JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

TELLS REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE WITH ZAM-BUK.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH ECZEMA & ULCERS, NOTHING SEEMED ABLE TO DO HIM ANY GOOD. ZAM-BUK CURED HIM.

Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a Justice of the Peace, and station master at Wellington, on the Prince Edward Island Railway, says:

"Four years ago, I slipped in the station and fell on a freight truck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this would heal, but instead of doing so it developed into a bad ulcer and later into a form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also started on the other leg. Both legs became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged. My doctor said I must stop work and lay up. After six months of this trouble I consulted another doctor, but with no better result. I tried all the salves, liniments and lotions I heard of, but instead of getting better I got worse. This was my condition when I got my first box of Zam-Buk. Greatly to my delight that first box gave me relief. I continued to apply it to the sores, and day by day they got better.

"I could see that at last I had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the end it did. It is now over a year since Zam-Buk worked a cure in my case, and there has been no return of the eczema or any trace of it. It would be impossible to find a case where the sores were worse than those on my limbs, and I think Zam-Buk is a marvellous healing balm or it could not have cured me as it did when all else failed."

WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES.

The above is but one example of the wonderful cures that Zam-Buk is daily working. Purely herbal in composition, this great balm is a sure cure for all skin diseases, cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poisoning, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, cuts, burns and bruises.

All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

WEDDED AT LAST.

CHAPTER XLVII.

"Dear child, it grieves me to pain you. But, Shirley, if I am not very much deceived, he is the man we should have looked for when we sought poor Glynn's murderer. He was a thorough villain. I feel sure, and—"

"Oh, hush—oh, hush! Guy, I cannot bear it. Let him rest!"

"Let him rest—the murderer of your husband? But, Shirley, for my own sake, if not for the sake of justice, it is only right that I should try to convict the villain of that crime which I feel sure he has committed. And, by Heaven," he added passionately, "the execrable scoundrel who murdered a defenceless man, and who has let me remain under the stigma of a dastardly crime, shall pay the full penalty of his sin!"

Shirley stood looking at him in silence for a moment; then, with a shrill piercing cry, she fell forward upon the table, where she crouched in a passion of terror and fear, which found vent in little inarticulate cries and tearful sobs which alarmed Major Stuart greatly and bewildered him still more. Was it merely the recollection of her husband's terrible death which so unmoved her? What mystery was there connected with it which distressed her so greatly? What was the meaning of the anguish she evinced whenever her husband's murderer was mentioned? Could that man, Latrelle, whom Guy firmly believed to be the guilty man, have been in his power in any way?

Was it that she feared him? It had seemed strange to Guy that the man's name had not been mentioned at his trial; but he had accounted for that by the fact that some years had elapsed since he had left Sir Hugh's service; and it was only long months afterward that the thought had struck him that Latrelle had something to do with the murder. He remembered then having seen him from the balcony of the "Pack of Cards," the night before the murder was committed, and the agitation and pallor with which Sir Hugh had greeted the trifling remark on the subject which he had made. But, after all, these were very trivial grounds on which to suspect a man of murder; and Guy was annoyed sometimes at the tenacity with which he could not help clinging to the idea. Now Shirley's intense emotion at the mention of the man's name seemed to increase those suspicions a hundred fold. Had she some unknown reason for trying to conceal his guilt? For a moment this thought struck him forcibly; the next he rejected it as unworthy of her.

As he stood hesitating, not knowing what to do for the best, whether to leave her or to insist for her own sake, on the solution of this mystery, the sound of a slow, heavy footstep on the stairs startled him and Shirley lifted her head and looked round in wild fright.

The steps came nearer; they were in the passage now; and, with a wild cry of terror, Shirley tried to reach the door, but her strength failed her. She sank on her knees by the table, making desperate but vain efforts to cry out again; but her tongue clave to the roof of her mouth, and no sound came. Guy looked at her in questioning alarm, and something in his face gave her strength; she sprang up and ran to the door, barring it with her slight arms.

"Shirley," he said, sternly, "what is the meaning of this? Whom have you hidden here? What is—Merciful Heaven, who is that?"

For the door had opened gently from the outside, and the face which appeared in the doorway was one which he had never thought to see again in life. It was the face of the man whom Shirley had succored on Christmas night—the man whom Guy had loved, and who betrayed him—the man for whose murder he had been tried for his life. Yes; altered, changed and deathlike, it was nevertheless the face which had once been so handsome and so gay—the face of Hugh Glynn!

CHAPTER XLVIII.

At first the stunning shock of his surprise deprived Guy Stuart of the power of motion and utterance; and he never afterward could remember what passed during the first few moments after Sir Hugh's appearance. He realized vaguely that Shirley quite calm and composed now, had gone to her husband's side, and that she supported him with his arm drawn over her shoulder; then that she led him slowly to a chair, into which he sank, pallid and exhausted with the effort he had made. An then, as Guy came back slowly to the knowledge and recollection, he forgot all else but the joy and relief of seeing that Hugh Glynn lived. The past wrong, the long years of misery, were all forgotten; and in a minute he was on his knees by Hugh's side, his strong hands clasping the attenuated fingers of the man who was supposed to have been murdered, and who now, judging from his appearance, had not many days of life.

"Hugh, dear old fellow!" was all he could say; and at the tenderness and pity in his voice Hugh Glynn's dim eyes filled with tears, which fell slowly and heavily down his thin cheeks.

"Guy, old friend!" he said brokenly; and there was a long expressive silence in the little room.

Shirley, white as death, but perfectly calm, stood by her husband's side, looking with anxious eyes at Guy's bowed head, which rested on the arm of the chair. She saw that he had not realized the whole truth, that there was no room in his heart for anything but great and intense joy at Sir Hugh's reappearance; but she knew that, once the first delight was over, the reaction must come, and he

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Recipe

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the faded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in galucal and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

would guess at the truth.

And the joy was but short lived; ere five minutes had elapsed, Guy lifted his head and saw Sir Hugh's sunken eyes fixed upon him, and every shade of color died out of his face and lips as he rose to his feet and drew back a little, more overcome than he had ever been before in his life as the truth flashed across him.

Shirley watched him anxiously and pityingly, knowing from her own experience what an awful shock this must be.

"Guy, my poor fellow," Sir Hugh said faintly, "have I done wrong to trust you? This poor child has borne the burden of this awful secret already too long, and your voice—"

He sank back, exhausted even by the few words he had spoken, and Shirley bent over him, anxiously lifting his head upon her arm and holding some restorative to his lips.

Guy watched her almost jealously. How tenderly she moved him! How compassionate was the fair face bending over his! With what intense adoring love the sunken eyes looked up to hers! How gently she held the thin, burning hands on which—great Heaven, was it possible?—on which must lie the stain of blood!

"We can trust Guy," he murmured faintly. "He will be pitiful—the end is so near now."

Very pleadingly, very sorrowfully, with an entreaty that she could not put into words, Shirley's eyes went to Guy's face, and his lip quivered as he gave her an answering look of reassuring tenderness and love; but he was still too much under the influence of his horror and amazement to utter the words which would have given her consolation.

"Tell me," he said huskily. "Who—who was the man whom—"

"Latrelle," Hugh Glynn answered brokenly, in a tone of intense sadness and humiliation; and even Guy's stout heart and courage quailed at the terrible inference which could not fail to be drawn from the fact that Hugh Glynn lived, and that the man whom they had found among the rocks at Easton, disguised past recognition and wearing Sir Hugh's clothes and ring, was Latrelle.

Dividends added	446.94
Total amount payable	$1,446.94

How TO BE WEALTHY.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"If you know how to spend less than you get, you have the philosopher's stone."—Poor Richard.

"I'd be perfectly satisfied," I heard a man say the other day. "If I could be sure of making $5,000 a year. That's my idea of a decent income for a man with family."

"Perfectly satisfied?" As if anyone in the world ever was that, except for a space of time just long enough to give him a chance to think of something more to want, and as for any definite sum of money could ever bring satisfaction or relieve a man from money worries.

If it isn't the amount of his income that makes a man well fixed. It's the amount of the difference between his income and his needs.

Dickens expressed Poor Richard's philosophy in another form when he made one of his characters say, in effect, that the difference between poverty and wealth is that if a man earns two pounds a week and spends one pound, eighteen shillings, he is rich; but if he earns two pounds and spends two pounds six pence, he is poor.

Fads and Fashions.

Black tulle is a pretty touch on any color.

The sleeveless jacket is growing in favor.

White continues among the smart colors.

Three-piece suits of taffeta are the latest.

The suede glove is superseding the glace glove.

Ostriches and sashes are still an important item.

Spring gowns made of black silk are fashionable.

Fascinola of white moire have a black satin border.

The new skirts still preserve the peg-top silhouette.

We still have the long sleeve of transparent material.

Serges of brilliant coloring will be fashionable this spring.

Colored tulle is being combined with the corsage bouquet.

The Medici collar is among the modes that have survived.

Many taffetas are seen in low-necked, short-sleeved gowns.

The new costumes show hip puffings and draped open skirts.

The tailored suit is given to flare effects both in the coat and skirt.

Many of the fashionably draped turbans are made of white moire.

Bustle-back skirts are noticed among the suits for young women.

Flowered unites with plain skirts are noticed among the new frocks.

Most of the collars used on the spring frocks are of linen or plume.

Transparent standing collars with or without wire are distinctly favored.

Flowered ribbon makes a very effective trimming for the dancing frock.

Bodies of sheer material with skirts of cloth or silk continue in vogue.

Some tailormades are a combination of taffeta and serge or taffeta and charmeuse.

New spring hats are very small and abundantly trimmed with fruit and leather trimming.

The new bodices have delicate pink linings piled one on top of the other. The effect is charming.

The salvages of some of the new taffetas make very effective trimmings for the gown.

It is difficult for us common folk to think of a man with $15,000 a year as finding it hard to live within his income. And yet a man who has had considerable experience told me the other day that he thought an income of from $10,000 to $15,000 a year the most difficult to live within, because the man with that income is frequently thrown with wealthier people and gets their standard. As if we all didn't have that trouble.

Of course there is no sense in blinking the fact that some people don't get enough to live on decently no matter how simple their wants. I fancy my friend would find it even more difficult to support a wife and three children on $10 a week than to keep within $15,000 a year.

But except in the class that doesn't have a fair living wage, the financial problem is a question not so much of what you earn as of what you spend. If you want to be free from financial troubles, you must have the self-control, as your income increases not to let your standards of living keep up a race with it. That is the only way to keep clear of financial worry.

For it's not what you eat, but what you digest that makes you healthy; and not what you learn, but what you remember that makes you wise.

The Cedars of Lebanon.

All that now remains of the Cedars of Lebanon is a little forest of some four hundred trees, which are rigidly preserved. They lie on a small fertile plateau, situated at an altitude of 5,123 feet above the sea level. The grove is reached from Besherrah by a steep and winding road.

With the exception of a few stragglers, the grove is enclosed by a neat stone wall built by a former Governor of Lebanon to protect the smaller trees from goats.

The older trees have always occupied a position of honor in the estimation of man because of their connection with the temple built by Solomon and the various allusions to them in the Bible.—Wide World Magazine.

Delay.

"Delays," said Dad, "are dangerous, and apt to work much harm." 'Twas in the days when, grangerous, we lived upon the farm. So we were always hurrying to get things done effusions, the plowing and the currying, the harvesting of prunes. We did our work whooping and gained the silver buck, while other farmers droopingly complained of evil luck. When storms came up a-thundering we did not care a darn; they never caught us blundering—our hay was in the barn; when rivers rose amazingly, overflowing banks and bed, we viewed the flamed things brazenly—our wood was in the shed. The elements might clumpily spread snow throughout the land, they could not catch our family without some coal on hand. The lessons learned this youthfully have served me all my days, and I can tell you truthfully that "Up and Do It" pays. Delays are surely ruinous; let's do things on the jump, or Fate will soon be shootin' us toward the blasted dump.

Index Howlers.

In these days indexing is an art, and a good index adds immeasurably to the value of book of biography, history, or travel. Nevertheless, it is very easy to make howlers, even in a task of this kind. For instance, the following item occurred in the index of a book on English Law, "Best, Mr. Justice, his great mind." Naturally, the searcher in the index would turn with great expectancy to the page given, hoping to discover indications of as great a legal luminary as Bacon himself, or even the mighty Blackstone. The reference, however, proved to be a man's nest, for upon the page indicated there appeared only this: "Mr. Justice Best said he had a great mind to commit the witness for contempt of court."

One of the most amusing indexing howlers occurred in the catalogue of a suburban library which, let us hope, had been compiled by the young assistant librarian. Two consecutive entries read as follows: "Mill, On the Principles of Political Economy," "Mill, On the Floor."

This reminds one of the howler committed by a second-hand bookseller, who sent out a catalogue to dozens of prominent persons, with Ruskin's book, entitled "Construction of Sheep Folds," under the heading of Agriculture, and Hugh Miller's "The Old Red Sandstone" under the heading of Fiction, and Lytton's "Last of the Barons" under Politics. It is evident that he thought the last-named a treatise on the final abolition of the Upper House.

But even these cases were beaten by a catalogue prepared at an Institute in the Australian Bush, to which a retired sea-captain had been appointed.

TUESDAY, Mar. 3rd, 1914.

A Full Week.

The Premier in the House yesterday announced that the Government had no further legislation to bring in, and that he hoped that the Legislature now before the House would be disposed of in time for the Legislature to be prorogued on Saturday. Unless there are some sittings after tea, we doubt if the hopes of the Premier will be realized. This afternoon, there are a large number of Temperance petitions to be presented, and this will take up a large part of the time before tea. Then there will be the reading of the Municipal Bill which may not evoke much discussion at that stage, as many members of the House have expressed their approval of the principle of the measure. How much time may be taken up in Committee can hardly be foreseen without a perusal of the Bill, which has not yet been printed and distributed. It would appear also that much time may be taken up in considering the Council's amendments of the Sealing Bill. What they are we do not know. But Mr. Robinson, a member of that body, reports that Councillors wrestled with it three hours and a half yesterday, and that the bill will be resumed this afternoon. Mr. Robinson comments in part as follows: "Every section, and almost every sub-section was amended; indeed amendments were as plentiful as leaves in Valambrosa. In its new dress the Bill may, at first sight, prove scarcely recognizable, but despite the multiplicity of the changes, the main features are not touched. With few exceptions the amendments are such as will make the Act more easily workable, without the sacrifice of anything of real value."

We have so far touched upon matters that may or may not evoke any great amount of discussion, and we have left to the last the legislation which is sure to provoke a great deal of discussion. The criticism of the Budget has not yet opened in the House, and the financial operations disclosed there and the proposals to meet the deficits which are looming are of so extraordinary a character that they cannot but provoke strong comment. Under these circumstances, much work must be done to put the Public Service Bill and the Finance Bill through by Friday night.

The Casino Theatre Opened Yesterday.

The Casino Theatre opened yesterday on account of the Nickel closing for renovation. It was well attended in spite of the inclement weather and other attractions. The programme was excellent. "The Modern Prodigal" is a two reel feature film which delighted all. "The Night Before Christmas" is also a fine story; Maurice Costello is seen in the leading character. This evening the program will be repeated.

A Pleasing Event.

The inmates of "Richmond Hill Farm," Gullies, Briggs, were taken by surprise on Saturday night last when the two bands of Brigas comprising twenty-five young men and over a hundred of the citizens came in to call on Mr. J. H. Leason and his bride. After they had all drunk to the health of both they lined up before the door and played a splendid selection, and as the music pealed forth on the stillness of the night one could not but say that our Brigas bands are second to none in dear Terra Nova.—Com.

Cable News.

Special to the Evening Telegram. CUXHAVEN, Germany, To-day. Thirteen members of the crew of the Norwegian bark, Tasman, perished yesterday in the North Sea when the bark capsized. News of the disaster reached here when a fishing steamer came into port bringing six men of the Tasman's crew, the only persons who survived wreck.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

Sir Edward Grey's expected statement in the Commons is awaited here with much interest and it is hoped by many he will show just how far Britain expects reparation for Benton killing. To-day, Sir Lionel Carden, British Minister to Mexico, will discuss Mexican affairs with President Wilson, and bring him the latest information about the Huerta Government.

Sealing Notes.

The crew of the Newfoundland signed on to-day; also the crew of the Southern Cross and Terra Nova; the Southern Cross leaves for Channel to-morrow. The Viking's crew will finish signing to-morrow. The Neptune, which will be in charge of Capt. Wilcox, a former second hand, will prosecute in the Gulf as usual. We wish the new master a successful trip. It is expected that the Beothic and Bellevalente will go North to-morrow night for scaling crews.

McMurdo's Store News.

TUESDAY, March 3, 1914. The trouble with most liquid corn plaster is that they dry up so rapidly and easily that they become useless in a short while. Baner & Black's Healer is not open to this objection, being put up in a sealed tube, which though easily applied can be closed so that there is no waste. Healer is very convenient in cases of slight cuts, blisters and scratches, and is an excellent antiseptic and healer. Price 15c. a bottle. Allen's Corn Plasters have always had a good name, and the new lot we have in represents the latest improvements in the art of corn plaster making. Price 15c. a pkg.

Horse Race.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—I wish you to publish about a one-mile horse race which took place on Feb. 22nd on Whitbourne Pond between Mr. J. Foley and Mr. O'Driscoll. Mr. Foley driving his own horse and Mr. O'Driscoll driving Mr. Kehoe's horse. The race lasted about five minutes and was won by Mr. Kehoe's horse and was very exciting. The first sleigh was occupied by Miss L. Leslie and Mrs. H. Leslie; the second sleigh Mrs. J. Foley and Miss M. Kehoe, both crews enjoying their drive. Yours respectfully, RESIDENT. Whitbourne, Feb. 23, 1914.

A Wonderful Picture.

"Soul to Soul," a great two reel picture will be the feature at the Crescent Picture Palace to-morrow and Thursday. This feature together with a lengthy line of pictures is undoubtedly the best line of films ever shown in this popular theatre. The big holiday bill to-morrow afternoon is a corker, and particulars of the story will be in to-morrow's edition of this paper.

Fighting Fogs.
That London's "particular"—the yellow, poisonous atmosphere which sometimes settles over the Metropolis and materially adds to doctors' banking accounts—may be abolished is the hope held out by a French scientist, M. Ouderlo, the head of the Lyons Observatory, whose novel remedy is to be put to the test at Lyons. The French city suffers almost as much from fogs as London, and M. Ouderlo has formed the theory that these fogs are due to the enormous evaporation from the Rivers Rhone and Saone, as they flow through that city. This theory is shared by other scientists in this country, who attribute London fogs to the vapour arising from the Thames, as well as to the excessive smoke. Whereas other scientists, however, have usually proposed to banish fogs by attacking them when they have once been formed in the air, M. Ouderlo proposes to prevent their formation by a very simple plan. His idea is to suppress the rising of the water vapour by covering the surface of the river with a film of oil the thickness of which will prevent all evaporation. The device for spreading such a film is quite simple. It consists in a few saffcloth buoys, full of cotton waste saturated with oil, that are held in the stream some distance above the town. As the oil oozes through it spreads over the water and gets taken down by the current, so that in a short time it forms a layer all over the surface. Prevention is better than cure, and it is contended that such a method would be far more efficacious than the employment of Herz waves, advocated by different scientists for the dispersal of the fog.

Doctor and Patient.
The doctor was baffled and the case seemed almost hopeless, and after many different prescriptions the patient still said that his health was not improving. The complaint was not a serious character, and after much thought a happy idea seized the doctor. He would try his patient's powers of imagination, and approached him in this manner. "Now, my friend, when I call upon you again will you say 'I imagine I am a little better to-day' when I inquire after your health?" The patient replied in the affirmative. The doctor called in a day or two, and asked the patient as to his condition. He replied, "I imagine I am a little better to-day, sir." "That's right," said the doctor, "Now, the next time I call will you say 'I imagine I am a great deal better than I was the last time you called' which, accordingly, the patient did. "Now," said the doctor, "will you call round at the surgery in a few days and say 'I imagine I am quite well now?'" "Yes," replied the patient; "I will do so." A week passed and the patient presented himself at the surgery as requested, and in reply to the usual inquiry, replied, "I imagine I am quite well now, sir." "That's right," returned the doctor, "I am so pleased to see that you are." "How much is your fee?" asked the patient. "Five pounds," said the doctor. "Then imagine you have got it," replied the patient, as he walked out of the surgery.

City of Sydney Arrives.

The S. S. City of Sydney, Capt. D. McDonald, arrived in port from New York via Halifax at 4 p.m. yesterday, bringing a full general cargo, and as passengers:—Miss Cosgrove, Thomas McInerney, L. A. Bisset, Alfred W. Mead, W. J. Grant, A. S. Martin, R. C. A. Beck, George G. Smith and seven in steerage.

The ship left Halifax at noon Friday, and after passing Sable Island encountered heavy ice, which was met all the way along. She was off Cape Race at 10 a.m. Sunday, but little headway was made as a dense fog set in, and the ship was obliged to run slowly, hence the delay in making port.

Since her last trip here the City of Sydney has undergone extensive repairs and a thorough renovation. New boilers, with modern improvements, have been installed, which gave every satisfaction on the run east. The wireless apparatus has been improved, and has now double the range of before.

HEALTHY AND UNHEALTHY LIGHTING.

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitalize, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days, was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter being employed with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Vivian B. Lewes, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—Nov. 15.

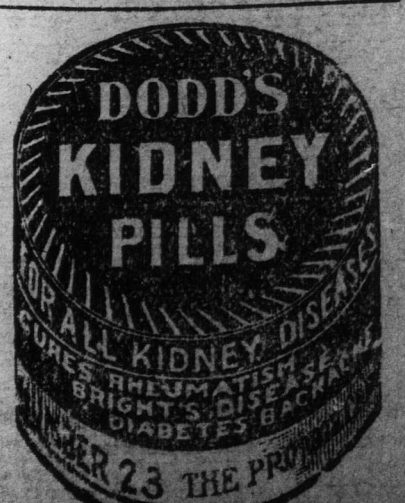

Prospero From Westward.

The s.s. Prospero, Capt. J. Keon, arrived from the westward at 7 p.m. yesterday. Stormy weather was experienced both going and returning, but the ship made good time. As previously stated in the Telegram, the Prospero rescued three vessels since leaving here, viz., the schooner G. R. Bradley, and Jessie M., both of which she towed into Burin on her way west, and the Marion, which she took off the beach at Cape Laitune, and towed to Francois, on the return trip. The last named vessel is not very much damaged, the bowsprit only being carried away, and she will proceed from Francois to St. Pierre to be docked. The Prospero brought a small freight and the following passengers:—Brigadier Morahan, S.A., Messrs. Timewell, Longhead, Rowsell, Bishop, Dillon, Constable Nugent, J. Manning, Mesdames Manning, Garland and ten second class.

On the return trip the ship was obliged to pass some of her usual ports of call owing to the prevailing ice conditions.

TRAWLING PETITION.

The petition from Bay de Verde, presented by Mr. Hickman, asking for the prohibition of trawling on the Labrador, created a lively discussion in the House yesterday. Mr. Jennings, Mr. Coaker, the Minister of Fisheries and Mr. F. J. Morris took part in the debate. The Minister of Fisheries considered that very little damage was done as the majority of the Labrador fishermen are practically finished operations when the banks go north. A law has been in force for about three years, making trawling illegal before the 15th September in any year.

Firemen's Special Meeting.

There was a special meeting of the Firemen's Union last night, when it was decided to allow a non-union man engaged on one of the sealing steamers, to join the Union to-day. Failing this, the other stokers will refuse to sail with him. The question of entering the International Firemen's Union of America, was discussed, and the local organization will apply to headquarters for a copy of their rules and regulations with a view to ascertaining if local conditions will render the movement feasible.

At the House

Petitions were presented by Mr. Kent from citizens of St. John's, in relation to Municipal Government; by Mr. Clift, for a road at Bishop's Falls; by Mr. Lloyd, asking for more road money at Old Bonaventure, and for an elective Road Board at Sibley Cove, and money for a breakwater and marine slip; by Mr. Stone, Mr. Coaker and Mr. Hickman, on various public matters in their districts, and by Mr. Targett for a well at New Chelsea.

The Western Fishery.

Owing to the adverse weather conditions, the Western banking fleet, operating in the vicinity of Rose Blanche, have fared badly the past few weeks. Cod is fairly plentiful, and there is a good supply of bait, but the weather has been too boisterous for trawling for some time past, and as a result the catch is below that of last year. Capt. W. Hollett, of Burin, had one good "set" last week, securing 80 tubs of fish.

Another Win for Halifax.

Progressives Defeat City in Last Night's Hockey Match by 5 Goals to 2.—Patterson Gets Medal for 3-Mile Race.

Despite the close atmospheric conditions and the consequent soft ice, the third match between the City and Halifax Progressives, came off last night, and again victory perched on the banners of the visitors. The attendance was nearly two thousand spectators, although the deciding match was over. However, many were anxious to witness the race between Patterson, of Halifax, and Messrs. Squires and Evans, of this city. The distance was three miles. At the appointed time all three got away together and kept in close proximity until Patterson forced ahead with Squires at his heels, Evans being left behind. Squires and Patterson tested each other's ability and both alternately took the lead, while Evans continued to fall back in the rear. When the bell rang for the three last laps, Patterson got ahead but was overtaken by Squires, who was giving a splendid exhibition for a "dark horse." At the beginning of the last round, Patterson took an inside cut in rounding a corner and pushed Squires by the left shoulder. This action created general disapproval. A few seconds after this Squires unfortunately fell and Patterson breast the tape first in 19 min. 28 sec. The gold medal offered by the League for competition, was given to Patterson, the judges holding that Patterson's fouling would not affect the race.

The hockey players were then called together, the teams lining up as follows:

Halifax.	goal	City.
Webby		Hunt
Cogswell	point	Herder
F. Reardon	cover	Parsons
C. Reardon	rover	Higgins
Patterson	centre	Hutchings
McDonald	left	Shortall
McKenzie	right	Brien

Referee—W. J. Higgins.
Timekeepers—Messrs. W. J. Martin, J. A. Carmichael, J. Vinnicombe and C. Ellis.

PENALTIES.

Herder (C), 2 min.; Reardon (H), 2; Herder (C), 4; Reardon (H), 2; Herder (C), 5; McDonald (H), 2; McKenzie (H), 3; McKenzie (H), 3; Shortall (C), 3.

1st Period.

At the outset the City team invaded the Halifax goal and hard luck prevented them from scoring. While the locals were bombarding the visitors' goal, Patterson broke away and passed all opponents, drawing first blood. Parsons, for the City, was endeavoring to duplicate this when tripped by F. Reardon, who was sent to the boards. Soon after Reardon made a dash and scored the second goal followed by Shortall who notched up No. 1 for the city.

2nd Period.

The City boys set a fast pace and kept worrying the back division of the Progressives. Hutchings lost two opportunities to score. Brien, who was doing poor work, was replaced by Strong. Herder was put off for five minutes, and during his absence the visitors got two goals.

3rd Period.

Conditions were very unfavorable for puck chasing during this period. There was about an inch of water, the ice making it uncomfortable for the players. Halifax beat Nix Hunt for the fifth time, and Shortall passed Webby for the second time before the final whistle sounded.

We join in the congratulations extended to the Progressives. They are the finest aggregation that have ever been seen in this city, and we hope to have another visit from them next year.

The visitors will leave for Halifax by this evening's express.

The Customs at Channel.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Among the questions asked by Mr. Clift, member for Twilight, in the House of Assembly, on Monday, 16th inst., the replies to the following are worthy of comment:
(1) To ask the Hon. Minister of Finance why the name of Mr. Emanuel Bragg has been removed from the list of supernumerary tideswaiters at Channel, and how long he has been filling that office; also if during his tenure of office his duties were satisfactorily performed; also who is now performing said duties.
(2) To ask the Hon. Colonial Secretary why Richards Harbor and Rencontre, District of Burgeo and LaPolle have been omitted from the schedule of ports of call of the steamer Fortia on the Western Mail Service.
The answer of the Departmental Head to No 1 was along these lines: Mr. Bragg was only acting and not required in winter. The avoidance of the issue is perfect; so is the inaccuracy of the statement. The other divisions of the question remain unanswered for the simple reason that the Hon. Minister was either ashamed or unwilling to supply the information sought. That being the case, and it must be so assumed, the gross inaccuracy, to use no stronger term, of the emasculated reply given stands proven. In testimony, Mr. Bragg has been doing full tideswaiter duty at Channel since November, 1912 and since January, 1913, has been in receipt of continuous monthly pay from the Customs Department, showing incontrovertibly that he was employed, and if so employed, needed during the months of January, February, March and April of that year. These months as a rule occur in the winter season, or at least they did in 1913, but perhaps the Hon. Minister has cast these months out as "cutting" thus changing the calendar for 1914, and so they do not show at all. No, Mr. Editor, the whole fact of the matter is that Mr. Bragg has been made the victim of political spite, the member for Burgeo and LaPolle, with that smallness of mind so characteristic of him, having insisted on his dismissal, and it is rumored that already numerous applications from the henchmen have gone in. But in this case no one doubts but that the selection has been made and will be followed by the appointment so soon as the House closes. When this appointment is made, whether or no disclosures shall take place will depend on whom the successor to Mr. Bragg is. The Hon. Minister could have given a full and complete answer to the question. As he did not the public may see a little more light shining on this matter later. It can readily be imagined that motives of strict economy (?) prompted Mr. Bragg's removal. The salary thus saved will help out the Arbitration Fund. Meanwhile the port of Channel is without a tideswaiter.
The Hon. Colonial Secretary replying to question 2 states officially that Richards Harbor and Rencontre have not been dropped from the Fortia's schedule; but the Postmaster General is withholding a proportion of the subsidy for the calls which the ship omitted to make at the above ports. The consistency of this answer fairly scintillates with brilliance. It is a real gem. In the first place these harbors have not been dropped; in the second, the ship has omitted calling, and as punishment a proportion of the subsidy is being withheld. How eminently satisfactory to the people of these places to know that. What a relief it must be to them when they cannot get their mails and freight to have the assurance that the P. M. G. will not pay the complete round trip subsidy. A marvellous admission, surely, of the Government's unwillingness or inability to insist on the Coastal Company fulfilling its contract. The good folk of Richard's Harbor and Rencontre will be devoutly thankful to know that our worthy P. M. G. is conserving their interests by wisely refusing to allow the whole round trip sum to swell the coffers of the Coastal Company. What would interest them more though would be to see the presiding official of the Post Office stiffen his back bone and get right after the persons responsible, captains or owners, and bring them to time by refusing to sign the trip certificate unless the complete schedule was made.

And the screamingly funny part of it all was to have the member for Burgeo & LaPolle, with solemn visage and ponderous speech, presenting a petition to the House asking that New Harbor, about three miles from Rencontre, be made a port of call. The transparency of this bluff is so apparent that a blind man can see through it, especially when the Portia will not call at Rencontre, and that petition is doubtless now keeping company with others of a similar nature in the limbo of the forgotten.
Yours truly,
VERITAS.
February 25th, 1914.
P. S.—If the Premier desires to have a Minister of Agriculture, why not hand the portfolio over to the honorable member for Burgeo & LaPolle, who made a rattling agricultural oration in the House a few days ago. As an exponent of the Morris brand of farming he is certainly a dashing cavalier, and anyway he deserves recognition. To slightly misquote the bard, "Tis not in mortals to command success; but Robert will do more, Sir Edward, he'll deserve it."

The Virtues of Olive Oil.

Nearly every one knows what an important part olive oil plays in the making of palatable salads, but many are unaware of the value of olive oil from a health and beauty point of view.
The oil can be taken internally for many ills. Some most distressing cases of indigestion have been cured by it. For this a spoonful should be taken after each meal. If the taste is unpleasant, orange juice or grape juice will disguise it to some extent. Pour the oil between two portions of the juice. It must be understood, however, that, like all other remedies, this one is not helpful to all patients suffering with indigestion.
Olive oil mixed with quinine is a valuable remedy in the case of a cold. The mixture should be rubbed into the back and chest until the pores have absorbed the greater part of it. After applying the remedy, place a piece of oiled silk over the skin, so that the clothing will not be greased.
Camphor combined with olive oil and rubbed on the throat will relieve soreness.
A great many persons treat colds and sore throats too lightly. No one cares to be associated with the person who exaggerates his condition; but yet it is a risk for one to consider a cold a light ailment and allow it to go on in its own way, thus weakening the tissues and putting the system in such a position that it would not be able to resist any great attack made on it. It is very important that the nose and throat be kept in a healthy condition, for they are the gates to the bronchial tubes and lungs. If the mucous membranes of these are diseased, the germs cannot help but continue their way to the lungs.
The individual suffering from a cold should make it his or her duty to have the system toned up by taking a good tonic. It is a great mistake to allow colds to become chronic, as they may be forerunners of influenza and tuberculosis.
Olive oil applied to burns will give instant relief and will often prevent a scar. Do not fail to have a supply of oil on hand, for there is no telling when it may be needed. If, however, you have not oil on hand, when someone is burned, apply fresh butter. This will take all of the fire out of the burn and will prove soothing.
As a flesh builder olive oil has won a great reputation. When used externally it should be applied once a day. Rub the oil into the skin with a gentle rotary motion. Too frequent application, however, will darken the skin.
The oil used internally will increase one's weight if a spoonful of it is taken four times a day.
Another use for olive oil is to prevent callous spots. Very often the soles of the feet become hard and sore. This can be avoided if oil is applied frequently. Persons thus afflicted should avoid wearing shoes which have very thin soles. Bathe the feet in warm water before applying the oil, so that the skin will be in a condition to absorb it.
It seems impossible for some women to have smooth, soft cuticle around the nails, but if they will hold the tips of the fingers in warm olive oil they will soon see an improvement. The oil will soften the skin so that it may be easily pushed back with an orangewood stick.

Absolutely Correct.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—In reading over the columns of the Daily News and Evening Herald, on Friday, February 27th, I noticed a contradiction to the item: "Attacked by Scamps," which was reported in the Evening Telegram the evening previous. Now, Mr. Editor, I merely wish to state the item in the Telegram is absolutely correct and that there is no need of a contradiction as there are two witnesses to the effect of him being picked up in an unconscious condition with a handkerchief tied around his mouth and things on his person taken, including thirty-nine cents, cigarette cases, cigarettes and the pin; and I also wish to state that he had no money belonging to him to spend other than his own as was reported by the Herald.
Thanking you for space,
I remain,
March 2nd, 1914. P. DONNELLY.

Sealer's Concert.

Fires At Asylum.

Yesterday it was rumoured around the city that a series of fires, which suggested incendiariness, occurred at the Lunatic Asylum during the past week. From information received from Dr. Duncan we learn that two fires were reported to him, one occurring on last Thursday night, the other on Sunday night.
The two fires were located in the male ward, and it is thought could not have been done by the inmates. A full investigation is being held.

Vessel Sighted.

A barquentine was reported off Cape Race yesterday afternoon. The vessel was about ten miles off and could not be identified.
The vessel sighted may be one of the following three which ought to be heard from: E. S. Höcken, 45 days from Macao to this port; Lake Simcoe 3 days from Pernambuco, and the Blanche Curry now overdue.

CATARRH NEVER STOPS IN SAME PLACE REACHES THE LUNGS—DEVELOPES CONSUMPTION

TO STOP A COLD QUICKLY AND PREVENT CATARRH, USE "CATARRHOZONE."

Nothing more serious than the common cold.
If it gains headway you can't stop it from running into Catarrh, deafness, or serious throat trouble.
Catarrh spreads very fast.
From nose to throat it goes in a day. Soon the Bronchial tubes are affected—and before you know it, unless very healthy the lungs are hit, and it's too late.

While you have the chance, drive colds and Catarrh right out of the system.
You can quickly do so by inhaling the rich piney vapor of Catarrhozone.

In Communication With the Morwenna.

On Thursday last the Morwenna picked up the Langan, and was expected to reach Boston the next day, but has not since been reported.
The City of Sydney was in communication with the Morwenna a few hours after the latter took the Langan in tow, and but for coming south of the Georges she would probably have been able to render assistance to the disabled ship.

Cable News.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.

Lord Milner conveys through the press a solemn appeal to the people of Britain against Irish Home Rule. It manifests and breathes resistances to the measure if it is legislated upon without the endorsement of a general election and also contains a declaration in favor of supporting any action necessary to prevent putting the measure into operation. Other signatories include Field Marshal Roberts, Admiral Fleet, Seymour, Ryke, Lovatt, Viscount Halifax, Lord Lansdowne, Sir Hester Chubb, Sir William Ramsay, Rudyard Kipling, and many other prominent names. It is intended to circulate copies through the country and compile a register of adherents. Answering Hope, Unionist member of Sheffield, Asquith stated to the Commons last night, he was most anxious to expedite the financial business of the Government, to enable him to make a statement on the Ireland Bill at an early date, at the same time the Prime Minister gave Bonar Law a promise of the second reading of the Bill which will soon be introduced for a third time to be proceeded with as soon as financial matters are disposed of; John Redmond, T. P. O'Connor, Jno. Dillon and Jos. Devlin had a long interview with the Prime Minister yesterday, the inference is that the Irish leaders met in conference on the Government's proposals with regard to Ulster.

LONDON, To-day.

The regimental strength of the regular army, exclusive of men serving on the staff was on October 1st, 247,250, the lowest figure. The previous year's strength was 253,762. In the complete establishment 8,550 of all ranks are needed as compared with 5,977 needed in 1912. Brigadier General Fittom, Director of recruiting points out 178,468 male Britons emigrated in 1913 and says while there are hopeful signs of the slackening appetite for Canada for emigrants of the unskilled laborer class and discouraging from the recruiting viewpoint note, Australia had inaugurated a scheme immigration for youths of every age in which the majority remained in the army.

St. David's Day Dinner.

Last night the Welsh people in the city attended a dinner at Wood's Restaurant. Besides the Welshborn residents who number about a score, there were several guests. This is the first occasion, as far as can be ascertained, that the Welsh people in Newfoundland, have gathered together to do honor to their patron Saint. The affair was a glorious success and those present unanimously expressed the hope that similar gatherings in honor of St. David's Day, will be held annually. Rev. Mr. Thomas performed the duties of Chairman with great eclat. Shortly after 8 p.m. the company sat down to an excellent repast following which a real Welsh Toast List was dealt with.

The King was proposed by the Chairman.
The toast of the evening "Dewi Sant" was proposed by Mr. G. B. Lloyd and responded to by Mr. E. J. Davies whose stirring speech appealed strongly to the patriotic feelings of his hearers.

The toast of "Hen wlad ynhadaw," the land of my fathers, was next proposed by Mr. W. Thomas. The company responding by singing the Welsh National Anthem.

The next toast was the "British Empire," proposed by Mr. I. R. Morgan, the company responding with "Rule Britannia."

Newfoundland (The Newydd) The land of our adoption, was proposed by Mr. R. E. Evans; Messrs P. H. Knowlton and W. Soper responding.

The song "Newfoundland" was here sung. Mrs. Thomas taking the solo part.
Mr. J. Williams proposed the ladies, and Mr. A. M. Jones responded.

To the toast of "Chairman" given by Mr. Lewis, Rev. Mr. Thomas replied.
Songs were given by the following: Mrs. Thomas, Mr. J. Williams, Rev. Thomas, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Davies and Mr. Lloyd. Mrs. Davies and Mr. Lloyd presided at the piano. Recitations were given by Mr. I. R. Morgan.

The affair terminated at 11.30 p.m. Those responsible are to be congratulated on their successful efforts.

Another Letter From "Shimri."

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir,—In the letter of "Catholicus Anglicus" of the 20th February we are told that at one time the term Protestant was a respectable epithet, but as a good penny may in course of wear and tear become a very offensive and dirty penny, such as suggests contagion, and the need of washing, so the word Protestant is now so bad a word that to apply it to a man is to insult him. Of course: do not agree with "C. A." in this statement became the term Protestant in the Church of England has stood since the time of Henry VIII for all that has been upholding in the Church, England has been always styled "Protestant England" and has gloried in the name as it signified tolerance and freedom of thought. The expression Protestant Religion in the Bill of Rights, and the King's Oath he maintains the "Protestant Religion" proves clearly that the Church of England is a Protestant Church and that the term of epithet, as "C. A." calls it, is not one of insult.

A recent writer, the Rev. A. C. Jennings, M. A. of Cambridge, who candidly confesses to being an Evangelical Churchman, says in writing of the history of the Church during the reign of James I., "the general tendency of the reign was to emphasize sharply those distinctive features which separate the Anglican system both from Romanism and sectarianism. It may be noticed that to indicate this attitude the Church had now informally adopted the title 'Protestant,' giving it the sense of 'Reformed Catholic.' This appropriation of the term is sanctioned even by such Anglicans as Andrews, Kin and Laud."

The illustration of the good penny becoming a very offensive and dirty penny, in course of wear and tear, is not well put by "C. A." A penny is coined and issued by the Sovereign of the State, and is intended to go into the service of the State, and for the work for which it was created. If it is hoarded up it does not lose its color, it does no work, it is a useless coin. On the other hand if it goes into circulation it must in its work in the world get discolored and worn, yet its value is worth just as much as the gorgeous coin which has done no work, and has the same purchasing power. So it has been with Protestantism in the Church of England it has worked for the Master in has on many occasions stirred it into spiritual life, as in 1730, and is still the safeguard and the hope of those who wish to preserve the doctrines of the Church of the "Reformed Protestant Religion."

"C. A." says the "Bill of Rights" was passed by a secular tribunal, and that King William III, was responsible for the adopted phrase "Protestant Religion," and he further infers that this was rejected by Convocation, and because of the rejection Convocation was silenced. To those who have not read Church History it would appear, from "C. A.'s" statement that William III, silenced Convocation, but such is not the case. The "Bill of Rights" was passed in 1688, and Convocation was not silenced until the reign of George I., Nov. 23rd, 1717, and not because of the Bill of Rights, but on account of its censure of a sermon printed by Bishop Hoadly, who had been promoted to the bishopric of Bangor on account of his Erastian opinions.

"C. A." denies my right to cite the "Bill of Rights" Act, but he immediately quotes a secular act of Henry VIII, passed in a Parliament which was composed largely of those who held the Roman faith. "If "C. A." will carefully study the history of the Church of England he will find that in all times, since the days of Bede there has been a party within the Church which has lost no opportunity to force upon it the doctrines and the ritual of the Church of Rome. He has clearly shown us this in the letters which he has published, especially in that of the 27th of February in which he refers me to King Henry VIII's Book issued in 1543, which he says has never been repealed and which his section of the Church would have us now adopt. The Book of 1543 was compiled by men who were followers of the Church of Rome in doctrine, and the King's only aim in publishing it was to reform the misdeeds, antiphrases and postures, by expunging the name of the Pope from them. But this Book as well as many others which followed it was set aside by the Church and the present prayer book was sanctioned by royal letters patent in 1604, and sanctioned by Convocation in 1662. "C. A." refers me to the XIII. Canon of the Constitution and Canons Ecclesiastical, 1604 as an authority for the so called five sacraments. No such authority exists. "C. A." misquotes a Canon and uses it for a purpose that was never intended by its framers. The Canon intended to be quoted is the XXX. and is designated "The lawful use of the Cross in Baptism explained," and the words quoted by "C. A." refers solely to the use of the sign of the Cross, and the reason for its retention. Nowhere in the Canons or in the prayer book or by any law Ecclesiastical or otherwise is there authority for any more than the two Sacraments as they are set forth in the Catechism of the Church of England, sanctioned and approved by Convocation.

Yours truly,
1st March, 1914 SHIMRI.

The Word Protestant.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the letters that have appeared in your paper, during the past two weeks from C. A. Shimri, and other writers, as regards the word "Protestant."

Everybody will admit that the word Protestant in this country to-day is applied to nearly all religions outside of the Roman Catholic Church.

C. A. has said that to call a person Protestant is to insult him, but such is not the case. Protestant is a name to be proud of, for it upholds the true teaching of Jesus Christ.

"Protestantism, however, as understood by English Churchmen, comprehends the ancient Catholic Faith, but condemns non-Catholic additions." "Anglican Protestantism affirms the 'creeds of the Primitive Church, as declared by the first four Ecumenical Councils, but it denies and repudiates the perversions of later ages. The Church of England, therefore, is 'Catholic, but not Roman; Protestant, not Papist.'"

In concluding may I say a few words with reference to that party, called the High Church, that has made its appearance in the Church of England, and has set her drifting back to other positions she was in before the Reformation.

"For as long as certain members of the Church of England are in the habit of imitating the Roman devotion of celebrating Mass, invoking the saints, oral confession, reciting the rosary, and the like, conversion will follow, which sudden as they may appear, are but the necessary consequence of such a line of conduct."

Thanking you for space,
I remain, yours truly,
INTERESTED.

Magic "Nerviline" Cures Tootache, Earache.

IT RELIEVES EVERY EXTERNAL PAIN.

Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Tight Chest and Hoarseness.

It's when sickness came at night, when you are far from the doctor, or the doctor, that's when you need Nerviline most. Experienced mothers are never without it. One of the children may have toothache. Without Nerviline—a sleepless night for the entire household. With Nerviline the pain is relieved quickly. It may be earache, perhaps a stiff neck, or one of the kiddies coughing with a bad chest cold. Nothing can give quicker results than vigorous rubbing with this old-time family remedy.

Nerviline is too useful, too valuable to be without. For lumbago, lame back, sciatica or neuralgia there is no liniment with half of Nerviline's power to penetrate and ease the pain.

As a family safeguard, as something to ward off sickness and to cure the minor ills that will occur in every family, to cure pain anywhere, you can find nothing to compare with old-time Nerviline, which for forty years has been the most widely used family remedy in the Dominion. The most economical size is the large 50c. family size bottle small trial size 25c. All dealers sell Nerviline.

Household Notes

In the shampoo, avoid using strong soaps, strong alkalies, such as ammonia and soda and too hot water. All these take out much of the natural oil of the hair, leaving it dry and harsh.

Wash your bed blanket on a clear, windy day, if possible. Prepare strong suds by melting half a bar of any good white soap and putting it into half a tub of hot water; then add half a cup of salt and two tablespoonfuls of ammonia. Shake the blankets free from dust and lint, put them in the tub of water and sop up and down until the dirt is removed; rub the dirty spots with the hands. Squeeze the water out, put the blankets in a second tub prepared the same as the first, and treat the blankets the same as when in the first tub, then put the blankets through a wringer. Stretch them slightly while drying. When dry, lay on the ironing board and with a very stiff brush brush the blankets the same direction

Cured Eczema Like Magic

Suffered for Years—Tried All Kinds of Treatment—Surprised at Results From Dr. Chase's Ointment.

You can soon tell when people are enthusiastic about medical treatment by the language they use. After experimenting with all sorts of ointments in a vain effort to obtain relief and cure, the writer of this letter was astonished at the quick and satisfactory results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"It worked like magic," she writes. Indeed, it is surprising the healing that is often effected in a single night by this great ointment. The stinging and itching are relieved at once, and cure is only a matter of time and patient treatment.

Mrs. Clements, 13 Strange street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have suffered from eczema for years, and after using all kinds of ointments, at last tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It worked like magic and proved a God-send to me. I would advise anyone suffering from eczema to try one box and be convinced." So send a box all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co. Limited, Toronto.

St. George's Notes.

Bahny breezes! The whole creation is not going to freeze up into one great icicle, after all.

The D.T.S. Co. will soon be resuming work at Port au Port under the able management of the genial Mr. Arthur House.

Rev. M. G. Sears lectured in the Star Hall, on Monday night. Subject: Ireland and its sad history. In his opening remarks, the lecturer sketched swiftly the events from the coming of the Milesians till the time of Brian. Then he divided his subject into periods, first Clontarf. The lecturer dwelt eloquently on the exploits of the Irish warriors in this death struggle with the Danes, in which the power of the latter was broken that they made no more attempt at conquest. This was the glorious period of Irish history. Then came the Invasion in the time of Henry II. After the lecturer dealt with The Earl of Kildare, Godfrey and O'Donnell and Shean O'Neil, the Fate of the Geraldines, Hugh O'Neil and Red Hugh O'Donnell, William and James in Ireland, The Famine. In closing the lecturer spoke of Home Rule and the present outlook. The lecturer handled his subject in a masterly manner; he might have been a harpist of his people singing in poetic language the glory, the bravery, the romance, the tragedy that enthralled his auditors and thrilled to the depths of their souls those among them in whom ran the blood of the heroes and martyrs of the Irish race. The lecture was interspersed with songs suitable to the subject. Opening Chorus: "Let Erin Remember," then "Breitire's Lament," "Kilbarney," "Dear Little Shamrock," "Lupercham" (sung sweetly by Mony McLellan), "O'Donnell Abou," "Carrigdown," "I'm Sitting on the Style." All the singers are worthy of the highest praise, but, to my mind, "O'Donnell Abou," sung by Messrs. McLellan, Gladney and Butler, and "Kilbarney," sung by Miss Annie Butler, were the crowning success. Miss Butler's beautiful, sweet voice was heard to perfection in Balfes perfect song.

On Wednesday evening His Lordship Bishop Power preached the Ash Wednesday sermon on "Death," to a large and deeply attentive congregation. The sermon, in the opinion of many present, was the most powerful and eloquent ever delivered at St. George's. Bishop Power is masterly in his choice of language which is always elegant and pleasing, while at the same time appealing to the reason and touching the hearts of his hearers.—Com.

A swimmer now under indictment in the United States advertised, "Throw away your glasses." Those who sent him five or ten dollars received in exchange a small box of tablets which the United States mail officials found could be manufactured for twenty-five cents per thousand. There is no medical, chemical or mechanical means of restoring to normal an eyeball which is irregular in shape for such is the condition in most cases when glasses are worn for constant use. Hypermetropia, myopia, and the various forms of astigmatism are simply cases where the cornea, or clear front portion of the eyeball, is not absolutely spherical, and there is no other known means of overcoming such defect excepting by adjusting glasses. It is to be hoped that none of our Newfoundland friends have been duped by the swindler referred to above. You are always safe in consulting R. H. Municipal Reform

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir.—The manner in which our monster petition was presented by Premier Morris and Mr. J. M. Kent, K.C., and spoken to by our city representatives with approval, is exceedingly pleasing, for which we are indeed thankful, and it fully denotes that our request will be granted. The history of municipal government since its inception in 1888, is a varied one and has been proven beyond a doubt to be a huge failure. And the public utterance of Councillor for former No. 4 Ward, the late Moses Monroe, on resigning his seat now upwards of 20 years ago, proved to be prophetic in every particular. The words used by him were that to his mind, the best form of city government would be the appointment by the Governor-in-Council of four independent citizens free from party politics, who would be in a position to collect the city's taxes and compel citizens who should be in arrears to pay up by enforcing the law provided for such purposes. Further, he stated that the fact of the City Council raising loans from the general revenue, was a great injustice to all outport districts. This custom will continue so long as you have an elected Council instead of commissioners. What a far-seeing business man he must have been. Had he lived to-day to find that the Municipal Council for city improvements is at present indebted to the Government for the enormous sum of $1,425,341.22, notwithstanding the undeniable fact that during the administration of the Winter Government, the Executive of same after dismissing from office the sitting Councillors of that date appointed a commission of three, with C. H. Burchell as chairman, and wiped off high a quarter of a million dollars, in the hope that by doing so the commissioners would start out in their work almost free of debt. Having for chairman such an intelligent and experienced engineer, the commissioners during their short term, did a vast amount of satisfactory work. Then came a change in politics with the result that the present form of municipal government was inaugurated, with the result that now we owe the large amount as mentioned above.
 Therefore I contend that the Legislature has done the right thing in accepting our petition. Past municipal councillors as well as the present ones have been remiss in the performance of their duties in many ways, but particularly in the collection of water and sewerage rates, for according to statistics furnished, I am informed that the fabulous sum of high $90,000 is now owed by property owners and tenants to the Council. What better proof is needed that elected councils are failures? "Where are we and whither tending?" to have such a disgraceful state of affairs existing. Is it business to continue it.
 In conclusion I wish to state that the names signed to the petition are honest and bona fide taxpayers, for it is only reasonable to think that the number of citizens who owe this large amount of arrears for water and sewerage rates are quite happy and contented with the present St. John's Municipal Council.
 Yours faithfully
 CITIZEN.

Interesting Event at Channel.

The annual concert of the Church of England school children, which has been delayed since Christmas, was held on the 19th and 20th insts. in the old school-room. This building has been tastefully renovated by Mr. P. T. Clement and will later be handed over by him as a gift to the Church to be used as a Parish Hall. It was the most successful concert for a number of years, nearly all the tickets were sold before the doors were open. In both the musical and theatrical parts the children showed remarkable talent, and the large number assembled were fully satisfied. The programme consisted of various choruses, songs, recitations, drills, monologues, dialogues and tableaux, also a musical sketch by the "White Caps." Those who could be especially mentioned for doing so well were Miss Mabel Whitford, in the song, "Little Bo-Peep," and the tableaux "Spring." Miss Nora Pike, who showed great native talent in both her singing and acting. Miss Ethel Scott in the monologue "Wash Day," and the song "Blanket Bay." Master Cecil Mosdell, who received an encore in the recitation, "The Sailor Boy." Miss Camilla Keating, in the introduction of the "White Caps," and in the tableaux, "Autumn." Miss Nora Keating, in the patriotic recitation, "Flag Medley," adapted from an American recitation; Miss Clara Keating, in the dialogue "Mother's Comforter," and the recitation "Rose MaBelle;" Misses Lily Currie and Dora Evans, in the singing of "Slumber Land," and Master Lance Mosdell, in the monologue "A Small Boy's Troubles," which brought down the house. Others who did well were Misses Ethel Bragg, Melissa Pike, Pearl James and Jennie Huelin. Miss Edgar, the teacher of the lower department deserves great praise for her tact and patience in training the children to so high a degree of proficiency which made the concert such a success. After the entertainment the prizes for the term ending Christmas, were distributed. Master John Read won the Gold Medal presented by the head teacher for attendance, punctuality and conduct, with Master Cyril Pretty, a close second.

Complaint From King's Bridge.

Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir.—I read in an issue of last month a complaint of a King's Bridge resident about the sanitary conditions in that part of the city. Most every one read the article and no doubt the people responsible read it, but so far no notice has been taken, and it seems that the residents of the King's Bridge won't have this menace to the public health remedied without using force, and this course would be justified if the authorities ignore their duty and forget decency. Every night the sanitary department sends the city nuisance to be dumped in our back doors, and as the field used for the purpose is frozen solid, the filth instead of percolating through the ground, follows the slope of the ground and runs into our wells and cellars when the thaw sets in.
 Considering this disgraceful condition of affairs is it any wonder that diphtheria and other diseases make their appearance. People rearing families have enough troubles to contend with without adding the burden of sickness and doctor's bills to their already over-burdened and overtaxed shoulders. We people of the King's Bridge will heartily welcome any change in the Municipal Department that will remedy this dangerous and disgusting health menace which has kept us in dread for so many years.
 Thanking you for space, and hoping for a change.
 I am,
 AN ABUSED CITIZEN.

Ponderous Personages.

LOUIS THE SIXTEENTH
 By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Sivash."
 Louis the Sixteenth, one of the most famous goats of all history, was King of France from the year 1675 until 1792 when he was fired from the job by the people of France in mobs assembled. The following year he was beheaded, by which means the people are supposed to have gotten even with his ancestors.

Louis was the son of Louis XV, who is popularly supposed to have been a compendium of all villainies and a descendant of a long line of Louis' who were in general much harder on the population than smallpox would have been. Louis XVI was an amiable young man distinguished by his good nature, kind heart and low loping forehead. If he'd not been king, he would have made a fairly accomplished potato peeler, or locksmith. The reason to suppose that he would have preferred the latter. However, as the king job had been wished on him, he did his best with it, married a haughty princess picked out for him from sample pictures, and occupied himself with hunting. This was from motives of the purest patriotism for if Louis had tried to run the country he would have skidded on the first turn. He wasn't even able to run his wife.

Louis was a great relief from his father who had a great habit of filling up the dungeons with citizens and then losing his notes regarding the same. But he came too late. There was a general feeling about France that kings were superfluous and in 1798, the people rose and began to exterminate royalty in a methodical, though messy manner.

Louis watched proceedings with great sadness and immense dignity, and when he was told to get his hat, turn in his tools and call for his pay check, he did so with a politeness which endeared him to many. About this time, he conceived the idea of retiring to some more healthy climate, but was discovered after having bumped over 100 miles of bottomless roads and fled away in prison.
 In 1793 Louis was tried for treason.

He could not have produced treason any more than he could have written essays on jurisprudence, but as it was impossible to execute his father, grandfather and great grandfather, they having prudently died long before, it was felt that he was the best available substitute. He was therefore beheaded. The sad fate of Louis XVI teaches us no lesson except to abstain rigorously from being a descendant of the old French Kings.

A MODERN INSTANCE.

It was something like a ringworm on his head, or rather at the back of the neck, just below the hair, and seemed inclined to spread. Washing with antiseptic solutions, and the use of common ointments scarcely availed to prevent its getting larger. He was puzzled. Then he saw an advertisement of Zylex and Zylex Soap, and decided to use them. Procuring a box of Zylex and a cake of Zylex Soap he washed the part carefully, and applied the ointment freely. The result was marked almost from the first. In a few days the spot had disappeared, and everything was as well as ever. Now he uses Zylex Soap regularly and keeps a box of Zylex always handy.
 Have you such spots? Then use Zylex. You will soon forget that you have had any skin troubles. At all druggists. Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.—feb26, eod, ft
