

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN CABLES HE REACHED SOUTH POLE ON FOURTEENTH DECEMBER

Captain Scott, Who Headed British Expedition In the Race for the Polar Honors, Not Yet Heard From.

THE HERO OF NORWEGIANS WINS GREAT INTERNATIONAL DASH

Captain of the Last Polar Honors Will Return Home by Way of the Northwest Passage Which He Was the First to Navigate.

London, March 8.—A cable today received from Capt. Amundsen says that he discovered the South Pole.

The confirmation of Captain Roald Amundsen's attainment of the South Pole on Dec. 14, 1911, received today, from the explorer himself, at Hobart, Tasmania, sets at rest the conflicting reports current on the subject yesterday.

NO WORD FROM SCOTT.

A dispatch published by the Daily Express in London yesterday morning, dated Wellington, New Zealand, declared that Amundsen had stated that Scott had reached the South Pole. It was assumed that this declaration indicated that Amundsen himself had not succeeded in attaining the object of the expedition, and credit was generally given to the British explorer.

Nothing has hitherto been heard from Captain Scott, and Amundsen now denies that he said, or telegraphed anything referring to his British rival or his expedition.

HONOR IS NORWEGIAN.

The honor for the achievement of reaching the South Pole must now be given to the Norwegian explorer until Captain Scott announces the result of his expedition.

London, March 7.—Captain Roald Amundsen has discovered the South Pole. Definite news has been received in London, via Christiania, that he reached the pole between the 14th and 17th of December.

December "14 to 17" is taken to mean by experts that when he reached the geographical pole, Amundsen waited three days, taking noon observations so as to accurately determine his position and exclude uncertainty—that is to say, to establish proofs that would be incontrovertible.

OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION.

Christiania, Norway, March 7.—I have received the following message:

"Hobart, Tasmania, Thursday, March 7, 1912.—Pole attained, fourteenth-seventeenth December, 1911. All well.

(Signed) ROALD AMUNDSEN.

(Signed) Leon Amundsen.

Captain Amundsen's brother, Leon, says Roald will go on a lecture tour of Australia and Europe, after which he will lead an expedition to the North Pole. Meantime the Fram, after making necessary repairs, will go to San Francisco, where Amundsen will meet her in 1913.

[Canadian Press.]

Hobart, Tasmania, March 8.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, denies having telegraphed anything regarding Capt. Robert Scott or the British expedition.

Capt. Amundsen, up to the present, is the only member of the Antarctic expedition who has landed from the Fram. Nobody is allowed to go on board the vessel under any pretext whatever.

The explorer says that he is pleased with the results of his expedition, but otherwise maintains absolute silence on the subject.

Capt. Amundsen intends to stay at Hobart for a few days. He will then go to Australia, and give a few lectures there, afterwards departing for Europe by the circuitous route of Buenos Ayres and around Cape Horn, up to the Behring Straits and through the Northwest Passage and the Arctic Ocean.

HAS SCOTT FAILED?

London, March 7.—The Daily Express today gives publicity to what purported to be a dispatch from Wellington, New Zealand, quoting Explorer Amundsen as saying that Capt. Scott, heading the British expedition, has reached the South Pole.

There is absolutely no confirmation of the dispatch. Lieut. Evans, the secretary of the Scott expedition, has heard nothing from the explorer, neither has the explorer's wife, and, as a matter of fact, the British explorer is not expected to reach civilization for several days. It is quite possible Amundsen and Scott may have met at or near the Pole.

NOTHING DEFINITE.

London, March 8.—None of the London papers this morning, with the exception of the Chronicle, has any definite news of the result of the race for the South Pole. The Times contains the following comment:

"It can only be a few hours now before we learn the facts. Capt. Amundsen's ship left Buenos Ayres at least a month before the Terra Nova sailed from New Zealand to Capt. Scott's headquarters. If the ice were favorable, Amundsen would then be able to start back long before Scott.

On his way back he might well have called at Scott's headquarters to learn the news, and so ascertain whether Scott had reached the Pole, or he may himself have reached the Pole, only to find that he had been forestalled by his English rival.

NO WORD OF SCOTT.

"The main point at present is that there is no reason to doubt that Amundsen might well have learned what Scott had done, and may have been generous enough to reveal the good news even before he cabled his own tale; but it is all conjecture, and we can only hope that early information may assure us of the Englishman's victory.

Lieut. Evans, secretary of the British Antarctic expedition, which Capt. Scott led, has issued the following statement:

"No authoritative news whatever regarding the success, or otherwise, of Capt. Scott's expedition has yet reached here."

ENGLAND ANXIOUS.

The Chronicle says, editorially:

"Our first thoughts (though we may have wished that Commander Peary's hope had come true, that the world should whirl between the enigmas of the same Anglo-Saxon race) will compel Britons, who have striven so heroically for the prize that has been won, to congratulate heartily that great explorer and his nation, to whom the honor of the discovery of the South Pole has so deservedly fallen."

TRIBUTE TO NORWEGIAN.

The Chronicle adds:

"England will wait most anxiously for news of the Scott expedition. Though robbed of its crowning glory, geography and science will undoubtedly profit from it. Capt. Amundsen's expedition, which has now ended successfully, was originally planned for the conquest of the North Pole, but, hearing the news which Peary brought back, Amundsen showed his resource and promptness of decision by at once steaming south to the glory of discovering neither the North nor the South Pole has fallen, but in the story of the exploration of the great ice continents this country played a splendid part, and we can join heartily with the whole world today in offering to the conqueror and to Norway a meed of praise which is so well deserved."

DR. C. S. WRIGHT

The only Canadian with Scott's Antarctic expedition, Dr. Wright went as one of the physicians of the party to make the meteorological and magnetic surveys, as well as some special work of the crystalline construction of the great ice barriers, that have blocked all former attempts to reach the polar regions.

AMUNDSEN READY WITH HIS CHARTS

Supposed to Have Met Captain Scott In Bay of Whales on January 19th.

SCOTT'S RETURN DELAYED

The British Explorer May Be Engaged With New Work of Scientific Nature.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 8.—Captain Roald Amundsen states that he will submit his charts and all information as to his expedition without delay, according to dispatches from Hobart, received by a special correspondent at Wellington, New Zealand.

After meeting Captain Scott in the Bay of Whales on Jan. 19, 1911, Captain Amundsen camped, with nine men, in the mountains of the Antarctic, at latitude 82° 45' S. He has not revealed his subsequent movements. Captain Scott's agent in New Zealand expressed the opinion that Scott must have changed his plans and proceeded with new exploring and scientific work, thus possibly delaying the return of the Terra Nova for some weeks.

New York, March 8.—The New York Times received a dispatch today from Roald Amundsen, at Hobart, Tasmania, saying that he knew nothing about Capt. Scott, the British explorer, and his expedition.

This message was in reply to one sent by the Times, asking Amundsen if he knew anything about Capt. Scott, and was brought out by the dispatch from Hobart, published first by a London newspaper yesterday, to the effect that Amundsen, upon his arrival at Hobart, had declared that Captain Scott had discovered the South Pole.

Another dispatch to the same effect as the one from Amundsen was received from Henry D. Ficker, the American consul at Hobart.

Also that the 5 per cent. tax on bar receipts be lifted so far as soft drinks, cigars and sandwiches are concerned.

LONDON IN A PANIC THROUGH SUFFRAGETTES

Both Houses of Parliament Have Been Closed to the Public.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 8.—The panic into which London has been thrown by the activity of the suffragettes, is reflected in the unusual instructions that have been issued for last night court, that ladies would not be admitted to the palace unless they presented their invitation cards, and also in the announcement that both Houses of Parliament will be closed to the public to-day.

A woman speaker at a militant suffrage demonstration held at the opera house last night said that if any woman desired to judge the panic the action of the suffragettes had caused, let her go to the nearest store and try to buy a hammer.

FRIGHTENED BY WHISTLE HORSE JUMPS OVER BRIDGE

Albert Goss, the Driver, Was Carried With the Sleigh Into the River at Chelsea Green—Queer Pranks of Animal When McClary's Whistle Blew.

Frightened by a sudden blast from the McClary foundry whistle, a horse belonging to Gordon B. Drake, an East London grocer, leaped over the railing of the Chelsea Green bridge at noon yesterday, carrying the driver, Albert Goss, and the grocery sleigh with it in its fall of 20 feet. Goss escaped with a few bruises and the horse was badly cut, while the sleigh and groceries are a total loss.

The accident happened at 11:30 yesterday morning. Goss was delivering groceries in the neighborhood of the McClary works, and was driving into Chelsea Green.

Just as the outfit was crossing the Adelaide street bridge the big foundry whistle began to blow. With a side leap, the frightened horse crashed into the side of the bridge, the impact breaking about twenty-five feet of the railing and the whole outfit rolling down an embankment onto the ice thirty feet below.

The Driver Jumped.

Goss had little warning that the sleigh was going over, but he managed to spring clear before hitting the ice, thus saving himself from serious injury. The horse fell on the sleigh, and smashed it into kindling wood, while the groceries were scattered all over the ice.

This is the third time this week that a horse belonging to Mr. Drake has figured in a runaway. On Wednesday afternoon Goss was trying out a new animal that Mr. Drake had just purchased, and it ran away on the Hamilton road, throwing the driver into a snowbank. On Monday, another horse belonging to Mr. Drake ran away, but no serious damage was done.

WOMAN HORRIBLY BURNED WHILE OUT EMPTYING ASHES

Mrs. C. L. Burns, of Wingham, May Not Recover—Her Dress Caught From Hot Coals—Neighbor Badly Burned While Attempting Rescue.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wingham, March 8.—Mrs. C. L. Burns was horribly burned at her home here, when her dress caught fire after she had emptied hot ashes from her coal stove into the snow.

In an instant her clothing was a mass of flames. Her cries attracted neighbors, who succeeded in smothering the flames. Mrs. Burns was hurried to the hospital, where it was found that her arms and back had been badly burned. All her hair was burned off.

Mrs. Hutton, a neighbor, had her hands terribly scorched while beating out the flames. Mrs. Burns is in a very critical condition.

MONTREAL BOARD OF TRADE APPROVE THE CENTRAL CANADA

Line Will Be Built to This City, and Subsidies Are Being Asked.

[Montreal, March 8.—At a meeting of the council of the board of trade yesterday the railway committee reported, with regard to the application of the Central Railway Company that the council should approve of the granting of the usual subsidies for that line, which runs between a port in Georgian Bay and Montreal, as it affords another direct route for the export of western products and because the company offers to give running rights to the Intercolonial Railway over its lines from Montreal to Midland and from Toronto to Port Stanley, via Stratford and London, extensions which the company is authorized to build, thus extending the Intercolonial into the most important sections of Ontario.

The council approved the committee's report and will address the Minister of Railways and Canals accordingly.

Being advised that a deputation of boards of trade and municipal councils would wait on the Government on the 14th instant to urge an immediate commencement of work upon the Georgian Bay Canal, the council appointed a committee to represent it and to present a resolution in support of that project.

COMMONS TALKED BOUNDARIES UNTIL TWO THIS MORNING

Mr. Pugsley's Amendment Calling a Conference Was Defeated.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, March 8.—The amendment by Hon. William Pugsley that the provinces should be called into conference before more terms of more money was granted to the provinces was defeated by a majority of the Government was thirty-one.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie moved a resolution designed to cut Manitoba out of the two million dollars back allowance which the bill proposes to give. The Liberal members maintained that there was no warrant for this payment.

The Government held that Manitoba should be put on the basis of Saskatchewan and Alberta and that the date of the revised terms should be two years back. This amendment was also defeated.

Mr. Mondou, Nationalist, of Yamaska, then started to debate his resolution, which declared that any regulation which declared that any rights which the Roman Catholics of Quebec have should not be taken from them by joining Manitoba. As Mr. Mondou, in a speech the other night, stated that the people of Quebec had no rights, he did not get much support from his own friends. Premier Borden, at 2 o'clock, suggested the adjournment of the House.

CHAUCER ELLIOTT VERY ILL; RESULT OF OLD ACCIDENT

The Famous Athlete Is Going to New York for Treatment.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Kingston, March 8.—The life of Edwin S. Chaucer Elliott is in danger as the result of an old trouble of a few years ago, when he had the misfortune to have a leg injured by a fall at that time. The member never got well, and when in Western Ontario a few weeks ago, acting as referee of hockey games, he hurt it again. Local doctors have advised him to go to New York and take the radium treatment, as it is stated that that is his only hope of recovery. Amputation, it is stated, would be useless owing to the fact that the trouble has reached his system. The announcement was made today, and Elliott's many friends in hockey, rugby and baseball circles are greatly shocked. He received the first injury while at Queen's. It was stated this forenoon that he would leave for New York to undergo treatment in the course of a few days. He has been staying at his home here with his wife and little child.

Chaucer Elliott was last year manager of the St. Thomas Canadian League baseball team.

COUNSEL FOR ONTARIO IN MARRIAGE ARGUMENT

The Evangelical Alliance Interviews Premier Whitney on the Matter.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, March 8.—A deputation from the Evangelical Alliance waited on Sir James Whitney this morning with a request that the Ontario Government appoint counsel to represent the Province when the stated case with reference to the ne temere, to be submitted to the Privy Council, to guard the interests of the provinces, and secure a definition of marriage. The deputation asked that in event of the outcome of the stated case of the Federal Government leaving any doubt as to the standing of the Province on the matter, the Provincial Government submit a stated case of its own in order to set all doubts at rest.

Sir James assured the deputation, he has already taken up the question of appointment of counsel with his colleagues, and the Province would be represented when the case came up.

It is understood that L. F. Hellmuth will represent the Province.

John Edmondson, Hudson Bay Post, north of Maniwaki, legs broken.

E. A. Lamb, Ottawa, head cut.

J. Hassan, G. Gobey, Joseph Dove, Muldoon, Que., legs broken; J. R. Maxwell, Ottawa, seriously hurt.

Mrs. (Rev.) Gagnon, of Pontiac, back injured.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, March 8.—Five killed and nearly twenty injured, many of them seriously, was the toll of an accident this morning on the C. P. R. line between Hull and the Union Station here, when a freight train ran into the rear of the Pontiac passenger train, which was backing into the Union Station. There were thirty-four passengers on the train.

The responsibility for the accident seems to rest with a mix up over orders, the crew on each train apparently thinking they had a clear right-of-way, as both were travelling at a high rate of speed. Doctors and ambulances from both Hull and Ottawa were rushed to the scene, and as soon as possible the dead were removed and the injured cared for.

MAY ACCEPT $32,000 TO LIGHT THE CITY

Water Commission Are Likely to Reduce the Amount Charged the Council.

But as Already Stated the City May Block the Back Bill by Getting Cheaper Street Lighting.

The figures for the street lighting will not be made public, the water commissioners claim, until they meet No. 3 committee to discuss the question with them.

Last year the contract called for $30,000, the same as an old-fashioned system, when the London Electric had the contract. The actual cost of the lighting system was $21,500, the commissioners clearing $8,500 on the transaction.

Of course, $6,000 was turned back. This year there will be no surplus handed back to the city, and as a result the aldermen are anxious to make a more advantageous bargain to offset this.

This Year's Terms.

The terms offered for this year's lighting called for $36,000. Under this contract the commissioners were to double the present lighting system, putting a lamp on each pole, in addition, there would be many cluster lights, the underground service being extended on both Richmond and Dundas streets. It would take their half the year to install this system, and consequently the extra energy would be used only a portion of the year. Some fault was found with this charge, as it was announced that next year, with more than double the number of lights in use, the cost would be $42,000, or $12,000 more than under the old conditions.

There have been some private conferences held regarding the matter. Some of the members of the council suggested that the price be left at $30,000 a year, the water commissioners to make such extensions as would cover the difference between this sum and the actual cost of lighting at present.

Chairman Pocock objects to this, taking the ground that it would be better to do the whole thing at once. There would be difficulties in the way of a partial system, as the board would be accused of favoritism in the distribution.

May Cut the Rate.

Thus the matter stands at present. There is a possibility that the rate will be reduced somewhat. It was semi-officially announced that the commissioners would agree to double the lights, etc., and charge the city $32,000 for lighting the city.

These figures could not be confirmed. Neither Mr. Pocock nor Mr. Chaucer Elliott would admit that this was the case.

The London Electric have made no further announcement as to their figures. The Advertiser was informed by one of the directors that their proposition would be ready in a short time, and would be so favorable that he could not see how the city could turn it down.

Conductor Killed.

The passenger train was in charge of Conductor John Anderson, of Ottawa, who was instantly killed, apparently from a blow on the head. His engineer was Joseph Murphy, and his fireman Camille Lemieux. The freight engine was in charge of Engineer Fred Cole, and William Short, fireman. All are of Ottawa. Anderson was one of the best-known conductors on the road.

The passenger train had come from Waltham, Que., and as is the custom at the Hull station, was reversed back into the Union Station. It left the Hull station at 9:22, and the accident occurred a few minutes later. Both trains were travelling at a good rate of speed, and as there is a sharp swerve just where the accident happened it was impossible for the crew of one train to see the other train till too late.

Car Telescoped.

The passenger train was composed of an engine, baggage car, second-class passenger and first-class passenger coaches in the order named. In backing up the first-class car was first, and it was the car struck by the oncoming engine of the freight. The impact caused the first-class passenger car to completely telescope the second-class car, over one half of the latter being completely demolished. It was in this car that the five were killed.

The first-class car, above the trucks, was practically intact, with the exception of the seats, which were nearly all torn from their fastenings and the vestibules, which were demolished. The baggage car was also considerably damaged, but was used to convey the injured to the Hull station, from which they were taken to the hospitals.

LONDON DISAPPOINTED AT TREATY FAILURE

Action of U.S. Senate in Amending Pact Renders Agreement of Little Use.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 8.—Although the action of the United States Senate in connection with arbitration was anticipated in official circles, keen disappointment is felt that it should be found necessary to amend the treaty, thus nullifying the work of months, for as it stands it is considered that an agreement is practically useless. There is no resentment, however, officials here having recognized that the British Government did its best, both to secure a good treaty and its endorsement by the United States Senate.

The evening newspapers do not express any surprise at the action of the United States Senate in amending the arbitration treaties, so as to eliminate from their operation the Monroe doctrine, immigration and state debts.

Such treaties are only possible between nations which are never likely to fight, and there is no need to sign and seal a declaration of non-aggression for one's brother. The Japanese must, says the newspaper, be laughing in their sleeves at seeing that the little piece of sugar by which Britain was secured has all melted away.

The Westminster Gazette attributes the action of the Senate to political exigencies.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN

Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian, who is first to return to civilization from the South Pole trip, is now 40 years old. He is a very tall, spare man, with a rusty red beard, a beak like a fish-bone, and the keen, kindly blue eyes of a Scandinavian sailor. He was graduated from the University of Christiania, and studied medicine for two years, but his passion for adventure was too strong, and he went to sea, like all his ancestors. He spent three years, from 1903 to 1906, in a little sloop, the Gjøa, with four men, fighting his way through the northwest passage. For his dash to the South Pole he had the commission of the King and Government of Norway.

Amundsen chose the route by way of South America. He left Buenos Ayres on board the steamer Fram toward the close of 1910. He passed through the Straits of Magellan and then steered for Ross Sea.

Amundsen placed all his reliance on 110 Siberian dogs, trained not only to the labor of drawing the sledges with supplies, but available as food by a steady ratio of reduction as progress to the Pole and back was made. Amundsen's men also counted on the use of skills going with the wind Amundsen counted that greater progress could be made on skills than Scott could make in his motor sledge.

UNITED STATES SENATE TRIMS THE ARBITRATION TREATIES

The Clause Which Cut Senate's Powers Was Taken Out.

Washington, March 7.—Stripped of clause three, which is claimed would invade the constitutional treaty-making power of the Senate, and with many other limitations added, the arbitrations between the United States and Britain and France, proposed by President Taft and Secretary Knox as forerunners of universal peace, were ratified by the Senate today by a vote of 76 to 3. The senators who voted against the ratification were Lorimer, Martine and Reed. The latter two are Democrats. President Taft tonight, before leaving for his speaking trip to Toledo and Chicago, did not comment upon the Senate's action. He had hoped to see the treaties passed unamended. He had declared publicly, however, that certain amendments would not be objectionable.

Clause three would have submitted to a joint high commissioner the question as to whether or not a difference was subject to arbitration, and its decision was made final. It was contended that that clause would take from the Senate its prerogative as part of the treaty-making power, and along that line the battle waged from first to last. Virtually the treaties, by the Senate's action, are up in the air. In their modified form they must be referred to Britain and France.

BORDEN IS ANXIOUS TO CLOSE THE DEBATE

Every Hour That Boundaries Bill Is Discussed Tells Against Govt.

Ottawa, March 7.—In a feverish effort to shut the door on the Manitoba school question before the big storm of protest breaks from the various disappointed elements in even greater force, the Government tonight passed round the word that silence from the ministerial benches was more discreet than talk, and the members were told to prepare for an all-night sitting with a view to putting the bill through before daylight. The more the details of the bill are ventilated the less satisfactory does the compromise appear to the divergent interests of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. The Government is frightened of further delay.

When the House resumed this evening, discussion of the bill in committee was confined exclusively to the "Liberal" side. Hon. Dr. Pugsley's amendment to withhold the operation of the act until a conference of Provincial Premiers had approved the financial terms granted to Manitoba was debated at considerable length.

Mr. Turgeon and Hon. Mr. Bimerson led the protest from the Government side. The Minister of Education, while Dr. Molloy, as a Manitoba Liberal, pointed out that Premier Borden's previous declarations that the Conservative Government would grant his province better territorial terms than Sir Wilfrid Laurier was prepared to give had been belied by the facts. Incidentally, the Manitoba member also noted that in his opinion the additional annual cost of subsidy of half a million for the province would not compensate it for the transfer of eight million acres of swamp lands to the Federal domain. At 12:30 Dr. Pugsley's amendment was defeated on a division of 101 to 62, a Government majority of 39. Mr. Guthrie proffered his amendment to strike out the retroactive subsidy payments, and suggested an adjournment. Premier Borden refused the suggestion. Thereupon Mr. Guthrie commenced to speak in support of his amendment.

Eat What You Like

AND WHAT AGREES WITH YOU, BUT DO NOT EAT TOO MUCH.

DIGESTION WILL BE GOOD IF YOU REGULATE THE SYSTEM WITH

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Overeating is the great cause of liver troubles, biliousness and constipation. The digestive system becomes clogged with poisonous waste matter, the liver fails and then follow kidney disorders of the most painful and fatal form, such as rheumatism, Bright's disease and dropsy.

The beginning is almost invariably with the liver and should be overcome by the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills before serious disease is developed.

An occasional dose of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills when the liver gets sluggish and the bowels constipated will keep the whole digestive system in healthy working order. Hundreds of thousands of people have found this out by their own experience and would not think of being without this medicine in the house. Others have been restored to health by this treatment after their cases had reached more serious and complicated stages.

There does not seem to be any medicine obtainable which is so successful in awakening the action of both liver and kidneys as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Merit alone can account for their enormous sales.

YOUNG ONTARIO MAN IS WITH CAPT. SCOTT

Dr. Wright, of Toronto, Went as a Physician to the Expedition.

Toronto, March 7.—With Captain Scott's Antarctic expedition is Dr. C. S. Wright, of Toronto, second cousin of Mr. Alfred Wright, of the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Company. Dr. Wright went as one of the physicians of the expedition to make the meteorological and magnetic surveys, as well as some special analytical work of the crystalline construction of the great ice barrier that has blocked all former attempts to reach the polar regions.

Dr. Wright is an Upper Canada College boy, and graduated from Toronto University with honors, carrying off the exhibition scholarship. Prior to his departure with Captain Scott for the South Pole, he was engaged with Prof. Sir J. J. Thomson, at Cambridge, in the Cavendish Laboratory.

Mr. Alfred Wright, of 60 Crescent road, father of the young Antarctic explorer, has not received any word from his son for about a year and a half.

FATAL FIGHT IN A RESCUE MISSION

Intoxicated Man Invades an Ottawa Institution and Starts a Fracas.

Ottawa, March 7.—There was a fracas in the Men's Rescue Mission Home this afternoon, and as a result a man is held by the police, charged with manslaughter, and another mission occupant is dead.

Joseph Call, aged 25, and William Knight are held by the police. Patrick Scanlon, aged 22, of Smith's Falls, drifted into the place in a drunken condition, seeking a fight. He met Call on one of the floors and they started to mix it. Call apparently hit Scanlon over the eye, and as the latter fell, he struck his head on the heating coils and broke his neck. Scanlon died before the doctor, who was immediately summoned, arrived.

An inquest will be held by Coroner Baple, prior to the police court proceedings. Scanlon arrived at the mission house two weeks ago from Smith's Falls, and had been working around town a little.

WRECK ON THE WABASH

Eight Cars Left Track When Train Hit Broken Rail.

[Canadian Press.] Danville, Ill., March 8.—With the exception of a negro cook, unidentified, the score of persons injured in the wreck of a passenger train on the Wabash Railroad, near West Lebanon, Ind., will all recover. It was said today, at the hospital in which they are being cared for.

The bodies of Mrs. D. B. Good, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Fred Grant, of Adrian, Mich., crushed to death when the day coach of the train rolled down a thirty-foot embankment, are at West Lebanon. The report that two unidentified men were dead in the wreckage proved unfounded today.

Eight cars left the track and went down the bank when the train struck a broken rail, and a steel mail car turned turtle, but the five clerks in it were unhurt.

CHURCH BURNED

Early Morning Fire at Frame Completely Gutted Fine Building.

[Special to The Advertiser.] From, March 8.—The Methodist Church here was completely destroyed by fire. The blaze was discovered about 1:30 by a farmer living close by, and he at once called all the people in the district by means of the rural phones.

The neighbors gathered quickly and succeeded in saving the church records and a good deal of the furniture. The building was erected 45 years ago. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

HELD FOR DESERTION. [Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, March 7.—Archibald

Feunell, who says his home is in Guelph, surrendered himself to the police here, stating that he had deserted from the army in Halifax four years ago. Feunell has since been living in Detroit and Boston. The police are communicating with the Halifax authorities.

GOING TO GODERICH

Mr. L. B. Tape Will Leave Ridgeway to Take New Position.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ridgeway, March 8.—Mr. Betts, the baker, has bought the residence of Mr. L. B. Tape, on the corner of Erie and York. Mr. Tape is moving to Goderich, where he has been given a new and better position with the Singer Sewing Machine Company. Mr. Betts is going to build a new and up-to-date bakery on York street, near to the new home he has bought.

The Oddfellows of Kent district, No. 2, honored Mr. B. W. Wilson, who is their only charter member, when on the occasion of the Lodge of Instruction conducted here they presented him with a very beautiful jewel. About 150 were present, 50 from Merlin, 50 from Bienenheim, and an equal number from Ridgeway. The evening was closed by a banquet at the Oddfellows' hall.

At the annual meeting of the Bowling Association, it was decided to hold their annual tournament on the first and second of July. Special Purchase Silk Underskirts, On Sale Saturday, $2.95

Tomorrow we offer one of the best purchases of Silk Petticoats we ever had the good fortune to procure. Manufacturers having surplus stocks of silk after completing the season's orders, came to us with a proposition to manufacture the balance of this particular line of silk at a price, one style running in black, and one for all colors. Styles 1 and 2, shown in illustrations, are exact pictures of the two styles, which were our own choice. The price, too, we might say, is our own fixing, and really less than we hoped at best to be able to sell them for. The quantities are limited in the different colors, and we advise early buying tomorrow.

Style 1 Black Silk Petticoats, $2.95

Chiffon Taffeta Silk Underskirt, made with 10-inch flounce, finished with tucking and dust frill of taffeta to protect skirt (as shown in illustration). Black only. Price $2.95 Second Floor.

Style 2 Colored Silk Petticoats, $2.95

Colors, navy, myrtle, red, delph blue, brown, gray and white. Chiffon Taffeta Silk Underskirt, with 14-inch flounce of knife pleating, top of skirt gored and close-fitting. Special $2.95 Second Floor.

A LOP-SIDED INCREASE.

The census shows that Canada's population has increased but 16.48 per cent. in rural districts, while advancing 63.82 per cent. in the cities. The rural increase, such as it is, is accounted for mainly in the west, partly in Quebec, New Ontario, and New Brunswick. Otherwise there has been a heavy decline.

With all the immigration one would have expected much better figures for the soil. The oldest parts of Canada are new enough to be still supporting a larger and larger farm population. Clearly a much smaller portion of the immigration itself has settled upon even the virgin lands than we thought, and the natural increase of our rural population has drifted to the cities.

The growth of the cities is in one way encouraging and perhaps in one way discouraging. The old parts of Canada are new enough to be still supporting a larger and larger farm population. Clearly a much smaller portion of the immigration itself has settled upon even the virgin lands than we thought, and the natural increase of our rural population has drifted to the cities.

Countries like Great Britain and Germany have, of course, the world in which to sell their manufactures. Canada cannot do much in this way for a long time. Her natural line is agricultural production. Cost of production is so high in a new country and raised so much higher by tariffs, that Canadian cities need not think to help themselves much by foreign exportation. They will succeed no better by the gymnastic exercise of pulling themselves up by the boot-strap, as their continued growth at the expense of a rural population implies.

Our cities must have their home market in a strong farming community at home. Well considered plans for stimulating agricultural development in New Ontario, and here in the garden of Ontario, should receive the support of cities as well as of farmers. It is as much as the cities' life is worth to allow the farm to go back. There must be reasons shown to the farmers why they should stay on the farm in Ontario. And the farmers must not be denied the best markets for their products, as they were denied by the defeat of the reciprocity agreement.

ROOSEVELT'S PLATFORM.

Canadians cannot be indifferent to political conditions in the United States. Some of the problems that confront our neighbors exist in Canada on a smaller scale, though they are becoming relatively as big and menacing here. They are being attacked resolutely in the United States, and they will have to be attacked in Canada, sooner or later. The arguments and policies of American politicians and parties can teach us much, and furnish examples to be followed or avoided. The candidature of Theodore Roosevelt, for instance, gives a more theoretical interest to the Presidential election, but it will not be an intelligent interest if it takes no account of his opinions and his teachings. Millions of his countrymen will follow him wherever he leads, and he may be the next President of the United States, though the cleavage in the Republican ranks points to the election of a Democrat.

In an address the other day to the Ohio Constitutional Convention, pretentiously styled "a charter of democracy," Mr. Roosevelt laid down the platform on which he will stand. A large part of his speech dealt with a question which is not so perplexing under the British system of government—the relation of the judicial to the legislative power. In the United States the two are often in conflict because the courts can invoke the rigid, written constitution against all manner of legislative acts. Mr. Roosevelt asks that in cases where a judicial decision sways the will of the people, or the intent of the legislature, the people shall have power to readily amend the constitution, so as to give their will legal effect. He has been furiously attacked on a charge of seeking to destroy the safeguards of the constitution and the judiciary, but there can be no doubt that the American democracy is too much fettered by the system of checks and balances devised by the authors of the constitution, who were distrustful of democracy.

On the trust question, which touches Canada more closely, Roosevelt's attitude is diametrically opposed to Taft's. Here is a significant passage:

"It is both futile and mischievous to endeavor to correct the evils of big business by an attempt to restore the middle of the last century, before railways and telegraphs had rendered larger business organizations both inevitable and desirable. The effort to restore such conditions, and to trust for justice solely to such proposed restoration, is as foolish as if we should attempt to arm our troops with the flintlocks of Washington's Continentals, instead of with modern weapons of precision. Flintlock legislation, of the kind that seeks to prohibit all combinations, good or bad, is bound to fail, and the effort, in so far as it accomplishes anything at all, merely means that some of the worst combinations are not checked, and that honest business is checked. What is needed is, first, the recognition that modern business conditions have come to stay, in so far at least as these conditions mean that business must be done in larger units, and then the cool-headed and resolute determination to introduce an effective method of regulating big corporations so as to help legitimate business as an incident to thoroughly and completely safeguarding the interests of the people as a whole."

This is inferentially a criticism of the economics of Mr. Taft, who says the business conditions of a former period can be restored by simply breaking up the trusts into their original units—"unscrambling the eggs," as Morgan pitifully called it. Roosevelt contends that combinations are inevitable, and may be beneficial; Taft contends that they are unnecessary, and can be prevented. Taft would destroy them, and Roosevelt control them. On this point he says:

"No effort should be made to destroy a big corporation merely because it is big, merely because it has shown itself a peculiarly efficient business instrument. But we should, if necessary, bring the regulation of big corporations to the point of controlling conditions that the wage-worker shall have a bare more than sufficient to cover the bare cost of living, and hours of labor not so excessive as to wreck his strength by the strain of unending toil and leave him unfit to do his duty as a good citizen in the community. Where regulation by competition (which is, of course, preferable), proves insufficient, we should not shrink from bringing governmental regulation to the point of control of monopoly prices if it should ever become necessary to do so, just as in exceptional cases railway rates are now regulated."

Taft says that such a measure of regulation would be half-way to state socialism and would end in that. He pretends to find an adequate remedy in the Sherman anti-trust law, which has dissolved the oil and tobacco trusts. Roosevelt retorts that these concerns have merely changed their clothes, and not their characters or their methods. The difference between the two positions is fundamental. The line of demarcation cuts clean across the Republican party, and threatens to sever it.

Roosevelt bids boldly for the support of the insurgent Republicans, by advocating the election of United States senators by the people, instead of by the state legislatures; in the initiative and referendum, and in the popular election of delegates to the Presidential nominating conventions. These again are not questions bearing directly on Canadian politics, but Canada is gripped by trusts and combinations as tightly as the United States, and the problem presses as insistently for solution. One factor in solving it is the tariff, and another is the regulation of capitalization. Some method of governing the capitalization of large corporations or mergers, is necessary to just tariff legislation, and to the protection of the public.

SCOTT OR AMUNDSEN?

It is to be hoped the dispatches sent out Thursday morning crediting Capt. Scott with the discovery of the South Pole will be confirmed by the gentleman himself. They were based on an Associated Press dispatch from Wellington, New Zealand, and on a message to the London Daily Express from its Wellington correspondent. It was reported that Capt. Amundsen had admitted Capt. Scott's success. Capt. Scott is not yet within touch of civilization, and Capt. Amundsen seems to have modestly advertised his own feat in a prosaic cipher telegram of eight words to his brother in Norway. It is possible, as Lieut. Shackleton says, that the two explorers may have met at or near the pole, and that Scott may have reached it first.

It will be a disappointment to Britons the world over if the prize has not fallen to one of "the blood." Shackleton had paved the way for both Scott and Amundsen. But if a Briton has failed, there will be no grudging the Norwegian his glory. He has been a chivalrous rival, and has spent toilsome years in deeds of high and bold enterprise with the gallant spirit of his race.

Mr. Pelletier has the courage, not of his pre-election professions, but of his post-election portfolio.

Sir James Whitney said there were no bilingual schools, and there is little in Dr. Merchant's report to indicate that the Government was aware of their existence.

Bourassa and Laverne have done their worst again. This time they are after the scalps of the Borden Government. Politicians who vited their friendship deserve their enemy.

A mob of men hanged Miss Panik-hurst in effigy and threatened a suffragette meeting with violence. At the same time this is not a convincing argument for restricting the vote to the male sex.

The Toronto police have offered a reward for the capture of a Toronto doctor, and have flooded the continent with circulars descriptive of him. No; the doctor so much in demand is not Beattie Nesbitt.

If the glory of the South Pole is not to go to the English-speaking race it is appropriate that it should go to a descendant to the Vikings. They were great explorers in their day and their posterity has never lost its genius for maritime adventure.

THE ENGLISHMAN'S DIET.

[Ford Madox Hueffer, in the By-stander.]

The Englishman has changed his habits of life in every other particular but his cookery, and then he wonders that he is hypochondriacal and despondent. Before the English were a town-dwelling race they were in the habit of wolfing down great masses of tepid, underdone meat, of some sort of gross boiled in water, of some sort of starchy meal-stuff that was called a pudding. Then the good Englishman walked off the terrible effects of the sodden mass in his stomach. He plodded over miles and miles of turnips, currying a gun and in search of something to kill, whilst his wife sat at home and had vapors and migraines and became generally "feminine" and unfitted for the vote. Nowadays the Englishman—the immense majority of him—is no longer fitted for tramping in among the heavy mists over miles and miles of wet turnip leaves. His life has changed. But still, with his coaching idealism, though he cannot lead a life of nature, he must idealize a diet of a nature that would kill a Patagonian savage in three weeks.

HENLEY ON LISTER.

[Public Opinion.]

Lord Lister, the great apostle of antiseptics, and therefore one of the greatest benefactors to mankind of today, the future, has just died. The poet W. E. Henley was once a patient under Lister's care at Edinburgh, and wrote the following lines:

His brow spreads large and placid,
And his eyes
Is deep and bright, with steady looks
That still
Soft lines of tranquil thought his face fill—
His face at once benign and proud and shy.

If envy scout, if ignorance deny,
His faultless patience, his unyielding
skill,
Innumerable grackles reply.
His wise, rare smile is sweet with certainties,
And seems in all his patients to compel
Such love and faith as failure cannot quell.

THE QUIET NIGHTS.

[Katharine Tynan.]

Unmindful of my low desert,
Who turns even blessings to my hurt,
God sends me grace and grace and grace,
More than the sands on the seashore.

Among the blessings He doth give
My starveling soul that she may live,
I praise Him for my nights He kept
And all the quiet sleep I slept.

Since I was young who now grow old,
For all those nights of heat, of cold,
I slept the sweet hours through, not
I heard.

Even the call of the first bird.
Nights when the darkness covered me
In a great peace like a great sea,
With waves of sweetness who should
Wakeful for mine iniquity.

Cool nights of fragrance, dripping
sweet,
Under the sublimity of heat,
Amid grey meadows drenched with dew,
Sweet was the sleep my eyelids knew.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT NO LONG-ER FRIENDS.

[Maurice Low, in the Morning Post.]

It is unnecessary for any sane man to inquire whether Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt are on friendly terms. There is an open breach between them. It has existed for many months. At the beginning an effort was made on the part of Mr. Taft, who is too sensitive to care to have differences with a former friend advertised to the world, although persons close to Mr. Taft well knew what his feelings were. It was inevitable, in the nature of things, that this break should come. Circumstances might make the two men friends, and their friendship might be maintained up to a certain point because the one man was useful to the other, but there it must end. In every thing Mr. Taft is unlike Mr. Roosevelt, the contrast is no greater physically than it is in mind and temperament.

BEAUTY OR UGLINESS

[BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.]

Women can be beautiful or they can be ugly, just as they desire. It is far easier to think good thoughts than bad ones. It is only a question of determination.

It is easy to look lovely when all the world smiles upon you and you have all desires granted. Then, if you appreciate your gifts, and share your joys, and do not become bored by a surfeit of good things, you should look clear-eyed and beautiful. The difficulty is for a woman to look beautiful through adversity. But faith and hope in the ultimate fulfillment of her heart's desires will make that woman beautiful.

Faith gives a serene, peaceful, and beautiful expression to the ordinary eye. Love beautifies the eyes and expression of the mouth. Is any expression more beautiful than the smile of a loving mother when looking at her children? The person who cannot read character in the faces of people has no sympathy or discernment. It requires a study of human nature to read character in the faces of unknown people whom we meet in the course of life. But it is easy to do so if one becomes accustomed to observe the expression of the eyes, mouth and nostrils.

Men and women should carefully watch the expression of their faces and avoid anger or vindictiveness of any sort. Those two emotions are the strongest in the destruction of beauty of contour and expression. A feeling of indifference is fatal to expression, as it reflects in the countenance a flat, unintelligent, totally uninteresting appearance, with shifting eyes.

Remember: Faith in God and his goodness and consideration for humanity are the thoughts that soften and beautify the expression of the face.

CYNTHIA'S CHAUFFEUR

[BY LOUIS TRACY.]

"About a day and three-quarters," he essayed, before the silence grew like some.

"Wrong, sir. Is it worth a bob?" and the urchin grinned delightfully.

"Yes," he said.

"A day and five-twelfths, 'cos one man can do one-quarter in a day, and another man a third, which is seven-twelfths, leaving five-twelfths to be done next day."

Though the millionaire financier was nettled, he did not show it, but paid the shilling with apparent good grace.

"Did you find that out—or was it Dick Davies?" he asked.

"Both of us, sir, with a foot rule."

"And how far is the Symon's Yat Hotel, measured by that rule?"

"Half a mile, sir, down that there lane."

While travelling slowly in the narrow way, Simmonds turned his head.

"It doesn't follow that because the boy saw Viscount Medenham yesterday, his lordship is here now, sir," he said.

"You just do as you are told, and pass no remarks!" snapped Vanrenen.

If the head of the house of Vanrenen were judged fairly, he would not be judged fairly. He was tired physically, worried mentally; he had been brought from Paris by an awkward moment; he was naturally devoted to his daughter; he believed that Medenham was an unmitigated scamp and Simmonds his tool; and his failure to solve Medenham's arithmetical problem still rankled. These considerations, among others, may be ascribed to his attitude.

But Simmonds, who had stood on Spion Kop, refused to be browbeaten by a British earl, he certainly would not grovel before an American plutocrat. He had endured a good deal since five o'clock that morning. He told his tale honestly and fully, and even sympathized with a father's distress, though assured in his own mind that it was wholly unwarranted; he was genuinely sorry on hearing that the many hotels of Bristol for two hours before he came to the right one. But to be treated like a serf—no, not if Simmonds knew it!

The car stopped with a jerk. Out leaped the driver.

"Now you can walk to the hotel," he said, though he distinguished the hotel by an utterly false name.

The more sudden the crisis the more prepared was Vanrenen—that was his noted characteristic, whether dealing with men or money.

"What has bitten you?" he demanded calmly.

"You must find somebody else to do your detective work, that is all," came the stolid answer.

"Don't be a mule."

"I'm not a mule. You're making a d—d row about nothing. Viscount Medenham is a gentleman to his finger tips, and if you were one you'd know that he wouldn't hurt a hair of Miss Vanrenen's head, or any lady's, for that matter."

"Where my daughter is concerned I am not a gentleman, or a viscount, or a person who makes d—d rows. I am just a father—a plain, simple father—who thinks more of his girl than of any other object in this wide world. If I have hurt your feelings, I am sorry. If I am altogether mistaken I'll apologize and pay. I'm paying now. This trip will probably cost me fifty thousand dollars that I would have scooped in were I in Paris tomorrow. Your game is to attend to the benzine buzz of the contract and leave the rest to me. Shove ahead and step lively!"

To his lasting credit, Simmonds obeyed; but the row had cleared the air. Vanrenen liked the man, and felt now that his original estimate of his worth was justified.

At the hotel, of course, he had much more to learn than he expected. Oddly enough, the praises showered on Fitzroy contrasted with the opinion that Cynthia was the victim of a clever knave, he he titled aristocrat of mere adventurer.

For the first time he began to suspect Mrs. Devar of complicity in the plot.

A nice kind of chaparral she must be to let her girl go boating with a chauffeur on the Wye! And her Sunday's illness was a palpable pretense—or arranged affair, no doubt, to permit more boating and dallying in this fairland of forest and river. What thanks he owed to that Frenchman, Marigny!

Indeed, it was easy to hoodwink this hard-headed man in aught that affected Cynthia. Count Edouard displayed a good deal of tact when he called at the Savoy Hotel late the previous night, but his obvious relief at finding Vanrenen in London had induced the Earl of Fairholme or of Dale, Marigny, of course, was silent as to the Earl, since it might have ruined his last faint hope of success had the two perplexed fathers met; Simmonds's recent outburst opposed an effective bar to further questioning, so Vanrenen was free to deduce all sorts of possibilities from the existence of yet another villainous chauffeur.

Unhappily, he availed himself of the opportunity to the full. The fair countryside and the good food of the March counties had done little to soothe his hunger for revenge. He pined to be in Chester, yet restrained the impulse that urged a frenzied scurry to the banks of the Dee, for he was adamant in his resolve not to seem to have pursued Cynthia, but rather to have joined her as the outcome of a mere whim after she had met Miss Leland.

The Mercury arrived at Ludlow long before Vanrenen crossed the Wye Bridge at Hereford. Medenham stopped the car at "The Peathers," that famous magnie among British inns, where Cynthia admired and photographed some excellent wood carving, and saw an iron-studded front door which had shut out revellers and the night each alternate round of the clock since 1609, if not longer.

If he hurried over luncheon they were content to dawdle in the picturesque streets, and Cynthia was reluctant to leave the fine old castle, in which Milton's "Masque of Comus" was first played on Michaelmas night of 1634. At first she yielded only to the flood of memories pent in every American brain when the children of the New World stands in one of these treasure-houses of history and feels the pulsing of its dimly-gleaming past.

They stood together in the ruined banquet hall; Medenham gave play to his imagination, and spoke of the bright eyes of a maiden long since dead.

"You will please regard yourself," he said, "as the Lady Alice Egerton, daughter of the Earl of Bridgewater, Lord President of the Marches of Wales, who, with her two brothers, was banished in the Forest of Heywood while riding to Ludlow to witness her father's installation in his high office. Milton was told of her adventures by Henry Lawes, the musician, and he wrote the 'Masque of Comus' to delight her and her friends. Have you read 'Comus'?"

Propriety and Styles.
Dear Miss Grey: I have read your column for the past year, and saw some interesting items, and I should like you to answer for me the following questions:

1. Is it proper for a lady to take presents from her beau?
2. How often should a young man go to see his lady friend?
3. Are long engagements or short engagements proper?
4. Are long coats going to be worn this coming summer?
5. Are kimono waists going to be fashionable this summer? Also are embroidery dresses to be worn?

MARIE.

1. Quite proper to accept gifts, such as flowers, candy or books.
2. Opinions differ. Some say "once a week and twice on Sundays."
3. The length of an engagement should be decided entirely by the circumstances of the people concerned. It is not a question of propriety.
4. Yes.
5. Yes, to both questions.

Typewriting Rates.

Dear Miss Grey: Can you tell me the charge for commercial typewriting? Prices vary from 5 to 8 cents per page, according to the size, is the average charge.

A Parkhill Reader.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following questions in your paper as soon as possible:

1. Is cocoa good for children to drink?
2. For a dining-room papered in brown, with a pure white ceiling, what color would be nice for the woodwork, there being a wainscoting?
3. Is raw silk fashionable for a dress for a middle-aged woman this summer? Would it be nice trimmed with black?
4. What will take the oil out of hair, without washing it?
5. How to make icing for a cake with maple sugar?

A READER.

1. It is considered very beneficial for both children and adults.
2. Would suggest a tone of brown that harmonizes with the wall covering.
3. The silk will be quite popular, but I would not advise trimming of black. Pippings of brown and bands of ecru lace insertion seem more suitable.
4. Give an occasional dry shampoo with orris root and cornmeal.
5. This recipe may answer: Add the beaten white of one egg to a cup of maple syrup, and spread on the cake.

Nellie's Hat.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please advise me in the following:

1. Will white linen hand-embroidered hats be worn with white dresses this summer?
2. Would a hat made of white butcher's linen, with a ribbon fastened around the crown, be all right for a girl of 14 to wear to school (no embroidery to be used on it)?

NELLIE.

1. Yes.

2. It would be very nice—quite simple and girlish—for every-day wear.

For a Wedding.

Dear Miss Grey: As I have an invitation to a house-wedding, kindly advise me what to wear, as I have no money in the world.

I have a new black silk waist. Should I put in a light cream yoke or collar?

I think you had better insert the lace yoke and collar, or else one of mauve silk. If desired, the mauve could be veiled with black net.

NELLIE.

rangements for the tour were made during his absence in France, so he was not fully posted as to details.

"Oh, they did not intend to remain here on Saturday, but Miss Vanrenen liked the place, he remembered to be rather taken with the hotel—whereat the millionaire nodded his complete agreement. "So Mr. Fitzroy telegraphed for a man named Dale to come to Hereford. There was some misunderstanding, however, and Dale only arrived yesterday in the car. He left by an early train this morning, after doing the garage work."

Simmonds, candidly told about Medenham, had said no word said no word of Fairholme or of Dale. Marigny, of course, was silent as to the Earl, since it might have ruined his last faint hope of success had the two perplexed fathers met; Simmonds's recent outburst opposed an effective bar to further questioning, so Vanrenen was free to deduce all sorts of possibilities from the existence of yet another villainous chauffeur.

A SAD PICTURE.

"We have in this island about ten million families. Of this ten million, rather less than one million are paying income tax and rather more than one million would be paying it, if it were only levied.

"Some two to three millions—according to the standard you set—are objects thrust down, by the villainess of a social system that is dying of its dirt, into a condition far worse than anything discoverable elsewhere in Christian Europe. Of these two (or three) millions rather more than one million form the outcasts—the very lowest stratum of all, below which it is impossible even for industrial anarchy to reduce men. A DAY IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SIDE LIGHTS ON MANY SPORTSOTTAWA TEAM WILL BE COMPLETE
WITHIN A WEEK OR TEN DAYS

Manager Shaughnessy Is Making an Effort to Land Some Fast Collegians—Expects to Open Season in Ottawa—Rube Deneau Is Busy Signing Up Players.

Ottawa, March 7.—Manager Frank Shaughnessy, of the Ottawa Baseball Club, announced last night that he would have his team practically complete within a week or ten days. Shaughnessy received the contract yesterday of Shortstop McMahon and expects to hear from Dick Smith within a day or two. He is confident of securing the services of Pitcher Martin Walsh and is now dickering with two fast boys who are on the payroll of the Boston Americans. Manager McAleer has promised Shaughnessy one or two good ones, and Frank expects to land a pitcher and an outfielder. He is in right with several of the big league managers, and as soon as the training camps break up there will be a plethora of brilliant youngsters on the market. There was another meeting of the Ottawa club yesterday and everything is now in grand working order.

WILL SKIN DIAMOND.
The Ottawa intend to apply to the Central Canada Exhibition Association for permission to skin the diamond at Lansdowne Park and will start work on the field just as soon as the snow is off the ground. Shaughnessy thinks that the south side field will make an excellent ball park. They are also negotiating for a new ground on the Hull side of the river. Connaught Park will not be ready in time, but the Ottawas are sure, in any event, of a good fast field. A meeting of the Canadian Baseball League is to be held next week and Shaughnessy will go up to represent the Ottawas. The dates will then be announced.

A GOOD SEASON.
"Indications point to a great season in Ottawa," said Shaughnessy last night. "We have been very successful to date in our negotiations for players and I feel safe in promising Ottawa a team that will run one or two in the championship race." Shaughnessy has turned down ten or twelve veterans who were anxious to come here. He wants snappy young players, and will favor the college men every time. The local season will open about May 15 and the inaugural day will be marked by a big celebration. Mayor Hopewell will pitch the first ball and the Ottawas will endeavor to have their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught present for the occasion.

MAY OPEN IN OTTAWA.
There is now a possibility of Ottawa opening the Canadian League season in Ottawa instead of up west. The team will train up in either the Niagara district or Chatham and will be rounded up two or three weeks before the opening of the season. It will be about as good the middle of May as it will the last week of that month. The management is in favor of opening here, if possible. The team opening at home at the start of the season always has an edge on the team that opens away and there is no doubt it counts a lot to get a good break at the start of a long pennant race.

Manager Shaughnessy got a letter this morning from Joe Ferrin, of the Boston Americans, recommending a shortstop and third baseman for Ottawa. Ferrin is a personal friend of Shaughnessy and speaks so highly of the two youngsters "Shag" is tempted to give them a trial.

DENEAU BUSY.
Berlin Telegraph: George "Rube" Deneau is commencing to build up his touring staff. Though Bramble is still feeding the chickens on his Kansas farm upholding the request of the German Napoleon to send in his signed contract, a portlander, Webb, has been signed up in the meantime, and Frederick will likely send his along when he gets time to write. Brain has been reaping a fortune keeping the hen fruit in cold storage since reciprocity was defeated over here, but when the trumpet is sounded will be prepared to set sail for the cold northland. Bramble was last year regarded as the brainiest player on the team by Scout Joe Sugden, who accompanied the team for over a week, and was pretty handy with the hickory, landing on the ball for 302 in sixty-one games, which is some wallowing for a pitcher. Bramble will be back, all right.

WEBB A GOOD ONE.
Now this Webb that Deneau has signed up is some ballplayer. There sure must be some class to him when he held a permanent job on the heating army under Pop Anson in the semi pro league which did business about the western metropolis. He has also seen service under Jiggs Donohue, the former White Sox veteran. He is only a kid, and throws the ball with the left wing, "and I guess he must be fast enough for our club," writes Rube.

A FEW BLUNDERS.
[Berlin Telegraph.]
When Guelph released Abbie Johnson of his amateur services, he was only a kid, and throws the ball with the left wing, "and I guess he must be fast enough for our club," writes Rube.

When Deneau released Denny Conley to St. Thomas.
When Knotty Lee had the Canadian League pennant clinched on paper.
When Bill Rose grooved one for Rube Deneau in the ninth inning with two on at Berlin on June 19, with Hamilton two runs in the lead.

When Bill Lane was given his unconditional release by Guelph.
When President Williams rejected an offer of $1,200 and players from President Murphy, of the Cubs, for Scotty Cameron.
When the league dispensed with the services of Empire Brecher because he was unpopular with the Bradford officials.

When a New England League club unconditionally released Tom Grives to Hamilton.
When Knotty Lee purchased Groh from Fall River and released Conny Murphy.
When the league dispensed with the services of Empire Brecher because he was unpopular with the Bradford officials.

When the league attempted to invade Bill McCaffery's territory.
When the Saginaw club, of the South Michigan League, raised up Scotty Cameron on account of his size.
When Pop Williams backed up his dug-outing into a trap set by the team.
When Chaucer Elliott tried to win a pennant with a team that couldn't hit.
When the Bradford board didn't improve the Athletic grounds.

HORSE GOSSIP

Gatcomb has bought Gay Audubon for the free-for-all events this year.
With the offerings at Boston, Hartford and Salem it is certain that the grand circuit horses will go east this year.

In the free-for-all race at Readville for $2,000 all horses with records slower than 2:04 will pay half of the usual starting fee.
Walter Cox expects to carry Centerville along this year and educate him up to a mile in better than 2:10, then stake him in 1912.

Billy Andrews is going to train a big string this year for the first time in a long while. Ordinarily he prefers about six.
The championship free-for-all trot for $2,500 at Hartford has the first round, although it will be expensive to the association.

Major Brino is to be trained and raced again. This gelding is about 15 years old, but apparently sound and is a little better each season.
Two-year-olds in Michigan will be trained this season as they never have in the past. Everybody who has one thinks that he is the best of the lot.

Michigan breeders showed where they stand when they unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the stand of the American Trotting Association against hobbles.
Entries for the Charter Oak, $10,000 stake for 2:14 trotters, close on March 28, but the horses need not be named until August 20, and nominations are transferable.

It is expected that the response to the Michigan trotting for foals of 1912 will be larger than the case of either of the other fixtures, the first of which matures next year.
Littleton Farm horses have been shipped from Columbus to Washington, Pa., where they will be trained on the half-mile track. Scotty McCoy has been handling them, but it is not known whether he will stick to the job.

Valetto, 2:18 1/4, by Mabel, raced well on the half-mile tracks last year and wound up with a trial of 2:13 1/4 at Goshen. He will be taken to the grand circuit this year and is counted on to make a good showing in the slow trots.

It is reported that this will be the last winter in the south for Lon McDonald and that he has arranged to tarry at Rockingham Park next year. The Murphy and Cox horses from the north seem to have lasted best in the campaign of 1911.

Baron Reaper, 2:03 1/4, will try the Grand Circuit this season.
Charlie Mitchell, 2:04 1/4, is in "Doc" Tanner's stable at Brunswick, Ga.
Uhlman and Charlie Mitchell will, it is said, be sent after the pole record.

Uhlman, 1:58 1/4, will be shipped from Brunswick, Ga., to Memphis, Tenn., March 1.
The Matron stake, estimated value $3,000, will be raced during the Pittsburgh Grand Circuit meeting, August 5 to 8.

Frank L. Bishop, of Newtown, Pa., will use the pacer J. B. Hanlon, 2:14 1/4, by Wilkes Boy, on the roads this season.
James Hogan, of Memphis, Tenn., will race Ashland Clay, a full brother to Ruby Clay, 2:09 1/4, by C. F. Clay, 2:13, at the big mile track meetings.

Walter Cox thinks that in Peter Johnson, the 2-year-old grandson of Peter The Great, for which he paid $1,125 at the New York sale, he had the best youngster that he has ever handled.
Fay Kirk (2), 2:15 1/4, by Council Chimes, 2:07 1/4, is still a bird in the stable of F. S. Kirk, her former owner, but he will be shipped to Toledo, O., March 1, when she will join John Gagnan's stable.

McDonald's stable of over 30 horses arrived at Memphis in last year's condition. While the weather there is a little cold for Memphis, there is no ice or snow and the track is in splendid condition for the making of cold speed.

It is now possible for a trotter or pacer that had made a record of 2:09 1/4 on a mile track to start in a race for the 2:12 class on a half-mile track, provided that he or she has not made a record of 2:12 1/4 or better on a half-mile track.

In search of futurity material, Chas. Dean has bought of Maple Leaf Farm, Delavan, Ill., a bay yearling colt by Trampfast (2), 2:12 1/4. This fellow is registered as Trampstunch. His dam is Lizzie Chimes (dam of Matt L., 2:15 1/4), by Baron Wilkes.
Michael Murphy, of Philadelphia, has retired the pacer Urban Roberts, 2:04 1/4, by Ethan Wilkes, dam Lady Roberts. Murphy, in turning out the pacer that was driven to his mark, W. L. Snow, has discovered that he must never be harnessed again as long as he lives.

BANK OF TORONTO
HAVE LOST THE CUP

St. Peters Avenged Themselves for Defeat Administered Last Season.

GAME WAS A FAST ONE

But Cupholders Were Outclassed at All Stages, and Were Never in Running.

St. Peters won the first of the Lancaster cup games when they defeated the Bank of Toronto last evening at the Westminster rink by a score of 8 to 3. The half time score was 4 to 0 in favor of the ultimate winners.

The game was a fast one, both teams maintaining a terrific pace throughout. In the first half St. Peters had the combination working fine, and together with a little individual rushing, they obtained a good lead.

In the second half the Bank of Toronto team started well by notching two goals. St. Peters seemed to fade for a time, and it looked as though they might lose. However, they braced up, and during the rest of the half outplayed their opponents.

INDIVIDUAL RUSHES COUNTED.
Individual rushes and brilliant combination featured the game. The St. Peters defense worked splendidly, and it was their excellent work that kept the Bank of Toronto from scoring more than a few goals. Patten, in goal, played a sensational game, his blocking of what looked like sure goals being frequently applauded.

Harold McPhillips, at point, also played a good game. He stopped a good many dangerous rushes of the Bank of Toronto forward line, and was also a great help to his own forwards.

Buchanan, at cover, was one of the stars of the St. Peters team. Although only a youngster, Buchanan is fast enough for Junior O. H. A. company, and he will likely land there next season. His playing was a feature of the game last evening. In the first half he scored two of the four goals on individual rushes, carrying the puck through the whole Bank of Toronto team. He was slightly injured in the knee in the second half and retired for a few minutes, later coming back on to the ice.

TWO FAST PLAYERS.
R. McPhillips, at rover, and Bettebridge, at centre, played a strong game for St. Peters. Both are good stick-handlers and fast skaters, and they were right up with the puck at all times.

"Nig" Wilson, at right, played his usual good game, and contributed largely to the victory of his team. Webb, on left wing, was also good, and he gave Parsons a busy night of it.

The losers, Morrison and Wells played best, with MacArthur and Parsons close seconds. The Bank of Toronto forward line was particularly strong, but with the exception of Wells, the defence was a trifle weak. Mine, in goal, played much better game, letting a lot of easy ones get past him, while Sullivan, point, Wells, cover, Morrison, cover, MacArthur, centre, Parsons, right, Waram, left.

HOMER REFERRED.
Homer Pearson referred in a satisfactory manner, and although both teams had a little toward rough playing, he managed to keep the players pretty well in check. Several penalties were handed out during the game, both teams having about an even number.

St. Peters—Patten, goal; H. McPhillips, point; Buchanan, cover; R. McPhillips, rover; Bettebridge, centre; Wilson, right wing; Webb, left wing.

CURLING

The games were closely contested, and were enjoyed by the players. Play commenced in the afternoon and continued until late in the evening, the ice being in splendid condition. The winning rink consisted of Messrs. C. Hawkins, W. T. Edge, Thomas Shaw, and Skip Rumball.

The results were as follows:
F. G. Rumball, plus 12.
J. Stevenson, plus 8.
B. Wanless, plus 5.

W. Cox, plus 4.
E. M. McAlpine, minus 2.

CALGARY BEATEN
AGAIN BY VICTORIAS

Westerners Lose All Chance of Winning Allan Cup This Season.

SECOND GAME GOOD ONE

Victorias Had to Travel All the Way to Win Out—Calgary Led at Half-Time.

Winnipeg, March 7.—After leading for three-quarters of the distance, and putting up a much faster exhibition than in the first game, the Calgary Allan cup challengers were finally forced to yield to the Winnipeg Victorias by the count 6 to 4 in the last game of the series.

The hockey was not up to the standard of the first game, but the play was much more interesting, owing to the fact that the visitors put up a wind finish saved the cup-holders from defeat.

CALGARY LED AT HALF TIME.
The westerners were leading by a score of 3 to 1 at the half way mark, and shortly after the second period had started increased their lead by one more tally, and style. But as soon as the locals got going they played the challengers off their feet, and goal after goal came their way, until finally victory rested on their arms once more.

In the last part of the game, when the play became exceedingly exciting, the score was twice tied, the Vics making every count a tie and then going ahead, only to have the Calgary boys come back with another score.

DION'S GREAT WORK.
The locals, however, were not to be denied, and some sensational playing by Coo Dion resulted in two more tallies for the Bisons.

Though the blue-shirted boys played a much faster game of hockey than on Tuesday night, they were not able to make much different proposition, as the Vics laid off two men to rest up for the Eaton series, and on the whole the locals were all to pieces. The big lead of the holders was also responsible for the Vics going to their regular clip. But it was not until the second period that they got going at their regular clip. But it was made a great fight to win at least one of the games, though they had no chance of overcoming the lead of eleven goals which they were up against at the start.

They scored six goals against that strong defence of the Victorias says a lot for the westerners, and they were going better than in their initial appearance here. As a result of the two games the Vics have a majority of thirteen goals.

CLARK WAS GOOD.
"Chuck" Clark, the sturdy little goal-keeper of the visitors, again figured very prominently in the play, and showed his clever exhibition on Tuesday night. He was no fluke, by putting up an ever better game tonight. He was not over-extended, as many spectators say as in the first game, but he stopped shots which would have put the Vics scores against any ordinary net guard.

The checking was again very hard, and the officials had a busy time, but there were few injuries. Dion getting a bad cut over the eye, which did not keep him out of the game very long.

CHANGE A GOOD ONE.
The change in the line-up of the Calgary team proved to be a good move, Davidson playing a better game on the forward line than in the first game, though he got very dirty toward the finish and went to the penalty box too often to be of service to his team. Dion's wide-winged playing in the last half and McKenzie's star work throughout were the features of the game, both men outstripping every other man on the ice. Lowes was good in the second period, while Ken played a useful game at point for the losers.

Kelly Keen was referee and half Bearsto judge of play, and both men did good work. The teams:
Calgary—Clark, goal; Kent, point; McCammon, cover; McKenzie, rover; Tedden, centre; Lowes, left wing; Davidson, right wing.
Victorias—B. Baker, goal; Fowler, point; Moffatt, cover; Dion, rover; Belcher, centre; H. Baker, left wing; Wickson, right wing.

ST. JAMES AND KNOX
TIE IN PRESBYTERIAN

Will Have to Play Off For the Championship as Result of Last Night's Game.

ST. JAMES' WON 6 TO 1

Knox Lost Its First Game of Season Last Night to North Enders, Who Played Rings Around Them.

The Knox Church hockey team, which has been leading the Presbyterian League all season, met its first defeat last evening, when it was beaten by St. James, by a 6 to 1 score. As a result of the game both teams are tied in the Presbyterian League race, and another game will have to be played to decide the league championship.

Last night's game was a splendid one, and one of the fastest seen in the Westminster Rink this season. The St. James' players went on the ice with the determination to win and even matters up for the defeat handed out to them by Knox Church a couple of weeks ago. Both teams had their strongest lineups, and as a great rivalry exists between them, the game was full of excitement every minute.

The score gives a good indication of the comparative strength of the teams last evening. St. James seemed to have it on their opponents in combination and shooting, and also in skating.

THE FIRST HALF.
In the first half, St. James dug right in at the start, and in two minutes had counted the first goal. A little later they made it two, and a minute after scored a third one. Just before half time, St. James landed another, making the score 4 to 0 in their favor at half time.

In the second half, the checking and playing was much closer, the Knox players evidently realizing that they were in for a trimming, but making a big effort to break into the score column.

The Knox defence was playing a great game, but the forward line was only good in spots, and consequently St. James had little trouble in breaking up any dangerous rushes.

The St. James line-up was shifted, Parkinson going to point and McLean to cover. The change seemed to work for the better, and will likely be permanent throughout the remainder of the season.

THE STARS.
Parkinson played a particularly good game at point, while Callahan in goal played well, and only allowed one shot to pass him. The rest of the team were also good. Callahan, Wright and Walden having the combination down pretty fine. McLean and Worrell played their usual good game.

For the losers, Martin, McQueen and A. Murray were stars, while Washburne and Parks on the wings were also good.

Referee George Chantler was entirely satisfactory.
The teams were:
St. James—Callahan, goal; Parkinson, point; McLean, cover; Ab. Callahan, rover; Walden, centre; Wright, left; Worrell, right.

Knox—Henderson, goal; McQueen, point; Martin, cover; K. Murray, rover; A. Murray, centre; Washburne, right; Parks, left.

BASKETBALL

PARIS COMES TONIGHT.

The Paris intermediate basketball team will come to London this evening to play the second game of the O. B. A. semi-finals with the London team. The Paris team will be strengthened for tonight's game, and the locals will have to travel all the way to beat them. There will be no change in the London line-up, with the exception that "Cap" Stephens will be back in the game.

DUTTON SENIORS LOSE TO ST. THOMAS TEAM

Strathconas Were Too Strong For Dutton Team, and They Won Out By Score of Seven to Two.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Dutton, March 7.—In one of the most interesting games played in the Princess rink here, the St. Thomas Strathconas, with five men of the St. Thomas Beavers on their line-up, defeated the Dutton senior hockey team by the score of 7 to 2. The St. Thomas goalkeeper was a star, and the score would have been more even. Babbitt and McDonald were the stars for the visitors, while Black and Smith played the best game for Dutton. Referee Hodd, of St. Thomas,

Joe Jackson may not be a highbrow in the matter of schooling, but he has the sense to save his money and is now quite a property holder in his home town of Greenville, S. C. He has bought a home for his mother and sister and a couple of pieces of property for himself, and the real estate agents of Greenville say he has as keen an idea of real estate values as any man they ever dealt with.

If any promising college player gets away from Connie Mack they will have to start early. Scout Tommy O'Brien, of the Athletics, is already on the job looking for the College squads in New England.

NORTHERN LIGHTS BEAT OWEN SOUND

All-Star Team, Picked From Chesley and Warton Players, Is a Fast One.

GAME WAS ONE-SIDED

MacKay, of the All-Stars, Scored Eight Goals Out of Ten For His Team.

Owen Sound, March 7.—An all-star hockey team, composed of the choice of Chesley and Warton. Northern League players, defeated the local Northern League team by a score of 10 to 4. The game was very one-sided. MacKay, of Chesley, who scored eight goals, was easily the star of both teams. The lineup:

Referee—A. Grant.

RAIN HOLDS TIGERS UP ANOTHER DAY

Players Put In a Strenuous Day Playing Everything But Baseball.

NO SIGNS OF A LET-UP

Del Gainer Joins the Squad, and Says His Arm Is in Great Shape.

Monroe, La., March 7.—With the exception of the arrival of Del Gainer, who got in this morning, there was nothing to break the dull monotony of the Tigers' lives today. Of course, it rained but this fact hardly can be considered news any longer. The grounds where the Tigers used to practice would be all right for one of Jules Verne's Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, but they will not do for candidates for the Ban Johnson circuit just at present.

At an early hour this evening it still was raining in that steady, determined sort of way that is most of a cloudburst in the long run. Even the natives who have been predicting good weather ever since the arrival of the Detroit party, are getting discouraged and to ask anyone to think that ever will clear off is, court trouble in its most vivid forms.

LOOKING FOR MORE RAIN.

The betting is even money that it rains another day and one to two that it never stops. Right now we are but 30 odd days behind the mark established by the original deluge and in a couple more days it will be time to start building an ark. Even if it should clear off tomorrow, which is highly improbable, the field will be too soft for any practice worth speaking of. It will take at least a couple of days of bright sunshine and strong wind to dry up the chain of lakes that marks the places where the base lines used to be.

GAINER FEELS BETTER.

Gainer says that he feels as well as he ever felt in his life and that he is confident his arm will not give him much bother. He has been bowling with the regulars, ten-pin balls this winter and the injured wrist stood the strain without showing any symptoms of trouble. The young first baseman is something of a star on the alley, and thinks nothing of knocking off scores of better than 200. As he was able to indulge in bowling, an exercise that brings a great strain on the wrist he ought to be able to handle a bat without trouble.

The articulation of the injured wrist is much better than it was last fall, almost as good as that of the left Gainer thinks of the game with the spring training trip the callosities which interfere with free movement will be absorbed entirely. His general health is much better than it was last spring, and he should round into form quicker. At present Del weighs about 185 with his ordinary clothes on, while in 1911 he reported about 15 pounds under weight as a result of an attack of tonsillitis from which he was convalescing when the squad reached Monroe.

USE QUARTETTE OF PITCHERS.

Manager Jennings announced tonight that he would use four pitchers in Saturday's game with the Louisiana Industrial Institute if the weather permits this contest. Hughie wasn't sure who the men would be to go on mound duty, but it is likely that three right-handers and one southpaw will be given a chance.

Bill Louden will play third base, Oscar Vitt shortstop, Baumann second, and Gainer first, with Perry, Westerville and McCorry in the outfield. Westerville is to be sent to the meadows, not because he is by any means out of the running for the third-sack position, but because Jennings wants to have a look at the batting of all three of the recruits against the college twirlers. McCorry is given a chance in the outer line of defence on account of the pepper he has shown in chasing flies in practice, and his ground-covering ability. One of the hope of last year's averages, too, Mike, the best hitter among the young moundsters.

Both Onslow and Kocher will be sent in to take a turn behind the bat, as Jennings wants to size up their work in comparison. There is no doubt that the whole Tiger team will be in poor shape for the game on account of the rain this week, but the collegians who live but a few miles away are just as badly off.

The Cubs are hoping that Harrington, the southpaw secured from Louisville, will prove to be a youthful Jack Pfeister. Chance's men went through last season without any pitching strength to port and they badly need a good left-hander. The newcomer played last season with the Lynn (Mass.) team, being drafted by the Colonels. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 190 pounds and is only 20 years old. Reports have it that he has excellent control, something southpaws do not always possess.

BILLY EVANS' YARNS

"What would you do if the fans applauded every close decision against the home team instead of hissing and threatening your life?" a fan asked me one day last summer.

"It requires nerve to give a correct decision when the play is close. Instead of being hissed the umpire should be applauded," continued the fan.

The question and resulting opinion just about floored me. When I recovered I answered, "I'm afraid applause under such conditions would be so strange the umpire would become frightened and jump the back fence."

When you pause to consider it, this is one unique phase connected with umpiring which perhaps has never occurred to the lover of the game. It is a common thing to see the hero or heroine of a play applauded for stage bravery and now and then the villain is given a hand for clever handling of a difficult situation.

On the football field it is customary to cheer the gladiator who wins the day with a great run or by some great play prevents a score. The pitcher who fans the mighty batter in a pinch is cheered. Injury of a player wins the crowd's sympathy.

But can you remember when an umpire was applauded for excellent umpiring? The best he gets for good work is silence. For fair work he is hissed and roasted to a rich, dark brown. When he stops a foul tip it is usually time to gloat and express a wish that the ball had injured him severely.

The umpire never draws applause, never expects it. Such action by the fans would probably result in a fainting spell on the part of the arbitrator.

TRAINING CAMP TIDINGS

ATHLETICS AT SAN ANTONIO.

San Antonio, Texas, March 7.—The Athletic veterans arrived this morning but the rain prevented practice. The only important development of the day was a conference between John T. Brush, Manager Mack and Morris Block, president of the local club, with reference to the series between New York and the Athletics. Negotiations have reached a point where only a question of location keeps the teams apart. The Athletics are willing to play, if the contests take place on March 16 and 17 at San Antonio. McGraw was satisfied with this date but wants the Athletics to go to Dallas, which they decline to do.

NAPS LIMBER UP.

Mobile, Ala., March 7.—The Naps put in a "limbering up" practice this morning. The game of one old cut was taboos, as Manager Davis did not want them to work out too hard. In the afternoon they went from soup to nuts, so to speak. The programme that was in order at Monday's and Wednesday's sessions was carried out. George Cook, the latest arrival in camp, was in uniform, as were the other Naps, with the exception of Jim Ziegler, who is still suffering with blisters on his heels.

BROWNS GO SOUTH.

St. Louis, Mo., March 7.—The Browns left tonight for Montgomery, Ala., where they will train, today's snow here and the weather outlook foreing President. Hedges to visit. Pitcher Barney Peltz arrived today, all the Browns being here for the trip except Austin, the holdout. St.

SOX WORK OUT IN GYM.

Waco, Texas, March 7.—Rain prevented practice at the ball park today, and the White Sox had to content themselves with a strenuous afternoon workout at the gymnasium. Indoor baseball was included in the programme. Manager Callahan announced today that Ralph Fournier, the French-Canadian, would be given a thorough trial at first base instead of the outfield. Callahan was much impressed with the youngster's slugging yesterday, and thinks he has picked a wonder.

WORLD'S SERIES IS OFF.

Marlin, Texas, March 8.—There will be no exhibition games this spring between the Giants and Athletics. Manager McGraw had written to President Brush and Connie Mack, both of whom are in San Antonio, that the Houston and Galveston clubs had refused to cancel their games with the Athletics on March 16 and 17. It is now up to the Athletics to cancel their games on those dates, and therefore the series is off.

It is not cold again kept the Giant squad indoors today, not even a conditioning sprint being attempted. Two squads of Giants will leave here tomorrow for Dallas and Fort Worth respectively to play Saturday and Sunday.

CUBS HAVE A WORKOUT.

New Orleans, La., March 7.—Under a high sky studded with sunshine, the Cubs today partook of the best workout of the campaign. A round of batting practice was ordered by Manager Chance. Chance sent Cole, Riddle and Toney to the slab, and put Chapman behind the bat. The pitchers cut loose with a full head of steam to try out the lungs of the much-fought hitting phenoms. Orr, Ward, Miller, Agler, Moore, Casey, Smith and Lennox batted a few rounds and then took the infield positions, while the regulars batted against the tender. Archer, Sheekard, Sean and Tinker played infield and Evers batted a little. Mordant Brown arrived only this morning. He will go out with the squad tomorrow.

BASEBALL BULLETINS

The shunting of George Schiel, ex-Giant, to the Louisville Club of the American Association, and the trading of "Peaches" Graham to Philadelphia prunes the Cub catching staff down to Archer and Needham as the only experienced backstops on the Chicago pay roll.

Secretary John Heydler will invade the Florida golf links in March, and expects to bring home a few cups. He has two full sets of clubs, from steel-shanked drivers to Louisville sluggers, and has become so swollen with pride over his game that he avers he can beat Barney Dreyfuss.

"Dots" Miller, the New Jersey boy with the Pittsburgh Pirates, has entered the National Bowling Tournament, to be held at Patterson, New Jersey, next month. Miller is a plunger of exceptional merit and will team up with Hans Wagner, of the Pittsburgh Club, in the two-man bowling event.

Sammy Strang, one time of the New York Giants, is booming the American pastime in France. Sammy is studying vocal music in Paris and has been elected president of an amateur baseball league of the gay city. He intends to take a whirl at the managerial end of the game besides filling a regular place on one of the teams.

"Deacon" Jim McGuire, who will act as tutor to the Tiger pitchers and catches down south this spring, says that Detroit has a future great player in Alexander Remeas, the big right-hander from Butte, Montana. "If you hadn't grabbed this big boy Cleveland would have taken him south this spring instead of Detroit," McGuire told Frank Navin.

Mike Kahoe, the National's prize scout, expects to leave town on March 11, bound for the sunny southland. He will cruise around from one training camp to another, much as he did last year, keeping his eyes on the youngsters with other teams and informing Griffith which of them are worth experimenting with. "Just as soon as the time were here, too," says Mike.

Norman Elberfeld has been purchased by the Chattanooga club from Washington. Elberfeld would have played second base. There is some doubt as to whether Elberfeld will agree to the salary offered by the Chattanooga club.

[BY LARRY HO.]

There's a wall of grief and sadness on the crisp winter air. The baseball managers are bowed in terrible despair—The season's due to open and they're eager for the fray. But, alas, they find the players have decided not to play.

There's Kelley who was counted on to knock the fence-boards down; He will not sign unless he gets a diamond-studded crown—His dignity demands it, so he'll stay at home this year And earn his forty plunks a month distributing the beer.

There's Olson with a box of curves stored in his mighty arm, Declares he's been insulted, so he'll stay upon the farm. He cannot see six thousand, which is all they offered him—He'll fish and leave the corn-cobs at the hogs, with speed and vim.

There's "Beats" Dobb, who used to strut in glory on the field; Demanded fifteen thousand, and the owner wouldn't yield—So, in a fit of dudgeon he declares he'll play no more But hand out halibut and cheese at grandpa's country store.

There's Axelsen, so fleet of foot, he's got the catchers' goat; He fulles, "They think me easy by the letter what he wrote—But I'm no sucker; don't you think—they'll get no word from me; I'll just deliver honey, for my wife, she keeps a bee."

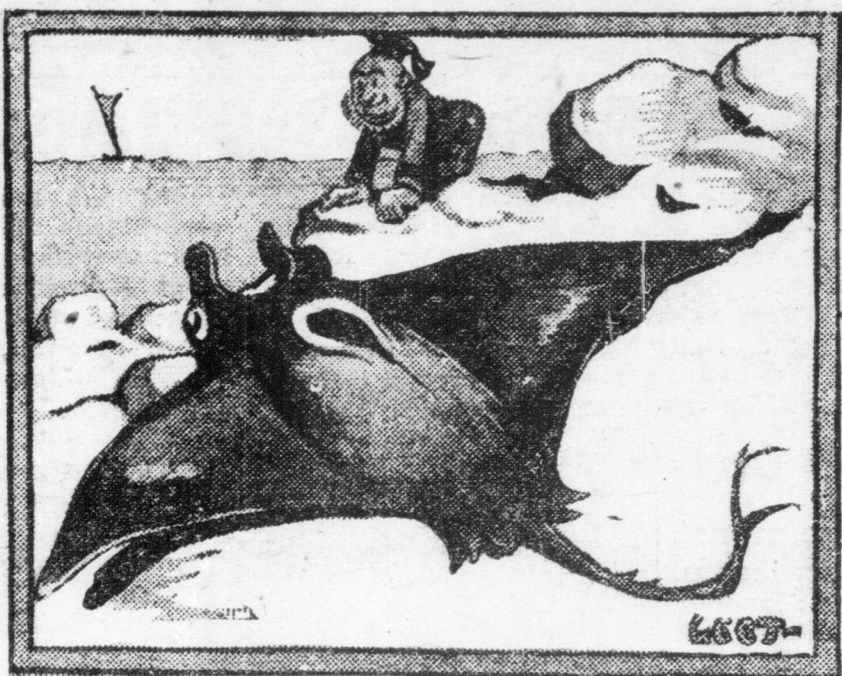

And so it goes, the stars all swear they've quit the game for good; Why should they play, when they can toil among the hay and wood? Why should they sell themselves like slaves, and wear their lives away When they can take it easy driving buses by the day?

How beautiful and touching in this day of cruel greed, When grabbing all the coin in sight is everybody's creed, To see these stalwart players curb commercial appetites And shun the filthy lucre, rather than give up their rights.

And yet there be, I'm sad to say, some quite suspicious folk, Who took upon these awful threats as nothing but a joke; They tell me independence, like a cloud shall pass away And never son of swart shall be discovered, pitching hay.

CAP'N JONAH--HIS FISH

What's This Strange-Looking Creature? A Devil Fish! No Wonder Cap'n Jonah Keeps His Distance, But Let's Stay and Hear the Devil Fish Tell His Own Story.

By the Devil Fish.

Do I frighten you? I know I do. I am a hideous-looking creature. I look like a horrible, immense tadpole. My body is broad and flat. It is soft and flabby! It is cold and clammy!

My head is large. On each side of it is a sort of a wing. My tail is long, slender and like a whip. It is armed with two long, dreadful spines. Each of my jaws has several rows of teeth.

I am very strong. I have killed many a shark, and have overturned a large fishing boat. I can travel through the water as fast as a racehorse.

A brother devil fish of mine, that was caught, weighed five tons. It took 26 oxen and several men to drag him to shore.

Most sailors fear us, but sometimes we are caught by daring men with harpoons. We are valuable as food.

Oh! I am an exciting fish, I am! Good night. Don't dream about me!

LINK UP EMPIRE WITH WIRELESS

British Postoffice Department Accepts the Terms of the Marconi Co.

CONNECT ALL COLONIES

The Scheme Will Render Empire Independent of the Submarine Cable.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 8.—After many delays the British Postmaster-General, acting on behalf of His Majesty's Government, and the governments of the dominions and colonies, has formally notified the Marconi Company of the acceptance of the terms submitted by the company for the construction of all the long-distance wireless stations which are required for the imperial wireless scheme.

Godfrey Isaacs, managing director of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, said today:

"The Postmaster-General's notification to us marks the first step toward the establishment of a globe of wireless stations round the British Empire. The scheme has vast and far-reaching possibilities. It has been advocated for a number of years, but it was not until last June, when the colonial premiers and Postmaster-General Herbert Saul acclaimed the practicability of the scheme before the imperial conference, that a decisive step was decided upon.

"The results of this is now shown in the decision of the governments concerned to proceed with the construction of stations forthwith at the following places: London, Egypt, Aden, Bangkok, India, Pretoria, South Africa and Singapore.

"This chain of stations represents only the beginning of the scheme, which will be carried further in the near future throughout the empire, so as to enable the empire to be to a great extent independent of the submarine cables.

"The importance of the scheme for public, commercial and strategic purposes will be appreciated by a glance at the map. There is no doubt that stations will be established in countries contiguous to the colonies for communication, with them, in which case the colonies will be in the position of being able to communicate cheaply and directly with any country with which they are doing business within a radius of two or three thousand miles."

Music and Drama

Here for Three Performances.

"Brewster's Millions," the most successful farce-comedy of recent years, will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre, and twice tomorrow, Louis Kibbitt will be seen as "Money" Brewster, which he plays so well that one forgets the absurdity of the thing any sympathizes with the young millionaire in his desperate effort to get rid of one million within a year in order to be eligible for a second inheritance of seven times that amount. The other characters are in practically the same capable hands identified with the play during its run of 98 consecutive weeks. Miss Grace Nye will be seen as "Peggy" Gray. "Brewster's Millions" is a play one can see several times.

"Madame Sherry." The haunting strains of "Every Little Movement," which forms the musical theme of "Madame Sherry," will soon be revealed to the playgoers of this city, for "Madame Sherry" is announced for a return visit at the Grand next Tuesday night. Though there are 22 musical numbers in "Madame Sherry," all charming and alluring, the motif song has become epidemic, and for many months it has been played, hummed, whistled and sung wherever music is known. Several new songs have been added to the already delightful score. Seats go on sale today. Mail orders from outside city.

A Splendid Attraction. Seldom have Londoners been treated to such a rare musical programme as that given at Wesley Hall, Thursday

BOURASSA SENDS AN ULTIMATUM

Orders the Quebec Ministers to Give an Account of Their Stewardship.

A HUGE DEMONSTRATION

Nationalist Leaders Plan Great Mass Meeting at Montreal and May Tour Province.

Montreal, March 7.—The die has been cast. The Nationalists under the leadership of Henri Bourassa have sent out an ultimatum, and the Quebec ministers are to be called before the bar and forced to give an account of their stewardship. Dissatisfied with the conduct of Messrs. Monk, Pelletier and Nantel, and with the other Nationalists who refused to vote as directed on the Keewatin boundary question, Bourassa is arranging for a monster meeting to be held in the Monument Nationale, to which the three ministers have been summoned. The meeting will be held the latter part of next week, with Bourassa himself as the prosecuting attorney. On the same night another monster meeting will be held in Quebec city, presided over by Armand Lavergne.

Plan a Tour. Following these two meetings Bourassa, Lavergne, and others of the Nationalist leaders purpose visiting every constituency in the province represented by Nationalists, and explaining to the people of those constituencies how their party and church have been betrayed by the Quebec ministers, and the Nationalists who supported the Borden Government. The five Nationalists who booted are lauded as national heroes and saviors of their race.

The plans for the campaign have been carefully prepared by the Nationalist leaders, and a decision was reached today to hold these monster meetings, demanding of every minister an account of his stewardship, and then carrying the war into every constituency in the Province of Quebec.

Bourassa and Lavergne feel that they have been tricked by Borden and the Conservative party. Even the ministers who were chosen from the Nationalist ranks have proved unfaithful to their pledges. However, Bourassa is determined to have no more of this. The ministers and members of the Nationalist party who proved faithless to their pledges are to be called to account, and the people of the province are to learn exactly what Nationalism means. Among Nationalists there is not the slightest doubt that the campaign being planned by Bourassa and Lavergne will be sufficient to force the three ministers to resign from office, or, at least, compel them to adopt a policy which will mean the disruption of the Borden administration.

Bourassa Warns. Le Devoir devotes its leading editorial today to an attack on Hon. L. P. Pelletier for the part he took in the debate on the Keewatin boundary question. Le Devoir says the speech has not added to the reputation of the Postmaster-General. It was largely, in fact, against Laurier and his friends, and was far from convincing his own party. After discussing the history of the Manitoba school question, the editorial says that Messrs. Pelletier and Monk "funked." Pelletier had recourse to tactics little in keeping with the dignity of his own position. The article ends by warning Mr. Pelletier that Le Devoir will not speak twice about this matter.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, March 8.—Police Officer Chambers, of Port Huron, was in Sarnia today on business connected with the Major case. Mr. Chambers reports that nothing new has developed in the affair. He further said: "I think it likely that the man wanted as the principal in the case may not answer the description given out. It is hard to state a man's height with certainty and people when excited often give queer descriptions."

Roy Farrell and Ben Brines were arrested last night as "Drunks and Disorderlies." They appeared before Magistrate Gorman today and a fine of $2 and costs was imposed on both.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Wingham, March 8.—A musical cantata given in the town hall recently by the members of the Wingham Choral Society, under the leadership of Professor J. H. Christie, was a great success. The choir numbered 75 voices, and their rendition of the various selections showed the results of their careful training. In addition to excellent anthems there were beside the regular numbers solos by Mrs. Beattie, Mrs. Farquharson, Mr. F. Hill and Dr. Price.

PRAISE FOR MR. ELLIOTT

Canadian Farmer Says He Is Fourth in Importance Among Liberals.

The Canadian Farmer has the following to say of Mr. J. C. Elliott, M. P. for West Middlesex, whose debating ability is being felt in the Legislature of late: "Gladstone once said that the House of Commons was the finest training ground that any man could have. It gave him self-control, judgment and perspective. As one follows the work of the members from one session to another, the truth of this statement is well borne out. Mr. J. C. Elliott (West Middlesex) is serving his second term as member of the Legislature. Three years ago he delivered his maiden speech on the debate on the address, took some part in the work of the public accounts committee, and saved down the day he is fourth in the Liberal line-up, and is developing great promise as a parliamentary orator. The other day he crossed swords with the Premier. A situation arose in which an untrained man might easily have been astray and transgressed upon the rules of good taste. Quietly, and with splendid self-possession, Mr. Elliott held his ground, turned the rebuke of the Premier back, and came out unscathed."

BORDEN BLOCKS REID EXPOSURE

Stifles Discussion on Unjust Dismissal By Minister of Customs.

ARRAIGNED BY PUGSLEY

Premier Much Peeved Has To Hurry to the Rescue of His Colleague.

Ottawa, March 7.—Because he declared that he "did not approve of bribery at elections," Lyman C. Smith, collector of customs at Oshawa, was dismissed by the Borden Government.

The amazing admission was made in Parliament by Hon. Dr. Reid this afternoon when taken to task by the Opposition during the consideration of his bill to amend the civil service act. Morever, Premier Borden rushed to his defence in the matter, and battled with Hon. Dr. Pugsley for several minutes in an effort to choke off the determination of the Liberals to let the light in on the matter.

Mr. Sinclair read the return brought down in connection with the case, which showed that the ex-collector had expressed the opinion that he also read Mr. Smith's letter to the minister, as previously published in the Globe. Dr. Reid declared that he dismissed the official on that letter.

Dr. Pugsley pressed for further explanation. The minister's declaration seemed astounding. "All I can say is that the letter read was what I acted on," said Dr. Reid. "I considered the letter as read justified his dismissal."

"What!" exclaimed Dr. Pugsley, incredulously. "Mr. Giffels was on his feet. 'What particular part of the letter caused him to be dismissed?' he persisted. 'The whole letter,' rejoined Dr. Reid. 'The man admits he expressed an opinion, and he was practically canvassing.' 'It is an opinion that every honest man in this country holds,' commented Mr. Sinclair.

"Well, he attended meetings and expressed opinions, and I dismissed him. That's all," retorted Dr. Reid, now evidently embarrassed.

He did not expect the matter to be brought up in this way. "But the minister was not to escape. 'The minister has confessed with painful frankness,' commented Dr. Pugsley. 'It is hard to find words to express the character of his confession.' He tells us that upon that letter, which is in the highest moral tone, and the contents of which no honest man could object to, he dismissed this official. He dismissed the man, according to his own admission, because he stated that he did not approve of bribery at elections."

Borden Interrupts. Dr. Pugsley was proceeding, when Premier Borden sprang again to his Premier Borden interrupted. He objected to Dr. Pugsley being allowed to proceed further with his exposure. He raised the point of order that the New Brunswick Liberal was not in order in discussing the matter on the bill before the House. He could give notice and get time set apart for the discussion.

"The Premier is a little late with his point of order," replied Dr. Pugsley, undaunted by the attempt to stop him. "His minister of customs has chosen to discuss the matter and has given grounds, amazing grounds, for the dismissal of this official. My action is wholly relevant in view of the minister of customs enunciating such a doctrine as he—"

Borden Peeved. Premier Borden sprang again to his feet, this time in manifest anger. "You can't avoid the point of order in that way," he exclaimed, appealing again to the point of order that the Liberal speaker. "I hold the ground I have taken," persisted Dr. Pugsley. "My Rt. Hon. friend the Premier is evidently trying to prevent discussion of this matter. It is a very strange thing for him to insist—"

Premier Borden again interrupted, appealing once more to the chair.

At this point Deputy-Speaker Blondin arose and ruled with the Premier. Any further discussion of the matter was out of order. Hon. Dr. Pugsley intimated that the Government would not escape by checking discussion, and promised to ventilate the matter later.

BROKE HIS HIP

John McPhedran, of Copleston, Was Buried Beneath Gravel Bank.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Copleston, March 8.—John McPhedran, of Copleston, had his hip broken at the gravel pit on his property here by the falling of the bank. He had just refused to allow some teams to load at this point, as he considered the overhanging bank dangerous, and was standing clear of the bank when it fell and struck against his leg.

C. P. R. WOULD DIVERT STREET

Plan Submitted to Board of Works to Improve Pall Mall Thoroughfare.

ROW OVER GRAVEL PIT

City Engineer Is Determined That F. Hutchinson Shall Fill in Irwin Street in West London.

Plans for the diversion of Pall Mall street were submitted by the C. P. R. to the board of works on Thursday night. At the present time, the street does not cross the tracks at right angles, but the new plans provide for this. The C. P. R. would secure a small piece of land additional, but a crossing at right angles would be much safer, and would be more sightly.

After some discussion, the committee decided to visit the spot, and come to some decision on the matter. The petition of the city teamsters for more money was laid over until the next meeting, when a deputation will be presented.

Ray P. Knight, Toronto, asked to be allowed to make a report on the proposed incinerator plant. The communication was filed for the time being.

It was decided to give Mrs. R. Lindsay, Egerton street, who was injured on a defective sidewalk, the sum of $35 in lieu of all claims against the city.

In Court Again.
City Engineer Wright reported that he had summoned Frank Hutchinson, a West London teamster, for failure to fill in the gravel pit along Beaufort and Irwin streets, West London. Mr. Hutchinson claims that he is not compelled to fill in Irwin street, but the committee did not take that view, and the teamster will be compelled to fill in the whole street.

Mayor Graham, Ald. Moore and Ald. Robinson were named a committee to confer with the joint committee of the city council relative to a new residence for the jailer.

Ald. Robinson and City Engineer Wright were instructed to see if a portion of the property owned by the city along the M. C. R. and Pere Marquette Railways could not be secured for a public works shed and storehouse.

City Solicitor Meredith was instructed to fight the claim of J. Osborne for damages to his auto.

Those present were Ald. Robinson (chairman), Ald. Coles, Ald. Moore, Mayor Graham, City Engineer Wright and Secretary Baker.

Radium To Rid The World of Baldness

Falling Hair, Dandruff and All Other Hair and Scalp Troubles

MME. CURIE'S AMAZING TESTS

Hundreds of our readers afflicted with Baldness, Dandruff, Thin Hair or Premature Graying, who read of the discovery of Radium by Marie Curie, the wonderful woman scientist, and of its interest in recent scientific experiments, seeming to prove beyond question that it could be used to quickly produce a growth of new, healthy hair on even the balddest head, and in restoring natural color to gray or faded hair.

Some time ago a French physician preparing a prescription for a cure for the treatment of Scalp Sores, Dandruff, and Eczema, added considerably more than his usual amount of an ingredient called Pitchblende. This prescription proved not only wonderfully effective for the purpose intended, but it also surprised himself and fellow-physicians. It quickly started a new growth of hair wherever applied, and cured all the Scalp Sores, Dandruff, and Eczema. Dandruff tried this new drug and found not only the Dandruff gone, and Scalp Sores quickly healed, but that it took ten to thirty days to get a growth of new hair in spots where hair roots were thought to be dead.

This result greatly puzzled the physicians, until recently, when the fact that Radium itself was discovered in the Pitchblende that had been used. This unquestionably explained the whole thing. Judged by results it would seem that this Pitchblende, charged with pure Radium, had communicated its own wonderful radio-active energy to the whole treatment for healing the scalp, banishing dandruff, vitalizing the dying hair roots, invigorating the color sacs and stimulating the follicles so that hair might grow with marvellous rapidity.

Pitchblende, like Radium, is far too powerful in its natural state to apply to the human scalp without the proper amount of dilution. The Paris physician in his clinical work was at last combined in a prescription with other ingredients especially designed to reduce its own radio-activity to the scalp's needs. The compound used in this prescription is known to physicians and druggists by the technical name of Lavona de Compose. It is not expensive, and a very little of it will go a long way. It is obtainable at any good drug store being sufficient to make a very convincing test. Four or five ounces of the compound are poured into six ounces of ordinary Bay Rum, and then add one-half drachm of Menthol Crystals. After the mixture is poured into a bottle, it is to be used over night, and the remaining ounce of Lavona de Compose, when it is ready for use. Apply liberally at night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips. Mme. Curie's amazing tests with radio-active rays would, from the above, prove conclusively that Radium itself must have a specific action on the hair follicles, as well as possessing properties for healing sores on the scalp or other parts of the body.

Investigation proves that the above prescription has been very frequently filled by all the prominent and other central city druggists, one of whom, in verifying the above, adds the caution that because of its remarkable tendency to grow hair wherever applied, lady users should be careful not to rub on the face. Caruso hair is not desired.

LABOR MEN VOICE COMPLAINT

Claim Men Holding Union Cards Are Discriminated Against By Water Commissioners.

A DEPUTATION SPEAKS

Messrs. Marks, Jacobs and Thayer Laid Their Cases Before the Board Thursday Afternoon.

Discrimination against union men was charged at the meeting of the water commissioners' meeting Thursday afternoon, a deputation from the Trades and Labor Council, headed by Messrs. Joseph Marks, John C. Jacobs and Clarence Thayer, being present. It was decided by the commissioners that inquiry be made into the matter.

Mr. Marks first addressed the commission. He said that there was dissatisfaction among the workmen of the city in connection with the commission. The molders were particularly dissatisfied, owing to the fact that work placed with the only union shop in the city had been pulled out, and it was suspected that some person with a pull was opposing the Molders' Union.

The electric linemen also had grievances. The scale was lower in London than in St. Thomas, St. Marys and other places. The men were "fired" if they joined the organization, and men brought from outside places to fill their positions. Several men were laid off when it was learned that their applications had been sent into the union. Mr. Marks also suggested that the fair wage bylaw of the council be adopted by the water commissioners.

Mr. Jacobs maintained that there was some party endeavoring to "knock" the union firm where the only union men in the city were employed. Some special work had been taken from the firm, without explanation, and he considered this an affront to union men. They were endeavoring to better conditions, and he thought the city should assist.

An Explanation.
Superintendent Glaubitz explained that one of the foremen had placed an order for some special work with the firm in question without authority. No order had been given for it, and until there was, the foreman, Mr. Hodgkinson, had no right to place the order. There was absolutely no intention of discrimination.

Mr. Thayer spoke on behalf of the linemen. He said that the scale of wages in London was much lower than in Toronto, or other cities. He asked that it be raised. He also charged that union men were discriminated against. Mr. Thayer stated that six men, all of them union men, were laid off, and non-union men retained, men who had not the experience.

A Charge Is Made.
"When a man makes an application for a card, and it is found out, he is fired at once," declared Mr. Thayer. "Two men were laid off not long ago. One made application for a card, and the other did not. The union man lived in the city and paid taxes, while the other man lived at Belmont. When it came time to take the men back, the union man was not hired, but they sent to Belmont for the other man. This is the kind of thing that is going on all the time. The men have told me repeatedly that it was worth as much as their job to make application for a union card."

Chairman Pocock informed the deputation that there was no intention of discriminating against any man. No knowledge of such conditions had come to them, nor were they responsible for it.

"The foremen employ all the men, and the commissioners never interfere," said Mr. Pocock. "Mr. Alfred looks after all that. However, we will look into the matter, and see what there is in the charge. Every man is to have a fair show. I am in sympathy with the men, and will do what is right by them."

Case of the Molders.

Mr. Pocock took up the charge made by the molders. He declared that Mr. Glaubitz's explanation of the special work was perfectly correct.

"I was approached some time ago about calling for tenders for street lighting posts," he said. "It is our intention to extend the system on Duntlavin and Richmond streets. The tenders are not ready as yet, and it will take some time before we are in position to call for tenders, but we will do so at an early date."

"I can promise you that we will award contracts for the ordinary supplies next week. We intended to wait a little longer, but we will call for tenders at once. I will also assure you that the fair wage clause will be attached to the specifications."

"We thank you," said Mr. Marks. "We merely want a square deal for the firm that asks no favors, but grants proper conditions to its men. We know that you will look into our complaints carefully."

TARIFF COMMISSION MANUFACTURERS' AGENT

Proposal of Govt. Mischievous
One Says Sir Richard Cartwright.

Ottawa, March 2. The Senate today discussed at considerable length the bill creating a tariff commission. In moving its second reading, Hon. Mr. Loughheed stated there had been about the bill that his explanation would be brief. The bill proposed to authorize the Government to create a board of competent men to obtain information on the tariff. As to the need for a tariff, there could be no possible doubt. It was desirable therefore to have the best sort of tariff. If there were to be tariff walls it was desirable to have them built as fairly as possible for all. That was what the Government proposed to do, with the assistance of the commission.

Sir Richard Cartwright congratulated Hon. Mr. Loughheed upon his candor in stating that the purpose of the commission was to enable the Government to put up this tariff. Hon. Mr. Loughheed said: "My honorable friend must have misunderstood me. I made no such statement." Sir Richard said he had so understood.

Two Persons Killed When Passenger and Freight Train Met Head On.

Atlanta, Ga., March 2.—Two persons were killed when a passenger train on the Georgia Railroad collided head-on with a freight train near South Circle, about 50 miles from here, this morning. The dead are W. B. Baugh, 42, of Augusta, Ga., engineer of the passenger train, and a negro fireman. The passenger train left Atlanta for Augusta shortly after midnight. According to a long distance telephone message received here, Georgian Railroad officials at Augusta said the collision was due to the freight train not taking the siding at Rutledge.

A FATAL QUARREL.

New Orleans, March 2.—After a quarrel over a small debt, Henry Caruso, inspector of weights and measures, shot and killed Joseph Cirrino, master of the schooner St. Rosa, yesterday. The shooting took place aboard the schooner, which was lying in the old basin canal here. Caruso surrendered and claimed self-defence.

CATTLE PRICES AT TORONTO MARKET

TORONTO, March 7.—Trade on the Western market is better today than it has been all week. Prices are strong and steady on almost everything. The receipts are normal and the quality of stuff offered is for the most part good. Prices of butcher cattle are steady at from $5.40 to $6.80 for choice butchers, and ranging lower for the other classes. Feeding steers are plentiful, but are unchanged from yesterday's quotations. Sheep and lambs are the only things that are not plentiful, but the quotations for the week remain about the same. Hogs are very plentiful. This is the first market this week at which there has been so much to meet the demand. Prices are unchanged from yesterday's late rise of 10c. The sudden rise is supposed to be the reason for the increase in receipts. The average run of calves has greatly increased, and prices are also slightly stronger. Receipts show 34 cars, consisting of 1,192 cattle, 282 sheep and lambs, 2,100 hogs and 175 calves. Quotations: Export cattle, choice, ewe, $5.90; do, medium, $5.85 to $6.20; do, bulls, $5.25 to $5.50; butcher cattle, choice, $6 to $6.75; do, medium, $5.50 to $5.90; do, common, $5.30 to $5.40; butchers' cows, choice, $4.75 to $5.00; do, medium, $4.40 to $4.50; do, canners, $2 to $2.50; hogs, $5.25 to $5.75; feeding steers, $5.50 to $5.80; stockers, choice, $4.85 to $5.20; do, light, $3.25 to $3.75; milkers, choice, $4.50 to $5.00; springers, each, $4.00 to $5.00; sheep, cwt, $4.50 to $5.00; do, bucks and wethers, $3.50 to $4.00; hogs, fed, $5.75 to $6.25; do, f. c. b., $6.50 to $7.25; calves, $4 to $5.

PRODUCE.
MONTREAL, March 7.—There was a fair demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat for near-by shipment, and a fair demand for May northern, $1.12½; No. 2 northern, and June shipment, but as the prices bid for the latter were out of line and no ocean freight available for the balance of this month, little business was done. The demand for oats was fair, and sales of several loads were made for May and June shipment at profitable prices. There is a good demand for oats for local and country account, and all the offerings met with a ready sale. An active business continues to be done in flour, and some large sales were made for April and May and June shipment, but bids on winter wheat are away out of line. The demand for millfeed is good, and sales of full carloads of bran were made at $26, and millers in some cases were asking $28 for shorts. Corn, American No. 2 yellow, 7½c; Oats, Canadian western, No. 2, 55c to 52½c; Canadian No. 3, 51c to 51½c; extra No. 1 feed, 52c to 52½c; No. 2 local white, 50½c to 51c; No. 3 local white, 49½c to 50c; No. 4 local white, 48½c to 49c; Barley, malting, $1.05 to $1.10. TORONTO, March 7.—The grain trade here is dull and featureless owing to the fact that cars are so scarce and movement very slow. Cables on wheat and corn higher. Quotations are as follows: Ontario wheat, No. 2 winter, 96c to 97c, outside, according to location; Manitoba wheat, No. 1,

$1.10½; No. 3 northern, $1.06½. Oats, Ontario No. 2 white, 46c to 46½c, outside; No. 2 white, 44c to 45c, outside; on track, Toronto, 49c to 49½c; corn, No. 3 yellow, 72½c to 74c. WINNIPEG, March 7.—Trading on the local wheat market in options was quiet. The hanging-on, waiting attitude for the government report on farm reserves was very apparent, and considering the dullness the prices are remarkably steady. New May opened ½c higher, while July was ½c lower, and business is around these figures. The closing prices were 4c lower for old May, ½c lower for new May and July. The cash demand was considered fair, while no new business was reported. Oats were a shade easier, while flax was in demand at 2c advance on Wednesday's closing prices. Receipts are continuing steady, 375 cars being in sight for inspection. Distress Amongst Poor of Cities, By Reason of Miners' Strike, Is Becoming Acute, and Unions May Compel Colliers to Reopen the Peace Negotiations.

[Canadian Press.]
London, March 8.—Speaking to a friend in the House of Commons last night Prime Minister Asquith declared himself more hopeful of ending the coal strike.

A statement issued by the Miners' Federation attacks the press for alleged misrepresentation of its attitude. It is evident that the miners are beginning to feel the pressure of the other trades union bodies, which are suffering in consequence of unemployment and the depletion of their fund-owing, they say, to the miners' obstinacy.

A STRIKE CONSPIRACY.
Even the radical newspapers now severely criticize the miners, while the conservative journals, which at the outset were very guarded, now demand drastic action by the Government to end the strike.

The public alarm has been increased by the discovery of a syndicate movement to provoke a general railway strike, and the attorney-general's opinion is being taken regarding the possibility of prosecuting the promoters for conspiracy.

Captain Amundsen has been for many years considered one of the most daring and most competent of Arctic explorers. A sailor from his youth, he studied polar research at the age of 25, when he participated in the Belgian Antarctic expedition under the command of Germaine D'Amont, and lasted from 1897 to 1899. On his return he made up his mind to continue polar research, but this time he decided to go to the Northwest Passage, which had been sought for for 300 years by daring sailors, among them Frobenius, John Cabot, Sir Hugh Willoughby, Richard Chancellor, John Davis, Sir John Ross and Sir John Franklin.

He prepared himself for the task by undergoing a course of two years' study in magnetism and meteorology, leaving about the Giza with a crew of only 19 men.

A Great Achievement.
Proceeding to Lancaster Sound, he sailed past Cape Adair and King William Land and Ross Strait. The vessel wintered in that part. For many months Amundsen drifted along and finally, on AUG. 26, met an American whaler to the east of Cape Bathurst. He finally brought his little vessel through the Behring Strait, and thus for the first time accomplished the Northwest Passage. During the voyage he determined exactly the position of the magnetic pole. Altogether he was three years away from Norway. He arrived in New York after this expedition on Nov. 6, 1906.

Used the Fram.
Several years have been spent by him in making preparations for his expedition to the North Pole, on which he was to start in 1910.

He, however, later changed his plans and decided to go to the Antarctic instead.

The Fram, which he selected for his expedition, is a most remarkable ship. She has been used for many years in Arctic explorations. From 1893 to 1896, during the expedition of the Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, she covered a journey of about 7,000 miles in the Arctic Ocean, 3,000 miles of this being accomplished while she was frozen solid in the ice.

The Trip South.
Capt. Amundsen left Buenos Ayres on his present trip toward the close of 1910 with a small party of Norwegians, all of them experienced in Arctic work. He took with him a large pack of Siberian dogs, and his men were all provided with skis, which were thought to offer great advantages in traversing the glacier ice.

Capt. Amundsen's party made its base and winter quarters 80 miles nearer the South Pole than his British rival, Nansen. He has heard from the expedition for many months, until the arrival of the Fram was reported two days ago at Hobart, Tasmania.

Thence came rumors that the great Norwegian explorer had not succeeded in his dash to the South Pole, and also reports that he had brought the news of Scott's success. The whole world was kept in a state of suspense waiting for definite information as to whether the question of the South Pole had been solved or not. Nothing came until early this morning, when a short message announced that the hardy Norwegians had reached the southernmost point of the earth on Dec. 14, and had remained on the spot until Dec. 17 of last year.

No further details have yet been sent to the waiting world by Capt. Amundsen but the simple fact that he has reached a point which it has been the ambition of many adventurous explorers to attain for a long series of years has sufficed to send a thrill of triumph through the nations and all now anxious to know him that they 32 CENTS PER HOUR AS CARPENTERS' WAGE It Is Likely That Employers and Men Will Reach a Compromise.

At a meeting for carpenters in Labor Hall this evening the question of higher wages will be taken up.

For some time past Organizer Moody, of Toronto, has been in the city, discussing the situation with the men and organizing them. According to the men his efforts have been successful, the organization now being very strong.

The minimum wage here is 27 cents an hour. It is expected that the men will ask for 32 cents an hour, this being the figure agreed on. The contractors have been discussing the question also from their standpoint, and have agreed on a schedule.

EXTEND CLUSTER LIGHTS NORTH

Effort Will Be Made to Have Them Reach to Grosvenor Street

PETITION IS OUT

Chairman Pocock Believes the People
Interested Will Readily Sign
Up for the Extension.

The ornamental street lighting system will be extended, on Richmond street north, from Oxford to Grosvenor. For some time petitions have been circulated to have the same kind of lights now used on the downtown streets along Richmond north to Oxford. The petitions have been sufficiently signed, but Chairman Pocock, at the meeting of the water commissioners Thursday afternoon, asked the board to have the lights extended two blocks further north before action was taken.

"I am assured that the property-owners in this district will sign them," said Mr. Pocock. "The petitions on Dundas street have been signed, and we expect in a short time to have the work of construction commenced."

It was decided to change the board's banking from the Bank of Toronto to the Merchants Bank, with the city account. Very favorable terms, it was stated, were secured from the latter, and the commissioners decided to take advantage of them.

An Overcharge.
General Manager Glauvitz reported that the McClary Manufacturing Company had been overcharged between $600 and $700 on one of their motor accounts and asked authority to return the money. He was allowed to do so. A number of pheasants for Spring-bank Park were offered by the commission, but they decided not to accept them, as they had troubles enough of their own.

"Why do we not get some squirrels?" said Commissioner Stevenson. "They would be of interest to the children."

To this suggestion the commissioners turned a deaf ear.

Wade Bros. asked for city water for their brickyard, Adelaide street north. Granted on the usual conditions.

Those present were Chairman Philip Pocock, Commissioners J. H. Chapman, John May, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Mayor Graham, General Manager Glauvitz and Secretary Ellwood.

PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD ASK $12,064 THIS YEAR

This Is $2,000 Less Than the Trustees Are Entitled to Under the Law.

The public library, at their regular meeting Thursday night, presented their estimates for the year. They are asking for $12,064 for 1912, the same amount as in 1910 and 1911. Librarian Carson explained that this would be sufficient to meet all the expenditures for the year. By law the board is entitled to half a mill on the dollar. The amount asked for is about $2,000 less than this sum.

The suggestion was made that a children's room be opened up in connection with the library, but action was deferred until a later meeting. It was thought that such a room would add much to the popularity of the library and be productive of much good.

Representation on the Western Fair Association will be sought, and a committee composed of Messrs. John Forristal, Thomas Gillean and W. H. Winnett was named to interview the directors and obtain membership. It was pointed out the library did much useful work along the lines of horticulture, art, etc., and much good might be obtained if the board and the Western Fair Association got together. Those present were Chairman John Forristal, Dr. A. O. Jeffrey, Rev. Dr. Sage, M. P. McDonagh, W. H. Winnett, Thos. Gillean, Jos. L. Goodburne, and Librarian Carson.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR SUN LIFE

Annual Report of This Company Published Today Shows Prosperous Business Year.

The annual report of this company, appearing in another portion of this issue, furnishes interesting reading to those carrying policies in the company, and to the public in general. Insurance, particularly life, furnishes a very fair gauge of financial conditions. Such being the case, the report of the Sun Life gives a strong indication of the very healthy state of Canada's fiscal affairs.

The report shows a total volume of business in force of $164,572,073, or an increase of $1,022,798 over the previous year.

New assurances have been increased over 1910 to the extent of $2,924,403, and the income from rents, interest, etc., by $981,881.

A surplus of $1,243,763 is shown for the year, and the total surplus of the company is $4,717,073.

Since the company's inception the enormous amount of $29,670,271 has been paid out to policyholders.

These figures and the more complete ones as given in their published report illustrate the solidity and enterprise of the Sun Life of Canada. The secret of the success of the company's operations lies in the fact that they have placed the interests of their policyholders first—that their investments have always been made in the safest and strongest propositions, and that their management is composed of men whose known probity and business acumen gives to them the unhesitating confidence of their business associates and the public at large.

It should be with considerable pride and satisfaction that these gentlemen present this year's very gratifying report.

STRATHROY ACCIDENT

Evan Gare Was Struck by Auto While Walking on Road.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Strathroy, March 8.—The first auto accident of the season occurred here last evening. Mr. Silas Smith took his car out to enjoy a spin on the frozen snow, and as he was coming north on Carleton street, the car struck little Evan Gare, the young son of Mr. George Gare, jun., breaking his leg between the knee and the ankle and bruising the side of his face. The boy was coming from his grandfather's, and owing to the slippery condition of the sidewalks, was walking on the middle of the road. He was taken by Mr. Smith to his home, and Dr. Berdan was called and reduced the fractured limb.

WALLACE WILL BE REPLACED IN MAY

Engineer Wright Declares That
He Is Not Able to Fill
Present Position.

Ward Foreman Henry Wallace was "on the carpet" before the board of works on Thursday night on a charge of insubordination and inefficiency. He has been under suspension for some time, because of his failure to carry out the orders of City Engineer Wright. He was allowed to go back to his position for the time being, but different arrangements will be made by May 1. In the meantime another man will be secured.

Mr. Wallace was asked to explain, and declared that he had always done his duty. He had been 39 years in the employ of the city, nineteen of which he had been foreman. He had never been on the carpet before. He attributed his failure to do the work required to the fact that he was unable to secure the number of men needed. He charged that other foremen were paying more than he was allowed to pay.

City Engineer Wright explained that this was not the case. The men were paid the same all over the city, and there was no discrimination.

"The question in a nutshell is simply this—Mr. Wallace will not do for a ward like ward three," said City Engineer Wright. "It is a very big ward, and a first-class man is needed to do the work. Mr. Wallace is not capable. I have no objection to you finding him some other work to do, but he cannot remain as foreman of the ward."

The committee agreed with Mr. Wright, but action was deferred until a suitable place could be found for Mr. Wallace, and a good man secured for the foremanship.

WAS TROUBLED WITH Headache AND Constipation.

After Suffering For Two Years
Was Cured By
BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Headache of whatever nature is nearly always symptomatic of other diseased conditions, rather than a disease itself, but in most cases a disordered stomach, constipation, or bad circulation is the chief source of the difficulty. Burdock Blood Bitters removes the cause of the trouble through its cleansing, strengthening and tonic action on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. Mr. Wm. Redmond, Cardigan Bridge, P. E. I., writes: "I have been troubled with headache and constipation for about two years. After trying every doctor I knew, a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I found myself, after using one bottle, getting much better, and after using three bottles I was completely cured."

"After then I was on a visit, and found my cousin very sick, and the doctor told her there was something wrong with her head. I told her to use Burdock Blood Bitters and she was cured in a short time. I can safely recommend it to all."

RUSSIAN WOMEN GET UPPER HAND

Monarchy Today Has Best Secondary Feminist Educational System in World.

ONE PERSON RESPONSIBLE

Organizes Girls and Leads Them in Every Movement for Public Weal.

Moscow, Russia, March 8.—Russia has many shortcomings, but one crowning triumph. "Russia's greatest woman," said the novelist, Turgeneff, "is stronger than Russia's strongest man." Russia recalls this epigram as they celebrate the jubilee of Anna Pavlovna Filosofoff, the world's greatest feminist, the woman who planned, created and nursed into vigor all Russia's great social and educational measures during the last half century. The truth of Turgeneff's epigram is emphasized by the dismal failure of Russian men's attempts at political emancipation. While men were falling a handful of brilliant Slav women, trained and led by Anna Filosofoff, have marched from victory to victory and today can hold up barbarous Russia as a model in all that concerns the position of womanhood to the most advanced states of Western Europe. Mme. Filosofoff is old, in fact, well past her seventy-fifth year. She was brought up in an age when no Russian had heard of woman's rights, because to talk even of men's rights means the gallows or Siberia. This was under the absolutist, Czar Nicholas I., who boasted to his favorite, Klimentchik: "There is only one free man in Russia; that is myself." When the favorite asked: "How many free women are there?" Nicholas answered: "Just now, none; the Czarina is in Germany."

Woman Gaining in Russia.

"Today Russia has the best women's secondary education system in Europe; she has women's higher education in every university town; she has increasing numbers of women engineers, jurists and technologists, and 5,300 women doctors—three times as many as all the rest of Europe. Women property owners vote, though indirectly, for the Duma, and today a bill is in hand giving women full rights in local government. All this is the work of Mme. Filosofoff.

PUTNAM'S CORN EXTRACTOR RIDES FEET OF CORNS

What any corn needs is the soothing influence of Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor, which in twenty-four hours lifts out every root, branch and stem of corns and warts. Just clean riddance to the old offenders—that's the way Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor acts. Refuse a substitute preparation for Putnam's Extractor, Sec. at druggists.

a mere beaten track, but a great, practical road."

Mme. Filosofoff's success was due to the fact that it was she who first realized that women as well as men might profit from the liberationist movement which started on the accession of the liberal Alexander II. When she first raised the banner of revolt and demanded social freedom for women she was laughed at, and told convincingly that Russian women could do nothing but dance. At that time that was true. The convent-like girls' "institutes," founded by Catherine II, taught but French, dancing and deportment.

Female higher education was naturally unheard of in Russia, because in Western Europe no university had opened its doors to women. Zurich led the way in 1867, and such was Mme. Filosofoff's energy that only a year later she induced the Czar's Government to authorize women's courses with a complete university programme. These under the name of "Ladies' Courses" were opened in 1870. All over Russia they were copied, so that a basis was laid in five years for the excellent scientific training given to Russian women today. Two other brilliant women, Mrs. Stasov and Mme. Conrad, had joined the propaganda, and from that day the Filosofoff movement has progressed without a check.

The first obstacle which Mme. Filosofoff had to overcome was the tightness of money. There was no money to pay the professors or light the halls, and the hundreds of girl students who flocked from the provinces, though full of enthusiasm, had no money to live on.

Mme. Filosofoff set herself to convert into generosity the rich business classes, who at first sneered at feminism. She founded a "Society for Assisting the Students," then a second "Society for Financing Women's Higher Education," and soon put the Vladimir Courses on a sound basis. Immediately afterwards, on her initiative, were started several other societies for women, the educational and moral status of Russian women. Among these was the still existing "Society for Helping Girl Students in Medical Courses," the "Russian Women's Mutual Benefit Society" and the "Society for the Defense of Women."

The progressive Czar, Nicholas II, examined her work, was converted, and gave orders to his intermeddling bureaucrats to leave the innovator in peace.

Mme. Filosofoff's next move was the foundation of the "Cheap Dwelling Society." Of this organization she is president today. For the first time, through her instrumentality, something was done to provide student girls with decent living conditions in the most expensive city of all Europe.

Bridge Built by Women.

Russian women are succeeding also in specifically male work. The new Okhta bridge at St. Petersburg is being built under women engineers, while on the Konushennaya street rises an American steel house, put together under the supervision of Engineer Mlle. Khvostoff. Amid such achievements the emancipated Russian woman is as womanly as is the founder of the movement herself. Despite wearying struggles and fierce polemics, Anna Filosofoff remains a delicate, graceful, winning woman, precisely the type of "womanly woman" which in other countries is held up as a reproach to the New Woman.

People called her "Russia's Florence Nightingale." It was then that Russia first realized that Anna Filosofoff had created a new school of heroic maidenhood in her corps of girl medical students, who went into the stricken villages, as a government report admitted, "turning chaos into harmony and order."

THE POWERS ALREADY PLAN AN AIR-WAR

Germany and France Preparing for Clash of Squadrons of Air.

Paris, March 7.—Information has reached Paris that by the end of March the German army will have a fleet of 300 serviceable aeroplanes, most of which are built on French lines.

The French authorities are in possession of the plan of campaign drawn up for the use of these aeroplanes in case of war. It is no less sensational than a plan for the dropping into Paris of ten tons of shells in half an hour, and within three hours of any declaration of war.

The German aeroplanes would be massed on the frontier at two or three points. They could fly from Metz to Paris in two hours, and from Strasbourg in three. Each aeroplane would carry more than one hundred pounds of explosives, and after dropping them into Paris would be across the Belgian frontier in another hour and a half.

French Counterplan. The French authorities when they received information of this plan took expert opinion, and found that it is perfectly possible of execution, and arrangements have been made by which the French air corps is to be perfectly ready by March 15 at the latest to combat any such German attack.

There are to be a number of scouting posts—"eyes"—to be their official name—from which a lookout will be kept night and day. These eyes will communicate with one another and with Paris by wireless telegraphy, and the French air fleet will be in constant readiness to set out and meet the enemy in the air in case of need.

The Best Dressed Woman. Mme. Cecil Sorel is soon to visit England and America. She wishes to share the laurels that other Parisian actresses have won in foreign lands. Sorel is sure to attract large audiences of women, who will go to see her not only out of curiosity to behold one who has won the reputation of being the best-dressed woman in the world.

Asked if she had the intention of launching any new fashions in America, Sorel said: "I shall play in many characters and each character must have a dress suited to it; not only suited to the time in which the plot is laid, but harmonizing with the thoughts and ambitions of the character, but nothing will be shown simply for the purpose of starting a new fashion."

Opposes Dress Fads.

"I am greatly opposed to fads in dress, which is one reason why I was delighted to appear in Nice recently in skirts much wider than those now generally worn. The innovation met with instant success, showing that the public like myself, is opposed to the present extreme."

"It was I who started the fashion of the narrow skirt, but I never had any idea that it would be so abused, for the fashion was meant for a house dress and was first used on the stage in a character that had little moving around to do, and to which it was well suited. But when this was applied to street dresses, hampering one's walking to the danger point, the narrow skirt became ridiculous."

"I am extremely anxious to see America, and learn something of its people. I go with great enthusiasm. If the Americans wish to see me half as much as I wish to see them there can be no doubt of my success."

After her engagement in America, Mme. Sorel will play in London. Like most of the notable French actresses, Mme. Sorel takes her art with great seriousness.

FLAUNTS BIG JOBS AT COLLEGE MEN

Snobbery of "Idle Gentlemen," However, Is Likely to Interfere.

ANOTHER FAVORS "HELP"

Tour of the World Is New Means of Educating Proper Executive Help.

London, March 8.—Is the college man best fitted for commerce? That is the question that is dividing the British business world. Captains of industry like Hugo Hirst, president of the General Electric Company, complain that they find a dearth of first-class men to fill the high-salaried posts, and are looking, like Gordon Selfridge, to the universities of Oxford and Cambridge for suitable recruits.

Experience of international trade has to their way of thinking revealed a deficiency on the personal side of British methods and brought home the fact that the higher grade men are required to meet on equal terms the well-equipped American and Continental specialists in the service of their rivals.

Hirst has backed his views by offering openings in his business to three young and ambitious university men. The only qualifications he specifies are a willingness to work, a good presence and address, a retentive memory, a good head for figures and promise of organizing ability.

Give Clerks First Chances

Sir Edward H. Holden, president of the London City and Midland Bank, on the other hand, is not by any means ready to admit the demand for the college man. Having achieved a great position himself in the English financial world without the aid of a college diploma, he believes more than ample material can be found among the youths who are just in the 55-a-week stage of their careers. He would supply the lack of culture Mr. Hirst thinks necessary by placing the most promising boys under the direction of trained men and women of culture and rely on their good instincts for the result. But the head of the General Electric Company is not to be deterred from his determination to awaken the better class youths of the land, not only to the sense of duty to the commerce of their country, but to the practical advantages to be gained by a commercial career. His own son is a graduate at Harvard, a college whose training he is more than enamored with, since a school friend of his son's called on him and asked to be allowed to see over the works.

"If my son had gone to Oxford or Cambridge," he points out, "he would probably never have given his friend such an introduction, or if he had it would have been with the idea that I should take him down to Southampton to watch polo or some such thing."

Snobishness Still a Barrier.

It is open to doubt, however, if a business career can be made sufficiently attractive just yet to lure many young men from the path to which university training traditionally points—either the civil service or one of the professions.

There is a widespread impression on this side that a young man of the upper classes lowers his social prestige by going into commerce, and until this snobbish notion is done away with it is unlikely that many recruits for the best paid business posts will come from the ancient seats of learning, where the old idea that a "gentleman" is a man who idles gracefully is not dead yet.

But as the wealthy middle classes are taking to snobish distinctions, so the impoverished aristocracy are taking to trade, so it can only be a matter of time before a good proportion of the best educated youths take to business with serious intention.

A step in this direction is the educational tour several young college men will take this next travel season under an expert. As knowledge of men and countries are powerful aids in the conduct of world-wide business, these young travellers will visit Egypt, Ceylon, India, China, Japan and America.

There specially chartered steamer will be converted into a floating college and studies pertinent to the various countries and districts visited will be pursued during the extended sea voyage.

This tour will occupy 246 days and the cost will be $2,750.

CLANDEBOYE.

Clandeboyne, March 8.—Mr. Carl Hariton has left for Regina, where he has accepted a position.

The farmers are taking advantage of the sleighing and are delivering logs at the Grand Trunk station here. The yards are almost completely filled.

Mr. Carl Hariton shipped a valuable driving horse yesterday to his brother Charles, in Regina.

Mrs. White, who was here attending the funeral of her sister, Miss Casey, has returned to her home in Detroit.

Mr. Rosser, of Denfield, is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. E. McKenzie.

Mr. John Grant, of London, spent a couple of days with friends here.

Mr. A. Jackson spent Wednesday in London.

School sections 12 and 4 held a private meeting of the old and new boards on Wednesday, to settle up old accounts. It is stated that there was a very lively session.

NORTH WALES MINERS INCLINED TO PEACE

In Some Sections They Have Reopened Negotiations With Owners.

[Canadian Press.]
London, March 7.—The first sign since the beginning of the coal strike of any of the coal miners of Great Britain breaking away from their organization comes from North Wales, where the colliers of some of the smaller mining companies have reopened negotiations with the owners, with the view of starting work in the pits again. Some of these mines are worked by non-unionists. Others, however, have hitherto been operated by unionists. While the prospects of a settlement of the coal dispute appear somewhat brighter today, conditions in other industries are becoming worse every hour. The number of discharges of workmen from their employment is increasing everywhere, and many cases are reported where great distress prevails among the laboring class.

HUNTING AFTER MACFARLANDS

Clansmen in London Believe Their Chief, Lost Since 1745, Is in America.

London, March 7.—"Will ye no come back again?" is the lament of the great Macfarlane clan. They are searching for the lineal descendant of their chief, who emigrated to America after fighting in vain for the cause of Bonnie Prince Charlie in 1745. Like the Highlanders on that fateful occasion at Derby 167 years ago, they have been divided among themselves over a mythical fortune of some $5,000,000, which it was understood had been left to the chief whenever he could prove his identity.

Naturally, the claimants were many, but only lately was it discovered that the fortune did not exist—not for a Macfarlane at any rate—and now they are turning their attention to the discovery of their long missing chief. A Macfarlane society has been formed in London for the purpose of furthering the search. And they do not despair of finding him somewhere in America.

REVOLT BEGUN BY ACCIDENT

Chinese Republicans Betrayed by Unexpected Explosion of Bombs.

Hankow, China, March 7.—The breaking out of the Chinese revolution on the night of Oct. 10, was premature and was due to an explosion in a building in the Russian concession, where bombs were being manufactured by the revolutionists for the destruction of Viceroy Jui Cheng's yamen. Through this explosion the viceroy discovered the plans of the leaders of the rebellion.

Gen. Liu Kung, inspector-general of the Republic Government in Wu Chang, and Gen. Sun Wu, Gen. Li Yuan Hung's chief of staff, were the two men who were leading the conspiracy in Hankow, and Wu Chang. They had rented the house in which the explosion occurred and were engaged in the manufacture of bombs, as well as in organizing the disaffected soldiers in Wu Chang and endeavoring to persuade those who were thought to be in sympathy with the movement to join them.

When the explosion occurred through carelessness in handling some of the materials for bombs Sun Wu endeavored to destroy the house by pouring kerosene over inflammables and applying the torch. This he was unable to do before the arrival of the fire department, and he was forced to make his escape.

Lists of soldiers were found, together with white badges marked with different characters for various regiments, and many bombs stowed away in a room in one of the upper floors. Viceroy Jui Chang caused an investigation and summarily beheaded four of the ringleaders whose names he had.

GERMANY NOW FACES GREAT COAL STRIKE

Outbreak Is Expected in the Collieries of Westphalian
District.

[Canadian Press.]
Berlin, March 7.—The outbreak of a general strike in the Westphalian coal districts on March 11 is now regarded as a practical certainty. The leaders of the Christian trades unions—who are bitter rivals of the socialist workmen's organizations—continue to oppose a strike, but advices received from the coal fields indicate that they are losing hold on their followers, a great proportion of whom will make common cause with the other organizations if they decide to stop work.

In view of the conflicting attitude of the socialist and Christian trades unions, the Prussian Government announces that the fullest protection will be accorded to non-strikers, and that any disorders will be suppressed with an iron hand.

The coal owners in many cases have offered their men increases amounting to 10 per cent on their wages, so as to avoid a strike, but the trades unions insist on an advance of 15 per cent.

The situation in the coal trade was reflected on the bourse today, when the leading coal stocks fell 3 per cent and over.

TRAIN TOO SLOW, SO "AIRSHIPS" TO PARIS

French Flyingman Sails From London to French Capital in Three Hours.

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, March 7.—Henri Salvey, the French flying man, arrived at Issy-les-Moureaux, a suburb of Paris, in his monoplane at 11 o'clock this morning, having travelled from London without a stop. He covered the distance of about 222 miles in 2 hours and 57 minutes.

In the course of an interview at his descent, he declared that having urgent business to transact in Paris, and seeing that the London to Paris train and steamboat service was affected by the coal strike, he had decided to make the voyage through the air in spite of the unfavorable weather. Over the channel his machine was shaken by violent squalls, but the motor worked perfectly throughout.

WOMAN WAS WITNESS OF FIGHT TO DEATH

Man Who Struck Her and Husband Fought Duel With Knives.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, March 7.—The crowd in the assize court here this morning sat spellbound during the frenzied and dramatic description in the course of a murder trial of a fight with knives between Antonio Donato and Pietro Cabrio, two Italians by the wife of the latter.

The quarrel between the two men was caused by Donato, while drunk, striking the Cabrio women, the husband hitting back. The party resided in a house on Panet street.

Both men, after exchanging blows with their fists drew knives and fought for half an hour, the woman, apparently transfixed, with terror, being in the room the whole time. Cabrio, in the end, was so badly wounded that he fell exhausted from loss of blood at the feet of his wife and died, while Donato was so badly cut up that when the police arrived he could offer no resistance.

This morning his trial for murder began, and the wife was the first witness called by the crown.

WANTS VACANT LOTS TAXED ON FRONTAGE

Single Tax Principles Under Discussion Before Private Bills Committee.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, Ont., March 7.—That a city municipality should not get its water supply from a source which may deplete the supply of the rural population, and possibly endanger the live stock interests of the Province, was the emphatic declaration of the private bills committee this morning. The question came up with the presentation of the North Toronto bill, in which that municipality sought permission to extend their pipes for the securing of a water supply from a distance of thirty miles outside of the municipality, the present limit being ten miles. T. W. Gibson, solicitor for the town of North Toronto, was backed up by a deputa- tion of a couple of hundred, and F. Herbert Lennox, M. P., and Hon. W. H. Hoyle, had about as many of the sturdy yeomanry of North York on hand to lend their moral support in opposition to the proposal.

The town of North Toronto desired to tap artesian wells at Whitechurch.

A WEAK, ACHING BACK CAUSED HER MUCH MISERY

Could Not Work and Had No
Ambition For Anything.

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

Mrs. W. R. Hodge, Fielding, Sask., writes:—"A few lines highly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. For this last year I have been troubled very much with nasty sick headaches and a weak, aching back, which caused me much misery, for I could not work and had no ambition for anything. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and kept me from sleeping at nights. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines but it seemed almost in vain. I began to give up in despair of ever being well and strong again, when a kind neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and am thankful for the relief I obtained from them, for now I am never in trouble with a sore back or sick headaches. I will always say Doan's Kidney Pills for mine, and can highly recommend them to any sufferers."

It may cost slightly more to make pastry with PURITY FLOUR

But there's a DIFFERENCE in pastry

YES, madam, we know there is an impression amongst some people here in the East that Western hard wheat flour is not good for pastry. Some people even actually think that good pastry can only be made with a soft Ontario wheat flour, or a blend of hard and soft wheat flours.

If such were the case, the West would be starved for pie, for hard wheat flour is used there almost exclusively. But nowhere in the world are home-cooks more famed for the deliciousness of their pastry. Visitors to the West almost invariably remark about the creaminess and flakiness of the pies and the lightness and delicacy of the

Such pastry will cost you slightly more, for PURITY FLOUR costs a trifle more per pound. And on account of its extra strength and extra quality, more shortening is required than when using the weaker soft or blended flours.

cakes. They return home converted to the use of hard wheat flour for pastry.

So you see, madam, that

The extra deliciousness of the pie and cakes you will make from PURITY FLOUR will more than make up for the slight extra cost. And remember:

PURITY FLOUR MAKES "More Bread and Better Bread"

It takes more water because it is a strong, thirsty flour. It goes farther in the baking. Get a pencil and add PURITY FLOUR to your grocery list right now.

Nansen, The Polar Explorer

In connection with the race for the South Pole, it is interesting to note that Dr. Nansen, the noted Polar explorer, favors the chances of the Norwegian, Amundsen, reaching the coveted goal first. The final dash is a contest between dogs on one hand and ponies and a motor car on the other. Amundsen's Eskimo dogs, Nansen believes, will be far speedier than the motor car, with which the Scott expedition is equipped, even though the latter has been specially built to traverse the snow fields. More than that, Amundsen's winter quarters are sixty miles nearer the Pole than Captain Scott's, which, in itself, would be a great advantage were the two expeditions equipped in the same manner. The dogs, in Nansen's opinion, have many advantages over ponies in polar regions. In the first place, they are acclimatized, and secondly, they can eat each other if there is a shortage of food, thus providing strength-giving meat for the survivors of the teams, as the weaker members of the pack are sacrificed. In the case of the ponies, fodder must be carried.

NO RAILWAY STATION; SUES FOR DAMAGES

George H. Morrison Claims His Illness Was Due to Company's Negligence.

Windsor, March 7.—Claiming that through the alleged negligence of the Pere Marquette Railway in failing to rebuild a station at Marshfield, Ont., which was destroyed by fire some three years ago, he had received a bad chill that resulted in a cold that necessitated him giving up his employment and causing him much pain, Geo. H. Morrison, formerly employed as night watchman at the Erie Tobacco Company, Windsor, is suing the railway for $3,000 damages.

Mr. Morrison, who lives at 122 Douglass avenue, claims that on the afternoon of July 27, last year, he was forced to go to Marshfield, Ont., on a business trip. He finished his business there and went to where the Pere Marquette station used to be, intending to catch the evening train. The train, however, was over two hours late, according to Mr. Morrison, and he was forced to stand in the cold summer's night air and wait until 10 o'clock. As the direct result of his exposure to the night air he claims that he was taken ill with a cold, which he has been unable to shake off. The railroad claim that they are not under the necessity of placing a station at that point, as the traffic does not warrant it.

Claiming that when an Amherstburg car crashed into a Sandwich one on March 15 of last year he was seriously injured, G. Barber, of Sandwich, has commenced action against the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway for $2,000.

Barber claims that when the two cars collided on the Crawford avenue switch he received numerous injuries, necessitating his confinement for some time.

The railway acknowledges that the accident was the result of carelessness on the part of their employees, but claim to have no knowledge that Barber was injured and state that he must prove that he received his injuries in that accident.

The case will be heard at Sandwich next week.

You'll Never Say So Again After You Read This and Act on It—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Open Secret.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It. Thousands of people who haven't really enjoyed a meal for years have given their stomach a new lease of life through the little wonder-workers, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Here it's Noon, and this Man Hates to Think of Lunch. If He'd Only Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets He Would Always Be Happy.

Tablets. They promptly put an end to flatulency, heartburn, dizziness, sick headache, dyspepsia, burning sensation, brash, fermentation and the other ill attendant upon a disordered stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are composed of pepsin and other natural elements that help out the gastric juices of the stomach. They are Nature's digestives, the same kind the stomach uses when it is in good health.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not merely aid digestion—they actually digest the food themselves. All the hard work is thus taken off the stomach and it gets a chance to rest and recuperate. The undigested food which formerly produced nauseating gases in the stomach becomes thoroughly digested, and as a result provides new brain and brawn and nerve cells to replace natural waste always going on.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act quickly, safely and naturally, just like Nature herself. They are an essential part of the stock of every drug store, and are sold at 50c a box. You can get a trial package of them free by writing to F. A. Stuart Company, 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Minn.

ALL EUROPE HAS THE SPY FEVER

Every Power Is Now Striving to Make Espionage More Difficult.

GERMANY IN OIL ROW

The Kaiser's Empire Intends to Wage War on the Standard Company.

Berlin, March 8.—Germany, Austria and Russia are all preparing legislation making it harder for foreign spies to work, and making it more painful for them to get caught. England has already passed such an act. Spies estimated conservatively at $2,500,000 a year are being paid out by the powers to get facts—and fictions—about one another's defences.

The business is interesting and villainous enough. It abhors few incognito grand dukes and black-eyed impassioned princesses; and is rather the domain of retired pickpockets, drunken clerks who can't get other jobs, unfrocked parsons, and unwashed ne'er-do-wells.

The spy business has its humor. Every nation holds itself stainless from the foul treachery; and paints itself as an innocent victim of spying neighbors. In reality, no nation is any better than any other. A year ago when Britishers were deep in virtuous anger over the imaginary invasion of German water-spies, the Germans discovered two British spy organizations, one of them formed by full-blown British officers who got caught while stealing into Borkum forts by night. And when later virtuous Germans had a panic about villainous Russian spies in East Prussia, the Russians found behind a gun in Brest-Litovsk fortress a German spy named Teyn. Next the Italians had their turn. Their newspapers printed revelations about the disfigurement of Udine by disguised Austrian volunteer officers. Far be it, they said, from decent chivalrous Italy blacking her lily hands with such base treachery. Just at that moment the Austrians arrested in Pola an arsenal employee who was providing Rome's naval staff with complete plans of the harbor defences.

Germany and Austria keep few spies in Russia. They can buy Russian military news direct from officers of the St. Petersburg general staff. A German named Godfrey who last year published a pamphlet on espionage says "there is probably no more secret document in Russia's war office which could not be had for $125."

Women in the Business.

Women play a considerable role in Europe's espionage. Variety stage artists often act as spies. A recent Italian case revealed a café chanteuse named Lucchini in the dual role of sweetheart to a sergeant named Loni and purveyor to Austria of facts about the defences of the Belluno-Toblach road. In her spare time Lucchini made love to Italian officers and cozened out of them valuable facts of which Loni was ignorant. This little affair was hushed up, but it cost Italy $100,000 to relay the mines on the mountain road. A similar case took place on the Franco-Italian frontier. Here a woman spy was a hospital nurse. Last November there was arrested in Posen Elise Pittner and a non-commissioned officer named Schroeder on a charge of selling plans of the fortress to Russia. The story was that Schroeder had tattooed the plans on his sweetheart's back.

Every power has already plans of its neighbor's fortifications. One can buy good drawings of Kronstadt and Brest in Berlin. The unknown factor is the gain pigeons and wireless count for little because in any case they will be changed in time of war. The things for which spies are paid highly are signal books, wireless telegraphy codes, keys to ciphers and plans of mobilization, plans of campaign, the strength of garrisons, the provisioning of fortresses; and finally military-diplomatic secrets concerning the strategic agreements of allied powers. Information is also sought about defects in the mechanism and organization of armaments.

Greatest Invention of Age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered Is So Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhoxone.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhoxone cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhoxone keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's great source of anxiety—unfitness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are self-reliant without Catarrhoxone, and credit in no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhoxone. "For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH.

"Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the Progress a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God-sent invention, Catarrhoxone.

"Believing in the merit of Catarrhoxone, I tried it.

"Catarrhoxone cured me and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name if it will help relieve some from suffering, and will always remain,

Mr. Bixley is one of the best-known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhoxone is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhoxone is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail, if price is forwarded to the Catarrhoxone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., or Kingston, Ont.

PAST POTENTATE DAVIS ATTENDED BIG BANQUET

Oldest Shrine in North America Held a Celebration.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Rochester, N. Y., March 7.—The first ceremonial session of the season, given by Damascus Temple, of this city, the second oldest shrine in North America, was held on Wednesday evening last, and was attended by large numbers of nobles from the United States and Canada.

Representatives were present from the nine different temples of New York State, and also a large delegation of Canadian Shrines.

Dr. R. W. Shaw, of Moche Temple, London, was invited to be present, but being unable to attend, was represented by Past Potentate A. L. Davis, and other nobles from Western Ontario.

Esten A. Fletcher, past potentate of Damascus Temple, a former Canadian, introduced the visitors from Canada, in a very able speech.

A big banquet terminated the proceedings. On July last the Imperial Council of North America held their annual session in Rochester, and the large meeting of Wednesday evening was an expression of the visitors for the many kindnesses shown during the visit.

INTEREST INCREASES IN CROSSLEY MEETINGS

Song Sermon on Thursday Night Attracted a Very Large Audience.

The interest in the Crossley meetings in Wellington Street, Methodist Church is not only sustained but increases in this closing week. The song sermon Thursday night "From Guilt to Glory" was entertaining, instructive and cheering. He emphasized the thought that (1) We are delivered from the guilt, power and love of sin. (2) We live the life of prayer and communion. (3) We are privileged to be workers with Christ in the salvation of others. (4) We rejoice in hope of heaven. (5) A peaceful or triumphant death is insured, and (6) a royal welcome to glory awaits the Christian. Four solo selections were given in the sermon. "Cards and Card Playing" will be discussed tonight, and Sunday will close the campaign.

FORMER WELL-KNOWN LONDON SHOE MAN

Mr. John Thompson Died at Residence of His Daughter in Broughdale.

The death occurred at an early hour this morning of Mr. John P. Thompson, a well-known resident of this city, and at one time connected with the shoe business. Deceased had been ailing for some time, and the end, which took place at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wilson of Broughdale, was not unexpected.

The late Mr. Thompson was, some years ago, associated with Pocock Bros., with the retail firm did business on Dundas street, and later had engaged in different business pursuits. He was well known to the home guard of the London Old Boys, and always took a keen interest in the union. Mr. Thompson was also a member of the Masonic order. Mr. Thompson is survived by one son, Harry, of Montreal, and four sisters and a brother—Mrs. Wilson, of Broughdale; Mrs. Charles Sterling, of this city; Mrs. Locke, of Nebraska, and Miss Thompson, of Chicago, and Mr. Charles Thompson, of Chicago.

LORD ROBERTS CHAPTER

Daughters of the Empire Elected Officers for the Year.

The members of Lord Roberts Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire at their annual meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Beddome, Bank of Montreal building, elected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: Regent, Mrs. E. B. Smith; first vice-regent, Mrs. Wm. Allan Young; second vice-regent, Mrs. J. B. McKillop; secretary, Miss Manigault; treasurer, Mrs. E. H. Johnston; standard bearer, Mrs. Williams; auditors, Mrs. Frank McCormick and Mrs. E. C. Mitchell.

The secretary, Miss Manigault, read a most interesting report of the work of this chapter during the past year. His report was also a member of the Masonic order, the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Gibson made their first official visit to London to open the Christmas fête, from which was realized the sum of $610 in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses. The members were cheered by an appreciative letter from Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who said he was proud to think that the chapter bears his name.

Man Lost Ambition

It seemed strange to so active and energetic a young man as Arthur H. Scott, of Brooklyn, that he did not attack his work with the usual enthusiasm last spring.

"He knew it was not 'spring fever,' for his health failed, and, to use his own words in a recent letter, 'I could not sleep, had no energy or ambition, and could not do my work properly.' 'I must,' said that Vinol has done me wonderful good, for I feel strong and ambitious again, just like I used to before my health failed. I rest well at night, have a good appetite, and no more nervousness, all because I took your excellent tonic, Vinol."

One reason Mr. Scott was willing to try Vinol was because he knew he could get his money back if Vinol did not benefit him. "This delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil, positively has no equal as a spring medicine, to enrich the blood and make weak, worn-out men, women and children, rugged, rosy and strong. We guarantee it to do this, and give back your money if it does not. Anderson & Nelles, druggists, also W. T. Strong, druggist, London, Ont.
