(Special To Times)

Sussex, N. B., July 3.—Fine weather again prevailed at Camp Sussex today, but it was not so hot as yesterday, because of a pleasant breeze which sprang up.

Much interest centered last night in a foot race for a quarter mile, won by Teaman of the 71st regiment with Harper, of the 1st second.

Fire broke out in the stables of the Sussex Park Association and caused some excitement about noon today. The damage done was not very great, but a portion of the string of barns bordering the race track was destroyed.

New York, claiming the original patient on the fourth sanely celebrated, feels it is of national-wide importance that Father Knickerbocker keeps up the good work.

SAYS SHE NEVER SAW SCOTT WILL IN WHICH HE LEFT HER MILLIONS

London's Sensational Case Re-summed Today With Lady Sackville on the Stand

London, July 3.—The Sir John Murray Scott will case was resumed today before an audience composed largely of women.

Lady Sackville returned to the witness stand and took up the thread of the story of her friendship with the baronet. It was, she said, in the spring of 1900, while she and the baronet were driving together, that Sir John first told her of his intention to leave her $1,000,000.

He said to her that now his mother was dead, Lady Sackville had taken a great place in his life, and he was going to leave to her the $1,000,000, his furniture, his houses and bagatelle in Paris and at Lisbon, and in fact all except the houses in London, which he had left to his sisters and brothers.

Later on, according to Lady Sackville, Sir John asked her to reduce her legacy to $750,000. He was going to keep back $250,000 to help in the keeping up of Knowle Park, the Sackville estate, Seven Oaks, Kent, during his lifetime.

Lady Sackville swore that she never saw the will and did not know it had been made until months later, when Sir John Scott spoke of revoking it.

SORRY, BUT MUST PAY

Although ample warning was given, some dog owners did not secure their 1913 licenses before July 1, when the double license fee went into effect. There have been several applicants for licenses since the first of the month and in each case there was a vigorous protest against having to pay the double charge.

It appears to be impossible that in that portion of the southern hemisphere where the yellow men of China, when they wake up, may want to spread and nations near them that bar their gates against their entrance will need to be courageous and strong enough to ensure the observance of their decrees.

"The present generation may see little of this anticipated development but it will come sooner or later, and the theatre of controversy and struggle may change from the northern to the southern hemisphere."

EMPIRE AS A WHOLE

How Britain Will Be Sized Up By Enemies, Says Tupper

London, July 3.—Sir Chas. Tupper, interviewed regarding the future of the Pacific, declares that, while Canadian interests on both coasts should be protected, this sectional protection must in the last resort resolve itself into the greater question of the British nation's power to safeguard itself not merely in part but as a whole.

"It will always be reckoned with by any enemy not by her strength in the Atlantic or Pacific, but as an empire force."

SEES YELLOW PERIL AHEAD

Premier of Victoria Thinks Day Will Come When Chinese Will Wake Up

London, July 3.—Hon. W. A. Watt, premier of Victoria, said today that he is likely to sacrifice our social and public ideals in the mad haste to gather people to the shores of the continent, who are filled up by the leavings of the white people of Europe.

"It appears to me impossible that in that portion of the southern hemisphere where the yellow men of China, when they wake up, may want to spread and nations near them that bar their gates against their entrance will need to be courageous and strong enough to ensure the observance of their decrees."

"The present generation may see little of this anticipated development but it will come sooner or later, and the theatre of controversy and struggle may change from the northern to the southern hemisphere."

"A Stitch in Time"

There might be a modern version of that old adage to the effect that, "A penny spent in time will often save a dime."

Nowhere is the truth of this revised adage more easily demonstrated than in the proper use of the best newspapers of the day.

If you are planning a trip, if you wish to go to a theatre, a lecture, to spend, if you need to buy practically any article of ordinary use, search your paper for a good newspaper and turn to the advertising columns for the latest information on the subject you have in mind. Make a practice of doing this and you will find that you save yourself both time and trouble and that many a dime might have been wasted had you either been saved or spent in such a way that you have attained the maximum of value from the money that you have spent.

In justice to yourself, you must keep in touch with what is in the market. Buy a newspaper and save your dimes by reading the advertisements regularly.

Detailed Statement To British Is Issued

AUSTRIA CRITICAL OF ACTION OF THE CZAR

Casualties in the Fighting so Far Have Been Heavy—Reunamia's King Orders General Mobilization of That Country's Army

(Canadian Press)

London, June 3.—King Constantine of Greece, in a statement to the British public says:

On May 30 Bulgarian troops, concentrated in large numbers, delivered a sharp attack upon a Greek regiment at Aughiana. After a sanguinary fight lasting fifteen hours, the Bulgarians seized several villages in the neighborhood of Panghonia, which were occupied by the Greek army. To put an end, at all cost, to this state of affairs and to prevent fresh incidents of the same kind, a convention was signed on June 2, at Saloniki, between the chief of staff of the Greek army and the commander in chief of the Bulgarian troops in the region of Greece.

This convention established a neutral zone, which the two armies were to evacuate and in which neither party was to penetrate.

"In spite of this agreement, the Bulgarian general staff neglected to evacuate most of the points which it had promised to abandon. Besides this, Bulgarian troops, on June 28, attacked the Serbians at Jidib. On the night of June 29, Bulgarians also attacked the Serbians at Guevghil, which they occupied on the morning of June 30."

In addition to all this, the Bulgarians attacked a second time the Greek troops at Panghonia and also those at Nigrita on July 29.

"Finally on June 29, General Hessaupf, in command of the Bulgarian troops, issued an order to his troops to evacuate the region of Panghonia and to return to their homes. His intention of leaving the town, this fact left no possible doubt as to the Bulgarian attitude of mind towards the Greek army."

"The Bulgarians thus clearly showed their intention of disregarding their engagements, creating, by consecutive unexpected strokes, a state of affairs which would lead gradually to a parallel in the Greek and Serbian armies. This they intended to do by occupying strategic points of first importance, by cutting the communications of the two armies at Guevghil, and interrupting the railway communication between Saloniki and Uskub. Doubtless they hoped thus to over-ride the allies by a policy of intimidations."

"The refusal of the Bulgarian troops to take measures to assure their own security was for the reason stated in the order of July 29, the general commanding the district of Saloniki called upon the Bulgarian troops to evacuate the place within a stated interval. This time limit was actually exceeded, but the Bulgarians refused to go. Our troops, after a short resistance, captured the Bulgarian detachment remaining in the town."

"On the other hand, our troops, which had been attacked since June 30 by the Bulgarians at the bridges of Guevghil, at Nigrita, and at Panghonia, received today an order to advance."

"But apart from these military considerations, the great question of humanly arises. Ever since the occupation of territories of Greece and Macedonia where Greeks are in the majority, by the Bulgarian army, the population has been in the greatest danger. Since the first attack on Panghonia on May 20, this state of affairs has become intolerable. More than 150,000 refugees since that day, that is to say, during a period of peace, have poured into the Chalcidic peninsula and into Saloniki. The Bulgarian army respected neither the property nor the honor nor the lives of the Greek population."

BLACKMAIL PLOT, SULZER CALLS IT

New York Governor's Statement On Suit By Woman

ACT OF POLITICAL ENEMIES

Says "Boss" Murphy and Those With Him Are Trying to Discredit Him Because He Will Not Let Them Rule

(Canadian Press)

Gettysburg, Pa., July 3.—Governor Sulzer issues the following interview in connection with a suit for breach of promise filed against him in Philadelphia yesterday by Miss Hopkins:

"Yes," said Governor Sulzer, "I read about the Hopkins frame-up in Philadelphia. There is nothing to it. I am afraid of. The whole thing looks like a poor conspiracy and seems to state and fishy."

"The fact is the suit of this woman, Hopkins, is blackmail and, more, instigated by my political enemies, and is a part of the plot of 'Boss' Murphy and his political conspirators to discredit me because they cannot use me for the nefarious schemes to loot the State of New York."

"If I were willing to be Murphy's kind of a governor, no one would have heard of this and other matters he is using about me. That goes without saying. But because I am fighting graft, fighting for good government and fighting in their power to destroy me politically, they have been thrashing me out."

"Suffice it to say, the governor, in addition to that I knew this Hopkins woman years ago. I was a friend of her family in their distress, but I deny emphatically that I ever lived with her, or that I ever held her out to be my wife."

BISHOP INGHAM IN REPLY TO PROTESTS OF CANADIAN CLERICS

A Montreal Star London cable says— Bishop Ingham sends me a vigorous rejoinder to the protests of Canadian Anglican bishops and clerics as published in the Montreal Star. He says he did not expect his ecclesiastical viewpoint to be popular, but that he had no intention of sheltering behind an anonymous attack.

"It is a great mistake," he declares, "for the Church leaders in Eastern Canada to take the chapter as an attack on the Church of England in Canada. Every other word in the entire book contradicts that thought. In my simplicity I thought that the story of a few blunders, or, as we will say, mistakes of past experience, would not have been resented by the authorities of a great church that has a tremendous task before it, and which is only now laying down lines of advance."

"Those who make no mistakes make nothing. I cannot believe that one single true clergyman, after reading the book through, will mistake the good, even kindly, intention of those who sent it forth."

Bishop Ingham says he himself suppressed the name of Canada's cleric whose attack aroused so much heat. He wrote at Bishop Ingham's instigation in the midst of a strenuous ministry about as far from East Canada as East Canada is from England. He only wanted to help, not to hinder.

The further protests of the Bishop of Fredericton, Dean Bidwell, and Dean Dowd, published here, evoke regret among many Anglicans that an English bishop should have occasioned so much ill-feeling and such a sense of injustice among Canadian brethren.

A large doe, harried by a wildcat which clung to her neck and back, brought on her death and that of the cat near Clearfield, Pa., the other day by running in front of a fast moving freight train and dropping to the track to await the end.

The doe was first seen by the trainmen as she swam Moose Creek and crossed the rails of the New York Central railroad a few miles below there. At that time the cat was not in sight, but the doe was evidently very frightened. After the freight train had rounded a sharp curve about a quarter of a mile from where the doe was first seen the engine driver saw the animal emerge from the woods with a giant cat clinging to her back.

For an instant the doe, on seeing the train thundering toward her, hesitated, and then with a bound she reached the rails and dropped in front of the on-coming train. Before the train could be brought to a standstill the lives of the doe and her captor had been crushed out.

The report on the business side of the National Council meeting was made by Mrs. Warlock and was very lengthy, while Mrs. D. P. Chisholm gave a chatty address on the excellent manner in which the visiting delegates were entertained socially.

For Visitors to the Summer Cottage When you're asked to week-end with some friends at the lake, there is certain apparel you never should take.

Leave your bathing suit home; when it's time to immerse. Your hostess, of course, will be glad to lend hers.

Some women might carry a gown negligee, something cool to put on in the heat of the day. But you might get it soiled if you lug it about.

And your hostess has one you can wear without doubt. An old skirt for boating is something you'll need. But don't take one along, for it's folly indeed!

If ever the need for an old skirt occurs, just go to your hostess. She'll gladly lend hers. And then when to pack your belongings you start, just keep all you've borrowed, and with it depart.

For your hostess' ill-will it always incurs. If you don't carry off all the stuff that is hers.

BLUECOAT WEDS GIRL HE SAVED IN A RUNAWAY At Risk of Life Two Years Ago He Stopped Frantic Animal's Wild Dash. Following a romance which started in the gallop of a runaway on the side of Fly mountain, Eddyville, N. Y., three years ago, Michael J. McLaughlin, a policeman attached to the Lenox avenue station in New York, and Miss Anna Mercedes Tuite, of No. 164 East 108th street, New York, have just been wedded, and are now commencing their honeymoon in Boston. The ceremony took place in St. Cecilia's Catholic church, the Rev. Michael Phalen officiating.

In the summer of 1910 Miss Tuffe was spending her vacation in Eddyville, and was often seen in the country roads handling the reins behind a dashing bay. She was coming down the steep mountain side on June 25, 1910, when her horse became sulky and finally bolted. The girl tugged frantically at the reins and screamed for help.

The man who is now her husband was walking along the road with several friends. They ran to her assistance. McLaughlin in a flying leap for the bride managed to grab the shaft and hung on. He hauled himself by a great effort to a position where he could seize the rein. For half a mile he was dragged, all the time jerking at the frantic animal's head, trying to cut off his wind and resorting to other measures practiced by horsemen. The girl shouted that she was going to jump. "Keep your seat and I'll get you out all right," shouted McLaughlin.

Finally, bruised and cut, and with his clothes in tatters, he brought up the horse. He was unable to lift Miss Tuffe, who was almost on the verge of collapse, from the carriage, but the next day he received her profuse thanks and they became well acquainted.

When he left Eddyville she cut short her vacation and came to New York on the same train. The romance progressed until their friends were informed that they were engaged. They will reside in the Fordham section of the Bronx.

A tender for the erection of a new manic asylum for London, which is to cost £317,970, has been accepted by the London County Council. This will be London's 11th asylum.

To Have Perfect Skin Throughout the Summer (From The Guide to Beauty.) These days the face and neck need special care and attention. Flying dust and dirt, the beating sun, are severe on any skin. Their despoiling effects are best overcome by the application of pure mercolized wax. This keeps skin and pores in a cleanly condition, the complexion beautifully white and spotless. Tan, freckles, blotches and roughened cuticle are actually absorbed by it. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is sufficient to completely renovate a solid complexion. It is used like cold cream, allowed to remain on over night, and washed off in the morning.

As the skin tends to expand in warm weather, causing wrinkles to form, a good astringent lotion should be used. Dissolve one ounce powdered exsoltite in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe the face in this during the heat of the day or before going out for theatre or social affair. It is a remarkable skin tightener and wrinkle eraser.

This Hair Remover Works Like Magic (Tollet Talks.) A paste made with water and powdered delatone and applied to the skin will banish hair or fuz. The paste should be left on two or three minutes, then removed and the surface washed. This leaves the skin hairless, firm and white. If the growth is thick or stubborn, it may require a second application. You can get a small, original package of delatone from your druggist, and to those afflicted with superfluous growths this will prove a boon.

This eyebrow can be made to grow thick and lustrous by rubbing pyroxin on with finger-end, and short, straight eyelashes will come in long and curly if pyroxin be applied at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger. Be careful and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.

DEATH RATE NOT HIGH BUT ABOVE 3-YEAR AVERAGE

This, indeed, is the only good attained by vaccination. It may, to many, seem needless to make this assertion, but it is not really so. Scores of times the writer has been asked if vaccination does not prevent children from taking diseases other than small-pox, and also, if it did not benefit the general health. It does not do either of these, but that it does safeguard against small-pox is as well proved as anything can possibly be.

Before the discovery of vaccination, small-pox was the greatest scourge of the human race. No age or conditions of life, except those who had already had it and survived, was at all exempt from it. Many kings and queens and others in the highest ranks and most carefully guarded, have died from it. Dr. Jenner the discoverer of its preventive, vaccination, was the greatest benefactor of mankind that ever lived. By means of this discovery, small-pox has been largely banished from the civilized world and, now, far less people die of it, than from measles or whooping-cough, or, indeed, from such an unusual accident as death in an electric storm.

Yet, if vaccination were to be abandoned, it is very certain that the old order of things would return, and that small-pox would again rise to be the most prolific of all causes of death. As it is, probably, the most infectious of all diseases, and its poison capable of existing in full virulence for many years in old clothes and rags and so forth, no amount of isolation and sanitation regulation would suffice to effectively narrow its scope.

A little later, a formal announcement of the hours and days for free vaccination by the public health authorities will be made in the press.

Warning Against Typhoid

Another word of warning should be repeated against the frequent habit, especially of young people, of drinking from brooks and springs within, or in the near neighborhood of, the city. All such places are most liable to pollution, and, already, there is very strong evidence that two or three cases of typhoid fever at present existing in the city, have had their origin in this way.

N. B. RAILWAY MATTERS

Ottawa, July 2—The minister of railways is negotiating for the acquisition of the International Railway of New Brunswick.

The minister of railways today approved of the route of the Bouchette Railway & Transportation Company from Richibucto to Loggieville, a distance of 47 miles. He declined to give approval to a route map by the same company from Paines Junction to Cape Tormentine, a distance of 42 miles. He gave as a reason that he did not want to bring anything which might interfere in any way, with the terminals of the Prince Edward Island car ferry which was now being dealt with.

It is understood that the line from Paines Junction to Cape Tormentine, if constructed, might become a competitor with the Cape Tormentine Railway which is now running and which the government proposes to acquire as an I. C. R. branch line.

The ashes of Joseph Russell, of Victoria, B. C., who died a short time ago, were scattered over the waters of the George by an old friend and a brother, Eagle, in compliance with the wish of the deceased. Friends attended the ceremony. The remains were cremated in Seattle.

WEALTH AND LEADERSHIP

The men who are absorbed in the practical activities in this age of commerce and industry, and particularly those who are foremost in these activities, must always acquire an ascendancy, as great warriors did in a military age. Indeed, the ascendancy and power of a man like the late J. Pierpont Morgan rested upon qualities similar to those by which Clovis and William the Conqueror obtained distinction.

For better or for worse the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few is inevitable in any society that has vast mobile wealth subject to competition. In so far as concentration of wealth means that wealth is in the hands of those who know best how to use it, it is a good thing. We are all eager to intrust our property to those who will make it profitable to us, and the capitalist was a great organizer and so was the conqueror, and it was chiefly through this power of organization that they became great.

It is true, too, that the ascendancy of the rich man depends, in part at least, upon service. That is to say, the great work of the last decade has been the extension and reconstruction of industry; in this work leadership and organization have been needed on a great scale. The men who performed that function secured the power. They performed it with energy and imagination. Of course, a large part of the accumulation of wealth has been accomplished by methods more akin to piracy than to social service. Modern industry offers a greater field for service than the world has seen formerly, but it offers a still wider field to the freebooter and he has not been diffident about exploiting it.

It is a common opinion that the sway of riches over the mind is more general today than at any previous time. It is doubtful if that is true. The finest, in the long run, the most influential minds, have for the most part not cared for riches, or not cared enough to go out of their way to seek, preferring to live on bare necessities than to pass their lives in a scramble. Thoreau, among others, proved that a man may have the culture, which is the finer product of wealth, while remaining individually poor, and the spiritual leaders of the world have always regarded wealth as inconsistent with their aims.

The sale of CIGARETTES. An increase of 200,000,000 in the consumption of cigarettes in Canada during the past year is a discouraging fact, especially as it is well known that children help to swell the total. The twinkle of those electric signs unfortunately appear to have more effect than the well-meant exerts those fighting this growing evil.—Hamilton Herald.

should also be more strictly enforced. Boys seen smoking cigarettes should be taken by the police and forced to tell where they got them, and swift punishment should be meted out to the dealer who made the sale.

ANOTHER MOOSE IN TOWN

St. John is gaining additional reputation every day as a summer resort of unique character, and as the centre of a fine hunting country. This morning Captain John McMillan found a moose in his garden, and it was a three-year old at that. Nowhere else in the world does the citizen have a moose drop into breakfast with him. On many occasions moose have been seen in the early hours of the morning running through streets on the outskirts, and more than once one of these forest monarchs has passed through the centre of the city.

The park authorities have wisely declined to accept the moose for Rockwood, as they have no proper place there in which to keep it. A moose is a rarer and to confine such an animal in a small space is wrong. This brings up the subject of the growing menagerie in the park. If bears, wolves, foxes, wild-cats and other animals, are to be kept there, it will be necessary to make enlarged provision for them, and to take measures to prevent idle and ignorant folk, young and old, from teasing or abusing them. So magnificent a park at the city's door is an asset of incalculable value, and the gentlemen who have cared for and improved the property should have the most considerate support from the public at large.

St. John calls this a hot wave, but in most of the big cities of this continent today the people would regard our temperature and our breeze as life-savers.

The Toronto oarsmen were unfortunate enough to meet Leander in the first heat at Henley, and it was all day with Toronto. Toronto sportsmen are plucky; and this country admires their persistence. That is the right spirit. Some day we shall be able to send over a crew that will be good enough to win. Toronto is doing the right thing by keeping on trying.

WEEPING ROGUE TRICKS UNDERTAKERS

Boston Funeral Directors Swindled by Young Man Who Wanted "Brother" Buried. Boston, July 2.—Undertakers have been warned against a young man who may call with tears in his eyes and ask them to bring the body of his "dear brother" from Montpelier, Vt., and prepare it for burial. The young man is a fraud and always has in his possession an unlimited number of worthless checks.

A few undertakers have been "stung" already and the police are eager to prevent the "bereaved one" from getting any more easy money from embalmers. The police will not disclose the names of the undertakers that have been fleeced, nor even admit that any such larcenies have been committed. However, the secret manifolds of yesterday contained considerable information about the man who has been defrauding undertakers and directed the patrolmen to make the warning widespread. The man operates under the name of Wilson and Watson. He is between 30 and 35 years old, 5ft. 8in. in height, weighs 138 pounds, has dark complexion and hollow cheeks, and sometimes wears glasses. His method is to enter an undertaking establishment with his glasses in his hand, wiping tears from his eyes with his handkerchief.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

THURSDAY, JULY 3. Richard Bedford Bennett, Conservative M. P. for Calgary, is forty-three years of age today. He was born at Hopewell, N. B., and is now one of the leaders of the Alberta bar. He first entered the assembly of the North West Territories in 1898, and prior to his election to parliament sat in the Alberta legislature, of which he was offered the Conservative leadership in 1910.

THE BIG SALE

At Our Union and Mill Street Stores Has Startled St. John

There has been some doings at those two stores during the past week. We started out with 10,000 Pairs of Shoes—the entire stock of a large manufacturer—that we had bought right and were selling at prices so low that it simply took the people's breath away. Naturally after such a terrific trade the sizes are not as complete as they were but there are yet many bargains. Never before were Boots and Shoes sold at such low prices. The Boys and Girls, now free from school, will be hard on their shoes. Why not come and fit them out with good, serviceable Shoes for a fraction of the real price. To miss the bargains now offered is to miss the chance of saving money.

GROCER MAN'S BORROWED NAME

Gets Into Trouble With Noted British Writer

COSTS PUBLISHER $750

Dickens' Son One of the Counsel in the Case and Authors of World Fame Witnesses—Barrie an Admiree of the Stories of Ballentyne

(Times' Special Correspondence)

London, June 18.—That deservedly popular British story writer, W. Pett Ridge, is $750 richer, an English magazine as much poorer, and a seaside resort's assistant named Gubbins is a celebrity for the moment as the result of a law case, tried this week, that was as full of humor, both real and alleged, as one of the witty Pett Ridge's own best chapters. It brought what a press agent would describe as a "brilliant gallery" of writers into court, including Pett Ridge himself, his close friend, Jerome K. Jerome, Barry Pain and Edgar Jepson, an author and dramatist who adapted Arsenic Lupin for the English stage, and last but by no means least, Henry Fielding Dickens, G. L., the eldest son of the famous novelist, who appeared on behalf of Pett Ridge.

The latter's name by the by, is pronounced as if it were hyphenated, with the accent on the Pett, and his work often has been compared, and not entirely to its disadvantage, with that of the author of "Oliver Twist." Perhaps the main facts regarding Pett Ridge's case may have been cabled to your side of the water, but the details of what happened in court are entertaining.

Here is how it all came about. Picking up a copy of "The English Illustrated Magazine," one day, Pett Ridge, whose stories are mainly concerned with the poorer classes on this side of the water, discovered therein, signed with his name, a tale which he never had seen in his life before. This story—which was called, "The Man Who Had a Conscience," ran to eighteen columns, and was, according to Pett Ridge, "the kind of thing which I might write if I took up my pen in a moment of acute madness."

He communicated with his literary agent, who pointed out the danger of the matter, and the latter made an investigation. This resulted in the discovery that the real author of the story was a grocer's assistant at Bournemouth whose real name was Gubbins but who explained, on being faced with literary forgery, that he had "taken the nom de plume" of W. Pett Ridge.

The editor of "The English Illustrated Magazine," it appears corresponded with the author of "The Man Who Had a Conscience" without discovering his real identity. Pett Ridge's usual rate for a story of this length would, it was said in court, have been twenty guineas, or $100 but the editor had offered to offer only $10 for the supposed Pett Ridge story, which sum his sender accepted.

Barrie once in a while we get a hint of the literary tastes of the new baronet, Sir James Matthew Barrie and invariably the hint is uncommonly interesting. A year or so ago Barrie testified to his admiration of Henry Sydney Harcourt's "Queer" and now it seems that he is among the keenest lovers of the tales of R. M. Ballentyne. Most boys have read "The Dog Crusoe," "The Fur Trappers" and the rest of Ballentyne's adventure stories and will rejoice to know that their liking of them is shared by the author of "Peter Pan." Any new literary work by Barrie is an event, nowadays, so it is especially interesting to hear that he has written a lengthy introduction to a sumptuous new edition of "The Coral Island" which a London publishing firm is bringing out in the early autumn.

The week preceding Easter is said to be the dulllest period of the year from the theatrical manager's point of view.

STOPPED SUDDENLY
A minister in a small country village, who was noted for his absent-mindedness, was once observed to stop suddenly in the middle of his sermon and heard to mutter, "I knew she would—"

After the service was over someone asked him the reason. "Dear me," said he, "did I? Well, you know, from the pulpit I can just see old Mrs. Rogers' garden, and this morning she was out pulling up a cabbage, and I thought to myself, 'Now, if that cabbage comes up suddenly, she'll go over.'"

Lost Persons Found - Scattered Families Reunited

Do You Want to Send a "Wireless" to the Port of Missing Men? Where's the dear one who strolled away so many years ago? Is a heart breaking? Is an estate unsettled? You can sail away to the Port of Missing Men on the wings of the aeroplane - The Little Want Ad. It travels every day, reaches the "exchange tables" of hundreds of newspapers, penetrates distant states and provinces and foreign lands. It is a fixed habit of the missing who still live to peruse the "personals" of papers - and it is the practice of law to demand that reasonable efforts be made to locate lost heirs.

Dispel the cloud of doubt by using a little Want Ad that leads into strange by-paths and reunites scattered families and friends. Maybe a few repetitions will be needed.

BULGARIANS ROUTED BY SERBIANS WITH FEARFUL SLAUGHTER

Belgrade, July 2 - Army headquarters reports that the Serbians after capturing Ispit pursued the enemy, capturing over 100 officers and 1,000 men. Press despatches report that sanguinary fighting has occurred at Ovtchepole where the Bulgarian losses were enormous and 4,000 Bulgarians surrendered. In this engagement 2,000 Serbians were killed or wounded.

On the other side of Guevghel the Greek armies are concentrated, and the Bulgarians risk getting caught between two fires.

According to the latest advices from the front the Bulgarians have been entirely driven off the territory which they occupied when they encountered the Serbians unawares. The Bulgarian right wing has been completely routed. It is asserted that the fighting was the bloodiest in the history of the Balkan wars.

The Alerts defeated the Glenwoods in the East End League game last evening by a score of 12 to 0. Parlee of the Alerts struck out eleven men and did not allow his opponents a hit.

Baseball Notes

It is an old saying that a pitcher cannot win ball games unless his team makes runs, no matter how good his own work in the box. In that case it must be a great comfort to pitch for a team like the Athletics. They are "there" with the hits and the action that makes runs, and they frequently make double figures in runs, as well as hits.

"wildfire" hitting in the past week or two.

Speaker made 11 hits with a total of 18 last week and has made hits without a break for the past two weeks. In nine games in that time he made two hits in each. This also boosted his run column last week with nine tallies. This is on his toes.

"Stuffy" McInnis, the Gloucester lad, made a big haul on hits in seven games last week. He batted safely 14 times, and Baker, the lusty hitter ahead of him in the batting order, had 18 hits for his week's work.

SEAMEN GO ABOARD AGAIN

Nine seamen—John Burke, Wm. Scott, James Jones, Fred Roberts, Robt. Evans, Wm. Woodside, Alex. McKenzie, James McGill and Samuel Shiley—charged with refusing duty on the steamer Sculptor, last evening, were before Magistrate Ritchie this morning. Jones, when asked for an explanation of the unusual conduct, told the court that they were working short handed aboard the boat on their trip from Liverpool, and that Captain Sanford had promised to get more men when he arrived in port, but did not carry out his promise; also that their wages were withheld. Captain A. Sanford testified that he did all in his power to make the conditions satisfactory, and was willing to do anything suggested in reason, but could not see the cause of such conduct. However, he was willing to take them back without asking that a fine be imposed by the court. This offer was accepted. C. P. Inches appeared for Captain Sanford.

HAS CALL FROM MOOSE

Fine Young Bull Invades Garden at Indiantown and is Prisoner for a While

There is a class of visitors who, although welcome, are sometimes more appreciated in their absence, and when present are a source of worry. An instance in point was the experience of Captain John McMulkín, of Indiantown, about nine o'clock this morning, when he beheld a young bull moose trampling his much prized garden.

The intruder, not content with destroying much of the toil of weeks in the garden, pushed his nose through three panes of glass in the barn and warehouse in search of what he himself could alone appreciate. McMulkín soon had the moose secured in his barn, but how to get rid of his visitor then became a matter of concern, which grew with time.

Mr. McMulkín got into communication with Judge Armstrong to see if some arrangement could not be made with the Rockwood Park authorities to enlist the moose with the other animals there, but found that there was no proper place there for keeping it, so Mr. Moose was debarred from the society of his gentler friends of Rockwood Park.

Not wishing to see the moose abused by boys in the street if he released it, Mr. McMulkín thought Secretary Wetmore of the S. P. C. but as he had not found him at the time, and as the moose had cooled off, Mr. McMulkín threw open the doors of the barn and the gate to the street and the moose made his way over the Spar Cove road bridge and was soon lost to view.

It is thought that a brush fire in the Millidgeville section drove the animal to seek the cool of other parts, and, wandering along the Spar Cove road over the bridge to Indiantown, was attracted by the verdure of Captain McMulkín's garden and there decided to tarry.

PROFESSOR PRINCE IN CITY

Has Large Project on Hand For New Zealand Government

Professor Edward E. Prince, LL.D., the head of the Canadian fisheries department, who has been appointed by the New Zealand government to organize their fisheries and estimate their value is at the Royal for a few days. Dr. Prince has been at the head of the Canadian fisheries for twenty years, and is generally considered one of the best informed men on fisheries questions on the continent. He represents Canada on the International Fisheries Commission, which has to do with the settling of all fisheries disputes between this country and the United States. While at the great fisheries congress in Rome a few years ago he was elected vice-president of the congress in recognition of his long experience and extensive knowledge in all questions pertaining to this calling. Doctor Prince is specially qualified for his work in New Zealand, as he has been in close touch with the plans of the New Zealand government and has frequently made them shipments of Canadian fish which they are introducing into their waters.

His position with the New Zealand government will not be permanent. In about six months he expects to have a great part of the work of organization and estimating completed, and will then return to resume his work in Canada.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE BORDEN CLUB PICNIC

Some Amusing Incidents That Were Not on The Programme

THOSE "GOOD" ROADS

A Farmer Wanted Premier Flemming to Ride Over Some of Them—The Beauty of The River Appealed to Edwards

Some of the incidents at the Borden Club picnic on Dominion Day at Belyea's Point were not recorded in the press report.

For example, when Messrs. Edwards and Rhodes, M. P., were landing by way of a scow and some planks from the steamer May Queen, they and some others narrowly escaped being thrown into the water.

"Just think what Pugsley would say if we had fallen in," said Dr. Edwards. While Mr. Rhodes was in the midst of his address a bench on which were seated Premier Flemming, Messrs. Dickson, Tilley and other members of the legislature completely collapsed, and they all fell sprawling to the floor of the speaker's stand. There was much laughter, but Mr. Rhodes turned a neat compliment to Premier Flemming and went on with his speech.

While the premier himself was speaking a farmer who had mounted a log and was holding his horse by the rein called out:

"I want that man to go with me for half an hour's ride. I want to take him over some of the roads around here."

Mr. Flemming did not accept, and as a matter of fact there are few stretches of road more in need of repair than the one between Belyea's and Public Landing.

Great difficulty was experienced in getting the people off and on the steamer, as there is no wharf and the vessel lay off and on while a motor boat and scow lighted the passengers. A graceless toady wanted to know what better they could expect while Mr. Hazen was minister of marine.

A score or more of socialists, each wearing a red ribbon, were a feature of the picnic. As soon as the last Conservative speaker had been heard, J. W. Eastwood, who with Comrades Hyatt, Taylor and others had done some heckling, leaped on the platform and announced that some more speeches were to be delivered. He set out in a vigorous criticism of Dr. Edwards, but was interrupted by members of the committee and requested to desist. After a lively exchange of comments Mr. Eastwood resumed his harangue, but just then the band struck up a lively air. He and his companions shouted for fair play, but the band played on. Finally the red ribbon men drew off and played a game of billiards.

The whole affair was good-humored, as it should be; for it was the chairman of the amusement committee who, with a megaphone, summoned the speakers to the speaker's stand. The speeches were not taken too seriously, and there were no "three cheers for Mr. Borden, Hazen, Mr. Flemming or any other empire saver at home or abroad."

Dr. Edwards was charmed with the scenery along the St. John river. He said in conversation with a reporter that they had nothing in Ontario to surpass it, and he was surprised that there were not hundreds of cottages all along the pretty beaches on both shores. At dinner Dr. Edwards dined on a plate of salmon fresh from the river, and confessed that he declined a second helping with no small reluctance.

Referring to the ignorance of the east which is too prevalent in the west, Dr. Edwards said he believed that phase of our national life was passing, and that hereafter there will be a much deeper interest in the development of the resources of the eastern provinces. In his view every member of parliament should have a personal knowledge of every province, east and west. On this visit he himself would see a good deal of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Many snapshots of the pretty pictures presented at the beach, with the crowd and the numerous motor boats, were taken and will doubtless be used in illustrations of the beauty of the St. John river in the summer season.

McCLARYS WON, 5 TO 4

The game of baseball which took place last night on the Barrick Green between teams from the McClary Manufacturing Co. and Robertson, Foster & Smith, resulted in a victory for the former, with the score of 5 to 4, and was witnessed by about 200 people. Although the game was scheduled to start at 6:30, it was not begun until 7 o'clock. The play was fast from the first inning, when the Robertson aggregation scored three runs off Marshall, until the end of the fifth inning, when Flaherty, of McClary's, drove a red hot one into the left field, bringing in the winning run.

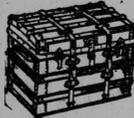

The losers were not satisfied with the result, and there will likely be a return game in a few days. The teams were:

- McC. Mfg. Co. Catcher M. F. & S.
Smith Pitcher E. Harrington
A. Marshall Carleton and Foster 1st B.
W. Stewart Carleton and Dixon 2nd B.
D. Doyle Foster and Carleton 3rd B.

J. O'Connor Garnett
J. McKenzie L. F.
C. F.
W. W. Dorman H. Mowinie
B. E.
W. T. Nixon A. Pyne
- The score by innings was:
McClary Mfg. Co. 0 1 1—5
