ANOTHER OLD TIMER IS CALLED AWAY

Death of R. J. Tinning takes One More from Ranks of Early Settlers---Deceased was Kind-Hearted and had Many Friends His Career

When a man dies who has been for a long time a familiar figure in a community, no matter how unobtrusive his life, it is something more than a platitudinous saying that one more landmark has gone and another milestone passed on the road all are travelling.

Those who were his contemporaries in business or in the fellowship bred of pioneering days in a growing community, are startled by the latest gap in the narrowing ranks, and see in it, not the incidental death to which the hurry and exertions of the "day's work" inured them, but an indication that the eternal forces of nature cannot be stayed, and each individual realises with quick apprehension his turn is inevitable and wonders how many of the old timers will be left to sit in the front seat at the funeral services, and to follow the hearse out to the graveyard.

When R. J. Tinning died last Friday there was not only general regret among the people of the city, but real sorrow on the part of many citizens who had known him for years and who were well aware of how he had borne the burden and heat of the day, and who had come within the range of his kindly personality.

He was one of the pioneers of Regina, and with a partner in the early eighties opened a large general store on South Railway street, near where W. H. Mulligan's lively stable now stands and there is many a farmer on the plains today now comparatively wealthy and prosperous who can tell of the kindness of Mr. Tinning when times were hard and money almost impossible to obtain. He knew personally almost every settler in the country round about, not to speak of the citizens of Regina, and his genial, kindly manner made him extremely popular.

Early in the nineties his firm moved into the large and commodious premises where Geo. Mickleborough now does business. Times were hard and in the years from 1892 to 1896 the whole financial and commercial world suffered from severe depression and in addition the farmers had not yet learned how to make the prairie land productive, and often had real work staring them in the face. No appeal was ever made to Mr. Tinning in vain, and many a poor farmer's account was carried a year after year, simply because he could not bear to refuse the necessities of life to people whom he had come to regard as friends. The trouble and stress of that trying time left their mark on Mr. Tinning and indeed they had a great deal to do with the shortening of his life, for he was never quite the same man afterwards.

Some time after going out of the general store business, Mr. Tinning established a wholesale liquor business on Scarth street, which under his control, and with the able assistance of Mr. Geo. Tomlinson, proved very successful. He later bought the Scarth street block in which his store was situated from R. Paul and it has become very valuable. He also acquired other properties in town and at the time of his death was enjoying a good measure of prosperity. Mr. Tinning came of a family which had been known in Toronto for many years, his father having owned Tinning's Ward, which for years was a landmark in that city. His early business training was in the hardware business, and before coming to Regina was engaged in that branch of the mercantile trade in Toronto, where he imbibed the traditional Conservative political predilections of dwellers there. He used to associate with a journalistic coterie there of which Edward Farrar, McVoy and Nicholas Flood-Darvin were leaders. His friendship with Mr. Davin was renewed and kept up for many years after both men had moved to Regina.

Mr. Tinning was married twice. His first wife, however, died after a short term of wedded life, leaving a daughter who is now married to a prominent railroad official in Texas. He later married Mrs. Tinning, who now survives him. Of his second marriage he had six children, George who is now manager of the McLeod branch of the Union bank and who is generally regarded as a young man of exceptional ability. His two elder daughters, Misses Bessie and Bella Tinning are well known and deservedly popular in Regina, where they have lived as children and grown up. Another daughter was married last year to J. A. Wetmore, manager of the local branch of the Imperial Bank. The youngest daughter Miss Frances, is also at home with her mother. Another daughter was drowned in the reservoir at Regina under tragic circumstances a few years ago. There is no family better known in Regina and few more universally respected.

In his younger days, Mr. Tinning, was quite an athlete, and after coming to the west, became an enthusiastic rotary of the basketball, and every fall spent what time he could spare on the prairies after the chicken or other feathered game.

A little over a year ago when there were premonitory symptoms of the illness to which he finally succumbed, he went on a trip to California accompanied by his daughter, Miss Belle. He was a little better on his return, but the improvement did not last long and on the advice of his doctor he took the ocean trip to Honolulu, and again his daughter went with him. The change, however, did not affect the expected result and since then he gradually declined in health, until at last he was unable to leave his bed, and then passed quietly away.

He was not an old man, only fifty-seven years of age, but the stress and worry incidental to a man of large interests when Regina and indeed the whole prairie country was being proven, had left indelible marks upon him, which certainly contributed in no small degree to his comparatively early death.

The funeral services were held in St. Paul's church here, last Sunday, and a goodly procession of old time friends followed his body to the cemetery north of the city, where the continually increasing headstones, mark the resting places of all too many of the sturdy men who by their strenuous endeavor and kindling faith laid on the banks of the Wascana the foundations of a worthy city.

SIXTY PER CENT. INCREASE IN REGINA BUSINESS

For Month of May Thirty-six per cent. is Average Increase of Six Business Houses over Same Month Last Year--The West is told Interesting Tale of Progress

There has been some apprehension in the public mind during the past few months, lest the era of prosperity which the Canadian West has been enjoying for some time would be overshadowed to some extent at least by a temporary cloud of adversity, and as evidence of this the money market of the country was looked to as showing some indication in that direction. Upon enquiry, however, among the businessmen of the city, The West has obtained information which goes to show that Regina has not only been holding her own all through an inclement winter and somewhat late spring, but the wholesale and retail business has increased almost fabulously since the first of the year, and the month just closed shows a growth ranging from fifteen to sixty per cent over the same month a year ago.

These figures show that notwithstanding what some call a "tight" money market, caused largely by so much wheat being held throughout the winter, Regina's industries and her rich farming population surrounding the city have enable the business houses to enter upon the summer months with a comfortable feeling and the brightest prospects that the present year's business will in all cases far exceed last season, and in some instances double that of the last twelve months. A canvass of some of the city merchants show that while the lowest increase for the month of May over the same month last year was fifteen per cent., the highest was up to sixty per cent. The greatest story of progress was told by J. F. Bole of the Regina Trading Co., who states that their business since the first of January has averaged an increase of sixty per cent. each month over the same months a year ago. In March they did their biggest months business, and he looks for the summer trade to increase at the same proportion as the average since the first of the year. Mr. Bole thinks that the stories of hardship in this country during the winter were greatly exaggerated and that immigration has suffered to some extent, but that it has not affected the business of the country. W. J. Crosswell told The West that for one month this spring his receipts were $1000 over the same month a year previous. The Glasgow House, The McCarthy Supply Company, Pettigell & Vanvalkenburg, and the Canada Book and Drug Co. told the same story with respect to cash sales and there was no complaint whatever as to trade conditions, in fact there is the greatest optimism in business circles.

A prominent banker told The West that he placed the average daily cash expenditure in the city by the farming community at over $1000, which augments the general retail trade considerably.

Regina is fortunate, situate as it is the centre of a rich agricultural area, with the large industries giving annual employment to so many workers, there is always a great deal of money in continuous circulation.

With these conditions prevailing and with our population increasing and our industries expanding, the business status of Regina will continue to attract investors who wish to locate at the capital and industrial centre of Saskatchewan.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

Another stage has been reached with regard to the school question in this province. Nominations have taken place for the election of trustees for the first high-school board under the secondary education act passed during the last session, and the Catholics are maintaining their ground that the legislation creating these schools is ultra vires under the Saskatchewan act. They are not being represented on this board and it is likely that all Catholic residents of the city will refrain from voting on that occasion. Thus at the outset of our provincial career we are not a unit as citizens of Saskatchewan on the important matter of education, but as two religious factions, are pulling one against the other. The whole trouble originated, when members of the Scott government became a party to the Autonomy Act, the terms of which they are now violating, because it is unworkable in administration. The Catholics, however, are going to fight for the rights which they say are stipulated in the Saskatchewan Act.

It is claimed by the local government that the Autonomy Act guaranteeing separate schools to the Catholics, only refers to primary education and not to high schools which according to the bill, are public schools and for the support of which the Catholics and Protestants are taxed alike.

The Catholics contend that the School Ordinance of the North-West Territories provided for high school work being done in the Catholic schools, and they are insisting that the right to take up high school work cannot be revoked by subsequent provincial legislation, and they will claim their share of the High School funds.

That briefly is the situation as it now stands, and it will probably remain so until the taxes are levied against Catholic ratepayers under the provincial act for supplementing the revenues of the Crown. Then the situation will advance another stage if the minority does not in the meantime demand the establishment of a separate high school district. The attitude of the Catholics was first indicated when Aldermen Kramer and Kusch abstained from voting in the council on the high school bylaw. The absence of Catholic nominees as high school trustees, together with the intimation that they will refrain from voting in the election, plainly indicates that the fight is on and a test case is in sight.

The Scott Government juggled with this question in the legislature by passing a ridiculous resolution that has never got further than Ottawa, and they hoped later to further wriggle out of the difficulty but after two years they find themselves still in doubt whether the autonomy act is good or bad law. The government is thus surrounded on all sides, for their late allies, fearing local treachery, will fall back on the federal law. To find out what that means they will, however, have to go to the courts.

TAX IS UNJUST

When the bill supplementing the revenues of the crown, and the secondary education act were before the legislature, the opposition took very strong objection to the measures, and this opposition was well taken according to the reports reaching The West from certain districts where the farmers have not the required number of children to form a school district, and have to send their little ones into another district and pay the usual rate per day, while under the Scott government legislation they are taxed a cent an acre to contribute to that same district and also to maintain a university and high school in Regina and other places which are not taxed at all for the facilities of higher education.

In many of the new districts these are bachelors who would willingly pay taxes to help educate the children of the district, if there were enough children of school age to have such district organized, but there they have not the required number. The fathers of those children did not realize their position as keenly, till the passage of the legislation of the last session.

Mr. Haultain was right when he took such a determined stand on behalf of those who have not the facilities for primary education and who are taxed to support other districts and higher education in towns and cities which are exempt from this tax. The tax is an outrage and the farmers are beginning to realize that their friends are not on the government benches.

RUSH FOR LAND

Notwithstanding all that has been written about the long, cold winter and late spring Saskatchewan lands are still in demand, and the best evidence that the drawbacks of an occasional season fade into insignificance compared with the prevailing advantages of this country for homeseekers, is found in the recent clamor around the land offices at Regina, Alberta and Yorkton for the lands taken from the Deukobors and thrown open for settlement. Those who stand afar off and read of men of all nationalities, ranging in age from 18 to 70, sitting all night on the land office steps waiting their turn to make an entry in the morning for a free homestead, will no doubt wonder what attraction the prairies have for the thousands of people who are daily pouring into the country. The wondering man in doubt should, however, stop and think that as soon as the homesteads of western Canada are taken up there will be no more free prairie land on this continent. Those who want homes when this condition obtains will have to buy them at the current market prices, and many poor men will then be without homes of their own. Today is the working man's last opportunity, and he realizes it. To buy for ten dollars to-day what in three years will be worth five thousand dollars, is inducing homeseekers to come, and they will come till the land is all gone. Cold winters will not retard settlement so long as hard weather is followed by hard wheat, and there is no country out of doors that can compete with the Canadian west in wheat growing.

REAL LIFE TRAGEDY

Mabelle Gillman, the actress, during her whole experience on the stage never took such a part in tragedy as she is now playing in real life.

Corey, the steel magnate, is her dupe, and his divorced old wife is her victim.

The Corey-Gillman wedding has aroused strong sentiment and denunciation in New York, which shows an under current of healthy public sentiment.

The story from old Mrs. Corey's standpoint is very sad. In their early life and in poverty she and Ellis Corey were married and lived in a humble little cottage near the Bradock steel mills. Previous to their marriage she had saved up a few dollars which she spent on their home and through her frugality they were able to set a little aside monthly out of his wages.

Many a night her eyes grew weary patching his clothes, but he was succeeding well at the steel mills, and better times were promised them both. Subsequent success, however, made him a changed man. He gained in wealth and position, but became infatuated with an actress for whom he thrust aside the faithful woman who had shared his early trials and poverty. He broke the vow that he would be faithful "till death do us part," and the wife he first took to the altar is now so broken hearted that she refuses to see anyone. The success of her husband wrecked her life.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Vancouver dispatch says that the coast market is glutted with logs, as dozen of new camps were worked last winter and the output was enormously increased. In spite of this interesting fact the retail prices of lumber have advanced steadily this spring.

The seventeenth separate school of the North-West Territories was recently established at Lemburg in Wolsley constituency. This is the second separate school district formed in that constituency under the present government.

The necessity for legislation encouraging the destruction of coyotes is indicated by the formation of wolf bounty districts in Moose Jaw district, Saskatoon, Grenfell, Batoche, and Wolsley constituencies.

PRESS COMMENTS

(Estevan Mercury.)

It is eight months ago now since Sergeant ues Barnes received a gentle missive from Regina, intimating that his services as license inspector were no longer required. The rude shock hurt the sergeant's sensitive soul, and he has not yet recovered. He was appointed to the position by the late Haultain government, and he fancied that the incoming administration would be so unselfish as to leave him to the enjoyment of the snug job while its own friends went hungry.

EMMERSON PROTECTIONIST

Lady in Kimona goes to his Room and when Disturbed They go to Another Hotel—Higher Court must Decide Fredericton, N.B., May 30.—The scandal charge against Hon. H. B. Emerson out of which rose the big libel case which is now before the court here and is being given in full to the public.

The array of important legal talent that will be brought into the case is simply overpowering. Premiers and leaders of the Opposition, organizers, judges, mayors will be lined up before the court in a case that is bound to make history.

On the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, premier of New Brunswick, as leading counsel, and with him will be associated J. H. Barry, Esq., judge of probate; Mr. A. B. Copp, M.L.A., liberal organizer for the province; and Hon. A. S. White, former attorney general.

On the defense are Messrs. J. Douglas Hazen, K.C., M.L.A., leader of the provincial opposition; O.S. Crockett, M.P., and Harry F. MeLeod, mayor of Fredericton.

Emmerson's Story.

Mr. Emmerson when in the witness box said that he met two women at the hotel, Mrs. Allen, wife of a constable, and a friend of hers, Mrs. Buthnier. Mrs. Allen had come up from New Brunswick on his private car, as accommodation to a political supporter. He met them at the hotel during the day and had tea with them. Later in the night they came to his room for protection against insult, and he had given them money to pay their hotel bill, and had taken them to another hotel. The names were brought out in cross-examination during which the ex-minister denied that he met the women by appointment.

Cross Examination

Under cross examination, Mr. Emmerson stated that the Moncton women mentioned was Mrs. George C. Allen, wife of the general baggage agent of the I.C.R. Mrs. Buthnier, who got on at Lewis, was a friend of Mrs. Allen. He could not say he heard them while on the car say that they were to stop at the St. Lawrence Hall when they arrived in Montreal. When he saw the names of Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Buthnier on the register, he went to their room, accompanied by a bell-boy. It was 10.30 when they returned to the hotel from a restaurant.

It was midnight when he left the hotel with the women. He denied that a porter came to the women's room when he was there and found it in darkness, or they had been ordered to make less noise or they would be ejected.

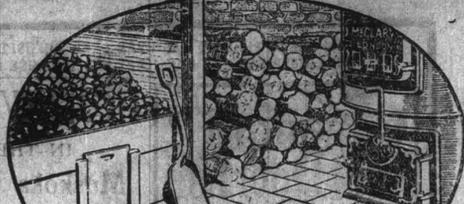

He gave one of the women money to pay his bill because he wished to finish dressing.

He did not know that one of the women wore a kimona.

They went to the Albion after leaving the St. Lawrence Hall, where they were assigned rooms without registering.

BURNS COAL OR WOOD

The Sunshine is a good, "all round" furnace. Burns, with equal facility, either coal or wood. Coke, too, if you prefer it.

And so perfect is the combustion of the Sunshine that it extracts every unit of heat from the fuel. What's left in the ash-pan is not worth sifting.

Sunshine consumes less fuel too. Because its perfect system of dampers prevent the escape of the hot air up the chimney—compels it to come out through the registers.

You pay for heating the inside—not the outside—of your house when you buy the Sunshine.

Manager Morse says Branch from Yorkton to Capital Will be the First Constructed Yorkton, June 4.—Dr. Cash, M.P., has returned from a trip to Winnipeg. He had an interview with President Morse, of the G.T.P., in which the latter stated that the Yorkton-Regina branch would be the first to be built.

He also stated that owing to the stringency of the American money markets many thousands of railway laborers in that country would be thrown out of employment and his road was making an effort to secure these. They have already employed a large number of these, and he thought if a sufficient number of these could be secured, the branch would be completed this year, but he would not make any definite statement.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Twenty cars of steel have arrived for the track on the Stoughton-Weyburn line in a few weeks.

AD. McPherson, provincial engineer of Regina, was in the city yesterday.

He visited the site of the traffic bridge and other points where government construction is in progress.

On June 1st, Lethbridge became a divisional point on the C.P.R. R.R.

Jamieson, superintendent of western lines and J. Lawrence, superintendent of district No. one, just created which comprises from Medicine Hat to Lethbridge made a flying trip to the latter place last week to arrange matters.

With the disagreement of the jury, the end was reached in a sensational libel case at Quebec between Esselin Oliver, editor of Le Nationaliste and Hon. Jean Provoost, minister of colonization and fisheries.

The foreman reported hopeless disagreement and the jury were dismissed. A writer in Le Soleil was fined $50 and costs for an article published during the trial.

Harry D. Dutton, a young Englishman, of means residing near Okotoks, while temporarily insane threw himself into Sheep Creek.

The rapid waters carried the body away and it has not yet been recovered. He had spent the last two days at Robert Crighton's. The latter, ordering his insanity was bringing him to the police at Okotoks. Dutton slipped away and before he could be prevented jumped into the creek.

THE SCHEME.

"The scheme presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the British government and the colonial conference embraced the idea of a 24 or 25 knot service from a British port to a Canadian port, a service to be given by vessels equal in equipment to any at present in existence. The project further involves an improvement of the railway service in Canada to such an extent as is necessary to make the shortest possible time across the continent from port to port. It further contemplates the improvement of the existing service on the Pacific by the establishment of an eighteen knot service from Vancouver to Australia and New Zealand, and a similarly fast service from Vancouver to Japan and China.

Canada on Highway.

"There can be no doubt that if this proposition is carried into effect it will be of vast benefit to the co-operating parties, and especially to the Dominion of Canada. There will not be a single province from Halifax to Vancouver that will not be largely benefited. It would place Canada on the main commercial highway of the world, and have the effect of introducing new capital and new industries, the extent of which at the present time is difficult to see. Those who are in a position to observe the trend of events at the present moment are of the opinion that there has been no time within the last ten years so opportune for carrying out a plan of this nature. The results of my observations lead me to the conclusion that if a persistent and determined effort were made a successful conclusion could be reached within a reasonable time."

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Twenty cars of steel have arrived for the track on the Stoughton-Weyburn line in a few weeks.

S. A. Pappins, chief engineer of C.P.R. tree culture, accompanied by W. Fleming, took a trip to Cypress Hills on Tuesday and selected seventy thousand pine and spruce for their experimental grounds here—Maple Creek Ranching News.

The coal commission finished hearing the coal miners of the prairie at Lethbridge on Saturday, and are now sitting at Frank, in the Crow's Nest Pass. General Manager Naim Smith of the Galt Co., before the commission stated that all coal consumers should purchase a supply during the summer months.

Robert Ambler Bruce, 107 years old, who is said to have been the oldest mason in the world, died in the city almshouse at Richmond, Va. He was a veteran of several wars and boasted of having seen Napoleon Bonaparte in 1817, claiming that Napoleon presented him with a cross of honor at St. Helena. He had travelled a great deal.

The shut down of all logging camps on June 15 was discussed at a meeting of the British Columbia Loggers' association. The trouble exists because of the over production of logs and a consequently falling market. Already there are many booms in the harbor seeking sale unsuccessfully. During the early spring when lumber was scarce a number of new camps were opened, with the result that logs are now a glut on the market.

A tour of inspection has been made by D. B. Hanna, third vice-president and H. H. McLeod, chief engineer of the Canadian Northern, over the Winnipeg Edmonton line. They were accompanied west by Mr. Hawkes of the Monetary Times, and Mr. and Mrs. Jameson, prominent Irish visitors. Mr. McLeod finds that the track is in very good condition, considering the exceptional winter, and trains are now running regularly. Much ballasting work will be done this summer, and the company are busy grading on the Brandon and Regina line.

Capt. Powell, of Fish Lake, was in town a day or two this week. He is of the opinion that the popular summer resort will be more largely occupied this summer than ever. He recommends the opening of the roads.

WELL REPRESENTED.

In respect to the conference itself, Mr. Sifton says that Canadians should be well satisfied with the results. All Canadians in London, he said, irrespective of their political affiliations, were of the unanimous opinion that Canada could not have been represented in a better manner. Upon every point of importance that came up for discussion Sir Wilfrid Laurier's opinion prevailed, with the one exception of the question of the colonial demand for a preferential trade policy, and on that point the attitude of the Canadian representative he thought, was unassailable, especially in view of the tariff policy on which the present British government was elected.

"What about the proposed Atlantic and Pacific fast steamship service?" was asked of Mr. Sifton.

"The question of an improved Atlantic service," he replied, "has been engaging the special attention of Lord Strathcona for several years, and shortly after I arrived in London where I was on private business, he invited me to co-operate with him in connection with it. I at once agreed to do so, regarding the subject as one of the greatest importance to Canada. A considerable amount of work had been done in connection with the matter before Sir Wilfrid arrived in London and he at once took it up with the members of the colonial conference. A resolution was passed by the colonial conference, which no doubt has been tabled to the Canadian press, but the resolution itself does not go into details."

THE SCHEME.

"The scheme presented by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the British government and the colonial conference embraced the idea of a 24 or 25 knot service from a British port to a

It further contemplates the improvement of the existing service on the Pacific by the establishment of an eighteen knot service from Vancouver to Australia and New Zealand, and a similarly fast service from Vancouver to Japan and China.

The service from Vancouver to Japan and China is about thirteen knots and it is contemplated to make a very substantial difference in time.

"How was the project received by Britain and the other colonies?" "The representatives of Australia and New Zealand strongly supported the proposition and intimated that their governments would be prepared to support it. So far as the Atlantic service is concerned it would involve the establishment of a new and independent steamship company, which must be independent of all railway companies and would therefore give equal facilities of service to passengers from all railways. It is believed that the British government views the project favorably. It could not be expected that so important a scheme, involving so large an amount of money could be decided at once. Sir Wilfrid Laurier however, anticipates a favorable decision to 120 feet to act as fire guards leading from Carlyle to the east end of the lake, and from Glen Adelaide to the west end. While in town he ordered a tent in which he will live during the summer at the west end of Fish Lake, where his eagle eye will be kept open for poachers.—Carlyle Herald.

A. D. McPherson, provincial engineer of Regina, was in the city yesterday.

He visited the site of the traffic bridge and other points where government construction is in progress. The sub-structure of the bridge will be commenced immediately and several additional carloads of material are expected every day.—Saskatoon Capital.

On June 1st, Lethbridge became a divisional point on the C.P.R. R.R.

In conversation with the West today Dr. Charlton stated that the cases of smallpox near Lumsden are doing well. The anti-toxin was supplied by the government. The impression was abroad that there was a delay in having the anti-toxin sent out, but this was done as soon as the government was notified. All precautions have been taken by the government to prevent the spreading of the disease.

The exhibition board are considering a special feature for the Regina fair. This will be an "old timers" day as this is Regina's 25th anniversary. There is no doubt that this would be very popular and would enlist general support, arouse a great deal of enthusiasm among the settlers and would bring back for the re-union many who have during late years moved to other parts.

The markets committee included the real estate men and insurance agents in the license bylaw, but Aldermen Peever and Gillespie raised strong objection and this matter was left over for further consideration. These gentlemen claim that the real estate interests would be better served by applying the floor space system of taxation, the same as for the general business houses.
