Soldiers Warned That Armistice is Not Final Peace Troops Must be Prepared for Further Operations at Any Moment Must Not be Slightest Relaxation of Vigilance; Communication with the Enemy Absolutely Forbidden; Instructions to Soldiers in the Field

With the American Forces in France, Nov. 11—(By the Associated Press)—Orders announcing that the armistice between the allied powers and Germany had been signed and giving directions as to the future conduct of allied soldiers along the line were sent to every corps this morning. They were transmitted to the units in the front ranks. The orders follow:

1. You are informed that hostilities will cease along the whole front at 11 o'clock a. m., Nov. 11, 1918, Paris time.
2. No allied troops will pass the line reached by them at that hour in day until further orders.
3. Division commanders will immediately sketch the location of their front line. This sketch will be returned to headquarters by the courier bearing these orders.
4. All communication with the enemy, both before and after the termination of hostilities, is absolutely forbidden. In case of violation of this order severest disciplinary measures will be immediately taken. Any officer offending will be sent to headquarters under guard.
5. Every emphasis will be laid on the fact that the arrangement is an armistice only, and not a peace.
6. There must not be the slightest relaxation of vigilance. Troops must be prepared at any moment for further operations.
7. Special steps will be taken by all commanders to insure strictest discipline and that all troops be held in readiness fully prepared for any eventualities.
8. Division and brigade commanders will personally communicate these orders to all organizations.

SEVEN CASES REPORTED FROM ST. MARTINS

Only seven new cases of influenza were reported to the board of health this morning. These came in from St. Martins. It was not known whether or not there were any new cases in the city as the inspectors had not filed their reports before The Times went to press. The forty new cases reported on Monday are thought to have been the result of the wet weather over the week-end, and it is felt that fine clear weather, prevailing at the present time, will be instrumental in keeping the disease down.

VON HINDENBURG ADHERES TO THE NEW GOVERNMENT

Amsterdam, Nov. 11—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is not in Holland, according to a telegram from the semi-official Wolff Bureau of Berlin. He remains at main headquarters and adheres to the new government.

The Night is Past

Now comes the shining splendor of the dawn,
On all the hills of all the weary world,
The deathful shadows of the night, long-drawn,
Forever downward into darkness hurled.

Oh, not in pride the silver bugles call,
(God rest our sons, and brothers where they sleep);
Rejoice in soberness, the God of all
Has moved upon the waters of the deep.

Rejoice that pride of power and savage lust,
The hateful bondage of the dripping sword,
Give place to freedom and a simple trust,
Safe-anchored in a sovereign people's word.

Rejoice that this our nation bore its part,
In that great strife of right against the wrong—
Forgot the sordid traffic of the mart,
And foolish pleasure of the jaded throng;

Enhanced the higher destiny and laid
Its sons upon the altar of the race,
—To them the glory, then the tribute paid,
Who dared to meet the evil face to face.

The long, long night is past, now comes the day
—Oh man! To you what message hath it brought?
What human wrong to right? What guardian pay?
What simple service to be kindly wrought?

The night is past, the splendor from the hills
Pours down the darkened vales of earth to bless;
The whole wide world the golden glory fills,
Rejoice! Behold the sun of righteousness.

New York, Nov. 11—Notwithstanding the unexpected conditions that arose tonight, the date set for the annual report of the Canadian Club of New York, several hundred natives of the Dominion held a meeting at the Hotel Biltmore. Amsterdam, Nov. 12—An agreement has been reached between the Socialist and Independent Socialist parties in Germany and the new regime seems to have secured ample support from the press. In addition to the Wolff Bureau, the Socialists are now represented by three newspapers, the Vorwaerts, the Lokal Anzeiger, formerly the emperor's favorite newspaper, and now rechristened the Red Flag, and the former semi-official organ, the North German Gazette, which has taken the new title of the International.

NOT SURE THAT THE FORMER EMPRESS HAS REACHED HOLLAND.

London, Nov. 11—Reports are still contradictory as to whether the former empress accompanied her husband on his flight to Holland. A Dutch agency message from Amsterdam says that the party consists of fifty-one persons including the former empress and crown prince and Field Marshal Von Hindenburg.

Les Nouvelles, of The Hague, does not mention the former empress but says that high military authorities of the grand headquarters and court functionaries are with William, Hohenzollern.

There were several carloads of archives brought to the border, the newspaper says.

Chicago, Nov. 11—William Howard Taft, former president, warned the people in a speech here tonight not to expect the soldiers back from France within two hours, because of the policing which will fall on the shoulders of the United States.

"The men in France will not return soon," he said. "We have two million men in Europe and they will be kept there for some time to do police work, both in the countries of our enemies and in Russia. All vessels in which the men were sent across will be needed to carry food and supplies to both our allies and our forces."

SIGNING OF THE FAMOUS DOCUMENT IS DESCRIBED

The Question of Food Was Uppermost in Minds of the German Plenipotentiaries

Paris, Nov. 11.—The new German government, it appears, considered the armistice conditions at a sitting table on Sunday at Berlin. Having decided to accept them, it telephoned instructions from Berlin to Spa, German headquarters, authorizing the delegates to affix their signatures to the agreement.

The courier who was waiting at Spa left immediately for the lines and crossed them without incident north of Ghimay. He reached the chateau De Francfort at about 2 o'clock in the morning and found the German plenipotentiaries waiting for him.

Had Hacking Cough Couldn't Sleep Nights

Hacking coughs are very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest, and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in an irritated and inflamed condition.

Don't neglect the hacking cough. You can get rid of it with a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; the most prompt, pleasant and perfect cough remedy known.

Miss Catherine M. McLean, Craik, Sask., writes:—"Last winter I caught a heavy cold and was laid up for some time. I had such a hacking cough I couldn't sleep at night. I didn't think I would get over it. One day a friend dropped in to see me and was surprised to see how bad my cough was. She advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The next day I sent for a bottle, and I soon got relief, and by the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone, and now I am able to do my work again. I don't think there is anything to equal it."

LONDON WILD WITH JOY OVER END OF FIGHTING

London, Nov. 11, 11 p.m.—Heavy rain is falling tonight, but the celebration which was begun this morning continues.

Outside of Buckingham Palace there is a throng whose numbers are impossible to estimate. Tens of thousands are singing "God Save the King." From time to time King George and the royal family appear on the portico and howl. Wild cheers from the populace greet their appearance.

This is the first night in four years that London has been brightly illuminated. The government suspended the regulations calling for the early closing of theatres and restaurants. This suspension will continue during the week.

Little work was done in London today. Employees of factories, shops and stores simply disappeared.

Keep the Bowels Regular

And You Won't Be Sick

If the bowels do not move regularly, they will sooner or later become constipated, and constipation is productive of more ill-health than almost any other trouble.

The sole cause of constipation is an inactive liver, and unless the liver is kept active, you may be sure that headaches, piles, heartburn, biliousness, jaundice, blotchy specks before the eyes, and many other troubles will follow in wrong succession, this one of the most important organs of the body.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will regulate the bowels so that you will have a free and easy motion every day, and one pill at night for thirty days will cure the worst cases of constipation.

They do this by acting directly on the liver and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, thus causing many stomach and bowel troubles.

Mrs. Jos. Labrec, Louise Apis, Calgary, Alta., writes:—"I have been troubled with constipation for the last three years, and have read numerous treatments, but have never been relieved by anything until I used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which are helping me wonderfully."

We do not claim that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are a "cure-all," but we do claim that there is nothing better for a sluggish liver.

Price 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SIGHTLESS OPERATORS

Blinded Soldiers Run Private Phone Exchanges.

The opportunity for blinded soldiers as telephone operators, are revealed in a current issue of St. Dunstan's Review, a monthly journal devoted to the interests of St. Dunstan's Hostel for blinded soldiers and sailors in London, England, where the Canadian government is also placing its men for training.

An important article on the "St. Dunstan's as a Telephone Operator" outlines the possibilities afforded in this particular phase of endeavor. The outstanding qualification for this work is self-reliance, as the operator in a private branch exchange generally works alone in a small sound proof room, and must do everything for himself. A full description of the necessary operations is given, from which it is easily seen that the brain, ear and hand of the operator must work in perfect accord, and that is possible for the blind man.

Experience has shown that the blind soldier can grasp and overcome these difficulties with remarkable speed, taking only four days to learn to do so. An instance of this is cited under the heading, "News of St. Dunstan's men from all parts of the world."

P. Alvey, a telephone operator who has been working with Messrs. Debenham and Freebody, London, for the past six months, wrote recently:

"I am quite used to my part of the switchboard, but after the training we get at St. Dunstan's we cannot fail to be successful. At times I cannot realize that so much could have been accomplished in so short a period. I hope to get a holiday in July and will try to see two of the old boys—Harding of Gloucester, and Bandy at Gienster. As we were all the best of friends, it will be a very happy meeting."

The blind person cannot of course work in a public exchange where the flash light system is used, but in a business house, buildings, offices and the training given at St. Dunstan's is of a practical nature, on apparatus similar to that in use in a private exchange. An elaborate installation has been fitted up in one of the classrooms and when certain proficiency is attained the novice is given the opportunity of working the main switchboard of the institution.

The practice on a real live switchboard completes the training. An encouraging temperament, a courteous and cheerful disposition and a quickly working brain are the qualifications necessary for success in this work," says the reviewer.

Destroys the Last Word in Fighting Ships.

According to William G. Shepherd, the war correspondent, who tells in "Everybody's for October how America is combating the U-boat menace, our submarine destroyer is the last word in line of fighting. It costs two million dollars. It is really two exquisitely mounted turbine engines with a thin skin of steel put around them to keep them from exploding. These engines have the power of twenty-seven thousand horses, enough to drive a great liner. It slices the ocean at forty miles an hour. It is all power and danger. It can not upset. While an ordinary ship is doomed if she rolls much way down to the surface of the sea, the destroyer on the side of a wave can roll over to one hundred and seven degrees, which is seventy degrees below level, and still right herself.

"Such is the tool that Young America, the European anti-submarine patrol, has used. And it has used it so effectively, with the blood of excitement and adventure surging through his young body. Master of the power of twenty-seven thousand horses, riding its thin shell like an aviator on silk wings, conqueror of the ten-month storm that sweeps yearly across the ocean, about the shores of England, Ireland and France, he is a component part of a piece of hurdling death."

THE NEW YORK CANADIAN CLUB MET LAST NIGHT.

ada; the Hon. Henry Y. Braddon, commissioner from Australia to the United States; President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton University, and the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn.

President Nealand read a telegram from President Milland, of the Vancouver society, felicitating the society on its liberty loan work recently. He then said November 11 would be a day that would be celebrated a thousand years from now as it is being celebrated today.

There is a deep sense of regret, however, he said, that the war could not have been carried into the enemy's country. Even now it is being whipsawed in the United States that Germany, deserted by her allies while still on the soil of France, yielded in the name of humanity.

Dr. Hillis was introduced as the first speaker. He said that it must be recorded that to England and her colonies belong the chief honors of this war. He then went into financial details of the future relations between the mother country and her colonies would be a question which would engage both sides for generations to come. He then paid an eloquent tribute to the work done by the women in the work of the war.

Hon. Mr. Guthrie said it was an honor to be present at any meeting of the New York Canadian Society, but doubly so tonight, one of the most eventful in all world history. He said he was there to bring a greeting from the brothers of the 49th parallel to these in the United States.

Mr. Guthrie asserted no satisfactory peace could have been brought about until Prussianism had been defeated in the field. This had been done, he added, and the dog has been forced open for such a peace as will make the world safe for all time.

Dr. Hibbon spoke of the feeling of hostility he had for the aims of Germany. He could not give the exact date when that began, but it was some time in the first twelve days of August, 1914. He had never been neutral in his mind, and thought America should have gone in three years earlier than she did.

Mr. Braddon spoke of the new relations being worked out between Australia and America.

JOBS FOR THE COMRADES

Amsterdam, Nov. 12.—The statement issued by the Berlin soldiers and workers' council says that all public services have been placed under the control of the council and that all the offices are being filled by the comrades. The administration, it adds, is retained, but its leaders are inspired with the new spirit of liberty.

The foundation of the new German republic was proclaimed by Philipp Scheidemann from the steps of the Reichstag building.

WALL STREET SHOWS EFFECT OF NEWS

New York, Nov. 12.—Wall Street—the stock exchange celebrated its first peace market today with a strong opening in rails, shipping, oils and motor, war shares displaying moderate heaviness. Transportation rose one to three points in the first fifteen minutes, the striking feature of that debut again embracing Pacific, Grangers, Coopers, Cotton Carriers and numerous minor issues, such as Kansas City Southern, United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel, each yielded about one and a half points on relatively small offerings. Liberty 3 1/2% rose to par, foreign bonds also showing firmness.

The present estimated number of cows in that country is 850,000, which is about 200,000 less than in the summer of 1917.

One in Four of Our Men Called for Draft Examination Was Physically Deficient CITY PHYSICIAN STRONGLY ADVISES ALL PERSONS TO HAVE BLOOD EXAMINATIONS MADE BY FAMILY DOCTOR SAYS THOUSANDS SUFFER FROM IRON DEFICIENCY And think it "overwork" "too much worry," "a case of nerves," or some other trouble. Ordinary Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of such folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

In General Crowder's report to Congress, he stated that twenty-nine per cent of the men called for physical examination were found physically deficient; that is, more than one out of four of the flower of our land was sick and many of them perhaps did not know it. In commenting on this serious condition of affairs, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital, (Out-door Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "The probability is that many of these cases were due solely to lack of sufficient iron in the red blood corpuscles. When the iron goes from the blood, you can have most any kind of symptoms varying from a weak, nervous run-down state, to those of most serious maladies the volume of blood often increases, thereby imposing an extra heavy burden on the heart. Contrary to general opinion, lack of iron in the blood does not necessarily mean you do not have enough blood, but it means your blood is not of the right kind."

Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago, and former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, in commenting on the value of Nuxated Iron, says:—"This remedy has proven through my own tests of it to exceed all other remedies I have ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders. The manufacturers are to be congratulated in having given to the public a long felt want, a true tonic, supplying iron in an easily digested and assimilated form. A true health builder in every sense of the word."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, former City Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said:—"I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be amiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results, and those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

Manufacturers' Note:—Nuxated Iron which is used by Dr. Sullivan and others with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the other inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by Wasson's Drug Store and all other druggists.

Dr. George F. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon in Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says:—"During convalescence from SPANISH INFLUENZA (La Grippe) I find Nuxated Iron to be of great benefit."

When we are dead! Still sparkling eyes to love will call, When ours are closed to every scene; Fond words from loving lips will fall, The same as though we'd never been— When we are dead!

When we are dead! Ah! surely when with life we part, Some kindly word or action here Will be remembered, and some heart Small then in sorrow shed a tear— When we are dead.

Your Labor Counts—every ounce of work you do helps some soldier who is fighting over there! This war is being fought as truly in the household and in the work-shop as it is in the trenches. Some of our Canadian women are home down physically and mentally, by the weakness of their sex. They suffer from backache, dragging sensation, very nervous and pain in top of head. If they ask their neighbors they will be told to take a Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce's which has been so well and favorably known for the past half century. Weak women should try it now. Don't wait! Begin today. This woman's tonic and nerve will bring vim, vigor and vitality. Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg., tablets.

Par. O.—"About three year ago I was ill in bed and suffered severe pain. The doctor said I had gall stones, but his medicine did not help me. A neighbor had been taking 'Favorite Prescription' and it had benefited her so much that she urged me to try some of hers, and that first dose helped me so much that I sent once for a bottle. I was very much surprised at the promptness with which she gave me after the doctor had failed, and I have never had such a spell since, but whenever I feel the least bit run-down or in need of a tonic I take the 'Favorite Prescription' again for a few days. It has never failed to restore me to perfect health."—Mrs. E. L. ... P. O. Box 762.

THE DAY.

It is fitting and well to celebrate the passing of the mighty shadow that so long has darkened the world with sorrow and suffering and misery, but while we celebrate, in common with most of the civilized world, we must give sober thought to the significance of the event. By sacrifices so vast and so sweeping that we shall not be able to measure them for many a day the people who stood up to meet the war have delivered themselves and Christendom from the unnumbered evils of barbarism, from the brutal rule of those who strove to enthroned brute force in place of right and justice and compel a conquered and hopeless world to worship evil in dust and tears. Through the outpouring of the blood of millions of men who placed justice and liberty above life, through the stern faith and tenacity of whole nations who were resolute to endure until the end, the good cause is triumphant and Right stands today supreme and unconquerable everywhere under the sun. Across the sky in every clime last night was written large and red the deathless message of the world's deliverance, of its conquest of the right to be free and forever to renounce the unspeakable evils of autocracy and selfish and organized militarism.

And by these visible and mighty accomplishments, by the beating down of the Hun by the forces he challenged, by the victory of righteous force over the most dangerous and debased of the enemies of Christian civilization, all our sacrifices are justified. Now, in very truth may it be said that our dead have not trod the path of sacrifice unavailing. Their names are written on a scroll that cannot perish. And those who died first, in the early days of the struggle, were followed by millions more who were not unworthy of them. The free peoples of the world have kept faith with those who lie under the war-torn sod in the fields of France and Flanders. The Hun is down. His conquests have been wrested from him by hands that never faltered even in the blackest hours. The War Lord, the symbol of rallying centre of all the forces of reactionary evil, is a shivering fugitive.

In the hour of rejoicing we must think of first, and ever keep in the van of honor, the heroic men, living and dead, who made this day of triumph possible. The victory they won for us and for themselves brings with it a vast burden of responsibility. In the military phrase, the position that is won must be "consolidated." The things for which so great a host of freemen died must be preserved; the privileges to establish which they bled must be upheld and perpetuated; the same meaning of "making the world free for democracy" must be followed as a beacon light, always remembering that same and true democracy is more than a form of government, that the form is little unless right and justice prevail and with them a high national purpose.

The city of St. John and the province of New Brunswick may well celebrate today. By the blood of their best, poured out steadily since the harvest time of 1914, they have won the right. Their sons were worthy of the highest traditions of the race. We do not even yet know how long is our casualty list, for the tale is not yet fully told; but this we do know, that in every city, town and hamlet within our borders there are homes in which sorrow for the soldier dead will temper today's rejoicing, sorrow for which there is no cure but for which there is the growing consolation that the loved ones died greatly for a great cause and contributed to the victory—the mightiest in the earth's history—which now crowns the banners of the Allied nations.

Ours has been a people of steady pulse throughout the struggle, not too greatly excited by news that was going well, never yielding to despair when the sky was blackest—and on many memorable occasions it was black enough. It becomes such a people to rejoice heartily but with a sober recognition of the fact that it is a time both for thanksgiving and for thoughtfulness. And in the minds of all should be the thought that victory is not the end but in one sense only the beginning; the war is over, thank God! but the delicate and trying period of reconstruction is to come. Our victorious armies in conquering have won for us the opportunity to make the world a better place to live in than ever it was before. From rejoicing we must turn presently to that great task.

The Canadian soldiers will have their wish. They, or some of them, will cross the Rhine. They captured Mons this morning, adding another to their achievements in the field.

Praise God for the victory! Long live the King!

THE ARMISTICE.

By the terms of the armistice signed yesterday morning Germany's teeth are effectively drawn. When these preliminary terms imposed upon the Germans by the victorious Allied armies have been carried out—and they will be carried out quickly, no matter what internal conditions in Germany are—the Allies will be able to impose such terms of peace as will give the world guarantees of security and justice.

The victory, in fact, is complete, and through it is won a most glorious triumph for justice and the right, and the safety and perpetuation of those priceless principles for which the Allied people have poured out their blood for more than four years.

Even by the terms of the armistice itself Germany confesses it is crushed. It hands over already a great proportion of its artillery, its material of war, and its navy, as a guarantee that there will be no resumption of fighting and that it is willing and ready to accept the peace terms which the Allies are to announce at the end of the armistice.

It is evident that these terms will be sweeping and drastic. The German colonies are gone. The German hold upon the east has been swept away. A free Europe is to be reconstituted. Germany, deprived of Alsace-Lorraine, will be shut in by free buffer states and rendered powerless for aggression. In a word all of the terrific sacrifices of the Allies are justified by the glorious and complete victory that has been won at last.

Plain Words to Licensees.

In the last few weeks what might be called a development of food board policy towards its licensees has taken place. A series of letters usually dealing with one specific point has been drafted for several of the subdivisions of licensees. These have been addressed personally, according to trade groups, and sent out both in English and in French. It has been found that business men did not fully understand the importance of reading the orders which concerned their trade with strict care, and the circular letters were framed to remind them of important passages bearing on their different trades. For instance, the new regulations which the certificate system found necessary in the distribution of sugar, had brought in were communicated direct to all the trades concerned. Letters were also sent on the use of substitutes for wheat flour, as it had been found that some confusion existed. The intention is not that these letters shall supplant the printed orders of the food board, which it must be clearly understood, form the law of the land so far as they go, but they are intended to give enlightenment and direction as to what are the essential points to be observed. This is only carrying out the idea which has always actuated the food board, that it has an obligation in an especial sense to assist the food trades to adjust themselves to the new war conditions. The same policy is being carried out in the numerous experiments which the bakery division, for instance, is carrying out with leaves made of wheat flour substitutes. These recipes are tested on a commercial scale, and when found suitable are published for the information of bakers and confectioners, who are thus relieved of costly experiments. The certificate system of resting because of its manufacture. In 1400 a purse of gold was offered in behalf of Henry the Eighth of England to the workman who would produce the finest linen for the king's shirts. Girl Had St. Vitus' Dance

MOST remarkable results are being obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the treatment of children who suffer from ailments arising from thin, watery blood and exhausted nerves, such as rickets, St. Vitus' dance and convulsions.

This food cure is so natural and gentle in action and yet so potent in restoring nervous energy that weak, puny children soon show the benefits of its use.

Mrs. Jos. Parks, 72 Picton street east, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"Five years ago my little girl was taken ill with St. Vitus' dance, and for four years we doctored her, trying several doctors and different remedies without curing her. She could not walk or get around at all, and we had to feed her, as she was unable to hold a spoon in her hand. Her tongue was affected so that we could scarcely understand her when she talked. One day a friend of mine who knew of the benefits of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food advised me to give my little girl some. I acted upon her advice, and soon could notice a difference. She was quieting down and commenced to eat better. I continued the treatment for some time, and she gradually got stronger and healthier. She recovered from her nervous troubles and was able to get around nicely. We are very grateful to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the cure it effected for our daughter."

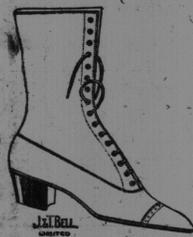

School life seems to take too much out of many children who are naturally nervous and easily worried and excited. For such there is nothing like this great nerve restorative to revitalize the depleted nerve cells and to bring back the color and robust health of childhood.

Filing in Forms Correctly. A vast amount of work is given to the Licensing Division of the Canada Food Board by errors and oversights on the part of business people which could be avoided by reading instructions. In the applications for licenses the following are the chief omissions: 1. The annual turnover is not given. This is absolutely necessary as otherwise it is impossible to compute the fees payable, which are based on the amount of the turnover. 2. Money is sent in without the application form. This necessitates much correspondence to trace the missing form. 3. Application forms sent without the fee or without the incorrect amount. This also means much correspondence in returning the form for the money. 4. Applications are sometimes not signed. 5. Incorrect or incomplete addresses are given. 6. Particulars not given as to trade classification. A butcher, for instance, who also sells produce, vegetables and canned goods, who simply describes himself as a "butcher" cannot receive the class of license which will entitle him to his sideline trade. 7. Affidavit not sworn to before a magistrate or justice of the peace. This means that the whole form has to be returned to get the necessary sworn statement. All license holders are required by law to give plainly their license number in any correspondence with the board. It is the easiest method of filing and tracing previous correspondence. The saving involved in this may be judged from the fact that over 150,000 application forms have gone out. It cannot be too deeply impressed on all food traders that "No license, no business" is the new rule that war has imposed from end to end of the dominion. A recent weekly report of the British Ministry of Pensions dealing with the French law reserving certain government positions under special conditions for crippled soldiers and sailors, says: "It should be mentioned that this preferential employment of disabled men is not universally regarded as a sound policy. The enactment of the law has unquestionably decreased the number of mutilities who might otherwise have applied for retaining, as many of them are looking forward to soft billets under the law. The disabled man little appreciates how many candidates there will be for these posts and his ignorance gives him a false sense of security."

Toronto, Nov. 11.—At least 800,000,000 must be obtained by Saturday night. 1. To bring the boys home. 2. To maintain them in Europe till peace is firmly established. 3. To maintain our industrial activities and provide new employment for munition workers and soldiers as they return. 4. To continue our loans to Britain for buying Canadian food. 5. To enable Canadian workers to get their rightful share of orders for rebuilding Belgium and France. Monday, November 11, will be recorded as the greatest day in British history. We all relaxed and rejoiced and will remember it as long as we live. Let us, in our rejoicing, not forget the tremendous responsibility that rests on us for the remainder of the week. Canada must subscribe for $35,000,000 on each for the next five days. E. R. WOOD, Chairman Dominion Executive Victory Loan, 1918. "I don't like that auctioneer's line of talk," declared the artist testily. "What's wrong?" "Picture after picture of mine he puts up. And what does he say? 'Start it at $10, good people. You can't go wrong. The frame is worth that.'" —Kansas City Journal.

COD FISHERIES.

The cod fisheries come after the salmon in being the second most valuable in the Dominion. During 1917, cod to the value of $7,412,516 was landed by Canadian fishermen. The Pacific, with three varieties—red, grey and ling cod—contributed but a small proportion as this fishery is only now developing on the western coast. The Pacific Sablefish or Black Cod is not included in the figure given above but the total catch of this variety in British Columbia during 1917 amounted to $999,000.

Marriage is an Edged Tool.

In most reviews and musical comedies a young couple meet in some hotel garden, "fall in love," and are married in the next act. Change me not with lack of humor if I suggest that many marriages are so made. In my note-books are several confessions. Among them is that of a young girl who pledged her hand on board a liner because there was nothing else to do. (She was wrong; she could have jumped overboard.) People do marry as casually as they learn to play golf; but they take more pains with golf. In that negligence hides the nightmare that shall haunt them; they blunder into marriage; they think to conduct it without travail or diplomacy into the detachment of mature years. Therein they go astray, and none shall use it with impunity that treat it without regard. For it may close as many doors as it can open. That marriage can close doors none should deny, and it is folly to overlook its limitations, notably those which bear on individual freedom. No skill or talent can make of marriage a state skin to celibacy, and it is well to agree that the married are not free people in the sense of the unmarried; this is not a reflection on the conjugal condition, for freedom is a word, and Silvio Pellico in the Spielberg found wings for his spirit that no Austrian peasant could fasten to his shoulders. To be free is sometimes to be derelict, and as in marriage such dereliction seldom arises, the loss of understanding to the friends. But the married must, after the ceremony, realize "that they have this day lit a candle which cannot be put out"; accepting a new condition they must be ready to adopt new manners, which is not easy when creatures are adult, differently bred and nurtured, perhaps rooted out of dissimilar social strata, even brought together across continents. They must abandon the idea that they may, unchecked, change their dwelling, their occupation, the circle of their friendships; all these things they may still do, but only in consultation. Or if they do not consult, if one imposes upon the other his will or the thrill of a nagging tongue, then shall victory turn as dust and ash; in his mouth—W. L. George in Harper's Magazine for November.

Melons and Active Service.

A fresh-faced, splendidly built lad looked up from the first bite of his melon, crying: "Yes, suh, a cantaloup, a honest-to-the-Lawd cantaloup! I never thought they'd head of such a thing in France." They explained to me, all talking at once, pouring out unasked military information till my hair rose up scandalized, that this was their 11th experience with semi-normal civilian life in France, because they belonged to the troops from Georgia—volunteers; that they had been in the front-line trenches at exactly such a place for precisely so many weeks, where such and such things happened, and before that at such another place, where they were so many strong, etc., etc. "So we never saw real sto's to buy things till we struck this town. And when I saw a cantaloup I mighty nigh dropped dazed! I don't reckon I'm likely to run into a watermelon, as I I suahly would have to be cal'd back to camp on a stretch. If I did!" He laughed out, a boy's cloudless laughter. "But, say, what do you-all think? I paid forty-five cents for this slice—yes, ma'am, forty-five cents for a slice, and back home in Georgia, you pay a nickel for the biggest one in the sto!" He buried his face in the yellow fruit. "How do you like being in France?" I asked the boy who was devouring the melon. He looked up, his eyes kindling. "Well, I was plumb crazy to get heah, and now I'm heah, I like it mo' even than I

"I loved I would."

I looked at his fresh, unlined boy's cheeks, his clear, bright boy's eyes, and felt a great wave of pity. "You haven't been in active service yet?" I surmised. "Unconsciously, gally, he flung my pity back in my face: 'You bet yo' life I have. We've just come from the Champagne front, and the service we saw theah was suah active. How about it, boys?'—Dorothy Canfield in Harper's Magazine for November.

"Cartoons."

Fontaine Fox, known the country over for his humorous daily cartoons, has collected the best of them into a book, the title of which is "Cartoons," to be published this week by the Harpers. None of the characters has been overlooked, for here are The Skipper of the Townsville Trolley that Meets All Trains, The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang, Tomboy Taylor, Vernon McNutt, and everybody's friend, the Powerful Katinka.

Puritan Silver

The Victoria and Albert Museum in London has a very fine collection of old silver, among which are a number of Teaspoons made in England over three hundred years ago. This is admittedly a size good age for silverware. Even if the choice patterns of Birks Spoons and Forks, which are shown in our Year Book do not last for three centuries, they will wear long enough to make ordinary tableware appear expensive.

We can sell you a completely fitted chest in either sterling or Birks Plate, —you can buy them in dozens, or you can even buy single pieces,—the prices are all so moderate.

AUCTIONS

Household Furniture at Residence BY AUCTION. I am instructed to sell at residence, No. 173 Germain street, on Friday, November 15th, 1918, at ten o'clock, the entire contents of 8 rooms, fully furnished, kitchen, dining room and 5 bedrooms, including kitchen range, carpets, hall and stair carpets, linoleum, etc. F. L. POTTS, Auctioneer.

A Joke on the Bolsheviki. It was at Krasnarski that we barely missed a good joke on our Red Guard friends. They had received a telegram to prepare to receive sixty barani, which were to arrive on the train that day. Now, barani means "sheep" so the Red Guards made ready wagons and an abundance of hay and feed for the welcome animals. Instead of sheep, however, there stepped off the train sixty aristocratic nobles, heavily guarded. They were being sent into exile from the northwest province of Russia. The telegraph operator had made the mistake of reporting barani instead of baroni. But it made good fun for the crowd at the station.

The best insight into true conditions was given me by Izenkin, whom I had known as a soldier at the front, a few months before. I chanced to run across him near Tomsk. I knew him to be a shrewd, prosperous peasant, and I took time to get his views.

"Now, Izenkin," I said, after greetings were over, "you're a good Bolsheviki, or Communist—pardon me—so tell me about the reforms you're putting through here in Siberia."

He comically winked at me with both eyes.

"Oh, Gospodin Atkinson, you know very well why I pretend to be Bolsheviki—because it isn't safe to be anything else. Most of us here in Siberia are descended from political exiles, and we've always tried to keep up our education a little and be worthy of our ancestors' fight for liberty. And now it seems as if everything had gone to pieces.

"My people tell me that even when Kerensky was in power a lot of low toughs from the Petrograd factories, to say nothing of Siberian convicts, were receiving pay from somebody to go through all our villages, trying to stir up the vilest kind of trouble. Deserting soldiers were coming home, so they're repented to our home folk the lies we all used to hear from Germany and the Bolsheviki, all about America and Japan stealing eastern Siberia and about the 'delivers, Lenin and Trotsky,' who were going to keep us from becoming slaves to foreigners.

"Our people didn't believe these stories nor did they like the way the provocateurs of the deserters and thought they'd set up a republic of their own, with the capital near here, at Omsk or Tomsk.

"You know the rest," he continued bitterly. "Trotsky, while he was talking internationalism and the rights of free peoples, sent cannon and guns and ammunition, and a blood-red gang of cut-throats—and what could unnamed Siberia do? Every city fought to the last, but it had to end sometime. Thousands of our soldiers turned traitors and joined the invaders, getting good money for it. Of course the criminal element were happy. Some of the women believed the stories of the deserters and thought it was a great battle for their freedom. Most of them are just waiting, like the men, for a chance to throw off the despicable rule of these traitors."—Richard Orland Atkinson, in Harper's Magazine for November.

JUST ARRIVED—50 CORD OF DRY

Slab Wood. Charles Price, 10 Brittain street, M 237-31. 87397-11-14

General Maude's Prize.

Eleanor Franklin Egan, whose new book, "The War in the Cradle of the World," has just been published by the Harpers, brings from the eastern front an anecdote of thrilling interest now that the cables are daily telling of the exploits of Lieut.-Gen. Sir William Marshall, who succeeded Sir Stanley Maude in supreme command of the British forces in Mesopotamia. The war has scarcely produced a more striking piece of unconscious prophecy than Mrs. Egan's story: "You are going tomorrow," General Maude said, to visit a far better soldier than I am. It was a startling remark, but if I had any impulse to make a banal response, his perfect seriousness would have checked it. "That is generous of you," I replied. "Generous? Not at all! Merely intelligent. He's a splendid officer. Wish I were half as capable. But this being an officerman—I envy his service in the field. A man likes to be with troops, you know. When I was a division commander I had my best days. Best I ever had or ever will have. But don't you forget what I tell you about General Marshall. He's a great soldier."

"General Marshall assumed temporary command while the big fight was being made for General Maude's life. Then came the day when the drums were muffled and the guns were made to speak their measured, heart-chilling tribute to the dead, but—it was as though the armies lost never a step. General Marshall had taken up the burden."

Mesopotamia and the wonders recently done there have not before been made known by a trained writer who was an actual eye-witness of history in the making. Mrs. Egan's personal exploit is as astonishing as many of the things she describes in "The War in the Cradle of the World."

SELECTIVE HEARING

(N. Y. Herald.)

An English paper has been printing some interesting notes about "selective hearing in sleep," by which is meant the faculty that we have of sleeping through certain sounds and of being aroused infallibly by certain lesser sounds. One writer illustrates it: "I have often slept soundly at the side of a roaring baby, but when the baby was ill and I was responsible for him, the slightest little cry of pain or sigh used to rouse me at once. That was because I knew my responsibility and thought about it before going to sleep. As an experiment, I would suggest this: Take a usually sound sleeper, and in an ordinary voice say 'Fire' at his side. He will probably jump up." By dint of threatening it all out, the English paper has reached the conclusion that the faculty is explained by the fact that we are never wholly asleep, so far as questions of probable peril or recognized duty are concerned, at or near a certain time by fixing the mind on that hour before falling asleep, or on our minds before going to sleep will, if it arises, infallibly arouse us. Relatively to that circumstance, the sleeper is not really asleep. He is in the condition which the country people describe as "sleeping with one eye open."

At any rate, we all have one ear open when asleep.

All of course, except children, who sleep absolutely. It is next to impossible to wake a healthy child except by shaking him. He is dead to sound while asleep. "The same is true of intoxicated adults, whose usual sober reserve of wakefulness, even in the state of sleep, is destroyed by alcohol. The soundness with which a child can sleep is amazing. One of the healthiest and most normal known, twelve years old, was once left by her father and mother in an apartment alone for a while at night, a neighbor being requested to stay after her. She locked herself in and went to bed and slept soundly. By and by her parents returned and found that the only key that they had to the house was on the inside of the door. It was necessary to awaken the child. Bells were rung and doors were hammered. No result. The room which the child occupied had a door (locked) with a very narrow transom over it, opening into the hall. The transom was opened and shouted through. No response. Boots, shoes, boxes stove lids, tin pans, were thrown through the transom and upon the floor of the room surrounding the bed. The child slept serenely on. In order to open the door it was necessary for a boy to climb through the narrow transom and leap down upon the floor; and when the child was shaken violently she opened her eyes softly and wonderingly, and said, "Why, what do you want?" There was the real sleep. Our usual slumber is only a half-sleeping and half-waking.

Thus a sleeping person may be insensible to words spoken by people in general, but will be awakened instantly by the voice of wife or husband. Or it may be the other way around, depending on the mental attitude—the voice of the husband or wife may not wake, but that of any other person will. Toward one of the other essential condition of the waking state is maintained. The good of an alarm clock is that we needn't think about it—it makes such a din that only a child or a drunkard can sleep through it—and therefore it is an assistant to sound sleep by removing from the mind the necessity of waiting. In proportion as people increase what we may call their waking reserve in sleep, changing their mind with many duties and burdens, and leaving only a little corner in their brain for the absolute unconsciousness of the child, they become insomniacs. To cure that condition they must get back somewhat nearly to the condition of the child. That brings to mind the Nonna's friend, a doctor, who said that he could cure anyone of sleeplessness and of nervous prostration, but it would be necessary, in aggravated cases, for the patient to go barefooted. And that did not mean that bare feet cured insomnia or

A Sea Voyage Sixty Years Ago. A sea voyage sixty years ago was not the sea voyage of today, and the steamers were not the steamers, with their luxuries, which are almost comforts, accumulated upon the passengers; but the City of Glasgow performed the chief use of a ship, which is to get to the end of your voyage in safety; and so, peace to her very damp ashes! Of the densely thronging experiences of that fortnight little abides with me. One day we saw, no great way off, a vast and very dirty-looking iceberg, and we believed that it chilled the water about us, as any of us could have proved from the bucket of it which some of the crew pulled up over the ship's side. I think there were at times whistling at safe removes, but I will not be sure there were, or not so sure as of the amusingness of a little man from Washington who suddenly developed tipiness one day at dinner and held the carver's knife under the nose of the first mate and bade him "Smell that!" He was killing funny in his widely ranging talk throughout the meal, and touched nearly every one with his glancing wit, which would sober at times to a philosophy of life as he had not very edifyingly known it. After many years he took his place in a sea novel of mine with much imaginary detail, rounded out from nature's sketch by my invention.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine for November.

THE DOWNFALL OF LEVINSKY

Left Hook to Stomach by Dempsey Puts Loser Down for Nine—Never Stopped Before.

A right and left to the jaw, and Battling Levinsky had suffered the first knockout of his nine years' experience as a boxer. Jack Dempsey turned the trick in the third round of his bout with Levinsky before a packed house at the Olympia A. A., Philadelphia, on last Wednesday night.

It was the same old combination that had knocked Fred Fulton out in eighteen seconds at Harrison (N. J.) not so long ago, and it sent Levinsky into even a sounder slumber. Dempsey was tried to his corner by his seconds and it was fully half a minute before he opened his eyes and blinked at the blinding glare while the spectators still stood up with mouths agape in astonishment over the quick result. The fight was to have gone six rounds. Levinsky tottered out of the ring, with many a reminder of the encounter. Dempsey went without a mark, his sullen face unadorned by a smile despite his early and impressive triumph.

Action From Start. While there was plenty of action in the first round there were few effective blows landed. Dempsey was the aggressor, but was short in his left hand leads. Toward the end of the round he caught Levinsky with a right hand counter, which landed on the cheek bone, raising a lump. Another right hand hook which broke away from a clinch cut Levinsky's lips.

In the second round Levinsky discovered he could not Dempsey with straight left and feebly shot out blows that had little force, as he was hitting while going away. Dempsey did not seem to relish being jabbed and tore by landing a short left hook on the Battler's chin. Levinsky went down. At the count of five he undertook to get up, but manager, Dan Morgan, held for him to take the limit. He obeyed instructions and got up as the referee was raising his arm to fall of the ten. At this point Dempsey made a terrific swing and just missed slipping to the floor.

Dempsey sprang out of his corner for the third like an unleashed tiger. Soon Levinsky looked appealingly to his corner. It was a mute sign that Morgan at once beat the referee. In another instant Dempsey landed a right on the jaw and the Battler fell half way through the ropes. At the count of six Levinsky grabbed the rope and tried to pull himself to his feet, but he failed and rolled over on his back, knocked out.

Jimmy Dougherty, promoter of the bout, being the only man satisfactory to the principals, was the third man in the ring. In the opening bout, Joe Warr, of Kansas City, knocked out the Alabama Kid in the first round with a right swing to the face. They are negro heavyweights.

Joe Burman, a Chicago bantam, out-pointed Young McGovern, of New York, in six rounds. Burman outboxed and outhit his opponent and McGovern was hanging on in the fifth and sixth sessions.

Johnny Dundee, of New York, shaded Gusie Lewis, of Philadelphia, in another spirited six round bout.

Dougherty spent little time in instructions and preliminaries. He had Dempsey and Levinsky to "go to and fight" and the battle was on.

Battler Leads First. Levinsky was first to lead after the opening gong. After fighting he let by a left hook to the head and jabbed Dempsey in the mouth with the same hand. Dempsey then started rushing and hooked both hands to the body, causing the Battler to back away.

Dempsey went after his man and discharged a volley of straight left and right handers to the head with telling effect. Levinsky tried to keep off his aggressive opponent by shooting his left to the face, but the blows were light and had no effect other than to spur Dempsey to greater effort. Dempsey followed the Battler closely and just before the gong ended the round sent several hard right handers to the body. Levinsky was perceptibly distressed by the heavy punishment and was puffing hard as he slid to his corner set. It was Dempsey's round by a wide margin.

Dempsey started the second session with a furious rush and reached Levinsky's body with terrific smashes with both hands that caused the Battler to wince. Levinsky kept his left arm working like a piston rod on Dempsey's face, but the Utah slugger paid not the slightest attention to the jabs and tore in savagely.

Dempsey shifted his attack from body to head and landed crashing blows that soon had the Battler staggering about

Spend a Few Cents! Dandruff Vanishes and Hair Stops Coming Out

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff, is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have a nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed, and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, softness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will, you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair, but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp.

Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

the ring. Levinsky continued to jab, but Dempsey shook the "cream puffs" off and charging on his fast weakening opponent swung viciously with right and left at body and head.

Takes Count of Nine. Toward the close of the round Dempsey hooked a hard left to Levinsky's stomach and the Battler reeled nearly length on the canvas. He was badly hurt, but rolled over, got on one knee and took the count of nine. When the Battler regained his feet he clinched in a desperate attempt to prevent further punishment.

Dempsey pushed the beaten man away and rained blows on head and body. Just as it looked as though Levinsky would be stopped the bell tinkled and Levinsky tottered to his corner, saved from a knockout for the time being.

Levinsky came slowly from his corner for the third round, and Dempsey rushed to him and jolted him with a series of punishing blows to the head and body. A crashing right to the jaw, and Levinsky clutched his man and tried to hold on. The referee was compelled to separate the combatants.

Dempsey then began a violent attack on the Battler, dealing out terrific punishment to body and head, under which the Battler weakened perceptibly. In a driving effort the Battler sent a number of left jabs to the face and then clinched.

Dempsey shook him off and sent two heavy blows to the body, which sent the Battler to his knees. Before Levinsky could pull himself together Dempsey sent a heavy right to the jaw, and the Battler fell like a felled ox, unconscious. It was thirty-five seconds before the end of the round that the decisive blow was landed.

DEPS FOR COUGHS & CHILLS

Hon. F. B. Carvell At Woodstock

Woodstock, Nov. 11.—In spite of the "trial celebration" of last Thursday the town today celebrated the end of the war and the downfall of Kaiserism. An immense concourse was addressed by Hon. Mr. Carvell and Judge Carleton Hon. Mr. Carvell said in part: "For over four years we have been praying for this day which marks the end of a worldwide tragedy. Germany, which was lured away from the face of the earth so far as being a power is concerned, after the most terrible struggle the world has ever known. Thank God the free people have made it so that there will be no more wars and no more Kaiserism."

"Don't forget amid your rejoicing that 50,000 brave Canadians have laid down their lives that we might be here this afternoon. I hope that the people of this town and every town and hamlet in Canada will see to it that something will be done to keep alive the memory of these brave men who died in order that we might live."

"Those who will return home will need all the help and encouragement you can give them. The business of the world is all unsettled but Canada is young and has plenty of opportunities and natural resource. We are a virile people and must produce and save for the country. The infidel Turk will be not win this war because it was not right she should win. Today the Kaiser is a fugitive from justice—he has ceased to exist every town and hamlet in Canada will see to it that something will be done to keep alive the memory of these brave men who died in order that we might live."

"How many marbles would you get if I gave twenty to be divided between you and Johnny McGregor?"

After a moment's hesitation the younger answered: "I can't tell, sir."

"How's that?" queried the teacher. "Well, sir," said he, "ye see, it's all according to 'if ye gie 'em when we're both here, we'd hae ten each; but if ye gie 'em to Johnny when I wasna present, I'd only get about five; while if ye gie 'em to me, I'd hae ten each; when Johnny wasna here, I'd hae ten each; when he'd hae one at a'!"—Columbian Star.

BOLSHEVISM WOULD MEAN CONTINUED WAR

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Deputy Ebert and other party leaders have formed a committee to study the possibility of a political pact, to facilitate co-operation with the soldiers' council.

No German press comment on the situation was received. Germany could not win this war because it was not right she should win. Today the Kaiser is a fugitive from justice—he has ceased to exist every town and hamlet in Canada will see to it that something will be done to keep alive the memory of these brave men who died in order that we might live."

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Armed Workers and Soldiers stormed the prison in the Alt-Moabit street in Berlin, but at the request of Deputy Buechner, they released only those incarcerated as "war distributors" including former Captain Von Beerfeldt, who was concerned in the distribution of the memorandum of Prince Lichnowsky which accused Germany of starting the war.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A great multitude waiting appeared before Buckingham Palace a little before noon and cheered until the King and Queen, Princess Mary and the Duke of Cornwall appeared on a balcony. The National Anthem was sung repeatedly by the crowds.

Speaking from the balcony of Buckingham Palace, King George said: "With you I rejoice. Thank God for the victories which the allied armies have won and have brought hostilities to an end. Peace is in sight."

THE HILLS OF REFUGE. "The Hills of Refuge" is the title of Will N. Harben's new novel that is to be published this week by Harper & Brothers. The story deals with a young man who, to save his brother, runs away under the stigma of a crime he did not commit. Mr. Harben pictures his struggle, and adventures, the young man soon found, were before him. He starts life again, and his self-sacrifice is rewarded. It will be remembered that William Dean Howells has called Will N. Harben one of the greatest localists among our story-tellers.

APPEAL TO WILSON. London, Nov. 11.—Dr. Salf, the German foreign secretary, has addressed a message to Secretary of State Lansing requesting that President Wilson intervene to mitigate "the fearful conditions" existing in Germany.

Celebration Began in City Last Evening

The sports held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. I. yesterday were a grand success. A large number of boys, under the supervision of Instructor Joe McNamara, went to Moosepath Park and held a programme of sports, which resulted as follows: 100 yards (handicap) 1st heat—1st, H. McCrossin; 2nd, J. McGourthy. 100 yards (handicap) 2nd heat—1st, F. Spittel; 2nd, W. Hughes. 100 yards (handicap) 3rd heat—1st, E. Johnson; 2nd, L. Reardon. 100 yards (handicap) final heat—1st, E. Johnson; 2nd, F. Spittel; 3rd, L. Reardon.

300 yards (handicap)—1st, E. Johnson; 2nd, F. Spittel; 3rd, W. Hughes. Throwing baseball (handicap)—1st, G. Campbell; 2nd, F. O'Leary; 3rd, L. Reardon. 100 yards (handicap) 1st heat—1st, H. McCrossin; 2nd, J. McGourthy. 100 yards (handicap) 2nd heat—1st, F. Spittel; 2nd, W. Hughes. 100 yards (handicap) 3rd heat—1st, E. Johnson; 2nd, L. Reardon. 100 yards (handicap) final heat—1st, E. Johnson; 2nd, F. Spittel; 3rd, L. Reardon.

The main feature of the evening was a torchlight procession under the auspices of the Polymorphian Club, the old time famous parades. Under direction of Messrs. Crawford and Lobb, both of whom were mounted, the parade started at Queen Square and marched through the principal streets. The efforts of the promoters of the parade seemed to be appreciated, as a large number joined in.

The streets were gay with flags and bright with light. Rumors of contemplated amusement at the expense of some inexperienced policemen on the force failed to materialize due to discretion used on the part of the officials. Instead of newly appointed policemen patrolling Charlotte and Union street where the largest number of citizens were assembled, Sergeants Sullivan, Scott and Rankine were doing duty and they handled things well.

WHERE WAR STOPPED

London, Nov. 11.—Field Marshal Haig reports as follows: "At the cessation of hostilities we had reached the general line of the Franco-Belgian frontier east of Avenue, from Moore, Sivy, four miles east of Mons, Chivrey and Grammont."

Rome, Nov. 11.—The Italian armies have reached Brenet Pass in the Tyrol. In the battalions extending over the period from October 22 to November 4 the Italians took 28,774 prisoners, including 10,000 officers.

DEMobilIZATION OF CANADIAN ARMY SOON

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—Although no official statement is yet forthcoming from the department of militia and defense, it is understood that demobilization of the Canadian army in Canada is being proceeded with practically immediately.

At present, according to a statement by an official of the department, there are some 85,000 soldiers of the Canadian expeditionary force in Canada. The maintenance of such a large number of troops in Canada is a huge expense which will not be borne by the government if the men are not required for service in France.

It All Depends. The teacher was taking his class in a mental arithmetic lesson. After "conies" had been explained, he commenced giving a series of mental sums, and presently asked an intelligent little Scot:

"How many marbles would you get if I gave twenty to be divided between you and Johnny McGregor?"

After a moment's hesitation the younger answered: "I can't tell, sir."

"How's that?" queried the teacher. "Well, sir," said he, "ye see, it's all according to 'if ye gie 'em when we're both here, we'd hae ten each; but if ye gie 'em to Johnny when I wasna present, I'd only get about five; while if ye gie 'em to me, I'd hae ten each; when Johnny wasna here, I'd hae ten each; when he'd hae one at a'!"—Columbian Star.

Of the 7,500,000 soldiers and male workers recruited by Great Britain 1,900,000 came from her overseas possessions. The latest number of the Journal Official of Paris tells what the French colonies have given. From 1914 till July, 1918, Algeria and Tunis had given 940,000 troops; the Sedan, Senegal, Tonkin and Madagascar, 250,000; the French West Indies, 31,000. To this total of 621,000 fighting men should be added 288,000 laborers.

BACK TO THE FRONT LINES (By F. A. McKenzie.) It was seven weeks ago, somewhere in France.

The remnant of a Canadian Highland battalion was marching straight for the enemy. Pipes were at the head, skirling their pipes bravely. Dour and with grim, set faces, unsharpened and covered with dust, the men swept forward.

A triple line of our guns on the hillside was pouring death into the enemy. Little bands of German dead lay around; yesterday the place had been held by the Hun. We caught our breath as we passed the dead horses—many days dead. Shells were bursting with a tremendous thud, raising clouds of red dust, in the ruined village behind.

I knew this Highland battalion. Two days before it had been sent back for a rest, after a time of heavy, costly and vigorous fighting. It had done its bit, splendidly.

Why was it marching back to battle again? I hailed a young subaltern. "What's up, old man? I asked, "I thought you had been pulled out of the line."

"There's a stiff bit of work ahead, and they need us again," he replied. "Not a bit of it. Nothing's hurt our luck so long as we beat the Hun. Cheerio!"

The Highlanders marched on. Tired and with depleted companies, they struck the Hun afresh, and helped to carry us through the Hindenburg line.

"You, Mr. Citizen, are called back to the line again, not the fighting line but the landing line. A stiff bit of work still lies ahead. Your help is needed. Do your bit! Lead!"

J. H. Thomas, M.P., has withdrawn his resignation of the general secretaryship of the British National Union of Railwaymen in South Wales. In a letter to his executive he said that he had received expressions of confidence from fully 90 per cent. of the total membership of the union, and in view of this unique expression of confidence he felt bound to continue his work. In his decision, he added, he was influenced by the thought of the after-war problems that must be faced.

A Famous Irish Relic.
 Curious objects have found their way to the market, but among the most curious of these is a bell of gold, which is said to be a relic of a famous mart—a renowned relic for centuries has been venerated in the west of Ireland. The bell is in the possession of a County Clare man, the O'Carroll, now represented by Marcus Keane, of Bechpark and Dublin. According to tradition, it fell from heaven, ringing loudly in the ear of the patron of the Seven Churches of Scattery, a holy island near the mouth of the river Shannon, opposite the town of Scattery, in the earliest years of the Christian era. Hence it was called the "Clog na neal" or "the bell of the clouds." But the antiquaries of the island are of opinion that it is the work of human hands, and from its date they date it from the eleventh century. The bell is known to have been used for a long period of time in religious services at Scattery (now a ruin of ecclesiastical remains of great interest) before it was given into the possession of the O'Carroll, the ancient possessors of the island. It attained to an ordinary degree of fame and sanctity throughout Clare and Galway. No one was held to be so sacred as one on the Golden Bell. It was held that anyone who told a lie, after having sworn on the bell, would have his tongue twisted on one side, and down to the middle of the nineteenth century it was used successfully for the discovery of information when all other means failed. On one occasion a pair of saddlebags lined with gold were stolen, and inquiries by the police were of no purpose. At length the priest was asked that he would have the bell brought to the following Sunday to wear all his flock upon it. On the day a man came to the priest's house and said, "Father Kelly, I have the money, every bit of it, all safe sound." Latterly the owner has been said to lend the bell for such purposes. The relic is in the form of a shrine which probably once contained a bell clapper. It is made of bronze and is decorated with the figures of two winged dragons and quaint interlacings.

Guard Your Face.
 From the Minneapolis Journal.)
 Irwin M. Stanton, President Lincoln's secretary, once refused to be introduced to a man because he did not like the man's face. "But," urged the man, "he is not responsible for his face." Stanton, who was then a very young man, replied, "I am not responsible for my face, but I am responsible for the face of the man I introduce to you." Stanton's remark is a humorous epigram, and it is a good one. It is a plan we should all follow. The mad dog that is out and threatens to savage a neighborhood is not hated. The popular man starts out inflexibly determined to exterminate him as a menace to life and liberty. But it wastes no time in hating the animal. That is the one should have toward our German foes. Hating does the German no good, and it is a state of mind that is its lines in the face. Determination to confine or exterminate the "beast" is a duty to humanity that not carry with it the necessary of the beast.

First Clean Up the Mess.
 I heard a chief of staff once say, in three-quarters of a century of the world, the condition of the character of your men. For a man I travelled the British front with a major of a Highland regiment, who had been in the game since the beginning of the war. We lunched one day with a group of field and intelligence officers, a Belgian on liaison work, and a French captain. The talk, which chiefly upon specialties beyond the world of war, made one fact evident—world of civilian life was more interesting than ever before to these men. They were passionately desirous to get to "clean up the mess" there, to go with their mounting, broken careers. How do you stay so keen on your job here," I asked the major afterward.

Foch's Ten Commandments.
 General Foch some time ago issued ten commandments for the soldiers of France and her allies. Two of them read as follows:
 Tell the truth squarely, face the music, and take your punishment like a man; for a good soldier does not lie; he doesn't skulk; he is no squaler.
 Be merciful to the women of your foe and shame them not, for you are a man; pity and shield the children in your captured territory, for you were once a helpless child.
 These commandments were widely distributed and at this time they are passing the rounds of the country and are being posted at some of the cantonments.
 What a striking difference there is in the teachings of Foch to his armies and those of Germany to hers.
 "Show no mercy." "France must be completely crushed." Such were the instructions given by the Hun commanders and the Germans stand today convicted by every righteous law of God and man as murderers, looters, outragers of innocent women and torturers of smiling children.
 "Peace without humiliation to Germany would be a deeper stain upon the honor and soul of America than Germany's brutal crimes stain its alleged newly discovered soul."
 Germany has broken the commandments and she must answer for her crimes.—Buffalo News.

Doctor Howe has written his book in every-day language. He proves that half the diseases in the world might be prevented and states facts that will enable the reader to take sensible care against every-day illness, both of a light and also more serious type. "How to Prevent Sickness" is divided into three parts—Communicable Diseases; Resisting Power, Antitoxins and Vaccines; Special Preventive Measures for Certain Diseases.

"The Day"

The war is won.
 The guns are silent---the trenches are vacant---bloodshed has ceased---democracy is triumphant---freedom is assured.

Germany, the beaten, whimpering bully of the nations, lies stripped of power, whining for mercy, shudderingly awaiting the righteous retribution to be exacted for his fiendish crimes against an outraged worn civilization.

A war-worn world is nursing its wounds and planning for a future of peace and universal freedom.

In this day of thankful joy and glorious triumph let us not forget the imperative duty lying immediately before us.

Let us manfully, dutifully and determinedly round out the nations splendid effort.

Let us be as big in this triumph day as our men have been heroic in the fiery din and bloody peril of the battle.

DOMINION EXPRESS AWARD.
Reports have been received here that the Dominion Express Company have received the findings of the War Board granted them by the federal government. It is said that this board stated that the employees of the Dominion Express Company were not in reality railway employees as the larger majority of these men were in offices or outside and not on the trains proper, which would classify them as railway employees; that the war board or government has not in any order-in-council passed any laws to govern this grade of employees, but only those employed on the trains. The men are said to believe that the award is not a just one and it is suggested that they will resort to other means to secure their desired wage schedule.

MOB ATTACKS WAREHOUSE BUT GETS NO LIQUOR

The peace celebrations last evening took a serious phase early this morning when the bonded warehouse, owned by J. H. Poole & Son, in Smythe street, wherein is stored all the liquor seized under the provincial prohibitory act, was attacked and broken into. The damage done to building will amount to more than $500. The large plate glass windows in front of the building were smashed in and the frames were broken to splinters.

The building was guarded by Inspectors McAlush and Garnet, who were assisted by several private individuals. Shots were exchanged during the bombardment and it is said that two men in the crowd were wounded. The ambulance was sent for but the men refused to go to the hospital.

The crowd began to gather about 11:30 and at 12 o'clock, it is estimated, more than 2,000 persons, chiefly men and boys had gathered. Bricks, stones and shots were hurled into the building continuously for about two hours. At the time when the mob first gathered four of the guards had gone to lunch and left only four in the building. When the other four attempted to get into the building the crowd followed them, smashing at the doors. There are many imprints of bullets in the front of the building.

Fergus Poole, manager of the warehouse said this morning that on Thursday night a crowd gathered but, as they lacked a leader, no attempt was made to gain an entrance. Feeling that the crowd would return again last evening he appealed to the police department for guards and also to the military authorities but was unable to secure any men. He said that after the crowd had dispersed a military picket arrived. The liquor was not reached but the crowd gained an entrance into the private warehouse and took six boxes of tobacco, the property of George S. deForest & Sons, Limited, wholesale grocers.

Men were to work this morning boarding in the windows as best they could.

GREAT BRITAIN

(Dedicated to our Soldiers and Sailors by Ellen Marion Welsh, to be sung to the tune of the National Anthem.)
O' Island of the Sea!
Home of the valiant, free,
To thee we sing,
Proud of our liberty!
Great God we look to Thee,
Guide of our destiny,
Our Heavenly King.
Mariners bold are we,
Fearless on land or sea;
In Thee we trust,
Storms or billows' roar,
Against our Island's shore,
Make us but love her more;
Guard her we must.
Isle by the sea carressed,
Jewel on ocean's breast,
Heaven on thee smiles,
No rainy ships have sped,
And heroes' blood is shed,
For glory crown'd thy dead,
Blest British Isles!
We love thy hills and dales,
Thy lakes and wooded vales,
Thy rock-bound coast,
Thy waters azure blue,
Thy sands of golden hue,
Thy birds' songs ever new,
Of these we boast.
To Thee, our God above,
Author of all we love,
Our praises ring!
Keep us within Thy sight,
Brave, noble and upright,
Then Thou wilt be our might—
Our Empire's King!

DISPOSITION OF THE GERMAN COLONIES

London, Nov. 12.—Commenting upon the question of the disposition of Germany's colonies, the Manchester Guardian says that some of those interested in colonial questions are asking whether the time is not coming when "America will reconsider her attitude in regard to undertaking territorial obligations in the backward regions of the earth."
"If the administration of German colonies is to be added to the already enormous burden resting upon the British Empire," the newspaper says, "this burden, if it is carried alone by us or even shared in some manner between Great Britain and France, may become altogether too onerous. There is greatest need in colonial administration of the efficient and liberal-minded help which America could supply."

Everett's Prices Will Bear Critical Comparison

There is a decided sense of satisfaction and security in buying home furnishings at Everett's. You have the positive assurance that in every purchase you make here, the price you pay will be the lowest price for which the furnishings under consideration can consistently be sold.

The setting of a price with us is a matter of careful and definite calculation. It is not influenced by any intent to later cut the price and thereby mislead the public. On the contrary, every article in our stock is priced with the full appreciation of the fact that it must bear comparison with the so-called "bargains" and "price reductions"—and that only on the basis of demonstrated value—superiority can we hope to gain and hold your patronage.

We abide by the principle that a price marked right in the first place is always right, and therefore is not subject to reduction, except the regular cash discount. No one can buy her tomorrow for less than you paid yesterday. Your own value comparisons will convince you that the above statement of facts is very conservative, and that you can actually economize by relying upon Everett's, whether your requirements are for a modest flat or a pretentious home.
