H. N. BOYER IS ELECTED MAYOR

Mr. Boyer Defeated Mr. McFarland in the Civic Elections Held on Monday.

The civic election which was held Monday resulted in the election of H. N. Boyer, merchant of this town, as mayor for the ensuing term. No nominations for councillors were filed on nomination day, consequently Mr. Lewis McFarland and Herbert N. Boyer were the contestants. On the whole the election was a very quiet one and no disorder was noticed till evening.

Both candidates issued manifestos to the electors late Saturday afternoon and thus placed before the people their platforms. In Mr. McFarland's statement, he assured the people that he would do his best to curb expenditure and take the town out of debt. He also promised to do his best to keep the local government from appointing a vendor in this town.

Mr. Boyer placed great stress on useless expenditure and emphatically stated that he would do all in his power to keep the expenditure within the limits of the budget and above all to place the finances of the town on a safe and stable basis which would ultimately tend to reduce taxes.

Both parties were at work early Monday morning and although the champions of both parties loudly proclaimed that their candidate would be elected, no one was certain until the official poll was given out shortly after four o'clock.

The official poll was as follows:
FOR MAYOR

Boyer	77
McFarland	55
Spoiled	3

Total votes cast ..... 135
The vote cast was a good indication of the interest aroused, for despite the coldness of the weather, the vote was a large one.

Mr. McFarland had been mayor of the town for two years and the fact that his opponent had never served the town in an official capacity tended to warm up the feeling of the populace.

NOTED ENGLISH LECTURER TO VISIT WOODSTOCK

John Lewis Paton, M. A., retiring high master of Manchester Grammar School has come to Canada at the invitation of the National Council of Education and will spend a year in the Dominion on work of a general educational nature.

Mr. Paton's career in the educational world of England has been unique, and among many great school masters, his work has been outstanding. He is a brilliant graduate of St. John's College, Cambridge, carrying off the Chancellor's medal for classics. As a teacher he has been singularly successful, beginning his career at Leys School, Cambridge, followed by ten years as a master at Rugby. Mr. Paton is best known, however, for his work as head master at Manchester Grammar School with which his name is now inseparably connected. Mr. Paton comes to Canada fresh from a great educational experience with unbounded energy and enthusiasm.

Mr. Paton will visit Woodstock under the auspices of Carleton Soldiers' Memorial Chapter Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The school board has kindly granted the use of the Assembly Hall in the Fisher Memorial School where the lecture will be given Tuesday evening, January 20, at 8 o'clock.

A silver collection will be taken to defray expenses.

APPRECIATION.

To my fellow citizens of Hartland, I wish to voice my appreciation of the hearty support my candidature for the mayoralty of our town received at your hands on Monday last.

The splendid majority that you obtained for me was indeed phenomenal and is duly appreciated by myself. However I wish to say that the office sought the man and I accept the position with mingled feelings and with some trepidation.

My sincere desire is to serve you and this desire, I believe, actuates each and every member of the council board.

I believe that I shall receive the hearty co-operation of the Council that this occasion demands, and that with our united efforts, we will be able to achieve the desired results.

Your humble servant,
H. N. BOYER.

AN APPRECIATION.

The following letter appeared in a recent issue of the St. John Telegraph-Journal:

"I noticed in a recent issue of your paper that there would be an investigation into the business methods of the following firms, i. e., Porter, Hatfield & Gallagher, as being a combination in restraint of trade.

I have been in the potato business for years, and have sold potatoes to both the Porter and Hatfield companies, and have found their business methods above reproach.

The firms mentioned were the first in the province to send direct shipments of potatoes from St. John to the Cuban market, and were successful in opening this market for Maritime stock, and credit is due them for their enterprise, if we had more combinations of this sort it would be a boon to the Maritime Provinces.

Thanking you for your courtesy in publishing this letter, I am
Yours truly,
S. S. HARRISON

G. W. V. A. DECIDE TO ORGANIZE

Local Veterans Held A Meeting Friday Evening and Elected Officers for 1925.

On Friday evening, January 9, the local war veterans held a meeting for re-organization purposes. This meeting was well attended and the decision to re-organize is meeting with the approval of the vast majority of returned men in this vicinity. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

President, W. A. MacDougal.
1st Vice-President, E. A. Brittain.
2nd Vice-President, E. A. Moore.
Secretary, W. P. Teddie.
Treasurer: P. C. Barter.

Executive Committee: J. R. Plummer, E. S. Taylor, Clarence Dunphy, W. B. Nixon, Guy McLaughlin.

There were about 21 men present and after the business had been transacted, they partook of a bountiful luncheon.

The meetings of the Association are to be held every month and the program of these meetings is going to be very interesting. The program for next month's meeting consists of a banquet, musical numbers and likely an address by a prominent member of the G. W. V. A. who will come to Hartland for this special purpose.

All returned men are cordially invited to join the re-organized association and partake of the benefits, social and otherwise; that may be obtained from such a membership.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWN OF HARTLAND

As you are aware, I was chosen by acclamation to fill the position of Mayor for the Town of Hartland for the last two years. This I endeavored to do conscientiously, and to the best of my ability. It is well known to the old council, as well as a number of my friends outside the council, that I did not intend to offer for a third term, but as there was no opposition to the 1924 aldermen, they pressed me to offer for another year, and stay with them. After a petition was circulated and signed by a number of the best-thinking citizens and with the earnest solicitation of the aldermen, I consented to again have my name put in for nomination. It afterwards developed that there was a contest for mayor, and as a result I was defeated. I want to thank all those who voted for me, the old council and all my friends who worked for me, and especially those who did personal work to get out the vote. I have none but good wishes for the new mayor, and hope that he and the old council will get along harmoniously and will accomplish all that it was our intention to do.

Yours respectfully,
(Signed) L. E. MCFARLAND.

"YOU HAVE TO GO SOME"

W. S. Abbott writes from Clementsport: "Kindly ship me my usual Christmas pudding. This is the eleventh year I have ordered from you. I notice from your advertisements that you have improved the quality of your plum pudding. All I have to say is that you certainly have to go some to improve it in my opinion."

It is the knowledge that Moirs products are so highly thought of by people with good taste that spurs on to even further triumphs.

Remarks of appreciation were made by the pastor, after which the com-

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed Stuck Together and Bled"

Mr. E. P. Kimball, Entwhistle, Alta., writes: "Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of six months her eyes could not be opened after sleep without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed, and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time Vicks acts as a counter-irritant, stimulating the skin, and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the inflammation.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

Calgary and Banff to Unite in Carnival

Banff. Immediately one conjures up visions of the Bow River, the Valley, sunny skies, warm days, summer dresses, ponies, excursions into the snow-capped mountains, swimming in the pools, hiking boots, breeches and bathing suits. There are a thousand pleasant memories of Banff in summer time. Comparatively few, however, have any idea of this mountain resort in winter. The thought at this season gives us a chilly feeling perhaps. Yet, after all, having leisure, what better place could be found in which to spend a long or short vacation after snow has fallen. Cold? Certainly no more so than down on the plains where what winds there are sweep uninterrupted.

Sheltered by the rocky slopes on practically all sides, high and with a drier atmosphere, the frost there gives an invigorating touch that stimulates life and activity where elsewhere the country sleeps through the winter. As Quebec is to the East, so, perhaps even to a greater degree, is Banff to the West. The home of Winter Sports.

Instead of going to sleep, the little town of Banff comes to life with the coming of snow. One event and community effort follows the other, and a long list of sporting activities culminates in February with a huge seven day carnival in which all citizens and hundreds of enthusiasts from all parts of the World, take part.

It will only be the case of a very few years until tourists arrange their trips to take in the Carnival at Banff as they now visit New Orleans in March for the Mardi Gras, or Pasadena for the Rose Tournament. Apart from the glorious scenery, it is a perfect Winter playground.

Preparations are even now under way for the next Winter Carnival. This, to be held from February 7th to 14th inclusive, is planned to be the greatest yet. Calgary enthusiasts have decided to cancel their own carnival arrangements and to unite with the Banff citizens to make it a success. A very comprehensive program of sports has already been drawn up covering events in curling, skating, snow-shoeing, ski running and jumping, ski-joring, tobogganning, trap-shooting, sleighing, and swimming in the hot sulphur pools. For none of these sports could the setting or the conveniences be excelled.

For the adventurous visitor Lake Minnewanka offers ice-yachting. Dog-sled races are a never failing source of interest. These races are often run down the main street, and, as in other sports, it is often a case of the best dog being beaten as a great deal of comedy is played. It often happens that an over anxious or jealous contestant grabs an opponent in any convenient place and in the ensuing mixup any old hound can waddle home an easy winner. But its all in the game, and the game at Banff is the out-door game—with dancing, cards or con-which each one plays a part in the evening.

Centreville, N. B., Jan. 13—A flashy sea story was shown on Wednesday night here. The main roles were taken by George Marion an old sea-dog, who blamed all his doings, both evil and good, on "the old devil, sea," as he called it, by Blanche Sweet, who played the part of his daughter, who was always just what her father supposed her not to be, and by William Russell, who played the roistering braggard, that many young men of the sea develop into. Other minor parts were also very well done. An educational reel of merit was shown, of animal life. On Saturday evening Francis X. Bushman and his wife, Beverly Bayne were shown in an excellent picture, Modern Marriage, an exposé of many of the unions consummated today. Action and interest was extra good throughout this film, a mysterious murder in the second reel, keeping the audience guessing who did it, until the concluding reel. A juvenile comedy was added to the programme for good measure. A summary of this week's programmes will be found on page 7.

Rev. H. R. Bell will preach on Sunday, January 18, at Centreville, 11 a. m. and 7.30 p. m.; Carvell 3 p. m. Many friends of Mrs. S. W. Burt, are glad to know that she made a

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF THE MAIL ORDER HOUSE

- Messrs. H. S. Smith, Limited, of Regina, Saskatchewan, have distributed a hanger among the retail trade in their territory. The wording for the hanger was supplied by Messrs. W. J. Hyde & Co. of Dalgonie, and is as follows:
1. You shall sell your farm produce for cash, where you can, for we buy nothing from you.
2. You shall believe in us because we do not know you personally.
3. You shall send your money to us in advance, so we can buy the goods from the factory with your money; you may have to wait a few weeks, but that is our business method.
4. You shall get help from your nearest City or Village to build good roads, so you may easily haul our goods from the depot but do not ask help from us—we don't help to build good roads.
5. You may buy Church Bells and Alter utensils from us, and send the money in advance—that's our rule.
6. You shall get all the help you can from the business men in your neighborhood, although we may have more profit from you than they have, it is against our rules to give to your churches.
7. You shall convert your neighbors also to your faith in us for we have room for more money.
8. You shall look at the pretty pictures in our catalogue as often as you can, so as to strengthen your desire for things you do not need, but which you may order with other goods to save freight. Send us all of your ready cash so that you have not have any left to buy necessities from your home dealers.
9. You shall believe us rather than your home business men, for we want your trade. We want to be millionaires on your support. Don't be bluffed.
10. You shall call on the business people of your own vicinity for help and credit if you meet with hard luck or sickness. It's your money we want; we don't know you unless your orders are accompanied by cash.

"THIS EMBARGO BUSINESS"

That's the heading a writer in the Boston Post gives an article on the potato embargo. This writer deals with the question in a very frank manner and makes bold to state that the American nation is a persistent user of the embargo tactics.

"The reason," he says, "that fine Malaga grapes were unobtainable in the American market the past holiday season was that the government had put an embargo on Malagas from Spain. Plant bulbs from France, England and Holland have likewise been excluded by the same process. Some years ago," reminds the writer, "the onion growers of Bermuda were totally ruined for a season by an embargo excluding Bermudian onions from the United States. The last time Canada had an abundant potato crop the American government imposed an embargo on their importation."

"Now," concludes the Boston Post article, "with our record how can we consistently protest when our favorite tactics are turned against us?"

Without a doubt this is a very fair-minded editorial, published in one of the foremost papers of the republic to the south of us. Can we take it as being indicative of general feeling? Why should we worry if it is or is not? Britain has done what she thinks right and in doing so has incidentally helped a small portion of Canada, namely The Maritimes. Too long has Canada been afraid of arousing the wrath and indignation of the U. S. Too long have we acted as stepping stones for the use of the money monarchs of the U. S. while stepping across the gap, to politely take from us our very necessities of life. Look at the way the Dominion Government has fondled and played with the pulpwood question. And all the time the American interests are making hundreds of thousands of dollars at the expense of the Forest Research costs us thousands of dollars on which we have to pay taxes and yet the American interests do not share these taxes with us. No, they sit in their gilded armchairs at home and let the poor Canadians cut the pulpwood, and ship it across to the American paper mill where the profit is made. The producer gets nothing. Barnum is right. He is alive or the condition of affairs in Canada. He knows what he is talking about. Let us wake up and let us become perhaps not "original" but at least "persistent users of embargo tactics" in order to keep at least a small part of what was once our heritage, the lumbering industry, for the betterment of ourselves and not for the glorification of the American lions of finance.

£10,000 Table Prop.

An old art dealer of Antwerp, on his way up six flights of stairs to examine some pictures, was offered a chair by a woman on the fourth floor, who noticed that he was out of breath.

While he rested on the chair he happened to glance into a room of the woman's house, and he saw a couple of chairs and a rickety table, under one leg of which was a book.

His practiced eye noticed immediately that the book was bound in parchment made from human skin.

The dealer obtained permission to examine it closely, and found that it was one of the three extant copies of an old Latin work for which he knew he could get a high price. The woman told him that she could neither read nor write, and that she had picked the book up because it was of "just the right thickness to keep her table steady."

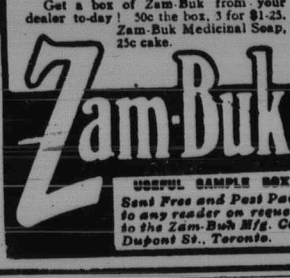

The dealer took the book, sold it to a collector, and rewarded the woman with £5,000—half the proceeds of the sale.

IN PRISON FOR DOING GOOD. One Hundred Years' War Against Cruelty.

The way of the reformer in the "good old days" was a hard one, and the centenary of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which has just been celebrated, is a reminder that all the thanks its founder got for his pains was to find himself in prison! says a writer in Tit-Bits.

Before 1822 cruelty to animals was not an illegal act, and anyone who dared to interfere with an inhuman owner was liable to find himself in trouble with the authorities! At that time only a few persons were interested in animals, and among them were Richard Martin, a member of Parliament, and a London vicar, the Rev. Arthur Broome.

Martin brought a bill before the Commons which afforded protection to animals, yet this did not go so far as the most ardent humanitarians desired; for the particularly cruel form of sport called bull-baiting was unaffected by the act.

It was in 1822 that this bill became law, and two years later the Rev. Arthur Broome, with the object of further pursuing his self-appointed task, resigned his living, and on June 16th, in a coffee-house in St. Martin's Lane, the R. S. P. C. A. came into being. But success was not won easily. Immediately the Society was started it was hedged round with difficulties. The idea that animals were entitled to decent treatment at the hands of men was made the subject of cheap jokes in and out of Parliament, and anyone who held such views was regarded as a madman. The magistrates themselves, responsible for the administration of the new law, declined to enforce it.

Anyone who tried to stop the playing of football to-day would not meet with more opposition than the Society found itself in financial difficulties had to encounter when it set out to stop bull-baiting, yet the total suppression of bull-baiting was one of the Society's earliest victories. Hardly, however, had this great step forward been achieved than the Society found itself in financial difficulties. The Rev. Arthur Broome, was flung into a debtors' prison because he could not pay the creditors of the growing organization.

The miracle of saving the Society from extinction was achieved by a girl sixteen years of age, who was afterwards to become Queen-Princess Victoria. She gave her patronage to the Society, and others followed with their support.

Slowly but surely the organization has grown. It began with one inspector, and in its first year secured the conviction of 149 persons for cruelty to animals. The Society now employs 203 inspectors and its convictions number over 4,000 a year, but the cautions given to offenders number over twenty thousand a year. There are nearly fourteen hundred branches and auxiliary branches.

The extent of the work of each inspector is remarkable. Not only does he keep a watch on animals traveling by train to markets and so on, but he also "goes the rounds" of the markets themselves. He is in attendance at race meetings, on Sundays, when bird-catchers are usually at work, he is as active as ever; while at times when he is not making visits in rural districts he is investigating reports of cruelty sent to him. Bird and animal dealers' shops also receive his attention; while if he goes to a music-hall it might be to investigate some performing animals act rather than for his own pleasure.

ENGLAND PLACES AN EMBARGO ON U. S. POTATOES

Reason for this Action is Possibility of Introduction of Colorado Potato Beetle in the British Isles—Growers and Shippers in Maine Want U. S. Gov't to Exert Efforts to Have Ban Raised.

New York, Jan. 2.—It looks as though Great Britain is giving us a little of our own medicine when it places an embargo on potatoes from the United States, which embargo stops shipments into England, Ireland, Scotland and the United Kingdom possessions. The cause for placing the embargo, according to a press dispatch, is that American potatoes are infected with disease, which the British people do not care to have spread through their countries.

About 20 years ago, the United States took a good many potatoes from England, Ireland, Scotland and Germany. The shipments of British potatoes into this country ran as high as 3,000,000 bags during the winter months. Then, the United States quarantined potatoes from the countries mentioned above. This was done because it was alleged that there was a scab on potatoes from those countries which would spread through the potato fields of the United States and ruin our crops. All these years, we have kept potatoes from the United Kingdom out of the United States.

About two months ago, the Maine potato Growers Exchange, together with a number of large independent growers and shippers of Maine, sent representatives over to England to investigate the reported shortage of potatoes. The report came back that England did not have enough potatoes and could not get enough potatoes to feed her people after February 1. What a wonderful chance for the States. It looked like a life saver. The United States, with a big crop at last could see daylight, and its growers looked to the other side for help.

Perhaps 25 or 30 cars have gone over and they are selling at profitable prices. Those were merely samples. Well, Britain is now in the driver's seat.

Boston, Jan. 2.—The pros and cons about the British embargo on American potatoes or more specifically speaking, Maine potatoes are at it strong here this week. The daily newspapers fairly reek with the recent embargo, why it should not have been, what it portends, etc., but the Maine potato grower is not helped any by the discussion and the market price is unchanged. Perhaps, however, all the advertising may help.

Whitings column in the Boston Herald last Monday devoted its entire length to Maine taters, the way to eat 'em and why, the wisdom right now of combining potatoes with patriotism to help out Maine's surplus. The pros here have it that England knows its business and is helping its colony, New Brunswick; that the Colorado beetle idea is only a hoax; the quarantine was designed to help New Brunswick; also why if there are Colorado beetles in Maine are they not in New Brunswick, also, as only a river separates the two northernmost sections.

The latest news from Washington D. C. which represents that the authorities there are trying to get representatives of eight European countries to buy Maine potatoes is treated as a joke here. It is well known that there is no potato famine in Ireland. The E. L. Cleveland Company at Houlton received an official cablegram this week showing that Ireland has an ample crop of its own and to spare. Conservative Maine operators here have felt that there was little in the Maine export idea to which one might attach any great significance.

New York, Jan. 2.—A wire received Wednesday from Fort Fairfield, Me., said that the potato embargo was being lifted by England, put out under authority of Senator Hale. The statement cannot be verified at this writing.

A cable received here on Monday states that the report that the British embargo against American potatoes is lifted, is not correct. It has not been lifted nor is it going to be, states the cablegram to potato dealers here.

GOULD'S IDEA OF ENGLISHMEN.

Just what testimony Mr. L. S. Bean who is now on his way back from England will give in regard to his experience in doing business with Mr. John Bull on the subject of Aroostook spuds, we will not know until Mr. Bean arrives home. But A. R. Gould hazards a guess that Mr. Bean, who is a typical Yankee, prompt, snappy and off-hand in his business habits, will have an entirely new and novel experience on this trip, and one that will be in remarkable contrast to what he has been accustomed to here at home.

Mr. Gould, who knows them well, says that the typical English business man never does anything in a hurry. When he is approached by a stranger with a new proposition, it is by no means an easy job even to get an interview with him, and if he is a business man of any considerable bigness, when this has been accomplished, he barricades himself behind all direct and immediate consideration of the business in hand. These delays often in the shape of a resort to invitations to lunches and golf and cricket, sometimes consume days, which sturd Mr. John Bull opportunely to find the party seeking to do business with him from every angle, and after he has his man thoroughly studied, he proceeds to consider the business the man has to propose with the same deliberation.

Mr. Gould opines that the question of landing potatoes in England from far-off Aroostook, Maine, U. S. A., will run up against vexations, delays resulting from the novelty of the idea and the slowness, caution and deliberation with which everything is done in England, and also the extra handicap of a possible jealous preference for Canada, who may urge upon their English business connections her prior claim to consideration in the premises.

Mr. Gould is in agreement with the commonly accepted idea that with John Bull's slowness and deliberation there are many solid qualities such as a pretty sure information and well-matured judgment when he begins to act, and a characteristic tenacity of purpose and bulldog grit in carrying a thing into execution. But those qualities may not possibly fit into the present emergency which confronts Aroostook, of getting rid of a few shiploads of her surplus potatoes.

Mr. Gould thinks that inasmuch as Mr. John Bull does nothing on the jump or by halves, that the enterprise is likely to succeed on a pretty large scale or fall through. In other words, England will either take hold of the bait and swallow it hook, line and sinker, or she will not touch it at all, as according to the experience of fishermen, is the habit of big fish, either in the water or in a business pool.

Since the foregoing was written it is understood that word has been received that England has placed an embargo which will prevent any further importations in to that country of American potatoes. The general supposition is that this action has been taken in compliance with the protest filed by Canada with the British Government against being subjected to American competition in the matter of potato importation into England.—Presque Isle Star-Herald.

A recent survey of prospective expansion among the mines of Northern Ontario shows that many millions of dollars will be spent on mills and mill supplies in 1926. According to this survey, mill expenditures totalling $7,350,000 are contemplated.

Hunters patronising territories in the Algoma district of the Canadian Pacific Railway had a very successful season in 1924, according to a report recently issued. Moose numbering 173, deer numbering 2,183 and approximately 7,050 partridge were secured and the number of hunters ran into several thousand. The figures quoted include those for Kipawa, Temiskaming, Mattawa, Sturgeon Falls, Pakesley, Sault Ste. Marie, Chapleau, Sudbury, Schreiber and Nipigon, all exceptionally good game areas.

More Christmas trees were shipped from Nova Scotia for the 1924 festive season than ever before, according to figures just compiled. Twenty-two car-loads from territory bordering the Dominion Atlantic Railway alone were shipped to outside points and approximately 150 car-loads left the province generally.

A splendid season of winter sports is expected at Quebec this year, as more and more people are becoming interested in these healthy recreations in Canada and the United States. In connection with the activities of the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific's great hotel in the Ancient Capital, a number of new features will add to the attractions Quebec has to offer. These include inter-club, inter-collegiate and international competitions in all winter sports, to be held under the auspices of the recently formed Frontenac Winter Sports Club, which will award the successful participants with trophies of various kinds and attractive gold, silver and bronze medals.

The names of the winners of the David prizes for literature, awarded to the writers of the best French and English books entered in the competition for these prizes, have just been announced by the committee of judges. In the French section the first prize, $1,500, went to Abbe Camille Roy for his book "A l'Honneur des Erables," while in the English section Marjorie Grant Cook won first prize with her book "Another Way of Love."

The most successful year enjoyed by the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamship Service in freight shipments since 1913 is reported by Mr. Duff, manager of that service, for the season lately closed. The whole fleet of package freighters for the first time since the outbreak of the Great War, has been constantly employed during the seven months in which the lakes are open. A feature was the very large increase in the export flour business, some 75 per cent of the 300,000 tons of flour carried eastward by the service having been destined for export. October was a particularly good month, the ships having transported in that month 58,000 tons of eastward bound milled stuffs and grain alone.

KEEP THE WORK FOR CANADIANS

In the eleven months ending with November, Canada's exports of pulpwood totaled 1,807,777 cords of which the value is $12,886,132, remarks the Toronto Mail and Empire in a recent issue. The finished product into which this Canadian raw material is to be made is paper, mostly newsprint. The turning of the wood into paper will cost about seven times the price paid for it in Canada. That is to say, the processes of manufacture to which this Canadian pulpwood is to be subjected in the United States will add about $90,000,000 to its value. Why is the benefit of this wealth-producing industry lost to Canada? To convert the $12,000,000 worth of Canadian pulpwood into $90,000,000 worth of paper, it is not necessary to send the raw material into the United States. We have pulp mills and paper mills in Canada. In the past eleven months their output of paper in one form or another amounted to about the same sum as the American product of the exported pulpwood will amount to, that is, $90,000,000. Why favor the United States mills and United States wage earners when we have industries of our own to sustain? Naturally the United States prefers to buy pulpwood from us as far as possible, rather than paper. It is thereby enabled to give employment at home and to spread millions in wages among its own workers. If Canada kept its pulpwood for its own mills, our neighbor would have to buy twice as much paper from us as it now buys, and our own workers and our own business circles would receive the benefit of the additional money distributed in wages on that account. We must conserve our pulpwood resources for the benefit of our own expanding paper industry. If we do not, the spruce forests of the country will cease to be the support of any industry and our condition as a pulp and paper manufacturing country will become as precarious as is that of the United States.

COMMERCIAL FAILURES IN CANADA LAST YEAR

(From R. G. Dun & Co's. Trade Report.)
 Unlike the statistics for the United States, the Canadian returns for last year show reductions in both number and liabilities of commercial failures, according to the records of R. G. Dun & Co. The numerical decrease reached nearly 24 per cent, but the falling off in the indebtedness was only 2 per cent. Numbering 2,474, and involving $64,530,975, the Canadian defaults compare with 3,247 for $65,810,382 in 1923, and with 3,695 failures for $78,068,959 in 1922. There were fewer defaults last year than in 1923, in manufacturing, trading and other commercial occupations, but only among traders was the indebtedness less than that of the earlier period.
 Geographical analysis of the Canadian statement shows that a smaller number of failures occurred in all of the ten provinces included in the record, although there was a decrease of only one default in New Brunswick. Only 5 failures were reported for Prince Edward Island, against 20 in 1923, while the reductions elsewhere ranged from 21 in Newfoundland to 285 in Quebec. In point of indebtedness, Ontario and New Brunswick alone had larger totals, but the increase of more than $16,000,000 in Ontario practically offset the decreases elsewhere, the largest of which was $9,000,000 in Quebec. The liabilities in Ontario in 1924 of $30,403,976 compare with $14,174,683, the year previous. In 1924 there was $22,302,112, of manufacturing concerns. In 1923 the liabilities for Quebec amounted to $30,969,750 and of this amount $17,481,324 was of manufacturing defaults. Last year Quebec reported $21,581,846 of indebtedness.
 The Canadian figures for two years are compared below:

Province	1924	1923	1924
Ontario	817	844	$30,403,976
Quebec	886	1,171	21,581,846
British Columbia	114	162	2,482,121
Nova Scotia	70	146	840,500
Newfoundland	29	50	1,295,800
Manitoba	262	382	4,637,323
New Brunswick	54	55	757,927
Prince Edward Island	5	20	172,500
Alberta	92	165	1,335,200
Saskatchewan	145	232	1,154,528
Canada	2,474	3,247	$64,530,975

LETTER FROM JACK KNIGHT

Following is a letter from Jack Knight written to his family describing his sea trip. Jack has been following life on the ocean wave for several months and is a very enthusiastic seaman. Jack was at one time an employee in The Observer office.
 Aboard S. S. Vistula
 December 22, '24.
 Dear Sister Pat and all—
 In answer to your letter, I hope you are all well. As I gave Mum about all the news I will tell you a little about our trip. We left San Pedro, the 13th of October, sailed south 30 d. east, crossed equator on Wed. 22nd of Oct. in Longitude 104 d. We had fine weather until we got into latitude 5 d. south of equator then we had very rainy and rough weather until we got south of 50 d. latitude.
 It is usually very rough around the Cape Horn, but we had fairly good weather. We rounded the horn on Sunday, the 9th of November in latitude 56 and we were in sight of land. There was a good deal of snow on the hills, so the air was pretty cold. From Cape Horn to Montevideo, that's a port on the south coast of Uruguay we had fine weather. We saw many whale and flying fish, also cape pigeons, (a bird), albatross, a bird with between 4 and 6 feet wing spread. It is no trouble to catch one, but impossible to keep it alive. The London Zoo will pay $2,000 for one that will live in captivity. Four miles at sea from Montevideo, we took on a pilot, as there are many difficult channels from there into Buenos Aires (Good air). At Buenos Aires we dropped anchor Friday night, and two very small ships came alongside and took off 6,000 barrels of oil (we carry 104,000 bbls.). Tell mum we steaked aboard and took communion. Just a little above Buenos Aires we entered the Parana River early Sunday morning, arriving at Campana, November 17. It was a wonderful run up the river. The banks were thick with trees and shrubby and once in a while native huts would be seen. The river curves very much. In Campana can be found nearly every nationality; plenty of Russians. Well we left the next day and until we got to Cape St. Roque Brazil we were in sight of land quite often. We passed Rio De Janeiro (river of January) at night and could see the lights of the city very plainly. We crossed the equator in long. 40 d. and saw Trinidad Island and many others in that locality. Perhaps you remember Trinidad Island, it was where Robinson Crusoe was stranded and found his man Friday. We saw Jamaica far off, also the Peninsula of Yucatan, (Mexico).
 We arrived at Tampico on December 12, and stayed anchored in the stream for a day, but I went ashore just the same, and after we had taken some oil at the dock, we anchored in the bay two days, then we went south to Puerto (Port) Lobos and finished loading. Now we are near the Key West, F.
 Well we got in today. It is very cold here. I had plenty of mail. Am in a hurry but will write again before we go. Love to all
 Your loving brother,
 JACK.

A Big Job in Housekeeping for Globe Circumnavigators.

BOOT-BLACKING and polishing as a steady diet is to most people more objectionable than dishwashing. Yet there are some who take a pride and pleasure in this occupation and actually shine in it. A little blacking goes a long way and gives a high polish, but knowing even this, the bootblack on the Empress of France, now stocking up for the round-the-world cruise she will commence on leaving New York January 15th did not quail when he saw a hundred-weight of boot polish being run up the gang plank for him. As a matter of fact he beamed. Each task is but a means to an end and although he may be called upon to see that many square miles of shoes are shined, he will have an opportunity of wiping the dust of many lands from them, and seeing something of these lands beside. His office was sought after, as were all others on the ship.
 But dealing with huge figures, one would think that at least the chefs on this giant Canadian Pacific Steamship would be to some extent awed by what is before them. Think, Madame Housewife, of having to prepare 185,000 pounds of vegetables, of having to roast 55,000 pounds of beef, 37,000 pounds of lamb, 27,200 pounds of other fresh meats and 2,750 pounds of sausages. Would it not tend to take some of the joy out of a four month cruise? Yet this is the task of the stewards' department of the cruising Empress. Supposing that with the necessary assistance you had to prepare 12,000 pounds of chickens, 7,000 of capons, 4,000 of ducklings, 2,000 of goslings, 8,000 of turkeys, 2,300 of guinea fowl, pigeons, quail, etc., and innumerable game fowl for the table en route; would you be so keen on your trip?

 All joking apart, the unattached young ladies who figure on the passenger list will be thrilled to know that the aggregate weight of the nuts aboard totals 1600 pounds, and the unattached young men will be equally pleased to learn that on all the ship there are only 40 cases of lemons. But the little boys! It will indeed go hard with them. For some hard hearted purchasing agent, with no little boys of his own, has ordered 16,650 tablets of toilet soap, 17,700 pounds of soft soap, 55 gallons of liquid salt water soap, and two tons of scouring soap, and soap powder! He thinks that 6,000 Polar Bars and Esquimaux Pies are going to compensate for all this!
 It seems that Dad has been looked after very well. Canadian Pacific cruise officers tell us that for the round-the-world trip of the Empress of France, some 59,170 bottles of various shapes and sizes have been taken aboard, and in addition 54,700 bottles of mineral waters.
 A few other outstanding figures in connection with the four months supplies for the 450 or 500 passengers are as follows: 750 cases of Canadian apples, 250 cases of grape fruit, 36 barrels of grapes, 500 pounds of dates, 890 lobsters and crabs, 20,000 pounds of fresh fish, 3,864 pounds of coffee, 30,150 pounds of sugar, 2,280 of tea, 250 gallons of olive, 5,600 pounds of salt, 1,780 bottles of sauce, 120,000 pounds of flour, 10,000 pounds of butter, 22,350 pounds of bacon and hams, 50,000 drinking straws, 43,000 menu cards—and so on. Fresh fruits, vegetables, fish, milk and eggs will be purchased in considerable quantities to meet requirements as the cruise progresses. Fifteen thousand, four hundred tons of fuel oil will be used by the cruising steamer.

A Quick Relief for Headache
 A headache is frequently caused by badly digested food; the gases and acids resulting therefrom are absorbed by the blood which in turn irritates the nerves and causes painful symptoms called headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Syrup will correct faulty digestion and afford relief.

BIG DEMAND FOR HYDRO POWER

All Power Produced by the Niagara Falls Power Company is Absorbed.

Niagar Falls, Jan. 12—No further hydro power from Niagara Falls will be available for western New York until the treaty for diversion of water is enlarged, according to President Paul A. Schoellkopf, of the Niagara Falls Power Co., who stated Saturday that all the power his company produce is now in use and that the power produced by the Canadian Niagara Falls Power Company, a subsidiary of this company on this side of the river, is all absorbed.

Of course this does not mean that additional power requirements cannot be met by steam operated electric power plants, added Mr. Schoellkopf, but under the present conditions, it will not be obtainable from hydro electric sources, either publicly or privately owned.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steadily all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F. J. WASSMANN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know. Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 96 per cent replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

SHIPS WRECKED BY WHALES.

Disastrous Encounters With Ocean Monsters.

To be wrecked by collision with a whale is surely the most fantastic form of accident at sea — yet instances of it are by no means scarce.

The most disastrous of such shipwrecks was that of the whaler Essex in the Pacific Ocean. Two thousand miles from land a huge sperm whale rose to the surface immediately in front of the ship's bows. To avert collision was impossible, and the resulting shock was so great that the masts nearly went overboard.

Had this been the end of the affair, little harm would have been done. But the whale's resentment had been aroused. Making off at great speed, it turned and deliberately rammed the vessel.

Its terrific weight and impetus completely breached the ship's side, and she began to sink. Her crew had scarcely time to provision and man their boats before she lifted her bows in the air and went down by the stern. Only one boat was able to reach safety; the others have never been heard of since.

Some years ago the pilot-boat Bonita, of San Francisco, was sunk in collision with a whale while cruising off the mouth of the famous bay on which the city stands.

In this case the whale is believed to have struck the vessel by accident, but as was travelling at great speed the result was the same as if the charge had been deliberate. The shock of the collision threw every man on board to the deck with such violence that more than one was stunned. But the whale seemed to have suffered almost as badly as the ship. At first it lay motionless alongside, but at length, showing signs of returning animation, began to thrash the water violently.

Meanwhile the pilot boat was slowly sinking. There was, however, ample time for the crew to make their escape. When they finally cast off from the doomed vessel, the cause of the trouble was seen making off apparently uninjured.

A few days later a whale, believed to be the same one, collided with a large steamer in San Francisco Bay. This time no more than a slight shock was felt, but the monster received some injury, for blood was seen to be mingled with the foam.

In 1900 another vessel from the same port collided with a whale. The ship itself received no damage, but the whale sustained a mortal wound. A gash as long as the height of several tall men was inflicted by the ship's cut-water.

The whale was washed ashore and hauled beyond high-water mark. It proved to be seventy feet in length and weighed many tons, giving rise to much surprise at the ship's complete escape from injury.

It has been suggested that whales which charge or jostle ships do so under the impression that the vessel is another whale. Thus there are cases of whales having persistently followed a yacht or small vessel, occasionally rubbing against its side, and even shouldering it out of the water, bringing it dangerously near to capsizing.

Ants That Eat Forests.

There is a large part of Northern Australia where wooden houses never last long, for if they are built they are eaten. The whole of the woodwork is chewed to pulp from inside by white ants, and the house becomes a mere shell, with walls no thicker than paper. When a storm comes it falls flat.

Nothing short of sheet iron is safe from these pests. Furniture, rafters, floor boards, door posts—the ants eat them all. The white ant, which is not really an ant at all, but a termite, is the most terrible of insect plagues.

It lives in hills the size of which compared with the proportions of the insect itself is simply staggering. Fifteen to eighteen feet is the average height. But some tower to twenty-five or even thirty feet! Could man build on a proportionate scale, the houses in London would tower to the height of Ben Nevis.

These hills are usually irregular cones with odd little penneaux, but there is one sort of termite, called the "meridional," which builds hills about five times as long as they are wide. The most extraordinary point about these strange dwellings is that the opposite ends point with perfect precision to the magnetic poles.

To-day there are hundreds of square miles of country dotted all over with these hills. Each hill marks the spots where a tree once grew, a tree now eaten away to its very roots, for the termite, not content with the destruction it works above ground, will burrow sixty feet down into the earth in search of moisture.

A Royal Corporal.

Monarchs frequently wear the uniforms of foreign nations, but King Alfonso who has held the rank of corporal in the irregular forces of another country.

Corporal, however, is the highest rank in the Italian Fascisti, of his connection with which King Alfonso is exceedingly proud.

When dressed in his Fascisti uniform, the King of Spain wears a tunic of green-grey, open at the throat to show the black shirt. His headgear is a black fez, with, embroidered upon it, a large red eagle.

Naughtiest of Small Boys. Miss Eva Moore, in her entertaining volume, "Exits and Entrances," relates how in her youth she gave dancing lessons in Brighton. She says: "It was there that I taught a small, red-headed boy to do 'One, two, three—right; one, two, three—left.' He was the naughtiest small boy in the class; I used to think sometimes he must be the naughtiest small boy in the world. His name was Winston Churchill."

"Miss Bessie E. Budd, Matron, L. P. Fisher Carleton County Memorial Hospital, Woodstock, New Brunswick:

"Dear Miss Budd:

"The members of the medical profession practicing in the L. P. Fisher Carleton County Memorial Hospital have heard with regret of your resignation and of your refusal to reconsider it. We feel that you have done a great deal toward the increased efficiency of the institution, to say nothing of your efforts on behalf of the improvements in its appearance both from within, as well as from without.

"You have shown yourself courteous, capable and kind, and in an emergency such as the regrettable fire which occurred in the institution less than a year ago, the coolness and judgment displayed by you was an example which steadied and held up your staff and called forth many expressions of praise from the citizens who were present and remarked it.

"We, therefore, ask you to accept this small token of our esteem and trust that, wherever you go, your efforts will be crowned with success."

The members of the Ladies' Hospital Aid met at the home of Mrs. T. M. Jones, St. John street, Friday evening and presented Miss Budd, $50 in gold. A social evening was enjoyed and refreshments served at the close.

Large and Small Lamps.

The smallest electric lamp in the world is about 1/4 candle-power. It is 1/4 inch in diameter (about the size of a grain of wheat), and was designed for use in hospitals and by doctors. A lamp of this type was recently used by a doctor in Philadelphia when he withdrew a tack from the lung of an eight-months-old baby.

The bulb is inserted at the end of a silver tube about the size of an ordinary lead pencil, which in this case was inserted down the child's throat, and gave enough light for the doctor to locate the tack.

The largest incandescent lamp in the world is about 100,000 candle-power. The bulb is 12 inches in diameter and 18 1/2 inches high. It is 1,200 times larger than the ordinary household lamp. The light from it is equal to the combined light from 2,400 electric lamps of the size commonly used in the home.

Prickly Pear Pest.

Vast areas in Queensland and New South Wales are being overrun by prickly pears, and the authorities there are seriously alarmed.

This pestilent cactus was introduced into Queensland some years ago by an American girl, who brought a cutting from California to remind her of her old home.

To-day, in some districts, one can ride for hundreds and hundreds of miles through pear without seeing a break in the dense growth, and no one will hold land upon any terms in the true pear country. The plant is wonderfully prolific, and to eradicate it appears to be impossible.
