Serious Result of the United Irish League's "No Rent" Campaign-Talk of Taxing Foreign Grain Imports.

Chicago, Feb. 20 .- The Tribune today prints the following special cablegram from Pekin, China, under date of Feb.

A sensation was caused in diplomatic circles here today, when it became known that the United States, through Secretary of State Hay, had sent a note to the Russian and Chinese Governments following closely along the lines of the Anglo-Japanese treaty of Jan. 30. The note is interpreted as a distinct warning to both China and beries, pleaded guilty. Sentences in Russia that the United States will not | their cases were postponed until Satpermit the integrity of the empire to urday. be molested in favor of one nation to the detriment of another. The note practically indorses the English treaty with Japan, and says:

"An agreement whereby China gives clusive right or privilege of opening mines, establishing railroads, or in any ther way industrially developing Manchuria, can but be viewed with the gravest concern by the Government of he United States.

"It constitutes a monopoly which is a distinct breach of the stipulations of the treaties concluded between China and foreign powers, and thereby seriously affects the rights of American

"It restricts their rightful trade, exposing it to being discriminated against, interfered with or otherwise jeopardized, and strongly tends to permanently impairing China's sovereign rights in this part of the empire, while it seriously interferes with her ability to meet her international obligations. ers for similar equal extensive advantages elsewhere in the Chinese empire and the inevitable result must be complete wreck of the policy of absolute equality of treatment to all nations respecting trade, navigation and commerce within the empire's con-

"On the other hand, the attainment by one power of such exclusive privileges for the commercial organiza-tions of its nationality conflicts with the assurances repeatedly conveyed to this government by the imperial Russian ministry of foreign affairs of the imperial government's intention to follow the policy of the open door, as advocated by the government of the United States and accepted by all the treaty powers having commercial interests in the empire. "It is for these reasons that the government of the United States now as in the incipient revolution. The marformerly, animated by the sincerest desire of insuring to the whole world, the benefits of full and fair intercourse between China and the nations on a footing of equal rights and advantages to all, submits the above to the earnest consideration of the imperial government's of China and Russia, confident that they will give due weight to its importance, and that they will adopt such measures as will relieve just and natural anxiety of the #### United States." A NEW DEPARTURE.

Pekin, Feb. 20.-The dowager empress, on Feb. 23, will receive in audience Sir Robert Hart, director of the imperial maritime customs; Bishop Favier, the Catholic vicar apostolic in China, and M. Pokotileff, manager of the Russo-Chinese Bank. This will be the first audience ever granted to forgigners who are not members of the iplomatic corps or of special missions. Chang Chih Yung and Liu King Yi, the reform leaders, are coming to Pekin to consult with the dowager empress. Yuan Shi Kai, the governor of Chi Li, has memorialized the throne for a pardon for the reformers who advised the emperor to sign the edicts of 1898, which caused the coup de etat. * MISS STONE'S CASE.

The United States state department's advices concerning Miss Stone indicate that the Paris publication to the effect that she has been set at liberty is, to say the least, premature. It is gathered, however, from the reports of the United States diplomatic agents that the woman is likely to be released very soon, and that the delay is explained by the requirement of the brigands that they be given ample opportunity to insure their own safety.

A DOUBTFUL RUMOR. London, Feb. 20.-It is rumored here that the chancellor of the ex-chequer has decided to tax foreign grain imports, the colonies being ex-

THE WELSH IN PATAGONIA. The suggestion offered by Mr Chamberlain to the deputation which awaited on him on behalf of the Welsh settlers in Patagonia, viz., to inaugurate a public subscription in order to raise a fund sufficient to hire a transport to convey the settlers to Canada, where the Dominion Government would assist them with land and building materwas acted upon, the colonial secretary contributing £20. SUBSTANTIAL ASSISTANCE. After the luncheon, given by the chairman of the delegation, Sir John Llewelyn, it was announced that £1,-500 had already been subscribed. There are, it is said, over 1,500 Welsh settlers in Patagonia, and continued reverses good joke. The debate closed with the withdrawal by Mr. Bourassa of his of crops have induced them to appeal for assistance. It is understood reach their destination, that Lord Strathcona was unfavorable to striking the imperial govern-ment for either a transport or financial assistance to aid the Welsh settlers to remove from Patagonian to Canada. The Daily Chronicle today says: "Surely the Canadian Government might advance the money required, and take the chance of being repaid at a future date." THE "NO RENT" CAMPAIGN Twenty farms on Lord De Freyne's setate, in Roscommon county, were sold by the sheriff yesterday, the tenants having refused to pay rent. A large number of other "clearance sales" are pending as the result of the "no rent campaign" now being carried on by the United Irish League. BIG LINERS RACING. London, Feb. 20.-The Daily Mail asserts that the Cunard Line steamer Campania and the American liner St. Louis are racing the North German Lloyd steamer Kron Prinz Wilhelm, with Prince Henry on board, in an international contest to New York.

The Campania left Queenstown Feb. 16 at 6:45 p.m. The St. Louis left Cherbourg Feb. 15 at 5:25 p.m., while the Kron Prinz Wilhelm sailed from the same port at 9 p.m., of Feb. 16. To equal their best previous westward records, the Campania should arrive at Sandy Hook light ship at 11:16 p.m., of Feb. 21. The St. Louis should arrive at 2:20 a.m., Feb. 22, while the Kronz Prinz Wilhelm should reach the lightship at 7:45 a.m., Feb. 22. CABLE NOTES.

LIBERAL LEADER'S POSITION. London, Feb. 20 .- If any question remained as to the likelihood of a workany corporation or company the ex- ing agreement between Lord Rosebery and the Liberal party machine, it was answered in the negative last night in an address delivered by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader in the House of Commons, at Leicester. Sir Henry said flatly that he declined to wipe from his slate the Liberal principles and strongly reaffirmed his adhesion to home rule.

when the combined festivals of the jubilee and coronation will be observed, today was marked by the singing of a Te Deum in St. Peter's, and other observances. The pontiff, who was the recipient of congratulations from all sides, remarked to one well-wisher that his jubilee was brightened by the resignation yesterday of Count Giusso, the minister of public works, "who left the government rather than approve of the divorce bill, which the church holds hurtful to family morality and concord." Rome, Feb. 20.-King Victor Emanuel opened parliament today with considerable ceremonial. In the speech from the throne he referred to the tranquilizing effect on the country of the government's liberal policy and to the excellent relations existing between Italy and all the powers.

Among the bills announced for introduction were measures providing for divorce and a reduction in the price of salt. 32 PERSONS DISENTOMBED.

Though the Boers Are Not Yet Cooped Up.

Kitchener's Blockhouse System Overcomes Difficulties of Distance.

Statement of British Casualties Since the South African Campaign Begun-Advice to Kruger.

London, Feb. 20 .- A dispatch to the Times from Bank Kop, in the Eastern Transvaal, says the Boers are very timid, keeping on the alert and beyond striking distance of the British. The condition of the prisoners | indicates much distress among the burghers. Lord Kitchener's gradual extension of the system of blockhouses is overcoming the difficulties of distance. The Boers are not yet cooped up, but their movements are restricted. The line is now extended to Bank Kop, twenty miles nearer the Swaziland border than the Ermelo Depot, from which the columns formerly operated. Bank Kop is easily provisioned and ADVICE FOR KRUGER. A dispatch to the London Times from Rome says the Tribune publishes an open letter to Mr. Kruger, and urges him to borrow from history an indication of his duty toward his country. The paper advises Kruger to sue for peace, since it is evident that the Transvaal no longer exists except as a geographical term.

CASUALTIES SINCE WAR BEGAN. An official report issued today shows that of the 388,749 men raised for the South African war until Jan. 1, 1902, 5,201 have been killed, 20,937 wounded, and 13,733 have died from wounds and sickness. At present, the report states, the South African force is 237,800 men. BETTER TERMS FOR BOERS.

At the annual meeting of the general committee of the National Liberal Federation, held at Leicester, after considerable dissent and an animated debate, a resolution was passed condemning the policy of insisting on the South Africa could only be secured by regular peace, on broad, generous lines, welcoming the impetus Lord Rosebery has given to this policy, and calling on all Liberal members of the House of Commons to support the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Ban-nerman, in his advocacy of this policy.

Dismissed by President Roosevelt, Who Sustains Ruling of the Court.

Washington, Feb. 20 .- The president has made public his opinion regarding Admiral Schley's case. He acknowledges receipts of Schley's appeal, and says that having gone carefully over all the evidence and statements of counsel on both sides and examined losses were made in additional stocks. all the official reports bearing on the case and seen four surviving captains of five ships, he is "satisfied that on the whole the court did substantial justice." The president concludes his review of the case in these words: "In short as regards Admirals Sampson and Schley, I find that President McKinley did absolute justice, and versing his action. Both admirals are now on the retired list. "In concluding their report the members of court of inquiry, Admirals Dewey, Benham and Ramsay unite in stating that they recommend that no further action be had in the matter. With this recommendation I most heartily concur. There is no excuse whatever on either side for any further agitation of this unhappy con-troversy. To keep it alive would merely do damage to the navy and to that there will be no warrant for re-an Affair at Klipdam-Those Who Were Captured Have Been Released.

London, Feb. 20 .- A detachment of the Scots Grays, one of Great Britain's crack dragoon regiments, has been cut up by the Boers at Klipdam. Major C. W. M. Feilden and Capt. E. Usher were severely wounded, two men were killed, six wounded and 46 captured. The news was received today from Lord Kitchener in a dispatch dated from Pretoria, Feb. 19. The Scots Grays formed part of Gen. Gilbert Hamilton's column. The latter, while moving on Nigel on Feb. 18, engaged a force of Boers at Klipdam. The Scots Grays became detached, were surrounded, and were cut off. Gen. Hamilton was unable to dislodge the Boers from their position, so he continued his march towards Ni-

STIR IN WALL STREET

Occasioned by President Roosevelt's Instructions Re Northern Securities Company.

New York, Feb. 20.-There was a sensational flurry in the stock market this morning which proved how disagreeable a surprise President Roosevelt had given the speculative world by his instructions to the attorneygeneral to begin proceedings to test the legality of the formation of the Northern Securities Company. The stocks of the trans-continental rail-ways bore the chief brunt of the process of unloading stocks, as they are most immediately concerned in the project represented by the formation of the company. Great Northern preferred is the only stock still listed on the exchange which is immediately involved in the company, and the first sale of that was 51/2 lower than last night. U. P. ## EXTRAORDINARY MERIT

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

Physicians are slow to take up new ntried remedies, until their value has been established by actual experiment, and they are naturally skeptical of the many new preparations constantly ap-pearing and for which extravagant most liberal and enlightened hysicians are always ready, however, to make a fair trial of any new specific and get at its true medical value.

A new preparation for the cure of catarrh has attracted much attention in the past few months and has met with great favor from the medical profession not only because it is remarkably successful in the cure of catarrh but also because it is not a secret patent medicine; anyone using it knows just what he is taking into his sys-

It is composed of blood root which acts on the blood and mucous membrane, hydrastin for same purpose to clear the mucus from head and throat and red gum of eucalyptus tree to de-stroy catarrhal germs in the blood. All of these antiseptic remedies are combined in the form of a pleasant-tasting tablet or lozenge, and are sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and many recent tests in chronic catarrh cases have estab-lished its merit beyond question. Dr. Sebring states that he has discarded inhalers, sprays and washes and depends entirely upon Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in treating nasal ca-tarrh. He says: "I have had patients who had lost the sense of smell entirely, and whose hearing was also impaired from nasal catarrh, recover completely after a few weeks' use of Stu-art's Catarrh Tablets. I have been equally successful with the remedy in catarrh of the throat and catarrh of stomach. I can only explain it on the principle that eatarrh is a constitutional disease, and that the antiseptic properties in these tablets drives the catarrhal poison completely out of the Dr. Odell says: "I have cured many cases of catarrh of stomach in past four months by the use of Stuart's Caany other remedy and without dieting.

VERY RICH FIND OF GOLD AND COPPER

In Rhodesia and on French Ivory Coast-The Cape-to-Cairo Road.

London, Feb. 20 .- Reports from two experts have been received in London from different parts of Africa, which, if borne out later by developments, are likely to have an important influence on the world's gold and copper supply. One of the reports comes from Assinie, on the French ivory coast, and says that the French ivory coast, and says that a reef of gold quartz, eight feet wide, and panning from two to eight ounces, has been opened up on the ivory coast. From North Rhodesia, the British Chartered South Africa Company has received news of the discovery of a copper field, estimated at 40 square miles. The field is situated 150 miles north of Victoria Falls, and runs thence to the Congo Free State. In the ancient mines reopened by engineers in the employ of reopened by engineers in the employ of the Chartered Company, copper assaying 44 per cent is now being secured, besides

So much importance does the Chartered Company attach to this discovery, that the Cape-to-Cairo Railroad will be diverted in order to pass through the copper field. Work on this section of the road has been ordered accelerated, and it is expected that it will be campleted early in 1902.

COUNTY JUDGES

New Legislation to Supplement the Existing Law

Will Be Introduced at This Session-The Address Passed by the Senate.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Some interesting ministerial announcements were made during "question time" in the House this afternoon. One of these was the premier's statement that the government does not intend disallowing the Ontario act extending the life of the of every family. Provincial Legislature, because the matter is a domestic one, purely within the purview of the province. The minister of justice intimated that legislation would be introduced this session to supplement the existing law with respect to the compulsory retirement of county judges who have reached the age of 75 years. The case of judges in the High Court of Ontario and the Supreme Court had not yet been considered. The minister of railways informed the house that he hoped to be able to make an early statement in regard to the appointment of a railway

MR. BOURASSA'S MOTIONS. Mr. Bourassa moved for papers treating on the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty and the Alaskan boundary question, but was asked by the premier to withdraw the motion in view of the fact that negotiations on the latter subject had not been con-cluded. Instead of complying at once with the request, however, Mr. Bourassa entered upon a discussion of the British Government's course, and expressed the fear that the imperial authorities had sacrificed Canadian interests in the boundary matter in order to maintain amicable relations with the United States. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, said that surely there was no desire for Great Britain to go to war with the United States if negotiations were unduly prolonged in a matter of long-standing difficulty. He was quite sure that Mr. Bourassa would be the last man to suggest that the British authorities should emulate Mr. Kruger and send an ultimatum to the United States. The house would agree that it would be better to wait for a few months, or it might be one or two years, and try to secure a peaceful solution of the question. He hoped, however, that it might be possible for him to make a statement before the session closed. Mr. Borden agreed with the premier as to the usages gov. on negotiations that were still in progress, but could not see any reason for delay in submitting to the house the documents in the Bulwer-Clayton matter now that it has been closed.

CHANGES IN THE CABINET. Just before adjournment Mr. R. L. Borden called the attention of the premier to the fact that he had again overlooked the matter of enlightening the house regarding recent changes in the cabinet, and whether those changes were likely to result in a change of the policy of the government. He also that a resolution be passed expressing the opinion of the house regarding the baseless charges that have been leveled against the British troops in South Africa, and assured the premier of the support of the op-*position for any reasonable resolution he might see fit to introduce.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that he would take an early opportunity of gratifying the most mischievous curlosity of Mr. Borden respecting changes in the cabinet, although he pointed out that the nature of the changes had not been such as, having regard to precedent, necessitated such explanation. With regard to the other matter mentioned by Mr. Borden, Sir Wilfrid pointed out that the custom in such cases was for the leader of the opposition to first consult the leader of the government privately before to retaliation as being in breach of bringing the matter up in the house. The house adjourned at 5 p.m. ADDRESSES TO THE SENATE. Hon. Mr. MacCallum resumed the debate on the address in the senate this afternoon. After speeches by Hon. Messrs. Casgrain, Perley, Clemow, Mc-Donald (C. B.), Robertson, Macdonald (P. E. I.) and Primrose, the address was agreed to without division, and the house adjourned at 5:30.

English Journal Hints at a Possible Solution of the Problem of Hostile Tariffs.

It is a somewhat remarkable fact in these days of closer British union that the colonies are not merely beginning to show that they are holding strong views on imperial questions, but they are prepared to express them even in advance of British opinion, says the Liverpool Morning Post. We have had several examples of this tendency of late, a striking instance being the views which Mr. Seddon has expressed about the colonial contingents for the South African war being rendered necessary by the action of the pro-Boer at home. Now an example even more valuable is afforded by certain utterances which come to us from over the sea on the question erning the production of papers bearing of fiscal union between the mother on negotiations that were still in progthe principle of mutual reciprocity and differential duties against foreign goods, in other words, on the basis of a Zollverein. We believe that there is a strong body of opinion in this country which favors that gigantic idea, even at the expense of sacrificing some of the Cobdenite traditions. But for the most part it is inaccurate, and probably somewhat inchoate. Most of politicians are superstitiously afraid of compromising themselves by appearing to cast even a shadow of a doubt on the free trade policy, and those who are bolder fall s attract the attention to which their views might properly entitle Matters being in this condition, it is hardly surprising to find that the col-onies are taking up the question, and that several of their leading politicians have been expressing with their nor-

The Patrick Murder Trial.

It is expected that a verdict will be reached about the middle of March in the Patrick murder trial. Albert T. Patrick, a New York lawyer, is on trial for the murder of a millionalre named William Marsh Rice, and days are being consumed with the evidence of handwriting experts. Evidently the judge as well as the jury are getting tired of it, for it is proposed to curtail the number to be called. The handwriting experts for the prosecution are giving evidence that Rice could not possibly have written the signature on the will made in 1900, which leaves over a million to Patrick, the accused. On the other hand, the experts for the defense are prepared to prove and give their reasons that Rice did make the disputed signature. It looks as if experts gave evidence and opinions favorable to the side by which they are employed.

Riches Hastily Acquired.

There are lessons to be learned from the career of Frank C. Andrews, of Detroit. Twelve years also he went to Detroit with nothing, and in ten years was believed to be a millionaire, and was vice-president of the City Savings Bank, with large financial interests in various enterprises.

He held the theory that a man could only become rich by speculation. Life was too short for the exercise of thrift. More money could be made by taking chances. He took them, and was reputed a millionaire at thirty.

But the acquisition of money apparently did not satisfy him. He plunged more heavily, and in six months lost all he had made in ten years, and in addition caused others to lose a million and a half more. He swindled the City Savings Bank out of $913,000, and six Detroit banks out of $662,000 more. He now says: "You may point young men to my experience as an example of the evils of speculation."

His time was wholly occupied with business. He pursued his object, that of gaining wealth rapidly, day and night. He had not time for friendly intercourse. He was a partner in one of the most extensive re estate firms in Detroit, that of Homer, Warren & Co. He did not live fast or extravagantly, did not drink or keep fast horses, was fond of his wife and home and family, and they as fond

His fault appears to have been that, having had almost uninterrupted success for over ten years, he did not dream that failure could come with much greater rapidity than success. In his successful days he had looked on it as a matter of course, that he would make money. He had the instinct. He is reported to have said a year ago: "I have nothing to sell and do not wish to buy anything. I have about all I want in this world, and will devote part of my surplus energies to helping others.

He thought he saw a chance to make another million in copper stock, and went in. It fell, and kept falling, and he kept buying as it fell. His fortune vanished. He tried to save his fall in other stocks, and fell lower. He borrowed all he could, and could not borrow sufficient to save himself. The story is a pathetic one. Judging by the reports, he is an able man, energetic, hard-working, and had no thought of meeting disaster himself, much less of bringing it upon others. Pathetic it is, but also an old story. He is not the first. The old reliable way is the best. The ablest man who speculates in stocks may fail. He might as well follow the race track. He could control the chances of the one as readily as the other. Russell Sage said he had seen 60 per cent of the reputedly rich men of Wall street fail. If so large a percentage of the rich fail, what chance has the ordinary speculator many miles away? When will a man stop? Andrews had all he wanted a year ago, but saw one chance, tried to take it, and slipped.

[The Independent.] He sought the old scenes with eager scenes he had known as a boy; for a draft of those fountains And a taste of that vanished joy." He roamed the fields, he mused by the streams,

Speaking of how best to promote the sobriety of Canada, perhaps an error to which many are liable is that of supposing you can safely divide opinions into only two camps-those who favor prohibition and those who do Opinion does not, in reality, divide quite so conveniently or precisely. Between those who favor prohibition, and those who do not, there may be twenty varieties of view. Even in the case of the two prohibition plebiscites that have been held in Ontario, it may be taken as certain that all who voted against prohibition were not opposed to temperance; and that many who voted for prohibition acted in that way because they "always voted on that side;" and yet would have been glad had there been some intermediate form of question more nearly expressing their exact views. There were those who voted against prohibition not because they favored the liquor traffic, but because they disbelieved in the practicability of enforcing prohibition; and there were these who voted for prohibition, not because they thought ft the best nethod, but because they felt reluctant to even seem to vote against prohibition. If this is so, it may explain why prohibition, even when seemingly indorsed by large popular majorities, has been found ultimately to lack the e.uforcing power of a solid and genuine public opinion. This diversity of view on moral and religious questions is interestingly and even startlingly illustrated by the variety of denominational opinion in the Province of Ontario. We have been in a nd supplied with shelves for the books. the habit of speaking of the Catholic, Anglican, Presbyterian, Methodist and Saptist denominations, as if these and ne or two others comprised the divisions of religious opinion in Ontario. # THE ONTARIO

Of that stately pile of gray stone known as the Parliament Buildings of Canada, one of the most interesting features is the library. The parliamentary library contains over 200,000 volumes, which deal with almost every department of human knowledge: it is a library of libraries, containing as it does the ponderous tomes which constitute a source of information for the legislator and the historian, the philosopher and the scientist, as well works less weighty in the character of their contents for the general reader. The library is circular in shapehuge rotunda roofed over by a lofty dome. The roof is perforated by wincomes, tempered to suit the most delicate eyes. The book shelves extend to the height of three stories, which are reached by two flight of stairs. Located equidistantly from one another are eight facades tending towards the center like the spokes of a large wheel, but cut off without reaching the center. Each projection, which bears the coat of arms of one of the provinces, is symmetrically arranged. The dome-shaped roof is sky blue in color, while the shelves below are the na tural wood, oil-finished. A noteworthy feature in connection with the library is the uniformity in color that the books on the shelves present. is a book bindery in connection with the library, and that when a new book comest in, its cover, if necessary, is stripped off, and the volume is rebound in leather or half-leather to match the color of its confreres in whatever subject the new book may deal. Books are classified under the heading of particular subjects, for example, English literature, French literature, constitutional history, English law, and so on. The American card index is also used, whereby the names of various authors are printed on cards arranged in alphabetical order in cabinets. 'A person wishing to borrow a book goes to the cabinet, opens a drawer and examines the cards, until he comes to the name of the author and book he is after. He then takes down number and the section the name of author and book, also its the shelves in which it is to be found, and presents the slip of paper to the librarian, who procures him the book. On the ground floor, in the center, is a marble statue of Queen Victoria, in her younger day's. About the room are placed tables for reading and writing, reading. as well as cabinets, octagonal in form, which contain fairly complete collections of coins, medals and stamps. Within the precincts of the library a hushed stillness reigns; a sound of any kind would be sacreligious. If it would not be laying impious hands on this great fountain of accumulated knowledge, where the wayfarer in the fields of learning may repair to swell his scanty rills of thought, the writer would suggest a tile floor, which would diminish to a large extent the sounds occasioned while walking around the room. The floor, made up of several kinds of wood, arranged on a systematic plan into squares, presents a pleasing appearance, but lacks this one property-that of deadening

Joined in the library by a corridor, a few feet in length, is the parliamentary reading room, where nearly every newspaper published in the Dominion, from The Advertiser down and up, is to be found. The dailies are posted up as soon as they arrive each day, and the weeklies are to be found in their places each week. The system of classification is also carried on in the reading room. Each of the seven provinces is represented in separate sections, as well as the Northwest Territories.

LEGISLATURE

The New Member for Kingston Heard From.

Niagara Synod's Bill Passed-Inquiry Regarding Binder Twine-Bill to Amend Election Act Withdrawn.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Feb. 19.-Mr. C. J. B. Pense, the new member for Kingston, spoke in the legislature this afternoon for the first time in opposition to a bill empowering the Bishop of Niagara to appoint a commission of three persons to inquire into the disputes between clergymen and their congregations, and to remove the clergymen on the recommendation of two of them. Mr. Pense declared that it would be a most arbitrary enactment and would bear hardly on clergymen, as they would find it very difficult to secure new parishes when turned out.

Mr. Matheson agreed with Mr. Pense's tviews, but thought it rather late to raise objections as the bill was up for its third reading.

Mr. Carscallen, who introduced the measure, was willing to let it stand Upon inquiry it was found that there over, though he thought it strange that the government had not objected before. Hon. Mr. Harcourt differed from the previous speaker. He believed that the measure was in the interest of the clergy, as well as of the parishes. In his opinion, a clergyman who was not persona grata with all of his people would be better somewhere else. Lioreover no opposition had been offered to the measure before the committee, and it had been fully considered at the synod. Therefore, he thought it should

Mr. Whitney did not think that clergymen should be persona grata with their entire flock, but he agreed that it was too late to raise objec-

Hon. Mr. Gibson protested against Mr. Carscallen fastening the responsibility on the government self had pointed out at committee how very arbitrary the measure was. It affected only Episcopalians, however, and only a small district of them. Methodists, Presbyterians and Catholics would never have agreed to such an The bill was given its third

In answer to Mr. Kribs, Mr. Stratton said that the government had no intention of building additions to the Orillia Asylum for Idiots or the Belleville Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, or to build other asylums or institutions to accommodate the idiots and deaf mutes who are applying for admission into these institutions. RE BINDER TWINE.

Mr. Carscallen (Con., Hamilton East) asked if it was a fact that binder twine made at Plymouth, Mass., was being imported by the Central Prison authorities, or any person or contractor, and received at the Central Prison, relabeled and sold to farmers under the description of "Farmers'

Hon. Mr. Stratton replied that no twine had been imported by the government or the prison authorities, and the cost of the bag and halter he gave as about 35 cents.

The contractor was obliged to make four tons per day at the prison, and it might be he had failed to estimate the absolute amount required, and had imported some to meet the orders. As to that he was not able to say. He knew that the inspector required all twine sold to be of the quality of that made in the prison. Hon. Mr. Harcourt assured Mr. Matheson that no agreement had been entered into between the government, Messrs. Warwick Bros. & Rutter, and

G. N. Morang, permitting the last-named to publish school books. THE ELECTION ACT. In moving the second reading of his bill to amend the election act, Mr. John Lee, East Kent, asserted that railway men who were compelled to absent themselves from their municipalities on election day should be allowed to vote the day before or the day after the one on which the ballots were cast. The premier felt that the measure would shoulder a too great responsibility on the deputy returning officers.

Keeping the ballots over night might cause the officials some trouble The bill was withdrawn.

A second reading was not accorded Mr. A. Carscallen's measure to make the government bear the expense of the provincial elections. It involved a change in the revenue and could not therefore be entertained. Municipal ownership came in for quite a threshing out when Mr. Crawford (Con., Toronto West), moved a second reading for his amendment to the municipal act. The bill, which is intended to give Toronto certain privileges in the development and use of Niagara power, met with almost general opposition, as it takes the form of sectional legislation. Mr. Pattullo introduced a bill to amend the electric railway act. It provides that after a certain time lieutenant-governor in council may cause an inquiry to be made so as to ascertain the company's gross receipts, and when these, after deducting the working expenses, shall amount to a sum greater than ten per cent of the stock paid up, a reduction in tolls and fares shall be made, so that the probable net earnings shall not exceed ten per cent of the paid-up stock. The company, on the comple-tion of the railway, shall make a return to the government, showing in detail all sums of money expended on construction. The affidavits to 23company such return shall also show that all contracts were let to the lewest bidders or that none of the tenders were accepted for reasons to be stated in the affidavit. A return shall also be made showing the amount of the stocks and bonds issued by the company from time to time and the moneys received there-

Polling is set for March 27, and if the act is sustained it will become effective on June 1. The referendum will carry (1) if 45 per cent of those on the list vote in favor of the act, or (2) if 60 per cent of those on the voters' list vote, and 60 per cent of these vote in favor, or (3) if the vote falls below 60 per cent, a percentage of between 60 and 66% to be taken. ## Shoemaker's Backache.

The constant bending over that of necessity a shoemaker must do when at work comes hard on the back and hard on the kidneys. Backache, lame, weak and sore back are the bugbears of a shoemaker's existence. The kidneys get cramped and strained, are unable to filter the blood as they should—they tell of their disordered condition by making the back ache and pain. There isn't much use rubbing on liniments or sticking on plasters

when the prime cause of the ache lies in the kidneys. The remedy that is most effectual for "shoemaker's backache," as for all kinds of backache and kidney trouble, is Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

INTENSE PAIN.

Under the influence of the medicine all this quickly disappeared and I feel well again. One thing I wish to say, while they did the work finely, they were very gentle in action, no distress, no griping like other medicines, and I was able to work all the time. I can heartly recommend them to all who suffer from backache, kidney trouble or biliousness.' Price 50c. a box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZIMA PLECKER Co., Toronto.

DEPUTIES IN WITNESS BOX

Civic Election Investigation Resumed in Court.

Squire J. B. Smyth and Other Re turning Officers Give Evidence Under Oath.

The municipal election inquiry was proceeded with at the court house this morning, before Judge Edward Elliott. The morning session was devoted to the taking of evidence from various deputy returning officers and poll nesses had been summoned by Detectives Rider and Egelton, and most of them were in attendance. Those taking part in the inquiry were City Solicitor Meredith, Barristers McEvoy, Judd and Moore, Acting City Clerk Bell and Stenographer Coo. Detective Egelton was in charge of the ballot boxes in an adjoining room. Half a dozen spectators were present.

Squire J. B. Smythe, deputy returning officer at subdivision 1 of ward 1, was the first witness called. He identified the poll-book produced, and swore that to the best of his memory he had handed out 68 mayoralty ballots, while 73 were found in the box. He rejected six of them, two as having forged initials, both marked for Parnell, one uninitialed ballot marked for Beck, one ballot marked for two candidates, and two other ballots un-marked. He also believed seven other ballots to have had forged initials.

To Mr. McEvoy, Squire Smyth said that he had known cases where two ballots would be handed out by acci-dent and the voter would return one. The witness told Mr. Meredith that he was positive that he had given out no ballots that did not bear his sig-nature. W. F. Howell, deputy in No. 3, ward 1, was next called. His poll-book showed that 128 persons had voted, while 133 initialed ballots were found in the box, three of them apparently rejected because unmarked for any candidate. Witness could not remember rejecting any ballots, and could not see why he should do so. He would not, he said, have rejected the three unmarked ballots, because he considered that being unmarked, they were not ballots at all.

Witness told Mr. Meredith that on going home with his ballots on Saturday night he had opened his ballot box, taken out the ballots and initialed with pen and ink what he considered a quantity sufficient to supply all the voters in his division. Nobody but himself saw the ballots.

Witness could not explain to Mr. Meredith the discrepancy between the number of initialed ballots in the box and the number of voters on the poll-book.

Robert J. Southcott, who was deputy returning officer at No. 8, ward 1, swore that to the best of his knowledge the poll-book was properly kept. The poll-book showed 179 names as having voted for mayor while the fied statement of the city clerk showed a poll of 183. The poll clerk called witness' attention to the discrepancy between the number on the poll-book and the number of ballots, and on going over the ballots five were found uninitialed. He did not look for fictitious initials. Witness had no idea that there was going to be trouble in the way of sur-plus ballots. Witness did not open his box till the morning of the election, in the presence of the scrutineers. He did not give any ballots save to qualifled voters. Witness examined half a dozen ballots and pronounced that the initials were not his, still he hesitated to class them as forgeries. To Mr. McEvoy witness said he had received no ballots save those which City Clerk Kingston sent. He did not know that the city clerk recorded the number of ballots given him as 200. and if 231 were found in his box he must have received nine pads of 25 each from the city clerk. Witness said he was a member of South London Reform Club, but had not been present at a meeting for over a year. He was not present at a meeting when he and other persons were named to be deputies. Poll Clerk James McCormick, of the same division was called and corroborated in the main Mr. Southcott's James S. Shaw, deputy returning officer in the 9th subdivision of ward 1, followed Mr. McCormick. In his division were found 101 names on the pollbook, while 102 ballots were counted. Witness did not examine the ballots on election night to see if they bore his genuine initials. Witness, in his evidence, three ballots, which he said did not appear to bear his initials. To Mr. McEvoy, witness said h supposed he got 200 ballots, but by the number found in the box—227—he must have received 225.

Wm. Kennedy, who officiated in the 10th subdivision of ward 1, was next called. He said he had given his poll clerk, Harry Pope, instructions to check off the ballots cast opposite the names of voters. He did not know why the clerk did not do so. The names entered on the poll-book numbered 195. Witness identified all the ballots ounted as bearing his initials. uninitialed ballots were found which had been counted, one marked for Beck and the other for Parnell. plained the surplus of two ballots in the counted vote. Two other ballots were rejected, being marked with two crosses each. Harry Pope, polling clerk, said Mr. Kennedy instructed him to put down the name and addresses of each voter, but did not tell him to check off the ballots taken by each voter. Witness could not say from recollection how many had voted for mayor. At 1 p.m. the inquiry was adjourned for an hour.

The need of a building, complete in its appointments, consisting of large lecture Fitzgerald, of the board of sovereign room, boarding home, gymnasium, lunch room, etc., was presented by the general secretary and indorsed by further developing the work, and meeting the increasing need, felt in every department, in the limited space now at the association's disposal, was also commented upon and the conclusion reached that a new building was most necessary. It was stated that a building properly equipped, would, in the course of a year or two be self-sustaining, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa being cited as cases where such conditions now exist. Montreal, last year, after paying all expenses, had a surplus of $1,600, and Toronto a surplus of $2,532 58. Brantford with a populaion of only 18,000 had a building cost-with boarding home with a capacity of 32. After an examination of plans of proposed building and discussion of canvass now being made in the city it was unanimously decided to imme-diately prosecute the canvass as systematically as possible. Mr. W. E. Saunders has kindly consented to act as treasurer of the building fund, and the above-named gentlemen, with others, have consented to act as an advisory board. Already over $3,000 has been promised. A detailed statement of amounts received will shortly be sent to the daily papers.

The Work is Better Done bu DIAMOND DYES And at a Much Smaller Cost.

Some people still cling to the old but now exploded idea that garments and wool and cotton fabrics can only be well dyed when they are sent to the regular dye-house in the city. Such people should at once give the Diamond Dyes a trial, and they will quickly find that these great home coloring agents give brighter and more enduring colors at one-fourth the cost charged by the dye-house. He adds that there is no gas to be sent, as it is daily getting less and less, and expects that there will not even be any gas for Windsor people after this year.

CLUB. Newark, N. J., Feb. 18 .- Now that Manager Walter Burnham, of the local Eastern League club, has arrived in town for the season, the baseball lovers in the city are anxiously looking forward to the announcement of the personnel of the team that is to represent New Jersey's metropolis in Pat Powers' organization. Manager Burnham has sixteen players signed, but for reasons which he considers wise will not be at liberty for some time to give out the names of all those who are under contract. He is of the opinion hawever, that the team he will finally select will be a fast one, and fully capable of holding its own with the other clubs in the Eastern League. The outfield has been made up, and will consist of Charles Folsom in right, Jimmy Garry in center and Joe Schrall in left. All are left-handed batsmen, and are reputed to be fast in every department of the game. Folsom played for the last four years with Dartmouth College, from which team Crolius, played with the Boston National League team last season, also graduated. Garry was with Hartford last year, and Schrall made his reputation with Hamilton, in the Canadian League.

There is a well-known natural impulse that leads men to the scenes of their great disasters as well as to those of their great crimes. Thus it happened that, after having spent the greater part of the next day in aimlessly wandering about the streets, Felix, towards evening, found himself once more in front of the debris of the theater. Nor did he find himself there alone; for the impulse that had brought him thither had brought many of his companions in misfortune to the same spot. He conversed with several of them, and more than once had occasion to regret on their account—though not, as yet, for a moment on his own—that he had refused the charity that had been offered to him last night. The very few shillings that he had still about him were very soon his own no more; and he began to long for the purse that he had scorned. While talking with one of the most unfortunate of the victims of the fire, and thinking this very thought, he felt a slap upon his shoulder; and on looking around suddenly and rather angrily, saw the easily-remembered form of Barton himself, as fresh from his hearthrug as a child from its cradle.

"Why, man alive!" said the latter, "do you mean to say you've been standing on this very spot ever since yesterday?" There is a well-known natural impulse ing on this very spot ever since yesterday?"

Felix, wholly unversed in English types, and remembering the incident of the purse, not unnaturally took Barton for some eccentric millionaire. It is true that the man was shabby in appearance; but then there is nothing incompatible in general scadings, with millionaries. in general seediness with millionairism-rather the other way. If a man is par-ticularly well dressed, it is far more likely that he carries his capital upon his back than when, by carelessness about dress, he implies that he has no about dress, he implies that he has no need to cultivate personal appearance. So he made him a polite answer, and, in the course of a conversation that followed, took occasion to explain to him the case of his companion. In a trice, Barton's hand was in his pocket, which, it will be remembered, contained just ten guineas besides the contents of Mark Warden's purse. In another second it was as empty as when he left Shoe Lare. The unfortunate scene-shifter stared at the gift, as well he might; but, not having the same scruples as but, not having the same scruples as Felix, did not for a moment refuse it. He was about to express his gratitude when Barton interrupted him.

when Barton interrupted him.
"Hang you!" he said, fiercely, "if you say a word I'll pitch you among the bricks! Come," to Felix, "come and drink. That infernal prig, Warden, made me mix my liquors last night. A bad habit, that; it makes one so dry in the morning. What shall it be? The customary small beer? Or what do you favor on such occasions? I myself always take a hair of the dog." So saying he took Felix by the arm and led him to a bar close by to which the fire had brought a considerable increase of custom. rton asked for brandy, and made his companion have some also, whether he would or no. Then he had some more. Then he entered into general conmore. Then he entered into general conversation with the other customers, and treated them liberally, never forgetting himself. At last he put his hand, into his pocket in order to pay.

"By the daughters of Danaus!" he said to Felix, "cleaned out again! Just lend me half a crown, will you!"

Felix felt in his, also, but he knew beforehand that the search would be vain, so it proved.

It was luck for Feltx that he was quick at guessing, for Barton's English was not well suited to unpractised foreign ears. "I know no place," he answered.

"I thought every fiddler got tick as a matter of course—as drunk as a fiddler, you know, all over the world; that's because a fiddler can get his liquor for a tune, and can drink all day long if he likes for nothing. But, as you don't know any place, we must use our wits, that's all. One can't stand here for ever. Talking of standing, a good thought! Let's take to the road."

"To the road?" asked Felix, puzzled. "Yes; cry "Stand and deliver!—gentlemen in distress, you know—ha, ha, hat Claude Duval was your countryman, wasn't he? Any way, Turpin was mine—and a namesake, too ,by the way. Which shall it be—Hounslow or the Scrubbs? Anyhow, we shall be safe, whichever way we go. Cantabit vacuus corant latrone viator."

Certainly if Felix had at first fancied that he had found a millionaire, he was sufficiently undeceived. But his heart also was apt to warm to an empty pocket; it certainly warmed towards one who had shown himself so free-handed when his pocket had been full.

"I am myself without a con-without "I am myself without a sou—without a penny," he sald, "and I do not know how to get one. And I must leave my lodging; my landlady will need to be paid. But I have yet a piece of bread in the cupboard, and perhaps part of a sausage—"

"Well, you are a good fellow, though you do call yourself a gentleman! I consent. I'll eat half your bread and a quarter of your sausage; for needs must when the devil drives. And then, why, we'll go forth and conquer or die, like brothers in arms. What else have you got besides the bread and sausage?"
"Nothing." sausage Nothing.'

"I don't mean to eat, you know. A watch, for instance?"

"Nor I. Furniture?" "Nor I. Books? No? No, 1, bar my old Horace—but that's to be buried with me. But, man, you must have something. Everybody has something. How many shirts have you?"
Felix stared considerably, and colored also—for his wardrobe was by no means extensive. "How many shirts?" he repeated.

"Yes, how many shirts—more than one, mean? Two?"
"I have two."
"Bene! One more than I have. Good

"Nearly new."
"Then, Optime! My one is not, by any manner of means. What else have you?"

"Not worth a straw."

"A hat—"
"Not worth two straws. Hats never are. Well?"

"A valise—"

"That'll do!"
"And that's all."
"And your violin? Ah I forgot. That fire last night was like Mantua—nimium

Where do you live?" Where do you live?"

The question was a breach of the etiquette that considerately treats as a sacred mystery the dwelling-place of a man who has confessed himself to be without what is even more necessary than a dwelling-place. But Felix answered the same of the same o swered it.

"Come, then. Let us first consume the bread and sausage. What luxury! to keep two whole shirts all at once. Lead on. I am ready for that bread and sausage. Well, well, such is life-grilled bones and port last night, today a mouthful of sausage and-porter. Positive yesterday, comparative today, perhaps tomorrow superlative—who knows? "I am afraid it does not, though. Hockey, as Played Today, Scientific and Fast.

United States Clubs Have Not Yes Reached the Canadian Standard of Passing.

"While I have been an admirer of hockey for several years, it must be admitted that the increased interest in this lively game has surprised even the most ardent enthusiasts," writes George E. Stackhouse in Leslie's Week-The University of Pennsylvania already realizes she made a mistake when it was decided not to place a team in the intercollegiate championship race this winter. Pennsylvania was snowed under last year and finished last, which probably accounts for the absence of a Pennsylvania team in the present struggle. I would not be surprised if Cornell as well as Pennsylvania applied for a place in the schedule next winter.

"Hockey, as played today, is probably the fastest game in the country. Veteran enthusiasts of other sports, who have watched hockey closely during the present winter, will admit that it is a fast, scientific and spirited game, better in every way than its predecessors, shinney and roller polo. The greatest strides made in the game during the last two years have been in team work and in interference. While it is necessary to be a fast skater to be a good hockey player, few of the speed experts ever made good players. To be successful, a man must have endurance as well as speed, must knocks and plenty of them. It is anything but a parlor game,

CHILL WINDS

Are the dread of those whose lungs are "weak." Some fortunate people can follow the summer as it goes southward, and escape the cold blasts of winter and the chill airs of spring. But for the majority of people this is impossible.

"Weak" lungs are made strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the obstinate cough, heals the inflamed tissues, stops the hemorrhage, and restores the lost flesh to the emaiated body. "I am a railroad stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep seated. Doctors failed to reach my ease and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend also advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking about four bottles my cough was entirely gone. I have found no necessity for seeking another climate."

Recommends Radical Change in System of Taxation.

Abolition of Tax on Personal Property Proposed—Real Property To Be Assessed at Actual Value.

Toronto, Feb. 19 .- The report of the Ontario Assessment Commission was laid on the table this evening by the provincial secretary. The most radical recommendation of the commission is the abolition of the personal property tax and the substitution of a business tax, a tax on professions and callings and a house tax. The following are the conclusions of the comission: 1. That real property be assessed at its actual value, including mineral lands, and the real property of all corporations. That the right of use by any person of highways or other public places, in addition to the structures thereon, be assessed at actual value.

2. That the assessment and taxation of personal property other than income be abolished.

3. That in lieu of the tax on per-Second race, selling, I mile and 70 3. That in lieu of the tax on per-yards—Meme. Wastell, 92 (Boyd), 9 to sonal property the following method

(a) Tax all persons (with some exceptions in the case of certain corporations) with reference to their inome (subject to a suitable exemption), in most cases indirectly, but in some cases directly upon income.

Where a person's income is derived from trade, manufacture or financial or commercial business (private bankers and brokers excepted), in cities towns and villages, tax the person by reference to the rental value of the premises occupied for the purpose of his business, instead of directly upon income. (c) In the case of persons following other callings (including private bankers and brokers) exempt income up to where income is more than $1,000, but not more than $4,000, tax the person by reference to the rental value of the premises occupied for the purpose of his business or occupation, instead of directly upon income. (d) Where the income of such a person is more than $4,000, tax him by reference to the rental value of the premises occupied for the purpose of his business or ocupation, in lieu of assessing his income up to $4,000, and tax him directly upon any additional income above $4,000.

(e) In the case of persons having income derived from investments and the like and not from their business or calling, tax them directly upon such income (subject to exceptions). 4. Impose in cities, towns and villages, as a supplementary tax, a tax on all owners and occupiers of houses (meaning by that term buildings used as dwelling places) by assessing them for the rental value of the house, subject to a deduction by way of exemption, graded according to the populahappiness. Stated shortly, the result of the above recommendations would be that (a) in cities, towns and villages every person in commercial and financial business (private bankers and brokers excepted), and (b) every other person whose income is not more than $4,000, would be taxed on the rental value of his business premises, and of his residence; (e) that persons having no calling would be taxed on their income subject to exemptions) and on the rental value of their residence, and that (d) persons (including private bankers and brokers) following callings not commercial or financial, and rental value of their dwelling places and places of business and directly on their income above $4,000. (5) That a provincial board be appointed for the assessment of the and of railway companies, the income of express companies and the "special Co., Toronto.

that the machinery of merchants and

TWO SCHOOLMATES

Bridegroom 17 and Bride 14-Bride's Mother Aids the Young Couple.

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 20. - An elopement, in which the bride's mother figured as the promoter, and which united in marriage Albert Stratton, 17 years of age, and Etta Walker, 14 years, is causing a sensation here.

The parents of the boy are wealthy people, and he has been attending school. One of his schoolmates was Etta Walker, to whom he paid the usual attention a schoolboy tenders his best girl. Nothing was thought of the matter until Stratton suggested to his father that he might some day get married. Then he was told that his attentions to the Walker girl must case at once. The couple decided to get married, irrespective of the wishes of the groom's parents.

The girl thought an elopement would be romantic, and with young Stratton, accompanied by Mrs. Walker, the trio went to the residence of Rev. John MacLachlan, a leading Presbyterian minister of this city, who married them. Mrs. Walker says she did not attempt to conceal their ages, but gave the true dates. The school authorities declare that the bride, being under 16, must attend school under the compulsory education law, until she reaches

The Danger of Low Vitality

Severe Colds, Pneumonia, Consumption, Find Easy Victims in Persons Whose Health is in Poor Condition - Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

At no season of the year is a low condition of health more likely to lead to serious results than at the present time. With vitality running low, the blood thin and nerves exhausted, one is made susceptible to colds and catarrhs on the slightest exposure. Gradually a persistent cough, hawking and spitting, is established, and severe cold is accompanied by chills, fevers, pains in the chest, and sometimes spitting of blood.

This is the short and deadly road that leads to pneumonia, consumption and other deadly lung troubles, and the only sure method of avoiding them is to keep the general health just as near to the high-water mark as pos sible all the time. It is because of its remarkable influence as a systembuilder that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has come to be so universally used as a means of increasing vitality and raising the standard of health.

There is no lesson which experience more strongly emphasizes than the importance of keeping the body plied with health-giving vitality. When a weakened, run-down system is attacked by pneumonia. consumption, or even a heavy cold, there is small chance of ever shaking it off. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food instills into the blood the most potent blood-forming and nerve-invigorating elements which have ever been found in nature. You cannot possibly help but be benefited by this preparation, and even in longstanding cases of extreme debility and prostration there is good hope for recovery by the persistent use of this great food cure. It is not wise to neglect the health at any time. Do not wait until you are completely exhausted and worn out before appealing to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Build up the system while yet there is some foundation to build on. Put new, rich blood in the shriveled arteries, new vital energy into the nerves, and add firm flesh and solid muscles to the body, in order that in the day of trial, when attacked by disease, there may be some chance for fighting the great foe to human

DEATH OF AN AGED WESTMINSTER PIONEER

William Hair Passes Away at the Advanced Age of 73.

St. Thomas, Feb. 19.—One of the oldest residents of Westminster and Yarmouth, and a man held in the highest esteem and respect by all, passed away this morning in the person of William Hair. The deceased gentleman had recently returned from a visit to his son, W. A., in North Dakota, and was living with his son, George T. Hair, corner of Talbot and John streets. He had been ill only three days with peritonitis.

Mr. Hair, who was in his 73rd year, was born in Argyllshire, Scotland, and came to Canada & years ago, living since in the townships of Westminster and Yarmouth. He hewed out for himself a home and competence from the virgin forest, and during his long life had been active in all good works. He took a keen interest in public affairs, and in politics was an active Reformer. He was a member of the Alma Stret Presbyterian Church. Besides his two sons, mentioned above, he leaves three daughters—Ethel, at home, and Mrs. Richard Williams, and Mrs. A. MacDougall, of North Dakota.

VALUE OF WARM BREAKFAST BEVERAGE.

Explanation by Physician.

The high grade physician always stands ready to guide one's habits and prevent disease, even if by that means he loses many a fee.

Food and drink are important factors relating to health. Dr. Wm. R. Blackwood, 852 N. 23rd street, Philadelphia, Pa., writes on the subject and remarks about the need of some warm drink for breakfast but deprecates the use of coffee because of its effect on the health. He refers to the fact that the heat of a warm breakfast beverage is important in causing the necessary alvine evacua-tion which should invariably follow breakfast.

"Personally, I had been quite nervous from overwork for a time and neither coffee nor tea seemed to agree with me, consequently I looked around for some other pleasant breakfast beverage, for a long time without success, until I got hold of the article under consideration, Postum.

"This proved pleasing to the taste and was also very strengthening. Its flavor is so nearly that of a really good coffee as to completely take its place after beginning its habitual use. I attach much importance to that word 'habitual,' for if you desire to have all of the benefits centered in this article you must stick to it right along. I have proved to my own satisfaction that Postum is all right if persevered in. "Some of my acquaintances and patients have taken up Postum and after a first trial abandoned its use. then some have afterward formed the habit of drinking it when shown how really simple the preparation is which results in a fine cup of Postum con-taining nutritive elements." two cases of severe prostration from

The doctor mentions, in confidence, alcholism which were ultimately cured and the patients restored to through his treatment and taking away all whisky, coffee and tea and giving them in place Postum Food Coffee. The doctor concludes his letter with this statement: "Believing that a letter from a physician, who has studied dietetics many years in different cli-mates and among different races, would be of some value. I write to do what I can to further the use of this efficient product, which surely must be of great advantage to invalids as well as to the general community." LEST SHE FORGET. Edith - If you once know how to skate you never forget. -Yes! But, all the same, I like a good-looking young man to remind me occasionally. You Feel All Used Up You're discouraged and disgusted—not energy to think, less to go to work upon. The reason? You are run down, your blood is poor, your nerves are like India rubber, not like steel, as they ought to be. Use Ferrozone and the tired feeling will go, for it makes plenty of rich, red blood that feeds the brain and nerves. The desire to labor comes back and you enjoy it. You don't get tired, because you have used Ferrozone. Neglect not a day longer. Ferrozone wil cure you. Sold by W. T. Strong & Co.

SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. BUCKE.

The Parnell-Dean Steam Baking Superintendent of London Asylum Victim of Accident.

> Slipped and Fell on Veranda of His House and Expired Almost Instantly.

> Dr. Richard Maurice Bucke, superintendent of the London Asylum, and known all over the continent as an insanity expert, and as the lifelong friend and literary executor of Walt Whitman, died last night under particularly sad circumstances. He was about to retire for the night, and about 11:30 he walked out alone on the veranda of his residence at the asylum. A few minutes later his family heard the sound of a fall, and hurrying out, found that he had evidently slipped on a piece of ice and struck the back of his head heavily on the floor. He was lifted and carried into the house, and it was found that he displayed no signs of life. Medical aid was summoned from the asylum and from the city, Dr. Beemer and Dr. McCallum responded, but found on their arrival that life was extinct. The only mark of injury per-ceptible was a bruise on the back of > Richard Maurice Bucke was born at Methwold, Norfolk, England, on March 18, 1837, being the son of an Episcopal clergyman, the late Horatio Walpole Bucke, and his wife Clarissa Andrews. He was brought by his parents to Canada when a year old. Educated at the London Grammar School, he after-wards studied medicine at McGill University, Montreal, and at London and Paris. After visiting California twice, he began practicing his profession at Sarnia. In 1876 he was appointed medical superintendent of the London Asylum. Dr. Bucke was regarded as being one of the highest authorities in America on the subject of mental diseases, and his opinion and services in such cases were highly valued. In addition to being the author of a work on "Man's Moral Nature" (1879), he had written a large number of papers dealing directly or indirectly with the subject of mental evolution. His opinion was that the human mind has been slowly evolved by a species of unfolding or growth extending over millions of years. One of the most in-teresting and instructive of his papers, that on "Cosmic Consciousness," was read before the American Medico-Psychological Association at Philadelphia, May 18, 1894. He last summer published a voluminous work with the same title. Other notable literary works were his publication of "In Re Walt Whitman," an appreciation of the "Good Gray Poet," published in 1883, and "Notes and Fragments," published in 1899, it being compiled and edited by him from his collection of the literary remains of Whitman. Dr. Bucke was a stunch believer in the Baconian theory, and wrote many articles in support of the contention that Shakespeare's plays were written by the great philosopher. In 1897 he was elected president of the Psychology Branch of the British Medical Association. In religion he was a member of the Church of England. He mar-ried in 1865 Miss Jessie Maria Gurd, of Moore, Ont., who survives him. The result of the union was a family of four sons and six daughters, the surviving members being Dr. E. Pardee Bucke, London; W. A. Bucke, Toron-to; Robert Bucke, a student at the Western Medical College; Mrs. Harry Pope, Strathroy, and Miss Bucke, at home. The eldest son, Maurice Bucke, died in Colorado two years ago. Jul ius P. Bucke, K. C., of Sarnia, and P. Eustace Bucke, barrister of this city, are brothers of Dr. Bucke.
