Matiletois, ufturestion ing the Genoese to defend their territury to the last extremitr --ns obifiged to follow the exam. pie of Lee, thas in is ithdrawing towards Pro. rence. A mandoneyi to thei: fate, the Gienoese condd $n$. witistand the contit ad attacks of the The ci: , Gut mudered assedi ? the lbritish flet. The cit, sut culerrd al:nos at diseretion; the garrison va, made prisoner of war ; the si thes and six senators to repaci t, Vlemua rifl thedige and six senatora to rephis *. Vlema and implyure fergireness. The marquis of Botta, who Lad replaced Lichtensteln in the command, turk pas. king of Sardinia occupied Finale aml rite the Sarona. In consecuence Finale aml riviuced Sarona. In consequence of this sucecss the Austrian court meditated the reconquest of tropss to support the war in Lombaris." But this project was ovcruied li. this project was ovcrruied ly the britiali goverat ment, and the nllied army crossarl the Var, to carry the War into the sentheastern jrinu invers of France. "Their progress wus, howeir, instantly arrested by au lisirrection at Goma. involisioned by the exuctions and oppressions of the Alav riau commanders. The garrison inas exjecllyd hy the thmuitnary efforts of the poppulace; and the army, to ouviate tire inlschiefs of this muepheted reverse, hastily measured mick its stelis. livead of coupteting the disasters of the buturkm troops, the Austro-Sardiniaus cmployen the where winter in the lirvestment of Genna," the siepe was jrotracted but unsucerssful, and the alliks Were fored to abandon it the following sumber on the appronci of the Bomrlmin furcos, whith resumed the offensive under Mardaal Belleisle After dell rering Geuoa, the filter sollt a detad ment of his army juto licdmant. where that with disaster. No further operations of lamper thace were undertaken lefure then enielning of the peace, which was theu inelug negotinted at Aix-la-Chapeile. - W. Coxe, Mencinis if the Bourbon Kings of Sinin. ch. 40-4צ (r.3-1)
A.min: J. T. Bent, Gehont, eli. 1 it
A. D. 1749-1792. - Peace in the Peniasula The Treaty of Aix-iu-Chapelle "left unthine Austria in Italy except the dinchion of Milan and Mintus. Altiough the grameduchy of Tuscauy was setthel on the fannily of Hapshirg Lorraine, every precaution was tuh not tratent that province from being uniteri with the Gr man possessions of their honse. the arrange meuts of the treaty of Aix-f:-Clapmen continued up to the period of tie French rewhition uadisturbed. Those arrungements, alfinugh the resuit of a compromise of the interots sad am. ing the of rivai statesmen, were mot, considerfing the previons state of Italy, uufavoursble to the cause of Itallau indeprenilence. Piedmont, already recognised as the protecter of latian nationally, gaiced not only in rank, bat in substantiai territory, by the acquisition of the islanil of Sardinia, stil!' nore by that of the Iligh Nowarese, and by extending her frontier to the Ticino. Napics and Sicily were reicased from the tyranny of viceroys, and placed under a resident king, with a stipuiation to secure their future indcpendence, that they should never be united to the Spnnish crown.

In the 45 [?] years which ciapsed between thic treaty of A x . la.Chspelie and the French revoiution, Italy cujored a perfect and unintcrrupted peace. In some, at least, of its principulities, its progress in prosperity and in iegisiation was rapid. Sapics and Sicily, under the government of Charles ill., and subsequentiy under the regency of his minister, Tnnucci, were ruled with energy nad prudence. Tuscany prospered undicr the sway of the princes of Lormine, Milan andi Mantua reere militly governcd by the Austrian coirt; and Lonibardy rose from the misery to which the exactlons of Spanish vicerogs had reduced cren the great resources of tinat rich and fertile province. In the other Itailan States at least no change had takeu piacc for the worsc. Iadustry every where flourishedi muler the pres. eace of the most casentiai of aii biessings, -peace."-I. Butt, Ifist, of Itryly, e. 1, eh. 5
A. D. 1792-1793.- Annexation of Savoy and Nice to the French Republic.-Sardinia and the Two Sicilies in the coalition against France. Sce France: A. D. 1792 (Sfeptemmer-Dece: ber); and 1703 (MARCL-SEPTEMiner)
A. D. 1794-1795. - Passes of the Maritime Alps secured by the French.-The coaition abandoned by the Grand Duke of Tuscany.French successes at Loano. Sue France: A. D. 1994-1795 (Octonea-May); aud 1795 (JTNE-DecFimen).
A. D. 1796-1797.-French invasion.-Bonaparte's first campaigns. - His victories and his pillage. - Expulsion of the Austrians. - French tresties with Genoa and Napies.- The Cispadane and Cisaipine Republics.-Surrender of Papal territories. - Peace preliminaries of Leoben. Sic Fraxce: A. D. 1706 (AlriniOcturen), and (Octoner); and 1706-1;97 (Oc. товен- A1.11L).
A. D. 1797 (May-October).-Creation of the Ligurian and Cisalpine Republics. - The Peace of Campo-Formio. - Lombardy relinquished by Austria, -Venice and Venetian territory made over to her. Sce Framee: A. D. 1397 (MAy- (ICTOBER)
A. D. 1797-1798 (December-May). French occupation of Rome.-Formation of the Ro$\operatorname{man}$ Republic. - Removal of the Pope. SoFiance: A. D. 1787-1798 (Decemath-Map)
A. D. $1798-1799$ - Overthrow of the Neapolitan Kingdom.-Creation of the Parthenopeian Repubic.- Relinquishment of Piedmont by the king of Sardinia, - French reverses. see Fiance: A. D. 1798-1799 (Alacst-April). A. D. 1799 (April-August). - Successful Austro-Russian campaign.- Suwarrow's victories, - French evacuation of Lombardy, Piedmont and Naples. Sec France: A. I). 1789 A. D. SRTPEMUER).
A. D. 1799 (August-December),-Austrian successes.-Expulsior of the French.-Falf of the Parthenopeian and Roman Republics. A. D. 8800 A. D. 1799 (Avgrst-December). A. D. 1800 . - Bonaparte' Marengo campaign. - Northern ltaly recovered by the French.--Siege and capture of Genoa by tbe (Maf-Ferbicary) Fance: A. D. 1800-1801 A. D 1800 Ry).

king of Naples 1801 (June - February). - Tbe king of Naples apared by Napoleon.-Restoration of Papal authority at Rome. See Fuavce: A. D. 1800 -1801 Fuance: A. D. 1800-1801 (JUNE-FEBREARY).
A. D. 1802. - Name of the Cisalpine Republic changed to Italian Republic.-Bonaparte preaident-Annexation of part of Piedmont, with Parma and Elba, to France. See Finance: A. I). $1801-1803$, und 1802 (AEGCST-SEPTEE: Ben). beif).
A. D. ${ }^{\text {1805. }}$ - Transformation of the Itaiian Republic into the King dom of Itaiy.- Eiection and coronation of Napoieon. - Annexation of Genoa to France. See Fravice: A. D. 1804
A. D. 1805.-Cession of Venetian territory by Austria to the King dom of Itaiy. See GER4.NY: A. 1). 1805-180M.
A. D. 1805-1806. - Napoieon's dethronement of the dynasty of Napies.- Joseph Bonaparte made king of the Two Sicilies. Sce Frasce:
A. D. $1807-1808$. - Hapil-Septebiber). arbitrary changes - Hapoieon's visit. - His pubiic works.-His despotism.-His annexation of Tuscany to France, and seizure of the Papal States. See Finnce: A. I). $181 \begin{gathered}-1808\end{gathered}$ (Novevhen-Fvibrahy).
A. D. 1808 (July).-The crown of Naples resigned by Joseph Bona.parte (now king of Spain) and conferred on Joachim Murat. See NPAN: A. 1). ISIN (MAY-S:CTEMBER).
(Soutbern): A. D. 1808 -1809.- Beginning of the reign of Murat at Naples.-Expuision of the English from Capri.-Insoience of Murat's soldiery. - Popular discontent and hatred. Rise of the Carbonari.-Civil war in Calabria.
 nomeeri his accession to tire nation [.Inly, 1808] $]$. The magust Napoleon,' he said, 'hai given him the kingions of the two sicilies. Gratitude to the donor, and a diesire to Inenerit his subjects, wonifi divide his heart. of Jiuntis reign was fedidie commencement of Murnts reign was felicitons: the Engish, howerer, occupued the ishani of Capri, which, heing phaceid at the opening of the gnif, is the what the hay of Naples. Their presence stimwhated ali who were averse to the new government. intmidiated its ndiherents. and impeded the frecdom of navigntion, to the mnnifest infilvera commerce; uesidis, it was considered iflueraceful, that one of the Xipoleonidies shouid suiter an chemy so near, ami that enemy the Eng. Thish, who were at once so hatei anif so despised. the imiolence of Joseph had paticutiy suffered the dingrace; but Jonchim, a spirited soldicr, was indigmnt at it, and he thongitt it nccessary to commence his reign by sume importnnt enter prisc. Tle armed therifore nguinst Capri: Sir Hudson Lowe was there in gurrison with two Egiments enllected from all the nations of Europe, and which were called the Royni CorsiFan and the ihayn Maltese. ... A boiy of Fronch and Semphitims were sent from Naples nud Naicrno, nuder the comanand of General Lumasine, to reduce the islami: and they effecteri a lanaing. by means of inders huag to the roeks by iron iooks. unit this possessed themselver of Anacarpi, though mot without great diflenity. as the Euglish resolutely defended themseives.

The slege proceeded but slowiy - suecours of men and ammunltion reached the losieged an alverse wind drove thvoured the enemy, as The Klag whd drove the English ont to suna The Klng, who superintended the operatluns from the shore of Massa, havlug waited at the ment canpanelin, scizing the propltlous noment, seat fresh squadrons In aid of Lamaryu. and the Engllsh, being already broken, and thr: Torts dismantled, now yielded to the concuerur The Neapolltans were hlghly gratlfed by th: equisition of Capri, and from that event nugured well of the aew goverunient. The kinglom of Naples eomtalacd three classes of people - harons repuhlicaas, aad populace. The burons willingly were plene party of the new klng, berause they were plensed by the honours granted to thra and they wir re not without hopes of recovarling thelr ancieut privileges, or at least of acoulring new oaes. . . The republicans were, on the contrary, inimical to Joachim, not becanse he was a klag, for they casily acconnuodated them Tuses to rovaity; but becmase his conduet in bound, where he had driven them forth or dered him persomally ike nalefactors, had renvere moreovermally ohnoxlous to them. Ther wheh led hlat thegusted he hls laeredible ranity, zenlous adulathe eourt and earess whth the most

The popuhe ehint than they liad cored no ntore for Jon easily have contented thenselves with, wonla goverminent, If it had protected thein frum new oppressions of the lurong ater frum the them quilet and the birons, and had procured for Intent on conrtine the Bobit Joaclum, wholly people, who, oproressed nobles, neglected the dery, hecanur atienated by the barons and sul dery, heenure nhienated from him.

The intrituct discoatent was further lacreasidi ly his

Joachim, a soldier himself laws of Friuce. thlare to his soldiery, and andf, permitted every tary llecense was the : and an lusupportable milf. cary incense was the result. Heace, also, they heno ront in the affectiong of power, and it took soleace of the troms cons of the people. The Inonly erary destreps contlauthy nugmented: unt of a rerimeut day every caprice of the hem of a regiment, nay, even of the inferior offleers was to be complied with, as if they were the hls sul the realm; and whosower even huarnterl ineurred some rlsk of welll was In-trented and to the $K \ln \mathrm{c}$.
$\qquad$ The discontents proxuceluy the enornitics coinmitted hy the troups of ald by gave hoprs to the court of the troups of Murit gunes might the re.est of Palermo that lis for tuaes might be re-establishedl In the kingdom raged In Caiabria; nor weanwlle, the cirll war quil. In these dlaturbanere the Abrizzi trin. factions in arms disturbances there were varions cactloas in arms, and various objects were pur. usel: sonie of those who fought agaiast Jonchion, and had fot,ght agaiast Joseph, were allierents repulilican coastitners were the purthstas of a republican coastitntion. Warborl arose at the sect of the during the Consulute and Empire of Notta, Itwly 5.- "The most fanule Einpire of Ninpolern, ch. seminated, and the most the most widiely dis. secret socleties the most powerfil of all the that of the Carboanch sprang up in italy was The Carbonari first began to arcoal-makers. the Kingdom of Napleg a to attract attention in Genoese named Naples about the year 1808. A Genoese named Maghelis, who burned with hatred of the French, is sald to have initiated purpose it wuolltans lato a secret ordur nated purpose it wins to goad their eount ryman intore. bellion. They quitted Ninples. where Murats rlgllant policy kept too strict a wateh on cum spirators, and retlred to the Ahrizal, where in onler ta disarm susplelon they protenthel tio in eagaged in clarcoal hurning. As their inmin the luenersed, agents were sung. As their mombers the prinelpal towns. The Bourloulinh lingurs in In sicify soon hens. The Bourlon kins, thut up hesitated soon hennit of them, and as he hand mit hesitated at letting loose with Engllshathd wathe prisoncrs, or at eneouraging brigunds, foun haris sulrators se eagerly conulved with thre con spiritors In the hope of recovering his throne Dhrut, having striven for several reirs turone preses the Carlomari, at last, when he fomm! his towards them, and stron, revenmel his pulier Bowards them, and strone to concilith. whem Bit it was too lute: nelther he mar ther foump prevent the resturathon of the lhemrlums nime cual the protection of Austria. The mertaries who hat hitherto forllshly expected that, if the Frwheh could be expelled, Ferdlaund would grimut thent a lifheral gorarument, were soon erremb if their delusion. aud they now ploted agaimul himeli sedulonsly as they had ploted acitiust hiv ima eessor. Thelr nembershipineragised tu myriule their forlges, sturting up in every villate in the Kiagdon of Naples, hud relatiems with in the societics in all parts of the phiniusulat ranth anxious eary of European despotstunat: to the boanro ears of European despots the buthe (ar boanro smon meant nil that was hwhem and terrible; it meant murchy, chios, aswiswinating, of finith, of the Corloinatechism, or confemion the reasomathe Carmotarl we are surprised hy dutios of the riess of thelr alms and tellets. The der to the Almighty the worship, due to ' to ren serve the futherhat with oul religion aad laws. to filtil the able retrice nature and frimalshly: to be faithfin to prome of to ohserve silcnee discretion. and chatise canse harnony and good moruls to prusib. to confuer the passlons and suluit the will. to abhor the seven deadly slas." The wrone of the soclety was to disseminate instructione of lualte the fifferent classes of suciely muler the binn
the
to Impress a nationall character on tic 1 of merest them in the press ras to de. of the fatherland and of religing: lue to. everal depravity of numbind erimes tect the weak and tora fity of manhinf to pro

It went stlll farther mal aseorton! the un(atholic doctrine of likerty of cuns in use every Carbmaaro, so reans one (if its articles belongs the nutural and walterable riath to Worship the Almighty accordiug to hisuma in thition and understandlag.' We muat not he shisied, however, by these enlishtemed profers. slons, lato a wrong notion of the reai purposes of Curbonarisin. Politles, in spiti of a rule for hidding politicul discusslon, were lice main busjness, and ethies hat the lneideatnl cundern of the consplrati rs They organlzed their wribr under republleat forms as if to pretigure the theultowarls which they asplred. The Republir was controlled by a provinces, each of which was controlled by a grand lodge, that of salemo be. ing the 'parent.' There were aiso four 'Tribes,' each having a councli and holding an annual diet. Each tribe had a Senate, which an anised

House of Representatives，and thls framed the lsws whleh a magistracy executed．There were cours of the first instance，of appeal，and of ces． mullon，and no Carbonaro mlght bring sult In the clvil courts against a fellow member，un！ess he had first failed to get redress ln one of these．

The Carbonari borrowed some of thelr rites from the Freemasons，with whom Indeed they were commonly reported to be in such close re． lations that Freemasons who jolned the＇Car－ boslc Republle＇were spared the formally of ioitlatlon；other parts of thelr ceremonlal they copied from the New Testament．with such ad． ditions as the speclal objects of $t$ order called for．＂－W．K．Thayer，The Daien If Italian Inde－ pendence，ok．2，ch． 4 （r．1）．
Also is：P．Colletta，Hist．of the Kingdom of Waple，bi． 7 （（．2），－T．Frost，Neret Nereieties of the European Recolution，e．1．ch．5．－Gen．Sir If． Buabury，The Great War eith France，pa 343 and after．－The Chevaller O＇Clery，Ilist．of the Ittitian Rer．，ch． 3.
A．D． $\mathbf{3 8 0 9}$（April－May），－Renewed war of Austria with France．－Austrian advance and retreat．See Germant：A．D． 1800 （Javeaky （CNE）．
A．D． 1800 （May－July）－Annexation of the Papal States to the French Empire．－Removal of the Pope to Savona．－Rome declared to be a free and imperial city．See Papact：A D． $1804-1514$
A．D．1812．－Removal of the captive Pope to Fontainebleau．See Papacr：A．D．1808－
A．D．1812．－Participation ln Napoleon＇s disastrous Russian campaign．See Rtesia A．D．DIP，JUE－SERTEMBER），and after．
A．D．1813．－Particlpation in the war Germany，See Germant：A．D． 1813 （ApruL Mis）．
A．D．1814．－Desertion of Napoleon by Murat．－His treaty with the Allies．－Expul． sion of the French from the Peninsula．－Mumit king of Naples，＂for eseelng the downfall of the Emperir，had attempted to procure from Napo－ leen，as the prlce of his fidelity，the union under his n⿰⿱亠⿱口小⿺尢丶万⿱⿰㇒一乂，sceptrc of all Italy south of the Po；but， failag in this，he prepared to a bandon the cause of his benefactor．On the 11th January．1814，he concluded a treaty with the Allies，by whleb he Wis guarantced possesslon of Naples；and forth． ded we secong oo Rome with 20,000 men．oceu－ pied the second city $\ln$ bls hrother－in－law＇s em－ pife（Jan．19）；havlng prevlously puhilshed a daniug proclamatlon，in whlch the pertidy and volvice of the imperial government were de． nouncel in terms whlch came strangely from a chief of the Revolutlon． December， 1813 ，Eugene had wlthdrawn to the Adige with 36,000 men，before Bellegarde and 30.140 Austrians；and he was already taking measures for a further retreat，when the procla－ mation of Murat，and hls hostlle adrance，ren－ derei such a movement lncritable．He had accurdingly fallen back to the Mlnclo，when foding himself threstened on the flank by a Brtish expedition from Slcily under Lord Will． liam Bentinck，he determined on agaln ad wanc－ ing agalnst Bellegarde，to as to rid hlmself of The twomy before he encountered another． The two armles，however，thus mutually acting on the offenaive，passed each other，and an lrreg． ular actlon at last ensued on the Mincio（Feb．8）， in which the adrantage was rather with the rench，who made 1,500 prisoners，and drove Bellegarde shortly after over the Minclo about 3,000 being killed and wounded on But，In other quarters，affalrs were on each side． to wreck to wreck．Verona surrendered to the Austriana on the 1 th，and Ancona to Murat on the 16 th； and the desertlon of the Itallans，unequal to the atpucs of a winter campaign，was so great that Foucheroy was connpelled to fall back to the Po． Fouche，meanwhle，as governor of Rome，had concluded a conventlon（Feb．20）with the Nea－ politan generals for the eracuatlon of Pisa．Leg－ horn．Florence，and other garrisons of the French empire In Italy．A proclamation，bowever，hy the lecreiltary prinee of Sicily，who had accom－ panled Benthuck from Sicilr，gave Murat sucb umbrage that he separited bls triops from the British．nul commenced operations，with little success，agalnst Eugene on the Po，In whlch the remalnder of March passed away．Bentlock， having at length recelved reiuforcements from Cataluila，moved forwaril with 12.000 men，and orecupied $\mathrm{S}_{1}$ czia on the 39 th of March． f 1，iriv－ lag the French（April sy from their $p$ sition at Sestri．foreed his was through the mountalns， and appeared on the lith in front of Genoa．On the lith the forts and positions befure the eity ware storneel；and the garrison，seelng prepa－ on the nate for a boubariment，capitulated on the 18th，on condition of being allowed to march out with the honours of war．Murat had br thls time reconamenced vigormens operatlons， and after driving the French（Ipril 13）from the Taro，had furced the passage of the Stura；but the uews of Napoleon＇s fall put an end to hostill． ties．By a cuuvention with the Austrlans，Ven－ ice Palina－Ninsa，ame the other fortresses still of Loy the Frenth．wire surrentered，the whole of Lombardy Was occupied by the Germans； and ln the first week of May the French troops Hixt．of Eurepe sict ins．－Epitome of Alison＇s A．Of Eurque．sed．it！，and 807－808．
Restor．1814－1815．－Return of the Despots．－ －The Pon of Austrian tyranny in the North． sistance，Fopthern Itulr was taken frttle re－ French inthern Itulr was taken from the Freuch．Hand lt been otherwlse，had Murat and Beaulharnais jolned their forecs，they might have long held the Austrians ln check．perhaps even have made a descent on Vlenna：and althougb this milght not bave hinderd the nltimate over－ throw of Napoleon，yet ht must have compelled the Allies，at the day of settlement，to respeet the Tishes of the Itali：ns．But disunited，and de－ luded lnto the bellef that they were partaers in a war of liberatlon，the Italians woke up to find that thes had escaped from the tulons of the French eagle，only to be caught ln the clutch of the two．headed monstrosity of Austria．They Were to be used，In the language of Joseph De Malstre．llke coins，wherewith the Alles pald people of The Was plaln enongh when the people of the just destroyed Kingdom of Italy prepared to choose a ruler for themselves：one party farored Reauharnais，another wished an Austrian prince，a third an Italian，hut all agreed In demandling lndependenee．Austria quickly Informed thein that they were her subjects，and that thelr affalrs would be declded at Vlenna． Thus．almost wlthnut striking a blow，and with out a susplclon of the lot awaitlag them，the Northern Itallans fell back under the domination of Austria. In the spring and eariy surnmer of 1814 the eviled princelings returned: Victor Emanuci I. from his asvage refuge In Saidinla Florence: Ferdinand III. from Warzburg to Forcnce; Pius VIL. from hls condinement at Fontaluehleau and Savonati, Rome [see I'apact: aspirants anxlously walted for the Cong. Other Vienna to bestow upon for the Congress of provinces. The Congress them the remaining the spring of the following year. . ... In LomIn Lomthoroughly Austrian alministratlon organized a ernment of the two provinces was separate govof Lombardy belng centred at Millan that of Venetla at Venlce; hut over at was piaced of Austrian arcliduke as Viceroy. Each distrlet had Its civil and milltary trihunals, hut the men who composel these beling appolntees of the viceroy or hls deputles, thelr subservlence could usually be reckoned uper. The trials were secret, a provislon which, espechally in political cases, made convletlons easy. . Feudai privicould be: rered ly dolne hy the French, peror and by paying dolng homage to the Emperor and by paying specific taxes. In some emi ndminlstration, but in ovement in the gentlon was nmmifest. . . Art scleme the deteriom. ture were putronized, and Art, selence, and literioplants thrive uuder the care of throve as potted cuts of every new shoot at a certain belght.

ITALY, 1815.

We may liken the people of the bught. Italian provinces to those Flo of the Austrowho, it the tlme of the plague, tried to Irive awny their terror by telling each other the merry stories reported hy Boccaccio. The plague Veuedia was the every corner of Lombardy und Veuctia was the Austrian pollce. Stealthy, but sure, Its unseen presence aras and hovel, In church, trihunal, sided lu palace Every police-oflice was cranimed closet. of the duily hablts of each crammed with recorils his relatives, his casual conversations, his visitors, st yle of dress and dlet were set down. - eveninls was the Metternlehlan system of poilice Such espionage that counteracted every mid iaw and every attempt to lessen the repugnance of the Itallans. They were not to be decelved by blandisliments: Lombarily was a prison, Venetia Was a prison, and they were all captlves, although they secmed to move alrint washackled to thelr work or pleasure "The Dusen of Italian Indepenelence. R. Thayer, 2 (b. 1).-See, also, Fienna, Tue Cone ch. of: Achtha: A. D. 1815-1846; and IIoly Ahinince:
(Sonthern): A. N. $1815 .-$ Murat's attempt downfall and death movement. - His failure, bons at Napl des. -" Wild as weration of the Bourwhich, after Niapolit in King of Vaples juige of it both by his own crow, we must yet clremustances in whlelt own character and the the antumn of 1813 coumunas placed.
ralse the standard of Itallan Independence to of volunteers. readily adeers. These calculations monareh to Ills proud spirit chafed and fre prescuted.
sclousneas that he had turned upon ure the conand the mortit he had turned upon Niupolen. and the mortification of finding hinself Jeserted. fice bad been made upon whose falth this satcil taken him hy surpris. The events in France had akainst Napoteon he had not joiulng the ulliance against Napoleon he had not calculateal on the dreame: of the the emperor, stlll leas lated be Ite bltieriy reproached his ow the etmpire. lug len. himself to such own condurt for har mind a as agitated wuch results. When his the intelligence reached him that Ned forlings, actually left Elha, on that that Napoleon hal Ine staked everything that enterprise in whith perial throne of France. It came tu the imfrom Napoleon. . . . He foresume to lim direct of the allled powers would we that the armies clgantic struggle with the le engaged $\ln$ : poleon woulif be sure the efforts whirh Jis. poleon wouli be sure to make. Linder surh circumstances, Ie fancled Italy an easy coniquest; whom, In the of thils lie became a poutr with tending parties could of nutlons, any of the conHe determined could only be too hirpuy in trat Italian vatlonality, and strike one the hrad of for the chleftalnshlp of the one daring bow ministers, hls frieuds, the French inn... Ilis his queen, Napolcon's sister, dissunded limu from such a course.

But with an olstinary ly whlels the refil tempt to atone for habpear somermes to at severed in splte of all sdua indecision, ha put Papal frontler. . The Iope apmonters a regendinals, to Florencempauied ly most of the cardinals, to Florence. On thre sinh of March his [Murat's] troops attack (ollte Ausuma forces at Cesena. The Germans were driven, On the overing much resistance. from the town On the evenher of that dug he issimel from lim Inl his prochmation to the Itadian paphlo, whe Nas aguinst Austria a declarution of war mediately followed of war on the par" "Anstria immediately followed. . . The whele of the Ital Ian army of Austria was ordered at once to march Ferdinand, hy which treaty whs concluded with her endeavonirs to to Austria engased fo use all tan dominions. northward, listead. The mrmy whid Ilurat lid represented In his proclumation cortinht as be exceederl 34,000 . excreded 34,0 Nearly 60, 100 . H -trians defended the hanks of the Po..... On the luth of Aprll, the troops of Murat, under the cionmand of General Pepe, were driven bick by the Austriaus, who now in their turn ulvanceid unanimonsly resolved frontiers of Silples tras that had ull the dianters witho retreat was one at Milm Inetween Murat and the leadeok place secret societios which were then leaders of the organlse Italian patriotsm in arms in ing to When the resioration of Austrian rule in 1814, hardy so cruelly disappointed the natlonal bones these communlcatlons were renewed. The King of Naples was assured that he needed but to deemine approng glories of war. approached the confines of the Neapolitan king. dom, au engagement whilch tork illace between ended In a total and ino, on the the of May, Macerats most ond ignominlous rut: Macerats most of the troops bruke up into s dis organised rahble, and with diftculty Vurat led to Capua a small remonat of an army. that cưat harily be sald to be defeated, because they were worsted without anythlng that deserves to be called a Gght. From Capua, on the 12 th of May, the Eling sent to Naples a proclamation granting a free constitution. To conceal the lact that this was wrung from him conces la distress, he resorted to tho niserahle suhterfuge of ante-datIng It from Rimlai, on the 30th or March." On the evening of the 18th of May, Murat entered Naples quletly on foot, and had his last intertlew with his queen and children. A Brltnext nught be slipped away the harbor. The ischia, and thence to Frejus, to the island of llue remalned to dischargo the last duties of sorerelgnty. On the 20th Naples way duties of sorerelgnty. On the 20th Naples was surrenrefuge on an Engllsh vessel to ceappe from a threatening mob of the lazzarool. Slie was conveyed to Trieste, where the Anstrian ennperor has offered her au asylum. The restored Bourboa king. Ferdinand, made his entry into the In Frince, had offerer hise Meantine, Murat, in Frince, had offered his servilees to Napoleon and they had been declined. After Waterloo, be escapt to Corsica, whence, in the following uls bing iom, landing witi a fewpt to recover Pizzo, on the Neapollan a few followers at Pizzo, on the Neapolltan coast, expecting a Hising of the people to welcome hits returu. But the rising that occurred was hostile lnstead of frienily. The party was qulckly overpowered Munt taken prisoner was gulckly overpowered, Murat taken prisoner and delliered to Ferdinamd's oflleers. He was summarily tried hy court martial and shot, October 13, 1815 .- 1 . Butt. Hist. of Italy, o. Q, ch. $10-11$
Also w. P. Colletta, Mist. of liphles, bk. 7 , 4. 5. and hk: 8, ch. 1 ( $\mathrm{c}, \mathrm{8}$ ).
A. D. $1820-1821$ - Revolutionary insurrections in Napies and Sicily. - Perjury and duby Austrian troops. - The revolt crushed in Piedmont. Its its. - Abortive insurrection in Piedmont.- Itts end at Novara, - Ahdication of Victor Emmanuel Novara, - AhdicaCharles Felix. - "In the last days of February, ject of its leaders was to restor spain. The ob, ject of its leaders was to restore the Constitution of 1sie, which had hecn suppressed on the reRevolution proved successful, time the spasiards successful, and for a short ther the Spaaiards obtained possesslon of a dem. aratic Constitution. Their suecess stirred up the ardur of the Liberal party la the klagdom of over a revilutionary hefore many weeks were Saples. The insurrection orent oecurred at ampe under the conmand ofiglated with the It is worthy of note thand of General Pepé, and directel against the the movement was not directerl against the refgning dynasty, and was for, even uom"cally, assoclated with any demaud for was the establishmeut of lusurgents asked lar to that then exlsting in a Constitution simi. briff mat fecble reslota $\ln$ Spain. After a very the dummds of the militars the King yielded to were stroagly supported mity consplrators, who On the lit of optoperted by popular feeling. politun bingdom was a Parliament of the Nea. Fraucis the First, who then hy Ilis Majesty solemn oath to observe the Constlure took a crea went out of his way to Constlution, and attachmeth for of his wring to profess his profound Govemmeut was based. Geaeral Pepe therc.
upon resigned the Dictatorsilp he had assumed, and constitutloual liberty was deemed to have been thally eatahlished in southern Italy by a hlowll so revolution. The rising on the main. land was followed after a brid? on the main.
popular insurrection in pophar insurrection in slelly. The laran oheyect, however, of the Slecllan Constitutlonalists was to hring about a lect, the island and the klogive separation betweca

The Sicllian Insugdom of Ninples proper. 1. the pretext he had looked for forled Franels in neement, for oserthroked for. from the com. to which he had personally the Constltution The Allied Soverelgus tority plighted his faith. break of the revolutionstry alarm at the out. hrak of the revohitionary splrit in siclly, and a Congress of the Grent Pow Congress of the Grent Powers was convoked at sider what steps reguit Tine Cosoress of] to conteetion of soclal order $\ln$ the $k^{2}$ taken for the pro-

By the Neapolitau Const thition of Naples. creign was not at liberty to leme the king sov. Wlhout the consent of the Parliane kingdom consent was only glven, after minament. Thls In reliasee upon the reiteriter mueli hesltation, King. both pablicly and privately, then of the object iu attendlon the Conrately, that his one possible, a forvign interveutions was to a vert, If also pledged himself most solemaly ins Majesty thon any change in the Constitunly not to sanchaul sworn alleginmer, and her that he would not lue . . he pronised fur. Incing iutlicted npon hisenlje party to any reprisals might have taken in the esets for the pirt they stltutional liberty. Asscon howerert of Conthe First hat arrivet at however, as Francls without a protest to the allaibel he he yiehled forrign occupatiou of his kingrdons with for a arowed oljeet if putting down kine Cu, with the Without any delay being rivene Cunstitution. regiments erossed the froniver, the Austrian manifesto from the King, ealling tupn his faith ful subjecte to receive the army of necupationnot as enemies, , hat as frieuthls. . . . The national triops, under General I'epé, -iere defeated wath ease hy the Austrians. Whe in the course of a few wrek efrected few wieks effected, alin without opplose of a the military [Fi hruary - wropation of the whole kingdon commenced in prim campo Forthwith reprisals commenced in primi eamest. On the phea that the invaling army eonstituted titutinualists to treason, the Kin reve eonstituted an aet of high all promises he hat pisen himself alsolved from birture. A reign giten previously to his deSignor Bota thus of terror was set on fout. punishments intlicted aftre the net result of the King in the Neapolitan after the return of the a thousand ind teapolitan provinces aloae. 'About imprlsoned, or exiled were comlemmed to death, number of ofllecrs aud atinity greater was the prived of thelrers aud oflicials who were deprived of thelr posts ly the Commissioners of stitutional Goverumeat estahlishmeat of ConTwo Sicilies, antumeat the resulution kingdom of the Instigation of alld the resulntion adopted at the hach, to suppress the by the Congress of Lat. hach, to suppress the verapolitan Constitution throughout Italy; and esprecially ln ind effect The fact that interual refornecially ln Sardinia. with the aseenulencr of Austrase ineompatible with the aseemlency of Austria in the Penineula Whe hrought hame to the popular mind, and, for for civil liberty hecante identitily, the desire ontlonal a verslon to forelgn rule. In Piethiort there was a powerful Constltutlonal purty, eumposed chletly of professlonal met, and a strun military easte, aristorralle by bleth amid convle? tlon, but opposed on natlonal grounda to the donination of Austria over Italy. These two parties eontexed for a tlme upone the comnion Mat form of Constltutionul Reform and war with of $\left[\mathbb{N}_{2}\right]$; , und the reault was the abortlve rislng rected agalnst the cothon, hawever, though ill. alout It nothing of established Goverument, hat a rovolutloming of an antl-fynatlc, or even of lear irs of the character. On the coutrury, the witi siricurity, that professed, and probably true wishes of thelr Sowere carrying out the was, that Victor Emmanuel In. Their theory pelled to adhere to thanuel I. Waa only conislderntions of forden holy Allance by conhands were forced, he woulle, wud that, if his portunity of severine honself fromete any op ty with Allstria. Acting on from all completdeteriolned to proclalm the (inustlention ly, the; of coup I' etat, nud thene Coustltution ly a sort war on Austrla, to thrude after harving deelared create a dlverslou, to Invade Lombarly, and than create a dlverslon in favour of the Neapolltans. It is certuin that Vletor Eminanuel I. gave no madenterprien whe not even cognisant of, thls of lisenterprive The troubles and calamities of lis carly life tad exhansted hls energy; and hils one deslre was to live at penec at hone and abroud. (On the abrown. On the other hand, it is at home antid presumptive to thince of suyoy Carignan, heir presumptive to the throne of Surlimial was in communleation with the leaders of the insurrec tion, thongh how far he was privy to thelr tained. The Insurrection yet been eleurly avecr. the time whe Insurrection broke out just alxout proaching the the Alistrian tronjls were apInsurrection galned heud frontiers.

The nmple of A ganned hend raphly, and the ex. son of Turiu. Pressure followed by the garriupon Vletor Emmanuel was brought to bear helleve that the only means and he was levl to was to grant the coneans of averting eivll war however, overglot its antitution. The pressine however, overshot its mark. On the one hund, the King felt that he could not possibly with. of having to oriber a Constitution at the cont manined loyal to fire upon the ins which had re. the other hand, he did not feel fustirgents. On Ing the Constitution withont justified ln grant. bruther and [Inmedlate] helr. In orler of hls fore, to eseaple from this diteme In order. there almellemted sululenly in fuvour of Charles Fellx $x$ fhis brother). As, however, the new soverelga happroed tio be. reslding at Moxtena, at the Comrt of his hruther-in-law, the Prince of Savoy. Carignan Fisapumital leegent hutil sueh time as Chinrles Filix colld return to the capital. Inmediately apon his alulicatlon, Vietor Enmanuel ynlttell Gurin, and Charles Albert was left In supreme authority as liegent of the State. Whithln twelve chours of his accession to power, the Regent promental lave of piedmonstitution as the fuurlaIs . . . that Charles Albert, The protnablity sers, were anxlous to tle the rather hls advl. Soverelgn. They caleulated hands of the new who was no longer caleulated that Charles Fellx, be bitterly hostile to nll Lidel who was known to ernment, would abdicate socger than accept the Crown of a Constitutlonal kingdom. This cal Matcon proved erroneous.

An smin as bis Majesty learned the new. of what hat ownarred In hila alsence, he issued a manl festo [Narth the Regency to be null reforms grantel under Ruthers of ${ }^{\text {the }}$ to be null and vold, debrriling the authors of the Constltutlon as relbels, mulatyer Ing his Intentlon, In the case of necesslity. of culling upon the Allime Powers to nselst hlin it ralin lng the legltlmate nuthority of thr. (rumb Meanwhlle, he refused to accept the Chrome till the restomilon of oriler had given the thrme till manuel full freedom to reconsider ther fim of alvilcation. This manlfesto wis felliwprity the Imniedlate advance of an was followity hig d'armee to the frontler stream of the Tivine a well as hy the announcement that the Tirinesuan Government had onlered an army of liusian nuen to set nut on thelr nurermy of l(m),(4m) with the avg .1 ohfject of restoring urder in ity. Peulusulis is re populaton of restoring urder in the nised at once, with thelr practleal what rerve. that any effective reslstance was out gurl strue tlon.

m,

 way in The conrage of the Insurue plus encounter of the obstaeles wheld they hait canse hy the sudde hast blow was diall toll ir $\mathrm{y} \cdot \mathrm{nt}$ In the Con Unable elther to face his comiljutim sume the rastintional pronunelanemtu, or to iss the lesitimate sibilty of an open crmetiot with secretly [Marel ${ }^{2}$ gn, the Ragent left Turia secretly [March 21. 18:1], withont givine any notice of his intended depurture, anul. on armi. log at Novara, fornully resigneil his slurt livel piower. The emplers, however, of the insirres how the committed themselves tox dreply to f. Gow the example of the legent. I l'rivisinal Governnent was extablished at Turin, mudit m: deterinined to march upon Novara. in the luy what the troops collected there womld friturnisy with the lusurgents. As soon as It was known That the insurgents were advancing in furce frum Turin, the Austrians, buder Gemerul Bothmer the Red the Tleno, and effected a junctimu witi the Royal troops. When the insursemts reichint frovara, they suddenly found themardere cma fronted, not by their own fellow crmutrymath hut by an Austriau urmy. A panic efisumed, and the lusurrectionary foree siffered at disumpme, though, fortunately, a comparutively burnliss. defeat. After this disaster the hasirnertion was virtually at an end. . .. The Austrians, with the cousent of Charles Felix, nceuple 1 ther jrincipul fort resses of Piedmont. The old nrder if lling Was restored, and, upon Vletor Eumbinurl's fir Fclix assum to withed thaw hils abrlicntion. (lharley Felix assumed the title of king of Surdinia As scon as mllitary resistance hatd cecised the Insurreetlon was put down with a strome hamd. -E. Dicey, Victor Kimmanuel, ch, 3-4.-"Hence. The the lssue could not le minmalemand. The conflet was not simply between the Seapolleans and thelr Bourbon klag. or lwetwer the Piedmontese and Cbarles Felix, lut betwen Iialan Liberallsm and Europeun Alsolution. Santarusar and Pepé cried out In thelr tlsuppriat. ment that the just cause would hire won had their tlmald colfeagues been more daring, had prumises hut been kept; we, howewr, ne-clemrly that thongh the struggle mlght hasi, heea pro longed, the result would have been unchaagel Piedmont and Naples, had eacli of their citizens beeu a hero, cuuld not have overcome the HolyAlliance [see Holy Alliance], which was thelr real antagonist. The revolutfonists had not di. rectly attacked the Holy Allance; they had not thrown down the gaunilet to Austria; they had simply Inslsted that they had a right to constlitu. thmal government; and Austria, more keen. wlterl than they, had seen that to suffer a constlintlon at Naples or Turin would be to arknowlerlge the injustice of those principles by which the Holy Allance had decreed that Europe shonld be repressed to the cnd of the. So when the Carbonarl almed at Ferill. mand they struck Austria, and Austria struck hack a deally hlow. . . . But Austria and the Reactlonists were not content with slmple vic. tory; treating the revolution as a crinie, they at nince proceeded to take vengeance. . . . For. dinand, the perjured Nenpolltan kligg, tarrled bolland in Florence, whllst the Anstrlans went dowe luto hls kingdom. . . But as soon as Fenlinand wss assured that the Anstrinn regl. medits were manters of Naples, he sent for that Prince of Cnnosa whom he had been foreed unwillingly to dismiss on account of his outrugeons cruelty tive years before, and deputed to lim the task of restoring genuine Bourlon tyranny In the Klngdom of the Two Sleilles. A briter agent of vindletlve wrath than Camosa could not have bern found; he was troubled hy no humane compunctions, nor lyy donbts as to the justlee of has nerce measures; to hlm, as to Toryuemada,

The rigit of assembilng $\begin{gathered}\text { and plasure. }\end{gathered}$ shat purpose, being denied, no mattrer for What purpose, being denied, the unlversition schools, aud Iyceums had to close; proscriptlon lists were harrledly drawn un, and they com. talned not only the names of those who had beren prominent in the recent rising, lut also of all who had Incurred suspletion for any politlent sets as far hack as 1793. . . . Ilouses were searched without warmat: Were broken were open: some of the revelations of the confessional were not sacrud. The church-bells tolled In. cessantly for vletims led to expentlon. To strike teeper terror, Canosa revived the harbarous torture of scourging in publlc. . . I Iow of terror we actually sulfered during thils reign of terror we cannot tell. Canosa'a list of the proserlbed had, It is sald, more than four thons. aand names. The prisons were choked whtis persons begging for trial; the galleys of Pantelleria. Procdda, and the Ponza Isinnds awarmeil Whth victims condenined for Ilfe; the scuffolds, erectrol In the publle squares of the chlef towns, deputies had termorized at length, wheu his deputies had terrorized the conntry intonpparent made lt sinfe sid when the Austrinn regiments Floreace nnd returned to the revolutlon smouldered aples. . In Siedly years, in splte of remorsed and spluttered for years, in splte of remorselcss efforts to stamp it out; on the malnland, robberies and brigundage, proved how delnslve polltical and now criminal, presslon and lles. Amld these condy hnsed on opnand passed the later years of his infamous reirn

In Iledmont the retallation was as reign. tual is in Naples, but Iess blation was as effec. Della Torre took command blood was shed there. nsme of Charles Felle ers were comiles Felix. Seventy-three off. fra to the galleys. but death. one humired and exaped, they were hanged in eftigy; only two,

Lleutenant Lanari and C'nptaln Ginrelll, were ex ecinted. The property of the condeminere was the comated, their familles were ton. It $\circ+1$, und the commisslon, not conteut with seutrolicing those who had taken an actlve part in the revolis. tlon, cashlered two huudred and twenty one ollcers who, while holillng alonef from Santurone thad refused to joln Della Torre at Nivara and tight agalnst thelr conlutrymen. at Norara and hal somen renson to learn th.
The Kilny whr epigram of hls, Anstria is a lirct-lime which you cranot wash off your fingers when you have once tonehed it'; for Augery when monarch that her motive in bolstering falling phllanthrople nor slank thrones was not simply phlanthropie nor ellsinterestedl. Gemeral Bnhma, on taking posseswion of Alossandria, sent the The Raid, - fortress to Empmeror Francls, In order, no surcasmin we wonder whether there was Fedlx the plensure of reevirder to glye Charles the Eniperor's land, reediving them lack from very penir joke.? wrote ' (harles I found thls a brother, 'I dismemblel' 'harles Fella to hls do otherwises Jerome bort the (larles Felix had In truth of his line, and that hon the licreelitary enemy own invitatom "- $W$, is conthest. bitt by his
 A L.e IN: P. Collettin. Ilien. 7 (c. 1).
(r. 2). - I. Giallengen, Mixf. of "pich Diples, bk. 0-10 6. - IR. II. Wrightsou, Mixt if Micdum 1 , v. 3, ch. 2-3, chil 6. Wrightenu, Ilint. if Ifrulern'Italy, ch.
A. D. 1820-1822. -The Congresses of TropCau, Laybach and Verona. Fie Vinona, The A. D. $1830^{\circ}$ ma, and the Papal $\rightarrow$ Revolt in Modena, Partrian troops. - "The IRevolntion of hy AusFrance] male a natural improwsion of 1830 [In whidh hud many ceila to complasion in a eountry had so lately bern contoctemplain of and whel Juke of Mivican. Francis IV., solnght to The use of the tlibernd movement to coxtend hls rule over northern Itily. IBat at the bast moment be Was twrithed by thrents from Vicoma, turned apainst hls felloweronspiritors, nnil lmprisoned them (Fel). 3, 1831). The perople, howerver, were prisunaterl by his treachery that be tled with his prisoners to scek aifity in Anstrian territory. A provisional government was formerl. and Modena wns eleclared a free state. Mramwhile the elec. slon for a new pope, Gregory XVI. gave occaslon for a rising in the papal stites. Bologna took the lead In throwing off Its alleglance to Rome, and In a fow weeks its exmmple wns followed by the wlitle of limmena, Cnlorin, and the Marehes. The two sons of I, mis Immaparte, the late king of llolland. hastened to joln the In and thus ant eventful careur Forli (17 March), younger brother, the finture Nipas openced to the ma revolted against firure Nippoleon III. Parma revolted lgainst Maria Louish, who followed Austria. The suecess of the movement fled to ever, was very short-llved. Austriant, howmarched to the asaistanee of. Austrian troops hellion was put down by force papacy, the rerulers werc restorell. Louls Philippe, the exlled the insurgents had relled. hat no sfme, on whom a movement in which members of the Bonaparte family were cngsged. But a temporary revival of the insurrection brought the Austrians back to Romagna, and a great outcry was mived in France agalast the king. To eatiaty puille opinion, Louth Phlitppe eent a Freach force to cize Anconn (Fel. 29, 1832), Imit it was a very harmless demonatration, and lind been expininel beforehand to the papai government. In Naples and Sardibia an diuturbances zook place. Fenilnand 11. succeeded his father Francla I. on the Neapolitan throne in 1830, and matisfed the people by introducing a more moierate system of government. Charies Aiiert became kling of Sardinia on the death of Charies Fevix (27 Aprii, 183I), and found himself in a difticuit position betwecn Austrin, which had goonl reason to mifs. trust hlm, and he iiberai party, which he had betrayedi."-R. Lodge, IVitt. of 'Menter, Europe, ch. 25.
Aleo in: L. G. Fariul, The Roman Stute, I8151850, ャ. I. eh. 9-5
