The Spanish ambassador, Mr. Riano, was in early conference with the Argentine Minister, Mr. Naon, concerning the next move to be made by the mediators, and Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil, with the Chilean Minister, Suarez, and Mr. Naon held a lengthy conference. Mr. Da Gama, following the conference, called upon Secretary of State Bryan, and a statement was expected later in the day relating to the next move to be made in the situation.

POWERS URGE HUERTA. Secretary Bryan informed President Wilson of the advices that Huerta had acceded to the preliminary steps in the mediation proposals. Further encouragement in the situation came in advices from Berlin that Germany, France and Great Britain had urged Huerta, through their diplomatic re-presentatives in Mexico City, to yield to the American demands. When this was communicated to the president he was greatly pleased. Later, the German ambassador, Mr Von Bernsdorff, informed Secretary Bryan that his Government would support the mediation proposal.

Among Washington officials another cause for optimism was the assurance from Admiral Badger that, through the efforts of British and German officials in Mexico, apprehension over American and other foreign refugees in Mexico had been greatly dispelled.

TRANSPORTATIONS PROVIDED. An official dispatch from Admiral Badger to the navy department declared that the authorities in Mexico City had agreed to provide transportation for all Americans from Mexico City as far as Soledad, the Mexican controlled end of the railroad to Vera Cruz. It was announced that the first train with 250 American refugees would leave Mexico City today. The conclusion of negotiations in this connec-tion was gratifying to the President and Secretary Bryan as well as the war department officials.

London had artistic fountains (?) all over the city. The water jets through the tops of the manholes and catch basins were very fountainesque. City Engineer W. N. Ashplant's phone was kept hot for many hours.

Citizens, whose cellars were several feet deep with water, made many appeals for assistance. "First Aid" was rendered by the public works department employees

Sunday morning was a busy one for the man whose cellar was flooded. Church bells had little or no attraction for him. Brooms and rubber boots were the order of the day.

London's crop of Sir Walter Ra-leighs was rather limited. Anyway, the mud and water was too deep. The man who had to play corpora-

The redistribution bill is one of these. Not only have the two parties failed to agree upon the terms of redistribution, especially in Quebec and Ontario, but in the Conservative party the members and ministers in some cases have had serious differences over the plans for running new lines of constituencies. These troubles may be aired in the House along with the Liberal protest. The bill to give aid to Mackenzie & Mann is to be brought down on Wednesday, if present plans are carried through. It will be opposed from both the Liberal and the Conservative sides, and will probably have to be forced through under closure. A Fight Indicated.

There is every indication that lively fighting and application of closure will nark the passage of the militia estimates. Col. Sam Hughes wants a large amount or money and is willing to fight for it. Head of Force Informs Board That More Should Be Secured

Fire Chief John Aitken, in a letter to the board of control, told the controllers very pointedly that eight additional men were needed in the London fire department. The department, he said, was undermanned, and when big fires, such as that which destroyed the Dominion Savings Building were in progress, would be unable to cope with the situation if other fires were to break out at the same time. The chief's statement of the case did not please Mayor Graham a little bit, and be criticized the head of the fire department for putting it in as he had. City Clerk Samuel Baker also came in for a mild roast from the mayor for reading the communication aloud. It was just inviting the newspapers to make a sensational story, said his worship,

This plan, he said, had been tried out with success in old country cities. Chief Aitken was on hand to back up his letter, and told the controllers without reservation, that 42 men, including himself, in the London fire department, was not a sufficient number, especially when it was considered that five of the men were not fit for service. As for FIGHTING STAGE IS NEAR the idea of Controller Coles to have a number of men on call, the chief said that it was not practicable, for the, reason that the callers were never on hand when they were most greatly

AN INCH AND A HALF RAINFALL Rew. R. W. Norwood Exhorts

Torrential rains deluged London Saturday afternoon, blocking every sewer in the city, flooding hundreds of cellars, putting many streets several feet under water, crippling the street railway service, turning every open watercourse into a roaring little torrent and washing out countless gardens, flowerbeds and lawns. The rain storm, the first thunder storm of the season was one of comparatively short duration, but during the few hours 1.40 inches of rain fell, according to the official figures recorded at the observatory in south London.

Every section of the city suffered from the tremendous volume of water that was hurled on the city. So fast did the rain come that the inadequate sanitary sewers were unable to handle a tenth part of the flood. Every one of them was gorged many times beyond capacity and flooded cellars resulted, the water backing up in the side drains and in many instances rising many feet in the cellar

BURST THROUGH MANHOLES.

Even the escape valve offered by the sidedrains was insufficient to allow all the water to get away. Huge cast iron manhole covers were forced up by the water and tossed up and down like corks, while the stoom water escaped over the rim of the basins, while jets six and seven feet high burst their way through the open holes in the top of the manholes.

The open watercourses that drain various sections of the city rose in some cases eight feet as a result of the rain. Small trees, planks, barrels and other movable articles within reach of the water were carried down by the creeks that were transformed into veritable torrents. ### Mothers Day-What It Means and How It Originated.

It falls on the second Sunday in

The idea of Mothers' Day originated with Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, in 1908.

Emblematic of the day, a white flower is worn, usually a carnation. Observance of the day is now widespread, almost universal in Canada and the United States, and partly so in foreign lands.

A feature of the day in London will be the wearing of white flowers, special sermons in the churches, and lectures to school children during the

Miss Anna Jarvis, daughter of a Philadelphia clergyman, was the woman who originated the Mothers' Day idea. The death of the old lady so generally beloved set her to thinking. There ought to be some way, she reasoned, to make the cold world pause in its hasty race for dellars and fashions, and commemorate the lives of women, who, as mothers, lived a pure, sweet existence, bearing unflinchingly the burden of family mor-ality and public uplift.

Falling to have the American Congress pass a resolution naming May 10 as Mothers' Day, and a national holiday. Miss Jarvis wrote to the Y. M. C. A.'s throughout the United States and Canada, enlisting the services of mayors, governors, and other public men, with he result that Mayor Frank W. Bunn, of Lincoln, Neb., issued the first proclamation in 1908, proclaiming the sec ond Sunday in May to be Mothers' Day. Great publicity all over the country resulted in the announcement. The scheme has gathered more supporters with each succeeding year. The observance of the day is entirely undenominational, and is recognized by every creed, class, race, and country.

In her letters sent broadcast, Miss Jarvis has said:

"We strew flowers on the graves of our soldiers, and our great public men We have rewarded every class and race of our country; but there have been no more courageous hearts, no more generous souls filled with nobler sacrifices no greater attention to duty, have ever been known than that of our noble mothers, as pioneers, patriots, in war and peace, and as mothers of the home. vhose sufferings gave the nation its great sons and splendid citizens.

These heroines are not buried in national cemeteries by a grateful nation, with the glory of their country's flag floating over their burial place; but they are buried in loving and proud memories in the mother-loving hearts of their true sons and daughters."

THE SCOTT ACT AND

ties, L. O. Being Much Stricter.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, April 27 .- An important statement had just been issued by the license branch of the Provincial Secretary's department touching the effect of the passing of the Scott act in counties formerly partially under the local option law. It is pointed out that the passing of the Scott act automatically suspends the local option law, so soon as the former goes into effect. The passing of the Scott act by a county does not apply to a city within the county, as the city is empowered to vote on the question by itself. There are vital differences in the penalties under the two laws, the local option law being much more stringent. Under local option the penalty for selling (first offence) is from $100 to $500. Under the Scott act $50, and for a second offence A second offence under local option calls for imprisonment without the option of a fine. For a third offence the penalty is imprisonment under both acts.

Under local option a search may be made without a warrant, but a warrant is necessary before taking action under the Scott act. The power of summary seizure is also denied under the Scott act. Under the Scott act the Ontario license inspectors are powerless. They cannot make a seizure with or without a warrant. They have only the standing of private citizens. The machinery of the law applicable in case of prosecution under local option law is entirely suspended wherever the Scott struction. act is brought into force.

WILL ASQUITH ACT?

ITH the Mexican trouble holding the large place in the news, the Ulster situation finds a difficulty in claiming public interest, yet the most sensational news of all to Britishers is contained in the recent dispatches that the Ulstermen have snapped their fingers in the face of Asquith by importing rifles in large numbers, and bullying revenue officials. Asquith cannot long permit more of these outrages. "Watchful waiting" will need to be discared with more dispatch than in Mexico, and for greater cause. Acts of open rebellion confront the Prime Minister. His next move will no doubt be decisive, and a stinging lesson to the rebels.

MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES. HERE can be but one voice in this Country with reference to the difficulties now being met in Mexico, by the United States, and that voice expresses a hope that the United States will soon end all difficulty and that the rulers of that nation, from the President down, to whom war is abhorrent, will have peace. It is a world-wide pity that they have been forced into any action at all.

Charles Sumner, one of their greatest orators, has, as far back as 1845, correctly voiced the sentiments of ex-President Taft and President Wilson, and all the leaders of both parties today. He

"In our age there can be no peace that is not honorable; there can be no war that is not dishonorable. The true honor of a nation is to be found only in deeds of justice and in the happiness of its people, all of which are inconsistent with war. In the clear eye of Christian Judgment, vain are its victories: infamous are its spoils. He is the true benefactor, and alone worthy of honor, who brings comfort where before was wretchedness; who dries the tear of sorrow; who pours oil into the wounds of the unfortunate: who feeds the hungry and clothes the naked; who unlooses the fetters of the slave; who does justice; who enlightens the ignorant; who enlivens and exalts, by his virtuous genius, in art, in literature, in science, the hours of life; who by words or actions inspires a love for God and man. This is the Christian hero; this is the man of honor in a Christian land. He is no benefactor, nor deserving of honor, whatever may be his worldly renown, whose life is passed in acts of force; who renounces the great law of Christian brotherhood: whose vocation is blood; who triumphs in battle over his fellowmen.

ful glories for ourselves, let us strive to of "Kind regards, yours truly." extend them to other lands. Let the bugles sound the truce of God to the whole world forever. And now on this Sabbath of our country lay a new stone in the grand temple of universal peace. whose dome shall be as lofty as the comprehensive as the earth itself."

It is no fault of the United States Government that they have been forced to act. Let us hope it will not reach the proportions of actual war.

THE DOGS' BILL.

THE British House of Commons has 1 just passed the second reading to the dogs' bill, a measure intended to prevent all experiments on canines with or without anaesthetics. For years a heated controversy has raged between the vivisection and anti-vivisection camps over the subjection of dogs to experiments by the medical profession, and only last week the medical faculty of the University of Pennsylvania was haled before the courts charged with cruelty to animals in having operated on living dogs in the course of scientific investigation. In France, too, the agitation against vivisection has become widespread, so that the action of the British Parliament will be acclaimed by animal lovers the world

It must be admitted that anything touching the welfare of "man's best I roam the glorious earth with praise, friend" has a most direct appeal to the heart of man. Outside the human being no creature has advanced to the degree of intelligence and affection of the dog History is filled with cases of its splendid fidelity and courage, and it is the unshakeable affection for its master that has been the greatest bond between it and man. The cat has the domestic instinct strongly developed, thanks to centuries of petting and protection, but the cat never goes much beyond the patronizing stage and is always looking out for number one. But was there ever a dog, thoroughbred or mongrel, that wouldn't risk its life for its master without a moment's hesitation? The necessity for using dogs for experiments by scientists will have to be made much more apparent than at present before humanity generally will agree

They formed classes for working nen and settled among the people of the district. The name "settlement house" was thus derived. Personally she preferred the term "neighborhood house" as it meant so much more. "That is just what we are trying to be to those people in our district—real true neighbors, in the best sense," said Miss Neufeld. Sounds a Warning.

The speaker sounded a warning onden. There were many foreigners coming into the city, most of them not able to read or write. "What are you doing to educate the immigrant?" asked Miss Neufeld. "I am told there are 8,000 foreigners in your city. There are more coming, and that means that London will be swamped before long, like Toronto has been during the past win-

"We want the people to live cleanly, healthy lives, and the spiritual will naturally follow. You won't get spirituality as long as you preach Christianity to them and let them live in hovels." The game is begun, for better, for worse, And your chance shall, indeed, be small In the innings of life (with an umpire nurse) If you do not start with a "Bawl!"

And many a hard chance you must take, And many a play be missed, And many a sacrifice you must make, And many a ready assist.

In teamwork alone is the winning play, As you'll find ere the game be done, When the clerical umpire has his say And the scoreboy marks you "One!"

But whether you hit for a single clout, Or whether you're good for a double, The shortstop one day will toss you out As the end of your play and trouble.

PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 25.-Oxford Iniversity, of England, won the four-mile college relay championship of America from the University of Pennsylvania here this afternoon, in the most sensational finish ever seen in that event in the 17 years the race has been run on Franklin Field. The English team had to fight all the way and won the remarkable race by a scant foot.

The wonderful Jackson, Olympic 1,500metre champion, the anchor man of the English team, was pushed to the limit of human endurance by McCurdy, of Pennsylvania, the two-mile intercollegiate champion, and fell into the arms of his supporters as he breasted the tape.

supporters as he breasted the tape.

The race was run in a heavy rain storm and the time, 13 minutes five seconds, broke the four-mile record for the Pennsylvania relays. The American and world's record is held by Cornell, 17 minutes 55 seconds. The track was very heavy and experts believed it to be about five seconds slow to the mile.

As the two men finished several thousand persons rushed on the track and surrounded the runners and officials and it was with difficulty that the winner could be learned.

RAILWAYS SHOW A HEAVY INCOME DECREASE

Soon After Arguments.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, D. C., April 27 .- A de mission of the fundamental question inpolyed in the eastern advance rate case roads are adequate—is expected within a few days after the conclusion of final rguments, which began here today.

The 35 railroad systems which are asking the 5 per cent increase in rates have ust filed the financial data concerning their lines for the first eight months of the current fiscal year. These figures ndicated a loss in net operating income of $59,122,145, or a total loss in operation income of 26 per cent.

Winnipeg, April 25. — Opening of navigation was officially declared today at 9:40 a.m. by the council of the grain exchange. Demand for wheat was probably somewhat more active in view of this fact, while prices were considerably firmer, influenced by steady Liverpool cables, and a good demand for Manitoba wheat there.

Private reports state seding is progressing rapidly in Western Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, while in the Red River Valley it is being delayed and is not expected. Nearing the close the market gained strength owing to shorts covering.

Wheat opened %c to 1/2c higher and Wheat opened %c to ½c higher and closed %c to %c higher.

The cash demand for all grains was improved, while export inquiry was inactive.

Cash wheat closed %c higher for contract grades. Cash oats closed ½c to %c advance. Cash barley closed unchanged to ½c higher. Cash flax closed %c higher for all grades.

RECOVERY ON 'CHANGE.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 27.—There was a smart recovery on the London Stock Exchange recovery on the London Stock Exchange today, under bear covering on the news that Provisional President Huerta had accepted the proffered mediation of Argentina, Brazil and Chili. Mexican Railway Company shares rose from 3 to 5 points, while Americans were from 1 to 2 and Canadian Pacific 4 over parlty. Continental favorites also improved, but British securities were depressed by the clouded state of conditions in Ulster. A reaction occurred in Mexican rails at noon, when they fell a point on realizations.

Grand Trunk Rallway system traffic earnings from April 15 to 21, 1914: 1914, $993.502; 1913, $1,080,348; decrease $86,846.

ZAPATA WOULD FIGHT

May Be Released, With His Followers, For This Purpose.

[Canadian Press.] New York, April 27 .- The Evening World today prints the following dis-

Mexico City, via Galveston, April 27. -Preliminaries are being discussed today at Cuernavaca for the surrender of Emiliano Zapata, with all his chiefs and followers, who have expressed a desire to fight on the Government side against the "foreign invader."

The capital is quieting down and there is no longer a rush of Americans to get away. A special train has been arranged to leave tonight with Americans desiring to leave, but not a few Americans, after inscribing their names on the roster of departure, reconsidered and have decided to remain. There was little to differentiate yesterday from other Sundays in the Mexcan capital. The city was quiet and orderly and Mexicans in general were most considerate toward Americans remaining here. The churches were crowded and the streets presented their customary anmated appearance. Nearly all the American stores have reopened and the stores owned by persons of other nationalities have removed their shut-

CARRANZA FAVORABLE. Reported utterances of one of Carranza's confidential agents that the constitutionalist leader would make no statement on the proposal of the South American diplomats but that "the offer is a hopeful sign and any proposition that looks to peace is acceptable to the constitutionalists" added to hope in Washington that the crisis might simmer to settlement. From Chihuahua, Carranza had ordered his officers to redouble their attack on Tampico and apprehend federals responsible for affronts to the United States at that port, so they might be tried by a reliable court. It was reported that Carranza had been asked for a statement of his attitude on certain questions. SOME ARRESTS.

While fears over the safety of Amercans in Mexico City were partially dissipated by Secretary Bryan's announcement that Huerta officials and Rear Admiral Fletcher had arranged for the departure of United States citizens from the Federal capital. Consul Canada reported that more than a score of American refugees, among them United States Consul Schmutz, had been hauled from a train at Aguas Calientes, north of Mexico City, and imprisoned. It was said however that the arrest might have occurred several days ago. The consul's informant said federal soldiers made the arrests.

While diplomats and the President and his advisers labored in Washington over new developments in the situation, Brigadier General Funston, with a renforcing phalanx of infantry and artillery, was nearing Vera Cruz, and Rear PRESIDENT PLEASED Admirals Badger and Fletcher were toiling in preparation for any eventuality. They had quieted the town, placed it under martial law and were preparing for the reception of General Funston who immediately will take charge of all the American forces about the seaport. No ill effects of th torrid temperatures of Vera Cruz had been reported among the American forces. Under martial law the business of government in the city was resuming, with municipal authorities at their posts. The Federal officials decided they could not work under American supervision, and that was one of the tion and purpose to extend to the inhabitants of the territory as much participation in the government as is practicable with due consideration for the ends to be hereby accomplished." MANY MORE FROM CAPITAL. Vera Cruz, April 27.-There was rejoicng here today, when word was received from the British minister, Sir Lionel Carden, in Mexico City, that Gen. Next in importance to these developnents was the expected arrival of the brigade of troops commanded by Gen. Fred-

AVIATORS BUSY. Because of the delicate nature of the egotiations and the number of lives which may depend upon them, it is conidered probable here that no extension of he lines already established by the Amercans will be attempted while the negotiations are pending. This will become a matter for Gen. Funston's decision, however, upon his landing, since Admiral Fletcher has already been advised that the general is to have supreme command ashore. There was great activity today about the aviators' camp near the bathing beach, where the smooth water of the nner harbor affords every facility for arising and landing. Should the machines be required later, the aviators are ready for service, and are busy studying maps

The gathering represents every activity in the interior of Mexico in which Europeans have had a part, and many of the British subjects still wear a little Union Jack pinned to coats or dress froits. Anxiety knows no nationality. British and Germans fear the wrath of the Mexican mob will make no distinction between those of white skin, and that all vill share the common fate as Americans if an uprising should occur. As the days pass and the exodus of refugees from coast points continues with no reports of violence, hope among those gathered here is growing that loss of life will be averted and damage inflicted only in a financial

He found desks rifled of many papers, presumably by departing Federal officials, but believes cials might clear their own accounts rather than to embarrass the Americans. At the ancient fortress San Juan de Ulloa the Mexican flag is still flying, and the Mexican commandant is still in control of 80 armed soldiers and 500 prisoners, many of the latter most desperate criminals. Thousands of Rifles, Revolvers, Etc., Sur rendered at Vera Cruz.

[Canadian Press.]

Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 27.-Immense quantities of arms and ammunition have been seized by the American naval authorities here, or have been turned in as the result of an order issued that civilians must give up their arms. Six hundred rifles, 100 revolvers, 200 machetes and swords, and 19,000 rounds of ammunition were seized. Since the order was issued demanding the surrender of firearms, the inhabitants have given up 4,000 rifles, 1,200 revolvers, 1,000 machetes nanagement establishes a dangerous and swords, 24 boxes of gunpowder and 50,000 rounds of ammuniton.

It is regarded here as significant that the restoration of telegraphic communication between Mexico City and the rest of the world followed immediately after the return to the capital of General Ramon Corona, the chief of staff of Provisional President Huerta. General Corona had been informed by Captain Henry Ruse, chief of staff of Rear Admiral Fletcher, that all Mexicans desiring to do so could leave Vera Cruz and would be provided with transportation. He also urged Genera Corona to make it clear to General Huerta that the American admiral found nothing reprehensible in the action of the civilians of Vera Cruz in defending their homes, as he believed this to be the highest privilege of any man.

HILL STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

Hill Street Methodist Church along with Egerton Street Baptist Church had its beginning in an undenominational mission, started on Ottaway avenue, in a frame building beside the present Christian Workers' Church and in the building, now a shoemaker's shop, but formerly used as a church by the Christian Workers. This mission was established about 1886. Some 21 years ago the Methodists in the mission had in reased so largely that they withdrew and formed Hill Street Methodist Mis-One Methodist class taught by Samuel Brake grew so large in itself that the old South Street Mission was too small to accommodate it. After some time the Baptists also withdrew and formed Egerton Street Mission.

Besides Mr. Brake, others instrumental in the founding of Hill Street Church were W. H. Wortman, William Bowman, Frank Parker, Mrs. Richard Winnett and James Drennan. Rev. H. Harry Lewis was the first organist. Pastors succeeding Rev. Mr. Uren were Rev. Delmer Trimble, Rev. Mr. Kellington, Rev. Joseph Coolter, ilev. J. J. Sinclair, Rev. Amos Thomas, Rev. A. G. Harris, Rev. J. Hart, and Rev. Archibald McKibbon. Up to and during the pasterate of Rev. Amos Thomas, Hill Street Church was continued under the wing of Dundas Centre Methodist Church. A visitor to Hill Street Church, observes at once that it is a young people's This is explained largely by the fact that the Sunday-school is one of most successful and influential schools in the city. This school possesses the extremely desirable faculty for keeping its pupils in the church. A class in English attended by 73 Russians was for a long time a valuable de partment of Hill Street Church. With the institution of educational work among the Russians by other agencies, the class has fallen off in membership. There is still a very large class of Russians in the Sunday school.

"Some Lessons from Abraham's Household," was the subject of Rev. Mr. J. Uren was the first pastor and Mrs. McKibbon's morning sermon yesterday. Abraham had a number of wives. His second marriage to Sarah's handmaid was ill-fated. To preserve the peace of his household he had to send her and her child away.

"The great thing in marriage is com panionship," said Mr. McKibbon, "An Egyptian woman was necessarily illfitted to be a companion to Abraham." Too many young men, said Mr. McKibbon, enter marriage without realizing the responsibilities of marriage. They take into their homes, tobacco, cigars, even whiskey, things that no virtuous woman can be satisfied to see enter her home. "Paul's personality was submerged in hrist, for with him he was not a passing associate, but an ever-present friend. And again Paul's knowledge was practical and not that of a theorist, or freamer, for in his organization of missions for the church in Asia and Africa the strategy displayed shows clearly the work of a master mind. If there is a practical chapter in the Bible it is that which he lays down the law of love based on the life of Christ. "We, like this man, must put our faith a action," said the speaker, "and come to know Christ practically in the vast field of social service. True there are relief officers and funds to keep the poor from starving and to clothe the needy, but true Christians cannot leave all this work to be done by officers and paid charities, for by the love of our fellow men we come to love the Lord, and by service to others we come into the knowledge of his excellency. Often we are in doubt as to what course to pursue and look for guidance, but if we have a true enowledge of Christ the guidance is as-

A WONDERFUL CURE OF AN ABSCESS BY Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mr. A. W. Dryden, Amherst, N.S. writes:-"I am going to tell you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for us. My son "Vance," when only nine months old, got an abscess on his cheek bone. I took him to a doctor in St. John, N.B. and he lanced it, and told me it would get well in a few days, and wanted me to keep it squeezed out. It did not seem to get any better, so my wife took him back. The Doctor told her to take him home and it would soon get better. It would gather and break, and it went on that way until he was over four years

'He lost four pieces of bone out of where it was lanced, and two pieces came from his mouth; he has lost all of his check bone, and his eye was drawn down. I took him to doctors in St. John, Moncton, and Amherst, and all wanted me to let him go under an operation. He was so small I told them that if he was going to die he might as well die as he was as to go there and be all cut to pieces, so declined to have the operation done. I told them I was going to try Burdock Blood Bitters, as I had heard my mother talk so much about it. I got a bottle, and when it was about half gone noticed it was doing good, and before many days the sore stopped running, and healed up, and the abscess has never broken out again. This happened nearly six years ago, so you can see I have great faith in Burdock Blood Bitters, and I can say with all my heart that it is the best blood medicine in the world."
