Come down! those shadowed sands invite. And all that soft glory on the deep; We breathe an atmosphere of light Subtle as dew and calm as sleep.

See here and there beyond the foam, A sail is shining like a gem; I think the boats are coming home; We'll linger down and look at them.

Not yet; the tide is shy, and stays By this grey limit of our pier ; It doubts, it trembles, it delays, Yet all the while is stealing near.

Watching for the Tide.

The boats and we must wait its will : Oh, pleasant patience! they to make (While we behold them and lie still) A hundred pictures for our sake.

Can flutter through the changing air, Or mould the cloud, or touch the blue, That is not meant for them to wear.

And as they watch the glimmering sand That warms the film with the foam, They know the certain wave at hand-The tender wave that lifts them home

It comes-they pass-each turning sail Is first a hope and then a bliss : Come back, and dream a fairy tale That hath a close as sweet as this.
