LABOR WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT SIR ADAM BECK'S ACTION IN HYDRO STRIKE

Ald. McKay To Demand Explanation as to Tory Candidate's Reported S. O. S. Call For Strike-Breakers From Chippawa.

OFFICIAL CALLS LABOR MAN BOLSHEVIST

Did Sir Adam Beck, Tory candidate in London, and chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, wire his chiefs at Niagara Falls for strikebreakers to replace local workers, who had differed with General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the London Public Utilities Commission?

And if so—why?

These are pertinent questions that demand an immediate answer from the Tory candidate. And these questions come today from officials and prominent members of the London Labor party.

Ald. Frank McKay, one of Labor's two representatives in the city council from ward three, is vigorous in his contention, that if Sir Adam Beck did send for strikebreakers, he should explain his position in this respect.

"We should know if Sir Adam Beck did send to Niagara Falls for men to replace local city employees who had disagreed over wages and working conditions with the officials," Ald. McKay stated.

And if Sir Adam sent to Niagara Falls for this purpose, the people of London and the workers of London should know his reason.

Ald. McKay questions why the public utilities commission did not prepare for contingencies. There would be no need to import strikebreakers from Chippawa or anywhere else," he contends.

"The utilities commission has every right, as have the workers, to seek a government board of conciliation. The commission could, and should, have taken this step even while the men were on strike," he said.

As Manager Buchanan declares, "No Need For Strike-Breakers."

"There was absolutely no need to seek men from other centers. When the commission expected trouble and a possible strike, arrangements should have been made immediately for an official request for a board of conciliation."

Ald. McKay points out that if the machinery provided by the Dominion government had been used in this case, and it was for just such cases that legislation was enacted, it is very doubtful if a strike would have occurred, and as quite often happens, a satisfactory settlement would have been arrived at.

Manager Buchanan, discussing the situation, says there is no change in the men asked for an increase in wages on the work. He served notice on the strikers last night to the effect that their campaign of intimidation must cease forthwith, or he will swear out warrants for their arrest.

Says He Will Be Severe.

Mr. Buchanan also stated that the strikers are doing all in their power to intimidate the men who have taken on the work. He served notice on the strikers last night to the effect that their campaign of intimidation must cease forthwith, or he will swear out warrants for their arrest.

He states that the attitude of Ernest Ingles, the strikers' representative, has been most offensive throughout the whole affair. The intimidation of his staff was brought to his attention yesterday, and this morning Buchanan said he has given the strikers all kinds of latitude in their strike dealings, but since they don't appreciate this, he will adopt a firmer attitude.

"It is time," he said, "that Ingles and his following learned that there is no room in London for Bolshevists. The strikers are all kinds of latitudes in their strike dealings, but since they don't appreciate this, he will adopt a firmer attitude."

Plans To Honor Man Executed By French

Ludendorff Starts Movement For Memorial To Albert Schlager.

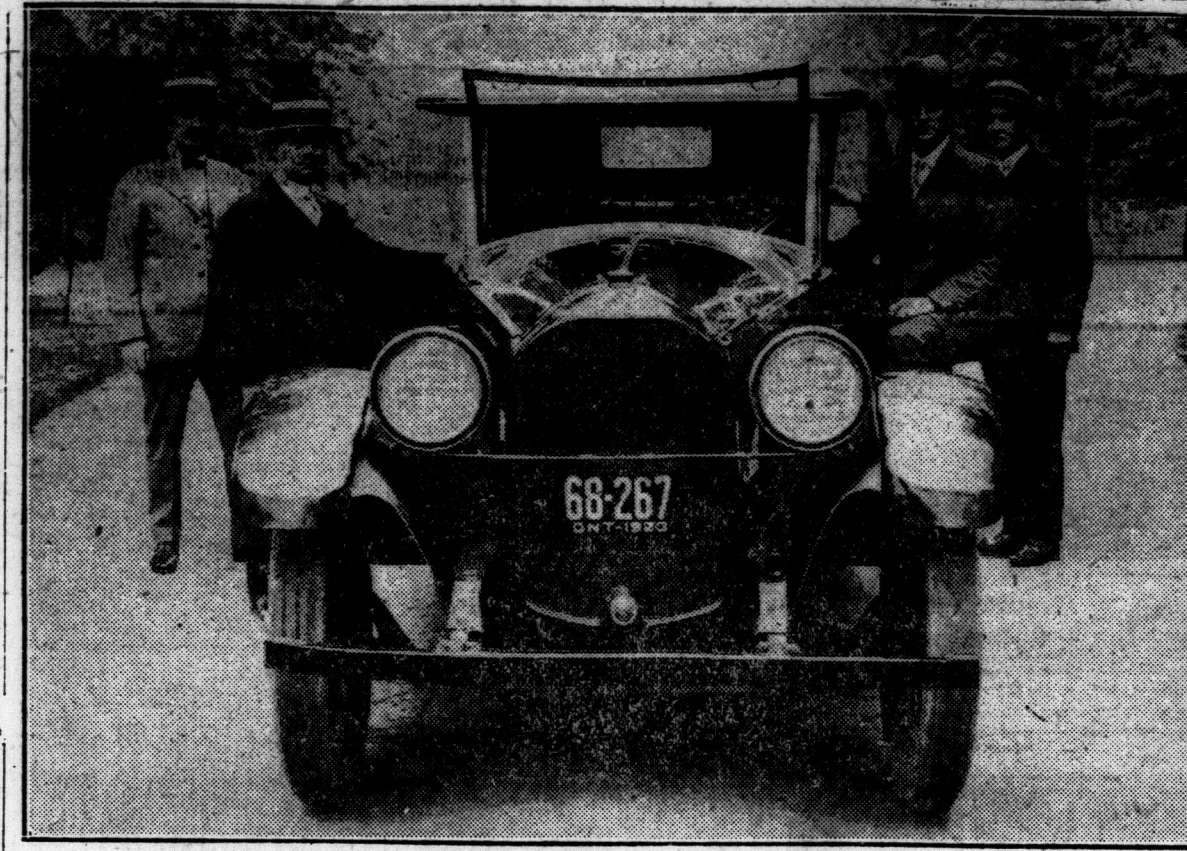

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, June 15.—General Ludendorff has started a movement for the erection of a monument to Albert Schlager, former German army officer, who was recently executed by the French at Dusseldorf upon charges of sabotage against the forces of occupation in the Ruhr. In response to the general's appeal, all veteran officers' associations have already begun subscription lists. Schlager died, says Ludendorff's manifesto, "worthy of his deeds in the world war, as a soldier of the old army."

HOLLANDERS CONVINCED PROHIBITION IS A SUCCESS

Associated Press Despatch. New York, June 15.—A two-months' tour through 25 states and Canada to survey the effectiveness of the eighteenth amendment for the Dutch Society for the Abolition of Alcohol has convinced them that prohibition in America is a marked success. E. Meulen, president of the society, and N. A. Decries, a member of a provincial cabinet in Holland, reported today.

CITY HALL WAGES TO BE DISCUSSED BY THE COUNCIL

Mayor Wenige Decides To Call Special Meeting Next Week.

NO REDUCTIONS May Be Increases Recommended in Certain Specially Deserving Cases.

City hall wages and salaries will be considered at a special meeting of the council next week, Mayor Wenige told the city treasurer this afternoon. Recommendations for increases will be submitted at that time by the several department heads. Referring to his pre-election platform, Mayor Wenige declares there will be "no reduction of wages."

He is not at all verbose, however, when questioned as to "salaries." He pointed out that his pre-election platform stated "reduction of salaries—in certain instances, yes."

His worship declines to commit himself further than to observe "this is 1923, and we have done pretty well with my platform to date." There may be salary decreases, he says, but then again there may not.

The mayor desires, however, that this question be cleaned up as speedily as possible, and pointed out that there were certain deserving cases pending that he was aware of. It was chiefly a question of financial resources, he explained, and he questioned just how much, if any, would be available for the purpose. He could not anticipate any general increase.

City Treasurer James Bell was not quite positive on this point either, but he reassured that certain provisions had been made in the estimates. It is expected also that the several 1922 recommendations for increases will also be considered.

Mayor Wenige and Ald. Douglas both believe further that all estimates for 1924 should be presented by the several departments in the fall preceding the municipal election. There is every likelihood that this course will be pursued this year.

Beck, Paid By the People, Scorns the People's Law

Sir Adam Beck, as a Tory candidate, seeks to hand over the people's hydro to Howard Ferguson, timber king and opponent of public ownership.

That is bad enough. But there is more. Sir Adam Beck, as a political candidate of any color, is scornful of the law of Ontario's parliament. The point was well brought out by Dr. Louis A. Wood, in addressing West London electors, last night.

In 1897, James T. Garrow of West Huron introduced the following resolution, which received the assent of parliament, and still stands as a fundamental of political honor.

The resolution reads: "Resolved, That this house is of opinion that officers or clerks of the civil public service of the province, or permanent employees, who solely or for the most part obtain their livelihood in the public service, should not actively participate in provincial or dominion election campaigns, and that officers or clerks of the civil service should not become candidates for municipal councilors."

HAS STOOD FOR 25 YEARS. That resolution has never been questioned in 25 years of hard political campaigning. It remained for Sir Adam Beck and a few Tory politicians in London to disregard Ontario's code of honor in the same spirit which prompted them a few days ago to try to block a meeting of London's city council—anything to win an election.

The Toronto Globe and some of Beck's henchmen are trying to dodge around the law. They say that Beck is not really a public servant because only $6,000 of his $18,000 salary is paid by the government.

Such quibbling means nothing except an admission of wrong. Is Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the hydro commission appointed by the government, not a public servant?

His standing as a public servant has been his plea for election. It has been the Globe's excuse for not regarding him as an out-and-out Tory.

TO EVADE THE LAW. And now to evade the law Sir Adam and the Globe are trying to switch their flim-flam.

Sir Adam Beck is a paid public servant. As a political candidate he is disregarding parliament's code of honor. As a Tory candidate he is betraying the non-partisan trust of the people's hydro.

The plain truth is that Sir Adam Beck is running as a Tory in London because, as he said at the Tory convention, he "was a casualty of the Conservative party" at the last election. The people's hydro he is using merely as a crutch to recover from that wound.

EAST LONDON TAX PROBLEM WILL GO INTO THE COURTS

Delinquent Firms Will Probably Be Grouped in Blanket Action.

LAWYER HAS CASE

City Treasurer Invokes Power of City Solicitor and Prepares Action.

The first official step in the city's battle to secure additional school taxes from East London industries was noted today.

Upon receipt of a detailed statement from City Treasurer James Bell, the mayor directed him to take the entire problem to City Solicitor T. G. Meredith for prompt action. The solicitor will advise as to the proper method of approach through the courts.

In all probability, the charge will take the nature of a "blanket" action, and all the delinquent firms will be grouped together. It was at first considered whether the same purpose could have been better served if one industry had not been singled out for a test case.

The city treasurer reports, however, that the city solicitor favors the other plan. Mayor Wenige and Ald. Douglass, chairman of the board of works, who have been outstanding in their right to collect these taxes in question, involving approximately $15,000, insist that the fight shall be carried to the high courts, if need be, for a definite decision.

There is one firm that declines to pay as much as $3,000 or $4,000, asserted Mayor Wenige today, in a scathing denunciation of the delinquent factories. "But the men in that plant, some of whom receive a princely $2 per day, have come to the city hall and paid their taxes. They are not exempt, and what they pay means a greater effort than this expenditure means to these industries in the annexed districts of this city."

ROB PULLMAN CASHIER OF $22,000 PAYROLL

Bandits Attack Official as He Enters Long Island Works.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, June 15.—A cashier of the Pullman Company and his bodyguard were robbed of a $22,000 payroll by six armed men today as they were entering the Sunnyside works at Long Island City.

The bandits knocked F. R. McGuire, receiving cashier of the company, over the head with the butt of a pistol, and when he reeled, dashed, snatched the bag of money from him. The bandits jumped into a big touring car and sped off.

SAYS BELFAST CRIME RETURNED TO NORMAL

Sir Robert Baird, K. B., E. D. L., Declares Six Months' Record Low.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Ont., June 15.—That Belfast has come back practically to normal and that so far as crime is concerned, it has now, as it had before the Sinn Fein outrages began, less crime than Liverpool, Leeds, London and most of the great cities in the British Isles, were borne out in a statement by Sir Robert Baird, K. B., E. D. L., leader of the Unionists in Ireland, and editor of the Belfast Evening Telegraph, who arrived in Toronto this morning on a business trip to Canada and the United States.

The total of specially reported cases during the past six months is very low for a city of almost half a million inhabitants and compared with a similar period for 1922 shows a decrease of approximately 75 per cent, said Sir Robert.

Bayly Tells Crown Case Against Sidney Murrell Rests Until America Acts

The Deputy Attorney-General Holds Consultation With Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott.

PREPARING PAPERS

California Authorities Will Hear Plea For Extradition Next Wednesday.

Ontario officials are still in the dark as to the latest developments in the case of Sidney Murrell, wanted here for murder, and held in San Francisco jail, pending extradition or deportation.

In consultation with Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott, K. C., yesterday, Deputy Attorney-General W. H. Bayly, K. C., stated that no word as to what disposition will be made of the prisoner by the California authorities has been received in Toronto since the stated case against the Middlesex County jail breaker and bandit was sent to the British consul at San Francisco.

Judging from reports received from San Francisco by The Advertiser, the American authorities are planning to extradite Murrell.

Yesterday The Advertiser received word that extradition papers would be completed next Wednesday. In that event, Murrell will be given an opportunity, if he desires, to satisfy Washington that he should not be taken back to his native land to face trial on the capital charge.

Intends To Fight. Although Murrell declares he does not care what the future may bring, he has stated since his arrest that he intends to fight extradition. However, a copy of evidence that would warrant his immediate return is now in the hands of United States officials, admiration of justice heads here.

As soon as word that the prisoner is ready to be taken back is received, officers will proceed from Canada to California.

Should extradition rather than deportation be arranged, the Canadian police will journey to San Francisco to get their man, but in no case will the American police will bring the prisoner to Canadian territory and turn him over to Dominion officials.

Talk Special Session. Governor Byron Dawson of the county jail, declares there will be no second session. He intends to see to it that the escape in September, 1921, took place before Governor Dawson took office.

There is even talk of a special session of the court being arranged to try the prisoner, so that he will not be given an opportunity to plan a getaway while he is in prison.

Efforts towards this end were made in 1921 by B. F. Waterworth, former deputy sheriff, but did not bear fruit. The prisoner was held in San Francisco from April 1, the day of the shooting and bank robbery at Melbourne, to September 2, the day Sidney was taken back to his native land.

They were scheduled to stand trial on September 2 present are ignoring Henry Jack (Slim) Williams, who will stand trial for murder with Murrell when he is brought back to Canada. In Kingston serving a seven year term for robbery with violence and can be brought to London on a day's notice.

Arrested For Drunkenness, Young Man Implicates Tillsburg Physician.

Canadian Press Despatch. Woodstock, June 15.—Dr. H. E. Service, Tillsburg, was charged in court today with an alleged infraction of the O. T. A. The absence of the only witness necessitated the adjourning of the case for a week.

The doctor was sentenced some time ago to a term in the Kingston penitentiary on a charge of bigamy. He was successful a month ago in his efforts to secure a new trial, and is at present out on $10,000 bail, awaiting trial next December.

URGES LAW BE TAUGHT IN CANADIAN SCHOOLS

Kingston Grand Jury Deplores Abnormal Increase of Crime.

Special to The Advertiser. Kingston, Ont., June 15.—The grand jury, which submitted its report to the court of general sessions this morning, commented upon the abnormal increase in crime, and recommended that a book in civics be used in the public schools in order that the youth of the land might receive adequate instruction in the fundamental laws of Canada.

The grand jury holds that the system of education in Ontario lacks instruction in moral and civil law, too much being left to inference merely. If the children were instructed properly it thereby there would be far fewer crimes committed.

MUST CURB FOOD MAKERS TO LOWER BABY DEATHS

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, June 15.—So long as the government permits undue claims to be made by the manufacturers of patent baby foods, so long will be unable to reduce infant mortality to the level we might, declared Dr. George A. Cities in Canada where properly certified milk is obtainable can be numbered on the fingers of one hand, Dr. Campbell said.

FLOOD WATERS RISING, AGAIN MENACE KANSAS

Heavy Rains With Gales Causes New Overflow of Creeks and Canals.

Associated Press Despatch. Kansas City, Mo., June 15.—Several sections of Kansas again faced floods with the third rise of streams within the last two months. At Wichita a new overflow of Chisholm Creek and the drainage canal is predicted, with another inundation of the northern section of the city in prospect following a rain of almost cloudburst proportions yesterday.

Swept along by a 54 miles an hour wind, the rain filled the streets and began to flood stores and caused merchants to rebuild the sandbag walls that protected their stores during the flood of several days ago.

Residents along the Solomon River at Smith Centre fled for the third time in two weeks last night when that stream flooded the low lands.

MANUFACTURERS REQUEST INCREASES IN TARIFFS

REQUEST TARIFF ON FINISHED GOODS BE MADE HIGHER

Canadian Manufacturers Ask Increase in Resolution at Toronto Session.

TRADE IS DISCUSSED

Hon. George P. Graham Defines Government Attitude in Question.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, June 15.—Immediate and substantial increase in the Canadian customs tariff on finished products, and preferential tariff arrangements based on the principle of bargaining when higher rates take effect, were urged in a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association yesterday.

It was decided to ask the Dominion Government to confer with the provincial government for determining a policy which will define the source of revenue to which Dominion, provincial and municipal governments will be limited for purposes of taxation.

The Dominion, provincial and municipal governments were requested to extend and intensify their pre-emption efforts.

Banquet Is Held.
With some four hundred members and their wives present, the annual banquet of the C. M. A. was held last night. It was expected that Hon. Sir George Fuller, premier of New South Wales, and Hon. H. S. W. Lawson, premier of Victoria, Australia, would speak, but they had to leave the city earlier in the day.

In the speech the problem of Canada's trade was tackled from various angles. The question of tariff came to the fore in the address of Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways and canals, attempted to demonstrate that what the government had to do was to secure a middle course between the protectionists and the free traders. This view was criticized by the retiring president, J. C. Shaw, "Mr. Graham," he said, "cannot evolve a policy to suit all classes, it is impossible. The policy must be framed on economic interests. The poor ones to be protected and the sound survive. We have had too much of this balancing of interests. What we want is a policy which will not be a matter of laissez faire will not do. We are getting to the point where we cannot pay."

C. Howard Smith at the outset of his speech said he believed the great development of a spirit of national unity, of mutual confidence between one section of the Dominion and another, and between one class and another. He said that the Dominion had gained ground during the past year, and that there were no murmurs of discontent in the Dominion, and that the Dominion was a united people, and that with all its various inroads had been made into Canada's population by the emigration of skilled and unskilled labor to the United States.

Deals With Tariff.
"We are making no material change in population," said President Smith. "The national budget, still a short of balance, would be $7,000,000. The public debt is increasing. Taxes are piling up. The Dominion railways are still falling behind. There is a general feeling that we are not doing enough immigration. We must go on forever making it more difficult for our people to live in Canada. Relief from the tariff burden must be found."

Touching on the tariff question Mr. Smith said the manufacturers regarded with satisfaction the recent privative statements concerning the tariff. "Assurance that such a policy has been decided upon, the tariff is a subject of greater confidence if they had not been accompanied by further tariff reductions," he added. It was a question whether a general reduction of the tariff at regular intervals sufficiently far apart, instead of each annual session of parliament, could not make for sounder stability. A proper tariff board should be appointed to report on all matters pertaining to the customs tariff, as had been suggested by the association on several occasions, the board to act in an advisory capacity.

Out-and-Out Optimist.
As to protection, Mr. Smith said: "If there ever was a time when protection was needed in this country, it is if there ever was an occasion when reductions in the tariff were advanced and totally unjustifiable, that time and that occasion are now with us."

Referring to British preference Mr. Smith pointed out the disparity between the industrial wages paid in England and in Canada. British manufacturers were enabled to produce goods at a lower cost than could be done in this country. Canada would have one general tariff, applicable to all, and a preferential tariff available to all parts of the British Empire, but only in return for corresponding trade preferences granted this country.

"We have been definitely discriminated against," Mr. Smith continued, on the alleged ground that in trade matters we are merely the adjunct of the United States on account of our capital investment and Canadian branch factories."

Stating that the prosperity of the Dominion was bound up with the transportation problem, Mr. Smith said there should be some form of relief from the present high transportation charges. The result of the lowering of the tariff on the transportation on Canadian industries which affected the railways and their earnings.

Mr. Smith declared himself "an out-and-out optimist on Canada," and said he had no misgivings as to her present or future greatness.

Impact of Collision Throws Cars Across Curb Into Group of Children.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, June 15.—Little Florence Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gregory, 133 Innes avenue, is dead in St. Joseph's Hospital, and little Helen Albridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Albridge, corner of Richmond and Lacroix, is seriously injured, with the probability of serious internal injuries, as the result of the collision of two motor cars at the corner of West and Harvey streets about one o'clock yesterday.

Accompanied by three other little girls—Rose Campbell, 131 Innes avenue; Myrtle Steel, 135 Innes avenue; and little Jean Gregory—the girls were returning to the Central school, when, as they approached the corner of the street intersection, a car coming from the east down Harvey street, and driven by Otto Kemp, Richmond, collided with another car driven by Jack Easton, coming from the north down West street. The impact threw the cars across the street and into the group of little girls, fatally injuring the little Gregory girl, who was thrown directly under one of the vehicles, and badly bruising the little Albridge girl, whom the doctors fear may be injured internally.

The little Gregory girl was immediately rushed in an ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where she passed away at two o'clock. Her father, who was in Blenheim, was summoned at once, but did not arrive in the city in time to see his daughter alive.

The other girls in the party were badly shocked, but with the exception of a few minor bruises escaped uninjured.

W. G. CONNOLLY STANDS FOR PROHIBITION
In stirring address at Watford Liberal Candidate Declares Platform.

Special to The Advertiser. Watford, June 15.—There were no less than 150 persons present at the nomination meeting for the constituency of East Lambton, which was held in the Lyceum here yesterday afternoon. Candidates nominated were W. G. Connolly, U.F.O. member for the constituency in the last house; William Garfield Connolly, B.A., reeve of Watford Liberal, and W. R. Dawson, U.F.O. member for the constituency in the last house.

The new scheme will enable the cars to have a regular cleaning and overhauling and the garage will be in the nature of an investment by the city, as the building will be charged up against the debt, and will, in a comparatively short time pay for itself. The committee, however, has been asked to take the question into consideration, and the question in this light, and realized that the erection of the garage would actually really be an investment of the city, and the view of the way in which the city's property is cared for at present.

The mayor and chairman were in favor of housing all the cars every night in some central garage, while the engineer stood out for consideration in the men employed by his department, and thought that if a man was employed by his department, he should not be taken to his home at night and then be expected to return to work in the morning with the efficient every-day performance of his work. "Do not strangle all the enthusiasm of the energetic and interested men in your employment by too many stringent rules," he said, "and the committee, Alderman McKee was in favor of letting each man keep his car, but making him responsible for its use. In the case of a man driving one car regularly, it was suggested that the giving of a car allowance and making him use his own auto was the best solution, as it is done in many other cities."

Special to The Advertiser. Watford, June 15.—There were no less than 150 persons present at the nomination meeting for the constituency of East Lambton, which was held in the Lyceum here yesterday afternoon. Candidates nominated were W. G. Connolly, U.F.O. member for the constituency in the last house; William Garfield Connolly, B.A., reeve of Watford Liberal, and W. R. Dawson, U.F.O. member for the constituency in the last house.

The new scheme will enable the cars to have a regular cleaning and overhauling and the garage will be in the nature of an investment by the city, as the building will be charged up against the debt, and will, in a comparatively short time pay for itself. The committee, however, has been asked to take the question into consideration, and the question in this light, and realized that the erection of the garage would actually really be an investment of the city, and the view of the way in which the city's property is cared for at present.

Defends Civic Employees.
The mayor and chairman were in favor of housing all the cars every night in some central garage, while the engineer stood out for consideration in the men employed by his department, and thought that if a man was employed by his department, he should not be taken to his home at night and then be expected to return to work in the morning with the efficient every-day performance of his work. "Do not strangle all the enthusiasm of the energetic and interested men in your employment by too many stringent rules," he said, "and the committee, Alderman McKee was in favor of letting each man keep his car, but making him responsible for its use. In the case of a man driving one car regularly, it was suggested that the giving of a car allowance and making him use his own auto was the best solution, as it is done in many other cities."

FIVE THOUSAND MINERS THREATEN TO STRIKE

Nova Scotia Workers Will Walk Out Unless Comrades Reinstated.

Canadian Press Despatch. Sydney, N. S., June 15.—A resolution adopted by 5,000 miners at a mass meeting at Glace Bay last night states that a general strike of the miners employed in the mines of the British Empire Steel Corporation in Cape Breton will take place at noon tomorrow unless 50 men recently laid off are reinstated before that time. About eight or nine thousand men would be affected. Fifteen hundred of these, employed at the mines on the north side of Sydney Harbor, where the 50 men were laid off, went on strike at 4 o'clock this morning.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, June 15.—Little Florence Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gregory, 133 Innes avenue, is dead in St. Joseph's Hospital, and little Helen Albridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Albridge, corner of Richmond and Lacroix, is seriously injured, with the probability of serious internal injuries, as the result of the collision of two motor cars at the corner of West and Harvey streets about one o'clock yesterday.

Accompanied by three other little girls—Rose Campbell, 131 Innes avenue; Myrtle Steel, 135 Innes avenue; and little Jean Gregory—the girls were returning to the Central school, when, as they approached the corner of the street intersection, a car coming from the east down Harvey street, and driven by Otto Kemp, Richmond, collided with another car driven by Jack Easton, coming from the north down West street. The impact threw the cars across the street and into the group of little girls, fatally injuring the little Gregory girl, who was thrown directly under one of the vehicles, and badly bruising the little Albridge girl, whom the doctors fear may be injured internally.

The little Gregory girl was immediately rushed in an ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where she passed away at two o'clock. Her father, who was in Blenheim, was summoned at once, but did not arrive in the city in time to see his daughter alive.

The other girls in the party were badly shocked, but with the exception of a few minor bruises escaped uninjured.

I AM NOW A DIFFERENT MAN

So Says Retired Salvation Army Officer, Who Regains Health After Ten Years' Suffering—Claims Dreco a Wonderful Remedy.

"For the past ten years I have suffered from peptic and a general run-down condition of the system," states Mr. Philip Lewis, former Salvation Army Sergeant Major, of the Junior Sunday School, Maidstone, Kent, England, and now a well-known citizen of Toronto, residing at 452 Kende street. "After my arrival in Canada 12 years ago, I was taken ill with pneumonia, which resulted in a nervous, weakened condition of my system. Finally, after ten years of suffering, I was almost impossible for me to drag one foot in front of the other. This necessitated the use of a cane when trying to walk. I tried many medicines and spent hundreds of dollars without getting results. Since June, 1922, I had been unable to do any work, my entire system being so very weak. I had just about given up all hope of recovering, when I happened to read how much Dreco was doing for others, so decided to try it.

Dreco is being specially introduced in London by Standard Drug Limited, and is sold at all their stores in London, St. Thomas and Woodstock. It is also sold in Chatham by W. W. Turner, in Sarnia by Ingersoll's Drug Store, Stratford by Nasmyth & Harwood, Ingersoll by A. L. Law, Galt by R. W. Meikleham, Ridgeway by D. H. Stewart, Bothwell by Bothwell Drug Store, Lucan by H. S. Stanley, and by a good drug-gist everywhere.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE, LIMITED

UP FROM THE DEATH CELL

By JOHN W. KANE.

Curly Kane Returns At the Promised Time Though Gravely Ill With Influenza

SYNOPSIS.

Curly Kane wins his way to regeneration while in prison. A wild lad, he killed two car men in a hold-up, and after 17 months in Murderers' Row, got a new trial, with a life-imprisonment sentence instead of death. He studies law, reads, trains himself to be a magazine writer, and conceives the idea of a law permitting parole for life prisoners who serve fifteen years. By finesse, he gets it passed. A new warden, with modern ideas, makes Kane his private secretary. Parole is denied him, but the warden lets him leave prison informally for a visit to his parents in Missouri. On the journey he sees a woman, fellow-passenger met by her husband; Kane recognizes the man as a former prison companion who also made good. It is his first visit home in 24 years.

CHAPTER XLVI

On the morning of March 7 I awoke at a point some three hundred miles from my western or prison home. I felt chilled and weak, had a dull headache, and there was a peculiar sensation of heaviness and occasional cutting pains in my chest.

In the dining car I was unable to eat. I took out my watch and tested my pulse. It registered 93. From the dining car I went to the observation car. There I entered into conversation with another passenger, and upon telling him how I felt, he told me in four words what the trouble was:

"You've got the flu."

"Are you a physician?" I asked.

"No, but I've had the 'flu'—I'm not over it yet—and it began exactly as you describe your trouble."

"Wonder if I could find a physician aboard," said I.

"A physician couldn't help you any. Might quarantine you."

"Quarantine me—where?"

"Oh, most anywhere, perhaps," he told me. "Now maybe he couldn't take you from a train, but if you should get so sick that you'd have to leave the train—why, into quarantine you'd go."

"I'm not going to leave the train," was my reply, "unless I leave it dead."

I did not leave the train dead; but when, after the most miserable day's travel I ever put in, I left it at my destination, I was so ill that I could scarcely walk.

The deputy warden, in the temporary absence of the warden, met me at the station, and as soon as I arrived at the prison, I went straight to my room and to bed. No physician was sent for that night, but early the next morning he was on hand.

"Faithful to Great Trust."

"Well, Kane," he told me in a jocular mood, yet I knew what he said was true, "it's got you."

"You mean the 'flu'?" I managed to ask.

"Yes," he answered. "Are you going to let it kill you?"

"Not by a long shot," said I, which started a severe attack of coughing.

"That's the way to feel about it. It would be the hardest kind of luck for a man to die after getting his fight won—and I don't believe you're naturally unlucky. There are a lot of people talking about you this morning—have you seen the papers?"

I shook my head, not wishing to bring on more coughing.

"I'll ask them to send you up one," the doctor told me.

The papers had found out about the trip home. And the one that had so long taken flings at me was the most pronounced in its detailed account of my journey and commendation of my conduct. "Faithful to Great Trust" was the headline that stared me in the face, when with weak and aching fingers I unfolded the paper. One of the papers concluded its remarks as follows: "And while Jack Kane was fully able to resist all temptation to violate his word of honor, he was not able to resist the ravages of the 'flu.'"

I Fight Again For Life.

That very talk made me all the more determined that I would resist and win out against the dreaded malady. Whether or not my determination had any bearing on the outcome, I weathered the storm, and within a week was able to walk about slowly in the early spring sunshine.

I had a number of telephone acquaintances down in the city whom I had never seen. There were several whom I had met, the acquaintances with whom had begun by way of the telephone. The places of meeting had been various, usually—and by pre-arrangement—in a little suburban park, near the prison reservation. From that point there had been auto rides all about and around the city, my friends seeming to take an especial delight in being accompanied by one whose situation in general was so unusual.

Those friends had not only read the accounts of my sickness, but had evidently drawn inferences that the "flu" had put me out for the final count.

Two weeks after my convalescence began I called for Western Union over the telephone.

"Western Union," the receiver said. I knew the operator.

"Say," I called back to her, "is this ing visitors through the place, I formed still a great many more. Occasionally when something special concerning the correspondence arose, I would be called upon; but most of the time during that spring and summer my duties consisted in escorting sightseers through the institution and sometimes over the farm and around the grounds generally.

Here mention might be made of the fact, and for the benefit of prison visitors, that as a rule visitors for those places have a kind of stereotyped line of talk. That is, easier for them, and it tends to keep visitors from asking questions that may be hard to answer. Eight out of ten persons who go through a penal institution are more interested in the inmates than in any system of management.

Many times I have had visitors address me as follows: "If you don't mind, we'd like to see some of the really bad prisoners."

Then my reply would depend upon a number of things, such as the general type that squad of visitors represented, and how they might accept certain explanations.

They Don't Believe Me.

In some instances I would merely explain that the rules prohibited me from pointing out prisoners; in others I would agree to show them a few notorious characters, on condition that they would merely glance at the men casually and not look in their direction while I was explaining their cases; and sometimes I would try myself at giving them an unexpected surprise by saying:

"Well, perhaps I have in days gone by been classed as one of the very worst."

"You're not a prisoner!" two or more would likely exclaim.

"I am indeed," would be my calm explanation, "and I'm hoping that I am nearing the termination of a life sentence."

At that some of them would indicate their doubt as to my seriousness in such talk; some would instantly accept it as true and appear dumbfounded; others, believing it, would begin inquiries concerning particulars of my case; while a very few would show an inclination toward being in fear of me. A large majority of them, however, would manifest intelligent curiosity along with their inquisitiveness, and I would take care in the matter of trying to give them the facts. It took guarded language to the gruesome. I never attempted to shield myself, but set up instead that I had tried hard to balance the account.

Natives of that state, or rather, people who had been living there for some time, would generally ask my name right at the first. All of the residents of the state had heard of my work and the journey home, and it was gratifying to observe how much that trip had helped me in begetting confidence and a measure of respect.

MOVIES PROMISE REAL AMUSEMENT AT PORT STANLEY

Bills Will Include Super Features and Better Class Comedies.

The L. & P. S. free movies on the beach at Port Stanley will open Monday, June 25, when one of the big features will be community singing.

There will be three changes of pictures each week—Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays—and the bills will include super features and short comedies of the better class. Last season the L. & P. S. free movies made a record for quality and entertainment, and this year the management is in a position to state that the show will be better than ever before.

The theatre will seat about 1,400 people, so that every night there will be ample accommodation for all who care to attend. The splendid orchestra of Professor Angelo Russo will again be heard both at the free movies and in the L. & P. S. cafeteria, and special musical programs are being prepared.

Beginning on the opening night, Monday, June 25, Don Linden, the famous baritone, who has made a reputation as a leader of community singing, will appear, and every week night afterward will be at the L. & P. S. free movies.

The people at large are cordially invited to send in their favorite old songs to the L. & P. S. picnic bureau for the purpose of having them sung in the community singing. Pick out the old heart songs, the popular hits of other days, and let the L. & P. S. know what your favorite is.

Don Linden's singing will in itself prove a rare treat, and he knows how to get the kiddies and their elders to sing with him. It is going to be "some" summer at the lakeside, with plenty of clean, wholesome amusement for everybody.

Provide Good Service.

Every day the special hourly service and the special summer fares are in vogue, and at the famous old resort, the L. & P. S. R. is leaving no stone unturned to make visitors comfortable. Everything is in full swing from the splendid L. & P. S. cafeteria, where choicest meals can be had at reasonable rates, to the magnificent L. & P. S. bathhouse, with its thousand rooms, and every accommodation for the picnickers, even to electric hair dryers for the ladies.

The L. & P. S. picnic bureau is very anxious to hear from any church, factory or other organization considering holding a picnic during the summer. Every assistance will be given so that the outing shall prove an unequalled success. Let the L. & P. S. R. know what you want, and you will be surprised at the thoroughness with which they will be able to assist you, and help make the day an enjoyable one.

Bring Your Friends To the Casino

If you have visitors this summer at Port bring them to the Casino. You can show them with pardonable pride one of the finest ball-rooms in the world. And the music will be a happy revelation to them, even if they come from the biggest of cities. Let strangers tell you just how good Lombardo's great orchestra really is.

LULL BEFORE STORM IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

CANDIDATES TAKE REST TO PREPARE FOR BATTLE OF THE NEXT TEN DAYS

Next Week Will See Intensive Campaign by All Four Election Entrants in City Fully Under Way—County Men Warming Up.

MISS ARMSTRONG'S FINE IMPRESSION

Local entries in the political race today contained themselves with "resting up" today preparatory to the intensive campaigns of next week. In the various committee rooms the lull before the storm was plainly discernible this morning.

Dr. Hugh Stevenson took a jaunt into the country and won't be back until early this evening. Sir Adam Beck has mysteriously disappeared from the city, probably to seek political ballast from friends in adjoining constituencies, and J. M. Donahue is busying himself with law until Saturday evening, when he will address the citizens on the market square.

Isabel Armstrong, Liberal candidate, will be the main speaker at a large rally of Liberal women at Hyman Hall tomorrow evening. On Monday both men and women will congregate at Liberal headquarters, where final plans for a bang-up campaign in the interests of Miss Armstrong will be completed.

Making Fine Impression. Undaunted by the distinction of being the first woman who ever took up political cudgels in London, the Liberal candidate purposes visiting all the large industrial centers of the city and talking to the men. Miss Armstrong is an interesting and cultured speaker, and it will be a treat for many of the electorate to hear a candidate who knows what to say and how to say it.

There is no question but that Liberalism in London is solidly behind Miss Armstrong. The enthusiasm with which her entry into the battle was greeted indicates the great following this popular candidate possesses in all ranks. Men and women traditionally of Conservative or Labor leanings will have no hesitation in backing the Liberal candidate.

not only because of her wide popularity, but also because of the distinctly favorable impression she makes when compared with the three masculine contestants.

With one short week remaining before the day of election, all four candidates are expected to devote their energies to final organization today and Saturday. Active campaigning will begin Monday in earnest, and a quarter will be given by any until the dawn of June 25th.

In Country Ridings. H. W. Chapple, Liberal candidate for East Middlesex, and Frank Boyes, the Tory hope, have programs all mapped out for next week. They will speak throughout the riding on different days. J. W. Freeborn, M. L. A., will address a gathering at Glanworth this evening. Tomorrow his committee will have completed a schedule of speeches for the ensuing week.

On Monday the annual East Middlesex U. F. O. picnic will be staged at Pond Mills, when the Hon. E. C. Drury, A. L. Hodgins, M.P., and Mr. Freeborn will discuss the issues of the election.

J. M. Donahue, local independent beer and light wine candidate, will discuss election matters at the market square tomorrow night. Donahue did not receive an invitation to Mrs. Morgan's garden party Thursday evening, but he asks all who attended that affair to march en masse to the local market if they wish to hear some real live talk on the issues of the day.

"If it's a hot night, the people are advised to bring some of the ice cream cones they got at the garden party with them," Mr. Donahue said facetiously.

UNITED STATES
DETERMINED TO ENFORCE RULING

Will Maintain Stand on Liquor Question Decided by the Supreme Court.

AWAIT ANSWERS
Believe Foreign Powers Will Remain Firm in Their Attitude.

Special to The Advertiser. Washington, June 15.—The American government will enforce to the letter the supreme court decision prohibiting liquor being brought into the three-mile limit if the great maritime powers reject the proposal for a treaty agreement on a twelve-mile limit, it was explained in official circles here.

Believing that the American proposal would not only be mutually advantageous to the United States and foreign powers, but that it is equally just, this government is in no mood to take steps to meet the foreign objections to the court's ruling if the other countries do not show a similar readiness to co-operate towards a settlement of the liquor question.

Great Britain is likely to reply unfavorably to the American treaty proposal, since the policy of that country has been against an extension of the three-mile limit. France is apparently standing pat in insisting on observance of the French laws requiring wine rations to be sold to French vessels. Ambassador Jusserand again has brought this attitude strongly to the attention of the United States, and it is indicated that France may reject the treaty plan if it does not make provision for the wine rations of crews.

VANCOUVER HAS 226,524. Canadian Press Despatch. Vancouver, June 15.—The population of Greater Vancouver is 226,524, according to the annual publication of a local directory company. This is an increase of 12,777 in population during the year.

Claims Prince of Wales
"Best Dancer In World"

U. S. National Institute of Social Dancing Bestows Honor On His Highness by Naming New Steps After Him.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, June 15.—The Prince of Wales has had an unexpected honor thrust upon him by a United States organization. He has been voted "the premier dancer of the world" by the National Institute of Social Dancing, which announced today it had sent him a number of new steps, named in his honor.

Addressing the popular British prince, the institute, through its secretary, Arthur Murray, said: "As a token of our appreciation of your many courtesies to American women on the ballroom floor, I take pleasure in forwarding to your royal highness on behalf of the American members of the National Institute of Social Dancing the inclosed new dance steps, one of which, because of its distinctiveness, we have taken the privilege of naming after your royal highness."

It is our unanimous vote that your royal highness deserves first place among the dancers of the world, by reason of which position we find it only befitting that your royal highness be the first to learn the steps."

The National Institute of Social Dancing is an organization of dancing teachers, which, among other things, secures by various means to promote interest in dancing. It plans to hold a convention in July, at which the steps which have been sent to the Prince of Wales are to be announced to the public on this side of the Atlantic.

British Premier Declares the Attitude of His Government Still Unchanged. Associated Press Despatch. London, Eng., June 15.—Replying to a question put by a Labor member in the House of Commons last evening, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin denied that the government contemplated any declaration implying approval of the Ruhr occupation. He said the government's view regarding the occupation had not changed.

None of the newspapers comment on it this morning, with the exception of the Times, which, in the course of an editorial reviewing the whole reparations situation, said it was hardly necessary to ask the government to make such a declaration without receding from its adopted position. This would destroy its power for useful intervention hereafter in European politics and would act against the country's convictions.

LIBERAL LEADER
EXPECTS SUCCESS
IN NORTH PERTH

Present Indications Point to a Close Election, With Wellington Hay as Winner.

VOTE IN STRATFORD

Both Sides Claim They Will Have Majority in Pivotal Point in Riding.

Special to The Advertiser. By a Staff Reporter.

Stratford, June 15.—One of the hardest battles in the election is being fought in North Perth between Wellington Hay, the Liberal leader, and Dr. J. D. Montague, Conservative. The present indications are that the result will be close, but Mr. Hay's supporters are confident that a continuance of the progress which has marked the Liberal campaign in the last few days will elect their leader with something to spare. The Conservatives have been working assiduously from the start, and with Mr. Hay busily employed in other parts of the province by reason of his position as head of his party, the Tory organization has been able to make some headway.

The Liberal leader, however, came on the scene this week, and in addition to holding one or two meetings, he has been doing some personal canvassing with good results. Mr. Hay is a believer in more than the spoken word, and there have been numerous tangible evidences that he is right in this view. Apart from his accomplishments as a sane and effective platform speaker, the Liberal leader excels when he is mingling with the people. His personality is going to tell in this contest, as it has on former occasions.

Mr. Hay will be in North Perth till Tuesday night, when he holds a mass meeting in Stratford, and after that he will visit other places in the province in the interest of Liberal candidates.

The Pivotal Point.

The pivotal point in North Perth is Stratford, and the vote here will largely determine the result. There are 20,000 electors on the roll in the riding, and of these 10,400 are in the city of Stratford. In 1919, Mr. Hay had a majority of 1,700 in this city, which was phenomenal, and it was this which put him in, as the Liberal candidate affected the vote in the city. Tories are predicting that on this occasion the Liberal will be a thousand ahead in Stratford. The Liberals, however, do not concede the victory to the Tories, and are confident that they expect nothing like the fortune which attended them four years ago.

The Conservatives have a Stratford doctor as their candidate, an ex-mayor of the city, who is well and favorably known, and is sure to pull a heavy vote. If the Liberals can hold their own in Stratford—and they are confident that they can—they will be returned without a doubt, for with no former candidate in the field this year, they will get the greater share of the county vote.

Mr. Ferguson's juggling with the liquor question is said to have raised hopes in the "wets," even though the Conservative leader is now for the dry law remaining until the people say differently, and it is reported that the Conservative candidate will get the vote of the people at the present time. The O. T. A. Day by day, however, this number is decreasing, as it is realized that nothing tangible can be expected from a Conservative government.

Mr. Hay at Kinkora.

Mr. Hay had a successful meeting last night at Kinkora, which is about 15 miles from Stratford. The Liberal leader declared that if the Conservatives had carried on in any way since 1919 to warrant a return to power he saw no reflection of that in the minds of the people at the present time. "If in 1919 the people of the province, who are the jury, said to the present administration, Mr. Ferguson being a member, we don't approve of your course in governing this province during the last 15 years, I can see no reason in the light of what has transpired since that government was voted out of power," remarked Mr. Hay, "for the people to believe that there was no one except Mr. Ferguson and his friends, in whom they could place confidence."

The Liberal leader referred to the Shevlin-Clarke timber transaction and the creation of the colony at Kapuskasing, both of which matters were in Mr. Ferguson's department, and he did not consider, in view of these two items of negligence or bad management the people would feel

THINKS MAN WILL USE
SUN AS POWER UNIT

Dr. C. Steinmetz at Schenectady Predicts World To Derive Energy From Dirt.

Special to The Advertiser.

Albany, N. Y., June 15.—That man will turn to the sun and the atom for energy power when in the far future coal and water power, and water, the tides, winds and waves prove insufficient to save the human race from a frozen and powerless future, was predicted last night in Schenectady by Dr. Charles Steinmetz.

Speaking to a delegation of European and Asiatic newspaper correspondents the "Thunderbolt" wizard of the General Electric Company said he believes man in time may get enough power from a ton of dirt to run the world's enterprises for a year, and the sun's rays that fall on America have a thousand times as much potential horsepower as all the coal and horsepower available.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT
BY BAND OF THE G.W.V.A.

In aid of the Tubercular Veterans' Association at the Byron Sanatorium, the Great War Veterans have arranged to hold a band concert in Queen's Park Sunday evening at 8:30. The G. W. V. A. Band will furnish the program.

The proceeds of the concert are to be devoted to the benevolent fund which the G. W. V. A. have organized for the assistance of those returned soldiers who had no registered illness within the year of their discharge, according to the military regulation. They are now being cared for at the Byron Sanatorium under the benevolent fund. Funds for their support are raised entirely by the G. W. V. A.

Inclined to return Mr. Ferguson's party to power. Mr. Hay alluded to the 30 years' record of the Liberal party when in power, saying they had governed with the co-operation of the best minds in farming and all other fields of activity, and the Liberal party believed then, as it did now, that to have successful government the best minds from all lines of activity should be welcomed. Mr. Hay also went into financial matters at some length, and said the question of lightening the burden of taxation was of much importance.

Deals With O. T. A.

Dr. Quinlan, president of the North Perth Liberal Association, made some allusions to the Ontario temperance act. He pointed out that the Conservatives were the party who put the temperance act into force, and the people voted for it. Then some time ago Mr. Ferguson said that if he were made premier he would see to it that there would be legislation that would satisfy the wets and the dries. He was asked on numerous occasions what this would be, but he always refused to tell. After parliament was dissolved, however, Mr. Ferguson was no longer able to juggle with the question, and, interposed by temperance advocates, he now declared that this law was placed on the statute books by a vote of the people and must remain until such time as the people voted it out. Dr. Quinlan said that there was no one story for the dries and another for the wets. What kind of campaign was that? The people should not allow themselves to be fooled or hoodwinked. Ex-Mayor W. H. Gregory, Stratford, also made a strong appeal to support Mr. Hay.

Trustee Silverwood Says 'Leak' Among Board Members Must Be Stopped.

The appointment of a successor to W. H. T. Moore at the Central Collegiate, which is recognized as the most important secondary school appointment in the city, has been under consideration by the board of education for some time. Many applications have been received, and because some of the applicants have expressed a wish to have their names not made public the board has done what it can to prevent publication of any name in connection with the appointment.

In this morning's Free Press is a story of a private meeting of number three committee of the board, at which the appointment of Everett Miller, principal of London South Collegiate, was agreed upon, and the salary to be given to Mr. Miller was mentioned as $5,000. At the meeting of the committee last night it was agreed, so The Advertiser learns this morning, that absolutely no information on the subject should be given out for publication.

The members of number three committee are A. E. Silverwood, chairman; B. N. Campbell, W. A. Casselman, Dr. A. J. Grant, Mrs. J. G. Hunt, A. N. Ury and the Rev. G. Q. Warner. All these members assured The Advertiser that they had made no statement of any kind, and that the publication of any names or of information in the board of education for some time. I know it is not in my committee. We feel that the publication of any names or suggestion of any definite appointment is very detrimental to the best interests of the board and not fair to those who have applied for the position.

Many of the members of the committee stated their reaction to the publicity given in the local paper in the same way, and objected to the fact that the board has a Jonah among its members.

As some of them put it, "Suppose the board appointed someone else, it would leave Mr. Miller in a very uncomfortable position. The board always seems to be in the local paper in the same way, and it's most annoying and undignified." There will be a special meeting of the board tonight, and the appointment will be fully gone into, though it is not absolutely certain that any candidate will be appointed even at this meeting.

SAY LIQUOR LAW USED TO DAMAGE SHIPPING

British Newspapers Attack the United States Proposal For Reciprocal Agreement.

Associated Press Despatch. London, England, June 15.—Commenting on the United States' proposal for a reciprocal agreement covering ship liquor and rum smuggling, the Morning Post expresses the hope that the British government will scrutinize the suggestion very carefully.

"We have become painfully aware that the American liquor laws are being used to damage our shipping," says the newspaper. It also calls attention to "the constant raising of the American customs against British goods, to say nothing of irritating incidents like the recent interference with our cotton trade." "This country," continues the Post, "has dealt fairly with America. We might, therefore, expect the civilities and courtesies of ordinary life. As we do not get them we are almost driven to the consideration that there is reciprocity in these matters. We believe that America might respect us rather more and treat us rather better if we acted strictly on the principle of behaving to her as she behaves to us."

RAILWAYMEN IN CITY

Canadian National Officials Inspect London-to-Sarnia Reconstruction Work.

G. F. McLaren, chief engineer of the main line-of-way department of the C. N. R., and Inspection Engineer A. E. Nelson, both of Toronto, were in London yesterday in connection with the London to Sarnia reconstruction work on the right-of-way. The officials, in company with Superintendent Charles Forrester of London, inspected the new metal and alterations on the whole line, and the visiting officials expressed themselves as being greatly pleased with the quality of the work, and the speed with which it has been accomplished. H. Ferguson, superintendent of rails for the Central Ontario region of the Canadian National, was also in London yesterday. The visit came in the course of Mr. Ferguson's routine inspection tour. While here Mr. Ferguson offered several suggestions in connection with the types of rail and rail equipment available for repair and maintenance work. He left London last night.

EVERY POSTOFFICE HAS C. O. D. SERVICE

Convenience Formerly Confined to Money Order Offices Now Extended to All.

The postal C. O. D. service inaugurated by the Canadian Postal authorities on October 1, 1921, on and after today will be extended to every postoffice in the Dominion of Canada. Formerly the C. O. D. service was available only at money order postoffices.

For some months prior to the establishment of the service, the Ottawa authorities felt the need of a "collect on delivery" service of mail matter, such as a plan, the delivery of a book, and a labor-saver to the large merchant, as well as the average citizen, but first it wasn't thought feasible.

Last September postoffice experts, after months of planning, formed the basis of the service that as records show has been gaining in popularity every month. As the establishment of the service was inaugurated more or less as a trial at the start, it was decided at the time to extend the service to non-accounting offices, but the volume of business from this department has become so great that head officials at the plan, wishing to place the service at the disposal of everyone, extended it to all postoffices in the Dominion.

By the C. O. D. service, charges due the sender up to $10 may be collected from the addressee, and remitted to the sender by postoffice money order. The fees charged, which are extremely small, cover the services rendered, cover insurance and registration on the mail matter as well as collecting charges.

ASKING CANDIDATES ABOUT BLUE SKY LAW

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Seeking Support For Legislation.

On behalf of the Western Ontario United Boards of Trade, secretary Gordon Philip of the local chamber of commerce has broadcasted a letter to all provincial candidates asking for an expression of their attitude with regard to Ontario "blue sky" legislation.

Legislation protecting the investing public of the province from being misled by more than $10,000,000 annually has already been passed by the Ontario assembly. If the new government fails to endorse that legislation, however, the province will again become the happy hunting grounds of the "get-rich-quick" promoter and high-pressure salesmen. What the united boards of trade are seeking is a concrete answer to the question, "Do you believe the government of Ontario should pass protective legislation for the investing public?" This query has been sent out to every political candidate in the field at the present time.

Legislation for the better safeguarding of investors has been enacted in 41 of the 48 states of the American union and by three Canadian provinces, leaving Ontario a prolific field for the depredation of crooked stock manipulators.

The local chamber is anxiously awaiting replies from the 25 candidates to be received the letter.

But the conductor appeared to misunderstand her question.

"Church," said the conductor, "Church going to the Union!"

"Not the Presbyterian Church," cried Alice wildly, "Never; I won't believe it!"

Without another word, Alice rose and stumbled from the car. The conductor looked at the motorman and the motorman looked at the conductor. The conductor sadly tapped his brow, as the motorman sorrowfully shook his head.

"Too bad," said the conductor.

PRICE WAR EXPECTED BY RUBBER COMPANIES

Group Under Heavy Fire and New Laws Are Reached

Special to The Advertiser.

By STUART P. WEST.

Wall Street, New York, June 15.—Today's stock market, the greater part of the time, saw the same sort of thing going on as on Thursday. Professional sentiment was overwhelmingly bearish, but for any kind reason that could be deduced regarding general conditions, it was easier to get prices down than to get them up.

Oil shares as a group were not as sensitive as they had been on two days previous, but a number of them made new lows for the week.

The rubber group was again under fire with new lows for the week. Rubber shares were particularly under attack in a Keystone. Representatives of the trade refused to commit themselves on the question of whether there is to be a price-cutting war, but the street is looking for the other traders to follow the example of the Keystone.

No careful discrimination, however, was made in the market's reaction to stocks representing industries that are not doing as well as they were early in the year, and stocks of companies that have not experienced any setback. Thus International Paper was driven down under the impression that the year, although the newspaper business is known to have returned to a profitable condition, the price of the stock announced three months ago.

Wall Street Features.—In the face of the pessimism regarding the oil industry, as well as the mid-continent districts and the recent weakness of the market, the oil shares of this stock today in the report that the peak of the oil price war could be looked for shortly. It was said that a large refinery has been taken over by oil companies, and that the California district despite the fact that not long ago it was reported that some of the oil production was to be shut in, and now the feeling has grown that a turn for the better is ahead.

May Department.—May Department Stores had ground very well today, getting up at one point to a substantial gain. The previous day's close, and almost to its high for the year. This stock has been around 100 for some weeks, and the earnings reports. It is expected that the dividend on May Department will be increased from $1.00 to $1.10.

London Stock Exchange.—London, June 15.—Following is the New York equivalent of today's closing British 5 per cent loan, 101.50; 4 1/2 per cent, 101.50; 4 per cent, 101.50; 3 1/2 per cent, 101.50; 3 per cent, 101.50; Soccer Notes

By BILLY BISSET

Are referees too strictly enforcing the penalty rule? The members of the Hamilton and District Football Association think they are, and said so at their meeting the other night in language that could not be misunderstood.

"It seems to me," said one of the officials, "that a number of referees do not know the difference between intentional and unintentional fouling. If they did there would be fewer penalty kicks given."

The matter came up for discussion after the regular business of the H. and D. meeting. The officials were of the opinion that referees were much too ready to give penalties.

Another member suggested the calling of a meeting of referees to have a heart-to-heart talk, but it was thought that publicly given the process would be sufficient to draw the attention of referees to the matter.

The complaint made by Hamilton "soccer" officials is justified. Some referees give penalty kicks on the slightest provocation. They would do well to remember that the offence committed must be intentional. They must satisfy themselves that the man played the ball or that he wilfully tripped an opponent when the latter was in a favorable position to score, otherwise no penalty kick should be given.

Toronto United kept up their winning streak when, on Tuesday last, in Toronto they eliminated Cowans' F. C. in an Ontario Cup game by 2 goals to 0.

The T. and U. side's division team gave their fancied opponents a stiff argument and made a creditable showing, considering they were without the services of three of their regulars.

Bob Lavery, the Red Handers' scintillating front attack leader in this particular game, again demonstrated his scoring ability in scoring United's two tallies.

Hamilton Thistles will meet Toronto All-Scots in the next round of the Connaught Cup. This game will be decided on Tuesday last when All-Scots defeated Old Country by 2 goals to 1.

The meeting of these two teams should be one of the "soccer" attractions of the season in the Queen City, as both elevens are reckoned to be the two best in Ontario in so far as finished football with combined science is concerned.

The first round Connaught Cup game between Labor Party and Toronto Caledonians is still undecided. The teams met in Toronto Saturday, playing to a 1 to 1 tie.

The replay staged in Hamilton Wednesday last, ended by a similar score. The T. & C. rules call for an extra period in the second game, but owing to a late start there was no time for an extra session.

It was one of the hardest games seen in Hamilton this season. The first half was clean, but in the second period there were many dirty plays, several near fights, which resulted in one player from each team being removed from the field.

Canadian National Highway Juniors met the doughty W. O. R. Juniors on Carling Heights Wednesday in a first series John A. Nash injured Players' Cup game, when after a lively 90-minute tilt the young Wasps surprised the Canadians.

W. O. R. Juniors' left back, McLean, played a wonderful game. He was the first goal of the season.

W. O. R. Juniors' left back, McLean, played a wonderful game. He was the first goal of the season.

Westminster Hospital F. C. have placed four players on the free transfer list, viz., Lightfoot, Wallace, Willis and Morley, and have players waiting to fill these vacancies.

Alfred Wheatley, who played such sterling games for Army and Navy Vets last season, will be seen in the Hospital line-up soon.

Alfred Farr, who played for the Vets in seasons 1921 and 1922, will also be playing for his old love, now known as Westminster Hospital F. C.

With these latest acquisitions the Hospital team should be greatly strengthened.

Arrangements are being made to play an exhibition game with C. N. A. A. F. C. at the Hospital grounds on Tuesday. This game will commence at 8:30 p.m. All Hospital players are requested to turn out for this game.

CITY CANDIDATES AT GARDEN PARTY LAND IN QUANDARY

Political Talk Banned at Fete in Grounds of A. J. Morgan Home.

STEVENSON SPEAKS

Liberal's Choice, Miss Isabel
Armstrong, Well Received at Gathering.

As a social event and for the purpose intended—securing funds for an organ in the Maitland Street Baptist Church—the garden party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Morgan, Wellington street north, proved an unqualified success.

As a political manoeuvre, however, the term successful must be used advisedly. Sir Adam Beck didn't find things as he had anticipated, and he says Mrs. Jenny Evans of Detroit, Mich. Few of us appreciate our health until we lose it. Mrs. Evans worked in a factory, but owing to a weakness and pains in her back she was forced to give up work. She says: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me well. It is grand to have your health, to feel well all the time, and to go around like other women without that awful torture of female troubles." Women who are suffering from such troubles should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the tried and true medicine, now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for female ills.—Adv.

didn't overlook telling his audience that he had "wasted 12 good hours preparing an address" upon the understanding that he was coming to deliver one of his famous addresses about hydro-operated washing machines and so forth.

From the viewpoint of the Liberal candidate, Miss Isabel Armstrong, it could be readily assumed that the evening's gathering was a success. It was Miss Armstrong's initial public address since her nomination, and while she did not touch upon the political activities of the day, she was afforded the opportunity to meet a representative gathering of North Londoners, and her address, brief but timely and effective, won her, without a doubt, new supporters in that district.

The "no politics" sign was hung out early by the hostess to the obvious disappointment of many visitors, and at least two of the candidates. Dr. Stevenson acknowledged that he did not know just what to talk about if politics were banned, and after deliberation evidently concluded that there was no other alternative in such a fix—talk politics anyhow.

Sir Adam appeared keenly disappointed. It was his unlucky night. In the first instance he came in the wrong way—came under the rope and not through the main entrance where the paid admissions were being received. But the ladies were not going to let him get away so easy, and as the Conservative candidate mingled with the guests on the lawn, one of them reminded him about it.

Sir Adam Disappointed.

When Sir Adam finally did have his chance on the balcony he admitted that he had come under the ropes, but promised to pay on his way out. He went on to explain that he had been under the distinct impression that he was being invited to a political gathering. It was unfortunate for him at least. He had spent 12 hours, he said, preparing his batteries for the fray.

"But I am not going to talk politics in the proper sense of politics," he promised. "We won't say unkind things about our opponents. The elections of London are indeed fortunate this time, however, in that they have such a wonderful variety of candidates from whom to select one."

"In past years people have remained at home because none of the candidates have appealed to them. Now they have the excuse handy. 'You have all sorts of platforms, wet, dry, and both sexes.'"

Sir Adam paid respects to Miss Armstrong, and offered the suggestion that her entrance in the field would have a delightful effect upon the campaign.

"And there is my old opponent, Dr. Stevenson," he commented. "He is always polite, polished and eloquent. And then we have another candidate. I don't know who he represents—probably liberty, even if it is the Liberty League. And then there is myself. Sometimes the people think a lot about me and sometimes they don't."

The Tory candidate explained that the last election was an indication of the latter phase of his popularity and then he evidently assumed the attitude that if they were not going to let him talk politics last night, just what line of action will please the majority of the people, and I must hear first from my opponents as to what they propose to do if they before the election.

"With all these candidates and their different platforms, one is in a quandary," he explained, "to decide just what line of action will please the majority of the people, and I must hear first from my opponents as to what they propose to do if they before the election."

Then Sir Adam pleaded for a campaign without personalities. "I hope that this campaign will be outstanding," he said, "from bitterness and personalities that have featured other events. Let us have clear-cut issues."

But Sir Adam apparently doesn't understand that the candidates will be able to continue the campaign along those lines as he added, "that he trusts that the people would be disturbed by what the different candidates and their supporters might have to say."

In his concluding remarks Sir Adam lauded the object of the evening's entertainment—obtaining funds for the new organ.

Miss Armstrong Well Received. Miss Armstrong was particularly well received, and her address while brief, and strictly non-political, and confined to church and musical activities of London, was listened to with rapt attention and drew unstinted applause.

Dr. Stevenson was not going to be put off with any remarks about "politics." Not him. Sir Adam could do as he pleased, but Dr. Stevenson felt impelled to refer to the record of the Drury administration, and dwelt at considerable length upon certain of the "44 legislative reasons why the Farmer-Labor government should be returned to office."

"The people are still worshipping the silver god even as they did in the old days," Dr. Stevenson explained, "and this is what the Drury government has been trying to eliminate from the minds of men."

Referring to the mothers' pensions, workmen's compensation act and similar legislation, Dr. Stevenson wanted to know the real value of churches if men were not paid adequately in order that their children might be clothed properly, educated and safeguarded against disease.

"We have gone into the timber limits, and into mining owners and to the race-tracks," he explained, "and made all these people contribute their financial share as well. We have given 44 legislative reasons, and all you need is another big four years of the present government."

"We must protect and develop our boundless natural resources. If we do not do this and there is nothing coming from our valuable resources where are we going to get the money? We will face a direct taxation."

The last speaker of the evening was U. A. Buchner, who, while nominated at the Liberal convention, subsequently withdrew. Mr. Buchner paid his respects to the various candidates in a brief address and chided Dr. Stevenson. "I was amused at him," he confessed, "I was surprised to hear that he has become such a devout churchman. It was the first I knew of it, and I don't want him to forget it if he goes to Toronto, as he seems confident that he will."

Everyone appreciated that Mr. Buchner was having a little joke with the Labor nominee.

The gathering was voted a huge success, and Miss Armstrong found occasion to refer appropriately to the efforts of the hostess, Mrs. Morgan.

HIS LIMIT.

A fat bald-headed man sat on a rustic bench on a lawn in his shirt sleeves, on a hot night in a perspiration, at a late hour, in Houston. That sentence sounds queer, but upon examination, it proves to be all right.

The man was fifty-two, impatient, hot, married and had prickly heat. It was one of those balmy nights last week when dogs dig holes under the fence, and girls carried their puffed boxes to the ice cream saloons with them.

The man leaned over and fanned himself and allowed the perspiration to run off the end of his nose in a puddle at his feet.

Occasionally he would say things in a low tone of voice without separating his teeth.

Ten feet away was a fence, and the other side of the fence was another lawn, and voices.

The fat man listened. Tooth-pick shoes, a curled moustache, and a silk shirt. The other was redolent of white duck, openwork stockings and a trusting heart. The white duck voice said, "hug me, Woosy, as tight as um wuvvum."

The fat man, aged fifty-two, with prickly heat, tore open his collar.

fanned himself furiously and muttered something to the starry night. Then the tooth-pick shoes voice was heard to exclaim:

"What's the matter wiv my H? pet? What um crying for?"

"That ain cry," said the white duck voice, "that's perspiration."

The fat man uttered a howl of despair, sprang to his feet, and made a bee line for the refrigerator.

And high in the heavens the goddess of night paused a moment and scratched her back against the rays of the evening star.

NO TIME TO LOSE.

A young Houston mother rushed into the house the other day in the utmost excitement, calling out to her mother to put an iron to the fire as quick as possible.

"What is the matter?" asked the old lady.

"A dog has just bitten Tommy, and I am afraid it was mad. Oh, hurry up, mother; be as quick as you can."

"Are you going to try to cauterize the wound?"

"No—I've got to iron that blue skirt before I can wear it to go after the doctor. Do be in a hurry."

THE ETERNAL QUESTION by Felice Davis

BAIT.

Pat—Sure, Delia, it's yer self that's likin' children, isn't it?

Delia—Indeed, do ye think I'd be a child's nurse if I didn't love the little darlin's?

Pat—And it's meself that likes them, too.

Delia—Bad cess to ye if ye didn't! Pat—Yes, and I'm arrangin' to get a little brat fer meself.

Delia—Are ye crazy? Do ye think ye can just buy them?

Pat—No, I'll have ye know I've made other arrangements to get one.

Delia—Sure, and the best way fer ye to be gettin' one is to get married, Pat.

Pat—If ye but say the word I will!

Delia—No—I'd be hatin' to leave me darlin's that I'm taking' care of now—it's lonely I'd be without them.

Pat—And haven't I thought of that? So I've arranged with me sister in Ireland to adopt one of hers.

Delia—A wee one from the old sod with the smell of the shamrock on it? It sets me heart a-thumpin'!

Pat—Yes, Delia, and we'll share the bit of old Ireland between us!

Delia—Faith, there's no resistin' yer offer, Pat!

Pat—Well, then we'll have the banns read on Sunday, darlin'!

Delia—Yes, but, Pat, when is yer little colleen comin'?

Pat—Sure and it's hard to say—and it's not settled about it's bein' a colleen.

Delia—Don't ye know even if it's a boy or girl?

Pat—No, that's not settled yet, nor about when it will be here neither.

Delia—It's fine arrangements yer makin'! How old is the child?

Pat—Sure, and that's not settled yet—

Delia—Ye should be ashamed of yer ignorance about the poor babe ye're adoptin'!

Pat—But, ye see, 'tis this way. Delia, me sister was just married—

Delia—Just married?

Pat—Yes, and she's promised to send me over the first offspring to adopt.

Delia—Bogorra, Pat, it's yer self has tricked me into sayin' I'd marry ye!

Pat—Sure and all's fair in love and war and though children are children 'tis only yer own that are real little saints!

Delia—With such a father, devil a saint will there be among the children. But sure, if they're yer own little divil's 'tis better, Pat, than somebody else's saints!

STAMBOULISKY IS CAPTURED BY THE BULGARS

Former Premier Is Caught By Government Troops After Hot Pursuit.

WAS IN DISGUISE
Sensation Caused By Discovery That He Cashed a Big Check.

Associated Press Despatch.
Sofia, June 15.—Former Premier Stamboulsky was captured yesterday at Melavia, a village near Slavovitz.

Stamboulsky started for Elshintza in an automobile disguised as an army chauffeur. He had shaved off his moustache. When he and his party arrived at Pirdio, his four remaining followers were captured or killed by the troops, and the automobile in which they were traveling was seized. During the fighting, Stamboulsky escaped and plunged into the forest.

Ivan Roussier, the new minister of the interior, issued the order for the capture of Stamboulsky. He was to be taken alive, if possible.

A sensation has been created by the discovery in the archives of the National Bank that Stamboulsky last March cashed a check for 120,000,000 leva, the sum having been authorized at a secret meeting of three members of the cabinet. The purpose of the expenditure was not designated, beyond the statement that it was for the security of the state. The moral character of Stamboulsky is being attacked by the press.

LONDONER PRESENTS MEDALS TO GRADUATES

Many Nurses Receive Diplomas From St. Joseph's Hospital, Chatham.

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, June 14.—Graduation day of St. Joseph's Training School was celebrated in St. Joseph's Hall, Wednesday evening, and the auditorium was filled to capacity. The exercises were presided over by J. A. McNevin, and the musical part was given by Miss Margaret McKean, Miss Vera Smith, Miss Winnifred Bell, Miss Verna Heffron and Mr. E. Jamieson, pupils of the Sisters of St. Joseph's School of Music, Sarnia. Dr. J. McNally, district health officer, London, addressed the graduates, while Right Rev. Monsignor O'Connor, V.G., also of London, had the honor of conferring the medals upon the graduates. School diplomas were presented by Rev. Father Gnam, and the registered nurses' diplomas by Ald. A. L. Thompson.

Miss Josephine Yack gave an address on behalf of the graduating class. The stage was most beautifully decorated for the occasion, most of the flowers being gift bouquets to the graduates. A reception followed in the Gray-Dort Club, with the ladies of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary as hostesses. Delicious refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed. The graduates are C. Mary Doyle, Wardville; Louise R. Delorme, Wallaceburg; Mary A. Kearns, Wardville; Kathleen A. Donovan, Chatham; Eleanor M. McNab, Chatham; Angela C. Bloude, Chatham; Catherine Ann MacIntosh, Chatham; Bertha E. Griffin, Blenheim; Josephine P. Yack, Walkerton; and Laura Ursula Downey, Chatham.
