The Mule and the Man.

The mule—he is a great beast.
And so is man.
It's said he is the best;
And so is man.
Like man, he may be taught some tricks;
And so is man.
The mule—he has a load to pull;
And so is man.
Like man, he holds a patient pole;
And so is man.
The mule—he likes to hear his voice;
And so is man.
The mule—he has his faults; the man
Has none.

When the Rope Chafed Through.

Clyde Elcock was plug-drilling thirty feet below the brink of the Cedar Bluff Quarry, which is not far from the line-pit where Corridor, the "boss," had his narrow escape as told in "Under the Rock." He was putting in a "side winder." A side winder is a hole that slants upward, and can be made only by the swinging, under-hand stroke from which its name is derived. Although Clyde was hardly more than a boy, he could hand-drill faster than anybody else at the quarry, and that was why Cadwallader, the boss, chose him, when a spur of good rock had to be knocked off the western wall.

Swinging in his boss's chair, Clyde banged away while Elison Gardner laid the turn above. To make everything doubly safe, the rope had first been fastened to a wild cherry tree, and then passed round two crowsbars, driven deep into the ground, from which it ran down over the smooth edge of rock. The wall overhung somewhat, so that the surface of it was about two feet in front of Clyde, and he had to lean forward as he worked. He was using a two-foot drill and a four-pound hammer.

After he had been pounding about ten minutes, a little fragment of rock dropped on his head. Clyde thought that the man above had tossed it over for a joke.
"Quit that!" he exclaimed.
"I'm not doing anything," replied Elison.
"The line must have scraped off a piece."
Bang! bang! bang! Bravely, although slowly, the steel sank into the stubborn cliff. It was warm work, for the wall baked under the July sun, and its glare was reflected into Clara's eyes. His head grew hot under his old straw hat. He would have given a good deal for a drink from the cold spring welling out of the quarry bottom a hundred and fifty feet beneath him. But the hole must be finished first, deep enough for the charge of dynamite that was to lift off the several tons of bluff.

Clyde's right hand swung the hammer; his left held the drill, constant turning. He put his whole strength and strength into each biting stroke, heedless of the gulf over which he hung. He was as heavy as the average man, and his vigorous efforts set the rope swaying; but it would have supported four times his weight.
It ran through holes near the ends of the board on which he sat, passed round his body under his arms, was fixed in front, and then double-knotted just above his head for additional security. He felt as safe as if he were on solid ground. As the best part went further, he had to lean well forward, the rope rubbing against the inside of his arms. The hole was now

Why Not Be Well and Strong
When weak and run down Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will help you back to health.
"This letter tells of two women who have proven this."
Mrs. B. B. Coburn, Ont., writes: "I was left in a very low state of health. I was weak, nervous and not fit to do any work. A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD and told me that it benefited her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of the medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in my health and now after using four boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
Life is too short to spend weeks or months dragging out a miserable existence of weakness and suffering. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures by forming new rich blood and building up the system. You can depend on it to rebuild you, so cents a box, 5 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

two inches deep, and it had begun to go very slowly. Clyde felt pretty tired. Pulling out the drill, he examined the point of it critically. Yes, without question it was a case for the blacksmith.

"Above there!" he called out. "Send down the other drill!"
"Here you are!" responded Elison, and promptly, "Here you are!"
Down over the bluff on a cord line climbed a fresh bar of steel. Utlying H. Clyde pushed it into the opening, and fastened the dull one on the cord.
"Take that over to Jerry and ask him to put it up sharp," he directed.
"All right, are you?" asked Elison.
"Yes," Clyde answered. "Have Jerry take time enough to do a good job."

Elison made a final examination of the rope, to satisfy himself that it could not slip. Then he started for the blacksmith shop on the other side of the quarry, just behind the boiler-house.
The new drill in the quick work, its keen point biting deep into the brittle rock. Clyde raised his brows on its "unassisted" head with renewed vigor. The dust spurted out and sprang back down the cliff. A dust was perfectly quiet. He was not comfortable, but he could endure it, if he were only sure that the steel would stick.

All at once a shiver of horror ran through him. The drill was pulling out! It moved, not more than a few centimeters possibly, but it moved. His fingers told him so. His glance sought the lower edge of the hole. Tiny particles were splitting off and falling. Out ran a little trickle of coarse dust and sifted down into his eyes.
Clyde had never realized before that his sense of sight was so acute. His gaze was glued on the rock directly under the bar. He noticed a minute red bar crawling across the rough wall. His eye caught the sparkle of a single crystal. His senses were benumbed with fear, yet painfully alive.

Overhead the thud of running feet stopped short. Voices spoke, low and hurriedly. Elison had regained his post; apparently three or four others were with him. But the rope must be untied from the tree and allowed to run round the crowsbars before enough of it would slip down for the charge that impended.

Drill in left hand, hammer in right, Clyde sat, frozen with terror. Then he came to himself, and a natural instinct made him yell for help. He did not cry out more than twice, for the same instinct made him realize that no help could reach him before the stranda gave way; but his lungs were strong, and before his second shout had died huskily away there was not a man about the quarry who did not understand his terrible peril.
The straining rope held Clyde's gaze. Had there been one chance in a hundred of its holding, he would have tried to climb hand over hand. But there was no time for that now. It was too far gone, and any movement on his part would only make it snap the sooner. He would be on the bottom with every bone in his body shattered before Elison or anybody else could get half-round the quarry.

He slender hold on life was weakening fast; it was easy to see that. A fresh strand parted before his horrified eyes, and curled out like the tendril of a vine. The chair sank sickeningly. His brain traversed the possibilities with lightning speed. No hope, no chance.
Yes! One chance, and one alone. The drill! That little round orifice, gaping two feet below his face! But he must be quick. He had not three seconds more, barely time for one attempt. If he should miss his aim! With a sudden swing of his left arm he snatched the drill at the open hole. The steel had not penetrated half its length into the rock when with a last gasp the rope gave way and dropped on his head and shoulders. The thing could not have been clearer. Clyde dropped his hammer; he did not follow it with his eyes, but a clang far below told that it had struck bottom; all that interested him just now was that square inch of rock with the steel head projecting from it. Both his hands closed tight round the drill. If it had stuck in a few inches farther he could not have got hold of it; if a few inches less, it would not have had purchase enough to support him.

There he hung, the rope and board of the boatswain's chair fastened to his body and increasing his weight. The hole was the length of his arms above his face. It was but little more than twelve inches deep, and not horizontal, but slanting slightly upward. It was somewhat larger than the drill, which stuck loosely in it.
The young quarryman was tormented by a dread that the bar would slip, the weight sagging down on its head, hold its point up against the top of the hole, and dragged its middle down on the lower lip. Friction alone, the mere pressure of the steel against the rock, was what kept it from pulling out. How long could he be constant on that?

Far beneath, Clyde heard an excited murmur of voices. Feet were beating a tattoo on the path round the edge of the quarry behind him. Elison was coming, and others, too. But he dared not look back or down. His slightest movement might dislodge the drill. Every last item of his energy was devoted to keeping perfectly quiet. He was not comfortable, but he could endure it, if he were only sure that the steel would stick.

All at once a shiver of horror ran through him. The drill was pulling out! It moved, not more than a few centimeters possibly, but it moved. His fingers told him so. Had Bad Sore Four Years

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT!
Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer for four years!"
"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good so I purchased a further supply."
"Each box did me more and more good, and to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!"
"I know a lady in the east of the city whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day when I saw her she told me it had healed the sore completely."
"My daughter who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."
"Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ring-worms, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases. 30c. box, all druggists and stores, or post free in case of letters direct to the Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

Wonderful Financiers.

Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth financier, was talking about New York office boys who, working for brokers, speculated on the tips they picked up and accumulated fortunes of $10,000, $50,000 and $50,000.
"The twentieth century office boy is a wonderful creature," said Mr. McWade, admiringly. "He is so clever, so daring and, above all, so honest."
"A few years ago I had an office boy named Jasper. One day I sent Jasper out to buy me a postcard. I have never seen him since."
"But, sir, you don't call that honest?" cried the reporter.
"Yes—listen," said Mr. McWade. "Last month I received a postcard containing these words:
"Dear Sir,—Here is your postcard. I started speculating with the penny you gave me to buy it, and an now worth $47,000. Thank you!"

RED ROSE TEA

An American who was entertaining a distinguished English gentleman was showing his visitor round Newport.
You observe, remarked the host, that when we Americans devote ourselves to pleasure we do so regardless of expense.
"I'd hardly put it that way, responded the witty foreigner. Rather you devote yourself to expense regardless of pleasure."
Lame back is one of the most common forms of muscular rheumatism. A few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment will give relief. For sale by all dealers.

More rest in your tea-cup!

More smack in its delicious enjoyment!

At last, expensive study of flavor-blending has perfected a fullness, a richness, a smoothness of flavor that was once thought impossible.

Why it was thought impossible one sip of a cup of King Cole Tea will tell you. It is so much nicer, so far more satisfying in the grateful fullness of its flavor than any tea you ever tasted.

King Cole tea is flavor-fuller.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N.S., OCT. 6, 1911.

The New Prime Minister.

Canada's next Premier, Robert Laird Borden, is not only a Nova Scotian, but he is a true Canadian, and a man of whom his country and the Empire will in future have better reason to be proud than it has even to-day.

He was born at Grand Pre, this county, June 26th, 1854, and educated first at Acadia Villa. He was called to the bar in 1878, and made Honorary LL. D. of Queen's University in 1903, and of St. Francis Xavier in 1905. He was elected to the House of Commons for Halifax in 1896, 1900, 1904 and 1908, and once only, in 1904 met with a defeat but was afterward given a seat in Carleton.

He was elected leader of the opposition February 6th, 1901, holding the position until he was elected to be prime minister. He is a member of the Church of England, honest, prudent, wise and progressive. He has always borne himself with dignity, and is devoid of the craft of the politician. The people of this, his native county, are naturally proud of Mr. Borden, and in no other part of Canada will his career as prime minister be followed with so much of interest as here.

An American Opinion.

That some American journals are able to understand and interpret Canadian sentiment and feeling much better than some of our Liberal journals at home is well illustrated by the following article from the editorial columns of one of New York's sanest papers, the New York Evening Post:—

"Thursday's general election in Canada is one of those political events which bulk large on the instant and of which the far-reaching significance grows as one reflects upon them.

"That it was the voice of the Canadian nation that spoke at the polls there can be no question. No mere partisan management, no amount of artificial clamor, no effort by special interests, can account for such a startling political upheaval.

"Wholly unexpected in any such magnitude, by the press or by newsmongers or by the politicians of either party, it witnesses to a deep and pervasive feeling among the great masses of Canadian citizens who said very little but who voted in such decisive fashion.

"Nor is there any mistaking the nature of this feeling.

"It is that of national pride and national self-confidence.

"To all the evidences of this which Canada has given in recent years, she has now added the crowning demonstration of her desire and determination to work out her own destinies for herself.

"The Liberals who have hitherto appeared as an entangling dependence upon her powerful neighbor to the south, whether we think it like it or not, whether we think it a mistake or not, there stand the fact that the electors of 8,000,000 people yesterday declared the national will."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The announcement by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that he will stay at his post as leader of the Liberal party in the house will not only please the Liberals of the country but will be accepted in a friendly spirit by the Conservatives and particularly Conservative members in the house who have sat in the last two or three parliaments. Moreover, the government of the country will be the better helped with Sir Wilfrid in the house rather than with him out.

Whatever form the next movement from Sir Wilfrid may take, whether it be for absolute free trade with Great Britain or for an all round lowering of the tariff to meet the increasing cost of living, the fact will stand out that with the ex-premier in the house in opposition, discussion in all the phases of tariff management will be settled with a greater degree of certainty than we get the best and the most effective service from both political parties. The country is committed to a protective policy, and in view of the recent vote, it is hardly likely that the ex-premier or his colleagues in the house would give expression to views contrary to the expressed will of the people. Therefore, it is to be expected that the voice of Sir Wilfrid and other Liberal members of the house will be raised with the object of getting the best results from the protective system.

For that reason and other, the presence of the ex-premier and his colleagues should rather assist than retard the work of the Borden government in carrying out the will of the people.

An Order-in-Council has been passed proclaiming Monday, October 30th, as a day of general thanksgiving throughout Canada for the providential blessings of the past year. Truly we have much for which to be thankful—grand returns from orchard and field—a prosperous country—and freedom from many ills that make life so burdensome in some lands. Canada is a highly favored land—the land of the tree and the home of the brave—free because of the fact that its citizens have absolute freedom to worship God according to the dictates of conscience; and when a man is respected, he is among the poorest, so long as he possesses those traits of character which mark the true man. Yes, it should not only be our duty but also our privilege to render public thanks to Him who gives seed time and harvest, and the many blessings which we enjoy in progress and God-blessed Canada.

Town Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the Council was held on Wednesday evening with Mayor Harvey in the chair and Couns. Chambers, Hales, Regan, Haycock and Sleep present.

The Streets Committee reported that the appropriation for streets construction is now about exhausted, and asked for authority to go on and complete the street already graded to Highland avenue.

The Finance Committee reported receipts during the month of Sept. $409.11 and expenditures $1677.44. The debit bank balance on Sept. 30th was $3228.47. The auditors' report and balance sheet was also read showing the finances of the town to be in a healthy condition.

The following accounts were read and ordered to be paid:—

- Arthur Roberts.....$ 4.50
O. E. Prestwood..... 1.00
Carrite-Patterson Mfg. Co. 65.10
Imperial Oil Co..... 8.01
Rebecca Gould..... 12.00
C. M. Gormley..... 2.50
Petty Cash..... 4.95
Truro Houndry & Machine Co. 28.00
Acadia Electric Light Co. 44.00

It was decided that the work on Main street be finished as far as graded out and the Mayor suggested that a public meeting be held as soon as possible to give the citizens an opportunity to express themselves on the matter of continuing the work next season.

Mr. G. M. Peck appeared before the Council on behalf of citizens of the upper part of Highland avenue, and gave the results of a survey made to determine if dwellings in that vicinity can be supplied with water from the present town system. The elevation being so near to that of the reservoir it is not likely that this can be arranged, and some other means will likely have to be adopted.

The matter of street lighting came in for a thorough discussion when Coun. Haycock suggested that in view of the number of dwellings erected during the past season on Summer street a light should be placed on that street. It was urged by several speakers that this system should be made much more effective than at present.

Constipated Children.

Constipation in children is the surest sign of danger—the most convincing signal that baby is going to be ill. Constipation leads to actual illness more suffering in little ones than any other trouble. To keep baby well his little stomach must be kept sweet and his bowels regular—Baby's Own Tablets will do that—they will do it safely, surely and without pain or gripping. Concerning them Mrs. S. O. Braaten, Bergland, Ont., says:—

"My baby was bothered almost continually with his stomach and bowels and was greatly constipated. Baby's Own Tablets quickly relieved him and I would not use any other medicine." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at agents, a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Editorial Notes.

William Randolph Hearst has savagely attacked the Canadian people for their refusal to endorse reciprocity. Had it not been for Hearst in the Canadian end of the fight, the Liberal defeat might not have been so crushing.

His Excellency Earl Grey, Countess Grey and the Ladies Sybil and Evelyn Grey will sail for England Oct. 13th. Passage has been booked for the vice-regal party on board the Allan liner Victoria, sailing from Montreal to Liverpool Friday, Oct. 13.

It is now estimated that the west will gain 27 seats in parliament, as the result of the new census, instead of 20 as expected. Nova Scotia will lose 2 seats; New Brunswick 3 and P. E. Island, one; Quebec, of course, will remain as it is. Ontario will hold her own in number of seats.

Few people have any idea what an incentive it is to both teacher and scholar to know that parents and outsiders are taking a lively interest in their work. We believe the 'little folks' at school appreciate such interest more, perhaps, than the larger ones. Until the school is not lost on any of them, and we hope every parent will take a bit from this and place the public school on their visiting list.

Death's Harvest. The death occurred at her home at Black River on Wednesday of last week of Miss Alice Delight Peck, a young lady well known and highly esteemed. Miss Peck was for some time a resident of Wolfville and by her noble Christian character and faithful performance of duty won the respect of a host of friends.

THE ACADIAN recalls with deep sorrow the death of Lloyd V. Margeson, B.A., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Margeson, of Berwick, which occurred at the home of his parents on Thursday of last week, after an illness of some weeks.

The deceased was a member of last year's graduating class at Acadia. He entered the work of the ministry church at Seaburn. His health failed and he was obliged to give up his work and returned to his home, hoping by rest to regain his strength.

Mr. Margeson was one of Acadia's brightest graduates and a general favorite at college. He was a good speaker in inter class debates and was a valued member of the editorial staff of the Acadia Athenaeum. A clever and popular young man his early death is to be regretted. The sorrowing parents and family have our sincere sympathy. Mr. J. W. Margeson, M.L.A. of Bridgewater, is a brother of the deceased.

In his infancy he's an angel. In his boyhood a devil. In his manhood a fool. In his old age he's a beggar. If he raises a cheque he's a thief, and the law raises Cain with him. If he's poor he's a pauper and has no sense. If he's rich he's dishonest but considered smart. If he's a politician he's a grater and a crook. If out of politics an undesirable citizen. After Effects of Fever.

HOW TO BUILD UP HEALTH AND STRENGTH AFTER WASTING DISEASES.

When the system is run down following attacks of fever, influenza, or other wasting diseases, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are of special value. They make new, rich blood, which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, and in this way restore the patient to active health and strength. In proof of this we give the case of Mrs. James Randall, Silverstream, Sask., who says:—'I feel that if there is anybody who ought to testify to the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills it is myself. About four years ago I was taken down with typhoid fever which left me in a very weak state and my stomach so impaired that even a drink of milk would cause me pain. To make matters worse the change of life followed, and although I was under the care of one of our best doctors, I was steadily growing worse. Before I was sick I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but thought 'no more about them. But now when I was sick and helpless and almost hopeless, and with no benefit coming from medical treatment, I kept thinking of the Pills and finally decided to try them. I did so and I am thankful to be able to say that they restored me to health and strength, and enabled me to pass through that trying period from which so many poor women emerge with shattered health. I hope that many other poor sufferers may read this statement and take fresh courage from it, as I am sure that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me they will do for others. I may add that I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the home, and feel that they are better than a doctor.'

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Mr. Fearon, the Principal of the School for the Deaf at Halifax, would be grateful to any persons who would let him know the names and addresses of the parents of any deaf children who may reside in their neighborhood. There are throughout the Maritime Provinces many children, not totally deaf, but yet so hard of hearing that they cannot take due advantage of the instruction offered in the ordinary school. Such children should be sent to the school in Halifax where their speech as well as their hearing would receive the most careful attention and be improved.

This school offers free board and education to all deaf children in the Maritime Provinces, the parents being only called upon to provide clothing and pay travelling expenses.

Chambers' busy store presented a gay scene on Thursday and Friday of last week. New hats seemed to be the drawing attraction and in the color schemes and smartness they certainly merit the praise of the most fastidious. Helmet shaped hats seem to be strong leaders for the plain suit hat, while quantities of velvet and beaver made up with soft marabout and gay plumes are for more dressy occasions.

In ribbon stripes seemed to be the leading feature. Very pretty effects were obtained by the use of gold cord and gilt trimming, giving the hat a soft richness.

TO the Public

If we allow on Sunday the moving of freight by the Railway, as has been done of late, may we not expect to see the loading of cars, the hauling of apples to load cars and the gathering of same, and then good bye Sunday? We may have gained a more efficient railway service and a more rapid trading of fruit, but lose our Sabbath. Can we allow this exchange? REST DAY.

Gleaned by the Way.

Though the world may owe every man a living, only the persistent collector gets it.

Teacher—Now, Johnny, you may compare the world 'late'.

Johnny (bright newsboy)—Late, last edition, extra.

The best plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much.

Blotbs—I never knew a woman so changeable as Mrs. Dashaway.

A Word of Gratitude. 'Tis justice to humanity I want to tell you that I was a great sufferer from itching piles, and have found Dr. Chase's Ointment the best treatment obtainable.

He thinks he's popular, eh? Rather! Why, whenever his name appears in the paper he fancies the public read it this way: 'John (cheers) Henry (applause) Muggin (loud and continuous cheering).'

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Teacher—Well, Johnny, did you find out what 'omem' is? Johnny—Yes, ma'am. I asked papa and he said 'omem' was something that caused man a lot of trouble if it had a 'w' before it.

Nothing Like it for Colds. Mrs. Holland Ferguson, Sheffield, N.B., writes 'Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine has cured my children and myself of severe colds. We are never without it in the house. There is nothing like it for colds and throat trouble, and it is so soothing and pleasant to take, my children would drink a whole bottle if they were permitted.'

Edith (aged three for the first time noting the new moon)—Oh, look at the star.

Herbert (aged five)—No that is not a star. That's just what is left over from last night's moon.

Benton Harbor Man—It's too bad your town has gained less than 300 in population during the last ten years.

St. Joe Man—You bet it is! When you come to think that we hold the world's record as a marrying centre it's a darned shame!

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

The new fireman was telling his wife about the fire.

It broke out at midnight in the Von Bliffers' house on the avenue, he said, and just as we got there Miss Von Bliffer came stumbling out of the flames and smoke, carrying her little niece all wrapped up in her arms. It was the bravest act I ever saw done.

What was she wearing? Inquired the fireman's wife.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children.

The Kid You Always Bought Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson.

An Irishman, who had returned from a visit to the old country, was telling a friend of the sights that had impressed him.

'But the funniest of all is their little telephone,' he said. 'It's a square little instrument that you put up to your face, was end to your ear and was to yer mouth; and then ye say, 'Are ye there?' and the fellow at the other end answers ye or no—as the case may be.'

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

'My dear,' said the conscientious wife to her husband, 'really you should not be so extravagant in your statements.'

'Before the children you told Mr. and Mrs. Sayso that when your grandfather got a cold in his chest he would cough so hard that his hair fell off. Now, what sort of regard for the truth will our children have if they hear their father telling such—'

'That didn't you know that my grandfather wore a wig?'

More Than Enough is Too Much. To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat.

Bitter experience is a wonderful teacher. No doubt the young lady of whom ideas tell had often been told that she ought to wear glasses, but had neglected, or refused to do so.

There was a most determined look in her eye, however, as she marched into the optician's shop.

I want a pair of glasses immediately, she said. Good, strong ones, I won't be without them for another day!

Good, strong ones? Yes, please. I was out in the country yesterday, and I made a very painful blunder, which I have no wish to repeat.

Indeed! Mistook an entire stranger for an old friend, perhaps? No, nothing of the sort. I mistook a bundle-bearer for a blackberry.

A PRACTICAL EXAMPLE.

Example of the Effect of Competition with Australia.

On March 18th last, 750 carcasses of frozen lamb from Australia were landed at St. John, N. B. 250 carcasses were sent to the William Davies Co., Limited, Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound. These made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

Under existing conditions the duty was three cents per pound. These made the lamb cost twelve cents per pound laid down in Toronto.

The duty protected the Canadian farmer against the Australian product.

But under Reciprocity the duty on this frozen lamb will be only 1-1/2c. per pound, to that similar shipments would be laid down in Toronto at 10-1-1/2c. per pound, two or three cents per pound cheaper than the price for the home raised product.

Referring to the lambs which were sent to Montreal. When they reached Montreal the Canadian lamb was selling at 10-1-1/2c. The Australian lambs were sold at 9-1-1/2c. delivered ex car.

Montreal duty paid, the lambs apparently being contained to undersell the Canadian market by one cent per pound.

Now, if you wish to see the effect upon the live stock market of the receipt of this Australian lamb in Montreal, turn up the Montreal papers of March 20th, in one of which, for example, the Montreal 'Evening Star' Lower in Local Markets.

If, with the three cents duty on every pound, frozen lamb can be profitably imported from Australia, it seems almost conclusive that reducing the duty will also reduce the price of Canadian lamb accordingly.

And not only does Australia export frozen meat, but it exports butter as well. It exports annually between fifty and seventy-five million pounds of butter.

An Australian butter can be laid down now in bond at Montreal at 23c. per pound. A duty of four cents per pound keeps it out of competition with the Eastern Townships butter now selling at 26c. per pound.

THE REVIVAL OF THE CAMEO

Antique Shops of Europe Doing Good Business.

An early Victorian fashion revival is the cameo, which is being worn on hats or for clasping the belt at the waist or even at the wrist.

It is made of a translucent material, pink and creamy tints of these ornaments are considered wonderfully becoming and as the finishing touch to white evening gowns they are looked upon as indispensable at the present moment.

Jade, too, which has been out of favor for years, has come back into fashion and is to be seen ranging in tint from darkest green to pure white.

A GREAT CAPTAIN OF INDUSTRY Words of Louis Stevenson Form the Keynote of Great Career.

'To travel hopefully is better than to arrive, and the true success is in the journey.'

By Robert Louis Stevenson, hang above the desk of Mr. H. Gordon Selridge, the head of the enormous store in Oxford Street, London, who was recently the victim in a motor smash.

They provide the keynote of the character of the man who, starting life as a shop-sweeper, made such good use of his opportunities that, by the time he was thirty, he was partner in the Marshall Field store in Chicago—a store which has earned joint fortunes for its owners amounting to over $500,000,000.

Mr. Selridge had retired from business, when, growing tired of a life of idleness, he turned his eyes towards London and ultimately founded the huge business in Oxford street.

OLDEST RULER OF EUROPE

Prince Regent of Bavaria Ninety years of age.

The oldest ruler in Europe is the Prince Regent of Bavaria, upon whom on the occasion of his nineteenth birthday, recently, King George conferred the Order of the Garter. He has had the unique experience of acting as regent of that country during the minority of two kings. Twenty-five years ago the Prince Regent's nephew, King Louis II. of Bavaria, was demented insane, and the Prince was proclaimed regent. Three days later the king committed suicide, and was succeeded by King Otto, who is now sixty-three years of age, and who has been insane since 1875. The Prince is extremely popular in Bavaria on account of his sporting proclivities.

Whole Wheat Bread. London doctors interested in the nutritive value of foodstuffs have issued a document in which they recommend the use of whole meal in making bread instead of fine white flour.

It is maintained that there are in the whole loaf two and one-half times the amount of mineral substance that nourish the body.

A Big Maine Salmon.

What is supposed to be the largest landlocked salmon ever taken with hook and line from a Maine lake or pond was caught Saturday morning at Greene Lake by Luther Moore, an employee of the United States Government fish hatchery, and weighed sixteen and a half pounds.

Nothing to equal this for a salmon has ever been heard of in Eastern Maine, and so far as known now it is the biggest on record.

One Bangor man said Sunday that he had heard of one with hook and line at Greene Lake, but that was in the dim and misty past.—Kennebec Journal.

'And I accept you,' she asked, 'does the same thing hold good?'

ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

And find out if you have kidney disorders—And make this test.

Have you pains in the back over the kidneys? Have you urinary disorders? Do you suffer from severe headaches, dizziness or defective eyesight? Is the skin dry and harsh? Are you falling in health and strength and suffering from rheumatic pains or swelling of the limbs? These are a few of the symptoms of kidney disease, and here is the test.

If the urine after standing for twenty-four hours is cloudy, milky or has particles floating about in it, or if there is a sediment in the bottom of the vessel, your kidneys are diseased.

There is no time to lose in beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will help you more quickly than any treatment you can obtain, and that is one reason why they are so successful and popular.

Our White Ribbon.

Only a knot of ribbon, a tiny bow of white. But it stands for God and heaven and everything that's right.

It stands for home and country, and all that's good and true. And they who gladly wear it, the Master's work will do.

It tests on hearts determined, what ever comes or goes. To purify our Nation and fight our deadly foes.

It urges on to victory, knows not the word 'defeat'. Entreats those who wear it, their God in prayer to meet.

We prize thee, knot of ribbon, we love thee, bow of white. That stands for home and country, and everything that's right.

School Banks.

The following is a letter, the New Glasgow W. C. T. U., Nova Scotia, sent to the parents through the school children—the outcome of Mrs. MacGregor's initial efforts as superintendent of this important department of work:

A LETTER TO PARENTS. The W. C. T. U. has, during the past year, been considering the advisability of starting savings banks in our public schools.

We have noticed with regret the amount of money wasted in candy, chewing gum and cheap amusements. Those who live near any of the school buildings have noted also the extravagance in scribbles and all school books, as these streets are often strewn with their refuse.

The daily expenditure of these amounts may seem small, yet the year's aggregate will probably be astonishing. Childhood is the time to begin to teach thrift and the true value of money, and here the school bank comes to the aid of both parents and teachers.

The method in use in other places where the banks have been established is very simple. Every Monday morning the child brings to the teacher whatever he or she has earned or saved during the week, and the amount is credited on a card kept by the child. After the deposit amounts to three or five dollars (as the bank may agree) the child is given a book by the bank which receives the deposits, and is allowed the current rate of interest. The money cannot be withdrawn by the child without the consent of the parents.

One of the prominent educators of Halifax tells of a boy in one of the city schools who had saved enough money to take him through D'Israeli College.

We ask the parents to consider the matter carefully, as their hearty cooperation is necessary to make the scheme effective.

What a Pass-Book Revealed.

A pass book belonging to a poor man was picked up in the streets of Toledo Ohio, recently, in which an account was kept of the man's current expenses for himself and family. The item covered a period of
