A MACHINE COMPILED CENSUS.

The census of Canada is still progressing at a cost of $400 per day, and in a short time it is expected that Mr. Blue will be able to announce the number of sheep killed in Canada in 1900. In order that this may be done correctly, Hon. Sidney Fisher has supplied the Census Department with a number of "adding machines." Under the old system, it was doubtful if the census would be completed by 1911, but with machinery better things are hoped for. Already its advantages are evidenced by the impending bulletins in regard to dead sheep, and even more startling revelations are anticipated. The machinery is similar to that adopted by banks and other institutions where columns of figures have to be added quickly and accurately. Up to the time the machines entered his department, Mr. Blue seems to have been unable to secure either speed or accuracy. The inventor of the device deserves the hearty thanks of the Canadian taxpayer, and those who in a moment of weakness have accepted early census returns in good faith. The "machine" has wrought wonders for the Liberal party and may still be relied on to accomplish even more extraordinary results.

A WONDERFUL BIBLE CLASS.

Those who imagine the Bible is losing its power with men will read the following account of the Massey Hall Bible classes in Toronto with interest. The Toronto World, which has not a Sunday school reputation, says of these meetings:

Bible students crowded Massey Hall last night to the number of several thousands. It was the seventh meeting of the big class established by W. R. Newell, of Chicago, for the weekly study of the Bible. The efforts of the Moody Institute of Chicago, under whose directions similar classes have been established in St. Louis and Detroit, have received most extraordinary encouragement in Toronto. The services last night were attended by several hundred more than could be accommodated. Five hundred people compose the great choir alone. They are seated on the stage.

Mr. Newell does not pretend any particularly original methods in handling Bible classes, but he is an enterprising talker and a fine biblical scholar, and his enthusiasm is contagious. Each person attending the class is supplied with a sheet containing the night's lesson, usually a specially selected chapter, and in this manner individual interest is kept up in spite of the vast number. Lessons for the following weeks are given out each Tuesday evening.

The entire work is supported by the Moody Bible Institute, and the only aid received is in the way of free will offerings at each meeting of the class. The class is not always composed of the same people, the hall being filled each week. Many prominent local church workers are contributing to the success of the meetings, which are wholly undenominational.

Just think of it! A Bible class so large as to crowd Massey Hall week after week and hundreds turned away! It is evident the Bible has lost none of its popularity as a lamp of life, and that if there is any apparent decline of interest the reason therefor must be looked for elsewhere.

Church of England Clergymen.

In England a clergyman of the Church of England may not ride to hounds, resort to any tavern or lodge or board therein, play dice or cards or "tables," meet his colleagues in a private house to discuss grievances or decide on a joint course of action, farm more than eighty acres of land, engage in or carry on any trade or dealing for gain or profit, reside outside the bounds of his own parish, give or offer to any patron of an ecclesiastical benefice money or money's worth as an inducement for his presentation thereto.

Furthermore he may not seek election as a member of parliament, and should be by concealing the fact that he is a clerk in holy orders succeed in becoming elected he is forbidden to take his seat or to vote under a penalty of £500 a day, to be forfeited, together with all costs of action, to any one who cares to sue him for the same. Neither may he aspire to the offices of town councillor, alderman or mayor, although by a curious anomaly of ecclesiastical law he may be a county, parish or district alderman or councillor.—Pearson's.

Streets of Old Egypt.

Some very interesting papyri were unearthed at Fayum, in Egypt, and among them was a directory showing the location of the streets in the ancient city of Arsinoe. In many respects this directory is very similar to a modern one.

Here, for example, are the names of the principal streets in Arsinoe: School street, Lower street, South street, West street, Cloth street, Arabian street, Thracian street, Clodius street, Demetrius street, Therapsia street, Church street, King street and Emperor's square.

Some of these names may seem strange to us, yet if we analyze them we shall find very little difference between them and the names of the streets in modern cities. In New York city there is no Thracian street or Demetrius street, but there are a Little Italy, and a Madison square?

Merely the Wrong Man.

Rivers was angry. The little water color painting which he prized highly and had sent out to have properly framed was returned to him cheaply and wretchedly mounted and with ger marks on the margin of the painting itself.

He strode into the picture framing establishment in a towering rage.

"What do you mean, you blacksmith," he said to the proprietor, "by sending me a job like that? Did you think you were putting a tire on a wagon wheel?"

"Mine friend," explained the proprietor, "I didn't know dot vos such a delicate chob. I could haf put my delicate man on it."

Bright's Sacrament.

Once in the course of a speech which was punctuated by interruptions in parliament John Bright was saying, "Personally I do not feel disposed to wage war against these Philistines," when an unruly member of his audience shouted, "Hee-haw!" "If, however," Mr. Bright continued without pause, "my friend at the back of the hall will lend me one of his jaws I shall be encouraged to reconsider my attitude, in view of the historic success of Samson when provided with a similar weapon."

Getting a Free Ad.

A story is told of a colored butler in one of New York's most fashionable suburbs who, being given a hundred or more invitations to a social function for delivery, could not resist the temptation to slip into each a message circular of his wife, who was seeking patients. The surprise and consternation of the invited guests at receiving the two documents may easily be imagined.

OUT OF THE FOLD

A PLAY THAT KNOCKS AT EVERY DOOR

HAS CREATED MUCH COMMENT. "Out of the Fold" has created much comment than any play written in recent years. There is a subtle fascination in the intensely interesting story told by the author, Langdon McCormick which cannot fail to appeal to every theatre-goer. The originality of its theme selected and the delicate treatment accorded a subject which deals with one of the great social problems makes it a notable dramatic work. The title carries with it the suggestion of its story, for it deals with the life of a young woman who has erred and repented, and yet is forced out of the pale of society and the village church, and yet struggles on working out her salvation through tears and trials. The comedy of the play is cleverly furnished by the village characters and the local school with the class and their arduous efforts to acquire the rudiments of education. Special scenery with new effects add to the completeness of the production. "Out of the Fold" appears at the Grand on Saturday evening, Dec. 6th.

BRAKEMAN MET DEATH BY FALLING BENEATH CAR

Fatal Accident in Local Lake Erie Yards this Morning—
Brakeman Williams Slipped and Fell
Beneath Moving Cars.

A fatal accident occurred in the Lake Erie Yards on Colborne street this morning, as a result of which Ernest Williams, one of the brakemen in the employ of the company, is now lying dead at Coltart & Wilson's morgue.

The yard engine was making up a train in the yards this morning about half-past seven o'clock and Williams was engaged in coupling and uncoupling cars. Conductor Winegarden was in charge of the train. The engine had just taken a car of lumber off the main siding and was backing it up on the Manson Campbell spur.

While the train was moving, Conductor Winegarden signalled Williams to uncouple the car with the lumber. Williams promptly stepped between the two cars and attempted to pull the pin which fastened them together. He found that the pin would not draw, as the train was moving too fast.

Conductor Winegarden signalled the engine to "slow up." This was done and Williams pulled out the pin and stepped clear of the track with his hand that everything was all right, he stepped back again between the cars to put the pin on the coupling board. It was then that he slipped on the snow which covered the ground and tracks, and fell forward over the rail.

It was all done so quickly that before Conductor Winegarden, who was the only man who saw the accident, could not stop the train; the car wheels had passed over the unfortunate man's body from hip to shoulder. L. E. Tillson was speedily called and he and Winegarden removed Williams to the freight office, but by the time he reached the office life was extinct. Williams could not utter a word after he fell. Although he was not cut, the life was completely crushed out of him.

The deceased man is a son of Conductor Williams, of Tillsonburg, who runs on the G. T. R. between Tillsonburg and Harrisburg. He was formerly a G. T. R. fireman, but was engaged as brakeman on the Lake Erie about nine months ago. He has been working all summer on the work-train and this morning he was put on the yard engine gang to relieve Brakeman Poole, who is ill. He had been working only an hour when his death occurred. He was about 25 years of age and unmarried. He was a member of the A. O. F.

Bray, coroner, was called, and after hearing the particulars of the accident he decided that death was purely accidental and that no inquest was necessary. The deceased's father was telegraphed to by Mr. Tillson, and is expected to arrive in the city to-day.

In speaking of the accident Conductor Winegarden said:—"I can't understand how it was that, when he succeeded in pulling the pin and stepping clear of the track, he went back between the cars while the train was moving. It is generally the custom to leave the pin on the coupling board, but he could have done that just as well after the train was stopped. There is no doubt, however, that it was an accident."

Archibald Skirling, detective of the road, in conversation with The Planet, said:—"I would not accept any amount of money and take the chances that some of these brakemen take. I have seen them sometimes give themselves just enough time to clear a track when a second's delay would mean instant death. They get so used to the work that they can see no danger. I often wonder that there are not more killed."

The deceased man was insured in the Canadian Railway Accident Insurance Company, with Aitken & Wilson, of this city.

BURIAL OF HERR KRUPP.

EMPEROR WILLIAM IN FUNERAL PROCESSION.

The Vorwaerts Attacks the Krupp Schemes of Insurance and Benefits for the Employees.

Essen, Russia, Nov. 27.—The remains of Herr Krupp were buried. The obsequies were impressive. Emperor William followed the hearse on foot from the old home of the deceased's grandfather to the cemetery. Practically the entire population of Essen attended the funeral.

A statement was issued that the Emperor was indignant at the cruelty and malice of the Social Democratic charges made against deceased.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—The Socialist organ, Vorwaerts, in a page and a half, deals with what it calls the "hypocrisy of idealizing Herr Krupp as a benevolent genius." The paper does not touch on the immediate charges which it brought against the deceased man, but analyzes the pension system of the Krupp firm which, it says, is a "species of refined swindling." The enormous so-called benevolent funds have been built up by compulsory contributions from the employees, who could be arbitrarily deprived of participation in the advantages. They are required to contribute 2 1/2 per cent. of their wages for twenty years before they are eligible to a pension upon disability. In the meantime, if an employee is discharged or resigns, he loses all he has contributed, often exceeding $250. The employees are morally and economically terrorized and must in humility accept every petty regulation of the firm's officials or lose 2 1/2 per cent. of what they have earned in the firm's service. This terrorism is applied to political opinions, where they become known. The number of men leaving the firm after the last three years averaged seven to eight thousand yearly. The employees found the system so unsatisfactory that five great meetings were held this year for the purpose of seeking legal redress.

TURKEY BUYING ARMS.

EXPENDITURE OF NEARLY FOUR MILLION DOLLARS.

Purchases Were Accelerated by Recent Developments in Macedonia and the Balkans.

Constantinople, Nov. 27.—Sixteen batteries of quick-firing field guns, numbering 96 guns in all, have been ordered from the Krupp works, as the commencement of the re-armament of the Turkish artillery. The War Ministry is also authorized to purchase 220,000 small calibre Mausers, to complete the present establishment. With weapons and ammunition for the artillery, the orders entail an outlay of $3,880,000.

The purchases were apparently accelerated in consequence of the recent developments in the situation in Macedonia and the Balkans, and the impression prevailing in many quarters here that a serious outbreak, possibly leading to widespread European complications, may be expected in the spring.

THE QUITO BEACHED.

THRILLING RESCUE OF OFFICERS AND CREW.

Mate McGraw's Terrific Jump For Life—Splendid Work of Tug Cascade and Life-saving Crew.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 27.—A special to The Express from Lorain, Ohio, says:—"The propeller Quito last evening tried to make this port with iron ore from Escanaba. A heavy northeast gale was raging, and the sea ran high. The propeller Quito ran on the beach outside the piers, near the harbor. The tug Cascade went out immediately to the rescue and took off twelve of the crew and the woman cook. Four others aboard, two engineers and two mates, were in their cabins, packing up some things. The tug had to get away from the steamer and the four men were left aboard."

Soon after the Cascade landed the rescued men and women were made from the imperilled steamer. The men aboard feared they would go to pieces. The Cascade again went out into the storm, towing a lifeboat. The sea was running so high by that time that the tug could not get near enough to the propeller for the men aboard to get the lifeboat. That project was then abandoned.

Captain Bowen then took the wheel of the Cascade and shot her close up to the propeller so that the first mate, O. J. McGraw, managed to jump to the tug's deck. The tug swept by before the other men had time to make the leap. The sea was so high that the tug did not dare to remain by the propeller any longer, and she turned and scudded for the harbor.

The three men remaining were taken off the Quito early this morning by the life-saving crew of Cleveland.

The propeller Quito is a wooden vessel. She is 204 feet long, 36-foot beam and 22-foot depth. She was built at Bangor, Mich., in 1873 and was owned by James Corrigan of Cleveland.

JAMAICA'S SUGAR-GROWERS.

Agitating For Reciprocity With the United States.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 27.—The newspapers, planters and merchants of Jamaica are joining in an agitation, with the view of inducing the Government to open negotiations with Washington for a reciprocity treaty along lines likely to meet with the approval of the United States. It is felt that the full advantages of the abolition of the sugar bounties will be lost unless some such treaty is forthcoming.

New... Currants

For years back we have had the reputation of having the Finest and Cleanest Fruit in Town. Last year was no exception—we know from the number of compliments we received on our fruit. This year is going to far excel last year, for the reason that we bought early, therefore getting the best fruit at a much lower price than you would get by buying now.

Our Currants we buy already cleaned, but although they could be sold just as we get them they are not clean enough for use. We put them through a revolving currant mill, that cleans them as clean as most currants are cleaned, but in order to have them perfect we finish them up by putting them on the sieve and cleaning them so that there is nothing left but Good, Clean Currants.

CHAMOIS VESTS AND CHEST PROTECTORS

KEEP THE COLD OUT

Too much cold outside is quite apt to mean a cold inside the chest. And the most colds are not taken in extreme temperatures, but when the weather suddenly changes—something it is apt to do often about now. Fall cold often mean winter-long coughs and permanent lung or bronchial trouble. The best defence for those who take cold easily is a good Chamois Vest or Chest Protector. We have the good kinds. The cheapest are good, the best are better. Our prices are reasonable on all.

VACCINATION LAW FAILS.

DR. BRYCE URGES NECESSITY FOR NEW LEGISLATION.

Many Local Health Authorities Neglect Their Duty in This and in the Matter of Preventing Fifth-Health Board Meets.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—The failure of the vaccination law passed in 1883 was strongly impressed upon the Provincial Board of Health yesterday by the Secretary, Dr. P. H. Bryce, in his quarterly report. The provision for the appointment of public vaccinators by municipalities or local boards of health was in a great majority of instances wholly neglected. The result was that there was growing up a population largely unvaccinated, which condition would be very serious should smallpox break out in the cities, towns and villages, where 45 per cent. of the population of Ontario resided. Such a condition had existed in American cities, when, in 1901, 500,000 people were compulsorily vaccinated in Boston, and nearly 1,000,000 in Philadelphia. Dr. Bryce suggested new and simpler legislation, which would provide for a specially appointed public vaccinator; for instance, the Medical Health Officer, to whom the clerk would send a list monthly of the births of all children registered, and the officer would then visit them at their homes and offer free vaccination. The cost to an ordinary township of 3,000 people would not exceed $100 a year. Where free vaccination was refused, the provision would be made that the child would not be admitted to public or private schools without producing a certificate of vaccination. The bill would, probably, include the present provisions covering the circumstances of an outbreak of smallpox.

In the other portion of his report, Dr. Bryce made some stringent criticisms of the neglect of many local health boards and a large portion of the public with regard to the dangers of fifth. The situation called for some radical action. Reports of rather extensive outbreaks of enteric at Burk's Falls and Sault Ste. Marie, due to bad sanitation, were also submitted by Dr. Bryce. Smallpox had not been prevalent, but its existence in the neighboring States threatened another epidemic this winter, and there were now 50 cases in the Province. The report was adopted.

The report of the Committee on Epidemics, submitted by Dr. J. J. Cassidy, expressed great satisfaction at the recent action of the Hamilton City Council in being the first in Ontario to pass a by-law requiring all practicing physicians to notify the Medical Health Officer of the existence of all cases of pulmonary consumption which they are attending. This step had been urged by the committee in June, 1900.

The Ontario Order of Humility, I. O. O. F., held a grand feast in the auditorium last night. Sixteen candidates were initiated. A supper was given. Visitors were present from Rosine, Detroit, Blenheim and other places. There were in all about 20 present.

DETROIT VS. GALT.

The Association football match today at Bennett Park between the Galt team, the Canadian champions, and a picked team of Detroit players from the Peninsular League will not doubt prove a good holiday attraction for all lovers of the kicking game in the city. The Galt team is undoubtedly the strongest in the country, but the Detroit management has selected a team which, it believes, will force the Galts to play their strongest game to come out ahead.

Earl Kidd, captain and half back for the home team, is the best full back in the league, and with Williams and Thorburn will present a first class line of defense. Meinke and Stricker are two old experienced players in their positions at full-back, and with Fierth, the goal man, will complete a defense which the Detroit team think Galt will not be able to pass. The forward line, like that of the visiting team, is light, but fast. The game will start at three o'clock—Detroit Free Press.

LOOKING FOR INVESTMENT.

Another Chicago Syndicate In-vested in New Ontario.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The news of Mr. Egan's colonization scheme for new Ontario has aroused a great deal of interest in and around Chicago, and many enquiries are being received by the Colonization Bureau. Mr. John F. Langham, a Chicago attorney, and formerly a resident of St. Thomas, is now in the Province, inquiring respecting the land and timber resources of northern Ontario. He has already made some enquiries at the Parliament buildings, and will return in a day or two to secure further particulars. It is understood that Mr. Langham represents clients of considerable wealth, who, if satisfied with the outlook, would be willing to invest a large sum in the undeveloped resources of this country.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Grain is Lower—The Live Stock Trade—Latest Quotations.

Monday Evening, Nov. 25.

Offerings of grain, hay and straw on the street market here today were heavier, and there was also more interest in dressed hogs. Prices were in general lower than the total receipts of a day were 6,900 bushels.

Toronto Live Stock.

Trade was lively at the Toronto Cattle Market today and everything sold readily. There was a fairly good inquiry for all classes of stock and the market was active.

There was a shortage of the higher grades. Fine quality of medium and heavy cattle were plentiful enough, and these produced the only business during the day's business.

Prices were steady to firm, and some advances were noted. Exporters were a shade higher, the excellent demand being accounted for by the necessities of space.

Butcher's were better, and the gilt-edged fat was sold at 10c to 11c. Short and medium feeders were lighter, and the other weights were firm. Hogs were held steady, and the market was active.

INTERESTING FACTS.

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts.

People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single box of the tablets made a complete cure, and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported.

From a hundred or more received, we have space to publish only a few of the latest but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each letter in its entirety and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmelier, LaCrosse, Wis.: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends who have also had the same benefits.

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right a hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets.

From Mrs. M. K. Preston, Minn.: I have received surprising good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend who also suffered from indigestion and she had the same good results.

From Mrs. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich.: I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much better, and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for stomach trouble only, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

CASTRO INTERVIEWED.

LOOKS TO UNITED STATES TO PROTECT VENEZUELA.

Will Resist to the End the Aggression of Any Foreign Power—Expects Entry of Force.

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 25.—President Castro, in an interview said the revolution had received its death-blow, and he hoped to be able to proclaim generally peace on January 1.

He added: "Following the declaration of peace, the Government will discharge its obligations, improve its credit, and reorganize the fiscal system of the country. Every effort will be made to attract foreign capital, which is needed to exploit the rich agricultural, commercial and industrial resources of Venezuela. There will be ample guarantees for the security of funds invested in Venezuela, and the closest relations with the United States, which has already signally opposed the aggression of foreign powers. The Government is confident that, combined of the justice of our cause, the United States will render Venezuela assistance in her future difficulties. Well supported and well armed, the Monroe doctrine is of the greatest possible importance and value. Questions with European governments are amicably settled, if they have the same desire for friendly relations. We, the Venezuelan people, united, patriotic and courageous, form a force which will manfully resist any attempt to infringe our sovereignty or invade our territory."

"With respect to Colombia, the Government of Venezuela is advised that there has been an invasion of our territory from that country, the seventh in three years. It is our earnest desire to avert war with Colombia, and we are prepared to arrange for a settlement when peace is declared and the courts resume their functions."

AN UNBIASED IMPRESSION.

The Leeds Mercury another of the traveling journalists in Canada goes into raptures over prairie flowers and the beauties of prairie life.

The correspondent of The Manchester Guardian devotes special attention to the delights of French Canada, and it is useful to note the impression which this unbiased Englishman carries away from a survey of the relations between the two races of the Province. "It is only safe to say," he writes, "that the racial feeling is pretty strong on the part of the French, that there is almost no intermarriage, even among the upper circles of society. At the same time animosity would be far too strong a word to describe the feeling."

He goes on to say that the feeling is pretty strong on the part of the French, that there is almost no intermarriage, even among the upper circles of society. At the same time animosity would be far too strong a word to describe the feeling."

ANECDOTES OF COL. STEELE.

His Unique and Pointed Reply to a Complaining British Officer.

Since the khaki fellows came back on around the head of Col. Sam Steele of the Strathconas. This dashing regiment was a complete puzzle to the ordinary British officer. They fought brilliantly, rode like centaurs, and shot like Wimbledon prize men. They were as brave as lions and as cunning as serpents. They could beat the Boer at his own game of stalking the foe, killing from cover, inflicting the maximum of damage on the enemy at the minimum of cost to themselves. The Boers early learned to recognize the Strathconas as more than their match. They feared them mortally, and particularly disliked a little Strathcona pastime known as "lassing the Dutchies." The Strathconas all had the cowboy knack of the lariat, and liked nothing better than to ride down a Boer commando and rope them of their horses. It was a bulky way of doing it, and the Boers openly preferred a Lee-Netford bullet. The Strathconas were acknowledged to be the finest body of irregular cavalry ever gotten together, as gallant in the field as they were deadly behind a ridge and as scouts giving the Boers a and spades. But they had the western breeziness of manner and the democratic instincts of the great plains. They obeyed orders and respected their officers, but they did not deal in outward forms and ceremonies. Their gallant colonel was spoken of behind his back and to his face as "Sam." There was no insult in it, just an intimation that he was one of themselves who had risen by his superior merits.

Colonel Steele was sitting one afternoon on the stoop of the village hotel, at one of the innumerable "bonfires" captured in Roberts' advance. His Stetson hat was slouched over his eyes, his heels were at an angle of ninety degrees, and he was sucking somberly at a strong briar-root pipe. A fussy little red-headed British major came up and said:

"Colonel Steele, I presume?"

"That's me."

"Well, Colonel, I encountered a patrol of your men down the line, and blawed me, they did, and salute."

The colonel drew his pipe from his mouth for a minute. Six feet two, big hearted, good natured, man-as-a-man-for-a-fact, looked down quickly at him, and said:

"Didn't salute you, eh? Why, the confounded rogues won't salute ME."

THE SPLASHING HOUSE.

A French Yarn That Was Printed to Ridicule Englishmen.

One of the most extraordinary tales ever invented about Englishmen by foreigners was the "splashing house" story, given to the world by the Paris Journal Patrie in 1868. An ingenious writer in the paper gravely informed his readers that in the suburbs of London were houses where "earth beaten up into mud is retained." To these houses men were accustomed to resort in hunting kit for the purpose of being splashed with mud.

"These curious establishments are provided with muds of different countries, but principally of those countries where the hunting is best. The sale of the mud is conducted in the most serious manner imaginable; the attendant inquires, 'From what country, sir, do you wish to be supposed you have just returned?' 'From the county of Kent,' the pretended sportsman thereupon takes a seat on a wooden horse whose legs throw up the selected mud; after having been well splashed the customer pays his bill (3 shillings), casts an eye of approbation toward the mirror, takes a whip in his hand and goes to exhibit his muddy clothes in Piccadilly, Bond street or Pall Mall, in order that it may be supposed that he has just returned from a grand hunt."

In addition to the chance of marrying an heiress which this remarkable display of dirty clothes confers on their wearers, says the French newspaper, the patron of the "splashing house" has another more immediate advantage. "The mud with which he is splashed affords, if not proof, strong presumptive evidence that he is a landed proprietor in the county whose mud bespatters him." And landed proprietors being held in vast esteem as solvent and desirable creditors, the man can obtain anything he likes at any shop on credit.

One wonders whether such a wonderful tale finds any believers among those who read it—London Live Stock Journal.

JUMPING THE DEER.

A Style of Hunting That Looks Easy Till You Try It.

"Jumping a deer" is a highly attractive phrase, quite apt to make a tingle in the back hair of the tenderfoot who hears it for the first time. It is also intensely satisfactory to the club who always has to shove before winning nature. You may, indeed, get a good shot in this way, and it is generally the only way to see the grandest of all the sights of the woods—deer running through a windfall. To see the glossy curves of fur curl over the lofty legs that he piled on each other in boundless confusion is well worth a trip to the woods, while for him who loves the ride as I do, more for what cannot be done with it than for what can, there is no such target elsewhere. But for the tyro who is dying to get that first deer, "jumping a deer" generally means out of sight and out of hearing. For the deer that goes off to lie down after feeding does not go to sleep, but to ruminate and take life easy. Once in a great while one falls into a doze, but almost always the head is well erect and all senses keen for danger. And even if one is in a doze it may slip away without your suspecting its existence, for sleep deadens the senses of this wary animal. The man who "wouldn't shoot such an innocent creature as a deer" should by all means see one getting out of a heavy windfall, while the man who loves game that can get away can here find the attraction of the woods at its climax—"Hunting the Virginia deer" in Outing.

The golden age is before us, not behind us.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one divided disease that science has been able to cure in all its states, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient health and strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Case of Indigestion that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cannot Cure—Halibarton Man Tells How His Sufferings Were Relieved.

That bloating that gives you such pain and discomfort after eating is caused by gas generated by the fermentation and undigested food. It bulges out the walls of the stomach and thus frequently interferes with the action of the heart.

The cure is to have your food properly digested. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will properly digest the food. Hear what A. D. Miller, of Pacey, Halibarton Co., has to say about it.

"I had been troubled with Dyspepsia and indigestion and during the summer of 1900 my doctor treated me for Liver Complaint," says Mr. Miller. "But instead of getting better, I gradually grew worse. My sleep was irregular and I was bloated very much after eating. I also had palpitation of the heart and sometimes I could not sleep at night on account of my heart beating so hard."

"I was hardly able to get around when I commenced using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using half a box I felt much better and was soon well and felt like a new man." Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets rest and recuperate the stomach. They have yet to find the case of Indigestion they cannot cure.

It doesn't take dynamite to blast hopes.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offering letters being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and answers being sent in plain envelopes without advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as "a God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

A Happy Thought.
"Your ladyship" advises the head physician to the cannibal king, "the best abandon your meat diet for a few weeks."

"What shall I do?" muses the king, a hungry look spreading over his countenance.

"Ah," he smiles as a happy thought strikes him, "those last missionaries who came to the island said they were vegetarians."

Of London Fog.
A Frenchman was paying his first visit to London and was walking through Hyde park on one of the many foggy metropolitan mornings with an English friend.

"Fog! Ha, ha, mon frere," ejaculated the Frenchman, "now I understand you mean you say ze sun never set or your dominion. Ma foi, it does not rise."

A Connoisseur.
"Papa," said the boy, "when you say in your advertisements that your goods are acknowledged by connoisseurs to be the best what do you mean by connoisseurs?"

"A connoisseur, my boy," answered the great manufacturer, "is an eminent authority—an authority, in short, who admits that our goods are the best."

The Mouse's Side.
First Mouse—You don't mean to say you are afraid of women?

Second Mouse—No, I'm not afraid of them, but they have such a way of screaming, you know, Really it just upsets me completely.

The Ant's Toilet.
A naturalist has been making observations on the toilets of certain ants, and has discovered that each insect goes through most elaborate ablutions. They are not only performed by herself, but by another, who acts for the time as lady's maid. The assistant starts by washing the face of her companion, and then goes over the whole body. The attitude of the ant that is being washed is one of intense satisfaction. She lies down with all her limbs stretched loosely out; she rolls over on her side, even her back, a perfect picture of ease. The pleasure the little insect evinces in being thus combed and sponged is really enjoyable to the observer.

The Way of the World.
We met the people going one way with their arms loaded with beautiful flowers.

"Whither do you drift?" we asked. "We go," they exclaimed, "to adorn the graves of our dead heroes."

Later on we met them with their arms full of bricks.

"And now where?" we asked again. "To throw these on at our living heroes," they again explained, with pitying smiles at our dumbness.

The Small Brother.
"I heard him call you 'duckie,'" announced the small brother.

"Well, what of it?" demanded his sister defiantly.

"Oh, nothing much," answered the small brother. "I was only thinking maybe it's because of the way you walk, but it ain't very nice of him."

The Real Boy.
"What does Freddy like to play?" asked the caller.

"Freddy," replied papa, "likes to play whatever games his mother and I decide are too rough for him."

Sleep the Best Brain Stimulant.

The best possible thing for a man to do when he feels too weak to carry anything through is to go to bed and sleep as long as he can. This is the only recuperation of brain power, the only actual recuperation of brain force, because during sleep the brain is in a state of rest, in a condition to receive and appropriate particles of nutriment from the blood which take the place of those which have been consumed by previous labor, since the very act of thinking burns up solid particles, as every turn of the wheel or screw of the steamer is the result of consumption by fire of the fuel in the furnace.

The supply of consumed brain substance can only be had from the nutritive particles in the blood which were obtained from the food eaten previously, and the brain is so constituted that it can best receive and appropriate to itself those nutritive particles during a state of rest, of quiet and stillness of sleep. More stimulants supply nothing in themselves. They tend the brain and force it to greater consumption of its substance until it is so exhausted that there is not power enough left to receive a supply.—Exchange.

No Offense Intended.
A regular customer of a certain coal company dropped into the office of the firm one morning to make a complaint. "That coal you sold me for my furnace a few weeks ago," he said, "is the worst I have had in ten years. There's a great quantity of slate in it, and what isn't slate runs to cinders."

"Sorry to hear it, Mr. Williams," said the man inside the railing. "I'll make a memorandum of it. Perhaps the company will give you a rebate on it."

Taking a slip of paper, he wrote a few words on it and hung it on a book. The customer, happening to glance at the slip of paper, said this: "G. G. Williams. Bad egg."

"So I'm a bad egg, am I?" he asked, reddening with indignation.

"Oh, not at all, Mr. Williams," hastily explained the clerk. "That means that the egg coal we sold you turns out to be bad."

And the customer reddened again, but not from indignation.

Have You Mysophobia?
Mysophobia is the scientific name for a complaint the symptoms of which are familiar to every one. "Molecular fastidiousness" would be a roundabout way of expressing the same thing. "A person suffering from mysophobia," says a medical journal, "on taking his seat at table begins by scrutinizing closely every article placed there for his use. He holds his tumbler up to the light to see if it is free from finger marks, he scans his napkin to make sure that it is immaculate, and one by one each object is critically passed in review. In advanced cases the sufferer mechanically wipes the various articles, using the napkin for the purpose." But there is compensation in everything, and what may be an annoying idiosyncrasy in a guest becomes an undeniable virtue in a domestic servant.—Chicago News.

"Presence of Mind" Smith.
The dean of Christchurch in the thirties was known as "Presence of Mind" Smith. A well known tradition of the name. Going down to Nuneaton with a friend in his undergraduate days, he returned alone.

"Where is T?" "Well, we had an accident. The boat leaked, and while we were bailing it T fell over into the water. He caught hold of the skiff and pulled it down to the water's edge. Neither of us could swim, and if I had not, with great presence of mind, hit him on the head with the boat-hook, both would have been drowned."

Leprosy, Fish and Arsenic.
A lecturer at the London polytechnic declared at a recent meeting that the progress of leprosy could be arrested if sufferers would abstain from eating fish. He cited several cases in his own experience. One was that of a man who was blind from leprosy and who had had muscular atrophy for fifteen years. After eighteen months' abstinence, taking at the same time small doses of arsenic, all traces of patches had disappeared from his hands and feet.

For Amateur Photographers.
Users of films will find that after development and fixing they may be washed with ease and certainty by planning the strips to a piece of board and floating the same, film down, in the tank. In this way they may be left indefinitely without attention, and the chemicals to be eliminated from the film are heavier than the water the process is simple and thorough.

The Last Request.
An amateur sportsman had mistaken a calf for a deer, and the calf was breathing its last.

"Tell mother," gasped the dying martyr, addressing the sympathetic sheep that stood near by—"tell mother that I died game!"

Another struggle, and the agony was over.

THE NOMINATION MEETING FOR ARGENTEUILL.

T. CHRISTIE AND G. H. PERLEY
THE CANDIDATES.

MINISTERS AND POLITICAL LEADERS SPEAK.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Nominations were made at Lachute to fill the vacancy in Argenteuill created in the House of Commons by the death of the late Dr. Christie. Those nominated were Mr. Thos. Christie, son of the late member, and Mr. Geo. H. Perley of Ottawa, the latter, of course, being in the Conservative interest, the former in the Liberal. The formal proceedings took place in the court house and were entirely devoid of interest. Mr. Thos. Christie, the returning officer, went through the necessary proceedings for holding a poll, and the crowd then adjourned to the rink, which was only a few yards distant. Even the oldest campaigner, who is used to all kinds of places for holding political meetings, will remember that rink for the rest of his days. It is a spacious structure with an earthen floor, covered by a copious layer of sawdust. Both ends of the building are made of slate with generous intersections, through which the first snow of the season blew freely. On the temporary platform was a stove with a pipe extending about half-way to the roof. From this the smoke and sparks were emitted in great profusion. A public-spirited elector, who feared that the rink might take fire, procured a stepladder and an elbow, which latter he eventually succeeded in placing on top of the stove pipe, thus deflecting the sparks from the woodwork. His conduct was greeted with great applause. There were present about 1,200 people, including a number of ladies, who were seated on the raised walk around the side of the rink. The crowd was such that it was impossible for the audience to keep still, and consequently a steady hum of conversation, with occasional noisy interruptions, interfered considerably with the speakers. A difference of opinion resulted in the selection of a chairman resulted in two being chosen—Capt. W. H. Evans to represent the Liberals and Mr. John McKee on behalf of the Conservatives. Apart from this there was no clashing of divergent interests during the afternoon. It was arranged that each side should have two hours to speak, each candidate to take ten minutes, and the parties to be represented respectively by Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. William Patterson, Hon. M. E. Brainer and Mr. W. A. Weir, M.P., on behalf of the Government, while Messrs. P. D. Monk, M.P., J. G. H. Bergeron and Andrew Broder, M.P., spoke for the Conservatives.

Mr. Christie, who opened, acquitted himself creditably, his remarks being pointed and his sentences well chosen. He confined himself to a declaration that the Liberal party favored freer trade, not free trade. He also quoted figures to show the prosperity which Canada has enjoyed under the present regime. Mr. Geo. H. Perley claimed that his being a resident of Ottawa would prevent him from representing the constituency properly, as he would not be in the capital for a large part of the year, and declared that his interests in the country were such as to lead him to always have a warm regard for its welfare. Hon. Sydney Fisher spoke vigorously and gave a clear statement of the steps taken by the Government to develop the system of cold-storage, transportation, and the declared that the Department of Agriculture was fairly entitled to some credit for what had been done in this respect. He also touched on the question of cold-storage, transportation, and the declared that the Department of Agriculture was fairly entitled to some credit for what had been done in this respect. He also touched on the question of cold-storage, transportation, and the declared that the Department of Agriculture was fairly entitled to some credit for what had been done in this respect.

Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P., indulged in some reflections on the Government's immigration policy. As to the tariff, he asked for a plain declaration of what the Government intended to do. He claimed that in Argenteuill the Liberals were running the campaign on the cry that they wanted a low tariff, while at the same time Mr. Prefontaine, a member of the Cabinet, was assuring the electors of Maisonneuve that the manufacturers would find their wishes met by the Administration at Ottawa. The Conservative policy, Mr. Monk declared, was perfectly plain. It was a policy of adequate protection, and the country was entitled to a plain statement of the Government's position that had yet been made.

Hon. Wm. Patterson was the next speaker. The difficulties against which the orators had to struggle may be understood from the fact that at times even Mr. Patterson could hardly be heard on the outskirts of the gathering. He spoke chiefly of the incidence of the customs taxes, pointing out that they were lower than under the former tariff, and that a customs tariff was a proper form of taxation, because it was paid only by those who chose to purchase imported goods, a matter which was entirely within the discretion of the individual citizen.

Mr. Andrew Broder, M.P., made a rather humorous address. He referred to the number of Cabinet Ministers in the constituency, and argued that the Liberals must be very much frightened since they were making such great efforts to hold the constituency. "The patient must be in a bad way," said Mr. Broder, "when four doctors have to be called to attend him."

The contest in Argenteuill is conceded to be the warmest in the history of the country. Both sides are thoroughly organized, and are putting forth their utmost efforts. The Liberals are confident that Mr. Christie will win by a comfortable majority.

THE MINERS SURPRISED.

STATEMENT REGARDING BREAK IN NEGOTIATIONS.

Ready to Go On Before the Commissioners, and Have No Fear as to Result.

Scranton, Nov. 27.—Quite in contrast with the happy faces of the independent operators' committee when it returned from New York last night were the countenances of the miners' representatives when they returned from their disappointing trip to Washington. How the latter view the sudden and surprising turn of affairs is well set forth in the following statement issued by Messrs. Darrow, and Lloyd, the miners' attorneys, who accompanied Mr. Mitchell to Washington:—"The commission adjourned for ten days, in pursuance of an arrangement between the parties, to give opportunity for conciliation on account of a telegram, which, we understand, was written by George F. Baer, in the presence of and with the consent of every road concerned, and signed by Wayne MacVeagh. This telegram was written after a careful reading of the tentative agreement, which had been prepared and written by counsel of both parties, and which had been submitted to Mr. MacVeagh, Messrs. Mitchell, Darrow and Lloyd went to Washington to consult upon some minor details of the agreement. There was no friction or important disagreement between the parties at the meeting in Washington. Later in the day, and after the conference in New York with the independent operators, Mr. MacVeagh received a telegram calling off all negotiations, and advising that the matter be settled by the commission in a regular hearing."

"The man who wrote the telegram to Judge Gray stating that the main feature of the contract were acceptable was the same man who signed the telegram to Wayne MacVeagh, three or four days later, stating that negotiations must end. A copy of the tentative agreement is in the hands of Wayne MacVeagh, Mr. Wilcox of the Delaware & Hudson Company, Carroll D. Wright, and probably Mr. Baer. We can see no reason for the expression of any opinion; the facts speak for themselves. We have been ready at all times to consult with anyone interested and make any reasonable adjustment, but we have no anxiety whatever over the case, or the results, and shall be ready for business when the commission again meets."

While admitting that they did much towards breaking off the negotiations for a settlement out of court, the independent operators do not hesitate to say that they were not required to advance much argument to bring the coal road Presidents to their way of thinking.

IMMEDIATE CONSTRUCTION.

Mr. Morse Speaks at Regina on the G.T.R. Project.

Regina, N.W.T., Nov. 27.—President Young and others of the Board of Trade, Mayor Smith and others of the Town Council, Commissioner Bulaya of the Agricultural Department, and Mr. Walter Scott, M.P., had a long interview yesterday with Messrs. Wainwright and Morse of the G.T.R., who arrived on the train. The delegates all extended to the railway representatives a cordial welcome to the Territories. In reply to Mr. Smith and others, Mr. Morse said that operations on the new transcontinental line, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, would begin as soon as legislative sanction had been obtained, and the reports of the company's engineers received. Work would proceed much more rapidly than when the C.P.R. was constructed, because there was now access to the country, which then was not even, and of course, their system in eastern Canada gave them great advantages. The main line would, of course, not run too close to the C.P.R. To do so would not be fair, but all the great centres would be tapped. Construction would begin at many points simultaneously, and he estimated the trunk line would be completed in five years.

Mr. Bulaya assured the visitors that the area under cultivation next year would be double the area from which the last crop was harvested. Mr. Walter Scott said that the voice of gladness at the announcement that the line was coming was unanimous. Any one of all acquainted with existing conditions could not fail to realize that it could not be otherwise. He assured the Grand Trunk representatives that if their line could be completed by next summer it would still be unable to handle next season's crop. Indeed, the development of the country was so rapid that he questioned whether railway development would be able to keep pace with the country's development for the next fifteen years.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE NOW IN TYPE.

WILL DEAL WITH TRUSTS AND THE TARIFF.

A COMMISSION ON THE LATTER QUESTION.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The gentlemen who have been laboring under the impression that the President was waiting to hear from them before closing his message will be relieved to learn that that important State paper is complete, and that the President tonight has in his possession printed proofs of the entire document. In regard to the tariff question, there is reason for the belief that the President will earnestly recommend action at the coming session, and that the main features of the remedial legislation desired will be outlined. Touching the character of the recommendations, it is assumed the President will follow the last annual message and the suggestions contained in the Pittsburgh speech of Attorney General Knox, and will contend that Congress has full power to protect the people against the evils complained of.

Tariff revision, it is understood, will be treated conservatively, and will be commended to the wisdom of the legislative department. There is a belief among Republicans from the west that the tariff should be speedily taken up and rates adjusted to the changed conditions that have occurred in the fields of commerce and mechanical industries, but even among these gentlemen there is a difference of opinion as to the wisdom and policy of taking up the question at a short session of Congress.

Among a number of Senators and Representatives there is a feeling that a tariff commission would be the best method of disposing of the question, but it is not probable such a commission will be authorized at this or the next session. The experience with the tariff commission of 1882 has not been forgotten by the older members of Congress. That commission was composed of a high class of men engaged in various manufacturing industries who were experts, but their work was cast aside by the two revenue committees of Congress, and an entirely different measure brought forward, in which the rates of duty were far in advance of those recommended in the bill formulated by the commission. In short, the recommendations of the commission were practically ignored.

TROUBLE FOR VENEZUELA.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY TO TAKE JOINT ACTION.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—Germany and Great Britain have determined to take joint action to collect their claims against Venezuela. The two powers are in correspondence over the form of this action. No time can be named when they will act, because the respective foreign offices have not yet agreed on the details. It is understood that only slight differences exist regarding the course to be followed, and diplomatic relations between the two powers and Venezuela may be broken off at any time. It is confirmed here that the United States is fully instructed on the subject of the negotiations, and knows that what is mediated will not infringe the Monroe doctrine.

Want Ontario Land.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—A couple of interviews took place yesterday with Premier Ross and Mr. John F. Langan and Mr. E. F. Getchell of Chicago, with reference to the proposed investment of large sums of American capital in northern Ontario. "Our interviews so far have been satisfactory," said Mr. Langan to Globe representative, "but it must be understood that our visit is purely preliminary, and that no definite plan has yet been formed. I may say, however, that we have plenty of capital behind us, conservative though it is, and no action will be taken until we see we have a good opportunity."
