"Mr. Foreman, and Gentlemen,-During six days we have listened to a painful recital of one of the saddest tragedies ever presented to a jury. A beautiful girl, just budding into womanhood was shot down and her brother has been accused of the crime. The government has endeavored to prove that the girl was not shot by burglars; it has endeavored to ex-clude all other members of the family from the affair, and tried to prove that the shot was fired by her brother, Robert S. Fosburg. "The trial has proceeded somewhat tried with great pains on the part of the government and the defense. There introduced and admitted without objection, which might have been cluded under the strict rule of the law. I think I ought also to say to you that it is due to the chief of police, who has stood behind this prosecution, that, in the view of the court he has tried to do his duty with the single eye to ascertaining the truth. Now, Mr. Foreman and Gentlemen, a motion has been made that this case be taken from the jury, and it becomes my duty to say to you, that in the opinion of the court the government has not furnished proof sufficient to sustain a verdict of guilty against the defendant, and, therefore, under the direction of the court in the indictment of Robert S. Fosburg for killing his sister, you will return a verdict of

Prospects of a Settlement of the 'Longshoremen's Difficulties Are Bright.

Cleveland, July 26 .- President Keef of the International Longshoremen's Association, who spent several days here trying to settle the trouble between the line agents and the package freight handlers, which has been on since the opening of navigation, left for Buffalo last night. Although neither the line agents nor the officials of the Longshoremen's Associa-tion will discuss the matter, it was learned on pretty good authority that the trouble on all the docks except the Anchor Line will be settled in a few days. The line agents are now paying the rate of wages demanded by the longshoremen, and it is said that an agreement on all other matters has practically been made. The fight has been on at Erie for the past year between the Anchor Line and the Longshoremen's Association and is the only thing that prevents a settlement with the Anchor Line at this

BRITISH COLUMBIA LEGISLATION

The cabinet will shortly take action (possibly tomorrow) in regard to two bills passed by the British Columbia Legislature. These measures are named respectively "An act to regulate immigration into British Columbia" granted by private acts." From the title of the bills they would seem to be very simple and unobjectionable measures, but there is a provision in each to which the imperial government and its ally, the Japanese government, take strong objection. The bill relating to immigration applies an educational test to immigrants coming from the test to immigrants coming from the Orient. It is not exactly the Natal law, but something very much like it, and the operation of this act would exclude both Chinese and Japanese of the coolie class from British Columbia. Mr. Shimizn, the Japanese consul on the Pacific coast, has addressed some polite, but firmly-worded remonstrances to the Dominion government respecting the law, and the Japanese government has also protested to the British foreign office, through the usual diplomatic channels. The retention of the law in the statute book would give grave offence to Japan, and seriously interfere with the amicable understanding which prevails between the government of that country and the imperial auth-

Tariff Terms With Germany-Race Question at Ottawa-Many Families Homeless.

Toronto, July 26 .- The board of trade has decided to throw its influence in with the grain men who are trying to secure the low tariff terms in the German market. Yesterday a resolution was passed by the council of the board deploring 'the continued discrimination of Germany against this country, and begging re spectfully to remind Sir Wilfrid Laurier of the resolution of the board as presented to him personally on the 11th of December last, in responding to which he expressed his approval of said resolution, and gave the assurance that the government would do what they could in the matter. This council would strongly urge upon the government of Canada that every possible effort be made to secure a renewal of the conditions in so far as they relate to Canadian wheat obtained The Cabinet Refuses to Interfere Mis Forces Driven Off By Plucky in the treaty previously existing between Great Britain and Germany." > THE RACE QUESTION. Ottawa. July 26.-The race question was raised in the Ottawa Typographical Union recently, and as a result of an election yesterday of delegates to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, three English-speaking members were elected over two French-speaking members. The race cry was first introduced after P. M. Draper criticised Vicar-General Routhier for some alleged utterances against strikers. The local French newspaper called Draper a Protestant, and said he was anti-French. The French and English divided, and each ran a ticket, with the result that the English won. MANY FAMILIES HOMELESS. MANY FAMILIES HOMELESS.

Toronto, July 26.—Mr. Southworth, director of colonization, who is back from the scene of the Temiscaming forest fires, says 114 families of settlers lost their homes, and most of them all they possessed. THE NATURAL GAS QUESTION. Toronto, July 26.—Three months ago the Ontario government notified the United Gas and Oil Company that the exportation of natural gas to the United States from Essex would have to cease from July 25. But there is no fear that this will actually happen. The government and the company interested have talked and the company interested have talked the matter over many times since the house adjourned. The company have raised some legal objections to the cancellation of their lease, and the government has decided to wait for a time before definitely settling the matter. W. C. BROOKLYN BRIDGE IN GREAT DANGER

Several Girders Discovered Broken and Traffic Had To Be Stopped.

New York, July 26.-No attempt was made yesterday to resume a full service on the Brooklyn Bridge, on which several girders were found to be broken yesterday. A ten-car service was permitted by the police early yester-day, but it could handle but a small percentage of the traffic, and the majority of the persons who live in Brooklyn and come to New York for business were obliged to walk across the bridge or cross the river on one of the ferry lines. Engineers examined the bridge carefully yesterday, and it is expected that full repairs will be made in a day or two. About noon an order was issued stopping all street car and vehicle traffic on the bridge. This caused much inconvenience and delay to business, as the ferries were unable to carry all the wagons and carriages which usually cross the bridge. A statement was issued by a representative of the Roeblings to the much more weight than had ever been put upon them, but that there was doubt as to whether the roadway supoperation of the great number of trol-ley cars and elevated trains.

SCHOOLBOY HUMOR

Humorous Answers Given to Examination Questions.

To the majority of people, perhaps, a schoolmaster's life appears monotonous and uneventful; but to one who is apt to look upon the humorous side of says I am an ass in school and have no things this is far from being the fact. branes to get a livin in bizness.' Most boys are careless, irresponsible creatures, certainly; but there is a fund of genuine, unadulterated humor in the average boy. A schoolmaster of 15 years' standing writes: "I have corrected, I might say, a few thousand piece called Macdoogul. In Shakesexamination papers in my time. Some of pere's time some of the plaze was the answers to questions set are wonderfully funny and original-unconsciously funny." The following are spe-

An essay on Mr. Gladstone by a boy of 11 states: "Mr. Gladstone lovd everybody, he lovd publicuns and cinners and irishmen, he wanted the irish to but Mr. Chamberlain says, no, no. so alars he got his blud up and killd Mr. rispect and is burrid in Westminster with pieceful ashes."

Rather ambiguous is this description of Queen Elizabeth by another boy: 'Queen Elizabeth was a vurgin queen and she was never marrid. she was so fond of dresses that she was never seen without one on, she was beautefull and clever with a red hed and freckles." The boy writer of the following is decidedly backward in his Tennyson. Concerning the late poet laureate, he writes: "Tenyson wrote buteifull with long hair and studid so much sed mother will you call me airly dear? his most gratist poim is called the idle king, he was made a lord but he was a good man and wrote many roads. he luvd our dear Queen so much that he made a poim to her called the fairy Queen.

Another boy wishes to become an editor. In an essay on "The Choice of a Profession" he gives his reasons in these words—"A editur is always a happy man because he can read luvly tales and artikels all day and pages of sweet luv poems, a good editur has branes but it must be very sad for him having to read melankolle stories of luv as to make him almost weep with tears from his eyes. THE NIMBUS IN ART. The nimbus was adopted as a religious symbol by the early Christians, and examples of it exist in the Roman catacombs which are attributed to the sixth century. In ancient illuminations, the wall paintings and the stain ed glass of old churches, heads of arch. angels, evangelists, apostles, saints and martyrs are usually encircled by a ring of brilliant color, assuming th appearance of light, which is presumed to signify that as accepted servants of the Almighty they have been honored with this especial mark of his favor. Circles of light are never placed on the heads of persons alive at the time of the representation being made, however holy or powerful they may have been, but there are a few exam ples of men remaining with the reputation of great sanctity who were pictured thus when still in life with glory of square form .- London Archi-

THE CENSOR VERSUS THE NEWSPAPERS

Writers Revolt Against Gen. Blue Pencil.

The Censorship Said To Be "A Bungle and a Blunder."

"It Savors Somewhat of Russia; Nay It Is Krugerian," Says Mr. Edgar Wallace.

London, July 26 .- War correspondents in South Africa have united in censorship. Mr. Bennett Burleigh de- Boy Who Distinguished Himself a belated revolt against the military scribes the censorship as a "bungle and a blunder." and declares that the sooner the whole matter of unofficial correspondence is on a definite basis, conformable to free institutions, the better it will be for everybody. Edgar Wallace asserts that there is nothing in the military position to justify maintenance of censorship, and that it is creating a bad precedent, since the only service it can render is a political one, savoring "somewhat of Russia; nay, it is Krugerian."

The following regulation enables any censor to reject or condense every dispatch submitted: "In future the length of correspondents' wires will be in proportion to the importance of the news contained therein." The correspondents consequently are unable to ustify by cable work the expenses of their services. The country, heavily taxed for a costly war, does not know what is going on, and is forced to be content with casualty lists and Lord Kitchener's inventories of Boers killed, wounded and surrendered.

London journals were warned in advance that their correspondents would not be left at liberty to write and to go as they pleased, and were asked to adopt practical measures for reducing the number of men in service and for relieving the wires from the pressure of newspaper work. These warnings were fruitless and scores of correspondents were sent to South Africa. With the wires clogged with routine messages for the great army, press dispatches were neglected, held back, condensed and mutilated.

It is not easy to understand what are the political motives for the paign in Natal suppression of news from the seat of war. Some incidents suppressed would bear heavily against advocates of the Dutch cause. Vlakfontein atrocities, if fully confirmed in detail, would tend to alienate sympathy for Boers. The fact that the horrible shooting of the wounded has been left to come out little by little by soldiers' letters home, excites suspicion that there may have been drastic measures on the British side in establishing concentration camps.

New Century Ideas.

The Toronto Exhibition, to be held from Aug. 26 to Sept. 7, announces that its principal characteristic will be the adoption of New Century Ideas. The phase might be considered a bit indefinite but for the fact that contemporaneously the statement is made that there will be daily and nightly displays of all the new weapons of war as well as recent developments in the arts of peace. The pom-pom will be on view, wireless telegraphy will be shown in practical use off the shore to passing vessels, magnificent displays of illumination effects will be made, recently announced developments in electricity will be shown, demonstrations will be made in the culof the sugar beet, modern methods of rescuing at sea will be illustrated, maneuvers with latterday artillery will take place, in fact the military will be very much in evidence in all its branches, while the handy-man and the marines will also be used largely in the off-shore operations and the brilliant nightly spectacle, the Bombardment of the Taku Forts by international forces. An International Military Tattoo will be the feature of the opening night. when a large body of troops will be utilized. A strong exhibit of French-Canadian cattle, as well as of Pan-American live stock, is to be made. In fact, in the live stock, dairy products and manufactures, Toronto Exhibition never promised so well as this year. Greatly reduced rates on the railways and steamboats have been arranged for, and no better time for visiting both Toronto and the Panbe desired than between Aug. 26 and T. A., London.

Sept. 7. When it is stated that this year Toronto will distribute upwards of $35,000 in premiums and spend $30,000 in special attractions, all of which can be seen from the grand stand for 25c, the magnitude of Canada's greatest exhibition will be appreciated.

BUGLER DUNN WAS INJURED

at Colenso.

His Horse Stumbled and Fell on Him, Breaking His Leg-An Officer Wounded.

Cape Town, July 25 .- While practicing at the Greenpoint camp yesterday for the reception to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, Bugler Dunn met with an accident. His horse bolted and stumbled and fell. Dunn had one of his legs broken and the horse suffered a similar injury. The animal was shot.

Dunn is the 15-year-old bugler of the First Royal Dublin Fusiliers, who was wounded three times at the bat-tle of Colenso while sounding his orders. He was one of the first to cross the Tugela after sounding the order to advance. When he returned to England to recuperate Queen Victoria presented him with a silver-mounted bugle. He was afterwards sent back to South Africa at his own request. He spent some time in Netley Hospital, where he was visited by several members of the royal family. OFFICER WOUNDED.

London, July 25 .- Among the British wounded in the attack made Sunday near Beaufort West by Scheeper's commando on a train from Cape Town, was Lieut. Campbell, of the Yeomanry, a son of the correspondent of the Sun, who accompanied General Sir Redvers Buller during his cam-

Orillia and Couchiching.

Orillia and Couchiching, two names with a subtle aroma of romance in their very euphony, the one a Spanish word and the other of Indian origin, are nearly always coupled in describ-ing one of the most beautiful summer resort districts in the famous "Highlands of Ontario." Orillia names the town, one of the prettiest and most picturesque in all Canada, and Couchiching the lovely lake on whose shores it is built. This was a famous summer resort 30 years ago, but destruction by fire of the famous Couchiching Hotel and the opening up of newer and wilder regions, there was a slight falling off for some years, though there were still many who loved the lake for its quiet and beauty and who came annually to spend their summers on its shores. Of late years there has been a remarkable revival in its popularity, as more people have begun to learn of the not easily equaled combination of attractions offered, fine scenery, capital fishing, a healthgiving atmosphere, endless means of amusement, and all the comforts and conveniences that go to make life itself a pleasure, to be had for the asking.

The Grand Trunk Railway System recognizing the unlimited attractions of the district situated in the vicinity of Orillia and the unexcelled facilities accommodation of summer tourists, have issued a handsomely illustrated publication dealing with the special features and attractions of the locality. The brochure also touches on some of the attractive spots on Lake Simcoe, Bass Lake and the Severn River. It deals in a truthful spirit with what may be expected by the fisherman and the amateur angler. A chapter on the hotel accommodations with a list of hotels and boarding houses and prices per day and by the week is also embodied. It tells how to reach Orillia and gives authentic information to the tourist from the United States regarding customs arrangements. In all it is a most comprehensive pamphlet of invaluable aid to the summer traveler and will be sent free to anyone ap-American, or the former alone, could plying to E. De la Hooke, C. P. and

Pale, Anaemic Young Women.

Anaemia, or thin, watery blood, is increasing to an alarming extent among the school girls and young women of our land. Pale gums, tongue and eyelids, muscular weakness, inability for exertion, deficient appetite, impaired digestion, short breath, palpitation of the heart, attacks of vomiting, swooning, hysteria and irregularities of the feminine organs are among the unmistakable symptoms of anaemia or poor quality of blood.

Anaemic persons are frequently said to be going into a decline, and as a fact do usually contract consumption or some fatal constitutional disease if they neglect to restore normal vigor. Fresh air, sunlight, moderate exercise and the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after each meal will restore new vitality to the body and new color to the cheek of any anaemic person. Gradually and thoroughly it forms new red corpuscles in the blood and wins back perfect health and strength.

William Said to Have Been Empowered

To Act for the Boers in Arranging Peace Negotiations.

Emperor Also Said To Be Willing to Take Initiative in Dealing With the British.

London, July 26 .- The rumor as to early peace negotiations which has pervaded the House of Commons for some days, says the Daily Express, has taken the more definite form that Emperor William is soon to assume the role of peacemaker.

Mr. Kruger and his advisers are represented as having empowered the Kaiser to act for the Boers, and he is considered willing to take the initiative in order to popularize his relations with the German people, who disapprove his friendship for Great Britain.

Something apparently is on foot, whether Emperor William is in it or

Mr. Kruger's arrival at The Hague connected, the Daily Express thinks, with the rumored peace suggestions. On his arrival at The Hague Mr. Kruger proceeded to the residence of Mr. Wolmaraans, one of the Boer envoys at Schvening, a watering place on the North Sea. A CONVOY CAPTURED.

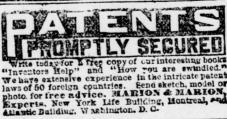

London, July 26 .- The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria: "Garrett's column captured a Boer convoy, taking 25 prisoners, near Reitzburg. Our casualties were 8. "French's column are gadually pushing the enemy north in Cape Colony.

HOW TO READ THE BIBLE. Buffalo, N. Y., July 25 .- "I believe that the Holy Ghost wrote the Bible from Genesis to Revelation; that he is a personality, and will make clear to any one who reads the book in the right way," said Dr. James M. Gray, of Boston, in his speech before the Pan-American Bible congress yesterday morning. The speaker explained that the right way is to read each book or gospel or epistle through at a single reading and do this many times. If this method is pursued there is no need of other aids of any kind, books, charts, maps, explanations, or anything else. His theme was "Synthetic Study of the Bible." Dr. Shailer Mathews, of the University of Chicago, discussed "Constructive Studies of the Bible," and Dr. Gilbert, general secretary, "The Plans of the American Society or Religious Education."

The New Zealand Way.

In industrial disputes, in New Zealand, the method is as follows:

First try-by Boards of Conciliation, both sides fairly represented.

Second try-failing agreement by conciliation-the court of arbitration, whose findings are binding and duly enforced by law.

Since the New Zealand act became law (August, 1894), 210 cases of dispute have been settled.

A few were withdrawn.

Twenty-four cases settled by agree-

One hundred and nine cases came before Board of Conciliation.

Sixty-eight cases before Court of Arbitration.

Conciliation Board award accepted in 28 cases out of 109-remainder sent on to Arbitration Court, Public Result: Fair settlements; in dustrial peace; no strikes.

Canada has courts of conciliation and has provided facilities for voluntary arbitration, but New Zealand crowns the edifice by its authoritative Arbi tration Court. It will be observed that in New Zealand opportunity for reflection is provided by having all cases go first through the Court of Conciliation; which takes a good deal off the edge of the charge that in New Zealand the Arbitration Act is an arbitrary act. It comes in-in the interest of the whole public-only as the court of last resort; but when necessary it gets there, and does its work well

German Socialism.

One way of estimating the strength of the social democratic movement in Germany is by count of heads. The results of the German elections of 1893 show more favorably towards socialism than do the results of the elections of 1898. The increase of votes given the Socialist candidates in 1893 was 445,431, while in 1898 it was only 84,122. While this shows a decline in the number of votes cast, it does not mean a corresponding lessening of socialistic strength in the German Parliament. As to that, in 1890 the number of seats obtained was 35, in 1893 the number was 44; and in 1898 the Socialists obtained 56 seats. The power of the 56 is greatly augmented when we take into consideration the fact that in Germany, parliament is divided into a number of political parties. The Social Democrats are not strong enough to promote any positive legislation, but with the help of any other faction or party they become formidable obstructionists. The Social Democratic party is not altogether satisfied with itself. Like all organizations of a revolutionary character, it predicted too much. Among its prophecies was the collapse of present social conditions before the end of last century. The likelihood of such a state of affairs decreases with the comfort and contentment of the working classes. There has been a general increase of wages among the working classes, as well as a number of laws for their amelioration. For instance, there is an insurance against old age, illness and accidents. The laborer, seeing that he is protected against the exigencies incident to illness or old age, and that provision is made for the care of his wife and children, is more apt to be content in his work and satisfied with present social conditions. Socialism is essentially concerned with physical wants; and when these are met, socialistic enthusiasm becomes less strong.

Commenting on the undesirable influences of Socialism, Count Bernstorff, of Berlin, Germany, says that the direct influence of Socialism is not easily overestimated. The demoralizing effect in loosening the bonds of authority between parents and children, pupils and teachers, masters and servants, has certainly done much to lower the state of national morality.

Among attempts at solution of social questions we have that phase known as Christian Socialism. German Socialism has, however been in the main, non-Christian, in fact, nonreligious. Count Bernstorff speaks of the Socialist attitude toward religion as follows:

"The religious question is one which evidently creates difficulties among the Social Democrats. In the large cities they openly confess their unbelief, but and a fair deal all round.

in the rural districts infidelity becomes an impediment to their influ-ence, at least in those circles where the old traditions are still strong. The leaders of the party therefore try to bring the principle more prominently to the front, that religion is a private matter, to be judged solely by the individual. They said so long ago, but on the whole their assertions have found little acceptance."

aries are inclined to deride the apvestigate the railway grievances of shippers. That is not the view of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, as shown by the latest issue of the official newspaper, Industrial Canada. That journal says:

"The appointment of Mr. S. J. Mc-Lean by the Dominion Government to investigate the various railway grievances from different parts of the Dominion has brought out a very considerable amount of discussion and criticism. Some shippers have complained that an investigation of this kind can produce no good; that all the information that can be obtained in this way is already in the posession of the Government, and that therefore little good can result from a visit such as was proposed by the commissioner.

"Among the members of the Manufacturers' Association, however, a different view has prevailed. They regard the appointment of a special commissioner as an evidence of the increasing interest of the Government in this question.

"Intimation has already been given that special legislation on this subject will be brought down as a Government measure at next session, and it is therefore peculiarly fitting that accurate and official information from the standpoint both of the shipper and the transportation companies, be obtained as a basis for such legislation.

"Prof. McLean, as a student of railway legislation and the railway question for a number of years, is peculiarly fitted for work of this kind, and his report after meeting with both shippers and railway men should enable him to be of considerable assistance to the Minister in framing any general measure dealing with the rail-

"The executive committee felt that he question was one warranting their most careful attention, and consequently instructed their railway and ransportation committee to submit as full information as possible to the railway commissioner.

"The manufacturers will await with interest the developments in this connection during the next session of Parliament."

The Remedy.

Unless the relations between capital and labor get better, they will be apt to become worse. That is the situation in the United States, where things are shaping towards (1) a colossal combination of capital, offset (2) by a colossal combination of labor. The time may come when both sides will be willing enough for some system of compulsory arbitration.

As Canada is apt to adopt Yankee fashions, owing to proximity, similar indications can be seen on this side the line. For example, the last number of Industrial Canada, issued by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, hints at an organization of employers. Industrial Canada says:

The attention of the manufacturers of Canada has been drawn more particularly to the labor question during the past few months than at any time for many years past. Not only in Canada, but in the United States, there seems to be at the present time a growing tendency to industrial conflict between the labor unions and the employing classes. Many of these conflicts have been most serious in their results, and the question is receiving more than usual attention from the manufacturers. Many of them feel that the question is one that will have to be discussed by the manufacturers of the country collectively. One manufacturer that we have in mind in Toronto refers to the fact that for sixteen years he has been an employer of labor, and during that time has employed union men, paid union wages, and worked regulation union hours. and during all that period there has never been any trouble between the firm and its employes. Recently, however, a gathering of labor delegates from the United States was held in Toronto, and the result has been the agitation of labor unions here by the outside representatives who were present. This manufacturer consequently found his men in a few days presenting further demands. They did not ask for any difference in wages or in hours of labor, but came forward to ask the mployer to sign documents restricting himself permanently with ence to the management of his own factory, and so strong was the influ-ence of the visiting unions that, although the men had at that time every consideration that they had asked for, they went on strike. Such demands as these being presented from time to time to manufacturers in one locality and another are creating a powerful sentiment in favor of closer among the manufacuturers in every branch of industry, in order that they might protect themselves against unair and unjust demands of this naure. What form such an organization would take has never been dissussed, but if the action of some of the labor leaders in Canada continues, as in the case mentioned above, some action will, no doubt, be taken by the manufacturers."

Well, what is the remedy? Mutual forbearance, common sense, good judgment, in equal proportions and all flavored with the golden rule, would help the malady mightily. Voluntary arbitration could often do wonders. The difficulty frequently is the two sides get too hot to have enough sense left to resort to voluntary arbitration. That is why, in New Zealand, the State steps in with compulsory arbitration, making strikes as scarce as snakes in Ireland, and securing peace He Thinks.

Ian Maclaren, in a recent address on courtesy, holds the mirror up to a certain type of person in a way that will appeal to many. He says: "Just because the machinery of life is so apt to be heated, one keenly appreciates those who are ever deftly pouring in the cooling oil, by their patience and their tact, their sweetness and their sympathy. And one resents keenly that class of people who are honest and well-meaning, but who are persistently discourteous and are not ashamed-I mean the man who is credited with what is called a bluff, blunt manner, and who credits himself with a special quality of downrightness and straightforwardness. He considers it far better to say what he thinks, and boasts that he never minces his words, and people make all kinds of excuses for him, and rather talk as if he were a very fine fellow, beside whom civil-spoken persons are little better than hypocrites. As a matter of fact, no one can calculate the pain this outspoken gentleman causes in a single day, both in his family and outside. Nor have I ever been able to understand why he is praised, or even tolerated, and why ne is not sharply dealt with as an offender against the social peace. He is said to deal faithfully with any person whom he disapproves-it would be right to say he deals insolently; and what is called faithfulness is, generally unpardonable impudence. 'His bark,' it is said, 'is worse than his bite,' and one hopes it may be, but I do not see what consolation it is for me, when this ill-mannered person barks at my heels, that he has not also bitten me. I object to his barking, and if he persists I am justified in using a stick. No man has any right to lecture his neighbor, or to intrude upon his neighbor's privacy, or to wound his neighbor's feelings, and when he does so in his role of the plain-spoken man, then he ought to be made to understand the difference between reality and rudeness, and recovered from her shock. taught to keep a civil tongue in his

Dr. Koch's announcement should lead to the repeal of legislation under which hundreds of fine dairy cattle have been slaughtered without compensating the owners. Capital vs. Labor.

[Goldwin Smith in Weekly Sun.] While our eyes are turned to the Transvaal or China, society at home is threatened on its industrial side with peril which touch us more nearly than anything in another part of the globe. We are in danger of being ground between an upper and a lower millstone. The upper millstone is the colossal greed of the capitalist, who eeks to sweep all profit into his own coffers by destroying the freedom of production and making himself the sole arbiter of price. The nether millstone is unionist monopoly, which seeks to put an end to the freedom of labor. The leader on one side is the most grasping of capitalists; the leader on the other side is a man who, it by an unquiet ambition as organizers name

It is difficult to say of which side the victory would be most injurious to the Rather than go under the yoke either, the community may some day be driven to create a power strong enough to save it from both. So far, happily, there has been a freedom from violence, which the leader of the steel strike assures us will be continued. The artisans of the steel works are probably amongs the most intelligent and orderly of their class. But the loss and suffering must be great. They will extend, as usual, beyond the craft which is on strike to the other crafts which work to its hand.

EVIDENCE HAS BEEN FINISHED

Defense in the Fosburg Case is Through.

Demurrer Against Argument in the Case Disallowed.

The Unhappy Mother of the Murdered Girl Tells the Story of the Tragedy.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 25.-Yesterday afternoon in the Fosburg trial, F. P. Sheldon, father of Miss Sheldon, who gave such important evidence for the defense, testified that he had a business acquaintance with Mr. Fosburg of three years' duration. His daughter was not in good health. Her visit to the Fosburg house was the result of an invitation of Mr. Fosburg sen. He heard of the tragedy by telephone, and he immediately telephoned his daughter to come home.

Asked why he wanted her to come home, Mr. Sheldon said he thought that it would not be best for her to stay at the Fosburg house then. He was not willing to have her come to the inquest to testify, as she had not Cross-examined, the witness said that he was friendly with the Fosburg family all the time, and had never had any ill-will against them.

At this point a short recess was de clared. After the short recess, Wm. W Sheddon, of New York city, a shoe salesman, was called. He said his place of business was in the store of Hanan & Son, Twenty-ninth street and Broadway. He was employed there in July, 1900. A shoe was handed to the witness, and he identified it as having come from one of the Hanan & Son's stores. He had seen the shoe before, when a detective brought it to him at his store. He said the shoe was sold by him on July 5, 1900, but to whom he could not tell. He had only one pair of shoes of that kind at that time. Mr. Sheddon said that he had come to Pittsfield at the request of an officer for the purpose of looking around the city and seeing if he could recognize anyone as the whom he had sold the person to He had not found any such

The all-important shoe which the Robert had been married more than defense claims must have been dropped by the burglars was the subject of further testimony, this time from days before the witness went to St. George Bridges, the manager of the Louis, which was in the middle of Hanan Shoe Company, at Twenty-ninth July. She was in St. Louis when she street and Broadway. He identified the received notice that her husband was shoe shown him as the one which had been sold, and said that there was a rived home on the Saturday before record of its sale. This he produced. May died. Mrs. Fosburg then pro-The price of the shoe was $6 50. He noticed at the time that there was some cotton in the toes of the shoes. "Did you notice the size of the shoe the defendant wears?"

"Yes; I should judge that the size is a half smaller than this one. Mr. Fos-burg, sen., wears 7½."

For the purpose of proving that the defendant was not in New York the day the shoe was sold, Frederick W. Lund was recalled, and asked with reference to business transactions on July 5 at the Fosburg office. Shown some six checks, witness declared that two of them were signed by Robert S. Fosburg, and that all of them were dated July 5.

A copy-book was handed to the witness containing impressions of letters written July 5, and he said they were the work of the witness, and that some of them were signed by Mr. Fosburg, sen., and some by Mr.

Wm. P. Hazen, for 22 years a New York detective, testified that he had been in the employe of Mr. Fosburg. sen., since June 3, for the purpose of nvestigating the murder of Miss May Fosburg. There were other men at work on the case. Witness proceeded to describe an experiment which he made last evening with a screen in the window through which it is claimed the burglars departed. He said that the screen was placed and raised eleven inches. He started from a point nine feet from the window, and made the test by getting through the window to the balcony. It took him five seconds to do it. The two Shephardsons and Mr. Lund went through in much less time. James Fosburg went through in 3% seconds. Cross-examined by the government he stated that he tried the experiment first with a light in the room and then with the light out. Thi This was about nine o'clock, and the night was cloudy. At 12:30 a recess was declared until On the reassembling of the court Mrs. Robert L. Fosburg, the mother of the defendant, and Mrs. Nellie Beverley were sworn.

Mrs. Beverley took the stand. She said she was in Pittsfield last summer with her husband in order that he might be near a physician. husband died on Aug. 25. They were living near the Fosburg house. They and it was her custom to give he husband medicine every hour. Be Beween 1 and 2 o'clock on Aug. 20, she heard two persons running down the sidewalk from Dalton way. They seemed to stop near her house, were breathing very hard. The noise disturbed her husband, and she opened the blinds to see what was the trouble. She saw a man standing be side a tree-a tall, dark man. He put his hand under his mouth as if to supress the noise of heavy breath-ing. She told the man to get away from there, that her husband was ill She did not remember that she saw anything upon his head. Mrs. Robert L. Fosburg, mother of the defendant, was next summoned to the witness stand. She was dressed entirely in black, with a long veil, seems, was once a preacher, and probably belongs to the class marked out by an unquiet ambition as organizers and wore glasses. On examination by an unquiet ambition as organizers name was Esther Stewart Fosburg.

father and mother until three or four ill, and she started home. She ceeded to relate the events at her home on Sunday, Aug. 19. Mrs. Fosburg was the last witness of the day, and immediately after her testimony was closed the defense rested. This was at 3:30 p.m.

Then the government introduced some little evidence in rebuttal, and the defense put on a new witness in rebuttal. That closes the case, with the understanding that the government would have an opportunity of placing Col. Whitney, the state detective, on the stand in the morning, to which the court adjourned. At the close of the session Judge

Stevens, together with the counsel for both sides, retired to the anteroom, where Mr. Joyner, for the defense, made a long argument on the question of his suggestion that the judge order a verdict of not guilty.
The result is not known officially, but it is understood that the arguments Fosburg, jun. Both men were in the will be made in the case at the opening of the session tomorrow. Lawyer Joy ner stated that if the case was argued District Attorney Hibbard, for the defense, would probably not take over an hour and a half. It is possible the case will go to the jury tomorrow noon. Counsel Hibbard, for the defense, announced late tonight that he would make the argument tomorrow, which is thought to mean that demurrer of the defense to the decision of the court refusing to order a verdict of not guilty is overruled.

The Hot Weather Test Makes people better acquainted with their resources of strength and endurance.

Many find that they are not so well off they have the well off the their resources. Many find that they are not so well off as they thought, and that they are easily enervated and depressed by the heat.
What they need is the tonic effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the blood, promotes refreshing sleep, overcomes that tired feeling, creates appearing petite. Theoretically there are no slaves in Hong Kong, as it is in British territory, but in reality the city is full of them. They are the maid servants and nurses of the Chinese. Every small-footed lady needs slaves to help her about, and in the houses of the rich, where there are many daughters, it is not uncommon to find from 20 to 30 slaves in a single family.

NO ALCOHOL IN IT.-Alcohol or any other volatile matter which would impair strength by evaporation, does not in any shape enter into the manufacture of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Nor do climatic changes affect it. It is as serviceable in the Arctic Circle as in the Torrid Zone, perhaps more useful in the bitches. COMPLEXION SPECIALIST

The complexion is usually at its worst at this time of the year, and if it is neglected too long, the skin gets so bad that it causes much unhappiness. You can save yourself all this unnecessary trouble if you will use now one or two bottles of my FACE BLEACH, which draws out of the skin all impurities which disease and discolor it. My FACE BLEACH is today used by thousands of ladies throughout the land, whose complexions it has made perfect. I will personally guarantee to every lady that there is no preparation that will improve the complexion as my FACE BLEACH improves it. If you are troubled and worried over a complexion filled with freckles, pimples, blackheads, moth patches, eczema, sallowness, all redness or roughness of the skin, and wrinkles that are not caused by facial expression, get my FACE BLEACH at once and get rid of them. I only wish I could meet every lady in London, whose complexion is not all that it ought to be, and have a good talk with her so that I might advise her how to secure a good clear complexion. I could not advise anything better, anything more beneficial than my FACE BLEACH. But as I cannot meet you all, I would suggest that you get my book, "How to Be Beautiful," which my agents, Cairneross & Lawrence, 216 Dundas Street, will give you FREE. My book is simply invaluable to every lady who desires a clear and perfect complexion. MADAME A. RUPPERT.

PLANNING FOR ROYAL VISIT.

Monthly Bank Statement-Sir Louis Davies' Return to Ottawa-Trip Did Him Good.

Ottawa, July 26. - The militia department is now in the midst of preparations for the reviews and guards of honor demanded by the pproaching royal visit. A list of the regiments that are to take part in the big Toronto review and the lesser parades at Quebec and Halifax has been drawn up and is now before the government for approval. There is a likelihood that it may be made known tomorrow. It is learned that com-panies of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Infantry will be brought here from Toronto, London and other places, in order to take part with the local militia in furnishing guards of honor and guards at Government House. The permanent corps will furnish the guards for night and day duty at Rideau Hall while their royal highnesses remain in Ottawa. The Royal Canadian Dragoons will also be brought here in order to provide mounted escorts for the royal couple. MONTHLY BANK STATEMENT. The bank statement for June, which has been issued by the department of finance, gives evidence of healthy business conditions in all its chief returns. The note circulation is given as $49.119.479, an increase of $3.500,000 over the same month last year, and of $3,000,000 over the return for the previous month of May. The amount of current loans and discounts for June was $282,872,134. This is a gain of $24,000,000 over the same time last year, but a falling off of about four millions as compared with May, 1901. Call loans on bonds and stocks are shown as $74,772,820, greater than the returns either for the previous month of May or for the month of June, 1900. Deposits by the public of Canada, payable after notice, or on a fixed day, now amount to $222,877,616, a gain of $38,500,000 over June of 1900. The thirty-five banks doing business in the country have among them a total paid up capital of $67,095,718, with rest

He has derived very great benefit from his trip, which was partly one of pleasure. His cheeks are tanned to a brick red hue, and he walks with far more elasticity than he did when he left here to take the steamboat on June 5 last. Sir Louis went over in the Dominion liner Commonwealth, and he had nothing but praise for it as a comfortable and smooth-sailing vessel. In company with his fellow-ministers, Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Blair, upon arriving in London, Sir Louis interviewed Mr. Chamberlain and other members of the imperial government in regard to the fast Atlantic service and other matters of interest to Canada. A very sympathetic hearing was accorded to the Canadian statesmen. Afterwards Sir Louis proceeded to Glasgow to confer with Messrs. Ferguson & Fleming. the contractors for the two new steam-ships ordered by Canada. There he met Captain McElhinney, the nautical expert to the marine department. The details were gone into, and the working plans approved of, and finally the contracts were signed The two yes. sels are to be delivered to the de partment of marine early next spring.

"Looked at closely, all occupations cause deformity—even the state of being without an occupation. Complete leisure, if such a thing exists, causes fatty degeneration, anaemia, arrest of growth. "The principle at the bottom of it all is that we were not created to be always standing up, nor always sitting down, nor always kneeling, nor always bending over; and that, with the exception of climate, we were created to obey the law of variety, as well in movement as in nourishment. The best proof is that, apart from accidents, ongevity attaches to just those professions that give the whole organism the most exercise-those of the soldier, the painter, the sculptor and the actor.

A Grievance. [Goldwin Smith, in Weekly Sun.]

The Winnipeg Tribune is well warranted in deploring the effect of bad literature on the mind of the young. There is proof enough of the part which this poison plays in the production of youthful crime. But what is to be done? The Tribune appeals to parents to purify the reading of their children. But the parents under our present system have thrown off their responsibility on the state, and the state does not and cannot undertake the training of children in morality. It must be content with training their intelligence up to the point necessary for citizenship and for industrial employment. It is the evidence of this that leads to the increasing popularity of voluntary schools. The poisonous effect of bad literature, however, is by no means confined to the minds of children. To it jingoism owes not a little of its febrile excitement, its lust of violence, and its contempt for moral restraint. The staid and moderate character of the English people has unquestionably been giving way to the propensities which broke out in the orgies of the Mafeking night; and of this, while there are more causes than one, one cause is probably the circulation of depraved literature among people who have just intelligence enough to read and enjoy it, but nothing to guard them against its ef-

PHYSICAL PERFECTION

That is the Aim of a Girls' School in England Like No Other in the World.

In an out of the way corner of the county of Kent, England, there is a girls' school that is like no other in the world. Its pupils learn nothing ment of the abdominal viscera, whence arise affections of the digestive organs probability that a graduate of the country school will be a happier woman than any senior wrangler who ever > Midnight oil is forbidden at the Kent The one aim of the course school.

The founder and head of the school experience as a teacher in London before she opened her college, which is backed by several well-known English women. The college was intended primarily as a training school for teachers of physical culture, but it was soon found tions for entrance from girls health, and now a large proportion of the pupils are daughters of wealthy course for the sake of physical development and health. Every applicant submits to a medical examination, and if organic disease is found is not accepted as a pupil, but if there is nothing more serious out of order than nerves, digestion, circulation, etc., the girl is admitted, provided there is a vacancy for her. Her corsets come off at once and are not put on again during the two years. She does not don a hat from the hour she enters the school until the hour she leaves, no matter how bad the weather may be. Her diet is liberal but strictly hygienic, and any exceptions in it are made only by the physician's orders. She wears a uniform. consisting of a loose blouse of dark blue wool with knickerbockers and a light-weight knee kilt, black woolen stockings and low tan shoes. She goes to bed every night at 9 and gets up at 6, and unless it is actually storming, she spends almost every mo ment of the day in the open air. There are classes in anatomy, so that unils may understand the workings of their muscles, and in hygiene, so that they may know the principles governing choice of food The new pupil is first put through a course of Swedish movements and, as she grows stronger, is admitted to the more energetic outdoor studies. is taught to swim, to row, to ride, to run and vault and ride a wheel, and play cricket and tennis and golf and hockey. Her days are put in at these sports, but under careful supervision. Wonderful transformations are accomplished, and constitutions are built up that not even after years of society life or work can ruin.

A few schools of the same sort would be an excellent innovation in this country, and there is many a girl grinding through college whose chance for happy living would be greater if she could abandon the college work and go in for a two-years' course like that of the English open-air school.

THE VALUE OF NEWSPAPERS. Most Canadians appreciate their newspapers, but hardly to the degree in which Prof. Lynch appreciates them. The average man will subscribe for one or two newspapers, buy others occasionally on the street, and accept any number of "deadheads," but Prof. Lynch subscribes for over 100 dailies, and pays for them. He does not do this for his own reading, but distributes them in lieu of text books on contemporaneous history among classes at Mountain Grove, Mo. He advocates the reading of the home papers, the county papers and the metropolitan papers, because he considers them the most valuable agents for progress and prosperity. He says: "The newspaper is a boon to civilization, a promoter of education and the motive power of enterprise and progress. If I could not read a word, if I were blind and deaf, I would take a newspaper and have it thrown at my gate, so that when people passed by my home they would know, there is a man who is interested in the welfare and upbuilding of this community. Let our motto be: 'The newspapers and the public schools are the universities of the people.

This is not the sentimental enthusiasm of an enthusiast. Prof. Lynch's opinions have their basis in fact. The man who does not read the paper is in the world perhaps, but he is not of it. He is sure to grow narions will be without reason and the world will soon pass beyond him, leaving him like a bit of driftwood rotting in the mire. Newspapers have their faults, but as a rule they are not wil-ful. Their errors are generally due to the fallibility of humane judgment and to the ease with which deception may be practised. The present age is not content with the history of the past centuries; it demands a concise and entertaining record of the events of each succeeding day,

LIFE LONGER

Recent Figures Are Very Interesting.

Life insurance actuaries in England and Scotland have been engaged for eight years in studying mortality tables, and they find that the average length of human life is increasing. They have just completed an examination of the mortuary records of 600,000 persons, and they affirm that is both steady. This is the natural and inevitable effect of several causes, the chief of which, perhaps, is the birth and development of sanitary science. by which the spread of diseases has been checked. It is beyond all doubt too, that people pay more attention than formerly to the laws of personal hygiene. In every way they regulate their lives more rationally, owing to the wider extension of education and more exact knowledge of the effects of neglect. Labor-saving machinery has relieved men of the hardest toil and children and women are prevented by law from working an number of hours in factories. That intemperance has greatly diminished is obvious ,and people are better fed, clothed and housed than at any other time in the history of the race. age as well as death, says the Philadelphia Record, commenting on the report, has been pushed further away. Youth lasts longer than formerly. As recently as a century ago it was common for girls of 16 to become wives, while the young woman of 25 who was still unmarried was regarded as well within the borders of confirmed spinsterhood. It is probable that now more young women are married at 25 than Men are now in the zenith of their powers between 40 and 50, and a man of 60 is no longer old. the Bachelors But-

Latter Were East Picking at the Manly Game of Cricket-The Score Tells It All.

After the game of the rounders the other evening, someone slyly whispered if there was any other game the married men at Wolseley Barracks played; and a voice from the north-east corner of the room said "cricket," just as one of those small black insects chirruped.

Accordingly the married men, armed with willow bats from Duke's, Cobbett, Lillywhite and Marleybone Cricket Clubs' latest pattern, paraded on the military grounds at 2 p.m. yesterday, vowing vengeance on the bachelors who would dare to dispute their supremacy at cricket. It was wicked, awfully wicket, but anyhow the game started, and resulted in a glorious victory for the benedicts; and consequently every married man slept soundly in the arms of Morpheus last night.

The brilliant batting of Lieut.-Col. D. D. Young for the benedicts was a splendid exhibition of cricket, one of the finest seen on the barracks grounds this season.

Lieut.-Col. Young's score of 31 not out was a splendid specimen of bat-ting; he went in first and was fully an hour at the wickets when a special appointment unfortunately called him from the field; consequently the benedicts were sorely handicapped in case of a mishap, which, fortunately, did

Captain Nagle secured no less than seven of the single men's wickets, while Pte. Clarkson destroyed the chances of further scoring for five of the benedicts. Sergt.-Major Copeman and Clarkson acted as umpires, and Pte. H. T. Millie as scorer. Captain Nagle's bowling was extra good, as his capture of seven wickets shows.

PROSECUTION

Such the Claim in Interesting Thorndale Case.

Storekeeper Charged John Cox With Theft and He Replies With High Court Writ.

Thorndale is the field whereon is being played a miniature war in which it is claimed by one of the contestants, the old and the living state of the rich heel pressing upon the neck of the poor, is illustrated in reduced proportion. John Cox was a laborer out there, who worked hard and steadily to keep a large family respectable. For some reason that has not yet been fully explained, he was accused by the general storekeeper, Mr. Charles Lee, with theft; the specific charge being that he had stolen a pair of baby's shoes, worth, probably, 50 cents. He had to appear before Squire Garner, and was bailed to come before Squire Lacey. No one appeared against him. neither Lee nor any witness, and Cox was free, but with a tarnished name. Claiming innocence, he had been given no chance to prove it; his wife suffered illness by the worry of the affair, and the man's children were taunted upon the streets. He has now taken the matter to his solicitors, Messrs. Jarvis & Vining, and has pro-vided a sequel to the first case by having issued against his accuser a writ in the high court for malicious pros-ecution. He contends that it was a desire to injure him personally that prompted the charge, of which, he claims also, he is wholly guiltless.

Local Doctors Are Discussing Its Importance.

The startling statements that have been made at the tuberculosis congress in London are the subject of conversation quite as largely among the laymen as the profession; but pathologists and bacteriologists are eagerly discussing the results that are likely to be attained by the congress.

Dr. McLaren said to The Advertiser this morning that with the exception of the statement concerning the noncommunicability of bovine tuberculosis to man, and vice versa, medical men were cognizant previously of the matters being discussed.

so. My experience has led me to be-lieve that it can be communicated. Until I learn more I will not say that tuberculosis cannot be transferred by means of milk. Perhaps you can drink milk with bacilli in it-but I wouldn't care to do it myself."

To make it successful we must not make it obnoxious.

"As I said, every disease has its specific germ, but," said the doctor, in reply to a question as to the farreaching effects of tuberculosis, "if there's a weakness, say in the digestive organs, the tuberculosis baccili may, and does, attack them. with a weary sigh; "you will soon know wh, Siry Kenneth. Well, be it so," she added, with a despairing pathos which touched him deeply. "Even this trouble can hardly make my life more wretched than it is now."
"Mrs. Lancaster." he said earnestly,

"Mrs. Lancaster," he said, earnestly, "you know how true my affection and esteem for Douglas are; you know that my rriendship would make almost any sacrifice to make him happy. If the forsaking of this prosecution will help to bring back his peace of mind, at any cost it possible it shall be done." cost, it possible, it shall be done."
She held out her hand to him silently, but an unutterable yearning wistfulness came for a moment into her eyes, and came for a moment into her eyes, and then two large tears welled up into their velvety depths.

"Thank you," she said, gently. "No; I think perhaps in time—not yet, perhaps; but in a little time—its effects will make him happy again. You, too, then, can see that he is not happy."

"I have seen a sorrowful change in both of you," he replied, mournfully. "A change that has tilled me with sorrowers the constant of the constant of the change of the c change that has filled me with sorrow and regret. Can nothing be done? Oh! Mrs. Lancaster, what has come between you to cause such pain to both?"

"A curse!" she said, with sudden passion—"a curse! Oh! would to heaven—would to heaven we had never met!"

She threw up her hands with a gesture almost of despair, as she turned from him, and again the mournful eyes, full of a passionate anguish looked away over the calm waters, full of unrest and woe.

"One thing you can do which will spare us much suffering," she said after a pause. "Keep this as long from Douglas as you can, You know he goes to Paris tonight, partly on business, partly on account of his aunt's illness. Wait with his return before your parts to his aunt's illness. until his return before you let him know; then he must know all. Heaven help

The last few words broke from her with e wail of despair which rang in Sir Ken-"I will do so," he returned; then he added, fervently: "I wish most heartily that I could help you, Mrs. Lancaster—help you to be happier—help you with whatever strange and mysterious trouble whatever strange and mysterious trouble which hangs over you."

"No one can do that; no one on earth can avert it," she answered. "I must be faced; and you know, Sir Kenneth, people say troubles are worse in anticipation than in reality. Perhaps this one will not be so bad as it looks."

She gave him a faint smile, very wistful, very sorrowing, sadder than any tears. Sir Kenneth sighed as he turned his eyes from the beautiful, sad face, and followed her glance over the water, which lay like a stiver sheet before them.

"I wish I had stayed at Rome," he siad, in a rueful distress which was aisiad, in a rueful distress which was ai-levancy of his exclamation. She turned to him again, giving him a friendly glance, and holding out her little gloved hand. "Do not say that," she said, gently. "I am very glad you did not. It was a great consolation for me to know that Douglas had such a true, steadfast friend, whose ove is truer less selfish than my own who will help him to bear the trouble which I would give my life to avert from him. My life! it is so easy to die when one is wretched."

Again the hopeless, despairing look crossed her face.
"Ah! believe," she went one, earnestly, "that whatever reason you may have to think otherwise, I loved him all my life. It may be difficult to think well of me in the future; put the temptation away, and think that, in all the suffering I have caused, I myself suffered—suffered, ah, heaven!"

ah, heaven?"
"I can see that but too well," he answered. "I think the suffering, great as it is, is partly self-imposed. Confide in us; tell your husband, Andree; he loves you truly and well. Here snc gave a bittle smile, and shook her head. "Tell me; on my hone". I will help you in any way possible to me."

"'Again I thank you," she answered.
"That would not help matters; but, thank you. Heaven bless you, Sir Kenneth, for those kindly words." At this moment Douglas appeared, coming towards them, and Sir Kenneth glancing at his companion, saw her eyes, as she caught sight of him, soften into unutterable tenderness and love, and he felt that, whatever cause he might have to think otherwise in the future, he would believe—he could not help it, with the memory of that look—that she loved her husband then with the same passionate, enduring love which had urged her to give up her father, her position, her for-tune, to become his wife.

tune, to become his wife.

"Are you inclined for a trip to Paris, Donaldson?" said Douglas, coming and sitting down beside them with a keen glance at both, which saw that while the baronet looked troubled and perplexed, ndree was calm and impassive, as usual.

Andree was calm and impassive, as usual.
"I start tonight."
"I wish I could," the other answered, with a good deal of embarrassment; "I wish I could, Lancaster, but I must not think of it. I have business which will keep me in England just now."

"You won't lose much," rejoined Doug-las, with a slight restraint appearing in his manner. "Paris will be as hot as it possible to be, the asphalt will be burn ing under your feet, the Assemblee Nationale will be in a fever, the people will be gone mad at this declaration of war their misguided Emperor has made against Prussia. No, no; you are wise, Sir Kenneth. Paris can only be interesting to a journalist at this crisis. If

If you are ready, Andree," he added, turning to his wife, and speaking with a studied, measured courtesy which contrasted sharply with his old lover-like tenderness of tone and manner towards, her, "I should be glad to be off. I have many last arrangements to make, and it is cheady gatting late." many last arrangements to make, and it is already getting late."

"It is so pleasant here," she answered, in a voice which made Sir Kenneth stare, so frigidly indifferent were its tones. "I do not want to go yet; besides, I have promised faithfully to play a game of lawn tennis with Sir Henry Leveson when it is a little cooler."

"Do not let me interfere with your pleasure," he answered. "There is to be a dance on the lawn presently; you may

"A sort of ducasse," she said, with affected delight. "Oh, how charming! I really must stay. I will return later. Douglas, only do not let me detain you."

"In this case I will ask Sir Kenneth to see you home," he replied, with a kind of mingled sadness and anger in his voice, "and say good-bye now. I shall be gone before you return. I hope," and here his voice softened a little, "you will not be ennui or feel dull."

"Why should I?" she answered, with a great deal of surprise in her voice, and lifting her eyebrows with an astonishment which was too well feigned for its pretence to be discovered. "Why should it with the should be a surprise in the state of the pretence to be discovered. "Why should I? Oh, I forgot, as a dutiful wife I ought to be disconsolate; well, then, as I am a dutiful wife, I will try. But until you are really gone I cannot realize my 'grass widowhood,' and until that time I 'grass widowhood,' and until that time I must beg leave to amuse myself."

"Good-bye," he said. in a low, hoarse tone, as he took her hand in his for a moment. "Andree," he added, as if urged by some strong impulse, "do not—do not—" he turned away from her, breaking off in his speech. "No, forgive me; you are my wife. I will not doubt,"

"How mysterious you are," she said, turning a shade paler, but still speaking with the affected galety of tone she had used since his arrival. "How long are you to be away? A week or ten days? I cannot do much mischief in such a short time, can I?"

"It may be longer," he said, a spasm of pain crossing his handsome, worn face, "but I trust you, Andree. Take care of yourself, dear child," he added, speaking with less constraint. "What message for Kathleen?"

"My dear love to her and Mistress

"My dear love to her and Mistress vis," she said, gently. "Good-bye, ouglas."

Douglas."

He stooped, touched her brow lightly with his lips, shook hands with Sir Kenneth, and strode away.

Standing just as he had left her, Andree watched the tall, stately figure until it was out of sight; then she turned away, and, sinking down on the fallen tree trunk on which they had been sitting, hid her face in her hands in silence.

Sir Kenneth hesitated a moment, then he said gently, in a low voice: he said gently, in a low voice:

The Highlands of Ontario are now so favorably known by the summer traveler and those looking for a place to spend the hot summer months that some of the districts are becoming so pepular that the hotel accommodation has to be added to each year. Thousands of people annually go up into the Muskoka Lakes District, and no one is ever disappointed at the beauties that are there and the healthgiving propensities of the pure air. The altitude of Muskoka-1,000 feet above sea level-endows it with all the advantages obtainable among the mountains, while as a matter of course its lacks nothing in so far as lakes and islands are concerned. In fact it possesses a variety of attractions, any one of which would be more than sufficient to make it dear to the hearts of its summer habitues. Standing high above the plane humidity, the immense expanse of country is favored by cooling breezes from the broad bosom of the Georgian Bay, whose waters wash its western

The district is located about 100 miles north of the city of Toronto, and can be reached from Buffalo in less than seven hours and from Toronto in three hours, and the farthest points on the lakes are reached at a reasonable hour the same day. Perfect immunity from Hay Fever is assured.

THE OAR.

TOWNS STARTS FOR CANADA.

London, July 26 .- George Towns, the oarsman, and Thomas Sullivan, his trainer and backer, sailed yesterday on the Allen Line steamship Parisian for Canada. They took several boats with them, and expect to reach Quebec next week, when Towns will immediately proceed west to train for his contest for the world's championship with Gaudaur at Rat Portage, on Sept. 4. At the Evanston station a large number of the friends of the pair assembled and gave them a country the pair assembled, and gave them a rousing send-off. Towns' friends in this country think he has an excellent pros-pect of bringing the championship to England, and already wagers are being placed that way. It is well known that Sullivan, who is one of the wisest cars-men on this side of the water, would not have advised Towns to travel across the Atlantic unless he felt certain that he was Gaudaur's equal. Sullivan is well acquainted with the style of the Canadian acquainted with the style of the Canadian oarsman, and realizes that Gaudaur is fully as hard a man to tackle as he was on the day he won the world's championship. Towns has been asked to accept the hospitality of the Rat Portage Boating Club while in the Ontario town. The Argonauts very thoughtfully asked Sullivan and Towns to be their guests while in Toronto.

CHATHAM BEATS WINDSOR. CHATHAM BEATS WINDSOR.

Chatham, Ont., July 26.—The Victoria Cricket Club, of Windsor and Walker-ville, played in Chatham yesterday with the club of this city, and were defeated by scores of 83 and 46 for Chatham, against 51 and 34 for the Victorias, Chatham winning by 54 runs. For Chatham, Mercer (26 and 16), Kolfage (15) and Richardson (11) batted best, while Sutherland (15), Foreman (13, not out) and Stewart (13) did best service for the Victorias, Aitken, with 11 wickets for 48 torias. Aitken, with 11 wickets for 48 runs, and Miller, 8 wickets for 36 runs, did the Chatham trundling. The best work with the ball for the Victorias was done by Stewart, 13 wickets for 39 runs, and Marion, with 6 wickets for 48 runs.

YACHTING.

SEAWANHAKA CUP. Montreal, July 26. - The English vacht Grey Friar was defeated by the Canadian vacht Sennevelle in the first of the series of races for the Seawanhaka Cup, which was held yesterday afternoon. The race took place on Lake St. Louis, and the course was a beat to windward and return leg was one and a half miles, and the round to had to be sailed four times, making a course of twelve miles. There was a good turn-out of spectators, and much interest was taken in the race. Previous to the departure of the racing yachts for the international course, a meeting of the racing committee was held, when the crews for the different boats in today's race were finally named and weighed. The English crew was composed of L. C. Currie, skipper, 196 pounds; Mausdley, helmsman, 171 pounds: M. Pike, jibsman, 169 pounds; H. K. Fletcher, forward hand, 194 pounds.

The Canadian crew consisted of the same as successfully sailed the Red attraction of Detroit's bicentennial patrack, over 2,500 people were at the track, Same as successfully sailed the Red Coat last (on Wednesday) against the White Yacht cup challenger, named: Were few, leaving large fields in most of Messrs. S. Duggan, skipper, 156 pounds; Fred Shearwood, forward man, 191 pounds; H. C. Routh, second man of jib sheets, 172 pounds; W.

man of jib sheets, 172 pounds; W. Angus, main helmsman, 192 pounds, and Master Kenneth Duggan. The start was made at 1:40. The Senneville crossed the line first, and on the first beat to windward made a big gain. Only a very light breeze was blowing, and Duggan seemed to get the advantage of all the breeze that was going. The Gray Friar's crew had trouble more than once with their sails, and their boat seemed to be managed badly. During the first half of the course the Senne-ville secured a big lead. When the breeze got a little stronger the Gray Friar sailed better, but it was easily the Senneville's race, which owed her quality of her skipper. The ville finished 19:15 seconds be

NOBLE WOMAN PASSES AWAY.

The Death of Mrs. David Christie Occurred Yesterday.

Was Born in Jedburgh, Scotland, 69 Years Ago-Married Senator Christie in 1860.

The death yesterday of Mrs. Christie, widow of the late Hon. 'David Christie, removes from earthly scenes a lady whose purity of life, nobility of character and sweetness of disposition have endeared her to many friends in London and other places. For some considerable time she has borne with Christian resignation the distress and suffering consequent upon a protracted illness. In her death London loses a much-loved and most estimable resident, her friends lose one whose life was a constant inspiration and power for good, and her children are bereft of a saintly and tender mother.

The late Mrs. Christie was born 69 years ago in Jedburgh, Scotland, her maiden name being Margaret Robinson Telfer. She was brought to Canada a year later by her father, the late Wm. Telfer, the family settling at Paris, Ont. In 1860 she married Hon. David Christie, speaker of the Canadian Senate during the Mackenzie regime. Senator Christie was a close personal friend of Hon. Geo. Brown, Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, and many other distinguished statesmen and public men. Senator and Mrs. Christie made their home at their beautiful residence. 'The Plains," situated between Paris and Brantford. After Senator Christie's death, 20 years ago, his widow lived in Brantford, and Toronto, until six years ago, when she came to reside with her daughter, Mrs. C. W. During the major portion Leonard. of her residence in this city Mrs. Christie has been an invalid, but only five months ago did her illness assume a serious character. Mrs. Christie was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, having been a life-long adherent of Presbyterianism, and having always taken an active part in church work. She leaves four sons and four daughters. The funeral, which will be private, leaves Mr. C. W. Leonard's residence, 360 Queen's avenue, at 11 a.m. on Saturday. The interment will take place in the family burying plot at St. George.

GLEN'S TWO CHIMERAS

Being Laid Before London Board of Trade.

Would Annex Canada to the United States and Construct a Gigantic Canal System.

Secretary Nelles, of the board trade, is in receipt of some literature, being sent out by Hon. Francis Wayland Glen, secretary and manager of the National Continental Union League of New York. Mr. Glen is kindly forwarding to boards of trade all over Canada, letters, circulars and pamphlets, which are devoted to the two-fold purpose of explaining a roseate scheme of forming a gigantic system or artificial inland waterways, and advancing the aims and objects of the National Continental Union League.

National Continental Union League is an organization for the purpose of furthering the absorption of Canada by the United States. The names of many well-known Americans appear on the roll of officers and members of the union. Among them are seen some, such as Paul Dana and W. Burke Cochran. Dana is president; Andrew H. Green is vice-president, and the directors are: W. Bourke Coch-ran, Darwin R. James, George Hoodly, John Woodward, Edward P. Brown, Silas B. Dutcher, John D. Kieley, John C. McGuire, Edward Lauterbach. The following are a few of the members of the advisory committee: Andrew Carmegie, John Jacob Astor, Seth Low, William C. Whitney, Cornelius N. Bliss, Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Charles M. Pratt, Col. Alexander, K. McClure, Gen. Charles T. Barney, Hon. Elihu Root (secretary for war), Mr. Russell Sage, Major-Gen. Jas. H. Wilson, Hon. John Hay (secretary of state), and John P. Jones,

After giving figures to show the amount of revenue which the canals would give in ship tolls and waterpower rates, and after assuming "that an interoceanic canal will be constructed by the government, by Panama or Nicaragua, without any further delay, with or without the consent of Great Britain," Mr. Glen's letter con-

"The construction of these canals means to the vast and noble army of North American workers, 8 hours per day for labor, 8 hours for recreation, invention, discovery and self-culture and 8 hours for rest and slumber, with better food, clothing and shelter, and a larger share of the comforts and luxuries of life than they have ever enjoyed before, or than is enjoyed by the workers of any other nation; and further, it means the expenditure of $1,000,000,000, chiefly for unskilled labor, an inestimable blessing. Finally, means the complete emancipation of from European domain, dominion and industry; or, in other words, the creation of a greater United States, extending from Newfoundland to Vancouver and from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Sea, including Hawaii on the west and all the islands on the

Mr. Glen's scheme certainly possesses the virtues of comprehensiveness, but as the cost, according to his own estimates, is a billion dollars, it is likely the canals will remain for some years just where they are at

THEIR MODEST DECLARATION. A declaration being sent out by the eague says:

"We, the undersigned, desire that all peaceful and honorable means should be used to consummate the political union of the United States and Canada. In our opinion the time has come when it is desirable that Europe cease to direct or control the political or domestic affairs of any portion of this continent, and we believe that such cessation will tend to unite all English-speaking communities throughout the world in one common effort to develop, promote, extend and defend constitutional government, and will be for the best interests of humanity. We earnestly desire to see the two great English-speaking families who now occupy this continent united under one flag, upon terms generous, just and honorable to both of the contracting parties. We firmly believe that the extension of the boundaries of the United States, from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Sea, and from Newfoundland to Vancouver, will not only secure the rapid development of the practically unlimited natural resources of the whole continent, but likewise promote the happiness and best interests of all the people, materially lessen the per capita cost of government and defense, and be preservative of the peace of both North and South America and of the world. We, therefore, unite in organizing 'The National Continental

A GREAT SHIP CANAL. In the letter received by Secretary Nelles, Mr. Glen's canal scheme is outlined as follows:

"First, a ship canal from the Hudson River, through the channel of the Mohawk River, Oneida Lake and Oswego River, to Lake Ontario, with 25 feet of water over the Mitre Sills, with locks in proportion; and also a canal Music was given by the pipers of the from Olcott, on Lake Ontario, to Tonawanda, upon the Niagara River, of Thomas. It set many a Scotch the same dimensions. Second, a ship man humming the stirring old airs, and canal from Albany to the St. Law-rence River, through Lake Champlain, of the same depth of water and locks of the same size. Third, a ship canal from Chicago to deep water upon the Illinois River, of the same dimensions. Fourth, the improvement of the chan-nels of the Hudson, Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio Rivers, so that the largest sized vessel which can pass through the canals proposed, can pass up and down these rivers with perfect freedom. Fifth, the enlargement of the St. Lawrence and Welland Can-als to the same dimensions as those above proposed. Sixth, the construction of the French River, Ottawa and Montreal Canal, with the same sized locks and depth of water, thereby connecting Georgian Bay with tide water at Montreal. Seventh, the en-largement of the Trent Valley Canal from Midland, on Georgian Bay, to Murray Bay, on Lake Ontario, to the same dimensions."

SCOTSMEN PICNIC AT LAKESIDE

Great Gathering at Old Port Stanley.

Estimated That Over Six Thousand People Were Present.

Twas Most Successful Picnic in History of St. Andrew's and Scottish Societies.

The officers of St. Andrew's Society fairly earned the congratulations that they received yesterday for their splendid, successful picnic. Indeed, the offlcers this year have established two records that to excel will require strenuous efforts on the part of succeeding leaders of the society. The banquet last fall was notably the finest in its history, and there is no doubt whatever about this being the best picnic that has ever been held under Scottish auspices on the Port Stanley heights.

All things considered, the weather favored the picnic. The early morning | Sam Logan. murkiness was not sufficiently threatening to keep any people from the Port -rather the reverse, in fact, for the cooler air made the prospect of a day on the hill more agreeable than it would have been otherwise. When the first trainloads arrived by the lake, a mist, surely a good Scotch state of affairs, hung over all the grounds, and a drizzle of rain fell that was only damp enough to tickle the self-esteem of the wise ones who had brought umbrellas. But shortly after the first detachments climbed the hill, the sun's warm rays poked a passage through the clouds, and smiled thereafter upon the happiness that was everywhere apparent. Long trains of cars followed the first one rapidly, and the St. Andrew's men who looked fearfully at the sullen sky as they left in the early morning, were delighted as trainload after trainload rolled in with many hundreds of picnickers. A couple of thousand or more had their noonday meal on the hill, and the afternoon trains carried greater crowds. In point of attendance alone the success of the picnic was truly gratifying to those whose high expectations had been warranted by hard work. Each train that left London picked up crowds of excursionists at all the midway stations, and especially large numbers from St The estimate made by Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway Company was that over 6,000 people were on the hill-4,000 from London, 1, rounding the Port.

500 from St. Thomas, and considerably more than 500 from the country sur-The day of the Scotchmen's picnic is ever a lively and merry one. Perhaps the proverbial clannishness has some thing to do with the feeling of comradeship that is always a feature of the affair; certainly the Scotch hospitality has. The music has much to do with it, too. Who that has felt the thrill of the pipes' strains, and seen the proud form of George Angus or Tom McDonald, bearing up and down to the stirring tune of "Highland Laddie," could feel in any but a holiday mood? The arrangements in this regard were particularly effective yes-terday. Many an old Scotchman, with memories of the loved home land over the sea, and many a young man, too, with the blood of sturdy Scotch ancestors in his veins, thrilled with an in-describable enthusiasm when either the pipers or the 7th Band played the old airs that have sounded for ages among Scotia's hills and dales, and through the wide world where her sons have this did not stretch it out to a tire-some length. Anyway, they were fought out with such vigor and intensity that the spectators were greatly interested. The sports committee did a very sensible thing in running the hundred yards' dash on the beach. In past years a pretense of a full-length race has been put on, and even at that, comparatively few people saw it, while those who did were in the way. All could and did see the race yesterday, and the action of the committee in making the change was frequently heard praised. Years ago, steeplechase races were held on the killing course down one stairs, along the beach, and oack via the other, but were discontinued for several seasons because the contestants ended in various de-grees of exhaustion. The race was al-ways an interesting one, notwithstandng, and when revived yesterday on shortened course, was quite a popular feature. The men had to run a certain distance along the beach, and then up the high cliff. None of the chaps who were in it complained that it was not severe enough test. The men mostly were onlookers at the quoiting matcheswomen seemingly having small delight at seeing circlets of iron hurled at a white paper stuck in a round of clay. The sport was good from the quoiters' viewpoint, and many spectators always watched the matches. While the dancers were dancing the stand was surrounded by an immense throng, and the dancing aroused much enthusiasm Music was given by the pipers of the one old fellow, who appeared to hav clean forgotten himself, brought look, of mingled astonishment and amuse ment by singing aloud:

'Whare hae ye been sae braw, lad? Whare hae ye been sae brankie, O? O whare hae ye been sae braw, lad? Cam' ye by Killicrankie, O? An' ye hae been whare I hae been, Ye had na been so cantie, O; An' ye had seen what I had seen, On the braes o' Killicrankie, O.

The evening banquet was held as usual at the Fraser House, where Mine Host amply justified his reputation for serving a good table. It was a merry meal, at which they who sat down would all say with Bobbie Burns:

'Ye Pow'rs, wha mak mankind your care, And dish them out their bill o' fare, Auld Scotland wants nae sturking ware

That yaups in luggies; But, if you want her gratefu' prayer, Gie her a Haggis!"

President J. B. McKillop, Treasurer J. W. Jones, Secretary Fred Macfie, Assistant Secretary W. Y. Martin, and many prominent Scotchmen and guests were around the board, and the supper passed off very pleasantly. A few toasts were introduced and brief re sponses made. Toastmaster McKillop said that he regretted the unavoidable absence of Sir John Carling, Col. Leys, M.P.P., Col. Culver, United States consul, and others. After the King had been honored, the Governor-General and the United States, Rev. Mr. Mc-Intyre and Rev. Dr. McCrae, respectively, made eloquent and witty responses to the toasts, "Canada, the Land We Live In," and "Scotland, the Land of Our Forefathers." A toast "The "Domin tario Legislatures" and to "Sister Societies," for which Mr. John Stevely replied in behalf of the Irish Benevolent Society and Mr. J. B. Cox for St.
