The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

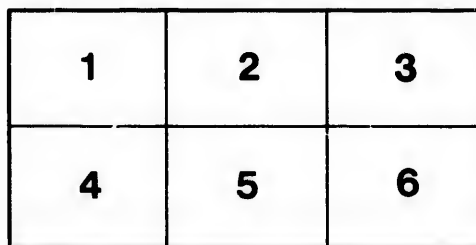

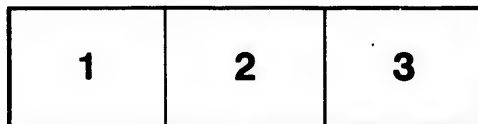

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol ➡ (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

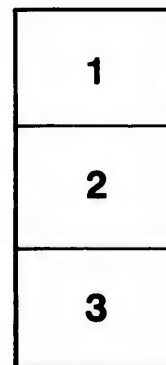

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole ➡ signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

ECLIPSES IN 1838.

There will be two ECLIPSES of each of the great LUMINARIES in heaven this year.

I. The first will be of the SUN, at the time of new moon in March, a great and total eclipse, but invisible in North America by reason of the Moon's south latitude.

II. The second will be a partial eclipse of the MOON, at the time of the full on Monday evening, April 9th visible.

	h.	m.
First contact of the Moon with the Earth's Penumbra	6	55	} Apparent time.
Eclipse begins	8	16
Middle	9	42
End of the Eclipse	11	9
Last contact of the Moon with the Earth's Penumbra	0	30	morning of the 10th.

Digits eclipsed $7^{\circ} 14'$ on the Moon's south limb.

III. The third will be a great eclipse of the SUN, on the afternoon of Tuesday, Sept. 18th, at the time of New Moon, visible throughout all North America, Greenland, the Arctic, eastern part of the Pacific, and western part of the Atlantic Oceans: central and annular in a path about two hundred miles broad, over the north-western or Wisconsin Territory, and the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. At the time of this eclipse, the Moon will be at her apogee or greatest possible distance from the earth, causing a ring of the Sun to appear all around her dark body at the time of greatest obscuration at all places in the path of the annular eclipse. At HALIFAX, its phases will be as follows:

	h.	m.
Beginning	4	2	} Apparent time.
Greatest obscuration	4	51
Sun sets	6	8
Eclipse end	6	22

Digits eclipsed $10^{\circ} 40'$ on the Sun's south limb.

IV. The fourth and last will be of the MOON, at the time of the full, in October; invisible, as the moon will be below the horizon.

EXPLANATION OF THE CALENDAR PAGES.

First Column, contains the days of the month.

Second, the days of the week.

Third, Sundays, Anniversaries, Weather, &c.

Fourth, Rising of the Sun.

Fifth, Setting of the Sun.

Sixth, Sun's Declination taken from the Nautical Almanack. in hours and minutes, at mean noon. It denotes the apparent position of the true Sun with reference to the equator, and the true equinox, at the instant the Greenwich mean time clock, or chronometer, indicates 0h. 0m. 0s., or when the hour angle of the true sun is equal to the equation of time.

Seventh, Rising and Setting of the Moon.

Eighth, Moon's Southings—when the moon comes to the Meridian of any place, or twelve o'clock hour-line, she is then due south with respect to that place, and this is termed the moon's southing.

This column also shews the time of High Water at Parrsboro', Horton, Cornwallis, Windsor, Newport, &c.

Ninth, Moon's place in the Signs. The meaning of these characters may be learned from the "explanation of characters" on page 2.

Tenth, Time of High Water at Halifax, of that tide which arrives when the moon is nearest to the meridian—the time of the tide which happens when the moon is farthest from the meridian may be easily ascertained by the addition of half the difference of the times of high water on the preceeding and following days.

The top of the columns shows the Moon's phases, or the times of New and Full Moon, and of the first and last quarter, or two quadratures with the Sun.

To find the length of the day, add 12 hours to the time of the Sun's setting, and from the sum subtract the time of rising.

The Farmer's Calendar is placed at the foot of the columns of each month.

All the calculations are in Apparent or Solar time; that is the time shown by the Sun. If you should wish to set a clock which should keep Mean time, observe when the Sun is on the Meridian by a noon mark or Sun dial; then if the Sun is slow, add the Equation, if fast, subtract it, from 12, o'clock and it gives the true clock time. A table of the Equation of time, will be found on the next page after the Calendar. Thus you will find at apparent noon, June 1, the true time is 11 h. 57 m. 25 s. June 30, it is 12h. 3 m. 22 s.

As for the Weather, we are still determind to have now and then a guess at it, hit or miss, our prognostics are founded on the weather table published in the Almanack some years since, and we hope that at least, they will be found as often right as wrong; at any rate, we shall endeavour not to confound winter snows with summer showers.

Farmer's Calendar.—"Happy new year! I wish you a happy new year!" is the kind greeting among all friends on the first of this month, the commencement of a new year. In most countries it is celebrated as a jubilee, in England and in our country it is an occasion for making presents, particularly to young people. The boys often celebrate it by a skating frolic, or a sleigh ride; the girls by tea parties, or a dance. "I wish you a happy New Year" breaks from all lips. During this month, it is a good time to cut your wood down and get it home. If it is good sledding so much the better. The sap is down now, and the wood cut at this season is much better, besides, the roots in this case will sprout, and soon cover the field again. If you have any leisure, don't go to a tavern, stay at home and put your garden and farming tools in order. A farmer never need be idle, he can always find something to do, either about his house, his barns or his grounds.

Farmer's Calendar.—This is generally a month of drifting storms, with now and then a day of such calm and quiet sunshine, such wintry loveliness, as almost to make us wish the season to last forever. It is a month when one may often find the day terminating in a storm which seems to fill the skies, blocking up the roads, and piling the snow in heaps penetrating every window and door crevice and saluting us with its fine silvery shower; the night setting in with its murky darkness, and combining with the raging elements to envelope the world in a gloom which drives man and beast to the shelter of home. Thus ends the day and we retire to rest lulled by the music of the howling storm. The morning comes and what a change! the sun, as if nothing had happened, shows his smiling face over the eastern hills, and his light sparkles from the thousand diamonds of the snow drifts. The custom of sending Valentines is not much practised here, but is carried to a great extent in England. Two hundred thousand beyond the usual daily average pass through the two-penny post Office in London, on St. Valentine's day.

Farmer's Calendar.—Snow, sleety storms, ice, mud and thaws, rains, fogs, and sunshine, make up most of the March catalogue of out-door incident. Farmer's during this month should be very attentive to their milch cows, and see that they are neither stinted nor over-fed. One that is well fed will keep her flesh and give twice as much milk as two that are put on short allowance. Parsnips, carrots, pumpkins, ground oats, and indian meal, are capital articles for feeding cows which give milk, when thus fed they yield milk in great quantity. Let the milker be mild as a moon beam, in the manner of milking. If the work is performed with a hand as harsh as a hand saw, the cow will be as cross as a catamount; but if a soft hand be gently applied, the animal receives pleasure, and allows the milk to flow plentifully. The earlier you can sow lettuce, early peas, and radishes the better. Set out cabbages for seed, selecting the best, and cabbage stumps, for early greens.

Farmer's Calendar.—The farmer is a lucky man ; he is subject to few cares, diseases or changes. He holds in fee simple a certain part of this planet, running from the surface down to the centre, together with the atmosphere above it. The farmer is independent of all but Providence—he calls no man master ; he is not only a friend of humanity, but he is kindly disposed towards brutes. An ox is to him in the light of a friend, a cow is a benefactor, and a calf is almost a child. He is clothed by the sheep, and the cosset lamb is a foster brother of his children, who have a heavy day when their mate friend is sold to the butcher. In spring he covers with earth three or four kernels of maize, and in autumn he finds ears enough to furnish the materials for many loaves. He hides in the soil a seed, no bigger than a large bed bug, and in a few weeks a vine appears with several pumpkins attached to it, of the capacity of 4 gallons. He is an especial favourite of Ceres and Pomona, but cares little for Bacchus, Phoebus and other idlers.

Farmer's Calendar.—May is the season for planting Indian corn, sowing oats, and summer wheat. This latter as well as winter wheat, has been much neglected for some years, from an idea that it is not a safe crop, but try it again, be assured that the raising of wheat may be made very profitable. You will find much innocent and profitable amusement in your garden, and will please to plant bush and pole beans, having enriched the soil with manure. With regard to pole-beans you will do as well to set the poles first, and then plant the beans round the poles. In the open ground, plant cucumbers, cabbages, cauliflowers, late peas, early corn, squashes, melons, &c. Hoe and bush, such peas as have come forward, and weed all the plants which have made their appearance. I suppose by this time your garden looks neat and tidy; no sticks, stones, last year's weeds, or rubbish of any kind lying about, and that your beds are as smooth as a carpet, and laid out with taste and judgment.

Farmer's Calendar.—Cleanse your cellars, and every apartment in and about your dwelling, from all putrid and offensive substances, for you may about as well live on tainted provisions, as breathe putrid air; in either case you bid defiance to the laws of health, as well as cleanliness. Now is the time to declare a war of extermination against insects, by sprinkling your fruit trees, with a syringe, or garden engine twice a week for 2 or 3 weeks, canker worms, caterpillars, and other pestiferous insects will vanish from your premises like ghosts at cock-crowing. Make daily visits to your garden. If the season be at all dry, your vegetables, particularly cucumbers, will need water. Keep your crops clean by hoeing and hand-weeding. Cut and dry for winter use, such medicinal herbs as have come to maturity, attend to your cabbage and cauliflower plants, as well as beans, &c. and see that they are not destroyed by the cut worm. If you perceive a plant injured, open the earth and you will never fail of finding the worm at the root. Kill him.

Farmer's Calendar.—The mower is now in the field with his scythe. At an early hour we hear the merry ringing of the stone upon the steel, as he is sharpening it. How beautiful now is the meadow—the orchard—the wheat field—and the forest! How various and how brilliant the flowers; how fragrant the air—how balmy, yet how healthful the breeze! The sultry season of hay making is to the farmer a season of sweat and toil, but not of repining hardship. The farmer is not of that class called grumblers. He does not it is true rise with the “first song of the lark,” but what is quite as well, to the music of his own domestic stock, who by this time are assisted by their young broods. Who would lie snoring in bed and lose the beauties of a summer morning? Up, up and you will wonder that you ever doze till sunrise. Away to the hills and see the sun get up and chase the mists before him, and hear the thousand throats pour forth their morning songs.

Farmer's Calendar.—The farmer now finds the ample reward of all his care and toil fast approaching maturity. The ripened grain waves over the fields in gentle and graceful undulations, now ready for the sickle; the reapers commence their early task, and in regular platoon pursue their slow march from end to end of the field, each leaving his row of the yellow grain laid handsomely on the ground behind him. How is it with the garden? I suppose you have had plenty of cherries, strawberries, &c. in their season and that your peach trees have now the inviting appearance of rich loads of ripening fruit. Your flowering plants, I suppose, have long delighted you with their fragrance and beauty, and you have your care and attention well repaid. Continue to gather the best specimens of seeds to propagate from, and be careful not to let any weeds ripen their seeds. Put on a good stout pair of leathern gloves, and declare a war of extermination against the thistles in and about your premises, before the seeds become ripe.

Farmer's Calendar.—This is the richest and most beautiful month of the year, the sultry heats of summer have somewhat subsided, and the season has assumed something of a permanent character. The sun has for some time been getting to the south, yet the subdued summer heat still lingers behind, and it is not till he crosses the equinoxial, on the 23d of the month, that the autumn is said to commence. One look at the corn-fields stretching over the plain, and the orchards with their loads of ripening fruit, is enough to make the farmer bless his lot and almost thank that part of the original curse that made him one. He has provided for his cattle, the patient partners of his toil, and his well filled barns bear witness of his attention to their comfort and support. He now looks forward to the harvesting those crops which are to sustain himself and his family through the coming winter, and afford the means of paying his little debts, and of laying up something against the winter of old age. Gather seeds as they ripen, and cucumbers for pickling before they spot.

Farmer's Calendar.—The business of harvesting is now in its glory. The corn, load after load, is brought from the fields, and piled on the grass by the barn, to be husked out these fine evenings by moonlight; sometimes our farmers make a regular husking frolic of it, by inviting the neighbours to assist in the labour, or rather the sport, and the whole crop is thus disposed of in a single evening. This is perhaps the best way, provided you conduct it on the temperance plan, as there is then no danger of injury to the grain by sweating in the heap. If you pass along the sling and toddy every 15 or 20 minutes, and guzzle till you are all so boozy that you cannot tell a white ear from a red one, you will waste more by it, than would be lost by letting it moulder in the heap a day or two longer. Nice lemonade, cider, &c. will do your work clean and leave a fine relish for the feast which follows of rich pumpkin and other pies, cakes, apples and pears, with no fear of winding up with broken heads and bloody noses.

Farmer's Calendar.—It is high time to fortify your premises against the intrusions of frost. Protect your cellar with a Farmer's Bank, and then, if you work it right, you will not be obliged to hire money from other banks. If possible, let water be brought into your cattle yard, so that its tenants may not be compelled these cold mornings to ramble over frozen fields, or run the gauntlet along slippery highways, harassed by men, dogs, and sleighs, undergoing as many perils as Bunyan in his "Pilgrim's Progress." Winter squashes, cabbages, &c. should now be brought from the garden and preserved for winter. Stiff, heavy soil should be thrown up in trenches. Trim up, look about you, and see that all is neat, tidy and well prepared for winter. See that your house is tight, mend the latches and catches of your doors; see that your doors shut well. If they creak on their hinges, grease them. Look to your window shutters, don't let them slam and bang every windy night.

Farmer's Calendar.—It is now the depth of winter---a gloomy season, at least it is so called by some; yet even "stern old winter" is not without his means of contributing to the enjoyment of his youthful admirers. The universal mantle of snow he spreads over the landscape, is never regretted by the boys who glide rapidly on its smooth surface down the hill-side, and then tug up again with their little sleds, giving practical proof that true pleasure may be found closely connected with toil and perseverance, then there are snow men to be made, and snow-balling to be attended to. I am not certain that I should recommend the latter employment or recreation to the young ladies, yet, as there should be nothing like rudeness in any sports, I think it can do them no harm, and may serve to make them robust and healthy. Have your fire places well made, to throw out the heat, and not have them so contrived, that all the heat and fire shall go up the chimney, and where you can, use stoves.

EQUATION TABLE, 1838.

When time is deduced from observations of the Sun, the immediate result is apparent time; to convert it into mean time, the equation of time is necessary, and is to be applied to apparent time, according to the precept at the head of the column for each month. The numbers here given, show for Greenwich apparent noon, the distance of the mean Sun from the meridian, or the portion of time to be added to, or subtracted from, Greenwich apparent noon to obtain the corresponding mean time at the same meridian, or the time which ought to be shown by the mean time clock.
