THE VEILED MURDERESS

Death Releases Her After Half Century in Jail

WAS A CANADIAN

She Poisoned a Whole Family By Putting Arsenic in Beer and Was Adjudged Insane.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Herald says—"Mrs. Henrietta Robinson, known as 'the veiled murderess' who died in the asylum of the criminal insane at Matteawan on Saturday, and who had been in prison for more than half a century for three murders, was the daughter of a wealthy merchant in Quebec. Her maiden name was Charlotte Wood. Her father sent her to the Emma Willard seminary in Troy (N. Y.) with her three sisters. As a young girl she was very beautiful. Of a romantic disposition she resented the plans of her father to marry her to a titled Englishman, and said that if she were forced to wed against her wishes she would leave her husband in less than a year and cause a public scandal. She made good her threat after her marriage to Lord William Elliot. On her return to her father's house admission was refused her, and she returned to Troy, where she sought the aid and advice of the head of the seminary. At a hotel she met a politician with whom she says she secretly married. His name was not disclosed in any of the court proceedings. She took up her residence in one of the quiet streets of the town and lived alone. Her beauty was the subject of much comment, and although she seemed to be a person of culture and refinement, she avoided the society of her equals. The only family with whom she was on any terms of intimacy in Troy lived across the street from her house. It consisted of Thomas Langens, a grocer, his wife and Miss Lobson, a relative. She once attended a party given by the Langens where one of the guests made a remark which she considered insulting, and the Langens sided with the person whom she accused of offending her. She called the following day on the grocer and, saying that she had been lately afflicted a reconciliation with him. At her request the family sent out for a quart of beer and into this she slipped a quantity of arsenic, which resulted in the death of Mr. and Mrs. Langens and Miss Lobson. Every effort was made to conceal the real name of the woman. In her isolated life in Troy she was known as Mrs. Henrietta Robinson.

Mr. Conner was asked about the periodic rumors of boxer uprisings and he replied that there is absolutely no truth in such reports.

THEY FEAR A FLOOD

HOUSTON, Tex., May 15.—A heavy rain has fallen over South and East Texas and much damage has been done. The water has risen at Bryan at the rate of a foot an hour, with the result that the water has risen and today the expectation is that it will rise to a height of 100 feet above Bryan and indications are now that it will reach that height in the next few days. At points below Bryan the river is rising fast.

WILLED ASHES TO OCEAN

W. H. Lovelace, Formerly Steward of the Steamer Boston Left Weird Will, Which Was Carried Out.

CAMBRIDGE, May 15.—The jar with my ashes to be put overboard at some convenient time and place, the intent of which is that my wife will not feel sad thinking of a lonely grave, as she won't know where it is. This ends the codicil to the will of W. H. Lovelace, of Malden, one of the weirdest wills ever filed at Cambridge. Lovelace, an Englishman, was formerly steward of the steamer Boston, and a very prominent Red Man. His romantic return came to light in every phrase in the will. After leaving his property to the widow the will continues: "To Red Men, and particularly Woor-poyten tribe of Malden and my own tribe of Cherokee, growings: Brothers, as it has pleased the Great Spirit to call me to my fathers in the happy hunting grounds, I, W. H. Lovelace, a chief of Cherokee, I wish this tribe to take charge of my funeral and affairs and to help and assist my wife." He asks to have a holy ceremony in the simplest, quietest manner possible, with only the simple brotherly rites of the Red Men. A codicil, dated Nov. 2, 1901, reads: "And I also desire that as I shall be wishing admittance to the grand lodge, A. M., I would be stirred as a M. M. and at my death my Masonic friends shall invest me with an apron." Then follows the request to be buried at sea. After Lovelace's death at Malden the body was cremated and the ashes in an urn were turned over to the widow. Following her husband's desire, Mrs. Lovelace gave the remains to William Turnbull, purser of the fruit steamer Admiral Sampson, as Lovelace had requested in the codicil. Turnbull took the urn on his next trip to Jamaica and on his return voyage, when of Fire 14, inverted the urn and gave the ashes to the four winds of heaven. When the Admiral Sampson reached Boston, Mrs. Lovelace said: "I always loved the sea and now I love it all the more." Lovelace was a quiet man, but had seen a great deal of the world's surface. He was born in England, but upon his father's second marriage ran away to sea and came to America. He was then 17. He followed the sea most of the time until his death. While purser on the S. E. Beverly, a little over five years ago, he married the present Mrs. Lovelace, then a nurse travelling with an invalid lady on the steamer Mrs. Lovelace was Marie Burchell, and her parents lived in Hallow, N. S. One of her cousins is Mayor of Glouce Bay, and another is manager of the Royal Bank, Sydney, N. S.

CANCELLED THE LEASES

TORONTO, May 15.—Eight mine leases, all held by the Ontario Mining Commission, have been cancelled by the Ontario Mining Commission. Ninety days ago the Quebec Mining Company forfeited two leases situated north of Lake Verillon. Both leases in April, 1902.

The Times New Reporter

The waterworks officials are downcast. They thought the gypsies might buy or trade and take the loose-headed horse off their hands. But the Romany chieftain shook his head and said to them: "Nay, my masters, let the Kicking Horse Pass." Then he beckoned to his followers and they strode away. IT WORSHIPED HIM. A citizen who lives in the south end had an unusual experience last night. He had retired to rest, and had fallen into a gentle doze, when it seemed to him that he heard the sound of the fire alarm. In a drowsy sort of way he counted the strokes—two, two, three, four—and then the other sound broke in. Presently he heard it again, and mechanically counted, one, two, three, four, five, six, and so on without a break to sixteen—and still it was going on. This seemed odd, and the citizen, still partially asleep, worried over it. How could a fire alarm bell pound out sixteen without a break? Perhaps it was a clock striking. But no—a clock would not strike more than twelve, and would not repeat, and there was this thing pounding away at intervals, sometimes very distinct and sometimes scarcely audible, but still going on. "Was it a general alarm? He began once more to count, and this time there did seem to be a pause, and he figured out that the alarm had struck twenty-four. By this time he had become more nearly awake, and he listened more intently. There was a high wind, and the sounds came uncertainly. In succession he figured up 34, 126, 9, 48—and then a straight succession of twenty-three strokes without a break. There had to be an end of this sort of thing. The citizen had attended church as usual, and had gone to bed in a cheerful and kindly state of mind, forgiving all his enemies and meaning to arise refreshed and strong for a new week's labor. But there was this mysterious clangour setting on his nerves and driving sleep from his eyes. He suddenly sat bolt upright and rubbed his eyes, and as the sound broke once more on his ear he arose, opened a window and struck his head out. Then deliverance came. On the next stroke he knew that the supposed fire alarm was the bell buoy down the harbor, saying with wind and wave. Knowledge is power, and curiosity satisfied is a specific. Knowing what the sound was, and whence it came, he went back to bed and in five minutes was sound asleep. The winter is not so open as it was, but navigable in May river is not yet closed. Indeed some predict another spell of mild weather, during the next week or two. Chief Kerr is back from Boston in a straw hat. Citizens who met him today apologized for still wearing their furs.

DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE

Will Make Their Bow in Court in a Murder Case.

SOMMERVILLE, N. J., May 15.—That George S. Wood had a dual personality and that his better nature knows nothing of anything that may be done under the influence of the evil spell will be the defense made by Wood's attorney when he is put on trial here today for the murder of George Williams last winter. It is believed that this will be the first time this novel defense has been offered in a murder case in the history of criminology. Williams, a storekeeper in the village of Watchung, N. J., was found shot to death in his sleep a short distance from his home early last February. He had started from the village to drive a strange man to a farm house some distance away and suspicion at once rested on the stranger. Wood was arrested and identified as the man who had accompanied Williams and was charged with the murder. At the time of his arrest he maintained that for three days his mind had been a blank and that he remembered nothing of the period.

Confession of Mrs. Best in Police Court Today

SHE WEPT BITTERLY

Both Women Committed for Trial at County Court, Which Meets May 23—Evidence Submitted.

Mrs. Mary Best and Minnie Robinson were once more brought before Police Magistrate Ritchie this morning, and after the evidence of Mr. Best had been taken, were committed for trial at the next sitting of the county court, which takes place on the 23rd of the present month. The unfortunate mother looked careworn and dejected as she walked into court and took her seat on the prison bench. The Robinson woman looked pale, but did not betray the slightest sign of emotion throughout the entire proceedings. Mrs. Best felt her position keenly, and it was clearly evident that the gravity of the charge against her, coupled with her confinement in the jail, have told on her to a considerable extent. She was deeply affected when called upon to listen to the reading of her husband's evidence, and when Police Clerk Henderson had finished, she resumed her seat on the long bench, buried her face in her handkerchief and wept bitterly. William H. Best swore that the defendant was his wife, and that they had been married about two years. She was the mother and he the father of the baby boy, John P. Best, who was born November 5th, 1904. Witness saw Minnie Robinson for the first time at Leo Smith's, about a week before she and his wife left for St. Martins. Mrs. Best and the baby were present at the time. The Robinson woman went to his house the following week and remained there two or three days, or until the departure for St. Martins. She said nothing to him about her marriage, and made no reference to her family or herself. He was employed the day of their departure and had not been drinking. He had no recollection of meeting either of the defendants on that day. When he left his home about 2:30 or three o'clock both women were there. He told her that he was going out to collect some money, and when his wife asked him if she might go to the city to get Minnie Robinson's clothes from Leo Smith he told her that she might, but not to remain in the city and leave the child with a strange girl. Both women had gone when he returned, having taken the baby with them. Mrs. Best said she intended to refer to him her intention of going away, and the best of his knowledge had not a friend nor acquaintance in St. Martins, and had never been there before. It had been nothing of them from that day until he met them in court. At the point Mrs. Best remarked that the day of the departure from the city she met her husband on the ferry, in the half drunken condition, and told him she was going for a walk. In answer to a question from Judge Ritchie she said she had nothing to tell the witness. Minnie Robinson also said she had no questions to ask. Both prisoners were then asked to stand, and the charge was read over to them. The unhappy mother again buried her face in her handkerchief and cried like a child. When asked if she had anything to say she replied between sobs: "I'm guilty for what I've done, and I'm sorry."

PARIS, May 15.—The ministry of marine has received a despatch announcing that the torpedo boat destroyer Arbatel had arrived at Cagliari, Sardinia, towing the autoboat Quand Meme, having on board her owner, the Duke de Cases and all the crew of the vessel. The Quand Meme left the coast of Port Mahon, Island of Minorca, until about fifty miles outside of Toulon, when the storm blew her back over the same course she had taken. Her rescue closed the contest without loss of life, but with only two of the seven starters afloat.

THE STRIKE IN CHICAGO

Belief That the End Is Not Far Distant.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Influences in the teamsters' joint council at work to help a general strike movement, including all drivers in Chicago, are expected to bear fruit at a meeting of the council tonight and avert a new and greater industrial upheaval here. Rumors that the executive board of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters would meet in Chicago tomorrow and the action of the wage wagon drivers in accepting the wage schedule of last year, coupled with reports that dozens of strikers have applied for their old positions at the department stores, sustain a belief among the employees that the end of the strike is not far distant.

REFORM IN RUSSIA

The Physical Force Party Discredited by Yesterday's Failure—The Moderate Liberals Hope to Secure Popular Government.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 15.—Now that the Russian May Day happily passed without general disorders, the authorities are inclined to regard the danger of a really serious interior crisis this spring as remote as ever. Turbulence doubtless will continue, with sporadic disorders, but the plans of the social democrats and social revolutionists to spread disaffection among the troops and farm peasant and workmen's government for the creation of a state of general anarchy have signally failed. It is now evident that while the social democrats and social revolutionists made a lot of noise, they had neither organization nor real leadership behind them. Even the terrorists held aloof, while waiting for bigger game. These two parties, which already have forfeited the sympathy of the major portion of the liberals, now stand discredited by their failure with the working lower classes generally. Their attempts to retrieve their lost prestige in St. Petersburg by proclaiming a general strike for today broke down, the workmen refusing to follow their leadership.

A CONTRAST

In one of the city churches yesterday, at the evening service, in a front pew, sat two natives of China. Stolid, almost statuesque, they sat and listened to the sermon, which was a protest against the supremacy of materialism and commercialism in human life, to the exclusion of that spirit of worship which brings the soul of man into intimate relation with God, and which prompts him to love and serve his fellow men - not only to realize what is best and noblest in himself, but to have the faith and courage to be and do the best in all the relations of life.

Possibly the men from the orient did not grasp his meaning. Some may even assert that their presence was prompted by purely material and commercial motives, for in such cases we are perhaps prone to impute motives. But they were there, and their presence suggested an interesting and none too flattering contrast. They might have been looking on a street corner, making themselves objectionable to passers-by after the manner of some who have had the advantage of western culture from their childhood.

ANOTHER BOOM TOWN

The town of Regina will celebrate the inauguration of the new province of Saskatchewan and Alberta by what its people deem shall be the most brilliant affair in the history of western Canada. It proposes to have a grand military as well as a civic pageant. Of the growth of the town its mayor, Mr. H. W. Laird, says: "We have now a population of 8,000 compared with 2,000 as recorded by the census of 1901. The civic assessment exceeds $4,000,000, a growth of over half a million from last year. With the completion of the sewerage contract, estimates the accomplishment of a splendid system of municipal franchises undertaken two years ago, and which include water, electric lighting and sewerage, all through the city. Regina is undergoing remarkable development. This year there are in course of erection four new churches, fine business blocks, handsome private residences, a pork packing establishment and abattoir, two implement manufacturing, a brewery costing $300,000, and civic improvements which constitute a record in western expansion. Immigrants are coming to Regina in large numbers to be distributed throughout the districts which are tributary to it as a centre."

WOES OF SUMMER

A warm day visited Ottawa last week, and the Journal of that city rose to make a few observations that might with equal force be made by a St. John newspaper regarding conditions here. "Today—the first real day of summer—the need of a garbage system is emphasized. The tidy householder cleans his cellar, his lane and his back yard, and a pile of dirty and unsightly refuse is gathered. What to do with it? Get a man to take it away? Is it easy to get a man? By the time the man has arrived the garbage heap has been kicked about. For years the city has been playing fast and loose with this garbage removal question. There should be immediate action by the city council." The city council of St. John grappled with the garbage question a year or two since, and by a great stroke of administrative genius ordered the closing up of the public dumps. No provision whatever was then made or has since been made for the destruction of decayed fruit and vegetable matter, tainted meats or any form of garbage. There was talk of a system of collection, and also of an incinerator, but no action was taken. Where does the garbage go?

CORPORATION TRIUMPHED

The people of Ottawa have been defeated in the Ontario Legislature in an effort to get relief from an electric light monopoly just as the people of St. John were defeated in one or two matters at the recent session of the New Brunswick legislature. The corporation interests were too strong, and the bill which would have given the city power to demopets was killed in committee. The Ottawa and Toronto papers on both sides of politics condemn the action of the committee. For example, the Toronto World says: "Ottawa has the misfortune to rank as the first victim of corporation influence and greed in the destruction of demopets fruit and vegetable matter, tainted meats or any form of garbage. There was talk of a system of collection, and also of an incinerator, but no action was taken. Where does the garbage go?"

and the Carleton electric light plant. The Globe says: "The private bills committed to the legislature made a serious mistake in virtually depriving the city of Ottawa of relief from a threatened electric light monopoly. It is true that there is very little protection in law preventing the amalgamation of two companies furnishing electric light. The companies may be owned and controlled by the same men or group of men without amalgamation, and they may thus agree to levy exorbitant charges and deprive the people of the natural advantages of competition. It is of no consequence whether the consumers are flooded by a single large combination or a number of small ones. To prevent amalgamation may make it a little more inconvenient and more costly for the companies, but need not necessarily afford relief to the consumers. But the power to buy out one of the existing companies now in the market would have given the city a needed means of relief. This power has been refused by the private bills committee. The result will be the absorption of one company by the other, which will leave the city to deal with a powerful monopoly next year. The city of Ottawa is entitled to the relief sought, and the private bills committee made a serious mistake in denying a reasonable request."

WEALTH DISTRIBUTION

"I shall continue to give in my own way to any cause that appeals to me as being worthy of it," said Mr. John D. Rockefeller the other day, when asked to state his attitude in relation to the outcry made about "baited money." He further stated that he is considering plans to systematize his benefactions, and said the scope of his operations in that line would be increased. It is understood, says an exchange, that his plan is similar to that adopted by Mr. Carnegie. The disposition of some very rich men to distribute a large portion of their wealth may prompt others to do the same. There is Mr. Russell Sage for example. Mr. Sage, at 85 is still operating in the stock market, and is said to have lost four or five millions in the past few years. He is credited with having some $25,000,000. It would surely be more agreeable to Mr. Sage to have a hand in the voluntary distribution of this sum rather than to lose it in unwise speculation. No doubt there are others. Once the new method of disposing of millions becomes popular, people at large will learn to have more respect for the very rich, and the inequalities of life will be less apparent.

The Toronto papers are prodding the mayor of that city. For instance, the World says:—"The citizens of Toronto would like to know what Mayor Ueharath's progress has made in the work of municipalizing the street railway. His worship took strong grounds on this question in the last mayoralty campaign. Municipalization of the street railway was one of the strongest, as well as one of the most attractive planks in his platform, and it is difficult to understand his apparent rejection of it. There has been no improvement in the street railway service that would suggest a milder remedy than that which Mayor Ueharath prescribed six months ago. But one-third of the year has passed away and the public sees no indication of action along these lines."

Under the late Ontario government Mr. Peter Ryan got $9,000 for four hours' work, selling timber lands at auction. He got a percentage on the sales, which totalled $3,600,000. Mr. Ryan says he is willing to conduct auctions for the present government on the same terms. Mr. Ryan is a very accommodating citizen.

The Toronto Plumbers' Association has an agreement that its members must figure on 25 per cent profit. This explains why the owner of a warehouse got the work done for $12,400 by an outside firm when Toronto plumbers asked $18,250 and $10,100.

The senators are having a really nice time. A divorce case is on, and a despatch states that "the respondent is one of the most engaging women who has ever appeared as a respondent before the committee."

An electrical expert will examine the street railway property in Kingston, Ont. The financial side of the question will also be investigated, with a view to municipal purchase.

The May Day troubles in Russia did not materialize. The whips of the Coesacks, used on women and men alike, controlled the situation.

The Grand Trunk Railway expects to carry 40,000 tourists to the Muskoka Lake region this year. Last summer they carried 35,000.

During the five days ending May 10th, thirty-two building permits, amounting to an expenditure of $280,700, were issued in Toronto.

HEROES OF THE WAR (Collier's Weekly). Kuroki was the favorite of the foreign audience when the land fighting was in its early stages. Oryama will appear as the most important figure of the war in history, but he is not so picturesque a figure in the imagination. Nogi is perhaps best fitted to arouse sympathetic interest. He is an old man, whose hair is white. When he had lost his two sons and his only nephew, he smiled, but when he thinks he is unburied it is said that he bows his head and sobs, "God took my two sons," he said, "in order that I might be better able to sympathize with my countrymen who are likewise bereft, and so that I may the better answer to the souls of the many brave men whom I am sending to their graves." He took Fort Arthur, doing things that military experts agreed in advance were impossible. He then hurried north to take a central part in the bloodiest fight of modern history. Next to him, among the Japanese, in the personal nature of the interest which he inspires among foreigners, comes Togo, who has the naval glory to himself. What the Japanese think the public or the army of their efforts, we do not know. They do not talk and criticize. They go ahead and do. Their generals will probably not write books or deliver lectures. On the Russian side criticism is so public that no general's fame in this war is free of doubt. Stoenoff was first in income for a moment. His final placing is for the future. Kurovskii's reputation has had its ups and downs, but the general opinion outside of Russia is that his accomplishments have been considerable, and that his failures have been due to obstacles that it would have taken a genius to surmount.

TRAPPING IN MAINE WOODS BANGOR, May 12. — On May 1 the open season on mink, sable, muskrat and fisher came to a close, and the trapping season in Maine was officially ended. The year has been a good one for capturing all of these fur-bearing animals, and the trappers came out this spring with a heavy load of pelts. The Maine woods, even though they have been pierced in many places by long lines of railroad and though the axe of the lumberman has denuded many of the hills and dices of their forest growth, are still inhabited by enough of the small fur-bearing animals to make trapping them a very profitable business. All through the vast country about the headwaters of the Penobscot and St. John rivers these animals are to be found in large numbers. As a rule the fur-brought out of the woods this spring is in good condition and commands a good price. The winter was cold and the ground hard, and the fur thick and fine and usually of good color, though some of the late skins are apt to be faded as a result of the animals lying in the sun. By far the greater number of skins brought in are those of muskrat. Skunks and foxes come next and are a close second to the muskrat. The other skins are about evenly divided between otter, fisher, mink and sable, with a sprinkling of bobcats, beavers, weasels and rabbits. The muskrat skins of good quality bring from 15 to 20 cents. A good fox skin worth $1.50 to $2, though the black and silver fox are worth much more. A good silver fox skin will bring from $100 to $150. The skins of the muskrat are not plentiful. The skin of a black bear, of good size and in good condition brings $15 to $20. Bears were plentiful last season and many were killed. Bobcats are not much in demand and bring from 40 cents to $1. Of the smaller fur animals the otter is the most valuable and is found fairly plentiful in the Maine woods. A first-class otter skin is worth $20 and from that down to $10, according to their size and condition. Fisher or black cat is worth from $1.50 to $2, and run from that down to 40 or 50 cents. Weasels are valuable in the Maine woods. The fur is thick and soft, and when colored has much the appearance of royal ermine and is greatly favored for trimming for women's furs. The skins are small, yet they are worth a half a dollar, or more if of large size. There is some call for racoons and rabbits, though the price paid, hardly makes it worth while to kill them. A good coon skin brings from 50 cents to $1, while rabbit skins can be had for two cents. The amount of fur shipped from Maine every season is very large. One man in the western part of the state has transactions amounting to a quarter of a million dollars annually, while in the poor season when a man who spends the winter in the woods does not clear up $400 to $600 in furs.

STORIES ABOUT ROJESTVENSKY The Admiral Rojostvensky of American newspaper cartoons and paragraphs and the Admiral Rojostvensky of reality seem to differ. Not many years ago, when he was still a captain, he spent some time in England as naval attaché at the Russian embassy. He proceeded to have a few experiences rather different from those of the Dogger Bank. Hardly had he arrived in the country but he was obliged to be present in official capacity at the state function. Knowing nothing of the particular procedure on such occasions and knowing even less of the passage and to whom he was supposed especially to address himself, he was anxious to keep well in the train of the Russian ambassador, who, of course, was also to be there. On the evening of the shindy Captain Rojostvensky found to his amusement that he had quite forgotten the address he was to seek. All he could remember was a faint semblance to the picture in which it stood. He then started him. He told his cabby to drive to that square and stop at any house that seemed transcendently illuminated. It seemed a beautiful scheme till the cabman shouted through the trap: "I say, sir, there's two houses lit up. Which one?" Rojostvensky laughed, and promptly entered the nearest one. His first glance round convinced him that his was not the house he had met the captain before. The captain knew she was mistaken, but there was no disillusioning so charming a person; and so pleasantly the time passed and so agreeable the people to whom he was introduced as Captain Some-thing-or-Other, that it was many a long moment before he could take his leave. The other lighted house proved to be the one he should have visited first, and the first person in it that he met was the Russian ambassador, who spread his story about not entirely to the damage of the impression that Captain Rojostvensky at that time happened to make upon the British.

As Admiral it is not likely that Rojostvensky has embraced the chief interest of his life—Work. He has always been a man devoted to toil. Somebody asked him once what his favorite pastime was. "Work," said the Admiral, with a heavily factitious customary. "Then what do you consider your hardest work?" "Being idle."

REPORTS ARE ENCOURAGING Conditions for the Lumber Drives Are Now Vastly Improved.

Conditions in New Brunswick from the lumberman's standpoint are vastly improved over what they were two weeks ago. ALL THE NEWS OF THE SEASON'S SPORTS.

BASEBALL LEAGUES WILL COMMENCE PLAY TONIGHT

Results of Saturday and Sunday Games—Lachance for Montreal—Standing of the Big Leagues.

The Carleton Amateur League will open the season tonight at 7 o'clock on Market square, West End, with a game between the Martlets and St. Rose's. H. Colby Smith, of H. C. Smith & Co., will throw the first ball over the plate.

The Amateur League will open on the Victoria grounds tonight, the competing teams being the Y. M. C. A. and Johnnies. Hon. R. J. Ritchie will pitch the first ball.

Robt. Atchison will be the official umpire, and H. Stubbs the official scorer. The game will commence at 7 o'clock and it is expected a large crowd will be present.

The Society League will also commence their season's play on St. Peter's grounds, North End, this evening.

Y. M. C. A. Defeats Rothersey

A large crowd of spectators watched the opening baseball match of the season on the Rothersey College campus on Saturday afternoon.

The Y. M. C. A. team defeated Rothersey College 15 to 7, in a fascinating game. The game started at 3:45 o'clock, and although the game was unexciting to baseball, it was a very interesting game.

The Rothersey boys got two runs in the first inning. At the eighth inning the score was 4-1, in favor of the Rothersey boys, but in the ninth inning the Y. M. C. A. evened matters up, making both sides tie at 7-7.

It was agreed that another inning be played, and in that, the Y. M. C. A. boys got 8 runs, while the Rothersey's failed to score.

The game was the first either team had played this season. David McLennan, 2nd base for the Rothersey boys, made the feature play of the game, making a one-handed catch. The battery for the Rothersey team is a strong one, and with a little more practice, the team would stand a fine chance against any of the amateur leagues.

The line-up of the teams was as follows: Rothersey—Cannon, c; Berrismond, p; Gault, 1st b.; McLaughlin, 2nd b.; Leonard, 3rd b.; Worcester, s.; Shiver, s.; Y. M. C. A.—Palmer, c.; Gilmore, p.; McCarty, 1st b.; Clewson, 2nd b.; Barry, 3rd b.; R. Ledingham, s.; Donald, s.; J. B. Malcolm, c.; J. Everett, 1st b.

After the game the Rothersey team entertained the Y. M. C. A. boys to supper. Principal Moore welcomed the visiting team, and said that he would like them to go out to the College again this season to play another baseball match.

David Donald, on behalf of the Y. M. C. A. boys, replied, thanking Mr. Moore for his hospitality. At 7:45 o'clock the city team left the College. The Y. M. C. A. boys are delighted with the match, and say that the Rothersey boys tossed them excellent.

Lachance for Montreal

"Gandy" Lachance, the recently released Boston American first baseman, has been added to the Montreal team, and should prove a strong addition to Manager Banham's present weak collection. It is hoped that Lachance will brace up the "birds" and that their percentage will rise to a point considerably above the bottom of the league standing.

Although anything but a showy player Lachance is a wonder in handling base throws, and he has been with the Americans during the two years they have won the American League championship, being a big factor in winning the world's championship from the Pittsburgh Club in 1903. Grimshaw was placed at first base a little over a week ago, and his batting was so much superior to Lachance's that Collins

AUTOBOAT RACES END DISASTROUSLY

Were Sunk or Disabled by Heavy Seas—One Boat Missing.

Toulon, May 14.—The auto-boat races from Algiers to Toulon has ended unfortunately, all of the boats participating in the second stage of the run from Port Mahon to this port being either sunk or disabled, owing to a heavy storm which still rages from the finish. Happily the arrangements for securing the craft were efficiently worked and loss of life was avoided.

The seven racers left Port Mahon Saturday morning at 4 o'clock for Toulon. A torpedo boat destroyer accompanied each auto-boat, while two cruisers followed. The sea was somewhat rough at the start, and soon became worse. The competing boats were unable to withstand the violence of the storm and requested the warships to tow them.

Shortly afterward the Mercedes C. P. sank, men from the torpedo boat destroyer Halibard rushing her crew. The cruiser LeFlore hoisted the flat and her crew aboard. The Canilla was abandoned, the destroyer Dardie saving her crew. The Hercules II is adrift, but her crew is on board the destroyer Sarbanant. The Makro boat sank and her crew was taken on board the destroyer Carabine. The Mercedes had to be abandoned. The destroyer Neptune saved the crew.

There is no news concerning the Quind-Mene, about which there is considerable anxiety. Her crew consists of seven men, including the Duke Deane. The cruisers Duxis and Kieber are searching for the vessel.

Accounts furnished by officers of destroyers which have arrived here with the wrecked auto-boats show that the boats which overtook the craft shortly after their departure from Port Mahon were of terrible intensity, the waves attaining a height of 25 feet. It was impossible to keep the boats in tow, steel hawsers breaking repeatedly owing to the sea fury, and the destroyers themselves being in imminent danger. Some of the competitors, however, persisted in racing until they were swamped.

The races were thoroughly exhausted and scarcely able to reply to inquiries. They consented themselves to attempt to have escaped with their lives. Many of them had their clothes torn and ribbons and some were benumbed by the cold.

Anxiety regarding the fate of the auto-boat Quind-Mene is growing in intensity, more especially as the conveying destroyer Arbatre is also unaccounted for. The cruiser Kieber and Duxis returned to harbor today to seek shelter from a terrific hurricane accompanied by torrential rain.

SHOOTING

St. John City Rifle Club

The St. John City Rifle Club held their first range Saturday afternoon. Fifteen riflemen were present. The afternoon proved a very desirable one for shooting, especially at the 500 yard range, when a heavy hail storm prevailed and made shooting very difficult.

The competitors were divided into two classes, the following scores taking the prizes:

THE RING

Owen Moran, champion bantam weight of England, Tom O'Rourke's latest foe, has won his first fight in this country by defeating Dan Kelly, who recently defeated the boxer A. O. Philadelphia, on Friday night.

Moran, except in one respect, made a great hit with the crowd. He is cool, clever and a hard hitter. The result of the fight was a rough tactical display of the crowd and he was promptly listed "O'Brien and Jago Kelly, of Chicago, who recently beat O'Brien in Indianapolis, were matched Friday to box fifteen rounds at Baltimore before the Elyan A. THE GREAT YACHT RACE IS TO START TOMORROW

Some of the Greatest Sea-Going Yachts to Be Entered—No Freaks and No Handicaps.

(Toronto Mail and Empire). On Tuesday of next week the starting gun will be fired from Sandy Hook light-ship, and the greatest yacht race in history will have begun. Not so much notoriety has been gained by the race for the Kaiser's Cup as has attended the contests for the America's Cup; nevertheless the former is of more interest to yachtsmen, and once the conditions are understood the handicappers will agree that it is the "real thing."

The race is to be across the ocean, from Sandy Hook to the Lizard, a distance of almost three thousand miles. Some of the greatest sea-going yachts in the world are entered; and an added interest is supplied by the international nature of the contest. British, German, and American yachts will compete, making a fleet of eleven vessels, ranging in tonnage from the Earl of Crawford's Valada of 888 net tonnage, and 299.6 feet on the water-line, to the little Fleur-de-Lys, 108 feet over all.

Other Atlantic Races. Races across the ocean in yachts are not unknown, and the Atlantic has already seen three of them—one being of international character, and the others before the America's Cup, and the others before the America's Cup, and the others before the America's Cup.

Conditions of the Race. The conditions of the race are simple—the boat that sails over first is the winner. There must be no steam used, of course, but so to methods of sailing, tonnage, size of sail or length of keel there are no conditions, and no handicaps which apply to any of the craft entered.

One providing that no yacht has less than 80 tons of displacement, and that the weight of the crew, as well as the weight of the sails, is not to exceed that of the Kaiser's yacht, and that the crew is not to exceed that of the Kaiser's yacht.

Hints to Pipe-Smokers. Always fill a pipe with a little lump in the centre of the bowl and light this. Get a good light, but have it all concentrated in the middle. Try this with Rainbow Cut Plug Smoking Tobacco, and you will find it works well.

Lord Brassey's Yacht

Undoubtedly the most famous yacht entered in Lord Brassey's Sunbeam, on which he and his wife have travelled round the world, and has been the property of the Sunbeam's voyage was given to the world in a book by the first Lady Brassey. This is a staunch and luxurious steam-aided auxiliary craft, which, on account of the machinery she carries, must complete under a disadvantage. At the same time, so thoroughly at home is she in all kinds of weather that her status is regarded as excellent. A record of the Sunbeam's voyage was given to the world in a book by the first Lady Brassey.

The All-German Crew. The Hamburg, however, is supposed to be somewhat handicapped by the fact that every man aboard of her is a German, and that no sailor not born in the Fatherland, no matter how expert, can get a berth on any yacht registered with the Hamburg Seafaring Society. The Germans, not being famous sailors, the impression is that the Hamburg's crew must be inferior to those of the British and American yachts. Of the latter, the most dangerous is Mr. Wilson Marshall's Atlantic. She will be sailed by Capt. Barr, famous as a cup defender. The Atlantic is a lovely appointed yacht, the term "floating palace" being not inapplicable to her.

She is, however, a workmanlike craft, and in her two years' experience has won some hard races, beating one or two of the yachts which are entered in the present contest. The Atlantic is the largest fore-and-aft-rigged yacht afloat, and carries a sail spread of 20,000 square feet, 4,000 more than that carried by the It-

ANOTHER TWO MONTHS

Nelson Nichols Goes Back to the Gang—Charged With Theft.

There were five prisoners before the magistrate at this morning's session of the police court. Nelson Nichols, charged with assaulting James Dalton, an Indian town seaman, and with stealing a bottle of gin, also with stealing a bottle of gin, pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Mr. Dalton was placed on the stand and testified that Nichols came into his saloon between three and four o'clock Saturday afternoon. He asked for liquor and was refused. Nichols jumped behind the counter, after which Dalton missed a bottle of gin. He attempted to eject the offender, who seized him and threw him on the floor. He did not see Nichols take the gin, but a bottle was found on him when taken to the North End station.

It was with considerable difficulty that Dalton could be made to answer questions. His honor remarked that he had not had so much trouble in all his experience. "It is like drawing a cork that was too tight," he observed.

The bottle found on Nichols was produced, and Dalton said it was similar in style and brand to that carried in stock by him. Nichols said he had two bottles before he went to Dalton's at all. He repeated his denial and said he had money on his side and still had not having been in Dalton's.

He was fined $50 or two months in jail with hard labor. Nichols was liberated from jail on Saturday last, after having served a term of two months in jail.

Mrs. Sarah Sinclair accuses two boys, John Elliott and Eddie Walsh of stealing six dollars and a quantity of fruit and candy from her store near the Three Mile House, on Saturday last. Archibald Somerset and James Ricker charged with fighting on Gibbons' wharf, admitted they were guilty.

The former, who belongs to the crew of the schooner Calhoun, had been paid off and admitted having been drinking. He asked Ricker the mate to drink with him, after which they boarded the vessel when he and Ricker got into a fight and the latter ordered him off. After he went ashore Ricker followed him and beat him again. The case was also complicated in the affray and Somerset got both eyes blackened and his face cut.

Ricker was fined twenty dollars which was exactly the amount of his deposit and Somerset was discharged.

Sloghart Ferguson and Stewart Houston, charged with fighting on Wall street, pleaded guilty. The former did not stand English, and Officer Crawford said he was not entirely to blame. Ferguson was allowed to go, and Houston forfeited a deposit of twenty dollars.

Two drunks were disposed of in the usual manner. One drunk forfeited a deposit of eight dollars.

Two protectionals were allowed to go.

MORE DOGS POISONED

J. N. Harvey Loses a Valuable Setter Under Some Suspicious Circumstances.

In view of the number of cases of dog poisoning reported lately, people are beginning to think that there is a dog poisoner about the city. If such is the case it would seem that the police should endeavor, if possible, to find out who the miscreant is. J. N. Harvey lost a valuable dog, an Aberdeen setter, yesterday and died shortly afterward. The animal which Mr. Harvey prized very highly, was allowed out of the house on Waterloo street about 9:30 yesterday evening. He returned about two hours later, it showed unmistakable symptoms of poisoning and died shortly afterward. The animal which was killed in this way is a valuable one, the cure seems to be immune.

Fred Driscoll's dog died of poisoning on the north side of King square this morning. It is also reported that three dogs belonging to residents of Brunsford street have also been poisoned since yesterday.

HAD A BUSY TIME

Mayor White Combined Business With Pleasure on His Montreal Trip.

Mayor White's trip to Montreal, which is a holiday nature, was one in which his worship managed to combine business with his pleasure. While in Montreal he consulted as to the value of electric lighting plants, and had a talk with the firm which has been supplying the Carleton Electric Light Co. with material for their plant. He had an interview with the Alliance in regard to the West Side improvements and was informed by them that they considered the work on the West Side very necessary. He found that the "T" rails which are used by the street railway here are furnished by the Montreal council for their streets and that they have granted permission for two miles of the question some being now in use along St. Catherine street. He also looked into the question of granite pavements.

There was a meeting morning to meet with the City Hall, and the Mayor, with representatives of Stender, Cutler & Co. in regard to their tender for the pulp mill. He is believed to submit a new tender. Mayor White has called a special meeting for Tuesday to consider this matter, and also to consider the matter of the widening of the street at the intersection of the street and the wharf at the west side of granite pavements.
