NOTES AND COMMENTS

The British House of Commons will, presently, have to deal with a question which will give rise to discussion in the Unionist party and which possibly may enable the Liberals to regain their former ascendancy in the manufacturing and mining centres.

The question will be answered in one way by the Liberals, and in another way by the agrarian and imperialist elements of the Unionist party.

The Liberal will contend that if a larger revenue be required, it may be easily obtained by slightly increasing the income tax, or by making small additions, to the taxes on such luxuries as beer and tobacco.

Mr. Darling, having had the farm willed to him by an old uncle, had tried agriculture in a feeble sort of way.

A very difficult method of solving the fiscal problem is advocated by the agrarians and imperialists, who, if they should win over Lord Salisbury, could force Sir Michael Hicks-Beach to carry out their wishes or to resign.

Mr. Darling, dropping the ball of cotton and starting to her feet, "Why have come?" demanded Demas Darling, who was slow of comprehension, and required that things should be circumstantially explained to him.

NO ROOM TO LIVE In London, even for a Workman with a Modest Money. One evening not long ago there came to the gates of a South London workhouse a north-country mechanic.

Lord Salisbury is to ride a bike. His Eminence has not yet appeared in public, but the few intimates who have had the pleasure of witnessing his performances at Hatfield assure us.

BEES CARRY BASKETS. Every bee carries his market basket round his hind legs. Anyone examining the body of a bee through a microscope will observe that on the hind legs of the creature there is a fringe of stiff hairs on the surface.

Parliament has been in session four weeks and at last advice the address was still being discussed.

Mr. Hazen, who has given notice of a resolution in favor of imposing a limit on the length of speeches in the House.

Enforcing the Game Law. It has become quite apparent that examples must be made everywhere of violators of the game law of the Province.

In a country like New Brunswick the preservation of both fish and game is important beyond existing public realization.

It is unfortunate that a very large proportion of the people to whom the big game grounds are easily accessible have less respect than any other class for the laws made for their benefit.

in connection with the bridge charges, which he had published as a campaign effort, were disappointed when he simply contended himself in the Legislature with giving notice of a resolution which everyone versed in the rules of the House knew was in violation of them.

As soon as the notice was given the ADVANCE intimated that the resolution could not be entertained, and said it seemed to be an attempt to "play to the galleries" and we suggested that Mr. Hazen should formulate his charges in a mainly way, in conformity to the rules of the House, and have them investigated.

Instead of doing so, however, he gave notice of and attempted to move a second resolution which was entirely irregular, and in which he made no attempt to formulate, or hint at any charges whatever.

Now, it is a simple thing for Mr. Hazen, if he is sincere in the matter, to charge that the Chief Commissioner paid two prices for bridges, and that he did so in order to promote the welfare of private companies and individuals, to the loss of the public,—or, if he does not feel like going that far, he may charge that these alleged exorbitant prices were paid because of governmental ignorance and incompetence.

If he were to make any such charges and follow them up by asking for a committee, to be appointed in the usual way, under the rules of the House, we are quite sure the resolution would be passed and Mr. Hazen would get his committee and be afforded an opportunity to prove what he took the responsibility of publishing for campaign purposes, over his own name.

We cannot believe that Mr. Hazen does not know the proper course to be taken in the premises, and can only say that if he continues to ignore it as he has done, so far, and to resort to the evasive expedient of giving notice of resolutions which are palpably out of order, the public will conclude that he ought to go to night-school and learn the rules and practice of the Legislature, or else save his reputation for candor and retain the respect of his friends by openly confessing that he made his charges in the press against Chief Commissioner Emerson as the instigation of persons less honorable but more astute than himself.

Of one thing he may be assured: he will not gain much in public estimation or respect by causing the public press whose purpose he seems to be willing to serve, to assail the integrity of the Speaker of the Assembly because he does not shrink his right in regard to the rules which Mr. Hazen has so little regard for as shown by his peculiar tactics in connection with his alleged "two and three-bridged" campaign.

Chatham's Proposed Water and Sewerage Systems. The meeting held in Monvic Hall, Chatham, on Thursday evening last, to discuss the subject of the town providing itself with a system of water works and sewerage was well attended, and much interesting and valuable information was made manifest in the question as the different speakers presented their views before the audience.

Major Wislour presided, and after stating that he had called the ratemakers together to discuss and hear discussed the question of providing the town with water and sewerage system, presented a strong argument in favor thereof, dwelling particularly upon the advantage of citizenship of the water franchise rather than that it should be allowed to pass to the control of a private company, referring to the many prominent citizens who favored the proposed undertaking and the benefit it would be in lessening the risks, improving the sanitary condition of the town and promoting the comfort and convenience of householders, etc.

He also stated that the Town Council had been very successful in their efforts to secure the water franchise for the town, and that they were now in possession of the same.

Mr. Hazen, who was present, stated that he was in favor of the water franchise being held by the town, and that he was in favor of the water franchise being held by the town.

he be again returned as one alderman, he would see that our people were employed in their construction, so that the money expended for labor would be kept amongst ourselves.

Should the work be done by a private company it would want at least $1,500 a year for hydrants and $1,500 more for sufficient water to flush the sewers, which the taxpayers would have to pay without having any control of the system or of the price which householders would have to pay for their domestic supply.

The latter was placed by Mr. Coffin on a basis of $6 per tap, but a company's price would be much greater than that. He had estimated the amount for the proposed works and found that it would be about 302 per head for non-property holders and about 90 for a man assessed on $400 real estate.

Mr. Snowball next drew out the advantages which would flow from the increase of Chatham's industrial interests, which must follow upon the improvements contemplated, and hoped the question would be considered by all from the broad standpoint of the general good and the desire to place Chatham on a footing with other modern towns.

Paties at the back of the hall now appeared to desire a little comedy and there were calls for Mr. Nicholas Cunningham, who had made a speech in the evening against the water and sewerage scheme and ending in favor of it. His comic sayings and grotesque attitudes and poses were very amusing, and assisted to increase the popularity of the proposed improvements.

All W. S. L. gave the next speaker and read from Mr. Coffin's report, to demonstrate the ample sufficiency of the Miramichi to carry off the sewerage safely. He explained how improvements in school matters and otherwise caused increased taxation, which must cause a necessity; dwelt on the short sightedness of the proposed water system being allowed to pass under the control of a private company, which it would be to the taxpayers now secured to the town.

He went into the matter of fire protection and said the saving in insurance would equal the increase in taxation on account of the water works and citizens would have all their sanitary and domestic advantages to the good. To those who did not fancy, but carried their own risk the system would be equally beneficial in lessening the risk. [Applause]

Mr. James Nicol, who was next called upon, made one of the best speeches of the evening. He had evidently given thorough attention to the subject, in detail, and he demonstrated to the ratemakers the advantage to the town of the proposed water and sewerage systems.

Sifton's explanations of the temporary and minor irregularities in connection with the Yukon administration were reasonable and satisfactory.

As for the numerous serious charges made by Sir Hibbert Tupper and others, he flatly denied them. In a letter to Mr. Sifton, and read by him in the course of his speech, Major Walsh positively denies that there is any foundation in truth for the personal charges brought by Sir Hibbert against him.

These denials by the Minister of the Interior and Major Walsh have simplified the situation. It is now clearly the duty of Sir Hibbert Tupper to formulate definite charges against the Yukon officials, and his opponents. He has delivered himself of much vague assertion, of hint and innuendo, and of promises of what he could say if the seal of confidence were removed from his lips.

Unless he is prepared to follow up these indefinite statements with definite charges, he may as well decline to continue public life, for his reputation as a statesman will be blotted. Mr. Sifton has promised that an impartial and thorough investigation will be held if definite charges are formally brought before Parliament.

If Sir Hibbert Tupper, after what he has said, neglects to avail himself of the offer, his political opponents will be justified in denouncing him as a pot and a slanderer. Sir Hibbert's own reputation is now at stake, as well as the reputations of Major Walsh, Mr. Wade and the other officials who have been named as a cloud by Sir Hibbert's accusations.—[Hamilton Herald.]

A Political Clergyman. Rev. A. D. Morton, president of the "Nova Scotia Methodist Conference" is headlined in the opposition papers as asserting that the position of the Dominion government on the public question is "a game of bluff" and "a contemptible argument," "too contemptible to deserve any consideration," etc.

The reverend gentleman is said to be a party in the historic town of Shelburne, and he is reviving interest in the place by the publication of the fact that he temporarily resides there. He must have been in Cumberland or perhaps in Pictou, for his manifesto has the earmarks of the not infrequently made by the Canadian Commissioner and instructed by the distinguished senator who never visits his humble Nova Scotia constituency.

The Legislature. THURSDAY, 6th. Quite a large number of bills were introduced, amongst them being one by Mr. Fish to amend section 7 of chap. 107 consolidated statutes of 7th April, 1897, dispositive of the right of appeal to the fire district of the town of Newcastle.

Mr. Hazen gave notice of inquiry: Is it the intention of the government to take any steps to secure an adequate representation of the resources and interests of the Province at the Paris exhibition to be held in the year 1900?

Most of the day's session was taken up with the discussion, in committee, of the whole of a bill to incorporate a company to build a bridge across the St. John river at Hartland and authorize the collection of tolls thereon, the government to guarantee the interest on the company's bonds for twenty years.

Mr. Hazen urged, amongst other things, that Hartland was entitled to a permanent steel bridge to be built by the government, but the Premier and Mr. Tweedie showed that quite a number of permanent bridges had been built in Chatham County by government and instructed by the distinguished senator who never visits his humble Nova Scotia constituency.

FRIDAY, 7th. A large number of bills were introduced. Mr. Pugsley called attention to the No. 78, which provides that after the 10th day of the session, no private bills shall be introduced. He would like to know whether private bills included local bills.

Mr. Pugsley thought the time for introduction of local bills should be extended rather than separate motions being required in each case.
