THE police and banking authorities fear that a huge counterfeiting industry is located somewhere in Canada, according to a despatch from Ottawa. For some months past fraudulent notes have been turning up at banks all over the country, and their circulation seems to be growing. Hundreds of them are being presented at banks in good faith. Most of the fraudulent notes seem to be Dominion ones and twos, and Bank of Nova Scotia and Bank of Montreal five dollar notes. Secret service men throughout the Dominion are working on the case.

WHILE the Post Office Department is multiplying rural mail routes the officials are casting about to make them self-supporting in some way and have hit upon the plan of raising the postage on all letters posted on these routes. Last week the following new departmental regulation was promulgated "The rate of postage applicable to letters mailed at any post office for delivery on a rural mail route starting from that post office is two cents for each ounce, and this rate applies to letters mailed on a rural mail route for delivery either on that route or at the local post office."

THE regular meeting of the woman's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Cook on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13th. Twelve members and four visitors were present. Meeting commenced by singing the "Maple Leaf." Roll call answered by a quotation from Dickens. It was moved and seconded that we help maintain a cot at Weston for the Consumptive Children's Hospital. The program was as follows: Mrs. J. Bryson also gave a paper, on apples and their value, giving many different ways of using them; Miss Myrtle Williamson gave two recitations, which were much appreciated by all present; Miss I. Cook played an instrumental on the piano. Meeting closed by singing God Save the King. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas Dodds, secretary.

Kent county is thinking of installing municipal telephones in all the rural public schools, as a step toward preventing criminals escaping through the county after they have committed some depredation. In case a theft occurred the police could telephone to all the schools of the theft and the teacher would announce it to the pupils and they in turn would tell their parents. In this way the news would be sent broadcast in a remarkably short space of time and there would be little danger of the culprit escaping.

A distasteful piece of vandalism was enacted Wednesday night of last week when some unknown parties entered the rear door of the Agricultural Hall, Alvinston, and maliciously, with an axe or some other instrument, smashed in the heads and staves of about a dozen barrels of apples belonging to Mr. Johnson, proprietor of the evaporator, which he had stored there prior to shipping. As the apples were not removed, the motive for such an act of vandalism is unknown. Every effort is being made by the authorities to locate the guilty parties.

Presbyterian W. F. M. S.

Annual Meeting in the Presbyterian Church Largely Attended.

The 25th annual meeting of the Sarnia Presbyterian W. F. M. S. was held in Watford Nov. 14 and 15, the President, Mrs. Kammawin, in the chair. The keynote to the opening words was "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." The most important part of the meeting was the address by Dr. Margaret MacKellar, who is on furlough from Uemuch, India where she has been engaged in Hospital and Dispensary work for 22 years. During the recent Durbar in Delhi, Dr. MacKellar was one of two majesties who was invited by their majesties to be their guest for ten days, and was presented by King George with a medal in recognition of her service to India. The Presbyterian Church in Canada is justly proud of Dr. MacKellar. She spoke of India's millions who bound by caste and superstition, and made a plea for more workers.

At the evening session, Rev. W. M. Kammawin presided and Rev. A. E. Armstrong, assistant F. M. Sec'y, gave a stirring address. Mr. Armstrong has the work well in hand and his address was very instructive. A former Sec'y of the Society, Miss Brebner, of Sarnia, has gone to Central India to engage in Mission work.

Scheme for School Gardens.

The Prince Albert, Sask., Daily Herald of the 9th inst., has the following paragraph referring to a Watford boy:—

"A. R. Brown, of Crystal Springs, and business manager of the school gardens committee of the Carrot River Valley teacher's association, is visiting in the city. It is understood from Mr. Brown that the organization he represents has on hand a big scheme for the school garden exhibition which will be open to the pupils of all schools in that district. The exhibits will include flowers, vegetables and fruits of all descriptions and will be conducted precisely on the lines of the school garden association. It is proposed to hold this at Kinstino next September, and between $300 and $400 has already been subscribed toward the scheme."

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS

Guide-Advocate

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS. WATFORD, NOVEMBER 22, 1912.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

There's only one cure for present conditions. Make men better. That's the mission of the church. The whole church must preach a whole gospel its whole time, in its whole strength, with its whole faith, to the whole world.

It is interesting to note that deposits in Canadian banks, not including deposits elsewhere, have increased in one year to the extent of upwards of $125,000,000, while current commercial loans in Canada have increased $110,800,000 in the same period.

A British M.P., on his return from a visit to Canada, says Canadians are too fond of pleasure seeking. "The desire to get rich quick seems to pervade Canada and it is ten times more difficult for religious work to make progress there than in England."

Winter has its joys. The flies are gone, and the mosquitoes no longer present their bills. The laugh of the ice man is stilled, and the dust no longer blows across your Brussels carpet. The buzz wagon is sleeping, and the bicycle ceases to knock you off the sidewalk. The chickens do not roost in your flower garden, and the summer girl does not hold you up for the ice cream.

Prof. Zephaniah Hopper, dean of the faculty of the Boys' Central high school, Philadelphia, is still teaching, though at the age of 88 years. It is believed he has set a record which will not be easily approached for a long time, for he has been teaching in the Philadelphia schools for seventy years. While showing small trace of a breakdown, Prof. Hopper fears that he may soon have to resign.

Boys with hats on the back of their heads and long hair hanging down over their foreheads and cigarettes and very smutty stories in their foul mouths are cheaper than old worn out work horses. Nobody wants them at any price. Men don't employ them and sensible girls won't marry them. They are not worth their keeping to anybody and it is not likely that they will be able to keep themselves. If anybody should happen to read this who answers to the above description, let him take a look at himself and jump in a well and say: "Here goes nothing."

Officials of the House of Commons are now preparing for the opening of Parliament on November 21st. No session for years has excited so much interest, and already the gentleman usher of the black rod is being overwhelmed with applications for tickets for the floor and dress galleries. Many are coming from the west to attend the opening, and the drawing-room hotel reservations are already being made for the anticipated crowd. The opening promises to be an unusually brilliant affair. Politicians are looking forward to the liveliest and most important session since the famous session of 1896 and there promises to be some momentous debates. Both sides are in fighting trim and are already preparing for a red-hot session.

The American people are drinking more whiskey and beer and smoking more cigars and tobacco than at any previous time, according to the U. S. tax returns. From July 1st to October 1st, 1912, more than 3,800,000,000 cigarettes were smoked, an increase of 1,000,000,000 over the corresponding period of the previous year. The nation consumed 34,150,000 gallons of whiskey during July, August and September, an increase of 450,000 gallons as compared with that quarter in 1911, while nearly 1,850,000 cigars were consumed during the three months, which was 320,000 barrels more than in the same period of 1911.

We want girls with hearts; girls with tenderness and sympathy, with "tears that flow for others' ills," and smiles that light outward their sunny thoughts. We have clever girls and witty girls and brilliant girls. Give us a consignment of jolly, unaffected, natural girls, warm hearted girls, with lots of fun and coarseness; girls who can go out and romp in the snow and wash each others' faces, tug at a hand sled, roll snow ball and think it no forfeiture to their dignity to frolic with their ten-year-old brothers. With a few more such girls the world would brighten up as June does under showery weather. Speed the day when the world is full of fun, to the extinction of the airy, affected, brainless mynxes who think of nothing but of self and face powder.

For the next six weeks 125 enlisted men in the New York Navy Yard will be busy chewing 40 kinds of tobacco to decide what kind shall be bought for use in the navy. Bids were opened from 15 dealers who wish to furnish 200,000 pounds, about a year's supply, for the American navy. Prices range from 32 to 42 cents for various grades. The contract may not go to the lowest bidder. Chemical tests will be made and the men's decision will be the ultimate choice. Without knowing what kind they are chewing, the men selected for the tests will be questioned from time to time by a board of officers as to how they like various samples. Their taste will be the final court of appeal as to who gets the bid.

Evils of Western Land Speculation.

If, says the Grain Growers' Guide, all the land under crop this year in Western Canada were laid in strips alongside the railways every foot of it would be within two miles of the track. Still a glance at the map published by the Department of the Interior shows that a considerable portion of the settlers in Western Canada are located at distances ranging from twenty to two hundred miles from the railway. And yet no one who travels across the prairies in the train can help noticing that there are miles and miles of good land lying right alongside the track that are uncultivated and unused except as a breeding ground for gophers. This land is owned by speculators, the great majority of whom live in far away cities, in Eastern States and Europe, and whose only interest in the land is to hold it until they can sell it at a profit usually to someone else who will do the same again a few years later. The farmer who is unable to pay the high price at which this land is held and the homesteader in search of a free grant must travel to and from his home many weary miles back from the railway, casting envious eyes as he goes upon the vacant lands he is not permitted to till. It is an outrage. The difficulties in pioneering are great enough in any case. To make them artificially greater in order that speculators may profit is monstrous.

FOR SKIN DISEASES

A Treatment that Costs Nothing Unless It Provides Satisfactory Relief.

We have a grayish-white ointment with a pleasant odor that is clean to use, which we believe is the best known remedy for the relief of skin diseases. It is especially efficacious for overcoming eczema in all its various forms, ringworm, acne, pimples, blotches, insect bites, tetter, certain forms of ulcers, sores and wounds. It is strongly antiseptic, cleansing, soothing and healing. It stops all itching and burning caused by skin eruptions.

We are so positive this ointment is unequalled that we offer it with the distinct understanding that if after having given it a reasonable trial, you are not satisfied with the results, you have only got to tell us and we will, without quibbling, return every cent paid us for it. We exact no promises or obligations whatever.

We want you to try Rexall Eczema Ointment. The first application gives a refreshing sense of relief, and because of its germ destroying power, it eradicates the germ or parasite which causes eczema and many other eruptions. It quickly allays the inflammation, gives protection to the inflamed surfaces, and helps restore healthy tissue. It is particularly active in relieving skin ailments peculiar to children. You certainly cannot lose anything by trying it. We would not dare make this offer except we are positive Rexall Eczema Ointment will satisfactorily benefit you. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can only obtain it at our store—The Rexall Store.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVES FAIL

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous disease can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT.

A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D.D.D.

Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skins as nothing else has ever done.

In addition to the regular dollar bottle which has cured so many cases, we have arranged with the D.D.D. Laboratories for a special large trial bottle at 25c. on a special offer now.

This trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

The street cars on a Toledo line are equipped with mirrors. The mirrors are not for the purpose of giving the women passengers an opportunity to adjust headgear or stray curls, but for the benefit of the motorists. They are placed on the front door of each car and will enable motormen to notice whether all passengers are on or off the car and aid them to avoid accidents.

Early Shopping.

There is only a little over five weeks before Christmas, and shoppers should endeavor to alleviate—if ever so little—the pressure and strain that the Christmas season brings to merchants and their employees.

By shopping early good will is shown, not only to the friends to whom the gifts are sent, and to those who through necessity cannot do their shopping until after the December pay-day, but to the clerks as well.

Early shopping, means not only early in the season, but also in the first hours of the day. Many women can not leave home until afternoon, and if those who can, will shop in the morning it equalizes the day's work for the clerks, and spares them the strain of the last hour rush. With early shopping done by all those who are able, the demand on the employees for long late hours during the weeks before Christmas will grow proportionately less.

This is not only a duty, it is an opportunity for every one to help a little in the cause of social service.

Let Us Have Pie.

Pie eating is a confirmed American habit that has thousands of faithful adherents in this Canada of ours. Heretofore it has been condemned as a prolific producer of digestive disturbance, but we now have high medical authority for a popular and nourishing pastime. The New York Medical Journal says: "In its proper place pie is not only a palatable but a nutritious staple, an excellent vehicle of carbohydrates and fruit. It is not essentially indigestible, and demands only proper mastication and insalivation to insure lack of discomfort." In other words, if we chew pie as persistently as we chew the rag about the indigestibility of pie we shall find it as sweetly digestible as it is blandly delectable. Now, however, comes the crux of the pie matter. We customarily "top off" with pie and cheese after we've had a hearty dinner and enough, but if we eat lightly and then have pie, or make pie and cheese answer for a whole meal, there is not the slightest ill effect from it.

Ideas of a Plain Man.

Great intellectual powers and great artistic genius are not at all inconsistent with gross immorality. A half dozen extraordinary famous men could be named off hand who were moral perverts, and another half-dozen who were victims of drug, to say nothing of those who never paid their debts.

Overstatement in moral teaching is fatal. Morality is not essential to the winning prizes of earth; it is essential to happiness and peace. A man may be mentally powerful and artistically creative and yet be a wretched, pitiable failure in himself.

Goldwin Smith records that when he held the Chair of History at Cornell, one of his colleagues was "Ruloff", who in a remarkable way combined criminal propensities with literary tastes, being a great philologist and engaged in the invention of a universal language. Ruloff committed a series of robberies and murders, the latter beginning with his wife and daughter. On that occasion he escaped justice through the absence of a corpus delicti; Lake Carugo into which he had thrown the bodies being undredgable.

He was finally hanged.

There is a hotter torment than that of incompetence; it is that of competence. The devil, from all accounts, is a very gifted and able person

A Smile or Two.

A girl reading in a paper that fish was excellent brain food wrote to the editor:
Dear Sir—Seeing as you say how fish is good for the brains, what kind fish shall I eat?
To this the editor replied:
Dear Miss,—Judging by the composition of your letter I should advise you to eat a whale.

Shortly after the return of the Atlantic Fleet two naval officers were talking about their wives. Naturally, they used nautical terms.

"What a dear little craft your wife is!" said the first.

"Dear and little," did you say? She is dear all right, but there's nothing little about her. Why, she is the biggest revenue-cutter I have ever seen."

He was a gentler specimen of his class than one usually meets, and when he made his appeal for something to eat at the kitchen door he was asked by the good-natured cook to come in by the fire.

As he sat there, she said, "You don't look as though you had always been a tramp." "I haven't," he replied, without offense. "I came from a very good family." She let him eat on without interruption, but after he had finished she said: "You say you came from a good family. May I ask the name?" "It was Blankleigh," he responded. "Why," she said, in surprise, "that's the name of the occupier next door to us." "Yes," he replied. "I noticed it on the door-plate. That's who I came from. He threw me down his steps just before I called here."

A Washington woman who was visiting some friends in Philadelphia noticed that the little girl in the family was eating some new sort of cereal at breakfast. She evinced little enthusiasm for the stuff.

"Don't you like it, dearie," asked the visitor.

"I don't think much of it," replied the child.

"Then why do you eat it?"

The little girl paused in her task of disposing of the obnoxious article and regarded her interlocutor gravely.

"It's got to be eaten," said she solemnly. "The grocer gives mamma a coupon for every two packages she buys, and it's got to be eaten every morning."—Lippincott's.

The din of their wedding-bells still rang in their ears, for it was only the second day of their married bliss. Supremely happy, they were well satisfied with one another, and no cloud had obscured the vista of their little earthly paradise.

"Hubby," she remarked tremulously, "you love me dearly, don't you?"

"More than life itself," he declared passionately.

"And no personal defect in me would ever cause your love to lessen, would it, dearest?"

He agreed that such was the case.

"Oh, sweet one," she cried demurely, "I have just one confession to make! I—I—my teeth—my teeth—are false!"

"Thank goodness!" he responded fervently. "Now I can cool my burning brow."

And with that remark he doffed his wig.

PROPOSALS IN JAPAN.

Quaint Custom of Placing a Plant in an Empty Flowerpot.

In some of the Japanese islands, in houses wherein reside one or more daughters of a marriageable age, an empty flowerpot of an ornamental character is encircled by a ring and suspended from the window or veranda by three light chains.

The Julietts of Japan are, of course, as attractive to the Romeos as those of other lands. But instead of serenades by moonlight and other delicate ways of making an impression it is etiquette for the Japanese lover to approach the dwelling of his lady bearing some choice plant in his hand, which he boldly proceeds to plant in the empty vase.

This takes place at a time when he is fully assured that both mother and daughter are at home, neither of whom, of course, is at all conscious that the young man is taking such a liberty with the flowerpot outside their window. This act of placing a pretty plant in the empty flowerpot is equivalent to a formal proposal to the young lady who dwells within.

The youthful gardener, having settled his plant to his mind, retires, and the lady is free to act as she pleases. If he is the right man she takes every care of the gift, waters it and tends it carefully with her own hands, that all the world may see the donor is accepted as a suitor. But if he is not a favorite or if stern parents object the poor plant is torn from the vase and the next morning lies limp and withered on the veranda or on the path below.

The Oil in Cloves.

Cloves are simply the dried flower buds of a beautiful evergreen tree growing naturally on the Spice Islands. These flower buds are gathered when they have become of a bright red and are just on the point of opening. The name comes from the resemblance of the prepared spice to small nails, from the French word clou, for nail. Cloves are very heavily charged with a pungent acid, volatile oil, as much as 20 per cent sometimes being extracted. This oil is valuable for flavoring and scenting purposes and has a limited field in medicine, but the habit of "eating cloves," in which young folks and too often old ones indulge, is very reprehensible, as the oil is a powerful drug, becoming in many cases an insidious poison.

Mitigating Circumstance.

A Scotch ballie recently advanced to the bench had a criminal placed before him accused of some very modest violation of the law. Of course the ballie knew the prisoner well. He heard the charge stated.

"John, man, I'm sorry to see you here. We'll just fine you half a crown." The clerk here intervened.

"But the charge is not yet proved. We have not heard the evidence."

Then the benignant ballie:

"Ah, well, John, my man, as the charge is not proved we'll just fine you an eightpence."—London Telegraph.

Facial Horticulture.

"A new milkman left our milk today," announced Dorothy.

"Did he have whiskers?" asked her mother, thinking perhaps it was the proprietor.

"No," said the four-year-old; "he didn't have whiskers, but he had the roots."—Harper's Weekly.

Animal Food.

Innocent Young Wife—The doctor said you were to have a little animal food today, John, so I've chopped you up a bit of nice clover hay and scalded it to make it go down softer!—London Telegraph.

GOOD ROADS MEETING.

County Organization Perfected at Petrolia.

On Wednesday, 6th inst., in the Council Chamber, Petrolia, a meeting of the representatives from the different municipalities in Lambton, was held. The purpose of the meeting was to organize with a view to road improvement in the county. The meeting was well attended. Dr. C. O. Fairbank occupied the chair and Petrolia Town Clerk, J. McHatter, acted as secretary pro tem.

W. A. McLean, of Toronto, the Provincial Good Roads Engineer, gave a lengthy and exhaustive address on good roads making. He spoke of the advantages that good roads give to the farmer; of how they save costs in transportation; of how they add value to the land, especially the farms bordering main roads. He outlined a progressive plan which first improved the main roads and told of the progress made in other counties. He endeavored to explain the purpose of the Government had in making their grant conditional. The importance of proper drainage to the roads was not in any way neglected by the speaker. He said the old system of statute labor had done some good but had now served its period of usefulness and a newer and better system must now be made if proper progress was to be made. He thought it would be a wise move if each township would now appoint their own road superintendent and have all the work done under one competent man. He said that costs of building good roads depended on costs of materials and what materials were available. He gave the average costs of the different kinds of permanent roads per mile.

The government's scheme seems to be one that can be worked out best under our county good roads association and it is not intended that great responsibility be assumed by the people in one year by building good roads all over the county but that a little be done each year in each township in building permanent roads. Neither is it the wish of the Government to add increased burdens on the ratepayers of the county but that the money now being spent be used to the very best advantage and spent in a way that the county can benefit by the government grant.

Mr. McLean laid great stress on the importance of organization. Only can the money be spent in the very best way and the work done harmoniously by the county and the various municipalities being properly organized.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. McLean for his helpful address.

Reeve Darvill, of Brooke, spoke of some of the difficulties in good road making in Brooke township and that Brooke should be ready to condemn statute labor. He asked Mr. McLean some very difficult questions; questions that the engineer had never heard raised before but he promised to look into them. One question raised by the Reeve of Brooke was this:—Is it fair that Brooke should bear the whole cost of building bridges across a river running through the township along the eastern boundary, to be used almost exclusively by the people of the next township. Or was it fair that the cost of accidents occurring through the immense canals along certain roads should all be saddled on the township when the government first made it necessary that the ditches should be dug. These were vital questions for the ratepayers of Brooke, said Mr. Darvill, and he would like to see them solved.

Among those who took part in the discussion were: Albert Brock, A. Braybrook, Geo. Jackson, Robt. Park, John McCallum, R. Stirett, C. Jenkins, John Fraser, Dr. C. O. Fairbank and J. B. Woodhall. All were in favor of good roads. Some few still had faith in the old statute labor system while most were in favor of some better scheme.

A motion was finally made by Chas. Jenkins to organize under the name of the Lambton County Good Roads' Association. The motion was seconded and carried by the meeting and a new organization sprung into existence with great work before it. The next important move was to have it officered with strong able men. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—C. O. Fairbank, Petrolia.

Vice-Pres.—Al Darvill, Brooke.

Sec.-Treas.—W. A. Brock, Enniskillen.

An executive was appointed consisting of the officers and Reeves of the twenty-one municipalities of the county. A small committee was also appointed to ask a grant from the County Council to cover expenses of the association.

Before the meeting adjourned Mayor Pollard, of Petrolia, extended a warm invitation to all visitors of other municipalities to take supper with him at the Fletcher House. The meeting was a success; the attendants from the various municipalities went home feeling that they knew more about good road building and that a big step had been taken towards attaining good roads in Lambton County. Dr. Fairbank remarked that a good start had been made on an important work but if nothing more was done the meeting was a great success from an educational standpoint.

Death of Henry Holbrook.

There passed away in the hospital at Petrolia, on Sunday, Oct. 27, an old resident of Brooke township in the person of Henry Holbrook, in his 74th year. Deceased was born in Montague township, Lanark county, and in childhood moved with his parents to lot 19, 12th concession, Brooke township, where he continued to reside until about four years ago, when he moved to Alvinston. His wife predeceased him nearly two years ago. He is survived by a family of three sons and three daughters. The youngest daughter, Miss Alma, passed away seven years ago.

The funeral was held from the home of his son-in-law, A. B. Connor, to Mt. Carmel cemetery. The pall-bearers were three nephews, Herbert, Walter and Arthur Holbrook and three neighbors, William Miller, Neil Leitch and Duncan McGugan.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Arthur and Walter Holbrook, Crosswell, Mich.; Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Howston, Mrs. Stephenson, Stratroy; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Holbrook, Sarnia; Mrs. John Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Will Maitland, Sarnia.

N. HERBERT, Clerk.

George W. Smith, owner of the summer hotel at Kettle Point, and two other men were adrift in a motor boat for fifteen hours in Lake Huron and were picked up by Indians Sunday morning. The party left Kettle Point Saturday morning and when about ten miles out on the lake the engine stalled and they drifted about in a heavy snow storm and rough sea. When picked up they were nearly exhausted.

To town and city sportsmen the "no shooting" signs displayed on an increasing number of farm woodlots are naturally a not very welcome sight, but for our part we like to see them. In many instances they denote laudable regard for the interesting wild life of the woods, and a desire to preserve it. If the game is to be shot at all let the farmer have it himself. City men have no more right to it than they have to the farmer's fruit and crops.

"I think it should be the duty of the schools to teach children how to keep well," writes Miss Nannie E. Naydon, a well-known and highly esteemed resident of Bristol. "Ignorance of the laws of health and the use of improper remedies destroyed my vigor, and led me to the verge of invalidism. I was as a girl ruddy and strong. Nothing seemed to affect me until I was about thirty. Then gas began to form in the stomach. I suffered with bloating and a general failure in strength set in. If I went upstairs my breath hurt. My system was very irregular, and until I grew pretty bad I didn't pay much heed to my condition. Then I got blue, worried all the time, wakened in the night, and couldn't get to sleep again. None of the medicine I took helped me. One day I was reading of a very interesting case like mine cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I took the same treatment. It was just right—didn't physic me to death, but took hold of the weak, sick parts of my system, and set things right. It seems as if Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made me young again, and all my color, spirits, vigor, and health like former days have returned to stay."

Every girl and woman should use Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly. They help a woman in many ways. Beware of the dealer who asks you to take an inferior pill on which his profit is larger than on Dr. Hamilton's. Sold in yellow boxes, 25c per box, all dealers, or The Catarthozone, Co., Kingston, Ont.

A GUILTY CONSCIENCE

Sometimes Needs No Accuser.

By G. B. TARLETON

I was brought up on adages. An aunt of mine was continually dinging them at me, and as luck would have it they always worked the wrong way with me. One day when I was hesitating as to the date of going to a neighboring town for a certain purpose she said to me, "Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today." I started immediately, and while I was gone a man came to buy of me a piece of property I was very anxious to sell. I missed him and lost the sale.

A favorite saying of my aunt's was, "A guilty conscience needs no accuser." I have always been a very sensitive person with too tender a conscience already; consequently I had no occasion for this special adage. Indeed, it was the source of a great deal of trouble to me. Not that I suffered in any way under a guilty conscience, but I had heard so often that a criminal is bound to betray himself that—

But I'll not begin with the denouement of my story. I'll save that for the end. I was engaged to be married to Martha Ellison, a girl of very high principle. Indeed, so noble were her conceptions—and so far as I knew she lived up to them—that from the moment I became engaged to her I was in constant dread of doing something that would appear ignoble in her sight.

One day while walking on the street I saw a gold watch with a chain lying at my feet. I stooped and picked it up. It had fallen on grass beside the flags and was apparently uninjured. At any rate, it was ticking merrily. I looked about me to see if any one was near who might have dropped it. I saw a policeman coming with a quick tread toward me. When he came up he eyed me sharply.

"There was a robbery committed near here a few minutes ago," he said. "Have you seen any one suspicious looking—any one running?" It at once occurred to me that if I told him I had found the plundered property—or part of it—I would be arrested for the thief. I could not put off till tomorrow what must be done today. In other words, I had no time to think over what I had best do, so I simply replied in the negative.

Now, I hadn't seen any one who appeared to have been connected with the robbery, and I possessed a perfectly clear conscience. I had in my possession what was doubtless property that had been taken by the robber in question and either dropped or thrown away to avoid being caught with it on his person. Moreover, I was ready and willing to turn it over to either the owner or the authorities. But why should I stand in the position of the person who had likely considered that it was necessary to get rid of it?

Unquestionably I should have handed out the watch and chain to the policeman and told him that I had found them. If I could have put off my decision in the matter for even a few minutes probably I would have done this. But I couldn't put it off. And here is where that adage is lame. It takes no more account of cases where we can't put off doing things than of those in which we should put off doing them.

I told the policeman that I had seen no one who looked like a robber, but said nothing about the watch and chain. As I have already said, my conscience was clear, but I have no doubt I looked like a thief. It didn't matter that I intended to give up the property when I could do so without incriminating myself. I had stolen goods in my possession, and a policeman was looking at me suspiciously.

He seemed in doubt whether he should hold on to me or let me go. Possibly it was my respectable appearance that decided him to do the latter. But he had gone on only a few steps before he called to me and asked me my name and where I lived. I gave him both correctly, and he did not delay me further. My not having produced the stolen property at once complicated the case for me very much. It occurred to me that I should handle the matter deliberately before coming to a decision as to what to do next. If I should go home I might not have an opportunity to think the matter out. I might be sent for by the police either for a witness or on suspicion. I dreaded being questioned further before having laid down the course I should pursue. I concluded to go to my fiancée, tell her of the situation and talk the matter over with her.

On the way I fell to thinking that my course thus far had not been such as to challenge admiration. Indeed, I realized that I should have had the courage to tell the policeman I had found a watch and chain. I knew that Martha was just the kind of a girl to blame me for not having done this. The consequence was that when I called on her at an unusual hour—it was 11 o'clock in the morning—and interrupted her in some work she was doing and she did not seem especially pleased to see me, my courage oozed out. Instead of coming right out with the matter in hand I stammered and trumped up excuse for my coming.

She said coldly that the reason I gave was not sufficient for my calling upon her when she was not presentable; besides, she was sorry to say that my demeanor warranted her in believing that it was not the real reason. When I had got matters between her and me in the worst possible fix I told her the whole story. As I supposed she would do, she deprecated my not having turned over the property at once; and advised me to go to a police station and do so.

While talking with her I sat in a bay window from which I could see up the street for some distance. Martha had hardly made this recommendation when I saw the policeman I had met approaching with another officer whose uniform denoted a higher rank. "There he comes now," I exclaimed. "He doubtless changed his mind about letting me go, followed me and having marked the house I entered, went to police headquarters and reported me as a suspicious character. And now he is bringing an inspector here to examine me, if not to arrest me. I shall be found with the goods on me."

It was now Martha's turn to show her strength of character, but to my surprise the suddenness with which she was called upon to do so threw her off her balance. She seemed quite unable to tell me what to do. "It won't do for me to be found with the property on me," I said quickly. "Can't you hide it for me?" "Suppose they search the house?" "It won't matter to you. They will hold me to be the thief, since I was seen in the neighborhood of the robbery immediately after it occurred."

"But I shall be considered as harboring a criminal, and that would mean that I was in league with you." "It's mighty easy to be a hero on paper, but when it comes to putting it in practice it's a different matter. Martha's strength of character didn't pan out at being brought face to face with the real thing.

"You're not inclined to be very self-sacrificing. I'm disappointed," I said. "Disappointed! It's I who should be disappointed. If you had had the manliness to hand out the property in the first place, you wouldn't have got into such a fix."

"I'd have had to spend some time in jail and prove that I wasn't a robber." By this time the officers were within a few yards of the house. Martha and I stood waiting for the blow to fall and in another moment heard the doorbell ring.

"It's all up with me," I said. Martha also had become demoralized. She placed me in a closet the door of which was closed with a portiere, then went to answer the summons. I heard a man's voice ask if I were in the house, calling me by name. Martha, whose high principled nature I had always admired and stood in awe of, denied that I was in the house, thereby uttering a deliberate falsehood. "Well, miss," I heard the man say, "he told this patrolman where he lived, but he was seen to come here." My legs trembled and my teeth chattered. "We must find him. He was seen walking today near where a robbery was committed, and a lady looking out through a window saw him pick up a watch and chain. The robber has been arrested, and the gentleman that was robbed would like to get his property. He's willing to pay a liberal reward."

There was silence for a few moments, which was broken by Martha, who said that she would send me word immediately and if I had the valuables she did not doubt that I would return them at once. With that the policeman withdrew, and I heard the door closed. As Martha returned to the room I stepped out of the closet. We looked at each other, both drawing a sigh of relief.

"Martha," I said, "I thank you very much for the lie." "I don't think," she retorted, "that you have shown either good sense or moral courage." "Rather I have shown that I labor under an excess of conscience." "And I labor under an abnormal sympathy."

"We've made a mountain out of a molehill, haven't we?" "You have." I saw that she was relieved at the outcome, and I knew that I was. I kissed her, and it was all over. As soon as I felt assured that I could leave the house without the officers seeing me I stepped boldly out and went to the nearest police office, where I delivered the stolen goods. The man at the desk didn't ask why I hadn't returned them before. He doubtless supposed I had intended to keep them, but since I had been seen to pick them up that was impossible. I was making a virtue of reciprocity.

"I will see that you get the reward," he said. "The owner of the watch will send it to you or leave it here. The watch is not only a valuable chronometer, but belonged to the mother of the gentleman who was robbed. He has offered $50 for its return."

"I don't wish any reward," I said with offended dignity. "I'm a gentleman and consider myself as such obliged to return anything I find provided I know the owner."

He looked up at me with surprise—in fact, with incredulity. "What's the game?" he asked. "No game at all. Why do you think I'm playing a game?" "Why didn't you return the watch without trying to get away with it?" I made no reply, but, turning, left the station.

Not having come out of the affair with any great eclat, I illustrated an adage, "Misery loves company," by rejoicing that Martha also had not shown that rigid regard for principle for which she was noted. We were married soon after, and ours is the only case I have ever known of lovers who were married neither being heretofore to the other.

BEWARE OF BLOOD-POISON

Zam-Buk is a Sure Cure.

Mr. Jas. Davey, 786 Ellice Avenue, Winnipeg, says:—"A few months since I was cured of a poisoned finger through the timely use of Zam-Buk. I cut a deep gash across the knuckle on the first finger of my right hand in opening a lobster can. I suffered at the time with the soreness and pain, but had no idea it would become a serious wound. However, in about two days I was greatly alarmed; as my whole hand and arm to the elbow became suddenly inflamed, and the finger was much discolored, showing signs of blood-poisoning. The pain was dreadful and I was forced to leave off my work and go home.

The wound on the knuckle had been poisoned by dust and dirt getting into it. I then decided to start the Zam-Buk treatment, and having first bathed the cut, I applied the healing balm. It soothed the pain almost instantly, and by next day there was a great improvement. In a week's time, through perseverance with this wonderful preparation, a complete cure was brought about."

Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema, ulcers, scalp sores, abscesses, piles, ringworm, boils, varicose ulcers, running sores, cold sores, chapped hands, etc. It draws all poisonous foulness from a wound or sore and then heals. Use it, too, for cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries. Zam-Buk Soap should be used in conjunction to the balm for washing wounds and sore places. Excellent, too, for baby's bath.

All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, and Zam-Buk Soap at 25c. tablet. Post free upon receipt of price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Keep the Windows Open.

The advent of colder nights prompts the issue of a government health bulletin with the slogan, "Keep Your Windows Open."

"With the onset of cold weather, into the houses go the people," the bulletin reads, "down goes the windows and up goes the death rate from the impure air. The air of a closed house is dirty, stagnant, disease-breeding air—in which no human being can live in safety. Pneumonia is the winter plague because of indoor conditions. If we spent our time indoors we must keep the air pure and the only way to do it is to keep the windows open. The man who keeps his windows closed and adopts such heavy armor as chest protectors, mufflers, and galoshes when he ventures into the open is in infinitely greater danger of contracting pneumonia than is the woman who affects lace hosiery, peck-a-boe waists and half shoes and who passes her sleeping hours in fresh air. Better be a fresh air fiend."—Ridgetown Dominion.

SYMPTOMS OF CONSUMPTION

Yield to Vinol.

The medical profession do not believe that consumption is inherited, but a person may inherit a weakness or tendency to that disease.

A prominent citizen of Evansville, Ind., writes: "I was ill for five months with pulmonary trouble, and had the best of doctors; I had hemorrhages and was in a very bad way. Through the advice of a friend I tried Vinol, and I feel that it saved my life. It is all you recommend it to be. I believe it is the greatest medicine on earth. I have advised others to try Vinol, and they have had the same results." (Name furnished on request.)

Vinol soothes and heals the inflamed surfaces and allays the cough. Vinol creates an appetite, strengthens the digestive organs and gives the patient strength to throw off incipient pulmonary diseases.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

Woman's Power

Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her system, soon loses her personal magnetism. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her amiability and womanly charm. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

QUEER OLD MINES

The Orpiment Workings in the Snow Clad Himalayas.

A DAZZLING BLAZE OF COLOR.

Splendors of the Dismal Mineral Pits as They Sparkle in a Brilliant Mosaic of Gold and Rubies in the Light of the Flashing Torches.

High on the flanks of Tirich Mir, one of the snow clad giant Himalayas of Chitral, are the old mines where orpiment is found. Orpiment is a flaky, flexible mineral, a compound of arsenic and sulphur, the basis of certain beautiful yellow pigments, the auripigment of the ancients. In "Sport and Life in the Farther Himalayas" Major Kennion describes his visit to these workings, the first visit to them, he was told, ever made by a European: "The holes through which the mines are entered are in the face of a precipitous rock and are reached by a narrow, downward sloping ledge. They were about large enough for a hyena to walk into without inconvenience.

"On my arrival five or six men with bloodshot eyes and faces covered with yellow dust crawled out. Although not injurious to health, the orpiment, I was told, affected the hands of the miners in a peculiar way. That was obvious enough. The hands of many of the men I saw were shrunken to the bone, of a dark slaty color and covered with knots and excrescences.

"I told my guide to lead on, and he disappeared into one of the holes. I followed more deliberately, surprised at being able to get in at all. After crawling a few yards we found ourselves in a small chamber about eight feet long, in which a man could stand upright. The air was fresher than I had expected, but there was no orpiment in sight.

"In the farther corner there was what looked like a well, and toward this my guide led me. Following his example, I sat on the floor and let myself down feet foremost into this dark and narrow hole. The shaft did not go straight down, and on the whole it was easier to descend than a factory chimney, for here and there were projecting ledges on which you could rest your toes. But for any one except a sweep or an orpiment miner it was difficult enough.

"After descending some twenty feet I felt my legs swinging in space, a hand grasped one foot, guided it to a rock and I let myself down on solid earth. I was in another chamber, smaller than the first and stiffer. But still there was no orpiment.

"A hole appeared to lead away in a downward direction from the farther end of the chamber, and on one side a lot of debris had fallen. My guide cheerfully told me that this was the grave of eight men, who had been buried under this fall of stone while working at the end of the passage.

"My guide now disappeared into the hole and I had to follow. There was no room to crawl—you had to lie down and work yourself along with your toes. The air was foul and full of sulphurous dust. If it had been possible to turn round and retreat I think I should have done so. After traversing forty feet, which seemed as many miles, in this painful manner we reached another chamber, in which it was possible to sit up.

"Here at last was the orpiment, and it was almost worth the trouble of coming to see. Except where the roof was blackened by our torches—the miners do their work in the dark for the sake of purer air—the walls of the mine seemed a dazzling, scintillating mosaic of gold and rubies. The light was thrown back from an infinite number of glittering points, in which every shade of red and yellow, from the deepest ruby to the palest sulphur, was intermingled to form an indescribable blaze of color.

"After admiring the fascinating glitter and gleam and ever changing blaze of beautiful color of this display of subterranean splendor for awhile and breaking off a few specimens of various hues I began to long for the upper air. So we began the ascent from cavernous, which I was pleased to find considerably easier than the descent."

Just the Same.
"Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?"
"Exactly. I remember just how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I used to hang over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her shadow on the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act just the same way now when I get home late."

Not So Very Unexpected.
"Ada, dearest Ada, will you be mine?"
"Oh, Charles, this is so unexpected! You must give me a little time."

"How long, darling?"
"Oh, I will just call mamma. She is waiting in the next room."—Filegende Blatter.

Retribution.
"Oh, George, who opened the canary's cage?"
"I did. You told me a little bird was whispering to you when I was naughty, so I knew it must be him, as there was no other little bird about, so I opened the cage and the cat's eaten him!"

Anxiety does not empty tomorrow of its sorrow; it empties today of its strength.—Maclaren.

WAKENED BY A GHOST.

A Woman's Startling Experience in a Washington Hotel.

From his diary under date of October, 1890, Sir Henry Lucy quotes in the Cornhill Magazine a remarkable ghost story which was told to him by a "lady bearing a name highly honored in the United States." The incident happened some years previously. The lady was at Washington at a time when congress was sitting and all the hotels were full. On applying for a room at the hotel which she was accustomed to patronize with her husband she was told that the house was full. After some little hesitation the clerk, observing her distress, undertook that a room should be got ready for her. It was a small, plainly furnished room on the sixth floor.

She went to bed early and slept soundly until she was awakened by the sensation of a hand touching her face and a voice which cried with piteous accent, "Oh, mother, mother!" She was profoundly startled, but, arguing with herself that it was only a dream, went to sleep again. Again she was awakened by a hand that nervously stroked her face and the blood-curdling cry, "Oh, mother, mother!" She got up and lighted a candle. A chambermaid came with a startled look. The visitor related her experience.

"Yes, ma'am," said the chambermaid. "I told them they ought not to have put you in the room. He was only carried out an hour before you came."

"Who was carried out?" said the lady.
"Why, the young man who was lying here for a fortnight in delirium tremens and died a couple of days ago. He was always stretching out his hands, feeling for something and crying, 'Oh, mother, mother!'"

Glass Spoons.
Most of the millions of spoons manufactured for many uses are made of some sort of metal, such as gold, silver, iron or tin, but there are also made and regularly sold spoons of glass. This might seem like an especially fragile material for such use, but these glass spoons, while they are made of precisely the same shape and proportions as a metal spoon, are made thick so that they will withstand any ordinary usage. They are made of pressed glass, though as they are finished they resemble cut glass. They are made in various spoon sizes. Glass spoons are used in the sickroom for administering medicines that would tarnish metal spoons.—New York Sun.

Heaven Calls Her Saint.

As we stood in front of the post office yesterday we were forced to hear a part of a conversation between two young ladies. They were talking about a third party and christened her an "old maid." We came as near getting mad as an editor ever does. You know an editor never loses his temper. He still has it all. In almost every circle of our kindred there has been some queen of self-sacrifice to whom jeweled hands were offered in marriage, but who stayed on the old place because of the sense of filial obligation until the health was gone and the attractiveness of personal presence had vanished. Brutal society may call such a one by a nickname, God calls her daughter and heaven calls her saint.—RX.

Idiotic Interrogations.

Why is a determination always grim? Do the waves dance at fish balls. Did you ever see the shadow of a doubt? When a doom is sealed can it be steamed upon? Is the finger of scorn part of the hand of fate? How large a scale is required to weigh the consequences? Is a man a burglar who break into a perspiration? When a man courts danger does he take flowers or candy?

CITY CIRCULATION AGENT

Of Leading Montreal Daily Endorses GIN PILLS

I have long years of suffering from Kidney Trouble—two boxes of GIN PILLS—and it's all gone. That has been the experience of Mr. Eugene Quesnel, Chief City Circulation Agent of La Patrie, of Montreal. He describes it feelingly: Montreal, May 29, 1912

"I have been suffering from Kidney Trouble for over five long years. I had also Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles, could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best Physicians but without relief and I lost over fifteen pounds. One day I met one of our leading hotelkeepers, who had been cured by your famous GIN PILLS, and he advised me to try them. So I bought two boxes at my druggist's and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured."

I can assure you I can hardly believe it for I had only known what I know now I would not have spent over One Hundred Dollars for nothing when two boxes of GIN PILLS cured me." EUGENE QUESNEL. GIN PILLS are gaining a world-wide reputation, by the way they conquer the most obstinate cases of Rheumatism and all kinds of Kidney Trouble. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. EYE AILMENTS

Seventy-five per cent. of the people have abnormal vision, and only about 25 per cent. wear glasses to correct the defects.

The other 50 per cent. suffer from various eye troubles. These have a reflex action on the bodily function, causing headaches, indigestion, dizziness and many other ailments.

Every person should make it a point to find out whether his or her eyes are normal or not. We can do this for you—do it accurately and scientifically by the dark room test.

| Toronto, Nov. 19.—The cattle market here today was much more active than it has been for the last week or 10 days. The increasing demand of late for choice beefs was responsible for a rise in the best butcher and export cattle of from 10c to 20c, some of the best selling for as high as $6.35. Some time ago the demand for stockers slumped, but today again this grade of beef seems to be wanted to a limited extent, and trade as a consequence was somewhat brisker. | |

| SUDDEN DEATH OF CHARLES A. BARNES, M.A. | |
| Late School Inspector for East Lambton | Died After Three Days' Illness. |

(From Saturday's London Advertiser.) Charles A. Barnes, M.A., late public school inspector for East Lambton, a member of the quarterly board of the First Methodist church, and a prominent South London citizen, was stricken with an affection of the heart while in the business section of the city on Tuesday afternoon, and died last evening at his residence, 27 Craig street.

Mr. Barnes' family had been aware of his affection for some time, but despite this, his death proved a serious shock. He was a remarkably active man, and on Tuesday walked up town. However, he suddenly became ill, and was removed to his home in a hack. His condition gradually grew worse, and Wednesday at noon lost consciousness. His son, Dr. E. C. Barnes, who is practicing in Guelph, was summoned home, and was with him at the time of his death.

BORN IN WARWICK. Mr. Barnes was born 67 years ago in Warwick Township, in Lambton, about ten miles from the village of Watford. He was educated in public and high schools, and obtained both his B. A. and M. A. degrees at Albert College at Belleville.

Later he entered the teaching profession and held positions in public schools and Collegiate Institutes at Ottawa, Windsor, St. Mary's and other places. In 1877 he was appointed to the public school inspectorship for East Lambton, his home being at Forest at that time. Ten years later he removed to London, and has resided here almost continually since. While he directed his work from London for a great many years, he made his home in Petrolia for six years after 1902. In 1905 he resigned from the inspectorship, and afterward returned to this city. Since that time he has lived retired, but has interested himself in realty here.

Mr. Barnes was an omnivorous reader, but had a particular liking for religious subjects. He also made a hobby of advanced mathematics. He was a member of different fraternal societies, including Kilwinning Lodge, A. F. & A. M., the Canadian Order of Foresters, the United Workmen, and Chosen Friends, a WELL-KNOWN METHODIST.

For 25 years he had been a member of First Methodist Church, and was on the quarterly board of that congregation at

DISEASE IS DUE TO BAD BLOOD

To Cure Common Ailments the Blood Must be Made Rich and Red.

Nearly all the diseases that afflict humanity are caused by bad blood—weak, watery blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago and rheumatism, debility and indigestion, neuralgia and other nerve troubles, and disfiguring skin diseases like eczema and salt rheum show how impure the blood actually is. No use trying a different remedy for each disease, because they all spring from the one cause—bad blood. To cure any of these troubles you must get right down to the root of the trouble in the blood, and that is just what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new, rich blood and thus cure these diseases when common medicine fails. Mrs. John Jackson, Woodstock, Ont., suffered from both nervous troubles and a run down condition and experienced a complete cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I was a sufferer for a number of years from neuralgia, and a general debility of the nerves and system. I had tried several doctors and many medicines but to no avail, until I began Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At the time I began the pills I had grown so bad that I could hardly be on my feet and was forced to wear elastic bandages about the ankles. The pain I suffered at times from the neuralgia was terrible. I had almost given up hope when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the course of a few weeks I felt an improvement, and I gladly continued the use of the pills until I was once more quite well and able to attend to all my household duties."

If you are ailing begin to cure yourself to-day with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The funeral is to be held privately Monday afternoon from his late residence at 3 o'clock to Woodland cemetery. Rev. Richard Whiting, of First Methodist Church, will officiate at the services, which will be of a private nature.

(From Tuesday's Advertiser.)

The burial of Charles A. Barnes, former public school inspector in East Lambton, who died at his home, No. 27 Craig street, Friday night, was made Monday afternoon at Woodland cemetery. Services, which were conducted by Rev. Richard Whiting, of the First Methodist church, were attended by a very large number of friends of Mr. Barnes, who held him in high esteem. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. D. Smith, Charles Elliott, Robert Watson, and David H. Howden, of London, Dr. Hotson, of Parkhill, and William McIntosh, of Petrolia.

Wm. Wilkinson, a thresher, was waylaid by thugs and knocked insensible. He was relieved of $175 by the robbers and left helpless on the road near Crumlin.
