SATURDAY EVENING.

Business Men of the Town Do Honor to a Departing Citizen.

When it was finally understood that Mr. John McKeen, the genial host of the Waverley had severed his connection with that institution and was about to leave for Quebec, the scene of his future labors, a number of Newcastle's business men resolved themselves into a committee of management and made preparations for a grand spread in the Waverley Hotel for Saturday night, to do honor to that departing gentleman.

That the gathering would be a representative one was the first care, and the business men of the town were asked to be present at 9.15. An extensive programme of toasts was prepared, and Mr. J. J. Pallen, the present proprietor of the Waverley was instructed to prepare the toast.

At the appointed time a large number congregated at the Waverley. Much disappointment was evinced because Mr. McKeen was obliged to leave by the 11.45 train instead of Monday evening as at first intended. This made it necessary to curtail the programme considerably in order that this enjoyable function would be concluded in sufficient time to allow all to reach the depot to bid farewell to Mr. McKeen, his charming wife and son.

Shortly before ten o'clock all entrance to the dining room, where was spread the bounteous repast prepared by mine host Pallen.

After the repast had been done justice to Mr. J. S. Fleming, as chairman proposed the toast

"THE KING."
After this toast had been honored, and the company had sung "God Save the King" Mr. Charles Fish in a most appropriate speech proposed the health of "The Guest of the Evening" which toast was heartily drunk by the assembly after which it sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. McKeen, in a feeling manner responded. Messrs. S. W. Miller, E. A. McCurdy and W. S. Moore also made a few remarks. As it was now nearly train time the pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The entire company were driven to the depot to bid Mr. and Mrs. McKeen God speed and good luck in their new home.

To Mr. Pallen, the present proprietor of the Waverley is due the highest compliments on the excellency of the repast he served, and when considering the short time at his disposal and the many other disadvantages he had to surmount, he deserves much praise.

Chamberlain's Strong Appeal

For Federation of the Empire.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Recorded by enthusiastic crowds, Joseph Chamberlain Saturday addressed a thronged meeting of working men at Tredegar Hall, Newport (Eng.). He said England had become the dust-heap of Europe and America, two thirds of the dumped steel which came to Newport was carried by foreign ships. The preferential policy will stop this and save the now unsafe colonial markets. Canada is not afraid of fighting in a tariff war as was illustrated by her German autark.

Britain was not so poor or weak that she had to accept whatever foreigners pleased to give us. Every evidence confirmed the belief of the patriotism of our children across the seas. They are now comparatively in their infancy, but when grown up they might prove giants in comparison to their parents. Those of us who could look forward to the future saw that without their assistance we should sink from our high place among nations and our glorious history come to an end.

"When the colonies came to us and said as Yorkshire and Lancashire are bound to Middlesex and Surrey, so let Australia, Canada and South Africa be bound to the United Kingdom, he did not think the people of this country would turn their backs on them." In the words of the poet:

Britons, myriad voices call,
Some be welded, one and all,
Into an Imperial whole,
One with Britain, heart and soul,
One life, one flag, one fleet one throne,
Britons hold your own.

QUIET IN COLUMBIA.

Address of President Marroquin. He Deals with the Attitude of the United States.

BOGOTA, Columbia, Nov. 21.—President Marroquin has made the following statement to the Associated Press, in response to queries as to the political situation in Columbia:

"United States Minister Beaupre and all Americans here are surrounded with every guarantee for their safety. My communication to the Senate and the people of the United States makes manifest the attitude of the Government on the Panamanian situation. The situation in the interior of the Columbia republic is quiet. President Marroquin's reference to his communication to the people of the United States is explained by the following address, which he has given the correspondent of the Associated Press:

"The President of Columbia is the American people."
"The Columbia nation has just been the victim of unexpected aggression and is in danger of losing the best part of its territory. A military movement, the sentiment, was the origin of this aggression, for the impudence of Panama."

"The American government, which always had been held by Columbia to be its best friend and ally, prevented with military, loyal militia from subjugating the traitors, and checking the origin of the insubordination."

"The solemn treaty between Columbia and the United States, alluded to until the last moment by the American government, binds the United States not only to respect the sovereignty and ownership of the Panama Isthmus by Columbia, but to help the latter to maintain them. The proceedings of the United States marines on the isthmus and of the American minister here are in open violation of that treaty. The Isthmus of Panama, the most coveted part of the globe, and the most precious part of our fatherland, always has been respected by the nations as a sacred trust confided by Columbia to the honor and power of the American people."

"The traditions of that great nation, the United States, as a defender of right and bearer of the standard of civilization before the world, always have been opposed to the secession of territories and the nation's recognition of the confederate states during the civil war confirms emphatically the application of this doctrine decisively at critical moments."

"The Americans will not permit, I am sure, a violation of public treaties, thus denying their glorious traditions in order to obtain by force what Columbia is ready to concede through pacific and equitable means. Columbia wishes to strengthen the ties of friendship and commerce with the United States and give vigorous impulse to the purposes of the greater power and glory of her older sister republic, but the proceedings of the Washington government interfere, unhappily, with the good feeling in both countries, being a barrier in the way of a higher enterprise, advantageous not only to them, but to humanity in general."

"The Columbia people, tranquil in the strength of right and being sure of the sentiments of justice and equity of the American people, appeal to the national conscience of the United States, which conscience constitutes a force superior by far to that of an army and navy, in order to save the honor and integrity of our territory."

"The Stars and Stripes, always dear to all respected by the republics of both Americas, never shall be outraged or despoiled in Columbia. No matter what the procedure of the government at Washington may be, the persons and the property of citizens of the United States here remain confided to the traditional honor of the government and people of Columbia."

(Signed) "MARROQUIN."

FIRE AT DAWSON.

Military Quarters and Valuable Stores Destroyed.

Dawson, Nov. 22.—Fire has destroyed the military quarters at Fort Gibbon. The loss will probably reach $100,000.

The fire is very unfortunate at this time of the year as the Arctic winter is now on full vigor and will last five months longer.

The fire broke out in an unknown manner in the smoke house. The soldiers had nothing with which to fight the flames but snow, which proved useless.

The warehouses which were burned contained the supplies for the soldiers for the winter and nothing was saved. Fortunately the stables and horses were not involved in the loss.

Married

BOIESTOWN WOMAN

Ryan now Under Arrest Lowell, Mass., Charge With Bigamy.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 18.—Matthew Ryan, thirty years old, a bartender of this city, who is being held by the police here, and will probably have to face a charge of bigamy, married his legal wife, Miss Margaret McKelley Dunsen, near Freeport, N. B., last night. He has been living with another woman here for some time and was arrested at the request of the New Brunswick woman.

She says that she was married to Ryan, Nov. 7, 1897, in Lowell, and the woman with whom he has been living, and says her maiden name was Bridget McMahon, claims that she was married to him June 24, 1900, in Boston.

Wife No. 1 says that after she and Ryan were married they went to Concord, Mass., where she secured employment in a boarding house. After working there for some time she went back to her home in New Brunswick and stayed for more than two years. About a year ago she came to this city and was told that her husband was married again. Not believing it, she returned to her home, but a letter from Mrs. Cutler in this city convinced her that things were not just as they should be. During the first of her absence from her husband, he used to write to her, she says. Once she asked him for $2 and in a few days she received a letter with a dime in it.

"I was legally married to Matthew Ryan in Boston city hall, June 24th, 1900," wife No. 2 said today. "My maiden name was Bridget McMahon and I have always lived in Lowell. In the summer of 1900 I was working for Thomas H. Elliott, in Westford as a house girl, and there first met my husband, who was a farm hand for Mr. Elliott. He never said anything about a former wife and we went to Boston, where we were married by the city clerk there, Mr. Harrington. A short time ago my husband took the marriage license, tore it into bits, and burned it. But you can go to the Boston city hall and see for yourself, where we were married. I had one child, but she died."

Ryan admits that he married the McMahon woman, but insists that he and the New Brunswick woman were never wedded.

Attempt to Poison

Royal Family.

Berlin Report Says Czar and Czarina had Narrow Escapes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The World this morning publishes the following:

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Sinister rumors come from Stiernewicz, Poland, accounting for the sudden death of the little Princess Elizabeth of Hesse, niece of the Czarina of Russia, at the moment of a family reunion. The unfortunate little princess and her father were the guests at Stiernewicz of the Czar and Czarina, and it is said that an attempt was made to poison the whole royal party. The princess was the only victim, although the Czarina was made very ill and the Czar was more or less affected by the poison. It was for this reason the Czar and Czarina did not attend the funeral of their niece, and it is now explained that they were too ill attend. The accounts given of the illness of the princess tally with the suggestion of poison. The Grand Duchess, a daughter of the divorced Grand Duchess of Hesse and of the Czarina, is using all her influence to utilize the present sad event to bring about a reconciliation between her daughter and the Grand Duke of Hesse, but her efforts have availed nothing so far.

DOMINION ELECTION.

Impression Growing That They will be Held Soon.

Mr. George W. Fowler, M. P., passed through the city on the Montreal express to-day on his way home from Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and other Upper Canadian parts to his home in Sussex. In conversation with the Globe the member from Kings said it looked very much like an election during the latter part of January. All the signs seemed to be blowing that way. As to the prospects of winter port business in St. John this year, as far as he could discern in the more western parts, Mr. Fowler said trade would be greater than ever before. This was especially true of the cattle business. Mr. Pope, a large cattle shipper, said that he would be moving stock through the port of St. John this winter, and that during the previous winter he had not.

LAUGHING POST
LIFE OF MANHis Neighbor Couldn't
Stand it and Shot Him

ROME, Mo., Nov. 10.—Angered because the boys of the Stephens had been allowed to enter on his property, John Blomly today shot and killed Stephens while the latter was laughing in his face. Blomly immediately gave himself up to the authorities and was taken to the jail at Waterville. He admitted the shooting and said that he was so mad that he did not know what he was doing.

The affair occurred in the doorway of Stephens' barn, and two young men, Isaac Willard and Sanborn Mosher, from whose mother Blomly borrowed the gun with which he did the shooting, were eyewitnesses.

According to the Mosher boys Stephens was out in Blomly's field this afternoon trying to drive his hogs home when Blomly came by. After stopping a minute and looking at the boys, Blomly kept on up the street. Stephens succeeded in getting the hogs back on his own property and had just come back to the barn when Blomly reappeared armed with a double-barrelled shot gun. He stopped in the road directly opposite the entrance to Stephens' barn where the latter was standing and according to the Mosher boys, said: "I had as soon shoot anyone as anything." Mr. Stephens replied with a laugh: "Look, boys, he is going to shoot me." Stephens continued to laugh and then Blomly, anger Blomly still more, he raised the gun, took down the barrel at his neighbor, and fired.

Stephens staggered back a few steps fell dead on the ground. He was less than 30 feet from Blomly when the latter fired and it was subsequently discovered that seven buckshot passed through his breast four of which went through the heart.

According to the Mosher boys Blomly aimed the gun in their direction and they did not wait even to see whether or not Mr. Stephens was dead before he home.

Blomly went at once to the home of Selectman Duell and told him what he had done. He then went to Town Constable Urban Charles and gave himself up. To Mr. Charles he again told the story of the shooting, after which he was taken into custody by the constable and late tonight removed to the jail at Waterville.

MARRIED AT ATHOL.

HARPER—NOBLE.

St. John's Episcopal church was the center of attraction on Wednesday evening, the date set apart for the marriage of Ada May Harper and James William Noble. Friends and relatives of the young couple filled the church to overflowing. Every seat was taken and a considerable number of late comers were obliged to stand. The employees of the graduating room of the L. S. Starrett factory (25 in number) were present in a body. There was also a considerable number of the employees of Bates Bros. present and many friends from the Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal churches.

The church was prettily decorated with lilies, palms and ferns. Rev. F. W. Sandford officiated and the wedding march was played by Miss Edith Albee. At the appointed time, F. W. Sandford, the groom and his best man, W. C. Tandy, entered the church and at the chancel awaited the remainder of the party. The bride was accompanied by her brother, George H. Harper, and was preceded by the ushers, James Swezey, Artemas Swezey and Albert Witty of Orange and the maid of honor, Miss Gertrude Harper of Athol. The beautiful and impressive Episcopal service was used and the bride was given away by her brother, George Harper. At the close of the ceremony a brief informal reception was held in the sacristy of the church, after which a large number of those present gathered upon the lawn outside to give the bride and groom the usual good bye salute. They waited quite a while before they made their appearance, but their patience was finally rewarded and Mr. and Mrs. Noble were generously sprinkled with rice.

The bride's dress was of white chiffon and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. The maid of honor wore blue silk muslin and carried a bouquet of carnations. The bride and groom left town for a brief wedding trip after which they will make their home at 158 Highland avenue. They were generously remembered in the way of wedding presents.

Both young people are very well known in town, particularly in the Episcopal and Baptist churches. The groom has resided in Athol and been an employee of the Bates Bros. Co. for a long time and the bride has worked in the L. S. Starrett graduating room for several years. Both are thoroughly respected and beloved and a large circle of friends wish them all happiness.—Athol Church Record.

Judge Gregory Has Broken One of His Ankles.

A Compound Fracture Sustained on the Capital's Slippery Streets.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 18.—

Judge Gregory was the victim of a painful accident last evening which will probably render him incapable of attending to his judicial duties for some months. While crossing George street last evening directly opposite his residence, he fell on the street and sustained a compound fracture to his right ankle. Col. Leggie and Dr. Barbour, neighbors, assisted him to his home, where Dr. Atherton was summoned. He reduced the fracture which is a particularly bad one. Judge Gregory is in his 68th year and it will probably be well on in the new year before he is around again.

The Wonderful Combination Home-made Sandwich on the train.

Once, while travelling on the Empire State express from New York to Buffalo, there was a man seated across the aisle from me who had bought his own lunch and he started in by eating a home made combination sandwich.

Did you ever have one? A home made combination sandwich? It has everything in it they don't want at home. Anything in the ice box that wants to travel leaves with it.

You are supposed to eat it to save it, because it is so far gone to save itself. It's about three stories and an attic high.

The first thing he did was to unbutton the sandwich; then he lifted the lid and took out a couple of pickle and the stove lighter and closed it up again. Then he opened his mouth, and I never saw such an alcove in a man before. He did a regular Herrmann trick with that sandwich.

Now you see it; now you don't. When I looked at him again he was pulling a piece of apron string out of a biscuit and while he was pulling the apron string out of the biscuit a little boy, who was watching him, said to his mother, Mamma, look at the rag muffin.

Then the man devoured a large piece of mince pie and after eating the mince pie he commenced to double up and open and close like a jack-knife.

I say, What's the matter? He says, I think my wife put some nuts in that pie without cracking them.

Well I say, can you crack them that way? I thought if he could then I'd eat mine when the shells on and crack them when I felt like it—every man his own nut cracker.

He finally got straightened up, then he opened his valise and took out a hot-water bag.

They never let one of those sandwiches leave home without sending a hot-water bag right along with it.

He got a sympathetic waiter to fill the water bag with boiling hot water.

Then he leaned back and put the hot water bag on his stomach, and while it was there what do you think he did? He opened up his lunch basket took out a piece of fried steak and warmed it upon the water bag.

You talk about your light house keeping!

Then after he warmed the steak he cut it all up with pair of scissors and fed it to himself with a pair of sugar tongs, because he wouldn't take a chance with a fork going round a curve. I know you can't tell where you're feeding

Rumor says the transfer of the great Northern to the Grand Trunk will be consummated before the fifteen days' postponement have elapsed.

A Quebec financial man in touch with the whole proceedings, and who assisted in making arrangements for the transfer, is authoritative for this statement.

Liquozone Cost $100,000

Yet We Will Buy a 50c. Bottle and Give it to You.

This company, composed of business, professional and medical men of ability, paid $100,000 for the right to make Liquozone. That is the highest price ever paid for the rights in one country on any scientific discovery. It was paid by us, after years of experiment with it, because Liquozone alone can kill inside germs without killing the tissues, too. Nothing else can destroy the cause of any germ disease.

and an excess of oxygen—the very life of an animal—is deadly to vegetable matter. Liquozone is employed in the largest hospitals, and prescribed by the best physicians, the world over. It is essential in any germ disease, for the cause must be destroyed, and nothing else can do it. Liquozone then acts as a tonic to bring back a condition of perfect health; for oxygen is Nature's greatest tonic. Its effects are exhilarating, purifying, vitalizing. It does something that all the skill in the world cannot do without it.

Liquid Oxygen.

Liquozone is simply liquid oxygen—no drugs, no alcohol in it. It is the discovery of Pauli, the great German chemist, who spent 20 years on it. His object was to get an excess of oxygen in the blood, and he found that no germ could live in any membrane or tissue. Liquozone does that. We spend 14 days in making each bottle of it, but the result is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

Kills All Germs.

Any drug that kills germs is a poison to you and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine never destroys inside germs. Liquozone kills them with oxygen—a tonic to you—the very source of vitality. It kills them because germs are vegetables.

month? I'm the land poorest man in my county.

Reaching the station, he inquired about a train to Darley and was told that one left at midnight. He decided to take it and sat in one of the iron armed seats without moving till he heard his train announced. Then he went into the smoking car and sat down in a corner.

He reached Darley at half past 8 in the morning and went to the only hotel in the place. The sleepy night clerk rose from his lounge behind the counter in the office and assigned him to a room, to which a colored boy, vigorously rubbing his eyes, conducted him. Left alone in his room, he sat down on the edge of his bed and started to undress, but with a sigh he stopped.

"What's the use of me lying down almost at daylight?" he asked himself. "I might as well be on the way home. I can't sleep now." Blowing out his lamp, he went downstairs and roused the clerk again. "Will I have to pay for that bed if I don't use it?" he questioned.

"Why, no, Mr. Bishop," said the clerk. "Well, I believe I'll start out home." "Is your team in town?" asked the clerk.

"The team I'm a-goin' to use is. I'm going to foot it. I've done the like before this." "Well, it's a purty tough stretch," smiled the clerk, "but the roads are good."

CHAPTER IV.
It was a little after sunrise. The family had just left the breakfast table when Bishop walked in. His shoes and trousers were damp with dew and covered with mud. He closed the door, his wife saw him entering the gate and called out to him from the hall:

"Well, I declare! Didn't you go to Atlanta?"

He came slowly up the steps, dragging his feet after him. He had the appearance of a man beaten by every storm that could fall upon a human being.

"Yes, I went," he said doggedly. He passed her and went into the sitting room, where his brother-in-law stood at the fireplace lighting his pipe with a live coal of fire on the tip of a stick. Abner Daniel looked at him critically, his brows knit in a little as he puffed, but he said nothing. Mrs. Bishop came in behind her husband, sweeping him from head to foot with her searching eyes.

"You don't mean to tell me you walked out here this mornin'," she cried. "Lord have mercy!"

"I don't know as I've prepared any speech on the subject," said her husband testily, "but I walked. I could 'a' gone to a livery an' ordered out a team, but I believe that's a morn' one way of wearin' sackcloth an' ashes, an' the sooner I begin the better."

better I'll feel."

Abner Daniel winked. The Scriptural allusion appealed to his fancy, and he smiled impulsively.

"That's a whole way an' a half way. Some folks jest wear it next to the skin whar it don't show, with broadcloth or silk on the outside. They think of it scratches a little that'll satisfy the Lord an' hoodwink other folks. But I believe he meant it to be the whole hog or none."

Mrs. Bishop was deaf to this philosophy. "I don't see," she said in her own field of reflection—"I don't see, I say, how you got to Atlanta, attended to business, seen Adele an' got back here at sunrise. Why, Alfred?"

But Bishop interrupted her. "Have you all had prayers yet?" said his wife, wondering over his strange manner.

"If reckon it can pass jest this once, bein' as you are tired an' hain't had nothin' to eat."

"No; it can't pass, neither. I don't want to touch a mouthful. Tell the rest of 'em to come in, an' you fetch me the Book."

"Well," Mrs. Bishop went out and told the negro woman and her daughter to stop washing the dishes and go in to prayer. Then she hurried out to the back porch, where Alan was oiling his gun.

"Somethin' happened to yore pa," she said. "He acts queer an' says such strange things. He walked all the way from Darley this mornin' an' now wants to have prayers 'fore he touches a bite o' breakfast. I reckon we are ruined."

"I'm afraid that's it," opined her son as he put down his gun and followed her into the sitting room. Here the two negroes stood against the wall. Abner Daniel was smoking, and Bishop held the big family Bible on his quivering knees.

"If you mean to keep it up," Abner was saying argumentatively, "all right an' good, but I don't believe in sudden spurts of worship. My horses is hitched up ready to haul a load o' bark to the tannery, an' it may throw me a little late at dinner, but of you are a-goin' to make a daily business of it I'm with you."

"I'm a-goin' to be regular from now on," said Bishop, slowly turning the leaves of the tome. "I forgot whar I read last."

"You didn't finish about Samson 'yit?" asked Mrs. Bishop, almost resentfully. "No, I hain't," Bishop snapped. "I'll tell you soon enough. I reckon I won't read this mornin'." Let's pray."

They all knelt recently and yet with some curiosity, for Bishop often suited his prayers to important occasions, an' struck them that he might now allude to the subject bound up within him.

an' our children has been educated in a way that raised 'em head an' shoulders above many o' the'r associates an' even blood kin. I don't know exactly whar an' how I've shined, but I know I have shined, for the way my scouge has fallen hard an' heavy on my ambitions. I wanted to see my boy how a good, obedient son an' my daughter thar in Atlanta able to hold their heads up among the folks they mix with, an' so I reached out. Maybe it was forbidden fruit leet out by a snake in the devil's service. I don't know, thou knowest. Anyways, I stered my course out o' the calm waters o' content an' peace o' soul into the whirlpool rapids o' ambition an' greed. I loved I was in a safe haven an' didn't dream o' the stormclouds hangin' over me till they burst in fury on my head. Now, Lord, my Father, give them hearts of patience an' forgiveness for the blunders of thy servant. What I done I done in the bullheaded way that I've always done things, but I meant good and not harm. These things we ask in the name o' Jesus Christ, our blessed Lord and Master. Amen."

"During the latter part of the prayer Mrs. Bishop had been staring at her husband through her parted fingers, her face pale and agitated, and as she rose her eyes were glued to his face.

"Now, Alfred," she said, "what are you goin' to tell us about the railroad? Is it as bad as brother Ab thought it would be?"

Bishop hesitated. It seemed as if he had even then to tear himself from the clutch of his natural stubbornness. He looked into all the anxious, waiting faces before he spoke, and then he gave in.

"Ab made a good guess. Ef I'd 'a' had his sense or Alan's, I'd 'a' made a better trader. It's like Ab said it was, only a slight wuss, a powerful slight wuss!"

"Wuss?" gasped his wife in fresh alarm. "How could it be wuss? Why, Brother Ab said—"

"I never have told you the extent o' my dealin's," went on Bishop in the current of confession. "I never even told Perkins yesterday. Fust an' last I've managed to rake in fully twenty thousand acres o' mountain land. I was goin' on what I loved was a dead shore thing. I secured all I could lay my hands on, an' I did it in secret. I was afeard even to tell you about whar Perkins said, thinkin' it might leak out an' spile my chances."

"But, father," said Alan, "you didn't have enough money to buy all that land."

"I got it up"—Bishop's face was doggedly pale, almost defiant of his overwhelming disaster—"I mortgaged this farm to get money to buy Mayberry and Morton's four thousand acres."

"The farm you was going to deed to Alan?" gasped his wife. "You didn't include that?"

"Not in that deal," groaned Bishop. "I swapped that to Phil Parsons for his poplar an' cypress belt."

Why is it that none of our boys or girls are trying to earn a gold watch. If this prize was offered by some American paper, which offered a cheap watch, every second boy or girl would be hustling, but in our case when a guaranteed watch of good value is offered, and where the watch can be seen on application, we have not had any tidings of boys or girls in Northumberland county who are working to secure one. In Gloucester we have several boys who are hustling. There are good chances for boys in Newcastle, Chatham, Douglastown, Millerton, Blackville, Nelson, Indiantown, Port Jervis or Port Jervis, as we are sure that with very little work any boy can secure from 10 to 20 subscribers, and any number from 10 up secure a watch. Send for sample copies and instructions which will be sent free on request.

Dental Notice.

Dr. Cates, Dentist, owing to the increased business at his home office will be obliged to visit the Newcastle branch office every three months beginning with September next 20th to 22nd, also DECEMBER, MARCH, JULY, and SEPTEMBER, at the same dates. I will make a DISCOUNT OF 20 PER CENT ON ALL DENTAL WORK. Send teeth $10.00 etc. Will pay patients to wait for first class dental work that has been tested and proven for the last twenty years on the Miramichi. Long experience and ample proofs warrant this statement. People value for their money and this opportunity will not be neglected by those who know as I do not feel like leaving my patients for whom I have worked for a long time. Above discount is made to pay in part for waiting until I can visit them which will be often enough to give teeth proper attention.

We look forward hopefully to a successful winter.

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meeting with the success the publishers deserve. Their pictures—"Heart Broken" and "Hard to Choose"—are beautiful, and their premium, colored map of Canada is up-to-date. It is the biggest dollar's worth in Canada today. The Family Herald is securing thousands of new subscribers by their generous gifts this year; in fact, few homes will be found without that great paper and beautiful premiums when one dollar secures so much.
