

England's Annual Football Madness

Big Football Association Has Over Seven Hundred and Fifty Thousand Members and Twenty Thousand Referees.

London, Oct. 12.—Just as baseball, the national game of America, is drawing to a finish, association football, the great winter game of England, enters its early stages. Within a few weeks it will be in full cry, and throughout the length and breadth of John Bull's island, in every lot and field in every nook and corner, in every home and school, boys and men and women, to a number closely approaching the total population of the country, will be football mad. Baseball fever is a mild and harmless disease compared with the football lunacy of the British.

Some figures on the game. Glance at a few figures and see for yourself. In England alone there are more than 16,000 regularly constituted football clubs playing a schedule of games throughout the season. There are 500 recognized important leagues, some of them embracing 20, 30, or even 40 clubs. The Football Association, the largest governing body in the game, has jurisdiction over 14,000 clubs and on its rolls are more than 750,000 members. It registers and sanctions 20,000 referees, and has a more or less authoritative control over every big game played in the country.

These astounding figures do not include the thousands of clubs and the hundreds of thousands of players in schools throughout England. They are not registered by the Football Association, but have a separate organization of their own, much like the bodies that govern public school athletics in the United States. There are still to be found enthusiasts who claim that cricket is the national game of England. As a popular sport, cricket cannot hold a candle to its more healthy rival. Thousands shriek themselves hoarse, as spectators, lose their eyesight, and confound their mathematics over the percentage tables, or die nine deaths a day on the benches of the champions of football, for every one that slips the still beer of cricket.

Resemblance to baseball. Professional football in England bears many points of resemblance to professional baseball in the United States. There are, however, many points of divergence. Professional baseball in the United States is openly and frankly run for the purpose of making money for the men and syndicates back of the various clubs. The big leagues are their own masters and acknowledge the authority of no higher governing body. Whatever may be the true inside situation in professional football in England, the big leagues are run in the interests of pure sportsmanship. It is difficult—some people find it impossible—to reconcile the huge gates, the big secret salaries paid to players, and the well-known fakery that mature with this view of the situation, but the fact remains that by the articles of their incorporation, by their rules and regulations, and by their public professions, the clubs forswear any desire to make money out of the game.

Over these big league clubs as well as over the smaller professional and amateur organizations, rules the Football Association, of which the King is patron and Lord Kinnaird is president. The association, I am afraid, is not happy in its dual role of ruler of professional as well as of amateur sport. Although the big leagues are tongue-tied to the governing body, there are many signs that they would like to break away and form a professional association of their own. They have had frequent misunderstandings with the association, and because of their great importance, have generally managed to have their way.

Salaries of Players. One of the most serious bones of contention during recent years has been the salaries of the players. The rules of the Football Association provide that no player in any club affiliated with the organization should be paid more than $20 a week or $1,040 a year. In order to see that this rule, as well as others, was faithfully observed, the Football Association claimed the right to inspect the books of every club wherever it wished and to have submitted to it a detailed balance sheet at the end of every year. The Football Association cannot talk as much as it wants, but the fact remains that this salary rule has been consistently broken in hundreds of instances throughout England. It is safe to say that there is not a desirable player in the whole country who is receiving so little as the maximum salary allowed by the rules of the association. For some years it has been known that those on the inside that $100 a week is the salary demanded by the best players.

These illegal salaries were concealed by making false returns to the Football Association. The books were kept regular by a system of cheating the turnstiles at the admission gates. A large part of the money taken in at the gate was thus unrecorded and went to the fund for the payment of the unlawful salaries. A year ago the Football Association attempted to ease its conscience, a little. It could not have been ignorant of matters known to everybody else connected with the game. So the rule fixing a maximum salary was dropped, and the matter left to the individual clubs. Now many of the clubs provide that players shall receive in addition to their regular salaries, bonuses for winning games, for winning championships and for various other reasons, but that by no means done away with the secret salaries.

Maximum Still Holds. The officials of the Football Association claim that even under the present conditions the $20 a week maximum still holds, except in the case of the better clubs, because the smaller organizations cannot afford to pay more to a player, even if they wished.

It will be seen, then, that playing professional football in England is not as lucrative a job as playing professional baseball in the United States. The $5,000 a year which the best footballers receive compares poorly with the sum running to twice that amount that is paid to the stars of the baseball diamond. A footballer works nine months out of the year, from August to April, so that he has but three remaining months in which to supplement his "meagre" wage. A baseball player works but six out of the twelve for his much fatter envelope.

The buying and selling of players is as keen in this country as in the United States, although in that respect the scale of prices is lower. Simpson, one of the best players in the game, was last year bought by the Blackburn Rovers in competition with the other clubs of the Football League for the unprecedented price of $10,000.

Remarkable Support. Professional football here gets a support from the spectator public that is truly remarkable. Talk about your baseball crowds in the United States! The biggest of them would bring grief to the backers of the great empire clubs. You who have marvelled at the thousands that have backed the benches of the Polo Grounds or Forbes Field, should gaze on the two-capped legions of Crystal Palace on Cup Day. That is the day when the rivalry match the season, by which, according to the arrangement of the Football League schedule, the championship is decided, is played. More than 110,000 people have pushed and stamped and squatted their way into the grounds to witness the great struggle—more people than you could put in three arenas like the Polo Grounds and the White City Stadium ever, paid but expense (12 cents) admission, and probably the astute business men who are running baseball in the United States are infinitely better off than those who are behind professional football in England.

Cup Day is one of the most astonishing observances in the English year. It is well worth seeing from beginning to end by anyone interested in the customs of the people. It is the one great event of the year which has a national appeal. Men and boys, girls and women all over the country, even in the lowliest walks of life, save their money months before hand, and on the day of the game, they flock to the grounds in the hundreds of thousands. If the game is played at Crystal Palace, London, for instance, it becomes a modern Babel. One of the widest different accents and dialects of this strange country is heard in its streets. From the West they come in their thousands, and from the East, from the north counties men—for in Yorkshire and Lancashire is found the football enthusiast par excellence. They can be recognized by their leavies, their caps, and their beer which they invariably bring along with them from home rather than be compelled to drink the London brew.

The profits of professional football are known only to those who manipulate its finances. Most of the clubs are so incorporated that the stockholders receive not more than 5 per cent on their holdings, the capitalization is usually extremely small, and what becomes of the immense sums that are sometimes made is a mystery to all save those who are in the confidence of the directors. A couple of years ago Aston Villa, one of the big clubs, had a remarkably successful year and drew more than $100,000. Yet the articles of incorporation of the company permitted only $2,500 of the huge amount to be distributed in the form of dividends on the stock. Bradford City and Newcastle United each drew more than $225,000 last year, and the gate at the cup final matches last year. Where does all the money go to? "Some of it goes to the stockholders and directors, who are making a fat thing out of it," says the man in the street. "In charity and towards improving the game, say the men who insist that the sport is free from the taint of professionalism as we know it in the United States. Listen to one of the latter, F. J. Wall, secretary of the Football Association. "The popularity of association football in England," said Mr. Wall to me, "is due to the fact that the sport is absolutely clean. There is no money made out of it. Whether an organization is called amateur or professional matters not a bit. The professional organizations, as well as the amateur, have only one object in view—good clean sport, and the betterment of the game. The two are but different ways of working towards the same end. The majority of the professional clubs have a hard struggle to make ends meet, and when money is made you can take my word for it that it does not go into the pockets of the directors, or the stockholders. Local charities, an increase in the wages of players and officials, improvement of the grounds for the comfort of spectators account for most of it. More than $100,000 was given away by the big leagues last year to charities of various kinds."

Return to Backers. "The men who are behind the various professional clubs," went on Mr. Wall, "are men who are able and willing to put their hands in their pockets and make good any loss on the season's workings. They are willing to do that for the good of the game. It is often charged that the directors of the Football Association are making a fortune out of the game, but I would like to see anyone tell me how they are doing it. They are not paid and the share capital consists of $500 divided into 2,000 shares of 25 cents each. No shareholder is entitled to any dividend bonus or profit. The men work absolutely without return of any kind, and so keen are they on the sport that out of a membership of 40, the meetings of our council average 54 the year round. "So-called professional football in this country forms but a small part of the game although the prominence given to it in the newspapers is apt to make one lose sight of the amateur game. Out of the 14,000 clubs are affiliated with the Football Association only between 400 and 500 of them are professional. Of the 750,000 members less than 7,000 are professional."

Mr. Wall took the opportunity of saying something caustic about the management of association football in the United States. "Now, you are talking," he said, "are ruling the game by professionalism. You are attempting to run it in the same way you run baseball. The game will never be popular among you until it is made clean and pure and run as a sport and not a business. You have written often and long, pleading with those who are making such a mess of things on your behalf, but you have not done a thing to help."

DOMINION'S GATES ARE OPEN TOO WIDE

Complaint Will Be Made to Ottawa by Associated Charities of Toronto Against the Dominion's Immigration Laws.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—At a meeting of the Associated Charities of Toronto held last night, the Dominion's immigration laws were discussed with a view to a complaint being made to Ottawa. The association claims that the Canadian officials at some of the border towns allow almost any vagabond to cross the border into Canada. On the other hand, it claims that the United States officials are too severe in their refusal to admit anyone who is not in many cases beyond their power in refusing Canadians entrance to the United States.

The attention of the association was directed to the state of affairs by Rabbi Jacobs, who said that he had read statements to the effect that at the present time two million men were out of employment in the United States, and that this number would be increased to four million in the near future. Rabbi Jacobs, moreover, stated that the border is then not so well guarded as it should be. He stated that he had secured evidence to prove that many people out of work had crossed into Canada. He feared if they were allowed to enter the "Em Works" been performed that make all Chelsea—unlike most country villages—is at work.

Offenders are punished. If proven guilty, offenders in then not more than twenty. The spans may be paid for at a place in the "Em Works" been performed that make all Chelsea—unlike most country villages—is at work.

A TALK ON RHEUMATISM

Telling How to Cure This Painful Malady.

This article is for the man or woman who suffers from rheumatism who wants to be cured, not merely relieved—but actually cured. The most reliable method of curing rheumatism is by rubbing something on the joints. Rubbing something on the joints is a little relief, no lotion or ointment ever did or ever can make a cure. The rheumatic poison is not in the blood. Therefore rheumatism can only be cured when this poisonous acid is driven out of the blood. That's why rubbing and liniments and outward applications are no good. They can't reach the cause in the blood. Any doctor will tell you this is true. If you want something to go right to the root of the trouble in the blood, every time take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich blood while driving out the poisonous acid and cures rheumatism to stay cured. This is a solemn truth which has been proved in thousands of cases, and the following is a striking instance. Mrs. W. H. Elmer, Sergis, Ont., says: "I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they completely cured me of rheumatism after I had been almost an invalid for three years. I doctored with two skilled doctors and took electric treatment, but without benefit. On going to a third doctor he recommended mineral baths as the only treatment, and then I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a few boxes I could notice a distinct improvement in the joints. I continued taking Pills for several months the cure was complete. That is some two years ago, and I have ever since been perfectly free from the trouble. I would therefore advise anyone afflicted with rheumatism to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they certainly make a remarkable cure in my case. These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

EDMONTON BULLETIN

LAZY MEN GIVEN SHORT SHRIFT IN THIS TOWN

Society of "Make 'em Work" Evolves Effective Means of Dealing With Labor-Hating Vagrants—Offenders are Spanked.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 13.—A secret organization that visits swift punishment upon the lazy and shiftless, providing dire penalties for those young men within its jurisdiction who refuse to work, has been unearthed in the little town of Chelsea, recently annexed to Kansas City, Kas.

The organization, known as the "Make 'em Work," having a membership of 25, wields a powerful influence in the social and industrial life of the town of Chelsea. No young man who is steadily forward of ten years of age is allowed to enter the town who is possessed of the dread disease, laziness, so called, or who is a vagrant, or in plain and unembroidered English, is lazy and no account. For him there is a special gate administered to that portion of him which is unperpetrated as he sprawls face downward over a huge log in the "courtroom."

In all time and in all climes there has been secret organizations for the administration of stern justice—unhindered by writ of habeas corpus or mandamus, by injunction or high-dudgeon—for the protection of society. These have been brought into being by dire necessity. Of such have been the Crusaders, the Rangers, the Vigilantes, the Ku Klux Klan. And of such is the "Make 'em Work."

As unwholesome conditions of society brought into being those other organizations, so did unwholesome conditions bring into being the "Make 'em Work." The little town of Chelsea was a border settlement—bordering on Kansas City. Before its admission to the larger city it was far from courts and police stations. Since its admission it has been every year a hotbed of crime. As in all little country towns there were two elements—one that worked and one that did not. The latter was the "Make 'em Work." And since the birth of the organization the latter element has been steadily increasing.

For the sake of efficiency three members of the society have been appointed detectives, their duty being to open the door to the evils that prevail in the business system of the republic. P. O. Employees Overworked. Winnipeg, Oct. 13.—Two hundred and seventy-five employees of the Winnipeg post office, gathered in the trades hall last night to protest in unison against the hardships under which they labor, and a committee of thirty-five of their number will draw up a formal letter of complaint to the postmaster general. They claim that they are overworked and that promotions are not made from among their number. The grievances were presented at the Quebec meeting of the union confederates and at the trades congress at Calgary.

Canada Ahead of the U.S. Woodrow Wilson Says We Regulate Trusts and Banking System. Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—Addressing a gathering of Democrats last night, Governor Woodrow Wilson told a thousand hearers that Canada was a generation ahead of the United States in the regulation of corporate business in her banking system and in her currency system. One half of these should be available for emigration and a special officer, Adjutant Vallance, is now in this country studying the situation. The best brain of the Army will be given to solving this new and most pressing problem.

STREET AND THEY HAVE OPENED WITH

Friday night was a big night at the Robekah Lodge. The feature of the occasion was the presence of Miss J. A. F. Woodworth returned Friday after a two weeks' visit with her parents in Winnipeg.

Dr. A. E. Ainsworth's new three-story residence on the corner of Callaghan street and Prospect avenue is nearing completion. The building, when finished, will be a fine structure.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Richardson, of Grand Forks, N.D., arrived Friday from Seattle, Washington, where they had been visiting Mrs. Richardson's home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Steiner, the parents of Mrs. Richardson, are in the city for a few days. They are the parents of a young man in the Gadsby district, came near meeting a fatal death Saturday, the 9th, in a shooting.

Quality Cattle. According to what you know, the quality of the cattle exhibits showed great improvement over any previous year. Short horns seem to be a favorite breed in this country as there was good competition in this class.

The Polled Angus class. Law Hutchinson carried off the prize of the prizes, but W. R. Stewart also showed some good stock. Grade beef and dairy classes were only fair.

Sheep, Poultry, Swine. In the Shropshire Down class for sheep President Hartman secured the prize with a bunch of good stock. Grade sheep were shown by Geo. Weiser and A. A. Rodin.

As usual, Law Hutchinson, of Duhamel, had a number of Berkshire pigs entered and he was the only prize winner. In Yorkshires W. P. Hartley was the most successful exhibitor.

The poultry classes were fairly well filled. Ben Lynde, W. W. Hartman, Nils Lynde, being the principal winners. The prize for the best collection of vegetables went to W. W. Harber, and Mrs. J. B. Scott, who were also successful exhibitors.

Great Vegetable Display. The feature of the fair was, it is generally conceded, the splendid exhibit of vegetables. Surprise marked the features in many when they saw the big pumpkins, the marrow, celery, etc. With a little attention there is no doubt but that market gardening can be made to pay well for a variety of vegetables can be raised.

The prize for the best collection of vegetables went to W. W. Harber, and Mrs. J. B. Scott, who were also successful exhibitors. The exhibit was very well arranged and included everything from kindling wood and coal to home-made breakfast food.

W. W. Harber won second prize with another good exhibit and Carl Brown, was third.

Home Made Syrup. For one-half the cost, it is made by dissolving White Sugar in Maple Syrup.

MAPLEINE. A popular figure. It also flavoured. Frostings, Candies, Creams, etc.

Burns. The fire is removed from burns and sores. It is quickly soothed by the use of Kendall's Electric Oil.

Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. What is Your Best Horse Worth to You?

Kendall's Spavin Cure. For about 25 years this wonderful remedy has been used by thousands of horsemen.

Wife and Three Children of Peter Hansen Fall to Find Him on Arrival Here—Was Employed on G.P.P. Construction Up to September 23.

Peter Hansen will learn of something to his advantage by putting himself in touch with the government immigration hall in this city. Coming all the way from Norway to join him, only to find that he had apparently disappeared, Hansen's wife and three children are nearly distracted over the unexpected turn of affairs.

Hansen left his native country some time ago with the understanding that he would send for those nearest to him when he got settled in Canada. He came to Edmonton on September 23rd, accompanied by his children, with Phelan & Shirley contractors, who are doing railroad work on the G.P.P. at Bickerton, nine miles west of Edson.

DUKE OF QUEBEC'S MESSAGE

Brilliant Functions at Quebec in Honor of Duke of Connaught

Quebec, Oct. 18.—Quebec was ablaze with electric lights tonight and as the Duke of Connaught drove through the streets on his way to the railway station to take the train for Ottawa, the Duke and Duchess were greeted by the greatest enthusiasm. Not since the tercentenary celebration has there been such a display of the public buildings being aglow with lights.

As their royal highnesses passed down to the station, there were displays of fireworks and the crowds of people assembled all along the route to give to the Vice Royal party a greeting, many cheering and waving their hats.

The luncheon at the Chateau Frontenac this afternoon was a brilliant affair and the Dominion cabinet were all in attendance. This function was followed by a state dinner at Spencerwood, and there was a fireworks display at Sparrow. All of these functions were most brilliant affairs and attended by the leading people of the Dominion.

A Personal Message. At the luncheon tendered him by Mr. Forster, the Duke said: "I have been specially asked by the King, my nephew, to express to the Canadian people a personal message of the affection and ever abiding interest in all that concerns the welfare of this great Dominion. I am not certain of the number of times the King visited Canada, but certainly on many occasions and last on the great historic occasion when you celebrated the Quebec tercentenary. Each time His Majesty's interest has grown and he needs scarcely assure you now he still takes the same profound interest but in degree ever increasing and the more fervent with today's King George is that the prosperity of Canada may continue and flourish more and more.

Leaves for Ottawa. Montreal, Oct. 18.—His Royal Highness left for Ottawa tonight by special train. The train was a magnificent one, being all new cars just turned out from the shops and bearing the monogram of the Duke.

The Duke's Reply. Quebec, Oct. 18.—The reply of the Duke of Connaught to the King on behalf of the Province of Quebec was as follows: "Mr. Prime Minister and Gentlemen: Your province, rich in historical memories is usually the first to welcome a new Governor-General, and it is bid him God speed in his new office of office. I thank you for the hearty and loyal welcome which in the name of the province of Quebec, you have extended to the Duke and myself.

Thus his first and last impressions of Canada are fraught with that atmosphere of prosperity and progress which characterizes your beautiful land. In days gone by it was the fusion of the French and English races which made the greatness of England. Here again history repeats itself and it is their union which makes your own greatness. From the Saxon and Norman stock England drew the qualities of courage, perseverance and strength, which raised her to her proud position among the nations.

Here under the wise rule of statesmen sometimes of British and sometimes of French descent, Canada has achieved an era of development which is the envy of the world. I am proud and happy to have been selected by the King to fill the high office of Governor-General and to be thus in a position to follow and to promote the remarkable progress of your country.

That this progress may under the protection of Divine Providence be continued is my most heartfelt wish, and I am glad to have this opportunity of expressing it to you on my arrival in your country.

Reply to Quebec's Welcome. His Royal Highness' reply to the address of welcome by the mayor of Quebec was as follows: "I thank you from the bottom of my heart, for the cordial welcome which you have given me. In the name of the Duke of Connaught also, I thank you for graceful expressions with which you have greeted my arrival on Canadian soil.

"I shall have great pleasure in your attendance on the King and Queen on their entrance into the city, and in attachment to the crown. Our stay in Quebec is now of necessity a very short one but we hope to conform to the customs of my predecessors and spend each year a certain time at the Citadel, which will give an opportunity of knowing and appreciating your beautiful city, which is so full of the great and noble traditions of the past.

"Many years have passed since my first visit to Canada. Here a long time ago I came as a soldier, almost at the outset of the military career to which I devoted my life. It will be a very great pleasure to me to renew the acquaintance of my youth. Although the country and towns may have changed, I know the Canadian hearts have not changed and I rejoice to think that in coming here, I shall find amongst you some of the old comrades of my time as a soldier with whom I formerly passed so many happy hours."

AEROPLANES TO DROP THE BOMBS

Will Be Used Over Enemy's Encampments in Tripoli

Home, via Frontier, October 18.—Although the government considers that the present expedition of 40,000 men will be sufficient for the complete occupation of Tripoli, the ministry of war has prepared for an additional expedition in case of need. A report from Tripoli says that General Caneva, commander-in-chief of the Italian forces, is awaiting the arrival of the final contingent of the first expedition before he begins his march into the interior. Four aeroplanes have arrived here from France. They will be sent to Tripoli where it is proposed to make the first experiments in the use of flying machines in actual warfare. They will be piloted by Italian officers who will undertake to drop bombs into the enemy's encampments.

SURVEYORS RETURN FROM NEW RESERVE

Party of Eight Have Concluded Five Months' Work in Western Country

Edmonton, Oct. 18.—The text of the Russian note to Turkey regarding the export of Russian arms was made public today. It is reported to be a declaration of London of 1893. As this was considered unsatisfactory, the Russian government presented a written demand pointing out that Russia, basing her position upon the declaration of Paris of 1856 and articles 24 and 29 of the Declaration of London, were entitled to carry out the arms subject to neither a restriction of destination nor a restriction of destination. The note concludes: "Any attempt to restrict the above-mentioned cargoes, Russia will regard as a violation of the rights of Russia and the government reserves the right to take such measures as it deems fit in such circumstances."
