GOLD AND SILVER. London, Oct. 29.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at Bristol, reviewed at length the history of the recent currency negotiations between Great Britain and the United States and France. The chancellor of the exchequer said he thought the decision of the Indian government not to open the mints perfectly right. The government was pledged to maintain the gold standard, and had considered the subject not in the light of prejudice, but as practical statesmen, and they had arrived at a conclusion, which they would be able, if challenged, to justify before Parliament or the country. The chancellor of the exchequer defended the policy of the governor of the Bank of England on the question of a silver reserve, declaring that the governor had adopted a proper and cautious attitude. With reference to India's reply, he expressed his doubts whether the gold standard of the West Surrey Regiment, who is could be adopted in India as yet.

RACKET IN THE REICHSTAG. Vienna, Oct. 29-3 a.m.-The Reichstag had another stormy night session. The vice-president declined to allow a motion for the impeachment of the cabinet with reference to the renewal of the sugar bounty law, and called upon the house to proceed to discuss the "Compromise Bill." This provoked an angry tumult, rendering debate impossible. The vice-president suspended the sitting for ten minutes. When it was resumed Herr Lecker tried to address the chamber, but Herr Wolff, the German Liberal, clamored for a vote on a motion to close the sitting, and being ignored by the vice-president, began to thump his desk violently with a ruler. This chaotic state of things continued for half an hour, when Herr Wolff declared that, as the vice-president refused to hear him, he would proceed without permission. The result was that Herr Lecker and Herr Wolff were speaking simultaneously. A motion to close the session was rejected, and Herr Lecket was still speaking at 2:30 o'clock this

ORANGE CONFERENCE-EXCITE-MENT IN LIMERICK. London, Oct. 29.-At the instance of William Johnston, leader of the Irish Orangemen, and member of Parliament for South Belfast, a national conference of Orangemen is to be held in this city next month for the purpose of bringing pressure to bear on the government for the suppression of the proposed celebration next year of the centenary of the great Irish rebellion of 1798, for which the whole Irish world is now in a ferment of preparation. According to a dispatch from Limerick there was great excitement throughout the city last evening, in anticipation of John Daly's departure for the United States. The police patrolled the entire town in special force, as it was feared there would be disturbances, and a strong detail guarded the residence of the mayor. Daly addressed a large and enthusiastic meeting of his admirers, and in the course of an impassioned speech denounced the mayor of Limerick as 'the myrmidon of Dublin Castle" for having struck his (Daly's) name

THE WAR IN INDIA. Sensational Report-An Irish Battalion

Withdrawn From the Front. London, Oct. 29.-The Daily Chronicle prints a sensational telegram from Bombay, which says: There is much speculation here as to the reasons for the withdrawal of the second battalion of the Royal Irish Regiment from Samana to Rawalpindi. It is asserted, on one hand, that the men sulked at the critical moment, and refused to march further. On the other hand, Col. Lawrence says that two companies were at the front with the other troops on the day in question, while the remaining companies were retired by or-der of a staff officer. This latter state-ment is contradicted from headquarters

Daily Chronicle says: "Evidently somebody has blundered, and the case is one that demands inquiry. It is a singular fact that while there are numerous Scotch battalions on the northwestern Indian frontier, there are only one or two Irish battalions."

Startlingly Sudden Demise of Henry George.

Out Down in Midst of an Exciting Campaign.

Died After Making Several Vigorous Speeches.

His Faithful Wife and Son With Him in His Last Moments-Sketch of One of the Most Noted Men of the Day-Sailor, Printer, Author, Orator and Leader.

New York, Oct. 29.—Henry George it was a shock to see the man." died at the Union Square Hotel about 5 o'clock this morning, after speaking at several campaign meetings last evening. Mr. George returned to the hotel about 11 o'clock. He ate a light supper and immediately retired. About 3:30 this morning he awoke and complained of suffering severe pains. He became unconscious, and did not again recover.

Apoplexy is given as the cause. Mr. George retired late last night after addressing several large meetings. His room, No. 22, was on the first floor of the Union Square Hotel. George was with him. About 3 o'clock this morning Mrs. George was awakened by the convulsive movements of her husband. He was moaning faintly. Jumping up she found him in a

Henry George, jun., who occupied a room on the second floor, was hastily called. He hurried to the bedside of his dying father. WITH A SMILE ON HIS FACE. Mr. George was not an old man in the matter of years, but he was never rugged. He was an extremely sensi-tive man in his mental and physical structure, and those who knew him best feared for the results of an exciting canvass, such as that which is now in its last hours was sure to be. Newspaper men who have seen a part of the George campaign felt that he was undergoing a strain, and was surely and

BREAKING DOWN. At times he has been incoherent. His whole temperament underwent a complete change. Naturally simple, affable, kindly, the apostle of the dictrine of the brotherhood of man became irascible, his speeches, delivered by the half-dozen each day, were sometimes rambling. Mrs. George and Henry George, jun., have been solicitous regarding the effects of the terrible strain by his being bundled from place to place each day and far into the night, and making speeches before wildly enthusiastic gatherings of his admirers, and it has been noted again and again that his faithful wife sat beside her husband on the platform, from which he spoke, or watched him closely from HIS SON HIS CONSTANT COM-

dreams. Today I met a man haggard, pinched, with a face as thin and peaked as a pen. His eye roved, his face was the theater of disorder. If it was the picture of anything, it was his unfed ambition made desperate. There was despair, too, in his face, as if in a dim way he looked into a future black with disappointment. I tell you,

MAY CHOOSE A SUCCESSOR. Under the state election law, the George party may make a new nomination to fill the vacancy caused by George's death. At the election bureau this morning it was said that section 66 of the election law covered the case. In brief, the election law of New York provides explicitly for the filling of vacancies on tickets, whether caused by death, declination or otherwise. NOMINATED FOR MAYOR OF NEW YORK.

In 1886 Mr. George was nominated by the United Labor party for mayor of New York, polling 68,000 votes, against 90,000 for Abraham S. Hewitt, the Democratic nominee, and 60,000 for Theodore Roosevelt, now assistant secretary of the navy (Republican). After his nomination for mayor by the Jeffersonian Democrats, Mr. George made an extremely active canvass, speaking several times every evening, and working from early to late at his headquarters. He gave to the campaign its most sensational incidents in his attack upon Richard Croker and Thomas C. Platt, whom he threatened to prosecute for various crimes should he be elected mayor. His candidacy gave to the coming election its most uncertain element, for, according to expert politicians, it was practically impossible to estimate how much of Bryan's vote of last year would go to

George instead of Van Wyck. HIS LAST SPEECHES.

Last night Mr. George spoke in the borough of Queens, and later in the borough of Manhattan, at the Central Opera House. He was greeted by large and enthusiastic crowds everywhere. In one of his speeches last night, Mr. George said: "I have labored for years to make myself known and now at last these things are all written down. I believe that all the needed reforms are summed up in the philosophy: 'The right of every man to eat, to drink, to speak as he sees fit, so long as he does not trench on the rights of any other man." Later, in the same speech, he repeated his threats against Mr. Croker in a ringing voice that greatly affected his hearers, saying: 'Let him go to the penitentiary. He shall go there." Mrs. George accompanied her hus-band on most of his speech-making trips, and she was with him last night.

THE CHAINLESS WHEEL. Toledo, O., Oct. 29.-The chainless bicycle question 's going to develop one of the biggest fights, it is claimed, ever witnessed in the bicycle business. The fight, it is said, will be between the Columbia people, and nearly all of the other manufacturers who are coming out with '98 chainless wheel.

There are a number of factories where chainless wheels will be manufactured, although none of them outside of Col. Pope appears to be anxious to place a chainless wheel on the market. Among those that may be mentioned outside of Pope and Lozier,

There is an apparent tendency on the part of manufacturers to revert to the use of smaller balls in bearings next year. Brakes are also likely to be more sought for by riders and more

Sunday Schools.

Their Shortcomings and Great Opportunities

Discussed by the Huron Anglican Convention - Mr. James Morgan's Able Paper - An Interesting Discussion -Addresses by Judge McDonald and Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON. Thursday afternoon the convention of Lay Workers and Sunday School

Teachers of the Diocese of Huron considered the work of the Sunday school particularly. The Bishop of Huron presided, and an admirable address on Sunday schools, their shortcomings and great opportunities," was delivered by Mr. James Morgan, M.A., of Barrie. A great deal of interest was aroused by the address, and a discussicn, in which many took part, followed.

Before Mr. Morgan spoke, Sheriff Cameron was allowed to address the convention in the interests of the Children's Aid Society. He explained the purposes and methods of the society, and stated that the organization had power from the government to take children from the care of immoral or dissolute parents and place them in charge of foster parents. He asked that if any case of this kind in any part of the diocese came under the notice of the delegates, they would notify the secretary of the society. The bishop thanked Sheriff Cameron for his address. Mr. Morgan said he was present to give the results of a quarter century's work and failures in Sunday schools. One of the faults of Sunday schools was that they were allowed to take the place of the church, and another fault was that the work was done almost exclusively by ladies. The men stood aside and were content to do nothing. He held that men could talk to boys better than women could about the temptations peculiar to boys. It viculd be better to drop the Sunday evening service and help in the Sun day school than attend the two church services and do nothing at Sunday school work. Another fault was that teachers were not properly trained for their work, and had not the practical knowledge of what they had to teach. This was necessary in order to impart knowledge to others.

Canon Richardson opened the dis-There were clergymen, he said, who regarded Sunday schools as useless, unprofitable, and damaging. This was to be deplored. The church itself believed in Sunday schools. Fifty years ago, he said, the public schools of Ontario were a disgrace, but from the time of Dr. Ryerson they would have been a credit to any land. This ent was brought about by getting better qualified teachers and being careful as to what was taught. These principles should be applied to the Sunday schools also, he said. Mr. Jasper Golden, of Kingsville, said he had been a Sunday school worker for 66 years, and was now the teacher of a Bible class. He found a liberal use of the blackboard a good

Rev. F. E. Roy, of Wallaceburg; added some suggestions. Rev. W. T. Hill asked if the Leaflet price $2 and $2 50. should be used, and Mr. Morgan replied that it should.

Archdeacon Davis asked Mr. Morgan's opinion of circulating libraries.

They were, Mr. Morgan said, the capital crime of all the crimes of the Sunday school. The result of reading the average Sunday school book was irreparable injury to the scholars. All books should be carefully examined before being admitted to the library.

Miss Osler, of Toronto, gave some excellent reasons for the use of the

The bishop, in his closing remarks. said the convention owed a debt of gratitude to Mr. Morgan for his extremely able address. Regarding the opposition of some clergymen to the course of Sunday schools, he said there was never a good work that some did not oppose. Clergymen should induce laymen to come to the Sunday schools on the ground of confessing Christ. The bishop was thoroughly in sympathy with all that had been about the difficulty of getting good teachers. So many people did not come into touch with the children because they failed to realize that they had to stand on the level of the little ones to be understood by them. He trusted that the Sunday school work would be greatly developed in the dio-

Specialists failed. About 3 years ago, Mrs. Bindon, of 11 Maitland St., Toronto, was attacked with la Grippe, which affected her hearing to such an extent that she was completely deaf. It was a serious affliction and she tried many remedies and consulted a prominent specialist on ear diseases, but derived no benefit. By a happy circumstance she was led to use Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and before she had completed 3 boxes her hearing had partially She persisted in the application of the remedy, so confident was she of ultimate cure, and by the time 12 boxes had been used her hearing was completely restored. Ward Four's Account Overdrawn by Nearly $40-Carling Street Declared To Be "a Mudhole"-Applications for New Walks Denied,

From the present outlook it is not likely that anything more will be undertaken by the board of works, as the funds are low and what remains of the appropriations will be consumed in paying outstanding accounts and for public works as yet not charged up to the wards. Ald. Cooper's account is overdrawn some $39 already, but he still advocates expenditure in No. 4 ward.

At last night's meeting of the committee, H. Porter drew attention to the condition of Carling street, west of Ridout street, which, he said, was "a veritable mudhole." He asked that something be done.

Ald. O'Meara moved that it be re-would have to be laid, and they should have left money for it. Ald. O'Meara said it would not cost much, and he would favor doing it, because Mr. Kingsmill had expended a large amount of money. He moved York, contains a lively account of the that the work be done. Ald. O'Meara's amendment carried, Ald. Cooper and Carrothers opposing

W. B. Minhinnick, in a communication, said the damage to his property by the widening of High street, exceeded greatly the compensation made by the city, and asked to be exempted from payment of frontage tax, as his property did not front on High street, and he received no benefit from it. The engineer was instructed to report on the matter. The memo. from the council, "That out of the appropriation at present to the credit of No. 4 ward, the engineer be instructed to lay sidewalks on Waterloo street north and Hellmuth avenue, half-blocks, and fix the grade on Central avenue, between Colborne and Cartwright streets, as directed by No.

Ald. Cooper explained to the comdo this work, because the statement of ward expenditure showed that the walk on Queen's avenue, between Colborne and Maitland streets, as well as other walks, had been charged up at tirely level or exhibits inclinations of less the time the work was done.

Ald. Parnell explained that it had not, and in this he was corroborated by Secretary Rell Ald Parnell read a twenty feet per mile. The summit is by Secretary Bell. Ald. Parnell read a statement from Treasurer Pope, as fol-

Ald. Carrothers said the work should be done. It was much needed, and he

Ald. Carrothers was greatly displeased with the way Ald. Johnston had voted. He grew red in the face, threw down his pen and exclaimed: did you vote to have the other walk put down for if there were no funds? Why don't you be a man?" test in New York. The most sensational news in today's Advertiser is the sudden death of Mr. Henry George, the noted writer and leader, in New York city. Mr. George, whose health has been none too robust, entered the campaign for the mayoralty of Greater New York as the candidate for the Jeffersonian Democracy. The man had a following of his own. As a distinguished author on economic questions, Mr. George had obtained a world-wide fame. His books on "Progress and Poverty" and "Protection and Free Trade," have had as the apostle of absolute trade freedom and the chief exponent of the Single Tax. His view, in brief, was that there should be no tax on anything but land-no tax on goods, or on improvements on land, but on the bare value of the land, according as it was in demand in town and country. Mr. George ably upheld this view in his published works, as well as in his lectures, which he delivered before large audiences in both the old and new world. He was a firm believer in clean municipal government, and in 1886, after the exposure of aldermanic robberies, and flight of civic representatives as a consequence, he stood as one of the candidates for the mayoralty of New York city, with a platform declaring for radical improvement in the conditions of life in the city. He was chosen as the representative of Irving Hall branch of the Democratic party, and though the orbest edited and newsiest of town pa- ganization at his back was defective and his candidature was pooh-poohed formed as to what is happening in its by many, he received 68,110 votes to immediate neighborhood and it always 90.552 counted for Hewitt (Tammany stands up for the Stone Town. It is Democracy), and 60,435 for Roosevelt opening the winter season with many (Republican). Mr. George and his promises of increased usefulness to its friends have always held that they were defrauded of many votes in this campaign of 1886, or he would have been elected. The vote polled for him then gave some indication of what his served if a special Sunday in October strength would likely have been in the or November were set apart for the struggle for the chief chair in the purpose. Orders have been issued from the Conservative headquarters in Toronto to the district organizers of the party that in the ensuing municipal elections efforts must be made to seize the councils and other representative bodies. Those who espouse the views of Mrs. Large take the ground that it was the duty of the mission board not to change her field of labor, or to interfere with her views thereanent, unless they made charges against her of inefficiency, and had them tried. That boards of any church that we know of are appointed to go to the fields selectobserved that our able contemporar- ed for them by those charged with the ies in Hamilton and Toronto have made | responsibility of the Church as a whole.

They had done their duty, as they are doing their duty now, but a change was deemed advisable. These explanations are made in justice to all parties. The Advertiser has no interest in the matter, except that of a public journal. Mrs. Large has now gone to Japan to do mission work on her own responsibility. That is her prerogative, if she is so inclined.

The Living Age, the old favorite weekly magazine, has many new features that commend it to its thousands of readers in Canada. One of the latest announced will be begun in the number for Nov. 6, when the first installment of the new serial story, "With millions of readers. He was recognized | All Her Heart," translated for the Living Age from the French of M. Rene Bazin, will be given. This novel, in its recent presentation in the Reyue des Deux Mondes, aroused the greatest interest, attracting the attention of litterateurs both in France and England. A vivid portrayal of life in a French industrial town, it is interesting alike as a social study, and as a realistic, yet delicate story of modern life. Its literary and ethical qualities are so unusual that Les Annales Litteraires et Politiques described it as "an epoch-making story." The London Athenaeum characterizes it as "a work of fine and searching analysis, full of charm and redolent of a perfume which is exquisite and possesses no disquiet-ing element." To all new subscribers to the Living Age for 1898, will be sent gratis the eight numbers of 1897, containing the first installments of "With All Her Heart." AN AUGUR OF HARMONY. Mr. J. T. Wolcott, the recently appointed organist of the First Methodist Church, arrived home from Detroit yesterday with his bride, having been married in that city the day before. In the meantime the members of the choir had sent up to his new home six handsome pieces of Royal Worcester ware, accompanied by an engrossed address, worded as follows: "The members of the choir of the First Methodist Church take this opportunity of expressing to you their congratulations on the occasion of your marriage, and of wishing you and Mrs. Wolcott a long and happy life. Please accept from them this slight token of esteem, with the hope that the goodwill and kindly feeling which prompted it may be a promise of harmony and concord between the members and their leader

Inez Smith, and the entire membership of the choir. THEY FILED IT.

BOXES NOT FOR PAPERS. The Postmaster-General Said To Be About to Issue a New Order

Regarding the Use of the Letter Boxes.

It is understood that the postal department will shortly issue instructions and inaugurate some material changes. One of these is that in future newspapers and other periodicals shall not be mailed in street letter boxes. In the experience of the department, a large proportion of the letters mailed in the street boxes, get mixed up with the newspapers mailed there, and in that way the risk of loss to the letters is materially increased. It is also the intention of the department to arrange that all persons who are licensed to sell stamps shall also The members present were: Reeve keep on their premises a letter box, by installments. Postmaster Dawson said this morning that he had heard nothing regarding these instructions as yet. He did not approve of stuffing the letter boxes full of circulars and papers, and leaving papers on the top of the box. It was an old trouble. He much preferred the posting of papers and cir- of the police. culars at the general office. The postmaster said it would be of benefit if the department introduced in cities the pillar boxes for both letters and papers. In regard to letter boxes being placed in the stores where stamps are sold, Mr. Dawson said it would be a great convenience, no doubt, but would entail much more labor. The revenue of the office was greatly increasing.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED. MOUNT BRYDGES .- Whose right is it to pay for the drawing up of a lease -the one who leases, or the one to whom the property is leased, the former employing his lawyer? Ans. - When the lease is drawn in duplicate, one for each party, as is the proper course, each should pay half the cost. When only one copy, the cost is borne by the party who orders it to be drawn up. usually in Ontario by the lessor.

OLD READER.-What shall I do to collect a debt from a man who is poor and has a family to support? If it went to court, what would the judge allow and who would have to pay costs? Ans .- You can sue in the division court, and if the debtor has no property liable to seizure, he may be examined upon judgment summons before the judge, who, upon the particular facts before him, would either discharge the debtor or order him to pay to the judgment debt, unless otherwise ordered by the judge.
