NO SHIP NEED ROLL
AT SEA IN FUTURE

German Invents Device to Prevent Lurching,
Which Brings on Mal de Mer.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—A young German engineer, Herr Otto Schlick, is declared to have solved the problem which long baffled inventive geniuses, by providing a method for preventing seasickness.

This consists of an ingenious invention for preventing a ship from rolling. Herr Schlick's apparatus consists of a specially constructed turbine fixed on the ship's bottom which, when set to motion, counteracts any tendency to roll from side to side.

Experiments took place this morning in the presence of the Secretary of State for the Navy, Herr von Tirpitz.

"Step this way, ladies and gentlemen!" cried the museum lecturer. "We have here the largest wonder of the twentieth century, and there is no other extant—the great original and the only woman who never read an advertisement."

THE CLARK CASE
IN CIRCUIT COURT

Evidence for Crown Finished in Train Assault.

Defence Will be Heard This Afternoon
Nothing New Was Brought Out Today.

In the afternoon session of the Clarke case yesterday the jury was completed, Chas. F. Francis and C. M. Harrington being sworn. The attorney general outlined the case for the crown. May Short, Ethel Train and A. O. Skinner were examined. The evidence was nearly the same as in the first trial. Neither Ethel Train or Mary Short had noticed the man who was with them on the Millidgeville road had a peculiar defect in one of his hands.

The examination of these three witnesses took up all afternoon and the court adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning.

At 4 o'clock this morning the crown finished its case and the defence was outlined by Mr. Baxter. The witnesses called this morning were Louis Train, Dr. Corbett, Jas. Cunningham, Pearl Anderson and the different police officers connected with the arrest of the prisoner. Ethel Train was also called to answer some questions by the attorney general. Mr. Train was asked to give the description which was given him by his daughter of her assailant. Mr. Baxter objected, but the judge allowed the evidence. Mr. Train had thought from the description that it was a man employed on the Millidgeville road whom he knew slightly. This man's name was Cunningham, and he had often spoken to him on his way to work. The attorney general sent a constable to endeavor to find the man and bring him to court. He had never seen the other man wearing clothes that would in any way correspond with those which were in possession of the police.

Dr. Corbett's evidence was the same as given at the last trial. Witness was asked by the attorney general what he knew of the man who committed such crimes as this one, whether they were brutish or people of unsound mind. This was objected to by Mr. Baxter and the judge allowed to answer the second part of the question, and said that it was true that people of unsound mind often did such crimes. Mr. Baxter asked if the doctor thought that the prisoner looked like a person of unsound mind, and the doctor replied that from his observation of him he did not.

Ethel Train, recalled by the attorney general, was asked if her assailant had any hesitation or faltering in his speech. She replied that he had not. Officer Corbett, Deputy Jenkins and Sgt. Caples gave evidence regarding their search and the arrest of the prisoner.

At this point Mr. Cunningham, who was mentioned by Mr. Train, was called by the attorney general and was asked by the attorney general if he had committed the assault and replied that he had not. He also said he had not seen the little girls on the road on August 4, as he had been across the river in Millidgeville that day.

Officer Greer then gave evidence about the arrest of the prisoner. Pearl Anderson lived in the same house as Clarke and knew the prisoner well. Witness on the 4th of August was in the yard all day. Five come over the fence at the back of the yard and go up to his home.

Sheriff Ritchie recorded how the children were taken through the jail and identified the prisoner as their assailant. Mr. Baxter again endeavored to have the two counts tried together, but was overruled by the judge.

Mr. Pugsley had several other witnesses to call, but as they were connected more with the trial of being named than with the trial of being named, Mr. Baxter did not wish them called, and the taking of the evidence of Chief Clark closed the case for the crown.

Mr. Baxter in explaining the defence, spoke strongly on the trying of the two counts separately. He did not think that this was fair to the prisoner, and he was in danger of being found guilty by mistaken identity. Mr. Pugsley objected to Mr. Baxter speaking about the Tuttle case, which, he said, was not before the jury and ought not to be mentioned.

Judge Landry decided that Mr. Baxter could use his own judgment in speaking to the jury. Mr. Baxter outlined the defence, after which the court adjourned till a quarter to three.

SCHOONER SROCCO, FROM ST. JOHN, IS HELPESSLY DRIFTING ON THE ATLANTIC

With Her Captain and Crew, Including Mate
Woods, of This City, Perched on the After Cabin---They Refused to Abandon the Disabled Vessel and are Trying to Get Her Into Port.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Somewhere far out in the Atlantic off the Florida coast half dozen men, perched on the roof of the after house of the water-tight British schooner Sirocco, are struggling against wind and sea to reach a Cuban port with their almost helpless charge. The plight of the men is due in part to the heroic devotion of their captain who, when help was at hand, chose to face death rather than abandon his ship and her cargo of lumber. He declined an offer of assistance from the steamer Parina, as he ran down on him last Saturday as he was wallowing in the seas 600 miles east of Florida. The captain asked only that he be given supplies to replace those which were ruined when his ship filled with water. When this request was granted the captain and his crew settled in their precarious quarters on the roof of the after-house and announced their determination to sail the Sirocco to Cuba.

The Sirocco sailed from St. John, N. B., on September 27 with a cargo of lumber for Cardenas. All went well until October 15, when off the coast of Maryland she ran into a terrific hurricane. Pounded and battered by wind and sea the Sirocco was thrown about like a cork, some of her seams were ripped open and she began to fill. Before the storm had abated her hull was filled with water, her decks awash and the deckhouses were flooded. All the stores for the voyage which were in the houses were ruined by the water and the men were in a sad plight when the Parina hoisted in sight.

With the aid of the provisions supplied by the Parina, however, they express a hope to be able to reach Cuba in safety.

The Sirocco is owned by Troop and Sons of St. John, N. B. The New York agents are J. W. Fitch & Company.

The Sirocco sailed from here with 27,024 feet of spruce boards, 129 feet 4 inches in length, 32 feet 3 inches broad and 10 feet 3 inches in depth.

The vessel is in command of Captain Samuel Benjamin Robbins, of Yarmouth, who is an elderly man and a part owner of the schooner. The mate is Adam A. Wood, of 29 Orange street, St. John; the cook and steward is Norman McLeod, of Glasgow. The men who were with the Sirocco when she was wrecked are: Salvadore, of Christiansand, Norway; Hans Anderson, of Christiania, Norway; Olf Olsen, of Bergen, Norway; and George Syde, of Digby, N. S.

When she became ill the physicians were shocked to find that she was suffering from a cancerous growth in an advanced stage and though the case was practically hopeless an operation was performed as the one chance of saving her life. She was brought home some four weeks ago and gradually grew weaker. Among the many nurses from New Brunswick and vicinity who are now in hospitals in the eastern states there is none who is more highly esteemed than was Miss Cook.

MISS MARJORIE COOK, WHO HAD ALMOST COMPLETED HER COURSE, PASSED AWAY AT GRAND MANAN.

Marjorie Cook, aged twenty-two years, daughter of James B. Cook, of Grand Manan, died at her home yesterday of cancer. She was a niece of Mrs. Roger Hunter, of this city, and her cousin, Richard Hunter, has gone to Grand Manan to attend the funeral which takes place tomorrow.

Miss Cook had almost reached her graduation in the McLean Hospital, at Waverly, Mass., where she was a great favorite with her sister nurses. When she became ill the physicians were shocked to find that she was suffering from a cancerous growth in an advanced stage and though the case was practically hopeless an operation was performed as the one chance of saving her life. She was brought home some four weeks ago and gradually grew weaker. Among the many nurses from New Brunswick and vicinity who are now in hospitals in the eastern states there is none who is more highly esteemed than was Miss Cook.

AN AMBASSADOR'S FUNERAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—With full diplomatic honors, the funeral services of Senator Jerome Monro, late minister from Guatemala to the United States, who died in this city last Saturday, were held in St. Matthew's Catholic church today. President Roosevelt, and several members of the cabinet, were in attendance. Mr. Jusser, the French ambassador, attended as acting diplomatic corps, the body was escorted from St. Matthew's cathedral to Oak Hill Cemetery by the Fifteenth Cavalry band, a squadron of cavalry and two light batteries from Fort Myer. Mr. Monro's body will rest temporarily in the receiving vault of Oak Hill Cemetery but will be taken to St. Matthew's cathedral as soon as arrangements can be completed.

THREE ST. JOHN HUNTERS AND THE ELUSIVE WILDCAT

How Lumbermen in Charlotte County Fled
For Their Lives from a Panicle
Stricken Trio of Sports

Word has been received from a Charlotte county sportsman that three city hunters who caused considerable excitement last Saturday night. The three were sitting about a camp stove smoking and explaining to each other just the right place to hit an animal to kill and the best way to go after tigers, lions and wild cats when suddenly there came the cry of a wild cat right at the camp door. After a few moments of panic the three excitedly snatched their rifles and throwing the door open commenced a fusillade into the darkness. They could not see the animal, but a random shot struck the animal, if there was one about, but by the excited handling of the fire arms a number of lumbermen, about half a mile away, were given a bad fright. On hearing the first couple of shots the lumbermen thought that it was a signal from some sportsman lost in the woods, but when the bullets flew about walls and chipped pieces of wood from the roof and the shanty they imagined a band of lunatics were making a night attack on them. The shanty was quickly deserted and the wood-choppers took to the timbers and returned to their cabin when they felt sure the men with the rifles had retired.

The story is getting circulated among the friends of the hunters and on their return from camp they are to be each presented with a box of blank cartridges to use on their next trip after wild cats.

Would you have your town satisfactory to yourselves, satisfactory to your children, so progressive, so pleasant, so filled with every needed advantage, that your sons could afford to make the town of their childhood the home-town of their life and business, and your wives may not be driven across its borders in search of husbands? Let your local duty be your first duty. There can be no second duty until the first duty remains unattended to. There cannot be business without customers. You are the customer. Don't go to the distant city shopping or buying unless necessity demands.

Give your local stores the first chance. Nathan C. Fowler, Jr., of Boston, in an address to women.

GLEMENCEAU PLANS
OLD AGE PENSIONS

A Heavy Programme is Being Arranged by the New French Cabinet

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The Glemenceau cabinet has begun the formulation of its programme and the indications are that it will be very broad and that possibly some surprises are in store. There they caught sight of the nimble Crealini, but he was too quick for them, and effectively stopped them by setting fire to a belt of dry wood that barred their progress for some time, while it gave him an opportunity to disappear in the smoke.

A large tract of the forest was burned, but the soldiers continued the ascent by different routes to the summit. Six hundred yards from the top Crealini challenged them by firing a shot over their heads. The draft of the budget, as presented by the budget commission, under the Sarrien ministry, which has been bitterly assailed, especially by M. Poincaré, the ex-foreign minister, as not being properly balanced will probably be revised.

FIGHT WITH BRIGAND
IN LONE MOUNTAIN HUT

Force Held at Bay by One Man Until Bullet Knocked Him Unconscious.

GENEVA, Oct. 23.—The notorious brigand, Giuseppe Crealini, who has long been the terror of the valley between the Lepontine Alps and Lake Maggiore, has been captured in his hut in the snow on the summit of Mont Zeda, after a long and desperate fight with a party of soldiers.

A year ago Crealini built a hut on Mont Zeda, 6,680 feet high. He plundered and terrorized the valley, and then retreated through the forests and snowy heights to his mountain fastness. The local authorities made many attempts to catch him, but the elusive Crealini only laughed at them, and when they thought they were close on his tracks in the woods, he was making love to a farmer's daughter, while he carefully noted the position of her father's household goods.

Police dressed as guides. A large tract of the forest was burned, but the soldiers continued the ascent by different routes to the summit. Six hundred yards from the top Crealini challenged them by firing a shot over their heads. The draft of the budget, as presented by the budget commission, under the Sarrien ministry, which has been bitterly assailed, especially by M. Poincaré, the ex-foreign minister, as not being properly balanced will probably be revised.

SANTOS-DUMONT
WINS BIG PRIZE

For the First Successful
Flight in an Airship.

His Flying Machine, The Bird of Prey,
Travelled Fifty Meters—Perfect
Balance Maintained.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The Herald prints the following special from Paris: M. Santos Dumont won the Archdeacon cup yesterday on the field of Bagatelle with his Bird of Prey, a flying machine. Not only did he succeed in covering the necessary 25 metres, but in the opinion of every competent witness summoned in council after the flight it was agreed that he left the ground well over 50 metres from the point where he descended. His flight was free, with sustained balance. There was no hesitation. The Deutsch-Archdeacon prize is worth $10,000. It was promised to the first aerial appliance which, unsupported by gas, should make a circle of at least one kilometre without coming to the ground.

SUFFAGETTES ARE AT THEIR OLD GAME

Arrested for Creating a Riot at Parliament Square.

Were Released From Prison but Would Not
Go, and Had to be Forcibly Ejected—
Martyr Scheme Failed to Work.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Ten women suffragists who were arrested yesterday for rioting within the precincts of the House of Commons were arraigned in a police court today who bound them over to keep the peace for six months. Such a commonplace outcome of the affair did not meet the views of the outragers, who apparently desired to assume the roles of martyrs, by being committed to jail and when the magistrate announced his decision a great uproar rose in the courtroom and ultimately the women had to be removed from some of them were literally thrown out among the crowds waiting outside the building.

The shrieking women continued to make a demonstration outside the police court until Miss Pankhurst, who took a most prominent part in the disturbances in the ladies' gallery of the House of Commons in April, was again arrested. When the disturbances had somewhat subsided the police reassembled the defendants who were then informed by the magistrate that they must immediately find sureties for their good behavior or be imprisoned for two months. The whole of the women refused to enter into recognizances and were removed in custody.

FOUR TOURISTS KILLED ON PEAKS OF ALPS

Climbing Season Ends With the Most Terrible Accident of the Year.

LUCERNE, Oct. 23.—The close of the Alpine season has been marked by the most terrible accident of the year. Four tourists have been found dead, roped together on the Plan-Neve Glacier, at the foot of the Paschen Peak, a mountain nearly 9,000 feet high.

The unfortunate tourists, whose names are not yet known, arrived on Saturday afternoon at Les Plagnes, above Evex. From their conversation, it was gathered that they came over from Lausanne for the week-end, and that they were students. The hiker-keeper tried to persuade them not to climb the peak, but they laughed at his fears, and they thought you think we are rich Englishmen? Another remarked that he had climbed the Swiss mountains for years and that he was not to be careful, as much fresh snow had fallen, and many places were exceedingly dangerous.

When their bodies were found today by two Swiss woodcutters they were almost unrecognizable. Nearly every bone in their bodies was broken, and the blood they had lost was frozen to their clothing.

From the traces they found in the snow the woodcutters surmise that two of the climbers were experienced and the other two novices. The rope is believed to have broken at an awkward turning, after two of the men had slipped, who dragged the others with them.

They must have fallen a great distance. Three of the bodies lay a few yards apart. The fourth lay about fifty yards away.

Each man carried a rifle and a revolver. They divided up into pairs, and proceeded cautiously through the forest. There they caught sight of the nimble Crealini, but he was too quick for them, and effectively stopped them by setting fire to a belt of dry wood that barred their progress for some time, while it gave him an opportunity to disappear in the smoke.

A large tract of the forest was burned, but the soldiers continued the ascent by different routes to the summit. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

The annual meeting of the Associated Charities was held last evening in the Board of Trade rooms. Several interesting addresses were given, and officers for the ensuing year were elected.

Rev. A. B. Cohoe gave an interesting address, in which he stated that the greater amount of poverty in this city was due to the incompetence of the heads of the families, and the lack of a demand for skilled labor.

ONE MAN BREWERY IN MAINE

Has Been Running for Years on a Lonely Island Without Paying Revenue.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—The discovery by internal revenue agents of a fully equipped brewery in operation on a lonely island in the mouth of the Kennebec River, sixteen miles below Bath, in the supposedly non-liquor State of Maine, accounts for the folly that has at times existed among the fishermen of that vicinity.

We will absolutely have taken part in the West Huron election in which J. G. Pritchett acted as school master for the puppet returning officers. He denied acquaintance with Pritchett, and swore that he had never had any dealings on election matters with any London politician.

Andrew Robson, of London, was a most entertaining witness. He told of having received twenty dollars during the Hyman-Grey campaign. The money was put in his pocket by some person unknown to him, nor could he severest examination by the magistrate and crown counsel drew from him admissions that he knew who placed it there. Part of the money was used to buy votes and part for expenses. DuVernet, upon the opening of the case, told the magistrate that he desired to make a statement on behalf of the London police authorities. "It is in regard to the arrest of the witness, John O'Mara, your worship. The London police claim that he is the right man and that there is no question about it. They say that he never even protested that he was the wrong man and they are highly incensed at the charge that they made a mistake. They are positive that he is the right man."

Magistrate Denison—"Why, if that is true, this man has committed deliberate perjury."

Mr. DuVernet—"Yes, your worship, and you will recollect that O'Mara swore that he had left London for ten years and afterwards that he was there at the time and read about it in the papers and that was only seven years ago. I happen to recollect that."

The Magistrate—"Well, that should be looked into."

Another batch of witnesses who received cash for their votes were examined.

George Ardy, one of the accused, was discharged and having been guaranteed protection by the bench, was used as a crown witness. He told of having received money from E. R. Sifton with which he paid six voters in the Hyman-Grey-by-election.

I. C. R. SURPLUS FOR THE YEAR $200,000.

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—The operation of the intercolonial railway for the fiscal year ending on the 30th of June, shows a surplus of receipts over working expenses of about $200,000. The present fiscal year terminates on the 31st of March. The ministers' expectation is that provided the winter is an average one the surplus on the nine months will be upwards of $100,000. The increase has been more than was anticipated.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Margaret Leslie, the actress found dead in her room in the Palace Hotel, last Thursday afternoon, did not commit suicide as was supposed, but was murdered. Herbert E. Nicholas, a theatrical manager, arrested Saturday night on suspicion, confessed today that he aided in the murder and that George Leopold, a drug clerk for whom the police are now searching, was his accomplice. The woman's diamonds and money were the motive for the crime. Nicholas first offered to tell his story if granted clemency, but as this being refused, he made a complete confession to the police. He said that he and Leopold went to the woman's room Wednesday night and after a few moments conversation he suggested that they have a drink, producing a bottle of whisky. Mrs. Leslie was taking off her jewels at the time and her back was turned toward them. Leopold, according to Nicholas, seized the woman by the throat and choked her into insensibility. Throwing her on the bed they placed a towel saturated with chloroform over her face. The men then took some of the woman's garments and tied them tightly around her neck, leaving her jewels, which were valued at $2,000, the men turned on the gas jets, hurried out of the room and left.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 23.—Six workmen were seriously burned by molten metal and three pedestrians were cut and bruised by a rain of ore as a result of an explosion of a blast furnace at the Jones and Laughlin Steel mills tonight. The pedestrians were able to go to their homes, but the workmen were in so serious a condition they were taken to a hospital. The blast occurred when the men were forced to wade through molten metal, and one man, who was overcome by the heat, fell into the mass of iron, and was rescued by the fellow workmen who reached him on planks. It is believed all the workmen will recover.

WHAT ANNA HELD TOO CARELESSLY
Her Satchel With Money and Diamonds too
a Great Value Stolen on a Train.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 23.—The police of this city and a well known detective agency are working diligently to discover the whereabouts of $150,000 worth of jewels which Anna Held, the actress, reported were stolen from her on a Pennsylvania train while coming into Cleveland early Monday. The gems, said to include many very elaborate and valuable pieces, were stolen from Miss Held's state room while she and her husband, Florence Ziegfeld, Jr., were temporarily absent from it. The jewels were in a satchel which also contained over $6,000 in money, and papers, bank books, etc., which Miss Held said she valued at $100,000. When the case was first reported to the local police, they were incredulous, but Chief Kohner says he is now convinced that the robbery was committed. Miss Held gave a description of two men on the train she said she suspected and the detective agency reported today that they had got trace of one of them in Baltimore. Miss Held says she believes she was followed by the two men from Baltimore to this city. The actress appears grief stricken over her loss and says the satchel contained her entire fortune.
The more valuable pieces stolen consisted of a string of sixty-three pearls valued at $25,000, and 15-inch corsage piece of diamonds, and emeralds valued at $25,000, a string of fifty-one pearls valued at $35,000, a dog collar with four brooches of diamonds and eight strings of pearls, valued at $25,000, a diamond brooch worth $40,000 and some thirty other articles, consisting of rings, chains, of diamonds, necklaces, etc., valued at from $500 to $5,000 each.

LOOK NEARER HOME.

Almost every day eastern men come back from the west bringing stories of the golden opportunities existing out there, of the magnificent returns from farming, the wonderful increases in the value of land and generally advising eastern residents to better themselves by moving west. A good many are following their advice, and in some cases are throwing away the bone to grasp at the shadow. There is no doubt that western Canada is a great country, but it is not and never will be as rich as the east; it has opportunities of course, and those who cannot make a living here might just as well move out, for by so doing they only change the scene of their incompetence.

Talk about the prairie land being fertile, there is not an acre of it which can in any way approach the valley of the St. John. Wheat can be grown in Alberta, but in Carleton county the farmers are able to raise potatoes which are worth ten times as much to the acre. Thousands of young men from Prince Edward Island go west each year and leave behind them farms which if properly worked would yield them far greater returns proportionately than they can obtain in the Saskatchewan. There is not on the good green earth a tract of land for the growing of hay which can at all compare with the Tantramar marshes, and hay is now worth twelve dollars a ton. Yet a very large portion of this marsh land has been deserted, the farmers having either moved away or become too lazy to attend to their business.

Opportunities exist in the west? Of course they do, for in that country people have to stay awake in order to earn a living. Here in the east we are asleep. There are more chances here to the square inch than in a mile of Manitoba but we never see them. We are too dull and steady, going to bother about branching out; we are content to follow in the footsteps of our grandfathers and let others profit by our neglect.

In the eastern provinces can be found everything necessary to a progressive existence excepting the spirit of progress. We have the timber and farming land, immensely wealthy fisheries, unlimited mineral resources, and plenty of people. All we want is an old fashioned bent pin, placed where it will do most good, so that when we sit down we will not remain asleep.

THOSE WHO NEED HELP.
At the meeting of the Associated Charities last evening the magnitude of the work now being carried on seemed to be fully appreciated, at least by those present. In the address made there was a tendency to get away from those branches of charitable effort which come directly under the control of the organization, and while references such as were heard in a few instances, may not lead to immediate practical results, the expressions of opinion from those engaged in this most worthy work are of value. It is a matter of deep satisfaction that so little real poverty exists in St. John, and that those who, if wholly dependent on their own weakness would suffer, are properly cared for. These are, however, a wider sphere in which the association may in the future find a way of asserting its influence, and that in improving the condition not only of the paupers but of all those persons generally referred to as the poorer classes. It is the duty of those not poor enough to accept alms, nor rich enough to get along in comfort who suffer most. There are in St. John scores of families in which the earnings of the father are barely enough to provide food and lodgings, and in which if a day's work is lost the setback can only with difficulty be overcome. To illustrate, it came to the notice of the Star recently that a constable had been sent to a St. John home to collect a bill of eighteen dollars, which had accumulated during the course of a year. The constable returned to his employer's office without the money, and declined to make an arrest in the case, having been impressed with the explanation offered by the debtor and believing that imprisonment would be unprofitable. He reported the case stood this way: The laborer earned $1.50 per day for six days in the week. There were six young children in the family, making eight persons in all and by the closest saving it cost three cents per meal for each of them. This took $6.72 in the week, leaving a balance of thirty-two cents per day to pay the rent, provide fuel, light and other necessities. The family were almost existing on this, but it was by watching every cent, and even with the strictest economy they were very gradually falling in debt. The father was steady and hard working, but he was not a skilled laborer and could not hope for better pay.

There are many such instances, in which the sufferers are more worthy of assistance than numbers of those who by their own idleness, or vice, have fallen into absolute want. These are the people it is hard to reach, they deserve attention as well as the others, though the problem of aiding them is an economic rather than a charitable one.

At the meeting in city hall last evening several of the aldermen were pleased to refer to newspaper criticism and evidently objected to much that has been said. Considering the many opportunities which have offered, the ordinary citizen wonders at the moderation of the papers. If the civic stage people would declare it was overdone.

"AUTUMN."
(Fanny L. Ledford.)
The melancholy days have come—
To hide their naked limbs they ought
To wear a union suit.
Oh, blessed good old summer-time!
We miss you, now, you're gone;
We also miss our overcoats,
Which (courses) are in pawn.

THE FLORIST'S WINDOW.
"For me," said the veteran, "there's no social calendar at once so interesting to watch and so accurate as the windows of the fashionable florists. All summer long, although the most beautiful flowers of the field are in bloom, they have been set out with simple arrangements of potted plants and the most unobtrusive of the flowers of the day. With every one out of town and nothing going on the floral mirror reflects the dulness of the season. But watch the windows now. Day by day the kaleidoscope behind the plate glass panes becomes more and more brilliant as the season becomes again enlivened with the people streaming back to town. And in a little while when the flowers show the swing the season into full career, they will be arranged in a glory of crimson roses, delicate orchids and golden chrysanthemums. But with the first day of Lent they cowl their splendours like the season's beauty going into retreat. The violet is the most extravagant flower they display. But with Easter come again the full radiance, and so to the death of the season and the putting on of half mourning by the floral heralds. It's as good as a play, and much more beautiful!"

ANNA'S FAULT.
Papa—Kathleen, look what you have done; upset the inkpot all over my desk!
Kathleen—Yes, papa, Anna wasn't looking after me properly.

WANTED INFORMATION.
Mr. Gadd (at the police station)—
"Can I see that dog which you have reported for breaking into my house last night?"
Inspector (hesitating)—"Well, I don't know. What do you want to see him about?"

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.
King Solomon was found in a state of collapse.
"I tried to explain a baseball game to all my wives at once," he confessed.
They saw at once that he no longer cared who got the pennant.

TOO SUDDEN.
They were having a luncheon at a "red-jack" restaurant.
"I should like to marry a girl my direct opposite," he quoth, unsuspectingly.
She blushed. "Oh, Mr. Dushing, it is so sudden," she said.
And he saw he was lost.

MORE HUNTERS MEET WITH SUCCESS
FREDERICTON, Oct. 23.—Another party of successful sportsmen returned from the Miramichi woods by the I. C. R. express today and are at the Queen Hotel, while their trophies of the hunt are to be seen in front of Emack Bros' establishment.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moses, of Triton, N. H., who were hunting with "Uncle" Henry Brathwaite, the veteran guide, came out of the woods today. Mrs. Moses is the second American lady to shoot a moose in this section this year, killing an animal with large antlers as well as a big moose. Mr. Moses also shot a moose and caribou and both are well satisfied with their trip.
Mr. A. E. Barrow, of Ithaca, Michigan, who was hunting with Frank Russell on "Cabin" River, has sent the head of a large moose to Emack Bros. to be mounted.
Mr. F. H. Douglas, of New York, is at the Queen Hotel today and will go into the woods for a hunt with Henry Brathwaite as a guide.
Mr. Charles D. Butler, of Pittsfield, Mass., who secured a record head with antlers spreading well over 60 inches while here several years ago, is at the Queen today en route to the big game country.
A. B. Gilmour has on exhibition in his store, King Street, a large cup to be the trophy of the Maritime curling Bonspiel to be held at Amberst this year. The cup is given by the Lowndes Co., manufacturers of 3rd Century Clothing. The cup is about 40 inches high, with an ebony base, and is a trophy that is sure to create keen rivalry between the curling rinks. It is probably the finest of its kind ever offered for competition in the provinces.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS IN SESSION TODAY
Large Number of Delegates are Attending the Convention in St. Andrews Church.

The Maritime Sunday School Convention was opened in St. Andrew's Church this morning.
At 9:15 devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. H. E. Thomas, of Moncton. At the pastor's conference which opened at 9:30, the following programme was carried out. "How the association work can help the pastor," by Rev. D. H. Simpson; "How the home department can help the teacher," Rev. A. A. Graham; "The pastor and teacher training," Rev. G. H. The Scarlet Mysteries open their brief engagement in this city at the York Theatre tonight. They come very highly commended upon from Newfoundland, Halifax and Moncton, as well as other parts of Lower Canada. Of late the lithographs and announcements of this troupe have aroused a great deal of curiosity, which was undoubtedly intensified when the performance begins tonight. There is no sensational deception in the unique scheme of entertainment; on the contrary there will be exclamations of surprise and delight at every process. The Mysteries come from across the water are ably managed, and come with words of highest praise. Everybody who attends their performances will enjoy a rare treat.

Nixon and Wilson will skate a one mile race at St. Andrew's Railway tomorrow night. These two boys have skated the fastest mile yet skated, 22, and the race was declared a "dead heat" at the sports last Thursday night. There will also be a one mile amateur race open to those who have never won a roller race, and the management will give a prize. Entries close tomorrow at 6 p. m. Band us usual tonight.

Color plays a great part in all social life. The old blacks and browns are going out rapidly. Even among men, reds and yellows are getting the style. People did not think this would apply to drinks. In tea the old black Chinas are out and the new Ceylons, such as Tiger show rich cherry color in the cup. The Darjeelin and other odd names to make the Tiger Teas, show rich colors before the milk is added.

U. S. Naval Schools Resort to a Novel Advertising Scheme.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 23.—A novel scheme, the first of its kind and having for its object the obtaining of recruits for the apprentice branch of the United States navy, has been adopted by Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, superintendent of the naval training system for apprentices at the station on Coasters Harbor Island, near this city. Norfolk and San Francisco. Special postal cards, bearing picture of the apprentices at various drills will be printed and placed on sale, and it is believed that this method will not only advertise the apprentice system widely, but will be of vast assistance in the enlargement of this branch of the service.

It is also intended to adopt this system at the torpedo station at Newport and cards bearing cuts of torpedo seamen gunners at drill will be issued with the same object in view. The plan meets the hearty approval of the officials of the navy and it is understood that if successful, the scheme will be adopted in other departments of the service.

RAILROAD TRAINMEN WANT EIGHT HOUR DAY
Western Lines are Involved in What Promises to Become a Serious Problem.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The western railroads are facing a serious labor problem. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, on behalf of its switchmen, today presented demands for an eight hour day. The Brotherhood's action follows that of the Switchmen's Union, which presented similar demands some time ago, but the two movements are independent. The railroads, however, will be obliged now to deal with practically the whole organized strength of the switchmen instead of the fractional part represented by the Switchmen's Union. The move is the most extensive attempted by the railroad organizations in many years. Every railroad west of Pittsburg and Buffalo in the United States is involved. In Chicago the twenty-three trunk and the short belt lines and private roads owned by corporations are called upon to comply with the switchmen's request.
The Brotherhood's demands were presented to the railroads simultaneously in a dozen large cities.

INSANE MURDERESS ESCAPED FROM ASYLUM

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Minnie McKenize, who shot and killed police officer Alfred M. Sturtevant when the latter was trying to take her into custody at her home in East Boston on December 4, 1904, escaped from the Worcester Insane Asylum today where she has been a prisoner, but was captured this evening by local police and was placed in the house of detention for the night. She will be sent back to Worcester upon the arrival of officers from the asylum tomorrow.
Mrs. McKenize was found this evening at the home of her brother, Frank Cowan, 84 West Concord street. Mrs. Cowan told the officers that the woman appeared today and she was so exhausted that she decided to allow her to remain over night and then turn her over to the police in the morning.
Mrs. McKenize was captured by Deputy Superintendent Hanson, who took her to the house of detention and then notified Dr. Quimby, superintendent of the hospital at Worcester.
WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 23.—Mrs. McKenize, who was captured in Boston, how or where she obtained money necessary for car fare could not be learned here tonight.

MURPHY SAYS TAMMANY IS SOLID FOR HEARST

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Charles F. Murphy tonight authorized the following statement:
"Tammany Hall will be absolutely loyal to the Democratic ticket, from top to bottom, and I believe it will poll a very heavy majority in New York County. The present movement is of far greater importance than the personal or political preference or grievance of any individual. It is a revolt of the people against the domination of government in all its branches by the trust monopolies, which have increased the cost of living far beyond any increase in the rate of wages by stifling through the secret rebates they enjoy legitimate competition in every field of industry and have even attempted to invade the independence of the courts."
"The issue is clean cut, whether the corporate monopolies shall control the government or the government control the corporations."
"On this issue there can be no doubt of Democratic success."
"William Randolph Hearst, in popular estimation, has become the embodiment of this widespread revolt against special privileges and the corruption they have engendered."
"It was the resolution of this fact and the strong demand for his nomination throughout the state that led Tammany Hall delegates to cast their votes for him at the Buffalo convention."
"Whatever differences may have arisen between representatives of the Democratic Party and officers of the Independence League over local nominations they in no wise affect this main issue. Now that all matters of this character are settled finally and definitely, there will be no discussions among members of the organization, all of whom heretofore had but one object, the triumphant election of the candidate of the party."
"When a question of such vast importance to the whole body of the people is involved, it is hardly conceivable that any man sincerely attached to Democratic principles would hesitate to work cordially for Mr. Hearst and for the platform on which he stands."

FREDERICTON NEWS.

Line-Up for Tomorrow's Football—P. G. Ryan's Funeral Largely Attended

FREDERICTON, N. B., Oct. 24.—The first game in the inter-collegiate football contest for the Richardson trophy will take place here tomorrow afternoon when the University and Acadia teams will face each other. Fathers Finnigan and McLaughlin acting deacon and sub-deacon. Interment was made at the Hermitage. The mourners included Wm. Rowe, L. P. Farris, T. B. Winslow, D. Lucy, J. H. Barry, G. Y. Dibble, H. ### POLICE COURT.

In the absence of Magistrate Ritchie this morning Geo. A. Henderson officiated, and he had before him quite an array of prisoners. Mag Sullivan was the first name called, and when asked if she was guilty of being drunk, she replied, "all right." "But," said the sitting magistrate, "there are also some other charges against you." "Well," said Mag, "you can let them rest there." "Very well," said the magistrate, "they will be taken up later, and for the drunkenness you will be fined $8 or two months jail."

Wm. Lacey, a ship laborer, was charged with stealing a quarter of block tin from the cargo of the Furness Line steamer London City. He was arrested yesterday afternoon, and his arrest was a surprise to his fellow workmen. This morning he was remanded until this afternoon when a preliminary hearing into his case will be commenced.

Wm. Sloan who had been ejected from a grocery store and then arrested, pleaded guilty, and as a first offence man was fined $2 or five days jail.

Fred. J. H. Jones forfeited a deposit of $3 for drunkenness.

The police headed by sergeant Ince made a raid on a Carmarthen St. house kept by Annie Anketel about 3:30 o'clock this morning, and were successful in arresting Annie. They charged her with being the proprietor of a hawdy house and a resort for prostitution. Eliza Nickerson, an elderly woman was also found there and said that she had been doing some scrubbing for Annie, and having become intoxicated remained in the house all night. DR. H. T. SEERKHA house. The third occupant was Timothy Garnet, a young fellow, 24 years of age, who has the name of living with the proprietor. He was found hiding in a loft over the kitchen, and his clothing was found in the Anketel woman's room. A young and flashy looking woman who gave her name as Adellona Cordasco, and her home as Montreal, but who has been arrested before and is better known as Dot Belyea, was found on Hill street this morning, under the influence of liquor, and not able to give a satisfactory account of herself. She was fined $8 or one month in jail.

SPAIN WILL ADOPT THE GOLD STANDARD

Legislation About to be Undertaken is the Most Important in Years

MADRID, Oct. 24.—The budget proposals of the government which were read at the opening of parliament yesterday involve sweeping financial reforms, including the institution of the gold standard. The newspapers regard the institution of the gold standard especially the enactment of the law of associations and the suppression of the octroi duties, (the tolls upon all goods entering the cities and towns) as the most important undertaken for years and as foreshadowing the moral and material regeneration of Spain.

Just before the New Brunswick Southern express was scheduled to leave the Carleton station today a fire in the baggage car was discovered. It had caught from a stove pipe, and an alarm was sounded from box 214. The department had little difficulty in extinguishing the flames but not before a hole had been burned in the roof of the car.

The Star's New Series of Short Stories, by O. Henry.

TWO RECALLS.

There remain three duties to be performed before the curtain falls upon the patched comedy. Two have been promised; the third is no less obligatory.

It was set forth in the programme of this tropic vaudeville that it would be made known why Shorty O'Day, of the Columbia Detective Agency, lost his position. Also that Smith should come again to tell us what mystery he followed that night on the shores of Anchuria when he strewed so many cigar stumps around the cocoanut palm during his lonely night vigil on the beach. These things were promised; but a larger thing yet remained to be accomplished—the clearing up of a seeming wrong that has been done according to the array of chronicled facts (truthfully set forth) that have been presented. And one voice, speaking, shall do these three things.

Two men sat on the stringer of a North River pier in the City of New York. A steamer from the tropics had begun to unload bananas and oranges on the pier. Now and then a banana or two would fall from an overripe bunch and one of the two men would scramble forward, seize the fruit and return to share it with his companion. One of the two men was in the ultimate stage of deterioration. As far as rain and wind and sun could wreck the garments he wore, it had done so. In his person the ravages of drink were as plainly visible. And yet, upon his high-bridged, rounded forehead, there shone a pair of shining and flawless gold-rimmed glasses.

The other man was not so far gone upon the descending highway of the incompetents. Truly, the power of his manhood had gone to seed—seed, perhaps, no soil might sprout. But there were still cross-paths along which he might struggle through which he might yet regain the pathway of usefulness without disturbing the slumbering Miracles. This man was short and compactly built. He had an oblique, dead eye, like that of a sting-ray, and the moustache of a cockroach. We for you. I'll give you five minutes to decide! I pulled out my watch and waited.

"Then the young lady chipped in. She was one of the genuine high-street types. You could tell by the way her clothes fit and the style she had that Fifth Avenue was made for her. Now what do you think of that? Don't stand in the door and disturb the whole street with that sort of question. You're what I call a blubberer. Three minutes gone," I said. "I'll tell you again while the other two tick off."

"You'll admit being the president of the Republic, won't you?"
"I am," says he.
"Well, then," says I, "it ought to be plain to you. Wanted, in New York, J. Churchill Wahnefeld, in the Republic Insurance Company. Also the funds belonging to said company, now in that city, in lawful possession of J. Churchill Wahnefeld."
"Oh-h-h-h!" says the young lady, as she was thinking, you would take us back to New York?
"To take Mr. Wahnefeld. There's no law against you. I'm not making any objection, of course, to your returning with your father."
"Of a sudden and the girl gave a tiny scream and grabbed the old boy around the neck. 'Oh, father, father!' she says, kind of contralto, 'can this be not yours? Speak, father! It made you shiver to hear the tremolo stop when she first grasped him, but she was on, whispering in his ear and patting his old shoulder till he stood still, but sweating a little."
"I proposed to have them taken to the boat down the beach half a mile or so, and take us up there. How to go, then, was the question. For I couldn't leave the grip with the prisoner, and I couldn't take it with me, not knowing but what the monkeys might stick me up."
"The young lady says the old colored woman would take them a note. I sat down and wrote it, and gave it to the dame with plain directions what to do, and she grins like a baboon and shakes her head.

"Then Mr. Wahnefeld handed her a string of foreign dimes, and she nodding her head and says, 'See, see,' maybe fifty times, and lights out with the note."
"Old Augusta only understands German," said Miss Wahnefeld, smiling at me. "We stayed in her house to sleep where we could find lodgings, and she insisted upon our having coffee. She tells us she was raised in a German family in San Domingo."
"Very likely," I said. "But you can search me for German words, except six versey and zoch chat. I would have called that 'See, see,' French, though, on a gamble."
"Well, we three made a sneak around the edge of the town so as not to be seen. We got tangled in vines and ferns and the banana bushes and tropical scenery a good deal. The monkey suburbs was as wild as places in Central Park. We came out on the beach a good half mile below. A brown chap was lying asleep under a cocoanut tree, with a ten-foot musket beside him. Mr. Wahnefeld takes up the gun and pitches it into the sea. 'The coast is guarded,' he says. 'Rebellion and plots ripen like fruit.' He pointed to the sleeping man, who never stirred. 'Thus, he says, they perform trusts. Children!

I saw our boat coming, and I struck a match and lit a piece of newspaper to show them where we were. In thirty minutes we were on board the yacht.
"The first thing, Mr. Wahnefeld and his daughter and I took the grip into the owner's cabin, opened it up, and took an inventory. There was one hundred and five thousand dollars, besides a lot of diamond jewelry and a couple of hundred Havana cigars. I signed a receipt for the money and receipts for the rest of the lot, as agent for the company, and locked the stuff up in my private quarters.
"I never had a pleasanter trip than that one. After we got to sea the young lady turned out to be the jolliest ever. The very first time we sat down to dinner, and the steward filled her glass with champagne—that director's yacht was a regular floating Waldorf-Astoria—she winks at me and says, 'What's the use to borrow trouble, Mr. Pity Cop? Here's hoping you may live to see the hen that scratches on your grave.' There was a plank on board and she sat down on it and sang better than you give up two cases to hear plenty times. She knew about nine o'clock clear through. She was sure enough bon ton and swell. She wasn't one of the 'among others present' kind; she belonged on the special mention list!

"The old man, too, perked up amazingly on the way. He passed the cigars, and says to me once, quite chipper, out of a cloud of smoke, 'Mr. O'Day, somehow I think the Republic Company will not give me much trouble. Guard well the grip-valise of the money, Mr. O'Day, for that it must be returned to him that it belongs when we finish to arrive.'"
"When we landed in New York I phoned to the chief to meet us in his director's office. We got in a cab and went there. I carried the grip and we walked in, and I was pleased to see that the chief had got together that same old crowd of moneybags with pink faces and white vests to see us march in. I set the grip on the table. 'There's the money,' I said.
"And your prisoner?" said the chief. "I pointed to Mr. Wahnefeld, and he stepped forward and says:
"The honor of a word with you, sir, to explain."
"He and the chief went into another room and stayed ten minutes? When they came back the chief looked as black as a ton of coal.
"Did this gentleman," he says to me, "have this valise in his possession when you first saw him?"
"He did," said I.
"The chief took up the grip and handed it to the prisoner with a bow, and says to the director crowd: 'Do any of you recognize this gentleman?' They all shook their pink faces.
"Allow me to present," he goes on, "Senior Miraflores, president of the Republic of Anchuria, on condition that he generously consented to overlook this outrageous blunder, on condition that we undertake to secure him against the annoyance of public comment. It is a concession on his part to overlook an insult for which he might claim international redress. I think we can gratefully promise secrecy in the matter."
"They gave him a pink nod all round."
"O'Day," he says to me, "As a private detective you're wasted in New York, where kidnapping governments is in the rules, you'd be invaluable. Come down to the office at eleven."
"I knew what that meant.
"So that's the president of the monkeys," said I. "Well, why couldn't he have said so?"
"Wouldn't it jar you?"

C. J. Stammers and wife were happily reminded of their eleventh wedding anniversary last evening by the invasion of their home by a large party of jolly friends. A very pleasant few hours were consumed with games, music and chat, during which the dainty repast was served. Before the hour for disbanding arrived F. A. Dykeman on behalf of the assembled friends presented the bride and groom of over a decade with a china dinner set. Speeches in congratulatory and thankful vein were then in order.

A correspondent writes to the Star: The New Brunswick Telephone Co. evidently is no believer in what is called the judicious use of printer's ink. For over six months subscribers to the system have been invited to add a list of new names to their directories, such names being printed in the papers. There are only a dozen or so of these so-called "new" subscribers, one of whom has been dead for months, the other closed up his home, etc., etc. It is not fair to users of phones to keep running ads for names that have been drummed up by the agents. It will save endless confusion and unnecessary querying of the "information" operator at central if they are listed fresh and published where the people can see them and copy them into their books.

REV. DAVID LONG HAS DECIDED TO GO WEST

Cannot be Persuaded to Remain Here Longer and Has Accepted a Call to Calgary.

Rev. David Long has decided to leave St. John. It has taken him a considerable time to make up his mind for his congregation have done all in their power to keep him here, have treated him most generously and have shown in every way that they want him to remain.

Ever since Mr. Long enjoyed a trip to the West some few years ago, his eyes have been turning to that country as his new home, and on several occasions he has been on the verge of leaving this city. But the desires of his people prevented this, and only a week or two ago he promised to stay here for a short while longer. Yesterday Mr. Long received a call from one of the Baptist churches in Calgary, and this morning there came a telegram asking an immediate reply as to whether or not he would accept. Last evening he announced to his congregation the receipt of this call and intimated that though he greatly regretted parting from those who have been so kind to him, he could not see his way clear to decline. Rev. Mr. Long will probably leave St. John in the course of two or three weeks, as he is wanted in Calgary as soon as possible. He has been in the Baptist ministry in New Brunswick for sixteen years and has been stationed at Norton, Apathauk, and St. John, having held the pastorate of the Victoria street church for the past nine years.

A CHILDREN'S HOME IS NEEDED HERE

To Stop the Practice of Baby Farming.

Adj. Brewster Tells of the Serious Conditions Which Now Preval—Many Little Ones Turned on Street.

LOCAL NEWS.

At a meeting of the Associated Charities held last evening Adjutant Brewster of the Salvation Army, spoke of the need in St. John for a children's home. In conversation with the Star the adjutant went more fully into the subject. She states that during the past three weeks there have been received at the Army Rescue Home fifty fully applications from mothers who desired the Army to take charge of their children. The largest number of these applications came from women who are compelled to go out to work and who have no place to keep their children while they are absent from home. Some others find it impossible to properly maintain a home, though they are in a position to pay a certain small amount weekly for the support of their little ones.

The adjutant states that there are many little ones, boys and girls, in St. John who are simply being ruined because of the lack of proper care. These applications because there is no available accommodation at the home, and also on account of the fact that his Rescue Home is primarily a hospital and is not intended for caring for older children.

The adjutant states that there are many little ones, boys and girls, in St. John who are simply being ruined because of the lack of proper care. Numbers of mothers who are compelled to take some action, being unable to get their children in the Rescue Home, the Alms House or orphan asylums, send them out to private families, paying a weekly board for their support. This is the direct cause of the baby farms, over which such an agitation was raised about two years ago, and which are now in as flourishing a condition as ever. In many of these so-called baby farms, but almost wholly for the purpose of making a profit, the children are left in the street, their mothers go to work, and the development of their lives is just what might be expected from such a course.

Adjutant Brewster tells of the work of institutions in some of the Upper Canadian cities. There, Funds are provided to which the children are taken for the day. The mothers bring them in the mornings, leave them in charge of the nurses who give them a bath and meals and amuse them with toys, or, if they are old enough, put them in classes for instruction in the primary branches, and return them to the mothers in the evening. The majority of women who go out to work are able to pay a small amount each day for such care, but what is collected in this manner is by no means sufficient for the maintenance of a public institution of this sort, one which would be between the Rescue Home and the Alms House, is badly needed, and that, even if arranged for the accommodation of a considerable number of children, it would be well filled all the time. She states that the Army does not feel at all justified in undertaking such a work without the assurance of a public grant. In St. John there are a number of Army institutions which receive most generous support from the citizens, and the adjutant thinks it would at the present time be hardly fair for the Army to ask further individual assistance in this line. If, however, the city should see its way clear to provide a sum for the purpose the Army would undoubtedly undertake the management of such a home.

ST. MARTINS BAPTISTS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Older Heads Will Settle the Troubles Between Rev. Mr. Townsend and Some of His Flock.

An important meeting will be held in the Baptist church at St. Martins this evening, when it is intended matters relating to the strained relations of Rev. M. Townsend and part of his flock will be thoroughly dealt with.

The well-known St. Martins clergyman has been having difficulty with members of the church for some time, culminating a short time ago in his reading a legal debt, demanding his salary. Complications have arisen out of this radical and unique procedure which may result tonight. In either Rev. Mr. Townsend's enforced resignation or a deplorable split in the church's ranks.

St. Martins is a Baptist stronghold and the present incumbent of the pulpit is a man of fine preaching abilities as well as a vigorous worker. But some of the cooler heads in his congregation are protesting against his original methods in setting such difficulties as have arisen of late. These wise counsellors have taken part in a meeting for the preservation of unity and Christian fellowship at tonight's session, no matter whose head falls in the basket.

The warring factions will, therefore, in all probability be brought up with a sharp round turn and asked a few questions having less to do with the temporal affairs of the church, and more bearing upon its spiritual welfare. St. Martins is an important Baptist centre, once the seat of the Baptist Seminary, and it is humiliating to faithful communicants to have such unseemly clashes between pastor and people.
