This being the day on which Parliament has been convoked by Proclamation of the Governor-General for the despatch of business and the Members of the House being assembled:

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter:

GOVERNMENT HOUSE OTTAWA

3rd January 1962.

Sir,

I have the honour to inform you that His Excellency the Governor-General will arrive at the Main Entrance of the Parliament Buildings at 3.00 p.m. on Thursday the 18th January, 1962, and when it has been signified that all is in readiness, will proceed to the Chamber of the Senate to open formally the Fifth Session of the Twenty-Fourth Parliament of Canada.

> I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,

> > ESMOND BUTLER, Secretary to the Governor-General

The Honourable

The Speaker of the House of Commons, Ottawa.

V 1-1

A Message was delivered by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod:

"Mr. Speaker, His Excellency the Governor-General desires the immediate attendance of this Honourable House in the Chamber of the Honourable the Senate."

The House attended accordingly;

And being returned:

Mr. Diefenbaker, seconded by Mr. Churchill, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-1, An Act respecting the Administration of Oaths of Office, which was read the first time.

Mr. Speaker reported that, when the House did attend His Excellency the Governor-General this day in the Senate Chamber, His Excellency was pleased to make a Speech to both Houses of Parliament, and to prevent mistakes, he had obtained a copy, which is as follows:

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I welcome you as you resume your Parliamentary duties.

We look forward to the presence this summer of Her Majesty the Queen Mother, who for many years has endeared herself to the hearts of all Canadians. We shall also have the pleasure of receiving Their Royal Highnesses the Duke of Edinburgh and the Princess Royal.

During the past year, I have visited several Provinces and made an extensive trip to the Northwest Territories. The great North brought home to me the vastness, the far horizons and the beauty of our country. Flying over it, I thought of the wonderful heritage which Providence has entrusted to us. May we be worthy of this stewardship.

While the world outlook contains elements of continuing danger, there are some grounds for cautious optimism. Major military conflicts have been avoided and the processes of conciliation and negotiation are in progress or in prospect on many of the important international issues. The Canadian Government remains devoted to peace as its primary objective.

Recurrent Soviet pressure on Berlin makes it necessary for the Governments of the North Atlantic Alliance to reconcile the preservation of essential rights and interests with a constant readiness to discuss and enter into equitable and safeguarded engagements. My Government has consistently worked towards that end, and approves the resumption of preliminary talks with the U.S.S.R., the success of which will depend on Soviet good faith.

In other areas of tension, Canada has been prominent in international efforts to relieve political, economic and administrative strains which have sometimes accompanied the transition from dependent to independent status of new nations. International peace-keeping arrangements continue to warrant effective Canadian support. International agreements on measures of controlled disarmament remain vitally necessary if the world is to be freed permanently from the menace of war. As a member of the expanded disarmament committee recently reconstituted, my Government supports the decision to resume disarmament negotiations in March.

The Commonwealth continues to grow as an important instrument for freedom and peace, linking five continents and people of many races. The strengthening of this association is a primary objective of my Government. During 1961, Canada joined in welcoming Cyprus, Sierra Leone and Tanganyika to full membership in the Commonwealth.

My Government derives particular satisfaction from the endorsement by the United Nations of a World Food Programme sponsored by Canada, for which you will be asked to authorize a contribution.

You will also be asked to appropriate funds to maintain Canada's external aid programme.

Canada's diplomatic representation has been expanded in the Commonwealth, in the French-speaking countries of Africa, and as well in Latin America and in Asia.

While striving to reduce international tensions and promote the peaceful settlement of international disputes, my Government still considers it necessary to provide the support required to strengthen and maintain the defence forces necessary to continue an active role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Important negotiations are now under way between the British Government and the European Economic Community following the decision of Britain to ascertain whether terms can be negotiated on which it might become a member of that Community. My Ministers are following these negotiations carefully, having in mind that their outcome should give full recognition of the vital interests of the Commonwealth and to Canada's position and interests as a major trading nation.

My Government in recent international meetings has reiterated its support for the expansion of world trade on a multilateral non-discriminatory basis and its readiness to play a constructive role in the promotion of world trade. It stands ready to work with other countries in the pursuit of this goal.

My Government plans to recommend to you a number of measures that will constitute further steps in working out the purposes of Confederation and identifying more clearly the Canadian nationality in various aspects of public and business affairs. With this purpose in mind, you will be asked to give effect, with modifications, to the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Publications.

By means of conferences with representatives of Provincial Governments, progress has been made toward agreement on a means of amending our constitution in Canada, which would be the final step to bring our formal legal position into line with reality. A formula to accomplish this purpose has been sent to Provincial Governments for their consideration.

Legislation will be proposed to require reports to be submitted by business and labour organizations concerning the extent and nature of their operations and whether, and to what extent, they may be owned or controlled outside Canada.

A measure relating to the Senate will be placed before you.

My Government will ask you to take steps to ensure that the forthcoming redistribution of electoral districts is made in an equitable manner upon an objective basis. To this end you will be asked to approve for the first time in our history a measure to create an independent commission to recommend the changes required in the electoral districts as a result of the decennial census.

Comprehensive measures to put into effect my Government's economic policies were enacted in preceding sessions of this Parliament. The benefits flowing from these policies are now evident in record levels of employment, of production, and of export trade. There has been a substantial improvement since last year in the unemployment situation. As the result of the efforts of my Government through its municipal winter works incentive programme, notable progress has been made in meeting the recurrent problem of seasonal unemployment. The Government has already announced its intention of asking you to approve another and larger programme of assistance to municipalities for winter works projects.

Further measures to stimulate economic activity and promote national development will be placed before you this session. One of these will be the construction of a railway in the Gaspe Peninsula from Matane to Ste. Anne des Monts. Another will be the construction of a floodway and other works to conserve and control the waters of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers in Manitoba, for which agreement has now been reached with the Province regarding the division of costs.

Other measures which will help to enlarge employment by stimulating economic activity will include a bill to increase the total amount of financing of exports which can be undertaken by the Export Credits Insurance Corporation and an amendment to broaden the scope of the Small Businesses Loans Act.

The success of the recent "Resources for Tomorrow" Conference demonstrated the benefits of cooperation between governments in this field. My Government, in consultation with the Governments of the ten Provinces, is examining suggestions made at that Conference for cooperative measures to encourage the wise management and multiple use of Canada's natural resources.

The provision of low-cost electric power is one of the most important factors in the economic growth and industrial development of Canada. As a further step in the national development policy, my Prime Minister has invited the Provincial Governments to join with the Federal Government in early discussions of the steps that might be taken toward the establishment of long-distance power transmission to link Provinces and eventually the different regions of Canada.

You will be asked to provide for an expanded programme of encouragement to scientific research by industry in Canada.

A bill will be placed before you intended to enable Canada to participate effectively in arrangements for reinforcing the International Monetary Fund when additional resources are required to maintain stability in exchange markets in the face of substantial capital movements.

The maintenance of fair prices for farm and fishery products also continues to be a matter of prime concern to my Government and you will be asked to provide the funds necessary to sustain the price stabilization policy. My Ministers have achieved a gratifying success in finding markets for grain and thereby reducing surplus stocks. The drought in the Prairie Provinces during 1961 has resulted in severe losses, however, and you will be asked to provide assistance by means of acreage payments to the farmers who have been affected. Legislation will also be proposed to extend the period of application of the Farm Improvement Loans Act and the Fisheries Improvement Loans Act.

Important measures in the field of social welfare will also be proposed at this session. Your approval will be requested for an increase in the amount of the universal old age pension payable under the Old Age Security Act, and also for legislation to increase the amount to which the Federal Government will contribute under the Old Age Assistance Act, the Blind Persons Act and the Disabled Persons Act. After the concurrence of the Provinces for the necessary amendment to section 94A of the British North America Act has been secured, Parliament will be asked to approve a constitutional amendment in order to permit the introduction of a contributory system of old age pensions and related survivors' and disability benefits which will be in addition to the existing old age pension legislation and will take into account private pension arrangements and the need for legislation concerning portability of pension rights.

You will be asked to authorize the establishment of a national Council of Welfare similar to the Council of Health which has had a long record of usefulness.

You will be asked to approve an amendment to the Civilian War Pensions and Allowances Act to authorize the payment of allowances under specified conditions to merchant seamen, fire-fighters, foresters, members of voluntary aid detachments and certain other civilians whose war services overseas have been recognized in other respects. Other amending bills will provide for increased allowances and other improvements in the Children of War Dead (Education Assistance) Act and also for the extension of the effective period of the War Services Grants Act and the Veterans Insurance Act and for the extension of the qualifying period under the Veterans Land Act.

My Government will also ask you to appropriate monies required in the Unemployment Insurance Fund to safeguard the rights of workers until the report of the Special Committee inquiring into the unemployment insurance programme has been received and can be acted upon.

You will be asked to increase the Federal grants to universities and make suitable provision in those cases where alternative arrangements are made for supplementary Provincial grants in lieu of Federal grants.

My Government is initiating negotiations with the provincial and municipal authorities with a view to removing the tolls on the Victoria and Jacques Cartier bridges in Montreal; should these be successful you will be asked to approve legislation for this purpose.

You will be asked to authorize the institution of an automobile ferry service between North Sydney, Nova Scotia, and Argentia, Newfoundland, and to provide for the construction of the necessary vessel and docks.

Other measures will be introduced to amend the Broadcasting Act, the Canada Shipping Act, the Canadian National Railways Capital Revision Act, the Bankruptcy Act and a number of other statutes. You will be asked to approve the ratification of the Universal Copyright Convention.

Members of the House of Commons:

My Government intends to ask you to reconstitute the Special Committee on procedure of the House and request it to make recommendations on the elimination of closure of debates in the House of Commons.

The estimates required for the Public Service and for payments authorized by Parliament will be laid before you.

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I pray that God in His wisdom may grant you light and grace in your deliberations and the fulfillment of your duties.

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Proceedings of the Commissioners of Internal Economy of the House of Commons, for the period November 17, 1960, to January 17, 1962, pursuant to Standing Order 81. (English and French).

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Chief Electoral Officer, dated January 17, 1962, pursuant to section 58 of the Canada Elections Act, chapter 23, R.S.C., 1952. (English and French).

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Chief Electoral Officer, dated January 17, 1962, pursuant to section 4 of the Representation Act, chapter 334, R.S.C., 1952. (English and French).

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Parliamentary Librarian, pursuant to section 2 of the Regulations respecting the Library of Parliament (English and French), which is as follows:

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons:

The Parliamentary Librarian has the honour to submit his report for the year 1961. The last report was presented to both Houses on November 17, 1960.

The Joint Committee on the Library met twice during the last session. New regulations were adopted by the Joint Committee and approved by the House of Commons on September 27, 1961, on the recommendation of the Special Committee on Procedure. Standing Orders 120 to 128, inclusive, concerning the administration of the Library of Parliament were concomitantly repealed by the House of Commons. The text of the new Regulations is appended. The "Selected Additions List", issued twice a month during sessions to bring to the attention of Senators and Members a choice of recent books of special interest, was continued during the recess. A revised edition of the leaflet "How the Library of Parliament can Help Senators and Members" will be distributed early next week. A booklet listing the newspapers and magazines received in the Reading Room of the House of Commons has been printed and will be issued shortly.

In the course of the year 1961, our staff answered 5,910 reference questions and circulated 23,694 books, an increase in both cases over any previous year. During the same period, 14,632 volumes were catalogued and classified, which brings to 167,795 the number of volumes re-catalogued since the fire of 1952.

On August 1, 1961, Mr. Robert M. Hamilton resigned his position of Assistant Librarian (English), to become Assistant Professor of Reference at the new Library School of the University of British Columbia in Vancouver. Mr. Hamilton served the Library faithfully for over twenty years and he will be greatly missed. Mr. J. M. Scantland left to become chief librarian at the Public Printing Bureau; Mrs. I. Daniells resigned as assistant head of the English cataloguing division and Mr. R. de Varennes was promoted to the vacant position. Three senior clerks also retired during the year: Mr. Edgar Trudel, after 41 years of service; Mr. René Fortier, after 20 years, and Mr. Etienne Giard, after 16 years. All these departures were regretted, as was the retirement of our chief bookbinder, Mr. A. H. Butlin, who subsequently died. Mr. Conrad Sabourin was then promoted head of our bindery.

On January 8, 1962, Mr. James W. MacLeod, another valued librarian, was granted leave of absence, for one year, to assume the duties of Chief of the Index and Reference Branch (English Section) of the House of Commons.

Respectfully submitted,

ERIK J. SPICER, Parliamentary Librarian.

Library of Parliament, Ottawa, January 17, 1962.

FRIDAY, 23RD FEBRUARY

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I just wanted to make it clear that I understood that the House had agreed that the bill would be read the third time at the next sitting of the House and that the Honourable Member for Bonavista-Twillingate (Mr. Pickersgill) raised then a point of order as to the propriety of the House printing a second bill of the same number and form but differing in substance, a point which I think deserves consideration.

In this case the House, by unanimous consent, has accepted the reprinted bill and, therefore, perhaps the point of order is not one that arises now but one that might arise if similar circumstances occurred. I can assure honorable Members that I will give some thought to the problem and alert the officers to the possibility of it arising again and the proper course to follow.

A Message was received from the Honourable Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau, acting as Deputy to His Excellency the Governor-General, desiring the immediate attendance of the House in the Senate Chamber.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker with the House went to the Senate Chamber.

And being returned;

11 ELIZABETH II

(Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(3) as provisionally amended)

(Private Bills)

By unanimous consent, it was ordered that divorce Bills SD-1 to SD-36 inclusive, now standing for second reading, be set down for consideration on Thursday next.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill S-3, An Act respecting The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada;

Mr. Weichel, seconded by Mr. McFarlane, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce.

Bill S-4, An Act to incorporate Westmount Life Insurance Company, was read the second time and referred to the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce.

(Public Bills)

The Order being read for the third reading of Bill C-14, An Act to amend the Representation Act and the Canada Elections Act;

Mr. Nielsen, seconded by Mr. Dubois, moved,—That the said bill be now read a third time and do pass.

And the question being proposed;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: Before the House proceeds, may I have leave to raise a point of order which it seems to me must be raised in connection with clause 4 of the bill as reprinted.

Honourable Members will recall that Bill C-14, came before the House for second reading a few days ago. At that time the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen), by unanimous consent, was authorized to substitute an amended form of the bill which is now before the House and which is described as "Reprinted as proposed to be amended in Committee of the Whole".

Second reading proceeded, the bill was passed through committee, and it stands for third reading, although the bill in its present form, including clause 4, was in the hands of the House only at the time when second reading was moved or rather was in the hands of the House for the first time then. If honourable Members will look at clause 4, I think they will agree with me that it authorizes...

I shall be very pleased to read the clause. Clause 4 provides as follows:

"4. Section 9 of the Canada Elections Act is amended by adding thereto the following subsection:

"(8) In the electoral district of Northwest Territories the returning officer, with the written authorization of the Chief Electoral Officer, may appoint more than one election clerk and establish, if necessary, an office in each locality designated by the Chief Electoral Officer, and may delegate, in writing, to any such election clerk appointed his powers of selecting and appointing enumerators and deputy returning officers and of selecting polling places."

Honourable Members will observe that the first three clauses are an amendment to the Representation Act which does not provide for the expenditure of any funds but is an Act to deal with representation and electoral districts. On the other hand, clause 4 provides for an amendment to the Canada Elections Act under which provision is made for payment of the expenses of elections. The problem I wish to present to the House is that clause 4 appears to authorize an expenditure of public funds. For the convenience of honourable Members who wish to look into the matter I may say that the requirements with respect to bills which authorize an expenditure of public funds are found in section 54 of the British North America Act which states, in part, as follows: "It shall not be lawful for the House of Commons to adopt or pass any Vote, Resolution, Address, or Bill for the Appropriation of any Part of the Public Revenue... to any Purpose that has not been first recommended to that House by Message of the Governor General..."

That is part of the section. Then our Standing Order 61 implements that statutory provision. References to the practice will be found in Beauchesne's fourth edition, in citations 243, 245 and 355. In determining whether any particular legislation appropriates money within the meaning of these provisions, the issue is not the amount of money, but whether there is an appropriation of public funds. I cannot but come to the conclusion that clause 4 authorizes the expenditure of public funds. If that would stand in the way of the progress of the bill, it might be that the issue could be dealt with either by amendment or, if it is desired to proceed with the bill, this difficulty could be rectified by deferring it until a resolution has been brought in. It would not be proper for this bill to be read a third time and passed, thus setting a precedent which would stand in the future against the well-known constitutional practice that no public funds are ever appropriated, involving as they do taxation, without the House having an opportunity to consider the matter in the resolution stage in committee before the bill itself is presented.

It would be in order, of course, to refer the bill back to the committee with instructions to delete clause 4. It may be that the Canada Elections Act, as it stands, would be the means of providing the money necessary for the implementation of clauses 1, 2, and 3 of the bill. If so, then clauses 1, 2, and 3 could be made effective even if clause 4 were deleted. If the Canada Elections Act does not have these enabling provisions, then it is the more evident that the proposed amendment to the Canada Elections Act contravenes our practice.

Whereupon Mr. Nowlan, seconded by Mr. Browne (St. John's West), moved,—That Bill C-14, An Act to amend the Representation Act and the Canada Elections Act, be not now read a third time, but that the said bill be referred back to the Committee of the Whole with instructions to delete clause 4 therefrom and to amend the title of the said bill to read: "An Act to amend the Representation Act".

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was referred back to, and again considered in Committee of the Whole, reported with amendments, considered as amended (Title changed to: "An Act to amend the Representation Act"), and ordered for a third reading at the next sitting of the House. The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-15, An Act to amend the Canada Grain Act (Rapeseed and Mustard seed);

Mr. Rapp, seconded by Mr. Nasserden, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

The Committee of Supply resumed, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again at the next sitting of the House.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following bills without amendment:

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, 9th MARCH, 1962.

11.00 o'clock a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Hees, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Report entitled: Private and Public Investment in Canada — Outlook 1962 and Regional Estimates.

Mr. Balcer, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Draft Arrangement with the Canadian National Railway Company, as to the Terms and Conditions under which the Company will act as the Agent of the Crown for the Construction, Maintenance, Management, and Operation of the Gaspé Railway, under Bill C-67 now before the House.

Bill C-67, An Act to authorize the Construction and Operation on behalf of Her Majesty of a line of railway in the Province of Quebec between Matane and Ste. Anne des Monts, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, and reported without amendment.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Balcer, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of an Agreement, dated July 22, 1909, between His Majesty the King, represented by the Minister of Railways and Canals, and the Matane and Gaspé Railway Company.

Mr. Balcer, seconded by Mr. Churchill, moved,—That Bill C-67, An Act to authorize the Construction and Operation on behalf of Her Majesty of a line of railway in the Province of Quebec between Matane and Ste. Anne des Monts, be now read a third time and do pass.

And the question being proposed;

Mr. Fisher, seconded by Mr. Martin (Timmins), moved,—That this bill be not now read a third time but that it be referred back to the Committee of the Whole with instructions to add thereto, immediately after clause six thereof, a clause seven to provide: "That the coming into force of this bill be deferred until such time, not exceeding one year from this date, as the Standing Committee on Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines has undertaken a study of, and reported upon, the feasibility of expending the monies authorized by this bill in such a way as to provide for increased economic development of, and more appropriate transportation facilities for, Gaspé Peninsula.

Mr. ACTING DEPUTY SPEAKER (Mr. Chown): Perhaps one of the honourable gentlemen in the House would be prepared to assist the Chair in arriving at a decision as to whether or not this motion is in order, particularly with reference to the question of whether or not it introduces new material to the bill itself.

And debate arising on the point of order;

RULING BY MR. ACTING DEPUTY SPEAKER

Mr. ACTING DEPUTY SPEAKER: The Chair was in some difficulty in considering this amendment because there was a reasonable doubt as to whether the material introduced was or was not extraneous to the purpose of the bill. I am grateful to honourable Members who have assisted me in arriving at a decision. I want to refer the House to May's 16th edition, where the paragraph at the top of page 578 reads as follows: "As the debate on the third reading should be confined to the contents of the bill, reasoned amendments which raise matters not included in the provisions of the bill are not permissible."

This is the rather fine point over which I was having some difficulty. The citation read to the House by the Solicitor General is, however, a little more mandatory in its wording. I shall quote only part of what the Honourable gentleman read from Citation 418 of Beauchesne's 4th Edition: "On the second reading of a bill, an amendment may be moved expressing opinions as to any circumstances connected with its introduction or prosecution, or seeking further information in relation to the bill by committees or commissioners, the production of papers or other evidence, or the opinion of judges. This cannot be done on the third reading because it is not directly connected with any provision of the bill."

These are the words which satisfy me it would be difficult to admit this amendment as a proper one. Accordingly, I must rule that it is out of order.

(Notices of Motions)

Mr. Winch, seconded by Mr. Regier, moved,—Be it resolved that the House of Commons notes the important issues of responsibility and jurisdiction over the issuance of leases, collection of royalties and control of the continental shelf, being the seaward borders of various provinces and the Northern Territories, and further recognizes that a federal-provincial dispute has already arisen in connection thereto as both federal and coastal provincial authorities claim sovereignty.

It is therefore recommended, as the opinion of this House, that the government take under advisement a settlement of the dispute in the following manner:

(1) That the issue of sovereignty over the continental shelf shall be a matter of immediate negotiations between the parties concerned and;

that failing an early agreement the matter shall be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada, with an understanding that its decision shall be implemented by the introduction of required legislation and/or an amendment to the British North America Act.

- (2) That as the continental shelf issue involves the federal government and several provincial governments, that in the interim period pending settlement, agreement be reached that the federal authority issue exploratory leases.
- (3) That all receipts from leases or royalties shall be held in escrow pending a decision on sovereignty either by dominion-provincial agreement or decision of the Supreme Court.—(Notice of Motion No. 10).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 15th MARCH, 1962.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: If the House will give me leave, I shall be glad to make a brief statement about experiments in reporting our proceedings by mechanical means pursuant to the authority given by the House last April.

My reason for suggesting what might be called a progress report is to remove doubts which may have been left in the minds of honourable Members yesterday when the matter was raised, but not proceeded with, as a question of privilege. Is it agreed that I may make a brief statement?

Some honourable Members: Agreed.

Mr. SPEAKER: If honourable Members will refer to page 3963 of Hansard of April 25, 1961, or the Journals of that year at page 471, they will see the following:

"Mr. SPEAKER: By leave of the House, and I should first inform the House that I have already consulted the Party Leaders, I should like to ask for the approval of the House to carry out some experiments in reporting the proceedings of the House by using tape recording machines in conjunction with our sound amplification system. The purpose is to determine whether mechanical recording can usefully be used in combination with shorthand reporting, as is being done in some other jurisdictions, and to develop this information for the guidance of the Committee on Procedure and of the House itself. As I have said, nothing is contemplated other than experimental recordings. Is it agreed?

"Whereupon, it was agreed to."

Before the July adjournment some experiments with dictaphone machines were made in the English and French Debates offices with the co-operation of the editors and certain members of the staff. These experiments were not reported last session to the Committee on Procedure because they were not considered conclusive, and the Committee itself had its hands full with other business.

To continue the experiments, the assistance of the Management Analysis Division of the Civil Service Commission was requested. This request was initiated by the Clerk on October 5th, 1961, and the terms of reference were as follows: "To survey the organization, methods and procedures of the English Debates Reporting Branch with a view to making recommendations for their improvement."

Mr. A. M. Ervin was assigned to the work. He has undertaken a fairly broad study of reporting methods elsewhere as well as in our own House. The recordings which are now going on began on Thursday, March 1, and continued to March 9. The second stage will begin on March 15 and will run until March 23 and conclude at that point. The method is to take ten-minute sample recordings at intervals of approximately one hour during the daily sessions.

In all these experiments, the belts or discs from which the proceedings are recorded have been closely guarded and put to no outside, ulterior or improper use. The belts and tapes from the first experiment have been destroyed and those from Mr. Ervin's experiments will be turned over to the Speaker with his report.

There has been nothing secret about the experiments other than to maintain the privacy of the records.

I think perhaps honourable Members would wish me to add that what we are doing should not be taken in any way as a reflection on our excellent reporting and editorial staff, but rather as an attempt at finding possible means of assisting them in their difficult duties.

The following Notice of Motion having been called was transferred to Government Orders for consideration at the next sitting of the House pursuant to Standing Order 21(2):

That the Annual Report of the Governor of the Bank of Canada, together with the Statement of Accounts, for the year ended the 31st of December, 1961, laid on the Table on the 12th day of March, 1962, be referred to the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce.—The Minister of Finance.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Starr, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Project Summaries by Provinces under Technical and Vocational Training Agreements for the period April 1, 1961, to March 14, 1962.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply;

And the House continuing in Committee;

At 5.00 o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

(Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(3) as provisionally amended)

(Private Bills)

Mr. Weichel, seconded by Mr. McFarlane, moved,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to go into Committee of the Whole on Private Bills [pursuant to Standing Order 54(1)]; which was agreed to. (Public Bills)

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-28, An Act to amend the British North America Acts, 1867 to 1960, with respect to Representation in the Senate;

And the question being proposed;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: Before calling on the honourable Member who moves the bill, may I remind the House that the last time this bill was called I raised the question as to whether it might be a money bill requiring a resolution and the authority of the Ministry before it could be proceeded with. I have come to the conclusion, subject to such persuasion as may be exercised by honourable Members who wish to discuss the point, that it is not clearly enough a money bill for me to take the responsibility of preventing debate. I am, therefore, disposed to allow the mover to proceed, unless some honourable Member wishes to object to that course and persuades me it is not the right course.

I think I should state briefly what considerations arise, because it is not without importance. Bill C-28 provides for an amendment to sections 21 and 22 of the British North America Act so as to increase the number of Senators from 102, the present number, to 104. In other words, the bill provides for the addition of two Senators to the Senate. Now the consequence of passing this bill would be that those Senators, under the provisions of the Senate and House of Commons Act, Chapter 249 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, would become entitled to compensation as Senators and would be paid accordingly. So an indirect consequence of passing this bill would be to expend from the public purse the emoluments which are payable under another Act to the two additional Senators after they have been appointed. The consequence of passing the bill would, therefore, be an expenditure of public funds.

However, I rather take the view that the expenditure of public funds is already authorized by the Senate and House of Commons Act which provides for the payment of Senators apparently in anticipation of the appointment of additional Senators as well as of additional Members of Parliament. So authority for payment has already been given by Parliament. It was given when it passed the Senate and House of Commons Act; and this bill, which does not in itself provide for any payment, might therefore be regarded as not being a money bill, even though it sets in motion the other Act and would, therefore, involve expenditure.

There is one precedent, and it is on the basis of this precedent that I propose to allow the matter to proceed. There is the Representation Act, Chapter 15 of the Statutes of 1952, called "An Act to amend the British North America Acts, 1867 to 1951, with respect to the Readjustment of Representation in the House of Commons". This was introduced as Bill No. 221 on June 10, 1952. It was introduced without notice. It was not preceded by resolution, nor did it have the recommendation of the Crown, although as a result of the bill the number of Members of the House of Commons was increased from 255 to 265 and an additional Member was provided for the Northwest Territories. In that case the House proceeded to increase the number of Members of Parliament and thereby to increase the emoluments to which Members were entitled. It seems the cases are parallel. It is the only precedent and, therefore, I think the proper course would be to register this query about the bill so that it will not stand in the way of future decisions, but not to press the point to the extent that debate would be discontinued.

I am reinforced in my view by thinking that one should settle these matters giving the benefit of the doubt to the authority of a Private Member of the House to proceed to raise such matters as he thinks may properly be brought before Parliament, not by ruling in a restrictive way.

And debate arising on the motion,—That Bill C-28, An Act to amend the British North America Acts, 1867 to 1960, with respect to Representation in the Senate, be now read a second time;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

The House resumed consideration in Committee of the Whole of Bill C-75, An Act to amend the Canadian Wheat Board Act, which was reported without amendment.

By unanimous consent, the said bill was read the third time and passed.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider a certain proposed resolution to amend the Judges Act.

(In the Committee)

The following resolution was adopted:

That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend the Judges Act to provide salaries for two additional judges of the Trial Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario and seven additional judges of the County and District Courts of Ontario including one chief judge.

Resolution to be reported.

The said resolution was reported and concurred in.

Mr. Fulton, seconded by Mr. Monteith (Perth), by leave of the House, presented Bill C-84, An Act to amend the Judges Act, which was read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-38, An Act to provide for the Reporting of Financial and other Statistics relating to the Affairs of Corporations and Labour Unions carrying on Activities in Canada;

Mr. Fulton, seconded by Mr. Monteith (Perth), moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

And debate arising thereon;

(At 5.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(3) as provisionally amended).

(Notices of Motions)

Mr. Allard, seconded by Mr. Dubois, moved,—That, in the opinion of this House, consideration should be given to the advisability of referring the recommendations of the Tariff Board on textiles to the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce for the purpose of examining and reporting on the problems of the textile industry, more particularly in connection with foreign imports.—(Notice of Motion No. 16).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

Debate was resumed on the proposed motion of Mr. Fulton, seconded by Mr. Monteith (Perth),—That Bill C-38, An Act to provide for the Reporting of Financial and other Statistics relating to the Affairs of Corporations and Labour Unions carrying on Activities in Canada, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Martin (Timmins), seconded by Mr. Howard, moved in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be struck out and the following substituted therefor: "this House declines to proceed with a bill the provisions of which do not provide that corporations and unions be required to make public the amounts of money which they contribute to political parties and candidates for public office."

And a point of order having been raised by the Minister of Justice (Mr. Fulton) to the effect that the amendment was irrelevant to the purpose of the proposed legislation;

And debate arising on the point of order;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: The amendment which has been submitted by the honourable Member for Timmins (Mr. Martin) is framed as a reasoned amendment which is quite admissible on second reading of the bill.

Citation 382 of Beauchesne's fourth edition reads: "It is also competent to a member who desires to place on record any special reasons for not agreeing to the second reading of a bill, to move as an amendment to the question, a resolution declaratory of some principle adverse to, or differing from, the principles, policy, or provisions of the bill, or expressing opinions as to any circumstances connected with its introduction, or prosecution; or otherwise opposed to its progress; or seeking further information in relation to the bill by committees," and so on. The amendment appears to be of that type, on its face. The bill is one which will require corporations and trade unions to submit information. The reasoned amendment is that the bill does not require certain information to be submitted. The question I am to decide is whether that is a declaration of a principle contrary to the bill or whether, as is argued, it goes so completely outside the bill as not to be related to it.

It is a fact that we have on the Order Paper two propositions about contributions to political parties and candidates for public office, but dealing with the making of contributions rather than the making of returns with respect to contributions. This amendment refers only to the making of returns or to the giving of public information.

I think the subject-matter introduced, that of contributions to political parties, is in reality entirely unrelated to the bill, but it is introduced in a way that gives a semblance of connection to the bill in that it is related to the giving of information. With ingenuity one could think of a great many kinds of information that might be required of any corporation or union and thereby be made the subject of returns and, consequently, the subject of an amendment in this bill.

On the whole, I think the subject-matter of the proposed public information is unrelated to the bill. It is another kind of problem. It is the problem, of contributions to political parties rather than the constitution of the corporation or union and, therefore, is not a subject-matter entirely germane to the bill, even though it has the semblance of being related to the bill, because it is related to the giving of information. On that ground I think I would be disposed to rule the amendment out of order, although not without some doubt, and I declare the amendment out of order.

After further debate on the main motion,—That Bill C-38, An Act to provide for the Reporting of Financial and other Statistics relating to the Affairs of Corporations and Labour Unions carrying on Activities in Canada, be now read a second time; it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time.

Whereupon Mr. Fulton, seconded by Mr. Churchill, moved,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to go into Committee of the Whole on the said bill.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on division.

Accordingly, the said bill was considered in Committee of the Whole, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to consider it again at the next sitting of the House.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-41, An Act to establish the Office of Parliamentary Proctor and to regulate Taxation of Costs;

Mr. Peters, seconded by Mr. Martin (Timmins), moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: Before calling on the honourable Member or recognizing the honourable Member for Timiskaming (Mr. Peters), may I say that I feel it to be my duty to draw the attention of the House to the fact that this bill has some of the characteristics of a money bill or one that requires a resolution. I therefore feel that if the debate proceeds I should at least indicate the possible difficulties with a bill of this kind so that it will not be taken as a firm precedent for similar legislation. A.D. 1962

The bill provides for the appointment of an official who is described as Parliamentary Proctor and who would be under the joint direction of the Speakers of the two Houses and the Joint Committee of the two Houses. It provides for the payment of a salary for this official and for the raising from suppliants for parliamentary divorce of fees from which the salary would be paid. In this Act no provision is made for these fees going into the Consolidated Revenue Fund. However, by general legislation I think they would be required to be paid into that fund. It therefore may not be possible to get them out again in order to pay the officer without specific legislative authority. As the bill stands, it would perhaps come under the heading of a bill which provides a service in response to a moderate fee commensurate with the service. On the authority of a citation from May's Parliamentary Procedure, the 16th edition, page 789, there is some precedent for such legislation without a preceding ways and means resolution. However, I am by no means satisfied that the bill comes under the exception. With that caution now, however, I feel that the debate might proceed as the case is not as clear as it might be. I recognize the honourable Member for Timiskaming.

And debate arising on the motion,—That Bill C-41, An Act to establish the Office of Parliamentary Proctor and to regulate Taxation of Costs, be now read a second time;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

The following papers having been deposited with the Clerk of the House were laid upon the Table pursuant to Standing Order 40, namely:

ECONOMIC REVIEW OF 1961

GENERAL

1961 was a year of expansion in the Canadian economy. In the midst of a wide variety of economic forces which influenced Canadian developments, some of which will continue to be of importance in the years ahead, the economy responded to policies undertaken during 1961. Then too, the external environment, one of the more basic elements determining Canada's economic well-being, was, on the whole, favourable to the course of expansion.

In the 1960 Budget Papers reference was made to the unusual conjuncture of economic forces, special, cyclical and longer term that were having adverse effects on the Canadian economy. This condition lasted into the early months of 1961, and by March 1961 the index of industrial production was 4 per cent below the peak level reached at the beginning of 1960. Unemployment was high, being close to 8 per cent of the labour force, after allowing for normal seasonal movements. The deficit on international current account was running at an annual rate of \$1.2 billion, or the equivalent of about $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the Gross National Product. This represented, in effect, the net importation of resources from abroad which, given the extent of unused capacity in Canada at that time, was at a level clearly inappropriate to Canada's economic circumstances. These relatively unfavourable conditions do not, of course, tell the entire story: employment and incomes had continued to rise throughout 1960 and prices had risen scarcely at all.

It was against this very briefly sketched background that Canada entered the spring months of 1961. At that time economic conditions in the United States began to improve and, as the earlier American deterioration there had imparted a downward influence on Canada's economic activity, so did the subsequent business upswing impart a more favourable influence. At the same time the expansion of exports to other countries was reinforced by some additional large grain sales, helping to improve Canada's external position.

The wide range of economic and financial policies followed by the federal government in 1960 and 1961 was designed to facilitate the flow of Canadian savings to Canadian borrowers and reduce excessive capital inflows from abroad. In the event, these policies resulted in a reduction of upward pressures on Canada's exchange rate and reduced the deficit on international current account. At the same time, the size of the budget deficit was increased to enlarge the flow of purchasing power to the general public, in a period when there was a considerable amount of unused economic capacity.

From March to December 1961, (the month of the latest available data) the index of industrial production rose by 9.1 per cent, bringing it to a level 4.7 per cent above the previous cyclical peak of January 1960. The most comprehensive measurement of economic activity, the Gross National Product, increased from its first quarter low to the fourth quarter by $2.4 billion, or by 7 per cent, and at year end was about 3 per cent above the average of 1961 as a whole. Employment responded to the improved pace of economic activity and rose at a more rapid rate than in 1960 and the rate of unemployment began to fall. By August 1961, the numbers of unemployed were below those experienced one year earlier and, by year end, the rate of unemployment (after allowance for normal seasonal movements) had fallen from the cyclical peak of 7.8 per cent at the beginning of the year to 6.1 per cent of the labour force. On the financial side, interest rates declined generally after mid-year, and the spread between Canadian and United States interest rates narrowed appreciably. Liquidity increased in the economy and a larger share of total borrowing was financed in Canada. This was reflected in the decline in the capital inflow from abroad and the reduction of the external price of the Canadian dollar. The international current account deficit was accordingly reduced in 1961.

The economic expansion of 1961 was achieved without disturbance to the relative stability of prices. A variety of price indexes, including the consumer price index and the price index applicable to Gross National Product, averaged less than 1 per cent higher in 1961 than in 1960. These and other developments are discussed more fully below.

THE NATIONAL ACCOUNTS

NATIONAL INCOME AND PRODUCT

As indicated above, the Gross National Product rose substantially throughout the last nine months of 1961. By contrast, the movement within 1960 had been irregular, falling from the first to the second quarter, then increasing to the fourth quarter before declining again at the beginning of 1961. The irregularity of the movement of G.N.P. throughout 1960 and into the first quarter of 1961 makes less meaningful a comparison of the annual averages of these two years; indeed such a comparison masks the significant strengthening in economic activity which took place throughout 1961. Further, the measurement of Gross National Product includes the value of farm production and the annual figures for 1961 reflect the sharp decline in farm inventories which resulted from the drought in western Canada as well as enlarged grain exports. The 1961 grain crop turned out to be only about three-fifths of its average value in recent years, and the increase in G.N.P. was correspondingly reduced by about $400 million, or about 1 per cent. (It should be noted, however, that farm cash income was maintained at peak levels, with sales made possible out of previously accumulated stocks.) The net result of all these factors was that

G.N.P. in 1961 rose to about $36.8 billion, 2.5 per cent above the average of 1960. With prices relatively stable, about four-fifths of this increase in yearly averages represented a gain in real volume.

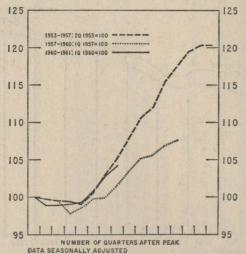

As was previously pointed out, the G.N.P. seasonally adjusted in the fourth quarter of 1961 was already about 3 per cent above the average of the year as a whole, and 7 per cent above the first quarter of 1961. This compares favourably with the increases during the early phases of previous upswings.

The following table and accompanying chart illustrate this point. They show changes in the value and volume of non-farm output during the downswing and early phases of the upswing in 1953–54, 1957–58 and 1960–61. The purpose of making comparisons with the low point of activity is, of course, to show the relative strength of the upturn. However, this type of comparison has only a limited meaning by itself, since an upturn is more likely to be strong after a steep than after a mild decline. For this reason, it is useful also to compare the current level of activity with that prevailing before the declines took place, i.e. at the previous peak, in terms of both the value and the physical volume of output at these points. This shows that the recent gain (late 1961) in real terms was larger than the expansion in the immediately preceding upturn (1958) in which the value increase contained substantial elements of price.

Output of the services-producing industries of the economy rose during 1961, reflecting a continuation of the almost uninterrupted longer run movement, and reached new peaks, both in total and for each major service industry. For the year as a whole, output in services averaged about 3 per cent above the level of 1960.

The goods-producing sector of the economy produced a less even picture, as might be expected. This is typical of the goods sector, which is more subject to varying demands, including shifts in inventories and in fixed investment within the country, and changes in foreign demand for goods including, again, shifts in inventories and fixed investment in foreign markets. The greater volatility of output in this sector, relative to services, is associated with wider swings in employment, particularly of males, who predominate in goods-producing industries.

 SOME COMPARATIVE RATES OF RECOVERY

⁽¹⁾ The data in this table and in the accompanying chart exclude farm output and interest and dividend payments to and from abroad, and thus differ somewhat from the measurement of gross national product. The value of farm production has been deducted since, for statistical reasons, the seasonally adjusted value of the grain crop for the calendar year is allocated evenly throughout the four calendar quarters, complicating comparisons between quarters of different years. The interest and dividend adjustment has been made to the value figures in order to make them comparable to the volume figures, which measure output on a gross domestic basis, i.e. of goods and services physically produced in Canada. It should also be noted that price comparisons cannot be derived with precision from the value and volume indexes in this table. For purposes of price comparison, the deflators of Gross National Expenditure are more accurate.

Data prepared in Department of Finance.

In 1961 the volume of total agricultural output declined because of drought conditions in western Canada, the drop in grain output more than offsetting increases in the remainder of the agricultural sector. Apart from agriculture, output in the rest of the goods sector showed a yearly average gain. Manufacturing output, which had declined during 1960, rose throughout 1961 and at December was somewhat above the previous peak level of January 1960. This reflected, in the main, movements in durable goods production, since output of non-durable goods had been relatively flat in 1960 and rose significantly in 1961. Developments in durable manufacturing were more volatile. From January 1960 to January 1961, output in durable manufacturing declined by 11 per cent, then increased and by December 1961, was almost back to the level of January 1960.

Mining output reached new peaks in 1961. rising sharply in the course of the year. There were gains in some metals including nickel and copper, but the larger increases came from the output of non-metals and fuels, especially asbestos, natural gas and petroleum, the latter groups enjoying larger markets both at home and abroad.

The output and distribution of electric power and gas utilities continued its steady rise and increased by 7 per cent over 1960.

In the construction industry, there was an increase of about 3 per cent in the yearly average due to the increase in the non-residential component. During the year as a whole forestry output declined but fishing and trapping showed increases.

Considering developments in the labour force in 1961, which will be discussed more fully in a later section, four main points stand out: the recent sharp increases in the labour force slackened; there were significant increases in employment; employment of males rose substantially for the first time in about two years; and the level of unemployment declined in the course of the year. By December 1961, the labour force was 1 per cent, or 65,000 higher than a year 53820-7-2 TABLE 3

⁽³⁾The book value of inventories is deflated to remove the effect of price changes and the derived "physical" change is then valued at average prices of the current period to obtain the value of physical change. The difference between this value of physical change and the change in book value is called the inventory valuation adjustment (see line 7, Table 1).

earlier, and total employment was up 3 per cent, or 180,000, of which 125,000 were males and 55,000 females. Unemployment declined by 115,000 persons from December 1960 to December 1961.

Turning to the flow of incomes in 1961, the major components showed increases from the first quarter of the year. By the fourth quarter, national income was running at an annual rate of $28.8 billion, compared with $26.6 billion in the first quarter of the year and $27.2 billion in the first quarter of 1960.

The sharpest gain within 1961 took place in corporation profits, which had, however, shown the sharpest decline during 1960 and early 1961. During 1961 corporation profits increased from the first to the fourth quarter by 30 per cent. This brought profits to a new peak rate of about $3.8 billion in the fourth quarter, surpassing the previous peak of the fourth quarter of 1959 by about 4 per cent. The increase in profits during 1961 reflected the sharp pickup in production and the relative steadiness of costs.

Labour income rose by 5 per cent from the first to the fourth quarter of the year. During the same period the number of paid workers and average hourly earnings rose significantly while there was also a modest rise in the length of the average work week. The rise in personal disposable income paralleled that of labour income. Taking into account the stability in consumer prices and the estimated rise in population, there was a significant gain in per capita real disposable income from the beginning to the end of 1961.

Rent, interest and miscellaneous investment income increased about 6 per cent from 1960 to 1961. The level of farm income in 1961 was reduced from 1960 due to the drought and subsequent decline in grain production in western Canada. Cash income was maintained at record levels, however, due to increasing export and domestic sales of grains and other farm commodities, requirements of grain being met out of previously held stocks.

Net income of "other unincorporated business" rose somewhat in 1961.

NATIONAL EXPENDITURE

Between the beginning and end of 1961 all of the components of demand on a seasonally adjusted basis increased thus providing the support for the upward movement in the economy. Over the period as a whole, gains in consumer spending and exports were the largest elements in the rise, with increases in government spending on goods and services being next in magnitude. Business investment in fixed plant and equipment and in non-farm inventories also increased significantly from the first to the fourth quarter. In total, demand, both domestic and foreign, rose by about $2.6 billion over the period, and was met by increases in domestic production of $2.1 billion and additional imports totalling $0.5 billion.

As between the first quarter of 1960 (the preceding peak) and the fourth quarter of 1961, the change in the composition in total demand was substantially different from that which took place from the beginning to the end of 1961. Between the first quarter of 1960 and the fourth quarter of 1961, farm inventories and grain in commercial channels declined by about $700 million, reflecting both the lower grain crop in 1961 and higher export sales. At the same time the accumulation of non-farm business inventories was smaller by $188 million, reflecting the reaction to the post-U.S. steel strike inventory accumulation in early 1960. Total business fixed investment was also at a lower level in the fourth quarter of 1961. Offsetting these influences were larger increases in consumer and government spending, the two sectors rising in total by $2.6 billion over the seven quarters.

During 1961 consumer spending increased steadily from the first to the fourth quarter. Increases in government spending on goods and services were fairly steady throughout the year. Housing outlays were higher in the second half of the year as were outlays on business plant and equipment. Exports rose very sharply in the third quarter and more than maintained the rate in the last quarter of the year. Liquidation of farm inventories was very heavy throughout the year, reflecting large grain sales and a much reduced crop. The accumulation of non-farm business inventories was small during the first three quarters of the year, but moved up significantly in the last quarter. In contrast with previous upswings, inventories have so far played a more modest role in the expansion of demand reflecting different fundamental conditions including ample supply and steady prices.

Turning to expenditure items in more detail, consumer spending rose throughout 1961 after having shown a fractional decline in the first quarter of the year. In the last three quarters of 1961 consumer spending increased by about $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent and by the end of 1961 was 8 per cent above the rate in the previous peak in general business activity in the first quarter of 1960. Prices of consumer goods and services changed very little in the course of 1961, so that the value increases in spending represented gains in real terms.

Purchases of durable goods seasonally adjusted rose by more than 14 per cent within 1961. The gains were concentrated in purchases of new cars which after declining in the first quarter of the year reached a level in the fourth quarter about 10 per cent above the level of a year earlier. Prices of durable goods, particularly automobiles, declined in 1961, compared with 1960, so that the increases in real terms were even greater than the gains in value terms.

Consumer spending on non-durable goods rose steadily until the fourth quarter of the year when it declined slightly but was still more than one per cent above the level of the first quarter. Consumer spending on services continued its long term rise throughout 1961, increasing from the first to the fourth quarter by about 3 per cent, of which nearly 2 per cent represented increases in real terms. The main part of the value increase was accounted for by spending on medical services and on rents (paid or imputed on owner-occupied dwellings).

Government spending on goods and services rose from the first to the fourth quarter by 7 per cent. More than one-half of the increase in this period took place at the provincial and municipal levels. For the year as a whole, government spending on goods and services rose by \$500 million, of which about \$45 million reflected increased capital outlays. Business fixed capital formation rose in the second half of 1961, after declining in the earlier part of the year and by the fourth quarter of 1961 had surpassed the level achieved one year earlier. Movements were diverse throughout the year. During the first quarter of the year housing starts were at a very high rate carrying forward the upward movement begun in the last quarter of 1960. This increase in starts was not reflected in housing completions until the third quarter of the year. Starts declined from the very high rate in the first quarter, and then increased irregularly until the closing months of the year. For 1961 as a whole starts totalled about 125,000 units, some 15 per cent above the previous year, while completions were 116,000 units, 7 per cent below 1960. In November 1961 the N.H.A. maximum interest rate was lowered from $6\frac{3}{4}$ per cent to $6\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

Business investment in new plant and equipment is described more fully in the section on Investment and Capital Expenditure. In broad terms, outlays for both plant and equipment were somewhat below the levels of 1960, although within 1961 itself there was a firm upward trend during the second half of the year. For the first time in seven years there was a relative stability in costs of non-residential construction.

During 1961 there was a net liquidation of inventories in Canada. This liquidation was more than accounted for by a reduction in grain inventories which arose from a combination of increased marketings (notably exports) of grains and a much reduced grain crop in western Canada. On the other hand, there were some increased livestock inventories on farms. As against the net depletion of farm stocks there was an increase in holdings of non-farm business inventories of $209 million, with the largest increase taking place in the fourth quarter of 1961.

CHANGES IN INVENTORIES

During 1961, manufacturers, especially of durable goods, continued to draw down stocks well after the pickup in general business activity, and it was not until the fourth quarter that significant accumulation of inventories took place in that sector. Other non-farm business sectors tended to accumulate inventories hesitantly and erratically in the course of the year. Over the year as a whole the buildup was small in relation to previous upswings and in the manufacturing sector the rate of increase in stocks was less than in shipments, so that at year end the ratio of stocks to sales was somewhat below that of the previous year.

Some indication of the modest increase in inventories may be given by measuring the "swing" in non-farm business inventories for the three quarters from the low point in general business activity for 1961 and 1958.

(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)

IQ 1961 IQ 1958	60 -688	504 72	+444 +760

The moderate nature so far of the inventory upswing reflects, as has been previously noted, conditions of more ample supply and rapid delivery as well as more cost consciousness and a decline in the fear of the possibility of inflation. The lower rate of inventory accumulation in this upswing compared with the last may have had some bearing on the demand for financial resources and the lesser increase in interest rates as compared with the preceding upswing in 1958.

Exports of goods and services rose in 1961 more rapidly than imports, so that the deficit on current account narrowed, compared with 1960. The increase in exports was generally maintained throughout the year and was concentrated in commodity exports which rose to a new peak. There were, in addition, other significant developments which are discussed more fully in a subsequent section. For the first time since 1954, there was a surplus on merchandise trade account (adjusted to conform with balance of payments definitions).

PERSONAL INCOME AND ITS DISPOSITION

Personal income fell slightly from the fourth quarter of 1960 to the first quarter of 1961, but subsequently rose to $28.8 billion in the fourth quarter of 1961, a 5.6 per cent increase over the first quarter.

Among the components of personal income, wages, salaries, and supplementary labour income rose throughout the year; farm income itself, while lower for the year as a whole due to the smaller grain crop, was higher in the latter half of 1961. Income of unincorporated businesses rose during the second half of the year due to improvements in trade and construction. Interest and dividend payments to persons, along with net rental incomes, rose 5 per cent during the year. The increase throughout 1961 in transfer payments from Government (excluding interest) was the reflection of a regular growth in family allowances and old age security payments, as well as payments to farmers under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. These increases were offset to some extent by lower unemployment insurance benefit payments as the numbers of unemployed declined during the year.

For 1961 as a whole, personal saving amounted to 5.1 per cent of personal disposable income. Excluding change in farm inventories the percentage was 6.3 per cent, slightly higher than in four of the preceding five years.

SOURCE AND DISPOSITION OF SAVING

Total saving declined in the first quarter of 1961 but rose steadily during the remainder of the year. As noted in last year's Budget White Paper and as illustrated in the accompanying chart, total national saving tends to follow closely the movements of general business activity.

Despite the increase during the year, total saving for 1961 as a whole was below the average for 1960 as a whole. Most of this decline was due to the smaller grain crop which had the effect of reducing both personal saving (by lowering farm net income) and inventories. Apart from this, business saving rebounded from the first quarter decline as profits rose sharply in the remainder of the year. After payment of dividends, undistributed corporation profits by the fourth quarter of 1961 reached the highest level in three years. The total of capital consumption allowances rose slightly in 1961. The combination of rising capital consumption allowances and the increase in undistributed profits raised the rate of gross business saving in the fourth quarter of 1961 to a new dollar peak. The significance of this along with the rates of business investment in fixed capital and inventories is analyzed in the section on financial developments.

The deficit on combined government account (national accounts basis) for 1961 as a whole was $245 million higher than in 1960, but the quarterly series suggest that the level of the deficit remained relatively unchanged from the third quarter of 1960 through to the second quarter of 1961, and then declined. The government deficit at the federal level rose for the year as a whole from $251 million to $446 million, while the provincial and municipal deficits combined rose from $397 million to $447 million. The deficit, on a national accounts basis, at the federal and provincial and municipal levels was somewhat reduced in the second half of 1961.

INVESTMENT AND CAPITAL EXPENDITURE

Private and public capital expenditure totalled $8,109 million in 1961, about 2% below the level of 1960. The entire decline was accounted for by private investment, which for the full year was below 1960, but which rose in the last half of 1961 and contributed to the upswing in the economy. By the fourth quarter seasonally adjusted business investment was 4% above the level of the first quarter of 1961, which marked the end of the previous downswing in general economic activity. In Canada capital expenditures in 1961 constituted 22.0% of Gross National Expenditure, a figure which is high by international comparison but below the levels and proportions of the period of the mid-1950's.

In the first decade after World War II there was an unusual conjuncture of factors which led to very large "bunching" of investments. This phenomenon of "bunching" has been typical of Canadian development, but each period has been marked by different circumstances. At the end of the War there existed a vast accumulation of unsatisfied demand for consumer, social and industrial capital which had been running down ever since the end of the 1920's through the depression and war years. On top of these needs were the obvious requirements of European reconstruction and the related absence of foreign competition, which provided an additional stimulus to investment in Canadian facilities. While these factors were at work a number of other developments were taking place which gave additional emphasis to investments in Canada. For example, world political developments at that time made Canada a safe source of essential raw materials for U.S. defence needs. At the same time the associated boom in world commodity prices, along with large scale stockpiling programmes, led to sharp increases in capital outlays, especially in resource industries. At this time too, there was a general view that demands in the United States for certain industrial materials would soon exceed their domestic supplies. This added an air of urgency to the normal pace of exploration and development of sources of raw materials.

Since investments by modern large-scale enterprise are often made with a very long time horizon, because of the "lumpy" nature of many investments and the financial capabilities of large corporations, it is not surprising that, over short periods of time, some major classes of investment should tend to outstrip demand. In part, this was due to the over-optimism of some investors, at least in the short run. Historically, too, Canada has tended to "grow up" to its facilities so that from time to time some excess capacity exists temporarily. This has been the case over the past few years. Expectations have not been completely fulfilled as prices of primary products have receded and alternative sources of supply have been developed by other countries. At the same time, during recent years, a shift occurred in the strategic concepts underlying western defence, which brought about a virtual end to military stockpiling and a reduction in the materials content of military hardware. In these altered circumstances, the stimulus to develop Canadian sources of supply in the resource industries decreased. At the same time, in manufacturing, the rate of expansion in facilities was adversely affected by strong international competition and by slower growth in total domestic demand.

The result of all of these trends was a falling off in certain types of investment and, thus, a decline in the proportion of G.N.P. devoted to investment. This is a situation, of course, which calls for a shifting of resources, both human and material, either into other areas of investment, where demands are more immediately pressing, or into other sectors of the economy. These transfers of resources require high degrees of flexibility and mobility in the economy generally, especially of the labour force, if the slack in the economy is to be taken up.

Turning to 1961, total private and public investment was down about 2% from 1960 although there was increased investment in such sectors as mining, chemicals, oil and gas pipelines, universities, hospitals, and government departments. Increases in the above sectors were slightly more than offset by decreased fixed investment in agriculture, primary metals, petroleum refining, telephone utilities, and other industries. Capital expenditures by private business enterprises, apart from institutional investment, declined by 4 per cent in 1961 compared with 1960.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE CAPITAL EXPENDITURE

Of the sectors where investment rose significantly, one of the larger gains was the 13% or $51 million increase for mining, quarrying and oil wells. This reflected additional iron ore development in the Quebec-Labrador boundary area. A sharp gain was registered in oil and gas pipeline construction in western Canada. The higher level of capital spending in institutional services includes a $25 million rise in hospital construction and equipment and a $15 million rise in construction in universities, which have started to accommodate the larger number of teenagers born in the mid-forties and seeking higher education. The increase in investment by government departments largely reflects a $42 million increase in federal capital expenditures.

In the manufacturing sector, investment in the chemical and chemical products industry rose $17 million. There were no marked changes in capital spending in such industries as food and beverages, leather, clothing and primary textiles, wood and paper, printing, machinery, and electrical equipment. The only noticeable declines occurred in transportation equipment, non-metallic minerals (asbestos, abrasives, cement, etc.), oil refining, and primary metals. The latter reflected the completion in the preceding year of the large nickel refinery in Thompson, Manitoba.

Capital expenditures in the transportation, storage and communications sector fell sharply. Increases in pipeline construction were more than offset by a $29 million decline in telephone utilities and a $115 million drop in railroad construction. The latter reflected the completion of railroads serving new iron ore mines in the Quebec-Labrador region.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE OF ALL GOVERNMENTS

Computed on the basis of the National Accounts definitions, expenditures in 1961 by all levels of government increased by approximately 8% over comparable expenditures in 1960. Since revenues for the year as a whole did not rise by the same proportion, the deficit for all levels of government increased by rather more than a third to an amount of $893 million.⁽¹⁾

TABLE 14 REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE OF ALL GOVERNMENTS (National Accounts Basis)

In 1961, government expenditures on goods and services (excluding transfer expenditures) represented 19.5% of Gross National Expenditure. By way of comparison, expenditures of this type by all levels of government in 1952 after the rearmament programme stemming from the Korean conflict amounted to 17.8% of G.N.E Over the past nine years, therefore, goods and services outlays by government have grown at a rate which is only slightly above that of the increase in Gross National Expenditure.

Within the overall total, there have been divergent movements at the various levels of government. Expenditures on goods and services by the federal government in 1961 represented a smaller share of Gross National Expenditure than in 1952, while the proportion at the combined provincial and municipal levels was appreciably higher.

While the term "goods and services" bears the connotation of expenditures for consumable goods and for current administrative services, it should be noted that the definition of goods and services in the government sector of Gross

National Expenditure includes outlays by all levels of government on construction and capital equipment. Items of this type, which are of the nature of capital investment, include a wide variety of projects: housing, hospitals, schools, marine engineering projects, highways, transportation facilities and others. Over the past several years expenditures by government on construction, machinery and equipment have represented a relatively constant share, approaching one-quarter, of all government outlays on goods and services. Turning to the revenue side, it has already been indicated that the year-toyear increase in government revenues in 1961 was less than the corresponding increase in expenditures. In 1961 revenues of all levels of government (excluding inter-governmental transfers) amounted to $11,009 million, an increase of 5% over revenues in 1960. However, the year-to-year comparison masks the significant change in government revenues, calculated on the National Accounts basis, which occurred between the first and last quarters of 1961. The table below indicates the nature of such changes and compares them with the record of earlier recovery periods.

Revenues of all levels of government reached an annual rate by the fourth quarter of 1961, 9% above that of the first quarter, the low point in business activity. The gain in revenues was largely due to the increases in indirect tax receipts and accruals of corporation income taxes as the pace of economic activity quickened. By comparison, there were smaller proportionate increases in accrued government revenues in the first nine months of the upswings in economic activity in 1954 and in 1958.

(2) Preliminary.

Total expenditure at all levels of government includes not only expenditures on goods and services, but also outlays for transfer payments to persons, interest on the public debt and subsidies. Calculated in this manner, total expenditures by all levels of government (excluding inter-governmental transfers) in 1961 were $11,902 million, an increase of 7% over expenditures in 1960. This figure indicates the gross effect of government operations on the economy, since it includes transfer payments to individuals which in turn may be used for expenditures on goods and services. The proportion of total government outlays represented by the categories of expenditure cited above is indicated in the table below.

Outlays on goods and services have declined from 68% of total government expenditures in 1952 to 60% in 1961, while payments to persons increased during the same period from 22% to 28%. This change has been particularly marked since 1957.

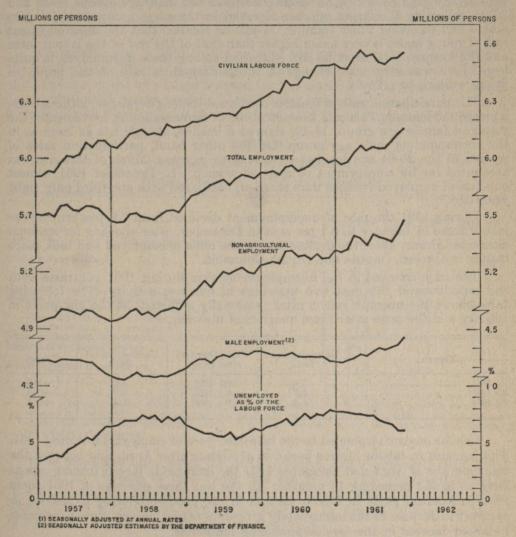

Expenditures by government on goods and services and on transfers to individuals increased in 1961 by almost identical proportions. Expenditures on goods and services by the federal government and by the combined provincial and municipal levels contributed about equally to the increase in this item. For transfer payments to persons, however, higher provincial and municipal outlays on grants to hospitals under federal-provincial hospitalization insurance arrangements contributed the bulk of the increase in 1961. Federal transfer payments to persons for the year as a whole increased by only a small proportion due to the effect in the last half of the year of lower outlays on unemployment insurance benefits. Interest on the public debt was somewhat higher in 1961 than in 1960 at the federal and provincial and municipal government levels. Government expenditure on subsidies increased by $15 million as interim subsidies by the federal government under the Freight Rates Reduction Act more than offset a reduction in payments under the Agricultural Stabilization Act while provincial government outlays of this type in 1961 were almost unchanged from the amounts recorded in 1960.

Federal transfers to other levels of government amounted to $1,123 million in 1961, an increase of 13% over 1960. By far the largest factor contributing to this increase was the rise in the federal government share of hospital insurance expenditures. The entry of Quebec into the federal-provincial hospital insurance arrangements on January 1, 1961, accounted for about two-thirds of this increase, but total grants to other provinces increased substantially as well. Increased payments to the provinces for unemployment assistance and higher federal expenditures under the Winter Works Program also contributed to the increase in federal transfers in 1961.

EMPLOYMENT AND EARNINGS

During the course of 1961 there was a significant increase in employment in Canada in both goods and service producing industries, which was spread throughout the main regions of the country. Concurrently, the very rapid increases in the labour force which had occurred in recent years slowed down. As a result of these two main developments, unemployment fell throughout 1961, so that by the year end the rate of unemployment was appreciably below that at the beginning of 1961, seasonal factors apart. The greater share of the increase in employment during 1961 occurred among male wage earners, in marked contrast with the experience of the recent past, and reflected the upswing in production in the commodity-producing industries which took place during this period.

The increase in employment began about April, after allowing for normal seasonal movements, and from then until year end there was an increase in total employment of more than 3 per cent. By December 1961 there were 180,000 more people employed in Canada than a year earlier of which 125,000 were men and 55,000 women. The gain in female employment marked a continuation of the upward trend observed over the past decade when increasing numbers of women were finding employment in a wide variety of industries, notably the service industries. The gains in male employment, however, marked a change from the relative stability prevailing since 1956.

THE LABOUR FORCE

The increases in employment were all accounted for in the non-agricultural sectors. More than half of the gains were in Quebec and Ontario, but employment in the Prairies, Atlantic provinces and British Columbia also rose significantly and the percentage increases in all regions were of the order of 2 to 4 per cent from the end of 1960 to the end of 1961. Employment in the goods-producing industries rose somewhat more than in the service-producing industries. The gain in the latter sector constituted a continuation of the post-war increases, whereas the rise in employment in the former sector was the first in about two years. The manufacturing and construction industries accounted for almost all of the gain in the goods-producing industries.

The rate of increase in the labour force slowed down in 1961, compared with very rapid rates of growth in recent years. As noted in last year's Budget White Paper, rates of increase in Canada's labour force over the past decade or so had been two or three times those of other industrialized countries. The phenomenon of deceleration in the rate of growth of the labour force occurs from time to time and is the result of a variety of factors. There was a particularly sharp drop in the labour force participation rates (which measure the percentage of any group working or seeking work) in the male age groups 14-19 and 20-24, reflecting the larger number of males in these age groups remaining in school and receiving fuller training. It will be recalled that the unemployment rate of young males is very much higher than that of the rest of the labour force and the average level of skills and education among these unemployed is quite low. There was very little change in the participation rate of the group of prime working age, 25-64.

The participation rate of females continued its long-term rise, although the increase moderated. This was the net result of two conflicting movements: the youngest female age group, 14-19, showed a decline, though not as large as in the corresponding male age group. On the other hand, participation rates of women in the 20-64 age bracket continued to increase. Much of this rise was accounted for by employment of married women. In December 1961, almost one-half of employed females were married, compared with one-third only eight years ago.

During 1961 the rate of unemployment declined from 7.8 per cent of the labour force in January to 6.1 per cent in December, after allowing for seasonal elements. Almost all of the decline was in the male unemployed and took place mainly in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia.

The improvement in the unemployment rate during 1961 contrasts with the experience of the past two upswings in business activity. The following table shows the unemployment rates (seasonally adjusted) at the low point in activity and the rates after three quarters of upswing.

Trough	Unemployment Rate	Three Quarters after trough	Unemployment Rate	Change
1Q 1961. 1Q 1958. 2Q 1954.	6.7	4Q 1961 4Q 1958 1Q 1955	6.3 7.2 4.8	-1.5 + 0.5 + 0.2

Labour income responded to the increased pace of employment during 1961. The increase in labour income began to accelerate after April, and between the eight months of April and December 1961 the increase in labour income was as large as in the preceding 15 months. In the last three quarters of 1961 there were substantial gains in labour income in the goods-producing industries, in contrast to declines in the immediately preceding period, and continued increases in labour income in the service-producing industries. Total labour income rose by more than 5 per cent from the first to the fourth quarter of 1961. During this period average hours worked per week in manufacturing increased about 1 per cent and average hourly earnings between 2 per cent and 3 per cent. The rise in employment was about $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. With consumer prices rising by less than 1 per cent during 1961 there was an increase in per capita real earnings in the order of 2 to 3 per cent.

PRICE TRENDS

Prices of goods and services produced in Canada rose only fractionally in the aggregate in 1961 compared with 1960. This is in contrast to the experience of many industrialized countries in Europe where prices rose more rapidly than in North America. While world prices of commodities generally have not increased in the recent past, pressures of other costs in Europe have been upward. Price increases in Canada in almost every major sector were smaller in 1961 than in the previous year, which in itself was a period of relative price stability. The one exception was in international trade, where prices of both imports and, to a lesser extent, exports rose in response to the lower level of the Canadian exchange rate.

The smaller rise in 1961 in the price of capital goods relative to 1960 was the result of very little increase in residential and non-residential building costs offset to some extent by a larger increase for new machinery and equipment which has a substantial import content. Residential construction costs in the fourth quarter of 1961 were at about the same level as in the final quarter of 1960.

(i) Price indexes of these sectors are measured mainly by elements entering into costs (materials and labour purchased) rather than final selling prices, and generally it has not been possible to allow for changes in productivity. Over short periods of time, these cost indexes are not likely to vary to any extent from indexes of actual selling prices. Over longer periods, it may be that these cost deflators overstate price increases.

The consumer price index for 1961 averaged 129.2 compared with 128.0 for 1960, an increase of just under one per cent. This fractional increase in 1961 marks the second successive year in which over-all consumer prices demonstrated comparative stability in contrast to average annual increases of more than 2 per cent in the previous five years.

The consumer price index declined from 129.2 in January, 1961 to 129.0 in March where it remained until August. In August and September, the index was 129.1. Successive monthly increases in the final quarter of the year, associated mainly with seasonal movements in food prices and to some extent reflecting the introduction of the Ontario Sales Tax, raised the index to 129.8 in December, 1961, fractionally above the level of 129.6 in December, 1960.

The following table shows that the increase in consumer prices in the last quarter of 1961 over the last quarter of the preceding year was due to higher costs in the services component. The index for total services rose 1.2 per cent while the index for total goods was virtually unchanged. The stability in the total goods component was the result of an increase of about one-half of one per cent in non-durable prices and a decline of nearly two per cent in durable prices, the latter reflecting lower prices for electrical household appliances and new automobiles. The federal excise tax of $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent on new automobiles was removed on June 21, 1961.

(1) Changes based on 1957 weighted index.

The much smaller increase in the price of services is of some significance. In part, this is due to lesser increases in shelter costs. In the last five years or so, as housing construction has filled the pressing backlogs of housing needs, the pressure on shelter costs, particularly rent, has been eased. General increases throughout all other components have been more responsible for recent increases in the services index. The largest increases have occurred in health care, public transportation and vehicle operating costs. The wholesale price index, which is heavily weighted with export and import goods, prices of which are generally affected by changes in the value of foreign currency, rose on average in 1961 by 1 per cent, with somewhat larger increases taking place in the second half of the year as the exchange rate declined. The largest increases appeared in prices of raw and partly manufactured goods, industrial materials and iron and non-ferrous metals and products. The building materials price index, both residential and non-residential, declined during the course of the year and were lower on average in 1961 than in 1960.

It is of interest to compare the behaviour of prices over the course of the business upswing in 1961 with that of 1958. The following table shows changes in price levels from the low point in activity in the first quarter of 1961 and from the previous peak in the first quarter of 1960 to the fourth quarter of 1961. It makes similar comparisons with the preceding upswing in 1958.

Gross National Expenditure Implicit Price Index	+1.9	+3.5	+0.2	+1.4

The table shows clearly that price movements in the current upswing have been much less than in the one preceding. This is particularly apparent in the case of the consumer price index and the overall price deflator of Gross National Expenditure. In the 1958 upswing, while commodity prices in general did not increase, as seen by the movement of the Wholesale Price Index, the other indexes which measure a wider range of final goods and services continued to move up. In part, this was due to significant increases in service and other costs which are added to the cost of materials. These cost increases had their roots in the inflationary conditions of the mid-1950's and reflected a delayed reaction to events at that time.

CANADIAN WHOLESALE AND CONSUMER PRICE INDEX

During the current upswing, while wholesale prices have risen somewhat, as explained previously, because of exchange rate movements, their effect on final prices of goods and services has been very slight. The smaller increases in service prices reflect a much different environment, including less intense pressure on and greater availability of resources.

BALANCE OF INTERNATIONAL PAYMENTS

There was a significant improvement in Canada's balance of payments in 1961 as the deficit on current account was reduced to $989 million from $1,217 million in 1960 and $1,504 million in 1959. This improvement was made possible by a surplus on merchandise trade account which (aside from a minor amount in 1954) was the first such surplus since 1952. The improvement arising from merchandise trade more than offset a further increase in the deficit on nonmerchandise account, which did not, however, rise as rapidly as in most years of the past decade. At the same time, there was a substantial reduction in the inflow of long-term capital to the lowest level since 1955, and an increase in the inflow of other forms of capital.

Important changes occurred in the capital account over the past few years. In 1961, the inward net capital movement was reduced substantially and was at the lowest level since 1955.

A summary of capital movements for the past four years is given in table 25.

The amount of inflow for direct investment was lower in 1961 than in 1960 or 1959 and was at the same level as 1958. In part, the decline reflected a reduction in transactions related to take-overs of existing enterprises, which had been more important in 1960. In part, the decline was related to the phasing-out of some major projects. As in 1960, a substantial proportion of direct investment was related to the petroleum, natural gas and mining industries. In 1961, direct investment abroad totalled $110 million, an increase of $25 million above 1960.

Net inflows from security transactions were somewhat higher in 1961 than in 1960, but well below the levels of the preceding four years.

In 1961 the composition of inflows from security transactions changed substantially from earlier years. Provincial government net new issues acquired by non-residents declined sharply from 1959 to 1960 and declined further in 1961. Municipal government net new issues acquired by non-residents declined mod-erately from 1959 to 1960. In 1961 there was a small net retirement of municipal bonds held by non-residents. Thus, net new issues of provincial and municipal governments held by non-residents fell very sharply over the period 1959 to 1961. On the other hand, net new issues of corporate securities rose sharply in 1961, following two years of relatively small amounts of financing from abroad. Important among the corporate securities purchased by non-residents in 1961 were securities of petroleum and natural gas corporations, real estate investment corporations, some financial institutions and the pulp and paper industry. In some cases it would appear that sales of corporate securities to nonresidents are arranged for apart from considerations of interest rates or exchange rates and may take into account other factors including, for example, special relationships between borrower and lender and relative ease of placement of large issues.

While the data show a considerable decline in total capital inflow in 1961, a more detailed analysis by quarters is of considerable interest.

During the course of 1961 while actual deliveries of Canadian securities to non-residents (which measure the capital inflow) did not decline, there was a significant decline in contracts in the latter half of the year.

The decline in net capital inflow from security transactions of provincial and municipal governments in 1961, as a whole, and the decline throughout 1961 in new issues contracted for sale to non-residents were undoubtedly related in part to the narrowing of the differential between Canadian and U.S. interest rates, to the reduction in the level of Canadian interest rates and the greater availability of long-term funds in the Canadian capital market, and to amendments in the withholding tax in December, 1960.

Turning to short-term capital flows, these reflect a variety of elements moving in both directions and responding to diverse factors including seasonal elements associated with the financing of trade, short-term interest rate differentials, both hedged and unhedged, the views of Canadian residents regarding holdings of foreign assets and non-residents regarding holdings of Canadian assets.

During 1961, non-resident holdings of Canadian treasury bills, which had been increasing for three consecutive quarters until the middle of 1961, were reduced in June and in the third quarter by more than $100 million, following a significant narrowing of the hedged differential between Canadian and United States treasury bill rates. This outflow was offset to some extent in the third quarter by an increase in non-resident holdings of Canadian dollar deposits, some of which were interest-bearing, in chartered banks amounting to $33 million. In the fourth quarter of 1961 there was some increase in non-resident holdings of treasury bills as well as some further accumulation of Canadian dollar deposits.

Another component of short-term capital which showed sharp movements in 1961 was private and banking holdings of foreign exchange. In the first half of 1961 these holdings, some of which originate from commercial transactions, were reduced by $182 million, but in the third quarter there was an increase of $140 million. In the final quarter of 1961, most of this increase was repatriated. All other components of short-term capital in total showed an inward movement throughout the four quarters of 1961.

Another factor which is assuming a more important role in the capital account is the extension of export credit facilities. The provision of export credits does not, of course, in itself always imply a net extension of credit from Canadian sources. Many of the claims are receivable in United States funds and may, in effect, be discounted outside Canada. However, aside from this, there have been net extensions of export credit of various kinds. Canada's Export Credits Insurance Corporation has long made available insurance to Canadian exporters of goods and services to protect them against non-payment by foreign buyers due to the various risks involved in foreign trade. In the spring of 1960 the Chartered Banks of Canada joined in setting up the Export Finance Corporation of Canada Ltd. to finance insured exports of capital goods through the provision of medium-term credit ranging up to five years.

Complementing these medium-term arrangements, the guarantee facilities of the Export Credits Insurance Act were extended to longer-term credit and the Government Agency, the Export Credits Insurance Corporation, was authorized to buy guaranteed instruments for direct financing of export sales. Commitments to extend credit to foreign purchasers of capital equipment in Canada have already begun to be made, but the resultant capital outflows will only arise as and when disbursements take place. For the year 1961, such outflows were negligible.

Apart from these facilities the Government has guaranteed substantial credits for the Canadian Wheat Board to conclude sales of wheat and barley to Communist China on a short-term credit basis.

In August, 1961, arrangements were made for the drawing by the United Kingdom of U.S. $1,500 million from the International Monetary Fund. Canadian participation in this drawing had the net effect of reducing both Canadian liabilities to the International Monetary Fund by $52 million and gold and foreign exchange holdings by about the same amount during the third quarter of 1961.

During 1961, total Canadian merchandise exports rose by 9.2 per cent compared with a 5 per cent increase in 1960. Imports rose by 3.1 per cent during this same period. As a result, trade data for 1961, adjusted for balance of payments, showed a surplus of $179 million in contrast to a deficit of $145 million for 1960.

Within 1961 itself, exports of goods moved generally upwards while imports, which had moved downward irregularly from the beginning of 1960, increased in the latter half of the year. In the fourth quarter of 1961, the volume of imports, seasonally adjusted, was at about the same level as in the first quarter of 1960, although the value was higher. Movements of both exports and imports in 1961 were strongly affected by the business upturn in North America.

The value of merchandise exports amounted to $5,896 million for 1961, a new record, compared with $5,400 million during the previous year; increases in exports of agricultural products represented the largest share of the increase from the 1960 level. Exports of grain, forest products, nickel and petroleum increased substantially and there was some decline in exports of iron ore, copper and uranium. Larger export credit facilities and a more favourable exchange rate explain some of these increases. At the same time, the increase in economic activity in the United States and the maintenance of high levels of activity abroad helped provide a more expansionary environment for exports.

The value of merchandise imports for 1961 was $5,717 million; this was somewhat higher than in 1960. The growth in imports in 1961 was widely distributed among various items although there were somewhat larger than average increases in imports of machinery and equipment from the United States.

The improvement in the trade balance was widespread on a geographical basis. The trading deficit with the United States was reduced, while the surplus with the United Kingdom rose slightly. The sharpest improvement took place with all other countries.

The deficit in non-merchandise transactions increased by $96 million in 1961 over 1960, compared with relative stability for 1960 over 1959, but the rate of increase was well below the average annual increase of the last decade.

There were a number of interesting developments on the non-merchandise account. The travel account showed a significant improvement, with receipts in 1961 rising by $53 million while payments rose by only $6 million. At the same time there was a gain of $18 million from receipts of dividends, in contrast to a $4 million decline in the preceding year. Payments of interest and dividends rose by $102 million in comparison with the $2 million decrease in 1960, but this rise masks a very unusual shift between the fourth quarter of 1960 and the first quarter of 1961, as some payments of dividends were made in the first quarter of 1961, rather than in the last quarter of 1960, in contrast to past experience. The result of this shift was that the figures for 1960 were somewhat lower than usual and those for 1961 were correspondingly higher.

Official Canadian holdings of gold and foreign exchange varied somewhat in the course of 1961. Holdings at December 31, 1960 were $1,829 million and at the end of May, 1961, the last month end prior to the June budget, were $1,949 million. After moving both up and down throughout the remaining months of 1961, official holdings at February 28, 1962 (the latest available month) were $1,747 million. Apart from an advance of U.S. $50 million in connection with the United Kingdom drawing from the International Monetary Fund, there was thus a reduction of $32 million between the beginning of 1961 and the end of February, 1962.

The exchange value of the Canadian dollar declined during 1961. The average noon rate for the United States dollar, in terms of the Canadian dollar, was 99.29 in January; it moved from a low of 98.66 for June to 103.50 at June 30, to 104.31 at the end of December, 1961 and was 104.97 at the end of February, 1962.

FINANCIAL DEVELOPMENTS

CREDIT CONDITIONS

Monetary conditions in 1961 were relatively easy. Interest rates were appreciably below the peaks reached in the last upswing in the economy and the spread between interest rates in Canada and the United States narrowed. The spread between average long-term yields on United States and Canadian Government bonds was 1.40 per cent at the end of May 1961, 0.87 per cent at the end of October, and 0.84 per cent at the end of February, 1962. After following a fairly flat trend from January to May, security yields in Canada fell sharply in June and resumed a relatively stable trend from that point. The decline in interest rates in 1961 during the first year of the recovery is in contrast to an increase in interest rates in the corresponding phase of the 1958–59 upswing.

The demand for new funds rose in 1961. New money raised by Canadian borrowers in 1961 from the securities markets and chartered bank loans increased by some 25% above the level of 1960. The increase stemmed entirely from federal and provincial government financing since, for the year as a whole, municipal and non-governmental borrowing was slightly below the levels of 1960. However, after the first quarter of 1961, corporate and other private financing rose in response to the upswing in the economy.

Despite the increasing demand for funds, and the resumption of economic expansion during the last three quarters of 1961, the trend of interest rates was downward for the better part of the year. As the following table indicates, this decline is in contrast to the increases in interest rates which occurred in 1958 during the first three quarters of the economic upswing which was also taking place at that time.

Bank loans seasonally adjusted resumed their upward trend in the second half of 1960 and continued to increase during 1961. Most of the increase occurred in personal and business loans of less than $1 million. The rate of growth in these two categories accelerated after May. Farm loans continued to rise steadily in 1961.

Total assets of the banking system expanded by 9.8% during 1961, compared with 5.9% during the previous year, a slight decline in 1959, and a 10.8% climb during 1958. At the same time, the liquidity of the banking system also increased. The proportion of total bank assets held in the form of government securities, day-to-day loans, cash, and other liquid assets rose fairly steadily from 32% in September 1959 to 37% in early 1962. This is below the peak ratios in recent years of 43% in 1958 and 49% in 1955.

Although complete data are not yet available, total assets of some major non-banking financial institutions (instalment finance companies, credit unions, trust companies, mortgage loan companies) probably rose by a substantial percentage during 1961. Assets in these institutions have been growing at an annual rate of 10% and more in recent years.

The public's holdings of financial assets rose in 1961 and a greater share of the increased holdings was in liquid forms. During 1961 currency and deposits in the hands of the public rose 8.7%. 53820-7-4

Among the more liquid assets, there was a sharp gain in corporate notice deposits at the banks. This appears to have been associated with the practice adopted by the banks at the beginning of 1961 of paying interest rates on these deposits higher than the comparable treasury bill yields. The public's holdings of Canada Savings Bonds were $4,075 million on February 28, 1962, $491 million higher than a year ago; by a wide margin the largest annual increase in the past decade. The general increase in the supply of liquid assets responded to an increase in the liquidity preference of the public.

FEDERAL DEBT MANAGEMENT

Policies concerning the management of the public debt by the federal government are influenced by a number of objectives and considerations including: the interest of the government in minimizing its costs of borrowing; the preferences of potential investors for particular types of securities; the desirability of maintaining levels of interest rates and liquidity appropriate to the general state of business activity. Another objective in debt management has been to narrow the spread in interest rates between Canadian and U.S. securities and lessen the incentive to obtain certain types of capital from abroad so as to lessen upward pressure on the exchange rate.

Following an announcement in the June Budget, the government has been reducing the so-called "overhang" of long-term Canada bonds in order to foster confidence in the capital market and to allow more room in the capital market for other long-term borrowers. The government has reduced this "overhang" in three ways. It has confined new bond issues to the "short end" of the market leaving the long-term financing market available to the provinces, municipalities and private business. It has converted the bond holdings of the Unemployment Insurance Fund totalling $237 million into non-marketable bonds redeemable on 30 days' notice. The federal government also established a Purchase Fund to assist in the orderly management of the public debt.

During 1961 the federal government continued the practice of advance refunding with the Bank of Canada. This means of reducing the weight of nearby maturities contributed to orderly debt management.

From late 1959 through 1960 the average term to maturity of Government of Canada and C.N.R. market securities remained almost unchanged at about $9\frac{1}{2}$ years. It was shortened to 9 years by the end of June, 1961 and just under $8\frac{1}{2}$ years by the end of the year.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT FINANCING

In calendar year 1961 the Government of Canada raised $1.1 billion from net new security issues in the capital market and from net sales of securities held by the Unemployment Insurance Commission and other Government accounts. This total exceeded the $0.7 billion raised from direct and guaranteed securities in 1960, approximated that raised in 1959 and was less than the $1.4 billion obtained in 1958.

Of the \$1.1 billion in new funds in 1961, \$674 million came from issues of marketable bonds. Retirement of treasury bills held outside government accounts exceeded new issues by about \$50 million. Net new issues of Canada Savings Bonds in the fourth quarter and for the year as a whole (at \$486 million), were about \$100 million higher than in the previous year. $53820-7-4\frac{1}{2}$

PROVINCIAL AND MUNICIPAL FINANCING

Net new funds raised by provincial governments from security issues and chartered bank loans, which had been between $500 million and $600 million annually since 1956, exceeded $800 million last year. However $205 million represented issues of guaranteed bonds by one of the provinces to finance the expropriation of a privately-owned utility company.

Since 1956 net new municipal financing has ranged between $270 million and $350 million annually. In 1961 it fell to $283 million as compared with $305 million in 1960.

In the fourth quarter of 1961 net new provincial and municipal financing was at its heaviest for that quarter since 1957.

NON-FARM BUSINESS FINANCING

The rapid upswing since early 1961 in industrial production, employment and corporate profits was accompanied in the third quarter by higher outlays on plant and equipment and in the fourth quarter by a significant rise in non-farm business inventories. As economic activity expanded, the funds obtained by non-farm business from the security markets, banks, retained corporate earnings, and other sources began to exceed those raised in the corresponding quarters of 1960, despite the drop in net direct foreign investment in Canada.

Corporate earnings retained after payment of taxes and dividends, which had declined in the preceding year and a half, turned above the levels of the previous year in the second quarter of 1961. Depreciation allowances moved slightly above year-earlier levels in the third quarter.

Corporate bond and stock issues, net of retirements, totalled $460 million in 1961 compared to $523 million in 1960. Bank loans to non-farm business moved above the levels of a year earlier in the second and third quarters of 1961 and for the year as a whole to $303 million compared to $137 million in 1960.

Net new corporate financing from securities issues and bank loans moved above the level of a year earlier in the second and third quarters. During 1961, as has been the case for several years now, the high level of common stock prices, in relation to earnings and dividends, continued to make financing through the sale of stock attractive to corporations. The net retirement of corporate stocks in the last half of 1961 reflects the distribution of $86 million to the shareholders of a utility taken over by a provincial government and the exchange of $104 million of preferred stock for bonds guaranteed by that province.

HOUSING FINANCE

Total expenditures on new housing declined from $1,825 million in 1958 to $1,472 million in 1960 and were $1,485 million in 1961.

In late 1960 the government amended the terms under which it would guarantee N.H.A. housing loans by financial institutions. Amongst other things the amendments provided for higher mortgage loans and lower down payments. The supply of mortgage funds in the hands of lending institutions appeared to be quite substantial at that time.

In 1961 the mortgage loans made under N.H.A.-guarantee by financial institutions rose to $388 million as compared with $177 million in 1960, the highest amount since 1958. This type of housing finance came almost completely from life insurance companies and trust and loan companies. The proportion of all housing funds supplied by N.H.A.-approved lending institutions rose from 12% in 1960 to 26% in 1961.

⁽²⁾ Differs slightly from public and private expenditures on housing in Table 13, which includes major alterations to buildings but not the cost of land. Table 38 includes the cost of land but not major alterations to buildings.

Conventional mortgage loans by lending institutions declined from $294 million in 1960 to $250 million in 1961. Financing in the form of equity and other non-mortgage payments by home owners fell from $692 million in 1960 to $547 million in 1961. This decline reflected the 8% decline in housing completions and the lower down payments permitted under the National Housing Act.

New housing financed directly by C.M.H.C. and other public funds fell from $384 million in 1958 to $308 million in 1960 and to $300 million in 1961, and from a 21% share of all new housing finance in 1958 to one of 20% in 1961. In June, 1961 Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation inaugurated a series of auctions of insured mortgages from its portfolio to promote a secondary market in mortgages. Sale from three auctions in 1961 totalled $41 million.

In line with the lower level of long-term interest rates the government reduced the interest rate on N.H.A. mortgages from $6\frac{3}{4}\%$ to $6\frac{1}{2}\%$ in November, 1961.

CONSUMER CREDIT

The rate of growth in short-term consumer debt slowed somewhat further last year. Credit extended to consumers from finance companies, retail stores, and unsecured personal loans from banks, increased by about 6% or $185 million compared to $270 million or 9% in 1960 and $341 million or 14% in 1959.

REVIEW OF GOVERNMENT ACCOUNTS

1. INTRODUCTION

The figures presented in this Part for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1962 are preliminary and subject to revision. The fiscal year of the government ended on March 31 but the books must remain open for several weeks after that date to record various adjusting entries and to take into account all payments up to and including April 30 made on account of expenditures originating in and properly chargeable to the fiscal year 1961–62. The figures used in this White Paper are based on eleven months actual and one month estimated. The final figures when they become available next July or August will vary to some extent from those given in the following pages.

2. HIGHLIGHTS OF GOVERNMENTAL FINANCIAL OPERATIONS DURING 1961–62

The following table summarizes the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions for the fiscal year and indicates how the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions, including changes in unmatured debt, affected the government's cash balances. More detailed explanations of these transactions are given in subsequent sections of this Part.

Budgetary transactions

The revenues and expenditures as forecast in the budget speech of June 20, 1961 and the actual figures as now estimated are shown in the following table:

Revenues

The revenues of the government for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1962 amounted to $5,772 million. This is $7 million or approximately one-tenth of one per cent more than the total of $5,765 million forecast in the budget speech of June 20, 1961, and approximately $154 million or about 3 per cent more than the total of $5,618 million collected in the fiscal year 1960-61.

Of the increase of $154 million over 1960-61 revenues, $141 million was due to tax revenues and $13 million to non-tax revenues. Personal income tax receipts accounted for most of the increase in tax revenues and were $89 million more than in the preceding year, reflecting the higher level of incomes during the year. Corporation income tax collections were $72 million less than the preceding year due to lower corporate profits in 1960.

The increase of $13 million in non-tax revenues was due to increases of $21 million in return on investments, $6 million in net post office revenue and a reduction of $14 million in other non-tax revenues.

Expenditures

Government expenditures at $6,563 million were $148 million or approximately 2.3 per cent more than forecast on June 20, 1961, and $605 million or 10 per cent more than total expenditures in 1960–61. Almost all of the increase of $148 million has been due to events that were not foreseen last June. An increase of approximately $40 million in defence expenditures has resulted from certain changes in policy made last August, and the abnormally low crop yields in the prairie provinces have produced an unexpected increase of about $40 million in statutory payments under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act and also resulted in the recent decision to make further payments of $42 million to western grain producers.

Expenditures for defence again constituted the largest item and amounted to $1,647 million or 25 per cent of total expenditures, compared with $1,538 million or 26 per cent in 1960-61.

Civil or non-defence expenditures were $4,916 million, an increase of $496 million over the corresponding total for the previous fiscal year. The main items were increases of $150 million in expenditures of the Department of National Health and Welfare (including increases of $95 million in the government's contribution under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act, $37 million in unemployment assistance and $15 million in family allowances), $80 million in expenditures of the Department of Transport (including $50 million in interim payments related to the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Railway Problems), $67 million in the expenditures of the Department of Labour (including increases of $46 million in payments to provinces authorized by the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act and $15 million under the municipal winter works incentive program), $52 million in expenditures of the Department of Finance (including $42 million for higher public debt charges) and $42 million in expenditures of the Department of Veterans Affairs (including increases of $27 million for pensions for disability or death and $16 million in war veterans allowances and other benefits).

More detailed explanations of budgetary revenues by source and expenditures by classification and department are given in Section 3 of this Part.

Deficit

On the basis of these figures the deficit for the fiscal year 1961-62 was $791 million compared with the deficit of $650 million as forecast on June 20, 1961, and the deficit of $340 million in 1960-61.

Non-budgetary transactions

A net amount of $312 million was available during the fiscal year from nonbudgetary transactions (excluding unmatured debt transactions). Non-budgetary disbursements and charges totalled $492 million and receipts and credits, $804 million. Sums totalling $478 million were required for loans, investments and working capital advances, and $14 million for other non-budgetary purposes. On the other hand, of the total of $804 million available from various non-budgetary receipts and credits, $384 million was available from the repayment of loans, investments and working capital advances, $304 million from the net receipts from various government annuity, insurance and pension accounts, and $116 million from other non-budgetary sources.

Old age security fund

During 1961-62 pension payments from the old age security fund were $625 million compared with $592 million in the previous fiscal year. Accounting for approximately $20 million of the increase was the increased rate of payment (from $55 to $65 per month) effective February 1, 1962. Tax receipts credited to the fund were $649 million for the year. The excess of $24 million in receipts over payments was applied to repay the temporary loans made by the Minister of Finance to the fund. These loans amounted to $17 million at March 31, 1961. The fund reflected a credit balance of $7 million as at March 31, 1962.

The transactions in the account during 1961-62 compared with those for the previous fiscal year are as follows:

	Fiscal year end 1962 (estimated)	ed March 31 1961

Excess of receipts over payments applied in part to the re- payment of temporary loans from the Minister of Finance	24	11
Temporary loans outstanding at fiscal year-end Balance in fund at fiscal year-end.	7	17

Debt transactions

During 1961-62 the government issued securities amounting to $3,451 million (excluding the refunding of treasury bills which mature weekly) and redeemed or converted issues in the amount of $2,594 million, resulting in an increase of $857 million in unmatured debt. However, as other liabilities increased by $407 million the government's gross public debt increased by $1,264 million to $22,867 million at March 31, 1962. During the same period the government's net assets increased by $473 million to $9,638 million. As a result, the government's net debt was $13,229 million at March 31, 1962, the increase of $791 million being equivalent to the budgetary deficit for the fiscal year.

Cash position

Receiver General balances were $401 million more at March 31, 1962, than they were at March 31, 1961. This is the amount by which the increase of $880 million in unmatured debt outstanding in the hands of the public, plus the net amount of $312 million available from non-budgetary transactions, exceeded the budgetary deficit of $791 million.

3. THE BUDGETARY ACCOUNTS

Total revenues were $5,772 million for 1961-62, $154 million more than the total for the previous year. Total expenditures were $6,563 million, an increase of $605 million over the total for 1960-61. The deficit for the fiscal year 1961-62 was $791 million compared with $340 million for the previous year.

A. REVENUES

Budgetary revenues totalled $5,772 million in 1961–62 compared with $5,618 million in 1960–61, an increase of $154 million or 3 per cent. Tax revenues of $5,157 million accounted for 89 per cent of the total for the current fiscal year and non-tax revenues of $615 million accounted for 11 per cent.

(1) TAX REVENUES

Tax on personal incomes.

In 1961-62 the largest source of government revenue was again the personal income tax. The yield (excluding the old age security tax) was $1,800 million or 31 per cent of all budgetary revenue. The increase of $89 million or 5 per cent over 1960-61 collections was due principally to the higher level of personal incomes during the fiscal year.

The tax on personal incomes levied under the Old Age Security Act in the amount of $259 million was credited to the old age security fund.

Corporation income tax

The corporation income tax (excluding the old age security tax) was $1,205 million or 21 per cent of government revenue for 1961-62 and was the second largest source of revenue. Collections under this category were approximately $72 million or 6 per cent less than the comparable total of $1,277 million for 1960-61. This decrease was due mainly to lower corporate profits for the calendar year 1960 which in turn were reflected by lower corporation income tax collections during 1961-62.

In addition the tax on incomes of corporations levied under the Old Age Security Act in the amount of $100 million was credited to the old age security fund.

Taxes on dividends, interest, etc., going abroad

Revenue included in this category is derived from taxes withheld on payments of dividends, interest, rents, royalties, alimony and income from estates and trusts made to non-residents. Collections in 1961–62 were $115 million, an increase of $27 million over the comparable total for 1960–61. This reflects the removal of exemptions and the increased rate on certain interest and dividend payments, to non-residents, introduced in December 1960.

Excise taxes

Included under this heading are the revenues from the general sales tax and other special excise taxes.

From a revenue standpoint the most important tax levied under the Excise Tax Act is the sales tax. Receipts from this tax (excluding the old age security tax) were $774 million, $53 million or 7 per cent higher than in the previous fiscal year.

The tax on sales, levied under the Old Age Security Act, in the amount of $290 million was credited to the old age security fund.

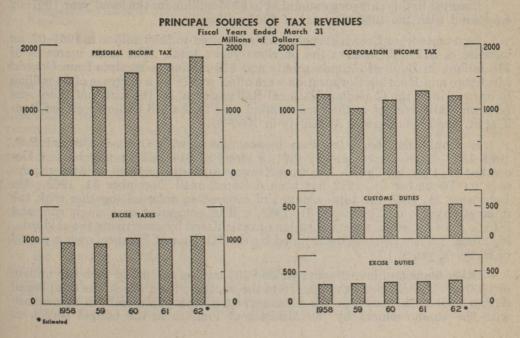

Excise taxes levied under the Excise Tax Act, other than the general sales tax, were $276 million, a decrease of $15 million from the 1960–61 total of $291 million. Receipts from the excise tax levied on the sale of automobiles were $34 million less than corresponding receipts for 1960–61 due to the repeal of such tax effective June 21, 1961.

Customs import duties

Customs import duties totalled $539 million for 1961–62, an increase of $40 million over the comparable figure for 1960–61.

Excise duties

Excise duties are levied on alcoholic beverages and tobacco products. (Additional taxes on tobacco products are levied under the Excise Tax Act referred to above.) Gross receipts in 1961-62 from taxes on alcoholic beverages were $209 million and from taxes on tobacco products were $158 million, compared with $200 million and $150 million respectively in 1960-61.

Estate tax

Revenue from this source amounted to $85 million in 1961–62, approximately the same as the total for the previous fiscal year.

Other taxes

Revenue under this heading was less than $50 thousand in 1961–62, approximately the same as for 1960–61.

(2) NON-TAX REVENUES

Non-tax revenues totalled $615 million in 1961–62, an increase of $13 million or 2 per cent over the 1960–61 total of $602 million.

Return on investments

Receipts in this category amounted to $305 million for the fiscal year 1961–62 compared with the 1960–61 total of $284 million.

Payments from Crown corporations amounted to $206 million in 1961–62, an increase of $12 million over the previous year's total. The main increases of $18 million in Bank of Canada profits and $12 million in receipts from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation were offset partly by a decrease of $4 million in returns from the Canadian National Railways and by the fact that there was no comparable receipt in the current fiscal year to the $13 million received from The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority in 1960–61.

It should also be noted that in accordance with Order-in-Council P.C. 1961-1863 dated December 29, 1961, interest of $14 million payable on December 31, 1961 by The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, as well as interest payable on December 31, 1962 has been deferred until December 31, 1963. On December 31, 1963 the total amount of interest so deferred together with the interest payable on December 31, 1963, will be computed as a single sum and is to be repaid in equal annual instalments calculated by amortizing the said sum, including interest at rates determined by the Minister of Finance, over a period of forty-six years.

Other loans and investments yielded $99 million compared with $89 million in 1960-61. Receipts of $8 million from the purchase fund which was established during 1961-62 to assist in the management of the public debt in accordance with the announcement by the Minister of Finance in the budget speech of June 20, 1961, together with increases of $3 million in receipts from the securities investment account, $3 million in interest received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission and $1 million in interest on loans to national governments were offset partly by decreases of $3 million in interest on Receiver General deposits with the chartered banks and $2 million in the yield from the sinking fund held for retirement of unmatured debt.

Post office revenue

In 1961-62 gross post office receipts totalled $210 million but authorized disbursements from revenue for salaries and rent allowances at semi-staff and revenue offices, commissions at sub-offices, transit charges on Canadian mail forwarded through or delivered in foreign countries, etc., in the amount of $30 million, brought net revenue to $180 million. In 1960-61 gross receipts were $202 million, authorized disbursements were $28 million and net revenue was $174 million.

As costs of operating the Post Office Department during 1961-62 (excluding the $30 million charged to revenue) were $189 million, net expenditure exceeded net revenue by $9 million. However, in making this comparison, it is to be noted that the total shown for post office revenue does not reflect any payment for the franking privilege covering parliamentary and departmental mail or for certain miscellaneous services provided for other government departments and agencies, nor does the total shown for operating expenses reflect any charges for premises occupied by the Post Office Department or for certain accounting and miscellaneous services provided by other departments.

Refunds of previous years' expenditures

Refunds in 1961-62 of expenditures made in prior years totalled $27 million, a decrease of $14 million from the comparable total for 1960-61. Included in this category is an amount of $12 million received by the Department of National Defence, consisting of refunds of $3 million from the United States Government, $1 million in respect of advances to Canadian Vickers Limited, $1 million from the defence production revolving fund and $7 million from miscellaneous sources. In addition, the unexpended balance of parliamentary grants as at March 31, 1961, amounting to $3 million was refunded by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Services and service fees

Collections in 1961–62 for services and service fees amounted to $42 million, an increase of $2 million over the total for 1960–61.

Revenue in this category includes: $12 million received by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, mainly for police services to certain provinces and municipalities; $14 million received by the Department of Transport of which $7 million was in respect of aircraft landing fees and $3 million from marine steamers' earnings; $7 million by the Department of Agriculture including $5 million for services in connection with the inspection, weighing, storage and elevation of grain, and $1 million in respect of race track supervision; and $4 million by the Department of National Health and Welfare due mainly to reimbursement by the provinces for treatment of Indians in federal government hospitals.

Proceeds from sales

Receipts from this source totalled $23 million compared with $24 million in 1960-61.

Included in this category are: $9 million by the Department of Defence Production of which $8 million represents amounts from the sale of surplus Crown assets (after deducting certain agency fees and transfers) and $1 million under agreements of sale of Crown assets; $5 million by the Department of Public Works representing the proceeds of the sales of properties by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation; and $4 million by the Department of National Defence of which $2 million is in respect of the sales of stores to the United Nations.

Privileges, licences and permits

Revenue of $23 million for the fiscal year 1961–62 on account of privileges, licences and permits was $1 million more than was received in 1960–61.

Included in this revenue are amounts of $9 million received from the Department of Transport representing rentals, concessions and radio licence fees and $4 million from the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources including $1 million in respect of bonuses, exploratory permits, fees, leases and royalties from oil and gas.

Bullion and coinage

Revenues in this category were derived from the operations of the Royal Canadian Mint and consist mainly of $7 million from a net gain on coinage. Small amounts were also obtained from gold refining charges, handling charges and gain on gold refining.

Premium, discount and exchange

In the current fiscal year premium, discount and exchange transactions resulted in a net credit of $1 million, approximately the same as for 1960-61.

Other non-tax revenues

Revenues, other than tax revenues, not dealt with in preceding sections totalled $7 million for 1961–62, a decrease of $1 million from the 1960–61 total.

B. EXPENDITURES

Budgetary expenditures for 1961-62 amounted to $6,563 million, an increase of $605 million over the 1960-61 total of $5,958 million.

PRINCIPAL CLASSES OF BUDGETARY EXPENDITURES Fiscal Years Ended March 31

(1) DEFENCE EXPENDITURES

Defence expenditures which consist of expenditures of the Departments of National Defence and Defence Production were again the largest category of government budgetary expenditures. The total of $1,647 million for 1961-62 was approximately 25 per cent of the aggregate budgetary expenditures of the government for the year and was $109 million more than the total of $1,538 million for 1960-61.

National Defence

Expenditures of the Department of National Defence were $1,622 million in 1961-62. In 1960-61 expenditures were $1,518 million.

Expenditures for naval, army and air services amounted to $1,489 million, $90 million more than the 1960–61 total. Of this increase, $17 million was attributable to naval services, $46 million to army services and $27 million to air services.

Direct charges to mutual aid amounted to $10 million during 1961–62 compared with $15 million in 1960–61 and consisted of procurement of equipment for mutual aid and Canada's share of NATO military budgets and infra-structure costs.

Expenditures for defence research and development were $43 million compared with $42 million in 1960-61.

The government's contribution to the Canadian forces superannuation account of an amount equal to $1\frac{2}{3}$ times the contributions by permanent services personnel was \$56 million, an increase of \$16 million over the total for the previous year. The increase resulted from a provision of the new act which became effective March 1, 1960 and which authorized the crediting to the superannuation account quarterly, in each fiscal year, such amount, in relation to the total amount paid into the said account during the preceding quarter by way of contributions in respect of current services and past services by contributors, as is specified by the Minister of Finance. The contribution for 1960–61 therefore, was based on a nine-month period from April 1, 1960 to December 31, 1960, inclusive, compared with the contribution for 1961–62 which was based on a twelve-month period from January 1, 1961 to December 31, 1961, inclusive.

Administration and general costs were $24 million in 1961-62, an increase of $2 million over the 1960-61 total.

Defence Production

The total expenditure of $25 million in 1961–62 for the Department of Defence Production was $4 million more than in 1960–61.

Outlays of $5 million in connection with the government program instituted in 1959–60 of supporting selected defence development programs in order to sustain technological capability in Canadian industry were $2 million more than in 1960–61. Expenditures of $2 million in respect of the procurement of capital assistance by Canadian Arsenals Limited and the programs under which assistance for the establishment of production capacity and capital assistance is given to private contractors, Crown plants operated on a management-fee basis and Crown corporations undertaking contracts essential to the defence program were approximately $1 million more than corresponding expenditures in the previous fiscal year.

Administration and general costs amounted to $18 million in 1961-62 compared with $16 million in 1960-61.

Cash outlays for defence

In addition to these budgetary expenditures for defence, there are certain other cash outlays which must be considered in assessing the full effect of the defence program on the economy of Canada.

Section 11 of the National Defence Act provides that materiel, not immediately required for the use of the Canadian defence forces or the Defence Research Board, may be sold to such countries and upon such terms as the Governor in Council may determine. The proceeds of such sales in 1961–62 amounting to $3 million were credited to a special account to be used for the procurement of materiel. Cash outlays of $6 million from this account during 1961–62 resulted in a balance of $2 million at March 31, 1962.

The Department of Defence Production also makes cash disbursements for the procurement of materials for use in the manufacture of defence equipment which are not recorded as budgetary expenditures. For purposes of accounting and control, these amounts are charged to the defence production revolving fund and are treated as assets on the books of the government until they are billed to the Department of National Defence or sold to defence contractors for use in the manufacture of defence equipment. As a result of the transactions during 1961–62 purchases exceeded proceeds from sales by $18 million and the assets of the fund increased by an equivalent amount, leaving a balance of $33 million in the account at March 31, 1962.

The following table summarizes the cash outlays for defence for the past two fiscal years:

Agriculture

Expenditures of the Department of Agriculture were $289 million for 1961-62 compared with $265 million for 1960-61.

Increases of $40 million in expenditures to cover the deficit in the prairie farm emergency fund and $6 million in outlays for rehabilitation and reclamation projects were offset partly by the decrease of $30 million in the net operating loss of the agricultural stabilization board.

The 1961-62 net operating loss of the agricultural stabilization board was $23 million compared with $53 million in 1960-61.

Advances of $49 million made by the Minister of Finance to the prairie farm emergency fund to cover the year's deficit have been charged to budgetary expenditures. The comparable amount in 1960-61 was $9 million.

Expenditures of the Atomic Energy Control Board and payments to Atomic Energy of Canada Limited were $35 million compared with $39 million in 1960–61, a decrease of $4 million.

Administration expenses of the Atomic Energy Control Board and grants for research and investigations with respect to atomic energy totalled $1 million, approximately the same as for the previous fiscal year.

During the year under review approximately $34 million was paid to Atomic Energy of Canada Limited for its research program, $4 million less than in the previous fiscal year. Of the total, $26 million was for current operations and maintenance and $8 million for the construction or acquisition of buildings, works, land and equipment.

Outlays for the Indian affairs branch increased by $5 million during 1961-62 due principally to increases of $2 million in expenditures for Indian education, $1 million in outlays for Indian welfare, $1 million in costs of Indian agencies and $1 million in expenditures for economic development of Indians.

Expenditures of the immigration branch and the citizenship and citizenship registration branches were approximately the same as for the previous fiscal year.

External Affairs

Expenditures of the Department of External Affairs totalled $95 million in 1961-62, a decrease of $8 million from the previous year's total.

The principal changes in expenditure as compared with 1960-61 were decreases of $7 million in contributions to international organizations and $4 million in assistance to other countries and increases of $2 million in costs of representation abroad and $1 million in expenditures for administration and general.

53820-7-5

Contributions to international organizations decreased by $7 million during the year due mainly to the fact that 1960-61 expenditures included the following items for which there was no comparable expenditure in 1961-62: (a) $6 million for the purchase and transfer of wheat flour to assist in the establishment of strategic stock piles of food supplies in member states of NATO; (b) $2 million for the reimbursement of the agricultural commodities stabilization account for canned pork donated to international relief agencies; and (c) $2 million to reimburse the agricultural products board account for whole milk powder donated for international relief purposes.

Expenditures of the Department of Finance amounted to $1,512 million in 1961-62, an increase of $52 million over the corresponding total of $1,460 million in 1960-61.

The main changes were increases of $42 million in public debt charges, $5 million in the government's contribution to the public service superannuation account, $3 million in tax-sharing, subsidy and other payments to provinces, $2 million in administration expenses of the Comptroller of the Treasury, and $2 million in the government's share of medical-surgical insurance premiums and a decrease of $2 million in administration and general costs.

In 1961-62 the government's contribution to the public service superannuation account amounted to $47 million, an increase of $5 million over the comparable figure for 1960-61.

Public debt charges

In 1961-62 public debt charges were again the second largest item of budgetary expenditure. These charges, which consist of interest on public debt, the annual amortization of bond discounts and commissions, the cost of issuing new loans and other costs incurred in servicing the public debt, totalled $840 million in 1961-62 or 13 per cent of all budgetary expenditure, compared with $798 million or 13 per cent in 1960-61.

Interest on public debt in 1961–62 amounted to $804 million, an increase of $47 million over the 1960–61 total of $757 million. Interest of $643 million on unmatured debt was $30 million higher than in 1960–61 reflecting the increase in unmatured debt; interest of $161 million on other liabilities was $17 million higher due to the increase of $17 million in interest on annuity, insurance and pension accounts, including increases of $10 million in respect of the public service superannuation account and $5 million in respect of the Canadian forces superannuation account.

Other public debt charges amounted to $36 million compared with $41 million in 1960–61. The decrease of $5 million was due to a reduction in the cost of annual amortization of bond discounts and commissions.

When considering the magnitude of these public debt charges and the burden they place upon the public treasury, it must be borne in mind that a substantial portion of the debt is attributable to, or is invested in, productive or earning assets. Therefore, in calculating the net burden of the government's annual interest charges, the income derived from loans, investments and other productive assets must be taken into account. For 1961-62 this income totalled $305 million as shown in the non-tax revenue section under the heading "Return on investments". This amount deducted from the gross total of $804 million for interest as shown in the above table leaves a net amount of $499 million compared with a net of $473 million in 1960–61. Measured as a percentage of the net debt the burden of the net annual interest charges was 3.77 per cent in 1961–62 compared with 3.80 per cent in 1960–61.

Tax-sharing, subsidy and other payments to provinces

Payments to the provinces during 1961–62 for statutory subsidies, payments under the Federal-Provincial Tax-Sharing Arrangements Act, additional grants to Newfoundland and the transfer of a portion of income tax receipts from certain public utility companies were $541 million compared with $538 million in 1960–61.

Charges to budgetary expenditures in 1961–62 under the federal-provincial tax-sharing arrangements, including adjustments made on account of previous years, were $2 million less than in 1960–61. The decrease was due to an increase in the relative proportion of personal and corporation income tax attributable to provinces other than Ontario and British Columbia which had the effect of reducing the equalization payments payable with respect to 1961–62 as well as substantially lowering the adjusting payments necessitated by the final calculation of the tax-sharing arrangements payments for 1960–61 which were required to be made by December 31, 1961.

Payments of $503 million to the provinces under the federal-provincial tax-sharing arrangements in 1961-62 were adjusted by deducting a total of $1 million from the tax-sharing entitlements of Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, making a net disbursement to the provinces of $502 million. These deductions represented recovery of one-fifth of the overpayments made to those provinces under the 1952 tax rental agreements on account of an over-estimation of their population as revealed by the 1956 census. By Memoranda of Agreement with the provinces concerned, the 1952 tax rental agreements were amended to authorize the recovery of the overpayments in equal monthly deductions from the tax-sharing payments to those provinces over the five-year life of the new arrangements.

Statutory subsidies at $24 million for 1961-62 were $3 million more than in the previous year, on account of adjustments arising out of the results of the decennial census.

Information in regard to the tax collection agreements with the provinces is given under the liability category "Deposit and trust accounts".

The amount of public utility tax receipts for transfer to the provinces in 1961-62 was $6 million, an increase of $2 million over the 1960-61 total. The 1961-62 payments represent the transferable portion of the income tax received from corporations whose main business was the distribution to, or the generation for distribution to, the public of electrical energy, gas or steam for the taxation year 1959.

Fisheries

Expenditures of the Department of Fisheries amounted to $24 million in 1961-62, $5 million more than in 1960-61.

Increases of $2 million in outlays for field services, $2 million in expenditures of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada and $1 million in administration and general costs were the main factors contributing to the increase.

Payments to provinces under the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act of $54 million for the year were $46 million more than comparable expenditures in 1960-61. This act, which received Royal Assent on December 20, 1960, superseded the Vocational Training Co-ordination Act. The purpose of the act is to provide financial assistance to vocational and technical schools, and training under youth training projects.

Payments to provinces and in respect of Indian bands by the Government of Canada, of amounts not exceeding one-half of the cost of labour engaged on winter work projects in the amount of $24 million were $15 million more than in 1960-61.

Expenditures in 1961-62 relating to the act (excluding the government's payment as an employer which is included in the expenditures of the Department of Finance) totalled $103 million compared with $97 million in 1960-61.

Unemployment insurance benefit payments are not charged to budgetary expenditures but are paid from the unemployment insurance fund which is financed by equal contributions from employees and employers, by interest earned on investments, and by the government's contribution of an amount equal to one-fifth of the combined employee-employer contributions. Further information in regard to the unemployment insurance fund is given under the liability category "Annuity, insurance and pension accounts".

The government's contribution to the fund for 1961–62 was $57 million and administrative costs were $46 million; the corresponding amounts for 1960–61 were $55 million and $42 million respectively.

Mines and Technical Surveys

Expenditures of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys amounted to $69 million in 1961-62, an increase of $10 million over the total for 1960-61.

Increases in expenditures include $6 million in higher outlays for surveys and mapping, $1 million in the expenditures of the geological survey of Canada, $1 million in costs of the Dominion Coal Board and $1 million for administration and general expenses.

National Health and Welfare

Expenditures of the Department of National Health and Welfare during 1961-62 were $1,037 million, an increase of $150 million over the total for 1960-61.

Outlays for the national health branch were $368 million in 1961-62, an increase of $98 million over the previous year's total. The increase was due primarily to the increase of $95 million in the government's contributions under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act.

During 1961-62 expenditures of the welfare branch increased by $51 million to $663 million mainly as the result of increases of $36 million for unemployment assistance and $15 million for family allowances.

Government's contributions under the Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act

The Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Services Act, Statutes of 1957, authorized contributions by Canada in respect of programs administered by the provinces, providing hospital insurance and laboratory and other services in aid of diagnosis. In 1961–62 payments were $284 million compared with $189 million in 1960–61. The increase of $95 million was due partly to the fact that during 1961-62 all provinces and territories were participating under the agreements for the full fiscal year, whereas during 1960-61 the Province of Quebec and the Yukon Territory participated under the agreements for only three months and nine months respectively.

The effective date of each agreement is as follows:-July 1, 1958 for Newfoundland, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia; January 1, 1959 for Nova Scotia and Ontario; July 1, 1959 for New Brunswick; October 1, 1959 for Prince Edward Island; April 1, 1960 for the Northwest Territories; July 1, 1960 for the Yukon Territory; and January 1, 1961 for Quebec.

Family allowances

Family allowances are payable in respect of all children under sixteen years of age, resident in Canada, with minor exceptions such as in the case of children of immigrants who must reside in Canada one year before an allowance is payable. The monthly allowance is $6 if the child is under 10 years and $8 in the age group 10 to 15. Children of immigrants receive family assistance of $5 per month during their first year of residence in Canada from the Department of Citizenship and Immigration if during that period they are under sixteen years of age.

Family allowance payments in 1961–62 totalled $521 million and represented 8 per cent of total expenditures. The increase of $15 million over the previous year reflects the increase in the number of children in the eligible age groups.

TABLE 29 (in millions of dollars)

Old age assistance, disabled persons allowances, blind persons allowances and unemployment assistance

Under the Old Age Assistance Act, the federal government reimburses the provinces by paying 50 per cent of the lesser of $65 monthly or the amount of assistance given by the provinces in the form of monthly pensions to eligible persons in need who are in the age group 65 to 69. (Under the Old Age Security Act, all persons 70 years and over who satisfy the residence requirements of the act may receive a pension of $65 per month from the federal government out of the old age security fund.) Similarly, the federal government reimburses the provinces under the Blind Persons Act for allowances of not more than $65 per month to blind persons in need 18 years of age or over by paying 75 per cent of the total payments, and under the Disabled Persons Act by paying 50 per cent of not more than $65 per month for allowances to disabled persons in need 18 years of age or over. In 1961–62 payments of $31 million for old age assistance, $16 million in respect of disabled persons allowances and $4 million for blind persons allowances were approximately the same as for 1960–61.

Amendments to the Old Age Assistance Act, the Blind Persons Act and the Disabled Persons Act raised the maximum pension towards which the federal government would contribute from $55 to $65 per month, effective February 1, 1962. As increased payments are dependent on individual action by each province they will not affect expenditures in the 1961–62 fiscal year. A similar increase was authorized in old age security payments, effective on the same date, through an amendment to the Old Age Security Act.

Under the Unemployment Assistance Act the federal government contributes up to 50 per cent of the cost of unemployment assistance paid by the provinces, subject to certain deductions as set out in the act. All provinces have signed agreements with the federal government. There was an increase of $37 million in contributions for 1961-62 over those for the previous year.

The following table presents a distribution of these payments to provinces for 1961-62:

Increases of $2 million in expenditures for administration and general and $2 million in outlays for scholarships and grants in aid of research were the main factors contributing to this increase.

The main changes were increases of $5 million in expenditures of the national parks branch, $5 million in outlays of the northern administration branch and $2 million in the expenses of the water resources branch and a decrease of $1 million in administration and general costs.

Remuneration of postmasters and staffs at revenue and semi-staff offices and certain other authorized disbursements are paid from revenue. These payments, included in the total of $219 million, were $30 million for 1961–62, an increase of $2 million over the comparable total for 1960–61.

Public Works

Expenditures of the Department of Public Works for 1961–62 amounted to $193 million, a decrease of $8 million from the 1960–61 total of $201 million.

Increases in expenditures of $3 million for housing, $3 million in payments to the National Capital Commission, $2 million for harbours and rivers engineering services and $1 million in administration and general costs were more than offset by decreases in expenditures of $9 million in development engineering services and $6 million in outlays for "Public buildings—construction and services". The decrease of $9 million in expenditures of the development engineering services was due mainly to the reduction of $7 million in contributions to the provinces under the terms of the Trans-Canada Highway Act and the decrease of $3 million in costs of construction of the Trans-Canada highway through national parks, offset in part by the increase of $1 million in outlays for the installation of a water supply system at Churchill, Manitoba.

Expenditures for "Public buildings—construction and services" were approximately $6 million less than the comparable figure for the previous fiscal year, due to the decrease in costs of acquisition, construction and improvements of public buildings.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police

Expenditures for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police amounted to $61 million for 1961-62, an increase of $5 million over the 1960-61 total of $56 million.

Payments as shown in the table represent gross expenditures; payments received from the provinces and municipalities for police services at $11 million have been credited to revenue.

Increases in expenditures of $5 million for the land, air and training divisions and $1 million in higher outlays for headquarters administration and national police services were offset partly by the decrease of $1 million in the government's contribution to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account.

The decrease of $1 million in the government's contribution to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account was due to the fact that the government's contribution during 1961-62 was based on the amount paid into the account by contributors for the twelve-month period ending March 31, 1961, whereas in the previous fiscal year it was based on the twelve-month period ending March 31, 1960 as well as a nine-month period April 1 to December 31, 1960, inclusive, in accordance with the provisions of the new Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Act, 1960.

Expenditures of the Department of Trade and Commerce were $40 million for 1961-62, compared with the 1960-61 total of $22 million.

The increase of $18 million in expenditure for 1961-62 was due mainly to increases of $3 million in administration and general costs and $15 million in outlays of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics mainly on account of the 1961 Decennial Census of Canada.

Transport

Expenditures of the Department of Transport totalled $416 million for 1961-62, compared with the 1960-61 total of $336 million.

Outlays for air services reflected an increase of $18 million over the previous year due mainly to increased expenditures of $8 million by the civil aviation branch, $6 million by the telecommunications and electronics branch and $3 million by the meteorological branch.

Expenditures of the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada increased by $45 million due in large part to interim payments of $50 million related to recommendations of the Royal Commission on Railway Problems, pending its complete report, to companies as defined in the Freight Rates Reduction Act. A decrease of $5 million in the government's contribution to the railway grade crossing fund occurred during 1961-62.

Increases in expenditures amounting to $4 million by the Canadian Maritime Commission in 1961–62 were attributable to the increase of $1 million in steamship subventions for coastal services and to the outlay of $3 million for capital subsidies for the construction of commercial and fishing vessels for which there was no comparable expenditure in the previous fiscal year.

Marine services expenditures amounting to $50 million were $3 million greater than in 1960-61; outlays for railway and steamship services, including charges to expenditures in respect of deficits of government-owned enterprises, were approximately the same as for the previous fiscal year; the deficit of Trans-Canada Air Lines charged to budgetary expenditure in 1961-62 was $7 million compared with $3 million in 1960-61; and non-active advances to the National Harbours Board were $4 million greater than in the previous year.

Pensions for disability or death totalled $178 million during the current year as compared with $151 million in 1960-61, and outlays for war veterans allowances and other benefits increased by $16 million to $81 million for 1961-62. These increases were mainly the result of increased rates of pensions during the year over those in effect during 1960-61.

A. CHANGES IN PRINCIPAL LIABILITY CLASSIFICATIONS DURING 1961-62

The gross liabilities of the government increased by $1,264 million during the fiscal year due mainly to increases of $857 million in unmatured debt, $305 million in annuity, insurance and pension accounts, $73 million in current and demand liabilities, and $28 million in deposit and trust accounts.

The change during the year was an increase of $28 million. The main items constituting this increase were $38 million in the provincial tax collection agreements account and a decrease of $29 million in the United States of America deposit account.

Under the 1957 tax rental agreements, the obligation on the renting provinces to abstain from the imposition of personal and corporation income taxes was to lapse on December 31, 1961. As the Government of Canada did not offer to renew tax rental agreements, the former renting provinces have all imposed personal and corporation income taxes effective January 1, 1962. The Government of Canada, in place of the tax rental agreements, offered to enter into tax collection agreements with the provinces whereby Canada would undertake to collect without charge the provincial personal and corporation income taxes at rates determined by the provinces provided that the provincial personal income tax was expressed as a percentage of the federal personal income tax payable and the provincial corporation income tax employed a definition of corporate taxable income identical with the federal definition. To make room for the imposition of provincial income taxes, the Income Tax Act was amended in the 1961 session of Parliament to (1) reduce the federal income tax payable by individuals resident in the provinces by 16 per cent in 1962 and by a further one per cent in each subsequent year until the deduction amounts to 20 per cent in 1966, and (2) reduce the federal tax rate on the taxable income of corporations earned in the provinces by 9 percentage points. Canada will be collecting the personal income tax for nine provinces (Quebec excepted) and the corporation income tax for eight provinces (Quebec and Ontario excepted). With the exception of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, the provinces which have entered into tax collection agreements have imposed personal and corporation income taxes equivalent to the federal withdrawal. The aforementioned provinces have imposed personal income taxes at 22 per cent rather than 16 per cent of the federal tax payable and 10 per cent rather than 9 per cent of the taxable income of corporations.

(1) Includes loan of $67 million from the Minister of Finance.

Unemployment insurance fund

The total benefits paid out of the Unemployment Insurance Fund in the 1961-62 fiscal year were $466 million, its total revenues $340 million, and its deficit $126 million. This compares with 1960-61 figures of benefit payments of $514 million, revenues of $333 million and a deficit of $181 million. In addition the fund has repaid in full its advances from the Minister of Finance in the net amount of $67 million, resulting in a total reduction in the fund's assets of $193 million.

Government annuities account

The government annuities account increased by $37 million during the year reflecting the amount by which premium receipts of $45 million and interest of $46 million credited to the account by the government exceeded payments of $54 million to annuitants and beneficiaries.

Public service superannuation account

The increase of $120 million in the public service superannuation account was due mainly to the government's contribution of $47 million (equal to the estimated current and prior service payments of individuals in 1960-61), and interest of $61 million credited to the account. The remainder of the increase was due to the excess of employees' current and prior service contributions and miscellaneous receipts over benefit payments.

Canadian forces superannuation account

The Canadian forces superannuation account increased by $124 million. The increase reflected the government's contribution of $56 million which was made at the rate of one and two-thirds times the current and prior service contributions, interest of $48 million credited to the account, and the amount of $20 million by which contributions by permanent services personnel for current and prior years' service exceeded benefit payments from the account.

Old age security fund

Under the Old Age Security Act pensions at $55 per month (increased to $65 per month effective February 1, 1962) are paid, without a means test, from the old age security fund to all eligible persons seventy years of age or over. Credits of $649 million consisting of $290 million from the 3 per cent sales tax, $259 million from the 3 per cent tax on personal incomes (maximum tax $90) and $100 million from the 3 per cent tax on corporation profits exceeded payments of $625 million by $24 million. Temporary loans of $17 million as at March 31, 1961 have been repaid resulting in a credit balance in the fund of $7 million. In 1960-61 receipts of $603 million exceeded payments of $592 million by $11 million and a $28 million deficit (covered by temporary loans from the Minister of Finance) was brought forward from 1959-60.

Undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts

This category records the undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts for which moneys have been appropriated by Parliament and from which disbursements may be made for authorized purposes in periods subsequent to that in which the appropriation was made. There was an increase of $4 million during the fiscal year bringing the balance as at March 31, 1962 to $109 million.

The increase of $8 million in the Colombo plan fund resulted from a credit thereto of $50 million, the offsetting debit being to budgetary expenditures, and charges of $42 million to cover disbursements.

The railway grade crossing fund showed a decrease of approximately $4 million during the year representing disbursements of $14 million from the fund less an amount of $10 million credited thereto and charged to expenditures.

Deferred credits

This category records amounts due the government in respect of which payment has been deferred. These are contra accounts to corresponding items under the following asset categories: "Cash in blocked currencies", "Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations", "Loans to national governments" and "Other loans and investments".

The government's equity in the agency account of Crown Assets Disposal Corporation is a contra account to a corresponding item under "Other loans and investments". This equity increased by $1 million during the year.

There was no change during the year in deferred interest of $44 million on loans made under the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act, 1946, and of $19 million on loans made to The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. These are contra accounts to corresponding items under "Loans to national governments" and "Loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations" respectively.

The account is debited with disbursements representing amounts paid for the procurement of replacement materiel. During 1961–62 disbursements exceeded credits by $3 million.

The unclaimed cheques account is credited with the amount of treasury cheques (except those drawn on asset and liability accounts) which remain undelivered for certain specified periods subsequent to date of issue, pending claims therefor.

Unmatured debt

The unmatured debt of Canada as at March 31, 1962 amounted to $16,925 million as compared with $16,068 million at March 31, 1961. The increase of $857 million applied to debt payable in Canada.

B. CHANGES IN PRINCIPAL ASSET CLASSIFICATIONS DURING 1961-62

The total assets increased by $473 million during 1961-62. The principal changes were increases of $436 million in current assets and $368 million in loans to, and investments in, Crown corporations and decreases of $241 million in advances to the exchange fund account, $48 million in other loans and investments, $38 million in loans to national governments and $6 million in deferred charges.

Current assets

Total current assets at the close of the 1961–62 fiscal year amounted to $1,220 million, an increase of $436 million from the balance of $784 million at the close of 1960–61. This increase was due mainly to increases of $401 million in cash in current and special deposits and $54 million in departmental working capital advances and revolving funds (including increases of $39 million in the agricultural commodities stabilization account and $18 million in the defence production revolving fund) offset in part by a decrease of $24 million in the securities investment account.

It should also be noted that in accordance with the announcement by the Minister of Finance in the Budget Speech of June 20, 1961 a Purchase Fund was established to assist in the management of the public debt. During the fiscal year issues totalling $166 million were purchased and the securities cancelled prior to the fiscal year-end.

Advances to the exchange fund account

The balance of $1,783 million in the exchange fund account was $241 million less than the 1960–61 total of $2,024 million.

Sinking fund held for retirement of unmatured debt

The balance of $18 million in this category at March 31, 1961 was approximately $1 million higher than the balance at the previous fiscal year-end.

Advances to Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, to be covered by obligations or shares of the company, were $64 million at March 31, 1962, an increase of $3 million during the year.

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 1962, the government advanced to the Canadian National Railway Company $68 million for capital purposes and retirement of debt in the hands of the public. Of this amount $37 million was advanced under the Refunding Act, 1955, for the refunding of various trust certificates, $28 million for capital purposes and $3 million for the company's purchase fund which is operated under the terms of Canadian National Railway Company bonds, guaranteed by the Government of Canada, issued on May 15, 1959, December 15, 1959, January 1, 1960 and October 1, 1960. During the fiscal year $11 million was repaid by the company on current and prior years' advances.

In addition, to assist the company to finance further capital expenditure during the fiscal year, the government purchased $21 million of four per cent preferred stock of the company. This stock is issued under the authority of the Canadian National Railways Capital Revision Act, 1952, in an amount equal to three per cent of the gross revenue of the company.

Also in the year ended March 31, 1962, the government provided the company with temporary loans of $64 million in respect of its 1961 income deficit. This amount plus temporary loans of $2 million made on the same account in the previous fiscal year brought the total loans on account of the 1961 deficit to $66 million. It should be noted that the total 1961 deficit of $67 million, of which $66 million was covered by temporary loans by the government and the remainder paid from company funds, was charged to budgetary expenditure.

In summary, the total amount made available to the company during the fiscal year was $153 million and repayments including the charge to budgetary expenditure were $77 million. The amount of advances to the company outstanding at March 31, 1962 increased by $76 million.

At March 31, 1961, temporary loans of $5 million were outstanding to the Trans-Canada Air Lines in respect of its 1961 income deficit. During 1961–62 further advances of $2 million were made for this purpose. The amount of $7 million was repaid or credited during the year. However, the government made advances of $3 million on account of the air lines 1962 income deficit which is still outstanding.

Loans during the year to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation amounted to $246 million, of which $237 million was for direct loans by the corporation and $9 million in respect of loans for federal-provincial housing projects. Repayments were $48 million, of which $43 million was in respect of direct loans, $2 million in respect of loans for federal-provincial housing projects and $3 million in respect of loans for housing projects. The net increase of $198 million for the year brought the total loans to $1,709 million at March 31, 1962.

Loans to the Farm Credit Corporation amounted to $56 million and investment in the capital of the corporation to $1 million during the year. Repayments by the corporation of $3 million brought the outstanding advances to $210 million at March 31, 1962.

Advances to The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority during the year amounted to $10 million bringing the total loans to $331 million. In addition, deferred interest on these loans was $19 million at the year-end, unchanged from the total at March 31, 1961. A contra item for this deferred interest is included in the liability catagory "Deferred credits".

It should also be noted that in accordance with Order-in-Council P.C. 1961-1863 dated December 29, 1961, interest of $14 million payable on December 31, 1961 by The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, as well as interest payable on December 31, 1962, has been deferred until December 31, 1963. On December 31, 1963 the total amount of interest so deferred together with the interest payable December 31, 1963, will be computed as a single sum and is to be repaid in equal annual instalments calculated by amortizing the said sum, including interest at rates determined by the Minister of Finance, over a period of forty-six years.

Other changes in this category include increases of $9 million in loans to the National Capital Commission, $8 million in loans to the Export Credits Insurance Corporation, $7 million in loans to the National Harbours Board, $5 million in loans to the Northern Canada Power Commission, $3 million in loans to the Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation and a decrease of $3 million in loans to the Northern Ontario Pipe Line Crown Corporation.

Securities held in trust

This category records the security holdings of various deposit and trust, and annuity, insurance and pension accounts. Bonds and certified cheques held in connection with contractors' securities included in the deposit and trust category are also recorded under this heading. The balance at March 31, 1962 amounted to $31 million, $1 million higher than the previous year-end balance.

Deferred charges

This category consists of the unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies in the Canadian forces superannuation account, the public service superannuation account, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account, and the outstanding balance of unamortized loan flotation costs. There was a decrease of $6 million in this category during the year, bringing the balance at March 31, 1962 to $727 million.

Unamortized portions of actuarial deficiencies

This category records the unamortized portions of the actuarial deficiencies in the public service, the Canadian forces, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation accounts which have been set up as deferred charges to be written off to budgetary expenditure upon parliamentary approval.

The deficiencies in the public service superannuation account, the Canadian forces superannuation account and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police superannuation account are based on actuarial valuations made as at December 31, 1957, March 31, 1958 and December 31, 1961, respectively.

Unamortized loan flotation costs

This account records the residual balances of discounts, commissions, redemption bonuses and conversion premiums on loan flotations that have not been charged to budgetary expenditure. The balance at March 31, 1962 totalled $121 million, a decrease of $10 million from the previous year-end balance.

Cost of new loans issued during 1961-62 and charged to the account amounted to $41 million, of which $10 was in respect of treasury bill discounts which will be charged to interest on public debt in 1962-63. Credits to the account were $51 million of which $34 million was a charge to the budgetary expenditure item "Annual amortization costs", $11 million, representing discount on treasury bills sold in 1960-61, was a charge to the budgetary item "Interest on public debt" and $6 million was an adjustment due to cancellation of unmatured loans prior to their maturity date.

Suspense accounts

The only item in this category is the cheque adjustment suspense account which reflects unadjusted balances resulting from the reconciliation of payments for redemption of paid cheques with the amount of those cheques as subsequently determined in adjustment of the outstanding cheque account.

Capital assets

Assets of the government such as land, buildings, works and equipment, etc., that are charged to budgetary expenditure at the time of acquisition or construction, are included in this category and are shown on the statement of assets and liabilities at a nominal value of $1.

Inactive loans and investments

Loans and investments which are not currently revenue-producing or realizable are recorded in this category. Included are the loan of $49 million to China under the Export Credits Insurance Act, loans of $24 million and $7 million made to Roumania and Greece in 1919–20 and 1920–21 and advances of $15 million in respect of the implementation of guarantees (Ming Sung Industrial Company Limited).

Reserve for losses on realization of assets

There is no change in this reserve during the year, the balance at March 31, 1962 being $546 million, unchanged from the end of the previous year.

C. INCREASE IN NET DEBT

The deficit for the fiscal year of $791 million resulted in a corresponding increase in the net debt of Canada which at March 31, 1962, was $13,229 million.

5. THE CASH POSITION

The government's cash position is affected not only by the budgetary transactions but also by changes in the government's outstanding unmatured debt and by other non-budgetary transactions. In 1961–62 there was an increase of $401 million in the government's bank balances. This increase is the result of the budgetary deficit of $791 million, being more than offset by an increase of $880 million in outstanding unmatured debt (after taking into account transactions in the purchase fund, securities investment and sinking fund accounts) and the net receipts of $312 million from other non-budgetary transactions. It should be noted that in accordance with the announcement by the Minister of Finance in the Budget Speech of June 20, 1961 a Purchase Fund was established to assist in the management of the public debt. During the fiscal year issues totalling $166 million were purchased and the securities subsequently cancelled.

Non-budgetary receipts and disbursements relate to transactions which result in increases or decreases in the government's assets and liabilities and do not appear in what might be called the government's income account for the fiscal year nor do they enter into the calculation of the annual budgetary surplus or deficit. However, in considering the full scope of the government's financial operations and in measuring their effect on the government's cash position and their impact on the economy, non-budgetary as well as budgetary transactions must be taken into account.

TABLE 58 (in millions of dollars)

The increases or decreases in the government's assets and liabilities have been described in detail in the section entitled "Statement of Assets and Liabilities of Canada". On the assets side the non-budgetary transactions consist, for the most part, of loans and advances to, and repayments by, Crown corporations and other government agencies and funds (including the old age security fund), national, provincial and municipal governments, international organizations, veterans and other borrowers. On the liabilities side they relate mainly to receipts and payments in connection with the many deposit and trust accounts, and annuity, insurance and pension funds held or administered by the government.

The preceding table summarizes both the budgetary and non-budgetary transactions for 1961–62 and indicates how they affected the government's cash position. For purposes of comparison the corresponding figures for 1960–61 are also shown.

As the table shows, non-budgetary receipts and credits for 1961-62 (excluding unmatured debt transactions) totalled $804 million while non-budgetary disbursements and charges (also excluding unmatured debt transactions) were $492 million, resulting in a net receipt of $312 million. As the budgetary deficit was $791 million, $479 million required financing by an increase in unmatured debt or a decrease in cash balances. In 1960-61 there was a net receipt of $46 million from non-budgetary transactions and a budgetary deficit of $340 million resulting in $294 million having to be financed by an increase in unmatured debt or a decrease in cash balances.

Non-budgetary receipts and credits

Non-budgetary receipts and credits, as already indicated, amounted to $804 million in 1961–62 as shown in the following table:

Summary

In summary, as budgetary and non-budgetary transactions required financing in the amount of $479 million, and unmatured debt outstanding in the hands of the public (after taking into account transactions in the purchase fund, securities investment and sinking fund accounts) increased by $880 million, cash balances on deposit with the banks increased by $401 million.

6. THE PUBLIC DEBT

Gross and net debt

The gross debt of Canada amounted to $22,867 million as at March 31, 1962. Unmatured debt, including treasury bills, in the amount of $16,925 million accounted for approximately 74 per cent of the total. The remaining liabilities, consisting of current and demand liabilities, deposit and trust accounts, annuity, insurance and pension accounts, undisbursed balances of appropriations to special accounts, deferred credits and sundry suspense accounts, aggregated $5,942 million or approximately 26 per cent of the total debt.

The net debt of Canada was $13,229 million as at March 31, 1962, an increase of $791 million over the net debt at March 31, 1961. Total liabilities increased by $1,264 million to $22,867 million and net assets by $473 million to $9,638 million at March 31, 1962.

Unmatured debt

The total unmatured debt of Canada at March 31, 1962 totalled $16,925 million, $857 million more than at the end of the previous fiscal year. The government's holdings of its own securities were $95 million, comprised of $77 million in the securities investment account and $18 million in the sinking fund account. This was a decrease of $23 million over the comparable figure 53820-7-8 at March 31, 1961 when holdings were $101 million in the securities investment account and $17 million in the sinking fund account.

101

The decrease in the securities investment account was due to the cancellation of $320 million of the holdings therein of the government's own issues, offset in part by the net result of other transactions in the account in the amount of $296 million.

In accordance with the announcement by the Minister of Finance in the budget speech of June 20, 1961, a purchase fund was established during the fiscal year to assist in the management of the public debt. Purchases of securities were:

\$11 million $4\frac{1}{4}$ per cent bonds due September 1, 1972;

\$53 million $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent bonds due October 1, 1975;

\$7 million $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent bonds due June 1, 1976;

\$8 million $3\frac{3}{4}$ per cent bonds due January 15, 1978; \$15 million $3\frac{1}{4}$ per cent bonds due October 1, 1979;

\$70 million $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent bonds due September 1, 1983 and

\$2 million $3\frac{3}{4}$ per cent bonds due March 15, 1998.

Of these securities, $61 million were cancelled in November, 1961 and the balance of $105 million cancelled prior to the fiscal year-end and unmatured debt reduced by similar amounts.

Of the total unmatured debt, $16,795 million or more than 99 per cent was payable in Canada, $98 million in New York and $32 million in London.

Summary of security issues and maturities, redemptions, conversions or cancellations

During the year ended March 31, 1962 the government issued securities payable in Canada in the principal amount of $3,451 million (excluding the refunding of treasury bills which mature weekly) and redeemed, converted or cancelled issues payable in Canada in the amount of $2,594 million.

2. That with respect to income earned after March 31, 1962 a corporation whose principal business is manufacturing or processing (not including a corporation whose principal business is shipbuilding, mining, logging or the operation of oil or gas wells) be allowed to deduct from its tax otherwise payable an amount equal to 50 per cent of the tax on the first $50,000, of its taxable income attributable to increased sales and an amount equal to 25 per cent of the tax on the remainder of its taxable income so attributable.

3. That with respect to its first taxation year ending after April 10, 1962 and the next succeeding four taxation years a corporation be permitted to deduct in computing income 150 per cent of the amount by which expenditures of a current and capital nature on scientific research in Canada incurred by it in the year exceed expenditures of a current and capital nature on scientific research in Canada incurred by it in its last taxation year ending on or before April 10, 1962.

4. That for the 1962 to 1966 taxation years both inclusive the deduction from tax allowed to corporations in respect of taxable income earned in a province be increased from 9 per cent to 10 per cent in a prescribed province in which arrangements exist for the replacement of federal grants to universities by additional provincial grants in accordance with the proposed amendments to the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act.

5. That with respect to taxation years commencing in 1962 a taxpayer be allowed a deduction from tax of an amount equal to the lesser of two-thirds of the amount payable for the year to a province as a tax on income from logging operations or $\frac{2}{3}$ of 10 per cent of the taxpayer's income from logging operations in the province, and the right to deduct in computing income amounts paid to a province as tax on income from logging operations be repealed.

6. That with respect to expenses incurred after April 10, 1962 any corporation be allowed to deduct in computing income the drilling and exploration expenses, including all general geological and geophysical expenses, incurred by it on or in respect of exploring or drilling for petroleum or natural gas in Canada and the prospecting, exploration and development expenses incurred by it in searching for minerals in Canada not exceeding its income for the year from oil or gas wells in Canada.

7. That with respect to expenses incurred after April 10, 1962 an individual be allowed to deduct in computing income the drilling and exploration expenses,

9. That with respect to sales of property acquired after April 10, 1962 there shall be included in the income of a taxpayer any amount received as consideration for the disposition of a right, licence or privilege to explore for, drill for or take petroleum or natural gas except where the right, licence or privilege was acquired by inheritance or bequest.

10. That the right of a successor corporation to deduct drilling, exploration, prospecting and development expenses incurred by a predecessor corporation from the income of the successor corporation attributable to the production of petroleum or natural gas from wells, or the production of minerals from mines, situated on property acquired from the predecessor corporation shall not be lost by reason of the fact that the successor corporation assumed liabilities of the predecessor corporation.

11. That a joint exploration corporation may renounce an appropriate share of the drilling, exploration, prospecting and development expenses incurred by it after 1956 in searching for oil, gas or minerals in Canada in favour of a shareholder corporation whose principal business is

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 12th APRIL, 1962.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Cathers, from the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce, presented the Fifth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee has considered Bill S-18, An Act to incorporate Greymac Mortgage Corporation and has agreed to report it without amendment.

Miss Aitken, from the Standing Committee on Standing Orders presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which was read as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of April 6, 1962, the Committee has considered the following petition for a Private Bill filed after the time specified in Standing Order 93, and the report of the Clerk of Petitions of April 2, 1962.

Petition of Ginette Noëla Mélanie Hugon SOULIER-Divorce

Counsel for the Petitioner stated that the petition had been forwarded to him by the Montreal Solicitor in a letter dated February 27, 1962. He claimed that ordinarily one would expect such mail to be received in Ottawa on the following day in order that it might be deposited in the House of Commons on February 28th, the last day for filing petitions as provided under Standing Order 93. However, as delivery of the petition to his office was delayed, it was not possible for him to file the petition until March 1, 1962.

Counsel requested that the petition be received, but that the Petitioner, who has a very limited income, be not assessed charges because of the late filing.

V 61-1

Respecting the abovementioned petition, your Committee recommends as follows:

- (a) That Standing Order 93 be suspended and the petition be received;
- (b) That Standing Order 94(3)(a) and (c) be suspended, in order to waive all charges.

The petition, together with the Report of the Clerk of Petitions related thereto, is returned herewith.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Miss Aitken, seconded by Mr. Hales, the said Report was concurred in.

Mr. Fleming (Eglinton), a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Report by the Tariff Board, dated January 17, 1962, relative to the Investigation ordered by the Minister of Finance respecting Engineers' and Architects' Plans, Drawings and Blue Prints—Reference No. 128, (English and French), together with a copy of the transcript of the evidence presented at public hearings, pursuant to section 6 of the Tariff Board Act, chapter 261, R.S.C., 1952.

On motion of Mr. Churchill, seconded by Mr. Fleming (Eglinton), the First Report of the Special Committee appointed to consider with Mr. Speaker the Procedure of this House, presented Tuesday, April 10, 1962, was concurred in.

The Order being read for the third reading of Bill S-19, An Act to amend the Canada Grain Act;

Mr. Hamilton (Qu'Appelle), seconded by Mr. Churchill, moved,—That the said bill be now read a third time and do pass.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the third time and passed.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply;

And the House continuing in Committee;

Objection being taken in Committee to the decision of the Chairman (Mr. Martineau) on a point of order, and an appeal being made to the House;

Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair, and the Chairman of the Committee made the following Report:—

"In Committee of Supply, when Vote No. 730 of the Further Supplementary Estimates (4), 1961-62, was called for consideration, a point of order was raised to the effect that, as Vote No. 729 was under consideration at the termination of the Committee's last sitting, it was irregular to proceed with Vote No. 730.

"I ruled that, in accordance with section (2) of Standing Order 18 and May's 16th Edition, page 731, the government could call its business in such order as it deemed expedient without regard to any proceeding in a prior sitting of the Committee. "Whereupon the honourable Member for Kootenay West (Mr. Herridge) appealed to the House from the decision of the Chair."

The question being put by Mr. Speaker: "Shall the ruling of the Chairman be confirmed?"—It was decided in the affirmative on the following division:
