GIVING ENEMY NO REST; HAIG HITS HARD AGAIN NEAR YPRES

British Renew Attack On Germans on Six Mile Front

Satisfactory Progress is Early Report—Haig's Charge Follows Heavy Rainfall; Another Effective Air Raid; German Failures on French Front

London, Oct. 12—The British troops in Flanders attacked the Germans this morning on a front of about six miles northeast of Ypres. They are reported to be making satisfactory progress. Rain fell heavily during last night.

AN AIR RAID ALSO

London, Oct. 12—Another air raid over Belgium was reported officially today. The statement follows: "Naval aircraft dropped many bombs on the Sharappelhoek air-drome yesterday afternoon, despite heavy clouds and rain. All our machines returned."

ON FRENCH FRONT

Paris, Oct. 12—"The night was marked by great activity of the artillery and by a series of German efforts at various points on the front," says today's official statement. "West of Cerny we repulsed an enemy attack, while a detail operation carried out by us north of Noisy Farm enabled us to bring back prisoners. An enemy surprise attack west of Maisons de Champagne, and three German efforts in the region of Auberville and Souain, came to nothing. "On the right bank of the Meuse artillery fighting continues in the region of Bezonvaux."

ALL GOES WELL

British Headquarters in France and Belgium, Oct. 12—(By the Associated Press)—By 7.45 o'clock this morning reports were received that everything was going well with today's British attack in Flanders. The troops along a wide front had pushed forward to a depth averaging 800 yards or more. Prisoners are beginning to come in early, although slowly, owing to the condition of the ground.

British Front in France and Belgium, Oct. 12—Indications are that the Germans early were aware that trouble was impending, as about four a. m. a large number of gas shells were fired by them along the British front.

"The British steam roller goes up hill very slowly, but it is now going down hill and battles are following each other more and more rapidly," said Major General Maurice, director of operations at the British war office yesterday in London. The truth of this assertion was driven home less than twenty-four hours after it was made by the beginning, this morning, of another British attack in Flanders. Only three days had elapsed since the last attack, made on Tuesday. Tuesday's push was launched after a four-day pause, the last previous drive having been carried on the preceding Thursday.

Unusually intervals of a week or more had elapsed between the British attacks. Good progress was reported early by Field Marshal Haig along the six-mile front northeast of Ypres on which today's assault is being delivered. Apparently the objective is the remainder of the ridge commanding the Flanders plain over the dominant points of which the British have already passed and are driving downward. Another notable fact in connection with the present series of drives is that each now is apparently being made regardless of weather conditions.

AUTO ACCIDENT BOTHERS CAR PEOPLE AT AWKWARD TIME

An automobile accident tied up nearly the entire street car service last evening for a short time. From the standpoint of the public the most unfortunate feature was the fact that it occurred just as the six o'clock crowds were heading bound and during a pouring rain. Charles Smith's automobile was proceeding along Mill street near the corner of Union, when it struck an excavation which had been made in the street by city employees. The car turned over and was wrecked, and the occupants had a narrow escape. The car completely blocked one of the railway tracks, and as the company has been depending on only one line while repairs are being made to the other, the effect on the car service was disastrous until the track could be cleared.

He retired in 1909. He was a native of Fredericton and a resident of the city during the greater part of his life. For some time he was an alderman. In religion he was a Methodist.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters, Fred W. Risteen, Mrs. R. R. Rankine and Mrs. Edwin H. Clarke of Fredericton and Harry C. Risteen with the Santa Fe Railway at Williams, Arizona. One grandson, Frank D. Risteen is overseas as is also a son-in-law, Major R. R. Rankine of St. John. One brother, John C. Risteen of San Francisco, also survives.

MUTINY IN GERMAN NAVY WAS SERIOUS

London, Oct. 12—The inactivity of the German fleet in the Baltic Sea recently when there were obvious opportunities for attacking Russian, according to a dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from Amsterdam, was due to the mutinies of the German navy.

It was decided, the dispatch says, to take stern measures on a large scale against the offenders, but that would have increased the mutiny.

Petrograd, Oct. 12—Austro-German troops are renewing their attempts to fraternize with the Russians, but so far every effort has met failure, the war office announced today.

AT SOLDIERS' CLUB

Mrs. Barker, wife of Major L. W. Barker, commanding officer of No. 4 Canadian Siege Battery, gave a tea yesterday afternoon in the Soldiers' Club to the mothers and wives of the members of No. 4 Siege Battery. Lieutenant Adams Bruce, M.C., a member of the battery, who recently returned from overseas, was present. He spoke on what the battery was doing in France and told some very interesting stories of the war.

DOUGLAS McMONAGLE MEETS DEATH IN AIR

Son of a Well Known Former Sussex Corner Resident Slain as Mother Arrives at Paris

(Sussex Record) Many Sussex friends and relatives will learn with regret of the death of Douglas McMonagle, son of the late Dr. Beverley McMonagle, who was for many years a well known and greatly respected resident of Upper Corner. Dr. McMonagle was a son of the late Hugh McMonagle, of Sussex Corner, who for many years was one of the best known, and one of the leading men of Kings county. The following from the "Boston Post" of September 28, is self explanatory:

AMERICAN AVIATOR SLAIN AS MOTHER ARRIVES IN PARIS (Boston Post, Sept. 28) Paris, Sept. 27—The death of Douglas McMonagle, son of the late Dr. Beverley McMonagle, a member of the Lafayette squadron, occurred during a patrol flight with two other Americans, Lieut. Luffery and Sergt. Rockwell.

They were attacked by eight German machines, believed to belong to the combination known as the "Orange Circus." Apparently, McMonagle was taken by surprise. He fell within the French lines.

Sergt. Rockwell went to the rescue, but was too late to serve his comrade. After a short flight, however, he downed one German, who fell crashing into a wood.

McMonagle's body was recovered. He was shot twice through the head. Almost at the moment the sergeant met his fate, his mother, widow of Dr. Beverley McMonagle, an eminent Pacific coast physician, was completing the journey of 6,000 miles from San Francisco to visit her only son.

REPORT SHOWS LESS DISEASE IN CITY THIS YEAR

(Continued from page 1) The great reduction in the total of notifiable diseases reported is almost wholly attributable to measles and we may reasonably look for a comparative absence of this practically uncontrollable disease for perhaps a period of two or three years.

Table with columns: Disease, No. of cases, No. of deaths, Per cent. of deaths to total cases, Deaths per 100,000 per year. Rows include Diphtheria, Scarlet fever, Typhoid, Measles, Tuberculosis.

The most striking feature of the above is the complete absence of deaths during the quarter from acute notifiable disease. This, I think, is the first time of such an occurrence since I have occupied my present position. The figures for tuberculosis continue to be disappointing. Of the eighteen deaths, sixteen were from the pulmonary form.

The problem of materially reducing the mortality consequent upon this disease beyond a certain very moderate limit, here, as in most other communities, is a very difficult one. That it has not yet been solved is becoming more and more apparent everywhere.

General Mortality The table which follows displays the number of deaths from all causes of residents in the city, whether dying in the city or elsewhere, except overseas, during the quarter:

Table with columns: Month, Total of M. and F., Rate per 1,000 per year. Rows include Diphtheria, Cor. quar., Still born, Sept.

It is very satisfactory to note the decided drop in the death rate for the quarter as compared with the last year, which latter figures, 15.82, were by no means excessive.

A very considerable increased attention has been given during the last nine months of the examination of milk. The great majority of the samples examined were good; a large proportion excellent; some six or eight out of 100 either came very close to the minimum standard and one or two fell below it.

Appropriate measures were taken in these cases. Strict supervision has been kept in these instances that were only slightly above the minimum and these measures will be continued in these cases and in others as they develop in the future.

A Change of Attitude

A. E. Manning Foster has published an anthology of what the world's greatest writers, poets and philosophers have thought about death. "One of the many changes due to the war," he says in his preface, "is the alteration in our attitude to death. It is no longer a subject to be mentioned only with bated breath or to be decorously hidden out of sight. With the fact of it so close to us it is impossible to ignore it or pretend that we are not thinking about it. Most of us can think of it with better heart and more bravely than we could in the past. Much of the language of the poets has passed into the prose of our lives."

ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 12, 1917.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

A ROYAL JOKE

Mr. J. K. Fleming was not present at the Conservative convention in Gagetown yesterday. This was a very regrettable omission. He should have been there to add his testimony to the thrilling words of Hon. J. A. Murray and Mr. Geo. B. Jones, when they told the admiring and spell-bound audience that this is no time for politics.

But, most of all, there was Gen. McLean. Not since the hardy old New Englander of the eighteenth century went up in his whale-boats, to attack the French at Fort Nashua, has the St. John river seen anything to compare with the voyage of Gen. McLean's war-canoes to Gagetown, to do battle with the cardinals and Laurier. It was, as Chaplain Corey observed, an historic event. They were making history.

Also unbecome. They were making buncombe. They are rare humorists—these Tories. Their organ, the Standard, says it was a non-partisan convention, but humorously neglects to name a single Liberal who was there, or who spoke a word in favor of the great win-the-war candidate. The humor of it is irresistible. Gen. McLean's retirement to private life will have nothing sombre or sad about it. He is offering a large contribution to the gaiety of the nation.

EVENING SCHOOLS

Touching the matter of evening schools, referred to in The Times yesterday, the town of Amherst furnishes another illustration. In a letter to the News, Mr. B. J. Lawson, chairman of the school commissioners, refers to better accommodation provided for this winter's classes, which includes one of the best automobile class rooms in the province, outside of the colleges. He says further:

"The local government has purchased for the use of the Amherst class a new and up-to-date automobile so that every part should be fully demonstrated. Great expectations for this class are looked for. Already a large number have shown their interest by their many inquiries. A number of ladies have expressed their intention of becoming members of this most important class. As usual, there will be classes in engineering, electrical engineering, mechanical drawing, sewing, English, arithmetic, etc., with competent instructors."

Mr. Lay urges a plea that is worthy of consideration in other towns than Amherst when he adds: "Never in the history of Amherst has there been a greater need of this work than today. So many of our young men have gone overseas to fight for us that younger members of the families have had to leave their studies in the high and common schools to help earn for the family, and the technical classes offer a splendid opportunity to carry on, in part at least, their education."

THE REAL TEST

The following was written by a man who spent three years in England: "In England there are posters, each letter two feet in size, with these words: 'To dress extravagantly in war time is not only bad form, it is unpatriotic.' 'No one there looks down on anyone who has shabby clothes, he they men or women, be they rich or poor, shiny suits (but clean and neat) and altered feminine dresses are no disgrace there. Quite the contrary. The people who dress lavishly are the ones who are despised.'"

There is surely a suggestion here that is worthy of attention in Canada. If there were less extravagance in dress, in eating, in pleasure seeking, there would be more money for the British Red Cross and every other patriotic cause. We do not take the war seriously enough. There is no sacrifice at hand to compare with that made by the men at the front, or by the people of Britain and France, or the awful suffering imposed upon the people of Belgium and Serbia. Life goes on with us in the old way, with perhaps more of extravagance because there is more money in circulation than before the war. When the Canadian people, generous as they are and have been—when will they take the war seriously and prove it by their mode of life? How much of the outcry against the high cost of living is due to a desire to get more money for the war—and how much to resentment toward conditions which make our comforts and pleasures cost us more? There is room for a deal of heart-searching in this matter.

A Chatham, Ont., despatch says: Robert L. Brackin, Liberal candidate for the legislature in West Kent, declared at a meeting here last night that John M. Godfrey of Toronto made the statement in his presence and that of Mayor Kerr of Chatham and others that Sir Robert Borden was a weakling, and had said he was ready to stop all recruiting, and also that he (Godfrey) believed the statements made by Sir Sam Hughes that the premier had ordered him to let up on recruiting. Mr. Godfrey has since been in Chatham, and from a public platform declared "that Sir Robert Borden was the only man to lead in a win-the-war government."

Here is a little picture of life in London as a reporter saw it: "A little pageant of the Sabbath evening is the munitioneer on her way back to work. It happens about church-time, and parades of the nature almost of a parade. Girl after girl you may see passing along, singly or in pairs, towards the factory for her night turn of duty. And though they wear no badges or uniform, you may know them all by one infallible sign. For, neatly folded under one arm, the munitioneer girl carries what, at first sight, looks like a bathing costume, but is really her working overall."

The London Chronicle says: "The problem of building unshakable ships has been practically solved, but in naval circles it is not believed that they will overcome the submarine menace, owing to the difficulties in their construction and their small cargo space. A naval architect stated that ships were being built which could in some cases keep afloat after being torpedoed. 'It is claimed for one of the latest,' he said, 'that if a torpedo hit her in three places she would remain afloat.'"

Speaking of the appeal of the British Red Cross in Toronto last week, Mr. Noel Marshall said that after three years he was able to say that, as far as he knew, not one dollar of the monies contributed had been mispent and not one appeal from any allied hospital had gone unheeded. Mr. J. E. Atkinson said no matter what campaigns are launched from time to time to the end of the war they all ought to be met. "We ought to be ashamed," he said, "to mention anything we can do in the same breath with what those fellows are doing overseas."

In a recent speech in London General Smuts said: "The war is won. In the South African war the Boers knew they had lost, but for six months they went on fighting. That is the position today. We have won and the Germans know we have won, but they will go on fighting. If we do not maintain a spirit of determination to press forward our advantages and bring of a smashing victory there is a possibility of losing."

China's offer of unlimited supplies and skilled labor will greatly help the Allies if they can provide the ships for prompt transportation. Always we must come back to this matter of the supply of ships, but shipbuilding has never interested the Borden government. Under the Laurier policy we would now have had great shipyards in this country—one of them at St. John.

Gen. McLean could not have found time to read Ralph Connor's declaration that "any man who for any purpose seeks to make a cleavage between Quebec and our English-speaking people is a traitor to his country and his God."

The recent mutiny in the German navy is the subject of much comment in the Allied press, and it is regarded as a very serious matter for Germany.

Uproots Skin Disease!

Such unusual power of penetration does Zam-Buk possess that it is capable of reaching the underlying tissues. In cases of skin trouble, this is where the greatest accumulation of germs is, and until these are destroyed a permanent cure cannot be effected. Zam-Buk destroys all germs with which it comes in contact. When the diseased part is thoroughly cleansed and purified, the herbal extracts, of which Zam-Buk is composed, grow new skin, and a complete and lasting cure is the result.

LIGHTER VEIN. His Message. "She—You don't even dress me decently. I'm going home to papa. He—All right. You might say to him that I need a new suit myself." Considera. A boy of seven was being scolded in a room adjoining one in which his grandma lay ill. He motioned toward grandma's room and quietly said, "Sh—! It's too much for her; I'll write her out!" Later grandma thanked him for his consideration, whereupon he replied: "Don't mention it, gram; that was fifty-fifty—part for you and part for me."

Nerves of the Stomach

Were Weak and Inactive as Result of Nervous Prostration—Lost Twenty Pounds—Had to Take Sleeping Powders to Get Any Rest.

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 10.—Many people never realize that the movement and action of every organ of the human body is dependent on the energy supplied by the nervous system. When the nervous system gets run down there is weakness throughout the entire body. You feel tired and languid and your stomach and other digestive organs are similarly affected. Appetite fails, digestion is poor, you do not get the good of what you eat and gradually grow weaker and weaker. This process can only be stopped by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which goes directly to create new nerve force and thereby to invigorate the whole human body. Mrs. Geo. S. Elze, 46 Davidson street, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "My husband had an attack of nervous prostration, and although he recovered for some time and tried different other medicines, he could not get relief. He had to resort to sleeping powders given him by the doctor to make him sleep. The greater part of the trouble seemed to be with the nerves of his stomach. He began to lose weight, and kept on going down until he had lost twenty pounds. We had read advertisements in the newspapers for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and noticed that it seemed to be doing a lot of good for people troubled with nervousness, so my husband decided to try it. He found benefit almost from the start, and continued this treatment until he had gained about twelve or thirteen boxes. The results were most satisfactory. He is now enjoying good health, sleeps well, and has gained back nearly all the weight he had lost. He also uses Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills occasionally, and thinks them an excellent remedy. I have also used this latter medicine for dizzy spells and liver trouble, and was completely cured of these complaints. We think a great deal of Dr. Chase's medicines, and cannot speak too highly of them."

Brig. Gen. H. H. McLean Is Tory Candidate In Kings-Queens The Conservative convention for the new constituency of Kings-Queens met a "win-the-war" convention with no intimation of its political complexion yesterday at Gagetown and nominated Brigadier-General Hugh H. McLean, M.P., as their candidate in the coming election. The call had been issued for but the gathering was entirely Conservative. S. L. Peters, former secretary of the Queens county Conservative Association, presided. After addresses by St. Clair Fraser of Chipman, Rev. (Captain) Correy of Havelock, and Hon. J. A. Murray, the former premier, General McLean was nominated by George B. Jones, M.P.P. Alfred West of Cole's Island, a former Conservative candidate, seconded the nomination and, according to previous arrangement, it was made unanimous. General McLean, in accepting the nomination, defended the military service act and the franchise act. Senator G. W. Fowler made a brief speech and conveyed the regrets of Hon. J. D. Hazen who was unable to attend.

Dr. Frank King, New York, Ph.D. and Medical Author. EVERY WOMAN EVERY MOTHER EVERY DAUGHTER NEEDS IRON AT TIMES. To put strength into her nerves and color into her cheeks. "There is a full, beautiful, healthy, rosy complexion, and a woman's face is the result of iron in the blood. The trouble in the past has been that when women needed iron they got it in the form of pills, which they took daily, and which corroded the stomach and did far more harm than good. Today doctors prescribe organic iron—'Laxated Iron'—this particular form of iron is easily assimilated, does not blacken the teeth, it will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, irritable, careworn, haggard looking women 100 per cent in two weeks time in many instances. I have used it in my own practice with most surprising results. I demand the BEST IRON recommended by Dr. Frank King, M.D. It is the only one from any good drug store which is guaranteed to be pure. It is dispensed in this form by all good druggists."

THIS WOMAN TOLD TO CHOOSE Between Operation and Death. Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Des Moines, Iowa.—"My husband says I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from a serious female trouble and the doctors said I could not live one year without an operation. My husband objected to the operation and got me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon commenced to get better and am now well and able to do my own housework. I can recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman as a wonderful health restorer."—Mrs. BLANCH JEFFERSON, 708 Lyon St., Des Moines. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from highly prized roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

$5 PRIVATE CHRISTMAS CARD sample book free on promise to carry. Agents making five to ten dollars daily. Carriage prepaid. Garretson Company, Brantford, Ontario.

To the electors of the Parish of Lancaster, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Considering that it is not in the best interests of our parish to allow the present councillors to be re-elected by acclamation I have decided, after many solicitations from electors representing the different sections of the parish, to offer myself as a candidate for the coming contest.

Holding interests both as a business man and property holder, the electors should be sufficient evidence to the electors to warrant the very best that is in me, regarding the welfare, prosperity and administration of the parish, and should I have the honor to represent you after the 16th, I make one promise and that is fair consideration to all sections.

As to the present councillors personally I have nothing against them, but the administration is unquestionably running in a well worn rut and our financial condition is very bad.

In such a short campaign it will be impossible to see all the electors personally and I think those who will see their way clear to render me their support before and at the polls.

Thanking you in anticipation of such support, I remain in the best interests of the electors.
Yours faithfully,
GLENDON H. ALLAN

CAR FERRY SERVICE ABOUT TO START

After being towed over and placed in position, they were filled with concrete, thus making a solid mass. The core of the remainder of the pier is of stone, known as "quarry run." The slopes are laid with heavy stones, not less than five tons each, built to fit in with one another. These stones were laid by means of a cable-way, being handled by an endless chain between two towers, one on the pier and the other on the bank, about 1,800 feet apart.

The pier is of curving formation and has a J termination, the hollow part of which forms a dock for the steamer. In order to prevent a boat from being damaged by coming into contact with the concrete an automatic fender, designed by the Rogers Miller Co., was built. This is composed of vertical piles, with steel points driven into the rock. These piles are set in pairs, between them timbers are set lengthwise, and there are other piles placed to strengthen the structure. There are sixty-four plungers altogether fitting into pipes and resting against clustered car springs. By means of these springs the compression of the boat is taken up and 100 tons pressure will close the springs up a foot.

The cars will be taken on and off the steamer by means of a large steel transfer bridge or apron, built by the Dominion Bridge Company. This has six large girders with an apron girder suspended from the top. The apron is in three sections, the outer one of which rests on top of the steamer's stern. By means of counter weights, the structure is so balanced that it can be hoisted or lowered by means of a small steam engine to suit any condition of the tide.

The breakwater, also built by the Rogers, Miller Co., is situated to the eastward on a pier and affords protection from the east winds. It is 285 feet long and 110 feet at the bottom, tapering to eighteen feet at the top. Before operations were started there was no harbor and a new one had to be created. An area of 750,000 square feet was dredged to a depth of twenty feet.

Since the steamer began running, the doubt has been expressed as to whether she will be able successfully to carry on the service with the present accommodation. In the first place the turning basin is too small and too shallow. When loaded with twelve cars in summer the steamer draws nineteen feet at the bow and twenty feet at the stern. In winter, in ice-lighting trim, with her waterballast there will be imminent danger of her running aground. In fact the contractors urged the government to have the whole harbor dredged to a depth of twenty-five feet, but the government did not consider it necessary. However, after the pier had been well got under way and some of the concrete cribs laid they decided to deepen the steamer's berth to twenty-five feet. As this was not done before the cribs were laid down the result was that the dredge was unable to deepen all the area required and the balance of this had to be done by drilling and blasting.

Moreover, it has been found that another breakwater 700 feet long will be necessary to afford adequate protection on the west side. The deepening of the harbor and the building of the breakwater will take at least another year to accomplish. Of other occasions in fine weather and at different stages of the tide she has docked, been unloaded and re-loaded in twenty-two minutes.

Fortunately the steamer fits the dock on the island side perfectly. At Cape Tormentine, the dock was too small and it was necessary to strip off sheathing from the fenders and replace them with thinned planks before the boat could enter. Even now it requires all her propellers with the aid of the steamer's winch to get her stern squeezed in.

Your Range Should Have

was as long docking as she was in making the trip from Cape to Cape. On other occasions in fine weather and at different stages of the tide she has docked, been unloaded and re-loaded in twenty-two minutes.

THE METAL MARKETS

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for the week ended Oct. 9, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following observations:

The industrial situation continues unsettled owing to the embargo on steel from the States, but it is hoped that some relief will be obtained when representations have been made to the priority board at Washington. It is absolutely essential that steel for shipbuilding be allowed to enter Canada, but while such materials may be licensed, it is extremely improbable that steel will be permitted to enter for purely domestic purposes. The situation is acute and the shortage of steel cannot help but restrict manufacturing operations. There have been no further developments in regard to prices and the market is holding firm in the meantime. Indications point to the embargo tending to keep prices up in Canada in spite of the reductions in the States. The outlook is so obscure, however, that it is difficult to say what will be the outcome of the prevailing unsettled conditions. The appointment of a controller of steel and iron should help materially in clearing up the situation. The non-ferrous metal markets are dull and prices unchanged. The embargo on copper has resulted in a scarcity of this metal and prices are firm locally. Scrap prices are also unchanged and the market is stagnant. Consumers continue to stay out of the market until the situation is more settled. Prices of machine shop supplies are holding firm with an upward tendency on some lines.

One little girl went from the shelter to an excellent foster home in Kings county but another older girl had to be committed to the Maritime Home for Girls, Truro (N. S.) At the present time there are nine children in the shelter all enjoying excellent health.

Since the last monthly meeting of the board I made two trips out of the city and visited three of the wards of the society. It is encouraging to be able to report these are in excellent homes, are proving satisfactory in every way, and are contented and healthy.

He noticed the kerosene lamp hanging in front of a storeroom was lighted. He went for water and on his return the lamp had been extinguished and the oil poured over the door as if to set it on fire. The flames were quickly put down and the fire was out when the fire department arrived.

The manipulators of bow and arrow were trained archers and each bow and arrow is a duplicate of a weapon of the same sort used in the original contest between Cyrus and Belshazzar. The great towers that are pushed against the walls of Babylon are exact reproductions of the fighting towers of the ancients. In the Middle Ages story are utilized weapons that are appropriate to that time. These were copied from originals and from models in the British Museum and in the museums of France. The allegory near the close of the spectacle shows armament and munitions of today, soldiers in the clash of battle are represented and overhead may be seen gigantic warplanes guided by skilled aviators. NEED HOSPITAL WING FOR CHILDREN'S AID

The monthly meeting of the board of management of the Children's Aid Society was held last night in the Shelter, Elliot row, the president, A. M. Belding, in the chair. It was announced that the new matron, Mrs. A. L. Peatman, would assume management November 5. In the course of a general discussion reference was made to the fact that nothing better can be done to mothers who neglect their children than send them to jail. Several members contended that legislation should be sought making it possible to commit such women to an institution where they would be compelled to do hard work.

Regarding the general work of the society last night's discussion showed that it will be seriously handicapped until it has a home large enough to provide a hospital wing.

Following is a summary of the agent's report:

"The work of the children's shelter during the past month has been carried on under some little difficulty but nevertheless a good deal has been accomplished. Five children were admitted of whom two were taken over from their parents who were breaking up house-keeping preparatory to leaving the city. These had to be placed in the General Public Hospital, one of them suffering from a form of skin disease; the other from anemia brought on by neglect. The other three children were put in the shelter Wednesday. The mother is in jail on remand. She has five children two of whom are being cared for by relatives. The three lads put in the shelter were insufficiently clad, filthy and verminous.

"One baby was taken from the shelter by its mother who accompanied her

How Courtenay Bay Work Contractor Destroyed Roumanian Oil Wells Under Noses of German Troops

(London Chronicle)
A dramatic story of how the Roumanian oil-wells were destroyed was related yesterday by Watson Rutherford, M.P., at the meeting of the Roumanian Consolidated Oilfields, Ltd. He also made the welcome disclosure that despite the feverish exertions of German engineers, the enemy had not yet found a means for the outlet and exportation of the oil.
The Roumanian outlook for centuries to come was one of the most assured, said Mr. Rutherford. The destruction of the petroleum works was so complete that, in spite of the feverish exertions of the German engineers, little petroleum had been taken out, and that could not be successfully used until means were found for refining and storing it.
Only 40,000 Russians—and those a month late—came to the aid of the Roumanians instead of the promised 200,000; this was due to the bureaucratic corruption of the Russian government of that date.
Sir J. Norton Griffiths' mission to destroy the oilfields was an inspiration of intelligence. Hundreds of thousands of tons worth millions of pounds and priceless to the enemy, were destroyed under the very noses of the German troops and within a few hours of their patrols—in more than one case within a few minutes. The means of getting the petroleum and using it were also destroyed. The wells were smashed up beyond hope of being worked. Derricks and refineries were burnt and blown up, machinery was smashed to atoms, pipe lines were cut, tanks exploded and buildings knocked down. Their claim against the British government amounted to £1,270,724.

Mr. Rutherford's description of the destruction was supplemented by a report which stated that the Roumanian official plan of destruction would not have prevented the Germans from reopening the wells, and Colonel Norton Griffiths complained that he was getting no practical help from the authorities.
Risk to Volunteers
The risk to volunteers to wreck the wells being shot if not in uniform, should the enemy capture them, caused Colonel Norton Griffiths to give temporary commissions in the British army to three of the company's officials. These had since been decorated, Captain Mas-erson with the D. S. O. and Lieutenants Hayward and Simpson with the M.C.

When 40,000 tons of oil were burned at Maren the conflagration "formed a black pall overhead, and it was almost as dark as night, the only light being a lurid glow from the burning oil through the fog of smoke." The wells had also caught fire and the whole field was blazing.
At the Astras works the party were cautioned that the power house was full of gas, and might explode at any moment. Col. Norton Griffiths would not hear of the word "danger," and took a lighted fuse of hay, entered the building, and set fire to the oil, which had been pumped into the basement. The gas at that time was so strong as to asphyxiate anyone after a few minutes. It was a miracle that no one was killed. Col. Norton Griffiths was only slightly burned. Included amongst the tanks fired was the largest one in Europe. It collapsed quietly.

DEATH OF DR. LEANDER J. CROOKER OF AUGUSTA.

Well Known Maine Physician Dead at Age of 80 Years; Came of Long Line of Doctors.
(Bangor Commercial).
Dr. Leander J. Crooker, one of Maine's best known physicians and surgeons, passed away Tuesday at his home in Augusta at the age of 80 years. He had been in continuous practice sixty-one years, forty-seven years of which was spent in Augusta. He came of a family of doctors and achieved distinction in his profession.

Dr. Crooker was born in Wiscasset, the son of Dr. Sabra Crooker and Pamela Durland Crooker of Brookfield, Nova Scotia. He went to Nova Scotia when a young man but later returned to the States and secured his medical education. He located in Vassalboro in 1857 and married Clara B. Tashell of Vassalboro the following year. His older brother, Dr. Aaron P. Crooker of Belgrade, died in 1861 and he moved to Belgrade and took his brother's practice. In 1869 he went to Boston, opened an office on Court street and that year took a second course of medical lectures at Harvard Medical.

In 1870 he came to Augusta and entered into partnership with Dr. George E. Brickett. After two years he opened an office of his own and continued to practice up to the time of his last illness.

Dr. Crooker interested himself in public affairs and for years was active in politics, always having been a Democrat. It was in 1876 he bought a point of land on the Maine coast, then known as "Lane's Neck." This he re-named Ocean Point. He gave away ten lots on the condition that they be built on within a year. Thus he started Ocean Point and it is largely due to his efforts that the place became the popular summer resort it now is.

Surviving relatives are a son, Dr. L. J. Crooker, Jr., a niece, Miss F. Addie Wright; a nephew, Hiram L. Poirer, Augusta; a brother, Dr. P. A. Crooker, Washington, Me.; and a sister, Mrs. Addie L. Foster, Berwick, N. S.

The direct line of descent of a singularly "medical" family reads:
—Abner Crooker, Pambroke, Mass., a private in the Revolution was taken from the ranks to help care for sick and wounded because he was "particularly apt at such work." His son Sebra (2) was a farmer in Wiscasset and called a "natural bonsetter." His sons were (3) William Curtis Crooker, (4) Dr. Sebra Crooker of Nova Scotia, a traveling "cancer doctor." His sons were (5) Dr. Aaron Potter Crooker of Belgrade, Me.; (6) Dr. P. A. Crooker of Washington, Me.; (7) Dr. Leander J. Crooker of Augusta, Me. His son (8) Leander J. Crooker, Jr., of Augusta.

With war-time prices so terribly high for nearly every article of food, it must be a particular satisfaction to those who love good coffee to know that there has been no advance in the price of Red Rose Coffee for three years—and the great increase in the sale of Red Rose Coffee this year shows that the price is appreciated.

People everywhere seem to be using much more coffee than they did before.

Red Rose Tea is economical on account of its superior quality—but Red Rose Coffee is economical both on account of its quality and price, a combination hard to maintain in war-time.

Ate Germans' Breakfast
Rev. Dr. Heine, of this city, has received two interesting souvenirs from his son, Private E. J. Heine, who was wounded at Lens. One of the souvenirs is a piece of tape taken from a German whom he captured while the other is a piece of cardboard containing the directions for the use of the German respirator. He writes that the Germans do not like the cold steel. He says that after the Canadians took one of the trenches, they sat down and ate the breakfast that the Germans had prepared.

that is the way to save money, save strength, save health and save food. Cut out the expensive indigestible foods. The whole wheat is the most perfect food given to man. But be sure you get the whole wheat grain in a digestible form. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is 100 per cent. whole wheat and is made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. It contains more real body-building nutriment than meat, and costs much less. Delicious for any meal with milk or cream, and fruits. Made in Canada.

CONCERNING CANNED GOODS.
At the time Controller Hanna issued the order prohibiting the sale of certain canned vegetables one of the reasons was that tin was very scarce. People were urged not to can anything that would keep without undergoing the process. It is interesting to note that the canners are now offering canned sweet potatoes. If there was not tin enough to can Canadian products where did the supply come from to can sweet potatoes?

THE GRAYFISH AS FOOD

President of Fishing Gazette Enjoys Lunch in Royal

The grayfish, hitherto known as the dog fish, is coming into use as food, in fact in some places is used extensively. In this connection the following is of interest. It is from The Fishing Gazette, New York:

"The president of The Fishing Gazette Publishing Co., Inc. was tendered a luncheon on Sunday last at the Royal Hotel, St. John, N. B., by John Jackson, the well known salt fish merchant. The fish was served as a salad with mayonnaise and was pronounced very palatable. The chef of the hotel said there were great possibilities for the fish served in various ways. The fish used was prepared and packed by fish merchants of New Brunswick under the personal supervision of Prof. E. E. Prince and Mr. Jackson.

The fish referred to is the grayfish, a dogfish and was supplied by the Beaver Harbor Trading Co.

Mr. Jackson, who, by the way, was created a justice of the peace this week, as many knew, a member of the Canadian Fisheries Advisory Board and an authority on the fish business. He is enthusiastic over the use of the grayfish as food and declares it toothsome and substantial. His guest at the grayfish luncheon at the Royal was George E. Jennings, who, as announced, is president of The Fishing Gazette Publishing Company.

The defendant refused to accept same alleging that they were not in good condition and merchantable on the arrival at their destination. The defendant assorted the potatoes, and offered $825 in settlement, which the plaintiff refused to accept. M. & J. Teed appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Hartley and J. A. Barry for the defendant.

YOUNG SEAMAN DROWNS IN HARBOR

Charles R. Merriam Lost At Height of Storm

FATHER WAS AT WHEEL

Member of Crew of Schooner Shamrock Falls Overboard and Swims to Tug in Icky Blackness of Night—Sinks as Helping Hand is Reached Out

As the schooner Shamrock was coming into dock at South wharf last night at 10.30 o'clock, Charles Ratchford Merriam, nineteen-year-old son of Captain Randall Merriam, fell overboard and was drowned. The schooner, which is a two-masted one, hails from Port Greenville, N.S., and was coming into the wharf under gasoline. The lad was hanging onto the bowsprit stays on the starboard side and handling a line with his left hand, trying to pass it to the nearest of three tug boats, the G. K. King, and Captain Goiding of this tug was standing ready to receive it.

The rain was coming down in sheets, driven by a chilling gale and his fingers, becoming numb with the cold, the seaman lost his grip and fell over the side into the sea. The side of the schooner was too high to climb and he made for the tug boat, only twenty feet away. Young Merriam was a good swimmer and made the distance easily, taking hold of the gruyhull with both hands. Captain Goiding leaped out as far as possible but could not reach him and called to him to throw his head farther back. He did so and immediately sank. It is thought from a theory suggested is that his long rubber boots became filled with water and impeded his efforts. Whatever the reason, he was never seen again. The tide was at flood at the time of the accident and set down immediately afterwards, so that it is thought that the body would be washed away immediately.

The other man on the schooner, E. F. Fraser, was standing at the bow passing the line to the unfortunate lad and when he fell overboard he gave the "man overboard" cry, Captain Merriam the boy's father, was at the wheel and dared not leave his post, even though his son was drowning. As the lad was not above the water more than a minute, he did not see the boy before he went under.

The heart-broken father told a Times reporter this morning that his son had been at sea only four years and was a smart lad on a boat. He was born and brought up at Port Greenville, where his mother is living. No steps have been taken as yet to notify her of the sad accident. The lad made his first voyage with his father and later sailed with both his elder brothers, Harvey and Lloyd, both of whom are sea captains. He sailed last summer in Captain Merriam's schooner "Chisler" and owned a one-third interest in the Shamrock.

The schooner Shamrock was loaded with lumber from a firm in Selma, Hants county, N.S., to John E. Moore & Co., Ltd., St. John. She is a very seaworthy vessel and is owned by Captain Merriam and his sons.

BRIG. GEN. H. H. McLEAN TO GIVE UP HIS COMMAND

Is Going to Ottawa Tonight—Major MacDougall and Lieut. Col. A. H. Powell Mentioned

That Major-General MacDougall will succeed Brigadier-General H. H. McLean, who is soon to retire from active military service, as general officer commanding New Brunswick troops, was the information that was received in the city last night. Brigadier-General McLean will leave tonight for Ottawa and while there it is understood, he will hand in his resignation. In the event of Major-General MacDougall not accepting the position here, as it is a much inferior position to that held under Major-General Sir Sam Hughes, it is just possible that Lieutenant-Colonel A. H. Powell will be given the position. Colonel Powell is at present the assistant adjutant general of this command, which position he has held for more than two years. At Valcartier camp he was acting brigadier-general. While in command of his brigade there he did exceptionally fine work and proved his ability not only as an administrative officer, but as a field officer. Colonel Powell has been soldiering during the greater part of his life. He was in Africa and took part in all the fighting in the Boer war as a member of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. While in Africa his ability as an officer was recognized and on his return to Canada he was promoted to be captain and was held in the Canadian army. Since the outbreak of the present war, he has made at least twenty attempts to get overseas, offering to cross in most any capacity, but all applications have been refused. It is understood that the cause of his being held in Canada is due to his ability as an administrative officer. His appointment as brigadier-general of this command would not come as a surprise to military men and would be considered a well-merited promotion.

MRS. MARY HIGGINS

The death of Mrs. Mary Higgins, widow of Thomas L. Higgins, late of the parish of Simonds, occurred at an early hour this morning. Mrs. Higgins was well known throughout the parish and in the city, and she will be mourned by many friends. She is survived by three sons, Frederick and Leonard of Simonds and Herbert of the railway mail service; two daughters, Mrs. James W. Gallagher of Norton and Miss Bertha of this city; two brothers, John and Henry Lee of East St. John, and one sister, Miss Elizabeth Lee. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon from 76 Charlotte street.
