The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality, possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CON-TINUED"), or the symbol ▽ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▽ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents.
Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite,
et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants

Explanation of the Articles in the Calendar.

These pages are calculated for Toronto and Quebec, and for ordinary purposes will serve with sufficient accuracy for every city in Canada.

MOON'S PHASES.—This Table gives the times for the two meridians when the moon passes the geocentric longitudes of 0° , 90° , 180° and 270° east of the sun. It gives also the times of her greatest and least distance from the earth.

TWILIGHT.—In this table are given the times at which twilight begins in the morning and ends in the evening, i.e., the times when the sun's centre is 18° below the horizon.

GREATEST ELONGATION OF THE POLE STAR.—This column gives the greatest azimuth of the Pole Star east or west from the meridian as observed at a place in latitude 45° . When the greatest elongation corresponding to any other latitude is required, the number given in the column should be corrected by means of the following table.

Degrees of Latitude.....	42°	43°	44°	45°	46°	47°	48°	49°	50°
1st Correction for Degrees.....	-5' 58"	-4' 5"	-2' 5"	0' 0"	+2' 12"	+4' 32"	+6' 59"	+8' 34"	+12' 18"
2nd Correction for each minute of latitude.....	+ 1.9'	+ 2.8'	+ 2.1'	+ 2.2'	+ 2.8'	+ 2.5'	+ 2.0'	+ 2.7'

The 1st correction for the degrees of latitude is to be subtracted from the greatest elongation given in the calendar, or added to it, according as the degrees of latitude are less or greater than 45° .

The 2nd correction, which is always additive, is found by multiplying the number given in the third line of the table by the number of minutes in the latitude.

Thus for latitude 45° :— 1st correction = -4' 5" 2nd correction + 2.0 \times 20 = + 40"
 " " " " " + 4' 32" " " + 2.5 \times 40 = 1' 40"
 " " " " " + 0' 0" " " + 2.2 \times 10 = 0' 22"

THE PLANETS.—The times of rising and setting of the five chief planets are calculated for Toronto, and are corrected for refraction. The times of culmination, although computed for the meridian of Toronto, will serve approximately for the whole of Canada. The meridian zenith distances, being designed merely to aid in finding the planets, have been given only to the nearest tenth of a degree, as seen from the latitude of Toronto.

When the planetary day is shorter than the mean solar day, and commences soon after the midnight of the preceding day, the planet will sometimes arrive a second time on the meridian before the expiration of the actual civil day. From analogous causes a planet will sometimes rise twice or set twice in the same civil day. When two culminations occur in the same day, or two risings or settings, the times of both are registered.

The times of the SUN'S RISING AND SETTING are given for the upper limb, and are corrected for refraction both for Toronto and Quebec.

The Moon's RISING is given from full to change, and her setting from change to full.

The Moon's MERIDIAN ZENITH DISTANCES are given to the nearest tenth of a degree for Toronto. They are not corrected for parallax or refraction:

The column SUN ON MERIDIAN gives the time that a watch should shew when the shadow of a sun dial is on the noon mark.

DECLINATION OF THE SUN AT APPARENT NOON.—This column gives the sun's declination at the instant he passes the meridian of Toronto.

Moon's A.M.—This column shews to the nearest tenth of a day the Moon's age at Toronto Noon.

The column, MOON ON THE MERIDIAN, gives the mean time at which the moon's centre passes the meridian of Toronto.

The column, UPPER TRANSIT OF POLE STAR shews for every day the mean time at which the Pole Star makes its upper transit across the meridian of Toronto. It passes in the morning from April 9th to October 8th, and in the evening for the rest of the year.

The five last columns, although computed for Toronto, will serve with sufficient accuracy for the whole of Canada.

The time at which the lower transit of the Pole Star occurs may be found by adding 11 h. 58 m. 2 s. to the time of its preceding upper transit.

From the time of the upper transit of the pole star, may be found the time of its greatest western or eastern elongation, by adding or subtracting the constants given in the annexed Table.

The time at which the pole star appears above the horizon preceding upper transit.
From the time of the upper transit of the pole star may be found the time of the lower transit, by adding or subtracting the constants given in the annexed Table.

From the times of the upper transit of the Pole Star may be derived, with the aid of the following table, the times of culmination, and of the rising and setting of the principal fixed stars that appear above the horizon of Toronto.

Star Table.

To ascertain when any star found in the following table will be on the meridian, add the number in the left-hand column of figures to the preceding meridian transit of the pole star given in the calendar. To find the time of rising of a star, subtract the number opposite to it in the right-hand column of figures from the time of its meridian passage. For the setting of a Star, add the same number to the time of its meridian passage. Those stars marked (.....) revolve in a circle of perpetual apparition, and do not rise or set at Toronto, or at places to the north of Toronto.

Eclipses.

In the year 1860 there will be two Eclipses of the Sun, and two of the Moon.

I.—An annular Eclipse of the Sun, January 22, invisible in Canada.

II.—A partial Eclipse of the Moon, Feb. 6, visible in Canada.

III.—A total Eclipse of the Sun, July 18, visible as a partial one in Canada.

IV.—A partial Eclipse of Moon, Aug. 1, invisible in Canada.

I.—ANNUAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN, January 22.

The central line of this Eclipse passes very near the South Pole. The Eclipse is visible as a partial one from New Zealand, the southern part of South America, and from the greater part of the Southern Ocean.

II.—PARTIAL ECLIPSE OF THE MOON, February 6.

The first contact with the shadow occurs at 79° from the northermost point of the Moon's limb towards the East, and the last contact at 32° towards the West.

Magnitude of the Eclipse (Moon's diameter = 1) 0.899.

The following Table shows the hour and minute, local time, for certain stations at which the different phases occur on the night of February 6.

III.—TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN, July 18, 1860.

The Eclipse is first seen at 6 minutes before Greenwich mean noon, from a point in North America in latitude $34^{\circ} 43' N.$, and longitude $69^{\circ} 40' W.$; and it is seen last at $41^{\circ} 57' N.$ Greenwich mean time, from a point in Africa in latitude $40^{\circ} 16' N.$, and longitude $11^{\circ} 10' E.$

The line of central eclipses extends from a point near Vancouver's Island eastward across Hudson's Bay, the North Atlantic, the Bay of Biscay, part of Spain and of North Africa, and terminates finally in the southern extremity of the Red Sea.

From a point in or near Halifax in latitude $41^{\circ} 44' N.$, and longitude $48^{\circ} 14' W.$, a partial eclipse is visible.

HOLY DAYS AND ANCIENT ANNIVERSARIES.

JANUARY.

The first five years then of man's life,
Compare to Januar;
In all that time but sturt and strife,
He can but greet and roar;
So in the fields of flowers all bare,
By reason of the frost:
Keeping the ground both soft and sound,
Yet none of them is lost.—OLD POEM, 1653.

FEBRUARY.

So to ten years I shall speak then,
Of Februar but lack;
The child is meek and weak of spirit.
Nothing can undertake,
all the flowers, for lack of showers,
No springing up can make!
Yet birds do sing and praise their king,
And each one chooses their mate.—OLD POEM,

Wind (average inches).

Then in comes March, that noble arch,
With wholesome Spring and air,
The child doth spring to years fifteen,
With visage fine and fair;
So do the flowers with softening showers,
Aye spring up as we see;
Yet, nevertheless, remember this,
That one day we must die.—OLD POEM, 1653.

JULY.

Then July comes with . . . is hot calme,
And constant in his kind;
The man doth thrive to thirty-five,
And sober grows his mind;
His children small do on him call,
And breed him sturt and strife;
His wife may die, and so must he
Go seek another wife.—OLD POAM, 1653.

JUNE.

Then cometh June, with pleasant tune,
When fields with flowers are clad,
And Phœbus bright is at his height,
All creatures then are glad.
Then he appears of thirty years,
With courage bold and stout;
His nature so makes him to go,
Of death he hath no doubt.—OLD POAM, 1653.

HOLY DAYS AND ANCIENT ANNIVERSARIES.

SEPTEMBER.

September then comes with his train,
And makes the flowers to fade;
Thon man belyve is forty-five,
Grave, constant, wise and staid;
When he looks on, how youth is gone,
And shall it no more see,
Then may he say, but night and day,
Have mercy, Lord, on me!—Old Poem, 1653.

OCTOBER.

October's blast comes in with boast,
And makes the flow'res to fall;
Then man appears at fifty years,
Old age doth on him call;
The almond-tree doth flourish hie,
And pale grows man we see!
Then it is time to use this line,
Remember man to die.—Old Poem, 1653.

NOVEMBER.

November air maketh fields bare,
Of flowers, of grass, and corn,
Then man arrives at fifty-five,
And sick both wen and morn;
Loins, legs, and thighs, with sad disease,
Make him to sigh and say,
Ah! Heaven on high have mind on me,
And learn me how to die.—Old Poem, 1653.

DECEMBER.

December fell, bath sharp and snell,
Makes flowers creep in the ground;
Then man's threescore, both sick and sore,
No soundness in him found,
His ears and een, and testh of bane,
All these now to him fall;
That he may say, both night and day,
That death shall him assall.—Old Poem, 1653.

The mean temp. of 1858 was 44.74°, being 2.01° higher than that of 1857, and 0.64° above the average of 19 years.

The mean temp. of the four seasons was as follows:—Winter ... 24.29° or 4.90° over that of '57 & 2.08° above avg. Spring ... 39.60° or 2.25° " " 57 & 1.07° below " Summer ... 67.21° or 3.89° " " 57 & 2.34° above " Autumn 47.35° or 1.48° " " 57 & 0.68° " "

The mean temperatures of the several months were in eight instances above and in four below the averages for those months. July and Feb. were as usual the warmest and coldest months as compared with other months in the year, but estimated by the deviation of their temperatures from their respective averages. January was the warmest month, and February the coldest.

The mean temperature of the warmest day, which was 79.98°, exceeded the nineteen years average by 2.56°. It occurred on June 26, which is 21 days earlier than the average date of the warmest day, but 32 days earlier than its normal date, or date derived from the normal curve of temperature for Toronto, a curve in which by the employment of five day groups accidental irregularities are eliminated. The mean temp. of the coldest day, which was +1.60°, exceeded the average by 1.8°. It occurred on Feb. 17, which is 22 days later than the average date of the coldest day, and 3 days later than the normal date of the coldest day.

The highest temperature of the year was 90.2°, or 0.5° lower than the average maximum of 19 years. It occurred on June 26, already mentioned as the warmest day, and 30 days earlier than the average date of its occurrence. The minimum temperature of the year was -7.3° or 3.8° higher than the average minimum. It occurred on Feb. 17, already mentioned as the coldest day, or 24 days later than the date at which, on the average, the absolutely lowest temperature has occurred. The range of temperature for the whole year, 97.5°, was less than the average by 4.2°.

Humidity.—The mean humidity of the year was 0.73, the greatest monthly humidity being in December, and the least in April, facts which conform very nearly to the experience of the past eighteen years, which give January and May as the dampest and driest months as regards the vapour suspended in the atmosphere. There were but three instances of perfect saturation, one in November and two in December, and the day when on the whole the atmosphere was most damp was March 15, when the mean humidity was 0.96. The instance of greatest atmospheric dryness was .08, at 4 p.m. of April 16; and the driest day on the whole was May 3, with a mean humidity of .39.

Clouds.—The extent of sky clouded was on the average 3.5ths of the whole hemisphere, and for nine months the sky was on the average at least half overcast. December was the most cloudy month, and September the month most free from clouds. This harmonises with experience as regards December, but the month in which on the whole clouds usually prevail least is July.

Wind.—The resultant direction of the wind for the year was considerably more from the west, and the resultant velocity as well as the mean velocity was much less than in the preceding three years. The most windy month was April, with a mean velocity 0.97 miles per hour, and the least windy month was June, with a mean velocity of 5.33. The most windy day was 21st March, with a mean velocity of 23.62 miles, and the most windy hour absolutely was from 3 to 4 p.m., on the same day, when the velocity was 3.64 miles. The most windy hour on the average of the year was from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., with a mean velocity of 10.51 miles, the least windy hour from midnight to 1 a.m., with a mean velocity of 5.88 miles.

Rain and Snow.—The depth of rain, 28.051 inches, was 2.674 inches below average, and depth of snow 45.4 inches or 16.2 less than average. The total depth of rain and melted snow fell short of the average by nearly 4.3 inches.

May was the most rainy month, estimated by the quantity of rain that fell, but considered with reference to the number of rainy days, October and May were equally rainy. February was in both respects the least rainy month. The most rainy day was May 11, when the depth of rain was 1.590 inches, and the days on which the heaviest fall of snow occurred were February 1, and 13, on each of which days it fell to the depth of 6 inches.

The fall of rain was distributed over 131 days, and the fall of snow over 67 days, including some days enumerated as days of rain: and there were 178 days without either rain or snow. The rain occupied about 534 hours, and the snow about 277 hours in its fall, giving thus a total of 861 hours, or nearly 30 days, or nearly one-tenth of the year when either rain or snow was actually falling.

The hours when rain was most frequent through the year was 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., the hours at which snow was most frequent were from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.; and the hour most subject either to rain or snow was from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. The hours most free from rain and snow considered separately, were from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. for rain, and from midnight to 1 a.m. for snow; and the hour most free from rain and snow taken collectively was from midnight to 1 a.m.

Thunderstorms.—There were but 19 thunderstorms, reckoning as such those cases in which thunder or lightning occurred accompanied by rain or hail; but there were besides 31 instances in which thunder and lightning occurred separately or together, but unaccompanied by either.

Auroras.—Auroras were more frequent than during the preceding five years, and that of October 27 exceeded in brilliancy any that were observed within that period.

From the foregoing statements, as well as from the accompanying table, it would appear that 1858 may on the whole be characterized as a moderate and average year, the most marked exception being the early date of the maximum of summer heat, the somewhat scanty supply of rain and snow, taking one month with the other, and its unusually large amount in the month of May.

THE MONETARY INSTITUTIONS OF CANADA.

Money is usually described as the medium of exchange, but may be more correctly defined as that single description of property which is always convertible into all other property at a fixed nominal price, and consequently the measure by which the relative values of all other commodities is ascertained.

In a rude state of society exchanges are made by bartering one article for another according to some kind of understood value. The unit may represent an ounce of gold, a bushel of wheat, or a bar of iron, and the exchange can be effected without the use of any medium whatever. As society advances, however, the inconveniences of this method of doing business become more and more apparent. One man setting out on a distant journey, and unwilling to burden himself with a cumbersome load of provisions, seeks out some article of great value and little bulk, which he can exchange on the way to supply his wants, or bury in the earth if overtaken by an enemy. Hence the precious metals became, at an early age, the principal medium of exchange among the Eastern nations. It is true many other commodities were successively employed for this purpose. In some countries cattle are said to have been the common instrument of commerce, and although they must have been a most inconvenient one, yet we find that in the Roman Empire itself things were frequently valued according to the number of cattle that were given in exchange for them. "The armour of Diomedes," says Homer, "cost but nine oxen, while that of Glaucon cost one hundred." Salt is said to be the common instrument of commerce in Abyssinia; a species of shells in some parts of India; hides or dressed leather in some other countries; while we learn, on the authority of Adam Smith, that up to a recent period it was customary in a village in Scotland to carry nails instead of money to the baker's shop or to the alehouse.

While, however, in savage life and in the less advanced stages of civilization, the use of metals may not have become general, we find that they are, and ever have been, the recognized media of commerce in all countries laying claim to advanced civilization.

The use of gold and silver and the great value attached to them in proportion to their size and weight, necessarily led to the establishment of places for their safe keeping, and the "King's Treasuries" became the first repositories of the precious metals. As society advanced, the savings of individuals came to stand equally in need of a place of safety. But the hoarding of a hundred small sums required the constant watchfulness of a hundred individuals, while by putting them in the same strong box, they could value attached to, necessarily air safe keeping, first repositories, the savings need of a place of small sums required individuals, box, they could be equally well guarded by a single individual. This naturally led to banks of Deposit, which were the first Monetary Institutions of which we have any account.

The first Bank of which we have any authentic record, was that of Venice, established in 1171. It was a government institution and confined its operations to the safe keeping of all monies deposited therein, for which accommodation a small sum was paid by the depositors. It existed some six hundred years and afforded great conveniences to the commerce, not only of Venice but of a great part of Europe. The Bank of Amsterdam, a similar institution, was established in the Netherlands in 1609. It received on deposit all the coins then in circulation, however worn or dipped or alloyed they might be, ascertained by assay the true value of the same, and passed them to the credit of the depositor as so much "back money." This arrangement established a uniform standard of money, and conferred the greatest advantages upon the trade of Amsterdam. It continued its operations without interruption till the invasion of the French Army in 1795.

The Bank of Hamburg is another institution much like the preceding. It has ever been, and still is, strictly a Bank of Deposit, and has always adhered to its functions as such. It has never loaned any of its funds but maintained in all respects its integrity both to its depositors and the public. It is supported by a small commission paid by each depositor, but as its funds generally bear a premium, it virtually costs the depositors nothing, the charges falling at last on those who drain its specie for exportation.

Towards the close of the seventeenth century England began to assume that commercial superiority for which she is now distinguished, and while it must be admitted that the requirements of her immense trade called her Banking Institutions into existence, it is equally certain that to them she owes much of her present commercial greatness.

Banking in England is of more modern origin than in those countries already mentioned. "In the reign of William the Third," says Macaulay, "old men were still living who could remember when there was not a single banking house in the city of London. So late as the time of the Restoration every trader had his own strong box in his own house, and when an acceptance was presented to him told down the crowns and Caroluses on his own counter. But the increase of wealth had produced its natural effects, the subdivision of labour. Before the end of the reign of Charles the Second a new mode of paying and receiving money had come into fashion among the merchants of the Capital. A class of agents arose whose office was to keep the cash of the commercial houses. This new branch of business naturally fell into the hands of the goldsmiths, who were accustomed to traffic largely in the precious metals, and who had vaults in which great masses of bullion could be secure from fire and from robbers. It was at the shops of the goldsmiths of Lombard Street that all the payments in coin were made. Other traders gave and received nothing but paper."

"This great change," continues the historian, "did not take place without much opposition and clamor. Old fashioned merchants complained bitterly that a class of men who thirty years before had confined themselves to their proper functions, and had made a fair profit by embossing silver bowls and chargers, by setting jewels for fine ladies, and by selling pistols and dollars to gentlemen setting out for the Continent, had become the treasurers and were fast becoming the masters of the whole city. The usurers, it was said, played at hazard with what had been earned by the industry and hoarded by the thrift of other men. If the dice turned up well, the knave who kept the cash became an alderman; if they turned up ill, the dupe who furnished the cash became a bankrupt. On the other hand, the conveniences of the modern practice were set forth in animated language. The new system, it was said, saved both labour and money. Two clerks seated in one counting-house did what, under the old system, must have been done by twenty clerks in twenty different establishments. A goldsmith's note might be transferred ten times in a morning, and thus a hundred guineas locked in his safe close to the Exchange, did what would have formerly required one thousand guineas, dispersed through many tills, some on Ludgate Hill, some in Austin-Friar, and some in Tower Street."

No sooner had banking become a separate and important branch of business, than the question of a National Bank began to be discussed, and resulted in the establishment of the Bank of England in 1694. This, the greatest Mon-tary Institution that the world has ever seen, was projected by one William Patterson, an obscure Scotchman, and commenced its operations with a capital of twelve hundred thousand pounds, which was loaned to the Government at eight per cent interest. The money thus lent was to carry on the war with France, and the interest was secured by a duty on tonnage. The Bank of England thus became, at its very commencement, a Bank of Discount as well as of Deposit, and afterwards becoming a Bank of Issue, embracing within the sphere of its operations the three distinct characteristics of Deposit, Discount and Circulation, in which it has been followed by nearly all modern Banking Institutions.

The establishment of the Bank of England led to the formation of many other joint stock banking companies in various parts of the United Kingdom, as well as in the Colonies, and such institutions may now be regarded as an essential element in the progress and development of a country.

Towards the close of the last century the requirements of commerce had led to the establishment of several banking companies in the United States, and the propriety of organizing a National Bank has been warmly discussed by contending political parties. But the failure of the Bank of the United States, a kind of national institution, in 1837, proved fatal to the success of this favorite project of the Whigs, as the Government of that country established, under the administration of General Jackson, the United States' Treasury, in which the funds of the Government have ever since been deposited. The absence of a national bank has not, however, prevented our enterprising neighbours from forming many joint stock banking companies, and it is scarcely too much to say that there are more banks in the United States than in all the rest of the world put together. The latest returns show that in that country there are about fourteen hundred banks, with a capital of nearly four hundred millions of dollars.

Up to a recent period the system of banking pursued in the United States was of the most objectionable kind, and derogatory to the character of the American people. That system is now, however, almost entirely swept away, and the banks have been placed on a secure and satisfactory footing. The crises of 1837 and 1857 have taught them the value of sound monetary institutions, and the restrictions which their Banking Laws now put upon the operations of "speculative" bankers are fast ridding their country of this, the most dangerous class of "money-making" gentlemen.

The history of our monetary institutions is not characterized by any of those disastrous failures which have inflicted so much injury upon other countries. The preference which the French Habiliens always showed for the precious metals rendered it a difficult task to convince them of the superiority of paper money. They knew the ring of the silver dollar and the golden doubloon, but were ignorant of the mysteries and did not appreciate the beauties of bank note engraving. Even at the present day the bills best known amongst them are those of the Banque Du Peuple, on which is engraved a facsimile of the Spanish silver dollar. Such a people were not the class amongst whom the worthless financier could pursue his trade to advantage. Subjected to the closest scrutiny at every turn, and repeatedly rejected altogether, it was impossible for our Canadian bank notes to pass muster unless they were, like Caesar's wife, above suspicion. Originating under circumstances so well calculated to insure the most perfect security, the Canadian Banks have increased in number and importance without a single failure worthy of being recorded. For upwards of forty years have the oldest of our banks pursued the "even tenor of their way," undisturbed by commercial struggles on the one hand and political struggles on the other. It is true that by orders of the Government they suspended specie payments in 1838, but their ability to meet their engagements was never once questioned, and now, after two years of commercial embarrassment and depression, that confidence so honourably won, and so wisely maintained, remains unimpaired. The increase of banking capital has not certainly kept pace with the increase of the general business of the Province, nor, in view of our relative population and wealth, does it approach that of the United States. Still, in looking back over a period of forty years, we find that the institutions originated during that time have been developed in the most satisfactory manner.

There are now in operation in Canada fourteen chartered banks, whose united paid up capital is $24,050,576, and two free banks with a capital of $240,000, making a total of $24,290,576. Of these banks, seven have their head quarters in Upper Canada, six in Lower Canada, and one in London.

The smaller banks have consequently but few branches or agencies.

By a clause in the Act of Incorporation of most of the Canadian Banks, they are required to render monthly returns of the state of their affairs to the Government.

Under the head of "Assets," must be given coin and bullion, landed or other property, government securities, promissory notes or bills of other banks, notes and bills discounted, and other debts due, not included in the foregoing heads. Under the head "Liabilities," there must be given the capital authorized, the capital paid up, notes in circulation, bills of exchange in circulation, balance due other banks, and cash deposits.

The returns thus periodically supplied furnish the best index to the past and present condition of our monetary institutions, and the subjoined table compiled from those returns presents a general view of the extent of our banking operations during the last sixteen years.

The difference at different periods in the relative amounts of loans, circulation and deposits which this table presents, is a subject which has occupied a large share of the attention of monetary writers. It is not, however, our intention to discuss it in this place, but would simply point it out as one of the "mysteries of banking."

The management of a banking institution is attended with grave responsibilities, and the success of the Canadian

Banks may well claim for their managers a passing tribute at our hands. Nor should the public forget that, of all others, the stockholders themselves are by far the most deeply interested in their proper management. In common with the public at large they share the risks of bill-holders and depositors. They are further exposed to the loss of their stock, and not only so, but by a clause in the charters of nearly all our banks, every shareholder is liable to double the amount of his respective shares. With this fact before us, the necessity of exercising the greatest care in conferring banking privileges cannot be too strongly impressed upon the Legislature. Of late, charters have been granted with too much laxity and too little consideration. If it is desirable to increase the amount of our bank capital, it is still more desirable to sustain the high character of the banks already in existence. Of this fact our Legislators seem to be oblivious, for within the last four years more charters have been granted than during the forty years preceding. Of those several have gone into operation, while others remain a dead letter. Among the latter may be named:

The Royal Bank, Toronto. The Eastern Townships Bank. The Union Bank, Hamilton. The St. Francis Bank. The Bank of Brantford. The Bank des Trois Rivieres.

And some others,

The godfathers of these imaginary institutions have shown their discretion in allowing them to remain on the statute book, but it is neither creditable to them nor just to the country to find so many bank charters at present in the market and liable to be controlled by any party having the necessary amount of funds, or what is still more likely, the necessary amount of financial ability to put them in operation. There is now no excuse for this indiscriminate granting of bank charters, as the Free Banking Law of Canada provides for the organization of as many banks as the projectors can find means to put in operation. This law is based on the model of the New York Free Banking Act, and provides that any company or individual may commence the business of banking, by depositing Provincial Debentures with the Government to the extent of one hundred thousand dollars. Notes to the same amount are endorsed by the Government and may be put in circulation, but must be redeemed in specie on presentation. The Bank of British North America has availed itself of this Act to the extent of $518,533, and has now in circulation under it $137,670 in small notes, its Imperial Charter not permitting the issue of notes of a less denomination than four dollars. With such a law as this there can be little need of special charters being granted to a few speculative individuals, and if such privileges are granted only when the public good requires them, the legislature can have little difficulty in rejecting the great majority of the applications that come before it.

The question as to whether large or small banks are most "secure in themselves, and most conducive to the public good, is one on which much diversity of opinion prevails. Whether a large number of independent banks with small capital and without branches, or a small number of large banks with branches scattered over the country, afford the greatest amount of accommodation or the most ample security, is a proposition regarding which much has been said on both sides. The experience of other countries would seem to indicate that large banks are the most successful. Yet, if large institutions are more able to sustain the pressure of a money panic, it is certain that they are at the same time more exposed to its force. The greatest security will probably be found between the two extremes, but it should never be forgotten that the only sure foundation on which a bank can be established is the wealth and respectability of its shareholders.

The fact that large banking companies with numerous agencies cause a strangency in every part of the country as soon as there is the least indication of a tight money market at head quarters, is often referred to in order to show the superiority of independent banks. It is well known, however, that the slightest change in the money market at the great commercial centres is immediately felt at the remotest parts; and even were it otherwise, it may well be questioned whether the policy that would check this harmony of action in the monetary affairs of a country would contribute to the general good. In the present circumstances of this Province large banks with numerous agencies are probably best calculated to accommodate its trade. Here the centres of industry change with the changing seasons. In winter, the lumbermen are busy in the forest; in spring, the merchant imports his stock; in summer, public works are engaged in, houses are built, and workshops hum with the sound of mechanical industry; in autumn, the farmer, the miller and the produce merchant are engaged in securing the products of the soil, and in preparing and shipping them to market. Each in his turn requires the use of a larger amount of means than a purely local institution could afford, while, by judicious management, the larger banks can accommodate alternately, and with much greater efficiency, the various branches of industry requiring their assistance. Thus, the Bank of British North America places one million dollars of extra capital at the disposal of the Toronto Branch, for the use of produce buyers, during the autumn months, and thus all the larger banks knowing where their capital can be best employed, have at their command the necessary agents for placing it to advantage.

Towards the close of the last century another class of monetary institutions, of a less pretentious character, was organized by a few benevolent individuals, and has since conferred immense benefits upon the poorer classes.—Savings' Banks, where the poor could deposit the smallest sums, have from small beginnings risen to occupy a respectable place among modern institutions. In the little State of Massachusetts, the amount of money deposited in the Savings' Banks is over $31,000,000, or considerably more than the whole capital of the Canadian Banks. In Canada these institutions have not been attended with the same success. Those safeguards which the legislators of England and the United States have thrown around them in their respective countries, have here been almost totally neglected, and even the little security that is afforded by our laws is rendered worthless by the general indifference to their success. By the laws of England and the United States, returns are regularly made to the Government of the condition of these institutions, but a similar law on our statute book is almost totally neglected. The result is, that with a few exceptions, the Savings' Banks of Canada are little else than private concerns, and the savings of the poorer classes are placed in jeopardy every hour. To this neglect on the part of the Government and Legislature may be ascribed the little progress they have made, and when it is remembered that the want of a secure place of deposit leads the working man to spend his surplus earnings instead of saving them, the indifference of which we complain cannot be too strongly condemned. Owing to the absence of any authorized statement of their affairs, we are unable to state the amount now on deposit in the various Savings' Banks in the Province. In Justice, however, to those which comply with the requirements of the Legislature, we give a summary of the statements furnished by them:—

Those Savings' Banks which have failed to make returns to the Government should be called upon to do so, and in the mean time it would be well for depositors to see that the institutions in which they have placed their hard earned savings, make public the state of their affairs.

Another cause operating against the success of Savings' Banks in Canada was the failure of the Montreal Provident and Savings' Bank, in 1848. This Bank had in its Board of Directors some of the most respectable merchants in the city, and had obtained the entire confidence of the community. It ultimately paid many of its depositors in full, by conveying to them its securities, which consisted principally of real estate. Small amounts were paid in full in cash, and those who waited till the concern was wound up received 18s. 2d. in the pound. Notwithstanding these facts, the failure of this Institution shook public confidence in every other Savings' Bank in the Province.

The absence of Savings' Banks is to a great extent, and particularly among the better class of depositors, supplied by Building Societies, which may now be fairly classed among our monetary institutions. Originally organized to aid the industrious classes in their efforts to procure homesteads, many of these societies have become, under the extended facilities granted by their Acts of Incorporation, the depositories for the savings not only of the working classes, but for the more wealthy portion of the community.

Building Societies, or more properly " Mutual Loan and Investment Societies," on the improved or permanent system, have a two-fold object: first, to secure to investors a high rate of interest on their capital, free from anxiety as to its safety, or the regular certainty of their returns; and secondly, to provide a fund from which the owners of real estate may obtain loans on the security of their property. The success of these institutions, when properly conducted, is the best evidence of their utility and safety.

Among the most successful institutions of this class may be placed the "Canada Permanent Building and Savings' Society," incorporated in 1855, and having its head office in Toronto. The shares are fifty dollars each, and are paid up by instalments of one dollar per month for four years, or four dollars per month for one year, commencing from the time of entrance. These monthly instalments may be commuted by a single payment, a discount, or an equal credit for future instalments being allowed for prepayment. At the expiration of the time for which the share is taken, the stockholder will be entitled to receive back the amount paid in, with the accumulated profits, which, judging from the past history and present position of the Society, will not be less than 15 percent, per annum. An important improvement recently made by the Legislature in the constitution of these Societies, confers on shareholders the right to reinvest their capital when the share becomes due, and afterwards to receive thereon a periodical dividend, which will be declared half yearly or yearly.

Members who wish to withdraw what they have invested on accumulating shares, are permitted by the rules to receive back what they have paid in, with compound interest thereon at six per cent. per annum. The Directors are, however, authorized to allow more than six per cent, and have from time to time added very materially to that rate, ten per cent, being now paid for shares in the older classes. As shares near their maturity a premium on withdrawing more nearly approximating to the actually realized profits may be relied on. The sums paid in are invested in loans on mortgages, under the supervision of a Board of Directors, chosen annually by the shareholders from among themselves; and in order to guard against the fluctuations to which property in this country is liable, a margin of from 50 to 100 per cent, and upwards is maintained in the value of real estate held in security. The last Report of this Society shows that the amount paid in on Shares was $162,583 02; the realized profits, $37,626 13; besides the sum of $63,717 received on deposit as already mentioned. Looking at the advantages which such institutions confer upon the community at large, and particularly upon the industrial classes, it is to be hoped that the sphere of their operations will be greatly extended.

Another monied institution doing business in Canada but having its head quarters in London, is the Trust and Loan Company of Upper Canada. This company is incorporated by Act of Parliament, and is authorized to loan money on real estate and other securities at a rate of interest not exceeding eight per cent per annum. Its paid up capital is £250,000 sterling, but it has also borrowed on its Debentures £245,730 sterling. These sums, with its reserve fund of £18,000, form the sum of £723,730 sterling, which this company has at its disposal. Of this amount, its last half-yearly statement showed that it had invested in Canada:—

In Mortgages.....	$2,675,406
" Montreal Fire Loan	317,246
" Municipal Debentures	65,100
" Cash at Bankers	73,819

$3,131,631

Or over three millions of dollars, on which was collected the sum of $112,404 interest for the half year.

Before closing this account of the Monetary Institutions of Canada, it may not be out of place to notice the issue of Provincial Debentures in 1848-9 and 1850. The severe commercial depression that existed in 1848 had so far diminished the Provincial receipts that the finances of the Government became temporarily embarrassed; the Banks were unable or unwilling to grant the required relief, and in the emergency the then Inspector General (Hon. F. Hincks) determined to issue small Debentures, principally of the denomination of ten and twenty dollars, to meet the demands on the treasury. These debentures bore six per cent. interest, were payable twelve months after date, and were received in payment of all Government dues. The first issue took place about the middle of July, 1848, and by the 21st of that month the sum of £3,330 had been put in circulation. By the end of December of the same year £198,727 10s. had been paid out, of which £112,380 were returned in payment of debts due to the Government.

THE MONETARY INSTITUTIONS OF CANADA.

leaving in circulation the sum of £86,347 10s. By the 31st December, 1849, £570,637 had been issued, of which £482,662 10s. had been cancelled, leaving £108,075 in circulation. The last of these debentures were issued on the 10th of May, 1850, at which period £601,682 10s. had been issued, and £530,270 returned, leaving £131,412 10s. in the hands of the public. These debentures passed current outside the Bank, but were not received on deposit, and were consequently often sold at a discount of from $\frac{1}{4}$ to 5 per cent. The fact that Provincial debentures, bearing six per cent. interest and payable twelve months after date, were sold at a discount in the broker's offices in Montreal, sometimes within six months of maturity, is strong proof that money was much scarcer then than it is now, what-ever may be said to the contrary.

The principal subject of discussion in connection with our monetary institutions, has been the repeal of the usury laws. Up to the summer of 1858, it was illegal for private individuals or banking companies to charge over six per cent. interest. Any charge over that rate could not be collected, and if paid could be recovered at law. But the Act of 1858 permits the banks to charge seven per cent., and leaves private parties to make their own terms.

The propriety of removing all restrictions from our Banks in the rate of interest charged by them, is now generally admitted in Western Canada, as the present law confines the Banks to first class paper and compels them to reject the most needy borrowers, who are thus driven into the hands of the money brokers, and compelled to pay a much higher rate. In some quarters, and more particularly in the lower section of the Province, it is true, this appears to have been strongly opposed, but this is probably due to a mistaken idea of the nature of money and of the causes which govern its price. It is true, many of our farming population, who are in debt to the country dealers, will find the interest increased on their overdue accounts; but if the pressure thus put upon them will arouse them to the danger of allowing themselves to run so deeply in debt, the result will be most beneficial, not only to them but to the country at large. The practice so general in this country of keeping open accounts with the country merchants is fraught with the direst consequences, and cannot be too strongly condemned. To this cause may be largely ascribed the great commercial depression of the last two years, for had the great majority of the people been free from debt, and living within their means, the partial failure of the wheat crop would not have produced the effects we have lately experienced. It would be well if the attention of country traders could be directed to this subject, for on them, more than on the agricultural community, must be laid the blame of fostering this unwholesome state of trade. Instead of estimating the ability of their customers to pay their accounts when due, the line of credit is generally measured by the value of the farm. Dollar by dollar the little bill accumulates till it becomes the promissory note, and after a time the mortgage. Meantime the storekeeper's own engagements fail to be met, and the whole business of the country is thrown into disorder. As the mortgage matures, the farmer is thrown upon the tender mercies of the money lender—and then commences that downward career, the result of which it is not difficult to foresee. No usury laws will then avert his fate. Money will command its price, or it cannot be had at all, and the unfortunate mortgagor delays the evil day by the payment of a high rate of interest. Sad indeed is the condition of the poor farmer whose cheap goods and twelve months' credit have involved in debt. The fly may spare a portion of his crop, the rust may leave many stems untouched; but the heartless usurer will take the last loaf from the mouths of his little ones, and finally drive him and them from that homestead which the best part of his life may have been spent in building up.

If, then, we condemn the restrictions on money as a useless and injurious interference with the course of trade, we are not the less alive to the evils inflicted upon the country by the practice of borrowing money at exorbitant rates of interest. But the remedy is not to be found in restricting the sale of money, but in good management and prudent living. It is frequently charged against our Banks that they do not sufficiently assist the farming population, but it is very questionable whether a farmer who is out of debt and of good character, is often refused a moderate amount of assistance. Unfortunately, when he does give his obligation it is generally to settle an overdue account which he is no better able to pay in one shape than another, and when the Bank comes to demand payment it is put off with the consoling assurance that the drawer has plenty of means, but in these hard times is unable to realize.

Let it not be supposed that because the agricultural population are not the direct recipients of Bank discounts, that they are not largely indebted to them for many indirect advantages. Who supplies the wheat buyers and the lumbermen with cash to buy the farmer's produce? Who gives the butcher, the baker, and the tanner, the necessary means to carry on their business? Where, in a word, would our farmer's find a market if the Banks withdrew their capital from our produce dealers and manufacturers?

We should never lose sight of the fact that bank capital can only be legitimately used as a facilitator of commerce, and cannot be sunk in real estate without risk to the bank and inconvenience to the community. Nor should it be forgotten that in no case is it safe for the farmer to allow large obligations to mature at the same time. The most valuable farm yields but a small return in a single year; and when the owner requires to borrow money, he should be careful to extend the term of payment over a long period. Inattention to this important truth has ruined many an industrious and otherwise careful man. The importance of this fact has long been recognized in Europe, and "Landed Credit Companies" have been established to assist the agricultural community. The principle upon which these companies are conducted is probably better suited to the circumstances of the farmer than that of any of those already mentioned. The sum borrowed is made payable by small annual instalments which form a sinking fund, and being allowed to accumulate at compound interest, discharges the debt without any heavy drain upon the borrower. We are glad to notice the establishment of a "Landed Credit Company" in Canada, and having its head office in this city. Although yet it is in its infancy, the progress it has already made is the best proof of its suitability to the circumstances of this province. Our agriculturists have hitherto depended mainly upon the natural fertility of the soil, and have expended but little in increasing that fertility by improved methods of agriculture. The present system, however, cannot be long continued, and the Canadian farmer who would preserve his property from depreciation and his family from want must be prepared to adopt those means which have added so much to the agricultural resources of the parent country. To do so to advantage capital will be required, and unless that capital can be obtained at reasonable rates and on easy terms of payment, the remedy will be found worse than the disease. It is therefore of the highest importance to the agriculturist that when money is wanted money can be had, and that on terms which, while they afford the most ample guarantee to the lender, also afford the best opportunity to the borrower to discharge the loan.

The history of our banking and other monetary institutions furnishes no inapt illustration of our progress as a country. Forty years ago, when the Bank of Montreal commenced business with a capital of £87,000, the city of Toronto was scarcely as large as Yorkville, and certainly could not boast of any such private residences as are to be found there. Many of the finest townships, and even some of the best counties in Upper Canada, were unsurveyed. The journey from Montreal to Toronto then occupied as many days as it does hours at the present time, while the close of navigation completely arrested the transportation of merchandize from one point to the other. The postage of a letter, now carried for five cents, was over a quarter dollar; while the charge on a letter from England, now carried for a York shilling, was over a dollar, and the time occupied in the transit was generally between two and three months. For these results we are no doubt vastly indebted to the assistance of our monetary institutions; and while blaming them for withholding, as they sometimes do, their assistance from deserving enterprises and worthy men, we should never forget the good they have accomplished and are daily accomplishing in the various branches of commerce, trade and manufactures.

While the merits of different systems of banking and our various monetary institutions have been freely discussed, the "science of money" has been almost entirely overlooked. Men take gold and silver because their fathers did so, and paper money for no better reason. They rarely enquire into the nature of money or the laws which govern its circulation. The subject, however, must soon force itself upon the public mind. The immense quantities of gold annually brought from California and Australia, together with the increase of paper money and other means of facilitating the commerce of the world, must in a few years seriously interfere with our present standards of value, and lead to new investigations into the nature of money and the laws which govern its use.

MATHEMATICAL DEPARTMENT.

The prize of Books to the value of Twenty Dollars offered by the Publishers for the best solutions of the Problems in last year's Almanac is awarded to Mr. Asher B. Evans, West Somerset, Niagara Co., N.Y. In consequence of the slight interest manifested in the past year by mathematical men in our Problems they have been discontinued in the present issue, but will be resumed in 1861 if contributors will forward problems and express more generally their approval of our endeavors to cultivate a Mathematical taste in the Province. Friends forwarding problems for insertion must in all cases accompany them with solutions; selected problems are inadmissible.

We have great pleasure in publishing the following acknowledgments of the receipt of our Prizes for the years 1857 and 1858:—

To Messrs. Maclear & Co., Toronto.

Gentlemen:—I beg to acknowledge, with many thanks, the receipt of books from your establishment to the value of $20, being the Mathematical Prize awarded by you for the solution of Problems proposed in the Canadian Almanac for the years 1857 and 1858.

Brockville, Aug. 2, 1859.

E. J. SENKLER.

Morpeth, August 12, 1859.

Received from Messrs. Maclear & Co. the sum of Twenty Dollars, being the amount of Prize promised by them for second best solutions of Problems published in their Almanac for 1857 and 1858.

R. S. FINLAY.

MATHEMATICAL SOLUTIONS received from Correspondents.

Mr. NOBLE R. OLIVER, London, S.S. Wm. Pitt St.—Probs. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 15, 16.

Mr. W. MOWBRAY, Mono.—Probs. 1, 2, 3, 4, 11, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20.

Mr. H. T. B. DHE. SCUDAMORE, Newbury.—Probs. 1, 2, 5, 7, 9, 11, 15, 19.

M. BAILLARGE.—Prob. 7, 11.

Mr. ASHER B. EVANS, West Somerset, Niagara Co., N.Y.—Probs. All except Prob. 22.

SOLUTIONS to Problems in 1859.

PROB. I.—Edge of cube, 8·66 inches; thickness of globe, 2·006 inches.

PROB. II.— $121x^2 - 845x + 1473 = 0$.

PROB. III.—By taking the 12 intersections of three pairs of parallels in different positions, there are 7 distinct varieties of figure; by taking the 12 intersections of two pairs of parallels with themselves and two lines not parallel, there are other 7 distinct varieties: besides these, there is an infinite variety of unsymmetrical arrangements.

PROB. IV.—Distances required 16·48 chains.

PROB. V.—Distance from the nearest wall is 22·36 feet.

PROB. VI.—Time for train A, 15·70824 hours, for train B, 11·70824; pressure of steam, 46·275 lbs.; evaporation, 982 cubic feet per minute; number of bushels required, 20 $\frac{1}{2}$; velocity, 21 feet.

[Mr. Oliver remarks that this Problem, and Problem I. (both proposed by Mr. McLellan) are taken verbatim from one of the earlier numbers of the British Controversialist.]

PROB. VII.—The transverse axis bisects the angle between the vectors.

PROB. VIII.—The station for E is the centre of gravity of the triangle ABC; the distances sailed are, A, 231·157 miles; B, 148·964; C, 425·124; D, 514·4.

PROB. IX.— $36^\circ 34' 58''$.

PROB. XI.—Latitude $22\frac{1}{2}^\circ$ nearly. (See Herschel's Treatise on Sound.)

PROB. XII.—Has no solution in whole numbers, and Prob. XIII., though presenting no analytical difficulty, could only be reduced to numbers by a greater expenditure of labor than it is worth. The authors have not sent their own solutions as requested.

PROB. XIV.—The series is 17, 80, 143, &c. Common difference, 63.

PROB. XV.—An infinite number of solutions. The most simple are:—A's rate, 4 miles per hour; B's, $5\frac{1}{2}$; time of meeting 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours; here they meet at the starting point.

A's, 14; B's, 42; time, $\frac{1}{2}$ hour; here they meet at the opposite point.

PROB. XVI.—Generally, if n be the number of years, A each instalment, amount of mortgage n A, 100 ($R-1$) the rate of interest per cent. per annum paid, 100 ($S-1$) the rate to be made on the investment; then putting $$\frac{1 - S^{-n}}{n(S-1)} = c, \text{ the sum to be given for the mortgage is } nA \left\{ c + \frac{R-1}{S-1}(1-c) \right\}.$$

Here $n = 5$, A = 100 £, R = 1·06, S = 1·1; sum required is £451·62.

PROB. XVII.—The sum of all the inner areas is 3 times the outer one.

PROB. XIX.—Taking the equation to the cardioid, $r = 2a(\cos \frac{\theta}{2})^2$, that to the envelope is $r = 2a(\cos \frac{\theta}{3})^3$, and the area of its semi-ellipse is to that of the cardioid as 5 to 8.

PROB. XX.—Height of cylinder is to its radius as 1 to $\sqrt{2}$.

PROB. XXI. If n be the number of inches in the radius of the cylinder, the specific gravity required is $\frac{(48)^3}{100n}$, that of water being 1.

PROB. XXII.—The given velocity being v ; the mass of the particle m ; moment of inertia of tube about its centre, Mk^2 ; the angular velocity required is $\frac{v}{k} \sqrt{\frac{m}{M}}$.

PROB. XXIII.—Putting $\cot \phi = 1 - \cot \theta + \cot^3 \theta$; $r^2 = 1 - 2 \sin \theta \cos \theta + \sin^2 \theta$, the sum of the series is $r^{2-n} \cos^n \phi - 1$.

Thompson, Second English Master; J. Dodd, Third English Master; H. Haacker, German Master; S. Westmacott, Drawing Master; A. Maul, Instrumental Music Master; —, Gymnastics, Fencing, &c. In the eight Forms into which the College is divided, the pupils, besides being thoroughly grounded in Classics and Mathematics, receive progressive instruction in French, Natural Philosophy, Physical Geography, English Literature, English Composition, Elocution and Reading, Arithmetic, Geography, Book-keeping, Writing, &c. The lowest of these eight Forms is the Preparatory, into which boys generally enter at the age of eight of nine years. The instruction in this Form is only so far classical as the rudiments of Latin are concerned,—more than two-thirds of the time being devoted to the elements of an English education. In the First, or next higher Form, a little more time is given to Latin; and in the Second the elements of Greek and of Algebra are commenced. In the Third, and the Forms above it, Classics and Mathematics are gradually brought into more and more prominence, while the branches constituting an English education are advanced with equally careful precision. In the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Forms German forms a part of the regular course. Although provision is made for the attainment of a sound English education in what are called the Classical Forms, there is in addition an English Department, from which Classics only are excluded, the whole time being bestowed on the other subjects taught in the College, German forming also a part of the regular course of the higher Divisions. For the better cultivation of English Literature, Composition, and Elocution, in this Department and in the College Forms, a new master (the English Classical) has been created and recently filled up by the appointment of a gentleman whose reputation as an able master has been well established in public schools in England. Upper Canada College combines, therefore, all the advantages of a Commercial School, with facilities for obtaining a sound Classical training possessed by no other institution in the country. The College year commences with the Autumn Term. The Autumn Term begins Sept. 8; Winter do., Nov. 20; Spring do., Feb. 15; Summer do., May 1. Reports of the progress and conduct of the pupils are sent to parents at the end of each Term. Deducting the Vacations, the Terms are ten weeks each. The Tuition Fee is $3 for one Pupil, $1 each for two (Brothers), $6 each for three (Brothers), $5 each for four (Brothers); and the Fee for Boarders, inclusive of Tuition, is $15 per Term. The many improvements made in the arrangement of the College Boarding House have been found to add very materially to the comfort of the boarders. A large paved Ball Court and a Gymnasium, fitted up with the most approved modern appliances, and a spacious play-ground and cricket ground afford ample facilities for outdoor exercise and amusement within the College bounds. The Boarding House is conducted strictly as an integral part of the Institution, its disbursements paid out of, and its returns paid into, the general funds. Prizes of books and certificates of honor are given every year to those who distinguish themselves in any of the subjects taught in the College. His Excellency the Governor General offers annually a valuable Prize of Books for the best examination in the higher departments of Classics and Mathematics. At the Annual Public Examination in July Exhibitions are competed for, varying in value from $100 to $20 per annum. Competition for them all is open to the Grammar Schools of the whole Province. CONSTABLE'S GUIDE.

PROSPECTUS.

"A SKETCH OF THE OFFICE OF CONSTABLE,"

BY ADAM WILSON, ESQUIRE, Q. C.,

MAYOR OF THE CITY OF TORONTO.

"The Constable hath as good authority in his place as the Chief Justice hath in his."

PRICE, ONE DOLLAR.

This sketch, which has been prepared more particularly for the use of the Police Force of Toronto, is, nevertheless, well adapted for the use of all Constables, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, and other Peace officers throughout the Province, and it will be found to be very useful to the Magistrate, and even to the Lawyer.

Great care has been taken to state the different rules shortly and with precision, and to illustrate them by a very full citation of legal decisions, giving, in addition to the law, the facts and circumstances of each case upon which the law was pronounced.

By this course the Constable will see, not merely what the law is, but the reason why it was so settled, and as the facts are more likely to be interesting to him, because so similar it may be to some experience of his own, or because they may be useful to him when a similar emergency occurs, he will take a greater interest in the law, when coupled with the facts, than he would by reading the dry rule, without the preceding history of the case.

The writer has also endeavoured to make the subject both interesting and instructive, as he has copied freely from the "Reviews" and from "Household Words," upon the training, service, and experience of the Force, and although the work was undertaken solely to assist the Constable in the execution of his duty, it may be safely said that it will be found to be a very valuable legal acquisition.

It would be difficult to furnish an extract from the sketch which would give an adequate idea of its usefulness, but the following "Table of Contents" will show its scope and comprehensiveness.

READ THE TESTIMONY FROM ENGLAND.

BOLTON, Eng., June 4, 1860.

Messrs. Perry Davis & Son:

Sirs.—I have very great pleasure in recommending your medicine. I was suffering a few weeks since with a complaint called Bronchitis, and could scarcely take any food. I was recommended to try your PAIN KILLER, and after taking a few doses, I was completely cured.

Yours truly, THIS. WILKINSON.

P. S.—I have recommended the same medicine to many of my friends for different complaints, and in every instance it has had the desired effect of doing good.

T. W.

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 31, 1859.

Having tested the medicine called PAIN KILLER, manufactured by Perry Davis & Son, of Providence, in the United States, I have much pleasure in speaking of its great efficacy and usefulness. Two years ago I was suddenly afflicted with painful infernal disease, when a friend of mine (who had just returned from the States,) seeing my anguish, gave me a small quantity of Pain Killer which he had brought with him and which I took internally, as he directed. The relief was immediate, and so satisfied was I of its value as a medicine, that I immediately sent over to New York for a dozen of the large bottles, and I am thankful to say it has proved to my family and to others who have used it, of inestimable value, and relief to almost all kinds of suffering and pain.

Yours truly,

H. D. MEAD.

BRADLEY, Eng., June 5, 1859.

Sirs:—“I hereby certify that I have used PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER for bruises, cuts, and many other purposes, and it a most speedy and valuable remedy.”

Yours truly,

T. WILDE.

JEWELL INN, near Manchester.

“This is to certify that I have been troubled with rheumatism in my face and gums, and have had nearly all my teeth extracted in consequence, but since I have made use of PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, I have not had a pain in my face or gums.”

G. J. ASHTON.

MR. FLETCHER.—Sir: “Having suffered severely from rheumatic pains in the head and face, I was induced from what I heard you say of it, to try PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, from which I soon found relief. It is indeed a valuable article.”

I am yours, &c.,
WM. EVANS, (Miner,) Willenhall, Eng.

Sir—I can with confidence recommend your excellent medicine—the PAIN KILLER—for rheumatism, toothache and indigestion, having proved its efficacy for these complaints.”

REUBEN MITCHELL.

LITTLE BOLTON, Eng.

“This is to certify that I have been a sufferer from indigestion and violent sick headache for upwards of four years. I have consulted many of the Faculty, but have derived no material benefit from any source until I tried PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, which, I am happy to state, has done me more good than all I ever tried before.”

ESTHER BRIGGS,
No. 29 St. John Street.

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 25, 1859.

“Having used PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER for the last two years for attacks of indigestion and colds, with the most perfect success, I have pleasure in testifying to its efficacy. I have also given it to my friends in various attacks of sore throat, pains in the face, hoarseness, &c., and it always cured them. I consider it a valuable medicine.”

Yours, &c., F. P. WALKER,
No. 42 Market Street.

Sirs:—“I have used the medicine called PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, and find it to be the best family medicine over used. No family ought to be without it.”

Yours, &c., E. JONES,
Snow Hill, Dudley, Eng.

Dear Sirs:—“I have suffered very much from a pain in my side, of twelve months standing. I tried a great many remedies but got no relief until I was induced to apply PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, when I soon began to recover, and am now quite free from the pains.”

I beg to remain yours truly,

ANN MURPHY,
(Kates Hill,) Dudley, Eng.

Sir:—I desire to bear willing testimony to the wonderful efficacy of that American remedy called PERRY DAVIS'S PAIN KILLER, which I believe has no equal in this country. I have been afflicted with heart disease, and could find no relief till I got PERRY DAVIS'S VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, which soon made a cure. I am quite willing to answer any inquiries about my case.”

Yours, &c., FANNY SILVERS,
Dudley, (Worcestershire,) Eng.

THE MIGHTY HEALERS!!!
 WORLD KNOWN AND WORLD TRIED,
HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.

DYSPEPSIA.

The great scourge of this continent yields quickly to a course of these antiseptic Pills, and the digestive organs are restored to their proper tone; no matter in what hideous shape this hydra of disease exhibits itself, this searching and unerring remedy disperses it from the patient's system.

ERYSIPelas AND SALT RHEUM

Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent; to these the Ointment is especially antagonistic, its modus operandi is first to eradicate the venom and then complete the cure.

BILIUS DISORDERS.

The proper quantum and right condition of the Bile is of momentous importance to the health of the human frame; this ANTI-BILIUS medicine expels the hidden seeds of the complaint, and renders all the fluids and secretions pure and fluent, cleansing and resuscitating the vital functions of the body.

BAD LEGS, OLD SORES AND ULCERS.

Cases of many years standing, that have hitherto refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful unguent.

* * * Sold at the Manufactories of Professor HOLLOWAY, 80 Malden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in pots, at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1 each.

42nd There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

N.B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each pot.

OFFICE IN TORONTO, - - 36 YONGE STREET.

INSURANCE from loss or damage by Fire has been found to be of great importance to the security of property, and to the happiness of families. This precaution is seldom neglected by Merchants and Tradesmen, and is equally necessary to Gentlemen, Farmers and Manufacturers of every kind. The PHOENIX OFFICE was established by a numerous proprietor, in January, 1782, upon principles of public utility. The promptitude and cheerfulness with which the most important losses have been made good by the Company, are well known: a large capital in Government securities is at all times held in readiness for that purpose.

N.B.—The private fortunes of every individual shareholder in the Company is responsible for its engagements:
 and no person insured in this Office is liable for the losses of others, as is the case in contribution societies.

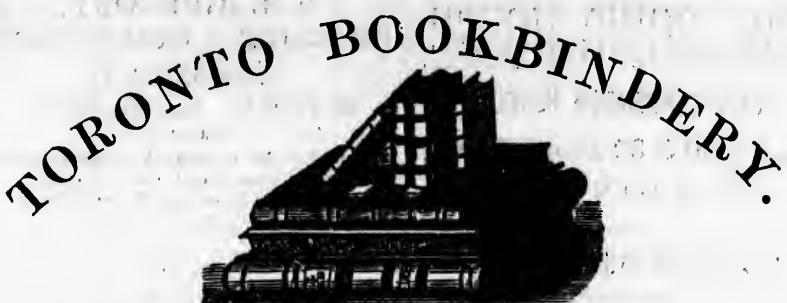

Insurance can be effected in the PHOENIX at as low rates as in any other respectable Company; and losses promptly adjusted and paid in this country, without reference to the Board of Directors in London.

Insurances taken for short periods at corresponding rates of premium.

DURING the first nine Months of the present year (1859) a period of unexampled commercial depression, if the last two months are excepted—the Leader and the Patriot have added no less than 12,638 new subscribers to the list. Considering the circumstances under which this progress has been made—taking into account the number of English speaking inhabitants which the Province contains—this rate of progress is wholly unexampled in the history of newspapers. This increase alone, the work of only nine months, is larger than the entire circulation of any other newspaper in the Province, with a single exception; and is equal to the aggregate circulation of fifteen or twenty journals which might be named. No better proof of the estimation in which the paper is held by the public could be given; and it is certain that if this Journal did not express the sentiments of a very large proportion of the people of Upper Canada, it should have failed to receive so decided a mark of their approbation.

This Branch was only opened last January, and now has an income of

SEVENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS!

Which is retained in this country.

The increase of business in England is unprecedented, as shown by the Parliamentary returns, and the following taken from the last September Report:

"It will thus be seen that the total amount of business done during the last nine months of the Company's operations has been TWENTY-TWO THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND ONE NEW POLICIES," producing an additional annual income of

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS!

The Report further says, that "the Directors congratulate the shareholders on this satisfactory increase in the business of the Company, and they have every reason to believe that from the connection now formed it will continue to increase in the same ratio."

The Capital of the Company is devoted entirely to FIRE LIABILITIES, having no reserve fund for a Life Branch.

All Losses in Canada are submitted to the gentlemen composing the Board, who examine the particulars, and if found satisfactory, at once order the payment of the claim. This system has called forth numerous cards of thanks.

If differences should arise between claimants and the Company, the Manager is fully empowered to accept service of any process in law.
