As the game progressed, the heroical youngster grew better. His strength enabled him to maintain a fast pace, and he was pitching invincible ball when his team scored in the seventeenth and won the game. Already scouts from faster company have been here to watch Toney work, and if he has a good season he will be drafted next fall.

ITALIAN WOMAN STABS COMPATRIOT

NORWOOD, Mass., May 25—Somewhere in the vicinity of this town, probably dead by this time, is Frank Bertuccio, 19 years old, who was last seen this morning by Mrs. Marie Pugitor, who conducts a lodging house where Bertuccio was an inmate. The young man had entered the woman's room, according to the story she told the police, and had asked her to run away with him and to take with her her husband's money. He became violent, she said, and attempted to enforce his demands at the point of a revolver. Mrs. Pugitor says she picked up a stiletto which chanced to be lying near and stabbed Bertuccio in the stomach.

CIRCUIT COURT.

At the session of the county court yesterday afternoon Daniel Morrison, aged 19 years, and Harry Akroy, aged 15 years, were dealt with on the charge of stealing from D. S. Prisco's store and the Star Line warehouse. At the conclusion of the evidence his honor sentenced Akroy to attend Sunday school and church every Sunday and all revival meetings held under the auspices of the Baptist church at Cambridge, the boy's home. Akroy's relatives then took the boy from court. His honor gave Morrison a year in jail. Morrison has served a term in the Boston home of correction and is now out on ticket of leave. E. S. titche appeared for the prisoners. William Morris and Walter Livingston, charged with breaking and entering an I. C. R. car, No. 3330, on the 19th inst., pleaded not guilty. Both prisoners claim that they were drunk at the time the deed was committed. The defendants were allowed their liberty on promising to take the pledge. It was erroneously stated yesterday that the charge was not of theft. The evidence showed that nothing had been stolen. The men had simply gone into the car while intoxicated.

LAMP EXPLODES, DEATH FOLLOWS

TORONTO, Ont., May 25.—Mrs. Patrick Ryan was burned to death at St. Catharines this morning when a lamp exploded in her room. The explosion occurred when she was sitting at a table in a room when she heard a sputter at the sink. He went over to see what the matter. Just as he reached the sink he heard an exceedingly loud noise and he felt as if he was being attacked by about a thousand invisible battering rams, which were striking a shower of glass through the room.

CONFERENCE ON CHARITIES.

What promises to be the most important session yet held of the National Conference of Charities, will open at Buffalo on June 9th and continue until the 16th. This great organization is the outcome of a movement towards the systematization of charities which began some thirty-six years ago. It has no constitution nor laws; it is not committed to any programme or reform, nor does it devote itself to any one line of effort. It always has been, and the intention is that it always will be, purely a conference of men and women, who meet to exchange ideas as to the best methods by which the conditions of all social classes may be improved. In this conference there have been developed many movements of supreme importance. The campaign against tuberculosis had its origin in a meeting of this body held some years ago; the introduction of systematic teaching of hygiene in the public schools, the agitation against overcrowding of tenements, the playground movement and others of a similar nature, have grown out of suggestions advanced at this congress. The Board of Associated Charities of St. John, in common with those of Montreal, Toronto, and one or two other Canadian cities, is associated with the National conference, and while the work here has not reached anything like such an advanced stage as it has in the United States, still the local authorities find the advice and information received from the National body of considerable value in carrying on their work. The conference does not devote itself generally to the consideration of subjects brought up; it is rather composed of some seven or eight different groups each working along its independent line, but all following more or less closely the conclusions reached by each other. This year these groups will devote their attention to the treatment of defectives, to families and neighborhood health and sanitation, immigrants, law breakers, children, press and publicity, and other subjects. The conference on children will be the most important of all, and will include papers and addresses on such subjects as "Why children play truant?" "Child labor as a cause of family dependence." "Juvenile courts as an aid to good citizenship." "The duties of the state towards dependent and neglected children," and "Medical supervision of schools." The president of the conference this year is Mr. Ernest P. Bicknell, director of the National Red Cross, and one of the foremost philanthropists in America. Mr. Bicknell was sent from Chicago to St. John to supervise the work of the Red Cross following the earthquake, he being looked upon as one of the most prominent men in the republic engaged in the administration of relief. His address at the coming conference will deal with "Problems of relief growing out of great disasters."

THE DOMINION FAIR. Announcement is made that the federal grant of $200,000 for the Dominion Exhibition will come to St. John next year. Of this decision the directors of the local association will be officially notified within a few days. The proper expenditure of this money, in providing suitable grounds and buildings, and arranging for those features which go to make up a national exhibition, requires most careful consideration. At the best, the problem is a difficult one. The buildings and grounds are, in their present condition, unsuitable, and for the projected fair greater accommodation must be secured. Whether this can be done by the purchase of additional land in the vicinity of the Barracks square, or whether an entirely new site must be chosen, is a matter for close consideration. There are difficulties in the way no matter what is proposed, but it is felt that if any change is to be made it should be of such a nature as will permit the inclusion of a proper race-course within the fair grounds.

A NEW BRUNSWICK POET. Mr. Arthur L. Dyrart, a member of this year's graduating class at the U. N. B., has just had issued from the Globe press an attractively prepared volume of poems and lyrics. Mr. Dyrart is a native of Cocaine and has been inclined to poetry since his boyhood. It is his intention to make a profession of literature, and this, his first introduction to the reading public is a fore-runner of more pretentious volumes which he hopes to issue later. The book contains some thirty odd compositions representing his work during the past ten or twelve years. They include verses in memory of deceased friends, incidents of school life, and reflections. All of the poems are creditable, some of them display evidence of an as yet undeveloped ability which through longer experience will produce verses stronger and more appealing. Mr. Dyrart's book will no doubt be read with interest by friends and others.

An unknown laborer, employed at Algonquin Park, proved himself a hero yesterday. A charge of dynamite with burning fuse, threatened the instant destruction of many lives. This man picked up the stick and threw it so far away that the explosion, which came within a second or two after it left his hand, injured no one excepting himself. The Victoria Cross has been given for less heroic deeds than this.

BEHIND THE PLOW.

Justly singing while my plow turns over The rich earth furrows, and my coarsened hand Grooves harter, labor-calloused, veins upthrown From flesh worn meager; and under cover Of its rough thatch my brooding brain alone

Some finer texture spun beneath the skin; A venture worn unconsciously for long, And, when discovered, marveled at; For so, perchance, where constant sunbeams enter in They weave a golden web—then hide it slow

With brown disfigurements, as if 'twere wrong A plowman harbored anything of light Within his sodden soul. Nay, from the sight

Of men and women I have hid my dreams, Wrought out in solemn dawn, in glorious days, In long sweet afternoons, reluctant eyes

Yes, and beneath some radiance of gleams, At midnight on the hills, when through the leaves The stars slipped softly down; and in Of lonely rapture I, who am a clod, Forget my earth-stains and commended with God.

And when on deep horizons I have gazed, Resting my plow a moment, and a thrill From some far field of labor not of mine, My heavy hands have fallen—while a death

Saddened my home land, lying very still As if bereft of something gone afar— None dreamed the plowman's soul had reached a star.

Child of the soil am I—child of the soil; Upon the hills I sing when the last stars Die, blinded by the dawn; and to my toil I go forth singing. When the molten haze

Rend the wide heavens, fearless in my bliss I kneel, head bared. A rugged plowman I; Child of the earth, but lover of the sky.

THE SOUL OF THE SASKATCHEWAN. The life blood of old Egypt courses with the muddy Nile, The Caspian slugs with his faith in men who guard the empty street; The peace of many nations rests behind a thing red fire.

But the soul of the Saskatchewan's a little grain of wheat. The thin red line may rot where but lately it salmaged. The sentinel may slumber and the mob possess the street; Old Egypt may know famine and die down at the feet of man.

What our burdens, thine and mine? We bear them not, where all can read, They are our secrets, hidden close; No prying eye can know our need, No meddling stranger interpose, But there they are, where God's eyes shine

"PLEASE DON'T HANG THE MAN WHO KILLED PAPA," PLEAD CHILDREN

JOHN O'NEILL, Confessor murderer. MARGARET MACKENNEY, With Her Youngest Sister. ROBERT MACKENNEY, Dead Policeman.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Please don't hang the man who killed our father. This is, in effect, the petition sent to the state authorities by the seven children of Patrolman Robt. Mackenney, whom Jas. O'Neill, now confined at Joliet for burglary, has confessed he killed.

The killing occurred two years ago when burglars broke into the house of Jas. Walsh, on Indiana avenue. Walsh was shot dead as he tried to stop the housebreakers, and Mackenney, passing the house, met the same fate as he rushed to the rescue. The double killing has always been a mystery. The best Chicago detectives have worked on it. Recently Capt. O'Brien got evidence to connect O'Neill, then on a 15-year sentence on another charge, with it. He went to the penitentiary, sweated O'Neill, and obtained a confession.

When Mackenney died, he left seven bright children alone in the world with only the police pension to live on. The older children went to work. Now that the case is being brought up again, they don't want to see any one else die on account of it.

"There has been so much suffering and trouble in our family and by the Walshes over it," said Margaret, the oldest daughter, "we can't bear to think of any more coming. It's all right to keep O'Neill in prison, if he's guilty, but we don't want to see him hanged."

BOSTON, Mass., May 25.—Unless a further appeal is taken, Mrs. Eva Ingersoll, of DeWitts Ferry, N. Y., widow of the late Robert G. Ingersoll, will secure $138,000 and interest from the estate of Andrew C. The litigation over the Davis estate extends back nearly twenty years.

YOUTH WHO SLEW SISTER'S SUITOR IS FOUND DEAD. Irvin C. Carter, Charged With Murder of Thomas Bagby, Thought to be a Suicide.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 25.—Irvin C. Carter, who shot and killed Thomas Bagby, the suitor of his sister Beulah, at the Carter home a year ago, was found dead with a bullet hole in his temple this morning. A revolver, all the chambers of which were loaded, was lying by his side. The boy's parents believe he took his own life. Young Carter was to have been tried for murder next month, and this fact, together with the attitude of the neighbors, who have refused to speak to him, it is believed, led him to kill himself. He had complained bitterly of the unfriendly feeling displayed toward him since the shooting of Bagby a year ago.

Without this label.

LEATHS. GREGG—At Westfield, N. B., on the 24th inst. Mrs. Catherine Gregg, in the eighty-ninth year of her age, died on Thursday, the 27th, at 8:43 a. m. from the residence of her son-in-law, Thomas Crawford.

Thomas Bagby, a son of a farmer living a few miles from the Carter home, was shot last June in the Carter yard at night. At first it was said that he was shot in mistake for a burglar, but this story was soon disproved.

GIRL TOLD STORY. It was shown that Bagby went to the Carter home in response to a note from Beulah. This note was never found. Beulah went on the witness stand at the preliminary hearing and told the story of her love for Bagby. She said they were engaged and that her mother found letters from Bagby which should have been destroyed. She then urged Bagby to keep his promise to marry her, but he refused.

George Harris, an uncle of the girl, testified to a family conference at which Bagby's death was decreed. He said Beulah, her father, mother and brother were present at this conference.

Irvin Carter was held to the grand jury without bail. His uncle was later arrested and was also charged with being a principal in the killing. Both of the accused men were released on bail after a few weeks.

Bagby was shot with a pistol and also a shotgun. Either wound would have been fatal and the state charged that both shots were not fired by the same man. It was on this theory that the uncle was arrested.

CARTER'S RELATIVES WITNESSES. Attorneys for Carter wanted to waive examination, but the state insisted on taking testimony. An appeal was made to the supreme court, which ordered that the examination be held. Nearly all of the witnesses were relatives of Carter, and the state was compelled to call on hostile witnesses.

One pathetic feature of the tragedy was revealed when numerous letters written by Beulah Carter to Bagby were read. The letters were full of tender sentiment and told the writer's love story simply and convincingly. The girl was only sixteen years old when her sweetheart was killed.

THIS REMARKABLE POET AND DUELLIST HURLS DEFIANCE TO THE STARS

There is a man in Italy who announces the death of Time and Space and defies the stars. He is a poet and editor, and his name is Marinetti. He is also a duellist of renown. Last week he fought two duels and now leads from Milan his pronouncement of the founding of the Society of Futurists; and we give his letter as written:—

- 1. I intend to glorify the love of danger, the custom of energy, the strength of daring.
2. The essential elements of our poetry will be courage, audacity, and revolt.
3. Literature having up to now glorified throughout immobility, ecstasy and slumber, we wish to exist the aggressive movements, the feverish insomnia, running, the perilous leap, the out and the blow.
4. We declare that the splendor of the world has been enriched with a new form of beauty, the beauty of speed. A race automobile adorned with great pipes like serpents with explosive breath—a race automobile which seems to rush over exploding powder to move, that is, the "Victory of Samothrace."
5. We will sing the praise of man holding the fire-rod of which the ideal steering-post traverses the earth impelled itself around the circuit of its own orbit.
6. The poet must spend himself with warmth, brilliancy and prodigality to augment the fervor of the primordial elements.
7. There is no more beauty except in struggle. No masterpiece without the stamp of aggressiveness. Poetry should be a violent assault against unknown forces to summon them to lie down at the feet of man.
8. We are on the extreme promontory of ages. Why look back since we must break down the mysterious doors of impossibility? Time and space died yesterday. We already live in the Absolute for we have already created the omnipresent eternal speed.
9. We will glorify war, the only true hygiene of the world—militarism, patriotism, the destructive gesture of anarchist, the beautiful ideas which kill, and the scorn of woman.
10. We will destroy museums, libraries, and fight against moralism, feminism, and all antiquarian cowardice.
11. We will sing the great masses agitated by work, pleasure or revolt; we will sing the multi-colored and polyphonic surf of revolutions in modern capitals; the nocturnal vibration of arsenals and docks beneath their glaring electric moons; greasy stations devouring smoking serpents; factories, and all that is new, that is modern, that is the future!

INCENDIARISTS! Therefore welcome the kindly incendiaries, the carbon fingers! Here they are! Here! Away and set fire to the bookshelves! Turn the canals and flood the vaults of museums! Oh! Let the glorious old pictures that admit! Seize pickaxe and hammer!

1885, obtained the $2,500,000 estate of her aunt, one of the Howlands, of New Bedford, Mass. The contents of the property were divided. One of these, now in possession of Finnell, is a reversion to the Howlands upon her death.

William Finnell, one of the wealthiest land owners of Northern California, will finance the fight on behalf of his wife, a social leader of Napa, and a descendant of the Howlands, and her sister, Mrs. William Leacock, of Napa. Others of the family planning the contest live in Oakland.

When Sylvia Anne Howland died in 1885 two wills were produced. One of these, now in possession of Finnell, bequeathed half of the estate to charities and a multitude of beneficiaries. The income from the remaining half was granted to Mrs. Hetty Green, with the proviso that the property go to the heirs of Mrs. Howland's grandfather, Gideon Howland, at Mrs. Green's death. The other will, propounded by Mrs. Green, gave her the whole estate outright.

After causing much New England excitement with her rejected and the other was admitted to probate. This is the will that the Naps heirs are now planning to contest. The prospective contestants assert that the $2,500,000 involved in the old Howland estate has multiplied wonderfully, and they will demand an account, counting when the latest is fairly under way, to ascertain just what proportion of Mrs. Green's $100,000,000 grew out of the bequest by the aged New England woman. They are going to put in a claim to all the increase.

GOT A SPOT LIKE THIS? WATCH OUT; IT'S LUPUS, WOLF OF TUBERCULOSIS!

Have you footprints of the wolf on your body? Not the wolf of poverty, but footprints of the "lupus," or the wolf of tuberculosis.

These footprints are found on the arms, hands, temples, forehead and by the sides of the nose. They are generally yellowish to brownish hue, about the size of a pin-head up to a half-dollar. They look scaly and chafy, and peel away under the finger nail as a whitish dandruff. The lupus is raised slightly above the surface of the skin, and has the appearance of rough ring of a cantaloupe.

Have you one or more? Do you realize that this "lupus" means that in your blood there is some taint of the "white plague," or consumption—that that you have consumption, but a taint of it.

The "lupus" does not always come on all bodies tainted with the disease, but the presence of the "lupus" is the warning wolf. If you have one, count back and see its origin.

To kill the "lupus" there is no other weapon half so sure as a daily onslaught with the invincible armament of a cantaloupe.

SCHOONER CREW HAD A LIVELY EXPERIENCE

Mainmast Swept Overboard and They Had to Take to the Boats.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., May 25.—The crew of the Machias, (Me.), schooner Alaska, bound from St. George, S. I., for Lubec, Me., with a cargo of coal, were landed here tonight by a Gloucester market schooner, the men having abandoned their vessel five miles southwest of Vineyard Sound, lightship at two o'clock this afternoon. While the schooner was endeavoring to enter Vineyard Sound in a heavy northeast gale, the mainmast, together with the head of the foremast and jibboom. The following wreckage endangered the lives of 11 men, B. C. McGuire and his crew, but the men escaped without serious injury and took to their boats. Half an hour later they were picked up by a fisherman.

One half hour after the schooner had been abandoned the Clyde Line steamer Onondaga, bound from Charleston for Boston, picked up the Alaska and towed her to this port, reaching here at 11 p. m. tonight. The Onondaga left her second mate and one man on the schooner and proceeded to Boston at midnight.

A TONIC FOR THE STOMACH

Wonderful Success of the Modern Method of Treating Even Obsolete Cases of Indigestion

The old-fashioned methods of treating stomach diseases are being discarded. The troubles with the old-fashioned methods was that when the treatment was stopped the trouble returned in an aggravated form.

The modern method of treating indigestion, catarrh of the stomach or chronic gastritis is to stop up the stomach and glands to do the normal work. Every step toward recovery is a step gained, not to be lost again. The recovery of the appetite, the disappearance of pain, the absence of gas—all are steps on the road to health. That those who have the tonic treatment remember distinctly.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic every constituent of which is helpful in building up the digestive organs and therefore are the very best remedy for chronic cases of stomach trouble. The success of the treatment is shown by hundreds of cures like the following—

Mrs. Wm. E. Dunn, Prince Dale, N. S., says:—"For upwards of seven years I was an almost continuous sufferer from stomach trouble, which was aggravated by obstinate constipation. Food was not only distasteful, but every mouthful I ate was painful. The trouble so affected my heart that at times I thought I could not live. I was constantly doctoring, but did not get the least relief. Indeed I was growing worse, and in the summer of 1897 had got so bad that I went to the city of Boston, where I spent some time under the care of a specialist. I returned home, however, no better, and was almost intolerable, and would sometimes cause me to drop. I got the best relief, which was again urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. How thankful I am now that I took her advice. My case was a severe one and did not yield readily, but once an improvement was noticed the cure progressed steadily and satisfactorily, and after the use of ten boxes of the Pills I was again a well woman. Every symptom of the trouble disappeared, and it is years since I enjoyed as good a feeling as I am doing now. All who knew me look upon my cure as almost a miracle, and I strongly urge all suffering from stomach trouble to give this medicine a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by medicine dealers or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DEMONSTRATION AT MONCTON LABOR DAY

MONCTON, N. B., May 25.—Labor organizations here are planning a monster demonstration for Labor Day, and committees are actively engaged in making necessary preparations.

Every labor organization in the city is co-operating in the movement and it is proposed to make it the biggest thing of the kind ever held in the province. The committee tonight visited on the Board of Trade and asked the co-operation of this body as well as the city council and all citizens in assisting in demonstrations. The proposal is to run the demonstration over two days at least, sports to include athletic events and horse racing. The Board of Trade appointed W. H. Edgett, Dr. C. A. Murray and E. J. Payson to confer with the labor representatives in reference to outlining a programme.

BILLIKEN, GOD OF GOOD CHEER; IS HE ONLY A FALSE GOD?

How Billiken's Optimist Club Grew to Hundreds of Thousands at $1 a Member, and the Strange Story of How It Drove Davy McKee Mad.

THE SMILING GOD BILLIKEN AND DAVY MCKEE.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 25.—Is Billiken a true god?

Yes, Billiken, the smiling little stone god of light and cheer and happiness and optimism and good fortune and smiles—Is Billiken a true god or a false?

Billiken's first American home was in Salt Lake City. Here the Optimist Club was formed with him as its presiding genius—a club which has swelled in two years from a membership of nothing to one of 200,000, including presidents and cabinet members and captains of industry.

"God reigns, the union still lives, and the sun shines, even though the clouds obscure it. Go but thy sorrow; the world has its share. Just Roosevelt and Carnegie and others who have endorsed his teachings."

"Billiken—Billiken—Billiken," he mutters, distraught.

The grotesque features of the little god he worshipped, but now cursed, gleamed at him from the shadows of the wall—grin and leer and rolie him in light and darkness.

Davy McKee is no weakling, no dreamer. He is an athlete, clear-minded, strongly-knit young man of 28, whose early training was hard work in the open.

He was at an age open to impressions when he met, several years ago, Wm. J. Robinson, of Salt Lake City, to become the head of the Optimist club movement. Robinson, magnetic, forceful, visiting the old country, talked to the boy, liked him.

When McKee came to America a few months ago, he found Robinson and the Optimist club. He attached himself to the organization with Celtic fervor. It was a great thing, a great power for helplessness and good rejoiced over every new convert. He became the most active and valuable worker on Robinson's New York staff. He was taken into the office to help direct things.

That brought the disillusion. Before, Billiken had been a religion. Now he saw it was only a business. Robinson had been forced to put the club on a financial basis. McKee saw a great organization, with tons of literature and a factory where figures of his god were turned out by wholesale. He saw $200 a day coming into the Optimist club's cash register, $1 apiece as dues from each new member.

New Davy McKee, in addition to being an enthusiastic, was religious. He had been active in Y. M. C. A. and church work in Ireland, and taught Sunday school. All of these were things which helped people, made them better, just as Billiken did.

But Billiken was a business proposition. Davy McKee's ideals were broken. He had had feet of clay. He was not worshipping a god, but was a clerk in a business office.

And Davy McKee's volatile mind could not get reconciled. And now his poor brain is filled with the gibberish of the god he loved, gibbering, mocking, torturing him.

THE NEW UNIQUE.

Those who have not as yet seen the New Unique have a surprise in store, as probably no one had the slightest idea that the Unique management proposed carrying out such extensive and extensive changes as those indicated by the up-to-date and cozy amusement house, with a seating capacity of over seven hundred and standing room for between four and five hundred additional.

A new balcony has been installed as per advertisements of the past few weeks, but it is only an item in the improved conditions, as from front to rear of the building everything is new, including staircases, electric lighting, chairs, (a new pattern and extremely comfortable), steel walls and ceiling, handsome mirrors, and probably the most attractive feature of all, a mammoth golden frame over two feet wide and enclosing a picture curtain no less than seventeen by fifteen feet. This great structure on the rear wall seems to complete the entire transformation and gives the New Unique an air of refinement and good taste that one only finds in the best amusement houses on the continent.

In the matter of front, the Unique probably takes precedence to any other business establishment in the city, as none are so well lighted, as two hundred and fifty electric are displayed on the exterior of the building while the interior is brilliantly lighted with the latest pattern of tungsten burner, each lamp containing eighty candle power.

Two important features of the New Unique is its absolute safety, both in construction and as applying to exits in case of accident, there being no less than eight of the latter which can be utilized to empty the building in mat-

$100 PRIZE OF HIS PROMOTION CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS ARE ON

MONTEAL, May 25.—The Royal Commission investigating civic affairs renewed sessions today, but nothing startling came out. It was shown that it was possible to get around the provision of the city charter providing that tenders should be called for all jobs over $1,000 by dividing the work into small sections. This was done in the case of the police gymnasium constructed in Bonsecours Market, with the result that much went to the friends of aldermen and the final cost was grossly excessive.

Detective Leboeuf also testified that he had been asked for $100 in order to secure his promotion. Quartermaster Holland, who was alleged agent, swore that Leboeuf's story was true. Leboeuf had offered him a gift of $25 which he had refused.

YOUNG MAN'S HEROIC ACT

TORONTO, May 25.—An act of heroism is reported from Algonquin park. Some twenty sticks of dynamite were being thrown out in adjoining cottages occupied by sectionmen, their wives and children. The sticks attached to one stick ignited. The men with one exception, decamped, calling to the inmates of the cottages to run. The woman, however, had not seen to understand, and one young sectionman, whose name has not been learned, ran back and seized the smouldering stick, ran with it for several paces and threw it from him. Just after it left his hand it exploded with terrific force in the air. The young man was knocked down by the concussion, but only stunned. His prompt act, however, probably saved several lives.

STORY CANNOT BE CONFIRMED.

BOSTON, May 25.—Confirmation of the story of the reported rescue of Mrs. Harry Barton from the wreck of the White Star liner Atlantic in 1872, could not be obtained here tonight. Barton is on board the tug Orion, which is towing the disabled schooner Thersites Wolf at St. John lumber boat to New York. The Barton family lived east Boston, but recently Mrs. Barton and children went to Maine for the summer.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PRINCESS TODAY.

Last night a record breaking crowd attended the Princess. The new orchestra made its first appearance and was a great success from start to finish. The orchestra will be in attendance every evening this week. Mr. and Mrs. Borgstrom, those grand opera stars, are making the biggest hit of the season. They are the finest heard here for a long time. Queen Dora in her sensational fire dance is certainly making good. Jack English, the hoof rolling marvel, is a great novelty. Today there is a change of pictures. Scenic comedy drama. Don't forget the orchestra at the evening performance. A word to the wise, be early.

TO HUNGARY FOR 50—TODAY.

NICKEL.

The Nickel picture feature for tonight and tomorrow is to be Pathé's Trip Through Hungary, showing the peasantry at work and at play, the lovely villages and fertile lands. In addition there will be a pretty magical picture, a well-acted drama and a ridiculous comedy, all of them of late issue and finely photographed. However, as is well-known, these are but the film features are extraordinary and attract large houses again last evening, despite the close proximity of the holiday, when the Nickel came very nearly doing record-breaking business. Mr. Lucien Kenney, the English entertainer, delighted his hearers again with his impersonation, mimicry, trick piano playing and songs. His rendering of Kipling's "Absent-Minded Beggar" brought down the house. Mr. Kenney is heard at 8:15 and 4:15 in the afternoon and 7:45, 8:45 and 9:45 in the evening. Miss Evans scored again in her song-hit, "When I Marry You," and the Talking Picture Co. made themselves favorites in "His Wife's Mother," a comedy of the irresistible class.

THE HAPPY HALF HOUR HAS AN EXCELLENT SHOW.

Yesterday delighted crowds were in attendance at the Happy Half Hour, and nothing but favorable comment was heard. As on Monday, Miss Louise Berlin and Signor Stasio were the recipients of great applause, and a number of our leading musicians and music lovers who were present were enthusiastic in the praise. One of our best known musicians and one whose opinion is worth having made the following comment to the manager: "I will give our music lovers an evening of two such excellent artists. In my opinion they are the two best stages I have ever seen here in years, and it is a great no music lover should miss." Asked for a comparison between Berlin and others who have been here, he said "There is none."

Today Signor Stasio and Miss Berlin will be heard in that beautiful and favorite duet from the prison scene in that charming opera Il Trovatore. This will give our music lovers a chance to hear this beautiful number sung as it has rarely if ever been sung before, and no one who delights in good music should miss it. New pictures will be shown for the first time in the city. The Burglar's Mistake is a splendid comedy made by the Biograph Company, whose pictures made such a hit at the H. H. H. last summer. There are two comedies, and a splendid show is promised.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—Because her toes were straight a young woman, still unknown to the police, escaped going to jail.

Geo. Schultz is a jealous husband. He found a man and a veiled woman on the street and accused them. "Veloc, figura, manner, walk, dress, everything about the woman corresponding to his wife, Schultz got excited and called a policeman.

"HER TOES STRAIGHT? NO WIFE OF MINE"

The woman protested. But she wouldn't lower her veil. "It's none of my business who I am," she told the sergeant, "but I'm sure I'm not his wife. Then Schultz proposed the test. "My wife's toes are crooked," he explained.

The lady in question said she'd rather bare her toes than her face. In the privacy of the lieutenant's room, she slipped out of Oxford and lisle hose. "It's not my wife," said Schultz, after one look.

THE SMILING GOD BILLIKEN AND DAVY MCKEE.

SYRIAN STUDENT LEADS GLASS AT BALTIMORE

Dr. Sawaya, Formerly of St. John, Has Had a Brilliant Course in Dentistry.

Dr. Farris S. Sawaya, from Mt. Lebanon, Syria, and for some time a resident of St. John, has graduated in dentistry from the University of Baltimore. He was honor man of the graduating class in the dental department of the university and was awarded the university medal for his excellent work both theoretically and practically. He also won the gold medal for collective gold fillings and two first honorable mentions.

Dr. Sawaya has led his class in all the studies every year. Last year he also won two gold medals, one for crown and bridge work, and the other for metal and plate work.

During his last year at the university Dr. Sawaya has secured a patent on a machine he invented pertaining to crown and bridge work in dentistry. This patent will be put on the market early in the fall.

Dr. Sawaya has been in the United States and Canada almost six years. He has found many difficulties in studying the English language but has fully mastered the language and graduated with high honors. He is coming to this city in June to practice with Edson M. Wilson, D. D. S.

NEW STREET SPRINKLING SYSTEM TESTED

Streets Watered by Fire Hose Attached to Hydrants—Worked Satisfactorily.

A new system of street sprinkling was tried this morning with excellent results on Mill and Pond streets. A length of fire hose with a sprinkler nozzle was attached to a hydrant and by use of it the whole street was thoroughly dampened. As it seemed to make this a regular feature of the street department. The new system will be used on the streets which have the heaviest traffic. The sprinkling will be done early in the morning and is expected to keep the dust down until at least twelve or one o'clock. It is not intended to do away with the watering carts but to supplement them.

CONTRACTORS WISH TO ESCAPE RESPONSIBILITY

Special Meeting of the Council Called for Friday Afternoon.

A special meeting of the common council will be held on Friday afternoon at three p. m. The chief business before the council will be the request made by Clarke & Patterson to whom the contract of rebuilding the Marsh bridge abutment was awarded. Under the terms of the contract the contractors are held liable for all damages arising while they are at work. They take the stand that as the city is relieved of liability they ought to escape also.

It is expected that the council will hold them to the terms of their contract and if they do not wish to go ahead with the work their deposit will be forfeited and new tenders will be called for.

The matter of the lease of the Francis Kerr Coal Co. will also come up at this meeting.

KERRIGAN WAS RELEASED TODAY

Promised That He Would Go On the Water Wagon

Cunningham, the Principal Witness in the Case, Had Disappeared—Civil Business Comes Next.

The criminal session of the County Court, held this morning, when His Honor Judge Forbes allowed Dominick Kerrigan his liberty on his own recognizance to appear for trial when the court sits for him. The principal crown witness, Joseph Cunningham, skipped out of town some time ago and the police have been unable to ascertain his whereabouts. Consequently Cunningham is indebted to His Majesty the King in the sum of two hundred dollars. On the motion of Attorney General Hazen the recognizance of Cunningham was excheated to the crown.

Kerrigan was arrested on April 7th last on the charge of stealing a check and a sum of money from Cunningham. Magistrate Ritchie sent him up for trial on April 25th and he has been confined in goal since his arrest. Kerrigan promised His Honor that he would wear a white ribbon for a long time to come, so he left court with an expired ticket for Chipman, $150 cash, and his liberty.

The post judge was then discharged and the court adjourned until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock when the following civil cases will be taken up in rotation:

Williams vs. Harding; deForest vs. Breen; and Sanford Mtg. Co. Ltd. vs. Stockton.

By consent of parties the case of Goldie and McCullough vs. Mfg. Co. vs. Isaac DeBoe, was placed from the jury to the non-jury docket. C. F. Inches appeared for the plaintiffs and W. D. Turner for the defendant.
