CHAPTER XIII

"Oh, he be here or hereabouts, miss," answered the woman, "though where he's dwellin' I can't rightly point you. We're naught but fresh ourselves, and I'm not much of a one to get the news. We only took this place last Lammass."

"Tha-n-k you," said Sydney, beginning to turn away ruefully. The cottage interior was not inviting now. With no one who cared to see her, there would be no sense in stopping about it.

But the woman lingered, latch in hand, so she explained to her.

"I used to come here often when I was younger. And I made a journey this morning on purpose to look at it all again. I suppose I foolishly calculated on seeing the people in it just as when I last left."

"Which, askin' your pardon, was like reckonin' of your chickens afore they were hatched, miss," returned Mrs. Davis, taking the proverb of her calling, apparently, for matrimonial hens with numerous progeny were now scraping about the once tidy garden.

"True enough," Sydney agreed; "and you can not even tell me, then, which way I must go to find Lewis's house. I did so wish to see some of them."

"Oh, if you'd like to see 'em—or leastways see the man, miss," said Mrs. Davis, the young lady's desires put finding their way to her slow brain. "why, you can do that easy without trackin' after where they live. I know him jest by sight; an' I see him go by not half an hour ago, an' he turned in at you gate—the place there where they be cuttin' green stuff for the cows."

This sounded better. With a cheerfulness "Thank you," Sydney took the route indicated. A running stream on one side she had dipped her toes in many a time, a bank with huge primrose leaves drooping in the

AGONY ON OPERATING TABLE

Did Not Remove Stone In Bladder
GIN PILLS Passed it.

JOLIETTE, P. Q. CANADA.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in The Bladder. He decided on an operation and was assisted by another doctor. They said the calculus was larger than a bean and too hard to crush and they could not take it out.

I returned home suffering greatly and did not know what to do but was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS. I bought a box and found relief from the pain at once. I took a second and third box of GIN PILLS after which I went back to the specialist. He told me the calculus was reduced in size, still he could not relieve me of it although he tried for two and a half hours.

I returned home again and continued to take GIN PILLS as they reduced the pain very much, but I did not expect that they would relieve me of the stone but to my great joy, I passed the stone on October 10th, and am now a well man and very happy.

I am sending the stone in to you so that you can see for yourself what a great work GIN PILLS did for me. GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did so much for me, I will recommend them all the rest of my life."

J. ALBERT LESSARD.

What glorious news to those who are almost going insane from the pain of Stone In The Bladder! Here is ease and comfort! Here is relief! Here is a safe means of getting rid of the stone without being cut to pieces by the knives surgeon. GIN PILLS dissolve Stone or Gravel in Kidneys or Bladder GIN PILLS are the greatest solvent for uric acid the world has ever known.

Your trouble is like Mr. Lessard's, follow his example and take GIN Money refunded if they fail to give relief. At all dealers, a box—6 Sample free if you write us, mentioning this paper.

growth of half about his face, very sunken cheeks, and an aspect of suffering appeal, made him a painful, pitiable object, and Sydney's hand naturally sought her purse as he drew near.

But he was not begging. He only asked her civilly if she were wanting to speak to the master yonder, and should he go and fetch him.

"No, I thank you," Sydney answered. "I can stop for him here, or go across myself. I am afraid moving about hurts you."

He looked such an appropriate object for a shilling, she opened the way thus intentionally to his asking for it.

"Hurts! You're right, miss. I get crippledder and crippledder every day. My aches and pains have come atop of one another till they've nigh bent me double, and—with a nasty rough cough that seemed to rack him—"this winter's bout was worst of all."

"What was it—rheumatism?" questioned Sydney, used enough to this, "the cottager's arch enemy. "Don't keep standing," she added; "I wish you had not disturbed yourself for me."

"Thank you, miss, kindly. No—overing himself cautiously on the bank at a respectful distance—"I weren't that this time. It were brownchitis. That kept a hold of me from Michaelmas till May. And it has set me as weak as water. I haven't done a day's work not for nine months. And I durstn't look to do no more as long as I've got to live."

"But this warm weather ought to do you good," suggested Sydney, hopefully. "Perhaps you will get stronger before next winter."

He shook his head. "Taint likely, let brownchitis foller in after three seasons of rheumatism such as twist man's joints about like wax, and set 'em out of shape like mine, why, you can't pick up strength in a hurry."

"No, indeed. It must be dreadful, o your pains and troubles began with that?"

"My pains begun so—in my joints, miss; but my troubles—good heart live, they begun different enough, no times before!"

(The workers yonder had cut another strip of rye. Sydney knew full well what delight it is to the poor to old converse on their own woes, so she waited a few minutes leisure to gratify this ailing laborer.)

"Ah! if you have had other troubles they make you less able to bear 'em, do they not?"

"Right again, miss—right. Give me an a good stout drink, and he can old his own 'gainst wind and weather, and physic and worrits. But on take that away, and everything seems to rub him on the raw. There's nothin' can make up for a good stout drink—nothin'. I lost mine whiles ago, and my labor have been nothin' at heaviness ever since."

"Poor fellow!" (He touched his worn old hat to her compassionate one.) "How came it all about?"

Could she spare half a sovereign if it tale seemed as truthful as sad?

"Why, the same way, miss, as many as met their downfall. I worked no worked from the hour I could old a rake or plant a spade; and I tored and saved where others lived free and spent; and I was as thrifty as an ant, as far as I knew how; and got a bit of property like together: a solid pounds; and then I took and rusted the whole, the scrapin's and crewin's of fifty years, to one man, and he lost 'em for me! 'All!'"

"Oh, how hard! How hard!"

"Ay, hard it was. I took him for sure as the bank itself—that man. I wouldn't believe my own ears when word first came to me of what he'd done. But I'd got to believe it, and I'd got to bear it. And that's what took the heart out of me. And this here's what it have brought me to."

"But had you no friend, no son, nor any one to help you then?"

"I never had a son. I'd girls. And I'd trusted this man so sort of stupid-like—for I'd worked for him close on forty years—I'd even given him my lasses' few shillings as they'd earned then along of mine. And another body's too—older than me by a score. Hers went with the rest. And, thank the Lord, she soon went after it. And she's slept herself out of her sorrows. I know jest where she lays, for poor old soul, though we hadn't enough among us to put a head-stone over her."

not dreamed of putting together these scattered links. But now a monitor, shudder ran through her.

Was it the tempest, drawing near in splendid masses of leaden and silver cloud, that set her trembling? And was the fate tender or harsh, which impelled her to draw the story out to its cruel end?

"Was there no one belonging to your debtor who could give you bail anything? You, only a poor man!"

"No. None that would."

"Now that does seem a shame."

"Ay. We all said so. I didn't stand alone. There was others lost the same as me. And though their jus olegnin's was gone, why, for ver fikin' of the man that lost 'em they' nave said "Thank you" for a few pounds back, and they'd ha' set to and made another start—such as could just my rent would ha' put spirit in me. A little of what was gone would ha' set a many on their feet again. But none of us got it. There some the shame. For yook ye, miss Sydney leaned forward, listening intently, with parted lips. No mirth in 'er eyes now—"him that ruined us vent clear away—clean out of sight and nobody here set eyes on him no more. Word come round among us hat he took ill and never held his head up till he died. The thoughts of hat shut my mouth up many a time, I'd ha' give curse—"

"No, no! Don't say it! Don't say it! For—for—his dead, you know!" cried Sydney, covering strangely.

"But let him be! Well, so I may, or he can't make me nor mar me no more. But now, you think of this, miss; see if I mayn't feel angered. His fine lady-wife goes off at the first clap of rain, as proud as an unicorn, and takes her money—hers, hat her husband give her when they wedded—thousands on thousands, and never casts a farthing back to lift up them her husband's pulled down. And she takes a whole power of fine things he's bought her, and goes over to the other side of the land, and lives among the high people and never mows the meannin' of the word want! And she's got daughters"—Sydney brought pale—and dimes like herself, brought up so daintily, the very wind ave to take care how it blow on 'em. And she've got fine soft clothing heap-ud up, that she never knows a need for—(I lay cold in the long winter!)—and she gives away her delicate things where they ain't wantin', and never misses 'em. And yet, yet—what with his weakness and wrongs he man was almost sobbin'—"yet when my wife writes—unknown to

Use "Tiz" If Feet Ache, Burn, Puff Up.

Can't beat "TIZ" for sore, tired, sweaty, calloused feet or corns.

"Sure! I use 'TIZ' every time for any foot trouble."

You can be happy-footed, just like me. Use "TIZ" and never suffer with tender, raw, burning, blistered, swollen, tired, smelly feet. "TIZ" and only "TIZ" takes the pain and soreness out of corns, callouses and bunions.

As soon as you put your feet in a "TIZ" bath, you just feel the happiness soaking in. How good your poor, old feet feel. They want to dance for joy. "TIZ" is grand. "TIZ" instantly draws out all poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause sore, inflamed, aching, sweaty, smelly feet.

me—I've asked naught of no man—and when my wife tells her on'y our girls' earnin's keep us from the house and I'm with one foot in the grave like, and the wolf's always at our door, she makes answer, this lady with her chinny and her diamonds and 'er laces, that any more such begin' letters 'll be burned, and on'y just for once she sends us—half a crown!"

(She knew it was coming. Link had been clasping link as the tale went on. Her white face turned now away; a sense of almost stupor spread over 'er heart end head.)

"Half a crown! While she and 'ers can live in wicked waste, me and mine may lay and starve or rot, or all she cares! That makes a man forget he's called a Christian, miss. 'll as the turn he did me. I'll never bring myself to believe John Alwyn would have served me so, if he'd had a finger in the way I was treated. But there's a God above as notes such john's as this great lady's. From Him she'll get her due for 'em, this world or the next—sure, ay, sure as my name's Lewis!"

He left off at last, pausing; lifted his battered hat to wipe the drops of moisture from his lined forehead. Sydney was shivering in every nerve. Not a word could she utter. Lost in a whirl of bitterest emotions, she leaned upon her hands, cold now as ice, struggling to hide the agitation which possessed her. Far sorer than that his listener, Lewis said recently, in his old, slow, muddled, enduring tone.

"I ask your pardon, miss. I've worn you out with all my talk. 'Taint often I let loose like that nowadays, but you seemin' to listen so real kind like, why, I ran on as I didn't ought to. Here comes Mr. Earnet, side of his cart at last. Shall I fetch him up to you?"

She Hears an Announcement

Bert blew a mouthful of cigarette smoke reflectively toward the ornate ceiling, and said "Marion do you remember the day we took that long stroll one Saturday with the class in botany? Precious little botany we learned on that excursion," he smiled. "Marion remembered. She had thought of it a thousand times. Bert had kissed her that day for the first time."

"It was a perfect day," she answered with a blush. "And a perfect pair of fools were we."

"Oh, I don't know," he replied with the blase air of a man who indulges in complacent recollections of trivial adventures of bygone days. "Why regret these boy and girl affairs?"

"I don't regret them," she returned. "I'm merely amused."

"Amused? It was a very serious matter with me, Marion. More serious than I realized at the time. I cared for you more deeply than I was aware of. It made a big dent in my life when I heard that you were married."

"Really?" smiled Marion. "How flattering! And after nothing more than a boy and girl affair," she added, repeating his phraseology.

"I know you'll forgive me if I speak frankly—now," he answered. "I wanted your love—needed it. But my hands were tied. I couldn't speak of marriage in those days. I had my way to make. I knew it would take a long time. I've barely got started yet. But when I saw that you married that other chap, I understood all of a sudden that you had never really cared."

"I had to marry then," answered Marion, looking down. "My affairs were in such shape that I had to do something quick. There was no other way. At least, I saw no other way then." She paused for a moment, flung at her companion frankly: "I didn't know as much then as I know now. Anyhow," she made haste to add, "that's all past and gone. Let's many rich mothers are trying to marry you to their daughters?"

"None."
"What you've had no love affairs to

"One—a tragedy," he answered soberly. "It's impossible for me to marry her. She's a divorced woman."

"I hope you love her. Accept my congratulations," said Marian.
The statement hit Marian like a cold hand. "Oh!" she said.
He went on: "I'm going to break into politics. Such a marriage would rise like an obstacle in every direction. Society is the slave of prejudice.

A Hint to Saleswomen.

By RUTH CAMERON.

There's one thing I do not understand about saleswomen. But before I speak of it let me recall to my readers' minds the fact that I have often sung the praises, and defended the wrongs of this particular class of worker.

Their patience is a daffy marvel to me. What if they are sometimes impatient with the one hundredth customer? Think of the hundreds with whom they have been patient. What if they now and then give a careless or rude answer to a customer's enquiry? Think of the ten thousand or so questions they must answer in the course of the day. It makes anyone nervous to answer a perpetual stream of questions. Haven't you noticed what nervous looking creatures the men at the railway booths always are? A mother who loves her children with all her heart often becomes nervous and impatient when they ask her too many questions. Now the salesgirl does not love her customers, and she probably answers ten times as many questions as the most harassed mother. Isn't it a wonder then, not that she sometimes loses her temper but that she controls it so well.

And then their clothes! There was a time when to look shop-girlish was a reproach. I do not see how it can be so any longer, for the average saleswoman in the better class of stores is dressed with just as much style, neatness and taste as most of her customers. How she has the time, money and strength to do it is one of the wonders of the age to me. Furthermore, she is well groomed, she carries herself excellently and she usually speaks well.

If you should take half a dozen representative girls from one of the more expensive shops and mix them up with half a dozen "society ladies" I don't believe anyone could tell which was which; for in this case Julia O'Grady and the Colonel's Lady are sisters not only under the skin, but on top of it.

I didn't mean to say so much on that subject, but my enthusiasm ran away with me. And now that I've spent most of my space, sugar coating my pill, let me come to the pill itself.

The one thing I can't understand about salesgirls is this. Why so many of them are supercilious when a customer wants to see something less expensive or doesn't buy because a thing costs too much.

They must know what it is to have to consider expense. Surely they must have had experience in contriving to make a little money produce big results. Then why can't they have sympathy for us poor mortals who have to do the same, instead of pulling out the "something less expensive" with a bored and supercilious air.

Let me give them all a hint from a customer's viewpoint. By such conduct a girl may now and then forget her customer to buy from fear of being looked down upon, but she loses more than she gains, for the customer will try to avoid her in the future.

Let the saleswoman add the charm of sympathy to her other virtues and she will come alarmingly near to perfection.

Household Notes

Try thickening the custard for lemon pies with grated potato instead of cornstarch.

A little express wagon is a great convenience for carrying in vegetables and firewood.

To make toast water for an invalid soak pieces of toast in water for an hour, then strain.

Clean earthen tiles by rubbing with a turpentine cloth, then polishing with a dry cloth.

Fasten a rubber tube a yard long to your bathroom faucet if you would have a noiseless bath.

Save the water in which rice is boiled and you have a very economical substitute for milk.

Cut a piece of parchment paper and lay it under the doily and it will save possible gray spots.

Cumbers now so plentiful in the markets, make delicious boat-shaped shells for a salad course.

A good cake box can be made from a large empty lard can by coating the outside with white enamel.

A pansy bed is an indispensable part of the little home garden, because pansies can always be picked.

When ironing children's blouses or aprons put a handkerchief in every pocket and there will be no going to school without.

The usefulness of a willow chair may be prolonged by giving it one coat of oil stain and another of pure raw linseed oil.

When pressing velvet, lay the piece to be pressed down on an another piece of velvet, then it will not become at all glossy.

Paint an old umbrella frame white and hang it, handle upwards, in the kitchen if you would like a good dryer for dishcloths.

Boil a new baking dish before using it, starting it in cold water and ending it in the same way, and it will be much less likely to crack.

A faded straw hat may be cleaned with a paste made of powdered sulphur and lemon juice. Dry it thoroughly in the sunshine, then brush out the powder.

Every housekeeper should keep parchment paper on hand in the shape of a big roll. It can be used for at

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office—its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKER CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessarily this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland.—apr17/14

Nickel's Fine Bill Draws Big Houses

The Nickel Theatre was again the centre of attraction last night. Hundreds were present and all were highly pleased with the excellent performance. The pictures were bright and interesting and the singing was of the highest quality. Miss Gardner and Mr. McCarthy are making hosts of new friends. Last night they were thunderously applauded. This evening the entire programme will be repeated, and we advise all our readers to attend and enjoy themselves.

If Catarrh Keeps You Hawking Use 'Catarrhzone'—The Quickest Cure

NOTHING KNOWN SO SURE FOR THROAT WEAKNESS, BRONCHITIS, TROUBLES, ETC.

No doctor attempts to-day to cure a genuine case of catarrh or bronchitis except by the inhalation method. Steam-doubling has been discarded because useless medicine so taken affects only the stomach—never reaches the seat of catarrh.

The advanced physician recognizes that only air can be sent into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Fill this air with healing medicaments and you solve the problem. No combination of an-esthetics is so successful as Catarrhzone. It contains the richest pine-balsams and the greatest healers known.

One breath of Catarrhzone instantly circulates over the area that is afflicted with catarrh. Relief is instant—suffering stops at once—germs are destroyed—every taint of disease is removed. Think it over seriously. Here is a remedy that clears the throat, relieves hoarseness, coughing and bad breath. Irritating phlegm is cleared out, inflamed bronchial tubes are healed, throat and voice are strengthened.

Catarrhzone is pleasant and certain. You breathe Catarrhzone—you don't take it. Large $1.00 size is guaranteed; smaller size 50c, and trial size 25c, at all dealers everywhere.

Bolivia.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Sivash."

Bolivia is a nation but has never impressed the general attention with this fact very thoroughly. It is situated in the interior of South America and can be reached by landing in a surf boat in Chile and climbing on an indifferent railroad until blood flows from the ears.

Bolivia is one of the finest roof gardens in the world. The upper floor of the country is about as large as the state of New York and is 12,500 feet above the sea. It can be reached by aeroplanes, railroad or muleback. This roof garden contains Lake Titicaca, which has 2,000 square miles and is perpetually imprisoned 212 miles above the sea, having no outlet. Thunder clouds are often drowned in this lake because they are unable to rise above it.

The plateau also contains Chorolque, Chacabambani, Pama, Aullagas and Desaguadero but the prospective visitor need not be alarmed. These are not diseases nor disagreeable insects. They are the name of famous Bolivian rivers, lakes and mountains.

Bolivia is so large that its government has never been able to keep track of its boundaries. For many years it has been the custom of those South American nations which needed territory to go and slice it off of Bolivia. Its area has thus been reduced from about 750,000 to 500,000 square miles. However, there is still room in the country for a 200-acre farm for every inhabitant. Bolivia had 1,625,000 people in 1910, of whom about 50,000 could read and write. Most of these people are Indians and can trace their families back to very early times, when the Incas ran that part of the country and Europe was a howling wilderness. However, the Indians do not do this because it is too much trouble.

Bolivia is a cold, hot, damp, dry, misty and dreary country in which keeping alive has always been considered quite a feat. Most of its land is impenetrable forest and jungle. It exports rubber, cocoa, chinchilla wool, tin and silver, imports almost everything needed, including livestock, though it has room for millions of cattle. It is a republic with its fingers crossed. Only the rich and educated can vote. However, it has four capitals, which take turn about in running the country which is some comfort.

Bolivia has been a free country since 1825 but doesn't know it yet.

Relatives on Southern Cross.

St. John, N.B., April 9.—Captain Jean Kean, who was in charge of No. 4 Division of the Salvation Army in Carleton last year, and is now stationed at Chatham, has been sorely bereaved by the Newfoundland fishery disasters. Almost heartbroken she called up Major L. E. Taylor, the Provincial Commander, this evening by long distance telephone to ask for the latest news of the Southern Cross on which her brother is second mate while the captain is her cousin. All hope for the vessel has been given up, however, and Major Taylor was unable to give her any cheering news. In the disaster already reported, Captain Kean, who is a Newfoundland girl, lost five cousins who were frozen to death on the drifting icefloes.

Arrested For Desertion

North Sydney, April 4.—Chief McNell, last evening, took into custody a man named Taylor, who is wanted in Glace Bay for deserting his family and also by the immigration authorities there for evading inspection when he arrived at North Sydney, a short time ago from Newfoundland. Taylor will probably be deported.

From a correspondent at Tuck's River, Red Indian Lake, we learn that the cut of logs for the past season has been exceptionally good, and that logging conditions generally have shown a vast improvement over previous seasons. To his energy and earnestness in the interests of the company and their employees, is due the general improvement which has resulted satisfactorily to the employers and employees. Quite a number of men were employed, and taking every-thing into consideration, the weather was all that could be desired for logging.

The Newfoundland Disaster Enquiry Before Judge Knight.

FRIDAY EVENING. The hearing was resumed at 3 p.m. JOHN E. HISCOCK (sworn) examined by Hutchings, K.C.—I began at Carbonar, was on the Newfoundland this spring. We left our ship on March 31st at 7 a.m. and reached the Stephano at 12 o'clock by my watch. It was fine when we left our ship but the sky was overcast, could see the sun. When we reached the Stephano it was snowing thick with wind blowing a good breeze. There was one watch crew ahead of us. I was second man in Thos. Dawson's watch. Capt. A. Kean told us to come on board as quick as we could and get a mug up as he wanted to get to his own men. Capt. Kean said: "Hurry up, boys, and get some dinner I want to put you on some seals." I was on deck then. When we came on deck, spoke to my Master Watch, asked him if he got a mug up, he said no, he could not get it, it was then snowing very thick. I said to Dawson, it's very dirty, he said, yes, and it's getting worse. It was too windy for us to stay on the port side, we came on the starboard side to await orders. George Tuff was then on the bridge, not many men on deck then. Capt. Kean came out on the bridge and ordered all our men on deck and then on the starboard side. After we got on the ice Capt. Kean said to Tuff, "Now, George, you go S. W., follow my carcasses and you'll find about 1,400 seals. Kill them and go on board your own ship." He then told us to cross his bow, as he wanted to get to his own men. Some of whom were six miles from him. We crossed her head to the S. W. When she lay broadside to us we were on the port side. She then moved away, the last man had to run to get across her head. The wind was then S.E. We moved towards the seals as directed. Tuff was on the bridge when Capt. Kean told him the direction of the seals. I was on the ice then. Tuff was on the second bridge and the Captain was on the first bridge. When he started to say this I was getting over the side; from where I was to Capt. Kean was 10 or 15 feet. When Tuff got on the ice he sang out to Capt. Kean: "It looks for weather," the Capt. said: "no, my glass don't show for weather. Hurry up, boys, I want to get to my own men." When we got to the seals there were about 200. I heard Tuff tell Bungay to stop and kill them.

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Dear Mrs. Currah—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. The use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and you cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise E. Beltracchi. This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from womb, throat, lungs, leucorrhoea, etc. I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it. It also will send me her address. Enclose 2 stamps and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. For Sale by Leading Druggists Everywhere.

and Hadway's Relief, he revived a little. I saw Tom Dawson nearly gone and went to him and told him there was a steamer alongside, and McCarthy's gone for help. He got on his knees, and seemed better. I returned to my brother who was down on the ice; he said: "John, I can't die here, ask me clear of the dead men." I asked Kelloway if he was able to talk, and I said let's go to the other man, I think they have a fire. Going I fell in again. My brother then lay down to die. McCarthy went to the ice, but could get no one to go with him to the steamer. He told Tuff who said he would go, and told McCarthy to come back. We then lost sight of the steamer. McCarthy thought myself and brother were dead, but seeing me move, helped me up. He said the steamer was gone out of sight. He said the Newfoundland is to leeward, Tuff has come to her, and I said we'll go too. I saw our ship myself, then about 3 or 4 miles off. Going through the pans amongst the dead men, I said, "look at all the fine men, and I just say it's Abram Kean's fault." We overtook Tuff, who said, boys if the Newfoundland keeps her light up we'll each her to-night. Dark overtook us, the ship had no light up and we had to stay on the ice. It was drifting then but we could see our ship. We saw a light to windward and kept shouting but the frost was too hard to see to windward. In the morning we saw the Newfoundland and went for her, she was more easterly than the Belleventure. On the way we met men from our ship who came to help us. While getting lunch I asked some of the men if the whistle was blown on board. They said no, not after four o'clock. Then I went to the cabin, the Captain said: "John, it's a shocking affair." I said, "yes, Captain if you had blown your whistle your father didn't order us from this ship it would never have happened." He said the reason he did not blow his whistle was that he saw us going on board the Stephano, he did not blow his whistle after the men who returned on Tuesday got aboard. After shifting my clothes I went to the cabin again, when Jones and Bungay came, about 9:30. Capt. Abram Kean has stated in his evidence that he did not cross the Stephano's bow, that the seals were on the starboard side. If this were so why did he cross her bow? We did cross her bow then went S. W. Capt. Kean also said he took us 2 miles nearer to our ship and that our ship lay S. E. If she took us 2 miles S. W. how did that bring us two miles nearer to the Newfoundland. I judged the Stephano about 8 miles from our ship when we left Tuesday a.m. If Capt. A. Kean had reported to other steel ships that we had been on board his ship and told them what direction to go I believe every man would have been picked up before midnight Tuesday. The ice was loose enough from where we struck the seals to where we put up Tuesday for any of the steel ships to get about. I have spoken to men from these steel ships and they all said they were not jammed on Tuesday night, one man, John Hiscock, of Carbonar, of the Belleventure, the others I don't remember.

To the Judge.—Ice might have been so tight as to prevent ships getting about and still have cracks or places where men might fall through. He has been 12 springs to the ice, the last 3 with Capt. Wes. Kean.

To Dr. Lloyd.—When we were about 2 miles from the Stephano the ice became slacker and better walking, this was whelping ice. After we got aboard Capt. Kean said the seals lay on ahead. My watch was set by the Newfoundland's time on Monday. I did not see the time on the Stephano. On the Belleventure on the way home I noticed I was 10 minutes fast by her time. Early on Tuesday I saw a ring around the sun. I thought we would have rain and weather. On leaving our ship I thought we would work seals all day and stay on the Stephano at night. My Master Watch, Dawson, thought this and told me. I heard no one object to leave the Information for Salmon Packers.

Yesterday afternoon, the subjoined paragraph was posted at the Board of Trade Rooms: "The Canadian section of the Paris British Chamber of Commerce notifies proprietors of Canadian canning factories that a law has been passed in France prohibiting the import of canned salmon and other fish unless stamped on the top or bottom of the tin with the name of the country or origin in characters of four millimetres. The law will probably come into force in twelve months. As it will apply to salmon imported and in stock after that date, it is advisable to have the necessary dies made at once."

Sardinian in fog And Ice Bound.

Messrs. Shea & Co. received a wireless message last night from the Allan Liner Sardinian, which was then 260 miles East of Cape Race and was stopped in a dense fog. On Wednesday morning last the ship was reported 190 miles off St. John's and last night was 320. The ice, it is thought, was met to the westward and the Sardinian kept well south. In all probability she will make port tomorrow.

Stephano. I did not, because I thought the second hand had made arrangements for us with Capt. Kean for us to come back for the night, as Capt. Wes Kean gave his orders to look out for us. I didn't know we had to go to our own ship till we got on the ice. If we had made straight for our ship when we left the Stephano and our Captain had blown the whistle, I believe we would have reached her that night. I think we would have got to our ship some time during the night if the whistle had been blowing, even after we left the seals. The whistle on our ship was not so good as those of the steel ships, but as good as most others. Up to 8 or 9 o'clock I don't think the wind blew too hard to hear our whistle.

The hearing was adjourned at 6 p.m. until 10 o'clock this morning.

Magic "Nerviline"

Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago. Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline. GET A TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY. You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go around complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest liniment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind. One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago or lame back. This has been proved a thousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E. J. Graydon, of Caledonia, who writes:—"I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always my standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

Firemen's Union Special Meeting.

The special meeting of the Firemen's Union held last night was one of the most largely attended in the history of that organization. It was decided that the sum of $50 be contributed to the Sealing Disasters' Fund, and that the deepest sympathy of the Union be extended to the bereaved ones. The question of wages was discussed and it was decided to increase the monthly wage to $35, which will take effect on May 1st; was also decided that donkey-men should be given $40 instead of $35 as at present, and that men steadily employed on ships in port be given $9 per week, with 20 cents an hour for overtime, and 25 cents on Sundays. The requests will be prepared by the Union's Solicitor and forwarded to the ship owners who will also be interviewed by the delegate.

Girls! Don't Wash Hair With Soap

Soap dries your scalp, causing dandruff, then hair falls out—Try this next time. After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderrine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dandruff. Better still, use soap sparingly as possible, and instead, use a "Danderrine Hair Cleanser." Just moisten a cloth with Danderrine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust and dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and lustre. Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderrine dissolves every particle of dandruff, stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderrine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes straight to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderrine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

An Old Settler Finds Quick Relief

CHAS. MARSHALL CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mrs. Marshall Tells How Her Husband Suffered, and of His Speedy Recovery When He Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Parkinson, Algoma, Ont., April 17. (Special).—Living far from towns and with doctors not within easy reach, many of the settlers have found Dodd's Kidney Pills an inestimable blessing. One of those is Mr. Charles Marshall, Sr., whose recovery from a severe case of kidney disease has recently been the cause of much satisfaction to his family and friends.

"My husband was suffering very much with his back and legs," Mrs. Marshall says, speaking of her husband's cure. "He went to see the doctor, and he told him he had urinary trouble, but he did not seem to get any better.

"Then I sent for some Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since taking them he has no more pain in his back and legs, and his other troubles are all gone.

"I am indeed thankful for what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for my husband, and I hope other sufferers from kidney disease will benefit by his experience, and use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Urinary troubles are caused by diseased kidneys. So are backache, rheumatism, lumbago and heart disease. The natural remedy is to cure the kidneys by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

THE FOGOTA.—It is expected that the Fogota remained in the ice during the recent storm and will not arrive until weather conditions become more favourable.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

The Huerta's suggestion for a simultaneous salute to States and Mexican flags, the Washington Government informed Huerta that it was untenable, that a salute of twenty-one guns would be insisted upon, and that the manner of the returning salute would be left to the States. Admiral who had agreed to fire one to the American flag. No reply has been received up to late last night and no orders to war fleets to slow down or turn back had been considered.

LONDON, To-day.

Asquith's refusal to grant a judicial inquiry into the circumstances connected with the recently contemplated military operations in Ulster as a result of damaging facts, admitted in a written reply to queries by L. S. Amery, Unionist member for South Birmingham. The Premier, in his reply, produced a telegram which showed that troops were ready to move at short notice, that provisional arrangements had been made for their transport by sea if necessary. When any other members talked to Mr. Asquith yesterday concerning the official notification to General Gough that assurance had been repudiated by the Government, the new minister of war declared that such an assurance was unnecessary. Asquith declared that he saw no sufficient grounds for an inquiry. Mr. Amery notified the Minister of War that he would again raise the question at adjournment but Mr. Asquith was absent from the House, when last night the member for South Birmingham made his protest; he now intends to bring the matter up again on Tuesday. Sir Quiller Couch addressed a letter in which he insists that the common sense of Parliament must see the thing through. Sir Quiller says that the Unionist must see that Liberals and Nationalists are not to be raised into a game of "heads you lose, tails we win." At the same time he objects to the coercion of Ulster, remarking that any convictions which make him a Home Ruler make him abhor the coercion of a free people and that Liberal principles could never accord with any form of coercion. He concludes with the advice against the employment of English forces to intervene in the dispute, remarking that Orange Lodges and the Order of Hibernians understand each other far better than we understand either.

Fishery West.

The following report of the fishery on the western banks was received yesterday:—

(Channel to Port aux Basques). from T. Soper, April 11th.—Four boats and 21 dories and skiffs are fishing. No bankers have arrived from the grounds to date. Prospects are very good at present, and frozen herring is being used for bait. The 7th was the only day of the week that any fishing was done, and those who got out did fairly well. The ice embargo is the great evil just now. To-day, the 11th, it is very fine, with a little north-west wind, but the ice is close home to the shore and the fishing skiffs cannot get out. The 6th and 9th were very stormy, a strong easterly wind prevailing."

WASHINGTON, April 17.
President Huerta is again paralyzing. He demands that his salute to the United States flag shall be returned gun for gun. President Wilson is practically certain not to accept. This latest hitch occurred at the eleventh hour, when officials here expected that the situation was as good as cleared up, and was disclosed in despatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy. Wilson discussed the matter with the Cabinet and administration officials. It is said that Huerta's counter-proposal will not be accepted. Any intention of recalling the ships of the fleet, now bound for Tampico, has been abandoned. Those close to the administration expect to see Wilson's demand for an unqualified apology backed up.

Pilleas and Melisande.

A THREE REEL FEATURE.
The big attraction next week will be the big performance at the Crescent Picture Palace on Monday and Tuesday, when Matherlink's famous literary work Pilleas and Melisande dramatized in three parts will be a special feature. This remarkable subject was but recently released and will cause a great stir in the motion picture world. It will be shown only on Monday and Tuesday afternoons and evenings. Mr. Sidney Ershaw, the vocalist, who is now singing a very pleasing Irish song "If they would only bring Old Ireland over here," will render another one of New York's latest. After the big three-reeler two other regular service pictures will make up a bill that is sure to be appreciated. Last night's programme is again repeated to-night and lovers of good music and song should hear Mr. Ershaw's songs; baseballers particularly would enjoy it.

HAVE YOU READ IT?

No! Then you have missed one of the best Novels of the day. Queed is a solitary, pedantic young man who drifts mysteriously into a Southern City, settles down in a boarding house and applies himself to the composition of a learned work on "Evolutionary Sociology," oblivious of all human interests and associations. By degrees, the life around him begins to touch him, first at one point, then at another, until in the course of time, he develops into a full fledged hero of an uncommonly admirable and attractive sort, editor of the important newspaper in the city, and at the last, the successful lover of one of the most sterling heroines in fiction. An intensely human story, original, stimulating, permeated by a delightful humor and a charming spirit. You get it in cloth, 50c.; 2c. more if mailed.

Rev. C. W. Hollands, Carbonear.
Every Britisher should keep St. George's Day. His flag should be hoisted, and if possible the Rose should be worn in his button-hole. Above all, attendance ought to be made in God's House on this day. Every Priest ought to try and give special services on this day, specially the Holy Eucharist, then to offer Mass to honor the day and to plead for the glory of the whole British Empire. The Royal Society of St. George is happily doing an excellent work in trying to keep alive the memory of our Saint, and in inspiring and encouraging the patriotic spirit throughout our vast dominions. May his labors be rewarded.

The Flag of Old England
The steamer of England—it floats o'er the wave—
The fairest unfurled o'er the land or the wave;
But though brightest in story and matchless in flight,
The herald of Mercy as well as of might,
In the cause of the wrong may it ever be seen—
When tyrants are humbled and fetters are burst;
Be "Justice" the war-shout, and dash and be heard;
Who would scruple to die 'neath the Flag of the Free!

HON. SIR WM. H. HORWOOD, KT. Chief Justice.
Nowhere in the Colonial Empire have England's sons better right to observe St. George's Day than in this the Oldest Colony, where the flag of St. George, proclaiming England's sovereignty, was first seen in the Dominions beyond the Sea.

W. W. Blackall, Esq., St. John's.
Whether the St. George of English life and story ever lived in the flesh or not matters little. To Merry England he has always stood for all that is gallant and noble. From early times he holds a foremost place in English literature and it was a pity should the noble ideals associated with the name of our Patron Saint cease to stir us, in these sordid days.

A Song for British Children.
Oh! the glorious of the islands,
Of the glorious and the free!
Yours is the noble heritage,
A proud ancestry.

Advice.
Give thy thoughts no tongue,
Nor any unproportioned thought his act.
Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar.
The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel;
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment.
Of each new-hatched, unfledged comrade, beware.
Of entrance to a quarrel; but, being in, bear it that the opposer may beware of thee.
Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice.
Take each man's censures, but reserve thy judgment.
Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy, but not expressed in fancy; rich, not gaudy.
For the apparel oft proclaims the man, neither a borrower nor a lender be, for loan oft loses both itself and friend;
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.
This above all—to thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man.
—Shakespeare.

Gems From Shakespeare.
Strong reasons make strong actions.
Sweet are the uses of adversity,
Which like the toad, ugly and venomous, wears yet a precious jewel in his head;
And this our life, exempt from public haunt,
Find tongues in trees, books in the running brooks,
And God in everything.
Love all, trust a few,
Do wrong to none, be able for thine enemy.
Rather in power than use; and keep thy friend.
Under thine own life's key; be checked for silence,
But never taxed for speech.

PATRIOTISM.
How sleep the brave, who sink to rest,
By all their country's wishes blest!
When spring, with dewy fingers cold,
Returns to deck their hallowed mould,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod,
Than fancy's feet have ever trod.
By fairy hands their knell is rung,
By forms unseen their dirge is sung,
Then honor comes, a pilgrim gray,
To bless the turf that wraps their clay.
And Freedom shall awhile repair,
To dwell a weeping hermit there.
—Collins.

Thursday of Next Week!
THURSDAY OF NEXT WEEK IS ST. GEORGE'S DAY and as such makes its appeal to every Britisher. The commemoration of such anniversaries is good and wholesome. Not to celebrate altogether in holiday-making and pleasuring, but to lead us to contrast this prosaic age with the days "when knights were bold," and men died for the faith that was in them, and to learn from the deeds of the Past how we may stand for the Right in these days. The world has a fashion of persecuting its saviours and then canonizing them, and maybe the infrequency of martyrdom in these days is not altogether a promising indication of our modern Christianity.

However, there is much to be learnt from the past and especially do we commend next Thursday to be observed by a sincere consideration of how best we may cultivate that Patriotism, which, as Sir Robert Bond finely puts it, "shall add a New Echo to the Concords of Humanity."

St. George's Day.
(S. P. Whiteway, Esq.)
Each of the four nations which compose the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland has its patron saint who was in olden times supposed to be its special guardian.

Thus the patron saint of Wales is St. David, whom some of the old writers—who tell us of his preaching and miracles—consider to have been the uncle of the famous King Arthur. The patron saint of Scotland is St. Andrew, but why he should have been selected is not very clear. Old stories tell us that the saint was crucified on an X-shaped cross, and that this form of the cross appeared in the sky to a king of the Scots on the evening before a famous battle. The king thereupon walked barefoot to the Church of St. Andrew, and vowed to adopt his cross as the national device.

The story of St. Patrick is well known, and his great glory is that he introduced Christianity into Ireland. Doubtless ninety per cent. of our readers could tell in a moment the date on which St. Patrick's Day occurs, whereas in a hundred could say straight off the date on which falls the day of St. George, the especial patron of chivalry and the protecting saint of England. Although venerated both in the Eastern and Western churches the history of St. George is extremely obscure, the extant accounts containing very much less history than legend.

The most probable story, written by a Byzantine historian and substantially repeated by various authorities, is that St. George was born in Cappadocia, in Asia Minor, of noble Christian parents, from whom he received a careful religious training. Having embraced the profession of a soldier, he rapidly rose under the Roman Emperor Diocletian (284—305 A.D.) to high military rank.

When Diocletian had begun to manifest a pronounced hostility towards Christianity, George sought a personal interview with him in which he made deliberate profession of his faith, earnestly remonstrated against the persecution, and renounced his communion.

He was immediately laid under arrest and after various tortures (one oriental story making him suffer as many as seven martyrdoms) he was put to death at Nicomedia, a sea-port town in an eastern arm of the Sea of Marmora, April 23rd, 305 A.D.

W. H. Goodland, Esq., St. John's.
The message of St. George's Day is one of greatness—the greatness of the Empire of which we form a part. It is also one of liberty—for "The Briton may traverse the pole or the zone
And boldly claim his right;
He calls such a vast domain his own,
That the sun never sets on his might."
Tis a glorious charter, deny it who can
That's breathed in the words I'm an Englishman.
Since the Crusaders, when the aid of the Warrior Saint was invoked with the battle cry, "For Saint George and England," to the living present, it has been an inspiration for chivalry, courage and true manliness. The sublime act of Capt. Oates (of Scott Antarctic fame) which thrilled the world a little over a year ago, will suffice to serve as an illustration, and the calmness of the little band in the Antarctic blizzard, has found answering echo at the ice-floes of Newfoundland. Who will say that the heroic survivors—aye, and the brave fellows who battled with the force of the blizzard, and yielded up their lives, on the frozen pans, did not display heroism as great as any of the recorded deeds of history. There is one more thought within the limits of this Post Card—that of admiration for the virtues with which tradition has invested the Valiant Knight. Who can think of Captain Randall and his crew, the St. John Ambulance and City Corps, the willing nurses, and the thousand generous hearts, and not be impressed with the nobility of character and self-sacrifice displayed during the heartrending sight and scenes at the hospital and King George Seamen's Institute. St. George is not the least in the noble army of Christian Martyrs whose name is revered and whose example is being followed.

RT. HON. SIR ROBERT BOND, P.C., K.C.M.G., LL.D.
St. George's Day—April the 23rd—is the anniversary of the death of Saint George, the Tutelary Soldier—Saint of England, and "lord of chivalry and courtesy."
The "Message of St. George's Day" goes forth to every Britisher—to cherish and preserve such English customs and traditions as may tend to foster and inspire a jealous pride in all that concerns the welfare of our Empire and race. To cultivate patriotism, not antagonistic to other nations, but in broad rivalry which shall add a New Echo to the concords of Humanity.

Shakespeare's Day.
On April 23rd England's greatest poet, William Shakespeare, was born, and on April 23rd he died, making another claim on Britishers to celebrate St. George's Day. The neglect of Shakespeare by his countrymen, immediately after his own age, has left to the anxious curiosity of modern admirers slight materials for the construction of his biography. He was born at Stratford-on-Avon, in Warwickshire, in 1564. It is alleged that a short course in a grammar school was all the regular education he ever received, as the necessity of assistance in his father's business forced his withdrawal early from school. But Shakespeare's "wit" was "made of Atalanta's heels;" an hour's a mind like his could extract the essence of the acquisition of which employed the days and nights of less vigorous intellects. He married at the age of eighteen, Anne Hathaway, a young woman seven or eight years older than himself, the daughter of a "substantial yeoman" in the neighborhood. He moved to London and produced his dramas, and soon vindicated the immense superiority of his genius by universal popularity, realizing such wealth that he was able comparatively early in life, to retire from professional work. He purchased an estate in the vicinity of his native town, but his tranquil retirement was of no long duration. He enjoyed it only four years. He died in 1616 and was buried "on the north side of the chancel in the great church of Stratford." His bust is placed in the wall over his grave; on the stone beneath is the following epitaph:—
"Good Friend, for Jesus' sake, forbear To dig this dust enclosed here.
Best be the man that spares the stones."

And curst be he that moves my bones. His only son had died early; all the children of his married daughters died without issue.
The total want of care to preserve and to authenticate the productions of his genius before his death, has been supposed to indicate the poet's perfect indifference to fame. The worship with which Shakespeare is universally regarded disposes us to love him on trust. The estimation of his contemporaries and rivals proves him not underserving of this regard. The "gentle Shakespeare" was universally loved. We quote the celebrated passage of Dryden, eulogized by Johnson as "a perpetual model of economic criticism, exact without minuteness, and lofty without exaggeration." "He (Shakespeare) was the man, who of all moderns and perhaps ancient poets, had the largest and most comprehensive soul. All the images of nature were still present to him, and he drew them not laboriously but luckily. When he describes anything you more than see it, you feel it too. Those who accuse him to have wanted learning give him the greater commendation: he was naturally learned; he needed not the spectacles of books to read nature; he looked inwards and found her there. I cannot say he is everywhere alike; were he so, I should do him injury to compare him with the greatest of mankind. He is many times flat, insipid; his comic and wit degenerating into clinches, his serious into bombast. But he is always great, when great occasion is presented to him." The voluminous admiration of more modern times does not contain a very great deal more than is compressed into the vigour of Dryden's remarks.

At last night's meeting of the collectors for the Sealing Disaster Fund, twenty-seven books were presented showing that the sum of $2,620 had been collected in the house to house canvass. Seven collectors, who were busy at their sections last night, are yet to be heard from, and are requested to present their books to the Treasurer, Hon. R. Watson, at the Savings Bank, when their canvass is completed. Many of the collectors who reported last night, have not yet finished their canvass, and it is expected that when all the books are in the total will be in the vicinity of $4,000. The grand result of the city collection is due to the system adopted, by which many persons have contributed their little donations, which they might otherwise have been difficult in forwarding.

The Loafers.
When Spring comes, soft and balmy, with zephyrs flying loose, and weath' cold and clammy is canned for future use; when Spring, the genial fairy, brings solace to our souls, and all the world is merry, the loafers leave their holes. They come, the whole blamed stiffer, from holes, the Lord knows where, and on the corners gather, and chew and smoke and swear. They come, the ragged loafers, who'd rather die than work, as useless as the gophers that in the cornfields lurk; as useless as the foxes that steal the farmer's geese, they sit on drygoods boxes—their smell disturbs the peace. The peckers see them sitting all day, a dinky sight, their perches never quitting from morning until night; but do get their goats? Ah, No! No cops will grab them, for loafers all have votes. They are as independent as donkey eating hay, because they shine resplendent upon election day. They'll still defile the pavement, and stir up women's wrath; they ne'er knew what a shave meant, and never took a bath; they shun all sane endeavour, those skates with thirsty throats, and they'll abide forever, because they have their votes.
